Air Force Strategic Plans Now Include Usage Of IRBMs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's constantly revised strategic plans now include detailed arrangements on how and where intermediate range ballistic missiles would be used in event of war.

The operational plans for both long-range, air-breathing guided missiles and intermediate range ballistic missiles are understood to have been completed and incorporated in the over-all wartime plans of the USAF about six months ago.

This was done even though the IRBM weapons may not become a part of the available arsenal for another year.

The Air Force maintains three basic strategic blueprints which cover periods ranging from the next 60 days to as much as 13 years.

They are the short-range "war-time capabilities plan"; the "mid-range war-time" plan containing D-day data up to four years in the future; and the "long-range war-time objectives plan."

The air-breathing Snark guided missile, with a range of 5,000 miles, is now considered operational by the Air Force and units and launching sites are being organized. While the Snark has the range of the still-developmental intercontinental ballistic missile, its speed is below that of sound and its operating altitude down in the earth's atmosphere.

The Air Force expects the first deliveries of the Thor IRBM—with a maximum accurate range of 1,500 miles—to be made late in 1958. But as part of the forward planning, details for the operational use and command structure of IRBM squadrons have been put into the war plans file.

Presumably these details include not only the proposed bases from which IRBMs would be launched (depending on the outcome of negotiations with the NATO nations) but a "target list" like those prepared for operation of conventional, manned bombers.

The details, of course, are highly secret but an IRBM list might include potential targets as deep in central Russia as the munitions complexes in the area of the Ural Mountains, if launching points from Turkey were used. From bases in the United Kingdom and Free Europe, Moscow would be within range of IRBMs.

Because the Air Force believes that it may be many years, if at all, before the missile entirely displaces the manned bomber, strategy now is constructed around the coordinated use of both types of weapons.

Some Air Force planners have suggested that instead of a single massive, simultaneous blow against all targets on the list, a series of powerful attacks would be spread out over the first several hours of a war.

Dutch Drafted By Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The government was empowered today to conscript Dutch technicians to remain in Indonesia to help keep the nation's troubled economic system working.

The Dutch began leaving after Indonesia took control of more than a billion dollars worth of Dutch businesses in reprisal for the Netherlands' refusal to surrender West New Guinea.

A government spokesman said the order was a protective measure for use only in a crisis.

In another effort to restore order in the sprawling archipelago, Premier Djarda said his government is making energetic efforts to bring about another meeting between President Sukarno and former Vice President Mohammed Hatta before Sukarno leaves on a rest trip.

Sukarno and Hatta, who led the islands' revolt against Dutch rule, fell out over Sukarno's determination to give the Communists a strong role in the government.

Hillary Within 150 Miles Of Pole

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Sir Edmund Hillary's party trekked to within nearly 150 miles of the South Pole today in its overland hike through antarctic wastes.

Hillary's latest radio message to Scott Base, his camp near McMurdo Sound, was picked up here. It said the four-man tractor team covered another 44 1/2 miles during the night and was traveling at an altitude of 11,000 feet at 23 below zero Fahrenheit.

Hillary is now retracing the 200-mile stretch covered by Capt. Robert F. Scott on his ill-starred attempt to reach the pole in 1911. The Scott party perished on the return trip and no one has made the overland trek since.

Student Rocket Goes Kaput; Rodent Is Safe

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — With a cloud of smoke and a resounding "Holy Cow!" over the loudspeaker, the Austin Rocket Society's Mousenik II yesterday joined the ranks of space machines never to leave the ground.

But the subject of the "bring 'em back alive" experiment, a mouse named Ulysses, got by without a scratch.

The society, made up of chemistry students at Pacelli Parochial High School here, tried sending up two rockets yesterday afternoon and had varying degrees of misfortune with both.

The first rocket, without the mouse aboard, blew up half way up the launching stand. The exploding zinc and sulphur fuel sent the top half of the 5 1/2 foot cylinder whirling around 250 feet off the ground, while the bottom section remained on the launching stand.

Not deterred by the first failure, Sister Duns Scotus and her students loaded Ulysses aboard a second rocket and tried again.

This time the rocket's ignition system failed and the project was postponed until later.

Explosion of the first rocket was blamed on a fault in the steel pipe used for the rocket body. The society said it will try a stainless steel pipe in making their next rocket.

When the first rocket blew up, "Holy Cow!" rang loud and clear over the public address system.

No one was hurt in the blast. The mouse was taken back to its cage to await the next flight. A colleague perished earlier this month after riding a rocket to 1,642 feet in the air.

Yesterday's Mousenik rocket was equipped with a battery device designed to burn away a wire attached to a parachute in the rocket's nose, ejecting the mouse as the missile leveled off. It was planned to reach an altitude of 2,000 to 3,000 feet.

Final Airport Conference Set

Louis Jean Thompson, Big Spring engineer preparing plans for the Howard County Airport, told the Howard County Commissioners today that he will have a conference with the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Fort Worth Jan. 2 on the final plans for the project.

He said that he anticipates no further changes or delay and that his office has now practically completed work on the plans and specifications.

If the CAA approves the final plans as presented to it on Jan. 2, the way should be opened for advertisement of bids for the first phase of the airport construction.

The airport is to cost not less than $714,000. It could be the CAA may augment its $214,000 cash grant during this year to bring the total amount available for building the airport to nearly a million dollars.

The county has $500,000 on hand to spend as its share on the project.

Mild Weather Is Due To Continue

A cold wave which the U. S. Weather Bureau said would invade Big Spring Sunday and Sunday night petered out sadly for some reason. As a result, Sunday was a balmy day with a high temperature that reached 70 degrees. The coldest interval of last night was 32 degrees. It was 33 degrees at 8 a. m.

The forecast for today and Tuesday calls for partly cloudy weather, mild, marred only by southeasterly surface winds at 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Highway Patrolman Spots Odd Light

ABILENE (AP) — Highway Patrolman Marion Gotcher says he saw a strange bright light zipping about in the sky near Winters, Saturday night.

"It wasn't a meteor," he said. "It was just as though you were looking at a brilliant locomotive light a long way down the track." He said the light appeared at about 3,500 feet and he was certain it was not an airplane.

Two officers from Dyess Air Force Base interviewed him on the subject but had no comment.

Highest Paid, Best Looking

The National Office Management Assn. announced that private secretaries in Beaumont were the highest paid in the nation—$105 a week. Beaumont immediately staked another claim—that its private secretaries are also the prettiest. And here's one—Charlene Mitchell, to prove it. National average is $83.

Surety Firm Asks Deal Be Rescinded

AUSTIN (AP) — The Estate Life Insurance Co. of Amarillo appealed to Insurance Commissioner William Harrison today to rescind an agreement by which it got 11 1/4 million dollars of business from the defunct Physicians Life and Accident Insurance Co.

"This would put Estate Life back as near as possible in the condition it was before this assumption," said E. A. Simpson, attorney for the firm.

Harrison, sitting at a specially called show cause hearing on Estate Life's financial outlook, took no action at once.

The first witness called was John L. McCarty, prominent Panhandle businessman who resigned Dec. 23 as Estate Life president and director.

At a two-day hearing before the Senate Investigating Committee in Dallas last week, McCarty testified he gave J. W. Pierson of Dallas, veteran state insurance Department employee, a $2,000 "gift."

Pierson refused to testify before the senators.

"I was intrigued by the possibilities of the Physicians Life business sales organization and the cash and assets which I understood I would get," McCarty testified today. He said the Physicians Life transaction had been proposed to him by Pierson and had been approved and discussed with state liquidator J. D. Wheeler.

McCarty said it was not until he was ready to close the transaction that he found he would not get certain assets at available cash in the Physicians Life receivership.

McCarty said that after talking with Pierson and Wheeler he got Estate Life directors to approve a transaction whereby 83 acres of the firm's holdings in Amarillo were revalued from $1,500 to $8,000 an acre, sold to a subsidiary firm and the first mortgage listed among Estate Life's assets.

Simpson, in presenting the directors' resolution, pointed out that McCarty was no longer an officer and director. The show cause hearing was called two weeks ago by Harrison who gave the Amarillo firm the choice of ousting McCarty or losing its license to operate.

The Insurance Department asked the company to prove why it should be allowed to continue in business in Texas. All but two directors of the firm were present.

Housing Anti-Race Measure Signed

NEW YORK (AP) — The first municipal ordinance in the nation banning discrimination in private housing was signed into law today by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. It takes effect April 1.

The law forbids discrimination on the basis of race, creed or national origin in choosing tenants for private multiple dwelling housing three or more families.

Billion-Dollar Federal Education Aid Planned

4-Year Program To Push Science

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A billion dollar four-year program to bolster education was approved today by President Eisenhower. It contemplates 10,000 federal scholarships each year and a 50-50 matching grants to states.

The plan was released after Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom conferred for an hour with the President.

Folsom said he had talked about the program to congressmen and felt it would receive favorable reception when it goes to Congress for approval.

Folsom said the federal program would try to correct deficiencies in education "which if allowed to continue would seriously weaken our national security effort," and is an answer to Russia's continuing buildup in the science field.

But, in a news conference, Folsom made it clear that science and mathematics would not be stressed alone. He said the scholarship program aims to bring thousands more students into colleges.

The program calls for: appropriation of 225 million dollars in the first year with a four-year total of one billion dollars.

Of this sum, about 800 million dollars is estimated as part of the 50-50 matching grants-in-aid program for the states.

It also calls for a substantial increase in the appropriation for the National Science Foundation which now has a budget of about 40 million dollars a year. Among other things, the foundation seeks to improve research, training and teaching in the sciences.

The amount to be asked for the foundation was not specified, but Folsom said that about 70 million dollars, which he described as more than half, would be for its science education activities.

In a report to the President outlining the program, Folsom said it seeks to overcome what was termed a tragic waste of a most valuable resource—the talent of youngsters. It was designed to forestall the alarming number of dropouts among top high school students who do not go on to college.

About 200,000 of the ablest students now stop their education before the college level, the report said.

The report stressed that the main support for education must come in the future, as in the past, from state, local and private sources.

"We must work to strengthen—not weaken—the American tradition of local control of education," it said.

As outlined by Folsom, the proposed 10,000 annual federal scholarships for college students would be awarded and administered by state scholarship commissions or boards.

The amount of individual scholarships would vary according to financial need. Folsom estimated the average would be between $750-$800.

It was anticipated this would mean some 40,000 students enrolled on federal scholarships at the end of the basic four-year period.

Folsom said he hoped the program might be adopted by Congress in time for the scholarships to get into operation by the next academic year.

The greater part of the administration's program, he noted, involves matched state funds. The only all-federal part would be the scholarship program.

The grants-in-aid, on a 50-50 matching basis, would be to encourage establishment of a more systematic testing of the abilities and aptitudes of students and to support improved counseling and guidance of young students.

The grants would be made also to encourage the states and local school systems to provide more and better teaching of science and mathematics.

The funds could be used to help schools employ additional qualified science and mathematics teachers, provide laboratory and other equipment or to boost teacher pay.

State and local schools would have flexibility, as Folsom put it, in use of these funds according to their own needs and their own educational programs.

To meet the shortage of trained college and university teachers, the program calls for 1,000 graduate-level fellowships the first year and 1,500 a year for each of the next three years, to encourage more able college students to continue into graduate study and prepare for teaching careers.

The fellowships would be awarded on the basis of recommendations by colleges and universities. Graduate schools also would be given direct federal grants of up to $125,000 a year to help them expand. In each case, the school would match the federal grant on a 50-50 basis.

The report also said there is a deficiency in the teaching of foreign languages so important in understanding today's world, and proposed financial help for training centers in languages.

It said these centers would stress languages which are critically important today, but which have traditionally received little or no attention in this country such as those of emerging nations in Asia, Africa and the Near East.

Demo Faction Sets 'Code Of Ethics'

AUSTIN (AP) — The "Democrats of Texas" (DOT) published today a "code of ethics" which they said was designed "to prohibit those practices which have enabled minorities to thwart the will of legally elected majorities and steal conventions."

Mrs. R. D. Randolph, Democratic national committeewoman for Texas and chairman of the DOT, told of the publication. The code was adopted by the executive board of the DOT at a meeting here Nov. 23.

"Fact-finding machinery for the determination of honest majorities is stressed by the code with emphasis placed on judicial determination rather than partisan action in settling delegation contests at conventions," the DOT official said.

Creskmore Fath, Austin lawyer and secretary-treasurer of the DOT, headed the committee which drafted the code.

Among the suggestions are: 1. That each county Democratic Executive Committee elect its credentials committee for the county Democratic convention at their statutory meeting in June so that this committee can provide for fact-finding machinery to be in operation the day of the precinct conventions.

2. That the chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee (SDEC) the national committeeman and committeewoman together with the chairman of contesting county delegations will meet a week following the county conventions and agree on a "master" to hear the dispute and make recommendations to the SDEC.

3. That members of the SDEC nominated in senatorial district caucuses at the state convention will not be changed in the party officers committee of the state convention.

Mrs. Randolph asserted "Harmony and unity will be achieved when rules of fair play such as this code provides are adopted and lived up to by the men and women who participate in Democratic party conventions.

"The Democrats who have consistently supported the Democratic party believe that a party registration bill would do a great deal toward cleaning up one of the most reprehensible activities in Texas politics—that is the participation in Democratic party affairs—but Mr. Daniel would not submit such a bill to the Legislature," she said.

She referred to Gov. Price Daniel.

Red Chinese 'Mati Hari' Is Charged As A Rightist

HONG KONG (AP) — The glamorous "Mati Hari" of Red China, once credited with hatching a revolt on Nationalist Formosa, has been accused as a rightist.

Hsieh Hsueh-hung, now turned 57, has been charged by her own minor party in Red China with trying to unseat the Communist leadership.

Miss Hsieh is chairman of the Formosa Democratic Self-government League, one of the parties tolerated in Red China as long as they play along with the Communist leadership.

A copy of the official Peiping Peoples Daily reaching Hong Kong today said league members heaped criticism upon her in meetings between Nov. 10 and Dec. 8.

Her accusers said she had held herself as a veteran revolutionist and heroine of the Feb. 28 uprising.

The uprising referred apparently to the 1947 Formosa revolt in which thousands of Formosans were reported killed.

She was accused of defying leadership of the Communist party.

Miss Hsieh denied the charges and refused to admit the crimes, Peoples Daily said, and this enraged all league members. They demanded she make a thorough confession.

The uprising on Formosa in 1947 was against a corrupt Nationalist governor sent by Chiang Kai-shek to administer the island after the Japanese cleared out. This was more than two years before the Nationalist government fled to Formosa from the Reds on the mainland.

The Nationalists accused her of leading the revolt, called her a Mata Hari and said she operated on Formosa on direct orders from Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

'March Of Dimes' Launching Slated

Howard-Glasscock Polio Chapter leaders and campaign division chairmen will meet this evening to launch the organization's annual March of Dimes.

Although no drive goal has been announced, Red Ware, chapter chairman, said the group hopes to do as well as last January when about $12,000 was contributed to help fight polio and aid its victims.

Emphasis will be placed on rehabilitation of polio victims, Ware announced. A survey last fall disclosed that there are 75 residents of Howard County who have had polio, and about half of these are in need of continuous treatment or other assistance.

In addition, seven new cases of polio have occurred here during 1957, the chairman said.

Ware, Co-Chairman Helen Wilson and George Zachariah who is assisting with all phases of the campaign, will meet with division chairmen at 7:15 p.m. today in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Division chairmen include Mrs. E. P. Driver, Mothers' March on Polio; Mrs. Rube McNew, coin collectors; Mrs. Arah Cunningham, teen-age and YMCA activities; Walker Bailey, rural activities; Mrs. H. H. Stephens, women's club coffees; Bill Griese, coffee days in local restaurants; Mrs. Andrew Terpening, mail appeals for contributions; and Ynez Yanez, Latin American activities. Zachariah also will direct the sale of blue cans downtown next Saturday.

Ware said that half of the money raised here will go into the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis treasury to help finance research and treatment. Another 25 per cent will go into a special emergency aid fund and the remaining 25 per cent will be used locally to pay for treatment, braces, physiotherapy and corrective surgery for persons who have been afflicted with polio.

"The Salk vaccine has decreased the number of new polio cases, but we can't afford to forget the thousands who already have had the disease and still need assistance," Ware said. "At present, there are 300,000 of these people in the U. S."

Senator Charges Missiles Confusion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today a "chorus of destructionists" is creating unnecessary confusion about the nation's missile and satellite programs.

Hickenlooper, a member of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, referred in an interview to Democratic critics who have contended that administration complacency has permitted the United States to lag behind Russia in rocketry.

"There has been a lot of unnecessary confusion created by a whole chorus of destructionists about our defense program," he said. "Despite all the wild talk about how we are dropping behind Russia, we have a tremendous number of missiles.

"I am satisfied that we are making good progress in the missile field."

Hickenlooper's statement was in line with the weekend declaration of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty that "stories that have been printed that indicate the United States is in a position of weakness at this time are not true."

He made the comment when asked about published reports that a special committee headed by H. Rowan Gaither Jr. had found that U.S. defenses were comparatively weak and that the country was in danger. The Gaither report itself still is top secret, Hagerty said, but he added it makes no such findings.

"The report says just the opposite," Hagerty said.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) told a television audience yesterday he considers the United States weaker than Russia at the present time, but he said Democrats as well as Republicans are responsible.

"I think we're all responsible," Mansfield said. "It's no time to become political or partisan."

The House Armed Services Committee, meantime, is planning a review of "all phases" of national defense at closed hearings which Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said will start Jan. 10.

The Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) has held public hearings on the subject with special reference to missile programs. Vinson said these will be covered in the House hearings.

3-Year-Old Girl Rescued After 2 Days In Mountains

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A 3-year-old toddler who wandered for two days and two nights through rugged, mountainous terrain, lay in a clean, white hospital bed today.

Blonde Shirley Ann Ramsburg, tired and hungry, scratched and dirty, lay beside a tree yesterday when a volunteer searcher stumbled upon her. She cried as soon as she saw him.

Dr. Donald K. McIntyre said the little girl was only suffering from exposure, and her condition was satisfactory.

Weather Tests May Lead To Farm Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government expert says continued controlled experimentation with weather holds promise of developing new techniques which may be of greatest economic importance to the grower.

Howard Orville, chairman of the government's advisory committee on weather control, says his committee will recommend to President Eisenhower that further experimentation be continued on federal, state and local levels.

The committee, set up in 1953, ends its authorized life tomorrow and will make a final report to the White House.

Orville's group has made detailed study of processes related to rain, snow and cloud phenomena, has investigated cloud seeding to produce rain and also hail and lightning suppression.

Summarizing the committee's evaluation program, Orville said it has found that:

Supercooled stratified clouds can be dissipated by seeding with dry ice or silver iodide from airplanes.

Rain can be initiated by seeding warm cumulus clouds with water. Dry ice and silver iodide seeding of cumulus clouds extending to 5,000 feet or more above the freezing line and with a temperature at the top of the clouds of minus 10 degrees centigrade will induce rain.

Ground generator seeding with silver iodide in California, Washington and Oregon has produced average increases of 9 to 17 per cent.

Federal regulation of operations to increase rain is not justified now.

An intensive study of hail prevention and the possibility of reducing lightning seems well justified. Many destructive forest fires in the Western states are started by lightning, Orville said it is believed that cloud seeding will start the precipitation process earlier and will prevent the storms from building up to the proportions which produce hail and lightning.

Evening Of Gaiety Is Upon Us Again

By The Associated Press

That extraordinary evening with its strange mixture of gaiety, sentiment, nostalgia, silliness, contemplation, noise, bedlam and reverence is at hand again.

Tomorrow is New Year's Eve. As 1957 bowed toward the exit, there were plans for the usual variety of year-end celebrations—ranging from frolic and braying humor to sober reflection and prayer.

Prices in the nation's night clubs, taverns and other points of celebration were about the same as last year, averaging around $15 a person in most cities for dinner, dancing, paper hats and noise makers, with drinks extra. But you could pay a lot more—or a little less—according to the spot.

At the same time, religious leaders set down messages of hope and pleas for justice and dedication to God in the year ahead. Thousands of churches planned "Watch Night" services with music and devotions.

The Moravian church will hold its 193rd annual "Memorabilia" services shortly before midnight at Winston-Salem, N.C.

The custom, in which the year's events are recounted, originated in colonial Salem when Moravians depended on the pastor to keep them informed of happenings in community, state, nation and world in the outgoing year. Bishop J. Kenneth Pfahler will present 1957's memorabilia.

In New York City's St. Patrick's Cathedral, there will be a special New Year's Eve Mass, with emphasis on peace and brotherhood among peoples of North, South and Central America.

EVENING AT HOME

In other places there will be parades, concerts and ceremonies, but for some it will be a normal, quiet evening at home.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to stay on at their Gettysburg farm through the holiday.

In Washington, there's to be an Air Force band concert in the President's Park south of the White House in the afternoon, followed by choir singing and evening vespers conducted by Eastern Orthodox clergy.

In Philadelphia, the annual Mummers' Parade will be staged on New Year's Day and in Colorado Springs, the Adaman (Add-a-man) Club, which takes on one new member a year from among those who join in an annual climb up 14,100-foot Pike's Peak, will make its 32nd annual mountain trek.

In Las Vegas, Nev., where establishments were reported booked solid for the evening's whoop, one hotel announced it will hold a New Year's Day "hangover party from 10 a.m. until cured."

In St. Louis, a $25-a-person champagne supper will be held at the Hotel Chase as a benefit for the city's 85-member symphony orchestra. It will play a pop concert under direction of Boston conductor Arthur Fiedler.

Season's Coldest Chills Midwest

By The Associated Press

The winter season's coldest weather held a firm grip on northern Midwest areas today as a slow-moving mass of Arctic air headed into the Midwest.

Midwinter temperatures were reported in sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas. But the full effect of the cold snap was not felt in all other North Central States.

The icy air has been in south central Canada for more than 36 hours and has moved slowly southward. Temperatures near the Minnesota and Dakota border were from 10 to 22 degrees below zero.

Church Is Held Under Open Sky

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—A group of 120 Unitarians worshipped God under an open sky yesterday. Their church doesn't have a roof yet.

The Rev. Straughan Getter conducted services in the $100,000 church on the outskirts of town. It was the first service in the church which is about one third finished, and no further services were slated for the time being.

In Detroit, the Statler Hotel, expecting a capacity crowd, set a $10 per person cover charge with floor show. The Wonder Bar offered dinner at $12.50. Elmwood Casino, the area's biggest night spot, set a $7.50 cover.

In Cincinnati, the Beverly Hills will charge $15 a person, covering food and souvenirs—not drinks. Seattle's largest hotel offered the package for $12.65, without drinks. But a downtown Seattle club offered each patron all he could drink—until 2 a.m.—for $15.

Announce New Way to Drain Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet invention which has a remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headache, pressure, stuffy-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished without extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits in every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus areas, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan® Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan® Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or your full purchase price will be refunded.

New Budget May Total $74 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's first post-Sputnik budget may total nearly 74 billion dollars—a new peacetime record.

And Congress, alarmed by recent signs of Russian strides in missiles, satellites and space science, is expected to give a friendly reception to at least the military part of the budget request for the fiscal year starting next June 30.

Defense items probably will account for about 40 billion dollars of the new budget total, an increase of more than a billion dollars over the current spending rate.

Whatever budget cutting Congress may undertake may be timed at requests for civilian programs. Present indications are that these requests may be held at previous levels, but not reduced appreciably.

President Eisenhower will send Congress his fiscal 1959 budget early next month. Congress reconvenes a week from tomorrow.

An official who has been in on final budget preparations said yesterday that over-all government spending next year "apparently will be somewhere between 73 and 74 billion dollars, but closer to the high figure."

The current year's total has been running at the rate of about 72 billion dollars, but Secretary of Defense McElroy said recently he will ask for about one billion dollars more to push ahead more quickly in fiscal 1958 with missiles and other top priority military work.

The official who discussed spending plans said the administration hopes its fiscal 1959 budget will be in balance and he indicated an effort will be made to compensate somewhat for stepped-up missile outlays by reducing some other military programs.

Although Eisenhower has said some civilian programs may have to be eliminated to help offset greater defense spending, this official indicated the emphasis may be on holding the line.

On the civilian side of the budget, he said, "the main idea will be to prevent any increase."

This source said government officials are approaching a final decision on whether to ask Congress to approve a special military contingency fund to be used at Eisenhower's discretion. Such a fund, totaling perhaps 500 million dollars, would be aimed at enabling the President to move swiftly.

Why United States Savings Bonds are so important to your family and your own home town

If you and your neighbors are spending and saving wisely today, tomorrow's economic problems will solve themselves.

That's true for your family, as well as the community in which you live. And that's why U. S. Savings Bonds are so important to every American.

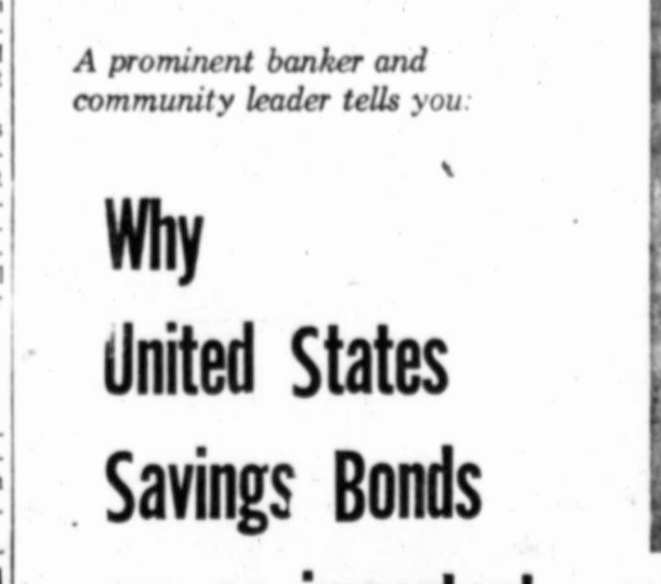

The secret of saving is simple. And for most Americans, Savings Bonds are the perfect solution for systematic savings. They're safe. They're sure. Easily bought. And easily converted into cash should an emergency arise.

And now every U. S. Series E Savings Bond pays a new, higher interest—3 1/4% when held to maturity! It matures faster, too, in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, especially in the earlier years.

Leading bankers and industrialists all over the country, realizing the importance of thrift and savings to a sound economy, are giving their wholehearted support to the U. S. Savings Bonds program. Why not start your Bond investment program today—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or by regular purchases where you bank.

SAFE AS AMERICA . . . U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

A Bible Thought For Today

For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified. (1st Corinthians 2:2)

Can't Scare Smoker Off His Fag

After several years of agitation over cigarettes as a causative factor in lung cancer the American people in 1957 consumed more cigarettes than in any year in history—410 billion, according to Business Week magazine. The first year of agitation did knock sales down considerably—from 394 billion in 1952 to 368 billion in 1954. Since that low point, however, sales have been climbing upward in spite of fresh additional statistical "evidence" on the lung cancer front.

The industry fought back with filter tips, king sizes, and various types of medicated smokes. Largest sales increase was in filter tips, suggesting that people discounted a natural fear of lung cancer with a new-found faith that filters mitigated or removed the danger. Now that the original "exposer" of cigarettes as a health hazard has taken out after filters as greatly overrated results if any from that campaign remain to be determined at the tobacco shops of the nation. Even the experts disagree on the effect of cigarette nicotine and tars on the human lungs, and the subject still needs a lot of research before the dissenters can be silenced, if ever.

Meantime a lot of people have quit tags, whether from agitation of the cancer issue or other reasons, yet overall consumption rises steadily. It could be that individual cigarette smokers smoke more cigarettes than they used to due to increased tension and nervousness over Sputniks, high taxes, evidences of business recession, and whatnot.

The only conclusion we can draw from the rise in sales in spite of the most damaging sort of anti-cigarette propaganda is that smokers don't scare easily. We mind the time, more than half a century ago, when cigarettes were called "coffin nails," but that didn't scare the smokers either.

Hope He Will Be Big Bust Of '58

In selecting a Man of the Year, the Associated Press quizzes newspaper, radio and television editors. The choice does not necessarily imply approval, but is based primarily on the newsworthy achievements of the candidates.

On that basis Nikita Khrushchev not only emerged as Man of the Year for 1957, but came out ahead also as the man who had most influenced the course of foreign affairs—first time of record in a double distinction was ever given an individual.

Since 1950 President Eisenhower had been a Man of the Year four times, General MacArthur twice and ex-Premier Mendes-France of France once. This year the choice fell on Khrushchev in a ratio of four to one over the runner-up, President Eisenhower.

Keeping in mind that goodness or badness is not the determining factor, but newsworthiness and influence (for good or ill) on world events figure most conspicuously, the choice of the dumpy, bald, ruddy and—in Western eyes wholly evil—Russian Communist party secretary general seems a logical one. This is not a bestowal of honor, in Khrushchev's case, but a recognition of achievement, however evil.

The party boss' principal achievement, it seems apparent, was in obliterating his domestic enemies, particularly Malenkov, Malenkov and Zhukov, and gaining complete mastery—for the time being—of the machinery of Soviet power, military, industrial and political.

This home victory gave this granite-block of a man power and authority over the Soviet's satellites, in spite of evidence of some restiveness among them, particularly in Poland.

Man of the Year Khrushchev may well be, but that distinction inevitably carries another distinction that bodes no good for the free world: Khrushchev is also the most dangerous man in the world, more dangerous perhaps than Stalin, for Stalin was in many ways stupid and undoubtedly maniacal, while the present boss of the Soviet world has demonstrated shrewdness as well as ruthlessness.

For the peace of the world and the perpetuity of freedom among mankind, it is devoutly to be hoped that Nikita Khrushchev will turn out to be the Big Bust of 1958.

But there is no doubt that he strode the world scene in 1957 with seven-league boots, and today his very presence in the Kremlin is a challenge to all the free nations of the world.

Perhaps 'Colonialism' Was Better

WASHINGTON—Organized brigandage in Indonesia—the theft of private property and an attempt to use the loot as blackmail against a foreign government—has hardly a parallel international crime.

For several days now the news dispatches have told of the confiscation of the property of Dutch citizens who live in Indonesia—formerly the Dutch East Indies—but there has not been a single protest from the major powers of the world against what is probably the handsomest of the Communists.

Indonesia is the creature of the United States and her allies who helped the island empire to achieve independence from Dutch rule in 1949. The cry of "colonialism" had been raised, and the Department of State, under the Truman administration, did everything it could to bring about the separation of the Dutch from the island possessions where, during many hundred years, Holland's investors had aided in the development of such resources as rubber and petroleum.

Confiscation of the property of foreigners is nothing new in the world, but in international law the precedents require that adequate compensation be made to the lawful owners. In this case not only has no such provision for payment been made, but the Indonesian government is threatening not to pay at all unless the Dutch investors bring pressure to bear on their own government to relinquish possession of another colony—Dutch New Guinea—thousands of miles away.

This is such a shocking example of gangsterism that it will cause many a "liberal" who has inveighed against "colonialism" in the last decade to wonder whether the sequel thereto is truly an independent democracy that fulfills its obligations or a government that merely does the bidding of a worse type of master—namely, the Communist imperialists.

Inside Indonesia, where the Communists have insidiously infiltrated and now openly manifest their control through so-called elections, there is a beginning of a virile resistance to the Reds. President Sukarno, who at this critical time is taking a leave of absence from the country presumably for health reasons, undoubtedly became so deeply involved himself with the local Communists that he decided it would be better to leave the situation to right itself during his absence. There is talk that he may never return.

The demand that Dutch New Guinea be given up arouses opposition in Australia, which has control over the other half of that island in the Pacific. From a strategic standpoint, the western nations cannot very well stand by and see a Communist-dominated government acquiring such an important naval position in Southeast Asia. If Holland had not been occupied by the Nazis during World War II and her fleet had not been scuttled, she might today have been able to make a naval demonstration against Indonesia. But the government at The Hague can do little except to urge the democracies of the world to take a good look at the fruits of their anti-colonial policies. Certainly the 20,000,000 people of Indonesia are today much worse off than they were under Dutch rule.

The economic situation in Indonesia is very bad as a direct result of the friction inside the government and because of the seizure of Dutch property amounting to more than a billion dollars in value.

All the important trade and business activities and all the communications between the various islands in the Indonesian group have been carried on heretofore by Dutch citizens. To uproot all this suddenly is to bring a crisis to the little nation that must cause the governments of the world, especially the United States, to wonder if a continuation of enlightened "colonialism," such as the Dutch furnished, would not have really been much better for the average inhabitant of this colonial area than Red rule is today under a puppet government which obeys Moscow's agents.

In recent weeks the anti-Communist sentiment inside Indonesia has been rising, and it is important for the non-Communist countries not to become entangled in the internal situation there. But certainly the time has come to champion the principle of simple honesty in international affairs as against the stealing of private property, coupled with brazen demands to extort political concessions from a foreign government as the price of recovering the stolen property.

It makes many observers wonder whether the same thing isn't likely to happen in Algeria, where French interests have built up a big colony only to find themselves now being forced out by a nationalist movement also fanned to a frenzy by Communist intrigue.

Ike Was Straight Man For Dulles

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, at a time when the quality of his leadership is under criticism at home and abroad, recently did two things which showed him more passive than active.

One is the way he handled his last TV broadcast; the other, the way he handled the highly secret Gaither report on the condition of the nation's defenses.

When he returned from this month's NATO meeting in Paris, he decided he and Secretary of State Dulles would report to the nation by television on what happened.

As it turned out, Eisenhower played straight man for Dulles. Although Eisenhower was at NATO and presumably knew what occurred, Dulles did almost all the talking as if he were telling both the nation and Eisenhower what went on.

On Nov. 7 a special commission of outstanding citizens, appointed by Eisenhower six months before to study defense problems of this country, made a highly secret report to him and the National Security Council.

But, bit by bit, information about what the report supposedly contained has been leaking out. And if they are true, stories on what has leaked out have looked frightening.

This report was named after the original chairman of the group, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., who had to step aside because of illness. As one leak followed another the Gaither report began to take on nationally somber importance. Eisenhower himself could have issued a statement on this report,

The Name Fits

They might be slightly prejudiced, though. Their last name is Bellefontaine.

Teen-Agers Make For Big Business

No age group is put under the microscope and analyzed like teen-agers. They are saddled with the blame for creating much of mankind's miseries, even though the ratio of delinquency among them is far less than that in the adult world. Even their nervous energy, at times, is suspect.

Their sternest critics would have to admit their economic impact on our way of life is tremendous and, oh, so necessary.

If we lead a better, richer life than did our forebears, the teen-ager—and his penchant for handling the fast buck—must be given much of the credit. And no one realizes that more than Big Business.

Consider their case.

There are almost 17 million teen-agers in America and they had an income of $9 billion in allowances, gifts and wages last year—and that figure is increasing every year.

But, what is more significant, their net almost equals their gross. Unlike the old folks, they don't have to budget it in the same way as the adults do—some of it for rent, interest, food and taxes.

While their gross compares favorably with that of our biggest industrial concerns, their net is tenfold that of concerns like General Motors and Bell Telephone.

Almost a million teen-agers have full-time jobs and many of them make surprisingly good money. A third of them hold down part-time jobs and over half find gainful employment during the summer months.

On Mother's Day alone last year, they spent more than $100 millions. Another $70 millions went over the counter for gifts on Dad's Day.

As one group which made a study of the teen-agers' economic impact on this fair land of ours reported, the $9 billion isn't the limit of their power.

They have a big say in the distribution of America's staggering annual food expenditure. If they want an extra TV set or hi-fi set around the house and start crusading for it, chances are they get it.

They keep the record makers in business, and likely as not spend the old man's money to get their favorite discs.

You may think you vote the powers to overrule everyone else when it comes to deciding the make and color of your automobile and you probably do—if you're single. If you're a family man, chances are you take a vote among the junior members first and generally they're pretty positive in what they want—after all, the only time you're going to get the family chariot is from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., six days a week.

It's been conservatively estimated that teen-agers control the expenditure of $25 billion annually, and the figure is constantly going up.

And that doesn't include the money for stomach medicine spent by adults who have worried themselves sick wondering why the youngsters can't get to bed at a decent hour.

Don't make the mistake of dismissing a discussion of teen-agers with a wave of your hand. Industry listens, and profits by it.

People Ought To Have The Bad News

I am sick and tired of being treated like a moral, intellectual and political idiot by the present administration which has decided that my fellow citizens and I lack the character and intestinal fortitude to face the grim warning that the United States is in the gravest danger in its history.

That harsh judgment, plus the prediction that our country is in danger of becoming a second-class power, is contained in the Gaither Report. But unless a fighting Congress forces the hand of this administration, you and I are not going to be able to study the Gaither Report, made at the behest of the National Security Council, because the White House—headed by President Eisenhower—is reported as nursing "a nagging fear that the American people would balk at paying the bill" for the essential arms to preserve our freedom!

So, because you and I are spineless nincompoops unable to take the bitter with the better, the Gaither Report, on which our very existence as a nation may hinge, has been stamped "top, top, TOP secret." We are, from the politician's point of view, sunk in luxury in our whipped cream and caviar standard of living that any thought of sacrifice for preservation of the republic would send us into witless hysteria!

We spoon-feed weaklings, only two to three generations away from the frontier, would be unable—fed as we have been on years of soothing syrup—to face the possibility of sacrifice to save our way of life. The mere fact that a tax cut, the beautiful dream of both political parties, is now dead as a door nail must be slipped gently to us lest we crack up.

Obviously, we would be completely incapable of standing up under a tax raise, even to save ourselves!

And yet the Gaither Report, according to most reliable sources, contemplates the expenditure of an additional $8 billion to $20 billion annually on arms, depending on whether or not adequate shelters against radioactive fallout are built for civilians.

From the reaction in Washington, one could think that the worst news that could possibly befall the American people is not a threatened loss of liberty but a raise in the tax rate. How can any administration, especially one headed by a five-star general who led American troops through a great world war, think so little of the American people as to believe that they value their dollars more than their men or their freedom?

The harsh—the awful—truths of the Gaither Report should be known to the American public. Obviously, there are sections of it that deal with highly secret military data that should, for our safety, be kept top secret. But the fundamental warning that our lives and our liberty are at stake in the most deadly race in the history of the world should be shouted from the roof tops and not squandered away by men who are more afraid of Americans than for America.

This present distrust of American citizens places the administration squarely behind the man who cried to the murderous mugger, "Take my life, I'm saving my money for my old age!"

The Gaither Report, from all we can deduce, spells out the price of freedom. Isn't it about time the public was told the cost so it could start getting the ante up? In the long run, the willingness of the plain people of this nation to save it will put the politicians to shame.

Problem Of Sincerity In Negotiations

Towards the end of the television report last week, the President said that "to bring about such an easing of tension we believe that clear evidence of Communist integrity and sincerity in negotiation and action is all that is required." The question is what would be clear evidence of integrity and sincerity in negotiation?

If we look at the record, examining it objectively and without pre-conceptions, the evidence shows, I submit, that some agreements negotiated with the Soviet Union have been observed very well and that others have been violated. It is not true, as some among us like to say, that the Soviet Union always breaks its agreements, and it is not true, of course, that the Soviet Union always keeps its agreements.

The problem is to discern what is the difference between agreements that will work and agreements that will not work. If we can define that difference, we shall have a practical yardstick, something more than our own subjective wishes and fears, to determine how "clear" is the "evidence of integrity and sincerity."

A study of the record will show, I believe, that the agreements which have worked best have been those which fixed definite boundaries beyond which military forces may not advance or to which they must withdraw. On the other hand, agreements to do this or that behind or across the military boundary lines have proved to be highly unreliable and have usually foundered in tedious and frustrating debate.

The Yalta agreements, for example, have stood up quite well insofar as they fixed the boundary lines between the Soviet forces and the Western military forces. But the Yalta agreements about the character of the East European governments behind the lines of the Red Army have been entirely nullified, as have also the original agreements to unify the four zones of occupied Germany.

The Austrian treaty, which required the military evacuation of Austrian territory and its military neutralization, has worked. But the ambiguous formula about the unification of Germany which was adopted at Geneva has not worked.

If there were time and space to do it here, I believe it could be proved in great detail that the agreements which work are those which deal with, as we may put it for short, the deployment of organized military forces; the agreements which work badly or not at all are those which require collaboration and depend on general notions, which are hard to define, which lend themselves to double meanings, such as unity, liberty, democracy.

A decisive reason why agreements on the deployment of forces are workable is that there is no problem of enforcement by inspection. The Red Army is out of Austria, and it cannot come back without all the world knowing it instantly. There is no need of a corps of inspectors to watch whether the agreement to evacuate Austria is being observed. Military forces of the size needed for an aggression by invasion are too big to be hidden. For this reason, it can be said that agreements on military deployment are self-enforcing.

In my view, therefore, the thread to take hold of in this tangled skein is the suggestion from Moscow that there be a limitation of nuclear arms in, and perhaps even a military evacuation of, a great area of Central Europe, covering the two Germanys, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Nobody knows whether Moscow is serious about this, or that it would negotiate seriously about it. What we can know is that this is the type of agreement which, if it were arrived at, would be likely to be workable.

On the other hand, there is little prospect of a successful negotiation and a reliable agreement, be it on the Western terms or on the Soviet terms, about disarmament in general.

If, therefore, we are ourselves sincerely looking for evidence of Russian sincerity in negotiation, we shall look for it in some concrete issue having to do with the deployment of forces. We shall undertake a careful diplomatic exploration of some specific and limited aspect of the Soviet proposals to do something about the weapons, and the armies, that are stationed in the heart of Europe.

Forsan Folk End Holiday Journeys

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. Long before a child can read he will love books. If he lives in a home where everyone reads, he is a lot more likely to grow up with a love of good reading than if he never sees an adult crack a book.

Let's begin with picture books and start a library, that will grow as he grows. A good picture book must have lovely illustrations, beautiful format and an amusing story.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kennedy visited in Levelland with relatives for several days.

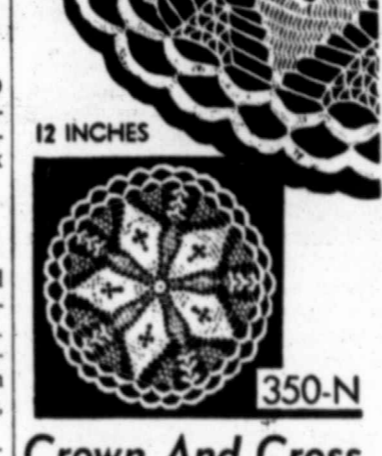

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Padgett are home from Jal, N. M. where they were with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Story plan to take their daughter, Nancy Lou, back to Denton this week. She is a student at NTSC.

It's Never Too Early To Develop The Love Of Reading In A Child

text. It is not necessary that the words themselves be easy to read. A picture book is not intended as a first reader, but starts the youngster on the way toward being a reader by giving him a love of books.

Children do not read a book through once and then put it aside. They want it read over and over and over again. A good book becomes a cherished possession.

This lovely doily of the 'crown and cross' design is fascinating to crochet, and so nice to use. No. 350-N contains complete crochet instructions.

Leftover Turkey Can Become A Tasty Dish

Now that Christmas has been duly celebrated, every kitchen is bursting with left-overs—and the homemaker is anxious to get back to her regular schedule as well as to her regular budget.

Today's recipes feature economical ways to use the remains of the holiday turkey or chicken with basic ingredients found in every cupboard, combined with versatile, plentiful apples.

This year sizes are huge, prices are the lowest in many seasons, thus making this refreshing fruit a penny-saver in your January menu-planning.

Winesaps, tart and firm, are excellent for all cooking; Rome Beauties are best for baking (their heavier skin enables them to retain shape during baking); and the big Red Delicious, bigger than ever this year, makes a tasty low-calorie between meal snack, or crisp salad. Try these recipes:

TURKEY ROLLS WITH APPLES PANCAKE ROLLS 1 cup all-purpose flour 1 egg 1 1/2 cups milk

FILLING 1 Tbsp. flour 1 Tbsp. butter 1/2 cup cream 1 cup turkey

TOPPING 2 Tbsp. sour cream 2 Tbsp. grated cheese 2 Tbsp. butter 1/2 cup canned mushrooms 1/4 cup chopped nuts (almonds or pecans)

Seasoning to taste Make a cream sauce by blending the flour and butter, slowly adding cream until smooth sauce is formed. Add remaining ingredients, and heat through thoroughly.

McMahon Fills Masonry Needs

Ready-mix concrete that is second to none is furnished contractors, homeowners and other builders throughout the Big Spring area by the Clyde McMahon Ready-Mix Concrete Co., 605 N. Benton.

The concern, which has cultivated a constantly expanding clientele through its owner's reputation for dependability and fair dealing, is ready any hour of the day or night to deliver its high quality ready-mixed concrete to any construction site in the area.

McMahon personnel take great pride in the fact that they are recognized for dependable, efficient service as well as for the top quality products they dispense. As a result, there's never a batch of concrete delivered that isn't prepared in exact conformity with the customer's specifications.

Other McMahon products, which include virtually every material and tool used in masonry and concrete work, must measure up to the same high standards. Power equipment as well as hand tools for all kinds of concrete and masonry work have become one of the specialties of the Clyde McMahon Ready-Mix Concrete Co.

Only reliable manufacturers are represented in the array of fine equipment McMahon has on display. Famous brand names you'll see in the showroom include Whiteman, Everready, A. C. Horn, Master Builders, Richmond and Remington.

Whiteman concrete finishers are among the most versatile and reliable on the market. The same can be said for the famous Ever-ready brick and concrete saws, Master Builders and A. C. Horn Company products, Richmond Screw Anchor Company devices and Remington stud drivers and cartridges.

McMahon maintains a complete stock of masonry building materials of all kinds, also. Concrete tile, Holiday Hill building stone, ready-mix concrete, washed sand and gravel, and "Sac-rete" are among the supplies furnished throughout the area by the firm.

The Sac-rete is especially popular with homeowners who need only a small quantity of concrete for small jobs around the house. Containing all the ingredients except water, Sac-rete can be prepared quickly and easily and is ideal for setting posts or clothes-line poles and for other small-scale projects.

Maybe something like a big juicy hamburger would hit the spot. Or the kids may want a foot-long hotdog.

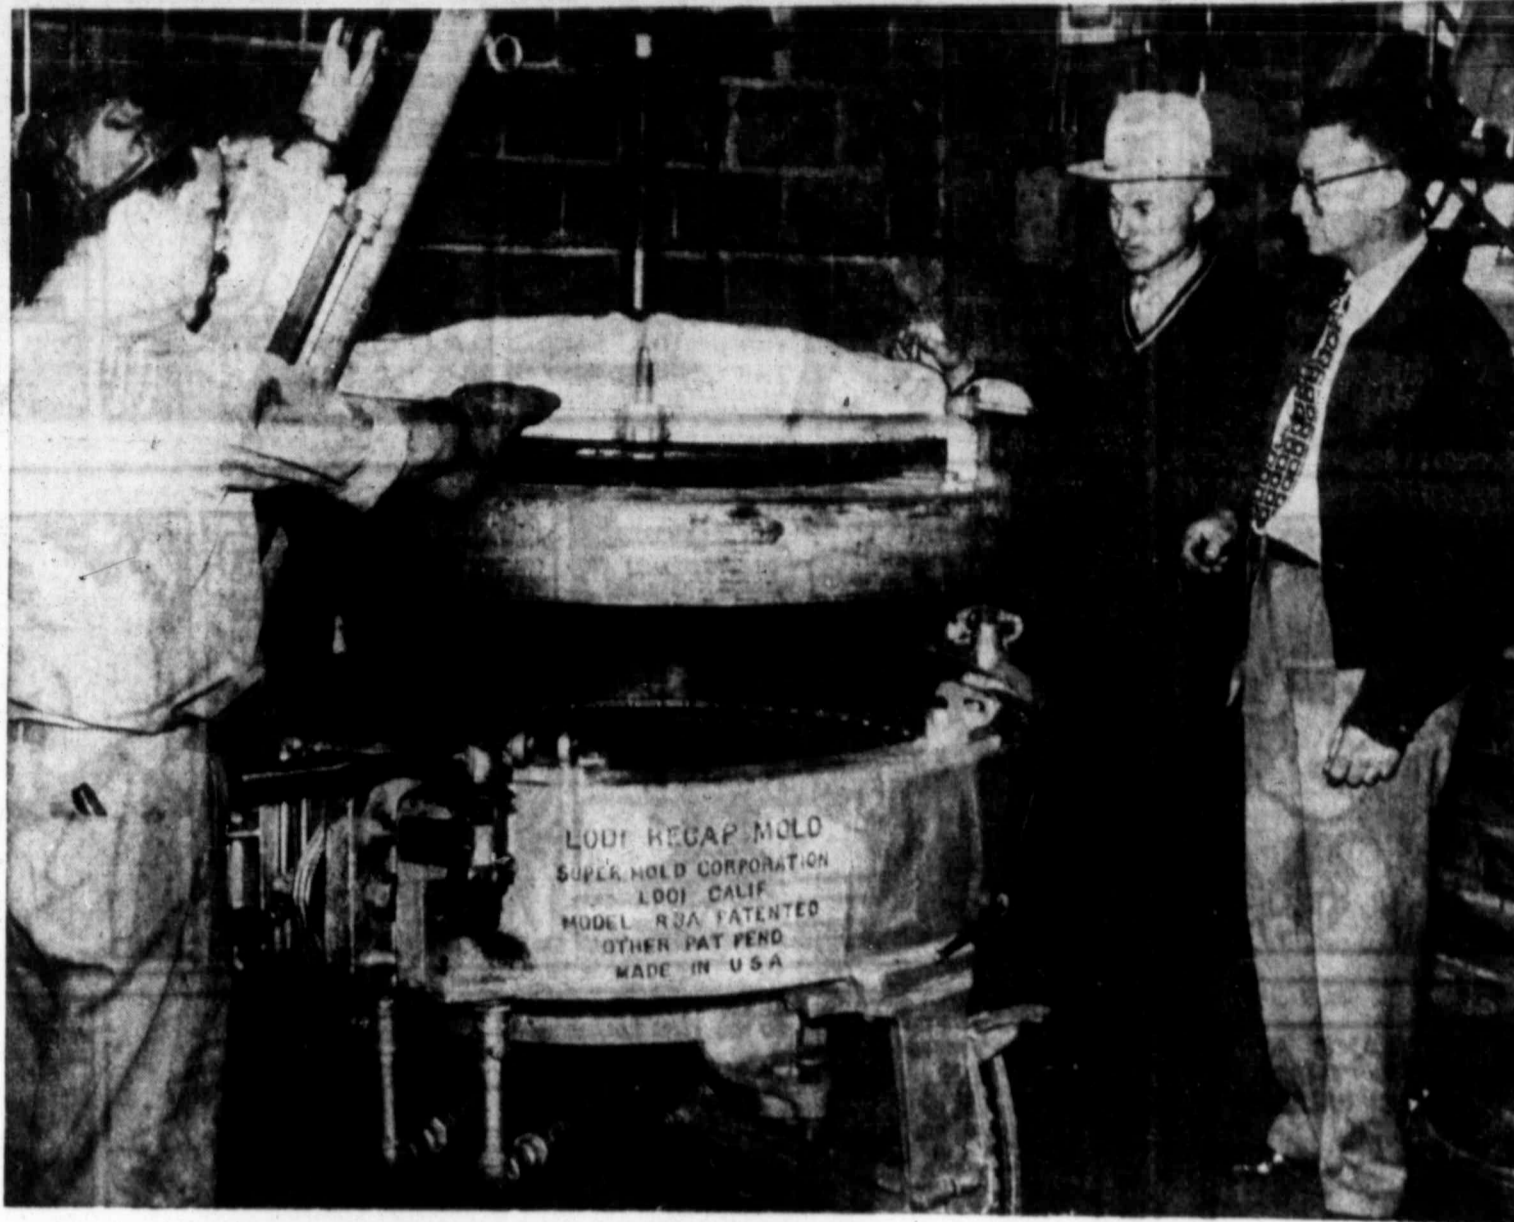

Naturally, they will want the best tasting hamburger and best tasting dog in town and one place to go to find what they want is the Dairy King. Rather, it is more accurate to say the two places to go are the Dairy King No. 1 or the Dairy King No. 2.

Both are operated by M. R. Smith who knows his business and sees to it that foods his establishments serve are tip-top at all times.

Dairy King No. 1 is located at 206 Gregg, Dairy King No. 2 is located at 1102 W. 4th. A phone call to Dairy King No. 1—AM 3-2162—or to Dairy King No. 2—AM 3-3222—will result in your order waiting for you when you drive up and park. There's always plenty of parking space at either place and prompt service is a specialty of the Dairy King establishments.

There's a wide selection of sandwiches and drinks waiting for you at the Dairy King. Smith makes it an issue with him to see that his two places serve the best possible of all food at the price you like to pay.

Escape that kitchen—make the old man take you and the kids out for a snack at the Dairy King.

Added Life For Tires

Use of the Lodi recapping moulds, such as the one pictured above at Phillips Tire Co., adds thousands of miles to the life of a tire at no great expense to the owner. Truck owners find their profits increase by recapping tires rather than replacing them. Charley

Telephone Your Food Orders To Dairy King Establishments

Now that the holiday season is over and the last remnants of the Christmas turkey have been consumed, it may well be that you have a hankering to evade kitchen work and cooking.

You—the lady of the house, that is—may have a desire to go out and eat. To go some place and order whatever you want and not have to bother about cooking or serving it.

Maybe something like a big juicy hamburger would hit the spot. Or the kids may want a foot-long hotdog.

Naturally, they will want the best tasting hamburger and best tasting dog in town and one place to go to find what they want is the Dairy King. Rather, it is more accurate to say the two places to go are the Dairy King No. 1 or the Dairy King No. 2.

Now Is Time To Fertilize Lawns

If you are jotting down New Year's resolutions, include one to put your lawn in great shape for the spring rains by adding Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate.

Heavy applications of the fertilizer should be made prior to March but it can be applied anytime from that time through October.

Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate, sold locally through the McGibbon Oil Company or any local Phillips 66 station, gets a lawn off to a healthy start in the spring.

After application, the lawn should be thoroughly watered unless there might be snow on the ground or showers occur within a day after application.

Even when the grass shows temporary burning or browning, it quickly recovers after a thorough watering. Some experienced gardeners purposely allow burning to curb the growth of chick weed, crabgrass and other undesirable weeds.

Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate is good for shrubs, shade trees, flowers and vegetables, as well as grass.

McGibbon Oil Company is also the headquarters of the famous Philgas heating plan, which provides butane systems for heating rural homes.

Philgas can also be used to provide fuel for kitchen ranges and hot water systems, as well as supply necessary warmth for incubators, fuel for farm implements, etc.

Those who have not yet subscribed for the service may be surprised in learning how reasonable the rates for the systems and their upkeep are.

Consult personnel at the McGibbon Oil Company if you are interested in such a system.

With Tommy Hart

John Ulrey, one-time Big Spring athlete, in for the holidays, says it looks like rough sailing for his Hearne football team in District 20-AA next fall.

Ulrey says his charges lost four games the past season—and he faces a big rebuilding job in 1958. Prospects aren't much better in basketball, he adds. He coaches both teams.

The ex-Steer expects the most competition to come from Belton and Caineron, which is returning to 20-AA from District 9-AAA. Ulrey almost came here as basketball coach a few years ago.

George Steakley, operator of Clover Bowl here, says the feeling in Abilene is that the Eagle footballers could play Amarillo from now on and never beat the Sandies but could meet Highland Park from now on and never lose.

George Raborn, the Waco scribe, put Chuck Colvin, Abilene back; and Eagle end Jimmy Perry on his Class AAAA first-all-state team.

No other West Texan was picked, not even a member of the Amarillo club. However, Buddy Clayton, Sandle tackle; and guard Billy White, the former Big Spring, who played his high school ball at Amarillo, were chosen for the second team, along with two other Abilene players, back Bill Sides and tackle Mike Bryant.

Ken Milliken, San Angelo center, was chosen on the third team, as were Platteville's Lesse McGuire, a back; David Russell, Amarillo back; and Ted Davidson, Amarillo end.

Max Truex, the diminutive University of Southern California runner who copped the mile event in the last ABC Relay, here, will compete in the annual St. Sylvester race in San Paolo, Brazil, tomorrow.

The event covers 4 1/2 miles and runners from all over the world are entered.

Jack Spikes, one-time backfield terror of the Snyder Tigers, gained a total of 315 net yards rushing the past season for the TCU Horned Frogs. His average was a 4.4 yards per carry.

Amarillo Tacosca has replaced Loveland on the Plainview 1958 football schedule. Tacosca, of course, will be a District 3-AAAA opponent.

The National Golf Foundation reports that 133 new golf courses were built this year, representing a capital outlay of more than $25 million.

The foundation also stated that 27 other courses were expanded during 1957, making it the biggest golf course building year since World War II.

The many courses here would seem like a new course, if it were equipped with an irrigation system. The fellow who incorporated into the song the lines "I love thy rocks and rills" couldn't have been referring to the many courses.

The Golf Foundation also reported a steady increase in golf activity during 1957. It says there were 71 million 18-hole rounds this year, compared to about 68 million in 1956.

B And C Quints Oppose Sterling

B and C basketball teams representing Big Spring High School visit Sterling City this afternoon for practice tilts.

The Steer C squad plays the Sterling B team at 4 p.m. while the Bees go against the Sterling regulars at 5:30 p.m.

Sam Bell and John Yates will take the local clubs to Sterling.

Jackets And Poly In Title Bout

DALLAS (AP)—Port Arthur, making a bid for its second straight Class AAAA basketball crown, goes after the Cotton Bowl High School Tournament title tonight against Fort Worth Poly.

Cayuga meets Terrell for the consolation championship while Dallas Sunset and Dallas Woodrow Wilson clash for third place.

Amarillo Five Brings 3-5 Won-Lost Record To Meet

AMARILLO (SC)—Amarillo College, which plays defending champion San Angelo in the second round of the sixth annual Howard College basketball tournament in Big Spring Thursday at 3:30 p.m., will carry a 3-5 won-lost record to the meet.

The Badgers have competed in all five previous tournaments at Big Spring but have never won the title.

In starts to date, the Badgers have lost to Pratt, Kansas (twice); Dodge City, Kansas; Garden City, Kansas; and Pueblo, Colo.

They have beaten New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell twice and Sayre, Okla., once.

Only starter back from last year's team is Royce Haraway of Channing, 6-foot-3.

He and Danny Lynch of Amarillo, the same height, are the tallest boys on the team.

Those two will start, along with Jimmy Bevers, 6-2, an all-state player from Ropesville; LeRoy Bannister, 5-10; and Dale Tarbet, 5-11.

Bevers is the leading scorer on the team.

The Badgers are again coached by Bob Carter, who has been at

Titles To Be Decided In Four Cage Meets

Champions will be crowned in four major tournaments tonight with the Big Eight in Kansas City matching Kansas and Kansas State—both unbeaten and both potential national champions.

In the others, California takes on Temple in the Holiday Festival windup in New York, Maryland meets Memphis State in the finale of the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans and Iowa plays Syracuse for the title of the Queen City event in Buffalo, N. Y.

This week will mark the windup of the heavy holiday tournament schedule and the teams will get down to the serious business of their conference races which for the winners will mean invitations to the NCAA tournament leading to the national championship next March.

Both Kansas and Kansas State are unbeaten, each having won nine games. They are co-favorites for in last week's Associated Press poll of the top basketball teams in the country.

Possibly because of the fabulous West (The Still) Chamberlain, Kansas will rate a slight choice in the final.

Temple, which could emerge as the class of the Eastern sector, is a 5-point choice over California.

Maryland, rated No. 6 in the nation, is expected to roll past Memphis State, while Iowa is favored over Syracuse.

In addition to the tournaments, two more clubs who are casting covetous eyes at the national crown—Michigan State and Cincinnati—see action tonight. State, which appears to be the class of the Big Ten, visits Washington while Cincinnati engages Bradley. Both State and Cincinnati are undefeated.

West Virginia, which climbed clear to the top of the rating on its victory over North Carolina more than a week ago, gets back into action against Canisius Thursday. The Mountaineers have been resting since the NC game.

Two tournaments get under way tonight and one more Wednesday and that wraps up the holiday tournament business. The Gator Bowl, pairing Georgia vs. South Carolina and Florida vs. Clemson, and the All American at Owensboro, Ky., sending Washington and Lee against Ohio U. and Kentucky Wesleyan against Southern Illinois start tonight.

The Citadel, Florida State and Spring Hill begin operations in the two-day Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile, Ala.

While North Carolina tumbled all the way to fourth place in the ratings after West Virginia snapped its 27-game winning streak, the Tar Heels certainly will be in the midst of the fight for championship honors.

They started the long road back last Saturday—and in the process showed they weren't going to let one defeat get them down by winning the Dixie Classic final from North Carolina State, 39-30.

San Francisco and Mississippi State also won major tournaments Saturday night. The Dons, No. 7 in the country whipped Oklahoma City, 60-45, in the final of the All-College affair in Oklahoma City and Mississippi State, No. 10, won its own invitational by turning back Morehead, 46-41.

In other big windups Saturday, Holy Cross vanquished Dartmouth 77-72, in the Holy Cross Invitational; Texas Christian won the pre-season Southwest Conference event, edging Rice, 57-55; Georgia Tech humbled Detroit, 70-66, in the Motor City finish, and Oregon State captured the Far West Classic by halting Utah, 65-63.

Kerville Contingent

Schreiner Institute of Kerville will be represented by the above athletes in the sixth annual Howard College basketball tournament, starting here Thursday morning. The Mountaineers play Wharton at 1:30 p.m. that day. Left to right, they are Bill Deering, Dale Glaze, Capt. Charley Johnson (of Big Spring), Kenny Coleman, George Pierot, Tommy Stuart, Gerald Robinson, Chuck Ledek, and Carroll Cole.

IN BIG ONE

Detroiters Swamp Cleveland, 59-14

DETROIT (AP)—Their old coach called them "dead," their victims called them "lucky" and their new coach calls them "the fightingest damn bunch of guys I've ever seen."

But whatever you call them, today the Detroit Lions are the world champions of professional football. They proved it yesterday by dealing the Cleveland Browns the worst defeat in the team's history, 59-14, in the world title game at Briggs Stadium.

The startling triumph, achieved before 55,263 and a nationwide television audience, provided a dramatic climax to the daffiest campaign in National Football League history.

A grizzled band of old pro diehards and a couple of rookies combined to produce this city's fourth world championship football team. This is the third time the Lions have grabbed off the big prize by beating their bitter rivals from Ohio.

Under the flawless guidance of quarterback Tobin Rote the Lions moved with authority and command from the start, scoring 17 points in the opening period and following with 14 points in each of the last three quarters. Rote, who never before played with a title-winning team in eight seasons of pro ball, was an offensive giant for the Lions.

The bronzed, drawing Texan who took over as solo quarterback four weeks ago when Bobby Layne was sidelined with a fractured ankle, threw four touchdown passes and scored another.

Handyman Jim Martin, the old Notre Dame veteran the Lions all-most released last summer, got the club off to a rousing start. He kicked a 31-yard field goal in the first period and before the scrap was over added eight extra points.

George Wilson, the nice guy who became head Detroit coach when Buddy Parker quit and turned out a title team in his first try, could barely make himself heard amid the wild demonstrations in the dressing room. He called it "a team victory if there ever was one" and credited the team's undying spirit with producing the tag-to-riches saga that turned the city upside down.

Gross receipts totaled $393,967.50 a new playoff game mark. Each of the winning Lions got $4,295.41, another high.

SW Race Could Be Free-For-All

By The Associated Press

Preliminaries are out of the way and Southwest Conference basketball teams get a good rest this week before plunging into a championship race that bears every earmark of a free-for-all.

They don't begin swapping field goals until Saturday when Texas Christian, winner of the annual pre-season tournament and holder of the best season record, takes on anemic Texas A&M at Fort Worth.

The Frogs had to struggle for it but they won the three games necessary for the championship of the tournament by a combined total of 15 points. First they strangled Texas A&M 65-54 but the going got tougher as they knocked over Texas Tech 71-69 and Rice 57-55.

The tourney established TCU, Rice, Tech, Arkansas and Southern Methodist as about of equal strength, each capable of kicking over the other at any time.

SMU, the defending conference champion, was edged 72-70 by Texas Tech in the first game on the schedule. Then the Methodists walloped Texas A&M 59-40 and slapped Texas 82-75. While they lost only one game, the Mustangs took third place with triumphs over Texas and Texas Tech.

All eight of the conference members will be starting the championship race Saturday. Southern Methodist meets lowly Baylor at Dallas, Arkansas goes to Austin to try to repeat its 83-67 tournament triumph over Texas and Texas Tech and Rice tangle at Houston.

Ronnie Stevenson, Texas Christian's valuable forward, leads in season scoring with 185 points—14 better than Temple Tucker, the giant Rice center, who has 171.

Krebs And Lakers Play In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks and the Minneapolis Lakers clash here tonight in a regular National Basketball Assn. game.

Big Jim Krebs, a former Southern Methodist star, will be on display with the Lakers while the Hawks will have Slater Martin, ex-University of Texas great.

Bob Pettit, the fabulous Hawks' star, will be in the game. He fractured his left hand against Detroit Thursday night, but the Hawks' camp announced he would be ready to play.

Frank Leahy Hopeful A&M To Offer Him D Of A Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Leahy, itching to get back into college coaching but advised against such a move by his doctor, is now hoping Texas A&M will offer him the position of athletic director.

The 48-year-old former Notre Dame head football coach Saturday was forced to turn down a similar spot at Texas A&M on the advice of Dr. C. H. Barborka. Dr. Barborka informed Leahy

Merger Of Two Leagues Could Be Tomahawked

DALLAS (AP)—Directors of the 69-year-old Texas League gather today to try and pave the way for a merger with the Mexican League, but the proposal will face strong opposition from south of the border.

The Class AA Texas League hopes to buy the Shreveport franchise to remove one strong obstacle, Louisiana law that prohibits interracial athletic competition. The law was cited previously as a definite bar to the proposed merger. Some Texas League clubs also have favored purchasing the Shreveport franchise, since they cannot use Negro players in Louisiana.

Perhaps a greater stumbling block, however, will be the opposition of three members of the Mexican League. Manuel Rodriguez, president of the Vera Cruz club, said officials of Vera Cruz, Nuevo Laredo and the Leones of Yucatan have decided to fight any effort by the Texas League to incorporate Mexican League teams.

Mexico City and Monterrey are the teams most prominently mentioned as possible members of the proposed, international circuit.

Dick Butler, president of the Texas League, said Mexican League officials have indicated the merger could be accomplished.

The primary purpose of the meeting is to buy the Shreveport franchise as possible members of the proposed, international circuit. This club has announced it wants to dispose of its franchise but hasn't said what it will do if this cannot be done.

Oklahoma City's owner, E. J. Humpal, has said he would like to retain a lease on it until next October. He wants to sell his franchise to local interests, but if he can't he can operate in Oklahoma City, some other town or turn the franchise back to the league.

Relay Texas League cities—Houston, Fort Worth, Austin, Tulsa and San Antonio—are expected to be ready to go in 1958.

Quietly Efficient Rebel Could Swing Bowl Issue

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—He's quiet. He's articulate. He's alert. He's almost fastidious in dress. He's confident and determined. He's no wall-flower but generally he's no more conspicuous than an empty glass on New Year's Eve.

He is Jack Maylon Simpson, stellar left guard on the University of Mississippi football team and winner of a second-team berth on The Associated Press All-America eleven of 1957.

Only a set of heavy shoulder muscles and a thick neck set him apart from the average student on the Ole Miss campus at Oxford, Miss., where the Rebels are preparing for their Sugar Bowl game with Texas on New Year's Day. The game will be televised nationally (NBC) with a 1 p.m., EST., kickoff.

Simpson is so quietly efficient that many of the 30,000 spectators expected to sit in on the 24th annual game may never discover that his number is 68.

But Coach Johnny Vaught of the Rebels will breathe easier because Simpson is in the starting lineup. And it is certain that Coach Darrell Royal of Texas, needs no introduction to the 21-year-old senior from Corinth, Miss.

It was the amazing development of Simpson during the season that helped bring Mississippi its third Sugar Bowl bid in recent years although prospects at the start of the campaign could be rated no better than 50-50. The team won eight, lost one and tied one.

He contributed to the season's longest, Mississippi scoring play when he intercepted a Hardin-Simmons' pass and sped 55 yards for a touchdown that put his team ahead. He and his mates went on from there to defeat the Texans, 34-7. Later in the season he grabbed a Tulsa pass and advanced 23 yards that resulted in an-

Unsung Frank Ryan Big Man In Rice Strategy

DALLAS (AP)—Rice moves in today for the Cotton Bowl with two of the most famous lame-legged guys in its football history ready to give all in their final college game.

Bovines Visit Hobbs Tuesday

The Big Spring Steers will seek a return to winning ways in a game with Hobbs, N. M., in Hobbs Tuesday night.

The contest will serve as a warmup for the Steers for the Odessa tournament, which is scheduled this weekend. The locals drew Lamesa as a first round opponent in the tournament.

Big Spring lost twice to Pampa in Pampa last weekend, 62-65 and 55-46.

In the second game, the Steers were in the game until the last 90 seconds, when shots from the foul line enabled the Harvesters to pull away.

The defeats snapped an 11-game winning skein on the part of the Steers and left their record at 11-3 for the year.

In a previous game with Hobbs, Big Spring finished on the long end of an 82-64 score.

Coach Johnny Johnson said his boys didn't play up to expectations in the Friday night game with Pampa but he was pleased with their efforts in the second engagement.

Frank Ryan never attained All-America like the other Rice quarterback, King Hill, this season. The main reason was that he was injured in the first game and played in the rest of them with a bruised knee. He never would let the leg heal because he just couldn't stay out of football that long.

But he got some great results despite the fact that he played only 170 minutes compared to 411 for Hill. He passed for four touchdowns—and that was the same number that Hill produced. He was the guy who engineered Rice to its touchdown in a 7-6 victory over Texas A&M—the big victory of the season and the one that put the Owls in the Cotton Bowl.

Ryan was a familiar figure, his left knee banded and aged, hobbling around out there doing more than the average quarterback. He ran and passed and he was good enough that the Los Angeles Rams were quick to draft him.

Ryan will be able to play Wednesday against Navy in the Cotton Bowl game although he'll be bandaged and will limp as usual. But Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz says he's a fellow to fear.

"It's seldom that you see a team with the quarterback depth of Rice," said Erdelatz. "Ryan is as good a quarterback as any we've played against."

The other noted lame-legged Owl is Don Gillis. He also was injured in the first game of the season but it was so severe he couldn't get back at full strength until the Arkansas game. That was the day that the Rice defense jelled and became as tough as any in the country. Gillis is a 230-pound linebacker. His work was the key to the Rice drive down the stretch to a Southwest Conference championship.

While Rice depends on its men of the lame legs for victory in the big game Wednesday, another damaged leg is giving Erdelatz trouble.

The Navy coach said his great blocking guard, Tony Stremic, would not be able to play in the Cotton Bowl because of cleat cuts on the right foot and a twisted ankle, suffered in scrimmaging.

It brought gloom to Navy. "The loss of Stremic makes us the underdogs," Erdelatz said. "He was the keyman of my line and his loss will hurt my quarterbacking, too. Missing that great blocking is quite a blow."

Letterman Bob Caldwell, who never has started a game, will move into Stremic's spot. Erdelatz said Caldwell would do a good job but not up to Stremic's. However, the main problem created by Stremic's injury is the thinness at the position.

Why do we take such care?"

Going Is Tougher For Cincy Star

Both Texas and Mississippi teams took it easy yesterday, the Longhorns at their temporary camp at Biloxi, Miss., and the Rebels on their home campus at Oxford, Mississippi will arrive Tuesday for a late afternoon workout on the Sugar Bowl turf. The Texans won't appear until Wednesday just before game time.

Tom Brown Wins Net Title Again

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tom Brown Jr., a runner-up in the U.S. tennis championships and at Wimbledon more than 10 years ago, today had the distinction of being the first player to repeat as Sugar Bowl tennis champion since former Davis Cup star Ted Schroeder did it in 1947 and 1948.

The 35-year-old San Francisco lawyer had his hard-hit ground strokes under control all the way as he defeated Bernard Bartenz of Dallas, Tex., 6-1, 6-4, 7-5 in the finals.

To Visit Son In China

Mrs. Ruth Redmond, 55, sits with grandchildren in Yonkers, N.Y., looking at a picture of her son, Hugh, 35, whom she will visit in China. Mrs. Redmond, a school dietitian, along with two other mothers, will fly to the Communist-dominated mainland to see their sons, prisoners of the Red Chinese. Hugh, employee of a U.S. export firm in Shanghai, was sentenced to life in prison in 1951 after conviction as a spy. Mrs. Redmond has not seen him in 11 years. The youngsters, left to right, are: Tommy, Patricia and Billy Boyle, children of a daughter with whom Mrs. Redmond lives.

Unusual Heckler Of Bureaucrats

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29—A sober-looking little man stepped up to the mayor's doorstep and dropped a garbage can. A newspaper photographer snapped a picture. Then, beaming contentment, Hyman A. Pressman walked away with the garbage can — satisfied that he'd done his bit to protest the 1953 strike of city garbage collectors. Admittedly, it takes an unusual fellow to deposit a garbage can on the doorstep of the mayor in the sixth largest city of the nation. But Pressman is cut out for the job. A lawyer by profession and filer of taxpayer's lawsuits by avocation, he is a most unusual heckler of government officials. Since 1946, this compact, 5-foot-5, red-haired lawyer has filed dozens of suits. By winning two-thirds of them, he estimates he has saved taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars. He regards his most outstanding achievement a suit last year in which the state's highest court knocked out an ordinance by which city officials had voted themselves a raise. The saving was about half a million dollars. Actually, city officials can be grateful for some of his watchdog tactics. Here are examples of his other accomplishments in pursuing this stinging sideline he estimates costs him $1,000 a year: He enabled the city to collect $700,000 in license fees that formerly went to the state. He forced the Maryland Yacht Club to pay the city $28,500 in profits that were supposed to have been used to improve one of the club's park sites but were used at another. Among suits he lost was one to do away with the state's 2 percent sales tax. Pressman has even offered to go to bat for the nation's taxpayers. Last year, when the Democrats were demanding equal air time to answer a speech by President Eisenhower on taxation and spending, the Baltimore lawyer wired national television networks. He said he would be glad to present another point of view—that of the taxpayer. As for the garbage can incident, Pressman explained it was just a stunt to emphasize his conviction that Mayor D'Alesandro was to blame for the strike. He learned later D'Alesandro was on the second floor ready to toss a pan of water out the window at him. But the mayor's wife vetoed that. The irrefragable Pressman—who exercises with dumbbells—says it's not for publicity's sake that he files his taxpayer's suits. Rather, a "hatred of tyranny that sets something racing inside" prompts it.

Light Moisture Wets N. Texas

By The Associated Press
Clouds laden with light moisture pushed through North Central Texas from the Gulf Coast Monday, bringing light drizzle and fog. Elsewhere over the state, the weather was mostly fair. The cloudiness spread into the Dallas-Fort Worth area by dawn. Light drizzle fell at Cotulla, San Antonio and Austin. Fog covered much of Central Texas. Visibility was reduced to a fourth of a mile at San Antonio and Cotulla and to a half mile at Austin. The Weather Bureau forecast partly cloudy skies through Tuesday with no important temperature changes. Predawn temperatures Monday ranged from the middle 20s in the Panhandle to the lower 60s in South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

2 Youths Admit Theatre Bombing

AMARILLO (AP)—Two youths have admitted they set off a homemade bomb in a theater here. Four youths suffered minor injuries in the blast Friday night. Detectives Ralph Funderburk and Dale Founds said the boys, both 14, signed statements yesterday admitting touching off the bomb. They were released to their parents pending disposition of the case by juvenile court. No charges were filed. Funderburk and Founds said the boys told them the bombing was planned three months ago because one of the pair had a grudge against an usher at the theater. The bomb was built of firecrackers, BB pellets and cardboard.

Delayed Wedding Trip Ends In Death

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP)—An El Paso couple on a delayed wedding trip was killed yesterday when their car smashed into a tree near here. Dead were Charles F. Adam, 25, and Mrs. Mary Adam, 21. Adam was television director of station KROD-TV in El Paso. They were married there several weeks ago. The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said both were killed instantly when the car driven by Mrs. Adam went out of control on a curve.

Gunman Wanted In Slaying Is Killed After 110-M.P.H. Chase

WRENS, Ga. (AP)—One of two gunmen wanted in the slaying of two men in Washington, D. C., was killed last night in the flaming crash of a stolen car being chased by police at speeds of up to 110 m.p.h.

The state patrol said Henry Clay Overton, 44, of Marlinsville, Va., died when the car he was driving swerved and smashed head-on into another auto. The crash occurred on U. S. Highway 1 about four miles north of this east-central Georgia town.

The driver of the other car, listed as Charlie Wray of Cocoa, Fla., and High Point, N. C., also was killed.

The patrol said a massive hunt was in progress for Overton's companion, Russell Wayne Carpenter, 21, of Washington.

Troopers armed with submachineguns and tear gas searched a nearby tourist court for Carpenter after occupants of one of the cabins reported hearing someone break into another unit.

"We still don't know whether the other man was with Overton," Patrol Sgt. R. L. Knight said. "It is possible there might have been a second man in the vehicle."

Overton and Carpenter were charged in warrants with kidnaping, unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder and auto theft.

The FBI said that Overton, described as a diabetic requiring 15 units of insulin a day, also had a long record of assault, house-breaking and larceny.

The murder warrants were issued after the Washington shooting. The men spent several hours drinking in a bar, argued over a $20 tab and left. About 15 minutes later they returned and opened fire with a .45 caliber pistol and a sawed-off shotgun, police said.

The restaurant operator, George P. Kaldes, 33, was killed as was Kenneth Fisher, 32, a guitar player in the restaurant's small band. A blind pianist, Bernard J. Mainier, 23, was also reported paralyzed from the waist down.

Modernized Science Policy Requested

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A new and modernized national science policy was urged today by a federal government official.

It should be comprehensive and aimed at winning "long-term results rather than tomorrow's miracles," said William D. Carey, chief of the Labor and Welfare Division of the Bureau of Budget, Washington, D. C.

He cautioned against letting the government "be swept by public and political pressures into courses of policy that are dramatic but unfruitful" in meeting problems of education and expanded basic scientific research.

Speaking at the closing sessions of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, Carey declared:

"We need not only better weapons and more technicians, more basic science and more serious students, but equally we need to think through a truly comprehensive public policy for the partnership of science with government."

"We have still to develop in government a comprehensive view of research and development roughly similar to what we long ago devised in such areas of public policy as agriculture, land and resources, conservation, labor, and national defense."

"Science in government continues in this critical age to prosper as a sideline of separate and unrelated departmental missions; it is not seen as a unity either in the executive or legislative process."

Carey said this doesn't mean that all research should be put in to a single-purpose department, for that would raise entirely different problems.

He called for a serious search for a national science policy mobilizing human and material resources to attain the goals. He said President Eisenhower took a first step this way in naming Dr. James R. Killian as his adviser on science.

Carey said government ties with science must be strengthened "not for a crisis of war but for the crisis of peace," and science and education must be kept free institutions.

Satellite Chief Bares Further Space Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. John P. Hagen has indicated that U.S. scientists, working to get an earth satellite aloft, already are looking ahead to a more advanced space program.

Hagen, director of the Navy-supervised Project Vanguard, said yesterday "we are planning to improve our satellite program after Vanguard." He added that what is done in this connection will hinge on the extent of support given by Congress and the Defense Department.

The Vanguard project was planned to function during the International Geophysical Year, a worldwide cooperative scientific research effort that began last July and ends one year from now.

The United States failed Dec. 6 in its first attempt to launch a small test satellite. The Russians have fired two satellites into orbit since early October.

Hagen, appearing on a television interview program said another effort to launch a Vanguard test sphere will be made "in not too long a time."

The failure earlier this month has not delayed the goal of launching a fully instrumented satellite next March, he said.

That unsuccessful launching try was attended by widespread publicity which some critics said put the United States in a bad light.

Hagen said that on the next attempt press coverage "will be handled a bit differently."

He stated "there will be an announcement of the firing and whether it was successful or not."

Afro-Asian Delegates Polish Up Anti-West Resolutions

CAIRO (AP)—Delegates to the African-Asian conference put finishing touches today on a listful of propaganda resolutions following the broad Soviet line.

Subjects ranged from nationalization to nuclear weapons.

This afternoon's plenary session promised another round of anti-Western speeches by spokesmen for the 400 delegates from 42 nations and colonies. None represents his government officially, and many come from leftist groups either frowned on or outlawed at home.

The question of nationalization first arose during the conference Friday in a speech by the Soviet delegate. The economic committee quickly picked up the theme and was reported ready to adopt a resolution approving government appropriation of private property.

An informed source said the resolution, which would have to be approved by the full conference at its closing business session Wednesday, considers nationalization a "lawful means and a right which is acknowledged for every nation in accordance with the principles of national sovereignty."

Some delegates also were discussing the possibility of a resolution thanking Russia for her offer of economic aid or loans to all African and Asian countries. This was one of the major developments at the conference and the one considered by many observers to present the biggest challenge to the West if the Soviet government follows it through.

In the disarmament committee Chairman Kaoru Yasui of Japan said that his group's resolutions would call for withdrawal of all foreign troops, general disarmament and probably a ban on nuclear tests and on export of nuclear weapons.

Yasui said Russian nuclear tests would be mentioned as well as those by Britain and the United States.

The subcommittee on racial discrimination prepared a long draft criticizing discrimination throughout the world, particularly in South Africa and Kenya. It called for freedom of speech and the right to vote regardless of race, color or creed and for the repeal of all land laws which enable whites to take land from colored people.

A subcommittee member said the Little Rock integration disturbances figured in the group's discussions but were not mentioned in the resolution.

Rep. Patman Seeks To Abolish SBA

DALLAS (AP)—Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) said today he will introduce a bill to abolish the Small Business Administration because it is giving "nothing but lip service" to the problems of the small businessman.

The veteran Congressman was here for a two-day investigation of a recent milk price war among Dallas dairies.

"Situations like the Dallas milk war have been brought on by the administration which more and more favors big business against little business," Patman said.

"There is a pattern of this sort of thing all over the country."

Patman, chairman of the House Committee on the problems of small business, said such situations were "hurting consumers and business — particularly little business. A little business is getting nothing but lip service from Washington."

He said he would begin drafting the necessary legislation when he returns to Washington this week and would seek to have the SBA replaced by "an agency that is interested in little business' problems."

He also said he will advocate establishment of small business capital banks in each of the nation's Federal Reserve Districts to make no interest loans to small business.

Rep. Steed (D-Okl) also was due for the committee hearing today. Committee Counsel Everette MacIntyre said the first of at least a dozen witnesses would be Louie A. Teague, owner of Beverly Hills Dairy here.

Teague recently filed suit against five large dairy firms, seeking a million dollars damage and an injunction against milk price fixing. The suit alleges the defendants violated the Sherman Antitrust Act in reducing milk prices.

Rep. Patman said the price of half gallons dropped 16 cents below normal at the peak of the price war in mid-December.

"If everybody could afford to put the price down—fine," he said. "But invariably it's the small companies that get hurt and if they are put out of business the prices go up tremendously."

Patman said dairymen in his district brought his attention to the milk price war, fearing it would spread "because some Dallas firms have interlocking interests with other parts of the country."
