THE SEWER PIPE LOOK

Murmansk Momma Is The Latest In Fashion

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (U-P)—Men, if the unpublished Gaiter Report has you worried about the shape of things to come, take heart in the findings of this top-secret Gunny Sack Report.

No matter where America stands in the missile race, she is making remarkable strides on the fashion front. Thanks to our intrepid designers and a shapeless mass called the chemise, American women will be just as well dressed as Russian women by the spring of 1958.

Fore and aft (and you'll have to look twice to tell which), they'll have the tubby, tubular look of a Murmansk Momma on her way to market in her greatcoat. No curves, no kinks; no wiggles, no jiggles. Just a bolt of cloth billowing in the breeze, or drooping in the doldrums, depending on wind conditions.

In closing the fashion gap, the bosom, derriere and other capitalistic tourist attractions have been relegated to the couturier's Siberia. Everything, but everything, has been left to the imagination. The girl of your dreams will be as sexy as a barbershop calendar—still wrapped in its cardboard mailing tube.

This is a nutshell—or rather in a silk sheathed rain barrel—is the gist of the Gunny Sack Report, now revealed for the first time.

By posing as a fashion writer (all it took was a Paisley print tie with matching pocket handkerchief of the sincerest hue), this reporter managed to smuggle the information out of the heavily guarded salon of a 5th Avenue hotel where the high priestesses of the garment trade had gathered for their annual spring rites, otherwise known as fashion openings.

As ritual, these openings owe a great deal to an unfashionable gent named Jake Minsky. The trappings are virtually the same as in the early American art form he pioneered: a long wooden runway stretching clear into the bald-headed row, a round spotlight playing on a red velvet curtain and a piano tinkling seductive airs.

Only when the curtain opened, instead of Rose La Rose or Lily St. Cyr in their native habiliments, out stepped a trio of bored-looking sirens in formless, knee-length pillow cases.

About this time Minsky would have headed toward the fire exit with an angry mob at his heels, but the audience of fashion writers—all women except for the aforementioned spy—appeared smartly, white glove upon white glove, and buried themselves in their form sheets.

"This is the offbeat look, the sophisticated, understated silhouette," cooed a syrupy voice over the microphone. "Half witch and half woodpecker. The crepe chemise: casual, comfortable, oh so chic. Retail for $110. We call this the 'midweek weekend look' because it's so versatile."

The models minced their way one by one down the runway with the peculiar tummy-out and hips-in strut that the new look seemed to require, as if they had a strong wind at their backs and were about to run up a spinnaker.

Several writers actually broke for the telephone in the best traditions of the press. Others took notes furiously or babbled in a jargon rife with words like "blouson," "scalloped" and "applique."

Up on the platform, sack after sack—paraded before our eyes. There was the blouse-chemise, cut off droopily at the middle, the way the general storekeeper used to tuck in the fold of a half empty grain sack.

There was the two piece suit chemise, roughly an Army field jacket over a Mother Hubbard. And the "harem chemise," trussed up at the bottom so it literally became a cul-de-sac.

Finally, the "bare-top evening chemise," which provided the silhouette effect of a semi-naked girl peeping sheepishly out of an upright sewer pipe, which ended precisely 16 inches from the floor.

Across the table, a stout, gray-haired woman who might have shared a daisy chain with Whittier's mother in her Vassar days directed a question at me. "Do you think I could wear that length or would it tend to make me look old?"

Muttering something about an early deadline for my fashion furnished readers, I escaped with the Gunny Sack Report safe in my pocket.

One major finding: not one of the intrepid fashion writers was intrepid enough to don the spring-time sackcloth for the opening.

Father Held

Claude W. Schindler, 29, of Chowchilla, Calif., is being held by police on suspicion of murder after admitting to police he became "frenzied" when his 4-year-old daughter, Sandra, refused to cry at his command. Mrs. Schindler said her husband removed his belt and beat the girl for some 45 minutes and when she fell unconscious, he took her to the hospital. Dr. Modera Worden said Sandra died of "traumatic bruise, cuts and lacerations over the entire body."

Soviet Union Fires Off New Peace Barrage

MOSCOW (U-P)—The Soviet Union has fired off another peace barrage. It appeared here today to be a deliberate attempt to maintain the Kremlin's diplomatic initiative.

Premier Bulganin's latest proposal for a summit meeting reached Washington offices shortly after President Eisenhower delivered his State of the Union message to Congress.

In Paris, Bulganin's lengthy letter was delivered the day before NATO Council members were scheduled to meet to consider a reply to earlier Kremlin suggestions for a top-level conference.

The latest Soviet letters were largely repetitions of earlier proposals with the additional suggestion for a Geneva meeting "in the course of the next two or three months." The tone of the messages was marked by a lack of invectives or aggressive words and phrases.

A brief note following the letter to Eisenhower published in Pravda said Bulganin's messages were sent to the 15 NATO members as well as the other countries of the 82-member United Nations. Moscow radio said Switzerland and "several other states" not in the U. N. also got letters.

The original Moscow radio announcement of the letters had said they were sent to 19 governments, including NATO members.

Most diplomats in Moscow had expected the Kremlin to wait at least until the West had time to agree on what amounted to a collective reply to earlier Russian letters before making new proposals.

The speed with which the Soviet government leadership acted showed, observers here said, determination of the Kremlin to retain the initiative. Russia hopes to be in a position to claim a major share of the credit for whatever develops toward a lessening of international tension.

Local Students To Take Merit Tests For Scholarships

Two Big Spring High School seniors will go to Midland Saturday for intensive testing in competition for two of the National Merit Scholarships which will be awarded to some 800 high school graduates across the nation next spring.

The two, Willis L. Owen Jr. and Priscilla Pond, are among the 7,500 semi-finalists in the competition. The field of contenders will be narrowed by the three-hour college board tests to be given in all parts of the nation Saturday.

The 7,500, chosen on the basis of earlier tests, represent about one half of one per cent of the total number of high school seniors in the U. S.

Miss Pond is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond, 1611 Runnels, and Owen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Owen, 1608 Tucson.

Negro Woman Held In Stabbing

HOUSTON (U-P)—A Negro woman was in jail today, charged with assault to murder in the bus stabbing of David Taylor Jr., 17.

The white boy was stabbed Wednesday during an altercation about Negro and white seating aboard a city bus. Mrs. Ruthie Jenkins told L. W. C. Boss, in a written statement, that she stabbed Taylor "because he swung at me." Her attorney, Henry Doyle, a Negro who has been prominent here in school segregation cases, accompanied her to the police station yesterday.

Fourth Launching Of Atlas Success

AF Missile Flight Accurate

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U-P)—The U. S. Air Force successfully launched its fourth Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile today.

The giant missile rose from its launching pad, in a puff of white smoke and a tremendous flash of flame, at 10:48 a.m.

Within 15 minutes the Pentagon announced that the launching had been a success—a fact plainly evident to the handful of reporters who watched from beaches some miles away from the fenced-off test center.

The Department said further that "the test, which was not full range, was successful."

This meant that the Atlas, designed to fly more than 5,000 miles, was assigned a shorter range for this test flight and operated accurately over that distance.

The announcement from Washington said the launch was "successfully carried out at 10:48 a.m."

"This test of the Atlas, under development by the Air Force and Convair, was one of a series of intermediate range and intercontinental range ballistic missile flights conducted at the Canaveral station," the announcement said.

The Atlas is the American answer to the Soviet claim of intercontinental ballistic capability.

This was the second apparently successful firing of "the Beast," as the Atlas is known to its builders.

On the first two tries, the big missile started to get out of control shortly after launching and it rose slowly through heavy clouds. Its bright trail of fire was visible for almost three minutes.

The thunder of its mighty engines—a primary motor and two boosters—could be heard even after the missile itself vanished in high clouds.

Shortly before disappearing into the overcast, the missile arched over gradually to the southeast, over the test range which extends 5,000 miles out across the Atlantic.

Rider Injured In T&P Freight Train Pileup

ABILENE (U-P)—Twenty-eight cars of an eastbound freight train derailed on the outskirts of town last night, blocking road travel at a busy traffic circle on U. S. 80.

An unemployed man riding the train was injured when he was pinned amid the debris. He identified himself as Eugene Cockrell, 23, Russellville, Ky.

Cockrell suffered a broken right leg and possibly back and head injuries. He said he was pinned inside a boxcar more than an hour before his shouts were heard. It took some time to free him.

Cockrell told hospital attendants he boarded the Texas and Pacific Railroad train at Sweetwater. The train had a total of 128 cars.

Two derailed cars plunged off the overpass, straddling it. One was loaded with sheetrock which scattered on the road. The other, a tanker loaded with liquid gas, was suspended from the track by the road. Firemen kept a close watch against cigarette smoking in the area for fear of an explosion.

Sheetrock, lumber and other debris littered a two-block area. A train crewman said travel on the Texas and Pacific line between Dallas and El Paso would be blocked unless another line was used.

Rail crews began working after midnight, but officials could not give an estimate of how long it would take to clear the scene.

Other members of the train crew, also of Big Spring, were J. A. Horton, brakeman; N. R. Smith, conductor, and V. E. Lewis, rear brakeman.

Texas & Pacific officials here said that estimates were now for a 4 p.m. clearance.

Meanwhile, passengers and cargo on the passenger trains were being exchanged at Abilene. Train No. 7, running about three hours late, doubled back east as No. 8, and in turn No. 8 doubled back west as No. 7, also running about three hours behind schedule. No. 1 and No. 2 may have to exchange also, said T&P spokesmen, but this will depend on whether it appears passage can be gained by 4 p.m. through the wreckage.

Operations were hampered somewhat by the precarious position of the tank of liquefied petroleum gas which hung from the overpass. There also were other LPG cars in the wreckage which will require exceptionally tender handling.

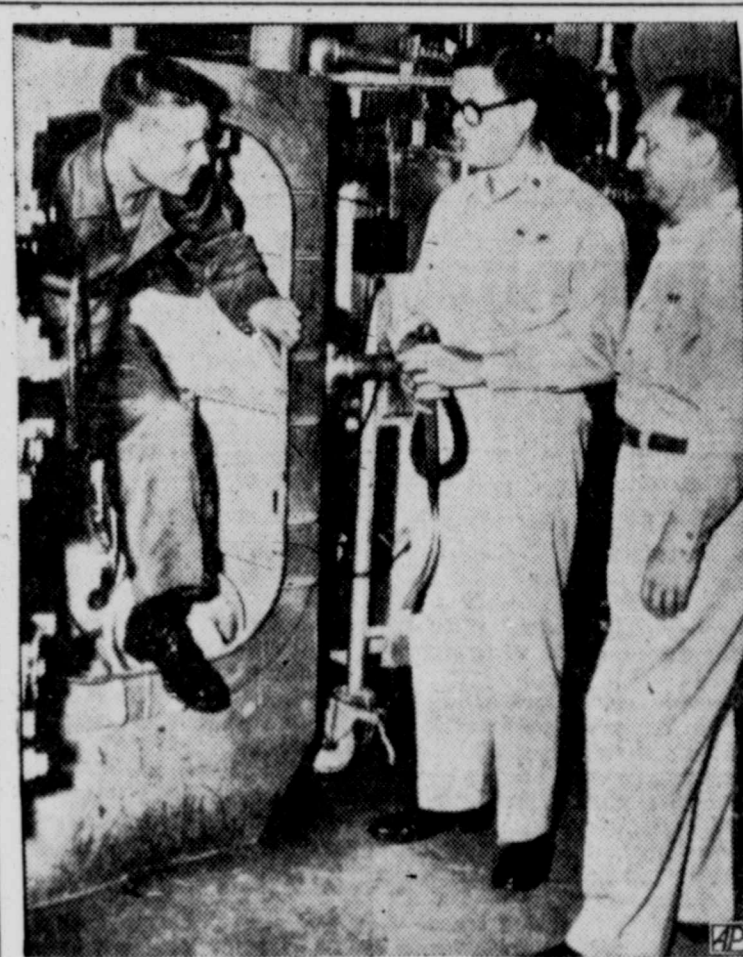

The train, which makes up in the Big Spring yard from the accumulated items from the west, is known as the RSP&P factor because it picks up all the transfers from the RSP&P at Roscoe, plus the day's accumulation from the gypsum and wall board plant at Sweetwater.

In all there were 128 cars in the train. Among the 28 which were piled up in an accordion crisscross on the tracks, there were 17 with plasterboard, six with LPG, two with fuel oil, one with coconut oil, one with gypsum rock and one with cotton. The pile-up was within about a 400-foot area. Several days may be required to clean up the debris.

There were still no indications as noon Friday as to what might have caused the derailment.

Panel Deadlocks On Equalization Work

Thursday's attempt to pick a firm to make a tax survey in Howard County ended in a deadlock. As a result, the decision of choosing one will be passed to the three governing bodies involved.

The special six-man board, composed of two members each of the County Commission, School Board, and City Commission, voted secretly at a meeting Thursday afternoon on two firms, and the count ended at three and three. The committee is considering bids from Prichard & Abbott Co. of Fort Worth and Southwestern Appraisal Co. of Stamford.

Prichard & Abbott quoted a price of $70,000 for the survey while Southwestern's bid was $76,550.

It was after the deadlock that the committee decided to turn the matter to the respective bodies.

The county group will meet Monday, the city Tuesday, and possibly the school also Tuesday. When the three make choices, another committee meeting will be held, with each governing body to be given only one vote—thus preventing another tie.

Serving on the special committee are County Commissioners Hudson Landers and G. E. Gilliam, School Trustees Robert Stripling and Omar Jones, and City Commissioners Curtis Driver and Roy Bruce. Landers is chairman.

The meeting Thursday was called by Landers after the city manager, county judge, and school superintendent made a trip Monday to Midland and Monahan's to investigate surveys taken there by the two firms. Since the superintendent and county judge were not present Thursday, City Manager H. W. Whitney made a report for them.

Whitney said that both towns were pleased with their surveys. Midland's survey was taken by Prichard & Abbott while Southwestern handled the other. The city manager said the three men later rated the firms on what they had heard. This rating gave Prichard & Abbott an "excellent" and Southwestern "good."

Whitney said personally post-survey interviews with property owners caused him to rate Prichard & Abbott higher. This firm at Midland had 12 evaluation engineers go over all property with the owners—if they requested it—and told them how they arrived at their prices.

This, Whitney reported, cut the number of protests at equalization meetings about 90 per cent.

Prior to voting on the firms, the committee agreed to recommend to their respective bodies that a basis of 23.15 per cent for the city, 29.53 per cent for the school, and 47.55 per cent of total cost for the county be used on distributing charges for the survey. These figures are averages of costs quoted by the two firms.

Should these percentages be used, the city would pay either $16,205 or $15,661, the school $20,510 or $19,821, and the county $32,285 or $32,168, depending on which firm was employed.

Although the ballot was secret, Gilliam restated his position of favoring Southwestern on the committee level as well as on the Commissioners' Court level but by the same token, he would object to Prichard & Abbott on both levels. He said he was against any oil evaluation firm making real estate surveys. No other member of the committee openly said who he voted for.

Mystery Airliner Blast Ruled Suicide

WASHINGTON (U-P)—The Civil Aeronautics Board says a Californian who insured himself for $125,000 set off a dynamite blast which hurled him to death from an airliner over the Mojave Desert last summer.

Killed in the explosion was Saul Binstock, 62, retired jeweler from Hollywood.

None of the other 15 persons in the twin-engine plane was injured.

Martin Junior Livestock Show Is Slated Saturday

STANTON (U-P)—Future Farmers and 4-H Club members were assembling their stock at the county show barn this afternoon in preparation for the annual Martin County Junior Livestock Show which gets under way at 8 a. m. Saturday.

About 40 animals will be exhibited in three divisions of the show—calves, lambs and swine. Judging is to be completed by 2:30 p. m. Saturday, time set for the stock auction.

The show is sponsored by the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Committeemen are Gerald Hansen, Travis Scott, Eugene Barkowsky and Bob Johnson.

Bernard Houston is general superintendent, and co-superintendents were to be drawn from the three divisions from the ranks of 4-H and FFA members.

Livestock judge will be Calvin A. Holcomb, Gaines County agent and auctioneer will be Houston Glasson, Lamesa.

Judging of pigs is to start at 8 a. m. Saturday, and all swine and lamb entries are to be placed before lunch. Calves will be judged just prior to the auction.

There will be three classes of lambs—Southdown, Southdown cross, and cross breeds. A champion will be chosen for each class, with no distinction to be made between lightweight and heavyweight animals.

In the swine division, champion barrow and champion gilt will be chosen, and the grand and reserve champion steers will be chosen from the calf entries. In addition, sportsmanship trophies will be awarded in all of the divisions.

State Demo Panel 'Invites' Apology For Disloyalty Label

AUSTIN (U-P)—The State Democratic Committee invited Mrs. R. D. Randolph, national committee woman for Texas, today to apologize to the group Feb. 1 for calling it disloyal.

In a strongly worded letter, signed by Mrs. Max Brooks, state vice chairman, the Houston woman also warned that "reckless and untrue statements by you only further divide the party."

In Houston, Mrs. Randolph declined comment, saying: "Let's just skip it. I'm not going to make a statement at this time."

Asked if she planned to apologize, Mrs. Randolph replied: "I said no statement now."

The letter was in answer to a Jan. 6 letter that Mrs. Randolph wrote the committee saying she would appeal at the Feb. 1 state committee meeting in an attempt to get it to adopt a proposed "code of ethics" for Texas Democrats.

Mrs. Randolph, a leader of the state party's liberal Democrats faction and staunch supporter of Sen. Ralph Yarborough, is head of the Democrats of Texas (DOT). The State Democratic Committee has accused Mrs. Randolph and the DOT previously of trying to gain control of the state party at this year's primary and state conventions.

The letter said that if Mrs. Randolph appears before the state committee Feb. 1 "you should begin by apologizing to this committee for the charges which you have made publicly that this committee is a 'disloyal Democratic committee'."

Mrs. Brooks cited speeches made by Mrs. Randolph Sept. 12 in Weslaco and Sept. 18 in Oklahoma City in which the national committee woman asserted the state committee was controlled by "Dixiecrats and Republicans."

"We know and you know that this charge is not true," Mrs. Brooks said. "I deeply resent anyone trying to tell others about integrity and fair conduct without first correcting and apologizing for these unfounded charges against a committee, the great majority of whose members have always supported the Democratic party, both state and national."

The letter also said the committee felt Mrs. Randolph should comply with previous requests to stop using "the misleading title 'Democrats of Texas'."

Mrs. Brooks suggested that Mrs. Randolph tell the state committee "why you and your organization not only refused to cooperate with the elected officials of the Democratic party in conducting the 'Dollars for Democrats' campaign but actually hindered and obstructed the drive."

During the financial drive several months ago the DOT tried to get all contributions sent direct to the national Democratic organization rather than sharing the proceeds with the state organization.

"These three matters bear directly on fair conduct," Mrs. Brooks told Mrs. Randolph, "and I think they should be covered in any appearance that you might make voluntarily for the purpose of suggesting to our committee procedures for party integrity."

Armed Forces To Contribute To Space Weapons Agency

WASHINGTON (U-P)—The armed forces are expected to contribute both manpower and money to the Pentagon's new agency for planning weapons of space warfare. That organization eventually may work with a fund approaching half a billion dollars.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message, gave a brief outline yesterday of the mission of the "Advanced Research Projects Agency" which Secretary of Defense McNely is now organizing.

Eisenhower said McNely is concentrating into the single organization "all the antimissile and satellite technology undertaken within the Department of Defense."

The President also said elsewhere in his address that "we must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimagined weapons of the future."

The antimissile missile problem comes within the scope of the new agency's activity for two reasons: (1) the weapons will be those of the future; and (2) they will work out in the fringes of space to intercept and destroy intercontinental ballistic missiles arching toward American targets at speeds of more than 10,000 miles an hour.

Eisenhower's reference to "satellite technology" presumably means the application to military requirements of discoveries made in the development of purely scientific research satellites like the Navy Vanguard and the Army Jupiter-C projects.

This would mean exploration and then development of satellites into actual space vehicles and whole weapons systems for outer space.

One of the earliest efforts of the ARPA probably will be to perfect a television-equipped, unmanned satellite to serve as a vehicle for reconnaissance over literally the whole world.

The Defense Department plans to transfer about 10 million dollars from its own fund to get the ARPA started. No further financing details were disclosed.

Reports indicate a total of about 400 million may be shifted from funds of the Air Force, Navy and Army to support ARPA.

Scientists and technicians from the three services also are expected to be transferred to the space agency.

Kiwanians Hear Discussion Of South American Head Hunters

Life and customs of the head hunting tribes of Ecuador were described in vivid detail by Maj. Malcolm Nurnberg, Webb Air Force Base officer, in a talk to the Kiwanians and their wives at Cosden Country Club Thursday night.

Maj. Nurnberg, who spent some time as guest of one of the stone-age culture tribes, had on display a shrunken head, a blow gun and poison darts, wooden knives, bows and other articles he had brought as souvenirs of his adventure.

His talk was illustrated with colored slides made from films he shot during his visit. Nurnberg, who gained wide publicity in January 1956, for the part he played in searching for the bodies of five American missionaries murdered by a tribe of similar Indians, dwelt only briefly on this portion of his experiences. The body of his address was in connection with the visit he paid shortly after the rescue with another tribe very much like the savages who had slain the missionaries.

Dictionary Men Keep Sharp Watch For New Additions

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Twenty-four hours after Sputnik I zoomed into orbit, Clarence L. Barnhart telephoned his Midwestern printer to dictate a new word and its definition for the 1958 edition of the dictionary he edits.

Dictionary men keep watching words and usage. Every time a new printing is ordered, a few important new words are slipped in. Every time there is a new edition, larger numbers of lesser words are included.

In recent years, the language has been moving forward at a great pace, with all sorts of new scientific as well as slang terms. In the business of selecting new words or adding new definitions of old words, there is frequently a difference of opinion among dictionary men.

Demos Call For Blueprints On President's 8-Point Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he laid before Congress yesterday.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his State of the Union message. Eisenhower said they are needed to meet the growing space era threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

"The President has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for strengthening of our allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world. These have long been Democratic objectives."

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting these objectives. As soon as he lays them down, our committee will promptly consider his recommendations."

Although Johnson and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) both praised Eisenhower's speech, there was mounting evidence of Democratic disappointment that Eisenhower did not make any spectacular proposals for an immediate buildup in American military might.

LONG AND SHORT

An analysis of the President's proposals circulated among Democratic senators said that basic-ly the message was "long on proposals and short on performance."

"Even the program to step up national security boils down to pumping a little more money into existing projects and promising vaguely to reorganize the defense structure," the analysis said.

Republicans were practically unanimous in their praise of Eisenhower's personally delivered message. Some Democrats lauded it but many of them were critical.

Eisenhower was interrupted 41 times by applause during the 44 minutes he addressed a joint session of Congress in the House chamber. Republicans provided most of the applause, but Democrats often joined in and occasionally led the outbursts.

The show of enthusiasm, like the world situation, differed sharply from that at the start of 1957. Only five rounds of applause interrupted the entire 1957 address to Congress.

The White House described Eisenhower as "very pleased" with the reception he received.

Rayburn said he was "glad to know the President is alive to what the American people are disturbed about and this is the bickering and dissension among the services in the Pentagon."

GET JOB DONE

"I hope he gives Secretary McElroy the authority to get the job done regardless of who stays or who has to go," Rayburn said.

A high administration official said Eisenhower had in mind a move to bolster the secretary of defense with additional authority over military spending.

This official said the President was personally directing the Defense Department reorganization plans and might recommend creation of a staff of military advisers, separate from the Joint Chiefs, to help McElroy resolve disputes among the services.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, called in a statement for creation of a unified command as "the only way to end rivalry and wasteful competition among the armed services."

He said he does not believe unified war plans can be drawn up under the present system, in which the Joint Chiefs represent their individual services and the chairman is powerless to resolve their differences.

Leading off his eight points with his reference to defense reorganization, Eisenhower called for a speedup in production of missiles, nuclear submarines and other modern weapons. Congress seemed disposed to give him all the funds he might ask in this field, and possibly more.

There was evident opposition, however, to the President's call for continuation of foreign aid at a high level and continuation of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for five years.

Many Democrats indicated they want to go further than Eisenhower's proposal for a billion-dollar, four-year program to promote education and research.

AID OPPOSITION

There was general applause for Eisenhower's statement that he expects the budget to be balanced despite increased expenditures. But there was evidence of stiff opposition among Democrats to any move to cut conservation and welfare funds to counter the defense increase. Eisenhower made no reference to specific programs in saying some less essential activities must be curtailed or eliminated.

Eisenhower's call for efforts to bring about disarmament and peace was generally applauded, although except for a cooperative "science for peace" effort he proposed little that was new.

In London, editorial comment on the speech was lukewarm and headlines went instead to Russia's new proposal for a summit conference of East-West leaders.

The Conservative London Daily Telegraph noted approvingly "the spirit of vigor and determination which pervaded the whole document," but the independent Times and the Liberal News Chronicle said the speech contained nothing new.

RED COMMENT

Tass reported in Moscow that Eisenhower spoke of preserving strength and working for true peace, but said most of the speech was "taken up by military problems."

In this country, Republicans said the President had demonstrated he has the "sense of urgency" about the present crisis that Democrats have been demanding.

Some Democrats like Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) agreed on that score. But, like Kennedy, many of them said the real test will come in the specific recommendations Eisenhower lays before Congress in subsequent messages.

In cross-section the reaction to his message ran like this:

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California: "President Eisenhower... has forthrightly pointed out the dangers... He has made recommendations to meet this challenge. Congress has a big job ahead of it which it should meet on the basis of American vital interests and not on narrow partisan bickering."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich): "Now, as never before in our history, Congress must give the President what he asks for to accomplish his all-out peace program. Action to streamline the Pentagon and to step up missile and scientific activity is imperative."

Sen. Anderson (D-NM): "The President failed to present a workable program. He proposed a lot of things that won't be done, including a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla): "A warm, well-delivered and friendly report to the nation by the President—a strong one-base hit when the team needed a home run."

Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts: chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators: "The message gives us all confidence that he intends, as commander in chief of the armed forces, to build up and to maintain the military strength needed to give us security."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee: "I am glad the President is going to tighten up the defense structure. But I disagree it would be 'reckless folly' to cut the foreign economic program to provide extra money for defense weapons."

Weak Cold Front Lies In Panhandle

By Associated-Press

A weak cold front hung across the Texas Panhandle Friday, but the Weather Bureau said it probably wouldn't have too much effect.

Temperatures dropped below freezing before dawn in West Texas but ranged into the 50s along the southern Gulf Coast.

The mercury was due to climb to mild levels across most of the state during the day. No rain was reported and none was in sight through Saturday.

The weather was generally fair in North and West Texas and cloudy to partly cloudy elsewhere.

The cold front in the Panhandle was expected to become stationary, the Weather Bureau said. It was not due to cause any large temperature changes.

High temperatures Thursday ranged from 44 at Lubbock to 67 at Childress.

Fore dawn low readings Friday ranged from 25 at Dalhart to 52 at Brownsville.

Bride Rescues Boy From Well

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A quick-thinking bride rescued a 2-year-old boy from a 15-foot abandoned well in suburban River Oaks yesterday.

The child, Henry Eugene Dickson Jr., who suffers from a slight heart murmur, tumbled into the well as he played behind his grandmother's home.

Mrs. Alma Stoeppelman, a newlywed who lives two doors away, was alerted by her stepson Johnny, 13. She raced to the scene with a 50-foot length of hose, formed a loop with it and lowered it to the bottom of the well.

"The little boy was crying and screaming for several minutes, but I managed to calm him down finally, and he grabbed the hose with both hands," she said.

"He held on real tight."

Her husband grabbed the boy after Mrs. Stoeppelman hauled him up.

Boy Cleared Of Delinquency Charge

HOUSTON (AP) — A boy, 16, who testified he killed his father after the man came home drunk and started beating the youth's stepmother, was found innocent of being a juvenile delinquent yesterday.

Talmadge Barnett wept after Domestic Relations Court Judge J. W. Mills said he thought the boy deserved a "second chance."

Clyde Barnett, 43, was shot and killed June 16.

A Bible Thought For Today

Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel. (1 Corinthians 9:14)

Broadening Field Of Leadership

If patterns and personalities tend to fall into the same orbit, the Chamber of Commerce may be moving toward broadening the field.

In the first place, the election of Dr. J. E. Hogan brings a relatively new personality in chamber officialdom to the forefront. This is not to imply that he had not been active in community affairs—quite the contrary. Rather, the nomination committee, backed by the board of directors, stepped outside the circle of those who had been called upon time and time again to take key roles in chamber work.

The new president has in turn seemingly expanded this development in the choice of appointees to the executive committee. In addition to Vice President Robert W. Currie, who brings much in experience and knowledge of the community to the board, there are such new faces as J. R. (Bill) Hensley, a veteran civic worker although new to Big Spring; Ike Robb, Dan Krausse and R. H. Weaver.

Among the latter three is to be found a representative of the young but seasoned group upon whom soon will descend the responsibility of much of community leadership.

Coupled with this is the election of a young man, Bill Quimby, as new manager of the chamber. Thus, the enthusiasm and vision of younger leadership may well make itself felt within the coming year. There are enough of the veteran workers on the board and in the membership to help provide sustained force to activities. Perhaps this is a sound development which is happily timed to do the most good.

Man In The Target Pit

Down through history our secretaries of state have been vulnerable to political attack—nonpartisan in the sense that they were jumped on with evenhanded impartiality by enemies in the opposing as well as their own party.

Under the benign smile of Dwight D. Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles has enjoyed a singular immunity to the kind of vicious assaults that befell, for instance, George Catlett Marshall and Dean Acheson. Yet Mr. Dulles has rolled up a record of putting his foot in his mouth that is approached only by that of recently retired Charles Wilson among Mr. Eisenhower's subordinates.

Lately there has been talk that Mr. Dulles intends to resign—indeed, was anxious to resign and get away from it all. After all, he is 69, and only last year underwent a very serious operation indeed.

But even later reports are that after a bucking up by Ike, Mr. D. has changed his mind and doesn't intend to resign at all.

So this week Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) told interviewers that Mr. Dulles' resignation "would be the best thing that could happen to the free world psychologically." To rub it in, he added: "In my state, if secretary of state were an elective position, Dulles wouldn't carry a precinct."

Bureaucracy In The Defense Setup

WASHINGTON—It's a lucky thing the United States has not had to fight a world war in the last few years. For the present system, whereby the heads of the armed services are enmeshed in a bureaucratic apparatus of civilian control, would make war operations far less effective than they were in either of the two world wars in which the United States has been engaged.

Today there are four separate armed services represented on the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and four separate civilian departments dealing with defense problems. "Unification" was the cry in 1947 and 1949, and "simplification" was the slogan in 1953 when Congress passed a so-called military reorganization bill, but the main weaknesses have not been cured.

The principal fault is that the military commanders have been removed farther than ever before from the Commander-in-Chief of all the armed forces—namely, the President, who under the Constitution has the full responsibility for military operations in time of war.

Today the joint chiefs of staff is neither an operating body nor a planning unit. The heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force, moreover, are not statutory members of the National Security Council. In time of war a commander in a far-off theater who has all three services under him is required by law to communicate through a civilian agency—the Department of Defense—before reaching the Commander-in-Chief. This is a requirement which did not exist in either World War I or World War II.

During the last global war, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt had a personal Chief of Staff, Admiral William Leahy, who acted as a liaison with the military heads of the armed services. At that time the Air Force was not yet officially separated from the Army but the late General "Hap" Arnold, chief air man, was by instruction of the President required to attend all sessions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. When it came to voting, however, General George Marshall, Chief of Staff of the Army, always had General Arnold's proxy in his pocket.

Now For The Brass Tacks

WASHINGTON (P)—What counts in connection with President Eisenhower's warmly received State of the Union message to Congress—is what he and Congress do for the rest of 1958 to back up what he proposed.

This is for sure: there will be intense arguments this year over whether Eisenhower is doing the right things, or enough of them, to keep ahead of Russia or to try to get ahead. The arguments have already begun.

As they unfold, the most puzzled man in America will be the average citizen to whom rockets, missiles, satellites, electronic engineering and research on space flights are still a mystery.

He'll be in poor position to judge who's right if Eisenhower proposes 500 million dollars for research on some out-of-the-world things, or enough of them, that at least twice as much is needed.

It will be years—probably after he's left the White House—before the wisdom of what Eisenhower proposes and Congress does this year can at last be tested against the accomplishments of the Russians.

Eisenhower showed awareness of the need for strenuous effort in the contest with Russia. He offered no alibi because the kind of effort he calls for now wasn't made before.

But the message was only a statement of problems in general terms, a document of intentions.

Views On Teens

DENVER (P)—Antero Siirila, 17-year-old Helsinki, Finland student, thinks American boys and girls drive automobiles too early and the girls dress in "a very un ladylike manner."

But he thinks American teenagers are "more open-minded and better socially adapted" than Finnish youngsters. Antero is at East Denver High School under an international scholarship program.

You'll Never Get Rich, Eh?

NEW YORK (P)—The Army is supposed to build men. It did even better by Cy Leslie, a big ex-gearman in the Signal Corps. It gave him the initial idea that led to a multimillion-dollar-a-year business.

Cy, who is 35 and has the height and the heft of a professional football tackle, today is known as "the king of the kiddie records."

Last month his firm pressed its 100 millionth record for children. "Looking back, I guess I owe a lot to the Army," he said.

At the time—during World War II—Leslie didn't figure, however, the Army was doing him much of a favor by sending him to such places as New Guinea and the Philippines. He was lonely, as all soldiers are lonely.

One day he got a greeting card from his mother, back in Brooklyn. Gazing at the greeting card, Leslie mused: "Boy, if this thing could only talk!"

If only a greeting card could talk, Cy brooded over the thought. Well, why couldn't a greeting card carry a vocal message? He decided it could.

Released from the Army in 1946, Leslie gambled his savings on creating a line of recorded two-bit greeting cards.

"I had only $1,100—and I put every penny into it," Cy recalled.

"We wrote our own lyrics and music. I slept on the desks at night because I was too tired to go home. My mother even helped by trimming the paper-based records with her scissors."

"The cards caught on fast. The first year we took in $25,000, the second year $300,000. Then we couldn't give them away. The cards were a fad, and the fad was over."

Cy then decided to take an even bigger gamble—to enter the kiddie record field in competition with the major companies. He decided the only way he could win was to put out a 25-cent product and aim for a new mass field through supermarkets, toy stores, and mail order houses.

"I picked up a number of then unknown singers and used them to make children's records," he recalled. "Later on some of them went on to fame in the adult music field."

How was this ex-gearman going to go out and carve his own growing empire in a 400-million-a-year industry ruled by giant companies?

"Guts and ignorance," said Leslie. "There were many times when, if we really had known what we were up against, we probably should have quit—but we didn't."

Slow On The Draw

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P)—Police Chief Charles P. Thomas was showing off two of his uniformed female officers. The chief ordered Patrolwoman Emma Groom to show City Councilman Val A. Cordova the items in her big leather handbag.

The policewoman promptly whipped out her handcuffs and a few other items. But with no amount of muscle could she dislodge her pistol, stuck in the handbag holster.

Cordova suggested a lesson in old-fashioned Western gun slinging.

Signs Of Progress

The Scientific American is a fascinating magazine. It is all the more fascinating in this brand new space age, but the advent of space has not changed the S.A.'s format considerably. They, like the scientists they write about, haven't flipped even a little bit over Sputniks, automation and flights to the moon.

Established in 1845, the Scientific American has always presented its material in a non-sensational and scholarly manner, but still, they manage to make it readable, even to the layman. There's a reason for this. The magazine is read by technical men in all fields plus a considerable number of laymen with an interest in science. And science has got to the point that an expert can talk in technical terms only with another expert in the same narrow field. If a scientist in one field wishes to explain his work to a scientist in another field, he must use approximately the same terminology, or he would use in explaining to an intelligent and fairly well educated layman.

This is one magazine in which the editorials are as interesting as the editorial contents. The art work is among the best in any American magazine, the copywriters write intelligently, and the layouts are usually cleverly designed. Woe to the advertiser who uses methods of mass psychology on an audience of non-conforming individuals.

Let's take a look at the January, 1958, issue.

Some of the articles are hard to read simply because the subject matter is difficult, like the one on tracking satellites by radio, an exposition that describes electronic techniques in determining satellite orbits. Only persons fairly well versed in radio could follow this article.

The article on the leap of the grasshopper is more easily understood, with a detailed explanation of powerful muscles and simple nerve controls, but the reader finds that discovering these facts was not so easy.

Above 40 miles air behaves less like a fluid and more like a collection of particles, one learns from the article on ultrahigh-altitude aerodynamics, profusely illustrated (as are most of the articles) by excellent photography and diagrams. This item also explains the nature and meaning of this phenomenon to the field of aerodynamics.

The reader is taken into an excursion of a much smaller universe than the one most of us know in the article on the Uncertainty Principle. This natural law states that events on the atomic scale cannot be observed with full certainty. For example, if you design and build an instrument that will detect an electron in its orbit about an atomic nucleus, you still won't be able to find the electron. If you leave it alone, you know (by theory) that it's still there, but if you apply the instrument you succeed only in knocking the electron out of its orbit. Thus, the electron, not being there, cannot be detected.

An item on barbiturates describes the various useful properties of these familiar drugs, including tranquilization. Another article in the biological field tells of the action of genes, these portions of living cells that control heredity. It was discovered that change of a single amino acid of which genes are made) alters the properties of human hemoglobin (a blood fraction).

Something that might be applied in medical or optical fields is described in the article on experiments in discrimination, in which pigeons respond to colored light precisely according to its wavelength. And an item on whales, plankton and man describes how the shrimplike animals consumed by whales may help solve the food problem of mankind.

In the Scientific American, there are, of course, the usual regular departments; perhaps the most intriguing concerns the state of science as reported by the magazine 50 and 100 years ago. Here are a couple of excerpts from the issue of January, 1903:

"That the automobile has settled down to its approximate final type is suggested by the small and decreasing number of novelties (and a remarkable improvement in the quality of the product... wonderfully rapid has been the development of this most complicated machine to its present perfection."

"On Dec. 23 the Signal Corps issued specifications... for a heavier-than-air machine capable of traveling... 40 miles per hour in still air and carrying two men aggregating 350 pounds, as well as sufficient fuel for a flight of 125 miles."

At this point, the January, 1908, issue noted that no one had yet claimed the Scientific American award for flying one kilometer in a straight line.

Isn't progress wonderful? —BOB SMITH

Color Printing Fulfills Gardener's Dream

"What is so rare as a day in June?" asked the poet. In reply, I would back that day of June-in-January when the first seed and nursery catalogues of the New Year are delivered by the mailman.

Then, if ever, come perfect days for the gardener as his eyes glaze in awe and his jaw comes unhung in wonder at the bright promise contained in the never-never color plates. I shut up shop yesterday when the first catalogues arrived, retired to my room, hung a "Do Not Disturb" sign on the door knob and gladly gave myself up to the Munchausen marvels of three-dimensional roses, scarlet tomatoes as glorious as rubies and petunias ruffled and curled like an 18th Century wig.

It is my considered belief that constant improvement in color printing and engraving techniques is the single most important factor in home or amateur gardening today. All those new chemical fertilizers, patented weed killers and power garden tools never seduced anyone into giving his back and his brown into bondage for endless weeks in spring, summer and early autumn.

Man can resist the lure of a garden tractor, all right, and without half trying. But let him get his hands on a seed or nursery catalogue, where the year is always at the harvest, and he is a gone goose. One look at the giant, rust-resistant, heat-loving, upright, new and improved hybrid zinnias (in full color, natch) that give "promise of all-summer beauty" and the victim fights for the chance to mortgage his sacrificial through the growing season.

The pangs of gardening are like those of childbirth—they are forgotten the moment the tiller of the soil holds in his arms a seed catalogue with color plates.

Oh, sure, I know better. Experience has been my teacher. But the old saw, "Once bitten, twice shy," and the old maxim, "A burnt child fears the fire" have no validity for the gardener once the seed catalogue is in his hands. What Michelangelo, what Raphael can compare with that full-color reproduction of an ear of succulent sweet corn, every golden kernel set on the cob with gem-like precision? It looks good enough to eat? Why, son, I've already got it buttered!

It would be treason, a betrayal of one's black spot or leaf mildew while gazing with rapture on that new hybrid pink rose that flowers on the printed page like naught ever seen on land or sea. Only the mean of soul would recall what the annual beds looked like last September 1 after three continuous months of drought.

At this season, with the catalogues flooding the house with color, hope, triumph over experience and reason. This is the happiest time of the year for the gardener when the only tool he can possibly use is the ballpoint pen as he writes out his order for seeds and shrubs and notes, "Check enclosed."

For a few days Congress, Sputniks, the sag in education, the lag in defense, and the bag in milady's dress are forgotten as the gardener dreams big dreams. Soon enough he awakes to the aches. (Copyright 1957, United Features Syndicate)

What To Do About Declining Economy

WASHINGTON—While it has been kept carefully under cover, a sharp difference of opinion has been developing within the Eisenhower administration over what is likely to happen to the economy during 1958 and what to do about it.

The official view is that of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, who predicted a "mild dip" and then an upturn. The contrary view is that '58 is likely to see a continuing decline unless measures far more drastic than any now contemplated are quickly taken.

At least since last September Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has been warning in Cabinet meetings that trouble lay ahead of a more serious nature than the Cabinet had recognized.

With the aid of the able staff of economic analysts in the Department of Labor, Mitchell had taken a reading of what the sharp cutbacks in defense spending, coming on top of the tight money policy, were likely to mean. But so intent was the President on cutting back from the unauthorized rate of military spending of $42 billion a year to $38 billion that the warning went unheeded.

The figure for unemployment today is believed to be about 3,800,000. By the end of January, with certain seasonal influences, it is expected to go to 4,500,000. This compares with 2,800,000 two years ago.

There is almost as much controversy over the meaning of what is happening to the economy as over what the future holds. The official view in the administration is that this is a readjustment, a pause, with the certainty that when it is ended the economy will move on to new heights. Various expressions have been used to describe it. One, a rolling readjustment on a high plateau, has come to have a slightly humorous sound as the adjustment has continued to roll.

But economists out of the New and Fair Deals such as Leon Keyserling, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, have taken a more serious view of what is occurring. And added weight must be given to their opinion because at least six months ago they were saying that what was taking place was more serious than anyone had officially admitted.

In Keyserling's view, the trouble is the old familiar one—the capacity to make goods outstripping the ability of people to buy them. Prices and dividends, in this analysis, have been rising faster than wages. From January, 1956, to November, 1957, industrial production declined 2.8 per cent, according to Keyserling, while prices rose 4.5 per cent.

This suggests the nature of the big economic controversy of the year. Labor is already saying that wages must go up so that the mass of consumers can buy the goods of industry, past wage increases caused inflation and brought on the economic decline. This dispute, fought out on the picket line in strikes already visible on the economic horizon, will have a lot to do with what kind of a year 1958 turns out to be. ## Miss Pace Prepares Oven Meal For The Luther HD Club

Thirteen members of the Luther HD Club, assembled Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. E. Hanson, watched Elizabeth Pace, County HC agent, in the preparation of an oven meal.

Miss Pace suggested that those dishes which require approximately the same amount of time for cooking be used in oven meals. She selected meat loaf, baked potatoes and peach cobbler, which were served to the group.

Mrs. W. M. Cunningham gave the devotion. Demonstrators and leaders for the new year were named, and Mrs. H. S. Connolly was introduced as a guest.

The next meeting will be Jan. 23, place to be announced.

Methodist Class Meets Thursday

The group heard an outline for the study of the songs of Charles Wesley as it is planned for the church. This was given by the pastor's wife, Mrs. H. W. Gaston.

New resolutions were disclosed by each of the 18 present. A report told of the new stove, which the class has sponsored.

A welcome committee was appointed, with Mrs. Minnie Cannon and Mrs. A. F. Bearden as members. Refreshments were served during the tea hour.

soul-winning. The session will be held at the church.

Tuesday afternoon, members will meet at the church for a prayer service at 2 o'clock and will then have visitation.

Plans are made for the group to attend the evening prayer meeting at the church on Wednesday.

Oven Meal Preparation Given For Two HD Clubs

Mrs. Waymon Etchison was elected president of the Lomas Home Demonstration Club Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Paul Bulsterbaum. She will replace Mrs. R. P. Odom, who is moving to Stanton.

Chosen reporter, to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Etchison, was Mrs. Neil Fryar. Mrs. Wiley Williams, vice president of the club, presided for the meeting.

The hostess gave the devotion, taken from the book of Psalms, and the group answered roll call with a goal desired for the club.

Elizabeth Pace, HD agent, gave a demonstration of the preparation of an oven meal. She recommended that members be careful to have a variety in the texture of the food combined and that foods which require the same cooking temperature be chosen for the meal.

For the demonstration, a meat loaf, baked potatoes and a peach cobbler were prepared, and the agent suggested that a crisp salad be added.

During a discussion of the uses of food, the speaker gave the three duties of a meal—to supply heat and energy; to build and repair body tissues and to regulate body functions. As a result of good nutrition, a person should be efficient, alert and have good health, Miss Pace said.

Refreshments were served to 10; Mrs. Etchison was announced as the hostess for the meeting on Jan. 16 at 2 p. m.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Mrs. R. N. Adams was hostess for the Fairview HD Club Tuesday afternoon for the demonstration of an oven meal preparation.

Two hostesses, Mrs. Duval Wiley and Mrs. Marvin Wright, alternated at the guest register.

From a table spread with white linen and centered with an arrangement of glittered tulips and grapes in shades of pink and orchid, refreshments were served.

The center of interest was an arrangement on the buffet, which held a small crutch formed of white styrofoam and the words, "March of Dimes" in a base of foliage.

Two other hostesses, Mrs. M. S. Toops and Mrs. H. L. Bohannon, served from a table, and assisting them were hostesses, Mrs. Jack Taylor and Mrs. W. E. Eubanks.

Mrs. Judy Ward took second place with a hat made of popcorn, and Mrs. Robert Hall was third with a hat decorated with two sets of false teeth.

A feature of the afternoon was the auction of a Christian Dior hat donated by Jinx Falkenburg. This was won by Mrs. E. V. Spence. Mrs. Richard Patterson sketched portraits, and the money was added to the welfare fund.

Bowling trophies were awarded by Mrs. Cary Malott as follows: Mrs. E. J. Makris, high average; Mrs. Charlotte Townsend, high game; Mrs. Kenneth Christlun, high game with handicap and most improved game; Mrs. Malott, high series; Mrs. Robert Baird, high series with handicap. The Pockets proved to be the winning team, and the Frameups were runners-up.

'ROUND TOWN With Lucille Pickle

Having just read Peg Bracken's story in the new Post concerning her inability to do all the many things some writers say wives and mothers do, I think 'pooh'. She says her husband ought to fire her.

Of course I can't mend a broken washer, vacuum sweeper, radio, television set or put in a broken window pane—but it's not far to the telephone and someone who does know how.

I do all my worrying about the children's illnesses, something I have found no one does as feverishly as I, including their father. He takes the attitude of the husband of a friend of mine who shook him awake from a sound sleep when their first child was crying with the colic. She shamed him for sleeping so soundly when their only child was so full of pain. He said he saw no reason for both of them worrying.

I think, for the sake of a story, Miss Bracken has made herself seem woefully ill-adjusted to doing what should come fairly naturally. Not that we all do everything well, but I know some women that are pretty capable cookies when it comes to keeping their end of the marriage bargain. Of course a fair share of them are Texas women.

Having based their newly acquired house trailer in Harlingen,

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN SAUNDERS are having the time of their lives in the Rio Grande Valley, in spite of the high water and other little handicaps of much rain. They had planned to spend most of their vacation in the valley playing golf, but they lost out a few days because of the bad weather; they hope to catch up before returning here around the 20th. The couple left here on Dec. 30 and were in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl game. Since then they have driven to Harlingen and from there have been in Brownsville and plan other visits before coming home.

Jacksonville, Fla., will be the base for Navy pilot JIMMY CONLEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley. He left here Wednesday after spending several days with his parents.

MRS. RUBY ROWE and MRS. TRAVIS CARLETON planned to leave today for Denton for a visit in the home of Mrs. Rowe's parents.

SHIRLEY KENNEDY, freshman from Otischalk, is serving on the Abilene Christian College radio station staff. She is on the music staff for KACC. Miss Kennedy is the daughter of MR. AND MRS. P. H. KENNEDY and is majoring in history at ACC.

Artist's Window Stays Same But His View Keeps Changing

By DIAL TORGERSON
LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (U)—From the view window of his cliff-top home, R. Stephens Wright can look 40 feet down and see fish darting back and forth in the crystal-clear waters at Laguna Beach.

Mobile Luxury

Artist R. Stephens Wright relaxes on the patio beside his trailer home in a modern trailer park at Laguna Beach, Calif.

From his desert home 100 miles away he views the panorama they call Palm Springs—the desert, the mountains, the Joshua trees—across a landscaped courtyard where a fountain bubbles in the cool night air.

Wright is a nationally-known portrait artist. He has wealth and social position. There's nothing unusual about the fact that he has two vacation homes.

But here's what is unusual: they're both the same home. It's a trailer.

Wright is one of the four million Americans who live in trailers all or part of the time. Of course, he isn't typical—he's listed in both the national and Southern California social registers, and a trailer park cross-section would show as many different people as you'd find, say, in a big apartment house. They have this in common: they wear their homes like fancy coats, and take them anywhere they like.

Wright, for instance, spends the summer in his 36-footer at Treasure Island, a fashionable but not exclusive park on the bluffs at Laguna Beach, some 50 miles south of Los Angeles.

When the first cold wind of winter blows in off the Pacific, Wright calls a trailer moving firm. For $50 they move his home 100 miles to winter quarters at Palm Springs' Skyridge Park, where trailers are parked in four-home squares around fancy courtyards.

Wright has enough money to keep the trailer for vacations and weekends—his permanent home is in Pasadena. But there are many Southern Californians of modest means who could afford to be his trailer-park neighbor.

month at Laguna and $55 a month at Palm Springs," said Wright. "Of course, in Palm Springs I have to chip in to help pay the gardener who takes care of the courtyard."

A trailer like Wright's costs about $4,000. There are 220,000 such "mobile homes" in California alone—some 1,225,000 in use across the country. Some Treasure Island trailers have $4,000 cabanas attached and boast color television.

Wright says his trailer's greatest convenience is its lack of a telephone. Between portrait jobs—he does about a dozen a year—he likes a place to relax.

"A friend of mine on Long Island in New York has a 67-foot yacht," Wright adds. "And he doesn't have half the room in it that I have here." He waved his hand about the wood-paneled 35-footer. "I've got head room, too—there isn't anything to bump your head on, like there is in a boat."

"Of course, my friend's yacht is made for racing. And I'm not racing anybody."

The Laguna Beach park where Wright summers has four beaches. The Palm Springs park has a swimming pool. But so do most of the trailer parks being built now in Southern California.

According to the Trailer Coach Assn., a national trailer boosting group, there are 41,000 parks nationally and 2,500 in Southern California. More than a third of those here have pools, recreation halls and the other earmarks of "luxury" trailer parks. Nearly all the new ones being built in temperate climates also have pool—bringing their total cost to an average $300,000.

Daniel Opens UT Celebration

AUSTIN (U)—Gov. Price Daniel opened the University of Texas' 75th anniversary celebration today, urging an honest appraisal of the state's educational system for "the next crucial 25 years."

"Throughout 1958, citizens will join with regents, administrators, faculty, students and ex-students in determining what the university should become during the next crucial 25 years," Daniel said.

"Never before in the history of our Western civilization has the need been so great for honest appraisal of our educational system. Our civilization may well stand or fall on the quality of higher education in these United States."

President Logan Wilson and Supreme Court Justice Ruel Walker also spoke.

Wilson said the university's worth cannot be appraised in the value of its lands or hundreds of millions of dollars worth of buildings.

"Its essential value lies in the influence it has had on the thousands of men and women educated on its campuses, in the impact it has had on the culture and economy of our state and nation, and in its potentialities to be of even greater service in the future," the president said.

Walker said, "With each passing year, knowledge and skill acquired in these halls and under the guidance of teachers trained here have increased the productivity of the state and thus have added enormously to its economic progress."

Guilty Pleas Made In Bank Collapse

VICTORIA (U)—Three men charged in the collapse of a Yorktown bank switched their pleas to guilty yesterday in Federal District Court. A fourth was acquitted.

The three may receive sentences of up to five years in prison each and fines of up to $10,000 apiece. Judge James Allred said he probably will pronounce sentence in April.

Pleading guilty were Jesse Strieber, 63, executive vice president of the First State Bank in Yorktown, now in receivership; Ray Smith, 37, his son-in-law, a Cuero automobile agency manager; and James Pearson, 41, Cuero trucker.

Bernard Goehring, 43, Yorktown express company official, was acquitted. Judge Allred agreed with Goehring's attorney, Herbert Oliver, that there was not enough evidence for prosecution of the charge.

State and federal bank examiners closed the Yorktown bank last April. It is now in the process of liquidation.

Strieber is free on $4,000 bond and Pearson and Smith on $1,000 bond each. Judge Allred said an investigation will be made by a Corpus Christi probation officer before sentencing.

Strieber pleaded guilty to one count in an embezzlement indictment not scheduled for trial this week. He admitted making a false entry in a bank account April 2, 1953.

The government claimed the entry showed a fictitious deposit of $3,440.70. The remainder of the embezzlement indictment and all five counts against Strieber in the case on trial this week were dismissed on motion of government attorneys.

Government Talk Called

AUSTIN (U)—A high level conference has been called by Gov. Price Daniel for Jan. 15 to outline the aims of the state government for 1958.

"This conference will stress integrity, efficiency and economy as three of the chief aims for all state agencies in the maintenance and advancement of good government in Texas," Daniel said yesterday.

He said he would present a two-fold program calling for "diligent action in maintaining integrity and public confidence throughout all state agencies and establishment of methods of greater efficiency and economy in the expenditure of appropriated funds."

The new code of ethics for state employees will be discussed, including ways to bring its provisions to their attention.

Administrative heads and fiscal officers of all agencies in the executive branch will attend the meeting. The conference falls on the opening of Daniel's second year as governor.

Daniel said during 1957 particular emphasis was given to public confidence "and meeting the governmental needs of our people at the state and local levels rather than turning over our problems and responsibilities to the federal government. These aims will be continued."

Former Baby Sued For Stealing Sitter

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (U)—A former baby was sued for damages yesterday on a charge of enticing his former sitter away from her husband.

Robert King, 41, asked 250 pounds ($700) heart balm in a legal action against the ex-baby, Neil Dunseith, now 21.

King said his wife, now 36, used to baby-sit 18 years ago with Neil, whose parents lived next door. As the boy grew older, King related, the relationship changed, and his wife has now left him to live with Dunseith.

The court took the case under advisement.

New Semester Starts Monday

By GRETTCHEN BRIDEN
This week was what is popularly known as Dead Week. Students were requested to leave off all outside activities in order to study for semester tests. Examinations were held Wednesday and Friday.

"None is so perfect that he may not at times lend an ear to friendly advice," goes a Grecian quotation, which is typical of the thought-for-the-day which has prevailed on the morning devotional at junior high. Mr. Hollis Lloyd is in charge of the devotions which include a Scripture reading and prayer. Students also volunteer to be on the program.

This is junior high school's first year to have a typing department. Mrs. Dora Phillips is the instructor. The class has 28 new machines and 138 pupils are enrolled.

Daisy Detests Daddy's Dahlias

BIRMINGHAM, England (U)—William S. Goode promised publicly today to quit dallying with dahlias if his runaway wife will return to his bed and board.

Goode, a 51-year-old dahlia fancier who has won many prizes at flower shows, told the newspapers Mrs. Goode, 52, vanished Dec. 30, leaving a note which said: "Dahlias, dahlias, dahlias—I am fed up with them. Breakfast, supper and bedtime that is all I have had to hear."

"I am sure now," said Goode, "that my wife just got fed up to the back teeth with my dahlias. If she will come back, I will give them up. I realize now that my wife is more important than dahlias."

Mrs. Goode's name, incidentally, is Daisy.

It's one of Chevrolet's dollar-stretching Delrays!

The handsome Delrays are the lowest priced of all the low-priced Chevrolets. And they're full-sized Chevrolets—wider, lower and nine lively inches longer. In size, in style, in fine details and construction, no other car priced so low gives you so much!

When you're thinking about buying a car because of its extra-low price, there are two things it pays to watch for. First, be sure you get full measure when it comes to size. # A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?

A hymn that is older than the United States

Must Jesus bear the cross alone,
And all the world go free?
No, there's a cross for every one,
And there's a cross for me.

When your great-grandfather hitched his team to the surrey and ground over the backwoods road to the meeting house that was one of his favorite hymns. When his father swung his musket over his shoulder and walked through the thicket to the brush arbor before the Colonies became a nation, he, too, was singing those words.

That old hymn was a favorite in England before John Wesley was old enough to even think about organizing his Methodist Church. In fact, Wesley hadn't been born when the Rev. Thomas Shepherd, great-grandfather sang it with a musket at his side and, quite likely, your great-grandchild-dren will be singing "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone" when they take a week-end cruise to the non-conformists where he preached in a barn for seven years before he could raise enough money to build a chapel for his congregation. And so, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone" made its debut in a barn in England, and it is sung today in the finest mahogany-walled chapels of the world.

Thomas Shepherd's original lines began "Shall Simon bear the Cross alone, And other Saints be free?" but as John Wesley would have put it, "hymn tinkers" have made minor changes to give us the present day wording. But, basically, the verses remain as Shepherd wrote them two and a half centuries ago. The tune to which the words are sung today, however, is comparatively modern. American Composer George N. Allen wrote the music about the time Abraham Lincoln was riding the circuits of Illinois.

So this old hymn is to church singing what sterling is to silver. It just never gets old. Your great-grandfather sang it with a musket at his side and, quite likely, your great-grandchild-dren will be singing "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone" when they take a week-end cruise to the non-conformists where he preached in a barn for seven years before he could raise enough money to build a chapel for his congregation. And so, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone" made its debut in a barn in England, and it is sung today in the finest mahogany-walled chapels of the world.

Must Jesus bear the cross alone,
And all the world go free?
No, there's a cross for every one,
And there's a cross for me.

The consecrated cross I'll bear
Till death shall set me free,
And then go home my crown to wear,
For there's a crown for me.

Upon the crystal pavement, down
At Jesus' pierced feet,
Joyful I'll cast my golden crown,
And His dear name repeat.

O precious cross! O glorious cross!
O resurrection day!
Ye angels, from the stars come down,
And bear my soul away.

Source of the Church's Power

THE HOLY GHOST BROUGHT THE APOSTLES POWER, AS CHRIST PROMISED

Scripture—Johns 16:1-15; Acts 1:1-14; 2:1-41.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN LAST WEEK'S lesson we learned of the promise of Christ that He would establish and build His church. In today's study we are told of the church's establishment by the power of the Holy Spirit. The lesson assigned today is taken from the Gospels of John and Acts, but they both concern the bestowal of the Holy Spirit on the church.

Much of the Gospel of John tells of the events of the last 24 hours of Holy Week. Jesus warns His disciples that they will be persecuted, thrown out of synagogues and killed by those who "will think that they doeth God a service." He asks them to remember His words when He is no longer with them, but that He must go from them because otherwise the Comforter (the Holy Spirit) will not come.

Christ's words make His followers very sad, notwithstanding that He promised to send the Comforter to them, and that when they saw Him taken up, "and a cloud received Him out of their sight." As they gazed upward, two men in white appeared and told them not to grieve as they were told, for as Christ went up, "so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven."

The apostles returned to Jerusalem and went into an upper room to await the coming of the Holy Spirit. "These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with His brethren."

This is the last time we read of Mary, Christ's mother, taking part in any of the church activities.

"And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place." Pentecost is the Greek word meaning fiftieth, referring to the 50th day after the Passover. "And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. Cloven tongues like fire but burning, descended on each of them. All were filled with the Holy Ghost and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."

Now there were men of foreign birth in Jerusalem; imagine their amazement when these apostles began to speak to each in his own language! The word spread and many marvelled, but some declared that the apostles were drunk from wine.

Paul stood up with the 11 and defended them, saying they were not drunk but had received power from heaven.

We have not space to print Peter's noble sermon, but he frightened the people so that they asked him what they should do. Peter told them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ, and about 3,000 souls were baptized that day. The teachers should study Peter's words and interpret them to their classes.

MEMORY VERSE
"Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."—Acts 1:8.

"The Spirit of truth is come, He will guide you into all truth." After the resurrection and before His ascension, Jesus "assembled together with them" (the apostles) and commanded them that they should not leave Jerusalem but "wait for the promise of the Father, which . . . ye have heard of Me."

"For John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence." They asked Him if He would restore again the kingdom of Israel. He told them it was not for them to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in His own power.

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

When Christ finished speaking, He was not for them to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in His own power.

Presidential Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Celler (D-NY) said today the House Judiciary Committee will offer a proposal for temporary succession by the vice president if a president becomes incapacitated.

Celler said the committee will discuss the issue next week and "should not require more than one or two meetings to agree."

Meanwhile, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said, "I think we should act to clear up this cloudy area of our Constitution in this session of Congress."

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee, announced that group will start hearings later this month on pending proposals to deal with presidential inability.

Presidential disability legislation, under study for two years, has made slow progress largely because of the outspoken past opposition of House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Since Congress reconvened Tuesday, Rayburn has indicated that the door may not be completely closed to consideration of such legislation, although he said he would improve on present constitutional provisions.

The Constitution says that "in case of the removal of the President from office, or his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president. . . ." But the Constitution does not spell out procedures to be followed in determining when a president is unable to function.

President Eisenhower, whose two serious illnesses in 1955 and 1956 sparked interest in the problem, has proposed a constitutional amendment under which a president could declare in writing he is unable to discharge the duties of his office and the vice president would then become acting president.

DANGER AHEAD!

Beautiful, yes. Beautiful as only Nature in all her purity can be. But dangerous too; dangerous to the ships at sea and the men they carry. For an iceberg's greatest bulk lies unseen beneath the surface . . . and against it, the unwary cannot survive.

Many of the things which, on the surface, appear the most tempting and beautiful contain hidden dangers and unsuspected pitfalls.

Men, like ships, need warning and guidance—and nowhere can they find greater help, greater love and protection than in their Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rosburg Leads By 2 In Crosby Tourney

By JACK STEVENSON
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (U.P.) — Bob Rosburg, one of golf's great putters, headed into the rain-threatened second round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby Tournament today with a two-stroke lead and a tough course facing him.

Rosburg, sinking putts up to 30 feet, fashioned a 7-under-par 65 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout as 280 amateurs and pros tackled two courses.

Bob goes over the second one, Cypress Point, for his second round and judging from opening scores there, he faces a tougher assignment. Eight of the nine tourney-leading scores were shot over Monterey, where the winds and occasional rains didn't bother as much.

Bo Winger, Odessa, Tex., posted a 67 at Cypress, though, the same score as Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, had at Monterey.

Six golfers deadlocked at 68, all fired at Monterey. Along with Rosburg, they must tackle Cypress, a treacherous 6,317-yard course along the sea cliffs. In the bunch are Shelley Mayfield, Ken Venturi, Fred Hawkins, George Bayer, Jack Fleck and Johnny Pott.

Rosburg, 31-year-old former Stanford golfer who now represents Napa, Calif., started by three-putting the first green and then settling down for the day's greatest putting exhibition. In addition to his 30-footer, he dropped one from 20 and two from 15 feet. He collected six birdies and an eagle.

In the pro-amateur division, in which teams play a best ball, the lead was shared by the twosome of Rosburg and a San Francisco sports writer, Nelson Cullenward, and Bolt with movie Tarzan Johnny Weissmuller of Hollywood. Each team had a 61.

U. S. Open champion Dick Mayer carded a 75 at Cypress and Frank Stranahan, winner of the Los Angeles Open last week, had a 76.

In good position to challenge on changing courses were defending champion Jay Hebert and the veteran E. J. (Dutch) Harrison. Each had 69 over Cypress.

Dallas Problem Nearing A Solution; League Is Set

DALLAS (U.P.) — The Texas Baseball League believed itself set for the 1958 season today with the Dallas franchise problem apparently solved.

League directors, meeting here last night, awarded George Schepps, former operator of the Dallas club, an option to buy the franchise, now the property of the league, for $40,000.

The Burnett interests, who have operated here for 10 years, turned the franchise back to the league last week because they were not given permission to advance to higher classification.

Schepps will pay the $40,000 by Jan. 21 and will operate the club on a community-owned, non-profit basis. He said he planned to sell stock to 4,000 persons at $50 a share. Profits from the operation would go to charity.

He said he would seek to lease the ball park, still owned by the Burnetts, and failing that would lease Cobb Stadium, the Dallas High School athletic field.

With the Dallas franchise apparently settled, the league found that it could look toward the 1958 season with eight clubs, seven of which were in the circuit last year. The newcomer is Victoria, Tex., which bought the Shreveport franchise last week.

E. J. Humphries, owner of the Oklahoma City franchise, said he expected to sell to a civic group there probably today. He had sold the land under his park for $200,000 and was offered $75,000 for the franchise, which he still retained along with a year's lease on the property. He wanted $50,000 but said he was close to completing the deal.

Humphries said if it did not go through he would operate the franchise another year although he might have to move to some other city, probably Corpus Christi.

Marvin Milkes, who was general manager at San Antonio last year, plans a stock-selling campaign to buy that franchise from the Baltimore Orioles. He is being held up while getting his plan approved by the State Security Commission but said he already had the required $30,000 in pledges.

The other Texas League clubs are set—Fort Worth, Houston, Tul-

Seniors Clash On Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (U.P.) — Tomorrow's ninth annual Senior Bowl football game is made to order for South coach Paul Brown in at least one respect.

He'll get a comparative look at two quarterbacks, he'll probably be seeing a lot of later on. Both signal-callers have been drafted by his Cleveland Browns.

Brown has picked Arkansas' George Walker, a 1956 Cleveland draft choice, as his No. 1 quarterback.

North coach Joe Kuharich, whose Washington Redskins have only two draftees in the game as compared with five for the Browns, will use Michigan State's Jim Ninowski as his starting quarterback. Ninowski was Cleveland's fourth draft pick last fall.

Professional oddsmakers have made the South a one-point favorite, despite the Yankees' weight advantage.

The weatherman predicted fair and mild weather, with the temperature around 60 degrees.

The 50 college seniors, 30 of whom have been drafted by pro clubs, turn professional in the game. Members of the winning squad receive $500 each, the losers $400. The South won last year 21-7.

NBC will televise the clash, blacking out an area within 100 miles of Mobile. Kickoff is at 2 p. m., CST.

Williams Wins AP Award As 'Athlete Of Year'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ted Williams, king of the batters for 39, today was named the outstanding male athlete of the year for 1957 in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

It was the first time in his long, stormy and dramatic career that the tall Boston Red Sox slugger was chosen for the honor, one of the great prizes in sports.

The recognition came seven weeks after he was named out by Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the most valuable player award of the American League.

In the AP poll, Williams won by a whopping margin over Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, star of the World Series, with middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio a trailing third.

Mantle, winner of the AP's poll for 1956 and the American League's MVP for 1956 and 1957, finished in a tie for 13th with one first place designation and 14 points.

Williams received 85 first place votes from the 214 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the poll, and 434 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for third, two for second and one for first.

Burdette, who hurled three complete, winning games to beat the

LONGHORNS ON VISIT TO PLAINVIEW GYM

Johnny Johnson and his Big Spring Steers head north today for an 8 o'clock engagement with the Plainview Bulldogs in Plainview. B teams of the two schools will tangle at 6 p.m.

Evans played the finest basketball of his career in the Odessa tournament last week. If he does well in conference play, Coach Johnny Johnson will have far fewer worries.

Their other losses have come at the hands of Pampa (two) and Hobbs, N.M.

In their last start, the Steers bombed Odessa Ector, 109-53, to set an all-time scoring record for a school team. The previous record of 103 points was established in the Brownwood tournament last year, at which time the Bovines were playing Kerrville.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

How far the Big Spring Steers go in the District 2-AAAA basketball race will depend largely on how much Jimmy Evans develops.

Evans played the finest basketball of his career in the Odessa tournament last week. If he does well in conference play, Coach Johnny Johnson will have far fewer worries.

Evans measured up as a top-flight ball player in every respect but one when play opened this season: He wouldn't shoot enough. He's beginning to take his shots now, however, and they're falling.

As far as defense and rebounding ability goes, there are no better high school players in West Texas than the soft-spoken senior.

Duquesne University listed one of its basketball players as being 5 feet 12 inches tall in this year's publicity booklet.

Tom Eastland, the Odessa scribe, says the Odessa Broncs probably are a faster team than the Big Spring cagers.

That's doubtful. The Bronchos have a real speed merchant in Jackie White but quite probably he's no swifter than the Steers' Bill Thompson, who can scoot when he has to.

Coach Johnny Johnson will match his combination of Jan Laudermilk, Preston Hollis, Evans, Thompson and Benny McCrary against any team in the conference for quickness afoot.

When Jerry Coleman stepped into that front office job with the New York Yankees, he had the choice of three positions within the chain: That was managing in the minor leagues or continuing as an active player, as well as the executive job.

He chose the latter because he thinks it offers a better future.

Railroads which operate into New Orleans are offered 5,000 Sugar Bowl tickets annually for the New Year's Day classic, to be sold with Pullman spaces.

Each member of the 39-man Sugar Bowl Committee has the right to buy 200 tickets, 90 on the side and 110 in the end zones. Each of the 4,000 New Orleans businessmen who underwrote the early bowl venture receive the privilege of buying 20 tickets, six on the side and 14 in the end zones.

Two bond issues were floated in order to increase the size of the stadium to 82,000, so it was necessary to provide a ticket privilege for each of the bond purchasers. Each holder of a $100 bond has the right to buy two ducats.

For the above reasons, most of 13,000 seats allotted to competing schools in the Jan. 1 classic are in the end zone.

The Sweetwater football boosters club recently showered gifts totaling $4,000 on the Mustang coaching staff for the job Elwood Turner and Company did in taking the Ponies to the Class AAA finals the past season.

Seven members of the staff, including the former Stanton mentor, Melvin Robertson, shared in the dividend.

Eusebio (Jimmy) Perez, the one-time Big Spring hurler, is pitching for the Oriental club in the Nicaraguan baseball league, where he has picked up six victories, despite the fact that the team is in the cellar.

Kirby Higbe, the former Brooklyn pitching star, is now a postal clerk in Columbia, S.C.

Three Yearling Quintets Lose To Andrews Fives

ANDREWS (SC) — Junior high school basketball teams representing Andrews swept the basketball games from the Big Spring Yearlings here Thursday evening.

Final score of the Ninth Grade game was 61-43. The Andrews Eighth Graders finished on the long end of a 38-27 tally while the home Seventh Graders prevailed, 25-19.

In the Ninth Grade contest, Jerry Dunlap hit 17 points for Big Spring.

Jimmy Madry led the Big Spring Eighth Grade contingent with 14 points while the Seventh Grade Yearling leader was Alan Dunn, who had seven points.

The Big Spring Ninth Graders' won-loss record is 2-4. The Eighth Graders have won five of ten while the Seventh Graders are 3-3.

All three teams play Snyder in Big Spring Monday.

Seventh Graders: Weimer 1-0-2; Musgrove 2-0-4; Brown 3-0-4; White 0-0-0; Dunn 2-0-2; Wilson 0-0-0; Bales 0-0-0; Totals 8-3-9.

Eighth Graders: Smith 4-3-11; Lowder 2-1-3; Burk 1-4-6; Byles 0-0-0; Danner 0-2-2; Laws 0-1-1; Totals 7-11-25.

Tornadoes Shaded In Extra Period

SAN ANGELO (SC) — San Angelo High School cagers were forced to go all out in edging Lamessa last night, but took a 44-43 win in overtime play.

The Bobcats were behind six points at halftime, then blew a 12-point margin the fourth period to fall behind once again.

Walter Rodgers sank the first of two free tosses with only three seconds remaining in the bonus period to provide the win.

SAN ANGELO (44)—Rodgers 2-5; Alexander 2-4; Senter 1-2-4; Dodson 0-1-2-1; McCoullery 2-3-1; Totals 17-10-41.

Sweetwater Wins Over War Birds

ABILENE (SC) — The Sweetwater Mustangs mauled the Abilene Eagles, 39-36, in a basketball exhibition here Thursday night.

The Eagles were playing without the services of Jimmy Perry, 6-4 post man, who was ill.

Host Jayhawks Saturday Night

Buttons Seek 5th Win In Hawk Tilt

ABILENE (SC) — Coach Ben Benton's Hardin-Simmons University Buttons go after their fifth basketball victory here Saturday night when they meet the talented Howard County College Jayhawks in Rose Field House at 6 p.m.

The freshman game with the Big Spring squad is a preliminary contest to the Border Conference clash between circuit leaders Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico A&M. The varsity game begins at 8 p.m.

The Buttons have posted a 4-2 record this season in playing some of the top freshmen and junior college teams in West Texas. The Buttons hold victories over Sweetwater Air Force Base, 60-45; San Angelo College, 73-72; North Texas freshmen, 72-55; and West Texas State, 77-67. Losses have been to Howard Payne freshman, 70-59, and to Tarleton State, 90-78.

Benton, a member of the Cowboy cage squad last season, plans to start Julius Gibbs at center, Dallas Christian and David Thomas at forwards and Milton Martin and Paul Hinds at guards. Martin, an all-stater last year from Avoca, leads the Buttons in scoring. Against the West Texas frosh earlier this week Martin dumped in 30 points.

Coach Bill Scott plans to start the following five against the New Mexico A&M Aggies: Carl Knight at center, Doyle Edmiston and Sam Condo at forwards and Art Travis and Robert Groom at guards.

HCJC will carry a 14-2 won-loss record to Abilene, having lost only to the McMurry Papooses and Ark City, Kansas.

Probable starters for the Hawks, who play San Angelo College in San Angelo Tuesday night, are Tommy Zinn, Benny Carver, Mike Musgrove, Larry Glor and Bill Borries or Dale Woodruff.

Tech Loses Noakes On Eve Of SMU Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas Tech's basketball fortunes took a sharp downward turn Friday after Tech lost its tallest player.

Sophomore Pat Noakes, 6-10 center-forward from Fort Worth, suffered an ankle injury in a pile-up during Tech's victory over Texas Christian Tuesday. X-rays disclosed Thursday he had a broken bone in his right ankle. He will be out of action at least six weeks.

The Red Raiders, tied for the Southwest Conference lead with Arkansas, clash with Southern Methodist at Lubbock Friday night.

The loss of Noakes may not immediately hurt the well-balanced Raiders, particularly since they are playing at home against SMU.

But it may prove a body blow to Tech's hopes of winning the conference title in its first year as a member of the league.

Noakes was a key man in Tech's victories over TCU and Rice, the two pre-season choices for the title. His close guarding of Rice's tall twins, 6-10 Temple Tucker and 6-9 Tom Robitaille, will be sorely missed if he doesn't regain playing form in time for Tech's next game with Rice March 4.

Without Noakes, Tech also could face an uphill climb against the taller Frogs in their second round game March 1 at Fort Worth.

The Frogs travel to Fayetteville Friday night trying to derail Arkansas. The Frogs have won two conference games without a loss and share the lead with Tech.

Other games find Baylor at Texas and Rice visiting Texas A&M.

Tech will be shooting for a new conference attendance record against SMU. A new mark was set Tuesday night when an estimated 10,100 fans crowded Municipal Coliseum in Lubbock. Another sellout was assured for the SMU game.

Tech will be favored over the Mustangs, a team they seem to have a hex on. SMU lost to Tech while it was riding high toward the conference title last year and dropped another game to Tech in the pre-season tournament.

Rice and TCU will be trying to stay in contention for the title. Further losses could prove fatal to their hopes.

Williams Wins AP Award As 'Athlete Of Year'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ted Williams, king of the batters for 39, today was named the outstanding male athlete of the year for 1957 in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

It was the first time in his long, stormy and dramatic career that the tall Boston Red Sox slugger was chosen for the honor, one of the great prizes in sports.

The recognition came seven weeks after he was named out by Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the most valuable player award of the American League.

In the AP poll, Williams won by a whopping margin over Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, star of the World Series, with middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio a trailing third.

Mantle, winner of the AP's poll for 1956 and the American League's MVP for 1956 and 1957, finished in a tie for 13th with one first place designation and 14 points.

Williams received 85 first place votes from the 214 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the poll, and 434 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for third, two for second and one for first.

Burdette, who hurled three complete, winning games to beat the

Youths Halted In Theft Try

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — Five Indiana youths, stopped from a bank robbery attempt by a 70-year-old bank president wielding a gun with 30-year-old bullets, were being held here under $25,000 bond each today.

The five were arrested at Munfordville by two state troopers several hours after three bandits discarded a pistol, hat and canvas bag in a headlong flight from the Bank of Clarkson yesterday.

Clarkson is about 20 miles from Munfordville.

Bank President Clyde Bratcher routed them by firing two shots. Officers later said they found two slugs lodged in the barrel of Bratcher's gun. The president said the bullets were about 30 years old.

State Troopers Cecil Overstreet and D. L. Powell arrested the five after spotting their car. They were identified as Joseph S. Higdon, 21, Shelbyville, Ind.; Pvt. William H. Hurley, 18, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and formerly of Shelbyville; Orvil Gene Edwards, 17, Indianapolis; and Charles Raymond Karnes, 18, and Allen Gene Karnes, 17, brothers, also of Shelbyville.

Probers Warned Of Political Fights

WASHINGTON — House Armed Services committee members, organizing for a sweeping investigation of the military establishment, were admonished today to avoid "seeking political advantage."

"Our problem demands an American solution, not a political solution," Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said in a statement prepared for the closed-door session.

The committee members gathered to make final arrangements for what was expected to be the most exhaustive House inquiry in almost a decade into the U. S. military establishment. The first witnesses will appear Monday, led by Secretary of Defense McElroy.

"The purpose of the hearing is to fully explore our military situation in its entirety and then promptly take such legislative action as may be required by the facts," Vinson said.

He said he is sure "all of us want to approach these problems without rancor, without recrimination and without seeking political advantage."

The chairman said the inquiry, which he indicated may last some time, will go into "the assignment of roles and missions, and the organization and operation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Vinson made no reference in his prepared statement to President Eisenhower's State of the Union message yesterday, Eisenhower recognizing widespread public concern over Russian space age threats to national security, promised a concrete program of weapons speedup and "unified direction" of military planning and control.

Vinson and other key committee members, of both political parties, are on record as strongly objecting to any substantial changes in the command organization in the direction of a single staff or commander for all the services.

Atom Sub Planning Done In Cubbyhole

WASHINGTON — The first work on this country's pioneer nuclear submarine was done in an office converted from a ladies' powder room.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's top nuclear expert, related the incident to a Senate group to illustrate the slight official support he said he got when he first proposed the nuclear job project.

The admiral testified Monday at a closed door hearing of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which is investigating the nation's military readiness in the light of Russian scientific advances. Some of what Rickover said was disclosed at the time. More of his testimony was released today, presumably after security censorship.

Despite his experience in the nuclear field, Rickover said he has not been consulted about development of subs to launch ballistic missiles or about other advanced weapons.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) expressed shock at this and asked Rickover why. He replied that was something for others to answer and said, "I am not complaining."

Discussing the capability of nuclear submarines, Rickover said such craft had remained submerged as much as 15 days and that he knew no reason why they could not stay under water longer.

The Navy is developing a machine to make oxygen from seawater which will permit them to stay submerged almost indefinitely," he said.

As he has said before, Rickover told the senators, "Our objective is to build atomic reactors which will last for an entire war. You might ask me how long a war is going to last, but I am thinking of World War II."

Looking back over the years, Rickover said that at first his idea to start work on an atomic submarine was rejected but that "fortunately there were other voices in Washington."

"I was kept on, and I was assigned this job all by myself, and given an office in an ex-ladies powder room."

Rickover said, "At that time nearly everybody knew it was going to fail so they let us alone completely, almost completely, so we were able to do the job."

Venezuelan Cabinet Quits

CARACAS, Venezuela — The entire Venezuelan Cabinet resigned at midnight last night. President Marcos Perez Jimenez was expected to announce a new Cabinet soon.

The resignation followed a Cabinet meeting for almost an hour late yesterday at the President's palace. The move, which had been expected, was interpreted as an effort to prevent a repetition of the one-day revolt Jan. 1 by the air force and some army units. Caracas has been calm since then.

The short-lived New Year's Day revolt was the first major challenge to Perez Jimenez's military-backed dictatorship since army leaders installed him as provisional president Dec. 3, 1952. A constituent assembly named him president for a five-year term four months later, and last Dec. 15, after a plebiscite in which he was the only candidate, he won another five-year term.

Foreign observers considered the revolt the result of dissatisfaction among younger officers. They reportedly felt the plebiscite was too flagrant a disregard of democratic practices and also that the regime did not give younger men the chance to advance to positions of power and profit.

3 Navy Men Die In Carrier Mishap

YOKOSUKA, Japan — Three U. S. Navy men were killed and two critically injured today in a catapult explosion aboard the attack aircraft carrier Kearsarge, the Navy said.

The explosion occurred as the 41,000-ton carrier prepared to launch planes in a routine training exercise off the south coast of Honshu Island, Japan.

"Names of the dead and injured are unknown," said the brief Navy announcement.

Oilmen Urge Ike To Cut Imports

ABILENE — President Eisenhower yesterday was urged by the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn. to take immediate action to cut petroleum imports to levels at least as low as those recommended by his Cabinet Committee.

The group said in a telegram, "Exploration and drilling activity are down to the detriment of strategic crude reserves for national defense." It said that 3,000 Texas oil wells are now without pipeline connections.

A resolution urging a fair share of the market for each well also was passed. The group authorized President James Lauderdale, Abilene, to appeal to the Texas Railroad Commission for action.

Peace Hope Seen In Space Visitors

OTTAWA — Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson says the best hope of world peace might be the discovery that another planet is inhabited and its space ships circling the globe.

"Then all of us on both sides of the Iron Curtain would get together and say, 'They can't do this to us,'" the former Canadian foreign secretary said last night.

"But I hope we can do it on a better basis," he said.

Pearson spoke at the annual banquet of the Big Brother organization, which works with fatherless boys. He was named Big Brother of Canada for 1958.
