Held By Police

Mrs. Peggy Jean Clark, 19, was charged with assault to murder in Houston after admitting to police that she threw her 7-month-old son, Dennis Lloyd, against a bedroom wall while in a fit of rage. Detective Ira Holmes is in the background. The child suffered a crushed skull and a broken nose.

Demo Leader Set To Talk 'Integrity'

AUSTIN (AP)—The Democratic national committeewoman, Mrs. Frankie Randolph, is ready to talk "personal integrity" as well as politics at the forthcoming state Executive Committee meeting, she said today.

Adding more fuel to the growing backlog of conflict for the Feb. 1 meeting, Mrs. Randolph replied sharply to a recent letter from Mrs. Max Brooks of Austin demanding that she apologize for saying some Executive Committee members are disloyal to the party.

The renewed exchange, plus growing signs of conflict in Young Democratic circles, pointed to the likelihood of a good old-fashioned, hair-pulling brawl when the Executive Committee meets here.

At the center of the dispute between Mrs. Randolph and the Executive Committee and factions of the Young Democrats, is a code of ethics for party procedure backed by the DOT (Democrats of Texas), a liberal group headed by Mrs. Randolph.

Young Democratic leaders returning to Austin from a Fort Worth meeting of their Executive Committee reported a sharp difference developed there over the code. A proposal to endorse the code sponsored by the DOT was shunted aside for a milder plan urging the State Democratic Executive Committee to work toward setting up a code agreeable to all.

UNFAIR TACTICS

There have been sharp accusations of unfair tactics in past Democratic conventions over seating of delegations and other matters relating to control. This has led to a growing demand among many Democrats for an iron-clad procedure that would protect all interests.

Mrs. Brooks, state party vice chairman, on Jan. 10 sent Mrs. Randolph a letter saying she had made "reckless and untrue" statements about the loyalty of the committee.

Mrs. Brooks' letter was in reply to an earlier one from Mrs. Randolph.

Housing Contract To Be Signed In Lubbock This Week

Five Webb AFB representatives are due to go to Lubbock Wednesday morning for the formal signing of contract for construction of the 460 Webb housing units.

The contract with Williams & Dunlap of Dallas, successful bidder on the project last summer, is to take place in the Federal Housing Administration regional offices, Veterans Administration Building, 1600 19th St., Lubbock.

Ceremonies marking the actual start of the $6.5 million project are to be held here later, at a time yet to be set.

Webb officials to be on hand for the contract signing are Col. Kyle L. Riddle, base commander; Lt. Col. David R. M. Lovelace, Air Installations Group commander; Maj. William Lee, AIG executive officer; Floyd Henderson, civilian procurement officer for the base; and Fausto Ramirez, one of the civilian project officers for Title 8 Family Housing.

Representatives of Williams & Dunlap have said the firm will be ready to start construction as soon as contracts are signed.

Congress Hears Plea For Record Peacetime Budget

Ike Amenable To Summit Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower held open the door to an East-West summit conference today with word to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin that "I am ready to meet" on two conditions.

Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin also urged Soviet agreement to a far-ranging peace program that would end nuclear weapons manufacture and testing, curtail use of the United Nations veto and production of space age missiles, and dedicate outer space "to the peaceful uses of mankind."

Any top-level meeting, the President told the Premier, must be preceded by an airing of issues in negotiations among diplomats and foreign ministers. Furthermore, he said, these negotiations must show "good hope of advancing the cause of peace and justice in the world" by agreements at the summit. He thus rejected Bulganin's call last week for a meeting in three months.

Eisenhower's 4,000-word personal letter replied to one Bulganin sent him Dec. 10, but also clearly covered the essence of a second Bulganin note last week.

Eisenhower rejected or discounted about eight proposals Bulganin had put forward, including those for an East-West nonaggression pact and a German-Polish-Czech zone free of nuclear weapons.

GREAT ERROR

He accused Russia of a great error in failing to reunify Germany as agreed at the Geneva summit conference in 1955. He blamed the cold war on the "expansionist policy" of Soviet communism. He pledged the United States would never engage in aggression and pointedly expressed hope that "the Soviet Union will feel a similar aversion to any kind of aggression."

Eisenhower's proposals covered nine basic points:

Outer space—Eisenhower declared, "can we not stop the production of such weapons which would use, or more accurately misuse, outer space? . . . should not outer space be dedicated to the peaceful uses of mankind and denied to the purposes of war?"

Nuclear weapons—The United States and Russia should work to end their "now unrestrained production" and to adapt weapons material to peaceful purposes.

Testing—The United States would be prepared to "stop the testing of nuclear weapons, not just for two or three years (as Russia proposed), but indefinitely."

Conventional military—Steps should be taken to cut back conventional weapons and military manpower.

Glickman Makes All-State Band

Julius Glickman, Big Spring High School senior and drum major for the high school band, has been named to the all-state band for this year.

Glickman was one of three clarinet players chosen from 33 high school bands in this region. Selection, in contests at Ector High School in Odessa Saturday, was based on technical work, preparation of a solo and competition with other high school clarinetists.

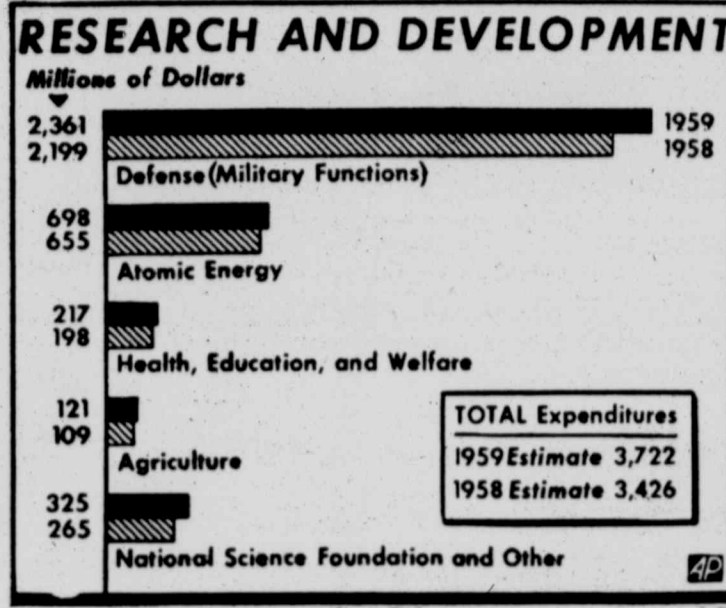

Glickman will go to Galveston Feb. 20-22 for an audition to determine his position in the all-state band and to participate in a concert to be staged by the band under direction of Cmdr. Charles A. Brendler, conductor of the U. S. Navy Band.

The Big Spring musician has been an alternate for the state band previously, but this is the first time he has won a first-line berth in the all-state group. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Glickman.

Writers Trade Autographs

Fred Gipson of Mason, noted Texas author in town in connection with the film release of his latest book, "Old Yeller," called on Big Spring writer Shine Philips Monday morning. They chatted about the writing business, and exchanged autographs. Gipson took a fancy to Shine's book, "Big Spring: Casual Biography of a Prairie Town," and Shine has kept up avidly with Gipson's works. The two men, incidentally, have the same birthday—Feb. 7.

Proposed Expenditure

This chart shows proposed expenditures for research and development for fiscal year 1959 as compared with 1958. It is based on a chart released by the Budget Bureau with the President's annual message to Congress.

County Okays Revaluation Bid

Howard County Commissioners Court, by a vote of three to two, approved the bid of Pritchard and Abbott, tax evaluation firm, to make a county-wide tax revaluation.

The commissioners were the first of the three governing bodies involved in the proposal to take decisive action.

Hudson Landers, Earl Hull and County Judge R. H. Weaver voted for Pritchard and Abbott. G. E. Gilliam and P. O. Hughes voted against the proposition.

The motion accepted was based on the original proposition submitted by the firm. Under this proposal, the county would bear 42.9 per cent of the cost; the city and the schools proportionate shares of the remainder. The bid of Pritchard and Abbott was $70,000.

The only other firm left of the field of tax engineers to be considered was Southwest Appraisal Co. Their bid was $67,500.

It is up to the city and schools to take similar action at the meetings of their respective boards.

County commissioners meet on Tuesday night.

Landers proposed that the Pritchard and Abbott bid be accepted after he had reported briefly on recent preliminary developments. Hull seconded the motion.

Gilliam reiterated the same objections he has previously offered to the selection of Pritchard and Abbott.

He said that he was opposed to any oil tax evaluation firm being employed to revalue real estate. He also insisted that for "30 years Pritchard and Abbott have had contracts with the county and that's too long for any firm or individual to have such contacts." He also said that in Midland County where Pritchard and Abbott made a survey similar to the one here, the tax rates had been raised on dry farm land from $5 to $6. He contended that such an appraisal was unfair and that urban property would have to pay an unfair proportion of the taxes.

Weaver insisted that designation of the firm as a "oil tax evaluation firm" was a misnomer. He cited that the company has been in this line of business for many years and that they have had wide experience in evaluating real estate for tax purposes as well as ex-

A drizzle which absorbed most of Sunday kept the skies dark and the country side moist. Precipitation for the day reached .15 inch at the U. S. Experiment Station reported.

Temperature Sunday was 51 for the high and 34 for the low. Apparently the shower was general over most of the county. Reports indicated about the same quantity was gauged in all parts of the county.

Total Amounts To Nearly $74 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent Congress today a record peacetime budget just short of 74 billion dollars. He said by far the largest part of it, almost two-thirds, is for defense against growing danger from Russia in "the dawning age of space conquest."

The President disclosed that the government now expects to wind up in the red for the fiscal year ending June 30. He announced his intention to ask for a short-term increase—he didn't say how much—in the present 275-billion-dollar limit on the national debt.

But he voiced confidence business will pick up and tax receipts will increase so that the new $73,900,000,000 budget, for the 1958-59 fiscal year, will be in balance. He said he expects a surplus of half a billion dollars or so, compared with the 400-million-dollar deficit now in sight for this year.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson told reporters emphatically that he expects "a resumption and resurgence of growth during the year."

The estimate of rising tax revenues, he said, is based on an official forecast that the personal income of Americans will rise from about 343 billion dollars in 1957 to 352 billion in 1958, while corporate profits will hold even at $2 billion.

Texas Writer Gipson Trades Greetings With Author Philips

By BOB WHIPKEY

A couple of ol' West Texas country boys got together for awhile this morning, and talked about writing.

Not fancy writing, but the kind of stuff about which they have lived and breathed all their lives. They were Fred Gipson of Mason, gaining fame as one of Texas' outstanding authors, and Shine Philips, who had success with his volume, "Big Spring: The Casual Biography of a Prairie Town."

Gipson is in town in connection with promotion of his latest work, "Old Yeller," a moving short novel about a mongrel dog. The book has been made into a Walt Disney film production, and opens at the Ritz Wednesday.

Gipson and Philips traded anecdotes for a half-hour, and also exchanged autographs on their books. It happens that each has written with emphasis on local color. "When I got through reading 'Big Spring,'" said Gipson, "I felt as if I knew the town as it used to be."

And Shine was fondling a copy of "Hound Dog Man," one of Gipson's earlier successes, which he had found much to his liking. Not as active as he used to be, the Big Spring druggist hasn't gotten to "Old Yeller" yet.

But plenty of people have, since it's the Mason writer's biggest hit to date. It has had big sales, both in hard-cover and in a paper-back edition, has been printed in a half-dozen foreign languages, was selected by a book club, and was condensed for a Reader's Digest presentation.

Gipson also has gained attention with such works as "Recollection Creek," and a story written chiefly for children, "Trail Driving Rooster."

The two men meeting today had some things in common. First of all, their birthdays are the same day—Feb. 7. Shine has been around Big Spring since 1888, devoted most of his hours to the drug business and to various civic activities, and had the book "grow" in him over a period of years.

Mason has spent his entire life on a little farm near Mason, makes no bones about being a cotton-chopping, coon-hunting Hill Country feller. Writing is something that just comes along, and he keeps his subject matter on things he has grown up with.

Today was a busy day for Gipson. He appeared at the Junior High School; was on KBST radio this morning for an interview; will be at the Book Stall during the afternoon to autograph copies of his books. At 6 p.m. he will be on Bruce Frazier's Channel 4 program, and will assist in awarding prizes to children who have submitted essays on "My Dog."

This contest was sponsored by the theaters in connection with the filming of "Old Yeller."

POLL TAX SCORE

Poll Tax Receipts 1,509
 Exemption certificates 670
 Total 2,269

Deadline for payment of poll tax expires on Jan. 31, 1958.

It did. But, like the earlier message, it put heaviest emphasis on security matters with a $39,900,000,000 request for the armed forces alone. With this expected boost, almost two billion dollars higher than last January's estimate, Eisenhower asked:

1. A $3,000,000,000 stepup in spending for missile and nuclear weapon research and production. This would give the Pentagon an extra $1,300,000,000 to spend as soon as the money was appropriated.

2. A 22-million-dollar drop in veterans' expenditures. This would bring the cost next year to about five billion dollars. Eisenhower said the cut would be possible because of "a decline in the readjustment needs of veterans of the Korean War and from economies in operations."

3. Higher interest rates on government-insured or guaranteed mortgages and similar loans. The President urged that private financing be substituted for government loans and mortgage purchases wherever possible.

In general, he made a strong appeal for state and private bodies to take over whatever federal programs they can.

Eisenhower struck a tightening-belt note from the start of his budget message, saying that while science has opened new vistas to mankind in recent months this "is also a time of growing danger."

Fatally Injured In Plane Crash

Critically injured, Paul R. Miller, 42-year-old private pilot, sits in the wrecked cockpit of his plane after it hit a highline tower and crashed to the ground at Fullerton, Calif. A police officer awaiting help checks Miller's pulse. The flier died later at a local hospital. The crash apparently resulted from engine failure.

Ike Asks Nearly $40 Billion In New Record Defense Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending of a peacetime record $39,779,000,000 next year was asked by President Eisenhower today to add what he called "new dimensions . . . to our defenses."

Submitting to Congress his budget for the year starting July 1, he said it reflects the great impact of science on modern military power.

"The tempo of change is increasing and the change during the coming year will be greater than in any preceding year," he said.

Missiles are soaring toward dominance in the American arsenal. The outlay for their perfection and production will be $3,314,000,000, already almost half the total for warplanes. Almost half the total missile outlay will be for ballistic weapons, where the race with Russia is keenest.

The proposed spending increase over this year is modest—$18 million dollars. The difference is in the way the money would be spent.

For the first time, the words "military satellite" and "outer space vehicles" appear in the budget message as part of future planning.

Military manpower is headed for still another cutback. The $3,000-man reduction would include 20,000 in the Army, 25,000 in the Navy and Marine Corps, and 25,000 in the Air Force.

As missiles increase, aircraft diminish—fewer combat wings, fewer planes. But "all fighters and bombers proposed for procurement with 1959 appropriations will be capable of supersonic speeds," Eisenhower said.

That means the end of new orders for the subsonic all-jet B52 bomber when the presently

Nearly $4 Billion Foreign Aid Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was urged today to provide $3,940,000,000 in "critically needed" new foreign aid funds to offset Communist Russia's threats to attack, subvert and terrorize free nations.

President Eisenhower, making the request in his budget message, estimated foreign aid spending during the year starting July 1 at $3,868,000,000, up 119 million dollars from the current year's figure. Much of the spending will be from money already appropriated.

The fund, carrying America's aid program into a 12th straight year, would pay for military, economic and technical assistance to 50 or more countries.

The request for new money is $6 million dollars more than last year's Eisenhower proposal, which Congress cut by a billion dollars. It includes $1,800,000,000 for military assistance, $65 million in defense support for economic help to countries getting the arms aid, and $1,275,000,000 in other economic and technical assistance including easy-payment development loans.

Eisenhower also gave notice he might ask for an additional 200 million dollars to begin furnishing intermediate range missiles to European allies who agree to base them on their territory.

Eisenhower proposed that Congress authorize these four additional steps to back up the aid program:

1. Extend the Reciprocal Trade Act, which expires June 30, for another five years and permit more tariff-cutting agreements with friendly countries.

2. Approve U.S. membership in the proposed international trade organization which will seek to set up a code of fair commercial conduct.

3. Repeal a law which he said "virtually prohibits normal competitive bidding" by foreign countries on defense contracts.

4. Add two billion dollars more to the capital of the government's Export-Import Bank.

Eisenhower put in a strong plea for the need of economic as well as military aid funds.

U. S. Foe Gains Okinawa Post

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—An ardent foe of the United States was elected mayor of Naha, capital of the American Far Eastern base island of Okinawa.

Leftist independent Saichi Kameshi defeated Tatsuo Taira, a moderate Socialist who had promised to cooperate with the United States. The result was a stinging repudiation of U. S. policy on the former Japanese island the Americans have occupied since World War II.

Nearly complete official returns gave Kameshi, a book dealer, 34,968 votes to 33,986 for Taira.

The capital's former mayor, pro-Communist Kamejiro Senaga, was ousted Nov. 25 which made his removal possible.

Taira blamed his defeat on this American action, saying it "kept alive the Okinawans' anti-American feeling." Both Taira and his opponent favor return of Okinawa to Japan, but the Socialist said American troops must stay to combat the Communist threat.

5-Cent Stamp Budget Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest surprise in history's biggest peacetime budget is a 5-cent stamp. President Eisenhower would have it replace 3-cent postage on inter-city letters.

Eisenhower told Congress today he is depending on this and other increases in postal rates to put the federal government back into black ink in fiscal 1959.

His budget message estimated the postage rate increases would

Should Expect To 'Great Change To'

ST. ALBANS, England (AP)—A severe outbreak of motherhood in the young wives club of St. Michael's Church has jeopardized plans to stage an amateur play called "World Without Men."

One after another of the 16 club members had to beg off from taking part in the play. At the moment it seems impossible to muster the necessary cast of 17 women.

One member's pet dog, which was to have appeared in the show, also had to be excused. She is expecting pups.

HOW TO DEAL WITH YOUR TENSIONS

The quest for peace of mind—or for good mental health, which is another name for it—is universal. Yet very few of us are blessed with all the internal qualities and external circumstances that automatically assure us of peace of mind. We have to work to achieve it.

Following is one of a few simple, ready-to-hand actions which may help you.

TALK IT OUT

When something worries you, talk it out. Don't bottle it up. Confide your worry to some levelheaded person you can trust; your husband or wife, father or mother, a good friend, your clergyman, your family doctor, a teacher, school counselor, or dean. Talking things out helps to relieve your strain, helps you to see your worry in a clearer light, and often helps you to see what you can do about it.

This is one of eleven simple suggestions that can be helpful if they are applied diligently. If you would like further information, write for the free new booklet: "How To Deal With Your Tensions," written by top experts in the field of psychiatry. A Bible Thought For Today

For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe. (1st Thessalonians 2:13)

Even Staid AP Bites Now And Then

It turns out that the sensational report that Soviet scientists had successfully launched a manned rocket into space was, if not totally unfounded, at least based on "usually reliable" sources that were in this case "completely unconfirmed."

The Associated Press acknowledged that it "erred" in announcing the launching. Its Moscow bureau had checked the story for 48 hours after getting wind of it, and upon being told other news agencies were releasing the "news" its Moscow people phoned the London bureau with the details. It was in this transmission, the AP says, that a misunderstanding as to the "reliable sources" arose. In short, the whole thing was based on rumor.

This un-AP-like performance probably did no real harm, except to impair a reputation for accuracy in reporting, and AP's prompt acknowledgment of error should take some of the sting out of it. Nevertheless, it was one of those things that should not have happened, and we hope it is not repeated. As a member of the AP this newspaper feels it owes its readers this explanation; though we had no responsibility for the blunder made in the Moscow and London bureaus, we did print the story in good faith, and we express our regret that our readers were perhaps caused some anguish and anxiety in consequence.

We have confidence that the AP will take whatever corrective steps are necessary to avoid a repetition of this incident. There is enough hard-core news extant in our world of a disturbing kind without playing up mere rumors.

Level-Headed Leadership

Newsweek magazine chose Lyndon Johnson for its cover page last week, hailing the opening of the second session of the 85th Congress. Under the picture of the Senate majority leader is a line reading: "Senate Leader Johnson: The Key to What Congress Will Do."

Over on page 21 is a picture of like shaking hands with Lyndon, and a line reading: "The spirit was still cordial but the mood had changed."

This was just one among dozens of indications that the senior senator from Texas has grown in stature and power in recent months.

The people of Texas and the entire nation, it seems to us, can be thankful for level-headed leadership; for not only is Senator Johnson a skillful and potent political negotiator, but he has consistently put the welfare of the country above personal or partisan bickering.

The fact that he is respected and listened to by Democrats and Republicans alike, and obviously at times has the ear of the White House, is a pretty dependable guarantee that this session won't wander very far from the strict path of duty.

Peace Message To People Of The World

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower delivered last Thursday perhaps the greatest state paper of modern times. It was not just a "State of the Union" message. It was a message on the "state of the world." It was not addressed just to the American people but to all the peoples of the world.

Far beyond its appraisals of domestic problems and the special issues that face America, Mr. Eisenhower made his first dramatic appeal to the people of the Soviet Union. Just as President Wilson in 1917 appealed to the German people above the autocratic government in Berlin, so today President Eisenhower appeals over the heads of the Communist government in Moscow to the people themselves in Soviet Russia. This passage in his address will be of transcendent significance in winning the hearts and minds of people around the globe.

"My call for action is not primarily addressed to the Congress and people of the United States. Rather, it is a message from the people of the United States to all other peoples, especially those of the Soviet Union. This is the spirit of what we would like to say:

"In the last analysis there is only one solution to the grim problems that lie ahead. The world must stop the present plunge toward more and more destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the path toward lasting peace.

"Our greatest hope for success lies in a universal fact: The people of the world, as people, have always wanted peace and want peace now.

"The problem, then, is to find a way of translating this universal desire into action. This will require more than words of peace. It requires works of peace.

Here in reality was an appeal for a different kind of "summit conference." It means more contact with peoples, not with dictators who have broken faith with everybody, including their own people.

The President outlined various means of cooperation in research projects in the field of cancer and heart disease. He recommended broad cultural and scientific programs, too, and showed clearly that America wants to extend the hand of friendship to the Soviet people.

There was in the President's speech a balanced emphasis on military matters—a careful exposition of how firmly the United States stands today well prepared against any possible attack and of how strong America expects to be in "deterrent power" in the not-far-distant future. But basically the keynote was confidence and reassurance.

On the domestic situation, with a business decline going on that has increased unemployment, the President was forthright and outspoken. He said:

"There are solid grounds for confidence that economic growth will be resumed without an extended interruption. Moreover, the federal government, constantly alert to signs of weakening in any part of our economy, always stands ready, with its full power, to take any appropriate further action to promote renewed business expansion."

The key words were "economic growth" and "business expansion," and this was just the note that the business world had hoped would be expressed by the President.

Mr. Eisenhower chose in the main an implicit rather than an explicit style of expression. He said he would give details in subsequent messages. But in this address he gave, the spirit of the administration's whole approach to the challenges of the "spunk era."

Controversies there will be on mutual aid, tariffs, and the size of the appropriations for defense and nondefense items. But it is significant that the speech was interrupted with applause at least 35 times, and many of the outbursts were prolonged.

Mr. Eisenhower opened the door to the making of peace in the world. He pleaded for disarmament and promised that "we, as a nation, will always go the extra mile with anyone on earth if it will bring us nearer a genuine peace."

Mr. Eisenhower reviewed particularly the past efforts at disarmament negotiations and challenged the Soviets to resume the parleys which they have up to now refused to reopen. So far as the United States is concerned, it was revealed to the world as a nation ready to spend whatever is necessary to be strong militarily to resist attack but also as a nation ready to agree to a disarmament plan the moment "a reliable means to ensure compliance" can be found.

Ike, Bulgy New Pen Pals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian Premier Bulganin is getting to be a regular pen-pal of President Eisenhower. The President has been a little tardy in his correspondence. Over the weekend he made up for it. The result: still a standoff.

Bulganin wants a meeting of himself, Eisenhower and other heads of state. Eisenhower says he's willing but—It's a big but. The two men disagree on how to go about having the summit meeting.

The Russian proposed this big get-together in a letter to Eisenhower Dec. 10 and another Jan. 9. The purpose: to try to settle the world's ills by disarmament and the stopping of nuclear tests, among other things.

Bulganin wants the talking to start at the top. The Russians have brushed aside the idea of preliminary talks in the United Nations. They've done the same to the suggestion that the foreign ministers meet first to arrange details.

And in all his talk—or letter-writing—about disarmament Bulganin says nothing about a fool-proof inspection inside Russia and this country to prevent cheating by either side.

Yesterday Eisenhower answered Bulganin's Dec. 10 letter. It took him weeks to compose the reply but it had the effect also of answering the letter of Jan. 9.

Eisenhower said he's willing to meet with the Russians, but before there is such a gathering he wants the details of the discussion subjects worked out by experts on the various problems and by the foreign ministers.

Both letters—besides discussing the problems between the two countries—are meant as propaganda too. The people of not only the United States and Russia but of the rest of the world will be looking in on the correspondence.

Bulganin's Dec. 10 letter—very shrewd and well written—had a broad appeal because so many people, particularly in Europe, are anxious for some peaceful solution before there is war.

Around The Rim

'Twas The French Who Debased Gloves

Makers of men's wearing apparel have a hard time convincing males in the warmer climes they should wear gloves. Like the market for hats and undershirts, the demand fluctuates.

The French, in their own innocent way, may be partly to blame for this. For years, they showed their displeasure with other parties by slapping them across the face with their gloves.

The slapping incident, it was universally understood, would culminate in a duel with swords, pistols, chocolate pies at 40 paces, or what have you.

Of course, if you didn't have a pair of gloves handy to give the man with whom you were in disagreement due notice of a daybreak rendezvous in some open field, chances are you had cooled off before you could find some. For that reason, methinks, a lot of the French started leaving them in their bureau drawers and going to work with their hands in their pockets.

Be that as it may, the glove has had an honored place in the world's society since the days the knights were bowling over each other with their vaulting sticks.

It was a ground rule, legend says, that when one of the gents outfitted in the kitchen-stove gear wanted to joust a fellow sufferer over the honor of a comely maid he would fling his glove, or gauntlet, to the ground with a resounding declaration of faith in the wee bit of fluff. And, if it didn't bounce up again and hit him, he was in business.

The Teutons, great sports at that sort of thing, are supposed to have started calling a gauntlet a "glaude." It might have been because they had been knocked side-saddle by their opponent or again because their eau-de-vie was a little too heady. Whatever it was, the word "glove" springs from "glaude."

Other less romantic individuals in that age and era referred to gloves as "hand shoes" and readily adopted their use to combat the cold.

If the knights made gloves popular, their history dates back long before the mailed gentlemen on the horses first came to realize there was great sport in tilling each other around with the long sticks that resembled exclamation points.

There is even evidence that the cave-men fashioned themselves some crude gloves to fight the elements. Greeks, Romans and Persians definitely wore them. Even old King Tut had his tailor fashion him a few pairs.

It was about as unfashionable to be seen without gloves as without one's powdered wig along about the 18th Century. The glove-making trade boomed so in that era that some of the lazier manufacturers specialized in making thumbs only.

The glove has proved a villain to us all, in a way, too. It became a symbol of honor at the time handshaking was substituted for kissing as a greeting and pledge of peace among men (and women).

When a public figure could not enter into a transaction personally, it was considered proper to send his glove as a sign of good intent.

Gloves have also been used to validate marriage and funeral ceremonies, to symbolize the authority of church, throne or law court and to sanctify the coronation of kings and elevation of bishops. And often, they were placed on graves to honor the dead.

A lot of boxers, no doubt, have been certain things like horseshoes and window weights have been secreted in them after being dispatched into the land of nod by some ring opponent.

Yep, the glove makers had a good thing going until the French came along and ruined it.

How Far To Go To Balance The Budget?

A father and son are arguing over the youngster's allowance. "I think $14 every two weeks is adequate," says father.

"But I need $14.14," says the son.

"Fourteen dollars is the ceiling," says the father, banging the dining-room table. The son grits his teeth, goes to his room in a huff, packs his bag, leaves home. Over a difference of 14 cents!

Seems improbable, doesn't it?

Yet that's just about what happened in Great Britain when Peter Thorneycroft tossed in his portfolio as Chancellor of the Exchequer. He was at odds with Prime Minister Macmillan over less than 1%.

Thorneycroft had set a budget ceiling of $14,000,000,000 (5,000,000,000 pounds). When the members of the British cabinet received the budget requests of the various departments, they cut them down. Even so, the budget came to $14,140,000,000 (5,050,000,000 pounds), $140,000,000 above Thorneycroft's limit.

With Thorneycroft, it was love me, take my budget. He was battling to save the pound. In September, he had sponsored the rise in the British discount rate from 5% to 7%. He had told members of the International Monetary Fund that if he had to choose between unemployment and the pound, he would have the pound.

He had told British workers not to ask for higher wages. They must live within their incomes. And he felt if he asked restraint of workers and their union leaders, then the government, itself, must exercise restraint.

Thorneycroft was noble, righteous, and laudable in intention. But he was sensible and realistic?

To an economist, to a business man, and, certainly, to a politician, Thorneycroft got just about all that he wanted. Instead of getting a 100% budget, he got 101! What more can one ask in this world?

In the affairs of a national economy, the difference between a 5,000,000,000 pound and a 5,050,000,000 pound budget is trifling. Economics hasn't yet reached the exactitude that a 1% difference in British government outlays would save or unsave the pound.

Nor can political, social, and military demands be arbitrarily limited by a hard-and-fast ceiling. Events, alter requirements, plans, needs. In this country spirit has revised military expenditures. But surely we can't prune outlays for schools, hospitals, health, unmercifully on that account.

A politician—and this applies equally to Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower—has to balance financial opportunities. A balanced budget—outgo equal to income—is only one importunity among many.

The welfare of the people is another importunity. High employment—prosperity—is another. Sanctity of the currency is yet another.

A Chancellor of the Exchequer cannot afford to put a balanced budget above all else. One of the criticisms now being leveled at George M. Humphrey—whether justified or not—is that he persuaded President Eisenhower to pare down defense and so slowed up our missile program.

A letter in the London Times of October 29, signed by five Cambridge and seven Oxford economists, expressed fear that a balanced budget was overbalancing all other and more important considerations in Britain. It said:

"In both the United States and the United Kingdom . . . there is a distinct danger that industrial production will decline in the months ahead and that industrial production in many other countries will tend to level off as a result of the restrictive monetary policy being so widely pursued."

These economists felt that the overriding effort to curb inflation was leading to an even worse consequence: Deflation and unemployment.

They aren't necessarily right. But they represent a reasonable point of view, for which Thorneycroft won't allow even a 1% margin of error in his calculus of financial risks.

Add definitions: Unbalanced worship of a balanced budget—Thorneycroftitis.

New American Opera To Make Debut

Even hen's teeth aren't in such short supply as new American operas. So the premier of a new native opera, the first one in more than 20 years at the Metropolitan Opera House, on Wednesday night is, in musical circles, BIG. The opera is "Vanessa," by composer Samuel Barber, for more than two decades one of the real bright hopes of American music.

"The only thing that worries me is that everything connected with the production so far has gone too well," said Barber a few days ago between rehearsals at the Met. A short-haired man in a long-hair business, the composer looked furiously around for a piece of wood for knocking purposes.

Although the public has yet to hear a note of "Vanessa," it is already famous in several directions. First, the opera, unlike most precious American works, was not commissioned by the Met. The musical underground or scuttlebutt that the new work was good was so persistent that the Met made inquiry, liked "Vanessa" and contracted for it.

In the second place, it is the first American opera ever scheduled for presentation at Salzburg, the Austrian ultima Thule of all serious musicians. Once again scuttlebutt, plus Barber's brilliant reputation for orchestral works, turned the trick.

It is particularly pleasing to the composer of "Adagio for Strings" that Salzburg took "Vanessa" without waiting to see whether it is a success in New York.

Even at this stage, "Vanessa" is further famous as the work that has brought a measure of peace, or at least an armistice, in the feud and the fight between Rudolf Bing, director of the Met and Gian-Carlo Menotti, composer of "The Consul," "The Saint of Bleecker Street," etc.

Menotti, who wrote the original libretto for "Vanessa," was engaged by Bing to direct the new work. Sweetness, light and no firearms are the order of the day backstage. (For "Vanessa," Menotti has written a libretto that is half Chekhov, half Gothic chiller-diller out of Isak Dinesen. Cool, real COOL.)

However, from what Barber tells me, the greatest potential librettist of the century slipped from his grasp when he was a child. He began composing his first opera at the age of nine, which is partially explained by his membership in a musical family. The Met's late, great prima donna, Louise Homer, was his aunt, and four of her children will be at Wednesday's premiere to cheer their cousin.

The libretto for that first opera, "The Rose Tree," was written by the Barber family cook, Annie Sullivan Brosius Noble, who died before the work was completed.

"You can get the measure of her great talent, however," Barber said fondly, "from an incident when my mother once asked Annie what my mother once asked Annie what we were having for dessert."

"Madam, a little something of my own," said Annie. "It is called A Bird's-Eye View of Death." For the record, it was left-over cake, with varying Annie-made sauces."

That Annie! She would probably have run Menotti out of the libretto business. (Copyright 1958, United Features Syndicate)

The double ring service was read by Thomas E. Cudd, minister of the Main St. Church of Christ before an altar improvised from white baby chrysanthemums and greenery. The peak of the arch was decorated with white wedding bells.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an Adele suit of light blue pin point imported English worsted, topped by a semi-fitted hip-length jacket. The skirt featured a back panel. Her hat was of white satin and velvet while other accessories were of navy blue. Her jewelry was the double strand pearl choker that was a gift to her from the bridegroom.

A white orchid corsage, showered with lily-of-the-valley, was carried on a white Testament belonging to the bride's cousin, Mrs. Silas Flournoy of Lubbock. The Testament was also carried by the two sisters of the bride and Mrs. Flournoy at her wedding.

Mrs. Betty Ray Clifton was her sister's matron of honor. She chose an English imported suit in beige with white angora trim with matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was of white carnations.

International Relations Program Is Heard By University Women

Ina Mae McCollom and Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall brought the program on "Pioneers in International Relations" for the American Association of University Women, Saturday at a luncheon meeting at the Wagon Wheel.

Tracing the policy of the United States from the time of the American Revolution, Miss McCollom stated that this country made an alliance with France against England. After much difficulty with France, the alliance was abrogated in 1800 and at the close of his eight years as president of the United States, George Washington, in an address to the people warned against entangling alliances. This led to the trend toward isolation.

Later came the Monroe Doctrine. However, after World War I when President Woodrow Wilson attended the conference at Versailles there was a change toward a U. S. policy of collective security. Following World War II, in April, 1945, the charter for the United Nations was drafted and adopted. Miss McCollom pointed out other appointments in this country's turn to collective security, including the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mrs. Kuykendall told of the development of the Eisenhower Doctrine which was precipitated by the Suez crisis. At the time of this episode in the Middle East, late in 1956 President Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed to make clear that this country would defend the Middle East against armed aggression by the Communists and to step up U. S. economic aid to countries in that area. The area involved is populated by 42 million, and two-thirds of the total oil reserves in the world are within its boundaries.

President Eisenhower submitted to Congress a resolution authorizing him to unleash military action in certain cases of emergency. The resolution was subsequently amended, limiting the discretionary powers of the President, and was so passed by both Senate and House.

During the business session, Saturday for which Elizabeth Daniel presided, the group accepted the resignations of Mrs. K. R. Stormans, Mrs. W. L. Gage and Mrs. J. C. Bownds, all of whom have moved from Big Spring.

Mrs. C. L. Beach reported on the Christmas party at the State Hospital which the AAUW assisted in staging. She announced that a January social will be held at the hospital and asked volunteers to call her at AM 4-4820. The February party will be on the 13th.

The Club accepted the responsibility of decorating trays and tables at VA Hospital for Washington's Birthday. Mrs. Kuykendall is chairman of this committee, and named to assist her were Lula Belle Daniel, Elizabeth Pece, Bettie Smith and Elizabeth Hines.

Miss Daniel announced that Mrs. Robert A. Bonnell Jr. has accepted local chairmanship of the fund-raising campaign for the new national headquarters building.

Under the Club's staggered system of election, a vice president and treasurer are to be elected this year. Nell Brown was named chairman of the nominating committee. Serving with her will be Miss McCollom, Mrs. Wm. D. Boyd, Mrs. Wesley Deats and Mrs. Franklin McDonald. The group will report at the next meeting.

The February session, originally scheduled for the sixth, will be reset due to a conflicting event. Date and place will be announced later.

Hostesses Saturday were Mrs. J. Gilbert Gibbs, Mrs. James Fulk, Mrs. R. T. Newell, Mrs. W. L. Keeling, Mrs. W. R. Bratcher, and Mrs. Ira D. Williams.

In addition to 26 members present there was a guest, Mrs. K. A. Pitt. Yellow snapdragons formed the centerpiece at the head table.

Mrs. Spence Is Speaker On Europe

Mrs. E. V. Spence entertained members of the 1930 Hyperion Club with an account of her travels in Europe at a meeting Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. C. Stipp. Mrs. B. L. LeFever was cohostess.

Mrs. Spence made an entrance into the session, clad exactly as she was in New York when she boarded the plane, which was to take her on her journey. Her attire included walking shoes (which weigh heavily in luggage, she reminded the group), a suit and a three-quarter coat, a large purse, in which her jewelry was carried and a carryall, with a book and an orchid.

A description of the various countries, Italy, England, Germany, Holland, Belgium and France and the life there was combined with little personal sidelights of the trip.

Mrs. Elmo Wasson presided for a brief business meeting, and the hostesses served refreshments to 17.

The next meeting is slated for Feb. 1, when the club will see a one-act play presented by the Civic Theatre.

Lyndon Scores Half-Measures On Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today the United States still is employing only "half-measures" in its effort to pull abreast of Russia in missile and satellite developments.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said he believes there is "no longer any question about the specific dangers that face this nation" because of Soviet advances in the missile field.

"But I do not believe we can claim to be putting our whole heart into our defense when we are engaged in half-measures," he said in an interview. "According to the sworn testimony of the men responsible for producing missiles, we are neither doing nor planning to do everything that can and should be done."

Johnson's estimate of the problem this country faces coincided largely with that of Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's Republican leader.

Knowland said in a speech at Lexington, Va., that the Soviets "have a long-range missile capability which must not be underestimated."

"The challenge facing this country is to make sure that we overtake the Soviet lead in the missile field and that we retain a deterrent power in our Strategic Air Command that would effectively persuade the Soviet Union that they cannot commit aggression against us without suffering devastating counterblows."

But House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) contended "America today is stronger than the Soviets in the missile field."

He said in a television interview that "we are well able to protect our country if the need should come," and added that he spoke "as one who has had information available that would make me make this statement."

Mexican Farm Labor Program Begins To Stand On Own Feet

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Mexican farm labor program is beginning to stand on its own feet financially.

This was indicated today in President Eisenhower's budget recommendations for the Labor Department.

The budget said the Bureau of Employment Security plans to spend $2,500,000 in recruiting and transporting Mexican nationals from border points to wide-spaced agricultural areas in the United States next fiscal year. Congress is asked to appropriate only $1,339,400 for this as compared with $2,500,000 appropriated for the present fiscal year.

There will be available to help finance the program next year an allocation of $910,600 out of a revolving fund created by payments that American employers of the braceros make to the U.S. government.

The budget explanations accompanying the money requests noted that on Jan. 1 the fee for initially contracting a worker was set at $10, from $7, and the fee for recontracting a worker was set at $5, instead of $4.

During 1959 the fees will be increased to $12 and $6 to cover some direct costs previously financed from congressional appropriations. It was noted that present authorization to import Mexican nationals to do farm and ranch work in this country expires June 30, 1959. An estimated 435,000 workers will be imported during 1958 at an average cost of $8.51 for each bracero, and 450,000 in 1959 at a per capita cost of $10.39.

In a final observation regarding the Mexican labor import program, which has been authorized periodically since 1951, a budget notation said:

"Receipts from operations are expected to exceed expenditures by $880,500 in 1959. Retained earnings as of June 30, 1959 are estimated to be $1,780,336."

Since the Mexican farm labor program was put into effect, there has been a related cooperative effort by the Border Patrol of the Immigration Service to stop the flow of "wetbacks" across the border.

Indicating its activity would remain at about the same level during the next fiscal year, the Immigration Service requested for its Border Patrol only slightly more money for next year than it received for the present fiscal year. The new request is $13,710,300. The current appropriation is $13,361,700. The sum is for use on both Canadian and Mexican borders, and no breakdown is shown.

Conference Set For Union Men

All union members in Big Spring are being invited to a legislative conference to be conducted in the Howard House by a representative of the Texas AFL-CIO this evening.

Goodson said wives of union members also are invited.

Conducting the conference will be Sherman Miles of Austin, legislative director for the State AFL-CIO organization.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the Colonial Room of the Howard House, said Goodson.

UAW Asks Profit Sharing, Postpones Short Work Week

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The United Auto Workers called today for a profit-sharing plan in 1958 wage contracts, and postponed demands for a shorter work week.

The union's proposed profit-sharing would begin when a manufacturer's profits topped 10 per cent, before taxes, on net capital. Corporate executives, stockholders, workers and consumers would be included in any sharing.

Under the UAW proposal half of profits above 10 per cent would be retained by the manufacturer for stockholders and executives; one-fourth set aside for hourly-paid workers and salaried employees other than executives, and executive bonuses.

In postponing demands for a shorter work week, the UAW said it acted in the light of the realities of the world situation.

The union proposed an immediate general wage increase, but set no specific amount.

It added, however, it should be based on increased productivity and be higher than rates in ending three-year contracts that provide a yearly boost of 2 1/2 per cent or six cents hourly, whichever is greater.

The present average hourly wage in the auto industry is about $2.32.

Increased benefits under the existing Supplemental Unemployment Benefit plan were asked. The plan should be expanded, too.

the UAW said, to include workers who become victims of short work week schedules.

Under SUB, auto makers contribute to a fund from which unemployment compensation may be supplemented for 26 weeks to give roughly 60 per cent of the normal take-home pay.

Protection of jobs also will be asked in factory transfers from one location to another.

The industry's Big Three, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, reserved immediate comment on the union's demands.

Suzanne Soule May Take Stand In Murder Trial

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Suzanne Soule, 20, a New York typist charged with murdering her roommate with a kitchen knife and electric iron, may testify today.

Her mother, Mrs. Frank Soule, was called as the first defense witness after the prosecution concludes its evidence.

Before the trial recessed Friday, comely Elaine kept her eyes fixed on the wall as a court stenographer read into the record what the prosecution said was her confession statement of slaying Catherine Elvins of Seattle July 24.

Miss Soule has pleaded insanity. A neighbor, Richard Carlisle, testified he had heard the two girls quarrel frequently in the apartment across from his.

He said he knew Miss Soule had debts and her creditors were pressing her. She also is charged with forging Miss Elvins' signature on two checks totaling $170 and attempting to cash them.

Drivers Tangle After Collision

Two drivers collided twice here Sunday—once in cars and then in fistfights.

Officers were notified about an accident in the 900 block of Gregg and when they arrived, they learned that Edward G. Lackey, 704 San Jacinto and Johnny Rangel, 507 Bell, were drivers of the cars colliding. The police said Rangel left the scene of the crash, but later when the two drivers were brought together by the police, they got into a fight.

Lackey was turned over to the juvenile officer while Rangel was charged with driving without a license, leaving the scene of an accident and affray.

In corporation court today, Rangel paid fines of $25, $35, and $30 for the respective charges.

Two other accidents occurred Sunday. John Johnston, 2011 Runnels, and Rica Rodriguez, Knott, were in collision at 5th and Main. James Mathis of San Angelo and Melvin Daratt, 1206 E. 4th, were involved in an accident at 3rd and Gregg.

McElroy Says U.S. Acts On Assumption Russia's Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy told Congress today the U.S. military does not have positive evidence that Russia is ahead in long-range ballistic missiles—but that it is acting on that basis.

Because time is critical, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee, the Defense Department is pushing ahead with the most promising weapons programs. He said it expects within the next 18 months to begin producing the Polaris missile, a 1,500-mile weapon capable of being fired from a submerged submarine.

McElroy also said provision for another launching base for intercontinental ballistic missiles is included in the new budget beginning July 1. No location was given in the version of McElroy's testimony made public.

The secretary testified behind closed doors as the committee opened a sweeping investigation intended in the next few weeks to cover all aspects of U.S. defenses and military operations.

On the vital issue of how the United States stands by comparison to Soviet Russia in space age weapons, McElroy was guardedly reassuring.

In the field of short range weapons already available for use, "we are in a strong position," he said.

But he also said that the intermediate and intercontinental range ballistic missiles—those designed to strike targets 1,500 and 5,000 miles away—constitute a critical area.

Banking Institute Chapter Formed, Officers Chosen

Heading the chapter, which has more than 60 members, is Larson Lloyd, president. Other officers are Jack I. Davis, First National Bank, vice president; Temp Currie, second vice president; Mrs. W. E. Greenlee, secretary; Bill Hampton, treasurer.

The chapter meets each week for a three-hour session at Howard County Junior College. Currently, the course deals with commercial law and will continue until an aggregate of 42 hours has been achieved. Other studies in such subjects as bank operation, negotiable instruments, etc. will follow.

Membership is open to bank officials, employees and directors. Primary purpose is in-service training.

School Bells Ring For 'Spacemen'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—School bells ring tonight for future spacemen. In the first undertaking of its kind, University of California is launching a 17-week course in space technology.

Classes will be held simultaneously in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Lancaster, Calif., beginning tonight.

Purpose of the course, says J. C. Dillon, head of the university's Engineering Extension Division, is to provide "a sound yet imaginative exposition of fundamental principles of very long-range ballistic vehicles."

"We will avoid the sensational and space cadet type of material," Dillon says.

The Los Angeles series has attracted 1,300 students and the San Francisco and San Diego courses more than 400 each. The Lancaster course was a last-minute addition to accommodate more than 500 military and civilian personnel of Edwards Air Force Base, where the nation's new jet and rocket planes are tested. Each student pays a $35 fee.

The university is joined in sponsorship of the lectures by Ramo-Woolridge Corp., which handles the technical end of the ballistic missiles program for the Air Force Research and Development Command.

Dillon says about half the students hold college degrees and are taking the course for credits leading to higher degrees. Others are from private industry and academic fields.

The university and Ramo-Woolridge have assembled an impressive array of experts to deliver the lectures.

Salary Of Sheriff's Deputy Is Raised

Miller Harris, sheriff, Monday won his long fight to get the salary of his civil deputy, Fern Cox, boosted by the Howard County Commissioners Court.

Harris has appeared before the board several times with a plea that Cox's salary be increased from $310 to $335. Today the commissioners, by a three to two vote, granted his request. P. O. Hughes and G. E. Gilliam voted against the increase while Hudson Landers, Earl Hull and R. H. Weaver, county judge, cast affirmative votes.

Harris lost an appeal for a fourth motor vehicle to be added to the sheriff's fleet of cars, however. This was turned down by a unanimous vote after Hughes had moved that the request be denied and Gilliam seconded the motion.

Harris told the commissioners that sometime in the near future there would be need to trade in one of the sheriff's cars on a new vehicle but no action was taken on this matter at Monday's meeting.

Cox was the only deputy in the courthouse to get a raise at the meeting Monday at which salaries for deputies and elective officials for the year were fixed. No raises for any other clerks or helpers were proposed.

Hull moved that the board establish salaries for elective and appointive workers in the courthouse as set up in the budget for 1958. Gilliam seconded the motion and it carried by a unanimous vote.

Wes Patton, constable, is to get a raise later on—the increase having been authorized in the budget. He is receiving $200.48 per month now and would get slightly more than $300 per month when the raise is approved.

A. E. Long, juvenile officer, appeared before the court with a plea that his car allowance be increased from $50 to $75 per month.

The court declined to grant the request.

YMCA Officers Will Be Chosen

An important meeting of the YMCA board of directors is scheduled for Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. Bobo Hardy, general secretary, said today.

The report of the nominations committee will be received and officers elected for 1958. New members of the board, elected in recent balloting, will be introduced. There will be reports also from the annual dinner committee and the long range planning committee. World Service activities will be summarized for the board.

Damages In Two Fires Are Light

Only a small amount of damage resulted from two fires in Big Spring during the weekend.

Firemen from the Eleventh and Birdwell sub station went to 1303 Lamar Sunday and extinguished a small blaze. The fire began with a pile of papers and a broom in a water heater closet. The only damage was to the closet, firemen reported.

A small fire at the Vance Ledkowsky residence, 805 Edwards, caused no damage, firemen reported. The blaze developed from a wall furnace meter Saturday, but firemen from the 18th and Main sub station extinguished it.

Weekend Hub Cap Toll Reaches Eight

Eight hub caps were reported missing over the weekend.

Two hub caps were taken from a 1955 Ford owned by a Mr. Shell, 704 Eleventh. The car was parked at the address Friday night when the items were taken.

Three caps, one each from a 1954 Ford, a '53 Ford, and a 1954 Buick, were missing at the Roy Wheelless Used Car Lot, 1408 W. 4th. They were taken Saturday night.

This morning, Frank Marin, 803 N. Scurry, reported that three caps had been taken from his 1954 Pontiac.

Man Beaten, Robbed By Negro Assaultants

Two Negro men beat and robbed a man of $13.75 on the Northside Saturday night.

Police said that the two Negroes took the money, a billfold, a wrist watch, and a cigarette lighter, and escaped before officers could arrive. The man was beaten near the Reed Service station on the Lamesa Highway. Police didn't know the victim's name.

He left his businesses in the hands of a partner for a fling in show business as part of an adagio dance act. Mae West saw him and put him in her act of muscle men. On May 13, 1956, Jayne and song writer Julie Styne had a date to go to New York's El Morocco.

Jayne's Future Husband Is Big Success In Own Right

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. (AP)—The whole world knows almost everything about Jayne Mansfield, who will become the bride tonight of Mickey Hargitay at Wayfarers' Chapel.

But what about the 29-year-old groom of whom little is known except that he is a big hunk of man loved by one of Hollywood's most publicized glamour queens?

The husky Hungarian never has talked much about himself but the story of his 10 years in America is something Horatio Alger would have loved.

When he and Jayne return from their Texas and Florida honeymoon, they'll move into a $150,000 Holmby Hills estate that has 11 bathrooms and eight bedrooms. It once belonged to Rudy Vallee.

The house is Mickey's wedding present to his bride. He had already given her a $25,000 diamond engagement ring.

You don't give gifts like that on money earned from weight lifting. To the general public, Mickey has been publicized as a muscle man, but he hasn't lifted a bar bell in years.

He was born Miklos Hargitay, son of a wealthy Budapest theater owner and his wife. He had just finished his freshman year at the University of Budapest when the Communists took over.

"I never liked communism anyhow," Mickey told a reporter at a prenuptial dinner last night. "So when they wanted me to go in the army and serve in Russia I took the passport I had as a child and enough money to get me to America."

Only 19, Mickey landed in New York with no knowledge of English. He got a $2-a-day job in a Brooklyn fruit market. As his English improved he got better jobs and was able to save enough money to get to Indianapolis, where he had friends.

There he invested his savings in a vacant lot. With the friends' help, a bank loaned him enough to construct a house. The house, which he built mostly by himself, was sold for an $8,000 profit. That was parlayed into a construction

$2.5 Billion For AEC Is Urged For The Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of $2,500,000,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) in the year starting July 1 was recommended by President Eisenhower today.

The amount is a 250 million dollar increase.

Most AEC money, included in the President's budget sent to Congress, is recommended for military purposes.

A requested 120 million dollars in new atomic construction appropriations would contain only a small share for new power reactors, an AEC spokesman said.

He indicated the amount would not approach the more than 100 million dollars appropriated by Congress last year, mainly for reactors to be built as a part of the government-industry partnership program.

Rep. Durham (D-NC), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and other committee members have called for a greatly stepped-up reactor building program over a 10-year span.

The President asked for $97,700,000 in operating expenses for government power reactors and $26,600,000 for operating reactors built under the present partnership program. The comparable figures for the current fiscal year are $90,800,000 and $26,922,000.

In his budget message, Eisenhower said "There will be continuing emphasis . . . on the more promising approaches to development of reactors to produce safe and economic electrical energy for civilian use."

Plastic Surgery Helps Convicts To New Lives

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—New faces and other physical repairs through plastic surgery are giving Texas prisoners a new outlook when they are released.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the state prison system, says the program has benefited 450 prisoners.

"It is a proven factor of criminology that facial deformities and other disfigurements that contribute to personality complexes and handicap a man in finding work are closely related in many cases to the crime a man commits," Ellis said.

The program is a joint venture of the University of Texas Medical Branch, the Baylor University College of Medicine and the Texas Department of Correction.

One surgeon told of a convict known as "Frankenstein." His chin jutted far out, his lower teeth did not meet his upper teeth and his ears flared out from his skull. His nose was flat and twisted.

His looks had affected his education, his work and his marriage.

Plastic surgeons from the University of Texas performed 11 operations on him and when "he left here he had a complete new personality," said Warden C. L. McAdams of the Ramsey prison unit.

Four years ago a prisoner walked into a high voltage line while serving at San Quentin. He was so badly burned that when he entered Ramsey to serve a 10-year sentence waiting for him he was too crippled to walk.

Now, after eight operations he works on the prison garden squad, the use of both arms restored.

A surgeon said, "If we can remove, or improve, a facial deformity, disfiguring scar, jug or lop ears, twisted and misshapen noses, even tattoos, the chances are we improve that man's personality and give him a better outlook on life when he is released."

West Triumphs In Pro Clash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Honors were abundant for all today after the West's sparkling 26-7 triumph over the East in the annual Pro Bowl football classic which gave the victors a 5-3 lead in the all-star series.

Collectively, however, laurels must go to the huge defensive troops of Coach George Wilson's Western Conference, including a secondary of Bobby Dillon of Green Bay and Earl's Lions, Lyons, Yale Lary and Joe Schmidt who stole four passes from the East.

A record crowd of 66,634 watched the contest in Memorial Coliseum, eclipsing the previous high of 53,676 which saw the 1951 game.

Fullback Alan "The Horse" Ameche of the Baltimore Colts set the stage for the key scoring play of a fierce first half when he rammed 66 yards to the East four.

The East was ahead, 7-6, on an arching pass from Earl Morrall of Pittsburgh to Ray Renfro of Cleveland, and it was anybody's ball game.

But Ameche's great run led to a 9-yard field goal by Bert Rechich of the Colts that sent the West in front, 9-7, a lead it never surrendered.

Never again did the West line let the East seriously threaten, and time and again it stopped a great back such as Jim Brown of Cleveland on vital third down plays.

Hugh McElheny of the San Francisco 49ers was voted the "player of the game" by the sports editors of the four Los Angeles metropolitan papers, which sponsor the game.

Quaker City Scene Of Welter Match

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The big time in boxing Wednesday with a 12-round welterweight elimination match between Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. and Gil Turner of Philadelphia.

The National Boxing Assn. ruled last Saturday that the winner will meet Isaac Logart within 60 days for the title vacated by Carmen Basilio, when he moved up and won the middleweight crown.

The 12-rounder will be carried on ABC-TV starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

Harold Johnson hopes to move another step closer to a second title shot in the light heavyweight class by beating Wayne Bethea in a Friday bout (NBC-radio-TV) at Syracuse, N.Y.

Robbery Attempt At Course Fails

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — An attempt to rob the Bing Crosby golf tournament of an estimated $100,000 in receipts ended in a fight for a gun and capture of the gunman before dawn today, a deputy sheriff said.

The deputy, Tom Martin, guarding two safes across the street from the plush Del Monte Lodge, said he suffered powder burns in the struggle before overpowering the unidentified gunman and taking him to jail at nearby Salinas.

The man refused to give any name and was booked as John Doe.

Bing Crosby turns over the take from the tourney to charity.

The tourney ended yesterday with Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., taking home the winner's share of $50,000 pro-amateur tourney.

Ryan May Need An Operation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Frank Ryan of Rice will undergo X-ray examinations today to determine whether he needs a knee operation before starting his professional football career.

Ryan said it is "very likely" he will play pro ball next year with the Los Angeles Rams.

GRID COACHES FACED WITH PAT PROBLEM

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Football coaches have a new strategy to cope with today: Is it better to try for a one-point conversion after a touchdown, or gamble for a two-pointer.

That option — one point if kicked, two points if by a run or a pass — was written into football law yesterday, along with a more liberal substitution rule and several other changes.

The new scoring rule, first change in football's point system in more than 40 years, and other revisions were adopted at the closing session of the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The scoring change — designed to reduce the number of ties and boost fan appeal — came as a surprise. Proposed by Committee Chairman H. O. Fritz) Crisler, athletic director at Michigan, the rule originally was scheduled for a year's study by a subcommittee.

"Sure it'll kick up a controversy," said Crisler.

Opinion of coaches was divided. Several agreed with Crisler the change would make football more exciting and "open up the game."

Other reaction includes — such remarks as "very interesting" . . . "I like" . . . "Progressive" . . . "a good idea" . . . "fewer teams will kick" . . . "teams will still go for the kicked extra point" . . .

On the other side: "Ridiculous" . . . "They're de-emphasizing kicking" . . . "can't see any great merit to the thing."

Red Sanders of UCLA and Blanton Collier of Kentucky were among those voicing approval. Terry Brennan of Notre Dame called it ridiculous.

The change in the substitution rule was designed to help small colleges with limited squads. Crisler said. Effective immediately, both starters and substitutes will be able to make two appearances in each quarter. For the past three seasons, only the players who started a quarter could leave and be eligible to return during the same quarter.

Buz O'Malley and his aides have claimed all along that they are earnestly negotiating for the Rose Bowl and that they are convinced it can be made into a first-class baseball plant.

If the Rose Bowl deal falls through and the present impasse with Coliseum officials isn't solved, Wrigley Field seems the home of the Dodgers for 1958.

High-Scoring Tech Meets Arkansas Hogs Tonight

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press
Arkansas, only undefeated team in the Southwest Conference basketball race, matches its defense against Texas Tech's high-scoring Red Raiders at Fayetteville Monday night in the league headliner.

The Razorbacks, seldom mentioned in preseason forecasts, rolled over Baylor 68-43 last week, then clouted TCU 65-49.

Rice beat SMU 78-74 and Texas Tech downed TCU 83-70. That put the Red Raiders, playing their first season in the conference, in the spotlight. But SMU stripped Tech 84-80 Friday night at Lubbock.

Texas A&M beat Texas 71-50, Texas crushed Baylor 82-61 and Rice nipped A&M 62-59 to round out the week's play.

TCU, A&M and Texas all have 1-2 marks and Baylor lacks a league victory.

Texas Christian is the leading season scorer with 806 points and has the best season defensive mark, 628.

Ronnie Stevenson of TCU, with 239 points, is the leading season scorer. Rick Herscher of SMU took second with 223.

Herscher leads the conference scorers with 61 points. Right on his heels are Fred Grim of Arkansas and Max Williams of SMU. Each has 60.

The Terps polished off North Carolina Saturday 74-61, and now certainly are the favorites to win the AAC title. The defeat was North Carolina's second of the season.

Texas Tech, the newcomer that has been causing the oldtimers in the Southwest Conference all sorts of worries, plays Arkansas in Fayetteville tonight.

Until Tech dropped a four-point decision to Southern Methodist last week, the league looked like it was ready to crown a new champion on the rookie's first time around.

But the one defeat does not mean Tech is out of it. However, its battle with Arkansas will be watched with interest by the other league teams, for the Razorbacks currently are riding along in first place with a 3-0 record on the best defense in the loop.

11 - Under - Par 277 Gives Bill Casper A Win

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Affable Bill Casper, who continues to gain golfing stature while he watches his waistline, banked a fat $5,500 today as his winning share of the Bing Crosby Tournament loot.

The 26-year-old ex-sailor, a 215-pound Californian from Apple Valley captured the $4,000 top prize in Crosby's 72-hole $50,000 event yesterday with an 11-under par score of 277 for a four-stroke bulge.

His final 18 was a 1-under-par 71 over the picturesque but tricky Pebble Beach course bordering the Pacific.

Casper also hit the most sensational shot of the tourney. It was a 135-yard belt with a No. 9 iron on the 11th hole that bounced twice and dropped into the cup for an eagle 2. That set up a victory.

Second place and $2,400 went to 24-year-old Dave Marr, Rumson, N. J., who carded 72 and a 281 total.

Deadlocked at 284 were Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.; and Ken Venturi, San Francisco. Their payoff was $1,633.33.

The Big Spring collegians got off on the right foot against the HSU Buttons in Abilene last week, however, drubbing the Baptists, 75-69. Now comes games with the San Angelo College Rams; HSU again, this time here; San Angelo here; Odessa and Frank Phillips.

San Angelo will prove a large order in San Angelo Wednesday. Phil George's Rams won third place in a tournament at Lawton, Okla., last week by beating Joplin, Mo., 72-61, after losing to Cameron, Okla., in the first round.

The Rams lost two out of three games in the Howard College tournament here two weekends ago but later chilled Odessa, a team that had taken their measure in the local meet.

HCJC now has won 15 of 17 starts, having lost only to the McMurry Papposes and to Ark City, Kansas. The locals get a chance to avenge the McMurry reversal on Feb. 11 in the local gym.

The Hawks play only three more games before plunging into West Zone competition against Odessa in Odessa on Jan. 28. Two of those engagements come up this week. The win over HSU left Coach Davis only eight games shy of his quest for his 200th win as the HCJC coach.

Dodger Officials To Learn Story
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The time is at hand for a decision on whether Dodger boss Walter O'Malley gets the Rose Bowl as a playing site.

The engineers, architects and cost experts have come up with facts and figures. O'Malley knows what he'll have to spend to convert the football stadium into a baseball park.

Some outsiders have the notion that the cost is prohibitive and that O'Malley is going to skip both the Rose Bowl and the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. They believe he'll decide on Wrigley Field, which accommodates only 22,000.

Erdelatz Due Interview About Aggie Job Today

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The plot thickened around the Texas A&M college football coaching situation today with Navy's Eddie Erdelatz and Iowa State's Jim Myers both appearing confident of the job if they want it.

Aggie officials denied knowing anything about contacts with Erdelatz.

The Texas A&M Athletic Council plans to recommend a coach to the college board of directors this morning. Erdelatz was to fly to Texas today, reportedly to talk with Aggie officials here tomorrow, but twice interviewed by the Athletic Council, was to announce his decision this afternoon. Until yesterday, Myers was considered the No. 1 candidate.

Dr. C. H. Groneman, Texas A&M athletic council chairman, said, "I don't know a thing about Erdelatz being contacted, except what I've read and heard over television. No member of the athletic council has contacted Erdelatz."

He said he didn't know when the board would announce selection of a coach.

Capt. Slade Cutter, director of athletics at the Naval Academy, said, however, Jack Finney of Greenville, Tex., a member of the board of directors and the athletic council, had approached him last week and asked permission to talk with Erdelatz.

Finney said, yesterday "We have no comment. All I can say at this time is that we will make our recommendation to the board of directors today."

Erdelatz and three of his staff, Ernie Jorgie, Wayne Hardin and Steve Belichick, were to fly to Texas. The Navy coach said he had been presented with an offer by Aggie representatives in Washington over the weekend, but had not reached any agreement.

Meanwhile, Myers said he was to talk with both Aggie and Iowa State officials today and announce his decision this afternoon. He said he talked with "an A&M official" yesterday and said Erdelatz's name was not mentioned.

Pace Setters Vie In Lone Star
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
East Texas and Stephen F. Austin, currently leading the Lone Star Conference basketball race with 3-0 records, meet at Commerce Thursday—but by then it could be just another game.

East Texas opens the week against Lamar Tech at Beaumont and Stephen F. Austin tries Sam Houston at Huntsville in Monday games. Sam Houston is 2-2 in the conference and Tech is 1-2, but both get the leaders with the home court advantage for the underdogs.

Howard Payne plays Southwest Texas at San Marcos and Sul Ross takes on Texas A&I at Kingsville in other Monday games.

The only other game on tap Thursday matches Southwest Texas with Texas A&I at San Marcos.

NM Aggies Pacing Border Conference
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lightly regarded New Mexico A&M has turned the Border Conference race upside down with three consecutive victories and undisputed claim to first place.

The Aggies should hold that top spot through this week at least. They play only one game—a Monday night clash with lowly West Texas State.

As the standings now read, the Aggies are boasting a perfect 3-0 record and Arizona State is in a tie with West Texas State for the cellar with a 2-0 mark.

Except for Hardin-Simmons, the rest of the conference will get a breathing spell this week. Hardin-Simmons faces three tough league opponents — two away from home — while the other schools have one game each.

The Cowboys visit Texas Western Monday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — Althea Gibson's reign as top female athlete has a better than fair chance of continuing indefinitely.

Cincy Faces Big Tests This Week

The explosive entry of Cincinnati into Missouri Valley Conference basketball will get a genuine hearing this week.

The Bearcats broke nine scoring records in winning two games and losing one last week. They play Houston at Cincinnati Monday and meet defending champion St. Louis on the road Saturday.

Bradley, which has won its first four conference games, will meet weak North Texas State at Peoria Monday.

Charles (Goose) Russell becomes eligible for varsity basketball at the local high school today, just in time to take part in District 2-AAAA games with the Steers.

CBS is demanding that the Orange Bowl people show more time with the Cotton Bowl crowd on the New Year's Day football program.

If you were watching the games on television last Jan. 1, you'll recall that only a little more than half of the Cotton Bowl game was screened due to the fact that the Orange Bowl game hadn't been completed.

CBS, however, is asking the Miami promoters to move the starting time of their game forward to 12 noon (our time) in order to avoid as much conflict as possible with the Cotton Bowl.

The Orange Bowl people don't like the idea but the contract comes up for renewal this month and they can't overlook the fact that CBS pays $275,000 for the TV and radio rights of the game. Odds are that the game will be moved up.

Jimmy Viramontes, the University of Texas basketball coaching aide, says Kilgore JC has a guard who is a more outstanding backcourt performer than any player now active in the Southwest Conference.

That's the team Coach Harold Davis is thinking of inviting to the 1959 Howard College tournament.

The Southeastern Conference now has won ten bowl decisions from Southwest Conference clubs. It has lost eight in the series, tied another.

Quite probably, opposing teams in next year's Orange Bowl football classic will be the University of Oklahoma and Georgia Tech.

If North Texas State College competes in the next American Business Club Relays here — and chances are very good it will — they'll be able to offer an outstanding half-miler in Charles Rosemond, the former Yale star, who switched to the Denton school from the University of Texas at midyear.

Harold Davis, the HCJC cage mentor, says if his Jayhawks can score just one West Zone win on the road this season, he'd be willing to take his chances for a first place finish in the five-team race.

The San Francisco 49ers drew 478,643 paid admissions to their home games in the last National Football League race and the club paid the city $150,071 in rental fees for the use of Kezar Stadium.

Pro football has come a long way since the days of Mel Hein, one of the all-time great centers. Mel says he played for $150 a game. When the Detroit Lions blasted Cleveland in the championship game last month, each member of the club earned $4,295.41 for the afternoon's work.

The Sweetwater Mustangs will play nine of the ten football foes they met last fall. Littlefield has been added to the Pony schedule and will be played in Littlefield Nov. 7. The Wildcats replace Monahans on the Mustang Card.

Lakeview Rockets Defeat Abilene In Odessa Meet

Lakeview's Rockets clinched the third place position in the Odessa Tournament Saturday night, rapping Abilene, 72-62.

Crane, semi-final winner over the Rockets, took the meet with an 88-87 victory over host Odessa.

The Big Spring cagers now have a 13-5 record for the season. They won their first game of the meet, slipping past Lubbock, 60-56. Crane dropped the locals, 75-64, to advance to the championship finals, while the Rockets proceeded the third place Abilene win.

Previous to the tourney, Lakeview knocked out a 60-27 conference win over Plainview in a Friday game.

B. F. Newton, all-tournament selection, and Willie Myles sparked the locals with 22 and 25 points each, respectively, in the Abilene contest. Jim Williams had 18 for Abilene. The Big Springers led by three points at halftime, 35-32.

Crane placed Fred Walker and Willie Morris on the star team. Lakeview will be host to Colorado

City here Wednesday night in three basketball games.

LAKEVIEW (72) — Newton 10-22; Allen 5-13; Myles 15-25; Brown 3-24; Foster 1-6-2; Totals 21-19-77.

ABILENE (62) — Williams 9-21; Sims 3-6; Bennett 2-15; Moore 4-19; McDaniel 1-6-2; Orlan 4-11; Lourey 1-0-2; Ollmer 1-1-9; Totals 28-62.

Happy Mother, Lucky Boy

Mrs. H. E. Dickson of Fort Worth happily hugs her two-year-old son, Henry Eugene (Hanky) Dickson, after he was rescued from an abandoned 15-foot weed-covered well. The boy fell into the well while playing at his grandmother's house. A neighbor, using a garden hose, managed to pull him to the surface.

Europe Relieved At Ike Summit Reaction

LONDON (AP)—West European newspapers today expressed relief that President Eisenhower had kept alive the prospect of a summit conference on East-West problems.

There also was some criticism of the contents of the President's letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin—a feeling that Eisenhower may have defined too carefully the conditions under which he would attend a meeting of government leaders.

Despite this, however, there was a general feeling in papers of various political hues that an "if" from Eisenhower was better than a "no" to Russia's propaganda hammering for East-West talks.

Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to Russia, delivered Eisenhower's 4,000-word reply to the Soviet Foreign Office in Moscow.

There was no immediate reaction in the Soviet press or radio. The Communist party organ Pravda published Bulganin's letters to the prime ministers of Belgium and Denmark but made no mention of the delivery of Eisenhower's reply.

It is usual Soviet practice to withhold publication of such communications or even comment on them until the Kremlin has replied.

Eisenhower's letter drew more barbs from the British press than elsewhere.

The Laborite Daily Herald asserted that U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, "with his eternal 'No, no, no,' is becoming as great a menace to peace as was Mr. Molotov in the first years after the war."

Paris papers were kinder. The Conservative Figaro predicted the French public would greet the President's reply with "satisfaction and relief."

Italian papers gave Eisenhower's letter wide play. Italy's non-Communist press reacted similarly to journals in other European countries. Rome's Il Tempo carried this banner line: "Eisenhower accepts a meeting with Bulganin and suggests six proposals for discussion."

Russians Develop Jet Plane Satellite

VIENNA (AP)—Radio Bucharest said today Russia has perfected a "jet-plane earth satellite" which will go into production shortly.

The Romanian radio said the new plane's turbo engines and rocket motors develop a thrust of more than 100,000 horsepower and give it a speed of seven to eight kilometers (4.3 to 5 miles) per second—enough to turn the plane into an earth satellite at great heights.

The jet-satellite's return to earth is to be achieved by "counteraction rockets," the radio announced. The broadcast did not say whether the craft would be manned.

Hold-The-Line Flood Control Program Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hold-the-line program for flood control and navigation projects was recommended to Congress today by President Eisenhower.

He asked Congress to give Army Engineers about the same money voted last year for flood control, navigation and power projects but asked that no funds be provided to start new projects.

The President's requests for Army Engineer projects for the fiscal year starting July 1 total $827,670,000, compared with last year's $638,293,100.

In his budget message to Congress, which stressed defense works, the President noted that last year Congress voted money to start 407 new water projects—including those by Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau—with an estimated total cost of 4 1/2 billion dollars.

He said expenditures by the two agencies thus will be higher than in five years and will rise still higher in 1960.

"We should not at this time add to our extremely high level of commitments by starting any new projects in 1959," he said.

Eisenhower's recommendations for new appropriations for Army Engineers would provide $449,920,000 for general construction; $7,900,000 for general investigations; $100,000,000 for operation and maintenance; $11,200,000 for general expenses; $57,000,000 for work on the lower Mississippi and its tributaries; $100,000 for the St. Lawrence Joint Board, and $1,650,000 for payments to states from leases of federal land acquired for water projects.

Funds recommended would continue construction on 164 Army Engineer flood control, navigation, beach erosion and power projects and would provide for planning of 33 additional projects.

He noted that requested funds would complete eight navigation projects and nine flood control projects.
