Makes Proposal

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, raises a finger for emphasis in Washington, D. Reuther made the proposal in testimony before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

Young Gunman Held After Wave Of 10 Savage Killings

Lincoln Recoils From Its Terror

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Lincoln recoiled from shock and terror today after assurance that a mad slayer, who had killed ten, was behind bars.

But troubled officials fear more bodies could be found as they have been found at intervals since Monday.

Swagging Charles Starkweather, 19, and his steady girl friend, Carl Fugate, 14, who have been charged with first-degree murder were jailed at Douglas, Wyo., yesterday.

Striking by threes, the youth first killed Carl's family of three. Then in another foray discovered a day later, he killed a onetime hunting companion and two high school sweethearts.

Later, he shot down a prominent Lincoln business man; stabbed his wife and their 51-year-old housekeeper.

It was the tenth killing that broke the chain. A few minutes after he opened fire on a salesman mopping in his car along a Wyoming highway he ran into Joe Sprinkle, tough Casper, Wyo., oil worker who wasn't afraid of the killer's rifle. Sprinkle stopped to investigate the stalled cars, appraised the situation and grappled for the rifle.

The killer got away, but by then law officers had arrived and he gave up after a short chase.

The victims slain in a 48-hour period:

Marion Bartlett, 57, Lincoln, Carl's stepfather; Velda Bartlett, 37, Lincoln, her mother; and Betty Jean Bartlett, not quite 3, their daughter.

August Meyer, 70, Bennet farmer; Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school student; and Carol King, 16, Bennet, Robert's girl friend.

C. Lauer Ward, 47, Lincoln business man; Clara Ward, 47, his wife; and Lillian Fencel, 51, the Ward's housekeeper.

Merle Collison, 37, Great Falls, Mont., salesman.

Apprehension spread in Lincoln as the bloody toll mounted, but it was the wanton killing of Ward, president of the Capitol Steel Works, Mrs. Ward and their housekeeper, raising the count of Nebraska victims to nine, which set the city in its final frenzy.

Gov. Victor Anderson ordered the National Guard mobilized. Guardsmen started patrolling the city and prepared for a house-to-house search to root out the killer.

Col. C. J. Sanders, head of the Nebraska Safety Patrol, threw a ring of troopers around the city and ordered additional mobile units to duty. As far away as North Platte, some 200 miles west, reserves were called.

In Lincoln the boy's father, Guy Starkweather, 47, a carpenter, said "I guess everybody can sleep tonight. I don't know whether I'll sleep though."

The elder Starkweather admitted he had feared for his own and his wife's safety.

"I don't think Charles would hesitate to shoot me," he said. "Charlie always had a burst of temper, but never anything like this."

"I have an idea he thinks he would be better off if they had killed him."

Teen-Agers Captured

Carl Fugate, 15, left, and Charles Starkweather, 19, both of Lincoln, Neb., were captured by authorities in connection with the slaying of 10 persons. Three bodies found in outbuildings behind their home were bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett and a daughter, 2. The parents had been shot. Carol is a daughter of Mrs. Bartlett by a previous marriage.

Gives Up After Seeing Own Blood

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP) — A young gunman, sought in a wave of 10 savage killings, was captured yesterday in the badlands of eastern Wyoming.

Charles Starkweather, 19, and his brunette girl friend, Carl Fugate, 14, were caught after nine persons in Nebraska and one in Wyoming had been slain in a three-day period.

The girl told officers she feared Starkweather, red-haired and wearing rimless glasses, would kill her.

"They wouldn't have caught me if I hadn't stopped," Starkweather snarled as officers hauled him to a jail cell. "If I'd had a gun, I'd have shot them."

Automobile glass, shattered by bullets in the wild chase that led to Starkweather's capture, nicked the gunman's ear.

Sheriff Earl Heflin said "It was his own blood that got him. He thought he was shot dead in hell when he saw that blood."

"He thought he was bleeding to death," the sheriff added. "That's the kind of yellow s.o.b. he is."

The girl, in a state of shock after fleeing Starkweather's car before the final chase leading to his capture, was sheltered in the living quarters of the sheriff and his wife.

charging him with the Wyoming slaying of a Montana shoe salesman. The sheriff said he had a handwritten statement from Starkweather, a statement "about as long as a rope." He wouldn't discuss it further.

He said he planned to get a statement today from the girl.

Starkweather spent two hours in his cell last night working on his statement. Afterward Dixon said "we have everything we need now." He said the statement is evidence and declined to disclose it to reporters.

GIRL NO WORRY

He seemed unconcerned about the girl, who was put under sedation after she had fled his car in hysterics shortly before he was captured.

Starkweather had an empty .22-caliber rifle when he was surprised by another motorist standing by Collison's car.

Dixon said that one member of the Converse County Board of Commissioners at Douglas wanted to turn Starkweather over to Nebraska authorities but that he had not made any decision. He said he would file the charges in any case, and if it was decided to return Starkweather to Nebraska, he could waive Wyoming's claim on him.

Meanwhile at Lincoln, Neb., Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said he and two officers would fly to Douglas today.

Scheele said that "we are going to do our utmost to get him back here." Wyoming will have priority on prosecution if Dixon decides to press in the Collison killing.

When captured, Starkweather had an empty .32-caliber pistol and he snarled that "if I'd had a gun I'd have shot them" (his captors).

There was no immediate statement on any possible charges against the Fugate girl.

Grand Jury Asks City, County To Bolster Law Enforcement

Howard County Grand Jury, winding up three days work, returned 49 indictments to Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court at 6 p. m. Wednesday.

It was a record high number of indictments to be returned by a Howard County grand jury. It was said that 59 matters were presented to the jury in the three days it was in session and that only in 10 cases did the body decline to return bills.

Accompanying the grand jury report was a recommendation to the city commissioners and the county commissioners that the personnel of the police and sheriff department be augmented and that additional patrol cars be provided for the agencies.

The grand jury recommendation reads:

"We, the grand jury, recommend to the county and city commissioners that due to the size of the city and population of the county and the numerous felony and misdemeanor criminal cases, that the city and the county consider enlarging the police and sheriff's department personnel and supply more patrol cars."

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that the number of felony matters which had to be presented was the largest in the time he has been in office and it was believed the greatest number for any period in the county history.

The indictments ran largely to forgery and theft allegations.

A new development in the action of the grand jury was the inclusion in the list of two indictments alleging issuing of habitual worthless checks.

This is the first time persons have been indicted for this offense although the law has been on the books for some time.

Jones explained that the law provides that in cases where a person has been previously convicted of issuing worthless checks on two occasions—misdemeanors—that he can be charged with habitual worthless check violation. This is a felony.

Conviction for the offense carries not less than two nor more than 10 years in the state penitentiary and a fine not to exceed $5,000.

Jones said that the practice of writing worthless checks is becoming so widespread that it will be the policy of his office to apply the felony provision of the law to all offenders arrested hereafter who have previous check convictions in the lower courts.

The grand jury also returned two habitual criminal indictments. In such cases, there is no possible sentence on conviction other than life imprisonment.

Three indictments allege "repeat" offenses. Penalty in such cases is the maximum provided by law for the specific crime.

Two indictments allege that the defendants were previously convicted of DWI on at least two other occasions. Under such special indictment, the defendant on conviction can be sent to the state penitentiary for five years.

The grand jury, with Ralph White as foreman, was composed of 11 men and one woman. It began its work Monday morning and worked all of Monday, Tuesday and until 6 p. m. Wednesday to complete the investigations. More than 100 witnesses appeared before the grand jury in the three days.

Members of the grand jury are W. L. Sandridge, Alvin S. Bates, R. D. Lee, J. H. Fryer, Cecil McDonald, G. L. Monroney, White, Mrs. W. N. Norred, L. A. Rawlings, Paul D. Sledge, Hershell Matthies and H. H. Thames.

Two indictments in the list returned were against defendants alleging robbery by assault. These are in the cases in which two liquor stores were held up at gun point.

Baghdad Pact Nations Say Reds Increase Imperialism

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The Baghdad Pact powers said today "Communist imperialism" is increasing its efforts to dominate the prized oil-producing Middle East.

In a communique winding up a meeting of ministers, allies and a U.S. team led by Secretary of State Dulles asserted that the Soviet Union is directing these attempts by exploiting the fear of war economic distress and regional tension.

The communique said Communist "infiltration and subversion continue to be a menace and call for constant vigilance and increased solidarity."

The ministers in their four-day meeting expanded the Middle East alliance's military planning staff and heard U.S. pledges if 10 million dollars more in aid and mobile power in great force to meet any aggression.

The four Moslem members of the pact—Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan—did not get what they wanted most: promises of vast aid from Britain, the fifth member of the alliance and the United States, and an American promise to take up full membership in the alliance.

Claims Boss Told Of Scaffold Danger

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — An employee testified today he warned his boss that a platform on a construction project at the Texas Co. refinery was unsafe before it collapsed yesterday, plunging 4 workmen 123 feet to their deaths.

Three of seven workers injured were in serious condition.

Tommy Schneider, 22, a pipe fitter welder, said at an inquest he told the gang pusher on the job, Bill Ward, he was afraid to work on the platform. The hearing was before Peace Justice Lloyd Blanchard.

One of two workers who survived with minor injuries, told earlier of the tragedy.

"I felt the platform giving way. Then I felt myself falling through the air," said George Gonzales, 21, Beaumont, one of the two who survived. Gonzales' fall was softened when he landed in some sand. He suffered only head scratches.

A company spokesman said bolts had sheared off that held the platform to permanent scaffolding around a catalytic cracking unit being built.

"I remember falling but I don't remember hitting the ground," said Joe Collier, 36, Duncan, Okla., the other survivor of the fall. He was placed in traction at a hospital in Beaumont for a broken back.

"The first thing I remember was somebody putting me on a stretcher," Collier said.

He said at least two other men narrowly escaped the fall. One had just stepped off the platform and another worker frantically pulled the second man to safety just before it crumbled, showering five workmen below with pipe and heavy wire mesh that had been on the platform, Collier said. He could not identify either of the latter men.

The dead were identified as Ferdinand Gringras, 24, Montreal, Canada; John Mauldin, 21, Fort Neches; Douglas Jefferson, Silsbee, and Lester Edwards, 38, Gilbert, La.

All the workers involved were employees of the W. G. Kellogg Construction Co., which was building the catalytic cracking unit at the refinery. The unit is used in refining high octane gasoline.

E. W. Soule, resident manager of the Kellogg company, said the bolts holding the platform to permanent scaffolding sheared off. He said they had been tested to hold more weight than was on the platform when it collapsed.

The other injured were identified as Nathaniel Wilson, 27, Bridge City; Charles Rudd, 26, Port Arthur; Emilio Cavazos Jr., Port Arthur; Wiltz Metreyone, 40, Nederland; and Reginald Isaac, Port Arthur.

Isaac and Gonzales were treated for minor injuries and released. The others remained hospitalized. Wilson was reported in critical condition.

Adm. Bellinger In VA Hospital Here

Vice Adm. Patrick M. L. Bellinger (retired) of the U. S. Navy is a patient in the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Adm. Bellinger, 72, became ill at Odessa while en route from his home at Earlehurst, Va., to California where he and Mrs. Bellinger planned to visit their daughter.

Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, hospital manager, said Adm. Bellinger probably will be hospitalized for several weeks. Mrs. Bellinger is staying in Big Spring while her husband is in the hospital.

The admiral, of three-star rating, is the highest ranking veteran ever to be hospitalized here. He retired from the service following World War II during which he held several vital commands with the fleet.

All Set For The Grand Rush That Hasn't Developed

Here's how the office of Viola Robinson, tax collector, looked Wednesday afternoon — a day when everyone expected a grand rush of belated taxpayers to show up and pay their poll tax. The grand rush has not developed and with the deadline right at hand — poll taxes must be paid by Jan. 31 if a citizen wants the right to vote — the situation is rapidly becoming serious. Thursday morning, the same absence of crowds was noted in the office and only 5,139 poll tax receipts had been issued. Citizens who have neglected to qualify themselves as voters are urged to hasten to the office and make amends. After tomorrow, the opportunity to do so ends. In 1957 — which was an "off year" politically — 6,205 persons had either paid poll tax or obtained exemption certificates to this date. In 1956, which observers compare to this year from political interest, the total was 9,115. Exemptions and receipts totalled only 6,342 at 11 a. m. today.

Rodeo Scheduled Here June 11-14

Dates for the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo have been fixed, E. P. Driver, secretary, announced Thursday morning.

He said that Everett Colburn, who will again produce the show, had confirmed June 11-12-13-14 as the time for the show.

Colburn, who hails from Dublin and who produces many of the nation's leading rodeos, has supplied the stock and specialty acts for the Big Spring event for several years.

Mothers To Stage 'March' For MOD

More than 100 Big Spring mothers will stage their annual "march on polio" this evening.

The group will canvass every residential district of the city—including for the first time the Western Hills and Kennebec Heights sections—for contributions to the Howard-Glasscock March of Dimes campaign.

Made up mostly of P-TA members, the Mothers' March on Polio group has been divided into eight teams for the canvass. A team has been assigned to each of the city's elementary school districts.

The mothers will be backed up by safety patrols of National Guardsmen and Moose Lodge members. Warrant Officer B. L. Eggleston will direct the Guard activities and Lewis Heflin is in charge of the Moose patrols.

Mrs. E. P. Driver is general chairman for the Mothers' March. Her district chairman, each a president of a local P-TA unit, are Mrs. E. C. Miller, Airport; Mrs. James Abbe, West Ward; Mrs. Robert Lee, East Ward; Mrs. Elvin Bearden, North Ward; Mary Vasquez, Kate Morrison; Mrs. Walter Stroup, Washington; Mrs. W. A. Cobb, College Heights; and Mrs. Carl Marcum, Park Hill. The Park Hill district includes Kennebec Heights and Western Hills, Mrs. Driver said.

Slogan for this year's march will be "Survival Is Not Enough," in keeping with the new objective of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mrs. Driver said. She pointed out that the agency now is attempting to provide funds for continued treatment and rehabilitation of persons who have been afflicted with polio.

There are more than 100,000 persons in need of continued assistance, so the NFIP has its work cut out for many years in the future. Some 30 Howard County residents are in the group, Mrs. Driver pointed out.

In addition to seeking March of Dimes contributions, the mothers will pass out suggestions that all Big Springers avail themselves of the Salk polio vaccine which has proved effective in preventing polio.

Persons who plan to contribute to the March of Dimes are being asked to have their porch lights shining during the time of the mothers' march, from 7 to 8 p. m. today.

This is the third year Parent-Teacher Association leaders have supervised the project. The group raised $1,353 last year and Mrs. Driver said mothers hope that figure can be exceeded tonight.

Service Clubs To Sell Blue Crutches All Day Friday

All Big Spring service clubs will cooperate Friday in the sale of miniature blue crutches for benefit of the March of Dimes campaign.

There will be two representatives of each club on duty from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., said George Zachariah, general chairman of the project. Shifts will change each hour.

March of Dimes contributions will be asked in exchange for the small crutches, symbols of the polio organization's new emphasis on treatment and rehabilitation of persons who have had polio.

Headquarters for the crutch sale operations will be the Record Shop.

E. G. Murphy, farming northwest of Ackery, is starting his eighth year of irrigation. Murphy has the oldest and perhaps the best well south of Lamesa. Drilled in 1951, the little 35-gallon well keeps on going year after year.

Murphy has a three and a half horsepower electric motor on it and usually irrigates eight or 10 acres of cotton. It makes about the same number of bales, at an operating cost of little more than a dollar a day.

"It's just enough water to make a fellow wish he had more," he said, "yet it has paid for itself several times."

He has another well about the same size on another part of the farm but has never used it.

Gin manager Conley Esmond of the Midway community north of Ackery, says this was their best cotton year since 1949. Cotton averaged two-thirds of a bale on dryland, while irrigated cotton made well over a bale per acre. The gin has a total of about 4,100 bales to date.

Another business man, Keith Dean, says the community owes much to its wells—both water and oil. They are about equally divided and the main trouble is that some farmers have both kinds while others have neither.

The wells are fairly small. Dean said, but would average 350 gallons per minute. The biggest well is on the E. B. Love farm, and will fill a six-inch pipe. Farmers drilled about 20 new ones last winter and spring, but have slacked off since the rains returned.

The winter moisture seems to be deeper than in many years. R. W. Harrison, an oilfield pumper living east of Vealmoor, says that in a recently dug pipeline, they found the moisture down about six feet.

Harrison lives on the Gail road and right next to a little creek. His hobby is hunting, but he doesn't carry a gun. He searches for Indian relics, and has a collection of arrowheads.

He says there was once an Indian village by some nearby springs and he has found burnt stones, arrowheads and other things indicating an Indian settlement.

The arrowheads can be placed in two types, so he wonders if both types belonged to the same tribe, or were there two different tribes in this area. Any experts on Indian lore know anything about this?

Edward Simpson, who ranches in the north part of Howard County, says cattlemen are more optimistic than in several years. Grass made some recovery last fall, and with the soil thoroughly wet, more grass will be coming in a few weeks.

His cattle are grazing stalkfields and native pasture. He has 70 head and says they are in good condition.

Simpson is an ex-teacher who spent a good part of his life in country schools. He taught his first school at Auto in 1909. This was located 13 miles northwest of Big Spring and was named after the new-fangled vehicles just coming to the county.

After leaving there, he spent seven years as principal at Vealmoor, stayed eight years at R-Bar, then went to Courtney in Martin County, and also taught schools in Terry and Lynn counties.

In 1947 he figured he had been in the school room long enough and moved to the two-section ranch which he owned. He believes in better schools but thinks their upgrading should be studied from all angles.

"We may need to spend more money for the schools," he said, "but let's also be sure we are getting the most school for the money."

Recently I met a young man who said he had once been in my class. Try as I might, I couldn't remember him either by name or face. He was just one of those ordinary people who goes through life unnoticed, unadmired and someday ends it without leaving a ripple.

I thought how different he was from George, a boy I knew in college. George was a card—an ace, king and joker—all rolled into one. Before he had been on the campus three days, he knew everyone, had acquired a doll of his own and was invited to an exclusive boy's society.

George came from a sandyland farm out near the New Mexico line, but he didn't intend to go back.

I gathered that his folks were not wealthy. He said they always celebrated Christmas Day by serving a big pot of prairie that before they butchered one dog stew. The cows were so thin they stuck a pitchfork in it. If it moved it was a cow, if not it was a hide.

Often the sandstorms covered up the crops. The wind blew so hard they had to put mufflers on the windmills to keep them from roaring like airplanes.

The neighbors were no better off. Two families got into a feud over the jack rabbit rights to a certain ranch pasture.

"One family ate so much jack rabbit," said George, "that when their baby was born they had to put a top on his crib to keep him from hopping over the sides." One couldn't blame George for wanting to leave such a neighborhood. He fitted right in at college and was soon a big man on the campus. Whenever you saw George, he was always doing the talking while others listened.

Then one night during examination week, I found him crying in his room.

"They're out to get me, boy," he said. "These goober-brained professors have filled their leaky fountain pens, and they're gonna give me George all the letters in the alphabet between E and G."

The professors were just as narrow-minded as George said. They seemed to think books and classes were more important than a boy's social life, so they gave him four F's and a D. One teacher said George had attended only five classes during the term. Another said the only time his book had been opened was when he went to sleep in class and knocked it off the desk.

George went to Fort Worth where he became a top notch salesman, but his new bosses also misunderstood him. George was always having trouble that way. They told him to keep 10 per cent of what he sold and turn in 90 per cent. But George got the figures crossed and kept 90 per cent for himself, so they fired him.

I haven't seen George since college days, but if he walked in the door right now, I'd remember him. Mostly because he was loaded with color and not the kind of person you forget.

Another reason I'd remember him is that he still owes me four dollars which he borrowed when they kicked him out of school.

GOP Claims State Legislature Costly

HOUSTON — A Republican Party committee charged today the regular session and two special sessions of the 55th Legislature overspent and exhausted the state's budget and made new and burdensome taxes a certainty for the 1959 session.

"Both special sessions were highlighted by almost ludicrous legislative procedures producing insignificant accomplishments when compared with the staggering cost to the taxpayers," said the Republican Legislative Committee in a minority party report.

The committee said Texans may long ponder whether the special sessions were convened to pass much-needed legislation "or because some Texas officials were thinking of the need for campaign issues in 1958."

The minority report endorsed portions of water legislation enacted at the first special session but had sharp criticism for legislation on registration of lobbyists, establishment of a crime commission, and three laws aimed at strengthening local control of schools, particularly in regard to segregation.

Water legislation was described as "a mere beginning to solve this state's No. 1 problem." But the Republican group urged continuation of provisions permitting a landowner to build dams to impound up to 200 acre feet of water without obtaining a permit.

"It appears that the Legislature passed a fair lobbyist registration statute but a very weak one from the standpoint of disclosing expenditures to influence legislation," the report said. "Under this legislation no expenditure reports are required between sessions, and only total spending must be shown—no individual breakdown showing who got it."

The Crime Commission was described as "nothing more than an advisory study group, with no real investigative power.

"Obviously, this legislation is virtually meaningless and worthless, except for whatever use the Legislature may make of the commissions reports and suggestions—or whatever campaign fodder its creation may provide one of the warring factions of the Democrat party," the report said.

The committee said one of the segregation bills requires legislation of organizations county judges feel are interfering with school operations.

"Even ardent segregationists are not proud of the registration bill which was crowded through in the last minutes of the second session and which has been condemned as unsound and unworkable by some of the very county judges whom it seeks to invest with unusual, perhaps unconstitutional, powers," the report said.

"The registration bill is abortive and ill-advised legislation that could be readily misapplied to worthy organizations at which it was obviously not aimed."

"This committee, while it feels that the Republican party stands four-square for states' rights, moderation and gradualism on the public school integration problem, must condemn the demagoguery which created such deplorable and constitutionally questionable laws for political reasons."

The report was released by Thad Hutcheson, State Republican Chairman. A similar study of the regular session was released last summer.

John J. Wood Jr., San Antonio, and Thomas D. Anderson, Houston, are co-chairmen of the Legislative Committee. Other members include M. Sims Davidson, Dallas; John Q. Adams, Harlingen; Mrs. Malcolm Milburn, Austin; Mrs. G. N. McDaniel, Borger; E. S. Mayer, Sonora, and J. D. Metz, Waco.

A Bible Thought For Today

And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption. (Ephesians 4:30)

Maybe He Got Fed Up

Why did Robert R. Young, the dynamic little Texan who startled the financial and railroad world with his brilliant operations, commit suicide at his Palm Beach home the other day?

Friends and associates are unable to account for it, and their opinions are contradictory. Although Young had run into financial difficulties with his railroads, his friends agreed that he would never run from a fight under any circumstances. His health was excellent, said one friend, while others said he had been dependent for some weeks.

Perhaps the reason for his suicide will never be known, since he left nothing in the way of a note behind.

Probably the truth is that years of intensive activity in a tough field, with its constant excitement and uncertainty, the incessant nagging of business details and the sheer weight of responsibility, finally wore him down and unseated his reason.

The world thought of him as a sort of superman, a man who performed prodigies of valor in the business world—bold as a lion, ruthless in pursuit of his objectives as a bulldog, determined as a charging rhinoceros.

But it is difficult for even a superman to keep keyed up so high for decades. He must pay a price in nerve and mental strain. He never dares relax completely. He must forever be on his toes, ready to slug it out with all comers. The weight of responsibility presses on him without surcease.

That sort of career can undermine the strongest constitution and destroy the stoutest heart. Perhaps Robert R. Young just got fed up with the endless struggle and, in a moment of despair, decided to take the quickest way out.

Fly In The Cultural Ointment

After three months of negotiations at the ambassadorial level the U. S. and the U.S.S.R. have reached and signed an agreement to swap films, radio-television broadcasts and about 500 experts "from ballet dancing to horse doctoring."

Soviet Ambassador Zarubin pronounced this the most important achievement of his five years in Washington. President Eisenhower—whose negotiator William S. B. Lacey signed with Zarubin—said he sincerely trusts "that through such agreements a better understanding will result between the peoples of the United States and the Soviet Union."

This peace wish will be echoed in many American hearts. A great many people believe a closer contact between Americans and Russians at all cultural levels would bring about understanding and insure peace, but this belief is based more on wishful thinking than substantial logic. There is no effective public opinion, as we know it, in a totalitarian country where people are not permitted freely to express it, and where the very organs of information and enlightenment are controlled absolutely by the state.

Where that situation exists—and these few token evidences of "cooperation" are not going to break it down—the Russian people have no way of knowing the truth about Americans. Because the police state rides close herd on all news emanating from that country, the American people have no accurate picture of what the mute millions of Russians are thinking and doing.

In the negotiations just concluded—it remains to be seen how well the Soviet Union lives up to the agreement—Russia lost her request for permission to fly her passenger planes into the U. S., and vice versa, while the U. S. lost its plea that Russia stop jamming U. S. radio broadcasts. (Reason for turning down the Soviet request for a U. S. airline connection does us no particular credit. It was blocked by U. S. airlines which, having no jet passenger planes themselves, object to competition from Russia, which does have jet airliners.)

There is some danger that the new agreement may give some unthinking Americans the notion that a long step in ending the cold war has been taken.

It is not the Russian people we need to distrust and guard against; it is their masters, the Communist power that sits in the Kremlin contemplating the destruction of human liberty everywhere—particularly in the United States.

David Lawrence Partisan Politics Plus Publicity

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration, under heavy attack by the Democrats for the last several months, is faced with the fact that the Democrats make more political news that gets printed nowadays than do the Republicans.

Maybe this is because the Democrats are in control of all the important committees and investigations in Congress that are given wide publicity. Senator Lyndon Johnson's office, for example, is second in Washington only to the President's office in its mimeographed output of press releases that make the headlines. That's legitimate tactics for the Democrats—but, strangely enough, it is considered by some critics to be unduly partisan when members of the President's Cabinet or White House aides talk politics in public.

An episode in point occurred last week. President Eisenhower went to Chicago to address a $100-a-plate dinner organized by the Republicans as part of a nationwide display of Republican speakers in various cities. Mr. Eisenhower said during the course of his speech:

"Our first objective—security and a just peace—is not a partisan or political matter. Americans must never and will never let the issue of security and peace become a pawn in anyone's political chess game."

This was immediately seized upon by the Democrats as meaning that nobody high up in the Republican administration should make any speeches at political gatherings or elsewhere on the subject of security or peace. Several editorials were published criticizing Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, because on the same night he, too, demanded that political partisanship should not be the motivation of legislators or anyone else in government in dealing with defense and security.

There wasn't really any basic difference between the viewpoint of the President and Mr. Adams, yet it was widely regarded as a clash. Why, it might be asked, except to make political news and bolster the morale of his party workers, did the President himself go to a Republican dinner in Chicago and talk about America's need for resolute action on the peace and security front? He said later on in the same speech:

"More than a year ago, by the test of the ballot box, America vigorously approved the Republican national record and direction of advance. The lesson is clear: When what we stand for is known and understood, the overwhelming majority of the American people support our objectives and programs."

The dilemma—how to fight back at the opposition and yet be unpartisan in opposing the government itself—is not unusual in political history. Once upon a time there was a Republican in the presidency named William Howard Taft. He had been elected by a landslide in 1908 and was immensely popular. But two years later the Democrats swept the House of Representatives. A rift in the Republican party occurred, and by 1912 there were three parties battling in the political arena. One day President Taft sent for the late Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, and wanted to know why the Republican administration was getting so little publicity.

"We don't make the news," replied Mr. Stone. "We just report it."

This gave President Taft food for thought. He realized that his administration was under attack but had done very little to defend itself in the public prints. Mr. Taft himself had spent most of his life on the bench and wasn't used to political combat. It was generally conceded that he was not a politician. He was so unpartisan—minded that he named a Democrat to his Cabinet—which was unheard of in those days—and he later named an ex-Confederate soldier from the South to be Chief Justice of the United States. He got exactly eight electoral votes in his bid for re-election in 1912.

Mr. Taft didn't realize—any more than Mr. Eisenhower does sometimes—that politics is a battle of contending forces every day in the year and that the side which makes the news gets the space in the newspapers. Some of the Democratic party politicians today, including Harry Truman, like to talk of a "one-party press" in America, by which they imply that the editorial pages are largely Republican in their sympathy. But Franklin Roosevelt used to say, "Give me the front news page, and you can have the rest of the paper."

Affection Banned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (P)—Torrid necking on visitors' days at the Kanawha County Jail has been forbidden by Sheriff Pat McGovern.

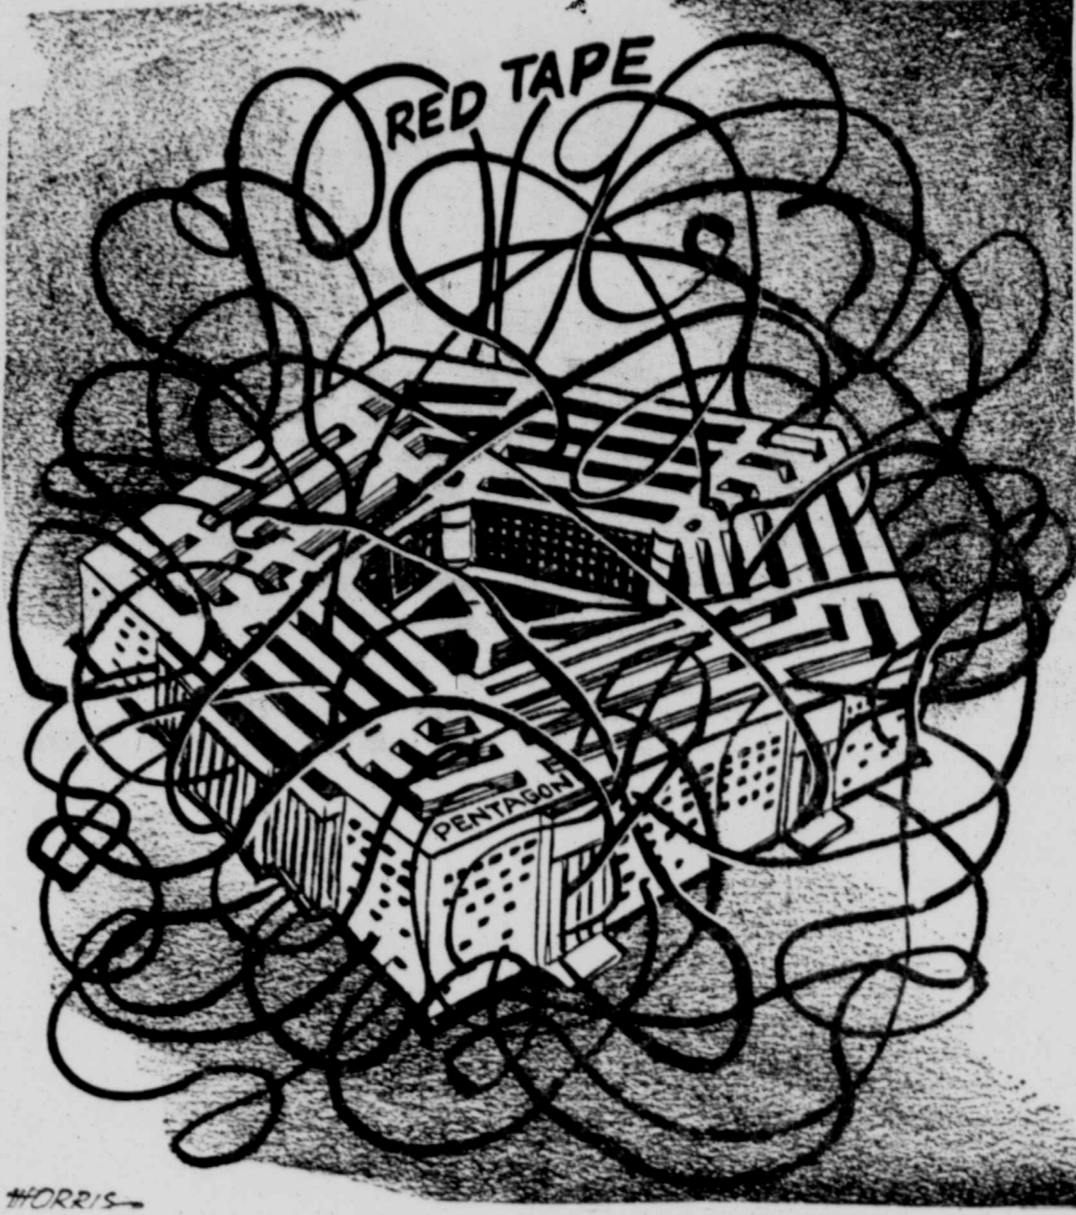

A warm embrace by a couple—shocking to observers—led the sheriff to issue this order to his chief jailer:

"You will immediately instruct all visitors under your supervision that demonstrations of affection, other than a kiss of greeting and a kiss goodbye, are out of line in the lobby. If any prisoner has visitors and they proceed to such demonstrations of affection (necking), the visitors will be immediately ordered to leave the lobby and the prisoner will be immediately returned to his cell."

James Marlow Nations Should Act Like People

WASHINGTON (P)—Life would be simpler and maybe safer if nations of people could act like individual people. For instance: In visiting one another.

This week the United States and the Soviet Union signed an agreement for exchanging visitors—delegations from industry, agriculture, the arts, and so on—but it took effort ever since 1953 to get around to it.

The idea started that year at the summit conference in Geneva. Some visits were exchanged. But in the fall of 1956 the Soviet Union

Hal Boyle Let's Help The Millionaire

NEW YORK (P)—Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: Victorian England saw the rise of societies for the alleviation of the poor. What is needed in America today is a society for the amelioration of the millionaire.

For the millionaire, once the symbol of wealth, might and the wastrel life, has fallen upon sad times. Now he is more to be pitied than censured.

The reason is simple: Money being what it is today, a simple millionaire no longer can afford to make much of a splash. He is no longer really rich, merely well-to-do, living on the plush side of poverty, so to speak.

Many a prisoner of the paycheck sighs, "I don't want to be a millionaire—I just want to live like one."

Well, a millionaire feels exactly the same way. He'd like to live like a millionaire is supposed to, but he knows he hasn't enough money.

Many people who envy a millionaire do not realize his plight. He is like a man who stands on the doorstep of Valhalla, hearing the music and singing, but who can't quite get inside. He is like a colonel in the Pentagon. He has considerable rank, but not enough, for there are many colonels in the Pentagon.

A man with only one million dollars is really a pitiable figure, when you get right down to it. He has the reputation of being rich, but none of the pleasure that goes with really being rich.

Just how rich in gold is a gilded pauper—a guy with only one million bucks in his name? Well, let's see.

Suppose he wants to conserve his capital and live off his income. What can he do? To begin with, he invests in some kind of bonds

MR. BREGER

Around The Rim 50 Million Reasons For Optimism

If you base your economic forecasts on population increases, this country's prosperity is only beginning, despite the current recession everyone's talking about.

U. S. population is expected to soar to 229 million by 1975, and to produce the goods and services they'll require should provide the nation's businessmen with all the business they can handle. The increase in population is expected to be more than 50 million in the next 17 years.

Home builders already are laying plans to get their share of this new market potential, and they're more optimistic than any other group I've read after. They expect to be able, between now and 1975, to build and sell twice the number of homes that have been gobbled up since 1938. Their estimate is that 29 million new houses will be required to keep every American equipped with suitable shelter.

That should make practically every manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer brighter up. For nearly every home will require a multitude of accessories, including ranges, refrigerators, radios,

Inez Robb Let The Teen-Agers Run The Missiles

It is one woman's opinion that the way to beat the Russians to the moon and catch up with and overhaul them in outer space is as simple as A, B, C.

Just take the program away from the armed services and all that inter-service feud and fighting in the Pentagon, and put it into the hands of the teen-age rocket societies now in operation all over the United States.

Since the advent of the first sputnik, I haven't picked up a newspaper that doesn't contain a report of some high school rocket group successfully launching another missile. From coast to coast and from border to border, the wild blue yonder is wilder than ever with homemade missiles flying through the air with the greatest of ease.

I see that a group of teen-agers in Houston, Tex., has just launched its 67th rocket. It cost all of $10, zoomed two miles into the sky and attained a speed of 700 miles per hour. How do these kids know how high and fast their rocket traveled? Because its nose cone contained an accelerometer which, when recovered by the kids, revealed all.

If high school kids, including a 14-year-old girl, can build such a rocket for $10, the price of a sirloin steak or a hand-painted necktie, think what they could do if the government gave them $1,000 with which to work! They'd probably be on the moon—in person—in six months.

In this worrisome space age, I would solve all our missile headaches by turning the problem over to teen-agers with an appropriation of $100,000 for a real crash program. We'd have the Russians

J. A. Livingston Young Bested Others, Lost To Himself

When directors of the New York Central Railroad, meeting in Palm Beach, Fla., omitted the dividend on Monday, January 20, a recapitulation of the stewardship of Robert R. Young, the company's chairman, seemed in order.

And then Young died—killed himself.

Of the dead, so goes the Roman proverb, nil nisi bonum—nothing unless good. Young is a man who has to be written about—in death as in life. He was bold, imaginative, controversial, relentless. He was news—in everything he did.

His flair for news won him his victory in Central. In that combat he was the aggressor, the promoter, the politician, the knight in shining armor defending the small shareholders, the Aunt Janes, as he called them. Young would snatch the railroad from bankers and restore it to its rightful owners.

William White, his opponent, was no match in these headline-getting tactics. He was the quiet, sedate railroadman, supported by a sedate, keep-out-of-the-news board of directors—bankers and industrialists.

When Young promised an $8 annual dividend, White's public relations advisers counseled countering White brought forth a putative $2. His conservative mind, his sense of problems ahead, permitted no political guile. To this Young replied that if $2 were the highest dividend he, Young, thought possible, he would never have acquired his shares in Central.

Young was able to dramatize his promises. He would sell off Central's unneeded real estate; he would introduce lightweight, fast passenger trains; White promised hard work, good management. Not much showmanship in that.

The proxy fight was fought during a recession. This hurt White. Railroad earnings were down. Central had paid two 50-cent dividends in 1953 and one early in 1954. Then dividends were omitted. Young capitalized on this.

In his first annual report to "dear fellow shareholders," Young gave Alfred E. Perlman, president, "credit for what will, we believe, one day be recorded as one of the most expeditious jobs of corporate rehabilitation in history. Him we have to thank for the fact that directors so soon considered it sound and conservative to put your stock upon a $2 annual basis. . . . Not since 1931 has your company paid a regular quarterly dividend."

That first 50-cents-a-share dividend under Young was paid in March, 1955, and continued to June, 1957. In September, the company paid, in lieu of cash, one share of Reading Co. common for each 25 shares of Central held. In December, one share of Reading second preferred was distributed for each 65 shares held. Central's payment of Reading stock reduced Central's assets, Central's income. Apparently, Young, proud man, wasn't able to renounce the regular dividend he had so quickly established as "sound and conservative."

Political Eviction

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (P)—The Republican state administration, which began sweeping out Democrats on the top floors of the statehouse last January, wielded the broom in the basement recently.

By accident officials stumbled upon cozy living quarters—a two-room suite equipped with bed, desk, telephone, etc.—downstairs.

C. C. Miller, former custodian under the Democrats, said the furnishings were his. He explained that a few years ago his superiors thought it would be a good idea if he stayed at the statehouse in case of trouble at night.

GOP officials ordered Miller to pack up his belongings, but he still has his present job—with the Democratic state treasurer.

Texas Colleges Stepped Up Science Long Before Sputnik

By ROBERT E. FORD
The Associated Press

Texas colleges stepped up their scientific teaching long before the satellite-missile age burst upon the world, a survey by The Associated Press demonstrated Thursday.

The arrival of the era of the soaring, pilotless machines caused no Texas educator to push the academic panic button and start a frantic scramble for science students, teachers and equipment.

Several want more money for teachers and teaching equipment. Some school authorities expressed desires to further increase science instruction, but in an orderly fashion and without a crash program. None planned to streamline the college process to graduate young scientists faster.

Dr. Logan Wilson, president of the University of Texas, voiced the apparent thinking of a great many Texas higher education authorities when he said:

"Our basic need is less for more scientists and engineers than it is for more really top-notch ones. These latter, in general, are not produced by streamlined educational processes."

Charles Sherer, chairman of the TCU Mathematics Department, put it this way:

"Our grave need today is not more scientists. Nor is having everyone turn to sciences the answer. Instead we must have better scientists and those we train must be better prepared."

"The great concern of mathematics teachers right now is to discover, encourage and train the student gifted in the field."

Sherer is a representative on the governors' board of the Mathematics Assn. of America and has been close to nationwide developments.

The Texas Higher Education Commission is surveying ways to improve teaching of science and mathematics in the 18 state-supported colleges and universities.

One of the first schools to fall in step with the commission's announced intention was Texas Tech. Tech directors asked the commission for permission to step up graduate research beginning with science and engineering. It asked permission to obtain funds from any reputable source—private, industrial and governmental—to hire new teachers, and for research, equipment, buildings and higher salaries for faculty members.

The need for better salaries was expressed by Dr. M. E. Sadler, TCU president. "Our biggest problem," he said, "is to find enough money to secure the kind of leaders we need, since we have to compete with industry and with the large Eastern universities in securing such persons."

Dr. Sadler also said, "Sputnik has had no decided influence in our thinking since we were already deciding to greatly increase our scientific activities." This seemed the position of a number of universities.

Are students turning to science and related fields? Replies indicated they are in some schools, but are not in others.

The Texas A&M president, Dr. M. T. Harrington said, "There has been a marked and steady increase in the percentage of our students taking engineering and the pure sciences."

"In 1951, 41 per cent of our student body was enrolled in engineering. In 1957, 52 per cent. The number enrolled in pure sciences increased from 5 per cent in 1951 to 7 per cent in 1957."

At Rice Institute, long noted for its scientific teaching, President W. V. Houston said, "All of our available fields are filled to capacity, and we cannot deal with any significant change in interest."

Houston said the institute planned no immediate change in curriculum since it long had stressed scientific and technological work.

Other schools said no upheaval in curriculums is planned, since the courses of study are constantly being revised, and many were stressing science and related fields before the Soviets displayed their advances.

Dr. Sterling Wheeler, vice president of SMU, said, "The impelling force (for increasing science instruction) was not the satellite but the general need in this area, where there is a great deal of industrial research in the sciences, for an increased service in this field on the part of SMU. Almost all the colleges replying in the survey said more facilities are needed, and that industrial support of their research and other scientific projects has increased slightly.

Brackettville's Citizens Watch Alamo Building

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Citizens of Brackettville and surrounding areas are realizing what a job it must have been to build the Alamo.

Some of them are doing that now, or watching it done. A movie location is being made for a film featuring John Wayne. Associates say he has wanted to do a film on the historic San Antonio shrine for some time.

J. T. Shahan, Kinney County rancher, negotiated over a long period to complete arrangements. An agreement was made whereby Wayne's Batjack Productions would film "The Alamo" in Kinney County if it could be guaranteed 500,000 homemade bricks like those in the original Alamo.

To make such a guarantee, it was necessary to have all Brackettville, a town of 2,000 in far Southwest Texas, cooperate.

An organization known as Brackettville Enterprises was formed to do the work. County Judge Charles Veltmann and the county commissioners court are cooperating with Shahan, other leaders and the production company.

Brackettville Enterprises hopes to use the facilities after the film is made. One is for use of TV serials or more motion pictures. To build the Alamo replica, about one mile of stone and adobe walls, 10 feet high and 3 feet thick, was used.

For better filming angles, Brackettville Enterprises was required to practically move a mountain. Six to eight feet of dirt had to be cut to maintain a gradual slope for some 100 to 1,500 feet so as to permit coverage of the filming of the assaults on the Alamo.

Texan Who Fought With Mass Killer Knew He Faced Death

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—A soft-spoken Texan who struggled with accused killer Charles Starkweather before his capture said today "I knew that if he won, I would be dead."

Joe Sprinkle, 29 and a native of Wichita Falls, thus summed up his struggle over a rifle with Starkweather, 19, the Nebraskan accused of 10 slayings.

Sprinkle, a Navy veteran, now lives here with his petite wife, Pat. They marked their first wedding anniversary recently.

Sprinkle said he was on his way from Casper to Cheyenne and Douglas on business for his company. He is a landman for an oil firm.

"About 15 miles east of Douglas

I noticed two cars parked on opposite sides of the highway. As I passed I couldn't see anyone in either car," Sprinkle related. He said he went to a side road, turned around and pulled up behind the westbound car.

The westbound car was that of Merle Collison, 37, of Great Falls.

Bargain? Try Standing In Line

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A Flint used car dealer is selling four cars for 99 cents each and another four for $99 apiece tomorrow.

But the eight people who'll get them have been waiting in line since Tuesday.

Sweating out the line is the only catch. The cars have been completely reconditioned and are in good shape. The 99-centers have a retail value of $250. The 99-dollar jobs are worth about $500.

It's first-come-first-served. You can't sell your spot in line, you can't have a refund, and you get only 15-minute breaks.

First to show at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday was James Stewart, an unemployed factory worker.

Stewart, who says he'll take one of the 99-cent cars, stands to pick up $30 in bets from friends who say he won't stick it out.

All deals are strictly cash. Salesmen get a $15 commission on each sale.

Swede Thinks Problems Can Be Solved By Monorail

HOUSTON (AP)—An adventurous Swedish industrialist believes some of this country's transportation problems can be solved by the monorail—a passenger train operating from a single overhead rail.

Dr. Axel Wenner-Gren, 76, has put $500,000 into a monorail project and plans to invest further up to whatever amount it takes to put the project over.

Wenner-Gren purchased controlling interest in Monorail, Inc. of Houston Nov. 16. He said then he hoped to see the monorail "established in all major cities of the country."

Monorail, Inc. has produced only one unit so far—a one-coach, 4,000 foot system operating on the grounds of the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

The corporation expects to get its first real commercial project into production this year. A $16,500,000 New Orleans contract is under negotiations. Also under negotiation is a $3 million dollar Venezuelan contract, but this is somewhat uncertain at the moment because of the political situation there.

Monorail's plans are for trains of 60-passenger coaches transporting with safety and ease commuters over traffic jammed streets and highways.

Wenner-Gren owns the Swedish Electrolyx Co., which he founded in 1919. He has holdings in wood pulp industries, anti-aircraft firms, power stations and other electronic projects. He maintains homes in Sweden, Nassau and Mexico.

GOP Farm Expert Views Problems Like W. Texans

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who recently assumed the top position among Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee has views much in common with those of West Texans.

He is Rep. William Hill, once a school superintendent, whose large Colorado district is made up of mountains and plains north and east of Denver.

He moved up after the recent death of Rep. Andrew (R-Minn.) and will become chairman if his party wins house control.

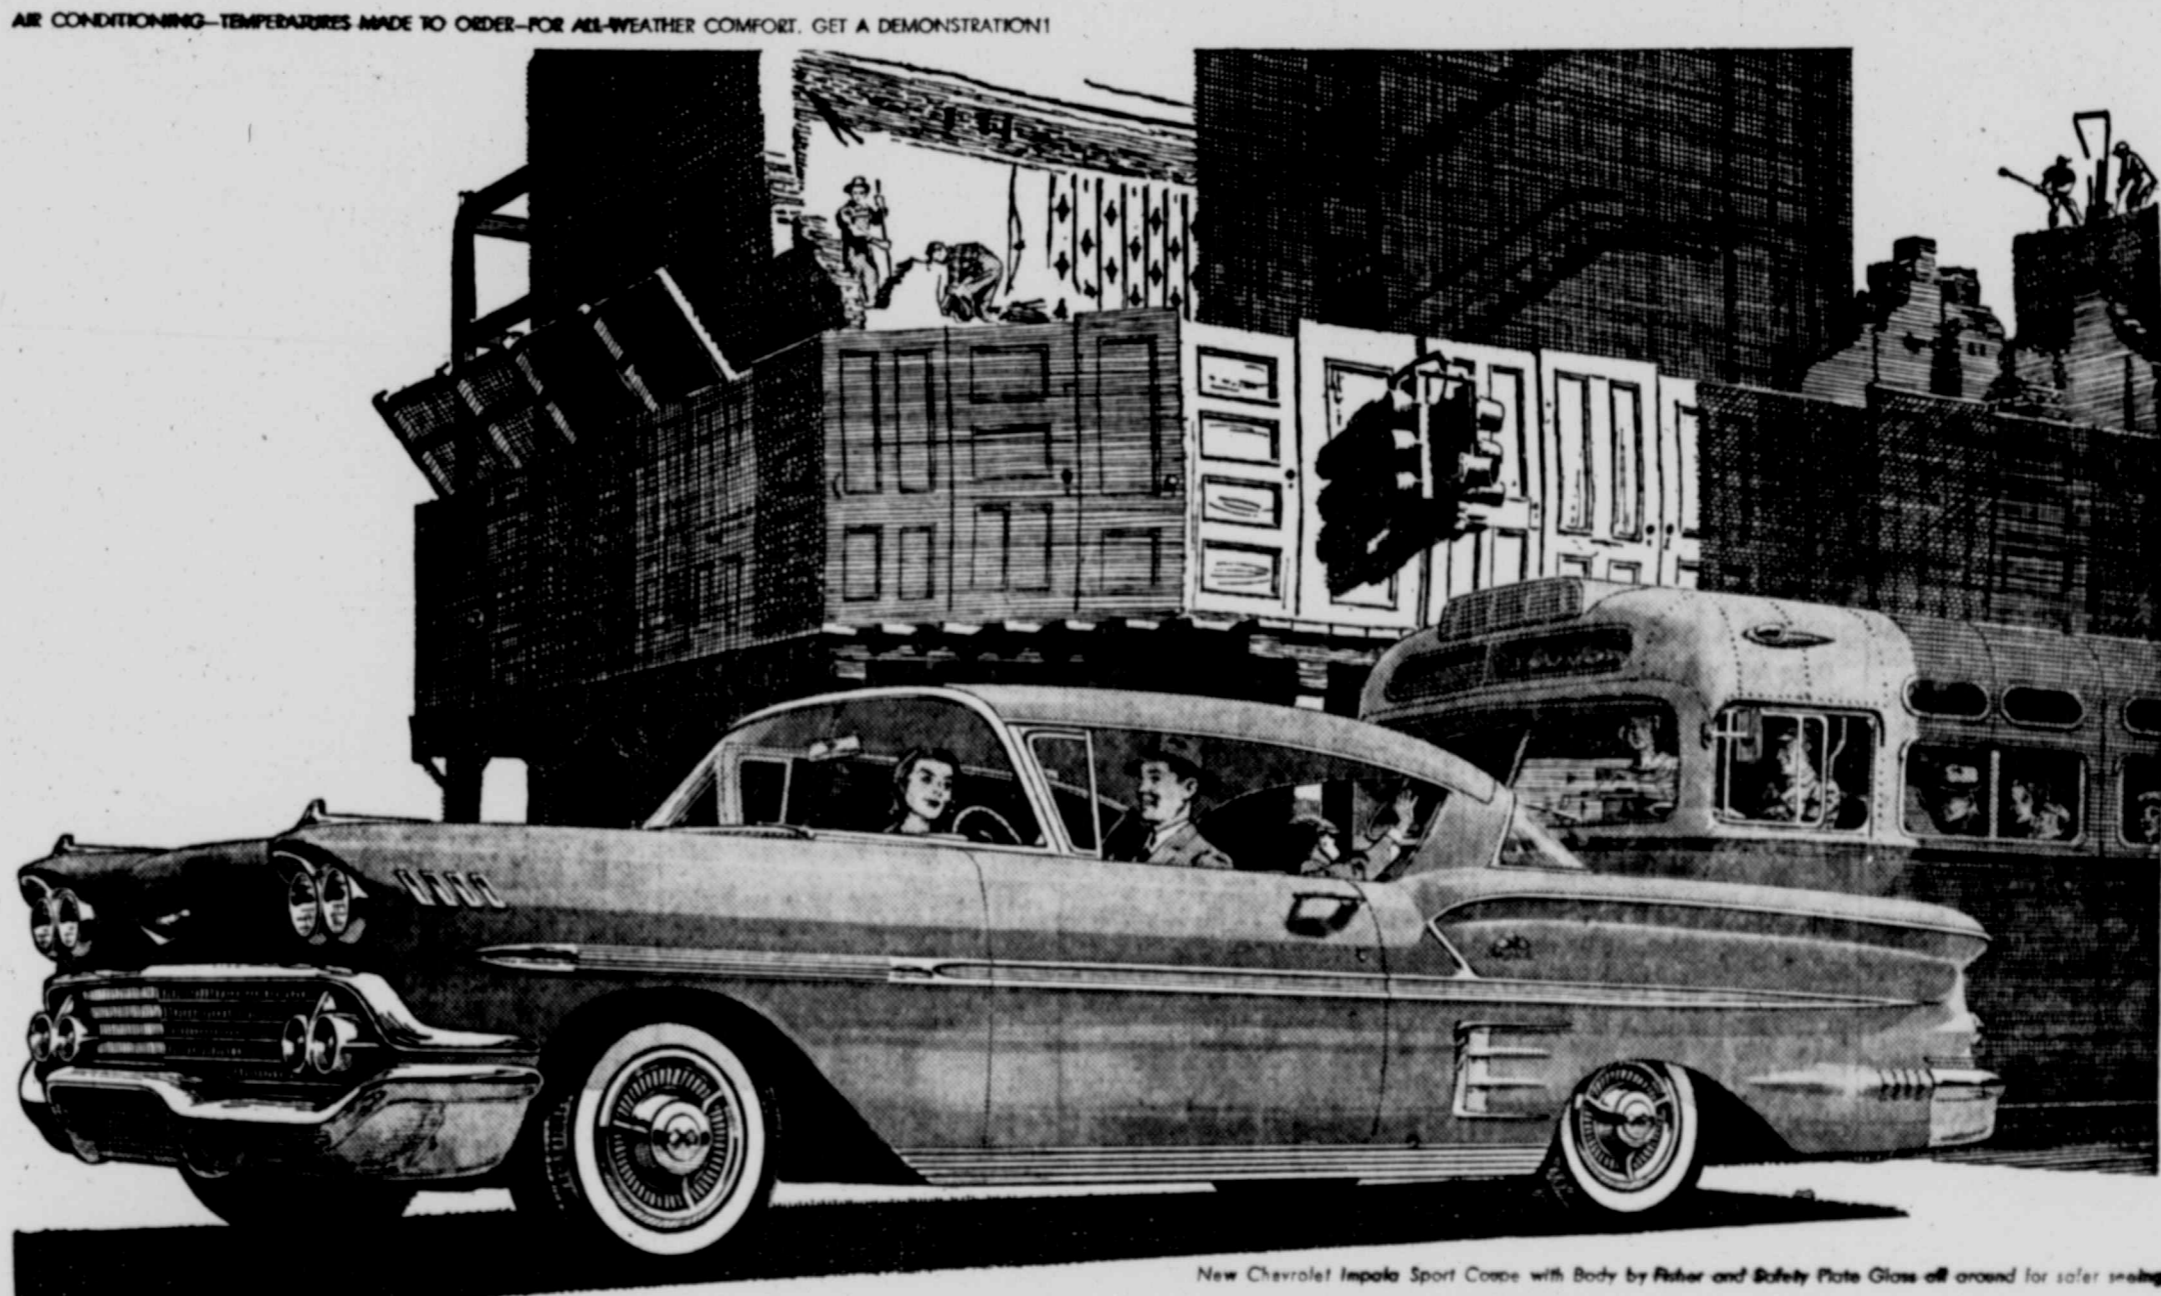

Over the 17 years he has been in Congress, he has supported cattle and range land programs. He is a friend of Texas' two Democratic members of the committee, Reps. W. R. Poage of Waco and Clark Thompson of Galveston, and usually sees eye-to-eye with them.

The Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham may become a focal point for researchers looking into the life and times of each of the speakers who have presided over the U.S. House since Muhlenberg assumed the post as the first one in 1789.

Rayburn was the 45th. H. G. Dolaney, the first director of the Rayburn Library which opened in October, has been here taking lessons in bookbinding and other crafts of the business at the U.S. archives.

A former Texas newspaperman who recently took over press relations for Sen. Yarborough has flown home to bring his family back to Washington.

He is Bob Bray, 33, a native of the Panhandle who has done reporting on papers in Pampa, Galveston, Amarillo, Austin and Houston—in that order.

Plans Made For District Meeting

The Hi-Y Council has made final plans for entertaining the district council meeting here Feb. 14-15.

This was the highlight of the Monday evening meeting of the local council.

In individual club activities, the Kappa Xi Tri-Hi-Y had a special program on YMCA resource material. Judy Carson was in charge and Kay McGilgibay gave the devotion.

Sophomore boys talked plans for hearting candy and urged whole-hearted membership participation.

A style show was discussed during the Seba Tri-Hi-Y girls meeting.

Sigma Delta concentrated on a short business session.

The Esquire club mapped its programs for the second semester, and the Iota Tri-Hi-Y also devoted its attention to program material.

Empty Tins—But Wiser

Empty tobacco tins confront Louis Simon, 71, after two men posing as detectives said his roommate, Joseph Marcus, 60, had been hit by a streetcar and they would have to search the room for an insurance policy because Marcus was in the hospital. Simon admitted them and they discovered Marcus' $12,000 life savings in six cans hidden in a suitcase. They said they'd take the cash to a Chicago police station and send a car to pick up Simon. They never did.

Educator Says Big Problem Is Quality, Not Quantity

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

One educator put it this way: "We won't launch any satellites by turning out a lot of students in science fields." "We may be turning out better ones." He is J. Cloyd Miller, a member of the New Mexico State Board of Education. He was discussing a tough new rule that will send most of the science teachers in his state back to school. Since the Russians successfully launched the first moon in October, Americans have been asking whether our educational system has failed, and if so where. An Associated Press survey carried the question across the country to educators at both the state and local levels. At the state level, it found signs of positive action and a wealth of ideas. Several states have taken steps to improve science teaching, broaden the scope of science courses and give talented students new opportunities to learn. Others are studying what needs to be done. Says Miller: "If they have been out a long while, they need refreshing in their fields. Science is something which doesn't stand still." New Mexico is seeking better teaching. This may be a natural thing. New Mexico first joined the atom age. The first A-bomb was tested there, and high priority installations dot the state.

The new rule that Miller mentions almost triples the amount of study a teacher needs to teach science. By Sept. 1, 1960, he says a science teacher must have 24 hours in laboratory courses, including eight hours of physics and one course each in chemistry and biology. Two years later, the minimum requirement will be 36 hours of science. "My idea is that if we'd had these strict requirements in the past—and could have gotten the teachers—we (the United States) would have been in a much better position today," says Miller, who also is president of New Mexico Western College.

T&P Credit Union Loans $1 Million

One of the fastest growing credit unions in this area is the Texas & Pacific Employees Federal Credit Union which last year loaned almost a million dollars. In consequence thereof, members have sliced a $29,119 melon in the form of a six per cent dividend and got a five per cent refund on interest payments they had made. This amounted to $2,967. The credit union also added to its reserves and put $11,000 to undivided profits. During 1957 a total of 1,856 loans were handled in the amount of $967,265.83. At the end of the year there were 811 loans outstanding for $565,739.72.

loans by a quarter of a million dollars. Since organization in 1947, the credit union has made 9,213 loans for $3,692,861.87. At the end of last year there were 1,172 shareholders who had $564,236.30 in shares. Members named C. W. Dickerson, R. C. Williams, A. J. Conrad Jr., D. D. Dyer, Doug Boyd, C. I. Wright Sr., and L. M. Tucker to the board; and Dickerson was named president, Williams vice president, Conrad treasurer and Dyer secretary. Those on the credit committee are R. C. Hill, chairman, H. D. Stanley, Doug Sadler, A. W. Page, and A. McCasland. On the supervisory committee are F. W. Jarratt, chairman, E. C. Arnold, and Walter Schattell.

Conoco Employees Credit Union Refunds Interest

The Conoco West Texas Federal Credit Union made a substantial gesture toward those who generated its business in 1957. At the annual meeting of the group, a six per cent interest refund was voted. The union modified dividends to 5 1/2 per cent in order to do this. Dividends agreegated $6,778.06 and the interest refund $757.04. During 1957 the credit union made 176 loans in the amount of $101,169.65. At the end of the year there were 144 loans outstanding for $123,555.44. There were 264 shareholders with shares worth $145,085.09.

BSE Union Sets Dividend

The BSE Credit Union, only one of the local credit unions operating under a state charter, has declared a 6 per cent dividend for the past year. This amounted to $2,293.20. In 1957 the credit union, which serves employees of Texas Electric Service Company, made 142 loans for $33,391.90. At the end of the year it had 100 loans outstanding in the amount of $49,791.32. Its 205 shareholders had $48,563.34 in shares.

Since the credit union was organized in April of 1949, a total of 1,414 loans have been made in the aggregate of $784,566.82. Named president of the credit union was C. L. Gooch, Forsan; L. C. Alston, Forsan, vice president; Mildred Olive, Big Spring, treasurer; A. A. Anders, Midland, W. M. Richardson, Ozona, J. B. Anderson, Forsan, and O. W. Fletcher, Forsan, directors. On the credit committee were C. J. Wise, G. F. Duncan and J. A. Underwood, all of Big Spring; the supervisory committee, M. H. Barber, Big Spring, W. H. Trumbo, Odessa, and J. D. Leonard, Big Spring.

Two Big Spring youths are among the 8,456 students at the University of Kansas at Lawrence. They are Robert Lee Hayes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hayes Sr., 1808 S. Monticello, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences and a chemistry major; and Don Wilson Durham, son of Mrs. Fern Durham, 1507-B Lincoln, a freshman engineering student.

C Of C Banquet Is Slated Friday At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet and installation of officers Friday night

Candidates May Now File Names For City Ballot

The city secretary is now prepared to take the name of anyone desiring to run for the City Commission. Three members of the commission end two-year terms this year, Curtis Drive, Roy Bruce and Dr. Lee O. Rogers. Bruce and Drive have served two terms, while Dr. Rogers has been on the governing body only one term. Citizens may file for a place on the ballot by contacting the city secretary, C. R. McClenny, at the City Hall. Deadline for filing is midnight on March 1, or 30 days prior to the election.

The city election is always held on the first Tuesday of April, which this year is the first day of the month. Installations will then be held the following Tuesday. The only requirements for becoming a candidate for the commission are that a person be 21 and a resident of the city two years. There are no restrictions concerning owning property of being a qualified voter, McClenny said. The three commissioners whose terms end in March have not made statements as to their intentions.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1958 SEC. B

Boys In The Back Room

Two boys and a girl in the back room of the old Historical Museum in City Park look over the damage wrought by two years of weather and neglect. The onlookers are members of the Big Spring Civic Theatre who participated in a weekend cleanup that began renovation of the structure and its conversion into a theatre. Left to right are Athol Atkins; Miss Rita Gale, Herald employee; and Sgt. Dewey Magee, of Webb AFB and president of the Civic Theatre.

The Sands Of Time

Magee illustrates the depth of dirt deposits in the museum building by writing "Big Spring Civic Theatre" in the dirt atop a glass showcase. The City Commission handed over the building to the theatre group after members of the defunct Historical Society had indicated their approval, and theatre members immediately began the gargantuan task of cleaning, wrapping, packing and removing the artifacts. The new city jail will house the artifacts until a more permanent home can be found for them.

Watch That Dust!

Matt Bertolini, Webb airman, and Mrs. Jo Bright clog Magee's nostrils with dust as they blow off two years' accumulation. The ancient magazines, located in the mezzanine, not only suffered from the dust — every time it rained, the leaky roof dripped water onto them. As a result, the pages in many of the magazines were hopelessly stuck together. The Civic Theatre plans to retain the original prairie atmosphere of the old museum building, ignoring more modern trends of chrome and plastic. Walls will be removed to provide space for an in-the-round auditorium.

Scout Programs Of Wesley Church To Be Coordinated

Coordination of activities in the church's Scouting program was tightened at the regular monthly Scouters Breakfast at Wesley Methodist Church Tuesday. Twenty-six men representing Pack No. 9, Troop No. 9 and Post No. 9 attended.

The Rev. C. W. Parmenter named Tommy Lovelace, the troop committee chairman, to be the coordinator for the Scouting activities of the church. He will work with the troop pack and post leadership. Lester Goswick is head of the Cub organization; E. Donald Campbell has re-organized the post and will act as the Explorer leader, assisted by Rodney Roberts, Eugene Campbell and Jim Ferguson; and Charles Rathmell is in charge of the troop, having added D. D. Johnston as the committeeman in charge of outdoor activities.

The church has acquired a 30-passenger bus which will be utilized in church and Scout activities.

Army Pays For Girard Error

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Army claims officer today delivered $29,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman William S. Girard shot to death.

Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haefele, Nocona, Tex., added 604 yen ($1.40) of his own to bring the payment of "consolation money" to a round 630,000 yen. Then he knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the mud to put flowers on her grave.

Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court given a three-year suspended sentence and sent home to Illinois for discharge. He claimed the killing was a mistake. The court decided he fired on a "childish whim."

Special Education School Outgrowing Its Facilities

A suggestion that Big Spring's Special School be moved to the former Central Ward building on the junior high campus has been made by S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent and curriculum director for the Big Spring school system.

Anderson said that the school already is in need of another teacher, and when the new special education unit is added the former South Ward building will be filled to capacity. Utilization of the last room for class purposes also will leave the special education program without a lunchroom or general purpose room, he said.

The Special Education School now has class units, serving about 45 handicapped children, Anderson said. He said additional pupils are expected to enroll, and an additional teacher is being sought.

Proximity of the former Central Ward building to the junior high will be advantageous to the special education program as it is extended to serve junior high students, the official pointed out.

He said a new state program of special education is being mapped and is expected to provide training in the vocational field as the handicapped students reach the junior high and high school levels.

Anderson also suggested that incentive be provided for additional teachers to enter the special education field, either in the form of a higher salary schedule, or salary adjustments in conjunction with scholarship grants to encourage instructors to qualify themselves for work in the field.

$3,000 Asked As Wreck Damages

Georgetown Oil Mill Co. has been named defendant in a damage suit which seeks $33,290. The case was filed Tuesday afternoon in the 118th District Court.

Plaintiff is W. H. Graham and his wife, Delma Graham.

The suit is the outgrowth of a two-car collision which occurred on Nov. 27, 1957, at an intersection on U. S. Highway 80.

According to the petition, Mrs. Graham was driving her car and sought to make a turn off U. S. 80. She claims she was rammed from the rear by a truck-trailer owned by the defendant company and driven by Jessie Calvin Chambers.

As a result of the accident, the plaintiffs contend that Mrs. Graham suffered permanent injuries. They ask for $33,290 damages.

Relaxing Coffee Break

Jack Hendrix, just in from his piano classes at HJCC, gladly accepts a cup of steaming coffee from his wife. After a busy day, the pair prepares to relax to the music emanating from their hi-fi set.

Secret Of Homemade Bread Lies In Kneading, Says Mrs. Hendrix

To those who are reluctant to try recipes which call for yeast, Mrs. Jack Hendrix would issue a gentle "double dare." Hot breads are quite easy to make, she insists, but the secret lies in the kneading. The more the dough is kneaded, the lighter it becomes. She also issues the warning to be certain "the dough is doubled in size each time it is worked. From her recipe, which is given below, one can make either two loaves of bread or two dozen rolls. And the beauty of it is that the dough can be stored and used only as needed.

YEAST BREAD

Dissolve 1 yeast cake in 2 cups lukewarm water. Add 4 Tbsp. sugar, 4 Tbsp. melted shortening and 2 tps. salt. Then add 7 to 8 cups flour to make a stiff dough. Toss on a lightly floured board and knead. Place in a greased bowl, cover and allow to rise until double in bulk. Cut down and knead. Shape into loaves or rolls, let them rise double in size, then bake in a slow oven, 350 degree. This dough can be kept in the refrigerator for several days. Make out rolls as needed. Makes 2 loaves of bread or 24 rolls.

SLAW

- 2 cups cabbage
1 cup carrots
1 cup celery
1 cup green pepper
1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup sugar
2 drops Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. grated onion (optional)
1/2 cup pimiento

This recipe makes generous servings for eight.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

- Sift together 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 3 Tbsp. cocoa and 1 tsp. salt; set aside. Add 2 cups sugar gradually to 1/2 cup shortening, creaming well.

Blend in 3 unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Combine 1 tsp. soda with 1/2 cup milk; add gradually to creamed mixture, beating well. Add dry ingredients all at once; mix until blended. Stir in 1 cup boiling water until well blended.

Pour into 13 x 9 x 2 inch pan, well greased and lightly floured on the bottom only. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 40 to 50 minutes. Cool and frost.

FRUIT-NUT FROSTING

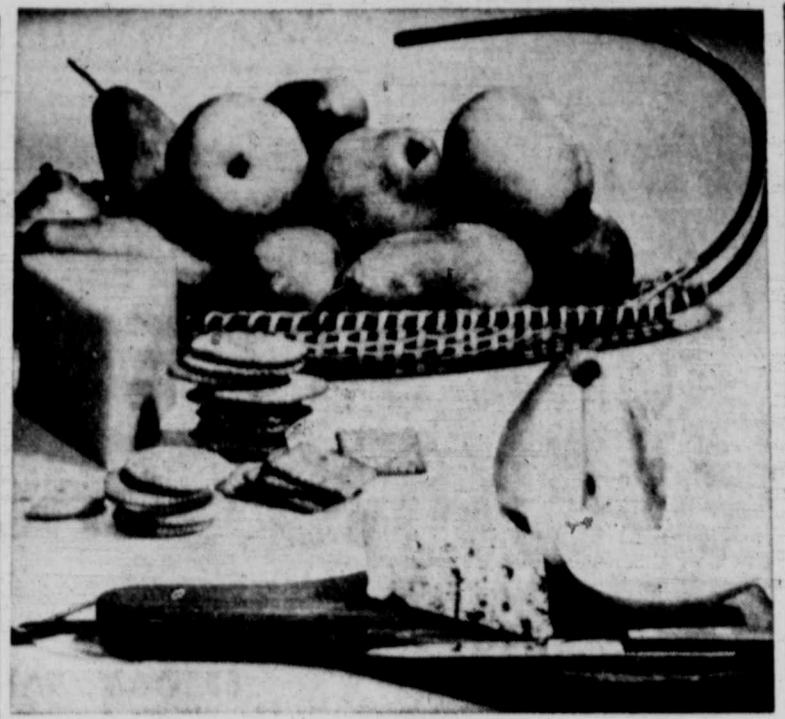

Combine 3 egg yolks and 2.3 cup sugar; beat until thick and lemon colored. Pour into heavy saucepan. Add 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine and 1/2 cup white raisins. Bring to boil and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened, about 5 minutes.

Add 1/2 cup coconut and 1/2 cup nuts, chopped. Spread immediately.

Mashed Potatoes Used In Rolls Make Them Fluffy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Some rainy afternoon, when you have to spend time indoors, roll up your sleeves and do some yeast baking. If you've never used yeast and feel a little timid, ask a more experienced neighbor to come over and lend a hand. Kneading and shaping may be done successfully by following written directions, but it is always helpful to see how an experienced baker handles the dough.

Pears With Cheese

For dessert in the continental manner, serve fresh winter pears accompanied by pungent cheese.

SWEET MOUNTAIN ROLLS

Ingredients: One cup milk, 1 cup hot mashed potatoes, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 2 eggs, 5 to 6 cups sifted flour, red jam. Method: Scald milk; stir in hot mashed potatoes, shortening, sugar and salt; let stand until lukewarm.

part of your palm that is nearest your wrist; use both hands. Third step: Grasp the dough with both hands and turn one-quarter way around on the board; repeat these three steps.

TESTING YEAST DOUGH

The time it takes yeast dough to double in bulk will vary with the temperature of the room, the amount of yeast used, the type of flour used and upon the other ingredients in the recipe. To test whether dough has doubled its original size, press two fingers deep into it; if the holes remain when fingers are withdrawn, the dough has probably doubled in bulk.

Fish Steak Platter

Bake fish fillets or steaks on an oven-proof platter, basting with butter or margarine. Then swirl an edging of mashed potato around them and brown under the broiler. Drained cooked peas may then be added to the platter, along with lemon wedges, and you'll have a main course in one dish.

Frozen Desserts

Frozen desserts need mellowing! Their texture and flavor will usually be improved if they are left in the freezing compartment for some time before they are served, but at a slightly warmer temperature than that used for freezing.

'What Can I Have For Dinner?' Here Are Several Suggestions

- There is certainly one daily problem which homemakers have in common. It's that universal question, "What can I have for dinner?" Most folks enjoy variety and variety in food is no exception. With a housewife who is willing to experiment and a cooperative family to stand ready to cheer her efforts, the battle is two-thirds won. Here are some tested and approved recipes for you to try in your own kitchen.

- SPANISH RICE MEAT: 1 lb. ground beef, 1 tsp. shortening or drippings, 1 cup diced onion, 1/2 cup diced green pepper, 1 4-oz. can mushrooms and juice (optional), 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup rice, 2 1/2 cups tomatoes, 2 tps. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper. Brown meat in shortening or drippings in frying pan. Add other ingredients. Simmer until rice is tender, about 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

- LAMB PATTY-PINEAPPLE: 1 lb. ground lamb, 4 slices bacon, 4 pineapple slices. Shape ground lamb into 4 patties 1 inch thick. Wrap patty with bacon, fastening bacon with picks. Arrange patties and pineapple slices on broiler rack. When patties are brown, lay brown side down on pineapple slices and finish cooking. Makes 4 servings.

- FRANKFURTER PIE: 1 lb. frankfurters, sliced 1/4-inch thick, 1 onion, chopped, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 3/4 cup chopped celery, 3 tps. butter or margarine, 2 1/2 tps. enriched flour, 1 1/4 cups milk, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes, Brown frankfurters, onion, green pepper and celery in butter or margarine. Blend in flour. Add milk and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and seasonings. Pour into a greased 8-inch casserole and top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

- JELLIED MEAT LOAF: 1/2 pound liver sausage, 1 envelope gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 2 1/2 cups tomato juice, 2 tps. sugar, 2 tps. lemon juice, 1 tsp. clove, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 tsp. dry mustard, 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1/4 cup chopped stuffed olives, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 1 head lettuce, shredded, Paprika. Rub liver sausage through a sieve. Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat 1/4 cup tomato juice just below boiling. Dissolve gelatin in tomato juice. Combine gelatin with remaining tomato juice, sugar, lemon juice, clove, salt and pepper. Cool until mixture begins to thicken.

- SAVORY VEAL STEAKS: 1 1/2 lbs. veal shoulder steaks, 2 tps. flour, 1 1/2 tps. salt, 1 1/2 tps. dry mustard, 2 tps. shortening or drippings, 2 onions, sliced, 1 cup water, 1 small can evaporated milk or 1 cup top milk. Mix dry ingredients and pound into meat. Brown steaks on one side in hot shortening or drippings. Sprinkle with remaining flour mixture. Turn and brown on other side. Cover with onions. When second side is brown, add water, cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours, or until tender. Remove meat to platter. Add milk to drippings, heat thoroughly and serve as sauce with meat. Makes 6 servings.

- Turmeric For Color: Turmeric is sometimes used instead of saffron in yeast dough and sauces to give a pretty pale golden color. It is the root of a plant of the ginger family and is always used in curry powder. For Good Bisque: Whether it's Lobster, Crab or an Oyster Bisque you are making just a pinch of poultry seasoning added to the soup points up enough flavor to make a difference.

- Individual Pot-Roasts: 3 lbs. cross-cut beef shanks, 1/4 cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 3 tps. shortening, 1 cup water, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut. Have shank slices cut 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick. Dredge with flour, seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown slowly on all sides in hot shortening or drippings. Add water, cover closely, and let simmer 2 to 2 1/2 hours or until done. Add more water as needed. Half an hour before the meat is done, add sauerkraut and continue cooking. Serve sauerkraut on hot platter with the cross-cut beef shanks on top. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Vary Spaghetti Dish: Tomato sauce, with meat added, is delicious on spaghetti; but don't forget that tuna fish, minced canned clams or anchovies may substitute for the meat for flavor changes.

Flying Platform To Space Predicted

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists will soon have a flying platform to peer over the edge of space, an Air Force balloon researcher said today.

Nothing Unusual

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A thief snatched a large corduroy handbag from a woman. Police asked her to submit a description of the bag and its contents. She did. The list covered four hand-written pages.

Accelerated Education 'A School Man's Dream'

Requirements for what is described as "a school man's dream"—an accelerated program of education for "gifted children"—have been outlined by S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent and curriculum director for the Big Spring school system.

It will require: 1. Additional testing, counseling and guidance at all levels of the school system; 2. Increased math and science offerings at junior and senior high school levels; 3. Better science laboratories in junior high school and providing biology teachers and biology laboratories in junior high, along with improvement of high school laboratories; and 4. Provision for more foreign language in both junior and senior high school, probably including French and German (only Latin and Spanish are now offered).

mand for more and better scientists arose in the wake of the Russian Sputniks. Pressures for such a program have been increasing on a local level, also, the assistant superintendent reported.

Several Texas schools have begun development of enriched programs for gifted students in recent months, among them Dallas and San Angelo, Anderson said. No estimate has been made as to eventual cost of the accelerated training.

cribe the accelerated training as the "top rail" of a "three-rail" curriculum. Other rails, he said, are the regular academic offerings which most students prefer and the special education program inaugurated here last fall for physically and mentally handicapped youngsters.

New Lodge Contributing To Community Activities

By BOB SMITH
The Big Spring lodge, Supreme Order of Moose, is only a few months old, but it already has begun making contributions to the community.

Tonight, members of the Moose lodge will help patrol city streets during the Mothers March on Polio. Friday night, the lodge will sponsor its first teen-age dance at the clubhouse.

Lewis Heflin, chairman of the polio volunteers, has asked all volunteers to meet at the lodge at 6:30 p. m. for final briefing. The Moose will ride two to a car on patrol in the Washington Place and Monticello areas to provide protection for the marching mothers as they collect funds for the March of Dimes.

National Guardsmen will patrol other sections of the city. Some of the mothers, it was reported, had been bothered in previous Marches.

The regular meeting of the Moose lodge has been moved back to 8:30 p. m. tonight to allow volunteer patrolmen to get back to the clubhouse on time.

The first teen-age dance is aimed at giving Big Spring young people a help at finding good, clean recreation. Applications were sent to all high school students, and cards were issued to those teen-agers who returned the applications signed by parents.

Bill Sawyers, committee chairman, said 5 p. m. today is the deadline for signing up for the Moose Teen Club. He may be contacted at the Men's Store.

No youths will be admitted into the clubhouse Friday evening without the cards, Sawyers said. He added that the youths will be required to check in and out.

The dance starts at 8 p. m. Another initiation will be held at the lodge at 1:30 p. m. Sunday. Officers urged applicants for membership in the Moose lodge to appear for initiation.

They are nicknamed "Little Joe," "Big Joe" and "Joe Louis," and the biggest of them reportedly can throw a half-pound metal dart.

So reported a staff memorandum for the House Government Information subcommittee today as Chairman Moss (D-Calif.) made public a letter about the matter to Secretary of Defense McElroy.

Dr. Wallace R. Brode, science adviser to Secretary of State Dulles, testified last week that official secrecy still shrouded results of some bow and arrow experiments directed as a sideline during World War II by a scientist who was an archery enthusiast. He gave no details.

The House committee said the work was done by Dr. Paul E. Klopsteg, now assistant director of the National Science Foundation. It said his reports first were classified "restricted," the lowest level, but were raised to "confidential" when the restricted classification was abandoned.

Then, tongue in cheek, the staff memorandum said the House group has received comments that the bow and arrow study is being kept secret because such may be the only weapons left after an atomic attack. Or perhaps it was classified in connection with the recent Indian assault on a North Carolina Klan meeting, it said.

No Hot Seat Here!

It's seventy degrees below zero in this cold room at the huge United States Testing Company laboratories in Hoboken, N. J., as a set of plastic auto seat covers undergoes temperature tests. The 78-year-old testing organization conducts scientific tests on thousands of products submitted by both manufacturers and users to check merchandise quality and the validity of advertising claims.

Testing Processes Prove Many Products

What's on your shopping list this week? Beverages? A refrigerator? Spices? Shoes? A new suit? A sewing machine? Seat covers for your car? A mattress for Junior's bed? Paint for the house?

No matter what you need to buy, if you're like most folks, you can't afford to waste money on products which will not deliver the service you've paid out your hard earned money to get. The big question in your mind will be, "How can I be sure I'll get my money's worth?"

The best bet, generally speaking, is on products that are advertised regularly. There are good reasons why the brands which you see advertised regularly are the best buys.

The major advertiser, before offering his product, will have invested heavily in plant and distribution facilities. He cannot afford to endanger this investment by offering goods which will not stand up under consumer use. To assure continuing consumer acceptance of the products that bear the company's name, the manufacturer usually puts them through repeated tests before he offers them for sale.

Most manufacturers of widely advertised brands have laboratories of their own which test the products they make. However, just as it is difficult for parents to see some of their own children's shortcomings, it is sometimes difficult for manufacturers to evaluate their own products. As a result, several large independent testing and product research companies have developed to give both manufacturers and consumers the advantages of impartial laboratory tests of practically every type product on the American market today.

Oldest and largest of the testing and research organizations serving industry and commerce is the huge United States Testing Company, United States Testing Company, United States Testing Company has its main laboratories in Hoboken, New Jersey and maintains branch laboratories in 14 other cities in the United States and four cities in Canada. The company has four laboratories in Texas, at Dallas, San Angelo, Lubbock and Brownsville.

A group of commodity importers established the United States Testing Company in 1880 for the purpose of evaluating the materials in which they traded. The services offered by this first laboratory were so satisfactory that manufacturing and industrial firms soon began to ask the company to test their raw materials and their finished products.

Realizing the need for broad testing services in an era when standards were practically nonexistent, and when there was little, if any, governmental supervision, the company's founders began to add facilities in the fields of chemistry, engineering, microbiology and physics.

At one time or another practically every conceivable type of commodity and product is submitted to the United States Testing Company for tests, by seller or buyer, manufacturer or user. Regardless of the interest of the individual, company or organization submitting the product, the company's independent, impartial position remains the same.

While it is easy to make claims for merchandise in advertising copy, the alert manufacturer is aware that it is important that these claims be backed up by scientific checks on both the production line and on the open market. He knows that poor performance, after claims of high quality, will cause his product eventually to be dropped by the public.

If a product tested by the United States Testing Company meets its rigid laboratory and performance tests, and if the advertising claims for it are valid, the product may carry the United States Testing Company Certified Seal of Quality.

To merit the Certified Quality Seal, the manufacturer undergoes a thorough investigation, both plant and raw materials are checked and samples from the production line and from retailer shelves in various parts of the country are rigorously tested. Only a small percentage of the products tested by the United States Testing Company are granted the Certified Quality seal.

After the product has been given the Certified Seal it must continue to meet close inspection to warrant use of the seal in its advertising. To make sure this quality is maintained, representatives of the United States Testing Company make regular purchases of the certified products on the open market. Daily in-plant inspection by testing company personnel is made of the product as it comes off the production line.

Schoolman Suicide Called Result Of Prosecution Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—Top school officials say a junior high school principal may have killed himself because a grand juror threatened him with indictment. The foreman of the jury denies the charge.

The accusation came yesterday at funeral services for George Goldfarb, 55, principal of Brooklyn John Marshall Junior High School.

On Tuesday, Goldfarb leaped from the roof of his apartment house at the time he was to make his third appearance before the Brooklyn grand jury. The panel is probing crime and juvenile delinquency in the public schools.

Charles H. Silver, president of the City Board of Education, told newsmen at Goldfarb's last rites that the school principal had been threatened with indictment and "this probably caused him to take his life. He was very worried."

No indication was given on what charge Goldfarb could have been indicted. A continuous public patrol was established both inside and outside the school, where a 13-year-old girl was raped 10 days ago, a policeman on duty outside the school was roughed up, and a recreational teacher was assaulted inside the school.

The rape assailant, whom the white girl identified as a Negro, escaped. Three Negro youths were arrested in the policeman and teacher assaults. However, the teen-age hoodlums were not John Marshall students.
