Railroads, Passengers Are Learning To Live Separately

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The railroads and their passengers are learning to live without each other.

This may be the most significant development in transportation in this generation. It reflects as a profound revolution as the passing of the Comstock wagon, the canal barge or the river packet.

Some railroads still fight hard for passenger traffic, and get it. Some railroad presidents still think they'll be able to maintain passenger service despite the airplane and automobile. There are voices crying in a wilderness of despair.

The railroads won't be able to withdraw entirely from the passenger-carrying field in the years immediately ahead. Public regulation won't let them. Yet the flight from the passenger field gathers momentum each year, almost each month.

Railroad after railroad is cutting back. Here are a few recent moves:

The New York Central is petitioning to end its passenger run between Indianapolis and St. Louis. The Baltimore & Ohio wants to withdraw from the Baltimore-New York run. The New Haven has cut off 20 trains between New York and Boston and New Haven and Springfield.

The Katy ran its last train into Houston last November. The Western Maryland has discontinued its last passenger run in Maryland, two trains between Baltimore and Hagerstown. The Frisco has abandoned its passenger line between Tulsa and Enid, Okla.

TO RETIRE FOUR

The Illinois Central wants to discontinue four of its six daily trains between Chicago and St. Louis. The Erie and Ohio has asked to consolidate its two crack Chicago-St. Louis trains. Twenty-six passenger trains were discontinued in Wisconsin last year.

On Jan. 16 the Pennsylvania eliminated two trains between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Ten days later the Erie dropped two trains between Cleveland and Youngstown.

And so it goes all over the United States.

Herbert Conover, assistant manager of the Cincinnati terminal, sees fewer and fewer passenger trains each day. "During the war years," he says, "100 trains arrived and departed this terminal each day."

In 1947 the railroads operated an average of 169,647 miles in passenger service. In 1956—the last date for which the figure is available, and before the drastic pruning—this average had dropped 27.8 per cent to 115,907 miles.

In the first nine months of 1957, passenger mileage on trains totaled 20,033,217,541, a stunning 43 per cent the 35,190,414,669 in the same months of 1947.

In 1946 railroads handled 66.2 per cent of all for-hire intercity passenger mileage, buses 25.6 per cent, airlines 5.9 per cent and inland waterways 2.3 per cent. In 1956—latest figures—it was 36.1 per cent for the rails, 32.0 for the buses, 29.5 for the airlines and 2.4 per cent for inland waterways.

Intercity passenger traffic carried by private automobile in 1946 amounted to 233,570,000,000 passenger miles. In 1956, it was 617,700,000,000.

"There seems to be no way to influence a person who wants to fly to use the train, nor have we found a way to cause the automobile driver to use the train," says C. E. Peterson, vice president in charge of passenger traffic and public relations of the Southern Pacific.

Merger is in the air for railroads. The biggest study now going on, of course, is that of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, the two largest railroads from the standpoint of capitalization—but not profits.

There are now about 130 Class 1 railroads in the United States. John Budd, president of the Great Northern, says, "I wouldn't be surprised to see the number of Class 1 roads cut in half in my lifetime." He's 50.

Robert MacFarlane, president of the Northern Pacific, thinks consolidation "into a limited number of strong competitive systems—say 25 or 30—would be in the public interest." Alfred Perlman, president of the New York Central, says, "There is most certainly no further need for 130 Class 1 railroads in this country."

COMPUTER TRAFFIC

With mergers, consolidations and abandonments as the solution in intercity traffic, what will happen to commuter traffic?

Two approaches have come to the fore. One is offered by George Alpert, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, which is second to the Long Island in the percentage of passenger traffic to total traffic.

Alpert wants some sort of subsidy for commuter business. He has asked the Massachusetts Legislature to set up a form of public authority which, in essence, would provide the subsidy. He has also advocated diversion of 1 per cent of public highway funds to subsidize commuter service.

Another tack has been taken by the New York Central, which contends railroads should be treated as private enterprises and therefore get a return of 6 per cent on capital investment.

In furtherance of this policy the Central's subsidiary, the Boston & Albany, has asked the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities for permission to increase all fares on its Boston commuter service a flat 7 1/2 cents, regardless of distance traveled.

TOMORROW: How cities are trying to meet problems created by the greater use of automobiles in downtown areas.

Slogan for the meetings is "Better Agriculture for West Texas as Tomorrow." Howard County farmers and ranchers are being urged to attend the Big Spring conference and Mitchell County agriculturalists are invited to the Colorado City gathering.

Of course, farmers from neighboring counties will be welcome to attend either of the conferences, sponsors said. Business operators also will be urged to hear the discussions which are to be led by some of the state's leading agricultural authorities.

Schedule of speakers, their topics and time of the addresses includes:

C. B. Spencer, Dallas, educational director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association. "The Future of Cotton," 10:30 a. m.

Paul Marion, superintendent of the Spur Agricultural Experiment Station. "Utilization of Home Grown Feed for Livestock," 11 a. m.

Charles Casebolt, Lubbock, West Texas representative for the DeKalb Agricultural Association. "Grain Sorghum and Its Problems," 11:30 a. m.

Attacked

Mrs. Evelyn Currie, 35-year-old animal trainer, fixes her hair as she recovers in a Chattanooga, Tenn., hospital after she was attacked by a lion and tiger while performing before 1,000 spectators. She was saved from death by her mother and husband who diverted the animals' attention long enough to get Mrs. Currie from the cage.

Dogs Strike Fear Into Punks

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Nothing strikes the fear of the law into punks, Baltimore's Police Department is convinced, like a dog triggered to snarl, pursue, leap and bite.

The department found, for example, that two patrolmen accompanied by dogs could keep order in a throng of rock 'n' roll devotees after a show or a dance where formerly eight burly officers were required.

The department's K9 Corps—21 carefully trained German Shepherds—has taken over in some of the city's worst trouble spots for the last year. The results have been interesting, and has brought inquiries from other cities—including New York and Richmond, Va.

When Police Commissioner James Hepbron recently released his report on the city's crime rate in 1957, it showed a drop of 6 1/2 per cent from the previous year. Hepbron said the deterrent effect of the K9 Corps had a lot to do with the improved crime picture in Baltimore.

It showed up particularly well in categories where a patrolling dog puts a scare into would-be law breakers, like purse snatchers and automobile thieves. Purse snatchings were down from 286 to 192 and auto theft from 6,182 to 4,836.

HOMEMAKER IN MOSCOW

Ingenuity Turns Militaryman Into An Unwilling Babysitter

EDITOR'S NOTE: With time out for a return to the States when her youngest child arrived last spring, Elizabeth Essoyan has lived in Moscow with her husband—AP Correspondent Roy Essoyan—since December, 1955. She reports here on what housekeeping is like for an American family in Russia.

By ELIZABETH ESSOYAN
MOSCOW (AP)—Keeping house in Moscow follows a system all its own—but with a little bit of luck and ingenuity you can sometimes make the system work for you.

If you're caught without a babysitter, for instance, you can park the baby carriage under the militiaman's nose downstairs and go back to your household chores.

A militiaman—civilian policeman—guards the door of every Western residence in Moscow 24 hours a day. Babysitting isn't part of his official duties, but so long as the baby isn't old enough to crawl out of the carriage and stalk off there isn't much the militiaman can do but watch it.

Russians on the street are not only friendly, they're solicitous. Some seem to think Americans shouldn't be let out alone, especially the flighty tourist types who venture outdoors bareheaded and in high heels in 40 below zero temperatures.

FRIENDLY RUSSIANS
I usually bundle myself up to the ears but I've been stopped on the street dozens of times, when I have one or both the children with me, by anxious Russian grandmothers who insist I'm freezing my children to death.

Russians swaddle their children in dark heavy woolen blankets. Light weight nylon snowsuits, worse still, the snowsuits are a summery pink and baby blue. To a Russian, they couldn't possibly be warm.

I've had Russian nannies snatch Catherine, my 2-year-old, out of my arms, wrap her up stiff as a board in the extra blanket I carry, and return her to me with a stern but triumphant lecture.

SMALL APARTMENTS
Americans, and all Westerners in Moscow, live in apartments assigned to them by the Soviet government—if they're lucky. Many are still living in hotel rooms, families and all.

The apartments are small by U. S. standards, three rooms for our family of four. By Russian standards this is luxury. Three average Russian families of equal size would ordinarily occupy our apartment.

The apartments come bare—a thin porcelain sink and a four-burner gas stove in the kitchen, no cupboards or shelves. Another one-faucet sink and a tub is in the bathroom. Hot water comes from a gas geyser especially installed over the tub.

In the kitchen, a cauldron simmering on the stove is your hot water supply.

Westerners in Moscow import most of their food according to an import quota set by the Soviet government. Meat, eggs, fruit and vegetables, however, are bought on the Russian market, either from state stores or from the farmer in open-air bazaars.

PRICES HIGH
Prices in state stores are controlled but high. In the bazaars they're even higher. The choice is a little less limited.

Food is not packaged. It's not even wrapped. Whether it's a scrawny chicken or a couple of kilos of beef, it's handed you across the counter, as is. Most Russians use old newspapers. I use a couple of American airline bags.

Once at the bazaar a grizzled old Russian fruit farmer measured out a kilogram of plums into my Pan-American World Airways flight bag. He saw the name on the bag, spelled it out laboriously and, with a start, asked in Russian, "You American?"

It was at the height of one of the official anti-American campaigns but I allowed as how I was American. He grinned a huge grin, reached into his barrel for another handful of plums and dumped them into my bag with a generous wash of his free hand.

Most Western correspondents manage a trip out of Russia, to Copenhagen or Stockholm, about once a year, to buy clothes for the family and other household items.

Because of the prices, limited stocks and poor quality of Soviet consumer goods, foreigners buy practically nothing in Russia, except food, not even a pair of socks.

TAKING CHANCES
Buying clothes a year or two ahead, especially for children, takes a gambler's streak.

Filipino Nurses Heard At District Meeting

Three Filipino nurses, who came last year to Big Spring in response to an advertisement they saw in The American Nursing Journal, were interviewed Tuesday night at the District 21 meeting of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association.

Bo Bowen conducted the interview of Esther Dagalea, Rosemarie and Romaulda Aberrilla, who are on the nursing staff at Big Spring Hospital. The trio pointed out that in the Philippine Islands so many girls want to become nurses that the demand cannot be accommodated.

In a general comparison, they spoke of their delight in the variety of foods served here. In the Philippines, fare is basically rice and fish. Their climate is temperate, which makes it difficult for them to adjust to the changeable weather of West Texas.

As their project for an additional year, the nurses association adopted the state hospital. From a table decorated in the Mardi Gras theme, a salad plate was served to 54. Towns represented were Kermit, Odessa, Pecos, Midland, Monahan, Post, Andrews and Big Spring.

'Birds' Is Subject For Gardeners
Native birds and their habits were discussed Tuesday morning for the Green Thumb Garden Club by Mrs. Hubert Stipp.

Mrs. E. B. McCormick was hostess for the members, who heard Mrs. Stipp describe birds found especially in Big Spring and Howard County; the speaker also told how to attract the birds to one's premises.

Mrs. Stipp recommended planting berryed shrubs and trees to provide food and nesting places; she also told the group of how important it is that water be furnished constantly in spots inaccessible to cats.

The next meeting is scheduled in March when Mrs. Lee Rogers will discuss rose culture. Hostess will be Mrs. Arch Carson, 110 Cedar Road.

Miss Honey Speaker For P-TA Council
The P-TA City Council heard a talk by Denise Honey Tuesday morning at the meeting in the tax office. Miss Honey, a student in Howard County Junior College, was presented a scholarship by the council.

It was announced that the total membership of the units is 2,206. The Mothers' March on Polio brought in $1215.15, members were told.

Plans were made for the Founders Day tea to be given Feb. 17 in the high school cafeteria. Named to a nominating committee were M. R. Turner, Mrs. Elvin Bearden, Mrs. Charles Sweet, Mrs. W. S. Goodlett and Mrs. H. H. Rutherford.

Jubilee Club Hears Doctor; Has Election
Members of the Jubilee Hyperion Club, meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Albert Smith, heard Dr. Carl Marcum speak concerning cancer. A film about the disease was shown by Mrs. Garner McAdams.

A slate of officers, who will assume their posts in May, was elected. Mrs. Conny Wade was named president and Mrs. S. T. Cheatham vice president. Also to serve are Mrs. L. D. Harris, recording secretary; Mrs. E. L.

Whately, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Raymond River, treasurer; and Mrs. J. G. Lewis, parliamentarian.

Table decorations emphasized the March of Dimes campaign, and a contribution of $21 was collected. At the center of the red linen cloth were crisp bacon with delicious dimes and spring blossoms and hung with red Valentines. MOD and a miniature crutch were traced in styrofoam.

Mrs. Smith and the cohostess, Mrs. Jimmy D. Jones, served refreshments to 20.

The home of Mrs. Lewis, Old San Angelo Hwy., will be the setting for the Guest Day Tea, at 2 p.m. March 4.

Cauliflower Takes To Tanga Cheese
For a light family lunch in the wintertime, try teaming a platter of crisp bacon with delicious creamed cauliflower. This recipe adds plenty of cheese.

CREAMED CAULIFLOWER
Ingredients:
1 medium sized head cauliflower
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. salt
Milk
4 tbsps. butter or margarine
4 tbsps. flour
1 cup coarsely grated cheddar cheese, loosely-packed

Method:
Trim heavy green leaves from cauliflower; separate into flowerets; wash in cold water; drain.
Cook rapidly in covered 10-inch skillet with the boiling water and the salt just until barely tender—7 to 10 minutes. Drain, reserving liquid; there will be about 1/4 cup.

Add enough milk to cauliflower liquid to make 2 cups. Melt butter in medium-sized saucepan over moderately low heat; stir in flour. Add milk mixture and cook and stir until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat; stir in 1/2 cup of the grated cheese until melted. Add drained cauliflower.

Turn into deep heat-resistant glass pie plate (9 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches) or similar shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup grated cheese. Reheat under broiler until sauce bubbles and top is touched with brown. Makes 6 servings.

N.Y. School Crime Program Mapped

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Education, with Mayor Robert F. Wagner's approval, has announced a program to curb crime in the city's schools. Every point in the program has been under public consideration before, including a key proposal that six more special schools be opened for disturbed youngsters. School violence flared anew. A 16-year-old white student said he was robbed of his wristwatch and 70 cents by a husky Negro boy on a third-floor stair landing of Manhattan's High School of Music and Art. In Brooklyn, a public librarian was pummeled by three Negro public school girls when the li-

White Girl Is Slashed By Negro Gang

CHICAGO (AP)—An 11-year-old white girl was beaten and brutally slashed by a gang of teen-age Negro boys as she walked to a South Side grocery last night. Four Negro boys were seized at their homes and were held by police for questioning. Police said one of the boys was wearing blood-stained shoes. The boys, police said, told conflicting stories. Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor directed some 230 detectives and patrolmen in a search for the attackers. Lt. Donald S. Keever said the girl was dragged through an alley to the rear of a building, stripped of her Brownie scout uniform, beaten and stabbed. He said "an unknown instrument, possibly a pop bottle," was used in the attack. Keever said there apparently was no rape. The girl was reported in "fair" condition at Englewood Hospital. Keever said a 15-year-old boy told police he saw a group of youths emerge from the alley and said they "walked away laughing." The boy provided the first name of one youth and the school he attended. Her mother said the girl gasped out the story of the attack and then collapsed. Her parents rushed her to the hospital. A hunting knife sheath, suitable for a six-inch blade, and a man's glove, apparently Army issue, were found at the scene, police said. The girl said four or five youths attacked her. Police described them as 14 to 15 years old and dressed in black jackets and blue jeans.

brarian accused one of using a forged book card. Meanwhile, several of the girls' boy schoolmates, also Negro, were stealing $1.50 from library "fine" money. The librarian, a white woman, suffered cuts on the neck and wrist. The girl who touched off the incident was arrested as a juvenile delinquent. The six proposed special schools would handle upwards of 1,200 pupils. Last week the Board of Education, in its budget request, asked for $500,000 for the schools. Five such schools are already in operation. The board also proposed expansion of attendance, guidance and counseling service and said teachers should be assured of full support "in the strict enforcement of reasonable disciplinary measures." The board asked New York state to provide additional correction facilities for minors who "require removal from normal society" and it called for immediate consideration of what to do with children convicted of delinquency who are returned to school on parole or probation. It was estimated that less than 1 per cent of the schools' regular enrollment of 950,000 makes up the hard core of delinquent pupils. The board's program made no mention of the heated dispute between the school system and a special Brooklyn grand jury investigating violence in Brooklyn schools. The president of City College, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, stepped into the controversy and accused the jury of furthering "hysteria" and "demagoguery." Rapes and assaults in and around school properties in Brooklyn involving both Negro and white pupils had aroused the jury. Referring to the suicide last week of George Goldfarb, principal of violence-torn John Marshall Junior High School in Brooklyn, Gallagher declared: "When a sensitive and compassionate person is driven to suicide it is time to call a halt to demagoguery." Goldfarb jumped to his death after appearing before the grand jury. The Board of Education has charged that a member of the jury threatened Goldfarb with an indictment on unspecified charges. The jury denied the charge. Gallagher's college is a municipal institution.

Texas Beer First To Be Certified By Quality Tests

SAN ANTONIO—Announcement has been made that Lone Star beer, produced in San Antonio, has become the nation's first Certified Quality beer. The designation was made by the United States Testing Company of Hoboken, N. J., world's largest independent testing and research laboratories, the company issuing the certification to Lone Star. This is a climax to efforts by Lone Star, to establish positive quality certification throughout the many steps of beer processing and packaging, said Harry Jersig, president of the company. "For the first time in brewing history, it is possible for the consumer to be absolutely certain that he is buying as fine a beer as can be brewed," said Jersig. "For the first time, a qualified independent testing laboratory has registered, analyzed, compared, verified and then certified the daily production runs of a major brewer. Now, each brew is registered by number, and after analysis and certification by the United States Testing Company, each registered brew is then packaged in bottles or cans which are stamped with the certification number of the brew from which they were filled." This, he said, is proof that beer quality has become an established fact.

Vanguard Failure Illustrates Touchiness Of Rocket Shoot

By VERN HAUGLAND
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—For one wonderful minute it seemed almost certain that a new baby moon was on its way to an orbit. But only for a minute. Harrowing moments later there was the possibility that the giant rocket might turn against the men who had launched it. That was how swiftly the scene changed at the ill-fated launching early today of the Navy Vanguard test vehicle. From the first everyone watching and waiting for the new attempt to launch the three-stage Vanguard, with the metallic grapefruit satellite in its nose, had his fingers crossed. Many of us had seen the last previous Vanguard attempt—Dec. 6—and in fiery ruin on the launching pad. We had seen what could happen within a complex container full of intricate devices, housing six propellants regulated by 600 valves. We were on top of a flat-roofed building inside the missile test center, only a mile and a quarter from the Vanguard stand. We could hardly have had a better view of the missile and still retained a reasonable degree of safety. Twenty minutes before launch time, now deferred to early morning, searchlights switched on and bathed the tall missile in brilliant light. From here the countdown went swiftly. There were only a couple of brief "holds," and then at 2:33 a. m. the familiar flash of fire. "It's off," someone shouted. The Vanguard is sluggish at the start. The missile experts worry about the first few seconds, until the missile is four feet off the ground and safely out of its launching basin. The Vanguard flight calls for it to climb straight up for 10 seconds, at the end of which time it would have climbed only 422 feet and would be traveling 61 miles an hour. GREAT THRUST This specific Vanguard rose smoothly in a great thrust of flame. Its engine roared deafeningly. At 10 seconds the white rocket tilted slightly toward the southeast, again as it had been outlined in advance. A full moon looked on. The hot yellow flame of the rocket paled the moonlight and illuminated the sky and the sandy beaches for miles around. Upward the missile climbed—40 seconds, 50 seconds. And then, about 20,000 feet off the ground, the huge tail of fire dipped suddenly, and shifted direction. "Something has gone wrong," a voice shouted. "She's going to explode." The missile twisted, then broke into two fiery torches, one much larger than the other. One, possibly consisting of the entire 44-foot first stage of the Vanguard, tumbled downward. "Look out," one newsmen yelled, "it's coming our way." Perhaps 3,000 feet from the ground both falling patches of flame flickered out in darkness. A second or two ticked by. Then two dull red flashes, as if from explosions, lighted the water three miles offshore. What was the trouble? None of the experts would say until after a study of photographs, charts and reports.

Pilot Foresees His Own Doom

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Veteran flier Paul N. Bell was speaking from long experience when he commented to his wife, Ann, about the difficulty of avoiding collisions. Bell, owner-operator of a flying service at nearby Santa Monica, made his remarks after hearing about the Norwalk aerial collision which killed 48 Saturday night. "It's almost an impossibility for a pilot to see another plane in time to avoid a collision," he told Mrs. Bell. "When two planes get in each other's way, the damage has already been done." Less than 17 hours later, Bell was one of five persons killed in the collision of two private planes over the Santa Ana Canyon, some 30 miles east of Los Angeles. His wife related his remarks about collisions.

Driver Education Course For Jr. High Pupils Slated

Plans for a junior high school driver education course, lecture portions of which will be presented at Howard County Junior College, were announced today by C. W. Tanner, junior high driver education instructor, and Dr. Marvin Baker, administrative aide at HCJC. Lectures will be presented this spring and the students will receive their driving instruction this summer, the officials said. The course will be limited to junior high pupils. Registration is scheduled for two days, March 1 and March 8, at HCJC. A fee of $10 will be payable at that time. Another $15 fee will be due when the driving instruction starts. Lectures will provide 30 hours of instruction with the classes to start at 7 and end at 8:30 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday, March 11 through May 13. Tanner will be the lecturer and classes will meet in the science lecture room at HCJC. Summer driving sessions of 3 1/2 weeks will be scheduled. Two junior high school and one HCJC driver education cars will be employed in the instruction. Junior high students will receive a half credit for successful completion of the training. Dr. Baker pointed out that the junior high training has no connection with the adult driver education course which starts at HCJC Feb. 15.

This is the only remaining item of any consequence, however. The engineer, Bill French, made a preliminary inspection Monday, and the contractor was making these corrections.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Job never settled anything, least of all in sports.

I know it's difficult to feel charitable toward officials and visiting teams when the breaks go against your side. At the same time, there is a price no man should want to pay for victory.

A host in an athletic contest is always on trial. He is saddled with the responsibility of protecting and fighting for the rights and privileges of his guests, even though he is, by every fair means possible, to wrest victory from them.

In the Odessa-Big Spring basketball game here recently, a near riot broke out on the floor at the end of the contest. If school officials and the police — alerted to expect just such a thing — had not been present, it could and would have been a lot worse.

The officials who worked the game were threatened. Had they been done bodily harm, we could have had time to repent at leisure — four or five days of leisure, during which our athletic teams would have been put in quarantine by the Texas Interscholastic League, declared unfit to mix and mingle with teams of other communities.

Granted the officials that night weren't experiencing one of their better games, it must be clear that they were forced to work under a severe handicap from the opening whistle. Not many of us would have had the courage to accept such an assignment in the face of so many obstacles.

The pressure that evening seemed to ooze up from the floor and grip the entire gym like a London smog. It never let up.

Regrettably, some people came to the gym armed with something besides their enthusiasm.

The arbiters were forced to pursue their chores while trying to dodge a variety of things projected their way from the stands and sidelines — objects like crushed paper and paper clips — bent in such a manner that they could cause the loss of an eye or painful hurt, if they chanced to hit their victims in exposed places.

Is someone going to have to suffer grave injury before the irrational element is called to account for its shortcomings?

Athletic relations between Odessa and Big Spring have degenerated during the past several years. Are they going to get worse before they get better?

A. C. Black, the tall Dallas youngster who enrolled at East Texas State College after leaving SMU, is no better than the fourth leading scorer on the East Texas basketball team this season.

Max Carey Fails To Gain Enough Support In Vote

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP)—No former major league player will join baseball's immortals in the Hall of Fame this year for the first time since 1950.

Secretary-Treasurer Hy Hurwitz announced that the Baseball Writers Assn. of America failed to give any former player 75 per cent of the total vote necessary for election.

Nobody even came close. With 266 ballots cast by 10-year members of the association, 199 votes was the minimum for election.

Max Carey, a base-stealing star for Pittsburgh and Brooklyn from 1910 through 1929, topped the list with 136 votes. He was followed by Edd Roush, former New York Giant and Cincinnati outfielder, who polled 112 votes.

Of close to 400 eligibles, 145 players received at least one vote. There will be no additions to the 83 baseball greats enshrined at Cooperstown, N.Y., for another year.

The baseball writers vote every other year for players who have performed in a period 30 years before the balloting. A player must have ended his active career five years before the voting.

In alternate years, a special committee elects old-timers.

Carey, the National League's answer to Ty Cobb in the American League, led his circuit 10 times in base stealing while committing 738 thefts during his career.

Holder of a major league record of 51 bases stolen in 53 attempts in a season, Carey retired as an active player in 1929. He returned to the Dodgers as manager in 1932-33.

Trailing Carey and Roush were Charley Redd' Buffing, former New York Yankee pitcher, with 99 votes, and Hack Wilson, the old Chicago Cub slugger, with 94.

Texas Tumbles Before Rice Owls, 102-68

By The Associated Press

Five players scored in double figures Tuesday night as Rice swamped Texas 102-68 and pulled into a tie for second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

It was Rice's biggest score in a conference game and the biggest against Texas since the teams started competition in 1915.

Tom Robitaille, Dale Ball, Temple Tucker, W. A. Preston and Gerry Thomas were the Owls hammering the basket in driving Rice into a tie for second with Southern Methodist and Texas Tech. Robitaille made 24 to lead all scorers.

Saturday night Rice gets a crack at the leader—Arkansas—in a feature battle at Fayetteville.

Arkansas has a 6-1 record compared to 4-2 for Rice. Southern Methodist and Texas Tech.

Rice was averaging 60 per cent on its field goal tries in virtually eliminating Texas from the championship race. The Owls also were death on the rebounds, taking 68 to 29 for Texas to dominate the backboards.

There also was some tall scoring in the other game on the schedule for the night—a non-conference test for the Texas Aggies from University of Houston.

Texas A&M won 92-74 for a school scoring record with Neil Swisher making 25 points and Bob Johnson 20. Bill Tuffli was high for Houston with 22.

A total of 59 fouls were called in the rough and tumble game which saw A&M outbound the Cougars 60-36.

The Aggies meet winless Baylor at College Station Friday night. Saturday night Texas Christian plays Southern Methodist at Dallas and Texas Tech visits Austin for a whack at Texas.

Merkel Kayoes Buffs, 77-52

STANTON (SC)—Merkel's Badgers virtually clinched the District 6-A championship here tonight, trouncing the host Buffaloes, 77-52, in an important basketball game.

Merkel's Billy Denton tossed in 16 counters to lead the victorious Badgers, while Loyd Badgett and Rodney Myrick teamed up for most of their team's points, 13 and 12, respectively.

The winners started slowly, ahead at the end of the first quarter, 16-15. By the halftime, their lead was 30-25. A big third period in which the Badgers dumped in 24 points pushed Merkel almost out of reach, 54-35. In the final minutes, they outscored the locals, 23-16.

Merkel's girls also won their tilt, 62-41, paced by Minta McAnick who scored 29 points. Linda Glazie tallied 26 for Stanton.

Jayhawks Lose Fourth In Row

HJCJ can now assume the role of the spoiler in West Zone basketball race.

The Jayhawks blew themselves right out of the scrap for first place Tuesday night when they dropped a 61-60 decision to Amarillo Junior College. The loss was the third straight in conference play and left the locals with a 16-7 overall record.

Twice during the exciting game the Big Spring club led by as much as seven points but it couldn't stand prosperity. Led by Jimmy Bevers, an all-state performer from Ropesville, the Badgers came fighting back.

Amarillo now has a 2-1 record in zone play and still has a good chance to win it all.

Bevers tossed in 27 points while Royce Hardaway had 14 and Dale Tarbet ten for the visitors.

The Hawks led by two points (82-80) at half time, although they trailed throughout much of the first 20 minutes. The locals hit only 32 per cent of their shots in the first half and 28 per cent in the final period.

The loss was their fourth in a row. They haven't won a game since Jan. 18, at which time they knocked off Hardin-Simmons' Butlers.

Bill Borries, the Hawks' best rebounder, paced the team in scoring with 13 points. Only other HJCJ player to hit in double figures was Tommy Zinn, who had ten.

Nineteen fouls were called against each team. Amarillo made 11 of 22 free shots, HJCJ 12 of 24.

HJCJ's B team had to go all out to win an 80-77 verdict over Elliott Drug, a YMCA industrial league team, in the opening game.

Donald Lovelady tossed in 18 points for HC while Hoss Rankin and Ray Crooks each counted 13 for the Druggists.

Coahoma Edges Rotan, 42-39

COAHOMA (SC)—Coahoma held on to their hopes for a second-place slot in District 6-A here tonight by edging past Rotan's Yellowhammers, 42-39.

The Bulldogs, minus Mac Robinson, had to play catch-up almost the entire last half. They trailed by three points with 1:05 left in the game.

Robinson, standout regular for the Coahoma team, was at a stock show in El Paso.

The Coahoma girls took measure of Rotan in their contest, 56-26. Jeanie Bobo and Sadie Nixon scored 18 and 17, respectively, to pace the home sextet.

For the boys, Hugh Covert scored eleven, and Dewayne Richters added ten points, but Rotan's Edwards topped all marksmen with 16.

Coahoma plays Roscoe in Coahoma next Friday. There will be an A and B boys attraction; no girls game will be featured.

COAHOMA (42)—Covert 6-11; Steker 3-7; Richters 5-0-10; Cunningham 4-9; Reeves 1-0-1; Carney 9-1-1; Nichols 1-0-1; and total 42-39.

ROTAN (39)—Edwards 6-14; Ratliff 3-6-4; Rupp 6-1-1; Hill 3-6-4; Rupp 1-1-1; and total 39-42.

Score by quarters: 13 19 32 42. Coahoma 11 21 32 39.

Lamesa Is Tipped By Chiefs, 60-57

Easter Seal Sale Date Set

Dates for the Easter Seal sale, carried on by the Society for Crippled Children and Adults, were set at a meeting of the group Monday evening in the County Health Unit.

Beginning March 6, the drive will end Easter Sunday, it was announced by George Zachariah, chairman of the society. Plans were made for the committee chairman and other workers.

Probable sites for a treatment center were discussed and the need for such a location was stressed.

Don Rockwell told of the Boy Scout Troop being sponsored by the Indoor Sports Club; he told the group that there is a possibility that a troop for handicapped girls may be organized if a sponsor can be found.

Fourteen were present for the meeting.

A Rose Is A Rose And So Is Harold

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Two-year-old Harold Kouns may smell unusually sweet today, but he's still a little stinker to his mother.

Mrs. Doris Kouns said little Harold grabbed a bottle of her best perfume and drank every drop.

Harold was reported doing well in St. Francis Hospital, where attendants said the place hasn't smelled so nice in years.

Roberts Proposes Highway Engineer's Facility Here

Plans were set in motion Tuesday, which — if no complications develop — would ultimately lead to establishment of a state highway engineer's office here employing 40 to 50 persons at the corner of NE 12th and the Snyder highway.

Jake Roberts, district state highway engineer from Abilene, explained the proposed plan to the City Commission Tuesday afternoon, and it met with immediate approval. Roberts was here to talk to the city about difficulties of engineering on the state's proposed FM 700 extension and the city's sewer line to Webb AFB when he presented the engineer's office plans.

Since the plan was immediately approved by the city, Roberts said he would ask Austin officials to send a man to Big Spring to survey a considered site. Should the Austin officials approve the plan, the city can then start negotiations with the Highway Department for the property.

Roberts explained that within two years, a large amount of highway work would be going on in Howard County, including the U. S. 80 by-pass and FM 700. This work would naturally require a large staff of engineers and related state employees.

Also the big projects would also mean additional maintenance work. And this all adds up to another engineer's office and an expanded maintenance yard.

These facilities should be on an arterial highway, the state engineer said, and about seven or eight acres of land would be needed.

County Judge R. H. Weaver suggested that the city sell the tract of land at the proposed intersection of the Snyder highway and the U. S. 80 by-pass, would be NE 12th. The city owns a tract beginning at 12th and extending north through the City Cemetery.

Part of the land is now being used for Little League and Teenage League ball parks, but City Manager H. W. Whitney said these would have to be moved when the by-pass work begins.

The commissioners unanimously expressed their interest in selling the tract to the state and seeing such an office established there. They instructed Whitney to see if the needed seven or eight acres would remain after the by-pass right-of-way was taken out. Roberts said about 200 "front feet" would be needed for the establishment.

Roberts said that an engineer's building containing drafting, filing and office space would be constructed, and later, the maintenance yard now located in the 2300 block of Gregg would be moved to the site and the Gregg property sold. He also said that between 40 and 50 persons would be employed in the engineer's office.

Explorer Had Team On Edge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Satellite Explorer gave the Army-scientist team an anxious seven minutes by flying out farther from the earth than had been estimated.

The tense drama in a Pentagon office where scientists and Army officers kept a second-by-second check on the launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday night, was described today by an Army spokesman.

The satellite experts had calculated Explorer would go out as much as 1,500 nautical miles from the earth at the farthest point of its elliptical path—the "apogee." (A nautical mile is about 1.15 statute miles.) The estimated time needed for orbiting the earth was 106 minutes.

Instead, it sped out as far as 1,600 miles, and came down to 186 miles instead of about the 250 to 300 miles estimated for the low point. The actual time of orbit proved to be 115.1 minutes.

Instead of arriving over the West Coast of the United States at 106 minutes on its first trip around Explorer showed up at about 113 minutes.

Most Autos Still Needing Inspections

Twenty-eight per cent of the automobiles in Howard County are now wearing their all-important 1958 inspection stickers, according to Capt. R. M. Hammett, commander of the Vehicle Inspection Division of the Public Safety Department Region No. 4.

This means, it was explained, that 4,982 of the 18,348 vehicles registered in the county have complied with the law. The others have until April 15 to comply.

Howard County, despite its relatively low percentage, is well on parity with other counties in the area. Only Midland County, with 32 per cent, exceeds the total credited to this county.

Percentage figures for counties in this area: Mitchell 25 per cent; Scurry 22 per cent; Glasscock 7.6 per cent; Martin 25 per cent; Andrews 21 per cent; Ector 24 per cent and Midland 32 per cent.

The figures are based on reports compiled by the office in Midland to Feb. 1.

There are numerous inspection places in Howard County, Hammett points out, and the inspection takes only a few minutes. He urged all citizens to obtain their stickers immediately and avoid a grand rush which will develop as the deadline nears.

There are some 500,000 cars registered in the 49 Texas counties which make up Region 4, Hammett explained. On Feb. 1, approximately 125,000 or 25 per cent of these cars had been inspected and provided with the all important stickers. Only 10 weeks remain for the 375,000 other motorists who have as yet failed to have their cars checked. The deadline is midnight April 15.

"Texas laws require that motorists have the safety inspection stickers on all registered motor vehicles by that date," Hammett stated. "In addition, all trailers registered in Texas which exceed 4,000 pounds gross weight must have the stickers."

"Motorists who fail to comply with the inspection law are subject to fines of from one dollar to as much as $200 plus court costs if they are apprehended operating a car without the inspection sticker."
