Ex-Model Sues Baronet

Jacqueline Gray, 41, and Sir Stratford Hall are shown in London where the former model is suing the 81-year-old baronet. She told the court that Hall, a millionaire merchant banker, kept her in luxury as his mistress for 16 years and then took back gifts of jewels worth $33,600. She wants the jewels back. "After the way he has treated me, I have a very poor opinion of men," Miss Gray declared.

Big Spring Man Dies, 5 Hurt In Hwy. 80 Crash

A. W. Harbin, 49, Big Spring, was killed in a highway collision three miles west of Big Spring on U. S. 80 at noon Monday. Five others were injured in the crash which occurred where barricades are up on construction work on U. S. 80. The scene near where several other fatal mishaps have occurred.

Home awaiting arrangements. J. B. Henson, his companion, suffered contusions about the back and chest and he also suffered from shock. More detailed x-ray examination was underway at the Cowper Hospital.

Also taken to Cowper Hospital in a River ambulance were Victor Yanez and his wife, Margarita Yanez, and their two children, Margarito Yanez, 16, and Adam Yanez, 3. Most seriously injured of the family was Margarito, who had a severe laceration. Mr. and Mrs. Yanez have contusions and cuts. The baby suffered only minor hurts.

Area Road Conditions

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Department reported hazardous driving conditions today in the Panhandle and other sections. The report by districts in mid-morning: Amarillo—Very hazardous driving. Roads covered with ice caused by freezing drizzle and light snow and conditions expected to extend through tomorrow.

Mr. Harbin apparently was westbound at the time of the mishap. Mrs. Yanez, east bound, told the officers that she saw the approaching car attempting to pass two others on the double lane stretch of highway now in use.

An ambulance was dispatched from Nalley - Pickle only a short time later north of town to the gate at the State Hospital, but no one was injured in the three-car collision there.

Surprise Civil Rights Fight Hits House Floor

Congressmen Caught Off Guard

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unheralded civil rights fight moved to the House floor today, threatening to catch many absent members off guard.

It involves financing for the six-member Civil Rights Commission and its staff created by the controversial 1957 civil rights law. The fight could delay action on this year's first regular money bill, to finance the White House and general government matters.

Many House members, anticipating no controversy, had arranged to be out of the city for Lincoln Day speeches and other matters.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), also an active champion of civil rights legislation, called the Appropriations Committee action "an underhanded attempt to kill the civil rights law."

Daddy Is Home, All's Well

Three-year-old Christine Flowers—badly burned in a home accident—accepts a bite of food from her soldier-father at a hospital in Memphis, Tenn. She refused to eat after the accident two weeks ago and constantly asked for her father, stationed with the Army at Hamburg, Germany. Doctors became concerned about her will to live. The Red Cross advised the Army and it ordered Sgt. Gerald M. Flowers home.

Youth Hurt In 3-Auto Wreck

A 13-year-old Latin American remained in Medical Arts Hospital today after being injured in a three-car collision on the North Side Sunday. Injuries were not serious, however.

The accident occurred about 6 p.m. Sunday in the 600 block of NW 8th. Taken to Medical Arts by a River ambulance was Oleno Chavez. The boy sustained a neck injury but doctors did not consider it serious.

Freezing Drizzle, Snow Lay Slick Blanket On Highways

By The Associated Press Freezing drizzle and snow spread a road-blocking sheet of ice across upper Texas from Dalhart to Wichita Falls and Texarkana and over most of Oklahoma Monday.

The Panhandle city were "very dangerous." Toward Lubbock, he said, Amarillo police had reports of several big trucks stranded in the ice.

The freezing rain would move further southward. The freezing rain was expected to continue Monday in the extreme north part of North Central Texas, over all of West Texas except the El Paso area and the Big Bend country, and in the north end of East Texas.

Tunisia May Ask For U.N. Action In Bombing Of Village

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Tunisia deliberated today whether to ask for U.N. Security Council action on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village. Both the United States and Britain voiced concern over the explosive situation, but expressed hope it could be smoothed over.

The attack aroused open concern in Washington. The State Department said the U.S. government was "profoundly disturbed."

Only against military objectives, they claimed, adding that aerial photographs showed that nine-tenths of the village remained intact.

Witness Gets Death Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—The mother of a teen-age key witness in the trial of seven youths for murder said today the boy has been threatened with death if the defendants are convicted.

Refused Loan, Raises Ruckus

Police subdue Daniel Rosen, 35, as he struggles at a police station in New York where he was taken after he raised a ruckus because his applications for bank loans were turned down. Officers said he wanted a loan to go to Israel to join his parents and planned to repay it out of earnings from a job he planned to get there.

Mrs. Burton Gets 5-Year Sentence

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Burton, seated in a wheel chair with her eyes closed, drew a 2 to 5 year prison term today on conviction of taking $186,000 from a medical clinic.

$350 Stolen At Ray's Grocery

Burglars concentrated their efforts in the 600 block of NW 2nd Sunday night, hitting three establishments in the block. Their haul included about $350 in merchandise from Ray's Grocery, 602 NE 2nd.

More Cold, Drizzle, Light Snow Forecast

The same sort of chill, gray and drizzle weather—only more so—is in store for Big Spring this afternoon and tonight.

Forecasters called for more of the same with the slim possibility that temperatures ranged from 17 degrees at Perryton and 29 at Amarillo to 63 at Brownsville and Kingsville.

An Eye For Beauty

House Speaker Sam Rayburn appears to be enjoying himself as his gaze rests on Italian movie actress Gina Lollobrigida in Washington, D. C. Gina holds an album of records designed to help the 76-year-old Texan learn to speak Italian. He's never been in Europe, but after looking over the celebrated beauty he said he might make the trip. Rep. Alfred E. Santangelo (D-NY) is at center.

13 Senators Propose Bill To Encourage Race Integration

WASHINGTON — Thirteen senators joined today in proposing a bill designed to encourage racial integration of schools, but to compel compliance with Supreme Court rulings in that field if necessary.

The new civil rights measure also would arm the attorney general with authority to seek federal court injunctions for the protection of civil rights generally—a proposal defeated last year after a bitter battle.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) announced he was introducing the bill with twelve other senators, seven Democrats and five Republicans, as cosponsors. He said a companion measure was being introduced in the House.

The legislation would authorize appropriation of 12½ million dollars over the next five years for federal assistance to states and local government units in developing community understanding and plans for school integration.

In addition, federal grants of 40 million dollars a year for each of the next five years would be authorized for school buildings, the employment of additional teachers and other costs incident to eliminating racial segregation.

Douglas noted that under this section funds could be made available to "local communities that wish to comply with the court's decisions, but where, as in Georgia and Virginia, the state threatens to cut off funds or close the schools."

Should efforts to achieve voluntary compliance fail, the secretary of health, education and welfare would be empowered by the legislation to draw up school integration plans in line with the Supreme Court's ruling.

If the secretary were unable to secure their acceptance from state or local officials, the attorney general would be authorized to seek federal court injunctions to force compliance.

The rest of the bill, under which the attorney general could obtain injunctions against violations of civil rights generally, would revise in somewhat altered form a section struck from the Senate last year from the administration's civil rights measure.

The Civil Rights Act passed by Congress at the last session, the first to be enacted since the end of Reconstruction era, limited the use of this injunctive process to the protecting of voting rights.

Atty. Gen. Rogers said that if Congress were to pass this year the provisions it knocked from the bill last year, he would recommend that President Eisenhower sign the new measure.

He added in a television interview that the administration will not request such action. Rogers had said earlier that he would recommend no new administration proposals on civil rights this year. He and other officials have suggested that a "cooling off" period was in order.

Taking note of this in a Senate speech prepared for introduction of his bill, Douglas said, "It is no time for those who would maintain law and order to lapse into the inertia of a 'cooling off' period."

Douglas said that since the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision, "substantial progress toward compliance" has been made in a number of border states but "strong resistance is still effective in a group of at least seven so-called 'hard-core' Southern states."

Listed as cosponsors of the legislation were Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.), Ives (R-NY), Hennings (D-Mo.), Allott (R-Colo.), McNamara (D-Mich.), Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), Neuberger (D-Ore.), Javits (R-NY), Morse (D-Ore.), Proxmire (D-Wis.), Dirksen (R-Ill.), and Clark (D-Pa.).

French Fashion King Is Young, Painfully Shy

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—France has a new national hero.
He is 21-year-old Yves Mathieu Saint-Laurent, and it is considered that he has saved the reputation and prestige of French fashion, just as his predecessor, Christian Dior, saved it after the war.
Those who cried, "Christian Dior can never be replaced," when the fashion king died unexpectedly last Oct. 23, now are hailing young Yves' debut collection as the best Paris has ever produced. Scenes bordering on joyful hysteria followed the opening of his "Trapeze Line" show.

Behind all the fuss is a quiet, shy and thin youngster who was 21 on Aug. 1. Yves Saint-Laurent was born in Oran, Algeria, the son of an insurance salesman, and he came to Paris to seek his fortune in designing theatre decor at the age of 17.

Instead, he entered an international fashion designing contest, and won. Presented to Christian Dior with samples of his sketches, he was hired on the spot as under-study to the master as his own great fashion designers are said to draw inspiration from the air of Paris, and Dior apparently decided that young Saint-Laurent had the stuff of greatness when he saw that the boy's sketches were basically the same as his own still top-secret "A-line" for that year.

Without fanfare or credits, Yves worked with Dior for three years. Nobody had ever heard of him when the world's top designer suddenly died of a heart attack on holiday in Italy.

HEIR APPARENT
For a few weeks the fate of the vast Dior fashion empire was in the balance. Then a rumor went round that a young man named Yves Saint-Laurent, not even old enough to have done his military service, might be named by Marcel Boussac, the French cotton king who owns and backs the house, to take over.

Loud scoffs greeted the unlikely suggestion, but on November 15 the announcement was official. Yves Saint-Laurent would carry on with three women who had been with Dior from the beginning. They are Madame Raymond Zehacker, Madame Marguerite Carre and Madame Mitzi Brizard; the most knowing fashion experts say that this quartet should get exactly equal shares of the credit for the tremendous success they have brought off.

FIRST SHOW
Young Saint-Laurent's first presentation to the press and radio did not inspire confidence. Pale, apparently frightened and with little to say, young Yves won only a condescending description as "a good little boy" ("enfant bien sage") from the French press. But the big buildup was under way by the time he went home to his parents in Oran to sketch the new Dior collection before Christmas.

In an interview with this correspondent a few days after he was named Dior's new designer, Saint-Laurent expressed a few firm opinions.
"You can't impose fashions unless women are willing to let you," he said. "Skirt lengths ought to depend on the women who wear them; one length doesn't suit everybody."

But skirts in the first Saint-Laurent collection are uniformly just at the knee, and his ballooning silhouette is a drastic extreme of fashion. The audience loved it.

Dior's Successor

Yves Saint-Laurent, the new king of the French high fashion, chats with AP correspondent Nadeane Walker.

so it may be assumed that women are willing.

The hero of this new French fairy tale still lives or did up until his opening day—in a modern one-room-with-bath in a dead-end street near the Trocadero.

LIFE OF HERMIT
Since Dior took him under his wing, Saint-Laurent has been practically the hermit of the house of Dior, working there constantly. But to some friends he confided that his first love was still stage decor and "I don't know how long I will be able to stay away from it."

Dior frowned when the subject was mentioned. Now the tender trap of success may have closed the door to that ambition.

It might have been his two young sisters, Bridget, 12, and Michele, 13, who inspired the "little girl dresses," very full from bust to hem, which are the biggest success of the Trapeze collection. It was reported that Yves took time to design some new dresses for Bridget and Michele while he was working on the Dior sketches.

Yesterday ELECTRIC LIGHT

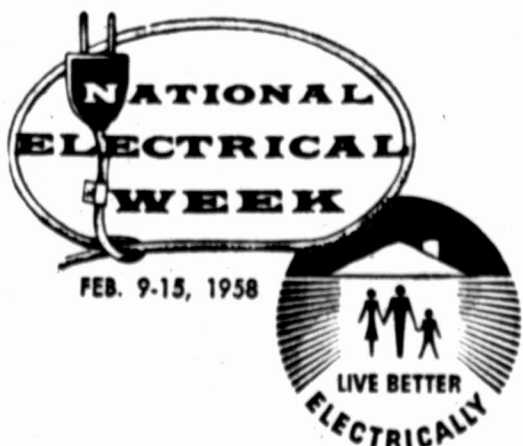

Today ELECTRICAL LIVING

In a span of little more than 75 years, America has progressed from Edison's first electric light bulb to an electrical "way of life."

This transformation was made possible by men of courage and initiative who saw the possibilities of Edison's electric light, and were willing to risk their energy and savings to bring its benefits to the people.

From the efforts of these early day men of vision and those who followed in their footsteps has grown an industry vital to this nation's production capabilities... and to the American high standard of living.

Today, thanks to the genius of Edison and the enterprise and hard work of men and women in the electrical industry, most folks enjoy comforts and conveniences of electrical living not even dreamed of in Edison's day... comforts and conveniences that make it possible for you to Live Better... Electrically!

Hometown High School Pupils To Hear Three Webb Officers

In support of the Air Force "Operation Hometown" program, three Webb officers are scheduled to return to their hometown high schools this spring to address students.

Maj. James V. Gilliland has been nominated by Headquarters, USAF to speak to the students of W. H. Adamson High School, Dallas, the school from which he graduated in 1938. The date for his appearance has tentatively been set for April 10.

Maj. Marvin E. Lindemann has been chosen to return to the Allen Academy at Bryan, a military school founded in 1886. He graduated from Allen in 1930, later returning as an instructor. He is scheduled to appear before the student body as guest speaker on March 30, and school officials are planning to invite other members of the 1930 graduating class to make it a class reunion.

Maj. Malcolm L. Nurnberg, commander of the 356th Field Maintenance Squadron, graduated from Upper Darby Senior High School in Upper Darby, Pa., in 1938, and has been selected to return for a speaking engagement at his old school on May 9.

"Operation Hometown" is a community relations program carried out by the Air Force. Its primary objective is to join with educators all over the country in impressing upon high school students the vital importance of their continuing their education to the highest possible level and to encourage them to pursue scientific, engineering and other technical subjects which will better qualify them to continue in these fields at higher institutions of learning. The program has a secondary objective of transmitting information about the Air Force to all segments of the American people.

Maj. Gilliland has been at Webb AFB since 1955 and is presently budget officer. He joined the Air Force in 1941 and completed flying training as a navigator in 1942. During World War II, Gilliland was assigned to England as a squadron navigator, returning in the same year for B-29 transition at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz. Released from active duty in 1945, he joined the National Guard in Dallas. He was recalled to active duty in 1950 and assigned to Langley AFB, Va., for training. In 1951 he was sent to Korea and assigned as a squadron commander.

Returning to the United States in 1952, he was assigned as a navigator-instructor at Ellington and Conally AFB prior to his assignment to Webb. Maj. Lindemann, after graduation from the Allen Academy in 1930, attended Texas A&M where he received his B. S. degree in education in 1933. After his graduation he returned to Allen Academy as a chemistry instructor and became head of the science department prior to leaving the school in 1939.

Having received a commission through the Allen Academy program, Lindemann entered active duty in 1941 and has served continuously since that time. During his 16 years of duty he has spent four years on overseas assignments. During World War II, he was assigned to duty at Kelly Field, Ellington, and the Glider School, South Plains AFB, Base in Lubbock. From May 1944 to January 1946, he was executive officer of the 83rd Bombardment Squadron, 12th Bombardment Group in the China-Burma-India Theater. After his return to the United States, he held the position of squadron commander at Barksdale AFB, La., and in 1947 he was assigned as assistant professor of air science and tactics at Louisiana State University. From 1950 to 1953 he served in the office of Directorate of Military Personnel, Headquarters, USAF. In 1953, Maj. Lindemann was transferred to Albrook AFB, Canal Zone for a three-year tour of duty. Since returning from the Canal Zone, he has served as executive officer of the 356th M&S Group.

Action On Major Business Delayed By County Board
County Commissioners Court devoted its time from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Monday approving bills and discussing routine business pending the return to his office of R. H. Weaver, county judge. Weaver had been called out of the courthouse on another matter and, as a result, the commissioners delayed any action on major business until he could be present.

The commissioners are to sign the contract with Pritchard and Abbott, tax evaluation engineers, at today's session. It is also expected they will begin consideration of plans to obtain right of way for the FM 700.

Lee Porter, auditor, presented the monthly financial statement of the county and laid a large number of hills before the court for disposition. Walter Parks, county engineer, consulted with the commissioners on road projects now under way.

W. F. Eggleston Rites Set Today
LAMESA—Funeral services for William Franklin Eggleston, 77, were held at 3 p.m. Monday in Hubbard Funeral Chapel at Odessa.

Mr. Eggleston, a retired farmer, and a Dawson county for the past 19 years, passed away Sunday morning at a Lamesa hospital. A native of Tennessee, he moved to West Texas in his youth, and had lived in the Odessa area prior to moving to Lamesa.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. L. O. Pugh, Midland; Mrs. Perry Rice, Big Spring; Mrs. L. C. Bradford, Lamesa; and Mrs. O. B. Smith of Seminole; six sons, Carl, O. C., and W. W., all of Odessa; W. L. and W. E., all of Big Spring; and E. F. Lamesa; and several grandchildren. Interment was to be in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery of Midland.

Jonah Johnson, 65, Dies Here Sunday, Rites Set Friday

Jonah Johnson, 65, resident of Big Spring for more than 30 years and father of J. Sam Johnson, the Herald building custodian, died at his home here at 1:55 p.m. Sunday. He had been ill for several years.

Born in Magnolia, Ark. on Aug. 6, 1892, he went to work for the Douglas Hotel when it was rebuilt in the late 20's and continued so long as health would permit.

Services have been set for 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. C. D. Collins, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Guilty Pleas To Be Offered Today

Several defendants now under indictment for felonies were scheduled to appear in 118th District Court at 1:30 p.m. today to plead guilty to the charges against them. Gil Jones, district attorney, said.

The pleas had been tentatively scheduled for Monday morning but were continued to 1:30 p.m. by agreement. It was not certain whether the pleas this afternoon would terminate the flood of such decisions made by the defendants in the recent indictment list of the Howard County Grand Jury.

Meantime, Jones is reading a schedule of cases he will call for trial on Monday when Judge Charlie Sullivan has ordered a week of criminal jury trials.

Arlen Bryant Attends Ceremony In Austin

Arlen Bryant of Big Spring was the Lone Star Scout District's representative at the "Report to the Governor" Boy Scout Week ceremony in Austin Sunday.

Bryant is an Eagle Scout and member of Explorer Post No. 9 here. He and six others attended the program from the Buffalo Trail Council. On hand was a representative from each Scout district in the state.

Williams To Speak

LAMESA—N. Williams, superintendent of schools at Lubbock, will be the guest speaker for the Feb. 27 joint banquet of the Lamesa Classroom Teachers Association and Dawson County Unit, Texas State Teachers Association.

FCC Probe Counsel Not Discharged Yet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) said today Bernard Schwartz, controversial counsel of a special subcommittee to investigate federal regulatory agencies, "is still with us."

Moulder spoke with newsmen after the subcommittee had met behind closed doors more than an hour and a half, presumably discussing the open row between Schwartz and members of the committee, including Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the parent House Commerce Committee.

There was no immediate amplification. Harris had indicated before the meeting that Schwartz' connection with the subcommittee should be severed if reports about the counsel's expense accounts for trips to New York were verified.

Moulder said that a motion was made to fire the counsel this morning but that it failed to carry. He declined to give the vote. Moulder said he is to serve a written request on Schwartz to appear before the committee in closed session.

Moulder said Schwartz would stay on as long as he has six members of the committee voting for his continuation. He said all of the FCC commissioners except Chairman John C. Doerfer have been asked to come and he thought the committee would direct each one to comply with its request for a list of gifts, honorariums and expenses paid by or from the broadcasting industry the FCC regulates.

Asked if there were any reasons given for the motion to dismiss Schwartz, Moulder said there was a long discussion. The firing of Schwartz in a dispute over his expense vouchers could lead to a lengthy delay in the group's probe of the FCC and other regulatory agencies. This investigation has aroused considerable dissension within the subcommittee, chiefly over Schwartz' handling of hearings on the FCC last week.

In advance of the subcommittee meeting, Schwartz denied there was anything irregular about certain of his expense accounts totaling $400. But he predicted: "They are going to fire me. He said he would not resign. Two subcommittee members, one a critic and the other a backer of Schwartz, agreed he was probably on his way out."

Schwartz contended he is being ousted because he wanted public hearings that he said would go into some cases of White House influence. The Washington Post quoted him as saying "we have actual evidence that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, has played a part in cases involving several (regulatory) agencies."

Without going into details, Schwartz also said the hearings would have touched on Secretary of Commerce Weeks; Col. George Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law; former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; former Undersecretary of Commerce Robert B. Murray Jr.; an unidentified FCC member; and "possibly" Vice President Nixon.

There was no immediate comment from the White House or from any of those mentioned by Schwartz.

Rites Set Today For Jones Baby

Graveside services were to be conducted in Trinity Memorial Park at 4 p.m. today for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones of Big Spring.

The Rev. Wesley Deats, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, was to officiate. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The baby was stillborn Sunday morning in a hospital here. Survivors are the parents, two sisters, Glenna and Lea, a brother, Warren, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Jones of Big Spring, Hayes Stripling Sr. of Big Spring and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr. of Kirbyville.

HCJC Enrollment Deadline Is Tonight

Deadline for registering for the spring semester at Howard County College is tonight.

No enrollments for credit courses can be accepted after the college closes tonight, said B. M. Keese, registrar.

Meanwhile, registration has started for a number of adult non-credit courses. These will continue until a sufficient number have signed to justify the course in question.

Havens In Play

Sandy Havens, 810 E. 18th St., Big Spring, has been cast in the Indiana University Theatre production of "As You Like It" to be given Feb. 21-23.

Earlier this year the Shakespearean comedy was seen in a televised production utilizing many of the same cast members. Havens, a post graduate student at I. U., will repeat his television performance as Orlando.

New Pumps To Go In Service Soon

Power will be turned into two new massive pumping units of the Colorado River Municipal Water District this week. O. H. Ivie, production superintendent, predicted.

These are the two 1,000-h. p. units at the Mergan Creek booster unit between Big Spring and the lake. Each is capable of delivering 8,000 gallons of water per minute, or 16,000 gallons together. When both are on simultaneously, 24 million gallons a day will be going through the line. The station already has a 12,000 gallon per minute capacity.

At Lake J. B. Thomas, one of two vertical units to be installed at the intake may have its motor attached this week. These vertical units, towering 13 feet high, will have 8,000 gallons per minute capacity.

Policeman Earns Reward By Arrest

Fred Taylor, city police officer, made a valuable arrest Saturday — valuable for him as well as the Monroe, La., police department.

Taylor arrested C. A. Nowlin, 54, Saturday afternoon and should receive $50 for his efforts.

Nowlin was wanted in Monroe on burglary charges and for allegedly jumping bond, and a $50 reward had been posted for his arrest.

The local department learned that Nowlin was supposed to be in this area, and Taylor was the officer finding him and making the arrest.

Chief of Police C. L. Rogers said the reward was the first collected by a local officer here in several years, excluding rewards for picking up military AWOLs.

Nowlin waived extradition Monday morning. He had indicated he did not want to return to Louisiana, but changed his mind, officials said. He was turned to Louisiana officials who left immediately for Monroe.

Water Demand Falls In January

Water consumption on the Colorado River Municipal Water District system declined in January, mostly due to cutback in oil production.

The reduction in oil production in Scurry County's reef fields also reduced the amount of water required in repressuring operations.

Consumption during the month amounted to 506,132,000 gallons, which is 70 million gallons less than for January of 1957.

The figures showed 140,520,000 to Odessa, 99,373,000 to Big Spring, 33,870,000 to Snyder, 163,899,000 to SACROG, 36,143,000 to Sharon Ridge, 28,896,000 to Monsanto ("Lion Oil"), and 2,860,000 to Texas Gulf.

Missilemen Claim AF, Army Could Hit Moon

WASHINGTON (U.P.)— Military missile experts say the Army and the Air Force could shoot rockets as far as the moon this year.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., said the Army could put a satellite in orbit around the moon within months, if it got permission to try. Medaris also said on a television interview that the Army could send a manned expedition to the moon in 15 years.

Defense Department missile specialists said the Air Force's 1,500-mile-range Thor missile could be augmented by additional rocket stages to send a payload to the moon this year. So far, the department has given no orders for such a mission.

The payload in a moon rocket would include radio transmitters for sending back information on the flight and a spotter charge to mark the rocket's impact on the moon, the experts said.

The Air Force's moon rocket capabilities were discussed in a Pentagon briefing which covered various advances in American missile and antimissile missile research and development.

The Army used its Jupiter-C rocket in modified form to launch America's first earth satellite, the Explorer, Jan. 31. The Explorer still is speeding around the earth.

ANOTHER TRY

Medaris said he expects another satellite try sometime between now and April 1. This second satellite would be the same size — around 30 pounds — but with more advanced instruments, he said.

He spoke of future attempts to launch 100-pound and 500-pound space vehicles. Russia's second Sputnik, still aloft, weighs half a ton.

He said the timing of an effort to put up a 500-pound satellite with photographic equipment depends on "how soon they tell me to go ahead and give me the money." Engineering and other preliminary work on such a reconnaissance vehicle has been under way for some time. He said, but the project is "not at the hardware stage."

At the Pentagon briefing, one official said military scientists had the problem of building a rocket engine with a million pounds of thrust under study "for quite some time" before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee recently recommended an early start on such a project.

Russia reportedly has built a rocket engine of more than 800,000 pounds thrust. So far, the biggest U.S. engine is believed to be one designed to develop 300,000 pounds thrust for the 5,000-mile-range Titan missile.

The missile experts discussed some space age weapons already in being and others in various stages of development.

They said the Navy is working toward a fleet of submarines each equipped to fire more than 10 hydrogen-bomb-tipped Polaris missiles. Such a sub could pack the firepower equivalent of more than 100 million tons of TNT.

One Navy missile man said a Polaris-equipped submarine, firing from under water, would enjoy "almost complete invulnerability to counter-measures of all kinds."

Newsmen were told of plans for equipping long-range, high-flying aircraft, possibly operating on nuclear or chemical power, with 1,500-mile range missiles. It may be as long as five years before such a weapons combination is ready.

There was also word that the Air Force expects to testfire "the largest solid propellant motors ever built in the next few days."

The Defense Department missile experts indicated they are optimistic about solving the problem of intercepting and destroying incoming long-range missiles.

Under a recent order, the Army has been given the job of developing an antimissile missile while the Air Force was assigned the task of building a detection system.

An Army missile official said the Nike-Zeus antimissile weapon "is an actual development program in the hardware stage."

Going Up

The Atlas, a two-million dollar intercontinental ballistic missile, pours flame from its tail as it goes skyward after a launching at Cape Canaveral. The 78-foot long giant missile made a beautiful takeoff, but the Air Force said it destroyed itself in air after the powered phase of its flight. It fell into the ocean far from shore and probably will never be recovered.

Scientist Pleased With Cancer Grant

CHICAGO (U.P.)— A 34-year-old University of Chicago scientist says he is "pleased" and "humble" with a grant of more than half a million dollars by the American Cancer Society to devote his lifetime to cancer research.

"Naturally, I am pleased," said Dr. Paul Talalay, a German-born physician biochemist in commenting on the grant which will provide his annual salary at the university until he reaches retirement age.

Dr. Talalay, who has been doing research in the activity of sex hormones and their enzymes, has been at the university since 1950. He received his medical degree from Yale University in 1948.

The grant, the largest ever made by the society to support the research of a single individual, represents a big part of the entire 11½ million dollars the society allocated throughout the nation for research in 1957.

Turbine-Powered Helicopter

Bell Helicopter Corp. announced that the Army's turbine-powered Bell HU-1 helicopter has been ordered into production. President Harvey Gaylord told the company's board of directors at their annual meeting in Fort Worth that an Air Force production contract has been received which includes authorization for Bell to tool up for quantity production of the high-performance frontline service helicopter.

Fuchs Party On Last Lap Of Trip

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his British expedition left today on the last 700-mile leg of their attempt to make the first overland crossing of the Antarctic Continent.

Guiding the 12 Britons is Sir

Edmund Hillary, who flew to Depot 700 to join Fuchs. The party is headed for Scott base, home of Hillary's New Zealand expedition on McMurdo Sound.

Sheath Of Snow Covers N.Y. State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A huge sheath of snow encased upstate New York today, imprisoning farmers, stifling cities and strangling highway travel.

Vast wind-whipped plumes of snow blinded rescue forces, snuffed out at least 13 lives and erected towering dunes that sealed off countless hundreds of motorists.

The Weather Bureau said the blizzard would continue in some parts of the state today, particularly in the Great Lakes area.

The 275-mile stretch of the state thruway from Albany to Buffalo was opened again to traffic.

Syracuse and Utica, prostrate under the three-day fall of snow, proclaimed emergency measures. Syracuse had 34 inches of snow on the ground, including 12 1/2 inches that fell yesterday. The Weather Bureau said it was the worst storm there since 1925. More was forecast.

Zero temperatures emptied the streets, closed schools and left office buildings deserted.

Small knots of piled-up cars dotted the state. Motorists banded together for food and warmth. Some were lucky enough to make marooned farm houses or hotel hearths.

Near Frewsburg, in the southwestern part of the state, a motorist was rescued after his car had been stranded for 12 hours in a drift. He was only 300 feet from a farmhouse but was unable to see it through the blowing snow.

Thirty boys and girls from Syracuse were snowbound in a camp about 15 miles southeast of the city. Leaders of the group made their way out by bulldozer and obtained food for the youngsters.

In Oneida, coats, blankets and sandwiches were provided in the state armory for dazed travelers.

Civil Defense Conference Begins

DALLAS (AP)—Some 50 Civil Defense officials began a two-day disaster conference today with last spring's hurricane Audrey uppermost in their minds.

Lewis Berry Jr., deputy administrator for the Federal Civil Defense Administration, speaks tonight.

Gun Happy Teen-Ager Kills 3, Then Feels No Remorse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A gun happy teen-ager who wasn't taken seriously as a robber shot down three witnesses yesterday and then remarked, "If I had a machine gun, I really would have cut loose."

Curly-haired Jerry Haynes, 18, was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital to see his victims but even that apparently did not affect him.

At jail he remarked: "I saw 'em laying there. Who knows if I should have felt something. . . . Anyway I didn't."

All the victims of this 10-minute, two-stickup spree were reported in good condition today and in no danger.

Haynes, of Renton, Wash., walked into the Short Stop Tavern at about 1 a.m.

The adolescent drew a pistol and told patrons to "walk to the back of the place." Earl Russell, 31, asked: "What for?" Police said Haynes dropped Russell with one bullet to the upper thigh and then turned the gun on Clement Hunt, 61, who had walked over from the bar. Hunt went down with a slug in his stomach.

Haynes told police: "I don't know anything about it, but there was this one old lady. . . . She got on my nerves. Then somebody started pushing me and some other guy tried to rush me. So I started shooting. That's all."

Without getting any loot, the gunboy ran four blocks to the Senate Hotel where he pulled his gun on Alexander Chapman, 61, a clerk. Chapman handed over $45 from a cash drawer and $1 of his own.

Haynes ordered him then to "Turn around and don't look this way." After that the youth shot Chapman three times in the back, police added.

"I got mad at him," Haynes said in his cell. "He was acting kind of smart, so I shot him. He acted foreign. I don't like foreigners, so I let him have it. . . . That's all."

A Bible Thought For Today

Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name. (Philippians 2:9)

Progress Of Federal Road Program

How is the federal highway program coming along? Well, pretty good, according to an article in the Magazine of Wall Street, February issue.

Only 18 months after enactment of the initiating federal legislation, over 1,200 miles have been completed and an additional 2,000 miles have passed the planning stage and are actually under construction, the magazine reports. Spending on the program this year is expected to reach $5.5 billion, up about $850 million from 1957, and should continue to rise for the next two years as federal allocations to the states increase—unless somebody decides on a program stretch-out.

Along with the increased defense spending, the highway program is expected to act as an offset to the decline in private capital spending, which is now under way. Nobody knows whether this offsetting factor will absorb the whole lag in the national economy left by declining private spending, however.

Survey by a private research organization last year showed 190 industries will be directly or indirectly affected by the entire thirteen to sixteen-year program, variously estimated to involve from $33 to $100 billion. This year alone about $2 billion will be spent on standard items like paving materials, steel and explosives, and additional millions will be spent on machinery, which should "bolster the earnings of manufacturers of road-building equipment."

Unfortunately, however, the program was in the planning stage so long, and had such an advance buildup, that many new operators invaded the field and will provide stiff competition for the oldtimers.

The Magazine of Wall Street's report includes a few sidelights on toll roads. In the main, it says, they are not doing too well, though the long-established Pennsylvania Turnpike and the newer Jersey Turnpike, New York State Thruway and Ohio Turnpike are doing well. Passenger car travel is healthy and hefty, but truck travel—the bread-and-butter business the turnpikes based most of their hopes on—is not coming through as expected.

The author reasoned that unencumbered high-speed travel would be a cost saver for the hauler, but it hasn't worked out that way. Drivers for the most part are paid by the trip, not by the hour, so there was no saving there. Furthermore, the high speed ate up the gasoline, wore out tires rapidly, and shortened the lives of rolling stock, not to mention increasing repair costs. So, concludes the magazine, the trucks are continuing to use the older roads—and that increases the upkeep and repair costs of those roads, which must be borne by the states. Because the turnpikes were financed on the theory that truck traffic would yield a higher revenue than has turned out to be the case, some of them are facing an uncertain future.

Chilling Flourishing Florida

The weather has dealt Florida blow after blow this winter, not only by way of crippling its giant tourist industry, but by widespread damage to fruits and vegetables and by inflicting heavy losses in the state's growing livestock business.

Three hard freezes, windstorms and torrential rains added up to near disaster for the tourist trade, which dropped off 20 per cent at Miami Swank hotels in some instances cut the price of a room from $30 a day to $11 and $15—and offered to pay the round trip fare from northern points for the wife if a couple would stay ten days longer.

There were not many takers, apparently, even though in normal times the big hotels had been turning "em away at $30 a day.

Misfortune isn't something to contemplate with equanimity, even when it happens to a state that had been riding as high, wide and handsome as Florida has for several years.

But it isn't necessarily an unrelieved disaster either, for states and cities as well as individuals and families need the sobering shock of a setback now and then, if for no other reason than to remind them of the transitoriness of fame and fortune.

Florida stubbed its toes on the hard rocks of reality once before as the clamor to an era of reckless spending and wild-eyed promotion, and it might find a little breathing spell essential to its future good health.

Perhaps its current misfortune will help to write out a lot of excess fat, in its head and around its waist-line, in which case the state may eventually be able to thank the gods of weather for having reminded all and sundry that all is not beer and skittles in this life.

Amendment On Presidential Succession

WASHINGTON—It's strange how the process by which the Constitution can be amended seems suddenly to become cumbersome and dilatory to those politicians who wish to circumvent it either by passing a law or by pressuring the Supreme Court to change its decisions.

This the Democrats now are saying it would take too long to get a constitutional amendment adopted which would provide a method whereby the vice president can serve temporarily in case of the disability of a president.

But the Democrats did not feel that way in 1953, when they put through both houses of Congress the repeal of the 18th Amendment on prohibition and when three-fourths of the states ratified the new 21st Amendment by December—less than 10 months in all. Similarly, the 17th Amendment, providing for the election of senators by popular vote, took less than 13 months for ratification. The 19th Amendment on woman's suffrage was ratified in about 14 months. Approval of the 20th, or "lame duck," Amendment came 11 months after submission by Congress.

The lesson is plain—when public opinion is united, it is easy to get a constitutional amendment passed quickly. There is every reason to believe that, if by two-thirds vote of the Senate and House of Representatives a new amendment on presidential disability were submitted to the states, it could be adopted before the year 1958 comes to a close.

When controversial issues are involved, it is true that it takes longer to get a constitutional amendment adopted. The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, in his nation-wide radio broadcast on March 9, 1937—during the fight over ways and means of influencing decisions of the Supreme Court by "packing" it with additional justices whom the President would appoint—declared the talk of doing anything to reform the court by a constitutional amendment. He said:

"It would take months or years to get substantial agreement upon the type and language of an amendment. It would take months and years thereafter to get a two-thirds majority in favor of that amendment in both houses of the Congress. Then would come the long course of ratification by three-fourths of all the states. No amendment which any powerful economic interests or the leaders of any powerful political party have had reason to oppose has ever been ratified within anything like a reasonable time."

Mr. Roosevelt expressed his discouragement, too, over what happens even when a new constitutional amendment on a complex subject is finally adopted. He added this observation:

"And remember one thing more. Even if an amendment were passed, and even if in the years to come it were to be ratified, its meaning would depend upon the kind of justices who would be sitting on the Supreme Court bench. An amendment, like the rest of the Constitution, is what the justices say it is rather than what its framers or you might hope it is."

This note of despair about our Constitution uttered by the man who has been canonized by the Democratic party is repeated these days by Democratic leaders. But some of the same objections apply also to any law that may be passed by Congress. If, for instance, a statute were enacted setting up a commission to remove the president when he seemed to be disabled and to decide later whether or not he had recovered from his illness, such a broad discretionary power would surely be challenged in the courts. Every executive action involving property would become a basis for a lawsuit by the aggrieved party. The whole country would be in doubt as to the legality of action by a temporary president and months or years might elapse before the Supreme Court ruled on the validity of the executive acts performed by a vice president.

The Constitution is clear in specifying that Congress may provide the line of succession when there is a vacancy in the office of both the presidency and the vice presidency. But the Constitution does not say what may be done in the interim when a president is temporarily disabled and then recovers his health after a period of "inability." It should be easy to clear up all doubts by putting through promptly a constitutional amendment on that point.

But the Democrats are sparing for an issue. They want to pass a law and would welcome an Eisenhower veto, because they think this would give them an advantage in the forthcoming campaign, when they plan anyway to make the President's illness a matter of campaign discussion. The Democrats could, of course, then charge the Republicans with refusing to provide a way to permit the vice president to take over temporarily for the president. Yet the public interest would be better served now by the agreement of both parties on a constitutional amendment. It could be adopted in record time. Since the language would probably not be controversial and only an amendment of that kind could command a two-thirds vote of both houses anyway.

The Constitution is sufficiently flexible and up-to-date for those who really want to use it and for those who have an overwhelming public opinion behind their proposals.

Still Nothing On Succession

WASHINGTON (AP)—Still no answer to the question: Who decides a president is disabled when he can't or won't decide himself? Congress may do again this year what it has always done before: nothing.

The Constitution simply says that if a president can't perform his duties, they shall "devolve on the vice president."

Congress and constitutional lawyers have argued the problem for years. Should the President decide if he is disabled, or the vice president, or some kind of commission?

No president in history, no matter how ill, has stepped aside even temporarily for his vice president. The word "temporarily" raises still another question:

Suppose a disabled president turns his duties over to the vice president, then recovers and wants to resume the presidency but the vice president won't turn the job back to him. What then?

The Constitution doesn't say. Nor does it say anything on this: a president is so disabled to do his job but won't admit it or, perhaps, through unconsciousness, can't ask the vice president to act for him.

What then? Does the vice president make the decision? Suppose he's unscrupulous and wants the presidency even to the point of declaring an able president disabled.

Is a commission the answer? But what kind of commission? Members of the President's Cabinet? The Supreme Court? Doctors? Members of Congress? Or members from all three branches of government?

Recently Chief Justice Warren, in a negative action, took the most positive action ever taken on this subject: he said he and the eight other justices wanted no part in passing on presidential disability.

The reason: since the court might some day have to decide on the constitutionality of some arrangement for declaring a president disabled, the justices wanted no part in making the disability decision.

This year a forward step — if it can be called that — was taken in Congress. Key Democrats and Republicans in the House agreed on this:

A commission should be created to decide presidential disability. Its members: the vice president, secretary of state, speaker of the House, president pro tempore of the Senate, and the Democratic and Republican leaders from House and Senate. Total: eight.

But the vice president, speaker and president pro tempore should have no vote. Thus only the secretary of state and the Democratic and Republican leaders of House and Senate could vote, or a total of five.

LETTER TO EDITOR

To the Editor:

After having read the articles by a couple of your staff writers, I was both amazed and flabbergasted that they would deliberately take issue against our own race of peoples versus the Indians on integration.

It is my sincere opinion that social integration informs me of more dangerous than the much discussed communism. In fact it would eventually mean the downfall of this nation with its chaos, rape and mongrelization.

Are we aware that about 99 per cent of the exponents of social integration are Communists? Since I have been reading both Communist and Socialist papers for approximately 40 years, I know whereof I speak.

The historic Warren decision on integration was prompted as a cover-up to camouflage for his daughter who dates Negro men. Why then should we be expected to obey and follow the edicts of such an immoral man as Warren?

President Eisenhower is a strong exponent of Negro equality, and I have been informed that he was one of the Army generals who swooped down on the bonus marches in Washington, D. C.

Negro pressure has prompted many people to make association of themselves to the extent that they will foist any race of people upon our children while isolating themselves from all red and black people.

Our freedom, even under threat of communism, was never placed in great jeopardy as it is right now under the domination of the so-called Supreme Court of this nation.

Around The Rim

Western Action In The Soap Operas

I just thought I had troubles, until I stayed home the other day and caught a few of the soap operas on TV.

The neighbors getting together to talk over the plight of poor Mrs. Hackett, who isn't long for this world. Bad ticker, you know. And her husband isn't helping matters, either. Seeing Amber Abercrombie, the comely secretary, over a couple of scotch-and-sodas at the Jungle Room.

Sam Schnapps trying to be the good husband, when all the time he's got restless feet and longs for his old life as a merchant seaman. His wife, Ingrid, seeking to rid him of his restlessness but knowing all the while he may hit the grit at any time.

Trudy Truelove carrying a torch for Paul Pago Pago, not knowing he is the biggest confidence man and flirt this side of Paris.

Such trials and tribulations. Such delicious agony. How do the authors ever stand it? One crisis after another—between the endorsements for the soap flakes that not only take the dirt out of clothes but make you think you haven't lived until you've tried the brand.

Give me a good western, anytime—where the issues are clear, men are men and the scenery is breathtaking. Where the good guys and the bad guys take sides early, where even the dogs lazing in the sun know where's a fight coming, after which the notorious Silver Dollar saloon will be converted into a brooms-and-brushes store and Sundown will be a far, far better town—fit for a law-abiding man to raise a family, if anyone survives the vendetta that is certain to take place.

I saw two chapters of a Western series recently and I've got words of advice for the writers.

Do they want to trip over their Trences? Are they seeking to write themselves out of their jobs? Not a hanging or a shooting took place in either chapter. Cute dialogue, yes, though nothing enduring, like "When you say that, Mister, smile."

A Western without a little blood-letting is like a who-done-it without a corpse. "It looks like some hombre dry-gulched him, podner. . . Well, they've gone and done it now. Wyoming has strappened on his shootin' irons and is lookin' for the pole-cat what killed his brother. . . Head 'em off at the pass. . . You better git the boys and come with me, they're a-hangin' the wrong man."

"I'm waiting for the day when Texas Slim, lookin' for the varmints what polished off his Civil War buddy, wanders onto the 'Margaret's Marriage' set by mistake. I reckon Texas Slim would clear up Maggie's troubles with her snooty in-laws and her erring husband in a hurry. After all, he lets his six-gun do his talking for him.

Small City Plants 'Feet In Tomorrow'

PONCA CITY, Okla.—How can anyone who travels about this nation fail to marvel at its diversity and its forward surge? Or be a real pessimist when he glimpses the muscle beneath the fat?

Here, in the northwest corner of Oklahoma, is a small city with its feet firmly fixed in tomorrow. Its kids are growing up on intimate terms with the atom. And, like as not, the next-door neighbor is a brilliant young scientist who is helping to explore and tame this new force that can make or break the world.

It was not until I arrived in Ponca City for a brief visit that I discovered that the Continental Oil Company's big, sprawling headquarters on the edge of town includes a nuclear reactor and laboratory.

To me, it seemed quite extraordinary that I could visit—more or less at random—a small community and walk into the future. Because I was so genuinely interested in what Ponca City now takes for granted, R. L. Bosworth, vice president of Continental, arranged for me to visit the atomic laboratory.

Three aspects of that visit impressed me tremendously. First, it highlighted something that has been in the back of my mind for a decade—the fact that the atomic world is a young man's world. The head of this atomic laboratory is Dr. Peter J. Manno, 29, formerly of Tonnawanda, N. Y., who was a high-school student when the first atomic explosion at Alamogordo ushered in a new age. The laboratory's theoretical chemist is a Korean youth, Dr. Kang Yang, who has just turned 25. The old man of the laboratory is Dr. Oran Steffey, 32, physicist.

In the second place, I was profoundly impressed with the awesome power that man has unlocked in the atom. To protect man himself from the lethal effects of 60 pounds of radioactive fuel or materials, the fuel must be "buried" in a pool of water 18 feet deep and the walls of the pool sheathed in five feet of concrete, four feet of lead glass (50 per cent lead) and goodness knows how much unadulterated lead.

And, in the third place, I am fascinated by man's ingenuity in developing in a decade the most elaborate Ruby Goldberg mechanical apparatus and safety devices to permit him to handle this fuel which it would be death to touch.

What follows is only a minor by-product of man's steady progress in taming the atom for peaceful purposes. But it strikes me as being typical of American (1) know-how and (2) willingness to gamble on the future.

The fuel for the reactor in Ponca City comes from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's great installation at Arco, Idaho. Once every three to four months 60 pounds of new fuel must be brought here and the 60 pounds of "used" fuel returned. The fuel comes in four cylinders 30 inches long and three inches in diameter, each carrying a approximately 15 pounds of radioactive material.

For safety in transmission, these 60 pounds must be sheathed in 26,000 pounds of lead. Now in Joplin, Mo., there is the Tri-State Warehouse and Transportation Company. It had the courage to put its money into a truck trailer, looking like any other truck trailer, but concealing 13 tons of lead. This Joplin firm ferries the hot stuff back and forth between Ponca City and Arco, and doubtless a good many other reactors of which the general public is unaware.

I have only touched on the highlights of this exhilarating experience. I pass them on, hoping they will give you the same sort of lift and faith in a future that is bound to be strange to many of us, but wonderful, too.

Work Output And Depression Fear

Undoubtedly you recall the grim definition that wheezed around during the 1933-34 business recession: A readjustment is when a friend of yours loses his job. A recession is when your brother gets laid off. A depression is when you, yourself, start knocking on personnel office doors. That wheeze is being revived. America has 4,000,000 personal depressions walking around.

Those aren't official figures. They're an expert guess by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell on the number of unemployed. But they're close to the fact. The last official figure was for December, when there were 3,400,000 "depressions." Fifty-two out of every thousand persons in the labor force were jobless. And the percentage for this month and next will be higher.

For the persons out of work—for the four million—this is serious business. True, most of them draw unemployment compensation. But unemployment compensation is only about a third to 40 per cent of regular pay, if that. Less spending on groceries, clothes, entertainment, cigars, beer, or candy. Savings have to be dipped into for payments on the mortgage and installment purchases. Or money has to be borrowed from relatives or friends.

More than buying power is lost. A man who's laid off feels unwanted. His self-respect oozes. He becomes bitter—at himself, at society, at his boss. He's only part of a man. His attitude toward work, productivity, sour.

In America, we talk about the "free enterprise" system, about freedom. Irony: A man has the freedom to lose his job! This is what makes labor unions strong. This is what makes management weak. This is what causes featherbedding, stalling, "pacing the job."

Workers who see periodic depressions around them want to preserve employment. They stretch out the work. Every time an automobile goes off the assembly line, every time a typewriter is put together, every time a tractor is completed, there's that much less to do.

The specter of unemployment makes the speed-demon on the assembly line a pariah with his co-workers. Incentive pay schemes frequently fail because workers as a group, frown on the above-average producer—"He's taking work away from us."

The free enterprise system is described as a risk-taking system. The man who puts up the money, the capitalist, takes a risk. A money risk. But the worker also takes a risk.

If the business man makes poor decisions, operates inefficiently, misjudges his market—overproduces one year so that production falls the next—the worker loses his job. The executive who has made the error seldom loses his job; seldom loses his income; doesn't have to cut down on his table, tailor, or theater bills.

The stockholder loses his dividend, perhaps. The worker loses his livelihood.

At the Lincoln Electric Co., in Cleveland, which has had extraordinary success in the manufacture of arc-welding equipment in competition with much larger firms, workers are guaranteed a minimum of 30 hours of work per week. On top of that, the company has a profit-sharing plan.

Lincoln's success is often ascribed to its large end-of-the-year profit-sharing bonus, usually equal to a full year's wage or salary. J. F. Lincoln, president, 74-year-old originator of the plan, argues otherwise: Lincoln workers aren't afraid of working themselves out of jobs. They have the guarantee. If they suggest new methods, they'll benefit directly—in increased pay and indirectly in a share of greater profits. They're not under group pressure to keep down productivity. Just the opposite.

Four million depressed people isn't a major depression in a nation of 68,000,000 workers. It's a psychological barrier to greater productivity. American management's greatest task and opportunity is to moderate cyclical unemployment.

Those 4,000,000 personal depressions cross-purpose the worker and the boss. At any moment, for a reason he doesn't understand, the worker may be knocking on employment office doors.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Dust on out to the HCJC Gym tonight if you want to get a real treat.

There's a young man now performing for the Jayhawks who's the nearest thing to Marquis Haynes this writer has ever seen — a dribbling dude who can bounce a basketball down court faster than a lot of people can run the distance unencumbered.

He's Ray Clay of Hobbs, N.M., a midwestern enrollee at the local college, and he teams with Benny Carver to give the Jayhawks one of the finest guard combinations they have had in years. His show alone is worth the price of admission.

The similarity between him and Haynes, the one-time Harlem Globetrotter ace, is more than coincidental. Haynes taught him the tricks of the trade while visiting a relation in Hobbs one summer. And Ray learned well.

The Hawks as a whole put on a good show. It's a pleasant way to invest an evening.

Minneapolis papers are saying Jim Krebs, the former SMU All-American, is the most improved basketball player on the Laker pro team "because he had the farthest to come."

Minneapolis Coach John Kundla said of Krebs recently:

"He has just as good a shot as Clyde Lovellette (the former Kansas star). He's got a beautiful soft touch. All he has to do is to correct the hesitation in his shooting and he'll have it made."

Lamesa will stage its invitational golf tournament this year on April 18-19-20. Out of town entries will be permitted to qualify on their own courses.

The list of entries at Lamesa usually includes a number of local players.

Pat Brunson, Forsan's best track man in several years, was a mid-term enrollee at HCJC. The red-head has been attending Texas Tech.

The 1958 edition of the Official Volleyball Guide, published by the United States Volleyball Association, devotes nearly a page to the appearance of Anna Smith's Big Spring High School team in the 1957 National tournament at Memphis, Tenn.

The Secretites didn't win the meet but the publication says the local girls were the biggest hit in the show.

Here is an excerpt from the article, which was written by Headley Hagen:

"By coming to the Memphis Nationals, the Big Spring High School team gave volleyball the best shot in the arm it has had in years..."

Peggy Isaacs of Big Spring gained honorable mention on the All-American team.

Miss Smith and her girls had their pictures included in the 1958 Official Guide.

For the first 42 days of horse racing in Florida this year, the pari-mutuel handle was down $2,062,000 from last year. Bad weather is being blamed in part but the jai al games and dog racing have reaped a golden harvest.

Lew Burdette, Milwaukee's hero in the 1957 World Series, is here commanding $750 for each banquet appearance he's made this winter.

He's already collected in excess of $16,000 as speaking fees, with several weeks still to go.

ACC's famed Bobby Morrow, who'll make his first appearance in the American Business Club Relays here April 5, is also scheduled to run in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia three weeks later. It will be his first appearance in the East.

Coach Oliver Jackson of ACC has back his spring relay team, which has to its credit a world record clocking of 39.9 seconds. Under favorable conditions, the quartet could approach that record here.

The ACC foursome has also run the half mile in 1:23.7 Any one who has ever watched a track meet will tell you that's hard to beat.

Morrow runs anchor on the team. Other members are Raymond Griggs, Bill Woodhouse (the boy who twice was overlooked at the finish line in individual races last year) and Jim Segrest.

The sprint relay record in the ABC meet is 41.5 set by Oklahoma A&M last year. The half mile relay was not run in 1957.

Bill Talbert Is Eased Out As Captain Of Tennis Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The Western segment of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Ass. — the sport's ruling body — has taken control and eased Bill Talbert out of the Davis Cup captaincy.

It also reopened the question of an "open" tournament.

In a surprise move yesterday, apparently aimed at ending Eastern domination of the USLTA, Perry T. Jones, long-time czar of West Coast tennis, was named Davis Cup captain, succeeding Talbert, who had served since 1953.

The West has been opposed to the East's handling of America's tennis fortunes and the naming of Jones was apparently the coup in its rise to power.

The announcement was made by Victory Denny of Seattle, newly-elected president of the association, who at the same time disclosed sweeping changes in the

HAWKS AND McMURRY MEET HERE AT 8:00

HCJC's Jayhawks came off a four-game losing streak to upset Clarendon JC Friday night and hope to make it two wins in a row and 18 for the year in an 8 o'clock game with the McMurry Papposes here tonight.

Tipoff time is 8 o'clock. There'll be a preliminary game between girls' teams of the same schools, starting at 6 p.m.

HCJC lost an earlier decision to McMurry in Abilene, 86-74. HCJC boasted a 14-point lead at the half-time but left their game in the dressing room at the intermission. The loss ended a Jayhawk win streak at ten games.

McMurry blew an 89-83 verdict to Schreiner Institute in Kerrville last Saturday night. The Papposes fell behind at half time in that way, 61-42, and could never recover.

Charles Baker and Ronnie Lowe are the leading basket threats for McMurry. Baker counted 25 points against Schreiner, Lowe 17. Incidentally, Schreiner made only one more field goal than did the Papposes but proved deadly from the free throw line.

The HCJC-Clarendon game here last Friday night was perhaps the most exciting witnessed by local fans this season. The Hawks won a 68-67 decision in overtime, despite the fact that they lost four players on fouls.

Larry Glore, the locals' top rebounder all season, grabbed 29 off the boards against the Bulldogs. He has been Coach Harold Davis' most reliable hand, game in and game out.

The dribbling of freshman Ray Clay, who joined the Hawks at midweek, had the fans beguiled, too. He did much to turn the tide in the waning minutes, along with Benny Carver.

Clay, Carver and Glore are apt to start tonight, along with Bill Borries and Tommy Zinn or John Tindle, Mike Musgrove, Dale Woodruff and Jess McElreath can look forward to seeing a lot of action.

The Hawks are a ugon ball club and their inexperience shows at times but they hustle. Too, their depth stands them in good stead. Not many teams can lose four players, as they did against Clarendon, and still win.

The game is the first of three for HCJC this week. They head north Friday for important games with Clarendon and Amarillo — their final road tests of the current campaign.

They close out here next week against Frank Phillips and Odessa.

All-Around Athlete

Biggest scoring threat on the Forsan High School girls' basketball team is Nedelene Pitcock, pictured above with her coach, W. M. Romans. Nedelene, a senior, also runs track and plays volleyball.

Able to shoot with either hand, Nedelene has averaged 21 points a game in basketball this year and 27 since Christmas. She was an all-tournament selection in Christoval and Garden City. Her team is second to Knot in the District 19-B race.

TUESDAY NIGHT Cage Queen Will Be Crowned Here

A 1958 Big Spring High School Basketball Queen will be crowned immediately prior to the varsity basketball game between Abilene and Big Spring here tomorrow night.

The game should attract one of the biggest crowds of the season. For one thing, the Bovines will be playing their final regular season game of the campaign. For another, Abilene is usually a good draw here and can always be counted upon to play the Steers to the hilt.

Then Queen Contest is attracting much interest, especially among high school students. Then, too, All-Star teams chosen from the elementary teams will tangle at 5 p.m.

Lineups for the grade school contestants are to be announced sometime today. The coaches are C. W. Tanner of East Ward and Kate Morrison's Dan Bustamante. All basketball players in the city schools, from elementary grades on up, will be present and with their teams. That includes the junior high quintets and the C team.

Each team will be introduced. Abilene's B team will take the court against the Dogies in a 6:15 p.m. game. The varsity contest should begin about 8:10 p.m., or immediately after the queen is crowned.

The queen, incidentally, will be selected in a vote among the basketball players, as per custom. The Steers need to win tomorrow night to insure a continued hold on first place in District 2-AAAA standings, a spot they now share with Odessa. The Bronchos visit Midland for a game.

Odessa hosts Big Spring Friday night in the all-important conference finale.

Cincy Cats Play Braves Wednesday

Oscar Robertson and the Cincinnati Bearcats have an opportunity this week to avenge their only loss thus far in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race. The Bearcats and the Braves collide head-on at Cincinnati Wednesday and here's the way things stack up:

Cincinnati ranks 3 in the nation in The Associated Press basketball poll. It leads the Missouri Valley on an 8-1 record in conference play. Bradley ranks 11 and is runner-up in the conference at 7-1. Cincinnati's Robertson is No. 2 in the individual scoring race with an average of 32.94 points a game, less than a point behind the 33.72 set by Elgin Baylor of Seattle.

Bradley beat Cincinnati 79-73 earlier in the season. A victory over Cincinnati, and over Drake at Peoria Saturday, would give Bradley a neat hold on the conference lead at the end of the week.

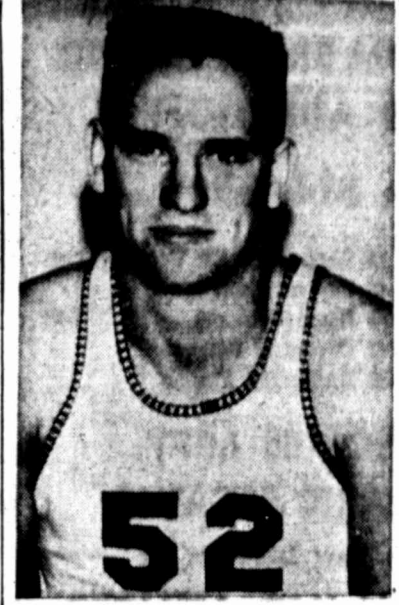

administration of the organization. Denny said his group would continue to explore the possibilities of an open tournament — which would match amateurs and professionals.

In Los Angeles, Perry dodged direct questions about his plans for reviving America's Davis Cup hopes of dethroning the long-reigning Australians.

Denny said he had personally appointed Jones but added that the decision was no reflection on the work of Talbert.

"We thought," said Denny, "that Talbert did a marvelous job, but it was never intended that one man should hold the Davis Cup captaincy permanently."

"Jones" has proved himself a wonderful administrator and developer of talent. We think he will do a great job for us in that capacity."

Handy Man

Rangi Gilbert Bell (above) of Meadow, although only a freshman, has been of invaluable service to the HCJC Jayhawk basketball team this season. He'll see his share of a tilt against McMurry's Papposes here tonight.

Training Starts

HOUSTON (AP) — Spring football training starts today for the 72 members of the University of Houston team.

Eight Former Champs To Be In Field At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Winners of four of six tournaments along the winter trail plus the men who set three PGA records here will be in the field at this week for the storied $150,000 Texas Open.

Jay Hebert, the Louisianian who won last year over a toughened Brackenridge Park course that withstood a record onslaught, heads eight former champions who will seek their third-first championship of this the oldest big money tournament on the winter tour.

Frank Stranahan, winner at Los Angeles; E. J. Harrison, who took first money at Tijuana, and Ken Venturi, champion at both the Thunderbird and Phoenix tournaments, will try for the title. Harrison has won this tournament twice before—in 1956 and 1951.

Appearing will be Billy Casper, champion of the Bing Crosby, and Lionel Hebert, who yesterday won the Tucson Open. And also there will be no Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald or National Open and World winner Dick Mayer. Jimmy Demaret, always a top contender here, also may not play this time.

But most of the other top names in golf will be moving in today for tuneups over the 6,400-yard Brackenridge Park course. Tomorrow the hotshots of the tournament trail will fire in a pro-amateur invitational at Oak Hills Country Club.

In 1954 Chandler Harper set a PGA record for 54 holes with 189 and tied the record for 36 holes with 126 while winning the tournament.

The league is expected to be Class C and will play 120 games.

Mickey Crawford To Meet Tex Gonzalez Tonight

Madison Square Garden, Redl is just back from service. Kerwin, a Canadian who now lives in Valley Stream, N.Y., has captured the fancy of fans in recent bouts with Johnny Busso and Jimmy Archer.

Kerwin, 23, stepped in against Busso on short notice as a sub and dropped a decision in a close fight. In his first Garden main event under his own steam, he whipped Archer Dec. 20.

Redl is unbeaten with a 17-0 record including 13 knockouts.

Joey Giardello, the No. 4 middleweight contender from Philadelphia, keeps busy while he waits for Carmen Basilio and Sugar Ray Robinson to finish their business. Giardello takes on Franz Szuzina of Germany in a Wednesday show at the Philadelphia Arena. It's a rematch, in 1956 at Milwaukee. Giardello won a decision over Franz.

Lionel Hebert Wins Tucson Links Meet

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Conservative golf gave Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., the championship of the Tucson Open and sent him to the San Antonio Open this week richer by $2,000.

Playing his shots with caution after taking the lead on the second hole of the final round, the PGA champ came home with a 66 for the par-70, 6,434-yard El Rio layout. He had a 72-hole total of 256, 15 under par.

Putting played a big role in his first medal play win of the PGA circuit. For several weeks before, putting had been troubling him.

IN FAYETTEVILLE Ponies, Porkers Collide Tuesday

Southern Methodist, which beat Arkansas at home, will try to do it on the road Tuesday night and this game should have far-reaching effect in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The campaign rolls down the stretch with Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Rice in a virtual tie for the lead. Arkansas is a half-game to the good over SMU and Rice because it has played one more conference game.

Rice gave the race a 3-way complexion Saturday when the Owls did the unbelievable—they felled Arkansas 63-59 on the Razorbacks' home court. It indicated that Rice finally had arrived.

Texas pulled a startling upset when it knocked over Texas Tech 71-59 to shove the latter down to fourth place.

But Tech is only a game and a half away from Arkansas and Texas A&M and Texas still are in the race. Texas Christian has an outside chance. Baylor, loser of eight, can be considered out of the race but still capable of upsetting somebody.

That might come Tuesday night when Baylor hosts Texas Tech.

Rice gets Texas A&M at Houston. It's the last chance for A&M. Wednesday night, Texas tries to cling on in a game with Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

A lot of things happen Saturday night with Arkansas playing Texas Tech at Lubbock in the feature. Southern Methodist will engage Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Texas and Texas A&M get together at Austin and Baylor entertains Rice at Waco.

Southern Methodist whipped Texas Christian 87-67 last week to run its home winning streak to 25 straight conference games.

Arkansas beat Texas Christian 54-46, Rice swamped Texas 102-68 and Texas A&M beat Baylor 60-51 in other conference games during the week.

Ronnie Stevenson of Texas Christian became the first player to go over the 300-point mark for

Robertson Bids For Point Lead

Major college basketball, given a lift by the three-way scrap for the individual scoring title, plods deeper into the now-or-never stage this week in the run for conference championships and postseason tournament berths.

Cincinnati's Bearcats figure in both angles in a pair of games. Oscar Robertson is bidding to overhaul Elgin Baylor of Seattle in return bouts with Bradley and Oklahoma State.

The Bearcats, whose only defeats in 18 games came at Bradley and Oklahoma State, get the home break in these two. A victory over Bradley Wednesday would go a long way toward clinching the Missouri Valley Conference title and an automatic NCAA Tournament berth.

Cincinnati is 8-1 in conference play. Bradley, 6-1 in the Mo-Valley and 13-4 over-all after Saturday's 64-32 defeat at Oklahoma State, figures to defend its NIT crown if it places second in the conference race.

Neither game figures to be an easy-scoring night for Oscar, particularly the Saturday meeting with Oklahoma State's ball-control bunch.

Don Chapman counted two goals and Eugene Walker one in the first game while Walker got two and Chapman one in the afterpiece.

In the second go, Lubbock grabbed a 5-1 lead and never eased up.

Still later, Big Spring played a practice game with Levelland and the two teams tied, 2-2. Walker made both goals for Big Spring in that one.

Performing for Big Spring, in addition to Walker and Chapman, were Tex Wamble, Bill McMahon and Harold Caldwell.

Life Won't Change Much For 'Crusoe'

By DONNELL COLPEPPER
Long Beach, Calif., Independent and Press-Telegram

LONESOME LAKE, B. C., Feb. 10 (AP)—After spending 43 incredible do-it-yourself years in the frozen northland, Ralph A. Edwards, a snowbound Robinson Crusoe, suddenly faces the prospect of life in a prefabricated dwelling with modern, factory-hewn plumbing.

What's more, having lived most of his life in the soft sheen of northern lights, Edwards now for the first time feels the hot glare of publicity beating down on his snow white beard.

Both experiences could be unsettling for a 66-year-old man who in his prime left the sunny farmlands of northern California for a solitary life among the towering spruce forests of British Columbia. With an axe and rifle for tools, and with grizzly bears, moose, deer and trumpeter swans for companions, the 5-foot-5 Edwards lived alone and liked it.

Alone, that is, for 11 years. Then in 1923 he hiked 40 miles each way over what he calls his "ding-blasted trail" to woo and win pretty Ethel Hober, a frontiersman's daughter 13 years his junior. Together they reared a hardy family amid the awesome loneliness of Lonesome Lake.

It took a best selling biography and a television show to force the world into Edwards' wintry walled-in.

Author Leland Stowe in his "Crusoe of Lonesome Lake" was the first to arouse public interest in the little wilderness settlement. The story caught the eye of T. L. St. John, no relation, who put the 20th century pioneer on his nationwide "This is Your Life" program last Christmas night.

And now people all over the north country are asking the same question. Can life at Lonesome Lake ever be the same again?

Those who know Edwards best—that is, those who live north of Vancouver and south of Bella Couli—say that it can and will. They say nothing could ever change Edwards' character, his outlook on life and his happy, adventurous spirit.

And this writer is convinced they are right.

Edwards' mode of living may change, but then only slightly. He and Ethel will have a new two-bedroom cabin, prefabricated in Michigan, as a gift from the TV show. And its inside plumbing will be an innovation.

But life will go on pretty much as it did when Edwards first brought Ethel to Lonesome Lake 35 years ago.

A HARD LIFE

Then a tiny farm was grudgingly won from the wilderness. Edwards built a crude ferry to bring cattle across the lake, a water wheel to power a 60-watt bulb for his long, happy hours of reading, and a combine to thresh the grain.

Ethel rode over the trail on horseback to give birth to her first.

Explorer Aids Map Experts

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The satellite Explorer is giving map experts a big hand in correcting errors of distance on the earth surface.

Over vast areas such as the Pacific there now may be a large variation between the actual distance of two points and that shown on the most accurate maps.

A department of the Army release discussed the use to which the satellite is being put. Map experts will improve their calculations by using the Explorer as a reference point instead of the moon. The satellite was launched Jan. 31 from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Dr. John O'Keefe, Army Map Service geologist, is working with Dr. Charles A. Lundquist, missile agency physicist.

O'Keefe said the Explorer will help reduce mapping errors in the Pacific region from three-quarters of a mile to 300 feet and ultimately will lead to precision "on the order of 30 feet throughout the world."

Boy Hurt In Blast Of Match Rocket

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Michael Newey, 13, was in a Sacramento hospital today because a homemade rocket blew up in his face.

The boy, a junior high school student, and a companion were stuffing match heads into a metal cylinder yesterday when the device exploded and scattered pieces of metal.

Two of young Newey's fingers had to be amputated. He also suffered body cuts. He is the son of Ray C. Newey, Sacramento.

Police said Newey and Robert Langner were loading the rocket in the latter's garage when the explosion occurred. The Langner boy was not hurt, police said.

Actress Bitten

ROMA (AP)—Screen actress Audrey Hepburn was bitten on the right arm by a monkey while filming "The Nun's Story" in the Belgian Congo, a Warner Brothers official reported today in a telegram from Stanleyville.

baby in town, but Ralph played doctor for the delivery of their other two children, a boy and a girl.

In 1929 Edwards' log cabin home burned to the ground. The family moved into the hastily refurbished chicken coop. The fire also destroyed his library of technical books which he used for help in subdividing the wilderness.

The boys grew up and left the valley for careers in the outer world. Daughter Trudy stayed. When Trudy married engineer Jack Turner, who like her father hit the long mountain trail for his courting visits, the couple moved into a log cabin, two miles away.

The new cabin to replace the dwelling destroyed in the 1929 fire will be flung in piece by piece from Vancouver Island this spring. Edwards admits it's like "carrying coals to Newcastle," but it would take him at least eight years to cut timber and fashion beams and joints for a cabin of similar dimensions. As soon as the parts arrive, a score of friends will fly in to help erect the new home.

In the future, Edwards will not have to depend quite so heavily on the luck of his trap lines and the produce from his small farm for a livelihood. There will be a small income from royalties on the books which Stowe split down the middle with him.

Although there is talk of making a movie of his adventures, Edwards is confident he will never be a wealthy man and even more confident that Lonesome Lake will be his home for the remaining years of his life.

The cabin may change, the plumbing may change, but that nothing can ever change the serene personality of this mild-mannered man with piercing blue eyes who never spent a lonesome day at Lonesome Lake.
