Too Wet To Plow

Barney Edens really had no intentions of trying to plow at his place three miles north on the Snyder Highway. He fired up his tractor to try out and make a road to his place passable after four days of drizzle and rain. The fields were soaked and the borrow ditches were brimming, but Barney couldn't be happy until he got the road open so the lady can get up to the house with The Herald.

'AS GOOD — OR BETTER — THAN EVER'

Sun Shines Down On Soaked Earth, Bright Crop Outlook

By JOE PICKLE
Fog rolled back Monday morning on a bright spring day and equally bright prospects.

In fact, old timers were divided on whether the outlook was the best ever—or just as good. They were unanimous, however, that last week's slow rains, drizzles and mist, mixed with persistent fog, had left the fields and pastures in prime condition.

At Elbow, south of Big Spring where rains have missed for years, Ted Fields said "I've never seen anything like it. We got 14 inches but every drop fell just as it was needed. I've been here 30 years and I've never seen the ground in as good shape as before these rains—and now, well it looks wonderful. Looks like we'll have a late spring, but we'll have something to go on."

Lomax, in the southwest part of the county has been "snake-bitten" like Elbow when it came to showers, but that's all different now. Everett Lomax said "it's every bit gone into the ground. I've got some wheat that's in such good shape now I think I'll keep the cattle out and let it make. We're going to have all the weeds they can eat anyhow. The fields are in excellent shape, best I've seen it in a long, long time."

HARVARD RESEARCHER BURSTS NOTIONS OF DIETING EFFECTS

FORT WORTH — A leading Harvard physician-nutritionist exploded widespread notions yesterday about diet and the causes of heart attacks and strokes.

On the basis of research at Harvard, Dr. Frederick Stare said he and associates found that:
In nine out of ten cases, people overweight should not undergo dieting in attempt to take off pounds and lessen chances of heart disease.

Cholesterol—which has gained such wide attention as a cause of hardening of the arteries—is not fat and, generally, the cholesterol content in a person's diet "has relatively little to do with the cholesterol content of the blood."

Republicans Accuse Truman Of Dangerous 'Fear' Drive

WASHINGTON — Republicans accused former President Truman today of conducting a "fear" campaign they said could bring about an economic depression.

Truman's Saturday night broadside against the "economic misrule" he said had produced a Republican recession was assailed by leading GOP senators as a disservice to efforts to slow the business downturn and to lift employment.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said he agrees with Truman's statements that the country is "tired of being bamboozled by the Republicans" and is likely to give the Democrats sweeping victories in this year's congressional races and in the 1960 presidential contest.

Ike Makes Sharp Reply To Truman

Scores Men Of 'Little Faith'

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today that "America is strong, America is healthy" and this is "no time to listen to the people who are men of little faith, little spirit."

Eisenhower's words appeared beamed directly at former President Harry S. Truman. At a Democratic money-raising dinner in his honor, Truman lit into the Eisenhower administration Saturday night.

Rains End But Floods Continue

Near-record flooding by Wednesday was predicted Monday as crests raced down South Texas streams swollen by four days of downpours.

Heavy damage to farmlands, bedded for spring planting, was reported along the Little River in South Central Texas.

At Cuero, the Guadalupe River reached 34 feet but no damage was expected in the city itself. A crest of 34 feet, 3.6 above last spring's peak mark, was expected at Cuero.

WHEN A KILLER WENT MAD

City Won't Soon Forget Its 48 Hours Of Terror

By ODELL HANSON
 The public service sign on Lincoln's National Bank of Commerce at 13th and O streets read: "Today is Monday, Jan. 27." It was an uncommonly common day, and the fear that soon was to overwhelm the city had touched only an unfavorable few.

One of these was Robert von Busch, 18.

Von Busch arose earlier than most. By 5 a.m. he had breakfasted, left his flat just up the street from Lincoln's police station, climbed in his garbage truck and was off on his rounds.

As he wheeled his truck through the suburbs, he reviewed in his mind the strange conjunction at the home of his mother-in-law Mrs. Marion Bartlett at 924 Belmont St. I had a feeling something was wrong, he recalled later.

He thought of Carl Ann Fugate, the 14-year-old sister of his wife Barbara. He thought of Charlie Starkweather, the bow-legged 19-year-old one-time garbage collector who was Carl's boy friend.

Robert and his wife had not seen Mrs. Bartlett, Barbara's mother, for days. Neither, apparently, had anyone else.

On Saturday Robert and Barbara had gone to the Belmont Street address only to be turned away at the door by Carl, who insisted her mother and stepfather were ill with the flu and under doctor's orders to see no one. It hadn't made sense and police had been called to investigate. They too encountered Carl at the door and got the same story.

Von Busch, with a companion, decided to see for himself.

"We went out in back," he recalls. "We looked in the old chicken coop. There was something wrapped in paper. It was the body of the old man. Then we saw the other body.

"We went to the police station."

In moments, police and sheriff's officers had jammed the unpaved street in front of the death house. They put the body of 57-year-old Marion Bartlett in one ambulance. They removed the quilt-wrapped body of his 35-year-old wife, Velda, from an outhouse and were just sending this second ambulance on its way when a probing flashlight caught the remains of 2-year-old Betty Jean Bartlett in a cardboard box.

A police pickup order went out for Carl Ann and her boy friend, Starkweather, the bespectacled kid who couldn't seem to keep a job, who had been kicked out of one school for fighting and whose passions were guns and hot rods.

Newsboys echoed the police radio call for information on the whereabouts of Starkweather and his girl.

A vague fear began to nibble at the city.

Teen-Age Victims

At Bennet, Neb., a peaceful village of 350 residents 19 miles southeast of Lincoln, Carl Songer heard the news later than many that fatal night.

Carl lives in Bennet and serves on the village school board and works in Lincoln as superintendent of the Nebraska Neon Sign Co.

On Monday night, Carl and three fellow townsmen got together at the home of Bennet general store operator Robert Jensen for a card game.

Jensen's 17-year-old son Bobby Jr. wasn't home at the time. He had left about 7:30 p.m. for an auto ride with his schoolmate girl friend, Carol King, 16.

By radio newscast and by telephone calls from his wife in Bennet, Songer kept up with developments. Starkweather's car had been found in the driveway to bachelor farmer August Meyer's place a mile and a half from Bennet. Authorities thought they might have Starkweather trapped at the farm home. A tear gas assault turned up an empty house but behind it, in a wash house, lay the body of 70-year-old Meyer, shot to death.

"I knew August Meyer," says Songer. "I knew there was no reason in the world for anyone to harm him."

Songer hurried home to Bennet, in time to get the rest of the chilling news: bodies of Bobby and Carol had been found in an unused storm cellar about half a mile from Meyer's farm place, riddled with small-caliber bullets. The killer still was on the loose.

"That's when terror really took hold," says Songer.

Similar emotions enveloped Lincoln, too.

Six persons, from a harmless 2-year-old girl to a harmless 70-year-old bachelor, butchered without reason.

"It had to be Charlie," said Robert Von Busch. "Anything can come out of Charlie. He's that kind of guy. You never knew what he was going to try to pull off, but I never thought he'd pull off anything like this."

But the course was not yet run. This was murder by three, and the third set was still to come.

In Lincoln, Ray Osborn was just one of thousands carried along by the gripping story as it unfolded.

Osborn is a member of the State Liquor Control Commission, a resident of Lincoln since 1912. As a former city commissioner and former city director of welfare and safety, his interest in law enforcement was more than casual.

When he heard about the gruesome discoveries at Bennet, Osborn thought of his own family, his six grandchildren.

"I phoned my daughter and daughter-in-law and told them to lock their doors without fail."

"I thought what everybody was thinking: 'Who is going to be next?'"

The answer came early Wednesday afternoon.

One of the office girls came up excitedly and asked, "Isn't Lauer Ward a friend of yours?""

Osborn said: "Yes. Why?"

"He's been murdered by that killer."

News reports supplied the details. Bodies of C. Lauer Ward, 48-year-old Lincoln business executive; his wife, Clara, 46; and their housekeeper, Lillian Fencil, 51, had been found in the spacious Ward home. Ward had been shot, the women stabbed.

Hybrid To Boost Grain Sorghums

LUBBOCK, Feb. 24 — Hybrid grain sorghums will make up 90 per cent of that crop's production within the next 10 years, increasing income from it by millions of dollars, a six-man panel predicted at Texas Tech.

The panel appeared at the fourth annual grain drying and storage conference held Thursday and Friday at Tech.

The group also made the following predictions regarding grain sorghum hybrids:

They will be made more drought resistant and palatable and will have better uniformity of quality. Success with their production will stimulate seed and fertilizer sales and cause expansion of handling, storage and transportation facilities.

Their development as a "surfer" crop will make lending agencies more receptive to helping farmers get into production.

These results will spur research into hybrids of all kinds.

Panel participants were Dr. N. W. Kramer, Jim Lindsey, and Archie Campbell, Lubbock; Delmar G. "Bill" Nelson, Amarillo; Dr. Johnny H. Davis, Halfway; and Dr. Clark Harvey, Tech.

Ike Returns After Visit To Phoenix

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower flew back to Washington today from his Southern vacation and a 3,000-mile side trip to escort his wife to Phoenix, Ariz.

The presidential plane Columbia III landed at National Airport at 6:56 a.m. Only the White House military and naval aides were on hand as a welcoming party.

The Eisenhowers vacationed for 10 days in Georgia in weather that kept the President mostly indoors. Then they flew with two guests to Phoenix, where Mrs. Eisenhower is taking a second vacation of her own. She is staying at the exclusive Maine Chance health and beauty resort.

Eisenhower took advantage of his one-day stay in Phoenix to get in his first full round of golf since November.

After 18 holes in 75-degree temperature at Paradise Valley Country Club, he told Phoenix newspaper publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, a member of his foursome: "I haven't felt so good in six months as I do right now."

"And you know something, if I can persuade Mamie to stay out here for about two weeks, I'm going to do everything possible to rearrange my schedule so I can come back for a long four-day weekend of this wonderful sunshine."

Others in the foursome were White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and club pro Al Zimmerman. Hagerty, who told newsmen that Eisenhower "shot about 90," added that nothing definite has been decided about a return visit.

Looking ruddy and rested, the President waved his homburg at thousands who jammed alongside the airport's entrance wall, shouting greetings and waving welcome placards.

Thousands more saw the President drive off for the golf course in a hard-top convertible. Mrs. Eisenhower departed in her personal limousine for the swank desert resort.

At the golf course, the President left the first tee with only a few followers, but as he toured the first nine holes he collected a sizable gallery. Before teeing off on the 10th hole, Zimmerman asked the crowd to permit the President to play the back nine "in more quiet fashion." The gallery left the foursome.

But thousands more continued to jam the course, some climbing over fences, to get a glimpse of the President, U.S. Secret Service men, carrying golf bags that only partially concealed automatic weapons, had a busy day patrolling the fairways.

In Mrs. Eisenhower's party at the resort are her sister Mrs. Gordon Moore of Washington and Mrs. Ellis D. Slater of New York City, wife of the former board chairman of Frankfort Distilleries.

The ladies will be staying at a 500-a-week, nine-room, white brick cottage especially redecorated for Mrs. Eisenhower.

Insurance Firm Claims Record For Business Volume

HOUSTON, Feb. 24 — Oil Industries Life Insurance Co. has established a new sales record, Duane E. Kuntz, executive vice president, said today.

In three and one half years, O. I. L. has achieved $100,247,303 ordinary life insurance in force. The previous record in reaching the $100,000,000 was five years after an insurance company was organized. Iowa Life held the old record, Kuntz said.

O. I. L. started with $9,000,000 and Texas and the fourth company in the U. S. to post $1,000,000 capital and surplus in cash before writing business. O. I. L. wrote over $33,000,000 of ordinary life the first year of operation again beating Iowa life record.

O. K. L. started with $1,000,000 and after three and one half years of operation, in which time it has paid out over $200,000 in dividends, still has over $900,000 in capital and surplus and over $100,000,000 insurance in force, the best record of any new company in the world.

The company was formed in 1954 under the leadership of president John Bennick and board chairman Dale Mayors as a vehicle for those who earn their living in the oil industry. J. V. Younger of Sweetwater is district manager for the Big Spring area. B. F. Everett is general agent in Big Spring and C. H. New Life For An Old Church

By HARVEY SCANDRETT
 Associated Press Writer
 SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24 (AP) — New life has come to the historic Little Church of La Villita.

On week days the sturdy stone chapel, four blocks from the Alamo, offers a retreat for a prayer or a rest to many pilgrims to the Shrine of Texas Liberty.

The church's guest register in a recent week disclosed visitors from such widely separated spots as Australia, Ireland, Massachusetts and Mexico.

On Sunday evenings, the city-owned Little Church fulfills its function as a place of active worship, with services conducted by a businessman-pastor.

The renewed activity of the Little Church, whose history as San Antonio's second oldest Protestant church dates back to 1844, began a little more than a year ago. It had stood mostly idle in recent years, used intermittently as an evangelistic temple and a lodge hall.

The Rev. Paul Souppiset, a licensed Methodist minister, took over the pastorate late in 1956 shortly after arriving from Houston to manage a women's apparel store.

The chance to reopen the church on a nondenominational basis, he felt, was an answer to prayer, since it had been his unfulfilled desire to establish a downtown chapel for Houston business people.

Souppiset and his assistant, Robert Harmon, serve without pay. The church program is supported entirely by gifts.

Gaither Principal Sees Grave Peril

ATLANTA (AP) — The original head of the commission which prepared the Gaither report on this nation's defenses says the security of America and the free world is in unprecedented peril.

H. Rowan Gaither Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation, told a meeting of the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation yesterday: "Our security is in peril not because I believe a total nuclear war is imminent or inevitable but because there are mounting political, economic and social forces, strongly abetted by the threat of nuclear extinction, which can disintegrate the fabric and will of free nations and enslave mankind."

Envoy Arrives In Tunis Fuss

PARIS (AP) — American envoy Robert Murphy arrived in Paris today for the next stage of his quest for settlement of the French-Tunisian dispute.

After talks in London with the British member of the two-man "good offices" mission, Murphy flew to Paris to see Premier Felix Gaillard and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

The U.S. deputy undersecretary of state is expected to go on to Tunis tomorrow to see President Habib Bourguiba and members of his government.

Murphy will be followed to Paris shortly by his British colleague Harold Beley. Foreign Office undersecretary of state. There was speculation that the Briton was remaining in London to serve as a link between Murphy and Tunisian diplomats there.

Tunisia's ambassador was withdrawn from Paris after the French bombing of the border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef Feb. 8, the incident which produced the present tense crisis between France and her former North African protectorate.

The tension of the past several days in Tunisia was relaxed somewhat when Tunisian authorities issued permits for journalists to visit areas in the west of the country, near the Algerian border. The newsmen had been barred by an order two days ago.

Kinsey Institute Issues First Report Since Scientist's Death

NEW YORK (AP)—One in 10 American women becomes pregnant before marriage, the Kinsey Institute reported today.

Of those pregnancies which do not lead to quick marriages, 89 per cent end in abortion, the institute said, 6 per cent produce illegitimate children and 5 per cent end in miscarriage.

A copyrighted article in the current issue of McCall's magazine is based on the report, the first issued by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University since the death of the institute's founder, Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, in 1956. The report, titled "Pregnancy, Birth and Abortion," also said: Among all women of child-bearing age now alive, one in seven has had or will have a premarriage abortion.

Most unmarried women who undergo abortions continue sexual relations afterward. Only 3 per cent stop.

"Shotgun weddings" are comparatively rare. Only 19 per cent of single women who become pregnant marry during their pregnancies. Half these marriages eventually break up.

Women born during the Gay 90s were less sexually promiscuous than those who reached adolescence during and after the Roaring 20s. The flaming youth of the 20s apparently set a new sexual pattern for the nation. Two-thirds of the single women who have had abortions reported no unfavorable consequences whatever.

The more devoutly religious a woman is, the less likely she is to become pregnant before marriage.

Of women who marry after reaching 30 years of age, 31 per cent having premarital sexual relations become pregnant and 30 per cent have abortions.

The magazine article is based on the third book in the famous Kinsey reports on sexual behavior to be published May 14.

The statistics are derived from the group of nearly 8,000 women interviewed for the institute's 1953 report, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." After eliminating certain women who remained a sample of 5,293.

In its 1953 report of female sex behavior, the institute said half the women questioned had sexual experience before marriage. Of these, one in five becomes pregnant, the new report said.

"Pregnancy before marriage is not just a rare problem, not just a mischance which affects an occasional ignorant farm girl—but a widespread social problem," the report said.

What kind of women are most likely to have sexual relations before marriage and become pregnant? It depends on many factors, according to the article, varying from "a chance fragrance in the summer air" to "a woman's own sexual appetite."

The report said that of women who become pregnant before marriage most are married and "presumably are as happy as any other wives."

In fact, more women with premarital sex relations married than those who never had any premarital sexual relations.

The report indicated that abortions were performed by physicians, persons who had attended medical school for a brief time, and some who had picked up a smattering of medical knowledge.

The price of abortions, the survey said, is increasing. Up through the 1920s, the median price of an abortion was $76. In the 1940s, it jumped to $143 and is considered even higher now.

Commenting on its findings, the institute said: "To keep one's self and/or one's suitors at a high pitch of emotional and sexual excitement for 5 to 10 years from the beginning of dating to marriage, and meanwhile abstain from sexual relations is, biologically speaking, a most unnatural as well as difficult task."

Nation May Take Recession Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both the Eisenhower administration and Democratic leaders in Congress may swing into action with recovery measures—including tax cut proposals—if the economy doesn't pick up next month.

However, some Republican leaders professed to see signs that the economy is about to stage a comeback.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said "I would think so" when he was asked if it was the consensus of the Cabinet that a tax cut should be proposed if unemployment continues to rise next month.

But Mitchell said he expects unemployment to decline in March after reaching a peak of perhaps 4,600,000 or 4,700,000 jobless this month. Unemployment in January was reported as nearly 4½ million, or 5.8 per cent of the total civilian working force.

There already are signs the employment situation is improving, the labor secretary said in a television interview. But he said if the business lag should get worse the administration will "do whatever is necessary" to reverse the trend.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said that if things don't start looking better in March the Democrats in Congress will "move immediately into the breach" with legislation now being drafted. Mansfield didn't specifically mention tax reduction, but it is known Democratic congressional leaders are considering such action.

Administration economic officials have predicted a business upturn by midyear.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said in a television interview there are a number of indicators "which I think give us reasonable grounds to believe that there will be a real revitalization of the economy."

As for a tax cut, Anderson said the administration does "not rule out the possibility . . . should it prove to be warranted."

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said a number of actions taken so far have had encouraging results. In this connection, he mentioned interest rate reducing moves by the Federal Reserve Board. And he said steps are being taken to speed up payments on defense contracts.

Meanwhile, a government report said the total value of all goods and services dropped from an annual rate of 440 billion dollars to 432½ billions in the final quarter of 1957. The Commerce Department said, however, that the gross national product for the year totaled 434½ billions. The output was at new highs both in volume and value.

Knowland Sets Sights On Later President Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964—or possibly 1968—Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said in an interview. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon from the race.

The Republican leader said he had no intention of "Shermanizing" himself to the extent of saying he would not accept the nomination or would not serve if elected. He referred to the statement made after the Civil War by Gen. William T. Sherman.

Knowland said he has no present intention of entering any presidential primaries in 1960. Nixon is expected to enter that year's primaries and there has been speculation that he might be embarrassed by having another Californian as one of his opponents.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to bide his time until 1964 or even 1968.

The Knowland strategy apparently takes into account the possibility that Nixon might be nominated and defeated in 1960 and thus open up the field for Knowland in 1964. If Nixon were elected in 1960 and again in 1964, Knowland still would be available in 1968 if he continued to hold the California governorship.

Knowland denied there was any deal between him and Nixon which brought his statement of preference for his California colleague. Previously Nixon had said he would support Knowland for the Republican nomination for governor when it appeared that Gov. Goodwin J. Knight would persist in seeking renomination. Subsequently Knight withdrew from the governor's race and entered the primary contest for the seat Knowland is vacating.

Trucker Knocks Out Assailant

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A Fort Worth couple told yesterday of a hitchhiker who threatened the wife and stabbed the husband several times as he grappled with the man.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Reece told officers they picked up the man about 11 miles west of here. Reece said a few minutes after getting into the car, the hitchhiker pressed a knife against Mrs. Reece's throat, told him to keep driving and "Don't blow your horn."

Reece, 32, said he slammed on his brakes and threw the man off balance. His wife, 29, jumped from the auto and Reece grappled with the man. He said he was stabbed several times before a passing trucker stopped and knocked the assailant out with a shovel.

Sheriff's deputies said the man was a state hospital mental patient on a weekend pass, but they said they did not learn his identity. He was returned to the State Hospital here.

Reece was treated at a hospital for minor wounds and returned to Electra, where the couple was visiting.

Salt Deposits Said Solution To Nuclear Wastes Problem

DALLAS (AP)—Roy Morton, president of the American Public Health Assn., said yesterday natural salt deposits may be the answer to the problem of where to dispose of radioactive wastes.

The Oak Ridge, Tenn., head of the 13,000-member APHA, was in Dallas to address the Texas Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting, which opened yesterday.

A sanitary engineer doing health physics research, Morton said the present practice of storing radioactive wastes in concrete tanks is a stopgap solution.

Investigation Continues Into Fatal 'Copter Crash

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP)—Investigation continued today into the crash of three Army helicopters in blinding fog with death to six airmen. An Army officer said the pilots had no training or instruments to cope with fog.

The three helicopters slammed into a rocky hill 15 miles east of Red Bluff Saturday. There had been no collision.

Flying at 200 to 300 feet elevation, the copters encountered dense fog and clouds "before they had a chance to avoid it," Col. Frank C. Forrest reported. He is in charge of the Army investigation.

"It is a distinct possibility that the pilots got vertigo and lost their sense of direction and speed," Forrest said. "That's what happens when fliers are not trained to operate under conditions of fog or dense cloudiness."

There were no blind flying instruments on the helicopters and the fliers were not trained or equipped to cope with such conditions.

The copters were part of a flight of 21 being ferried from Ft. Riley, Kan., to Ft. Lewis, Wash. They are troop-carrying helicopters but had only crew members aboard at the time of the crashes.

Wreckage of two craft was strewn 200 yards below the top of the hillside. It caught fire and burned five of the six men killed. The third crashed copter did not break up and its three occupants were hurt only slightly.

None of the identified dead were Texans.

Peron's Candidate Wins In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a left-wing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory. Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed way behind.

Both are attorneys and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name. Balbin ran for president against Peron in 1952 and Frondizi was No. 2 man on the ticket. But Frondizi's intransigent Radical party collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum this time. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascists splinter parties. With more than eight million Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133. During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists and that "includes everybody." But he never specifically included Peron, which raised speculation whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator come back. Last night Frondizi said the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics. From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate. Peron claimed the election did

Patricia The Python Dies Of Malnutrition

FORT WORTH (AP)—A 21-foot python which made some people nervous, to say the least, when it went AWOL from a zoo here in 1954, died yesterday as a result of being too good a mother.

In September, 1954, the python, then named Pete, slithered out of its zoo and vanished for 15 days. What with the possibility of a 21-foot snake lurking in the underbrush, some people were nervous. There were lots of false alarms. But it never got as bad as portrayed by an out-of-state newspaperman who wrote that the streets of Fort Worth were deserted and windows were opened only in the highest buildings.

After 15 days Pete slipped back into the zoo, apparently none the worse for wear. Then last New Year's Eve, Pete laid 75 eggs. That got the big reptile back on the front pages and a new name—Patricia. At the time, keeper Harry Jackson said he was worried about the snake refusing to eat. Jackson thought motherhood explained the loss of appetite, but the snake spent her days guarding her eggs instead of eating. "I was rather expecting it," Jackson said, Wednesday he forced Patricia on whole milk and vitamins, but the move came too late. She died of malnutrition. Jackson put the 75 eggs in an incubator yesterday. If fertile, they should hatch in April, he said. Patricia had a cell-mate, a smaller python. No one has checked its sex, so no one knows whether the eggs are fertile. Meanwhile, Jackson wonders what to do with 21 feet of dead python. He wanted it stuffed, but a call to a taxidermist resulted in a bid of $10 a foot. "That's absurd," Jackson said. He suggested giving the remains to TCU. But Dr. Willis Howatt, head of TCU's biology department, said, "It's a pretty large beast. I just don't know what we could do with it."

Fascists, Foes Battle In Rome

ROME (AP)—World War II anti-Fascist partisans battled diehard Fascists yesterday in half a dozen small street fights.

The fights were touched off by Giovanni de Totto, a Parliament deputy from the Fascist Italian Social Movement. He climbed the steps of the gleaming white Victor Emmanuel monument with a companion and gave the Fascist salute before 40,000 wartime partisans at a ceremony commemorating their war dead. The partisans jumped them, beating De Totto so badly he was hospitalized for at least 25 days.

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says Soviet troops are being armed with "the most terrifying weapons of all time" but "all we want is peace." Ready-to-Wear

Good Weather Returns To U. S.

By The Associated Press
A preview of springlike weather appeared the outlook today in many parts of the country.

The fair and comparatively mild weather, a continuation of yesterday's conditions in many areas, was a welcome relief to many sections hit by a long stretch of cold and snow. Some Northeast areas remained in the wintry belt. A storm from southeast Canada dumped more snow in parts of New York state and much of New England yesterday. Cold weather lingered in the snow-covered areas. Snowfall in some parts of New York measured more than 6 inches. However, the warming trend which yesterday sent temperatures into the 70s in parts of Nebraska and 70 in South Dakota, spread into the Northeast. Readings were generally 10 to 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier from Kansas and Oklahoma northeastward across the southern Great Lakes region into New England.

Border Closed To 'Special' Braceros

Unless the Mexican government changes a recent ruling, farmers in this country will be unable to hire braceros who do special work. This usually includes tractor drivers, but a special worker is anyone whom a farmer requests by name.

The border has been closed for these workers, according to Jack Buchanan, manager of a local farm labor association, and no one knows when it will be opened again. Until the Mexican government permits these nationals to leave their native country, farmers will be unable to hire tractor drivers and others who work with farm machinery.

Buchanan is not certain about the reason, but thinks it may have been caused by braceros who complained that some farmers had withheld the extra $12 which was required to get a special worker. According to the labor laws, any farmer or association who ordered a special worker was required to pay $12 in addition to the regular processing costs.

If this rule is not amended or revoked, farmers may be unable to get any kind of skilled bracer labor. And since most of those coming into this country know little about machinery, not many farmers will risk an untrained worker with a tractor.

At present there are about half as many tractor drivers as will be needed. Ten per cent of these may have their contracts renewed for as long as 18 months, while the other 90 per cent could stay for a total of 12 months.

The plowing season is just around the corner, so there may be a critical shortage of skilled farm labor. Other braceros are still available, Buchanan says; however, the state office has reduced the number of certifications in recent weeks.

Bishop, Priest In Defamation Trial

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—A court today opened the trial of a Roman Catholic bishop and his parish priest charged with defaming a couple after their legal marriage. But neither the two defendants nor the plaintiff showed up.

The Most Rev. Pietro Fiordelli, first Roman Catholic bishop called to trial since the Vatican and Mussolini signed the Lateran Accord 29 years ago, served notice that neither he nor the Rev. Danielo Aiazzi would appear.

"My prestige and the holiness of my ministry forbid me to come in person," Bishop Fiordelli wrote. President Judge Antonio Paganelli added he had instructed Father Aiazzi not to attend either.

The judge said the cleric would be tried in absentia.

The plaintiff, Mauro Bellandi, 32-year-old grocer and wartime partisan fighter, was too sick to appear. He suffered a stroke several months ago. His wife, 23-year-old Lioriana, came with their baby and couldn't get in the packed courtroom until police cleared the way for her.

The case, which broke nearly two years ago, has stirred a nationwide controversy over relations between church and state. It has attained particular importance in this election year with Communists and other leftists seeking ammunition to use against the governing Christian Democrats.

Mauro and Lioriana married in a civil ceremony in 1936 because Bellandi had broken with the church. Several weeks later Father Aiazzi read a letter in church from the bishop denouncing the couple as "public sinners" and Bellandi brought defamation charges.

Bellandi's attorneys said their client's health had been impaired by results of the bishop's letter. They claimed he had lost business and friends and was worried about his future. Communist and Socialist deputies in Parliament denounced the bishop's action as a violation of the Lateran Concordat of 1929 establishing relations between the Vatican and the Italian government.

In his letter to Judge Paganelli, the bishop said his condemnation of the couple was within his rights as a bishop.

"The Italian constitution gives me full right to do so by proclaiming the independence and sovereignty between the church and the Italian state," he added.

If convicted, the bishop could get up to two years imprisonment or be fined 160,000 lire ($260). The priest could get up to three years if found guilty of making the letter public.

Record Year Reported For Great Southern

HOUSTON—A record volume of new business is reported for Great Southern Life Insurance Company for the year ended December 31, 1957.

Pat Greenwood, president of Great Southern, said that the agency organization produced a total of $120,767,308 of new insurance, including group and re-insurance.

After accounting for policies terminated by lapse, surrender, claim or maturities the aggregate volume in force increased to $902,513,943. This amount of insurance, Greenwood's report said, covered the lives of more than 266,000 people.

In addition to the life account, the accident and health and hospitalization sales program continued to show improvement.

During the past year, Great Southern paid to policy holders and beneficiaries more than $10,500,000, bringing the total policy benefit payments since the company's organization to a figure in excess of $166,000,000.

Greenwood's report showed assets increased by almost $11,000,000, policy reserves by more than $10,000,000, and contingency reserves by $2,701,000. Dividends of $800,000 were paid to stockholders and a liability set up for the quarterly dividend of $200,000 for payment in March, 1958. Thus, Great Southern's financial statement shows admitted assets of $189,229,976, capital surplus and contingency funds of $23,734,352, and life insurance in force of $902,513,943.

The company paid out $28,239,637 in mortgage loans for homes, churches, schools, farms, ranches and businesses, increasing the outstanding mortgages to $125,000,000.

Great Southern was examined by representatives of the Texas and Louisiana insurance departments during the year, with favorable reports. Greenwood said his company's goal is to be a "billion dollar" concern during 1958, the 15th anniversary year.

In addition to the life account, the accident and health and hospitalization sales program continued to show improvement.

During the past year, Great Southern paid to policy holders and beneficiaries more than $10,500,000, bringing the total policy benefit payments since the company's organization to a figure in excess of $166,000,000.

Greenwood's report showed assets increased by almost $11,000,000, policy reserves by more than $10,000,000, and contingency reserves by $2,701,000. Dividends of $800,000 were paid to stockholders and a liability set up for the quarterly dividend of $200,000 for payment in March, 1958. Thus, Great Southern's financial statement shows admitted assets of $189,229,976, capital surplus and contingency funds of $23,734,352, and life insurance in force of $902,513,943.

The company paid out $28,239,637 in mortgage loans for homes, churches, schools, farms, ranches and businesses, increasing the outstanding mortgages to $125,000,000.

Great Southern was examined by representatives of the Texas and Louisiana insurance departments during the year, with favorable reports. Greenwood said his company's goal is to be a "billion dollar" concern during 1958, the 15th anniversary year.

Ike Will Keynote Food Meet Today

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Reporter
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower will keynote a one-day food conference today. It was called to show Americans how to eat their way to better health and in doing so help solve the farm surplus problem.

The national conference is being sponsored by 51 farm and food industry groups and firms interested in pointing out the need from the individual as well as the national standpoint—for better nutrition.

"Food Comes First!" will be the theme the President and more than a dozen other speakers will attempt to drive home to the public.

By that they mean that in budgeting the family spending, enough money should be set aside for balanced nutritious meals before funds are allocated for other items.

Much of the spadework for the conference was done by President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He stressed that the major purpose of the meeting was to open consumers' eyes to the need for improving the national diet.

Shuman agreed, however, that it had a very important implication for farmers.

"If Americans improved their diets an average of 5 per cent, the farm surplus problem would disappear," he said. "The resulting increased demand for nutritious foods would require the present productive capacity of agriculture to supply."

Farm groups listed as sponsors include the American Farm Bureau, the National Grange and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. Other organizations include the American Meat Institute, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, the National Assn. of Food Chains, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Association of American Railroads, the American Bakers Assn., the American Dairy Assn., the National Livestock and Meat Board, the Poultry and Egg National Board and the Cereal Institute, Inc.

Should it be attained, the goal of better diets for Americans would make important changes in the farm production pattern.

Such diets would include much more meat, poultry, milk and dairy products and fresh fruits and vegetables than does today's average diet. By the same token, it would include perhaps less fat and fewer starchy foods, including cereals.

The diet would include much more food that requires a high level of agricultural productivity capacity to produce. It takes much more time, land, manpower and equipment to produce a pound of red meat than it does a pound of flour or dry beans, for instance.

Rifle Confiscated By Ike's Guards

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight was confiscated by security police near the Paradise Valley Country Club yesterday while President Eisenhower played a round of golf.

Sheriff's Capt. Ralph Edmundson said the rifle was taken from two young boys spotted by alert Arizona highway patrolmen.

"The boys told us they had been out rabbit hunting and were heading home," Edmundson said. "But we couldn't afford to take any chances, so we confiscated the gun."

The boys were released after being questioned. The patrol said the rifle will be returned.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Don't Cling To Style That You've Outgrown

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—There comes a time when every girl becomes a woman, but she doesn't always know it. K. T. Stevens told me "It is easy to go beyond the age for something and not realize it. This happened to me with my long page boy bob."

"I felt the page boy was the most becoming hair style for me, and it was for many years," she went on. "But it took my closest friend, who was out here from New York, to tell me the truth. 'You simply can't wear your hair like that any more,' she said. 'It's terribly dated.' So I took her advice and had it cut short and now I'm delighted with it."

"Short hair photographs much better than long, but I'm sure if it hadn't been for my friend I wouldn't have thought of cutting it," she added.

K. T. has high praise for a whalebone bristle brush and recommends it to anyone with long hair. "I don't know why but it gives a lasting gloss and polish to the hair like no other bristle brush. Unfortunately it isn't satisfactory for short hair."

"The secret of lovely hair is to keep it clean and well-brushed. The way you wear your hair is important, but if it isn't fresh and shiny the style will not matter. Shampoo your hair when it needs it, don't wait for a designated day. 'A lot depends on the weather and what you are doing. If you are out of doors a lot, or if the weather is warm, you certainly have to wash it more often,'" K. T. emphasized.

K. T. chatted about the need to discriminate. She feels it best to strike a happy medium between going all out for everything new and being resistant to the latest fashions.

"I love clothes, but I don't see any point in wearing a style that is unbecoming. The new chemise dress is something I hate, and I've never seen anyone look good in one. Yet you can't pick up a magazine or go into a store without finding this style."

"And up to this point I've not indulged in extremely pointed shoes," K. T. confessed. "These, too, aren't the style I like on my feet. And as for skirt lengths, I don't shorten or lengthen mine. I've kept my hem at the same distance from the floor for years. I hope I don't look old-fashioned," she said with a laugh.

Grow Up

K. T. Stevens, a popular TV and movie actress, warns against the danger of clinging to a style you've outgrown.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Henry have been Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs and Danny of Odessa. A guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Snelling is her mother, Mrs. A. P. Morris of Snyder.

Home from the Big Spring Hospital are Mrs. Laura Petty and Mrs. M. M. Hines; from Malone & Hogan is D. L. Knight.

One-Minute Facial

A one-minute facial can perk up the complexion in an emergency. Dampen a washcloth in hot water, press it against your face. Apply cold cream from forehead to neckline and massage it firmly into your warm, damp skin. Count to 15 while you work fingers, the flat of your hands, up and out in broad smoothing motions. Remove cream with tissues. Splash your face with icy cold water. Pat dry with a towel.

Wrong Way Look

SUNBURY, Pa. — Local police were sent to investigate an accident in which a moving car had smashed into the rear of a parked car, pushing it into a second parked car. The motorist explained that he had glanced behind him as he passed an intersection to make sure he didn't go through a red light and hit the first parked car before he could turn around to look at the road ahead again.

Look, Ma; No Weight

New Fabrics, Lines And Weights Are Featured In Men's Clothing

The space scientists are not the only ones concerned with weightlessness. Men's clothing designers, too, have accepted the challenge of travel without weight in the spring and summer season ahead. While their results rank well behind Sputnik for drama, the effects are still pretty spectacular in terms of new comfort and good looks.

Suiting fabrics have been lightened to a new degree; construction has been streamlined and the trimmed-down, slim, new suits seemed designed to give their wearers a look as well as a feeling of weight loss. The three-button styling is combined this season with more tapered trousers and trimmed-down jackets, which give most men the illusion, if not the fact, of slimmness.

Colors and patterns are conservative for the coming season, a survey of the market reveals. Blue seems destined to continue its number one rating as the most popular male color of the year and traditional stripes, herringbones and checks spell the pattern picture.

It is in the fabrics, themselves, that the big news lies. The Botany 500 people are showing the new five-and-a-half ounce dacron and worsted blend in a wide variety of colors and patterns as one of the stars of their spring showing. Dubbed "spectacular" by the firm, the fabric is just that.

As light as many dress fabrics, it has a silky sheen and a glossy elegance that belies the tough, wrinkle-resistant qualities of the miracle and natural fibers. This new, lighter weight blend bids well to be one of the most exciting suitings of the season, for it is the summer cousin of the 8-ounce blend that has made such clothing history in the past five years.

Equally spectacular in the big clothing line are the new, washable and drip or automatic dry suits. These new suitings have been designed to resemble regular suitings in patterns, colors and textures. It is almost impossible to tell they are as washable as a shirt until you look at the washability label.

In another part of the market, The House of Worsted-tex, the firm that pioneered Ivy League clothing, rates this style as stronger than ever for spring and summer. The three-button "sack" coat, slim trousers that characterize Ivy styling has been modified somewhat, they say, to make it more wearable for a broader cross-section of men. This firm also ranks the "silken touch" as top news and reflects this conviction in the silk blends and the silken look that run through their entire line of clothing.

Their famous "ensemble suit"—the hybrid that combines the contrast of sportswear with the tailoring of fine clothing—is destined for new heights of elegance in the coming season, the firm's leaders predict. It will be shown in all silk, with a subtle, beautiful, faint striping in the jacket to contrast with the plain black trousers, for the most elegant and different suit of the spring season.

Sportswear, too, has had a lot of weight removed. Cotton blends, new orlon and wool washable fabrics and tropical weight woolsens with a new light construction, make tailored sportswear as comfortable as it is good looking.

It's a weightless, trim and elegant season ahead, according to BEE REWARDED Try Honey-Butter CINNAMON Or PLAIN
