JUDGING TO BE WEDNESDAY

Keen Competition To Mark 4-H, FFA Fat Stock Show

"The hottest county steer show in the state," is the way Jimmy Taylor, county agent and general superintendent of the Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show, characterized the exposition which officially gets underway today.

The 23 steers, he said, which are entered in the show include a number which have been outstanding at major area shows this spring.

Three of the entries have not placed lower than fifth in any of the larger shows in which Howard County has competed this year. One of these placed fourth at one area show and fifth at a second. Others have placed second, third and fourth in different competitions.

Judge Stanley Anderson, Lubbock, will have his work cut out for him when he steps into the show ring, Taylor believes.

"We have never had better quality animals entered in the local show than we have this year," said Taylor.

"I am also happy at the lamb entries. There are many quality entries and I look for one of the closest contests in many years."

Officially the show opens today. Actually today's operations will be limited to weighing in stock and officially placing them in the stock barns at the Fair Grounds Assn. plant. Weighing in and official entry must be completed by noon.

At 2 p. m. the qualifying and sifting operation in the lamb division will be conducted with W. M. Day, Rankin, officiating.

Judging of the capons will start at 8 a. m. Wednesday. One hundred capons are to be entered. Elbert Steele, Big Lake, is the judge.

Lamb judging opens at 9 a. m. with Fred Wilkerson, Crane, as the judge. One hundred and fifty lambs will be in the competition.

Steer judging starts at 2 p. m. Wednesday. There are 23 steers entered and Anderson will be the judge.

The general public is cordially welcome to attend the show in all of its phases—to be at the grounds today to watch the arrival of the stock and the sifting operations; to witness the judging on Wednesday and to listen and participate in the big auction sale of Thursday night which officially closes the event. The sale opens at 7:30 p. m.

Twenty-one steers of the 23 entered will be offered at the sale. Seventy of the 150 lambs and 70 of the capons will be sold.

One hundred and twenty-five boys and girls, members of the FFA and the 4-H clubs of the chapter will participate in the show.

Sumatra Rebels In Camouflage Await Assault On West Coast

BUKITTINGGI, Central Sumatra (U.S.)—Rebel troops waited today in camouflaged positions along Sumatra's west coast to meet an expected landing of central government troops near Padang.

Rebel government leaders said the Jakarta government would probably follow up minor naval and air sweeps at Padang yesterday with landings 35 miles on either side of the Indian Ocean port 50 miles from Bukittinggi, the rebel mountain capital.

Another 4,000 central government troops were reported ready to follow up the seizure Friday of an island off Sumatra's east coast with a landing at the nearby oil port of Dumai.

(In Jakarta, the central government announced capture of the east coast islands of Bengkalis and Tebingtinggi and of Pakning, the American oil terminal facing them near the mouth of the Siak River. The government claimed they were taken without a fight.)

(The Jakarta government so far had imposed no censorship on outgoing news dispatches but was giving out little information on military operations. However, the central government refused to issue visas to two American newsmen, Greg MacGregor of the New York Times and Harold Martin of the Saturday Evening Post. The refusal was interpreted in Singapore as an effort to keep the number of foreign correspondents in Indonesia to a minimum.)

On advice from Jakarta, the American Caltex Oil Co. halted operations at its rich oil field around Pakanbaru, inland between Padang and Pakning. The company sent 31 women and children—nine of them Americans—

Pakistan Aid Demand Rocks SEATO Parley

MANILA (U.S.)—Pakistan rocked the opening session of SEATO foreign ministers today with a sharp demand for more economic aid to counter tantalizing Communist offers.

Secretary of State Dulles announced that the United States has set aside two million dollars to train skilled technicians in the SEATO area. Australian Foreign Minister R. G. Casey offered 2 1/2 million dollars in aid for the alliance's three Asian members.

Bids for more aid to Asia were also made by France and the Philippines, but proposals for any major expansion of present programs faced a cool reception from the United States. Dulles reportedly feels this isn't the time to expand SEATO.

Dulles introduced a resolution—quickly approved by the members—providing for exchange of information between SEATO, NATO and the Baghdad Pact.

Such an exchange is a pet project of the Philippines, which has been urging a linkup of the three anti-Communist alliances.

Dulles said the exchange would include information on economic problems in each area, attendance of soldiers from other areas at SEATO military exercises and of representatives at civil activities of the pact.

Philippine Foreign Minister Felixberto Serrano, chairman of the conference, also proposed that SEATO members explore specific economic projects that could be developed multilaterally by members states and investigate the feasibility of a meeting of SEATO member finance ministers to develop greater economic collaboration.

Pakistani Commerce Minister N. M. A. Qizilbakh took up the opening session with his warnings about Communist aid offers. He intimated that Asian members of SEATO had not been rewarded for siding with the West, while "neutral nations" such as India are receiving aid from both camps.

In apparent reply, Dulles said the United States had poured more than 500 million dollars in nonmilitary aid into economies of the three Asian members in the four years since SEATO was formed. Dulles said that in the past year alone more than 600 million had gone to the three member states—Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines—plus South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

62 Pilots Will Graduate Today

Sixty-two new jet pilots are to receive their wings at graduation exercises in the Webb AFB Chapel at 8:30 p. m. today.

Graduation speaker will be Fred Husband of Abilene, executive vice president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce. Others on the program will be Col. Kyle Riddle, WAFB commander; Chaplain Verlin Mikesell; and Pilot Training Group officials. Mrs. Champ Rainwater of Big Spring will provide organ music for the exercises.

The program is being held at 5:30 p. m. to avoid conflict with a Catholic preaching mission now under way at the base.

Husband, general manager of the WTCC since 1950, is a graduate of the University of Texas School of Business and has been engaged in Chamber of Commerce work since 1942. At Waco, where he became manager of 18 months after joining the C. C. staff, he worked in the fields of industrial development, military affairs and area agricultural improvement, his work attracting nationwide attention.

He is a member of the board of the International Good Neighbor Commission and is an adviser to the Small Business Administration. He has served frequently as representative of the government of Texas in regional and national affairs.

Cold Threatens Budding Plants

The temperature dropped to 31 degrees during the night—one degree below freezing. The represented a variation of 31 degrees in a 12-hour period. The high for the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. Tuesday was 62.

Experts said the frost should have done no harm to burgeoning spring buds—provided that the current chilliness does not last too long. One night's cold with the temperature no lower than 31 won't hurt the flowers and fruit even though many such plants are beginning to bud.

Of course, it was pointed out, if the sub-freezing weather persisted for several days, there would be damage.

Warning was sounded there is still plenty of danger of frost injury. The records of the U. S. Experiment Station show that there was killing frost in 1957 on April 13—a full month later than the current date.

Snow Is Possible In Area Tonight

Chilly weather will continue unabated throughout Tuesday and Wednesday, the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast at noon. The skies will be cloudy and there is a possibility of snow flurries for the Big Spring area tonight. Low tonight is expected not to drop below 34 degrees.

Unemployment Hits 5,200,000

Tax Cut Called 'Next Big Step'

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell reported today that unemployment reached 5,200,000 in mid-February, up about 700,000 from January. He said a tax cut is "the next big step" toward halting the recession.

Mitchell announced the February jobs figure, prepared jointly by the Labor and Commerce departments, in a speech to an AFL-CIO economic conference.

He called for government action to buoy the sagging economy, but cautioned against "ill-advised action."

Mitchell said it was too easy to recommend "broad and far-reaching money spending" that would not provide jobs needed right now.

"The program must fit the need and must be designed with the need clearly in mind," he said.

He said that in event the business downturn proves more stubborn than anticipated, an administrative recommendation for a tax cut will be made.

"He said it would be "a major and substantial cut in personal and business taxes."

"This action I can assure you," Mitchell said, "is being fully considered and its details worked out. It is ready for immediate use as an additional stimulus to the economy, and it will be used if necessary."

"Certainly this is the next big step, and is far preferable to massive new public works spending because it puts money in the hands of consumers and investors."

Mitchell echoed comments made yesterday by Vice President Nixon on preferring a tax reduction to massive public works spending.

Mitchell followed George Meany, AFL-CIO president, in speaking to the conference. Meany accused both Republican and Democrats of playing politics and acting too slowly to counter the business recession.

Meany demanded a quick tax cut, increased unemployment benefits, more defense spending and more money for public works.

Mitchell disclosed that President Eisenhower had been invited to attend the AFL-CIO session but had responded, apparently declining, that: "I assure you that I shall continue to take, or propose to Congress, such steps as can contribute effectively to the health of the economy and the welfare of our people."

Mitchell said that with 5,200,000 jobless there were 62 million still with jobs. He said the main joblessness was in factory employment and that was the key to the economic trouble.

Behind the bare statistics, Mitchell said, "are individual men and women, and I want to assure you of the deep concern of the President; myself and this administration for those who are out of work."

"We are determined to take whatever action is necessary to help them—including, when necessary, a substantial cut in business and personal taxes."

Meany noted that the total number of unemployed is the equivalent of twice as many people as live in the entire city of Philadelphia.

Attorney Sees Favorable Vote On Estate Stock

AUSTIN (U.S.)—The attorney for Estate Life Insurance Co. predicted today the firm's stockholders would vote favorably on reduction of its capital stock.

E. A. Simpson of Amarillo, Estate Life's counsel, appeared informally before the State Board of Insurance, saying:

"They will definitely reduce the capital, the reason we know is that we've got the proxies."

Simpson was before the board as stockholders met in Amarillo. Board member David Irons said he hoped a ruling could be made today on Estate Life's appeal from an earlier order of insurance Commissioner William Harrison. Harrison had held he could not and had no legal authority to recommend that a contract between defunct Physicians' Life and Estate Life be cancelled.

Estate Life contends that if the contract is cancelled it would be in position to continue operating.

A decision also was pending from Harrison on whether the Amarillo firm should be placed in receivership as insolvent or delay action several weeks for last-minute attempts at rehabilitation.

Estate Life stockholders were considering a cut from $500,000 to $100,000 in capital stock, thereby decreasing capital impairment.

Harrison gave no indication what his decision would be after a long hearing yesterday.

Attorneys for the firm asked a delay of five or six weeks plus the recommendation that a 1 1/2-million-dollar reinsurance contract with Physicians Life and Accident Insurance Co. be cancelled. Estate Life officials say "bad insurance" in the Physicians Life package caused all the Estate Life troubles.

State insurance examiners testified yesterday that on Sept. 30, 1957, Estate Life had a deficit of about $1,215,290 in its financial statements. Simpson, attorney for the firm, said the firm owed about $60,000 for current operations, including about $29,000 in unpaid death claims. The firm expects death claims on the Physicians Life business to increase rapidly.

Pioneer Martin Rancher Dies

STANTON (SC)—William Thomas Epley, 89, who broke wild horses and followed trail herds in his younger days, died in a Colorado City Hospital at 2 p. m. Monday.

Reports reaching here said that Mr. Epley had been removed from a rest home at Rome, Ga. on Monday and was taken to Colorado City for treatment. He had been in failing health since being hurt in a car mishap two years ago.

Services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church, where he was a member, with the Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery beside the grave of his wife, Mrs. Mona Epley, who died Dec. 16, 1957. Arrington Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Epley was born at Mullens on Sept. 30, 1868, leaving home as a youth of 15 to go to Oklahoma. He broke and drove a herd of wild horses to Pecos and later worked cattle in New Mexico, Montana and South Dakota. Coming to Martin County in 1894, he filed on a ranch northwest of Stanton and, except for serving as Martin County tax collector-assessor in 1930-34, he had been a rancher.

He and Mrs. Epley were married in 1904 in Stanton.

Surviving him are two sons, J. C. Epley, Stanton, and Ernest Epley, Pecos; a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Shortes, Odessa; and a sister, Mrs. Delillah Josephine Connor, Baird. He also leaves nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Ballbearers will be Billy Houston, Sam Cox, Jim Tom, Tom Estes, Houston Woody, Glenn Cox, B. R. Perry and Tom Houston.

'Brotherhood Day' Speakers Named

Big Spring service clubs will meet jointly Wednesday noon at the Settles for their annual Brotherhood Week program.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, chairman of the activity, said that speakers would be J. C. Evans, Joseph Hagar and Davil Florence, but that he did not know their home addresses.

Schedule for the day also includes appearances at junior high school, Howard County Junior College and Lakewood School for members of the panel.

Marijuana Suspect Under $10,000 Bond

Harold Whitmore, 49-year-old El Paso Negro, remained in jail today under $10,000 bond assessed Monday.

Whitmore is charged with possession of marijuana after being arrested by city police and railroad officers Monday morning. The Negro had in his possession about 30 pounds of refined marijuana when apprehended, worth over $30,000.

Later, after charges of possession were filed, Peace Justice Walter Grice fixed his bond at $10,000.

While Whitmore remained in jail here, immigration officers continued their search in the El Paso area for persons who might have been implicated in the venture.

When Whitmore was arrested here, he was en route to St. Louis from Sierra Blanca.

Railroad officials who suspected Whitmore of carrying something illegally reported that the Negro got out of a car and came to the train. Immigration officials today were checking the car in hopes of rounding up others on narcotic charges.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said that Whitmore signed a statement Monday admitting possession of the dope. He would not tell the names of three who sold him the marijuana or anyone connected with the deal.

TEXAS SURVEY

Healthy Increase Shown By Banks

By ROBERT E. FORD
The Associated Press

Texas banks in general show a healthy increase in deposits this spring as compared with last March, a tabulation by The Associated Press demonstrated Tuesday.

Midland, in far West Texas, set an all-time high—even greater than on the last bank call Dec. 31 when merchants and wholesalers had heavy Christmas deposits.

Odessa, 20 miles away from Midland, came within $22,729 of setting a record.

A great many cities and counties showed deposit increases over the Dec. 31 figure, considered a remarkable performance in view of the heavy Christmas deposits.

Among these cities and areas were San Antonio, Port Arthur, Denton County, Plainview, Snyder and Cooke County.

The increases were interpreted as showing Texas in general is fighting well against the national trend of a slackening of business. Some credited diversified income as keeping the state in a healthy business condition.

The reports of deposits were as of March 4 after a call for condition of bank business by the U. S. comptroller of the Treasury and the Texas banking commissioner. The spring call last year came 10 days later.

The Midland deposits total $104,046,003, up $8,101,735 from last spring, and higher by $638,474 than the previous high Dec. 31, 1957.

Odessa's record high was set Oct. 11, 1957, and the March 4 figure was within $22,729 of that total at $82,641,460.

Among those reporting declines were Kilgore, which blamed the drop on decreased oil production and income tax payment; Fort Worth, where a bank went out of business during the year; Corpus Christi, a very slight drop; Galveston; Waco; a slight drop; and Plainview, where deposits were up 5 per cent from the spring of 1956 and where the most favorable crop conditions of a decade last year boosted the 1957 totals greatly.

Four counties in the heart of the Lower Rio Grande Valley showed a gain of $9,939,186 over the comparable date a year ago. The total March 4 was $152,645,109 for Hidalgo, Cameron, Willacy and Starr counties.

Baby Perishes In Fire At Stanton

STANTON (SC)—A 9-month-old Negro baby perished in flames that destroyed a small frame dwelling here Monday afternoon.

Ruby Jo Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy James Brown, was alone and asleep in the house on St. Francis Street when it caught fire at 2 p. m. Her mother, who had gone across the street, and children who were playing in the yard, were unable to get to the baby when the fire was noticed.

Graveside rites are set for 10:30 a. m. Wednesday at the Evergreen Cemetery with the Rev. Niblett officiating. Arrangements are in charge of Arrington Funeral Home.

The scene of the tragedy was only a short distance from where fire killed several Negro children a few years ago.

Runo Pleads Guilty At Murder Trial

WACO (U.S.)—Edward Runo, 24, Houston pleaded guilty today to murdering a kidnaped Waco gas station employee, Ray Spencer, 51.

During a recess after testimony began, the courtroom was thrown into an uproar when Sam Spencer, 16, son of the slain man, struck Runo on the head. Police ejected him forcibly.

Testimony must be taken in murder trials even when the defendant pleads guilty.

Whiteside To Appear Again At Probe Of FCC Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Thurman A. Whiteside is rescheduled to appear tomorrow before a House Commerce subcommittee investigating the backstage maneuvering for Miami's Television Channel 10.

It was uncertain, however, whether Richard A. Mack, who quit his Federal Communications Commission job under fire last week, would make a new appearance as earlier announced. The hearings were in recess today.

Whiteside failed to show up yesterday to answer more questions about his business dealings with Mack, who acknowledged accepting loans and favors from Whiteside.

The subcommittee received word that Whiteside had been advised by his lawyer to stay away from the hearings because of a federal grand jury probe of the Miami case. A few hours later, though, there was a quick turnaround and the subcommittee was informed Whiteside would be on hand tomorrow.

Another witness scheduled to appear tomorrow is A. Frank Katzenzine, a radio station owner who lost out in the bidding for Channel 10.

Mack's job on the FCC was filled when President Eisenhower nominated John S. Cross, 53, Birmingham, Ala., for the $20,000-a-year post. Cross, a Democrat like Mack, has worked in the State Department's Telecommunications Division since 1946.

Ike Proposals On Tax Cuts Readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower apparently is poised to propose a down-the-line tax cut if the nation's economy fails to respond soon to less dramatic stimulants.

Vice President Nixon obviously supplied the administration's answer to Democratic demands for a huge upsurge in public works when he told reporters yesterday he would prefer a "substantial" tax cut to any "massive" spending program.

The government was expected to announce new employment figures today, with advance indications pointing to total unemployment of 5,100,000 or more in February, about 600,000 more than in January.

Robert E. Merriam, assistant budget director, testified the budget deficit for the year ending June 30 may run as much as 500 million dollars higher than Eisenhower forecast in January, largely due to heavier spending to combat the recession.

Secretary of Defense McElroy announced also he will ask at least $1,000,000 more for Eisenhower's original $39,100,000,000 budget request for military spending next year.

Nixon said he expects gains in both business and employment in the near future, but added that if the recession continues, he prefers to "go down the tax-cutting road rather than the spending road" to cure it.

His comment apparently surprised Senators Knowland (Calif.), the Senate Republican leader, and Bridges (N.H.), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Knowland said he regards a tax reduction as "one of the alternatives that should be considered if by summer there is no upturn."

Bridges said in a separate interview he is keeping an open mind on the question.

Democrats made it clear they regarded Nixon's announcement as a move aimed at cutting across their plans to force an immediate increase in spending. Democrats, too, have tax reduction plans in reserve, awaiting a "go" signal from House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said, "We may need a tax cut combined with public works to do the trick."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said a tax cut isn't going to help the unemployed who will owe no taxes.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) of the Finance Committee said that while he wouldn't oppose a sound tax cut, he believes one now would be likely to bring on a 10-billion-dollar deficit.

"Then we would have the kind of inflation that would hurt the little man more in the long run than if his taxes had not been reduced," Byrd said.

Schoolman Good Politician, Too

GRAY'S LAKE, Ill. (AP) — Folks are saying that L. H. Rouse, superintendent of Grays Lake Community High School, is not only wise, but he'd make a good politician, too.

Averaging grades to choose the senior class valedictorian, Rouse found his arithmetic produced these results: Everett Chard, 96.793 per cent; Betty Garrett, 96.781; and Daniel Alkofor, 96.575. Translated to the nearest whole number, each had a grade of 97.

Rouse's solution? Three valedictorians.

Last Year As Film Queen?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, a top contender for this year's Oscar as best actress, said today that 1958 will probably be her last year as a movie queen.

"My husband (Mike Todd) doesn't want me to be an actress," she told a reporter. "And I don't want it either."

She currently is making "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at MGM, the studio where she made her first picture in 1942 — "Lassie, Come Home."

Only 26, she has spent 16 of those years working in front of cameras.

Her contract winds up with "Cat." She's also committed to work for her husband in "Don Quixote," the picture that may be her farewell performance.

But what of an exceptional script—the lure that has brought many an actress out of announced retirement?

"There's no script good enough to get me back once I quit—and that time is no more than two—at the most, three—pictures away."

"I am just too busy otherwise."

She has three children, two by her previous husband, Michael Wilding, and one by Todd. That's what she means by "too busy otherwise."

Ike Pleads For Road Death End

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Eisenhower appealed for organized citizen support today to help overcome "the terrible march of death . . . on our public roads."

"Action is the answer . . . Cooperation is the means," Eisenhower said in a filmed keynote message to the first of four citizen leadership conferences of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — One member of the House of Delegates was pretty frank in telling why he opposed a $40,000 outlay for statehouse grounds improvements, including new walks. He said he had walked about the statehouse grounds at all hours of the day and night, sober and unsobber, and the present walks were good enough for him.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 95¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Public Hearing Set On $370,500 Budget

COLORADO CITY—The Colorado City Council Monday night set April 14th for a public hearing on City Manager R. K. Sneath's proposed $370,500 budget for the next fiscal year. Sneath says that the budget is only $908 over last year, and that no tax increase will be necessary.

Sneath told the council that revenues from water for the past year were below expectations, due to wet weather and the fact that the Col-Tex refinery did not use as much as estimated when the budget was studied last spring. Sanitary collections were not as much as listed in the budget, since the city failed to begin its collection in May as expected and lost one month's revenue.

Tax valuations will remain about the same, according to Ford Merritt, city secretary, with the loss of taxes from several business firms which quit being balanced by new home construction.

The council also:

- (1) Accepted the low bid of four in buying a new police car, Wallace Motor Company was the low bidder with a difference of $800.30 on a six cylinder Plymouth.
- (2) Accepted the bid of Craddock Motors on a Street Department Truck. Craddock Motors bid price on a six cylinder truck for use by the street department was $2,278. Low bid of three was submitted by the Frank Motor Company and was $2,265.
- (3) Approved a five-year extension on a contract to sell water to the Sun Oil Company at Silver.

(4) Appointed Walter H. Rogers as a member of the Zoning Board to replace Hollis Webb, who has moved to Big Spring.

(5) Confirmed the appointment of Rev. James D. Poe as head of the City's Recreation Department at a salary of $300 per month.

(6) Voted to discuss action on delinquent personal property taxes at next month's meeting.

(7) Approved a plat of a subdivision by R. T. Mammel on the south side of town, to be known as the "Wildorado Addition."

'TECH DAY' DINNER SET

Texas Tech Day will be observed with a dinner affair Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Settles by the Big Spring chapter of Tech exes.

DeWitt Weaver, head football coach, will be the principal speaker, and special guests include Jim Lindsey, Midland, and Douglas Orme, Big Spring. Tech board of director members, and L. S. Walker, ex-student association secretary.

All former students and all friends are invited to attend. Reservations (at $1.50 per plate) should be made with Mrs. Marshall Cauley at noon Wednesday. Elmer Tarbox is president of the Big Spring chapter.

Graduate Study Essential, Says Tech Educator

LUBBOCK—Graduate study offers a solution to three pressing problems — security, recession and the shortage of good college teachers, a Texas Tech educator declares.

Long before Sputnik sailed into orbit, Dr. W. Bryan Gates, Tech Graduate School dean, said: "This nation faces now and will continue for many years to face a completely hitherto unknown demand for two groups of men and women: scientists and engineers, and two, college teachers."

"The nation's graduate schools constitute the major source of supply to both groups."

However, he said, many people may not have thought about how much West Texas economy depends on graduate study.

Diversification of the economy, new products that open up new jobs for an increasing population, and the solving of water problems will come slowly—if ever—from undergraduate education alone or from teacher-researchers who must be primarily concerned with undergraduate education, the dean said.

For example, he said, it's difficult to imagine the direction of work on further development of cotton, hybrid sorghums, irrigation-well recharge or electronics being done by anyone other than a graduate researcher.

City Fire Losses Soar To $25,000

Aided by the biggest fire in two years, the city's fire loss record soared from a mealy $177.40 in January to $25,355.20 during the past month.

The figure was the largest for a month since May of 1955. That month fire swept through the 18th and Gregg shopping center causing damage amounting to $30,605.

Chief contributor to the large loss last month was a fire at the Arthur Kasch residence, 814 W. 17th. Damage was $23,914.77. Of the total, all but $4,200 was damage to the residence, the remaining being loss of furniture.

The fire, which occurred on Feb. 5, was caused from faulty electrical wiring, firemen reported.

The other big fire loss during the month was at the D. B. Pounds residence, 2005 S. Monticello. There, on Feb. 17, fire brought damage to the house costing $280 and to furniture valued at $772.68.

In all, only 17 fires occurred in the city during the month, in addition to six false alarms.

Three began with electrical connections, and two with trash and with water heaters. Ten came from unknown causes.

The $25,000 total loss came from $20,214.52 in building destruction and $5,140.46 from loss of furniture.

Combined with the small loss in January, the year's total is $25,532.60 as compared with $1,381.26 for the first two months of 1957. The loss during February of last year was $607.

Seizure

William P. Hobbs, American pilot of a Korean National Airways plane forced to land with crew and 26 passengers in Nastrates at sea on Feb. 16, demonstrates at a Seoul press conference, with a finger pointed to his temple, how one of the Communist agents held a gun at his head during the forceful seizure of the DC3 airliner. Hobbs has been returned, with others aboard the plane, across the tross line at Panmun-jom.

A Bible Thought For Today

Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God? But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows. (Luke 12:6-7)

Bank Call Substantiates Outlook

Bank figures do not tell everything, but they do constitute one of the better and more stable indices of a community's financial status. They may not always tell of a potential, but they fairly reflect the money and credit situation on a current basis in relation to the past.

On this basis, we submit that the figures revealed in Monday's bank call (see condition as of March 4), substantiate what we have been trying to say since the start of the year.

It is namely this: Big Spring and Howard County are in better shape generally than before, and contrary to the outlook in some parts of the country, our own is unusually bright.

Total deposits stood in excess of 26 and a quarter million dollars, which was half a million dollars more than the comparable period a year ago. At the same time, loans declined by $858,680. In other words, while deposits were increasing their holdings half a million, they also ridded themselves of three-quarters of a million dollars. Their relative position therefore is substantially better.

Here is another proof that we have little call to be borrowing trouble here. Actually, as time goes on this year, and as agricultural opportunity begins to unfold, we should show even more substantial gains.

We Can't Afford To Lag On This

The U. S. Navy commissioned another atomic submarine this past week and sent still another across the Atlantic for a port call in the British Isles. That is one field of nuclear development where we beat the Russians to the punch, for our Nautilus had been making history before Russia even claimed to have an atomic sub.

It is known, of course, that Russia has far more modern, German-type subs than we have—but by a wide margin—atomic or otherwise. There is no reason to suppose they aren't well advanced in A-sub as well.

Translating atomic power into terms of aerial application is something else again. Of recent weeks there has been talk that the U. S. was dropping its work on atom-powered airplanes, and near week's end President Eisenhower himself confirmed this.

The President wrote Rep. Price (D-III) to say that rushing ahead with any old plane simply to be first in the air would delay the achievement of an effective military aircraft.

Well, Rep. Price isn't just any old congressman. He happens to be chairman of a Senate-House atomic energy subcommittee on research and development, and that committee has taken quite a lot of testimony bearing on the subject.

Price issued a statement saying the claim that work on an atomic plane would waste scientific manpower is "a smoke screen for inaction" and is "without basis in fact."

It appears to indicate, he said, "that there has been no change in the administration's attitude since Sputnik."

While attempts have been made to minimize the Soviet's clear-cut victory with the Sputniks, and the effect of its startling propaganda triumph as a result, it will be a long time before friend and foe alike forget it, and each successive American failure to lift more than one Explorer into orbit serves to emphasize the folly of trying to shrug off the Sputniks.

One wonders just how much thought Mr. Eisenhower put into his views regarding the nuclear warplane. They will seem pretty silly if the Soviet should beat us into the air with one. The outcry would equal or surpass that which followed the Sputniks, for atomic planes like atomic submarines will definitely have a vital place in the aerial warfare of the future.

We got the atomic sub first because a fellow named Rickover drove full speed ahead with it day and night, in spite of all obstacles thrown in his way by his fellow Navy officers and others. Perhaps the Air Force needs a Rickover of its own.

Marquis Childs Moves To Start Economy Upgrade

WASHINGTON—The group within the Eisenhower administration responsive to the initiative of Vice President Richard M. Nixon is evolving a far-ranging plan to check the recession and start the economy on the upgrade again.

This group—might almost be called a government within a government—is not waiting for the natural forces of recovery on which President Eisenhower seems to rely. A series of steps to be taken within the next 30 to 60 days will, it is believed, provide the impetus for a turnaround.

The program to be pushed immediately in a succession of moves, is considered a counter to the resolution introduced by the Democrats in the Senate and House calling for a speed-up in public works projects. Nixon clearly recognizes, however, that the party out of power and, therefore, not responsible for fiscal policy can outbid the party in control of the executive branch of the government.

An urgent demand for action has come from two sources. One is from Republican senators and representatives running for re-election in industrial areas who see their chances dwindling to nothing as unemployment grows.

In a strong appeal to Nixon just before he left for Southeast Asia, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said it was imperative to reverse the present economic trend if America was to maintain its position of leadership. Thus, from the perspective of foreign as well as domestic policy, action now is regarded as essential. Here are some of the areas in which it is confidently believed that immediate measures can provide the necessary antidote to recession.

HIGHWAYS—By repeal of the Byrd pay-as-you-go amendment to the National Highway Act and other steps it will be possible to get an additional one billion dollars into the spending stream for highways. Not all of this would be spent in the present calendar year, but it would mean a go sign for the future. Under present estimates, $3.7 billion in federal highway aid construction contracts would be in force at the peak in late summer.

RECLAMATION—Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton is not only for expanding present reclamation projects in the West, but he is for making new starts hitherto vetoed by the Bureau of the Budget. In this he has Nixon's backing.

HOUSING—An increase of 300,000 over the current estimate of 1,100,000 housing starts in 1958. This would be achieved through easing and expanding credit in a variety of ways, such as making non-Korean veterans eligible for GI housing loans.

HOSPITALS—An increase in federal aid to hospital construction so that from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 additional will go into the spending stream.

POST OFFICES—The previously announced construction program is part of the approach, although a minor part. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield is one of the Cabinet members closely allied with the group plotting ways and means to try to turn the economy around.

DEFENSE SPENDING—Wherever possible, the letting of defense contracts is to be speeded up as an obvious stimulus.

Nixon has said he is confident that these measures, plus a further relaxation of credit, will start an upturn. As one of the most realistic operators in this political capital, he is well aware that an upturn must be evident by June and it cannot be merely a leveling off. The upward trend must be pronounced by September if the economic issue is not to overwhelm the Republicans.

The dilemma is, of course, twofold—too much too soon or too little too late. The horrendous fear is that a quick tax cut plus a large deficit in the federal budget might touch off a new spiral of inflation so powerful as to require federal controls on the economy. And that, Nixon recently told his close allies, would "cook our goose" for 1960. He recalled at the same time that in the 1953-'54 setback employment had started up in October of 1954, but the gain was not reported until after the election, which the Republicans lost, in November.

What his calculations fail to take into account is the memory of unemployment as it has risen during the past 18 months. Even with a sharp upturn in September, a psychological lag may work against the Republicans. But it is also true that the Democrats have been happily counting a lot of election chickens still in the incubator.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The Alfalfa club, a collection of funsters in Washington, have nominated their candidate for president and endorsed his platform.

The candidate is Rep. Halleck (R-Ind). The platform is "parking space for every car." In addition, the candidate promises to "rock it to the Big Dipper—and return." Thus he answers the personal problem of every American motorist and the deep desire of the American people to take the lead in outer space.

Why confine this to a club for fun lovers? Here's a platform and a promise that could elect anyone—the first political party that takes it over will have a winner.

—MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

The Launching Pad

James Marlow Getting The Language Mixed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The English language gets confusing when the Eisenhower administration talks of the recession and unemployment.

Some of those doing the talking: President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, Gabriel Hauge, Eisenhower's special assistant on economic affairs, and Robert E. Merriam, assistant director of the budget.

Eisenhower on Feb. 12—one day after government figures showed January unemployment at 4 1/2 million—said: "I believe that we have had the most of our bad news on the unemployment front."

Today the Labor Department was expected to announce unemployment climbed in February to around 5,100,000.

Also on Feb. 12 Eisenhower said: "Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities" and that this "should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy."

Did that mean things would start getting better in March or that the recession would stop by April? Maybe not. Apparently not. On Feb. 19 Hauge said Eisenhower's statement had been "misread."

He volunteered one of his own: "I'm pro-v-e-d employment in March, reported in April, should constitute a good sign that the downturn was running out of steam." That seemed to be saying what Eisenhower had said. Or did it?

Then Hauge added this: he would expect to see the downturn "slow to a stop during the second quarter" of 1958. That would be sometime between April 1 and July 1.

Eisenhower on Feb. 26 said a tax cut was a "possibility" if

Inez Robb We Must Pay Going Price For Democracy

It appears to be an accepted fact, as of now, that the gizzard is going to be cut out of foreign aid, both military and economic, during the current session of Congress.

And if the combined efforts of both President Eisenhower and former President Truman, plus the bigwigs of both parties, can't shift public opinion in favor of this measure, it seems doubtful if this mugwump can turn the tide. However, I am going to speak my piece.

First off, how do you catch up with the big lie and nail its hide to the door? How do you convince the credulous and vocal opponents of foreign aid that such funds are not really spent on (1) iceboxes for Eskimos, (2) bathubs for Egyptian camel drivers and (3) full-dress suits for Greek undertakers?

You can't convince them of the absurdity of these accusations, in one woman's opinion, because they prefer their prejudices or fantasies to facts. The prefer to believe that the whole world is wallowing in leisure and luxury at the expense of the American taxpayer.

Although how the rest of the world—and there is a fairly sizable chunk of world beyond the borders of the U.S.—can live it up on $1.3 billion of economic aid intended for health programs and technical assistance, beats me.

In view of the fact that it required the expenditure of more than $15 billion last year to keep 170,000,000 American citizens in just two items, booze and tobacco, it occurs to me that $1.3 billion in economic aid is scarcely likely to permit the rest of the world to live the life of Riley at your and my expense.

Hal Boyle Lord Byron On The Weight Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail.

That Lord Byron, a poet who was as odd as his rhymes, invented his own special diet to lose weight. It consisted of cold boiled potatoes and wine.

That men outnumber women 25-1 in "Who's Who in America." The youngest of 36,645 celebrities listed is actress Margaret O'Brien, 21.

That if you are a normal, red-blooded American, you will eat 62 hot dogs in 1958.

That this remark was overheard at a bar: "She made a millionaire out of him. When she married him he was a multimillionaire."

That the more feminine beauty fashions change the more they are the same. Women of ancient Pompeii painted their cheeks and wore their hair bound in a manner pretty much like the present day "pony tail."

That it was never safer to be mother. Fewer than one woman out of 2,000 now dies in childbirth.

That band leader Sammy Kaye says television will never take the place of the movies until they come up with a set that will also dispense popcorn.

That in certain parts of Egypt a father or brother who kills his erring daughter or sister is regarded as an "honor criminal" and usually gets only six months in jail.

That Sultan Ismail of Morocco once built a 350-mile wall from Meknes to Marrakech so that blind beggars making the journey could feel their way along it and avoid coming to harm.

That a baby camel in Morocco costs $50 but a fully grown cream-colored desert speedster is priced up to $350.

That a seventh of the world's population now is Moslem. This youngest of major faiths prohibits its members from drinking intoxicating beverages or eating pork.

That if your girl tells you she is suffering from gargalanesia, don't brood about it. That is just a scientific term meaning that she isn't ticklish.

That in Sweden girls believe they can get their marriage off to a good start if they bake a loaf of bread and give it to a poor stranger.

That giraffes sometimes go a week without sitting down.

That some banks now are installing pastel-colored safe deposit boxes to please women customers. Incidentally, there are now 142 women bank presidents in the United States.

Harvard Buys TV Time For 'College Case'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Some people probably were a little surprised to learn that Harvard University had purchased an hour of time on the CBS radio network to present a program entitled "The Case for the College" March 28.

We're so advertising-sponsor conscious these days that the first question in many minds is: What's in it for Harvard?

The answer is that Harvard, first university in history to sponsor an hour of radio time, does not expect to gain anything in particular itself. It appears that with this effort Harvard basically is doing as much for dear old Si-wash as it is for Harvard. It's true that the moderator of the program will be President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard and that those participating will be Harvard alumni and undergraduates.

But a principal purpose is to try to help rid some people of the notion that a college—not just Harvard, but any liberal college—is an ivory tower isolated from the rest of the world!

Many people seem to visualize the educational process in this Sputnik age as a kind of assembly line on which bright youths will be turned, toolled and sprayed to emerge as shining weapons against a potential enemy.

It's not that simple. Higher education is not an assembly line. It's a complexity of individual desires and drives and fulfillments with results that cannot be measured either by bucks or ballistic missiles.

In expending the effort and money to bring these facts to the attention of a national audience Harvard is performing a genuine public service that shows the modern American college definitely is not an ivory tower.

The Gallup Poll Most Young Britons Want To Emigrate

PRINCETON, N. J.—Over half of the young people of Great Britain today would like to leave their native isles and settle in another corner of the globe.

This is the startling fact disclosed by a British Institute survey. It also shows that throughout Great Britain four out of every 10 adults of all ages would like to emigrate.

Perhaps equally as startling is the fact that the U.S.—land of promise to so many immigrants in years gone by—ranks a poor fourth among emigration-minded Britons as the place they would like to settle down in.

Named by only one Briton in seven who would like to emigrate, the United States trails the dominions of Australia, Canada and New Zealand as preferred places to make a new home.

Among the younger group—those between the ages of 21 and 34—the U. S. has somewhat more appeal. It is named by roughly one in five of the young people interested in "re-locating," but still trails Australia and Canada.

The shortage of skilled manpower—brought about by a rising tide of emigrants from Britain in the past few years—has been a major headache for economic planners in the British Isles.

Maintaining an "emigration index," the British Institute of Public Opinion has posed this question to British voters at periodic intervals during the last 10 years:

"If you were free to do so, would you like to go and settle in another country?"

As the following table shows, the desire to leave Britain dropped off as that nation's economy recovered slowly from World War II, then rose sharply in the aftermath of the 1956 Suez crisis. Today, the figure is virtually the same as that in 1948 when the British Institute first started keeping its index.

LIKE TO MIGRATE: Yes No DK

Per cent	Per cent	Per cent
21 to 34 years	56	37	7
34 to 49 years	43	49	8
50 years and over	20	74	6

All Britons who stated a desire to leave the country were asked a further question:

"Which country would you go to?"

Here are the results for the 41 per cent expressing an interest in "re-locating":

Per cent	Per cent
Australia	10
New Zealand	10
U. S. A.	8
South Africa	6
South America	3
Others	2
	41

Among the 56 per cent of younger people who would like to resettle, their choices as to where are as follows:

Canada—13 per cent, Australia—11 per cent, U. S.—10 per cent, New Zealand—9 per cent, South Africa—5 per cent, South America—3 per cent and other countries, 5 per cent.

One possible reason as to why the U. S. is not the "land of promise" to Britons is the British restrictions on foreign exchange that severely limit dollar allocations and transfers of capital.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

There has been a suspicion lurking in my mind all winter that the violets at our house are poor little mixed up kids. They haven't stopped blooming even though the sand, wind, ice, snow and rain pounded them. The puny little plant bravely put out yellow blossoms when it surely couldn't have been anywhere near the normal time for blooms.

Now I find ours are not the only plants with brave hearts. J. P. GORDON had so many iris plants that he decided they must be thinned in order to have any good ones. Some rhizomes he left in the ground and they have continued to stay green and alive. Others he put in a tub and stored in the garage. These evidently didn't need to get out of the house. They are merrily budding away and by today they may have even developed full blooms.

AUDA STANFORD's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Barnes, came down to Texas last week to get out of the snow and cold of Pueblo, Colo. Of course, all they saw while they were here was fog, rain, drizzle, snow and sand. They finally gave up and left Friday morning and it's been right pretty weatherwise, every day since. Mrs. Stanford and Mary Cantrell took advantage of the pretty day Sunday and visited in Midland.

Warning To Early Blossoms: Lots Of Time Left For Freeze

Monday night's chilliness, which pushed the mercury down to 31 degrees and left a thin skin of ice on puddles and bird baths, revived annual spring discussion of the discussion of the question "When is the frost danger over in this area?"

The Texas Almanac, final word on most matters pertaining to Texas and Texas, asserts that the "average" last killing freeze date in Big Spring is March 28. This happy date is reached by the process of accumulating all freezing temperatures scored through the half century weather records have been kept and striking an average.

This date can be taken with a grain of salt—the books show that there are many days on record when subfreezing weather occurred after March 28. Take 1957 for example. On April 12, the temperature toppled to 31 degrees. There was some moisture in connection with the cold.

Then on April 13, the cold dropped still deeper to a bleak 28 degrees. The moisture which had fallen froze to encase the swelling buds on trees and shrubs. Heavy damage was caused as a result.

The records for the 57 years that weather scores have been listed here show there have been 40 days between this date and the end of April when subfreezing temperatures have been endured by Big Springers.

Coldest April day of all was April 6, 1936. The reading on that date was 22 degrees. The latest freezing date the United States Experiment Station reports locally was on April 26, 1920. On that date the reading was 32 degrees.

Easter this year falls on April 6. There is a widely believed legend that a cold spell always precedes Easter. Gardeners and fruit growers usually go around with their fingers crossed until after that holiday passes.

Therefore, if the Easter story is sound, the area has 25 more days to worry about whether there's to be any local fruit and before it is safe to cut off the furnace for the season.

Bar Assn. To Be Activated

Grover Cunningham is secretary of the county bar.

The bar formerly met at noon on the last Saturday in each month. The practice was dropped about the time of the primary elections in 1957 and has not been revived.

County To Check Legality Of Purchasing Fire Truck

John Richard Coffee, county attorney, will be asked for a legal opinion on whether Howard County can buy a fire truck for use to combat rural fires.

The issue arose when a truck which the county had bought a number of years ago was wrecked some weeks ago. The truck had been placed in the hands of the municipal fire department and the county has been paying the city $3,000 a year to maintain and operate it.

Herbert Whitney, city manager, officially notified the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday that the truck had been destroyed in a traffic mishap as it was en route to deal with an oil field fire.

The truck was not insured. Replacement would cost the county $12,000 to $15,000.

No action was taken when Whitney made his report that the truck had been destroyed. Tuesday morning, the commissioners reviewed the matter briefly and Red Gilliam asked that the board be provided with an opinion by Coffee on whether the county could engage in such an enterprise.

Coffee was in Austin Tuesday. He will be asked to prepare the opinion on his return.

NCAA PLAYOFFS OPEN ON 4 FRONTS TONIGHT

The basketball bounces in New York, Evanston, Ill., Stillwater, Okla., and Shreveport, La., tonight as the NCAA Tournament begins its preliminary shapeup for four high-powered weekend regionals.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: ROCKY COLAVITO, Cleveland outfielder: "I've seen almost as many hitting styles as I've seen hitters. What's exactly right for one man is all wrong for another. I think every hitter has to find his own natural style and work out his own problems starting from that point. I've got a lot of respect for Tris Speaker. He was a better hitter, I guess, than I can ever hope to be. But when he coaches me I have the feeling he's trying to mould me into his own style, and it isn't mine. I'm a different type of hitter, and what was right for Tris seems wrong for me. It's as if Al Simmons tried to convince everybody the only right way to hit was to step halfway to the third base dugout on every swing. It was good for him but you might wait 50 years before another guy comes along who could do it."

EDDIE BORDON, boxing writer: "A 10-year-old boy with an average amount of common sense could have detected the winner of the recent fight between Ralph Dupas and Gaspar Ortega in Norfolk, Va. . . What should have been a completely electrifying victory for Dupas was marred by the culpability of Judge John Burton, who scored the fight exactly even with 96 points for each contestant. . . People who are appointed to decide such important fights without any qualification or capability to reflect upon boxing in general. Political appointees usually supply most of the damage that are responsible for aspersions on the game. Capable people do not commit such flagrant abuses."

TOMMY WALSH, advance man for the Harlem Globetrotters: "There was a time when you could find good suckers to make a phony event possible. These days sports fans know their sport and will only buy quality. The day of the promoter who depended on suckers for a living is past."

HARRY CRAFT, manager of the Kansas City Athletics: "I still think a pitcher needs only a fast ball, curve and change of pace. If he lacks the good fast ball, he needs to replace it with pinpoint control."

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON, who fights Carmine Basilio soon: "Go out on the limb and pick me to win. I want to win that mid-dewright title back and I'm going to do everything in my power to do it."

FRED HANEY, manager of the Milwaukee Braves: "I was accused of going Hollywood because an actor (Desi Arnaz) got into the dressing room at the World Series without my knowing it. I've worked and lived around Hollywood for years and if going Hollywood means associating and having fun with fellows like Leo McCarey, Larry McGrath, Casey Robinson and Jack Mulhall (producers and directors), I guess I'm guilty."

JIMMY DEMARET, the veteran golfer: "There are too many golf tournaments. The younger pro golfers get that dollar sign in their eyes and go after the money the tournament sponsors hang up for them. They don't take time out from tournaments to study the game to perfect their shots. We were luckier than they are. We never had a tournament every week like they have now. And we didn't have the money to get around to all of the few tournaments there were. So we had weeks at a time in which to polish up our games. You don't find those good shots on the tournament tees, and Snead and Hogan and Nelson will tell you the same thing. . . Shots play differently from different kinds of turf and the young pros are so eager to get into that prize money they don't have time to study turf or courses. Hogan never could learn enough about the game, even when he was the best golfer in the world. He beat me out by ten strokes in one tournament, and later that day he asked me to show him how to play my kind of fade to the green."

West Virginia Named Nation's Top Cage Team

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

WEST VIRGINIA, a team of towering mountain boys with deadly shooting eyes, is the nation's No. 1 college basketball team for the 1957-58 season. Coach Fred Schaus' squad from Morgantown, W.Va., captured top honors today in the final Associated Press poll, making an 11th-hour spurt to the position it held through much of the campaign.

Cincinnati finished second and Kansas State fell from first to third after being beaten by Nebraska and Kansas during the final week. Annapolis placed fourth and Temple fifth, followed by Maryland, Kansas, Notre Dame, Kentucky and Duke. The West Virginians grabbed 89 of the first-place votes of sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the balloting. Cincinnati collected the second largest number, 37.

Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. West Virginia had 1,400 points compared with 1,214 for Cincinnati. Kansas State had 961 points but N. C. Jan. 27. The Mountaineers are a team of rugged individualists who have no set plays but "do just what comes naturally." West Virginia rolled up a season record of 26 victories and one defeat, counting games in the Southern Conference Tournament it won for the fourth straight time.

The only setback came at the hands of Duke, 72-68, in Durham, N.C., Jan. 27. The mountaineers have a 12-game string as they face Manhattan at Madison Square Garden tonight in one of the preliminary NCAA Tournament games. The team's ace shot is Jerry West, a six-foot-three sophomore who is averaging 18.1 points a game.

Maryland, with a 20-6 record, broke into the first 10 by winning the tough Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament.

Maxwell One Shot Back In Tourney

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The final 36 holes of the $20,000 New Orleans Open got under way today with Ken Venturi, Bill Casper and Walter Burkemo the men to beat. Venturi scrambled for a 71 yesterday after carding an opening 66. He fell into a tie with Burkemo, one-time PGA champion from Franklin Hills, Mich., and Casper, the long hitter from Apple Valley, Calif.

Burkemo came in with a 4-under-par 68 after posting 71 in the first round. Casper tacked a 70 onto his first-round 69.

The 36-hole finals today were necessitated because of the heavy rains that postponed the tournament's opening until Sunday, PGA Tournament Director Harvey Raper said the event had to be completed today to allow the touring pros to move on to Pensacola, Fla., where a $15,000 tournament opens Thursday.

Big Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., carded the day's best round with a 67 while Mike Krak, Morgantown, W.Va., had a 68. Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif., tied with Venturi and Bill Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., for the first-round lead, took a 78, dropping out of the top 20. Maxwell came in with 72 to tie Nary, Krak and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., for a spot behind the three leaders.

Lane Is Still Man With Many Ideas

By JOHN CLARY
The Associated Press

Frank Lane, Cleveland Indians' general manager, has never been one to run out of ideas. He's come up with plenty of them at Tucson, Ariz. Manager Bobby Bragan has been given three full-time coaches, five former major league stars as "instructors" and a former Olympic track star.

DEMAND UNPRECEDENTED Extra 500 Relays Ducats On Sale

The reserve seat ticket demand for the American Business Club Relays April 4-5 has been so heavy that the Relays committee decided Monday to convert an extra 500 ducats in Section A of the west stands at Memorial Stadium to the reserved section. The committee of Bill Quimby, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, which is being used as a cleaning house for the ducats, said all seats in Sections B, C and D on the west side were gone and the rush was on for seating space in Section E.

The west stands seats 5,000. The 500 seats in Section A which are being saved will be used to seat athletes where they are not running. Quimby said Colorado City was originally allotted 68 of the $1.50 reserve seats and those went in a hurry. The city was then sent an extra 108 and 25 of those had been asked for before they ever arrived. The tickets in Colorado City are available at the Colorado City Record. One of Colorado City's favorite sons, Hollis Gailey, will be running for the University of Texas here. Gailey was high point man in the university class at the Border Olympics last week. The junior college class of the Relays got a shot in the arm last weekend when Cisco JC won that class in the Border Olympics, beating favored Victoria. HCJC of Big Spring was a strong third. Both Cisco and HCJC are local entries.

Tickets have also been forwarded to Midland and Abilene for sale and the demand for the ducats in both places has been heavy. Scoring in all divisions of the Relays will be done on a 10-4-2 basis. Awards will be given for the first three places only, however. George Zachariah, chairman in charge of the campaign to sell advertising space in the Relays program, said the drive was meeting with much success but added much remained to be done.

It appears now that about 45 high schools will field teams here, along with nine or 10 junior colleges and the eight universities. The tickets in Colorado City are available at the Colorado City Record. One of Colorado City's favorite

Pace-Setters Pad Their Lead In Mixed Circuit

Nalley-Pickle has solidified its hold on first place in the Clover Mixed bowling circuit. The Funeral Home team copped a 2-1 makeup decision from Park Inn, then drubbed Hester's Office Supply by the same score in regular play at Clover Bowl on Sunday.

T-A Baseball Parley Slated

Teen-age baseball enthusiasts will make another effort tonight to get the pot boiling for the new season. All persons interested in seeing that junior and senior leagues function here this summer, whether or not they have children in the program, are being urged to attend a 7:30 o'clock meeting this evening at the City Police building. Several attempts have been made to shape up the leagues at meetings here the past several weeks but it's obvious that the patrons haven't been able to get used to the fact that baseball season is close at hand. The Teen-Age park, located on the northern outskirts of town, is in fairly good shape. Last year at this time, there wasn't even a park in existence, but the Teen-Agers went ahead to experience a good season. Future plans call for the park to be moved, due to the fact that there is an alternate highway going in that direction. It's probable the plan can be put to use for baseball this year, however.

Baird To Open With Southpaw In Andrews

High school baseball teams of Big Spring and Andrews tangled this afternoon in Andrews in the first of three games this week. Starting time of the seven inning bout today is 4 o'clock. The two nines square away here again Saturday in a double-header.

The game today opens the season for Roy Baird's Longhorns. The locals were to have made their debut last weekend in Plainview but were weathered out. The cold weather, if it persists during the afternoon, probably means that Baird will make use of as many pitchers as possible. He'll take no chances on getting any of them hurt.

Chubby Moser will probably start on the mound for the locals but the leftie isn't due to work more than two innings. Billy Roger, a veteran right-hander; and Jay LeFevre may follow Moser to the hill. Salvador Sarmiento will don the catching rig for the Steers. George Peacock will be at first base, Bernard McMahon at second, Preston Daniels at shortstop and Jackie Thomas at third.

In the outfield, it will be Donnie Everett or Billy Bob Lewellen in left field, Bobby McAdams or Preston Hollis in center and Wilson Bell in right. Coach Baird will probably take 24 boys to Andrews for the game.

Bill Thompson Second To Jan

Bill Thompson finished second to Jan Loudermilk in the individual scoring race on the Big Spring High School basketball team and was the only other player to boast a scoring average of better than 10 points a game. Loudermilk shattered all school scoring records in counting 711 points. Thompson wound up with 336 points and a 10.8 average. Third was Preston Hollis, who had an even 300 points and a 9.67 game average.

Researcher At Argonne Labs Succeeds Despite Blindness

CHICAGO (AP)—The immediate world of Dr. Bradley Burson is a vast, gray blur peopled with vague shapes and shadows. He lives on the threshold of blindness. But it is the physicist's world beyond this opaque haze that really matters to him. Stepping into it at the Argonne National Laboratory, things leap into focus, the fuzziness disappears, and even the abstract takes shape. There, in a wing of the Physics Building, he heads a small group of researchers peering into the mysteries of radioactive decay. "Nuclear spectroscopy," they call it.

Success Against Odds

Dr. Bradley Burson, although nearly blind, heads a research team at Argonne National Laboratory. He is operating the device he rigged to measure the decay rate of radio isotopes.

BASIC RESEARCH
What they want to know is how stable isotopes—or forms of elements—react when bombarded with beta and gamma rays. What new radioactive elements are produced?

The answers have no immediate practical application, he admits. Their business is simply "to make knowledge."

Virtually blind for 25 years, Dr. Burson, a robust, restless man of 40, views both of his worlds matter-of-factly. Convinced he is unremarkable, he suggests that any opinion to the contrary stems from "the blind prejudice against blindness."

The physicist's condition results from a boyhood accident with a gun. A bullet entered his left temple, severing his optical nerve and producing what doctors called "disrupting corridors": he could discern objects only as blurry shapes; with difficulty, he could read large-size type.

"From the standpoint of doing things, I might as well be totally blind," he says.

The logical thing was to learn Braille, and this he soon accomplished. But his real concern was how to provide for his future security.

He first thought of teaching, and with this in mind he enrolled in Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., as a physics student. But he learned that California law prevented a blind person from teaching school, so he transferred to the University of Illinois, switched courses and won a law degree in 1942.

He never practiced law. Within two years he was back at Illinois working on his master's and doctor's in physics, and it paid off with the job at Argonne.

Because the job involved knowing what went on in the lab as well as what theories lay behind it, he set about developing instruments he could handle unaided.

CHANGED INDICATORS
By increasing the sensitivity of one measuring device, and using two photoelectric cells to translate these measurements into light impulses strong enough to convey an impression to him, he found he could handle the device as well as anyone.

He also developed an indicator that would register the desired data by means of an interruption in tone signals—this to substitute for the ordinary visual calibrations.

Nowadays, when not at the lab, he is busy designing a new home for his family—a wife and three children—and with his role as board member-at-large of the National Federation of the Blind. "What the employer doesn't

Bus Involved In Traffic Accident

A school bus was involved in a traffic accident Monday.

The incident occurred at Eleventh and Goliad, Trinidad Rosas, 807 N. Nolan, told police that he was involved in a mishap with a school bus driven by W. A. Odom.

Also Monday, James Harris and Henry Edwards, 223 Elm, were in collision at 1110 Lancaster.

This morning, Coleman Pinkerton Jr., driving a Yellow Cab Co. vehicle, and Ethelwyn Gillyly, Settles Hotel, were in an accident at 8th and Main.

The Real Sack Look

If lady wishes to achieve "the sack look" real easy she can do so and still look quite chic by taking a plain old feed sack and going to work with scissors, as Claudia Kaszynski, Beaumont Lamar Tech sophomore, demonstrates, while Don Dixon, center, and George Harvey, also Lamar students, look on admiringly. Claudia modeled the sack in preparation for Lamar's annual "King's Ball."

Citizens Protest Snyder Action

SNYDER (AP)—About 50 citizens met last night and agreed to ask the school board to rescind its action in firing the superintendent and business manager.

The citizens also agreed to ask the board at its regular meeting tonight to take no other action in the matter until after the school election April 5.

The board met secretly Saturday night and voted to buy up the contracts of Supt. C. L. Yarbrough and Business Manager A. T. Nicholas.

The vote was 4-1 with one member absent.

A board member who voted to fire the two, Ross Hemphill, told the citizens the majority felt that the men hadn't carried out the policies of the board.

E. H. Williamson, board member who voted against, said he didn't think that the matters of policy were important enough to justify the action.

The contract of Yarbrough, whose salary was $15,000 yearly, expires July 1, 1959. Nicholas' salary wasn't announced. His contract ends next Sept. 1.

Hopes To Develop All-Red Canary

NUTLEY, N. J. (AP)—Rudy Klemm may make the "little yellow dickie bird" a thing of the past. He's trying to breed a bright red canary.

Klemm has assembled about six South American canaries for cross-breeding. Averaging about a chick a month, Klemm figures it will take his pets about five to 10 years to come up with an all-red canary.

YOU REALLY CAN'T WIN AT GAMBLING

Lady Fortune giveth; the IRS taketh away.

Actually, it's not quite that one-sided, but gambling winnings are reportable income for federal income tax purposes, whereas losses are not.

Gambling losses may be deducted, however, to the extent of winnings and provided deductions are itemized on page 2 of Form 1040, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS gives two examples: "During 1957 you had casual gambling winnings of $300 and losses of $500. The $300 winnings must be reported on Schedule H, page 3. If you itemize your deductions you may deduct $300 of the losses on page 2. When you use the Tax Table, you may not claim any of the losses as a deduction."

"Suppose your winnings were $500 and losses $300. The total winnings of $500 must be reported on Schedule H, and all of the losses may be claimed as a deduction on page 2, if you itemize your deductions."

Appliances To Ease Household Chores

E. A. Fiveash proudly displays three appliances which will help ease the burden of washing, both clothes and dishes. At left, Fiveash shows the Elkay Stainless Steel double sinks in a variety of prices.

Also Fiveash has two Mayco water softeners which will pay for themselves in savings on soap, fuel and water. The Speed Queen washers are also on display, shown at right.

Fiveash Has Top Quality Home Products

Good equipment takes much of the drudgery out of washing, both dishes and clothing, and you can find what you need to make these chores easier at Fiveash Plumbing Co.

One piece of equipment that will help either job is a Mayco water softener, available at Fiveash Plumbing, 821 E. 3rd, in three sizes to fit your needs.

The Mayco saves you time, money, and work. By cutting grease, it gives an added luster to dishes and glasses and also makes them easier to wash, thus saving time and water. It also saves on the amount of soap needed.

This goes for washing clothes too, because dirt and soil loosens quicker in soft water.

It saves money in another way since it takes less fuel to heat lime-free water. Hard water also makes heat tanks with scale.

Make washing more of a luxury with a new Elkay Stainless Steel sink. A stainless steel sink is just the thing when remodeling the kitchen.

Fiveash has them in a variety of prices with some in the same price range with cast iron models. The firm also has more expensive models. These double sinks will serve as a washing basin as well as a drain.

Try a new Speed Queen automatic washer and see the difference in time saved in washing clothes. Just a flick of the wrist starts the process and no more work is needed until the clothes are ready for the line. With the Speed Queen multi-cycle process, you can regulate the time needed to wash, the temperature of the water, and how much water is used.

Check with Fiveash Plumbing Co. when thinking of new appliances for the home.

Quality Built Into Pianos By Baldwin

Quality is an element which generally determines the destiny of any product placed on the market. Baldwin pianos, sold in Big Spring by Adair Music Company, 1708 Gregg, are definitely quality instruments. Every Baldwin piano produced by the factory is the finest possible example of the piano makers' art. Built into each part of this fine instrument are the years and years of experience and understanding that Baldwin workmen possess.

That's why Baldwins are held in the high esteem they are by musicians and lovers of fine musical instruments. When you state that your piano is a "Baldwin" you need say no more. You have told the story—you have the finest piano available.

Artists whose fame depends to a great degree on the quality of the piano they use in their concerts are Baldwin fans. They demand that the piano provided for them be a Baldwin—they know from experience that the Baldwin represents the very best possible in pianos.

If you are in the market for a piano, do not be content with less than the best. A piano is a lifetime purchase—if you buy an inferior instrument, you will have years of disappointment ahead of you.

If you buy a Baldwin, its possession will always be a matter of pride and satisfaction.

If you want to see the best in pianos and learn first hand why Baldwin is the best, visit the Adair Music Company, 1708 Gregg and let the staff show you.

Passage Needed For Emergencies

ANDARKO, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Gerald Thomason was worried when highway crews began tearing up the pavement and blocking off streets in front of her home.

She consulted with highway engineer Ed Kidd and asked if he could leave passage for emergencies. It was arranged, and without any trouble getting to the hospital, Mrs. Thomason gave birth to a baby.

Wagon Wheel Restaurant Is Known From Coast To Coast

A Big Spring "mecca" for hungry tourists is the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, 803 E. 3rd.

That's because the establishment is known from coast to coast for its delicious food, pleasing atmosphere, and friendly, efficient service.

Duncan Hines, the world-known authority on good food and good places to eat, has dined at the Wagon Wheel often. As a result, the restaurant is prominent on his list of "recommended" places to dine.

Also, the American Automobile Association has sent its representatives to Big Spring to sample the fare at the Wagon Wheel. After their first visit, the Wagon Wheel promptly went into the AAA's guide to members, with an "approved" rating. The restaurant has been approved by the AAA ever since.

Of course, Duncan Hines and the AAA didn't learn anything that hundreds of Big Springers didn't already know. The Wagon Wheel Restaurant has been one of Big Spring's favorite dining spots ever since it was established more than a decade ago.

The fine food is as famous with the homefolks as it is with the travelers who have stopped at the Wagon Wheel time after time while on trips in this area.

Not only is the food of the highest quality, but it is prepared by a staff of expert chefs and is served by a corps of courteous, well-trained waitresses.

And it is served in pleasant surroundings, designed with the customer's every comfort in mind. Organ music is provided by Mrs. Faye Everest during the regular lunch and dinner periods.

The Wagon Wheel now is opening early to serve breakfast, starting at 6 a.m. A complete breakfast menu, complete with hot biscuits, is offered.

Along with its regular dining area, the Wagon Wheel has two private dining rooms, ideal for club or business meetings. They are the Western Room, planned for smaller groups, and the Candlelight Room, for large gatherings.

Demand for the private rooms is so great, that prospective users are advised to make reservations as far in advance as possible. E. L. Terry, manager, or other personnel at the restaurant will accept reservations.

Jones Humble Makes Autos Run Better

Got that spring fever and, with it, the urge to go places?

If you have then don't leave before you have your car completely serviced. It'll assure you of much better performance coming and going, if you accomplish the chore.

A good place to take care of the matter is the Jones Humble Service Station, located at Fourth and Scurry Streets, which specializes in just such work.

Employees at the Jones station do cleaning jobs on vehicles that make them look like new. When a customer brings his car into the Jones station for a cleaning job, he can rest assured that the auto will be vacuumed on the inside, the floor board dusted and cleaned and the panel board cleaned—that in addition to the outside scrub-down.

Crankcase oil should also be changed regularly. Some do it every thousand miles they drive, others wait until they have driven 4,000 or 5,000. Personnel at the Jones concern not only change the oil for you but stand ready to advise you as to what type and grade to use, in event you are in doubt about such a matter.

Vehicles should also be greased regularly, especially before and after trips. Employees at the Jones station specialize in that, too.

And if you're going on a long trip or simply for a weekend stay, don't forget to check your tires. If they're old and need replacing, perhaps you should talk with Rejere Jones, owner and manager of the concern, about purchasing new ones.

The trade-in value of your old casings as offered by the station might surprise you.

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Alfred M. Pence, fined $10 on a charge of speeding on Laramie streets, is appealing his conviction to district court.

Pence says restricted speed laws are not in effect at 7:15 a.m., the time he was arrested.

Daily Average Oil Production Falls

TULSA (AP)—Reflecting March allowable cuts, daily average oil production fell 528,025 barrels to 6,319,000 during the week ended March 8, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Most of the big drop was in Texas, down 420,300 to 2,301,850 barrels.

Kansas had a 75,475 barrel decline, largely the result of bad weather, to 256,925. Louisiana's output was down 38,775 to 818,925 barrels.

Oklahoma had a 9,000 increase to 579,400 barrels, the week's largest.

The journal estimated 1958 production at 456,459,690 barrels compared to 508,351,524 a year ago. California was down 2,900 barrels to 886,400; New Mexico, 1,175 to 264,875; and Colorado, 1,150 to 140,500. Arkansas was up 200 to 83,200.

Expensive Mistake

YORKTON, Sask. (AP)—Garbage collectors made a costly error when they mistook a carton, containing a $117 lamp fixture, for a box of junk and ran it through their truck's compacting unit.

Salute To A Mothball-Bound Pal

Navy Lt. Charles Denner of Alva, Okla., salutes the battleship Wisconsin in Bayonne, N. J., where the ship was decommissioned. Denner was with the dreadnaught for 21 months. The 45,000-ton Wisconsin was the Navy's last active battleship.

Pro-Western Sudan Party Wins Ballot

CAIRO — The pro-Western Umma party won a big margin over its nearest rivals in the Sudanese parliamentary elections but came 15 seats short of a majority in the 173-seat chamber. Final results announced early today from Khartoum gave the Umma 72 seats. Their nearest rivals, the neutralist, pro-Egyptian National Unionists, took 45 seats. The People's Democratic party, which formed a coalition with the Umma in the outgoing Cabinet, got 22 seats.

This indicated Umma Premier Abdullah Khalil could remain in power if he re-formed his coalition. But Sudanese sources in Cairo doubted the coalition could hold together indefinitely because the PDP is inclined toward closer ties with Egypt while Khalil and the Umma party want to move closer to the West. With his increased parliamentary support Khalil is expected to pull the Sudan over to a more pro-Western position if he heads the new government. The Umma was a minority party in the outgoing Parliament, and Khalil had to accept a neutralist position to hold a workable coalition together. He recently told newsmen he favored an alliance with such pro-Western African-Middle Eastern countries as Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia and Libya if he remains in office.

Khalil is known to be strongly opposed to President Gamal Abdel Nasser. This forecasts trouble for the Egyptians in future attempts to negotiate border disputes and a Nile water agreement with the Sudanese. Egypt needs a water agreement before beginning work on the Aswan high dam. Balloting for the first Parliament since Sudan achieved independence in 1956 began Feb. 27 and ran 10 days. The deputies will draft a constitution and elect a president of the republic.

The Umma party champions Sudanese independence. The National Unionists favor closer ties with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Truck's Revenge

WASHINGTON — The towing truck of a suburban Virginia garage got a bit of new business. It was summoned to pull out a horse which had mired chest-deep in a mud hole.

Mother, Holding Son In Arms, Falls Under Train

NEW YORK — Holding her 4-year-old son in her arms, a Brooklyn housewife plunged into the path of an elevated train yesterday.

The mother was killed. The boy slipped between the ties of the track and hung by a leg, head down, 60 feet above the street for five minutes before being rescued.

Two cars passed over the boy but he was not seriously injured. He was pulled to safety by a motorman and a transit patrolman and taken to a hospital.

Police said the woman, Mrs. Marie Vitucci, 30, killed herself apparently on impulse.

The father, Michael, part-owner of a gas station, had gone to New Jersey in the morning on a car-buying trip.

Mrs. Vitucci left a note for their two older children saying she was going shopping with young Michael and would be back later in the afternoon.

Grand Champion At El Paso

Lanell Overton, 13, of Forsan poses with her lamb which captured grand champion honors at the Southwestern Livestock Show in El Paso last month. The animal sold for $11 per pound, bringing $1,155.

FFA, 4-H Show Has Substantial Prizes Posted

The boy or girl who shows the grand champion steer of the 21st annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock show could win as much as $52 in award money—plus all of the honor and prestige that goes with the victory.

The first place in any weight of steers—heavy, middle or light—will be paid $12. For the grand championship an additional $40 will be awarded.

If it so happens that the exhibitor who shows the grand champion steer was also ruled the best showman in the division, he could augment his winnings by $15. It is even possible he might win an extra $10 if he happens to keep the stall and aisle in his steer's quarters the best.

Ten prizes are posted in each of the three steer divisions with the top honor being worth $12 and the tenth place $2. Reserve grand championship steer will carry with it an extra $25 for the steer's exhibitor.

Top award for the best light and best heavy weight capon will be $250. Fifth place in each weight will pay $1. There's $5 as an extra prize for the grand champion and $3 for the reserve grand champion.

The show pays cash awards for 10 places for light and heavy fine wool lambs, the same for light and heavy cross bred lambs and for light and heavy Southdown lambs.

Top prize in each weight is $5. Tenth place in each weight pays $1.

Grand championship lamb will pay the exhibitor $10 and the reserve champion $5. Best lamb showman will receive $10; second place $5 and third place $2.50.

In all, the show will pay $550 in cash awards to the young exhibitors. In addition, of course, are the coveted ribbons which the club members and chapter members so avidly desire.

This Year's Show Due To Be One Of Biggest

Twenty-first Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show, March 11, 12 and 13, promises to be one of the biggest and best in the long and successful history of this annual spring feature.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that this year's animals will be of the highest quality in many years and represent the same type of stock which the local organizations have been showing with marked success in some of the biggest of the state stock shows.

The annual show is sponsored by the Howard County Junior Livestock Association, the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Scene of the show will be the livestock barns west of the city and the sponsoring groups and the leaders in FFA and 4-H activities in the county heartily urge all citizens to attend all sessions of the show.

Cash prizes of more than $500 will be awarded in the steer, lamb and capon competition. In addition to these money awards, ribbons will be presented to others whose entries place high in the show.

However, the event of prime interest to the young exhibitors and from which they reap the richest financial benefit is the big auction sale which brings the show to its finale.

This year, every effort will be made to make this the richest sale in the history of the show. The sale last year grossed $14,613.45.

The sale will be on the night of Thursday, March 13. It is always the highlight of each show and attracts the largest attendance.

Taylor said that the show this year will display 23 steers, 150 lambs and 150 capons. From each of these groups, a champion, reserve champion and the runners up will be selected. And from the champions and reserve champions, the grand champion and reserve grand champion of each class will be named.

At the sale, 21 of the 23 steers will be sold at auction. Seventy of the lambs will be on the block and 70 of the capons. A screening process determines the stock to be sold.

The show rings down the curtain on livestock exposition activities for the youngsters for the 1957-58 season. Many head of stock from this county has already been in competition in the shows held in other parts of the state and some high honors have been scored by local entries.

Buildings have been put in shape at the fair grounds. All arrangements for the handling of the stock on its arrival and for its display have been worked out.

No admission charge is made to the show. The public is invited to attend any and all sessions including the auction sale on the closing night.

The 21st 4-H - FFA

Fat Stock Show

March 11, 12 And 13

The local Fat Stock Show is really unique in its history. First, it is the largest county show in the state, and secondly, it has produced more championship animals than any show of comparable size.

From the 4-H-FFA show here have come steers and lambs that achieved national acclaim for the youths who raised them and for our area.

So, our congratulations on this 21st Annual Show. We are proud of our record of buying from the top animals and feel it is an important contribution to a continued healthy livestock industry for Big Spring and Howard County. We invite you to attend the auction sale Thursday night.

we always have time for you!

Joyce Robinson of Knott shows her prize Hereford which was the grand champion steer of the Abilene Regional Fat Stock Show this year. Joyce, 15, sold the classy animal for $1,500 at the auction following the Abilene show.

Judges Know Their Business

Much care is devoted to the selection of the judges who serve at the Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock shows. Every effort is put forth to obtain individuals who are completely qualified for their duties, according to Jimmy Taylor, show superintendent. This year, as in other years, the officials are convinced they have achieved the goal they sought. They regard the three men selected to judge the entries as the best qualified men in this work in this entire area. Stanley Anderson, Lubbock, will be judge of the steers. He has had wide experience in this work. It is anticipated competition in the steer division will be particularly keen this year. Taylor says the quality of the animals entered is well above average and cites the good showing that county entries have made in shows of state renown in the last few months. The man with the big job will be Herman Carter, San Angelo, judge of the lambs. One hundred and fifty lambs have been tentatively entered in the competition. Checking each of these animals and then evaluating the champions and grand champion will be a major undertaking. Carter, who comes from the famous sheep center of West Texas, is regarded as an ideal choice.

Jaycees Handle Big Job Of Planning For Annual Show

Planning for the big auction sale which climaxes the annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock show is a major enterprise and is one that the Big Spring Jaycee organization handles with great skill and experience.

To make the needed arrangements, line up the buyers, provide for the presence of representatives of the major packing houses and commission firms, the Jaycees have set up a special sales committee. This group has been at work for several weeks preparing details for the final night of the show.

David Sims, chairman, is assisted by 15 of his Jaycee associates.

They are Everett Taylor, Ralph McLaughlin, R. L. Heath, Oliver Cofer, John Taylor, Doug Boren, Chub Jones, Jack Buchanan, John Rudeseal, Olin Graves, Bill Gray, Wayne Basden, James Cope, and Commodore Ryan.

Special assistants to the sales committee are Robert Currie and R. V. Middleton, Big Spring bankers, who are working in close cooperation with the group. Bill Gray, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that his committee has had excellent response in their campaign to line up bidders for the sale. The auction operates like any such sale. There is one difference however. If the buyer of an animal desires he can resell his purchase to a commercial buyer for the prevailing market price for whatever animal he may have purchased. By this method, the buyer contributes only the difference between the price of the animal on the

Here Are Rules For Stock Show

Rules and regulations governing the 21st Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show are basically unchanged from what they were last year, Jimmy Taylor, superintendent, said.

These rules are similar to those which prevail at all shows of the kind and are carefully prepared to insure that every exhibitor gets a square deal.

They are also established to expedite the show and insure that it moves with efficiency and in a business-like manner.

It is specified that any boy or girl under the age of 21 who is a qualified member of the FFA or the 4-H clubs is eligible to compete.

Special rules for the show also provide that no member can sell more than one steer, one lamb or one capon at the auction sale.

All rules of the show are subject to interpretation by the executive committee and any such decision will be final. Any disagreement, difference of opinion or dispute which may arise.

The show waives all responsibility for any loss, injury or damage done to, or occasioned by or arising from any animal exhibited. The exhibits are all under the control and direction of the secretary manager.

Competition is open to FFA and 4-H members of Howard County only.

No entry fees are charged but the exhibitor must pay for his feed or hay and properly bed his animal.

It is required that an exhibitor must be able to prove that the animal which he exhibits is owned by him.

Weight, rather than age, is the basis on which exhibits are classified in the show. It is required all animals must be weighed and certified prior to being placed in the show. Steers and lambs must be weighed at the Big Spring Livestock Auction before noon on March 11 and the stamped weighed ticket must be presented to the superintendent of the show.

All entries must be in place at the show barns by noon March 11. They must remain at the show and cannot be removed until after the sale on March 13. Animals which are not in the sale must remain on exhibition until 10 p.m. Thursday night, March 13. The officials declare there are no exceptions to this rule.

Exhibitors are required to clear all stalls, pens and exhibition places before 8 a.m. each day and must dispose of any refuse matter as directed by the superintendent. No bedrolls, buckets, feed boxes, or other material is allowed in the main alley of the show barn. All such supplies must be kept in an orderly manner. The committee reserves the right to disqualify any animal or bird if the pen or stall is not in neat order.

The owner of each animal must be shown in the ring by its bonafide owner. The only exception will be if the owner is too ill to show such animal or if the owner happens to have two entries in the same class. If these developments occur arrangements can be made for the animal to be shown by another 4-H or FFA member.

A sign may be displayed in the show barn over each exhibit an exhibitor may have in the show. Any animal which is found to be falsely entered or which may be deemed objectionable or unsuitable may be removed from the show grounds by the committee without it having to assign a reason.

The single judge system is the policy of the show and it is assured that each judge is picked with the utmost care.

The time when the judges will pass upon the different classes will be announced as accurately as possible and all exhibitors should ascertain at which time each class will be judged. Any animal not presented promptly on the scheduled time will be ruled out and barred from competition.

No prize will be awarded any animal unless the animal is removed from the stall or pen and exhibited with a catalogue number before the judges in the show ring.

No prize will be awarded to any unworthy exhibit.

The decisions of the judges are final and not subject to appeal. Any exhibitor who may in any way interfere with the judge in his work or display or disrespect for him or the show faces the penalty of having his exhibit withdrawn from the show and forfeiture of any awards or premiums.

If an animal should be disqualified after being awarded a prize the animal gaining the lower prizes shall graduate up into the highest position next in order above them.

Party Mix-Up
ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — It was worse than the Mad Hatters tea. Things got mixed up at Mrs. Gilbert Haslam's party and the guests found they had to get the sugar from the spouted cream pitcher, and the cream was in the sugar bowl with only a spoon to use.

Coahoma Has One Of Largest Vocational Agriculture Units

COAHOMA (SC) — One of the largest vocational agriculture programs in the area is being conducted here.

At the present time there are 46 boys in the program, and all are members of the Coahoma Future Farmers of America chapter. The VA instructor and chapter sponsor is R. A. Foster. Each boy is required to have some type of production project before he can become a member of the FFA, and the number varies. Currently there are numerous sheep, swine, beef on feed in addition to crop projects. Average projects per boy is 2.67, said Foster.

"In the coming year the chapter plans to start a commercial swine feeding program," said Foster. "This will be sponsored by the Coahoma Lions Club, and there will be approximately 100 commercial barrows put on feed and fed in competition with current market prices.

"The chapter already has nine steers on feed and will have approximately 40 show lambs for the coming year. We feel that this is progress in the development of youth, and we would like to take this opportunity to thank all those interested persons who make this progress possible," he said.

During the past five years five students from the Coahoma chapter have received recognition on the area, district, state and national level. They are Paul Graves, Bill Spears, Butch Hodnett, Doyle Warren, and Wayne Davis.

In the past two years the Coahoma chapter has constructed a livestock show barn and feed lots for boys who do not have the facilities to feed at home. This has improved the chapter's overall interest, Foster observed.

Every year Coahoma stages a livestock show in which FFA members participate along with 4-H feeders and others. The chapter here will have several members who are entering various classes at the Howard County show this week.

Britten Again Is Auctioneer In Stock Show

Walter Britten, College Station, who is one of the most popular and successful livestock auctioneers in the Lone Star State, will be the man with the gavel at the big auction sale which will terminate the 21st Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show here on March 13.

Col. Britten is well known to local sales audiences. He was in charge of last year's sale and has many admirers in Howard County. He is gifted with the rare ability to build up intense interest and excitement at an auction and by this method to push the bids higher and higher.

It is freely predicted by show officials this year that the presence of Britten as auctioneer will greatly increase the interest and attendance at the sale. They also anticipate that his suave skill and persuasiveness will undoubtedly impel a great many buyers to bid a bit higher for the animals of their choice than they anticipate.

The sale will be at 7:30 p.m. March 13 in the Fair Grounds main building.

A total of 161 steers, lambs and capons will be sold before Britten raps his gavel closing the sale.

Future Farmers Organization Is Marking 30th Anniversary

The Future Farmers of America, as a national organization, is 30 years old this year.

Organized in 1928, the FFA came to Texas the following year. It was born of a great need to assist deserving students to become established in their farming projects; to promote and stimulate agricultural leadership; to develop public interest in vocational agriculture; and to provide prizes and awards for students achieving distinction in various phases of agriculture.

To be a Future Farmer, a boy must first have enrolled in vocational agriculture to receive instruction in farm crops, livestock, poultry, farm mechanics, parliamentary procedure, and current farm problems.

FFA members, through active participation in chapter activities, also learn how to conduct and take part in public meetings, how to speak in public, how to solve their own problems, and how to assume civic responsibilities. The foundation upon which the FFA organization is built includes the development of agricultural leadership, citizenship and cooperation.

The FFA is a non-profit, non-political farm youth organization with voluntary membership. It constitutes one of the most efficient agricultural teaching devices existent today. It is totally American in outlook and there is no secrecy connected with any of its activities.

The FFA movement is organized vocational education on a farm youth level. Improved agriculture, better local communities, a more satisfying farm home life, and more efficient farmer-citizens are emerging as a result of the experience in the program, its instructor's and other officials have pointed out.

Motto of the FFA is "Learning to do, doing to learn; earning to live, and living to serve." It is through application of the motto that the boys put into practice the things they learn in projects, class and in club operation.

Explanation Unnecessary

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—One of Miss Betty Benson's grade school pupils asked how to spell a word that he pronounced "sex."

Miss Benson was surprised but complied. Later she looked at the story the boy had written and saw that it concluded: "I like turtles and in-sex." She explained to the young author how to spell "insects," but he thought the advice was needless. "I already knew how to spell 'in,'" he told her. "I asked you how to spell 'sects.'"

More Than $14,000 Paid For Club Animals In '57

Rodney Brooks, one of Howard County's outstanding 4-H club members, achieved the much sought after honor of showing the grand champion steer of the 1957 Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock show.

And on the night of March 12, he had the additional reward of seeing his prize winning steer sold at the big auction sale which climaxed the show for $37.30.

That same night, another prominent 4-H youth, Jerry Iden, who had shown the reserve grand champion steer of the show, received a check for his animal. The price was $1 per pound.

The Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital was the purchaser of the grand champion steer in 1957. Bob Piner, Marvin Edwards, Horace Garrett, John Turner and Lorin McDowell teamed up to buy Iden's reserve grand champion.

Lorita Overton, whose lamb had been ruled grand champion of the 1957 show, saw it bring $2.50 per pound at the sale. First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., was the buyer. Reserve champion lamb, shown by Kimbell Feed Mills for $1.50 per pound.

Ronnie Richardson's big capon which was grand champion of the capon division was brought for a flat $100 by the Security State Bank and the Texas Electric Service Company.

Jimmy Fambro's reserve grand champion capon sold for $50. The buyer was Everett Lomax.

This year, at the annual show which opens on March 11, the sponsors are hopeful that even better prices may be paid for the stock to be sold at the big sale which will climax the three day event.

Not all of the animals and capons entered in the show will be sold. Jimmy Taylor, show director, reported.

Twenty-one of the 23 steers to be entered will be offered for sale. Seventy of the 150 lambs will go on the block and 70 of the 100 capons will be sold.

Last year, the young exhibitors who sold their animals at the sale shared in a total of $14,613.45.

David Sims, Jaycee member and chairman of the all-important sales committee of the show, and his 15 co-workers are campaigning extensively this year to have more buyers and perhaps an even greater gross for the sale on next March 13.

40 In Junior High Agriculture Class

You're never too young to learn about agriculture. And boys get interested at an early age, as witness the response to vocational agriculture in Big Spring Junior High School.

There are 40 boys enrolled, all of them ninth graders, reported Edward Seay, instructor.

Each one must have some type of farm project varying from cotton production to broiler production. In order to register in the second year agriculture course, each boy must invest profitably at least $50 in his projects.

This year the 40 boys have approximately 2,000 broilers on feed, 11 barrows, five gilts, 19 lambs, and three steers. In addition they have some 50 acres in crops.

and three capons in the Howard County show, said Seay.

Most of the boys enrolled in the course at junior high in Big Spring residents, and it is difficult for them to have projects.

"We are hoping that at some time in the near future that we can build a feeding barn that will accommodate approximately 75 boys' projects," said Seay. "This barn would have to be near enough to town that these boys could go out every afternoon and tend to whatever project they had."

"We at the junior high would like to go on record as saying that the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Junior Livestock Association are doing a good job in sponsoring our two local shows and that we certainly appreciate it."

Resolution
UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Among New Year's resolutions revealed by high school students here is one that seems to indicate a certain lack of success in the past. It was "to play hard-to-get with my NEXT girl friend."

Welcome To The 21st Annual Fat Stock Show

Yes, Fat Stock Show time again and time to observe the outstanding success of local 4-H and FFA chapters. Their record of achievement is remarkable and one that will probably stand for years. Last Year's Winner

Rodney Brooks, 16, of Coahoma exhibited the grand champion steer in the 1957 version of the Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show. Rodney is shown here with the Hereford that pulled down top honors. Medical Arts Hospital bought the steer for $937.50.

The sale committee headed by the 20th annual FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show on March 12, 1957, resulted in nearly 140 individuals and firms bidding more than $14,000 for the steers, lambs and capons which were offered for sale. The sales committee headed by David Sims, anticipates that even more buyers will participate in this year's big sale on the night of March 13.

Knott Adding New Building For Vocational Agriculture

KNOTT (SC) — New facilities are coming up to aid in the expansion and intensification of the vocational agriculture program of Knott High School.

Trustees have authorized a new agriculture shop building which will enable the department to meet state requirements. The building also will contain classroom space.

This year the principal project of the pupils, who are all members of the Future Farmers of America chapter at Knott, is feeding out hogs. Some of these will be entered in the annual Howard County club show at Big Spring, and others may be entered in the Texas Tech contest.

Currently there are 20 pupils in the department under W. R. Jones, instructor. During the school year projects included 69 acres of cotton, 101 acres of grain sorghum grown as projects. In addition, 10 barrows, nine gilts and 16 capons were fed out by the boys, said Jones.

Ex-Winners To Compete Again

Several of the youngsters whose animals were rated as grand and reserve grand champions of the 1957 and 1956 Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock show are to be back in the competition again this year.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent and superintendent of the show said that nearly all of the victors from 1956 on will be back in there fighting for new honors when the local show opens on March 11.

are no longer active competitors Brooks, Iden and the Overton sisters, as well as Richardson, Frambro and others will be back in there fighting for new honors when the local show opens on March 11.

Lots Of Manpower Involved In Show

It takes a lot of manpower to carry out all of the many details involved in staging an event as big as the 21st Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock show. The show opens March 11 and runs through March 13.

The man in charge of all details is Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent. His official title is general superintendent of the show.

He has an assistant show superintendent in the person of Truett Vines.

They, in their turn, are helped six other assistant superintendents—each of whom is assigned to a specific job.

Ray White is assistant superintendent in charge of steer division of the show.

J. W. Overton and R. A. Foster and Bill Sims are the two assistant superintendents in charge of the sheep division. There will be 150 lambs in the competition which explains the need for augmented manpower in this department.

Only 23 steers will be entered and White's experience is such that it is believed he will be able to cope with the assignment without assistants.

Ed Seay and Bill Jones will be two assistant superintendents assigned to handling the capon division. One hundred capons to be entered in the show.

In addition to these workers, numerous other citizens are being assigned important duties at the show. Donald Lay and Lawrence Davis are in charge of the weighing in operations.

A special committee on 4-H club activities will be on hand.

Members are Hamlin Elrod, J. W. Overton, M. H. Boatler, Lloyd Robinson and Ellis Iden. Awarding of ribbons and prize money is in the hands of Bill Gray, James Cape and Jack Buchanan.

Buildings and grounds committee is made up of Olin Graves, chairman, Darrel Horte and Jimmy Murphy.

Members of the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsor of the show, will be present in numbers.

An important 15-man committee, headed by David Sims, has been working for several days lining up buyers and boosting interest in the big auction sale.

These men and many others will be on hand en masse on the night of March 13 to assist in the sale which closes the 1957 show.

5-Year-Old Saves Woman From Fire

EL CAJON, Calif. — Five-year-old Douglas Albanese saw smoke coming from the door of a neighbor's home.

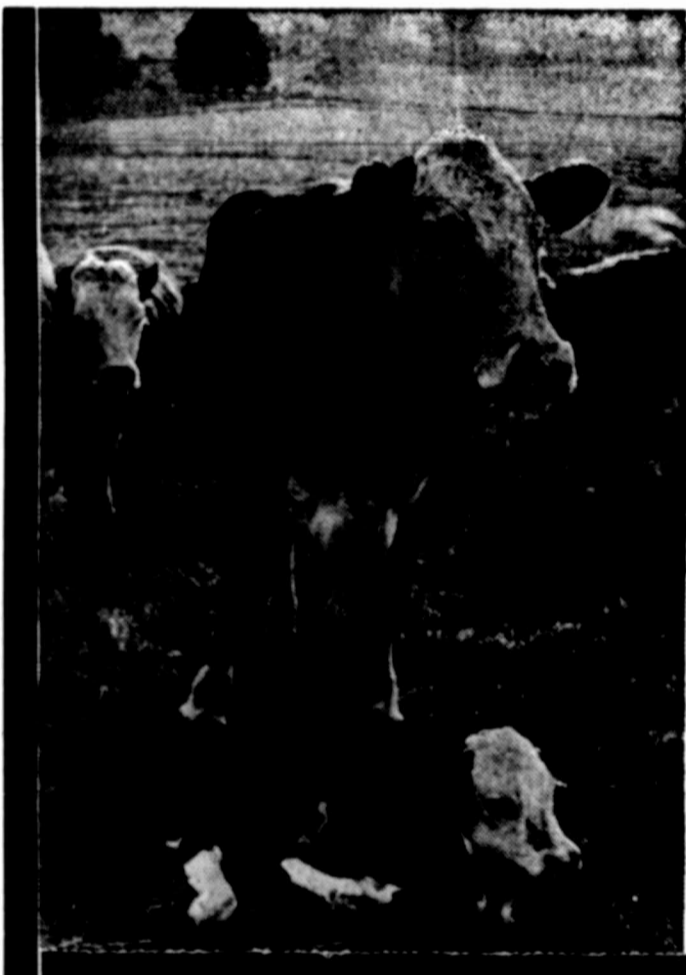

Douglas, a kindergarten pupil, gave the alarm by running to another neighbor's Mrs. Floree Wright, ill with pneumonia and under sedation, was rescued from a smoldering couch. Firemen said she might have perished in smoke or flames except for Douglas' quick action.

$700 'Spectacular' Equipped With Sting

GREENSBURG, Ind. — Frederick Craig, 15, and Lowell Greer, 13, can sympathize with the woes of Hollywood movie producers.

The two youngsters recently finished shooting on their own $700 epic, complete with color and sound. They took one scene 40 times before it came up to their artistic standards.

It was risky business, too. The film depicted life in a bee colony, and all the "actors" came fully equipped with stingers.

One Good Deed By Recession: It Loosened The Tight Money

Editor's Note—Easier money is the new catch word. How much easier is it? The following first in a series of three articles by Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, takes up business loans first.

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—About the only thing the recession is being praised for today is that it ended the tight money policy that many complained was cramping their style.

From all corners of the country, but with the usual regional variations, come these reports:

"It's easier now to find money if you need to borrow than it was at the start of the year. For many kinds of loans the interest charges are smaller now than just a few months back. The repayment terms on some loans are less burdensome."

The movement started in the East and has yet to make much of a dent in the West Coast's anti-inflation policy.

The switch from tight money to easier credit in most places is an attempt to cushion the slump in manufacturing and to pep up home building. Almost as a sideline it includes perking up consumer borrowing.

But the money managers have been moving cautiously. Prices are still high, and they don't want to start inflation boiling again.

The cautious moves of the Federal Reserve Board have affected chiefly the business borrower. Let's look at these first.

The moves: cutting the discount rate; lowering bank reserve requirements; and furnishing more money by buying government securities.

The effects: short-term interest rates have dropped sharply; bond prices, both government and corporate, have risen and yields fallen; bank charges for business loans have slipped slightly; and the banks can make about three billion dollars more in loans than a month ago.

Results are mixed. Total bank loans to business haven't risen. But corporations as well as the U.S. Treasury are floating new securities at lower interest rates than a few months back.

The Treasury has been able to stretch out the federal debt a little by finding markets for long-term bonds. This halted the decline in long-term corporate interest rates and for a few days last week money was anything but easy for new corporate issues.

The sharp drop in short-term interest rates has brought the Treasury bill rate from 3½ per cent to 1¼ per cent in four months. This could weaken further the rates that banks charge their business customers with the top credit rating—what bankers call the prime rate.

For the individual depositor there is a threat to this. If the banks get less for their loans, there's little chance of any further increase in the interest they will pay on savings accounts. If anything they're more likely to lower it.

The Federal Reserve moves have had two aims:

1. To brake the recession insofar as tight money might be cramping business activity. There are few signs yet that this has had much effect.

2. To furnish the base for a quick pickup when business activity starts up again of its own accord or from other stimulants. Bankers think this aim will be the chief producer of results.

When business again is ready to expand, the greater availability of credit and the lower costs of borrowing could be a major factor in making up executives' minds and starting things rolling.

S'western Life Shows Progress In '57 Report

DALLAS — Further substantial progress in increasing its insurance and investment services in the Southwest during 1957 was reported today by Southwestern Life Insurance Company, as it released for publication its 55th annual financial statement.

The company's agency force established a new record in production for the ninth consecutive year, according to President J. Ralph Wood. The company issued $285,256,001 of paid-up life insurance during 1957.

Southwestern Life policyholders and beneficiaries received a record $25,215,156 in benefits during 1957. Policy benefits paid by the company since its organization nearly 55 years ago reached a total of $266,832,104.

On December 31, 1957, assets amounted to $418,163,384, the financial statement reveals. For the protection of policyholders, surplus funds, including capital, surplus and contingency funds, totaled $48,530,216, equivalent to 13.8 per cent of total liabilities.

Investments by Southwestern Life during the year averaged more than $4,800,000 per month. Of a total of $57,782,542 invested in individual, corporate and public enterprises, 66 per cent was placed in real estate loans. Outstanding investment in such loans totaled more than $200 million, accounting for 48 per cent of the company's total assets.

Southwestern Life is represented in Big Spring by Walter W. Stroup, C.L.U.

Garment Workers Contract Drawn Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators for dress manufacturers and 105,000 striking garment workers reached agreement today on a new three-year contract.

Subject to ratification by both sides, the pact restores peace to the industry — New York City's largest — after the first major walkout in 25 years. The strike started last Wednesday.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, said no one would return to work before tomorrow morning. Picketing will continue, he said, until the union receives word of employer ratification, expected tonight.

Union shop stewards vote today on the pact.

Return of the workers in a seven-state area will permit a start on the movement of dresses for the windup of the pre-Easter delivery. These dresses will bear a union label, said Dubinsky. They will cost more because of higher wages, according to the manufacturers.

The increased labor cost was estimated at 75 million dollars over the contract term.

The wage agreement includes an 11½ per cent package increase, including 8 per cent for higher wages and overtime for piece workers after 35 hours a week.

Prestrike wages averaged $2.10 an hour in New York City, where 60,000 of the strikers worked, and were 50 to 75 cents an hour less elsewhere. About 80 per cent of the workers are paid on a piece work basis. Most of the workers are women.

Good Connections

KITCHENER, Ont. (AP)—Dr. Donald Bastedo, Kitchener physician, is a son of Frank L. Bastedo, newly-appointed lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan. He is also a son-in-law of Louis O. Breithaupt, former lieutenant-governor of Ontario.

Howl Over Owl Draws A Scowl

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—A howl over an owl got a scowl from Mayor Robert Sabonjean yesterday.

The owl, a member of the long-eared species protected from hunters by state law, was shot by policeman John Hoff, 30. The policeman said he was acting in line of duty when he fired his pistol to frighten a flight of about 40 swooping birds away from a children's playground. He thought they were hawks.

One bird, an owl, fell dead.

The mayor agreed with Hoff's decision. "Now I'm getting these phone calls from bird lovers who want Hoff fired," said Sabonjean. "I wonder whether some bird lovers have any room in their hearts for their fellow man."

20 Buddhist Nuns Battle Mobsters

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Twenty embattled Buddhist nuns wielded broomsticks against more than 30 mobsters who invaded the Blue Cloud temple yesterday.

The Great China Evening News said the outnumbered defenders were getting the worst of it when police came to the rescue. Nine nuns were injured and one was reported missing. Police arrested two of the invaders.

The paper said the invasion resulted from a dispute over land belonging to the temple, which is located near the South Formosa town of Tanan.
