BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

TODAY'S WEATHER
BIG SPRING AND VICINITY: Fair through Saturday. Windy and dusty today and tonight. Cooler Saturday with northwesterly winds at 15 m.p.h. High today 82, low tonight 45, high tomorrow 70.

The Trial That Changed History

It was an event of minor consequence; at least, it was such to the people who took part. Long after the principals were dead, the reverberations of this event came to be felt in the world, and the ultimate effects cannot even yet, after 2,000 years, be assessed. The event was the trial of a man named Jesus. This trial is one of the many events in the Easter Pageant Sunday morning. In the picture above, Pontius Pilate is seen advancing toward his throne to hear the charges against Jesus, accompanied by his guards. A follower of Jesus, Veronica, is depicted in the right background and, at left, is Judas, the man who betrayed his Master for thirty pieces of silver.

AT 5 A.M. SUNDAY

Large Cast Ready For Easter Pageant

Big Spring's Easter activities will get off to an early start Sunday with the Easter Pageant, sponsored by the Pastors Assn. and produced by the Civic Theatre, is scheduled to begin at 5 a.m. This will be the second year that a full-scale pageant has been presented in place of the sunrise services that once were the tradition in Big Spring. The pageant will be staged in the huge stone Amphitheatre located in City Park. There are two entrances to the park. One entrance turns west off the San Angelo Highway about one mile south of town, just beyond the Baptist encampment. The approach to the other entrance turns south off FM 790 and entry is through the City Park gate. The Evening Lions Club and the city police will direct traffic and parking. Some downtown and highway cafes will be open before 5 a.m. for those wishing an early breakfast. Most cafes will be open by the time the pageant closes about 6:12 a.m. LIGHTING EFFECTS The early hour was chosen, not only because that was the traditional hour of former sunrise services, but so that the pageant will not interfere with other Easter activities and so that lighting effects may be used to greatest advantage. The script for the pageant has been designed so that the Resurrection scene will take place before sunrise at 6:26 a.m. A re-telling of the Easter story, music by organ and choir, vocal solos, and the traditional Biblical scenes heightened by lighting effects, will emphasize the drama of Easter Sunday. The opening scene depicts two characters, identified only as the Old Man and the Young Soldier, both Romans, who meet in the hills outside Rome, more than a generation after the death of Christ. These two are located off-stage, and it is through the Old Man's explanation of the events he has experienced years before in Galilee, and the Young Soldier's questions and comments that set the mood for the pantomime scenes on the stage.

SYMBOLIC CHARACTERS
The two "outside" characters are symbolic in many ways, and serve as a bridge between the Biblical scenes and the audience. The lights go up and dim down on the stage as the Easter story unfolds in scene after scene, but the lights shine straight through the play on the Old Man and the Young Soldier. Perhaps the most dramatic scene is the Way of Tears in which Christ, bearing the cross, makes his way with a procession of civilians and soldiers along a pathway through the audience itself. The pageant ends with the Resurrection and the singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

COME DRESSED TO KEEP WARM
A reminder for your comfort at the Easter Pageant at the amphitheatre: Although it is spring, come dressed as though for winter. Top coats likely will feel comfortable — you can take one off better than you can wish for one. Also bring blankets or newspapers to sit upon, for stone seats can be colder than the atmosphere. If you want to wear your lightweight Easter finery (it will be dark, bringing outer garments sufficient to keep you warm.

New Cold Front To Bring More Turbulent Weather

Another cold front racing toward Texas from the West was expected to boom more turbulent weather across the state Friday. The front was expected to enter West Texas Friday afternoon and scatter thunderstorms across the west and north by Friday night. Scattered thundershowers were expected in South and East Texas. Temperatures were mild Friday. Low clouds and fog blanketed the coastal plains and up the Rio Grande Valley as far as Laredo. Overnight low readings ranged from 43 degrees at Dalhart, Junction and Amarillo to 70 at Brownsville. Beaumont had 1/4 of a mile visibility, with fog, Cotulla 1/2 and College Station 3/4 of a mile. Highs Thursday varied from 91 at Brownsville and Presidio to 70 at Amarillo.

Beaumont had 0.1 of an inch, the only rain reported in the 24 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. At Wichita Falls, residents were cleaning up the damage done by two tornado funnels which struck the city Wednesday night. A third tornado slammed into Deardale, southeast of Wichita Falls. One man was killed and more than a dozen injured. Damage was estimated at $750,000. A tornado also hit Stoneburg in Montague County, doing up to an estimated $100,000 damage. One man was injured. The Weather Bureau said a new experimental radar set clocked winds in a Wichita Falls tornado at about 200 miles an hour. It was the first time the bureau said, for the new experimental radar set to be used to check the wind speeds in a tornado.

Khrushy May Have To Clean House To Move Off Hot Spot

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Nikita Khrushchev could be on a spot. Squeezed between a frightened Communist bureaucracy and suspicious farmers, he may have to do some more house cleaning to avoid tumbling from his new pinnacle. Soviet press treatment hints Khrushchev's bold agriculture program has scared some leading Communists. Dissension over this plan may even have moved the party boss to seize the premiership and thus rule party and government simultaneously. Some influential party people seem disturbed about Khrushchev's plans to sell farm machinery directly to collective farms. At the same time nationwide discussion of the program probably arouses suspicion among collective farmers that Khrushchev's ultimate aim is to deprive them of the small plots they operate on a private enterprise basis. Stalin sternly opposed abandonment of the MTS (machine-tractor station) system, though it obviously impeded production. The MTS, upon which collectives depend for equipment to run mechanized farms, afford a large measure of political control. Practical politicians see a number of dangers in liquidation of the system. Party control over farmers could be weakened. Local interests could take precedence over the interests of the party as a whole. The more prosperous collectives likely will become richer, and less efficient farms poorer. Collective peasants are unlikely to take kindly to press predictions that under Khrushchev's plan, the farmers eventually "will themselves voluntarily forego their private cows and cultivation of private kitchen gardens. . . and collective farms . . . will approach national property." Since 1935, the private plot has been both headache and safety device. It began as a concession to embittered farmers after Stalin's brutal collectivization. Each peasant household was permitted a kitchen garden not exceeding 1.2 acres, with its own cow and a few other animals and poultry. Private farming is credited with saving the U.S.S.R. from starvation during the war. After the war Khrushchev, in charge of agriculture, opened a campaign to make big collectives out of little ones. As a result, 250,000 farms were compressed into 78,000. Still the private plot persisted, though re-

Drug Suspect Is Fined $800 In Four Cases

Humberto Gasca, manager of the Gomez Drug on North Gregg, pleaded guilty to three counts of illegal sale of intoxicants after hours and to one charge of illegal possession of barbiturates in the Howard County Court this morning.

Gasca was charged after officers made a raid on his place last Sunday and seized approximately 4,000 bottles of liquor valued at more than $8,000. The barbiturate complaint developed when the drugs were found on the shelves of the store and it was established that the place does not have a registered pharmacist on its staff. A suit to confiscate the liquor is on file in the 118th District Court.

Gasca was fined $100 on each of the illegal liquor sale complaints and $500 for the barbiturate charge. He paid Miller Harris, sheriff, a total of $915. This included costs in the cases. Other charges stemming from the same raid are still on the county court docket. V. A. Gomez, owner of the store and brother-in-law of Gasca, is also charged with illegal sale. The liquor license of the place is in Gomez' name. Gomez is a fugitive from justice and has been widely sought since January when he was indicted for embezzlement.

A charge of unlawful sale of liquor is also pending against Juanita Gasca, wife of Humberto and sister of Gomez. Other guilty pleas heard in the county court Friday morning included Luther Silcox, charged with possession of a switchblade knife, fined $100; James Steward, charged with aggravated assault, who changed his plea to guilty and was fined $125; and John Smith, charged with unlawful transportation of liquor, fined $100.

U.S. Judge Refuses To Free Cubans

BROWNSVILLE — Federal Judge James Alfred refused today to free 35 Cuban rebel sympathizers being held on charges of conspiring to violate the U.S. Neutrality Act.

The judge said the application for writs of habeas corpus set out no particular grounds. He ruled that the question of jurisdiction argued by L. G. Mathews did not apply and must be argued at the trial. Alfred also refused to consider Mathews' request for a reduction in bond because the attorney had not asked U.S. Commissioner Otto Reichert to do so. The court recessed while attorneys met with Reichert to discuss the bonds.

The Cuban sympathizers ended a seven-day hunger strike yesterday. Dr. Evan Hume, county health officer, said last night most of the men would be sufficiently recovered from their long fast to appear in court. He said that the 17 men in the jail and "most of the 18 in the hospital will be able to go." He said they "lost a lot of weight and it will take several days for them to regain their strength."

The hunger strikers in the jail and the 18 men in the hospital still were on a liquid diet last night.

'Bunny Parade' Set In Stanton

STANTON (SC)—Photographers and parents will have a field day here early Sunday as Stanton observes its fifth annual Bunny Parade.

Actually, there won't be any Easter rabbits in the procession unless some youngsters bring them along as props. The big idea is a gala Easter parade all for the youngsters. Starting time is 9:15 a.m. at the northeast corner of the courthouse square. From toddlers up to about 12 years of age, the youngsters will promenade in all their finery.

The route has been shortened in order not to tire the smaller children. Participants will march along the sidewalk on the east side of the square to the middle of the block, then turn to the east door of the courthouse, angle to the southeast corner of the square. From that point they will walk across Broadway and make a U turn and then file slowly across the gaily decorated ramp. Here the youngsters and will pause and give friends and family a chance to take more pictures. After crossing the ramp, the children will march northward up St. Ann Street to the intersection of School Street, where the parade will disperse. The event is sponsored by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce and has drawn increasing numbers of participants and spectators each year.

School, College Election Slated

Trustees To Be Named Saturday

Trustees for all the county's school districts and Howard County Junior College will be chosen in elections Saturday. Polls will be operating in the school buildings in all of the districts. Four boxes have been designated for the HCJC election. The Big Spring election will be held in the high school building on Eleventh Place. One of the HCJC boxes will be set up there also. Voters throughout the county may ballot on a trustee-at-large for the county school board. In addition, county board members will be chosen to represent school districts in Commissioner Precincts 3 and 4. This is the first election in many years with opposing candidates named on the ballots in the county board election. Three Big Spring men are candidates for the three places on the county board. Although the city was represented by candidates in the election last year, no Big Spring representative has ever served on the county board. Big Spring candidates for county board places this year are Jim Lewis, Commissioner Precinct 3; Jack Cook, Commissioner Precinct 4; and Truman Jones, for the at-large post. Lewis is opposed by Ross Hill of Elbow. Cook's opponent is Carl Lockhart of Gay Hill. Jones is opposed by H. T. Hale of Coahoma. In the Big Spring race, there are six candidates for two places on the board of trustees. Seeking the offices are the two incumbents, John L. Dibrell Jr. and Thomas J. McAdams, and R. F. (Foy) Dunlap, Roy C. Bennett, B. T. Faulkner and Dr. Floyd R. Mays Jr. Three candidates are on the ballot for the HCJC election. They are the two incumbents, Dr. P. W. Malone and John Coffey, and Dewey Martin. Two HCJC trustees will be elected for six-year terms. The four HCJC voting boxes will be set up in Big Spring, Knott, Coahoma and Forsan. Separate ballots will be provided for the local school races, the HCJC election, and the county board election. Every voter in the county is entitled to ballot for the large member of the county board. In addition, those residing in Commissioner Precinct 3 may vote for either Lewis or Hill. Those in Commissioner Precinct 4 may choose between Cook and Lockhart. Write-ins are permitted, of course, in any of the elections. At Coahoma, three trustees will be elected and only the three incumbents are in the race. They are Smith Cochran, Pete Ernest and Womer Robinson. The two candidates on the ballot at Forsan are Howard H. Sory and C. V. Wash. In the race at Knott are E. L. Long, Robert Cline, Jack E. Walker, W. T. Shockley, Gene Haston and W. C. Fryar. Candidates at Gay Hill are Ulysses Hall, L. J. Painter, E. Leon Stearns and Louis Sturm. Elbow candidates are H. C. Tidwell, Louise Kirkpatrick, Leroy Furr and Ray Shorters. Trustees at Vealmoor and Center Point will be chosen by write-in votes. There are no candidates named on the ballots.

Cuban Regime Holds Out Bid For Amnesty

HAVANA — Cuba's government today held out an offer of amnesty to Fidel Castro's rebels if they disarm. A set of iron government decrees, meanwhile, nipped talk in Havana of a rebel general strike. Castro made no immediate reply to the offer of a general amnesty announced last night by Prime Minister Gonzalez Gumbel. But the bearded rebel leader already has refused to support any government including President Fulgenicio Batista. Guell asserted to foreign newsmen that the rebels were a minority group going against the desires of the Cuban people, but he said negotiations with all elements to restore peace. He again pledged full guarantees for all opposition parties in the presidential election now set for Nov. 3. The Prime Minister added that the government also would agree to international supervision of the elections by a group such as the Organization of American States. This is one of the demands Castro has issued from his mountain hide-out in Oriente province. Although Castro's troops probably number less than 10 per cent of the government's forces, he has been threatening to call a general strike in an effort to unseat Batista. The President has issued a series of strict measures used to halt a 1935 general strike, including authority for workers to kill anyone urging them to leave their jobs. Talks of the general strike in the tense capital immediately subsided. Businesses, stores and industries were closed today for the Easter holidays and may not actually be closed by a strike. But because of the tension churches canceled all Easter processions. There was no new word of rebel troop movements in the eastern province of Oriente, where two columns of Castro men had been reported on the march, apparently toward Santiago. But the rebels kept up their attacks on cars, trains and buses, holding transportation to a virtual standstill, and cut communication and power lines.

$16 Million Oil Deal Disclosed

DALLAS — Announcement was made of the completion of a $16,000,000 deal whereby General American Oil Co. of Texas acquired the interest of Forest Oil Corp. in the Dora Roberts Ranch in Midland and Ector Counties. Included are 9,000 undeveloped acres and 18 1/2 per cent interest in a casing head gas plant near Midland. Recoverable reserves net to Forest are estimated at 13 million barrels of oil and 60 billion cubic feet of gas. The spread is nine miles long and three miles wide and lies along the west edge of Midland County. It was acquired by the late Dora Roberts of Big Spring and is among the largest of the large West Texas ranches to be opened to development. The field was opened in 1954 and since then there have been 50 Ellenburger, 15 Pennsylvanian, five Devonian and one Strawn well completed.

Noted Composer Loses Right Leg

NEW YORK — Composer Cole Porter, who underwent amputation of his right leg, was reported in excellent condition today at the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. The leg was removed yesterday because of chronic osteomyelitis.

High Winds Are Threat To Relays

Hope of the sponsors and participants in the ABC Relays for a windless weekend were shattered Friday when a west-southwest wind moved in at mid-morning. Webb Air Force Base reported that the wind was stepping along at from 21 to 32 knots with gusts peaking at as much as 41 knots. A 41 knot wind was regarded as being close to 46 miles per hour. Otherwise the weather was good. Temperature was favorable and when the day dawned every thing offered promise of a truly ideal day for the opening events of the weekend track meet.

World Suit Asks Test Ban

WASHINGTON — A group of scientists, churchmen and others today sought court action in the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain to prevent any more nuclear tests. Announcement of the suits came as anti-bomb groups planned demonstrations in Britain and at the United Nations headquarters in New York. The 14-member group, made up of American, British, Canadian and Japanese citizens, said in a statement that all three suits will prove that radioactive fallout from nuclear tests "causes immediate and future increase in genetic damage, tendencies to bone cancer and leukemia, and general shortening of the life-span in the world population."

Among those listed as filing the suits were Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize-winning chemistry professor at the California Institute of Technology, Socialist leader Norman Thomas and British philosopher Bertrand Russell.

Rape Case Spurs Negro Protests

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Negro resentment over the recent execution of a convicted rapist has erupted into a call for a mass meeting to demand what Negro leaders term justice in the courts. Unsigned leaflets have sounded an appeal for a nonviolent protest Easter Sunday on the state capitol grounds. The leaflets state that while 22-year-old Jeremiah Reeves Jr., a Negro, was put to death in the electric chair here last Friday for the rape of a Montgomery white woman, a white man went unpunished for an attack on a teen-age Negro girl. Whether the reported rape of a Negro girl occurred in Montgomery was left unspecified in the circular. Detective Capt. E. P. Brown said a Negro woman reported to police that she was raped by a white man about three weeks ago but that a medical examination disclosed no evidence of rape. Brown said no warrant was ever signed on which a charge could be filed.

U.S. Begins Review Of Arms Policy, Sets Russ Parleys

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration has started an urgent, top-level review of U.S. disarmament policies in preparation for new negotiations with the Soviet Union. President Eisenhower wants early decisions by the National Security Council on whether the policies should be revised. This country will consult with the NATO allies — possibly at a NATO foreign ministers meeting scheduled for May 5 — before any discussions are held with the Soviets. One result may be a tentative softening of U.S. requirements for an agreement on suspending nuclear weapons tests under an international inspection system. This would mean weakening or dropping a link between test suspension and a cutoff in production of atomic weapons. The Soviet Union already has announced on its own a suspension of tests subject, however, to resumption whenever any other nation goes ahead with nuclear testing. The United States plans a test series this spring and summer. Any U.S. agreement to suspension of tests still envisions an international pact with guarantees through inspection. No final U.S. decision on the issue is expected to be made until the summer test series is completed. Britain and France are opposed to suspension now unless U.S. law is changed to permit sharing weapons information with them. The Soviets are assumed to be withholding any changes in their disarmament proposals pending summit conference talks. The United States, Britain and France proposed in Moscow Monday that diplomatic discussions begin there late this month on arrangements for a summit meeting. This proposal grew out of consultations last week in the NATO Council at Paris. It is understood that these consultations turned up evidence of sharp differences among the Western Allies over what countries on the Western side should participate in talks with the Soviets. The issue is still unresolved, and in the Washington view it could cause serious trouble in the Western camp. Italy, West Germany and Turkey made it clear, according to reports to Washington, that they were no longer prepared to accept the dominant role of the United States, Britain and France — the Big Three whose chiefs met with Soviet leaders at the summit conference in Geneva in 1955.

The Easter Story Is Told ...

The Old Man points to the foot of a hill outside Rome where he sees visions from out of his past, in the days when he served in Gallilee, and the Young Soldier, as he listens to the story of "this Man, Jesus," begins to see the visions, too. Dewey Magee portrays the Old Man and Athol Atkins the Young Soldier in the huge Big Spring Easter Pageant, sponsored by the Pastors' Assn. and produced by the Civic Theatre.

House Report Says Conduct In FCC Hurt Public Faith

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators said today "questionable conduct" by some FCC members and segments of the broadcasting industry have seriously undermined public confidence in the FCC.

This appraisal came in a preliminary report by the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight. The group has been engaged since Jan. 27 in a study of federal regulatory agencies, with a look first at the Federal Communications Commission.

It said its hearings on the FCC "have revealed that over the years a pattern has developed of questionable conduct on the part of some members of the commission and on the part of some industry organizations and members of industry who are subject to commission regulation."

The report added: "The questionable propriety of some of this conduct, in the opinion of the subcommittee, has seriously undermined public confidence in the Federal Communications Commission, thus affecting adversely the administration of law by the commission."

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) has said he could not see how the Justice Department could keep from taking some action in matters where interested parties in contests for TV channels contacted a commissioner. He said the law was very plain on such expert representations.

The Justice Department has been getting a transcript of each day's hearing before the subcommittee, and has started its own investigation.

The subcommittee made four legislative recommendations, including one that a code of ethics be prepared and adopted by the FCC. It also recommended that the president be given specific authority to remove any member of the commission for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office, but for no other cause.

Members of the FCC are appointed by the president subject to confirmation by the Senate. The law is hazy, however, as to whether the president now has power to remove a commissioner.

Among allegations the House investigators explored were charges that FCC members had permitted industry representatives to pay their hotel bills at conventions and other gatherings, and also collected living allowances from the government.

There were admissions of instances of this nature but the FCC members denied any wrongdoing. They said they lost money on trips since the government allowance is restricted to $12 a day.

The hearings reached their point of highest drama with open demands, in the hearing room a month ago, for the resignation of Commissioner Richard A. Mack. Mack did resign, although protesting he had done nothing wrong.

For weeks, the investigators had heard testimony of financial dealings between Mack and a Miami lawyer friend who had at one time plugged for one applicant for the Miami TV Channel 10, estimated to be worth millions of dollars.

Paving Will Be Suspended

Big Springers and visitors to the city can shop downtown all day Saturday without having to maneuver around paving equipment.

W. D. Caldwell, contractor on the downtown paving job, and the city agreed to halt the paving work this afternoon and hold off until Monday. This will prevent having any streets blocked off on the last day of Easter shopping.

Also, H. W. Whitney, the city manager, said the town would be filled with out-of-towners who would be easily confused while driving downtown with several streets blocked off.

Only about five blocks remain to be paved, and this work can be completed probably by Tuesday.

Youth Held In Girl's Slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The nude body of a 15-year-old girl was found in an automobile in suburban San Fernando Valley today. Detectives said an 18-year-old youth telephoned police and told them he killed her.

The girl, Phyllis Meltzer, apparently had been strangled, police said. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meltzer of Reseda.

Police identified the youth as Gary John Johannesson of Reseda.

Police said Johannesson telephoned from downtown Los Angeles. He waited at the telephone until police arrived and took him into custody.

Detectives said Johannesson told them at police headquarters that he couldn't remember anything that happened after he and Phyllis left a movie theater last night.

Johannesson was booked on suspicion of murder.

Former Governor Candidate's Son Killed In Mishap

HOUSTON (AP)—Ronald Holmes, 28, son of a former candidate for governor, was killed last night when struck by an automobile as he was crossing a downtown street.

The body was identified today. Holmes was to have been married here next Friday. He was a son of J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor who ran for governor in 1956. He was an engineering aide for the State Board of Water Engineers and was assigned to the U.S. Geophysical Service here.

Moslem Fanatics Assault Troopers

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Antara News Agency today reported that eight Indonesian army men were killed and six badly wounded in a clash in West Java with a 200-man band from the fanatic Darul Islam movement.

There were no reports of activity on the rebel front in Sumatra. Antara said the Darul Islam guerrillas attacked a truckload of troops on their way to reinforce government units operating against the Moslem fanatics. The clash occurred at Tjikar, about 30 miles from Bandung, capital of West Java.

The Darul Islam, which advocates an Islamic state for Indonesia, has been operating from hideouts in the West Java mountains since 1949, raiding villages, plundering and attacking army posts and units. The Jakarta government has been fighting without success since 1949 to suppress the movement.

The clash at Tjikar was the largest reported this year between the army and the guerrillas.

Princess' Papa Forgets The Rules

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John B. Kelly, father of Princess Grace of Monaco, was down at Gulfstream Park racetrack in Florida recently and failed to pick a winner in six races.

In the seventh race in seventh "Happy Princess," Kelly and fellow "Happy Princess" Kelly and fellow Philadelphia businessman Arthur C. Kaufmann put a bundle on her nose.

Happy Princess finished second. Said Kaufmann to Kelly: "We forgot, Jack. The new prince comes first now."

Sale Of Tickets For Magic Show Pushed

People who have tickets for the Moose Lodge magic show for the benefit of the Little League have been asked to redouble their sales effort for the next few days.

The show is set for Tuesday evening at the City Auditorium, and lodge officials have urged ticket sellers to turn in all unsold tickets not later than 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Texas State Optical office.

Net proceeds from the show go to help finance an additional Little League park.

World Christians Note Good Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Christians around the world commemorate the crucifixion of Christ at Good Friday services today.

Many churches held the traditional three-hour services, recalling Christ's agony on the cross.

The observance is in dramatic contrast to the joy of Easter Sunday celebrating the Resurrection and ending the penitential season of Lent.

Midland Firm Sets Site For Pennsylvania Wildcat Test

Midwest Oil Corp. of Midland has announced location of a new wildcat in Dawson County to try the Pennsylvania.

The location is Mid-West No. 1 Davis about 12 miles northwest of Lamesa and about 1 1/2 miles east of the Mungerville field. Drilling depth is 8,700 feet.

Borden
Gulf No. 22 Canon, in the Jo-Mill (Spraberry) field, finished 28 barrels of oil and 78 per cent water in 24 hours. Gravity of oil is 41.8 degrees. The well is 1,980 feet from north and west lines, 34-35-Sn. T&P Survey. Total depth is 7,425 feet, and it is plugged back to 7,378 feet. Top of the pay zone is 7,300 feet, with perforations from 7,300-30 feet.

Dalton
Cobb No. 2 Cora Guilliam is a new location in the Kootenai (Spraberry) field about 15 miles northeast of Gail. Drillsite is 330 feet from north and west lines, 23-2, T&NO Survey. Operator will drill to 5,700 feet.

Midwest No. 1
Davenport waited on cement to set 5 1/2-inch string at 8,242 feet. The location is in the West Myrtle (Strawn) field 833 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines, 419-97, H&TC Survey, and 15 miles northeast of Gail.

Cosden No. 4-B Stoker was acidized with 1,500 gallons and then pumped 66 barrels of 38-degree oil on 24-hour potential test. It is in the Rocker A (Glorieta) field 330 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter, 945-97, H&TC Survey. The hole bottoms at 3,137 feet, and production is reached at 3,057. Perforations are from 3,089-92 feet.

Glasscock
Bright & Schiff No. 1 Bryans deepened to 5,047 feet in lime and shale. The Spraberry wildcat is C NW NW, 26-35-4s, T&P Survey.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)— The last dictator in South America sits on a shaky throne if the signs can be believed.

Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, president of Paraguay, is the only dictator remaining on the continent. Getulio Vargas of Brazil, Manuel Odría of Peru, Juan Peron of Argentina, Gustavo Rojas Pinilla of Colombia and Marcos Perez Jimenez of Venezuela have one by one bitten the dust.

This week a small rebel band in southern Paraguay was beaten back by police and government troops. Paraguayan exiles in Argentina say a rebel headquarters has been set up in southern Paraguay for guerrilla warfare against Stroessner's regime. The sources said about 1,000 trained men are under arms there.

All the first steps that preceded the fall of other South American dictators have now taken place in Paraguay:

1. Student disturbances—Not too long ago University of Paraguay students were locked up by police for demonstrating against the government.

2. Protest by the church—A young Catholic priest, the Rev. Ramon Talavera, called for a return to Paraguayan liberties first from his pulpit and then from the loud-speaker of a truck in downtown Asuncion, the capital.

3. A plebiscite—Two months ago Stroessner had his powers renewed for four years by a presidential election in which he was the only candidate.

4. A censorship crackdown—Argentine newspapers criticizing the plebiscite and the lack of freedom in Paraguay were confiscated in Asuncion recently. Stroessner's government controls the newspapers and radio stations already.

5. Preliminary skirmishes—Three men were reported killed in the attack in southern Paraguay this week.

Stroessner has been in power since 1954, when a military revolt overthrew Dr. Federico Chaves.

City Hall To Close Saturday

Citizens having urgent business at the city hall must handle it today or wait until Monday.

For the first time in history, the city hall will be closed all day Saturday, and the policy is to continue.

The City Commission established the new policy while setting up the new fiscal budget last month, and tomorrow is the first Saturday that the new budget will be in effect.

Prior to this, the city hall has been closing on Saturdays at noon. As has previously been the case, the city will have emergency water department employees on call throughout the weekend, and this service is available by contacting the police dispatcher.

City employees—other than those who work in the city hall—were given a five per cent raise by the commission, and the governing board felt that the extra half-day off was equivalent to a raise.

Two Accidents Are Reported Thursday

Police officers investigated two accidents Thursday.

In the 900 block of E. 4th, Jack Bennett, 701 N. Gregg, and Wade Hood, 700 E. 23rd, were driving cars which collided. C. C. Broughton Jr., 1215 E. 16th, and Amy Dalton, 508 San Antonio, were involved in an accident at 2nd and Scurry.

George Webb, 606 Bell, also reported that his car had been hit sometime during the day.

RAZOR BLADES NOT ON MENU

An inebriated patron, who persisted in eating safety razor blades and causing a disturbance in the 66 Cafe, was placed in the county jail by Sheriff Miller Harris last night.

Harris said that the man was placidly crunching razor fragments when he arrived. Search of the man revealed a switch-blade knife and he was booked for that offense.

Harris said the prisoner was apparently none the worse for his peculiar taste in exotic nourishment Friday morning.

Headquarters For Rodeo Designated

The Settles Hotel has been designated as headquarters for the annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion on June 12-13-14.

At the same time, officials of the association announced that Gulf Oil Corp. had agreed to furnish its modern sound system for the rodeo.

Tidying of the rodeo grounds and plant will start soon in anticipation of the annual wild west extravaganza. Winter rains have left the parking areas in the best shape of several years and thus the dust problem is due to be less.

ICT Students Pay Tribute To Employers At Banquet

Pupils in Industrial Cooperative Training honored their employers Thursday evening with a dinner at the high school cafeteria.

Before and after the meal and program, visitors had an opportunity to inspect examples of the work being done by the young men and women who divide time between learning in school about their job and applying their knowledge on the job.

Bobby Thurman, club president, presided, and members of the Vocational Industrial Club furnished the entertainment consisting of songs and skits. Joe Pickle, member of the advisory committee, pointed to the advantages of such a program for students and to responsibility of employers as teachers. Other members of the club, along with Supt. Floyd W. Parsons, Ed Shive, co-ordinator, and Joe B. Neely, district supervisor.

Howard
Fleming, Fleming & Kimbell staked the No. 5-B TXL in the Snyder field about six miles southeast of Coahoma. Drilling depth is 3,200 feet, and the project is located 1,650 feet from south and east lines, 23-30-1s, T&P Survey.

Martin
Husky & Pano Tech No. 1 Yates, a wildcat 10 miles southwest of Patricia, pumped 28.39 barrels of 24 hours. Pumping tests continued today. The venture is perforated in the Devonian from 12,061-68 feet. Drillsite is 660 from south and west lines, Tract 22, League 263, Kent CSL Survey.

Husky & Pano Tech No. 2
Breedlove, in the Breedlove pool, deepened to 1,965 feet in anhydrite and salt. The venture is 1,419 from north and 4,509 from east lines of League 258, Briscoe CSL Survey.

STERLING
Duncan No. 1 Humble, a mile west of Broom, has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 1,541 feet. It is 330 from north and west lines, 15-11, SPRR Survey.

Petroleum Drilling Co. & Oak Creek Oil Co. deepened the No. 1 Foster to 3,644 feet in lime today. It is a 5,200-foot wildcat 10 miles north of Sterling city, 330 from north and 550 from east lines, 3-13, SPRR Survey.

Washington
Three prisoners, sentenced last week on pleas of guilty entered in 11th District Court, were removed from the county jail to the State Penitentiary at Huntsville today by Deputy Tommy Cole and Bill Flynn, officer with the Liquor Control Board.

Taken to the prison were Thomas Wise, sentenced to five years for the holdup of a liquor store on W. Hwy. 80; Manuel Barera, under a two-year and a four-year sentence for two burglary indictments; and Robert Tunstall, five years for robbery. Tunstall and a companion slugged the operator of a Coahoma service station but were frightened away before they could take the money in the place.

Several other prisoners are waiting removal to the prison from the county jail.

Lamesa Lions Hear Students

LAMESA (AP)—The Lamesa Lions Club Thursday heard three Lamesa High School students who will enter the declamation contest at the District 3-AAA meet next week at Snyder.

Jay Claiborne, defending district and regional champion in the senior boys' division; Klata Woodul, defending district champion in the senior girls' division; and Connie Nix presented declamations. They were introduced by Abe Holder, principal.

Ray Renner reported the Lions board of directors had set the annual broom sale for June 6. He also reported the club had donated $100 to the Little League program here again this year.

Burglars Steal Sporting Goods

Sports goods burglars carted away gear totaling $165 during the night from the Goodyear Store, 214 W. 3rd.

Police officers who investigated said that entry was made through a small window on the north side of the building. Taken were two transistor radios, one Remington rifle, a 22 rifle, three fishing rods, a fishing rod, and two BB guns. Total value of the items was $165.

Reward Offered For Thief's Conviction

Hartman Hooser has offered a $50 reward for capture and conviction of the person who took his 1951 Chevrolet Thursday.

The police said that Hooser's car was parked in the 100 block of E. 4th at the time it was taken. He has since reported he would give the $50 reward.

Medic To Study Eskimos To Prove Nutrition Theory

MONTREAL (AP)—A Montreal physician, veteran of 17 trips to the arctic, has left on another expedition to the North seeking evidence among the Eskimos to support his theory that a high-fat diet is desirable rather than dangerous.

Dr. Ray Lawson, 43, labels unproved a current idea that eating lots of fat is a major cause of heart and arterial diseases.

He is one of a seven-man government medical-vent team which will travel 15,000 miles examining and treating the nomadic tribes of the Victoria Island region northwest of Hudson Bay.

He aims to investigate particularly the eating habits of the Back River tribe—as yet virtually untouched by the white man's influence.

"These Eskimos are especially important because their entire diet consists of food they kill, a diet which I have reason to believe is high in fat content," he said in an interview.

For more than a year Dr. Lawson's diet has supplied 80 per cent of his calories from fat.

He recently told a meat-packing convention in Toronto: "No one will quarrel with insurance statistics, accurate and quantitative, that show fat people die sooner, but this does not prove that eating fats makes one fat. In my own limited observation, fat eaters do not gain weight."

The fact that cholesterol—a type of fat—is found around arteries afflicted with hardening is no indication high fat consumption is a cause, he added.

New Scout Unit Organized

Newest unit in the Lone Star District is the Boy Scout Troop being sponsored by the First Mexican Baptist Church. Shows here at the organizational meet are the Rev. Alvert Joaquin, pastor, Joe Lucero, committee chairman, Scoutmaster, and W. T. McRee, district Scout executive. First meeting with the boys is set for 7:30 p.m. today at the church at 701 NW 5th. Any boy between 11 and 16 is welcome.

Foreign Car Makers Count On Recession To Boost Imports

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — Makers of foreign cars are counting on the American business recession to help boost imports above the 300,000 mark this year.
 With economizing becoming either a fashion or a necessity for many families, the lower original cost and the lower operating costs of little cars take on more weight as a sales talking point.
 But Detroit has never quite bought the theory that economy was the main reason for the striking growth in popularity of the invaders. Many American auto officials insist that the real motive agitating the driver of a foreign car is the prestige he feels it gives him with his neighbors.
 Whatever the reason, sales of foreign makes jumped from 45,000 in 1955 to nearly 200,000 in 1957. Once largely confined to the Eastern and Western seaboard states, the newcomers are now found all through the nation.
 Small as 300,000 sales would be in comparison with total auto sales even in this off year for the industry, Detroit isn't ignoring the foreign competition any more. Ford and General Motors are bringing over the smaller cars they make in Europe. And American Motors is pushing the sale of its Detroit designed British made Metropolitan. Ford expects to sell 35,000 of its English model and 5,000 of the Taunus made in Germany. GM is pushing its British built Vauxhall and German built Opel.

 These are being put on view along with a host of cars made by French, British, Italian, German, Swedish and Czechoslovakian manufacturers at the International Automobile Show opening here tomorrow.
 Not all the foreign makes are cheap by any means. Prices at the show range from less than $1,000 for Mini-cars to $12,000 for the Facel-Vega from France and the $22,950 Silver Wraith made by Rolls Royce of Britain. There is much hand craftsmanship in these and other foreign models.
 The small car has been the most popular with Americans. Many have bought them as the family's second car. A recent survey of small car owners in eight states showed 58 per cent owning another car and 49 per cent saying they bought the foreign one for economy reasons.

 Competition among European countries for bigger slices of the American market is reported keener this year.
 While the small cars report huge mileage per gallon of gas, line compared with the big American models, the British Motor Industry Research Assn. reports its immediate research goal is to get an average additional gain of 30 per cent in mileage per gallon.
 One British exhibitor at the show turned to a transportation competitor to get his latest entry here. Henry Meadows' Mini-car Frisky arrived by plane. It will be shown along with an American-made Mini-car, built by the Colt Motors Corp. of Boston and selling under $1,000.

MAYBE MAIL BAG HAS FELINE ODOR

GREAT NECK N. Y. — At the age of 43, after 17 years of carrying mail for Uncle Sam, Serven has become quite an authority on dogs. He's been bitten by all kinds.
 "I have no theory on why they bite mailmen," he said today.
 It's an occupational hazard, I guess. I think it has something to do with the mail bag and the uniform.
 "I've had dogs come at me and when I held out the mail bag to ward them off, they bit that and were content to leave me alone."
 Serven accepted this week a $9,000 settlement of his negligence suit against the owner of the last dog to bite him—Mrs. Simone Sampson of the Little Neck section of New York City.
 Mrs. Sampson's French poodle bit Serven four times Sept. 24, 1956, and knocked him to the ground. In suing her for $100,000, Serven said he suffered a slipped disc in the spine—as well as the dog bites.
 "I've been bitten by every thing from a dachshund to a collie," Serven recalled. "I've been bitten 18 times in 17 years. The week before Mrs. Sampson's dog bit me, a dachshund ripped my ankle."
 Serven's route now is a suburban one and nearly every house on it has a dog. He can't understand why the owners don't keep them tied up—the "only salvation," as he sees it, for a mailman.

'Life' Clocks Tick Away In Our Bodies

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
MINNEAPOLIS — Strange clocks of life tick away in our bodies, scientists are finding. These clocks regulate the workings of cells in vital organs. The clocks make cells grow the fastest at certain hours of day or night, then stop.
 Cancer cells apparently lose their clocks, or sense of time. Instead of following a rhythm of controlled growth, they just keep growing.
 Intriguing studies of these life clock regulators were described today by Dr. Cyrus P. Barnum Jr. and Dr. Franz Halberg of the University of Minnesota Medical School to science writers on an American Cancer Society tour of research institutions.
 They are making beautifully precise studies of cell activity in mice of an inbred strain. These are standardized mice, living very standardized lives of set and unvarying routines. Lights in their houses are turned on at 6 a.m. and off at 6 p.m.
 Under this routine, cells of major organs fall into a 24-hour routine. One measure of the rhythm is to see when the cells are most busily growing. Cells grow by dividing into two new cells. This growth can be detected with radioactive atom studies.
 Before it divides, a cell must first create double the amount of genetic material it already contains, so there will be enough to form two new cells. Cells begin to make this extra genetic material about eight hours before they actually divide, various scientists find.
 Liver cells of the mice begin to do this regularly from midnight to 4 a.m., Barnum and Halberg find. They do the actual dividing or growing about noon. Some regulatory clock of inner or outer influences, or both, controls this rhythm.
 The hour of daylight isn't important. In fact, if day and night are reversed, with lights turned on at 6 p.m. and off at 6 a.m., the liver cells after a while begin making the genetic stuff at 4 in the afternoon and divide most busily at midnight, Dr. Barnum said.
 The studies are aimed at learning just what controls normal growth. That knowledge could give the clues to discovering what goes wrong in cancer cells, and how to prevent or remedy it, Dr. Barnum says.

Opponents Of Ike Plan Aim At Powers For Defense Aide

WASHINGTON — Opponents of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan centered their fire today on the military spending powers he proposed for the secretary of defense.
 An Easter recess postponed until April 15 — one day after Congress returns — what shaped up as a major battle over the plan. Some Congress members approved the plan; others criticized some of its features both as threatening the continuance of the Army, Navy and Air Force as such and as taking over congressional functions.
 Eisenhower asked Congress to make appropriations, effective July 1, 1959, to the secretary of defense rather than specifically to the separate services. The secretary would be able to transfer funds among the various services.
 Sen. Bridges (R-NH), senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said that such action would "practically abolish the services" and amount to "a surrender on the part of Congress."
 Congress long has held to its traditional power to decide how much money each service is to get.

 Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) noting that defense money makes up nearly two-thirds of the annual budget, said giving control of such an amount to one man "is probably greater economic power than should be possessed by one individual."
 He added in a later interview: "One thing is sure — the man who controls the money is the boss."
 Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he will support whatever steps are necessary to give the secretary administrative authority in the Defense Department, but added:
 "I shall not favor any legislation that will destroy the identity of our armed forces."
 Both Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy disclaimed any such intention despite the much broader powers McElroy would assume both over spending and over military activities under the proposal.

 McElroy told a news conference he considered the spending proposal as meaning that if an emergency situation arose after a budget was completed, the secretary could change or transfer funds from one service to another.
 The battle in Congress could become a tug of war between Eisenhower's military prestige and the insistence of the Army, Navy and Air Force on remaining as separate and powerful as possible.
 In sending up his plan, Eisenhower said: "Strategic and tactical planning must be completely unified, combat forces organized into unified commands, each equipped with the most efficient weapons systems that science can develop, singly led and prepared to fight as one, regardless of service."

Pair Celebrates 76th Anniversary

DALLAS — A couple who eloped by horseback to Denton celebrated their 76th wedding anniversary yesterday.
 They were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sparkman, who met in Sunday School when Dallas was only 21 years old.
 Sparkman, now 95, and Mrs. Sparkman, 94, celebrated their anniversary in a hospital, where he is confined with a recurrence of an old back ailment.
 The Dallas County farm couple have four daughters and two sons.

Khrushy Urges West To Ban Nuclear Tests

BUDAPEST, Hungary — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today called on the United States and Britain to follow the Soviet Union's example and halt tests of atomic and hydrogen bombs.
 Khrushchev also offered to accept international supervision of a ban on tests if the other nations found that necessary. But he did not spell out what kind of supervision he would accept, and he repeated his argument that atomic explosions can no longer be hidden.

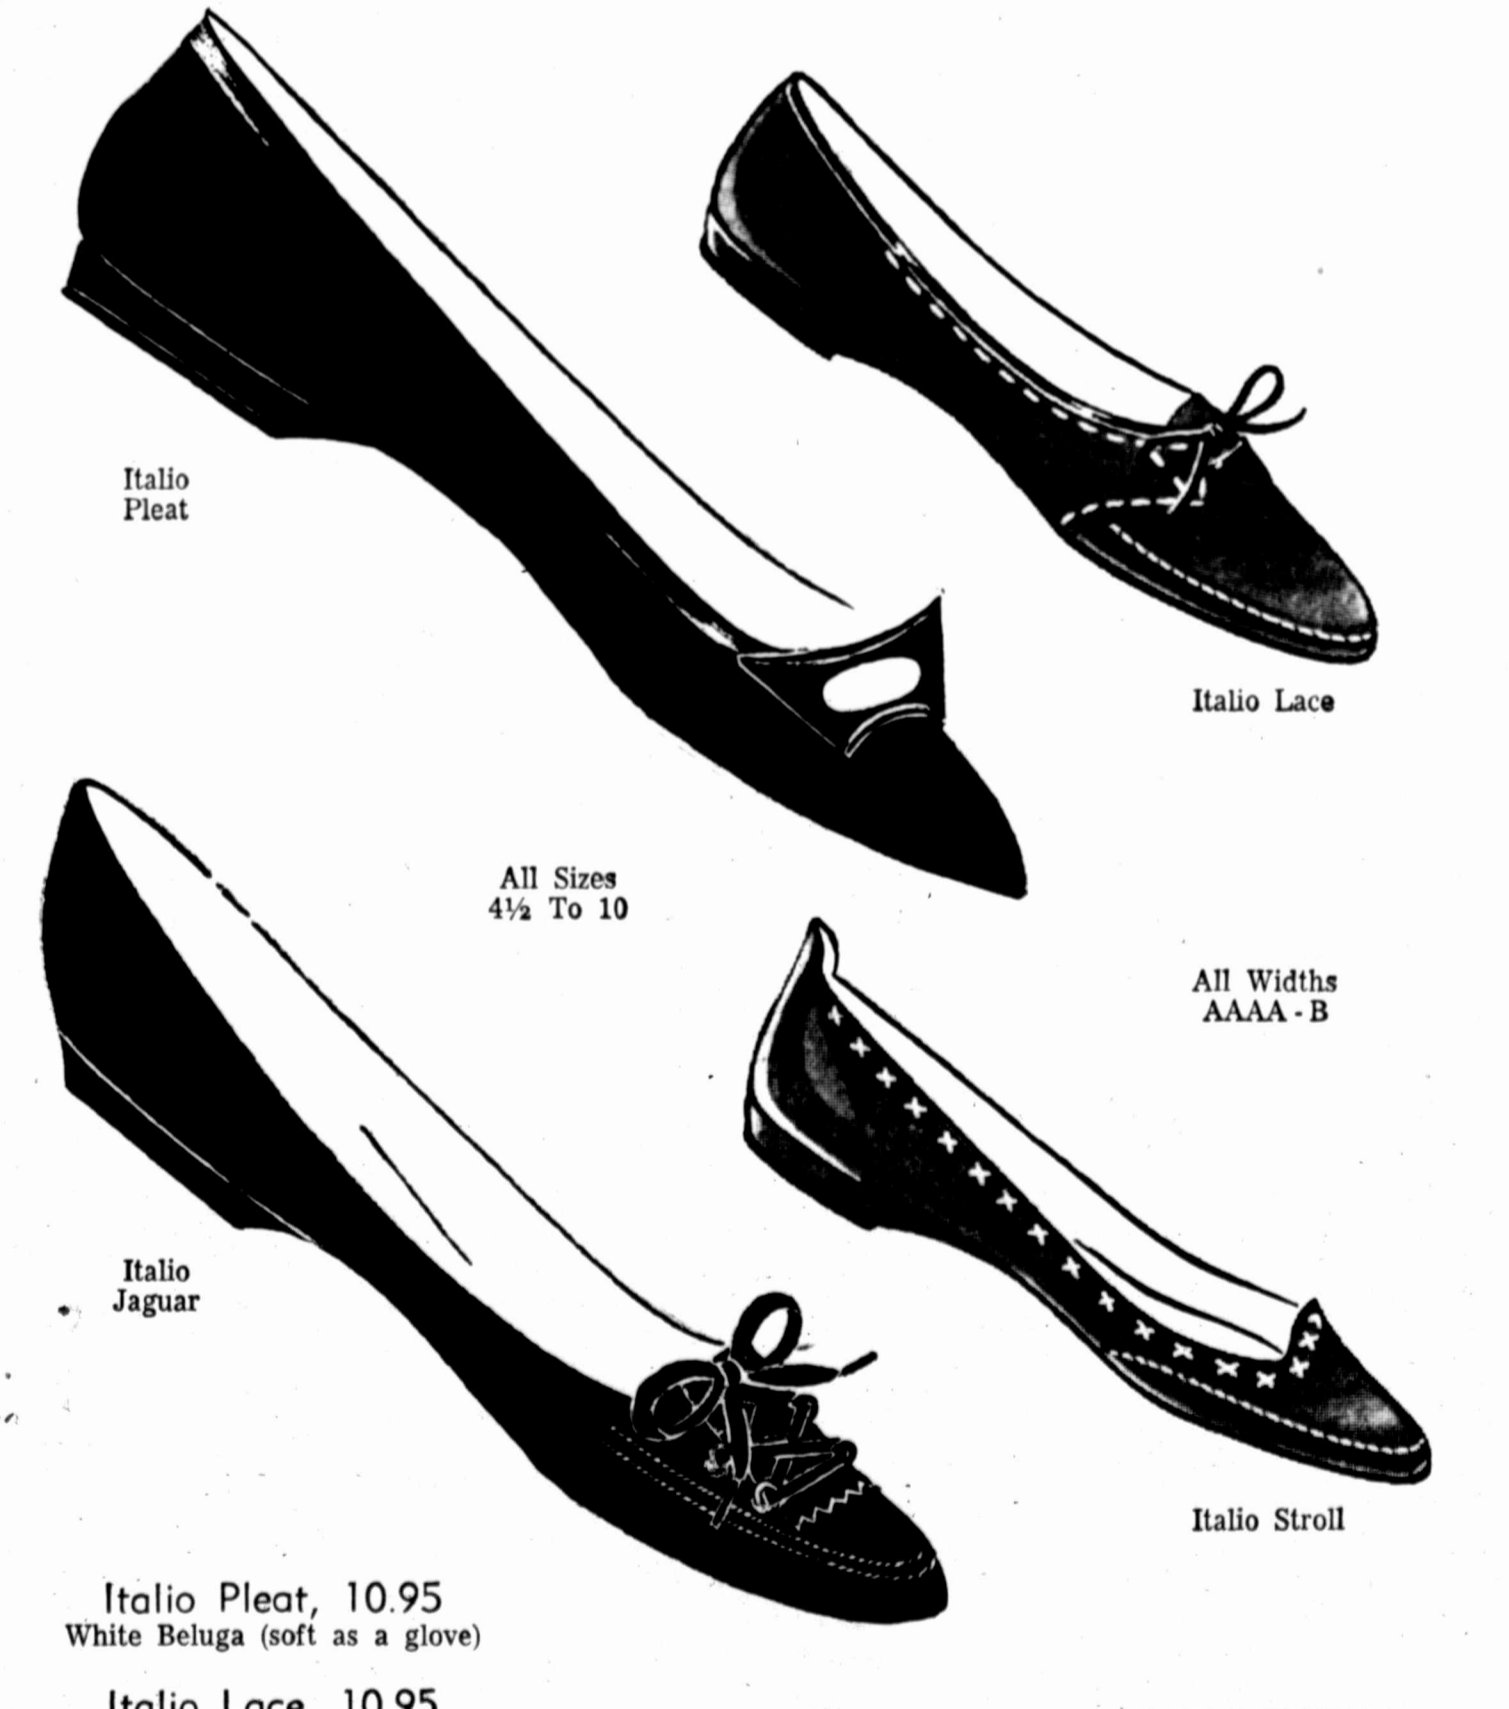

The Soviet premier spoke to a demonstration of 150,000 Hungarians massed in a Budapest Square to commemorate Hungary's World War II liberation from the Germans by the Red army.
 The platform in the square, which once supported an over-size statue of Stalin, was covered with fiberboard, painted a light beige and adorned with Hungarian flags. The statue was destroyed in the anti-Communist revolt of 1956, which the Soviet Army put down.
 Khrushchev spoke after the first big military parade in Hungary since the revolt. At that time the Hungarian army faded away. It is now being rebuilt. Today it showed field guns, 30 tanks and an assortment of smaller weapons.
 One jet bomber and jet fighters in groups of three made passes overhead. Defense Minister Geza Revesz told the crowd the Hungarian army is strong enough to cope with any attack by domestic or foreign foes.

Passover Feast To Begin Tonight

NEW YORK — The festival of Passover begins at sundown tonight for Jews throughout the world.
 The festival commemorates the delivery of the ancient Israelites, under the leadership of Moses, from bondage in Egypt.
 Orthodox and Conservative Jews will observe Passover for eight days and Reform Jews for seven days.
 Orthodox and Conservative Jews will hold seders—feasts during which the story of the Exodus is recounted—tonight and tomorrow night. Reform Jews will hold the combination feast and service tonight only.
U. S. Aid Up
AUSTIN — The new federal aid highway bill will increase Texas' federal aid next year by 35 million dollars as compared to the 308 million the state got in 1957, Highway Engineer Dewitt Greer said yesterday.

DANCE-NOT SQUEEZE!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a middle-aged couple who like to go Square Dancing. I am beginning to think my husband takes me along as a "front" so he can dance with all the young girls as he is still squeezing them after the music stops. Should I make him give up square dancing or what?

children. If doctors could learn something from my body maybe they could find out why my own children didn't live longer and another mother would be spared what I went through. If you think I'm wrong I'll change my will.

DEAR SQUARE: Don't make him give up dancing—just squeezing.

DEAR WILLED: If you feel this way, your decision is the only one that is important.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 15-year-old daughter. She is a wonderful girl in many ways but she keeps her room, closets, drawers and desk in such a mess it makes me ill. I have threatened, held back her allowance and done everything I could think of to get her to be neater but nothing helps. I always wind up doing it myself. She tells me it doesn't bother her, and I should close the door and leave it alone. Can a mother in her right mind accept this kind of an answer? Please tell me?

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 14, and have two brothers who are 20 and 22 and they act like two-year-olds. They each have a motorcycle and the way they race the motors and cut corners they cause a near riot where we live. The neighbors hate us and I don't blame them. They show off and scare people and I am afraid they are going to get killed one of these days. What can a little sister do?

DEAR GOING: Your threatening, nagging and scolding will net you nothing but an ulcer. Close the door, Mother. When your daughter realizes that neatness is nicer, she'll reform, and not until.

DEAR SIS: It's too bad you can't give your brothers a brain transfusion because they could use some of yours. Your parents should deal with them, and they had better hurry before the Law does.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone thinks I'm crazy because I willed my body to the Medical School. When I die I don't want anyone crying over my grave. I cried over too many myself, including my two

How To Turn Hard Work Into Pleasure

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a poor young woodcutter named Emil Q. Hardeman. He was the son of a woodcutter, and the grandson of a woodcutter. Emil was sturdy and strong and he worked hard. But he hated his work. He was so busy cutting down the trees he could not see the forest.

On his 21st birthday his father gave him a new ax for a present. It did not please the ambitious young man.

"There is more to life than woodcutting," said Emil, throwing the ax into a corner of the hut.

He left and went to the big city and got himself a job collecting for a small loan agency.

Thanks to his stern honesty and his sterner muscles, Emil at 25 owned the small loan agency.

At 30 he owned a bigger loan agency.

At 35 he owned a small bank.

At 40 he owned a big bank.

At 50 he owned a chain of banks, hotels, shooting galleries, ship lines, oil fields, and diaper laundries.

At 60 he owned—well, if it wasn't nailed down, it belonged to Emil. He had a billion dollars, but all of a sudden he was desperately unhappy.

His hands shook. He no longer enjoyed chorus girls, caviar or yachts. He couldn't eat. He could not sleep. He even lost pleasure in counting his money—and it was perhaps this symptom that worried and puzzled his doctors the most.

Emil sailed the world seeking the best medical advice. He gulped tranquilizers by the dozen. Nothing helped.

So Emil went back to the hut of his father and picked up the ax he had flung into the corner long ago. He began to chop wood.

This time he was in no hurry. He had to look at the forest and tell it from the trees. He had time to listen to the birds sing and to pause and watch the chipmunks play.

That night he ate three plates of bread, bacon and canned beans. His muscles ached, but he slept as he had not slept since he was a boy.

Emil gave up the big city forever. He moved the headquarters of his vast enterprises into his father's hut. In the morning he would get up at dawn and go out and cut down a tree. In the afternoon he would confer with his secretaries and buy another big bank, big steel mill or a big chain of restaurants.

And so, content with his lot—and he did have a lot—Emil lived happily ever after.

Moral: It is always more fun to chop wood when you are rich.

No Death Penalty

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Capital punishment is banned in Delaware after being in effect for 320 years.

Gov. Caleb Boggs signed a bill outlawing the death penalty yesterday.

U.S. Satellites' Radios Working

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ground stations are receiving regular radio reports from five of the six transmitters in three American satellites now circling the earth.

Soon after the Army's Explorer III went into orbit March 26, radio tracking stations found difficulty in getting regular reports from the tiny tape recorder built into its nose.

At one time, it was thought the relatively unusual shape of Explorer's orbit was to blame. But Navy scientists said today most of the trouble was located in a ground receiving station.

Scientific information also is being received from a conventional transmitter in Explorer III.

The larger of two transmitters in Explorer I, launched by the Army Jan. 31, failed after a few weeks when its battery burned out, as expected. The second transmitter in Explorer I continues to send out signals, and is expected to do so for about a month longer.

Both transmitters in the Navy Vanguard satellite, one-powered by a miniature solar battery, continue to transmit and are being picked up regularly.

Fire Destroys Amarillo Store

AMARILLO (AP)—Fire destroyed the second floor of one of Amarillo's largest department stores and tied up downtown traffic for about two hours yesterday afternoon.

burn Bros. Department Store was destroyed after fire broke out in a storeroom. Store officials could give no immediate estimate of damage.

Traffic was snarled as pedestrians stopped to watch the blaze. Two firemen, Calvin Maynard and H. T. Bramlett, were overcome by smoke, treated at a private clinic and released.

Ike Plan Has Hard Row To Hoe Yet

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower's plan to streamline the armed forces stands a fine chance of being smashed on the rocks of Congress. He outlined it yesterday in a special message.

It avoids the extreme of creating a single, top military commander. But it would enormously increase the power of Defense Secretary McElroy, giving him more authority than any secretary ever had.

It would make better over-all military planning possible. But it's no cure-all. It doesn't seem to be the kind that could put a final stop to the notorious Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry for money, size, weapons and missions.

The plan would leave the Army, Navy and Air Force intact. But Eisenhower talked of "unified commands" that might have the effect of merging the three services to a far greater degree than appears in the message.

Just how far Eisenhower would go in "unified commands" isn't clear. Neither is the plan as a whole. It won't be spelled out in detail for 10 days or so, when McElroy sends Congress exact language for changing existing laws.

Briefly, this is the present set-up and how Eisenhower would change it:

He made it clear he's fed up on the way the three services try to get what they want—through their individual publicity campaigns and the lobbying in Congress by the military brass. He'd curb the publicity.

And to put the lobbying under some kind of leash Eisenhower suggested a civilian be put in charge of dealings with Congress.

More Graduate Work Is Urged

DALLAS (AP)—Two leaders of engineering education called for expanded graduate programs in Southwestern colleges and universities yesterday.

Dr. F. C. Lindvall, president of the American Society for Engineering Education, warned that a "bachelor's degree program is insufficient for professional engineering practice."

Dr. M. R. Lohmann of Oklahoma State proposed a program for exchanging information on promising undergraduate engineering students and for persuading such students to continue their studies as graduate students.

They made their comments before the southwestern section of the American Society for Engineering Education.

Local Woman Praises New Medicine

Dear Mr. Collins: I read in The Big Spring Daily Herald about a tablet for rheumatism called R-12. So I decided to try it as I have arthritis. My back hurts sometimes until I just can't stand it. I have taken most everything for it. I have been to Hot Springs and Mineral Wells—but I only got relief while I was there.

I am glad to tell you that one bottle of R-12 for $5.50 has given me more help and relief than any other thing that I have taken in all my life.

I am on my second bottle now and I am sleeping all night sound and up doing all my housework for a family of six.

I live at 819 West 4th St., and I will recommend it to anybody who has suffered as I have.

Whether even that could stop the military lobbying would have to be proved.

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force — although they serve under McElroy and have lost much of their authority in recent years — still have a big fistful of power.

Eisenhower would reduce them pretty much to the role of caretakers while increasing McElroy's authority over them and the armed forces as a whole.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Representing Sports Illustrated Magazine, Tex Maule and John Zimmerman were to arrive here today to cover the American Business Club Relays.

Maule is flying in from New York. Zimmerman is coming in from Florida, armed with a Speed Graphic and a fistfull of film. One camera isn't going to be enough to do the job Maule and Zimmerman will do on the "big race," the 100-yard dash tomorrow featuring Duke's Dave Sime and Bobby Morrow of ACC.

Four local cameramen will help Zimmerman. They will be spaced at 20 yard intervals along the way and snap the runners as they hurry by. If all goes well, it should be quite a sequence of pictures.

Bill Rives of the Dallas Morning News, who is in town to cover the meet, says Sime in action is "like a frightened draft horse on a flat pasture."

He interviewed the Duke speed demon by phone recently and asked Dave what his biggest thrill was.

"Winning the Silver Skates ice-skating race in Madison Square Garden when I was 13," was Sime's reply. "Madison Square Garden looked like the Rome Coliseum. And I was Alexander the Great."

Big Spring is honored to have so many distinguished members of the Fourth Estate in town and Charles Kerns, hotel manager; Bill Quimby of the Chamber of Commerce and R. H. Weaver and the ABC club are going to do everything possible to make their stay a pleasant one.

Kerns is opening a press headquarters on the mezzanine floor of the Settles, complete with telephone, for their use.

Western Union is setting up three special wires at the field so that outgoing messages won't get clogged up.

It goes without saying that the facilities of The Daily Herald are at their disposal.

Hundreds of thousands of words have been printed about the meet in papers across the land. Thousands more will be written by the time dusk settles on the city Saturday evening.

Wayne Hanson, the rough-and-tough footballer from Monahan, won't take that job as coaching assistant to Jack Curtice at Stanford University, after all.

He is to be associated with the Hertz Rent-A-Car people in El Paso and is getting out of football entirely.

The Chicago Bears are still trying to talk him into playing again, however, and George Halas can be a very persuasive man.

Bob Jeangerard, who spent several months here training to be a jet pilot, has been named to the United States team that will start a basketball series against the Russians in Moscow April 24. Jeangerard, a Chicago product who played his college football at the University of Colorado and later performed for the 1956 U.S. Olympics team at Melbourne, got in several games with one of Webb AFB's teams while stationed here.

Jim Zapp, the mighty man of swat who used to play baseball with Willie Mays when both were at Birmingham, is so busy these days he may not get to engage in his favorite pursuit—watching big league ball on television over weekends.

Jim, who now owns his home here, is holding down two jobs. What makes life all the tougher is that Jim's wife has been hospitalized and he's been having to take care of the household chores.

During World War II, Zapp performed on the same baseball team in Hawaii with Bill Garbe, first baseman on one Big Spring pre-World War II team.

GIANTS STILL ANGLING FOR DEALS, SAYS BOSS

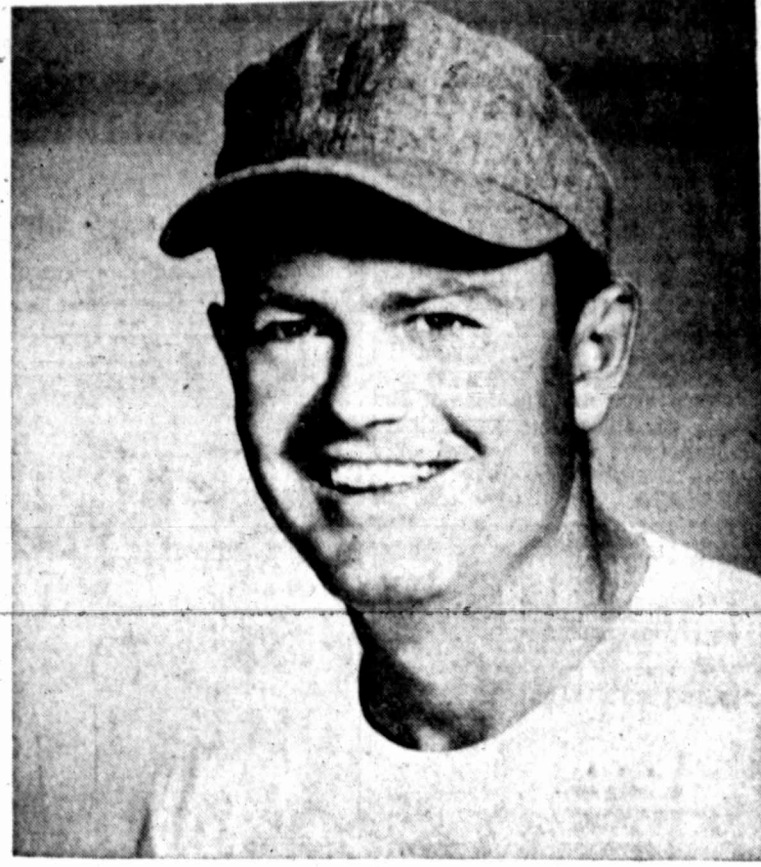

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Manager Bill Rigney says the San Francisco Giants still aren't through angling for deals to improve the club before the April 15 start of the National League campaign.

"I have a couple of ideas," he said shortly after the club announced that veteran right-handed outfielder Bobby Thompson had been traded to the Chicago Cubs for left-handed-hitting Bob Speake. Rigney didn't divulge what those ideas might be except to say additional pitching strength might be among them.

Earlier, the Giants sent reserve catcher Ray Katt to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for left-handed outfielder Jim King.

Until the acquisition of Speake and King, the Giants had only 11 left-handed hitters on the club-

Relays Referee

Darrell Royal, "coach of the year" in Southwest Conference last year, will serve as honorary referee of the annual American Business Club Relays, which is being held here this weekend in Memorial Stadium. Assistant referee is Obie Bristow, one-time coach and now state legislator from this district.

JONES ON CARD

PHILADELPHIA — Tonight's television fight spectacular featuring Kid Gavilan and Ralph (Tiger) Jones might best be described in the fight vernacular — "a pay day."

Even fight promoter Herman Taylor probably will concede the odds are against him.

The show is bucking a pair of religious holidays — Good Friday and the Jewish Passover. It matches two gladiators who in the fight business might best be described as "old folks." It matches an unranked welterweight against an unranked middleweight proving nothing insofar as rankings are concerned.

And if that isn't enough, Gavilan's last appearance in Philadelphia is a memory fight fans would rather, but probably have not forgotten. That was the October 1954 bout in which the Cuban Keed lost his welterweight crown to Johnny Saxton. The decision was controversial although the consensus was that both fighters lost.

The Cuban whipped the Tiger rookie Willie Kirkland and veteran Whitey Lockman and Dusty Rhodes.

San Francisco wound up its Cactus League operations yesterday. Chicago Cub rookie Glen Hobbie beat them 10-5 with shortstop Ernie Banks and first baseman Dale Long providing the power.

Final record in the Arizona exhibition games for the Giants was 15-8, which gave them the Cactus League championship.

from Yonkers, N.Y., in 1953, when Gavilan was one of the classiest fighters around. Last February, the 30-year-old Jones, a rough, tough club fighter, gained revenge in Miami.

Gavilan, who still dreams of regaining the old touch and fire, has won 105 fights, lost 29 and fought in one no decision.

Jones has a 45-21 record with four draws.

Ken Venturi Takes Lead In Masters Tournament

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. — The scene was the same but the principal actor was different today as the world's greatest golfers swung into the second round of the Masters Tournament.

Ken Venturi, it seems, definitely has come of golfing age. "How does it feel to be leading the first round?" the lean, good-looking San Francisco youngster was asked after he had posted a 4-under-par 68 for a one-stroke edge.

"The lead means nothing now," he replied coolly. "There are 54 holes to play."

"How about your being picked as favorite? Does it mean any added pressure for you?" "Only if you take yourself too seriously," Venturi answered. "You don't beat these fellows with press clippings."

Two years ago, Venturi, then a damp-seared amateur of 24, shot a 66 to lead the first round of the tournament no amateur ever has won. He led the second day and the third. Then the roof fell in. He skidded to a harrowing last-round 80, and pro Jack Burke Jr. sneaked through to the championship.

"I am older now," Venturi said. "I guess I was a little cocky then. I am no longer cocky, but I am confident. There's a difference."

Sixteen players are bracketed within three shots of Venturi — the greatest array ever to break par on a single day in the Masters. The sprawling 6,980-yard Augusta National course, which has defied the best, plays a part of 36-72.

Tied at 69 are Norman Von Nida, Sydney, Australia; Jimmy Demaret, three-time winner of this title; bull-shouldered Chick Herbert, former PGA champion; and Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex. At 70 was the formidable trio of Cary, Middlecoff, ex-Masters champion and twice National open king; Arnold Palmer, a young Latrobe, Pa., pro; and 45-year-old Flory Van Donck, debonair Beigan who has been winning European titles for years.

The 71 bracket includes amateur Bill Hyndman III, Abington, Pa.; Jack Fleck, ex-champions Byron Nelson and Claude Harmon; current PGA champion Lionel Hebert; Robert de Vicenzo; Fred Hawkins; Billy Maxwell; and Art Wall Jr.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead were in a cluster of 14 tied at even par 72. Doug Ford, the defending champion, was well back at 74. Koichi Ono and Torakichi Nakamura of Japan lost their fabulous putting touch and trailed at 74 and 76.

Texan May Have Won A Job With Big Leaguers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — A 22-year-old righthander who has pitched a grand total of just 83 innings in professional baseball apparently has won a job with the Kansas City Athletics.

He's Harry Taylor, signed by the A's off the University of Texas campus last summer. Taylor wasn't impressive, to put it charitably, in his professional debut. He pitched 74 innings for Little Rock of the Class AA Southern Assn., and finished with a 4-7 record. Worst of all, he walked 41 batters in 74 innings and had a 5.73 earned run average.

He also pitched nine innings with the Athletics last season, allowing 11 hits and 3 earned runs. So this spring, Taylor was invited to train with the A's but he was considered certain of drawing an assignment to one of the team's farm clubs.

Now with the season opener near, Taylor is almost sure to go north with the team. Taylor shut out Detroit for four innings in his last appearance. He allowed only one hit, but that base runner was erased on a double play, and Taylor faced only 12 batters.

The young righthander was far from satisfied with his work. "I was just lucky, but I can pitch better than that and I don't mean to brag."

Taylor's spring record supports his claim. In 13 innings, he has allowed six hits and five earned runs. He's struck out four and walked only two.

Andrews Winner Of Own Meet

ANDREWS, (SC)—The Andrews Mustangs, one of the favorites in the upcoming ABC relays at Big Spring, won their own track and field meet here Thursday, scoring 123 points.

Midland had 71 for second place. Snyder was third with 61. Hobbs, N. M., counted 57, Odessa 44, Kermit 33, El Paso Austin 29 and Brownfield 20.

The Ponies won five first places. Andrews ran the sprint relay in 42.8 and the mile relay in 3:24.0.

Jan Signs SMU Letter

Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring has signed a basketball letter of intent to attend Southern Methodist University, one of two standouts Coach Doc Hayes convinced they should attend the Dallas school.

The other is Bragg Stockton, a standout for the Tarleton State College team of Stephenville.

Loudermilk, 6-foot-6 and the leading scorer in Big Spring history, was the first Big Spring player ever named to the all-state team.

Morrison Defeats Colonials Twice

Kate Morrison, softballers knocked off Washington Place in a couple of Ward School encounters here Wednesday, taking the big one, 15-2.

Morrison "B" booted the Washington reserves, 13-2.

Emilio Ramirez was the winning pitcher, allowing only two hits, while striking out three men.

The game was the first for both teams.

Eyes Of Sports World On 2 P. M. Century Dash Here Saturday

900 Athletes In ABC Meet

By TOMMY HART

The eyes of the sports-loving world will be trained on Big Spring this weekend for the 14th running of the American Business Club Relays, which began at 1 p. m. today and extends through Saturday afternoon.

Eight universities, ten junior college and 44 high school teams boasting some of the most renowned and greatest athletes in the world—are entered in the two day cinder extravaganza.

The high school boys engage in their preliminaries starting at 1 p. m. today. The university and junior college athletes join them for their prelims on Saturday morning, starting at 9 a. m. Finals in all events begin at 1 p. m. and extend for about four hours.

The eight universities which have entered teams are Texas, SMU, Texas Tech, ACC, Houston, Duke, North Texas and Baylor. Ten junior colleges are also entered. They are Cisco, HJC, Blinn, Lee of Baytown, San Antonio, Odessa, Amarillo, Arlington, Tarleton and Mexico Prep.

In all, more than 900 athletes are due to go through their paces here.

HJC and Cisco rule as co-favorites in the junior college class while Midland, Andrews, Snyder, El Paso Jefferson and perhaps Seminole are among the high school favorites.

The meet is not without its rumbustiousness. McAdoo Keaton, the SMU coach, proceeded that Texas Tech's Dub Thornton should not be allowed to use an inner sole in one of his shoes in the high jump event. Delmer Brown, the Red Raider coach, threatened to withdraw his team if Thornton's jumping shoe was allowed.

The matter will be settled in a meeting of the relays rules committee sometime today.

PRESS OUT IN FORCE

A distinguished press will flash the news of the meet to the world Saturday. Among those who have announced plans to be here include Ted Maule and James Zimmerman of Sports Illustrated magazine, Harold V. Ratliff of the AP, UP's Ed Fite, Jack Gallagher of the Houston Post, Bill Rives and Sam Blair of the Dallas Morning News, Dick Collins of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, Jan Sholl of Life magazine, John Salazar of the Albuquerque Tribune, Spec Gammon of the Odessa American, Don Oliver and Fred Sanner of the Abilene Reporter News, Jim Cope and Dub Graham of San Angelo Standard Times, Ted Battles of the Midland Reporter Telegram, Bill King of the Gainesville Register, Joe Kelly of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal and others.

Texas University remains a heavy favorite to walk away with team honors but ACC will pose a threat and Duke could threaten, although little is known of their team outside of Sime.

Darrell Royal, football coach at the University of Texas, is serving as honorary referee. He'll be assisted by Obie Bristow, one-time coach and now a state legislator from this district.

The starter is reliable Joe Bailey Cheyney, said to be the finest craftsman in the Southwest.

Upwards to 10,000 persons, which would be a record crowd to see an athletic event in Big Spring, are due to crowd into Memorial Stadium for the Saturday finals.

Housing and the job of feeding the visitors has become a critical problem. Those who desire to go to the track Saturday morning and stay all day will find plenty of concessions available, however.

The center of attraction in the whole meet is the 100-yard dash in the university division, finals of which are scheduled for 2 p. m. Saturday.

Texas Tech Relay Members

Most of the Red Raiders' strength in the ABC Relays will come from these six runners shown with their coach (far right), Delmer Brown. HURLER HELPS OWN CAUSE

Steers Decision Plainview Bulldogs Behind Bill Roger

PLAINVIEW (SC) — A stylish two-batter by Bill Roger enabled the Big Spring Steers to blast the Plainview Bulldogs, 8-1, here Thursday afternoon.

Roger was never in trouble and one of the hits he gave up was of the scratch variety.

Stan Morrison started on the mound for Plainview but was hit hard until he retired in the seventh.

Roger helped his own cause with a two-run homer in the seventh.

The blow came with McAdams on base. McAdams had hit a four-master for the Steers in the fourth with Salvador Sarmiento up front.

The Steers got their first run in the second when George Peacock singled, advanced to second on a walk and raced in on Terry Stanley's one-baser.

Roger and Jackie Thomas hit safely in the second and Roger came all the way home when the hit by Thomas got through the left fielder. Thomas later scored on a sacrifice fly by Pidge Daniels.

McAdams' home run arrived in the fourth while the Steers picked up another tally in the fifth on a walk to Daniels, a stolen base and Bernard McMahon's double.

Plainview got its one run in the sixth when Bobby Huntington singled and eventually made his way home on a bobble.

The win was Roger's third of the year and the Steers' eighth, against three losses.

They next see action against San Angelo in Big Spring Tuesday.

LOCAL YOUTH IS GIVEN HIGHEST NRA AWARD

Raymond Hogg, a local amateur rifleman, has been awarded the "Junior Rifleman's Award", the highest National Rifle Association award presented to his age group.

Raymond qualified for the age 12-19 grouping.

He was required to progress through the NRA ratings of pro marksman, marksman, marksman 1st class, sharpshooter and expert. Rules required a minimum of 700 rounds of firing with lowest prescribed scores, then the firing of an additional 400 rounds in different positions.

One hundred rounds each were required in prone, sitting, kneeling, and offhand. A minimum score of 18 of 20 had to be scored on each bullseye for prone and sitting, and 16 of 20 for kneeling and offhand positions.

Raymond, a charter member of the Western Sportsman Junior Rifle Club, began his shooting in October, 1956. He won third in the JRA in Texas this year.

Regular monthly meetings of the Junior Rifle Club are held on the second Thursdays of each month at the local college, in room S-3. Meeting time is 7 p. m.

Membership in the club is open to all boys from 12 to 19, and there are no dues to pay. The junior club is sponsored by the Western Sportsman Club whose range is made available to the youngsters.

PARTY IS SET FOR VISITORS

Tonight's party for the coaches, newspapermen and publicity directors attending the American Business Club Relays is scheduled to begin 7 and 7:30 p. m. at the Officers' Club at Webb Air Force Base.

The dinner will be served buffet style from the time the doors open.

Transportation to and from the Settles Hotel will be furnished for the coaches and newsmen via Webb AFB buses. The buses will leave the hotel about 7 p. m. and return about 10:30 p. m.

Ex-Track Great On Visit Here

Buren Edwards, one of the greatest track stars in the history of Big Spring High School and later both a hurdler and a coach for Texas University, is coming in from Hobbs, N. M., to see the ABC Relays and renew acquaintances with his old coach, Clyde Littlefield.

Edwards ran here in the late 20's.

He is a brother to James Edwards of Big Spring and will have two nephews running in the relays—Benny Edwards of the Big Spring team and Gerald Edwards of ACC.

Gerald is the son of Jack Edwards of Otton, Texas, who will also be a witness to the meet.

Basilio Slated To Exit Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmen Basilio, looking like himself again, today was to leave the hospital after being treated nine days for an eye injury.

Robinson Wins Magazine's 'Fighter Of Month' Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson's reconquest of the middleweight championship earned the New York marvel the "Fighter of the Month" honor in the monthly Ring Magazine boxing ratings today.

Robinson's victory over Carmen Basilio, featherweight king Hogan "Kid" Bassey's successful title defense against Mexico's Ricardo "Little Bird" Moreno and many other important bouts in the past month resulted in a shuffling of the ratings in most divisions.

The middleweight division, in particular, had several boxers shifted around. Basilio dropped to Robinson's No. 1 spot among the contenders. Holly Mims' upset victory over Spider Webb moved

California Flood Damage Mounts

Damage from floods and storms in California mounted today as more rain fell on the drenched sections of the Far West and threatened further overflows into rich crop lands.

Unofficial estimates have placed damage to crops in the millions of dollars. Property damage from floods and storms which have harassed the state for a week was estimated at 12 million dollars by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. He has asked President Eisenhower to declare the entire state a major disaster area and make available federal funds.

Thousands of persons have been forced to leave their homes because of floods. The storms and floods have been blamed for at least nine deaths.

Stormy weather also pounded Southeastern sections, with moderate thunderstorms from north-east Mississippi and Tennessee through northern parts of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Collision Kills One, Hurts Seven

FAIRFIELD, Tex. (AP)—A head-on auto collision near here today killed one woman and injured seven other persons.

Mrs. Nellie Welch, 29, of Port Arthur, was killed. Her husband, Fernan Welch, 33, and their five young children were injured. Lydia Nash, 32, of Edinburg, Tex., also was injured.

Church Of Nazarene Marking 50th Anniversary Of Founding

Fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Church of the Nazarene will be observed during special services at the local church Easter Sunday, the Rev. Lawrence Gholson, pastor, has announced.

The observance is planned in all 4,500 churches of the denomination. It is to be one of the three special services marking the 50th anniversary year of the church.

First was held Jan. 5 and the third has been scheduled for Thanksgiving Sunday, the Rev. Gholson said.

The Church of the Nazarene had its beginning at Pilot Point, Tex., on Oct. 13, 1908.

Delegates representing 228 small churches with 10,414 members in the east, west and south gathered for the union. The strongest common bond was belief in the Wesleyan doctrine of "entire sanctification."

The Nazarene march of evangelism, both at home and abroad, has continued since its founding. The statistical summary tells the story:

At the start, 228 churches with 10,414 members; Sunday school enrollment of 7,780; church property worth a total of $560,000; and per capita giving of $13.44 the first year.

Now, Nazarenes have 4,497 active churches and 292,194 members; Sunday school enrollment of 632,125; church property worth $169,705,560; and per capita giving of $133.77 in 1957 was a record high.

The Nazarene church has been one of the fastest growing churches in modern American Protestant annals. Its record is unique among smaller denominations that hold to the Wesleyan doctrine.

Denominationally, the Nazarenes now rank 30th in membership, 15th in Sunday school enrollment, and 9th among denominational publishing houses in sales volume. The church foreign program has grown steadily. Now there are 341 fulltime missionaries engaged in 33 world areas.

For more than 25 years, each Easter and Thanksgiving a special offering for world missions is received. Last Easter gifts totaled $907,376. Nazarenes will seek to raise $2,000,000 for world missions in two special offerings in 1958.

The Church of the Nazarene has been described as a "middle-of-the-road" orthodox Protestant denomination. Its doctrines are similar to those of the old Methodist Church, but in evangelistic emphasis it is closer to the Free Methodist or Wesleyan Methodist groups.

Nazarenes hold to all the historic doctrines of the New Testament including belief in the Triune God, plenary inspiration of the Scriptures, original sin, the atonement of Christ for the whole human race in justification, regeneration and

U.S. Agents Note Russ Moon Tries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The vice president of the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. hints that U.S. intelligence sources have detected Russian attempts to reach the moon with missiles.

Thomas Lanphier, a reserve Air Force colonel and the national director of the Air Force Assn., told a news conference yesterday he suspected the Russians have had at least two unsuccessful attempts either to hit the moon or circle it.

Asked for his source, Lanphier replied "The Soviets have the advantage of hiding their failures from their own people, but not from a good intelligence system."

adoption of all penitent believers in Christ.

The church has a congregational, or representative, form of government. On the national level, general superintendent is the highest elective office, corresponding to bishop in some churches. Sixteen men have served the church in this capacity. Five general superintendents currently in office have served a total of 45 years in that position and have spent practically all their lives in the Nazarene Church. They are Drs. Hardy C. Powe, G. B. Williamson, Samuel Young, D. I. Vanderpool and Hugh C. Benner.

Space Maps Now Being Drawn Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A handful of scientists here are working today on what may be the road map to Mars for tomorrow's spaceman.

In their new research building a short walk from Ohio State University's campus, the scientists are beginning the enormous task. It calls for inspection and analysis of information that may help interplanetary travelers steer their way through space.

The work is being done by the university's mapping and charting research laboratory under a one-year, $44,843 contract with the Wright Air Development Center near Dayton. Research began March 1.

The job is basically paperwork. "We are not designing or producing the hardware—the actual navigational equipment," said Arthur S. Cosler Jr., executive director of the laboratory.

Trained abstractors are going through the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., and the famed John Crerar Scientific Library in Chicago carefully reading whatever has been printed on space navigation. They abstract only what is pertinent and useful. Cosler said.

Men were writing scientifically about space travel at least as far back as 1829, Cosler said.

"Some may have been crackpot ideas, some not. We're looking at all of them."

Once the pertinent material is abstracted, Cosler said, it is analyzed and tested here.

"What sort of material are the researchers interested in?"

"Any phenomena that might be used as a means of navigating a vehicle in space," Cosler said.

U.S. SCHOOL VIOLENCE

Japanese Pupils Suggest Rules To Combat Troubles

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven Japanese pupils have written a letter to the New York Herald Tribune suggesting adoption of 65 rules of conduct to eliminate "intemperate delinquences (sic) of junior high school students living at Brooklyn, New York City."

The letter came from the Osaka Tenma school, Osaka, Japan.

The students said they were shocked to read of Brooklyn school crime in a Japanese weekly magazine.

Apologizing for their English, the students said "we are ashamed to say that in our country, Japan, too a newspaper reports misdeeds and immoral conducts of teen-agers almost every day, but we have never heard of a temperate delinquences (sic)."

Among rules of conduct cited by the Japanese were: "You should have your hair all over short before it grows too long. You should observe decorum well, spraying not only the teachers, but also using (sic) every discretion especially in language and manners. It is strictly forbidden using violence in any case."

The story, copyrighted by the New York Herald Tribune Inc., quotes the pupils as further suggesting "You should return home as soon as possible except on a special business after school."

Valuables taken to school by the students, the letter says, should be given into a classroom teacher's keeping.

"In case there is no denying the fact such as violence, stealing, cheating, cribbing, drinking, or smoking irrespectively inside the school house and out, you are treated most severely and prudently according to the school regulations and bylaws," the Japanese said.

"A student of exemplary conduct is honored to all students by a letter of commendation from the school authorities."

Christian, Jew, Moslem Celebrations Fall At Once

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Easter hymns of Christians mingled with Moslem calls to Ramadan prayers in the Old City of Jerusalem today while Jews across the armistice line in the New City stocked up for Passover feasts tonight.

With celebrations of the three religions coinciding, the Holy City was bustling with pilgrims on both sides of the armistice line dividing it between Israel and Jordan.

About 5,000 Christians from a dozen nations gathered in the Jordan-held Old City, where Jesus was tried and condemned by Pontius Pilate. Breaking up into groups according to languages, they carried heavy crosses along the route Jesus followed to crucifixion. At each of the 14 stations of the cross they stopped for hymns and sermons.

As the Way of the Cross procession began, Moslems assembled nearby at the hallowed Dome of Rock for the usual Friday prayers during Ramadan, the holy month of fasting. The Dome of Rock marks the spot where prophet Mohammed ascended on horseback into heaven. The rock once was the sacred altar of the Jewish temple from which Jesus drove the money changers.

At the other end of the Way of the Cross, the Church of Holy Sepulchre, Christians were to enter the church courtyard opposite the mosque of Amar as loudspeakers in the mosque's minaret broadcast sermons in Arabic.

Jews in the New City prepared for Seder, the feast just after sundown which opens the weeklong Passover festival. The traditional spring festival commemorates the emancipation from Egyptian slavery of ancient Israelites led by Moses.

The lack of fighting around Jerusalem recently has brought the largest turnout of visitors since 1955.

The three religious celebrations fell together by coincidence.

African Coloreds Boycott Election

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Only 1 per cent of the 1,200,000 colored (mixed race) residents of the Cape of Good Hope province voted yesterday in the first parliamentary election since the segregationist government deprived them of the right to ballot with white voters.

There are 29,000 registered colored voters and about 60 per cent boycotted the election for four white persons to represent the Cape Coloreds in the House of Assembly. Polling places were picketed with signs reading "Dummy election."

To be eligible to vote, a colored must be able to write his name, address and occupation and either own $310 worth of property or earn $140 a year.

The ballots will be counted after Easter. The 1,600,000 registered voters among three million white South Africans will ballot April 16 for 156 members of Parliament. The nation's nine million Negroes have no vote.

Bitter Kohler Strike Nears Fifth Year

KOHLER, Wis. (AP)—The bitter strike at the Kohler Co., entangled in issues and personalities, begins its fifth year tomorrow with prospects of a settlement growing dimmer.

The nation's oldest major labor dispute, the strike has developed into a grinding of the energies of the plumbingware firm and the power of the million-member United Auto Workers.

The principles grimly defended by each side were underscored recently before the Senate Rackets Committee.

"We will not bargain with a gun at our back," a company officer said.

"The company position has been not to settle the strike, but to break the union," a UAW official testified.

Both sides were described as "pretty obstinate" by Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.).

Also recorded in the past 12 months were the collapse of a mediation effort by three prominent clergymen, a determination by a National Labor Relations Board examiner that the company prolonged the strike by unfair labor practices, and a rejection by the firm of a UAW offer to settle on the basis of the examiner's finding.

Just last month there was a renewal of the sporadic vandalism that has been linked to the strike.

The strike began when an estimated 2,600 members of Local 833 refused to work in a dispute over union security, wages and fringe benefits. The firm has been in production with non-strikers and new workers since two months after the strike started.

In an appearance before the McClellan committee, Herbert V. Kohler, 66-year-old company president, said the issue now is "compulsory unionism," and the UAW demand that strikers be reinstated. Kohler has insisted he will not displace present workers with strikers.

The next important development is expected when the NLRB acts on the company's appeal of the examiner's findings.

Red Propaganda Victory May Be Filled With Holes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports reaching Washington officials indicate that the Soviet Union may have scored less of a propaganda victory than had been feared with its Monday announcement of suspension of nuclear tests.

The impact of the announcement on world public opinion is regarded here as very considerable but tempered by widespread belief that the Soviet declaration is full of loopholes.

President Eisenhower at his news conference Wednesday called the action a "gimmick." United States counterpropaganda has been emphasizing that Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in making the announcement, specifically reserved the Soviet Union's right to resume tests unless the United States also called off further testing. Since the Soviet government knew that the United States planned and had given notice of a series of test explosions this spring and summer, it also knew that it would be automatically released from its own commitment under the terms it laid down.

The United States has also hammered the point that the Soviet Union had just completed a test series of its own before Gromyko made his statement and in the normal course of such research would not expect to hold another series for several months or a year in any case.

Johnson Plea For Spending Spurned

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request by Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) to keep all present military training centers open yesterday was turned down by Secretary of Defense McElroy.

Johnson had suggested keeping the centers open for job-making purposes even if it costs extra money.

While Pentagon officials are sympathetic to anti-recession efforts, McElroy said, they cannot approve "special spending for economic reasons." He told a Senate Preparedness subcommittee that a defense spending is limited to national defense purposes.

Pole Sitter Held On Theft Charge

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Police have accused Richard Parks of using his perch on a flagpole as a base for stealing auto hub caps.

Parks, one of two men living on a flagpole as a publicity stunt, was charged yesterday with theft under $50, and was released on $200 bond.

Police charged he climbed down the pole in the predawn hours and stole auto hub caps. Patrolman Harry Carpenter said Parks was holding four hub caps when he was caught after a chase.

"Just came down for some air," Parks said.

A Bible Thought For Today

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world. (James 1:27)

Make Sunrise Service Part Of Easter

For about 20 years now, a traditional part of the community observance of Easter has been the sunrise service at the amphitheatre. In the early years the high school Bible class brought a touch of pageantry to the service, and with wholesome results. As the years came on, it became easier to hold the conventional type of service—songs—perhaps a trumpet call to worship—and a sermon. This was, of course, much the same sort of service to be heard and seen in the churches on Easter, and as a consequence, attendance dwindled to a couple of thousand of the faithful.

Last year the Civic Theatre developed an inspiring pageant which told the Easter story from a different angle, and thus new freshness was added to the old yet thrilling account of the Resurrection. Several thousand arose an hour earlier than before to attend the service.

Sunday, the Civic Theatre, aided by a number of other volunteers, the junior high choir and other voices, will again present this pageant of the glorious hope of Christianity.

Set your alarms early and be on hand for this event. The Civic Theatre, and back of them the sponsoring Big Spring Pastors Association, ask no reward—but they are entitled to the reward of your presence.

Meet Yourself Coming Back

Texas, which has always turned a stony face toward personal income and retail sales taxes in view of its tremendous natural resources and their wide dispersion throughout the country and the world, may be interested in what is happening among its sister states.

Just before its recent adjournment the Maryland Legislature raised the personal income tax to three per cent from the old two per cent rate. A little earlier the New York Legislature restored reductions that had been made earlier in the personal income tax rate.

Other states took a deeper bite in personal incomes, including Idaho, Kansas and Montana, last year. The sales tax bite was deepened in Arkansas, Maine, Rhode Island, and Maryland is to raise her take this year.

Gasoline taxes were raised in Indiana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Utah. Not all states will hold legislative sessions this year, but among those which will do so the hiking of income and sales taxes is foremost in pre-session talk.

And here is a pretty question: If the federal government should cut federal income taxes to stimulate buying, how much would buying be stimulated if states with income and sales taxes turn right around and offset the federal largess by raising their rates? This would be a case of meeting yourself coming back.

David Lawrence Baruch Cites The Wage-Price Spiral

WASHINGTON—Bernard M. Baruch, elder statesman, has no axe to grind. He is retired from any business activity and devotes himself to philanthropic and public-service interests. What he says, therefore, out of an abundance of experience with the ups and downs of the national economy, can be listened to with confidence by all groups—labor, management, and political parties.

And "B. M." as he is familiarly known here, tells the Senate Finance Committee at its hearings that the danger of inflation is greater than the dangers of the present recession. He deprecates the pressure of every economic group for advantages for itself and argues against tax cuts, even hinting that some tax increases might be necessary.

"Each group," he says, "wants to shift the burden of dislocation to someone else. Each wants special consideration, arguing that its wages or prices or profits must be kept up to avoid a depression."

"Nothing is more dangerous than this notion that economic salvation lies through government intervention. Government did not keep us from getting into our present condition. How can we rely upon it to get us out of it?"

"A tax cut will increase the deficit, add to the debt, and further weaken the government's credit. To reduce revenues before our defenses are secure and our debt manageable is uneconomic and immoral."

But Mrs. Baruch's main fire is directed against the wage-price spiral. He says: "Nothing would be more effective in turning the tide than to halt the never-ending spiral of wages and prices. The best stimulant to our economy would come from price reductions. The consumer, who has no lobby or bargaining agent, is belatedly rebelling against having every wage and cost increase passed on to him. If industry and labor continue to push up wage, price and profit levels, they will price themselves out of the market. Consumer resistance will grow, further depressing economic activity and adding to unemployment. Foreign goods will enter our markets in increasing quantities with unsettling effects on our domestic economy, our tariff policies and our allies and friends."

There is in the Baruch statement a hint about the alternative—namely, wage and price control—as he declares:

"No one is more concerned to see labor preserve its gains than I am. But we must halt the wild, unmerited chase of prices, wages and profits. We prefer not to compel this by legislative fiat or executive order. We rely upon individual action, self-discipline, and enlightened selfishness of labor and industrial leaders. If they cannot recognize that self-interest requires concern for the national interest, then they and the nation as a whole will be made to suffer. If they will not adjust voluntarily and in time to the law of supply and demand, the adjustment eventually forced on them will be much more painful."

"It would be an inspiring and salutary thing if the leaders of our great labor unions and businesses would jointly pledge to the President that for one year there will be no increase in wages or prices and that profit margins would at least be frozen."

More and more there is talk in Washington about the failure to restrain the labor monopolies which are virtually fixing higher and higher prices. The labor monopoly in the auto industry, for example, is about to increase the costs of automobiles.

Which would the nation prefer—economy anarchy as at present, with its dangerous declines and the accumulating of huge deficits in the treasury as "puny priming" measures are voted by Congress, or some form of economic restraint such as wage and price control? If the Congress voted for a one-year wage-and-price-control law, it could halt the trend toward inflation at least long enough to permit the national economy to gain strength. But if nothing is to be done to restrain organized greed—and particularly the politically minded union leaders who feel they cannot hold their offices unless they win increases in wages—then the present recession will indeed deepen into a real depression and the result could be wage and price control anyhow.

So the alternatives which elder statesman Baruch now presents are unmistakably clear in their warning of the disaster that lies ahead unless the right measures of restraint are applied now.

Few men in Congress, for political reasons, would dare to come out in favor of the advice just given them, but an informed public opinion some day will have to demand what nobody really likes—namely, wage and price controls.

Unless Congress, which is eager to fight "administered prices" by industry, is as ready to do battle against industry-wide bargaining by national unions which set the wage costs and indirectly the prices of the major products in America today, the national economy will hardly wind up the current recession before it runs into an inflationary crisis and crash that may be much worse than anything yet experienced.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The reciprocal trade program, authorization for which will expire June 30 and for which the President seeks a five-year extension, is reported to be in greater straits than at any other time since the plan was conceived by the late Secretary of State Cordell Hull in 1934.

It also is a significant paradox that the South, for 150 years a stronghold of free trade, has developed some of the most formidable opposition to the reciprocal policy.

A chief factor in Southern opposition to trade liberalization is the region's growing industrialization, with which cheaper foreign-made goods are competitive. An instance has been the burgeoning textile industry of the Old South, which is fighting importation of cheaper Japanese textiles.

Obviously the differing stands on foreign trade depend largely upon whose eye is being gored. One can hardly look with much equanimity on Sen. Douglas' contention that producers unable to meet foreign competition under reciprocal trade must find new lines of production. If government by law would destroy industries long sheltered by it, some provision should be made by government for the victims.

Opponents of reciprocal trade contend that the safeguards of the authorization law, such as the "peril point" provision and "escape clauses," have failed to prevent damage to domestic industry from imports. Any hypocrisy in the law should be remedied.

But the picture is not all white or all black. Opponents of reciprocal trade authorization should recognize that our exports are great boons to production and employment and that, if we do not import to offset exports, the latter must be subsidized in various ways, such as foreign aid.

Easter's Untold Stories A Skeptical Soldier Found Faith

EDITOR'S NOTE: Drawn in part from books outside the Christian canon, this is the story of the Resurrection told from the view point of the Roman sergeant assigned as guard of the tomb. It is the last in a series of minor stories in the great Easter drama.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

It grew chilly as the night wore on. The Roman sergeant tossed more sticks on the campfire and stood warming his hands. Another soldier sat cross-legged, a sheepskin over his shoulders, munching a slab of cheese.

The sergeant leaned against a square-shaped tent, pitched in a private grove outside Jerusalem where the crucified Nazarene had been entombed.

With the toe of his boot, the sergeant listlessly nudged some scattered coals back into the fire. He yawned, stretched his arms. In an isolated spot like this, guard duty was particularly monotonous.

The watch had been maintained since late on the sixth day of last week. With the provincial Sabbath over at sunset, it now was near midnight in the new week's first day.

To begin with, there had been quite a stir about the assignment. The sergeant had been on post at the procurator's quarters when the Sadducee priests came to Pilate about it.

"Sir," they fretted, "we remember how that impostor said while He was still alive, 'After three days I will rise again.' Therefore order the sepulchre made secure until the third day."

GUARD POSTED
As the worried politicians put it, the Nazarene's followers might come and steal His body and then spread reports He had risen from the dead. "The last fraud will be worse than the first," the priests insisted.

"Go make it as secure as you can," Pilate consented peevishly. For the first night, and through most of the Sabbath, he supplied nearly a whole platoon—30 men under a centurion. About 1,000 people—mostly idlers—had wandered out yesterday to stare and make jests. But by late afternoon the place was deserted, and with public curiosity waning, guard had been reduced to a regular two-man detail.

The sergeant pulled his hooded paucula closer about his neck, and stumped against a tree. What a weird business this was—guarding a corpse!

He glanced at the face of the tomb. It was dug into a 14-foot bluff, gray and cold-looking in the gloom. A huge, circular stone, about five feet in diameter, completely covered the opening.

With a great hoisting and heaving, it had been rolled into a groove cut at the base of the opening, and sealed there with seven pegs.

THE ROMAN GUARD

Before the sealing, the sergeant had watched the two rich Jewish notables, Nicodemus and Joseph in linens rubbed with gummy, brown myrrh and aloë preservatives.

To the sergeant, the extraordinary activity about the case—all this ado over a dead man—seemed ridiculous. And that babble about rising to life again! Great Caesar's ghost! He picked up a stone and flung it at the face of the tomb. It banged against the rock wall, and clattered down into the blackness of the ground.

SUDDEN QUIET
Then, all at once, everything became quiet. Silence reigned, totally.

He felt an obscure uneasiness. He thought of moving about, scuffling his feet, to break the spell, but stood as if rooted. All life, himself too, seemed momentarily suspended, halted, pausing on the verge of . . . he knew not what.

The stars still shone brightly, though. In fact, they seemed brighter than before. They were brighter. They were a great deal brighter. What was happening? What was wrong with his eyes? That light . . . that light in the sky!

It appeared as if a fissure was forming on the roof of the world, with a white brilliance pouring through, a celestial floor opening, ward, shimmering, cascading in a flood.

The sergeant flung his arm over his eyes, a stung glare in his throat.

A shattering blast rent his ear.

Around The Rim See The Easter Pageant

Since a recent TV interview in which my name was mentioned as author of this year's Easter Pageant script, people have been asking me where the script was cut, and how much, and why, and what was left out.

I'll try to describe the basis of the original script, and the changes made for the production Sunday morning by the Civic Theatre. Dewey Magee, theatre president, mentioned me as author of the script in the interview.

The original script was ambitious: A symbolic and interpretive play grafted onto the traditional pageant, with an Old Man and a Young Soldier, both Romans, as sole characters of the play segment. The Old Man sits on a stone on a hillside near the gates of Rome, recalling the events of many years before in Galilee. He explains those days to the Young Soldier as the two of them, located on a height above the stage, look down into a gully (the stage of the amphitheatre), seeing the Easter story in their minds' eye.

The spotlight continues without break upon these two, but alternately brightens and dims out on the pageant scenes below as the Old Man tells his story, and the Young Soldier asks questions and makes comments. The Old Man was designed as a symbol of a question of increasing importance in this New Age of Science; namely, can the mind be divorced from the heart, or the intellect from the soul? To achieve this effect, I had to keep the Old Man in character; a Roman to the last, yet ending his years wondering about an event of many years before; a man whose strength of intellect was his undoing, in that he could not and would not understand the meaning of his experiences. He is a living representation of the divorce of worldly loyalties from trust in God.

The Young Soldier serves not only as a foil for the Old Man, but also as a symbol of energetic but sometimes thoughtful youth, finding itself at the top of the world and tempted to act the conquering hero. The Young Soldier is impressed by the story he hears, whereas the Old Man is still unreconstructed; and the play ends on a thoughtful note in which the Young Soldier is left wondering.

The idea is that the audience is supposed to be left with a feeling of pity for the Old Man, but with a sense of hope for the Young Soldier.

The ending which followed the Resurrection scene, was designed to taper off on that thoughtful note so as to leave the audience with something to think about for the rest of Easter Sunday—and possibly for some time to come. There was nothing in the script that hasn't been said repeatedly from the pulpit.

The main change from the original script was in that I had speaking roles for the pageant scenes, to be accomplished by pantomime on stage and by hidden readers who were to have spoken the lines in coordination with the pantomimes. Technical difficulties having to do with microphones required that narration supplant these speaking roles.

Later, after the script was turned over to him, Magee "converted" the Old Man somewhat, but not to the extent he had at first wanted. In Magee's version, this character has come into a partial understanding of the events of years before, but still is not quite persuaded.

The final scene was cut on the basis of Magee's belief that the pageant should end with the Resurrection scene and the signing of the Hallelujah Chorus.

Other minor changes had mostly to do with such things as Magee's rewording of some parts of the script, or with changes made necessary through considerations of technical difficulties.

It might, therefore, be correct to describe this year's script as "based on an original script by Bob Smith." Like the credit lines in the movies on TV. The theatre people have worked hard on this Easter Pageant, as they always work hard on any production.

If I can get up during the cold, wee hours, so can you. There are lots of people who have worked long and hard on the pageant, and it would be a pity to leave them in the cold, all alone in the Amphitheatre.

What The Touring Students Don't Know

We Americans are pretty well wedded to the theory that spring really arrives when the first red, red robin comes bob, bob, bobbin' along.

But the European gives no credence to the vernal equinox until the first American tourist starts focusing his 3-D equipment on Notre Dame, the Forum, Big Ben and/or the Matterhorn.

Recession or no, it is estimated that 1,500,000 Americans will swamp Europe during the coming months. Of this army, a larger proportion than ever will be college students. They are snatching at the new thrift air rates to Europe just inaugurated by Trans World Airlines, Pan American Airways and foreign carriers. The New York-London round trip at $453.00 (or $113.50 less than the tourist fare of $567) is their meat.

So maybe you have been thinking, as I have, that bright-faced, intelligent American students abroad make splendid good will ambassadors for Uncle Sam. If so, you can get an argument out of the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs of Syracuse University.

The graduate school has just made public the results of a survey last summer to "measure student preparedness for a first trip abroad." The school asked 1,000 student passengers to fill out a questionnaire, and the results were so abysmal that I am convinced all the students involved were parodies from that old radio program, "Be Pales To Be Ignorant." (The median age level of those who filled out the questionnaires was 22, and all were from professional or upper business class home.)

Only 36 per cent of the collegians knew the population of the United States or could name the year in which the next

U. S. Presidential election will be held. Forty-seven per cent made uneducated guesses and the other 17 per cent just threw in the pencil and the towel.

In the arts arena, 76 per cent of the students could not name a single Italian novelist, poet or painter of the last 150 years! And 50 per cent drew a blank when asked to name a German writer of the 19th or 20th centuries.

And they didn't do very much better when asked about homegrown art and literature. "Thirty per cent could not think of one important 20th century American novelist to recommend to a foreign friend," says the report, "and 50 per cent could think of no playwright who reflected in his works the contemporary way of life in the U. S. A."

Only 30 per cent were able to translate a simple English paragraph into any foreign language. Only 37 per cent could tell where Serbia and Coratia are or in what cities a tourist will find the Louvre, Colosseum, Westminster and the Parthenon.

The nation's immigration policy was Greek to 80 per cent of the students, and only 40 per cent could even make a rough estimate of the number of Negro citizens in the U. S.

This is pretty sad stuff, as the Maxwell Graduate School points out. But I am not so certain that it is as much an indictment of American students as good will ambassadors as it is a bitter indictment of American colleges as educational institutions.

It strikes me that the Maxwell school would do more for the country if it stopped harassing the students and started hammering at colleges that turn out such numskulls.

The Gallup Poll Public Backs Principle Of Foreign Aid

PRINCETON, N. J. — The American public is in favor of the principle of foreign aid, but the degree of enthusiasm shown for it depends on just how much people know about the present Mutual Security program.

Among those persons who have not followed the present debate over foreign aid, for example, 46 per cent are "for" the principle of foreign aid, while 31 per cent are "against" it.

With those who have followed Congressional discussion on the issue this year, the favorable vote jumps to 56 per cent.

And among those individuals who are so well informed that they can name the sum the President has asked Congress to appropriate this year, the vote in favor of foreign aid rises to 62 per cent.

Unfortunately—from the point of view of those backing the Mutual Security Program this year—only 6 per cent of the total adult population knows the approximate amount that has been requested this year—just under four billion dollars.

In determining the vote by various levels of information on the principle of foreign aid, the institute put this series of questions to all persons in the cross-section:

"Have you heard or read about the foreign aid bill now being considered by Congress?"

Per cent
Yes, have heard or read 51
No, have not 49

"Last year, Congress appropriated slightly over three billion dollars for foreign aid. Do you happen to know how much the President has asked Congress to appropriate this year for foreign aid?"

The specific amount of the Mutual Security budget is $3,942,100,000. Accepted as an "informed" answer was any figure near four billion. Only 6 per cent qualified on this count.

A question on attitudes toward foreign aid was then asked of all adults:

"In general, how do you feel about foreign aid—are you for it or against it?"

Here is how all adults questioned voted:

Per cent
For foreign aid 51
Against foreign aid 49

No opinion 16
Among those who said, in answer to the first question, that they had not heard or read about the foreign aid bill (49 per cent), the vote on the principle of foreign aid is as follows:

Per cent
For foreign aid 46
Against foreign aid 51
No opinion 23

Following is the vote of those who had followed the debate in Congress—51 per cent:

Per cent
For foreign aid 56
Against foreign aid 44
No opinion 10

And lastly, the vote of those "well-informed" in the matter of the amount requested this year—a total of 6 per cent:

Per cent
For foreign aid 63
Against foreign aid 37
No opinion 6

As the above tables show, the "against" vote remains relatively constant at all levels of information. Of significance to proponents of the Mutual Security Program is that a voter with more of the facts about foreign aid is more likely to think favorably of the principle of foreign aid.

Seminole Church Is Setting For Drake-Solomon Marriage Ceremony

Patsy June Solomon became the bride of William Thomas Drake in a double ring ceremony read Thursday night at the First Baptist Church in Seminole. The pastor, the Rev. H. D. Christian, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Solomon, Rt. 1, Seminole. She is a graduate of Seminole High School and Texas Technological College, and is employed as physical education teacher and girls' volleyball coach at Big Spring Junior High School.

Drake is the son of Mrs. F. G. Drake, 611 Holbert. An alumnus of Colorado City High School, he is employed by Couden Petroleum Corporation.

The couple recited vows as they stood before an arch entwined with greenery and blue daisies. At either side there were baskets of white stock and blue daisies, and candelabra held blue tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a street-length sheath of white embroidered satin with a net overskirt. Her wedding veil, caught to a Juliet cap, was shoulder length. With a Bible, she carried a bouquet of white roses with a shower of streamers.

Francene Smith of Midland was maid of honor and Oakey Hagood, Big Spring, served as best man. Lynn and Gwen Mutschler of Seminole carried baskets of rose petals. The ushers were Max Coffey, Big Spring, and J. D. Mutschler, Seminole.

Celestial Golden of Seminole, organist, accompanied Pat Malone, also of Seminole, as she sang "Because", "You'll Never Walk Alone", and "The Lord's Prayer."

At the reception, which was held in the Study Club, the couple was assisted by their parents in receiving guests. Sena Jo Goodlett, organist, accompanied Pat Malone, also of Seminole, as she sang "Because", "You'll Never Walk Alone", and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wild Flowers Studied By Spaders Club

A panel discussed Texas wild flowers for the Spaders Garden Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. H. B. Perry.

Describing various flowers and recommending the best choice for local gardens were three of the members, who also told of the medicinal and seasoning uses of certain plants.

Members of the panel were Mrs. Don Grantham, Mrs. F. D. Williams and Mrs. Don Hale. Mrs. Dale Smith reported on the meeting of the southern zone meeting, which she attended in Lubbock last week.

A field trip to view the wild flowers in this section was planned for the meeting set for April 17. Members will meet at the home of Mrs. Grantham, where a plant exchange will be held before the trip.

Fifteen were present for the meeting.

'53 Hyperion Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Jackson Friedlander heads the slate of officers elected by the 1953 Hyperion Club members at their meeting Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George McAllister.

Mrs. R. H. Weaver will assume the vice presidency, and Mrs. Ell McCombs will be treasurer. Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. and Mrs. Jim Bill Little were named recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively. The officers will be installed at the May luncheon.

Program for the afternoon consisted of a one-act play, "If Men Played Cards As Women Do," staged by the Big Spring Civic Theatre. Roles were filled by Sgt. Dewey Magee, Sgt. Bob Martinez, Airman Norman Sant and Airman Hugh Macaulay.

The club heard Magee explain the importance of the civic theatre to the community, and outline its projected development. As hostesses, Mrs. Harold Davis assisted in serving refreshments to 20.

Here From Lubbock Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of Lubbock are weekend guests of his brother and family, the Jack Wilsons.

Easter Guests Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hayward Jr. are here from Fort Worth to spend the Easter weekend with his family and to attend the ABC Relays.

Westbrook P-TA Plans Banquet WESTBROOK—The P-TA executive board met recently at the school to plan the junior-senior banquet, which will be given April 19. A nominating committee was appointed with Mrs. Ed Blakeney, Mrs. J. M. Watson and Mrs. E. A. Oden as members. Announcement was made of the regular meeting slated for April 10, when officers will be elected.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Young were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oglesby in Bronte. About 80 attended the banquet given recently in honor of the girls and boys basket ball teams. Gathering in the school cafeteria, the group was served by members of the P-TA and parents of the team. Tributes were paid to various players and a gift was presented to the coach.

Stanton Rebekahs STANTON—Mrs. Roy Linney received her commission as deputy of the Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287, when the lodge met at the IOOF hall Monday night. Mrs. Linney will serve one year as deputy president; she now holds the office of warden of the lodge. An invitation is scheduled for April 14.

Shower, Rehearsal Supper Given For Miss Griffin, Paul Nootbaar

A kitchen shower was a compliment to Janie Griffin and her fiancé, A.I.C. Paul Walter Nootbaar, Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Perdue.

The party preceded the rehearsal for the couple's wedding, which will take place this evening in the First Christian Church.

Judy Perdue, who will be one of the bridesmaids, greeted guests, and they were registered by Pat Johnson, who will also serve as a bridesmaid.

The bride was presented with a corsage formed of red and white carnations combined with a scouring pad, measuring spoons and a bottle and can opener.

Kitchen articles were given to the honored pair by the 16 couples attending.

Ann Robinson assisted in serving at a table bearing an off-white cutwork cloth over aqua. A brass candelabrum holding yellow tapers was held in a base of yellow roses.

REHEARSAL PARTY Immediately following the bridal shower, a rehearsal was held by the wedding party.

The evening was climaxed with a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lewis, when a buffet supper was served. An arrangement of stock was the floral decoration for the serving table, at which Mr. and Mrs. Tom McAdams assisted.

The betrothed couple presented gifts to their attendants at the informal affair.

Miss Griffin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams, 211 Dixie, and Nootbaar is the son of Mrs. Fred Nootbaar of Posen, Ill.

Officers of the Officers' Wives' Club elected Mrs. Andrew Terpening president at the monthly business meeting held at the Officers' Club Thursday.

Other officers are Mrs. G. T. Ward, first vice president; Mrs. E. Lehr, second vice president; Mrs. Sidney L. Davis, third vice president; Mrs. C. C. Tyler, recording secretary; Mrs. A. D. Johnson, corresponding secretary.

Serving as treasurer will be Mrs. W. P. Puckett; assistant treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Lohner, and parliamentary, Mrs. C. L. Malotte.

The newly-elected group was presented with corsages of spring flowers. During the social hour preceding the luncheon, the cocktail table, done in white nylon over pink, held a blue duck figurine filled with snapdragons, daisies and iris. This was awarded as a prize to Mrs. J. Lamb. Blue candles in yellow Easter egg holders flanked the floral piece.

Tables where guests were seated for luncheon were marked with nests of Easter eggs, with a bunny on each side. Streamers leading to two places at the table were pulled by guests, who won the lit rabbits. A special prize was given to Mrs. B. Waller.

Two guests, Mrs. Harry Clark of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Paul Baker, attended, as did 41 newcomers to the base. Hostesses were wives of the

OWC Chooses Officer Slate

Pilot Training Group and included Mrs. Malotte, chairman—Mrs. E. N. Troxel, Mrs. R. R. Saur, Mrs. K. A. Bernick, Mrs. W. A. Nixon, Mrs. E. W. Cox, Mrs. R. J. Bye, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Leland Younk and Mrs. T. S. Simpson.

Lt. White Visiting Mother In Forsan FORSAN—Lt. Arlen White is here with his mother, Mrs. Jewell White, on a leave from his marine base in Virginia.

Mrs. C. L. Gooch was hostess to the Pioneer Sewing Club Tuesday afternoon, with eight members attending. Mrs. J. P. Kubecka will entertain the group April 15.

Guests in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Ferguson in Kress have been their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Alston.

Mrs. Vera Harris was a recent visitor in Sterling City with Mr. and Mrs. James Craig.

Four Churches Planning Double Schedule Of Services For Easter

Two morning services are planned in each of four Big Spring churches Sunday in an effort to accommodate the traditional Easter throng of church-goers.

First Presbyterian, First Christian, First Baptist and First Methodist leaders have announced plans for the double services—one prior to Sunday School and the other at the regular time.

All other churches will be operating on their regular schedules, of course.

The First Methodist services are scheduled for 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. In the other three, the early program starts at 8:30 a.m.

Several other special Easter observances are planned. East 4th Baptist congregation will hear the Easter cantata, "Hallelujah, What A Saviour!" at the morning hour and in the evening a play, "Joseph of Arimathea," will be staged.

The cantata, "Calvary" is on the Sunday evening schedule at the First Baptist.

Lunch will be served at the church for members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. It will be followed by an Easter egg hunt for the children.

At the First Church of God, the H.C.J.C. Speech Department will present a play, "The Terrible Meek" Sunday evening.

Here is the complete Sunday schedule:

Assembly Of God

The revival at the First Assembly of God, with L. G. Flowers of Beaumont as evangelist, will be concluded Sunday. The Rev. S. E. Eldridge is pastor of the church.

Baptist

With Matt. 28:5-7 as his text, the Rev. D. R. Philleary will preach on "Christmas At Easter" Sunday morning at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church. He will also be in the pulpit at evening worship, when the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed.

The Easter Cantata, John W. Peterson's "Hallelujah, What A Saviour!" will be presented at 5:30 p.m. morning worship services at East Fourth Baptist Church. Pascal D. Harris, education-music director, will direct the presentation. In the evening, the congregation will see the Easter play, "Joseph of Arimathea" as staged by the young people's drama club. Mrs. Bob Jones is director, with Mrs. C. A. Tomp Jr. in charge of costumes.

There will be two morning worship services at the First Baptist Church at 8:30 and 11. Dr. P. D. O'Brien will bring a message from Matt. 28:5 on "The Evidence of the Empty Tomb" Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, the choir under the direction of Wayne Nance will offer the Easter cantata, "Calvary," by Henry Wessel. Jack Hendrix will be organist. Soloists are Mrs. Pat Heine, Wilda Caruth, Patsy Potter, Hubert Murphy and Dr. Charles Tyler.

The Rev. H. L. Bingham's ser-

Christian

"Let Easter Dawn!" will be the Rev. Clyde Nichols' message to the First Christian Church, at the two morning worship services scheduled at 8:30 and 10:30 Sunday. His text will be Matt. 28:1-9. Under the direction of Orland Johnson, the choir will sing "He Is Risen," Wilson.

Sunday evening the pastor's topic will be "The Same Day," Luke 24:1-3. Special music will be by the junior choir. Baptistal services will follow the sermon.

Methodist

Dr. Jordan Grooms has announced his Sunday sermon topics at First Methodist Church, "The Day of the Earthquake" and "The Silent Ministers." There will be two morning worship services, at 9 and 11 o'clock; at 4 p.m. there will be a baptismal service for infants and small children.

The Rev. C. W. Parmenter will preach on "The Great Certainty" and "The Unknown Guest" at Wesley Methodist Church.

Presbyterian

At both morning worship services, 8:30 and 11, at First Presbyterian Church, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd will preach on "I Am the Resurrection and the Life." Communion will be served at both hours. At evening worship, the combined choirs of St. Paul and First Churches, under the direction of Mrs. Jack Ware, will sing the Easter portion of Handel's "Messiah."

The Rev. Jack Ware's morning sermon at St. Paul Presbyterian Church will be "A Life of Hope." Selections from Handel's "Messiah" will be the music. The choir will sing "Since by Man Came Death, by Man Came Also the Resurrection." Mrs. Ware will sing "I Know that My Redeemer Liv-

Fire Ant Areas Face Quarantine

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department said today parts of eight Southern states will be regulated under quarantine for the destructive fire ant, beginning May 6.

The regulations will restrict the interstate movement from the quarantine area of soil, plants, grass sod, forestry and timber products and other articles which help spread the insect.

The fire ant, named for its fiery sting, is harmful to crops, livestock and humans. It often attacks small animals, ground nesting birds, poultry and new-born calves and pigs.

The Texas areas to be under quarantine are Hardin, Jasper, Jefferson, Newton, Orange and Tyler counties.

The Church's Assurance of Victory

THOMAS BELIEVES WHEN HE SEES HIS RISEN LORD

Scripture—John 20:24-31; Ephesians 1:15-23; Revelation 7:9-12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THIS EASTER lesson is the last of the series on the New Testament teachings about the church. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the younger classes may find the lesson difficult and that the teacher "place the emphasis on the resurrection of Christ." They might be asked what happens when a person dies. He is buried in a cemetery, from which no one rises except he is given divine power, as Jesus was.

It was the evening of Easter Day that the Apostles were gathered in an upper room, possibly the one in which the Lord's supper was held. Peter had the others apparently had not. There were only 10 of the apostles present, Judas being dead and Thomas absent.

"But Thomas, one of the 12, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.

"The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord. But he said unto them, Exccept I shall see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into His side, I will not believe.

MEMORY VERSE

"The Lord is risen indeed."—Luke 24:34.

"And after eight days again His disciples were within, and Thomas with them; then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you.

"Then saith He to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold My hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into My side: and be not faithless, but believing.

"And Thomas answered and said unto Him, My Lord and my God.

"Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen Me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."—John 20:24-29.

Some of the wonder and glory of the Easter Day may be realized by the children — as they have these lines read or told them by the teacher—in learning of the joy and thanksgiving of Thomas.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

FROM THE DIARY
OF OUR DESTINY

And very early in the morning the first day of the week... at the rising of the sun...

Thus begins the most amazing account of human experience ever written. And so simply, with just a notation of time: the hour, the day, the very moment!

But like a church bell sounding its call to worship, that simple notation of time has become the clarion of a New Life.

So deeply has it penetrated our pre-occupation with the routine of every-day existence that millions gather at sunrise to greet the dawn of each Easter Day.

What has given such meaning to one moment in time?

Its PROMISE: Christ is risen. The One Who said, because I live, ye shall live also—He lives!

This tremendous moment, for all who worship Him in faith, became the first entry in the Diary of our Destiny.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is the storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Life Of Riley

Coal miner Thomas Riley, 58, bestows a big kiss on his wife, Elizabeth, 57, after they arrived in London from the mining town of Horden to collect their 26 million-to-one shot — $585,421 they won for a two-cent investment in Britain's soccer pool. Better still, the money is tax free! They plan to visit the United States.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS
Easter Assembly Programs Given

By GRETCHEN BRIDEN

Two assembly programs, one at 10 a.m. and the other an hour later, marked the beginning of the Easter holidays for junior high. The Rev. H. W. Bartlett, College Baptist pastor, and the Rev. Howard Gholson, minister of the Church of the Nazarene, were the speakers, and both were introduced by Mr. Thomas Earnest, principal. Members of the junior high choir, directed by Mrs. Forrest Gambill, sang three numbers in keeping with the Easter season.

At the assemblies, Carey King, president of the student body, presided. The colors were presented by Jerry Gilmore, Nelson Clemon, Joe Bob Kitching and Leahnon Bryant.

Classes were dismissed at 2:50 p.m. Thursday for the holidays. They will resume Tuesday morning.

The choir is hard at work preparing for the Easter pageant at the amphitheatre Sunday morning. Besides the early morning rehearsals, the choir practiced Tuesday evening and is due to rehearse again this evening.

Let's help support them by attending the sunrise service Sunday at 5 a.m.

Our junior high band is busy preparing for the district contest in Odessa on April 26.

Listen kids! There are just six more weeks of school, so really get down and work. If you are failing on any subject, you still have time to pull out and learn your subject by hard work.

All Rainbow girls are urged to attend the Easter Breakfast at 9 a.m. Sunday. It will be held in the Settles Ballroom.

Also the ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y girls, who are planning to attend the Father-Daughter Banquet are asked to get their money in to Freda Bonfield before Friday night.

Some of the couples seen at the Twirp Week Dance last Saturday were Pam Forbus, Tommy Rutledge, Cleo Thomas, Johnny Case, Fredda Bonfield, Ronnie Clanton, Jane Guin, Jerry Hewitt, Judy Foster, Buggs Wright, Mary Read, Bobby McAdams, Modesta Simpson, Buddy Barnes, Sallie Pachall, Ronnie Hubbard, Lillian Burnett, Sammy Waters, Deanna Harris, Tommy Whatley, Linda Grant, Jerry Dunlap, Judy Gillian, James Napper, Wanda Boatler, Mike Worley, Eileen Farquhar, Joe Don Musgrove, Karen McGibbon, Pete Harmonson, Brenda Cowper, Don White, Margaret Gary, Jerry Richbourg, Linda Sue Parker, Ricky Wisener, Beth Whitney, Danny Coats, Diane Baker, Jimmy Hinds, Dickie Dement, Bob Moore, Carla Sledge, Robbie Sanders, Winnie Greenlees, Bill Pate, Kathy Johnson and Johnny Porter.

LILLIAN BURNETT

Lillian Burnett is today's Freshman of the Week. Lillian is one of the most active band members in junior high. She is one of the majorettes and is also secretary-treasurer of the band. In the seventh, she was a runnerup as a representative on the student council, and was secretary of her home room in the eighth grade.

Lillian is active in Tri-Hi-Y, where she served as historian last year. She attends Rainbows regularly and is a member of the First Christian Church.

Oceans Could Hold Radioactive 'Ashes'

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
New Bedford Standard - Times
Written for the AP

The "ashes" of the atomic age — radioactive waste materials — which may remain "hot" and lethal for hundreds or thousands of years — will begin piling up soon.

Ocean scientists, well aware of the importance of their task and the rapidly approaching deadline demanding a solution, are working to find some safe place to dump the deadly discards.

A recent report of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Research Council concludes: "Unlike the disposal of any other type of waste, the hazard related to radioactive waste is so great that no element of doubt should be allowed to exist regarding safety.

"Stringent rules must be set up and a system of inspection and monitoring instituted. Safe disposal means that the waste shall not come in contact with any living thing."

In the United States, where there's plenty of land, there are probably disposal areas ashore sufficient to take care of the nation's atomic waste for 20 years. The Soviet Union likewise has huge land areas, and might use the Black Sea, which would probably be safe enough.

It is possible that other nations could cast their radioactive waste in concrete and dump it into the ocean; this is now being done in New England, where small quantities from Boston are being tossed into the Gulf of Maine each week.

However, atomic plants are expected to operate on so narrow a profit margin that this might prove too expensive. And then, the problem will multiply as more nuclear reactors are being built.

Recently, a group of prominent oceanographers gathered at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution to establish a long-range, international planning group in this field.

Greater knowledge is required of the rate and character of the exchange between the sea's deep and surface waters.

A radioactive agent called tritium—a form of hydrogen—is furnishing important preliminary clues.

In 1954, atomic tests in the Pacific introduced artificially into the earth's atmosphere an amount of tritium equal to the quantity present before. Most of it eventually entered the North Atlantic.

Now oceanographers are watching the tritium, using it as a tracer device to learn about the North Atlantic's movements, including the rate at which ocean currents can "smooth out" this lump of radioactive waste by carrying it deeper, or to other waters. By monitoring the tritium, they are discovering how rapid will be its introduction to the South Atlantic.

Ocean scientists must find out at what rate this material will mix with sea water. For example, if something happened to an atom-powered ship — sinking or collision, in peace or war — what would happen if the accident spewed atomic wastes into the shipping lanes?

How much of an area would have to be "roped off" and for how long would it remain dangerous? And what would happen to the food fish in the area?

Tritium, relatively harmless to man, is the guinea pig for the extremely dangerous strontium 90, an ingredient of H-bomb fallout. Sea waters at present have only a very low content of this latter, long-lived atomic product.

But if tritium helps ocean scientists to learn how the waters move, how fast they mingle, dilute, and transfer radioactive wastes, it means an important step forward in solving a crucial problem — and could save thousands, even millions, of lives someday.
