Von Braun Calls For Big Effort In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army missileman Werner von Braun called today for "vigorous action" to overcome as quickly as possible the obvious lead which the Russians now enjoy.

Von Braun, head of the scientific team which developed the Jupiter missile and America's first satellite-launching rocket was the lead-off witness as the House Space Committee opened hearings on what America should do about the vast regions beyond the earth's atmosphere.

Up for committee action is President Eisenhower's proposal to create a civilian agency to handle space matters. The agency would be formed around the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, which now does basic aeronautics research.

Eisenhower's proposal got off to a not-unfriendly start when Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), House majority leader and chairman of the special Space Committee, introduced the Eisenhower bill with the comment that it "is undoubtedly a step in the right direction."

Introducing similar measures were Republican Representatives Arendt (Ill.), the GOP whip; Keating (N.Y.); and Haskell (Del.).

Von Braun, a German-born scientist who worked on Hitler's V2 missiles until the Army brought him here after World War II, did not comment specifically on the Eisenhower plan in his prepared statement.

Von Braun made these points:

1. Although military missiles work is related to that done for satellites and space travel, the exploration of outer space is so vast an undertaking that it cannot be left as a by-product of another program.
2. "We can meet this challenge only if we appreciate and respect the magnitude of this task and discontinue our unfortunate practice of supporting only such research and development that serves immediate military objectives, he said.
3. The research needs ahead are so great that there is no fear of scientific teams not having enough to do. He said some team competition and overlapping may be helpful.
4. The Soviets have shown clearly that they recognize the importance of rocketry leading to space control. They also have shown an understanding of the relation between scientific and military programs in this field.

A Winner

Van Cliburn, 23, of Kilgore, Tex., won the Tchaikovsky international piano competition in Moscow. Cliburn won $6,250 as first prize and a short concert tour in the Soviet Union.

Texan Hasn't Yet Lost A Music Contest

DALLAS (AP)—Van Cliburn, the young Kilgore pianist who won Russia's international Tchaikovsky piano prize, was merely continuing his custom.

He has never lost a contest.

And music-conscious Dallas was in a position to say "I told you so." Milestones along his road to triumph in Moscow included three appearances here and the winning of the G. B. Dealey Award.

It was in Dallas that the East Texan made his first venture into the concert big time, with the Dallas Symphony Dec. 21, 1952.

Until the Dealey triumph, young Cliburn had only one teacher—his mother, who recalls that among his earliest words as a toddler were: "Mummy, I want my music lessons."

The Moscow contest music was all Russian material—the Tchaikovsky First Concerto, Rachmaninoff Third Concerto and a composition written expressly for the competition by Dmitri Kabalevsky.

"The victory of the young man from East Texas could be compared to that of a Russian lad who succeeded in persuading a panel of the most discriminating ears in America that his interpretation of George Gershwin had more style, tradition and technical know-how than the best that our own country had to offer, not to mention the competitors from other nations," said Dr. Jack Kilpatrick, music critic for the Dallas Times Herald.

Kilpatrick added that of all the young pianists in the field, Cliburn is "perhaps the most humble... and he is very possibly the best."

"The Texan's triumph in Moscow was a repetition of honors that began years ago at 12. At that time he won a statewide contest which resulted in his appearing with the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

In Kilgore, the Cliburn household became a telephone crossroads of the world yesterday.

H. L. Cliburn, an executive for an oil firm, said orchestra conductors and television show producers all over the country were bidding for appearances by his son, who must first complete a concert tour in Russia.

"We consider it a victory for the Christian world," Cliburn said.

Jury Puzzles Over Slaying Of Cripple By 7 Teen-Agers

NEW YORK (AP)—An all-male jury resumes deliberations today in the case of seven teen-age boys accused of slaying Michael Farmer, 15-year-old polio-crippled son of a city fireman.

Judge Irwin D. Davidson ordered the jurors locked up in a hotel overnight when they requested a recess shortly after midnight. They had had the case six hours and spent three of them in actual deliberations.

The threat of the electric chair was removed from five of the defendants. Completing a daylong charge, Davidson told the jury that only two of the defendants, who range in age from 15 to 19, could be convicted of first-degree murder. He left the way open for the jury to convict the two on a lesser charge, if any.

The most of the other five could be guilty of, he directed, was first-degree manslaughter.

A death sentence would be mandatory if the jury found Louis (Little Jesse) Alvarez, 17, and Charles (Big Man) Horton, 18, guilty of first-degree murder.

There was testimony during the 95-day trial—perhaps the longest and costliest murder trial in the city's history—that Alvarez, a Puerto Rican and president of the Egyptian Dragons, a youth gang, plunged a hunting knife into the Farmer youth's back.

And there was testimony that Horton, a Negro, slashed at Farmer with a machete. The 6-foot-2 Horton, who came here three years ago from Decatur, Ala., was the only defendant yesterday without a relative in the court room.

The five other defendants have been pictured in testimony as striking, stomping and using belts and a dog leash on Farmer, whose crippled legs prevented him from fleeing his fatal beating last July 30 in an upper Manhattan park.

Now facing a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison if convicted are Richard Hills, 17, and John McCarthy, 15, both white; Leroy (The Magician) Birch, 19, Negro; Leoncio (Jelly) Delson, 17, a native of the Dominican Republic; and George Melendez, 16, Puerto Rican.

The jury must decide each case separately. All the youths were members of the Egyptian Dragons.

Farmer and a companion, Roger McShane, 15, were ambushed as they headed for a swim in the park. Farmer was white, as is McShane. The state contended that neither belonged to a gang. There was testimony that the Egyptian Dragons "war party" mistook Farmer and McShane for members of the Jesters gang.

Farm Labor Conference Slated Here

Farm labor associations throughout West Texas are being invited to send representatives here Friday for a conference on farm labor problems, especially the contracting of Mexican national workers.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the conference and plans to have representatives on hand for a meeting of the National Labor Advisory Committee and the Mexican Labor Subcommittee in Washington April 24-25.

"We have advance information indicating that these committees will be given a lot of information which none of us like," said Loyan H. Walker, manager of the WTCC agriculture department. "But, with unemployment so high, we are faced with a serious problem."

The conference here is set for 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Walker said that the contracting of Mexican nationals has practically been stopped by the U. S. Department of Labor which claims there is a surplus of domestic labor.

"In a recent conference with Asst. Secretary of Labor Newell Brown, we were advised that the Labor Department will be very strict in approving certifications for braceros," said Walker. "All associations and users must unite and follow the same procedure or very serious trouble is in store for all."

Russia Accused Of 'Debauching' World Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today accused the Soviet Union of having debauched and prostituted international diplomacy and peace-making purposes.

Soviet propaganda use of letters exchanged with President Eisenhower, Dulles said, is destroying one of the frail reeds upon which peace rests.

He said the Kremlin is therefore endangering peace.

Dulles told a news conference U.S. British and French ambassadors might open presummit talks in Moscow Thursday—the date suggested by Russia. But he said he was not sure because a note replying to Russia's statement of terms for negotiation has not been completed.

In advance of his news conference, it was indicated the Western reply would go to Moscow today or tomorrow.

Dulles emphasized the U.S. and Western view that preliminary negotiations must give some evidence of hope that a summit session may lead to some agreement.

But he suggested the prior-summit negotiations might concentrate on the issues, such as disarmament.

Zimmerman Takes Police Chief Post

LAMESA — Morris Zimmerman, who today assumed duties as chief of police in Lamesa, submitted his written resignation as chief deputy sheriff of Dawson County to the commissioners court Monday morning. The commissioners accepted the resignation with regret and voted to terminate his salary as of April 30, allowing him earned vacation time.

Deputy Shorty Hancock, who became chief deputy, was raised from $350 monthly salary to $375. Deputy Roy Burdett was granted a $25 monthly raise to $325.

Tech TV Plea Okayed Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Communications Commission examiner recommended today for a second time that Texas Tech be authorized to build and operate a television station on commercial Channel 5 at Lubbock, Tex.

Examiner Millard French held there had been "no improper conduct" on the part of anyone in connection with financial aid to the college's proposed TV operation by two existing commercial TV outlets in Lubbock.

French said the two operating stations, KDBU-TV and KCBQ-TV, had "rendered advisory and financial assistance to the college over a period of years." He continued:

"There is no evidence in the record that there has been any collusion between the donors or that the offer of assistance was made in order to stifle competition from a third television station."

"There are no strings whatever attached to their agreement to donate funds to the college for its television station."

French made his first recommendation for a grant to Tech last October but the commission then ordered a further hearing on the college's financing plans.

Florida Deputies Meet Resistance In Racial Threat

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Three farm laborers and their wives are standing firm as the husbands accused sheriff's deputies of ordering the wives to leave the county.

Cecil Gutierrez said three officers came to his trailer Friday night asking if there were white women there and implying he is not white.

Gutierrez said he is of Mexican descent but is a resident of Texas and attended the University of Texas.

He said three men, one wearing a deputy's uniform, demanded that he open his trailer door. In response to their questions, Gutierrez said his wife is white and produced a marriage certificate.

The men then ordered his wife to leave Manatee County within 24 hours, Gutierrez said.

Lawrence Reyes, who is of Mexican descent, and Fortunato Bermudez, a Puerto Rican, said they had similar experience except Bermudez did not have to produce his marriage license.

The migrant workers are employed on general farms and chicken ranches at nearby Ellenton.

Crack Made At Red Air Record

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—An attempt to crack a Soviet-held aviation record was to be made today—starting on a dirt road in a field behind a dam.

Timers from the international timing group will be on hand when the red-and-yellow monoplane takes off for what may be a new endurance record.

The craft is a radio-controlled model plane with a 6-foot wing-span. Builder Ken Willard, 40, a mechanical engineer, will control it from the ground.

At stake is the Soviet record of 3 hours and 6 minutes.

Jr. High Attendance Line To Be Drawn

School trustees tonight will set attendance lines for Big Spring Junior High and the new Goliad Junior High School.

They also will install a new board member, choose board officers and organize for the next year.

Proposed plans for remodeling Big Spring Junior High will be discussed and approval will be asked for several change-orders on construction of Goliad Junior High which is scheduled to go into operation next fall.

In line with what he calls the national "get tough" trend in education, Supt. Floyd Parsons said he will recommend to trustees that high school graduation requirements be stiffened. He will ask that 20 credits be required for graduation, instead of the present 18 credits.

The school district's junior high student population probably will be divided approximately equally between the two junior high schools. A line will split the district into two areas for attendance purposes. Administrators will submit their recommendations for location of the dividing line.

The new trustee to take office tonight is Dr. Floyd Mays. He was elected April 5 to the post now held by Tom McAdams. John Dibrill, the other incumbent, was re-elected.

Trustees are to meet at 7 p.m. in the administrative building, 110 E. 10th St.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro's guerrillas staged hit and run raids in three Cuban provinces today in their war against President Fulgencio Batista.

Teamsters Boss' Conviction Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals by 2-1 vote today reversed the contempt of Congress conviction of Frank Brewster, Western boss of the Teamsters Union.

The majority took the view that the Senate investigations subcommittee before which Brewster refused to answer questions and produce records, was investigating in a field beyond its authority.

Brewster, 60, was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000—the maximum.

The sentence was imposed by U. S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica, who rejected Brewster's contention that he acted in good faith on the ground he honestly believed the subcommittee lacked jurisdiction to conduct an inquiry into the union's activities.

By a 2-1 vote, the appellate court also reversed the contempt of Congress conviction of Nugent Lapoma, secretary-treasurer of Seattle Local 174 of the Teamsters.

The next move is up to the government. It may ask rehearing by the full appellate court, which has nine judges, or it may appeal to the Supreme Court. Its other choice is to forget all about it. No decision will be made until the opinion has been studied and a recommendation made to the solicitor general as to his future course.

Lapoma received a three-month suspended jail sentence and was fined $1,000. U. S. Dist. Judge Henry A. Schweinhart said he felt Lapoma acted in good faith, but was wrong in refusing to testify before the subcommittee.

After jurisdiction of the subcommittee had been challenged, the Senate set up a special rackets investigating committee. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee, became chairman of the special committee which was given sweeping power to investigate misdeeds of labor and management.

'OUT OF THE AIR' Truman Denies 'Times' Interview

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Truman now says an interview, which he agreed was authorized at the time it was published eight years ago, didn't happen.

The matter came up as Truman appeared before the House Banking Committee in its study of the nation's economy. Taking the view that the business and employment slump requires strong measures fast, Truman called for a tax cut and job-creating spending programs.

Rep. Talle (R-Iowa) produced a copy of the February 1950 interview by Arthur Krock of the New York Times. It quoted Truman, then president, as saying a certain amount of unemployment—say three to five million—is supportable. The article went on to relate that Truman said it is a good thing that job seeking should go on at all times because it is healthy for the economic body.

"May I say that exclusive interview didn't happen? It came out of the air," Truman cut in.

Talle's point was what he pictured as a similarity between the situations now and at the time of the article when unemployment had risen to the highest level in nine years. He wanted to know why Truman takes a different position now.

Talle didn't get a direct answer. Later, Truman told Rep. Widnall (R-N.J.) he has always been consistent in his public statements.

"You can garble it all 'ou please," Truman said. "It doesn't hurt me any."

Krock, asked for comment on Truman's remarks, said in a statement that Truman himself proposed the interview and that before publication he submitted the resulting article to Truman through his press secretary, the late Charles G. Ross.

"It was returned to me approved with a few changes in pencil but none in the passage about unemployment," Krock added.

The writer then quoted this exchange from Truman's news conference Feb. 16, 1950:

"A reporter—Was the interview authorized in that form?"

"The President—it was."

Newsman at that meeting questioned Truman sharply about the interview, raising the issue of favoritism. Truman answered sharply that he was a free agent and would not be censored.

In Krock's column in the Times this morning, he said Truman will be distinguished for momentous decisions, boldly and promptly made, that helped win the greatest war of the nation and stayed Europe against spread of Communist rule.

"But on the smaller stage," Krock wrote, "he has played a minor and unfortunate role as an active repudiator of established facts concerning him."

After reciting the circumstances of the interview and now Truman's denial, Krock wrote that the "most tolerant conclusion of this incident is that a memory, extraordinary in its retention of events in remote history, fails Mr. Truman when the event is part of his own recent experience."

"The conclusion is tolerant indeed of a disclaimer that imputes fakery of an interview with a president of the United States, deception of his newspaper and the reading public by the writer of the interview, and a gross fraud committed on the advisory board on Pulitzer prizes."

The interview had been submitted for a Pulitzer prize but Krock asked that it be passed because he was on the Pulitzer board.

Texas Weather Remains Civil

By The Associated Press

The Texas weather, which kicked up quite a fuss over the weekend, was all sweetness and light Tuesday with nary an April shower.

A little fog at Brownsville marred the otherwise clear skies. Fair and mild weather was forecast for all of Texas.

Light rains fell at Beaumont and Victoria Monday afternoon, but all skies cleared by nightfall. High winds and torrential rains hit much of the state Sunday night and a small tornado damaged the Old Homer community, southeast of Lufkin Monday.

Highs Monday varied from 62 at Sherman to 80 at Presidio.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 34 at Junction to 56 at Corpus Christi and Laredo.

In 24 hours ending early Monday, rainfall measurements included Palacios 1.04 inches, Beaumont .88, Houston .85, Galveston .65, Corpus Christi .23, Victoria .22, Kingsville .12, Austin .07, Sherman .02 and Brownsville and Cotulla .01.

Chemical Test For Cancer Seen

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA — A fatty substance isolated from human cancer cells possibly may help in developing a test to determine if a person is immune from cancer. Such a test is not yet in sight. Dr. Maurice M. Rapport of the Sloan-Kettering Institute of New York told the 49th annual meeting of the American Society of Biological Chemists, but the fatty substance called cytollipin may be the key to its discovery.

The society is one of six national organizations making up the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, which are meeting in week-long session at Convention Hall.

All told, some 7,000 of the nation's top medical researchers will hear 2,196 scientific papers on such topics as cancer, heart disease, tranquilizing drugs, and vitamins.

Dr. Rapport, together with three other Sloan-Kettering scientists, reported that the specific problem today is finding "antibodies against cancer cells that would be useful in cancer diagnosis. Antibodies are the substances manufactured by the body as a defense against foreign matter.

Dr. L. B. Pett of Ottawa, chief of the nutrition division of the Canadian National Health and Welfare Department, told the American Institute of Nutrition it is incorrect to assume that Eskimos have extra fat on their bodies to protect them against the arctic cold. He made the statement in connection with studies of blood samples of Canadian Eskimos last summer.

Three University of Wisconsin scientists told the American Society of Biological Chemists they have uncovered new information on how cells are formed through experiments on rats.

Drs. Christoph Scholtissek, John H. Schneider and Van R. Potter disclosed how cell nuclei from one rat were added to cells of other rats to trace the movement of acids. Additionally, they reported that mixing radioactive nuclei from injected rats with nonradioactive cell substances from untreated rats gave researchers a method of observing the movement of the radioactive material.

There were hundreds and hundreds of other reports, all telling about tests and experiments leading to more knowledge about the chemistry of the human body, how it becomes diseased and how some drugs can cure the ills.

Rule Suicide In Doolittle Death

AUSTIN, Tex. — Maj. James H. Doolittle Jr., whose famous father led the nation's first air strike on Japan's mainland in World War II, committed suicide, an investigation report shows. "I wrote on the death certificate that it was suicide," said Justice of the Peace J. H. Watson. "It was not homicide or accidental."

Doolittle, 38, was found dead last Wednesday in his office at Bergstrom Air Force Base near here. He had been shot in the right temple with a .38 caliber revolver found on the floor by his body.

L. Gen. Doolittle returned here from a government mission in Puerto Rico, but like others in the major's family said he knew no reason for his death.

Doolittle was commander of the 534th Fighter-Bomber Squadron and piloted a supersonic Jet F101A Voodoo.

Memorial services were held at the base chapel last Friday and his body will be cremated in San Antonio, Tex. Final burial services will be held later in St. Louis, the home of the widow. Watson said his verdict was based on his own investigation and that of Air Force authorities.

Studio To Cash In On Lana, Steps Up Film's Release Date

HOLLYWOOD — Lana Turner's new movie, its release pushed up to ride with the headlines.

Son To Help Spend Prize

PRESTWICK, Scotland — Harry Riley of Canton, Ohio, flew in from the United States with his wife and two sons today to help spend his parents' $885,421 prize.

Riley's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riley of Horden, won the money two weeks ago for a two-penny bet on a series of soccer games. The tax-free sum was the largest prize ever given in the British football (soccer) pools. The first thing the elder Rileys did was to invite their son to come home for an expense-paid vacation. Harry migrated to the United States 12 years ago and is a dairy supervisor in Canton.

The elder Rileys met Harry and his family at the Prestwick airport with two new cars and half a dozen relatives from Horden, their little country town. Harry, 37, and his wife Florence were accompanied by Frank, 10, and Richard, 7. They had to leave behind 18-year-old Tommy, who has been paralyzed by polio from the waist down since 1945. The last time Tommy flew one of his lungs collapsed and doctors wouldn't let him make this trip. "We're going to have a great time and we won't spare expenses," Thomas Riley said. "Then when they've made the rounds in England my wife and I are going to fly back with them and have a three-month visit with Tommy and the rest."

Pakistan Maps Birth Control

KARACHI — With too many mouths to feed, Pakistan is stepping up a program of birth control.

This year's national budget allotted 500,000 rupees ($105,000) to birth control, far more than previous years. Pakistan has a population of about 80 million, which will increase about 1,200,000 this year. The country produces less than half the food grains it needs and must import food, using either its own money or extensive foreign aid.

The government is setting up a National Council on Family Planning. The main attack on the population problem will be through publicity and education, but clinics also will give free contraceptives.

The government also is attacking the food problem. "Agricultural production, instead of keeping pace with the increase in population, has in recent years been lagging behind," Finance Minister Amjad Ali told Parliament.

Pakistan has been forced to import food grains in 7 of the 10 years of its existence. The country spent almost 95 million dollars in foreign exchange during the last three years. Foreign aid—provided from the United States—totalled 136 million dollars of food grains during this period.

Pakistan's five-year plan calls for irrigating 1 1/2 million new acres of land by 1960.

Pleasant Weather Indicated In U.S.

By The Associated Press
Rain fell in the Far Northeast today but pleasant spring weather was indicated in other parts of the country.

It looked like clear skies and warming temperatures for the opening of the major league baseball season in eight cities.

The major wet belt yesterday was in the lower and mid Mississippi valleys and eastward into the southeast and south Atlantic states. The rains were expected to spread through the south and mid Atlantic coasts this afternoon and northward into the upper Ohio Valley.

Heaviest rainfall yesterday was in Louisiana, with more than 3 inches at Lafayette and more than 2 inches at Burwood. Heavy falls were reported last night at Memphis, Tenn., and Pensacola, Fla.

shows the blonde actress in near-suicidal grief over the death of an illicit lover.

The movie, "Another Time, Another Place," was originally scheduled for September release but Paramount Pictures now plans to release it May 1.

"The picture is a gamble both for us and Lana," said a Paramount executive who didn't want his name used. "It could well decide what effect Lana's current troubles will have on her career."

The movie was made by Lana's own company, Lanturn Productions, for Paramount release. Most Hollywood sources believe that the sensational headlines about the slaying of Lana's underworld boy friend Johnny Stompanato will boost her box office value. Lana's daughter Cheryl Crane, 14, told police she stabbed Stompanato April 4 to protect her mother from harm at his hands.

The picture was previewed last night for a few members of the press. It was made in England. Stompanato was there part of the time during the filming. Lana last Friday told a coroner's inquest that the onetime henchman of ex-gambler Mickey Cohen choked her and held a razor blade to her face during an argument in a London hotel room.

The stabbing of Stompanato was ruled justifiable homicide by the coroner's jury. Cheryl still faces a Juvenile Court hearing.

In a new development, Beverly Hills police turned up some bank books of the dead man and with them another mystery.

One of the books was made out to Mrs. Rosemary Trimble, the beautiful blonde wife of a West Los Angeles physician. It showed a balance of $2,500. A wedding ring, inscribed: "From here to eternity—Rosemary and John" also was found.

Mrs. Trimble, married to the same man for 15 years, said she knew Stompanato but had no idea how her name happened to be among his effects.

In Woodstock, Ill., Stompanato's brother Carmine refused to deny published reports quoting Cohen as saying that Carmine would file a $399,999 damage suit against the actress. But he also said no decision had been made about filing the suit.

Red Sub Activity Off U.S. Increases

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Rep. Carl Durham (D-N.C.) says Soviet submarine activity off U.S. coasts has increased recently and that 184 sightings were made off the U.S. Atlantic coast alone in 1957.

His statement last night at Greensboro College was the first to specify the number of sightings, though detections had been made for some time.

The chairman of the Joint House Senate Atomic Energy Committee said some of the Soviet craft were as close as seven miles offshore.

The Soviets apparently were tracking ships and observing the U.S. guided missile range from Florida into the South Atlantic, Durham said.

She's Americanized

Patricia Cutis likes America and tells why. This attractive English girl is soon to be seen in MGM's "Merry Andrew."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

British Lass Has Own Astringent For Skin

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Two years ago Patricia Cutis came from England to the United States for a visit and liked it so much she never went back. When I met her on the "Merry Andrew" set at MGM, I asked why she liked America so much.

"I like your vitality, warmth and your lack of small mindedness. And I admire the long-legged American girl with her slim figure," Patricia replied.

"In London we are much more hippy. I'm dieting now," she announced with a smile. "Cottage cheese and fruit, you know. It's jolly good."

"How much have you lost?" I asked.

"Ten pounds," Patricia said. "The screen adds that much to your appearance." I recently came across Adele Davis' "Let's Eat Right and Feel Fit" and fell under its spell. After reading her book I went out to find an apartment with a kitchen where I could prepare my own meals—or at least some of them. I didn't have a real kitchen before.

"I do believe in being vitamin conscious because I really feel better when I eat well balanced meals."

While we were talking, the wardrobe mistress brought Patricia's next change.

"It's too bad you can't see what lovely skin Patricia has under her make-up," she said. "She never wears make-up when she's not before the cameras."

"Do you have any beauty secrets?" I asked, turning to Patricia.

"I have one," she revealed. "It is an astringent which I make myself. Put a half cup of salt in quart of water and boil it until it is really briny. Then you add a few drops of spirits of camphor and a little rose water for scent and it's jolly good for the skin. I use it each time after I wash my face."

We talked of the many beautiful girls in Hollywood and how they

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

If the ground hadn't been so deliciously damp and the grass was a little thicker and the air just a little warmer, Monday would have been a delightful day to lie in the sun and look straight up and do absolutely nothing. When we have those sandy, windy days that seem to serve no purpose other than to rattle our dispositions, we are a little prone to forget how beautiful the spring days can be in West Texas.

Few couples live to enjoy their 58th wedding anniversary, but to have a brother and his wife join them to celebrate their 58th anniversary, also, is really an occasion. Such was the case this past weekend when MR. AND MRS. G. L. COUCH and her brother and his wife, the REV. AND MRS. D. A. ROSS of Lubbock, were together at the Couch home for the weekend.

The two couples planned nothing special other than to be together. They were guests of MR. AND MRS. OTTO COUCH for lunch on Saturday, and on Sunday they were in Luther where they joined the JOHN COUCHES for a family dinner. Both men are sons of the G. J. Couches.

Weekend guests of MR. AND MRS. ROY WORLEY were MR. AND MRS. BILL BREWER of Houston and MR. AND MRS. D. E. NICHOLSON of Corpus Christi. Both couples returned home Sunday. En route home, they were dinner guests of Mrs. Worley's parents in Ballinger.

MRS. A. Z. OWENS of Fort Worth is the guest of her grandson and his family, MR. AND MRS. JOE MATTHEWS. She plans to be here through the week.

MRS. EDGAR STRINGFELLOW and MRS. ALVA PORCH have returned from Houston where they visited their niece, MRS. HOWARD ENGLE, Mrs. Engle, the former Frances Malone, an ex-Big Spring, recently underwent surgery in St. Luke Hospital. She is strive to attract the opposite sex. "The older I get," Patricia confessed. "The less I think being pretty matters. Many times at parties I have seen a plain but animated girl with all the men grouped around her while some conventional beauty, who is conceded about her good looks, was sitting alone. Great ladies in history are examples of this. Have you ever seen a portrait of the Marquise de Pompadour? She was no great beauty, but she was so witty and intelligent that her face didn't matter. And look at the popular reputation she still has today," Patricia concluded.

EAT AND REDUCE DIET
The secret of this diet depends on it being faithfully followed. But the "magic" is stoppable because this is not a starvation plan. You will be able to satisfy your hunger at each meal and still lose weight. REBEKAHS TO ENTERTAIN STATE HEAD
Rebekahs will gather Wednesday morning from 9 to 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Leon Cole for a coffee honoring Mrs. Sidney Ragsdale of Coleman, state president of the group.

Assisting Mrs. Cole will be Mrs. W. C. Cole, Mrs. H. F. Jarrett and Mrs. C. L. Lumpkins.

Tonight at 8:30, a banquet will be held at the Settles Hotel with the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge as hostesses and the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge assisting.

Following the dinner, a meeting will be held at Carpenters Hall. Expected are members from the lodges of surrounding towns.

Magic Of Paris Cues Forsan School Banquet

FORSAN—The illusion of an evening in Paris was created for the Junior and Senior Classes at Forsan High School Saturday night.

The occasion was the two-class banquet, an annual event, which the juniors and their sponsors, Mrs. H. K. Elrod and James Blake, staged.

French flags flew over simulated red-brick walls along a cobblestone street, which was traveled by Helen Jo Holladay, Susan Elrod and Bobby Huestis. A 15-foot Eiffel Tower overlooked colorful art exhibits where two artists, Mrs. Ruby Peacock and Mrs. Estelle Howard, were busy at their easels.

Throughout the evening they sketched the guests, and Mrs. Peacock presented to the school an oil painting of a Paris street scene commemorating the occasion. Miniature Eiffel Towers were featured as nut cups and fronted programs.

Guests were seated in the Paris sidewalk cafe under awnings of red and white stripes. Tablecloths were red-checked.

James Blake worded the invocation and George White welcomed the group. Response was by Joe Fields. Terry Harkrider and William Conger teamed for a skit. The class history, prophecy and Senior will were read by Loy Pike, Gaye Huestis, Ginny Scudday and

Won't Quit Ocean Liner

Mrs. Rosemarie Tytheleigh, 31, holds her children, Guy, 5, left, and Dawn, 3, aboard the British liner Himalaya after the ship docked in San Francisco. Mrs. Tytheleigh boarded the ship at Vancouver, B.C., without a ticket and refused to get off, saying "I'm going to Honolulu." A spokesman for the ship said she later had been wired money for payment on a ticket.

New Pain Killer Under Lab Tests

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A drug 80 times stronger than morphine in pain-killing ability has been produced in the laboratory and is being tested on humans and animals.

It offers chemists an opening to develop a new line of better as well as stronger pain killers, says Bill Elpern, drug researcher at Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif. Elpern described the product today before the American Chemical Society.

Basically the drug is an alkaloid called piperidine, but it has to go through several chemical changes. Elpern made several kinds for testing.

The strongest of these was not only 100 times the strength of morphine but 785 times as potent as meperidine or demerol, one of the most widely used synthetic pain killers, Elpern said.

However, it was also about 10 times as poisonous as demerol and slightly more poisonous than morphine.

But since its effectiveness as a pain killer increases much faster than its toxicity, it could become the foundation of a new group of agents against pain, the researcher said.

A group of scientists from Los Alamos, N.M., cradle of the atom bomb, told how the contamination of growing plants from radioactive fallout might be reduced. This report was presented to the meeting by Dr. Eric B. Fowler, who headed the test project.

The addition of lime to calcium-deficient soil sharply reduces the amount of strontium-90 in plants such as alfalfa and lettuce. These two crop varieties and grass were used because they represent crops eaten by humans and animals.

Strontium-90 taken into the body as food settles mainly in the bones, where it can cause tumors and otherwise destroy tissues by the kind of radiation it gives off.

Chemically, calcium and strontium are much alike. When soil in which plants are growing is deficient in calcium the plants will pick up any strontium they can reach because it is their best substitute for calcium.

Demos Believe Ike Mistaken In Holding Tax, Spending Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate Democrats said today the Eisenhower administration appears to be tightening its lines against tax cuts and further spending despite continuing unemployment.

Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Monroney (D-Okla.) criticized in separate interviews what they called increased administration resistance against efforts of Congress to pass legislation aimed at creating jobs.

On the other hand, Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) said more "crackpot schemes" for federal spending had been submitted to this session of Congress than any other he could remember.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said in a radio broadcast he is opposed to all this "pent-up, frantic effort to spend ourselves into prosperity," adding that it can't be done.

The differing views were expressed as the Federal Reserve Board reported the seventh successive monthly drop in its index of industrial production. The figure for March, down two points to 128, was the lowest since the 1954 recession. A three-point drop was recorded for February.

The index measures the volume of output of the nation's factories and mines, with 100 indicating the 1947-49 average. At 128 per cent of that figure, the March index compared with 145 a year ago and a peak of 147 in December 1956. The 1954 low was 123 in August of that year.

Along with decreased production, the board reported March drops in employment, incomes and retail sales and an increase in unemployment.

Among other things, the report said construction activity remained at a high level while private housing starts, adjusted for seasonal variations, remained about the same as February for an annual rate of less than 900,000 units.

Bridges said he believes the tide is against a tax cut such as former President Truman proposed in an appearance before the House Banking Committee.

However, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) renewed his appeal for a tax reduction. Douglas said the administration is "playing Russian roulette with the security of the American people" by delaying action in this field.

Humphrey said that apparently

President Eisenhower is "continuing to underestimate the extent of the business recession just as the administration underestimated the effect of the Russian Sputniks."

Monroney noted administration witnesses had opposed a 512 million dollar federal aid bill for airport improvements which he is sponsoring and said he believes the White House is taking the wrong tack.

"What the country needs is confidence," he said. "We ought to pass these anti-recession bills and have them ready to use if conditions worsen. If employment picks up, the President can order some of the money impounded. He has done it in the past."

In a separate report, the Labor Department said nonfarm housing starts during March showed a seasonal increase to 79,000 compared with February's low figure of 65,000. The March total was 9 per cent under that of a year ago.

The report said adverse weather conditions in parts of February and March delayed the start of construction in many parts of the country, but privately owned dwelling units started during the first three months totaled 199,300 compared with 202,500 in the first quarter of 1957.

Sharp increases during March in applications for FHA and VA loan insurance and guarantees, the report said, indicate an increase in home building during future months.

Fugitive Asks Board's Help

AUSTIN (AP) — William Hutto, returned to Huntsville after being a fugitive for 32 years, has written the Pardons Board seeking help in winning back his freedom.

Hutto, 58, a New Orleans used car salesman, left the prison on a furlough in 1926 and never came back. March 11 he was stopped on a minor traffic violation in Lyford and a check of his driver's license showed he had been wanted by Huntsville authorities.

Chairman Jack Ross said Hutto's letter was the first official communication from him. He said no one had asked for a hearing although attorneys from New Orleans and New York reportedly were preparing to ask for a hearing to free him.

Hutto, who contends he thought he had been paroled on an assault conviction, said he had lived an exemplary life in New Orleans for the 32 years.

Hopes Weather Will Co-Operate

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Capt. Howard T. Orville, USN, Ret., chairman of President Eisenhower's Advisory Committee on Weather Control, is going to try again—and he hopes the weather will go along this time.

He was scheduled to speak on weather at the University of Michigan March 21 but a blizzard kept him snowbound in Washington.

The University said he will try again April 25, when more spring-like weather is expected.

Surplus Center Plans For Open House Thursday

The Surplus Center is observing open house in connection with the moving of the business to its new location at 503 Lamesa Highway.

The center has more functional floor space than at its previous location at 1006 Lamesa Highway and its merchandise supply and range has been increased.

In charge of the store is Mrs. Loretta Landherr, who came here little less than a year ago to assume management of the Big Spring outlet. Head of the firm, Joe Fine, will come here from San Angelo, where he launched his operation some four years ago. Since then he has added a store at Lubbock and then at Big Spring.

Store hours for the Surplus Center will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Assisting Mrs. Landherr will be Margaret Ragsdale, cashier, and Richard Rodriguez.

A Bible Thought For Today

But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. (John 4:23)

We Have Cause For Thanksgiving

If ever an area has cause for thanksgiving, it is ours. Winter rains have brought us so much farther along the road to recovery from the drought that none would have dared dream of last year. Although moisture and an early freeze worked considerable harm to last year's cotton and feed crops, they helped put some reserve moisture into the ground. Looking back, we can appreciate the wisdom of the axiom that droughts are broken in the fall and winter. Since the first of the year we have had six inches of moisture, and almost every drop of it has been of a nature to do good. We have, until this point, had comparatively few wind storms to suck out the moisture content. Consequently, each successive shower not only kept the winter grass and weed crop coming on, but they increased penetration and the sub-soil moisture. The wonderful rain of the past weekend restored all that we had lost to wind—and more. Right now good planting moisture is virtually a certainty. What is even better is the prospect of "water in the bank" to carry crops later in the summer when the hot weather comes. Of course, this far in advance no one can predict that we will make a bumper crop, but with any sort of break from the weather from May to August, we certainly should do well. Meantime, we ought to be thankful to a kindly Providence that has taken care of us so generously.

Confidence In Growing America

A nationwide campaign attuned to the theme of "Confidence in a Growing America" was launched last Friday by the Advertising Council, which has the cooperation of practically every group concerned with advertising in any form, including magazines, daily newspapers, broadcasters, out-door advertising, and every phase of the business—the creators of advertising, the buyers and sellers of advertising, and so on. The campaign will last for four months, and it will have the benefit of experiences gained in 1954 when the Advertising Council put on a similar campaign with widespread repercussions. Why have confidence in America's future? Well, the campaign will stress seven main points, including: There are more people in the country, which has doubled its population in 50 years. Though employment in some areas has fallen off, there are 15 million more jobs than in 1939—and there will be 22 million more in 1975 than today. Family income after taxes is at an all-time high of $5,300, and is expected to reach $7,000 by 1975. Our production doubles every 20 years. We will require millions more people to make, sell and distribute our products. Available spending power — available right now—includes $300 billion in savings, a record amount. Ten billion dollars spent each year in research will pay off in more jobs, better living, whole new industries. (And more jobs will mean more consumers, more buying power, an even greater cushion of savings.) The nation needs $500 billion worth of schools, highways, homes, durable equipment. Meeting these needs will mean more opportunities for everyone. Says Charles G. Mortimer, president of General Foods Corp., co-chairman of the Council's Industries Advisory Committee: "I do not think it is an exaggeration to say that recession begins and ends in the minds of men. . . . The longer the recession goes on the greater the danger that recession fever will spread. This is the reason that I am enthusiastic about the Advertising Council's campaign to maintain public confidence by pointing out the facts of a growing America." All the energies, ingenuity, resources and facilities of the advertising world—makers, buyers and sellers—will go into this four-month campaign on a volunteer basis, and it should prove a winner.

David Lawrence The Need For Wage-Price Control

WASHINGTON—The real solution for America's economic difficulties is not to be found in tax cuts or in increased public spending but in wage and price control. It takes courage for Congress to reimpose wage and price control in America. Yet almost everybody here privately agrees a sound growth cannot be fostered without some way to keep wages and prices down. Wage and price control of the voluntary kind has been proposed again and again inside and outside Congress—by the President, influential legislators and economists. But always it's self-discipline that is urged. Nobody really dares to go to the point where governmental action is openly recommended. This, however, now has become absolutely imperative if America is to be saved from a deep depression within the next three years. For wartime conditions still exist on the economic front. The "cold war" is worldwide. America is spending 40 billion dollars a year for armament, and there is no sign of a let-up. A few days ago the best exposition of what's wrong with the national economy was given by Bernard M. Baruch, America's elder statesman, in testimony before the Senate Finance Committee. He deplored the evils of unrestrained price-wage spirals. He recommended a self-imposed restriction on wages and prices for one year by labor and management. He added: "Nothing would be more effective in turning the tide than to halt the never-ending spiral of wages and prices. The best stimulant to our economy would come from price reductions. . . . If industry and labor continue to push up wage, price and profit levels, they will price themselves out of the market. Consumer resistance will grow, further depressing economic activity and adding to unemployment. . . . We must halt the wild, unemery chase of prices, wages and profits. . . . If they (labor and industrial leaders) will not adjust voluntarily and in time to the law of supply and demand, the adjustment eventually forced on them will be much more painful." Baruch looks back on the failure to impose wage and price control soon enough when World War II broke out—as he urged at the time—and he might point also to the slow-moving operation on wage and price control in connection with the Korean War. Today the dollar is worth about half its 1939 value, primarily because inflationary trends were not curbed in time. What's coming is plain to see—a spurt or recovery from the present recession will be under way during the latter part of 1958 and through the year 1959. This will concurrently encourage labor to demand another round of wage increases. These will be extorted by strike threats and through "escalator" clauses already included in labor-union contracts. Because employers are unable to stand costly strikes, they have to yield to almost any extortion. Once the so-called "recovery" from the present "recession" is accomplished through the measures of "pump priming" that Congress now is pressing, the end result will be a violent inflation—buyers' strike on prices and then a real depression which will indeed be of the "hair curling" kind. It's the coming spiral that represents the biggest economic danger to the United States since the 1930's. The number of unemployed today is a fraction of what a deep depression would bring in the event of another wave of inflation that breaks down the national economy. The course open to the President is clear. He can propose a tax reduction of a gradual nature, spread over the next five years, but with a demand that government expenses also be reduced so as to keep the deficit at a minimum. Congress, however, is not yet ready to accept this and will demand as an alternative a tax cut now and more spending, too. If so, the President should be ready to insist on coupling a tax cut with the enactment of a law providing a standby mechanism of wage and price control that could be imposed promptly to avoid inflation. Otherwise, the President would be justified in vetoing any bill to cut taxes. (Copyright, 1958, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

James Marlow New Respect For The Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gabriel Hauge, the President's special assistant on economic problems, is such an expert on qualifying practically everything he says that he makes a diplomat's speech on foreign affairs look like simple ABC. He made a speech himself last night. It was heavily qualified. And it was full of the usual and obvious criticism of Soviet communism and its handling of economic dilemmas. But through it all shone a healthy respect for the progress the Soviets have made and an awareness that more can be expected and that Soviet communism itself may be undergoing changes. Ironically, this is pretty much the picture the Soviets themselves are trying to present to the world. Premier Khrushchev is working hard at it. And Hauge showed respect for the realism and down-to-earthness of Khrushchev. Since Hauge is close to the President—and his speech was put out beforehand by the White House—it can be taken for granted Eisenhower is aware of, and concerned about, the new flexibility and drive of the Soviets. Not long ago it was customary to look upon the Soviets as backward oafs. Not any more. They provided—with their de-

Cheerleaders Wanted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University is asking all its cheerleaders—past and present—to report for some throat tests. Dr. Louis H. They say the nodules can be caused by shouting or screaming and they think cheerleading may be a major cause.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—A $50,000 mustache came through an airplane crash undamaged. George Perricano, 40, San Diego restaurant chain owner who has insured the handlebar mustache for that amount was one of 18 passengers on the plane. He escaped any injury.

Hal Boyle Champion At The Table

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail. That boxer John L. Sullivan was a champ at the table as well as the ring. He could consume 15 pounds of meat at a sitting. That, speaking of meat, your own lifetime quota of animal protein makes quite a herd: 33 hogs, 10 lambs, eight steers and four calves. That Burl Ives, who collects Irish sayings, likes this one: "A man needs a woman to take care of him so that she can make him strong enough for her to lean on." That science has subdued the "black death." In 1957 only 514 cases were recorded of the bubonic plague that once scourged the world. That if you are 40 years old now the chances are 13 out of 18 that you will live to be 65. But only one in 13 that you'll be financially independent. That the Chinese believe playing cards were invented in the year 1120 by their emperor, Leun-ho, as a diversion for his wives. A Hindu legend holds they were invented by a maharajah's wife to cure her husband of pulling his beard. That it was Benjamin Franklin who observed, "The way to be safe is never to be secure."

Around The Rim To Shoot Or Not To Shoot

I'll always wonder about my abilities as a photographer for a national publication. John Zimmerman, a photographer for Sports Illustrated, needed some help for filming the recent ABC Relays "race of the century" about two weeks ago, so I volunteered thinking it might be worth a little cash. Came the day of the meet, Zimmerman sailed in with the 55-mile-an-hour wind and said he was glad to see the help. As I had understood it, he needed some "bodies" to stand at each 20 yards along the 100-yard dash lane and shoot the runners as they came by. Sounded easy since they wouldn't be moving as fast as the wind was. He wanted his help to report about 1 1/2 hours before the race to be briefed. But I got there late and at first thought I wouldn't be needed. Then Zimmerman came and said he had all the men spotted on the field but he needed more help on top of the press box. This was not exactly what I had desired, but I accepted. Zimmerman got us on top of the press box and explained that two other men (both local professional photographers) and myself would record the race with sequence cameras from that level and he would get the finish. Now a sequence camera is equipped with an automatic-repeater instrument; it can take still pictures automatically while holding the shutter button or it will snap stills as fast as you can snap the shutter button with your finger. These were to be 35 mm shots using lenses about as long as your arm—not a midget's either. The two professionals drew assignments of working the automatic camera cameras while I was to try to snap the shutter as fast as I could on the last third of the race. The other two would get six pictures each while I was to try to shoot as many as I could. While the high school and junior college dashmen ran their races, the three of us "played like" and practiced following the runners down the lanes. This ain't as easy as it sounds, either, especially with a heavy camera on a swivel and a heavier wind blowing you off balance. Then that cotton-pickin' race started. When they hit my pickup point, I started shooting—or snapping the shutter—as fast as I could and still keep the camera pointed toward the runners. I knew that the big boy from Duke, Dave Sime, won, but that is about all I can tell you about the race. I imagined I had shot about 10 pictures, but Zimmerman said I had hit that shutter 18 times in about 40 yards. I felt like an old pro and could see those pictures coming out in a national magazine. I could also see a little spending money on the side, but that was obliterated when he thanked us and said that was all he needed. I still had the pride of knowing that my shots would come out in a magazine, which would mean I was a photographer for a national publication. That thought was also dispelled Friday when Sports Illustrated hit the local newsstands and only one picture was in it—and that of the finish by Zimmerman. At least that is who got the credit line. Now what is bothering me: did we three jokers not get any pictures or did the magazine not use them? Like I said, I'll always wonder about my ability to use a sequence camera. —DON HENRY

David Niven Goes Around World Again

Phileas Fogg, nee David Niven, is about to go round the world in slow time. Not in 80, not in 100, not in 120 but in 160 days, twice the Fogg record. Like unto the bird that flies backward to see where it's been, Phileas Niven is going back to take a long look at those places he supposedly explored in "Around the World in 80 Days." "And when I see the Alps, I'll be thinking of Mike Todd—dear Mike, who had to fight me tooth and claw to get me to agree to the most popular scene in 'Around the World,'" said Niven, always the clipped Britisher with clipped accents, as we polished off a gallon of tea in the King Cole Bar of New York's St. Regis Hotel while the bartender sulked. "Remember the scene where Cantinflas and I are flying over the Alps in the balloon, and he reaches out and gets an armful of snow to chill the champagne?" "Brilliant showman that I am, I balked at the scene. I told Mike it was pure corn. Ham. Worse. It finally got to the point where Mike put it on the 'Please, do it just for me' basis. On that basis I went along. It's the one scene in the picture that no one ever forgets. There's a lesson in this for me!" "As it is, I'm not sure whether I'm terribly brave or just terribly stupid, careerwise, to take a six-month vacation. When I get back, I'll probably be playing butlers to pay for the splurge. But this is a vacation my wife and our two boys have been planning for a long time. "Tordis and I will fly first to the Orient and the boys will meet us in Europe when their school is out and before we go to Russia. I mentioned the fact no one ever hears of the Niven boys, David Jr., 15, and James, 12, and asked if romantic male leads no less than glamour actresses find it advantageous to conceal such hostages to fortune. "No, we've just tried to preserve the boys from the limelight," Niven said. "I'll admit that it used to be charming when friends referred to David Jr. and myself as 'Little David' and 'Big David.' I'm not so sure I'm charmed now when they refer to us as 'Young David' and 'Old David.'" "I've done my best to protect the boys from their father. Lana Turner, lower right, and her attorney, Jerry Giesler, are surrounded by dozens of newsmen as they sit at the counsel table at a Los Angeles coroner's inquest into the death of her boy friend, Johnny Stompanato. The actress' 14-year-old daughter was taken into custody after Stompanato was stabbed to death. Justifiable homicide was ruled.

Republicans Romp On Truman Prescriptions As 'Politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans today jumped on Harry S. Truman's economic prescriptions as "a political gimmick," and contended that if Congress followed his advice the country would go broke.

But the former President's two hours of testimony yesterday before the House Banking Committee drew grudging admiration from his Republican critics, even if they disagreed with his economics.

"He made his pitch and did it well — I was glad to watch the show," said Rep. Seely-Brown (R-Conn.).

Rep. Mumma (R-Pa.) said Truman was entertaining, but called his testimony "a political gimmick to open the congressional campaign for 1952."

But Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) said he was eminently satisfied with Truman as his opening committee witness for a scheduled five-week hearing on the economic situation and what to do about it.

"He rendered a fine service," Spence said. "His importance in the nation entitled him to be heard."

In reply to GOP hints that Truman was called to provide the committee with political propaganda, Spence declared there was "no frump."

Spence disclosed that Truman had written saying he was interested in the hearings, and that he was invited. "Ex-presidents are entitled to come if they want to," Spence said.

As a self-styled "retired Missouri farmer," Truman proposed an antirecession prescription commended chiefly of an immediate

Water Officials Make Inquiry

Officials from the Runnels Water Improvement District and the Colorado River Municipal Water District conducted exploratory water talks here Monday.

Here from Ballinger were John Bradley and Earl Barr, representing the Runnels County unit. They talked with Robert T. Piner, president of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and E. V. Spence, general manager, about the possibility that the CRMWD might impound another large lake on the upper Colorado River.

The CRMWD has a presentation covering studies on the feasibility of a lake in southern Mitchell County. This is progressing satisfactorily and Spence told Bradley and Barr that the United States Geological Survey has completed field work on the topographical work. Preliminary maps are expected by the middle of the year.

The Runnels County district has no definite plans at the present, said Bradley, but officials are looking to possible sources for long range supplies.

Piner told the visitors that the CRMWD would keep them advised in keeping with the philosophy that the district has an area responsibility. Whether the projected lake will materialize will depend upon finding an ample market for its output, he said.

Further Oil Limits Urged

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — Two speakers at a meeting of oilmen called last night for further restrictions on imported oil.

Robert Foree, Dallas independent oil man, and Earl Turner of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., attacked imported oil at a meeting of some 250 persons from 10 counties.

State Comptroller Robert Calvert discussed state taxes and revenue in connection with the oil industry. He said new revenues would be needed.

Turner said the voluntary oil import restriction curb is not working. Under it, he said, we are steadily losing ground despite some claims of its success.

He said the Icard bill to amend a trade agreement pact is the best answer. He said the bill would make sure that oil imports increase only when domestic production is also growing. Under it, he said, imports would not exceed a 16.6 per cent relationship to domestic production.

Foree said independent oil men were not trying to shut out oil imports and disputed claims imports must be stepped up because the United States is running out of oil.

The push for increased crude imports is caused by higher profits, he said. Foree said many of the tankers hauling imported oil have been subsidized by the U.S. government.

Imported oil pays no school taxes, no city, county, state, ad valorem or gross production tax, he said. He also said depletion allowance is being taken on imported oil when the allowance is designed for encouraging developments of domestic natural resources.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The thief who stole $2,000 from Adams movie theater might have changed his mind if he had gone inside to see the show. It was "The Ten Commandments."

Daily Average Oil Production Drops

TULSA (AP) — Daily average crude production fell 74,925 barrels to 6,191,775 the week ended April 12, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

2,221,400 and Oklahoma 21,600 to 524,000.

The Journal estimated 1958 production at 675,095,050 barrels compared to 776,716,920 a year ago. Colorado fell 3,900 to 137,000 barrels; New Mexico, 2,900 to 258,325; and Arkansas, 2,400 to 81,500. Louisiana rose 3,200 barrels to 825,775.

IMPERIAL

Timeless design...and who should know it better?

He's an Architect... able instinctively to sense the difference between passing fancy and enduring form. And when the Imperial '58 came along, all his instinct forced him to a conclusion.

"There's not a misplaced line in my new Imperial. Every shape and detail has a beautiful logic. You can get technical about Torsion-Aire suspension if you like, or why Imperial power steering is different... or how the new Auto-Pilot warns you of over-speeds and holds you at a steady turnpike pace without a touch on the gas pedal...

... but it all means just this: No car I've ever driven has been so responsive, so comfortable, so flat and sure on corners. It feels so right.

THE TRIUMPHANT IMPERIAL... FINEST EXPRESSION OF THE FORWARD LOOK

"And if it were any more beautiful inside, it would be almost too much!"
