'Post Graduate Education'

President Hints Veto For U. S. Highway Bill

Action Promised Before Midnight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower left up in the air today whether he will sign or veto the interstate highway bill.

Eisenhower told his news conference he will act before a midnight deadline on the measure, which would put an additional $1,800,000,000 into the construction program.

Asked for an indication of what he plans to do, the President first said that he has until midnight and will send a message on the bill before then.

He corrected himself to say action will be taken before midnight.

Ordinarily, when a president signs a bill he does not send a message to Congress. However, a message sometimes is sent, criticizing portions of a signed measure or suggesting additional action.

Any veto is handled through a message to Congress.

In advance of Eisenhower's news conference, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), chief sponsor of the highway bill, said he will fly if Eisenhower vetoes the measure. Backers described the bill as the most important recession combatting action Congress has taken so far.

But despite recurring rumors predicting a veto, Republican congressional leaders indicated they expected Eisenhower to sign it — though perhaps reluctantly.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said after a White House conference he believed advantages of the measure outweighed objectionable features in the President's mind.

Gore, in advance of Eisenhower's action on the bill, said the President should have signed it 10 days ago.

"Men could be at work now if he had done so," Gore told a reporter.

Knowland said the administration's principal objection to the bill centered on a provision fixing the formula for division of state and federal financing during the coming year on primary, secondary and urban federal-aid roads.

The usual formula is 50-50. But under the bill, the federal government would put up $2 to every $1 by the states.

The bill, designed to pump an extra $1,800,000,000 into roadbuilding this year, was sent to Eisenhower April 3 as Congress' last major act before the Easter recess. As finally drafted, the bill won an overwhelming 84-4 passage in the Senate and 300-28 in the House.

Sponsors said over-all it could make possible the programing of approximately 5 1/2 billion dollars in federal-state road money in 1958.

Operators of the firm had contended the law was unconstitutional.

The suit was brought by operators of Texas State Optical Co., which competes with Lee Optical in the 14 cities.

The court split on the decision with Justice St. John Garwood, who is retiring at the end of this year, writing the majority opinion and Justice Clyde Smith writing a dissenting opinion. Justice Joe Greenhill said he did not take part.

Ike Shows No Change In Tax Cut Thinking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that whenever he is convinced a tax cut would benefit the country, the administration will consider it.

But, at a news conference, Eisenhower gave no indication of any change in his thinking that no tax reduction is necessary at this time.

Eisenhower cautioned against rushing into any huge public works program in an effort to combat the recession.

Saying we must be very, very careful about getting into such programs, Eisenhower added we should try to be reasonable and not get what he called a Sputnik attitude about everything.

He dealt with these other topics: VETO—A reporter told Eisenhower his veto yesterday of a 1 1/2-billion-dollar water projects authorization bill is being criticized by some in Congress who felt the program would help fight the recession. The reporter, Sarah McClendon, who represents several Texas and other papers, said Rep. Wright (D-Tex.) had expressed the opinion that Eisenhower ought to leave out some of his golf playing and get out for a first-hand look at conditions in the country.

The congressman feels, Miss McClendon added, that Eisenhower then would see the need for such projects.

Eisenhower replied, with no show of irritation, that he doesn't know Cong. Wright but has visited small villages and towns throughout the country—many more than the congressman.

Injunction Upheld In Optical Battle

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld a Beaumont district court injunction against operators of Lee Optical Co. in 14 Texas cities violating the new state law banning price advertising of eyeglasses.

Operators of the firm had contended the law was unconstitutional.

The suit was brought by operators of Texas State Optical Co., which competes with Lee Optical in the 14 cities.

The court split on the decision with Justice St. John Garwood, who is retiring at the end of this year, writing the majority opinion and Justice Clyde Smith writing a dissenting opinion. Justice Joe Greenhill said he did not take part.

Liz Returns

Actress Liz Taylor returns to work before the movie cameras in Hollywood. It was the first time back to work for Liz since the death of her husband, Mike Todd, on March 22 when his private plane crashed. Liz currently is working in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," being directed by Richard Brooks at the MGM studio.

Dr. Grollman Starts Lecture Series Today

Dr. Arthur Grollman, one of the nation's leading authorities in the field of experimental medicine, arrived here today for a series of lectures and conferences with doctors at the VA Hospital.

Head of the department of experimental medicine at Southwestern Medical School (University of Texas), Dallas, Dr. Grollman will lecture twice daily through Friday. All area doctors have been invited to attend the lectures, said Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, VA Hospital manager.

Between lectures, Dr. Grollman will make the rounds of patients with VA staff members and confer with physicians on various medical problems.

The series of lectures started at 11 a.m. today when Dr. Grollman spoke on Drug Therapy in Malignancy. At 3 p.m. today he was to discuss Thyroid Dysfunction and Diagnostic Aids.

At 11 a.m. Thursday he will lecture on Shock, and at 3 p.m. Thursday, his topic will be Inborn Errors of Metabolism. Friday at 11 a.m., Dr. Grollman will cover Calculi, Renal and Biliary. With a Discussion of the Chemistry of Physiology. His Friday afternoon topic hasn't been announced.

Dr. Grollman, close friend of Dr. Friedlander, has spoken here twice previously as a part of the VA Hospital's physicians in Residence training program. He is the author of numerous medical textbooks, the most recent of which is Pharmacology and Therapeutics, published early this year. He has several medical discoveries to his credit and is engaged in a continuing program of research at Southwestern Medical School.

TEXAS FAMILY SPURRED ON BY BURIED TREASURE HOPES

DALLAS (AP) — Two brothers, digging for what they hope is Spanish treasure, found what appears to be a stone slab some 12 feet below the surface of their bedroom floor today.

It could not be determined immediately whether the slab, which appeared smooth, was man-made. Efforts to remove the slab, which appeared to be about eight inches thick, were started immediately.

The search began after the family found symbols at the home. At least two authorities have given some credence to parts of the story.

It all started when Miguel Rodriguez, who identifies himself as a Del Rio grocer, visited Eugenio Gaytan, 77, a candy maker here. He said markings on a piece of soft granite flagstone behind the house led him to believe there might be treasure under the home.

Rodriguez, who says he is a prospector and expert on Spanish treasure symbols, told Gaytan to tear up a bedroom floor and start digging.

The Gaytans got a city permit to excavate and started.

In three weeks, using hand tools, the family went down 12 feet through clay to limestone. They found a sharp, jutting piece of rock Rodriguez called an eagle's beak. He said it points toward the treasure.

Also found was a hexagon-shaped piece of metal which looks as if it might have been a file. What appears to be a "C" and a "G" appear on the limestone near the beak.

King Harris, past president of the Texas and Dallas Archaeological Societies, said what are believed to be Spanish artifacts dating back to the 1540s have been found in the area. He said, "It's quite possible that a group of men led by Muscosa came into the Trinity River area after burying Spanish explorer DeSoto near the Mississippi River."

Paul Witt, a U. S. Bureau of Mines employe, said the rocks under the home are not native to the area.

Secrecy Bill Up For Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to knock out use of a 169-year-old law for federal secrecy comes up for expected overwhelming House passage today.

News industry spokesmen pushed the measure before a Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee too, hoping to win final passage during this session of Congress.

Editor V. M. Newton Jr., heading Sigma Delta Chi journalistic fraternity's Freedom of Information Committee, told the senators reporters have run into a "blanket of secrecy" draped over most of the executive government in Washington. Newton is managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune.

Chairman Moss (D-Calif.) of the House Government Information subcommittee, piloting the bill in the House, said passage would serve notice that federal secrecy "for capricious or arbitrary reasons cannot be condoned."

Rep. Hoffman (Mich.), the lone subcommittee Republican, said he would fight the measure with administration support on grounds the bill was unconstitutional.

Target of the pending measure by Moss is a 1789 law authorizing department heads to issue regulations for the "custody, preservation and use" of records.

Moss' one-sentence bill would amend the old statute to say it does not authorize withholding information or the availability of records from the public.

The California congressman said the old law was originally intended as a simple administrative housekeeping statute. But he said federal officials have used the law as authority to keep secret some documents they find no other grounds for withholding.

He said his bill is "merely a first step in combating unnecessary executive secrecy."

Federal departments led by Atty. Gen. Rogers have opposed Moss' measure on various grounds. One is that it would nullify of secrecy powers the executive branch contends are inherent under the Constitution. Another is that it would disrupt established procedures for withholding information and for giving it out.

Moss said his bill would not affect some 80 other laws on the books providing for secrecy of various types, including the safeguarding of military secrets, confidential industry data and FBI investigative reports.

Newton told the Senate subcommittee in a prepared statement that Rogers has put up a legal smoke screen in advancing a doctrine of executive secrecy privilege.

Newton submitted to the Senate committee a 1957 Sigma Delta Chi report which he said documents 93 cases where reporters have run into secrecy that is a "direct abridgment of the American people's right to know about their federal government."

Since the end of World War II, he added, "our federal bureaucrats have spent approximately $8 billion of tax funds in foreign aid and have never accounted for one penny of this to the American people."

Newton said an autocratic secrecy is growing in Washington at the same time that state and local governments are opening more of their business to the public.

BHS Graduation Requirement Hiked, Curriculum 'Enriched'

Two programs aimed at improving the quality of education at the high school level were adopted last night by Big Spring school trustees.

One, applicable to all students entering the ninth grade next fall and thereafter, raises the graduation requirement from 18 credits to 20 credits.

The other, open to any high school student who wants to go into it and who thinks he can cope with it successfully with the extra work, is an "enrichment program for the academically talented."

Trustees approved both programs on recommendation of Supt. Floyd Parsons who called attention to a trend toward more challenging education throughout the nation. Parsons said he thinks the two programs can be worked into the Big Spring High School curriculum at little extra cost, although some improvement in science laboratory facilities will be required.

At present, students are required to complete 16 credits of work in academic studies plus physical education to qualify for graduation. Under the new plan, 18 credits in the academic fields and two credits in health and physical education will be required.

Of the total, 9 1/2 credits must be in courses required by the Texas Education Agency. The remainder will include the health and physical education and any other courses the individual student may choose.

The 20 credits will be required for the first time with the class graduating in 1961-62. That class will be made up of pupils entering the ninth grade next fall.

In addition, any student who thinks he can handle it may enroll in the special enriched program. No one will be required to take the extra courses, however. Anyone completing all of the work will graduate with 21 high school credits in addition to his health and physical education.

Most of the extra studies will be in the field of science and mathematics. Three courses not now offered will be added to the curriculum. They will be biology in the ninth grade, a course in college algebra and calculus in the 12th grade, and applied science, also in the 12th grade.

A proposed schedule for the four years of high school includes:

Ninth Grade—English, Algebra (1 1/2 credits), Biology, World History and one elective.

Tenth Grade—English, Algebra and Plane Geometry (1 1/2 credits), Chemistry, American History and one elective.

Eleventh Grade—English, Analytical Geometry and Trigonometry, Physics, Government (1/2 credit), Solid Geometry (1/2 credit), and one elective.

Twelfth Grade—English, College Algebra and Calculus, Applied Science, and two electives.

Parsons said the program will be made flexible to permit individual students to be selective in their choices of the enriched courses. He said "tough sections" probably will be initiated in the seventh and eighth grades for benefit of students who expect to enroll for the extra work in high school.

The enriched program was approved to the extent that it may be accommodated by existing facilities and personnel, with minor adjustments. It will be set up to go into operation next fall, the superintendent said.

Junior High School Dividing Line Fixed

The Big Spring Independent School District has been bisected roughly into north and south sections for junior high attendance purposes.

With one small exception, the line dividing the district runs along Eleventh Place or what would be an extension of the street across the district. The single exception is in the vicinity of Big Spring Junior High. The line swings south from Eleventh Place at Goliad, extends to 14th St., then goes west to Gregg, and then back north to a point even with the Eleventh Place line.

All junior high pupils residing north of the dividing line will attend Big Spring Junior High School at 10th and Runnels. Those in the area south of the line will go to Goliad Junior High School.

now under construction on the south end of Goliad St., near the College Heights elementary campus.

Trustees established the boundary between the two junior high schools last night, in preparation for the opening of Goliad Junior High next fall.

Several alternate divisions were considered, but the majority of trustees chose the Eleventh Place line as the most logical. Voting against the division that was adopted were Dr. Floyd Parsons and John Dibrell. They said they favored different plans.

The Eleventh Place dividing line was recommended by school administrators, who listed three other possible districting plans. Supt. Floyd Parsons said distance, the city's anticipated population growth, and social, economic and racial factors were considered in drawing up the four districting proposals.

According to a recent scholastic census, the Eleventh Place division will put 687 pupils in Big Spring Junior High and 534 in Goliad Junior High next fall. This is in harmony with the city's anticipated growth pattern, which should result in an increase in population in the Goliad area, Parsons said.

Trustees also okayed preliminary plans for a "face lifting" job on Big Spring Junior High. Parsons and Pat Murphy, school business manager, were authorized to work out plans for the work with Architect Jimmy Fox.

Proposed are the repainting of all woodwork, new chalkboard and tackboard where needed, new or refinished lockers, new venetian blinds, the refinishing of plaster walls, weather stripping and glazing of windows, replacing all outside doors, establishing a shop for vocational agriculture, and floor improvements—either covering with asphalt tile or re-finishing existing wood floors.

The school building fund includes $60,000 which has been designated for junior high improvements, and the projects enumerated were estimated to cost approximately that amount.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT FOLDS

U.S. Officials Discouraged Over Settlement In Tunisia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fall of France's Gaillard government left State Department officials discouraged today about the chances of settling the French-Tunisian crisis and strengthening anti-Communist elements in North Africa.

These officials also were concerned about the impact of Premier Felix Gaillard's loss of power on two other international issues: summit conference negotiations with the Soviet Union and position and prestige within the North Atlantic Alliance.

"There was some concern that the government which succeeds Gaillard's may be largely in the hands of right-wing, highly nationalistic men with whom it would be even more difficult than in the past to work on some ultimate Gaillard resigned after the French Assembly, by a 321-258 vote rejected his call for acceptance of a U.S.-British plan for settling France's dispute with Tunisia.

Earlier, Secretary of State Dulles took issue with French critics that the United States was trying to dominate French policy and to get France out of North Africa.

"The idea that we are operating there in some devious way to take over North Africa in the interest of American corporations is just about as far from the truth as any statement could be," Dulles said.

Dulles and other top officials would like to see France find some way to end the long and costly fighting in Algeria. Privately, many of these officials say that this would undoubtedly mean working toward some form of Algerian self-government.

But French policy, strongly supported by the rightists in this respect, has dealt with Algeria as a part of metropolitan France for which any idea of independence is wholly unacceptable.

The fear in the State Department is that if the fighting drags on and frictions develop with other North African countries, as they have already with Tunisia, pro-Western leaders like Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba will find it increasingly difficult to maintain their political balance.

Communist agitators, according to this view, will find new opportunity to whip up anti-Western passions and the situation will become even more difficult for the Western Powers to deal with.

West Ready On Summit Talk

LONDON (AP) — The three Western powers told the Soviet Union today their ambassadors were ready to begin broad scope summit talk preparations in Moscow tomorrow.

In carefully worded notes delivered to the Soviet government, the United States, Britain and France expressed their willingness to take the first step on the road to a possible top-level meeting if the preparatory work included basic East-West issues.

They insisted the preliminary diplomatic negotiations should define the major questions dividing the four powers in order to bring out the possibilities of agreement on them.

Annual Boat Show Is Set For Sunday

Practically the "growingest" interest among people everywhere, in these days of more leisure, is that for water sports.

Boats, outboard motors, water skis, tackle—all the items that contribute so much to healthful fun in the sun and on the water—are in big demand these days.

In West Texas and the Big Spring area, the interest particularly has mounted, as more lakes are constructed in the area, making the boating, swimming and fishing areas more easily accessible.

It is to this growing interest that sports dealers this week make a special gesture—the second annual Boat Show.

This is set for this coming Sunday, April 20, at the National Guard Armory. Hours are from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m.—and it's all free.

In addition, there are free prizes—$100 in boat and related merchandise—contributed by the boat dealers who are participating. All you have to do is register as you attend the Boat Show.

The Herald, in cooperation with most major dealers of boats and related sports equipment, offers this show, just so the public can see what are the latest developments in recreational items.

You are invited to attend the Boat Show—at the National Guard Armory—Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 6:30. Bring all the family. Everyone will enjoy it.

Chance For Showers Forecast For Area

Chances are held out for possible scattered thundershowers in the Big Spring area this afternoon and evening in the forecast of the U. S. Weather Bureau at noon.

There is an even better chance of such showers on Thursday, the bureau stated. Mostly cloudy skies and mild temperatures are forecast.

Demos Study Ways To Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats studied today their chances of mustering votes to override President Eisenhower's veto of the rivers and harbors bill.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas delayed a decision on a move to override until an informal canvass determines the likelihood of obtaining the necessary two-thirds vote margin.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) predicted the veto will be overridden. Humphrey said the veto demonstrated Eisenhower's "unwillingness to meet this recession with forthright and effective action."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and his assistant, Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, said they believed the veto of the 1 1/2-billion-dollar bill will be sustained.

Eisenhower has vetoed 103 bills and has never been overridden.

He said the bill was defective for a number of reasons, including authorization of 28 new projects costing $50 million dollars "under terms which I cannot approve without destroying some of the most important governmental policies" on water resources.

Knowland and Dirksen said they are confident that if the veto is sustained, Congress will follow Eisenhower's suggestion that what he called worthy projects be put in other bills.

The veto left in doubt the fate of 60 million dollars of appropriations recommended in the new federal budget for projects in half a dozen river basins.

The basins are the Columbia in the Northwest, White in Arkansas and Missouri, Kaweah-Tule, Los Angeles and Santa Ana in California, and Central and Southern in Florida.

The bill contained increased appropriation authority for each basin. In each instance, Army engineers said, limits of existing authority to appropriate have been reached.

Hard Weather Rakes Florida

Rains ended and winds diminished in most of Florida today in the wake of violent weather which hammered sections of the state yesterday.

At least four tornadoes struck the state, injuring 50 persons and damaging more than 50 homes. Property damage was estimated at five million dollars. Heaviest hit was Fort Pierce, a Florida east coast resort community of 23,000 population, some 80 miles north of West Palm Beach. Five of the 26 persons hospitalized were reported in serious condition.

Other twisters hit north of Fort Pierce, at St. Augustine, and on the Florida west coast, near Fort Myers and at Wimauma, south of Tampa.

Most of the stormy weather moved seaward during the night but gusty winds of 40 m.p.h. and heavy showers spread into the Carolinas. The wet and windy weather headed northeastward through the south Atlantic states and was expected to extend along coastal sections into southern New England.

John McCormack (D-Mass.) in Washington before Von Braun told congressmen vigorous action is needed for the United States to overcome Russia's lead in missiles. AF Research Chief Foresees Non-Fatal Device To Halt Foe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force's research chief raised a possibility today that some fantastic new device on space ships might someday be able to stop an aggressor without loss of life or property.

Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt acknowledged in testimony prepared for the House Space Committee that some scientists may scoff at the idea as highly imaginary.

However, he said, it is quite possible that today's nuclear warheads will be totally obsolete as weapons for manned space vehicles of tomorrow.

In advising a positive approach to new developments, Putt said: "It is even possible that some fantastic new device might enable our manned space forces to neutralize or paralyze an aggressor without loss of life or destruction of property." He did not go into further detail on this point.

He said America must give top priority to becoming the first nation able to control space. If world liberty is to prevail, he said "We cannot permit the dominance of space by those who say they will bury the United States." He pictured manned vehicles as the only way truly to conquer space, just as piloted planes control the air, because of man's ability to get the top use out of any vehicle or weapon.

Reporting that the Air Force is looking into several proposals for manned satellites which would return to earth, he said, "Manned space flight in this manner is much closer than you think — a certainty within an extremely short time."

Putt strongly backed President Eisenhower's proposals for a separate civilian space agency. He said America must put more effort into basic research if it is to be the undisputed leader in space technology 10 years from now.

4 Teen-Agers Convicted In Slaying Of Crippled Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—Four members of a youth gang were convicted last night in the slaying of Michael Farmer, 15-year-old polio-crippled son of a city fireman. All escaped the electric chair.

Republicans Plan To Cut Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans today proposed to cut in half the billion-dollar loan fund for city public works projects carried in a Democratic-sponsored antirecession bill. Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said the measure might be acceptable to the Eisenhower administration if the total were cut to 500 million and some other changes were made.

As debate on the bill reopened, Democrats fought to cut the interest rate on the loans from 3½ to 3 per cent, but lost on a 41-40 vote. The bill would make the loan money available for a wide variety of municipal projects including street improvements, school construction and building of garbage disposal plants. Authority for civil defense projects was added. The Senate adopted 54-25 an amendment by Sen. Clifford Case (N.J.) to require that workers on projects financed under the bill be paid wage rates prevailing in the area as fixed by the secretary of labor.

The three other defendants were all acquitted. An all-male jury returned its verdict 24 hours after receiving the case.

Charles (Big Man) Horton, an 18-year-old Negro, and Louis Alvarez, 17-year-old Puerto Rican, were convicted of murder in the second degree. They face a mandatory term of 20 years to life in prison when they come up for sentencing May 21.

They were the only defendants subject to judgment for first-degree murder, for which the death sentence is mandatory. Alvarez's father Louis fainted in court when he heard the verdict.

Found guilty of second-degree manslaughter, punishable by up to 15 years in prison, were Leroy (Magician) Birch, a Negro who was the oldest defendant at 19, and Leoncio (Jello) de Leon, 17, a native of the Dominican Republic.

Acquitted were the three remaining members of the Egyptian Dragons on trial: John McCarthy, an epileptic and the "baby" of the group at 15; Richard Hills, 17, who had claimed he was drafted into the gang; and George Melendez, 16-year-old native of Puerto Rico. Hills and McCarthy are white. Thus ended what was said to be the longest first-degree murder trial in the history of New York City. It began Jan. 10. Estimated cost: $250,000.

The Egyptian Dragons, a racially integrated gang, were engaged in a feud with the Jesters, who were mostly white. Farmer and Roger McShane, now 17, ran into an Egyptian Dragons war party at an upper Manhattan park last July 30. The two boys, both white, were headed for a swim in the park.

Apparently the war party took them for Jesters. Prosecution testimony at the trial indicated that neither of the boys belonged to a gang. McShane was able to escape his attackers, fleeing with minor injuries. Farmer, unable to run, was slugged to the ground with fists, feet, belts and a dog chain.

Then, it was testified, Horton slashed at Farmer with a machete and Alvarez, president of the Egyptian Dragons, plunged a hunting knife into the Farmer youth's back.

Fallout Protective Chemical Described

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A harmless substance which can remove radioactive strontium from the body was described today by the nation's chemists. This material could be the forerunner of a series of compounds to rid humans and animals of other dangerous fallout products. Conceivably these things might be built into the diet as a kind of insurance against radiation damage.

The antistrontium compound was described in a paper given before the American Chemical Society by Arthur Lindenbaum of the Argonne National Laboratory at Lemont, Ill. Lindenbaum and two colleagues developed and tested it.

Radioactive strontium, the most feared element in fallout, is considered dangerous because it makes its way into the bones and can give off radiation for scores of years afterward. It is a possible cause of cancer and other diseases.

The compound which can pick this hazardous element out of living bone and other body parts is a tasteless yellow dye called rhodizonate. It latches onto strontium atoms and the two substances together form an insoluble compound which can be eliminated in body waste.

Another chemical called tetrahydroxyquinone has similar abilities. This and rhodizonate may become the starting materials for a whole group of anti-radiation compounds, Lindenbaum said.

In tests with rats, the chemical reduced the strontium content of the subjects by 20 to 34 per cent in 24 hours.

He addressed a meeting of American Institutes of Electrical, Mechanical and Radio Engineers last night.

Japan, Indonesia Okay Peace Pact

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and Indonesia today exchanged documents ratifying the Japanese-Indonesian World War II peace treaty and a $223,000,000 reparations agreement. The reparations will be paid in goods and services over 12 years.

Runaways Nabbed Following Fight

DALLAS (AP)—Two teen-agers who fled their suburban Kansas City homes more than a month ago to get married were picked up yesterday after a fight at a service station.

Karen Long Deffenbaugh, 14-year-old blonde daughter of a Johnson County, Kan., dentist, was reunited with her father last night. Dr. David S. Long flew to Dallas in a private plane. He and his daughter left to return home.

Karen's husband of three weeks, 16-year-old Ronnie Deffenbaugh, remained in custody of Dallas juvenile authorities pending word from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Deffenbaugh of Johnson County.

The youngsters were picked up after police were called to a service station where Ronnie had been employed. Police said Ronnie and the station owner got into a fight over repair of a spare tire.

In an interview, Karen confirmed reports that she and Ronnie ran away March 13 because Dr. Long had forbidden her to see Ronnie.

She said they were married March 27 at Rockwall, Tex.

Moon Hit, Orbit Possible In Year

DETROIT (AP)—Hitting the moon with a rocket will be more difficult than putting a missile in orbit around the moon but both are possible within the next five years, says rocket expert Magnus von Braun.

The German-born von Braun is manager of Chrysler Corp.'s Redstone missile program control division and a brother of Dr. Werner von Braun, development operations director of the Army Ballistics Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala.

He addressed a meeting of American Institutes of Electrical, Mechanical and Radio Engineers last night.

Airborne Reactor Goes To Oak Ridge

FORT WORTH (AP)—The world's first airborne nuclear reactor has been transferred from Fort Worth to Oak Ridge, Tenn., Convair and Air Force officials said today.

They said it was the first time a fully assembled reactor had been shipped across country by truck.

The reactor, designed and built for the Air Force at Convair's Fort Worth plant, will be suspended from four 300-foot towers at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge facility for further atomic radiation testing. The information will be used in design of compartments to protect crews of nuclear-powered airplanes.

The portable reactor made 47 experimental flights from Fort Worth aboard a modified but conventionally-powered B36 bomber.

Boy's Wild Tale Was Truthful

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—When police asked 11-year-old Bobbie Scott how he spent his three days as a runaway he replied: "Playing with an elephant."

Officers checked Bobbie's hiding place in rugged Arroyo Seco and found an elephant.

The 7-foot high baby elephant is owned by a riding stable and rented for movies, parades and other special events.

Of The Local Entertainment Scene

By BOB SMITH

Tribute To Hospital Aides

It is not difficult to see their desperate need for entertainment and companionship. The way they respond to what little they get is evidence enough.

The inmates at the state hospital spend long, dreary hours day after day with little to look forward to; some must spend the remainder of their lives there. Anything to help lighten their hours is a Godsend.

There are dozens of people in this community who give unstintingly of their time and efforts in working with the inmates, without material reward. They deserve some recognition.

I dropped out this week to a dance given for the inmates. Max Alexander and his combo, a troupe of professional musicians, were there for music making, with a group of Jaycee-ettes as hostesses. At first, only a few of the inmates were able to respond, but as the evening wore on, more shed their timidity and began to take part. There was an increasing amount of jiggerbugging and other uninhibited dance forms. Expressions of fear and withdrawal from the world gradually changed to happy smiles, and the officials and entertainers could be seen to react accordingly as they observed their charges beginning to enjoy life.

Alexander and his musicians have been working at these dances without pay and without publicity. They do it for their own enjoyment, and because they like to help their fellow men. Members of the combo, besides Alexander, are Frank Fierro, Hank Harrel, David Parrass and Fred Puga.

The Jaycee-ettes present were Misses Bob Bright, John Austin, James Cape, David Sims and Commodore Ryan Jr.

Toot Thine Own Horn

Most people can't name a single basic principle of public relations. This is a quite understandable state of affairs, considering the fact that the publicity business is so far removed from ordinary walks of life, and that there aren't too many professional publicists in the first place.

Yet, publicity is something a lot of people take for granted. I have seen any number of cultural groups, including some in Big Spring, make big plans for some important event, then sit back and expect things to develop by themselves.

There's an old axiom in the business: "People make their own news." There are other axioms regarding such mundane (to us) items of information as "editors aren't mind readers—they know only what they are told."

Then there's the bit of advice known among public relations men as the Eleventh Commandment: "If thou tootest not thine own horn, same will not be tooted."

The county and college libraries have large selections of textbooks on the subject of public relations which publicity chairmen might do well to consult.

Perhaps the best rule, however, in a small city like Big Spring is "consult the experts." Advice from radio-TV men and newspaper editors is generally free and available for the asking. But before you start dialing, it helps to have some idea of what you want in the way of publicity.

Let's take for example the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Mikado," which the HCJC Choir is planning to produce. If their publicity campaign is mishandled, they may find themselves playing to a nearly empty house.

Several courses are open to the "Mikado" publicity chairman (if there is one). These possible courses, all of which should be employed, arise from an analysis of the potential audience and the nature of the program to be presented.

Such an analysis reveals that Big Spring, although gaining in cultural appreciation, is still basically an overgrown cowtown. It also reveals that folks are not going to leave the comfort of their TV-dominated living rooms unless they are offered something to more than compensate for the trouble of going out for the evening and hiring a baby sitter.

Anything that smacks of opera; indeed, any form of entertainment in which local citizens are not already well grounded, may be largely ignored. It will not be ignored if the people know they are going to be hugely entertained.

For "The Mikado", then, it is necessary to tell the public about Gilbert and Sullivan; that their music was the forerunner of the modern English-language musical; that their deft barbs against the stuffed shirts of their day are still good for today's egomaniacs; that their humor is as good today as it was 50 years ago.

And, after the citizenry is convinced, there remains the job of pushing tickets; but that is a problem to be wrestled with after the first is accomplished.

One side of the "Mikado" campaign should consist of getting records of songs from that operetta onto radio and TV shows—especially platter sessions on radio. Other channels through which the music might be pushed would be through music stores and record shops, and through cafes that eschew the juke box in favor of their own piped-in music.

The other half of the campaign should be aimed at giving the potential audience a detailed explanation of the music from "The Mikado." This is most effectively done through the printed page, which allows itself to be studied at the leisure of the reader; news photos of performers in costume are especially effective.

These are slightly detailed basic principles which could easily be applied to projects by other organizations. The knowledge is readily available at the library. Yet, publicity chairmen too often, after having failed to toot their own horns, cry aloud their resentment at not having heard a single toot.

Taxes Up?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma income tax collections this fiscal year may top last year, State Tax Commission Member M. C. Conners said yesterday. Conners said collections are $15,365,800, or about $600,000 ahead of the same time last year.

Plea For Food

Mrs. Martina White and her four children stand on a street corner in Pasadena, Calif., with a sign pleading for food. She told passersby her husband has had only part time work since September and the family has been living on his $40-a-week unemployment check. Their car and all their furniture has been repossessed, she said. The sign reads: "We have borrowed; We don't steal. But we're hungry. We have begged. The Welfare has refused us food." Passersby contributed about $25. Left to right: Larry, 2; Sandra, 9; Jacquelyn, 5; and Mrs. White holding Shila, 4.

Lines Drawn For Contest In New Jersey

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—It will be Harrison A. Williams Jr., youthful former Democratic congressman, against Robert W. Kean, a veteran Republican congressman, in New Jersey's Nov. 4 U.S. Senate election.

Williams, a 38-year-old Westfield lawyer, overcame a 72,000 plurality in Hudson County for his chief rival, Hoboken Mayor John J. Grogan, to win the Democratic primary election yesterday by 12,000 votes.

Williams had the support of Gov. Robert B. Meyner and Democratic leaders of 19 of the state's 21 counties. A victory for Grogan, president of the National Shipbuilders Union who was backed by the state AFL and CIO, would have been a blow to Meyner's political prestige and power. Meyner has often been mentioned as a presidential candidate in 1960.

Kean, a 64-year-old banker with 18 years in Congress, won a slightly easier victory. He defeated his nearest rival, Bernard M. Shanley, President Eisenhower's former appointments secretary, by 25,000 votes.

The New Jersey senatorial primary... the first in the nation this year. Williams and Kean will run for the seat being vacated by H. Alexander Smith of Princeton, who decided not to seek re-election. Smith, 78, served 14 years in the Senate.

With 89 districts unreported of 4,184 in the state, this was the vote in the Democratic contest: Williams, 148,809

Grogan, 135,804
Joseph E. McLean, state conservation commissioner in Meyner's Cabinet, was a poor third with 60,903 votes.

In the Republican contest, the vote with 123 districts unreported, was:

Kean, 152,940
Shanley, 126,416
Robert Morris, former chief counsel to the U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee, ran third with 70,528 votes.

Grogan didn't concede defeat and said he would consider the possibility of asking a recount in four counties that produced a 59,000-plurality for Williams.

Shanley and Morris urged Republicans to close ranks behind Kean. GOP leaders said the primary campaign left no wounds in their party. Kean said he would

Moscow Dancers Win U.S. Applause

NEW YORK (AP)—The Moiseyev dance company from Moscow, the first dance troupe to reach the United States under a new American-Soviet cultural exchange agreement, scored a resounding triumph at the Metropolitan Opera House last night.

The troupe of nearly 100 dancers, the largest Soviet attraction ever sent here, offered 13 folk numbers, which had a constant element of humor.

ask his two opponents to help him plan his campaign.

Williams announced that he would stress the recession in his campaign, as he did in the primary. He said he was confident he would win but was wary of Kean.

Lost 30 Pounds With Barcetrane

Mrs. B. Perkins, 3622 N. E. 22nd St., Amarillo, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I lost 30 pounds taking Barcetrane, after taking two bottles and I feel so much better. Many of my friends are now taking Barcetrane with excellent results. We are all grateful for Barcetrane."

Why pay high prices for reducing tablets? Barcetrane is the original citrus reducing home recipe and has stood the test for 12 years.

Costs just $1.69 at any drug counter. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

TODAY'S BEST BUY is Plymouth because only Plymouth gives you, as standard equipment on all models at no extra cost to you, great advances not available on the other two in the low-price "3" at any price. Among these:

Torsion-Aire, a revolutionary new suspension system that provides the world's easiest and most level ride, without roll or sway.

Total-Contact Brakes, with 2 cylinders in each front brake instead of just one, for faster, smoother, safer, dive-free stops.

Independent Parking Brake, the only one in the low-price "3" that isn't connected with the foot-brake system.

Biggest Windshield, more glass area. More inside roominess than either of the "other two."

118-inch Wheelbase on even the lowest-priced models. Plus many other features.

TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE will be Plymouth because Plymouth's clean, low, graceful Silver Dart styling will not look "dated" when trade-in time comes. What's more, Plymouth will still be the only 1958 car with the mechanical improvements that make it today's best buy!

Two Defendants Enter Pleas Of Guilty Today

Two defendants whose trials had been docketed for Wednesday were before a jury in 118th District Court today to plead guilty when their cases were called.

As a result, the jury panel which had been summoned first on last Monday and then excused to report today was again excused for the week by Judge Charlie Sullivan.

Norman C. Wood, charged with forgery, was sentenced to two years in state penitentiary. He waived waiting period and was immediately sentenced.

Quville J. Key, under indictment for forgery, drew seven years in state prison on his plea of guilty—the sentence here to run consecutively with another sentence hanging over his head in Stephens County.

Both of the cases had been slated for jury trial and the decisions to plead guilty before the court were developments of this morning.

Two special venues of 75 jurors each are to be summoned to report to court on April 28 to be available for the trial of two defendants charged with murder with malice.

The defendants are Amanda Franco and Henry Martin. They are accused of slaying Bennie Arispe on Feb. 2.

Arisepe was shot in the back of the head by a bullet fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver.

The shooting occurred at the intersection of 11th and 12th streets in the city of Big Spring.

Ike Plan Would Result In Like Defense Setups

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress his proposals for strengthening the hand of the secretary of defense but left for later action the matter of Pentagon money control.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's demand for more centralized authority would bring the American defense structure nearer to the Soviet form, for somewhat different reasons. There are also marked differences.

The President's Pentagon reorganization plan, announced April 3, calls for a further concentration of strategic planning and direct military control by the secretary of defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The defense secretary, upon the advice of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, would issue orders to major military commands at home and abroad. These orders now go through one of the service secretaries.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff organization would be further strengthened—and the importance of separate staffs of the three services would be diminished—by the addition of an operating section to the professional group that now does the paper work for the Joint Chiefs.

A similar system now operates in the Soviet Union. The Ministry of Defense has direct and complete administrative control over all branches of the military service as well as an influential voice in industries that support national defense.

Operating within the Soviet Defense Ministry is an armed forces general staff which does the strategic planning and the policy making for the Soviet commands.

Moreover, the Soviet defense minister now issues orders to the field commanders, much in the way that President Eisenhower, as Secretary of Defense, would do.

The Soviet general staff, composed entirely of top-level professional military men, has six principal divisions, called administrations. Two of these are for operations and the other four for intelligence.

Thus, in giving the Joint Staff of the Joint Chiefs an operating section, the proposed American system would enable the American chief of staff to operate in the way their Soviet equivalents do.

At this point, however, the current and proposed American defense structure and the Soviet system part company. Whereas the President's demand is for one command post—the traditional military department, functioning as lesser agencies, the Soviets have deliberately kept their military forces apart to prevent any one of them from becoming strong enough to constitute a possible rival to the small group or the one man who cracks the whip in the U.S.S.R.

The Soviets, for instance, have not one but six separate air forces, each under its own command and organization. Each of these air forces takes its orders directly from the Defense Ministry.

MEN IN SERVICE

Cpl. Lee Polanco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Polanco, 702 NW 7th, is now attending an 18-week electrical course at the Marine Corps Engineering School, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

As part of the course, Polanco will erect and disassemble a complete electrical distribution system such as one used by a combat command post—a battlefield's nerve center.

Polanco and the other Marine students will graduate on May 9.

William M. Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dickson of Coahoma, has been promoted to airman second class in the Air Force. Dickson is assigned to the 3500th Pilot Training Wing at Reese AFB and is in aircraft maintenance work. He is a former student at HCJC.

Westbrook Scouts Receive Awards WESTBROOK—Members of the Boy Scout and Cub Scouts Troops of Westbrook were honored with a banquet in the school cafeteria Monday night.

Tendons were presented to Don Bird, Travis Conway, Gerald Phillips, Dale Bird, Richard Clemmer and Bill Joe Bird. In the Bobcat ceremony, badges were given to Elmer McMahon, Larry Bell, Artie Butler, Johnny Hines, Ronnie Walker, Jim Bob Bassham, Sonny Morris, Tommy Richmond, Clay Strange and James Richmond.

Joe Bohannon of Snyder spoke on summer camp and showed a film about "Boy Scouts of America." Summer Camp will be held in June and July in the Davis Mountains near Balcones. Reservation fee of $10 should be made by May 1. Bohannon announced the Scout round-up to be held at Big Spring Friday and Saturday, and urged parents to let the boys attend in preparation of summer camp.

Attend Funeral Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Jones and Edith Hatchett were in Brownfield Tuesday to attend funeral services for C. S. Wiley, who died early Monday morning. Mr. Wiley was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Jones and Miss Hatchett. Interment was in the cemetery at Tahoka.

REGRETS TRIP BACK HOME

Bartolo Monaco, who has been peacefully living in California for the past 14 months, decided to come back to Big Spring.

He knew there was a burglary warrant on filed here against him but after all 14 months is a long time. Bartolo returned home Monday night.

Tuesday night he was riding along the street in his car. Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff, saw him.

Now Bartolo is in the Howard County Jail. "I wish I had stayed in California," he told Cole, wistfully.

School Groups At Conventions

All Big Spring elementary principals left today for Fort Worth to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Assn.

At the same time, teachers in the Special Education School departed for Dallas where they will participate in the annual convention of the American Assn. for Mental Deficiency.

S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum, expects to attend portions of both meetings. Some of the leading authorities in the field of education and psychology are on the two programs. Both will be concluded Saturday.

In the principals' group from Big Spring are M. R. Turner, Roscoe Newell, C. W. Blankenship, Orna McGahey, John Hardy, Mrs. Ruth Rutherford and L. D. Spradling.

In the group from Special Education are Mrs. Alice Gryska, Mrs. Mary Newell, Mrs. Janette McCreary and Mrs. Leola Hale. Norbert Zabel, elementary counselor, also will attend the Dallas meeting.

City Fire Losses Show Big Drop During March

From more than $25,000 in fire losses in February, the city came up with only $1,065.90 in fire destruction during the past month.

The February loss was $25,355.20. The year's total thus far is $26,618.50 as compared with $6,589.44 for the same time of 1957. The entire 1957 loss was only $36,783.96.

Compared with March of last year, the city came out better this time. Loss last year in March was $5,208.20.

Twenty fires caused all the damage last month in the city. Three each of the fires were started with electrical faults, gas stoves, and rubbish. Two came from kerosene usage, and one each from smoking, a hot water heater, and children playing with matches. Six were started from unknown causes. For the first time this year, there were no false alarms.

Kate Due Some New Plastic Shoes

AMARILLO (AP)—Kate, who has worn out two sets of shoes since March 17, is supposed to get some new, specially-made plastic footwear today.

Kate is the mule being ridden by Bob Bradley, Jaycee from Memphis, Tenn., on a journey from Memphis to Los Angeles and the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention there.

Bradley said Kate had worn out two sets of shoes on the 875-mile trip from Memphis that started March 17. Amarillo merchants decided to fit her up with some specially made plastic shoes today.

The two amble into Amarillo yesterday, and Bradley said they'll probably stay over two or three days before hitting the road again.

Car Registrations To Show Increase

There are more passenger automobiles in Howard County this year than there were in 1957 but the exact number won't be known for some time to come.

Glorieta Producer Completes For Pay In Garza Clear Fork

A Glorieta producer in the Rocker A multipay field of Garza County has been completed as a Clear Fork discovery—possibly the first Clear Fork production in the county.

Also oil flowed from a Garza wildcat, the Shell No. 1-D Slaughter, and operator prepared to test the Permian at El Paso No. 1 Barnett in Howard County.

Anderson No. 5 Stanolind (Pan American-Stoker) was completed as a field producer in the Glorieta in 1955 but recently operator plugged back and finished 112 barrels of 38-degree oil through a partial choke from the Clear Fork.

The producer is thought to be the first in Garza County from the zone. It is about four miles northwest of Justiceburg.

Shell No. 1-BC Slaughter, 12 miles north of Gail, deepened to 8,381 feet in lime. It is in the U Lazy S field C SE SE, 2-JP-6n, T&P Survey.

Harper Huffman No. 1 Miller, C NW NW, 1-30-5n, T&P Survey, drilled in lime at 3,830 feet. It is a wildcat eight miles northwest of Gail.

El Paso No. 1-A Lamb prepared to perforate after setting 5 1/2-inch casing at total depth of 7,500 feet. It is in the one-well Lamb (Spraberry) field C NW NW, 25-32, EL&RR Survey.

Cobb No. 1 Dalton drilled in lime at 8,674 feet. It is a wildcat C NE SE, 23-30-6n, T&P Survey, and 10 miles north of Gail.

Midwest No. 1 Davis, a wildcat 12 miles northwest of Lamesa, deepened to 4,088 feet in anhydrite and shale. The Pennsylvania test is 2,310 from south and 380 from west lines, 60-M, EL&RR Survey.

Seaboard No. 13-A Robinson, a well in the Spraberry Deep field, flowed 264.12 barrels of 42-degree oil through a 3/4-inch choke on 24-hour final test, after fracturing with 20,000 gallons. Perforations extended from 7,224-44, 7,276-39, and 7,313-40 feet. The well is 1,981 from south and 1,204 from west lines, 37-34-5n, T&P Survey. Total depth is 7,398 feet, and production is reached at 7,224.

Police School On Traffic Set

Police officers will begin a two-week school on traffic problems next Monday.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said today that instructors from the Midland Department of Public Safety office as well as from Austin will be here to take charge of the course.

Officers will meet five days weekly for four hours each day, Rogers said.

The chief said that the department would take up traffic law the first week and then go into traffic accident investigation procedure, and other phases of handling traffic problems the second week.

All members of the force will take the course.

4 Airmen Killed In Crash Of B47

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A B47 jet bomber crashed and burned last night taking off from Pease Air Force Base. Its crew of four was killed.

The crash was the second involving a B47 during the day. Another jet bomber plunged into Tampa Bay, Fla., in the midst of a tornado. Four men were killed in that crash.

The four killed here were assigned to the 509th Bomb Wing, a unit of the Strategic Air Command, at Walker Air Force Base, N.M. They were heading back to Roswell when killed.

Texas Farmers Delayed By Damp Fields

AUSTIN (AP)—Wet fields continued to delay farmers over much of the state last week but other growers reported good crop prospects, the Department of Agriculture said yesterday.

"All small-grain prospects continue exceptionally promising with an early harvest season shaping up," the weekly report said. "A few fields in the Low Rolling Plains were already heading and on the High Plains some were showing third joints."

In the Lower Valley, sorghums were six to eight inches high while in the Coastal Bend the crop was about ready for the first cultivation. Planting of sorghums was under way in the eastern third of the state and just starting in the eastern Low Rolling Plains counties.

Cotton planting moved slowly in south central and upper counties as farmers waited for soils to warm up before risking seed.

Peach and plum prospects continued favorable. Pecans in South Texas were blooming.

Spring and early summer vegetable prospects showed further improvement. The delayed onion harvest increased in the Lower Valley and started in the Laredo area. Movement of the onion crop is about 55 per cent behind last year. Lower Valley spring vegetable crops were helped by warm weather but still lagged behind the season.

Setting of tomato plants began in East Texas and North Texas onions continued to improve. Planting of early summer crops was well under way in much of the Panhandle vegetable area.

6 Navy Men Rub Elbows In 'Space Flight'

Truman's Ready

Former President Harry S. Truman, his notes open before him, sits at the witness table before presenting his views on the current economy to the House Banking and Currency Committee in Washington. Truman was the leadoff witness in a five-week hearing at which ten governors, five mayors and the top figures in industry and labor will have appeared.

6 Navy Men Rub Elbows In 'Space Flight'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six Navy men on a simulated trip to the moon worked, slept and bumped each other's elbows in their crowded "spaceship" today at the Philadelphia naval base.

The six began the make-believe trip yesterday in a test of man's reaction to the cramped quarters which would be encountered on an actual flight to the first target in outer space.

They will live on precooked rations, breathe oxygen concentrates and undergo simulated altitude conditions for six days more.

The volunteers were Chief Parachute Rigger Forrest V. Miller, Swedenland, Pa.; Hospitalman First Class Meredith H. Radcliff, Norristown, Pa.; Thomas W. Hirsch, Pittsburgh; Gene Metcalf, Danville, Ill.; Ronald G. Campbell, Warren, Ohio; and Charles H. Raysek, Detroit, all second class hospitalmen.

They are confined in a specially sealed long range seaplane with only two bunks, a washbasin and toilet and three work stations. They sleep eight hours at a time, and work eight hours in at tasks similar to those which would be performed on an actual flight.

Lana's Friend Interests Police, Even In Death

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Even in death, Lana Turner's boy friend interests the police.

Police today continued to delve into the shadowy life of Johnny Stompanato, stabbed to death April 4 by the actress' 14-year-old daughter Cheryl.

The dark, handsome onetime gambler's bodyguard left behind four cartons of personal effects stored in a Beverly Hills warehouse.

The cartons contained signed photographs of Miss Turner, pictures of other beautiful women and copies of loans which police say bear out their evaluation of Stompanato as a gigolo.

Police Chief Clinton Anderson said the Beverly Hills Police Department is interested in learning more about Stompanato's livelihood.

One of the loans, for $8,100, was made to Stompanato by Mrs. Doris Cornell, who said Stompanato never paid it back. She denied any romantic interest in the former bodyguard to ex-gambler Mickey Cohen.

Mrs. Cornell, who works in a pet store, said she loaned Stompanato the money so he could buy a gift shop.

"I was almost a sister to him," Mrs. Cornell told reporters. "He was nothing but a gentleman."

Stompanato's death was ruled justifiable homicide by a coroner's jury. Miss Turner's daughter, who said she stabbed Stompanato when he threatened to disfigure her mother, is awaiting a hearing April 24 in Juvenile Court. In the meantime, she is being held by juvenile authorities.

Science Institute Students Chosen

AUSTIN (AP)—Seventy-four high school students whose knowledge and enthusiasm in science and mathematics is above average have been picked to attend special institutes this summer, the Texas Education Agency said yesterday.

The students will attend either a special chemistry institute at the University of Texas, a biology institute at Texas A&M or a physics institute at Texas Tech. Students for mathematics institutes at Rice and SMU will be announced May 1.

Each participating school provides outstanding faculty members and laboratory facilities—at no tuition charge to the student.

"The enrichment course covers an intensive 5-week period," the agency said.

Students were picked on their aptitude, academic records and enthusiasm.

Alsbury Holds Mobilgas Lead

LUBBOCK (AP)—Mel Alsbury, looking for his third straight sweepstakes title, held a long lead today as the 29 stock cars headed out for the next-to-last day's run in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run.

Alsbury stretched his lead to about 4.7 ton-miles over his brother, George Alsbury, in the cumulative averages at the end of yesterday's run.

Mel Alsbury had a ton-mile rating of 63.8194 and an actual miles per gallon average of 29.9433 as the drivers started today's run to Abilene and Dallas. He was driving a Chrysler Imperial Crown and led the high price field.

George Alsbury, in a Chrysler New Yorker, paced the high-medium price class with a 59.119 ton-mile rating. His actual 21.2442 miles per gallon was the best recorded.

The drive, which started Sunday in Los Angeles, ends Thursday in Galveston, Tex.

The ton-mile rating was devised to permit heavier and lighter cars to compete on equal footing. It is obtained by multiplying actual miles gallon by tons of automobile.

Leading the low-price field was Mary Davis with a 49.5497 rating and 20.5579 actual miles per gallon in a Plymouth Belvedere.

Link Paola, driving an Oldsmobile 88, paced the low-medium price class at the end of three days with a rating of 51.3290 and actual miles per gallon of 19.5167.

Monet Painting Destroyed In Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — A shimmering 18-foot painting of water lilies by Claude Monet, valued at $40,000, was destroyed yesterday by a fire at the Museum of Modern Art. Of the 11,000 art objects in the museum, only five other paintings were found damaged in first checks. Two multimillion-dollar special exhibits escaped harm. "I thank God with every breath I breathe," Monroe Wheeler, director of exhibitions and publications for the museum, exclaimed at reports that these works by Georges Seurat and Juan Gris were unharmed. Most precious item in the museum was Seurat's "A Sunday Afternoon on the Island of La Grande Jatte," valued at more than a million dollars. One workman died in the fire.

Ancestor Hunt Top Hobby For DAR Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking for ancestors is big game hunting for the Daughters of the American Revolution. It takes proof of one bona fide Revolutionary War ancestor to join the patriotic society — but few of the members stop there in their search. The reward for each one they find is a gold bar which the DAR member wears on a blue ribbon. Some ladies searched so well in the past the ribbons got longer and longer and the officers felt they'd better put a 12-inch limit on them. But that didn't stop the endless genealogical safaris. This week with the DAR holding its 67th Continental Congress, members are jamming the 250-seat Genealogical library to search its nearly 80,000 books and manuscripts. "They even sit on the floor," reports Mrs. Mary Walsh, 37 years the DAR librarian, but still not a DAR. She's been searching for her own ancestors about 20 years and is only now close to completing evidence on two missing generations. The DAR is firm about its regulations. It prints a pamphlet on how to prove your ancestry and "reserves the right to determine acceptability" of evidence.

France In Familiar Shape—No Government, No Solution

PARIS (AP) — France was back in familiar shape today: no government, a deepening crisis in North Africa and no solution in sight for either. President Rene Coty began another weary round of political talks in search of someone who might rally enough National Assembly votes to succeed Felix Gaillard as premier. Gaillard resigned last night after the Assembly voted 321-255 against his call to accept a U.S.-British plan for settlement of France's dispute with Tunisia. The plan called for French-Tunisian negotiations with withdrawal of French troops from all of Tunisia except the Bizerte naval base.

Insurance Manager Wins Two Trips

Two trips, one to Chicago and another to Colorado Springs, Colo., have been won by W. J. Pujo, staff manager of the Big Spring Prudential Life Insurance office. Pujo and his family will spend a week at the Palmer House in Chicago April 21-26 and a week at Colorado Springs in September as awards for winning an annual contest for office managers. The competition was based on management and sales. While in Chicago, Pujo will attend a "Leaders' Conference for 1958" and the Colorado Springs trip will be to a sales seminar. From the local office, Pujo directs sales in Lamesa, Snyder, Colorado City, and Sterling City.

Larger Satellite Firing Planned

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A rocket designed to carry a basketball-sized satellite into space will be fired next week, if the usual pattern of preparations is followed at the Air Force missile test center here. A Vanguard rocket was given a static test Saturday to check the performance of its components. Usually a shoot follows a static test by about 10 days. The 20 1/2-inch satellite which is next to be launched is more than three times the size of that borne aloft by the first Vanguard.

Von Braun Thinks Manned Rocket Possible In Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may rocket a man 150 miles into space within a year—and bring him back alive.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, one of the world's leading missile experts, said he's sure it can be done with his Redstone rocket if the Pentagon gives him a go-ahead.

Von Braun, chief of Army missile development, also told the new House Committee on Space Problems the Soviets could shoot a man 200 miles up with the equipment they have now.

The former German scientist, who developed the Redstone and Jupiter missiles, estimated it would cost 10 million dollars to develop the American space man project.

The man would be shot up in a one-ton bullet-like capsule at a speed reaching 5,000 feet per second.

In his missile, he would hang motionless far higher than man has ever gone for about five minutes. Then a parachute device would slow his descent so that he could land—perhaps unconscious but still alive—in the ocean with a ship waiting to pick him up.

Von Braun said some animals such as chimpanzees would be used on test firings. But he said he had no doubt a human being could survive the ordeal. He said a volunteer had already been picked, but the declined to name him.

He said the project was submitted to the Pentagon several months ago. The question, he said, is whether the cost can be justified by the propaganda value and by the medical findings—that is, the constantly recorded physical changes in the space man.

Radioactive? Not Much, Says AEC

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Fallout is making you radioactive.

But just how much? How much radiation do you actually get? Only 1 to 2 per cent more than you've always been getting from natural sources—such as from cosmic rays, radium in the earth, and radioactive atoms in your body, says the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC says the average American gets:

From natural, unavoidable radiation: 100 millirads a year.

From all bomb tests so far: 1 to 2 millirads a year.

A millirad is a unit of measurement of the radiation absorbed by body tissues. It's roughly equivalent to a thousandth of a roentgen.

There are wide swings from this average.

In Denver, people get 147 millirads a year from natural radiation. Higher in altitude, Denver gets more cosmic rays. Also it sits on ground containing more radioactive minerals. Memphis, on the other hand, gets only 83 millirads a year from natural radiation.

Thus a resident of Denver gets almost twice as much natural radiation a year as does one in Memphis. Well, then, do people who live in Denver run almost twice the risk of having deformed babies as those who live in Memphis?

UNKNOWN QUANTITY

Is this higher natural radiation having that kind of bad effect on future generations, on heredity?

No one can say—no one has made such studies. Scientists would have to study many generations of people—who stayed put in Denver and Memphis—to get exact answers about any risk from this natural radiation.

The point is that bomb fallout is adding only a tiny amount.

There is not any AVERAGE fallout, either. It can and does vary.

Northern states have been getting more fallout atoms than Southern states, says the AEC. A main reason is they have had more rain and snow, which carries the atoms down to earth.

Towns near the Nevada test site can, of course, acquire more fallout atoms than distant towns. The closer you are, the more fallout you can expect, if only from dirt sucked up and made radioactive by the bomb explosion.

This heavier dust falls sooner than the lighter atoms, which are shot up higher and are carried farther.

The AEC has just reported a comparative study on amounts of fallout and radiation from it.

This measured the fallout accumulating on the ground up until last June 30. From this was calculated the exposure—in X-rays—that people living there would get in the next 70 years, based on the current fallout rate.

In Memphis, this total exposure would amount to 75 millirads in 70 years. In Grand Junction, Colo. to 160 millirads, in Salt Lake City, 180 in 70 years.

Some fallout dies out, becomes harmless, very quickly. The rest keeps building up, slowly increasing.

Sometimes the accumulation of fallout takes a big jump.

Last year, the total accumulated Strontium-90 in New York City jumped 50 per cent. That is, one year brought half again as much as had fallen since 1945. Other areas of the United States had similar increases, all from bomb tests, Soviet or American.

Still and all, says the AEC, fallout has added only a tiny percentage to the normal, background radiation.

Most estimates have to be based on AEC studies, since it is the only agency which has made widespread, detailed measurements.

A National Academy of Sciences report, now nearly two years old, put it this way:

In 30 years time, natural radioactivity gives a person 4.3 roentgens exposure. In that same time, fallout would add one tenth to one half of a roentgen.

There seems little room to argue that fallout is adding only slightly to the unavoidable radiation we have to live with.

The real disagreements come on the question of what this addition is doing to us biologically.

(Tomorrow: the biological effects, and moral questions)

Growers Seek Bracero Parley

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Representatives of Lower Rio Grande growers hope to set up a meeting with Labor Department officials tomorrow to discuss the need for Mexican bracero laborers on Valley farms.

Austin Anson, executive vice president of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, said yesterday he hopes to arrange a meeting with Newell Brown of the Labor Department.

Anson said, however, Brown was in Mexico City discussing the bracero situation and he was not sure the meeting could be arranged. He said the problem centered on restrictions on bracero labor placed by the Labor Department.

Bids On Highway Projects Due

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Commission will receive an estimated 12 million dollars in low bids on highway projects today.

It totaled $11,570,002 in bids yesterday, including the largest contract for a Texas secondary road.

Cage Brothers of San Antonio made the record low bid of $1,424,993 to construct a 1.8 mile bridge across Iron Bridge Reservoir on Farm 35 between Quinland and Emory in Hunt and Rains counties.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16, 1958

Destiny Of City, Herald Linked For Half Century

The following story was written by a Texas Tech Journalism student, Miss Hedleston, as part of a research project in one of her classes. Miss Hedleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hedleston of Big Spring, has worked in the editorial department of the Herald during two summers since entering Tech.—Ed.)

By NITA HEDLESTON
The Herald feels that the destiny of this paper is linked with the destiny of Big Spring. This appeared in the Big Spring Weekly Herald on Oct. 7, 1904, as the first issue of the new paper came off the press.

In the 54 years following the establishment of The Herald, the destiny of this same paper and the city located at the beginning of the Staked Plains shows that the two have been linked.

The first actual newspaper in Big Spring dates back even earlier, however, and the desire for news has been present since the town's beginning.

News was circulated in those first few years by oddtimers who gathered in stores and who seemed to know something about everything. They were known as the "Hot Stove League."

After the Texas and Pacific Railroad made its way through Big Spring in 1881, something more substantial was needed and on Feb. 19, 1883, the town's first weekly was established. This was The Pantagraph and the founders were T. G. Andrews and R. M. Hudson. The establishment of this paper took place 34 years after the first recorded white man entered the area.

Andrews later sold his interest in the paper to Judge G. W. Waltham. In 1886 the Pantagraph was sold to R. W. Walker, known to readers as "Pantagraph" Walker.

FIRST HAND PRESS
Walker obtained the first George Washington hand press to operate in this section of West Texas and he continued in regular weekly publication until 1894 when the paper was sold to a Mr. Williams. It was finally sold to the Rev. W. H. Harris, a Methodist minister, and discontinued in 1898.

After the era of The Pantagraph a number of other papers came into existence and lasted only a short time. It was said during this time that any newcomer in town who couldn't find another business would start a paper.

The Weekly Enterprise followed closely on the heels of the folding Pantagraph. It was published by W. V. Irvin until it closed in 1911.

The first daily made its appearance in 1899 as The Daily Venture. Operated and published by Wade Long, Elmer Pool and Miss Julia Barrett, The Daily Venture proved to be an unsafe venture and was soon discontinued.

The Venture had consisted of four pages, each eight inches wide and 12 inches deep. News was made up chiefly of personal notes, social gatherings and bits of business news.

Several campaigns were promoted, including one for better school facilities for Big Spring students. It was not until 1901, after The Venture had disappeared, that a bond election was finally called to build a new $16,000 school building.

In 1903, another short-lived paper appeared. This was the Big Spring News founded by the Rev. C. W. Irvin, R. B. David and Clyde Henry. This paper sputtered along for several months and finally fizzled out completely.

JORDAN AND HAYDEN
Big Spring was now a growing town. A permanent paper with dependable news and reasonable editors behind it was needed. T. E. Jordan, an experienced newspaper man, and Will Hayden, a businessman, set out to give the town just this type of paper when they began the Weekly Herald in 1904.

Hayden and Jordan were brothers-in-law and they chose to locate in Big Spring because it was a railroad town strategically located between El Paso and Fort Worth.

Jordan had been the foreman of a Stephenville paper for several years. When he left, the Stephenville Appeal said of him: "He is a thorough newspaper man in every department of the business, and this knowledge with his high moral character insure for him success in every venture."

The Stephenville Empire said, "Test him in any way you please and nothing but the ring of the true metal is heard."

Jordan and Hayden had $500 in borrowed capital with which they bought a Prouty hand press and some type and printed the first five-column, four-page paper on October 7. Five hundred copies were issued free to townspeople for the first weeks to show something of their efforts and purposes.

Perhaps the name "Herald" was derived from this statement which appeared in Vol. 1, No. 1:

"The editor . . . hopes that the Herald may always be a herald of glad tidings . . ."

It cautiously added, ". . . however, life is not all sunshine and no doubt some of its shadows will occasionally fall across its pages . . ."

In the first issue appeared a character known as the Man About Town which became familiar to readers for his "friendly observations."

TWO-MAN STAFF
Jordan and Hayden made up the entire staff of the paper, doing both mechanical and editorial work, selling of advertisements and distributing papers. In later years, as the town grew, several new workers were hired and the work of mechanical and editorial sides became more defined.

By 1925, The Herald had reached 2,000 circulation. It was located across from the T&P Railroad at 112 W. 1st and equipment included a Linotype, Babcock press, power folder, new type and job equipment. In addition, the original five columns of the paper had increased to six.

In 1925, Hayden sold his interest to Jordan who continued weekly operation until 1928 when the beginning of the oil boom in Howard County necessitated a daily paper. As a result, the Big Spring Daily Herald came into existence. Pony news service from the Associated Press was obtained in an attempt to give more widespread coverage of news.

The Herald finally changed hands in 1929 when Jordan sold out to Bernard Hanks of Abilene and Houston Harte of San Angelo, joining with several other West Texas papers into the Harte-Hanks chain. When the Harte-Hanks interests took over, a complete AP wire service was purchased.

The next editor to serve the Herald was Wendell Bedichek. He remained until R. W. Whipkey came to the Herald in 1935. Whipkey has served as editor continuously to the present time with only a few years out during World War II.

While Whipkey was in the Army during World War II, the acting editor was Joe Pickle, the present managing editor. He had started work on the paper in 1931 and after receiving his AB degree at Baylor, returned to work on the paper continuously since 1932.

GIRLS FITTING IN
During the war, Pickle said the paper was short-handed and it took an assist from the women to get the paper out. Only two men were in the front office. There were three men in the printing shop plus one woman, two workers in the pressroom including one woman and two women in circulation.

Extras were plentiful during this time. During one week, Pickle recalls, "It seemed as if we had a morning and evening edition because of the extras."

The Herald moved to two other locations before its present one. In 1934, the location was at 210 E. 3rd St. and in 1941 it moved to 900 Main where it remained until 1956.

It was in October of '56 that the long-time dream of the editors and publishers of the Herald was fulfilled as it moved into the large, brand new building which it now occupies.

Now with a circulation of 10,000 regular subscribers the paper reaches Martin, Glasscock, Mitchell and Dawson counties. Fifty-five people make up the staff of the paper.

In the 51 years of operation, the appearance and content of the Herald has changed considerably but basically the paper is the same. Other papers have come and gone but only the Herald remains, its destiny and that of the town it serves linked closely together as Jordan and Hayden had hoped it would be.

$41 Million In Water Projects Halted By Veto

AUSTIN (AP)—Forty-one million dollars worth of waterways and channels in Texas were stopped from possible appropriations yesterday when President Eisenhower vetoed the 1½-billion dollar water projects bill.

J. E. Sturrock, general manager of the Texas Water Conservation Assn., said all of the Texas projects had been approved by the Army Engineers and Bureau of the Budget, although other projects in the measure did not have approval.

Eisenhower has recommended to Congress 27 million dollars worth of appropriations for projects and water planning in Texas. The vetoed bill only would have made the projects eligible for money in the future.

Sturrock said these Texas projects were included in the vetoed water projects bill, with cost estimates:

Cavallo Pass to Port Lavaca, $413,000; Matagorda Ship Channel, Port Lavaca, $9,944,900; Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway, La Quinta Channel, $954,000; Freeport Harbor $317,000; Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Water Way, deepening from 26 to 40 feet, $6,272,000; hurricane protection in Galveston-Texas City-Houston area, $6,166,500; and Galveston Harbor and Houston Ship Channel $17,196,000.

A Bible Thought For Today

To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins. (Acts 10:43)

Don't Keep It A Secret

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be special days in Big Spring and we hope that merchants as well as consumers will take full advantage of them.

These are the Better Buy Days set up as a cooperative undertaking last year. Businessmen who take part in them have agreed to offer some exceptional bargains as a means of attracting attention to their regular services.

The spring Better Buy Days comes at a most opportune time when buying can help kick the trade volume off center and send the wheels turning in the tempo to which we have become accustomed during the past decade. Thus, buyers have some degree of responsibility — if that is the proper word — to react if the offers are attractive enough.

This means that merchants should sharpen their pencils as much as possible during this special period because more than a trade promotion is at stake. They are in a sense pouring fuel on the fire to score a breakthrough on the so-called recession.

Whatever means is employed, business operators should tell their story, too. We can't have a Better Buy Days that succeeds if participants whisper about it. This good news for buyers ought to be shouted from the rooftops.

Sordid And Seamy Not Accurate

The Texas Resources Conference ended in Austin Saturday with a panel discussion by editors and writers who were addressed by Francis Brown, editor of the New York Times Book Review, who praised the past work and future promise of writers who interpret the regional scene of the state and the Southwest.

Brown called the regional history of Texas a "significant part of the story of America."

Leaders in business, industry, the arts, labor, human resources took part in the conference at the University of Texas.

"Here," the New Yorker said, "history is still new, and while Texas is making history every day, many of you are writing of what happened yesterday and the day before so that tomorrow will have wider, deeper meaning than it could have otherwise."

He mentioned such Texas writers as Fred Gipson, William Humphrey, J. Frank Dobie, William Goyen and Tom Lea as having a "sense of place" in American literature.

In the case of Gipson, Dobie and Lea, whose works we have followed, we can testify that they and most Texas writers eschew that angle of approach that seems to be more or less standard practice among Southern writers; namely, presenting the most discreditable side of Southern life, specializing in human depravity, sordid and scandal.

That sort of thing seems to be rather going out of fashion, worn out by excesses. Some expatriate Southerners, and some who were bold enough to operate on the home grounds, have presented scandalous facets of Southern life that can be duplicated in many other regions — no more true to Southern life as a whole than the black sheep of a family is true to the family tradition.

These purveyors of misshapen mores were ostensibly in pursuit of "realism." But there was a more compelling motivation in their peculiar dedication to the seamy side of life. It paid off at the bookstore, in sales.

As a result of the mouthings of this minority of Southern writers the country as a whole and the world at large has a distorted, false and unjust picture of Southern life.

We hope these laborers in the literary vineyard continue to have as few imitators among Texas and Southwestern writers as they have in the past.

The Gallup Poll

Some Areas Look For Job Improvement

PRINCETON, N. J.—People in two major regions of the country tend to agree with President Eisenhower that the bottom of the recession is not too far away—at least, from the point of view of unemployment.

In the Far West and the Midwest, the weight of sentiment is that the employment situation will be looking better in the months ahead.

Optimism there, however, is offset by

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Speaking before the University of Texas Conference on Texas Resources at Austin last week, an industrial executive made a suggestion which should be pondered by those who think of the state's future only in terms of material accomplishment.

Discussing the future needs of the Lone Star State, Hines H. Baker, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said that the material, cultural and spiritual outlook for Texas citizens is so complex that education must not only produce better engineers, but poets, philosophers, statesmen, and prophets.

With all the stress that is being placed on scientific training of young people nowadays, there is a danger that we may overlook the fact that Texas will need leaders in other fields as well as science and engineering in future years. One does not have to minimize the importance of science to realize that no civilization can remain well-balanced if it is topheavy with specialists in any one field. And that's what is likely to happen in the U.S. if all the emphasis is placed on science and engineering and the liberal arts are neglected.

Homesick Parakeet

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Christopher, the pet parakeet of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cordero, went AWOL but the outside world was just too much for him.

The Corderos' 2-year-old daughter, Sally, opened a window and Chris, who has the run of the house, flew outside.

In hopes that Chris would return, the Corderos placed his cage in the yard. Five hours later, Chris was found romping merrily inside his "home."

Rattler Hunt

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP)—The Houston County Revenue Commission recently sponsored a one-day rattlesnake hunt and offered a $2.50 bounty for the reptiles.

It cost the county $627.50 in bounties as 251 snakes—most of them alive—were brought to the courthouse lawn. In addition, Pat McDaniel won a special $25 prize for the most snakes by bringing in 28—25 of them alive. And Sam Thompson won $25 for the largest rattler, a monster 6 feet, 2 inches long.

If Ike Had Talked More Plainly

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Eisenhower had talked a little more clearly there might have been less bellowing from Congress over his plan to streamline the Defense Department.

And Eisenhower, who seemed prepared a week ago to fight like a tiger for his plan, may have decided against butting his head too hard against the legislators. This would be consistent. He has pretty much avoided all-out fights.

He outlined his proposal in a special message April 3. Since then it has been attacked in Congress on various points, but particularly because of the power it would seem to give Secretary of Defense McElroy over defense spending.

Congress is jealous of its power to vote money for specific purposes. In the case of the Army, Navy and Air Force it has always viewed money to each according to its idea of their needs. But Eisenhower—although he used 7,000 words to explain his proposal—was extremely vague on what kind of control he wanted for McElroy over Defense Department funds.

While the fight roared on Eisenhower had a news conference. From the way he talked reporters concluded he was ready for a knock-down, drag-out fight for his plan. He said he didn't care who was against it, that he'd go on TV as often as he could to battle for it. He was talking of the plan as a whole, and still didn't spell out what he wanted Congress to do about appropriations.

Yesterday, some of the Republican leaders in Congress went to see him.

Sen. Republican Leader

Knowland of California said later it was a misconception to think Eisenhower wanted McElroy to have complete control of the military purse strings. Knowland said Eisenhower wanted only limited flexibility for McElroy in handling defense spending.

This apparently was an attempt to quiet down some of the opposition to the plan. But it still isn't clear—because Eisenhower has never made it clear—just what he means by flexibility or how much authority he wants for McElroy.

It seems reasonable—since his message took 7,000 words—that he could have used a few more words to spell out exactly what he had in mind.

Matinee Theatre Fails To Win Sponsorship Race

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—There's a little sense in trying to breathe life into a dying horse as there is in beating a dead horse. You can only write him a decent obituary before someone ships him off to the glue factory.

The horse in question is a gallant 3-year-old named Matinee Theater. It has won many a race in the estimation of many a week-day afternoon viewer but has not been able to win the Grand National Sponsorship Handicap. On June 27 Matinee Theater will present its last drama on NBC-TV.

NBC should be praised for effort and tenacity. It has poured about 12 million dollars into the hour-long, five-a-week dramatic series. Trade sources indicate the network's net loss is over three million. It reached its peak of sponsorship and estimated viewing audience last summer.

At that time 15 of its 20 weekly quarter-hour periods were being sponsored. At present only 7 are sponsored. Its Nielsen audience rating is about half of what it was in the summer.

Matinee Theater nevertheless maintained a high level of production quality.

Under the able eyes of executive producer Albert McCleery, Matinee Theater has produced some distinguished dramas. To recall a few: "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw, "The Master Builder" by Henrik Ibsen and "The Catbird Seat" by James Thurber.

It has offered experience and employment to about 5,000 actors. Now Matinee Theater is going and in its place it is expected that two half-hour soap operas will be seen.

Why is it dying? One cannot blame the network, which has stayed with it loyally. Nor can you blame commercial sponsors, whose purpose is to make money. Competitively, a popular teen-age program, American Bandstand (ABC-TV), and an excellent extemporaneous courtroom drama, The Verdict Is Yours (CBS-TV), have made inroads on Matinee Theater's audience.

The unfortunate cause of the death of Matinee Theater is that there are not enough viewers who care to watch generally good drama in the afternoon.

Peace Disturbed

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Municipal Judge Oscar Schmiede, trying to arrange peace in a family, found no peace in his court.

Two sisters, who charged each other with disorderly conduct, shouted at each other so much in court the judge couldn't be heard.

Judge Schmiede imposed silence on Mrs. Wanda Pahlke, 59, and Mrs. Alfred Craven, 56, by ordering them to post $100 bond each and warning them they would be clapped in jail if their clamor continued.

Around The Rim

Get The Color In The Records

In this semi-arid country, seldom do we have a lavish display of wild flowers and abundant greenery. Our prospects are the most excellent this year since 1941.

It's like some rancher said: "I'm seeing weeds I never saw before."

There's another verse to that. We may not see them again for quite a spell.

I would like to see us make the most of the prospective parade of verdance and color . . . sort of perpetuate this spring in our memories.

For instance, why can't those who are talented with crayon, pastel, water colors or oils do some creative work on native flowers, brush, hills? Why couldn't some art organization plan for a future show which would spotlight a division on local landscapes painted this spring, on close-ups of individual flowers or plants, on impressions growing out of the flowers and weeds and grass, or the banks of primestones along the highways?

Why can't the botany pupils be encouraged to do detailed sketches (even with color) of many of the beautiful blossoms? This is certainly a field in which there is a dearth of material.

Why can't Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and other groups doff the old technique of nature hikes with some adults to identify flowers and shrubs? Usually those with agronomy experience have some background in this type of thing.

Why can't the Chamber of Commerce arrange for a few color shots of certain areas such as golf courses, the park, lakeshores, etc. for possible future use in literature?

Why can't amateur cameramen look around for pictures which will capture the color and beauty of this spring? Few things could exceed the fidelity of good color slides in catching and holding this moment.

Perhaps this is all a screwball idea, especially to those who are new to this area. But experience has taught me that conditions such as we now have are most often separated by many years. Maybe I'm still having a brainwave from the drought.

Public Enemy Fleeing The Country

Look who's been elevated to the position of Public Enemy No. 1! Me! I don't see how a woman so filled with sweetness and light, and with such a lovely disposition as I, can so infuriate the opposition. But the mail on my desk would curdle the blood of Attila, the Hun.

Let's see who's screaming for my head on a platter, and never mind the parsley. Well, there's the billboard lobby, for one. Mad as hops, it is. To it, Dangerous Dan McGrew is as Elsie Dinsmore compared to me.

My consolation is that the mail also indicates that the only ones who oppose billboards are people. So I warn people that although the lobby was partially trounced in Congress, it is now beginning to work at the state level. On guard at the crossroads and the county courthouse, kids!

The official spokesmen for the nylon hosiery industry have not yet offered a price for me, dead or alive. But that comes next. So far, in various trade papers, they have only questioned my motives, ancestry, patriotism, honesty and virtue, and simply because I opined that nylon stockings do not wear as well today as they did in the dear, dead days before World War II.

Such hysteria. And from grown men, too! Again, the only ones who agree with me are women from all the 48 states. It occurs to me that if the boys would spend more time in the factory and less in fulmination, they might improve their product.

And when the anonymous spokesman for one nylon hosiery trade throwaway suggests that I am simply trying to blackmail the nylon industry for free stockings, he underestimates me. As a shake-nuts, I go for broke, not for peanuts, i.e., nylons. For example, de Beers, General Motors, the milk trade and the caviar crowd live in deadly terror of me. I never ask friends up to see my etchings, but to count the Cadillacs and cabachon cuts.

Let's see—the people who oppose even a trial period for pay teevee regard me as a cruel Scrooge who would rob widows, orphans, the poor and the underprivileged of the one and only joy in their gray existences. They have been persuaded, by the propaganda output of the teevee moguls, that pay teevee would mean the end of free teevee. And no factual arguments will disabuse them of this utter nonsense.

And there is a big, broken-hearted doll from the president of the Effanbee Doll Corporation, Bernard H. Baum, because I do not like dolls that drink and wet. Well, sir, I don't. But then, I am a great, big girl and I don't play with dolls.

But I realize that my nieces are mad for these moist toys, and it seems to me that this is the audience that counts. They and their kind love 'em, and if they want to change their dolls' diapers, it's money in the till and that's what counts. This doll is probably the greatest thing since the birds and the bees and may eventually replace both.

But can't I yearn for the old-fashioned doll that was self-contained without being coupled with Mata Hari? Drum majorettes, gum manufacturers and anti-foreign aiders would like to get in their ticks and lumps, too. And merchants who are trying to sell sacks to women are lighting the fire under the tar and getting the feathers ready.

And what am I doing in the emergency? Honey, I'm going to blow the country till the storm subsides. When next you hear from me, I shall be at the Brussels World's Fair. I hope, stirring up a storm. (1958, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Stock Market To Soviet Eyes

When Robert Burns wrote his great lines, "To see ourselves as others see us . . . wad frae monie a blunder free us," he examined only one side of the human equation. To be seen by others is also to see them—to grasp their sense of values, to discern their blindspots.

In October, 1955, a group of Soviet journalists toured the New York Stock Exchange with Keith Funston, president. One of them, Boris Polevoi, in a just published book in Russian, "American Diary," describes what he saw from the visitors' gallery as he looked down on the floor of the Exchange:

"People teem like ants in a disturbed anthill. There are thousands—running hurriedly, talking excitedly. The great room buzzes. Above all this boiling porridge of human bodies flow two shining ribbons with symbols and numbers (the trans-lux ticker tape) registering changes in stock prices.

"On a wooden wall are two immense blackboards, which flash symbols, calling a broker to the phone to receive an order to buy or sell. . . The buzzing in the hall sometimes changes to a roar, now triumphant, now despairing.

"Once this noise approached the volume of an artillery volley. The stock of some mighty corporation, recently fallen down, rose several points at once. And the hall echoed with roars, whistles, applause, and the stamping of feet. (All this) was foreign to us. We had a feeling of being on some other planet.

"The changes in prices on the shining blackboards, continuing to move in epic tranquility, tell how some people get rich, how some lose money, how some are begared. We understood that the 9 million stockholders anxiously watch the movement of the ribbons (price changes) even if they have only one or two stocks and live on the income they earn as workers. It seems that in this world, where everything is bought and sold, their life, prosperity and the future of their families depend . . . on ribbons.

"The most astonishing fact for us was that the wisest financiers, the most experienced members of the Exchange, by rejecting Marx's theory, do not try to explain scientifically the laws of the movement of capital, this constant tossing of the economy between the booms and the crises. They willingly agreed that everything, in essence, operates blindfold, that the gigantic exchange machine, wound up by them, works by its own will, guided by nobody.

"As we stood there, observing the beating heart of the business life of this country, we felt acutely the clever simplicity and wisdom of our system of state planning, strictly subordinating the economy to commands of reason, to the genius of the collective state, guaranteeing us from crises and securing the infallible growth of all its branches."

Thus, what to Americans is a "free market," registering the hopes and fears, the calculations and strivings of millions of investors and speculators, is to Polevoi blindness beyond understanding. At one point, Funston tried to explain to the Russians his concept of the American economic system. He used his favorite term—"people's capitalism, democratic capitalism." To Polevoi, such language was as contradictorily comical as "fried ice" or a "kind-hearted wolf."

Polevoi quoted Funston as saying: "Our modern American capitalism is quite different from the capitalism of the old European countries. There, gentlemen capitalism is really predatory, but ours is not." Funston was merely trying to say that in America capitalism is widely based; corporations have many stockholders, whereas in Europe ownership is more concentrated. But to Polevoi, nursed on Marxism, the reference to capitalism registered as a compound word—predatory-capitalism.

Funston is now in Europe, preparing the Stock Exchange's exhibit at the World's Fair in Brussels. It is located adjacent to the Soviet exhibit, so Funston wants it right. Just before he explained, I read him a translation of Polevoi's quotation. He said:

"Of course, I never used the word predatory. It wouldn't occur to me. I was talking about the breadth of ownership here. And all the while I talked to the Russians, I had the feeling I was just not getting through, the feeling I could not get through." I could sense Funston's helpless shrug over the long-distance telephone.

It wasn't a language barrier that stopped Funston. He's an articulate man. It was a thought barrier, a conceptual barrier. Two different worlds, two different ways of doing things, as Polevoi sees us, so he helps us see the Soviet Union, too.

Backyard Driver

SHELBY, N. C. (AP)—There had been a minor traffic accident and Trooper D. W. Spratt was questioning the motorists involved.

One, a woman, explained that she had never driven before on a highway, that all her previous driving experience had been in her yard.

"How long have you been driving around in the yard?" Spratt asked.

"Oh, two or three years," she replied.

Rebekahs Honor State President; Keys Of Her Program Are Cited

Two local Rebekah Lodges, the John A. Kee and Big Spring units, joined forces Tuesday evening in honoring the state president, Mrs. Sidney Ragsdale of Coleman.

The occasion was a banquet held in the ballroom of the Settles Hotel, which drew an attendance of 104. Tables held center baskets of sweet peas, the president's chosen flowers. Places were marked with a golden key on which was printed the officer's name. The president's table held a miniature doll which represented the honoree.

Mrs. Ward Hostess For HD Club

Mrs. W. H. Ward Jr. was hostess to the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday with roll call answered by members giving suggestions for crafts to be studied.

A silver collection was taken for Mrs. Ragsdale's projects, which include an elevator chair for the Old Folks Home at Ennis and completion of the swimming pool for the Children's Home at Corsicana.

Twenty members took the Assembly degree.

SOCIAL HOUR
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cole, H. F. Jarrett, Mrs. J. C. Pye and Mrs. R. W. Darrow were hosts for the fellowship hour which brought to a close the events of the evening.

Guests included neighboring Rebekah Lodges: Berta H. Porter, Lamesa No. 264, 11; Lamesa No. 90, 7; Stanton No. 287, 4; Knott No. 14, 4. Special recognition was given Mrs. Mae Wyatt of Lamesa, a 56-year member of Rebekah Lodge 123, Fairview, Mont.; Lynn White, district deputy grand mater, Dist. 40-A; Mrs. Leon Cole, district deputy president; Mrs. K. J. Nielsen and Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, deputies for the John A. Kee and Big Spring.

COMBINED MEET
Following the banquet, Mrs. Ragsdale presented her program for the coming year at a combined meeting of the lodges at Carpenters Hall. "All things of real value are priceless," said the president, whose theme for the year will be knowledge, symbolized by a gold key.

Among the ten "keys" of her program will be Knowledge of the Youth Program. She stressed the guidance of youth by the principles of friendship, love and truth, cited Proverbs 24:3-4 as her scripture. A poem on "Sharing" concluded her address.

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, acting in behalf of both lodges, presented to the honoree a gavel, designed especially for her and wrapped by Mrs. K. J. Nielsen in the shape of a large gold key.

Study Of Book Is Opened By Two Circles

Study of the first two chapters of the book "God's World Plan" was undertaken by the WMS members of College Baptist Church, Monday when they met as circles. The study will continue in subsequent circle meetings.

MELVINA ROBERTS
Mrs. Mitchell Malouf was hostess to the Melvina Roberts Circle. After a prayer by Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. W. L. Mead reviewed the study book. Mrs. William Lane was introduced to the 10 present as a new member.

JUANITA ARNETT
Juanita Arnett Circle members met with Mrs. J. C. Gross for the study. Mrs. C. W. Fish offered the opening prayer, and Mrs. James Findley brought the lesson. Mrs. Leslie Carnes joined the 10 as a new member.

Local Nurses To Be Represented At Meet
Mrs. Fred Hyer, Mrs. David Duke, Frances Bartlett and Bessie Love will be attending the 50th annual convention of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association in Tyler. The three-day meeting will convene Thursday.

Carrying out the theme, "Fifty Years of Progress—Past and Future", programs will include a review of the history of the organization and a look toward the future by Agnes Ohlson, president of the American Nurses' Association. Each of the seven subdivisions of the TGNA will hold programs on topics that will be helpful to their own professional nurse members.

SPADERS CLUB CHANGES HOUR OF MEETING
A change has been made in the meeting hour for the Spaders Garden Club, it was announced this morning. The group, with a field trip, planned, will meet at 9 a.m. Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Don Grantham, 2405 Runnels.

At Scout Course
Mrs. Charles V. Weaver is attending a day camp directors course at the MO Ranch in Hunt this week. The final session will be held Saturday.

THDA District Two Will Elect Officers

Mrs. O. D. Kennedy of Brownfield is the only candidate for vice president of District Two, Texas Home Demonstration Association, which will convene here Thursday.

Mrs. Kennedy is active in civic work both in her home town and in Terry County. She is president of the WMU of the First Baptist Church in Brownfield and assists with other church activities. She has been THDA citizenship committee chairman and has been on the state board for two years. Mrs. Kennedy is now state chairman of special activities committee.

Mrs. Ross Adamson of Lubbock is district vice president at the present time and will be in charge of the sessions to be held at the First Christian Church. Registration begins at 9:30 a.m., with the meetings slated for 10 a.m.

Mrs. Shirley Fryar is THDA chairman. About 350 women from 22 counties are expected for the one-day gathering.

Luncheon will be served at noon, with the price per plate set at $1.50. Announcement has been made that there will be a nursery, and the price of a plate for a child will be one dollar.

Speakers include Dr. P. D. O'Brien, whose topic will be Strengthening Family Life. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church. Also appearing before the group will be C. G. Scruggs, associate editor of The Progressive Farmer Magazine, and Mrs. Carl Herfurth of Garland, vice president-at-large of the association.

Members will have an opportunity to endorse Mrs. Wilmer Smith of Lynn County as a candidate for state president of THDA.

Knott HD Club Has Civil Defense Skit
A skit on family preparedness to meet disaster spotlighted training for Civil Defense at the meeting at the Knott HD Club this week. Mrs. Dick Clay was hostess to the group of ten.

Mrs. W. A. Burchell offered the opening prayer and gave the thought for the day, "Home is the love that is in it." Demonstration of salad dressings was brought by Mrs. P. P. Coker and Mrs. O. B. Gaskins.

Mrs. Coker will be hostess to the club April 22.

Mrs. Henson To Head AAUW Of Lamesa
LAMESA — Mrs. C. T. Henson was elected president of the American Association of University Women at their luncheon meeting Saturday. Other officers elected included Mrs. Lorene Brumley, vice president; Mrs. Frank Bittle, secretary; Lola Mae Hewitt, treasurer; and Ima Jane Brown, historian. Mrs. Nancy Johnson is the retiring president.

The program was presented by Mrs. Jean Jenkins when she gave the story, "Artie Has a Date." Hostesses for the meeting were Bennie Speck, Lola Mae Hewitt and Mrs. Andrew Essary.

Royal Neighbors
Mrs. J. G. Coldiron, 803 East 2nd, will be hostess for the Royal Neighbors, 7277, Thursday at 2 p.m.

At Scout Course
Mrs. Charles V. Weaver is attending a day camp directors course at the MO Ranch in Hunt this week. The final session will be held Saturday.

Buffet Dinner Held For Baptist Class
Sixteen members of the Emily Andrews Class of the First Baptist Church were guests of Mrs. J. F. Wheat Tuesday night when she entertained for a buffet dinner.

Assisting Mrs. Wheat was Mrs. Bill Gage.

Mrs. C. W. Mahoney brought the devotion from the 13th chapter of Corinthians after the opening prayer by Mrs. J. C. Pickle.

Following the meal the group remained for visiting. Mrs. Floyd Parsons, class teacher, brought the invocation that preceded the meal.

Faculty Ma'ams Map Spring Picnic

Faculty Ma'ams, meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marshall Box, worked out details for the spring picnic scheduled for May 19 at the Bruce Frazier home. The annual event is staged for members of the board and faculty, as well as HCJC personnel.

Suggestions were made for the fall reception on the college campus. Mrs. B. M. Keese announced that she will distribute handbooks to the group this summer. The 15 voted to dispense with a meeting in July, and agreed to change the regular meeting date from the third to the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Purple iris in a terra cotta bowl centered the refreshment table. Dainties were served from a lazy susan.

The Ma'ams will be the guests of Mrs. Jack Hendrix at 10 a.m. May 24 for a coffee at her home.

Terpenings' Guests

Lt. and Mrs. Andy Terpening have as guests this week her parents, Col. and Mrs. Robert E. Snetzer. Recently returned from West Pakistan, where he was Punjab Area Engineer, the Snetzers are en route to Washington, D. C., and his new assignment with the Office of Chief Engineer, U. S. Army. This is their first opportunity to see their granddaughter, Kathy Terpening, who is 15 months old.

Center Point 4-H'ers

OLD CASE IS STILL WORKING HIS MAGIC

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
This may be a tougher, tighter American League pennant race as predicted by the managers, but at the moment, Casey Stengel is still pulling rabbits out of hats with his New York Yankees.

figured it would improve once the season started. And most of the spring he had Jerry Lumpe playing third base, only to declare that "Andy Carey still is my man" when announcing his opening day lineup.

Jayhawk Flier

Delbert Shirey (above) is a likely winner in at least two events in the upcoming dual meet between HCJC and New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell, which will be staged here Saturday afternoon. Shirey excels in both the pole vault and high jump. He's shown here practicing the broad jump.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hort

Ossie Alvarez, one of the most likeable baseball players ever to perform in a Big Spring uniform, is getting his chance with the Washington Senators.

The spirited infielder has been called up from Charlotte for a shot at the Sens' second base job, where Herbie Plews and Bob Malkmus have failed to fill the bill.

Among all the players who have ever played here, Alvarez would have been my choice to make the ripple in the big leagues. He hustles. He covers an acre of ground. He runs the bases like Willie Mays. He can throw. And he's learned to hit. (Witness his .362 average with Midland last year.)

Ossie's eagerness to play is bound to make an impression on the Washington fans. His bounce may revive a ball club that has been sagging for many years.

The 6 feet 9 1/2 inches SMU's Bert Holmgren cleared in the ABC Relays here April 5 is the third best high jump in the nation up to now.

Holmgren probably would have cleared seven feet here on a still day.

Wasteland, indeed! That's the way Tex Maule and Sports Illustrated magazine referred to this area in their most recent edition, at which time the publication condescended to give the ABC meet a quarter of one page.

Admittedly, Maule and cameraman John Zimmerman saw the country at its worst, during the height of a spring storm. There's going to come a time when West Texas is going to have to feed the world. You can count on that.

True, the ABC Relays were vying for attention in the magazine at the same time it's spring baseball edition came out. Still, the periodical devoted more space to women's panties and shorts than it did to the meet.

In a letter to this window, Sports Publicist Bill Holmes of Texas Tech expresses a regret that the debate over the Raiders' Dub Thornton cause so much debate immediately preceding the Relays.

"To prevent any more such occurrences," writes Holmes, "he's going back to the plain shoe. It means additional tape jobs, but Dub is a good boy who doesn't want to cause any meet committees any embarrassment or make anyone think he is doing anything wrong. If his arch holds up, he ought to be back to his regular height before long. . . . The furore that week had Dub awfully upset.

"And, say, don't let anyone tell you that weather conditions were bad at the meet. I recall a regional meet here in '53 or '54, when the wind was stronger, and the dust much thicker. . . ."

Two New York sports writers recently interviewed Casey Stengel at the same press conference.

"Stengel says White Sox are the team to beat," the New York Daily News headlined its man's story.

"Stengel says Red Sox are the team to beat" was the banner over the Herald Tribune's story written by its reporter.

It's quite easy to interpret Stengel's alien tongue any way you want.

Alton (Red) McCarty, the former Big Spring back, may wind up at Highlands University in New Mexico, where another local youth, Milton Davis, is now enrolled.

LITTLE LEAGUE PARK FUND IS SHORT $2,200, BURNS SAYS

The Little League park fund, which started out with an original objective of $10,000, lacks about $2,200 of going over the top, Sam Burns of the sponsoring organization, the Moose Lodge, announced Monday.

Burns expressed confidence that the drive would succeed within the next several weeks. Work on the two new Little League parks is well along, Burns stated, and both will be ready by the time the regular season begins the first week in May, unless some unforeseen difficulties arise.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation is footing the bill for one park, located immediately south of town on US Highway 87.

The other plant is situated on HCJC property in the southeast section of the city.

Workouts in all three major Little Leagues got under way here and in Coahoma Monday. Player auctions take place this weekend.

Locals Shatter Five Records In Track Meet

SNYDER (SC) — Three Big Spring Junior High track and field teams wound up with a second and two third places in the Snyder Invitational meet staged here Tuesday.

The Seventh Grade Yearlings from Big Spring finished second behind Sweetwater. The Colts had 52 points, Big Spring 30 and Snyder 22.

Rickey Weisner of Big Spring set a new record in the discus throw in that division, with a toss of 115 feet 6 inches.

Jeff Brown was second in the shot put, with a toss of 37 feet 4 inches. Mike Godwin of the Yearlings was second in the broad jump, with a leap of 16 feet 4 inches.

James Samples of Big Spring was fourth in the same event, having cleared 15 feet 10 inches.

Jeff Brown won first place in the 120-yard high hurdles in 17 seconds flat.

Samples was second in the 50, Weisner third in the 75 and third in the 100.

Big Spring's sprint relay team wound up second as did its 880-yard relay team.

Snyder won the ninth grade division with 40 points. Big Spring had 22.

Big Spring entries did have the satisfaction of setting four new records in that division.

In the 100-yard dash, R. L. Lasater was clocked in 10 3/4 and wasn't pushed. He beat his own record, set in the preliminaries, at which time he covered the distance in 9.5. The old record was 10.6, set by Watson of Sweetwater in 1956.

Big Spring's sprint relay team, composed of Bob Andrews, Roy Burkiow, Carey King and Lasater, was timed in 47.5 seconds, a record by more than 20 feet.

Big Spring's 880-yard relay team had a 1:38.4 clocking, which beat the old mark of 1:44.0.

Gary Walker of the Yearlings won the discus throw with a prodigious heave of 158 feet 9 1/2 inches, a record by more than 20 feet.

The old mark was 138 feet 6 inches.

In that division, King also finished fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 1 1/2 inches; and Jerry Dunlap of the Yearlings was third in the shot put with a throw of 48 feet 8 1/2 inches, an effort which itself broke the old record. Minton of Snyder won the event with a throw of 50 feet 5 inches.

McKay of Colorado City high jumped 5 feet 11 and quit after that, for lack of competition.

Edison of San Angelo won the Eighth Grade division with 42 points, followed by Snyder, which had 22 1/2; and Big Spring, with 14 1/2.

Ken Moelling of Big Spring was fourth in the 50. Big Spring's relay teams finished third in the 440 and second in the 880.

Red Schwarzenbach of Big Spring delivered the shot 41 feet plus for a second place finish. Jimmy Madry was third in the same event.

Madry tied for second in the high jump, with a leap of 5 feet 3. Jerry Tucker of the Yearlings was in a four-way tie for fourth in the same event.

David Maberry of the Yearlings was third in the broad jump.

Evans Pitches Eagles To Win

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Roger Mac Evans pitched the Abilene Eagles past the San Angelo Bobcats, 5-3, in a District 2-AAAA baseball game here Tuesday afternoon.

Abilene scored three runs in a big third inning, highlighted by a double off the bat of Alan Peake.

Peake, who hit a home run in the same inning, also pitched a perfect game.

McConkey, who pitched a perfect game in the first inning, was replaced by Evans, who pitched a perfect game in the second and third.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the fourth and fifth. He struck out three batters in the sixth and seventh.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the eighth and ninth. He struck out three batters in the eighth and ninth.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the tenth and eleventh. He struck out three batters in the tenth and eleventh.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the twelfth and thirteenth. He struck out three batters in the twelfth and thirteenth.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the fourteenth and fifteenth. He struck out three batters in the fourteenth and fifteenth.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the sixteenth and seventeenth. He struck out three batters in the sixteenth and seventeenth.

Evans pitched a perfect game in the eighteenth and nineteenth. He struck out three batters in the eighteenth and nineteenth.

Rookies Look Good As Season Opens

By The Associated Press
The rookies had themselves a day as the National League, now a coast-to-coast network, opened the 1958 season.

Three rookies ruined Milwaukee's debut before the major's top crowd yesterday, 43,339, at County Stadium. Ron Blackburn and Curt Raydon, a couple of kid right-handers, blanked the Braves over the last four frames, and R. C. Stevens singled the winning run home in a 14-inning, 4-3 victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

At San Francisco, rookies Jim Davenport and Orlando Cepeda showed few jitters at the plate while backing up veteran Ruben Gomez's six-hit, 8-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Chuck Essegian and Ray Sem-proch were big guns as Philadelphia cracked Cincinnati 5-4. And Dolan Nichols and Ed Mayer, though working but briefly, got in on a four-pitcher shutout as the Chicago Cubs whopped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in the lone night game opener in either league.

The Pirates, overcoming Ed Mathews' two home runs, managed a 3-3 tie against Warren Spahn, the NL's lone 20-game winner last season before he gave up at the end of nine innings. Gene Conley was the loser, giving up a two-out double to Dick Groat, a single to Bob Skinner and then the payoff single to first baseman Stevens.

Davenport, taking over at third for the Giants, singled twice, scored twice and drove in a run for the Giants, playing before a crowd of 28,448—all the Seals Stadium can hold.

Gomez fanned six, walked six and drove in a run as the Giants rapped starter-loser Don Drysdale and two relievers for 11 hits.

Jim Brosnan was the winner at St. Louis. Nichols, Mayer and Don Elston all got into the act in the seventh to preserve the shutout. Chicago belted Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell for three runs and seven hits in the first three frames.

The crowd of 26,246, a record for a night game opener at St. Louis, saw Stan Musial tie Mel Ott's total-bases record in the National League with a single in five trips for a total of 5.041.

Essegian, a rookie in left field, doubled twice, scored twice and drove in a run for the Phils, who blew a three-run lead before finally wrapping it up before an overflow crowd of 32,849 at Cincinnati. Semproch, coming on after the Redlegs scored four in the sixth against Robin Roberts to gain the lead, pitched one-hit, shutout ball the rest of the way.

Jet-Ettes Ahead In OWC Circuit

In the last games of the OWC Bowling league season next week it will be a tussle for the first place standing between the Jetettes, now leading by four points, and the second place Pin Heads.

In a contest between the two tied teams Monday night, the Jetettes conquered the Pin Heads by taking all points.

In the other matches, the Bowlers dropped three points to the Odd Balls, while the Topplers split two points even with the Jet Streams.

Joyce Ruhl, of the Jetettes, took high honors by tying Mary Ellen Schmidt's high single for the OWC second session with a 205, and an aggregate of 481. Lois Slavin, of the Jetettes, was close behind with her 180-475.

A high team total of 2426, plus handicap, went to the first place Jetettes.

In the last week of play, the Jetettes will meet the Bowlers, the Pin Heads will tangle with the Jet Streams and the Topplers will oppose the Odd Balls.

Hosses Get Jump On Herd To Win

Julian Pressley's Odessa Bronchos got too big a jump on the Big Spring Steers here Tuesday afternoon, proceeding from a four-run first inning to a 6-2 District 2-AAA baseball victory.

The game evened the conference record at 1-1 for both teams and left Midland very much in command in the league race.

Three of the four runs the Hosses collected in Round One were unearned. The Steers committed three bobbles behind Billy Roger and the visitors combined those with a solitary base hit and a base on balls to bank their tallies.

The lone hit was by Audie Cox, who led off the round. He, Ronnie Goodwin, Buddy New and Jackie

New proceeded to dent the plate. Bobby Flanagan crashed out a solo home run in Odessa in the fourth while New duplicated that feat in the following round, an inside-the-park blast that went between the right and center fielders.

Big Spring managed to pick up a run in the first when Wilson Bell tripled and rode home on a single by Roger. The Steers added an unearned tally in the sixth when Joe Bob Clendenin, who had walked and moved around on an error, sprinted home on an overthrow of third by catcher Johnny Henson.

The Steers blew away numerous chances to get runs in bunches in the first and second innings. Tommy McMorris went all the way on the mound for Odessa. He kept six hits well scattered and was always roughest in the clutch.

No player on either team managed more than one hit during the contest.

The Steers, who now have a 9-4 won-lost record, next play Abilene in Abilene Thursday afternoon.

Hayes To Speak At QBC Party

Doc Hayes, whose Southern Methodist University basketball teams have won or shared the Southwest Conference championship the past four years, will serve as principal speaker at the Big Spring High School cage banquet here Thursday night.

The party, planned by the Quarterback Club, begins at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria.

The booster organization planned the banquet to honor both the team and the Steer coach, Johnny Johnson, who guided the club into the second round of the state playoffs after giving the school its first district championship in 25 years.

Hayes took the SMU job a half dozen years ago, after serving as a high school mentor in the Dallas school system for many seasons.

His 1956-57 SMU team is considered one of the greatest in the history of the Southwest Conference. Paced by Jim Krebs, it went to the semi-finals of the NCAA playoffs before losing to Wilt The Stilt Chamberlain and Kansas University.

The coaching job Hayes did this year may have been even more remarkable, however. He took a group composed largely of sophomores and juniors and coached them to a tie for the top spot with Arkansas University.

A questionable call by an official in a Texas A&M-SMU contest, in which a goal-tending call was made against an SMU player that swung the issue A&M's way, robbed SMU of an outright claim on the title.

One of Big Spring's star players, Jan Loudermilk, has already given a letter of intent to attend SMU.

In addition to the players and their coach, other honored guests at the banquet will include cheer leaders, sponsors of the pep squad and the 1958 Basketball Queen.

Tickets for the banquet, priced at $2 each, are available to the public. They can be purchased at Cornelson Cleaners, Jack Johnson's office in the Acme Building, Squeaky Thompson's Furniture Store and the school business office.

The trophies the Steers won in tournaments and in district competition will be on display during the banquet.

TV Industry Presents Awards; But Oscar Show Was Better

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Father Knows Best, Dinah Shore and Jack Benny, honored at last, were the stars last night in television's annual Emmy Awards.
The show, telecast over NBC-TV, proved one thing — that the movie industry puts on a better TV show than TV itself.
Entertainmentwise, the Emmy show looked like a junior class play compared with the movies' recent Oscar telecast.
Milton Berle, a TV pioneer who hasn't worked in the medium for three years, gave the Emmy show its only lift with fast quips.
Miss Shore won Emmys for the best musical show and for the best continuing performance by a female.
Benny won the Emmy for the best continuing male performance only seconds after he was voted a special Academy trustees award. As a member of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences explained: "We've been very embarrassed that such a great comedian as Jack Benny has never won an Emmy before. So we decided to make sure he got at least one tonight."
Father Knows Best, a situation family comedy almost dropped two years ago, won an Emmy for Robert Young as the best actor in a series and for Jane Wyatt as best actress in the same category.

"The Comedian," a Playhouse 90 production, was named the best single program of the year. Rod Sterling, its author, won the best writing Emmy. Mickey Rooney, whose performance in the title role was judged an all-time TV class by many critics, didn't get a nod as best actor.

That award was won by Britisher Peter Ustinov for his portrayal of Dr. Samuel Johnson on the Omnibus show. That series also won an Emmy as the best public service program.
Seven Lively Arts, a show already off the air, was named the best new program of the year.
Polly Bergen won the Emmy for best actress in the Playhouse 90 production of "The Helen Morgan Story."
The Phil Silvers Show won as the best comedy series — and its many writers, almost outnumbering Sgt. Bilko's platoon, won for best comedy writing.
The adult Westerns, most popular rated shows on TV, made only one breakthrough, in Gunsmoke. That show, TV's No. 1 rated series won as the best continuing dramatic series.
In other awards, Carl Reiner of the Sid Caesar Show won the best supporting actor Emmy; Ann B. Davis, the man-crazy Schultzy of the Bob Cummings Show, won best supporting actress; Edward R. Murrow, best news commentator; composer Leonard Bernstein, best musical contribution; and Playhouse 90, best dramatic anthology.

Officer Fined In Box Case

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—An American major who piloted a helicopter carrying a young Korean thief nailed in a box has been reprimanded and fined $200, half a month's pay.
Maj. Thomas G. James of Plymouth, Pa., got the maximum penalty under Article 15 of the Military Code which he chose to accept rather than risk trial by a general court-martial. If convicted by the court, he could have gotten up to three years and nine months in prison, loss of all pay and allowances while imprisoned and dismissal from the Army.
James already has been relieved of his post as commander of the aircraft maintenance center where 14-year-old Kim Choon Il was roughed up Feb. 25.
The Army announced today that a court-martial had been scheduled April 18 for M.Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul, Pottstown, Pa., also accused of mistreating the boy. A general court last week found Capt. Marvin E. Kemp, Kilmichael, Miss., guilty of assaulting Kim. It fined him $1,200 and relieved him of command for six months.
The Army said the trio caught Kim stealing, knocked him about and nailed him in a three-foot box.
