A taxi driver, Alfonso weighs 600 pounds and dwarfs tailor Sam Vexler, a fellow of ordinary size. Alfonso is 75 inches tall, has a girth of 71 inches. He said his wife weighs a mere 135 pounds.

Tornado Alerts Awaken Texans

By The Associated Press

Tornado threats broke into the slumbers of hundreds of West Texans early Monday.

Severe thunderstorms, accompanied by hail as large as baseballs, continued through the night. Daylight brought no word of any twister damage however.

Lubbock turned on its new civil defense sirens for the first time at a special alert from the Weather Bureau. Forecasters warned an approaching squall line might contain deadly funnels after the State Highway Patrol confirmed a report of one being sighted in the air 18 miles to the southwest.

The tornado menace also sent some families seeking shelter at the courthouse in Littlefield, 30 miles northwest of Lubbock. Others huddled in storm cellars there. Sightings of up to half a dozen funnel clouds, all in the same general South Plains area, were reported.

From late evening until 3 a.m. Monday, a broad sector of West Texas also kept watch for more of the severe thunderstorms against which forecasters warned in an earlier advisory.

This alert made no mention of tornadoes, but cautioned against destructive hail and winds in an area 60 miles each side of a line from 60 miles southwest of Midland to 40 miles southeast of Amarillo.

Shortly before dawn thunderstorms crackled in the area between Abilene and Stamford, in the vicinity of Wink, southwest of Amarillo and around Dalhart. Lubbock's tornado warning was issued at 12:25 a.m. and the sirens wailed. The alert was lifted at 1:21 a.m.

Observers said no funnel was sighted in the city as a squall line swept through from the southwest. It added only a sprinkle to the 43-inch of rain falling in Lubbock three hours earlier, along with hail.

As late as 2 a.m. the Ground Observer Corps logged a report of a twister funnel being sighted between Ralls and Crosbyton, about 35 miles east of Lubbock.

The tornado scares started as early as 10:30 p.m. Sunday, when the Weather Bureau got word a funnel had been spotted near Idaho, 12 miles east of Lubbock.

In between those two came reports of dark, menacing clouds with funnel-like fingers at two spots 10 and 15 miles southwest of Littlefield, both shortly before midnight, and another traveling from Whittarral, 12 miles south of Littlefield, toward Anton, 12 miles southeast.

Witnesses told the highway patrol at least one of the twister clouds apparently touched ground southwest of Littlefield, presumably in open fields.

Still other sightings were at Plains, 70 miles southwest of Lubbock, and at Ropesville, 23 miles southwest, and later between Ropesville and Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock.

About the same time the Lubbock alert was lifted, a trucker told of spotting a twister on the ground at 1:20 a.m. about 3 1/2 miles east of Cotton Center, 25 miles north of Lubbock. Again there was no word of damage.

Reporter's Aid May Win New Murder Trial

DENVER (AP)—A Denver man convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for murder, may be given a new trial because of a newspaper reporter's tenacity, an anonymous letter and a woman's faith in her former husband.

Bethel Brooke, 36, has been in jail since a Denver jury convicted him last Dec. 19 of the gunshot slaying of Mrs. Edith Marck, 25. The nude body of the attractive, red-haired divorcee and mother of two was found in Brooke's southwest Denver trailer home last July 13. Brooke denied the slaying.

The Denver Post early this year received the anonymous letter, which, the newspaper said, was the key to indicating Brooke could be telling the truth when he denied killing Mrs. Marck.

Reporter John Snyder was given the letter and he went to work on the case in mid-February, interviewing people who knew Brooke and Mrs. Marck, and he talked with Brooke himself.

"Snyder turned up a male suspect that 'looked pretty good,' but told Brooke he wasn't going to do anything more unless he took a lie detector test. Brooke agreed and the Post hired local and internationally known experts to conduct the tests.

John Reid of Chicago and S. A. McCauley, chief investigator for the district attorney's office, conducted the tests.

"Our unanimous conclusion is that Brooke is innocent — that he did not kill her (Mrs. Marck)," Reid said.

The polygraph tests, the newspaper said, showed Mrs. Marck actually killed herself in the trailer home and that Brooke tried to prevent the suicide.

Brooke's former wife, Mary, 34, told the Post she believed her ex-husband was innocent all the time.

Observers said no funnel was sighted in the city as a squall line swept through from the southwest. It added only a sprinkle to the 43-inch of rain falling in Lubbock three hours earlier, along with hail.

Graham Hits Home Troubles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A nation is no stronger than its homes and there is something wrong with the American home, Billy Graham told a Mother's Day audience of 16,300 at the Cow Palace Sunday night.

The evangelist noted there is one divorce for every 3 1/2 marriages in the nation and one for every two in San Francisco.

"It shows there is more unhappiness here than in any other city in the world," Graham declared as he opened the third week of his San Francisco crusade.

"The Bible teaches that marriage is a miracle," he said. "It is a serious, lifelong step and in God's sight is a sacred vow."

Graham told wives to subordinate themselves to their husbands. "The wives are the keepers of the home — not the women's club — but the home. Greet your husband at the door with a kiss. He may faint the first time. It doesn't cost much to be attractive."

"The wife has the hardest job," he went on. "I had to take care of my five children one day while my wife went shopping. I'd rather plough new ground all day than go through that again."

Reinforced security forces were stationed at strategic spots throughout the city. Strong patrols moved continuously through the streets.

The general strike spread quickly in Beirut and in Tripoli, the north Lebanese seaport.

Months of mounting political tension erupted over the weekend with the burning of the U.S. Information Agency's library in Tripoli. The rioters destroyed every book and piece of furniture.

Rival political gangs went into action there Saturday. Reports said they stole guns from a shop and turned them on each other. The library was swept up in the rioting which killed at least four persons and injured 30.

Lebanese Mobs Burn Second U. S. Library

Oil Pipeline Also Victim Of Rioters

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanese rioters sacked and burned the U.S. Information Agency library in Beirut today and blew up an Iraq Petroleum Co. oil pipeline near the Syrian border.

The pipeline was blown near the village of Mansoura.

IPC pipelines had not been fully restored to normal since they were blown up by the Syrian army during the attack on Suez nearly two years ago.

The USIA library here was the second to suffer at the hands of Lebanese demonstrators in three days.

Rioters stirred up by foes of Lebanon's pro-Western government burned the USIA library, many books and furniture Saturday in the north coast city of Tripoli.

A general strike called by the government's opponents crippled this capital and major ports in the north and south today.

One person was reported killed in brief, sporadic firing that security forces quickly halted.

LIBRARY ATTACKED
In Beirut today, a mob smashed through police guarding the library, hurried more than 1,000 books and furniture into the street and set the pile ablaze. Then the rioters set fire to the inside of the library and destroyed it.

The library consisted of three reading rooms and storage rooms on the ground floor of the building, which suffered severe damage.

The USIA library here was the target of stones in another demonstration in 1952. Eight students were arrested for that assault.

There was another outbreak of fighting later today in the heart of the city but security forces quickly dispersed the demonstrators. There was no immediate indication of whether anyone had been hurt in this flurry, but reports from Basta, the Moslem section, said two were dead there in fighting.

Damascus reported that Lebanon had sealed its borders with Syria early in the day and that all travelers were turned back at frontier posts. The Lebanese government is a frequent target for hostile blasts from Damascus and Cairo radios.

The rioters gave no hint as to why they were venting their ire at the United States. But since they were aroused by opponents of the pro-Western government, and to mid-Middle Easterners the West means the United States, it appeared they were striking out at any handy U.S. target.

Americans were warned to stay off the streets as the pro-Western government grappled with the violent wave of Arab nationalism.

Virtually all public transportation came to a stop.

Reinforced security forces were stationed at strategic spots throughout the city. Strong patrols moved continuously through the streets.

The general strike spread quickly in Beirut and in Tripoli, the north Lebanese seaport.

Months of mounting political tension erupted over the weekend with the burning of the U.S. Information Agency's library in Tripoli. The rioters destroyed every book and piece of furniture.

Rival political gangs went into action there Saturday. Reports said they stole guns from a shop and turned them on each other. The library was swept up in the rioting which killed at least four persons and injured 30.

The groups said to be involved were the Communists, the small Baath party and the outlawed Syrian Social Nationalist party.

The shooting broke out again yesterday, but security police quickly re-established tight control. Patrols moved through the city, enforcing a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

BOMBS TOSSED
Antigovernment forces also tossed bombs here in the capital Beirut today. Little damage. Isolated bombings have plagued Beirut for months.

The Tripoli rioting was touched off by a call for a general strike to protest the assassination last Thursday of Nasib Matni, Beirut publisher who opposed President Camille Chamoun and backed the policies of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser's radio stations in Cairo and Damascus meanwhile broadcast appeals for an open rebellion in Lebanon.

Chamoun is known to be seeking another six-year term in September — and he has the votes in Parliament to amend the constitution and stay in power. The president is pro-Western and Christian. His party swamped a generally Moslem, pro-Nasser opposition in the 1957 parliamentary elections.

In Parliament Chamoun's party is acting to appease Nasser. Last week the Cabinet leaders announced they would reject any U.S. aid that had strings attached and demanded 170 million dollars worth of American help for the next six years.

If it doesn't come through, the Cabinet threatened to ask for financial help from some other nation, presumably the Soviet Union.

Candidate Assessments To Be 2.5 Pct. Of Office Salaries

The Howard County Democratic Executive Committee agreed Monday morning to keep assessments against candidates for political offices at the same rate applied two years ago.

As a result of this decision, the office seekers will be assessed 2.5 per cent of the annual salary of the posts they seek. However, Frank Hardesty, chairman of the executive committee, pointed out that all county salaries have been increased, since the last primary and as a result, the committee will get slightly more money this year to pay for the costs of the first and second primaries than it received in 1956. Assessments will be just a little higher against the candidates — again because the compensation for the offices is 10 per cent greater than it was at the primary elections in 1956.

The committee also named precinct chairmen to serve in posts where vacancies occurred.

PAY SCALE
By conferring with election precinct officials and obtaining an agreement with them that they would use the least possible number of election workers in the primaries, the executive committee expects to be able to boost the compensation for such workers.

Judges in precincts will receive $10 instead of $8 and their assistants will be paid $8 each. However, it was emphasized that in no precinct will any attempt be made to reduce the working crew to the point where there will be any special hardship imposed on the workers or on the voters.

Hardesty told the executive committee that other counties were boosting the candidate assessments. He expressed the hope that they could keep the costs in Howard County within reasonable limits.

District judge $300; county superintendent $180; county judge, county clerk, and district clerk $165; county treasurer $132; county attorney $82.50.

County commissioner, precinct 2 and county commissioner Precinct 4, $112.86; Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2 $90.75; Justice of the peace Precinct 2, $22.50; U. S. congressman $27.62.

SET BY LAW
Statutory provisions set up the filing fee for state representatives and state senators. It was said county clerk, county treasurer $165; county attorney $82.50.

County commissioner, precinct 2 and county commissioner Precinct 4, $112.86; Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2 $90.75; Justice of the peace Precinct 2, $22.50; U. S. congressman $27.62.

Appointments of election precinct chairmen in boxes where vacancies have developed were approved.

Clyde McMahon will be chairman of Precinct 2; J. O. Nixon chairman of Precinct 9; Avery Dell will be chairman of the newly created Precinct 15 and Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr. will be chairman of the special canvassing box.

Candidates will be sent statements of their assessments.

Drug Firms Face Anti-Trust Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Rogers today announced the indictment of five big drug companies on charges of antitrust violations in the sale of polio vaccine to federal, state and local governments.

The firms were named as: Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.; American Home Products Corp., New York City; Merck & Co., Rahway, N.J.; and Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

They were accused of conspiring to fix prices and eliminate competition in the sales of the vaccine to governmental agencies which were large purchasers of the vaccine.

Zsa Zsa And Her Fancy Car

Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor stands beside the expensive foreign sports car given to her as a Christmas gift last year by Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic strong man. A similar car was given to actress Kim Novak, but she said in San Francisco she thought she merely was to take care of it for him, and that she would return it if it was a gift.

Gabor Has 2nd Thought About Coat

NEW YORK (AP)—On second thought, says Zsa Zsa Gabor, Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic dictator, did pay for her $17,000 chinchilla coat.

Miss Gabor had flatly denied a first report that the coat was a gift from the 29-year-old Trujillo. "It was a present from me to me," she first said. "From Zsa Zsa to Zsa Zsa."

She said yesterday that Trujillo had paid for the coat as a sort of thank-you gift for giving a party in his honor in Los Angeles some weeks ago.

Miss Gabor said she had mentioned to Trujillo that she was getting a chinchilla coat. Trujillo, she said, picked up the tab without telling her.

"I couldn't be more surprised," exclaimed the thrice-married actress. Miss Gabor described Trujillo, married and the father of six, as a very generous man... very nice and polite.

Her mother, Jolie Gabor, admitted she wasn't surprised by the gift. "So what do you expect for him to send flowers to a girl like Zsa Zsa?" she asked.

Over the weekend it was disclosed that the dictator's son had bought a $5,000 foreign car for Miss Gabor and an $8,400 model for actress Kim Novak.

Trujillo dated the actresses while on medical leave from the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Leavenworth, Kan. He will be graduated May 20.

Nixon Continues S. American Tour

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Shrugging off Communist hecklers, Vice President Nixon prepared to carry his liberty message direct to Colombia's workers today as crowds continued their enthusiastic welcome.

Police kept a tight rein on Colombia's 5,000-member Communist party, which obviously was determined to create as much of a disturbance as possible. Authorities arrested at least 12 demonstrators yesterday after police dispersed some 200 jeering, hooting students in a crowd of 2,000 and another group of about 90 youths in the crowd of 1,000 which watched Nixon put a wreath on the statue of Simon Bolivar.

Generally, however, the Colombian crowds were friendly or enthusiastic.

Dawson, Glasscock Points Get Rains

Big Spring missed out Sunday night—alike on soaking rains and on severe wind and hail storms — which battered many areas in West Texas.

A turbulent weather front threatened to move into the city early Sunday evening and lowering banks of clouds blocked out most of the sky. There was lightning, thunder and gusty wind. A few sprinkles fell. The U. S. Experiment Station gauged .02 inch. The downtown switch plant of the Texas Electric Service Co. reported .15 inch. Many parts of town had no moisture at all.

The heaviest reported rain was at Patricia, 15 miles southwest of Lamesa, where 1.50 inches fell. Cotton Center, 10 miles south of Lamesa, had hail as large as golf balls. Smaller hail fell west of Lamesa.

Buster Cox, sheriff of Glasscock County, said that most of his county got half an inch or better of rain without wind, hail or extracurricular activity. He said that the rain fell steadily for best part of an hour early Sunday evening.

Snyder reported .32 inch and a 10th of an inch was gauged at Morgan Creek, according to TESCO. Sweetwater had .10 inch. Midland received 1.36.

TESCO said lightning caused several service interruptions in its district but that no serious difficulties arose.

Rep. Powell Gains Backing Of Congregation

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.), under indictment on charges of federal income tax evasion, has the support of leaders of his Harlem congregation.

Powell, pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church for 20 years, did not appear yesterday to deliver two scheduled sermons.

His followers jammed the Harlem church. At the end of the noon service the ministers, board of deacons, board of trustees, women's committee, men's committee and the staff of the church passed a resolution affirming their full support of the Negro minister.

Powell has shunned public appearances since a federal grand jury indicted him last Thursday on three counts of income tax violations. If convicted on all counts he would face a possible maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and $30,000 in fines.

The congressman's troubles have been compounded by Democratic party moves to refuse him renomination.

Powell reportedly is planning a full slate of candidates if Tammany Hall drops him.

An overflow crowd of more than 3,000 appeared for each service yesterday at his Negro church, which has one of the largest Protestant congregations in the country.

Among those attending were Powell's stepmother, Mrs. Inez Powell, and his 11-year-old son, Adam Clayton (Skippy) Powell III. Powell's wife, pianist Hazel Scott, is in Paris, where she has remained for most of the last three years.

Meanwhile, an investigation seems likely into why government counsel delayed 14 months in presenting material on Powell's tax affairs to the grand jury.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said yesterday a public explanation of the delay is called for.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has asked for a White House probe of reports that U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers ordered the Powell case dropped while he was a deputy attorney general.

The government last Friday launched a probe of possible outside influences in Powell's indictment.

Warns Against Highway Cut

AUSTIN (AP) — Highway construction in Texas should not be cut as a means of easing the predicted state deficit, Kilgore publisher Charles K. Devall said last night.

"We must not short-change our highways through false economy," Devall said in his executive committee report as president of the privately-financed Texas Good Roads Assn.

"There can be no toleration of expedient politicians who would throw our highway program into the pork barrel for the sake of votes."

The annual membership meeting of the association started today.

Devall urged that the tradition of keeping politics out of the state highway program be continued.

"This is a tradition all Texans should seek to perpetuate," he said. "In a political year such as this, Texans should certainly demand of all who seek public office a responsible regard for constructive discussion of highway matters."

Devall said the highway program has a money problem and exclusive of the federal interstate system, Texas needs 2.2 billion dollars for the next 10 years.

"Yet the present rate of revenue from existing sources is only half enough to meet this need," he said. "With the state seeking new sources of revenue to overcome the general fund deficit, it would certainly be unsound to undertake separate efforts to meet the highway fund needs."

Devall said a serious cutback in highway construction could occur, if the program is not watched.

Valley Tomato Prices To Fall

McALLEN (AP) — Lower Rio Grande Valley vegetable men expect tomato prices to level off this week with quality on the upgrade.

First shipments of early spring tomatoes started moving out in fair volume last week, but Eastern terminals balked at the green fruit and prices dropped to as low as 2 to 5 cents a pound.

Shippers paid growers up to 10 cents a pound earlier in the week as they anticipated strong demand.

Vegetable men said both the valley and Florida producing areas will start moving out more than 100 cars daily this week. Tomatoes imported from Mexico are expected to give away.

Tomatoes last week brought mostly $3.75 for a 30-pound lug of 6x6's and larger, U.S. No. 1.

Florida corn movements hurt valley shipments, due to lower prices in that state. Valley f.o.b. quotations Saturday for a half bushel of yellow sweet corn were mostly $1.60, compared to $3 a week ago.

White corn skidded from $3 to $2 a bushel.

The Florida market also hit valley cucumbers, which mostly brought $2.75 a bushel, with shipments limited to nearby states.

YMCA Campaign Mounts 'Big Push'

Section and division leaders were meeting Monday noon to regroup forces in order to mount a big push for the final week of the YMCA building campaign. So far the Y campaign stands at slightly over $193,000 on the way toward a $309,000 building objective. Two report sessions are set for this week—Wednesday and Friday—both at 5:15 p.m. in the Settles. Under original plan, termination of the campaign was set for the evening of May 19. On the basis of contacts thus far, the campaign is progressing satisfactorily. The difficulty has been in getting word from workers regarding the status of their contacts. In the general division, which launched its part little more than a week ago with 1,514 prospect cards taken, only 325 contacts have been reported. These accounted for $26,369 pledged over the three-year period. Out of 159 cards assigned to the big gifts division, 109 have been worked for a total of $63,656. Prior to the start of the campaign, $103,000 had been given and pledged. Saturday seventh grade Hi-Y members swung into action to help promote the campaign. The blanketed the town with windshield cards which told tersely how much youngsters wanted a more adequate home for the YMCA. Said the cards: "Have Youth, Need Y."

European Oil Economist Sees Need For High Import Tariff

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An oil economist from Europe said today there is need for a high United States tariff on petroleum imports. B. N. Darbyshire of Geneva, Switzerland, said such a tariff would cause oil prices in the rest of the world to fall to more reasonable levels.

A Canadian oil executive suggested, however, that the United States, in considering mandatory controls, should exempt Canadian imports.

J. A. Cogan, vice president of Imperial Oil Co. in Toronto, said Canadian oil is not likely to have adverse effects on the United States industry.

Darbyshire and Cogan took part in a foreign trade forum at the opening of the 12th annual convention of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. The 5,000-member association supports congressional proposals for mandatory controls of oil imports.

Darbyshire, a consulting economist, told the independent operators their industry is gravely menaced by imports from "dirt cheap" sources of production.

"I do believe most wholeheartedly in the necessity of a high American tariff on petroleum imports today," he said.

"I am absolutely convinced it is essential that you should maintain a healthy, active, self-sufficient domestic industry with reserves readily accessible for export so long as the world we live in remains threatened by the threat of foreign international strife."

PRICES MUST FALL

He predicted Middle East producers would have to lower their posted prices for crude oil by an amount equal to any United States tariff increase.

"This would be the healthiest thing that could happen in the world petroleum industry," he said. "Middle East oil prices have been far too high for far too long. Yet it has not been possible to lower them without destroying the United States high-cost industry until you insulate yourself with some form of tariff."

"If you will do that, prices of oil reaching the rest of the world will fall to more reasonable levels and consumption will grow faster in the parts of the world that desperately need low-cost energy."

Cogan said national security and the health of a strategically vital industry are the primary arguments behind proposed mandatory controls in the United States.

"Dealing first with the compelling national security problem, it would appear that the concern with regard to vulnerability of imported oil should not apply to Canadian oil, particularly when imported by pipe line," he said.

"Since under the concept of continental defense this oil is strategically as secure as domestic United States production," Cogan said Canadian oil is not likely to affect the U.S. industry adversely because crude is sought and produced in both countries under similar conditions.

He said exemption of Canadian oil from import controls need not result in any increase in the total volume of imports.

He suggested that the United States first receive nominations from those wishing to import oil by pipeline, or from countries which are not net exporters, and then determine the remaining quotas available by subtracting these volumes from the total desired level of imports.

"We believe some such procedure would be in the interests of all concerned," Cogan said.

Navy Capt. Matthew Carson, administrator of the current voluntary program to curtail imports, was a convention speaker later in the day.

BIG QUESTION

The last time the association met oil production was a million barrels a day higher than it is now in Texas. How to jack up domestic production and hold back imports were two of the biggest unanswered questions circulating through the convention.

Committee reports tomorrow will encompass declining allowances, unitization, taxes, crude oil prices, natural gas, unconnected wells, purchaser proration and unratable purchasing of oil and gas with strong resolutions on these and other subjects expected to be adopted.

J. J. O'Brien, association president, expressed the general feeling of the independents when he told the Governor's Oil Imports Study Commission in Corpus Christi the Ikdard Bill would answer the industry's problems without the risk of federal controls. The bill would cut back imports and require competitive bids for import licenses for the established quotas.

The independents have long urged mandatory controls on foreign oil and claim the voluntary program has not worked to prevent serious damage to the domestic industry. Carson, in earlier visits to Texas this year, continued to oppose mandatory controls and said the voluntary plan was working better than even the administration had expected it to.

AID TO STOCKADERS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Whoever told you that a STOCKADE PRISONER could write to his sweetheart has never been in the U. S. ARMY stockade. I've been in stockade many times and they only let me write one letter a week, and it had to be to my next of kin. Please correct yourself, Abby, so that poor guy in stockade can square himself with his sweetheart.

OLD STOCKADER

DEAR STOCKADER: There have been some changes made! On Sept. 24, 1957 under Regulation 633-5, the U. S. Army stockade prisoner is permitted to write as many letters as he wishes, to whomever he chooses—and it says in a very small print "barring circumstances that could threaten the national security."

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of myself I don't know what to do. I went out with a wonderful fellow and we clicked right away. I wanted so much for him to ask me out again that I gave him everything he wanted on our first date. I think he lost respect for me because he hasn't called me up since. How can I let him know I really fell for him and don't act like that with every fellow I meet?

A SORRY GIRL

DEAR SORRY: Chalk this one up to experience. Honey, your chances for a fresh start with this Romeo are small, but next time you fall for a fellow and want to see him again—don't lose the key to the control room.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I fell in love with and married a divorced man. He had two boys, ages 8 and 10, and his wife took them. His ex-wife is getting married again but the man she is marrying doesn't want to raise

Nebraska Election Apathy 'Appalling'

OMAHA (AP)—The consensus of observers on the eve of Nebraska's 1958 primary election Tuesday was that the vote will be exceedingly light even for an off-year election.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh, predicting a vote of 180,000, said "the apathy of the people is overwhelming."

A vote of 180,000 would be the lowest since 1944 when 143,623 votes were cast in the primary.

Herman Kuppinger, election commissioner of Douglas County which includes metropolitan Omaha, forecast the "lightest vote in my 11 years as election commissioner."

For the state capital city of Lincoln and Lancaster County, Election Commissioner Harold Gillett predicted a vote of about as large as in 1956 but lower than the 1954 total.

The weather, always a significant factor in predominately rural Nebraska, also may influence a light vote. Weekend weather maps indicated widespread election day showers.

Other factors credited for the prospect of a light turnout include an exceptionally large number of incumbents on the ballot; a favorable crop outlook for the second year in a row; and the widely shared opinion that the recession just hasn't touched Nebraska.

One senatorship, four House seats, and the state house offices are at stake in this year's election. The entire delegation, all Republicans, is seeking re-election.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS REBUKE LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas Young Democrats rebuked the state Legislature yesterday in an obvious reference to recently adopted segregation laws.

A resolution approved at the convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas censured what it called attempts to "illegally circumvent the Constitution of the United States as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

In the resolution the Young Democrats also urged "economic equality for all races."

DEAR ABBY

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Children should be raised by someone who wants them. Many stepmothers have made better mothers than "real" mothers. If neither you nor the children's mother wants them, they could probably find more love in a foster home. You are both disgustingly selfish.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when a woman marries a man older than herself nobody thinks anything of it, but when a man marries an older woman everybody raises his eyebrows and has a lot to say on the subject? For 22 years I have been married to a woman who is 12 years older than myself. There was a lot of talk and opposition at the time of our marriage. Everyone told me that she would be old before I was, and it wouldn't work out, but we didn't let the ignorance of others influence us. For those who have this problem, take my word for it—it is the PERSON who counts. Age is secondary.

Report Shows HCJC Running Close To Budget

Fiscal affairs of Howard County Junior College ran according to pattern during April, the monthly financial statement shows.

Revenues dropped to a seasonal low of $2,339.19 for the month, bringing to $359,222 the total for the year, or $14,411 less than the total estimated for the year ending Aug. 31. Prospects are good that just about this amount will be realized although some tuition estimates apparently were a little high in budget outlays. Tax collections of $198,821 already are $80 in excess of estimates.

April disbursements stood at $30,078, boosting the fiscal year's aggregate to $273,696. This leaves a margin of $89,937 for one more month of the regular term and three months of summer school.

By categories, expenses for April (with the year's cumulative shown in parentheses) were:

General and administrative $7,202.69 ($54,078.38); instructional $14,039.96 ($105,449.90); library $1,330.62 ($12,026.09); transportation $36.58 ($1,823.62); athletics $1,166.85 ($11,674.82); auxiliary enterprises $1,304.53 ($22,218.69); refunds $4 ($2,197.30); plant operation and maintenance $3,753.82 ($28,641.43); capital outlay $693.37 ($30,194.02); fixed charges $526.52 ($5,392.19); total $30,078.96 ($273,696.18).

In addition, the interest and sinking fund had $157.73 receipts, making $66,283.29 for the year. There were no disbursements in April, leaving the year's total at $30,795.03. This includes $16,000 in bonds retired. General fund balance is $75,239.38; the state and county balance $12,443; the interest and sinking fund balance $5,111.13. Other miscellaneous (revolving) fund balances were just shy of $8,000.

Murder, Suicide Ruled In Shootings

A verdict of murder and suicide has been returned by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice in the Saturday night deaths of G. W. Hampton, 60, and W. F. Cain, 69.

Police said they are convinced that Cain shot Hampton with a 12-gauge shotgun in the 605 Main apartment of Mrs. Mamie Wright and then returned to his apartment at 104 E. 5th and turned the gun on himself.

Three expended cartridges were found in each apartment.

Mrs. Wright, who received a head wound in the mele in her apartment, remained in Big Spring Hospital under treatment. Her wound did not appear serious, however.

The shootings occurred sometime between 11:30 p.m. and midnight Saturday. Mrs. Robert Craft, 1311 Mulberry, reported she left Mr. Hampton and Mrs. Wright out at the apartment about 11:30. Both Mrs. Wright and Mr. Hampton were employed at the Settles Hotel.

Mr. Cain's apartment belonged to the First Baptist Church; he was caretaker for the church.

Funeral services for Mr. Hampton were to be held at 2 p.m. today in the River Chapel with Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, officiating. Interment was to be in City Cemetery.

Mr. Hampton was born Dec. 10, 1897, in Leon County. He moved here six years ago and was employed as a bellhop at the Settles Hotel. He was a veteran of World War I, and a member of the local Elks Lodge.

He is survived by one son, General Wade Hapton Jr., Arlington; one daughter, Mrs. Edna Mae Goodson of Ohio; his mother, Mrs. Ella Hampton, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Runie Stewart, Big Spring, and Mrs. I. C. Stewart, Houston, and two brothers, Frank Hampton, Houston, and R. J. Hampton, Big Spring.

Pallbearers were to be Phillip Prager, Harvey Woolen, Julius Zodin, Oscar Glickman, David Sims and George Zachariah.

Survivors of Mr. Cain are two sons, William Frank Cain Jr. and Charles Eugene Cain, both of Brownsville; two step-sons, Bill Mitchell, Monahans, and Doyle Forbus, Big Spring; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Julia Williams, Big Spring, Mrs. Paul Pace, Andrews, and Mrs. Keith Bailey, Odessa; and 16 grandchildren.

He was born Aug. 31, 1888, in Blairsville, Ga. He had served as custodian of the First Baptist Church here for nearly 10 years.

Services for Mr. Cain are to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel with Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, officiating. Interment is to be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Pallbearers will be T. H. McCann, Wayne Nance, Leroy Hollingshead, Merrill Creighton, Lonnie Coker and Paul Sledge.

'Mikado' Musical Comedy Set Tonight

Tonight will see the staging of the first Gilbert and Sullivan musical comedy in Big Spring.

The curtain in City Auditorium will rise at 8 p.m. on "The Mikado," produced by Howard County Junior College under sponsorship of the Rotary Club. It will mark the second HCJC-Rotary co-sponsored program; last year, an opera, "The Fortune Teller," was produced.

First staged in London in 1885, "The Mikado" was one of the many classic works of Gilbert and Sullivan that marked the transition from operettas and comic operas to the modern musical. It was hugely successful, and has played continuously in various parts of the world to the present time.

"The Mikado" is a wonderful mixture of sly subtlety and slapstick lampooning, with the foibles of 19th Century Britain as the target. It is mostly vocal, with short stretches of dialogue to tie the story together. The dialogue sequences are believed by many Gilbert and Sullivan fans to be as funny as, if not funnier than, the comic songs.

The songs, however, are not all comic. They run the gamut from humorous through romantic. Many have a catchy rhythm. Among the more famous arias from "The Mikado" are "Willow Tit Willow," "The Flowers that Bloom in the Spring," "For He's Going to Marry Yum-Yum," "Here's a How-de-doo," "Miyasama," "A Wandering Minstrel, I," "I Have a Little List," "Three Little Girls from School Are We" and "He's Gone and Married Yum-Yum."

Starred are Lt. Paul Wagner, Ira Schantz, Mrs. Don Newsom, Joyce Howard, Lt. Jim Hennigar, Maj. Vincent Brophy, Don Jones, Mrs. Paul Wagner, Mrs. William Waldrop and the HCJC Chorus. Jack Hendrix and Billy Evans will provide musical accompaniment.

Tickets are $1.50 for reserved seats, $1 for general admission and 50 cents for students.

Mrs. Reed's Services Set

Funeral services are to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in River Funeral Home for Mrs. Fannie Reed, 78, former Big Spring resident who died Sunday afternoon in a hospital at Big Lake.

Mrs. Reed has lived in Big Lake for the past year, having moved there from Big Spring where she resided for six years. Her husband, Joe Reed, died here in 1953, and Mrs. Reed will be buried beside his grave in City Cemetery. Pallbearers will be from the Mullen IOOF Lodge.

Survivors of Mrs. Reed are a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Cole of Big Lake; three sons, Lloyd Reed of Big Lake, Joseph Reed of New York City, and James Guthrie of Dallas; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Weekend's Death Tally Reaches 28

Ideas On Make-Up

Lita Milan tells her viewpoints on make-up, fashion and diet in today's Hollywood Beauty. Lita will soon be seen in Universal-International's "Girls on the Loose."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Reserve In Dress And Manners Advocated

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Lita Milan was educated in Europe, studied acting in New York, but she is now living in Hollywood. Although Lita has admiration for American women, she is critical of certain styles they adopt.

"I do not feel that men are particularly attracted to women who wear tight-fitting dresses with plunging necklines," Lita began. "I think one can have sex appeal without being so obvious."

"I wouldn't think of dressing like that, and I have no problems in finding escorts," she explained. "I think reserve in dress and reserve in manners are attractive."

"One of my big faults is being too demonstrative," she confessed. "It is a Latin characteristic. You know, most Europeans openly embrace one another. It's quite a departure from the conduct in America, so when I'm impulsive here, I'm often misunderstood."

"I don't want to lose my individuality. It's a prized possession that every girl should develop and guard. One way every girl can be attractive is in applying her make-up and the way she wears her hair."

"I think the eyes should dominate the face. Even if one's eyelashes are dark they have a tendency to be colorless because they easily fade on the tips. So when mascara is carefully applied, it can give beauty to an otherwise plain face."

"Lips should look as nature intended them. That is why I never use much lipstick. When the natural line of the lips is not followed, a wrong emphasis is given to the face. The only exception to this, I believe, is when one has very thin lips, and then a lipbrush should be used to assure proper application."

Lita prefers a casual hair style as well as simple fashions.

"I like my hair short in front but long in back," she revealed. "I recommend this because I can do many things with my hair cut this way."

As the talk turned to caring for one's figure Lita said: "I do not like long, drawn out diets. It's not my temperament to eat this and not eat that. If I want to take off a few pounds I like a day or two of liquids, or sometimes I prefer a fresh fruit diet. It is stimulating to refrain from all food but fresh fruit for a few days."

FRESH FRUIT DIET

If you like fresh fruit, this will be a fun-diet. Leaflet M-69, "Fresh Fruit Diet," lets you eat all the fruit you want and drink all the water you can hold. At the end of four days you will be 10 pounds lighter and have a fresh feeling of vigor and vitality. Pre-Nuptial Parties Fete Peggy Hogan

Pre-nuptial parties honoring Peggy Hogan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, and her fiance Boone Powell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Powell of Dallas, took the form of two events Saturday in Waco. The couple will be wed June 7 at the First Baptist Church here.

Mrs. Hogan was hostess for a brunch fete for her daughter at noon at the Ridgewood Country Club. Fifty guests attended the affair.

Focal point of the buffet table was a revolving miniature bride which concealed a music box. Surrounding it were banks of pastel pink carnations and mums. Arrangements of flowers in the same tones were used for the tables for ten.

Saturday night, Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Witcher and Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Goodall entertained the engaged couple with a dinner for sixteen at Ridgewood Country Club.

An all-white centerpiece was held in a silver bowl. Silver candelabra with white candles accentuated the floral decor.

CHANGES IN P-TA DATES

North Ward P-TA will meet at 3 p.m. Thursday at the school rather than at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday as previously announced. The change was necessitated by a faculty meeting.

Mrs. J. H. Homan, city council president, will be at the school at 2 p.m. to conduct a school of instruction for new officers and chairmen. A social hour will follow the regular meeting.

Big Spring Youth Is Looking To You!

To Provide The Community With A Center Of Christian Influence — A New YMCA Home

It's wonderful to grow . . . and just like our children, Big Spring is growing. In 10 short years our boy and girl crop has far outgrown the limited facilities of a reconverted church building . . . and if present trends continue, within the next decade we will have almost twice as many boys and girls in the teen-age and youth brackets. If a fraction of major developments planned for our community come to pass, the parade of youth will be greater still.

Boys and girls reflect their community . . . how it feels about their moral and physical well-being. Our boys and girls won't fail unless our community first fails them.

The YMCA, with its ideals of Christian leadership and service, has an unique opportunity to shape the future health and happiness of our young people . . . . But it must have your help!

FACTS ABOUT THE YMCA BUILDING CAMPAIGN

- Total estimated cost of the project is $309,000. The entire amount must be raised in Big Spring . . . the Big Spring YMCA is independent of outside control and support.
- Gifts may be divided over a three-year period with either monthly, quarterly or annual payments.
- All gifts are deductible for income tax purposes.
- This campaign is being conducted locally without professional fund raising assistance. All gifts go directly into the New YMCA Building Fund.
- Good surroundings for the young people who will determine Big Spring's future are not a luxury but a wise investment. The New Y Building will not be elaborate . . . there are no unnecessary frills.

THIS PROGRAM IS OFF TO A GOOD START

Many people have labored for many months to lay the groundwork for this YMCA capital fund campaign. A 2-acre site, in the Birdwell Lake area (just west of the old Baseball Park) has been obtained for the building. Architects have been employed to design a building that will fill the needs of the community. Some major gifts have built the YMCA building fund to better than $100,000. Sound planning has gone into the entire project. It is off to a good start. Now, its success is dependent upon whole-hearted cooperation from every citizen of the community who wants to see the very best atmosphere provided for our boys and girls.

Your Green Stamp Catalog

It will probably interest you to know that the 63rd annual edition of the Sperry & Hutchinson annual catalog constitutes the largest single publication printing order in history. Seven million pounds of paper were used; laid end to end, a string of catalogs would be 4,000 miles long; stacked one on top of the other the catalogs would be 150,000 feet high 100 times higher than the Empire State Building; 72,000 pounds of stitching wire stretching 1,200 miles were used in the binding operations; if the total amount of paper used was converted to a 12-inch wide string, the length would be in excess of 80,000 miles; 190 railroad cars (a train more than two miles long) will be needed to transport the catalog to its more than 70,000 destinations.

One of these destinations is your neighborhood Piggly Wiggly super market. S&H Green Stamps are at Piggly Wiggly ... and across the nation.

A Bible Thought For Today

And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God. (Ruth 1:16)

Lodge Pins Tail On The Bear

Russia's 83rd veto in the Security Council was a perfect exemplification of U. S. Ambassador Lodge's remark that the Soviet Union is more interested in "increasing tension and anxiety than in finding ways and means to prevent surprise attack."

The veto killed President Eisenhower's proposal that technical talks start at once setting up a system of inspection designed to prevent the threat of a massive air attack across the polar region. The Security Council spokesman for the Soviets, Arkady A. Sobolev, denounced the U. S. proposal as a gimmick to enable the West to spy on Soviet territory.

The fact that the President had applied the term "gimmick" to Russia's demand that the U. S. stop transpolar flights as an atomic threat to the Soviet Union cuts no ice. There is a mountain of evidence that, when pinned down, the Reds always find an easy out. Their propaganda built around the theme that the U. N. should call on the U. S. to stop its SAC planes from flying vigilant missions in an area where a sneak attack against the free world would most likely come has served its usefulness, and the Kremlin will lose no time coming up with another equally insincere gambit. When called pointblank, the Russians always veer off on another tangent.

From our viewpoint, the tragic thing about these incessant insincere Red gestures is that each one fools a great many people especially among the "neutrals," and worst of all they fool some Americans.

Some eminent Americans of undoubted sincerity but misguided zeal have swallowed the Soviet propaganda for discontinuance of atomic tests, and many swayed the latest and now exposed Soviet demand that our polar planes be forced to sit down and stay down. Their minds are closed to the faults of our enemies.

You mark our words, some of them will come out with condemnation of their own government, that of the U. S. A. for refusal to be taken in by Russia's polar gimmick, and insist it was all our fault. But chances are you'll hear no word out of them laying the blame where anyone but a blind "idealist" and pacifist knows it belongs—squarely on the tricksters in the Kremlin.

The most dangerous character in our population is the "sincere" man who refuses to see beyond the end of his own nose. Through his own self-delusion he deludes others—the perfect example of the blind leading the blind.

No Man Liveth To Himself

The financial editor of the New York Herald Tribune, Donald I. Rogers, has written a book called "Make Your Income Count," in which he advises people on how to invest their savings wisely.

Among the recognized ways of salting away part of your income against the rainy days he mentions a savings account, insurance and buying a home. With respect to the latter, Rogers writes:

"Take a careful look beyond your immediate neighborhood, at the community as a whole. Make sure you're not moving into an oasis in a veritable desert. A bad town can eat into your real estate values despite all the efforts of your immediate neighbors."

This, it seems to us, is a pretty profound observation. Who was it said — Doctor Donne, wasn't it?—that "no man is an island unto himself."

In the human, good health is a state of well-being in all his members and parts.

The same applies to a city. When blight settles on one area it exacts a toll from the whole community. If any area prospers at the expense of another it means the prosperous area must bear a greater portion of the costs of government. Like a plague it spreads, sooner or later engulfing other areas.

The over-all health of a community is the direct concern of all citizens and property owners. Orderly development, like balanced diet to maintain human health, should engage the selfish interests of all; for we are all parts of the body municipal. St. Paul anticipated Dr. Donne some hundreds of years when he wrote, "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself."

Dearly beloved, think it over.

David Lawrence Commies Never Stop Infiltration

WASHINGTON—The Communists are stepping up their infiltration in all the countries of the free world. They feel cocky about their successes inside France, inside Italy and inside Great Britain. They are still hopeful that they can force a change in American policy, drive out their archfoe, Secretary Dulles, and give themselves also a mastery of the whole military situation by stopping our nuclear tests.

To conquer or dominate the world without firing a shot—this is the objective which the Communists are confident they can attain because of various weaknesses in the free world countries.

Many Americans are still unconvinced that there is any Communist menace, and they are prone to believe that to stop nuclear testing, for instance, is merely a logical way to avoid a nuclear war. But the amount of organized propaganda behind this and other Communist drives indicates clearly that the agents and auxiliaries of the Moscow government are provocatively busy everywhere improving their own military position.

The demonstrations by Communist sympathizers against Vice President Nixon in the various Latin-American countries he has been visiting are dramatic examples of how the Soviets operate in the "cold war." To them the fight is on in earnest, and lately it has been going the Communists' way almost by default. This is largely because there is a tendency, principally in the United States, to pooh-pooh the Communist conspiracy.

Meanwhile internal subversion in America is progressing rapidly, and any efforts by congressional committees to expose what's happening are reported to have been effectively squelched by the Democratic leadership, which evidently must be theorizing that the public will not mind if the Democratic party is again accused of becoming "soft" on Communism." For it is apparently assumed by the Democratic leaders that there is no need for incisive investigations of the ways by which the Communist apparatus is today making headway in the United States, particularly in the field of science. Yet, while the background of some of the men who are in the forefront of the movement to disarm America and weaken her position on nuclear weapons cries out for exposure, the congressional committees have been told to keep their hands off. For they have done nothing about exposing the phony petitions and the devious methods by which organized propaganda against nuclear testing has been thriving lately, not only in this country but among our allies.

The Communist success in paralyzing the government of France and an almost parallel achievement in breaking up the political parties, in Italy is cause for genuine concern. The inroads made by the Communist viewpoint in British Socialist circles is the gravest threat to allied solidarity yet to appear. What would happen to world policies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization if the conservative government in Britain is ousted is a matter of grave worry everywhere.

Inside the United States, there isn't as yet a general awareness of what hurts this country abroad. Thus the other day Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, Democrat, in a spur-of-the-moment comment on a television broadcast—which he probably regretted the moment he made it—said that the United States military men want "dirty" bombs and are making "dirtier" H-bombs. The Atomic Energy Commission denied this categorically, but for the last few days the Soviet radio has been exultantly repeating in many languages throughout the world the comment by the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy of both houses of Congress.

Then there is the situation about "surprise attack," which the Russians have been publicizing lately because of American maneuvers in the Arctic. A new drive is on to compel our Strategic Air Command to stop training for interception of a surprise attack. This, plus a ban on further testing of nuclear weapons, would give a military advantage of tremendous value to the Soviets.

Small wonder the Communists think they can conquer or dominate the world without firing a shot—they still think Americans are gullible and naive. And, judging by the current attitude here toward Soviet infiltration in the United States, the Communist planners may feel they have some basis for their theories, though it would prove to be a tragic miscalculation if they ever forced the issue to a climax.

Horse Slaying
BOISE, Idaho (AP)—"Some people think it's worse to hurt a horse than to hurt a human being," Justice Frank Chalfant Jr. sternly admonished Dean Baird, 19, Judge Chalfant sentenced the youth to a six months suspended jail sentence and a $150 fine after Baird pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting a horse to death.

Suspicious Cruiser
CLEARFIELD, Utah (AP)—An agitated woman excitedly called Police Chief A. L. Padgett and reported a mysterious white sedan was gliding by her house at regular intervals. The investigation was short-lived. The sedan turned out to be the police department's shiny new patrol car.

James Marlow What's Ahead In Trade Policy?

WASHINGTON (AP)—What happens if Congress ignores President Eisenhower's request to continue the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act and lets it die? Not much—for awhile, anyway.

For example, Eisenhower couldn't then agree to lower any more tariffs on goods imported from abroad. But all the present agreements with 43 countries—under which various tariffs have been lowered—would stand unchanged.

Bit by bit, over a period of time, he might be pushed into raising tariffs, thus beginning the wreckage of all the good will built up over 24 years. There would be a diminishing confidence abroad in American trade policies.

But Eisenhower might actually prefer to see the act die this year—in the hope of getting it renewed next year—than to have Congress extend it for a year but put in changes that would start ripping trade agreements apart in a hurry.

This is the background: The Smoot-Hawley tariff law which Congress passed in 1930 not only raised American tariffs to the highest point in history but since other countries retaliated—contributed to the depression here and abroad in the 1930s.

To get world trade going again Congress in 1934 passed the Reciprocal Trade Act.

It gave the President authority to lower tariffs on certain goods imported from other countries if they agreed to lower their tariffs on certain items imported from us.

In these agreements there was an escape clause which either side could use. For example, if an American manufacturer felt he was being injured because a tariff had been lowered on some particular import which competed in the American market he could appeal to the United States Tariff Commission.

The commission would hold hearings, make an investigation, and perhaps recommend to the President that he use the escape clause to raise the tariff on an import which, in agreement with another country, had been lowered.

Under the act the President was free to suit himself: raise the tariff or reject the commission's recommendations and let the tariff stand untouched.

That brings us up to now. The Trade Act never was permanent law. Over 24 years it has been repeatedly renewed by Congress for a specified period of time. Otherwise it would have died.

It will die automatically June 30 unless Congress renews it. Eisenhower asked for it to be extended five more years. As explained, if it dies, present agreements remain unchanged. The escape clause remains unchanged, too.

If the law dies a manufacturer can appeal to the Tariff Commission. It can recommend to Eisenhower that an agreed-on tariff be raised. He'd still be free to raise it or let it stand as is. But he couldn't lower any more tariffs.

But this is a recession year. A number of businesses complain that some imports—whose tariffs are now part of agreements with other countries—are hurting them. So the Trade Act has many foes inside and outside Congress.

If the act dies, there will be increasing pressure on Eisenhower to use the escape clause to raise tariffs. If he does so, other countries will retaliate by using the escape clause to raise tariffs against us.

But if the law dies he can still reject the increases and in another year—particularly if the recession recedes—can go back and ask with better hope of success that the law be renewed again.

The act's enemies might do the whole trade program more damage by renewing it this year with crippling changes.

They might include a provision giving Eisenhower no choice but to raise tariffs if the Tariff Commission recommended the action to protect an injured American industry.

Sideburns Judged
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Judge Willis Ritter doesn't dig these Elvis Presley sideburns. When a 17-year-old juvenile appeared before him for sentencing on a misdemeanor charge, Judge Ritter ordered him taken to the Salt Lake County jail for a hair cut and shave, explaining that he wouldn't pass sentence until the youth appeared with a presentable haircut.

Around The Rim How Small Fry Run The Household

A forum on home life conducted by a gathering of small fry, with a girl of a year-and-a-half answering the questions:

Q. How do you get away with pouring water all over your food?

A. That's not too difficult. Refuse a drink of water, until you're allowed to hold the glass without help, then don't give it up.

Q. The grass always looks greener in the neighbor's yard. What's the procedure for striking up an acquaintance with the people who live there?

A. The direct approach is best, I think. Maybe you can start by borrowing some mud for mudpies. The big problem is getting out of the house. I haven't quite mastered that yet, but there must be a way.

Q. Marking on books, newspapers and table tops is fun, but there's nothing that can approach wall murals for sheer delight. What's the best method for painting such things?

A. What a capital idea. Funny, the idea has never occurred to me before. I've left my hieroglyphics on everything else around the house, with pencils and crayons. I've filched from bureau drawers. I must get around to the walls sometime soon.

Q. What's your favorite food?

A. Next to pencil erasers and tinfoil (from gum wrappers, which I'm not allowed to have, because I swallow it), I suppose it would have to be shoe laces or the covers of picture books, preferably green picture books. But, you should see the diet I get at meal time.

Q. If you had anything to say about it, would you change anything about the procedure for doing things around your household?

A. You better believe it. I need a couple of hours more to finish things just before bedtime. I'm never busier than when the folks suggest we go to sleep.

So far, my filibustering hasn't made much headway.

Q. What's your favorite toy?

A. Lipstick, I suppose. Only I don't get much chance to apply it—Mother doesn't think it looks very good smudged all over my chin and on the end of my fingers. Kleenex can be so enjoyable. Pulling it from the box can be so much fun. That's usually hidden from me, too, for some reason. As for toys I'm allowed to have, I guess it would have to be my rocking horse. The catch there is that someone is always riding herd with me. Seems there's a speed limit around my house.

Q. When things get boring around your place, what do you do for amusement?

A. I find pushing doors shut a lot of fun. That keeps the folks hopping, opening them up again, after I've slammed them shut. Sometimes, I find I've isolated myself from the other part of the house. Then I have to summons help. With my pair of lungs and my enthusiasm, though, that isn't hard. Too, I have a lot more patience with such matters than the adults. Wonder why that is?

Q. They say a child causes quite a revolution around a household. When you arrived on the scene, did many changes occur at your place?

A. Oh, a few, I guess. I'm little, but a lot of things had to be moved to make way for my things. A coffee table has disappeared from the front room. Seems I was always climbing it. A lamp was secured to the floor but, sure enough, it wasn't. Little things like that.

A. Think there's any danger of them sending you back in exchange for, maybe, two boys?

A. I don't think so. I overheard them once, saying "What if he had been twins?" I've often wondered about that, myself. Taking care of me is a full time job, I'm thinking.

Inez Robb

Moslem Fights Moslem Within France

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of an exclusive series of articles on a bloody civil war being waged by two Moslem groups in Continental France. Inez Robb obtained this previously untold story while on her recent trip to Europe.

In the heart of Western Europe, on alien soil, Moslem fights Moslem today in a savage but little-known civil war for political control of a North African nation that exists not as a reality but a dream.

Unhappy France, already wracked by stubborn rebellion in Algeria and by political instability at home, is the reluctant battleground in this power struggle. The protagonists are two uncompromising Algerian factions, each determined to control an independent Algeria—a goal for whose prevention France is, day by day, bleeding herself white of men and money.

This harsh battle of attrition between Moslem brothers in Continental France has been almost wholly obscured by the larger struggle in North Africa. Yet in the 42 months since rebellion began in the homeland, this fight has spread terror through the community of 350,000 Algerian laborers in France and has cost them 2,000 lives.

The war in North Africa pits Algerian rebels against France and her sympathizers. But the struggle in France itself arraigns Moslem against Moslem. Every day in France an average of three to five Algerians die by the garrot, the knife or the bullet.

Yet it is a war that the tourist never glimpses or suspects as he lingers over coffee in a sidewalk cafe or takes one more picture of the flower sellers in their rainbow stalls at the base of the Madeleine. It is a sub-surface battle that scarcely impinges on the life of a Frenchman unless he is a member of the police, the internal security forces or a pro-France politician intimately associated with the Algerian rebellion.

The deaths of 33 French policemen—20 in Paris, 13 in other communities—and 20 French civilians, caught in the crossfire of Moslem strife, are all but incidental. But the assassination of a high-ranking, pro-French Moslem, Ali Chekkal, outside the Paris football stadium a year ago was not incidental. Nor were the unsuccessful attempts last winter to liquidate a Cabinet official in charge of Algerian affairs or a French Senator from Algeria. C'est la Moslem guerre.

This violent, unceasing internecine war is a death struggle between two Algerian factions, the National Front of Liberation (FLN) and the Algerian National Movement (MNA) for control of the political destiny of Algeria, once she is free.

The National Front of Liberation is by far the larger and more powerful of the two organizations. It not only sparked the rebellion in Algeria at its outbreak in November, 1954, but has supplied the sinews, the weapons and the funds to continue the tough, hard-fighting guerrilla warfare that keeps 500,000 French soldiers and security forces pinned down in Algeria.

From its inception, the FLN has been a tough, militant organization, uncompromisingly dedicated to complete independence for Algeria. It depends upon who's talking, the French secret police or FLN spokesmen, whether the organization's membership is described as murdering terrorists or rebel patriots.

No sooner did the FLN spark war-to-the-death against France in Algeria in 1954 than she declared war on MNA and its Algerian adherents in Continental France. Politically moderate, the MNA may have been, but under attack she soon proved that she could match FLN terrorism and patriotism.

Thus civil war, pitting Algerian against Algerian, came to France. (1958, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

J. A. Livingston Two Problems Before The Penny

In 1946, proud of its 100 years and the traditional color of its freight and passenger cars, the Pennsylvania Railroad celebrated with an 825-page history in Tuscan-red covers, full of maps of its development and photographs of its presidents from Samuel Vaughan Merrick through Col. "Tom" Scott, Alexander Johnston Cassatt, W. W. Atterbury, and the then reigning head, Martin W. Clement.

"If any prediction may be safely made," the centennial history reported, "it is one soundly based on Pennsylvania tradition . . . its management will face its problems, whatever they are, with unflinching courage and fortitude."

The present management of the Pennsylvania, headed by James M. Symes, faces two problems. One is impersonal economic and long-term: Directors this year twice have deferred action on dividends. The longest unbroken dividend streak on the New York Stock Exchange—since 1848—is frayed by the wear and tear of transportation economics.

The second problem is personal—a New Yorker named Randolph Phillips, a non-lawyer quick on the law. Phillips is laying siege to a seat around the Pennsylvania's status—giving board-of-directors' table, now occupied by Richard K. Mellon, chairman of the Mellon National Bank & Trust Co.; John A. Diemand, president of the Insurance Co. of North America; Lamont du Pont Copeland, vice president of E. I. du Pont; William L. Day, chairman of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co.; R. George Rinecliff, president of the Philadelphia Electric Co.; C. Jared Ingersoll, chairman of the Muskegoe Co., Philadelphia railroad holding company, and others of like financial and social acceptance.

Six of 18 directorships are up for grabs at the annual meeting of stockholders Tuesday. Under the cumulative voting rule of Pennsylvania, Phillips will need about one-seventh of the shares voted to win. If 10,000,000 of the 13,167,754 shares are represented, he'll require 1,428,572 shares. At today's prices, that is more than $17,000,000 of market value. He and his wife own 700 shares.

Phillips describes himself as a "financial consultant." He served as assistant to the late Robert R. Young in his fight for control of New York Central and then turned on Young, typing up his plan to recapitalize Alleghany Corp., holding company which controls Central. Phillips lost. The court decision which freed Young's empire came down after the postulant, emotional Texas speculator, had committed suicide. Phillips also has lost two suits against the Pennsy.

Phillips' name, unlike Young's, is not magic to investors. But he is supported by Lewis D. Gilbert, who, with his brother John, has been minding management's P's and Q's in behalf of the small stockholder for 25 years. Phillips and Gilbert argue that Pennsylvania's directors have been too long entrenched in self-perpetuating power. The small shareholder needs representation.

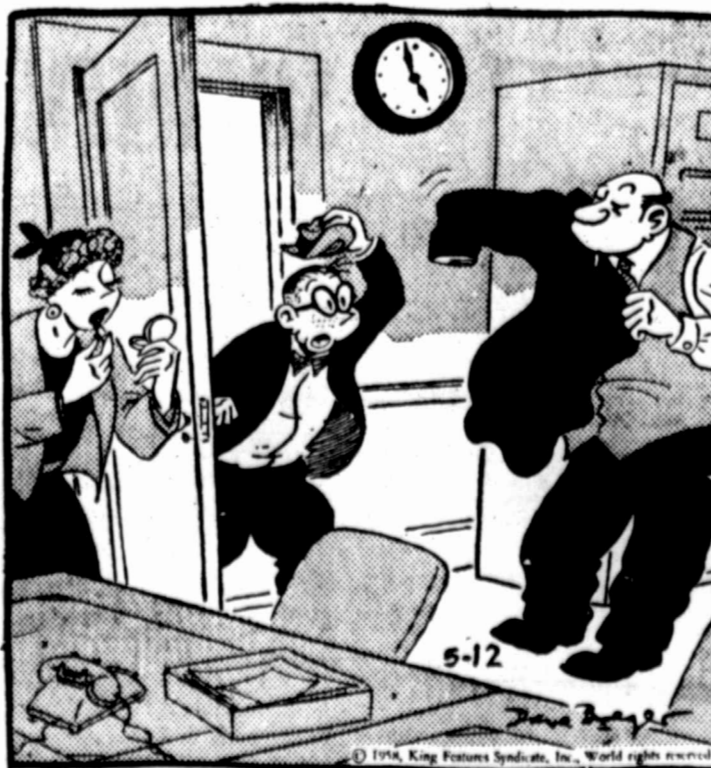

This poses a real problem for stockholders. Many investors believe in the theory of cumulative voting. It gives dissident shareholders a chance to demand representation. It is a threat overhanging management. But many of these same shareholders, notably banks, investment trusts, insurance companies, dislike divided boards of directors, which fritter away time in argument rather than deliberation. So each stockholder, in voting proxies, will have to ponder these questions:

Will Phillips be an electrifying, beneficial influence on the Pennsy board? If so, a vote for him is in order.

Or, will he produce static and interfere with harmonious operation? If so, the vote would be no.

Tuesday's annual meeting is historic—the first change in 112 years stockholders have had to vote aye or nay re management.

Joe Heap, the Notre Dame ex who took summer ROTC training at Webb AFB here a couple of years ago and who is now stationed at Bolling Field in Washington, D. C., scored four touchdowns Saturday as a team of Exes nudged the Notre Dame football varsity, 37-36, at South Bend, Ind.

He managed scoring runs of four and 14 yards and took passes from Ralph Guglielmi and covered ten and 59 yards, respectively, for his other tallies.

CHUCK STRONG (LEFT) AND BOB HAUSE

Bob Hause, the Brooke Army Medical Center distance runner, ran the fastest mile ever clocked in Memorial Stadium when he won the event in 4:18.9 in Webb AFB's Invitational track and field meet here last weekend, but he's done better, in his time.

The former University of California athlete has been timed in 4:11.0.

He reasons his best race is the two-mile, however. He's done that in 8:59.8. Few Americans in history have run faster.

Another Californian, Chuck Strong (formerly of Stanford) ran second to Hause here, but he didn't push Bob. Hause finished a good 25 yards ahead of Strong.

Hause has always regretted he passed up the opportunity to serve as a pacer for Don Bowden when that celebrated Californian ran the only mile in less than four minutes ever clocked by an American. Bob was invited to serve in that capacity but didn't get to make it.

Hause liked the local track (as has every athlete who has run on it this year). He says the best oval on which he has ever competed is at the University of Oregon. He doesn't particularly care for the track at Bakersfield, Calif., which most everyone else has praised.

Ernie Lombardi, the one-time Cincinnati Redleg catcher who got tired of it all a few years back and tried to kill himself, is now serving as sergeant-at-arms in the press box of the San Francisco Giants press box.

Ken Venturi, the well known pro golfer, earned himself $1,200 in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nevada, recently but he cost his Calcutta pool banker, Morris Kleinman, $24,000—the highest price bid during the sale of players.

Venturi was a 5-1 choice in the pre-tournament betting. Arnold Palmer's banker, Mill Wershaw, bid $19,000 for him and that went down the drain.

A Las Vegas sports writer, Hank Greenspan, paid $10,500 for Tommy Bolt and collected $17,435.

If you were watching Cleveland and Detroit play baseball on TV a couple of weeks ago and heard Dizzy Dean harp about the frigid temperatures, maybe you wondered why the game ever took place. Each club received $30,000 from the video people for piping it into your living room, which is a good enough reason.

That's one side of the picture. Here's another side: New Orleans of the Southern Association visited Little Rock recently for what was to have been a four-game series. Rain washed out three of the games and the fourth drew a meager crowd of 410. New Orleans' cut of the gate was $150, not enough to cover the hotel bill for one day.

Things I didn't know until recently: That Coahoma has the first gymnasium ever built in Howard County.

IN NEXT OLYMPICS Mathias Insists U.S. Will Lose

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Mathias, the two-time Olympic decathlon champion and currently a novice movie star under John Wayne's tutelage, said today the United States is bound to lose the 1960 Olympics to the Russians.

"I know we lost in the point score in 1956," said Mathias, who was at Melbourne as President Eisenhower's personal emissary. "But we won most of the track events and we told ourselves that's what counts."

"Well, I'll tell you something—this time we're not even going to win the track events. We're good, but we've been standing still. The Russians have been concentrating on the events we've always dominated."

Mathias just returned from Germany where he gave a series of lectures on coaching to Army athletes.

"The Europeans aren't interested in our explanations that track and field are the most important parts of the Olympics and that many of the other sports are strictly minor in the United States."

"They expect us to be the best in everything and unless we do something about it, we're going to take a back seat to the Russians."

Mathias won his first Olympic decathlon championship as a comparatively unknown 17-year-old Tulare, Calif., high school kid in 1948. Then he repeated in 1952. He won the Sullivan Award and was named the outstanding male athlete of the year in The Associated Press poll in 1953.

"I don't really know the answer," he said. "But the Americans should notice that many of the Europeans are older than our boys when they still are winning track and field titles."

"That's because they have plenty of places to keep in shape when they get out of school. What do we have here? Next to nothing. When I was graduated from Stanford I had no place to go to keep in shape. So I just quit."

Houston's Don Loadman turned in a 4:13.4 mile, breaking a 25-year-old record of 4:18 made by Butler's Ray Sears in 1933.

North Texas State, which placed a close second to Houston in the team standings, bettered the 440-yard relay mark with a 41-second time.

Jim Weaver of North Texas, bucking a four mile an hour wind, matched the .09.6 100-yard dash record first set by Nebraska's Roland Locke in 1926.

Wranglers Favored In JC Track Meet

The end is in sight for the Howard County Junior College track and field team but they'll see plenty of action before the 1958 season comes to a halt, beginning with the Texas Junior College conference cinder show at ACC in Abilene today and Tuesday.

The Hawks are also entered in the National Juco meet at Hutchinson, Kansas, which takes place this weekend.

Cisco is favored in the state meet but HCJC could emerge as the team titlist, without causing too much of a surprise.

Other teams entered at Abilene include Amarillo, Decatur, Blinn, Linn Morris, Paris, Weatherford, Lee of Baytown, San Antonio, Panola, Texarkana, Navarro, Henderson and Temple, as well as Cisco.

Cisco's hopes will be built around Bruce Land, who has run the 100 in 9.3 this year. The Wranglers copped the team title in the ABC Relays last month.

HCJC will lean heavily upon such boys as Bobby Fuller, who runs both the mile and 800; John Tindle and Millard Bennett.

HCJC's golf team is also on hand and should make a strong bid for the championship.

Odessa was upset in the West Zone meet by HCJC a couple of weeks ago but rules as favorite in the state meet.

The Jayhawk linksters on hand in Abilene include Bobby Blumh, Jerry Scott, Bunky Grimes and Donald Lovelady. The four boys will compete as two-man teams, with Blumh and Scott teaming up as the No. 1 entry.

The track meet will get under way at 3:30 o'clock each afternoon.

Conway's Bowlers Rip Alexander's

Tom Conway's Humble bombarded Alexander's Jewelry for three games in weekend bowling activity, as the Industrial League's eight teams rounded the turn into the three-game stretch.

Also, B and H Well Service won the best of three from Toby's Drive-In, and another drive-in, Donald's won two of three from Wilson Brothers. Snider's Gulf slapped Prager's Men Store for all three games.

Donald's Drive-In had the high team game of 860 and captured the high team series with a 2408.

For individual prowess, O. D. O'Daniel had the high single game of 225, and bolted ahead in the high series total, 567.

Wilson Brother's will tangle with Alexander's Jewelry next week, and also sharing the limelight will be matches of Donald's vs. Tom Conway's B and H vs. Prager's, and Snider's vs. Toby's.

Team Standings: Wilson Brothers 58, W.L. Alexander's Jewelry 41, Toby's Drive-In 33, Donald's Drive-In 29, B&H Well Service 25, Prager's Men Store 21, Snider's Gulf 17, Tom Conway's Humble 14.

Cauble Wins In 2 Events

Barney Cauble of Midland placed in both trapshoot events staged at the Western Sportsman's Club shooting range Sunday afternoon.

Cauble broke 90 of 100 targets shooting from 16 yards to beat out Dr. Charley Deats of Big Spring. Deats shattered 85 of 100 targets.

Cauble also finished second in the handicap event, with 76 of 100 targets. First in that division was K. L. Beck of Odessa, who broke 83 of 100 targets.

The scores were considered good, considering the fact that the wind was fairly brisk.

Webb Turns Back Painters Twice

Webb AFB twice defeated Nabors Paint Store in softball action at Webb Saturday night, 8-7 and 4-3.

The first game went an extra inning and was decided when the Painters' defense fell apart. Cotton Mize had put Nabors' lead with a home run in the top half of the ninth.

Robert Elsberry was the winning hurler in the opening game. Jackie Long earned that distinction in the afterpiece.

ODESSA (SC) — Rain washed out the second game of a scheduled twin bill between the Odessa All Stars and the Big Spring Tigers here Sunday afternoon after the home club had copped the opener, 6-2.

Big Spring trailed in the fifth inning of the second go, 9-7, when the teams were chased to cover by the downpour. At the time, the Tigers had four runs in and two runners aboard, with one out.

In the first game, Odessa struck for three runs on one hit in the first and led away the verdict with a three-run sixth.

Roscoe Newell started on the mound for Big Spring and Joe Cadenhead finished up.

The Tigers were limited to six hits by Marin, the Odessa hurler, half of which were banded out by Juan Arquele. Andy Gamboa had two safeties for the Bengals.

The closing birdies gave Boros a one-under par round of 71 and a 72-hole total of 273. At the midpoint of the final round — after Boros turned in two-under par — it looked as if the tanned, former U.S. Open king had the triumph in the bag.

But Boros ran into trouble on the final nine while Middlecoff, who was even par on the front nine, rump up five birdies. Boros, meanwhile, went one over par on 10 and two over on No. 13 to get himself in hot water. He bailed himself out on the last two holes.

Boros started the last round four strokes in front of Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., and five in front of Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla.

Rosburg shot a creditable 69, but it was only good enough to

The second one, off the bat of Frankie Robinson, dropped in for a double. Steve Bilko's single drove in Robinson with the run that put the Redlegs ahead 5-4 in the eighth.

Del Crandall, who won Saturday's game with a two-run pinch-hit homer off Harvey Radtke's slider in the seventh, won Sunday's with a three-run double off Turk Lown's slider in the eighth. Manager Fred Haney is well aware that Covington is a deficit on defense. When the Braves are ahead, Haney sends in a substitute for him. But when they are behind as they were Sunday until the eighth, he must keep Covington.

Artesia Wins 12 Of 13 Starts

By The Associated Press
Look for the others to chant "break up the Giants" in the Sophomore League if Artesia continues its current rampage.

The Giants have won 12 of 13 games and are 7 1/2 games out front in the western division of the League, where the New Mexico clubs play.

Artesia strapped Carlsbad 4-3 Sunday, scoring the winning run in the 10th on a sacrifice fly by Gary Kupsky. Carlsbad pitcher Carl Swenson struck out five in the last two innings, fanning three in a row in the 10th.

San Angelo maintained its narrow lead in the eastern division by walloping Hobbs 12-9. Arcadia Tejada pitched a 2-hitter for six innings in winning relief. The four home runs were hit in the first three innings, none off Tejada.

Midland stayed half a game behind San Angelo by whipping Plainview 10-2. Larry Alexander scattered eight hits the first six innings.

Julius Boros Wins $20,000 Hot Springs Open With 273

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The 36-hole grind was hard on 38-year-old Julius Boros, but the phlegmatic links workman from Mid Pines, N. C., savor a little bit for when he needed it and won the $20,000 Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Boros took his first tournament victory since he won the world championship at Tam O'Shanter in 1955 by ramming down birdie putts of 15 and 10 feet on Nos. 17 and 18 to stave off a fast finish by Cary Middlecoff of Hollywood, Fla.

The closing birdies gave Boros a one-under par round of 71 and a 72-hole total of 273. At the midpoint of the final round — after Boros turned in two-under par — it looked as if the tanned, former U.S. Open king had the triumph in the bag.

Braves Looking Mighty Potent

By CHUCK CAPALDO
MILWAUKEE (AP)—"Who," the visiting writer asked with the air of a prosecuting attorney, "is going to beat the Milwaukee Braves anyway?"

His listeners offered feeble protests. "It's early yet," said one. "The Pirates and the Giants look pretty good," said another. "The Cards are bound to improve," said a third.

But, they knew what he was driving at as well as he did, and they agreed with him.

The Braves, with all their bumps, bruises and anemic batting averages, look mighty good. In fact, they can't even beat themselves no matter how hard they try.

Take Sunday's game with the Cincinnati Redlegs, for example. The world champions won it 7-6 for their seventh victory in a row and 15th in 22 games to tighten their grip on first place in the National League. Last year the Braves also won 15 of their first 22 games.

It also was their fourth straight in five starts against the Redlegs — their favorite pasties last season. These same Redlegs came to town after ramming an eight-run ninth inning down the throats of the ambitious Chicago Cubs.

Two routine outfield flies almost put Cincinnati in the victory column, though.

West Covington, playing left field on a leg and a bat, and shortstop Johnny Logan let two fly balls drop between them for hits and, eventually, runs. Covington got a late start on both balls because of his injured left knee.

The second one, off the bat of Frankie Robinson, dropped in for a double. Steve Bilko's single drove in Robinson with the run that put the Redlegs ahead 5-4 in the eighth.

Tennessee River's Tamed But Power Argument Still Floods

By ROGER GREENE
 AP Staff Writer

The beautiful Tennessee River is tamed now, its fury shackled as it flows in a majestic 650-mile arc from the southern Appalachians to mid-continent.

Along its banks, families sleep less fearfully today than a quarter of a century ago.

But the storm over public power, a by-product of harnessing the once-roaring river, rages as violently as ever.

At its core is the still mushrooming federal agency known as the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Approaching its 25th anniversary, the TVA is hailed by friends, in glowing terms, as a symbol of democracy on the march. Foes roundly condemn it as a socialistic colossus spawned by power-drunk federal bureaucracy.

On April 10, 1933, five weeks after entering the White House, Franklin D. Roosevelt asked Congress to set up a federal agency "clothed with the power of government" to develop the resources of the Tennessee Valley.

Basically it was a make-work project to combat unemployment during the great depression. Two Republican presidents, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover, had previously vetoed similar TVA proposals.

MARCH ON

But Roosevelt looked beyond the immediate economic crisis.

"If we are successful here," he said, "we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

Congress rushed the legislation through in five weeks and on May 18, Roosevelt signed the bill into law.

Angry protest, countered by vociferous praise, have swirled around the federal project ever since. It is a many-sided argument.

TVA itself, in a recent pamphlet "Facts About TVA," says it has been "denounced on the one hand as 'creeping socialism' (President Eisenhower's phrase), and acclaimed on the other as 'the greatest political invention of our century.'"

What do the valley people think of TVA? With few exceptions, they love it.

Cheap power has brought hundreds of new industries and additional millions of dollars in payrolls to a land which once lazed in the hot sunshine and provided a meager livelihood from tobacco, cotton and small crops.

TVA denies that its cut-rate power has enticed factory owners to move to the South from New England and other areas where rates are higher.

But it proudly relates that since 1933 private industry has invested more than half a billion dollars in plants and terminals along the river. Among them are such industrial giants as the Aluminum Co. of America, Reynolds Metals, Ford Motors and E. I. du Pont.

"If consumers in the TVA area paid the national average in electric rates," says TVA, "they would pay 100 million dollars more a year for the electricity they buy."

SUBSIDIES RESENTED

Across the years, one of the chief complaints against TVA has been that taxpayers throughout the rest of the country have had to pay to subsidize cheap tax-free electricity for the five-million residents of the Tennessee Valley.

"The Tennessee is a peculiar river," says Richard W. Smith, manager of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's natural resources department.

"It flows through four states and drains the taxpayers of 48."

The subsidy complaint is based largely on the fact that TVA pays not a cent in federal taxes and pays less than 1% per cent of its power revenues to state and local governments in lieu of taxes. Its only legal obligation is to repay the Treasury, within 40 years, the money it has received from the government.

By contrast, private power companies pay about 21% per cent of operating income in federal, state and local taxes. The companies, of course, pass the taxes along to the consumer, who thus foots the bill.

Time Working For Free World In Battle For Southeast Asia

By RELMAN MORIN
 TOKYO (AP) — On a warship in Southeast Asian waters recently, a top military commander was asked to appraise the battle for Asia as it stands today. Without hesitation, he replied:

"Time is working for us and against the Communists now. A few years ago, it was just the reverse."

Recently, the U.S. ambassadors in the Far East met on Formosa to exchange information on the same question. The consensus of the conference, as three of them reported it to this correspondent:

"The picture looks good. You can't tell about Indonesia, of course."

In March, the foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization met in Manila. This conference, too, ended on a note of optimism. An Associated Press correspondent reported:

"SEATO is now considered to be a going concern, capable of standing up to communism militarily and economically."

Does all this mean that the tide finally has turned in the Far East? Has the Communist drive been checked?

BACK FOUR YEARS

To consider the question, think back less than four years —

The Reds had just destroyed Dienbienphu, the French fortress in Indochina; the entire country looked ripe for the taking. Thailand was threatened. Communist guerrillas were operating over a wide area in Malaya. Where would the Reds strike next?

SEATO did not exist. There was no organization for pooling the military resources of the free nations, standardizing their equipment, providing joint training.

In Japan, as U.S. procurements dwindled after the Korean War, there was deep concern over the problem of maintaining the economy.

In war-torn Korea, the people suffered from cold, hunger and disease. To make matters worse, they were openly and harshly critical of almost every aspect of the U.S. aid program.

Today, the changes that have taken place in the Far East seem almost magical. The picture looks bright, indeed. These are the most significant factors in it now:

1. Japan holds the key position. This is the industrial powerhouse of the Orient. The furious energy and dynamism that once were channeled into war and preparations for war now are going into economic expansion. The standard of living is high. The export-import position seems sound. You may even see small-size Japanese automobiles competing in the American market soon.
2. Agreements to pay war reparations have been signed with the Philippines, Burma, Thailand and Indonesia. The burden is heavy. But the Japanese expect to dispel war-born hostilities in this way, and thus open still more doors to their products in Asian markets.
3. The free nations are growing steadily stronger.

The military outlook, however, is cloudy. Japanese leaders doubt that any forces comparable with the powerful prewar machine will be re-created in the near future. To permit it, a constitutional change is necessary and the majority of the people seem wholly opposed.

Questions about locating missile bases on Japanese soil, or even using air-to-air missiles, elicit vague and evasive answers from government officials.

SITUATION IN JAPAN

1. Japan has become the Communists' No. 1 target.
2. Far Eastern observers believe

Russia and Red China will step up the effort to detach Japan from the alignment of free nations, to neutralize her, and finally to bring her into the Communist bloc.

They both have strong bargaining points — fishing rights in the Sea of Okhotsk, and closer trade relations, for example.

A major plank in the policy of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government is close ties with the United States. But the Japanese Socialists probably would drift closer to the Communists.

Kishi has called a general election for May 22. It holds immense implications if the Socialists should unseat him.

Take the two showcase nations, South Korea and South Viet Nam. They have common frontiers with the Communists. Here, the two systems compete at close quarters. What are the outstanding results?

The Koreans have made spectacular economic gains. They are eating more, living better, looking happier. They have stabilized the currency, held wholesale prices in line for 18 months, controlled inflation. They are beginning to make a modest start toward exporting. Here, American money has been put to highly effective use.

Meanwhile, the former bitterness over the U.S. aid program has evaporated entirely.

French Regime Imperiled Again

PARIS (AP)—A new wave of opposition to any compromise in Algeria today imperiled Pierre Pflimlin's chances of forming France's 25th postwar government.

Resentment — fanned by rebel execution of three French soldiers — made it doubtful the leader of the Catholic Popular Republican Movement could form a government able to negotiate any sort of peace in Algeria.

Pflimlin seeks National Assembly approval Tuesday. If he fails, France will grope under the crisis which broke four weeks ago when the legislators forced Premier Felix Gaillard out because they didn't like his North African policies.
