Scene Of Riots

Beirut and Tripoli, both underlined, continued to be the focal points of mob violence against Lebanon's pro-western government as renewed street fighting broke out in Beirut. Unidentified men blew up a section of north Lebanon's pipeline carrying Iraq oil to the port city of Tripoli. United Arab Republic radio stations in Damascus and Cairo have been broadcasting calls for open rebellion in Lebanon.

Embassy Bomb Sets Off New Lebanon Rioting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The harmless explosion of a bomb in front of the U.S. Embassy this morning began the fifth day of rioting against Lebanon's pro-Western government and its American ally.

The government of President Camille Chamoun was reported standing defiantly against the shooting, burning mobs.

The disturbances that have racked this tiny eastern Mediterranean republic subsided again into sporadic shooting during the curfew Tuesday night. With the lifting of the curfew shooting increased and mobs returned to the streets.

The death toll in rioting in Beirut since Monday reached an estimated 20 persons. It was expected to go higher. At least 32 other persons have been reported killed since the trouble began Saturday in the north Lebanese port of Tripoli.

Rioters led by supporters of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic seek to overthrow Chamoun and his government. Mobs have wrecked two U.S. information agency libraries in Beirut and Tripoli.

Officials said the bomb thrown at the U. S. Embassy was caught but was not immediately identified.

Highly reliable sources said Chamoun has told his government: "I shall stay in office. I won't budge."

His defiant statement reportedly was made at a palace meeting Tuesday night with his Cabinet and 16 members of the 66-man Parliament.

The Parliament, which has a majority of Chamoun supporters, has stood behind him in the disturbances.

The government's stiffening attitude apparently stemmed from its charges against the U.A.R. of massive interference in Lebanese affairs. Foreign Minister Charles Malik said Tuesday terrorists with orders for rioting, bombings and assassinations had invaded this little republic from the U.A.R.'s Syrian province and from the Egyptian - held Gaza Strip.

Nixon Stays Inside As U. S. Troops Stand By

Proud Mother

2/Lt. Daniel P. Cannon, Outstanding Graduate of Class 58-M, displays his engraved silver trophy to his mother, Mrs. Helen Cannon. Mrs. Cannon, a widow since her son was nine years old, traveled by bus from her home in Bethlehem, Pa., to attend the graduation ceremony at Webb AFB.

Leftist Violence Shames Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Vice President Nixon today refused to cut short his Venezuelan visit after narrowly escaping injury at the hands of howling, rock-throwing mobs. But he sat tight in the heavily guarded U.S. Embassy and canceled public appearances.

In a show of force President Eisenhower meanwhile pushed 1,000 Marines and paratroopers to U.S. bases in Cuba and Puerto Rico, only three hours flight time from Caracas. The U.S. Defense Department said they were available if the Venezuelan government sought assistance, but the country's ruling military junta showed no inclination to ask for such aid.

Junta chief Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal gave assurance there would be no repetition of the riots in which spitting, stoning youths — apparently urged on by Communist agitators — injured six members of the Nixon parties and four Venezuelans greeting them as they arrived from Bogota.

Nixon was unhurt but told reporters he was "covered with spit from head to foot." He added that one of the mob spat directly in Mrs. Nixon's face at the airport. Windows in the cars were broken, showering the party with glass. The cars were dented and covered with spit and eggs.

DEEP REGRET

Larrazabal expressed deep regret. He said orders had gone out to take strong measures against demonstrators, but that he would never order guns turned on Venezuelans. Larrazabal's car also was stoned as he returned from a call on Nixon at the embassy.

Leaders of Venezuela's three main political parties made a nationwide broadcast last night condemning the anti-Nixon riots and urging the Venezuelan people to conduct themselves with serenity and dignity.

Civic and educational leaders also joined in a radio program similarly condemning violence and appealing for order and decorum. Interior Minister Numa Quevedo in a statement deplored the disorders and said they "do not affect the traditional cordial relations between the United States and Venezuela."

Quevedo said the junta had ordered those responsible for the riots to be found and punished. Nixon said he was canceling all appointments that would take him into the tense capital so that further violence might be averted. The party leaves for Washington tomorrow, winding up the eight-nation South American tour.

The vice president said the government apparently had underestimated the character and number of rioters. He expressed doubt many of them were Communists but added, "If a situation like that we saw today is allowed to go unchecked, there will come to the hemisphere a dictatorship worse than that of Perez Jimenez."

OUSTED DICTATOR

Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez is the dictator Venezuelans ousted in a January revolt. He is living in exile in Miami Beach.

Trouble started as soon as the Nixons arrived in Caracas. Students at the airport booed and jeered during the arrival ceremony. Then they broke through the police lines when Nixon walked over to shake hands with watching airport mechanics. One man tried to grab Mrs. Nixon and the couple were spat on repeatedly.

As the caravan reached the city, what appeared to be a pre-arranged traffic jam stalled it and a band of about 500 youths descended on the cars, spitting, throwing stones, eggs, scrap iron and other articles. The mob finally was dispersed by a special troop detachment hurling tear gas.

Pointing out that at this moment the only superiority the U. S. holds is America's ability to produce more than the Russians, Stripling quoted Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, to the effect that "we can stop the Russians now but must move forward and increase our capabilities." The Russians are fully capable now of conducting either conventional or nuclear warfare.

Stripling closed with a quotation from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in his book, "Masters of Deceit," in which he says, "Thank God for the millions of Americans who oppose them."

"I echo this opinion," Stripling said to the graduates, and added, "Thank God for gentlemen like yourselves."

Compromise On Imports Seen For Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible compromise formula for limiting imports offered hope today for committee agreement on a new reciprocal trade bill.

Details remained to be worked out, but the compromise reportedly seeks to provide relief to U.S. industries threatened by imports without resort to specific tariff and quota restrictions.

Reflecting a new atmosphere of optimism, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark) of the House Ways and Means Committee reported he is now confident a trade extension bill would be approved by the committee tomorrow or Friday.

The bill was certain to provide considerably less than President Eisenhower requested. But leaders regarded it as the best they could hope to get through the House in the face of hostile bipartisan opposition.

A poll of the 232 House Democrats showed only 91 willing to accept the Eisenhower program in its present form.

A Republican poll showed a large percentage of GOP members noncommittal, withholding approval of any trade bill until they know exactly what is in it. House Republicans generally are hostile to the present trade program.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, the Republican House leader, said at the White House yesterday the outlook for the President's bill was "not too good."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said there was going to "have to be a little yielding" by the White House.

The administration has given no indication of yielding in its insistence on a five-year extension of the trade act upon its expiration June 30, together with new authority to reduce tariffs 25 per cent by gradual steps.

3 Annexation Moves Are Started By City

First official step was made by the City Commission Tuesday night toward annexing a large section of land southwest of Big Spring and plans were made to take in two other sections on the eastern edge.

First of three required readings was heard on annexing 278 acres of land southwest of town including the city park and the Douglas Subdivision. This property reaches from the eastern boundary of the city park to the Old San Angelo Hwy. and is connected to the present city boundaries by a 10-foot strip.

Cecil McDonald originally asked that his property, the Douglas Subdivision, be brought into the city so he could develop a better-type house on it. This led to the annexing the large segment.

Later, in the meeting Tuesday, the commission authorized the city manager, H. W. Whitney, to prepare the annexation ordinances on two smaller sections in the eastern part of Big Spring.

One is a portion of land amounting to about a two-block strip just north of Cornell in the College Park Estates. John Little asked for this section to be annexed.

The other would bring in all property of north of the future FM 700 right-of-way to the existing city limits line in Section 4, Block 32, Township 1-South, T&P Survey. This is south of Morrison Drive and east of S. Monticello.

Three readings of any ordinance annexing property is required, and 30 days must elapse after the ordinance is published before the last reading may be held. Also the ordinance cannot be published until it has passed the first reading of the commission.

Naturally, first reading of the two eastern segments ordinances will not be made until the May 27 meeting.

In other matters, the commission approved a power line easement for Texas Electric Co. along the east boundary of Webb AFB to serve the Capehart housing area, subject to Air Force sanction.

A request was granted to close an alley in the Whippoorwill Hill Addition. The alley was dedicated because of a dead-end street, but now the street is to be opened, and the alley is not needed.

In the nearby Abernathy Addition, the city approved a contract for installation of water and sewer lines. The developer will pay costs of these lines and they will become the property of the city when completed.

The commission authorized the condemnation of a small segment of property at 17th and Lexington if negotiations cannot be made with the property owner, Mrs. D. W. Jones, for a settlement. The property is needed to make an adequate intersection. The street is open now but is very narrow.

Commissioners also agreed to open a street on the north side of the Rice Addition near the air base if the concerned landowners will donate the land. The street would connect with the Old Hwy 80 north of the rodeo grounds. Half of the property is outside the city and the county has agreed to participate in opening the street, Whitney told the commission.

Chavez Is Renominated In N. Mexico Demo Primary

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.), won renomination and state Rep. John Burroughs emerged as the choice of New Mexico Democrats for the governorship in Tuesday's primary elections.

Burroughs' leading contender, Joseph Bursey of Santa Fe, had not conceded at the time he retired early today, but successive tabulations lengthened the Burroughs margin.

Latest returns from four-fifths of the state's 969 voting divisions gave Burroughs a lead of 7,359 votes over Bursey, 39,390 to 32,031. Trailing far behind were Corporation Commissioner Ingram Pickett, 16,097; one-time Atty. Gen. Robert Dow, 5,046; and Cole Moffett, Albuquerque real estate man, 2,045.

Chavez' victory was conceded by his opponent, former state Land Commissioner Johnny Walker.

Stripling Says Russian Goal Is Subjugation Of Free World

Aggression will replace a policy of absorption and attrition when Russia feels it has the capability of success.

Robert E. Stripling, Midland oil man, made this analysis in his address to the graduating class of 58-M at Webb AFB last night. Dealing with the communist cold war and other strategy, Stripling drew upon his 10 years as counsel and chief investigator of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Honored as the outstanding graduate at last night's ceremony in the Webb AFB chapel was 2nd Lt. Daniel P. Cannon. Also an honor student was 2nd Lt. Lynn R. Wolfe. Recognition was made by Col. Kyle Riddle, base commander. A reception for graduates and their families and friends followed at Webb Officers Club. Mrs. Champ Rainwater was organist.

Emphasizing that America has been in a state of war with the Soviet Union since 1919, Stripling described the various means by which Russia sought to destroy the United States and other non-Communist countries. He emphasized that changes of Soviet strategy imply no cessation of efforts to subjugate free countries.

SURPRISE ATTACK

The edict of the surprise attack was put forth by Premier Nikita Khrushchev recently, said Stripling. Pointing out that the Communists' aim is not limited to taking over specific parts of countries, or whole countries, or waterways, Stripling said "the real tragedy of the Communist conspiracy is the plan to take over our lives completely and destroy everything that we hold dear."

"We must always understand that the Soviet rulers have no moral values as we know them, and that the Kremlin has no concern for human life or for the dignity or freedom of man," he said.

He told of visiting Oak Ridge, Tenn., in 1946, when that Manhattan Project installation which had helped in developing the A-bomb was still in the hands of military authorities. In discussions then as to who had really developed the secret of the A-bomb, it seemed to be the consensus that while the Russians had several scientists who knew the A-bomb formula, they were also convinced that it was the industrial ability of the United States—"the Westinghouses, the General Electrics, the Monsanto's, the Detroit's, and the Chicagos"—which was responsible for our ability to build the bomb first.

The Russians thereupon staged a mass legal raid upon America's store of technological information, buying many hundreds of thousands of American patents at a few cents each. Russian consulate, embassies, libraries, tourist agencies and the like, participated in this mass gathering of scientific data.

Henry A. Wallace, who was then Secretary of Commerce, put on special 24-hour shifts, Stripling said, to handle the workload of Russian orders.

The Russians succeeded dramatically in utilizing this information in the crash program to build their own industrial machine.

The Russians began their cry for peace after World War II, he said, to give them time to get this industrial machine into operation. They are now calling for summit conferences to set up a "disarmament machine" to give them more time to ready their industrial war capability for launching a surprise attack against the U. S., Stripling said.

"We are in dire peril for America if ever for a moment we let our guard down or underestimate the Communist enemy," he said. "They are out to take us over completely in all we represent."

Pointing out that at this moment the only superiority the U. S. holds is America's ability to produce more than the Russians, Stripling quoted Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, to the effect that "we can stop the Russians now but must move forward and increase our capabilities." The Russians are fully capable now of conducting either conventional or nuclear warfare.

Stripling closed with a quotation from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in his book, "Masters of Deceit," in which he says, "Thank God for the millions of Americans who oppose them."

"I echo this opinion," Stripling said to the graduates, and added, "Thank God for gentlemen like yourselves."

Col. Riddle Invites Public To WAFB

Residents of this area had a personal invitation Wednesday from Col. Kyle L. Riddle, commander of Webb AFB, to visit the base Saturday during Armed Forces Day.

"We are anxious to have as many people as possible to be our guests," said Col. Riddle. "There will be special events such as an air show and numerous static displays to add to the observance, but more than this you will get a chance to see how we go about the business of training jet pilots."

Because of the nature of its operation, the base seldom has the opportunity to conduct large scale demonstrations such as Saturday.

"This open house on Armed Forces Day will afford a convenient opportunity for you to see how your funds are invested in the defense of the nation by training the world's best pilots," said the colonel. "We sincerely hope that everyone who can will visit us Saturday."

Meanwhile, the roar of planes in information continued around the base Wednesday as teams practiced for the Saturday morning show.

Four planes in the precision flying demonstration will be piloted by Maj. Edward J. Hershock, 1st Lt. Fred J. St. Jean, Thomas A. Quinn Jr. and Robert L. Jenkins.

Single engine demonstrations will be effected by Capt. Roland G. Bradley and 1st Lt. Luther W. Manuel of flight line maintenance. First Lt. Richard W. Budka, adjutant of the 3560th flight line maintenance squadron, is rehearsing as the alternate on the precision flying quartet.

In addition there will be flyovers by a formation of 16 planes. Webb also will have an engine change team giving exhibitions.

Lake Thomas 95 Pct. Full

Lake J. B. Thomas levelled off today at a new record—just 1 1/4 feet short of the service spillway.

The elevation Wednesday morning was 2,256.76. Service spillway level is 2,258.00.

At this new record level, the lake covers 7,700 surface acres of just over 12 square miles. It contains 184,000 acre feet of water, of 95 per cent of capacity volume. This is approximately 64 billion gallons of water.

Increase from the brisk thundershowers which fell principally on the Colorado River shed Monday night was 1.49 feet or 11,300 acre feet of water. This brought the elevation to 2,268.25. This is 1.95 feet below service spillway level.

Lake Colorado City eased up slightly since Tuesday readings and had a level of 2,068.05. This is 1.95 feet below service spillway level.

Projects Added To School Aid Appeal

Two additional school projects will be proposed in connection with Big Spring's application for federal construction funds.

Proposals for a six-classroom addition to Park Hill elementary school and for a general administration building will be filed in support of the application for funds. Already on file with the application are plans for a 12-classroom school proposed for the area surrounding the Webb AFB housing development.

The application for $432,000 in federal assistance was submitted several weeks ago. Supt. Floyd Parsons told school trustees last night that it is possible the district will receive sufficient funds for all three projects, although there is no assurance that any federal assistance will be secured.

However, Parsons recommended the filing of the additional projects in support of the application so that funds can be used for those purposes in case they are received. The six-room Park Hill school is overflowing at present, and an administration building is needed badly, the superintendent said.

Trustees last night also authorized the granting of a sewer line easement across school property in Kennebec Heights. The easement was asked by the city for construction of the new outfall sewer line from the Webb housing area.

Resignations of Mrs. Barbara Maves, high school teacher, and Alfred Podell, East Ward teacher, were accepted by the board.

Little will be in cooperation with John Little, the developer. Little asked the city to install an outfall sewer line which he said would benefit the city as much as it did him, and the city in return asked him to lend the money for the line.

Little then agreed to lend part of the money if the city would participate in water lines and paving over and above Little's money. To this the commission agreed Tuesday night.

Under the agreement, the city will pay the difference in costs of 40 and a 56-foot paving on Baylor, which would amount to $4,430. Increasing a water line in the area from 12 to 20 inches would cost the city $5,220, and the 18-inch sewer line would cost $9,250.

Scurry

British-American Oil has applied for discovery allowable on the No. 1-Q Johnson after it finished 180 barrels of 37.5-degree oil and 20 per cent water in 24 hours. Suggested field name is the Lone Ranger (Pennsylvania).

DWI Suspect Is Acquitted In Short Trial

Vernon Phillips, charged with DWI, was acquitted by a Howard County Court jury at 11:25 a.m. today.

His trial was one of the shortest jury trials on record in the local court. Phillips went to trial at 9 a.m. Two hours and 25 minutes later the case had been concluded.

Phillips was the second defendant to face a jury in the current term of criminal cases in county court on Tuesday. Chester A. Jones, charged with DWI, was found guilty. His punishment was set at a fine of $75 and 10 days in the county jail. Jones moved to delay sentence but later reconsidered and was admitted to the jail to begin serving his time Tuesday afternoon.

An unusual feature of the hearing was the unexpected announcement of City Attorney Thomas, defense attorney, that he desired to waive argument. This was a factor which hastened the disposition of the case.

The jurors were instructed by R. H. Weaver, judge, to be back in court at 9 a.m. Thursday.

City To Pay Part Of Street, Utility Costs

Work on street and water and sewer lines in the College Park Estates to be done by the city will cost about $18,000, the City Commission decided Tuesday night.

This work will be in cooperation with John Little, the developer. Little asked the city to install an outfall sewer line which he said would benefit the city as much as it did him, and the city in return asked him to lend the money for the line.

Little then agreed to lend part of the money if the city would participate in water lines and paving over and above Little's money. To this the commission agreed Tuesday night.

Under the agreement, the city will pay the difference in costs of 40 and a 56-foot paving on Baylor, which would amount to $4,430. Increasing a water line in the area from 12 to 20 inches would cost the city $5,220, and the 18-inch sewer line would cost $9,250.

Little will lend the $6,000 toward cost of the sewer line without any interest. City commissioners then decided to pay for the paving from street improvement bond funds, and the remaining charges will come from the water and sewer distribution fund.

In another matter, the commission approved three recommendations from the Citizens' Traffic Commission. Approved were Yield Right-of-Way signs at 14th and Lexington, 14th and M. Vernon, and 14th and Princeton.

At each intersection, traffic on 14th will yield to the north-south streets.

The commission gave the city manager permission to attend a meeting of the Texas City Managers' Assn. at Temple May 19 and 20.

Commissioner Ward Hall reported on a committee meeting which he attended concerning long-range planning for a large hospital here. He said the city should start thinking about such a project and the influence a hospital has on the city's economy.

Also mentioned was a master plan committee which is looking into such a project. Commissioner Lee O. Rogers mentioned possibly using college students under a training program from a college or university in the state. He said the plan had been used in other cities to advantage.

The city also brought up the subject of discontinuing fire protection in the county since the county unit was wrecked, but no official action was taken.

Martin Highway Contract Is Let

This was the only road project of a $20 million highway program launched by the State Highway Commission in Monday to Strain Bros. Inc., San Angelo. The bid was $241,458.

The department is to complete tabulation of the bids today.

Garbage Truck Is Involved In Wreck

A city garbage truck was involved in an accident Tuesday morning, one of two mishaps which occurred during the morning.

A pickup owned by Dayton Miller, 310 Dixie, was parked in the 1100 block of E. 4th, when hit by the GMC garbage truck driven by Luciano Sepulveda, 108 NE 9th.

Amy Gourley, 1806 State, and Claude Gilmore, were driving vehicles involved in an accident at 4th and Johnson.

Paris Takes Action Against Rightist Coup In Algeria

PARIS (AP)—The French government today ordered Gen. Raoul Salan to take over command of Algeria from an insurrectionist junta led by a tough paratroop officer.

In its first official action since being installed early today, the new Cabinet of Premier Pierre Pflimlin today ordered Gen. Raoul Salan to take over command of Algeria from an insurrectionist junta led by a tough paratroop officer.

Massu demanded that the war on the Algerian rebels be pushed vigorously to conclusion. In a new statement broadcast by Algiers radio he termed the Pflimlin Cabinet a "government of abandonment."

The Assembly reacted immediately to the military seizure of power in Algiers and in a post-midnight session voted Pflimlin into office 274-129. Coty installed the Cabinet at once.

The Assembly vote came after Coty had ordered the army in Algeria to call off its insurrection against Premier Pflimlin's government.

In its emergency session, the Cabinet handed over full power in Algeria to Algerian affairs. The new minister for Algerian affairs, he took over from Robert Lacoste, hero of French rightists in Algeria.

"In my capacity as chief of the army... I give you an order to fulfill your duties under the authority of the government of the French Republic," Coty said in a message broadcast throughout the day from all French radio stations to Algeria.

CALL FOR DE GAULLE The leader of the military junta which had seized power in the North African capital, paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu, meanwhile repeated his demand that Coty summon wartime hero Gen. Charles de Gaulle from retirement to head a government "outside politics"—a military dictatorship.

increase efforts to keep Algeria for France.

The situation in Algiers was far from clear. The government barred foreign newsmen from leaving France for the North African capital. Dispatches from Algiers, including those of the semi-official French News Agency, were heavily censored. All communications were tightly controlled.

The military commander of the Oran Department, in northwest Algeria, announced he recognized the Paris government as the legal authority in Algeria. The reaction of the bulk of the 400,000 French troops in Algeria was not known. Most of them are fighting rebels in remote areas.

Communications between Algeria and neighboring Tunisia and Morocco also were cut. President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia held an all-night Cabinet session to consider the situation but made no announcement.

Texas Girl Honored

Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, at the White House in Washington, D. C., congratulates 16-year-old Aloma Qualls, center, of Wichita Falls upon her selection as Young Homemaker of the Year by Girls Clubs of America. Mrs. Lewis H. Ross of Manchester, N. H., president of the club, holds the citation presented to Aloma.

U.S. Troops Ready To Defend Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Battle-ready U.S. Marines and paratroopers, hastily dispatched to Caribbean bases, stood ready today to respond if Venezuela asks help in protecting Vice President Nixon.

President Eisenhower ordered 1,000 troops to the Caribbean yesterday after angry, jeering street mobs in Caracas, Venezuela's capital, assaulted Nixon's automobile caravan with rocks, sticks and eggs.

Neither the vice president nor Mrs. Nixon was injured. But six Americans in their good will party were hurt, chiefly by glass from smashed car windows. It was the most vicious of a series of anti-U.S. outbursts since Nixon began his South American tour last month.

In announcing the dramatic airlift, the Defense Department emphasized it was a precautionary measure taken "to cooperate with the Venezuelan government if assistance is requested."

But Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal, who heads Venezuela's ruling military junta, later said the Nixon party would be protected fully without calling on U.S. troops.

The unexpected show of force brought mixed reaction from Congress. Some Senate Democrats condemned it as unnecessary and unfortunate. Senate Republicans generally defended the move.

Four companies of Marines and paratroopers were flown to U.S. bases in Cuba and Puerto Rico, and another company of Marines

Students Bumped From The Grind

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Princeton University has bumped six undergraduates from the academic grind because strip tease dancers were found in their dormitory rooms.

Seven other Nassau students were suspended or placed on probation, the dean of students announced yesterday. The students were not identified.

The university's announcement that the six "were required to withdraw" was the first peek veiled the case for two weeks.

Early on May 1, police paid a visit to rooms in Borough Hall. One of the dancers, Mrs. Judy Renee, 37, of Philadelphia, leaped from the second floor, away from the arms of the law and into Princeton Hospital where she stayed the better part of two weeks.

Another girl known as "Bubbles" made good her escape. She hasn't been seen since.

The dancing girl festivities reportedly began at an eating club picnic to welcome new sophomore members.

The university said the investigation is continuing.

Voluntary Import Program Defended

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The government's voluntary crude oil imports policy was defended here yesterday by an official of the Department of Interior who said mandatory controls could not have accomplished more.

Capt. Matthew Carson Jr., director of the department's office of oil and gas, said "in nine months we have reduced imports by 168,900 barrels daily under the originally scheduled levels in District 1 through 4."

"From past experience, we know that we should avoid governmental interference and control inherent in mandatory controls unless, as a matter of last resort, our national security requires such rigorous action," Carson said.

"In that event, there would be no hesitation to act," he told the Central Oklahoma Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute. He said it was declining demand not imports that presented the industry with its biggest problem.

U.S. Sees 'Red' In Latin Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sought evidence today of Communist inspiration for the violent rioting against Vice President Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela.

But officials recognized other causes, political and economic, as contributing to the explosion of anti-U.S. hatred which has marred Nixon's good will tour and left the inter-American good neighbor policy badly battered.

In terms of damage to U.S. prestige, moreover, the impact of the attack on Nixon appeared to be increased by outbreaks elsewhere in the world dangerous to United States interests. Some officials said that in this respect yesterday was one of the worst days they could recall.

Although the rioting around Nixon's party drew major attention, the most dangerous situation for basic American interests appeared to be in France, which stands at the heart of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Washington authorities were deeply alarmed by the political turmoil in Paris following the formation of a rightist military regime in Algeria.

Gen. Jacques Massu headed an 11-man committee which set up the regime and proposed that rightist Gen. Charles de Gaulle be made premier of France.

The French Assembly broke up in disorder at the news but recovered early today and voted Pierre Pflimlin into office as head of France's 25th postwar government.

Adamant French military opposition to any kind of compromise solution for the Algerian crisis brought worry here earlier this year over the possibility of an extreme rightist swing in the French government, or even a military coup. Fears of some such development were heightened by yesterday's Algiers-Paris drama.

Even before they were confronted with this situation, Secretary of State Dulles and his principal advisers were trying to figure out what the United States could do to bolster the pro-Western government in Lebanon where anti-government rioters burned the library of the U.S. Information Service.

They reportedly were considering an urgent request for an increase in military aid, partly to strengthen Lebanon's internal security forces.

Radio propaganda of the United Arab Republic from Cairo and Damascus has been demanding the Lebanese government's overthrow. Authorities here said that Communist agitators unquestionably were active in fanning the flames of political excitement in Lebanon. The U.A.R., under Egypt President Gamal Abdel Nasser, is committed to neutralism but has often been accused of working hand in glove with the Reds on Middle East issues.

Cool Idea In Hot Water

DALLAS (AP)—A bunch of library boosters with a cool idea were in hot water financially today.

The Oak Cliff Boosters, composed of volunteer women, had $6,000 worth of air conditioning installed in a branch library.

As of yesterday, sales, carnivals and house-to-house canvassing had raised $901.12. That left the air conditioning company short just $5,122.88.

"The company will take the air conditioning equipment out of the building unless it is paid for by June 1," said Booster President Mrs. Fay Seitzler.

She said money had been slow coming in because a recent library master plan suggests changing the Oak Cliff Branch location.

The boosters asked the City Council to pick up the tab for $3,000 to help pay the bill. No decision was made immediately.

Rutherford Okays N.M. Water Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman from Texas asked a million dollars yesterday for a water project in New Mexico.

Asking a House Appropriations subcommittee to earmark the money for an overflow outlet at Abiquiu Dam in New Mexico, Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa said the two states had agreed to an uncontrolled flow after the reservoir filled to 720,000 acre feet.

He said Texas and New Mexico acted as members of the Rio Grande Compact Commission. He added the Budget Bureau in recommending a 1 1/2 million dollars, for continued construction of the dam in the year starting July 1 disapproved of spending an extra million dollars for an uncontrolled outlet.

Water users, said Rutherford, would rather have the flow released automatically when the reservoir reached a certain level than have it released by an official's decision.

Here's why Plymouth, America's favorite family wagon, is

TODAY'S BEST BUY-TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE

You get more wagon for your money today... more money for your wagon tomorrow!

Any way you look at it, you can't find a better wagon buy than Plymouth! So big—it carries more, does more, provides more room for family fun. So beautiful—just look at those long, years-ahead lines. So economical—Plymouth is priced right in the low-price "3", yet you can't buy a bigger wagon at any price. And further proof: Plymouth beat every car in the low-price class in the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run; Plymouth's second consecutive victory!

Get the biggest wagonload of value at a price far lower than you would expect. See your Plymouth dealer today.

FIVE BIG REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT WAGON SHOULD BE A PLYMOUTH

- 1. Biggest of the low-price "3". Big as wagons costing thousands of dollars more. You can't buy a bigger wagon at any price!
- 2. Holds so much more than the "other two". Over 7 cu. ft. extra passenger and cargo space. Optional "secret" luggage compartment available in 6-passenger models.
- 3. Rear-facing 3rd seat. Folds flush into floor. You don't store it outside when it's not in use. Easy to enter, has convenient back step.
- 4. Disappearing rear window. Rolls down into the one-piece tailgate. Doesn't jut out and get in the way. Only on Plymouth wagons in the low-price "3".
- 5. Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. Only Plymouth has it in the low-price "3". Big-car luxury. No side-sway on turns... no nose-dive on stops.

They don't come any bigger than Plymouth station wagons

THE REECE N. ADAMS FARMSTEAD NEAR KNOTT Place now operated by Paul Adams, son of founder

Adams Farm Was A Part Of Old Slaughter Ranch Empire

In 1923, following the dissolution of the C. C. Slaughter ranch empire, the late Reece N. Adams bought a couple of sections of virgin prairie and carved out a farmstead.

This was last week's Mystery Farm shown in the Herald. For several years now the farm has been operated by the eldest son of the founder, Paul Adams, who has added to it and has installed several improvements.

The elder Mr. Adams was a native of Arkansas and came to West Texas in search of health as a young man. After a four-year stop in Abilene, he pushed on to Big Spring in 1908, settling west of Fairview community.

A shrewd and industrious farmer, Mr. Adams knew the country well and when he got the chance, he bought two sections of land in northwest Howard County, about 20 miles northwest of Big Spring. Water was inadequate and unacceptable, so he bought another adjoining half section with good water and established his home.

He and Mrs. Adams, who now lives here at 107 Dixie, moved their family to this small structure and later built another house. They reared three sons, all of them with a love for the soil. In addition to Paul there is Harvey Adams, who farms two miles east of the old home place, and Ray Adams, who has a farm northeast of Ackerly. Harvey Adams one year won the Lions Club conservation farmer of the year awards.

4 Men Burned In Gasoline Fire

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—Gasoline drained from a leaking pipe line ignited from a backfire, burned four men and sent flames several hundred feet into the sky last night.

Earl Singletary, 30, of Kilgore, and Charles English, 29, of Humble, were burned critically. They were rushed to the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. Ned McMurray, 30, of Odessa, Mo., and Cleveland Moss of Baytown also were burned.

A tractor ran over a 30-inch Bayou Pipe Line Co. gasoline line at about 5:30 p.m.

Workers for Shell Bayou Pipe Line Co. were called back to work. They bled the damaged pipe line, drained the gasoline into nearby Goose Creek and were attempting to finish the repair job when a pumping unit backfired.

J. R. Jones, 49, of Carthage, said "I was standing about 50 steps from the explosion when I saw Singletary . . . right in the fire. Gas was all over the ground. I had gloves on and I went after him. His clothes were burning. I tore off what was left of his shirt. He was unconscious."

The area was roped off and only emergency crews allowed to enter.

Several ambulances and trucks rushing to the disaster scene became stuck.

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains in South Texas tapered off Wednesday but more showers and thunderstorms were forecast.

Scattered thunderstorms and showers were predicted for most of Texas.

Rain fell from San Antonio south and on west to the Laredo-Eagle Pass area early Wednesday. By dawn, however, only Brownsville and Corpus Christi reported moisture.

San Angelo had 2.12 inches, Midland 1.20, Big Spring 1.05, Childress 1.65, Amarillo .80, Lubbock .63, and lesser amounts fell at Dalhart, Wink, Junction, Abilene, Austin and Alpine.

Blonde Visits Elvis At Base

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP)—It's "much better than writing letters to Elvis," a blonde singer said yesterday of her visit here with rock'n'roll singer Elvis Presley.

Presley is going through basic training at Ft. Hood.

Anita Wood, the last girl Elvis dated before going into the Army, said she saw the singer briefly after her arrival Sunday night and has visited him since then at Ft. Hood.

The Adams farm was recognized in The Herald by Mrs. R. N. Adams, 107 Dixie. As the first person to report the identification, she received two theatre passes.

Strike Avoided At Phillips Plants

BORGER, Tex. (AP)—Phillips Petroleum Co. and the Operating Engineers Union extended their working agreement last night, avoiding an immediate strike at six Phillips installations.

One plant already has been struck.

Both sides agreed last night to extend the agreement while negotiators sought with the help of Federal Mediator Ethan Walker of Oklahoma City to work out a new contract.

The engineers struck one plant May 1 for fringe benefits and working conditions. About 600 walked out.

SHARP DISAGREEMENT

Sending Of Troops To Be Big Topic In Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's dispatch of 1,000 fighting men to the Caribbean appeared destined today to figure largely in a Senate investigation of Latin American mob action against Vice President Nixon.

The inquiry, by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), is expected to highlight a sharp division of opinion between Republicans and Democrats over the wisdom of the troop move.

Morse said he wants the State Department to tell why it didn't take advance precautions to prevent the kind of mob violence to which Nixon and his wife were subjected in Caracas, Venezuela.

"I want the vice president to know if he cares to volunteer any information he will be welcome," Morse said.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), who joined several other Democrats in condemning the order sending paratroopers and Marines to U.S. bases in the Venezuela area, calling for a searching investigation of U.S. relations with Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) told his colleagues "the worst thing we could do would be to send in the Marines" to Venezuela. Although the troops were ordered to stand by to cooperate with Venezuelan authorities if asked to do so, Smathers said a move of this kind would "play right into the hands of the Communists."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, wanted to know if Smathers would "close your eyes" if the Venezuelan government failed to protect Nixon and his wife.

"I for one am for protecting the dignity of the United States," Bridges said. "I am not for turning the other cheek."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he thinks it is right to have U.S. troops in position to protect Nixon and other Americans, but hopes they are not needed.

He said the attacks on Nixon apparently were part of a Communist diversionary tactic.

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) said he favors doing whatever is necessary to protect the vice president, but hopes the series of incidents will lead to closer relations between the United States and Latin America.

U.S. Attorney Won't Quit Powell Case

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams says he has no intention of disqualifying himself from the case of Adam Clayton Powell Jr. tax evasion case.

Williams said this at a news conference yesterday. It was his reply to a challenge by William F. Buckley Jr., editor of the National Review, that he withdraw from the case against the Negro Democratic congressman.

Buckley appeared before a grand jury yesterday under subpoena. The government is seeking to determine whether the decision of another grand jury to indict Powell was influenced by Buckley.

The editor repeated that he sent copies of an article in his conservative magazine to members of the indicting grand jury. The article was critical of the Justice Department's handling of the case.

In a statement to newsmen, Buckley accused Williams of negligence in the performance of his duties.

Presentation of the case before the indicting grand jury had started before the 1956 election in which Powell supported President Eisenhower because of the desegregation issue.

Shortly after the election, a delay developed in the tax investigation against Powell. The indictment was reported last Thursday.

"At no time," Williams said yesterday, "has the Department of Justice, directly or indirectly, instructed me that the investigation was to be killed or closed."

"In fact," he added, "my specific instructions were not to discharge the grand jury pending evaluation of the case."

Powell told a news conference in Washington that his indictment was "persecution."

Asked whether the tax evasion charges were true, he said: "I don't know until I talk to my lawyer tomorrow."

Edward Bennett Williams of Washington is representing him.

DEAR ABBY LOOK ELSEWHERE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal man of 62 with no bad habits. I live in a rooming house and a widow, age 54, lives here, too. She slips notes under my door and asks me to knock on her door. When I do we go out for a walk or to a movie. She is friendly and I like her a lot but she won't let me kiss her. She says she was hurt once by a deceiving man and doesn't want to take any chances. I could love this woman but how can I get any place if she won't even let me kiss her?

CHARLIE
DEAR CHARLIE: Neither of us are getting any younger. If you like walks and movies, she's your girl—BUT if you have something more permanent in mind—look elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I was so in love with this boy that when he went overseas I cried my eyes out. That was four months ago. My mother made me go out with others to take my mind off him. Now I fell in love with another guy. He took my mind off my overseas sweetheart completely but my problem is I think I am in love with both of them. Is this possible?

IN LOVE WITH TWO
DEAR IN: This isn't possible! You are probably not in love with either of them. Love lasts longer than four months. If you want proof—go with others.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column prompts me to write this. I used to have visions (nightmares, really) about my son being hurt on his bike, so I used to walk my 13-year-old son to school and back. I worried about him whenever he was out of my sight. He was a nervous wreck and so was I. I finally went to see a psychiatrist with him and we had six one-hour visits. I never dreamed the harm I was doing. My son was helped right away and so was I. He is well and happy, gained weight, and has friends. I don't have the nightmares anymore. Tell people, Abby, a psychiatrist is not for crazy people alone.

A LUCKY MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nine years and my husband has been in prison for the past four. Being only human I got lonesome when he was away and I looked up some old friends. I misbehaved and had a baby in 1955 and another one in 1957. My husband is coming out in 60 days. How am I going to explain these two babies?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: If your husband can add, you won't have to explain anything. Tell the truth, and take the consequences.

Carpets Keep New Look

Correct cleaning methods have seemingly been a mystery and controversial even to carpet manufacturers. After much research a product is on the market that cleans and fluffs up beat down carpet paths plus removal of spots, thereby maintaining the new look.

The product is Blue Lustre. It is easily applied with a long handle brush. One half gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9x12 rugs.

Red Skelton's Son Buried In Services At Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body of Red Skelton's 9-year-old son was laid to rest with this eulogy:

"A President (Eisenhower) and a Pope were his friends. Hundreds of thousands of men, women and children who had never seen him were his friends. Surely then, this was a special child who had touched so many lives."

Many celebrities were among the crowd of 1,000 who turned out Tuesday for the simple Protestant funeral rites for Richard Skelton. The youngster died Saturday night after a 16-month illness of leukemia.

Among those present were Fess Parker, Vincent Price, Hugh O'Brian, Johnny Weissmuller and Max Baer, ex-heavyweight boxing champion. All are family friends.

Pope Pius XII sent a personally blessed crucifix. It was entombed with the body.

The Pope met Richard when Skelton took him on a European tour last summer. The Skeltons are not Catholic.

The eulogy, written by Gene Fowler, was delivered by another close friend of the family, actor William Lundigan.

Skelton broke down when the coffin was lifted into the hearse for the procession to the mausoleum. The comedian who has devoted his life to making people laugh made no attempt to hide his tears.

Grain Storage Shortage Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The specter of another possible shortage of storage to take care of the nation's grain supplies is leading the government to urge farmers to erect more bins of their own.

The country moves into the new production year with a record supply of food and livestock feed grains. But the prospects of the third largest wheat crop of record and of big crops of corn and other grains raises the possibility that more storage facilities will be needed.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said he hopes the government itself will not be forced to buy additional bins. It already owns facilities with a storage capacity of about a billion bushels. Benson hopes to get the government out of the storage business, but the continued existence of surpluses has prevented this.

The department is broadcasting through grain areas pamphlets telling producers it will pay them to buy or build storage facilities for their farms.

In these the department points out that it will make loans at 4 per cent interest covering up to 80 per cent of the cost of facilities. These loans are payable over a five-year period.

In addition, the department offers farmers payments for storing government grain in their bins. These rates are 16 cents a bushel a year for corn and barley; 16 and 17 cents for wheat, depending on the state; 12 cents for oats; and 28 to 31 cents a hundred-weight for grain sorghums.

Use Traveler's Checks On Trip

The time is almost here when Big Springers start leaving on vacation trips, some for only a weekend, some for a week's duration, and others for the entire summer.

But whatever the length of stay, you will need money to spend, and chances are you will have to take it with you.

Carrying a large amount of cash is just inviting trouble. And because of the many hot-check artists, it is getting harder and harder to get a check cashed outside of Howard County.

For this reason, the officials at Security State Bank urge you to take traveler's checks with you on your trip. For safety's sake, come by the bank at 15th and Gregg and have your vacation money converted to traveler's checks.

With these nationally known checks, you have no worries of being able to get cash, and you feel safe in carrying them. They can be obtained in a variety of denominations too, to meet your needs.

Also you probably have vital papers at home which you hate to leave. To get rid of this problem, why not get a safety deposit box at Security State while there getting your traveler's checks.

With a safety deposit box, you know that your valuable papers are in a secure spot out of reach of fire or theft.

Huge, Paved Parking Area Serves 66 Cafe Patrons

Two acres of paved parking area, good food and fast service are combining to make the 66 Cafe, located on U. S. 80 in West Big Spring, one of the most popular dining spots in this area.

The 66 Cafe recently was remodeled and enlarged by its owners, Herbert Keaton and K. H. McGibbon, and is now under the management of Herb Vinson, veteran restaurateur. It is located adjacent to the Phillips 66 Truck Terminal, a few blocks beyond the U. S. 80 access road to Webb AFB.

One of the most popular features of the new 66 Cafe is its big private dining room, designed to accommodate parties, club groups and other gatherings. Tastefully appointed, it is shut off from the public dining area so that private parties or meetings can be held in complete privacy.

High quality food, prepared under the supervision of skilled chefs, is served in the private room as well as in the main cafe. Service is fast, courteous and complete.

A part of the improvement program at the 66 Cafe has been the paving of the vast parking lot. Ample parking space is provided for a crowd of any size.

McGibbon and Keaton have improved and enlarged the establishment in an effort to provide Big Springers with a comfortable, attractive place to dine.

HAWKS SET 3 RECORDS IN STATE TRACK MEET

ABILENE, (SC)—Cisco JC easily won first place in the Texas Junior College Conference track and field meet here Tuesday, scoring a total of 61 points. HCJC of Big Spring was second, with 36½; followed by Paris, with 15; Navarro, San Antonio, with seven; Blinn and Decatur, with six each; Panola, with five; and Lee of Baytown, with four.

BILLY ROGER

Horton Smith, the well known pro golfer of another era, says golf will eventually subscribe to a time-saving program.

Some college will be missing a bet, if they don't offer Big Spring's Billy Roger a baseball scholarship.

Johnny Janak, the local product who matriculated at Texas Tech, finished fifth in the 220-yard dash of the freshman division in the Southwest Conference track and field meet at Dallas Saturday.

Lou Stillman, who operates a famous fight gym in New York City, approached one of the pugilists who trains there not long ago and told him he could get him a 'grand' for a bout.

Many of the boys who played football for the San Francisco 49ers last fall are unhappy with the management.

Cosden leads the race, following last night's action at Clover Bowl, but must beat next week's opponent, Pinkie's, at least one game in order to finish on top.

Cosden shined C. R. Anthony's, 2-1, last night to eliminate that team from first place contention.

The Stars turned back the Colts, 10-6, in an American Little League baseball game played here Tuesday night.

The game was called after five innings. The scorekeeper, upon tabulating the score, discovered the teams had quit early but by then it was too late.

Timmy Paul pitched the win, setting the losers down with nine hits.

Bethel E. Brooke, 36, of Denver, likely will get a new trial after being convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. He was convicted in the death of Mrs. Edith Norma Mack, 23, who died in Brooke's trailer. Lie detector experts, hired by the Denver Post, said Brooke was innocent.

Union Accepts Convair Offer

FORT WORTH (AP)—Members of the International Assn. of Machinists voted last night to accept Convair's latest contract offer. The acceptance headed off a threatened midnight strike. Reports indicated about 90 per cent of the union members voted for the two-year offer, which provides for immediate hourly wage hikes ranging from 17 to 27 cents an hour, a general increase of 3 per cent one year after the contract is signed, cost of living wage adjustments and an extra holiday each year.

May 4 the IAM's 10,000 members at the Fort Worth Convair plant rejected a company offer and authorized a strike of no agreement was reached.

"We are pleased for nobody benefits from a strike," F. E. Chambers, manager of industrial relations and security at Convair's plant, said.

Early yesterday, Floyd Garrett, president of IAM's District Lodge 776, said he was satisfied with the money proposals but expressed dissatisfaction with seniority and job classification provisions.

Shoe Links Flier With Rape Case

CORONADO, Calif. (AP)—A high-heeled blue shoe linked Navy flier Lt. Wayne McFarland, 23, today with the rape of a 17-year-old girl near Houston Dec. 27.

Police Chief Robert Manchester said yesterday the shoe found in the apartment of McFarland matched exactly with one the girl had.

The victim's shoe arrived here from Houston's West University Place where the rape allegedly occurred. The flier was arraigned today on 15 counts of burglary, robbery, assault and attempted rape in cases here and in San Diego, Calif.

Lights Go Out, Cons Stay Calm

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—The lights went out all over town last night. Police raced to the Texas state prison's main unit to make sure no prisoner tried to take advantage of the complete power failure.

"They behaved perfectly," Prison Manager O. B. Ellis said of the convicts.

On the other side of town male students at Sam Houston State College used the blackout to raid the girls' dormitories.

School officials had to call out the band and stage a pep rally in the middle of the campus. President Harmon Lowmann also appeared at the rally to help restore order.

Factions May Liven Some Dull Races

AUSTIN (AP)—Indications are factional politics may liven some of the traditionally dull races for high court jobs in the Democratic primary this year.

Organized labor already says it favors two candidates and doesn't like another. Leaders of the liberal faction in the Democratic party are letting it be known they especially like the record of one candidate for the Supreme Court.

The 13,234 members of the State Bar have their own way of publicizing their favorites. Bar headquarters mailed out secret ballots to all members yesterday, asking them to say which they think are best qualified to hold appellate judgeships. The results will be compiled and announced June 16.

Usually this has considerable effect on voters who may not know which way to go at the polls in races of this type. Some labor leaders already have indicated that they are not happy with one candidate for the state Supreme Court because of his ruling in a picketing case. The candidate is Robert Hamilton, 58, of Midland, now chief justice of the 8th Court of Civil Appeals.

Hamilton is in a three-man race with Edwin Smith, Houston lawyer and veteran leader of the loyalist-liberal faction, and Dist. Judge Wilmer Hunt of Houston. In another Supreme Court race, the candidates are Associate Justice Joe Greenhill of Austin and Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas. This is another case in which union and liberal leaders are nodding in the direction of Judge Hughes. Greenhill is seeking a full term after appointment by Gov. Daniel. Judge Kenneth Woodley, seeking re-election to the Court of Criminal Appeals, has said that his opponent does not qualify under the experience requirement of the Constitution. The opponent, Dist. Judge Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, says his interpretation of the Constitution is that it demands seven years experience as a lawyer or judge rather than the 10 years noted by Judge Woodley.

It was the students who led the uprisings," he said, "and that is why it is so important for us to get the Christian message to students everywhere." Some 380 persons accepted Graham's invitation to make a "decision for Christ."

Red Propagandists Have A Field Day

VIENNA (AP)—Communist propagandists had a field day today with the reports of anti-American outbreaks in Lebanon and Venezuela and the demonstrations in Algiers and Paris. Paced by Tass and radio Moscow, the satellite radios of Eastern Europe joined in pouring out the anti-Western news and propaganda. All the satellite countries also have extensive broadcasts in Arabic to the Middle East and North Africa. The broadcasts hailed Lebanese rioters who attacked U. S. installations as "patriots fighting the imperialist power." They described the Venezuelan demonstrators who stoned and spat upon U. S. Vice President and Mrs. Nixon as "fighter against Yankee exploitation."

Argentine Pay Increase Ordered

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi carried out an election pledge Tuesday night by ordering a blanket wage increase but took no steps against the inflation which has accompanied previous pay hikes.

In a nationwide radio address Frondizi ordered salaries raised 60 per cent over their Feb. 1, 1956, level. Most workers have won raises since then and these will be figured in the 60 per cent.

Poles Slap Slavs On Cold War Stand

WARSAW (AP)—Poland's Communist party waded into the Moscow-Belgrade squabble today with a 5,000-word statement rebuking the Yugoslavs for not placing prime blame for the cold war on American imperialism.

The statement charged that U. S. imperialists were responsible for the world's division into blocs.

The Polish criticism came in the wake of Kremlin warnings that Yugoslavia must get into step with the rest of the Communist world under Moscow orders.

The Warsaw complaint hinged mainly on the fact that the Yugoslavs in their recently adopted party program gave the Russians equal blame with the West in causing world tension.

Appeal Spurned

AUSTIN (AP)—An appeal to commute the death sentence for convicted rapist Theodore Thompson has been turned down by the Pardons Board. Thompson, a Negro convicted of raping a Negro housewife in August, 1956, is slated to die May 22 at Huntsville.

Annual payroll for the more than 1,000 workers in this community who are listed as Civil Service employees totals more than $5,000,000.

Occasion for the look at the importance of this source of community income to the town stemmed from the announcement that the United States Civil Service is celebrating its 75th anniversary on Thursday of this week.

To mark its birthday local representatives of the Federal Reserve System (Civil Service) plan a dinner to be served at the Officers Club at 7 p. m. Thursday. Speaker will be W. V. Gill, director, Eighth U. S. Civil Service Region, Dallas. He is to be presented to the 60 or more members of the Big Spring Personnel and Management Assn., by Cliff Fisher, retiring president of the association.

Paper Pictures Shine Philips In Hospital Feature

Shine Philips, who is a patient in the Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital at San Angelo, was pictured in the Tuesday issue of the San Angelo Standard-Times.

He was "shot" as Mrs. Taylor Henley, a member of the hospital auxiliary, wheeled him about the grounds, letting him get a look at the shrubs and other greenery. Shine was deeply interested in rain reports from West Texas.

The picture was in connection with one of a series of articles during national hospital week. This particular article dealt with the geriatrics hospital (for elderly people) and of the role that music and other aids play in giving the patients comfort.

A Bible Thought For Today

For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus. (1 Tim. 2:5)

Growing Importance Of Webb

The Air Force has announced that Webb AFB is on its list as a site for one of five additional SAGE Air Defense Communications Centers. This would involve an installation costing an estimated $6,767,000.

SAGE is a link in the continental defense plan and is a communications center which receives the data from radar detection facilities and electronically computes it as a basis for directing fighter and interceptor planes or even guided missiles. It is highly complicated and a lot of it is still classified as secret.

Early reports indicate that in contrast to the conventional base or installation, this unit would be concentrated into a minimum of building space.

Nothing is said of its requirements in manpower, etc.

However, the presence of such a unit in connection with Webb AFB would further underline the growing importance of this base as a part in the nation's defense. The announcement last week that the 33rd Fighter Interceptor Wing was moving here in September was an indication of this trend. And now comes SAGE, if and when Congress approves and votes the funds. As some other training installations suspend operations, Webb's regular load is due to increase.

This all points to even more importance for the base, and an even greater responsibility on our part to provide the quality of community services which will make us a good home for the base.

An Alternative For Good Will

The administration is reported to be taking a second look at the scheduled goodwill mission to Western Europe of Vice President Richard Nixon. What happened to Nixon in Peru and in a minor way in Colombia, some officials fear, might happen in even more virulent form in some spots this side of the Iron Curtain where strong Communist parties exist, as in France and Italy for example.

The vice president's European schedule includes one or two Communist countries, but his reception in those places would depend entirely on what the Red government told the people to do. Obviously those governments would not admit Nixon without taking steps to insure order, for anything else would leave a bad taste in the mouths of free peoples and even of some neutrals.

But in friendly West Europe and countries where Communist parties are tolerated there would be Red demonstrations against the U. S. as personified by its vice president—probably even in Great Britain, where anti-American Red demonstrations have recently occurred.

Perhaps our best goodwill representatives abroad would be small groups of private citizens already well known to Europeans, traveling in small groups, and made up of prominent men and women whose bloodlines go back to whatever country is being visited.

Several such groups could be sent to all parts of the world for the cost of a red-carpet junket by Nixon or some other high government official, without incurring resentment. We spend a lot of money sending jazz bands and other entertainment groups abroad for goodwill purposes; we might try sending men and women of real accomplishments and high standing to mix and mingle with substantial citizens of those countries whose interests are higher than music halls, night clubs and vaudeville and burlesque houses. We believe Dr. Ralph Bunche and other responsible leaders of his race would be a better and more appreciated goodwill visitor to Asiatic and African countries than Satchmo Armstrong.

We have more than entertainment to offer friends and neutrals. Every race on earth is represented here, and some among them have become outstanding citizens in many professional, public and private pursuits.

They are, after all, our best argument—a living argument—that our democracy is a flourishing thing, and this is a land where freedom and the opportunities for success to all kinds and conditions of people prevail in abundance. That, it seems to us, is the best investment we could possibly make in disproving Communist lies, and in demonstrating that freedom and democracy really work.

David Lawrence Use Of Troops Not Authorized

WASHINGTON — Americans rightly boast that there is "a government of laws—not of men." When a dispute arises as to whether presidential powers are lawfully exercised, it is of the utmost importance that both sides of the controversy be presented to the public so that the citizens may know whether they are being governed by the arbitrary action of the executive branch of the government or by the rule of law.

The White House has just made public a statement announcing that federalized troops will be withdrawn from Central High School at Little Rock, Arkansas, on May 28 at the end of the present school term. The statement is of historic importance because nothing like it has ever been issued before, and, in the view of many prominent lawyers throughout the country, the position taken by the federal government in ordering the troops sent in was in violation of the Constitution and the laws of Congress.

But, as various articles in the American Bar Association Journal and pronouncements by constitutional lawyers in the North as well as in the South have since pointed out, there is no law that authorizes the President of the United States to use troops to enforce court decrees. The power to request federal troops to suppress disorder or insurrection devolves on the state authorities.

Also, a year before the Little Rock episode, President Eisenhower said in his press conference at the White House apropos of the possible use of federal troops in a Texas school incident:

"Now, I assume that if that marshal is not able to carry it (an order of the federal court) out by himself, he has got the right to deputize any number of deputy marshals to help him carry it out. I really don't know what the next step is. I do know this: In a place of general disorder, the federal government is not allowed to go into any state unless called upon by the governor, who must show that the governor is unable with the means at his disposal to preserve order. I believe it is called a Posse Comitatus Act of 1862—and I am now going back to my staff school of 1925—and that is the thing that keeps the federal government from just going around where he pleases to carry out police duties."

But when federal troops were ordered to Little Rock in September 1957, the White House statement cited certain federal statutes as authorizing the action. None of these is applicable, because they refer to obstructions of "the laws of the United States." Charles J. Bloch, an eminent lawyer of Macon, Georgia, in his recent published book "States' Rights—The Law Of The Land," wrote as follows: "However much entitled to respect a decree of a federal court may be, it is not a law of the United States." He cited a specific decision on that point by the Supreme Court of the United States—"U. S. vs. Cooper Corporation"—which says the same thing.

To enforce judicial decrees, the first step is to deputize private citizens as assistant U. S. marshals. Thousands of them can be deputized for that purpose, and it is customary for citizens to accept such duty when asked by the federal government. No such step was taken at the time of the disturbance at the high school at Little Rock in September 1957, and no such step has been taken in the several months that have since elapsed. There have been episodes in the past where federal troops have been sent into states to quell disturbances, but in every instance these have been marked by the subsequent cooperation of state authorities or the use of U. S. marshals and deputies.

More than $4,500,000 of federal funds for the maintenance of the troops has been spent in the Little Rock episode. Unfortunately, no challenge as to the propriety of such funds can be made by any taxpayer under rulings laid down by the Supreme Court. So the entire affair can be argued only in the court of public opinion in the hope that never again will the executive branch of the government send federal troops to quell a local disturbance except at the request of the state.

For if the precedent becomes valid, federal troops may be used at any time to put down strikes and prevent violence in labor disputes, and on other occasions of local rioting, without the consent of state authorities. There have been many instances of terror recently inside the public schools in various northern cities which, if the Little Rock precedent were followed, would justify the use of federal troops.

Wrong Man Nabbed

OKLAHOMA CITY — Ray Squires, a city parking meter repair man, was working on a meter when Officer G. D. Stary appeared.

He thought a burglary was in progress and started to call a patrol car to take Squires to jail.

Squires started talking fast, and finally convinced the officer he should call his boss to verify his position. Stary got the okay, and Squires warily went back to opening the meter.

Mistakes Do Happen

CLEVELAND — Red-faced traffic officials returned a $10 fine and mumbled apologies to an irate Cleveland motorist, Edward Baker, 38.

Reason for this unusual behavior—the two tickets for which the fine was imposed had been written after Baker's auto was stolen.

The New Backbone

James Marlow What A Difference 5 Years Makes

WASHINGTON — Five years ago Milton Eisenhower, the president's brother, made a Latin American tour and received a warm welcome. Vice President Nixon now repeats the tour and is stoned and spit upon.

Why in five years has the Latin American attitude towards this country taken such a bitter turn? There's no easy answer.

Blaming it all on Communists would be too easy, relieving this country of the need for self-examination in its relations with, and its policies towards, Latin America. Such a self-examination, after what happened to Nixon, seems needed.

No doubt Communist influence in Latin America has increased—as it has around the world—in the five years since President Eisenhower's brother went there and came back with this report:

"Everywhere we went, we were greeted with what seemed to be unprecedented friendliness." He and Nixon were sent on the same tour for the same purpose: fact-finding.

But there are other factors involved besides Communists, for the demonstrations against Nixon in Latin America weren't limited to college students.

For one thing, there's a recession in Latin America. This country is blamed for at least part of it because of American trade policies: the United States has cut down on its imports from there.

Many Latin Americans probably feel this country—eager to stop the spread of communism in Europe and Asia—is taking them too much for granted and is giving much more interest, concern and economic benefits to countries elsewhere.

Nixon got the worst treatment of his trip Tuesday in Venezuela. In oil-rich Venezuela, American firms have invested three billion dollars, the largest American investment in any country except Canada.

Venezuela, because of the oil investments, has the largest per capita income in South America.

But it doesn't necessarily follow that the income is divided equally. Last January the New York Times reported that the great mass of Venezuelans are impoverished. The United States has given Venezuela three million dollars in foreign aid in the past 13 years. Twice in the past year this country has restricted the amount of oil that could be imported from Venezuela.

It was in January that the Venezuelans threw out Marcos Perez Jimenez, a dictator there for 10 years. In its 135-year history Venezuela can be said to have had a fairly democratic government for perhaps no more than three years, and that was just before Jimenez took over in 1948.

The present regime—a junta or council—is more liberal than the dictatorship. Police controls were relaxed a bit. That may account in part for why the mob which besieged Nixon was able to get out of control so easily.

Hal Boyle Handy With A Needle

NEW YORK — One of America's top baritone singers is as handy with a needle as he is with an aria.

He is Walter Cassel, the 6-foot, 200-pound Metropolitan Opera star.

"I sewed all the slip covers and the drapes in this room," he said, leaning back comfortably in the East Side apartment where he lives with his wife, Gail Manners, the soprano.

"I learned sewing as a boy. My mother was a fine milliner. My father was an interior decorator. I always wanted a sewing machine—you can do better work with one. But now that I finally have one, I find I'm too busy to use it."

The big baritone, who designs many of his operatic costumes, also is an expert photographer and woodworker. He constructed most of the built-ins in his apartment. He is also a talented cook.

Cassel, who comes from Council Bluffs, Iowa, believes any skill a man can develop is helpful. Before winning his laurels in opera, he studied dentistry and worked as a flour miller, sign painter, carpenter and radio announcer to pay for his singing lessons.

The husky singer, who is built like a fullback, is a hard worker and has 25 operatic and 25 musical comedy roles in his repertoire.

Most opera stars rarely will sing more than three performances in a week. Cassel made musical headlines early this year when, during a weekend emergency, he sang three different and exacting roles within 24 hours at the Metropolitan. It was a test of stamina and virtuosity unique in the Met's history.

"The next morning he got up early and fixed my breakfast, because I had to sing in church," said his wife, smiling.

She and her husband, called by one critic "the Lunt and Fontanne of the musical theater," like to perform together whenever possible. They say a joint musical career has been no handicap.

"If you have difficult roles to rehearse, it's nice to have a partner," said Miss Manners, who comes from Akron, Ohio, and is small, pretty, and brown-eyed.

Mild-mannered and soft-spoken, Cassel rarely gives vent to the displays of temperament traditionally associated with opera stars.

"You have to have enough ego to make yourself secure as a human being or artist," he said, "but I don't think that to be a great artist anyone has to behave like a jackass."

Admen Wield Power, Oust Live Dramas

By CHARLES MERCEUR

NEW YORK — Advertisers, who determine so much about the nature of television, are turning cool to live anthology dramatic series. For example:

Kraft Television Theater (NBC), after 11 years, will disappear from the home screen next September.

Studio One (CBS, Monday nights), after 9 years, also will be discontinued next September.

Matinee Theater (NBC, weekdays) will be shelved quickly.

At this writing trade sources say that Climax (CBS-TV, Thursday nights) either will be discontinued or drop to an alternate week basis next season.

What will take their places?

Two half-hour programs will succeed Kraft Theater. One will star Milton Berle. The other probably will be a Western.

Studio One will be replaced by a weekly film program produced by Desilu Productions, Inc. It will be a series of musicals, comedies, westerns, dramas and you name it.

Matinee Theater which finally bowed to flagging sponsor interest is expected to be succeeded by two half-hour soap operas.

It would be easy to shed a few bitter tears over the death of so much live television drama, for there is no question that live drama is generally superior to film on the home screen. But fretting over the matter will not change the fact that next season will see relatively little of it on television.

The trend does not mean that the viewing public is tired of live drama or the networks opposed to it. Rather, it simply means that a variety of reasons choose to spend their TV advertising dollars on other types of programs.

It's a forceful sample of the great power advertisers wield over the nature of the television programs you watch.

MR. BREGER

May I remind you once again that we do not encourage double-or-nothing routines?

The Big Lie

LEXINGTON, Ky. — After Jesse Ivy purchased a cafe here, four men drove up in a truck. They loaded a huge icebox and 2,000 feet of lumber onto the vehicle, explaining it belonged to the former owner, Earl Martin.

Several days later Ivy heard some disconcerting news. The men weren't working for Martin, they were stealing the stuff.

Around The Rim Airing A Few Gripes And Pains

This is, I suppose, as good a time as any to air my aches and pain.

Of course I could always start with that mild irritant which begins: "Now this isn't for publication, but..." Well, but somebody else bother.

Why is it that so many women TV personalities all talk as if they spend the first half of their lives in an orthodontist's chair? There is probably something in putting the tongue against the back side of the teeth in order to produce good diction, but gee whiz, you don't have to lisp or whistle to do it.

There are some puzzling things about this so-called recession. One, of course, is the fact that while things are supposed to be getting tougher, prices keep going higher. Another is the businessman who gripes when a newspaper, magazine or other media of communications says anything about a slump, yet will not himself spend a red cent to spread the glad tidings about the exceptional service, goods or bargains he has to offer. And like as not, he's showing a gain on the books, too.

Maybe this is a sign of old age, but the seeming indiscreteness of public speakers stirs my bile. Not that some of this has not always gone on, but there was a time when such displays were relegated to some secluded spot. Now young couples all too frequently park on busy thoroughfares and unashamedly pitch the most fervent kind of woo. And don't say a lot of them are not from the higher income bracket families where good taste should be a virtue.

And how about the habit of repeating some juicy libel with a futile attempt to wash it off your hands by saying: "Now mind you, I don't know a thing about this, but I heard..." Stand back while we wield the meat ax.

Finally (and with apologies for having spoiled your day, too) there are those who always find fault with the church, some community agency or institution or worthy cause or the people who are active in them, not because they have anything against these in particular, but are using this old dodge as a mechanism in defense of ye olde pocketbook.

—JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb Murderous Toll In Moslem War

Under the blossoming chestnuts and the warm spring sunshine of Paris, the unceasing Moslem civil war on the city's doorstep seemed an improbable, Orson Wells fantasy.

But the murderous struggle between the fanatical National Front of Liberation (FLN) and the Algerian National Movement (MNA) for political control of a free Algeria took on harsh reality in the office of a French government official. His desk was strewn with the square brown envelopes of government communiques.

The night's toll will be in these," he said matter-of-factly, as he slit the first envelope.

"Another fatal auto accident," he said. Then he opened the second envelope, "another man murders his wife," he commented and reached for the third communique.

"Here it is!" he exclaimed and read, "At 1:42 a.m. today, a household in a suburban district five miles from Paris was roused by a knock on its door. It was an Algerian, his throat cut and wounded also in the abdomen, begging help. He was dead on arrival of police and ambulance."

"Probably some poor devil who hadn't forked over his tribute to the FLN or the MNA," the official interpolated and went back to the report.

"Police searching the neighborhood discovered the body of a second Arab, his throat also slit, in an adjacent field, believed to have been used as the execution ground."

The official picked up another envelope at random.

"More of the same," he said and read, "Police raiding an Algerian rooming house in the Porte des Lilas section, crashed into a room. It contained five live Algerians, probably the execution squad, and one dead. The dead man had been shot. Police arrested the five and confiscated an equal number of Italian pistols."

"And so it goes, day after day," said the official, pushing away the unopened envelopes on his desk.

In 1957 this unremitting war chalked up 2,750 killed or wounded in Paris and a few other centers of Algerian activity in Continental France. In the 42 months since the rebellion broke out in Algeria and the rival Moslem political factions turned France into their own particular battleground, no month can touch last August for sheer terror and the number of Moslem victims.

In that month, 139 persons were killed and 300 wounded when the FLN set out to destroy the rival MNA. On a single day, August 15, the rivals slew 16 persons and wounded 18. The FLN almost succeeded in extinguishing the much smaller Algerian faction, but not quite.

Still strong in the Departments of Pas de Calais, Nord and Ardennes, the MNA counterattacked in October, November and December. In November, 127 Algerians were killed and 271 injured in the interreligious fighting.

Half of France's municipal police and her national surete have been committed to end, if possible, this grim war of Moslem extermination. They have "shoot-first" instructions. The police also have, since the police strike last winter, a special "risk bonus" in cities with large Algerian communities to patrol.

"In the first three months of 1957, more than 400 Algerians were killed in the factional fight," the French official reported. "In the first three months of 1958, the number is 328. The figure is down a little because of a policy of massive police raids."

"In the past 15 days we have picked up 40 chiefs of the FLN. We try to pick up the leaders. But it is difficult to know both who and where they are. We may not get the leader, but we get the important bureaucrats in the organization, the collectors and the killers."

"We try to keep them off balance, to wage psychological warfare. If we can pick up the collectors extorting money from the Algerian workers, it means a new collector every week or two. This is a disillusioning and annoying goad to the victim, reluctantly forking over his money anyway."

"We see little signs of weakening in the war. Three years ago, even a year ago, no Algerian who was arrested would talk. They were too frightened of the consequences to themselves from fellow Arabs if they told the police anything. But now they are not so frightened, and they are beginning to talk."

"Even a year ago, they talked reluctantly. I remember a young Arab who was held prisoner for days in a cellar before a firing squad of three Algerians bundled him into a car for a one-way ride."

"Luckily for him, the firing squad got panicky when a police car drove by and opened fire. After wounding three policemen, the killers abandoned their car and their prisoner. But it took that intended victim 15 minutes before he decided to beg police protection and tell the truth."

"Today, in similar circumstances, I think the man would instantly do what you Americans call 'sing'!"

(1958, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Gallup Poll Heavy Toll Seen In Nuclear Attack

PRINCETON, N. J.—When the American people are asked to guess how many people would survive a nuclear war, their outlook is grim—7 out of 10 persons, they feel, would not live through such a conflict.

When this statistic is applied to the total U. S. population, it means that the estimated death toll is something in the vicinity of 120 million lives.

This provides the public's "answer" to scientists and civil defense authorities who have long felt that Americans are not fully aware of the potential horror in an all-out nuclear war with Russia.

In all regions of the country, voters were asked:

"If there is a world war between Russia and the West, and nuclear weapons like the H-bomb were used, out of every 10 people in the United States, how many would expect to survive?"

The average (median) guess as to the number who would survive was 3 persons. One in four would not hazard a guess. In terms of the death toll to our entire population, the public would expect a "casualty list" as follows:

Killed...	7 in 10
Survived...	3 in 10

(The total population in continental U. S. is estimated to be 172,800,000 persons.)

An interesting footnote to these figures is provided by a survey in Great Britain, conducted by the affiliated British Institute. Although Britain's proximity to Russia and its smaller size would lead one to expect a higher estimate from Britons, voters in that nation guessed exactly the same death figures as here—7 persons in every 10 killed by a nuclear war in Britain.

In view of the terrifying devastation that the public expects from an H-bomb attack, it may seem paradoxical that Americans—as reported earlier — are highly in favor of continuing our tests of nuclear weapons.

The evidence indicates that the American public—like many Administration officials—takes the view that our nuclear superiority is a "deterrent" to future world-wide wars.

Americans concede, for example, that continued testing of hydrogen bombs will likely result in a threat to the health of future generations. Their vote on this issue is as follows:

Yes, will be threat	46
No, will not be	27
No opinion	27

At the same time, the public fully expects that another world war would mean the use of hydrogen bombs against the United States. They voted as follows on this question:

Yes, H-bomb will be used	75
No, will not be	13
Uncertain	12

Weighing these two facts—with the expectation that if the bomb is used against us, it will mean the death of millions—Americans today seem to be taking the "calculated risk" that proponents of continued testing often speak of.

In short, the public feels that continued testing of "the bomb" is the best possible way at present in which we can keep the bomb—with all its horror—from being used against the United States.

Political Thumb

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — A middle-aged hitchhiker displayed this sign to passing motorists:

"Pick me up or I'll vote for him again."

He didn't identify the object of his threat but it was observed that he got a ride quickly.

Ike Blames Reds, Economic Troubles For Latin Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today mob violence against Vice President Nixon in South America appears to reflect a pattern of Communist inspiration and exploitation.

But, he told a news conference, he believes economic troubles are partly responsible for the anti-American demonstrations in such countries as Venezuela and Peru. Eisenhower said Communist inspiration seems to be behind the demonstrations in some other parts of the world, but added that the unrest in French Algeria may be caused by something else.

Eisenhower spoke in response to a request for his assessment of the current wave of anti-American demonstrations in South America—particularly what has happened to Nixon and his party in Venezuela and Peru.

A reporter asked whether the President saw any pattern of Communist inspiration or whether it also could be a case of genuine resentment against U.S. policies. Eisenhower called it a complex question. Then he went on to say that he does not believe there is any single cause of the violence in the Latin American countries.

ECONOMIC FACTORS
There are, he added, economic factors in the U.S. relationships with such countries as Uruguay, Bolivia, Peru and Venezuela.

In Venezuela—where Nixon and his party were stoned and spat upon Tuesday—there have been rumors, Eisenhower said, that the United States is trying to impose quotas on such oil exporting nations.

There is no truth to that, Eisenhower declared.

Then he said that U.S. economic aid and world trade is as vital to this country as is proper defense. As for the possibility of the riots being Communist inspired, Eisenhower said it is an old story all over the world that the Communists try to exploit any unrest.

He mentioned Burma, Indonesia and South America as examples. He said it looks like some sort of concerted idea or pattern. Eisenhower then said he was making no direct accusation, but that it looks like a case of a lot of smoke and therefore there is a possibility of some fire.

The news conference drew 302 reporters—nine short of a record. The President dealt with these other topics:

TROOPS—The four companies of Army paratroopers and Marines dispatched to Caribbean bases have been sent in the simplest kind of precautionary move—because during the rioting in Caracas Tuesday there was much uncertainty whether Nixon and his party could be protected by the Venezuelan government.

Eisenhower called it simply a case of putting troops where they will be available if Venezuela should seek help.

As for whether the United States anticipated that Nixon would encounter the sort of violence he has in South America, Eisenhower said the possibility was discussed but no one at any time thought of cancelling the trip.

And, Eisenhower added, he believes no one anticipated the intensity of the violence Tuesday in Caracas. It caught everyone by surprise, he said.

TAXES—The administration is going to have to decide soon, Eisenhower said, whether to advocate a tax cut as an anti-recession step.

He made that reply when reminded that corporation taxes and certain excise levies will automatically be reduced at the end of June unless Congress acts meantime on the administration's current recommendation that the present level be continued.

Asked whether he would favor an income tax reduction, or would veto such a bill, the President said with a laugh that the newsman was trying to get him to prophesy again.

Then he said he sees nothing to change his position of the last few months—an apparent allusion to his frequently stated contention that the tax situation needs more study.

PUBLIC WORKS—Eisenhower threw cold water on the idea of any new big public works program to counter the business slump. He said some programs already under way—such as construction of post offices—are all right, but that it would be at least two years before construction of any new large projects could get under way.

CRITIQUE Of The Local Entertainment Scene

Civic Theatre Is Going Places

With the recent election of a new president and board of governors, it has been said that the Civic Theatre is going places. So, you may ask, where is it going? That's a fair question. It might also be fair to ask, how do they get there?

With this in mind, I interviewed the new officers, asking them two questions: "Where do you think the Civic Theatre is going?" and "What are your ideas for getting there?"

Here were their answers:
President Allen Robertson: "All good theatre work is a genuine need in Texas. The growth of Midland's theatre group proves that theatre is gaining wider acceptance. There is no reason why Big Spring can't see a corresponding growth."

"I would like to see more people taking part in more major productions, besides workshops, one-act plays, play reading and stagecraft. Experience builds interest."

"We need an organization with a wide base of active committees, working not only for their own enjoyment but with service to the community in mind. We need to make an effort to obtain wider understanding and acceptance of the organization and its aims in the community."

Vice President John Austin: "It depends on the people we have in the organization. We definitely have every potential. We need more support from the people of Big Spring, since they apparently are not accustomed to live theatre."

"Also, we need more people for production and stage work."

"Right now, we are forming the base for getting where we want to be—we had no place to call home before, and the theatre group had to more or less flounder around."

Secretary Hugh Butler McCauley: "We are definitely going forward."

"We will help our Civic Theatre to grow by giving our new president and his ideas our whole hearted support."

Treasurer Roy Rosene: "We should go forward pretty fast now, especially since we have a permanent home. I don't see why we shouldn't be able to double our size by this next year. In fact, we can't help from growing; since Big Spring is growing, so will the theatre."

"We can accomplish this growth by keeping everybody busy and interested in theatre work."

Board member Dewey Magee: "The Civic Theatre can make it because it's held together longer without a major rift than any other theatre group I've ever been in or heard of. We got ourselves over the hump this time by choosing the right leader. His experience is organizational, not theatrical, and he can stick with that and not have to worry about the rest of it."

"My primary interest in this thing was to read for parts, since I like to act. It was necessary for me to be president in the past only because of the lack of experienced people."

"I think the workshop is an excellent idea, schooling inexperienced people so the organization won't fall on its face. We must keep as many people as busy as we can, in order to stimulate interest and keep up the esprit de corps."

"We should always elect a strong leader, and give him lots of power. Also, it is important for people to have loyalty to one cultural group, instead of spreading themselves too thin among other organizations."

Board member Mary Archer: "We are moving toward better theatre and better enjoyment of it by the general public. Any play we give will be worth the admission charge."

"We can arrive at this goal through better organization and better utilizing theatre experience of experienced persons. Also, through gaining new members, through working together to give the community something it doesn't have and needs."

"One person can't do it all. We must work together."

Board member Bob Martinez: "I feel that there are potentially a lot of people who might be interested in theatre work."

"If this is to be a true community theatre, then the community's leading citizens should join and take positions of leadership. The Midland theatre's board is made up of civic leaders, why not ours?"

"I won't be here always; they will."

"I think it would be a good idea not to have too many organizations overlapping in the same general field. They should combine forces."

"If the Civic Theatre follows this policy, it can go most anywhere."

Banker Terms Recession Normal

HOUSTON —The president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said yesterday the recession was part of the normal business cyclical movement, requiring inventory adjustments on the part of business men who misjudged their markets.

Dr. W. H. Irons, speaking at the annual Texas Bankers Assn. convention, said except for the oil business, the Southwest was in a high level of prosperity.

Irons told about 2,000 persons that while no one objects to upward adjustments, everyone seemed to feel downward adjustments in business were unjustified.

He said banks today had a high degree of liquidity and were well equipped to support rising business expansion when the time came.

Dr. Imogene Bentley, dean of women at North Texas State College, Denton, said women comprised more than 55 per cent of the banking force and she stressed the importance of keying advertising to women customers.

Continued Support Of Gas Bill Urged

SAN ANTONIO — Texas independent oil operators were asked today to continue support of the Harris Natural Gas Bill but to adopt no immediate policy on the new Long-Yarborough bill.

Establishment of a 1958 - 1959 policy on the controversial natural gas legislation was the final item of business for the annual convention of the Texas Independent Assn.

A gas committee headed by Guy Warren of Corpus Christi recommended active support of the Harris Bill but did not suggest a policy on the new bill. Instead, the committee proposed a resolution that would instruct the association's executive committee to study and take proper action on any and all legislation aimed at freeing the independent operator from federal control.

Several executive committees indicated they would ask today that TIPRO adopt a friendlier policy toward the Long-Yarborough measure. The bill would free from federal control those producers selling less than two billion cubic feet of gas a year.

Warren's committee report originally included no proposed resolution on the new bill but the executive committee Sunday instructed the group to reconvene and prepare specific recommendations.

The revised report acknowledged the bill as additional evidence of congressional recognition that independent producers of gas should be freed from federal control.

Warren Sunday told the executive committee there had been some objections to the Long-Yarborough bill on grounds it would divide the producing segment of the industry. Other committee members suggested the bill might be acceptable to the independent operator if the cutoff point of two billion cubic feet could be increased.

Warren said most opposition to the Harris Bill, which would free producers from utility type federal controls, has come from the AFL-CIO and from a council of mayors from consumer areas.

Several executive committees indicated they would ask today that TIPRO adopt a friendlier policy toward the Long-Yarborough measure. The bill would free from federal control those producers selling less than two billion cubic feet of gas a year.

Odessa C-C Aide Is Found Dead

ODESSA —Larry Trimble, 33, assistant manager of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, was found shot through the head in his office yesterday. Police found a pistol by the body.

A verdict of death by a self-inflicted gun wound was returned by Justice of the Peace Gene Nobels.

Officers said two sealed envelopes, one addressed to Trimble's wife and the other to Chamber of Commerce Manager Walker Owens, were found on his desk. Survivors include his wife, two children and a brother, Sanky Trimble of Albuquerque, N.M.

Says Foreign Aid Too Self-Seeking

SAN FRANCISCO —"Our foreign aid may have been too self-seeking," says the Very Rev. James Albert Pike concerning South American rioting against U.S. Vice President Richard Nixon.

"We have perhaps been too pragmatic about foreign aid," added the retiring dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

He arrived last night to be inducted as coadjutor bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of California tomorrow.

Freighter Runs Aground On Reef

HONG KONG — Twelve American passengers are reported aboard the U. S. freighter President Hayes, aground on a coral reef in the Paracel Islands, 400 miles southeast of Hong Kong.

The American President Line ship also carries 59 crewmen under Capt. O. A. Larson, all Americans. The line's local agent said no one was in any danger.

A tugboat was en route from Hong Kong to pull the Hayes off.

Elderly Couple Killed In Wreck

COLUMBUS, Tex. —A traffic collision near here yesterday killed a couple who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

The collision between their 24-year-old auto and a huge truck killed John Reimers, 82, and his wife, Mrs. Coradina Reimers, 80.

They lived just north of nearby Glidden.

Ewin Verdick, 37, of Corsicana, the truck driver, was uninjured.
