CADF Commander Visits Webb

Maj. Gen. J. V. Crabb, left, commander of Central Air Defense Force, visited Webb briefly Thursday morning for a conference with Col. Kyle L. Riddle, who met the general's jet at the flight line. Under discussion were matters pertaining to Webb's acquisition of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, which arrives here next fall. The general's headquarters is located at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Kansas City, Mo.

Outbreak Of Tunisian Border Fighting Heaps Pain On France

PARIS — Fighting between French and Tunisian forces erupted in Tunisia today, heaping new North African troubles on Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government.

President Habib Bourguiba, said in Tunis the fighting broke out after French planes dropped a bomb Wednesday on the airport at Gafsa, in south central Tunisia 25 miles from the Algerian border.

The French had accused Tunisia of trying to provoke a clash with French troops at a time when the government in Paris is trying to regain control of neighboring Algeria from French rightists.

French troops and planes have been technically restricted to their bases by Tunisian orders since the bombing of a border village in February touched off a crisis between France and its former protectorate.

A conservative leader lent a hand to hard-pressed Premier Pierre Pflimlin by going off to see Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who has offered to assume full power in France.

The leader, Antoine Pinay, was reported urging De Gaulle to use his influence over insurgent military men and French colonialists in Algeria to bow to Paris' authority.

Pflimlin was speeding progress of constitutional reforms aimed at strengthening the executive authority and make it more difficult for the National Assembly to turn cabinets out of office.

Pflimlin's new military chief, meanwhile, prepared for a mission to Algiers aimed at bringing the Gaullist generals there back under the control of Paris. A military envoy from Algiers already was in Paris.

PROPOSALS IN SHAPE

The Premier put his constitutional proposals in shape for Cabinet consideration in a conference last night with political leaders, who have given him overwhelming support so far.

The chief aim is to end the rapid turnover in French cabinets which has so often stymied French policy and produced the demand for a strong-man regime headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The heart of the reform plan reportedly is a constitutional amendment requiring the opposition, before it can vote out a government, to come up with a new premier and program acceptable to the Assembly majority. Provision also would be made for dissolving the Assembly and holding new elections when the Cabinet and the deputies deadlocked without acceptable alternative.

In the past, dissident coalitions of left and right have overthrown one premier after another but never been able to agree on a program to rule together. This has been a major aspect of the "regime of parties" De Gaulle assailed in offering to take over the government.

In his first major step to reestablish the government's control in Algeria, the Premier ordered Gen. Henri Lorillot, new chief of staff for the combined forces, to cross the Mediterranean.

His departure date was a closely guarded secret to protect him from the colonialist hotbeds in North Africa.

Officially, Lorillot's mission was to discuss military operations in the Algerian war with Gen. Raoul Salan, the territory's military dictator who is supposed to be exercising authority for Paris but who has been voicing pro-De Gaulle sentiments. Despite his announced purpose, it was assumed Lorillot also would go into Salan's ambiguous position in the crisis.

The government possibly had some clues to Salan's actions already. His chief of staff, Col. Juille, has been in Paris two days for official talks and was preparing to return to Algiers.

Mobs in Algiers supporting De Gaulle's bid for power, meanwhile, kept up their daily demonstrations backing the wartime resistance hero.

This Is 'Showdown Day' For YMCA Capital Funds Drive

This is THE day for the YMCA. While tonight is registration night for the citywide recreation program which the YMCA administers for several agencies, the most crucial event is the final report meeting on the Y building campaign.

This is set for 5:15 p.m. in the Settles Ballroom.

"A report from every worker on every card" became the slogan for the session. Sectional and divisional leaders were urging team captains to make sure all their team members were on hand for a final report.

"Of course we would like to have a contact and a pledge for every prospect card represented," said R. W. Whipkey, teams chairman. "Just as important is the need for a report on the unworked cards.

We must have this information in order to tell where we are."

There was good reason to believe that today's session will reflect substantial progress toward the $309,000 goal. At the report meeting a week ago the total was $238,000.

Several big and miscellaneous gifts reported to the headquarters office in the Settles lobby make certain that today's report session will have a nest egg of at least $10,000.

Bitting off a major chunk of that was Cabot Carbon Company, A. R. (Dave) Davenport, Cabot superintendent, handed Dan Krausse, associate big gifts chairman, a check for $5,000 from his company to the YMCA building fund. This was the second largest industrial gift of the campaign and actually the largest from a business since the campaign proper was launched.

Another substantial push was furnished by Pioneer Natural Gas Company with a $2,100.

Both the general and big gifts divisions will report at the final check meeting today.

On the basis of the unworked cards, a special clean up committee may be pressed into service to give every prospect an opportunity to take part in the community project.

Meanwhile, one unsolicited gift of $180 came in from an individual for whom no prospect card had been made.

Another gift came in through the mail from a donor who had been missed but who wanted a part in the building.

President Orders Air Study To Halt Crashes

Collisions Lead To U.S. Action

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today ordered his Air Coordinating Committee to make a special study aimed at eliminating midair collisions "to the maximum degree."

The White House said Eisenhower's action was prompted by the collision in Maryland Tuesday of an Air National Guard jet and a commercial airliner. That crash took a dozen lives.

At the same time, Eisenhower arranged to confer later in the day with two House members who are members of a committee investigating the Tuesday crash.

Rep. Prince Preston (D-Ga.) said he and Rep. Cliff Clevenger (R-Ohio) got word from the White House that Eisenhower would see them at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

Preston and Clevenger are the top members of a House Appropriations subcommittee which was rebuffed by federal air officials Wednesday night on a subcommittee stopgap plan aimed at halting civilian-military air crashes.

The subcommittee voted to take the issue directly to Eisenhower. Preston said a White House aide, Jack Anderson, came to his office this morning with word of the appointment.

on recommendations from Edward P. Curtis when he was a special assistant to President Eisenhower.

Early today, Capital Airlines reported that an Air Force B47 bomber narrowly missed colliding over northern Ohio Wednesday night with another Capital airliner carrying 19 persons.

A House government Operations subcommittee under Rep. John A. Platnik (D-Minn.) planned to open an inquiry today into Tuesday's collision between an airliner and a military jet trainer in Maryland. This crash cost 12 lives.

And Rep. Prince Preston (D-Ga.), whose House Appropriations subcommittee was rebuffed by federal officials last night in a plea for an emergency safety measure, planned to take to Eisenhower the subcommittee recommendation to halt what Preston called the "rough Russian roulette" in the air.

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics Administration withdrew its approval of a jet warplane flying over Memorial Day during entombment of unknown servicemen of World War II and Korea at Arlington National Cemetery.

The CAA requested the Air Force to cancel its plans after the Air Force said it did not intend to call off its air parade without a CAA demand, not just a request.

HEADED BY QUESADA

Eisenhower's Air Coordinating Committee is headed by retired Air Force Lt. Gen. Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada.

The White House announcement by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said "at the request of the President, E. R. Quesada, chairman of the Air Coordinating Committee, will hold a series of special meetings of his committee, starting tomorrow (Friday), designed to further accelerate air safety actions and to eliminate to the maximum degree possible midair collisions."

Quesada will report as soon as possible to the President on measures already taken on recommendations to the Congress and on the results of these special meetings.

Administrator James T. Pyle of the Civil Aeronautics Administration meanwhile, was telling a Senate Commerce subcommittee "We are not going to solve this problem overnight."

Military-civilian collisions have taken 61 lives in a month, spurring new demands in Congress for new air safety measures.

Pyle said a new control system to be put into effect on a major U.S. airline will require that both civilian and military planes fly by instruments with safety spaces between them.

"This will reduce our exposure to a minimum," Pyle told a Senate Commerce subcommittee on aviation headed by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.).

Monroney, opening the Senate hearing, said there must be an "end of dual system of traffic control."

He has introduced a bill to set up a new independent federal aviation agency with broad authority to regulate the use of all U.S. air space by both civilian and military aircraft.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Commerce Committee offered a similar measure in the House. The legislation is based

INDEPENDENT AGENCY

The Monroney-Harris bill would take the CAA out of the Commerce Department and put it into an independent agency to be named the Federal Aviation Agency. The legislation would give the civilian boss of the new agency the power to regulate use of all airspace over the United States by both civil and military planes.

Preston and Boatnik, citing the Maryland tragedy and the April 21 Nevada collision between an airliner and jet trainer costing 47 lives, spoke of the danger of lack of coordination between military and civilian flights.

No matter how carefully the civil craft are controlled by CAA traffic directors, they said, the precautions are no good against the danger from military jets zooming unrestricted through civil airways without CAA knowledge.

Jury Considers Cuban Rebel Aides' Future

BROWNSVILLE — A jury in U.S. District Court began studying today the fate of 35 men accused of conspiracy to run arms to the Cuban rebel leader, Fidel Castro, last March.

"No sympathy or prejudice must be allowed to deflect your judgment," U.S. Judge James Allred told the jury. "We have nothing to do with the internal affairs of Cuba. The policy of this country is represented by laws and treaties and the punishment is up to the judge."

"The government is concerned only with the violation of U.S. neutrality laws and not in the internal affairs of Cuba," U.S. Atty. William Butler of Houston stated in opening lawyers' arguments.

Col. E. E. Matthews, Brownsville defense attorney, said: "I am interested in democracy anywhere in the world and am proud to represent this group. They are not the kind of men we see as defendants in a courtroom. They are just a group that wanted to fight for democracy."

U.S. Atty. Bryan Odem of Brownsville said it wasn't the jury's problem "to send these boys to the penitentiary. That is up to the judge."

The only defense witness was Capt. Jose Boliver Medina, Ecuadorian captain of the ship Orion, aboard which the Coast Guard seized the men and arms March 27 in the Gulf off Brownsville.

He said his ship was 15 or 16 miles offshore when a Coast Guard cutter rammed it and the armed U.S. officials boarded the vessel and forced it into Port Isabel, Tex.

His testimony was aimed at showing the ship was outside the U.S. territorial limits when boarded.

House Passes Postal Rate Bill

WASHINGTON — The House passed and sent to the White House today a bill to raise the cost of a first-class letter from 3 to 4 cents and on airmail letters from 6 to 7 cents.

The rate hikes will take effect Aug. 1 if President Eisenhower signs the bill.

The measure also carries wage increases for post office workers aggregating 300 million dollars a year—more than Eisenhower proposed.

The House sent the compromise measure to the White House after brief discussion. The Senate passed it Wednesday 88-0.

The House vote also was unanimous, 379-0.

The bill provides for an overall increase in postal rates of an estimated 550 million dollars annually.

As a revenue producer, the bill falls about 150 million dollars short of what the President wanted, while the raises it provides for 520,000 postal employees total 220 million dollars more than Eisenhower proposed.

The bill is a compromise of measures passed separately by the House and Senate. Its major provision is for an increase from 3 to 4 cents in the cost of mailing a first-class letter. This accounts for about 350 million dollars of new revenues.

Boosts in rates on letters, post cards, air mail and books would become effective Aug. 1.

Rates on newspapers and magazines and on advertising matter would also be increased, in stages, starting Jan. 1.

The 10 per cent pay hike for most postal workers—the President had proposed a 6 per cent boost—would be retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Although the bill falls considerably short of what Eisenhower wanted, his congressional confidants predicted he would sign it as the best bill he could get under the circumstances.

The President had asked for a 5-cent rate on nonlocal letters in a bid to whittle sharply the Post Office Department deficit estimated at 700 million dollars this year and next year.

Because the full effect of the rate increases would not be felt for four years, the bill would cut the postal deficit by only about 77 million dollars next year.

The compromise bill does not contain the Senate provision permitting military personnel having Army Post Office or Fleet Post Office addresses abroad to send letters free.

House conferees insisted on elimination of the provision.

Food Prices Again Hike Living Costs

WASHINGTON — Another record high in housewives' grocery costs sent the government's living cost index to a peak in April.

Officials who announced the new rise today had some good news for consumers, however. They said some food prices are declining in May and that the over-all level seems to be reaching a somewhat stable level for the summer months.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner, told a news conference that "in a broad general way I'd say the index has shot its bolt—there's no question about it, the big rises are now over."

The government index rose two-tenths of 1 per cent between March and April, reaching 123.5 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

The April rise was wholly due to higher food prices, particularly fresh fruits and vegetables. Prices for meats and fish also were higher.

The April living cost level was 3.5 per cent above April 1957. It represented the 18th increase in the past 20 months. It has declined only once in the past 28 months, despite the business recession.

The new rise means a pay increase to about half a million workers based on labor contracts geared partly to changes in the government index. Most of the workers will receive boosts on June payroll of about two or three cents an hour. Some will get as high as five cents an hour more.

Another 750,000 workers normally would get pay adjustments based on the April index increase. This includes employees of the major auto companies. Labor contracts for these workers are expiring at the end of this month.

The automatic raises go to workers in the aircraft and electrical manufacturing industries.

The two-cent increase which the auto workers would have received under the old contract is expected to be a factor, at least, in calculating new wage rates now being negotiated in Detroit.

Clague said food prices — the main element which has been boosting the index—usually hit a peak about July every year and declined in August.

Clague indicated belief that enough consumer items are showing decline tendencies to make him think that retail costs soon will level off.

Housing, medical care and personal care items all increased in April although clothing and transportation costs declined. The transportation items were influenced principally by lower prices for gasoline, new cars and tires. Used car prices rose slightly, indicating more people are turning to second-hand automobiles.

Food items alone increased by seven-tenths of one per cent in April, reaching another record.

A boost of 4 1/2 per cent in fruit and vegetable prices represented the joint effect of seasonal influences plus continued effect of adverse growing conditions in the winter and spring.

16 Teachers Due Service Awards At Friday Program

Sixteen teachers will receive awards and "Miss Typical Student" of Big Spring High School will be presented during a general faculty meeting in the high school cafeteria at noon Friday.

Supt. Floyd Parsons will introduce Nita Farquhar as Miss Typical and present to her the first copy of his annual report, a brochure entitled "Meet Miss Typical." The report summarizes all phases of local school operations and features some of the highlights in the second life of a typical student.

Three teachers will receive 25-year service pins, two will be presented 15-year awards, and 11 will be recognized for 10 years of service.

School trustees have been invited to the meeting, along with Dr. J. E. Hogan, Chamber of Commerce president. Teachers will be asked to approve a tentative school calendar for 1958-59 and new officers of the local chapter of the Texas State Teachers Assn. will be introduced.

Clyde Angel, trustee president, will present the service awards. Supt. Parsons said his annual report is being published for distribution throughout the school district.

Panel Approves Aid Restoration

WASHINGTON — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted tentatively today to restore in full the 339 million dollars the House cut from President Eisenhower's $3,942,092,500 foreign aid program.

The committee, in actions subject to later reconsideration, voted to raise President Eisenhower's emergency fund for use in extending "brush fire" wars from the 100 million dollars voted by the House to the 200 million dollars the President requested.

It also raised from the 185 million dollars voted by the House to the 212 million Eisenhower asked, the allotment for his use in providing economic aid to meet special situations.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) pushed the drive to give Eisenhower the full 200-million-dollar emergency fund.

Panel Okays Jobless Bill

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee today approved a House-passed bill authorizing the federal government to advance money to the states for a temporary extension of unemployment benefits. The vote was 11-4.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said the anti-recession measure, endorsed by the Eisenhower administration, will be brought up for action in the Senate next Tuesday.

The committee rejected by a 10-4 vote a substitute proposal of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) to liberalize the emergency measure and to strengthen the unemployment insurance system on a permanent basis.

Arguments Set In Murder Case

LINCOLN, Neb. — Charles Starkweather, who says he is betting he'll be sent to the electric chair, listens today to the final arguments in his murder trial.

The case probably will go to the jury early this afternoon.

As testimony drew to a close yesterday, Starkweather offered to make his bet that he'd die in the electric chair.

He leaned forward and to psychiatrist Dr. John Steinman, a defense witness, said, "I'll bet you a pack of cigarettes that I get a battery charge."

Later Dr. Steinman said "battery charge" was Starkweather's term for the chair.

A jury of eight women and four men will decide the fate of Starkweather, who admits involvement in 11 slayings and admits he shot Robert Jensen, 17, for whose death he is on trial.

Boy, 2, Is Killed By Auto At C-City

COLORADO CITY — Tiny Luis Lujon toddled into the street in front of his home here Wednesday afternoon and apparently started playing in front of a parked automobile.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Billy Lunceford and Charley Witherspoon started to drive away from the Lujon residence. They felt a bump, stopped and found the critically injured child behind the car.

Luis died shortly after arrival at Root Memorial Hospital.

Witherspoon had gone into the home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Lujon, about 6 p.m. Mrs. Lunceford, who said she was the driver, remained in the car. Both failed to see the little boy when they pulled away.

Funeral arrangements for Luis are incomplete at Kiker & Son Funeral Home. In addition to his parents, he is survived by four brothers and two sisters.

Investigation of the mishap is continuing, according to Dist. Atty. Eldon Mahon. He said witnesses gave conflicting reports on identity of the driver of the car, and announced that both Witherspoon and Mrs. Lunceford have agreed to lie detector tests.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

Perhaps the least desirable of all farm work is that of dairy hand. R. P. Mayfield, who owns a dairy northwest of Ackerly, says good dairy hands were always hard to find, but now it's almost impossible to get one.

Mayfield has one of the largest dairies in the area. He is currently milking over 100 cows. Most of them are Holsteins with a few Jerseys mixed in. At one time West Texans kept lots of Jerseys and few of the big black and white Holsteins.

"It's just reversed now," said Mayfield. "Holsteins give more milk per pound of feed."

Mayfield feeds silage the year around. Last fall he contracted for several fields of green feed, had it cut and chopped and then put into his trench silos. He says there are fewer cows in the Southwest than a year or so ago but milk production is up. This is caused by dairymen getting heavier producing cows.

Not long ago we mentioned the Balboa rye which was making big stalks and no grain on the Frank Lovelace farm northeast of Coahoma. Since then some changes have taken place.

Lovelace says the heads are graining out nicely now and he may make a good grain crop after all. Two showers have fallen recently and the crop has plenty of moisture to mature. He says this was his first experience with Balboa rye for a soil builder, but if it makes grain, so much the better.

Durward Lewter is integrating his cattle feeding business at Lubbock. He now intends to slaughter his own cattle by building a 25,000 square foot slaughtering and dressing plant.

The plant which will have a capacity of 30 animals per hour and employ 30 people, will be built by Lewter and his business associates, Clint Murchison and Carr Pritchett.

The plant will be located on a four-acre tract about five miles southeast of Lubbock and near his feeding pens.

Lewter is now feeding cattle in 120-day periods by using West Texas grain, cottonseed products and East Texas molasses. Lewter served as county agent of Howard County for several years.

The farm labor situation is not critical yet, but it may get that way in the next few weeks, according to Jack Hatch at the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring. The district labor report shows that over 200 workers were needed in the Big Spring and Stanton area, while about 300 could be used in the Lamesa district.

Hatch said a lot of tractor hands were needed now and that cotton hoeing would start within a few weeks. Farmers in parts of Martin County will start hoeing their irrigation cotton before long, and if the weather stays dry they will also want irrigation workers.

Hatch has an application from one farmer, Tarran, who has tried several times to locate a worker who can drive a tractor and speak Spanish. The farmer is willing to pay a little more for such a man to act as foreman for the other workers.

Bub McDonald now has the largest chicken farm south of Lubbock. On his farm just north of Patricia he has several thousand caged hens. By autumn he will have 22,000, with 12,000 in cages and the other 10,000 on the floor.

Not long ago McDonald went into partnership with Clary Egg Co. which has a processing plant in Lamesa. Manager of the egg farm is Boyd Holley who comes from down below the Caprock.

Holley says they are planning a complete replacement program. They will start 2,000 baby chicks every six weeks, in order to get 16,000 replacements a year.

Clary is also going heavily into the broiler business, says Holley. They plan to build two 30,000 broiler units in Dawson County, and will furnish the feed, chicks and buy the broilers at marketable age. Holley says that by installing labor-saving devices one man can easily take care of 10,000 broilers.

The company is now buying broilers at O'Donnel, Lubbock and Spur. Holley says a producer can raise a broiler a cent a pound cheaper out here than back east because of being in a feed-growing area and a drier climate.

Last Sunday in Brownfield I talked to my nephew who manages a ranch south of Carlsbad. He said that area had had several good rains and the desert pastures are greening up fast. There is enough grass for ranchers to stop feeding altogether.

One of his neighbors lost two yearlings recently and thinks a mountain lion got them. My nephew says he can find panther tracks every morning at a spring about a mile from the ranch house. Last week two cowboys saw the panther and threw a couple of rifle shots at it. However, the big cat scooted down the draw and then headed for some chalk caves where they think he holes up during the day.

We may go over there in a week or so for a short visit. I always drive down to the spring, so maybe I'll get to see the lion's spoor. If I do find his tracks, though, I'd much prefer that he not be standing in them.

Tomorrow the school ends and kids by the hundreds will rush out of buildings yelling like Comanches riding to a scalping party.

It is always a joyous day for children and teachers alike, yet one touched by nostalgia and regret that another year has passed. By the time each school year ends, I become so fond of my pupils that I dread to tell them goodbye. Each year I think I've got the finest bunch of kids in the state. And these have been extra nice this year.

Yesterday morning the home room bunch were indulging in some sort of activity behind my back. There were whispers, hurried conferences and pieces of paper being passed from one student to another. By their looks I knew something was afoot, but I also knew it was something wholesome and legitimate.

Then after lunch when we gathered for a final party, the home room president, Mike Porter, presented me with a gift certificate for a new hat. Naturally I was grateful because I hadn't yet bought my summer top piece. But I was even more grateful because a nice group of boys and girls collected their dimes and quarters and went to considerable trouble to show their appreciation.

Not every student contributed. Some can hardly scrape up money for clothes and lunches, and have a hard time staying in school at all. But they all donated their smiles, their friendship and best wishes.

Some people think the younger generation is going to perdition on a downhill drag strip. With this I do not agree. Most kids are just as good or bad as their parents, school and environment allow them to be. They all need supervision, but sting more they need understanding and affection. They need a smile, a joke and at times a compliment sandwiched in between doses of criticism.

So it is with regret that I must tell this year's classes good-bye. Maybe I'll never teach them again, but I can feel good in the fact that maybe in some small way I helped a boy or girl just a little at some time during the year—and that it will stay with them longer than the memory of the deed.

This is the reason I like to teach school, and why after many years I still think it one of the most important jobs of this or any other age.

Union, Clergy Hold Parleys

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers held a daylong meeting with seven prominent clergymen Wednesday to discuss the ethical and moral aspects of the union's new contract demands, including its profit-sharing plan.

The clergymen are members of a panel invited last December by American Motors Corp. to weigh the ethical and moral principles involved in the then-upcoming negotiations between the UAW and that company.

The clergymen said in a statement incorporated in the union report of the meeting only that they appreciated the opportunity for such a meeting.

Chief spokesmen for the UAW were President Walter P. Reuther and Leonard Woodcock, vice president and director of the union's General Motors Department. The discussions covered all major auto company negotiations now in progress.

Clergymen attending the conference included: Rabbi Morris Adler, Detroit; the Rev. Robert Francis Allen, Detroit; the Rev. Cameron P. Hall, New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George G. Higgins, Washington, D.C.; Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, Detroit; Rabbi Eugene J. Lipman, New York; and the Rev. G. Paul Musselman, New York.

Uncertainty Marks GM-UAW Parleys

DETROIT (AP)—Tensions and uncertainty mark the renewal today of talks between General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union.

During a recess yesterday, the company and union joined hands to battle rebellious skilled workers at a National Labor Relations Board hearing.

But tension mounted when GM fired a hot reply to a statement by UAW President Walter P. Reuther accusing GM negotiators of failing to show any indication they are ready to begin bargaining.

Only eight days remain before the current three-year contract expires.

Vice President Louis G. Seaton, head of the GM bargaining team, said Reuther's statement "is fantastic in view of the fact that only last week the UAW settled major agreements in the aircraft industry" for considerably less than what General Motors has put on the bargaining table.

GM, Ford and Chrysler have offered to extend for two years the 2½ per cent wage improvement factor of present contracts.

The UAW and the big three joined forces before the NLRB to fight craft unions seeking separate bargaining rights in the auto industry.

Reuther told the NLRB that agreements with auto makers cannot be concluded until it is known whether the UAW will continue to represent craftsmen as well as production workers. NLRB Chairman Boyd S. Leedom promised to expedite a decision.

The auto companies supported Reuther's argument.

Seaton said the UAW demands would increase GM's labor costs more than 73 cents per hour per worker.

The UAW has not said publicly what it figures its demands amount to per hour per worker but it disagreed with GM's estimate. The current average hourly wage is $2.40.

Reaching Art Thru Stomach

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take it from America's most honored poet: the way to a man's art is through his stomach.

Robert Frost, newly appointed poetry consultant to the Library of Congress, says part of his job is interesting politicians in the arts. And, asked at a news conference how he'll go about this, the 84-year-old poet quipped: "I guess we'll have to ask 'em to dinner once in a while."

Frost, winner of four Pulitzer

Prizes and about every poetry award there is, doesn't take over officially until October but he's already at work.

He had a long chat with President Eisenhower recently — about politics as well as the arts. "He told me," confided the white-thatched poet, "he'd be a Jeffersonian Democrat but not a Jacksonian Democrat."

Frost didn't clear up the distinction much, by adding that he himself is "so much a Democrat that I'm almost a Republican."

Time Cuts Down Man, 124 Years Old

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Father Time has cut down "the man with the ax," whose associates agreed with his calculation that he was born 124 years ago.

Francisco Gomez Marfill, who, if his memory was correct, was born while his adopted Texas was a province of Mexico, died Wednesday of old age.

Until he became ill six months ago, Gomez Marfill walked about this south Texas city with a single-bladed ax, his trademark, always balanced on his shoulder. He was a wood cutter as late as 1950.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—When they found Albert Berry, 28-year-old escapee from the county road camp, officers couldn't be sure of his identity until one of them ordered him to lower his pants.

Stenciled across the seat of his shorts were the words: "Sacramento County Road Camp."

A life-sized reproduction of the famous Leonardo di Vinci painting, "The Last Supper," is being presented here Thursday, Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the Downtown Lions Club. The display is set up in a big trailer constructed especially for it and will be seen on the east side of the courthouse square. Figures representing Jesus and the 12 disciples were created by H. B. Maxey with painstaking artistry down to placement of each hair in the eyebrows. There is no admission charge, but the Lions Club will share in whatever offering visitors may care to leave. The club's proceeds will be applied to its welfare fund.

Another Man Seen In Ironic Accident

BRIDGETON, N.J. — It's a quiet country crossroads called Harmony. A young wife and husband met there Tuesday night in a flaming two-car crash that ended in the husband's death. And Wednesday police said that at the end of the road there may have been another man, a man waiting for a date with 19-year-old Mrs. Vera Wright. She kept him waiting. Mrs. Wright was critically injured when the car she was driving smashed broadside into her husband's auto. The husband, Lester, also 19, was dead 10 minutes after being pulled from his blazing auto. Walter Robinson, 56 of Newfield, owner of the car that Mrs. Wright was driving was being questioned by police. He said each car could have taken one of several routes, adding: "They happened to meet at one of the country crossroads."

band drove off angrily after the argument and that she borrowed Robinson's car to follow him home. She said nothing of the reported date or of any relationship with Robinson. Regardless of which version is correct, Conway said, the couple "might have been more or less racing" to their Bridgeton home. He said each car could have taken one of several routes, adding: "They happened to meet at one of the country crossroads."

Lebanon Chief Won't Resign

BEIRUT, Lebanon — President Camille Chamoun says he will never resign under the tremendous pressures generated by two weeks of bloody rioting in this tiny Middle East country. Speaking to a news conference yesterday, Chamoun again accused President Nasser's United Arab Republic of directing the riots to force a radical change in Lebanon's pro-Western policies. He said the government would decide against this "massive interference in our internal affairs."

Conway quoted Robinson as saying he had been the woman's boy friend for about a year and that Wright knew and apparently did not disapprove of their relationship. He told police the Wrights had quarreled the night of the accident because Mrs. Wright wanted Robinson's car to drive home. According to Robinson's statement, he and Mrs. Wright had made a date for later in the evening. The date had been arranged in Wright's presence, he said. The statement said husband and wife drove off at the same time. The woman's version of the affair, police said, was that her husband

Sightseer Falls From Hotel Room

WASHINGTON — One of the thousands of high school seniors sightseeing in Washington fell from his hotel room to a concrete sidewalk four floors below today. The youth was Philip Johnson, 18, of Florence, Wis., one of 36 Florence High School pupils on a tour here. He was in critical condition. Johnson shared a room at the Ebbot Hotel in downtown Washington with three classmates. He slept on a cot by an open window. Richard Haferkorn, 18, a roommate, told police Johnson must have gotten up in the night and plunged from the window. Johnson was found on the sidewalk by two Georgetown University medical students who gave first aid and called an ambulance. Johnson suffered a broken left leg and right wrist and probably internal injuries.

Texas Ex-GIs Having Trouble Under Veterans Land Program

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN — Some of Texas' ex-GIs are having plenty of trouble paying off dream farms and ranches they bought under the veterans land program—5 per cent down, 40 years to pay.

The unusual plan of the state buying farms and ranches and reselling them to ex-servicemen on easy terms is the only bonus Texas offered veterans of World War II and the Korean fighting. This week State Auditor C. H. Cavness reported that more than 15 per cent of the 16,000 GI purchasers are behind in their payments. A total of 324 loans have already been foreclosed or turned back.

aged to recover $12,123 from a fast-talking seller for the cistern subterfuge.

Cavness' audit report shows 30 land promoters are repaying the state for fake block deals uncovered during the investigation and prosecution of former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles who originated the land program. Eight of these repentant promoters are delinquent to the tune of $52,483, as of Aug. 31, 1957.

Six of these fraudulent land deals, involving 122 veterans, are still pending. A total of 35 court judgments were obtained on contracts involving 15,264 acres of land but only five of these have been paid in full.

Cavness' report on the controversial land program—the first audit since Jan. 5, 1955—shows 2,443 veterans were delinquent in payment of their land loan installments on last Aug. 31, by a total sum of $711,257.

Veterans may pay as little as 5 per cent down and spread the rest of the payments over a 40-year period with 3 and 3 1/2 per cent interest.

However, the figures show that 1,095 accounts were delinquent after payment of only one or part of one installment. The audit shows some loans still on the books after being delinquent for nine payments, or 4 1/2 years.

The report said 25 extensions had been granted while 104 cases have been sent to the attorney general to start forfeiture action.

Hero's Welcome For Pianist

Van Cliburn, the 23-year-old Texas pianist who won acclaim in a Moscow competition, blows kisses with both hands as he is paraded up Broadway in a traditional New York ticker tape reception. The young Kluge musician was feted in a reception of the type usually reserved for military heroes, athletic champions and visiting royalty. Richard Patterson, official city greeter, is seated by Cliburn.

Southern Baptists Come Under Fire Of Texas Segregationists

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
HOUSTON — Southern Baptists were under attack today by Texas segregationists accusing the denomination of fostering "race-mixing trends."

A flood of literature, bearing the imprint of the White Citizens' Council, was distributed among the approximately 15,000 representatives to the denomination's annual convention.

The material cited Old Testament Scripture seeking to show segregation was ordained by God. The printed charges also claimed

Baptist publications have "an increasing integrationist content."

Several church leaders described the material variously as "quite distorted," and "an inaccurate picture."

The election of Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) as convention president was seen by some as a victory for those favoring brotherly Southern Baptist relations with other churches.

Commented the Rev. Dr. Hope Owen, president of Wayland Baptist College of Plainview, Tex.: "The election reflects the feeling among a majority of Southern Baptists that we should maintain a friendly, mutually hopeful attitude toward other Christians, and not draw into an aloof corner."

Hays, a long-time church lay leader and a veteran House member, was re-elected overwhelmingly.

Regarding race relationships, Hays also has taken a moderate position, and played a conciliatory role in his home state of Arkansas.

Dr. Charles Quarles of Jackson, Miss., the new vice president, also termed himself a moderate. He also told a news conference: "I'm a segregationist. I do not think segregation is un-Christian. I believe in the equal worth of every human soul, but there are practical difficulties one must face in the Christian religion."

He said the Mississippi Baptist Convention, whose board he heads, devotes the largest part of its budget to work with Negroes, but that integration "would be an injustice to Negroes at the present time."

Scientist Raises Chickens After Transplanting Heads

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Mira Pavlovic, Yale zoologist, reports having reared baby chickens whose heads were transplanted while they were still embryos in the shell.

Miss Pavlovic, 28, a Yugoslav scientist who came here from Paris in 1957, said the feat provides new information on the compatibility of tissues.

She said she performed the transplants on 100 embryos and six of them hatched. One lived 70 days, and another 85. Others lived two, four and nine days, and one died shortly after it was hatched.

Studies are now being conducted to determine the cause of five of the deaths. The one which lived 55 days died of a digestive disturbance. A lack of appetite was common in the others.

The experiments were performed on Rhode Island Reds to which the heads of a black breed were transplanted. The chicks displayed no behavior characteristics different from normal chicks.

Colleagues Attend R. Colman Rites

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Many motion picture colleagues turned out for the quiet, simple funeral of British-born actor Ronald Colman.

Easter hymns were played during the 15-minute service yesterday. There was no eulogy for Colman, 67, who died Monday of a lung infection.

Colman's widow Benita Hume was accompanied to All Saints-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church by actor William Powell, Richard Barthelmess, who appeared years ago with Colman and Powell in the film "The Three Musketeers," took the arm of the actor's daughter Juliet, 13.

Others who made the 100-mile trek from Hollywood included George Sanders, Joseph Cotten, Patricia Medina, Jack Benny, Vincent Price, Gladys Cooper, Herbert Marshall and George Cukor, who directed Colman's Academy Award-winning performance in "A Double Life."

Italians Cool To Soviet Peace Bid

ROME — In an obvious attempt to help the Communists in Italy's parliamentary election Sunday, the Soviet Union has sent two peaceful coexistence proposals to Rome. Italian officials gave them a cool reception today.

One was a new offer of a 20-year nonaggression pact. The other was a request that the Italian Parliament join the Soviet Union in opposing rearmament of West Germany.

The pro-Western Christian Democrats, who have dominated all postwar Italian governments, are seeking a majority Sunday for policies which include continued adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Their chief opponents, the largest Communist party in the West and its allied left-wing Socialists, are campaigning for neutralism.

U.S. Sending Light Arms To Indonesia

WASHINGTON — The United States is issuing licenses for the sale and shipment of about half a million dollars worth of small arms to the Indonesian government. State Department officials said today.

Officials said the department has decided that the arms, suitable for police work, would not alter the balance between the government and rebel forces.

Diplomats speculated that the change actually indicates a shift of U.S. policy toward Indonesia where the anti-Communist rebellion had aroused considerable sympathy in Washington.

New Repellant

CINCINNATI — An expert says picnics can now be held without annoyance from insects. Henry F. Pierce, Wilmington, Del., told the Chemical Specialties Manufacturing Assn. the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which developed it, calls it the best all-purpose insect repellant so far made. It is known as "meta delphene" and by other brand names.

Expert Thinks Russians Used 2-Stage Rockets

WASHINGTON — Kurt Stehling, top propulsion expert on the Navy Vanguard rocket project, says calculations indicate that the Soviet Union has been using two-stage rockets to launch all its Sputniks.

Stehling told an Air Force Assn. dinner meeting last night that information points to the use of the same propulsion system for the 184-pound Sputnik I, the 1,120-pound Sputnik II, and the 3,000-pound Sputnik III. He estimated the rocket's length at 175 feet and total thrust at about 555,000 pounds.

Stehling also told the group to watch for another Vanguard satellite launching attempt in the not too distant future. He declined to pinpoint the date of the launching of a 20-pound satellite.

The Navy has announced that this will be the first official satellite launching vehicle of the Vanguard series. Previous Navy launchings have been of test vehicles with experimental satellites aboard some of them. The Vanguard satellite now in orbit was launched by one of these test vehicles.

Stehling said that from the information released by the Soviets it was possible to estimate that for the first stage they used a rocket 100 feet long and 10 feet diameter, with a thrust of 500,000 pounds.

He said the second stage rocket had 55,000 pounds of thrust. Stehling said the Red scientists probably used alcohol and liquid oxygen as propellants.

The Vanguard rocket which launched the Navy's 4-inch, 3 1/4-pound satellite and the 50-pound, 5-foot-long final-stage rocket that is also in orbit was a three-stage vehicle 72 feet tall with total thrust of 36,800 pounds.

Trujillo Arrives In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Free-spending Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., arrived in Kansas City today, apparently to resume military classes at nearby Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Trujillo left the school about two months to go to California. He rented a $2,500-a-month Beverly Hills mansion and spent most of his time visiting Hollywood night spots in the company of movie star Kim Novak.

The 29-year-old son of the Dominican Republic strongman refused to answer any questions here.

Trujillo's wife and six children are in the Dominican Republic. The general has said a Mexican divorce will be final in July. Miss Novak, asked if she was in love with Trujillo, said "You know I can't talk of anything like that now. He's still married."

By JACK BELL
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The nation's governors headed home today from their golden anniversary conference without having pegged any star performer for the 1960 Democratic and Republican presidential nominations. In four days of meetings, the governors covered subjects ranging from the size of the National Guard to a proposal for a White House conference on the recession. They heard Secretary of Defense McElroy and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson explain what the federal government is doing—and why it hasn't done more—to combat the business slump. But behind the scenes governors who consider themselves available for their party's top nomination two years from now maneuvered in open and public ways to help their cause. The general opinion among those who had no national ambitions was that none of those who displayed their wares made much headway in a field from which the party nominees traditionally are chosen. Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, who would like to be the 1960 Democratic nominee, stumbled over a coalition roadblock in his efforts to win the chairmanship of the conference. Southern Democrats and conservative Western Republicans gave the plum to Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida. This helped Collins in his obvious bid to become a compromise representative of the South on a 1960 Democratic ticket that would avoid any showdown stand on the school segregation issue. In the Democratic ranks, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Averell Harriman of New York generally were credited with outshining their colleagues. Neither is considered presently available for the 1960 presidential nomination. Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky said that after looking over the field of available, he is not at all embarrassed to be running openly for the 1960 nomination. On the Republican side, there was an admitted lack of presidential talent among GOP governors. They seemed generally to take it for granted that Vice President Nixon will be their party's 1960 nominee. Republican Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the retiring chairman of the conference, put out some tentative feelers for the vice-presidential nomination. Almost no other Republican even touched a toe in the national waters. The cross-section feeling among the governors seemed to be that current economic conditions make it likely the Democrats will increase their margins in both houses of Congress in the November elections. The governors passed up their chance to question McElroy and Anderson about economic measures in favor of a vigorous attack on the administration's proposal to reduce the level of the National Guard from 400,000 men to 360,000. Judge Who Issued Race Order To Quit HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—The federal district judge who issued the first desegregation order for Virginia's public schools will retire this summer. John Paul, 74-year-old Republican named to the federal bench late in 1931 by President Hoover, said he has written President Eisenhower of his desire to retire Aug. 1.

Gas Products Ruled Taxable As Personal Property

AUSTIN (AP)—Gas products are not taxable as real property but are taxable as personal property, an attorney general's opinion said yesterday. The opinion said that gas owned by Sun Oil Co. under leases which it holds is subject to the property taxation as long as it is not severed from the ground. But after processing, the products do not constitute land property subject to taxation but should be taxed as personal property. L. P. Lollar wrote the opinion for Atty. Gen. Will Wilson at the request of Starr County Atty. Frank Nye Jr. of Rio Grande City. Sun omitted from its ad valorem tax properties the products or portions of the liquids extracted from processing gas through contract with the producers. Nye said this "plant operator's portion" totaled $2,165,120 in 1956 and Starr County officials claimed it should be subject to the ad valorem taxes. The opinion said that to put a value on the gas while in the ground for ad valorem tax purposes and then to add the products for additional taxation constituted a double assessment and would be unconstitutional.

Presbyterian Synod Nears End Of Its 3-Day Meeting

FORT WORTH (AP)—The 103rd session of the Synod of Texas, Presbyterian Church in the U.S., drew near a close of its 3-day meeting today. Dr. David Read, minister of New York's Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, was to deliver the third of a series of three sermons. The Scottish-born former chaplain to Queen Elizabeth concluded yesterday's program after the group approved a proposal for joint operation of Austin Theological Seminary by northern and southern branches of the denomination. The seminary at Austin now is operated by four synods of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., the southern branch of the denomination. The proposal for joint operation had been approved Tuesday by the Synod of Louisiana. Approval of two other synods involved—

Oklahoma and Arkansas—is regarded as a certainty. To become effective it must also be approved by the northern branch, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The Rev. Charles King of Houston presented the plan for joint operation. He is chairman of the school's board of regents. The Synod's evangelism report for 1957 was presented yesterday by the Rev. Sherrard Rice of Tyler. The Rev. Rice, chairman of the executive committee on church extension, said the synod showed a gain of 4,103 members during 1957. That was an increase of 3.9 per cent, he said, bringing the total in Texas churches (plus four in New Mexico) to more than 108,000. Earlier, a record budget of $1,376,040 was approved for synod operations during 1958.

Goodyear To Open Tire Test Track

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Drivers who have nursed a secret desire to drive on an automobile track built for speed will have their chance Sunday. But they won't be able to speed. Goodyear Tire and Rubber will open its new tire test track to motorists between 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday. Drivers must stick to legal figures on their speedometers, however. Company drivers will take newsmen around the track at more than 100 miles per hour preceding the open house. The demonstration will include a hands-off-wheel drive to show the perfection of the scientifically built track. "Area residents have shown considerable interest in the high-speed track and we believe it is only fitting that they help dedicate its use," said Walter Shively, Goodyear's manager of engineering-tire development. "In making the track a public highway for three hours next Sunday afternoon, we cannot permit speeds beyond the legal limit of 60 miles per hour," Shively added. "A controlled track will prevent errant driving and permit, dad, mom and the kids to make a safe journey around the circle and see what a highspeed track looks like. "Certainly, it would be something a little bit different in the way of a Sunday afternoon drive." A specially-designed, carefully detailed rubberized road, the track was designed and built for test work exclusively. Goodyear will use it to conduct tire tests safely at high speeds to develop new and safer tires. The road is a perfect circle, five-mile banked track designed for speeds up to 140 miles per hour and capable of handling speeds up to 160 miles per hour.

Virginia Integration Nearing Showdown

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Reporter
OMAHA (AP)—The integration versus segregation battle in Virginia is headed for a showdown this fall. The state Parents-Teachers organization is awaiting that showdown helplessly and almost hopelessly. "We'll try to handle what happens this fall just as it develops," said Mrs. W. W. Kavanaugh, president of the Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers. "Our task is to keep the public schools open, to insure that our children get an education. It's difficult to stick to a middle line, but that is what we must do." The Supreme Court Monday refused to consider a last-ditch appeal that would prevent Negro students from entering Arlington County white schools next fall. The state administration has threatened to close the schools, under anti-integration laws that say state funds are to be shut off if integration occurs. Mrs. Kavanaugh spoke out today after the conclusion of the 62nd annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The national body took no stand on the integration question this year. The Virginia P-TA may be split right down the middle. Mrs. Kavanaugh said the group had members on both sides. "The tragic thing is what's going to happen to our children, both Negro and white," she said.

DEAR ABBY GET TWIN BEDS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: For 16 years I have been married to a husband who is one of the best husbands and fathers a woman could want. My problem is that I have got to suggest twin beds he will think I don't love him any more, which is not the case. It is only that he weighs 265 pounds and he insists on cuddling up to me at night. He falls asleep with his arm on me and it feels like a ton of logs. I move over, and HE moves over, until I am on the edge of the bed—so I get up and walk around the bed and crawl in on his side. Then he finds me again and the same thing starts all over again. Please advise me. TIED DEAR TIED: Give your husband a long and loving lecture on how much you love him and then order the twin beds. DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. We've been married for 22 years and she has nothing to do all day but clean the house and rearrange the furniture. When I get used to where everything is, she will move everything around again. She cleaned out my desk and now I can't find my insurance policies, contracts, receipts or anything. How does a man tell his wife to leave her mitts off things or should he just knock her for a loop? BURNED UP DEAR BURNED: After 22 years, I doubt if you are going to change your wife. Gather all your important papers (one you find them) and lock them in a strong box. Keep it under your bed. She can't move that very far. DEAR ABBY: I have a husband

Asks Business Also Open Its Books To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's chief spokesman told Congress today the government should have power to examine the financial records of business as well as labor organizations.

AFL-CIO President George Meany advanced this as one of 16 proposals he said would help safeguard union and employer funds and discourage corruption.

Meany, in testimony prepared for a Senate labor subcommittee considering legislative changes in light of labor scandals, cautioned against tinkering with the Taft-Hartley labor relations act. He said Congress should confine its attention now to helping insure honesty among employers and unions.

Recounting AFL-CIO moves against labor corruption, Meany cautioned against being "misled by the propagandists who have appeared here with cynical proposals, who would use the labor movement's hour of trial for their own nefarious purposes or by those who would subvert the legislative process to cheap political ends."

Meany largely reiterated organized labor's position of opposition to most current labor law proposals but he did not take a firm stand against proposals for secret ballot elections for unions. Previously, the AFL-CIO has opposed them.

Plane Rolled To Save Lives

This FSU-1 Crusader fuselage is shown as it is picked out of a fixture on completion as a roll-over to dislodge bits of metal. Contour pads with fire hose can be seen attached to the forward part of the rotation assembly. Open access doors on the fuselage let the pieces of metal fall out during rotation.

Vibrator Shakes 'Fleas' Out Of Jet

DALLAS, May 22 (AP) — A small boy visiting the Chance Vought aircraft plant probably would understand at a glance a factory operation which might puzzle many an adult.

That's because it's much like something he's apt to have done over and over at play.

How many times have you seen a play-acting youngster whip a toy plane to earth, snatch up a make-believe cargo and sweep it back aloft—describing a roll to dump part or all of the load, and adding some pretty noisy sound effects?

With some modifications, that's pretty much the procedure worked out by Chance Vought engineers for an altogether serious purpose. It could save a pilot's life.

The plane builders' object is to rid the fuselages of FSU Crusader jets of accumulated debris—minute bits of metal, rivet heads, metal shavings or an occasional washer.

To do this, they've come up with a combination roll-over fixture and mechanical vibrator, which shakes a fuselage like a dog does a bone while that part of a fighter plane is rotated every 10 seconds.

The device was dreamed up by Chance Vought's tool design group. It implements frequent inspections and vacuuming to clean out small pieces of waste material which might lodge in a plane's controls.

Engineers say the importance of this operation can't be over-emphasized.

As an example, they point to a recent report by military officials about a jet pilot who ran into unexpected trouble while zipping along at 40,000 feet.

Suddenly his fighter grew difficult to control. The ailerons would not respond properly. He got it down safely, however. Then an on-the-spot inspection disclosed a washer lodged in the aileron controls.

Chance Vought puts the Crusader fuselages through the rollover gadget before the tail sections or wings are attached.

It consists of two big contour rings, each about nine feet in diameter, which encircle each end of a fuselage. Rubber pads prevent damage to the plane's skin and bulkheads. Counterweights at the top help balance it. Dummy sections with holes permitting debris to fall out during rotation replace the jet's doors and panels. Fiberglass liners in the pilot's compartment protect the canopy, windshield and instrument panel from possible damage by falling objects.

Metal scrap vacuumed from the fuselage after rotation is analyzed to determine the source, and steps are taken to minimize the chances for it to accumulate as other planes are built.

Chance Vought says the operation nevertheless will be continued to make sure that any debris accumulating during assembly is removed from spots often inaccessible or difficult to reach with vacuum cleaners.

Teen-Agers Urge Ban On Autos

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Teen-agers advice to parents: "Don't let teen-agers have cars until they can buy them with their own money."

It came today from students at Stockton College and Slag High School. It's one suggestion made in a poll conducted by the junior college public relations class after Thomas Callahan, a student, was killed in an automobile accident May 10.

Other recommendations for traffic safety: Suspend first offender's license for 30 days. Learn where teen-agers get liquor and cut off the supply. Enforce curfew laws. Give each traffic violator a day in jail at hard labor.

Would You Pay $350 For An Old Hoopie?

NEW YORK (AP) — How many people do you think would like to buy a 1919 model-T Ford coupe in good condition for $350?

The Dry Dock Savings Bank offered just such a deal the other day, as part of an attention-getting advertising program featuring unusual things to buy.

A newspaper advertisement pictured the car and said: "If you want a car with plenty of headroom and lots of nostalgia, here she is. A postwar model—World War I that is—she was born in 1919 and is still in good running condition. Electric starter — or crank it by hand if you insist."

The bank got 50 quick phone calls and letters, not only from this area but from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. The inquiries are still coming in.

Only about half the inquiries were from people with car hobbies. The others just saw the ad and got to thinking what fun it would be.

Miss Sally Dominick, who handles the bank's ad program, makes arrangements with people who have unusual things to sell, checking carefully to make sure they are bargains in their way and of top quality.

When people see the ads and inquire, they are mailed circulars giving all details so that direct contact may be made with the sellers.

The ads have featured such things as $300 ship models, $995 telescopes, fencing lessons and Mexican burros for $85 each. Most popular items so far were the telescopes and burros. Now about that 1919 Ford again. Just so prospective customers would have a better chance at a car, Miss Dominick listed on her fact sheet a 1913 Ford touring car and a 1915 Ford pickup truck restored as a hobby by a real estate man. He was willing to sell for $1,000 and $750, respectively. What happened? The fellow with the touring car and pickup changed his mind. Instead, he rushed out with a $350 check and snapped up the coupe. HERALD WANT ADS GET RESULTS

Rival Cuts Down Student, Girl, Fails In Suicide Try

ALBION, Neb. — An honor student and the daughter of a prominent farm family died in a burst of gunfire last night from the rifle of a rival for the girl's attention.

The shots that shocked this town of 2,132 population were fired by Kermit Keeshan, 17. His father William is a former county attorney and mayor in Albion. Keeshan tried to kill himself with a bullet in the head after he killed Jerry Sherwood, 18, and Diane Zaruba, 17. He is expected to recover.

Young Sherwood, whose father Lynn is a former school board president, was killed at the rooming house where Diane stayed while in school.

Diane was slain despite the bravery of housewife Mrs. Frank Svoboda, who said she didn't have time to get scared as she tried to keep Keshan from Diane.

Deputy County Atty. Ray Medlin Sr. said Keeshan, carrying a .22 rifle, found Jerry with Diane.

Apparently there was a struggle between the boys and then a shot that hit Jerry in the heart. Diane ran screaming from the house toward the Svoboda backyard, where Mrs. Svoboda was working.

A shot hit the running girl in the leg but she hobbled onward to the side of Mrs. Svoboda, who waved her on to the Svoboda back door.

Mrs. Svoboda stood quietly as Keeshan raced up, then, when he came to a halt, slapped him hard in the face. He dropped his gun. The housewife turned, walked to her back door and stood guard in front of Diane.

But Keeshan picked up his gun. He advanced and fired again at Diane, who was crouched behind Mrs. Svoboda. The shot hit her in the chest.

Keeshan then turned and walked back to the room where Sherwood had died. There he tried to kill himself.

Lynn Sherwood, whose term as school board president expired last week, was scheduled to be the high school commencement speaker tonight when he would have given his son his diploma.

Plane Crash Kills 2 Oilfield Workers

Rigid Control New Approach At Boys School

GATESVILLE, Tex. — More emphasis on rigid control and less reliance on psychology is the new approach at the Gatesville State Training School for Boys, a study made by the Houston Chronicle disclosed.

In a series by Bo Byers, the Chronicle said that the shift in philosophy from psychology and psychiatry to rigid control coincided with the departure of Dr. Herman Sapier as superintendent and the arrival of Oliver Perry as dean of boys. Perry became dean in February and then advanced the superintendent April 7 after Sapier left.

Byers said the change in administration has meant the concentration of disciplinary decisions in Perry, the use of "lock up" in the maximum security building for a wider variety of reasons than during Sapier's administration, restriction of the chaplain's visits with the boys in maximum security, and less resort to off-campus psychiatric service in evaluating behavior and mental condition of disturbed boys.

W. D. Willie, supervisor of one of the halls at the school, said "I think the hiring of Perry was one of the wisest decisions they could have made."

Byers said, however, case workers were doubtful that Perry's background of training or experience as an educator in rural schools for 30 years qualifies him to run a training school.

Several sources reported, Byers said, that punitive measures against the boys are more prevalent now than during Sapier's administration. Sapier had a reputation for dismissing any attendant who struck a boy without definite provocation.

Heart Danger In Strenuous Exercise

ST. LOUIS — If you're an average American, don't jump into strenuous summer activities with too much zeal. Your heart can't take it.

That is the advice given by Dr. Simon Dack, New York City, editor of the American Journal of Cardiology. He was here to attend the annual convention of the American College of Cardiology—a group of heart specialists. The doctor said most Americans lead a sedentary life during the winter, then tend to start charging across the golf course, furiously spading the garden or leaping about on tennis courts as soon as summer arrives.

Algerian French Optimistic But Confusion Clouds Future

By DAVID MASON
ALGIERS — Optimism as intense as the brilliant Mediterranean sunshine is sweeping through the streets of Algiers. "Algeria is saving France," acclaim splashy posters along the palm-lined avenues.

The desperate slogans of the 3½-year fight against Arab nationalists—"Algeria must remain French"—are virtually lost in the flood of events since the stunning defiance of Paris here nine days ago.

The quick success of the bid for power by disgruntled generals and French settlers has given their leaders a heady sense of mission: to shock France into wiping out its bickering, blundering political system and again make the nation a vigorous world power.

Long-time students of the complex Algerian question find it difficult to see where it all will end. Confusion heaped upon paradox obscures the immediate future.

Some pressing questions have emerged from what is now being called "the Revolution of May 13." That was the day civilians rioted against the possibility that new Premier Pierre Pflimlin might seek negotiations to end the Algerian war. The riots led to establishment of military-civilian juntas throughout Algeria which seized governmental authority in defiance of Paris.

The questions are:

1. If Algiers cannot force political changes on Paris, will Algeria secede from France? The answer appears to be no. One big reason is the territory's strong economic dependence on the homeland. Another is the close personal and cultural ties between Algeria and France. And for another thing the bulk of France's conscript army in Algeria probably would mutiny before it would fight to protect an independent Algeria.

2. What has happened to the Arab rebellion? The Algiers Committee of Public Safety, which is running the show in the capital, claims fighting has virtually stopped and the rebels are rallying to it. Independent information seems to confirm at least the first part of this. A high-ranking officer in a hot spot of eastern Algeria said rebel troops are retiring into the interior.

ior, apparently to await new orders.

3. What about the startling and apparently spontaneous show of unity between Arabs and French which has occurred since May 13?

REBELS HOLD OUT

(A Geneva newspaper quoted rebel leader Ferhat Abbas as denouncing the committee, calling it a maneuver of right-wing extremists. Abbas said the rebel National Liberation Front—the chief fighters against the French in Algeria—would never accept negotiations with any authority other than the "legal and legitimate government of France.")

Hundreds of Arabs have been turning up for the nightly speeches by junta leaders in downtown Algiers. No one appears to know why—not even the Arabs themselves. They obviously have been caught up in the general excitement which has electrified the population.

Some Europeans explain the Arab participation this way: "They finally see the French are here to stay, that French policy finally is consistent and strong. Now they know we mean business and they want to join us."

Perhaps there is a good measure of wishful thinking in such an analysis. It is too early to say how much truth it contains.

There are several other uncertainties in the general picture. No one knows for sure the position of Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in chief and provisional dictator of Algeria. Pflimlin professes faith in him although the general has given no public indication that he supports the government in Paris.

For another thing, the insurgents have yet to establish their all-Algeria committee, a sort of quasigovernment, although it has been in the talking stage for days. This raises the possibility that enthusiasm may be stronger in Algiers than elsewhere in the territory.

Nixon Lauds Grass Roots

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon says American Diplomats in Latin America should get away from the white-tie circuit and talk more with persons at the grass roots level.

He mentioned students, labor leaders and press groups which he described as "the wave of the future" in Latin America.

In giving his views yesterday on what can be done to improve U.S. relations with other nations in the Western Hemisphere, Nixon said Communist influences were only partly responsible for the mob violence directed at him during his recent tour of South America. He said the demonstrations stemmed also from economic troubles and a belief among some Latin Americans that the United States supported dictators.

Speaking at a National Press Club luncheon, Nixon said he found that American policies had not been adequately presented. And he suggested that U.S. diplomats work more closely with private enterprise in Latin America to convince the people there that American policy is not aimed at making "the rich richer and the poor poorer."

TIMES HAVE REALLY CHANGED

It use to be that a SERVICE STATION was the place to go if you wanted your car serviced and felt confident that a particular establishment could, and would do this service without you looking over his shoulder!

Now-a-days it seems as if people trade with those who give their favorite SAVING STAMP, the biggest discount or some other GIMMICK to solicit trade.

It's very hard to build a business on just good service now-a-days!

Folks, I'm just a poor boy and can't afford stamps, and I have no gimmicks! The only thing I have plenty of is ELBOW
GREASE and I'm willing to give all that away I can!

So starting Friday the 23rd at SOVOY'S PHILLIPS 66 SERVICE STATION, 1901 Gregg, you will receive with every grease and oil change . . . A free wheel balance on the two front wheels of your car, or a free brake adjustment, whichever you prefer.
This is a savings between 2 and 4 dollars for you!

THIS IS NOT PADDING ANYONE'S POCKET BUT YOURS,
MR. CUSTOMER . . .

There Is No Middle Man Involved!
Thank You! Come By And See Us!

Resting Place Of Heroes Decaying

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The body of Andrew Jackson Houston, son of Sam Houston, lies in a once stately but now broken-down mausoleum on a Virginia hilltop just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

The large gray granite stone building, resting place for such other notables as Supreme Court Justice George Sutherland, is under padlock now to reduce the toll of vandals. Some of its windows are broken. The roof leaks and water stands on its white marble corridor floors after rains. Weeds abound on a once landscaped lawn.

Opened in 1924 as a private business venture, the Abbey Mausoleum for years was a symbol of quiet beauty and dignity and its lofty site adjacent to Arlington National Cemetery. It was still so regarded when former Texas Sen. Andrew Jackson Houston died on June 26, 1941.

Six months later World War II had started. Marine Corps barracks were built in the area and the mausoleum was virtually cut off from public view and access. Since then it has deteriorated steadily. Few additional interments have been made, and in recent months a number of bodies have been disinterred and moved elsewhere. A trust fund designed to provide perpetual care proved inadequate and families of many of those interred there are trying to work out some kind of reorganization.

Not far away Paul E. Sullivan operates a memorial stone company. For years he was engaged to carve the names and dates on the faces of the white marble crypts. As business dropped off, with only some 300 of the 500 crypts sold, Sullivan was asked to handle the interments.

"Now the place has gone to pot," he commented, taking the padlock off the huge iron grill doors to show what is happening.

Strolling a few feet inside the cold, silent, vaulted ceiling chamber, Sullivan pointed to a closed crypt at the base of a tall tier of such cubicles and said:

"Houston's body is there."

The face of the crypt was blank. Only a chart identifying ownership of the crypts by location could identify the body within. When Houston died his survivors apparently meant eventually to have his body returned to Texas, for the crypt was used on a rental basis. Something over a year ago a title to it was sent to the survivors, according to a Washington undertaker who handled the matter.

Sullivan said he was in San Antonio a year ago visiting a son who is an Army doctor and was then stationed at Ft. Sam Houston.

"When I visited the Alamo," he added, "I wondered why Texans didn't see if they could have the old senator's body brought back home. After all, he was a son of the famed Sam Houston and was also a notable man in his own right."

Born at Independence, Washington County, on June 21, 1854, and named after the one-time president who was a close friend of his father, Houston was appointed to the Senate on San Jacinto Day, April 21, 1941, by the then Texas Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. He filled a vacancy created by the death of Morris Sheppard, Houston himself died two months and five days later, less than a week after his 87th birthday.

and discharged honorably in 1873 because of physical disability. Houston practiced law in Texas for many years. He was a colonel in the Texas National Guard and later U. S. marshal for the eastern district of Texas. He was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Texas on the Prohibition Party ticket in 1910 and 1912. He called La Porte home in his latter years. His survivors included two daughters.

British Papers Are Puzzled By Denial Of Rumor

LONDON (AP)—A Buckingham Palace denial of another report that Princess Margaret will get engaged to Peter Townsend after all puzzled British newspapers today.

The press wondered why the palace had bothered to deny the report published in a Geneva paper from its London correspondent. The report followed a dinner meeting of Group Capt. Townsend and the 27-year-old princess, who announced in 1955 she wouldn't marry him because he is divorced.

The palace explained it issued the denial because the report was picked up by a British news agency and distributed throughout the world which tended to lend the report authority.

Feathers Mean A Ticklish Situation

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicken feathers have Jack Mintz in an extremely ticklish situation.

Mintz, a live poultry dealer in Brooklyn, got two summonses in five minutes Wednesday. Caught in the swirl of the city anti-litter drive, he was accused of littering the sidewalk in front of his shop — with chicken feathers.

Mintz pointed out that chickens, crated for market, can't be too cooped up on a truck. So what happens? The wind blows, and feathers fly all over the street.

That's all very true, agreed Special Patrolman William Wilkening, but how about that thick accumulation of feathers in the bottom of Mintz's truck? Wilkening advised Mintz to clean his truck, and the coops inside his shop, after every trip.

Mintz said that was impossible; he'd have to move to much larger quarters. Fowl play or no, he still has the summonses.

Punctuality Is Rule For Herald Carrier

Alvin Johnke, one of the Herald's carriers is as punctual with his schooling as with his paper route.

Recently he received a certificate from Tom Ernest, junior high principal, for not having been late or tardy during the school year.

This was relatively old stuff for Alvin. For seven years he has achieved such a record. In fact, he hasn't been late for his classes a single day since he was in the first grade.

Fortunately his health has been good, nothing worse than an occasional cold.

Beyond that, however, he has made his own circumstance of being on time by the simple process of getting started in plenty of time. He arises each day between 6:30 a.m. and 7 a.m., and by 7:45 a.m. at the latest he is on his way to school. That gives him plenty of time to walk from the family home at 110 NE 12th to junior high.

Every afternoon following school, he goes to the Herald and gets his papers (around 140 of them). Conditioned to walking, he gets around his route No. 5 (which is between NE 8th and NE 12th and Benton and Scurry) in short order.

Alvin sets Friday evening up as his regular collection time and rarely varies from this. That leaves him with Saturday for other purposes. By 6 a.m. Sunday he is back at the Herald to get his papers.

In junior high Alvin averages out at the B level in his studies. He attends the Methodist services. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnke.

Area Methodists Report Big Gain In Membership

Membership in the Methodist churches of the Big Spring district has increased 1,609 in the church year from June 1957 through June 1958, H. Clyde Smith, district superintendent, said today.

This represents a slight increase over the preceding year.

Total membership of the 38 Methodist Churches in the 11 West Texas counties which comprise the Big Spring district is 13,769.

Mr. Smith said the value of the church properties in the district is $3,871,550. During the church year the total money raised for all purposes by the churches was $891,809 — which Mr. Smith described as most gratifying.

He said that the per capita giving of the members for the year was $65 which is extremely high.

The superintendent said the additions to the church noted in the district included 421 by profession of faith, 1,070 by transfer from another district and 115 members who were formerly of another denomination.

There are 30 WSCS organizations in the district with an enrollment of 1,609 women as members.

There are 15 Methodist Men's Clubs in the district. Membership is 994.

The year, Mr. Smith said, has been a most successful one for the district.

He is attending the Northwest Texas Church Cabinet meeting in Abilene which opens tonight and extends through the remainder of the week. After the meeting in Abilene, the members of the cabinet go to Lubbock for annual conference which convenes on Tuesday.

Appointment of pastors will be one function of this conference which will be presided over by Bishop William C. Martin, Dallas.

Smith said two Big Spring ministers are to be retired this year.

They are the Rev. H. W. Gaston, Park Church and the Rev. C. W. Parmenter, Wesley Methodist Church.

Lots Of 3-Cent Stamps To Be Disposed Of, Boatler Reports

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, has checked over his supply of three cent stamps and feels he has more than enough to last until Aug. 1.

He will be chary about ordering any new supplies of this denomination in the interval. At the present time it seems highly probable that the postage rate on first class mail will go to four cents on that date. He plans to dispose of as many of his current supply of 170,000 three-centers as possible before Aug. 1.

There are several commemorative 3-cent stamps due to be issued between this date and Aug. 1 and Boatler said he would order supplies of these as they appear. The post office makes its policy to stock the commemoratives as a courtesy to the numerous philatelists of the community.

Boatler said he had a sizable stock of 2-cent stamps and ample supplies of 1-cent issues.

He anticipates that the postal department will either print additional supplies of the current standard 4-cent issue or, perhaps, issue a special new stamp when the postal rates are boosted.

Another problem, he said, deals with the stamp vending machines which are in service. These machines and Boatler said he would order stamps. Coils of the 4-cent stamps are not now available. The machines will have to be re-rigged to handle the new stamp.

Two-cent stamps are not usually in great demand except during the Christmas season when they are used in great numbers on greeting cards. With the new postal increase in prospect and if the supply of 4-cent stamps should be short, there will be a brisk use of two centers in pairs, he said. Three cent issues plus a one-center will also be an easy combination.

Airmail is supposed to go to seven cents if the new rates are adopted. Current air mail stamps are in 6-cent denomination. A combination of one of these with a regular 1-cent stamp will probably be the first solution. Later, the postmaster believes, the postal department will come out with a new 7-cent airmail.

Dieting? Check Your Calorie - Counting IQ

Many a diet has been doomed to failure by a mistaken count of calories. If you're trying to lose weight, try this quiz from the May issue of a well known magazine. You may find out why you haven't been slimming down at quite the rate you expected. Answers below.

1. In the pairs of foods below, which has fewer calories?
Cream cheese or cottage cheese
Fried egg or soft-cooked egg
Chopped round steak or ham
Roast chicken or roast duck
Asparagus or sweet potato
Baked beans or water cress
Green beans or lima beans
Corn or tomato
Beef broth or cream of chicken soup
Beef noodle or cream of mushroom soup
Clear tomato or cream of asparagus soup

2. Mark each of the following true or false:
A. Potatoes are twice as fattening as oranges.
B. You can't use seasonings when trying to lose weight.
C. Everyone should drink milk, even dieters.
D. You can eat all the fruit you want to without gaining weight.
E. All salads are slimming.
3. You are eating out and are on a diet. Pick the two desserts with the least calories from this menu:
Strawberry shortcake with whipped cream, cherry pie, lemon gelatin, honeydew melon, baked

To Combat The 'Battle Of The Bulge'

Worried about how you are going to look in that bathing suit? If you have let the pounds creep on, it would be well to begin adjusting to a slimming diet.

Fad diets are dangerous to many people and no severe dieting should be undertaken without the counsel of a physician. Certain food elements are essential to the body, however, and Texas Beef Council has found that a diet built largely on lean beef, vegetables and fruit is effective. It will not only contribute to the health of any normally active person but will also assist in maintaining suitable weight levels. Note this comparison: One-fourth pound of round steak contains about 194 calories; a three-inch square of chocolate cake with icing boasts more than 400 calories. Think it over!

And remember that beef offers protein, B vitamins and niacin.

OUR HERO BOY, JUMBO SANDWICH

Congeaed Salads Come To The Fore In Summer

With the advent of hot weather, gelatin salads always experience an upsurge in popularity.

Here are two recipes which are a little different from the usual congealed salad. The Chicken Jellied Salad is almost a meal in itself.

- GREEN OLIVE SALAD
- 1 pkg. lime-flavored gelatin
  - 1/4 tsp. salt
  - 1 cup hot water
  - 1 cup cold water
  - 3 tbsps. vinegar
  - 1/4 cup sliced stuffed olives
  - 1/2 cup sliced sweet pickle
- Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot water. Add cold water and vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in olives and pickles. Pour into molds.
Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serve as relish with roast or other meat. Makes 6 molds.

- CHICKEN JELLIED SALAD
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
  - 2 1/2 cups chicken stock, bouillon or consommé
  - 1 cup cooked peas
  - 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
  - 2 cups diced, cooked, boned chicken
  - 1 cup diced celery
  - 1 cup chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles
  - 2 tbsps. chili sauce or catsup
  - 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
  - Freshly ground pepper
- Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup cold chicken stock for 5 minutes. In a saucepan, heat remaining chicken stock. Remove from heat and stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Chill until syrupy. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into 6 or 8 oiled individual molds. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold and serve with mayonnaise. Garnish with pickle slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mammoth Sandwich Is Sure Hit At Parties

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
A mammoth-size sandwich has been getting around under a lot of aliases. Call it a hero, jawbreaker, grinder, submarine, wedgie, poor boy, hoagy, dagwood, zep, gondola, torpedo, gismo or big sandwich.

It all depends on where you live. But one thing is certain, this sandwich is made from an individual loaf of French or Italian bread—white or whole wheat—or a long loaf of the same, cut into shorter lengths.

Its filling is something out of this world—a mountain of savory foods to dream about. Ham, salami, bologna, are some of the meats that may be piled on top of each other, layer on layer. Next comes cheese. Then vegetables—green peppers (raw or roasted), pimiento, raw onion, tomato, lettuce. Olives and pickles give everything extra savor. No law says you have to include all these; that's the best part of these structures—you can choose your favorites for the filling.

For an easy-give party, all you have to do is provide plenty of fillings and let everyone make his own sandwich. You can use individual loaves of Italian or French bread, or the long loaves cut into shorter lengths (for delicate eaters) or the individual brown-and-serve loaves of French bread available in many grocery markets.

You can also serve another type of mammoth sandwich, one we call a hero-boy, made of scrambled eggs and green peppers. Ever since we met up with this combination, sold over the counter to take out, at a fascinating foreign food shop in New York's East 20's, we've been addicted to it. We're not saying the following version is exactly like the original, but it's mighty good eating.

OUR HERO BOY
Ingredients: Two and one-half tablespoons olive oil, 1 medium-sized onion cut into thin strips, 1 large green pepper (cut into thin strips), 4 eggs, 1 tablespoon water, 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, two 6-inch lengths of French or Italian bread.
Method: Cook gently the olive oil, onion, green pepper in 8-inch skillet, covered, until tender—about 20 minutes. Beat eggs, water, cheese, salt and butter together lightly. Add to pepper mixture and cook as you would scrambled eggs.
Serve at once between hot (lightly buttered if desired) lengths of crusty bread. Makes 2 servings.

'Becky' Pace Is One Bride-To-Be Who Is A Wizard In The Kitchen

Sydney Elizabeth Pace will be one bride who won't have to learn how to cook. She has been doing it since childhood and her interest in it led her to major in home economics at Texas Technological College.

A BS degree in the field equipped her for teaching foods in Littlefield High School for three years before coming to Big Spring in August, 1954 to become Howard County Home Demonstration Agent. It's a post she is giving up to become the bride of Sgt. Winston Hall, U. S. Marine Corps, on May 31.

Meat cookery and yeast breads are her specialties, which has worked out fine at the apartment at 1500-B Wood. Miss Pace's roommate, Peggy Brasher, is another home economics graduate, but her specialty is desserts. It is from her that Miss Pace acquired the recipe for a unique apple pie which is included here. It will doubtless prove an old reliable to both of them, for Miss Brasher is herself bound for the matrimonial altar in July.

Following her marriage, Miss Pace will be setting up housekeeping in El Paso until August. Then they will be transferred to Twenty-Nine Palms, California. It is there that she will be introduced to fresh fish cookery, an innovation for her. And she is also looking forward to having an abundance of fresh fruit to do things with in the kitchen.

Banana Nut Bread or some other type of fancy bread is almost a staple item to her, to serve with coffee to guests. It has been her custom every Christmas to make up quantities of these goodies as gifts; her five brothers-in-law are her most appreciative recipients. Prepared mixes get her nod for their time-saving advantage. She has used them often, and finds various ways of enriching them. Informal entertaining is something she enjoys; her advice to party-givers is to provide a variety of refreshments—don't make everything sweet. A different sort of party dainty she suggests is the sausage-stuffed prune recipe shared here.

Known throughout the county simply as "Becky", the soft-spoken brunette has effectively coordinated the home demonstration program here and promoted better practices in home economics. Demonstrations by the hundreds she has given in her work with the nine HD clubs of the county and the 4-H clubs.

When she launches her career as homemaker, these recipes will be tucked in her cookbook as old faithfuls. Try them:

- SAUSAGE-STUFFED PRUNES
- 1/2 lb. large prunes
  - 1/2 lb. sausage meat
  - 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
  - Salt, pepper, poultry seasoning
- Cook prunes in water to cover until tender but not soft. Remove pits, fill generously with sausage mixed with crumbs and seasonings. Bake in lightly greased pan in hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes or until sausage is well browned.
- Serve with sauce made with 1 tbsps. fat from pan, 1 tbsps. flour, 1 cup prune juice, 1 tbsps. lemon juice, 1 tsp. grated lemon rind and salt to taste.
- May be served as refreshment, main dish, or as a garnish on platter with roast turkey.

- COUNTRY APPLE PIE
- 5 apples
  - 3/4 cup cream or chilled can milk
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - 1/4 tsp. salt
  - 1 Tbsp. sugar
  - 1 tsp. cinnamon
- Pare apples, slice them and place in pie shell. Partially beat the cream or canned milk. Mix together 1 cup sugar, the flour and salt. Add to whipped cream and

Stuff Peaches With Cottage Cheese

Canned peaches form the backbone of a variety of salads, and make an ideal foil for cottage cheese. Try this variation:

- STUFFED PEACHES
- Ingredients: One bunch watercress, 1/2 cup small-curd cream-style cottage cheese, 6 drained canned peaches, 12 pecan halves, French dressing.
- Method: Cut stems of watercress fairly short; turn into a colander; rinse with cold water; drain. Arrange on serving plate. Put 1 tablespoon of the cottage cheese into each peach cavity; place a pecan half on top of cheese; add another tablespoon of cheese; top with another pecan half. Arrange stuffed peaches on watercress. Makes 6 servings.
- Note: The peaches may be spiced and used in this recipe.

pour over apples. Mix 1 tbsps. sugar and the cinnamon and sprinkle over the top of pie. Bake for one hour at 350 degrees.

- SALAD
- 1 head romaine lettuce
  - 1/2 head lettuce
  - 1 can bean sprouts
  - 4 oz. can button mushrooms
  - 1 can bamboo shoots
  - 1 can ripe olives, sliced
  - 3 tomatoes
  - 1 bell pepper
  - 1 bunch radishes
  - 1 can water chestnuts
- Mix together and top with dressing just before serving. Dressing is made by combining 1/4 cup prepared mustard with 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, adding salt and pepper to taste.

- BANANA NUT LOAF
- 3/3 cup sugar
  - 1-3 cup soft shortening
  - 2 eggs

Good Kitchen Gadget

A swivel-blade vegetable peeler is an inexpensive and wonderfully handy kitchen aid. Use it to cut flat lengthwise slices from carrots for "curis"; to remove the fibrous outer covering from broccoli and asparagus stalks; to make "curis" from room-temperature chocolate for a pie or cake garnish; and to make petals from Brazil nuts that have been covered with boiling water for five minutes and drained.

Danish New Potatoes

Ever prepare small new boiled potatoes the Danish way? Just heat in a skillet with a little butter and sugar.

- 1 tsp. salt
  - 1/4 tsp. pepper
  - 1 tbsps. fat
  - 12 slices cheese
  - 1/4 cup milk
  - 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
  - 1/4 cup sliced pimiento olives
  - Rusks or buttered toast
  - Chopped chives or parsley
  - Combine hamburger, onion, egg, salt and pepper. Shape into 12 balls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter.
- Brown the balls in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Make cheese sauce by heating the cheese and milk together in a saucepan or double boiler, until cheese is melted. Add Worcestershire sauce and olives. Arrange 3 meat balls on each rusk. Cover with the hot cheese sauce and sprinkle with chopped chives. Serve hot. Makes four servings.

A Bible Thought For Today

Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. (Mark 11:24)

A Job Well Done

Not long after he had stepped up to the position of superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, Dr. Preston Harrison was singled out for a nine-months period of intensive administrative training at Meninger Foundation. Now, with a wealth of new experience and information in modern techniques, he is to return to the direction of the hospital here. A great horizon of opportunity lies ahead.

No one could be happier than Dr. Harrison on the sound state of operation to which he returns. To Dr. William V. Horbaly, who has been superintendent during Dr. Harrison's absence, is due great credit.

The board for state hospitals and special schools wisely named him superintendent—not acting or interim superintendent—during Dr. Harrison's absence. This placed within Dr. Horbaly's hands all the necessary tools for positive action.

It would have been all too easy, despite the title of superintendent, to have regarded his responsibility as one of holding the line, or of deferred decisions pending the return of his predecessor. Dr. Horbaly followed no such course. He embarked upon, and has continued to pursue, a course of vigorous, enlightened and straightforward administration. He has given further encouragement and support in such a way as to nourish the exemplary spirit of helpfulness among volunteer workers.

Dr. Horbaly did not bury his talents in the sand; on the contrary, like the good and faithful servant, he multiplied them. He deserves the thanks of the community, area and state.

How A Genius Is Made

In Carnegie Hall, New York, Monday evening a music-wise, normally ennuied crowd of sophisticates warmed their palms, exercised their voice boxes and for all we know stomped their feet when an elongated Texas kid from Kilgore sat down at the piano.

Afterward, the music critics sat down at their typewriters and gave a final accolade. Magnificent. Truly a great musician. A pianist in the grandest tradition.

So that extraordinary performance in Moscow that won the medal was no flash in the pan. The demonstrations of admiration and acclaim in Moscow was not a slick Communist trick to cozen American goodwill for propaganda purposes.

The kid really had it. Plenty. In his own right.

Edison said genius is 10 per cent talent and 90 per cent sweat. Our American kids who dream of being another Van Cliburn or Tom Edison or Albert Einstein should take that saying to heart.

The young man from Kilgore himself exemplifies its truth. He learned the notes of piano at three. Twenty years of tireless effort and devotion went into the making of his career—a tophlight pianist at 23.

He regularly practices nine hours out of every 24. To prepare for his Moscow debut he shut himself in his tiny New York apartment for a solid month, lived on crackers and milk, and pounded the piano, playing the numbers to be used in Moscow over and over and over again.

Practice makes perfect.

Success demands sacrifices, devotion to the task, the surmounting of obstacles, a single-minded, unswerving attention to whatever one hopes to do as well as or better than anyone else. And, of course, multiplied nine times by blood, sweat and some talent; but even a talent must be tears to become genius.

Crisis Behind The Gaily Of Paris

PARIS—Only a great novelist or a master historian at the height of his powers could do full justice to Paris at this moment when so much for the future of France and the West hangs in the balance.

The surface has the same rich, elegant look that is uniquely Parisian and that may even be enhanced by the threat of disaster in the air. After a long, cold, wet delay, spring has at last come and everything in those sentimental songs about Paris in the springtime—if one looks only at the surface—seems to be true.

The broad sidewalks along the Avenue Champs Elysees that sweeps so magnificently up to the Arc de Triomphe are crowded with strollers who move leisurely in the sun. They accept as a kind of spectacle the security police and gendarmes who mass along the avenue and around the arc, where the eternal flame to France's Unknown Soldier is burning, at any intimation that a demonstration may be held. The sidewalk cafes are so crowded that it is difficult to find a table at noon or in the early evening.

In the Place Vendome, the jewelers' windows are full of diamond necklaces and bracelets glittering like icicles. Emeralds, rubies, star sapphires—everything is here for a price—and it is a very high price.

It is difficult or impossible to get a table at the Lido or any of the big night clubs where Scotch is $5 a drink. The lavish floor show that goes on for two and a half hours includes everything from a strip tease on ice to the familiar acrobatic dancers, with a continuous parade of nudity in between.

The luxury hotels are filled to capacity, one reason being perhaps that high Paris prices, which in recent years kept some tourists away, are now matched almost everywhere else in Europe. As one hotel manager put it, "All I am praying for today is five cancellations. If I don't get them, I don't know what I'm going to do."

The sensational British press has run absurd stories. The Daily Mirror, with its five million circulation, splashed across the front page, "Flight From Paris," reporting a mass exodus. It was, of course, that of pleasure-bent week-enders jamming the highways out of Paris.

In all this there may be an edge of "after me the deluge." But it is not obvious in a scene that is so abnormally normal—a city, an extraordinary society.

that is sitting for its portrait dressed to the nines and with a smile as natural as though it were certain there was nothing ahead but summer and a long holiday at the seaside.

Just below the surface the changes are beginning to occur, and even if France escapes disaster, they are bound to come faster and faster. The tough new Minister of the Interior, Jules Moch, has clamped a number of restrictions under the emergency powers granted by Parliament.

No Frenchman can leave France without a special police permit. This is a little late, since Jacques Soustelle and other De Gaulles and violent anti-government men have already escaped to Algiers, where they have joined the secessionists. Newspapers are subject to censorship. Individuals may be arrested and held without trial, and a number of arrests have been made in Paris and elsewhere.

But these changes are as nothing compared to those which must come in the economic field if the government—any government, whether headed by General Charles de Gaulle or the Cabinet combination under Premier Pierre Pflimlin—is to face up to the war against the Moslem rebels in Algeria and what this means to France's fiscal position.

Specifically, the Cabinet pledged an additional $190 million for the military budget. This must mean higher taxes and without stringent controls—perhaps rationing—it must mean higher prices.

Already the prices of things that all householders must buy are beginning to climb, and the value of the franc in relation to gold is beginning to drop. To check an impending fiscal hemorrhage, De Gaulle, if he were to come to power, would have to take measures that no government in recent years has been strong enough to take.

Behind the brilliant facade a swift deterioration has set in. If a showdown with the military which could topple the Fourth Republic is averted, the Pflimlin government will face the necessity for measures so unpopular that a second testing time may come very quickly.

That is what lies behind the pleasantries of Paris this spring.

(1958, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Despite a forecast of more than $3 billion deficit this fiscal year and even larger ones ahead, Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, who spoke before a University of Texas Law Day audience recently, insists that we are headed not for a depression, but for new horizons of progress.

Anderson, a native Texan, former Democrat and now one of the President's chief mainstays is not permitting any day-to-day slump to darken his long-range view of the economy.

Also, he is not jumping at any quick, off-the-cuff, solution of the recession, which he expects to reverse itself because of the real native strength of the American economy.

Anderson opposes a tax cut as a quick remedy. He does not believe that it could assure business recovery for the simple reason that it would be at the sacrifice of federal revenues which would make the cost greater than the benefits received.

The after-effect of a tax cut, he believes, could set up conditions which instead of coping with the recession could prolong it.

Secretary Anderson is a counselor of patience. If artificially over-stimulated, we can grow and sow the seeds of another and worse situation than the one at present.

James Marlow
No Nixon-Dulles Fight Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon steps right into Secretary of State Dulles' back yard and calls for a reappraisal of American policy toward Latin America. Dulles has not admitted a single error in handling Latin Americans.

Does this look like the beginning of a head-ramping contest between the two men? It's not likely. Nothing Nixon has publicly proposed so far, or is expected to propose, goes much beyond generalities.

Since both men are key members of the Eisenhower administration—and haven't locked horns since they took office in 1953—there's no reason to expect conflict now.

Nixon, the most likely Republican presidential candidate in 1960, will hardly do anything to split the party or hand the Democrats bricks for free. And Dulles has enough troubles all around the world without taking on Nixon.

The vice president, home after facing mob violence in Peru and Venezuela and hostile demonstrations almost everywhere he went in Latin America, talked to a National Press Club luncheon Wednesday.

He took a poke at the diplomats who work for Dulles' State Department—but this was far from a poke at Dulles—by saying it's high time the diplomats in Latin America pay more attention to labor leaders, students and newspapermen there.

He jibed at them for spending too much time and attention on the cocktail and white tie dinner circuits.

While Dulles brushed aside at his Tuesday news conference any idea that there is broad anti-Americanism in Latin America, Nixon did say it would be a great mistake to attribute to the Communists all the troubles he encountered.

He pointed out such causes of Latin-American resentment— which he said the Communists exploited—as these: a belief this country has supported dictators, American and a decline in Latin-American exports to this country.

Dulles has acknowledged some economic factors are behind the Latin-American demonstrations. And he talked at length on American policy towards dictators without indicating any change.

It is understood Nixon in a couple of weeks will recommend to President Eisenhower and Dulles some ideas for offsetting Communist influence in Latin America. For instance: a colder attitude towards dictators.

But Nixon himself on his tour created some ill will for this country by stopping off in Paraguay and showing friendship for South America's last remaining dictator, Paraguay's President, Alfredo Stroessner.

Is It Worth The Effort?

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: History can be a record of hysteria. It is unlikely that hysteria will momentarily cause World War III.

The spokesmen of the two major world powers—the United States and the U.S.S.R.—have been making angry noises at each other since the end of their mutual victory at the end of World War II.

Each probably feels himself bigger than he is—each is gnawed by inside as well as outside fears.

Each throws a larger shadow at the moment than either wants to have to live up to by force.

All around the world since the end of World War II people have looked at two men—the bread they have, the bread they want. In civilized as well as uncivilized countries the people have reached toward the bread they want. Their desire is the same. The method of reach varies. Agreement has made fewer headlines than violence. But has it given less bread?

Violence in human relations gives off a great boom in terms of sound. The real test in judging a change, is whether—after the echoes have died—the people who made the change feel it was worth the effort.

Would agreement without violence have cheated their dreams, their children, or themselves? This is the way to weigh war as the reward of going to it worth more than the cost of staying away from it?

In looking over previous civilizations and trying to figure out why they went to war, a Sidel-street Socrates, always asking questions, would have to query: "For this you were afraid?"

"Did you measure your fears? Did you get to war for a purpose or to escape from one boredom to another?"

"Why does peace lack the human cement of unity that war creates?"

I am optimistic enough to feel in my heart and brains and bones that World War III isn't likely within 10 years.

Why?

Because:

1. The tumultuous reach for political liberty by the submerged people of this earth is balanced by the desire of the so-called civilized people for a higher standard of living.
2. At least for another decade the powers that can now precipitate a major conflict have more to gain by landscaping their own laws than they do by trying to tear the other guy's house down. They all know this.

There is a reason under the sun to build, and this is the season. One repairs his roof after the last hurricane, even though there may be another.

I have a poor man's faith that the man in the world's street is as of now more lonesome for improvement than disaster.

They're Serious About 'Smoke Damage'

Now I know what they mean by "smoke damage."

Used to be, I thought the firemen were making some sort of joke, like "saved the lot," when they reported smoke damage from a fire.

But we had a little wastebasket fire the other day. And we got smoke damage. Looks like we're going to have to repaint the entire house in order to eliminate the smoke scars. The further we paint, the worse the rest of the place looks.

Painting, incidentally, isn't one of my hobbies, even though we're trying to do that part of the job ourselves. I'd rather dig holes than paint. Fortunately (for me) I was away from home a couple of days immediately after the fire, so I missed out on most of the soap, brush and elbow grease disbursement.

My faithful mate handled that little chore to perfection, even though it did set her nerves on edge and for some days she eyed me with that hurt, questioning expression, like maybe she thought I should have stayed home and pitched in. So now I'm trying to help out with the painting.

Our five-year-old, who discovered the blaze in time for us to put it out after only a small piece of wall and cabinet was charred, is just dying to get in on the paint act. However, we're seen some of the consequences of his efforts with crayolas, and don't want any more walls finished in that motif, much as I'm willing to turn the task over to someone else.

Perhaps, when the painting's all done, we'll benefit from the fire though. I think it has been a lesson to us. In the future, we're sure to be a little more careful with our fire hazards.

And we'll know to avoid those new, plastic wastebaskets. They burn so hotly—and they make such black, waxy, waterproof smoke.

To Get Rid Of Dandelions, Try Wine

WILD OAT FARM, FLEMINGTON, N. J.—It wouldn't surprise me a mite if motorists out for a Sunday drive confused Wild Oat with Oklahoma or even Fort Knox.

There's a bright golden haze on the meadow, all right, and a glorious, butter-yellow patina to the lawn. Mustard grows and blooms so gloriously in the field that it would take a "private eye" to find the alfalfa planted there last autumn.

As for the lawn, that stretch of velvety greensward is invisible beneath a coverlet of solid gold dandelions. From fence to fence, north, south, east and west over our 12 glowing acres, there is the aura of Sutter's Mill.

Some fussy gardeners, who can't abide a dandelion in the lawn or the perennial border, get rid of dandelions the easy way with these chemical sprays. A new one is advertised in the garden section of the newspapers every Sunday.

But my dandelions are of a sturdier strain, and I am proud of them. They quickly adapted to the new threat and have developed an all round immunity to poisons that would fell an oak. Showing the true American spirit of sink or swim, survive or perish, my dandelions have swum and survived in splendid profusion.

On them, weed killers act as a fertilizer. Indeed, they are like the rabbit that got a whiff of mountain moonshine and spit in the lion's eye.

Bib Stanley, the dairy farmer across the way, tells me that in the days of prohibition, when he made a little dandelion wine to warm the inner man, he got rid of dandelions in his own lawn and in those of the neighbors for miles around.

According to Bib, the wine was brewed from dandelion blossoms. In season (and when is a dandelion not in season save in the dead of winter?), Bib was up early to snip the flower from each and every dandelion in his own lawn and those of the neighbors.

Such was his diligence in gathering the blossoms that nary a flower ever went to seed. Within two years, not a dandelion showed in his own lawn or in those of the neighbors' yards he denuded.

Unfortunately, Bib has stopped such extracurricular activities, and I am not inclined to begin. What a crop! As I survey it, I cannot help but realize that if Secretary of Ezra Taft Benson paid off on dandelions, I could retire.

As for the mustard, I realize now as never before the significance and verity of two passages from the Bible:

"The kingdom of Heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed."

And, "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove."

There is no gainsaying mustard or its seed. But I hear it makes good sillage, and I hope whoever spread this rumor knows whereof he speaks.

As it is, Wild Oat is the accidental victim of a color scheme that would delight a decorator, interior or exterior. The mustard just matches the dandelions, which match the yellow shutters on the white house. And the yellow shutters, in turn, match the butter-cup mail box. The forsythia weeks ago started the procession.

Maybe, after all, nature knows best. I should knock myself out trying to win a decision over mustard and dandelions? Boy, my rocking chair!

The Gallup Poll
Falling U.S. Prestige Seen Over World

PRINCETON, N. J.—Recent outbursts of anti-Americanism occurred against a backdrop of falling U. S. prestige in major cities of the western and neutral bloc nations.

Surveys by the World Gallup Poll on the eve of the trouble in South America, Africa and the Near East show this pattern of opinion around the world:

1. In virtually all of the 11 world opinion centers in the international poll, a significant number of persons said their respect for the United States had decreased recently.
2. In several of the world centers, however—notably New Delhi—this lessening respect is offset somewhat by large proportions who say their opinion of the U. S. has gone up recently.
3. Some of the most vehement criticism of the U. S. was recorded in Paris where, just before the outbreak of the current trouble, the anti-U. S. sentiment outnumbered the pro-U. S. sentiment by 11-to-1.
4. The chief reason for the downturn in sentiment in the French capital was attitude of the American government toward the Algerian nationalists.
5. Generally speaking, persons in the various cities who said their opinion of the U.S. had gone down recently attributed their change in view to some phase of our handling of international affairs—such as our approach to summit conferences or reaction to nuclear disarmament.

Very little criticism was directed at our economic situation and its possible effects on other countries.

The U. S. was praised, on the other hand, for its foreign aid policy.

In all of the 11 world opinion centers, there is a considerable number—ranging from eight out of 10 in Stockholm to one in five in Athens—who say their opinion of the U. S. has not changed recently.

Interviewers for the affiliated World Gallup Polls asked this question of typical citizens in 11 major cities of the world—eight of them in NATO countries: "Has your opinion of the U. S. gone up or down lately?"

The views in each center:

|             | Down | Up | Same | No |
|-------------|------|----|------|----|
| Oslo        | 38   | 11 | 37   | 14 |
| Paris       | 33   | 3  | 55   | 9  |
| London      | 33   | 7  | 41   | 19 |
| Milan-Rome  | 32   | 9  | 39   | 20 |
| Athens      | 30   | 22 | 43   | 3  |
| New Delhi   | 29   | 11 | 21   | 39 |
| West Berlin | 25   | 28 | 22   | 25 |
| Amsterdam   | 22   | 18 | 45   | 15 |
| Copenhagen  | 20   | 11 | 56   | 13 |
| Stockholm   | 17   | 7  | 32   | 44 |
|             | 8    | 2  | 79   | 11 |

The consensus of opinion in the eight NATO centers, based on an average of the results, is as follows:

| Per Cent   |    |
|------------|----|
| Gone up    | 11 |
| Gone down  | 28 |
| The same   | 41 |
| No opinion | 20 |

It should be pointed out that the question asked only if one's opinion had gone up or down and not what their general opinion of the U. S. was.

Although the criticism of the U. S. generally falls into a "foreign policy" category, it often takes the form of a specific interest relating to the country in question—as in the case of Paris and the criticism of the U. S. stand on Algeria.

In Helsinki, for example, interviewers heard criticism of the U. S. handling of the Heikilla case—the deportation from this country of a Finnish-born man for alleged Communist party activities.

In New Delhi, although the U. S. was praised for our foreign aid to that country, it was also criticized for what was thought to be an "anti-India" attitude as regards Pakistan and that country's long standing dispute with India.

In Athens, there was criticism of the U. S. government's attitude on the Cyprus dispute between Greece and Great Britain.

Art Gallery Bans German Amateurs

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—The Augsburg city fathers aren't worried about reports that the Dayton, Ohio, museum has refused to hang a collection of German amateur paintings.

"We don't care where they're going to be hung as long as they're exhibited in a decent place," A. Lechelmayer, a city official, said today.

Officials at the Dayton Museum ruled Wednesday that their gallery has an obligation to show the works of professionals only. The canvases are being exchanged under a cultural agreement between the two cities made last year.

Methodists Urge Tightening Of Liquor Laws

DALLAS (AP)—North Texas Methodists urged the Legislature yesterday to tighten state liquor laws and said a return of race horse betting to Texas would mean "moral degradation."

The annual conference of the church asked that local option elections be limited to one within a 12-month period in any county-precinct or municipality.

"The present laws are entirely unfair in that they permit a number of elections. They are so written that they are entirely on the side of the liquor forces, and we make our protest against these unfair laws," said a petition adopted by the conference.

The conference noted what it called a "well organized plan to bring parimutuel betting on horse races to Texas. It said "The very worst gambling elements" and a business loss would follow such a move.

The conference was told by Dr. Chess Lovern, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock, that churches and Christians should be taking the lead in working toward racial integration.

"How long can burning issues wait for Christian solution?" She asked.

"Entertainment, sports and the armed services have already stepped out ahead of us. Schools and churches, who should most likely offer relief from race stigma, are the most segregated."

The Rev. Mr. Lovern said "intermarriage is not our problem. Our problem is the unjustness... the unconcern... and unbrotherliness."

He added that future generations will have to deal with the problem but if "we handle our problem in a Christian manner it will help our children solve their problem in a Christian manner."

Dr. Travis White, president of Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, called for stronger religious leadership in tax-supported colleges.

"The success of Christianity on college campuses stands or falls on the strength of spiritual leadership," Dr. White said.

'YOU CAN'T WIN' Word Code Favorite For Card Cheaters

EDITOR'S NOTE: "You Can't Win at Bridge and Gin Rummy" is a newly published book written by Bill Duvall of Tulsa, Okla., and published by You Can't Win, Inc., of Midland. Fred Turner Jr. is president. The book is an expose of cheating in friendly card games. This is one of a series of articles about the book.

A winner never quits and a sucker never wins, the saying goes. But Bill Duvall is one sucker who strikes back.

Duvall took a 73,000-mile tinhorn's tour of America and came home a little sadder, a lot poorer and infinitely wiser in the way of one of the biggest American pastimes: Cheating your friends at cards.

Duvall's book lays bare the subject of cheating at cards, a smokeless, strikeless industry that may cost Americans one-third the amount of the federal budget in 1958.

The "gold strip" through Oklahoma and Texas, Duvall says, is a happy hunting ground of crooked card players. Some of the worst of citizens, he says, wink at the Golden Rule at the first flash of the pastebards.

All it takes to be an "operator" is a little lump of larceny in your heart.

At bridge and gin rummy, Duvall says, favorite fleecing device is a word or signal code. Sharpers use a common code word and weave them together in sentences to tip their hands to their partners.

Hers is one code Duvall discloses:

- |              |             |
|--------------|-------------|
| SUITS | CODE |
| Diamonds     | Damn        |
| Clubs        | Christ      |
| Hearts       | Heck        |
| Spades       | Shucks      |
| CARDS | CODE |
| King         | Get         |
| Queen        | Hit         |
| Jack         | Throw       |
| Ten          | Man         |
| Nine         | Boy         |
| Eight        | Certainly   |
| Seven        | Bad         |
| Six          | Good        |
| Five         | Fine        |
| Four         | Funny       |
| Three        | These       |
| Two          | Ought       |
| Ace          | Well        |

With a sentence like "Get some points, boy," an operator tells his gin rummy partner he has a pair of kings and a pair of nines.

Or at bridge, one partner says, "Well, shucks, I'm getting all the bad hands,"—and tells his partner he has the ace and king of spades.

The silent finger code is used with little conversation. Some of the better players like a quiet game for the higher stakes.

The silent code is done with the fingers of the right hand. Placing the closed fist on the table and counting from left to right identifies the ace, deuce, Trey, four, five. Turning the closed fist to the right and on edge, from left to right the same finger identifies the six, seven, eight, nine, ten.

To identify the face cards, the hand is in an upright position resting on the elbow. The thumb indicates the king, the first finger the queen, the second finger the jack.

Suits are identified by touching a card in the hand or by raising one of the cards slightly above the other cards in the hand.

By this manner the first card, either touched or raised slightly, indicates spades, the second card

Increase In Texas Business Forecast

LUBBOCK (AP)—A rise in business activity soon with Texas and the Southwest leading the way was forecast today by Frank Langston, business editor of the Dallas Times Herald.

"The economy is like a strong youngster with a little indigestion," he said. "It has had a stomach ache, but it's still strong."

In discussion of the Southwestern business outlook in an address prepared for the Southwest Shippers Advisory Board, Langston said persons generally had overlooked the fact that the agricultural outlook in the southwest this year is exceptionally good.

"But I'd say we can look for agriculture to provide real strength for the Southwest economy in the second half of this year," he said.

Langston noted farm income has been rising since the Southwestern drought was broken last year.

"The outlook is for a wheat crop in Texas about 90 per cent greater than that of last year," he said. "Hay prospects are excellent and we probably will have a big grain sorghum crop. Rice also will be a bigger crop in all probability."

"Given a fair break in the weather for the rest of the season, cotton income should be up about 10 per cent from last year."

Texas Weather Front Is Quiet

By The Associated Press

A little ground fog cluttered up the coast and Houston had a trace of rain during the night for the only action on the Texas weather scene Thursday.

Predawn temperatures varied from 73 at Galveston to 52 at Junction.

More clear to partly cloudy weather was forecast, with a few showers along the coast.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 97 at Presidio to 77 at Brownsville.

Very light rain was reported Wednesday at Lufkin, Beaumont and Brownsville.

Japan 'Exempt' In Nuclear War

TOKYO (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev today declared that Japan would be exempt from nuclear attack in the event of war if there were no American bases on Japanese territory.

A letter from the Soviet Premier to Japan's huge Sohyo, federation of labor unions, was in reply to a query Sohyo handed the Russian Embassy in Tokyo.

Stritch Shows Improvement

ROME (AP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch showed a slight improvement today but still was in serious condition.

"The condition of the cardinal is stationary with a tendency toward improvement," said the chief bulletin from his doctors.

The 70-year-old cardinal Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, suffered a stroke that partially paralyzed him three days ago. He had been recovering from the amputation of his right arm April 28, the result of another blood clot which threatened him with gangrene.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff said the cardinal had rested well during the night and had been able to take a little nourishment. There were no signs of the slight fever he had Wednesday and he was able to receive communion more easily this morning.

His speech still was limited to a whispered yes or no to questions. But Dr. Rocchi said the prelate had passed the initial "pre-occupying" phase of the cerebral thrombosis.

Dr. Rocchi did not explain his terminology but the doctors had indicated earlier they considered the first 48 hours after the stroke—now past—as an especially critical period.

Nuclear Meters

DALLAS (AP)—Meters to measure radioactive fallout were delivered to the Weather Bureau here yesterday. The bureau was the first weather station in the area to receive the equipment.
