'Summer Fun Days' To Open In City On Monday

"Summer Fun Days," the City's first annual fair featuring all types of sporting goods, picnic and outing supplies, clothing and other items for a good time outdoors, will be staged Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Twenty-seven Big Spring stores are joining in the project, to put on display the greatest assembly of summer fun accessories ever brought together in this area. Exhibits are to be set up adjacent to the sidewalks all around the courthouse square. The booths will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. all three days, and some exhibitors have indicated they may have the displays open during the evenings. Everything from picnic supplies to comfortable summer attire, bathing suits to fishing tackle, boats and motors to life jackets, will be shown. Two automotive dealers, Tarbox-Gossett Ford and Harmonson Foreign Motors, also plan exhibits of sports cars and other models designed for summer fun. The summer fun fair is sponsored by the Retail Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce. Bill Quimby, Chamber manager and Cui Grigsby, one of the leaders in the project, said Saturday that an extremely successful show is shaping up. Both said they have been gratified by cooperation of the participating merchants, especially by the manner in which they are coordinating their exhibits.

Driver Brings Fire To Firemen

The fire department extinguished an easy fire Saturday shortly before noon: the fire was brought to the station. Firemen at the main station had to rev up one of their trucks and pull out a hose about 25 feet to throw water on the trash fire. A city garbage truck had picked up some trash which evidently contained some live coals. The trash burst into flames, and since the truck was very near the station, the driver pulled to the fire station and had the fire put out. Friday, the firemen went to 823 W. 6th where an oil mop had been placed too near a water heater. No damage resulted from the fire, however.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Federal grants totalling $777,000 were indicated in two reports received here last week. One was $400,000 as the CAA contribution to the county airport project. (The county had counted on $300,000 but the new figure was not regarded as an increase because it includes reimbursement of some funds already expended.) The other was $377,000 for new school construction to house increased enrollment due to federally connected population. Details are lacking but presumably this includes a 12 room elementary plant near the air base housing, possibly six rooms at Park Hill. The district also had applied for help on an administrative plant. Although no action is anticipated for at least another month, Howard County Junior College officials are encouraged to their bid for long term loans to cover cost of construction of two dormitories. Application has been filed on a regional level. The YMCA building fund campaign was above $266,000 Saturday with the formal drive completed. There now remains some mop-up work and re-analysis. Although this is short of the $309,000 goal, campaign leaders are encouraged over prospects of ultimate success. More than a score of merchants (See THE WEEK, Page 6-A, Col. 3)

'Cleanup' Group To Work On Y Cards

Although the formal campaign had terminated, funds continued to swell the YMCA building fund Saturday—and groundwork was being laid for a "cleanup" solicitation by a special group of volunteers. The fund Saturday, with new additions and duplications eliminated, stood at $296,580. There are still some reports outstanding which are expected to advance the figure. Meanwhile, a special committee worked a list of prospect cards which had not been completed, and these cards will be turned to the cleanup group Monday. These workers are asked to meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at 5:15 Monday afternoon. An intensive effort will be made to see that every person is contacted, with final reports sought by the end of the week. Fourteen "quota busters" were added to the list of individual workers in the general campaign. These were the ones who had brought in reports aggregating more than $400 and some ran up to as high as $2,510 in the case of Mrs. Arch Carson, and $2,489 in the case of Mrs. K. H. McGibbon. This makes 60 individuals in the general division who are quota busters. Latest to join the ranks were Sid Melinger, Horace Reagan, Carl Strom, Bob Dyer, James Underwood, Mrs. Pete Harmonson, Mrs. John Hatch, Mrs. Arch Carson, Dr. Arch Carson, Sunny Edwards, W. E. Ramsey, H. V. Crocker, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. and Mrs. Zack Gray. Crocker did an unusual thing. In the waning days of the campaign he took a pocket full of blank prospect cards and went looking. By the time he reported, he had gained more than $800 for the building fund. Just how the spirit of the campaign continues to catch on is the case of Permian Mud Company, which had pledged $900 at the outset. Impressed with the need, company officials raised it to $1,500.

Udall To Honor Victims Of Killer Tornado

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Resurrected Udall Sunday will honor 83 residents killed three years ago by a tornado that devastated this southeastern Kansas town in 10 terrible seconds. Udall has become the state's newest and most vigilant town. It is a pattern for other towns trying to become as tornado-proof as possible. Udall learned lessons from the storm that struck the night of May 25, 1955, and took 83 lives, injured 176 and destroyed most of the homes and business buildings. The agricultural community quickly pushed away the wreckage and began rebuilding. The storm-conscious builders took many precautions against future twisters—and against surprise. A storm warning system has been set up. City Marshal Hal Payne keeps in radio contact with nearby communities and receives weather warnings from the U. S. Weather Bureau at Wichita. On the south side of Udall stands a lookout tower. It is manned by volunteers. Its wailing siren can be heard all over town. In its vigilance Udall has built more storm shelters than it needs. It's ready to share them with residents of the surrounding area. Officials say the shelters offer 100 per cent protection from tornadoes—and could be used if ever necessary for escape from radioactive fallout. Beneath the new high school is a shelter which alone will accommodate 200 persons. A shelter under the grade school has room for 250. Half the homes have shelters. Most are stocked with emergency supplies of food and water. Of the 168 houses in the town, 158 are new. Other evidences of the comeback from the tornado are 16 new business buildings. The present population is about 600. Three years ago, before the devastation, it was 597. Sunday's memorial services will be held in front of the city building. It's new. Four ministers of different faiths will conduct the services. Kennedy said he would work on a draft bill over the weekend and confer with Ives Monday. He said the subcommittee would meet on Wednesday and explained he hoped that group could complete its work on a bill Thursday. "That would give the full committee 10 days in June to get the measure to the floor. It has a June 10 deadline to accomplish this.

Market Resumes Spring Uptrend

NEW YORK — The stock market resumed its spring uptrend this week and approached closely its 1958 high. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $2.00 to $169.60, just a whisker beneath its year's peak of $169.90.

Heavy Losses In Air Crashes Push Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The loss of 61 lives in military-civilian air collisions this year appeared today to have virtually assured prompt congressional action on a new federal air safety agency. "So far there is no visible opposition," Sen. A. S. Monroney (D-Okla.) said of a bill drastically overhauling present airway controls. "We have far more support than we thought we would have," Monroney added in an interview. He is chairman of the Senate Aviation subcommittee. Some 33 senators of both parties already are backing the Monroney bill to establish an independent federal aviation agency with broad powers to enforce a nationwide and unified air traffic control. Two days of emergency Senate hearings on the military-civilian crashes developed wide support from operators of commercial airlines, airline pilots, and key government officials. "About the only probable opposition may come from Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Undersecretary of Commerce Rothschild," Monroney added. At present the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which operates the nationwide airways system, is part of the Commerce Department. The Civil Aeronautics Board, which determines air routes and safety rules among other functions, is an independent agency. Monroney would put them both in the proposed new agency, which would be headed by a single administrator directly responsible to the president and Congress.

During hearings before Senate and House groups witnesses stressed that the great speeds of modern aircraft, including jet passenger planes soon to be operating, required immediate action. Clarence N. Sayen, president of an organization of 15,000 commercial airline pilots, told senators that under existing CAA regulations "you can kill each other perfectly legally." He agreed with Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Maine) that when two aircraft approach at speeds of 300 to 600 m.p.h. or more the pilots have only a fraction of a minute to avoid disaster. Sayen said this virtually eliminates safe visual flying under the present "see and be seen" system for slow aircraft. Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, chairman of President Eisenhower's airways modernization board, agreed that present and future speeds of aircraft require a single traffic control and vastly improved equipment. The retired Air Force general said that eventually controls may be performed by automation, already under development. Quesada announced Friday night that effective Saturday the armed services are placing emergency restrictions on military jet flights at altitudes under 20,000 feet. Quesada described the voluntary flight curbs as a temporary action designed to minimize the risks of air collision. Most commercial and civilian aircraft now operate below 20,000 feet, and under the plan announced by Quesada military jets using civilian airways at those levels must fly under CAA control.

Solons See Labor Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Predictions that a middle-of-the-road labor reform bill will emerge from the Senate Labor Committee were made Saturday by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.). Kennedy told newsmen the committee's product may be one "both sides will not like—some will think it's too strong, some too weak." Nevertheless, he said that a bill avoiding extremes is the only kind which stands a chance of becoming law. Ives concurred with Kennedy's view. He said the committee's bill probably will go further than labor leaders want but not so far as Eisenhower's bill recommended. The New Yorker, senior Republican on the labor subcommittee, described Kennedy and himself as a "sort of center force" on the committee. He said they were in substantial agreement on the subject. Kennedy said he would work on a draft bill over the weekend and confer with Ives Monday. He said the subcommittee would meet on Wednesday and explained he hoped that group could complete its work on a bill Thursday. "That would give the full committee 10 days in June to get the measure to the floor. It has a June 10 deadline to accomplish this.

Nuclear Test Ban Parleys Urged By Ike President Tries Hard To Be Polite

To Choose

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Russia Saturday to start scientific talks at Geneva in three weeks on ways of policing a nuclear weapons test ban. The State Department instantly backed up the President's proposal by naming three top flight U.S. scientists to meet with a Russian team and probably representatives also from Britain, France and Japan. The Red Chinese might sit in on the Soviet side. Eisenhower's proposal was made to Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a letter delivered in Moscow by the U.S. Embassy Saturday morning and then released by the White House. Radically differing from many other Eisenhower-Khrushchev letters, this one was free of accusation and criticism. Eisenhower seemed to try hard to make his proposal agreeable to Khrushchev. He said the talks could begin in three weeks, produce a progress report, in 30 days and a final report within 60 days. Khrushchev in a letter May 9, agreeing to such talks, had warned against stalling. Saying the experts from "our side" will be chosen on the basis of special competence, Eisenhower added: "We assume that the experts on the side of the Soviet Union would be similarly chosen on the basis of special competence, so as to assure that we get scientific, not political, conclusions." The three experts announced by the State Department to represent the United States are: Dr. Ernest Lawrence, a Nobel prize winner and director of the University of California Radiation Laboratory, Lawrence in the past has associated himself with Dr. Edward Teller and AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss in favor of continuing atomic and hydrogen weapons tests. Dr. James Brown Fisk, executive vice president of Bell Telephone Laboratories and since 1952 a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee. Dr. Robert F. Bacher, chairman of the Division of Physics, Mathematics and Astronomy at California Institute of Technology and a member of Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee. The appointment of Lawrence could mean that the President and his science chief, Dr. James R. Killian Jr., were deliberately including in the group a scientist whose skepticism about banning atomic tests and making the ban effective has already been publicly established. Lawrence and Teller said in November, 1956, that it was an unfortunate misconception to believe that methods of detecting nuclear tests were infallible.

REVERENT RENDEZVOUS 2 Ships Hasten To Meeting For Unknown GI Selection

By WILLIAM OWEN Associated Press Writer

Somewhere on the now-peaceful North Atlantic, two ships bristling with the weapons of future wars are hastening to a reverent rendezvous with the past off the Virginia Capes. The somber gray warships bear the bodies of three American fighting men who lost not only their lives but their identities on far-flung battlefields. Two of them will join the Unknown Soldier of World War I in honored rest at Memorial Day services in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac from Washington. They will be the Unknowns of the Korean War chosen at random by surviving heroes to honor symbolically all the unidentified dead of each conflict. Picking the latest unknowns has been more complicated than was the selection of the Unknown Soldier of World War I. This time there was an extra war and an extra battle theater. The Unknown of 1917-18 was chosen on a bright October morning in 1921 at Chalon-Sur-Marne, France. Sgt. Edward S. Younger placed a spray of roses on one of four caskets, stepped back, saluted and it was done. ALREADY SELECTED Two World War II unknowns already have been selected — one from among 13 candidates disinterred from European-North African battlefields cemeteries, the other from among six candidates from the Pacific Theater. The destroyer Blandy is bearing the first body from Europe. The second is en route to the Virginia Capes rendezvous aboard the missile cruiser Boston, accompanied by the Unknown of the Korean War chosen 10 days ago at the National Cemetery near Honolulu. Final choice of a single World War II unknown will be made Monday aboard the missile cruiser Canberra by Navy hospitalman 3.C. William R. Charrett of Ludington, Mich., a Medal of Honor winner. The candidate not selected will be buried with full honors at sea. The two chosen warriors will be transferred to the Blandy Tuesday for the trip up the Potomac under escort by the Coast Guard ship Ingham. The two caskets, each draped with an American flag, will remain on the after deck of the Blandy under honor guard through the night in quiet preparation for the homage of the nation. OFFICIAL WELCOME The official welcoming ceremonies will start at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Four ruffles and flourishes, a hymn by the Navy band and the caskets, each preceded by a clergyman, will be brought down the Blandy's gangway. The bodies will be borne to hearse through an honor military corridor, including the secretaries of defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and the Treasury. Then a 20 - mile-an-hour motorcade heads for the Capitol while Gun Factory cannon boom a 21-gun salute. The caskets will be placed in state in the Capitol Rotunda, the World War II Unknown on the same black catafalque that held the body of the murdered President Lincoln, the Korean Unknown on an identical catafalque built for the occasion. The bodies will lie in state from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday with one brief interruption. At noon, they will change places of honor, with the Korean Unknown occupying the Lincoln catafalque. On Memorial Day morning, while lines of people continue to pass the biers, veterans, patriotic and civic organizations will hold services and place their official wreaths, one every four minutes. Then, at 1 p.m., May 30, the two Unknowns begin their last journey to the side of World War I's Unknown Soldier on the wood-

Cornell President Splattered By Eggs

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Cornell University Saturday suspended four students accused of inciting riots in which President Deane W. Malott was splattered with eggs and his house stoned. One student was the son of a Cornell professor. The suspensions are to be reviewed Tuesday by the Men's Judiciary Board, a student disciplinary group that will submit recommendations to the faculty's student conduct committee. The students could be expelled. Frank C. Baldwin, dean of men, identified the four as: J. Kirk Sale, a senior, of Ithaca, son of Prof. William Sale, Richard Farina, a junior, of Brooklyn. Robert M. Perry, a junior, of Bay Harbor, Fla. David W. Seidler, a junior, of Great Neck, L.I. The riots began Friday, reportedly over student belief that the school planned to ban unchaperoned parties in off-campus student apartments. They erupted again early Saturday when students threw a smoke bomb and rocks at Malott's home. The demonstration followed a torchlight parade in which 2,000 students participated. The students, mostly men, brushed aside pleas of student leaders and converged on Malott's house. Observers said they shouted insults and obscenities and demanded that Malott resign. A smoke bomb burst, covering the area with smoke. Malott came out but could barely be heard over the shouting. He told the students that they had made their point about party restrictions but said he was not going to yield to a mob. A flurry of rocks and eggs broke some windows in the house. Malott was splattered with eggs. He went in the house and the crowd broke up. Under present campus rules, men who have registered apartments may invite girls to parties, as long as at least two girls are present. The demonstrations were directed against proposals for an outright ban on off-campus apartment parties.

Blind Driver Is Halted In Traffic

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Traffic officer Loyal Nelson thought he had seen everything until Friday night when he stopped a weaving motorist and discovered the driver was blind.

Another man riding in the front seat acknowledged that the car was his and that he was helping the blind man to drive.

"He just wanted to get the feel of the wheel," the man said.

Nelson arrested the car owner on a charge of permitting an unauthorized person to operate his vehicle. The blind man wasn't charged.

Police withheld the names pending arraignment.

Sales Of Durable Goods Down A Bit

AUSTIN (AP)—Sales of durable goods — including automobiles, furniture, hardware and building materials — were down 9 per cent the first four months of 1958 in Texas compared to the first third of 1957.

The Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, said Saturday total retail sales were off 2 per cent as nondurable goods, such as foods, drugs, apparel, gasoline, increased 2 per cent for the period, partially offsetting the drop in long term products.

Steps Taken To Set Up 'Master Plan' For City

Master planning is not only desirable but imperative, a special Chamber of Commerce survey committee agreed Friday, and set about finding out how others have done it.

There was a unanimity of opinion among the group headed by Dr. W. A. Hunt that the job needed to be tackled. The first step is to inquire of cities which have undertaken planning surveys recently as to how they proceed.

"This idea of master planning is no criticism of what has been done, or intended in any way to supplant the job being done by existing agencies," said Dr. Hunt. "Rather it is a proposal to find out how they proceed and all efforts to build the community, but in such a way that development will be sound, orderly and economic."

Members of the panel participating in the first meeting were R. L. Beale, Champ Rainwater, Hudson Landers, H. W. Whitney, Adolph Swartz, Floyd Parsons, and Col. Kyle Riddle. Dr. J. W. Hogan, chamber president, sat in as an ex officio member.

Beale pointed out that it wasn't as though nothing had been done on the subject of planning, for more than a decade ago the original city planning and zoning commission came to grips with the problem. He was a member of that commission.

"We no sooner came out with a plan than it became the subject for pressure to change it," he said. "Whatever might come out of this needs to be thoroughly understood and supported by the public."

Whitney, who as city manager has conferred with Beale and Rainwater frequently on utility forecasts and planning, said he thought the area of study ought to include three elements: 1) a master plan which would envision which way the city probably would expand, the uses to which areas would be put, arterial traffic system, etc.; 2) a new building code (the present one is 30 years old); and 3) revitalization of the zoning and planning commission (the present zoning code is being revised).

If it could be done, some consideration might well be given to the possibility of expansion for Webb AFB, said Col. Riddle. Parsons said that work of the school board in meeting expansion needs would be facilitated tremendously if the most likely areas of growth could be spotted in advance. Landers said that a master plan had been a "pressing need for many, many years."

Dr. Hunt enumerated a number of areas of community activity which need to be considered in the overall survey—such things as its institutions, its zoning, the preser-

He will leave Monday for Albuquerque, judging the entrants on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He and Mrs. Hendrix plan to leave by June 5 for Bloomington, Ind., where he will work on his doctorate. ### Dallas Schools May Remain Segregated

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas public schools will very probably remain segregated when school opens next September, Dr. Edwin L. Rippey, school board president, said today.

Dr. Rippey made the statement after a refusal yesterday by the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to render a declaratory judgment on how valid are Texas segregation laws which would penalize Dallas schools for integrating without a favorable vote of the district's voters.

The Dallas board had asked for a declaratory judgment to solve the conflict between the state integration laws and a federal ruling to integrate with all deliberate speed.

"It is very unlikely that under this opinion delaying resolution of the legal problem that there will be integration this fall," Dr. Rippey said.

Dr. Rippey said the school board will ask the State Supreme Court for help in solving the state and federal integration ruling conflict at an early date.

'Miss Typical'

Teachers, Typical Student Honored

Nita Beth Farquhar was honored as "Miss Typical" of Big Spring High School Friday when Supt. Floyd Parsons presented his annual report, a brochure based on the classroom, extra-curricular and other activities of the typical student.

The superintendent's report was submitted at a general faculty meeting. Sixteen teachers also were honored, receiving from Trustee Chairman Clyde Angel service pins for 10, 15 and 25 years of service.

Miss Farquhar, a member of the 1958 graduating class, received the first copy of "Meet Miss Typical."

Study Of CAA Grant Slated

Formal acceptance of the Civil Aeronautics Authority $400,000 grant to the Howard County Airport will probably be the major item on the agenda of the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday morning.

The CAA letter of grant, received Friday, requires formal ratification by the county commission. It is also explained in the letter which accompanied the grant that there are a few stipulations set up in the agreement which will have to be met.

It is likely the commissioners will want to study the lengthy document which accompanied the letter of grant and make certain they can comply with all requirements set up by the federal agency.

The new Howard County Library building on Scurry is rapidly nearing completion. Books and furnishings from the old location in the courthouse have already been removed to the new quarters. The commissioners considered briefly the matter of what could be done to make the grounds more attractive at their meeting last week. Further discussion of this would be in order in view of the fact that the formal opening of the library should not be too remote.

Water Consumption Is Climbing Again

Water consumption climbed above the five million gallon mark Thursday for the first time in two weeks.

The city consumed 5,322,000 gallons Thursday which raised the month's figure to 83,237,000 gallons. This averages out 3,874,000 gallons per day.

Thursday was the first time since May 8 that usage has topped five million gallons. On May 8, the city consumed 5,765,000 gallons.

New C-City Hotel Will Open June 7

Colorado City's new Baker Hotel will open its doors to the public Saturday morning, June 7, after a "key-throwing-away" ceremony featuring Mayor Trevor Crawford and the hotel's owner, Ed L. Baker of Fort Worth.

The five-story brick structure, located in the heart of Colorado City's downtown district, has been completely rebuilt and remodeled at a cost of more than $250,000 since it was purchased by Baker late last year.

Plans are for Baker to present a symbolic key to the hotel to Crawford at 11 a.m. opening day, with the request that it be thrown away "because the doors will always be open to the people of Colorado City and the trade area it serves."

Following the short ceremony, which will be introduced by music of the KVMC (Colorado City's local station) staff orchestra, there will be guided tours of the new hotel and refreshments for all guests.

Workmen hurried through final installation of equipment and fixtures this week in order to have everything in readiness by opening day. Exterior planting and more finishing touches will be added during the coming week.

The Baker's restaurant, christened the "Colorado Room," will begin serving simultaneous with the opening of the hotel.

"We plan to make the Colorado Room the most outstanding, atmospheric restaurant in West Texas," Manager Garlan Green said, "by offering the finest food, tastefully prepared and served. Our specialty will be sizzling, charcoal-broiled steaks."

Special hotel features include: Year-round air conditioning; free parking for guests; new drapes, furniture and carpeting of contemporary design in rooms and suites; aluminum light-diffusing screens on all windows; and complete hotel services.

Terrazo mosaics in unique triangular designs will be featured at both south and east entrances to the hotel lobby, alternating with glass, aluminum, brickwork and a low sidewalk planter around two sides of the building.

Lobby will have contemporary furniture, drapes and terrazo floor. A north mural wall of sculptured stone, Aztec in design, will be centered by a decorative stone panel and a television set. Copper fascia on interior planters dividing the lounge area from the lobby will match that on the entrance canopies. Ornamental ironwork grille will be contemporary in design.

A folding wall in the Colorado Room will facilitate private lunches of up to 50 persons.

TCU To Award 464 Degrees

FORT WORTH—Moving into the final phases of its 85th session, Texas Christian University will hold baccalaureate services for 464 graduates Sunday morning and conduct a "Living Memorial Services" for four distinguished former faculty members Sunday afternoon.

Degrees will be awarded Friday night at 8 o'clock during commencement exercises on the West Campus lawn. Rev. Dean Harrison, pastor of the Rosemont Christian Church of Dallas, will bring the Baccalaureate sermon in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 9:30 a.m. today. At 3 p.m. in the ballroom of the Brown-Lupton Student Center, plaques honoring the former staff members will be unveiled. To be honored are the late Dr. John Lord, Dr. E. W. McDiarmid, Dr. Gayle Scott and J. Willard Ridings.

For the Commencement exercises on Friday night, Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet of St. Louis, president of the Christian Board of Publication, will be the speaker. Honorary LL. D. degrees will be conferred on Nobundo Oda, principal of the Long Girls School in Tokyo, Japan, and E. G. Luna, director of the Mexican Institute in San Antonio. An honorary D. Litt. will be conferred on Dr. Cramblet and an honorary D. D. on Rev. Harrison during the ceremony.

85 Pct. Of Cotton Has Been Planted

Eighty-five per cent of the cotton in Howard County is now planted and the remainder will be in the ground by the end of this week if weather continues good, Jimmy Taylor, county agent, estimated Saturday.

A considerable amount of early planted cotton is up and doing fairly well, he said. Many fields have been replanted for the second time and others will have to be replanted due to the heavy rains of a few days ago.

Plenty of time still remains for the cotton planting, Taylor pointed out. Ideal planting interval in this county runs from May 15 through June 10. Planting can be made later than that but the best season to get the seed in the ground is in the interval named, he said.

There will be approximately 60,000 acres of cotton planted in this county this year. The cotton acreage allotment for the county is around 74,000 acres but at least 15,000 acres of this is in the federal soil bank.

Moisture conditions are good over the county. Farmers are pleased at the prospects and hopeful for an excellent year. They want no rains for the next 10 days, Taylor said, to permit them to finish planting without further delay.

Showers after that date would be appreciated, he added, but there is no suffering at present for moisture. A heavy rain, a hail storm or a bad sand storm would be disastrous to many fields.

Much of the feed acreage in the county has already been planted and planting is being pushed by farmers. Early planted feed is already up and looking good, Taylor said.

He estimated the feed acreage this year at between 85,000 and 95,000 acres. Bulk of the land will be devoted to hybrid sorghums. Another 15,000 to 20,000 acres will be sowed to grasses of various kinds.

A Family Activity

Helping to account for the booming popularity of boating is the fact that it's a form of recreation the entire family can enjoy, as demonstrated here by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDams and their sons, Terry, up front, and Ricky, in the back seat. Owning a boat also opens up other recreational opportunities, such as water skiing and fishing.

THE VETERINARIAN WRITES

Blackleg Lurks In Ground, Is Quick Killer Of Cattle

By AKIN M. SIMPSON, D.V.M.
Blackleg—a swift killer—lurks in the ground, waiting to attack susceptible animals, the veterinary profession wants to remind farmers and ranchers. If precautions are taken, however, losses can be prevented.

Blackleg is caused by a germ. But this germ forms spores which are almost indestructible. Heat, drought, or cold seem to have no effect on them. Even strong disinfectants which kill most other disease-causing organisms don't seem to faze them.

Many believe that cattle in good condition are infected most easily. However, this probably is not true. The important consideration in blackleg is age rather than condition.

It is considered a disease of young cattle. Animals between four and 24 months of age seem to be the most susceptible. Blackleg rarely affects either real young calves or adult animals.

Quite often one of the first things the farmer notices is that an animal is not keeping up with the rest of the herd. Depression and stiffness also are early signs. Within a short time an infected animal usually becomes lame and swellings will develop, especially in a shoulder or hip. That is why the disease is sometimes called "black quarters."

GAS PRESSURE
The swelling is caused by gas under the animal's skin and in its muscles. If pressure is applied to the swellings, there is a distinct sound and feel which resembles crackling tissue paper.

It is not always easy to detect blackleg cases early. If a farmer keeps a close watch on his cattle, he might spot some symptoms. But usually the first signs of the disease are dead cattle in the pasture. Bear in mind that blackleg is a swift killer—animals may appear healthy, then be dead in a few hours. Lightning, fast-action poisons, and some other fast-acting infections can kill cattle just as fast, or faster, than blackleg. So, where there are sudden mysterious deaths among cattle, it is always wisest to call a veterinarian for an accurate diagnosis of the cause.

Such things as anthrax, malignant edema—often called "false blackleg"—red water disease or even shipping fever, and acute leptospirosis may also be mistaken for blackleg.

In one word—vaccination—is the

Goodyear Opens New Test Track At Angelo Today

SAN ANGELO — Preparations are complete for today's open house at Goodyear's five-mile, high speed tire test track near Orient.

In a brief dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. Dr. R. E. Windham, mayor of San Angelo, and Walter E. Shively, tire development expert from The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's home offices in Akron, Ohio, will participate in ribbon-cutting ceremonies symbolizing the official opening of the test facility.

With the action, the track will be open to West Texans, for a leisurely drive around the five-mile banked track—at legal speeds. The three-hour open house is scheduled to end at 5 p.m.

The state police will patrol highways leading to the track. San Angelo police and Goodyear test station personnel will police the track to insure a pleasant trip around the high-speed circle engineered for (testing only) speeds up to 140 m.p.h.

Persons planning to visit the track can reach the facility by driving north on the Brouse Highway from San Angelo 16.4 miles, to Klattenhoff Lane, and turn right. The entrance to the track is one mile from the highway.

Sammy Foreman To Get Sul Ross Degree

Patricia To Fight At Acuna June 1

Patricia McCormick, Big Spring, is to continue her current bullfighting tour next weekend at Villa Acuna.

Pat will appear in the La Macarena ring across from Del Rio the afternoon of June 1, fighting two bulls. In her last outing there, she overcame a Villa Acuna jinx and experienced a triumphal match. It was at the Macarena ring that Pat came so near to being fatally gored. Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCormick.

Local Engineering Student Writes Lake Thomas Story

The April issue of Texas A&M Engineer, magazine for the school's engineering department, includes an article by Jimmie Porter, senior industrial engineer from Big Spring.

Porter, who has been chosen for additional special study under the Air Force meteorological program, writes about Lake J. B. Thomas and the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

In the April issue are stories about the "seven engineering wonders" chosen in 1954. Lake Thomas ranked as No. 3 on the list. "A Man Made Lake in the Desert" is the title of Porter's article which traces the project from its conception at the meeting here in 1946 to its status today as a $12,000,000 going project.

made islands, some costing as much as $40,000.

His account further told how water rationing was successively ended in the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder; how oil companies with their repressuring projects became major consumers with prospect of being able to recover an additional billion dollars worth of oil by reason of the available water.

"The reason for this widespread recognition and popularity of the CRMWD is the efficient way it was handled and the fact that in this project the cities involved have developed a way to assure a water supply without taxes. The United States Bureau of Reclamation offered to handle the problem at an estimated cost of $43,000,000. The district has built this water system and begun operation for a cost of approximately $12,000,000."

Porter, who was the first student to receive the local A&M Club scholarship, has served as commanding officer of his squadron in the cadet corps. He has been named as managing editor of next year's Engineer. He is married and he and Mrs. Porter have a baby daughter.

Enrollment In Recreation Program Climbs

Enrollment in the citywide summer recreational program continued briskly Saturday with openings still available in all activities.

Through a misunderstanding, word got out that swimming classes were filled. Actually, a total of 100 boys and girls had been signed, whereas the class limit is 100 for boys and 100 for girls.

We are still accepting applications for beginners for the June 2-13 period," said Bobo Hardy, director of the program.

Parents continued to register their elementary school age children for the fun clubs to be operated at North Ward, Washington Place Schools, the junior high gym and the West Side-ABC Park. Likewise, there was a steady sign-up for other activities including the Indian day camp for boys in the first through the sixth grades; trampoline, tap, archery, judo, tumbling, model building, golf, tennis, fencing, interpretative dance, volleyball, etc.

Hardy emphasized that in the case of children of elementary school age that a parent must sign up for them at the YMCA in order that program details may be understood.

Teen-agers may sign for their special activities, which in many cases parallel those of the younger group.

Peppering Of Law With Buckshot Leads To Charges

McKINNEY, Tex. (AP)—A Plano Tex., man accused of peppering two peace officers with a shotgun as they tried to serve court papers was charged today with assault to murder.

Sheriff's officers lodged formal complaints against Neil L. Newton Jr., in the shooting incident at his home late last night.

Deputy sheriff J. S. Hand said Newton was seized without struggle and brought to the county jail here.

He was charged with two counts of assault to murder and one of personal injury and property damage.

Heads Of New Algerian Government

French Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, left, and native Algerian Cherif Sid Cara, right, appear before a crowd at Government House in Algiers. They were named heads of a new regime called the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety which vowed to rule until Gen. De Gaulle is returned to power in France. Massu is French parachute commander and Sid Cara a secretary of state for Algeria in past Paris governments. In background are Gen. Raoul Salan, French military commander in Algeria (partly hidden at left) and Gen. Jacques Allard, military commander of the city of Algiers.

New Rebellions Shake Government Of France

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin early Sunday called an emergency session of the National Assembly for Monday morning to deal with armed pro-De Gaulle insurrection on the island of Corsica.

A special Cabinet session proclaimed that a state of insurrection existed at Ajaccio, capital of the French Mediterranean island, where Napoleon Bonaparte was born.

Following the pattern already established in Algiers, a committee of public safety was set up there by the dissidents in Corsica.

For three hours Pflimlin's ministers studied reports from Ajaccio and other points in Corsica that self-appointed committees of public safety and an undetermined number of French paratroopers had seized government buildings at Ajaccio, Corte and Calvi.

NATIONAL UNION
The committees were reported calling for what they described as a government of national union led by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

In another of a series of harsh blows at the beleaguered Pflimlin government, insurgent De Gaulle set up a strongman triumvirate in Algeria. The leaders vowed to fight "unto death" to restore De Gaulle to power.

The blows fell as Pflimlin fought on in Paris for new governmental power to cope with the mounting crisis.

Pflimlin called for another emergency Cabinet session Sunday afternoon in advance of the parliamentary meeting. He also planned to go to the people again early Sunday in an extraordinary radio speech.

The special Cabinet session Saturday night that labeled the Corsica uprising an insurrection could in effect commit the government to bring the island back under control by force if necessary.

No such step has been taken to deal with the Algerian developments.

Another blow to the harassed Pflimlin government came in a Tunisian official report that French forces in southern Tunisia and Tunisian troops were fighting.

ODD HAPPENINGS
Frenchmen enjoying a three-day Pentecost holiday had other things to wonder about beside Vigier's bush-bush mission.

Paris and Algiers were topping propaganda broadcasts with cloak-and-dagger messages reminiscent of those sent from Britain to the French underground in World War II ordering attacks on the Germans.

Radio Algiers inserted such messages as "The chapel will be illuminated tonight." A government controlled broadcast from France had this one: "Attention, attention. The palm trees are in the oasis."

There was no official explanation for any of the broadcasts. As for the message from Paris, a French radio spokesman said: "We were simply told to send it. He would not say who gave the order."

Algerians had something to puzzle them too. Two ships with 3,450 French and Algerian soldiers docked from metropolitan France even though Paris still has no control over the territory. The soldiers were greeted as friends at the harbor.

Mrs. Unger's Painting Judged Best Of Show

Mrs. Bill Unger's oil painting "Still Life" was judged best of its class and best of the show at the annual Las Artistas Club Membership Show Saturday at the Hotel Seelye dining room.

By virtue of her victory she wins the club trophy for one year. Should she win the trophy for three years in a row, it would be hers to keep permanently.

Her picture was one of 136 in the show—all by members of the club and almost without exception Big Spring residents.

Second honors as best in the show were awarded Mrs. Jess Blair for her entry "Reflective Mood" and third place went to Mrs. Bismarck Schafer for "Spring Rain." She also won honorable mention in the show competition with her "The Family."

Judges for the show, who were complimentary of the work on display, were Sherwood Suter, McMurry College, Abilene; and Mrs. Neal McDonald and Mrs. C. H. Tipper of San Angelo.

The pictures will continue on display through Thursday in the hotel ball room and the public is invited to visit the exhibit.

Blakley Pegs Campaign On Liberty, Majority Rule

Political Rally Held In Abilene

By DAVE CHEAVENS

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—William A. Blakley pegged his United States Senate campaign to individual and business liberty and rule of the majority Saturday night.

He plugged these themes fervently in the first giant rally of this year's Texas political wars.

"In a society of free men such as we have, it was never conceived to be the purpose of the government to support the people, but rather that the people should support the government," he declared.

Blakley added that "The issue in this race is majority rule, for I believe that only by maintaining this principle of government can we preserve our freedom for ourselves and for our posterity."

His rally, attended by delegations from a vast section of West Texas and other areas, was on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University.

Blakley told a news conference this afternoon he thought Texas' feuding Democrats could find "a way to get together."

NO PERSONALITIES
He told newsmen who asked at a press conference if he planned to take any special issue with Ralph Yarborough, his opponent in the Democratic primary race, that he would talk issues and not personalities.

Blakley is generally classified as a candidate of the conservative faction of Texas Democrats and Yarborough has the liberal label.

"On principles, yes, I will take issue," Blakley said. "I will make it plain what I stand for."

Blakley held the press conference after a series of strategy meetings with campaign managers from 16 West Texas counties and with "Young Texans For Blakley" clubs in that area.

These events preceded a parade, a chuck wagon barbecue and Saturday night's West Texas roundup rally on the Hardin-Simmons campus, billed as Blakley's first major political speech in his entire career.

Blakley, wearing a conservative grey suit, ranch hat, white shirt and black bow tie but no cowboy boots, rode a striking Palomino named Pinkie in the parade through the downtown streets of Abilene. An automobile followed with a big banner proclaiming, "I am Bill Blakley."

Strutting behind Blakley was the spectacular Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band and near the head of the line of march was the high-stepping band from the Woodson Negro High School here.

Pilot Instructor Ends SAC Tour

First Lt. Charles W. Bainum, Webb Air Force Base instructor, has completed his assignment with SAC Project 1054—which took him to England—and First Lt. Dick E. Wilson, another Webb instructor, is preparing to replace him in the project.

The return of Bainum marked the end of Phase II of SAC Project 1054 and start of Phase III.

"SAC Project 1054," an exercise designed to acquaint Air Training Command personnel with SAC overseas deployment operations, was initiated late last year by Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander, and Lt. Gen. Charles T. Myers, ATC commander.

The basic purpose of taking key instructors from bases all over Air Force bases is to familiarize the entire Air Force with SAC's functions and to show that some of the difficulties once connected with duty in SAC have been solved.

By showing that SAC personnel are no longer on a 7-day work week and subjected to the 3- to 6-month duty period which contributed for so long to high divorce rates more qualified career people will be motivated to volunteer for duty with SAC.

Since Bainum has returned, he has talked to groups on the base and to his fellow flying personnel, describing his experiences and giving his opinion that the project is achieving its purpose of giving a clear and positive picture of SAC's operation today.

Bainum left Webb on March 8 for Randolph AFB at San Antonio, where he met the three other officers scheduled for the trip. They were Capt. James E. Graham from Mather AFB, Calif.; Lt. Rodney P. Williams from Reese AFB, Texas; and Lt. Sterling Nixon from Greenville AFB, Miss.

On March 9 the quartet boarded a T-29 at Randolph AFB for Offutt AFB, Neb., Strategic Air Command Headquarters.

After approximately a week of duty at Schilling AFB, Kans., Bainum and his ATC colleagues left Kansas for England, experiencing a night mid-air refueling en route to their destination.

City To Buy Car, Pickup

A new pickup and car will be purchased by the City Commission at its regular bi-weekly meeting Tuesday night in what is expected to be a short session.

The car will be purchased for the police department to replace one wrecked on the North Side recently. The city called for bids with and without a trade-in of the 1957 model Ford.

Commissioners will purchase the pickup for the street department. In other matters, second reading on an ordinance to annex the city park and the area west of it to the Old San Angelo Hwy. will be held.

The commission at its last meeting announced it would annex two small areas on the east side of town, but the ordinances concerning these sections will not be presented Tuesday night.

Also the commission Tuesday will consider right-of-way problems on the route of the sewer line from the Capehart housing area to the sewage disposal plant. Although the city has advertised for bids on the job, all right-of-way has not been acquired.

Teacher Assn. Elects Officers

Colleen Slaughter, a teacher at high school, has been named president of the Big Spring unit of the Texas State Teachers Assn. for the coming year.

Miss Slaughter and the other new officers will take over the organization at the start of the summer. She succeeds W. C. Blankinship as president.

Other officers are E. B. Pierson, first vice president; Mrs. Margaretta Coffey, second vice president; Agnes Currie, treasurer; and Richard Bacon, secretary.

Midland County officers took custody of a Big Spring woman arrested Friday night by deputy sheriffs of Howard County. The woman was taken to Midland for investigation in connection with the reported theft of an automobile.

Summer Term Opens June 2 At High School

A six-week summer session will open at Big Spring High School June 2. S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent, announced Saturday.

Several courses have been scheduled, and others will be offered if sufficient demand is expressed, Anderson said. There will be a tuition charge of $15 per half-credit course. Two such courses are the maximum to be allowed per student.

Classes will meet two hours daily—from 8 to 10 and from 10 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

On the basis of pre-registration, Anderson said the following courses will be offered: Language Arts 21 and 22, Language Arts 31 and 32, and Language Arts 41 and 42; Government: Algebra 11 and 12, and Algebra 21 and 22.

Seventh and eighth graders also will be given an opportunity to make up grades in "solid courses" if a large enough number show up to justify a class, Anderson reported.

Lamesan Arrested After Cafe Knifing

A Lamesan man was picked by Saturday in connection with the knifing of another Lamesan in the L&M Cafe 305 E. 3rd.

In a local hospital with knife wounds is George Reid of Lamesa. Reid sustained a slash across the abdomen and the arm. Neither wound was considered serious, however.

Also cut in the melee was Wilma Wymer, a waitress in the L&M. She was treated and released from the hospital.

Officials said an argument developed between Reid and a companion and the companion pulled a knife and swung at Reid. The waitress was then cut as she tried to step between them. The knife-wielding man then left the cafe but was later picked up, police officers said.

Four Good Roquet Layouts Are Available In City Park

Sporting goods concerns in Big Spring report that the sale of roquet sets—or croquet as it is generally pegged—is pitifully low, but they add it may be because of a lack of good playing grounds.

John Dibrell, local sporting goods dealer, says he sells hardly any of the ball, mallet, and brackets sets; the report is the same at the Sportsman-Toyland Center. And at numerous other places, sets are not even in stock.

People may be reminded, however, that roquet does not require an area completely free of rocks or humps. In reality, such obstacles add to the excitement of the game. More skill is required if one has to allow for the roll of the ball over a small hump or into a dip that lies between the ball and the brackets.

If the family has no available area to arrange a court, the city park has four well-kept roquet layouts located near shade trees and benches. And what's better than a picnic-croquet party?

If ground is available, a grass coverage is preferable, smooth or not. A playing set of balls, mallets, and brackets is needed (some people expect to get a durable, handsome set for practically nothing), and the family is set for fun. The neighborhood can be joined in the activity in a tournament fashion.

A roquet court for a tournament is supposed to be 100x50 feet, but less than half those dimensions will make a suitable court. The court may curve or turn corners to fit any yard. This adds to the game's adaptability.

Resort Atmosphere Blossoms At Lake J. B. Thomas

One of the most popular spots in all of West Texas is Lake J. B. Thomas, which attracts visitors all the way from Sweetwater to Pecos, from Amarillo to Garden City. Five years ago there was a big dam and a little puddle; today hundreds of cottages dot the shoreline and facilities such as these have been developed. Here is a view of the boat basin at Lake Thomas Lodge, first of five commercial concessions at the lake. It reflects dramatically the tremendous popularity of boating at the 15-square mile lake. There is no way of ascertaining the number of boats launched annually at the lake, but the figure would run into the thousands.

Interest High In Little Leagues

Interest in Little League baseball is at its zenith here, and indications are it will enjoy a long and happy, if far from quiet, life.

The Little League movement gained headway locally in the late '40's, when one league came into existence.

A park was ultimately built on city property on North 12th Street, just off the Snyder highway. Last year, three major leagues—the American, National and Texas—made use of the facility.

Facing the prospect of eventually being forced to abandon that playing area, the Little League leaders went to work the past winter and built the boys two more parks, each better than the first.

One of the plants was built on Cosden property south of town by Cosden. The cost reportedly was in excess of $5,000 and it is considered A-1 in every respect. Cosden spared no expense in seeing that everything from light poles to rest rooms was provided.

At the present time, both the National major and minor leagues make use of the facility.

The American Little League, which has John Ed Brown as its president, is building its own park on HCJC property. That facility, too, will be worth more than $5,000 when finished. Construction was far enough along for the youngsters to begin playing at the appointed time but Brown and his co-workers say they won't be happy until bleachers for the spectators are built.

The American Little League operates both a major and a minor league, too.

Last year, the city provided a team which forged all the way to the state meet before they lost out to a Waco power. They'll never rest on their laurels around here until the national championship comes to rest in Big Spring.

In all, there are 36 teams functioning here. Other boys are marking time, waiting for the chance to get to play.

Cost Of Fishing Up To Individual

What does it cost in dollars and cents to become a fisherman? Well, that's pretty much up to the individual who wants to fish.

He can, if he pleases, find a slender limb on a tree, trim it into a pole. He can use a strong piece of twine from a convenient store and a cork from an old bottle. A dime's worth of fishhooks, a nail for a sinker, and a few worms unearthed in the back yard and he's in business.

He can branch out a bit if he chooses—commercial rig for this oversimplified form of angling will cost him about $2.25.

There's the matter of a fishing license, too. This, if he wants to feel real secure and safe from official interference, will cost him $2.15.

If he hankers to be a bass fisherman, that's something else again. A good rod can cost anywhere from $6 to $8; his reel will tap the till for $15 perhaps $20. A line is $1.50 and plugs cost from a buck up. No self-respecting bass fisherman would want to start out with less than a score of plugs—$20. He'll need a tackle box. That's $10. And he should have a $1.50 fish stringer. After all, he might catch a fish. Add to his investment a pair of waders (experts say that you simply have to have 'em). They cost anywhere from $7.95 to $30 a pair.

Fly fishing is popular for pan fish and small bass in this country. A rod for this type of fishing costs from $12 to $125. The reel will run from $3 on as high as you want to go. A line costs $4. You'll need a fly box—$2. Flies vary but best take about $10 worth along. The stringer is needed at $1.50 and you'll also want a pair of waders.

Trot line fishing is cheaper in original investment but you'll have to find a boat if you make a go of it. A 100-foot trot line with 20 to 25 hooks will cost around $6.

Outdoor Furniture Useful, Decorative

In the warm lazy days of spring and on through the summer, the back yard and patio will bring dividends of leisure-hour pleasure. Furniture, both functional and decorative, will be an important investment.

Comfort and durability are the foremost qualities to look for in purchasing lawn or patio furniture. And the manufacturers, realizing this, steadily improve their lines and manage to include a third asset, beauty, and still a fourth, easy care.

Outdoor furniture built of tubular steel and aluminum are the leading sellers this year, say the local retailers. The more luxurious heavy wrought iron pieces do not approach in popularity because they are expensive and less easily moved; being more ornate, such furniture that is sold is purchased for indoors.

Aluminum rates high with furniture shoppers because of its portability and ease of upkeep. Unlike steel, it requires no refinishing. Saran strips in decorator colors form the seat and back of the chairs which are often of the fold-up design. There are even fold-up loungers which are favorites with those who like to sunbathe or take catnaps. The bronze-toned aluminum teams with new redwood slats for an especially attractive effect. A trend reported by the retailers is the purchase of the aluminum furniture for the interior as well as for outdoors.

More durable than the aluminum, of course, is the tubular steel. A top item is the metal chair, ventilated or not, with the spring steel base. It can be found in either solid color or combinations. Tubular steel also forms the base of a hammock made of water-repellant fabric.

And for the fellow who wants deluxe comfort there are chaise lounges designed with tubular steel base and innerspring cushioning.

ions whose outer coverings zip off for ready replacement. These can double as chairs or can be let down to a reclining position.

Umbrellas are selling fast this year, to serve double duty at the lake as is or anchored to a useful round table in the backyard at home. Cut for 7 to 8 foot spread, the sunshades boast solid-covered tops with floral design underneath.

Redwood furniture is headed for new popularity because its makers have devised less cumbersome styles. Slats of the wood are combined with aluminum or steel to form more handsome pieces. Still available are the long tables with backless benches.

An array of versatile tables is on the market—from game tables to end tables to step tables—some have solid tops; others substitute glass. Chairs which don't fold often stack easily for storage, because retailers are unanimous in advising storage of all lawn furniture during the winter months.

Plastic seat coverings and saran webbing make for easy care, and even the rattan loafers require no refinishing. Colors range from the standard white and black to the refreshing pastels like mint green, pink or turquoise.

Cane chairs in a barrel shape, imported from Hong Kong, are suitable for patio. One unique shape noted is the lazy bowl chair which swells out to larger dimensions at the spot where needed.

Seasonal item that it is, huge stocks of lawn furniture are not carried.

Comfortable Attire Vital To Good Time

Comfort is the cornerstone of summer fun—dressing for an event related to the season, therefore, certainly implies the participant will wear clothing best suited to fulfill the comfort requirement.

What Big Springers wear to summer activities depends, naturally enough, on the particular event.

Fishermen, for example, have their "old fishing clothes" which are reserved for just that purpose. No one, surely, would go out fishing dressed in a coat, slacks, white shirt, tie and dancing pumps. A pair of jeans, a ragged (or ragged) shirt, a battered old hat, (the band adorned with flies) and a serviceable pair of waders is far more in style.

On the other hand there are out-of-doors summer affairs where any idea of comfort was disregarded; the idea was to "look as one should look." High collars, ties, long-sleeved shirts, jackets which were certainly not made of proper for the well-informed and ventilated material, flannel trousers (white in the summer, of course) and high-top shoes were style conscious summer celebrant. And a straw hat, naturally.

Today, even at events which half a century ago would have rated the description "social," the male of the species is very apt to show up in a short-sleeved sport shirt, pair of low-cut loafer shoes and light weight slacks. And probably no hat of any kind.

The ladies, too, have abandoned the mountain of undergarments which Grandma believed had to be a part of every costume. They are very likely to appear in blouse or halter and shorts.

Thus time works its miracle and brings about changes.

Being "dressed as one should" was a law from which there was no appeal in other days. Being dressed in a way to make the summer most enjoyable is the dominating requirement of these enlightened times.

For which let all males be duly and humbly grateful.

Back in the so-called gay '90's, the summer was no great deal different from the fall in the garb worn by those who wanted to be certain they were dressed properly. Old photos clearly reveal that any idea of comfort was disregarded; the idea was to "look as one should look." High collars, ties, long-sleeved shirts, jackets which were certainly not made of proper for the well-informed and ventilated material, flannel trousers (white in the summer, of course) and high-top shoes were style conscious summer celebrant. ## Cabins Require Maintenance

Cabin maintenance has become a concern of hundreds of families in this area.

Because the average cabin at Lake J. B. Thomas or Lake Colorado City is occupied only on a part-time basis, maintenance problems can get to be greater than in a town home.

It's a good business to keep cabins painted and in good repair, hence owners are encouraged to fix-up and paint up.

At Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District strongly recommends that weeds be kept cut and cleared from the vicinity of cabins in order to reduce the hazard of fire which might originate from a careless camper's fire or cigarette tossed into grass from a moving car.

COLLEGE DEGREES

Come From
Savings Accounts

Going to college can be a costly proposition, as many parents can testify. The best way to meet that cost is to prepare in advance, with a regular savings account.

Denise Honey, pictured here, is one of the smart young people who have maintained a regular savings account to First Federal. Denise, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Honey, 1009 Scurry, is a freshman at Howard County Junior College. She holds down an after-school job, and is benefiting from a program of thrift. The First Federal account can help her complete a four-year college education.

First Federal savings accounts grow and G-R-O-W — because they regularly draw a 3½ per cent dividend, made possible by wise investment in home construction.

Parents with children who are dreaming of college, and young people who have the same dream will find that getting a college degree is a lot easier if there is a savings account helping pave the way.

DEAR ABBY

DON'T BELIEVE ALL

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine moved into a new home and I wanted to give her a little gift. I do nice crocheting so I made her a three-piece doily set. I washed and starched it and wrapped it in tissues and ribbons. I know doilies aren't being used much nowadays but I thought these were special. She said she loved them. A friend called me up and told me not to feel hurt if I never saw my doilies used, because this lady said she loved them only to make me feel good but she had no intention of cluttering up her new house with anything so old-fashioned as doilies. My problem is, should I ask for the doilies back (I could sell them for $10 the set. I'm sure) or should I skip it?

A child doesn't make a woman a mother. Pigs can reproduce. She is darned lucky she IS capable of having her own because if the adoption agency investigated HER, she'd never get an adopted child. They are very particular about who gets their babies. Pardon me, Lady, but your ignorance is showing.

DEAR "CHAIN": Skip it, certainly. You have only the word of this "friend" (some friend?) who could have made up the vicious lie just to hurt you. If the lady to whom you gave the doilies said she loved them—believe her.

DEAR ABBY: I am married and have three children. I don't get out much so I like to talk to my friends on the telephone. This one friend of mine gets me sore. When I call her up she always cuts me short by saying something is burning on the stove or somebody is at the door. I am tired of these excuses. What should I do?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell that woman who signed herself "CAPABLE OF HAVING MY OWN": a few things for calling adopted children "secondhand, tossed-out merchandise." HAVING

DEAR CUT: People who have time to kill on the phone usually call someone who hasn't. Find another telephone pal.

Venita Sue Stearns Is Graduating Today

Mrs. Venita Sue Stearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smauley, 1000 Howell, is graduating from Oklahoma State University today with a bachelor of science degree in psychology.

She is a graduate of Big Spring High School; San Angelo Junior College; and Shannon School of Nursing, where she was a member of the faculty staff as an instructor for three and a half years. Her husband, Lt. C. D. Stearns, United States Air Force, is also a student of Oklahoma State University, in the school of Electrical Engineering, where he will graduate in January.

DEAR ABBY: I have a lovely daughter-in-law but she looks like she belongs in a circus. She won't get on a scale, but I think it would take a freight scale to weigh her. She has had four children. By looking at her you can't tell if she is about ready to have the baby or if she has already had it. She eats all day long and I am afraid she will bust out of her skin. Can you tell me a smooth way to get her to lose some weight without hurting her feelings?

MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOM: If you want to help your daughter-in-law, don't be too concerned if the manner in which you get her on a diet is "smooth" or "rough" ... Plead beg, bribe, but get her to a doctor and let him take it from there.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PINK-EY: The surest way to make a man wonder if he still loves you is to keep asking him.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Pro Hawks Name Philip As Coach

ST. LOUIS (SP) — Andy Philip, one of professional basketball's slickest playmakers and a member of the famous University of Illinois 1943 "Whiz Kids," Saturday was hired as coach of the world champion St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Assn. The 36-year-old Philip, the oldest player in the NBA until he retired last month from the Boston Celtics, signed a one-year contract. Salary was not disclosed. But Hawk owner Ben Kerner said Philip would receive "somewhere over $11,000. This is more than the reported $10,000 the Hawks paid Alex Hannum for coaching the club to the title last season. Hannum resigned recently when he failed to reach an agreement with Kerner on a two-year contract. Philip said he definitely will not play next season. He will be handling a title team in his first coaching venture and Andy admitted "this makes it much harder—you have to stay on top." Injuries to Bill Russell and other Celtics "didn't mean a thing" in Boston's playoff defeat by the Hawks, Philip said. He added that the spirit of the Hawk team impressed him.

Maxwell 2 Back In KC Tourney

KANSAS CITY (K) — Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., protected his lead in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament Saturday with a 2-under-par 70 that gave him a 54-hole total of 202, two strokes better than his closest challenger. With one round left in the $22-

500 tournament on the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Country Club course, Vossler's nearest rival was Billy Joe Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who had a 56 Saturday for 204. Vossler, who has been playing well since investing in a new putter and a new pair of glasses six weeks ago, was out in 34 and home in 36. He had two long putts for birdies on the front nine and was steady all the way except for a short putt he missed on the 16th green. Gary Player, the young pro from Johannesburg, South Africa, and PGA Champion Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., each posted 1-under-par 71 for a score of 205 at the three-quarter mark.

Dropo Homers In Chisox Win

CHICAGO (CH) — First baseman Walt Dropo, starting in a game for only the fifth time this season, smashed his first homer of the campaign in the eighth inning Saturday to propel the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 decision over the Baltimore Orioles. The Sox swept the three-game series to compile their longest winning streak. The winner was Bill Fischer, who relieved starter Bob Keegan after five innings and held the Orioles to two hits, one of them Bob Nieman's homer in the seventh that tied the game. Fischer now has a 2-1 record. Bill O'Dell went the route with an eight-hit job to absorb his fifth loss against four victories. The Sox took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and Baltimore tied it in the second. The score remained locked 2-2 until the sixth when Fischer doubled in Jim Landis.

Stars Fall, 9-2, To Cabot Carbon

Kenny Crane helped Cabot to a 9-2 win over the Furr's Stars in American Little League competition Saturday night with a home run in the first inning. One of Crane's teammates was aboard when the four-bagger came and got the Cabot team off to a fast start. Cabot then added two more in the third and got five in the fifth. Cabot blasted out 11 hits while the Stars were held to eight. The Stars managed one run in each of the second and third frames. By winning Saturday night, Cabot pulled into a tie for second in the league only half a game behind Piggy Wiggley.

Gilliland Hurls 2-Hitter In LL

John Gilliland hurred a two-hit shutout Saturday night as the Owls swamped the Gold Sox in National Little League action, 12-0. The only hits given up by the little hurler were to Bill Worley and Cliff Stewart. Meanwhile, his teammates were combining Gold Sox pitching for 29 hits. The Owls, currently in a tie for the league lead, picked up four runs in the third inning, five in the fourth, and three in the final frame. In Friday's action, the Dodgers slapped the Braves, 22-9. The 22 runs came on 18 hits for the Dodgers while the losers managed their runs off eight hits.

Lincoln Road Finally Wins One

CAMDEN, N. J. (CN) — Lincoln Road made every spot a winning one Saturday as the bridesmaid of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness won the $59,100 Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park. It was the colt's first victory of the year. Isaac Blumberg's front running 3-year-old had no Tim Tam to contend with Saturday and there just wasn't enough speed among Lincoln Road's 10 rivals to catch the With Pleasure thoroughbred as he rushed to the front from the gate with his familiar burst of speed. Adele L. Rice's Talent Show chased the 2-5 favorite all the way, making three or four challenges during the mile and an eighth run for 3-year-olds, but Jockey Chris Rogers kept the pressure on Lincoln Road and he was equal to the test. This was Lincoln Road's first stakes victory in a 16-race career. The dark bay colt, beaten by a total of 2 lengths by Tim Tam in the Derby and Preakness, had won two overnight races, finished second five times and taken three thirds before Saturday. He earned $37,865 for Saturday's effort boosting his total earnings to $108,735, not bad for a $3,100 investment. Lincoln Road was timed in 1:49 for the 9 furlongs, 1-3-5 seconds off the track record set by Suburban in 1955. He returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Talent Show, sixth in the Preakness, paid $4.60 and $3.00, while Lil' Fella was $3.20 to show. CAMDEN, N. J. (CN) — An estimated 37,000 fans at Garden State Park Saturday established a new world's daily double betting record of $401,842. The old mark of $378,404 was set at Garden State on May 30, 1956, when a track and New Jersey state attendance record which still stands—45,691—was set.

Redlegs Stop Dodgers, 5-4

CINCINNATI (CN) — The Cincinnati Redlegs made the most of 10 hits and tight relief pitching by Brooks Lawrence Saturday for a second straight victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-4. Walks distributed by Los Angeles starter Don Newcombe and reliever Sandy Koufax also aided the Redlegs cause. Jerry Lynch had four hits in four times at bat for the Redlegs. Lawrence, who hasn't been able to complete a starting assignment this season, came on in the sixth after John Roseboro and Carl Furillo had hit home runs off Cincinnati starter Johnny Klippstein. He stopped the Dodgers with three hits the rest of the way but Klippstein received credit for the victory. The loser was Newcombe. In the third, Gus Bell opened with a walk and Alex Grammas' single was followed by a sacrifice and Jerry Lynch's two-run double.

Davis Rewrites Quarter Record

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (IN) — Despite a world record-matching 440 yard effort by Ohio State's Glenn Davis and five new Big Ten marks, it was Illinois consistency which won the conference outdoor track title Saturday. Davis sped to a 45.8 quarter-mile triumph even though he slackened 10 feet from the finish. His performance was even more notable because it was around two years ago that the present record was set around only one turn by Jim Lea of Southern California in Modesto, Calif., May 26, 1956. Illinois, indoor team champion too, dethroned Indiana with 46 points although the Illini captured only two firsts in the 14-event, two-day program. The Illini took seven second places to build up their total.

ND Texan Excels In Track, Grades

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (IN) — A fleet-footed Texan with a bent for philosophy has scored something of an academic sweep at the University of Notre Dame. William B. Griffith of Smithfield, Tex., was announced as winner of three major graduate fellowships in nationwide competition. Brains didn't keep the Texan from upholding the Irish traditional prowess in the muscle department. He has been a member of Notre Dame's national championship cross-country team in addition to holding several key student government posts. Griffith is the son of Albert J. Griffith, assistant to the editor of the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

THE 500 33 Racers Ready At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (IN) — A field of 33 record-cracking cars was filled Saturday for the 42nd 500-mile auto race May 30, but the relatively slower racers were still liable to elimination in the final qualifying sessions Sunday. The tentative field averaged 143.4 m.p.h., compared with a previous record of 142.5 for last year's starters. Any of the first 33 qualifiers can be eliminated by faster trials later. Four were "bumped" Saturday after the field was first filled tentatively. Freddy Agabashian of Alamo, Calif., qualified for his 12th straight Memorial Day race on his second attempt, after spinning and bending the front axle of his City of Memphis Special in the day's only accident. Agabashian made the slowest speed of the tentative qualifiers on his second run, 142.153 m.p.h.

TCU Lands Garton To Play Football

Two other state champions, quartermiler Glen McCroskey of Hemphill and hurdler Ray Cunningham of Refugio indicated that they would enter TCU.

Braves Move Closer To Top By Scoring Late On Giants

MILWAUKEE (M) — After trailing most of the way, the Milwaukee Braves broke loose for four runs in the eighth to beat the Giants 6-3 Saturday and move within a game and a half of pace-setting San Francisco in the National League race. Going into the eighth one run down, the Braves teed off on Al Worthington and Marv Grissom to sew up the decision. With two on, Andy Pafko and Wes Covington hit back-to-back singles to produce the tying and lead runs. After Pafko was out on an attempted squeeze play, Red Schoendienst drove in a rally and the big Milwaukee rally was capped by a fourth marker when Grissom wild pitched with the bases loaded. The victory went to Milwaukee reliever Don McMahon, now 2-0, who replaced Gene Conley in the eighth. The defeat was charged to Worthington, who was unable to hold a 3-2 lead inherited from Mike McCormick in the sixth. Worthington is now 3-2. Braves outfielder Billy Bruton, reinstated to the active list Saturday, made his first appearance since last July 11. He entered the game in the ninth.

Patterson Stays Put

WACO, Tex. (W) — Jack Patterson, head track coach at Baylor, announced Saturday that he had rejected an offer from Texas A&M College to become head track coach there. Patterson, in announcing his decision, said he appreciated the A&M offer but felt Baylor athletics was moving into a successful period and wished to remain with the Waco school.

Juniors To Open Play On Monday

The six-team Junior Teen-Age baseball circuit begins competition here Monday night. The contingents will stay busy through the third week in July—a double header is booked three nights a week through July 16. The circuit, which has Doyle Thomas as its president, is composed of the Burns, Rotary, Kiwanis, Knights of Pythias, Optimists and Big Spring Herald. The Burns, managed by Tom Farquhar, are the defending titlists. Fact is, the Burns have won the past two years. Other managers in the circuit this season include L. B. Thomas, Rotary; Bill Battle and Huck Doe, Kiwanis; Roscoe Newell, KP's; Lloyd Duncan, Optimists; and Red Eubanks, Big Spring Herald.

Klaus Shines In Bosox Win

KANSAS CITY (K) — A pair of substitute shortstops—Billy Klaus for Boston and Billy Hunter for Kansas City—became the hero and the goat Saturday as the Red Sox snatched a 5-4 come-from-behind victory over Kansas City. Klaus, who came into the game after Don Buddin had gone out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, hit a ninth inning single that scored Jackie Jensen with the winning run. Hunter had replaced Joe DeMaestri who was hit by a pitch in the sixth inning. He set the scene for Klaus' blow with an error that should have retired the side. With the score tied, 4-4, Hunter threw out Frankie Malzone but Jensen drew a walk off reliever Tom Gorman. After Sammy White fouled out, Ted Lepcio hit a routine grounder to Hunter who fumbled the killing ball before Murray Wall lined out to end the inning.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Victoria Junior College, winner of the National JC track and field meet six of the past seven years, will de-emphasize in track in order to build up its football program. . . Cisco won't be nearly as strong in track in '59 as it was this spring, either — factors which should hurry HCJC of Big Spring to the front faster in the endeavor. . . John Tindle and Ray Clay, HCJC's two Negro athletes who transferred to the local school from New Mexico A&M at mid-term, will be eligible here again in 1958-59. . . There was some speculation that both would be ruled out, due to a vague reading of the Texas Junior College Conference constitution, but a vote was taken among members and Tindle and Clay won by a margin of 16-6. . . Larry McCulloch, the former Big Spring High School basketball mentor who is now athletic director at Odessa JC, probably would have been a whole lot happier had the school hired a full time assistant (for all athletics) to succeed Glenn Smith as Odessa golf coach. . . Jimmy Russell was named to the post and indications are he will be asked to handle the golf team only. . . Incidentally, three of Odessa's four stellar golfers would have transferred to New Mexico University on scholarships had Russell not landed the OJC job. . . Those Odessa players will pass up the National Public Schools Sectional qualifying meet here to try and win berths in the National Open. A golfer can't do both. . . Jack Patterson, Baylor's track coach, says the talent in Texas high school circles is comparatively thin this year, with the exception of distance runners, who are outstanding. . . Not long ago in California, a golfer named Aaron Quick rolled his ball into a lagoon while playing in a tournament. . . It came to rest on a paper plate that was floating on the pond. . . Quick took off his shoes, waded into the water with a wedge in hand and stroked the ball off the plate onto the green. . . He then putted the ball into the hole for a par three on the 180-yard hole.

Coliseum there, was made to order for the likes of Big Spring's Jim Zapp, who set a home run record here a few years ago. . . Zapp became locally famous for the lowering home run bolts he hit over the left field fence here. . . Gary Roberson, the Midland product who starred in basketball for Odessa JC last season, is headed for Idaho State College, although TCU has been seeking to get him back. . . In a triangular track meet at Cedar Falls, Iowa, recently, the Iowa Teachers scored 135 points to nine for Upper Iowa and three for Coe. . . Did you hear the story making the rounds recently about the Los Angeles baseball fan who, after seeing the Dodgers blasted again, remarked "Do you think I'll ever get major league ball in Los Angeles?" . . . Bob Bylheim, the local linkster, says his partner in the upcoming Odessa Pro-Amateur tournament, W. E. Ramsey, can read a green as good as anyone he ever saw.

Roberson Headed For Idaho State

McNitts, Inc., of Cleveland, Ohio will publish The Blue Book of Junior College Athletics early next year, featuring pictures and biographies of 30 outstanding JC coaches. . . One of them will be Harold Davis, veteran HCJC mentor. . . Davis was recommended to the magazine by Dr. Reed Swenson, president of the National JC Athletic Association. . . Davis, by the way, is getting a $600 per annum boost in salary by the local school. . . It's a most deserving raise — he's done much to make the rest of the country cognizant there is a college in Big Spring. . . John Goodell, the former Longhorn league slugger, is now with Amarillo of the Western Association. . . Not long ago, when a Notre Dame alumni banquet was staged in Philadelphia, the young man checking guests at the door refused to admit such names as Harry Stuhldreher and Rex Enright. . . When Marty Bell, the SMU athletic director, appeared, the gate tender said: "Go right in Mr. Bell's. . . Tommy Jackson, Andrews' fine footballer who never did play his best against Big Spring, is headed for the University of Texas while Bill Reeves, the 6-4 boy local athlete thought was the best basketball player on the Plainview club, is bound for Texas A&M. . . Reeves averaged 17 points a game for the Bulldogs last season. . . Paul Hyatt, Amarillo Palo Duro's standout cager, is also quite a baseball player. . . He led District 3-AAAA in hitting, with a .500 average in conference play. . . The ex-Big Springer attending Amarillo High, Billy White, hit .3-AAA pitching at a .345 clip, getting ten blows in 29 visits to the plate. . . Jewell's Reward got a lot of backing in the Kentucky Derby this year, even though his ancestry is suspect. . . Neither of his parents Jet Jewell or Belle Jeep, ever won a race. . . His jockey was Eddie Arcaro, however, which might have prompted the hunch betters.

Davis To Be Featured In Magazine

Harlin Dauphin Is Named Head Coach At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Harlin Dauphin of Hawkins, former football player for Hardin-Simmons University, has been named head coach at Stanton High School. . . He succeeds Bowden Cook, who spent two years at the helm. . . Cook's contract was not renewed. . . Dauphin has served as assistant coach at Hawkins (north of Tyler) for the past six years. . . He has devoted most of his time to developing linemen. . . He is married and the father of three children, all girls. . . Supt. of Schools L. M. Hays said Dauphin would name his own assistant. . . The future plans of Cook have not been announced. . . He said some time ago he planned to remain in coaching. . . Dauphin's assistant will probably have the added job of coaching the basketball team. . . Stanton is a member of District 6-A.

Jim Myers Brings Single Wing Back

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The single wing is returning to the Southwest Conference and, as taught by Jim Myers, it may pose quite a problem for the foes of Texas A&M. . . The last time a single wing team played in the league — in 1954 — it won the championship. That was Arkansas under Bowdoin Wyatt. But Wyatt went to Tennessee and there has been nothing but T formations in the conference since then. . . Myers comes to Texas A&M

KANKEES' GENE LAMB

VERSATILE YOUTH Lamb Is Mantle Of Li'l Leagues

Perhaps the biggest one-two punch in Little League baseball circles here is Gene Lamb, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gene Lamb of 1104 Ridgeroad. . . The sturdy youngster, who moved here with his family from Oklahoma two years ago, not only is the most feared slugger in the National Little League but is an A-1 pitcher, as well. . . When he isn't pitching or batting, Gene is catching — he has the reputation for having the best throwing arm among the small fry baseballers. . . He's considered a stellar infielder but is so valuable to his club, the Yankees, behind the plate he can't be spared for infield duties. . . Lamb has clubbed five home runs this season, which is still in its infancy. He's driven out 14 hits in 19 attempts for a robust .737 average. He has 20 runs batted in. . . The Yankees, perennial contenders for the National Little League flag, are still undefeated in league competition, thanks largely to Lamb and his many talents. . . Gene has won both his pitching starts. He beat the Braves, giving up only two hits, then stopped the VFW with a three-hitter. He yielded two runs to the Braves, only one to the VFW. . . Young Lamb performed in Little League ball at Bethany, Okla., for two years prior to coming here a year ago last December. He hit ten home runs as a nine and ten-year old. . . He was born in Oklahoma City Oct. 6, 1945. His seven-year-old brother, Larry Wayne, is an infielder and pitcher in the farm leagues here. . . Baseball isn't Gene's only sport. He played quarterback on the Seventh Grade football team here last fall, under Hugh Hamm. He

Yanks' Turley Has Baseball World Abuzz

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Turley credits his self-discipline and "just plain old common sense" for the amazing pitching start that has all baseball bug-eyed. . . Friday night's 8-1 triumph over the penniless Detroit Tigers was the New York Yankee fireballer's seventh without a loss. He has completed all seven of his starts and hurled four shutouts. The Tigers ended Turley's string of scoreless innings at 26 with a run in the ninth inning. . . Turley's earned run average is a gaudy 0.86. The hefty 27-year-old right hander has yielded only six earned runs—four of them in a single game. . . "For years I tried to get by on 'my own arm,'" he recalled. "Now I'm using my head, too." . . Gifted with one of the game's finest fast balls, Turley nevertheless was plagued by wildness until last season. He said Jim Turley, the Yankee pitching coach, "finally woke me up." . . "Jim kept telling me that I could be a great pitcher," said Turley. "All I had to do, he said, was get smart. A lot of pitchers who are having troubles try to develop another pitch. There wasn't any sense in my doing that—I couldn't control the pitches I already had." . . Turley took Turner's advice and started his now-famous no-windup delivery. . . "It helped me a lot," said Turley. "Another thing, I take a deep breath before every pitch. It relaxes my shoulder muscles. The whole secret to what success I've enjoyed is this: I concentrate more, relax more and I don't worry as much." . . Banked all their runs in the first inning, the Cubs upset the Jets in American Little League play here Friday night, 7-5. . . Kenny Court was the winning hurler, Kent Brown the loser. . . The defeat was the second of the season for the Jets, which had been tied for the league lead. . . Johnny Allen clubbed a first-inning home run for the Cubs, the drive coming with two mates aboard. Frank Sabatello had a single and a double for the winners. . . Kenny Patterson drove out two hits for the losers. . .

Longhorns Host Cougars Friday

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas, with eight of its 10 regulars hitting better than .300 this season, hosts Houston Friday for the right to play Arizona and a crack at the National Baseball Tournament. . . Texas enters the NCAA competition for the eighth time in 12 seasons and will be favored to whip the Cougars and travel to Tucson for the best two of three there June 5-7. . . Houston has a spotty 11-12 record but boasts of a top notch southpaw, Rayford Hamill, who has a 1.95 earned run average. . . Hamill probably will face Texas' George Myers in the sudden death game. Myers won eight conference games without a loss. . . Texas batters posted a .317 average, the best Southwest Conference record in the post-World War II era. Max Alvis, third baseman, hit .403 and Woody Woodman, second base, hit .402 to lead the league. . . The Longhorns, coached by Bibb Faulk, have won 35 of the 43 baseball championships awarded by the conference. Texas won 19 of 24 games this season.

BUSSO LOOKS TO WEDDING

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — "What's next?" they asked Johnny Busso, a professional fist fighter who had just defeated the French lightweight champion, Lahouri Godhi. . . Johnny spoke up before his manager, Nunzio DeLuca, could mention the matches he had in mind. . . "Next for me is being best man at a wedding," said Johnny, pressing an ice pack against his slightly puffed left eye. "My kid brother is getting married June 7 and I'm the best man. . . The way Johnny said it, this was the most important thing in his future. . . Busso, 23, a free-swinging New York lightweight, won a unanimous decision over Godhi in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden. The officials called it lopsided. Referee Mark Conn 7-2-1, Judge Bill Reith 7-3 and Judge Harold Barnes 8-2. The AP card was 7-3 for Busso. . . Next door in the loser's dressing room, Godhi's handlers were telling visitors that the trouble was the Garden—not the fighter. . . "They all tighten up the first time in the Garden," said Jersey Jones, who handled Godhi's affairs on this side of the pond. . . "In Washington where he beat Larry Baker April 18 he felt at home. Small club and everything. In the Garden he was trying too hard." . . Jersey also had a few words for the referee, none complimentary. He blamed Conn for not letting Godhi fight in the clinches when he had one hand free. . . The facts of the matter were that Godhi simply did not fight enough. There were no knockdowns but Busso landed the heavier punches and pressed the action most of the time. Godhi was reluctant to mix freely, especially in the early rounds when his flicking jab often fell far short. . . Godhi, 140, took a 20-fight wing streak into the Garden against Busso, 140½, who is ranked fifth among the lightweight contenders by the National Boxing Association. Godhi went into the ring the favorite.

PECOS PROSPECTOR NEARING NEW WORLD RECORD DEPTH

The eyes of the oil drilling world are focused on Pecos County this weekend where a new world's depth record for an oil rig is expected within the next 48 hours.

Saturday morning, the Phillips Petroleum No. 1-EE University drilled at 22,470 feet—exactly 100 feet short of the present record of 22,570 feet held by an oil well in Louisiana, the Richardson & Bass No. 1-11 L.E.E. Humble. The Richardson well also holds the world's record for a producing zone, at a plug-back depth of 21,443 feet in a miocene zone.

The Phillips project has been making between 40 and 50 feet of hole a day and made 50 feet between 7 a.m. Friday and the same time Saturday. If this drilling schedule is continued, the project should break the record sometime Monday. No production has been found as yet, however.

At present, it is projected to 23,000 feet. The wildcat is staked 12 miles east of Fort Stockton, 1,980 feet from north and east lines, University survey.

Another well in this area, Phillips & Sinclair No. 1-A Montgomery is currently the seventh deepest well ever drilled when at 20,414 feet Saturday in line with dolomite. It is 13 miles south and slightly east of Fort Stockton, 2,004 feet from north and 1,984 from east lines, 17-134, T&STL Survey. It is contracted to 22,000 feet.

Three Failures In Sterling Co.

Three wildcat attempts in Sterling County have been reported as disasters this weekend.

W. W. Murray No. 1 Wayne Harris is a failure at 1,895 feet. The wildcat was 18 miles southeast of Sterling City, 330 from north and east lines, 94-6, H&TC Survey.

The Dean Stoltz No. 1 Hunt has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 2,002 feet. It was three miles southwest of Sterling City, 1,660 from south and 330 from west lines, 2-T, T&P Survey.

About 14 miles southeast of Sterling City, W. O. Cox Jr. of Midland gave up on the No. 1 L. G. Clark. The failure was abandoned at 1,467 feet. Location was 990 from north and 660 from west lines, 24-A, CG&SF Survey.

Lower Drilling Costs Sighted

HOUSTON — Hope for the "establishment of a desirable trend" was voiced this week by a national oilwell drilling industry spokesman commenting on recent reductions of prices for rock bits and drilling muds.

J. U. Teague, president of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, commended the suppliers for their action.

"This is a welcome assistance to a hard-pressed industry," Teague said. He noted that contractors' footage charges to the operators are currently at lower levels than at any time since 1943, while drilling costs other than the contractors' charges have more than doubled in the same period.

"We sincerely applaud the efforts of suppliers to stimulate drilling activity," the AODC president said. "We also recognize that price reductions will spur drilling activity only if operators can foresee solutions to other pressing economic problems. Oil producers are much more likely to be inspired to expand drilling programs by the prospect of good markets at fair prices for their oil."

"We believe that long-range benefit can be achieved if the supply industry can absorb these price reductions by effecting economies in their own operations. In the inter-dependent oil industry, the stability of each segment is essential to maintain general economic good health," he concluded.

Teague is president of Columbia Drilling Co., Houston.

Texans To Attend Tidlands Parley

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Saturday that five top advisors would attend the attorneys general tidlands conference in New Orleans May 27.

The five states involved in the Federal Court suit affecting offshore lands will be represented at the meeting.

Accompanying Wilson will be James Ludlum, James Rogers, Houghton Brownlee and Chrys Dougherty, all assistant attorneys general, and Austin Attorney James P. Hart.

Ikard Import Bill Makes Little Headway In Congress

HOUSTON (AP)—Congressional history on proposed mandatory controls over oil imports is repeating itself.

Rejection of the Ikard Bill by the House Ways and Means Committee is similar to action taken on a controls proposal in April, 1955, by the Senate Finance Committee.

In preference to Ikard's quota-tariff plan, the House group has recommended a revised version of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act's defense amendment that authorizes the current voluntary program to curtail imports. The Senate committee in 1955 authored the defense amendment while rejecting a Neely amendment that called for a flat 10 per cent quota system.

While the committee actions are similar, the reaction from advocates of mandatory controls is in sharp contrast.

Independent oil operators in 1955 reluctantly accepted the defense amendment on grounds the intent behind the amendment was to hold petroleum imports to their 1954 relationship to domestic production.

Already displeased with the voluntary curtailment program, the independents now fear the House committee action eliminates any historical background indicating it was the intent of Congress in 1955 to hold imports to their 1954 ratio.

The independents contend the Ikard bill would maintain such a ratio. Capt. Matthew Carson, ad-

Guthrie Spots 3 New Tries In H-Glasscock

C. W. Guthrie has staked three tries in the Howard-Glasscock pool of Howard County this weekend, while two new projects will be started in the Snyder pool.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, C. W. Guthrie No. 1-G Mary Chalk is staked 1,650 feet from north and 330 from east lines, 93-29, W&NW Survey, and 11 miles southeast of Coahoma. It will drill to 1,500 feet, as will the Guthrie No. 2-G Chalk. The No. 2-G Chalk is 1,650 from north and 990 from east lines, 93-29, W&NW Survey.

Guthrie No. 2-F Chalk is 990 from south and 330 from west lines of W&NW Survey, and 11 miles southeast of Coahoma. It will also drill to 1,500 feet.

Humble staked the No. 3 M. M. Edwards in the Snyder field to drill to 2,400 feet. Drillsite is 330 from north and 990 from west lines, 32-30-15, T&P Survey.

In the same field, Rankin & Wilson No. 1 Southland is about seven miles southeast of Coahoma. Drillsite is 330 from south and 990 from west lines, 26-30-15, T&P Survey, and operator will penetrate to 3,200 feet.

Time To Spend, Says Magazine

HOUSTON — Start construction now—today and not tomorrow is the time for industry to build and expand. That's the opinion Petroleum Refiner, oil publication of Gulf Publishing Co., Houston, expressed in an editorial, "You Oughta' Build Now."

In spite of the present economic situation, the magazine states, there is no better time to start turning loose of dollars slated for construction projects. And even though companies cannot see present markets increasing, now is the ideal time to either build that new plant or eliminate production bottlenecks.

According to Petroleum Refiner, the present slack in demand has created several situations which enable companies to get the most plant for their construction dollars. These are:

1. Rapid equipment deliveries.
2. The best prices on equipment.
3. Availability of the best engineering staffs and creative talent.
4. More time for the engineering and planning phases of construction.
5. More rapid completion of the entire project.

To sum it up, "rarely have conditions been so good—and those companies which take advantage of this market to build will come real close to 'getting it wholesale,'" the editorial concludes.

Reorganization Plan Is Voted

DALLAS (AP)—A 241 million dollar plan to reorganize with Texaco Seaboard Inc. was approved by holders of about 86 per cent of the stock of Seaboard Oil Co. yesterday.

The boards of Seaboard, the Texas Co. and Texas Seaboard already have approved the plan.

The assets of Seaboard will be transferred to Texaco Seaboard, Inc., a wholly-owned Texas Co. subsidiary, in exchange for 3,660,159 shares of capital stock of the Texas Co.

Russell McFarland, Seaboard president, said he expects the plan to be completed by June 2. Texaco stock, currently valued at about $6 dollars per share, will be distributed to Seaboard shareholders on a share-for-share basis.

Cosden Stonewall Strawn Test Near

Cosden Petroleum Corp. was ready to test the Strawn section at a wildcat in Stonewall County this weekend.

The try, Cosden No. 1-A Minor Alexander, was perforated from 5,362-70 feet and was to be treated Saturday. While drilling, operator found some shows of oil in the Strawn section on a drillstem test.

The wildcat is about five miles north of Hamlin, 1,980 feet from north and east lines, Austin & Williams Survey No. 4.

Martin Wildcat Drills To 11,205

The Hamon & Republic No. 1 Holton Estate wildcat in Martin County deepened at 11,205 feet in shale at the end of the week on its way to test the Devonian. The wildcat is six miles northwest of Tarzan, 5,872 feet from south and 7,577 from east lines of League 246, Wheeler CSL Survey.

Operator encountered good shows of oil in the Strawn at 10,800 feet but has reported nothing else since then. It is projected to 12,000 as a Devonian exploration.

College Advisors

ABILENE—Two prominent oil leaders William A. Blakely, Dallas, and E. Brahm, Houston, have accepted invitations to become members of the advisory committee of the McMurry College school of business administration.

Carson contends imports form only one factor in the current slump in demand for crude oil and petroleum products. He lists increased production of distillates and general business conditions as other factors.

Carson last week bluntly told the San Antonio convention of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. the Ikard Bill alone would not restore their lost markets.

Four days later the House committee, by a reported 14-10 vote, rejected the Ikard Bill as an amendment to the trade act.

The independents now are hoping for favorable action on the House floor or later in a Senate committee or by the Senate itself.

Week Brings Five New Wildcat Tests

Five wildcat locations in as many counties were announced this weekend. They are in Scurry, Andrews, Gaines, Crane, and Nolan counties.

In Scurry, Humble No. 1-B Billy Jay Eiland is a Glorieta try about 10 miles northwest of Snyder. Drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines, 436-97, H&TC Survey. Drilling depth is 3,100 feet.

W. E. Bakke & Moody Properties will try the Devonian to 12,900 feet at the No. 1 Sinclair-University in Andrews County. Drillsite is 1,885 feet from south and 660 from east lines, 1-9, USL Survey, and five miles southwest of Andrews.

The Gaines wildcat is Hill & Meeker, Republic Gas, Ambassador Oil & H. L. Brown Jr. No. 1 England. It is a Devonian exploration to 13,000 feet. Location is 660 feet from north and west lines, 3-C 43, PSL Survey, and 11 miles east of Seminole.

Ralph Lowe of Midland staked the No. 1 Gulf-Cowden in Crane County as a 6,000-foot project. Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines, 2-2, H&TC Survey, and 10 miles southwest of Crane. Fletcher Oil & Gas No. 1 Newman Ranch is located in Nolan County about 1 1/2 miles east of Sweetwater to test the Ellenburger to 6,400 feet. It is 660 from south and west lines of the northwest quarter, 53-21, T&P Survey.

Will Deepen 3 Garza Wells

R. S. Anderson of Midland will deepen three old wells in the Rocker A field of Garza County for tests in the Glorieta.

The old wells are about four miles northwest of Justiceburg and near the Anderson No. 5 Stanolind-Stoker which was completed the middle of last month as a discovery in the Clear Fork. The well had been producing since 1955 from the Glorieta.

The Anderson No. 2 Stanolind-Stoker is located 330 from south and 2,310 from west lines, 938-97, H&TC Survey and will drill to 3,150 feet. The old depth is 2,471.

The No. 3 Stanolind-Stoker is 330 from north and 990 from east lines, 938-97, H&TC Survey. It was originally drilled to 2,463 feet but will be deepened with cable equipment to 3,150 feet.

Anderson No. 4 Stanolind-Stoker, which was drilled to 2,250 feet will penetrate to 3,150 feet also. It is 330 from south and east lines, 939-97, H&TC Survey.

NOTHING SO NEW—NOTHING SO NICE—NEAR THE PRICE!

THE '58 CHEVROLET is the one honest-to-goodness new car in the low-price field—the only one with beautiful new gull-wing styling. And you'll find it offers the year's most rewarding advances in ride and performance.

It stands out like a newly minted coin. Its clean-lined beauty—its flashing reflexes—give it a new look... a new feel.

Yet, with all its exclusive advances in styling and engineering, this new Chevrolet is priced surprisingly low. In the models most people buy it's actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. * So any way you look at this new Chevy, you just can't make a more beautiful buy.

Every model gives you a choice of two all-new rides that are as smooth as cornsilk, an all-new Body by Fisher that's lower, longer and wider, an all-new Safety-Girder frame that's X-built for extra rigidity.

If you haven't yet driven a new Chevy, don't put off the pleasure any longer.

The only all-new car in the low-price field.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

The biggest irrigation well south of Big Spring is located on the farm of Elbert Long in working just across the Glasscock County line. The well which is not too far from the San Angelo Highway below Forsan tested 750 gallons per minute, but Long says it will pump 1,000 gallons.

He drilled the hole 250 feet deep and water stood at 65 feet before starting the pump. Pumping pulled the water level down to about 100 feet.

This is tight black soil and will probably always need extra water to make a crop. Long says the Soil Conservation Service from Sterling City laid out the ditches and lines, and the water will be run down the row.

He intends to plant the whole 207 acres of cultivated land to be irrigated within the next few days. He wanted to grow some cotton but there was only a few extra acres allotted to new farms. The ASC committee didn't get him any of it.

H. M. Fitzhugh, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Lamesa National Farm Loan Assn. located in Big Spring, has been given an extra acre to cover. Starting this week he will spend each Monday, Wednesday and Friday in Stanton, and will be in office at Big Spring the other three days.

The reason for the extra days is because the Stanton secretary, John Storey, is being sent to Spur on a temporary assignment. Fitzhugh says people wishing to see him can find him on the above mentioned days at the place designated.

Before taking his present job in September of 1952, Fitzhugh served seven years as county agricultural agent of Glasscock County.

There seems to be two sides to the bracer question. For quite some time people have heard that bracers were mistreated in this country, and they've also heard that farmers were being bled into insolvency because of rising labor costs.

Elmer Kelson, farm writer of the San Angelo Standard-Times, recently made a week-long trip of 1,000 miles into old Mexico to find out just what the bracer is, how he lives and to determine his welfare both before and after he has worked in the United States.

Kelson will publish a series of six articles on his findings, the first of which appears in today's Standard-Times.

Houston Glasson, the fast-talking auctioneer from Lamesa, says the only thing keeping the livestock auction sales going has been the influx of cattle from Louisiana and other points back east. Several auction sales have dropped in volume or stopped altogether for this reason. He said the weekly sales at Midland had been closed for some time.

Glasson now auctions two sales a week—one at Lamesa on Mondays and the Big Spring sale on Wednesdays.

"I've also been doing some extra work at San Angelo, Lubbock and wherever I'm needed," he said.

He thinks the market may have reached its peak, with certain classes of cattle beginning to drop. Weekly price variations are often the result of sales at the big cities.

"If they have a heavy run of cattle at Chicago, Kansas City and Fort Worth," Glasson said, "our prices out here will drop just a little."

The country northeast of Garden City is changing from green to brown as the weeds mature and die. Bismarck Schafer says the filree and bitterweed are dying out, but there is a nice cover of young grass coming along.

Schafer says the bitterweed gets thicker all the time and this spring it seems to be everywhere. Ranchers have had to alternate their sheep by penning them a few days then turning them out to range. Even with this plan, however, there were some losses.

Schafer went out of the sheep business during the drought of 1952 and now keeps cattle only. He says it looks like a lot of ranches will be forced to quit raising sheep unless some way is found to control bitterweed.

Incidentally, in today's art show on the second floor of the Settles Hotel, Mrs. Bismarck Schafer is displaying a picture of Old Blue, a famous longhorn steer.

Old Blue, so named because of his streaky blue hair, was born down on the Nueces River in 1870.

Suspended Terms For Cuban Rebels

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—District Judge James V. Allred gave 34 men suspended sentences today for conspiring to run arms to Cuban rebels.

He set aside the jury conviction of another man, the chaplain for the rebel sympathizers, and pronounced him innocent.

Three-year suspended terms were set for 33 of the band, including two leaders. The 34th, contact man Anthony Del Conte of Mexico City, drew a two-year suspended sentence.

In the cases of Arnaldo G. Barron, leader of the party, and Mario Lecour, second in command, Judge Allred ordered probation for five years.

Del Conte also was placed under five years' probation. The other all drew three-year probation.

The court set aside the conviction of Ignacio Mosqueda Avila, chaplain for the little band seized in the Gulf of Mexico with a boatload of arms and ammunition.

PLEASE DON'T HURT MY LITTLE CHILD

Dear Driver:

Friday was the happiest day of the year for my little child. THE LAST DAY OF SCHOOL! To her it opened a bright and wonderful three months of joyous outdoor freedom. Past and forgotten will be the problems and pitfalls of acquiring a second grade education. Her eyes already sparkle with anticipation of vacation days filled with nothing but carefree play.

When you love a little one so much you can't help but share their elation. They have a way of making their happiness contagious. Her mother and I find, however, that our share of their happiness is dampened when we occasionally experience a terrifying thought of what could happen to them this summer. These thoughts seem to occur every time we see a car traveling down our quiet street at more than thirty miles per hour.

Sure we expect cuts and bruises and skinned knees, and buckets full of tears from her eyes. These things are just part of growing up. What worries us is what could happen if one of her thoughtless, impulsive dashes after a runaway ball should carry her in front of a speeding car . . . A car driven by someone who, in the same thoughtless impulsive manner is attempting to save a few unimportant seconds. Little ones can be taught safety, but just like older folks, sometimes they forget. We have spent many hours teaching our little one to be careful. But just in case she forgets, won't you try to remember?

LAKESIDE LIVING

Lakeside living is real living, take it from any of the 450 to 500 families who have cabins along the 52 miles of Lake J. B. Thomas shoreline.

Five years ago there was almost nothing at the big lake impounded by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. In October of 1953 the lake caught its first water — 4,500 acre feet. Those who early picked out cabin sites had a lot of faith because there was no water. Now, the lake level has risen by 54 feet and 192,500 acre feet. The largest settlement in Borden County has mushroomed around its shores.

Besides the district, which leases cabin sites, there are four private owners who have done likewise. Almost every conceivable type of structure has been constructed or moved in — but in almost every instance owners have taken real pride in their places. They've done most of it themselves, pitching with hammer and saw, with mortar and tile, or with pick and shovel.

In lakeside living, you dress for enjoyment and you tidy up the place to make it pleasant and neat. And then you sit back and live it up. There's nothing like it! Ask those who have a cabin and who find it so wonderful they have taken up almost permanent residence in their cabin homes.

AVID ANGLERS are W. D. Caldwell and his son, Butch, who were ready to try their hand at fishing when the picture above was snapped. Although the cottage has been on the shore of Lake Thomas only about three years, the results of Mrs. Caldwell's "green fingers" are evident in the garden area. Here, she and Candis Stuteville prepare to send "the men" off on their fishing spree.

SAFETY FIRST ALONG WITH FUN is the idea at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. John Summers, when they and their friends gather for fishing and swimming. Even the coach dog, Shine, has his jacket, which is being adjusted by John Bair and his mother, Mrs. George Bair. J. T. Dunnam, Summers and Bair stand in the background as jackets are fastened on Barry Dunnam by his mother and on Steven Summers by his mother. At left, Gary Dunnam adjusts his own belt, while David Summers, center front, keeps his eye on the photographer.

GARDENING GOES ON along with the fun at the Lake Thomas cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Luke LeBleu. The house has been a gathering place for the LeBleus and their friends for about 18 months, and landscaped with plantings as well as native shrubs, it affords a pleasant spot for relaxation. Here, Mr. and Mrs. LeBleu were caught by the camera as they paused in their work to chat with a neighbor, Cliff Proffitt, center. (Photos by Keith McMillin)

Pups In Rare Pose

Mrs. Alex Locke has the full attention of blonde Matilda and little Smarty, but John L. seems determined to maintain his independence, at the same time eavesdropping. These are the nicknames of the four-month-old pups of Aganee Blanca, the Lockes' registered Afghan Hound. Chances are they will greet you with a handshake. To find them all three still at the same time is rare good fortune.

Raising Pedigreed Afghan Hounds 'By The Book' Is Quite A Hobby

By HELEN HURT

You have heard of raising babies strictly by the book. Well, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Alex Locke, 1511-B Wood, have been helping Aganee Blanca raise her offspring by the book. And it has been an experience.

Aganee Blanca, translated White Princess, is a registered Afghan Hound, an aristocrat of the canine kingdom. The Lockes acquired her last year in Oxnard, Calif. On January 19, she had a litter of seven pups sired by Firman v.d. Irminsul who comes from a long line of German champions. Of the little family only two remain, the others being settled with local people and one having been sent off to California.

Such exotic names they bear.

There are Sheik, Akbar, Mogul, Ossalah and Isis, who was nicknamed Smarty. Still at home are Cheva, who is called Matilda because of her happy disposition, and Said, who became known as John L. because of his bushy eyebrows and his obvious leadership qualities.

In the litter there were three blondes and four brunettes, which might have been something of a puzzle to their blonde mother. However, the queenly dog, who is herself from the lineage of champions, has tried her best to rear her youngsters in the best Afghan tradition. The Lockes' guide has been "The Complete Dog Book," an official publication of the American Kennel Club, and the book has offered valuable counsel for their other dog, Terry Lee, a Welsh terrier.

Of course Afghan Hounds are rare in this country. So far as the Lockes know, their dog's litter was the only one in the state at that time. According to authorities, the breed was first documented during the period 3000 to 4000 B.C. when the Afghan became recognizable as such near the Mountain of Moses, which was then part of ancient Egypt. Its history is traced to Afghanistan where the dog's rugged characteristics were developed.

The Afghan has proven its adjustment to extremes of weather and its remarkable ability as a hunting dog. The Lockes have found the Afghan gentle, easy to care for and resistant to disease. The long soft coat acts as insulation. Although still frisky and playful as all pups are, the offspring of White Princess will gentle into the friendly but dignified and aloof canines which Afghans are.

The dogs are the Lockes' most time-consuming hobby. Natives of Fresno, Calif., the couple went to high school together and married about three years ago after she had graduated from the University of California and had taught home-making at the Oxnard High School for a year. She commuted to Stanton for a teaching stint the first year they lived here.

Mrs. Locke is now Home Service Advisor for the Texas Electric Service Co. and a member of the American Association of University Women. Interested in AAUW's project of service to the state hospital, she has served often as a hostess at the hospital parties.

Lt. Locke, who has been flight commander and instructor pilot at Webb AFB for more than three years, shares his wife's enthusiasm about their Mercedes Benz 300 SL. And it goes without saying that he's a dog lover, too.

Pre-Nuptial Festivities Are Saturday Events

With the approach of June, the fragrance of orange blossoms and other flowers traditional with weddings is very much in the air. The gala parade of pre-nuptial parties continued Saturday, with two events taking the form of a patio supper and a gift tea.

PATIO SUPPER

Naming four bridal pairs as honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Piner and Mrs. Ira Thurman entertained with a patio supper Saturday evening. Guests were the engaged couples and their parents.

Included in the group of four was Jimmie Lou Angier, who will be married to Robert Angel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel on June 15. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Angier of Huntsville. Also, Frances Reagan and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Reagan; she is to become the bride of Walter L. Wheat, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Wheat, on Aug. 16.

Another was Peggy Hogan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover, who will be married to Boone Powell Jr. on June 7. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Powell of Dallas.

Kenda McGibbon, bride-elect of Charles Webb, was the fourth honoree. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, 108 Cedar Road, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Haiz Webb of Dallas.

Informal visiting was the diversion; the supper was served in the Piner garden with guests seated at tables covered in red-checked cloths and holding candles in hurricane lamps.

GIFT TEA

Green and white, the honoree's chosen colors, were teamed in creating the table setting for a gift tea honoring Frances Reagan, Saturday afternoon. Fresh garden flowers, majoring in snapdragons and lilies with magnolia leaves, formed bouquets in the entertainment rooms at the home of Mrs. Ben F. Johnson.

Against the white of the cut-work linen cloth stood a silver candelabrum decked with white daisies and bells of Ireland. Punch-bowl and sandwich trays were of silver and dainties were served in crystal containers.

Guests were presented by Mrs. Johnson to the honoree, her mother Mrs. Horace B. Reagan, and to Mrs. James F. Wheat, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

From France To Texas

Anne-Catherine and Anne-Catherine, Texas-born daughters of 1st Lt. and Mrs. Francis Walsh, are wearing new Paris dresses which they acquired on a visit to their parents' European home. Their little-girl talk is entirely in French since returning to the States early this month.

The Charm Of The French Is Evidenced In The Walsh Family

These soft musical sounds which come from the house at 304 Dixie are unmistakably French. It is the language of the occupants, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Francis Walsh, who are fortunate enough to be bi-lingual and speak English, too.

Not so with their children though. Just when Anne-Catherine, 2½, was beginning to use a few words of English, she and Anne-Catherine, 1½, left in December with their mother for a visit with Mrs. Walsh's family in Paris, France. They returned early in May to settle in Big Spring where Lt. Walsh has been assigned to Webb AFB since January.

Paris is really home to both the Walshes. Although born in Switzerland in the little village of New Chatel, Mrs. Walsh has lived in Paris since her family moved there when she was three months old. It was in the fabled city that Monique and Francis met as students. As a soldier in World War I his father had fallen in love with Paris and decided to remain there with his French wife. Now retired, he was with the U. S. Embassy in France.

In 1950, Francis Walsh decided to join the U. S. Air Force. He came to the States and drew San Antonio as his first base. Periods in Mission, Waco and Harlingen as a navigator preceded the present assignment as a student pilot. He has logged about 1,500 air hours, two-thirds of that in Texas skies. In fact, he laughingly says that if he draws another assignment in the Lone Star State, he is going to take out his first Texas citizenship papers.

Mrs. Walsh finds that our colloquialisms bewilder her, but she is a good sport about it and speaks charming English. Cooking is her hobby, and cooking in the French manner with wine sauces and the like is genuine art. Her husband's hobby is handball but it is overshadowed by his interest in flying.

As for les petites filles, they are adorable children who will make a hit everywhere they go. Texas can claim them, for they were born in Waco!

Medical Theme Marks Pre-Nuptial Luncheon

Jimmie Lou Angier was presented with a charm bracelet Saturday at a luncheon given in her honor at Cosden Country Club, by Mrs. Murph Thorp, Mrs. Kelley Lawrence and Mrs. Kelley Lawrence Jr.

On the bracelet were various charms pertaining to a medical theme, which was used throughout the plan of the luncheon. This was in deference to Robert Tate

Angel, a medical student, to whom Miss Angier will be married June 15 in Huntsville.

The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Angier of Huntsville and Maracaibo, Venezuela. Angel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel, 706 Hillside.

Ten guests attended the luncheon for which tables were decorated with apothecary jars holding floating daisies; place cards were miniature ice cream chairs, and prescription blanks were furnished for guests to use in writing recipes, good wishes or advice.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of yellow daisies; charms on the bracelet included a tiny marriage license, a calendar with the date of the wedding marked; a caduceus, medical insignia, and a disc with "Good Luck" written in seven languages.

Out of town guests included the mother of the bride-elect and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. W. G. Tate of Lubbock.

Junior High To Offer Summer Homemaking Plan

Approximately 60 girls have plans made to continue their homemaking activities through the month of June. This is a part of the regular vocational program in homemaking training and is a continuation of their studies during the regular school term.

This work, under the direction of Mrs. Grover Wiley and Mrs. Florence Lenox, will include home experiences in child care, family meals, clothing problems, home improvement, home care of the sick and personal relationship problems. The girls will have activities in the community service, working with such organizations as the YMCA, county library, and furnishing cookies, magazines and quilt scraps to the state and veterans hospitals.

In addition to this community service each girl will participate in some group work in the homemaking department, such as meal planning, preparation and service, or taking part in a clothing workshop. Others will help in closing the department for the summer.

Working with Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Lenox and the girls will be Beverly Smith, a junior home economics student from Texas Tech. Miss Smith will be participating in the apprentice teaching program of the Home Economics Education Department of Texas Tech.

This program was initiated for the first time last summer with a grant-in-aid from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. The apprentice teacher lives in the community and works with the homemaking teachers and students in all of the activities of the Summer Homemaking Program.

Coral-White Decor Marks Shower For Miss Pace

Members of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council were hostesses Friday for a miscellaneous shower honoring Elizabeth Pace, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Pace of Littlefield, and bride-elect of Sgt. Winston Hall, U. S. Marines. The couple will repeat marriage vows May 31 in Littlefield.

Decorations at the home of Mrs. Frank Wilson carried out the coral-white theme chosen by Miss Pace. On the tea table, laid with lace, a miniature bridal couple stood beneath an arch of flame gladioli. Crystal appointments were used by the HD Club presidents in serving.

Mrs. Wilson greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree and Mrs. T. R. Hall, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Mrs. Ray Swann presided at the register. Mrs. Jo Mae Gaskins, Mrs. Ray Shortes and Mrs. Shirley Fryar, all Council officers, were members of the houseparty. About fifty attended.

MRS. JAMES WENDELL SHIVE

Helen Hall, J. W. Shive Repeat Wedding Vows

Twilight rites united Helen Berneice Hall of Lufkin and James Wendell Shive of Midland in marriage Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church of Lufkin.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Walter E. Hall of Lufkin and the late Mr. Hall. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shive of Coahoma.

The Rev. Robert Pitman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, performed the double ring ceremony before a background of gleaming tapers and greenery. A fan-shaped design of candelabra featured as a center, a floor basket filled with white gladioli and white stock, all entwined with greenery. The candelabra formed a graduated row on each side of the bouquet, culminating with the spiral candelabra.

Organ selections and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Guy Croom of Lufkin.

BRIDAL ATTIRE
The bride was given in marriage by Dr. B. E. Atkinson Jr., her brother-in-law.

She chose an heirloom gown of candlelight satin, designed with a neckline and bodice of imported antique candlelight lace. The wedding dress featured elbow-length sleeves of the imported lace, and was styled with the princess-fitted waistline. The bouffant satin skirt extended into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was trimmed with antique lace and was attached to a scalloped headpiece of satin trimmed with tiny seed pearls.

The bride wore short mitts of candlelight lace and carried a white Bible with a bouquet of white rosebuds and stephanotis with ivy streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Atkinson attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Wanda Shive of Coahoma, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Falcor Perry of Lufkin.

The bride's attendants wore waltz-length frocks of blue chiffon. The gowns, styled identically, were designed with soft boat necklines, cumberbund waistlines and full flared skirts. The ensembles were enhanced by pastel blue shoes and gloves. The attendants wore head-dresses of light blue net and carried bouquets of deep pink Esterreeds.

Clarinda Atkinson of Lufkin, the flower girl, was dressed in a floor-length gown of white organza. Ring bearer was four-year-old Basil E. Atkinson III, also of Lufkin.

The father of the bridegroom

Luncheon Given For Local School Group
Teachers of the local school system were guests at a luncheon given Friday at the high school cafeteria with Mrs. John Annes and the kitchen staff as hostesses.

About 300 attended the affair, where calendars for the coming year were distributed and visiting was enjoyed. The head table was marked with an arrangement of flame-colored gladioli.

Dance Frocks
The answer to a midsummer-night's dream is a billowy date frock, full of dancing grace in organza and printed cotton.

The mother of the bride was attired in a blue lace chemise, worn with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception scene was the home of Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson, with approximately 100 guests attending.

MIDLAND HOME
Upon the return from California Mr. and Mrs. Shive will reside at 4309 Tanner, Midland.

Mrs. Shive attended Brenau College in Gainesville, Ga., and Sam Houston State Teachers College in Huntsville. She received her degree in education. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, social sorority, and also Sigma Alpha Iota, a national music honorary fraternity.

Shive received his degree from Texas Technological College at Lubbock and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. He is employed by the Kansas City Life Insurance Company.

Brides-Elect Complimented At Brunch, Coffee Friday Morning

Patio suppers, teas, coffees and various other gatherings are in the plans for local brides-elect, whose in-honor affairs begin this weekend.

Two of the girls were complimented at morning parties Friday; another was entertained at an evening open house, Saturday four were honored at an al fresco dinner in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Piner.

BRUNCH SERVED
In the home of Mrs. Charles Buckner, Jimmie Lou Angier was honored for a brunch, when Mrs. R. V. Middleton and Mrs. M. M. Edwards joined Mrs. Buckner in entertaining friends on Friday morning.

Miss Angier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Angier of Maracaibo, Venezuela, and Huntsville, will be married to Robert T. Angier in Huntsville on June 15. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angier, 706 Hillside.

Mrs. Middleton greeted guests and presented the bride-elect, who was attired in a chemise style frock of sapphire shantung. Mrs. Angier and Mrs. Edwards completed the group at the door.

The hostess gift, a silver tray and pitcher, was displayed on a coffee table.

Large yellow daisies formed the background for a tray of fruit, which was served as part of the brunch, on a table covered with a white floor length cloth.

Alternating at the buffet table and at the tea cart, which held fruit juice, were Mrs. Carl Strom, Mrs. Harry Hurt, Mrs. Harry Hurt Jr., of West Covina, Calif., Mrs. Robert Currie, Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. G. T. Hall and Mrs. Bill Neal.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Harry Middleton, Mrs. Toots Mansfield and Mrs. S. T. Bogan.

PRE-NUPTIAL COFFEE
A music box, which played "Wedding March," from "Lohengrin," was used as the centerpiece at the coffee given Friday morning for Peggy Hogan in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Riley were Mrs. P. W. Malone and Mrs. Wayne Gound.

Miss Hogan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover, and Boone Powell Jr., will be married in the First Baptist Church on June 7. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Powell of Dallas.

Used as the center in a ring of pale pink carnations, fern and net, the music box was topped with a bride standing under an arch of white; a tiny wedding bell was suspended above her.

The pink and white theme was furthered by a white cloth over pink and by the floral arrangement on the buffet. This was of pink and white carnations.

Carnations also formed the nosegay, with pink and white streamers, which was placed on the registration table, at which Mrs. Ray Adams presided.

Miss Hogan chose for the party a shirtwaist dress of white cotton. She and her mother were presented to guests by Mrs. Riley; assisting in the hospitality was Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The weekend saw a great flurry of social activities to compliment prospective brides. Most of Friday was taken with parties that honored PEGGY HOGAN, JIMMIE LOU ANGIER and KENDA MCGIBBON.

At the Schley Riley home, a coffee honored Peggy Hogan who wore a most attractive white shirt-waist frock. MRS. LARSON LLOYD'S bright blue chemise sported a navy type white collar with a brilliant red bow. MRS. LEE ROGERS' pretty neck jewelry was prettier when she reversed it and wore it a la the backward look. . . . that is, to let the drop fall at the back instead of where the drop has always fallen. MRS. LEWIS PRICE and MRS. ROY REEDER each wore the new single cultured pearl on the thinnest of chains.

At the home of charming MRS. CHARLES BUCKNER, Jimmie Lou Angier received guests in the most unusual type sack that was not a sack at all when viewed from another angle. The first glimpse gives the impression of a truly straight styling, with the garment touching only at the shoulders. It turns out that this is only a cover up for the slimmest of sheaths. The top is completely open on one side. . . . MRS. OLEN PUCKETT'S blouse and tight fitting headpiece matched and were most attractive. . . . she is to go to Lubbock Tuesday to pack up son Phil's belongings and bring him back home after his first year at Tech. . . . We were glad to see MRS. R. L. CARPENTER, whose home is in Eastland and who was for many years a resident of Forsan. She is visiting in the home of her niece, Mrs. L. G. Talley, and Mr. Talley.

Two attractive neighbors of the Buckners who haven't lived in Big Spring so long are MRS. ERNEST E. BAUMANN who wears her long blonde hair in the most striking fashion, and MRS. CHARLES RICHISON, who came here from Fort Smith, Ark. . . . Just as we were arriving, three of the young matrons of Big Spring were taking their leave. They were MRS. KIM-BELL GUTHRIE, in a teal blue sheath with matching slippers; MRS. JIMMY D. JONES, who wore pale lavender and a large brimmed white hat, and MRS. HAYES STRIPLING, whose dress and hat were very pale pink. . . . At the JORDAN GROOMS home the party for KENDA MCGIBBON and CHARLES WEBB was nearing the end when we arrived, but we were in time to meet newcomers, MR. AND MRS. JOE WILLMON, who moved here from Lubbock and who have three children and who are rapidly joining in the teenage activities.

Former resident JOE BLUM is a patient at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following major surgery Thursday. He is in Room 229. His condition was satisfactory Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. W. D. BERRY are in Lubbock today to make a second call on their new granddaughter, KAREN, who was born to MR. AND MRS. HAROLD BERRY on May 20. She weighed 7 pounds and 11 ounces. The Berry's other daughter, Barbara Carol, who is four, has spent several days here with her grandparents and returned with them to Lubbock. The younger Berrys live at 2112 B Duke in Lubbock.

MRS. JACK Y. SMITH has been

Fellowship Class Elects New Officers

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tiechman was opened Friday night to the Fellowship Class, Park Methodist Church, for a joint business meeting and social. Results of the election placed Walter Douglass as president; Harry Sanders as vice president, and Mrs. Harry Sanders as secretary-treasurer and reporter, Jay Hoover as named teacher. Fourteen members enjoyed games of "42" and refreshments.

Tonns Plan Reunion

A picnic lunch will be served at noon to the members of the J. R. Tonn family, who will gather for a reunion in the City Park on Saturday. Swimming and visiting will be the diversion. Expected for the event are the six children of the Tonns and their families. An oddity mentioned by Mrs. Tonn is that children are evenly divided—three boys and three girls—as are the grandchildren, nine boys and nine girls. The children include Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Tonn, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tonn, all of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Tonn of Moran; Mrs. and Mrs. L. R. McDaniell, Balmorhea; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jasper, Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hulme, Colorado City.

Also expected are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson of Eagle Mountain, Calif.; Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Tonn are sisters. Accompanying the Johnsons will be a friend, Pete Soto, who is making his first trip to Texas.

Jackets For Men Use Cotton For Four Style Leaders

The traditional cotton jacket appears in four versions for summer wear by men. These include the regular sports jacket, the cardigan, the blazer and the new "chemise" jacket, a loose over-blouse style.

The all-cotton sports jacket makes a handsome, lightweight wardrobe accessory. New this season is a dapper brushed cotton in dark colors and ombre stripings. Others are in subtle stripes in sheer cotton as featherweight as shirting fabrics.

The waist-length cardigan will have new popularity. Manufacturers are using this style in beachwear and casual attire. Solids, stripes and checks are preferred for twills, poplins and gabardines.

Even the chemise jacket has rounded-the-clock appeal in sheers and cotton knits. For casual wear, it will top bathing trunks or walking shorts.

No vacation wardrobe is complete without the colorful cotton blazer. This season, these Ivy-styled jackets are in red, green and blue striped cottons.

For active, spectator and leisure wear, the cotton jacket is prized for comfort and wearability and has great significance in the wardrobe of smartly styled fashions for men.

Honorees At Tea Today

Two state officials in the Eastern Star will be honored at a tea to be given this afternoon in the home of Mrs. Norman Read, 303 Washington Blvd. Pyrl Bradshaw, left, is grand representative; Dorothy Driver is a member of the jurisprudence committee. All members and their friends are invited to call at the Read home between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

Girl Scout Day Camp Plans Are Completed

Plans for the Girl Scout Day Camp have been completed by leaders, and units are formed for the outing which will begin June 2. Hours are from 3 to 8 p.m. each day through June 6.

At the close of the registration deadline for attending the camp, 126 scouts had signed up, according to Mrs. Rube McNew, who will serve as business manager. Directors of the camp will be Mrs. Charles Weaver.

Mrs. Y. C. Gray has charge of purchasing the supplies and the nursing responsibilities rest with Bo Bowen, county nurse, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr.

Training will include fire building, trail blazing, crafts, outdoor cooking and first aid, with other activities. Scouts are expected to attend from Snyder, Lamesa, Gail, Big Spring, Stanton and Forsan.

In the unit leaders are Mrs. Robert Mulledy, Mrs. Earnest Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Collins, Mrs. Joyce Woody of Stanton, Mrs. Tillie Prubyla, Mrs. Mildred Franklin, Stanton, Mrs. Louise Roberson.

Miss Ray Is Feted At Gift Tea Saturday

LAMESA — A gift tea complimented Nancy Ray, bride-elect of Doy Ferguson, Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Moody. Guests were received by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Mabel Ray; mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Doyle Ferguson; his grandmother, Mrs. Jim Brown; and his sister, Mrs. Bass Lasater.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were featured in the entertaining rooms. The tea table was laid with a white net cloth over yellow satin and caught with scallops of yellow and white ribbon, with tiny wedding bells and flowers in the scallops. Centering the table was a bubbling fountain holding yellow and white lilies; yellow and white tapers flanked the arrangement.

Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. D. J. Bolch, Mrs. Doyle Wilson, Mrs. Fanny Grooms, Mrs. W. D. Phillips, Mrs. Olin York, Mrs. Stanley Applegate, Mrs. S. F. Reynolds, Mrs. Stansel Clement, Mrs. Doyle Shillberg, Mrs. Bob Brown and Mrs. Moody.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Kathy McRee

This past week has been what is commonly known to all college students as "Dead Week." And, you can believe me, the week was really dead. The library has never been so full, and the SUB so empty as they were last week when students were busy finishing research papers, getting all work in, and cramming for the finals.

Those who still had a spark of life in them were the fortunate sophomores who are graduating. Those who have completed their two years at HJC are as follows: Jack Alderton, R. C. Barron, Darrell Blagrove, Jane Blizard, Bobby Bluhm, Frances Bueno, Clara Chisholm, Alvin Corn, Bennie Compton, Richard Engle, Ben Faulkner, Eddie Gill, Jack Haptonstall, Jimmie Harper, Joyce Hill, Tommie Jo Hunt, George Dale Kirkpatrick, Anna Bell Lane, Edsel Dean Maddox, Glenn Madison, Joe Neff, Margaret Ann Nichols, Horace Pace, Julie Rainwater, James Rogers, Gerald Scott, Rodney Sheppard, Jarrell Shortes, Nolan Simpson, Dale Snell, Harlen Thornton, Ray Weathers, James Weir, Oscar Williams, and Greta Woods.

The baccalaureate services for the graduates will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the college auditorium. The program will include the following: invocation, led by Dr. Gage Lloyd; special music by the College Choir; scripture, by the Rev. Clyde Nichols; a prayer, led by Dr. P. D. O'Brien; sermon, delivered by the Rev. Jack Ware; and the benediction by Mr. Darrell Flynt.

Julie Rainwater will play for the processional and recessional. The ushers will be Londa Coker, Patty Francis, Peggy Francis, Janie Murphy, Rose Stephan, and Kathy McRee. After the service, a reception will be held in the SUB for the graduates, relatives, and friends.

Last weekend Bobby Horton and Gilbert Bell went to Panhandle A&M to see about football scholarships for next year.

Frances Reynolds is very excited about her pending trip to Ontario, Canada to attend the BSU World Fellowship Conference. Leaving the first part of June, she plans to visit the capital cities of each state she passes through on her way to Canada. Other highlights of her trip will be a two day stop in Washington, D. C., three days visit in New York City and a stop at Niagara Falls.

Julie Rainwater is expecting her cousin, Pat Sands of Hobbs, N. M., for a week's visit. Pat will arrive in Big Spring Saturday.

The track team was honored by the ABClub at a luncheon at the Settles Hotel Friday noon. Each member of the team was introduced.

Coach Lewis gave a party at his home Friday evening for the track team. This was sort of a "farewell" party for the team, as most of the boys were leaving for home Saturday.

The annual staff held their last party at the home of Julie Rainwater Friday night. The staff and their dates included Cookie Sneed, Tommy Zinn; Richard Engle, Dolores Howard; Bobby Fuller, Jo Ann Ebling; Kathy McRee, Charlie Dobbs; Julie Rainwater, Delbert Shrey; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Clements; Lynn Porter, Bennie Compton. After a meal of barbecued pork chops prepared by Mr. Rainwater, the couples danced on the patio and then all went to the midnight show.

Saturday night Mr. Jack Hendrix gave a party at his home. After eating homemade ice cream prepared by Mrs. Hendrix, the group went to Midland and played miniature golf.

Richards, second vice president; Mrs. Bobby Woodrum, secretary; Mrs. Art Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Norman, reporter-historian; Mrs. Gwyn Liddell, parliamentarian.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bill Holbert and Mrs. Art Johnson.

New Play Togs

Play togs are designed for every activity under the sun and shaped for every hour of the day. A striking, madras plaid poncho tops shorts in a vibrant-hued duo. An orange, polka-dot dress can be shortened into a playsuit with a concealed drawstring tie.

Church Ceremony Unites Miss Sanders, C. Lobitz

LAMESA—First Methodist Church of O'Donnell was the scene Saturday at 8 p.m. for the marriage of Virginia Pauline Sanders and Carl McComb Lobitz of Midland.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders of O'Donnell and Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lobitz of Weslaco.

Palm trees provided the background for baskets of white mums and stock, and tall white tapers in branched candelabra at the altar. White tapers illuminated the windows of the sanctuary during the words read by the Rev. E. H. Crandall.

Mrs. Carr Spraberry was pianist and Mrs. Hershel Wilson soloist for the program of wedding music. Selections included "Evening Star" by Wagner; "If Thou Art Near" by Bach; "Abendlied," Schuman; "Ave Maria," Bach. Flute solos were "Scene from the Opera," Orpheus; "Siciliano," from Sonata II by Bach.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE

Sanders gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a traditional gown of imported French Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline outlined in scalloped lace encircled by white chiffon ribbons. The moulded bodice had short sleeves complemented by long gloves, and the bouffant multi-tiered skirt of lace swept to a court train. She carried a white orchid showered with Stephanotis and satin streamers atop a white Bible.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Bobby Hill of Irving, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Marilyn Thompson of Levelland, her cousin, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Harold Sanders of Lubbock, her sister-in-law.

All wore pink crystalline dresses of ballerina length styled along princess lines with Sabrina necklines and flaring skirts gathered at center back section and trimmed with a large bow. They wore matching head bands and carried bouquets of Frenched white carnations.

Lobitz's father was his best man. Ushers were Harold Sanders and Herschel Lindly of Lubbock and Bobby Hill of Irving.

Junior members of the wedding party were Connie Paige of Dimmitt and Mary Gean Moore of O'Donnell, who were flower girls; Lee Sanders Jr. of Midland was ring bearer. Larry Thompson and Jimmy Lindly of Levelland lighted the wedding tapers.

SERVING TABLE

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink with the bridesmaids' bouquets providing the floral accent. The pink and silver three tiered cake was topped with wedding bells, and white candles were in crystal holders.

Members of the reception house party were Mrs. Carl Moore, Mrs. Carl Page, Mrs. Waymon Everett, Mrs. Levi Gray and Mrs. O. D. Evans.

For traveling, the bride chose a blue suit and white accessories. A graduate of North Texas State College, Denton, she has been serving as elementary school music teacher at Sam Houston Elementary School, Midland.

Lobitz, band director at Alamo Junior High in Midland, attended the University of Texas, University of Colorado, Eastman School of Music and Vandercook School of Music.

The couple will establish a residence in Denton.

Two Styles

Unfitted and easy to wear, the chemise and the Buster Brown silhouette are two of summer's highlights in travel-bound cottons. A slim, cotton knit chemise skips a waistline, adds a bowed band just above the knee. Mr. Mori's niddy top and pleated skirt is fashioned of color-coordinated plain and plaid French cottons.

Cotton Skants

For at-home leisure hours, the cotton "skant" blooms with carnations. A separate blouse teams with the skirted shorts.

Year-Around Fun In Store At Lakes

Lakes have opened up a whole new vista for year around recreation, and particularly summer fun, for this area.

Foremost is Lake J. B. Thomas because of its vast area (12 square miles under water). The Texas Electric Service reservoir southwest of Colorado City has attracted many fishermen and boatmen. Getting an increasing play because of its proximity and also because of its stability now that it no longer is required for a water supply is Moss Creek Lake.

It would be difficult to estimate how many thousands flocked to Lake J. B. Thomas last year, but some idea of its popularity may be had from the financial records of the Colorado River Municipal district, which impounded the lake as a three-city water supply.

Recreation receipts amounted to $50,901. Of this $16,765 came from lease rentals (for cabin sites), $24,263 for recreational permits (both daily and seasonal); $7,133 from boat launching permits (again daily and seasonal); and $2,618 as payments from concession operators. All recreation fees are pumped back into recreation service and improvements.

The lease rental is indicative of the miraculous growth of the cabin clan at Lake Thomas. There is no accurate census of the number of cabins, but the number is mounting almost daily. The figure may now be around 500. Today there is even inquiry for sites that are off the lake shore.

District requirements are for $5 per individual per year (18 years and over) or 50 cents per day for recreational permit. The boat launching permit is the same.

Boats must meet minimum standards and those left on the lake are issued annual license tags.

Regulations are not stringent and stress safety and courtesy. One regulation especially stressed is that every occupant of a boat wear a life preserver. The district is insistent also that all water skiers wear a life preserver.

Boaters are asked not to come too near anchored or small fishing boats for fear of swamping them with their wake, and similarly water ski enthusiasts are asked to avoid in-shore and bank fishermen. Rafts are not allowed overnight for safety reasons, and all craft or objects on the lake at night must bear lights.

The lake is well stocked with game fish and some big catfish have been landed on trotlines. Most fishermen go in for the black bass, white bass and crappie, however.

Lake Colorado City, where private operators serve the recreation fans, has considerable boating. Most recently exceptional catfish catches have been reported. This lake also affords good bass fishing. Scores of private cabins line the shores.

Moss Creek lake, always popular with polo fishermen, has rocketed in favor with the boaters and water skiers.

Located within a 15 to 20-minute drive from Big Spring, the small lake is ideal for after work hours recreation. It is long and narrow and is seldom rough. On weekends hundreds of people flock there to fish, boat, ski, picnic or just watch.

Occasionally a sail boat tacks gracefully up and down the lake. Last year the daily permit fees were raised to 50 cents, which promises to help the City of Big Spring cut its operating loss.

For the past 12 months, May through April, the city grossed $4,598, and traffic this year shows signs of becoming heavier. For instance, revenues in April amounted to $870, an all-time high.

Commissioners have under consideration the possibility of constructing a simple boat launching ramp and perhaps picnic areas. It has installed sanitary facilities on both sides of the lake.

In The Good Old Summertime

You can't beat the summer as a time for having fun. The opportunity to relax is as near as your backyard, or the city park or an adjacent lake. Hundreds are coming to a new and exciting sport—water skiing—that takes your mind off worries and gives an exhilarating experience such as demonstrated by Jan Loudermilk as he makes a sweeping turn behind a trim pleasure boat at Moss Creek Lake. It may be such a simple thing as a pallet on the slopes at the City Park, such as enjoyed here by Georgia Touchstone (front) and little Simmie Sue Harris, Sue Harris, Dixie McCustion, Joyce Gunn and Billy Bluhm. Or it can be around a grill in your yard, or on the business end of a fishing pole, or off the end of springboard at the old swimming hole. Yes sir, there's no fun like summer fun.

City Has Good Golf Facilities

Big Spring would get more than a passing grade for its golfing facilities, if such a test were given. The area has not one, not two, but three golf courses and there is some talk a pitch-and-putt course will eventually be built for Couden Country Club members on that organization's property south of town.

Only one of the courses here—the 18-hole Munny layout—is open to the general public, however. It is situated in the City Park. It is a grass-green layout, attractive to the eye but hard to play because it does not have an adequate irrigation system.

The city tournament is held there annually and this summer a Sectional Public Links qualifying tourney will be staged within its confines (on June 16).

The Big Spring Country Club, which boasts a large membership roll and a list of persons waiting to gain entry, boasts a nine-hole layout. Time was when the facility had 18 holes but it had sand greens at the time.

When the decision was made to convert to grass, it was also decided to reduce the layout to nine holes.

It is a 3,132-yard layout. It is considered not too difficult to play, although it was made tougher through the addition of several traps a couple of years ago.

The area's third golf course is located at Webb where only servicemen and their guests can play. It, too, is a nine-hole layout and work to make it an outstanding course is still going on.

The Webb course is located in the southwestern part of the great base and officers and enlisted men alike have given it a 'good play' since it was opened.

Webb recently staged its own tournament and Jack Starnes, an airman, was crowned base champion.

Big Springers Swimming In Three City Pools This Year

Big Springers got their feet wet in three city swimming pools yesterday as the 1958 swimming season officially got under way.

This is the second year that the city has had three pools for use. The pools in the North Side and Negro parks were built in 1956, and the North Side pool was not even ready that year. The pool in the Negro park wasn't opened until the middle of the summer.

Managing the swimming pools again this year is Dan Lewis, athletic coach at Junior High School during the school months. His assistant this year is Chop Van Pelt, also a member of the coaching staff.

Whereas the North Side and city pools will be open every day through the summer, the pool in the Negro park will be open for business only on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays. Last year, the Negro pool was open every day, but city officials reported it was too costly to operate with the small number of patrons and for this reason, the city had to cut down on the number of operating days.

As was the schedule on opening day Saturday, the pools will open at 1 p.m. and close at 8.

Working at the city park pool are Don Anderson, Buddy Barnes, and Herschel Stocks. Primitivo Navarette and Gene Salazar are handling the North Side pool, while Purvis Williams and Hubert Baker are in charge of the Negro swimming pool.

Charges are the same at all pools, 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12. The city also sells 10-swim cards for $1.20 for children and $2.40 for adults. Season passes cost $6.40 for children and $10.20 for adults.

The Water's Fine

Like ice cream and watermelon, swimming is an indispensable ritual of summer. Nothing can cool and refresh you like a dip, no matter what time of day. Big Spring has three municipal swimming pools — one in the City Park, one in the northwest and one in the northeast parts of town. In addition, Moss Creek is becoming popular, too, for those who like their swimming in natural surroundings such as do Sharon Brooks, Patsy Potter and Tommy Sue Lovelace. This is true of Lake J. B. Thomas, also, where boating, fishing and cabin living have almost overshadowed this most universal of summer sports.

State Laws Govern Most Fishermen

If you are 17 years of age or under or if you have reached your 65th birthday, the following information is of no interest to you at all.

In Texas, you comprise the two age groups who can fish when and where and how you will and never bother about buying a state fishing license.

But the law doesn't deal so generously with those who have reached their 17th but not achieved their 65th birthdays.

For all such fishermen, the safest and best policy to pursue is not to go fishing until you have visited some dealer and provided yourself with a current year's fishing license. These licenses sell for $2.15 and are good for a year.

There are a few exceptions under state law in which licenses are not required. No license is required where a person or immediate members of his family fish upon property upon which the person resides. No license is required for persons who fish exclusively with trotlines, throw lines or an ordinary pole and line having no reel or winding device attached—provided the fisherman is doing his angling in his own county. Outside of the home county, even though he fishes with the most elemental of gear, the license should be on hand and ready to be displayed to the officials.

Many counties in Texas have special fishing regulations applicable in those counties alone. A wise angler will check with authorities before he tries his hand in such counties.

There are no special regulations for Howard County. The regular state laws prevail in this county.

2,000 Boats Are Estimate For City

Boating and allied activities are rapidly becoming Big Spring's favorite pastime, judging from the number of boats you can see on area lakes, the highways and private driveways.

Boat dealers here estimate there are up to 2,000 boats owned by Big Springers. Scores of others are found in neighboring communities, and most of them are busy on weekends and most of the late afternoons during the summer months.

Development of the big Lake J. B. Thomas and other reservoirs in this section of the state set off the widespread enthusiasm for boating several years ago. And the interest grows by leaps and bounds each summer as the boat fever spreads.

Of course, for every boat there is a motor, and most of the rigs also are equipped with trailers for easy, speedy trips from home to the lake. And many of the boat owners also have invested heavily in accessory equipment, so many thousands of dollars have been expended in the last four or five years on water sports equipment.

Most popular boat in this area, from the ownership standpoint, is the plain vanilla, 14-foot model. However, many larger and more elaborate craft have been purchased.

Motors usually are purchased to fit the boat, and they are available in horsepower ratings up to 60.

Although a good many boating fans have purchased their own motors, which can be moved in the trunk of the family car, and rent boats on which to use them, the general practice is to purchase a complete rig — boat, motor and trailer. Facilities for storing boats are maintained at most lakes, but the majority of boaters prefer to keep their boats at home, hauling them to one of the water holes for outings.

Fish Cooked On Open Fire

Few things are more delicious than fresh fish cooked over an open fire. That's one reason many fishermen, campers and vacationers take outdoor grills along on their trips. The delectable flavor of fish is fleeting, and the sooner it can be captured the better. Trout, walleyes, bass, northerns, crappies, bluegills and even perch can be prepared quickly over a hot charcoal fire.

Cooking, Serving Outdoors Is Favorite Way Of Entertaining

Nothing outside of measles is so contagious as the urge to cook outdoors. At least that's the trend that has been building up for the past year.

Everybody from the teenager to the rocking-chair devotee wants to try his hand at the outdoor culinary art, and Mrs. Homemaker is delighted because hubby's enthusiasm is giving her more free time in the evening.

Inviting friends over for a meal straight from the barbecue grill is a wonderful way to entertain, especially on hot evenings. Indeed, just the family will probably insist on cooking those hot dogs or hamburgers outdoors, company or no.

This barbecue hobby has become such a booming business that cooking accessories are available in enormous variety. Fork, spoon, knife, turner come in sets that range from stainless steel with bamboo handles to massive implements handwrought of aluminum.

Tongs, recommended for turning steaks, are popular items as are basting brushes set on long, long handles. Gadgets range the gamut. There are long-handled racks for broiling bacon, for popping corn, for grilling steaks; skewers for shish kebabs.

His and Her apron sets are available, complete with chef caps and hot mats. Asbestos mits help. If you find it difficult to ignite those charcoal briquettes or hickory chips, even with liquid lighter, simply start up a fire in seconds with one of the latest devices, an electric starter that plugs into the nearest outlet.

The barbecue grills range from the fabulous models that have every kind of accessory imaginable to the simple brazier that does steaks to a turn. Many units have electric rotisseries attached; some have covers, and others have ovens. Side tables and wind-breaks are available with a majority of models.

Chances are you'll be wanting an ice chest, which can double on picnics and overnight trips. But if you are entertaining more formally outdoors, you can find attractive brass ice buckets insulated to take both cold or hot foods and keep them that way. Thermos chests in general vary from the small coolers for ice only to the giant boxes that can store freshly caught fish temporarily. To save steps to the refrigerator indoors, you might want to investigate the new portable refrigerator that comes in cans. It's a chemical ice.

Plastic dishes, divided or otherwise, are obtainable in bright colors. As a matter of fact, if you are venturing forth on a picnic in your own yard, why not use that hamper fitted with stainless steel settings for six and plastic dishes.

For the picnic table use one of those durable denim tablecloths with napkins for eight securely attached by metal rings. Garden lights are available in black wrought iron, either with candles or to be operated electrically.

Serving accessories of wood range from salad bowls and trays to ice buckets and salt and pepper shakers. A push cart will make those trips to the buffet much more infrequent.

To bring out the broadest smiles you've ever seen, make your entrance with an ice cream freezer.

Everybody loves homemade ice cream. You can get freezer with from 2 to 6 quart capacity, in either the electric or handcrank models. Let everyone get into the act and it will be a successful evening.

Miniature Golf Is Favorite Sport For Many Residents

Golf has been said to be an ineffectual endeavor to place a small white circular object into an obscure opening with entirely inadequate weapon.

Be that as it may, golf on a small scale is one of the most favored summer pastimes of Big Springs—so favored, in fact, that the miniature golf season extends until the middle of October.

Vance Kimble, owner of the city's only miniature golf course, says that things are ready for a heavy onslaught of summer's small-time linksters.

Pattering around his three-year-old, fancied-up course, Kimble said Monday that about 60 or 70 persons have been coming out each night for a round or two of golf since he opened.

That's far from par, though, because as the June-July-August months roll around and the nights become warmer, he expects an average of 125 nightly.

A competing course would have to be really impressive to rank above Vance's layout near the city park.

He estimates that he has "sunk" approximately $10,000 in golf clubs, balls, fairway carpets, concrete walks, lights, and other golfing paraphernalia.

But that isn't all. Lining and scattered about the course—as rough a miniature one as you'll ever cross—are 46 trees, most of which are two years old, decorating and shading the scenic area.

Taking care of the poplar, cottonwood, mimosa, and familiar mesquite trees, is a typical miniature golf course job. Another is designing new decorations, such as the red brick planter-box Kimble was finishing on the first of the week. Lawn and weed care is the biggest task, and surprisingly enough, the simplest is taking care of the fairway carpets.

The brown carpets lie exposed year-round, but the specially-treated material withstands ice, heat, snow, sand, and needs only a brisk sweep and light vacuuming for summer use.

Fun In The Sun

Big Spring golf courses usually are teeming with linksters the year 'round, but the summer sun really brings 'em out. Engaging in the popular sport in this scene are Emory Parrish, holding the flag, Charles Dickson and N. D. (Nile) Cole, sizing up the green for his next shot.

Water Ski Fans Say It's Easy To Learn

Like to learn how to water ski? Well, have at it, ski fans advise. They say anyone can learn the art—at least to some degree. Simply climb on the skis and try your water legs. After a few starts you should master the fundamentals.

If you wish to become an expert, you'll need considerable more practice, as well as some aptitude. However, you don't simply go skiing. You'll need some equipment first.

Skis, of course, are essential, along with a boat and motor to tow you around the lake. Wear a life belt, by all means. And you'll have to have a tow rope of some kind.

The equipment can consist of the bare essentials, or it can be as elaborate as you can afford.

Ordinary skis range in price from $24 to $50. You can get a tow line for anywhere from $3 to $6. A life belt runs from around $4 to $7. Boat and motor? You can spend a fortune or you can get by with the stripped-down economy models.

The standard water ski is 6½ or seven inches wide, depending on the weight of the user. It is equipped with nearly any type of foot harness you can imagine.

Skis are made of a variety of materials: White ash, laminated ash, laminated mahogany, fiberglass, etc.

Styles and purposes also vary. Some are made for sharp turns and high speeds. Others are designed for jumping. And the most widely used models are intended for just plain skiing, especially in this region where the sport is relatively new and there are no jumping facilities closer than San Angelo.

Tow lines are made of grass, manila, linen and plastic. The latter—polymethylene—are probably the most satisfactory because they float, eliminating the danger of fouling boat propellers. Seventy-five feet is the recommended length.

If you want a deluxe rig, a tow line "bridle" for your boat is available in the local sporting goods stores. You also can purchase an automatic tow rope reel.

Always wear a good life belt when skiing. If you fall, be sure to turn loose of the rope, to avoid chances of injury. It's a good idea to have two persons in the tow-boat—one to drive and one to keep an eye on the skier. Tell your driver to never get too close to shore and steer a wide berth around objects in the water, including other boats. And keep your own eyes open; if the driver fails to notice a hazard, maybe you can spot it.

Yard Makes Good Family Fun Area

Family fun and frolic can be at its best in one's own back yard. It's always been true, but more and more families are indulging in the reality. For the back yard becomes an outdoor living room with the first approach of warm weather, and there's good sport for every member of the family.

If you want to flop and do nothing but get a tan, pick a likely spot in the yard and settle down on one of those tricky inflatable air mattresses made of plastic. They average two by six feet, and when not in use can be packed into a very small space.

If you light on a solid tuft of grass and need no cushioning, spread out one of the new huge beach towels which come in solid colors, humorous cartoon designs or garish color combinations. The towel is toted in a plastic oblong case which, with the twist of a gimmick at one end, inflates into a tidy little pillow.

In the mood for games? Then take your choice. If you are lucky enough to have plenty of room, invest in tennis net and racquets, or a badminton set for four. Less space will take care of a croquet ground with mallets for six, and even less yardage will accommodate shuffleboard, archery ground or that old favorite, horseshoes. For the children you can buy gym sets large enough to provide three swings and airgide set, and even a slide. The tiny toddlers will welcome an inflatable plastic pool for wading.

A Bible Thought For Today

For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error. (Peter 2:18)

A Most Successful Experience

The formal phase of the YMCA building campaign has terminated with approximately $260,000 on hand or pledged. This is not the $300,000 sought, but you can't jump to the conclusion that the campaign failed. Far from it; the fund appeal has been a most encouraging success. Y officials are more encouraged than ever in their hopes for complete success.

Momentum of the efforts immediately expended will result in several thousand dollars trickling into the coffers. Thus, for practical purposes, we may assume that we are nine-tenths of the way to the total goal.

The clean-up efforts doubtless will cut that fraction further, and perhaps the over-all challenge raised by hundreds upon hundreds of people will persuade still others to join in this venture. It may

The Best Time To Progress

We now come to the end of another school year, and with the traditional crop of addresses and ceremonies which focus attention upon the educational system and its fruits.

There will be much academic analysis of what constitutes the mark of an educated man, which gets back into the great debate of the goals for education.

We will hear even more on the necessity for education in our increasingly complex society and world.

We also will be treated to a new feast of opinion on the quality of education, which implies the effectiveness of education.

And then we shall forget the entire matter until next September.

Now all of these discussions and others pertaining to the contribution that our schools and college can make to our democratic processes and philosophy of living are vital. We cannot progress unless we constantly re-examine and re-appraise; we cannot act wisely until we first think wisely.

But we cannot afford the luxury of forgetting all about education for one-fourth of the year, particularly in the summer. Actually, this should be one of the most productive seasons of the year for school advance for the obvious reason that school administrators and others spend much of that time in maintaining and improving the plant; in assembling the staff; in mapping courses of action for the succeeding year; in conditioning elements of the program such as bands, athletic teams, etc. It is a time when creative thought can flourish because it is not weighted down by rigid schedules and by the problems accruing from the daily personality expressions of nearly 6,000 young souls.

Mob Action Against Nixon May Boomerang

WASHINGTON—There is some evidence that the Moscow government is beginning to be disturbed over the consequences of the demonstrations against Vice President Nixon in Latin America. While steadily encouraging anti-Americanism in South America, the Kremlin, it is reliably reported, did not anticipate the kind of climax which now has brought a vigorous counter-movement.

For today the Communist projects of the last several years are in danger. There are more than 300,000 active Communists in various Latin-American countries, guided by daily Communist newspapers. A number of trade missions have been aiding in the work of political infiltration. The publicity due to Mr. Nixon's experience and the exposure of Communist intrigue have just given the Communists unexpected worries. Their projects will come under fire now inside every country in Latin America.

Already the four-party junta which rules Venezuela in which the Communist party is an equal member, is in trouble. Two civilian members of the junta have just resigned in protest against the action of the Venezuelan police. As for the strange behavior of the police—directed by a cabinet minister of Communist sympathies—significant comment comes from Earl Manz of the staff of the New York "Herald Tribune," who was an eyewitness to the incidents in which Mr. Nixon's life was threatened. He writes:

"The Caracas killer mob of 300 screaming Communist-led individuals, ranging from teenagers to aged delinquents, attacked Mr. Nixon's car as his motorcade was stalled in a mysterious traffic tieup. The Venezuelan police either vanished or froze where they stood. The tieup occurred in a midtown area that is notorious for bloodshed in revolutions and riots."

"This reporter witnessed the attack on Mr. Nixon from a photographer's truck immediately in front of the vice president's car. The viciousness of the affair was compounded by the fact that the Venezuelan police did practically nothing to protect the vice president and his wife. The cool maneuvers of a half-dozen American secret service agents, several of whom were hurt, prevented injury to Mr. Nixon."

President Eisenhower naturally got reports by telephone about the incident. He decided to send marines to a "near-by point in the Caribbean to be ready 'just in case.'" Thoughtless critics promptly assailed him for doing so. But supposing Mr. Nixon had been trampled upon and taken prisoner, what would the critics have said? Of course they would have denounced the President for not having taken proper precautions.

Should Vice President Nixon have canceled the trip to Latin America? Secretary Dulles answers this way:

"These things, you know, are much simpler to judge after the event than before the event. I believe myself, in the light of what we knew before Vice President Nixon went there, it was a quite correct judgment on his part to go. I think if we had all known what was going to happen there and had been able to foresee the events, probably he would not have gone. But, you know, if you don't go to places because of threats you will be locked up at home. I have never gone to any country in the world, hardly, but what I have had threats and there have been demonstrations of one sort or another. It is so with the vice president, who has also visited a great many countries. If you allow yourself to be deterred by threats of that kind the result is that the Communists will imprison you at home. I don't accept that at all."

"The miscalculation in the case of the visit to Caracas was primarily a miscalculation as to the adequacy and efficiency of the police force. It virtually melted away at the sight of trouble. That wasn't anticipated. I don't know whether it could have been anticipated or not. But if there had been an adequate handling of that situation by the police, such as occurs in most countries, there would not have been any reason whatever to have concluded that the trip was unwise to have undertaken."

"Now we can see in the light of after events, that that might perhaps have been foreseen. The police force that had been maintained under Estrada had been virtually liquidated, and we see now that the substitute police that had been created was inadequate and did not know how to cope with the type of organized rowdy mob such as the Communist agitators put on."

On balance, the episode may boomerang in favor of the United States and against Communism. The anti-Communists in South America will have an issue now which will grow into a demand that Communist parties be banned or, if allowed to exist, that they should not be permitted to participate in the government lest the United States be alienated. For, throughout Latin America, they know that the United States can in the long run do more for all the people of this hemisphere than can the opportunistic Communist regime in Moscow.

Last Sled Mail Route

SAVOONGA, Alaska (AP)—The only remaining dog sled carrier of U. S. Mails in Alaska continues to operate on remote St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea. All other mails and freight are now carried by air.

Chester Noonwood, a 22-year-old Eskimo, drives his 10 huskies over the 100-mile mail route between Savoonga and Gambell about twice a week. The Post Office Department pays Noonwood $40 for each round trip. Although he has frequent troubles with "howling storms or soft snow," Noonwood consoles himself that "there are no wolves."

His most serious task, he said, was once when a new missionary came into Savoonga and had 5,000 pounds of baggage, and it was December weather.

Smog Of Confidence Over Southern California

LOS ANGELES—On the surface, it's difficult to see the recession in Los Angeles for the smog of confidence.

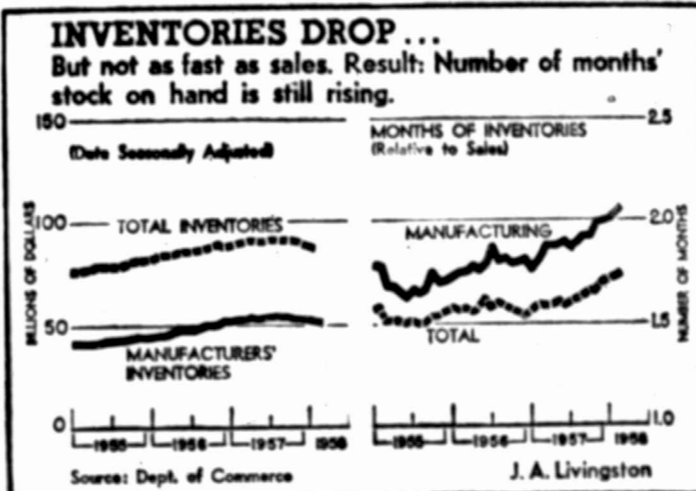

The eleventh annual convention of the National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies, meeting here at the Statler, was regaled by Conrad C. Jamison, vice president and manager of research for the Security-First National Bank, with an account of the "Growth of the West." Since 1950, Los Angeles County has increased its population more than any state in the union, and that includes Texas, except California.

Though jobs are less plentiful than a year ago, in-migrants still pursue the California climate. Nor here are full of want ads, though not as full as last year. Aircraft plants may be down, but other industries—electronics, foods, construction, service—still take on some workers. High turnover indicates the economic diversity and resilience of lower California.

The Statler is hard put to keep pace with the demands of visitors, which is an index of activity. Telephone lines are often busy. Restaurants are crowded. Room service is taxed. And automobiles of all shapes and sizes—Cadillacs, Chevies, and Ramblers, Imperials, Plymouths, and Volkswagens, Lincolns, Fords and Mercedes—Benzes—ply the freeways with a speed and vigor which belie this cold statistic: Unemployment here amounts to 7.3 per cent of the labor force, only slightly less than the 7.5 per cent for the nation as a whole.

What gives this economy its lift is people—population growth, which generates business opportunities. Newcomers want furniture, food, homes. So, even in recession, business has a long-term upward tilt. This breeds confidence, optimism. Detroit is down in the dumps because automobile production has hit the skids. Similarly Flint. Such cities are dependent, almost exclusively, on a single industry.

Los Angeles has a heavy commitment to a single industry—automobiles. When it fell off, automobile dealers and department stores felt the thud. But they weren't laid prone. Department store sales in the Los Angeles area, for instance, are off only 1 per cent for the year to date compared with last year. This is an outstanding showing for this Federal Reserve District, which is exceeded only by Sacramento, seat of the government, where volume is up 24 per cent over a year ago, and Spokane, which shows a plus 3 per cent. San Francisco, the district's financial center, hasn't a recorded industrial expansion of Los Angeles. It shows a minus 2 per cent in department store volume. Contrast those figures with Detroit, which is down more than 10 per cent from last year, or Flint, down more than 15 per cent, or the United States, down 3 per cent.

Security-First National Bank's index of business activity for Southern California registered 179.8 for April, the same as in March. It's exceeded only by Sacramento, seat of the government, where volume is up 24 per cent over a year ago, and Spokane, which shows a plus 3 per cent. ### Errant Message

CHICAGO (AP)—"Viva Zapata! Los amigos de Venezuela." The park district police chief, George Oilewis, reports that is the radio signal in Spanish, which has drowned out the park police's radio reception from 9 to 10:30 a.m. every day for the last four months, will be silenced.

A new piece of equipment will stop the reception interference caused by sun spot activity. "Either we get this silencer equipment or we get a translator," Oilewis said. "But this can't go on—my men reply to commands with 'Viva Zapata.'"

Not Much Demand

Same Threshold, New Group Crossing It

Who, boy! Here it is graduation time again. And none too soon for those care-free spirits beginning to nibble at the diet for salad days. And very soon for parents who, ere September, will be longing for peace and quiet around the household during daytime hours. And certainly at the brink of time for teachers who now quietly wipe the gore off bludgeoned brows and seek a haven of serenity, at least for a week or so.

Graduation is a very important occasion, and has been through to these many years. Today's upstanding youngsters clad in cap and gown, who stride from impressive portals of fancy new buildings are no more impressed than were less self-confident kids who tore out of little one-room schoolhouses in dimmer years.

Believe it or not, I went through some gradations. The first was when the adolescents got through "grammar school." The jive set of the time had not the dignity of a Junior High, but the threshold was just as broad—it led into the mysteries of High School. As I recall, the pony tails were just braids, and the blue jeans very likely were corduroys (short pants, yet) but the attitudes and the outlooks must have been singularly similar.

I recall that about the time our Seventh Grade was poised for the big ceremony, a goodly percentage of the class came down with the mumps. There was much weeping, not only because of swollen glands, but because too many of the young things would have to miss the exercises.

As it turned out, those abed stroking their jaws had it a lot better than those who sat stiffly on the stage having to submit to the sonorous platitudes of a speaker who admonished them to walk firmly and to look high, because the world counted on them for leadership. Most of those who heard this earnest fellow were less concerned with the world's problems than with getting the heck out of the auditorium and getting on with the picnic.

Well, some of the class survived this oratorical onslaught, even to getting on through four more years for the much more grandiose occasion—that of High School Commencement, in capital letters.

None of my crew understood why the word commencement was used, and it is a fact that outside the two students who grubbed their way to the top, not a one in the class could pronounce valedictorian and salutatorian, much less spell them, and even much less know what they meant.

The big crisis was before the uniform of the day. This was over school officials (or the supply houses) got smart and put everybody under the academic version of the sack, so that what to wear on graduation night was a major decision. The rich kids thought all boys should buy new suits just alike, and all the girls should buy new dresses of complementing pastels. The poor kids said nothing, because they knew they couldn't afford anything new. Some understanding faculty adviser must have hit upon a happy compromise, because all members of the class showed up, well-scrubbed of face and fresh polish on their shoes.

This class got the same speech treatment and left the auditorium rather enchanted with the challenges before them. This wore off in an hour or so, and sure enough the world went right on to, with depressions and wars and misfirings and mis-steps. Through it all, a fair measure of those grads of generations ago came through it with their own degree of success, and chances are that more of the same is in store for those who cross that notorious threshold in 1958.

Ave et vale, as the saying goes.

Turn Your Defeats Into Victories

Next Friday is observed as Memorial Day in much of our country. It is sacred to the memory of those who have given their lives for freedom, particularly those who died in the bloody war that divided the States.

Now, almost one hundred years later, if you drive over the battlefield of that war, you will find that its races have almost vanished except for monuments and road markers that constantly remind you that here men died for their opposing beliefs.

On my way to visit my son at Washington and Lee University in Virginia, I once spent several hours driving up the lovely Valley of the Shenandoah. It was a crisp, beautiful autumn day. On one side was the wavering blue line of the Alleghenies; on the other the Blue Ridge; and, in between, making the hills radiant, the brown and red of the trees and the mystic changing shadows on the hillside.

All along the way we kept passing through little towns whose names are forever enshrined in our history: New Market... Culpepper... Manassas... Winchester... and others. And I remembered that this valley was the scene of a most remarkable demonstration of how a man can change defeat into victory.

It happened in 1864, when the war had already been waging for three long years. Union troops marching down the Shenandoah Valley had met with a surprise setback at the hands of Confederate General Jubal Early, who had rolled them back in chaos and confusion. A New York reporter, standing at that hour upon an eminence overlooking the valley, watching the disorderly retreat, wrote: "I am watching the awful destruction of the Union."

Then there came riding out of Winchester, on a big white horse, a man with a great head of long, black hair, and clutching a pennant with two stars—the pennant of a Union general. It was Phil Sheridan. He raced down the pike at top speed, crying: "I am here! Turn about! We can win! Go forward! Save the Union!"

Men threw their caps into the air and cried like babies. The embraced each other, shouting, "Sheridan is here! The effect was magic. The troops reforme. By nightfall, they had recaptured the valley. One man, alone, had turned the tide for thousands.

What did this one man have that turned defeat into victory? The answer is a simple one. He had enthusiasm—dynamic enthusiasm.

I am supposed to write about religious and spiritual things in this column. And that is exactly what I am doing. For enthusiasm is such a thing. As you may have read here before, the word itself derives from the Greek, "enthus," which means possessed by God or full of God. Enthusiasm is a spiritual quality. The more of God there is in your life the more enthusiasm you will have. That is why they said of Jesus "In Him was life." It is those who can give themselves into God's hands so that they are wholly possessed by Him, who can acquire this wonderful ability to turn defeat into victory.

You, perhaps, are being pushed up some valley of discouragement and defeat by your problems and they have you on the run, disorganized and confused, filled with fear. What you need is enthusiasm. And the way to get it is by the great experience of allowing yourself to be possessed by God.

Fill your life with God and you will acquire enough enthusiasm to turn your defeats into victories. (Copyright, 1958, The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

French Have No Confidence In Government

PARIS—Long ago—it sometimes seems to have been a hundred years but actually it was less than five—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called for an agonizing reappraisal of American policy in Europe. At the time it was a rhetorical gesture intended to push France into ratifying the European Defense Community. Today it is an urgent necessity if the whole structure of America's position in the West is not to disappear in the sweep of revolutionary change.

It is no longer possible to rest on the fictions cherished during the past decade. France cannot in the foreseeable future put its house in order to become a solid member of the North Atlantic Alliance.

That is the profound tragedy of this moment of uncertainty when the current government seems to survive by itself cherishing a fiction. This is the fiction that the generals in Algiers will end their secession and be loyal to the government if only the government believes in their loyalty and promises to give additional help to prosecute a war against the Moslem rebels—a war that can never be won.

Premier Pierre Pflimlin held out the olive branch—a whole armful of olive branches—to General Raoul Salan in Algiers in the course of his speech in the Chamber of Deputies. The response of the supreme commander of the French forces in Algeria was to tell a huge crowd that for Frenchmen the hope of greatness and national unity rests in General Charles de Gaulle.

It was almost an open invitation to the French in France to do what the French in Algiers have done—to give the power to the Army through the symbol of De Gaulle. Salan never mentioned the government in Paris.

This may not be treason, but surely it is not loyalty to an administration that has put both the form and the substance of power in Algeria in Salan's hands. Having restored the flow of supplies from metropolitan France to Algeria, the Pflimlin government has done everything in its power, except to abdicate its authority, to win back the secessionists.

The central figure in the tragedy of all this is the Premier himself. A decent, honest man, he has had power thrust on him at a moment when only a leader of the most extraordinary capacity, confidence and appeal could hope to reassert civilian authority.

But in the Pflimlin Cabinet also are some of the most discredited politicians out of the fumbling, futile governments that have come and gone in dreary procession. One of them is Edgar Faure in the key post of Minister of Finance.

Faure, as Minister of Finance for several years in a succession of governments, failed to take the steps, such as devaluation of the franc, which might have held the line. He simply took the easiest way out as American dollars poured into the French treasury to finance the Indo-China war then going on. And this infusion of many hundreds of millions of dollars over two or three years masked the real condition of France's fiscal position.

It is hardly surprising, therefore, if there is something less than complete confidence in Faure's willingness to grapple with the grim realities of new threats to France's status in the monetary world.

In this moment of trial, the French people, one surmises from casual conversations, would like to believe in their government. They give every sign of wanting to believe that it can restore authority in France and in Algeria and carry out the reforms Pflimlin has projected to make it truly responsive and representative. But they have been disillusioned too many times—25 times with 25 governments, to be exact. (1958, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Bible Words for Today

MARK 14:36—"And he said: 'Abba, Father, all things are possible to Thee; remove this cup from me; yet not what I will, but what Thou wilt.'" (RSV)

This prayer of Jesus on that final night in Gethsemane reveals two valuable clues to the secret of His power in prayer.

For one thing, notice the absolute honesty of the prayer in its opening phrases; Jesus does not ask for insight or for strength. Instead, He pours out what His whole inner being was really asking in that hour; namely, "Remove this cup from me." And, because He expressed what was lodged deeply within Him, He could thereby open His whole inner being to the mind and will of God, as well as to His strength.

Moreover, He did not simply come through to His real prayer and leave the matter there. Instead, He went back again, and yet again, to pray, in the words of some of our older Christians, He "prayed through." In other words, He exposed himself to the presence of God until the will of His Father could penetrate to the depths of Him, so that He was integrated in the spirit of God. Only then was He ready for Golgotha.

A Favorite Pastime

Fishing continues to be the favorite pastime of hundreds of Big Spring and area residents. In fact, popularity of the sport has spread like wildfire since Lake J. B. Thomas and Lake Colorado City were opened to anglers. Shown here pursuing their hobby on the shores of Lake Thomas are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hanson of Luther.

Fishing Is Rapidly Becoming Universal Sport In This Area

There are a few residents in Big Spring who are not fishermen. However, investigation reveals that these persons are not numerous and that their ranks are dwindling almost daily. Sporting goods dealers, those who supervise the fishing lakes and others who keep an eye on the piscatorial sport assert that this spring has seen an almost phenomenal interest in fish and fishing displayed by the rank and file residents of the town. Fishing licenses, which are now practically a "must"—are being purchased in increasingly large numbers. These permits cost $2.15. There are certain provisions in the law permitting a resident of a county to fish in waters inside the boundaries of his county without such a license. However, fishermen deem it more expedient to buy the permits since the number of fishing places qualifying as local are sharply limited in Howard County. Bulk of Howard County fishermen do their angling in Lake J. B. Thomas. An almost equal number are to be found at Colorado City Lake, Moss Creek Lake gets a fair share of anglers.

Outdoor Living Is 'Relaxing'

There's no doubt about it. Outdoor living is easy living. Nothing is so relaxing as lolling around in the back yard in casual clothes, perhaps working a bit in the garden or grilling steaks or hamburgers for the family on an outdoor barbecue brazier. And, according to home economists, living and eating outdoors is a popular pastime too. They predict that this summer four out of five families regularly will eat at least some of their meals outdoors. These families will use their outdoor grills not only in the back yard but also on picnics, at the beach and on vacations. The aroma of steaks, chops, hamburgers and frankfurters being cooked over open fires soon should be evident from coast to coast.

The thing most homemakers especially like about cooking on an outdoor grill is the simplicity of menus. Elaborate or exotic meals aren't necessary to spur sagging appetites in hot weather. One look at tasty food being prepared on a "Charky" grill starts mouths watering.

Also, cooking over a charcoal grill is an excellent means of relaxation for the tired homemaker. Instead of facing the depressing prospect of having to cook indoors over a hot stove, she can move her kitchen into the shady yard and take advantage of every cool breeze. Cleaning up after a meal is a lot simpler, too when it's done outdoors.

So use your "patio" more often this summer. You'll find it makes the season a lot more enjoyable.

Swimming pool and a wading pool for the kiddies. Although the golf course and swimming pool are frequented only by their followers—the city park proper is used throughout the summer for family and group picnics, large reunions, as well as for just "lounging" on the grass.

There is a lighted softball diamond which is used practically every night, not only for league games but just for "scrub" games after parties and among clubs. There are two tennis courts which are lighted and a croquet court with lights.

Swings and other children's playground equipment are scattered throughout the park as are picnic tables, barbecue pits, and picnic pavilions. Playground equipment and picnic gear are also available in Birdwell Park, which is located just east of the First Christian Church on 10th. Like the main city park, it is used extensively through the summer by groups and picnickers.

At the corner of W. 4th and Presidio is the ABC Westside Park maintained by the city. A wading pool is located in the park as well as picnic tables. Also there is a recreational building in the park with playground equipment.

val in this area are such that fishing is a hobby which can be enjoyed around the calendar. There are always a few days even in the roughest, coldest months when the nimrod can get in a few hours' angling. Naturally, however, the real rush is at this season extending on throughout the summer. Fishermen who are long seasoned in the sport are of the opinion that becoming addicted to the pastime is a habit easily acquired. "Take a fellow who has never fished," observed one weathered veteran of the lakes "and put a rod in his hand. Let him catch just one little teeny-weensy little fish. That's it, brother! You got another fisherman in the business."

Local Parks Afford Many Summer Fun Facilities

There is plenty of potential summer fun in city and state parks in the Big Spring area.

Big Spring is fortunate in having a picturesque state park almost within the city limits plus four city parks with picnic facilities in them, as well as swimming and wading pools, ball diamonds, and other recreational areas. Combined, these parks provide more than 525 acres of land for use.

Located on Scenic Mt., the 355-acre Big Spring State Park provides picnicking areas with a view unparalleled in this area. There is plenty of playground equipment stop the mountain in the vicinity of the parking and picnicking area.

The pavilion is used for large parties and is a handy place to get out of rain during those seasons and out of the sun in hot weather.

In addition to the state park, the city has four parks now in use and plans to develop two more. Now in use are the main City Park, the Negro Park, the ABC Westside Park, and Birdwell Park.

The biggest of the lot is the main city park which includes the municipal golf course and the main swimming pool. The golf course is a regulation 18-hole course and is considered one of the top many courses in West Texas. Its popularity has brought a regional National Public Links qualifying tournament here this summer. Big Spring being the smallest city in the nation permitted such a tourney.

Also in the city park is a large swimming pool and a wading pool for the kiddies.

Although the golf course and swimming pool are frequented only by their followers—the city park proper is used throughout the summer for family and group picnics, large reunions, as well as for just "lounging" on the grass.

There is a lighted softball diamond which is used practically every night, not only for league games but just for "scrub" games after parties and among clubs. There are two tennis courts which are lighted and a croquet court with lights.

Playground equipment and picnic gear are also available in Birdwell Park, which is located just east of the First Christian Church on 10th. Like the main city park, it is used extensively through the summer by groups and picnickers.

At the corner of W. 4th and Presidio is the ABC Westside Park maintained by the city. A wading pool is located in the park as well as picnic tables. Also there is a recreational building in the park with playground equipment.

CINEMA COMMENT

'God's Little Acre' Makes Lusty Translation To Screen

GOD'S LITTLE ACRE, with Robert Ryan, Aldo Ray, Tina Louise and Fay Spain. Produced by Sidney Harmon, Directed by Anthony Mann. From the book by Erskine Caldwell. Wednesday through Saturday at the Ritz.

BRANDO AND MAY BRITT A little chat with his CO's wife

KIRK DOUGLAS After the battle, the debacle

POWERS AND BEST The "truth" about sex manics

There are many who will recall the earthy story of Ty Ty Walden, the Georgia farmer who set aside an acre of his land, the proceeds of which were to go to the church. Ty Ty, believing gold was buried somewhere on the farm, moved God's little acre from one place to another, as he dug for the gold, so he would not have to share the fortune with Providence.

about as good a cracker as you'll find. Rounding out a good cast are Aldo Ray as Will, one of the few decent persons in the story, but who is all too human; Tina Louise (of Broadway fame) as Griselda, one of Ty Ty's daughters, the one who attempts to retain some vestige of virtue (unsuccessfully); and Fay Spain (a former Reno blackjack dealer) as Darlin' Jill, the other daughter who was something of a nymphomaniac; John Land is a standout as Griselda's husband.

eventually, some earlier than others; not for the suffering, for it is only in recent history and in a small portion of the world that men have ceased to suffer, even in peacetime; not even for the killing, for men have killed each other since the beginning of time. The indictment is in what war does to a man, for what can be more horrible than to see a man turned into an animal? Movie-goers who are accustomed to the blood and guts war movie are in danger of missing the meaning in this one. Perhaps the most dramatic scene is that of the young Nazi officer, played by Marlon Brando, returning to the shambles of a once-beautiful Berlin, encountering a legless child. The strength of this scene is in its silent dignity.

Actor's Glad To Be Among Cockneys Again

By STERLING SLAPPEY LONDON (U)—Stanley Holloway finds it's wonderful to hear the vowel "o" again after spending two years in the United States. Holloway is the scandalous cockney Alfred P. Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," now playing in London. "A proper 'o' is extinct in America," he says. "For two years I heard 'hart' for 'hot' and people kept calling me 'Halaway'."

Squared Off For 'The Rainmaker' The College Players are squared off for "The Rainmaker," but not much has been done the past week—final exams being the way they are. Rehearsals will begin in earnest Monday evening, with the play-date tentatively set for June 26, 27 and 28. Last Monday, the cast, under direction of drama instructor Fred Short, held an analytical session of the play's characters. Each player described his conception of the character he was to portray with others joining in a critical discussion afterwards.

Rock-n-Roll On The Way Down

It is heartening to be able to report that rock 'n roll is on the way down—at least, that's the picture for the past week. Evidence of the trend may be found in the present top recording in the popular field, the Everly Brothers' "Dream of You." This song is quiet and dreamy compared with their earlier efforts.

Many Softball Teams Are Still Active In Big Spring

Time was, in Big Spring, when interest in softball all but eclipsed that of baseball. Economic conditions were severe. The cost of fielding a baseball team was considered exorbitant, and there were few places within the immediate area where baseball could be played. The city encouraged the trend toward softball by building a diamond in the municipal park, complete with lights. It has been improved several times and is in existence to this day. Time was when the demand for the park's facilities was so heavy that the teams and leagues had to make an advanced request for use of it. That was prior to World War II.

when as many as four or five leagues were in existence. Interest has waned since that time, but there are still teams active here and the park diamond is used several nights a week during the summer months. Perhaps the strongest team in the city at the present time is the nine backed by Cosden Petroleum Corporation, managed by Ted Gross. Cosden challenges and plays the strongest teams in West Texas and manages to compete in one or two tournaments annually. A team gaining stature is sponsored by Nabors Paint Store, managed by Cotton Mize. The team also takes on all comers. Webb AFB also has its own team, managed by Dutch Holland, but that team has its own diamond on Webb property. It plays host to both local independent nines and contingents from other air installations. A church softball league functions here every summer, organized and sponsored by the YMCA. It uses the playing field at the city park, too.
