French President Officially Calls De Gaulle Into Power

Fear Of Military Coup Prompts Coty

PARIS (AP) — President Rene Coty is calling Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power with a warning that only he can save France from civil war. There were reports that a military coup was in the making.

The President announced this action to Parliament today. He said he will resign if the National Assembly refuses to accept De Gaulle as premier.

De Gaulle arrived in Paris tonight less than three hours after the announcement.

De Gaulle disappeared from public view shortly after reaching the capital from his village home 150 miles away. But he was expected to appear at the President's palace shortly presumably to arrange formally the process of attempting to form a government.

Coty's unprecedented message was received in the National Assembly with shouts of derision from the Communists and cheers from De Gaullists on the right.

"We find ourselves on the brink of civil war," Coty said.

The Ministry of Interior doubled security measures in Paris, already an armed camp. Authorities feared clashes between Communists and rightists.

"COMMITTEE" SET UP

De Gaulle supporters set up a committee of public safety at Tarbes, a city of more than 42,000 in southern France. They said they would not take over from local authorities, however. News of the committee's formation touched off an anti-De Gaulle demonstration by 2,000 factory workers.

The Assembly recessed and parties began feverish caucuses. First reports said the Socialists, who hold the balance of power, were still firmly opposed to De Gaulle.

Coty told the Assembly he could see no alternative to De Gaulle. He said he intended to designate De Gaulle as chief of government and if the Assembly did not accept him, he would resign and turn the presidency over to Andre le Troquer, speaker of the National Assembly and constitutionally the man in line to take Coty's office.

Coty mourned that France, one of the oldest of democracies, was also one of the weakest.

"Thus, if I have passed the traditional limits which were imposed upon my predecessor, I believed myself authorized to do so," Coty said in his first official statement to the Assembly since he thanked it on taking office in 1954.

ON THE BRINK

"The state does not cease to be divided," Coty said. "Now we find ourselves on the brink of civil war."

The Assembly was packed as Le Troquer, dressed in traditional white tie and tails, read the message.

At the end of his speech, tumult broke out in the chamber. The Communists roared disapproval and the Right cheered De Gaulle.

Premier Pierre Pflimlin, ex-Premier Guy Mollet, the Socialist leader, and Interior Minister Jules Moch, the real powers in the outgoing Cabinet, stood expressionless as Le Troquer spoke.

Despite his warning, the Assembly immediately adjourned and the parties went into individual sessions. The first word was that the Socialist opposition to De Gaulle—born of the belief he will form a dictatorship—was not changed by Coty's appeal.

The scene in the Assembly chamber was one of the wildest of its long history.

The Communists shouted "Fascism shall not pass" and sang "The Marseillaise." On the right, the chamber echoed with cheers and shouts of "De Gaulle! De Gaulle!" and "Vive la Republique."

MILITARY COUP

Officials at Elysee Palace, the French White House, said intelligence sources felt a De Gaulle military coup was only a matter of hours.

This was supported by a warning statement from the Gaullist junta in Algiers that it could react vigorously if De Gaulle's accession to power is further delayed.

Coty has been a firm pillar in the crisis that broke May 13 with the revolt of the paratroops in Algeria.

Although he lacks almost any direct powers in government, his influence is great.

The main barrier to republican France's willing the government to De Gaulle was the Socialist party. Many Socialist leaders in Parliament led peaceful street demonstrations against De Gaulle yesterday by 50,000 or more Parisians.

The Communists also were ready to oppose De Gaulle with more strike calls and possibly street fighting if their bloc of one

UNKNOWN SOLDIERS Hushed Streams Pay Silent Tribute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gold Star mothers, foreign ambassadors and a hushed stream of plain Americans paid silent tribute today to the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

Presbyterians Hit 'Hypocrisy' In U.S. Conduct

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A report before a newly unified Presbyterian Church charged today that America is practicing a "kind of international hypocrisy" in its foreign relations.

And a warning was sounded that God may use "Communist or other godless powers" to punish such conduct.

A strongly worded document, recommended for adoption by the founding assembly of the new, three-million member United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., referred to what was termed the "myth of the free world," and added: "Our fathers' concept of freedom is...being debased. This nation counts among its allies some nations which are in no sense free.

"By our actions we proclaim to the world that lands where human freedom is utterly dead can qualify for membership in the free world simply by supplying military bases or strategic commodities.

"This kind of international hypocrisy should be abhorrent to Christians, and in its presence the church cannot keep silent."

The 2,500-word paper was drawn up by the Administration Board of the United Presbyterian Church and the General Council of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., which yesterday merged into one denomination.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are members.

In its criticism of U. S. foreign policy, the report said Americans are in danger of rejecting their spiritual and moral heritage.

"We are becoming less interested in righteousness than in national security and international superiority," the report said. "...Self-interest is becoming the great absolute."

The report, prepared as a message to the new church's nearly 10,000 congregations across the country, slapped at what it called the "declamatory tones" of the cold war.

The new church elected as its moderator the Rev. Dr. Theophilus Mills Taylor, professor of New Testament at Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary.

Work Order For Airport Is Issued

Work order for the Howard County Airport has been issued by the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the contractor has informed the county officials he is ready to move onto the site immediately.

Bob Allen, CAA engineer, called R. H. Weaver, Howard County judge, at 11 a.m. Thursday to inform him that the order for the construction to start has now been cleared.

Allen informed Weaver that an engineer for the CAA will be in Big Spring Monday to meet with the Commissioners Court to discuss details on how payments are to be made.

Representatives of the group of Abilene construction firms who combined to bid on the job will also be present.

Weaver said he had talked to T. G. Brown, spokesman for the contractors, and that Brown has said that work will start "immediately." He implied, Weaver said, that workmen and machinery would begin moving in right on the heels of the meeting Monday.

The work order climaxes two years of planning and negotiations to provide the county with an airport. It began with the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce aviation committee petitioning the county to call a bond election for an airport in 1956. The voters approved the bond election in the summer of that year and authorized issuance of $500,000 in bonds for the project.

Later the CAA entered the picture and most of the time since has been involved in determining the federal agency's role in the project.

Last week, the CAA formally allocated $400,000 to be invested in the local airport.

Contract for the job calls for expenditure of $617,000. Initial construction is for the airport proper—no buildings or extra facilities are included. Preparation of the land, runways, aprons, lighting, fences, roads and other similar construction are included in the original plans.

Reuther Declares Wage Demands Cannot Be 'Swept Under The Rug'

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther declared today that basic contract demands of his United Auto Workers union "cannot be swept under the rug."

And the UAW president said his union is not surrendering, despite ultimatums from the auto industry that it will operate without contracts if no new agreement is reached by midnight tonight for General Motors or Sunday for Ford and Chrysler.

The UAW president said he was not concerned by GM's decision that it will abandon the union shop and checkoff of dues if the union does not accept contract terms.

Entering the GM talks for the first time in two months, Reuther said there were basic demands, including pensions, layoff pay and benefits for displaced workers, "that we cannot sweep under the rug."

GM's top negotiator, Vice President Louis G. Seaton, joined Reuther at the bargaining table for the first time since they have opened the talks March 25. Asked about the possibility of a settlement by midnight, Seaton said, "I'm always an optimist."

Seaton said that in event there is no settlement GM is already laid down its terms for keeping plants open.

Thunderstorms In Forecast

By The Associated Press

Scattered thunderstorms were forecast for Texas again Thursday and Friday.

Showers hit the San Antonio, San Angelo and Austin areas Thursday morning.

The forecast duplicated that for Tuesday and Wednesday, which saw damaging storms and a tornado. Haskell had high winds and rain Tuesday night which caused considerable damage.

Marshall also had heavy rains. A twister at Atlanta Wednesday caused some property damage but no one was hurt.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday included Abilene 1.6 of an inch, Amarillo .07, Beaumont .43, Houston .13, Lubbock 1.7 and Waco .23.

Highs Wednesday varied from 107 degrees at Presidio to 84 at Lubbock.

Mishap Victim Improves After Brain Surgery

Wayman Clark was reported to be slightly improved following brain surgery in Fort Worth about 2 a.m. today. Clark, an employee of Jones & Laughlin here, was injured Wednesday afternoon and was rushed to Fort Worth to a brain specialist.

Clark, who resides at 2406 Morrison, was unloading some pumping units at the J&L warehouse when a boomer dislodged and hit him on the forehead. After being taken to a local hospital, officials recommended that he be taken to a specialist at Fort Worth. Nalley-Pickle ambulance carried him to St. Joseph's Hospital there, where he underwent surgery.

Clark is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. T. Willard Neel.

Fire Destroys Home Near Lees

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a small rural residence near Lees Store on the Garden City highway sometime Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

Miller Harris, sheriff, investigated the blaze but said there was nothing to show the cause of the fire.

He said the house was occupied by the Bill Dorris family and that all members of the family were away from home on Tuesday night. They spent the night with relatives in town.

When they returned to the house, they found only smoldering ruins. All contents were destroyed.

OLD GLORY AT HALF STAFF ... honoring nation's war dead

MEMORIAL DAY Holiday Weekend To Begin Friday

Big Springers were getting set today for their first long weekend holiday of the spring and summer season.

The occasion will be Memorial Day, to be observed across the nation Friday in honor of the U. S. war dead.

A brief memorial service is planned for 9 a.m. at the War Memorial on the courthouse grounds, the only formal observance scheduled here. Representatives of the local Disabled American Veterans chapter and Gold Star Mothers are to place a wreath on the monument.

Most Big Spring business places and all public offices will be closed for the holiday. Banks will be open, however.

Hundreds of residents will spend the day at area lakes, parks, golf courses and swimming pools.

Warnings to be on guard against the hazards of highways and unguarded waters were being issued today by Police Chief C. L. Rogers and other public officials.

"We hope everyone can enjoy a holiday free of tragedy and mishaps of all kinds," said the police chief. "If everyone will observe the commonsense rules of safety and good conduct, we can have that kind of holiday."

Flags on public buildings, including the Post Office here, are flying at half-mast today and will continue to hold that position through Memorial Day.

The flags are so flown to pay honor to the unknown soldier dead of the nation's wars.

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said that he received orders issued by President Eisenhower that the post office flag be lowered half down the staff on May 28. He said he had a number of phone calls Wednesday asking the reason. The flag will continue as it now is through Friday.

At WAFB, flags are at half mast, too. However, the flags there have been flying in that position all week.

On Monday, they were lowered for the first of two days as a mark of tribute to the memory of the late William H. Francis, assistant secretary of defense, who died in Washington. At the expiration of the two days, the scheduled three day observance in honor of the unknown dead of the wars began and the flags continued as they had been all week.

YMCA Fund Still Growing

The YMCA building fund campaign, now in the cleanup phase, edged up to $269,073 Thursday.

The score of cleanup volunteers were reporting excellent response on their cards. More than one said the results were exceeding those of their original cards.

More volunteers are needed to make the cleanup effective, said Bobo Hardy, executive secretary. There are some 100 good cards remaining for contacts.

In addition to these there are 314 cards still out in the hands of individual solicitors who have not yet reported from the original appeal. YMCA campaign officials have sent letters to all these workers urging them to complete their contacts this week or to please turn the cards so they can be reassigned.

Tech Student Dies In Bridge Crash

HOUSTON (AP)—Jane Robbins, 20, a Texas Tech student and daughter of a Houston bank executive, was killed last night when an auto crashed into a bridge near Sealy.

Two other Tech students returning home for the summer were injured and hospitalized at Bellville. They were Albert Richardson, 21, the driver, and Lou Ann McKinnon, 20, both of Houston.

CLEAN-UP PAINT-UP FIX-UP

Big Clean-Up Drive Opens In City Friday

The call to arms — this case brooms, hoes, rakes, hammers and paint brushes — has been sounded for Big Spring.

Mayor G. W. Dabney has proclaimed the week of June 1-7 as Clean-Up Week in Big Spring. He also designated May 30-June 1 as Clean-Up Weekend as a means of getting residents in action before the city's trucks start circulating on a gigantic pick up service.

Within the next fortnight, a fleet of trucks will move on schedule throughout the corporate limits to haul away trash and other refuse gathered from private premises.

"It doesn't make any difference what it is," said City Manager H. W. Whitney. "We'll haul it away if it's part of the cleanup process. The only stipulation is that you put it where we can get to it and before our trucks pass by."

Dr. J. E. Hogan, Chamber of Commerce president and who has made clean-up one of his major aims for the year, appealed for everyone to join in the effort. It does not take money in most instances, he said, but it does take pride.

"Only personal pride of property can prevent deterioration," he said. "When we drive down the street, do we like to look back at our house and say 'that is my house'?"

The campaign has the full weight of the Chamber of Commerce, the City of Big Spring, the women's clubs and more particularly the garden clubs of the city.

In addition, the city-county health unit, realizing the importance of a successful effort to public health, has joined in appeals.

So has the fire department for safety's sake.

Members of the various garden clubs are serving as cleanup ambassadors, distributing check lists to houses of the city. With these they are voicing appeals to clean up, paint up and fix up.

Old Furniture, Clothing Can Be Used By Others

The clothing and furniture that is a fire risk to you can warm the needy and brighten their homes, Capt. Fred Overton of the Salvation Army said today in reference to the Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up program which opens this weekend.

have reiterated the importance of good maintenance to preservation of property values.

Examples of how property, allowed to deteriorate, have blocked investments and improvements for the city have been cited recently.

Mayor Dabney not only urged people to clean up their yards, but he urged them to make repairs and renovations where possible and to paint frame structures.

"The appearance of our homes and our business houses creates the impression that brands us as a community," he said. "He appeals also to owners of vacant property to do something about clearing away the trash and brush. Recently the chamber directors favored a resolution which called on the city to consider an ordinance which would permit systematic cleaning of vacant property and charging it to the owner."

HERE'S CITY'S SCHEDULE FOR MOVING TRASH

This is the schedule for free trash pickup service by the City of Big Spring in connection with the annual spring clean-up:

Monday and Tuesday (June 2-3) east of Goliad and from 1st south to Eleventh Place; Wednesday and Thursday (June 4-5) east of Goliad from Eleventh Place south to the city limits; Friday and Saturday (June 6-7) west of Goliad and south of Eleventh Place to city limits; Monday and Tuesday (June 8-9) west of Goliad and north of Eleventh Place to 1st; Wednesday and Thursday (June 11-12) everything north of the Texas & Pacific railroad.

The city will have four of its trucks on duty and Webb AFB is to furnish two additional ones. Trash should be piled near the customary garbage collection points, if possible (otherwise at the street or alley line). Pick-up crews will haul away anything from old stoves and refrigerators to tree stumps and weeds.

Fire Hazards Are Eliminated When Junk, Trash Discarded

Fire hazards are always found in all homes and the carelessness of occupants, in the matter of keeping their houses clean, free of rubbish and trash and in good repair vastly increases the threat of fire, according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker Sr., of the Big Spring Fire Department.

Each year, he says, his department is called upon to cope with fires, some of which cause heavy damage to property, traceable directly to the need for cleanliness, orderliness and repair on the premises.

Uncut weeds and grass, for example, pose a constant fire threat. A carelessly thrown cigarette or match will set such material ablaze and often, he points out, the tallest and most dangerous of the growth is along the walls of garages, workshops or other out-buildings. Such dangerous conditions also exist in close proximity to many residences. Such tall grass and weeds should be cut down, and deposited in a place where they will offer no possibility of catching fire.

Miscellaneous trash and junk, allowed to accumulate and left stacked in careless confusion in backyards or against the walls of outbuildings also can be a source of fire danger. Trash allowed to blow at large or carelessly burned sets many fires which send the firemen scurrying. Grass and trash fires are an annual problem the fire department has to deal with once the growing season ends.

If such fire causes were dealt with sensibly by the residents and premises were kept clear of such material, the number of such fires would be materially reduced, Crocker said.

Clean-Up Will Protect Health

Active support of the Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up program is a good way to protect your family's health, said Dr. J. E. Hogan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the clean-up project.

"By getting rid of trash and rubbish, obtaining covered garbage containers, disposing of old rotten wood piles, you will deprive rats of food and shelter," Dr. Hogan advised.

"The vacant lot clearing projects, spraying operations, pond drainage will reduce the mosquito population tremendously. The vacant lot program will also rid the city of the greatest ragweed source, which will mean that hay fever will be minimized next fall," Dr. Hogan added.

"Germs of many kinds will fall before the attack of scrub brush and paint brush, and the community as a whole will be a healthier place in which to live. Particularly for the sake of our children, I urge you to participate fully in the campaign," the health leader said.

Women's Clubs Backing City Cleanup, Prepare Check List

Be a Good Neighbor. Participate in this year's clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign.

That's the advice of a host of local women's organizations, those which make up Hyperion Clubs Council, Garden Clubs Council and the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

The organizations are helping sponsor this year's clean-up drive, and members of the clubs are distribute to every home in the city a "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up check sheet" which can serve as a guide for individual participation.

The check sheet is in the form of a questionnaire which the clubs say "covers some of the questions that we might ask ourselves in determining what efforts we should make in order to make our city a cleaner and healthier place in which to live."

Here are the questions, to be distributed house to house by the women's club representatives:

1. Would my property be more beautiful if I planned more trees, shrubs and flowers?
2. Would my property be more attractive if I painted my house?
3. Would my property be more beautiful if I changed the location of my garbage can, or buried it?
4. Do I have a vacant lot that needs clearing and cleaning up?
5. Do I have fire hazards on my property?
6. Do I have unsanitary conditions on my property?
7. How about my garage? Does it need cleaning up?
8. Would my property be more valuable if I spent some time and effort in a general beautification program?

"Am I a good neighbor to the people who live near me?"

"Needless to say, if you answer 'No' to the first eight questions, you will be able to answer 'Yes' to No. 9." The club representatives point out. "However, if you have one or more 'Yes' answers to the first eight questions, the 'No' on No. 9 could be a friendly reminder to roll up your sleeves and participate in our annual Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up campaign."

Check Electric Wiring System

An important checkpoint during Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up time is your wiring system. This advice is especially applicable if your home is 10 years old or more. Estimates are that eight out of 10 houses in that age bracket can stand rewiring.

The rapid advances in electrical equipment have often strained the systems installed before the new appliances became so widespread in homes throughout the country. The most obvious symptoms of over-loading trouble are: fuses blowing, flickering picture on TV, fading lights, slowness of operation of appliances.

Therefore, it's wise to have an electrician check to see if you have adequate electrical support. It takes but a little while for a check and it can mean safety and comfort for your family.

FOR BETTER HEALTH

Sanitarian Recommends Weekly Clean-Up Drives

Clean up drives are so important they should be held every week instead of every year.

This is the word of Lige Fox, city sanitarian, looking at the cleanup campaign from a sanitary standpoint.

Fox said that the annual drive helped remove some of the city's sanitary problems, but to do an adequate job, such a drive should be held more often.

"Sanitation should go on all year," said Fox. The sanitarian said that the cleanup drive helped make us more aware of what unsanitary conditions existed and also helped us get rid of fire and health hazards.

Rotten piles of grass and weeds make good harborage for insects, and some insects breed in them, he said. Also any container with water in it is a natural breeding place for mosquitoes.

Fox said the best way to judge your residence for cleanliness is to ask yourself: is my home an asset or a liability to the community?

"All of us have accumulations of rags, trash or refuse in the cellar, garage, attic or some other out-of-the-way place which is a fire hazard. It is good to eliminate them, and with the free haul-off, now would be a good time to clean up," said Fox.

The sanitarian said that quite often we find glass or other sharp objects in our yard which should be removed. This removal of potential accident hazards cannot be stressed too heavily, he added.

C Of C President Pleads For City-Wide Cleanup

Dr. J. E. Hogan, who keynoted his acceptance of the Chamber of Commerce presidency with a challenge for city-wide cleanup, has this to say about the Clean-Up Week:
"Every year the Chamber of Commerce promotes a Cleanup Campaign. This usually brings out big piles of rubbish, that the city gladly hauls off to the dump grounds.
"For the Cleanup Campaign planned this year, I would sincerely plead with every citizen to really do a good job of cleaning his property. This means a lot more than piling his rubbish in the alley for the pickup.
"Each person should go over to his neighbor's house and look back at his own house and yard, so as to see his property as his neighbor sees it. Does the shrubbery need trimming? Does the lawn need more personal care? Are the fences well repaired and painted? What does the house look like? Do you see an old dilapidated garage or other backyard building that is such a state that it can't be used? In other words, does the property that you own or rent look pleasing to you? Are you glad to call what you survey in your yard, home?

"If what you see is pleasing, your neighbors will think you are a good neighbor to them, but if your home and yard or business property is in a bad state of repair and in need of paint, then you should draw your own conclusion as to how good a neighbor you are.
"One does not have to go very far from any place in Big Spring to see poorly kept property. In a lot of instances this does not denote lack of money to keep property in good condition but lack of pride in the persons using the property, be it owned or rented. There are so many things that each of us could do for our property and general beautification of our city, that it would cost only in some work. The "Do-It-Yourself" program could produce drastic changes for a cleaner, healthier and more beautiful city.

"If each citizen would only keep his property in pleasing appearance, the whole city would be pleasing to all of us and to our visitors.
"I would like to stress that houses and buildings do not create slums, but people do. Only personal pride of property can prevent deterioration, so I would like to ask:
"Are we a good neighbor?
"Do we have pride in our property?
"When we drive down the street, do we like to look back at our house and say "that is my house"?"

VALUE STAYS UP

It's Smart Business To Keep Home Clean, In Good Repair

Not only is it a source of satisfaction to the homeowner that his home is kept in good repair, attractive and clean but it is also a matter of very grave economic concern to him as well.
The dollars and cents he spends to maintain his property — the money he spends for repainting when the house needs it, the repairs made to keep all features of the residence in top shape — means the value of his property on the market is being maintained and the life of the house being prolonged.
Larson Lloyd, Big Spring banker, who is also an official appraiser for the Federal Housing

Administration and the GI loan service, inspects scores of residences in this and adjacent towns each year.
His assignment is to fix a value on the house—to measure as accurately as possible the depreciation that may have developed since the building was erected. He approaches the task without regard to any other element than an accurate judgment of the dollar-and-cents value of the property.
A house, he said, is usually estimated to have a life span of 50 years. Often, he finds, two houses, built at the same time and of the same approximate original cost, may vary widely in true worth after the same number of years of occupancy.
One house, after 10 years for example, may still have from 40 to perhaps 45 years of life. It will be a house where the owner has kept the paint, roof, windows and other features in constant repair; it will be a house where the interior is kept painted or papered and where floors, plumbing, and all accessories have never been allowed to deteriorate.
The adjoining house, on the other hand, may not have had this sort of treatment. As a result of the neglect it has endured, the life span left in this building may be reduced to not more than 20 years.

Repairs when needed, paint when it is called for, maintenance of all features in a house not only add to the attractiveness of the place, they are dollars in the bank should the owner be called upon to sell the property.
"It is difficult," Lloyd said, "to over emphasize the importance that proper care, maintenance and repair plays in establishing and maintaining the dollar value of a home.
"My task is to see to it that the buyer, the seller and the agency which is guaranteeing the loan all get every cent due to them.
"My job is much simplified when I come upon a house where the owner has been alert in the matter of painting, repairing and maintaining his property. And such an owner, as well as any prospective purchaser in the future, benefits heavily."

Church Of God VBS Dates Set

The vacation Church School of First Church of God will get under way Monday and will terminate with a commencement exercise June 8 during the Sunday school hour.
Mrs. R. E. Hickson will direct the school for which she has recruited 15 workers. A program of study and recreation is planned for children from 3 years of age to the junior high level. Hours will be from 8:45 to 11:15 each morning through Saturday, with registration to be done at 8:45 a.m. this Saturday at the church.
For those with perfect attendance in the junior and junior high departments, an overnight outing is scheduled June 9 at Lake J. B. Thomas. A picnic for all the enrollees is planned for the morning of June 7.
All children of the congregation and others interested are invited to attend the school at 21st and Main Streets.

Methodists Hear Reports

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Southwest Texas Methodist Conference spent today in business sessions and listening to reports. An Ordination Service with a sermon by Dr. Umphrey Lee, chancellor of SMU at Dallas, was scheduled tonight.
Dr. L. O. Ryan of Kerrville was elected chairman of the Deacons Board yesterday.

Oklahoma Oil Allowables Rising

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma oil allowables continue to inch up slowly from the low of 510,000 barrels per day reached last March.
The Corporation Commission set the allowable for June at 540,000 barrels daily, about the same as production has been averaging this month.
Chairman Ray Jones said he expects Oklahoma's improved crude oil position to continue firm for the next two or three months.
The allowable actually is the same as for May—about 515,000 barrels per day. But a 20 per cent cut on the allocated wells was based on April production instead of March. Production in April was considerably higher than in March.

Prize Winning Story About Unknown Soldier Reprinted

Editor's Note—Tomorrow in Arlington National Cemetery two unknown American servicemen will be buried. These men, who lost their lives in World War I and the Korean War, will join the Unknown Soldier of World War I who has been alone in the memorial since Nov. 11, 1921.
On that day more than 36 years ago one of the most famous news stories of all time was written by Kirke L. Simpson, then a member of the Washington staff of The Associated Press. A major portion of the Pulitzer Prize-winning account is reproduced below.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1921—Under the wide and starry skies of his own homeland, America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars.

Alone, he lies in the narrow cell of stone that guards his body; but his soul has entered into the spirit that is America. Wherever liberty is held close in men's hearts, the honor and the glory and the pledge of high endeavor poured out over this nameless one of fame, will be told and sung by Americans for all time.
After President Harding and most of the high dignitaries of the government had turned aside at the White House, the procession, headed by its solid blocks of soldiery and the battalions of sailor comrades, moved on with Pershing, now flanked by Secretaries Weeks and Denby, for the long road to the tomb.
Ahead, the white marble of the amphitheater gleamed through the trees. People in thousands were moving about the great circle. Down below the platform placed for the casket, in a stone vault, lay wreaths and garlands. Above the platform gathered men whose names ring through history—Briand, Foch, Beatty, Balfour, Jacques, Diaz and others—in a brilliant array of place and power. They were followed by notables from all countries gathered here for tomorrow's conference, and by some of the older figures in American life too old to walk beside the approaching funeral train.
At the arch where the choir waited the heroic dead, comrades lifted his casket down and, followed by the generals and the admirals, who had walked beside him from the Capitol, he was carried to the place of honor. Ahead moved the white robed singers, chanting solemnly. Carefully the casket was placed above the banked flowers and the Marine band played sacred melodies until the moment the President and Mrs. Harding stepped to their places beside the casket.

Mr. Harding showed strong emotion as his lips formed the last words of the address. He paused, then with raised hand and head bowed, went on in the measured, rolling periods of the Lord's Prayer. The response that came back to him from the thousands he faced, from the other thousands out over the slopes beyond, arose like a chant. The marble arches hummed with the solemn sound.
Then the foreign officers who stand highest among the soldiers or sailors of their flags came one by one to the bier to place gold and jeweled emblems for the brave above the breast of the sleeper. Already, as the great prayer ended, the President had set the American seal of admiration for the valiant, the nation's love for brave deeds and the courage that defies death, upon the casket. Side by side he laid the Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross.

The casket, with its weight of honors, was lowered into the crypt. A rocking blast of gunfire rang from the woods. The glittering circle of bayonets stiffened to a salute to the dead. Again the guns shouted their message of honor and farewell. Again they boomed out: a loyal comrade was being laid to his last, long rest.
High and clear and true in the echoes of the guns, a bugle lifted the old, old notes of taps, the lullaby for the living soldier, in death his requiem. Long ago some forgotten soldier poet caught its meaning clear and set it down that soldiers everywhere might know its message as they sing to rest:
"Fades the light;
And afar
Goeth day, cometh night,
And a star
Leadeth all, speedeth all,
To their rest."
The guns roared out again in the national salute. He was home, the Unknown, to sleep forever among his own.

Author Of Classic Recalls Old Days

By ROBERT EUNSON
LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — Kirke Simpson, who wrote a news story that became a classic, is still modest and unassuming.
In 1921 Simpson, a member of the Associated Press Washington staff, covered the burial of the Unknown Soldier and won worldwide acclaim for his account. Now 77, tall and lean, his eyes crinkle as he recalls those dull, gray days so long ago.
He has not written a news story in 12 years, but he has a good reporter's memory for details.
"On Nov. 9, 1921," he recalled, "we were getting ready to go down to the Washington Navy Yard to meet the cruiser Olympia, Adm. George Dewey's flagship at Manila. It was bringing in the Unknown Soldier from France. I remember one of the War Department officials said, 'I hope the press makes an epoch out of this and not a eulogy.'
"Simpson had known war from first hand. As a lad of 17 he was a bugler in the Philippines during the Spanish American War. It was there he memorized the words of the Army call, "Taps."
It was there, too, that he became a fan of Robert Louis Stevenson, whose "Requiem" lent Simpson the mood, simplicity and tone for his Unknown Soldiers stories.
"I never thought of myself as an important writer," he said. "I don't to this day. I always appreciated good writing though. I read a lot by Robert Louis Stevenson, Jack London and others."
He was a friend of Jack London's in the great novelist's heyday in San Francisco, Simpson's birthplace.
After the Spanish-American War Simpson came home to California and went into the newspaper business. He was on the Oakland Tribune and then a small newspaper in Tonopah, Nev. By 1914 he was in Washington with The Associated Press.

On his assignment to write the Unknown Soldier stories, he went in the long line that filed past the catafalque to capture the feeling of the crowd.
Later he picked up his friend, Steve Early, then an AP editor in Washington and subsequently press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Together they went to Arlington for the entombment.
Simpson's lead on that event leaned heavily on Robert Louis Stevenson.
Stevenson's "Requiem" begins: "Under the wide and starry sky, dig the grave and let me lie."
Simpson began his story: "Under the wide and starry skies of his home land, America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars."
As he neared the end he realized he needed something that would cut right through to the hearts of the American people. He remembered the lines of "Taps." And they rolled from his typewriter:
"Fades the light
And afar
Goeth day, cometh night
And a star
Leadeth all, speedeth all
To their rest."
That did it. There was a clamor for the name of the author of the newspaper articles. The ban on bylines in The AP was relaxed and Kirke Simpson won the first Pulitzer Prize ever awarded a news agency man.

From Fish Eating To Panty Raiding, College Fun Goes On

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Writer

A couple of decades ago they gulped goldfish and sat on flagpoles. Then they embraced the panty raid with considerable enthusiasm.

Now, the college kids seem to have taken to throwing things at the boss, as witness the Cornell students who last week egged the university president for lowering the boom on off-campus social life.

All of which might seem to indicate that college kids are going from bad to worse. But don't bet on it. If they've changed at all in the past several hundred years, it's been for the better.

Students, pupils, clerks, whatever name they have gone by, have tried to live up to rowdy reputations ever since the first crib notes were scribbled on the hem of a tunic.

And the rowdiest, most playful lot were those who attended the great universities of Europe during the supposedly idyllic and studious Middle Ages.

When Medieval students were not huddled, quills poised, at the feet of the master, they were out on the town. Manuscripts weren't the only things illuminated in those gay days. More often than not, the students were well lit themselves.

In Pavia, Italy, a student with a poetic turn summed up his personal philosophy of college life in these lines:

"In the public house to die
"Is my resolution;
"Let wine to my lips be nigh
"At life's dissolution.

About the same time, the University of Leipzig found it necessary to caution its playful students against "interfering with the hangman in the execution of his duty."

A despairing Paris clergyman wrote: "A student's heart is in the mire, fixed on prebends (allowances) and things temporal and how to satisfy his desires. They are so litigious and quarrelsome that there is no peace with them."

The town of Oxford, England, complained officially: "They the students sleep all day and at night roam about taverns and houses of ill-fame for opportunity of robbery and homicide."

The "town and gown" disputes that pitted Harvard against Cambridge, Mass., and Yale against New Haven, Conn., are nothing compared with Oxford-Oxford relations of the Middle Ages.

Oxford townspeople once upped and drove the university out of town.

The affair was known as the St. Scholastica's Day riot of 1354. It began when several students complained of the wine at the local pub. The vintner took exception.

"Several snappy words passed between them," noted a contemporary chronicler.

Snappy words being the kind that run out soonest, it didn't take the students long to crown the vintner with his own flagon, wine and all.

Townspeople, annoyed at this obvious breach of tavern etiquette, took to shooting arrows at stray students. The students fought back and a number were killed. The survivors fled.

The town of Oxford spent 470 years doing penance for its rash act. Each anniversary of the riot, townspeople paid about 60 pence in token atonement. The practice wasn't dropped until 1825.

Texans, Okies Great Kidders But Work Together Seriously

By TEX EASLEY
Washington, May 29 (AP)—Texans and Oklahomans in Congress occasionally rib each other in fun, but on serious matters they usually work hand in glove.

There's the case of Reps. Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Ed Edmondson of Muskogee, both Democrats, who look so much alike their colleagues sometimes call them the Gold Dust Twins.

Edmondson is 37 and came to the House in 1953. Wright, 35, arrived in 1955. Both are of medium build, have sandy hair, are quiet speaking but eloquent and serve together on the Public Works Committee.

It was a joint effort of the two men which resulted in the House adopting an important amendment to the Foreign Aid bill.

Last year they had conducted extensive hearings throughout the Southwest when floods were sweeping over that part of the country, and were decidedly unhappy when the Budget Bureau failed to recommend appropriations for many flood control projects. Then they conceived the idea that the same criteria of economic feasibility should be placed on public works abroad financed with American tax dollars.

Edmondson offered an amendment requiring that the same benefit-cost ratio tests be applied to works on which U. S. funds are spent.

In a supporting speech which clearly influenced many colleagues to join in adopting the amendment, Wright said:

"It is the height of inconsistency for us to handcut ourselves to such a completely hidebound and wholly unyielding set of criteria in regard to the development of our own native resources while having no specific knowledge whatever of the nature or the direction of the proposed developments of an identical character in foreign lands."

Only the day before this exchange took place there was some good natured repartee between Sens. Ralph Yarborough and Mike Monroney, Democrats, at a hearing of the Senate Commerce Committee on the nomination of Robert Bartley to a second seven-year term on the Federal Communications Commission.

Bartley hails from Bonham and is a nephew of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

"I reckon we had better check carefully into this appointment," drawled Monroney. "We better make sure this is not some form of extension of Texas into Oklahoma."

Yarborough, recalling long-past feuds between the two states, then observed that Oklahoma finally had gone through the courts to win two counties Texas once claimed.

"Well, those are the only Texans we have ever been able to integrate," Monroney rejoined.

This prompted Sen. John Pastore (D-R) to comment that "it seems to be a common commodity" between Texans and Oklahomans.

Bartley, incidentally, won unanimous committee backing. The Senate later confirmed his appointment.

Another example of the mutually beneficial teamwork between Texans and Oklahomans is the relationship between Speaker Rayburn and Carl Albert (D), whose districts face along the Red River.

When matters affecting Lake Texoma came up, or other things of importance to the district of either or both, they can be counted on to cooperate.

The 50-year-old Oklahoman has been in the House 11 years and holds the influential post of Democratic Whip. He is responsible for seeing that colleagues of his party are on hand for vital votes.

One member of the Texas Congressional delegation was born in Oklahoma. He is Olin E. (Tiger) Teague (D) of the Corsicana-Bryan district, a native of Woodward.

Two Oklahoma congressmen are natives of Texas: Rep. Tom Steed (D) of Shawnee was born on a farm near Rising Star, and Rep. Toby Morris (D) of Lawton was born at Granbury.

The 70-year-old archbishop of Chicago died Tuesday after a stroke. His body will be flown to the United States tonight for burial in Chicago.

Winner Puzzled By Political Life

MURRAY, Ky. (AP)—What leads a successful businessman into politics?

Frank A. Stubblefield pondered the question seriously for a moment and replied: "I don't know."

You can buy almost anything at Stubblefield's drugstore — "anything from plow points to pills," as he puts it. Running it is a full-time task for him and his brother Vernon.

Now Stubblefield finds himself shouldered with added new responsibilities. He is the Democratic nominee for Congress from Kentucky's 1st Dist. and the nearest thing to a certainty to be elected.

The 50-year-old druggist shook his head in amazement when he learned he had unseated Noble J. Gregory of Mayfield in Tuesday's primary election at a time when it appeared Gregory could spend his life in Congress.

After 22 years in Washington, Gregory had climbed the seniority scale to vice chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. He had other important committee positions. He was popular in his district and he had solid political backing from Gov. A. B. Chandler.

But Stubblefield outpolled Gregory 16,302 votes to 15,870.

The Air Force disclosed how it could be done in a demonstration that rocketed a big F100D fighter into the air from a mobile launcher.

In time of war, said the Air Force, fighter planes could be dispersed in rough, desolate terrain, then fired into the air like missiles when needed.

Hanson says the grasshoppers are also getting quite numerous, and are eating cotton. These are not the big jumbos which treasured last year, but what Hanson called "Kansas grasshopper."

They are brown-colored with long wings, which they can use quite well.

"They're harder to control," Hanson said, "because if you put out bait, they just fly over it. The only way to get them is by spraying."

Thus far no one has tried to control them. However, when the other spraying gets underway, Hanson thinks this might also kill the hoppers.

The total cantaloupe acreage in Martin County will be small, but two or three farmers will have sizable fields. R. B. Creech has 75 acres, and one of the boys has nearly 10 acres of watermelons. Also the Barnhills have a small field of cantaloupes.

Since there will be no packing shed, each grower will find his own market.

Irrigation wells have been idle all spring, except in isolated localities, according to W. A. Ringener, line superintendent of the Caprock Electric at Stanton.

A few farmers south of Midland irrigated fields before planting, and a small amount of this was in the St. Lawrence community south of Garden City.

The company is looking for a rush season, though, when and if the weather turns dry. Cotton is making a fast growth, and will need more moisture than the fields have been getting.

Ringener said that very new wells had been drilled since last fall. Their records show that only 15 have required electrical tie-ins since January 1.

Electrical output for wells may have almost stopped, but it is increasing in other farm departments. Jimmy Elland says the usage has been doubling about every five years, as farm families continue to buy more electrical equipment and appliances.

The first of Howard County's barley crop started coming to the elevators this week. The first load brought in to the Big Spring Grain Commission Company was combined on the J. D. Murphy place. Dewey Martin also was hauling in barley that tested 13.72 moisture; however, elevators don't expect nearly so much trouble over moisture as they had with maize last fall.

E. T. Tucker, co-owner and manager of the firm, says storage is getting to be the number one grain problem in Texas. The big grain crops have overtaken the existing facilities.

He plans to take his string of trucks to South Texas about the first of July, where he has contracted to haul all the grain for two elevators. He also buys and sells for himself and has several storage units leased in other towns.

The high Plains was a wet place many thousands of years ago; so wet that the rainfall measured from 400 to 500 inches annually. This information comes from a special edition of the Liveland Daily Sun News, which contains much history and geology of the area.

The article states that the Rocky Mountains towered very high and as the warm Gulf air started up the slopes it dropped torrents of water. These raging mountain streams formed mighty rivers such as Yellowstone, Sulphur Draw and Platte.

Finally the climate became drier and drier and the plains area became stable. It was during this heavy rainfall period that the water was put into the underground

Jess Takin' by Jess Blair

The small insects, mainly thrips, are already eating their way across Martin County cotton crops. They're getting some help from aphids and grasshoppers, while other insects may be ready to join the procession.

Farmers are already spraying for the thrips. R. B. Creech and sons, Earl Theral and Bob were using tractor-powered rigs, while George Lewis and a few other farmers are planning to hire the work done by airplanes.

Three types of insecticides, heptachlor, toxaphene and dieldrin, are recommended for the small insects, according to Gerald Hanson, manager of a seed and chemical firm.

Hanson says the grasshoppers are also getting quite numerous, and are eating cotton. These are not the big jumbos which treasured last year, but what Hanson called "Kansas grasshopper."

They are brown-colored with long wings, which they can use quite well.

Electrical output for wells may have almost stopped, but it is increasing in other farm departments. Jimmy Elland says the usage has been doubling about every five years, as farm families continue to buy more electrical equipment and appliances.

The first of Howard County's barley crop started coming to the elevators this week. The first load brought in to the Big Spring Grain Commission Company was combined on the J. D. Murphy place. Dewey Martin also was hauling in barley that tested 13.72 moisture; however, elevators don't expect nearly so much trouble over moisture as they had with maize last fall.

E. T. Tucker, co-owner and manager of the firm, says storage is getting to be the number one grain problem in Texas. The big grain crops have overtaken the existing facilities.

He plans to take his string of trucks to South Texas about the first of July, where he has contracted to haul all the grain for two elevators. He also buys and sells for himself and has several storage units leased in other towns.

U.S. Traffic Deaths Down

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll, for the sixth straight month, dropped in April and highway deaths in the first four months this year were the lowest for the comparable period since 1950.

The National Safety Council said the four-month traffic toll this year of 10,330 was 8 per cent below the toll of 11,200 in the first four months of 1957.

The April highway deaths totaled 2,600, a decrease of 12 per cent from the 2,950 killed in April last year. It was the biggest decrease for any month since October 1956, the Council said, and the 18th in the last 17 months in which deaths were the same or less than in corresponding months of the previous year.

The Council said the continuing decline in the traffic death toll cannot be attributed to less travel. Latest available figures show that motor vehicle mileage for the first two months this year was up 2 per cent.

"The downward trend," said the Council "reflects improved traffic behavior by drivers and pedestrians, better traffic enforcement and engineering and increased efforts by public officials on levels, by automobile manufacturers and by many organizations working for traffic safety."

De Gaulle's Advance Believed Planned

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle's approach to the doorstep of power in France seems to have happened fast. But there is a wide belief that it was planned in advance.

It was only tonight that De Gaulle was already in Algeria when the great uprising of pro-De Gaulle officers and local colonial leaders took place May 13.

But these things now seem so far in the past, so much has happened and so much is happening almost hourly.

There have been two midnight conferences to prepare the way for the entry of De Gaulle into power and there is scarcely a soul in Paris who believes it will be long delayed.

What will be done when he comes in? That is more important, and the answers are a bit hard to give. American officials apparently do not greatly fear that he will upset the Atlantic Alliance. But they suspect he will force some sharp changes in it, and these have already caused disquiet in Bonn.

When De Gaulle was campaigning in 1950 he attacked the then much-discussed European army plan under which German, French and other Western European armies would be put in a single uniform.

The idea that French troops might find themselves under command of German officers was abhorrent to De Gaulle.

Will he now approve in its present form an alliance which already has French troops under command of German Gen. Hans Speidel? It seems highly unlikely.

Just how that will change French relationships with Germany in the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance is one of the big questions.

Mostly this man remains a mystery, but France clearly expects within the next few days or weeks to know much of what he thinks.

What many now in the government worry about most, is what those who come into government with De Gaulle may plan for the country.

On that, there is no answer.

From some of his close associates have come reports that the general does not expect to remain long at the helm of government, perhaps six months, perhaps a year. But in a country with its finances in such tatters, it is hard to imagine what can be done in six months, or a year.

Georgia Panty Raid Broken Up

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Authorities broke up a tear gas and fire hoses and turned them on bisexual students last night after a panty raid got out of hand.

"We had to disperse them," Police Chief J. H. Porterfield said. "They just got out of hand. We got the fire department out to wet 'em down and had to use a little tear gas."

The chief said between 2,000 and 3,000 students were milling around at the height of the trouble. He said he arrested 8 or 10.

Porterfield said none of the boys got into the girls' dormitories. When officers and school officials balked them, some of them became boisterous and started throwing rocks and bottles.

Time Lapse Films Aid Brain Study

GALVESTON, May 29 (AP)—Time lapse motion pictures have brought a new dimension to study of the once uncharted pathway of nerve cell behavior within the brain.

This type of motion picture media coupled with a new technique for growing brain-origin nerve cells means it is now possible to perform more thorough studies of such diseases as multiple sclerosis, the killer orcripper of thousands annually.

The motion picture technique of nervous system brain cell study was previewed recently at the Law Science Institute by Dr. Charles M. Pomerat, director of the tissue culture laboratory of the University of Texas Medical branch here.

Dr. Walther Hild has devoted several years to perfecting this basic research technique.

While showing the motion picture, Dr. Pomerat explained there are two nervous system brain cells involved in the study. One is the neuron which acts as the messenger cell and the other is the glia, or supporting cell.

Time lapse photography records the actual growth of the cells and when these frames are run off as a moving picture the process gives up many secrets to the researcher.

Accomplishments in the work so far are many-fold.

"One of the most important is that Dr. Hild has been able to see myelin, or fatty material which develops itself around the nerve fiber. This is the material which degenerates when multiple sclerosis is present.

During the growth process, this material can be subjected to possible agents causing its growth such as drugs, foods or virus and the results recorded. This may lead to a knowledge of preventing multiple sclerosis, the scientists say.

Other neurological diseases can be studied with equal ease by recording drug action on the nerve cells.

Another accomplishment has been the ability to make electrical records of the cells in the central nervous system. This is the first laboratory work to accomplish these recordings from the central nervous system. Rhythmic contractions of certain cells also have been made as a basic research approach.

Dr. Pomerat's development of the time lapse technique for all the laboratory research work has resulted in more than 300,000 feet of film, the largest such cell film library in the nation.

In showing these films to medical students he feels he is "taking the dry text book picture out of teaching to make it thro with the life of motion picture magic."

BUHL'S SORE FLIPPER SLOWS DOWN BRAVES

By Ed Wilks
The Associated Press

They may have the best pitching in the league, but the failure to find a replacement for sore-armed Bob Buhl has been one reason the Milwaukee Braves haven't been able to take charge of that National League pennant race.

Another reason is the San Francisco Giants. But the Giants wouldn't have much more than a percentage-point edge if Manager Fred Haney could find another starter who could get the job done.

He tried Gene Conley again last night, had to hold the big right-hander in a comeback rally and finally wound up with a 7-4 defeat in 12 innings by the St. Louis Cardinals.

That plunked the Braves two games behind San Francisco again as the Giants scored three in the ninth for a 7-4 victory at Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs rapped Cincinnati 6-4 with Ernie Banks cracking a pair of home runs. Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 7-1.

In the American League, second-place Kansas City gained its first series sweep over New York, beating the first-place Yankees 4-3. Detroit won its fifth in a row, beating Boston 4-2. Cleveland took third place, defeating Baltimore 5-2. The Chicago White Sox belted Washington 13-3 behind Jim Wilson's three-hit pitching.

The Braves, who left Buhl behind as they took off on a 16-game road trip today, were blanked after scoring three in the sixth for a 4-3 lead. The Cards tied it in the ninth on a walk and Don Blasingame's triple. Pinch hitter Hobe Landrith started the scoring in the three-run 12th with an RBI single with the bases loaded of Humberto Robinson, Milwaukee's fourth and losing hurler, Gene Green's fly ball and the Braves' third error got the other two runs across.

Billy Muffett won his first in relief of Larry Jackson. A two-run homer by rookie Willie Kirkland capped the Giants' ninth-inning rally after Ray Jablonski's two-run homer had given them a 4-4 tie in the seventh.

Banks, driving in three runs and taking the NL RBI lead with 37, broke up Bob Purkey's perfect game with his first homer, setting off a three-run fifth. Then he counted two with his 11th homer as the Cubs scored three more in the sixth off losing reliever Johnny Klippstein.

The Dodgers counted a dozen hits off seven-game winner Bob Friend, who lost his third, and three relievers.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Wayne Bonner, the former Big Spring coaching aide who visited here last weekend, says Stamford will again be the football power in his neighborhood next fall.

Bonner is now head coach at Anson and, from all reports, is doing a good job. He is one of the most popular football men ever to toll here and the then head coach, Carl Coleman, was always quick to give him plenty of credit for developing those great Big Spring teams in 1953 and '54.

Back in 1945, the American Business Club here sponsored a "bowl game" of its own, featuring Southwestern University (then quite a football power) and Honda Air Base.

One of the stars of the Honda team was Stan Holmigg, who later was to sign a $25,000 baseball bonus arrangement with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Holmigg, who never quite made the ripple in the big leagues, recently reached the end of the trail as an active player. Stan will stay in the game, however—as a scout for the Cincinnati Redlegs, in the San Antonio area.

Larry Jansen, a pitching star for the New York Giants not so many years ago, lost five of his first six mound decisions with the Portland entry in the Pacific Coast league.

After Lincoln Road had lost three straight decisions to Tim Tam on the horse tracks, a wag suggested that the animal be renamed "Second Avenue."

Jets Added To Procession Of Unknown GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's new unknown fighting men will be borne to their last resting place in the manner of World War I—but with jet planes roaring overhead.

The unidentified World War II and Korean servicemen will be buried near the tomb of the World War I Unknown Soldier tomorrow. Guns will be fired, culminating a 21-gun salute, as they did when the first Unknown Soldier was buried Nov. 11, 1921. And, as in 1921, the bodies will be transported through the Arlington National Cemetery gates on artillery caissons.

But, as if to symbolize a new era, the Air Force will fly some of its newest jets over the joint-service procession as it crosses Memorial Bridge on its way from the Capitol, where the bodies have lain in state since yesterday.

President Eisenhower will speak only a few words at the ceremony—nothing so elaborate as the eulogy President Harding delivered at the 1921 interment.

Behind the caissons in the procession to the cemetery will be units of all the armed forces as well as high civilian officials and foreign diplomats.

The caissons, flanked by bearers, will be side by side until the entrance to the cemetery is reached. Then the coffin of the World War II Unknown will proceed ahead of the Korean veteran into the amphitheater.

DEAR ABBY
THE ROAD BACK
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You took the horn for A. A. like you are on their payroll. Let me tell you my experience. My husband was a drunk when I married him but I thought I was going to reform him. I learned that there is no such thing as a reformed drunk. Finally, I took my baby in one hand and my suitcase in the other and closed the door behind me and never looked back. I support myself, but at least I eat regularly. Drunks want more drink...no suggestions.

DEAR OUGHT: A. A. has no payroll and "I took their horn" because I get thousands of letters from reformed alcoholics who owe their lives to A. A. You should have joined Al-Anon—the club for the families of alcoholics. They teach you how to live with the alcoholic and help him on the road back. Believe me, it's well-travelled.

DEAR ABBY: I am an American woman of good moral character. I have been keeping company for three years with a man who speaks nothing but Spanish and works on a ship. He is a widower, 47, and I am 33 and unmarried. He has put off our marriage many times with the excuse that he wants to see his son (who is almost 30 years old) "straightened out." This son has been in trouble since he was out of diapers and I see no hope for his getting straightened out. What would you say to a man like that? LENA

DEAR LENA: "Adios!"

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was raised right, but for some strange reason she has always chosen very inferior characters to run around with. She is a senior in High School and claims to be in love with a fellow who quit school in his junior year and is now in the Army. We told her she couldn't have anything to do with a boy who didn't have enough pride to graduate from High School. He wrote her and told her he studied in the Army and got his High School diploma. We've never heard of anything so ridiculous and want to prove to her that this boy is a liar. Please print this. It will do her good.

NOT FOOLED

DEAR NOT: Sorry but it IS possible for a boy in service to make up his High School credits while in the Army and get his diploma.

DEAR ABBY: I married Horace in 1953. It was a church wedding and I wore a white gown and veil. We had a falling out and were divorced in '55. We decided we still loved each other so we are getting married again next month. I want to know if it is all right if I wear the same gown and veil since I am marrying the same man? I am as pure NOW as I was THEN.

REMARRYING

DEAR REMARRYING: White gowns and wedding veils are reserved for FIRST marriages only. Wear something else this time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARRY: You sound like the man who hasn't kissed his wife in years but who would shoot the first man who did. Warm up the home front and your troubles will de-ice themselves.

New Palo Duro Route Opened

AMARILLO (AP)—A new route which gives motorists a view of Palo Duro Canyon along one of the most scenic drives in western Texas was opened yesterday.

The Claude-Silverton stretch of the Berger-Post Highway was opened officially with ceremonies at which Marshall Farmby, chairman of the Highway Commission, spoke.

The new road completes a link, making a direct route connecting Berger, Panhandle, Claude, Silverton, Floydada, Ralls and Post.

Execution Stay

AUSTIN (AP)—A new 15-day stay of execution was granted late yesterday for Theodore Thompson of Dallas, convicted rapist who was to have been electrocuted early today. The new execution date is June 13.

Tax Agencies Urged To Cut Evaluations

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Tax agencies were asked yesterday to cut the evaluations of downtown business properties because of competition of suburban shopping centers.

Houston Firm Is Apparent Low Bidder

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Brown and Root, Inc., of Houston was apparent low bidder yesterday at $3,015,444 for construction of three new buildings and modification of an existing building at the Longhorn Ordnance Plant at Marshall, Tex.

Donald Denton Is Partner In Truman Jones Motor Co.

Donald Denton has acquired an interest in the Truman Jones Motor Company, and is now associated with Truman Jones in partnership operation of the business, it was announced today. The firm at 403 Rannels is the dealership for Lincoln and Mercury automobiles and the Willys Jeep.

DONALD DENTON

He is inviting his friends to come by and see him in his new business connection.

Solon Offers To Push Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the House Armed Services Committee offered today to introduce amendments to bring a defense reorganization bill into line with President Eisenhower's wishes.

But he raised a new objection — this time to a section saying that no feature of the reorganization program shall be construed to prevent a service secretary of a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from presenting to Congress, on his own initiative, any defense recommendations he might deem proper.

To Get MD

John Franklin Howell Jr., above, son of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Howell of Sonora and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith of Big Spring, is to receive his MD degree from Tulane University in New Orleans next Monday. He and other student graduates will observe "Ivy Day" at Tulane Saturday, highlight of which will be the taking of the Oath of Hippocrates.

Slate Fall Kills 4 Men

MADISON, W. Va. (AP) — A massive fall of slate dropped on six men in a coal mine yesterday, killing four and trapping two others for four hours.

Rescue teams worked through the night trying to remove three bodies still inside the Wharton No. 2 mine of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates at Barrett.

The body of Harry Hartman, 28, was brought to the surface last night. Still beneath tons of slate were William Bain, 34, section foreman; James Stone, 36, and Cecil Brown, 47.

One of those trapped but escaping alive, Holley Brennen, 35, was injured. His condition was good at a Charleston hospital.

The mining town of Barrett is 25 miles southeast of here and about 40 miles south of Charleston.

George Walls was one of 13 men working in the section about two miles from the mouth of the mine when the fall came.

"I just looked up and saw it fall," he said. "It hit about 20 feet from me. If they (the six hit) had been standing 15 or 20 feet from where they were, they wouldn't have been hurt."

About 250 men were in the mine when the slate fell.

Graham Seeking Extension Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Graham called on his supporters last night to decide whether he should extend his San Francisco Bay area crusade by one or two weeks.

Speaking before 12,000 persons, he said "There is strong feeling on the team that we should not go beyond June 15," which would be a one-week extension.

The local executive committee has urged him to stay until June 22. He said he wanted to hear from ushers, ministers, choir members and the counselors who attend to those making "decisions for Christ."

City Holiday Schedule Set

Holiday schedule for City of Big Spring employes has been approved. The schedule coincides with holidays set up by the Chamber of Commerce for general observance here.

Included are Memorial Day, tomorrow; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 1; Thanksgiving, Nov. 27; Christmas, Dec. 25; and New Year's Day.

ANNOUNCES 90th CONSECUTIVE QUARTERLY DIVIDEND 3 cents per share from net investment income will be paid on June 18, 1958, to Financial Industrial Fund Shareholders of record, May 29, 1958.

Granny Orchestra Rocks, But Not In Rocking Chair

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's an all-grandmother orchestra that prefers rock 'n' roll to a rocking chair. And they're the swinging-

The ladies, many in their 70s, play everything from low down blues to raucous rock 'n' roll that would curf the sideburns of an Elvis Presley fan.

The 22 gals, all former professional musicians, practice once a week. They hope to get television bookings.

They were organized last fall by Mrs. Jean Ward, who dabbles in gerontology—the science of growing old. The band proves, she said, that Grandma doesn't have to sit by the fire and mope just because the kids have married and moved away.

What Granny needs is to feel wanted, useful and able, she says. The grandmas are working up an act that covers jazz from the Whiteman era to George Shearing. One of their wildest numbers is the old Woody Herman arrangement of "Jumping at the Woodside."

When Mrs. Jean Luty, a youngster of 44, takes off on the drum solo, Mrs. Alice Mortimer, 72, frequently leaps from her chair and yells: "Go, go, go."

Most of the ladies are retired. Some are teachers. One works as a clerk in a sporting goods store. Another in a soda fountain. Another works as a photographer's model.

A Cool Idea

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A St. Joseph dealer in used appliances said a man purchased four old refrigerators, total price $90, explaining: "I'm going to take the doors off of them and use them to cool my recreation room. They're cheaper than an air conditioner."

Large Area To Be Represented Here At LTM Meeting

Mayors and other representatives of some 80 communities in 55 counties of West Texas have been invited here for a regional meeting of the League of Texas Municipalities.

The LTM session is scheduled for June 4, with the program to start at 9:30 a.m. and last until about 4 p.m. State Sen. David Raliff of Stamford is to speak at a luncheon session. He will discuss proposed and pending legislation which might affect Texas cities.

H. W. Whitney, local city manager, has announced. Cities within an area bounded roughly by Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo and El Paso have been invited to send representatives to the meeting, Whitney reported.

Double Honor

Jan Stroder was not only voted the most beautiful girl in Knox City High School; she was also salutatorian of the senior class of 1958. Miss Stroder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stroder, former residents of Coahoma, who are now living in Knox City.

Ex-Miss Truman Finds Housework Demanding

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"Housework," said Margaret Truman Daniel, "is very hard work—particularly if you are not used to it."

At least, added the daughter of the former President, she was not used to it when she and her husband, E. Clifton Daniel Jr., moved into their East Side duplex apartment more than a year ago.

"There seemed to be a million details to think about—from dusting to shopping—and they had to be fitted in the day," she said. "But you get through it somehow and you learn."

Margaret had the housework situation pretty well in hand recently when she took over the housekeeper's job, with some help from a cleaning woman, for a short period.

"The worst," she admitted, "was probably the cooking. I like to do the cooking some of the time—but it gets to be a hard job when you do it day in and day out."

The Daniels, since their marriage in 1956 and the birth of their son, Clifton Truman Daniel, last June, have slipped quietly into the world of the city's cliff dwellers. Daniel is a few minutes away from his newspaper office and his working day runs from about 10 to 7.

Margaret, while primarily occupied in bringing up her blue-eyed, brown-haired boy and making her husband comfortable, also has found time to pursue enjoyably her pre-marriage interests.

She still is under contract with the National Broadcasting Co. Last fall she put in a couple of weeks acting in television from Los Angeles. She's made some guest appearances on shows, and on the week of May 19 will do the guest narration for an NBC daytime serial called Modern Romances.

In addition, she keeps up with her singing, works regularly with a coach and is making some records.

"But I don't do any more concert tours," she said. "That's over. I think it is a good idea to keep your voice in shape, but that is very different from tours, when you have to keep yourself steady at concert pitch. Acting is much easier on you, physically."

Margaret has solved easily the familiar problem of the wife who works.

"Our home is the private part of our life," she explained. "After all, it is my husband's home, and there we do things the way he wants them done. Of course, I have some responsibilities in connection with my work—but that all happens outside our home and is arranged so that it doesn't interfere."

Their son is usually cared for by a nurse, except on her day off when Margaret takes over for the day. With other small children and their nurses, the youngster spends hours on nice days in the park nearby. This summer, the family has leased a house for two months in a suburb in a 40-minute train ride from town, and Margaret is looking forward to the change.

"But," she added, "I don't want to move to the country for keeps. I came from the country to the big city, and here's where I like it best."

The Daniels take particular pains to preserve the privacy which is an important part of their lives. Usually, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Truman visit their daughter and her family, they stay at a hotel near the apartment—mostly so that the reporters and photographers who cluster around the former President will not interfere with the normal course of the Daniels' life.

Margaret finds time to meet friends for an occasional luncheon and she and her husband lead an active social life which includes some theatre-going. From time to time Margaret accompanies her husband on trips—"A lot of Republicans went on the wagon when they saw me turn up at the Republican convention in San Francisco; they didn't believe it."

Neither of the Daniels spends much time wondering whether or not their son will ever become President.

"Naturally," said Margaret, "he can be anything he wants to be. The chances that any American boy will grow up to be President are numerically very small."

"During the morning, names were drawn for assignment to the four circles which have morning meetings. New chairmen are Mrs. Johnston, Fannie Stripling; Mrs. Max Fitzgugh, Fanny Hodges;

Elbow Club Will Have Craft Work

Nine members of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club met at the school Wednesday to plan two craft meetings.

During the month of June, the group will devote both sessions, June 11 and June 25 to work on various hand crafts, such as weaving, copper, silver and leather tooling. The latter meeting will be an all-day affair with a covered dish luncheon served at noon.

Mrs. Bob Wilson will be hostess for the meeting on June 11, and the group will probably meet at the school for the last session in the month, it was announced.

Mrs. Ray Shortes brought the devotion from Proverbs, Mrs. Ross Hill discussed the care of floor coverings, telling methods of cleaning them and how to remove various stains.

Roll call, answered by nine members, was an account of "The First Dress I Made."

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

It would probably take years for a person to see all the things that MR. AND MRS. NAT SHICK have accumulated in their 50 years of residence at 510 Gregg, but it is a pleasant pastime just to browse about for an hour or so. This week, along with others in a garden club, we spent some time just fooling around in the yard and ended up in the hobby shop, where the hours are from sunup to dark.

The cool shade of the old trees is in itself inviting. The big mesquite at the corner of the forepart of the yard grew from two little sprouts Mr. Shick planted there on his first date with his future wife 51 years ago. . . a special touch, dear to my heart, is the footed urn that once graced the front lawn of my parents' home. We thought they were the prettiest things on the block when the Spanish moss was blooming in them. . . the red sand stone that has been used to make a terrace is from the old county court house, and the rocks that form the wall at the front of the yard are from friends who have brought them from all over the United States. One was sent by the postmaster at San Antonio and was taken from the old court house there when it was demolished. He plastered it with postage stamps and sent it through the mails.

MRS. AUDA STANFORD and ARA BOHANNON, buyers for Hemphill-Wells, have returned from Dallas where they have been at market for the past three days.

MRS. HOWARD STEPHENS and daughter, Susan, left this morning by train for a two week vacation trip to points in California. They will visit with an aunt, Mrs. Mamie Wasson, in Pasadena and plan to spend a great deal of their time in Disneyland. They also have tickets for the Queen for a Day television show.

MRS. VIOLA BOWLES and her granddaughter, Sue Gail Hammond, left this morning for Roswell, N. M., where they will spend two weeks visiting in the home of Mrs. Bowles' daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Henry.

CAPT. AND MRS. L. L. HICKS and their children, Ann and James, are expected here this weekend.

Service Man Returns To Naval Base

WESTBROOK—After a 30-day leave from Brunswick Naval Base in Georgia, the Russell Birds will leave for home. They have been guests in the home of his parents, the Russell Birds Sr., and her parents in Colorado City. Other guests in the Bird home have been Mrs. R. J. Thompson and children of Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Pent Hines are in Fort Worth for a visit this week. A. C. Moody has returned from medical checkup.

Mrs. Lovie Dorn has been visiting in Grandfalls. Visitors in the Thomas Lewis home were Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Leach of Fort Worth. The two women are sisters.

Second Recital Of Houser Pupils Set

The second recital from the piano studio of Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium at Howard County Junior College. The public is invited to attend the program.

Students who are to play are Ann Gibbs, Martha Tidwell, Sheri Alexander, Mary Frances Malone, Judy Denton, Brenda Cooper, Kay Foster, Merry Lee Dibrell, Richard Brightwell, Molly Heiner, Debbie Duncan, Karen McGibbon, Beth Whitney and Lee Tidwell.

Others are Susan McNary, Ann Puckett, Lynn Puckett, Linda Kay Dyer, Cynthia Pond, Cheryl Stone, Sharon Mullins, Alan Doelp, Judy Hines, Ann Garrett, Linda Gray, Paul Camp, Robert Hastings and Martha Dawes.

Brookshires Attend Wasson Family Party

WESTBROOK—Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Brookshire recently attended a reunion of the Wasson family in Stephenville.

Guests in the J. S. McKenney home this week are their daughter, Mrs. F. D. Green of Tulsa, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKenney of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. George Candier and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carpenter and children of Roswell, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Candier and children of McLean, this weekend.

After a week's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barber, Mrs. Harold Gaiety and children of Monahan have returned to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hollowell of Coahoma and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hart visited recently in Abilene with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moody.

Son Is Born

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. (Jack) Jones of Cisco are announcing the birth of a son on Tuesday. The infant, who weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces, has been named Donald Ray. The Joneses are former residents of Big Spring.

California Guest Visiting Franklins

ACKERLY—Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Franklin has been her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ford of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Nix and Lillian are in Fort Worth with a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Moore.

A student in McMurry College, Lee Lemons, is at home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lemons.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodie Caffey and children were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bristol.

Big Spring visitors in the home of the Jake Harry were Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Harry.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Springfield and Dawn were Sunday visitors in the Rob Mabry home in Martin. The Springfields were hosts Monday to the Bill Blankenships of Snyder.

for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hogue. They will also spend some time with other relatives and friends here before continuing their trip to Anchorage, Alaska, where they will be stationed. They have lived in Tucson, Ariz. for several years.

MRS. J. TIP ANDERSON will be in Slaton this weekend where she will attend the wedding of a niece.

While some folk go through life with nothing more exciting happening to them than a mosquito bite, some others seem to have a small black cloud hanging over their head. MIKE FAULKNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Faulkner, is one of those of the latter type. He is nursing a broken left arm, which he has broken twice before. This time his skates suddenly took off, to his surprise, and when he finally landed, he had broken both bones in the same old arm.

HAVE DANCERS, NEED SKIRTS

Got any Hawaiian skirts lying around your house that you won't be using Friday evening? If so, Mrs. Donald Marks will be pleased if you will let her borrow them.

Members of Section Four at Webb Air Force Base are presenting a program at the pavilion Friday evening, and members need two grass skirts for costumes.

If you have a skirt that you will lend them, Mrs. Marks has asked that you call her at AM 3-3222.

HD Club Has Additions

Mrs. August Frycek and Mrs. James Bigby were introduced as new members of the St. Lawrence Home Demonstration Club when they met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Alfred Schwartz.

Plans were made for a family night supper to be given on June 12. It is to be a lawn party at the home of Mrs. T. I. Green, and a pot-luck supper will be served members and their families. Games of cards and dominoes will be the diversion.

Mrs. Mildred Eiland, HD agent of Martin County, presented a discussion of good grooming. She gave tips for beauty and displayed late styles which were modeled by two of the 4-H Club girls, Betty Schreuder and Pat Saunders.

Fabrics in blends and various textures were shown the group by Mrs. Eiland. The president of the club reported on the TIDA meeting which she attended in Midland in April.

The next regular meeting was announced for June 24 in the home of Mrs. James Johnson.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Complexion Formulas Given By Pat Breslin

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—"Physical beauty is so greatly emphasized in Hollywood that you can't live here without becoming concerned with your appearance," Pat Breslin told me.

"In New York I felt the important thing was your talent, but here it's how you photograph," she continued, as we sat chatting on "The People's Choice" set at NBC-TV.

"But any girl who puts her mind to it can make herself more attractive," Pat went on. "Glamour tricks do not flatter all faces, though, and you can't blindly follow what a make-up man tells you."

"I rather resent obvious make-up. If I get a good tan, it's more becoming than wearing make-up base. I personally prefer a freshly scrubbed skin, but you must have a good complexion for this."

"When it comes to caring for your skin, you have to experiment until you find something that takes care of your particular problem. I get best results with a medicated soap."

"I make a good lather, and after several soaps and I'm sure my face is clean, I open the pores with hot water and then splash with cold."

"My skin used to be oily, but I used an astringent with camphor two or three times a day for a few weeks and now my pores are not nearly as large. And now the condition is almost entirely gone."

"It's interesting," Pat observed.

Trial And Error Method

Pat Breslin feels every girl can make herself more attractive if she is willing to resort to trial and error to discover what is best for her. She is the popular actress on NBC-TV's "The People's Choice."

Did They Really Wear These?

Giggles of girlish glee erupted as Susan tried to don these old-fashioned high-top shoes. Nancy, standing, and "Sandy" watch as their mother, Mrs. O. H. Ivie, lends a hand. The shoes, a conversation-starter at the Ivie home, were purchased sometime ago in a country store near Hempstead where the shelves were lined with such models. Remove the high tops and the shoes, heel and all, would be high fashion today.

Cooking Fish Is No Problem For Her; She Likes To Catch Them Too

Once in a while Mrs. Owen H. Ivie gathers her three daughters, loads the fishing tackle into the car, and heads for Lake J. B. Thomas. The foursome settles on the shores of the lake, baits the hooks with minnows, and waits for the crappie and an occasional catfish to bite. Susan, 11, is their unanimous choice as the best fisherman of the lot; she accepts the compliment with a grin.

The best part of all comes with the cooking and the eating. Mrs. Ivie has had lots of experience with preparing fish, and she reveals her secret for frying catfish, crappie, bass or what have you. French fries are the perfect accompaniment, along with cole slaw. The latter permeates with a sour cream dressing that provides just the flavor needed.

Her pride and joy is a Fancy Fruit Salad unlike any we have ever seen. The directions for mixing it are included here; you will note that the base is sour cream and frozen orange juice concentrate.

Cookies are a must for any growing family, and the Ivies are no exception. Oatmeal Refrigerator Cookies are a novel version of the old-fashioned favorite that has prompted so many raids on the cookie jar.

With hot weather upon us, it's time to bring out the ice cream freezer. Mrs. Ivie has a basic recipe that lends itself to a multitude of variations. Cream and milk combine with eggs, sugar, vanilla and a bit of salt to make a superb vanilla ice cream that would be hard to resist.

It's a favorite with the man of the house, who is water production superintendent for Colorado River Municipal Water District, a post he has held for six years. Of course Lake J. B. Thomas, water supply for Big Spring as well as Odessa and Snyder, owes its being to the CRMWD.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivie, natives of Arlington, where they are headed this weekend to visit their families, are active at Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. She teaches the Bible class of sixth and seventh grade girls, and he has the girls and boys of junior high age. They share enthusiasm for games of "42." Ivie enjoys a rare hunt for dove, duck or deer, and doesn't mind the care of the lawn at their home, which they built 2 1/2 years ago.

With three girls of their own, Mrs. Ivie has been drawn into Girl Scout work as a leader of Troop 335 of which Susan, a sixth grader, is a member. Susan is also the artist of the family, and a couple of her paintings adorn the livingroom walls. Sandra, better known as "Sandy," is nine, a fifth grader, and is "flying up" into Intermediate Girl Scouts. Nancy, 8, is a third grader and a Brownie.

Add Queenie, the Collie who has been with them for six years, and Pete and Amy, the parakeets, and you have an idea of who makes up the happy household at 1204 East 17th.

Try Mrs. Ivie's recipes:

TEXAS-FRIED FISH
Cut fish into pieces suitable for serving, or leave small fish whole. Sprinkle salt on all sides of the fish, then coat well with a mixture of:

- 1 cup cornmeal
- 2 tsp. flour

Measure enough shortening or salad oil into a heavy skillet to make a depth of one to 1 1/2 inches. Heat shortening to smoking hot, or about 400 degrees, before putting in fish. Then fry fish a few pieces at a time, turning each piece only once, when it has become golden brown on the underside. Drain well on crumpled absorbent paper, and serve hot with catsup or sauce.

COLE SLAW WITH SOUR CREAM DRESSING
Combine an equal amount of:

- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup black pepper
- 1 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. vinegar

When ready to serve, pour dressing over 3 cups finely shredded cabbage. If desired, cucumbers may be added.

FANCY FRUIT SALAD
Mix together in large bowl:

- 1/2 pint sour cream
- 1 small can crushed pineapple
- 1 pkg. miniature marshmallows
- 1/2 small can frozen orange juice concentrate

Chill this mixture for three hours. Then, immediately before serving, slice six bananas and add to salad. Stir well and serve. This recipe makes about ten generous servings.

OATMEAL REFRIGERATOR COOKIES
Cream together:

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup white sugar
- Two eggs and one teaspoon vanilla and mix well.

Sift together and add:

- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon

Stir in three cups oatmeal and 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Shape into two rolls in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator; then slice thinly and bake on ungreased baking sheets at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
4 eggs
2 1/2 cups sugar
6 cups milk
4 cups cream
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. salt

Beat eggs until light and fluffy; add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. When mixture becomes difficult to beat, add remaining ingredients and pour into a one-gallon freezer. If a fruit flavor is desired, this recipe may be varied by omitting 1 1/2 cups of the cream and adding 2 cups mashed bananas, 1 pkg. frozen strawberries, or 1 large can crushed pineapple.

Chicken Fits Well Into Varied Diets

Chicken is one of our most "dependable" foods. It's a basic for people on special diets, can be served to the very young and the very old, and is standard for convalescents.

Today we are fortunate to have a new high quality chicken, raised specifically for eating. These young tender broiler-fryers are the result of intensive research by the broiler industry, one of the most progressive in the agricultural field. Special breeding and feeding methods have produced a year-round supply of meatier birds at a consistently thrifty price, according to the National Broiler Council.

The blandness of chicken makes it a perfect food for senior citizens. Broiled or roasted without heavy seasoning, chicken agrees with the digestive systems of older people, and is still an appealing dish with a delicate flavor.

The same basic blandness makes chicken a steady for children from the time they eat their first solid food. Once children have started to feed themselves, chicken is popular because they can pick it up in their fingers for eating fun.

Airlines and steamship lines serve chicken as a standard. Since chicken is so easy to digest, it is best for passengers prone to discomfort in transit.

People on many special diets find chicken their greatest ally. For weight-watchers, broiled chicken has low calorie content—only 150 calories to a half-medium broiler. Chicken contributes high quality protein to the diet, the minerals phosphorus, and iron and is a fairly rich source of riboflavin. Chicken meat is also low in cholesterol and adds some flavorful eating to low cholesterol diets.

So, for a variety of health problems, special diet, or special food chicken almost always fits the requirement, remember that chicken almost always fits the bill. Also remember the new meat-type chicken the tender delicious broiler-fryer, cleaned, wrapped and ready for the pot.

CHICKEN SOUP DINNER
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in pieces
1 quart water
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. Ac'cent
1 medium onion, sliced
2 stalks celery, with leaves
1 bay leaf
1/4 cup raw rice

Wash chicken; place in deep kettle. Add water, salt, Ac'cent, onion, celery and bay leaf. Bring to boil; cover; simmer 1 hour. Remove chicken pieces; strain broth. Refrigerate both broth and chicken.

Remove skin and bone from chicken pieces; mince chicken. Add minced chicken and rice to broth. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes. Season to taste. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

BROILED CHICKEN
1 broiler-fryer chicken, halved
Salt, pepper, paprika
Juice of 1/2 lemon
2 tsp. butter, divided

Line broiler pan with aluminum foil. Wash and dry chicken. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. To broil, pre-heat broiler unit with broiler pan in place approximately 8 inches from heat. If broiler unit isn't deep enough and oven is thermostatically controlled, turn temperature control to 350 degrees.

Place chicken, skin side down, on pan. Sprinkle chicken with part of the lemon juice; dot with 1 teaspoon of the butter. Broil 30 minutes, brushing occasionally with drippings in pan. Turn chicken and top with remaining lemon juice and butter. Broil 30 minutes longer, brushing occasionally. Yield: 2 servings.

Lollipop Cookies Are Tops For Kids' Parties

By CECIL YBROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When small fry want to ask their friends, plus dolls and teddy bears, to a party a special menu is in order.

So how about sandwich cutups, instant cocoa served in doll-size tea cups garnished with miniature marshmallows and lollipop cookies? Ice cream may be added, of course.

The lollipop cookies will be a wild success. We know because when we made them we had a hard time keeping the grown ups from gobbling them up. The cookies are deliciously crisp with morsels of semi-sweet chocolate embedded in them.

We used flat wooden spoons for the cookie lollipops and found the spoons available at both grocery markets and variety stores. But if you want to use tongue depressors (from the drug store) they should work equally well.

Let the small fry in your family have the fun of dipping the lollipop cookie sticks, using food coloring. Use a small juice glass to hold the colored water, then let the sticks stand in them for awhile. Youngsters will also have a good time helping make the sandwich cutups. And remember that both these ideas are fine for rainy-day fun.

SANDWICH CUTUPS
Trim crusts from 6 slices of white bread and 6 slices of brown bread. Spread softened butter on 3 slices of the white and 3 slices of the brown bread. Cut out the centers of the remaining bread slices with small animal cookie cutters (or any holiday shape) reserve. Place slice of cut-out white bread on top of slice of buttered brown bread.

Insert brown animal cutout in center of white bread slice and continue, alternating brown and white bread, until completed. Serve at once or wrap in foil and refrigerate until ready to use. Makes 6 sandwiches. Peanut butter may be used instead of butter.

LOLLIPOP COOKIES
Ingredients:

- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tbsps. dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 egg
- 1 pkg. (6 oz. or 1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1/2 cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts or pecans
- 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
- 1 1/2 to 2 dozen prepared 5-inch long flat wooden spoons

METHOD:
Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Cream butter with sugars and vanilla. Beat in egg thoroughly. Mix in the sifted dry ingredients thoroughly. Stir in semi-sweet chocolate, nuts and rolled oats.

Place prepared wooden spoons 4 inches apart on buttered cookie sheet. Drop cookie mixture by tablespoons onto bowls of spoons; or mold cookie mixture into balls and place on bowls of spoons, then flatten slightly.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes. Remove gently with wide spatula while warm. Cool on rack. Makes 1 1/2 to 2 dozen.

To prepare wooden spoons: Tint water with red, yellow, green or blue food coloring and place handles of 5-inch wooden spoons in the water. Allow to stand until colored. Drain and dry.

NOTE: These cookies stay crisp if stored in a tightly covered container and so may be baked ahead.

FOR CHILDREN'S TEA PARTIES

'Fountain' Drinks Are Ideal For Teen Fests

Now that the end of school is here, it's the season for lots of informal funfests among the teenagers. Some of them are strictly spur-of-the-moment get-togethers, but that needn't discount the hostess. Nothing is more welcome than a refreshing beverage. "Fountain" drinks can be made at home. The combinations are limitless.

Try these:

SEASIDE FROSTER
1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrated limeade
4 tps. sugar
1 pt. lime sherbet
3 cups carbonated water
Divide undiluted limeade evenly among four 12-ounce glasses. Add 1 teaspoon sugar and 1/4 pint sherbet to each glass. Fill each with 1/2 cup carbonated water. Stir. Serve immediately.

ice cream to partially melt. Add 1/2 cup peach nectar and 1/4 cup lemon soda to each glass. Stir. Serve immediately.

STRAWBERRY SODA
1 1/2 cups fresh strawberries
1/4 cup sugar
4 1/2 cups chilled carbonated water

Wash, hull and sprinkle strawberries with sugar. Allow to stand 1 hour, then crush. Place 1/4 cup strawberries in six 12-ounce glasses. Add 1/4 pint ice cream to each glass.

Allow ice cream to partially melt. Add 1/2 cup carbonated water to each glass. Stir. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

BLACK-WHITE SHAKE
1 to 2 tbsps. chocolate syrup
1/4 to 1 up milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract
1 scoop vanilla ice cream
Whipped cream for garnish
Maraschino cherry for garnish.

Combine chocolate syrup with half of the milk and vanilla in tall glass. Mix well. Drop in vanilla ice cream. Finish filling glass with milk. Garnish with whipped cream and cherry. Serves 1.

CHERRY DELIGHT
2 cups chilled, canned sweet pitted cherries
1 cup cherry syrup
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 cup chilled, canned peach nectar
2 cups chilled lemon soda

Drain cherries; save syrup. Place 1/2 cup cherries, 2 tablespoons syrup and 1/4 pint ice cream in eight 12-ounce glasses. Allow

New Fruit Salad
Like fruit salads for lunch? Try one of crisp greens, prunes stuffed with bits of crispy cooked bacon, orange slices and mayonnaise or French dressing. Center the salad with a scoop of cream-styge cottage cheese.

Nutritional Tuna Is Versatile, Economical

Nutritionally, tuna ranks high on the ladder of protein foods. This was definitely established during World War I when the severe shortage of meat directed the attention of nutritionists and dietitians to fish. Experiments proved that fish protein probably is equivalent to milk protein.

Canned tuna is high in vitamin B-12 content and provides a large portion of the daily minimum requirements of iodine. Tuna contains fluorine which contributes to tooth development and ranks high in bone-building phosphorus. Vitamins are present in substantial quantity.

Along with these health-giving factors, however, the homemaker is concerned with the versatility of tuna. Served alone, it is flavorful and appealing; combined with other foods, it is these things and economical too.

Here are some recipes that will show why tuna is especially popular during the summer months:

TUNA SALAD MOLDS
1 3-oz. pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
1 7-oz. can solid-pack tuna, drained

1-3 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
1 cup diced celery
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 medium-sized cucumber, pared and thinly sliced

Crisp salad greens
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt; mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Break tuna into large pieces. Fold tuna, olives, celery, green pepper and cucumber into gelatin mixture.

Turn into six individual molds and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on salad plates and fill center with additional tuna, if desired. Garnish with salad greens.

CHEESE-TUNA CASEROLE
2 7-oz. cans solid-pack tuna
2 tsp. all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
1 cup crumbled blue cheese
3 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 No. 2 can tomatoes, drained
2 tsp. chopped parsley

Drain tuna and reserve two tablespoons oil; break tuna into pieces. Heat tuna oil over low heat; add flour and blend. Gradual-

In Scrambling Eggs

Allow plenty of time when you scramble eggs; low heat helps make them creamy.

The Recipe

Sift together 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cream together 1/2 cup shortening, 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, and 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract. Add 2 eggs; beat until light and fluffy. Add 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled. Add dry ingredients alternately with 1 cup milk, adding four mixture first and last; beat thoroughly after each addition. Pour equal amounts of batter into two greased and floured 9 x 1 1/4-inch round layer cake pans. Bake in a 375° F. (moderate) oven about 30 minutes. Cool before frosting. Yield: 2-9-inch layers.

You should know this about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

A Bible Thought For Today

I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. (Galatians 2:20)

Your Place Will Advertise You

Our long delayed spring clean-up campaign is now under way, although the official dates (June 2-7) for the free pick up service are days away.

A lot has been said on the subject of cleanliness: on the safety factor involved in clean, tidy premises; on the reduction of fire hazards by good housekeeping; on the preservation of values by keeping a home or business house in good repair; on the sense of civic pride communicated by homes and stores which are bright and attractive; of how health is promoted where refuse and debris are removed as breeding places for insects and harborage for rodents.

Surely no one would dispute any of these claims.

Yet, not one blessing will accrue to the community by paying lip service to these.

Only as people do something about them will we benefit.

Only as you do something about them will we get anywhere with this clean-up. True, one person on a block, by being lazy and careless and indifferent, can dull the efforts of others. But he can't undo what others try to do. The very ugliness of his place will advertise his slothfulness.

The whole point is this—your home and your store and the things in front and back of them will advertise your outlook. When people look at your premises, they will be looking at you.

Decisions With Implications

Labor unions were handed something to think about in two decisions handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court this week, 6 to 2. Justice Black took no part, but Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas dissented.

The high court upheld state court damage awards to an Alabama electrician who said pickets kept him from working. He was awarded $10,000 against the United Automobile Workers. In his dissent Chief Justice Warren made clear why unions have cause to worry as a result of the decision. The decision, he said, could open the way for staggering punitive damages, making it too risky for unions to engage in some activities protected by federal laws.

It could mean the picket-line approach to solution of labor troubles, a frequent occasion for violence, would all but disappear.

In the other case a worker won a verdict of $9,300 for alleged illegal expulsion from the Machinists Union. This could lead to dilution of a union's ability to discipline or control its individual members, and weaken the hold of labor-bosses over union affairs.

The state court was upheld in ordering the man to be restored to membership, instruction the local and grand unions to pay him $6,800 in lost wages, and what must have been of sober consideration by union officials) tagging on $2,500 for humiliation, anxiety and degradation.

Private Dealing With Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON—Citizens of the United States who on their own promote international conferences of private individuals from other countries or engage in discussions about them, written or oral, with foreign ambassadors, in order through such conferences to influence the policies of foreign governments in disputes with this country or to defeat the measures of the United States, may find themselves on the witness stand before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

For the House committee has a right to determine for itself whether the present law forbidding such activities shall be expanded and made more stringent. Just the other day a prominent industrialist was subpoenaed by the House committee, and it was erroneously assumed in some quarters that he was being called in merely to reproach him for views he had expressed in criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It was indignantly asserted by some critics that the committee has no right to interfere with freedom of speech.

But it turns out that what the House committee has a right to investigate and what it is interested now in finding out is whether present laws shall be amended to prevent the carrying on of correspondence or intercourse between American citizens and foreign governments where the object may be to influence the action of the United States government in its disputes with other governments.

The exact text of what is known as the Logan Act—originally passed in 1798 but reaffirmed in the U. S. Code of Statutes in 1948—is as follows:

"Any citizen of the United States, wherever he may be, who, without authority of the United States, directly or indirectly commences or carries on any correspondence or intercourse with any foreign government or any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than three years, or both."

To what extent may an American citizen invite to his home a representative of a foreign government with which the United States has a dispute and, with several persons in the business world in attendance, speak at such a function in contradiction of the policies of his own government? The industrialist who did so recently is not a Communist nor identified in any way with Communist organizations but, under the terms of the existing law, may be in the presence of a foreign government's representatives denounce his own government's policies? If he may do so—and there is no clear-cut definition as yet of what is or is not permissible under the present statute—then is it advisable for Congress to amend the law and recite specifically the activities which will hereafter be considered un-American and hence prohibited? Plainly the Congress has a right to seek to inform itself so it may pass legislation to meet any contingency. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, for example, last week in a formal report recommended that new laws be passed to punish what it terms treason "during a cold war" on the theory that similar acts would be punishable during a "hot war." Free speech, under the Constitution, is protected even in time of war. A speaker may espouse the cause of the enemy, but he is limited in that he may not incite others to disobey or refuse to join military forces.

The Logan Act doesn't infringe the right to speak but does limit the citizen in his intercourse with the representatives of foreign governments. The statute applies in time of peace as well as in time of war. Even so commendable an objective as seeking to bring about a "compromise" would seem, in certain circumstances, to come under the ban of the Logan Act.

Congress in recent years has not delved into activities of American citizens who have "intercourse" with foreign governments, such as discussing policies of the United States or participating in propaganda designed to influence the action of the American government by bringing pressure to bear either within foreign countries or within the United States. But the House Committee on Un-American Activities will shortly begin such an inquiry.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

President Eisenhower should have vetoed the mongrel postal rate-salary bill that has been concocted by Congress. The bill combines postal rate increases with pay increases in the Post Office Department.

This is bad legislation. One part of the bill is a revenue device; the other part is an expenditure provision. At first principle of fiscal management requires that general revenue measures be strictly separated from the disposal of general funds. Mingling the two operations, as this bill does, necessarily means an involvement of postal service and postal payrolls in pressure politics.

No one with a sense of justice will deny that postal employees deserve to be better paid. But this requirement should be properly met by payroll authorization and appropriations—the same procedures that apply to the Federal Civil Service as a whole and to the armed forces.

In fairness to the Nation's postal workers who have been kept dangling for months, Congress should pass a pay raise bill as a separate and independent action. The post office bill, calling for higher mail rates, comes up at the very time when tax reductions are being pondered in Washington. Here is another flagrant contradiction. This bill itself is a tax bill, imposing tax increases; for postal charges are themselves a tax—in blunt fact, a stamp tax.

A pseudo argument is made that the Post Office Department is a business which should "pay its own way."

If so, what a business! We have 30,000 post offices, doing a certain volume of business. We also have, for one example, the Atlantic and Pacific chain, doing the same annual business with only 3,000 stores. On a business basis, then, the Post Office Department might capably rid itself of 27,000 post offices.

But we know that is not so. The Post Office Department is not a competitive business, but a public service, indispensable to every community. It can be no more acceptably operated as a money-making enterprise than can the Public Health Service, the Coast Guard or the Air Force.

De Gaulle Is A Real Odd-Ball

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the real mystery of Charles de Gaulle: Is he shrewd or confused? One thing is sure: he's one of the real odd-balls of the 20th century.

He expresses faith in himself and the future of France with him as leader. But he has shown personal and political immaturity and difficulty adjusting to the realities of the world he lives in.

His arrogance and his troubles getting along with people associated with him are examples of his personal immaturity. He has demonstrated his political immaturity in his attitude towards politics and politicians.

Example: He brushed aside at his May 19 news conference—without denying it—any idea he wants to be a dictator. Yet he despises politicians and political horse-trading.

He quit as head of the French provisional government in 1946 because of political dickering in the Legislature. He speaks of the "poisons" of the parliamentary system.

Yet, without the parliamentary and the politicians' horse-trading there could be no republic but only a dictatorship. The answer lies in between: a parliamentary system with more stability than France has produced so far.

This writer Wednesday polled specialists on France, asking if they had any idea of what De Gaulle really represents and what he might do if he came to power. All agreed he's a French nationalist, a French-firer.

Beyond that there was only puzzlement except for this one opinion: That he was very shrewd at his May 19 news conference. Why shrewd? This was the answer: Because he really didn't say anything. This writer disagrees that there is anything necessarily shrewd about that. True enough, De Gaulle gave out with nothing but double-talk. But it may have been because he couldn't think straight and had no policy or programs for France.

There is certainly concern in the Western world that De Gaulle, once he led the government, might turn into a manipulated stooge for men far shrewder than he, particularly military men.

He did play a great role as rallying point in World War II for French men crushed by the Nazis. But some of his performances after the war threw doubts on his awareness of what the world is like.

France owed its liberation to the United States and Britain. But France's very dependence on its allies irritated De Gaulle. After the shooting stopped he flew to Moscow and signed a mutual aid agreement with the Soviet Union.

This seems to have been an effort to play both ends against the middle. Later he expressed surprise and disappointment because Moscow didn't keep its word.

Although he was anti-Communist, he took France's No. 1 Communist, Maurice Thorez, into his cabinet. Yet, with the presence of Allied troops to give him strength, he dismissed the Communists.

In 1948 diplomats here and abroad feared that if De Gaulle returned to power then he would jeopardize the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—an alliance of Western powers for mutual defense against the Soviet Union—then in the process of creation. He was saying:

"It is inconceivable that the defense of France should be assured by anyone other than the French themselves." This was really talking through his hat, since he had seen what happened when France tried to stand up to the Nazis in 1940.

Now again there is concern over what De Gaulle would do—perhaps try to take France out of NATO—if he came to power, for as late as 1954 he was calling for the reorganization of NATO so France could have full power of action.

No Room For Race Prejudice In Pastor's Home

By The Associated Press

There is room for everything but racial prejudice in the home of the Rev. Howard E. May Jr., pastor of the Federated Churches of Willington, Conn.

In addition to their own 10-year-old son, the Rev. Mr. May and his wife are raising three children of different races they adopted during a missionary tour of Alaska.

The youngsters are Sue Anne, 2, born of Eskimo parents; Jeanette, 5, Chinese-Japanese; David, 10, Aleut-Scandinavian; and their own child Kenneth.

The only problem, says the Rev. Mr. May, is adjusting the children to their new environment. This includes his own son, who spent 7 of his 10 years in Alaska.

The people of Willington have accepted the diverse family group, says the minister, but "the children realize there is prejudice in the world. And they understand it's best merely to shrug their shoulders whenever it appears."

"We have tried to teach each child to be proud of his own individual background and heritage."

During his Alaska tour, the Rev. Mr. May ran a Baptist community church and hospital in Cordova, a fishing village of 1,500 persons near Anchorage.

Got Your Guardian Angel?

Ever watch a child totter on the edge of tragedy, blithely unaware of the disaster it seemed bound to strike? And then see him gaily move out of the danger zone?

Gives you a lot of faith in that old pagan concept of the literal guardian angel, doesn't it?

That pointing of the two babies innocently playing on the edge of the cliff, a faithful guardian angel alertly standing by, hangs vividly in my mind as I watch my own youngster play. I can almost see his own private angel giving him a boost as he clambers onto every high thing he can find, or holding his hand as he races along the curb or cavitates on the bank of some stream or lake.

Surely there are guardian angels, I tell myself. How else could he survive all the hazards that make up a good portion of a child's life?

I suppose the Romans came up with their guardian beliefs as a result of the same kind of experience. And on those relatively rare occasions when the angel goofed, I guess it was natural for them to attribute the tragedy to the assumption that somehow the gods had been angered.

It's more difficult for me to explain those instances when the guardian angels apparently took the day off, and some innocent child was lost in a useless, careless disaster. Despite the jolt to my own faith, I can't believe such events are ordained by a displeased God. Perhaps He has other motives, too complex for people who need protectors to understand.

I like to believe in guardian angels. Maybe not the literal kind, but at least some immense Power that helps preserve little children—and adults—from their follies.

Telling The Truth On Brussels Fair

There is one supremely exasperating experience to the tried-and-true newspaperman that leads, if not to murder, to the end of beautiful friendships.

There is nothing more maddening, after he has knocked himself out writing the truth as he has seen and experienced it, on any given subject, than to have a friend sidle up and whisper in a you-can-finally-tell-the-truth tone: "I read that article, but tell me, what did you REALLY think about so-and-so?"

The inference, of course, is that he has been lying in the teeth of his typewriter—a procedure that will get him fired in my business, if not in yours.

Anyway, I am going to clobber the next acquaintance who walks up to me and says:

"You certainly seemed to love the Brussels World's Fair, but tell me, what did you really think of it?" Believe it or not, I wrote exactly what I thought and felt about the World's Fair. Why should I have written anything else, if I may be permitted a question? I thought it was beautiful to the eye, exciting and challenging to the mind, delightful and stirring to the senses and death on the feet.

In short, I loved every minute of the week I spent roaming over, through and about it. In that time, I could scarcely cover a fraction of it, and I wish I could go back for another fortnight. The Fair cannot help but give the perceptive American a thoughtful and sobering glimpse of the industrial worth and might, the handicrafts and the arts of other nations.

For thousands of Americans like myself, it will offer a first glimpse, and a very challenging one, of art and industry behind the Iron Curtain. The exhibits in the Russian, Czech and Hungarian pavilions cannot but be an eye-opener to an American visitor.

Here, at home, there seems to be general agreement, as in Europe, that the American pavilion is a thing of beauty, the fairest of the Fair. But there seems to be a great deal of discontent with the American exhibit among the home folks who have not yet seen the U. S. displays.

My contention is that it doesn't matter whether Americans like Uncle Sam's exhibit. We know and love our own land and are completely sold on it, in the first place. What really matters, what is of the utmost importance to Uncle Sam, is that Europeans, Asiatics and Africans like what they see in our pavilion. These are the people we are trying to woo and whose friendship we need and want.

During the week I spent at the Fair, it seemed to me from this point of view, our exhibit was a whole of a success. It was packed with visitors from all over the world who gave every indication of being fascinated with and loving the relaxed, friendly glimpse of the United States that our exhibits give.

We have tried, for once, the soft sell, and it seemed gratifyingly successful to me. No place do we say that the United States is the highest, the best, the most powerful, the richest or the mostest, an attitude that has always annoyed our conferees abroad.

For today, I've run out of space, if not breath. But someday soon I am going to take up the charge that the American restaurant is expensive and that our entertainment program isn't so hot. Poppycock, say I.

A New Era In The Pricing Of Stocks

LOS ANGELES—Is this a new New Era in common stocks? Are Americans—you and I and that fellow over there that neither of us thinks has any right to own common stocks—investing in false expectations instead of reasonable realities? Are we misusing the word "investment"?

Benjamin A. Graham, one of the country's outstandingly successful security analysts, formerly head of Graham-Newman Corp., and now visiting professor of finance at the University of California at Los Angeles, thinks so. In a provocative, stimulating talk to the National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies, of which he is an honored member, Graham declared present day investors are buying "exogenous" hope in preference to "endogenous" value.

In the days before the New Era of the late 'twenties, he said, an investment analyst got along with a sharp pencil, some paper, and simple arithmetic. He estimated the book value of a company; he estimated past earnings; then he tried to determine whether the price of the stock was reasonable. He bought tangibles.

If a stock didn't have much book value, and if he was purchasing earnings pure and simple, well, he recognized it for what it was, "water." Nowadays, the security analyst uses a new mystique—complex algebraic equations which accordarrant speculation the reassuring guise of investment.

The speculative characteristics of stocks in the pre-New Era resided in the company, itself. They were endogenous. They were due to the uncertain or fluctuating elements or downright weaknesses in the industry of the individual enterprise. Now the tendency, argues Graham, is to ignore the strengths of the weak companies and to capitalize the strengths of the strong, the investment issues, the so-called growth stocks.

What starts off as an investment issue is endowed by the infatuation of the market place with a tremendously high price in relation to earnings or book value. Ten-times-earnings standards are disregarded, dividend yields forgotten. The purchaser doesn't buy a current return; he buys a future.

The company's future—its right to a high investment regard—may be assured. But is the investment appraisal, the price the market-place puts on that future, recoverable? Here Graham poses this paradox: The stronger the company the greater is the speculative component introduced in the price of the stock by the enthusiasm of investors seeking investment certainty. No margin is left for error.

Graham used International Business Machines Corp. as an example. When, as Computing-Tabulating-Recording Co., it was first listed on the New York Stock Exchange, $1 of its earning power sold for $7. And its yield was 6.7 per cent. As recently as 1926, it could be bought at that price. People still were concerned—Would tabulating machinery catch hold?

Later, IBM was established as a growth company; its electronic tabulators and computers are used throughout the world. It has competition. But it's the leading company, the blue-chip company. All doubt about its future has been resolved. It's an investment.

From 1936, $1 of its earnings sold for $17.50; in 1946, ditto, more than twice the '36 ratio. In 1956, its earning power was appraised at $32.50 on the dollar; in 1957, at $42, a six-fold increase since the early 'twenties. Argues Graham: Public worship of common stocks as long-term investments has driven the highest grade securities out of the investment class into speculations.

Would-be investors are speculating on the price of the stock rather than the stock, the company, the industry, itself. They are assuming that future earnings, future expansion, will ultimately justify the growth expectations they are paying for so handsomely.

The expectations are, of course, bolstered by the inflationary atmosphere of today. People fear rising prices, higher wages, higher costs. Therefore, they want common stocks as an inflation hedge. So they purchase the best stocks and pay the price the market asks, the price they themselves, bid up. That price, that "added cost," is the speculation in today's market, the exogenous factor in today's investing.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The one sentence that will be cherished by most of the millions who heard President Eisenhower on television last night, and by virtually all of the business men who listened to him in person, was that which hinted at possible tax reductions: "After consultation with congressional leaders, certain decisions will shortly be taken in the field of taxation."

He was careful to hedge this sentence about, fore and aft, with qualifications concerning the need for assuring maximum equity in the tax burden, for "a tax structure which least interferes with sound economic growth, for avoiding the dangers of either inflation or increasing deficits." He even left open the possibility that the decisions could be against any tax cuts at this time.

But for most listeners, all the qualifications were probably drowned out by the promise of "decisions," which they will be only too ready to assume could only be in favor of a cut.

It would be a pity, though, if the hope that many will have read into his phrases should lead them to overlook other important aspects of his address. It can never be too strongly emphasized that, as he said, the job of restoring business activity to the high level that is justified by the nation's certain growth is a job for everyone—"business leaders, labor leaders, farm leaders, consumers, together with government."

Our buyers have gone all out to bring in record quantities of U.S. Choice beef for this big event

CARLOAD BEEF SALE!

Chuck Roast

All the full, meaty portion that belongs on a properly prepared Blade-cut Chuck. None of the solid lean meat removed to be sold at a higher price. Means a better value for you. Compare and you'll see.

lb. 53¢

Ground Beef

We grind it fresh daily from lean tender chunks of beef. U.S. Inspected Beef, holds its volume well in cooking. Superb flavor for all your ground beef dishes. Handy thing to have in your freezer.

lb. 49¢

Rib Roast

The meaty "heart" of the roast. We trim away the bony short-rib end. And we remove the heavy chine bone, replacing it with a layer of fat to seal in juices. The result: a better value for you.

lb. 79¢

Round Steak

An exceptionally lean steak, that's flavor perfect, wonderful to eat. Has the full, satisfying flavor that beef-lovers yearn for. Plan to have some this week as "swiss steak," and a little left over for mid-week snacks.

lb. 79¢
