No Report On Ike Talk With Security Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower met with the National Security Council for an hour and a half today—possibly for policy discussions in advance of next week's visit here by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

As usual, presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen there was nothing he could say about the purpose of the meeting or what was discussed.

The French political crisis and possible suspension of U.S. and British nuclear tests are prime topics for the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks, which start next Monday.

The Security Council, the nation's top policy body, normally meets Thursdays. The White House gave no reason for changing the time of its meeting, but there was speculation that its work would be directed toward the Macmillan meeting.

Eisenhower reportedly is being urged by some of his advisers to make at least a tentative decision, before Macmillan's arrival, favoring a two-year suspension of U.S. nuclear tests to be effective after the present series in the Pacific is ended.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Dr. James R. Killian Jr., Eisenhower's scientific adviser, have recommended such a course. On the other hand, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has argued for continued testing unless there is broad agreement with the Soviet Union on a disarmament program.

Eisenhower approved in an hour long conference with Dulles a new letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In it he agreed to inclusion of Polish and Czech scientists in proposed scientific talks on ways of supervising any East-West agreement to halt tests. There is no such agreement yet.

The letter probably will be dispatched late this week after clearance with Britain and France and other NATO Allies.

Dulles gave the tipoff on the President's answer by saying, "We have no objection to the Soviet Union including on its side experts of other nationalities provided the people are qualified, as I assume they will be. The task is technical, not political."

The Republican contest for governor was the main feature in South Dakota. Three candidates were in the running, Atty. Gen. Phil Saunders, Lt. Gov. Roy Houck and Atty. Charles Lacey.

Atty. Gen. John Patterson and Circuit Judge George Wallace were the opponents in Alabama's runoff primary. A major issue arose in the final days with charges that Patterson had the support of a Ku Klux Klan leader. Patterson acknowledged knowing Grand Dragon Robert Shelton, but said he was not aware of his relationship with the Klan.

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Crella, 34, was indicted for murder with malice yesterday by the Rusk County grand jury in the slaying of her two small daughters May 18.

The trial was set tentatively for Aug. 4. Dist. Atty. H. H. Wellborn said he would seek the death penalty.

De Gaulle Centers His Attention On N. Africa

Algerian Chief Called To Paris

NOW IF THEY COULD DO THIS WITH PEOPLE...

ST. LEONARDS-ON-SEA, England (AP)—Mrs. Ella Petry reported today a chicken had hatched from an egg she carried in her bosom for 21 days.

Mrs. Petry, 48, said the whole thing started as a gag in the bar of her neighborhood pub. The proprietor's son had a startling egg which he wanted hatched. Mrs. Petry put it down the front of her dress, but two days later it broke.

"Everyone said I couldn't hatch out an egg," she said. "So I went out and bought a pullet's egg from a breeder. I carried it night and day in a cotton-lined wire holder next to my skin."

Monday night at the pub, the chick "made its way out of the egg in the presence of a dozen witnesses," Mrs. Petry said.

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, armed with all the broad powers he demanded of Parliament, turned his attention today to Algeria and the army running it in his name.

De Gaulle summoned Gen. Raoul Salan, the French troop commander, from Algiers for consultation. Salan has been ruling Algeria openly in the name of the rebellious French there. An escort waiting at the airport whisked him off to see De Gaulle.

After thus asserting his authority over the army, De Gaulle called in Robert Lacoste, resident minister in Algeria who has a big following among the rebellious French colonists there. De Gaulle will go to Algeria Wednesday.

The Senate vote completed action within 48 hours on the three-part emergency program demanded by De Gaulle as his price for taking the helm of France in its hour of crisis.

Shortly thereafter, the National Assembly by unanimous consent voted to adjourn until Oct. 7 to allow De Gaulle to rule unimpeded by Parliament. Not even the Communist deputies, bitter foes of the general, objected.

De Gaulle's special powers extend by law for six months. That would overlap the return of the Assembly, but it could go to work on the next year's budget.

De Gaulle had insisted they take a six-month vacation while he tackled France's problems.

The National Assembly finished its endorsement of the new Premier's crash program early today. It authorized him to submit his constitutional changes directly to the voters—bypassing parliamentary approval—only after he threatened in a personal appearance to resign if the deputies tried to delay him with the debate and amendments they have employed to hamstring previous governments.

Both the Assembly and the Senate approved the first two parts of the program De Gaulle presented when he became premier Sunday. These gave the World War II hero a free hand to run France by decree for six months and renewed the customary special powers to rule Algeria by decree.

Immediately after the Senate action De Gaulle was driven in his black Citroen sedan for the first time to the Left Bank mansion known as the Hotel Matignon, the official residence of France's premiers. This bore out earlier reports that he would not move into the Matignon until Parliament had completed action on his emergency program.

Navy Will Continue Rocket Tries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite four failures in five attempts, the Navy will continue trying to blast Vanguard satellites into orbit.

This is the blunt answer given at the Pentagon to inquiries as to why the Vanguard project isn't dropped in favor of more satellite launchings with the Army's Jupiter-C rocket combine.

The Defense Department says its reasons for sticking with Vanguards are that they are the best vehicles available—when they work—and that the country requires a greater return on the millions invested in the program.

The Navy, administering the Vanguard project for the U. S. contribution to the International Geophysical Year program, already has poured at least 110 million dollars into development and preliminary testing.

Six or seven additional Vanguards with fully instrumented satellite apertures—each costing about one million dollars, already have been made or are under construction.

Dr. Werner von Braun, the Army's rocket specialist, has described the Vanguard as a sophisticated rocket combination for earth orbiting satellites. In simple language, this means that the three-stage rocket and its specially designed 2 1/2-pound moon are exceedingly complicated, which is one reason why it has been so difficult to make them work.

But when a Vanguard rocket works, as one did in getting a tiny satellite into orbit on St. Patrick's Day, it is far more efficient than the Jupiter-C as a moon launcher. It takes 2,200 pounds of fuel and hardware to orbit one pound of payload instruments with a Jupiter-C rocket combine.

The Vanguard lifts one pound of instruments into space with only 1,000 pounds of fuel and hardware.

The grapefruit-sized satellite launched by the Navy on March 17 worked so well that a nearly ideal orbit was achieved, leading scientists to prophesy a 200-year life for its tiny satellite.

131 Enroll For Summer Term At JC

Registration for the first six weeks of summer school at Howard County Junior College got off to a good start Monday with 126 signing. Another five were signed Tuesday morning.

Registration continues through Saturday, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, but he urged as prompt enrollment as possible. Because the courses are intensive, missing many days will throw a student considerable behind, he explained.

Of the 131 registered so far 41 are full-time (that is two courses) and 90 are taking a single course. The semester hour total is 546.

Included in the totals are 16 freshmen who were May graduates of Big Spring High School six from other high schools in the area, and 29 transferring from other colleges. There are 15 part time students from Webb AFB. Most of the others were students at the college during the regular term.

Most of the sign-up Monday was on the day side, although 38 registered in the evening. Registration will be possible during the day or at night through this week.

Mexican Plane Crash Kills 45

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexican airliner with 45 persons aboard crashed against a mountain peak near Guadalajara Monday night. The wreckage, found today, showed no signs of life.

The plane was a Constellation of the Aeronaves de Mexico. It was on a flight from Tijuana, at the California border, to Mexico City.

Some of the 22 passengers who boarded at Tijuana were Americans.

The four-engine craft made a stop at Guadalajara and took off for Mexico City at 10:01 p.m. It crashed against St. Augustine Peak, 10 miles from Guadalajara. The last radio contact was with Guadalajara airport at 10:15 p.m.

The Guadalajara airport is at 6,000 feet altitude and the peak 7,500.

The wreckage was sighted by search planes carrying officials of the Mexican airline.

It was raining at the time of the crash. Some residents of Guadalajara said they heard an explosion at about the time of the crash.

Guadalajara, Mexico's second city, is 290 miles northwest of Mexico City.

On The Brink

These two new $27,000 hillside homes in Oakland, Calif., began to buckle after the earth started crumpling beneath them. A ten foot gap had already opened on the uphill side and preparations were made to demolish both dwellings. A slight earthquake may have triggered the unstable hillside.

Political Eyes On California

Four states held primary elections today. The biggest spotlight was beamed on California, where Sen. William F. Knowland faced an important popularity test.

Leaders of both major parties were watching California's Republican and Democratic primaries for governor for signs of trends that might have bearing on the 1960 presidential race.

Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, admittedly faced a tough battle for ballots with Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, his Democratic opponent.

Under California's unique cross-filing system, both were listed under Republican and Democratic labels. But it was unlikely that either would score a grand-slam victory.

Other primary races were being held in Montana, South Dakota and Alabama. Three candidates for governor were being chosen along with 2 for the Senate and 34 for House seats. The Alabama primary was of the runoff variety and involved the 2 top vote getters from a field of 14 that were in the original gubernatorial primary May 6.

Dr. William G. Murray, 54-year-old college economics professor, won the Republican nomination for governor in Iowa's primary Monday. He defeated Lt. Gov. William Nicholas, who was seeking the nomination for the third time. Murray will oppose Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless in November. Loveless had no opposition for renomination.

California was being eyed because of one big question: Is there a strong trend toward the Democrats in the state?

California also had primaries for the Senate. Retiring Gov. Goodwin J. Knight was favored to defeat Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco in the GOP primary. Rep. Clair Engle had no

Trash Crews Move 23 Loads Monday In Clean-Up Drive

The city started its cleanup service as part of the Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up Week by rounding up 23 loads of trash Monday.

The campaign will continue through June 12, with two days being devoted to each district.

Today, the city is working from 1st to Eleventh and from Goliad eastward to the city limits. This is the same route which was covered Monday.

Webb AFB is contributing two trucks and the city is using five.

Wednesday and Thursday, cleanup work will be in the district from Eleventh southward to the city limits and from Goliad east to the city limits. Friday and Saturday, the city will cover the area from Eleventh south to the city limits and from Goliad westward.

Next Monday and Tuesday, 1st to Eleventh and from Goliad west will be covered, and the North Side will be worked on June 11 and 12.

Any trash placed where garbage is usually deposited will be picked up by the city crews.

Nine Indicted At Stanton

Nine indictments were returned by the Martin County Grand Jury Monday, Gil Jones, district attorney, announced. Twelve cases were laid before the grand jurors in the one-day session at Stanton.

The indictments and the persons indicted:

Lofton M. Luceford, passing a forged instrument; James C. Hayes, attempt of pass a forged instrument; Sidell Washington, burglary; Ray Cassidy, felony theft; M. J. Morren, worthless check; Clabon Wilson, worthless check; B. J. Roberts, swindling, and William Lawrence Myles, burglary, two counts.

Jones said that the persons indicted have indicated they wish to enter pleas of guilty and that he will probably return to Stanton in a few days to dispose of these matters.

Mahon Offers Big Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American people were accused today of thinking more about how to keep up with the Joneses than how to keep up with the Russians in space technology and the cold war.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.) expressed that view as the House opened debate on the biggest money bill before congress—$38,310,561,000 for the nation's armed forces during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Mahon, chairman of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, pointed out that Webb AFB personnel stand in need of additional adequate housing. In addition, the civilian housing demand is continuing.

"Even if you have rental units—a house or apartments—which are rented and habitually stay rented, we need to know about them," he explained. "The starting point for meeting our housing needs is a dependable inventory on what we have."

"So please call the Chamber of Commerce and tell staff members what Ike Robb, chairman of the Chamber's military affairs committee, pointed out that Webb AFB personnel stand in need of additional adequate housing. In addition, the civilian housing demand is continuing.

"Even if you have rental units—a house or apartments—which are rented and habitually stay rented, we need to know about them," he explained. "The starting point for meeting our housing needs is a dependable inventory on what we have."

Some Amazing Parallels Seen In Lives Of Lincoln, Jeff Davis

By PAUL DUKE
WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the 150th anniversary of the birth of a president who is not recognized by the U. S. government.

Jefferson Davis was his name and his presidency was the Confederate States of America.

The government took note in only one small way of Davis' birth June 3, 1808, in Todd County, Ky. A modest exhibit of his writings and papers was put on display at the Library of Congress.

It won't be that way for another president next year when the sesquicentennial of Abraham Lincoln is observed. Big plans are afoot for a full year's program to celebrate the 150th birthday of the man whose place Davis might have taken had the rebels defeated the Union in the War Between the States.

Despite being on opposite sides, there were some amazing parallels in the lives of Davis and Lincoln.

Both were from families that migrated southward from the North.

Both were born in log cabins in the same state—only 120 miles apart.

Both met with tragedy in love. Lincoln through the death of a sweetheart and Davis with the death of his young wife of three months.

Both had political setbacks but came back to reach new heights of success.

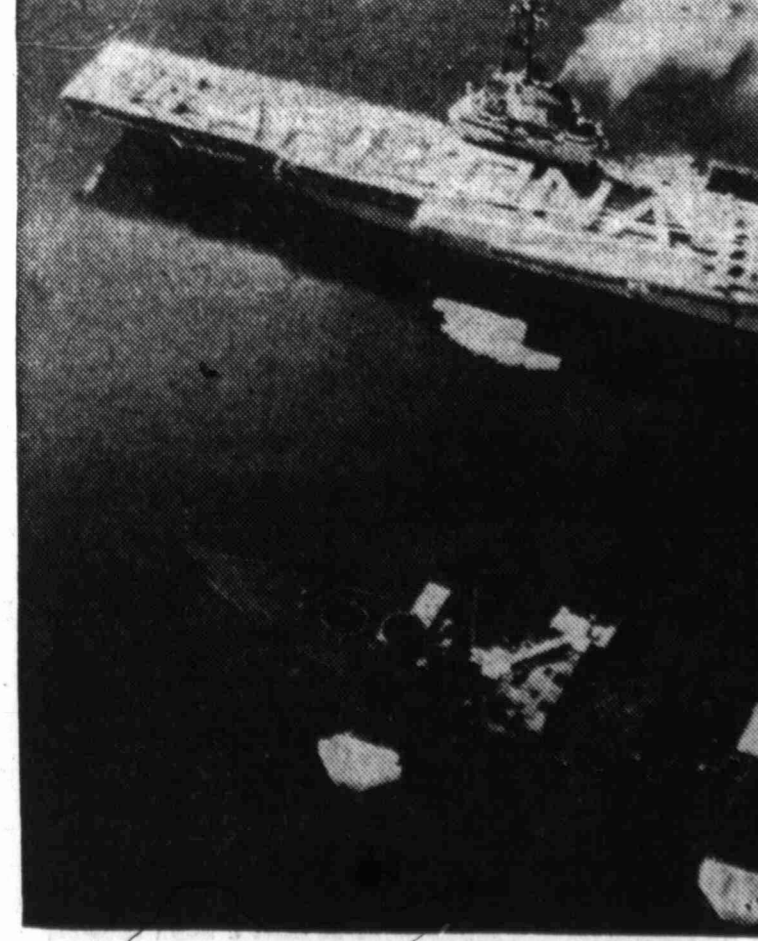

Of course, there were many dissimilarities too.

Davis got his start largely through an older brother, who

The Bennington has been on operations in the Hawaii area.

Blast Victim May Be Better

Edgar Lee Jennings Jr. remained in extremely critical condition today at Medical Arts Hospital, but his doctor said it is possible his condition has improved slightly since Monday.

Jennings, 26, was burned extensively Saturday evening in exploding natural gas and gasoline that took the lives of his brother, grandfather and cousin.

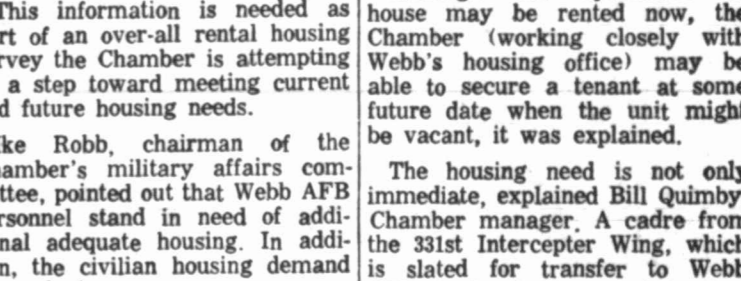

The physician said it is impossible to determine whether the young man is definitely improving, although some favorable indications have been noted in the last few hours. The fire victim has held only a slim grip on life since Saturday night.

Killed by burns suffered in the blast about 25 miles northeast of here were G. W. Gilbert, 69, Neal Jennings, 23, and George Rackley, 20. Combined funeral services for the three were to be held this afternoon.

Russians Conducting World Friendship Propaganda Drive

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst
If a Moscow kept a log book on its worldwide buy-Russian-idea campaign, any given day would show entries like this:
A Soviet engineer in India invites his native servant to sit down at the table and addresses him as "brother"—speaking in Hindi. A Soviet ambassador in France tells a select social gathering that Russia would prefer to have France rather than the United States in North Africa. The Soviet news agency Tassa distributes a dispatch telling how pleased Egyptian guests were to find religious freedom for Moslems in central Asia. A ballet troupe from the Bolshoi Theater plays to capacity audiences in Tokyo. Joe Adamov on radio Moscow answers letters from American and British listeners on the nightly program "Moscow Mail Bag."

All this—plus the well-publicized affluence of Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov in Washington—fits into a vast, meaningful pattern. It's a major production with many different aspects.
Here's how it works in several corners of the world, as reported by Associated Press correspondents.
It's difficult to find any Soviet citizen, diplomat, engineer, journalist or technician stationed in India who does not speak Hindi and who has not been thoroughly drilled in India's customs and culture before he comes. These Russians tell every Indian they meet that Russia, once an undeveloped country like India, now is strong and that Russians will share their last crust of bread if necessary to help India also become strong.

CLASSICS CHEAP
A sidewalk peddler opens a box of books and spreads them out on a cloth in front of him to attract buyers. He offers for a few cents works of Marx and Lenin or translations of such Russian classics as Pushkin, Tolstoy and Chekhov. He has bright and attractive books for children in his stock with folk tales or fairy stories, many of which have a political lesson.
In 1957 the Soviet foreign language publishing house jumped its subsidized book exports to India to 2.9 million copies, compared with 79,000 the previous year. And the flood of Soviet political and artistic literature continues to pour in.

In Japan Moscow is running a soft-sell campaign that mixes culture with technical and scientific achievements for a country deeply interested in both. The bill last year alone came to an estimated 10 million dollars. The stress is on persuading the Japanese to loosen their ties with the West.

A growing number of talented Soviet artists and performers visit Japan, including the Bolshoi Theater ballet, Leningrad Symphony, the Moscow Circus and many individual musicians.
Red China has joined the Soviet effort by sending dance teams, art exhibits, entertainers and various delegations. The latter included trade groups which attempted to entice Japan into relaxing restrictions on strategic trade with the Chinese mainland by holding out prospects of a fabulous business in the China market.

With Britain the Russians go heavy on sports. An all-star British soccer team recently fought an all-star Soviet team to a draw in Moscow. Visits of dancers, musicians, divers, tennis players and other groups are on schedule as the flood of Soviet delegations regains the momentum lost when the Hungarian revolution interrupted cultural exchanges in late 1956.

SMILING ENVOY
Ambassador Jacob Malik, in a Menshikov-type gesture, recently turned up at a fashionable British chrestening to the surprise of many guests. He was wreathed in smiles.

All kinds of Communist delegations from Russia and the eastern European Communist countries inundate France. Meanwhile, the French Communist press ham-

De Gaulle Giving Top Priority To French N. African Problems

PARIS (AP) — Premier De Gaulle is giving top priority to finding a solution for France's acute problems in North Africa, particularly the double-barreled rebellion in Algeria.
The reason is that, to regain a place in the forefront of the Western world, France must stop the great North African drain on its economy and reputation.
The emphasis on North Africa became ever more apparent today as details of De Gaulle's talks with party leaders continued to trickle out.

The Premier is going to Algiers tomorrow for a first-hand view. Meanwhile, he has sent messages seeking peace and cooperation to President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia and King Mohammed V of Morocco. These countries are former French protectorates, sympathetic neighbors of the Algerian nationalist rebels and presently campaigning to get lingering French colonial forces removed from their territories.
The necessity for the priority on Algeria is glaringly evident.

It is a source of friction between France and the United States. Washington has wanted a better relationship between the French and North Africa so the West's influence in the Arab world could be built up.
The Algerian war is costing France at least a million dollars a day. Some sources — notably former Premier Pierre Mendès-France — say the drain is two million.

Keeping half a million soldiers in North Africa is increasing the labor shortage in France.
The conflict has dangerously troubled public sentiment. France is sorely divided on whether the rebellious territory should be beaten to its knees or given some sort of self-government. Some say total independence is in order. Many doubt the French military can defeat the Moslem rebels.
Even with the full powers the French Parliament has given him, De Gaulle will find the Algerian question extremely difficult to solve.

First there are the angry French colonists and military leaders in Algeria whose influence opened the way for the general to come to power. The Premier has much influence in North Africa, but it remains to be seen whether the colonists will take his suggestions for concessions to the Moslems when they have rejected such proposals from everyone else.

Right along with the rebellious French in Algeria, De Gaulle must find a way to peace with the rebellious Moslems whose war for independence has cost France so much money, blood and prestige.

The general's plans for Algeria have not been spelled out in detail to political leaders. But they have reported he wants to reform the Algerian-French relationship first with a close federation bordering on total integration. Informants say he envisages an autonomous Algeria in which Moslems would have an equal status with the colonists and which would be federated with France. The colonists have violently opposed such a solution.

Algerians would have a voice in a new National Assembly, but their territory would be limited in representation in the way membership in the UN. Senate is limited. That would keep the rapidly increasing population of Algeria from eventually dominating the French Assembly.

Another separate Assembly reportedly would be set up to federate the rest of France's overseas territories into a union with European France. This would include West and Central Africa, the American colonies and the island of Madagascar.

No Agreement On Land Value

Howard County Commissioners and Omar Jones, who owns three acres of the land needed for FM 700 right of way in southeast Big Spring, were unable to reach a compromise on the value of the property at a conference Monday.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that a special appraisers commission will be appointed to evaluate the land and set a figure the county shall pay.

Jones wanted $24,000 for the three acres. The county commissioners countered with an offer of $3,000.

Several condemnation actions are coming up on tracts involved in the road route this week. These are tracts, majority of which involve relatively small areas, on which no agreement between the county and the owners has been reached.

Meet Of Champs Set Saturday

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A galaxy of track stars featuring Glenn Davis, the world record equaller in the 440-yard dash, and the Bobby Morrow-powered sprint combinations of Abilene Christian College will line up Saturday in the annual Meet of Champions.

Athletes from six major conferences and 28 states are entered in the meet, sponsored by the University of Houston.

The Abilene Christian 440-yard relay team that bettered the world's record with 39.7 at the California Relays Saturday faces strong opposition from the University of Houston, which will bring three brilliant freshmen up to the varsity and run as the Houston Track and Field Club.

Morrow led 9.4 at Modesto in returning to the form that made him 1956 sprint champion of the Olympic Games. He is entered in both the 100 and 220.

Stan Levenson, Houston freshman who has done 20.5, will contest Morrow in the 220, while in the 100 the Abilene Christian star will get competition from Dee Givens of Oklahoma, Illinois' Bob Mitchell, the Big Ten sprint king, and Morrow's teammate Bill Woodhouse, who has beaten him twice this season.

Each of the 17 events is crowded with champions, including Oklahoma's brilliant miler Gail Hodgson of South Africa, Southern Methodist's high jumper Don Stewart, who has leaped 6-foot-10, and distance ace Jerry Smart of Houston.

Davis, who recently tied the world's record in the 440 at 45.8, gets competition from George Keer of Illinois, who pushed him to the great time, DeLoss Dodds of Kansas State, Oklahoma's Gary Parr and Southern Methodist's John Emmett.

Youth Brigade Set To Surge In Open

The U. S. Open Golf Championship is no kiddie car tournament, but four youngsters who bear watching will tee off with some of the deadliest sharpshooters in the game when the event opens at Tulsa June 12.

None of the four has much of a chance of winning this year. All lack tournament experience. But in years to come they could become the new Sam Sneads and Ben Hogans.

Here they are:
Jack Nicklaus, an 18-year-old freshman at Ohio State, led the qualifiers at Cincinnati by firing a 66-70-66 over two courses yesterday.
Deane Beman, a 20-year-old swinger from Bethesda, Md., fired a 75-71-146 to tie John O'Donnell for the top spot among the Baltimore qualifiers. A sophomore at the University of Maryland, he already has played in two Opens and last year's National Amateur.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hort

Sports dialogue:
"An ANONYMOUS PLAYER for the New York Yankees:
"It had been enough that we have all the players. What makes it worse for the other teams is that they press so hard against us. Take the game we played in Chicago. Jim Rivera gets to first base and Ron Jackson is up. We try to pick Rivera off first. He is three runs behind and he is taking big leads. Well, Mary Throneberry at first base drops the ball and it rolls a couple of feet past him. What does Rivera do? He starts for second. Mary picks up the ball and throws him out. Then Jackson hits the ball to the wall in left but nobody was on base. They're three runs behind and they gamble to take one base."
W. L. GOODLETT JR., National Little League official here:
"It would help a lot if all our scorekeepers dated their scoreboards and identified each team. On occasions, we can't figure out which team is which by looking at the boxes."
LEW HOAD, pro tennis player:
"I'm all for amateurs having big expense accounts. Unless I had a loose expense account when I was an amateur, I would not have gone anywhere in tennis. I didn't have any money of my own to travel all over the world and compete. It would be better for tennis if the executives would loosen up the purse strings."
JIM KELLY, Minnesota track coach who led the 1956 U.S. Olympic team:
"It's true, we are not catching up with the Russians, or Europeans, in the events at which they have excelled. An indication that we are not trying is given by the recruiting our track coaches are doing abroad for ready-made winners in events in which the Europeans are good. These athletes can represent our schools, but they cannot represent our country."
PARKE CARROLL, general manager of the Kansas City Athletics:
"I'll take 30 per cent less ability to get 30 per cent more effort any day, because ability without effort means little. And this effort has to come from the player himself. You can't take a baseball team into the clubhouse every day and juice 'em up with a pep talk. It's hard enough to do with a football team once a week for three months."
SHIRLEY POVICH, Washington writer:
"No slur on the honorable citizens of China is intended here, but it is typical to note that for some vague reason many years ago the Chinese home run became part of the baseball language. The Chinese home run was probably invented by the ward merchants in the press box of the New York Polo Grounds, where the fences are short and the modest fly balls achieved home run stature. Anyway, the Chinese homer has been finding its way into the baseball narratives down through the years and may never be eradicated. . . . It is typical now to speak of them because the major leagues have come up with a brand new Chinatown, as home runs are known. It's the left field fence in the Los Angeles Coliseum, a football plant that was gerrymandered into a baseball park by Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers with a toy fence only 250 feet distant from the plate. Perhaps it should be called the Ming Toy fence. In any event, never have home runs been achieved so easily."
DAN DEVINE, Missouri football coach:
"I'll tell you what's going to happen next fall. Some team is going to lose a game on a play where the new blocking rule was called. Then, when the losing coach gets the home movies, he's going to show 15 times where the other side should have been called."
PATTY MCCORMICK, diving champion:
"Diving is just a matter of consistency. It's like golf. You miss a shot or you miss on a particular dive and you can still recover and win if you are consistent."

The boys will be charged no fee for playing. The league will operate Tuesday and Thursday of each week through most of the summer. The Junior High Gym will be used.
Johnny Johnson will assist Bell in the program.

Harshman Durable Pitcher, But He Has His Troubles
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jack Harshman, Baltimore's big left-hander, is the only pitcher in the American League with six consecutive complete games at the moment—yet he's lost four in a row, half of 'em because of unearned runs.
You'd think he'd break curfew, or push an ump or something.
The corseted southpaw (he has a bad back) who won his first five decisions, was knocked out again last night at Washington when the Senators scored an unearned run in the 10th for a 2-1 decision.
That dropped Harshman's record to 5-4 and plunked the Orioles back into the cellar while the Senators tied the Detroit for sixth.
A southpaw with a streak also figured in the only other American League game scheduled last night, with Whitey Ford tying an AL record with six consecutive strikeouts while winning his fifth straight and his first shutout in two years as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0.
It was the third straight success for the Yanks, upping their lead to seven games over Kansas City, while dumping the Sox to fourth and extending their scoreless inning string to 22.
Harshman has allowed only 13 earned runs in his four defeats, but the Orioles have scored only seven.
Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Goslin's all-time Washington home run record of 127, tagged Harshman for his eighth homer of the season in the fourth.
Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 11—matching New York's Bob Turley for the AL strikeout lead with 3.
Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.
Ford's six consecutive strikeouts matched the AL record set in 1913 by Buck O'Brien of Boston. The record had been matched six times since, with Ford the last to do it previously—against Kansas City, July 20, 1956.
The modern major league record is eight, by Max Surkont of the Milwaukee Braves against Cincinnati, May 25, 1953.

Cosden Shaded In 1-0 Game

MIDLAND (SC)—Cosden of Big Spring again outthit the opposition but was on the receiving end of another shutout when it lost to A.K. Electric Company team of Midland in a Midland Softball league game here Monday night, 1-0.

A double by Stover and a couple of wild pitches enabled Midland to score the only run of the game in the second inning. Stover's safety was one of two hits Speck Franklin and Troy Wetsel gave up between them. The other was a one-baser by Crow in the fifth.

Cosden touched Webb, the Midland hurler, for four hits but couldn't bunch them.

Oakie Hagood singled in the third and got as far as third base on an error but Buck Drake rolled out to tend the inning.

Ted Gross and Pete Cook hit singles in the fourth but Spot Cockerlied to right to end the threat.

Wetsel fumbled a triple with one out in the fifth but Jim Ward stepped to short and Bob Petty grounded out and Wetsel perished at third.

Between them, Franklin and Wetsel fanned 15 in the seven inning game.

Cosden sees action again in the league on Thursday, at which time it plays City Trade and Pawn at 9 p.m.

PHILLY PITCHES BRVES TO WIN
The T. H. McCann clobbered the Turner Drillers, 20-4, here last night in an American Little League Farm club contest.

By virtue of the win, the Braves are in second place in the league with a 6-3 standing.

Winning pitcher for the Braves was Gene Philley. The moundman struck out six, walked five, and held the Drillers to four hits. Top batsman for the Braves was Rod Roberts.

CHIPS BAUMAN HAS 172 IN LOOP PLAY
Chips Bauman bowled the high individual game Monday in the Blue Monday league, counting for a 172.

Team Two combined efforts for the high team game, 573. High team series was taken by Team Four, a total of 1615.

Virginia Kent bagged the high individual series, rolling for 469.

Split-picks were converted by: Marie Raughley, 5-10; Betty Reid, 4-5-7; and Faye Price, 5-10.

GIANTS RETURN HOME TO HOST MILWAUKEE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's run-happy Giants, home from a long, successful journey, welcome challenging Milwaukee to the West Coast tonight in a battle for the National League's top spot.

The Braves' three game series, first of a 13-game Giant home stand, couldn't have come at a better time.

The Giants, strong in hitting but weak in the throwing department, have a skinny 12 percentage point lead over the world champs. Ruben Gomez, fiery Puerto Rican right-hander with a 5-3 record, will try to increase it. Lew Burdette, thrice a World Series winner and now 4-3, attempts to stop him.

Manager Bill Rigney said today some changes in his second line pitching probably would be made before the Giants depart again on June 17.

"I'm satisfied with the front line pitching—Gomez, Johnny Antonelli, Ramon Monzant and Mike McCormick," Rigney said. "But it's a damn crime to get as many as nine runs and then get beat."

He noted his team blew a seven-run lead Saturday in losing to the Cardinals 10-9 in 12 innings. Giant pitchers gave up 25 runs in three losing efforts to St. Louis. However, the Giants still came home with a 13-8 record.

The Braves are temporarily plagued by injuries with second baseman Red Schoendienst bothered by a bad back, first baseman Frank Torre by a sore shoulder and left-fielder Wes Covington by a gimpy left knee.

Manager Fred Haney said he would wait until just before game time to decide whether to play Schoendienst or Covington. He doubted Torre would be available.

The Giants have their ailments, too. Rigney said Willie Mays, currently batting .407, has fully recovered from a pulled muscle but rookie third baseman Jim Davenport still is bothered by a rib injury that benched him for five games.

Rigney's 40-year-old reliever, Marv Grissom, wrenched his back

Garland McMahon (right, above) former restaurant operator in Big Spring, now caretaker of the grounds at Granite Shoals Lake near Kingsland, Texas, is shown with Hugh Matlock, a land developer of the area, and a huge, 48-pound catfish he and two of them hooked in the lake recently.

Pigs Rip Cabot Carbon, 6 To 4

Still the first-place team in the American Little League the Pigs dashed a cold defeat into the face of Cabots, 6-4, last night.

The Pigs have a 6-2 won-lost record, while Cabots have a 6-3 mark. However, the Pigs have one game to make up. Cabots and the Jets are tied for second position.

Robert Wilson held out for the pitching victory, while Dickie Spiers was loser.

Wilson also clubbed two singles and a home run with one man on in the fifth inning.

David Beardson gathered two singles for the losers.

Tonight in A. L. L. play, it's the Cubs vs. the Colts, the two bottom ranked teams in the league.

McCormas had only one other hit, a single, for the night. Aiding him in the win was hurler Dickie Irons, who struck out four and gave up seven hits.

Gilbert Rameriz swatted a double and two singles for the winners, while Ross Rowden, losing moundsman, got three singles for his club.

The Locals jumped into action quickly, piling up six runs in the first inning and three in the second, for an early 9-2 advantage.

4 TIMES MORE MEN THAN WOMEN PURCHASE FISHING PERMITS
Whereas fishing may once have been a sport limited primarily to men, an eyeing of recent tabulations from local concerns will show that the ladies are moving in.

It looks as if they're coming in a slow fashion, however. Overall, percentages favor the men by four-to-one according to four license-passing stations in the city.

At the County Clerk's office where the license is sold mostly as a matter of public convenience, Pamline Petty showed that license sales since last August went to a 75-per-cent-men audience.

Taking a short-range glance from Stanley Hardware's books, the last two months provide similar figures. Where 46 fishing-ducats were sold, 38 went for the men and eight for women—little better than four-to-one.

The biggest sales in licenses of any station was seen at Big Spring Hardware, where fishermen have apparently flocked during April and May.

For during those two periods approximately 175 fishing passes were sold there—133 for men and 41 for women, to be exact. That's around 32 per cent ladies, and can be noted as a percentage taken from the greatest number sold at any of the four distributors.

Over at Dibrell's, where figures dating back to last September were totaled, the percentage of women fishers to fishermen hit a neat 25, or the same four-to-one ratio.

Judging from the observations made, one might concede that only one of four fishermen's wives appreciated the sport, or only one of four fishermen appreciated their wives enough to take them along.

Wives, Career Women Find Stripping Pays

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Three months ago Mrs. Mabel Butler was a pretty housewife who hated housework.
Today she's a stripteaser who daily takes off her clothes from 2 till 9 p.m.
"I always wear my wedding ring on stage," she said. "My marriage is sacred to me. But the money is useful."
She is one of the scores of stenographers, secretaries and housewives who are packing the striptease clubs of London.
Five clubs have opened in the last six months. All of them feature beauties without bras in the middle of the afternoon.
Girls who've never stripped outside their bedrooms are earning $28 to $45 weekly.
One strip parlor, which opened seven weeks ago has 7,000 members. The membership fee is $3.50.
Operating as clubs, the strip places do not have to conform to the law that says nudes may appear on the stage—but only in poses and never in motion.
The shows last from 1 1/2 to 2 hours. During that time there are always at least two nude girls on the stage.
Blonde Mrs. Anna Keens said her husband doesn't mind her stripping in public.
"I'm studying for a degree in elocution. I recite poems nude," she explained.

Bill Would Cut Depletion Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to cut tax depletion allowances for oil and natural gas producers was proposed today by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis).
Proxmire said the measure if enacted would result in an additional half billion dollars in tax revenue annually.
"With wells in oil-producing states now running only seven days a month, any dwindling alibi for incentive taxes to encourage exploration for new oil has evaporated," Proxmire said.
"The percentage depletion allowance for fat boys in the oil and gas industry is the biggest of all tax loopholes. It is in effect a subsidy of 1 1/2 billion dollars a year. My amendment would slash these allowances from 27 1/2 per cent down to 15 per cent."
Proxmire said the oil depletion allowance was gross discrimination against other industry.
The depletion allowance has been on the books for more than 30 years. Numerous measures similar to that proposed by Proxmire have been introduced over the years but never have been enacted into law.

Jailed After Boat Riot

A police officer stands outside a jail cell in Pennsville, N. J., where white and Negro youths were held after a riot aboard a Delaware River excursion boat. # New World Dawns For Cabbie After Abortive Robbery Try

By JOHN BECKLER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new world of opportunity is dawning for a former taxi driver. It all started when he robbed a bank.
Kenneth St. Onge said he was jobless at the time, and his kids were hungry.
He got $540 in the robbery last

March 31, a crime for which he could have been sentenced to 20 years in jail.
But when St. Onge, 35, showed up in court yesterday with his wife and sons, Edward, 9; Gary, 8; Van, 7; Guy, 5; Kim, 4; Cal, 3; and Harvey, 18 months, the judge placed him on probation for five years.

In refusing to send St. Onge to jail, Judge Thurmond Clarke was motivated by the same feelings of sympathy that have caused hundreds to rally to the bank robber's support. For there is a story behind his brief foray into crime.
St. Onge, a stocky, serious young man with a crew cut and soft blue eyes, told it yesterday outside the courtroom.

"It was hard to find a place to live in Detroit with all the kids," said St. Onge, who had lived there all his life. "I got disgusted and said to my wife, 'Come on, let's go to California.'"

That was last September and things turned out even worse when they arrived in Los Angeles. "For three weeks we slept in our car—a 1947 Studebaker—and ate in a park. Then my wife got a job as a waitress and we moved into a Quonset hut for $25 a week plus utilities. The bill for electricity at the end of two months was $67, and I found out the landlord had another apartment, a trailer and a garage wired on to our place.

"I took care of the kids. Four of them were in school. They all went at different times and took turns wearing one good pair of shoes a neighbor had given us. I spent all day taking them to school and bringing them home and at 4:30 I'd pick up my wife and what she'd made in tips we'd spend on food for dinner.

"I never had any time to look for a job except close by, and I couldn't find anything.

"Then my wife lost her job because she was pregnant and her legs got so she couldn't stand on them. All our money was gone and that night when we put the kids to bed they were crying because they were hungry and I had to do something."

What St. Onge did was go into a downtown bank, threaten the cashier with a toy pistol, and walk out with the money. He was captured moments later and his story, in newspapers and on television, produced a flood of offers to help.

The family got a house in nearby La Puente without any down payment. Furniture and clothing was given to them—and $1,000 in cash came in hundreds of letters. From among dozens of offers of jobs St. Onge got one as a laundry truck driver.

He and his wife Esther were both damp eyed as they led their children from the courtroom yesterday.

"This is the best break I ever had," said St. Onge.

Baptist Missions Chief Tells Plans

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Arthur Rutledge, secretary of stewardship and district missions for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, outlined yesterday a Southern Baptist campaign to establish 30,000 new churches by 1964, the 150th anniversary of organized Baptist mission work in the United States.

Rutledge told 17 district mission secretaries from throughout the state that the Texas goal is to establish 1,200 new churches and 2,400 missions.

MRS. WENDEL THOMAS PAYTE

Double Ring Ceremony Read For Miss Duke, Wendel Thomas Pate

Double ring vows were read for Wynona LaVerne Duke and Wendel Thomas Payte Monday evening in the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ by James Watson.

An arch of candelabra with baskets of white gladioli formed the background for the bridal party, and aisles were marked with candles and white satin bows.

Parents of the bridegroom are C. T. Payte of North Cowden and Mrs. B. B. Kirby, Chelsea, Okla. The bride's mother is Mrs. Vivienne Duke 1100 Main.

Ray Murphy and Fawney Murphy, uncles of the bride, and her aunt, Mrs. Jack Edwards, formed a trio to sing the wedding marches and Always, Wedding Prayer and Walk Hand in Hand.

The bride's grandfather, R. E. Duke of Dimmitt, escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her wedding dress, which had been made by her mother, was of nylon tulle ruffles with an overskirt of Chantilly lace. The lace also formed the fitted bodice with its long tapered sleeves; the high neckline followed the design of the lace.

Pearled orange blossoms and rhinestones were used for the headress, which held a waist length veil of tulle, and the bride carried a white Bible under her bouquet of white carnations.

Attendants were attired in identical fashion in frocks of taffeta with a floral design and criss cross belts of plaid taffeta. Mitts of the dress fabric were trimmed with pearl buttons and lace. They were worn with white hats and pumps. Carnations in cascade arrangement made the bouquets.

Serving as maid of honor was Marilyn Howell of Dimmitt, who was dressed in pink and carried blue carnations; Mrs. Larry Osburn, in a blue dress, and Nancy Cunningham, who was attired in a pink frock, both carried pink carnations as they attended as bridesmaids.

Varnell Johnson of Big Spring, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was his best man. Ushers were Jerry Johnson and George Smith, Pamela Johnson, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl; she was dressed in orchid embroidered nylon.

Dressed in identical style with the feminine attendants were Dorothy Mabe, in blue, and Welda Edwards of Olton, the bride's cousin, who wore beige and brown. They lighted the altar tapers.

Rings were carried by Robert Duke of Dimmitt and Linda Gundersen of Roseburg, Ore., both cousins of the bride.

A reception at the home of the bridegroom followed the ceremony. Here, the table was laid in a lace cloth of eggshell hue over pink. A three-tiered cake with a bride and groom figurine was served by the bridal attendants. Mrs. Johnson registered guests.

Attending from out of town were the bride's grandmother,

Mrs. R. E. Duke, and Mrs. Ola Murphy, both of Dimmitt; Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Gundersen of Roseburg, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Payte of Odessa, and Jack Edwards of Olton.

The bride chose a sheath of sky-blue silk shantung trimmed in royal blue for her traveling dress. The wedding trip will take the couple to Turner Falls and Claremore, Okla.

Upon the return to Big Spring, the Paytes will be at home at 307 Park. The bridegroom, a graduate of Boswell, Okla., High School, is employed by the post office.

The new Mrs. Payte was graduated from Big Spring High School and has been an employee of the R&R Theatres.

Wedding Date Set

June 21 is the date which has been set for the marriage of Bobbie Ruth Henderson and Gerald Scott. This is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson of Hyman, parents of the bride-elect. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Bernice Freeman, 403 Washington Blvd. The couple will be married in the First Presbyterian Church.

Patio Supper Compliments Engaged Pair

Quartet tables were bright with cloths of yellow, tangerine, green and chartreuse for the patio supper given Monday evening for Kenda McGibbon and Charles Webb. The couple will be married in the First Methodist Church June 21.

Parents of the two are Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Cedar Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Halz Webb of Dallas.

Hostesses for the party, given in the home of Mrs. Arne Gibson Houser, were Mrs. Houser and Mrs. B. L. LeFever.

At the bride's table, glass-topped white iron, white place mats were used with white candles in crystal hurricane lamps. Candles on the other tables matched the cloths or were in contrast. Place cards were marked with tiny wedding bells.

About 30 guests attended the buffet supper.

Bridal Pair Will Live In Denton

Following their marriage Wednesday in Bonham, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stuart Echols will be at home in Denton, where both are students in North Texas State College.

The bride is the former Mary Sue Hale, daughter of Mrs. James K. Hale, 1015 Wood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Echols of Linden.

A double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. E. J. Kearney, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Bonham, in the church, which was decorated with shasta daisies.

Shasta daisies were also used at the reception held at the home of Mrs. William Hale, grandmother of the bride. Linda Echols, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

The bride, who was graduated from Big Spring High School, attended Howard County Junior College. She served as correspondent from both schools for The Herald at the time of her attendance in each.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Linden High School.

Evan Holmes Circle Honors Mrs. LaFon

Mrs. Raymond LaFon was honored Sunday evening following the worship service at Baptist Temple.

Members of the Evan Holmes Circle of the church were hostesses for the party, which was given in the home of Mrs. H. M. Jarratt. Mrs. LaFon will join her husband to make a home in Pensacola, Fla.

She has been chairman of the circle, and a gift was presented to her from the group. Refreshments were served from a table in a pink theme.

First Baptist WMS Opens New Study Series

"Soul-Winning Experiences in the Bible," a textbook written by outstanding WMSU leaders, Baptist preachers and educators, is the new vehicle of study begun Monday morning by the First Baptist WMS.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien taught the first chapter, text for which is 2 Kings 5. It is the story of the Jewish scullery maid's influence in the household of Naaman, powerful Syrian.

Mrs. O'Brien presided for the meeting which opened with a prayer by Mrs. W. B. Younger. In her report on the Southern Baptist Convention in Houston, Mrs. O'Brien told especially of the dedicated life of Mrs. George Dailley, missionary to the Latin-Americans.

The various circles will provide refreshments for the Vacation Bible School being held this week at the Latin-American church.

The 25 present were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. B. T. Faulkner.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The telephone is a wonderful way to keep in touch with friends and relatives and is also a good way to stimulate romance. Such is the case of E. K. FAUBION. Of course it happened years ago, forty, in fact, when he, as an employee of a railroad company in Seneca, Kansas, and Helen Jordan of Moncato, Kansas, started visiting by telephone. It all turned out very well and today they are celebrating their fortieth anniversary at their home at 207 Mobile. With them will be their five children and their families, who are MR. AND MRS. FRED PICKETT, MR. AND MRS. JAMES G. CRENSHAW, MR. AND MRS. ROSS STUTEVILLE, MR. AND MRS. K. J. FAUBION, and ED L. FAUBION who has just recently received his discharge from the Marines.

The good old cable was put to good use Sunday afternoon for a longer distance when Dr. and Mrs. J. E. HOGAN and Peggy talked to their younger daughter, Janet, and her husband, 1st. Lt. Wm. H. Brigman, who are living at Aldebaugh, England, while he is stationed at Bentwater Base. The Brigmans are doing well, and he has been doing part time duty in special services coaching the base football team. Brigman was an outstanding quarterback during his four years at Georgia Tech.

MRS. JOHN BIRDWELL and her brother, BILL EARLEY, were here over the weekend to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Earley. Mrs. Birdwell is a student in Hardin-Simmons in Abilene, while Bill is working for the U. S. Forestry Service in the Davy Crockett Reserve. Bill's guest was Mary Quarles of Alton.

MR. AND MRS. MELVIN McFALL and Mrs. J. R. CREATH attended the commencement exercises of Cisco Jr. College the past week when Mr. McFall's Komatz was in charge of arrangements for the dinner, which about 30 attended. A guest was Mrs. Tom Tingley. Two new members, Mrs. Melvin Swanson and Mrs. Raymond Smith, were introduced.

hat of the same fabric. Members have studied courses in hat making and dress design.

It was announced that Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones will take the duties of the HD agent to succeed Elizabeth Pace, who was married Saturday evening to Sgt. Winston Hall. Mrs. Jones will be in the office on June 16.

Mrs. Shirley Fryar, THDA chairman, asked the group to see that reports on the work plan are sent in by June 15. She gave information on the state meeting slated for Austin on Aug. 15-16. Three delegates will be selected, with each club entitled to choose a nominee. From the names listed, delegates will be chosen at the next meeting of the council July 7.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Ray Shortes presided for the meeting.

A Bible Thought For Today

But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes. (1 John 2:11)

Senate's Cold Shoulder For Alaska?

Admission of Alaska to the sisterhood of states has passed the House 208-166 and in the natural course of routine will reach the Senate sometime in that nebulous time "between now and then."

Not much chance is conceded it in the Senate, for the same old reason: party jealousy and self-interest. Alaska is Democratic, Hawaii, Republican, and the Republicans can see no sense in adding two Democratic senators to the list without an offsetting two Republican senators.

When Hawaii is up for statehood, the shoe is on the other foot, and the Democrats play dog in the manger. Why not admit both Alaska and Hawaii at one and the same time? Ah, that's too logical.

There are valid reasons why both should be admitted, and just as valid reasons why neither is ready for statehood. One is geographical; some people don't think an offshore group of islands should have the full privileges and representation in House and Senate as the existing 48 states. And there is no land bridge connecting Alaska to the rest of the country.

Another is that the population of Alaska is a mere handful, and its administration under full statehood would be more than the country's present state of development and population could bear, so it would be come a burden on the other 48. Advocates of statehood brush all these, and many more, objections aside and demand admittance as a matter of simple fairness and justice to the two territories.

Not all Hawaiians want statehood and neither do all Alaskans. For Texans, the admission of Alaska has a special meaning: it would reduce the Lone Star State to second place in area among the states.

The total area of Texas is 267,339 square miles. Alaska is more than twice as big, with a land area of 571,065 square miles; plus water area, 586,400 square miles over all. There is more than mere sentiment to keep Texas No. 1 involved in the typical Texas attitude toward admitting Alaska as a state. The sheer physical size of Texas has been a real problem all along, involving administrative and related responsibilities that the smaller states never heard of.

Would it not be possible to create a new state within Alaska's vast territory, and leave the balance in a territorial status until its population (never to be very large for climatological reasons) could justify the creation of one or more additional states?

Housing Investments Justified

Not so long ago when there was speculation about possibility of transferring a new activity to Webb AFB, there was considerable discussion about housing. Then came the announcement that the 31st Fighter Interceptor Wing was scheduled to begin its transfer from Stewart AFB, N. Y. to Webb.

This was, of course, welcome news on a number of accounts. Naturally it would add to the versatility and therefore the utility of Webb AFB; it would focus new importance upon the base; it would give us a greater opportunity to be a friendly community to those who make security of the nation a career.

Of course we realize that after the initial surveys and overtures toward more private housing there is necessarily a period in which seemingly nothing is being done or happening. While this is not actually the case any more than "getting out of the ground" fails to contribute immeasurably to progress of a building. The need of more immediate housing is urgent.

To meet these urgent, immediate needs some way must be found for renovating or reconverting present facilities. Here is our best hope of prompt action. This accounts for a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon when news media were asked to press into the consciousness (yea, even into the conscience) of the community the need for more apartment units.

In many instances such a step could be taken with little expense and in a short period of time. In others, it would involve a sizable outlay of cash. The average homeowner is justified in reasonable caution. He or she doesn't want to invest and then find that the source of revenue will be cut off.

Thus, on this point a measure of reassurance is in order. We believe that the sheer mathematics of the thing will furnish that assurance. When the base housing project is completed, only 460 family units can be provided. This will not take care of Webb's pressing needs, let alone those of another facility. Moreover, Congress has been asked to authorize a SAGE unit for Webb, a multimillion dollar unit which would fit into the continental defense plan. These things are mentioned simply to illustrate that bigger things apparently lie ahead and that the demand for housing will be firm for a long, long time.

Copper Making A Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle of the metals finds one of the oldest used by man stepping out to regain some lost markets and to invade some new ones in the nuclear and missile age.

Copper is chalking up some successes — such as its use as a heat absorbent in missile cones re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

But coppermen are being warned to make more research effort if they want copper to catch up with its rival metals.

Copper has been hard hit by the recession. It also has been hit by other metals stepping in as substitutes when copper was scarce and high priced. It has been hit by the changing armament picture which now stresses specialized metal forms rather than gross bulk of the older ones. Example: delicate electronic missiles now vs. quantities of shell casings.

While competing metals were fighting hard to extend their markets, copper seemed for a long time content to concentrate on expanding production to take care of a big world demand.

The recession is changing that. There's an excess of copper instead of a scarcity — stocks of unsold copper in the United States are at a 19-year high — price weakness instead of high prices, curtailed production instead of expansion. This time both the fabricators of copper into end uses and the producers of the metal are being prodded into doing something about it.

At the recent annual meeting of the Copper & Brass Research Assn. some of the advances were outlined—some of the promising fields pointed out. Extruded structural shapes are showing up in some of the nation's new buildings. Here copper's alloy bronze is in direct competition with aluminum and stainless steel as a curtain wall material.

Demos Fouled Anti-Recession Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan for extending unemployment pay—his most eye-catching anti-recession move—was born in confusion and is still confused, thanks to help from the Democratic-run Congress which approved it.

He was expected to sign it into law today. Originally, it was supposed to apply to all 48 states. In its finished form probably no more than six states, those heavily hit by unemployment, will make use of it.

It's possible this new law will prove to be so thoroughly fouled up that Congress—although it doesn't have much time left this year—will want to junk it and do something both clearer and more beneficial.

Before looking at the confusion, this is the background: Each state has its own way of handling unemployment pay, deciding how much a jobless man can draw and for how many weeks. So the payments vary from state to state and the weeks of pay range from 16 to 31. In most states the maximum is 26 weeks.

States tax employers to provide money for unemployment pay in their individual states. The money in all these state funds now totals around eight billion dollars. So the states could increase the amount of unemployment pay and extend the number of weeks.

Eisenhower decided to stick a needle in the states by proposing that the federal government provide money to all states to extend unemployment pay to those jobless workers who had exhausted all the weeks due them.

He called some governors to the White House for a conference on his idea. They came away uncertain about what he had in mind.

The Stars Look Down . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—The stars will never look the same to us again.

In troubled times in the past a man has always had to walk out into the night, turn his face skyward to the stars and tell himself, "Up there is quiet, peace, serenity." Somehow, in his own loneliness, the lonely sky has always comforted him.

Dr. Harlow Shapley, retired director of the Harvard College Observatory, has destroyed forever our cherished myth that the sky was either lonely or serene.

Lonely? Why it turns out that the heaven is more crowded than a ball park during a "ree Sunday double header."

Dr. Shapley, who rates the earth as a lowly mudball circling around a third rate star—our sun—estimates there may be 100 quintillion stars in the known universe.

But, hold on. There's worse to come. Man has long speculated there may be forms of life on one or two of our neighboring planets.

This is a piker's view to Dr. Shapley. He figures that if even only one out of every trillion stars in the universe has conditions roughly similar to those of our sun, then there may be 100 million planetary systems with life on them.

We don't know how this possibility affects you, but we do know how it has affected us. Ever since reading Dr. Shapley's estimate we have been dreaming, not of seeing flying saucers, but of whole flying pantries.

The heavens may house vaster griefs than any we have known—but may get to know later.

A hundred million different planets may have different kinds of life in a hundred million different stages.

Some may have people much as ourselves, occupying themselves as they whirl through space with such diversions as children, mortgages, bingo and wars.

Some may have people even more advanced than ourselves, people who have lost the art of locomotion altogether, but developed two heads so they can think through their problems better.

Personally when we go out alone at night now here's what we do. We close our eyes, turn up our face, cup our hands to our mouth and holler, "Halloo, up there! Halloo!"

So far, we are glad to report, we have had no answer.

But we have lost our old fine feeling of fellowship for the stars. They have become strangers for ever.

Celebrity And The Unknown: Brothers

One rainy afternoon, weary of the more or less formal displays on the lower floors, I climbed a narrow, dingy stairs leading to the top story of the rambling brick building which houses the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

I opened a door and found myself in what I suppose would be the attic of the museum. It was as cluttered with miscellaneous flotsam and jetsam as the attic of any home.

The light was dim and the few windows were narrow and dust covered. No one was on the floor but myself. I wandered in and out amid the debris.

Here was the original wooden model of first typewriter patented in these United States. There was an odd fossil on which there was no identifying label.

Over in a corner, I saw a horse. A very decrepit and moth-eaten horse. Time had withered his ears to mere bits of blackish hide. His hair was dulled to a drab brown. Seams were breaking out and the stuffing the taxidermist had used was sticking out.

The brass plate on the base was tarnished but still readable. This, it seemed, was the horse that General Phil Sheridan had ridden on that historic dash of 20 miles to get to some battle in the Civil War.

Sheridan was long since dead; even the significance of that battle was now of interest only to historians. Sometime in the past, provident admirers of the fiery general had provided the museum with this stuffed horse. Time had robbed him of all visitor appeal; his appearance had become such that he was an eyesore. So he had wound up here in the lonely attic. He reminded me of another horse. Do kids ever go to the city dump to rummage for treasures any more?

When I was a young boy, we made regular trips to the dump grounds—as often as we could sneak away from the watchful eye of our parents. They did not quite understand the allure the dump held for us.

At the dump you found all sorts of interesting things . . . toys which were perhaps unrepairable; boxes which would be valuable for some vague future purpose. Occasionally we would find a lone wheel off a boy's wagon or perhaps a rod which would be useable as an axle. Oh, there were plenty of wonderful things to see at the city dump!

One year there was a drought which held on and on. A horse died somewhere in the town. He was dragged unceremoniously to the city dump and stacked on one of the small mountains of tin cans and rubbish. He did not decay as would normally have been the case—the blistering hot sun beat down on him and he changed into a mummy. The skin drew tight over the bones and formed a hard casing. His four legs were spread apart; his bony neck thrust out.

Some pranksters hoisted him to a standing position and he remained that way for weeks.

There he stood, gaunt and desolate, with widely spread legs and his long neck holding his shrunken head in an attitude of utter defiance.

Somehow that horse on the city dump and the decrepit moth-eaten creature in the dimness of the Smithsonian Institute top floor seemed brothers.

Creeping Civilization In The West

BOISE, Idaho.—This is God's country, and no mistake, and I will go three rounds—catch as catch can—with anyone who says it isn't.

Still and all, every time I come home to the Boise Valley to visit, I get an awful, sinking premonition that creeping civilization is eating into the Old West. Some days it just doesn't seem so wild and woolly.

Take today: I have been sitting up with a sick friend who had the misfortune to break a small bone in her ankle. Now when I was a child in the valley, you might break an ankle stepping in a gopher hole (and if you were a horse, you got shot on the spot).

Or it was thoroughly respectable to break a few bones if a fractious horse did a bit of sunfishing and tossed you into the sagebrush. And you could still hold up your head in polite society if you fell down an old, abandoned mine shaft while prospecting—and who in Idaho didn't own a pick and a pan when I was a kid?

You could even fall off a mountain, although this was generally regarded as pure carelessness.

But did Carolyn fracture her ankle in any of these time-honored, conventional ways? Not on your life! Here is a woman, daughter of pioneers, who is laid up because—honestly, I am so ashamed I can hardly write it—she lost control of a golf-club at the country club! The last thing she remembers is that she was in a sandtrap and the golf-club was headed for the hills.

I've had another disquieting experience.

too, I'm just home from a little shopping trip downtown and my handbag is ominously light. It doesn't feel good, like a Western bag should when it's full of silver dollars. The old Western cartwheel that used to weigh down a man's pockets and a woman's purse and give the individual a sense of wealth and prosperity even on $5 is giving way to the greenback.

For the first time in my life I have had to ask for silver dollars in Idaho. Greenbacks, that's what they gave me in Boise today! And to think that I was a junior in college and, 'way back East at the University of Missouri before I even knew that Uncle Sam printed paper money in denominations smaller than 20¢!

The traffic jams—and they have lulled out here—and all caused by these little, bitty foreign cars. Oh, everything's up-to-date, all right.

However, there is occasional evidence that there is still hair on the Western chest. The other evening I was offered a "Sagebrush Cocktail." In the glass, this liquid had the splendid gray-green cast of that magnolia of the Western pampas.

Well, maybe I am a victim of creeping civilization, because after casing this concoction I had the caution to ask its ingredients. Well, sir, fasten your holsters, men, because this one will separate you from the boys.

The Sagebrush consists of equal parts of gin, rye and green chutney. And don't reach for the ceiling, podner. The floor is your best bet.

The Gallup Poll

Wide Support For U.N. Emergency Force

PRINCETON, N. J.—In a world dotted with potential "trouble spots," there is considerable public support today for a larger U.N. police force capable of dealing with small wars.

A World Gallup Poll in major opinion centers of 16 nations around the globe—conducted just before the outbreak of trouble in France, the Near East and Africa—reveals sentiment in the great majority of the centers favoring the expansion of the present U.N. Emergency Force into an army of 100,000 or more men.

The greatest supporter for larger U.N. Force comes from citizens of a city on the "front lines" of the cold war—West Berlin.

But in other centers as widely scattered as Montevideo, Uruguay and Melbourne, Australia, sentiment is nearly as favorable as in West Berlin.

In three cities, Stockholm, Brussels and Paris, the vote runs against the proposal to enlarge the present emergency force.

In Helsinki, Finland, citizens interviewed are split almost evenly on the issue. In a survey conducted throughout Great Britain, the vote was 5-to-3 in favor of expanding the U.N. force to at least 100,000 men.

The world consensus, based on an average of replies in the 19 centers, is as follows:

SHOULD U.N. FORCE BE EXPANDED?

Yes, should	Per Cent
No, should not be	43
No opinion	30

Results in each of the centers were obtained by the following question put to representative citizens:

"Would you like to see the U.N. Emergency Force expanded into an army of at least 100,000 men, or more?"

The replies in each center—including results from a cross-section of British adults—line up as follows:

SHOULD U.N. FORCE BE EXPANDED?

No.	Yes	No Opin.	Per Cent
West Berlin	68	18	22
Montevideo	58	13	29
Melbourne	58	32	10
Amsterdam	52	30	18
New York-Chicago	50	33	17
San Francisco	50	33	17
New Delhi	47	24	29
Oslo	47	33	20
Vienna	46	24	30

Milan-Rome 45 35 22
Copenhagen 42 34 24
Great Britain 41 25 34
Helsinki 41 37 22
Paris 30 37 33
Brussels 25 44 34
Athens 24 9 67
Stockholm 20 50 30

The results from three major cities in the U. S.—New York, Chicago and San Francisco—were combined.

The same procedure was followed in the case of Italy with Milan and Rome.

Sentiment in the U. S. has long favored the idea of a permanent U.N. police force.

When the first United Nations Emergency Force was dispatched to the troubled Sinai Peninsula and Gaza strip in the late fall of 1956, surveys found seven out of 10 Americans supporting such a move.

A special World Gallup Poll at the time of the Suez crisis revealed initial reaction by average citizens of the world to be one of disapproval of the move by Israel, France and England.

In all but two of 10 world centers checked, people disapproved of the Anglo-French intervention in the crisis.

In all but one of the 10 centers, Israel's action in the Sinai and Gaza areas was disapproved.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Whatever else the Sputniks have done they have produced an unending crop of funny stories inside Russia. There is the obvious one that the second satellite was, of course, sent up by the security services to keep a watch on what the first was up to. There is the other story that crowds in Albania suddenly began demonstrating for joy. They had heard the rumor that Russia was to let loose a satellite in outer space and had jumped to the conclusion that their own distant Albania was to be freed.

Red Talk Seen As Trade War Gambit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate foreign relations committee members said today the latest Soviet talk of relaxing tensions may be only the opening gambit for an East-West trade war.

Senators Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) commented in separate interviews on Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov's newest proposal for peaceful coexistence without interference in other countries' internal affairs.

The two senators said they regard Menshikov's remarks as part of an over-all Soviet shift in emphasis from military toward economic competition with the United States.

Menshikov said on an unheated radio broadcast last night that tensions between the East and West have reached a dangerous stage. He said his country would like to see them relaxed.

Menshikov said differences between ideologies and systems should not be considered as obstacles for establishing friendly relations. He suggested speeding up a proposed summit meeting.

Replying to questions, he said he believes the American people generally do not want war, but was not well enough acquainted with U.S. government policy to say whether the government wants war.

Humphrey, who heads the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, said he is convinced the Soviets now see little profit in continuing the cold war and have decided to "try to pick up the world piece by piece by an economic campaign."

"They are regrouping their political and economic forces to wage an extensive and intensive economic battle," he said. "They want relaxation of tensions so that they can busy themselves with infiltration in all parts of the world."

Humphrey said he believes the changed situation should be met with American efforts to change the complexion of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization from purely military to one of cooperative economic effort.

Smith said he fears the Soviets are "talking softly to try to get us off our guard." But he agreed with Humphrey that they now seem ready to take up trade as a weapon.

Mexican Employers Find No Fault With Bracero System

By ELMER KELTON
San Angelo Standard-Times
Written for The Associated Press

What do Mexican employers feel about the bracero program which pays higher wages than they can pay?

How does the bracero program work in Mexico? Who is permitted to go to the United States under work contracts?

Is the ancient Mexican custom of the "mordida" a service charge, a tip or a bribe? And how does it affect the bracero program?

Those were some questions the San Angelo Standard-Times was seeking when it sent me deep into the heart of Mexico.

We had expected to find strong opposition to the bracero program on the part of employers and others who see much of the labor force pack up and head north for the United States.

We were surprised at how little opposition we found. On the contrary, most big ranchmen and farmers we talked to were in favor of the bracero program despite the inconveniences it occasionally causes them.

A GOOD THING

Armando Raynal of Chihuahua City, one of the biggest cattlemen in Chihuahua, had this to say:

"It has been a good thing for the country. It has brought in new capital. Moreover, the bracero program puts money in the hands of the poor people who are most in need of it."

He said the bracero program has tended to push Mexican wages up a little. He has not objected to that, for the opening of the U.S. border to Mexican cattle has brought better times for him, too.

Others pointed out that because of the surplus of labor in Mexico the exodus of the braceros has enabled those who remain behind to find work more regularly. And because of the labor surplus, any shortage of workers in Mexico is only temporary.

Often braceros come back with new skills, acquired in the United States, that make them better employees at home.

Lauro Gonzalez, one of the biggest farmers at Colonia Dublin, said, "I think the program has been a very good deal for the bracero."

The only thing that worries Gonzalez is that many who go out don't like to work at home anymore. They've had a taste of high wages and better living conditions. They are forevermore looking north and wondering why they can't get the same deal at home, he said.

SYSTEM OF ORDER

Mexico itself has made a big contribution to the smooth operation of the bracero program by setting up a system to prevent mass migration of workers northward with resultant chaos and hardship to both the migratory workers and border officials.

A few years ago a Mexican who wanted to work in the United States would simply pack a few belongings and head toward the bracero reception center in Chihuahua City. There he would have taken his chances with thousands of other men, fighting for an opportunity to get to the front gates, perhaps standing in line until he starved on his feet and had to be carried away unconscious.

To prevent this, the Mexican government set up a system in which each municipality receives a quota when a call comes from the United States for migratory workers.

The president of each municipality screens the applicants, giving preference to married men, those who need work and those with agricultural experience and eliminating those with pro-Communist records or reputations for being poor workers.

NEEDS APPROVAL

Before he can leave his community, the bracero must receive approval from the president of his municipality. Once he has his papers he can go to the reception center at Chihuahua City.

There he presents his papers and his name goes on the waiting list. Sometimes he has only a short wait. Again he may have to wait a week before he is called.

When at last he gets his turn, he can count on being processed within hours. He must first satisfy the Mexican government that it has no military claims on him.

He then is interviewed by U.S. officials to make sure he has had experience in agricultural work. U.S. immigration men interview to make sure he has no criminal record and is not a Communist.

The final hurdle is the physical exam. If he passes it then there's nothing more left than the formality of filing papers and taking fingerprints.

Then for the first time he gets a meal other than at his own expense. All of his food and travel expense until he actually goes to work in the United States is paid by the farmer who hires him when he arrives at one of the reception centers in the United States.

THE MORDIDA

That's the process of becoming a bracero if the mordida doesn't take its bite.

One of the hardest things to pin down in Mexico is the ancient custom of the mordida. It's a service charge, a tip or a bribe, depending on the point of view.

Big Texas cotton associations, contracting Mexican braceros by the thousands, usually have not been affected much by the mordida.

But individual ranchers, contracting just one or two or possibly five or six men at a time, have found it took a well-placed mordida to get much done. Without it, Mexican border officials could always find something wrong with the papers.

The ranchman would swear a little, then put up his ten or twelve dollars per man and go ahead. This usually didn't hurt the ranchman much, financially. It was the principle that made him mad.

But it's a different story with the bracero, who also often has to put up a mordida of his own to get across the border to work. What is pin money to the ranchman is blood money to the bracero.

MANY PAID

On our trip down into Chihuahua, we asked dozens of former braceros about the mordida. A big percentage said they were obliged to pay someone down the line. Sometimes it was as little as 20 pesos, about $1.00. Other times it was, for a bracero, a staggering sum like 300 pesos or $24.

President Ruiz Cortines has tried valiantly to stamp out the mordida in federal government. People who have lived in Mexico for a long time say he has made some promising headway. But the

DEAR ABBY

GRAB HIM, GAL!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 58 and have been the victim of two long engagements, neither of which materialized so I am unmarried. I have been seeing a fine professional man who is 60 and was widowed a year ago. He says he adores me and shows me much respect. He wants to marry me. He is well-to-do, generous and considerate, but I am wondering if that is enough. Don't you think a woman is entitled to more? Thrills, I mean. Thank you.

NOT THRILLED

DEAR NOT: At 58? Grab him!

DEAR ABBY: I live in a rooming house where there are six other apartments. The landlady gave me a key for my door and I found out that my key fits everybody else's door and theirs fit mine. She says if I don't like it I can call a locksmith and pay for changing the lock on my door. I don't want to move because this place is handy to my work. Can I force her to give me the privacy and security I am paying for?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: You can't FORCE her to do anything. She is being very petty but if you like your apartment, better take her suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: My girl and I are going steady and intend to be married in about a year. I've always addressed her parents as "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." She never addressed my parents as anything, but all of a sudden I noticed she started calling my mother "NELLIE" and my father "BILL." They almost choked but didn't say anything. Is this proper? If it isn't do you think I ought to correct her and if so how?

JIM

DEAR JIM: It is proper only if the parents don't object. (Some rather enjoy it!) However, if yours almost choked, I suggest you cough up the courage to ask your young lady to address your parents as "Mr. and Mrs. So and So."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are expecting a child in about four months, however we cannot support ourselves, let alone another child. Although we would like to keep the child we know it would be much better to put it out for adoption. I feel badly about having to write such a letter but we feel that trying to support another child would be unfair to the four we already have. Can you put me in touch with an honest adoption agency who would place our baby in a good home?

REALISTIC PARENTS

DEAR REALISTIC: It is inconceivable to me that parents would willingly give up their own child for this reason but if you call your local Community Chest, Family Service or County Welfare Association, they will place your baby in a good home.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 64 years old but he keeps getting younger if you know what I mean. He walks to work every morning and stops by a lady's house for breakfast because he says he likes her biscuits. My friends tell me not to worry because he is an old man and this woman wouldn't be bothered with him, but they don't know my husband! He bought her a pair of silk stockings for Mother's Day and she isn't his mother. What should I do about this?

MAD

DEAR MAD: There's no fool like an old fool and your husband is behaving like one. Get the lady's recipe and break up the Breakfast Club.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE": I will keep your secret forever—but you can't. Try the sack dress and confer with the man in the case.

custom has existed too long to be eliminated overnight or even in a decade.

Braceros are willing enough to tell you about the mordida as friend to friend, but if it comes to an official investigation, they clam up.

The Mexican government once sent an official to Texas to investigate the problem. Men were called out of the fields so the official could ask how many of them had paid a mordida while in Mexico.

A great many had but sat on their hands. Only a couple of men spoke up. These were taken back to Mexico to testify. They naturally lost their jobs and their chance to earn American dollars, for the season had waned by the time they got through.

Whether it was meant that way or not, the rest of the men took this as an object lesson. They said nothing more about the mordida.
