Blakley Meets Supporters

Among a group which greeted William A. Blakley in Big Spring this morning were Mr. and Mrs. Rich Anderson of Borden County, shown here with the candidate for the U. S. Senate from Texas. Mrs. Anderson is chairman of the Blakley campaign in Borden County. A number of other Borden County folk, with two-score Big Springers, heard Blakley talk briefly and informally, before he went out on the streets to shake hands.

Blakley Brings U.S. Senate Campaign To Big Spring Area

Bill Blakley was in Big Spring for a couple of hours today, shaking hands with people in ranchman fashion, telling them his name, and saying "I'd appreciate it if you could support me for the U. S. Senate."

A simple, direct approach seemed to be the hallmark of William A. Blakley, who seeks the Senate seat from Texas in the July Democratic primaries.

He had coffee and doughnuts with some 50 people from Big Spring and Borden County, when he first arrived this morning, after hand-shaking stops at Sterling City and Garden City. He spoke to this group very briefly, and told them he wanted to "hit the street" to see more folks.

Blakley, rancher, oil man, lawyer, accountant and business investor, told the crowd at the Howard House, "I just want you to look me over. If you like what you see, I'll be grateful for your support.

"I feel that a place in the Senate gives me an opportunity to work for Texas. It's not just my job to do this. It is your job as well as mine, to help protect the American way of freedom that we have been accustomed to. I think it's time we acted to protect this way of life."

Blakley stressed that he has been a Democrat all his life, and when asked about his vote in the Senate (when he served under an interim appointment) which brought about organization of the legislative body under Democratic rule, he said:

"It is inconceivable that when I went to the U. S. Senate I could have voted any way but with the Democratic party. I accepted the appointment without any commitments or obligations, was not asked to give any. I announced for this race on my own initiative, and again have not been asked for any commitments and have not given any."

Blakley cited the encroachment of federal power, and got a round of applause when he cautioned that Texans had better to look to the statehouse instead of to Washington in programs that are the state's responsibility. There is no law anywhere, he said, that directs the federal government "to take over and operate our schools."

Blakley was to go from here to Midland and Odessa for further campaign contacts.

Daniel, Blakley, Nokes On Stump In West Texas

By WHITEY SAWYER
AP Foreign News Analyst

Three candidates stumped West Texas Tuesday.

William Blakley, candidate for the U. S. Senate, Gov. Price Daniel, who is running for re-election, and George Nokes, a candidate for lieutenant governor, all sought votes in the West.

Daniel, who visited Dumas Monday to inspect the grasshopper problem, was to go to Lubbock for an address over several television stations Tuesday night.

Nokes, speaking in San Angelo, urged Texans to "wake up to the vital importance of the lieutenant governor's office and end boss rule in the Senate."

"Until the public recognizes the tremendous power that this office holds, and how it can be used for the selfish purposes of a very few persons, the hands of other well-meaning state officials are tied in effort to give Texas good government," he said.

Daniel inspected fields in the Dumas area. He said he was returning to Austin to see if more spray units could be brought into the area soon.

Earlier, he had charged that the Democrats of Texas will use every political manipulation its leaders can devise "to capture control of the party from the majority."

He spoke at a party rally in Plainview sponsored by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Daniel said the DOT prepared a "thinly veiled program for minority control of conventions in Texas and gave it the name of 'code of ethics' in order to dupe the people of this state."

Communists Execute Leaders Of Revolt

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Hungary has executed two leaders of the Soviet-crushed Hungarian revolt in October and November 1956, former Premier Imre Nagy and Defense Minister Pal Maleter.

The executions of Nagy, Maleter and two lesser figures in the popular uprising against Communist rule plus prison sentences for five others were announced today.

Moscow broke the word first in what looked to Vienna observers like the start of a new Kremlin purge of Titoists in the satellites seeking some independence from Moscow's domination. Foreign diplomats in Belgrade viewed the execution of Nagy as a direct Kremlin slap at the Yugoslav President.

Budapest radio said Nagy and Maleter refused to make full confessions to the people's court bench of the Supreme Court, which tried them secretly in Budapest. The dates of the trial and of the executions were not made public.

All nine were charged with "organization of a plot aimed at overthrowing" the Hungarian government. Nagy also was convicted of "betraying the motherland" and Maleter of "organizing a military uprising."

Budapest radio said Nagy, Maleter and Jozsef Szilagyi denied the charges "but later under the weight of incriminating evidence they made partial confessions." Szilagyi and Miklos Gimes were Communist journalists executed with Nagy and Maleter. The most prominent of the five men sentenced to prison was Zoltan Tildy, Hungary's first post-war president, who was given 5 to 12 years.

IMRE NAGY He wouldn't 'confess'

Nagy had been a Hungarian Communist since he was 21. He worked his way up through party ranks with the help of training in the Soviet Union. He was a vice premier under tough, Stalinist Premier Matyas Rakosi.

After Stalin died in 1953 and war president, who was given 5 to 12 years.

Kopacsy was given life imprisonment, the others 5-12 years. Nagy had been a Hungarian Communist since he was 21. He worked his way up through party ranks with the help of training in the Soviet Union. He was a vice premier under tough, Stalinist Premier Matyas Rakosi.

Georgi Malenkov introduced a new look in Moscow, Rakosi resigned and Nagy was premier for two years. He followed the Malenkov line of trying to make life easier for the masses. But when Nikita Khrushchev dumped Malenkov in 1955, Nagy and his soft line soon were replaced by another tough Hungarian regime.

This tough regime fathered the revolt on Oct. 23, 1956. The people remembered Nagy as a friend and he became premier again, at first channeling the revolt along the lines of liberalization within the Soviet fold but eventually getting swept up in the anti-Russian emotions that evoked the Kremlin crackdown.

Maleter was a professional soldier — a major general — whose Hungarian army troops went with the people after Oct. 23 to win the first round against Soviet occupation forces.

Then Soviet military commanders invited him to a meeting which they said was to negotiate the withdrawal of Soviet forces. Maleter never returned and a few hours later fresh Soviet troops poured into Budapest early Nov. 4 to smash the revolt.

Maleter's divorced wife and three children fled from Hungary to Canada but last night were reported to have moved to New York.

Nagy was a political refugee in the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest from Nov. 4 until Nov. 22. He left the embassy on a promise from Kadar of safe passage across the border. Instead, he was arrested and reportedly imprisoned in Romania.

Dulles Warns U.S. May Fight For Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States would use military action under certain conditions to preserve Lebanon's independence.

Dulles told his news conference the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean is watching the crisis-ridden Lebanese situation. He said fleet elements including Marines, could take appropriate action.

Mentioning that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and a U.N. security force are in the area, Dulles said any proposal by Hammarskjold in this connection would be supported by the United States. He added that this includes physical support.

Dulles said there are other contingencies under which the United States might send military support to Lebanon. But he declined to go into them, excusing himself from his news conference at that point on grounds he had to go to Washington's National Airport to greet arriving Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia.

Cafe Manager Shot Critically In Gun Mishap

Harold Campbell, about 30, manager of Zora's Cafe, is in Cowper Hospital in a critical condition as result of a gunshot wound received at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

He was shot at close range with a .410 shotgun and the full charge plowed into his upper right abdomen and lodged in his liver. He was reported to be in "fair" condition on Tuesday but the hospital reported that his condition continues "very critical." He was subjected to extensive surgery and blood transfusion immediately on his arrival at the hospital at 5 p.m.

Sheriff Miller Harris and Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, are investigating the shooting. They said that preliminary report of circumstances indicated the shooting was a hunting accident but that all features of the case will be thoroughly gone into.

Harris said that it appeared from what was found out that Campbell and Elizabeth Louise Kolinski, of Abilene but only recently moved from Big Spring, were hunting jackrabbits. They were about five miles west of Big Spring on the old highway.

They were preparing to return home from their hunting, the officers were told. Mrs. Kolinski was in the car and Campbell standing at the door, handed her the .410 shotgun, but first. He is said to have suggested she check to see if he had put the gun in safety. Mrs. Kolinski was not familiar with firearms and the gun discharged. The full load struck Campbell just under the ribs on the right side of the body.

Mrs. Kolinski managed to get the wounded man in the car and drove with him toward town. At Sahara Inn she stopped and other persons took over. Campbell arrived at the hospital about 5 p.m.

Officers said that Mrs. Kolinski was in a state of shock and could not be questioned extensively last night. She was to make a statement sometime today to the investigators. Campbell's condition precluded any questioning.

Harris said that he and other officers located the scene of the accident and that such evidence as has been found is being used to support the story told of the mishap.

Chalk Area Gets Rains

Death struggles of the Hurricane Alma whipped up cloud banks and some wind in the Big Spring area but failed to bring any additional moisture in town Monday night.

It did stir up a fair to middling dust storm for a short time and succeeded in topping the temperature to autumn-like levels.

Heaviest rains generated by the current unstable weather seem to have been in the Chalk district where Texas Electric Service Co. reported gauges showed three-quarters of an inch for Monday night. Showers dropped 1 1/2 inch rain on Sweetwater and 1 1/2 inch on Snyder. No other TESCO stations reported rain.

Temperature fell from a warm 90 at 6 p.m. to around 80 in a matter of minutes as the storm moved in. The chilliness continued throughout the night and low was 67 for Tuesday morning. It was 68 at 8 a.m. for the coolest morning in many weeks.

The overcast skies and the cooler temperatures were still in force at noon. The Big Spring area, in company with most of northwest Texas and parts of Oklahoma was under a severe weather warning for several hours Monday afternoon.

Adams Admits He Needs 'Prudence'

Top Ike Aide Pleads Ignorance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sherman Adams testified today that if he had had more experience he believed he would have acted a little more prudently in making inquiries on behalf of his friend Bernard Goldfine.

President Eisenhower's top aide — sometimes called the assistant president — pleaded too that he was ignorant of the rules and regulations when told that both the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission violated them in response to his inquiries about Goldfine's affairs.

Adams replied that in retrospect "I think a greater measure of prudence would have obviated some of the questions before your committee. I cannot wholly disagree with some of the implications in your question."

HARSH CRITICISM
There were spots of harsh Democratic criticism.

"I went through the campaign of 1952 under the whirl of a very critical judgment imposed by others on persons in public life," Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) told Adams.

Adams was one of those critical of what the Republicans called the "mess in Washington" when they campaigned to put a "clean-as-a-hound's-tooth" government under Eisenhower.

Adams told reporters he would discuss with presidential press secretary James Hagerty the possibility of holding a news conference later.

Counsel Lishman contended a violation of law stemmed from Adams' 1954 telephone inquiry to the FTC about an investigation of a Goldfine mill for alleged misbranding of the content of a fabric.

Adams swore to a House subcommittee that he never sought any improper favors for Goldfine, a Boston industrialist who made gifts to him and Eisenhower.

He said he makes legions of telephone calls to federal agencies without influencing their conduct.

Two years ago, Adams said, he tightened up on the contacts between the presidential staff and executive agencies to avoid implications in case of instances like this.

Committee counsel Robert Lishman told Adams that one of his inquiries in 1954 resulted in Goldfine's obtaining information in violation of law and regulations of the Federal Trade Commission.

Adams said he had no knowledge of this result and no intention of bringing it about.

Throughout his appearance on the stand, Adams insisted there was never any attempt to bring White House influence to bear on behalf of Goldfine or anyone else and that if any mistakes were made, they were mistakes of judgment or due to inexperience.

Just before he left the stand, Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) asked Adams whether, in view of all that had been brought out, you may have overstepped the bounds of propriety?

As a result of the call, Lishman said, Goldfine learned the name of a complainant and also that the matter might be settled if the mill would agree to change its labels.

Ike Admits Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House acknowledged today that industrialist Bernard Goldfine once gave President Eisenhower a supply of expensive vicuna cloth.

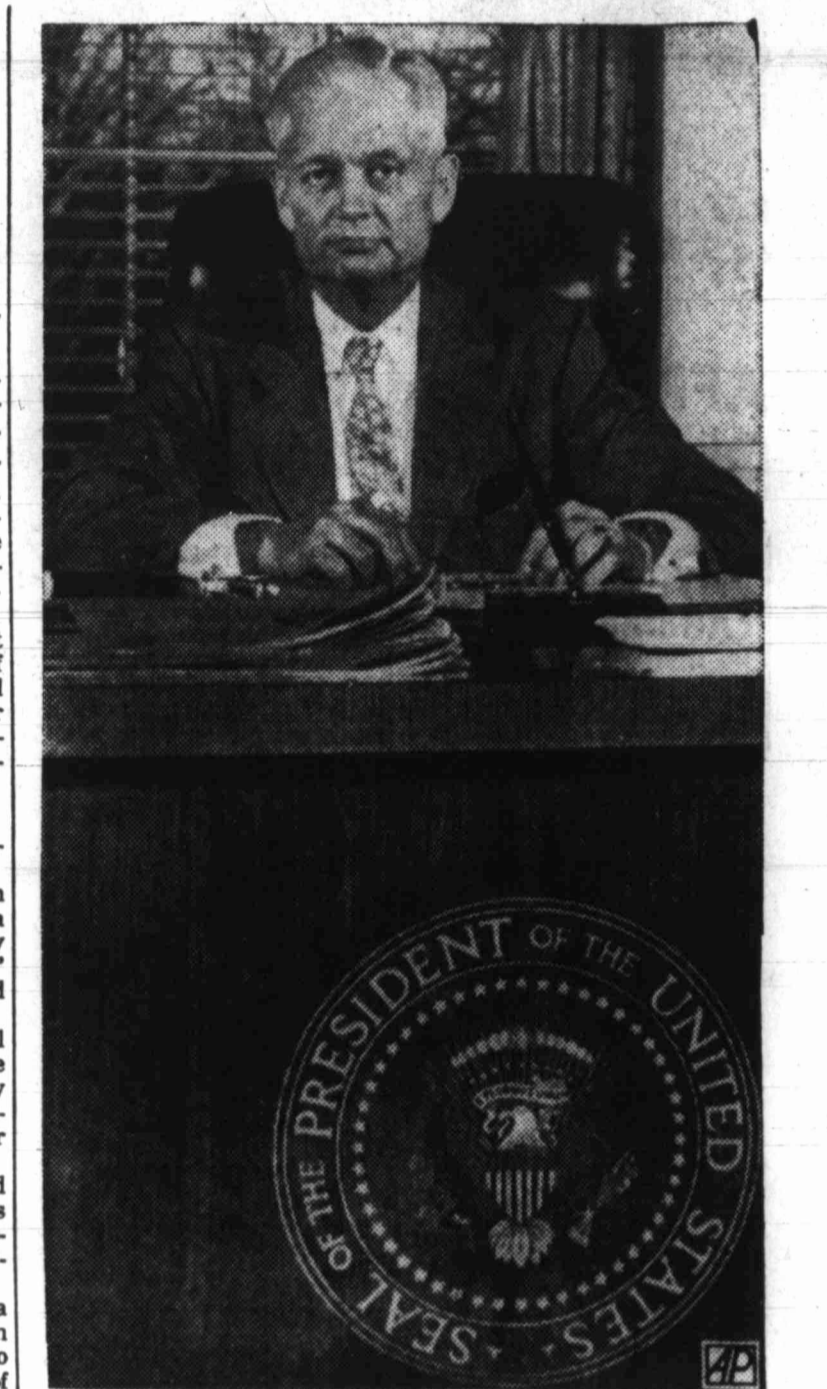

Railroad Commission Hikes Oil Allowance To 9-Day Level

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission boosted the July oil allowable today by 121,745 barrels a day, fixing the statewide permissive flow at 2,604,798 barrels daily.

The commission geared the allowable to a 9-day production pattern. This came after the Texas oil production had been based on a record low 8-day pattern for three months.

All major oil-buying companies recommended an increase. The independents said that they wanted the oil-regulatory commission to hold production to not more than nine days.

Charles Shaver of Houston, representing Humble, the biggest purchaser of Texas oil, suggested an 11-day production plan and said that the company stocks were below the absolute minimum working level. He said the stocks were the lowest they had been in 13 years and that even on 11 days production the company

Storm Center

Presidential aide Sherman Adams, seated at his desk in the White House, is the central figure in the capital's latest political storm. A House subcommittee which brought Adams' name into the case continues its inquiry in an effort to determine whether Adams' friend, Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, received special treatment in his dealings with a government agency.

U.S. Pay Hike To Be $500,000 Here

Fate of a proposed 10 per cent federal pay increase — worth about a half million dollars annually to Big Spring Civil Service workers — is in the hands of President Eisenhower.

The U. S. House of Representatives today passed the bill authorizing the pay raise. The Senate had approved the measure earlier. The president is expected to sign the law.

A survey by The Herald recently disclosed there are some 1,100 Civil Service employees in Big Spring. Their annual payroll is slightly more than $5 million. The 10 per cent increase would amount to $500,000 here.

Across the country, 1,021,000 government workers are scheduled to receive the raise, which will cost an estimated $542 million per year.

A retroactive feature of the bill will be worth some $200,000 to government workers in Big Spring. The pay hike will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1958. Civil Service workers here have drawn more than $2 million in salaries since the first of the year; hence, the 10 per cent retroactive provision of the law means they'll receive the $200,000 in "back pay."

If Eisenhower signs the bill, the raises will be included in next month's paychecks.

Federal agencies operating in Big Spring and the number of workers employed by each are: Webb Air Force Base, 730; VA Hospital, 275; Post Office, 48; Farmers Home Administration, 4; Internal Revenue Service, 3; U. S. Experiment Station, 5; Soil Conservation Service, 9; Civil Aeronautics Administration, 1; Air Procurement Field Office, 2; and Bureau of Employment Security, Department of Labor, about 5.

Hot Box Given Fire Plug Service
A Texas & Pacific train got curb service for a hotbox at Abilene Monday. A crewman and a woman resident of Abilene noticed the flames from the hotbox about the same time, and by checking with engineer, J. C. Cravens of Big Spring, by shortwave radio, the train was halted at a fire plug near the Leggett crossing. The fire was extinguished and the car put on siding.

By reducing the total supply to the point that there will be a demand for equitable production for all.

"I believe the time has now arrived to reexamine this theory however adequately it may have served in the past," Culberson said.

"So long as imported oil and supplies from other states remain relatively unrestricted there is likely to exist a surplus so great as to defy achievement of equity or ratable taking through this concept of market demand proration. A more direct means for dealing with the problem of ratable taking must be found.

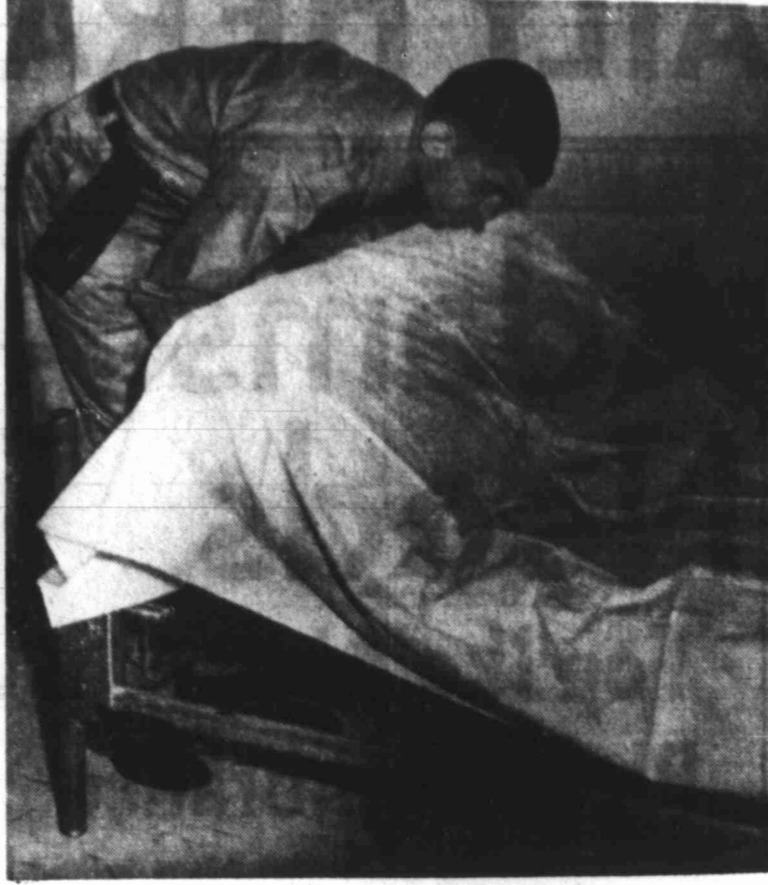

"The only alternative, it seems to me, is to continue the sacrifice of Texas oil markets to other production outside of Texas."

Independents voiced the fear that more than nine days of production might bring a return to pipeline proration. James Lauderdale, of Abilene, said there had been an increase in the amount of trucked oil in the West Central Texas region which may be because of an increase in spot purchases.

Nominations by companies: 9 days, Sun, Atlantic, Phillips, Gulf and Continental; 10 days, Shell, Cities Service, Sinclair and Indiana; 11 days, Magnolia and Humble; 12 days, Texas; 13 days, Standard of Texas.

Four weeks of intensive Air Force training opened Monday at Webb Air Force Base for 134 AFROTC cadets.

The group arrived Sunday from 34 colleges and universities in nearly all sections of the country. Making the longest trip to the encampment was the delegation from Syracuse University, N. Y.

Although this is the first real taste of military life for most of the cadets, a rigid military atmosphere is prevailing.

The cadets, traveling by plane, train and private vehicle, arrived throughout the day Sunday. They were signed in, issued meal cards, assigned to quarters and were issued their travel pay before settling down to drawing supplies and setting up housekeeping.

The trainees will be indoctrinated in all phases of Air Force operations during their training here. Each will receive four flights in the T-33 jet trainers used at Webb, and toward the end of their training the cadets will be flown to Eglin AFB, Fla., to see the Air Force firepower demonstration.

Texas schools are well represented by the class of cadets. There are 31 from Texas A&M, 10 from Baylor University, 11 from Texas Christian, two from Texas University, two from Texas Tech, nine from East Texas State, seven from Southern Methodist, and eight from North Texas State.

2 Men Killed In Midland Blast

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—An explosion blew up a metal welding shed yesterday and killed two men.

State Hospitals Budget Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—Budget requests totaling almost four million dollars more than present appropriations were approved yesterday for tax-supported mentally retarded schools and tuberculosis hospitals.

The Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools approved the budgets submitted by superintendents for the 1960-61 fiscal year. The requests totaled $31,633,112 for the 2-year period, a 14 per cent increase.

Budgets for the state's eight mentally ill hospitals have not been submitted. Dr. Cyril Rullmann, new mental hospital director, said he wants to meet soon with all superintendents to coordinate the program. He also will prepare the budgets.

The board also agreed that its legal staff check an old contract on the 500-acre lease of its land at the Big Spring State Hospital. Member W. G. Kirkin of Odessa said "it's deplorable now. They have the ground plowed all the way to the buildings and there is no park area for the patients."

Auto Liability Insurance To Get Rate Hike

Drivers can probably look for an increase in their public liability insurance rates this summer.

Joe Pond, local insurance agent, said that although new rates set by the State Insurance Commission have not been announced, trade publications indicate that the rates will be up. Amounts of increases or reductions for the various categories are not known, however.

The state is divided into five territories, said Pond, for liability rates, with each territory having a separate rate. These rates are set after the state board investigates all claims. A ratio is established from the premiums collected as against the losses paid.

And according to some sources, 1957 losses were reported to be $116.70 for every $100 of premiums earned.

The new rates will become effective Aug. 1 and information about them should be in the hands of insurance men sometime in July, local agents reported. But until then, they will have no information about the changes.

Local agents said they felt that probably the most drastic changes would be on the under-25 category. State liability rates are divided into classes, for drivers above and below 25 years of age. And since the large number of accidents involve drivers who are under 25, the rates for these drivers are more expensive.

Soap Box Inspections Set Last Two Days This Week

Boys entering the Soap Box Derby by this year have only a few more days to get their racers ready for a preliminary inspection.

First on-over by the judges—who'll help in seeing that all construction and safety requirements are met—will be held for the Colorado City Derby participants on Friday of this week. C-City boys are instructed to bring their coasters to the Caddill Transport Co., where members of a Lions Club committee of that city will give vehicles the once-over. Boys will have an opportunity to correct any defects before final inspection the following week.

Saturday is preliminary inspection day for the host of Big Spring competitors. They are to have their racers at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. that morning.

The local Derby, to be run under lights this year, with race time at 8 p.m., will be staged on Thursday, June 26, on the Lancaster Street track. A record crowd is expected to see the event, sponsored by The Herald, Tidwell Chevrolet and the Downtown Lions Club; and some boys will emerge with a winner's trophy and an all-expense paid trip to Akron, Ohio, and a chance in the All-American Soap Box Derby in August.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Did Uncle Sam Hang Extra 'S' On Series Of $20 Bills?

Dear Sir:

Believing that the following will be of interest to the readers of your column, I am commenting on an article captioned, "The Unique 'Missing S' Note, by Charles Deibel, which appeared in the March issue of the Numismatic Scrapbook, international coin collectors' journal. Mr. Deibel asks, "Can you imagine a more improbable place to find a misspelled word than on a piece of U. S. currency?" He states that "one such error did happen, and a single note has survived to bear witness to the fact." Attention is directed to a note of the fourth issue of silver certificates, Series of 1899, serial No. H3301878, obverse plate No. B2985, reverse plate No. 1586, wherein the ending letter "s" is missing in the states — such note proclaiming Charles H. Treat to be "treasurer of the United State."

Whether an acknowledged plate error or a mechanical one, we were especially interested in the thing in that it concerned the letter "s". We know that another such error did happen—another misspelled word did appear on at least one other piece of U. S. Government currency. Strikingly enough, the letter "s" was also involved—being added instead of being omitted in the spelling of the word. The addition accounts for a second error.

We have in our collection a series 1929 Twenty Dollar United States "National Currency" note, serial number B000294A, bearing the signatures of R. T. Piner, Cashier and L. S. McDowell, President. There appears on the obverse left end of same the following: "The First National Bank of Big Springs, Texas will pay to the bearer on demand twenty dollars." Now our far west Texas town is simply known as Big Spring. It is the county seat of Howard, created from Bexar and Young Territories in 1875 and organized in 1882. Its early settlers located about and built up a thriving community at the site of a large spring. From this source of water supply it received its name, Big Spring it is.

This must be acknowledged as a plate error. Surely this "s" was dropped after the first printing and/or if a second followed. In such case, it could be described as being unique and stands high up in the field of rarity.

Very sincerely,
Kalvart K. Tidwell
Box 1144
Waco, Texas
(Mr. Tidwell is probably correct in his surmise of an error on the $20 bill, although Big Spring was originally named Big Springs. The change in name, however, took place unobtrusively around 1916 for no reason that has ever been clearly defined. Some authorities say the T&P carried the town name one way, Uncle Sam's post office another. Minutes of the city commission meetings shed no light on the change. One meeting the minutes were listed as Big Springs; the next and succeeding ones as Big Spring. But the 1929 date on the bill would indicate that there was a plate error. — Ed.)

Increase Seen In Oklahoma's Flow

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Although he won't say how much, Ray Jones, Corporation Commission chairman, is predicting a possible increase in Oklahoma's oil allowable in July.

The commission meets Thursday to consider the allowable. June's allowable is 540,000 barrels per day with pipeline production the first week of the month averaging 537,000 barrels.

Jones said he wouldn't know for sure until he sees purchaser nominations but added:

"It looks a lot better, I would say it looks favorable."

Production in Oklahoma has been climbing slowly since the allowable dropped to a low of 508,000 barrels per day in February.

Around The Rim Prisoner Paints His Monument

After you pass through the first doorway into the reception room of the state penitentiary, you move down a narrow hallway. A steel-barred door blocks your way. As you near it, it begins slowly to swing aside, when you have passed through it, it closes noiselessly behind you.

was completed he was locked in one of its cells; he worked in one of the shops he had helped to build.

This latter door admits you into a huge circular room with a towering domed ceiling. It is skylighted and the white-washed walls give off a brilliant glare.

The years passed. The convict became old and was finally made a trusty. He was given a little room in the trusty building outside, provided with paint, brushes and canvases and from then on he did not nothing but paint.

Elsewhere in that big prison are scores of other pictures of the same type. They hang by the dozen in the big mess hall. You find them on the walls of the prison library. None is signed.

He was pardoned and one day was checked out of the prison. He wandered down the long sidewalk; leading from the gray walls of the prison and out into the tree shaded street which runs past the warden's mansion.

They are all the work of a single self-taught artist.

He disappeared from sight. Several months passed. Then one morning the guard at the main entrance was surprised to see the old man standing outside.

The prison was built in 1908. Prior to that year, felons were confined in federal jails. When the state began its construction of its own penitentiary, one of the convicts transferred from the federal prison was a stocky, taciturn fellow serving a life sentence for murder.

He had tried to find some of his acquaintances; they were all gone. He had no kinsmen in this country. He was too old to work at any job. He had been kept alive by Salvation Army and public welfare agencies. Now he was back. He wanted to return to his tiny room in the trusty building.

Legend had it that he had been a butcher in a small town and that he had slain his wife and ground her body to bits in his sausage machine. Many such legends exist. It is only certain that he had been found guilty of murder in the death of his wife; thus he had drawn a sentence to hang but had somehow escaped the gallows and started a life sentence a number of years earlier.

Several years later, there was a morning when he did not show up for breakfast. A guard found him dead on his bunk. On the rough easel which has served so long as a partially finished picture.

He spoke with a broken accent and was originally from Germany.

And his only monument are the scores of pictures hanging from the walls of the prison.

He helped mix the mortar and lay the bricks to build the new prison. When it

A Middle-Aged Woman Is Grateful

It was Lord Chesterfield, in writing to his son, I believe, who coined those superb words of enduring wisdom—later echoed by that wisest of Americans, Benjamin Franklin: "Be kind to the middle-aged woman, for she is so grateful."

who wants my autograph, another wants my blood. But Arthur is the only one who ever wanted to date. He is ensnared forever in my personal Hall of Fame.

So my cup runneth over with gratitude today to a real dreamboat, a veritable paragon of manhood, who has made me as gay as a lark, as high as a flag on the Fourth of July.

But who cares? Not me! Did some particular column make him think that I would be a doll on a date? Did my picture in the column intrigue him? And let me tell you, Arthur, editors eternally choose the least flattering picture available of any columnist! All my friends say the pictures don't do me justice—although I'm never certain that's the kind of justice I crave.

This dear man has written me a note that reads "If you ever need a date, phone." And there follows a New York telephone number, and signed, with the simplicity of kings, "Arthur."

Of course, I shall never call Arthur, and for a very simple reason. My husband will break my arm if I do. He says—and I do not think he is being fair to Arthur or taking a calm judicial view—that Arthur is probably a nut, or a mugger or a sex fiend or worse, whatever that could be.

Who is Arthur, what is he, that I thus commend him? Why Arthur is a shot in the arm, a vote of confidence, a plume to the middle-aged ego that makes him, as far as I am concerned, the Man of the Year. Any year. He is balm in Gilead to a woman who fears that the truck driver who now leans out the window of his cab and whistles when she passes by is merely practicing.

At best, he says Arthur is a jerk who can't get a girl his own age. (I like that!) My spouse further adds that Arthur is a true square who can't get a girl to go out with him once, much less go steady. The head of Clan Robb goes on to say that Arthur should be a monumental social blight if he has to write to a married woman he has never even met to con a date.

Adams is no schmo when it comes to influence in Washington.

Well, that is just one man's opinion, and a husband's at that. And I don't think it's very flattering for him to think that Arthur is asking me for a date only because he is desperate.

Adams is no schmo when it comes to influence in Washington.

So dear, darling Arthur, whoever you are, wherever you are—even though I never call you—I love you. My tired blood is too tired to race. But I just caught it dancing.

The Gallup Poll

Nixon's Stock Takes A Rise

PRINCETON, J. J. — Vice President Richard Nixon's political stock has risen sharply since his return from South America and the fury of the mobs in Caracas and Lima.

of Republican voters for their party's Stevenson Nixon

As things stand today, the Vice President runs ahead of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee in 1952 and 1956, in an Institute "trial heat" race.

Both Nixon and Stevenson command the support of overwhelming majorities among the rank-and-file members of their own parties—88 per cent of Republicans would prefer Nixon, 80 per cent of Democrats would prefer Stevenson.

This is the first time—in trial heats between the two men over the last three years—that Mr. Nixon has come out ahead of the former Illinois Governor.

Politically important is the fact that the Vice President today has the support of a clear majority of Independent voters—a bloc whose vote can swing any national election. The vote:

Previous to the present survey, studies showed Mr. Stevenson, the first choice of rank-and-file Democrats for their 1960 nomination, ahead of Mr. Nixon.

Per Cent Stevenson Nixon

But apparently the Vice President's performance in the face of mob violence on his South American tour has caused many voters to swing to Mr. Nixon.

Per Cent Stevenson Nixon

Voters from coast to coast were asked this question: "Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If Vice President Nixon were the Republican candidate and Adlai Stevenson were the Democratic candidate, which would you like to see win?"

Per Cent Stevenson Nixon

The effect of the riots in Caracas and Lima can be seen in the following trend table—giving the Nixon-Stevenson vote since the first of the year and excluding undecided voters:

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

It just doesn't seem possible to those of us who are acclimated to the dry winds of West Texas that the past few humid days could have seemed cool to anybody. There are some visitors among us from Arkadelphia, Ark. who, believe it or not, think the weather has been very pleasant. They are MR. AND MRS. RALPH TOLER who with their children, Susan and Steven, are guests in the home of DR. AND MRS. GLEN ALLEN and their daughters. Very likely the visitors are cold as this column is being written!

This is the first trip to this part of Texas for the Tolers who were college classmates of the Allens. The family will visit relatives in San Antonio, Houston and Tyler before going back to Arkansas.

MR. AND MRS. JACK TAYLOR and their daughters, Lisa and Leslie, have returned from a family reunion. They attended a family reunion.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD CANNING and Barry are vacationing with her relatives at their farm home near Durham, N. C.

MR. AND MRS. C. L. FOSTER, Joy and Larry, spent the weekend in Garland with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brackeen. They took time out from catching up on their visit to go to the Fair Park exhibits and get to see Sir Winston Churchill's paintings before the exhibit closed. They also enjoyed seeing the Hall of State, the aquarium and the Museum of Natural History, all of which they have passed many times but have never before had time to stop and make a tour. The Big Spring family returned here Sunday evening.

There's a big thrill to driving in the mountains and making the dangerous curves, but to MRS. J. O. HAYNIE, the biggest thrill was arriving at her destination when she and son, Hal went to Grand Junction, Colo., recently. Accustomed to doing her own driving, she decided to take the trip by bus. The bus driver was capable and confident, but the roads were high and winding and Mrs. Haynie feels she got her money's worth of thrills on the road from Durango to Ouray. In Grand Junction, she and Hal were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bingham.

The Big Spring Rodeo had a strong attraction for a young lady from Fort Worth. She turned down a trip to Europe to come to Big Spring during the celebration. She is DIANA DICKEY, a friend of JOY AND JUDY JARVIS, who are here with their mother, Mrs. Reg Jarvis. They are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Patterson. They are also spending part of the time with Mrs. Jarvis's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Patterson, and another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson.

There's no doubt that Joy has given Diana a pretty good build-up on the rodeo. She has been riding in the opening day parade for 10 of her 13 years.

MR. AND MRS. NAT SHICK spent Sunday in Midland with their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Dawson.

MRS. R. C. HALE, mother of Mrs. Ross Boykin, of Carrollton, and a niece, Brenda Sue Hale of Irving, are here to spend several weeks in the Boykin home.

Back home in Luther are MR. AND MRS. W. A. ANDERSON. They took their daughter, MRS. ROY EASTLAND and family, to Amarillo, where she lives, and then spent three days in Canyon at a family reunion. On the same trip, they visited in Lubbock with another daughter, MR. AND MRS. NORVIN S. SMITH JR.

Mary Willis Circle Meets At Odoms' Five members of the Mary Willis Circle, First Baptist Church, assembled at the home of Mrs. Roy Odum, Monday morning.

The hostess brought the study from Mrs. A. L. Aulick's book "God's World Plan." Key verse for the inspirational message was "Thou hast answered me."

Following the study, refreshments were served. Mrs. J. E. Hardesty will be hostess to the group at 9:30 a.m. July 21, at her home, 307 West Fourth.

Discusses Make-Up

Jeanne Carmen chats of make-up and the care and expense of bleaching hair with Lydia Lane in today's Hollywood Beauty. Jeanne has the lead in "Up Periscope" for Warner Bros. release.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Think Twice Before Lightening Your Hair

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Jeanne Carmen broke into show business while touring with a trick golf-shot act. This girl had such terrific control with a club that she could drive a golf ball using the lips of a man as a tee.

"This required tremendous concentration, but then anything you want to do takes effort—especially acting," she told me as we sipped lemonade on a hot afternoon on the "Up Periscope" set at Warner Bros.

She talked of her life in Hollywood and showered praise on the studio make-up men.

"They do things so cleverly, that when they were finished with me I wasn't conscious of wearing makeup. They taught me to blend two shades of powder around my cheekbones, giving my face a more oval look. I put this on my face a long time so that it blends in with the rest of my complexion. Then I dust off the excess with fresh cotton."

"Do you find you get any more attention from men as a blonde?" I asked Jeanne, who has a beautiful figure and lots of sex appeal.

"I never have had any trouble about dates," Jeanne confessed. "I enjoy the company of men and they know it."

CALL BACK COYOTES?

Farmers Need War On Rabbit Hordes

Cotton farmers of the county are beginning to wonder if the intensified campaign of past years to eliminate the coyote from West Texas scene may not have been an error.

The coyote traditionally subsisted on jackrabbits and as long as the little wolves were tolerably abundant the jackrabbit population was kept down.

There are stories current, too, that cottontail rabbits are also unusually numerous.

SIoux FALLS, S. D.—Everything up here is named after the Sioux Indians or the river. Sioux City spills over into three states. The main part is in Iowa, but there is a South Sioux in Nebraska and a north one in South Dakota. The first two are split by the wide Missouri.

The Missouri is quite a stream and is over a quarter mile wide. It's deep enough for some shipping on barges. The day I crossed over, a barge load of 500 tons of wheat came downstream, and a load of steel was sent the other way.

I didn't care much for Sioux City. It's an old town with old buildings, rough streets and very few new houses. They must be proud of their name, though. I saw at least a dozen business names such as Soo Drug, Soo Mills, etc.

A few years ago a red-headed gal named Sioux City Sue got on the hit parade, but I didn't see anyone who faintly resembled her. The town is in the center of a great farming area and is filled with elevators, flour mills and implement houses.

The best farming country I've seen this time is just across the river on the Nebraska side. I drove around with a man named Beermann, who is half Russian and half English. He and his brothers own 800 acres of level black land that would sell for several hundred dollars an acre.

Despite the long years this area has been in cultivation, the land is just as fertile as ever. Beermann said his grandfather settled this place in 1864. His son took town that must rely on farming for its income reaches a peak then starts downhill.

Somehow I like South Dakota, or at least its southeastern part of the state. Sioux Falls is a busy place, about one-third bigger than Big Spring and has a lot of small factories. One I noticed right across from where I'm staying manufactures fire crackers.

This is corn country and lies within the western boundary of the great corn belt. The town is filled with seed companies, and each one seems to be pushing some kind of hybrid corn. I asked one man what the yield was and he said from 70 to 80 bushels on the good farms. Some of the farmers store it in the fields in a round wire bin. The bottom is of concrete and the top of sheet metal but the sides are exposed to the weather.

In the farm stores I see all kinds of equipment strange to me. They have seed testers, cleaners and new-fangled corn shellers.

Weeds are a big problem in the prairie states. The soil is deep and black, and sticky as molasses when the spring rains start. Sometimes for weeks at a time a farmer can't get into the field. If the crop has already been planted, the weeds get higher than the corn. To save hoeing, farmers spray the fields with a chemical weed killer. Some stores sell hundreds of gallons during the spring and early summer.

The climate isn't so bad up here, the natives say. I never heard anyone in Kansas and Nebraska brag on the weather, but these South Dakota people say the summers are pleasant and the winters not too cold.

"We didn't have any winter this last time," a service station man told me. "It got down to 15 below only twice last winter, and most of the time stayed about zero."

such tales, but a young man who had been in Texas during World War II said he got a lot colder at Camp Hood than he ever had been in South Dakota. But to my way of thinking, a 15-below blizzard wouldn't be any time to take a stroll.

The first frost comes sometime after September 15th and by May 15, farmers are planting corn. I had heard of hot summers up here, but it's been just the opposite. It's now 54 degrees at 7 p.m. and is supposed to get down to 44 or 45 before morning. In fact for the last two nights I've had to sleep under a blanket.

QUICK IMPRESSIONS OF THIS AREA:

Farmers still dress like farmers. Not only do they still wear overalls, but two-thirds of them will have on a cap. I haven't seen a pair of cowboy boots or a 10-gallon hat since leaving home.

This is a great bicycle country, despite the cold. A bicycle owner said there were a lot more bikes here than down south. Maybe it's because it's safer to ride one up here, and also because the parents are too poor to buy the kids a motorcycle or hot rod.

Lots of water but mosquitoes are not bad. They have a fish here never seen in southern waters. It's called a Northern Pike and is found in most of the lakes. Some kid in town won a prize a few days ago by catching one that weighed 15 pounds.

Days must be nearly an hour longer here in South Dakota. Daylight comes around before 5 o'clock, and full darkness doesn't settle till around 9 p.m. People talk with a crisp accent than in Kansas and Nebraska. Also a lot of Germans, Swedes and other northern European descendants. Once in awhile I see a Chinaman, and there are lots of Indians. I don't know what tribe they are. They may belong to the Whisky Tribe, for they are usually seen around the bars.

Orientation Classes For Hospital Volunteers Set

The State Hospital will hold a one-day session of orientation classes for all persons interested in volunteer work, or familiarization of the duties of volunteer workers at the hospital, on Tuesday, June 24.

Students of the one-day school will be guests for lunch at the hospital, listen to addresses by hospital personnel and tour the halls and wards to observe demonstrations of work.

Registration for the classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. and at 8:45 prospective volunteers will be welcomed by Dr. Preston Harrison, who will explain the organization and function of the hospital. Following, L. K. Miller will discuss business administration, and during a mid-morning coffee break, visitors will view a film and discussion with Chaplain Marvin A. Berkeland.

Shortly before noon will come classes on psychology of mentally ill, from Charles Rich; commitment procedures, from Dr. W. V. Horbaly; patient care, from Dr. Frankie Williams; and the alcoholics program, from Shelby Parnell.

The students will be guests for lunch at 11:30, and at 1 p.m. the first afternoon class will begin. Dr. Harrison will explain the philosophy of patient and volunteer relationship and also cite the symptoms and types of mental illness during that class.

Mrs. Lavera L. Shepard will discuss attitudes and their problems; Mrs. Keith C. Wright will display the role of the social worker; and then Dr. Harrison will guide the volunteers through a tour of the hospital for a demonstration of various cases. Mrs. Ira Thurman will relate duties and rewards of the volunteer worker, and the panel will answer questions from the audience in closing at 3:50 p.m.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Comparing Scores

RYFF GETS RING NOD OVER TOMMY TIBBS

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Now you know why I have so many losses on my record," Tommy Tibbs said shortly after his 46th defeat last night. The squat Bostonian who has won 43, dropped a narrow but unanimous 10-round decision to Frankie Ryff of New York in a television fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

All ten regular boxing writers at ringside had the 5-foot, 4-inch underdog the winner. The AP card had Tibbs in front, 7-3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: Manager COOKIE LAVAGETTO, recalling that he once roomed with Baltimore's problem pitcher, Billy Loes: "Billy really knew his baseball, but after rooming with him for a season I was neurotic and he was cured."

GEORGE LEONARD, Nashville scribe: "Apparently the 1958 attendance figure will be one of the Southern Association's lowest. The league will probably weather the season, despite the suffering gate. But next year, will there be a Southern? Radical changes in organization, policy and makeup may be necessary for it to survive."

EARLY WYNN, Chicago White Sox pitcher: "To me, baseball is strictly a business. I figure it means $1,000 to me every time I go out to the mound. It's purely a business deal, just as it would be for a banker or anyone else in private enterprise. If I do well, I've helped myself financially. If I don't, I've cost myself a chance to make money."

BILL RIGNEY, manager of the San Francisco Giants: "We let fellows like Bobby Thomson and Don Mueller go, and don't forget these were regulars a year ago. Why shouldn't these kids, who have talent, also have confidence when they see they have displaced players with reputations like that?"

JOHN P. CARMICHAEL, Chicago writer: "Do we ban the 500-mile race because Pat O'Connor was killed? Not, apparently, when auto racing of all varieties, even over winding roads and through sentinel trees, is at its peak in America. Not, presumably, when so many men want to drive at Indianapolis each May 30 that the field has to be standardized as of only the fastest 33. And there are more motorists killed on the nation's highways, doing 65 miles an hour, each day than in all Indianapolis history."

LEFTY O'DOUL, former major league batting champion: "Hitting on an average is the easiest way to make money in the majors. All a player has to do is hit 35 times in 100 times at bat for a .350 average—and his salary is double, maybe triple. But a batter must never give the plate to the pitchers. Know something? If Mickey Mantle stood closer, he'd be over .400 every season."

ROGERS HORNSBY, another ex-batting champion: "The Lord gives each boy a certain amount of hitting ability. No coach can give the boy more ability. But the coach can develop the ability a boy has."

JOE KUHLE, former big league manager: "I'm really living since I quit baseball. I don't have to fret over every ball game and I have time to look around and see what's happening to the rest of the world. One time when I was managing I came home after a night game. After a while my wife called from upstairs, 'Joe, get to sleep and stop worrying.' 'I'm just reading,' I told her. 'In that case,' she said, 'you'd better turn on the lights.'"

TED WILLIAMS, the Boston slugger, in an address before inmates at Walpole State Prison in Mass.: "All of us make mistakes; that's why we have the errors column in the box score."

HERB ELLIOTT, Australian racer: "I feel, from some of the miles I've run, that the world record for the mile should be about 3:50."

BING CROSBY, the singer: "My personal nomination for the greatest thrill of them all is to fish a good trout stream—a stream with plenty of room to throw a fly."

Rookie Impresses In First Game For Chicago Bruins

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Ellsworth is a gangling 18-year-old pitcher who graduated from Fresno, Calif., high school last Wednesday. But as far as the Chicago Cubs are concerned, he's a big leaguer. Ellsworth showed it Monday night when he hurled a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox in an exhibition game in Comiskey Park, home grounds of the Sox. The left-hander, who admitted he was "scared before the game started," limited the Sox to four singles, walked five and struck out two in the intercity game which attracted 21,804. Twice he worked his way out of

Blumh, Starnes Beat Mooring In PL Playoff

Youthful Bobby Blumh and Jack Starnes, who assists W. O. (Junior) Maxwell in the management of the Webb AFB golf course, won the right to play in the July 7-12 National Public Links golf tournament in sectional play held at the Many course here Monday.

The two had to go two extra holes to beat out Ben Mooring for the honor.

The three turned in identical scores of 148 for the 36 holes and started their playoff at once. All took par fours on the 37th. On the second extra hole, Blumh and Starnes had 4's while Mooring had to settle for a 5.

Blumh started out like a house afire, driving the No. 1 green and canning the putt for a two.

He wound up with a three-under par 70 the first time around the course but ran into trouble immediately after lunch. He skied to a six on the 24th and had to settle for a 42 for the nine.

Needing a three to tie the Mooring and Starnes on the 36th, however, Blumh responded with just such a score to force the others into a playoff. He wound up with a 36 for his fourth nine and a 78 for the round.

Starnes trailed Blumh two strokes (72 to 70) after the first 18 holes of play but reduced that deficit to a single stroke after 27 holes of play. He then finished the last nine in 35 strokes.

Mooring played steady golf all day, touting the first 18 in 74 strokes and duplicating that score in his afternoon round.

The front nine was soggy most of the morning, following overnight rains, but the back side was dry as the proverbial bone.

Charley Johnson, the New Mexico A&M linkster, finished closest to the top three with a 36-hole score of 153. Johnson had rounds of 74-79.

Hugh Hamm, a local coach, toured the morning 18 holes in 74 strokes but soared to an 84 in the afternoon for an aggregate score of 158. R. S. McCullah beat him out for fifth place with a score of 80-78-156.

Cards Gain Ground By Tipping Cincy

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals are still doing it the hard way in their scrap for the National League pennant. They've won 12 of their last 19 games and six victories have come in extra innings.

They moved back to .500 and a fourth-place tie by beating Cincinnati 6-5 in 11 innings last night, scoring a pair in the ninth to force the overtime. It was the only game scheduled in the majors yesterday, and left the Cardinals tied with Pittsburgh, half a game behind the Redlegs.

'THESE THINGS HAPPEN' Newk Says Pain In Arm Is Gone

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big league baseball is a bitterness business, and Don Newcombe was trying mightily today to digest a big bite off the bitter end with grace and good humor.

"I wasn't doing the club any good at all and they had to try to help themselves," the big fellow with the elaborate and graceful windup observed just before taking off for Cincinnati.

That's where he'll be tonight. And for the first time in his long and sometimes brilliant career he'll put on a uniform that the Dodgers didn't pay for.

"It's just one of those things that happen in baseball," Big Newk said of the Sunday night trade that sends him from Los Angeles to Cincinnati in exchange for Steve Bilko, Johnny Klippstein and Charlie Rabe.

But I'm going to pitch baseball for Cincinnati. I don't think they expect miracles. They must have some confidence in me because they gave up a lot of people to get me."

Newcombe was voted the National League's most valuable player in 1956 after a magnificent 27-7 season.

It was in 1946 that Newcombe broke into organized ball at Nashua, N. H., with another great Negro player, Roy Campaella.

Don was asked whether the loss of Campy — paralyzed this spring in an auto accident — might have contributed to his 0-6 record this year.

"Campy had nothing to do with it," Don said. "I miss Campanella more than anybody because I roomed with him for many years. But the trouble was my shoulder. I pulled a muscle in it at San Francisco at the start of the season. I never did completely recover, but the pain is gone now."

Troy Wetsel Pitches 2nd No-Hit Game In A Row

MIDLAND (SC) — The Cosden Oilers got another professional job of pitching from Troy Wetsel and coasted to an 11-0 softball victory over A&J Electric Co. of Midland here Monday night.

Wetsel pitched his second straight no-hit game and his fourth successive shutout in vanquishing the Electricians.

His mates made it easy for him, ganging up on two Midland hurlers for nine assorted blows. They salted away the verdict as early as the first inning, at which time they banded six runs.

Only one batter reached first on Wetsel. He hit Robbins, the Electricians' left fielder, with a pitched ball in the third.

Troy fanned eight batters in the five inning game and permitted only two balls to be hit out of the infield.

Ted Gross, Billy Paul Thomas and Pete Cook each banded out two hits for the Cosden team. Both of Cosden's blows went to three bases.

In his last previous start, Wetsel had set Gulf Oil of Midland down without a hit and had shut out Nabors Paint Store and City Trading and Pawn Co. of Midland in games prior to that.

Whitely has won six straight since an April 30 defeat by Detroit. The Tigers, just a half-game behind fourth place Cleveland after jumping out of the cellar by winning six of seven under new manager Bill Norman, open their home stand against the slumping Washington Senators. Paul Foytack (5-6) is the Tiger choice against Pete Ramos (4-4).

Efforts Renew To Bring End To Ship Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators renew efforts today to settle a two-day old strike of 1,700 Marine engineers.

The strike eventually could halt 448 passenger and dry cargo ships operating out of East and Gulf Coast ports.

Four hours of almost continuous negotiations between the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the shipowners ended in failure at midnight.

So far, the strike has had a relatively small effect. Twenty-eight dry cargo ships have been immobilized in the Port of New York.

A strike of 10,000 oil-tanker seamen was settled late yesterday. More than 125 ships — 84 of them oil tankers — were caught in ports from New York to Mobile, Ala., early in the strike, which began at midnight Sunday.

Crews were instructed to sail after the tanker agreement was announced.

Two other strike-threatening disputes, one involving National Maritime Union seamen employed on the 448 passenger and dry cargo ships and the other involving radio operators on 280 of the same vessels, were settled without strikes.

Allies Survey Wreckage Of Attempts At Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France surveyed the wreckage today of their efforts to set up a summit conference through secret diplomacy.

Moscow blew them out of the water by making public a letter from Soviet Premier Khrushchev denouncing their attempt as needless foot-dragging.

The State Department blasted back by publishing the West's major presummit proposals, hitherto kept secret.

When the smoke cleared, things were right back where they were two months ago, before the Soviet Union agreed to try it the West's way. The Soviet Union was demanding a heads of government meeting. The West was insisting on adequate preparations on lower levels first.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko started things off in Moscow. He called in Ambassadors Llewellyn Thompson of the United States, Sir Patrick Reilly of Britain and Maurice Dejean of France. He told them he was making public Premier Khrushchev's June 11 letter to their government chiefs as well as other top-secret material they had been discussing in Moscow.

The Soviet ambassadors in Washington, Paris and London were called home, meanwhile, for consultation.

In Washington, the State Department rushed out with its side of the story—three documents totaling about 2,000 words which set forth the West's position during the Moscow meetings.

The Khrushchev letter decried the diplomatic talks in Moscow. The Premier wrote: "In some of these meetings we have only marked time, and in some cases we have even moved backwards."

"It is high time that both sides act with full sincerity to clear up their positions on the main question—Do both sides really want a summit conference?"

There were no surprises immediately apparent in the documents made public by both sides. They showed no progress on the key task of the diplomatic talks, which was to arrange when, where and how a summit conference could be held.

Soviet demands were what they have been: halt nuclear tests, ban the bomb, create a central European zone free of A-bombs and rockets, prohibit military uses of outer space, sign an East-West nonaggression pact, close U. S. overseas bases, sign a German peace treaty, guard against any surprise attacks, extend trade, ease Middle East tensions, everybody coexist peacefully.

Former Jury Chief Slated At Judge's Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—After hearing a forgetful Texan and a Chattanooga gambler who remembered everything, senators trying Judge Raulston Schoolfield turned today to a former grand jury foreman.

The forgetful Texan, W. V. Argo of Victoria, once was a Tennessee Highway patrolman. He testified yesterday he swore to a false statement — regarding a $1,000 transaction with Schoolfield — to an investigator for the U. S. Senate Rackets Committee. The state senators indicate they plan to look into that further.

The retired gambler with the good memory is Joe Frank of Chattanooga, who admitted he never did an honest day's work in his life. He told the senators he delivered $1,000 to Schoolfield to try to free a dozen gamblers with cases pending before the judge, and passed along to him another $2,500 to help defeat a state anti-gambling bill.

As the impeachment trial moved into its sixth day, prosecutors were expected to call Milton Stone, former foreman of the Hamilton County grand jury who was appointed by Schoolfield.

The State Senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, is trying the Chattanooga Criminal Court judge on 24 impeachment counts returned by the House last month. The charges range from bribery to interfering with grand juries.

Argo, who now operates a salvage yard in Texas, said the statement presented him by U. S. Senate investigator Lavern Duffey was signed under a flashlight and he still hasn't read it. In that statement, he said he co-signed a note with Schoolfield and Chattanooga gambler Leonard Lane, an earlier witness, in a Chattanooga service station.

This, he said yesterday, was not true. Instead, he said, it was signed in the judge's chambers during a brief recess in court.

Nuclear Reaction Hits Oak Ridge

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—A nuclear reaction—set off accidentally by an atomic plant worker—released some deadly atomic radiation yesterday, but there was no nuclear explosion.

The Atomic Energy Commission said eight employees, whose badges showed some exposure to radiation, were held in the plant dispensary for observation.

The commission said in a statement that the incident apparently occurred "when an employe emptied a small container of enriched uranium into a larger drum. The change in the geometry of the container apparently created a critical mass and a nuclear reaction occurred. There was no nuclear explosion." An investigation is under way.

DEAR ABBY LIKELY FISH STORY!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband just loves to fish but I am the one who has to clean them. Whenever we go on a vacation my husband drops me off at the fish house with a mess of fresh-caught fish to clean. I am the only woman in the fish house cleaning fish with a bunch of men and I feel like a darned fool. My husband goes off to the cabin and sleeps. What can I do?

SICK OF FISH
DEAR SICK: Next time your husband sends you to the fish house with a mess of fish, return empty handed. Tell him you were so distracted by all the "BIG, STRONG, HANDSOME FISHERMEN" in there cleaning fish that you plunk forgot to bring the fish home.

DEAR ABBY: I would like you to settle an argument for me. My girlfriend says that when you are 25 you are an old maid. I disagree. I think it is 30. Would you please clear this up for me? Thank you.

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: An "old maid" (in my opinion) is simply a woman who is not married—yet. Cupid does business with women of all ages. Where there's LIFE there's HOPE—and vice versa.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my boyfriend stole my diary right out of my desk drawer. He took it home and his mother found it. It was very personal but there wasn't anything in it that I could be put in jail for. He says his mother doesn't think I am fit company for him now and he has to break up with me. Do you think he is just using that as an excuse or should I find out from his mother if she really saw my diary and

Shaver To Get New Execution Date

BELTON (AP) —Dist. Judge James Everts will set a new execution date today for Jimmy Shaver of San Antonio after he is re-sentenced for the 1954 rape-slaying of tiny Chere Horton. Shaver, sentenced to death in the electric chair, has been saved from execution several times by last minute pleas and once by the "confession" of an old cellmate. Both the U. S. Supreme Court and the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, New Orleans, have turned down various pleas by Shaver.
