Commander Explains New Unit

Air Defense Plans At Webb Outlined

Webb AFB is to become an important cog in the air defense machinery of the greater Southwest, Col. John T. Fitzwater told news media and community leaders here today.

Col. Fitzwater, commander of the 33rd Air Defense Division at Oklahoma City, indicated that the assignment of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron here in August would be but the first link in a chain of developments calculated to bolster the air defense of the region.

The 331st, which is being moved here from Stewart AFB in New York starting in August, will assume its responsibilities as quickly as possible, said Col. Fitzwater. This means that the unit will maintain at least 20 F-96's on alert 24 hours a day so that they would be airborne on orders from Oklahoma City within five minutes or less.

SAGE PLANS
How the squadron will rely on radar stations scattered over the Southwest and along the Mexican border was not explained by the commander. He also touched upon plans for the SAGE unit, the multi-million dollar control center, which is due to be erected at Webb. The Air Force has asked authorization for more than $6,700,000 for buildings along in this structure. Information Col. Fitzwater released reflected another $35,000,000 in cost of equipment alone for the highly complex unit.

"I am very pleased to have the 331st assigned to our command," said Col. Fitzwater, "for I understand that it is an exceedingly well-trained group."

"I would like to tell you how happy I am, too, that the squadron will be stationed here. I have heard many good reports of the splendid relations between the community and the base."

ADVANCE UNIT
A small advance party from the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron already is at Webb. Included are Maj. John B. Kouns, materiel officer; Capt. Nicholas A. Ordon, armaments and electronics officer; M. Sgt. Anthony M. Marchikits, line chief; S. Sgt. Donald J. Bettbone, in charge of radar; A.2.C. Robert L. Bolton, flight line radar technician.

Wherever possible the 331st will share facilities with Webb for reasons of efficiency and economy, according to Col. Fitzwater. However, there will be considerable new construction required (last week the Air Force transferred $369,175 for first elements of a construction program which would cost upwards of $16,000,000 and which would include alert hangars, rocket assembly and ammunition storage buildings, grading, runways and aprons, etc.).

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE
If an enemy were to launch an attack on the United States, it is fair to assume that the approach might well be over the Pacific where chances of detection would be remote, Col. Fitzwater explained. This means that the attacker would likely attempt penetration from the south, especially since Mexico has virtually no air defense capabilities.

As the outset the 331st, whose mission would be to intercept and destroy enemy craft, will utilize the F-96's, which are modified for radar perception and control. By the latter part of 1959 it is probable that the squadron will be converted to F-102's.

The F-96-L employs an afterburner which must be utilized in take-off, Col. Fitzwater explained. They will necessarily be noisier than the T-33's, he said, but every effort will be exerted to route them away from the business and residential areas in their landing and take-off patterns. (Many of these craft land frequently at Webb AFB now.)

WARTIME OPERATIONS
As part of the Air Defense Command, the 331st will operate round the clock 365 days a year, the same as other squadrons in the 33rd. For all purposes, the unit will operate on a wartime basis.

The importance of communications and the rapid-fire computation of data were emphasized by Col. Fitzwater. As little time as a minute may make all the difference in seeking out and destroying an enemy plane.

Terminal, Hangars For Airport Urged

A proposal for construction of a terminal building and hangar facilities at the new county airport was submitted to the commissioners court this morning by two representatives of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee.

Jack Gulley, chairman, and Jack Cook said their committee is recommending the terminal, about 20 "T" hangars and one larger hangar for the airport. The facilities can be provided with funds which are available in the airport fund, they said.

A terminal including two airline offices, snackbar, restrooms, a lobby and a manager's office was suggested. Gulley estimated such a facility could be provided for about $40,000.

He said the 20 T-type hangars, for small planes, can be secured for about $2,000 each. A regulation hangar, about 100 by 100 feet in size, probably can be constructed for about $40,000, according to the estimate.

Gulley said the airport fund will have a balance of about $125,000 after runways, aprons and other facilities now under construction are paid for.

"It looks like we'll have the funds to put up all the buildings we've suggested," he said.

The Chamber representatives suggested that the county apply for CAA aid on the terminal building, but recommended that the county proceed with construction plans rather than wait "two or three years" for a CAA decision. The terminal should be constructed in a manner that will accommodate expansion if additional space is needed, they said.

Gulley and Cook said that if plans are started now, the terminal and hangars can be completed by the time the airport goes into operation.

Commissioners promised to study the proposal and start action to determine if CAA aid will be available for the terminal.

Commissioners also were studying bids on lubricant and fuel purchases for the next year. Nine oil firms submitted offers on supplying the county with a variety of products for the next 12 months.

Yarborough Lashes Blakley, Benson, 'Labor Aid' Critics

U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who is doing his campaigning during weekends, Sunday lashed out at Ezra Benson, William A. Blakley and critics who said labor organizations helped finance his 1957 campaign.

Yarborough accused Secretary of Agriculture Benson of attempting to kill the Rural Electrification Administration and putting it into the hands of New York bankers during a speech before 750 farmers and their wives at Seaton.

In discussing subsidies by the national government, Yarborough said:

"The other man was speaking in Panama the other day and stated he was against the subsidies, then a man in the back of the crowd asked him 'Are you against subsidies for the air lines?' Braniff got a million dollar subsidy just the other day, and do you know he hasn't answered that question yet."

The reference was to Blakley, who opposes Yarborough in the July 26 Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate nomination. Blakley, who served briefly in the Senate under an interim appointment by former Gov. Allan Shivers, is chairman of the executive committee of Braniff International Airways.

Yarborough termed a report that powerful labor organizations helped finance his campaign during the special 1957 election "a desperate effort to bolster the failing campaign of the Republican candidate that the big interests have put into the Democratic primary against me."

"THAT OLD DOG"
"One man out in the hound dog country told me at the Mason County Centennial yesterday, speaking of smear attacks on me, 'that old dog won't hurt any more.'"

The report was carried Sunday in the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald, the Austin American-Statesman and the Port Arthur News and was written by Sam Wood from Washington.

Wood wrote that affidavits on file with the clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives showed that Yarborough's campaign, in the special race for the Senate last spring drew $28,143 from labor groups headquartered in Detroit, New York, Cleveland, Washington and Pittsburgh.

The report said that the money did not go to Yarborough directly but was sent to Texas labor leaders and one liberal Democratic group in Harris County (Houston).

Following the Seaton speech, Yarborough flew back to Washington and a Senate session Monday. During the weekend he toured Dallas, Fort Worth, Mason, Llano and Waco.

AT BARBECUE
Blakley planned a busy week-end starting with a barbecue Tuesday night at Longview. His backers in the East Texas area are preparing to feed an expected crowd of 5,000 at the rally which will include a band and fireworks. Thursday he will at-

Billy Graham Brings End To Frisco Crusade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Graham, styling himself "the messenger boy for Christ," went to bat against the Devil yesterday before 38,000 partisan fans at Seals Stadium.

The North Carolina evangelist ended his San Francisco crusade in the midst of an overflow crowd jammed into the 25,900-seat baseball park, home of the National League Giants.

"I knew Willie Mays could fill Seals Stadium," he said from atop a platform at second base, "but I'm glad God can do it too."

"I am only the messenger boy for Christ. Give God the glory for what has been done this day."

Baseball was in the air before the sermon, with the Giants locked in an extra-inning battle with Philadelphia in the Pennsylvania city. San Francisco Mayor George Christopher eased the tension with a brief announcement: "Kirkland hit a home run in the 14th inning and the Giants won."

Turning to Graham, the mayor said, "All of us are so much better off for having had him in our midst," and expressed belief the world should try morality for a change.

"We need moral and spiritual values," Christopher said. "We've tried everything else to find peace."

Graham, who last week concluded his seven-week San Francisco crusade, made a plea against backsliding.

"To those who have made so-called 'decisions for Christ,' he said, "Do not go back to your old ways of living or yield to temptations and old idolatry."

"Some 1,354 stepped forward in 'decisions' yesterday. They were part of a crowd topping by some 12,000 Graham's best attendance in the 16,400 seat Cow Palace, where his regular services were held.

The Baptist preacher, facing an oversized beer glass painted on a stadium signboard, told the crowd, "We should have a new outlook. We have responsibilities to our neighbors and must take a new attitude toward the racial question."

Church workers throughout the area will visit homes in an intensive follow-up to Graham's crusade, which moves on to Sacramento, Calif., next Sunday. A tour of California will follow.

K.C. Residents Watch Tornado
KANSAS CITY (AP)—A tornado cloud twirled its deadly snout above metropolitan Kansas City yesterday in full view of thousands.

Passing from west to east and slightly south, the funnel swooped near the ground in Kansas City, Kan. It lifted and passed above the Union Station, the baseball park and on above the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence. Then it disappeared.

Only damage was in Kansas City, Kan. A garage was sucked off its foundation, a trailer was overturned and some windows were smashed.

Jury Gets Hoffa Case
NEW YORK (AP)—The case of James R. Hoffa, Teamster Union president on trial for the second time for wiretap conspiracy, was placed in the hands of a jury by U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas F. Murphy today.

Hoffa and two others are charged with conspiring in New York to tap telephones in the Detroit Teamster headquarters. The first trial ended in an 11-1 for conviction hung jury last Dec. 20.

On trial with Hoffa are Owen Brennan, president of Detroit Teamster Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, a professional wiretapper. If convicted, they could each be sentenced to as much as five years in prison and fined $10,000 each.

In his summation of the case, Murphy said the jury must concentrate on weighing the evidence presented, plus the testimony of the 17 witnesses called by the government and the 22 summoned by the defense.

Two Juries Go To Work Today
Two juries were put to work in 118th District Court this morning. A new grand jury was impaneled and started investigating the first of some 30 felony cases on its agenda.

A petit jury was chosen to hear a suit for compensation filed by Alvin Baxter against the Houston Fire & Casualty Insurance Co. Members of the grand jury, which probably will be in session for two or three days, are Joe T. Hayden, Mrs. Ralph W. Baker, A. J. Stallings, W. T. Barber, Frank Hardesty, C. L. Roden, R. C. Thomas, Felix Martinez, Olen Fryer, Leonard Coker, Alfred Goodson and W. D. Caldwell.

Attorneys estimated two days will be required to try the compensation suit, only case left on the week's docket after several others were dismissed, settled or postponed.

Flying Grandfather Near Italian Goal
PARIS (AP)—Max Conrad was reported late today only 100 miles from his goal of Palermo, Sicily, after a long radio silence had caused concern for the flying grandfather on his transatlantic hop.

Rome's Ciampino airport said it had a report from Cagliari, Sardinia, that Conrad was well out over the Mediterranean.

Catholic Landlady's Offensive Backfires

FONDI, Italy (AP)—The Catholic landlady who bricked up her Protestant minister tenant said with a sigh today that maybe her offensive had backfired.

But Mrs. Gemma Rasile said she still was not finished with the Rev. Umberto Righetti, an evangelist of the First Church of Christ.

The minister rents two second-floor rooms from Mrs. Rasile and uses them as his residence and church. The landlady, living on the ground floor, objected to his Protestant flock trooping through her quarters. Early last month, armed with court permission, she had bricklayers seal up the only door to the preacher's rooms.

For three days the Rev. Mr. Righetti hauled his groceries up through his window in a bucket and preached to his followers gathered in the street below. Then Mrs. Rasile relented and had the door unbricked. The minister resumed services in his rooms.

Because of the publicity, Mrs. Rasile said, the evangelist now has "quite a few more followers than before."

"However, I believe he has increased his flock with only temporary followers who will leave him when the sensation quiets down," she said, adding ruefully: "I must admit he had my unwilling cooperation in surrounding himself with sensation."

The landlady insisted she had only given the preacher a four-month reprieve.

"He must find a new apartment in that time," she declared.

"Therefore, I will have to tolerate him and his followers only until September. He will have to get out then—or I will have the door closed forever."

Negro Leaders Tell Ike Their People Are Shocked
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Negro leaders today told President Eisenhower that court-ordered suspension of school integration at Little Rock, Ark., has shocked and outraged Negro citizens and millions of their fellow Americans.

At a White House conference with Eisenhower, the Negroes said the court decision handed down last weekend is being construed, rightly or wrongly, as a green light to lawless elements in their defiance of federal authority.

The views of the Negro leaders were set forth in a prepared statement, which was handed to newsmen after their 45-minute meeting with the President.

Among other things, the Negro delegation urged Eisenhower to order the Justice Department to intervene in the Little Rock case as a friend of the court.

Meanwhile, a segregationist group — the Arlington, Va., chapter of the Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberties — said it was asking Eisenhower for equal time to talk with him about the school segregation situation in Arlington County, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

Heavy Rain Hits Panhandle As Floods Threaten S. Texas
By The Associated Press
Heavy rain and some hail fell in the upper Texas Panhandle Monday while parts of South Texas had flood threats from rains Sunday of up to nearly seven inches.

Pampa received 2.25 inches of rain in 80 minutes. Some streets and underpasses were flooded. Lightning knocked out Radio KHHH for a while. Some hail as large as marbles fell.

Borger also had a heavy downpour.

A pilot told the Weather Bureau he spotted a line of thunderstorms all the way from northwest of Dalhart to Gage in western Oklahoma. The storm pushed rapidly toward the southeast.

The Weather Bureau said the torrential downpours resulted from the same cool front which churned up heavy rain in South Texas Sunday.

Orange had 6.52 inches of rain Sunday but no appreciable damage.

At Pampa, a wind storm demolished a storage garage of the Gulf Oil Corp., but no one was reported injured. Some called the wind a small twister.

Heavy rain fell at King's Mill, seven miles southwest of Pampa.

There was an unconfirmed report of a twister there during the downpour estimated at 1.50 inches.

Another unconfirmed report said 3 inches of rain fell at Stamford.

During Sunday night, Amarillo had .04 inches of rain, Perryton .40 and Claude 1.24. Heavy rain also was reported at Spearman, Shamrock and Canadian.

The squall line was moving during the morning southeast from Amarillo. The Weather Bureau said winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour could be expected behind the front.

NINE RESCUED
Nine persons were rescued by firemen and police from flooded streets at San Antonio after a violent storm dumped 4.50 inches on the city.

Driving rains and winds up to 80 miles per hour carved a path wide through croplands near Rungo, 80 miles southeast of San Antonio. Trees were uprooted by the storm, which dumped 3.50 inches of rain in the area.

Another heavy downpour of 5.50 inches fell near Leakey sending the West Prong of the Frio River on a 7-foot rise.

Flash flood warnings were issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau for the rough hill country west and north of San Antonio—an area in which hundreds of persons were marooned last week after torrential rains of up to 20 inches.

Two tornado funnels were spotted in the Houston area late Sunday but apparently did not touch the ground and another, which did no reported damage, was sighted west of Beaumont.

While the mercury rose to 107 at Presidio Sunday, temperatures over most of the state were generally in the 80's, far below usual late June readings. At Amarillo the thermometer did not rise above 78 degrees.

Early Monday showers fell at Amarillo, Lubbock and Childress and considerable thunderstorm activity was reported off the Texas coast. Early morning fog blanketed sectors of East Texas. Predawn temperatures ranged from 61 degrees at Dalhart to 79 at Galveston.

The forecast called for mostly partly cloudy to cloudy weather with continued scattered thundershowers Monday and Tuesday. No major change in temperatures were expected.

Negro Lawyers Plan To Appeal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley today denied a motion to stay his own order of Saturday which suspended integration in Little Rock schools for 2 1/2 years.

The judge said that to grant a stay would keep the racial situation at Central High School intolerable because too much time would be consumed in processing a Negro attorney's appeal of his order.

Wiley Branton, attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he planned to telephone the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis to ask for instructions on how to obtain a stay from that court. He said the appeal of Lemley's integration order itself will be handled routinely. Notice of appeal has been filed here.

"I don't know at this point exactly how this is going to be handled," Branton told a newsman. "I may have to go to the chief circuit judge's home."

The Little Rock School Board opposed Branton's motion for a stay on ground it would be in the interest of the Negro pupils, only, not the public.

Lemley, in a written opinion, which was issued an hour after recess of the hearing, said: "To grant this motion and stay the enforcement of our judgment would to a large extent nullify our order in the cause since it will in all probability take months to carry the case through the Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court."

SCHOOL SITUATION
"And in the meantime, the situation at Central High School, which we have found to be intolerable from an educational standpoint, would continue," he said.

A. F. House of Little Rock appeared for the school board.

Oral arguments took only six minutes.

The courtroom was nearly filled with spectators. Branton was the only Negro attorney present.

A stay by any of the courts, Branton said, would mean that the racial situation at Central High would be just as it was when the 1957-58 school year ended.

In granting the school board's petition for a delay of integration until mid-semester, 1961, Judge Lemley conceded that "the Negro students in Little Rock district have a constitutional right not to be excluded from any of the public schools on account of race; but the board has convincingly shown that the time for the enjoyment of that right has not yet come."

Lemley in a 35-page opinion Saturday, said his ruling did not constitute yielding to unlawful force or violence but was an exercise of discretion and good judgment. A breathing spell could permit a change in community attitude and easing of racial tensions which might smooth integration at the later date, he said.

The judge noted too that Horace Mann High School for Negroes here was considered on a par with Central High and thus the seven Negroes could still obtain a good high school education.

The school board based its plea for postponement on grounds that tension, violence and the presence of federal troops had made its gradual plan for desegregation unworkable at this time.

Lemley's decision had immediate repercussions in politicizing leading up to Arkansas' Democratic primaries later this summer.

The two major candidates opposing a third-term nomination for Gov. Orval Faubus—nomination that would be tantamount to election in this state—declared that the federal court ruling had returned racial integration as an issue to its rightful place in the campaign.

This will enable the people of Arkansas to get on with the most important business before them—the examination of Orval Faubus' shameful record in the administration of our state business during the last four years," said Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould.

Chris Finkbeiner, Little Rock businessman making his first political race, declared, "Now the decision about integration is no longer an issue in this election."

Both Ward and Finkbeiner have described themselves as segregationists who believe in respecting the ruling of the courts.

Faubus, in reply, said he did not see how Saturday's ruling "would affect the governor's office." He praised the suspension order and urged Negroes to accept it.

Jap Fishermen On Lookout For Yacht

TOKYO (AP) — All Japanese fishing vessels in the East China Sea were ordered to look out today for an American yacht which may be drifting near the Communist Chinese mainland with Hollywood actor John Calvert and seven others aboard. The 95-ton, two-masted Thespian of Los Angeles, owned and skippered by Calvert, left Keelung, Formosa, in bad weather last Monday. The actor expected to reach Japan Thursday or Friday. The yacht had just been fitted with a new engine and Calvert sailed against the advice of friends. On Friday a vessel similar to the white yacht was sighted by a Japanese trawler only 80 miles southeast of Shanghai. It was reported drifting northwest in a calm sea, halfway between Formosa and the Thespian's destination in southern Japan. The report did not alarm Japanese coast guard officials. They said the vessel may reach southern Japan in a day or two. Calvert is a former stage magician who played the Falcon on television and movie heavy roles. On board with him were his mother-in-law, Mrs. Constance Conrad Lowe, a Mr. and Mrs. Iverson who reportedly own a California ranch; Victor Koehler of New York; Joey Raridon of Hollywood; Creston Ketchum, whose address was not known, and two Chinese. The Thespian sailed from Los Angeles last Aug. 7 for a two-year cruise around the world with stops for Calvert to film TV shows and give performances. Calvert's wife, actress Ann Cornell, had a baby boy in Taipei three weeks ago and flew on to Tokyo Thursday with the child. Mrs. Calvert said although her husband was "somewhat overdue" she is sure it will be okay.

Full-Scale Reform Needed To Raise Education Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-year study concludes that a full-scale reform movement is needed to raise American education standards to the needs of modern times. A report by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Inc., called Sunday night for immediate and far-reaching changes in the nation's educational system—not just more money. The report suggested these steps: 1. Testing and guidance procedures must be strengthened to push along more talented students who may be held back by average or slow groups. 2. Some educational problems "gravely affecting the national interest" may require a helping hand from the federal government. 3. National leaders must grasp the scope of the job that lies ahead. "Perhaps the greatest problem facing American education is the widely held view that all we require are a few more teachers, a few more buildings, a little more money," said the report. The crisis in science education, the report said, "is not an invention of the newspapers, or scientists or the Pentagon. It is a real crisis." It has all been brought about, the group said, by man's swift plunge into a new technological era that is bringing changes "so startling as to test to the utmost our adaptive capacities, our stability and our wisdom."

Probe Panel Member Suggests Ike Aide As Next On Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo.) suggested today that House investigators call Gerald D. Morgan, President Eisenhower's special counsel, saying: "From what I hear, Mr. Morgan is more of a front man than Mr. Adams." Moulder said in an interview he understands Morgan is more accessible than Sherman Adams to persons seeking help from the White House. Moulder did not go into detail. Morgan declined comment on Moulder's remarks. In reply to a question, Morgan said he had received no overtures from the subcommittee regarding possible testimony by him. A House subcommittee, of which Moulder is a member, resumes hearings tomorrow on contacts allegedly made by Adams, Eisenhower's top assistant, with two regulatory agencies on behalf of Bernard Goldfine, a millionaire Boston industrialist. Adams, the center of a growing political storm, acknowledged accepting hotel hospitality and gifts from Goldfine, who he said is an old friend. Although conceding he was imprudent, Adams has denied seeking or getting any favored treatment for Goldfine, who was

Train Fireman Will Receive Safety Awards

DALLAS—A locomotive fireman, who disregarded his own safety to save the life of a brakeman, will receive a $500 award for his flaming, head-on collision of two Midland Valley Railroad freight trains, has been chosen to receive the June Safety Award of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. James A. Brown, 45, Muskogee, Okla., a fireman (diesel helper) on the Midland Valley, ran to the aid of brakeman Walter Grober Jr., who was lying near the exploding and burning wreckage. Brown tore the flaming clothes from Grober and carried him to safety. The fireman suffered painful burns on his wrists and hands, and his ears were blistered by the intense heat. Four persons were killed in the wreck that occurred Feb. 1, 1958, near Bokoshe, Okla. After sounding the warning upon seeing a collision was inevitable, Brown jumped from the engine. As soon as he regained his feet he rushed back to the wreckage, which was now engulfed in flames. First, Brown went to the aid of the engineer from the westbound train who was walking around in a daze. He saw Grober and rushed to his aid despite the fact that the flames had reached a tank car filled with gasoline. The Brotherhood presents its monthly safety awards to locomotive firemen who by their skill, devotion to duty, and alertness are able to avert or minimize accidents. The award consists of a plaque and $250.

They are charged with burglarizing the Elks Inn, on the Garden City highway in Midland, last Thursday night. About $24 was taken from the establishment. The two were arrested after an automobile license number was reported to Merritt.

ing engine craft under today's conditions, he said. When scramble orders come from headquarters in Oklahoma City, pilots must be instantly airborne. They will cut in the automatic pilot and radar will take over direction of the plane, even to the point of firing the rockets. The pilot then will put the plane down at recovery stations. Fighters will have a range of "several hundred miles," said Col. Fitzwater, and the fact that they can utilize existing bases as recovery points will increase their effective range. Col. Fitzwater used the same phrase in describing the distance over which the radar scanners could detect and identify aircraft. The nearest such station is at Sweetwater. Col. Fitzwater pointed out that with arrival of the fighter squadron and the recent completion of a chain of new aircraft control and warning squadrons which ring this region, the 33rd Air Division is able to provide active air defense in depth. Accompanying Col. Fitzwater here for his visit to Webb were Maj. Douglas I. Holmes, Maj. Carl H. Bjorum, Maj. Felton H. Odom, Maj. Dave First, and Capt. Bob Bussjaeger. They were welcomed by Col. Kyle Riddle, wing commander.

$40 Taken In Burglary

About $40 in cash was taken in a burglary of a service station over the weekend. At the Phillips Service station at 2nd and Johnson, burglars forced the lock on the front door to gain entrance to the building. Inside, three vending machines were broken into. From the cigarette machine, the burglars got $40, and only 15 cents was reported taken from a candy machine. A coffee vending machine was entered, but no money was in it. Police officers said that a small amount of groceries and an undetermined amount of change were taken in a burglary of a residence at 2402 Scurry. H. A. Moore, 2404-B Scurry, reported that a coffee can half filled with pennies had been stolen probably about Friday.

Wildcat Location Is Chosen 10 Miles North Of Vealmoor

A 3,700-barrel well has been completed in the Breedlove field of Martin County, and a wildcat location has been staked in Borden. Also Stantox completed the No. 2 Guffey in the North Vincent field of Howard, and prepared to plug its Glasscock County wildcat. The Husky & Pano Tech No. 2 Breedlove flowed four hours and made enough oil in that time for a calculated 24-hour potential of a 3-753.68 barrels on 41.4-degree oil. The well is about 10 miles southwest of Patricia. The new wildcat is Cheyenne No. 1 Clayton-Johnson and is about 10 miles north of Vealmoor. It is contracted to 10,100 feet. In Howard, the Stantox No. 2 Guffey made 184 barrels of oil on final test, and in Glasscock the firm prepared to plug the No. 1 Currie after finding nothing promising while plugged back to the Clear Fork. Brown & Liedtke No. 1 York prepared to perforate another zone after testing at 8,069 feet in the Lower Strawn. Nothing came from the Strawn perforations, however. The venture is in NE SW, 23-29, H&TC Survey, 14 miles east of Gail. TXL No. 1 Miller, C SW SW, 48-30-6n, T&P Survey, drilled today in lime and shale at 4,629 feet. It is eight miles northeast of Gail. El Paso No. 1-A Lamb continued to pump, having made seven barrels each load oil and water in the last 24 hours. The venture is

C NW NW, EL&RR Survey, and 16 miles northwest of Gail. Shell No. 1 Miller, a wildcat C SW NW, 527-97, H&TC Survey, made hole in shale at 7,825 feet. Drilite is 12 miles northeast of Gail. Cheyenne No. 1 Clayton-Johnson is staked about 10 miles north of Vealmoor as a 10,100-foot wildcat. The site is 1,992 from north and 1,993 from east lines, 40-32-4n, T&P Survey. Hiawatha No. 1 Miller, eight miles northeast of Gail, drilled in sandy lime at 3,615 feet. It is C SE SE, 47-30-6n, T&P Survey. Dawson Cap No. 1 Oldham, C NE SE, 26-34-4n, T&P Survey, was at 5,647 feet. It is a wildcat five miles northeast of Ackery. Garza Pan American No. 1-A Lott, a wildcat nine miles southwest of Post, has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 9,288 feet after seeking oil in the Strawn, Mississippi, and Ellenburger sections. It was 660 from south and east lines, 40-1-8, T&RR Survey. Frost No. 3-A Long, a location in the Buenos pool, pumped 66 barrels of oil and 60 per cent water on 24-hour final test. It is 990 from south and 330 from east lines of Section 702, T&RR Survey. Total depth is 3,481 feet, and top of the pay zone is 3,408. Perforation interval is 3,409-12 feet. Stekol No. 1-B Mrs. McCrary, in the Northwest Justiceburg field, yielded 77 barrels of 38-degree oil on 24-hour potential test. It is located 330 from north and east lines, E. W. Clark, Survey No. 5. The well is bottomed at 2,730 feet, with production reached at 2,679 feet. Perforations are from 2,609-22 feet. Operator prepared to swab the Pennsylvania today at the Shell No. 1-CD Slaughter. The Ellenburger discovery is trying to come from the Strawn. Drilite is 660 from north and 1,980 from east lines, 43-2, T&NO Survey. Shell No. 1-DA Slaughter was running logs at a depth of 8,260 feet. It is in the Lazy JL field 660 from north and 760 from east lines, 17-1, Hays Survey. Shell No. 1-F Slaughter drilled in lime at 8,529 feet today. It is staked 1,980 from north and 660 from west lines, 21-1, Hays Survey. Glasscock After taking two unsuccessful drillstem tests in the Clear Fork, operator prepared to plug and abandon the Stantox No. 1 Currie. Operator tested from 5,431-81 feet with tool joint 45 minutes and recovered 680 feet of mud. A test for 10 minutes from 5-431-80 feet brought 90 feet of water-cut mud and 30 feet of salty water. The test tried to 10,000 feet without finding any production. Drilite is C NW NW, 220-29, W&NW Survey. Sun No. 33 Hart Phillips is a new site in the Howard-Glasscock field about 14 miles south of Big Spring. It is 990 feet from south and 330 from east lines, 14-32-2n, T&P Survey, and will drill to 2,600 feet. Howard The Stantox No. 2 Guffey flowed 184 barrels of oil on 24-hour final test in the North Vincent field, but size of choke employed was not reported. Canyon perforations extend from 7,522-24 feet, and gas-oil ratio measured 1.988:1. The well is 3,096 from south and 330 from west lines, 50-20, Lavaca Navigation Survey. In the same field, Stantox No. 2-2-A Winters penetrated to 3,700 feet in dolomite. It is staked 467 feet from north and 1,400 from west lines, 6-25, T&TC Survey. Humble No. 1-F Douthitt has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 1,520 feet in red shale and sand. The outcrop to the Howard-Glasscock field was 660 from south and west lines, 145-29, W&NW Survey. Martin Pan American No. 8 Breedlove was still bottomed at 12,006 feet and conditioning hole today, getting ready to run logs. Operator tested the Devonian from 11,931-12,006 feet over the weekend and recovered 60 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 5,734 feet of free oil. The venture is in the Breedlove pool, 1,073 from south and 25 from west lines, Labor 112, League 258, Briscoe CSL Survey. Husky & Pano Tech No. 2 Breedlove flowed 627.28 barrels of oil through a 2-inch choke in four hours to get a calculated 24-hour potential of 3,758.68 barrels of 41.4-degree oil. The producer is in the Breedlove field 1,419 feet from north and 4,509 from east lines of League 258, Briscoe CSL Survey. Production from the Devonian is from perforations 12-000-28 feet. Russell Denounces 'Reprisal' Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) denounced today what he termed "reprisal" tactics against Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, for opposing the administration's military reorganization plan. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, announced the committee would call no further members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for quizzing until they are assured that they can speak their own mind freely. He charged that the remarks Secretary of Defense McElroy aimed at Burke for his testimony before the committee are in conflict with the secretary's prior promises to the committee that witnesses could speak freely. McElroy, speaking to newsmen at Quantico, Va., Saturday expressed disappointment and regret at Burke's stand on reorganization. His remarks were widely interpreted as a public rebuke to Burke, but the defense secretary later said this was not so. He said he could disagree with a service chief without rebuking him. Russell released his blast in a prepared statement at a news conference, at which he rejected McElroy's statements that his remarks were not a reproof. Russell pointed to the call-down of Burke as evidence that any reorganization plan which is adopted now should contain provisions guaranteeing the right of military personnel to testify frankly. There was no immediate comment from McElroy.

Hungarians Battle U.N. Police Lines

NEW YORK (AP) — Hungarian refugees demonstrating outside headquarters of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations Sunday tried to crash through police lines and trampled several policemen. The demonstrators smashed three windows of the Park Avenue building. Seven policemen and a number of pickets were injured, none seriously. The violent outbreak came, police said, at what appeared to be a prearranged signal. It turned into a melee between 350 pickets and nearly 100 policemen. Nine pickets were arrested. The demonstrators had been peacefully marching and handing out leaflets of the Federation of Former Hungarian Political Prisoners before the violence erupted. This was the second outbreak of violence at the Matamoros building over the weekend. Anti-Soviet pickets broke two windows Saturday and three arrests followed. Both demonstrations were to protest the execution of former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and three of his associates, announced in Moscow last week. Nagy and the others were leaders of the Hungarian revolt of 1956. Seven pickets arrested on disorderly conduct charges received suspended sentences after pleading guilty in night court. They received a warning from Magistrate Vincent J. Ferreri to "Follow the American way of life." Two other pickets were held for arraignment on felonious assault charges. They are Geza Horvath, 19, of Queens, and Borna Sarvasy, 23, of East Orange, N.J. In Ottawa, Canada about 320 Hungarian refugees splattered the Soviet Embassy with red ink as they paraded in protest of the executions of Nagy and his associates.

A Tourist's Role

Just like any other tourist, President Eisenhower leans over for a closer look at one of the documents in a glass case at the museum during an unannounced visit to Mount Vernon, George Washington's historic home on the Potomac River. After looking at Washington's gift swords in the case behind him, the President quipped, "Do you suppose they investigated him for getting a present?" With the President is Walter Densmore, assistant superintendent at Mount Vernon.

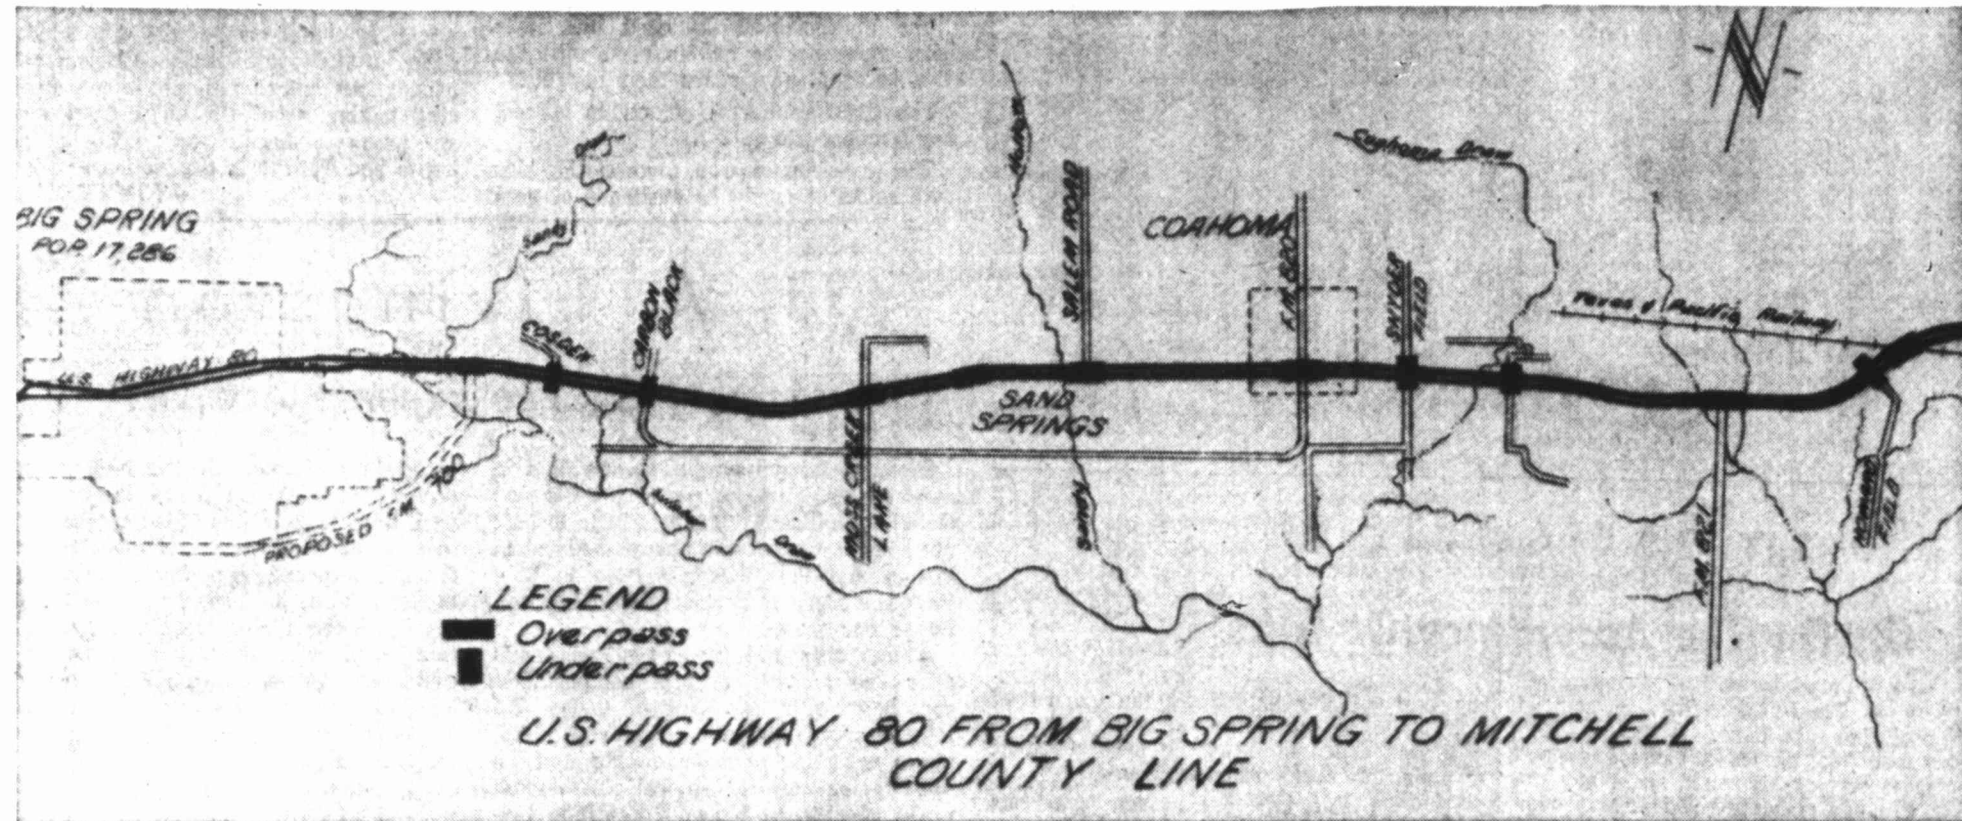

Highway Work Is Moving Smoothly

Construction of the eastern portion of Highway 80 is advancing smoothly since operations began in late January, with the biggest problem being able to "work and take care of the traffic". Pat Shield, chief inspector for Cage Brothers Construction Co., said that the company has "200 working days left, and we hope to complete the construction by the end of that time."

Work has been concentrated on construction of a detour route for traffic between Coahoma and Big Spring, and that route should be opened by the end of this week. Primary steps in the overpass construction have begun. Workers have started pouring concrete pillars which will form the supporting pillars. One of the bigger tasks at hand is an 18-foot cut for the underpass in front of the Cosden refinery.

Successful Compromise On Farm Bill Seen This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Allen Ellender (D-La.) said today he believes the Senate can work out this year a compromise long-range farm bill that will avoid another veto by President Eisenhower.

"We won't be able to give the Agriculture Department everything it wants but we should be able to work out something that can live 'with' the veteran chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee said.

"It could be done and should be done," Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.), ranking GOP farm committee member, said.

"I'm not as optimistic as I was a few days ago but things could change," Aiken added.

He said lack of House action on separate farm surplus disposal and school milk program bills, already passed by the Senate, "have cost our farmers some 300 to 500 million dollars in exports and may cost them as much as a billion dollars."

Instead, the House takes up this week an omnibus farm bill that already has split its agriculture committee into warring factions.

The House bill contains several key farm programs—such as surplus disposal and extension of the milk programs—urged by the administration and a wide variety of proposals it has rejected in the past.

Among other things, the House bill proposes new three-year programs for cotton, wheat, rice, feed grains and milk. Farmers would be given an option of keeping present programs or the new ones with higher price supports.

Indicated Senate strategy is to await House action on this package bill and then try to substitute the Senate provisions, regarded as more palatable to Secretary of Agriculture Benson and the President.

Ellender noted that the Senate already has approved a 3½ billion dollar increase in the program for overseas sale, barter and gift of farm surpluses and the federal school milk programs, which expire at the end of this month.

He said the new Senate bill probably would avoid major changes in the present wheat, tobacco, peanuts and dairy products programs.

On other crops listed as basic in existing laws, he outlined these tentative programs:

Cotton—A new program ordering a minimum allotment of not less than 16 million acres compared with the 17½ million acres this year. Growers with allotments of four acres or less would not be reduced. Those with more than four acres would accept new allotments and high supports, or increase their plantings by 40 per cent above allotments and take lower price supports.

Corn and feed grains—Elimination of past efforts to control planting through acreage allotments. A price support for corn based on farm price averages of the three preceding years, with the supports for rye, oats, barley, grain sorghums and other livestock feed grains based on that of corn.

Rice—A minimum acreage allotment of 1,650,000 acres with price supports at present ranges.

In Lebanon, meanwhile, the U. N. mission planned to establish a watchdog team today in the strategic Bekaa border area despite go-slow warnings from rebel leaders in the area.

Observers turned back from the Bekaa Valley Saturday by Col. Maurice Brown, the New Zealand senior officer with the mission, denied reports the rebels had prevented them forcibly from taking up positions there.

Brown said the local rebel chief had told the U. N. officers they should not try to get to the borders too soon. A Beirut leader of the anti-Chamoun forces, Hussein Oweini, also said the watchdog team had been advised against approaching the border for its own protection.

Oweini said his forces wanted to cooperate with the U. N. group but could not guarantee its safety "in remote frontier areas where people may not understand the object of the mission."

Brown also denied reports that the U. N. officers had been fired on in the Bekaa Valley Saturday. He said his men only heard some shooting in the area.

The Bekaa region has been described as one major route for the Syrian aid which the Lebanese government charges the rebels are getting.

U. N. headquarters in New York announced that the United States was providing two helicopters and Sweden four light observation planes for the use of the U. N. observer group the Security Council has sent to Lebanon to check on any infiltrations from Syria.

Informed sources said U. A. R. officials would warn Hammarskjold against foreign interference in Lebanon and insist once more than their government is not aiding the rebels. Nasser contends that the Lebanese crisis is completely internal, and that pro-Western President Camille Chamoun is seeking a pretext for the United States and Britain to send troops to his aid.

Hammarskjold is to return to Beirut Tuesday and is scheduled to leave for New York the next day.

Woman Praises New Medicine

To my Friends and Loved Ones: This is my first time to write a testimonial about any kind of medicine, but this R-12 has helped me so much that I want to tell others who suffer from that dreadful thing called rheumatism.

I had it, rheumatism, arthritis or lumbago, or whatever you call it all over my body. It would be in my right shoulder then jump to my back or hip. It seemed that it would play around over my body. It has been in my toes, eyes and teeth. I would have to go to bed and quit, but not often as I am a mother of five children. I have been in hospitals and have gone to Mineral Wells and Marlin, Texas.

R-12 was recommended to me by a neighbor and I took three bottles. I got relief in less than two hours after the first dose. That has been ten months ago and I have not had one ounce of trouble since then. I want you to try just one bottle if you have suffered as I have.

I have written this letter with my own free will and no one has paid me one cent for it. You may use it as you wish for advertising purposes.

Optimistic Retailers Plan Increase In Newspaper Ads

More than seven out of 10 retailers included in a nationwide survey are confidently expecting their 1958 summer sales figures to rise above or equal their dollar volume of last summer, according to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Assn. This optimistic outlook is supported by retailer plans to sell more aggressively, to continue the trend of delaying clearance sales till after July 15, and to continue advertising without let-up, a Bureau survey showed.

The survey was conducted by the Bureau through its member newspapers in the United States and Canada. Two hundred retailers in 152 markets of all sizes were surveyed. Nineteen store types were represented in the study including department, men's wear, women's wear, and furniture stores.

Sales increases over last summer are predicted by 50 per cent of the retailers surveyed; 23 per cent expect to meet last year's figures, and 23 per cent look for decreases during June, July and August, compared with 1957. The average increase expected is 5 per cent, while of those anticipating declines, the average drop predicted is also 5 per cent.

As part of a more aggressive promotion program, fully one-third of the stores surveyed plan to increase advertising budgets this summer over last; 53 per cent are planning to invest the same amount in advertising the 12 per cent plan a cut in their ad budgets.

In choosing advertising media, retailers reported that they will continue to invest in the bulk of their advertising budgets in newspapers. Eighty-three per cent of the stores plan to invest 80 per cent or more of their advertising in newspapers. Nearly six of every 10 merchants surveyed are allocating 90 per cent or more of their budget to newspapers this summer. The average store will put 93 per cent into newspapers, 5 per cent in radio, 2 per cent in television.

A Bible Thought For Today

And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. (Colossians 3:17)

The Critical Point

A federal district judge has granted the Little Rock school board's motion for a 2 1/2-year breathing period on its plan for gradual integration of the schools in that beleaguered city.

While the court raised some interesting points of the general welfare as against individual or minority desires, the case in point is quite apt to hinge on the time element.

For the ruling is bound to be appealed and ultimately the United States Supreme Court will be obliged to make some sort of interpretation of its celebrated phrase... "with deliberate speed."

It will take nine Solomons to come up with a wise delineation of this critical point.

Those Rates Are Going Up

They're coming—those higher automobile insurance rates.

Angus McDonald, chief actuary for the insurance board, has proposed statewide average rate increases of 22 per cent for comprehensive coverage, 14.3 per cent for bodily injury and property damage, and 12.3 per cent for collision coverage. The Texas Automobile Insurance Service group has asked even stiffer increases—36.6 per cent for full coverage on glass is retained, 24.7 for bodily injury and property damage, and 19.7 per cent for collision.

One of the primary contributing factors to the inevitability of increased rates is fancy styling which makes any sort of fender, body or bumper repair a major undertaking.

Of course, the rate of collisions has been on the increase, too, and surely enters into the cost. Not all the mounting repair bills are the result of gaudy trim and widening fenders, for industry spokesmen have indicated a double scale of charges in some instances—one for the individual with insurance, and a lower one for the individual who pays the freight himself.

One of the most direct assaults on these rising costs manifestly can be made by reducing the number of collisions. Another line of attack is for the individual who conspires in a padded estimate to realize that he is doing everyone, including himself a gross disservice through higher rates.

Now as to the fancy design factor, why not let the dancer pay for the fiddler. Those who have vehicles which require a whole half panel to cure a fender dent ought to bear the load of rates required to support such luxury. On the other hand, those having cars of design where repairs can be made far less expensively ought to get more consideration.

Too, a number of companies give credits or special rates for long-term low-accident experience. Perhaps the extension and expansion of this line might be beneficial because it is better to reward the safe driver than to penalize him for his neighbors' carelessness.

A New Status For East Germany?

WASHINGTON—There have been many occasions in the history of the United States when the forcible retention of American citizens anywhere in a foreign land met with a prompt resistance by the government here.

Nine U. S. Army men in an unarmed helicopter strayed recently into East Germany through error, but the Soviet government—America's wartime ally in Europe—refuses to give up the men it imprisoned on June 8.

The United States regards the East German territory as still under the four-power occupation agreement. No peace treaty has been signed covering that area, and the military armistice is still in effect. The Soviets have set up a puppet government in East Germany, but this does not alter the status of the four-power agreement.

Thus an American military mission sits in Potsdam, which is within East German territory, and is empowered to deal with all questions of a military nature arising therein. The Soviets, however, are repudiating the rights of that military mission and are insisting that the American government's dealings be with the East German regime.

The Soviets in 1945 were temporarily given administrative authority over the so-called Soviet zone, which includes East Germany. But this authority is revocable. The four Allied powers are the true custodians of the so-called Soviet zone. Allies do not usually deny to each other the right of access to any part of their own military zones. If they do, the cease to be allies. Actually, under the four-power agreement, the Soviets still are responsible for the quick return of American servicemen who may wander into their zone, and the United States has so informed the Soviet government.

The United States has every right under the broad principles of international law to use military force to protect the lives of its citizens who happen to be in foreign lands. In the present instance, moreover, the United States, as a member of the alliance that fought World War II, has every right to recover any of its military personnel. This has been demanded of the Soviet rulers, but they are attempting to wash their hands of any responsibility.

If, therefore, the Moscow government insists that it has relinquished all administrative authority over the Soviet zone in East Germany, then such authority reverts completely to the other three military powers—Great Britain, France and the United States.

It is inconceivable that the United States would take any military steps alone, and it would probably consult its two allies about joint action. Many people will say that such a contingency—the forcible recovery of the nine Americans—is remote, but this does not dispose of the legal situation that has been introduced. For the three powers now have been told, in effect, by the Soviet Union that it has ended its occupation of the Soviet zone. This raises a legal problem that cannot be ignored.

The three powers, of course, are in a position now to take the Soviets at their word and to discuss among themselves what military measures should be taken to recover control of the area which was previously occupied by the Soviets but which has never been given to any puppet regime or to any other authority in East Germany to administer except the Soviets.

The Moscow government has been trying to maneuver the United States into a position which would require recognition of the East German government as the ransom price for the recovery of the nine Army men, who are in prison though they have committed no crime and violated no tenet of international law. As for West Germany, all four powers have relinquished authority over it and have recognized the federal republic.

The United States could deal with the East German authorities, as Secretary Dulles says, just as it might negotiate with any "kidnapper." But to do so raises a question that will not be settled by the mere release of the nine Americans. The real question is how Great Britain, France and the United States shall deal henceforth with the zone previously occupied by the Soviets.

The situation could be clarified by a proposal to send American troops to rescue the nine airmen. For they are being held apparently by a "bandit" government which has no rights under the original four-power agreement. The Soviets might be inclined then to re-enter the picture, as they have a right to do. This could speed the release of the nine Americans.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Imre Nagy is dead—executed after secret trial—and another frightful chapter in the long story of Communist perfidy and dishonor is ended.

Nagy became premier of Hungary during the 1956 rebellion against the Communist puppet regime. He was a long time Communist. He did not instigate the uprising, and was never its actual leader. But he made an attempt to liberalize the government, while retaining communism in power.

When Russian troops entered Budapest the second time, they overthrew the Nagy government and installed Janos Kadar as his successor. Here is the record of what happened then, as extracted from the official report of the United Nations investigating committee.

"Mr. Nagy left the parliament building at about 6 a.m. on 4 November and sought asylum at the Yugoslav embassy. The Yugoslav embassy wrote to Mr. Kadar that it would agree to the departure of Mr. Nagy and his friends only if Mr. Kadar confirmed in writing that the Hungarian government did not desire to apply sanctions against Imre Nagy and the members of his group for their past activities.

"The next day, 22 November, a bus arrived at the Yugoslav embassy to take the party to their homes. Soviet military personnel arrived and insisted on entering the bus, whereupon the Yugoslav ambassador asked that two embassy officials should accompany the bus, to make certain that Mr. Nagy and his party reached their homes as agreed. The bus was driven to the headquarters of the Soviet military command, where a Russian lieutenant colonel ordered the two Yugoslav officials to leave. The bus then drove away to an unknown destination escorted by Soviet armored cars.

"The Yugoslav government condemned the action as a flagrant breach of the agreement reached... and as completely contrary to the generally accepted practices of international law.

Peoples everywhere will do well to note what happened to Imre Nagy. It measures once again the wrath of a Russian Communist plodger.

Ike On The Acceptance Of Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower himself has set an example for Sherman Adams and all other government employees in accepting gifts. He has received for his personal use gifts totaling thousands of dollars.

He tried, in his news conference last week, to say when it is and isn't all right for a man in public office to accept gifts. The line he drew was far from sharp or distinct.

Maybe such a line can't be drawn. But because it hasn't been drawn both Eisenhower and Adams, his chief assistant, find themselves in contradictory positions.

If a clear line can't be drawn it would seem any man in public office should lean over backwards—way over backwards—to avoid doing anything which might embarrass him or the government or cause suspicion.

This is what Eisenhower said: "The circumstances surrounding the innocent receipt by a public official of any gifts are therefore important, so that the public may clearly distinguish between innocent and guilty action.

"Among these circumstances are the character and reputation of the individual, the record of his subsequent actions, and evidence of intent or lack of intent to exert undue influence."

But this explanation overlooks some very human and subtle questions:

1. Would a man in public office, intentionally or not, be more favorably inclined to do something or decide something or use his influence for a person who gives him something than for one who doesn't?

2. Should a man in public office—for fear of appearing to return a favor—let himself be in the position of refusing to do for an individual who gave him a gift something he'd freely do for a stranger?

A man in public office could easily avoid both dilemmas—dilemmas with which he should never have to be confronted—by refusing gifts from anyone who has or might have any business with the government.

When Bernard Goldfine, Adams' gift-giving friend, a businessman, got into trouble with a federal agency, he went to Adams in the White House to find out why Adams got the information from him, information which a House subcommittee lawyer said it was against the law to reveal.

Then Adams offered this contradictory explanation of his conduct:

He said what he did for Goldfine—getting the information from the agency—was the kind of routine thing he or his staff would do for anyone who came to him. But at the same time he conceded maybe his judgment was bad.

Several years ago Eisenhower's staff would ever be guilty of an indiscretion. But if anything came to my attention that kind of individual would be gone."

At his news conference Eisenhower, while describing Adams as "imprudent," announced at the same time he would keep him because "I need him."

Eisenhower certainly has needed Adams. It's because of Adams' long and dedicated hours at his desk—taking a lot of the load off Eisenhower—that Eisenhower has had so much time to himself, including time for golf.

Material At Hand

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—An air lines stewardess used her silk stockings and girdle in giving first aid to an injured passenger. Stewardess Barbara Grimes, Los Angeles, used the stockings to make a tourniquet for John Pernicano, 30, whose broken leg was punctured and bleeding. She used her girdle to pad a splint.

Pernicano was one of four passengers injured in the crash of the Western Air Lines plane.

Catty Curiosity

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP)—Thanks to the curiosity of a cat, a Janesville man's wallet has been returned after 10 years. The cat was seen clawing at the earth behind the Richard Struely home. Struely dug deeper into the ground and found the wallet, which had been stolen a decade ago from Bill Attis. The money was gone but identification papers were intact. Struely returned the wallet to Attis.

Monument To Past

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—Wreckers clearing buildings for the new Richard Bong Air Force jet bomber base found a monument to the past. Workers ripped the sides off an old farm building to find that the structure was really an ancient cabin made of hand-hewn oak logs. The Kenosha County board approved a motion to preserve the cabin as a monument to the pioneer past.

Around The Rim

Can You Remember The Days When...?

One thing and another: I'll be willing to admit that science has come a long way, when it develops polka-dot gravy, which would blend with the cravat it invariably adorns.

You're not getting any younger, if you can remember:

Yardsticks, used to measure the supply of gasoline in the tank located underneath the front seat of your automobile. The triangular pieces of steel hanging outside railroad dining rooms, which porters beat with a metal prong in order to attract business after a passenger train had stopped at that particular station.

The Literary Digest and the Pictorial Review.

The chairs with the straw bottoms and the wire-backs, situated around the tables with the marble tops in the old-time drugstores.

The multi-striped skullcaps that little boys wore, not to be confused with the 'beanies' that now adorn their nogginns.

The cracker barrel, found in almost any grocery store.

The groceryman who favored the kids with sacks of candy or packages of gum (or both), when their parents paid their bills, once a month.

The shoe-scrappers located outside almost every school building. The huge sea shells that adorned the parlor of almost every home, in which you could listen for the sounds of the ocean.

The popularity of "The Prisoner's Song" when it first came out.

The automobile radiator cap, when it actually revealed the temperature of the radiator's contents.

Men who operate service stations dislike having them referred to as "filling stations."

They point out there's a big difference, that there are some such businesses which limit their 'service' to refilling vehicle fuel tanks and changing motor oil. Service stations on the other hand, offer complete automotive service, from cleaning to greasing to polishing, they point out.

Why is it that people will hire a babysitter to stay with their children, visit friends and then sit around the entire evening talking about the kids? They even are prone to discuss their offspring going to and from their destinations.

Morality Of The Expense Account

Sherman Adams symbolizes the fault in most of us. That he permitted Bernard Goldfine, millionaire business man, to pick up hotel tabs at the Sheraton-Plaza in Boston and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York is a sorry commentary on the morality of our times.

Adams' responsibility as the President's alter ego requires of him comportment consonant with the Highest Office. He must be above obligation in civic matters, above accepting favors and gifts. But we live in the unreal, amoral, impersonal world of expense accounts and high taxes, and we consider it sporting to let Uncle Sam share our living expenses.

Last summer, some 5,000 lawyers and their wives journeyed to London where the American Bar Association held its annual convention. This year, the American Psychiatric Association held its regular convention in San Francisco and then some conventioners traveled to Honolulu for further sessions—the sun, beach, and lazy Hawaiian surroundings notwithstanding.

As at all conventions, papers were read, contacts made, and sights seen. Perhaps educational receptivity was enlivened by the sense of tax-deductibility. For travel to a convention is a business expense. You and I thus shoulder part of the cost, as citizens and taxpayers.

When lawyers and doctors and other persons take trips which they can put on their expense accounts, is it improper for Bernard Goldfine to charge to his business operations the expenses of Mr. Adams and his family? This, too, could be argued as an expense of doing business. Knowing a high-up government official is a business asset for a corporation executive, an asset worth cultivating.

The corporation, the stockholders, pay the cost in the first instance. You and I, as taxpayers, pay it in the second instance—in non-collected taxes. By some strange moral alchemy, we in America have come to regard such corporate favors as all right. A corporate gift is an impersonal, institutional gift. Corporate largesse is above normal moral standards. What you wouldn't take from an individual, you can take from a corporation.

And so corporations maintain yachts to entertain customers. If the officers and directors use the yacht in the process, well, they do so in line of duty, sacrificing themselves in the entertainment of customers. Corporations maintain apartments in New York for customers, suites in Florida hotels for customers. They maintain airplanes which sometimes take customers and suppliers and officers on trips to vacation resorts. Liberal expense accounts have become an emolument of corporation office.

Executive compensation is tailored to the tax laws. Companies grant stock options which yield free rides on the company's stock at capital gains tax rates. Companies also have provided deferred compensation for executives in retirement. Such compensation plans are justified as "necessary to hold executives." That the executives, themselves, usually originate the plans is immaterial. The plans are an integral part of our modern mores.

Thus, men who ought to set forth high standards of unequivocal behavior engage in self-serving practices because of high taxes. They use expense accounts to raise their standards of living at taxpayer expense. They blink at ways and means of beating the income tax collector. Leaders in professions ought to lead in tax morality. Business executives ought to set ethical standards we can all look up to. Government officials ought to so comport themselves that their behavior is beyond reproach and cavil—something to be cited at college commencements, not shied away from at press conferences.

A society depends on the standards which men in power, men in high places, men in the professions impose on themselves. When government officials professionalize, men and corporation officials engage in self-serving practices and use the expense account to raise their standards of living at taxpayer expense, they bring down on themselves not only censure but, ultimately, the structure which has put them where they are—on top. If they shrink from paying taxes, if they condone misapplication of the expense account, why shouldn't everyone?

Pillars of society have to be pillars, not leaning towers.

We Let Russia Get Away With Murder

The free world, whose sole contribution to the Hungarian revolt of 1956 was an avalanche of pious words, is now busily burying the executed heroes of that rebellion under another torrent of high, moral phrases.

While it fills the heavens with its cries of "Non culpa mea," the West points the finger of outraged scorn at Russia for the murder of Imre Nagy and other patriots who led the Hungarian revolt against communism less than two years ago.

Such virtuous outcries and finger-pointing may save the conscience of governments, but it does nothing to soothe the troubled consciences of ordinary citizens like myself who feel that the forces of freedom and democracy did nothing during the rebellion but spout platitudes and wring their hands.

So Russia has executed—murdered—Nagy and General Pal Maleter and their associates, and jailed others. But what did the West expect? Prior to the announcement of their execution, the free world had heard nothing of these men for months. And did it make inquiry or representations or express interest in their fate? Did the West really expect Russia to weave a crown of laurel for Nagy and Maleter and set them free?

Did any nation or concert of nations try to save them, to bring pressure for the very lives of these men? When and where was any organized effort made to intercede for these revolutionary heroes?

Since the free world did nothing to aid the Hungarian freedom fighters in 1956, when the West was fired by their bravery and daring, Russia and her Communist leaders knew they could proceed with their barbarian executions of Nagy, et al, with impunity.

The United Nations no less than the West suffered all but irreparable damage when it sat tight behind an icy facade during the Hungarian uprising.

However, the U. N. acted no less cavalierly than the West. The international organization simply caught the impotence of the free world and its inability to do anything decisive. So the Russians got away with murder in 1956 and are getting away with murder now with Nagy's execution. They will continue to get away with murder as long as the West lacks normal fortitude, moral policy and moral backbone.

The Hungarian revolution is down the drain and its leaders are the executioner's prey. But there is still something that those of tender conscience can do.

They can try to rescue, to throw a lifeline, to the thousands of anti-Communist men, women and children now rotting their lives away in the refugee camps of Europe. Fifty thousand such persons, living lives of quiet desperation, are prayerfully awaiting rescue. Of this number, some 10,000 are Hungarians.

The nonsectarian International Rescue Committee is backing a British proposal to empty these camps by the end of 1959, and resettle the refugees throughout the free world.

If the execution of Nagy and Maleter weighs on your conscience, now is the time to send a check, in their memory, to the International Rescue Committee, 251 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, N. Y., to aid anti-Communist refugees in their second escape to freedom and resettlement in a world that surely has a better place for freedom fighters than bleak refugee camps.

Soviet Athlete Ousted, Faces Rape Charges

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's big soccer scandal was out in the open again today with one of the Soviet Union's top stars in jail on charges of rape.

Komsomol Pravda, which never tires of lecturing the errant sons of high officials and other examples of flaming Soviet youth, reported that three pampered players had been dropped from the Soviet all-star soccer team for rowdiness, drinking and general debauchery.

The Communist youth newspaper also attacked top sports officials and highly placed patrons for allowing the idolized stars to run wild.

The major offender, according to Komsomol Pravda, was Edward Streltsov, 20-year-old all-star forward who was booted to the minor leagues in February after the paper dug up similar scandals of high living.

Streltsov promised to reform and was brought back to the big time. But the paper said he "committed a grave crime and will soon face court as a hooligan and a rapist."

Right wing Boris Tatushin and left back Mikhail Ogonkov also were named in the article as Streltsov's companions in drunken crime and debauchery. Konstantin Andrianov was referred to as the former deputy chairman of the Committee on Physical Culture and Sports—making clear he had been fired as a result of the scandal.

The three players were kicked off the team before it went to Stockholm for the international matches, the World Series of soccer. The Soviet team was eliminated in the quarter-finals last Thursday.

Komsomol Pravda said Streltsov turned up at club meetings drunk, got into fights with the police, broke into a shop on one occasion and smashed the furniture—but he was forgiven time and again because he was a star.

The article said the orgy that brought the trio's downfall took place at a country house lent them by one of Streltsov's fans who runs a state vegetable store.

VFW Elects New Officers

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Veterans of Foreign Wars members chose Doyle Willis of Fort Worth as their new state commander and picked Austin for their next convention yesterday.

After warm debate, they gave unanimous approval to a $1 increase in annual dues. The revenue will help retire a mortgage on VFW department headquarters in Austin, officials said.

In resolutions adopted near the close of their 38th annual convention, delegates opposed any reduction in veterans' pensions and restated support for giving chiropractic care to some patients of Veterans Administration hospitals.

Fort Worth was awarded the 1960 state convention. Officers serving with Willis will be Oscar Jones of Longview, senior vice commander; Vic Afflerbach of Victoria, junior vice commander; The Rev. Mack Johnson of Houston, chaplain; Charles Britte of Alvin, judge advocate, and Dr. C. E. Killingsworth of Borger, surgeon.

Mrs. Gene Waters of Fort Worth is the new president of the VFW women's auxiliary. Her fellow officers are Mrs. C. R. Eaton of Amarillo, senior vice president; Mrs. L. C. Salm of Taylor, junior vice president; Mrs. Lelan Rowland of Dallas, secretary; Mrs. H. W. Parker of Gainesville, treasurer; Mrs. Elmo Self of Rosenberg, chaplain, and Mrs. L. A. Marshall of San Angelo, conductor.

Decision Won't Affect Dallas Plan

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas school officials said yesterday that its planning will not be affected by a federal court decision postponing integration in the Little Rock, Ark., schools.

The Dallas school board has announced it will make a statement on integration at its Wednesday night's meeting.

School officials declined to comment on a second announcement to be made Wednesday night — instructions to the board's lawyers on the next move over a legal conflict between Texas law and federal court rulings.

The Dallas schools are under a federal court order to integrate but no time limit has been set. A state law passed by the last Legislature forbids integration without approval at a special election. State funds can be cut off and officials fined if the law is violated. The constitutionality of the law is yet to be tested.

Contrast

Wreckage of a home smashed when Hurricane Audrey's tidal waves swept over Cameron, La., on June 27, 1957, is a contrast against the new Cameron Baptist Church, recently completed to replace the one destroyed. Such contrasts can be seen all over the Gulf Coast town where over 500 persons lost their lives in the storm.

Amendments Due On Secrecy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) said today he may offer amendments to limit some of the provisions of a bill to relax atomic weapons secrecy.

The bill is tentatively slated for Senate debate today.

President Eisenhower has urged quick action on the measure, designed to strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty alliance. The House passed it Thursday 245-72.

Anderson, vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told newsmen he might offer an amendment to remove a section he said would make it possible to give plans for an atomic-powered submarine to France.

"I'm not sure that is a wise provision with things as they are now in France," he said.

The senator said he also was concerned over several provisions which he described as conferring authority to give a foreign nation a "do-it-yourself kit" on production of atomic weapons. The weapons themselves could not be transferred.

Anderson said he had drafted amendments to tighten these provisions and possibly would present them to the Senate. At least, he said, he would voice his skepticism over the bill.

The measure would permit the greatest relaxation of the strict U. S. atomic secrecy requirements since passage of the McMahon Act in 1946.

It would allow this country to furnish designs for nuclear weapons and the fissionable material to make them to an ally that already has made substantial progress in the atomic weapons field. Sponsors of the bill said Great Britain would be the only nation to qualify now under this section.

To countries not so far advanced, the United States could supply information on the sizes and effects of atomic weapons, non-nuclear components of the weapons, reactor designs and atomic fuels for nuclear-powered submarines and other types of military power plants.

The bill would permit a congressional veto of any atom-sharing agreement, which would have to be submitted to Congress in advance.

Hungary Selling Wildlife Of All Kinds To The West

BUDAPEST (AP) — Communist Hungary is selling wild life to the capitalist world—everything from snails to 20-point stags.

The snails go largely to France. The stags are brought down by wealthy hunters, mostly West Germans, who may have to pay $500 to $3,000 for killing a single animal.

Both the sport and commercial aspects are handled by Sandor Ferenczi, who has directed MAVAD, the Hungarian game trading company, for the past 25 years. It was a government owned enterprise from the start.

Ferenczi, 69, a small, courtly man, runs the organization from an old-fashioned room adorned with fresh flowers and English hunting prints. He serves coffee and vermouth to visitors.

He doesn't like to say how much Hungary makes from the sale of snails, crayfish, frogs and game animals. Some idea can be had from the fact that the annual export of live hares runs as high as 40,000. They are sold at $14 each, usually in groups of one male and two females.

France, Switzerland and Italy are the main buyers. The French, he explains, have to put out some 50,000 hares every spring because of the great numbers that French hunters shoot every fall.

Frogs also go to France in large quantities. There is only one small area in Hungary where people eat frogs' legs, and none where they like snails.

Lyndon Tells Of Missed His Train, Is Now In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There has never been a greater challenge in the history of mankind" than control of space, Sen. Lyndon Johnson said last night.

"We are moved by no thought of aggrandizement," the Texas said in his weekly transcribed radio address.

"Space can be used, but, unlike the land, it cannot be occupied," the Senate majority leader said. Johnson is a member of the Senate Committee on Space and Aeronautics which unanimously reported out a space agency bill last week.

He continued:

"We have no intent to plant flags of conquest upon the planets or lay annexation claims to the stars.

"We do propose that space shall never become the route of march for tyrants and totalitarians and, as we have dedicated our resources in the past to maintaining the freedom of the seas and the security of the skies, so shall we dedicate our national capacity to maintaining the neutrality of space."

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—If El Dorado, Ark., had had better railroad connections in the 1930s, its congressman probably wouldn't be presiding now over an investigation of influence in high places.

Rep. Oran Harris was first elected to Congress in 1940 on a platform of doing something about the transportation facilities of his home town. He sought a post on the House Commerce Committee to help reach that goal.

Now he is chairman of that committee, and is heading up the investigation of federal agencies which has tied in the name of Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Harris cosponsored a controversial bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal price regulation. He headed the first congressional party to fly over both poles. A Baptist as well as a Democrat, he read the Bible from a Moscow pulpit.

But basically, Harris shows up even now as a quiet, blue suit sort of man. This does not at all mean he is anything less than a sophisticated politician and committee chairman. But in the past he has gotten things done unexpectantly.

Reminiscing today, Harris chose one pre-Adams episode to dwell on with prideful happiness. It was the Oran Harris Day staged in El Dorado last Dec. 10 by the Lions Club, with luncheons and speeches and tributes describing Harris as a good Lion and an effective representative of Arkansas.

He evidently regarded this occasion as a peak in public recognition.

DEAR ABBY CHAIN OF FEAR

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is expecting a baby at any moment and we are so upset about this thing that came in the mail we don't know what to do. She received a letter saying she should send the chain-letter prayer to 13 other people with a dollar each, and if she didn't do it, death would come to her home. She doesn't know whether to send it or not and I hope you will help us decide as it worries us something terrible.

V.S. DEAR V. S.: Chain letters should be tossed into the waste paper basket and promptly forgotten. This one sounds like a scheme to get money. Report it to your local postal authorities.

DEAR ABBY: This is the third time I am writing to you and if I don't get any answer this time I will know you are a fake. My problem is much more important than some of those I see in your column. If you won't print my letter in your column, then how come you don't send me a personal reply like you say you will?

BEVERLY DEAR BEVERLY: I am not able to print all the letters I receive, but I DO send a personal reply to each and every person who writes me a letter and encloses a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

DEAR ABBY: May I disagree with the mother of the congressman and the DAR Regional President or whoever she said her children grew up to be after she biltered their bottoms in public? Anyone who knows anything about juvenile delinquency knows that "sparing the rod" does not encourage delinquency, and most of these kids end up in Juvenile Court with the bruises and scars to prove it. Beating children only teaches them to be more careful not to get caught. I agree with you, Abby. Kindness pays bigger dividends.

FATHER F. DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and go with a fellow who is 22. He says he's crazy about me, but he is very jealous and has a terrible temper. He thinks nothing of hitting me when he gets mad, but he gets over it fast. I love this guy, but I wonder if he will really hurt me bad some time. My mother says to overlook it because all people of his nationality are jealous and have hot tempers and it means he loves me. Is my mother right?

FRIGHTENED DEAR FRIGHTENED: (and you have a right to be) No one "nationality" has a corner on the hot temper. If you allow a man to abuse you in the courting stage, you'd better buy yourself a crash helmet for the years ahead. Your mother is wrong. This is NOT love. It's immaturity and brutality of the worst kind. Lose him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARY: An "excuse" is the skin of a reason stuffed with fear. Try again.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Takes Nerve To Be Human Cannon Ball

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — "It takes a lot of what you call guts, nerve and timing to be a human cannon ball."

So says the man who was the first one — Bruno Zacchini.

"All the way in the air you must think, you must have the reflex. An old man can't think like a young man. So I gave up the cannon," said Zacchini in his soft Italian accent.

Zacchini, now in his 50s, stepped from his spine-tingling profession 11 years ago.

With his wife and teen-age son and daughter, he travels with a carnival that closed a run this weekend at the Champaign County fairgrounds. He and his wife, a Ringling Brothers performer before marriage, run the spook show and the glass house.

Bruno's father originated the idea of the human cannon ball. Bruno became the first one as an experiment.

Father Zacchini tried to sell the idea to the Italian government during World War I. He proposed that big cannon could shoot soldiers behind the enemy lines.

"This was before airplanes, and my father had the idea that the soldier would come down in a parachute. The government was polite but they said my father was crazy."

"So to show them," said Zacchini, "I was shot out of the cannon. It worked very well but the government still did not like it. So my father had the idea about show business."

"Crazy or not, he was a man of ideas, my father."

Voting Records Offset Republican Claims That Ike Needs GOP-Controlled Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members from both parties apparently are making it difficult for Republicans to build up the campaign theme that President Eisenhower needs a GOP Congress to get his legislative program approved.

For instance, unless all the signs fail, Senate Democrats will have to furnish the lion's share of votes if Eisenhower's request for a five-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is approved.

Just as Republicans provided much of the opposition in the House, so the Senate finds its two top Republican leaders aligned against Eisenhower.

Senators Styles Bridges (R-NH) and William F. Knowland (R-Calif) are leading a drive to cut the extension to three years. Bridges heads the party policy committee and Knowland is minority floor leader.

On the other hand, some of those counted among the strongest GOP supporters of the trade program voted against many of the administration's amendments to the labor regulation bill the Senate has passed. These included senators Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), John S. Cooper (R-Ky), Irving Ives (R-NY), Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Edward J. Thye (R-Minn).

When the House passed a defense reorganization bill that was not fully satisfactory to the President, Republicans there wrote a record in support of Eisenhower's losing proposals. But Senate Republicans appear unlikely to muster even a majority of their members in support of similar amendments.

Knowland and Bridges led the successful Senate assault on proposed authority for Eisenhower to provide foreign aid for Iron Curtain countries.

The lad who takes the laurels in Thursday night's running of the Soap Box Derby has the chance of a lifetime in racing for first place in the All-American event.

Ninth place — Trans-oceanic portable radio. There also will be special trophy awards for the best brakes, for the best constructed car, for the best designed car, for the best upholstered car, for the car running the fastest heat.

The winner in the Big Spring Author Of 'Apple' Slogan Dies At 92

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John T. Stinson, a horticulturist who helped popularize the slogan "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," died Saturday of infirmities. Stinson, 92, was a former director of agricultural development of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The slogan came out of an Apple Day promotion staged when he was horticultural director of the St. Louis World's Fair.

Other prizes are to be awarded here. The Big Spring Derby will be run on the Lancaster Street track, from 14th northward with heats to start at 8 p.m. This will be the first time the event has been staged under lights, and because of the convenient, cooler hour, the Derby is expected to draw a record crowd. It is sponsored by the Downtown Lions Club, The Herald, and Tidwell Chevrolet.

BARBECUE
The betrothed couple, entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bridges Friday evening, received a luncheon cloth with their names and wedding date embroidered in the center. Around the edges, the guests registered; names will be embroidered later for permanency.

Joining the host couple for the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. White, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hazelwood Sr. and Mrs. Margaret Moffett.

Let Garden Furnish The Gift

How many times have you heard that old saying, "it's not the gift, it's the thought behind it that's important?" A gift from your own garden bestows much more than that.

The hosts had arranged a fresh pineapple, sliced and filled with fruit, as the center of the buffet table. Guests found their places at quartet tables, where there were fountain pens for the men and measuring spoons for the women.

Has A 'New Look'

Leslie Caron returned to Hollywood with husband and son to make the movie version of "Gigi" for MGM. She is more attractive than ever and tells what has brought about the great change in her "new look."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Complete Simplicity Goal Of Leslie Caron

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When Leslie Caron was called back to MGM to make "Gigi," people with whom she had worked for years passed her on the studio lot without recognizing her. Although her hair is the same color and she still wears very little make-up her face is unbelievably different.

When I mentioned this great change to Leslie she laughed and said: "It is true. I don't have the same face and I can prove it. Bill Tuttle, head of make-up, makes a mask of your face when you first come to the studio. He has mine hanging on the wall of his office. But when I looked at it recently I realized it didn't belong to me any more."

"I was confused and unhappy then but not any more," Leslie explained. Leslie smiled. "That just proves what a changed expression one can have when the glow of happiness radiates from within. It's like a portrait sitting that can be good or bad — depending more on the inner emotions of the person being painted than the artist."

"I'll never dance in ballet again," Leslie stated. This is a surprising statement from a girl who was a dedicated ballerina. "It's impossible to have two careers. When I was at MGM before, I was frustrated every time I was in a picture because it took me away from ballet. I know I've made the right decision," she declared.

YOUNG MODERNS

Teen Drivers Get Tips On Care Of Jalopies

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures
Now is the time for all good teen drivers to give that old jalopy a good look-see. Will it see you safely through the summer? Does it need overhauling? Is it in need of a good cleaning? How long has it been since it was washed?

Young moderns fall into one of two brackets when it comes to car ownership: They either neglect the car completely or they spend all their spare time fiddling around with it. There is life insurance in keeping your car in good form. You'll want a clean radiator. If the car is an old one and the former owner used alcohol anti-freeze, you may find yourself stalled one warm day when heading on a trip.

Exes Of State Normal Renew Old School Ties

Sunday, a reunion was held by a college alumni, some of whom had not seen each other for 45 years. Included were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor of Big Spring.

The gathering was held in Chisholm Restaurant in Brownwood, Sunday, and was attended by members of the classes of 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 of the North Texas State Normal, Denton.

The Taylors stopped in San Angelo for a visit with Shine Phillips, who is in the Memorial Hospital in that city. Saturday night, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Lackey in Brady Lackey is an alumnus of the Normal. Both couples made the trip to Brownwood on Sunday, stopping at a mountain lookout, where, as Mrs. Taylor phrased it, they "looked down on the heart of Texas." Four counties, McCullough, Brown, San Saba and Coleman, were visible from the elevation.

The wise housewife will take precautions to discourage pests before leaving on that vacation trip, says Jeanette Gladstone, home-making advisor of the New York Pest Control Assn. Even a two-week holiday, she says, will give bugs an annoying foothold unless correct preventative are used.

Likely sources of potential trouble are partly used containers of cereals, flour, peanut butter, jelly and nuts which often are left on kitchen shelves. These may attract weevils, hard to eradicate once they have arrived.

Meat Thermometer
Use a meat thermometer when you roast turkey. Insert it into the skin between the bird's first and second ribs so that the bulb end of the thermometer rests in the center of the stuffing.

Another basic precaution is to remove shelf covers and wash and with an insecticide containing chlordane or DDT. To discourage ant invasions it's a good idea to spray baseboards thoroughly, too. Always be sure to remove all garbage from containers and wash all refuse containers thoroughly. Remove grease from stove. Clean the underside and legs as well as the top of the kitchen table. Any traces of food or grease will attract both mice and cockroaches.

Explorers To Attend Camp

Ten members of Explorer Post No. 9, accompanied by their advisor and two assistants leave on Tuesday for Camp Philmont, N. M., for a 12-day outing in the mountains.

The boys, averaging 16 years of age, have earned the money to defray their trip by yard work and similar activities throughout the earlier part of the summer.

They will spend 12 days on a pack trip and return to Big Spring on July 7. Two ranch wagons and trailers will transport the group to Philmont which is near Cimmaron, N. M.

Don Campbell is advisor for the post which is sponsored by Wesley Methodist Church. His assistants are Rodney Roberts and Turner Ferguson.

The boys on the trip are Ray Alexander, Keith Campbell, Ralph Cather, Bud Combs, Dick Combs, Jerry Gilmore, Jake Glickman, Joe Bob Kitching, Perry Thomson and Leamon Bryant.

This is the first summer the post, as a group, has been able to attend the camp.

Action On Bracero Law Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Agriculture subcommittee headed by Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark) is postponing action on legislation proposing extension of the law permitting entry of Mexican farm laborers.

Gathings said the group decided there should be further study. This country now negotiates with Mexico for contracts under which 450,000 Mexican laborers annually enter the United States and work on farms.

Most laborers work in Texas and California. Rep. Clark Thompson (D-Tex), member of the subcommittee, said several members of the group felt there should be no action on bills relating to special problems "until Congress passes general farm legislation."

A Vacant Chair

These 13 women sat at a dinner table in New York for what was to have been a farewell party. The guest of honor was to have been Mrs. Annie Visconti, 64, retiring after 28 years with a cable and radio firm. But Mrs. Visconti did not arrive. She had died while putting on her party clothes. The women ate in silence and went home carrying the gifts they had brought for their friend.

Doctors Warned Against Freeloading Attitude Trend

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—America's doctors were told today that there is a growing tendency in this country to expect something for nothing, and that they should fight it. This attitude already has weakened the United States and if it continues to grow it will destroy it, said Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City in his address as retiring president of the American Medical Assn.

"There seems to exist in too many segments of our society—and especially in our federal government—the unsound philosophy that life owes each one of us all that he desires, and that in the face of these desires a beneficent government should gratify them," he said. "The resulting imbalance which is developing in every phase of our daily life discourages initiative by imposing heavy and disproportionate burdens upon productive and responsible citizens by granting undeserved profits to the unproductive and the irresponsible."

Dr. Allman said the AMA should continue its opposition to this philosophy every thought it may be criticized by some people for having a "negative approach" to current socio-economic problems. Dr. Gunnar Gundersen of La Crosse, Wis., incoming AMA president, said organized medicine is adapting itself to change.

Violent Death Toll Reaches 27

The Associated Press At least 27 persons met violent death in Texas over the weekend with traffic mishaps again taking the heaviest toll. Six persons were shot to death and four drowned. One was electrocuted accidentally and one was fatally stabbed.

Wet weather and floods in some areas which slowed traffic and reduced the visitors at recreation areas helped cut the toll below the violent deaths of previous weekends.

Nehru Calls Nagy Death Distressing

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today termed the execution of Imre Nagy "most distressing news both in itself and in its consequences."

Lebanon Bomb Kills 5 People

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A bomb exploded in a bustling shopping area of Beirut today, killing five persons including a woman and her child.

Youthful Pair Sent Home

KEARNY, N. J. (AP)—A pretty high school girl and her teenage boy friend were back in their separate homes today after a 10-day stay in a Southern hotel.

Helen Jones, 16, and David Horne, 17, parted at a detention home in Petersburg, Va., Sunday with an embrace, a kiss and a whispered vow.

Then, in turn, they were taken in tow by their shocked parents. The youngsters had been the object of a 13-state police alarm since last June 11, when they disappeared from their New Jersey homes.

The blonde girl and her handsome boy friend had met at the Second Presbyterian Church in Newark and had been going together for more than a year. David was an Explorer Scout at the church. His scoutmaster was Francis Jones, Helen's father.

Police found the couple registered as man and wife in a Petersburg hotel. "We love each other," they told authorities.

Their youth had prevented them from carrying out their plan to get married, they said.

Birds, Cause Of Blast Vaporized

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Police feared burglars were at work when a loud explosion was heard in the downtown area near two banks yesterday.

The police surrounded the banks, but found nothing. Summoned officials of the two banks found nothing amiss. Then a patrolman spotted an open circuit-breaker fuse on an overhead power line at the rear of the banks. Bert Mills, an electric company employe, gave this explanation:

Some birds used light strands of copper wire to build a nest in the circuit-breaker. A breeze apparently blew the loose ends of the copper wires against the high tension wires, setting off a 14,400-volt blast.

The birds and the nest couldn't be found after the explosion.

Indonesia Rebels Claim Victory

MANILA (AP)—The Indonesian rebel radio today claimed its forces had thrown back the Jakarta government's invaders in the North Celebes. The broadcast said 70 Jakarta soldiers were killed in one fight.

The broadcast tended to bear out a report from reliable military sources in Jakarta earlier today that the invasion force was still fighting for control of Manado, the last rebel stronghold in the North Celebes. The government radio in the South Celebes had announced Saturday that Manado had fallen but this was not confirmed officially in Jakarta.

Col. Ventje Sumual, insurgents' military leader, claimed the "enemy troops have not won a single battle" since landing a week ago.

Well, So Long As The Money Is Silver

BENTON, Ky. (AP)—Some 300 employes of an aluminum furniture manufacturer here have received their first pay — not in folding money or checks — but hard cash. To celebrate its opening, the factory gave out the first payroll of $8,800 in silver dollars. Employes got cloth sacks to carry it in.

New Evidence In Galindez Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore) today showed new papers which he said back up to the link a connection between U.S. flier Gerald Lester Murphy and Dr. Jesus de Galindez who disappeared in 1956.

Porter showed the documents to reporters in his office. They were papers which the New York Times said earlier were in Murphy's handwriting.

"I have no doubt and the Justice Department has no doubt as to their authenticity," he said. Porter long has been interested in the case, particularly since Murphy's parents live at Eugene, Ore., in his congressional district.

The State Department said consular officials found the documents in a steel file in Murphy's apartment in Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the Dominican Republic. The papers will go to Murphy's parents, Porter said.

The Times said the documents were found after Murphy's own disappearance Dec. 3, 1956. Galindez, a Columbia University lecturer and a critic of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo, disappeared in New York City March 12, 1956. Charges have been made that he was kidnaped, and later flown to the Dominican Republic by Murphy.

Murphy vanished in Ciudad Trujillo. Later, the Dominican government announced that he had been murdered by a Dominican pilot, who then committed suicide.

Morris L. Ernst, a New York lawyer, was engaged by the Trujillo government to investigate Galindez's disappearance. Ernst and a colleague issued a report that rejected the charge that Murphy had flown Galindez to the Dominican Republic. In effect, the report cleared Trujillo of any part in Galindez's disappearance.

The Times said the documents offer apparent contradictions of theories advanced by Ernst. Sunday night Ernst stood by his report.
