COUNTDOWN

It's A Long Wait To Final 'Zero'

By JIM ENGLAND Managing Editor Ogden Standard-Examiner

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—"T minus 600 minutes and counting," announces the test conductor.

And so begins the exhaustive, delicate countdown before the firing of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile. Before the technicians are 80 typewritten pages listing some 36,000 parts that must function properly before the test missile blasts off.

When the big "beasts," as they're nicknamed here, become operational, warmup and launching procedure will be measured in minutes rather than hours. At present, though, the countdown lasts from seven to 12 hours, depending on the number of "holds."

The minute-by-minute checks are necessary because research data are the prime purpose of the test firings. Scores of electrical circuits, instruments, valves, hydraulic systems, tanks, lines and hoses are checked one by one. Then attention turns to sub-systems and entire systems.

The testers don't get near the missile during the countdown. They do their work some 750 feet from the launching pad—in a torii-shaped concrete blockhouse jammed with testing equipment. They view the giant missile on four television receivers and through a like number of periscopes extending through the blockhouse roof.

SOFT-SPOKEN SCOT
The director of the four Atlas launching centers at this Air Force missile test center is F. M. MacNabb, a leathery-faced soft-spoken Scot.

Before the Atlas is launched, he explains, it has been static test fired at full power on the pad. Then a guard is placed over it until a time is cleared for takeoff.

When the test conductor starts a countdown, he reads off each item separately. For example, he might ask for "fueling valve check, and won't proceed to the next item until he receives verification that the valve can be activated remotely from the inside of the blockhouse and lights on the control panel show it is operational.

As you watch the procedure, he breaks in occasionally after a sequence to drone: "T minus 380 minutes and counting."

Everything is unusually silent as the minutes tick by. You watch the sweep of a second hand on a specially constructed clock mounted just under the four TV receivers. The only real sound is the voice of the test conductor and Bonds of $500 were set for Nathan W. Smith and Robert D. Dutchever. Both pleaded not guilty to DWI charges.

Two Killed In Truck Mishap

BRAWLEY, Calif. (AP)—The driver and a young girl passenger were killed today when their truck-trailer plunged into a drainage canal five miles east of Brawley.

Dead were Howard Markham, 43, of Denton, Tex., and Elizabeth Weir, 15, of Tucson, Ariz.

California highway patrolmen said the girl was asleep in the truck's sleeping compartment when the vehicle went through a highway stop sign on State Highway 115 and careened into the canal across the road.

The heavy load of foodstuffs shifted forward, fatally crushing the driver and the girl. It required more than four hours to extricate their bodies.

Ironworkers May Call Strike Monday

A considerable part of West Texas may be without union ironworkers on general construction Tuesday unless wage and other negotiations between contractor and labor representatives succeed. This report came Saturday from the West Texas Chapter of Associated General Contractors. The working agreements between the ironworkers locals at Wichita Falls and Amarillo and the West Texas Chapter of AGC expired April 1. Prior to the expiration union requests were for 40 cents an hour increase, plus 7 1/2 cents per hour contribution to a health and welfare fund.

Steel Workers In Panhandle Call A Strike

AMARILLO (AP)—A steel strike was called Saturday for Monday, threatening to halt construction work throughout West Texas and parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas. The wage strike was set by Local 408 of the International Union of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers (AFL-CIO), which has headquarters in Amarillo. The local's jurisdiction extends south of Odessa and Midland. A contract with the Assn. of General Contractors (AGC) expired April 1 and was extended 15 days. The 331 members of the local have been working without a contract since. The union asked 10 cents an hour increase now, another 10 cents Oct. 1 and 15 cents more on April 1, 1959 in a two-year contract retroactive to April 1. Of the Oct. 1 increase, 7 1/2 cents would go to the union welfare fund.

The Panhandle Chapter of the AGC, one of two groups with which the union has been bargaining, offered 12 1/2 cents an hour now with 7 1/2 cents going to the union welfare fund, 2 1/2 cents on Oct. 1 and 12 1/2 cents April 1, 1959. The offer totaled 7 1/2 cents an hour less than the union asked. The West Texas Chapter of the AGC, with headquarters at Lubbock, has made no offer although there have been several meetings with the union. The present wage scale is 3.12 1/2 cents an hour.

The strike call came from F.M. Hall, business agent for the local. He said contracts have been signed with six individual contractors in the area covering the employment of 40 or 50 men. Hall said the strike will exempt any church construction projects. The largest project affected is the Phillips Petroleum Co. Philblack plant extension at Borger. Other workers will walk out on schools and commercial buildings. Only a small part of the expansion work at the Amarillo Air Force Base will be affected.

Auto Labor Truce Completes A Month

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union today completed four weeks of a shaky labor truce in the auto industry. Since June 1, some 400,000 UAW members have been working without contracts at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Many are not working full time because of curtailed production. UAW members are under orders from President Walter P. Reuther not to strike. An outbreak of incidents heightened tension Friday as the union continued deadlocked contract negotiations with all three companies. No progress was reported as talks were recessed until Monday. Chrysler said it plans to resume production Monday at its Plymouth body and assembly plants in Detroit, where 5,400 employees were idled by a labor dispute. General Motors charged a continuation of sabotage at its Fisher body plant in Kansas City. UAW members picketed a Ford Motor Co. office building in Dearborn. But GM and Ford said production was not halted at any of their plants. UAW Administrative Assistant Art Hughes said Chrysler was to blame for the shutdowns at the Plymouth body and assembly plants. He accused the company of attempting to increase the production quotas of employees. Chrysler said it had to close the plants on two shifts because of a work stoppage that followed a scuffle between two supervisors and two workers. The developments at the Plymouth plants came after the union asked strike votes there and in many Big Three plants across the nation in support of new contract demands. The strike votes are running better than nine to one in favor of strike action, the UAW said. The union said exact figures were not immediately available.

Mother Had Right Name; After 13 Sons, A Daughter

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP)—The 13 sons of the Matthew Wagners had a flock of boys names ready for the new baby in the family. But it turned out their mother had the winning combination. She picked Mary Ann. The first girl in the all-boy family that, Wagner says, "takes what God gives us," is due home this weekend from Holy Family Hospital. Born Wednesday, she scaled a robust 10 pounds, 6 1/4 ounces. Home for the Wagners is a 38-acre dairy farm on which everyone shares the work. Obviously the boys hadn't counted on having a sister, and Wagner admitted today that he had "given up all ideas of having a girl." But his wife, Julitta, thought differently. "I have an idea she had that named picked out five years ago—just hoping," said Wagner. The boys, though, had been asked for suggestions. Each had favorite names and we wrote them all down—all boy's names." Wagner said the boys reacted quite naturally to the happy news. "They didn't say much, but everyone of them grinned from ear to ear. With that many brothers to look out for her, Mary Ann ought to make out all right," he added. "Will there be more children?" "I will rain tomorrow," answered Wagner. "Who knows? We are a Catholic family and we take what God gives us. So far we have nothing to complain about." Even the hospital got into the spirit of the thing. Mrs. Wagner's hospitalization was "on the house."

Mrs. Overman's Mother Dies

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Norton for Mrs. Felix Little, mother of Mrs. D. W. Overman of Big Spring. Mrs. Little, 72, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of a son in Los Angeles. Her home was in Vernon Parish, La. Death was attributed to a heart ailment. In addition to Mrs. Overman, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Chester Derrick of Andrews; one son, J. N. Robinson of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Donnie Little of Big Spring and Mrs. Maude Hay of Hearne; two brothers, Willie Hill of Bryan and Rex Hill of San Antonio, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mrs. Little was a longtime member of the Baptist church and the family lived in the Norton community for a number of years prior to Mr. Little's death in 1941.

McClellan Group To Open New Probe On Gangs In Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes predicted Saturday they will unmask in hearings starting Monday a criminal combine wielding great power in businesses and labor unions. Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said hearings by the committee he heads will show a continuing tie between what the senator called an American criminal syndicate and the departed gangster Charles (Lucky) Luciano in Italy. Some, McClellan said, call it the Mafia. He said he has subpoenaed 100 witnesses, including many racketeers and gangsters, for hearings here which will run off and on for months. McClellan said President James R. Hoffa on the Teamsters Union, with whom the committee has tangled previously, may be heard next month. The starting point, McClellan said, will be an effort to cut through mystery still surrounding an assemblage raided last November by police at Apalachin, N. Y. The police hinted but never proved that mobsters and others had gathered to carve up rackets left without a boss by the killing of Albert Anastasia. Some of those at Apalachin were evidently reputable businessmen. McClellan said the hearings will switch from the Apalachin meeting to a study of gangster operations in the garment industry in New York, Scranton and Pittston, Pa.; then to Detroit and Chicago. Next, he said, they will cover other cities from coast to coast. St. Louis, Mo., East St. Louis, Ill., Cleveland, Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco had been named as among the cities whose underworlds were under scrutiny. McClellan and Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, named Vito Genovese, New York mobster, as perhaps the major witness from the Apalachin meeting ordered to be on hand for the hearing Monday. McClellan said some men who had nothing to do with the Apalachin meeting also are under subpoena. "Because some of these matters will directly affect the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and James R. Hoffa, its general president," McClellan said, "it is expected that Hoffa will be called to testify before the end of July." He said Hoffa will be quizzed at that time also about the committee's accusations that Hoffa conspired with Carpenters Union President Maurice A. Hucheson in an attempt to fix an Indiana grand jury.

Texas Labor Says Using Own Money

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Organized labor hit back Saturday at Senate race campaign charges that "out of state" union funds have been sent into Texas for use of certain political candidates.

The money, said Jerry Holleman, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, was voluntarily contributed by Texas workers and funneled back into Texas for election of candidates labor thinks are best for Texas.

He issued the statement sharply criticizing Senate candidate William Blakley who has made what he calls big union bossism effort to defeat Sen. Ralph Yarborough for re-election.

This followed publication of news stories reporting on union funds earmarked for Yarborough in his 1957 Senate race. Yarborough called the report a "desperate effort" to help Blakley's campaign.

It was Texas workers' own money, gathered in $1 contributions, and not "out-of-state" money," Holleman said.

Gov. Price Daniel's supporters will give his re-election campaign a big formal send-off at a downtown Austin rally Monday in a week of stepped-up activity in all Democratic primary races.

Many candidates for major offices as well as those seeking judicial posts will concentrate in San Antonio at mid-week when the State Bar convention draws thousands from over the state into easy handshaking reach.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough was back in Texas for a weekend of intensive campaigning. His opponent, William Blakley, planned to spend two and a half days campaigning in San Antonio.

RALLY IN WACO
Blakley ended a heavy week with a rally at Waco Saturday in which he told supporters "This is show-down time in Texas and we are on our way to victory."

Monday and Tuesday in San Antonio he will continue his handshaking campaign and appear for 30 minutes on WOAI-TV Tuesday night. He will appear at the Bar convention Wednesday.

Yarborough, whose wife and son have been making personal appearances for him while he was in Washington, flew back to Texas Friday for a last round of appearances. At Dallas he spoke to the Texas-New Mexico convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, Saturday he was a luncheon guest of San Antonio business men. He also appeared at the Luling watermelon thump and at Kenedy. Monday he will open his Dallas County headquarters.

In the governor's race, downtown Woodbridge Park will be the scene of Daniel's formal campaign opening. The natural amphitheater is a traditional speaking place for candidates. Daniel will be at his desk all day Monday, and Tuesday will dedicate a monument at Whitney as part of Hamilton County's centennial.

DALLAS DATE
Tuesday Daniel will be in Dallas to speak to the Democratic Women's Forum. Wednesday he will address the Bar in a morning session.

The ground swell has started just like it did in 1938 and is "moving right along" to victory as it did that year, W. Lee O'Daniel said in Waco of his race for governor. He won his first race for governor that year over a big field of experienced politicians.

"I am completely overwhelmed with the response I have received here," O'Daniel said after his television appearance at Waco. O'Daniel returned to Dallas Saturday. He has announced no plans for next week.

Henry Gonzalez had a Saturday daytime speaking engagement at Vernon in Northwest Texas. Then he planned to fly to Laredo for a night meeting.

Stocks Advance In Year's First Half

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced impressively in the first half of 1958 despite the business recession.

The market has now won back about 60 per cent of the losses suffered in the sharp decline from last July to the Oct. 22 low.

Although corporate earnings were slashed and dividends cut or omitted by many firms, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated 30 billion dollars, based on stock exchange figures and the rise in The Associated Press average.

In the past week the market consolidated recent gains to new 1958 highs. The AP stock average managed a 50 cent gain to $174.30, not much below this year's top of $175.40.

The market declined on the first two days and rose on the last three. The lower-priced stocks and more speculative issues were favored as the blue chips rested.

The six-months upsurge in the face of poor "fundamentals"—the lower earnings and dividends—bred a large army of skeptics on Wall Street. They regard present stock prices as "unrealistic." They backed this opinion with their money, creating the largest short interest since the exchange began recording this in May 1951.

The short sellers are betting on a sizable market decline. Their short sales are a record 5,795,105 shares. This represents the sale of borrowed stock which "shorts" hope to repay through future purchases at lower prices, thus making profits.

Editor Of WAFF Paper Transferred

At Webb for the past year, Sgt. Paul expects to spend at least two years on Okinawa. He has served in the armed forces for about 13 years. He will move his family to the islands as soon as housing is available.

Before going overseas, Paul and his family will spend a month's leave in California.

More than 2,000 persons are expected to attend the convention, said L. H. Tapscott, secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Brotherhood department. This will be the first time that the organization has met with the general Texas Baptist convention.

Other speakers for the convention include Dr. Glenn Archer, executive secretary of Protestants and other Americans United for the Separation of Church and State; Dr. Duke McCall, president, Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky. and Dr. T. B. Lackey, executive secretary, Oklahoma Baptists. The convention theme will be "God's Men and Today's Issues."

Big 'Tug-Of-War' To Open Baptist Boys' Convention

Royal Ambassadors from Big Spring Baptist churches have challenged El Dorado, Ark., RAs in a "Wrangler's Match" for the second Southern Baptist Convention Royal Ambassador Congress to be held Aug. 12-14 in Fort Worth.

Baptist youth from both towns will vie in tug-of-war contests during pre-session periods of the giant Congress, said associational Baptist Royal Ambassador leader T. B. Faulker, 1415 Wood, Big Spring. Both towns are about the same size and distance from Fort Worth. They are among 35 cities in Texas and nearby states competing in the "Wrangler's Matches."

"The city with the most boys attending the Congress," said Texas RA secretary Robert Chapman, "will be expected to win the tug-of-war."

A rodeo on a ranch near Fort Worth will inaugurate the three-day meeting. Sessions will be held in the giant Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. Part of the Congress will feature dramatic demonstrations of Baptist mission work. Fifty-two foreign and home mission-

State Agencies To Seek More Money

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite the much-vaunted prospects of a fat tax bill in the next Legislature, most state agencies, it appeared Saturday, will ask for even greater appropriations than before.

Months ago, State Comptroller Robert Calvert officially predicted the state would face a 100 million dollar deficit at the beginning of the next biennium Sept. 1, 1959. This didn't anticipate any increased budgets for the state departments.

Gov. Price Daniel recently appointed a blue-ribbon economy committee to study every possible economy in the use of state funds and all sources of state revenue which may be available without the levy of more taxes. He also said he could envision no prospect of an overall cutback in state spending because of the state's growth.

HEARINGS

For several weeks, budget hearings have been held and will continue into July but all of the biggest agencies examined to date want more money. The Legislature, meeting in January, will have to pass an appropriation bill for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1959.

In his budget request, Calvert asked for an increase in his salary from $17,000 to $20,000 and an increase in money from the state's general fund for his office from $400,000 in 1958 to $1,015,537 in 1960. The total budget for 1960 is $1,982,153.

Calvert and others in his office, which is the state's principal accounting office and main revenue gathering agency, told Senate investigators recently that shortages of personnel, low salaries and low penalties are factors preventing maximum collection of escaping taxes. Sen. Charles Herring, head of the committee, said Texas was losing up to 25 million dollars a year in uncollected taxes.

The prison system, already giving notice it would ask for a $500,000 emergency appropriation to finish out fiscal 1959, will ask for more than nine million dollars in new construction.

PRISON PROBLEM

O. B. Ellis, general manager, said the state prison population would increase to 11,500 by Sept. 1, 1959. "In some places," he said, "we have three men living in spaces which should have only one inmate. The board is very anxious that the governor and the Legislature be aware of the explosive conditions which exist as a result of overcrowding."

The system proposes to build a reformatory-type prison for 16-21 year olds at its old Ferguson Farm site on the Trinity River at a cost of four million dollars; buy new land near Huntsville to build a new prison similar to the Eastham unit for 1,500 men at a cost of 4½ million dollars; this would replace the Blue Ridge Farm near Houston which the board wants to sell; a tuberculosis hospital building at the Wynne farm at a cost of $300,000; and an industrial building to house the broom, mop, mattress and garment factories at a cost of $250,000.

The budget also includes $749,206 more in salaries, including $657,900 for additional guards.

The judiciary has asked for a total budget of $15,074,037 in fiscal 1960 compared to 1957 expenditures of $3,674,931. Most of the 11 courts of civil appeals asked for between $15,000-$20,000 more.

The Board of Control, the state's official purchasing agent for more than 200 state agencies, requested an increase in personnel from 189 to 289 with a corresponding salary increase from $647,869 to $995,338 in 1960.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT
Executive Director William Burke asked for a raise from $12,000 to $15,000 a year. The 1957 board expenditure was $759,860, the 1958 appropriation $1,010,304 and the 1960 request is $1,802,834.

The Department of Health asked for a budget boost from $6,098,510 in fiscal 1959 to $8,844,078 in 1960. The board was appropriated $6,241,177 in state money for the current two year period and the new request will include $10,835,331 in general revenue funds.

The General Land Office, asking for an increase in personnel from 164 to 221, jumped its budget from $948,777 in fiscal 1958 to $1,399,300 in 1960. The Department of Public Safety submitted a budget of $12,977,856 compared with $11,254,757 in 1958. The adjutant general's office budget was hiked from $785,710 in 1957 to $957,607 in 1960 and the state auditor's office from $412,102 in 1957 to $467,798 in 1960.

The Case Of The Missing Bride Happily Solved

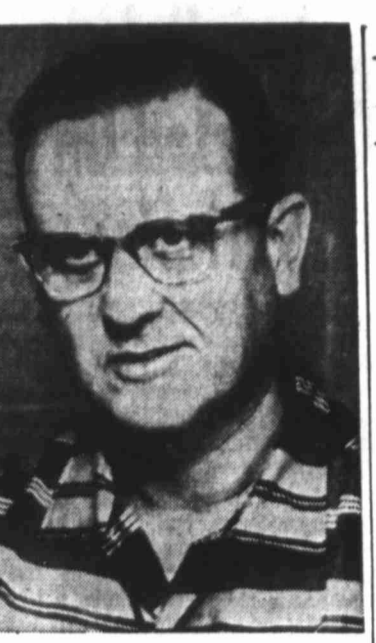

NEW YORK (AP) — Irene Arzedi, who disappeared five hours before her scheduled wedding to Joseph Pinto last Feb. 22, was married to him Saturday.

She was quiet but nervous as she entered Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Brooklyn for the 10-minute Roman Catholic ceremony.

The Rev. A. Benincase, who officiated, closed the church doors to photographers, reporters, and about 200 bystanders.

As they left the church, Mrs. Pinto, 29, refused to speak to newsmen. However, Pinto, 31, said: "This is the happy ending to the story. We knew all along we were going to be married."

A wide search was conducted for Mrs. Pinto after she had failed to appear for the February ceremony. She was located eight days later, saying she had become frightened and had taken a bus trip to Los Angeles.

MEN IN SERVICE

Maj. Leo G. Bradford, base operations officer at Johnson AFB in Tokyo, Japan, and formerly operations officer at Webb AFB, recently helped organize the Tokyo Baptist Church and became its first pastor. Four others were ordained also, all of them Air Force men.

The congregation is nearly all military, and it began as the Tokyo Southern Baptist Military Fellowship, which Maj. Bradford also helped organize when he arrived in Japan 20 months ago. The group met at the Tokyo Chapel Center until a church in Shibuya was built and dedicated last April 13.

At the ordination services Dr. W. R. Pettigrew, pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist Church in Louisville, Ky., who is touring Bpapist missions, was the preacher. The Rev. William H. Jackson Jr., a Southern Baptist missionary, is acting pastor.

Maj. Bradford is a brother of C. L. (Bill) Bradford of Big Spring.

He was stationed here originally in World War II as a pilot in a bombardier school, and shortly after Webb was activated, he was returned to this base. Both he and Mrs. Bradford were active in the First Baptist Church.

The Oak Hill will visit Hawaii, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, Philippine Islands, Hong Kong, and possibly Australia in October before returning to its home port in San Diego Dec. 11.

While in Yokosuka, Japan, Bunn will visit T. Sgt. and Mrs. Joe N. Gilreath and daughters who live near Tokyo. Mrs. Gilreath is Bunn's cousin, the former Ruby Bunn of Fort Worth. Bunn is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Christian University.

PAGEANT, FIREWORKS Fourth Of July Plans Complete

All plans have been completed for Big Spring's traditional Fourth of July beauty pageant and fireworks display and with the exception of a couple of pageant rehearsals the stage is set for the gala event.

There are 65 local beauties competing for the titles of Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County for 1958. Fifty-four are in the Big Spring division and 11 are entered in the Howard County division of the pageant.

The pageant will be staged in the City Park Amphitheatre, starting at 8:15 p.m. Friday. The fireworks will follow at about 10 p.m. The display will be set off on the hillside immediately in front of the amphitheatre, so spectators can witness both events without changing seats.

J. N. Young Jr., manager of Radio Station KBST, is to serve as master of ceremonies for the pageant. A color guard from Webb will participate in activities, and music will be provided by The Continentals, a local band.

A brief dramatization of the origin of the Star Spangled Banner will be staged following the pageant, immediately preceding the fireworks display.

Winners of the first three places in each division of the pageant are to receive awards from local merchants. Also to be honored are Cheryl Turner of Coahoma, billed as Miss Howard County of 1970, and Kim Guthrie, Miss Big Spring, 1970.

The fireworks show will include seven ground display and an assortment of 87 aerial pieces ranging from bomb bursts to star shells. The ground show will include a huge "Welcome" display, flying saucer, silver spruce forest, Niagara Falls, the American Flag and a 200-shot machine gun battery.

A crowd of more than 10,000 persons is anticipated for the twin Independence Day show. The Chamber of Commerce is sponsor of the fireworks portion of the program, and the Business & Professional Women's Club is sponsor of the beauty pageant.

B&PW officials said contestants and their escorts are to report to the amphitheatre at 7:30 p.m. Monday and again on Wednesday for rehearsals. A party will be staged for the group at Cosden Country Club following the final rehearsal.

Toy Animals All Over The Place

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — Bears, panthers, tigers, cats and dogs were all over the place—and so were kids and cops.

But it was the kids who had the cops hopping around the New York Central's freight station. The varmints were only cute, cuddly stuffed toys. And hordes of tots running merrily about, all seemed to have them.

It seemed three little boys had gotten into a boxcar and hauled out three cases of the stuffed toys, which they hid under the station platform until "later."

Not very much later, though. Other youngsters discovered the treasure trove and it was a great day—until the big roundup began.

East Texas State Studies Come Under Alumni Fire

AUSTIN (AP) — The affairs of East Texas State College at Commerce were discussed, sometimes heatedly, at a meeting of ex-students and college representatives here Friday.

The meeting, not an official one of the ex-students, was spiced by the unheralded arrival of four ETSC faculty members who said they came to answer questions in behalf of Dr. James Gee, president.

"Why are you here?" was the first question and Dr. Kenneth Evans, professor of sociology, replied:

"President Gee heard that a meeting was going to be held. He thought we should have someone here to answer questions."

The discussion that followed immediately was on the "general studies program" that has caused controversy at the college and among former students. It was explained as an exploratory program.

Fireworks started when William Bowen began asking questions.

Goldfine Had Big Orders Under Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) and Styles Bridges (R-NH) defended Saturday as part of a Congress member's job the practice of interfering with government regulatory agencies.

The issue of whether a senator or House member should call on these quasi-judicial agencies for aid to constituents has been pointed up by the controversy over Sherman Adams' relations with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

The Pentagon disclosed, meanwhile, that Goldfine in the last two years of the Truman administration received four times as much dollar volume in defense contracts as he has since his friend Adams came to Washington in 1953 as President Eisenhower's top aide.

The contract figures — roughly 10½ million dollars and 2½ million for the respective periods — were supplied by the Defense Department at a reporter's request. There was no suggestion of impropriety in connection with any of the contract awards.

KOREAN WAR

The last two years of the Truman administration coincided with the Korean War—a time of heavy clothing buying by the armed forces to outfit troops in the cold Korean winters. Goldfine is a big manufacturer of textiles. A House Commerce subcommittee inquiring into Goldfine's relations with Adams has heard no direct testimony that Adams ever sought to land contracts for Goldfine, from whom he had accepted expensive favors and hospitality.

It has heard allegations from Boston financier John Fox, former publisher of the defunct Boston Post, that Goldfine once boasted Adams would take care of a case against Goldfine pending in the Federal Trade Commission.

Adams, Goldfine and the White House had denounced Fox's testimony over a period of two days as a parcel of malicious lies.

Adams has acknowledged he acted imprudently in asking two federal agencies about the status of cases involving Goldfine, but he denied he had exerted any influence in his friend's behalf. Some of Adams' defenders have said he did no more than members of Congress do daily.

RESPONSIBILITY

Mansfield, acting Senate Democratic leader, said he believes there is a difference in the responsibilities of elective and appointive officials in this field.

"While I would not say that appointive officials should not make inquiries of the regulatory agencies about individual cases, a call from certain areas of government carries significant weight, and that applies in all administrations," he said.

"By and large I think calls from appointive officials have been mostly legitimate. But appointive officials do not have the same responsibility in this field as elected officials."

"We're here to give our constituents service, and when we fail to do that, we don't stay around here long. So long as I am here I'm going to try to give the folks of Montana the very best service I can."

Mrs. Watters Dies Saturday

Mrs. Millie Watters, 83, died of 6:15 a.m. Saturday at her home at 200 Carey. She had been ill only a short time.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Nalley-Pickle Chapel with Earl C. Evans, Church of Christ minister, officiating. Burial will be in the I.O.O.F. Section of the City Cemetery.

Mrs. Watters was born Nov. 22, 1874, in Memphis, Tenn. She and her husband, beside whose grave she will be buried, came here in 1924 from South Texas. He died Dec. 6, 1939.

Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. Otha Lee Hill, whose husband was fatally wounded in a hunting accident in January; one son, W. W. Watters, Lufkin; one sister, Mrs. Elzadie James, Dale; one brother, Peter Copeland, Dale; 9 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Joe Torres, charged Friday with assault with intent to commit murder, was taken into custody Friday night when officers trailed Torres' wife to a secret meeting with the suspect in the south part of town.

He was released from jail Saturday after posting $2,000 bond.

Torres was charged with assaulting Leon Benavides in a motel room early Friday morning. Sheriff's officers said the defendant's wife, Trinidad Torres, was struck on the head with a gun during the incident.

Benavides, shot in the left leg and stomach, was still in critical condition at the VA Hospital Saturday. Doctors said it would be two or three days before they could say definitely whether he will recover.

U.S. Sailors Seized By Cuban Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Twenty-nine American sailors were reported seized Saturday night after a picnic trip off the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo in southeast Cuba. U.S. embassy sources indicated there was a possibility the sailors had been kidnapped by Fidel Castro's rebels.

Search parties began hunting the area but reported no trace of the sailors.

(The National Broadcasting Co. said in New York its Havana correspondent reported the American servicemen had been seized by rebels.)

A bus in which they were traveling for the picnic in the Cuban countryside was found on a road east of the City of Guantanamo. A State Department press officer in Washington said the department was checking into reports of the "incident in an effort to see what has happened to these men." The Navy in Washington had no comment.

Guantanamo Navy Base, on the southeast tip of Cuba, is in an area that has been the center of the revolt led by Castro against the government of President Fulcio Batista.

Thursday night Cuban rebels seized 10 American and 2 Canadian engineers at Moa, in northeast Cuba. They still are being held.

THE WEEK

contract for a quarter of a million dollars of water and sewer line work Friday. These extensions will serve Webb AFB and its housing area. The sewer line will constitute a new outfall to serve the south end of the city also.

Bank deposits of $27¼ million were up almost a million dollars from June a year ago, statements revealed Friday. This is a 3½ per cent gain. Loans were down by 5 per cent. This financial barometer continues to show progressive strength.

Speaking of banks, the State National Bank installed two new electronic bookkeeping machines which do about everything but sweep the floor. When an account sheet is inserted, the old balance is picked up instantly and automatically. No credits or debits can be entered unless check accounts numbers tally with the account sheet number. Now if someone will just invent an electronic money putter-inner, we'll all have it made.

City limits were extended to embrace 278 additional acres last week, but a good part of it is in the City Park. The principal net addition is in the Douglass addition and territory to the west of it.

Col. John Fitzwater, commander of the 33rd division of the Air Force, was here last week to give the community a briefing on the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron which begins its move here in August. He also told how the SAGE direction control center, a $7 million dollar facility (with $35 million of equipment) will fit into the picture.

The big beauty pageant sponsored by the B&P Club and the Chamber of Commerce's free fireworks display are set for July 4 (Friday) at the City Park. Of course we can predict a beautiful crop of beauties, and also that despite the big fireworks show there will be brassy kids shooting off firecrackers all around the crowd.

George S. Robinson, representing the Air Force Secretary, was here to inspect the Capehart housing project. While he made no public announcement to the effect, the Air Force is concerned about the lag in this 460-unit project.

Coahoma sent a delegation here to protest the application of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company to close the depot at Coahoma. "We're growing and will need the depot more than ever," Coahoma's Mayor W. C. Hutchens said in effect. "We're losing money on it," the T&P indicated. The railroad commission will have to decide.

Police kept the radar speed unit busy last week and nailed a number of heavy-footed drivers. Police Chief C. L. Rogers said the object was not to boost revenues but rather to control speed more closely. As word got around, the radar unit appeared to be accomplishing that.

New telephone directories are due to be mailed this week. If your old directory curls up on the corners to where you have trouble turning the pages, try a different procedure on the new one. Just flip the pages from the center of the book rather than on the corners.

Cuban Rebels Contacted On U. S. Hostages

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The United States decided Saturday to deal directly with Fidel Castro's rebels for the release of 10 American and 2 Canadian engineers held in the hot mountain jungles of northeastern Cuba.

U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith ordered U.S. Consul Park Wollan to attempt to make contact with the rebels from Moa, the north coast city where a band of 200 rebels kidnaped the men Thursday night.

Emissaries of the Moa Mining Co. went into the mountains Friday but apparently failed in their attempt to win release of the men. The engineers were working on a company building site.

In Washington, the State Department said it had a report that the rebels would release the men soon. Press Officer Francis Tully said the report had come from sources in the United States purporting to represent the Cuban rebels.

A Cuban driver for the Moa Co., who had been taken along by the kidnapers, has returned and reported the captives are unharmed and are being well cared for. He said he also was advised the rebels will release them soon.

The wife of one of the kidnaped men said she had been told by a rebel leader that the men were being well cared for and would be released in a few days.

Mrs. John Schissler, wife of a California engineer, quoted the rebel as saying the men had been taken in reprisal for direct U.S. military aid to the Cuban government.

The rebels charged that the United States had permitted Cuban army planes to use the Guantanamo Navy Base airport for operations against them. They also charged that the planes had received fuel from the base supply.

Smith denied these charges.

A Cuban army communiqué said the kidnapings were the work of Communist groups led by Raul Castro, brother of the rebel leader. Raul Castro has been in charge of rebel forces on the north coast of easternmost Oriente Province. Fidel Castro operates from the mountains in the southern part of the province.

Informal sources said they found it impossible to believe Hammarskjold could have taken such a hopeful line on the basis of what he had learned in Lebanon. They thus reasoned that the explanation is to be found in what he learned in Cairo of Nasser's plans.

Hammarskjold emphasized he believes a team of U. N. observers now being built up in Lebanon will be sufficient to carry out the U. N. assignment there. Authorities in Washington said the United States will support Hammarskjold in any action he recommends, even though some are skeptical about the success of his plan.

The U. N. mission is to discourage outside intervention in Lebanese affairs by the infiltration of arms and men who have been coming over the Lebanese-Syrian border. Syria is a part of the Arab Republic, and Nasser's Cairo Radio for weeks has carried on a campaign of violent agitation against President Camille Chamoun's government at Beirut.

State Department officials said it was probably significant that Nasser had accepted the U. N. observer operation in the first place instead of persuading the Soviet government to veto it in the U. N. Security Council. They said it also was significant that he had not launched open military operations which would have constituted aggression against Lebanon that would have required the United States and Britain—under assurances they had given Chamoun—to intervene with force.

Alfred Noyes, Poet, Succumbs

ISLE OF WIGHT, England (AP)—Alfred Noyes, 77, a robust British writer who made a living on poetry, died in a hospital today. Probably his best known poem was "Kew in Lilac Time." Another, "The Highwayman," was made into a movie.

Six feet, 200 pounds, clean-shaven and short-haired, Noyes was a far cry from the popular conception of a poet. But his poems immediately became popular here and in the United States. Many of them were set to music.

He made 15 trips to the United States and lectured in more than 1,000 U. S. communities. He was professor of modern English literature at Princeton University from 1913 to 1923. He held honorary degrees from Yale, the University of California, and Syracuse University. He was graduated from Oxford.

In 1907 Noyes married Garnett Daniels, daughter of a U.S. Army officer, Col. E. G. Daniels. She died in 1926. Later he married an English widow, Mary Weld-Blundell. They had one son and two daughters.

Safety Award T&P Receives

For the fifth consecutive year, the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. has been selected to receive the National Safety Council's Golden Rail Spike Award for its public safety activities. G. C. Stewart, executive vice president for the organization in Chicago announced Saturday.

The citation is awarded to organizations which meet certain high standards in the promotion and encouragement of public safety in homes, schools and communities.

Heading the list of T&P's public safety activities program, under the direction of J. H. Williams, superintendent of safety, are the T&P Ladies Safety Councils. The first council was organized in 1951 at Shreveport, La. Today, there are 12 such organizations at terminals and shop points along the railroad's main line with a membership in force of more than 2,000.

The primary purpose of the T&P Ladies Safety Councils is the encouragement of off-the-job and home safety.

In selecting the Texas and Pacific Railway Company for the award, the National Safety Council also considered the railroad's use of roadside billboards advocating safety by posters reading "Stop, Look, Listen and Live" and "Be Safe Today, Be Here Tomorrow."

34 Strep Throat Cases Reported

Strep throat was the big malady here last week numberwise, according to the weekly report made by the city-county health unit.

The report showed 34 cases of strep throat, almost three times as many as the nearest other disease, mumps. There were 14 cases of mumps reported.

Twelve cases of tonsillitis were reported, the same number as had influenza. Six cases of diarrhea were recorded and four cases of measles and chicken pox. Three persons each had gastroenteritis and gonorrhea, and two each had pneumonia, pertussis, and pink eye. One case each of tuberculosis and virus completed the disease survey.

Latin Relations Get Johnson's Attention

LAREDO — Senator Lyndon B. Johnson said Saturday the United States should give first priority to a broad and sincere examination of its policies toward the other American republics.

"As a nation we must not forget that no matter where we turn we can find no better allies than our next door neighbors," he said in a speech to the banquet of the 29th annual convention of the League of Latin Americans. About 1,000 delegates from 15 states are attending the convention.

Johnson rode in a parade through the downtown business district shortly after his arrival here in late afternoon.

He told the banquet audience his visit was something of a homecoming for his first job after leaving college was as school teacher in nearby Cotulla.

Johnson referred to recent anti-American demonstrations in South American countries. And said persons living in this United States-Mexico border area "feel a very close and personal involvement in these sad events because our ties with Latin America are so intimate and numerous and we have a very special responsibility, a very special opportunity in maintaining those relationships as they ought to be."

He praised the Good Neighbor Policy announced by President Franklin Roosevelt in 1933 as "beginning a program of international relations which had no parallel in the world's history."

"Friendship can not be bought and the real secret of the policy's success was to treat each other as good neighbors with genuine respect," Johnson said.

Both U.S. And Nasser Want To Avoid Lebanon Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western leaders and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic alike showed signs Saturday of backing away from a head-on collision over Lebanon.

Washington's fears that the strife in that divided land might lead to a general Middle East war have declined.

U.S. officials said Saturday a Western show of force in the eastern Mediterranean may have impressed the highly nationalistic, pan-Arabic government at Cairo and persuaded Nasser it would be unwise for him to go too far in supporting the Lebanese rebel cause.

Some Washington officials thought it encouraging that Nasser had decided to go through with his plans for a visit to President Tito of Yugoslavia. He set sail Saturday on a trip that will keep him away from Egypt for about three weeks.

Other officials said there was danger of wishful thinking about the Egyptian leader's plans. They said his absence from his own capital would be a smart cover if he were planning some major stroke by which pro-Nasser rebels would seek to crush the present pro-Western government of Lebanon.

Thus there were divided views on the Lebanese crisis, which has been one of the most dangerous since President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have faced in many months.

Informal officials said it would be foolish to make predictions. But on one point, which could prove to be a critical clue to the way the crisis is going, there was general agreement.

Around the State Department, officials agreed that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold had returned last week from a Middle East mission in an unexpectedly optimistic mood about the prospects for bringing the Lebanese situation under control.

Trade Barometers Strong In S'west

DALLAS (AP) — Retail sales, bank deposits, construction contracts, and the agricultural outlook brightened during May in the 11th Federal Reserve District.

The Federal Reserve Bank said that on the other hand, new car registrations continued to drop in metropolitan areas.

Non-agricultural employment in the district, which includes Texas and portions of Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico and Arizona, showed a small seasonal gain in May but was nearly 1 per cent less than a year ago. Texas unemployment declined again in May to 5.4 per cent of the labor force.

Crude oil production during the first half of June was up 3 per cent from May but was 24 per cent under June 1957.

Member banks in the district reported a gain of $245,200,000 during the month ending June 18. Retail sales during May rose 16 per cent above April and 3 per cent above May of last year. Construction contracts in April were up 11 per cent over March and 29 per cent above April 1957.

New car registrations in metropolitan areas dropped 3 per cent in May compared to April and were 33 per cent under a year ago.

Sailors Take On Bull Fighter Role

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A hundred U.S. sailors, dressed in white uniforms, climbed into a ring with a young bull Saturday.

The bull had padded horns and for an hour, spectators in the stands roared as the sailors threw or rode the bull or got thrown or butted by him.

The young bull was turned loose for the sailors at the end of a bullfight in honor of Vice Adm. Bernard Liege Austin, commander of the U.S. 2nd Fleet, and his men.

Shroyer To Sell Dayton Tires

Shroyer Motor Co., in business in Big Spring for 27 years at the same location, is adding a new line.

Justin Holmes, manager, announced Saturday that the concern had been designated as authorized dealer for Dayton Rubber Co. products in Big Spring.

The event is being celebrated by an introduction sale, he said.

Dayton Rubber Co. derives its name from its original location in Dayton, Ohio, in 1905, and it has been in continuous operation since that date. Today there are other plants at Dayton, N. C., Toronto, Canada, Hawthorne, Calif., and Baton Rouge, La. Dayton lays claim to having been the first to develop and produce cold rubber which some regard as one of the most significant discoveries in the history of tire treads. This is marked under the trade name of Daycord and has, by some tests, yielded up to 65 per cent more original miles than natural rubber treads. Another first is its "electronic" cord, so named because each cord is fabricated under electronic controls to insure uniformity, accuracy and safety.

Holmes said a large line of tires has been stocked for the introductory event at 424 E. 3rd Street.

Soaring Bank Deposits Show Strength Of Texas Economy

Booming bank deposits — spectacular in some cases and strongly encouraging in others, pointed up Saturday the vigor of Texas' economy in the face of recession talk in some parts of the nation. Many cities added up all-time record deposits as of June 23 — when banks were ordered to account to the U. S. comptroller of the Treasury and the Texas Banking Commission. Almost all banks reported good increases over the mid-year bank call last year — when there was not a whisper of the recession which has occupied businessmen and economists since. A few cities reported declines

Community Praises Educational Video

By G. K. HODENFIELD
An Education Reporter
HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Does classroom television have a real and valuable place in American education? Or is it just another expensive frill that should be cast out of our schools before it takes root? You can get a lot of argument on those points—but not here in Hagerstown. For two years this community has been carrying on the nation's most elaborate experiment in educational television. The near-unanimous verdict: "It's wonderful."

Is this the great cure-all to the nation's educational ills? Will this whip the teacher shortage, and in turn the problem of raising teachers' salaries? Can standard courses be adopted and beamed into every school in the country from one master studio? The answers they get here add up to "not yet, probably never." Classroom TV has serious drawbacks. For one thing, it costs lots of money to buy and install coaxial cables, cameras, studio equipment. With a few rare exceptions, it doesn't reduce the number of teachers needed because it just can't do the work of the classroom teacher.

DISADVANTAGES It can't begin to handle the day-to-day classroom discussion which is the backbone of education. It can't answer the million and one questions that children are bound to ask.

Is it just a gimmick, then? "Absolutely not," declares William B. Brish, superintendent of schools for Washington County. "Television is no more a gag—than the textbook," Brish says. "In fact, it deserves a place alongside the textbook as the most important educational advance of the century."

Martin Veterans Benefiting From Sale Of Magazines

STANTON—The Veterans Administration recently received a wheel chair and three pairs of crutches from the sale of subscriptions for the Capner Publications, according to Martin Gibson, in charge of the local veterans office. This is the second time such a campaign has been conducted in Martin County. Once before the office received two hospital beds and three pairs of crutches. The American Legion sponsors the campaigns and receives the equipment from the sale of magazines. The county campaign has been concluded, and the salesmen are now working in the city.

The chairs and crutches are loaned out to people who need them, Gibson said, and there are never enough. The Veterans Administration could use another hospital bed, he said, as there are always patients in need of such services.

Coast Girl Netter Upsets British Ace At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tiny Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., scored a major upset in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today, spilling Britain's Christine Truman 10-8, 6-3 in a fourth round match.

The six-foot, 17-year-old Miss Truman, star of Britain's victory in the Wightman Cup two weeks ago, was seeded second to defending champion Althea Gibson of New York in women's singles. Miss Gibson, still short of top form, reached the fifth round with a 6-0, 6-4 victory over Lorraine Coghlan of Australia.

Candidate For State Office Still A Football Fanatic

By TOMMY HART
For a quarter of a century, football was Lil Dimmitt's "life" but he has no regrets about leaving the sport.

LIL DIMMITT

Willie Zapalac, a schoolboy phenomenon, Willie was a farm boy and all scouts were beating a path to his house, trying to sign the athlete.

Dimmitt says he sympathized with modern-day coaches because "the game has changed and there is too much pressure on both coaches and players."

Dimmitt spent considerable time wooing another well-known schoolboy and thought he had him on the line after the lad's father said he wanted him to get an education in a place like A & M, since he was in agriculture and expected the boy to take up the same profession.

After he made his sales pitch, however, the young man accompanied him to the gate and remarked that, in his opinion, A & M was a splendid school but he liked girls and wouldn't be going there because it was not co-educational.

Swank New Fort Worth Course Tailored For Average Player

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
FORT WORTH (AP)—Business tycoon Marvin Leonard has built his second golf course. The first one—Colonial Country Club—was fashioned in 1936 to lure the national open.

The property was bought from the estate of the late Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Carter called it "The Lone Oak Tract." It has a big oak tree from which legend has it, five horse thieves were cut down one morning.

professional Dick Metz said it would take an iron shot to get across one of the greens from a sand trap if the pin was on the other side.

Gathercole Breaks 3 World Records

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Perry Gathercole shattered three world records Saturday in the Australian swimming team took its final workout before leaving for the British Empire Games at Cardiff, Wales. Gathercole held all three records broken.

He bettered the 110-yard breast stroke mark by six-tenths of a second when timed in 1:12.4 and slashed four seconds from each yard of standards in the 220-yard and 200-meter breast strokes.

Johnny Busso Eyes Bigger Game After Ortiz Victory

By JACK HANB
NEW YORK (AP)—"Champion of the East Side tonight, champion of the world tomorrow."

Johnny Busso was the self-proclaimed "champion" Friday night in his dressing room at Madison Square Garden after he had taken a split decision over previously-unbeaten Carlos Ortiz in 10 sizzling rounds.

Referee Barney Felix and Judge Bill Reich called it 5-4 in favor of Busso. Judge Artie Schwartz had it 6-4 for Ortiz. The AP card was 6-4 for Busso.

Entries Still Being Taken For Y City-Wide Tourney

Entries are still being accepted at the YMCA for the City-Wide tennis tournament, which starts on the City Park courts July 7.

Hardy indicated that a tournament for women would be staged later, if enough interest is manifested.

Ortiz was the 9 to 5 favorite. He has won 26 of 27 previous fights. The other bout ended in a "no decision" contest. Busso's record now is 34-6-1.

Tidwell Blast Clips Phillips

ODESSA (SC)—The Couden Oilers eliminated Phillips 66 of Odessa Softball Tournament that went into an extra inning.

Phillips lost their first game in the double-elimination tourney to Humble of Wink, a team which also beat the Big Spring club, 4-1.

Regular play ended in a 3-3 draw for the two teams. In the top of the eighth James Tidwell clipped a home run, scoring Gene Gross ahead of him. Earlier, in the fourth, Tidwell had bagged a double to score Gross and advance Buck Drake, who later tallied on an error at first and gave Couden a 2-1 margin.

Phillips had just three chances in the last half-frame and Jerry Troy Wetsel lanned each. In getting his second win in the tourney he gave up five hits, whiffed nine batters. He previously defeated Texas Co.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper and third-seeded Mervyn Rose, both of Australia, also advanced into the men's fourth round.

Gene Gross clubbed three singles, and Tidwell homered and doubled. No Phillips man got more than a single.

Cooper, still bothered by a pulled thigh muscle, defeated Jorgen Ulrich of Denmark 7-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, while Mulloy skidded to a 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over Mike Green of Miami, Fla. The grass was so wet that Mulloy played a part of his match in his bare feet.

Drag Races Due To Lure A Big Turnout Today

What looms as the biggest drag race program of the season takes place on the runways at the extreme western end of Webb Air Force Base, starting at 12:30 p.m. today.

Fair weather — and it is due to be warm — could bring out upwards to 125 cars. Entries are due from such communities as Abilene, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Andrews and San Angelo, as well as Big Spring.

This show is another in a series planned by the Big Spring Timing Association, in cooperation with the Aces Auto Club.

THAN NEAR-MISS FRIDAY Pierce Says He'll Never Get Closer

By JOE MOOSHL
CICHAGO (AP)—"I'll never get any closer," smiled Billy Pierce after pitching 8 2-3 innings of perfect baseball Friday only to have his bid for immortality ruined by pinch batter Ed Fitz Gerald's double.

With the Chicago White Sox leading Washington, 3-0, and two out in the ninth, Fitz Gerald was summoned to bat for pitcher Russ Kemmerer. He swung at Pierce's first offering and sent a clean shot down the right field line for a double.

Any record that might be cracked will be clocked by the special equipment ordered some time ago by the Big Spring Timing Association. It is again in top working order, after being on the Fritz for a while.

A crowd of 11,300 — cheering Pierce's every motion from the seventh inning on — sat back stunned even after Pierce struck out Albie Pearson to end the game. Their boos for Fitz Gerald turned into cheers for Pierce only when the 31-year-old left-hander reached the Sox dugout.

Pierce, a 20-game winner the last two seasons, now has pitched shutouts in his last three starts to run his career total to 29.

Erle Thompson of Hale Center is another top-flight who is expected to be on hand. He is due to bring along his Chevrolet-powered dragster. Thompson invariably takes on his share of the trophies in the local meet.

Howard drove out a brace of singles, as well as a four-master. Dimp Storms, the winning hurler, helped her own cause with three singles.

Pierce opened the third with a double to left and rode home on

There will be several motorcycle races. Among entries in that division will be Cecil Thixton and Sam Froman.

Storrs gave up nine hits, walked four and struck out two.

Pierce's every motion from the seventh inning on — sat back stunned even after Pierce struck out Albie Pearson to end the game.

Wayne Walker of the Aces Auto Club, driving a 1955 Chevrolet, will be among the local hopefuls. Most of the local cars are in the racks, undergoing changes or improvements.

Alexander And Hall Pace Dodgers To 27-6 Victory

The Dodgers, scoring in every inning but one, mauled the Braves, 27-6, in a National Little League game played here Friday night.

The contest was called after five innings of play due to the league's curfew rule.

Bill Norred and Howard DeShazo will be in charge of the timing equipment. DeShazo formerly resided here but now lives in Odessa.

The Dodgers started off with a three-run first, added eight in the second and then chased 11 runs across the plate in a nightmarish third.

Don Davidson will serve as the flag man. Gerald Cox will be the strip manager and will assist G. W. Rogers with classifications.

Mike McAllister was the winning pitcher, and Dan Mabery was loser. Mabery held the Jets back until the last half-inning when the winners shot out from a 4-2 lead with eight quick runs in polishing up the victory.

Two of the losers' five safeties were collected by Horace Smith.

The gates at the track will open shortly after 12 noon. Time trials get under way at 12:30 p.m. Spectators will be permitted to watch the races from their cars, if they so desire. Admission fee is $1 per ticket. Those who get thirsty will find plenty of concessions available.

The Jets bombed the Cubs, 13-2, Friday night in an American Little League game.

However, the Cubs' Tommy McCann took the spotlight from the Jets' show, pounding two triples in four advances. The Cubs managed seven hits, as the Jets ripped them for 13.

The races themselves usually begin about 2:30 p.m. and continue until well into the evening.

The Jets are 4-2 and the losers stand 0-6. Martin Barrow, Baxter Moore, third-sacker Watson, and Kenneth Pearson had two singles. Johnny Hughes got a single and a triple.

In the history of the local track, there has never been a serious accident of any kind—something in which officials of the Big Spring Timing Association takes a great deal of pride.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I understand one of the city commissioners, George Zachariah, made a pitch for an irrigation system at the Munny golf course in a commission meeting last week . . . Zachariah maintained the system would pay for itself in increased business, pointing out that Abilene's Munny course is now making so much money after having added sprinklers that another city-owned course may be built there . . . If George keeps pounding at the theme, he may get something done . . . I know he'll have the backing of every golfer here, including members of the Country Club, who never play the Munny course . . . Not all the 23 who registered for the Public Links sectional golf round held here recently played the course but tournament director John Pipes had greater success in getting out the linksters than did Dallas, where only 11 of the original 17 entries started the round . . . Of the 11, only seven completed 36 holes of play . . . Incidentally, one of the local winners, Bobby Blum, is having to pass up the $10,000 Odessa Pro-Am in order to make the trip to the National Public Links meet at Chicago . . . Bobby Wright will team with W. E. Ramsey in Blum's place . . . Ramsey says he's playing better now than he ever did before . . . He and Blum have only a couple of strokes of getting in the money at Odessa last year . . . Big Spring will also be represented in the Odessa tournament by Col. Kyle Riddle, commander of Webb AFB, and W. O. (Junior) Maxwell, manager of the Webb course . . . Teddy Hayes, who used to train Jack Dempsey in his championship fights, is now in the oil business at Midland . . . Hayes insists the fighters today wouldn't have made good sparring partners for Dempsey in his prime.

CRAIG

mound decision for Miami of the International league . . . John Pipes, promoter of the recent Public Links sectional tournament here, returned recently from Dallas, where his mother was hospitalized following a fall in the kitchen at her home . . . I think the ABC club here could solve its problem about getting 'name' athletes to compete in the annual ABC Relays by inviting a half dozen or more men who have used up their collegiate eligibility but are still active in their sport . . . After all, they'll still be regarded as amateurs . . . The Wilson Company now claims its new golf ball accelerates from zero to 170 m.p.h. in less than 1-1000th of a second, which is considerably faster than any of the rockets leave their base . . . Bill Craig, the Colorado City links veteran and a past champion of the Big Spring Invitational tournament, took time recently to cop the third annual Pecos Invitational, beating Pease's own George Miller in the finals, 4 and 3.

Experienced Ump Ready To Work Here

Marvin Wise, a golfer with no little talent, is now back here after two years of duty with the Army . . . He went through two months of baseball umpiring school while wearing khaki and is prepared to work any game in these parts . . . George Barr, the former big league arbiter, supervised Marvin's umpiring schooling in Florida and suggested he take up the profession in professional baseball . . . Marv, the older brother of the McMurry College end from Big Spring, Wylie Wise, may accept a scholarship as athletic manager at McMurry to complete his work toward a degree, however . . . He lacks two years of graduating . . . While at the umpiring school in Florida, Wise was quartered at the same hotel with the Washington Senators and renewed acquaintances with Camillo Pascual, the ex-Big Spring hurler, who is now with the Senators . . . Satchel Paige, as old as Methusalem, last week won his fourth district baseball competition against Anson here last month, placed second in the discus throw at the state meet while only a sophomore . . . Bobby Cannon, the one-time Edinburg head coach, is now a fruit grower in the Texas Valley . . . Abe Houston, who was at the helm of the Brownwood High School footballers in the early 50's, is currently employed as personnel director for the city of Waco . . . The USC Trojans, crowned NCAA baseball champions recently, were one of the most unpopular teams to compete in the tournament, which was held at Omaha . . . The Trojans heckled one of the opposing teams during their pre-game workouts and the spectators didn't appreciate it . . . Paul Jorgensen, the Texas boxer, has run up a string of 22 straight wins, has scored knockouts in six of his last 11 fights and has flogged his opponents 54 times . . . He failed to get a knockdown in his last bout this week against Rocky Randall, however, although Randall almost hit the canvas in the third.

CBS To Pay Bowl Group $125,000

The Cotton Bowl Athletic Association will reap a $125,000 for each of the next five years for allowing CBS to televise its annual New Year's Day football classic at Dallas . . . The 1959 bowl game starts at 2:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 1, by the way . . . The track coach Oliver Jackson turned down at Texas A&M to remain at ACC was very high . . . Some observers said they didn't see how he could do it but those acquainted with friends of the Abilene school know he'll be taken care of . . . The 12-team major league baseball league in Japan has been playing to an average attendance of 12,222 a game and expects a record-season's attendance of 8,500,000 . . . SMU reportedly had first crack at Phil Reynolds, the Waxahachie cage phenom, but turned him down because his grades are suspect . . . He'll attend TCU and is in a position to make DeW. Hays and Company regret their decision . . . James Eyerley, the huge Crane lineman who played third base on the Crane team in bi-district baseball competition against Anson here last month, placed second in the discus throw at the state meet while only a sophomore . . . Bobby Cannon, the one-time Edinburg head coach, is now a fruit grower in the Texas Valley . . . Abe Houston, who was at the helm of the Brownwood High School footballers in the early 50's, is currently employed as personnel director for the city of Waco . . . ## Barrage Of Homers Fails To Win For Washington and Norm Zauchin also hit homers. Chicago starter Jim Wilson was not even close to repeating Billy Pierce's near perfect victory over the Senators Friday night and left in the sixth in which Sievers hit his second homer for a 4-3 Senators lead.

CHICAGO (AP) — Although Washington banged four homers, two in a row by Roy Sievers, the Chicago White Sox rallied for four runs, three unearned, in the sixth and an 8-4 victory over the Senators Saturday.

Yanks Defeat Swiss Runners

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — A touring American track and field team easily swept all events at international meet Saturday against a Swiss team that included three Hungarian exiles.

The decision went to Bob Shaw, who faced only three Senators, completing the sixth inning. Gerry Staley hurled the last three frames. The Sox chased Washington starter Truman Clevenger in the sixth as they collected four runs on five hits, two sacrifice flies and an error.

Norton, co-holder of the world 100-yard record, had a big lead over the rest of the field when he suddenly grasped his right upper thigh in pain.

He continued running with his face twisted with pain and his hand still on his thigh. He held to the lead and won in 22.2 seconds, two yards in front of Robert Harder of Switzerland.

Atkins Sets Pace In JC Junior Golf Tournament

By BOBBY HORTON

A fifteen-year-old Big Spring sophomore, Richard Atkins, won medalist honors in the JayCee Junior Golf Tournament which was staged here yesterday at the Municipal Golf Course. Fifteen boys under 18 competed in the meet.

Atkins was a dozen strokes over par — 73 — with an 85, in copping his seven-man flight in the age 14-15 competition. Atkins swung the front nine in 44 Saturday morning, and toured the back nine in 41. On the par-3 last hole, he got a birdie, mainly on the strength of a 300-yard putt tee shot.

Emmet Kent Morgan, runner-up to Atkins in the second flight, were back in the Red Sox lineup.

But it was light-hitting Jo Jo White that the 1934-35 Detroit pennant winners, who provided the big thrill in the short game.

White belted one of Grove's offerings on a line into the lower rightfield seats. He trotted around the bases shaking hands with Red Sox and umpire alike as he went.

"They must be throwing golf balls nowadays," White said. "I hit a home run out of Grove. Ask him."

The Red Sox scored a first-inning run off Tommy Bridges. Schoolboy Rowe and under-armor Eldon Auker, all from the 1934-35 Tigers.

After one inning, hall of famer Hank Greenberg came in and tossed his first baseman's glove to Rudy York.

"You go in there next inning," said Greenberg. "My golf second base has gotten awfully far away."

It was York who succeeded Greenberg as Tiger first sacker on the 1940 pennant winners, Greenberg then became an outfielder.

Cobb didn't get into uniform but drew a tremendous ovation when introduced.

"I wouldn't trust myself out there," he said. "I'm a small town country boy from a little town with a 2,800 population and I'm 71. So if I walk out there slowly, it's these old bones."

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Irish-bred Cavan, last of 11 starters at the final turn, came up fast and outdistanced the field Saturday to win the $47,900 Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

Cavan took the $35,000 first money by two lengths, running the mile and a furlong in 1:49.2-5 and returning $3.00, $2.60, and $2.20 to his backers.

The conqueror of Derby and Preakness winner Tim Tam in the Belmont Stakes, Cavan appeared slightly lame as he headed for the winner's circle. Jockey Pete Anderson dismounted before the late Delaware Racing Commission chairman, was presented to Cavan's owner, retired Boston banker Joseph E. O'Connell.

Trainer Tom Barry said the injury to Cavan's left foot did not appear to be serious.

Piano Jim was second and returned $4.60 and $2.80. Two lengths back was Greg Monarch, who paid $3.80.

Williams Due Back
DETROIT (AP)—Ted Williams was missing from the Boston Red Sox lineup Saturday when they faced the Detroit Tigers.

Williams complained of a headache while taking batting practice. He was expected to be back in the lineup Sunday.

HANEY WILL HAVE SIX BRAVES IN BIG TILT

By HAROLD HARRISON
CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Fred Haney will have six members of his world champion Milwaukee Braves on his squad when he takes the National League All-Star game at Baltimore on July 8.

will have six players, the Pirates four, the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants three each and the Redlegs, Phils and Dodgers two each.

The selection of only two Cincinnati players was a far cry from the rosters of the past two years when Redlegs dominated the starting lineup under the old system of having the starters picked by a vote of the fans.

The National League starters, excluding the pitcher, will be Crandall, catcher; Stan Musial of the Cards; first base; Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates; second base; Ernie Banks of the Cubs, shortstop; Frank Thomas of the Pirates, third base, and Willie Mays of the Giants, Bob Skinner of the Pirates and Aaron in the outfield.

Yanks Dominate AL All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel wound up with 9 of his own run-a-way New York Yankees, including 3 pitchers, as he completed the 25-player American League squad for the July 8 All-Star game Saturday.

Monza Makes Indianapolis Appear Slow

MONZA, Italy (AP)—A new 12-cylinder Ferrari driven by Luigi Mossio of Italy Saturday won the post position for Sunday's Monza 500-mile race against a brilliant field of Indianapolis aces and American cars.

Stengel's unit includes five players from the Chicago White Sox; three from the Boston Red Sox; two each from the Cleveland Indians, Baltimore Orioles and Detroit Tigers; and one each from the Kansas City A's and Washington Senators.

Argentina's world champion Juan Manuel Fangio hit 172 miles an hour in the American car which won the Monza race last year, and tied for third in the trials.

There still were last minute contract problems which might cut Fangio out of the race by starting time at noon Sunday.

The Yankees, who had first baseman Bill Skowron and center fielder Mickey Mantle named as starters, also will be represented by pitchers Whitey Ford, Bob Turley and Rindol Duren; catcher Yogi Berra; outfielder Elston Howard; shortstop Tony Kubek; and second baseman Gil McDougald.

John Crow Makes Debut On Aug. 23

AUSTIN (SC) — Texas football fans who watched John Crow lead Texas A. & M. teams to three successful seasons will have the opportunity of seeing this All-American make his professional football debut when the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals meet in Austin on Aug. 23.

Stengel will have three top lefties, including Ford, Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Billy O'Dell of the Orioles. His right-handed mound guns will be Turley, Early Wynn of the White Sox, Duren and Ray Narleski of Cleveland.

HITS GROVE PITCH

White Is Big Gun In Vets' Contest

DETROIT (AP) — Lefty Grove, who won 300 major league games, wore a Boston Red Sox uniform and went to the pitching mound again Saturday.

The immortal Ty Cobb, who won a dozen batting championships as a Detroit Tiger, revisited the ball park he knew as Havin Field.

Six other Red Sox and Tiger members of the Hall of Fame and a host of former diamond greats took part in Detroit's Oldtimers' Day.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Atkins, 1301 Rannels. Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Everett, who live at 516 Dallas. Richard Clark's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark of 700 Tulane, and Emmett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Morgan, who live outside Big Spring.

The Tigers were represented by the outfield of their first pennant winner, the 1907 team. Hall of Famers Cobb and Sam Crawford rejoined 78-year-old Davy Jones, the oldest oldtimer in Briggs Stadium Saturday.

After one inning, hall of famer Hank Greenberg came in and tossed his first baseman's glove to Rudy York.

The entire starting lineup of the Tigers' first world championship team of 1935 was back. Manager Mickey Cochrane was behind the plate in the two-inning game between the old Red Sox and the old Tigers. Fittingly, they battled to a 1-1 tie while baseball rules were regarded lightly.

Flight winners Atkins, Clark and Everett, and runner-up Morgan will go to San Angelo Wednesday morning, spend the night at quarters of the Goodfellow AFB, and return late Thursday. They will compete in the regional tourney, an 18-hole-per-day 36-hole tournament.

Joe Cronin and Jimmie Fox were hitting below .200, smashed a pinch-hit home run in the 12th inning Saturday, giving the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Flight winners there can go to Corpus Christi for the State meet in July. The International JayCee Junior Golf session will be in Tucson, Ariz., on Aug. 15.

Lepcio was the first batter to face southpaw Billy Hoelt—the Tigers' fifth pitcher. He sent his third pitch zooming into the left field seats, Bob (Riverboat) Smith, a rookie southpaw gained his fourth victory with three innings of relief work. Twice he retired the Tigers, leaving two runners stranded.

Winners at yesterday's meet won miniature loving cups, and medalist Atkins received a trophy.

The loss dropped the Tigers back into a tie for third place with the Red Sox.

After Lepcio battled for Smith, Murray Wall hurled the 12th inning and retired the side after Harvey Kuenn doubled, his fourth hit of the game.

Lepcio was forced to share his hero's role with slugging Jackie Jensen.

Three Sites Announced In East Howard

The Brinson-Collins Oil Co. of Midland this weekend announced sites for three more projects in the Iatan-East Howard field of Howard County and also completion of a well in the same pool.

Meanwhile, Cosden drilled in the Clear Fork at a try in the Howard-Glasscock field.

The Cosden venture, the No. 1-C Clay, drilled at 3,360 feet in the Clear Fork Saturday. It is four miles southeast of Forsan, 990 feet from south and 1,650 from east lines, 139-29, W&N Survey.

Devonian Flows Oil In Glasscock Well

Operator was to move in a work-over rig today at the Tidewater No. 1 Couey in Glasscock County as the well continued to flow oil in small amounts and gas profusely.

The well is a re-entered wildcat which was abandoned in 1951. It was drilled originally as the Murphy & Ashland No. 1 Couey and is in the midst of the Spraberry Trend Area about 17 miles southwest of Garden City.

Drilled to 11,442 originally, operator plugged back to the Devonian and perforated from 10,860-940 feet. This zone, during the last 17 hours on a test, produced 16.75 barrels of fluid—cut 75 per cent oil—through a 3/4-inch choke.

Trio Completed In Garza, One New Location Staked

Three wells were completed in separate Garza County pools this week, and Joe Blalack of Longview staked a location in a fourth field.

In the Spraberry Trend Area, MLT Oil Co. of Odessa has staked two new locations.

The No. 2 A. M. Frysak is located 14 miles southwest of Garden City, 660 feet from south and east lines, 27-35-55, T&P Survey, on a 322-acre lease. Drilling depth is 7,600 feet.

MLT No. 3 Saunders is located 660 feet from north and 1,987 from east lines, 26-35-55, T&P Survey, and about 14 miles southwest of Garden City. It will also drill to 7,600 feet.

Seven Wildcats Are Completed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday wildcaters brought in seven oil and one gas well this week but hit 82 dry holes.

Tennessee Gas To Seek Tax Refund

HOUSTON (AP)—Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. filed suit Friday to recover $313,876 in income taxes which it said the government assessed and collected "erroneously and illegally."

Upturn Is Linked With Oil Demand

AUSTIN (AP)—If the expected pickup in demand for petroleum takes place, 1958 may prove to be a good year after all, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

May crude petroleum production increased one per cent over April after adjustment for seasonal variation.

Permian Drilling Steady As National Total Makes Gain

Permian Basin drilling work shifted slightly during the past week, but the same number of rigs were turning Friday as were in operation on June 20.

The count made by Reed Roller Bit Co. on Friday was 351, identical to the number turning on June 20. These are the highest totals since 353 on April 11 and 51 more than were turning a month ago.

Again this week, Lea County, N. M., led the individual counties with 45, five less than were counted on June 20. Andrews, however, jumped from 30 to 34 in the past week, and Winkler recorded a single rig increase from 34 to 35 for the runnerup spot.

Biggest Gain Is Made In Illinois

Rotary drilling in the United States and Canada reached 2,001 last week, an increase of 40. This compared with 1,922 rigs turning a month ago and 2,699 for June 17, 1957.

Drilling Slump Reflected In New Industry Figures

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON (AP)—A slump in drilling that caused concern within the oil industry last year has increased.

Wells drilled in five months of 1958 were nearly 13 per cent below last year. The total drilled in 1957 was only 9.6 per cent below the first five months of 1956.

Last year's decline was the first since 1949, which also was a year of weak market demand and constant controversy over oil imports.

Statistics on wildcat operations make the 1958 situation even gloomier.

Exploratory wells drilled from January through May were 23 per cent below a year ago. The 1957 January-May decline was only 8.6 per cent below 1956.

BETWEEN DEVIL AND SEA

Roustabout Turns Into Preacher On Weekends

GILCHRIST, Tex. (AP)—An oil field roustabout on Bolivar Peninsula is a middleman between the devil and the deep blue sea.

Each week, Dan Sherry, 35, sheds his oily work clothes to enter the pulpit of the Gilchrist Baptist Chapel, one of the state's most unusual missions.

Its congregation mainly is made up of transient fishermen.

Mounted on stilts to escape Gulf of Mexico tidal lashings, the little white chapel is the only place of worship along a 10-mile stretch of Bolivar Peninsula in Southeast Texas known as a pleasure seeker's Mecca.

An abundance of fish, bars, night clubs and a reputation as a "wide open" area annually lures about 14,000 fishermen and their families to the area.

Strolling among fishing piers, in front of clubs and occasionally boarding fishing boats, the Rev. Sherry talks a simple, sincere gospel that attracts more people to the church Sunday than the chapel's permanent membership.

A Christian only three years, Sherry has converted seven persons since October.

The sun-bronzed pastor receives a token salary of $100 a month for his work from the First Baptist Church of Beaumont, sponsor of the chapel.

Import Hearing Set For July 3

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next move in the long fight of independent oil producers for a mandatory limit on oil imports is set for July 3 before the Senate Finance Committee.

A group is scheduled to appear to urge the committee to write into the Reciprocity Trade Act a provision that would limit imports to approximately the 1954 ratio of imports to domestic production.

The company said in its federal court petition the suit concerned 255 miles of pipe for pipelines. It said it obtained the pipe by trading delivery dates with Arabian Pipe Line Co.

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

This is the 4th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer.

"When I went out to the refinery and looked overhead, I thought not a man in the world knows where all those pipes go," laughed A. R. W. Roberts, another senior of the Cosden family.

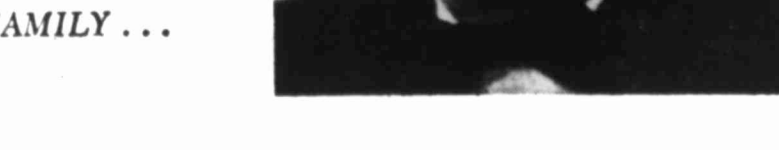

Mr. Roberts, who went to work for Cosden Jan. 15, 1943, soon found out where the pipes went. And now he is No. 1 operator at the Crude Units.

Born Feb. 27, 1902, in Benjamin, Knox Co., Mr. Roberts was reared in Garden City and Big Spring. He was graduated from the Garden City schools.

It was J. L. (Luke) LeBleu who talked to Bob Roberts about joining the Cosden organization. That was after he had gained experience working on ranches and for the railroad and highway department.

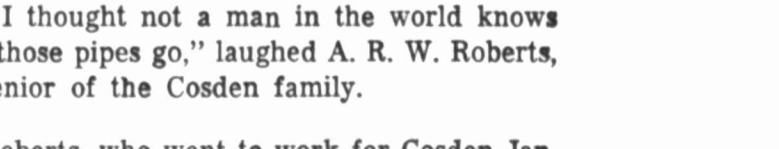

A Methodist, Mr. Roberts enjoys most sports but baseball is his favorite.

Father of seven children, one, Joel R., is now employed at Cosden, too. Others are Mrs. Mary Turnbow of Colorado City, Mrs. Thadaleine Rainey, twins Riss and Ross, Doss and Bowan, all of Big Spring. Mr. Roberts also has seven grandchildren.

Stalin's Favorite Ballerina Picked Up As A Shoplifter

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The star of the Russian Bolshoi Ballet at the Brussels World Fair has been caught shoplifting in a Brussels department store, police said Saturday.

Olga Lepeshinskaya, once Stalin's favorite ballerina, was halted by a store detective as she was about to leave Friday.

Police said she had admitted taking an umbrella, two pairs of gloves, cuff links, and some tape. The fitful ballerina begged in French and broken English not to be taken to police headquarters. She said she was due at a ballet rehearsal. She did not appear at Friday night's performance at the fair, although she was released after questioning at police headquarters and the Palace of Justice.

A spokesman for the department store, L'Innovation, said no decision has been made about prosecuting Miss Lepeshinskaya. He added, however, that legal action is rarely taken against first offenders.

Thus an international incident such as the case of the Soviet woman discus thrower may be avoided. Two years ago Nina Ponomareva, Soviet Olympic discus thrower, was charged with shoplifting five cheap hats in London. The Russians called off an athletic meet with the British, and Miss Ponomareva hid out in the Soviet Embassy.

The case finally was settled when Miss Ponomareva appeared unexpectedly in court and entered a denial. She was convicted but released after the Soviet Embassy had paid court costs.

A spokesman for the Brussels department store said a customer became suspicious of Miss Lepeshinskaya's actions and called the store detective.

Miss Lepeshinskaya is one of the best pupils of the Moscow choreographic school. Because of her ability she went directly from the school to the Moscow Theater Ballet Co. She is generally considered the best-dressed woman in Russia.

From Stalin's death in 1953 until 1956, the elfin dancer did not appear at the Bolshoi. But she showed up merrily with the new leaders at every Kremlin function.

Western diplomats called her "the most famous nondancing dancer in the world." Soviet fans rank her No. 3 among the Moscow stars—just behind Galina Ulanova and Maya Plisetskaya.

Britain Protests Russian 'Invasion'

LONDON (AP)—Britain fired a strong protest to Moscow over the 30 Russian fishermen who swarmed over a Shetland Island moor to hunt down a fugitive seaman, the Foreign Office announced today.

A note delivered to the Soviet Embassy Friday said Britain takes a grave view of the incident. The fugitive, an Estonian seaman named Erich Teayn, slipped off a trawler in the dark and escaped his Soviet pursuers by hiding in a shepherd's cottage after a breathless chase early last Thursday.

The British note said that if the Russians, members of a fishing fleet cruising in nearby waters, had taken Teayn back by force, it would have been "a flagrant violation of the law."

The note asked the Soviet government to issue instructions to skippers of all Soviet vessels visiting British waters to make sure nothing like this happens again.

The fleet of Russian fishing vessels from which Teayn made his escape still was anchored today off Lerwick, main port of the Shetland Islands.

Two political commissars from the Russian Embassy in London have flown up to interview the fleet commander.

Teayn, 32, arrived in Edinburgh, meanwhile, and was taken to police headquarters for questioning. He is understood to have asked for political asylum.

Martin Prospector Is Swabbing Oil

Swabbing operations are under way at the Hamon & Republic No. 1 Holton wildcat in Martin County.

Operator plugged back to the Devonian, and at last report the well was swabbing about three barrels of oil per hour. The project is 5,872 feet from south and 5,777 feet from east lines of League 246, Wheeler CSL Survey, and about six miles northwest of Tarzan. Perforations are from 11,498-74.

Operator acidized with 2,000 gallons, and then swabbed 16 hours. During that time, the well produced 48 barrels of load oil, 39 barrels of acid water, and six barrels of new oil.

man, the Foreign Office announced today.

A note delivered to the Soviet Embassy Friday said Britain takes a grave view of the incident. The fugitive, an Estonian seaman named Erich Teayn, slipped off a trawler in the dark and escaped his Soviet pursuers by hiding in a shepherd's cottage after a breathless chase early last Thursday.

The British note said that if the Russians, members of a fishing fleet cruising in nearby waters, had taken Teayn back by force, it would have been "a flagrant violation of the law."

The note asked the Soviet government to issue instructions to skippers of all Soviet vessels visiting British waters to make sure nothing like this happens again.

The fleet of Russian fishing vessels from which Teayn made his escape still was anchored today off Lerwick, main port of the Shetland Islands.

Atomic Secret-Sharing Is Up For Final Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only final Senate approval is needed to complete congressional action on President Eisenhower's proposal to share atomic weapons information and material with U. S. allies.

The House voted Friday to accept a compromise of relatively minor differences between Senate and House versions of the measure. The Senate is expected to act the first of next week.

The chief provision of the bill would apply only to Britain. This provision would permit exchange of nuclear weapon making information and material and non-nuclear parts of atomic weapons only with allies that have reached an advanced stage in weapons production capability. So far,

Three Counties Gain Wildcats

Winkler, Crane, and Culberson counties drew new wildcat sites this weekend.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. located the No. 1 Fay Hunter Hogg in Winkler County about nine miles west of Wink as a 12,600-foot project. It is 660 feet from north and west lines, 21-25, PSL Survey.

In Crane, N-M Oil Co. No. Davis is located eight miles northwest of Imperial. Drillsite is 660 feet from northwest and northeast lines, 39-4, H&TC Survey. Target depth is 8,000 feet.

The Culberson test is a 2,800-foot project about 12 miles southwest of Oral. It is Raymond No. 1 State and is located 330 feet from north and west lines, 3-45, PSL Survey.

Valuable Stallion Burned To Death

WACO (AP)—A Welch stallion insured for $4,000 burned to death early Saturday in a fire that destroyed a barn at Lorena south of here.

Tarzan Notes 40th Year Of Profit - Making

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Barrymores, Brandos and Bogarts may come and go but there'll always be a Tarzan.

That most durable—and commercial—of movie stars this summer observes his 40th anniversary of fabulous profit-making.

An estimated two billion people have paid a half billion dollars to watch Tarzan swing through trees in 32 pictures since the first one, "Tarzan of the Apes," was released in 1918.

No Tarzan picture has even come close to losing money. And, with worldwide audiences, the muscular man in the loin cloth rates as one of the most popular of all Hollywood products.

Some years ago, a group of visiting Russian journalists toured the Hollywood studios. They met most of the big name stars without the slightest hint of recognition.

Then they spied Lex Barker. "Is Tarzan! Is Tarzan!" they chorused.

One of them commented that Tarzan is the greatest Russian movie star. They were surprised to learn that Barker was a Hollywood actor—who had quit as Tarzan some months before.

Sy Weintraub, president of Loewer Productions, explains the Russian attitude:

"Tarzan's meager lines are always dubbed into the language of the country in which Tarzan is being shown, with the result that the French will swear Tarzan is French and the United States fans are just as positive he's American."

Discovery Offset Is Drilling Ahead

TXL Oil Corp. deepened the No. 1 Frank Miller in Borden County to 6,478 feet at the end of the week.

The venture is an offset to the Harper & Huffman No. 1 Miller which discovered Ellenburger production about two weeks ago. Drillsite of the TXL try is C SW SW, 48-30-6N, T&P Survey, and eight miles northeast of Gall.

Another offset to the same strike, Hiawatha No. 1 C. C. Miller, drilled at 5,507 feet in lime and sand. It is a northwest offset to the discovery, C SE SE, 47-30-6N, T&P Survey.

Escapes Nabbed

CORSICANA (AP)—Two men, described by officers as escapees from the El Reno, Okla., federal prison, were captured near here Friday night after a 120-mile-an-hour chase.

The stolen car they were driving was demolished when it left Highway 75 and overturned near Richland.

One of the men, Bobby Dunn, 20, of Shreveport, was critically injured. He is in a Corsicana hospital. The other, Clarence Cloutre, 22, of New Orleans, is being held in the county jail.

Ex-Brain Trusters Agree This Recession Nothing Like '29

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Writer

Four surviving leaders of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "brain trust" differ sharply today on methods they would use, if they were back in power, to combat the current recession.

But all four—Adolf A. Berle Jr., Rexford Guy Tugwell, Raymond Moley and Benjamin V. Cohen—agree on this: The present slump can't hold a candle to the flames of the Great Depression that swept the nation back in the '30s. Nor is it likely to get out of hand.

Three of the four would resort to F. D. R.'s favorite device of pump-priming to bolster the sagging U. S. economy. One opposes such methods now.

Two would cut some taxes. One would not. One was noncommittal. Bitterly assailed in their heyday as boon doggers, socialists, wild-eyed utopians and welfare staters, the ex-brain trusters admit to few, if any regrets over the revolutionary policies they created a quarter of a century ago.

"I sometimes think we were pretty conservative and didn't go far enough—although we seemed to be going pretty far at the time," said 63-year-old Berle, now a New York corporation lawyer, who helped frame the Roosevelt program.

THEIR COMMENTS
Commenting on the 1957-58 economic dip, here is what the ex-

members of FDR's "shadow cabinet" said in separate interviews: Tugwell, 66, a key figure in the brain trust group:

"This thing they call the recession is nothing like the Great Depression we had in the '30s. Today you've only got six or seven per cent unemployment—what the hell, WE had 50 per cent!"

Moley, 71, editor-author, once lambasted by critics as a combined Rasputin and Svengali because of his influence with Roosevelt:

"Today's recession will cure itself if they just let things alone. I hope President Eisenhower keeps on acting the way he is acting, restoring confidence and quelling fears."

Cohen, 63, sometimes described as "the man who wrote the New Deal," now a retired Washington, D. C., lawyer:

"This is a serious recession, not to be taken lightly. There is no reason to expect a sudden rebound, but we have built-in safeguards to prevent another Great Depression."

NEW DEAL CUSHION

While disagreeing on how they would counter the present downturn, the ex-brain trusters concur in the belief that many of the measures initiated during the New Deal—including social security, unemployment insurance, and regulation of stock market margins—are now serving as a cushion against shock waves running through the economy.

"We know more about taxation, about government credit, about created credit. This time we know what is going on."

Berle served as an assistant secretary of state from 1938 to 1944 and had a hand in writing some of the major anti-depression legislation in the first 100 days of the Roosevelt administration.

White-haired Rex Tugwell, who retired last year as professor of political science at Chicago University, scoffed at what he described as exaggerated anxiety over the current slump.

"I wouldn't even call it a recession, not by the standards of what we had in the '30s," he said in an interview at his modest red-brick home in Greenbelt, Md.

Former arch New Dealer Moley, once known as unofficial chairman of F. D. R.'s original brain trust, was the first of the White House inner circle to break with the late President.

ATTACKS TREND
He has spent the last two decades writing news magazine columns and books and delivering speeches attacking bigness in government and other trends which he characterizes as the nation's most dangerous heritages from the Roosevelt era.

Moley served briefly as F.D.R.'s speech writer and as a top architect of New Deal policy. He was an assistant secretary of state.

On the wall beside his office desk hangs a smiling photograph of Roosevelt, inscribed "to the ancient professor from his pupil," but Moley today vigorously opposes many of the methods F.D.R. used as antirecession weapons.

Chain-smoking Ben Cohen, one of the top lawyers of the New Deal, specifically blamed two moves by the Eisenhower administration for present economic dollops.

"It stems from the failure of the Federal Reserve Board to perceive the shifting trends and from the cruel and unnecessary cut-backs in defense contracts last summer," Cohen said.

"What a howl would have been raised if the New Deal had disturbed the delicate fabric of business confidence as former Secretary of Defense Wilson and former Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey did a year ago. That's one of the major reasons for the slump we are going through today."

College Freshman Needs To Consider Draft Obligations

A high school graduate plans to enter college. How may he fulfill his military obligations without interrupting his education in college?

Foremost, he must consider the service in his planning. The chance for never spending a period in some branch of the armed forces are practically zero.

However, there are possible routes which a college student may follow in postponing his duty to Uncle Sam. There are 17 Selective Service System qualifications and four under which the average freshman college student would most likely come.

In all probability, he would be I-A, a man ready for service in the forces. He could possibly already be a qualified member of some branch of the reserves, such as the Reserve Officers Training Corp., the National Guard, or the Air Force Reserve.

Too, he may have already applied for and received a 11-S classification or student deferment.

There is possibility that he could be IV-F, physically unfit.

All classifications except I-A would defer a boy from immediate induction.

If not physically handicapped and if his preferences were against reserve training, a student could apply for deferment after one year of college.

To receive this I-S deferment, he would have to file with the local board a specific written request in order to establish a right of appeal. His college would file a form with the board, indicating he complied with college standards during the previous year.

His grades during the freshman year would have to be among the upper one-half of the students. This grade requirement drops to the two-thirds mark for sophomore work, and decreases to the three-fourths line in the junior year.

At any time that the student's work or attitude did not meet the college approval, it would be reported to the board, making him liable for the draft.

A Selective Service Qualification Test is also given which, if passed, may defer a student even though his previous year's grades were below the minimum.

A student must apply for a deferment yearly, and not just once for all four years of college, as many misinterpret.

These are the Selective Service Classifications, divided into the five proper sections:

Class I—1-A: registrant available for military service; I-A-0: conscientious objector; registrant available for non-combatant military service only; I-C: member of the Armed Forces of the United States, the Coast and Geodetic Survey or the Public Health Service; I-D: qualified member of reserve component; I-O: conscientious objector available for civilian work in national health, safety, or interest; I-S: student deferment until his school graduation or age 20; I-W: conscientious objector performing I-O work or who has completed such work.

Class II—II-A: occupational deferment other than agricultural; II-C: agricultural deferment; II-S: student deferment.

Class III—III-A: extreme hardship, or registrant with child or children.

Class V—IV-A: registrant with sufficient prior active service or who is sole surviving son; IV-B: official deferred by law; IV-C: deferment of certain aliens; IV-D: minister of divinity student; IV-F: physically or mentally unfit or morally unacceptable.

Class V—V-A: registrant over the age of liability for military service.

against shock waves running through the economy.

"This time we are facing a recession with a better kit of tools than we had in 1933," Berle said.

"We know more about taxation, about government credit, about created credit. This time we know what is going on."

Berle served as an assistant secretary of state from 1938 to 1944 and had a hand in writing some of the major anti-depression legislation in the first 100 days of the Roosevelt administration.

White-haired Rex Tugwell, who retired last year as professor of political science at Chicago University, scoffed at what he described as exaggerated anxiety over the current slump.

"I wouldn't even call it a recession, not by the standards of what we had in the '30s," he said in an interview at his modest red-brick home in Greenbelt, Md.

Former arch New Dealer Moley, once known as unofficial chairman of F. D. R.'s original brain trust, was the first of the White House inner circle to break with the late President.

ATTACKS TREND
He has spent the last two decades writing news magazine columns and books and delivering speeches attacking bigness in government and other trends which he characterizes as the nation's most dangerous heritages from the Roosevelt era.

Moley served briefly as F.D.R.'s speech writer and as a top architect of New Deal policy. He was an assistant secretary of state.

On the wall beside his office desk hangs a smiling photograph of Roosevelt, inscribed "to the ancient professor from his pupil," but Moley today vigorously opposes many of the methods F.D.R. used as antirecession weapons.

Chain-smoking Ben Cohen, one of the top lawyers of the New Deal, specifically blamed two moves by the Eisenhower administration for present economic dollops.

"It stems from the failure of the Federal Reserve Board to perceive the shifting trends and from the cruel and unnecessary cut-backs in defense contracts last summer," Cohen said.

MRS. JAMES ALEXANDER KINSEY JR.

J. A. Kinsey Jr. Says Vows With Miss Dellis

Double ring vows were exchanged Saturday evening by Orleanor Dellis and James A. Kinsey Jr. in the First Baptist Church in Abilene, with Dr. John S. Rasco, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Odessa, reading the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kinsey, 504 East 13th, are parents of the bridegroom; the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Dellis of Abilene.

Background for the ritual was an arch entwined with greenery and flowers, before which stood the kneeling bench used by the couple. White pedestals on each side of the archway held arrangements of fern.

As guests were seated, Kenneth LaRowe, organist, played nuptial music; he also played the traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn. Lester Morton of Odessa sang "Because, Entreat Me Not and The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Jack Smith of Burk Burnett, cousin of the bride, sang "The Greatest of These Is Love and Greg's I Love Thee."

BRIDAL ATTIRE
The bride was given in marriage by her father. White imported Chantilly lace over slipper satin was used for the wedding gown, styled along classic lines. Iridescent sequins and seed pearls outlined the circular yoke of illusion which joined the sculptured bodice of lace.

Fastened from neckline to a low waistline with tiny self-covered buttons, the lace extended into a softly flowing skirt of lace and ruffled tulle inserts, which swept into a cathedral train.

Chantilly lace, accented with sequins and seed pearls fashioned the Juliet cap to which was attached a short tiered veil. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids encircled with a cascade of white stephanotis and tied with white bridal illusion and ribbons.

Mrs. Robert Minton Jr. of Midland was matron of honor; Rosalind Lawson of Dallas was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Robert M. Fever of Sweetwater, a cousin of the bride; Billie Cates of Ackerly; Nobeela Hassen of Haskell and Mrs. Arthur E. Amuedo Jr. of Fort Worth.

Attending as junior bridesmaids were Sarah Juanita Kinsey of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom, and Zona Ann Woodward of Spur, cousin of the bride. Penny Jo Rumsch of Abilene was flower girl. The rings were carried by Joe Woodward Jr. of Waco, another cousin of the bride.

All the bride's attendants were identically dressed in white nylon with fitted lace bodices with sweetheart necklines, the skirts of tiered ruffles were floor length. White demichals of seed pearls matched their earrings, and their flowers were pink roses and carnations made into nosegays.

William R. Sewell served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were William E. Wozencraft of Hobbs, N. M.; Dean H. Tucker of Sweetwater, a cousin of the bridegroom; Gordon G. Mashburn of Midland; Larry J. Sullivan, Maxwell D. Green, John Grady Jenkins and Jerome Weilmuenster, all of Odessa, and Derward Woodward Jr. of Spur.

LAWN RECEPTION
At the reception, given at the home of the bride's parents, the couple was assisted in receiving guests by their parents, the best man and the bride's attendants.

After viewing the wedding gifts, guests gathered on the lawn where the bride's table, near a fountain, held the five-tiered cake. This was frosted with dainty bridal symbols and pink roses and held a miniature bridal couple.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. E. J. Woodward of Sweetwater, an aunt of the bride; Mrs. Smith Sell of Brownwood, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Joe Woodward of Waco. Also Mrs. Derward Woodward; Mrs. George W. Page, Mrs. P. S. Kendrick, Mrs. J. T. Richardson, Mrs. William Lucas and Mrs. Evelyn Cox, all of Abilene; Mrs. Jack Woodward, Dallas; Mrs. Jean Richardson and Mrs. W. R. Sims, both of San Antonio.

Mrs. Ruby C. McIntosh of San Antonio, a cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip to Mexico City, the bride chose a navy suit of wool with white linen trim. Her small hat was navy straw and velvet; she wore white gloves and a corsage of white orchids.

Upon the return, the couple will make a home in Odessa.

SCHOOLING
The bride is a graduate of Abilene High School and Hardin-Simmons University. She has received a masters degree in music at the University of Texas and has done graduate study in the Eastman School of Music in the University of Rochester, N. Y. During a tour of the British Isles and Europe, she studied secondary education under the auspices of the University of Texas.

In Odessa, the new Mrs. Kinsey has been a teacher of elementary music for five years. She is a member of Soroptimist International, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, AAUW, the DAR, the Eastern Star and Beta Sigma Phi. She plays flute in the Odessa Symphony Orchestra, a member of the Civic Music Association and patron of the Globe of the Great Southwest.

The bridegroom was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College, where he was president of the square dance club and president of the German Club.

He received a degree in business administration from McMurry College, where he was a member of the Quadrillers Club. Kinsey has served four years in the U. S. Air Force and is now employed by an accounting firm in Odessa. He is a member of the Optimist Club.

Attending the wedding from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Sledge, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sewell, Mr. and Mrs. Homer McKnight, Mrs. Delphia Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. William Kuykendall.

Hon Sisters Become Brides In Double Wedding Rites Saturday

St. Mary's Episcopal Church was the scene of a double wedding ceremony Saturday morning at 10:30 when the daughters of Capt. and Mrs. Harry Clifford Hon, 1100 Lamar, became brides.

Paula Jones Hon exchanged wedding vows with Lt. James Scott DeHart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar DeHart of Holderman, Ky., as her sister, Barbara Erle Hon, became the bride of Lt. Elbert Harry Branch. He is the son of Mrs. Ermine Branch of Camilla, Ga.

The Rev. William Boyd, rector of the church, read the double ring ceremony for both couples before the altar, which was enhanced with four urns of white roses. A white aisle cloth led to the twin prie dieus at which the couples knelt for the ritual, and which satin bows marked pews of the church.

Elsie Willis, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music, which included selection by Bach, Brahms, Goss and Biggs. Preceding the service, the church choir entered in procession.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE
Capt. Hon gave his daughters in marriage. Identical formal gowns of white imported lace and tulle were chosen by the brides. Alencon lace made the scalloped yokes of the princess line bodices and was re-embroidered in sequins and seed pearls. Long tapering sleeves were fastened with tiny self-covered buttons.

Gathered skirts were relieved by a straight panel in each of the gowns, with the fullness sweeping into a short train. Large bows in the backs gave a bustle effect. Fingert veils of illusion were held in place by small pillbox type hats of lace, sparkled with seed pearls, and the brides carried white prayer books topped with cascade arrangements of white roses and stephanotis.

In the manner of tradition, Paula wore a cameo, which had been left to her by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Ray Wood; Barbara wore a small cross of diamonds received from her grandmother. From Mrs. Alfred Peck, both brides borrowed a handkerchief, and the bride attire of each was the something new. Both wore blue garters.

Each bride named her sister as her maid of honor. Attending as bridesmaids were Marlyn Byran of Cincinnati, Ohio; Kay Doto, Denver, Colo.; Rose Hobson, Gulf port, Miss., and Evelyn Taylor of Savory, Wyo.

All feminine members of the bridal party wore identical sheaths of blue chiffon over taffeta. Necklines were draped with chiffon which flared into streamers in the back of each frock. Picture hats and pumps were in a matching shade and the girls wore white mitts.

Large glameillas, with tips of pink shading into cream were carried by the bridesmaids.

Best man for Lt. Branch was Lt. Billy L. Hensley, Shreveport, La.; Lt. Edward McHale, Chicago, Ill.; Lt. Edward Ushers were Lt. Jeremy Thomas, Lt. James Anthony, Lt. Kenneth Ruhn and Lt. Phillip White.

Altar tapers were lighted by William Boyd.

RECEPTION
The Officers' Club at Webb Air Force Base was the scene of the reception held after the ceremony. Here the bridal couples received guests along with Mrs. Hon, Mrs. Branch and the bridesmaids.

Mrs. John Thuemmel and Danne Green were in charge of the brides' books in which guests registered. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Lee Hanson, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Don Penn, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Fred Doelp, Mrs. Joseph Riley and Mrs. L. C. Cole of Haddon, Mont., an aunt of the brides.

The brides' table was laid in white organdy, ruffled, over satin with a centerpiece of white roses. A cake, decorated with tiny blue forget-me-nots was at each end of the table, with a punch bowl between the two.

A buffet table was laid in blue organdy, floorlength, and held an arrangement of mixed blue flowers.

The new Mrs. Branch chose for her traveling costume a chemise of black waffle cotton with wide v-shaped collar and featuring a wide row of pleats extending to the hem. A string of white beads and a wide-brimmed white hat accented the ensemble.

The couple will have a trip to Tampa, Fla., where they will be at home at 3316 Villa Rosa.

For traveling to Mexico City, Mrs. DeHart donned a pink embroidered linen frock with low v-back and short sleeves. She wore a pink pillbox hat and shoes, with a white orchid as her corsage.

Returning from the trip, the couple will make a home at 3209 Ridgeroad. Lt. DeHart is a pilot instructor at WAFB.

Both girls attended the University of Wyoming after their high school graduation — Mrs. Branch from Biloxi, Miss., High School, Mrs. DeHart from Big Spring High School. Both are members of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Mrs. Branch, who has had three years work in medical technology, will continue her studies at the University of Tampa. She was a member of Spurs, sophomore women's honorary society, Big Sisters, Canterbury Club and Alpha Delta Theta, honorary sorority for medical technicians.

Lt. Branch attended the University of Georgia and is now stationed at McDill Air Force Base, Florida.

For her daughters' wedding, Mrs. Hon was attired in a dress of organza and Chantilly lace in champagne hue. The bodice of lace came to a point in front to join the skirt of organza. She wore a brown orchid with tiny hat of feathers. Her long kid gloves and her slippers were champagne.

Lt. Branch's mother chose a pink lace frock with matching hat and harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was a pink orchid.

From out of town, guests were Ray Wood, Sheridan, Wyo., grandfather of the brides; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Pierce and Mrs. John Doto, all of Denver, Colo.

ATTENDANTS HONORED
Friday afternoon, the two sisters entertained in honor of their bridesmaids and their out of town guests. Gifts to their attendants were presented at the Coke party, which was given in the home of Capt. and Mrs. Hon.

Blue and white were featured in the rehearsal dinner given Friday evening at the Officers' Club and hosted by Mrs. Ermine Branch and Lt. DeHart. His parents were unable to be present for his wedding because of illness.

About 35 guests gathered for the affair and were served a buffet supper from a table covered in white nylon, with an arrangement of blue and white carnations as a centerpiece.

Albert Oglesby Jr. Weds Shirley Leonard In Dallas

Wedding vows, exchanged in North Dallas Baptist Church, Saturday evening, united in marriage Shirley Ann Leonard and Albert P. Oglesby Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby of Forsan are parents of the bridegroom; the bride is the daughter of Johnnie Malcom Leonard of Dallas and the late Mrs. Leonard.

Ushers were Sammie Porter of Forsan, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Johnny Leonard Jr., brother of the bride. They also served as candlelighters.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. For her wedding, she selected a formal gown of Chantilly lace and silk tulle. Designed with a Sabrina neckline, the lace bodice drifted into a lace overskirt; fashioned in points of lace, the skirt was completed with multiple layers of tulle.

A four-tiered cake, arranged in columned layers, was frosted with white roses and lilies of the valley and topped with a white satin wedding bell edged in pearls. A lace cloth was the background for the cake, punch bowl and the bouquet of the bride.

A suit of navy silk shantung, trimmed with navy satin, was the bride's traveling costume when the couple left for a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. Her accessories were of navy, also.

'You're About My Size'

At least that appears to be what Miltzi the dog is thinking as if she wished baby Mark could come down and play with her. The amused onlookers are the Rev. and Mrs. Joe McCarthy, Connie, Mike and John Wesley. They are the new occupants of the Park Methodist parsonage.

Pump Organ Is Treasured Relic In Methodist Minister's Home

Once-proud and stately old pump organs are not easily found these days. And when the Rev. and Mrs. Joe McCarthy first saw the one that now belongs to them, it was sitting unceremoniously in the corner of an old smokehouse about to be dismantled for the lumber.

The family moved here June 4 under the new assignments issued by the Methodist Conference. For three years they had been in Westbrook, where he pastored the church. He is now beginning his twelfth year in the ministry, which had its inception in his high school years. The minister is a graduate of McMurry College.

John Wesley is three, and Mark is seven months old today. Their faithful playmate is Miltzi, a bright little fox terrier who has had three birthdays too.

What Shall I Wear?

That's the question always uppermost in the mind of a girl when there's a special event in the offing. And planning for their appearance in the beauty pageant Friday evening, Marilyn Bigham, at left, and Linda Woodall discuss a formal frock. The girls are two of the contestants who will appear in the pageant to be given in the city amphitheatre under the sponsorship of the Business and Professional Women's Club. The girls and their escorts will be guests at a dance at Cosden Country Club Wednesday evening after rehearsal, slated for the amphitheatre.

It'll Come Out Right

The banner being held by Mrs. Thomas L. Bennett may be backward to you, but you're looking at the wrong side. It is one of the ribbons printed by the club for an entrant in the beauty pageant to be sponsored Friday evening by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Admiring the handwork of some of the workers are chairmen of the various committees. They are, from left to right, Edith Gay, Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. C. A. Murdock, Wilrena Richbourg, Mrs. R. L. Penney and Mrs. Bennett.

Dance Set For Models In Pageant

Members of the B&PW Club have completed plans for the beauty pageant planned for Friday evening in the city amphitheatre. Included in the schedule is a dance at Cosden Country Club following the rehearsal of the models on Wednesday evening. Entrants in the pageant and their escorts will rehearse at the amphitheatre and then attend the dance. The pageant is slated to begin at 8 p.m. Friday evening, and the show will be climaxed by a display of fireworks. Regular sponsors of the contest, the club limits its money-making efforts to the one activity. With the money obtained from the staging of the pageant, the club carries on its various projects, which include contributions to all drives; the club keeps a girl in the School for the Blind in Austin, and members sponsor the Indoor Sports Club. Chairmen of the committees responsible for the affair are Mrs. Thomas L. Bennett, sponsors; Ruth Dyer and Wilrena Richbourg, models; Judges, Mrs. R. L. Penney; music and escorts, Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle; prizes, Mrs. C. A. Murdock; decorations, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan; flowers, Mrs. Lina Flewellen; program, Mrs. Nell Frazier and publicity, Edith Gay.

Knocking on a white satin pillow, Janelle Jones and Ellis Wayne Britton were united in marriage Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church in Stanton. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James Jones. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hoyt Britton and the late Mr. Britton. All are from Stanton. The Rev. Wallace Kirby, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony as the bridal party gathered before the altar rail lined with candles based in ferns and foliage. Cathedral tapers in candelabra were at each side of a large fan of pink gladioli placed on the communion table underneath the lighted cross. Candles marked the pews and were placed in each of the church windows. Bridesmaids, both of whom were dressed in orchid in the same fashion as the honor attendants, were Neta Milner of Abilene and Mrs. Forrest. Candlelighters Sharon Wilson of Anson, Karan Crooks of Snyder, Barbara Jane Smith of Stanton and Mrs. Kenneth Stroup of Midland wore dresses identical to those of the bridesmaids, but their flowers were wrist corsages of pink carnations. Wearing orchid organdy were the flower girls, Barbara Jan and Jami Jill Forrest, nieces of the bride. They carried baskets of orchid net. Harold Smith was best man; guests were seated by H. L. Curry, Jimmy Henson, Burley Polk, all of Stanton, and Larry Clements of Franklin, cousin of the bride. For the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the centerpiece on the tea table was formed of the bouquets of the bride and her attendants. Receiving guests were the bridal couple, their mothers and the feminine members of the wedding party. A floor length cloth of white net over tulle was used on the table from which the three-tiered cake was served. Pink roses and a miniature bride and groom decorated the confection. ## Blue Garter Book Center Of Interest At Gift Tea

The Blue Garter Friendship Book was displayed Friday evening at a tea given in honor of Danne Green, bride-elect of Lt. Jeremy Thomas. Placed on a buffet at the home of Mrs. Jack Smith, where the party was given, the book was opened to show the pictures of previous brides for whom it was made. Miss Green is the seventh in a group of 14 girls who will be represented in the book, which was started when they were schoolmates. Also shown was a blue garter which was fashioned to be worn by all the members of the group. As a girl marries, she adds her name and a tiny ring to the garter, which is worn by each bride at her wedding. Miss Green, who is to be the next bride to wear the garter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Green. The wedding date is set for Wednesday at the First Christian Church. Joining Mrs. Smith in giving the miscellaneous shower were Mrs. Lonnie Coker, Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Ross Boykin, Mrs. Y. C. Gray, Mrs. Zolzie Boykin, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. C. H. Wasson and Mrs. W. T. McRee. The bride's chosen colors, blue and white, were featured in the corsages of carnations presented to her and to her mother by the hostesses. Members of the house party also wore miniature copies of the honoree's flowers. Assisting at the tea table and in displaying gifts were the young friends of Miss Green, Londa Coker, Kathy McRee, Jacqueline Smith, Barbara Shields, Carol Phillips, Lou Ann White, Helen Gray, Janie Murphy, Cecilia McDonald, Anita Gardner, Darlene Agee, Charlene Lansing and Mrs. David Hodnett. Blue carnations and daisies in a silver container made the center arrangement for the table, which had been covered with blue under a ruffled floor-length organdy cloth. Names of the couple were printed in silver on blue napkins. The honoree, to whom the hostesses presented a gift, was attired in a white sleeveless frock with chiffon skirt and linen bodice.

Read what Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says about wearing a HEARING AID

"If people only knew what a revelation and a joy The LISTENER is, they would not for a moment hesitate to wear one. I just didn't realize a hearing aid could be as good as this. It heralds a new day for the hard of hearing!"

See and try the ...new Otarion Listener!

OLD FAVORITE Flattering Collar Is Accent For Shirtwaist

In an era of chemises and trapezes, the shirtwaist dress continues to stand out in the crowd, particularly this 1958 version by Mollie Parnis. Note her spatial handling of the classic collar, cut flatteringly far and away to give a columnar look to the neck.

The waistline is right where it belongs and is belted in to show off the figure; the skirt, full and swishy is particularly interesting since it is made of alternate inverted and box pleats.

Choose a cotton, silk or rayon print, solid colors in shantung, gingham, chambray or novelty weave fabrics.

From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Neck to Waist
10	34	24	35	16 1/2
12	36	26	37	17 1/2
14	38	28	39	18 1/2
16	40	30	41	19 1/2
18	42	32	43	20 1/2

Size 12 requires 5 1/4 yards of 44-inch material for dress and 1 1/4 yards of 36-inch material for lining.

Here's Riches To Glad Rags Secret Of Success

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—Marcel Bouscass, a versatile Frenchman of many enterprises, went from riches to glad rags to accumulate a personal fortune which today is estimated at 127 million dollars.

Owner and creator of the fashion house of Dior, Bouscass is France's biggest textile manufacturer and the leading racehorse owner and race track winner in the world. He also owns the influential Paris newspaper Aurore, manufactures washing machines and kitchen equipment, and is rumored to own half a dozen other newspapers, fashion houses and manufacturing enterprises.

Born in Chateauroux in central France in 1889, the son of a prosperous shirt manufacturer, Bouscass entered the business world at 18 with a gift of 100,000 gold francs, then worth about $20,000, from his father.

He promptly invested in the cotton goods market and laid the groundwork for Comptoir de l'Industrie Colonniere (CIC), a textile concern that today employs 30,000 people, turns out 35 per cent of France's cotton exports, and is exceeded in size only by three U. S. textile firms.

GAMBLER'S COURAGE
Now the owner of 60 mills, Bouscass built his business by a series of bold maneuvers, executed with Gallic dash and a gambler's courage. After World War I, he picked up a string of mills cheaply and turned a neat profit by buying up surplus airplane fabric from England for manufacture in shirts and underwear.

After World War II, with the same flair for the flamboyant, Bouscass took another big plunge by buying the Lille textile mills and their million dollars worth of machinery. He financed the deal partly by Marshall Plan aid and by selling his stable of race horses in Kentucky.

Most millionaires who dabble in racing do it for sport, a losing sport, Bouscass, a keen sportsman, is in racing to make money, which he does steadily.

The same motive prompted Bouscass to put up 60 million francs after World War II to create a fashion house that is now credited with saving France's position as fashion queen of the world. For his designer, he picked a quiet, self-effacing man named Christian Dior.

TOOK CHANCE
When Dior died last year, Bouscass took another big chance by picking Yves Saint-Laurent, a shy, 21-year-old, virtually unknown designer, to head the house. It paid off with the fashion critics at the very first show.

To Bouscass, time is money. All trips over an hour are made by plane. Lunch of tea and a boiled egg is taken at his desk on a tray. Time: 10 minutes. Bouscass often works far into the night but seems to have no worries about nervous strain or overwork. Indeed, a doctor once grumbled that he "had no nervous system at all."

DR. AND MRS. PAUL RANKIN and their children, Carol and Paul, of Sharon, Penn., have left here to continue their visit in Texas with friends. The Rankins visited in the home of DR. AND MRS. Sample who has been in West Columbia since May 1 with a daughter, Mrs. Robert Riddle, is expected to return here about July 6.

When MR. AND MRS. E. H. SANDERS and their son, Larry, were in Corpus Christi recently they had a big thrill in seeing a 997-pound shark pulled ashore on the beach at Padre Island. Having attended a reunion of the R. R. Ledbetter family in Houston, the local family went to Corpus to visit a nephew, Billy Ray Vaughn, and his family. The party had gone out to Padre Island and were watching a Dallas doctor practice reeling, in anticipation of a deep sea trip the following day.

The doctor got more than he bargained for when his hook caught the big fish that was 12 feet long and 63 inches around the body. It was brought in by being roped and 25 men joined in the tussle to bring him on land. While smaller sharks are often seen near the beach, this was the largest known to have come in so close.

Attending the wedding of HUGH (BRUD) BOREN JR. in Snyder Friday morning was Mrs. Albert Smith, whose husband is a cousin of the bridegroom. Mr. Boren and Mrs. Irene Knight were married in an informal ceremony at the First Christian Church. They are now on a honeymoon trip to Mexico City.

Assisting at the table were Joyce Yates, sister of the bridegroom, and Mary Katharine Covington. Margie Newman was at the bride's book, where about 30 registered.

Nadine Burks Is Wed To Bob Burt Friday

In a home ceremony Friday evening, Nadine Burks became the bride of Bob Burt, with vows repeated before Doyle Maynard, minister of the North Side Church of Christ.

Ferns in baskets made the setting for the bridal party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burks, 1708 Owen, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Parents of the couple are W. D. Burks and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burt, all of Knott.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose for her wedding a white cotton satin frock with low scooped neckline and tucked bodice joining a skirt of box pleats. Her tiny white hat was sparkled with rhinestones and she wore matching jewelry.

To her dress she had pinned a corsage of white carnations. For something old, she used her slippers; the wedding dress was new; she had borrowed the rhinestone jewelry from Mrs. A. H. Shroyer Jr., and a blue garter fulfilled the tradition. In her shoe she carried a penny.

A Bible Thought For Today

All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. (Timothy 3:14)

We're In Mighty Good Shape

Combined figures from the three banks in Big Spring reflect a stable to improved financial condition in comparison with a year ago.

Deposits are up by $904,468, or 3.4 per cent. Total resources gained 4.3 per cent to reach $30,304,002. Loans were down by $322,565, which was about five per cent less than at the comparable time a year ago. Cash was up by 22 per cent, reflecting a very liquid position, especially when put with about $10,500,000 in government and other bonds and government backed paper.

That we should be showing substantial gains, even in the reduction of private debt, during a period of so-called recession (and after income tax payments) is a tribute to the virility of our economy in this area.

What doesn't show on this report but what is highly significant is that in general crop prospects are the best since 1950. Should the elements be kind, a good crop and all the other developments portending the autumn and particularly the year-end bank reports will show even more healthy gains. By and large, we're in mighty good shape.

The Things Texans Believe In

William A. Blakley is giving Texans the philosophy of government they want, as he steps upon the tempo of formal speeches in his campaign for the U. S. Senate. "Until recently," he has limited his campaigning to an informal hand-shaking tour of the state, but now is uttering some of the things he believes in. These are things that are desired by the majority of the people of this state. To quote Bill Blakley:

"You want, first of all a government that follows the Constitution as the Constitution was written, and as it is today. You want a government that does not allow that Constitution to be amended by judicial interpretation based upon psychology and not upon law, or by pressure groups, or by social theory. x x x

"All you want is the kind of leadership that is willing and able to represent you, to work for you, to stand up and speak in defense of the principles you believe in; constitutional government, state sovereignty, individual freedom, human rights, majority rule. x x x

"Now what kind of a senator do you want to send to Washington to speak for you for the next six years? I know you do not want a man there who will align himself with those from other sections and regions whose interests are not the interests of Texas. You do not want a man who would attach himself to national groups whose purposes are known to be directly opposed to the interests of Texas. But you do want a man there who cares more for his own state than he does for the attention and patronage of minority pressure groups. You want a man there who has the courage to take a stand that is not in accord with the beliefs of such selfish minority groups."

Blakley is telling the people of Texas that he will not use the office of U. S. Senator for personal political power. "It offers me nothing more than an opportunity to serve you and to discharge what I believe to be my obligations as a citizen of Texas."

He is asserting that he has not accepted, and will not accept, any contributions for his campaign from any source outside this state or from any political-action committee or group. He is announcing that no "group, faction or bloc" will ever be able to dictate his actions, in or out of the Senate, or order me to obey their commands."

Bill Blakley is not engaging in double-talk, and says very positively that he cannot be "all things to all groups, telling them in private that I have to talk differently in public in order to be elected." He is not engaging in demagoguery, and says flatly that the country cannot go in two different directions at the same time. It is not possible to reduce taxes and increase spending, without embarking on a disastrous program of deficit financing. You cannot get something for nothing. If you are going to spend, then you must be willing to raise the revenue to pay the bill.

These are some of the things Bill Blakley is putting on the line. He emphasizes that there is an important choice before the people of Texas in the Democratic primary. And we emphasize that the office of the junior senator from Texas is very significant. Texans want to fill that office with a man who thinks like they do on the fundamentals. Bill Blakley is the man.

Criticism Of Court From New Quarters

WASHINGTON — What's this, what's this—we are actually reading today many bitter comments denouncing a court decision. And they are coming from some of the very persons who only a few months ago were reverently extolling the sanctity of America's courts and upbraiding critics for allegedly trying to "kill the umpire."

Poor Judge Harry J. Lemley is the target. He wrote the recent decision granting a two-and-a-half-year postponement of "desegregation" in the schools of Little Rock, Arkansas. He relied, of course, on the specific advice handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States which told the local courts to apply "practical flexibility" as an equitable means of reconciling "public and private needs" in carrying out the decree on desegregation. Judge Lemley appealed for reason and time to cool passions while conflicting statutes were being ruled upon in pending cases in Arkansas. But the very persons who have been saying that whatever the Supreme Court declares is the "law of the land" are now severely condemning Judge Lemley and indirectly the Supreme Court, too. Here are some of the latest comments:

1. Representative Celler of New York, Democrat, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee: "The decision is as outrageous as it is impudent. . . It flouts the Supreme Court. . . His (Lemley's) decision means that local clamor and demagoguery can cause an overriding of the supreme law of the land."

2. Representative Keating of New York, ranking Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee: "If such court decisions result in indefinitely delaying putting into effect the law of the land, Congress will have a responsibility to legislate."

3. Senator Douglas of Illinois, Democrat. Judge Lemley seems to have "yielded to the threat of mob violence. I have never understood that mob violence took precedence over the law of the United States."

4. Statement of four Negro leaders at a conference with President Eisenhower discussing the general problem of race relations: "The decision shocked and outraged Negro citizens and millions of their fellow Americans. This opinion is being construed, rightly or wrongly, as a green light to lawless elements in their defiance of federal authority."

5. Representative Holtzman of New York, Democrat: "This decision seems to encourage defiance of the due process of law, and makes a mockery of justice."

6. Governor Harriman of New York, Democrat: "A travesty on justice." He said the 1954 decision was being nullified "by those who were determined to set it aside by force."

7. Statement by headquarters of AFL-CIO: "An uncalled for and disgraceful retreat from the historic ruling" of the Supreme Court.

Every one of the above comments is within the right of any citizen or group of citizens inside or outside the government to express criticism of court decisions. It is a logical and constitutionally protected exercise of the right of free speech in America. Court decisions are not so sacrosanct that they are immune from criticism. They must be obeyed, of course, but there are steps which may be taken to resist in a legal sense the effectuation of any court order.

The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, moreover, are the "law of the case" and do not necessarily apply to other cases in which a somewhat different set of circumstances may arise. The courts must determine in every case whether the circumstances are different or alike, and this often delays the making of a final order.

Abraham Lincoln in his first inaugural address said: "I do not forget the position, assumed by some, that constitutional questions are to be decided by the Supreme Court; nor do I deny that such decisions must be binding, in any case, upon the parties to a suit, as to the object of that suit, while they are also entitled to very high respect and consideration in all parallel cases by all other departments of the government. And while it is obviously possible that such decision may be erroneous in any given case, still the evil effect following it, being limited to that particular case with the chance that it may be overruled and never become a precedent for other cases, can better be borne than could the evils of a different practice."

"At the same time, the candid citizens must confess that if the policy of the government, upon vital questions affecting the whole people, is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the Supreme Court, the instant they are made, in ordinary litigation between parties in personal actions, the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their government into the hands of that eminent tribunal." ### Economists Say That Business Upturn Has Started

Here's cheering news for the unemployed, for the employed, for President Eisenhower, manufacturers, merchants, and you and me.

It's cheering for the housewife, too, if she hopes for rising wages and steady work for her man. Yet, it's not so cheerful if she lives on a fixed income and has trouble making ends meet.

"We're on our way out of the recession. Recovery has begun. A year from now, business indexes will be straining to break through the old highs. But dabs-and-dabs inflation is still with us."

That's the consensus of 60 of America's top-ranking economists who replied to my customary semi-annual questionnaire on what's ahead for the economy.

The group does not promise a quick boom. Only three of the 60—college professor, an industrial economist, and a labor-union economist—forecast a new peak in output a year from now. Recovery will be steady rather than bursty.

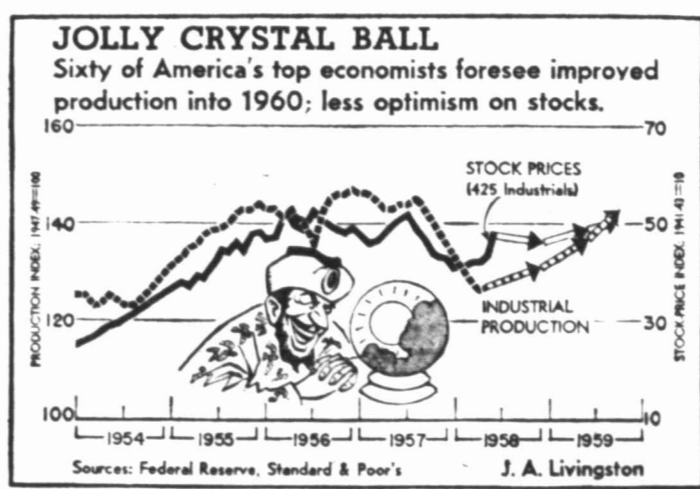

As the group figures it, the Federal Reserve Board index of industrial production, which registered a low of 126 in April and inched to 127 in May, will reach 131 by the year-end, 137 in June 1959, and 142 in December 1959. The pre-recession high was 147 in December 1956.

Economists associated with Wall Street are least optimistic, not nearly as hopeful as economists of industrial corporations, government or labor unions, as you can see:

Group	Production Projection
Industrial	134 141 149
Banking	129 135 139
Investment	130 139 134
Labor	131 137 144
Government	131 137 144
Academic	130 135 139
Consensus	131 137 142

Twenty-one of the economists—one out of three—can be called "bold optimists." They expect fully-rounded recovery by December 1959. Industrial production will have ascended to a new high. Only four are believers in deep depression. They expect production in both June and December 1959 to be lower than now.

The group forecast is consistent with that made in January. Then, four out of five economists predicted that the recession would continue into this June. But 80 per cent of the group also felt that an upturn would develop in the second half of 1958. The economists figure that the predicted upturn has arrived, that they were correct. This is evidence of confidence. Frequently, forecasters become captives of a trend. During a downturn, they will fear a bold optimistic prediction; they'll postpone the date of an upturn. Not this time!

A government economist put the case for current optimism this way: "Declines in important sectors of the economy have slowed up or even ended. New unemployment insurance claims have turned down. Unemployment has leveled off. Construction employment has turned up. Steel production has risen. Personal income is only slightly below last summer's high."

"Recovery is likely to come from less inventory liquidation and perhaps accumulation, increased federal expenditures, increased homebuilding, more personal consumption expenditures, and increased state and local government outlays."

As the economists see it, creeping inflation will continue, even though expected bumper crops and an increased flow of cattle and hogs to market will tip the farm price index down from 264 to 257. Wages will still push up from $81.24 per week to $81.70 in December, $82.70 next June, and $83.80 in December 1959. So the cost of living will advance from 123.6 to 124.7 by the end of next year. Not much help in that for the budget-conscious housewife or the cost-conscious business man.

Increased output of goods and services—from $422 billion now to $427 billion by December, $435 by June 1959, and $443 in December 1959.

All in all, though, this is a pleasant augury. By election time, if the Republicans can't sing "Happy Days Are Here Again," at least they'll be able to promise "prosperity is around the corner."

What Others Say

Since Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland industrialist, called the Federal Bureau of Investigation a police state agency that endangers the liberties of the American people much as the Nazi and Communist secret police regimes suppressed human rights, he has tried to talk himself out of a tight corner by talking loud.

He has made the interperate charge, for instance, that Secretary of State Dulles "talks just as the Kaiser did in 1914."

He has demonstrated the poverty of his understanding of the whole Communist conspiracy by going out on the extreme end of a very long limb saying: "I feel confident Russia is not now trying to sell the United States on Communism."

But it is his original remark about the FBI being an evil force standing behind the American citizen and his essential rights that plagues Mr. Eaton.

Nothing refutes Mr. Eaton like the facts. He is still free, and still talking, after not only criticizing but actually slandering the Federal police agency. His counterpart in Communist Russia, as in former Nazi Germany, would be in jail, or dead. And under the Communist and Nazi police systems, the lucky ones are dead ones.

Around The Rim Patriotism Used To Be A Serious Thing

Well, here it is practically the Fourth of Hoolio, and before you know it, school will be starting and then Christmas is right on us—

But hold it a minute, let's get back to the forthcoming holiday, known as Independence Day, celebrated by the United States of America, and no other nation can make that statement.

There is no question but that July Fourth doesn't carry the connotation of love of country that it used to. The change has been going on, I suppose, almost from the event of 182 years ago, but certainly within the past 40 to 50 years.

Whereas, once upon a time July Fourth was the signal for a community-wide celebration that started at dawn and ran far into the night, with everybody getting in on the act—today it's a day just to stop routine business and to get out in the yard under the trees or get to the golf course or to the lakes.

Nothing wrong with all this, mind you, except that the annual renewal of patriotism no longer seems to be present, and who knows but what the whole philosophy of a citizen toward his government suffers for it?

Back in 1776, John Adams wrote a letter to his wife, and said:

"Yesterday the greatest question was decided which ever was debated in America; and a greater perhaps never was, nor will be, decided among men. A resolution was passed without one dissenting colony, that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states. The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows and games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore."

That's how John Adams, who was there, felt about it. He noted that July 2 was the day of the declaration, but it was a couple of days later before everybody made it legal.

The changing scene surely must have re-directed the course of July Fourth observance. For instance, not one town in a thousand anymore has a community band (school organizations excepted) so that members can don their colorful uniforms and march down the streets, all horns blowing. Neither can many towns any more produce a blacksmith to furnish the anvils to furnish the very individual type of detonation that used to mark Independence Day. The anvils, I take it, long since went into the metal heaps to provide ammunition for further wars. Nor does the standard community have available, at the drop of the flag, one of those dignified old barristers, with gray mane, high stiff collar and black string tie, who could produce a 90-minute oration on the glories of our democracy, evoking tears and cheers all the while. He of the ringing voice and the flowing rhetoric is no longer in our midst.

The families who used to want to fill baskets to overflowing to participate in the community picnic dinner have their attentions on something else, too. Aunt Jane and Aunt Kate no longer wish to compete for the best chocolate cake on the burdened picnic tables.

The kids are even too well organized in their summer recreation to want to participate in three-legged races, potato races, trapeze stunts and all the rest. And the laws are against indiscriminate use of fireworks, although a few of the towns still touch off an evening with spectaculars.

Yessir, patriotism used to be expressed unabashed, and it made quite a busy day on the old Fourth of July. Today we take the day in comfort, our liberties for granted. This is good!

—BOB WHIPKEY

Norman Vincent Peale Science Confirms Religious Truths

A woman says, "I saw in the paper that so-and-so died of a heart attack."

She is asked, "What paper?"

She replies "I don't rightly know what paper, but I saw it in the paper." She quotes the item verbatim.

A search of the files of newspapers discloses no such item. Inquiry establishes that the person in question has not had a heart attack. But, three days later, that person dies of heart failure and the newspaper story reads exactly as the woman had quoted it in advance.

Black magic? No—but could it be precognition?

A little four-year-old girl, during World War I, calls to her mother: "Mommy, Daddy is choking to death! He is down a deep hole!"

Later investigation ascertains that the child's father, at that exact moment, had been down in a cellar under gas attack. Witchcraft? No—but possibly clairvoyance!

A middle-aged man is driving his car along a New Jersey highway when he feels a terrible pain in his chest. It is so excruciating that he stops his car, thinking he is suffering a heart attack, but eventually it passes.

A few hours later, he learns that his son, driving in Colorado, had been killed at that exact moment, his chest crushed by the wheel of his car.

Coincidence? Not necessarily—but maybe telepathy!

This is the kind of story that is currently being investigated by Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University, who as pioneer in the development of a new science called parapsychology, the systematic study of the mental activity of man or other activity that must be perceived by means other than the physical senses. What are these things that he describes as precognition, clairvoyance, telepathy? What could they prove? Well, Dr. Rhine believes that these are only some of the powers of the human soul ranging the universe without obstruction of space and time.

Now, of course, there are always people who will respond to such a thought with the flat assertion, "It's impossible." Yet their only reason for saying it is impossible is that they have never heard of it before. Last year I met the man who developed the automobile radio. The banker he went to for the loan he needed in getting car radios into production told him: "I never heard of such a preposterous idea! The time will never come when they will have radios in automobiles!" That is how an unimaginative mind often responds to anything that is new.

I am a minister of religion and, as such, I believe that there is something in man beyond the physical, beyond the material. As Joseph Wood Krutch recently pointed out, if man is really the mere inevitable culmination of an improbable chemical reaction, then the fact that he has been able to trace himself back to it is indeed remarkable. The idea that a chemical can understand its own nature is actually staggering.

There is more to man than that—and it is always good news to know that science is confirming what religion has always known!

Demonstrations Versus Receptions

MOSCOW—The rule is apparently: One demonstration in the West, a comparable demonstration in Moscow. With one or two exceptions, that has been the practice so far and it seems likely, under Moscow's stern new policy, to go on being the practice.

Under that policy the Soviet Union intends to repeat again and again by every means of communication the charge that Imre Nagy and the others executed and imprisoned as a result of the Hungarian uprising were guilty of treason and their execution completely justified. If the protest demonstrations in Western capitals have produced any result, it is a stiffening of the determination not merely to stand behind the decision but to champion it with the persistence and all the resources of the Communist bloc.

The demonstration before the West Germany Embassy had far more punch than the demonstration against the Danish Embassy. The Germans in Bonn had thrown bottles of blue ink at the Soviet Embassy. The Russian demonstrators threw bottles of blue ink at the German Embassy here.

But the demonstration in Moscow had behind it something of the passionate feeling of bitterness and hatred toward the German invaders that lies below the surface as a result of the terrible punishment that the Russians took in the first two years of World War II. Banners said, "Remember Stalingrad." Stalingrad was the scene of the last-ditch stand of the Russian army that turned back the Nazis with appalling casualties on both sides.

A deep undercurrent of feeling in the crowd, contrasting sharply with the rather casual and even cheerful rock-throwing at the Danish Embassy, found an outlet in sharp criticism of Americans who were there either as reporters or tourists.

One of the demonstrators, carrying a banner proclaiming the desire of the Soviet Union for peace and speaking English, demanded of several Americans why the American government was against Soviet Russia and everything that Russia did. He said that he had fought at Stalingrad and had been badly wounded there and he wanted no more war.

The scene in the street before the broken and bespattered facade of the embassy, with the crowds chanting various slogans, was curiously depressing. It seemed a repetition of what had happened in the turbulent and uncertain days leading up to World War II.

In this city of astonishing contrasts, to be an hour or two later in the great white and gold hall of St. George's in the Kremlin, at the reception for the King and Queen of Nepal, was to have the sensation of being on another planet. Here was the diplomatic corps (minus the West German ambassador), many of the diplomats in full uniform with medals gleaming under the massive chandeliers.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a short black coat and wearing only the two highest decorations of the Soviet Union on his lapel, looked solemn and preoccupied. The official host, President Klementi Voroshilov, read a speech, interpreted into English, full of fine rhetoric about the peace-loving citizens of the Soviet Union and the peace-loving Nepalese people and the necessity for a summit conference and for ending nuclear tests.

The King read a shorter speech, interpreted into both English and Russian, full of the same sentiments but expressed in a more restrained fashion.

The trumpeters in the musician's gallery, high up in the glittering hall with its symbol of St. George and the dragon out of the days of the Czars, blew their trumpets each time a toast was drunk.

And the guests, dressed in so many diverse costumes of East and West, attacked the long banquet tables laden with all kinds of food and drink.

The business of demonstrations will go on, one assumes, and so will Kremlin receptions. But what relation they have to the urgent necessities of the world today, it is a little hard to see.

Bible Words for Today

NEHEMIAH 3:13 "Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate—and a thousand cubits of the wall." 3:23 "Azariah... repaired beside his own house."

PHILIPPIANS 2:4 "Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others." (RSV)

At the beginning of the Fourth Century B.C. Nehemiah led the Jews of Jerusalem in rebuilding the broken walls of their city. The third chapter of the book of Nehemiah gives a graphic picture of how the walls were rebuilt, section by section, each man assuming responsibility for constructing a certain portion of the wall. Some, like Azariah, repaired only that stretch of wall opposite their own houses. We wonder what would have happened to the wide open spaces, had each one imitated Azariah. Fortunately, others, like Hanun and the men of Zanoah, repaired much longer sections and so the wall was completed. Thank God for those in every age whose labors extend beyond their own welfare to include the common good. To these we owe our peace and security. "Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others."

'TRY, TRY AGAIN'

Derby Winner Rebuilt Old Racer To Capture '58 Title

By JOE PICKLE

David Spradling, Big Spring's entry in the 1958 All-America Soap Box Derby, will vouch for the adage "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

In fact, he added another "try" to the total and won the Big Spring eliminations in his fourth attempt. Curiously, a lot of the racer which he used his first year was still intact for his winning run and for his big moment at Akron, Ohio, on Aug. 17.

It was a case of now or never with David, for under regulations he would have been too old to compete next year. Thursday he drove as if conscious of that fact, for he never wavered in five heats.

In his first race in 1955, David had beginner's luck and won several heats. He remodeled his racer but fell off after a couple of heats next year. He was runner-up in the A division in 1957 and took third place in the Derby.

This year he stripped his racer and lowered the bulkheads so that the over-all height was trimmed by about four inches. In the process he did a little remodeling on his cockpit. He rechecked his balance, too, so that as near as he could tell equal weight was distributed on each wheel. One thing he worked at harder than anything else was spinning those wheels.

"I'll bet he spun those wheels enough to make it go a million miles," said his father, L. D. Spradling, 1709 State.

David did a lot of other things like fashioning a work bench in order to set up a workshop in the family carport. He made a vise, tool rack, and containers for his screws, nails, etc.

David didn't have any power tools, and all four years he has accomplished his work with a hammer and saw, screwdriver, brace and bit, coping saw, plane, pliers, square and a paint brush.

Each year he raced, David learned something, among them the importance of steering an absolutely straight line. If he did waver he pulled it back gently so as to lose the very minimum of distance.

Even an "old pro" can get excited.

SUCCESS COMES AT LAST
David Spradling clutches trophy

cited about winning. David apparently took his victory in stride, but about 2 a.m. after the race he slipped into his parents' bedroom and whispered to his father:

"Dad, I'm having a little trouble in going to sleep."

He would like to have that same trouble for the same reason at Akron.

David, who is 15, is the eldest of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Spradling. His brother, Mike, 9, is getting all tuned up to begin his Soap Box career next year. His sister, Karen, is 4 years old. Mr. Spradling is principal of the Airport elementary school in Big Spring and Mrs. Spradling is a teacher at the College Heights elementary school. They are all members of the First Presbyterian Church and are active in Sunday school and its services.

David will be a sophomore next autumn and will be entering high school. He has a B or better average and does his best work in mathematics. This fits into his thoughts about a career, for right now David believes he would like to major in mechanics or agriculture.

It's not settled yet, but all the Spradlings are hoping to be on hand when he comes down the ramp at Akron. Win or lose, David has the experience to take it in stride.

DEAR ABBY

GOT IT MADE!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow of 51 and when my friends say they have just the man for me to meet—the first question I ask is: "Is he a bachelor?" If they say "Yes," I ask, "What's the matter with him? I would much rather have a man who at least tried marriage, even if he flopped a couple of times. I wouldn't even object to a man who, by his own admission, kicked the stuffings out of his old lady. But don't give me any of those mamma's boys who reach the age of fifty and is still looking for his dream girl."

DEAR PEARL: If you are looking for a man who is thoroughly "spouse-broken" the world is your oyster, Pearl!

DEAR ABBY: We have neighbors who borrow everything but the kitchen sink. My mother doesn't mind this, but she always sends me over with it and also I have to run over and bring it back. I know my legs are younger than my mother's but I have a ten-year-old brother and his legs are younger than mine. Don't you think she could send him sometimes?

DEAR THIRTEEN: His legs may be "younger"—but perhaps his hands aren't as steady? Eggs and "spillables" are for you—the empty tins for him!

DEAR ABBY: I will start out by saying that I am just as respectable as the next one and the fact that I am a divorced woman should not automatically

Second Building Might Solve City's Post Office Problems

By BOBBY HORTON

In 1937 Big Spring built a post office equipped with just a few more rental boxes than were needed to satisfy that period's city population.

Today, 21 years later, Big Spring is still managing with those 1,102 boxes, a procedure which cannot hold up for many more years.

"We could use 1,000 more boxes easily," said Elmer Boatler, local postmaster.

The post office has to turn down at least that many requests for boxes annually.

In spite of an insufficient number of boxes, the rentals haul in approximately $8,300 yearly.

The No. 1 size is the smallest, four inches high and three inches wide. All of the boxes are 12 inches deep. Charge for the number one last year was $1.50 per quarter or $6 yearly. That rental has been increased this July to $6.80 a year, which will provide for almost $600 more in box revenue for the coming year, or barely under $9,000 for all boxes' totaled.

There's not a chance for adding more boxes to the present post office building. Builders and engineers have figured every possible angle to installing more, but they can't see a way unless the whole building is remodeled and more space added, Boatler said.

The problem, plus the fact that the growth rate in Big Spring is increasing the need for carriers, may eventually lead to the construction of a sub-station in another section of the city—something which could come about in the next few years, said Boatler.

All large cities, Big Spring included, are being encouraged to divide their carrier system into zones—in fact, during the period of June 21 through July 12 a special effort to focus attention on zoning is being promoted by the Post Office Department.

A sub-station could be constructed in another city section and carriers in that vicinity would work out from that point, Boatler visualizes. The building need not be large; it would need only capacity for four or five carriers' working space, a couple of clerk windows, and a letter drop and parcel post box. There would also be, due to the present needs, 1,000 rental boxes, perhaps.

At the present time, 16 carriers struggle to work in the crowded post office building.

Persons living in the zone of that sub-station would address their letters, i.e., John Doe, Box 413, Zone 1, Big Spring, Texas.

Such a zoning may lie in the future for this city. Up until now, money for construction of a building has been the major problem. However, stamps are bringing in more revenue than ever—$285,000 were sold this year, as compared to $85,000 in '37—and the change to 4 cents stamps will boost that even more.

this is no Steeple!

The Army calls it "Nike," an anti-aircraft weapon that is vital to our defense.

And you and I bought it! Yes—gladly!

Every week a part of our earnings is withheld for our nation's needs. In addition, many of us buy a bond a month to invest in America's strength. We want forever to be free. That's why we bought "Nike."

But a land born of the Pilgrim's devotion needs more than rockets to defend its soul. America needs steeples—steeples strong and sure in their upward aim! It needs steeples that call men and women to the quest for God's peace . . . that lead boys and girls in the search for God's way.

And as many as are conscious of this deep, spiritual need find joy in GIVING to our churches . . . regularly . . . generously.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Around World In 80 Days' To Begin Local Engagement

The late Mike Todd was, to say the least, unique. So was his first movie.

Already past the $39 million mark in gross receipts, "Around the World in 80 Days" is still going strong, and has yet to touch the greater portion of its potential audience. A showman all his life, Todd was more the circus ringmaster than the Hollywood producer, and his ebullient personality shows throughout his movie.

"Around the World in 80 Days" opens here Thursday for an extended run. The world-famous film will be shown at the State Theatre. It will not be shown in the Todd-A-O process, as that involves major and expensive alterations of the theatre, but the State's wide screen is adequate for the showing.

LOUD PLAUDITS

The people who have seen and praised Todd's effort would make a long list, indeed. A few of them who might be known to Big Spring people include Ed Sullivan, Walter Winchell, Inez Robb, John Ringling North, Josh Logan, Cole Porter, Bennett Cerf, William Saroyan, Bob Considine, Jackie Gleason, Earl Wilson, Ben Grauer, Tex & Jinx Falkenberg and Dave Garroway.

Some of the publications whose critics have lauded the film include most of the nation's newspapers (such as The Christian Science Monitor), the wire services, and such magazines as Life, Time, This Week, Newsweek, Redbook, The New Yorker, Coronet, Holiday, Saturday Review of Literature and Good Housekeeping.

Add to this list The Herald's movie editor, who saw the film last summer in San Antonio.

BASED ON NOVEL

"Around the World in 80 Days" was based on the novel by Jules Verne. It is the fantastical yarn about a stodgy British gentleman who takes a wager that he can make a round-the-world voyage in 80 days or less. Since the setting is in the 19th Century, without the aid of today's automobiles and airlines, the Englishman is hard pressed to make good and win his wager.

But along the way, he meets with a string of adventures that many a man would find worth a fortune to experience.

Todd believed in doing things in a big way. To play the role of the English gentleman, Phileas Fogg, he chose the inimitable David Niven. Mexico's famous comedian, Cantinflas, was chosen for the role of Passepartout, the valet who accompanies his master on the long

CANTINFLAS, NIVEN, DIETRICH & SINATRA
A stopover halfway around the world

jaunt. These were fortunate choices.

STELLAR CAST

Todd scrounged the entertainment world for famous faces for walk-on roles; cigar in mouth and with his face only inches from those of his victims, the indomitable salesman brow-beat, fast-talked, persuaded and otherwise recruited the greatest stellar cast ever assembled.

To list all the cameo stars would take up too much space, but here is a sample list: Charles Boyer, Joe E. Brown, John Carradine, Charles Coburn, Ronald Colman, Noel Coward, Andy Devine, Marlene Dietrich, Fernando, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Buster Keaton, Peter Lorre, Tim McCoy, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, George Raft, Frank Sinatra and Red Skelton.

"Around the World in 80 Days," besides being a romping farce and a three-ring circus, is one of the greatest and most complete travelogues ever set on film. Todd's camera crews traveled over the same path that Fogg took, capturing some beautiful and exotic scenes along the way.

A LONG MOVIE

The film runs nearly three and one-half hours, with intermission. The story finds Mr. Fogg ensconced in his private London club, enjoying a game of cards. The players become involved in an argument over how long it would take an enterprising fellow to circle the globe, and before anyone quite realizes it, wagers have been made covering practically the entire Fogg fortune. But Fogg is imperturbable, and he sets out that same evening, after obtaining the services of ragged and buffoonish Passepartout.

Trouble brews in France, where the railroads have been closed by ever demanding his afternoon tea. He beats an ornery cowpoke over the head in San Francisco, leads the U. S. Cavalry to rescue Passepartout from the Sioux, and the two of them "sail" a railroad handcar across the Great Plains, and ride a train over a burning trestle.

OVER THE WAVES

Another obstacle is overcome as Fogg buys a tramp steamer in mid-ocean, orders the captain to sail to England, and tosses every inflammable object into the furnace to make up for lack of regular fuel. A bare hulk sails into English waters, but Fogg lands in jail on the bank robbery charge, losing what he believes his last day. As it turns out, he gained a day crossing the International Date Line, and he wins his bet, besides being cleared of all charges.

But the end is not the end, thanks again to Todd's penchant for doing the new and unexpected. He hired himself an engineer with a great imagination and a talent for drawing to conjure up an ending that would make the titles and credits palatable to a tired audience.

COMIC MOMENTS

Another deadweight is Inspector Fix, who suspects Fogg of having robbed the Bank of England, and is determined to bring him to justice. His attempts to waylay the pair are unsuccessful until they arrive back in London, but he provides some comic moments in between.

Adventure follows adventure, as Passepartout fights bulls in Spain and India (where he is nearly lynched for his trouble), the two rescue a beautiful Indian princess about to be burned on her husband's funeral pyre, and the valet leaves a Japanese acrobatic team grabbing for air.

Fogg is unperturbed throughout, lands, but the indomitable pair rent a balloon. Passepartout reaches down to scoop up some snow from the Alps to chill their champagne and, after a toast to a successful voyage, they drift on to Spain.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

VERTIGO, starring James Stewart and Kim Novak. Produced and directed by Alfred Hitchcock. Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz.

This is one film you must see from the first, unless you just want to spoil your evening.

Alfred Hitchcock is the master of suspense, as he has proved on numerous occasions, and "Vertigo" is another in a long line of proofs. It is also proof that he has not entirely abandoned himself to television.

James Stewart is starred as a police officer who resigns after developing a fear of high places, but who follows his professional bent by taking up a bit of private eye shadowing. His job leads him to another psychic trauma, which in turn brews more suspense, involving a brunette Kim Novak to replace the blonde one who meets a violent end.

TIME LIMIT, with Richard Widmark and Richard Basehart. Produced by Richard Widmark and William Reynolds. Directed by Karl Malden. Screenplay by Henry Denker, based on the play by Henry and Ralph Berke, as produced by The Theatre Guild. Sunday and Monday at the State.

Richard Widmark and Richard Basehart are two of the best actors in the field of characterization. Karl Malden, the actor-turned-director, is also tops in that field.

"Time Limit" thus should turn out to have the kind of appeal that makes a Broadway drama a smash hit. It is characterization more than any other factor for which the true stage artist aspires.

and which makes or breaks any play (or movie) that attempts to rise above the mellerdrammer level.

"Time Limit" is another of the war stories seen from an unusual angle with which Hollywood is attempting to revise some old formulas. Basehart is seen as an officer accused of treason during the Korean War, and Widmark as the investigating officer to whom the whole story falls to ring true. Widmark digs deeply into the case (seen on the screen by the flashback method) and discovers Basehart to be innocent. But they both face the problem that one of Basehart's accusers is the son of the general who ordered the court-martial.

Short reviews:

"From Hell to Texas." It is the habit of Hollywood producers to cash in on popular young stars. This is generally done by casting said stars in a quickie movie, most always a Western. This particular movie exploits Don Murray and Diane Varsi. (Chill Wills is there to help the younger hands.)

"Beautiful but Dangerous." Gina Lollobrigida and Vittorio Gassman are two of Italy's most talented thespians. This movie is far from top calibre, but who cares? It's got Gina.

"The Shepherd." Glenn Ford as a quietly rambunctious young fellow who sets a cowtown on its ear, and Shirley MacLaine as the peppery young girl who sets Ford on his ear. It's the funniest Western I've ever seen, bar none.

"Old Yeller." A moving sentimental Walt Disney yarn about a family and its beloved old dog, in early-day Texas.

"Vera Cruz." Blood.

"Trapeze." Sex.

Odd-Ball Music By The Carload

Rummaging about through some odd-ball recordings: Quincy Jones tells how he feels about jazz . . . he finds it's easier to play than to say . . .

Los Paraguayos render some Latin styles from Paraguay . . . that's the one nation where Indians absorbed the Spaniards, instead of vice versa . . . Oom-Pah-Pah . . . it's billed as the sourest German village band music ever played, and I believe it . . .

You can be the Life of the Party with player piano music . . . all the songs are oddies, plus a lot of old-time burlycue nonsense . . .

You can even buy some nickelodeon music . . . saves on nickels, undoubtedly . . .

And there is music for moochers, gold diggers and cattle rustlers . . . Less nonsensical is The Many Sides of Pat Suzuki, the Japanese doll . . . Bing Crosby likes her . . .

There are several artists, including Johnny Maddox, on ragtime piano . . . or, if your tastes are more refined, the Pilgrim Travelers have an interesting assortment of gospel favorites . . .

The concert will be continued this evening, from 5 to 7 p.m., with Ben Hall as M.C.

There will also be an evening of music at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church beginning at 7:30 p.m. The choir, under Mrs. Jack Ware, will present special arrangements on religious anthems, spirituals, solos and religious folk music.

Slow Boat Cause Termed Engine Trouble, No Wind

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—Hollywood actor John Calvert declared his yacht thespian was a slow boat from Nationalist China because of engine trouble and no wind.

"This was not a publicity stunt in any sense," he insisted. "A Japanese coast guard cutter towed the two-masted sailing vessel into port Friday from South Korean waters, where it was found Thursday. Calvert had expected to complete the 800-mile voyage from Formosa about a week ago.

The thespian is on a round-the-world cruise, with Calvert taking time off to make personal appearances and TV films. It sailed from Formosa June 16 after several months in drydock for repairs of typhoon damage.

"We were six days without wind," the actor continued, adding that the 83-ton yacht's sails went slack and it drifted helplessly from a spot 180 miles off the Japanese coast to South Korean waters.

Aboard the yacht with Calvert were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Iverson, Chatsworth, Calif.; Mrs. Constance Conrad Lowe, Calvert's mother-in-law; and Army Specialist Thomas E. Jones, Black River Falls, Wis.

Sunday Musical Event Continues

Sunday evenings in City Park may turn out to be enjoyable for music lovers the rest of the summer and far into the fall.

Last week, the Civic Theatre sponsored a two-hour musical program, played by Hi Fi House personnel. The music was broadcast over the park area in front of the Civic Theatre building on the park's west side, and covered the picnic region between the swimming pool and tennis courts.

Art Class Finds Subjects On Gulf

ROCKPORT, June 28 (AP)—A seagoing art class operates out of Rockport, where students can capture the charm of the world's busiest waterways—the intracoastal canal—and the bays of the Texas coast. It is directed by Simon G. Michael, who came here eight years ago to found an art school.

"There were so many things to paint around here," Michael said, "that after I saw the area I couldn't leave. Where else along the Gulf can you find trees, boats, dunes and the picturesque scenes that you have here so close together? Many a painter would travel hundreds of miles for those wind-whipped live oaks alone."

In the beginning, it wasn't a seagoing school at all, for Michael and his students. But out of the Classes' need for more and more material to paint grew the nautical part of the business.

Michael liked to fish when he had time, and as he roamed the area in his off hours he saw, up and down the bays and in the intracoastal canal, all sorts of interesting subjects that could only be reached by boat.

He was sure that his students would find the bay world as exciting as he did. So he borrowed a cruiser from a friend, told his students to carry a lunch along, loaded a dozen or so aboard, and away they went.

From that somewhat haphazard beginning, the Rockport School of Fine Arts, in the persons of Michael and his pupils, has graduated to the Rambler, a seaworthy boat. On this, during the summer, each one of his classes put in a day or two as part of their regular course of study.

It's no pleasure cruise. The students work.

They arrive at the Rambler accoutred with desk chairs, paint boxes, crayons, sketch pads, lunch sacks, straw hats, sunburn lotion, chewing gum and conversation, and before they go aboard are handed their life preserver to comply with Coast Guard regulations.

Once everyone is settled, the Rambler heads down the harbor, with all the artists sketching industriously, for unless they get their impressions down in a hurry it's too late.

They jot down vignettes of boats, pelicans, gulls, tugs, barges, shrimpers, sports fishermen, beacons, drilling rigs and other scenes of the region.

The lighthouse at Port Aransas and the wreck of a freighter nearby are favorite themes for the artists, along with gulls, buoys, markers, jetties, fishermen and the teaming tide of pleasure craft that swarm in the canal and the bays.

Jess Talkin

After a long absence, the drought has come back home. It is found in the dryland farming sections of Martin County where early feed and cotton are holding up well, but the feed ready to boot out must have moisture.

The wind storm last Monday started some fields blowing, and they have been at it intermittently ever since. At Lenora, Grover Springer said the wind damaged a lot of young cotton, with the damage being even heavier to the north.

Quite a lot of cotton blew out near Patricia, with one man losing a quarter section of it. Damage was also found at Walcott, Brown and Valley View. The storm brought strong winds but only light showers to leave the whole area dusty and dry.

Irrigation farmers got a break from the weather this year. At Tarzan 98 per cent of the first planting came up, according to Clarence Airhart of the Tarzan Marketing Association. He said it was altogether different from last year, when some farmers planted three or four times.

Cotton is making good growth, though fleahoppers are doing some damage. Grasshoppers and jack rabbits have also been nibbling cotton, but not much poisoning has been done yet.

Airhart said there hadn't been much labor shortage this year. Most of the first hoeing is finished, but some farmers will need to go over the fields again.

West of Stanton in the Courtney, Baggett and Tarzan communities nearly all the irrigation wells were pumping. The cotton is beginning to spread across the rows. Feed crops are also doing well, but the older maize needs rain. Because of the expanse of irrigating and shortage of water, hardly anyone waters feed crops.

Some of those wells look quite small. With such a little stream of water, it takes a long time to get across a field. A small percentage of wells are failing, of course, while a few have been abandoned. The really big wells, many of which are located southwest of Tarzan, are still putting out heavy streams of water.

At the Farm Bureau meeting on July 8, the members will set the date for their annual beauty queen contest, which is usually held in August. Any girl from 15 to 21 years of age and whose brother, father or mother is a member of the Farm Bureau may enter the contest.

Also this year there may be a talent contest, with the winners eligible to enter a state contest later in the year.

The H. H. Wilkinson Ranch west of Big Spring could use an inch and a half or two inches of rain, says Bill McIlvain, foreman. The south part got a half inch shower Monday afternoon, but only a sprinkle fell on the north side. Grass is making some growth but it could be a lot better.

Wilkinson who was out on a visit recently does not plan to bring in any more cattle. In fact, he let his lease in the Flint Hills of Oklahoma expire and has sold down to about 230 mother cows which are now on the Howard County place. Most of them have small calves.

McIlvain recently turned the cattle in on 125 acres of sudan, and is also grazing 60 acres of hegar. He has 120 of younger hegar which will be used for grazing soon. The feed crops grown on the ranch are not harvested mechanically but are grazed down by livestock.

If there is a teacher shortage in Texas, it is not reflected in the agricultural departments, says Clemon Montgomery, head of the Texas Educational Agency. Montgomery, who is technical supervisor of a 46-county area in West Texas, says there is a slight surplus of ag teachers. This has been caused by the bumper crop of 1958 graduates and also by former teachers returning to the school room from jobs in industry.

Montgomery says some of those unable to find jobs teaching agriculture may be hired as science teachers. The average graduate in agricultural education has had about 30 semester hours of science which is enough to qualify in many high schools.

There are only eight teaching changes in Area II, he said. These are at Loop, Wall, Sanderson, Clint, Fort Davis, Jayton, Meadow and Wilson. Two new aggie departments are being created in his area. These are at the Union school in Terry County and at Klondike southwest of Lamesa. The Klondike school recently received a scholastic boost when the high school students from Union in west Dawson County were transferred away from Lamesa High School where they attended last year.

Montgomery says the picture for agricultural departments looks brighter than in several years. The pre-enrollment of high school aggie students was up 12 to 15 per cent over last year.

Furr's Slates Opening Of Big Lamesa Store

LAMESA (SC)—A new Furr's super market—replacing one that was destroyed by fire last December—will open Wednesday. It's a luxurious, completely new 18,667-foot store at a new location: N. 4th and Austin Sts.

The beautiful new store will open its doors at 8 a.m. Wednesday for a two-day celebration, close for July Fourth, then open again as usual on Saturday. A new Furr's farm store, located on the same lot, will be opened at a later date, said Roy Furr of Lubbock, president of the firm.

Mayor J. D. Dyer of Lamesa will perform ribbon cutting ceremonies at the store. The Rev. Milo Arbuckle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the invocation. Company officials from Lubbock will be on hand.

Larry Bailey is manager of the new store. Ronnie Irwin is meat department manager, Gertie Lynch heads the drug department and Bob Seal directs the fresh fruits and vegetables department.

The new store is located on a large lighted paved parking area with spaces for 316 cars. It is of brick construction and is marked by a towering signature sign.

It features seven high efficiency Almor check stands for extra fast check out. There is a Kiddy Theatre, office for the manager, magic carpet doors and many other features for shopper convenience. The store contains colored self-service refrigerated cases for fresh meats, fruits and vegetables, dairy and frozen foods. There is a vast warehouse area for groceries, drugs, produce and meats in the rear of the store. Attractive colors are used throughout the interior.

Three Children Perish In Fire

ELBING, Kan. (AP)—Three children perished in a fire that destroyed the two-story frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dyck early today.

The children were trapped in upstairs bedrooms. They were Gene Dyck, 13, and his sisters, Barbara, 8, and Norma, 7.

The parents were sleeping downstairs and escaped uninjured. The father called to the children to jump, and the son replied, "I can't." Nothing further was heard from the children as the flames spread up a stairwell.

Authorities said the fire may have started from a water heater.

Primitive Methods Used In Vast Construction Project

With methods used in Biblical times, a $50 million construction job is being carried out in the shadow of the Himalayas, reports Engineering News-Record, a McGraw-Hill publication.

The operation, supervised by the U. S. Army Engineer Corps, is turning a vast area of ancient farmland in Kharian, West Pakistan, into a modern base for the Pakistani Army.

In searing 130-degree heat, Pakistani men, dressed in skirts, do all excavation by hand. Dirt is hauled away in saddlebags on donkeys.

Material is transported to the project on camels' backs. All bricks—and 50 million will be used—are made on the site, as are all bolts, nuts and rivets. Roofing tiles are turned out six a minute in primitive hand presses. Hoisting is done by hand with block and tackle. Ladders and scaffolding are made of bamboo.

Water is brought up from shallow Persian wells by a crude bucket-chain pump, powered by an ox walking in a small circle. Concrete curing is carried out by several hundred workers, each equipped with a goatskin water bag and a small cup for sprinkling.

But in spite of primitive building methods, no cracks have appeared in the concrete, and the hand-threaded nuts and bolts fit. When finished, the project will consist of about 490 buildings, including a modern, 200-bed hospital, 31 miles of roads, 10 acres of paved parking areas, 18 miles of water lines and 13 miles of sewer lines.
