Looking For Rebels

A government tank moves through street in Tripoli where a battle raged for more than 12 hours overnight between Lebanese government and rebel forces, insurgent sources reported. Eight persons were killed and about 20 wounded—many of them bystanders caught by stray bullets—the reports said.

Lebanese Rebels Take Beirut Hills

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanese rebels occupied hills overlooking Beirut International airport in a surprise thrust this morning. Security forces supported by armored cars and a lone fighter plane struck back in mid-morning and occupied two hills behind Hemlan Village, near Beirut. Fighting continued. The rebels and government forces fought the fiercest battle of the rebellion over the weekend at Tripoli. There were no reports on whether the rebel activity there signaled the start of an offensive to capture the whole city.

The battle in the northern port city Sunday centered around the U.S. Presbyterian Hospital, which stands on a hill surrounded by rebel territory. Bullets nicked the hospital's outer walls, and it was shaken by explosions.

Inside the hospital were 25 Lebanese patients and 42 Lebanese staff members. They reported by telephone Sunday that their reinforced patrol of government guards was still there. American personnel quit the hospital two weeks ago. The rebels were trying to capture the hospital for their own wounded.

Rebel strongholds in the Tripoli area were shelled by land and sea-borne artillery. Government gunboats in the Mediterranean, shelling the El Meni port area, staging point for the rebel attacks on the hospital. Armored cars continued blasting rebel strongpoints from land.

County Sets Date For Paving Bids

Bids for installing paving on three county road projects will be asked for July 21, county commissioners decided this morning. Walter Parks, county engineer, said he will have the three roads ready for surfacing by that time. The projects are identified as the Oil Mill Road, Wasson-Elbow Road and the Silver Heels Road.

Death Beats Rescuers In 3 Tries In Mishap Series

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Death snatched three lives from the hands of would-be rescuers in Ohio over the weekend. In another accident, the rescue was successful, but the rescuer died.

Near Fostoria, a father turned from his fishing to see his 3-year-old son waddling on railroad tracks in the path of an oncoming train. He raced to the rescue. When only six feet from his son, the train struck and killed the boy, knocking the body into the father's outstretched arms.

At Cincinnati, a 4-year-old boy saw his 3-year-old brother leaning out of a second-story window. The older child got there in time to save his brother's life—but he himself fell to his death.

In Ottawa County, near the mouth of the Tossaint River, a man and a woman anchored their 16-foot outboard boat and went swimming. The boat started to drift away. They tried to get back. The woman started to go under. Her companion held her head above water, but she slipped from his grasp and drowned. He was saved when help arrived from another boat.

Near Kelley's Island in Lake Erie, a Vermillion couple was aboard a 30-foot cabin cruiser when tragedy struck. The husband went below deck momentarily, leaving his wife sitting at the rear of the boat. When he returned, she was nowhere in sight, apparently having fallen overboard. He jumped in the water and found her, but his efforts to revive her were in vain.

The four victims were Lewis Rice of Fostoria; Jackie DeMint of Cincinnati; Miss Joan Tash, 27, of Oak Harbor; and Mrs. Ellen Andress, 49, of Vermilion.

Fox Claims Adams Tried To Hush Pal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-publisher John Fox swore today that Sherman Adams had tried to hush up Bernard Goldfine and prevent him from boasting that Adams had never let him down.

Fox thus flatly contradicted a denial by Adams, President Eisenhower's principal assistant, that Goldfine made such a statement in his presence.

This came after the House subcommittee hearing testimony by Fox for the third day clamped down on Fox, refusing to let him read a new statement in the probe of the Adams-Goldfine case.

Fox, stormy Boston financial figure, repeated with details his story of a conference in the Sheraton Carlton Hotel here involving Adams and Goldfine and of Goldfine's subsequent boast to Adams.

Goldfine, wealthy Boston industrialist, was having difficulties at the time—May, 1955—with the Federal Trade Commission over labeling of some of his textile factory products.

After the conference with Adams, Fox said, Goldfine called Fox into the room for a drink and proposed a toast to Adams, who "never lets his friends down and isn't letting me down now."

Rep. Joseph O'Hara (R-Minn.) asked Fox whether this was "a kidding remark."

"Quite obviously," Fox said he didn't know, but "Adams told Goldfine by the arm to a far corner of the room and quite obviously admonished him not to talk too much."

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) interrupted to admonish Fox not to testify about things he did not know himself.

But Fox insisted. "From the snatches of conversation I got and Mr. Adams' obvious concern," he knew he "was telling Mr. Goldfine to keep his mouth shut," he said.

Adams in a public statement Friday specifically denied that Goldfine made any such remark in his presence.

Adams has acknowledged making an inquiry about the status of FTC cases involving Goldfine's mills, and passing on the resulting information to Goldfine, but insisted he asked for no special treatment for his friend.

Fox, a Boston lawyer-businessman, is the principal accuser before the subcommittee so far in charges that Goldfine got preferential treatment because of friendship with Adams.

At the start of today's hearing, Fox asked Harris if he could read a statement. Fox said this dealt with testimony he had given last week.

Harris turned Fox down, saying "It refers to something else." The chairman did not disclose what the "something else" was.

Harris vigorously defended himself and his group against stiff criticism that the subcommittee has become a sounding board for smearing innocent people.

Goldfine, a business enemy of Fox, came to Washington for testimony Tuesday. Both Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide and Goldfine's lawyers have challenged various parts of Fox's testimony and denounced the subcommittee for allowing public testimony from what they call a reckless, irresponsible witness.

Goldfine's attorneys say Fox is on a smear campaign.

Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (Minn.), top subcommittee Republican, asked Fox if he had been correctly quoted in the past as saying: "You have no idea of my capacity for retribution."

"I don't recall whether I ever said it," Fox replied, "but it completely expresses my sentiments, so I may very well have said it."

Meanwhile, press secretary James C. Hagerly denied that the White House has been "calling the shots" in the briefing of Goldfine for his testimony before the subcommittee, scheduled for tomorrow.

Two Killed In Martin Wreck

STANTON (SC)—Two men were killed in a head-on collision of two cars 18 miles north of here on the Lamesa Highway.

Two others were injured, one seriously. Amelio Aguirre, 27, and Gilberto Hinojosa, 32, drivers of the two vehicles, were killed in the crash which occurred at 10:35 p.m. Saturday.

Manuel Alvarado was brought to the Malone - Hogan Clinic Hospital in an Arrington ambulance. He had a broken leg and other injuries which were being checked more extensively Monday.

Joe Espinosa escaped with minor injuries. Alvarado, a Mexican national, was a passenger in the Hinojosa car, while Espinosa was riding with Aguirre.

Aguirre's car apparently spun into the path of the other after its right wheels dropped off the pavement onto the shoulder of the roadway.

Rites for Hinojosa, who lived west of Stanton on the Wesley W. Williams farm, are to be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the St. Joseph Catholic Church with the Rev. Fabian Diersing officiating. Burial will be in the St. Joseph Cemetery under direction of Arrington Funeral Home. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elida Hinojosa, nine children, and his parents.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday in St. Joseph Church, Fr. Diersing will conduct the funeral mass for Aguirre, and burial will be in the St. Joseph Cemetery, also under direction of Arrington Funeral Home. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Aguirre, Stanton; his wife, one daughter, Linda; three brothers and five sisters.

Cafe, Paint Store Heavily Damaged By Fire Sunday

Damage to the Snac-A-Ritz and Thorp Paint Store was heavy after the buildings were hit by fire early Sunday morning.

Firemen estimated that the loss would be great, especially to the kitchen of the Snac-A-Ritz, 111 W. 4th, where they thought the fire developed.

The fire broke out about 8:20 a. m. and firemen were at the scene watching the building until noon. All fire was extinguished by about 9:15, however.

Firemen said that the blaze evidently started in the kitchen of the cafe and spread to the ceiling. The cafe interior was damaged principally by smoke and heat, as was the paint store just to the east. The ceiling was extensively damaged, but fire didn't break through the roof, firemen reported.

The cafe was operated by J. O. Hagood while the building is owned by Murph Thorp.

The firemen also extinguished a small fire at 610 Galveston Sunday on a vacant lot. No damage was reported, however.

Bite Suspected In Child's Death

COLORADO CITY (SC)—A bite of some sort was believed to be the source of an infection which claimed the life of a 6-year-old Negro boy Sunday. Calvin Gene Clayton died in the Johnson Hospital in Loraine.

JEALOUS RIVAL PUTS POISON ON COLONEL'S PRIZE GARDEN

ORPINGTON, England (AP)—Col. John Southern claimed today a jealous rival in the green thumb field has poisoned his prize garden.

The culprit, so far uncaught, sprinkled the colonel's lawn, flowers and trees with a weed-killer. The garden, which had won first prize in a competition for best in the district, is now a mess of dead and dying vegetation.

"Someone was jealous of my wonderful garden," said the colonel. "I'll catch the rogue if it costs every penny I have."

U. S. Demands Yanks' Release

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. today asked the Soviet Foreign Ministry for the immediate release of nine American airmen forced down inside Soviet Armenia.

Thompson was ordered from Washington to transmit his government's denial of Soviet charges that the plane, an unarmed DC6A Air Force transport, had deliberately trespassed into the Soviet air space. The U. S. Defense Department suggested that the aircraft was flying above an overcast on instruments and strayed off course.

Consul Asks For Captives' Release

HAVANA (AP)—Rebels struck again today in their bold campaign of kidnaping Americans and other foreigners, seizing two plant officials in eastern Cuba.

The new stroke was announced by the U.S. embassy as U.S. Consul Park Wollam negotiated with the rebels in the mountains for the release of 39 other kidnaped Americans and 2 Canadians.

Sherman Avery White, general manager of the big U.S.-built Nicaro Nickel plant, and his assistant, J. Andrew Poll, were carried off by a band of eight rebels.

The swift seizure by rebels, who left no trace, was of the same pattern as the previous abductions last week. All are believed designed to draw attention to rebel leader Fidel Castro's sputtering revolt against President Fulgencio Batista.

open fighting that might harm the captives.

The current wave of kidnapings was preceded by a rebel charge that the United States was allowing Batista's air force to use the Guantanamo airstrip as a base from which to bomb Castro's mountain hideouts.

This was promptly denied by U.S. Ambassador Earl E. Smith. Last night he issued another denial saying: "In compliance with the U.S. policy on nonintervention in Cuban internal affairs, the base has not and will not be refueled or in other ways service Cuban military aircraft engaged in combat activities."

STILL IN CONTACT

U.S. embassy sources said Wollam still was in contact with the rebels in the mountains of Oriente Province but there was no indication when the men would be released.

After Castro's war of nerves fizzled three months ago, the rebels withdrew to the hills and remained relatively quiet. Cuba had begun returning to normal.

Then last Thursday night the rebels seized 10 American and two Canadian engineers at the isolated Moa Mining Co. on the northern coast of Oriente.

Two sugar mill executives were carried off in separate kidnapings in Oriente.

The rebels' biggest catch was the excursion party of 27 U.S. sailors and Marines. They failed to return to Guantanamo on schedule Friday night and their empty bus was found Saturday afternoon. Two Cubans, presumably the driver and his assistant, also were reported missing.

Although the U.S. Embassy reported the men were forced from their bus and driven into the mountains, there was no public expression of fear for their safety or that of the other captives. Wollam was told by a reliable rebel source that the 12 engineers were in good shape.

In the past Castro's men have been studiously polite to their foreign captives, releasing them unharmed after the kidnaping made its desired publicity splash. Because of the current kidnapings the Cuban army curtailed its offensive against the rebels to avoid

Job Placements Are Off Slightly

The Texas Employment office noticed a lull in June's work demands, but manager Leon Kinney figures that the current building increase should offset that when it reaches full swing.

Applications for jobs totaled 337 for the month through the 25th, bringing the active file to 1,355. Kinney said this includes many young people just out of school.

The office received 233 openings, and made 296 placements (non-agricultural). One hundred thirty-two agricultural placements were made.

Applicants made 1,062 unemployment compensation claims for June, and the TEC took 122 new claims.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to bypass the U.S. Circuit Court in St. Louis and rule directly on an order suspending desegregation in Little Rock schools for 2 1/2 years.

Attorneys for Negro groups had asked the court to hold a special term and give a speedy ruling.

They asked the high tribunal to overturn an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley blocking integration for 30 months.

The effect of Judge Lemley's ruling, if allowed to stand, is to require Negroes already enrolled in Little Rock, Ark., Central High School to attend a high school for Negroes beginning when schools reopen in September.

The Supreme Court, in a two-page printed unsigned opinion said the justices "have no doubt that the Court of Appeals will recognize the vital importance of the time element in this litigation, and that it will act upon the application for a stay or the appeal in ample time to permit arrangements to be made for the next school year."

The opinion, read by Chief Justice Warren, gave some factual background on Little Rock and then said that the special request made to the Supreme Court asked it to use a power which has been used but rarely.

In Danger Of Disappearance

WASHINGTON'S HOME

Million Dollars Needed To Save Historic Farm

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph D. Zenker is looking for a million dollars.

If she gets it, and she vows she will, she will use it for a job she is determined to see done: pay off the mortgage on Ferry Farm—the boyhood home of George Washington and locale of the legends of the cherry tree chopping and the silver dollar hurled across the Rappahannock.

A group of little Indians are on Mrs. Zenker's side and so are a lot of other people. But these are mostly Americans whose contributions are counted in nickels, dimes and quarters in a mission for a million.

TRAIL BLAZERS

Mrs. Zenker hopes business and industry may take a cue from Miss Colleen Yellow Horse, a 4th grader at the Holy Rosary Indian Mission School at the Pine Ridge, S. D., reservation.

"We know from our study of history here that George Washington was one of the greatest men," Colleen wrote when she sent along $11.06 from her classmates to help the cause. "We want to help so that people don't forget him."

Mrs. Zenker says she's a bit put out with some of the leaders of the nation's commerce. As head of the Ferry Farm restoration drive, she sent out 5,000 letters to leaders of business and industry asking for a helping hand. The appeal brought in about $226 and lots of replies saying, "Unfortunately, we can't help."

But seven members of Girl Scout Troop 10 in Snyder, Tex., sent in a dime each; a crippled man's crutch turned up a quarter in the road in California, Pa., while he was hobbling home so he doubled his donation and made it a half dollar; and an unemployed man in Williamsport, Md., sent a dollar with a letter from his wife saying they would try to send another when things got better.

Mrs. Zenker, wife of a food industry consultant who came here from New York three years ago, says the letters that come with the little donations given her a big lift and revive her determination to see the project through. Then, too, you never can tell when one of the letters will hold a windfall.

The first financial plateau Mrs. Zenker is seeking is $57,000 to pay off the mortgage on the 101-acre tract held by a real estate development firm. The mortgage comes due July 1 and expanding industry has been eyeing the site. The money beyond that would be used to rebuild the home of Washington's boyhood and develop the historic site.

Macmillan, De Gaulle Meet To Survey World Problems

PARIS (AP) — French Premier De Gaulle and British Prime Minister Macmillan continued a speedy survey of international problems today in a flurry of good will but with no definite agreements on major questions between them.

Macmillan continued his talks with De Gaulle, while British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd talked with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Informed sources said the two government chiefs were still far apart on De Gaulle's determination to make France an atomic weapon power and Macmillan's desire for the formation of a 17-nation European free trade zone.

They did agree in lengthy talks over the dinner table and under the elms of the French Premier's garden that it was vital to preserve the independence of Lebanon and prevent infiltration of outside Arab and Communist influences into that Middle East country.

Macmillan arrived by plane Sunday for the brief visit. Sources close to the Briton said the talks went very well.

De Gaulle, it was learned, stressed France's desire to join the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union as an atomic power. Macmillan reportedly replied that the British thoroughly appreciated this desire, but added the British consider it "preferable to keep the atomic club as small as possible."

British sources stressed both Macmillan and De Gaulle agreed the best solution would be an international agreement for banning both the testing and production of nuclear weapons.

The two men also agreed on the necessity of trying to get an East-West summit meeting going, the importance of the Geneva talks on the detection of atomic tests and the vitality of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Raymond Lewis Headspeith, 37, was nabbed in Miami, Fla., by FBI agents and charged with stealing $200,000 from a wealthy woman he met on a dude ranch in Nevada. John H. Williams, special agent for the FBI in Miami, said Headspeith offered no resistance because "he was too sick." Headspeith is shown in the hospital recovering from his illness.

Spaceship Spotter Tells Of Sighting

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Mo. (AP)—"Through binoculars the object looked white-orangey," Mrs. David McClure said. She was reporting yesterday to a weekend convention of fellow believers in spacecraft. "It couldn't have been a satellite," she said. "Did you ever see a satellite dip, hover and maneuver?" The McClures, from Tulsa, Okla., said they sighted the mysterious flying object after leaving Saturday night's convention session. The two-day meeting was held on an Ozark mountaintop near here. Its host, Buck Nelson, says his farm is a rallying-point for the mysterious space ships. "Good thing we had witnesses along," Mrs. McClure commented. "Otherwise, people might not believe us."

Texan Is Among Captured Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Luther W. Lynes, Savoy, Tex., was one of the nine men aboard the Air Force plane forced down by Soviet fighters Saturday inside Russian territory, according to an Air Force announcement last night. Savoy is near Bonham, Fannin County. Russian authorities said the plane burned after it landed, but the men were alive.

AF Jet Tankers Beat Speed Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Air Force jet tankers beat the east-west speed record between London and New York City yesterday. Alpha, the first of the two U.S. planes, flashed over Idlewild Airport at 2:20 p.m. It had made the 3,460 miles nonstop flight from London in 5 hours 51 minutes 24.8 seconds.

The plane landed minutes later at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn.

Right behind Alpha streaked its sister ship Bravo, which took 5 hours 53 minutes 21 seconds. It landed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., its home base.

Swept from the record books was British Capt. J. W. Hackett's mark of 7 hours 29 minutes established Aug. 23, 1955.

The U.S. planes, four-engine KC135s of the Strategic Air Command, set new marks of less than 5 1/2 hours for the New York-London flight last Friday. A third jet tanker crashed just after takeoff Friday at Westover. Fifteen men were killed, six newsmen among them.

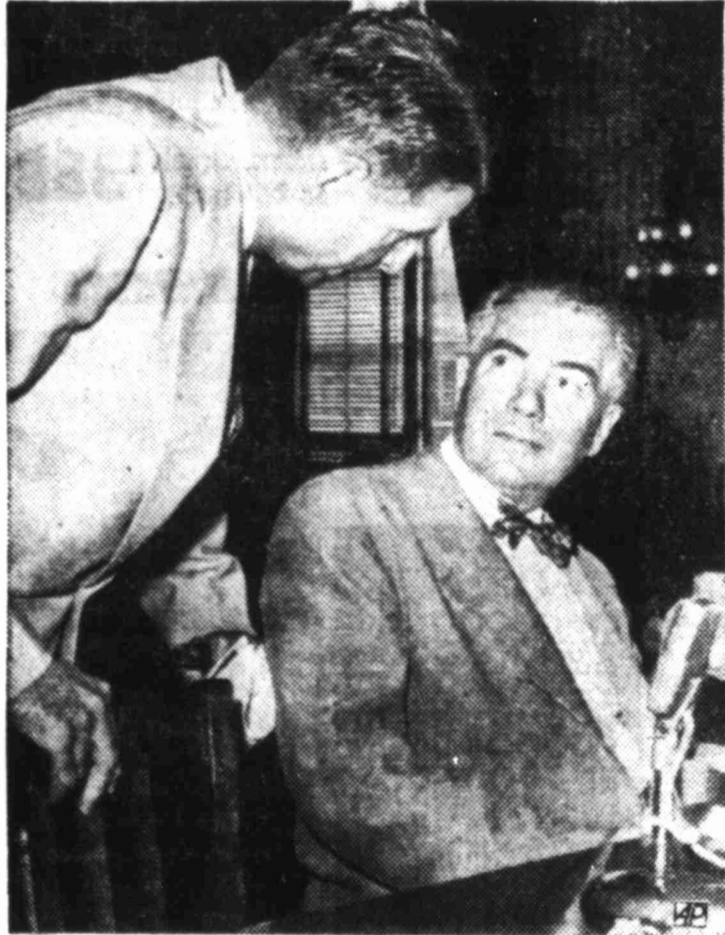

Memorial services for the victims were held at Westover yesterday. Col. Harry Burrell of Omaha, Neb., 46-year-old commander of the flight, described the return trip as smooth.

Alpha's pilot, Maj. Burl Davenport of San Antonio, Tex., maintained an average speed just under 588 miles an hour. The plane's top speed was 630 miles an hour.

Body Of Missing Student Found

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A University of Texas student Saturday found the body of Manfred Hans Larisch, a university student from Amarillo, missing since May 24th. Homicide detective R. C. Scott reported the body was discovered by Don Yeager, who was searching for rock specimens.

Scott said there were empty pill bottles beside the body which was found on the crest of a bluff overlooking the Colorado River, but there were no signs of violence or robbery.

A Word From The Chairman

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House subcommittee looking into the affairs of Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine leans over for a word with John Fox at the witness table in Washington, D.C., before hearing his testimony. House investigators decided that Fox would give his testimony in public despite objections from Goldfine that the former publisher of the defunct Boston Post might defame him.

Steelworkers Get Wage Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Basic steelworkers receive a wage increase tomorrow that likely will be felt by most Americans before too long.

The increase is the final installment in a three-year contract.

The union estimates the package boost at 13.2 cents hourly, the companies at 16 cents. Steelworkers now earn about $2.77 hourly. USW members will also receive a 4-cent hourly raise figured on a rise on the government's cost-of-living index.

Steelmakers, who had hoped the union would forego the final increase, estimate the boost will add up to 25 cents hourly to the cost of production. All are agreed an increase in the price of steel will be necessary. None of the major producers has said just how much. U.S. Steel Corp. normally sets the steel price pattern, but it has said it would make no decision until the economic situation clarifies. This was taken in many quarters to mean that Big Steel would wait for a business improvement before making price adjustments. The present composite price of steel is estimated at $155 a ton.

Tripoli Residents Grow Tired Of Nation's Drawn-Out Crisis

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — In this normally quiet little city of northern Lebanon people are getting sick of their nation's drawn-out crisis. They don't even know what to call it, but whatever it is they have been hurt cruelly. "Call it a fight, call it a national sickness if you like," one young officer said sadly, "but don't call it war. They are our brothers up there in the hills and we don't make war on our brothers." Whatever it is, this thing has been torturing the people of the Tripoli area. Christian fights against Christian, Moslem against Moslem — and Christians and Moslems fight together against the government. It's not a conventional war up here at all — it's all mixed up. This area is one of the main sources of Christian opposition which is insisting that President Camille Chamoun, himself a Christian, resign under fire. Tripoli is predominantly a Moslem town with many people akin to the neighboring Syrians, but the dominating factor has always been a sort of Christian aristocracy. It is here, if anywhere, that the rebels must hit hardest if they are to have any hopes of success, and people here realize this. Day after day people stay in their homes while bullets whistle through the city and shellfire thunders in the hills. Most of the city's shops are closed. Only a few grocery stores remain open in the old part of the city. The streets are deserted except for a few stray pedestrians and a trickle of automobile traffic. Entrenched rebels are able to fire down from the city's hillsides into the security force positions in the streets. Spokesmen for the security forces give this picture of the rebels: Inside the city proper there are 350 rebels. About 150 serve directly under rebel leader Raschid Karami. Another 100 Syrians and Lebanese are members of the Syrian Arab Socialist Resurrection party. The rest are members of the Palestinian Refugee Organization and violent partisans of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic. Ten to 15 miles north of Tripoli the army is holding a long line against determined hit-and-run attacks by rebel forces who may number in the thousands. There is no way of determining the strength of these forces since they wear civilian clothing and use guerrilla tactics. Spokesmen for the security forces say the rebels are amply supplied since they control all the northern Akkar area and therefore the routes from Syria. Government partisans here insist there is an uninterrupted flow of supplies from Syria, which is part of Nasser's republic. But they also say they suspect the ardor for the rebellion has passed its peak and is beginning to decline. They admit the security forces are not attacking or counterattacking in full strength but they say this is because the government does not want to turn the fighting into an all-out war. Whatever the conflict is, people are taking a beating and their nerves are badly frayed. Those who can afford it have fled to the mountains, hoping to wait out the fighting. But most of the people here are condemned to stick it out under fire.

State Bread Standards To Become Effective Tuesday

New bread standards go into effect tomorrow to assure that you get the kind of bread you pay for. After that, if you buy a loaf of cinnamon-raisin bread and it doesn't have raisins in it, the baker is subject to action. The standards will require all bread and rolls to be properly labeled so as to truthfully reflect their ingredients and nutritious qualities. Patterned after federal food standards, they will be administered by the State Health Department's Food and Drug Division. A majority of the baking industry supports the standards. Labeling means much more than a colorful wrapping around a loaf of bread. It includes, among other things, the advertising claims made by the baker for his product. A food is misbranded when its labeling is false or misleading in any particular, if it is offered for sale under the name of another food, or if it is an imitation of another food (unless its label bears in prominent type the word "imitation" and immediately thereafter the name of the food imitated).

Bread is also mislabeled if it purports to be or is represented as a food for which a "standard of identity" has been described and it fails to conform to that standard. The law's basic requirements for clean handling, informative labeling and no adulteration gives consumers an insight into the purity, wholesomeness and nutritional quality of the product. Bread labels must show net weight or numerical count of the product, such as "net weight, one pound," or "one dozen doughnuts," and the name of the product such as "Smith's Enriched Bread," or "Jones' Raisin Bread."

410 May Die During Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council today estimated 410 Americans may be killed in traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend. If the toll goes that high, it will set a new record for a three-day observance of Independence Day. The high mark is 407, set in 1955. The council also said there could be 12,000 disabling injuries during the 78-hour period — from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday, July 3, to midnight Sunday, July 6. It estimated 45 million cars will run up a total of 12 billion miles during the holiday period. While predicting a heavy toll, the council stated: "But it doesn't have to be that way. A sure-fire antidote for extra holiday danger is extra holiday care—and it's available without cost to every driver."

Compensation Suit Trial Opens Today

Trial of a workman's compensation suit started this morning in 118th District Court. Plaintiff in the case is Chester Thomas Smith of Greenville who alleges he was disabled while working on an oil drilling rig in Howard County Oct. 25, 1956. He was employed by Slim Rea Drilling Co. at the time, according to the petition. He asks judgment for $10,025. Defendant is the Texas Employers Insurance Assn.

Killer Of Bandit Gets Promotion

NORTH MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Don't say anything," Patrolman Ralph Rex cautioned his companions at a crowded restaurant. "I'll wait until he gets his hands on the trays." Customers sat frozen in their chairs last night as a masked gunman scooped up cash register trays containing $800 and shouldered through the doors. Rex fired three shots into his back. The bandit fell dead. Police Chief Karl Engle promoted Rex on the spot to sergeant. The bandit was not identified immediately.

C-City Funeral Home Operator Dies Sunday

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Andrew Davis Kiker, 76, who had operated a funeral home here more than a quarter of a century, died at 12:45 a. m. Sunday in Dallas.

Mr. Kiker, injured in an automobile mishap on May 23, had been removed from Root Memorial Hospital last week to Baylor Hospital in Dallas for brain surgery. He had been making satisfactory recovery when he was stricken suddenly.

Services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church with the pastor, the Rev. Clarence Collins, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Cal Wright, retired minister and a former pastor. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Mr. Kiker has operated the Kiker & Son Funeral Home with his son, Doyle Kiker, since 1930. He was one of three brothers to operate funeral homes. M. P. Kiker has operated a funeral home in Breckenridge, and George D. Kiker has operated the Kiker-Warren Funeral Home in Abilene with Jess Warren.

Mr. Kiker was born in Greens Creek in Erath County Nov. 15, 1881, as the son of a Methodist minister who also built coffins for deceased members of his flock. He did this as well as preached the funeral as a service to his members.

He was married to Ollie Jane Morton at Greens Creek on Sept. 28, 1902, and she died Nov. 12, 1964. He had been a postal employee at Dublin before joining with his brothers in a chain of furniture stores and funeral homes for A. B. Barrow of Rotan. Mr. Kiker came to Colorado City in 1925 with the Jones-Russell Furniture Store and Funeral Home. He was a member of the First Methodist Church and of the Lions Club.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. N. H. White Jr., Arkansas City, Kans.; Mrs. Ivan Barrow, Colorado City, and Mrs. Leroy Brown, Dallas; two sons, Doyle Kiker, Colorado City, and George G. Kiker, Amarillo. He also leaves his two brothers and his two sisters, Mrs. F. N. Vaughan, Port Arthur, and Mrs. Lota Campbell, Tulsa, Okla. Seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive.

Panel Puts Muzzle On Critic Of FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities today announced a conclusion today that no useful purpose can be served by letting Cyrus Eaton repeat what the committee called groundless accusations.

Walter earlier had signed a subpoena calling for Eaton's appearance before the committee to discuss recent statements in which the Cleveland industrialist criticized the FBI along with other federal investigators.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), committee chairman, handed a statement to reporters after a closed-door session of the committee.

Taken To Huntsville

Six prisoners were transferred from the county jail to the penitentiary at Huntsville today by Jack Hackney, deputy sheriff.

Transferred were Elmer Mitchell, Henry Marin, Armando Franco, Daniel Marquez, Marie Dansby and Betty Hegge, Tommy Cole, former deputy sheriff, accompanied Hackney on the trip.

Ironworkers Dispute To Have Little Effect Here

The wage dispute between union ironworkers and West Texas building contractors apparently will have little immediate effect on construction projects here.

A. P. Kasch & Sons, contractor for the student union building at Howard County Junior College, has completed most of the steel work on that structure, and reported only one ironworker on the job today. He wasn't employed as an ironworker, however.

Court Overrules Fine For NAACP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today threw out a contempt finding and $100,000 fine levied by an Alabama judge against the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Justice Harlan delivered the unanimous decision.

The high tribunal declined to act on a request that it dissolve a restraining order barring NAACP from operating in Alabama. Harlan said the court found the NAACP has never received a hearing on the merits of the ouster suit and that the issue was not properly before the Supreme Court.

The litigation developed from a complaint by Alabama in 1956 that NAACP had not registered under Alabama laws dealing with out-of-state corporations.

Circuit Court Judge Walter B. Jones in Montgomery on June 1, 1956, issued the restraining order, on request of Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson. The attorney general said acts of the Negro group resulted in violation of Alabama laws and tend in many instances to create a breach of the peace.

Later, on request of the state, Judge Jones ordered NAACP to produce a list of its members. When NAACP refused, the state judge on July 25, 1956, declared the organization in contempt and imposed the fine.

The Alabama Supreme Court twice refused to review the contempt finding and $100,000 levy, causing the NAACP to appeal to the highest tribunal. Counsel for NAACP argued there that its rights and rights of its member had been denied in violation of the due process of law guarantee of the U. S. Constitution.

Alabama had argued before the high court that it had no jurisdiction to consider the contempt ruling and fine because they rested solely on Alabama law.

Youth Speared In Gulf Mishap

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Joe Bludworth Jr., 22, was speared to death yesterday by a boyhood friend in an underwater skin-diving accident near Port Aransas.

The University of Texas student was skin-diving with six other friends in deep water off an oil well rig seven miles south of Port Aransas.

He and Kenneth Clayburne, 23, of San Antonio were diving for fish together about 10 a. m. at a depth of 65 feet and came up to the surface. He couldn't see him, and told investigating officers he assumed Bludworth was chasing fish in another part of the water.

Clayburne dived back down to about 30 feet and shot with his spear gun at what he thought was a fish. The arrow hit Bludworth in the head.

Clayburne pulled on the string attached to the arrow discovered that he had hit Bludworth and immediately surfaced with the victim. Bludworth died in the boat as the boys were taking him to a Coast Guard cutter.

A life-long friend of Bludworth, Clayburne was treated for shock.

Joseph Bludworth was the son of Mrs. Daphne Reising, who has resided in Big Spring for the past few months. He also was the nephew of Mrs. Tom Slaughter, Mrs. D. W. Rankin, John Tucker, and Andy Tucker, all of Big Spring.

Other survivors are two sisters, Jo Jack Bludworth of New York City and Mrs. Arthur Georges of San Antonio.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but services are expected to be held in San Antonio.

Drag Racer Avoids Crowd As Car Spins

Quick thinking by Herman Lawhon of O'Donnell may have averted a serious accident at the Big Spring Timing Assn.'s races at Webb AFB Sunday afternoon.

Lawhon, driving an MG sports car which went out of control shortly after it left the starting line, spun it in such a manner that he missed the onlookers lining the racing strip.

Lawhon, at the wheel of a car owned by the G. A. Jones Construction Co. of Lamesa, wound up in the Cowper Hospital with five broken ribs and a bruised arm.

The safety belt in Lawhon's car snapped, a factor that contributed to his injuries. The roll bar within the cab was in good shape but the car itself was damaged considerably.

The mishap was the first of any consequence in the history of the track.

Third Producing Zone Opened In North Borden County Field

Third production zone of the U Lazy S Field of northern Borden County was opened this weekend with the completion of the Sinclair No. 1 Doyce Waddell from the Mississippi.

Also Pan American completed the No. 8 Breedlove in the Breedlove field of Martin County for over 400 barrels.

The Borden County strike flowed 402 barrels of 39.1-degree oil without a trace of water on potential test from the Mississippi. The U Lazy S field already has production from the Strawn and Ellenburger.

Nearest Mississippi production to the wildcat is about 8 1/2 miles to the east in the Fluvanna pool. Operator plans to dual complete the No. 1 Waddell from the Strawn.

In Martin, the Pan American No. 8 Breedlove flowed 407 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a partial choke.

McCall, Patton & Lowe of Abilene stated the No. 1 Ellwood Estate as a 7,600-foot Pennsylvania wildcat in Mitchell County. The site is about 14 miles east of Colorado City.

Borden

TXL No. 1 Miller, eight miles northeast of Gail, drilled today 6,986 feet in lime. The prospector is C SW SW, 48-30-6n, T&P Survey.

Operator ran logs at the Shell No. 1 Clyde Miller wildcat at a depth of 8,408 feet. The site is C SW NW, 527-97, H&TC Survey, and 12 miles northeast of Gail.

Sinclair Oil prepared to perforate and final from the Strawn at the No. 1 Waddell after completing the well from the Mississippi as a wildcat. The U Lazy S field well flowed through an 18-64-inch choke for 24 hours on potential and produced 402 barrels of 39.1-degree oil. Nearest Mississippi production is in the Fluvanna field about 8 1/2 miles to the east.

4 Establishments Hit By Burglars

Four burglaries were committed on the North Side over the weekend, with vending machines being hit in three of the places. The fourth lost liquor.

Police said three cases of wine and 14 pints of gin were taken in a burglary at Mary's Liquor Store, 504 1/2 NW 3rd. Entry was made through a rear door, the police said.

A burglary at the Acapulco, 300 N. Gregg, netted about $6 from a cigarette machine and a case of beer. The Central Cafe, 501 NW 4th, lost between $5 and $10 from a cigarette machine. The police said the cafe was entered through an east window.

At the Zubiate Cafe, 405 NW 4th, burglars entered an east window but took nothing from the firm. A cigarette machine was booby-trapped but not entered.

Maybe He Lost The Weekend

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Max, who speaks Italian and English but prefers Scotch, has flown the coop.

Miss Marie Lipani said the voluble parakeet slipped out of her house here Sunday after being let out of his cage for exercise.

She noted that his departure followed on the heels of a veterinarian's orders to stay on the wagon.

Max has a vocabulary of about 300 words in each of the languages he chirps in and has always been the life of the party. Miss Lipani said. He's most fond of cocktail parties, though.

But living like a human is not easy, especially if you're a bird, and it's been rather hard on Max. The parakeet has developed stomach trouble over the years, and his owner has had to keep him on a strict diet, feeding him nothing but plain seed and, alas, pure water.

Max apparently thinks this diet is for the birds, so today he's high—and perhaps even dry.

Lawsuits To Seek Delinquent Taxes

Suits for payment of back taxes were to be filed today by Wayne Basden, city attorney who is also representing the school district.

Basden said the suits were being filed on personal property taxes, with some suits going to each of the justice, county and district courts. The court action was undertaken only after repeated tries to collect taxes by other means failed, Basden said.

Permission Granted For O'Daniel Rally

Permission to stage a political rally along the east side of the courthouse lawn was granted this morning to Mrs. Helen Woods, Howard County campaign manager for W. Lee O'Daniel, candidate for governor.

Mrs. Woods told county commissioners that date for the rally hasn't been set. She also plans to contact city officials with a request for permission to close a portion of Main St. for the rally.

Couple Hurt In Auto Mishap

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ellis are receiving treatment at Cooper Hospital for injuries suffered late Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding struck a pile of gravel about six miles east of Vealmoor.

Ellis suffered mild concussion and a cut on his forehead. Mrs. Ellis received a cut lip and her teeth were loosened.

Sheriff Miller Harris said the accident occurred on a new road being constructed between Vealmoor and Lake J. B. Thomas. Elvis Knowlton was identified as driver of the car.

He was almost blinded by the sun as the auto traveled west, and failed to see the road material. He was not injured, although he and Mrs. and Mrs. Ellis were taken to the hospital in a Nalley-Pickle ambulance.

Four Sets Of Hub Covers Are Stolen

Four sets of hub caps were reported missing over the weekend. J. R. Henson, 518 Edwards, reported that four hub caps were stolen from his 1957 Chevrolet while the car was parked at the residence Friday night.

Bill Roberts said a set of caps was taken from his 1958 Edsel at the Clover Bowl south of Big Spring Saturday night. While Mike Hernandez's 1954 Chevrolet was parked at the corner of NW 5th and Lancaster Saturday night, a set of hub caps was stolen.

T. R. Hill said that a complete set of caps was stolen from his car sometime during the past week.

Student Emotional Troubles A Problem

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Reporter

CLEVELAND—Emotional disturbances among college students has become a major educational problem, an expert in the field declared today.

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth, director of Harvard University's health service, said at least 10 per cent of all college students have serious psychological difficulties, severe enough to warrant professional help.

In an address prepared for the annual convention of the National Education Assn., Dr. Farnsworth said the disturbances could result in scholastic failure, apathy, depression, excessive anxiety, compulsive behavior, obsessive thinking and even physical illness.

There are no reliable statistics, he said, to indicate how many of those who drop out of college do so because of emotional conflicts.

But, he added, "in my own institution we have good reason to believe the proportion is considerably more than one half."

"The ultimate cause goes back to the home life, community life and the social environments from which the student comes," he said.

"I am among those," he said, "who believe that the present generation of students has ideals fully as good, if not better, than those of earlier college generations. I see no signs of a moral breakdown originating in our colleges."

"What I do feel strongly about is the massive assault on the integrity of our young men and women of college age in the form of examples set by their elders. Our young people are as often disappointed in representatives of their parents' generation as they are in rebellion against them."

Borrowed Money In 'Hopper Fight

KIT CARSON, Colo. (AP)—Determined farmers are hurling borrowed funds—money they hope to repay from future crops—into the battle against grasshoppers.

The discouraging prospect is that, unless the ravenous pest is destroyed within three weeks, the blight next year could be worse. Already it has developed into the greatest hopper plague in eastern Colorado since 1940. A five-year drought in the area was broken last year.

"When a man's got land of his own, he doesn't leave," says Emendorf Graubeger, with a tone of despair.

Graubeger, a leathery barley farmer, bought 310 acres northeast of Lamar just three weeks ago. Today it is shorn clean by millions of tiny grasshoppers that almost hid the barren ground itself.

With a tractor Graubeger is trying to beat the insects to death, a hopeless task.

Overhead, hordes of hoppers with newly sprouted wings dart from crop to crop. They have infested an estimated 1 1/2 million acres in 28 counties. They are expected to lay next year's eggs within three weeks.

Nearly a million acres are under critical attack in three southeastern counties—Kiowa, Prowers and Cheyenne. In others the danger is considered much less because much spraying has been done.

Women, taken on a 700-mile tour by state agriculture officials, saw the rangeland turned brown, lush alfalfa and other green crops stripped, more than 15 per cent of the multimillion-dollar wheat crop already gone.

The cost of spraying rangeland is being shared equally by farmers, state and federal governments. There is no federal aid for cropland.

Death Claims Mrs. Hull, 79; Rites Tuesday

Mrs. O'Della Agnes Hull, 79, mother of Mrs. Birt Stevens, died at the home of her daughter at 108 Dixie Street at 8 a. m. Monday. She had been ill for the past three years.

Funeral will be held at the Nalley-Pickle Chapel at 4 p. m. Tuesday with the Rev. Ernest D. Stewart Jr., pastor of the East Fourth Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Mrs. Hull was born April 7, 1879 in Eastland County, and she was married to John R. Hull Oct. 18, 1896, also in Eastland County. They came to Big Spring in 1903. He died on Feb. 22, 1950.

Mrs. Hull is survived by three sons, Emmet Hull, Big Spring, Marvin Hull, Fort Worth, and Burly Hull, Jacksboro; two daughters, Mrs. Birt Stevens, and Mrs. M. A. Loudamy, both of Big Spring; 10 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

The two have been arrested.

Rockets Gathering Invisible Starlight

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Rockets are giving man a quick peek at the invisible light of the stars, Navy scientists said today.

Toys, Games Selling Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the recession, toy and game sales this year should top the record $1,300,000,000 of 1957, industry leaders said today.

Another reason is the rise of summer toys to space out an industry that used to do 80 per cent of its business in the month or so before Christmas. Demand now is centered about backyard and patio play equipment, bathing pools and inflatable toys like beach balls, air mattresses and swimming tubes.

Guard Saves Negro Church

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—A volunteer guard saved the church of a Negro integration leader from destruction early yesterday when he moved a dynamite bomb away from the building moments before it exploded.

Hall, a 62-year-old retired coal miner, is one of six volunteers who have guarded the church each Saturday night since it and Shuttlesworth's adjoining home were heavily damaged by bombing Dec. 25, 1956.

Despite the shattered windows and cracked plaster, Negroes gathered at the church for regular Sunday morning services. After a sermon, Shuttlesworth declared: "Dastardly as this crime is, nobody here is angry. It's shown us the depth and seriousness of the job at hand. We're going to have to suffer on longer, but we'll hold up our heads."

Palefaces Lose

TAOS, N.M. (AP)—A bunch of red-faced palefaces are practicing with their store-bought bows and arrows after being beaten by them pesky injuns in an archery contest.

WEDDED BLISS?

DEAR ABBY: My brothers and sisters and I all got together and gave a big golden wedding party for our parents. The old folks got into a fight and my mother refused to pose in the same picture with my father. The photographer charged us $20.00 to come out here with all his equipment. He took some shots of some of the other guests but he never got one of the golden wedding couple. Do you think we have to pay him his full price? (P.M. Will you give Mom and Pop a little advice on how to get along together?)

Violence Takes 26 Texas Lives

Violent deaths claimed at least 26 lives in Texas over the weekend. Traffic accounted for 8 fatalities while six died in fires. Drownings, shootings and an airplane accident accounted for most of the other deaths.

Thief Steals Steak Supper

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha supermarket is missing a steak today, but that's nothing to what almost got away.

Brother, Sister Perish In Icebox

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A brother and sister suffocated in a refrigerator in the furnished house into which their family planned to move.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter where the woman said she wanted to get twin beds because her husband was big and fat and she couldn't get a night's sleep with him in the bed. I had the same problem. I bought twin beds and now I wish I had my regular double bed because my husband gets lonesome and crawls in bed with me anyway. It was a lot more comfortable for two people in a full-sized bed than in one twin.

WEDDED BLISS?

DEAR ABBY: I am a very lonesome woman with a spare room in my house. Do you think it would be all right to rent it out to a man or do you think there would be gossip? There would be nothing wrong, but I don't want to take any chances.

WEDDED BLISS?

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the woman who signed herself "TIRED." Madame: My husband weighs 100 pounds more than you husband. We suffered in a double for six years. I spent most of my nights on the sofa or playing leap-frog over all 350 pounds of him. Forget twin beds! Get yourself a King-sized bed if you have to beg, borrow or steal the money. You won't know what a good night's sleep is until you do.

WEDDED BLISS?

DEAR ABBY: In your column you say that the adopted child was "wanted twice—first by its real mother and again by its adopted mother." This in my estimation is ridiculous. The very fact that a mother would give away her own child proves she doesn't want it. In most cases, it is only in the way and she prefers going on living a life of sin. I would sooner marry a woman who is raising a child born out of wedlock than one who stooped so low as to give her own flesh and blood to strangers. Every child deserves his own blood parents. If this isn't possible, at least one of them.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. It's about an illegitimate son of my husband's. I don't hold it against him because it all happened before I knew him, but the boy is 14 years old and his mother had the crust to name him after his real father, who is my husband. If we have a son, I would like to name him after my husband and want to know if you think I should demand that this woman change her son's name?

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Comfortable Clothes Get The Compliments

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—"Fortunately or unfortunately I've been tagged the night club singer who is like 'the girl next door.'" Jaye P. Morgan told me when I helped her celebrate "That's All I Want From You" becoming a gold record by selling a million copies.

Jaye P. had opened at the Coconut Grove to an audience full of Hollywood personalities, and later in her suite at the Ambassador Hotel she was asked if she contemplated making a picture.

"I went to see a producer and he wanted to do me over—cap my teeth, change the shape of my mouth—everything. But I think it's important to be yourself."

Jaye P. exclaimed, "and not to copy anyone else. I enjoy honest people, honest conversation, and those who aren't—I try to avoid as gracefully as possible."

I was curious to get the true story of Jaye P.'s curious name. She laughed and said, "My real name is Mary Margaret but when I was elected the class treasurer, someone tagged me J.P. Morgan and it seemed to stick."

I admired the simply-cut white satin gown she was wearing. "I have a theory that the clothes you are comfortable in bring the most compliments," she told me.

"I know what styles are good on me, and I try to adapt them to the current fashions. Even when I'm performing, I like clothes which are simple and that suggest the figure rather than display it. I like clothes that express me."

We chatted about the hectic pace demanded of performers working in night clubs. "I'm working to be more relaxed," Jaye confessed. "I don't dare do to bed immediately after finishing a performance. I have to do some unwinding first."

"I find concentrating on a crossword puzzle helps to make me sleepy. Or sometimes I like listening to classical music."

"One of the things I've overcome," Jaye P. said, displaying her well-manicured nails, "is biting my nails. I tried all those nasty things you use to keep you from putting your fingers in your mouth. But none of them helped me. It's mental. One day I realized how very important hands are in my work and having chewed-off nails did not fit into the picture I wanted to create. Suddenly I was determined to have pretty hands, and do you know?"

I've never chewed my nails since."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A newlywed carefully remembered his mother-in-law's birthday and wired her: "Happy birthday, Mother! May you have 100 more." Her coolness in the following weeks baffled him until he saw the telegram—a zero had been left off the hundred.

Cook's Declaration Of Independence

An easy summer buffet provides the cook with a glorious and relaxing Fourth of July, too. The canned ham and other items are prepared well ahead of time and served on plastic coated paper plates.

Even Cooks Can Be Free July 4 With An Easy Summer Buffet

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

No reason why the cook, along with everyone else in the family, shouldn't have a grand and glorious 4th of July.

This is not the day to enjoy martyrdom. Strike out for independence and if you must feel "put upon," stand over the hot stove another day!

Guests coming? Serve an easy summer buffet. Let a canned ham, tricked out in a quick glaze, be the piece de resistance. With it have potato salad (made ahead), garnished with pretty crisp slices of radish for texture contrast.

Cole slaw, too, can have a stay in the refrigerator while flavors blend, and then just before serving be topped with sliced scallions to please the menfolk. Or if you like macaroni salad, you may prepare it in advance; usually cooked chilled elbow macaroni is used and mixed with crisp raw vegetables and mayonnaise.

Open some cans of those luxurious boneless and skinless sardines and accompany them with lemon wedges or ready-prepared tartar sauce. Or, if you prefer, serve herring tidbits that come in a spicy marinade.

Add sliced cucumbers or tomatoes (or both) dressed with an old-fashioned mixture of herb vinegar and a little sugar. Olives and gherkins, really fine cheese and good rolls or dark bread will be welcome. Take life easy at dessert time and serve chilled melon.

You needn't get out your best china platters and plates for this buffet. We've tried some of the new plastic-coated paper plates for serving and eating and find them both attractive and functional—and they can be thrown away!

The silver-finish rectangular paper "trays" are particularly appropriate for some of the offerings on our menu and you can pick and choose among designs and colors to suit your own scheme of things. One mosaic pattern comes in sky blue and olive green — the season's chic combination.

GLAZED CANNED HAM

Ingredients:
1 6-pound canned ham
Whole cloves
1/4 cup old-fashioned molasses
1/4 cup prepared mustard
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce

Method:
To slice ham before heating, cut 1/4-inch slice; insert cloves along top edge of ham; make second slice; leave next slice plain. Finish cutting ham, alternating plain and clove-studded slices.

Tie sliced ham with string in original shape; place in shallow baking pan. Mix together molasses and mustard, then Worcestershire sauce. Brush over ham. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Brush twice during baking with remaining sauce.

Makes 24 slices. The glaze will be fairly thick and rich brown.

Repeal Solid Issue In Oklahoma Election

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—With repeal a solid issue for the first time since pioneer Oklahomans wrote prohibition into their Constitution in 1907, eleven Democrats and four Republicans are seeking nomination in tomorrow's general primary.

A runoff election July 22 between the two top vote getters is almost assured in the Democratic race and is probable for the Republicans, too.

For years, Oklahoma politicians have ignored repeal as an issue, just as many of the state's citizens have ignored prohibition as a law.

But this year several candidates in both parties have embraced the issue with varying degrees of enthusiasm.

Political experts believe the vote will run around 500,000, with an overwhelming majority of the state's voters registered Democrats.

Republicans have never put a man in the statehouse but have come close in three of the last four general elections.

The vote could run closer to 600,000 because of the repeal issue and because at least five Democrats and two Republicans are given good chances of making it into the runoff.

There is no primary for senator this year, but five Democratic representatives and one Republican are seeking renomination.

Incumbent Page Belcher appears to have an easy race for the Republican nod in the state's northwestern district as do Democrats Carl Albert, Ed Edmondson, Tom Steed and John Jarman.

Rep. Toby Morris, Lawton, has a fight for Victor Wickersham of Mangum, the man he defeated in the Democratic primary two years ago.

The leading Democratic gubernatorial contenders are: W. P. Atkinson, Midwest City contractor and Democratic party financial angel who has never been elected to any office. He leans toward the dry side of the repeal question.

State Sen. George Miskovsky, Oklahoma City, who has been the most outspoken advocate of repeal of prohibition.

Rockefeller Aids The Arts Again

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller Jr., who has dispersed many millions of dollars for public purposes, has given five million dollars to the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

The 84-year-old philanthropist's gift was announced yesterday by his son John D. Rockefeller III, president of the center, and Clarence Francis, chairman of its 75-million-dollar campaign.

Lincoln Center, on Manhattan's West Side, will include a concert hall, a new Metropolitan Opera House and other cultural facilities.

There is much unemployment. As in many Latin-American countries, no government official seems to know just how much. The per capita income is only $120 yearly.

Over half of Peru's 10 million people can neither read nor write. Poverty is widespread among the Incas and other Indians who make up more than 60 per cent of the population.

There's a deep feeling among many Peruvians that, while they blame the United States for financial and economic troubles, amendments can easily be made.

They figure it out simply—all the United States has to do is to buy just about everything Peru wants to sell—and everybody here will be happy to clasp hands with Americans in warm friendship.

They contend that since the United States spends billions of dollars on foreign aid for Europe, Africa and Asia, South America should get more.

Points like these and all economic complaints imaginable provided the ammunition for the hostile anti-American demonstrations staged here by Peru's Communists against Nixon.

The Communist party technically is illegal in Peru, but it operates openly. Prado's government has shrugged aside the Communists as a threat to Peruvian democracy. Apparently that attitude is based on the fact that the Reds supposedly have only 6,000 members and 40,000 to 50,000 sympathizers.

But they are wielding power and influence in labor unions, universities, student organizations, and among the peasants.

Many Peruvians believe the government should curb Communist activities.

Peruvian Officials Blame U.S. For Nation's Financial Crisis

By LARRY ALLEN
LIMA, Peru (AP)—Peru, the Andean Mountain land of the once powerful Incas, is facing financial crisis. Officials blame the United States.

They say there would be no economic troubles in this agricultural and minerals rich republic if the United States would just buy more of its products and lower tariffs on present imports.

Demand from the United States, arising out of the recession there, has tapered off sharply in the last year or so.

Heartened by the recent visit here of Vice President Nixon, Peruvians are hoping things will be worked out.

Lower prices and the fall in exports, not only to the United States but other foreign countries, have hit Peru so hard that the government will have to borrow heavily from its own central bank, or the U.S. Export-Import Bank, to meet its 1958 budgeted expenditures.

The exports and imports balance sheet didn't look so good for 1957—and economists fear it's going to be worse by the end of this year.

Exports last year brought in 330 million dollars. Imports totaled 448 million.

While a big chunk of the imports were for foreign companies operating in Peru, the government nevertheless had to use about 31 million of its gold reserves for payments.

Peru already owes 140 million to the Export-Import Bank for economic assistance. U.S. investments here total 450 million.

The right-of-center government of conservative President Manuel Prado inherited debts from the previous administration estimated at 45 million. Struggling for a balanced budget, Prado has tried to trim expenses to liquidate this sum.

Prado, long has been beset by agitation for wage increases for the nation's workers. Despite attempted price controls, costs of living have risen steadily.

To halt the wage boost demands, the government recently approved a general 15-20 per cent rise and then decreed there would be no more pay hikes for a year.

There are other problems facing the government of Peru — roughly shaped like California, but three times as big.

Louisiana Defies U.S. Court Order

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Senate passed last night and sent to the governor two bills to bypass a federal court order to end segregated bus seating in New Orleans.

The bills, passed by 34-0 votes, repeal Louisiana bus and street car segregation laws named in a recent federal court order.

Rep. E. W. Gravolet Jr., author of the bills, had told the House his bills would nullify the federal order and permit operating the buses under a private seating policy.

The House passed a third bus segregation bill last week which permits the first person on a double seat to select who shall sit beside him.

Owls Invade Household

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "Dad's, there's something flying around my room and it looks like a bat."

So Jim Manask investigated and found himself staring into two big owl eyes peering out from under the bed of his son Arthur, 13.

Manask shuffled sleepily back to his own bedroom. "Helen," he whispered to his wife, "there's an owl under Arthur's bed."

"Well," came the voice from under the covers, "take the broom and shoo him out of here."

In the kitchen near the broom closet, Manask spotted another owl perched on the stove. "Helen," he called, "the house is lousy with owls."

"Look at my living room," cried Mrs. Manask, who was up by now. "Feathers and soot all over the place."

The owls evidently had come down the chimney. Besides scattering soot, they had knocked over two vases of flowers and attacked a stuffed squirrel.

"Let's open all the doors and windows and try chasing them out by waving towels," Arthur suggested.

The Manasks began flapping towels and the owls finally took the hint.

Bitten By Llama

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Anybody can get bitten by a dog. Eight-year-old Erin Moloney has been bitten by a llama, a kind of South American camel without the hump.

At the Columbus Zoo with her parents, she tried to feed the llama some grass through the bars of its cage. It bit the hand that fed it.

Nixon, Knowland May Be Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon and Republican Sen. William F. Knowland apparently will have to campaign this fall from opposite sides of some major issues.

Knowland, who is running for governor of California, expects active help from the vice president. A Republican victory in California could have considerable bearing on Nixon's bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

But the vice president and the retiring Republican Senate leader haven't always been able to see eye to eye.

Their latest division of opinion has cropped up in the controversy over presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

Nixon made it clear in a television broadcast he is standing behind President Eisenhower's decision to retain Adams. Knowland has said Adams would best serve the Republican party by retiring.

Nixon left the way open, however, to change his mind if the continuing investigation by a House subcommittee turns up "other proof which might indicate some activities which have not come to light to date."

Knowland took the lead in unsuccessful efforts to put more stringent amendments in a labor regulation bill the Senate passed recently. If he had been called on to break a tie, Nixon's friends doubt the vice president would have voted as Knowland advocated.

Knowland won a fight to deny Eisenhower authority to give assistance to Iron Curtain countries to promote their independence of Moscow.

Nixon did not go on record on the issue, but there seemed little doubt he favored giving the authority to the President.

Nixon is supporting Eisenhower's request for a five-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. Knowland has announced he will back a move to cut the renewal time to three years.

In his television appearance, Nixon labeled as "hogwash" reports that Eisenhower might retire before his term ends. Some Democrats have suggested that might be a way of insuring Nixon's 1960 nomination by the Republicans.

"I have never heard anything so ridiculous," he said.

A Bible Thought For Today

But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. (Romans 8:11)

Efficiency And Ossification

Newsweek Magazine comments that one reason President Eisenhower wants a free hand given the Secretary of Defense to transfer, reassign, consolidate or abolish military operations and responsibilities is that the Pentagon may soon have to scrap obsolete or vanishing jobs, "such as jet fighters for air defense and tactical support of troops," chores which may be taken over by missiles under control of the Army.

The administration doesn't want Congress interfering with the Pentagon's plans and specifications.

Now this sounds like a laudable effort to improve our defenses and save the taxpayers some money, but you can't blink the fact that it would place in the hands of a single individual the power and authority to make, remake, change, alter, reverse, reform, abolish, create, expand or contract our whole program and pattern of national defense, without let or hindrance from Congress, which is responsible to all 170,000,000 Americans; the Secretary of Defense would be responsible only to the President.

We seem to recall that at many critical periods of our national existence Congress has had to step in and call the turn on various departments of government. Bureaucracy has a habit of ossifying, of getting lead in its pants, of making itself comely and unshakably resolved upon taking its ease.

That Nebulous Business Expense

Back in 1951, when President Truman was doing a slow burn about the rising criticism of scandals in high places in his administration, he asked Congress to tighten the laws against corruption. Among other things he wanted federal officials getting over $10,000, judges, high political party officials and members of Congress to make public annually all their sources of income, including loans and gifts.

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) became chairman of a subcommittee on ethics in government. Douglas wanted to go even further than Truman, for he wanted officials to disclose their assets, liabilities and securities dealings. After debate in Congress, no action was taken.

What should be the standard of gift-giving and gift-receiving? It was Mr. Truman, if we recall correctly, who said that no public official should accept any gift that wasn't eatable or drinkable in a day. Some congressional figure proposed another yardstick—nothing more expensive than a 12-pound ham.

It would, of course, be impossible to set up a standard that would be workable and could be applied to all cases. It would be even more impossible to raise the standard of morality among public officials by statute. As with the case of trees, only God can make an honest man, whom some poet denominated as the noblest work of the Creator.

The lowering of personal standards of ethics and the widespread practice of giving and receiving costly gifts can be laid squarely at the income tax laws, in part at least. The "business expense" provision has invited and promoted the custom. The law has too many loopholes, and indeed it would be physically impossible to ride effective herd on so involved and complicated regulation.

The whole "business expense" gimmick was reduced to an absurdity not long ago under a bureaucratic decree that public utilities could not deduct as a legitimate business expense the placing of advertising in newspapers and magazines in defense of private versus public power development. If fighting for their very lives is not a legitimate business expense, what else would you call it?

Any man in a position of trust and authority who doesn't look a gift horse in the mouth has only himself to blame for the consequences. He deserves no sympathy when the horse turns out to be a nightmare.

David Lawrence Pettness Beclouds Main Problems

WASHINGTON—A turbulent era to be living in—and yet people generally do not seem to be aware of the critical consequences that could ensue at any moment. The world panorama today looks like this:

Blood is flowing in Lebanon. Events there could involve the sudden use of American troops to protect American lives unless the United Nations can enforce peace.

Nasser of Egypt keeps feeding ammunition to the Lebanese rebels.

Tension in the relations between the Western countries and the Soviet Union is increasing.

Friction is growing behind the Iron Curtain as Khrushchev, through his controlled press, keeps up a fiery criticism of Tito of Yugoslavia.

Tito in public speeches compares aid that he gets from America without strings to Soviet aid originally promised him and now withdrawn because he will not toe the Moscow line.

The Soviet government orders demonstrations against the American embassy in Moscow.

The Soviet government instructs the East German government not to release nine American servicemen who on June 8 landed their helicopter in the Soviet military zone during a storm that took them off their course.

The Soviet government first promises to participate in a conference of technicians at Geneva who were supposed to explore ways of bringing about an international pact for the suspension of nuclear tests but then backs out, insisting an agreement must first be reached to stop testing.

Talk of a "summit" conference is receding.

There's less and less trust between the Soviet government and the Western governments.

For the sake of appearances and to appease public sentiment, the spokesmen of the West continue to say they want to keep on talking and conferring and negotiating some kind of understanding or agreement between the East and the West. But there seems now to be less and less likelihood of reaching such a result.

The Soviets are encouraging "propaganda disastars"—as assistant secretary of state Andrew Berding calls them—instead of "propaganda victories."

Ever since the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary was announced on June 17, the whole world has been showing its disapproval, and the Moscow regime knows that the tide is turning. Moscow's propaganda is diminishing in its effectiveness.

Are the men in the Kremlin, in view of all these adverse happenings, therefore trying desperately to consolidate their own position? Their efforts to arrange a "summit" conference and to urge the doctrine of "peaceful co-existence" were due largely to a belief that this would help build up their prestige as "statesmen" inside the Soviet Union and placate a growing unrest there.

Moscow is changing from peaceful to threatening words. An external crisis has sometimes been provoked in history by reckless men to bring about internal solidarity.

There is more and more evidence today that Khrushchev is in trouble with the other leaders and that he has adopted a stern course in the belief it will terrify his internal as well as his external adversaries.

These are ticklish moments for a President of the United States. He must bear the burden of decision each hour of the day. The Lebanon crisis gets some attention from the press but not as much as it seems to deserve. Movements of the American Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and the buildup of British armed forces on Cyprus have not been kept secret. There is talk of a Soviet fleet coming into the Mediterranean, too. This is what a President worries about.

It is a time in which a small episode can produce bigger complications overnight.

In the midst of this atmosphere of international crisis, Washington is nevertheless agog over a congressional investigation which appears to be a contest in mudslinging. It seems to have given opportunities to disappointed seekers of influence to carry on in public their backbiting over personal grievances. What an orgy of pettness!

Some day the historians will doubtless perceive the disproportionate attention given to these passing incidents. Some day perhaps the effort of the government of the United States to do its duty in accord with the noblest of American traditions will be seen in its true light and will be given just acclaim.

For American foreign policy, despite its setbacks, seeks today only to uphold ideals of unselfishness in a troubled world and to aid in preventing a deadly war that could come suddenly to peoples everywhere. Indeed war is a constant danger as long as irresponsible rulers hold power in the Soviet Union and are heedless of warnings. There is, of course, also the danger to those rulers themselves that, at the first sign of international war, an opportunity for internal war can present itself. These are truly turbulent times.

De-Pigeon Campaign

TUCSON, Ariz. — A pigeon's life isn't all fun in Tucson.

A policeman heard a couple of gun shots and saw two pigeons fall to the sidewalk. Then another blast and another pigeon tumbled on one of the city's busiest intersections. The policeman found Duane Jackson, a bank employee, perched on a ninth floor window ledge with a rifle.

Jackson told the officer he shot at pigeons every morning. He produced a letter signed by Mayor Don Hummel giving the necessary authorization. The officer left. Jackson returned to his hunting.

How Censorship Works

WASHINGTON (AP)—This gives you a pretty good idea of Soviet censorship: of the kind of information kept by the Kremlin from the Soviet people and from the rest of the world.

What follows is taken from a talk made by Andrew H. Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs. It's the best roundup on the question this writer has seen. The words are all Berding's: Crime and statistics on crime and on the prison population are closely guarded secrets. Most newsworthy arrests are not reported. Trials in process are generally not printed.

Disasters and accidents are not reported unless they involve casualties to foreigners. No information is released on the sessions of the Communist Party Presidium, even the fact a meeting has been held.

Meetings of the Central Committee (of the Communist party) are announced only after they have been held, and no information is published on their deliberations. The process of reaching major policy decisions is kept from the public.

Such decisions are announced by fiat and, of course, with no hint of opposing views.

Information on the reasons for major personnel appointments or dismissals is often not released. The dismissal of the head of the Soviet government, Premier Bulganin, was announced simply with the statement that Nikita Khrushchev had taken over. Not a word was said as to why Bulganin was dismissed or what he would do.

No meaningful statistics on the breakdown of the Soviet population by social groups and nationalities have been published for 19 years.

Cows Have A Right To Be Tired

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

If the next dairy cow you meet has tired circles under her eyes, this may be the reason: She makes an average of 41,600 jaw movements a day, of which 15,200 are to munch hay and grain, and 26,400 to chew her cud.

If your heart pumped water instead of blood, it could fill a 7,000-ton lake in a year.

That more people have birthdays in August and September than in any other months of the year. This fact puzzles scientists. What is your theory?

That the English are trying to develop a radar instrument which will enable the blind to get along without guide dogs. The gadget sounds a warning buzz when it approaches an obstruction.

That if you worry about how much candy to allow your children, here's a royal tip from abroad: Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, is rationed to half a pound of sweets a week.

That of America's 25 million anglers, 62 per cent are men, 23 per cent women, and 15 per cent minors.

That only four per cent of the nation's hunting licenses are issued to women. This proves what everyone already knows: A girl needs no license for what she hunts, and her prey knows no protected season.

That a pale complexion is no proof of anemia, and a florid complexion is no sure sign of high blood pressure.

That phony check writing is on the increase. Check swindles cost the country half a billion dollars a year now.

That if you've been wondering how tall Napoleon was, the answer is 5 feet 4.

That everybody remembers the Alamo, but few know it is a Spanish word for cottonwood.

That despite the outcry against Mickey Spillane's gruesome mysteries, seven of them are among America's top 10 all-time fiction best sellers. Crime does pay—in print.

That Mitchell Mitsuhide Shirata of Hawaii is the only professional American jockey with a college degree.

That one of the most unheroic deaths in military history came to Henry Knox, one of George Washington's favorite generals in the Revolution and later first U.S. secretary of war. He died of a stomach inflammation caused by swallowing a chicken bone.

That no sensible dentist would want a hippopotamus to visit him twice a year. These animals have teeth that weigh up to seven pounds and reach a length of 30 inches.

That a survey showed wives pick the vacation site in 56 per cent of American families. But in my neighborhood the figure is closer to 100 per cent.

That most actors in the New York legitimate theater have to live on hope. Their average professional income is only about $800 a year.

That in ancient Rome it was customary to grant freedom to a woman slave after she had borne three children. The only catch: She didn't get to keep the kids.

That it was Kin Hubbard who observed: "It's no disgrace to be poor, but it might as well be."

MR. BREGER

Good morning, sir—is the moll of the house in...?

Around The Rim Of Trees And Bugs And Tumbleweeds

I don't argue with that party who wrote that "only God can make a tree" but there's a question or two I want to ask of The Guy Upstairs when I depart this mortal coil.

Why, I will want to know, do two Elm trees spring from the good earth beside the grave of the Dogwood I have planted? And why can't the worms and the bugs just as easily make a meal of the tumbleweeds as the leaves of the trees which are kind enough to grow in my back yard?

The tumbleweeds need no encouragement from fertilizer, or even water. They come up on their own and all the frowning you might do from the shade of the garden doesn't discourage them one bit.

I'm the world's best gardener from November through February, when the winter winds howl. The ache begins to leave my green thumb along about April, however, when I gaze through the picture window from the comfort of the Morris chair and see the neighbors bending to the task.

By May, the beauty of their yards makes me green with envy, a hue I despair ly wish I could palm off on my flowers, the grass and the trees. And the more of the beauty I see them creating in their yards, the more I'm inclined to think they've dusted down to the art store, purchased themselves a couple of paintings, planted them in their yards and done the rest with mirrors.

It takes a heap o'livin' in a house to make it home, the poet said. It also takes a heap o'livin' in a yard to belie the fact that West Texas is on the fringes of a desert that extends to Wilshire Blvd. in Los Angeles.

How wonderful my estate would look under eight inches of snow along about July 1. If it weren't for the neighbors and the fact that all their work would have gone for naught, I would be prompted to put in an order for same at that time. What a surprise the bugs would get!

I would swear I heard one bug say to another as I mowed by the rose bush the other day:

"Hey, Mac! Things are not this tough. Pack your loot. That's not a mirage down the street."

Big Business Has Ideas Of Dress

It's a good working guess that every hour on the hour those of us past the age of discretion are convinced that civilization is crumbling and the world is going to hell in a jet-propelled hack.

But then a sudden ray of sunshine will suddenly illuminate the world and hope springs, if not eternal, at least once more. Such a ray arrived in the mail yesterday in the form of a staid survey by the Office Executives Association.

The survey, made in a helpful mood, asked 206 business executives in charge of hiring and firing what a high school graduate should wear when job-hunting.

And, by golly, these executives—every man Jack of 'em—said they wouldn't hire any girl-type grad who job-hunted in (1) a chemise and-or (2) a trilly party dress. Nor will they hire a boy-type grad if he sports (1) an Elvis Presley hairdo or (2) a ducktail coiffure.

Civilization may be tottering but it will not fall while such spendid brain trusters as the 206 executives mentioned above are in charge of the business world.

"Anything resembling the 'rock 'n' roller's uniform' for boys or the latest fashion from Paris for the girls is precisely what not to wear" while job-hunting, the survey says. "While the worst dress a girl can wear is a frilly party dress, the shapeless chemise also gets the cold-shoulder treatment."

Blue suede shoes may be just dandy in Tin-Pan-Alley, but they will get a boy the brush in the big business league just as dirty saddle shoes and bobby-sox will get the sweet girl graduate nowhere but "out."

Among its stern discoveries, the Office Executives Association has turned up the truism for young job-seekers that cleanliness is not only next to Godliness but next to a job itself. Soap, water and a scrub brush are more to be desired than pomade or a new lipstick.

The girl with heavy pancake makeup, goey mascara, and a Mata Hari shade lipstick may be most likely to succeed in some field, but not in that known as strictly business.

And the boy whose coat and trousers match is more apt to get the job than the lad in the sports jacket and slacks. The belle who wears stockings will get the nod over Miss Stockless Simpson.

Boiled down, the 206 executives drew a composite picture of the boy graduate most likely to succeed in latching onto a job as the one who seeks work in a neat dark suit, solid color oxfords, regular haircut (crew cut is acceptable; brush cut just gets by) and a fedora.

The gal they would most like to hire neatly curls her hair, cut a medium length (the motherless child or Italian hairdo will get her shown the door on the double), and she wears a suit or fitted dress, seamed stockings, a small hat, pumps with medium-high heels carries on, wears gloves, looks scrubbed and uses a minimum of makeup.

Well, bully for big business! All is not lost and civilization may still be saved while the practitioners of free enterprise insist that even young employees look like people instead of rag-pickers.

Look At Gift First In The Headlines!

As long as we have a double standard of conduct in the United States, one for the business man and one for government officials, we will have vicuna coats and deep freezes, Sherman Adams and Harry Vaughans. That is the essence of the Sherman Adams-Bernard Goldfine case.

When, on July 1, Goldfine appears as a witness before the House Special committee on Legislative Oversight, many a business man will cross his heart mentally and silently utter, "There but for the grace..."

Goldfine is an object lesson only because he was unfortunate enough to be caught. Entertaining government officials never has been per se a misdemeanor, and it has often proved to be good business. But it's bad business when exposed and motives can be questioned.

Annual giving is big business. Each year at Christmas, corporation executives make gifts to other corporation executives, to newspaper men, to purchasing agents, and to government officials. Swank stores advertise unique gifts for the man who has everything, so that corporations, in the competition for attention, can offer the unusual.

Such giving is hoary with precedent. Retailers long have given away calendars, rulers, wallets. And the Bible says it's more blessed to give than to receive. But as businesses become bigger and corporate gifts have become more elaborate and competitive.

The business man who receives a gift won't favor the giver by buying his product at a high price. That would be unethical. But he'd be inclined to give the giver a break, a chance to bid on the business. Competitors soon catch on. So, giving becomes round-robin. Firm XYZ gives presents. Competitors ABC and PDQ also give presents to achieve parity in preference. Gifts at this point become self-canceling. They also become habitual and pyramidal—more costly each year as each giver tries to outgive the other. They add to the cost of doing business without necessarily or perceptibly increasing business.

and from trains and to and from meeting places. However, a taxi from hotel to meeting place is disallowed on the theory that it's the same as getting to work in the morning. Laundry costs are not permitted. The allowance is so thin that on many assignments officials are actually out of pocket. It leads to temptation to accept favors. It invites business men to offer favors.

Practices on accepting expenses from private organizations vary within government. If a Treasury representative talks before a Bar Association or a Tax Institute, the inviting organization will be allowed to pay expenses. However, expenses to an oil, liquor, or tobacco men's convention would not be acceptable. This might subject the speaker—the official—to special taxpayer pleading. The Securities & Exchange Commission makes no such distinction. If a commissioner or a staff man is invited to participate in a meeting, the SEC is glad to have its own budget relieved of the burden.

Obviously, this is a fuzzy area. Competition—what others do—shades into custom and custom into amorality. Yet, if morals aren't clear, at least there is a practical test for government officials as well as business men: Always look a gift first in the headlines! Judge how it will seem to others.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The United States properly has been negotiating as earnestly as possible and with considerable success for the release of Americans held in Communist China. In addition there seems an opportunity now to obtain freedom and a new life for some 10,000 anti-Communist Russians who are the remnants of a once large colony of refugees from the Bolshevik Revolution.

For nearly a decade after mainland China became Communist the Peking government refused to let these people leave its domain. Then, last year it began granting exit visas. But most could get no farther than the British colony of Hong Kong; there they were dependent on outside help for travel funds.

Now the intergovernmental Committee for European Migration is endeavoring to bring these refugees out of Hong Kong and the mainland. The great need is money for transportation, not necessarily to the United States but in most cases Australia or Brazil. The ICEM estimates that this purpose could be carried out for as little as $5,000,000.

The United States Government could give a lead in this matter and perhaps obtain help from other members of the United Nations.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

WITH TOMMY HART

Look Me Over, a horse owned by Jack Wilcox, finished third in the ninth race at Ruidoso Downs Friday, June 20, the same day that J. T. Dillard's Chic Polly won a four-furlong event at the track. Chic Polly's win was worth $249.29 to Dillard in purse money. Look Me Over carried a little oat money for Wilcox—$74.85.

Teddy Hayes, the Midland oilman mentioned in this space Sunday because he once served as trainer for Jack Dempsey, also conditioned Mickey Walker when the Toy Bulldog was in his prime. Hayes, reminiscing recently about Walker, says The Mick didn't always respect training rules.

One night in Louisville the night before the Kentucky Derby, Walker entered the ring against a tough lightweight named Paul Swiderski. Swiderski, it seems, was unawed by Mickey's reputation. He proceeded to knock the champ down four or five times in the first two minutes of round one.

Walker was on his way out but Hayes managed to sneak in beside the timekeeper and banged a Coke bottle against the bell, thereby calling a halt to proceedings. Mickey ran into another flurry of fists in round two but Hayes again saved his bacon by working his way to the master switch and turning off the lights.

It was five minutes before the management could get them on again. By that time, Walker had sobered up and he went on to beat Swiderski.

Fagan Mullins, the one-time Anson head coach who looked into the first assistant coach's job here after Al Mick took over as head mentor, will supervise a junior high school athletic program in San Angelo this fall.

Some Oklahoma writers have been speculating that Buddy Brothers, new head coach at Tom S. Lubbock High School, will eventually succeed DeWitt Weaver as head mentor at Texas Tech.

Buddy was offered the head job at Tech in 1946 but turned it down to remain at Tulsa. He later quit at Tulsa because the school would not renew his contract for more than one year after he had taken the Hurricanes to the Gator Bowl.

Chubby Moser, the local pitcher, says he got much more out of his year's baseball school at Alpine than he did in 1957. He made both of them, of course. The instructors seemed to take greater pains teaching the enrollees this time, he explains.

In successive races at Belmont Park recently, jockey Pete Anderson took a pay cut of 99 per cent. He earned $7,300 for guiding the victorious Cavan to victory in the Belmont Stakes, then received the regulation jockey's pay of $33 for finishing second in the follow-up event.

When the California Boxing Commission refused to give Al Weil a license to promote the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris fight in Los Angeles recently, it didn't surprise those close to the scene. Testimony heard by a special committee appointed by Gov. Goodwin Knight indicated that Weil received kickbacks on two fights held in that state—$1,000 for the Beau Jack-Johnny Gonsalves bout in 1949 and $10,000 for the Rocky Marciano-Don Cockell scrap in '55.

A kickback is an "under-the-table" payment, the result of a secret agreement. Sometimes it comes from the purse of the lesser known fighter of the two and on other occasions the promoter himself will ante up in order to get a "name" fighter.

Turman Will Have Pull In Weights

DALLAS (AP)—This is the night when Donnie Fleeman gets his chance at Buddy Turman, a fighter Donnie thinks has given him the runaround long enough. The "grudge" heavyweight scrap, scheduled for 10 rounds, will draw one of Dallas' biggest boxing crowds. It will happen back to the 30's when packed houses saw the fights here.

Gonzales Upset In $15,000 Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pancho Segura has an early lead in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin professional tennis championships. He downed Rex Hartwig, 7-9, 6-2, 8-6, Sunday after upsetting champion Pancho Gonzales, 9-7, 7-9, 6-4 Saturday.

Active In Junior Meet

COSDEN WINS SECOND PLACE IN TOURNNEY

ODESSA (SC)—Manuel's of Odessa won first place in the Odessa Softball tournament, beating Cosden of Big Spring, 1-0, in a 12-inning bout that wasn't finished until early Sunday morning here.

Cosden had forged its way into the finals by turning back Humble of Wink, 7-5, earlier in the evening. All appeared lost for the Oilers in that game until James Tidwell hit a prodigious home run with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Some one remarked that the ball was hit so high and so far that it went into orbit.

Oakie Hagood, Billy Paul Thomas and Pete Cook were on base when Tidwell stroked the decisive blow. Spec Franklin pitched the win, giving up five hits to the opposition. He yielded two runs in the opening round and the other three in the fifth, mainly the result of errors. He fanned nine.

Had Cosden shaded Manuel's in the second game Saturday night, another would have had to be played, since Manuel's was undefeated going into the game. Bill Haynes, leadoff batter for Manuel's in the 12th, tripled and proceeded to score, after which N. A. Stephens, the Odessa hurler, struck out two of the three batters to face him in Cosden's half of the 12th.

Troy Wetsel, on the mound for Cosden, gave up seven hits and fanned no fewer than 24 batters, or an average of two an inning. Cosden touched Stephens for five hits, including two by Gene Gross. Stephens himself fanned 21 of Cosden players.

Don White and Haynes each had two hits for the winners. Manuel's was awarded $100 in cash and a big trophy for winning the meet. The same club emerged as titlist last year but was known as Midland National Bank at the time. Cosden earned $50 as a reward for finishing second, along with a trophy.

Cosden did have the satisfaction of placing more players on the all-tournament team than did Manuel's. No fewer than five of the Oilers rated the elite group. They were Ted Gross, shortstop; Gene Gross, center fielder; James Tidwell, first baseman; Billy Paul Thomas, catcher; and Troy Wetsel, pitcher.

Manuel players honored included Bob Kelm, second baseman; Bill Haynes, left fielder; Bob Belver, third baseman; and N. A. Stephens, pitcher. Only other player selected was Glenn Pursell, Wink rightfielder.

Tourney Win Worth $9,000 To Palmer

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
EAST NORWICH, N.Y. (AP)—It's getting to be old stuff for Arnold Palmer, this collecting top money in golf tournaments. The $30,000 Long Island Open which he won Sunday was his third victory of the year, and the 11th since he turned pro in 1955. Although he isn't sneering at the $9,000 he picked up, it still isn't the biggest check he has collected.

That was for $11,200 earned at a Masters this year by the young man from Latrobe, Pa., who is top money winner of the pro circuit with $37,564. Three players who didn't win Sunday, however, were more than ordinarily happy. They are Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., and Al Mengert of Westfield, N. J.

Aaron On Rampage As Braves Win

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Editor
Looked as if all Henry Aaron needed to start hammerin' away was a vote of confidence from the players, managers and coaches who've watched him tear apart National League fences year after year.

The little Milwaukee Braves' outfielder, 1957 NL most valuable player but a batting bust for most of '58, was hitting .258 Friday when he won his league's right field job for the All-Star Game July 5.

Since then, he's 9-for-11, while driving in seven runs, boosting his home runs to 14 and upping his average to .282. The climax to his 72-hour spree came yesterday as he rapped a grand slam homer and three singles and drove in five runs in a four-for-five show that led the Braves to a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles.

The triumph, Bob Rush's sixth despite a four-homer Dodger barrage, lifted the Braves into a 2½ game lead over St. Louis, in second place by a scant percentage point, and San Francisco.

The Cardinals lost the opener by a doubleheader to the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4. Curfew rules ended the second game with the Phils batting in the eighth. San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 2-0 behind Al Worthington's four-hitter, while Chicago and Pittsburgh split. The Cubs, with Dale Long driving in four runs, won the second 8-3 after Frank Thomas' 22nd homer had helped the Pirates to a 4-3 first game victory.

Gene Conley closed out the Milwaukee victory for ex-Cub Phil (6-3 as rookie Stan Williams lost for a 3-2 record. For the Phils, reliever Jack Meyer (1-1) picked up his first victory after nine straight losses. For the Pirates, reliever Roy Face (3-2) topped Taylor Phillips (5-2), blanking the Cubs without a hit in the last three innings.

Ike Logart Tries Jordan In Hollywood Wednesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Editor
In the old days, July 4 used to be a big day in boxing. It was on Independence Day in 1919 that Jack Dempsey won the title from Jess Willard. And four years later on July 4, 1923, Dempsey beat Tommy Gibbons in the match that all but wrecked Shelby, Montana.

The chief boxing contest this July 4 will be a light heavyweight match in Louisville where Jesse Bowdry, 20-year-old St. Louis prospect taken on Jerry Luedee of New Haven, Conn. Bowdry's most recent victory, a decision over Clarence Hinant in April edged him into the No. 9 spot among the 175-pounders in the ring ratings. Luedee hasn't fought since December, when he lost a decision to Yvon Durille.

The holiday bout will be carried on network radio and television. Teddy Brenner continues his Monday operations from St. Nicholas Arena in New York with a scrap between welterweights Tony Debiase and Eddie (Pigeons) Lynch, two New Yorkers. This, too, will be televised (Du Mont), in some sections.

Isaac Logart will make his first step along the comeback path Wednesday when he attempts to beat Don Jordan of Los Angeles at the Hollywood, Calif., Legion. Logart has been idle since March 21 when he was stopped by Virgil Akins in the semifinals of the welterweight elimination tournament. Jordan, 23, is an experienced opponent who has lost only to Dave Charney in London while winning five 1958 starts. His record is 43-8, compared to Logart's 32-5-5.

The welter match will be carried on ABC-TV. Fight's Top Seats On Sale For $15
HOUSTON (AP)—Tickets for the Joe Brown-Kenny Lane lightweight bout here next month went on sale today with the best seats going for $15.

Prices range down to $2.50, Texas Boxing Enterprises, the promoters, announced. Already on hand were $8,100 in advance orders. Brown meets Lane July 23 in Sam Houston Coliseum.

Tut Bartzen Wins Valley Net Title

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas defeated Mexico's Esteban Reyes Sunday and won his second Missouri Valley tennis tournament singles championship. Ranked 9th in the nation, the 30-year-old Bartzen used backline placements and passing shots to win 6-2, 6-3, Reyes, 21, is a Mexican Davis Cup player.

BEHRENS QUILTS COAHOMA POST

COAHOMA, (SC)—David W. (Dub) Behrens, head football coach at Coahoma, and his first assistant, G. W. Walker, have resigned their positions at Coahoma High School to become affiliated with the Mason school system. Behrens will be head coach at Mason. Walker will serve as junior high school coach.

Subia Hurls Tiger Troupe Past San Angelo, 3 To 1

Johnny Subia pitched the Big Spring Tigers past the San Angelo Rio Vistas, 3-1, in a baseball game played here Sunday afternoon. The Bengals scored all three runs in the fifth inning. Johnny Nunez and Nacho Rodriguez hit safely. J. Paradez brought them on their home with a hit. Then Sonny Dutcher plated two more tallies with a double. Subia sat the Angelenos down with six hits, two of which were off the bat of C. Cardenas. Subia fanned 15 in shading P. R. Castro in a mound duel. Castro yielded only five hits but the Tigers bunched most of them in the big fifth. San Angelo scored its lone tally in the eighth when C. Cardenas counted on a hit by T. Cardenas. The Tigers visit Rotan for a game next Sunday.

Western Provides Ice In Any Form

If you want your beverages as "cold as ice" when you serve them at your next party, chill them in ice. Home-owned Western Ice Co. is located at the corner of 3rd and Owens and it is dedicated to keeping Big Spring supplied with ice. Whether you are needing a small amount to fill a thermos jug, whether you need some to ice down a few drinks, or to take to the lake for a multitude of uses, you can get what you want at Western Ice.

Crushed in bags, or in blocks, Western Ice Co. has the size to fit your needs. Truckers, too, know that they can re-ice their vans at the Western Ice docks. Also if you desire ice during the night when all the docks are closed, stop by Western Ice Co. and use the firm's vending machines. Two vending machines are installed on the outside of the building—one supplies crushed ice and the other blocks.

With this service, there is no worry of forgetting the ice before going on a fishing trip or other outing where you leave early before the stores open. Remember, too, that Western Ice delivers to residential areas where the order merits it, so you can call the friendly people at Western, order your ice, and it will be at your door in a short time.

Remember the name, Western Ice; remember the address, 3rd and Owens, and remember the phone number, 4-4821, when you want ice.

Ants will not cross No-Roach barriers. Brush it across windowsills, doorsills, or other points of entry. Rout ants by pouring a few drops into ant hills.

Johnston's No-Roach is a colorless quick-drying insecticide that stays just where you apply it. Therefore, it cannot contaminate food and dishes nor create harmful "fall out" vapors as sprays and powders may. No-Roach brushes on in a wink—no need to move dishes or food supplies—and it remains effective for months.

No-Roach is available at Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Hull & Phillips, Newsoms' Bud Green, Cunningham & Phillips, and your local drug or grocery store.

Ask also for Johnston's HADABUG the new aerosol that is deadly to mosquitoes and flies, yet safe to breathe. It lets you sleep the whole night through—without pesky mosquitoes.

S. M. Smith Butane Co. Grows With Big Spring Area, Fills All Fuel Needs

For more than ten years, the S. M. Smith Butane Company has been fulfilling the fuel needs of Big Spring and Howard County residents.

Their business, and the demands for service, have kept pace with the growth of the community. The dependable service employees of the establishment always give has played no little part in the growth and prosperity of the concern.

S. M. Smith Butane Company has practically gone out of the household appliance business in order to concentrate more on the installation of butane and propane systems around the farm and home. A few choice items like kitchen ranges, adaptable to the use of butane, can still be purchased at the concern's main offices, however.

The S. M. Smith Butane Company's motto is "our service begins where the gas main ends."

In other words, it offers a cheap, economical fuel to those homes which cannot or have not been furnished with pipes for natural gas.

Fuel systems of any size can be purchased at the S. M. Smith concern. Butane fuel works wonders around any farm and serves to make that farm as modern as any urban home.

It not only can be used to provide heat for the living room, bedroom or kitchen but serves in such ways as keeping the proper temperature in chick incubators.

Tractors and other farm implements are also converted to its use, offering the user a cheap, safe and economic fuel in place of standard gasolines.

The Smith main office here is situated at the extreme northern edge of the city on the Lamesa Highway.

Miserable Moment

An apprehensive Tommy Mio, 5, issues a few tears as a volunteer fireman's hacksaw nears his trapped finger caught in a perforation in a steel playground slide at International Falls, Minn. Vernon Peterson, the fireman, sawed out a section of the steel platform to free Tommy who was unhurt except for a swollen finger. The one small trapped finger brought out firemen, police, two physicians, a flock of kids and most of the neighborhood parents, including Tommy Mio, Tommy's father, a professional photographer. He took the picture.

Confederacy Wins In Battle Of Ballads

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the Civil War had been fought with bands and ballads instead of bullets and bayonets, the South would have won by a couple of octaves. That is the impression gained from comparing "The Union," Columbia Records' new and long awaited historical album, with "The Confederacy," its highly successful predecessor of three years ago.

Musically, the Rebels got the best of it. They had "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "All Quiet Along the Potomac," "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "My Maryland" and the tender and touching "Lorena." The Federals, as the new album shows, managed to battle down to the last note, thanks mainly to the genius of composer George F. Root, who must have been the George M. Cohan of his day. Root rallied to the Union cause with songs like "Just Before the Battle Mother," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "The Vacant Chair" and the rousing march, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching." Julia Ward Howe also scored a major Yankee victory by penning new lyrics for the "John Brown's Body" ditty and turning it into one of the greatest war songs ever written. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Finally, the Northern side could count among its musical war trophies the bugle call "Taps," believed to have been written by Gen. Daniel Butterfield and first played at Harrison's Landing on the James River during the Seven Days Battle around Richmond. As in "The Confederacy," Columbia has dressed up the war songs in an elegant album-book, replete with learned essays by Confederate historians Bruce Catton and Clifford Dowdley and Yankee historian Allan Nevins.

Produced by Goddard Lieberson, president of Columbia Records, the 60-page album (twice as long as its Confederate counterpart) is generously illustrated with authentic Civil War photographs from the Library of Congress and other archives.

Among them is a famous shot of Gen. U. S. Grant at his field headquarters at Cold Harbor, Va. It shows him leaning on a tree outside his tent, looking wan and dejected, as if he expected to be called any minute before some congressional committee to say whether he thought Lincoln's war budget was up to snuff. Musically, the album is inferior to its packaging. It begins, like "The Confederacy," with a cantata of war songs by Richard Bales, music director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., who also conducts the National Gallery Orchestra on the record.

The cantata is memorable chiefly for a woefully slow rendition of "Tenting Tonight" by the choir of Washington's Lutheran Church of the Reformation. Since the accent was on authenticity, this is no doubt how the song was sung in those days. If so, it probably explains why Gen. George McClellan took so long getting his Army of the Potomac into action. George had to wait until the boys slogged through a couple of choruses of "Tenting Tonight."

Mid-way in the album, craggy-faced Raymond Massey recites Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the bit that made him famous on Broadway and in Hollywood. But instead of the celebrated perfect tribute of silence at the end, his speech gets the TV spectacular treatment. An Alleluia chorus comes in with a strong "Glory, Glory, etc." and Massey goes marching on, hand in hand with Lieberson, into the Union twilight.

The Union album is at its best when the brass bands are belting a martial air, but unlike "The Confederacy," it drags dismally when it attempts the sentimental or the profound.

This time, however, Columbia doesn't have to root around for another "Yellow Rose of Texas" to revive into a pop tune. Elvis Presley beat them to it with his "Love Me Tender" version of the old Union ballad "Aura Lee."

Miss California Velvet Glove Type

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — None of this mailed fist stuff for Miss California of 1958.

More the velvet glove type is 18-year-old Sandra Lee Jennings of Riverside. Her blue eyes, brown hair, 35-24-35 measurements and piano playing talent won her the beauty contest title over 24 other finalists. She was crowned yesterday before 30,000 spectators.

"What do you look for in a husband?" asked a reporter. "He should be head of the house, definitely," she said. "He should be overpowering and make a girl feel weak."

As reporters quietly flexed their muscles, Miss Jennings added softly, "But the girl must really be stronger than he is. She must never let him realize it, though."

Modern Army Sits On Carthage Ruins

By REILMAN MORIN
CARTHAGE, Tunisia (AP) — A modern army camp stands today amid the noble ruins of ancient Carthage.

Tunisian riflemen look out across the terrain that recorded the footprints of innumerable armies through 3,000 years of warfare.

Their brick blockhouse sits on top of an incredible layer-cake of vanished civilizations, each one built on the foundations of the old. Barbed wire fronts the beach where Roman and Vandal, Saracen and Crusader — and perhaps forgotten battalions before them — came ashore to seize the glittering city.

Sentries patrol near the site of Moloch's statue, the fiery god to whom babies were sacrificed. In the amphitheater, the blood of Christian martyrs flowed and their persecutors shouted, "Behold they are baptized."

This was Carthage. It is one of the most beautiful places in the world, covering gentle hills on the edge of the sky-colored Mediterranean — and doomed through the ages to know no peace.

Today, once again, armed men are stationed there. This is the reason:

Two years ago, Tunisia won independence from France. But French troops remain on Tunisian soil. The nationalist rebellion in neighboring Algeria makes it necessary, they say.

Tunisians confined the French to their barracks. To prevent them from coming out — or at least to make it a serious international incident if they did — roadblocks dot the highways and vulnerable shore points are guarded.

Hence, the Tunisian camp at Carthage, and the barbed wire bristling on the seashore. So history repeats itself.

This is the newest chapter in the story of ancient Carthage, a story that began long before Cato, the Roman censor, cried out "Carthago delenda est" — "Carthage must be destroyed."

And it continued long after the Roman legion destroyed the city and sowed the ground with salt to make it forever barren.

Even the name is mysterious. Scholars surmise that "Carthage" was the Roman way of pronouncing "Kast Hadracht", meaning "New Town." Was this the new city, founded by Elissa, Princess of Tyre — the Dido immortalized in Virgil's "Aeneid"? Why did she come to this spot, bringing the wealth of her native city? Who were the people already living here?

The shadows of time hide the answers. Carthage's ships are believed to have gone as far as Iceland, and perhaps even to the shores of America, 15 centuries or more before Columbus.

Imperial Rome in three terrible wars shattered the power of Carthage and left the site of the city almost a desert. It was in these Punic Wars the great Carthaginian general Hannibal showed his tactical genius in years of fighting in Spain and Italy. To battle the Roman army he marched his troops and elephants across the Alps. But Hannibal did not win the war, and the victors dictated severe terms.

Yet Carthage rose again, and the agony and glory of Carthage went on to modern times. Waves of invasion swept the city in century after century — Romans, Vandals, Byzantines, Saracens, Crusaders, the armies of Barbarossa, the Turks, Spaniards and French. Each held the city for a time and then gave way to the next.
