DEAR ABBY

A LOT OF CRUST

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old and my husband is 24. We've been married three years and have two children and one on the way. My mother-in-law had the nerve to call and ask me to bake six pies for the bakery booth for her church bazaar. I told her my ankles were swollen and I'd be glad to buy six pies. She didn't want store-bought pies, she wanted home-baked pies, so I told her I was very sorry but that was the best I could do for her. She hasn't been civil to me since. Do you think I was unreasonable or was she?

bathing suits and underwear. Her father is an elder in the church and if his daughter modeled underwear in front of men he would have a stroke. Also, what are her chances for staying good in this line of work.

DEAR DISTURBED: Modeling is a very respectable profession. Mrs. Kelly's little girl Grace did it and she stayed "good" enough to marry a real live prince.

DEAR DUE: Your situation is understandable and your mother-in-law was unreasonable. Six pies is a lot of crust!

DEAR ABBY: Once in a blue moon my wife breaks down and invites my business friends over for dinner. She thinks just because she goes to the trouble of making a company dinner she has to invite her mother and father, too. I wouldn't mind so much but her mother has a very big mouth and takes up the whole evening talking about everybody in town. This makes a bad impression on my bosses. Don't you think my wife should consider me a little and leave out her parents when I have my bosses over? She admits her mother is a blabber-mouth, but doesn't want to hurt her feelings.

HENPECKED: Settle the argument and spare your wife's feelings by taking your bosses "out"—once in a blue moon.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter wants to be a model. She works at it literally hours every day brushing her hair, doing her nails, exercising and measuring herself. I haven't said much about it because I hoped she'd outgrow the idea. We are a respectable family, Abby, and I would like to know if you think respectable girls go in for modeling? They sometimes are asked to model

DEAR ABBY: Would you please tell me what you think of a college-bred man who sits at the table sideways in his chair with his feet sticking out on the side? Nobody can correct him because he is supposed to be very smart and educated. When eating fish he also takes the fishbones and picks his teeth with them in front of everybody. Maybe they should have a course in table manners at college?

DEAR SIGGIE: If a person gets to college without having learned how to sit at a table and eat properly, an "on-the-spot" lesson is in order from his family or close friends.

Why Old Stinkers Are Never Bitten

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A T-shirt, worn for a few days, will repel a rattlesnake as effectively as the odor of a skunk, one of his natural enemies.

A UCLA herpetologist, Dr. Raymond B. Cowles, made this discovery after a series of laboratory experiments. Using a chemical that has an odor similar to the skunk's, he found that the rattlesnake's heartbeat jumped perceptibly on an electrocardiograph machine.

But the snake's heartbeat really rocked when air was blown at him through a soiled T-shirt.

Cowles' findings were reported Wednesday by the university.

DEAR HENPECKED: Settle the argument and spare your wife's feelings by taking your bosses "out"—once in a blue moon.

Time For Decision, Candidates Claim

By WHITEY SAWYER
AP Staff Writer

Both candidates for the U.S. Senate called this a time for decision Thursday, but they didn't mean the same thing.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough said in a television speech from Houston the Middle East crisis makes this "a time for sound decision, arrived at by men of patriotism, good will and experience in government. This is a time for unity among all Americans."

"We can lose our freedom by bayonets or by the 'big buy.' A government that can be bought is no better than one governed by bayonets. It is force either way and freedom of choice is lost either way," he asserted.

His opponent, William Blakley spoke over TV from Wichita Falls.

He said "Texans know we have arrived at the greatest moment of decision ever to face our state in modern times.

"We have come to the time... when this generation of Texans must choose which way our state is going to go.

"You can by your votes turn Texas up the road of progress and opportunity and freedom.

"Or you can permit Texas to be bridled by minority rule, saddled with oppressive controls and led off down a road of compromise, with a bit in its mouth and spurs on its flanks," he said.

Gov. Price Daniel also took to the airwaves, saying in a speech from Bryan Texans can be proud of their state government "despite the daily and nightly name-calling and mud-slinging conducted by other candidates in this race."

W. Lee O'Daniel, who opposes Daniel, said over TV at Austin. "The official record at Austin shows that W. Lee O'Daniel, whom you elected governor in 1958, pulled the state out of a similar financial crisis and put the state on a cash pay-as-you-go basis. I did it then and I can and I will do it again if elected as your governor on July 26."

Henry Gonzalez' office released a statement blasting Daniel. It said "He has the unblushing face to accuse me of smearing him. The worst and biggest smear the governor has executed has been against the Texas Democrats.

First he sold them out. Now he wants to dictate to them."

The state senator also charged his opponent "has smeared Texas Democrats, Texas workers, Texas Negroes. Yet he charges that I smear him when I call him a mediocre hypocrite."

Although Yarborough approved the President's action in the Lebanon crisis, he denounced the past five years of the administration's foreign policy.

Blakley accused Yarborough of being "beholden to out-of-state interests who stand against all that the Texas majority stands for."

"For the first time in history, Texas has a senator who was elected with the money of the labor bosses and that senator has a seat on the labor committee of the Senate," Blakley charged.

Yarborough planned to go to Waco Friday while Blakley headed for Amarillo and Lubbock.

Daniel headed for East Texas, including Hearne, Palestine and Tyler. Gonzalez was to visit Amarillo while O'Daniel launched a tour by helicopter through Rockdale, Bryan, Conroe, Liberty and Beaumont.

Another candidate for governor, Joe Irwin, did not give a schedule.

Would Have Been An Empty Victory

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Two teen-agers in the county's new jail didn't know their efforts to scrape through a cement wall with a bent tin cup as a chisel had been detected electronically a day before they were told to stop.

Jailer Carlisle Brockman says the boys were only digging harmlessly toward another cell, anyway.

Negro To Risk Mississippi Ire In College Trip

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Clenon King, who tried to become the first Negro to enroll at the University of Mississippi, observed his 38th birthday today by making plans for a farewell sermon.

He said he will leave Mississippi after he delivers the sermon to his congregation Sunday.

King revealed his plans in a statement issued last night from his home in Gulfport. A moving van will pick up his furniture today, and King said that if Gov. J. P. Coleman doesn't have him arrested he will be out of the state shortly.

King's wife and six children are in Albany, Ga., the former A&M history professor's home town.

King originally planned to return to Oxford today to pick up personal belongings he said he left behind when highway patrolmen escorted him off the campus last month.

Another purpose of the trip was to have quashed charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest, which were filed against him in connection with his attempt to enter the university.

He wanted witnesses to go along with him, but he said last night that members of his board of stewards at the St. Andrew's African Methodist Episcopal Church had decided it would not be wise for them to accompany him.

"I understand their situation," King said. "All the governor's personal animosity for me will fall on them if they go with me."

Coleman advised two of King's church members Wednesday that King would be arrested and the charges pressed if he returned to the university.

The governor said King left nothing behind at the university except his application papers, which are part of the university's records.

Coleman said King's only purpose for making the trip would be to stir up trouble.

The state charged that King went berserk while on the state university campus. He denied creating a disturbance.

Congress To Support Military In Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said today that Congress will support the U. S. armed forces with authority and money in the Mideast crisis, wherever they are.

He said the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is chairman, will stand by to await developments and to consult at any time with the top defense command.

Russell told a reporter he thinks it would be unwise to reduce any of the armed forces below existing levels, as if contemplated in budget requests now before a Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Russell said that when Congress winds up its work, it should be subject to recall by its leaders, so it could act in any unexpected emergency.

The unexpected overthrow of the pro-West regime in Iraq and the sudden dispatch of U. S. troops to Lebanon have bolstered the case of advocates of increases in Army and Reserve and National Guard personnel.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) told the Senate the call for U. S. troops came at a time when effective defense efforts were decreasing.

"Our government continues to place soft living and budgetary considerations ahead of national security," Symington said. He and others are advocating a stepup in administration requests for long-range bombers, missiles and other weapons.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), who has visited the Soviet Union several times, said in a separate interview, "I personally don't believe the Russians will step in."

Mexico Threatens Subsidy Of Cotton

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican government said last night it will finance the cost of withholding Mexican cotton from the world market if necessary to get fair prices.

Antonio Carrillo Flores, minister of the treasury, said Mexico also will ask Washington not to increase subsidies for exporting U.S. cotton.

Pay For Large Families Urged By Catholics

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A family allowance system to ease the financial strain on parents with many children is suggested by Roman Catholics.

In the closing session of their Family Life Convention yesterday, they asked Congress to study the possibility.

At present, a resolution said, "the rearing and education of children in an urban society continues to impose an inequitable burden on the parents of large families."

Church leaders noted that many countries have family allowance plans, including Canada.

Under the Canadian plan, parents get $10 monthly for one child, and $8 monthly for each additional child, from birth to 18.

The convention of about 1,000 priests, family life experts and lay couples also sharply condemned segregated housing, declaring it impedes healthy development of family, religious and civic life.

A resolution called on the federal government to take "positive steps when necessary" to implement the Supreme Court decision on segregation in schools.

In other actions, the convention called for:

1. Marriage preparation courses in all Catholic high schools and colleges.
2. Special instruction of nuns about marriage and family life, so they can guide their students.
3. Efforts by church agencies to strengthen the husband's "leadership characteristics" in the home.
4. Extension of Catholic marriage counseling centers to more areas.
5. Action to increase participation-type recreation in the home.
6. Increased church concern for Negroes, Mexican and Puerto Rican minorities.

Only A Fraction Of Strength Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, playing by far its military moves in the Middle East, so far has committed only a tiny fraction of its total available troop strength to the area.

The proportion for the Air Force was only a little larger.

But the show of Navy air-sea power had mounted to imposing proportions and branched out to include not only operations in Lebanon but a 50-plane sortie over Jordan—"to let it be known the planes were there," a Defense Department spokesman explained.

In the area—ashore in Lebanon, waiting to go ashore from amphibious ships off the coast or poised at a base in southern Turkey—was a total of about 7,800 ground forces. Of these, approximately 6,230 were Marines on the scene or en route there for purposes of replacement. Total strength of the Marine Corps is about 190,000.

The Army so far has committed one airborne battle group of about 1,600 men. Total Army strength is about 900,000.

The Air Force has put a composite striking force in position at a base in Turkey. A striking force is composed of about 100 assorted types of aircraft. The composite force is an element of the Tactical Air Command. In that command alone there are about 3,000 combat aircraft. This does not include the aircraft of other Air Force organizations, such as the Strategic Air Command, which flies almost 2,500 heavy and medium bombers and tanker aircraft or the several thousand planes of the Air Defense Command.

The Navy, by last night, had 44 ships standing along the Lebanese coast—carriers, cruisers, destroyers, amphibious ships and landing craft. This is only a part of the 400 combatant vessels of the Navy.

The course being followed by the United States is to put in only the minimum number of troops needed for the situation as it now stands, but to be ready to hurry reinforcements into Lebanon if needed.

Aside from this tactical plan for a localized situation is the obvious desire of the Defense Department to keep the great proportion of its manpower and arms in reserve for possible new threats or actual limited war elsewhere in the world.

Church leaders noted that many countries have family allowance plans, including Canada.

Under the Canadian plan, parents get $10 monthly for one child, and $8 monthly for each additional child, from birth to 18.

The convention of about 1,000 priests, family life experts and lay couples also sharply condemned segregated housing, declaring it impedes healthy development of family, religious and civic life.

Ike Asks Jap Aid In Crisis

TOKYO (AP)—Unconfirmed reports circulated today that President Eisenhower has sent Prime Minister Kishi a message asking Japanese cooperation in the United Nations on the Middle Eastern crisis.

Kyodo News Service, quoting said the American Embassy delivered the message to Kishi yesterday.

An embassy spokesman said he had no immediate information on the report.

Japan's delegate in the U.N. Security Council yesterday learned the American landing in Lebanon "inappropriate and regrettable" and "liable to aggravate the situation." He was reported planning to propose to the Council that the U.N. observer corps in Lebanon be increased so that the U.S. Marines could withdraw. The United States has asked the council to set up an international troop force to take over from the Marines.

Emerging from bankruptcy court after declaring debts of $33,600 and assets of only $5.60, she said Thursday night she plans to concentrate on flying, auto racing and playing the piano.

Greek-Turkish Truce Shaping Up

LONDON (AP)—An undeclared truce between Greek and Turkish factions in Cyprus appeared shaping up today.

Diplomatic sources said Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis and Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes were quietly intervening in an effort to end more than three years of civil strife in the crown colony.

Athens and Ankara were reported fearful that further terrorism in Cyprus at this time would undermine American and British efforts to stabilize the Middle East in Lebanon and Jordan and threaten the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

At a tea given Thursday afternoon in Lubbock, announcement was made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Margaret Myrick to Robert L. McDonald.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Bernice Wolfarth Myrick of Lubbock. The prospective bridegroom is the nephew of Mrs. W. D. McDonald, 1603 Eleventh Place, with whom he has made his home.

The wedding will take place Sept. 5 in the First Methodist Church of Lubbock.

Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. John Jarrott, aunt of the betrothed, Mrs. Eva Franks Jones and Mrs. Sylvan Sanders, in whose home it was given.

Mrs. Sanders received guests and presented Miss Myrick, her mother, and Mrs. McDonald.

Announcement was made with a tiny silver wedding ring attached to lilies of the valley in a miniature nosegay. Names of the engaged couple and the wedding date were on streamers.

A milkglass epergne held pink roses as a center arrangement for the tea table, laid with a white embroidered linen cloth. Pink was featured in the napkins and also

Miss Myrick was attired in a pink embroidered sheath of cotton with a chiffon sash of varying shades of pink, which will be repeated in the dresses of her bridal attendants.

Cookies And Iced Tea Are Ideal Duo

There's a surprise ingredient in these Toll-House type cookies. Rich and flavorful, these cookies make an ideal finish for a meal when served with iced tea or fruit punch.

SEVILLE COOKIES

- 3/4 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 tsp. baking soda
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla
- 1/4 cup Seville-orange marmalade
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces (roughly chopped)
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts (about the size of the chopped chocolate).

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Beat egg until thick and lemon-colored. Without washing beater (if using electric mixer) cream butter, brown sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, marmalade, chocolate and walnuts.

Drop rounded (not heaping) teaspoonfuls of the mixture a couple of inches apart onto well-greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until browned around edges—about 7 minutes.

Let stand on pan about 1 minute, just until edges won't shrink. Then remove to wire racks by lifting cookie edge with sharp tip of spatula and sliding spatula under cookie. If cookies get crisp before removal, replace in oven for a few seconds to soften. Makes 3 1/2 to 4 dozen.

Week Of Fashion Display Climax Made Of Six Major Style Shapes

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's women must be prepared to travel in clothes that are appropriate, comfortable and exotic.

Such is the credo of Tina Leser, a travel-happy designer. She delights in jaunting to far corners of the earth with her equally global-minded husband Jim Howley. She brings back fabulous silks, rich brocades and Oriental embroideries to be shaped to the needs and figures of American women.

Winding up a news-packed week of fall fashion showings for 200 visiting fashion editors, the resourceful and romantic Tina shows six major shapes of style for fall and winter, 1958. They are: the dust-ruffle, the Watteau, the trapeze, the harem skirt, the powder puff silhouette and the bifurcated line—the latter consisting of skinny pants and varied tops, in costumes designed for glamour at home or comfort in air travel.

As always, Miss Leser creates an Arabian Nights mood with her rich Oriental fabrics, her Aladdin's lamp color magic, her subtle shaping of line to suggest the romance of ancient Persia. Authentic regional and traditional fashions have fascinated this designer since the time she opened her first salon in Honolulu a couple of decades ago and introduced international travelers to the color and excitement of native Hawaiian beach clothes.

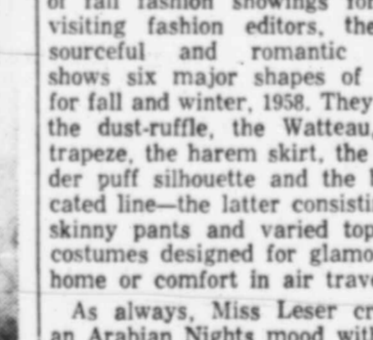

Of major interest among her new shapes of fashion is the dust-ruffle silhouette, used in both dresses and coats and consisting of a straight, unfitted sheath ending in a ruffled flounce at the knee-high hemline. This is particularly effective in a simple gray flannel dress buttoned down the front and trimmed in lighter gray piping, and in a bulky coat of brushed mohair in muted tones of pink through orange, faintly plaided.

The Watteau dresses are for gala occasions, have semifitted tops and graceful flaring, dome-shaped skirts. One example is in pale green printed wool challis with a small brown flower motif.

The trapeze silhouette is done in a number of versions, one of the most striking of which is a short evening dress in white flannel embroidered in green and gold, shown with a matching sweater lined in 14-karat gold gauze.

Tina's powder puff silhouette has a padded back panel floating from the shoulders and caught under at the hemline. Her harem skirts are shown in a number of outfits, including a plaid wool dress in russet tones, worn with a rosy toned and bulky coat of looped mohair.

But perhaps the most history will be made with Miss Leser's new outfit for airplane travel in the space age. It consists of a short jacket and narrow slacks in beautifully tailored checked tweed worn with a color coordinated coat in bulky but lightweight mohair with dashing collar.

Slimming Frock

Vertical lines in a pinafore can make a chubby little girl appear more slender. Such frocks are easy to make, a joy to trim in various ways.

Feathery Beauty

The rich authentic colors used in embroidering this regal peacock design form a handsome panel that is bound to win many compliments. No. 165 contains hot-ton transfer; color chart; stitch illustrations.

Kitchen arithmetic: When a recipe calls for a pound of potatoes, you won't go far wrong if you use three medium-sized ones.

Kitchen Gardening Can Be Thrifty, Interesting

By MARY COCHRAN

Have you tried your hand at "kitchen gardening"? This is also a hobby that children may find exciting and interesting. By using such kitchen discards as carrot tops, avocado seeds, and pineapple crowns you can grow exotic house plants at no cost and very little effort.

These plants are not usually intended to take the place of regular house plants, but they do provide interesting foliage. And it's fun to grow them.

Orange, grapefruit, lemon and date seeds, planted in soil, will grow into attractive foliage plants that will last for years. The grapefruit shell itself can be the original holder. As the plant grows larger, transplant into suitable pots. These are, as a general rule, started in the winter and set outside in the summer. Don't grow citrus in too hot a spot in the house in the winter. Date plants need lots of root room so should have successively larger pots as the plant grows.

Watermelon, or any melon seed, will produce quickly and abundantly when pressed directly into the soil. Seeds from Hubbard squash will produce foliage quickly. Press the seed into fertile soil mixed with vermiculite or peat moss.

For an interesting planting, put an unusual shaped branch or tree limb in a large pot and plant morning glory seed at its base. These quick growing vines will soon climb the bare branch if given adequate sunlight.

SWEET POTATO

One of the most interesting and easily grown vines is from the sweet potato. Choose a potato that has begun to develop buds, or force buds by placing potato on moist peat moss in a warm room. With buds up, place one-fourth of the potato in water. The tuber may be placed in a bowl with toothpicks to support it or suspended at the proper level in a jar. These plants grow quickly in a sunny window, and the vines can be pruned to produce a bushy plant. An attractive planting is to place the potato in a rather low flower bowl and build a small lattice of stakes or bamboo to support the vine as it grows. As the soil can be gradually added if you desire, but it is not necessary.

Carrot tops and beet tops make pretty foliage. The top two inches of the carrot or beet produce greenery when placed in a container of water on a pinpoint or planted in a bowl of sand or soil. The beets will give red and green leaves and the carrots produce a delicate feathery foliage. A carrot can be hung like a basket for a novel treatment. Cut off the tip end of the carrot; hollow it out, leaving a thin shell, and trim the top. Suspend upside down by running strings through the top of the shell to hang it by. Keep the hollowed out portion filled with water and watch the greenery sprout out of the "bottom."

Even the lowly Irish potato produces unusual and interesting sprouts resembling coral. A white potato placed inside a conch shell and watered will produce a "conversational" planting.

AVOCADO PLANT

Avocado plants can be started in water or soil. Place the flat end of the seed down and keep out of the sun till sprouted. This may take two months or more. If it is growing in water, thrust toothpicks in the seed to support it with base only in water. As substantial roots and foliage are produced, prepare for potting by gradually adding soil a bit at a time. Prune the plant to keep within bounds.

Pineapple tops are planted in damp sand or vermiculite with a thin part of the shoulder attached. Place gravel in the bottom of the pot for drainage and place in a sunny spot for quick growth.

Even the onion will sprout with no help. Use a small mouth container to give the onion support, and it will feed off itself for some time.

If the water has an odor in kitchen gardening, a few pieces of charcoal will absorb the unpleasant smells.

Try your hand at this simple gardening or help the children start some indoor greenery. The cost is practically nothing, and the returns are large.

Bridal Tea Given For Miss Dietz

Carolyn Dietz was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower given Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley, when three of her friends entertained with a tea. Cohostesses were Gladys Oliver and Mrs. M. S. Knowles.

Miss Dietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Dietz, 1217 Lloyd Ave., is to be married Saturday evening to William A. Davey in the Main Street Church of Christ.

The bride's chosen colors were featured in the table arrangement, which was fashioned of two wedding rings standing on a base of blue satin and tulle sparkling with rhinestones. Forests of white gladioli and lilies of the valley clustered around the rings.

Two blue candles on each side of the centerpiece gave illumination for the setting. Background for the serving was a white cut-work cloth.

On the buffet was an arrangement of shasta daisies and blue mist in a tiered bowl container; dahlias were used in the living room.

A bow marked the bride's book, at which Mrs. Kenneth Bryant presided. Assisting in the house party was Mrs. Charles Porch.

For the party, Miss Dietz chose a cotton frock of pale blue cotton, made with full skirt and fitted bodice. The bateau neckline was topped with a fold of the material.

U.S. Prepared For Economic Ailments

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—If a shooting showdown should flare in the Middle East, the government can be expected to act quickly to combat the shortages and inflation which mark even brush fire wars. Some of the tools to do this job are already at hand. Others probably would be asked quickly from Congress. And Congress could be expected to respond just as quickly, although there is no indication now such action will be needed. Even a limited war in the Arab world could light a rocket under defense spending, put a bind on supplies of some strategic materials and open the way for new hikes in living costs.

Oil probably would stop flowing from Middle East wells to the big Western European markets. This might require another oil lift from the Western Hemisphere to Europe — the kind of operation carried on while the Suez Canal was blocked early last year. Already on the books are regulations for the allocation of strategic materials. These could and presumably would be imposed very quickly to prevent waste of vital stocks. Also available is another regulation to curb hoarding by controlling industry inventories of raw materials. There is no provision in present law for controlling wages and prices. And credit can be curbed only indirectly through the Federal Reserve Board's power to tighten or loosen the money supply. The Eisenhower administration is wary about imposing mandatory restraints on the economy. However, it is dedicated to fighting inflation.

pressures of even a small war, it certainly would give quick consideration to asking Congress for broad economic controls. After the outbreak of the Korean War, living costs jumped more than 7 per cent in the eight months before controls went into effect. The Truman administration called at first for voluntary restraint, but to little avail. Republicans were sharply critical of the Democrats at the time for not putting on the brakes sooner. It is a good bet that the present Republican administration, with the advantage of hindsight, would move faster if a similar situation arose. The landing of U.S. Marines in Lebanon already is having a different kind of effect on the home front. The impact so far has been political rather than economic. Senate Republican Leader William Knowland of California has noted that Middle East storm clouds have affected the congressional weather vane. He foresees restoration of some House-voted cuts in foreign aid. Some other observers predict that trouble overseas will help the Eisenhower administration get more of what it wants in the way of reciprocal trade and defense reorganization legislation.

Echoes Of Crisis

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The leftist-led Estate Workers Union threatened today to take action against some 15 U.S.-owned rubber plantations in Indonesia unless the Marines withdraw from Lebanon. A telegram to U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones contended the Marine landing constituted aggression and interference in Lebanese affairs.

Truman Jones Adds Edsel Dealership

Newest automobile on the American market — Ford Motor Company's Edsel—is now being offered in Big Spring through franchised dealership.

New Edsel dealer here is Truman Jones Motor Co., and 1958 models of the car will be on special display at an "open house" at the company show rooms, 403 Runnels, all day Saturday.

Edsel is the latest entry in the medium price listings, having been developed by Ford after years of engineering and design research, and having been given the name of the former head of the company, son of founder Henry Ford and father of the present head of the company.

Already a familiar sight on the highways is the distinctive vertical grille design that marks the Edsel.

There are 18 models in the Edsel line, all of them marked by wide, low-flight design, plus special features such as the Teletouch Drive—with control push buttons located in the center of the steering wheel. There are self-adjusting brakes, contour seats, a dial for selecting temperature, quantity and direction of air; a warning light to signal when oil runs low; luggage compartment latch release from the driver's seat; a special selector dial on the speedometer to signal at a pre-set maximum speed.

Edsels are available in over-drive or automatic transmissions. The cars are powered by specially designed V-8 engines of 303 and 345 horsepower. Advanced development in cooling and carburetion give new control over warm-ups, and make for economy in gas consumption.

Texas Support Hawaii Statehood

HONOLULU (AP) — A Texas group is on the way home after declaring themselves solid supporters of statehood for Hawaii. "This is the best trip ever. We are going back now and vote for statehood," said Murray Cox, radio and farm editor of Dallas Radio Station WFAA and director of the station's ninth annual tour. After a 12 day visit, 23 of the group left yesterday by plane and 134 embarked on the Matson Liner Lurline, due in San Francisco Monday. The Texans made the Lurline a "ship of the Texas Navy." The party is made up of Texas farmers, ranchers and their wives.

Officials End Tides Meeting

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Attorneys general of five southern coastal states ended a two-day strategy meeting here yesterday and said they were in agreement on a common brief in the tidelands boundary suit. The brief is to be filed with the U.S. Supreme Court Aug. 15.

"We are very happy with the outcome of our discussions," said Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion of Louisiana. "The five states were in unanimous agreement on all points and contentions, we have in common in this dispute. We are now prepared to present a unified front."

Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida contend their boundaries extend 10 1/2 miles into the Gulf. The federal government argues that the states have control over only three miles offshore.

Attorneys general meeting here were Will Wilson of Texas, Joe Patterson of Mississippi, Richard Ervin of Florida and Gremillion. Asst. Atty. Gen. W. C. O'Rear represented Alabama.

Pageant Has First Crisis

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Fifty foreign beauties flew into town for the Miss Universe contest — and before you could say "swimsuit," there it was: the contest's first crisis.

Miss Costa Rica read the registration rules, sighed sadly and confessed to the pageant director: "I'm not old enough."

The other 49 girls — chattering and giggling merrily — went to their rooms to be fitted into swimsuits. Dark-eyed Eugenia Maria Valverde explained she won't be 18 until Oct. 6, 1958. Registration rules say she had to turn 18 July 1 to be eligible.

"Eugenia Valverde is one of the most honest girls I've ever met," said contest director Oscar Meinhardt. "She will remain here during the pageant as our guest, representing Costa Rica. "But she cannot be judged for Miss Universe."

Miss Valverde rushed off to get fitted for her suit. The rest of the 80 girls expected for the contest are due today.

"But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The just shall live by faith." (Galatians 3:11)

Ratliff Has Earned A Second Term

Among state offices to be filled through the Democratic primary of July 26 is that of state senator for the 24th District, which includes Howard County.

David W. Ratliff of Stamford is asking re-election for a second term, having first been named to the office through a special referendum following the death of Harley Sadler. He is opposed by Robert R. Patterson of Snyder.

Ratliff, from a widely known West Texas family, is operator of a small business in Stamford, his home for many years. He is basically West Texan, understands well the economic and political issues which affect this large district. He is a man of quiet and modest demeanor, who has been conscientious about his job at Austin.

He has had an attentive ear for people of Howard County as well as those in other counties of the district, and can be counted on to be a fair representative for us.

We think the record of his first term in office entitles David Ratliff to another term. He can continue to be a senator in whom the people can have confidence.

No Cheap Price For Freedom

Ecclesiastes the Preacher, chapter 8, verse 8, observes that "There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death; and there is no discharge in that war."

The phrase, "There is no discharge in that war," is a striking one. An alternate translation reads, "There is no casting off weapons."

That is the kind of war the world is involved in now, whether cold or hot. The challenge of the totalitarian world to the free world is a mortal one, and it has many guises and angles—economic, political, diplomatic and military. It involves on the one side a civilization the West has been engaged in setting up for hundreds of years, that is properly called the Christian Era. It is a civilization in which the dignity of the individual is respected and protected; a civilization of schools and churches, of individual freedom of choice, of justice and the rule of law and order.

This civilization has often been challenged by the forces of darkness, by forces that would throw away everything civilization stands for in favor of totalitarian concepts in which men become mere chattels of the state, of no more account than any other animal. Often the forces of darkness have prevailed, and the light of civilization grew dim, or disappeared altogether for a season.

We are now in a phase of this eternal struggle.

Because men are prone to take their liberties for granted the work of those who would destroy them is made much easier. They forget that our kind of peace must be defended; indeed, it has often to be fought for.

The lean and hungry wolves who would destroy us are ever on the prowl. We complain of the "sacrifices" in the form of taxes we must pay to build secure defenses against the prowlers, forgetting that freedom and peace are bought at a price, not in lucre only, but in gore.

In this war of the worlds there can be no discharge; there can be no casting off of our weapons, no ducking into bunkholes, no cowardly retreat into fear and trembling. The challenge is to us and to our children and to children's children.

We did not buy our freedom cheaply; we cannot defend it cheaply. There are no bargain-counter solutions to the threats of our destruction that confront us.

David Lawrence Counter-Move In The Cold War

WASHINGTON—By itself, the landing of American Marines in Lebanon is not an earth-shaking event. United States forces have been landed lots of times in various parts of the world when it was necessary to protect American lives and property. Such action hasn't always led to a war.

The really important point is that the United States has made a counter-demonstration in the "cold war" which has a far-reaching purpose—to impress the men in the Kremlin that the West will no longer acquiesce in the campaign of aggressive subversion that has been developing in the Middle East under the joint auspices of Moscow and Cairo.

Will the Soviet regime be impressed? The immediate reaction from the Soviet capital has been the customary denunciation of the American move and a pious defense of the revolutions in Lebanon and Iraq as noble efforts of nationalistic groups to deal with supposedly tyrannical governments.

Outside of these exchanges of view as to what caused the trouble in Iraq and Lebanon, the broader strategy turns to the United Nations. Here the Soviets, with their veto in the Security Council, can block any action looking toward a policing of the area. The thesis that these are internal problems will be argued by the Communist representatives at the U. N., but this will not accelerate the withdrawal of the American Marines. In fact, President Eisenhower has stated that "the initial dispatch of troops will be augmented as required." The remarks by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge at the United Nations as well as the President's messages to Congress and the American people indicate clearly that the American government does not view the Middle Eastern events as mere internal revolutions, but as something directly propagated by the Soviet government.

President Eisenhower laid the case before the American people in these words: "What we now see in the Middle East is the same pattern of conquest with which we became familiar during the period of 1945 to 1950. This involves taking over a nation by means of indirect aggression; that is, under the cover of a fomented civil strife the purpose is to put into domestic control those with real loyalty to the aggressor."

"Yet indirect aggression and violence are being promoted in the Near East in clear violation of the provisions of the United Nations charter.

"There can be no peace in the world

unless there is fuller dedication to the basic principles of the United Nations charter. If ever the United States fails to support these principles the result would be to open the flood gates to direct and indirect aggression throughout the world.

"In the 1930's the members of the League of Nations became indifferent to direct and indirect aggression in Europe, Asia and Africa. The result was to strengthen and stimulate aggressive forces that made World War II inevitable.

"The United States is determined that that history shall not now be repeated. We are hopeful that the action which we are taking will both preserve the independence of Lebanon and check international violations which, if it succeeded, would endanger world peace."

The situation has in it, of course, the ingredients of a serious crisis, depending upon how serious the rulers in Moscow want to make it. They would be taking a risk by letting a war crisis grow on the horizon, for it might be the signal for uprisings in East Germany and Hungary and in other states held captive by the Soviet dictatorship. Also, it's hardly likely that the people of Soviet Russia would relish a big war, and this, too, might cause the Kremlin to hesitate to precipitate a break that could lead to war.

The United States government necessarily must look at the picture from the darkest side if the moves are to impress the Soviets. Certainly it is difficult to deal with the Communist techniques of subversion by just sending in Marines. Bribery of local leaders and the smuggling in of arms from Egypt by the Communists can keep the fires of trouble burning in Iraq and Lebanon and perhaps later in Jordan.

At the moment, the American action is based on many precedents in international law—the protection of lives and property of its nationals. Also, in the case of Lebanon, the existing government has invited the troops of a friendly power to come in to help preserve its territorial integrity and independence.

It will be recalled that during the Truman administration, in 1947, the United States, at the invitation of the government of Greece, sent a military mission which thwarted the Communist infiltration there. This was called the "Truman Doctrine." An amplified version of that intervention now is being applied under the "Eisenhower Doctrine." Whatever the historical comparisons may show, the United States again is displaying a firm hand in an effort to avert a larger war. The American Marines are in the Middle East not only to protect American lives and property but also to warn the Communists against further aggression. It does look like a showdown between the East and the West is in the making.

Dog's Best Friend

HONOLULU (AP)—A boy, oft times, can be a dog's best friend. Especially in the case of 11-year-old Steve Doughty, and his dog, Rusty, a 2-year-old beagle.

When Steve's family moved to Hawaii last September, they had to leave Rusty behind with relatives in Northridge, Calif. Steve's father, Navy Chief Photographer Robert Doughty, promised he would pay the lad's fare back to the West Coast to get Rusty if Steve could save half of it—about $65.

For five months, Steve washed cars, mowed lawns, went without ice cream, saved his 50-cents weekly allowance. Finally, he saved $62 and his dad put up the rest. Steve went back to California to pick up Rusty.

Hal Boyle A Kind Word Or Two For Fat

NEW YORK (AP)—This is a tribute to fat—fighting fat! Everybody in this country has been overpraising muscle—and low-rating fat—for a long time. Isn't it about time now—since we give even the devil his due—that someone said a few kind words for fat?

Fat doesn't spell weakness. It spells power. What is the mightiest creature in the sea? The whale. And what is the whale? He is a mountain of blubber, nature's floating oil tank. But he rules the deep.

What creature on earth would willingly tangle with the elephant or the bear? Yet they both love to get so fat they waddle when they walk.

When you get right down to it, fat has a lot of virtues entirely lacking in muscle.

What makes you nervous and jumpy? What keeps you tense?

Your nerves and muscles. But good old fat never gets excited. It is calm and soothing. It keeps telling you, "Take it easy. What's the hurry?" Fat is the voice of common sense.

Fat is faithful. Fat is loyal. It will stick to you through thick and try to cling to you through thin. After 40 you can't depend on your muscles much. Muscles are only the fair weather friends of your youth. But you can still count on your good old fat. It won't desert you.

When people want to look brave, they take a deep breath and flex their muscles. This is nonsense. They should take a deep breath and flex their fat. For fat is far braver than muscle.

In some situations your cowardly muscles seem to turn to water. But as any dieter knows, fat won't run off from anything—at least of its own volition. Fat is a born fighter.

Anyone who has ever tried to get rid of fat learns this quickly. My own experience is typical. Six months ago my doctor told me: "Your weight is up to 210 pounds. Some 30 pounds of it is fat. The other 180 pounds is bone and muscle. Get rid of the fat."

The solution seemed simple. Just starve the fat by dieting and wear it away by exercise. After all the odds seemed hopelessly in favor of the bone and muscle. They outweighed the fat 6 to 1.

But what happened? The fat wouldn't give up. In the last half-year I must have walked a distance from here to Timbuktu, done enough knee bends to need new joints, eaten hardly enough to keep a hummingbird humming.

The result: I have lost 15 pounds, at least half of which must be muscle. The fat has out-bought my muscles, pound for pound, every step of the way.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF A BAD NIGHT, NURSE!

Eleventh of a series

by Donald J. Sobel

The bulb hung directly above the upturned hood of a white sports car. Through the open garage doors the dim glow light reached into the night and illuminated the body of a man dressed in oil-splattered loafers, greasy wool shirt, and dirty bluejeans.

He might have been slumbering, except that his head was savagely crushed in.

"Roger Pratt, the socialite playboy," said Inspector Winters. "Mrs. Pratt's nurse saw the whole thing. It was she who summoned the police."

Inside the house, Bertha Tooe, the nurse, repeated her story for Dr. Haledjian.

"I was with Mrs. Pratt all night. Mr. Pratt said she was not to be left alone. She's had a breakdown."

"About midnight I glanced through the bedroom window and saw Mr. Pratt step out of the garage. A woman slipped from behind those bushes and struck him with some instrument over the head."

"Didn't Mr. Pratt notice his assailant's approach?"

"I'll all happened too swiftly. Mr. Pratt stooped to tie his shoelaces, the woman darted up behind him. I don't think he saw or heard her. I immediately called the police from the telephone in the bedroom."

"You didn't leave the house tonight?"

"No," replied the nurse, stiffening.

The nurse's statement was confirmed by Mrs. Pratt. "Bertha made a telephone call about midnight. Whispered so I couldn't hear! A little later she answered the doorbell. Otherwise she didn't leave me. What's the girl been up to?"

"She went downstairs to open the door for Inspector Winters as he was entering the bedroom."

Around The Rim Maybe It's Not So Bad

In an editorial earlier this week, I attempted to analyze the Middle Eastern situation from one particular angle. Yet, there are many standpoints from which to judge President Nasser and his United Arab Republic.

The situation as of now looks bad, and in light of American-Russian competition for control of the world, the present course our government has taken was inevitable. Yet, from the longer view of history, the situation might not be as bad as it seems.

We once were 13 colonies, each one different and varied from the rest, yet basically the same. The Arab nations have less in common than did the 13 American colonies; yet, they have enough likenesses among themselves to make true unity a distinct possibility.

Nasser is to us as Tito is to the Kremlin—a splinter off the main body, a torn in our sides, yet unwilling to go over to the other side. There are those who believe a so-called third force is needed as a buffer between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, and it may not be entirely coincidental that Nasser and Tito just recently ended a summit meeting of their own.

The drive for Arab unity is not new, but the overwhelming spirit behind it is. There is a great danger in that Nasser may become a greater dictator over a nation that stretches from Libya to Persia; the French, Russian and Latin American revolutions are proof enough that people unaccustomed to democracy rarely gain it overnight through revolution, and usually are plunged into a tyranny worse than that they so recently threw off.

Yet, if the United Arab Republic survives, it might someday become a free world power on whom we can rely. We hated the British for a long time, but finally came around to seeing that our differences were less than our likenesses. The U. A. R., in fact, after the goal of unity is reached, may turn friendly toward the West, as did Morocco.

Eventually, the Arab nations will find the unity they seek, and in the long run it matters little whether Nasser is a dictator or a president—he can't live forever, and the people must inevitably win their freedom, even as did the French people after the tyrannies of Napoleon and his heir, Louis Napoleon.

Inez Robb Putting The Gentlemen In Plumage

Gentlemen: A difficult choice lies ahead.

You, too, can be restored to the gorgeous plumage that is the mark of all other males in nature, but only at the price of the Bee State.

And what, you had better ask, is the Bee State or the price of this plumage? Well, sir, the Bee State is marked by the complete emancipation of women, with subsequent result that all children are reared in a state-controlled hive. In other words, the little woman will be relieved of the duties if not the necessity of motherhood.

But why will the Bee State restore your dull plumage and strike from you the giddy shakles of charcoal-gray flannel? Because, and mark this well, women will then select our respective mates on the basis of manly beauty and not on the crass economic hunch that he looks like a good provider and a trustworthy family man.

This is nothing I have dreamed up. It is the thoughtful conclusion of a famed British egghead, who is a wit, poet, author, playwright and BBC brain trust and panelist. But over and above all this, he is also one of the world's foremost historians of fashion and taste.

He is James Laver, for 37 years Keeper of Prints and Drawings at the Victoria and Albert Museum who once, in his spare time, fashioned a musical comedy, with tunes by Cole Porter, for Gertrude Lawrence.

"But would you like the Bee State?" I asked Mr. Laver, somberly attired in dark, tropical wool when I met him earlier this week.

"I shall hate it!" he exclaimed. "Even though men's clothing is fossilized and all democrats everywhere dress as if in mourning for the king they have just deposed, I shall HATE the Bee State."

Man backed himself into his present dreary, uncomfortable raiment (and, mind you, these are Mr. Laver's words, not mine, and if there is any eating to be done, his is the feast) when he ceased saying, "I am a MAN," and began boasting, "I am a gentleman." There was the beginning of the end of the marvelous plumage that Louis XIV, the Sun King, had made the universal goal of the well-dressed man in the 17th century.

Gentility was invented by Beau Brummel as a revolt against the aristocracy, says Mr. Laver.

"On the plateau of gentility all gentlemen are equal, including the king," he continued. "Brummel was probably the first man in the world to take a daily bath. He invented cleanliness as well as gentility. The aristocracy was filthy. We know from historic records that Louis XIV stank. He was bathed when he was born and again when he died, and in the 77-year interim between those two events, he at best occasionally splashed a little water on his face."

The only men who still dare proclaim themselves men rather than gentlemen are the "teddy boys" in England, our "zoot-suiters" and similar rowdies in other lands, according to Mr. Laver who flew to this country as a guest of the International Silk Association, to dissect feminine fashions before a large congress of fashion editors meeting in New York.

"A gentleman, as such, can't initiate anything new in clothing," said Mr. Laver and the voice of this Command of the Order of the British Empire was tinged with contempt for himself and his de-plumed fellows, be they men, mice or gentlemen.

But wait until we women put the bee on you boys!

The Gallup Poll Citizens Look At Anti-Americanism

PRINCETON, N. J.—If the reader of this newspaper could sit down and talk with some of the best-informed people in the country—college presidents, famous writers, top-flight journalists, leading industrialists and the like—about resentment of the U. S. abroad, what interpretation would he get of recent outbreaks?

As the latest chapter in a series of anti-Western manifestations is being written in Iraq, a poll of personalities listed in Who's Who in America reveals this analysis of the background to the outbreaks in South America, Africa and the Middle East.

1. There is a natural jealousy, these outstanding citizens feel, of any wealthy nation by the "have not" nations of the world. The United States happens to be a "have" nation at the moment.
2. In the case of the U. S., however, the Who's Who personalities believe that this latent resentment was heightened by an American foreign policy without direction and U. S. aims not clearly pointed out to the leaders and people in underdeveloped countries.
3. Adding to the foregoing is an attitude on the part of many Americans—both official and unofficial representatives—which many leading citizens term smug, arrogant and "know-it-all" when dealing with other peoples of the world.
4. Fanned by Communist-inspired propaganda, therefore, it was an easy matter for anti-Americanism to break out. The Communist talk of "colonialism" and "imperialism" fell on fertile soil and U. S. popularity around the world dropped accordingly.

What can be done to offset this Communist propaganda and better our position in the non-Communist world?

In brief, say the nation's opinion leaders, get a foreign policy that is adaptable to changing world situations, let the non-Communist world know what our basic aims are with vastly improved propaganda methods, and accompany this with a "more meaningful" form of foreign aid—chiefly economic rather than military aid which will help underdeveloped nations "get along on their own."

Many Who's Who people polled also cited a revision in our tariff and trade structure as one means of bettering our position. Others wanted, above all, to get away from our arrogant manner in dealing with other nations.

A California professor of economics and finance blamed anti-Americanism chiefly on our own foreign service.

"It's the superior-ability of our diplomats to say the wrong thing at the strategic moment," he said. "Also to our tendency to support aristocratic and dictatorial parties whose program is not popular with the common man in foreign countries."

A New York scientist saw the anti-Americanism as inevitable:

"It's because of envy for a wealthy country," he commented. "The privilege of the Soviet Union to constantly carp on any mistakes which America makes without recognizing its wise activities. The inevitable consequence of living in the fishbowl of democracy and freedom."

A Washington, D. C., lawmaker felt this way:

"It's our failure to pursue an imaginative policy, our appearance of supporting undemocratic regimes in Latin America and the Middle East, our failure to invest enough in the USA program to counter virulent Soviet propaganda."

As regards some of the suggestions advanced about what the U. S. could do to strengthen its position, here are typical comments:

"Program the services of the Ambassadors, their staffs and other U. S. representatives so that the position of the U. S. in connection with world problems will be made clear to the man-in-the-street." Pennsylvania engineer.

"Work through Point Four plan and exchange of persons to eliminate hunger, illiteracy, disease and ignorance." Wisconsin scientist.

"Quit bragging while siding and stimulating self-held capabilities." California educator.

"Get a new Secretary of State with a better foreign policy." New York physician.

Justice in the Family

THE FACTORS WHICH MAKE THE IDEAL HOME WHICH GOD APPROVES

Scripture—Leviticus 19:32; Proverbs 6:20-23; Mark 10:2-16; Ephesians 5:21-6:1; 1 Timothy 5:8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON on Justice in the Home could be studied and discussed profitably not only by small children, teenagers, college men and other adults, but by parents, for it has helpful suggestions for all of us on the ways to make our homes ideal places in which to live harmoniously as well as with our fellows outside the home.

The first reference in the scripture assigned us is Leviticus 19:32, where we read: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the Lord."

Many families have older people living with them. If you are one of these, do you see that the children treat them with love and consideration? When you are traveling on bus, train or in your own car, do you see to it that these older persons are made comfortable, seated and at ease? Do you train the children to rise and within the law. How and it is when children do not have this type of training in their homes, and often go astray.

The Pharisees came to Jesus, and to tempt Him they asked if it was lawful for a man to put away his wife. Moses allowed a man to divorce his wife, they said. Christ told them that "For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept."—Mark 10:2, 4, 5. "From the beginning of creation God made them male and female. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife. And they twain shall be one flesh. . . . What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."—Mark 10:6-9.

Divorce is a great problem today. How often children, lacking the guidance of one of their parents through separation, get into trouble with the law.

Once more we have the beautiful story of Christ and the little children. Mothers brought their

MEMORY VERSE

"Children, obey your parents in the Lord; for this is right."
—Ephesians 6:1.

when an older person enters a room where they are seated, to show that they honor them."

Recently I was riding on a crowded bus. Only one seat was available when a young mother, her small child and a grandmother boarded it. The tiny child was given the seat and the mother and grandmother stood upon them, and blast them.

"Children, obey your parents in the Lord; for this is right. Honor thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise, that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth. And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath; but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

In a home where love, justice and kindness abound, and God is worshipped, children seldom go wrong, and this is the ideal home through life which God ordained.

World Youth Aids Religious Projects

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

Eleanor Reeder of Fredericksburg, Ohio, is spending the summer in Hong Kong—but it's hardly a vacation.

She and Betty Wall of Tallulah, La., Robert Cunningham of Columbia, S. C., and Robert Blackstone of Hollywood, Calif., are helping to construct a playground and a family life center for refugees.

Halfway around the world, on the Greek island of Zakynthos, Alan Cervenk of Oak Park, Ill., Helen Bemis of San Bernardino, Calif., and Ruth Farnsworth of Warren, Mich., are digging trenches for water pipes.

The Americans are part of the World Council of Churches' work camp program which has a thousand young people of many nationalities scattered around the world in 40 camps in 25 countries.

The camps have a two-fold purpose.

They provide badly needed workers for such out-of-the-way construction projects as a country school in Yakin, Ankaratra, Madagascar, or a YMCA camp in Korea.

And, perhaps more important, they provide opportunities for youth of all nationalities and faiths to get together, something dear to the heart of the ecumenical-minded WCC.

The work camp program started in 1947 through the initiative of the Congressional Christian Service Committee (U. S. A.) and one of its secretaries, the Rev. Joseph Howell.

The first camp was held at the College Cevenol in Le-Chambon-sur-Lignon, France. The WCC moved in the following year and there were six camps. This year there are 40.

A total of 237 Americans are taking part in the 1958 program, with 132 serving abroad and the remainder in the United States on such projects as a chapel and youth center of American Indians.

The young workers are selected from volunteers who apply through their denominational boards or through the National Council of Churches. A joint committee of denominations makes the choice.

The projects on which they will work are nominated by national committees and approved by the WCC Work Camp Committee which meets in Geneva, Switzerland.

The workers pay their own fares to the camps and provide for their own maintenance. It costs them between $750 and $800 to work in Europe. Sponsoring groups provide housing.

Lloyd Resumes Talks; Signs Indicate Defeat For Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd resumed his momentous U.S. talks today amid increasing indications the West may have to learn to live with the new revolutionary regime in Iraq.

sources were quoted at Amman as saying Saudi Arabia had refused permission for U.S. tankers to fly over Saudi Arabia to Amman with Persian Gulf oil to ease Jordan's critical fuel shortage.

U.S. officials said they had no confirmation of this report. Privately, they expressed doubt that Saudi Arabia would object to oil overflights.

Lloyd, accompanied by a coterie of aids, arrived at the State Department promptly for a 10:30 a. m. session with Secretary Dulles. Earlier Dulles attended a Cabinet meeting at the White House, at which he reviewed the tense Middle East situation.

Lloyd extended his proposed stay in Washington into Saturday. British officials said Lloyd decided to meet with U.S. leaders again Saturday instead of returning to London tonight as tentatively planned.

Further, he said he was advised the resolution could not be carried in the U.N. General Assembly because it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote.

Lloyd was whisked across the Atlantic and into 7 1/2 hours of huddles with President Eisenhower and Dulles Thursday.

Outside of the diplomatic talks, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) proposed that a conference of neutral nations be called to try to solve the problems of the Middle East if the United Nations cannot do so.

Such a conference could be convened under the aegis of the U.N., he said, or, failing that, it could be called by the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia.

he charges had been aided by Nasser's U.A.R. REBELS VOW TO FIGHT The rebels have vowed to fight the landings, but they were courteous and cordial to two Marines who got lost and wandered into the sector of Beirut they held yesterday.

Sgt. Raymond M. Garren of Natick, Pa., and Pfc. James J. Ward, a Briton from Northern Ireland who joined the Marines in the United States last year, were stopped by pistol-waving rebels and questioned on and off for several hours. They said they were given cigarettes, soft drinks and friendly treatment before their release.

In London, Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative government won approval from Parliament for sending British troops to Jordan. The vote was along strict party lines, 314-251.

Macmillan said he acted to head off a plot against Jordan's King Hussein but admitted of course there are dangers. Aneurin Bevan, Labor party foreign affairs spokesman, told the House of Commons, "The government may have taken a long step toward plunging this country into war."

American support for the British move came during an hour-long meeting between President Eisenhower and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in Washington. They reported a "close identity of views."

Reaction among the Western Allies to the American-British moves was mixed. Diplomatic sources in Paris said West Germany, Italy, Greece, Denmark and Norway expressed uneasiness during a Council meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. No outright hostility arose, however, and all the NATO members were reported to have expressed understanding of the reasons behind the troop moves.

Soviet forces presumably were massing along the Turkish and Iranian borders for maneuvers were an annual occurrence and that this time the Soviets were trying to use them for propaganda effect.

The Turks, closest at hand to the Soviet troops, were not alarmed. "We think these maneuvers are normal. We want to see the normal," said Foreign Minister Fatih Rushtu Zorlu.

As was anticipated by court-house attaches, V. A. Gomez, under subpoena to come to the Howard County District Court Clerk's office on Thursday afternoon to make a deposition regarding his interest in a liquor store, failed to show up.

Lloyd Resumes Talks; Signs Indicate Defeat For Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd resumed his momentous U.S. talks today amid increasing indications the West may have to learn to live with the new revolutionary regime in Iraq.

sources were quoted at Amman as saying Saudi Arabia had refused permission for U.S. tankers to fly over Saudi Arabia to Amman with Persian Gulf oil to ease Jordan's critical fuel shortage.

Lloyd, accompanied by a coterie of aids, arrived at the State Department promptly for a 10:30 a. m. session with Secretary Dulles. Earlier Dulles attended a Cabinet meeting at the White House, at which he reviewed the tense Middle East situation.

Lloyd extended his proposed stay in Washington into Saturday. British officials said Lloyd decided to meet with U.S. leaders again Saturday instead of returning to London tonight as tentatively planned.

Lloyd was whisked across the Atlantic and into 7 1/2 hours of huddles with President Eisenhower and Dulles Thursday.

Outside of the diplomatic talks, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) proposed that a conference of neutral nations be called to try to solve the problems of the Middle East if the United Nations cannot do so.

Lloyd was whisked across the Atlantic and into 7 1/2 hours of huddles with President Eisenhower and Dulles Thursday.

Further, he said he was advised the resolution could not be carried in the U.N. General Assembly because it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote.

Midland Horse Is In Favorite Role At Ruidoso Track

RUIDOSO—Fourth annual running of the "Peter McQue Stakes" at Ruidoso Downs is set for Saturday. The horses will cover 400 yards.

The race is named to honor one of the original sires of the quarter-horse breed.

Promoters say that six of the fastest horses in the world will be running in the estimated $1,000 stakes. The early favorite is Double Bid, owned by Clarence Scharbauer Jr. of Midland.

Go Man Go, Pap, Vanevar, War Deck and Rocket Bar are the other entries.

Fiery Crash Fatal To 3

DUMAS, Tex. (AP)—A fiery truck-cab collision near Channing, north of here, claimed today the lives of three persons, believed to be from Lubbock.

The accident occurred three miles north of Channing, in Hartley County, at the intersection of State 51 and Farm to Market Road 722.

The dead were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKibben of Lubbock and their small child. The party was reported en route to Colorado.

The driver of the gravel truck, Joel Eugene Slagle, 16, of Dumas, was in a serious condition in a Dumas hospital.

E. Berlin Mobs Tear Down Flags

BERLIN (AP)—Communist-led mobs tore down American and British flags flying over the U.S. and British missions in Potsdam today in protest against Western actions in the Middle East.

Members of a mob of 2,500 East Germans wrote "Americans Go Home" on the U.S. flag, then hoisted it again, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

The mob, made up of workers released from factories, demanded that Americans in the mission come out and face them: ADN said the American officers refused to do so.

Another mob later showed up in front of the British mission and tore down the flag there, U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg said they received information the gate of the U.S. mission, guarded by East Germans, was "forced."

Wife Killed In Mistake Slaying

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A suburban Kettering man, mistaking his wife for a prowler, shot her fatally early today, police reported.

They said Ada Hayward, 58, died in Miami Valley Hospital at 5 a.m. about an hour and a half after being shot in the breezeway of her home.

Officers said the husband, Robert, 53, told them he was awakened by a noise in the breezeway. When he took a revolver and went to investigate, he saw a figure moving near a doorway, and fired.

When he turned on the lights, he told police, he saw it was his wife he had shot.

At Bedside

Mrs. Bill Hunter of Coahoma has been in Abilene most of this week at the bedside of her brother, Albert Johnston, Mr. Johnston has been seriously ill.

Further, he said he was advised the resolution could not be carried in the U.N. General Assembly because it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote.

Such a conference could be convened under the aegis of the U.N., he said, or, failing that, it could be called by the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia.

Further, he said he was advised the resolution could not be carried in the U.N. General Assembly because it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote.

County Tax Roll Expected To Show Gain Of $2.5 Million

Tax valuations for Howard County will be around $51.5 million for 1959—an increase of slightly more than $2.5 million over this year's figure.

This was the estimate offered to the Howard County Commissioners Court on Thursday by Delmer Smith, representative of Pritchard & Abbott, tax engineering firm, now engaged in a reappraisal of all property for tax purposes.

It was emphasized that this figure is purely a tentative estimate but that from the valuations established by the tax engineers, it should be correct.

Edith Gay To Assist In WTCC Project

Edith Gay, Chamber of Commerce secretary, will go to Abilene Saturday to help plan the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce short course for C-C managers, secretaries and presidents.

The short course usually is held in Big Spring, but time and place for the 1958 version have not been set. Representatives of several Chambers of Commerce in the WTCC area will meet to set up plans for the school.

More Candidates Report Expenses

Twenty-one local candidates had filed expense reports with the Howard County clerk at 10 a.m. Friday—last day on which such reports can be received. Several candidates have yet to file their reports.

One candidate had a report unique from all others—he had spent nothing for his campaign and, since he has no opposition, he will spend nothing for re-election to the office he now holds. He is Ralph Baker, county surveyor. Unlike other candidates, he was not assessed any part of the primary campaign election costs by the Democratic Committee.

Unlike the other candidates, too, Baker draws no salary from the county for his services. His pay comes from fees for services he renders. He has held the office of surveyor for many years.

Burdette Ignores Process Server

Frank Rinaldo, a process server, is ignored by Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette as he warms up before a game with the Giants in San Francisco. Rinaldo said it was a subpoena claiming "breach of contract" in the matter of a wooden Indian and a uniform. Sam Cohen, San Francisco restaurant owner, claims that during the Milwaukee series in the West Coast city in June, Burdette wagered his World Series uniform against a wooden Indian that the Braves would sweep the three games. Burdette said "I told him if I got the Indian he could have the sweat shirt and shoes I wore in the World Series. But we didn't win three, I didn't get the Indian and he doesn't get the shirt and shoes." A stadium policeman escorted Rinaldo from the field. (AP Wirephoto)

McLish Wins Fifth In Row

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

If it hadn't been for Herb Score's arm trouble, the Cleveland Indians might, as Manager Joe Gordon contends, be second in the American League race.

As is, if it weren't for a guy with the improbable name of Calvin Coolidge McLish, the Indians would be dead last.

They're seventh now, only two games ahead of Washington. They've won only 7 of their last 15, and McLish was the winning pitcher in 5. And they've won but 3 of their last 10, with McLish, a 32-year-old right-hander who traveled the National League for years, bagging all three.

He won his fifth in a row last night, beating Washington 8-3 with the home run help of Rocky Colavito and Minnie Minoso for an 8-5 record.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, clipped Detroit 4-2 and stayed 12 games ahead of the second-place Boston Red Sox, who beat Kansas City 6-2. Baltimore defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0 on Billy O'Dell's nine-hitter.

In the National League, Milwaukee rallied for an 8-7 victory at St. Louis. Second-place San Francisco came up with yet another ninth-inning spurt to beat Philadelphia 8-7. Cincinnati defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Los Angeles whipped Pittsburgh 5-3.

The Senators clipped McLish for eight hits, one Roy Sievers' two-run 24th homer that tied it 3-3 in the fifth. But Minoso then belted his 13th home run with a man on in the seventh off loser Camille Pascual, now 5-3.

Colavito drove-in four runs with a pair of homers.

Hank Bauer's two-run triple capped a three-run sixth that bagged it for the Yankees. Art Ditmar (5-1) was the winner with Ryne Duren's relief. Billy Hoelt (7-9) lost it, failing to hold a 2-1 edge after Frank Bolling's eighth homer for the Tigers.

The Red Sox won their fourth in a row with a five-run fifth that swept the three-game set from the A's. Frank Malzone's two-run single topped the big fifth as Tom Gorman (2-4) lost his third to the Sox. Tom Brewer won his fourth.

O'Dell, the young lefty who saved the AL's All-Star victory in relief, didn't walk a man and gave up nothing but singles while out-dueling Billy Pierce (9-6). Brooks Robinson hit a solo homer for the Birds, who counted the other two on a passed ball and Bob Boyd's sacrifice fly.

Tebbetts Thinks Redlegs About Due 'A Hot Hand'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts, who was hanged in effigy Wednesday, returned home with his Redlegs today still talking about "those upstart Cubs."

Cincinnati had lost seven straight games on a road trip before Thursday's 3-2 triumph over the third place Cubs.

Tebbetts says the Cubs must be regarded as a definite threat for the National League pennant.

"Anytime you are in third place at this stage of the season," the Redleg skipper observed, "you have to be regarded as a threat. These Cubs fight you and they don't give up."

Now that his Redlegs are at home for their next eight games, does the boss see a brighter future for his club?

"Funny things about this team of ours. We are the only one in the league that hasn't had a hot hand thus far. Check back and you'll see everybody has had one or two good spurts, but we just go along at about the same gait.

"We've never been better than two games over .500 or seven under that figure. Right now we aren't hitting, but our pitching and defense has been outstanding. Once we get hitting we too have to have a hot hand, because this is a solid team. Somebody is going to hear from us, and I hope real soon. Right now in fact."

Hit Carnival Expected In All-Star Tilt

FORT WORTH (AP)—A cascade of hits is anticipated tonight when power meets power in the Texas League All-Star game that matches Fort Worth against the other seven clubs.

The Cats, leading the league by nine games and hosts because of it, hope to quell the might of the all-star bats with young Dick Ellsworth, a rookie southpaw.

Ellsworth has hurled only one inning of Texas League ball and isn't known by the all-stars.

The all-stars, piloted by Peanuts Lowrey of Austin, may find him out in a hurry. There are six .300 hitters in the lineup Lowrey will throw at the Cats. They are catcher Ray Murray of Corpus Christi, hitting .358; first baseman Marv Williams of Tulsa, clouting .347; right fielder Mike Lutz of Corpus Christi, the league's top home run hitter with 29, who is batting .316; Don Miles of Victoria, center fielder, hitting .328; Carlos Castillo of San Antonio, the second baseman hitting .305; and Dick Sinovic of Austin, the left fielder, who is hitting .317.

Lowrey also has plenty of pitching talent, feature 13-game winner Frank Funk, the Corpus Christi relief hurler, and will start Harvey Cohen, San Antonio righthander, who has a 10-2 record. The Austin skipper reasoned Cohen ought to be the best bet since he's beaten Fort Worth four times this season.

Fort Worth boasts three .300 hitters and two others that are just on the border. Bill Gabler, the first baseman, for instance, is hitting .299. Moe Thacker, the catcher, is doing .296. The charmed circle slugger is Bob Will, right fielder, who is hitting .370; Chick King, center fielder, who is doing .306, and Joe Macko, the third baseman, who is hitting an even .300.

The Texas League club owners are meeting in connection with the all-star game.

33 Texas Colleges To Field Football Teams In September

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Writer

Texas isn't as big as Alaska and it also doesn't have as much college football as two other states. This isn't said in a deflationary way but introduces the subject at hand—just how much college football will the state have come fall.

In Texas there will be 33 colleges playing the game. That's 18 fewer than the state of Pennsylvania and two under Ohio.

There has been no decrease in college football as compared to last year. Texas colleges are in five conferences—the Southwest, Border, Lone Star, Missouri Valley and Southwestern (Negro).

Here will be the line up next fall:

Southwest Conference — Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas Tech is in the Southwest Conference but won't compete for the championship until 1960.

Border Conference—West Texas State, Hardin - Simmons, Texas Western.

Missouri Valley Conference—University of Houston, North Texas State.

Lone Star Conference — Sam Houston State, Texas A&I, Southwest Texas State, Howard Payne, Lamar Tech, East Texas State, Sul Ross, Stephen F. Austin.

Southwestern Conference — Willey, Texas Southern, Prairie View, Texas College.

There are nine independents—Texas Lutheran, Austin College, Trinity, Corpus Christi, Abilene Christian, McMurry, Bishop, Jarvis, Paul Quinn.

The college football schedule will be launched Sept. 13 but there will be only a smattering of games. Virtually all of them hit the trail Sept. 20.

This year there'll be an instance of a white college playing a Negro college. That comes Oct. 25 when Corpus Christi engages Texas Southern at Houston.

There has been a reshuffling of the junior colleges but 15 will start the campaign next fall—the same as last year.

Kilgore and Tyler of the Longhorn Conference have joined Paris and Texarkana of the Texas Conference to form a new league, called the Texas Eastern.

That leaves Navarro, Blinn, Cisco, Henderson County and Ranger in the Texas Conference. Ranger left the Pioneer Conference.

Del Mar of Corpus Christi, Victoria and Wharton of the Longhorn have entered the Pioneer Conference with Arlington State, Tarleton State, San Angelo and the Cameron Aggies of Oklahoma.

Thus the junior college line up for fall will be:

Pioneer Conference—Arlington State, San Angelo Del Mar, Victoria, Wharton.

Texas Eastern Conference—Kilgore, Tyler, Paris, Texarkana.

Texas Conference — Navarro, Blinn, Cisco, Henderson County, Ranger.

Junior college football is one of Texas' most important sports. The national champion has come from this state two years in a row—Arlington State in 1956 and Texarkana in 1957. Arlington State twice won the Junior Rose Bowl.

Texas won't have as many colleges playing football as two other states but they'll be just as loud.

Senators To Hear Feller, Robinson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former diamond greats testify today before Senate sports investigators.

Bob Feller, the ex-Cleveland Indian whose fast ball had few equals, and Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers' star infielder when the Burns were still in Brooklyn, take the witness stand as hearings resume on legislation to exempt professional team sports from antitrust laws.

The Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee invited them to express their views on a House-passed bill to rid pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey of fears they may be violating antitrust laws.

Probable entries are The Shoe, Hillsdale, Sally Lee, Brief Interlude, El Cajon, Furor Scribendi, Hit The Trail, Orbital, Rise 'N Shine and Strong Bay.

The mile and one-quarter allowance race is expected to draw more than 50,000 fans.

Hollywood 'Derby' Slated Saturday

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Hollywood Park states its version of the derby, the $100,000-added Westerner for the 3-year-old set Saturday, and a field of 10 seems likely to start.

Probable entries are The Shoe, Hillsdale, Sally Lee, Brief Interlude, El Cajon, Furor Scribendi, Hit The Trail, Orbital, Rise 'N Shine and Strong Bay.

Stan Williams Now Dodgers' Leading Hurler

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stan Williams is a big rookie right-hander built roughly along the lines of L'il Abner. Last spring his pitching was about as polished as Abner's grammar.

Figuring they had nothing to lose, the Los Angeles Dodgers called Williams up from St. Paul last month. Now it appears that if they ever get out of the National League cellar this boy with the blacksmith's arms is likely to be one of those who boosts them.

Williams, a 6-foot-4 200-pounder, has pitched two complete-game shutouts, come close to pitching a third, and has won six times altogether since his recall. None of the three games he has lost has been a rout and his earned-run average is right around 3.00, best on the team.

"I sure didn't think he'd help us last spring," Manager Walt Alton admitted Thursday night after Williams picked up his sixth victory as the Dodgers beat Pittsburgh 5-3. "I was disappointed with him then, to be frank with you, I thought he'd gone backwards, if anywhere."

But Joe Becker (the Dodger pitching coach) did a lot of work with the boy and should get credit for it. He taught him that no-windup style and helped him a lot with his curve. Of course, Williams has done a lot to improve himself.

Williams, who led the American Assn. in both walks (148) and strikeouts (223) last year, said he tried the no-windup style in a few games during the 1957 season because he figured it might help his control.

Finsterwald Shoots 67, Takes Lead In PGA Meet

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, never known as a pugnacious young man or as an aggressive golfer, is acting as if he's ready to take on the entire Hebert family in a PGA return match. It could turn out to be a lively tussle—but Dow has to give away a lot of weight.

Finsterwald was runner-up last year in the final match play PGA championship. He took a 3 and 2 defeat from Lionel Hebert, a long-hitting 200-pounder, in the final match. And the happiest man in the place when Linsy came through in a major championship was his older and more famous brother Jay.

Finsterwald didn't exactly have revenge in mind yesterday when he beat out both Lionel and Jay Hebert for the lead in the opening round of the first medal play PGA championship. But it must have given him a rather pleasant feeling.

All Dow would say after yesterday's round was: "It's nice to lead but they don't pay off until Sunday."

Behind Finsterwald's 67 and Jay Hebert's 68 over the par-70 Llanerch course were the 69s posted by Lionel Hebert, 1957 Open champion Dick Mayer, Jimmy Demaret, Ted Kroll and Felice Torza, the little guy from Aurora, Ill., who was runner-up in his first PGA championship five years ago.

At 70 were Jackie Burke, the 1956 PGA winner, and Bob Crowley, Massachusetts Open champion from Weston.

Some of the other contenders included Cary Middlecott, two-time Open champion; Bob Rossburg; Art Wall; and Don Whitt at 71.

Tommy Bolt, the chastened U.S. Open champion, was another stroke back at 72, along with former Open champ Julius Boros, former PGA champ Doug Ford, and Ken Venturi.

Sammy Sneed, a three-time winner of this title at match play came in at 73 and hardly could be counted out.

Miller also said that applications are still being received for both the head coaching and assistant's position, and that all applications would be given full consideration.

The coaching positions were vacated by Dub Behrens and G. W. Walker about two weeks ago. Behrens decided to get out of the coaching game for a while, and Walker is going to Mason as junior high coach.

'Personal Matter'

Tommy Bolt, the temperamental National Open golf champion, says his reported remarks to tournament officials — prompting the Professional Golfers Assn. to consider suspending him — are "strictly a personal matter."

Cosden Loses To Midland Team, 3-1

MIDLAND (SC) — A&J Electric dropped Cosden of Big Spring here Thursday night, 3-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Brooks, in the Midland Softball League.

Texas LL Team Whips National By 17-6 Score

The Texas Little League (Minor) All-Stars 50 after the city championship tonight when they meet the American LL minor All-Stars. The Texas passed their first hurdle Thursday night by blasting the Nationals 17-6.

The game tonight will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the American park at HJC.

Little Ray Navarete allowed the Nationals only six hits in marking up the victory for the Texans. He helped his own cause by rapping out one hit and scoring one of the 17 tallies.

Humphrie Clanton pitched five innings for the National All-Stars and was charged with the loss. During his five innings on the mound, he allowed 15 runs and 10 hits.

Tony Saracho paced the Texan attack with three hits in as many times at bat and scored three times. Sam Evans blasted out two hits, including a home run in the last inning.

Tony Cunningham led the Nationals at the plate with two singles in two trips to the plate. He also scored once.

James Bailey led off the first inning for the Texans by drawing a base on balls, and before the Nationals could retire the side, five runs had crossed the plate. Another run was added in the second and five more in the third.

The Nationals countered five tallies in the second frame with the aid of only two hits, both singles. Three walks and two errors contributed to the rally, however. Get agate

Giants Revive Old Habit Of Winning Game In Last Inning

The names are different and some of the finesses may be lacking, but San Francisco has revived those late-inning thrillers that were such a big hit for the Giants in '51 and '54, their last pennant years.

The Giants, hanging in there, half a game behind Milwaukee in the National League race, have won 16 games in the last inning. That's a third of their 47 victories.

On their current home stand, they've won 9 of 12, winning 6 by one run and 5 of those with ninth-inning rallies.

They beat Philadelphia 8-7 with three in the ninth yesterday. Two came in on Orlando Cepeda's double, but the clincher came home on a bases-loaded wild pitch.

Milwaukee stayed a wink ahead of the Giants by giving the skidding St. Louis Cardinals another shove, 8-7. Cincinnati side-tracked the third-place Chicago Cubs 3-2. Los Angeles hammered Pittsburgh 5-3.

In the American League, the New York Yankees stayed 12 games ahead with a 4-2 decision over Detroit. Second-place Boston beat Kansas City 6-2. Baltimore defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0 on Billy O'Dell's nine-hitter

Coahoma Still Seeking Coach

COAHOMA (SC)—Another meeting of the School Board was held here Thursday night, but the board didn't hire a coach.

Applications are still welcomed too.

This morning, H. L. Miller, superintendent of Coahoma schools, said one applicant was interviewed by the board Thursday night, but he wasn't hired. Miller indicated that another meeting would be held in the next few days and that another applicant would be interviewed at that time.

Miller also said that applications are still being received for both the head coaching and assistant's position, and that all applications would be given full consideration.

The coaching positions were vacated by Dub Behrens and G. W. Walker about two weeks ago. Behrens decided to get out of the coaching game for a while, and Walker is going to Mason as junior high coach.

Ex-Wrestler Dies

BALTIMORE (AP) — August J. Schoenlein, sometime light-heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, died Thursday at his country home in Bowleys Quarters near here. He was 74.

Schoenlein, a retired contractor, fought under the name Americus. He defeated Charley Olsen to win the light-heavyweight crown in 1910 and successfully defended his title several times.

Legion Post Starts Drive For New Baseball Uniforms

A fund raising drive to secure new uniforms for the American Legion baseball team was begun at the Legion meeting Thursday night.

Jack Pearson, sponsoring committee chairman, told members of the need to replace the old uniforms before the team begins Division playoffs.

The Big Spring team which lost only one game in regular season's play advanced to Division II championship when the El Paso team forfeited the playoff games scheduled. Next competition will be with the winner of the Lubbock-Amarillo series now being played.

Pearson explained that the old uniforms were in many instances badly worn and the sizes not correct for the boys. A better appearance of the team is also desired, Pearson said, as his boys go into the higher brackets of the playoff.

Contributions from members of the Legion and friends are being solicited by Pearson and the baseball committee.

W. Coast Brush Fire Controlled

SEATTLE (AP)—A 2,000-acre woodland fire burning on the east slope of the Cascade Mountains in Washington was controlled last night and the parched Pacific Northwest got the promise today of some relief from a prolonged heat wave.

The fire brought to heel was one of a score burning on grasslands, brushlands and woodlands in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

The blaze, finally halted by 100 fire fighters, was burning 90 miles southwest of Seattle.

The Weather Bureau forecast a cooling trend throughout the three-state area today.

100 Drown

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—About 100 persons were believed drowned when a launch capsized in a squall on the Rupnarayan River yesterday. The district magistrate in the area 40 miles from Calcutta said only 100 of the 200 passengers were rescued.

Swift, Silent Baghdad Coup Took Place In Early Hours

By WARREN ROGER JR. WASHINGTON (AP)—It took seven hours last Monday for the Baghdad rebels to seize and secure power over Iraq. And then, for the rest of the day, the mobs took over.

That was the picture of the Middle East's fateful July 14, as shown in a chronology based on the best available publishable information here. Officials informed on the situation assembled the pieces, some admittedly sketchy, this way:

Baghdad was sleeping. It was 5 a.m. and the first faint rays of another sun were just beginning to appear. Swiftly and silently, Brig. Gen. Abdel Karim el-Kassem led his 20th Brigade into the unsuspecting city.

Whispered orders. Detachments dropped off at the railroad, at the bridges, at the telegraph office, at main street junctures, at the post office, at Baghdad radio. Quietly, efficiently, the troops took over without firing their rifles and machine guns.

More whispered orders. This time, names of those to be arrested. Other detachments going around to the specified addresses, knocking and arresting, with orders to shoot if resisted.

In an hour the secrecy, locked in the hearts of fewer than two dozen men for two months, was no longer necessary. It was 6 a.m. The first phase of a classic coup was over. Baghdad radio blared the city awake with the news:

"Citizens of Baghdad, the monarchy is dead, the republic is here!"

And then, the names of 15 men, mostly young army officers. The 12-man Cabinet, headed by Kassem as premier, and the three-man Sovereignty Council, the new strategy-making supercabinet, topped by Lt. Gen. Najib el-Rubai.

A detachment, led by two officers, went to the royal palace. By now, a mob was gathering, mystified, curious, excited. With the mob trailing, the soldiers forced their way into the palace.

They were brought up short by the sight of their young king. The 23-year-old Faisal, a pistol strapped to his side, stood beside his 46-year-old uncle Abdul Ilah, crown prince and ex-regent. With them, rifles drawn, were two members of the palace guard. They were ordered to surrender. Abdul Ilah, also armed, was disdainful. He and Faisal had arisen early to fly to Ankara, Turkey, for a Baghdad Pact meeting.

Faisal ordered his guards to shoot. The soldiers fired first and the guards fell dead. Abdul Ilah was killed under the old regime. About 8 p.m. a mob laid siege to the new Baghdad Hotel, to root out royalists there. Two Americans were killed, probably because they just happened to get in the way.

The King was dead. But the prince might have been still alive. The mob surged forward, kept a respectful distance from the King but seized the prince.

Abdul Ilah, a meticulous man who liked pink shirts with gray pinstriped suits and hated crowds, was dragged through the streets of Baghdad behind a jeep. His body was hung on a building so all could see he was dead. The King's body was exhibited later, probably on a marble slab.

But the big prize "got away. Premier Nuri Said, "the Old Fox," caught wind of the coup and fled to the suburbs. Angered, the military junta slapped a $28,000 price on his head. It was not until two days later that he was found, disguised as an old woman with a black scarf covering his face. He shot it out and fell dead. His body, too, was hung in display.

Nuri's reported lament to President Eisenhower in Washington last fall comes back now with prophetic irony. "I am a strong man," he told Eisenhower, "but I am 70 years old and there is no one to succeed me."

It was 8 a.m. Baghdad radio was pumping out news of the coup. Mobs demonstrated outside public buildings, the U.S. Embassy, the U.S. Information Library, the British Embassy. More army units were reported pledging support of the rebels — on the plains, in the mountains, outside Baghdad.

A fire broke out at the British Embassy. A British colonel was killed or maimed. The rebels blamed the fire on the British. They said the British were trying to burn secret documents and the fire got out of hand.

By noon, things had simmered down. Soldiers were everywhere and Baghdad radio was still rolling out the word, with appeals for public cooperation. All of Nuri's Cabinet were either dead, in jail or hiding out. There was no organized resistance. The coup had succeeded, after weeks of secret hatching outside Iraq — reportedly in Jidda and Mecca, Saudi Arabia, and Bern, Switzerland.

The mobs, possibly joined now by Communist agitators, spent the afternoon venting their spleen against real or imagined ills suffered under the old regime. About 8 p.m. a mob laid siege to the new Baghdad Hotel, to root out royalists there. Two Americans were killed, probably because they just happened to get in the way.

House Probers See No Need For Quizzing Adams Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators, finished with questioning of Bernard Goldfine, indicated today they see no need to recall Sherman Adams to the witness stand.

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.), a senior Democrat on the special subcommittee, said he didn't think Adams should be summoned back unless a study of his testimony shows major conflict with Goldfine's. He said the conflicts at this point appear to be minor.

Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) ventured no predictions but indicated the group will stay in recess for a week or more before calling the next session of witnesses. These are expected to be officials of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC is one of the federal agencies with which Goldfine, millionaire Boston textile manufacturer, had trouble and from which his friend Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 assistant, sought information.

Goldfine was finally dismissed Thursday after he denied again that he got favored federal treatment through his friendship with Adams.

The session was punctuated by repeated partisan bickering and a renewed complaint by Goldfine the subcommittee was out to smear him.

Rep. Charles A. Wolverton (R-N.J.) contending the subcommittee should prove its nonpartisanship by quizzing John R. Steelman, who held Adams' job under President Truman.

Goldfine testified he went to the White House more often when Steelman was there than since Adams came in with Eisenhower in 1953. Goldfine said he contacted Steelman while seeking a 12½-million-dollar loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. It fell through. Steelman told a newsman his contacts with Goldfine were above board and occurred in Steelman's role as head of the National Securities Resources Board.

Harris showed a notable coolness to the idea, meanwhile defending the inquiry as nonpolitical.

Kirbys Conclude Tour Of Europe

Capt. and Mrs. Elwin G. Kirby, formerly of Big Spring and now stationed with the Air Force at Morayshire, Scotland, recently ended a month's tour of Europe.

After spending several days at the world's fair in Brussels, Belgium, they and their children, Alan, 14, and Loretta, 4, visited friends in Holland, Germany, France, England and Scotland.

Mrs. Kirby is the former Martha Cochran of Big Spring, and Kirby formerly was associated with the Hamilton Flying Service here. They were transferred to Morayshire last year on the USAF-RAF exchange program, from Tyndall AFB, Fla.

Daniel Ignores Racist Charge

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Daniel said yesterday he would not dignify a charge that he was "an anti-Christian segregationist" by replying to a New York Negro congressman making the statement.

U.S. Rep. Adam Powell sent a telegram to Evangelist Billy Graham asking that Graham cancel an invitation to Daniel for the governor to introduce the evangelist at a San Antonio revival July 25.

In a release from the governor's office, Daniel said he regretted the protest "but I have been advised that it will not in any manner affect the invitation extended and it most certainly will not affect my acceptance."

He said he had accepted the invitation "as governor, friend and interested layman and asked that no advance publicity be given to my participation so as to prevent anyone from injecting false political implications into a religious meeting."

The revival date falls the night before the Democratic primary. After considering the source of the protest, Daniel said "I will not dignify it with any reply except to say that Adam Clayton Powell is one of the last persons who has any right to pass judgment upon the conduct or sincerity of other people." He did not elaborate.

3 Men Lost In Jet Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three men were lost in the Atlantic yesterday when an Air Force jet bomber crashed into the ocean off the Azores.

The Defense Department said the craft, an RB66 medium range reconnaissance plane, was en route from Shaw Air Force Base, S. C., to a European base.

Missing in the crash were: Capt. Clyde B. Trent Jr., 34, the pilot, son of Clyde Trent, Old Hill, N. C. Trent was married and the father of three children.

First Lt. Roth O. Owen, 27, the navigator, son of James R. Owen, Fair Oak, Calif. Owen was married but had no children.

A.I.C. Julius J. Rausch, 23, the gunner, son of Antone Rausch, Dazey, N. D. Rausch was unmarried.

All were stationed at Shaw. A Norwegian ship, which spotted the crash, sent out two lifeboats to search the area. They found only a lifejacket.

Four aircraft from Lajes Field in the Azores joined in the search.

Jap Students Get Letter From Faisal

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—A group of Japanese students of Arabic today reported a letter from King Faisal II, welcoming them to Iraq was received here the day Faisal reportedly was killed in the Baghdad revolt.

The letter read in part: "Thank you for your letter. I am very happy that there is growing interest in Japan about Arab countries. Please visit our country. We will welcome you."

Four students and a lecturer at Osaka Foreign Language College had written the young king that they plan a three-month study tour of Arab countries next winter. They said they still would make the trip unless a major conflict breaks out in the Middle East.

Reds Await Ike's Brother

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The strongest Communist agitation so far awaited Dr. Milton Eisenhower today in Costa Rica on the third stop of his Central American fact-finding tour, but the Communists pledged no violence.

Manuel Mora Valverde, head of the outlawed Communist party of Costa Rica, planned a radio speech tonight on Eisenhower's visit but disclaimed any intention to stage hostile demonstrations.

On his earlier stops in Panama and Honduras the special envoy met with verbal attacks on U.S. policies but nothing like the violence that greeted Vice President Nixon in Peru and Venezuela last May. Observers thought the Communists might be avoiding hostile demonstrations because the attacks on Nixon were widely denounced in Latin America.

The Costa Rican Women's Alliance, which anti-Communists call a Red front, issued leaflets addressed to North American women denouncing what were described as conditions in the United States. The leaflets said the FBI would throw out of U.S. schools any teacher who "explained the history of the Panama Canal, the life of the Guatemalan people and our own fight to recover our national riches."

Singing Convention Scheduled Sunday
