Cancer Takes Noted Ace, Gen. Chennault

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lt. Gen. Claire Chennault, the Louisiana farm boy who became commander of the famed Flying Tigers of World War II, is dead. He was 67. A massive arterial hemorrhage ended the ailing general's fight with lung cancer yesterday at Ochsner Foundation Hospital. His wife, Chinese-born Anna Chan Chennault, was at his side at the end.

GEN. CLAIRE CHENNAULT

Death came nine days after President Eisenhower signed an emergency bill giving Chennault his third star. The body lies in state here today with a service scheduled this evening. Tomorrow, a military plane will fly the body to Washington where it will lie in state until burial the next day in Arlington National Cemetery.

Chennault's old comrade of the Chinese war against Japan, Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, said she was shocked to hear of the general's death. Mme. Chiang, who made a special trip here July 11 for a dramatic reunion, said in Washington: "He was a great friend of the Chinese people and the cause we stand for."

The Japanese had enough respect for him to name him their No. 1 "war criminal," one ahead of President Roosevelt. A deaf ear and his outspoken support of Gen. Billy Mitchell forced the then Capt. Chennault to retire from the Army Air Corps in April 1937.

The next month he was in China at the request of Mme. Chiang to inspect the Chinese air force. He stayed on to instruct pilots and opened in Lancaster House with one member missing—Iraq. Dules' statement was made during a survey of the Middle East scene, in the course of which he set forth the significance of the American military landings in Lebanon. The significance of those landings, Dules declared, went far beyond the immediate situation in Lebanon.

He said events in Lebanon had to be related with developments inside Iraq and a conspiracy inside Jordan against the life of King Hussein.

Dules' remarks were relayed to reporters in a briefing after the morning session. Dules declared there was no doubt that the Lebanese civil war had been fomented from outside. The United States has not publicly revealed all the evidence, he added, because it wants to protect sources of information.

He said the pattern of conspiracy which shaped up after the Lebanese, Jordanian and Iraqi crisis posed several questions: 1. Whether the United States would be loyal to a friend in need; 2. Whether it would be loyal to a general war; 3. Whether the United Nations would be capable of quick, effective action; and 4. Whether President Nasser of the United Arab Republic would be allowed to carry through his ambitions without check.

Dules' remarks were relayed to reporters in a briefing after the morning session. Prime Minister Macmillan opened the session with a declaration that the pact's four remaining members intend to maintain the aims of the alliance.

The British leader told the conference: "We intend to maintain the aims of our alliance and to consider how to do this in the light of the present situation. Our purpose is to reaffirm the

Cool Front Brings Rain To West Texas

By The Associated Press

A cool front moving into Texas brought soaking rains in West Texas and a rash of tornadoes in the Panhandle Sunday. The tornadoes did no damage though one man received minor injuries when caught in a wind and hailstorm near Pampa.

The showers continued Monday morning. The U.S. Weather Bureau reported the front was slowing down and was not expected to reach deep into the state.

Rains up to three inches fell in the ranching area in the Big Bend Country, Highway 118, leading into the west entrance of the Big Bend National Park, was closed for three hours Sunday when Moss Creek became too deep for fording.

A heavy hailstorm that brought .85 inches of moisture inflicted heavy damage to crops around Muleshoe. A heavy windstorm that whipped up dust and brought a light rain fell at Electra.

At least eight tornado funnels were reported in the Pampa and Borger areas. One dipped to the ground in open country and another dipped within 200 feet of the city of Borger.

Lubbock and Wichita Falls reported showers early Monday while fog cut visibility at Amarillo to a quarter of a mile.

Rainfall totals for the 6-hour period ending at midnight included Lubbock .99 inches, Alpine .43, Midland .03, Childress .09, Wichita Falls .02, and traces at Amarillo and Wink.

Skies were generally clear in the southern part of the state and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere. Early morning temperature readings ranged from 63 degrees at Dalhart to 84 at Galveston.

Maximum readings Sunday afternoon ran from 81 at Dalhart to 107 at Presidio.

The forecast called for partly cloudy weather with scattered thundershowers Monday and Tuesday with no major changes in temperatures.

Rainfall measurements elsewhere for the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. Monday included Alpine 1.80, Lubbock 1.46, Paducah 1.37, Lipscomb 1.12, Post 1.10, Canadian .88, Presidio .67, Electra .37, Wichita Falls .36, Midland .37, Childress .19, Van Horn .14, Amarillo .13 and Big Spring .12.

In the Electra area there was a succession of blowing dust late Sunday, an overnight electrical storm with high wind overnight, a gentle shower and sunshine Monday morning.

High water blocked West Texas highways Monday from Seminole to Seagraves and Denver City. The Seminole-Hobbs, N.M., highway was reopened after being closed for about three hours.

YOU'RE NOT CRAZY IF YOU SEE A COPTER ON A LEASH

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you see a man with a helicopter on a leash don't question your sanity. The Defense Department announced Sunday night the development of a tether or leash which enables a man on the ground to lead a hovering helicopter around as if it were a kite.

The purpose is to permit precise hovering operations where the helicopter pilot can't see the ground directly below.

The Sikorsky Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. developed the 50-foot-long tether device for such purposes as enabling helicopters to place utility poles in pre-dug holes or to land in restricted or congested spots such as heli-platforms or ships at sea.

Runoff Election Ballot Is Slim

The biggest task facing the four candidates in Howard County's runoff election Aug. 23 probably will lie in getting voters to the polls.

One of the slimmest ballots in local Democratic primary history will be laid before the voters in the runoff.

There is only one contested state race left, and to go with it on the local level will be two county commissioner contests, in Precincts 2 and 4.

Ralph White of Coahoma, who led first primary candidates Saturday, and Sam McCorm of Big Spring are the two contestants in the Precinct 2 runoff.

Jim Bill Little of Big Spring, Saturday's leader in his race, and L. J. Davidson of Center Point are the runoff candidates in Precinct 4 according to unofficial election returns.

Second primary ballots in the two commissioner precincts will list their respective commissioner candidates along with the names of Robert Hamilton and Edwin Smith, the runoff candidates in the

City Sets New Water Record

Big Spring racked up a new record for water consumption Friday, topping a mark set in July of last year.

The city guzzled 9,735,000 gallons Friday to break the old one-day consumption record of 9,499,000 gallons set on July 2, 1957. Big Spring warmed up for the new record by consuming 9,124,000 gallons on Thursday.

Consumption fell Saturday and Sunday however, to 8,469,000 and 6,297,000 gallons, respectively. Total for the month through Sunday is 291,945,000 gallons.

The record set last year was the only day of that summer when consumption topped the nine-million mark, but the record Friday came on the fifth time of this summer when the usage went over nine million.

The previous high for this year was 9,422,000 gallons.

Clouds Tease Big Spring

The heavy clouds which rolled up Sunday played favorites over Big Spring.

Accompanied by lightning and rumble of thunder, the clouds rolled in posing the best prospects of rain in some time, but the rains which followed were spotty.

The U. S. Experiment Station on the north edge of town gathered only .03 inch of moisture while the weather station at Webb AFB measured .12. Various amounts between these two figures were noted over the city.

Lamesa got a good shower, with measurements ranging from 1.1-1.3 in the county. The western part of the county, from Union westward, didn't have any rainfall.

The forecast at noon was a continuation of partly cloudy skies and the possibility of scattered showers for Monday afternoon and Tuesday.

Fire Damages Mattress Plant

LAMESA—Fire badly damaged the Southwestern Mattress Co. building here shortly before noon today.

The fire broke out in the downtown building in the felted machine—an apparatus used in processing cotton. Every piece of firefighting equipment in town was called to the blaze.

Kenneth Copeland, manager of the plant, was out of town, so amount of damage to the structure, and equipment couldn't be estimated.

About 10 p.m., Hernandez was driving a 1947 Chevrolet which ran between two poles at 1005 Lamesa. The accident caused considerable damage to the car and also damaged a mercury vapor street light as well as breaking a conductor.

Hernandez and Porras were then rushed to the VA Hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance and Deanda was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital but he wasn't admitted.

Dulles Tells Baghdad Pact U.S. Will 'Risk' Support

LONDON (AP)—John Foster Dulles assured the Baghdad pact nations today the United States would act, even at great risk, to safeguard their independence and integrity against any threats.

The American secretary of state, in the role of observer, was addressing the fifth session of the Baghdad pact council which opened in Lancaster House with one member missing—Iraq. Dules' statement was made during a survey of the Middle East scene, in the course of which he set forth the significance of the American military landings in Lebanon.

The significance of those landings, Dules declared, went far beyond the immediate situation in Lebanon.

He said events in Lebanon had to be related with developments inside Iraq and a conspiracy inside Jordan against the life of King Hussein.

Dules' remarks were relayed to reporters in a briefing after the morning session. Dules declared there was no doubt that the Lebanese civil war had been fomented from outside. Midland JC's Aid Candidates

MIDLAND (AP)—Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce members manned the Democratic primary polls on a voluntary basis Saturday and in addition to doing the job faster than it had ever been done before, saved money for the candidates.

County Democratic chairman, who termed the job "the smoothest we've ever had" said that candidates who first were slated to pay a $600 filing fee paid a maximum of $175. He estimated candidates would receive a rebate of about one-third of their fees.

The Jaycees offered to furnish election workers to both the Democrats and Republicans. The GOP, which had no local candidates, did not use the volunteers.

Jim Allison Jr., president of the Midland Jaycees, said the plan was evolved by the Jaycees, regardless of his financial standing, can seek public office.

"This idea can and should improve our basic democratic system of government. Election filing fees in larger Texas cities run as high as $5,000 and $6,000. No man, unless he is wealthy, can run for election without the support of some political machine or other factional groups with filing fees so high," he said.

Midland members say they will seek to get Texas Jaycees to adopt the plan as a state-wide project and hope it will spread nationally.

Ear Is Casualty In Chemise Battle

BALTIMORE (AP)—Anne Campbell walked down the street wearing a new chemise dress.

Mary Tunnell, sitting on the front steps of her rowhouse home, hummed a new song called "No Chemise, Please" and the battle was on. In the struggle, Miss Campbell bit off a large portion of Miss Tunnell's right ear.

Cosden, Cabot Object To Taxable Valuation Formula

Cosden Petroleum Corp. and Cabot Carbon disagree with the formula employed by Pritchard & Abbott, tax engineers, in setting valuation on their plants for tax purposes, the Howard County Commissioners Court was advised on Monday morning.

The two companies feel that the changed method in setting fair market value on their properties is not in accord with the true conditions that prevail and prefer the use of the older formula which has been employed for tax purposes for six years.

The matter was reviewed by the commissioners, spokesmen for the firms and the tax engineers. A conference between the representatives of Pritchard & Abbott and the spokesmen for the two firms was in progress at noon.

The court indicated that a compromise was possible if the tax engineers and the companies could agree on a workable "middle ground."

The matter will be reviewed further by the court.

Cartwright Quits As Deputy Sheriff

Bill Cartwright, night field deputy for Sheriff Miller Harris, is to resign from his post on Aug. 1 and Tommy Cole, former deputy who resigned some months ago to make an unsuccessful campaign for county commissioner, will be appointed to take his place.

Harris said that Cartwright is resigning because he needs more time to carry on his private business. Cartwright has a number of dirt moving machines and trucks and has been endeavoring to carry on his work at the same time he served as a deputy sheriff.

Cole is currently out of the state on a brief vacation but will be back on or soon after Aug. 1.

Veteran Lamesa Druggist Honored

LAMESA—Word was received here today that a longtime Lamesa druggist, Matt McCall, was elected "Texas Druggist of the Year."

The selection came at the Texas Pharmaceutical Assn. convention being held in San Antonio. McCall is attending the convention representing the West Texas Druggists Assn.

Senate Panel Slaps AF For Laziness In Space Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee, criticizing the Air Force for financing private rocket test facilities, said today the service has shown "a growing lack of energy" in space activities.

The criticism was included in a section of the Senate Appropriations Committee's report on a bill to provide $40,032,000,000 of new defense funds, including more than 18 billions for the Air Force. The Senate starts debate on the measure today.

The committee increased the amount of money for the Air Force for financing private rocket test facilities, said today the service has shown "a growing lack of energy" in space activities.

The report was prepared by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Dennis N. Chavez (D-NM). Both Chavez and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) have been protesting that Holloman Air Development Center in their state has not been fully utilized by the Defense Department.

The report said this is "the most important instrumented range in the world... where facilities either exist or are under construction, which can test any missile or rocket."

Despite this, it said the Defense Department "allowed rocket and missile contractors to build their own duplicate test stands at government expense and let the government facilities idle or rust."

The Air Force had denied earlier charges by Anderson that it had halted work on new facilities there after spending 16 million dollars on them. It said the test facilities were built for other purposes.

The committee said it is "at a loss to understand the thinking behind the reduction made by the Air Force of highly trained technical and professional personnel in this selective area of space conquest."

Five Persons Injured In Series Of Wrecks Sunday

Texas Electric Service Co. had a busy Sunday night repairing damage to its equipment caused by auto accidents, which sent four persons to hospitals.

In all, five persons received injuries Sunday and today in mishaps.

Taken to the Webb AFB hospital today by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance was T.Sgt. Preston H. Ward, 91 Abrams and officials at the hospital said he sustained a brain concussion and face lacerations. His injuries were not considered serious, however.

Under treatment at the VA hospital today are Paul F. Hernandez, 508 NW 5th, and Bennie Porras, 508 N. Johnson. Their condition could not be ascertained. The pair were injured in the same accident as Albert Deanda, 507 NW 8th, on the North Side Sunday night.

In Big Spring hospital suffering from a fractured ankle is Darlene Henry, 13, of Rt. 1, Luther. She was injured in another accident on the North Side.

All three accidents which occurred Sunday night involved either the amount of damage from the three mishaps has not been tabulated this morning, and the company was still trying to complete its reports.

About 10 p.m., Hernandez was driving a 1947 Chevrolet which ran between two poles at 1005 Lamesa. The accident caused considerable damage to the car and also damaged a mercury vapor street light as well as breaking a conductor.

Hernandez and Porras were then rushed to the VA Hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance and Deanda was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital but he wasn't admitted.

While TESCO employees were making repairs there, a car driven by A.2.C. James Dugay of Webb AFB ran into the back of one of the light company's pickups. With Dugay were William Weakley also of Webb and Miss Henry. The girl was taken to the hospital by Nalley-Pickle.

Study Of Seas Will Bring Great Advances In Knowledge

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Answers to some great secrets of the sea are being spelled out here on the plains of Texas. Is civilization heating up the air so that icecaps will melt and drown our seaports and coasts—or will the oceans prevent this disaster? What can sea currents and tides tell us about forecasting weather, or preventing hurricanes? What treasures lie buried in mountains under the sea? Can we safely dump radioactive ashes of our atomic age in deeps of the sea, or would they escape to poison us? Scientists of 35 countries, using 70 ships, are hunting solutions to these and other questions during the International Geophysical Year. Their reports are being collected here at Texas A&M College, one of two world centers for IGY ocean data. Thousands of measurements will in time piece together the answers. The college is also one of the country's leading ocean research centers, with seagoing scientists and ships of its own even though the nearest water is the Gulf of Mexico 150 miles away. NOT IMPLAUSIBLE But an ocean center this far inland is not a bit implausible, explains Dr. Dale F. Leipper, head of the Department of Oceanography and meteorology. The seashore is mostly sand and humid climate. Here at the college are libraries, laboratories, a high-speed computer, facilities to use radioactive isotopes, machine shops, staff and students. It's easier to bring problems of the sea here than to build a center at the shore. And it's only a few hours' drive to Galveston, where the department has two ships, including a 136-footer, the Hidalgo, and a 60,000-square-foot coastal laboratory.

Measurements are now beginning to pour in, especially records of tides, temperatures and salinity which are three keys to water movements. This data includes some from Russia. Ships crisscrossing the oceans are making regular readings which can produce a picture of ocean currents, at the surface and great depths. The ocean circulations certainly profoundly affect weather, and the distribution of chemical foods and microscopic life that govern the richness of ocean "farms" and abundance of fish. Weather and water studies combined might show the way toward control of hurricanes. WHICH WAY DOES IT GO? Cold water sinks at the poles and moves slowly to the Equator. Does it move fast or slow, in hundreds or thousands of years for a roundtrip? The amount of oxygen and naturally radioactive atoms in water samples can show the age of this cold bottom water and the speed of such currents. That's highly important. Not only for the effects upon weather, but also to determine whether the oceans are a safe garbage dump for radioactive materials. Long-lasting and dangerous atoms might escape from their containers. But if the cold water doesn't circulate except very slowly, the hot atoms wouldn't spread and become a hazard to life in the sea and on earth. One big concern is whether man is heating up his earth's air through all the coal and oil he's been burning. This burning creates vast amounts of carbon dioxide which get into the air. And carbon dioxide is a very good absorber of heat from the earth. By adding to the carbon dioxide in the air, we may indirectly be increasing the air temperature. A few degrees rise could bring a warmup that melts icecaps, and raises sea level enough to drown London, New York, Holland and many miles of coastline. OCEANS HELPING? But perhaps the oceans are taking up this extra carbon dioxide fast enough to prevent trouble, explains Dr. Donald W. Hood, associate professor of oceanography. The atmosphere now contains only about one-sixth of the extra carbon dioxide released by burned fuels in past years, he says. The rest has gone somewhere, and presumably the seas took it. So one IGY venture is to measure the carbon dioxide now in the air, and now in the seas. Five years or so from now, the process can be repeated, and scientists will know what is happening. Dr. Hood is also checking on fallout atoms from nuclear explosions that collect in the seas. Marine life needs tiny amounts of certain elements, like zinc, for example. Will radioactive fallout atoms become concentrated by animals and plants and be passed on to man through seafood? In other phases of worldwide IGY studies, scientists are mapping the ocean bottom with echo sounders to discover new mountains and valleys; taking deep bites of sediment out of the ocean floor to trace ancient history of changes in life and climate, tracking other mysteries. From it is bound to come a much greater understanding of the sea and the sea's effect upon man.

Has Stout Heart, Shaky Government

By JAMES M. LONG
ROME (AP)—The little big man of Italian politics—now making his first journey to Washington—has a stout heart and a shaky government. Amintore Fanfani, 50, premier and foreign minister, has been invited to tell President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles tomorrow and Wednesday what Italy thinks of the Middle East crisis. Fanfani already has told his own Parliament. "We stand 100 per cent with NATO and the West," he declared while Italy's Communist party, biggest outside the Iron Curtain, howled protests. "We concur with the American action in Lebanon," he told his Chamber of Deputies. "The United States has first place among our friends," the stubby, balding Christian Democrat party leader shouted defiantly at the Left. It was a showdown. And Fanfani's Christian Democrat-Social Democrat coalition government won its vote of confidence in the Chamber by a razor-thin three-vote majority. The government is the strongest that the Christian Democrats could patch together. But it could fall on any major issue. Fanfani was called to the premiership July 2 after May national elections left his party the strongest in Italy, but short of a majority. He had a try as premier before, in 1954. His one-party government collapsed after 22 days. Fanfani, only a little over five feet, has been the political boss of the powerful Christian Democrat party here since the latter days of the late Premier Alcide de Gasperi. He taught economics for several years at Milan's Catholic University. During the war he took political refuge in Switzerland. He returned in 1945 to win his way steadily up to leadership in his strongly Catholic, pro-Western center of the road party. Services Slated For Ex-Senator DENVER (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for former U.S. Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, once a major policy maker for the Republican party. Millikin, 67, died Saturday of pneumonia in his Denver apartment. Appointed to the U.S. Senate in 1941, he retired from public life July 25, 1956.

DEAR ABBY

ARMY DISCIPLINE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We live in a four-family flat and have never had any trouble with our neighbors. A retired Army man and his wife live in this building, and they don't like children. Our 8-year-old son has a tricycle and a wagon which he sometimes leaves in the driveway in front of the garage. This retired Army man told him several times to keep his toys away from the garage entrance, but you know how little boys are. He sometimes forgets. Well, last night this old grouch went right ahead and deliberately ran over the tricycle and wagon and smashed them to bits. My husband said it served our boy right and will teach him a lesson. I say the man should be hauled into court and made to pay for the damages.

Who is right? JIMMY'S MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: This is a pretty cruel way to teach an 8-year-old boy a lesson. The expense of taking the man to court could easily cost more than the wagon and tricycle so I wouldn't recommend it (especially if your husband agrees with the "defendant.") You'd be ahead to skip it.

DEAR ABBY: I trained dogs for years before I had any children of my own. When the kiddies came along, I trained them the same way I trained our dogs. I'd roll up a newspaper and swat them a good one with it across the behind. It never did the kids any harm and they grew up to know who was boss.

DOG AND CHILD TRAINER DEAR TRAINER: Anyone who

trains his children like he trained his dogs is (in my opinion) barking up the wrong tree.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon and my mother and her nervous cough is my problem. She always starts to coughing when there should be complete silence. I can't tell my own mother she can't come to my wedding, but I just know she is going to spoil my wedding with that cough of hers. I am getting very upset about this and want to know how I can solve my problem.

BRIDE TO BE DEAR BRIDE: You certainly can't ask your mother to stay home. Suggest that she get something from her doctor to "relax" her throat and perhaps quiet her nerves but don't for heaven's sake, make an issue of it.

DEAR ABBY: My landlady is very sweet but she has one annoying fault. Everytime I put out my garbage she goes through it and picks out different items which I consider useless. I see them in her house when I visit her. She is elderly and we are related. Have you any suggestions? TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Why hurt her feelings? If the articles are useless to you and she enjoys them, forget it.

DEAR ABBY: A little advice to WORN-OUT, the father-to-be who couldn't understand why his wife didn't go off in a corner and have her baby like a dog or cat and keep her suffering to herself: Take a burlap sack and tie it around your stomach. Keep filling it every month with five more pounds of sand and go right on and do the cooking, scrub the floors, chauffeur the kids, do the shopping, carry out the garbage and do the laundry. Don't put the load down for the full nine months. THEN, you selfish goon, you will know what your wife is yelling about. EXPECTANT MOTHER.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DAVE AT THE WHOLESALE HOUSE: There are no pockets in strait-jackets. Slow down!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Balloonists Survive 2,000-Foot Bounce

By BILL CHEVALIER

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Space explorers Malcolm Ross and M. Lee Lewis survived a 2,000-foot bounce when they came back to earth yesterday from a record-breaking balloon flight.

The 34½-hour trip was man's longest flight into the stratosphere. The balloonists reached 82,000 feet.

The fliers had their toughest decision after a release mechanism failed to detach the massive balloon from the gondola as they were landing.

The 17-story gas bag banged the round aluminum capsule onto a pasture in east central North Dakota, then carried Ross and Lewis aloft again when a firing device failed to release the gondola.

Ross, a Navy commander, suffered a slight cut about his left eye, but he and Lewis began fig-flying, was equipped with a "full atmosphere," the Navy said. During much of the flight, they moved about without their space helmets. They ate candy bars and sandwiches, drank water and slept only about an hour during the flight.

They carried a small television camera aloft and sent America's first stratosphere TV pictures back to the ground.

Their flight was designed primarily as a test for an ascension this November when an astronomer will seek new knowledge about the makeup of Mars' atmosphere.

Department of Agriculture scientists now will begin a study of some 10,000 insects carried along in the gondola. The bugs were placed aboard for cosmic ray studies on lower forms of life, a preliminary step in determining what hazards man may encounter in future space flights.

Vicious Revenge

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An angry neighbor dashed a bucket of hot water on five-year-old Catina Carrasco after having a quarrel with the child's mother. The girl is in a hospital with severe burns.

Church Editor Slaps Phrases

CHICAGO (AP)—A church paper editor tartly criticized today the traditional phrases of conviction such as "Jesus saves," "God is love" and "Jesus is coming."

The phrases are basically meaningful, said the Rev. Dr. Theodore A. Gill, "but they have turned vulgar through being said so often, so repetitiously, and so flatly."

Dr. Gill is a Presbyterian minister and editor of the nondenominational Christian Century magazine, and of the Pulpit, a journal for preachers. He is lecturing this week on "Christian Cliches" to 200 ministers at McCormick Theological Seminary's annual summer conference.

He advised his fellow clergy men: "Don't try too hard to be pure spirits — none was ever created."

Results Of State Legislative Races

By The Associated Press

Candidates for three seats in the State Senate and 18 seats in the State House of Representatives failed to win a majority in Saturday's first Democratic primary and face a run-off election Aug. 22.

Even then, the campaigning will not be over for 22 Democrats seeking to serve in the Legislature. Republicans, in their Saturday's primary, nominated without opposition two candidates for the Senate and 20 candidates for the house.

Five present state senators won the Democratic nomination Saturday without a runoff. They are Sens. George Parkhouse of Dallas, William T. Moore of Bryan, David W. Ratliff of Stamford, Jimmy Phillips of Angleton and Andy Rogers of Childress.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock easily won renomination and will be unopposed in the general election.

Here is the way contested Senate races stood in latest tabulations by the Texas Election Bureau and The Associated Press: Dist. 3: Apparently a runoff faces Martin Dies Jr., of Lufkin, who held a lead over his nearest opponent, Frank Carpenter of Sour Lake. The winner will meet Republican Elmer F. Bell, Kusk.

FACE RUNOFF

Dist. 6: Rep. Robert W. Baker of Houston is in a runoff with Charles A. Murphy Jr., a former Houston state representative. The winner will meet Republican Roderick Jones, Houston.

Dist. 8: Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas won without a runoff over five opponents.

Dist. 11: Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan won over Bowden Bond of Teague.

Dist. 16: Louis Crump of San Saba and Joe B. Swanner of Brownwood will be in a runoff to succeed Sen. Carlos Ashley.

Dist. 17: Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton apparently downed the strong challenge of Rep. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston after a long, bitter campaign.

Dist. 24: Sen. David W. Ratliff of Stamford defeated Rep. Robert R. Patterson of Snyder.

Dist. 30: Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress was re-elected, defeating Rep. Leroy Saul of Kress and Karl L. Lovelady of Muleshoe.

Here are the latest available reports on contested races for the house, by districts: Dist. 6: Runoff between Rep. George Goetz of San Augustine and Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches.

DEFEATS WOMAN

Dist. 9: Rep. Rufus U. Kilpatrick, Beaumont, defeated Mrs. Mariana S. Rosen, Fort Arthur, attorney. He will meet GOP candidate Ed Creagh of Beaumont.

Dist. 14: Ben E. Jarvis of Tyler and Merrell Frazer of Tyler went into a runoff out of a six-man race.

Dist. 18: William D. Winston of Lufkin won.

Dist. 22: Place 1: Dr. Ira Kohler of Houston in a runoff with Dean F. Johnston, Houston, with the winner to face Republican Cone Johnson of Houston.

Dist. 22, Place 2: Mrs. Harry A. Turner of Houston faces Robert C. Eckhardt, prominent Houston labor attorney, with the winner to meet John Outterson, Houston Republican.

Dist. 22, Place 3: Donald K. Shipley of Houston in a runoff with Clyde Miller of Houston, Jimmy Hill of Houston, a Republican, also is in the race.

Dist. 22, Place 4: Bill Kilgarlin, Houston, won and will meet Republican Robert L. Jones of Houston.

Dist. 22, Place 5: Rep. Joe Ed Winfree won Democratic nomination. Carlos Watson, prominent Houston Republican, also is in the race.

GOP OPPONENT

Dist. 22, Place 6: George H. Echols of Houston has a runoff with Roger Daily of Houston with the Democratic nominee meeting GOP candidate Jack Pulliam.

Dist. 22, Place 8: J. Charles Whitfield of Houston faces Charles C. Foster of Houston for Democratic nomination with no GOP candidate.

Dist. 25: Rep. Edgar Hutchins of Greenville won re-election.

Dist. 36: Place 1: Rep. Gordon Forsyth of Corpus Christi was forced into a run-off by Ronald W. Bridges of Corpus Christi, who was making his first political race.

Dist. 36, Place 2: Rep. W. N. Woolsey of Corpus Christi won in a three-man race.

Dist. 37: Rep. Ben A. Glusing of Kingsville won.

Dist. 38: James S. Bates of Edinburg was high in a three-man race.

Dist. 51, Place 1: Rep. John

L. Crosthwait of Dallas won the Democratic nomination but will meet a GOP candidate in November.

Dist. 51, Place 2: Rep. Ben Atwell of Hutchins faces Republican Elmer Haslett of Dallas.

Dist. 51, Place 3: Bill Jones of Dallas won the right to meet Roy Cookston of Dallas, a Republican.

DALLAS RESULTS Dist. 51, Place 4: Ed Small of Dallas and Tom James of Dallas are in a runoff to decide which will contest Republican Addison Foy of Dallas.

Dist. 51, Place 5: Wiley H. Rawlins of Hutchins won the nomination and meets A. F. Widener of Irving, a Republican.

Dist. 51, Place 6: Rep. Robert F. Johnson was re-elected.

Dist. 53: Jack Woods of Waco won over Sam Sellers of Waco.

Dist. 60, Place 1: Dixon Holman, incumbent, will face Yale Lary in runoff.

Dist. 60, Place 2: Clarence Farmer and Don Gladden to meet in runoff.

Dist. 60, Place 3: Don Kennard nominated.

Dist. 60, Place 4: Incumbent Scott McDonald, on basis incomplete returns, faces possible runoff with Leon Evans.

Dist. 60, Place 5: Tommy Shannon nominated.

Dist. 70, Place 6: Howard Green and Wendell Knox in runoff.

Dist. 60, Place 7: W. C. (Red) Cowan nominated.

Dist. 63, Place 2: C. W. Pearcy of Temple won in a three-man race.

FOREMAN WINS

Dist. 65, Place 1: Rep. Wilson Foreman of Austin defeated Sam Houston Clinton of Austin. He faces Dr. John Garcia of Austin, Republican, in the general election.

Dist. 68, Place 1: R. L. Vallance of San Antonio and R. L. Reader of San Antonio are in a runoff with the winner to contest GOP candidate W. H. Fusch.

Dist. 68, Place 2: Franklin S. Spears of San Antonio won.

Dist. 68, Place 3: Rep. Raymond R. Russell, San Antonio, will meet Alfred Buston, San Antonio Republican.

Dist. 68, Place 4: James A. McKay of San Antonio and Rudy Esquivel of San Antonio are in a runoff.

Dist. 68, Place 5: Rep. Marshall O. Bell won re-election.

A Bible Thought For Today

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8:38-39)

The Power Of Dollar Veto

A Senate subcommittee was told flatly last week by Defense Secretary McElroy that he'd just as soon not have $500 million in extra defense funds.

He'd rather see the extra money invested in the form of bigger foreign aid appropriations, the defense chief declared. But the Senate Appropriations Committee went ahead anyway and gave the military $1.2 billion more this year than the secretary and the President asked for.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson outlined military funds and bills approved by Congress, and invited McElroy to speak up for anything else he needs.

Specifically, Johnson asked him if he would rather have the extra half billion for more jet bombers and other defense Department needs or see the money used to offset the $597 million cut out of foreign aid.

Admitting "it's a hard question," McElroy declared that a bigger foreign aid appropriation would buy more national defense.

Well, it isn't the first time a Defense secretary has turned a cold shoulder to congressional appropriations for defense. There was the time when, between the "summit meeting" at Geneva and the launching of the first Russian Sputnik, that Congress voted between $1 and $2 billion for additional air defense, and ex-Secretary Charles Wilson said, in effect, that it wasn't needed and he'd spend it in his own good time, if at all.

Over a period of many weeks the Army has complained that it needed more jet transport planes for quick and certain moving of troops to emergency spots. Then came Lebanon, and while a goodly number of troops went in that trouble spot by air from Europe and U. S. bases and the operation was called successful, what if another trouble spot, say, in Far East had developed at the same time?

There is a truism that no general or admiral ever has as much strength as he'd like, but there is another side to that coin: Who is to make sure that the country has enough strength to fend off aggression at the critical moment?

Congress can only appropriate money for what service secretaries and military leaders say we need for defense. Apparently there is no way to force the Defense Department to make use of it.

Maybe That's Why They Live Longer

Sooner or later, in youth or age, practically everybody has to visit a dentist. Question: which of the sexes is the braver when the inevitable moment comes?

In Newark, N. J., at Rutgers University's College of Arts and Sciences, a young lady in a psychology class asked the question, then answered it herself: men are bigger sissies than women. It turned out she was a dental assistant.

However, William Wells, assistant professor of psychology, thought a little more research would be in order, so he camped out in a dentist's office over a period of time and asked 63 patients, at that "moment of truth" when the dentist opened his door, peered over his specs, and beckoned them in, how they felt. The psychologist had previously studied their waiting room behavior—the gnawing of finger nails, the lighting one cigarette after another, the quick apprehensive look in their eyes, the eagerness to talk to others, the unnaturally loud and high voice.

None of the 37 women and 26 men patients refused to answer, "How do you feel?" or seemed to resent the question.

Dr. Wells' report was on the diplomatic side. He said both sexes were equally tense, and women were just quicker to admit it.

We don't know that this proves anything that most people did not know before; to-wit, that women, the fore-ordained pain-bearers, bear pain better than men; that they take better care of their health, and go to the dentist or doctor more readily when the chips are down. Perhaps that attitude explains why women live longer than men, at least in these modern times, not necessarily because they are braver in facing up to health problems, but that they are just naturally born smarter. We say this on pretty solid authority: successive readership surveys of this newspaper show as many women as men read our editorials—a strong reversal of national trends. Hallelujah!

Opportunity To Tell The Whole World

WASHINGTON—It's better to be talking than fighting. Nor does America have any good reason to fear a battle of words. So, the more "summit" conferences, the better. For the United States will thereby have an unexampled opportunity to tell the whole world just why international peace is threatened not merely in the Middle East but everywhere else.

The widespread idea that a "summit" conference really means a serious "negotiation" is fallacious. The machinery of informal and private negotiation through diplomatic channels has long been available but has lain dormant because the Soviets don't want to negotiate. They are confident that they can win by threats and propaganda maneuvers.

The single and all-embracing issue is whether free governments shall be preserved or whether totalitarian governments shall continue their conquests by infiltration and subversion.

The heart of the United Nations charter is that small nations as well as large must be protected against invasion of their territorial integrity and political independence by enemies of freedom.

Nikita Khrushchev can make all the grandstand plays he wishes, but he cannot by ostentatious gestures or honeyed words erase from the minds of the people of the world his record of murder and assassination inside the Soviet Union and inside the neighboring captive states.

To confine the Security Council discussions to the problems of the Middle East rather than to deal with a manifest symptom rather than the disease itself—totalitarianism on the march.

The United Nations was designed as a public forum. Nobody was ever supposed to dictate what its Security Council might or might not discuss. That was stipulated in writing to be the function of the members themselves. So, when the Soviet Dictator says he wants only certain aspects of the Middle East problem discussed, he is taking it upon himself to write the rules of the Council. Likewise, when he suggests who should or should not be invited to sit down with him in the Security Council, he is arrogating to himself a right never before.

And Some Don't Grow At All

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if you've been wondering how much your brain should grow during your lifetime, the answer is more than two pounds. It weighs around 12 ounces at birth, normally reaches an adult weight of about three pounds.

That the transatlantic cable weighs one ton per mile.

That black bear cubs don't open their eyes until they are about 40 days old.

That comedian George de Witt says "if your ship comes in, you can be sure a relative will be waiting at the dock."

That the tilt of the Leaning Tower of Pisa has increased by more than a quarter of an inch in the last 15 years.

That ancient Egyptians were clean shaven but wore false beards as a symbol of masculine dignity. Private citizens wore a two-inch beard, but the beards of kings were considerably longer, and the beards of statues of the gods turned up at the ends.

That Alaska, the 49th state-to-be, may have a future as a hay fever haven. It is reported to be nearly pollen free.

That 20 years ago choreographer June Taylor, suffering from tuberculosis, was given less than three years to live. Today she's at the peak of a busy career.

That it isn't very accurate to measure the distance between two points "as the crow flies" because crows often fly in a zigzag pattern.

That if your husband confesses he's a rabid rhabdophilist, that's his rabid rhabdophilist, not one dog that likes the thrill of a slide board.

The blond and white cocker spaniel and his 12-year-old mistress, Barbere Mott, visit Washington Park regularly where the dog climbs up the open steps and slips down the slide board a dozen times a day.

up at the coronation of King George V with 125 servants and 100,000 pounds of baggage.

That 75 per cent of the visitors to the Louvre, famous Paris art museum, go there to see the painting of Mona Lisa.

That most species of animals live six times as long as it takes for them to grow up. If this rule applied to man, most people would live to 120 years, and some would live forever!

That typewriters now are manufactured to write in 147 different languages.

That you know your own language pretty well if you can name seven English words that contain all five vowels—a, e, i, o, and u. Here they are: Abstemious, disadvantageous, efficacious, encouraging, facetious, impertunate and instantaneous.

That members of some Oriental tribes sleep with shaved pigs in their hair, using them as heating pads. Hope they don't mind my squealing on them.

That Milton J. Kramer of the Hotel Edison has this sign on his desk: "Only those who have the patience to do simple things perfectly ever acquire the skill to do difficult things easily."

That a baby monkey gets its first lessons in climbing by using its mother's tail as a rope.

That if a grasshopper got down on his knees to propose to his best girl, he wouldn't be able to hear her "yes" or "no" because his ears are in his knees.

That in olden times, when it was the custom for a man to steal his bride, the honeymoon was essentially a period of hiding until the tempers of the bride's relatives cooled down.

That it was Benjamin Franklin who advised: "Keep your eyes wide open before marriage, and half shut afterwards."

That if you dig a hole when you get a boathold of fish:

That a Fordian, Ernie's no simple yes or no man. When the occasion calls for it he comes out with a country-style metaphor to fit. And usually it fits very nicely.

Asked for a few typical Ford phrases he came up with a hefty list, some of Tennessee origin and others coined by Ernie. Here they are, mostly self-explanatory:

"I'm tired as a two-pound hen that's laid a three-pound egg."

"Thicker than fleas on a wet dog."

"Older than a beaver's belly."

"I handed you a bucket, you may as well milk."

"Nervous as a long-tailed cat in a roomful of rocking chairs."

"I feel like I been rode hard and put away wet."

"She's built like a sackful of doorknobs."

"Redder than a gander's feet in a huckleberry patch."

"Tossed me from the buggy before I was finished riding."

"It's as useful as a milking stool under a bull."

"It caused as much talk as a new rooster in the hen house."

"Tall hog at the trough."

"Hotter than a bucket of red ants."

Ford is doing very well in television and television is his mainstay. Unlike many other entertainers, he does not make movies or go out on night club dates, although he does appear at state and county fairs. His other entertainment activity is making records.

Ole Ern is a strong believer in the relaxed, comfortable school of television.

"Bringing a show into the home is altogether different from the theater or a night club," he commented. "I keep remembering that I am being watched in the living room, where people are relaxed—where Pop is in his shirt-sleeves, and where there is no baby sitter and they can change the channel at any moment."

Maybe the hillbilly singer has got himself a pretty good formula. At any rate, while his show (NBC) was retrenching and still hadn't re-tooled many of his shows for the fall season, Ford was already signed up tight by his old sponsor and already making commercials for fall.

THE CASE OF THE MISSING MODEL

Nineteenth of a series

by Donald J. Sobel

"Jane left the house at 3 o'clock yesterday for the doctor's office," said her father. "She never came home. Her vertical is still upstairs in her room, fully packed."

"She had planned on a trip?" asked Haledjian.

"To Mexico. Jane's a fashion model. She was to take part in a big fashion show in Mexico City tomorrow. Her appointment with the doctor was for a vaccination."

"Did she keep it?"

"Well, I don't rightly know what doctor she went to, but she must have seen one."

"How can you be sure of that?"

"Charles Motley says so. I mean, he overheard Jane make a remark to that effect, Charlie looked next door, and about 5 o'clock as he was returning from work, he saw Jane and a man arguing near the bus stop on Weaver Street. The man gripped Jane's arm. She pulled away, protesting, 'Don't, Ramon, I've just been vaccinated there. Stop it, you're hurting me!'"

"Didn't Charlie assist her?"

"The father shifted uncomfortably. 'Jane broke off her engagement with Charlie last month, I suppose he was still brooding. He saw this man and Jane enter a car and drive off. He didn't think it important until he learned Jane had vanished. Now he won't forgive himself for not helping her.'"

"Can Charlie describe the man with Jane?"

"A slight man with a waxed mustache. Wore a dark gray overcoat that fitted too tight. Charlie thinks he's seen the fellow with Jane before."

Singing Makes A New Person Out Of You

I see where singing is supposed to do wonders for you physically.

Singing, says one authority, helps you fulfill the law of posture and the law of pure blood.

You cannot sing, it is maintained, unless you breathe properly, and proper breathing is the highway to health.

The lungs open up. The throat breaks its shackles. The emotions hold sway. A new power of self expression is found. The pulse is accelerated. The whole chassis is warmed.

A songbird in the labored intricacies of musical verse, it is claimed, expends as much energy as a man swinging a pick ax. And works up just as big an appetite.

That may all be true, but when I sing, there's always the danger that someone else's health might be run down. There's something about my singing voice that brings out the wanderlust in people, even the voice teachers.

I recall I took a couple of singing lessons in the long ago. The first time, the teacher scolded me for bringing a dog along. Looking back on that misadventure, I reason now I might have missed by calling. Ventriloquism might have been my field.

Then she fancied I had hit a new octave, something like a cross between a steam whistle and the sound automobile tires make when brakes are suddenly applied while the vehicle is traveling 40 miles an hour. Needless to say, the tone didn't revolutionize singing, although it could have caused a small rebellion, perhaps, had it been exploited.

When the teacher began to wear ear muffs because of an expected drop in temperatures, I took the hint.

Advocates of a singing populace point out that opera singers retain their youthfulness far beyond their usual term mainly because they have lifted their voices in song. Singers of the classics, it is said, bear the distinction of being the youngest old people in existence.

That may well work in their case but, as for me, I intend not to run the risk of hitting the high note except in crowds where people have a choice of turning down their hearing aids. Why court disaster?

Singing also brings a noticeable mental improvement, it is claimed. There is more brain vigor, more zest in argument and reasoning, a more emotional enthusiasm, a general liberation of the natural activities of heart and mind.

I'll buy that. I'll argue at the drop of a hat, even at a mention of Elvis Presley. Unconsciously, you take on the feeling of courage, confidence and determination. Timidity, pessimism, nervousness and self-depreciation are supposed to retreat in wild disorder.

It is recommended that if you can't sing, then the next best things are to whistle or read aloud.

I don't do either very well but, from now on, I'm intending to get in the swing. I'm going to have the best exercised foot you ever saw.

Older Generation Driven To Fury

Newspapers, books, magazines and the theatre are preoccupied these days in appraisal of the angry, or beat, generation of you sad sacks whose stock in trade is self-pity and loud talk.

Oh, there's an angry and beat-up generation all right, and I'm surrounded by it. But it isn't the same one the literary and sociological worlds are examining with microscopic care. The generation I have in mind is filled with anger and mutiny, all right, but it's the older generation, almost choked with rage and rebellion against its absolutely, wholly impossible offspring.

The anger of the younger generation against their stupid, insensitive progenitors isn't a patch on the fury of the older generation against their addled, surly hostages of fortune.

"If it weren't against the law, I'd strangle mine!" a beat-up mother said at luncheon yesterday. Her blood pressure was boiling through her hat because of her son's parting request before sailing for a summer in Europe, at some sacrifice to the parental budget.

"Please, PULLEASE," begged this college freshman with the universal tone of suffering with which kids now address the modern Spook-proof parent, "don't give me any letters of introduction to your friends in Europe. I want to meet the REAL people."

"Real people!" she snorted. "If he meets a purple people eater, it'll solve a lot of my problems."

A second mother said that only fear of the electric chair had saved her 15-year-old daughter recently. Just 24 hours before a school dance, to which the girl was to be squired by a prep-school lad, the young lady told her mother she was absolutely imperative that the chief art treasure of the home, a beautiful picture of a nude, angular young woman by Modigliani, be removed instantly from the living-room wall.

"Because I am skinny and angular like the model, the whole family has always teased me about posing for the picture," this tortured parent continued. "And that idiot-brat demanded that I remove the picture before her life was ruined by reports that I had posed in the nude for artists when I was young! If her date saw it, she was positively going to die!"

"I have to ask God to give me the strength every day to endure mine," said a third mother. "When my husband and I put our foot down against Julie, who is barely 13, going steady, she turned on us with withering contempt, and accused us of setting a bad example because we had gone steady ever since she could remember!"

"Only four nights ago, my husband and I took our son and a high school friend to dinner at the Waldorf, the theatre and a quiet supper club later. We spent a lot of money, trying to give him a good time. And all he did was groan, every minute," a fourth woman began.

"He ruined the evening for all of us. When we reached home he was still whining, and I was fed up. Before I knew it—I guess it was reflex action—my foot swung back and I gave that young man a good, swift kick right in the seat of his slacks."

"I don't know who was more surprised, Junior or me. I was ashamed of myself and just about to apologize when I noticed him looking at me for the first time in years with something approaching respect and even affection. And, before I knew it, he was apologizing."

There's probably a moral in this last tale for the angry, fed-up old generation and it is: "Don't just sit there; do something—preferably to them! And do it first!"

Two Per Cent Inflation Is Fine, But--

"Why, but why, doesn't the stock market go down? War news is supposed to be bad news."

If I've heard that question once, I've heard it a dozen times since American troops were dispatched to Lebanon.

It's not an easy question. But there's an answer: Wars are inflationary. They cause iron, steel, oil, copper, aluminum to become scarce. Immediately after our troops moved into the Middle East, all copper companies advanced the price from 25 cents to 25½ cents a pound, finally joining Anaconda and Phelps Dodge.

Wall Street is betting on inflation—continuous, relentless, irrevocable inflation. Wall Street is betting that Nikita Khrushchev will keep up the Soviet Union's cold-war prodding—here, there and elsewhere, always requiring the United States to maintain massive military forces, always forcing large expenditures of money, always threatening the sanctity of the U. S. dollar.

That's what the Iraq revolution means. The Soviet Union's pro-Nasserism is as much a threat against America's fiscal solvency as it is a threat against oil.

During all previous American wars—the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Civil War, and World War I—prices rose. Then after the wars, prices declined. World War II has been the exception. Prices went up—okay. But they never came down. As one wise man said, "This war has never ended." It isn't over for us and it isn't over for the Russians.

It is a clinche to say that we have a 50-cent dollar. The 1939 package of subsistence—food, clothing, shelter, transportation, etc.—costs twice as much today as then. The purchasing power of the dollar has been cut in half in less than two decades.

"Creeping inflation" persisted under both Truman and Eisenhower. Prof. Sumner Slichter, of Harvard, has given it an academic blessing. He says strong labor unions will force wages and costs up. But 1½ per cent to 2 per cent inflation a year is a small price, he argues, to pay for labor peace and stable economic growth.

There's only one catch in that thesis. People have a way of anticipating economic events. And inflation is an event which snatches money out of everybody's pocket. People will scramble for protection—inflation hedges. They'll buy land. They'll buy common stocks. They'll shy away from long-term loans.

Why purchase a bond if ten years from now you'll have lost 20 per cent or more of your capital? Potential lenders will say to the borrowers, "I'll lend you the money, but you'll have to pay me enough to offset the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar."

Prof. Lionel Robbins, who is as distinguished an economist in England as Slichter is in the U. S., enters a demurrer. He says, in the April Lloyds Bank Review, that inflation will creep for a while and then break into a gallop. It is "unlikely to work out as planned. After a time, people become alive to what is happening; they come to assume that a certain decline in the value of money is a concomitant of accepted policy and they will adjust their plans accordingly."

"Lenders will not lend, save for a higher rate of interest. Contracts will not be concluded save with a margin allowing for the expected rate of depreciation. . . Difficulties will be cumulative. The fear of inflation tends to create more inflation. Most of the paper inflations of history were gradual to begin with; but they ended in something not at all gradual."

American inflations have all come to an end—in violent, disastrous, unpleasant crashes. Speculation first rises to an uncontrollable crescendo, then subsides in a book-curding diminuendo. Unemployment develops. Prices crash. Almost overnight, the purchasing power of money is restored—to those who have it. That has been our way of preserving the purchasing power of money. Drastic, but effective!

But now we preen ourselves because we think we have enough experience and knowledge to control inflation. That's why the stock market didn't go down when U. S. troops entered Lebanon. We've come to believe the 2 per cent-a-year game.

New Satellite Has Good Start On 5-Year Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The world's newest satellite is off to a spectacular start on a five-year journey through space. Scientists keeping a critical eye on Explorer IV announced that the heaviest and most vital of the three U.S. moons in orbit performed smoothly during its first 36 hours.

The launching by the amazingly reliable Jupiter-C rocket last Saturday was so successful, in fact, that Explorer IV probably will be the most durable Army satellite yet.

Officials at first expressed concern that the latest Army venture might be short lived.

As it looped through an elliptical orbit every 110 minutes, the satellite beeped out loud and clear signals on an intense field of radiation 600 miles in outer space.

Latest estimates placed Explorer IV as close to earth as 153 miles and as high as 1,373 miles as it swings around the globe an average of 13 times a day.

The orbital path, a new one for U.S. satellites, carries Explorer IV over the more densely populated areas of the northern latitudes. It already has circled twice over the heart of the Soviet Union.

The 38 43-pound tube, six inches in diameter, crosses a wider geographical area — spanning the globe from 51 degrees north to 51 degrees south of latitude.

The expanded coverage is needed to complete the satellite's sole mission of collecting comprehensive data on the radiation.

Explorer IV doesn't have the 200-year life expectancy of the Navy's 3½-pound Vanguard and it is tiny compared to the Soviet 2,000-pound Sputnik III, but it probably has the most important job of the four moons now in orbit.

The satellite which houses four instruments to measure deadly rays at different energy and intensity levels, was developed on a crash-program basis in eight weeks after the phenomena was discovered by Explorers I and III.

Two radios will keep back the information to earth continually for the next two months.

Scientists need a complete picture of the effects and extent of this space radiation before man can make his first trip toward the moon and planets.

With another success behind them, Dr. Werner von Braun and his associates at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency set their sights on launching at least three more satellites plus a moon rocket before the end of the year.

Lyndon Lashes Wishful Thinking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said last night the first essential in meeting the Russian threat is "eternal vigilance and strict avoidance of wishful thinking."

He said U.S. military strength also must be kept proportionate to the danger faced.

In a transcribed speech over several Texas radio stations, Johnson said the United States is facing a "monstrous plot against the maintenance of freedom."

"We have had a tense and uncertain week, with the attention of the world focused on the countries of the Middle East," he said. "There will be more such weeks ahead, and the weeks may stretch into months or even years."

"Whatever happens in the Middle East will not end the struggle between the free nations and the Communist aggressors."

Johnson said Soviet Premier Khrushchev "has said with cold frankness that he is engaged in an economic war against us."

Dawson Triple D Well Shows For Commercial Production

Dawson County was ready for another well in the newly opened Triple D (Pennsylvanian) field today after the Texas National No. 1 Richardson showed for commercial production.

The field about 10 miles north of Lamesa now has two wells, and Texas National reported it was ready to complete the No. 1 Richardson today.

scattered porosity and bleeding oil. The site is C SE SW, 20-30-6N, T&P Survey.

Dawson Camp No. 1 George Oldham was installing a pumping unit today for additional tests in the Canyon. The wildcat is located five miles northeast of Ackerly, C NE SE, 25-34-4N, T&P Survey.

Texas National No. 1 Richardson prepared today to take potential test after successfully testing the Pennsylvanian. A test from 8,492-51 feet produced 10 barrels of heavily mud-cut oil, 180 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. Operator then drilled to 8,525 feet and perforated casing from 8,439-508 feet.

After acidizing with 750 gallons, it flowed 24 hours and made 160 barrels of oil through a 1/2-inch choke. The site is C NE NE SE, 20-30-6N, T&P Survey.

Lone Star Producing No. 1 Porter waited on cement to set intermediate string at 5,082 feet. The wildcat is 12 miles southwest of Gail, C NE SE, 9-32-4N, TIP Survey.

Shell No. 1 Miller was testing the Ellenburger today after a misrun on a DST in the same zone Sunday. Operator tested from 8,549-608 feet today, and reported good flows throughout the test. Location is C NW NW 527-97, H&TC Survey.

The Hiawatha No. 1 Miller about eight miles northeast of Gail has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 8,486 feet. Operator tested the Ellenburger which was topped at 8,476 feet but found only sulphur water. It was 650 from south and east lines, 47-39-6N, T&P Survey, and an offset to the Harper No. 1 Miller, recent Ellenburger discovery.

Moncrief No. 1 Miller drilled in sand at 6,900 feet. The 90-60-foot project is C NE SW, 32-30-6N, T&P Survey, and about seven miles northeast of Gail.

Sinclair No. 2-B Watfield, in the Dunigan field, cut a core from 8,430-80 feet in the Strawn and recovered 49 feet of lime with difficulty stemmed from failure to qualify in a lawful manner as a distiller. The official suggested that Welch stop a bond.

Other results: 1. Welch got a letter from the regional tax office in Omaha advising the bond should be at least $5,000 or $10.50 per proof gallon for any alcohol produced in a 15-day period.

2. The government sent a report that his alcohol tested 157.9 and 126.8 proof.

3. Mrs. Welch got back her pressure cooker.

Welch allows that if he had it to do all over again, "Darned if I wouldn't keep my mouth shut about it until I had it done."

Funeral services for Frank Leslie Bice, 67, will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickel Chapel.

Mr. Bice, operator of the Trail's End Lodge here since 1954, died Sunday morning in a local hospital. He had suffered a heart attack June 24.

Dr. F. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, will officiate at the funeral rites. Interment will be in City Cemetery.

Mr. Bice was born March 11, 1891. He moved to Big Spring from Mineral Wells in 1954.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pauline Bice of Big Spring; one brother, H. J. Bice of Amarillo; and his mother, Mrs. Ella Bice of Stephenville.

Palbearers will be C. A. Jones, Jim Fite, Clyde Angel, Lloyd Zack Gray, Herb Vinson and C. N. Gilliland.

The Stardusters, an orchestra from Webb AFB, will entertain patients at the State Hospital tonight, performing for a dance in the hospital's schedule of weekly planned activities.

On Friday, the monthly birthday party will be presented by ladies of the Presbyterian Church. Another church group will give musical selections Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Survivors include her husband, the sons from Lamesa and C. E. Standifer and W. O. Standifer, both of Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. T. A. Isbell of Odessa; a brother, G. E. Jack of Lamesa; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Weir of Lamesa and Mrs. Mildred Rankin of Lometta; 17 grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Norma Blackwell, 34, who died unexpectedly at her home here Sunday morning.

Plans will be announced by Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home.

Mrs. Blackwell was born Jan. 30, 1924, in Abilene and moved to Big Spring with her family in 1928.

She is survived by her husband, D. W. Blackwell, Big Spring; a daughter, Brenda Joyce Flinn of Big Spring; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Bryant of Big Spring; and two sisters, Mrs. Grady Gaskin and Mrs. Billy Gaskin, both of Knott.

Funeral services for Mrs. J. H. Standifer, 81, who died at her residence Sunday afternoon.

Burial will be in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Mrs. Standifer had suffered a heart attack early last week. Her husband, who is blind, was sitting in a chair near the bed where his wife lay, and only when two sons, Arthur and Luther Standifer, both of Lamesa, arrived Sunday was it discovered that she had died.

77-M. EL&RR Survey, and 10 miles northwest of Lamesa.

Shell No. 1-F Slaughter continued to pump from the Strawn with the fluid cut 80 per cent water. The site is a wildcat C-SW NW, 21-1, Hays Survey.

Shell No. 1-CC Slaughter, in the Happy (Ellenburger) pool, penetrated to 3,960 feet in line. Drill-site is 330 from south and 2,230 from east lines, 42-2, H&NO Survey.

Tidewater No. 1 Couey continued to test the Devonian after it flowed 8.25 barrels of fluid in 24 hours through a 20-64-inch choke. Gas volume registered 530,000 cubic feet per day. The wildcat being re-tested is C SW SW, 13-36-5, M&P Survey.

Hamon & Republic No. 1 Holton was changing tanks today for additional tests in the Strawn. The wildcat has been producing small amounts of oil for the past few weeks on tests. The site is six miles northwest of Tarzan, 5.872 from south and 7.577 from east lines of League 246, Wheeler CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 McKaskle, a wildcat 15 miles west of Big Spring, cored today at 3,266 feet in sand and lime today. It is C NE NE, 12-35-1N, T&P Survey.

Charges of burglary have been filed against Charles Ray Harper, 23-year-old Big Spring Negro, in connection with the break-in several days ago of the Bollinger Variety Store and Alexander's Grocery on the north side of town.

Officers said that they had discredited Harper's story that he was accompanied by a mysterious Latin-American whom he knew only as Chico.

The Negro is under a three-year suspended sentence for car theft. The sentence was imposed some months ago when he pleaded guilty in district court to an indictment returned against him.

Capehart Housing For Webb Air Force Base Is Taking Shape

This Air Force helicopter photograph of the housing area for Webb personnel offers graphic illustration of the magnitude of this $6.5 million project south and west of Big Spring. The photograph, made a week ago, reveals the units under way and the varying stages of work on each. The photograph was taken from a point looking west from the terminus of the Jones road. The headquarters for the contractor are not shown but would be on the extreme left of the picture. The road in the upper right hand corner is "Fifth Avenue," principal thoroughfare of the project. Since this photo was made, 30 additional foundations have been laid and much additional framing and roofing work achieved on the units.

The $6.5 million project, located a mile west of the City Park on the Jones road, is still behind schedule but Williams & Dunlap, prime contractors, said that gains are being made. Most of the work to date has been on units in the area designated as "A" but some work is also under way in Area "B." It was said that need for work on Fifth Avenue—the principal street leading out of the area is needed—to expedite building. This is a separate job from the one Williams & Dunlap are pursuing.

The project involves 460 housing units. It is south of Webb Air Force Base proper and will provide homes for personnel of the base when it is completed.

Warren A. Wilson, long associated with Williams & Dunlap, and who has just completed a Capehart housing project in Kansas, identical with the Webb job, has joined the organization here as field supervisor. He built the Kansas job for Tom McCan, Fort Worth contractor.

H. E. Williams of the firm Williams & Dunlap is on the job each day.

Fire insurance agencies who carry policies on the fair buildings west of the city are concerned over who is to pay the premiums on these policies in the year at hand as well as who may be expected to pay them in 1956-57.

The Howard County commissioners met with a group of the agency representatives Monday morning. The agents pointed out they have been collectively writing the policies on the property and that with the proposal the buildings be relinquished by the Fair Assn. to the county, they were wondering where to turn for their compensation.

They were not paid, they said, for the protection afforded last year. Very soon, the commissioners were told, a new policy will have to be issued.

The commissioners told the agents that there was nothing the court could do at the present time either about the future policies or the past since the actual transfer of title to the fair grounds property has never been completed.

The bill of sale and the deed are yet to be placed in the hands of the county. R. H. Weaver, county judge, told the insurance man. It was indicated that there was little likelihood of the county paying for the last year's premiums but the board expressed the idea if the county had title to the property the current insurance would be met.

Only three commissioners and the judge were in attendance at the meeting. Red Gilliam was in Midland and could not attend.

Housing Contractor Still Has Problems

Capehart housing project for Webb Air Force Base personnel south and west of town is taking shape rapidly but Don Everett, project superintendent, said there were still "problems" facing the contractor.

He said that 100 foundations have been laid and that 67 of the units have either been framed or are in the process of being framed. Some of the units have already been provided with insulation siding and the deck laid for the roof. On some brickwork is under way.

However, the workers are faced with a problem of water which can become more serious as brick masons step up their task. The contractors are hopeful that this bottleneck is near solution. Water is being hauled by truck from the outlet more than a mile to the east of the site. Foundation work is not facing this problem since Clyde McMahon, subcontractor for this work, has arranged for his own water supply where the concrete is prepared.

Some material needed for the job is still to be approved but enough is on hand not to seriously handicap operations. Foundations are being laid at the rate of six units per day. Everett said. Carpenters are moving with comparative speed in framing the structures.

Pressure is being placed on mills in the northwest part of the na-

Just Honest Experiment, But Revenuers Got Rough

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — All Kenneth Welch wanted to do was find a commercial use for the hedge apple. But that was before he reckoned with the revenuers. No one had ever found any use for the hedge apple. Welch, a 40-year-old stonecutter, thought he would try boiling the fruit.

His experiments led him to believe that from a ton of hedge apples he could get 67 pounds of vegetable oil 24 pounds of an antioxidant compound for use as a food preservative, 309 pounds of high protein dried pulp good for cattle feed, and 20 gallons of ethyl alcohol.

Ah, alcohol. That's where the rub came. A good citizen, Welch figured that since alcohol was one of the products, he had better tell the federal alcohol tax people what he was about.

The alcohol wasn't what I was after, he relates, "but they couldn't understand what I was doing. I believe they thought I was some kind of bootlegger."

"They confiscated all the alcohol, dumped out all my experiments and told me I couldn't do any more experimenting under any circumstances. They took all my equipment, too, including my wife's pressure cooker."

Then the government sent a bill for $111.53 — taxes on the alcohol he had produced.

That was about two years ago and Welch says he's still sparring with the alcohol tax people.

"One assistant U.S. attorney said I'd caused him more trouble than any man he'd ever dealt with," Welch says, not without a note of pride.

Welch's friends carried his story to Rep. Charles Brown (D-Mo.), whose protests drew among other things a suggestion that Welch's difficulty stemmed from failure to qualify in a lawful manner as a distiller. The official suggested that Welch stop a bond.

Other results: 1. Welch got a letter from the regional tax office in Omaha advising the bond should be at least $5,000 or $10.50 per proof gallon for any alcohol produced in a 15-day period.

2. The government sent a report that his alcohol tested 157.9 and 126.8 proof.

3. Mrs. Welch got back her pressure cooker.

Welch allows that if he had it to do all over again, "Darned if I wouldn't keep my mouth shut about it until I had it done."

Mrs. Blackwell Dies At Age 34

Funeral arrangements are incomplete for Mrs. Norma Blackwell, 34, who died unexpectedly at her home here Sunday morning.

Plans will be announced by Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home.

Mrs. Blackwell was born Jan. 30, 1924, in Abilene and moved to Big Spring with her family in 1928.

She is survived by her husband, D. W. Blackwell, Big Spring; a daughter, Brenda Joyce Flinn of Big Spring; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Bryant of Big Spring; and two sisters, Mrs. Grady Gaskin and Mrs. Billy Gaskin, both of Knott.

Funeral services for Mrs. J. H. Standifer, 81, who died at her residence Sunday afternoon.

Burial will be in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Mrs. Standifer had suffered a heart attack early last week. Her husband, who is blind, was sitting in a chair near the bed where his wife lay, and only when two sons, Arthur and Luther Standifer, both of Lamesa, arrived Sunday was it discovered that she had died.

Mrs. Standifer was born in Hunt County but came here from Lubbock in 1914.

Survivors include her husband, the sons from Lamesa and C. E. Standifer and W. O. Standifer, both of Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. T. A. Isbell of Odessa; a brother, G. E. Jack of Lamesa; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Weir of Lamesa and Mrs. Mildred Rankin of Lometta; 17 grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

WALL STREET —Coppers were higher in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Key stocks showed gains or losses of fractions to about a point. The trend was slightly higher in early session but more losses appeared as profits were taken on the strong rise in a large part of the trading.

The weekend business news was encouraging overall but the relatively high level of prices left many stocks vulnerable. Steels, rails and oils

'Adlai Republican' Satisfied With Race

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
DALLAS (AP) — A self-styled "Stevenson Republican" who received only one per cent of the vote running against U.S. Rep. Bruce Alger in Saturday's primary election has expressed satisfaction with his race.

"I feel I created real public interest in the Republican primary," Grover Cantrell, labor union leader and former Democrat, said.

Red-faced GOP leaders conceded that he had done just that.

Because Texas has no party registration law, many Republicans have long participated in Democratic primaries, then voted the GOP ticket in the general elections. They have justified it on the grounds that since the Republicans primary ballot usually has only unopposed candidates for a few offices—and they usually don't win anyway—the only way a Republican can have any voice in who holds public office is to vote in the Democratic primary.

Besides, the GOP is not always required to hold a primary.

The practice has been the target of liberal Democrats, who claim their candidates have been at a disadvantage when Republicans jump the fence to vote for conservative Democrats. For several years they have considered plans to try to keep the Republicans in their own primary.

Dallas County GOP leaders, who have been well satisfied with vote-getting Alger, the only Republican congressman from Texas, fought Cantrell's efforts to run in their primary. It took a court battle and a State Supreme Court decision to get Cantrell's name on the ballot.

The Republican leaders claimed that Cantrell was really a Democrat, not a Republican, and that his candidacy was not sincere.

While GOP officials thumped for a big turnout in their primary to assure Alger's re-nomination, many individual Republicans were caught in a dilemma. They wanted to vote in the Democratic primary where scores of precinct, county and state offices were at stake but they feared running the risk of seeing Cantrell triumph over Alger.

Their worries were intensified a few days before the primary when labor leaders held a meeting in Dallas. While they made no official announcement of any decision, word was leaked out that they felt so confident of liberal victories in Democratic races, that 4,000 labor votes would be cast in the GOP primary for Cantrell.

Virtually complete returns on Saturday's primary showed Alger got 9,299 votes and Cantrell 101.

"I don't want to seem unkind, but I am in the unhappy position of realizing we (the Republicans) fell for a bluff in Cantrell's candidacy. The real purpose was to keep people out of another primary. It proves the candidacy was not sincere," Alger said.

Cantrell was more amicable about the whole matter.

"I wish Congressman Alger the best of luck and will support him in the November general election," he said.

Child Dies In Sudden Flood

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — A sudden thunderstorm that filled gutters overflowing swept four children into a fetid, undercurrent yesterday and carried one two blocks to her death in a Mississippi River slough.

The dead child was Julia Lee Shaffer, 5.

Julia Lee was playing with her sister Patty Ann, 10, and their two brothers Clarence, 9, and Dale 6, on the street near their home when the storm broke.

The rains filled the gutters almost immediately, carrying the children headlong through the open sewer aperture.

Police said the two boys were able to halt their headlong rush and climb out through a manhole opening. Their sisters were borne to refuse-filled Quincy Bay.

When Patty Ann emerged, Robert Myers of Quincy dived in and brought her to shore. She was hospitalized in a state of shock with cuts and bruises. Her condition was reported as good.

The body of Julia Lee was recovered a few minutes later.

Law To The 'Letter' Is Rule For New Postal Letter Rates

Look, chum — any letters you mail in the U. S. post office at anytime after midnight Thursday had better have an extra penny postage attached or someone will have to pay the difference.

Uncle Sam is being very, very setn about this, according to information received by Elmer Boatler, Big Spring postmaster. There's no period of grace for the public to "get used to things."

Westerners In Iraq Safe

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Westerners appear to be safe in Iraq now, and this ancient capital's large foreign colony reports no trouble at all since the July 14 revolution.

On that day three Americans, a German and a Briton were killed by mobs but the rioters were quickly brought under control by the new republican regime.

Most foreigners here seem convinced the army and the new government did not anticipate anti-Western violence during the uprising. The army's fault lay in letting the mobs get out of control.

Since July 14 the army has taken special precautions to protect foreigners.

A platoon of soldiers guards the Hotel Baghdad, an air-conditioned building of some 200 rooms. Several groups of about 100 demonstrators have marched up the driveway to protest the U. S. British troop landings in the Middle East or to welcome some visiting Arab dignitary. Each time the soldiers jumped to the alert, unslung their carbines and trained a machine gun on their fellow Iraqis. There was no violence.

The Iraq Petroleum Co., an internationally owned combine which pumps Iraq's main source of income out of the ground, has operated normally throughout the political turmoil.

The new increased postal rates became effective at midnight Thursday and there's no way to send a bunch of last minute mail, dropped in the slot after that hour, and expect it to go for three cents. It's four cents an ounce or else.

A letter mailed after midnight Thursday and bearing a 3-cent stamp will run into the following developments:

It will be handled on a postage due basis—the recipient will have to dig up a cent before the postman will relinquish the letter to him; should he refuse, the sender will be billed for the extra postage. If he doesn't pay—off goes the unfortunate letter to the dead letter office and then to the incinerator.

If it is a postal card involved, it must bear a 3-cent stamp instead of a 2 center. If it is an airmail letter, the postage to be paid must be at 7 cents an ounce instead of the old 6 cents. An air mail post card will cost the sender a nickel instead of 4 cents.

You might as well get used to it, chum—this is the law and the law is to be tracked to the letter, according to the U. S. Post Office Department.

There is only one concession—the post office department is to temporarily suspend a new 5-cent penalty for delivery of a postage due letter. This suspension will be effective for three months to get the public accustomed to the new rate schedule. After Nov. 1 the penalty will go back in operation.

Meantime, Washington officials have glumly concluded that even though the new rates will add half a billion dollars to this year's departmental income, the department will still wind up in the red. In fact the post office expects to terminate the next fiscal year about $600 million in the hole. The year ends June 30.

A big chunk of this deficit will be credited to the increased pay granted postal workers. It will take $270 millions to meet this increase.

The U. S. Post Office Department anticipates that the public will have to dig up $363 million extra money for first class mail; $18 million for air mail; $7 million for newspapers and other publications (effective Jan. 1, 1959) and $66 million for advertising, circulars and similar mail. This will be the bill from Aug. 1, 1958, through June 30, 1959. Next year it will be larger across the board.

How are you fixed for 4-cent stamps?

Navy Blimp Aims At North Pole In Experimental Trip

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — A Navy blimp—dubbed by its crew as the Flying Sausage — headed for the North Pole today to explore the possibility of the use of nonrigid aircraft for arctic research.

The 343-foot, ZPG-2 type blimp took off last night after a 90-minute delay caused by a heavy fog. Its destination is the ice island known as T-3, this country's floating weather station in the Arctic Ocean.

The flight is expected to take 12 days by way of Churchill, Man., and Resolute on Cornwallis Island, Northwest Territory.

On board are a crew of 14 and scientists of the International Geophysical Year. Scientists who will conduct tests on the expedition are led by Capt. Harold B. Van Gorder, commanding officer of the Naval Development Unit at the naval air station at South Weymouth.

Capt. Van Gorder, a resident of Canandaigua, N.Y., told newsmen the main advantage of a blimp is its ability to travel at low altitudes at low speeds. He said that

Marine Killed When Bullet Is Accidentally Discharged

BEIRUT (AP)—A U.S. Marine spokesman said today a private first class, fatally shot Sunday, was killed by the accidental discharge of a companion's .45 caliber automatic.

Lt. Col. Leslie Gilson, Marine spokesman, said four Marines were on an unauthorized visit to a cluster of houses half a mile forward of the Marine position at the time of the accident.

One of the Marines was climbing over a wall when his .45 apparently snagged and the bullet went through the holster into the head of a man standing below.

The dead man's name was withheld. The three surviving Marines are being held for investigation and have requested counsel before making a statement.

Under the U.S. Uniform Code of Military Justice men under investigation are not required to make a statement without the advice of lawyers.

Since the Marines landed July 15 to help protect Lebanon's pro-Western government from a pro-Nasser rebellion three other U.S. servicemen have been killed, all accidentally.

American troop commanders were on the alert to watch for trouble this week, when Lebanon's 66-member Parliament is scheduled to elect a new president.

NEW VIOLENCE The United States' top diplomatic trouble-shooter, has been conferring with rebel and government politicians in hopes of helping them agree on a compromise candidate.

But if a candidate acceptable to both sides cannot be found, the virtually stalemated rebellion may erupt into new violence.

The U.S. military reaction probably would be an increase in motorized and helicopter patrols and a set of new strongpoints. The U.S. policy has been to leave the fight against the rebels to the Lebanese army, whose commanders have been content to contain them in certain sectors of the main cities and the countryside without trying an all-out effort to end the rebellion.

In neighboring Jordan, where British troops were flown in to help protect King Hussein's pro-Western government from elements supporting President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, the Jordanian army said it had captured eight infiltrators near the Syrian border after a clash.

An army spokesman said the intruders were carrying explosives and arms when they were taken at Kafroum, about six miles from the border.

NATIONALITY NOT TOLD The nationality of the infiltrators was not disclosed. But Jordan has often charged that the U.A.R. has been sending in arms and men to help stir up a revolt among the Palestinian Arabs who look on Nasser as their leader.

A clandestine radio station, apparently operated by Palestinian Arabs near the Syrian-Jordan border, claimed three Britons were found dead yesterday in the streets of Amman, Jordan's capital. The British said their troops in Amman had a quiet weekend, with no incidents reported.

Nasser yesterday attended dedication ceremonies for Egypt's first steel plant, built by a West German firm about 40 miles south of Cairo. He said that Arabs would defend themselves against foreign aggression without help and "any attack on one Arab country is aggression on us all."

Praise for the United States came from another Arab leader, Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba. He said his nation as well as Western Europe needs U.S. protection. If the United States should withdraw back across the Atlantic, he said, "not 24 hours will pass before the Russian armies will have invaded Western Europe, which has fun playing like a spoiled child."

Brig. Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem, premier of the new Iraqi government, proclaimed a provisional constitution until a permanent one is drafted and approved by a referendum.

The provisional constitution declares Iraq is part of the "Arab nation" but is independent and sovereign. It says private property can be nationalized only if the owners are paid for it according to the law.

The constitution also says agricultural ownership will be defined and organized by law, which is believed to pave the way for breaking up large estates of the sheiks and redistributing the land among the peasants.

The situation continued to move back to normal in Iraq, whose July 14 revolution sparked fears that Nasser would also be successful in Jordan and Lebanon. Iraqi assets of 80 million pounds (224 million dollars) were unfrozen in London. Officials in Baghdad said a ban on the international transfer of money would be lifted at once and normal business relations between Iraq and the rest of the world could now be resumed.

Plans Pushed Despite Death Of Spaceman

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Plans for the first Air Force flight into outer space went ahead today despite the death in a jet crash of Capt. Iven Kincheloe Jr.—who had been chosen to make the initial attempt.

The Air Force disclosed the name of the pilot previously selected as Kincheloe's replacement. He is Capt. Robert M. White, a New Yorker who at 34 is a 16-year Air Force veteran. White is an engineering graduate of New York University and an eight-time winner of the Air Medal.

He becomes part of the three-man team assigned to the secrecy-shrouded X15 rocket plane that has been described by the secretary of the Air Force as "the first step toward a manned satellite."

Kincheloe, a rugged blond whose face someone once said belonged on a recruiting poster, had dreamed of being one of the first space pioneers to blast up into the mysterious void beyond the earth's atmosphere.

"I definitely want to be part of orbital flying," the quiet-spoken Korean War jet ace once told a reporter.

Kincheloe, 30, who liked to drive an old Model A Ford around the base, already had flown to an American altitude record of 126,000 feet in the needle-nosed X2—forerunner of the X15.

Then, last Saturday he was killed when he ejected himself from his crashing F104 jet fighter.

Cause of the crash has not been pinpointed. An investigation board said apparently Kincheloe's jet had an engine failure shortly after taking off from this base in the Mojave Desert.

his chute to blossom fully," said an Air Force investigator. The plane crashed and exploded on the desert.

The Air Force also announced that White's replacement—or "back up" pilot—is Capt. Robert Rushworth, 33, Norridge, Mo., Maine.

Memorial services for Kincheloe, who is survived by his widow and infant son, will be held here Tuesday. Burial will be at Arlington National Cemetery.

New Lubricant Shows Promise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced today the development of a possible substitute for lubricating oil that can hold up under both nuclear radiation and a wide range of temperature.

The Air Force described the new fluids as a major advance, and said in a statement they have possible use as lubricants, reactor coolants or hydraulic fluids.

The new fluids are polyphenyl ethers, composed of benzene and oxygen. The Air Force said they remain liquid and retain lubrication characteristics at temperatures ranging from 20 to 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

They also were described as being two to five times more stable under nuclear radiation than existing organic lubricants.

The fluids were developed for the Air Research and Development Command by the Monsanto Chemical Co. and the Shell Development Co.

Wrecks Damage Trailer, Auto

Two accidents within a short time of one another and both on the Snyder highway brought grief to two families moving from their former homes to new addresses.

No one was injured in either wreck but a nearly new house trailer was demolished in one accident and a 1955 Chevrolet was extensively damaged in the second.

First of the mishaps occurred at 2:30 a.m. Saturday on 15-mile hill on the Snyder highway. Bobby Dale Jones, 26, was en route from Odessa to make his new home in Maysville, Okla., pulling a 35-foot house trailer.

Losing control on the hill, the trailer broke loose from the car about half-way down and plunged into the ditch. The car did not leave the road. Jones' wife and family were following in a second car and saw the wreck. No one was injured.

Two hours later, Mrs. Joyce Langdon O'Bannon, en route to Midland from Dallas to establish her home, apparently went to sleep at 6 a.m. Her car jumped a culvert and crashed into the ditch. It was extensively damaged.

Her husband, in a truck, was close behind and sounded his horn trying to arouse his wife as he realized she was losing control of the car. No one was hurt. This accident occurred 10 miles out on the Snyder highway.

Witnesses Crowd New York Parks

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 180,000 Jehovah's Witnesses overflowed Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds Sunday to open an eight-day Divine Will International Assembly.

Negroes, whites and Asians mingled freely and heard Milton G. Henschel, convention chairman, emphasize that there is no "nationalistic or racial barrier."

"We are one," Henschel said. "Others may claim to be Christians but actions speak louder than words."

Officials have called this New York City's largest convention ever. A spokesman for the Witnesses said 117,295 were at the Stadium and 62,996 at the Polo Grounds. Thousands were in streets nearby, many munching hot dogs while listening to the speeches over amplifiers.

Men circulated through the stands carrying small signs that read, "Quiet, Please." These served to remind the few whose enthusiasm led to raised voices.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours! New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene®.

Baptist Men Open Meeting

Baptist Brotherhood members of this district got their annual men's "round up" under way this morning at the encampment grounds south of town.

On hand to assist with the one-day program were two Baptist state leaders—L. H. Tapscott, Brotherhood secretary, and Robert Chapman, Royal Ambassadors (boys) secretary, both of Dallas.

Chief speakers were C. C. Kelly of White Deer, state Brotherhood president; Rev. Carl Grissom, Andrews First Baptist minister; and Dr. Carlyle Marney, Austin First Baptist pastor.

Theme of the round up was "What Is That In Thy Hand?" G. G. Morehead of Big Spring, district president of the men's organization, was in charge of the program.

Morrow Preaches His First Sermon

FORT WORTH (AP)—Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow preached his first major sermon in a church yesterday.

Speaking at the Trail Lake Church of Christ, Morrow said challenge, the guiding motive of a top track star, was the key.

"The Christian race can be lost as an actual track race is lost," he declared. "How? Failing to play the game according to the rules."

The great runner of Abilene Christian College compared Christ, the master teacher, to an athletic coach. He said the youngsters could understand failure due to not listening to the coach.

The LOW cost of LIVING! There has been much talk lately about the high cost of living—and especially about the high cost of hospital and medical care. It's time to say a few words about the high cost of NOT living. The best bargain you can buy today is the health care available from American doctors and hospitals.

Glamour Not Costly

Catherine McLeod feels that glamour doesn't have to take a lot of time or money. She believes that you have to train yourself to feel glamorous. In today's Hollywood Beauty she tells how she uses petroleum jelly as a beauty aid. Catherine will soon be seen in Columbia's "Return to Warbow."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Buttermilk, Ice, And Petroleum Jelly Used

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Catherine McLeod is married to actor Don Keefe, who understands her desire to be both home-maker and actress. "When you have a double career," she told me on the "Return to Warbow" set at Columbia, "you are really two people, and to be happy you should enjoy both your jobs."
"Sometimes when I have been cleaning house and looking after my two boys I get a call from my agent to come quickly to see a producer about a part. It used to worry me that I didn't have as much time as I would like to get ready, but I have learned now that if you think you are beautiful it will carry you a long way."
"When my nails are not manicured and my hands are not as soft as I wish they were, I wear gloves. I look in the mirror before I leave, knowing I've done my best with the time I've had."
"When I leave my room I don't worry or give another thought to my appearance. The time for grooming is in your own bedroom—when you can do something about it. It's no use worrying about yourself once you're out of the house."

Catherine feels that it isn't necessary to spend a lot of money on cosmetics. She washes her face with buttermilk followed by ice, which leaves it soft and glowing.
"I'm very fond of petroleum jelly as a beauty aid," she confided. "I buy it in big jars and use it as a hair dressing, which gives a nice sheen. I brush it on my eyebrows to keep them soft and in place. And I find it excellent for making them grow."
"Mascara has a tendency to be drying to my lashes, so I put a little petroleum jelly on them to keep them soft. I also use it on my cuticle every night. And sometimes I put it on my hands and wear gloves to bed."
"If my lips become dry or chapped I use a little to make them soft again. There are so many things for which you can use petroleum jelly. I just wouldn't without it," Catherine concluded.

Collector's Items Will Never Bring Good Price

By ANNE LEFEVER
I sometimes think I must have descended from a long line of pack rats; furthermore, I have a supply of boxes, trunks, ribbons and other ill-assorted "treasures" to prove it.
Boxes within boxes fill the shelves of the guest room, and do I ever find a use for one? Not very often, because usually each one seems too large, too small, too pretty to give up, or just the strength that I might need for some heavier parcel.

Not only do I have to rearrange the boxes to make room for the possessions of my guests; I must restack the piles of fancy wrapping paper which is to be used in covering a birthday gift or baby present. Yes, I know most shops wrap gifts, but some day, I might want to be a do-it-yourselfer. (My Christmas stock of second hand wrappings I keep in a separate place—along with the yuletide boxes.)
That also goes for ribbons and bows removed with the utmost care from packages. Of course, when I am ready to decorate a gift, none of the ribbon is long enough and not a bow matches the correct length of ribbon, but some day, if I continue to keep it all carefully, I'll get it matched up.
Keep it carefully, did I say. That's a joke! No matter how I pack the bows away, when I open the drawer in which they are kept, most of them look as if a weight of some type had been resting there.
Probably the most space-consuming collection is my backlog of jars, bottles and little plastic containers. There are fruit jars, saved against the day that I will find the time to can something—I don't know what. Then, dreaming of some time having a few flowers, in my yard, I save the fancy-shaped jars in which jelly, jam and relishes are purchased.
Pride of that division is a bottle, which has been placed in my yard to catch the rays of the sun.

Perhaps Normal Waistlines May Yet Be Saved By Designer

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP) — Patou's new young designer, Roland Karl, today made what looked like a timid attempt to bring back the normal waistline to female fashions.
Karl, 24, fired off the opening gun in the Paris fall and winter showings. Unlike his friend and fellow fashion prize winner, Yves Saint-Laurent at Dior, young Karl is not revolutionary.
His big idea, a silhouette with flared skirt and nearly fitted waist, is almost a princess outline. But, perhaps because the young newcomer lacked the courage of his convictions, the waistline is still slightly slack.

There's no news yet in hemlines. They are just below the knee, lengthened by that fraction that is always expected for winter wear.
While the press saw Patou, buyers were looking at—and liking—Lanvin's new collection. According to a thumbnail report, it is very high-waisted and very short.
This may be a tipoff that Paris will go—as Rome went—for the Empire Line. It would not be surprising if Patou's nearly normal waistline sets a trend, as the house seems to aim more to please all the customers than to set the style.
Dior's new creations will be shown Thursday.
Karl describes his line as resembling the letter K, (for Karl) but aside from the flared skirt which might be the bottom half, the likeness is even more obscure than these alphabetical styles—usually are.

In general, Karl puts the waistline in inverted parentheses rather than cinching it up tightly.
But he turns his back firmly on the ballooning fullness of last season, and there's nothing in his show that could really be accused of being a sack.
Here are some of the new notes he strikes:
Slightly off-centered X-drapery at the waistline. Shoulder epaulets, and sleeves mounted in an epaulet effect.
Three big buttons spaced sparingly to close a dress from neck to hem.
Big, but not upstanding, fur collars.
Stark little black dresses with generous décolletage, used as foils for a big diamond jewel.
Tunic-length tubular coats matching the dress they cover.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

A miscellaneous shower honored Tommye Anne Hill Friday afternoon in the home of Twila Lomax, with aqua and white featured as the colors.
The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. T. F. Hill, 811 East 12th, and the late Mr. Hill. Parents of Enoch L. Blewett, the prospective bridegroom, are Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blewett, 108 Creighton.
The couple will be married in the East Fourth Baptist Church on Aug. 14.

Miss Lomax received guests and presented the honoree and the mothers of the engaged pair.
Other hostesses included Mrs. J. H. Fryar, Mrs. Arthur Stallings, Mrs. E. W. Lomax, Mrs. H. G. Hill, Mrs. Jeff Grant and Mrs. Lucille Daniel.

Mansfield Urges End To Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today it might be a good thing if Congress wound up its session before the start of a United Nations summit conference on the Middle East.

Congress is moving into a stretch drive with members talking of an Aug. 9 adjournment and others saying it's possible within a week after that, Aug. 11 has been mentioned as a possible starting date if President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other heads of state meet in New York.

"I think President Eisenhower probably would feel freer to act if Congress were not in session and as it were, looking over his shoulder at a summit conference," Mansfield said in an interview.

It would assume the President would keep in close touch with the congressional leaders if we are not in session. In any event he can carry on negotiations with the knowledge he has the united support of the country behind him.

Eisenhower's Middle East policy has come under fire in the Senate and more of this running debate can be expected as long as Congress is in session.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), for instance, has told the Senate he will document for it his charge that Eisenhower's decision to send troops to Lebanon was taken "in clear violation of the Constitution."

Mansfield and Senators J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) and Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), among others, have criticized what they called Eisenhower's reluctant attitude toward meeting Soviet Premier Khrushchev at the summit.

Humphrey said on a television program this country should enter such a meeting "with a program in hand; that we clearly understand what we're after and the kind of solution we want."

Not all of the policy criticism has come from Democrats. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) said in another TV broadcast that while he supports the decision to send troops to Lebanon it "indicates a lack of success in our Middle East policies."

Suicide Plan Ends Up In Mud Puddle

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police said Donald Will's dramatic suicide plan—driving off a bridge—ended up in a mud puddle.

What's more, the girl who spurned his marriage proposal was with him.

"You'd better get out of here," Wilt told Phyllis Joann Aultman yesterday. "When I get to the second bridge I'm going to drive off."

And when Wilt got to the second bridge he did drive off. The car plunged 20 feet down an embankment and into the San Gabriel River bed.

Driver and passenger were thrown into mud and water. The tide was out and the water was shallow. Wilt, 28, was treated for a broken arm and Miss Aultman, 19, for a scalp laceration.

Reporters and Secret Service agents swarmed out of other cars in the motorcade to see what had happened. Eisenhower and his wife calmly stepped out of his car, glanced at the flat rear tire and then climbed into a spare limousine.

In less than 90 seconds, the motorcade was off again, leaving the first car and a driver at the side of the road.

Ike Changes Cars, Not Tire

WASHINGTON (AP)—When President Eisenhower's automobile gets a flat tire, Eisenhower doesn't wait for a tire change. He changes cars.

That's what happened yesterday as the President and Mrs. Eisenhower were returning to the White House from a weekend rest at their Gettysburg farm.

A flat tire on Eisenhower's big black limousine halted the 10-car presidential motorcade just south of Frederick, Md., briefly blocking traffic on busy U. S. Route 240.

Reporters and Secret Service agents swarmed out of other cars in the motorcade to see what had happened. Eisenhower and his wife calmly stepped out of his car, glanced at the flat rear tire and then climbed into a spare limousine.

In less than 90 seconds, the motorcade was off again, leaving the first car and a driver at the side of the road.

Chinese Generals Surprise Troops

HONG KONG (AP)—Generals in Communist China's army are working side by side with privates at the soldier's traditional duties of picking up stray cigarette butts and doing kitchen police.

"The enlisted men were surprised and some of them were a little afraid," said one Communist newspaper reporting the generals' appearance in work uniforms.

"Soon, however, fear was changed to love, and fraternal feelings were established."

The program is part of Communist China's new "five things in person campaign"—seeing, hearing, thinking, writing and ideological working.

Strong Signal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Explorer IV is transmitting "the strongest signal I've noticed from a satellite," says the director of Ohio State University's radio observatory, Dr. John D. Kraus.

The observatory and another Ohio State facility, the antenna laboratory, have been tracking America's newest satellite since its second swing around the globe.

Weekend Deaths Take Sharp Dip

By The Associated Press
The weekend violent death toll took a sharp dip in Texas with only ten reported from Friday night through midnight Sunday.

Only one of the deaths was attributed to highway accidents. Three persons drowned. The others lost their lives as result of fires, accidents or shootings.

West Texas deaths included: James William George father of three, was killed Saturday when a tractor with which he was plowing on his farm northeast of Wichita Falls toppled backward into a drainage ditch and pinned him in shallow water.
