Distance flier Marion (Pat) Boling, veteran airline pilot, is greeted by wife Joyce and son, Kevin, 9, at Pendleton, Ore., after his arrival from Manila on a record flight for single engine planes without stopping or refueling. Two other children remained at home in Palo Alto, Calif. Boling flew 6,979 miles in 45 hours and 42 minutes. (See story on Page 6-A.)

Fighters To Arrive At Webb Monday

Twelve speedy jet fighters will blast across Big Spring skies Monday morning to mark the beginning of a dual role for Webb Air Force Base.

First planes of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron are due to arrive at 11 a. m. as the unit of the Air Defense Command starts its transfer to Webb from Stewart AFB, Newburgh, N. Y. The dozen F-86 fighters, accompanied by two T-33 trainers, along with the 331st, will make a low-altitude pass over the city just before landing at their new home base.

On hand to greet the fliers when they land will be Col. John T. Fitzwater of Oklahoma City, commander of the 33rd Air Division of the ADC, and Webb AFB officials. Leading the squadron to Big Spring will be its commander, Lt. Col. Richard T. Watson.

Mighty Atlas Passes Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The fully powered Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile thundered aloft Saturday on its first successful test journey through space.

The 100-ton, three-engine rocket was the mightiest war weapon ever launched by the free world.

The spectacular shoot boosted U.S. ICBM prestige and offset a dismal failure July 29 when the first three-engine Atlas blew high in the sky.

Yarborough Is 'Delegate' Of Howard Group

DOT Forces Appear Swamped

Sen. Ralph Yarborough was named an honorary delegate from Howard County to the state Democratic convention when local Democrats held their county convention Saturday.

The group also voted to invite Yarborough to be guest of the Howard delegation at the meeting in San Antonio Sept. 9.

The liberal arm of the party was in complete control, and the only opposition it encountered was a scattering of "noes" from the Precinct 16 (Park Hill) delegation when a vote was called on a resolution asking that members of other parties be prohibited from participating in Democratic affairs.

H. L. Hunt, 69, of Dallas, said to be one of the world's richest men, has been subpoenaed to testify at Indianapolis in a federal grand jury investigation of a gambling syndicate.

and Tarrant counties, both of which went solidly conservative as expected.

FRUSTRATED

United States Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who flew to Texas from Washington Saturday attempting to stop the Daniel tide, thus saw his efforts frustrated, although how much his presence strengthened the liberals could not be assessed.

Jim Lindsey, State Democratic Executive Committee chairman, issued a statement late Saturday night saying, "From all parts of the state there is a definite trend showing that the moderates and conservatives have a comfortable majority in favor of Gov. Daniel."

"This is a wholesale endorsement of the governor's program for a stronger and more united party and it will be repeated at the San Antonio state convention on Sept. 9."

Lindsey also said his reports indicated that the Daniel forces have a majority of the senatorial districts. That is significant because convention officers are selected in senatorial district caucuses.

Webb Pilot Is Killed As Car Strikes Cable

First Lt. James H. Gordon, pilot instructor at Webb AFB, was killed about 8:20 a. m. Saturday when his automobile struck a cable stretched between two heavy tractors on a road construction project near Merkel.

Lt. Gordon died of a broken neck. The top of his car was sheared off by the cable.

Witnesses said the flier was driving along a section of road which supposedly was closed to traffic during construction. One of the road machines was working on the side of the highway on a steep embankment. A cable was stretched to the other machine, on the opposite side of the two-lane roadway, to keep the working equipment from slipping off the embankment.

Marriage License Untangled From Lot Of Red Tape

A marriage license was issued on Saturday to T. J. Harris and Miss Rayburn Wampler but it took quite a lot of doing.

In the first place, the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk, is closed on Saturday.

In the second place, the couple had miscounted the legal lapse of days required before an application can be made.

Yarborough Is 'Delegate' Of Howard Group

Sen. Ralph Yarborough was named an honorary delegate from Howard County to the state Democratic convention when local Democrats held their county convention Saturday.

The group also voted to invite Yarborough to be guest of the Howard delegation at the meeting in San Antonio Sept. 9.

The liberal arm of the party was in complete control, and the only opposition it encountered was a scattering of "noes" from the Precinct 16 (Park Hill) delegation when a vote was called on a resolution asking that members of other parties be prohibited from participating in Democratic affairs.

Hoffa Data Will Need 'Explanation'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said Saturday that evidence dug up by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee about the affairs of James R. Hoffa and his Teamsters' Union "will need a lot of explanation."

McClellan told newsmen Hoffa has been called to testify Tuesday when the committee will resume public hearings into what it has described as tie-ups between underworld bigshots and crooked labor leaders. McClellan is chairman of the committee.

The testimony will involve Teamster activities not only in Detroit, Hoffa's headquarters, but in other areas as well, McClellan said. He added, however, that it stems out of Detroit.

Hoffa Data Will Need 'Explanation'

Kennedy said states involved in the inquiry, or from which witnesses will be called, include California, Nevada, Minnesota, Nebraska, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Pennsylvania, New York, Missouri, and Kansas.

Among the witnesses, he said, will be Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, a Teamster vice president and administrative assistant to Hoffa, and Owen B. Brennan of Detroit, another Teamster vice president and a business associate of Hoffa.

Hoffa was a witness before the committee nearly a year ago, shortly before his election to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters Union.

The legality of his election was challenged by some members of the union, but Hoffa subsequently was permitted to take office after court-appointed monitors were named to oversee the union's affairs.

Iraqi Government Releases Marines

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The United States recognized the Republic of Iraq Saturday, an act accompanied by expressions of good will from both sides and the release of two arrested U.S. Marines.

U.S. Ambassador Waldemar Gallman handed the note of recognition to Foreign Minister Abdul Jabbar Jomard of the regime that rose to power July 14.

Both Gallman and Jomard said they were pleased by the act of recognition and expressed confidence that many years of close, friendly relations between the two nations would continue.

Charlots Can Still Be Dangerous

ST. ALBANS, England (AP) — This town, steeped in Roman history, has posted a highway safety sign saying: "Many Romans lie buried here. Please do not join them."

YMCA Goes On Vacation Schedule

The YMCA started operating on its abbreviated vacation schedule Friday.

Until Sept. 8, the institution will be open only from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily. Only scheduled activities will be the meetings of auto clubs, state hospital classes and judo classes, said Bobo Hardy, secretary.

Two New Officers On Sheriff's Staff

George Bogard, well known in Howard and Glasscock counties, has assumed his duties as jailer at the Howard County Jail. He moved into the jailer's apartment and began work Friday. He replaces Joe Pierce, who had to resign the post some weeks ago due to bad health.

Mitchell Demos Support Daniel

COLORADO CITY — Conservative forces of Gov. Price Daniel scored the Democrats of Texas at the Mitchell County Democratic convention Saturday afternoon and pledged its eight delegates to the state meet to support the governor.

Elected to the state convention were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Gene Steakley, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Berman, Frank Kelley and Mrs. James Payne.

The county convention was attended by 57 delegates, 51 of which were from the Colorado City precinct.

U.S. Recognizes Rebel Iraq Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Saturday recognized the revolutionary government of Iraq which it had first denounced. The move was regarded here as undermining much of the Soviet line toward the prospective Middle East summit conference.

A high government official said, in another development bearing on summit prospects, that President Eisenhower will have a series of concrete constructive proposals to make when and if he meets Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other heads of government in an extraordinary session of the U.N. Security Council.

Absentee Voting To Open Monday

Absentee balloting for the Aug. 25 secondary primary will open Monday at the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk.

Mrs. Petty said that the absentee box will be put in operation Monday morning. The absentee voting period, under the law, is supposed to open on Aug. 3 but the Sunday made it necessary to move the date to Monday.

Vincent Twister Kills 200 Chickens

A belated report Saturday told of a small twister Thursday that struck on a farm near Vincent, killing 200 chickens and demolishing a chicken house.

Highway patrol officers said that a resident of that community whose name they did not know, reported that the wind, during last Thursday night's turbulent weather, swooped down on his place. The chickens and the chicken house were the victims, the patrol was informed.

Arlington Girl Is 'Miss Texas'

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Miss Arlington, Mary Nell Hendricks, 22, won the Miss Texas Contest here Saturday night.

Second was Miss Houston, Janet Ruth McMullin, 19, while Miss Dallas, Carroll Ann Curdie, 18, was third.

Wilma Frances LeRibeux, 18, of Brazosport was chosen by the other girls as Miss Congeniality.

The other two finalists were Karen Rae Hartley, 19, of Beaumont, and Myrna Jo Phillips, 18, of Odessa.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

This was the week when some office seekers were willing to forgo all about politics, while the few winners were girding for another test August 23. The convention arguments passed beyond the local level, with the next hassle due to occur at the state convention. Most observers are saying that the main task this month will be to shake the voters out of their homes and to the polls.

If the water doesn't come from the heavens, and precious little of it did this week, despite much thunderous furor, it has to come from supplies at hand. The city set new records on daily usage, and a 10-million gallon day is going to become a common thing.

Captured

A state trooper holds a gun to the back of Clyde Cope, 31, as he herds the man from a wooded area near Elverson, Pa., after Cope and a companion were captured shortly after the holdup of the Elverson bank. Police said Cope had part of the $20,000 loot stuffed in his shirt.

Benson Gains Note As Miracle Worker

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson is coming to be regarded as something of a political miracle worker. This tag is being given him by some farm and political leaders since a Democratic-controlled Senate passed a farm bill that featured Benson's philosophy that the federal government should make a bold retreat from the field of farm controls.

In addition, some Republican party leaders are beginning to reappraise Benson. Not so many months ago, many of these leaders, while sympathetic toward his policies, were viewing him as a political liability, particularly in upcoming election campaigns in Midwestern farm belt districts.

Now talk is heard about him being a party asset. Of course, some Republicans still see him as a political handicap.

His career has followed an up-and-down course since he took a leave of absence as a church leader in 1953 to take on one of the most controversial posts in the federal government.

Earlier this year demands came from within his own party that he resign on the ground that his policies were hurting farmers and that the GOP would suffer as a consequence.

Now, some of his admirers are suggesting that Benson would be a good vice-presidential choice in 1960.

Certainly, reluctant Congresses have gone a long way toward establishing the kind of agricultural policies he has urged. It is his contention that government should largely withdraw from the practice of controlling farm production and in setting farm prices.

Rather, he believes that government should limit its activities in this field toward (1) promoting greater agricultural research designed to enable farmers to produce more efficiently and cheaply; (2) helping farmers broaden markets for the abundant productive capacity.

This session of Congress saw a Senate Agriculture Committee give Benson an almost merciless going-over early in the year. This same committee wound up by going a long way toward accepting his recommendations for such crops as cotton, rice, corn and livestock feed grains.

This year's upturn in farm prices and income have helped boost Benson's stock. Prices have averaged about 8 per cent above last year and net farm income during the first half of the year was estimated to have been about 22 per cent above the revised estimate for the first half of 1956.

Air Academy Building Fast

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—New buildings of gleaming glass and concrete—one of them a third of a mile long—are being rushed to house the U.S. Air Force Academy.

The academy, newest of the nation's service schools, plans to begin occupying its permanent quarters eight miles north of Colorado Springs Aug. 29.

Four days later classes will start, even though marching cadets will have to thread their way among bulldozers and concrete mixers for a few months.

Near completion of the academy—authorized only four years ago—was hailed by the director of its construction agency, Col. A. E. Stoltz, as "an educational building program unparalleled in American history."

Already, says Col. Stoltz, almost $5 million dollars has been spent on the buildings, in housing for permanent personnel and in improving the 17,800 acres of grounds. Included are more than 40 miles of highways, the major ones of the divided four-lane variety.

Construction authorizations still call for about 20 million dollars additional spending.

The academy site is larger than for either of the other service schools. It is on rolling ground at the foothills of the Rampart Range of the Rocky Mountains and only a few miles from Pike's Peak.

The largest single building—the cadet dormitory—is rated 98 per cent complete, the academic buildings are 94 per cent finished and the 3,000-man dining hall is ready for occupancy. Each dormitory room has a picture window, many with a mountain view. Fixtures and furnishings are of walnut.

MEN IN SERVICE

A.S.C. Alvin Luce, 17, son of Mrs. Georgia Luce, Old West Highway 80, is now attending the Air Force jet engine school at Chanute AFB, Ill.

He enlisted in the service last May 3, completed basic training at Lackland AFB about June 1, and was enrolled in the engine school. He is scheduled to receive a 15-day leave in October, following graduation from the technical school.

Young Luce attended Big Spring High School before entering the Air Force.

Douglas McEvers, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. McEvers, 508 Johnson, has completed his boot training in San Diego, Calif., and is now visiting his parents. After his two-weeks leave is ended, he will be stationed on the USS Cunningham in Long Beach, Calif.

Second Lt. Morris F. Rogers, Marine pilot student, has made his first solo flight at the Pensacola Naval Air Station, Fla.

Lt. Rogers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Huey J. Rogers, 1502 Tucson, Big Spring. He attended Texas A&M College before entering the Marine Corps flight program.

In addition to flying instruction, he is receiving training in communications, navigation, engineering, civil air regulations and other subjects. He is now in the basic flight training program at Pensacola.

Stock Market Runs Close To Bull Condition

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This stock market moved to within shouting distance of a historic bull market high this week by running its string of weekly advances to six.

At week's end the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was at the highest level in a year.

Price boosts for steel, aluminum and copper helped jog the list out of a profit-taking mood. Both investment and speculative interest ran a temperature as the week's volume soared to 18,760,460 shares, most since the week ended last Oct. 26.

This helped boost July turnover to 69,496,464 shares, the heaviest for any month in 3½ years and the greatest for any July since 1932.

An estimated 23 billion dollars was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Exchange in July, based on the rise in the AP average in that month.

During the past week, the AP 60-stock average rose $1.10 to $183.80. During July it rose $7.70. Another rise equivalent to that would put the average at the all-time bull market high of $191.50 reached on April 6, 1956.

A series of steel price boost announcements began to affect the market on Wednesday and prices recovered after an early decline. When U.S. Steel capped the steel news with its own price rise on Thursday, the market seemed to have "had it" temporarily and the reversal took place on the week's biggest trading day.

Price hikes by the aluminums, accompanied by a rise in copper prices at the custom smelter level, inspired an initially spotty market to a good advance on Friday. This put the average well ahead.

Texas GOP Is Ready For A Hard Campaign

HOUSTON (AP)—Republican State Chairman Thad Hutcheson says the GOP is set to "wage a hammer and tongs campaign in Texas leading to the November elections."

"I'm sure we will lose more than we will win but that's not the problem with the Republicans right now," Hutcheson said. "We want to go out with hammer and tongs and not look back."

The GOP will bid for congressional, state and state Legislature offices.

"We have the strongest list of Legislature candidates that we have ever had," he said. "We're counting heavily on establishing a loyal opposition in the state house this year."

The GOP is particularly interested in the new 22nd Congressional District set up to replace Rep. Martin Dies' congressman-at-large post. Voters picked Harris County Judge Bob Casey as the Democratic nominee. Casey will face the GOP's T. E. Kennerly, former president of the Houston Bar Assn. and a trustee of Baylor University.

Dallas' GOP Rep. Bruce Alger, said Hutcheson, is a cinch to whip his Democratic opponent, Barefoot Sanders. Alger is Texas' only Republican congressman.

Hutcheson said he thought results of the Yarborough-Blakley Democratic primary race for the U.S. Senate nomination gave the Republican cause a boost.

Apparently the eyes of many conservatives were opened by the results," he said. "We find it has produced a number of new Republican converts."

Hutcheson said he thought the outcome would mean a sizeable batch of Blakley votes for the GOP candidate, Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo, in November. He added:

"The U.S. Senate race will be a major objective. We know we start that race not only with a strong corps of Republican strength but also with tremendous block of anti-Yarborough sentiment."

The Republican ticket also will list Ed Mayer of San Angelo for governor against Democratic Gov. Price Daniel and Grover Carothers of Stamford for agriculture commissioner against the Democrats' incumbent John White.

The Texas GOP head says he is optimistic over "special situations" in Houston, Midland, San Angelo, Dallas and San Antonio and "I feel we have a good chance of breaking into the State House in several positions."

We sincerely thank all the kind friends, neighbors and relatives for the many courtesies, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes that were given at the passing of Norma Faye Blakwell.

Recession Called A 'Leveling Off'

AUSTIN (AP)—The 1958 recession in Texas primarily has been an interruption of the upward progress of the state's economy, a leveling off more than a decline, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Total retail sales for the first half of this year are only one per cent below a year ago.

"There have been some poor months, but they were partly offset by some fairly good ones. The reason for this lies in the diversified nature of the state's economy which is solidly based on agriculture, oil and the manufacture of nondurable goods," the report said.

The improvement in agriculture from the drought years has helped to offset some of the decline in oil activity. The bureau said the fact that the durable goods industries which have borne the brunt of the recession are in the north and east has meant that Texas industry was touched comparatively lightly.

Mrs. Bowles Tells Of Slaying Events

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Bryant William Bowles Jr., described at her husband's murder trial here today a long series of incidents that led to the shotgun slaying of James E. Harvey, their brother-in-law.

Bowles, founder of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, is charged with the shooting at the Harvey home in Loeb, near Beaumont last May 4.

Sobbing from the witness stand, Mrs. Bowles told in detail of a family quarrel that preceded the shooting.

She testified that while she was visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary Beth Mitchell, three of her children walked over to where Harvey and other men were working on the home of her parents.

Mrs. Bowles said one of the girls returned and told her some of the men were calling her father names. She quoted the girl as saying one of the men said Bowles couldn't build an outhouse that wouldn't fall down.

Mrs. Bowles said she went over to where the men were working and asked why they were cursing her husband.

She testified that Harvey jumped up and cursed her husband and said he wasn't worth the killing. She said Harvey shook his finger in her face as he talked. She said she slapped his hand away and told him to keep his dirty fingers out of her face.

Mrs. Bowles testified that she fell backward on the ground, landing in a sitting position. She said Harvey grabbed her arms and shook her and told her he would stomp her into the ground.

She said she told Harvey that she guessed he knew "that Bryant is on his way down here." Bowles at that time was in Chicago.

The witness said Harvey again cursed Bowles and told her to tell her husband to come out and see him.

Mrs. Bowles said she told Harvey he had sealed his own doom. She said she then went to a drive-in store and telephoned her husband. She said Bowles told her he was going out to see Harvey.

She said her husband did not want her to go along, but she insisted on going.

She was giving her version of the shooting as the morning session of court ended. She said Bowles did not plan or intend to kill Harvey, but he did intend to make him throw down his knife and fight.

The state rested Friday.

20 Major Bills Still Need Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 20 major bills—some certain to be passed and others highly controversial—stand between the 85th Congress and final adjournment.

Some congressional leaders said they hope the 1958 session can close shop a week from Saturday. But many lawmakers seemed to think Aug. 15 or 16 is a more reasonable target.

Bills on three politically explosive subjects—federal aid to education, social security, and foreign aid—appear to hold the key to the get-away date.

The House on Thursday passed 375-2 a complex measure to boost social security insurance benefits seven per cent as well as the taxes to pay for them.

The Senate Finance Committee, which handles such legislation, is faced with a heavy work load in the adjournment rush. Some members said they would bring up the House social security bill Monday when the group meets on other legislation.

President Eisenhower has asked the Senate to restore the entire 597 million dollars cut by the House from the $3,078,000,000 foreign aid bill. The Senate Appropriations Committee may act on this Tuesday.

The education bill, including college scholarships and measures to improve teaching in elementary and high schools, has not passed either branch.

The House version is awaiting Rules Committee clearance, which may come Tuesday. The Senate Labor Committee hopes to complete work on a similar bill early in the week. Both carry more than a billion dollars in federal grant and loan funds.

Aside from the education measure, the House has yet to act on these major pieces of legislation: Eisenhower's request for a further increase in the debt limit to 288 billion dollars. It has been approved by the Ways and Means Committee.

A Senate-passed farm bill loosening acreage controls and lowering price supports on cotton, rice, corn, and feed grains. The House Agriculture Committee approved a revised version Friday.

A Senate-passed bill carrying 375 million dollars in federal grant and loan funds to aid depressed areas.

A Senate bill setting up a new federal aviation agency.

A Senate-passed bill carrying $2,475,000,000 for a variety of housing programs.

A Senate bill providing for public disclosure of data on pension and welfare funds. A different version is awaiting House debate.

The Senate has on its program these additional measures:

Two bulky House-passed tax bills, one making numerous changes in excise levies and the other revising general revenue laws. Both have been approved by the Finance Committee.

Motorists Like Air Conditioning

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. motorists are going more and more for air conditioning, one of the more expensive extras in automotive equipment.

Authoritative estimates put the number of installations last year at 400,000 units. The figure may be somewhat smaller this year because of the lower volume of car sales, but the percentage is expected to be higher. Some industry sources are predicting that by 1960 approximately 5 per cent of all new cars will be air-conditioned.

Harry W. Loper, automotive engineer of the Dow Chemical Co., advises motorists with air conditioning systems to give more than casual attention to their engine cooling systems. Air conditioning, he says, puts an added load on the cooling system.

Shirley MacLaine May Leave U.S.

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley MacLaine, most promising of all new screen and television comedienne, is faced with a problem rare among actresses.

If she stays in Hollywood, there is no doubt but that she will become a top earning star. She's well on her way now.

But for more than six months she has been seriously considering chucking the whole thing and living in Japan. That is the country in which, at this time, her husband makes his living.

"I've already been separated from him for more than a year and a half," she says, "and I don't want to go through that again. I'll live in Japan and forget about Hollywood."

Bugs and debris should be cleaned from the radiator. Dragging brakes or improperly adjusted engine, he adds, may cause overheating.

Usually cars equipped with air conditioning at the factory have radiators with greater heat rejecting capacity. Some are equipped with five or six-bladed fans, instead of the usual four; 17-pound pressure caps instead of 13 or 14 pounds; and some have shrouds around the fan.

Air conditioning systems generally consist of a compressor, usually mounted on the car engine block; a condenser, located in front of the radiator; evaporator-blower fitted into the trunk or under the instrument panel; lines connecting these various units and controls on or near the instrument panel.

Danger of overheating the car cooling system, of course, is the major problem with cars equipped with air-conditioners. He recommends care be taken that the proper coolant is used in cars with air conditioning units.

Soon after their marriage, Walls caught the show with the idea of looking at Miss Haney.

"When they announced that Miss Haney had injured an ankle and would be replaced," Walls recalls, "I almost walked out. But then I decided I had no place else to go, so I stayed."

"There was something electric about this impish understudy, so I went backstage and signed her on the spot."

Since then, she has made several movies, including "Around the World in 80 Days," "The Matchmaker" and recently signed to costar with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin in "Some Came Running." And in the past three years her television price has gone up—from $750 for her first appearance with Bob Hope to around $30,000 for last season's appearances with Dinah Shore.

Crops Need Good Rain

Where there was rain last week, crops were materially benefited but in most parts of the county, no rain fell, according to Jimmy Taylor, county agent. The showers which occurred were extremely spotty and the areas they favored were often sharply restricted, he said.

Where no rain fell, there is a need for rain. The hot weather of recent weeks has been hard on crops, he said, and a good rain would work wonders at this time.

A few boll worms have been found but the number has not as yet built up enough to be a major problem. Grasshoppers, which loomed as a threat for a while, did not develop as feared. There are still grasshoppers, Taylor said, but they are mostly in pasture lands and have not caused the farmers any material grief. Rabbits, which were a menace a few weeks ago, are no longer the problem they were.

Curtain Ripped

BERLIN (AP)—Officials' report 13,476 escapes to West Berlin from Red-ruled East Germany in July for an increase of about 5,000 over July 1957.

Help Asked In Saving Signs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government appealed today for help in locating and resurveying half a million bronze discs 3½ inches in diameter. They're scattered all over the countryside. The discs are imbedded in concrete or rock and represent surveys the elevation at a given point.

Another type is the triangulation station mark which gives precise latitude and longitude. These cost $1,500 or more in remote regions.

Vandals and souvenir hunters make off with some of the discs. But the Survey said most of the marks vanish in the course of road construction work.

Each of the bronze discs carries this legend: "$250 fine or imprisonment for disturbing this mark."

Riddle: What's A Purple People Eater? Answer: It's Just A Riddle Set To Music

By PAUL BUIAR
NEW YORK (AP)—"Riddle" said songwriter friend Don Robertson to songwriter Sheb Wooley. "What has one eye, one horn, flies and eats people?"

"Don't know," said Wooley. "Answer," said Robertson. "A one-eyed, one-horned, flying purple eater."

It happened in Los Angeles just before Christmas. As Gordon Gray, national field coordinator for MGM records, told the story during a recent visit to New York, the riddle was current at that moment among Los Angeles teenagers.

Wooley liked it, said he would use it as the basis for a tune. Next day he wrote the song. He added "purple" for color and to heighten the impression of an outer-space character and he called it "Purple People Eater."

At a recording session in January, Wooley went through a basket full of tunes but they were all turned down by Jesse Kaye, MGM West Coast artist and repertoire man, and MGM President Arnold Maxin.

In desperation, Wooley pulled out PPE. It was recorded, said Gray, because there was nothing better available.

The arrangement was Wooley's idea. The people-eater's voice, done by Wooley, was recorded at half speed and later cut into the final product. The record was held for release until April 28 because a novelty record put out by another company was still popular. No one at MGM was overly confident. Gray optimistically bet $5 that PPE would sell 100,000 discs.

The record's rapid rise and sale was nothing short of fantastic. Within three weeks it was on all national best seller lists and at last count, sales were nearing the two million mark. It already has been recorded in 10 languages.

Based on its swelling popularity abroad, world sales are expected to ultimately reach 5 1/2 to 6 million. PPE has been a bonanza for Wooley. In addition to his shares as composer and performer, he also receives the publisher's share. He had the foresight to publish PPE through Cordia 1 Music, a firm he organized about six years ago.

Through his three-way cut he should clear more than $200,000. There are fringe benefits, too. PPE dolls, novelty pins and various articles of clothing are making their way to market.

Songwriter friend Don Robertson, the man who started it all, is also sharing the windfall. On the flip side of PPE is "I Can't Believe You're Mine," written by Robertson and published by his firm.

Housing Contractor Blames Air Force For Lack Of Water

Don R. Everett, vice president of Williams & Dunlap, general contractor for the huge Capehart housing project for Webb Air Force Base, Saturday publicly accused the Air Force of deliberate misinformation in its invitation to bid on the project.

The misinformation, he says, was in relation to the availability of an adequate water supply for construction work on the job—there is no such water supply available, he charges.

In a lengthy letter dispatched Oct. 1 to "The Head of The Department, care of the Base Procurement Office, Capehart Housing Project, Webb Air Force Base," Everett traces the history of the water difficulty. He warns that the contractor will hold the Air Force responsible for any losses that may befall due to the lack of adequate water.

Everett charges in his letter that the invitation to bid which "enticed" Williams & Dunlap to submit a bid for the project asserted that adequate water for the project was available 500 feet northeast of the site.

He asserted that "no water is available for the construction of the housing project... there is not sufficient water for commercial use. The government falsely misrepresented facts to the bidder in Paragraph 21 of the invitation to bid."

The letter goes on to relate that Williams & Dunlap held a conference on July 30 with C. N. Bellamy, city engineer for the city of Big Spring. The capacity of the tank, located northeast of the site, is 1,000,000 gallons. This tank is served by a 7,000-foot long 12-inch line with a pump house at one end and the reservoir at the other. An off-site contractor, the letter declares, has made a tie-in on the west side of the tank. A gate valve has been installed and it is ready for service to the Capehart project.

"The only way for this project to be served with water," Everett writes, "in commercial quantity is for the pump to be operating at all times." Bellamy had told the contractor that the system now pumps until the tank reaches a certain level and then cuts off. Bellamy, according to Everett, told the contractor that it would be impossible in view of the service available to the reservoir to supply the project with water on a commercial basis.

"This is not a new development," Everett charged. "It was known by the Air Force when the invitation to bid was issued." "According to Mr. Bellamy," Everett wrote, "the only place that water can be secured of a commercial quantity is the tie-in

Yarborough Rakes Daniel

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough added more fuel Saturday to his exchange of fiery statements with Gov. Price Daniel in the fight for control of the state Democratic convention in September.

Yarborough returned early in the day from Washington. He said he did not know whether he would be able to attend the Travis County convention tonight.

"Yarborough said if the September convention 'is truly a Democratic state convention, it should be run by uncontrolled Democrats.'"

"If it is a Price Daniel convention to be run for the benefit of him and his cronies, then he should control it," Yarborough said.

"If it is a Democratic party convention, it shouldn't be in the vest pocket of any one man. We've had too much experience in Texas in recent years with conventions held in the palm of one man's hand."

Daniel had said Friday he was shocked that Yarborough would issue "vicious and bitter" statements so soon after his Senate victory. Yarborough asserted Saturday he did not "call people vicious because they do not agree with me."

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday for Clay Bryan Cherry, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cherry of Big Spring. The baby died at birth in a local hospital Friday morning. Services were held in the Nalley-Pickie Funeral Chapel and interment was in the Babyland of City Cemetery. A Church of Christ minister from Midland officiated.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

Looking over the list of best sellers, one is pleased to discover that our Mrs. Abigail Van Buren's compilation of the inquiries she has received and the answers she has provided in the preparation of her daily column "Dear Abby" is selling like hot cakes.

Naturally the book is called "Dear Abby" and it has some hilariously funny passages. The humor of many of these stems largely from the fact that the writer of the letters to Mrs. Van Buren had no intention at all of being funny. The thing he discussed was deadly serious to him.

Abby's answers may be wryly ironical but generally they hit pretty close to the target. If you haven't already acquired the habit of reading "Dear Abby" as it appears in this newspaper daily, let us recommend that you do so. You can start right now. There's a "Dear Abby" column in this issue.

The other top books in the non-fiction list are Gunther's "Inside Russia Today"; Kerr's "Please Don't Eat the Daisies"; and Linkletter's "Kid's Say the Darndest Things."

Seton's "The Winthrop Woman" is second; Edna Ferber's "Ice Palace" is third; "A Summer Place" by Sloan and MacInnes "North from Rome."

I just checked with the Howard County Free Library and am told the library has copies of each of these best sellers with three exceptions.

There are no copies in the library of "North From Rome," "Kids Say the Darndest Things" or "Dear Abby." The library has had an order out for Abby for sometime but has not received its copy.

Do run to the library, though, expecting to get your choice of the lot—the chances are you'll have to wait your turn. Most of the best-sellers are in such high demand that the library has to sort of ration the supply around.

The Book Stall has copies of "The Winthrop Woman" and "The Ice Palace." It is fresh out of the others but has orders on file for all of them. The local demand for most of these has been brisk, the Book Stall reported.

Theatre Boycotted For Bardot Show

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (AP)—The ranking Roman Catholic clergyman here has placed a theater out of bounds to Catholics for six months because it showed the Brigitte Bardot movie "And God Created Woman."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James T. Lyng ordered the ban after the theater management rejected his offer of $350 to cover any losses resulting from withdrawal of the film.

The movie was shown at the Palace theater, the only one in this famed resort town, on July 20, 21 and 22. Msgr. Lyng announced the ban at Masses last Sunday in St. Agnes Church. He is pastor there.

The clergyman said Catholics should stay away from the movie house during the ban "regardless of the merits of any motion pictures which may be presented."

Library Checks Out Record Volume Of Books In July

Howard County Free Library, in its second month in its new home, set an all-time record for activity in July. Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said Saturday.

July saw the library check out 7,514 books. This is the greatest number of books ever handled in any single month in the history of the library. It was nearly 1,500 greater than the total for June, the first month the library was open in its new quarters on Secury.

Despite the fact that the library is observing summer operating schedule and is not open on Saturdays, the volume of activity has steadily mounted ever since the institution resumed operations in its present address.

The children have been making heavy use of the library this summer and in July there were 3,900 books in the younger reader category issued. The adult books checked out totaled 3,614. Of this total, 814 were classified as non-fiction. Fiction totalled 2,800 of the adult check-outs.

With the reopening of the schools, the library will resume full time operation and be open on Saturdays.

Plight Of Plump In Public Pools

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Frances Adcock wrote to City Parks Director W. A. Moore, telling of the plight of the plump in public pools.

"There I was watching these youngsters making two of fat people swimming around. Why, they were calling them things like submarine, blimp, and things like that."

"Now, I'm stout, and I love to swim, but I won't go into the water and be called those names." Moore was sympathetic.

He's not skinny either. He told Mrs. Adcock "people of excessive weight" would have private use of a city pool one night a week—if 25 bona fide fat people admit it and sign a petition requesting the private dip.

Cops Suspended

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Thirty-five patrolmen, sergeants and detectives were suspended Saturday for varying periods by Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons. They were charged with violating departmental safe-driving regulations.

Recreation Leaders Guests At Dinner

A dinner was given Friday night at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant in appreciation of summer leaders' aid in the YMCA program this season.

Chairman of the summer recreation program Joe Pickle presided at dinner, and R. H. Weaver, YMCA president, extended the greeting.

Bobo Hardy gave a statistical summary program, and the entire Y staff was introduced. Sue Gray then made a medal presentation to Pat Rogers, cited as the outstanding swimming instructor in the program.

Dr. R. Gage Loyd made a short address to highlight in the group's occasion.

In Hardy's statistical summary, he revealed increases and drops in enrollments between this and last summer's program. Swimming suffered a decrease in enrollment; 630 were in this year's classes, 990 in '57. The trampoline class had a drop, as did participation in Fun Clubs. These, however, were intentional cuts in enrollment to insure safety and incite better progress in instruction.

As a whole, the program's enrollment was increased, but attendance was down by 2.5 per cent. The total number of YMCA sessions increased to 526, about 30 per cent, because of the smaller classes this season.

Here were some figures Hardy gave: Total attendance to swimming sessions, 5,088 in 927 classes; 548 enrolled in Fun Clubs from six centers, amounting to 3,482 attendances during 198 sessions; and 147 enrollments and 862 attendances in 177 trampoline sessions.

The YMCA had good participation also in day camp, modern dance, tap dance, tumbling, fencing, tennis, archery, golf, judo, model building, basketball, volleyball, figure fashioning and softball.

Non-enrollment activities he described were Kate Morrison playground program, teen-age party night, Lakeview teen-age social, parent night exhibitions, swimming and water carnival, and Fun Club Olympic games.

Capehart Housing Project Taking Shape

Aerial view of a portion of the mammoth $6.5 million Air Force base housing project southwest of the city reveals the progress which is being made on the units. Decking on the roofs of the houses makes the area assume a new visibility. Six foundations are being laid each day and crews of carpenters follow.

Silver Cache Believed Melted Life Savings

BOERNE, Tex. (AP)—Two handfuls of melted metal believed to be silver has been recovered from a tree hollow by Mrs. Fred Valdez and will be assayed. It is believed to be the savings of an old age pensioner who died recently.

As Mrs. Valdez tells it, she was clearing weeds from the front of the old Adam Warren residence in Boerne which she and her husband and Mr. and Mrs. John Sotelo were buying after Warren's death.

A tree in front of the house had fallen over and she set it on fire to get rid of it. It burned for two days.

She says: "The tree had a hole in it which had been filled with rocks. I stuffed paper around the outside of this and set it afire.

"Two days later there was nothing left of the tree but ash, and when I started to rake it away there was a big black ball that was hard. I hit it with a hoe and split it open. It gleamed and my little girl said, 'Mama, that shines like silver.'

"So I took it home. Part of it went to a jeweler, who said it was silver. They are planning to send it to El Paso to be assayed."

People are asking if the cache of silver was once coins placed in the tree by Warren.

Albert Washington, who had known Warren a long time, said "that's just like Adam. He was a savin' man and I never knew him to throw money away."

Final Tabulation Of Election Returns

No Bad Effects From Atom Drink

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A University of Minnesota physicist says there were no ill effects from the atomic cocktail he drank six weeks ago.

Dr. Wallace D. Armstrong, quaffed five microcuries of radioactive fluoride June 20 in one of the first experiments of its kind.

The purpose was to trace the course which normal fluoride takes in the body and the rate of absorption.

Results showed there is a limit to the amount of fluoride that can be accumulated by the bones. Fluoride that wasn't excreted was collected by the bone structure.

Distance Flier Wouldn't Do It Again, But He's Glad He Did

EDITORS NOTE: Marion Boling wrote this story for the Associated Press shortly after completing a record, nonstop 6,979-mile flight in a light plane across the Pacific Ocean.

By MARION BOLING
Written for the Associated Press

PENDELTON, Ore. (AP)—I had wanted to do this for years. The original idea must have gone way back to Lindbergh—when I was a little boy.

But from the night I saw Bill Odom take off in Honolulu, I knew I could make it someday.

I had postponed the start from Manila 24 hours because typhoon Doris was over Japan. It was a very good decision. There was no typhoon when I went over Japan. I didn't have perfect weather—but I didn't expect it.

The only time I really got sleepy was that first morning—over Japan. I managed to close my eyes for a few minutes, but other than that there was no sleep involved—it was just a matter of relaxing.

I had a set group of duties every half hour. Resetting the gyro, checking fuel, the winds, the drift. All that took about 20 minutes of the half hour, so I didn't have time to get tired.

I had a horn set up that blew every hour unless I reset it; you know, to keep me awake. I could not stand the sound of the horn, so I kept awake just to turn it off.

I thought about the wife, and the kids, and kept looking at that big yellow moon shining off that cold Pacific. I didn't have a portable radio. I didn't have a parachute. I left it in Manila because it weighed 25 pounds.

There was no point in having it. If you had a parachute over the north Pacific, you would regret it anyway. The life raft was in, though. I could see some point to that.

I didn't see the surface of land or water from Japan to the Aleutian chain. That took about 24 hours. The only real trouble I had was just before I got to Queen Charlotte.

After I left Cold Bay, Alaska, it was very, very cold. It wasn't cold inside the plane, but it was freezing at 6,000 feet and the plane itself had trouble.

The cloud condition rose up with me and I couldn't get on top of it. This is where things began to happen. I had no deicing equipment.

The engine apparently didn't like the cold and began kicking up a fuss. I had to descend to 1,500 feet. At the same time I began losing fuel.

I really thought I was going to have to put it in the water. But then I got out of that when it began to rain.

I don't know what was the matter with the engine, but I think possibly that on this long flight, the sudden extreme cold may have influenced it.

I wasn't scared at all. I was keyed up for this—something I wanted to do all my life. It's a very nice feeling to be in a plane all by yourself.

I've come into Pendleton before. I've always thought they covered the runways with wheat. Yesterday I was sure of it. But I finally located it at the last possible minute, and then as I began to land, that hot sun on that black macadam made me dizzy and slightly sick.

I wouldn't want to go back and relive those hours. But I think I'll always look back on them as the best 48 hours of my life. Everyone likes to see his plans come true.

Head Of Defense Decisions Board Is A Self-Made Man

By BEM PRICE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a town where some people equate the pursuit of happiness with the pursuit of influence — and thus influential people — the fact that Roy W. Johnson is little known is quite odd.

It becomes even more remarkable when you consider that the urbane and handsome Johnson, onetime hot dog pusher, is (1) wealthy and (2) the closest thing to a space czar the United States yet possesses though he disclaims the title and insists it is not accurate.

Johnson, 52, is director for the new and powerful, though small, decision-making group in the Pentagon known as the Advance Research Projects Agency (ARPA). Decisions by ARPA now will affect the United States and its defenses for years to come. Johnson and his group can make or break broad research programs in the armed services involving millions of dollars.

ARPA is not in the hardware business. Its primary job is evaluation of proposals for military purposes.

PURPLE PEOPLE

For example, should somebody turn up with a project to put a man in space — which they have — or collect purple people from Jupiter, ARPA would have to pass on the proposal's desirability and feasibility.

Once this evaluation is made ARPA can order a go-ahead. If two or more services have the same idea, ARPA has the job of figuring out which one is best qualified to do the job.

Johnson can enter into contracts with private business or universities or cut across normal military channels and hand the job directly to a service development agency.

An ARPA decision, however, does not translate immediately into hardware. The time lag in the fields in which ARPA is working could run from 2 to 20 years from the time the research is authorized and the prototype appears.

Johnson himself is not a scientist. Rather he is one of that new breed of Americans called top executives who have largely replaced the 19th century tycoon.

FIRST GLANCE

At first glance Johnson is a perfect image of the bland and confident type known as "the organization man," the professional manager and organizer of other people's affairs.

While he wears beautifully tailored suits with an Ivy League cut, he is not Ivy League. Among organization men Johnson is something of a rarity, a self-made man.

One thing alone brought ARPA into being and Johnson to Washington—the launching of the Soviet Sputnik I.

In the wake of that Russian achievement that nation began an urgent re-examination of its own position in the field of military space technology and science. This reappraisal produced three major complaints:

The U.S. effort was bogged down in interservice squabbles over who was going to have the leading role in missiles and space exploration.

NO COORDINATION

There was no coordination between the research programs of the three military services nor with other branches of government such as the Atomic Energy Commission.

It was practically impossible to get a constructive decision out of anyone in the Pentagon short of the overburdened secretary of defense.

ARPA was conceived in January and born Feb. 7 by presidential directive. Johnson, former executive vice president of General Electric Co., became its first director April 1. His GE salary was $158,314 a year. He makes $17,500 now.

Why was Johnson named? Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy had been a soap maker. Johnson had been in the Appliance Division of GE.

Said Johnson, "I've known McElroy for years. Our strengths have been in the same field — merchandising with some flair for organizing. He knew my financial position and plans. I think he speeded up my decision to retire by a full year, perhaps two years. When you have made up your mind you have had enough, there is no point in staying in a profit-oriented business."

LIFE STORY

This gray-haired, blue-eyed and deeply tanned man, who holds much of the U.S. future in his hands, was born Roy William Johnson Sept. 5, 1905, at Michigan City, Ind., but later moved to Laporte, Ind., by way of Benton Harbor, Mich.

"I grew up," Johnson told a reporter, "in a modest neighborhood where typical factory workers lived. Father (Edwin A. Johnson, 75, of Laporte) clerked in a grocery store and later went to work for American Express as a driver. When he retired he was agent at Laporte."

In both grammar school and high school Johnson worked after classes. "I carried newspapers and meats." In high school his only extracurricular activities were debate and dramatics. He was senior class president. His father recalls that Roy was a good speaker. He still is.

When he set out to work his way through the University of Michigan, he fully intended to become an architect.

Of those days at Ann Arbor, Mich., Johnson recalls, "I came out of college with more money than I went in. I managed a hot dog route along fraternity row. I went to work at 9 and worked three hours until midnight."

"In my junior year I got a department store job painting signs—the hours were better. I was good enough to get 75 cents an hour. In my last years I became advertising manager and did layout work for the daily paper and the county paper. In the last year I was merchandising manager." All this on a parttime job.

Divorcee Claims She Intended To Scare, Not Kill Executive

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A pretty divorcee told detectives Saturday she fired the shots that killed a handsome drug company executive but said, "I was just going to scare him. You don't shoot the person you love."

Capt. Michael Smiley said Mrs. Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas, 42, emerged from a poison-induced coma and talked to detectives, telling them the wealthy drug executive had gotten her the pills she used to poison herself as a remedy for frequent headaches she had been having.

Mrs. Nicholas emerged from the coma about 60 hours after Forrest Teel, 54, was killed upon leaving the apartment of a newer girl friend, 29-year-old Laura L. Mowrer.

The divorcee told how she waited in Teel's car for about three or four hours until he left the apartment of the other woman, and shot him because "he was pushing me around and hit me."

"It was the first time he ever struck me," Mrs. Nicholas said.

Mrs. Nicholas denied reports she was acquainted with the other woman. "I had never met her," she said.

She said she called the apartment of the new girl friend two or three times, but hung up when somebody answered. After visiting with a friend, she went to the apartment and waited for Teel in his white Cadillac.

Detectives quoted Mrs. Nicholas as saying Teel, who had been paying the rent for her apartment the past three years, had promised to marry her in 1961. She said they had often taken trips together and always registered at hotels as "Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Teel."

"After I fired two or three times, I got into my car and drove to a secluded spot where I took about 75 sleeping pills," Mrs. Nicholas said.

Two detectives began questioning Mrs. Nicholas in General Hospital when she regained consciousness a few hours after the funeral for the wealthy executive.

Physicians Treat Suspect

Physicians work frantically to save the life of Mrs. Connie Nicholas, 40-year-old Indianapolis divorcee who has admitted the killing of Forrest Teel, pharmaceutical firm executive. Police found Mrs. Nicholas unconscious in her parked car where she had tried to commit suicide by drinking fruit juice filled with sleeping tablets. The gun that killed the 54-year-old Teel was found in her purse.

Dr. Thomas A. Rafalski reported a definite improvement in the divorcee's condition and added, "we are optimistic about a complete recovery now."

Mrs. Nicholas had been in critical condition from the overdose of sleeping pills since she was found in her car on a secluded river bank Thursday evening, 20 hours after the shooting.

Teel's widow, Mary Elizabeth, 48, and son, Tom, 14, sat in a family room, out of sight of more than 100 others, at the 12-minute Episcopal funeral service Saturday.

POLITICS

throughout, and ovation given Mrs. Randolph, the head of the DOT.

Dallas: Went down the line for the conservatives, approving all resolutions backed by Daniel forces. A group of Negroes walked out when the convention passed a resolution disapproving use of federal troops during the Little Rock segregation troubles last year. But those who took a stroll did not form a rump convention.

Tarrant: Forces friendly to Daniel controlled the convention by a margin of 1,905 to 1,140 on a test vote.

SUPPORT DANIEL

Jim Wells: Condemned use of the words "Democrats" by the DOT and pledged support to Gov. Daniel.

Navarro: A liberal-loyalist group was in control, voted to support continued precinct conventions and a plan to require voters to designate their party when they buy poll taxes or obtain exemptions.

Gregg: Solidly conservative. It also passes a pro-segregation resolution.

Harrison: Solid for Gov. Daniel and his program, was critical of the DOT and passed a pro-segregation resolution.

Orange: Elected liberal delegation to the state convention, but a majority is believed anti-DOT.

Hunt: Refused to pass a resolution confirming Daniel's leadership of the party, and approved a loyalty oath.

Henderson: Yarborough was designated honorary chairman of the delegation to the state meeting, and resolutions favoring party registration and continued precinct conventions were passed.

Denton: Liberal took control, with all state convention delegates strong Yarborough supporters. Favored party registration, precinct conventions and senatorial district approval of state committees.

IN FULL CONTROL

Victoria: Conservatives and some middle of the road groups in full control, and rejected resolutions on party registration, precinct conventions and senatorial district approval of state committees.

Wichita: Liberals in control, but resolutions which would have caused a conservative-liberal or conservative-DOT fight were kept off the floor. Passed resolution asking party loyalty oath for state party officers.

Clay: Liberal delegation to state meeting elected, and resolution endorsed Yarborough. But local observers said it was not a DOT group.

Montague: Liberal group elected and Yarborough endorsed. The DOT was not mentioned, although it approved party registration, district selection of state committees and precinct conventions.

Lubbock: Conservatives held upper hand with Daniel's program approved, and the DOT criticized in a resolution.

Midland: Conservatives in control, and only conservatives to be named to the state convention.

Anderson: An all-conservative delegation was named to the state convention, and Daniel's program was approved.

BITTER FIGHT

Brazos: Yarborough forces took control after a bitter floor fight over proxies, and the convention named a mixed delegation bound by the unit rule. It adopted resolutions favoring party registration and senatorial district choice of state committees, and commending Gov. Daniel, U.S. Sens. Johnson and Yarborough, and U.S. Reps. Rayburn and Teague.

Hidalgo: This county, considered pro-Yarborough and liberal, went to Daniel forces in a test vote.

Garland: Smith, Yarborough's county campaign manager, was defeated by Edinburg lawyer J. C. Loney for county convention chairman, 415-339.

Hale: Picked a state convention delegate slate uniformly pro-Daniel. It did vote for a resolution demanding that the state executive committee be pledged to support party nominees.

Taylor: Conservatives in control and adopted resolutions condemning use of term "Democrats" in the DOT name — a Daniel resolution.

Eastland: Conservatives controlled.

Knox: Went liberal and approved two DOT resolutions. It rejected a third DOT resolution that executive committee be selected by senatorial district caucus.

Bastrop: Conservatives took control.

DOT REPUTATED

Panola: Went overwhelmingly conservative, and passed resolutions endorsing Daniel's program and repudiating the DOT.

Williamson: Controlled by conservative forces.

Uvalde: Middle-of-the-road session, and adopted resolutions endorsing both Sen. Yarborough and Gov. Daniel, and against what it termed political bossism and minority control. It also favored a sales tax if the ad valorem tax is reduced.

Sabine: Conservative forces in control.

Walker: Controlled by conservative forces.

Burleson: Conservatives took over.

Limestone: Conservatives in power.

Robertson: Again conservative.

Kerr: Victory for conservatives.

Bee: Conservatives control.

Goliad: Favors conservatives, and voted resolution condemning Yarborough "for meddling in state politics."

Dimmit: Power held by pro-Daniel forces.

Mitchell: Conservative delegation.

Rannels: Won by Conservatives.

Comanche: Convention won by Daniel forces who approved his program.

Ike Plans Mideast Peace Proposals For 'Summit'

Beirut Bombing

Lebanese soldiers and spectators view the wreckage of one of two stores destroyed by terrorist bombs in midtown Beirut. At least one person was killed and a number of others injured in the blasts, blamed on rebels who are demanding the immediate resignation of pro-Western President Camille Chamoun.

Indicates Ike Not 'Bankrupt'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high government official said Saturday President Eisenhower will submit a series of concrete proposals for peace in the Middle East to any U.N. summit conference.

This official, who declined to be quoted by name, said frankly he was seeking to counter published stories that the administration apparently would enter a summit session of the United Nations Security Council bankrupt of ideas for solving the crisis.

"There is some confusion in a lot of people's minds," the informant told reporters. "There have been some stories that we would not propose anything at the meeting. We expect the United States will have a series of concrete and constructive proposals and that these will be made by the President."

These proposals, the official said, are now being worked on and will be ready if and when a conference is held, even if it begins as early as Aug. 12, the date suggested in U.S. and British notes to the Soviet Union. He said the U.S. proposals will not be disclosed in advance.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are making plans for summit talks on the assumption they will begin within a few weeks. Some top officials, however, think that the Aug. 12 date may prove to be a week too soon for the completion of arrangements. They also think the site more likely will be Geneva than New York.

Beirut Rebel Chief Pleased With General

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rebel leader Saeb Salam met Saturday with President-elect Fuad Shehab and declared himself highly satisfied after an hour and a half talk.

The rebel chief left his fortified house in the Moslem Basta quarter for the first time since the start of the 85-day insurrection to meet Shehab at a friend's house.

The conference and other developments brought an optimistic expression from U.S. Ambassador Robert McClure, the right crisis which had brought nearly 12,000 American troops here might be drawing to an end.

The American forces in Lebanon however, suffered their fifth fatal Friday night when a U.S. Army sergeant was shot by unidentified assailants.

Army authorities, who started an investigation, have not blamed the rebels for the shooting. They said a truck carrying radio equipment through Beirut was fired upon and that the sergeant was hit in the neck when he leaned out to see where the shooting was coming from.

The shooting took place, they said, three or four blocks from the nearest known rebel post. The sergeant was in the back of the truck, whereas the rebel point is on the left side. Four previous American fatalities here were all accidental.

In Amman, capital of Jordan, there appeared to be rising violence. A time bomb exploded in a building of the Jordanian Development Board, which plans projects to be financed by U.S. and other foreign aid. No one was hurt, but a wall was damaged.

A Lebanese and his wife were arrested, and U.S. authorities in Jordan speculated that three sticks of dynamite found in the woman's handbag had been meant for the American Embassy.

The blast occurred a block from the embassy, and the building in which the couple was arrested only a few feet from a wall surrounding the embassy.

King Hussein's Jordanian government has charged that Egyptians and Syrians are trying to overthrow him. At his request British paratroopers have been sent to Amman.

Although rebel chief Salam bubbled with praise for Shehab and for Americans, another political development seemed to have set back the rebel campaign to force the immediate resignation of President Camille Chamoun. Finance Minister Joseph Shaker said the Cabinet had decided to remain in office.

Chamoun, who has refused to resign under rebel pressure before his term is up Sept. 23, would find it increasingly difficult to stay in office if he had to find a new short-term government to replace Premier Sami Solh and his Cabinet.

THE WEEK

were victims of a mishap between Sterling and Robert Lee.

Couple of outstanding events on the calendar for this week. Monday morning at 11 a.m. more than a dozen of the planes belonging to the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron will be flown in to the new home base at Webb, and their pilots will be given a Big Spring welcome. Chamber of Commerce directors are to have lunch with the 331st officers. These men will go back to New York, but will be returning with their families soon for permanent assignment here. When they fly in over the city Monday, it's to be hoped they spot some places to live.

The other major affair is the annual membership meeting of the Cap Rock REA Co-op, which may bring as many as 2,000 rural friends into Big Spring Friday. They're to be tendered a barbecue meal, compliments of Big Spring merchants. And they could return a bit of the compliment, since at the meeting here, Co-Op members will be receiving about $45,000 in membership year-end distribution.

On another Co-Op front, the West-Texas Telephone organization got approval of a $450,000 loan which will finance construction of exchanges and lines to take service into the Knott, Ackery, Vincent and Lake Thomas areas.

Speaking of money, the hourly-paid civil service workers at Webb are to get new wage increases, averaging better than 11 per cent. It seems that it costs more to live in this area, and a special board took note of this fact. Some of us could have confirmed this suspicion a long time ago.

Board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District the past week honored the long service of Charles Perry, Odessa banker in the role of vice president. He was promoted to the presidency, to succeed the late R. T. Piner.

The state has ambitious plans for the Big Spring State Hospital. It was first on the list for close inspection by Dr. C. J. Rullmann, new director of mental health in the state hospital system. He regards the local institution as at a "critical" juncture, meaning that it has to prepare for a big increase in patient load.

July brought a mighty spurt in construction in the city, and the seven-month total for 1958 now stands at just a little under $3 million. If all publicized plans jell, there'll be a lot more than that between now and the first of the year.

Our small-fry baseballers had to accept defeat last week. The Juniors were beaten by Lubbock, and the Americans of the Little League were edged out by Brownwood at the Rotan sectional tournament. The boys are still playing tough, and LL playoffs start Monday night. This is their big week.

Don't forget, this is the era of the four-cent stamp, and Uncle Sam doesn't do a credit business.

Released On Bond

Joe Villa, 21, charged with aggravated assault, was freed from custody Saturday when he posted $1,000 bail. Villa was arrested on complaint of a 17-year-old Law American girl who accused the youth of attempting to criminally assault her.

N.Y. Bus Driver Remains Cheerful

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Walker is a rarity among men. He drives a bus in traffic-harried New York City and yet manages to stay so cheerful that he sometimes startles his passengers.

Their reactions vary from an equally courteous response to a snarl. But Walker keeps smiling and gives each passenger at least a hearty, "Good day."

After one man had dropped his coins in the meter, Walker gave his customary acknowledgment: "Thank you."

The man turned with half-clenched fist.

"What did you say?" he demanded.

"I only said 'thank you,'" Walker explained.

The customer obviously didn't believe him but took this as an apology—or at least as backing down—and moved to the rear of the bus.

"And how are you today?" Walker asked of a lady who climbed aboard.

"Mind your own business," she snapped.

A grim-looking man with steely eyes and knife scars all over his face entered the bus.

"And how are you this fine day?" Walker asked.

The man's almost sinister face broke into a huge smile.

"Why, I am very well, indeed," he said. "Yes, indeed, and you, sir?"

Walker, 35, said he is friendly because "I'm from Texas, and down there all the bus drivers say 'hello' and 'hurry back'."

The Fifth Avenue Coach Co. gets an average of a letter a week from passengers citing Walker for courtesy.

"That in itself doesn't do me any harm," Walker said.

3 Traffic Crashes Recorded Saturday

Two of the three accidents which occurred here Saturday afternoon came on 3rd.

At 3rd and Gregg, Orla Wayland of Hobbs, N.M., and Arlyn Roberts, 608 Douglas, were driving cars in collision. Gary Weatherman, Webb AFB, and George Wilkerson, 309 W. 3rd, were involved in an accident in front of Wilkerson's residence.

Luis Valverde, 700 NW 10th, and Dortha Washington, 1808 Gregg, were in collision at NW 5th and Aylford.

Garden City Needs 2 School Teachers

GARDEN CITY—With start of school only a month away, the local school system is two teachers shy of having its faculty complete.

Supt. W. A. Wilson announced Saturday that the school was in need of an English and a commercial teacher. The vacancies were created by resignation of two instructors, Darrell Flynt and Mrs. Bill Ballard.

Flynt, who taught English and was assistant athletic coach, has resigned to take a similar position in the Sterling City system, and Mrs. Ballard, who taught commercial subjects, doesn't plan to teach this year.

Showers Cool Parts Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers helped cool the weather a bit Saturday in parts of North Texas. A thunderstorm doused the Fort Worth area. It was still hot over most of the state, however. Afternoon readings ranged up to 106 at Cotulla and Presidio. Galveston was the coolest spot with a high of 90 degrees.

New Highway Development Agency Enlists 45 Members

They were set up several years ago to promote travel and work for improvements on U.S. 80 and U.S. 87.

The long expected boll worm invasion may have started, Jimmy Taylor, Howard County agent, and ex-county agent Gerald Hanson of Stanton both have said the worms are increasing.

There are a lot of eggs on the cotton leaves, millers are more numerous, and there could be a serious infestation within the next few days.

"Showers and damp weather could hurry it along," said Taylor. "Fields should be checked regularly and control measures started before the worms get too far along."

Martin County the loopers have just about enjoyed their last meal, according to Hanson. The threat seems to be over, at least for awhile. Boll worms, however, are building up in fields where farmers are not poisoning.

Despite the continuous drawdown in most irrigation wells, those in the Tarzan area actually increased the water level this year. Ed Williamson who has spent 15 years with the Soil Conservation Service in Stanton, said the increase varied but he estimates the water came up from two to three feet. This was probably caused by a wet year in 1957 and light pumping.

The water level did not increase in any other area, he said. In the Courtney community wells continue to drop.

A Coahoma resident never knows what to expect when he turns on the water hydrant. Water may come out and it may not. Late in the afternoon he will likely get a slight swish of air then nothing.

The pressure couldn't get any lower, people say. It builds up somewhat late in the night, but during the afternoons and early part of the night, some households can't get enough water to fill a bathtub.

Some people say they were better off before they tied onto the line from Big Spring. They think the supply line is large enough; it was designed to take care of seven million gallons per month, yet the villages of Sand Springs and Coahoma have been getting by with less than four million, and they can't get that when they want it.

O. E. Hamlin, rancher-farmer living north of Big Spring, says the two inches of rain he has received the last 10 days won't help pastures too much at this time of year.

"It's too hot for grass to make any growth in the summer," he said. "But it grows well here in the fall when there is moisture."

The Howard County 4-H Club members will specialize more on lamb feeding than any other type this year, according to County Agent Jimmy Taylor. He said there would be approximately 125 lambs on feed. However, some of these have not been bought yet.

The club members will feed Southdowns, crossbreds and fine wool lambs. Finding the right size and kind is difficult. Most of the crossbreds are too large, and the Southdowns are not raised here. Taylor says they are common in Colorado but would probably be killed by coyotes or starve to death on West Texas ranges. They are a farm type sheep and no good for the big pastures of West Texas.

The club members will have about 25 pigs on feed, the same number of calves and from 40 to 50 capons. These numbers compare about evenly with last year, except there won't be quite so many calves as usual.

Most poultry operators are looking forward to cooler weather. Production has dropped in several flocks during the last few weeks. Mrs. C. A. Denton, who helps take care of 750 hens, says that a sprinkler helps some, but not enough. Production is much lower than it was a few months ago.

The Dentogs started the poultry project two or three years ago and have done reasonably well with it. Some of the hens need to be replaced by younger birds, but there has been no trouble in selling eggs. Most of them are sold retail in Big Spring, with the courthouse employes being the best customers. They have been buying from 80 to 85 dozen from the Dentons every week.

Definitions By Example—
FUTILITY: Two candidates on courthouse lawn sadly discussing the election, trying to figure out why they got beat.
OPTIMISM: Farmer saying, "A bumper crop this time and another one next year will put me out of debt, then two more good ones and I'll have it made."
NONCHALANCE: Filling station man letting a half gallon of gasoline spill out on the pavement, then saying, "Oops! We spilled a couple, didn't we?"
BRAVERY: Woman whose husband is desperately ill, "I won't mind the money and loneliness and the hard work if we can only pull him through. That's all that matters. From now on, it will be up to me to make the living, but we'll get by somehow."
THRIFT: Man in cafe leaving two five cent pieces for a tip. Then he hesitates a moment, picks up one nickel and puts down two pennies.
CONFIDENCE: Two girls driving their cars side by side down the street, yelling across at each other and, paying no attention to traffic.
INCONSISTENCY: Man who works for a large company is heatedly defending high wages. He also owns a farm, and a moment later is saying farmers can't afford to pay more than 10 cents an hour.
EGOTISM: Two young men drinking coffee and one saying to the other: "Never could understand why women go for me. You know yourself, there's a lot of guys better looking than I am. But these girls—man, you just don't know how much trouble they've caused me in life."
DISGUST: Ten-year-old boy looking at calendar, "Look at that, would ya? Only one more month and summer will be all over. Sometimes when I think of them old teachers and the school house, I wish I was a horse or something."

Funeral services for Dalton Olson, 28, one of the Big Spring men killed in an automobile wreck near Sterling City Thursday night, will be held at 4 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel.

Rites were held Saturday afternoon, also in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel, for Curtis Wayne Lollar, 29, the other wreck victim.

The Rev. D. R. Phillee, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will officiate at the Olson rites. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

The Rev. Lloyd Mayhew, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lamesa, officiated services for Lollar, and interment was in the Trinity Memorial Park.

The two men were thrown from their car when it went out of control on a curve and rolled several hundred feet down a hillside seven miles northeast of Sterling City about 11 p.m. Thursday. Both were killed instantly. Mrs. Curtis Lollar, a passenger in the car remained in the vehicle and escaped with a fractured collarbone, cuts and bruises. She remained in Medical Arts Hospital Saturday.

Mr. Lollar is survived by his wife and a son, Noble Wayne, of Big Spring; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lollar of Winters; three brothers, Howard, Carlos and Vernon Lollar all of Fort Worth; and two sisters, Mrs. Don Emmett of Winters and Mrs. Mozelle Hamper of Marion, Ohio.

Mr. Olson is survived by two sons, Mike and Guy Olson of Big Spring; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Olson of Big Spring; and a sister, Mrs. Barbara Stanley, Big Spring.

Court activities in Howard County are at a standstill.

A few cases are being filed in 118th District Court but these will not be acted upon until late in this month. This is the interval between terms and Judge Charlie Sullivan uses the period for his annual vacation.

No activity of any moment is on tap until the week of Aug. 25. This marks the opening of a new court term and a grand jury will be empaneled on that date. A petit jury to try a long list of accumulated civil cases will also be on hand.

The grand jury faces a heavy agenda. There have been numerous felony complaints lodged in the justice courts in the last two months.

Included are two murder cases, two or more assault with intent to commit murder; several rape and morals law violation matters. In addition to these graver offenses, the docket is beginning to bulge with mill-run complaints: alleging felony check law violations and other similar crimes.

The only activity normally common in criminal court which seems to be on the wane is complaints about driving while intoxicated, second offense. Only one of two such cases are pending. Normally, these cases are numerous.

Commissioners Face A Small Agenda

Only routine business seems to be on tap for the commissioner's court Monday.

The commission is working on easements for approaches to the Howard County Airport now under construction. The Civil Aeronautics Authority requires that areas leading to the runways be kept clear of structures and the easements are being asked on this basis.

Hudson Landers, one of the commissioners has been working on these easements and may have some report to make to the commissioners Monday.

Record Flop

NEW YORK (AP)—"Jane Eyre," recent Broadway production, has gone into the record books as one of the costliest flops in show business annals. Its loss is estimated at $600,000.

Ed Williamson who has spent 15 years with the Soil Conservation Service in Stanton, said the increase varied but he estimates the water came up from two to three feet. This was probably caused by a wet year in 1957 and light pumping.

The water level did not increase in any other area, he said. In the Courtney community wells continue to drop.

A Coahoma resident never knows what to expect when he turns on the water hydrant. Water may come out and it may not. Late in the afternoon he will likely get a slight swish of air then nothing.

The pressure couldn't get any lower, people say. It builds up somewhat late in the night, but during the afternoons and early part of the night, some households can't get enough water to fill a bathtub.

Some people say they were better off before they tied onto the line from Big Spring. They think the supply line is large enough; it was designed to take care of seven million gallons per month, yet the villages of Sand Springs and Coahoma have been getting by with less than four million, and they can't get that when they want it.

O. E. Hamlin, rancher-farmer living north of Big Spring, says the two inches of rain he has received the last 10 days won't help pastures too much at this time of year.

"It's too hot for grass to make any growth in the summer," he said. "But it grows well here in the fall when there is moisture."

The Howard County 4-H Club members will specialize more on lamb feeding than any other type this year, according to County Agent Jimmy Taylor. He said there would be approximately 125 lambs on feed. However, some of these have not been bought yet.

The club members will feed Southdowns, crossbreds and fine wool lambs. Finding the right size and kind is difficult. Most of the crossbreds are too large, and the Southdowns are not raised here. Taylor says they are common in Colorado but would probably be killed by coyotes or starve to death on West Texas ranges. They are a farm type sheep and no good for the big pastures of West Texas.

The club members will have about 25 pigs on feed, the same number of calves and from 40 to 50 capons. These numbers compare about evenly with last year, except there won't be quite so many calves as usual.

Most poultry operators are looking forward to cooler weather. Production has dropped in several flocks during the last few weeks. Mrs. C. A. Denton, who helps take care of 750 hens, says that a sprinkler helps some, but not enough. Production is much lower than it was a few months ago.

The Dentogs started the poultry project two or three years ago and have done reasonably well with it. Some of the hens need to be replaced by younger birds, but there has been no trouble in selling eggs. Most of them are sold retail in Big Spring, with the courthouse employes being the best customers. They have been buying from 80 to 85 dozen from the Dentons every week.

Definitions By Example—
FUTILITY: Two candidates on courthouse lawn sadly discussing the election, trying to figure out why they got beat.
OPTIMISM: Farmer saying, "A bumper crop this time and another one next year will put me out of debt, then two more good ones and I'll have it made."
NONCHALANCE: Filling station man letting a half gallon of gasoline spill out on the pavement, then saying, "Oops! We spilled a couple, didn't we?"
BRAVERY: Woman whose husband is desperately ill, "I won't mind the money and loneliness and the hard work if we can only pull him through. That's all that matters. From now on, it will be up to me to make the living, but we'll get by somehow."
THRIFT: Man in cafe leaving two five cent pieces for a tip. Then he hesitates a moment, picks up one nickel and puts down two pennies.
CONFIDENCE: Two girls driving their cars side by side down the street, yelling across at each other and, paying no attention to traffic.
INCONSISTENCY: Man who works for a large company is heatedly defending high wages. He also owns a farm, and a moment later is saying farmers can't afford to pay more than 10 cents an hour.
EGOTISM: Two young men drinking coffee and one saying to the other: "Never could understand why women go for me. You know yourself, there's a lot of guys better looking than I am. But these girls—man, you just don't know how much trouble they've caused me in life."
DISGUST: Ten-year-old boy looking at calendar, "Look at that, would ya? Only one more month and summer will be all over. Sometimes when I think of them old teachers and the school house, I wish I was a horse or something."

Olson Services Set Today, Lollar Rites Held Saturday

Funeral services for Dalton Olson, 28, one of the Big Spring men killed in an automobile wreck near Sterling City Thursday night, will be held at 4 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel.

Rites were held Saturday afternoon, also in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel, for Curtis Wayne Lollar, 29, the other wreck victim.

The Rev. D. R. Phillee, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will officiate at the Olson rites. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

The Rev. Lloyd Mayhew, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lamesa, officiated services for Lollar, and interment was in the Trinity Memorial Park.

The two men were thrown from their car when it went out of control on a curve and rolled several hundred feet down a hillside seven miles northeast of Sterling City about 11 p.m. Thursday. Both were killed instantly. Mrs. Curtis Lollar, a passenger in the car remained in the vehicle and escaped with a fractured collarbone, cuts and bruises. She remained in Medical Arts Hospital Saturday.

Mr. Lollar is survived by his wife and a son, Noble Wayne, of Big Spring; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lollar of Winters; three brothers, Howard, Carlos and Vernon Lollar all of Fort Worth; and two sisters, Mrs. Don Emmett of Winters and Mrs. Mozelle Hamper of Marion, Ohio.

Mr. Olson is survived by two sons, Mike and Guy Olson of Big Spring; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Olson of Big Spring; and a sister, Mrs. Barbara Stanley, Big Spring.

Court In Doldrums

Court activities in Howard County are at a standstill.

A few cases are being filed in 118th District Court but these will not be acted upon until late in this month. This is the interval between terms and Judge Charlie Sullivan uses the period for his annual vacation.

No activity of any moment is on tap until the week of Aug. 25. This marks the opening of a new court term and a grand jury will be empaneled on that date. A petit jury to try a long list of accumulated civil cases will also be on hand.

The grand jury faces a heavy agenda. There have been numerous felony complaints lodged in the justice courts in the last two months.

Included are two murder cases, two or more assault with intent to commit murder; several rape and morals law violation matters. In addition to these graver offenses, the docket is beginning to bulge with mill-run complaints: alleging felony check law violations and other similar crimes.

The only activity normally common in criminal court which seems to be on the wane is complaints about driving while intoxicated, second offense. Only one of two such cases are pending. Normally, these cases are numerous.

Affection Brings Compliment, Fine

HILLSIDE, N. J. (AP)—William H. Keubler, 41, came into court to answer a careless driving charge.

Police said he had been snuggling close to his wife while driving.

Magistrate Henry Goldher was not unsympathetic. He complimented the couple for being so affectionate after 15 years of marriage. Then he fined Keubler $10.

Commissioners Face A Small Agenda

Only routine business seems to be on tap for the commissioner's court Monday.

The commission is working on easements for approaches to the Howard County Airport now under construction. The Civil Aeronautics Authority requires that areas leading to the runways be kept clear of structures and the easements are being asked on this basis.

Hudson Landers, one of the commissioners has been working on these easements and may have some report to make to the commissioners Monday.

Record Flop

NEW YORK (AP)—"Jane Eyre," recent Broadway production, has gone into the record books as one of the costliest flops in show business annals. Its loss is estimated at $600,000.

Preliminary Plans Approved For New YMCA Building

A fifth plan, evolved from four other preliminary drawings, has been decided upon by the YMCA building committee as the probable new youth center blueprint, said Y secretary Bobo Hardy yesterday.

Barring difficulties, the building contract will likely be let in January, he said.

The building committee of Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Clyde McMahon, Leroy Tidwell, Marvin Miller, Truman Jones, R. H. Weaver, with Bob Whipkey as chairman, consulted with the YMCA Southwest Area executive Sam Schreiner on the Puckett & French plans.

The Y building, which will face northeast at 8th and Owens between the Sicer baseball grounds and the Birdwell Park, will have total floor space of 21,855 square feet. Featured in the functional building will be swimming pool, gymnasium, snack bar, kitchen, lounge, chapel, and facilities for nine simultaneous club meeting groups.

Designed so that the building will rest on virgin soil—not on the fill-in area of a draw in that vicinity as some have thought—the plans for the 1.8 acre plot call for construction estimated at $230,000.

Biggest unit, the gym, will be 80x62 feet containing a basketball court and two volleyball courts. It will be wide enough that two other basketball or volleyball courts will be available in cross-wise fashion.

Boys and girls passing the work office at the entrance may show their membership cards and enter locker and shower rooms by automatically operated doors. There will be 672 tote baskets for the locker rooms, supplying 48 girls' and 50 boys' lockers.

Adjacent to the gym is the swimming pool, a 25x60 foot area. Both the gym and the pool are ventilated, while the other divisions are air-conditioned.

A long corridor separates the offices, restrooms, and craft room from the kitchen, general purpose room, and three club rooms. The general purpose room, in which will be folding ping-pong tables and room for a 150-person banquet, has folding wall separations which will divide it into three club units. Two other club rooms may be extended into a larger chapel where an indented altar may be closed or open.

Totaled, there may be nine simultaneous club meetings in progress. Other than the six regular club rooms, a lounge and office and crafts room can be used by clubs. Remaining units include a physical director's office and four work offices, plus an abundance of storage rooms.

Music or announcements will be carried over an inter-communication system reaching every unit.

The plans also make allowance for a potential health club room which may be added in the future.

Hardy said that the building was designed so that control and direction of activities would require a minimum of staff workers. That staff will employ a stenographer, physical director or secretary, youth secretary, supervisor, and such group leaders—lifeguards, instructors, assistants—as are appointed.

154 New Books Are Received

July saw 151 new books added to the shelves of the Howard County Free Library, Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said. Forty-four of these were donations—gift books to the library from residents of the community.

Majority of the patrons of the library in July were prompt in the matter of returning the volumes they had borrowed. However, there were delinquent returns sufficient to account for $76 in fines for the month.

New shipments of books have been arriving steadily and are being processed and placed on the shelves as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. McDaniel listed the following titles which have been added to the books in the last week:

"The Winthrop Woman," by Anya Seaton; "A Summer Place," Sloan Wilson; Fitzgerald, "Mama's Boarding House"; James Schuyler, "Alfred and Guinevere"; Rumer Godden, "The Greengate Summer"; Erkert Rotholz, "The Time of the Dragons"; Jim Kilgaard, "The Land in Bright"; Edwin Lanham, "Murder on My Street"; Charlotte Paul, "The Cup of Strength"; A. J. Cronin, "The Northern Light"; Olaf Ruhen, "Naked Under Capricorn"; Melissa Mather, "Rough Road Home"; Fern M. Crehan, "The Day Before Yesterday"; Fred M. Rodewald, "Commercial Art As A Business"; Richard Llewellyn, "Chez Pavan"; Donald Kines, "Walk the Wide World"; Honore Morrow, "Great Captain"; Thomas Elliott Berry, "Journalism Today"; Winston Graham, "Wreck of the Grey Cat"; Leslie Waller, "Phoenix Island"; Allen Vaughan Elston, "Wyoming Manhunt"; Lawrence Bachmann, "The Lorelei"; and Anne Miller Downes, "Kate Cavanaugh."

GOC Unit Sets Reorganization

Reorganization of the Big Spring unit of the Ground Observer Corps is planned for 8 p.m. Tuesday, J. N. Young, post supervisor, has announced.

Young has called a meeting of all observers and others interested in the GOC for Tuesday evening in the classroom at the police station. Sgt. Alfred Buchalter of the Dallas Filter Center will be on hand and a color film showing the training of a Strategic Air Command bomber crew will be projected.

No special training in aircraft identification is required for participation in activities of the GOC, Young said. Volunteers will receive three training sessions of two hours each, and will be expected to practice duties two hours each month.

The movement of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron to Webb AFB, and plans for the SAGE installation here, increase the importance of an active GOC unit here, Young said. Observation post for the local observers will be the press box in the high school football stadium.

DEAR ABBY

NOTHING TO REPORT

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I see something every day (Monday through Friday) from my kitchen window that puzzles me. Between 4 p.m. and 4:05 p.m. a nice looking woman drives up in a station wagon and waits for a man who meets her in a Chevy coupe. She gets out of her car and gets into his and they drive away. At exactly 5:45 they both come back. They start kissing goodbye like they are never going to see each other again, then they get into their own cars and drive off. This has been going on since spring. I have both their license numbers and if you think this would be called "disturbing the peace" or "disorderly conduct" I will report it to the police. I think they are breaking some laws.

WITHIN THE LAW

DEAR WITHIN: The "laws" that this couple are breaking are not visible from your kitchen window. As I see it, you've nothing to report.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and have been married and divorced and have a little girl a year old. I'm in love with a man who is 29 and would make a wonderful father but he has five kids by another man's wife. She has her divorce but won't marry him. He's waited three years for her to change her mind and marry him. We love each other, but he thinks he should be married to the mother of his kids. I would wait for him forever but I have my own child to consider. I've made a big mess of my life and need some advice. Don't tell me to give him up. I need him.

MESSED UP LIFE

DEAR MESSED UP: You need this man like Custer needed another Indian. Get out of his life and find yourself a decent man who respects the laws of marriage.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I buy my wife a present she makes me tell her how much I paid for it. When I do she blows her top and says I got robbed. What do you do with a dame like that?

ROBBED

DEAR ROBBED: Obviously your wife is more practical than sentimental. Give her money instead.

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm, but I was brought up in the city. My husband still believes in lots of things that can't possibly have any truth to them, such as if a pregnant woman watches any butchering done it will mark her child. He said his aunt was frightened by a bat before her child was born and the baby had a bat's form on his back as a result. Am I mistaken or can there be any truth to these stories?

EXPECTING AND NERVOUS

DEAR EXPECTING: You need not be nervous. Your husband has swallowed some fishwives' tales hook, line and sinker. Don't let him feed you the same.

It was the 27-year-old Willey's second shutout over the Giants, who now have dropped two straight to the Braves in their critical NL series, and his fifth triumph of the campaign.

The Braves, to the delight of a partisan crowd of 34,770 at County Stadium, built up a 10-0 lead through the seventh while Willey was moving down the Giants with machine-gun regularity.

He retired 13 Giants in order following Willie Kirkland's two-out double in the third before surrendering another two-base hit to Darly Spencer in the eighth.

Stu Miller, the junk man who used to have the Braves' number, was the loser. His record now reads 3-6, including three straight defeats at the hands of Milwaukee. He was the first of four Giant pitchers.

CHAMPION SAYS HE'LL WIN OVER ROY HARRIS

By PATRICK McNULTY

OCEANSIDE, Calif. — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson says the only thing he knows about that mysterious man from Cut and Shoot, Tex., is: "I can beat him."

The quiet-voiced champion sat on a rubber table sipping hot tea from a paper cup. He had just finished a workout and was sweating under a terry cloth robe.

"No, I've never seen Roy Harris fight," said Patterson, who meets the husky Texan Aug. 18 in Los Angeles.

"I'm not thinking of fighting him any special way. I'm just thinking of winning."

OPEN WITH BUFFS

Raiders To Play Four Home Tilts

LUBBOCK (SC)—Two Southwest Conference teams and a pair of Border Conference rivals make up Texas Tech's home football schedule this fall.

In Jones Stadium, Coach DeWitt Weaver's Red Raiders will meet West Texas State Sept. 27, Baylor Oct. 18, Arizona Nov. 8, and Arkansas Nov. 22. All except the opener with West Texas State will be played at 2 p.m. The Buffalo engagement is set for 8 p.m. Special days have been designated for the games with Baylor (Dads' Day), Arizona (Band Day), and Arkansas (Homecoming). The 1958 schedule will mark the first time since 1949 for Tech to meet a Southwest Conference opponent at Homecoming.

To make a total of five Southwest Conference opponents—most in history—the Red Raider schedule, Texas Tech will also play Texas A&M in Dallas Sept. 20, University of Texas in Austin Oct. 4, and Texas Christian in Fort Worth Oct. 11, all at night. The Red Raiders will meet five SWC opponents next year, also, before launching official title play in 1960.

A more experienced team than last year's will face the schedule, toughest in Tech history. Compared with only nine returning lettermen in '57, a 2-8 season, Tech will sport 20 returnees this fall besides two letter winners from previous seasons.

All of Tech's statistical leaders of last year return, including halfback Ronnie Rice of Lefors, the top runner; quarterback Jerry Bell of Ballinger, leading passer; and halfback Jimmy Knox of Graham, best receiver. Also on hand again is the top rusher of 1956, fullback Doug Duncan of Wellington, out last year.

A strengthened schedule could easily offset the added experience, but Coach Weaver concedes that the outlook is brighter than it was last summer.

Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics, reports a good demand for tickets. Individual game ticket orders—at $3.50 each—and season ticket orders for $14—are being accepted at the Texas Tech Athletic Office. Mail orders should include a 25-cent mailing fee, Wilson said.

Mudcat Grant In Command As Indians Wallop Sox

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians won their seventh in a row Saturday, beating Boston 4-1 and jumping ahead of the slumping Red Sox into second place. Jim (Mudcat) Grant limped the Red Sox to four hits—none after the fourth inning.

Minnie Minoso cracked a two-run homer to set the pace for the Tribe.

The loss was Boston's fifth in a row, equaling its longest losing spell of the season. The Red Sox now have lost 10 of a dozen games on this western swing. The streaking Indians have won 10 of 12.

Ted Williams had two of Boston's hits. It was the third straight game in which Cleveland pitchers stopped the vaunted Red Sox' bats with four hits.

BOBBY MORROW

Bobby Morrow Speaks Twice

A young man who has shown the world he can run a race as well as anyone in the world, will turn his talents in another direction here today and tell a group of people how to run a more important race—the Christian Race.

Bobby Morrow, Olympic gold-medalist sprinter from Abilene Christian College, after his defeat by Dave Sime and Bill Woodhouse at the ABC Relays in Big Spring in April, made a strong comeback in the late spring and early summer and was ranked as the top sprinter in the nation by Track and Field News.

He returns today and is scheduled to deliver two sermons for the 14th and Main Church of Christ. The first will be for the morning worship hour at 10:30 a.m. His sermon subject will be "The Challenge of Christianity."

The second address will be especially directed to young people at the church's evening worship period at 7 p.m. The subject at this time will be "The Christian Race."

Morrow recently delivered his first sermon with a Church of Christ in Fort Worth. He has spoken at many youth meetings and similar gatherings also.

Robert D. Hunter, of the ACC Public Relations Department, will direct the singing Sunday. Morrow will enroll for his final semester at ACC this fall, although he has no more athletic eligibility.

World's Largest Coaching School Opens This Week

HOUSTON (AP)—The world's largest coaching school will be at its gigantic best here this week with an anticipated 3,200 coming from 13 states, Mexico and Cuba to study football, basketball and track.

An advance registration of 1,034 has indicated a record enrollment, easily eclipsing the 2,677 mark hung up last year at Dallas.

It will be the 26th annual clinic of the Texas High School Coaches Assn., which this year reaches its highest membership. There are 2,748.

The school "faculty" will be headed by Jess Neely, coach of the Southwest Conference football champions at Rice, and David Nelson, highly successful coach of Delaware who will explain the intricacies of his wing-T system. Neely teaches the T formation.

Bob Rogers of Texas A&M and Russell Walseah of Colorado will instruct in basketball. Jack Patterson of Baylor will lecture on track and, for the first time, there will be an instructor in golf. He is Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas pro.

All-star basketball and football squads, the main lure of the coaching school, will arrive Sunday and start practice Monday. The basketball squads, each with 12 players, will be coached by J. W. Black of Dallas Samuelli for the north and George Carlisle of Clear Creek for the South.

The football squads, each 28 players strong, will be directed by Gordon Wood of Victoria for the north and Travis Hughes of Deer Park for the South.

The basketball game will be played Friday night and the football contest Saturday night.

Sherry Wheeler Is Junior Favorite

CHICAGO (AP)—Sherry Wheeler of Glasgow, Ky., will open defense of her Women's Western Junior golf crown next week against an exceptionally strong field.

The 17-year-old Kentucky lass is a favorite to repeat after gaining the quarter finals in the Women's Western Amateur two weeks ago.

An 18-hole qualifying round Monday will determine the 16 low scorers for the championship match play bracket. Match play will start Tuesday and continue to the 18-hole final Friday.

Cosden Oilers Are Entered In ISL Tourney At Odessa

The Cosden Oilers are scheduled to take part in the ten-team International Softball League West Texas tournament, which starts in Odessa Monday and continues through most of the week.

The local contingent plays Monahan in a first round game at 9 p.m. Monday.

A&J Electric Company of Midland takes on the American All-Stars, a church team, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The Texas Company challenges the National All-Stars, another church team, in another contest tomorrow.

The winning team receives an expense-paid trip to the World ISL tournament, which is scheduled to be staged in Long Beach, Calif., beginning Aug. 24.

Other teams entered include Mammel's of Odessa, Union Furniture of El Paso, the 27th Street All-Stars of Odessa, Crescent Park Baptist of Odessa and a Lubbock club.

A team representing Midland National Bank won the championship in 1957.

This year's meet will be a double-elimination event. Trophies will be presented to the first, second and third place contingents.

In addition, ten individual trophies will be awarded to players selected to the all-tournament squad.

St. Louis Assured Junior Net Crown

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—St. Louis was assured the junior singles title in the National Junior and Boys Tennis Championships when Earl Buchholz and Charles McKinley won their semifinal matches Saturday.

The top-seeded, 17-year-old Buchholz defeated Paul Palmer, a first-year junior from Phoenix, Ariz., 6-1, 9-7, and McKinley eliminated dark horse Mary Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., 6-1, 3-6, 6-1. McKinley is second seeded.

In the boys' singles semifinals, Clark Graebner of Lakewood, Ohio, upset the top-seeded Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis 2-6, 8-6, 6-2. Graebner, who is fourth ranked, trailed 5-1 in the second match but pulled it out with steady play.

In the other boys' semifinal, David Sanderlin of El Cajon, Calif., defeated Arthur Ashe of Richmond Va., 6-3, 6-1.

The finals are scheduled for Sunday.

U. S. Track Team Troupes Poles

By STERLING SLAPPEY Associated Press Sports Writer

WARSAW (AP)—American track and field men made it two straight in their big nation challenge tour Saturday, outscoring Poland's national team 115-97.

The 18-point victory over the surprisingly strong Poles exceeded by a bare point the U.S. men's 126-109 victory over Russia at Moscow last Sunday and Monday.

American women lost to the favored Polish girls, 54-52, after leading until the final event. Then a first and third in the javelin gave the Polish misses their close victory. Russian women defeated the U.S. girls 63-44 in Moscow.

Unlike the U.S.-Russia meet, points from the separate men's and women's competitions were not combined here for an overall winner.

On this basis, heavily criticized by the U.S. coaches, Russia won last weekend's meet, 172-170. Combining the points here would have meant a 167-151 U.S. overall victory.

NOW IN HOUSTON

Black Sox Hero Had 53-25 Mark

HOUSTON (AP)—Dickie Kerr, the little Chicago White Sox' left-hander who won two games while the Black Sox were trying to lose behind him, keeps on winning in his own way.

Kerr—tagged as a "new Napoleon" by the late Damon Runyon after whipping the Cincinnati Reds a second time in the tainted 1919 World Series—now is office manager for a Houston electrical firm.

His health is good and he packs 148 pounds on his 5-foot-7 frame at 65.

"That's just three pounds heavier than when I was playing. I don't get fat," says the rookie pitcher of 1919.

The Sox had had a wonderful year, and the youngster from St. Louis had chalked up a 13-8 record by the time the Sox met the Reds in the World Series.

Chicago dropped the first two games and Kerr got the starting nod. With Ray Schalk, later to be named to the Hall of Fame, catching, Kerr set the Reds down on a 2-0, three-hitter.

The crafty southpaw came back to win the sixth game also, 4-1 in 10 innings. Schalk walked over and tossed him the ball saying, "There you are, Little Giant."

But the true impact of Kerr's twin victories didn't register until almost a year later.

"We were in St. Louis with only four games remaining in the 1920 season when the scandal broke on Sept. 28," he recalls, still reluctant to talk about the Black Sox episode. "It all came out in the paper before anything was said about it to the club."

Eight of Kerr's teammates had tried to throw the World Series for gamblers. They were banned from organized baseball for life. Kerr and the rest of the team were cleared.

Kerr went on to enjoy 21-9 and 19-17 seasons with Chicago but left the White Sox in a salary dispute before the 1922 season.

"I went into outlaw baseball and played with an industrial team at Kenosha, Wis.," he said. "I was out of organized ball until I was reinstated in 1925."

But his arm had lost its zip and Dickie wound up his playing career in the Texas League in 1927. He spent about 10 years in the cotton business in Texas and Arkansas and later managed a number of low minor league teams before becoming a St. Louis Cardinal scout in 1948. Kerr bowed out of the majors with a 53-25 record.

While managing the Class D Daytona Beach, Fla., team in 1940 he gave rookie Stan Musial the word to stick to the outfield and forget about pitching.

"I figured there was no use of him wasting time as a pitcher when he could hit," Kerr said. "So I made an outfielder out of him and he took himself on up."

Musial didn't forget. This spring he bought the Kerrs a home in Houston.

Office work and gardening keep Kerr pretty well tied up these days. Recently, a Houston civic group named him to a committee pressing for a big-league baseball stadium for the city. Kerr didn't know anything about the appointment until he read it in the newspapers.

Adding up his balance sheet, he says two of his three dreams about baseball have come true. He's been with a pennant winner in the majors and he's won a World Series game.

The third: "To be voted into the Hall of Fame."

Law, Corsairs Blank Cards

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Strong-armed Vernon Law set down the sagging St. Louis Cardinals on three singles Saturday in a magnificently pitched 1-0 triumph for the third-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 28-year-old right-hander toyed with the Cards in racking up his ninth victory of the season against nine losses.

Law allowed Ken Boyer, Del Emswiler and Don Blasingame to reach first on singles and Emswiler to get there via a walk, but only Blasingame got as far as second—in the ninth inning on a first-base putout.

It was the sixth consecutive loss for St. Louis.

The Pirates struck for a single tally in the first inning. Bill Virdon led off with a single to right and advanced to second when Joe Cunningham juggled the ball. Jones got the next two batters out, but Frank Thomas then walked and Bob Skinner singled home Virdon.

Dempsey Suffers From A Hernia

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Dempsey is suffering from hernia and is confined to his room in a Manhattan hotel, his physician said Saturday.

The 63-year-old former world heavyweight boxing champion was stricken several weeks ago.

Dr. E. Milton Sachs said further observation would be required to determine whether an operation would be needed. He said, however, that the hernia was not dangerous.

In which season are newspapers read most frequently?

ANSWER: THERE'S PRACTICALLY NO SEASONAL CHANGE AT ALL! An analysis of newspaper circulation over a three-year period showed that the newspaper habit is constant throughout the year. There is no "off" season for the newspaper habit, either in size of audience or in amount of reading. Therefore, advertisers can rely on their audience always being present—come rain or shine, come cold weather or hot.

PIGS AND YANKS ARE PLAYOFF FAVORITES

Big Spring's biggest Little League baseball tournament in history — a meet to determine the City champion in which all 18 major league teams will participate — gets under way here Monday and continues through Friday, Aug. 8.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When J. T. Dillard's entry of Merry-Bo and Chic Polly finished first and third, respectively, in the $2,500 Miss Colorado Stakes at Centennial Race Track in Denver last weekend, the feat earned $2,390 for the Big Spring owner of the fleet animals.

BILL WOODHOUSE

Chic Polly, who was at Ruidoso Downs in New Mexico until recently, was just back of Merry-Bo at the half-mile post but Memelark caught her just before they reached the finish line to claim second. Dillard paid $2,500 each for the horses at the Keeneland yearling sales in Kentucky. Merry-Bo broke in with a win at Oaklawn this spring and then went to Omaha, where she won once in four starts. Jockey Eugene Curry, who was up on Merry-Bo in her memorable ride, said the little brown filly was not extended in the race, although she equalled a world record at the distance for racing around one turn.

Woodhouse Can Still Tell The Time

Bill Woodhouse, the ACC sprinter who finished behind Duke's Dave Sims and in front of Bobby Morrow in the "race of the century" in the ABC Relays here last spring, has given away a dozen watches he's won in competition but still has seven to which he can refer for the time of day. Most recent "time" was in batting averages showed ex-Big Springer Carlos (Potato) Pascual leading with a mace mark of .389. Pascual, a brother to the Washington Senators' Camillo Pascual, had clubbed 16 home runs for Fox Cities. Red Ormsby, the former American League umpire who once made a speaking appearance here before the Knife and Fork Club, is suing a New York publishing concern for $250,000. He took umbrage at a statement which said he was "found broke and dead in a cheap hotel". Howard Green, founder of the old Longhorn league and later its first president, is in the runoff in Fort Worth for that job he now holds in the state Legislature. The Big Spring High School footballers, who traveled only 338 miles to and from assignments last fall, will be required to motor only 428 miles this year. Reason: The Longhorns have only three road lifts booked, whereas last year they had five. They'll hit the highways for engagements with Odessa, Sweetwater and San Angelo. Helen Witt of Big Spring, who performed at third base for the Wichita Falls entry in the State Women's softball tournament at Ballinger last week was named to the All-State team. Another Big Springer, Gwen Rogers, performed for the same club, while a third local woman, Sissy Harris, played shortstop for the Bronco team in the meet. The tournament was won by Port Arthur while Lubbock finished second and Wichita Falls third. Abilene, Odessa, Alpine and Roswell, N. M., have been mentioned as possible entries in the Soph baseball league, which hopes to go to eight teams in 1959.

Sanchez Excels Vet Satchel Paige

Jim Weatherall, the White Deer, Texas, product who made the All-American football team while attending Oklahoma University recently was traded to Washington by the Philadelphia Eagles. Jim drew some criticism in Philly last year because he asked for and was granted permission to report last for workouts and never did round into top physical condition. Volney Peters, a veteran tackle, was burned so seriously in an accident several weeks ago that he may not be able to play NFL ball this year. Raul Sanchez, the former Big Spring hurler, recently tossed a one-hitter for Havana in a seven-inning game against Miami, beating the veteran Satchel Paige in the bargain, 3-1. The only run and hit he surrendered was a homer off the bat of the former Phillie, Chuck Essegian. Sanchez is Havana's most reliable relief hurler, so it was surprising that he was given a starting berth. Saul Rogovin, the former ma-jeor league hurler, has re-entered college. George Wright, the Baylor football publicist, points up in his 1958 brochure to the remarkable equality which has existed in SWC football over the past five years. For conference games only, Texas had the best record — 15-13-2. TCU has the worst — 14-16-0. Here are the records achieved by the other schools: Texas A&M (15-14-1); Arkansas (15-14-1); Rice (15-15-0); Baylor (14-15-1); and SMU (14-15-1). Though Buffalo is bringing up the rear in the International league, only Toronto and possibly Denver will play to a bigger season's attendance among Class AAA teams. Incidentally, Freddy Rodriguez, the one-time Big Spring pitcher who is now with Buffalo, has been out of action recently due to boils. The Waco Muni golf course closed down recently and prospects are slim that it will ever be re-opened. The park board there has recommended that the course be sold and the money used for a new layout.

Bahama Bear-Hugged Way To Win, Insists Miceli

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — "We wuz robbed" is heard in boxing as much as punches are seen thrown. But coming from a fighter who won only three rounds, it bears study. Joe Miceli, veteran ringman from New York City, thought he got a bad deal here Friday night when he lost a 10-round unanimous decision to Yama Bahama of the British West Indies. Miceli based his argument on that fact that Bahama went into a bear-hugging routine in the first round after two knockdowns. "He should have been disqualified in the first round," Miceli shouted in his noisy dressing room. "The referee was a big guy, but he couldn't tear that guy off me," the 29-year-old left-handed hooker said. Miceli sent Bahama to a foggy island with a crushing left uppercut in the first punch of the fight. Bahama grabbed and tackled his man around the ring.

East Footballers Nip West, 38-16

ABILENE — The East All-Stars rolled over the West, 38-16, Friday night in the annual football game of the Texas Six-man Coaching Assn. School. That gave the East a sweep of all-star contests at the 13th annual school. The East nipped the West basketball squad Thursday night, 48-46.

Paul Gordon of Miles led the East football scoring with two touchdowns and a kicked conversion for a total of 14 points. The East scored in each quarter.

Gary Rowland of Vernon North Side ran 70-yards on a kickoff return to score in the third period for the East. Melvin Foster of Sterling City returned a kickoff 63 yards to score for the West.

Q'horse Futurity Set

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—The second annual running of the New Mexico Bred Quarter Horse Futurity at 400-yds. is featured at the Downs today.

This event, created by the Ruidoso Racing Association in order to stimulate the breeder's interest, had an interesting angle injected with the supplemental nomination of the thoroughbred filly Nosey Josey. Her capable trainer is just walking her and the controversial subject of whether or not a thoroughbred can be "shortened up" to outrun a Quarter Horse at his own distance will be settled when these youngsters skim across the finish line Sunday.

last win, will be the logical favorite. San Siemona was a good third her last out while the remaining youngsters are: I'm Gone, Dazzling Dial, Bronze Bart and Leo Lena Vee.

The Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby Trials will be run off at the ninth and tenth event on the card. Spanish Port, belonging to movie and TV star Dale Robertson, is the probable favorite of the First Division with Apache Agent, owned by writer and movie star Audie Murphy drawing the inside post position which will prove advantageous to the roan speedster.

Robin Boy, Bar The Door, Safety First and Shady Logan.

Following is the Second Division with Mr. Bar None, representing Oscar Jeffers Jr., by far the outstanding choice. He has been outrunning the older horses and is back for this one. Garcia Doll won her last start. The remaining contestants are: Arrived, Bond Issue, Fly Chick Fly, Top Bracket and Diamond 2 Bar.

The 400-yard "Gateway Motors Allowance" is high-lighted as event on the program with the Echo Ranch Stables strong entry of Vandy's Flash and Vannevar the probable favorites. Both are steady running sons of Vandy.

Church Champion To Be Determined

The 1958 champion of the YMCA Church Softball league will finally be determined at the City Park in a 7:30 o'clock game Monday evening.

First Baptist and Baptist Temple clash for the laurels. The two teams finished in a tie for first place in regular play, each with a 5-2 won-lost record. The playoff was scheduled several weeks ago but has been postponed several times.

Franklin kept the Angeloans away from the plate until the last inning. Marion Tredaway clubbed a bases-loaded home run for Cosden in the second inning, highlighting a seven-run outburst. Pete Cook had a double and two singles for the Big Spring club while Billy Paul Thomas drove out a triple and a double.

"You don't think Brother Stengel, who speaks a language all his own, would make such a move? "Don't be too sure."

OTTAWA (AP) — President Eisenhower told Canada's Parliament today that differences between the two neighbor nations can be solved and must not be allowed to overshadow the transcendent importance of free world cooperation in the winning of the global struggle against communism.

"We stand together at a pivotal point in history," Eisenhower told a warmly applauding Parliament. He was interrupted 10 times during his speech by members' applause and the traditional desk thumping.

"All that we Canadians and Americans, and those who went before us, have built, all that we believe in, is challenged as it has never been challenged before. The new horizons of competition range from the polar areas and extend to the infinity of outer space."

In conciliatory terms, the President got down to specific points of difference—U.S. wheat exports, American restrictions on oil imports, Canada's trade imbalance with the United States, and the heavy flow of American investment capital to Canada.

"There is no cause to be surprised," Eisenhower said, "that differences between the two nations are being discussed."

He contended that many hungry people have had food which they would not have had otherwise, that storage of the products would have depressed the world market and world prices. And, he said, the foreign funds obtained by the sales and made available to recipient countries in the long run should help raise living standards and enlarge the markets for everyone.

TRADE BALANCES
 Canada also has been unhappy about an unfavorable balance of trade with the United States running to around one billion dollars a year.

Eisenhower observed that American goods flow across the border only because Canadian consumers want to buy them.

To try to balance the trade books once a month or once a year with every nation, he said, would stifle trade rather than expand it. Furthermore, he said, Canada's export deficit to the United States is offset by export surpluses to other countries and by the flow of investments to Canada.

While the question of control of some Canadian industries by American citizens is raised, these industries are subject to Canadian law, he pointed out.

He noted that U. S. investments have helped provide employment, tax revenues and other benefits to Canada.

If there are defects in the investment process, Eisenhower said, he is confident ways will be found to correct them, because this is in the interest of both countries.

Laymen Hear Of Hospital Work

The importance of clinical pastoral training and the workings of the chaplaincy in a state mental hospital were outlined for the First Baptist Brotherhood at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

With Chaplain Marvin Berkeland presiding, three theology students —Keith Wright, Woolen Walsh, and Erlene Gaskin — told and demonstrated how chaplains work with patients, some of the problems encountered and how critiques help the ministerial students to find more effective techniques.

"Most people who are mentally ill have become so because of one or both of two things," said the Rev. Berkeland. "Either their relationships and adjustments to other people have not been satisfying, or they are similarly disturbed in their relationships with God."

Except in certain types of mental cases, which are in a small minority, chaplains have an initial interview with the patient, and whether they return for additional talks is up to the patient, explained the Rev. Berkeland.

Announcement was made of the Royal Ambassador camp for junior boys July 14-18 and the intermediate boys July 21-25 at the Baptist encampment grounds just south of town. At the same location on July 28 the one-day Brotherhood encampment will be held, G. G. Morehead, district president, said.

Traffic Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—Louis Romano, alleged Capone mobster, invoked the Fifth Amendment today in refusing to answer questions at Senate hearings on the rackets-infested Chicago restaurant industry.

The committee heard testimony Tuesday that Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, an overlord of Chicago crime, forced Romano into the labor movement as boss of the downtown Chicago Bartenders Union Local 278, to serve as a right-hand man for the mob.

Romano, wearing dark glasses, refused to tell the committee even where he was born.

"I decline to answer on the grounds that it may tend to incriminate me," he said.

Romano had no lawyer with him while testifying as the leadoff witness in the second day of questioning in the committee's search for evidence of a nationwide underworld plot to muscle in on labor and industry.

Also scheduled to be questioned today is Abraham Teitelbaum, labor consultant to the Chicago Restaurant Assn.

Teitelbaum, onetime lawyer for the Capone family, subsequently became the $12,000-a-year consultant to the association.

The committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) voiced curiosity about Teitelbaum's reasons for hiring Romano as the restaurant association's labor expert after a state court had ousted Romano and placed Local 278 in receivership.

Teitelbaum was a major witness in a House investigation of tax scandals in the Truman administration, and now lives in Hollywood, Calif. Romano, the committee said, lives in Miami.

After the awards were made, Mrs. Hall read several letters and telegrams from old timers who could not attend the reunion. O. B. Bryan read the list of new officers recommended by the nominating committee, and they were voted in by acclamation.

Alton Turner will serve as president, Hoot Tom as vice president, while Mrs. Hall was elected as permanent secretary of the organization.

The oldest ollimer was John Atchison of Stanton, who passed his 91st birthday two months ago. He came to Stanton in 1907. The person having lived the longest in Martin County is Chris Peters who came here as a small boy in 1883.

He was born near the Rhine River in Germany, then was brought to Arkansas by his parents. After his mother died, his father moved to Stanton, which was then called Marlenfield. The youngest old settler at the reunion was a baby just 18 days of age.

Several visitors were recognized during the parade. The ones coming the farthest were two from Corpus Christi, although others came from Oklahoma, Ruidoso, and Dallas.

Lyndon Releases Report On Water

WASHINGTON (AP)—A huge report on Texas water development possibilities, released today by Sen. Lyndon Johnson, contends the state's future growth will be determined largely by the use it makes of this natural resource.

While proposing no specific projects, the report dwells at length on the plausibility of switching floodwaters from one Texas river basin over to another where the river may be at normal or below normal level.

Traffic Mishaps At Static Rate

LAMESA — Traffic accidents for Lamesa in June totaled 19, which was one less than May's record, according to Chief of Police Morris Zimmerman.

Property damage was $4,650 or nearly $2,000 more than the May amount of $2,770. Three of the mishaps resulted in minor injuries to occupants of vehicles.

This brings the total accident for the year to 155 with 15 injuries. Property damage for the first six months has been estimated at $38,455.

Recession Has Put Damper On Search For Crude Reserves

HOUSTON (AP)—The search for new domestic oil reserves has received a sharp setback from the recession within the oil industry. Domestic drilling operations the first six months of 1958 were 10 per cent below the same period in 1957 but wildcat explorations suffered a 16.3 per cent decline. Despite brighter prospects for the last half, the unexpectedly sharp slump for the first six months has caused revisions of earlier forecasts for 1958 operations.

World Oil magazine this week estimated that only 47,952 wells of all types will be drilled in the United States this year. This is a downward revision from a forecast of 50,137 made at the start of the year.

A 47,952 total for 1958 would be the lowest since 47,046 wells were drilled in 1952. A total of 53,734 wells were drilled last year, compared to 1956's record 58,894. Productive completion forecasts also have undergone revision as a result of January-June operations.

The original 1958 forecast for oil, gas and distillate productive completions was 29,750, compared to 31,839 in 1957. The downward revision cuts this year's estimate to 28,731.

A copyrighted midyear publication letter from World Oil predicts the decline in United States drilling activity is coming to an end.

The magazine estimates 24,690 wells will be drilled the last six months compared to only 23,262 the first half of the year.

"Increased drilling activity in the last half of 1958 will be the result of United States producers enjoying much more favorable economic conditions than in the first six months of the year," the midyear letter said. "Many economic difficulties which hampered United States oil since the spring of 1957 have been corrected in recent months."

Improved inventories and higher producing rates are among the factors leading to anticipated drilling activity improvement.

"Substantially higher United States producing rates are certain in coming months," the letter said. "Producers and refiners no longer will need to hold supply below current consuming rates. United States crude oil production may be as much as one million barrels per day larger by December, 1958, than in the spring months of 1958, when it averaged only 6.1-3 million barrels daily."

FOR FEDERAL EXEMPTION Natural Gas Bill To Next Session?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another natural gas bill apparently is about to come to its death, but talk already is being heard that a new attempt will be made to put such a measure through the next Congress.

Legislation to exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the Federal Power Commission has cleared Congress only to run into presidential vetoes. The present bill is still on the House calendar but has little chance of being brought to a vote.

"A gas bill should be reintroduced next year," Rep. Page Belcher (R-Okla.) said today.

"We should never give up trying to enact into law a principle as right as that. As time goes on, a lot of people will find they have been misled by political propaganda."

Similar expressions came from other members of Congress from oil and gas areas.

"I believe that some who have opposed it may finally wake up and there may be more support for a gas bill next year," Rep. Tom Steed (D-Okla.) said.

Steed said there is considerable confusion at the Federal Power Commission about controls over independent gas producers whose gas goes into interstate pipelines. There is no way to clarify the existing situation except by congressional action, he said.

Opponents of such legislation, many from Eastern, Northern and Midwestern gas-consuming areas, have contended the effect would be higher prices to consumers.

Backers have argued that unless such legislation is enacted, some gas producers may decide to sell only within the states of their production rather than accept federal controls and that the result would be tighter supplies of gas in an expanding market and, consequently, higher prices.

Completion In E. Howard Area

Brinson-Collins Oil Co. has finished another well in the East Howard field of Howard County this week, and Cosden was pumping load from a Howard-Glasscock venture preparatory to completion.

The new producer is Brinson-Collins No. 8-B Percy Jones about seven miles southeast of Cosden. On 24-hour potential test, it pumped 129.61 barrels of 31-degree oil without a trace of water after being fractured with 20,000 gallons.

Total depth is 2,795 feet, and top of the pay zone is 2,625. Severinch casing is set at the top of the pay section. Location of the well is 2,313 from south and 1,315 feet from east line, 9-30-15, T&P Survey.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Cosden pumped load oil from the No. 1-D Clay well about four miles southeast of Foran. The project is 330 feet from north and east lines, 154-29, W&N Survey.

Total depth is 2,565 feet.

Shell Oil announced it would deepen the No. 6-A Dora Roberts venture in the same field to 2,575 feet. It is practically on the Glasscock County line, 1,650 feet from north and 150 feet from east lines, 156-29, W&N Survey, and about 16 miles south of Big Spring.

241 Completions During Past Week

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday 205 oil and 36 gas wells were completed this week in Texas.

It upped the year oil well completion mark to 7,661 while gas well completions hit 1,383. This compares to 9,392 and 1,100 last year.

There were 107 dry holes, and 171 wells were plugged.

Five oil and two gas wells also were completed in unproven territory.

Book Available On Oil Lifting Topics

LUBBOCK — Proceedings of the Fifth Annual West Texas Oil Lifting Short Course are now available through Texas Tech's petroleum engineering department.

Prof. W. L. Ducker, chairman of the Short Course board of directors, said this year's publication contains information of interest to everyone facing problems of artificial lift in production.

The 249-page book has copies of all papers presented at the meeting, held last April in Lubbock. Papers include drawings, charts and photographs explaining subjects.

Post Wildcat May Have Pay In Devonian

Possible production from the Ellenburger has been indicated by tests at a wildcat in the Justiceburg (G.orienta) field of Garza County. Also, a new well has been added in the PHD field in the northwest part of the county.

Operator tested the Ellenburger at the American Liberty No. 1 Connell wildcat about eight miles northeast of Justiceburg Friday from 7,925-940 feet.

After tool had been open 30 minutes, recovered were 2,000 feet of oil, 160 feet of mud-cut oil and 10 feet of muddy water with a taste of salt.

A straddle-packer test in the Pennsylvania from 7,420-540 feet was planned before casing was set for completion attempts in the Ellenburger. The project is staked 660 feet from south and 1,980 from east lines, 129-5, H&G Survey.

Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. finished the No. 3 T. L. Barnes in the PHD field for a daily potential of 58.88 barrels of 36.5-degree oil and 40 per cent water after acidizing with 1,500 gallons.

The well is 1,110 feet from north and 330 from west lines, 1,240-666, D&W Survey, and 10 miles northwest of Post.

Total depth is 3,813 feet with 5 1/2-inch string set one foot off the bottom of the hole. Top of the basal San Andres section is 3,750 and perforation interval is 3,750-64 feet.

A new location in Garza is Continental No. 1-D Blake in the East Humble (San Andres) field. Drill-site is 2,310 from south and 1,850 from east lines of Section 1,200, T&G Survey, and 5 1/2 miles northwest of Post. Drilling depth is 3,500 feet.

Dean Pay In Dawson Moves To Northwest

John L. Cox has completed a well in Dawson County extending production in the Ackery (Dean) field to the northwest.

The new producer is Cox No. 1-A Graves about four miles northeast of Ackery. On 24-hour potential test, it flowed 171 barrels of oil through a 20-64-inch choke with out a trace of water. Oil tested 38 degrees, and gas-oil ratio hit 660-1.

The well is 2,090 feet from north and west lines, 48-34-4n, T&P Survey, and extended production in the multipay field to the northwest about half a mile.

Total depth is 9,300 feet, but it is plugged back to 8,613 feet. Top of the Dean pay zone is 8,247, and perforations extend from 8,247-378 feet. Oil string is cemented at 8,613.

Before taking potential, operator treated with 80,000 gallons of frac fluid.

A short distance away, operator was still installing pumping unit at the Camp Oil Co. No. 1 George Oldham wildcat. The project is five miles northeast of Ackery, C NE SE, 26-34-4n, T&P Survey.

Operator perforated casing in the Canyon from 9,158-61 feet for tests.

New Tests Staked In Reeves, Terrell

Reeves and Terrell counties have drawn new wildcats this weekend.

In Terrell, Continental No. 1 Brown-Bassett is a 16,000-foot try about 23 miles south of Sheffield, and two miles northwest of the Magnolia No. 1 Brown-Bassett, opener and lone producer in the Brown-Bassett Silurian gas field.

Drill-site is 1,980 feet from north and east lines, 227-4, TC&RR Survey.

The Reeves try is George Koch No. 1 Sue McCracken about five miles southeast of Pecos. It is located 330 feet from south and west lines, 32-6, H&G Survey, and it will drill to 5,100 feet.

Borden Explorer Deepened To 6,249

Lone Star Producing Co. deepened its No. 1 Clarence Porter wildcat in Borden County to 6,249 feet in lime at the end of the week.

The 10,500-foot exploration is 12 miles southwest of Gail, C NE SE, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey.

In the nearby Jo-Mill field, Cosden No. 1-A C. C. Canon penetrated to 5,228 feet Saturday. The site is 660 feet from north and west lines, 38-33-5n, T&P Survey, and about 12 miles west of Gail.

Price Adjustment In Oklahoma Area

DALLAS (AP)—Magnolia Petroleum Co. announced Friday an adjustment in its posted price for Oklahoma crude oil in seven counties.

The new posting is $3.15 a barrel for 40 to 44.9 degree gravity, with a two-cent per barrel differential downward for each degree above 44.0, to $2.93 for 55-degree gravity and above.

H. T. Bratcher Gets Promotion

H. T. Bratcher has been promoted to superintendent of production for Cosden Petroleum Corporation, it was announced Saturday by Lewis M. Thompson, manager of the producing division. The appointment became effective August 1.

Bratcher joined Cosden in 1939, after attending Bowling Green College in Kentucky. He has steadily advanced through the ranks to his present position. Prior to the new assignment, he was production superintendent of the Eastern Division. In his new post, he will be in charge of the entire operating section of the production department.

Sharp Decrease In Humble's Net

Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s estimated net income for the first half of 1958 was $57,192,000. This compares to $116,135,700 earned in the same period of 1957 when oil production was at a high level because of the unusual demand brought about by the Suez crisis.

The announcement was made in the interim report to shareholders. C. E. Reistle Jr., executive vice president, issued the report in the absence of Morgan J. Davis, Humble president.

Net income per share in the first half was 79 cents, compared with $1.62 for the same period in 1957. Dividends paid per share were 70 cents in the first half of 1958.

Crude Production At New Low Point

TULSA (AP)—Free-world crude oil production during May dropped to the lowest point for any month this year or in 1957, the Oil and Gas Journal said Saturday.

Free-world output totaled 14,689,500 barrels daily compared with 14,815,000 a month earlier and 15,849,200 daily during May, 1957.

Nothing Spectacular About His Work, Says Famed Fire Fighter

By JIM BOWMAN

HOUSTON (AP)—Oil well fire-fighter Myron Kinley, who can buy a life insurance policy, looks more like a desk chained book-keeper than a daredevil.

He scoffs at the spectacular aspects of his work because to him the spectacular has become routine.

He recently dashed off to Iran to fight a two-month battle with a blazing oil inferno in the desert. The mercury hit 160 degrees on the blazing sands. Water had to be piped in from miles away.

Five times the Texan set high explosive charges and failed to blow out the fire. On the sixth try, the towering, hungry flames gave up the fight.

Kinley is 58. At the age when many men ease up, he hops about the world flitting with death much as he has for some 35 years. He keeps ready at all times a small bag packed with fresh khakis, a razor, his toothbrush and his passport.

Kinley is a veteran of more than 400 oil well fire battles. The old pro's name is synonymous with the airman's "mayday" to oilmen throughout the world.

His store of knowledge on how to extinguish and cap burning wells is probably the world's greatest. His have-passport-will-travel sales appeal may bring him midnight calls from any part of the globe.

While still in Iran his Houston office relayed an urgent message to fly to Canada to tackle another fire. But it went out before Kinley was able to leave.

Back in this country only a few days, he hopped a plane to West Texas where another oil well was burning out of control. This one posed no special problem and Kinley was back in his office in a couple of days.

Headquarters for Kinley is an unpretentious one-story building on the grassy plains of Houston's western outskirts. It also houses Kinley's oilfield equipment business.

His Chinese-red lacquered desk sits in a modern small office adorned with photographs of fiercely burning wells, some of which have left their marks on the balding, stocky firefighter.

Blasting—the ace card of oil well firemen—has left him slightly deaf. He walks with a limp as the result of a broken ankle suffered on a South Texas job years ago. Scar tissue from burns covers parts of his body, mementos of a Venezuelan blaze.

Plumpest around the middle, he stands nearly six feet tall. Kinley's sparse hair, once sandy, is streaked with gray. While talking he's inclined to rub a big diamond mounted in a heavy gold band on the little finger of his left hand.

A soft-spoken man, Kinley is reluctant to talk about his triumphs over nature's devilment. But his recent third trip to Iran wasn't an ordinary asbestos suit affair.

One day in April a gas distillate well caught fire near Ahwaz on the Persian Gulf. The telephone jangled in Houston and within a few hours Kinley was on his way.

He found a wildcat drilled some 9,000 feet. More than 120,000 barrels of the fuel were burning every 24 hours.

The size of the hole—9 5/8 inches—startled the trouble shooter. Tremendous pressure spewed up flames with a blowtorch effect.

For a week Kinley mapped his plan of battle and improvised special tools. He rigged up protective shields for the bulldozers and ordered a pipeline laid from a water point 13 miles distant.

Once set, the dozers cleared away the melted steel rig structure. He worked from midnight to dawn and only on days when wind directions were favorable.

Kinley pulled the thousands of feet of drill pipe from the well in two days and then moved in with his explosives.

Planting one charge of nitro gelatin, he moved back and set it off but the monster caught fire once more. On June 4, two months after he arrived, shot No. 6 paid off.

"I used 800 pounds of explosives in all. That's the largest amount I've used," Kinley says. Pocketing a check from the Iranian oil concordat, he left for home.

Oil sources say Kinley gets at least $30,000 from big companies for a job. Kinley will say only that business is sporadic. Last year he handled about 20 calls.

The fireman's price is cheap compared with what an oilwell fire costs a producer. One color print on his office wall shows an American well that caught fire near Big Spring in 1950. A passing car had ignited escaping gas.

Kinley got the fire out in 29 days but not before $300,000 in oil went up in smoke.

Drilling Operations Hold Steady In Permian Basin

Rotary drilling across the Permian Basin was static last week, with the same number of active rigs reported on Friday as were counted July 25.

Reed Roller Bit Co. found 330 rigs turning the past two Fridays on its surveys, well below the 485 in action at the same time of 1957.

Before the July 25 count, however, the total has been 326 on July 18 and 322 on July 11.

Lea County, N. M., retained its lead as the top individual area with 36 rigs, but its margin was still just one rig over Winkler. Andrews dropped one to 33 from the previous week's report while Ector added one unit to 30.

Howard County had four rigs moving last week, the same number as has been reported now for three weeks. Borden County reported 10 units turning, one less than on July 25, and Dawson could count only two.

The overall picture for counties (with July 25 totals in parentheses) includes Andrews 33 (34), Borden 10 (11), Cochran 5 (4), Coke 5 (5), Chavez 2 (4), Concho 0 (0), Crane 17 (12), Crockett 4 (2), Culbertson 8 (8), Dawson 2 (2), and Dickens 2 (2).

ROY H. OWENS

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

This is the 9th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

One of the many benefits that Cosden employees enjoy are those of retirement. And Roy H. Owens is enjoying his to the fullest.

Mr. Owens, known as "Shorty" to his many friends, retired Feb. 28 of this year after 15 years' service with Cosden which began Feb. 17, 1943.

June 22, 1892, was the date of his birth and the place was Johnson County. Mr. Owens attended the Cleburne schools until he was 13 when, with his family, he moved to Callihan County, where he completed his education.

After moving to Sweetwater in 1924 and working for the Gyp plant, in 1928 he came to Big Spring. He was employed by the late L. S. McDowell on the ranch until he became a Cosdenite.

At an all-day picnic in Callihan County, he met Ida Mae Lewis. The couple was married Nov. 21, 1915. They have one daughter, Mrs. Lyndall Ashley of Lenora and three grandchildren, Ricki Lynn, Shelton Lee and Terri Ann.

Fishing is the main recreation for Mr. Owens but gardening runs a close second. He is a member of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

The Owens own their home at 404 State.

4 Perrin Airmen Die In Collision

COLBERT, Okla. (AP)—Four airmen from Perrin Air Force Base in Grayson County, Tex., were killed late Friday night when two cars collided just north of the Red River.

The dead were Lloyd Wayne Hoke, 21, of Portland, Ore.; Jack E. Ruch, of Hamilton, Ohio; Arvil Dale Gaitner, 21, of Malden, Mo.; and Melvin Eugene Dennis, 28, of Galena, Kan.

Highway trooper Bill Squires said the airmen's car and the one driven by Cass collided almost head on two miles west of here on U.S. 75A. He said Cass' car first struck a pickup truck and bounced into the path of the airmen's car.

Legislator Suggests 8 Texas Counties Join New Mexico

ARTESIA, N. M. (AP)—A New Mexico legislator proposed Saturday that eight West Texas counties secede and join New Mexico. Rep. Fred Cole made his proposal in a letter to W. J. Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times. Cole said he would introduce a resolution in the New Mexico Legislature in January calling for taking in the West Texas counties he said "are very unhappy at being ignored by Texas."

Cole is unopposed for re-election in November. He is vice president of the First National Bank and was chairman of the House Finance Committee in the last session.

Mexico would then be in third place in area. Cole said he felt sure that "75 per cent of the population of the eight named counties would approve annexation to New Mexico. The only objection or opposition in New Mexico would come from Bernalillo County, which is mostly Albuquerque."

Advantages listed include: "Other towns involved would be Sierra Blanca, Fabens, Pecos, Barstow, Toyah, Marfa, Balmorhea, Alpine, Presidio, Marathon, Van Horn, Ysleta, Valentine, Shafter, Fort Davis and Mentone."

ern New Mexico and have influence. New Mexico trout streams and hunting areas would be available to residents of the area "without paying the exorbitant hunting and fishing license fees now charged to non-resident sportsmen."

Wholesale and retail liquor dealers would be in favor of such an act as they are guaranteed excellent profits by New Mexico law, which they do not now get by being part of Texas.

Drug Firms Face Price Fixing Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Saturday charged six major drug companies with fixing the prices of wonder drugs at arbitrary, artificial, noncompetitive and rigid levels.

The action, one of the most important antimonopoly complaints ever drafted by the Federal Trade Commission, climaxed a two-year study of the antibiotics industry. Industry spokesmen promptly denied the commission's charges.

THE ONE TRUE NATIONAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM IS THE DAILY NEWSPAPER... because 88% of America's families get a newspaper every day. That's national coverage! Unlike television and radio, newspaper advertising is always ready and waiting to suit the time, place and convenience of the consumer. The newspaper is always selling—and always selling to more people than any other medium. If you want to sell more products to more people, use the daily newspaper—the one true national advertising medium.

Bracero Fees Are Hiked After Congress Fails To Vote Funds

STANTON (SC)—The increase in fees for contracting braceros has caused much discussion among farmers who depend on Mexican Nationals to help cultivate and harvest the cotton crop.

To get a clearer picture on the present status of the bracero rulings and the reasons behind it, Oscar Fanning, manager of the Basin Growers Assn. in Stanton, has issued the following statements:

The failure of Congress recently to appropriate sufficient funds for the operation of the bracero program has resulted in an increase in the contracting fee that braceros users are required to pay. This "contracting fee", which must be paid to the U. S. Department of Labor, has been increased from $10 per man to $15, effective Aug. 1, 1958.

In previous years this fee was used by the government only to cover the expense of bracero transportation and meals from the various migration centers in the interior of Mexico to the reception centers located on the U. S. border. It also was used to pay his transportation and meals on the return trip from the border back to the Mexican reception center.

This year, with Congress failing to appropriate sufficient funds to pay administrative expense of the program, a portion of these expenses must also be paid from the contracting fee.

Public Law 78 passed by the 82nd Congress as amended, which authorizes the Department of Labor to import foreign workers where domestic labor is not available, sets the maximum amount of this fee at $15. Barring amendments to the law, there should be no further increases. Since passage of the law in 1949, the fee has fluctuated between $5 and $15, and as recently as last year it was only $7.

In addition to this fee, the users of bracero labor must pay the cost of insurance, transportation and meals from the reception center to the area of employment and then the return to the reception center when the bracero's contract has expired. Also, the farmers using braceros must help pay for administrative expenses incurred by the associations.

Future Of Radar In Weather Promising

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. AP—On the darkened radar-scope, the sweeping finger revealed an intense bright cloud . . . moving fast . . . trailing an ominous little hook. "Tornado!" the radarman shouted.

Quickly the radar weather scientists at Texas A&M College charted the twister's direction and speed by radar.

It was coming straight toward them, and the adjoining town of Bryan. Bryan's public school would dismiss in a few minutes, at 3 p.m.

Telephones spread the alarm to take cover, to keep the children in school.

When the tornado ripped through Bryan at 3:10 p.m., all the school youngsters were safe in the building rather than on the streets. Only a few townspeople who hadn't heard the warning were injured.

This was one of the first successes in April 1956 of radar as a tornado detective and in which radar is becoming a powerfully useful eye for the weather forecaster and scientist.

Radar can also warn of flood dangers and spot little storms that slip through the network of weather stations. Radar with a memory can tell how fast clouds and fronts are moving or changing.

Radar even promises nearly instant, up-to-the-minute weather maps to advise jet pilots of military or civilian planes—maybe the Sunday picnicer.

One center actively developing weather uses of radar is the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology under Dr. Dale F. Leipper at Texas A&M.

Radar, of course, is invisible radio waves which bounce or echo back from a target or object. Special radar can be tuned to see clouds, or even raindrops.

Rain clouds can be seen and tracked hundreds of miles away. Their changing shapes and motions give vital information.

For easier, more accurate charting of cloud changes and weather fronts, Dr. George L. Huebner Jr. has developed radar with a memory. It works this way:

The radarscope picture at any given moment can be recorded in a memory tube. Ten to 30 minutes later it is superimposed on the screen which shows clouds as they exist at this moment. The remembered picture is superimposed in red light over green. Overlapping areas become yellow and show in what ways and over what distances the clouds or fronts changed in that time.

One possibility for the future was outlined by Dr. Myron G. H. Ligda, who after several years of research here has just become head of the Radar Aerophysics Group at Stanford Research Institute to conduct applied research in radar meteorology.

This is nearly instant maps, taken from networks of radars, showing the pattern of storms and how they are evolving. A regular weather map takes one to two hours to prepare.

By using modern techniques of transmission and printing or reproduction, the picture of weather over a huge area might be put into the hands of a forecaster within 15 to 20 minutes, Dr. Ligda says. He could then quickly prepare a very accurate forecast for the next few hours.

2 Local Teachers Attend Conference

CANYON—Mrs. Lucille Daniel and Mrs. Zan Grant Ryan of Big Spring attended the sixth annual reading conference held last week at West Texas State College.

They heard addresses by Dr. Roy A. Kress Jr., educational director of the Shady Brook Schools of Richardson; Mrs. Dora V. Smith of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. Matilda Bailey, professor of English at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

The three-day conference also featured group conferences on common school problems in reading.

Martin Cotton All Measured

STANTON—George Glynn, county officer manager of the ASC, did a fast job in getting Martin County's cotton acreage measured this year.

By using 20 reporters in the field instead of the usual nine or 10, the work was completed ahead of schedule. Also the weather cooperated, and very little time was lost. There is still a week or 10 days work to do in the office before the records are completed, Glynn said. Farmers will be notified about their acreage as soon as possible.

Most fields were overplanted as usual. However, in the sandy areas where cotton was lost to sandstorms, some farmers barely had enough left to fill the allotted acreage.

Glynn says the ACP still has some money to pay out for approved conservation practices, provided application is made before the week starts. Though funds are somewhat limited, he thinks there will be enough to pay for any practices that farmers wish to establish.

Hard To Please

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway theater audiences are still tougher than the professional critics. The trade magazine, "Variety," found that the public stamped 12 of 51 shows. Among newspaper critics, the toughest recommended 16 of the productions, and the most lenient liked 30.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Doris Blissard of St. Lawrence are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Dee Cravens. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie R. Cravens of Luman. Friends of the couple are invited to attend the wedding which will take place in the Stanton First Methodist Church at 8 p.m. on Aug. 23.

Miscellaneous Gift Tea Given For Miss Stratton

Another engaged girl joined the ranks of those being given pre-nuptial fetes, Friday, when Mary Beth Stratton was honored in the B. J. Lewis home. Miss Stratton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Stratton, 710 East 16th. The prospective bridegroom is Lt. James L. Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Anthony of Dahlonga, Ga. The couple will be married in the First Presbyterian Church on Aug. 15. Hostesses with Mrs. Lewis were Mrs. R. R. Headley, Mrs. E. A. Hall, Mrs. E. E. Pankey, Mrs. Sallie Sutton and Mrs. Myrna Estes. Miscellaneous gifts were presented to the honoree, who was attired in a navy silk shantung frock, with a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted in greeting guests by her mother, who had also received a carnation corsage from the hostesses. Pink roses decorated a white cake, which bore the first names of the bridal couple. White linen made a background for the floral arrangement of pink and white carnations and baby's breath. About 100 were included on the guest list.

Spoudazio Fora Has Called Meet

Members of the Spoudazio Fora gathered for a called meeting Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Watkins. Discussion centered around the program for the coming year and the project on which the club will work. It was decided to map plans for parties to be given the group in the school for exceptional children at various times during the year. A representative will be elected to serve in the advisory council at the state hospital. Theme selected for the program is Beauty in Everyday Living, with roll calls assigned to each member according to her special interest. September 9 was set for the first regular meeting of the club, and it will be the traditional salad supper. Mrs. Ed Cherry, 1613 Indian Hills, will be hostess; the program will be a panel discussion on travel, led by Mrs. James C. Jones. Mrs. Watkins served refreshments to the group on the patio.

Stay 'Relaxed' If You Would Follow Fashion

A prow through local dress shops will confirm what you have been hearing—that dresses and suits are to be much, much shorter. Also, there's a relaxed line about them that seems, at first glance, to border on the slouchy look. Belts, if there is one added to a dress, are placed all the way from just under the bustline to just below the hipline. Some frocks disregard the belt and hang loosely from the shoulders. Yes, it seems to be quite a "relaxed" season. Coming in for their share of attention, though, are furs and feathers in such array as has not been seen in several years. Fine fur edges coats and jackets or forms the hem for extra elegance in dressy attire. Feathers of various shades and lengths overlap on hats or swirl coquettishly from the brim to frame the wearer's face. Some rather startling effects can be gained from a border of ostrich feathers long enough to shade the eyes and double for a veil.

FROM LOCAL SHAPES
Lynx is the fur on the suit coat shown today in the Herald's presentation of fall styles, gleaned from various shops in the city. Mrs. Jack Hendrix, 104 Washington, is the model. Wool in a chamois hue makes the suit with a boxy jacket, which is worn with a blouse in a shade just a bit darker than the woolen fabric. Accenting the deep tones of the fur is the bag in mottled black and brown. Note the sleek look of the deep cloche, so well-chosen for the ensemble. It is of black and orange feathers, overlapped to show quite a bit of orange—one of the most popular fall shades. Of course, it's called by several different names other than just plain "orange."

which can be dressed up for special occasions. Fur creeps into the picture again in the mutation mink capelet, enticingly held by Mrs. Hendrix. In cerulean shade, the gray tones of the perfectly matched skins will be a pretty topper for the dance dress of aquamarine nylon tulle. Ruffle upon ruffle makes up the full skirt worn over crinolines and topped with a taffeta bow, masquerading as a bustle. From the flower-centered bow, long streamers float over the skirt and tempt eyes to follow the wearer.

WAISTLINE CLOCHE
The hat—a waistline cloche with only trim a bow of satin on the front, both in forest glow—one of the new forest tones. The suit—a two-piece worsted crepe in mocha, highlighted with a scarf, gloves and bracelet in the same "burnt orange" tone as the hat. Mrs. Hendrix chose a bag of cordovan brown with pumps in the same tint, bearing on their toes just a suggestion of trimming in a darker hue. Especially relaxed is the two-

To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Helms, 318 Princeton, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Sue, to Morris Dean Sewell. He is the son of Mrs. W. M. Sewell, 1400 Nolan, and the late Mr. Sewell. The Helms home will be the scene of the wedding, August 10.

piecer, which almost gives the feeling of a one-piece dress. Slotted through the jacket at the hip-line is a medium-width belt—the only break in the straight lines of the costume. Of imported Italian wool, the suit is in a twilight gray, so adaptable for the rainbow of fall colors just waiting to form accents for neutral backgrounds. Taking a letter or conjugating a verb will be a pleasure for the career girl or the student attired in the eye-catching skirt and sweater set. Great blocks of green, royal blue and yellow, formed from the combination of the two, fashion a plaid wool fabric to give variety in the choice of accompanying sweaters and blouses. The twin sweaters worn by Mrs. Hendrix are the exact shade of the blue square, and the stones in the jewelry repeat the tones of the skirt.

LEISURE TOGS
For those all-important leisure or fun hours, match-mates in wool are suggested by fashion experts this fall. If you have the figure for them, skinnys pants topped by a blouse and vest or sweater, make a flattering and comfortable mode of attire. You may prefer a skirt in the same fabric—One's available. The three-piece ensemble pictured today is fashioned of 100 per cent wool in diagonal design. Colors are red, a red-orange and beige—to make an over-all effect of a new harvest tone. Matching to a "T" the beige stripe are the soft little flats of beige suede. All these attractive fashions are being shown by local stores, along with others—in enough variety to suit any taste and budget.

Club Plans Trip To Neighboring Town

Plans for the annual out-of-town trip were discussed by members of the Eger Beaver Sewing Club when the group met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. O. Findley. The town to be visited and the date for the trip will be decided at a later date. Members sewed during the afternoon; next hostess will be Mrs. J. E. Freeman, 2110 Johnson, it was announced to the eight attending.

Meet The Flaningans

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Flaningan and their children sit for their first family portrait in Big Spring. That is Linda standing. Michael and Lana are the other lively teen-agers. The newcomers moved here from Fort Worth.

'Way Back There, Somebody Must Have Goofed In Spelling

Ask our featured newcomers for their name, and chances are they will spell it for you. They are the Morris Flaningan family, and the version of Flaningan is spelled with three N's.

The new manager of the Good-year Store arrived May 29 and immediately began the frustrating search for a house. By a stroke of fortune, he met a fellow who was going abroad for three years, and succeeded in negotiating a long-term lease. The cosy home is at 1006 Broadway.

This was the trick needed to bring Mrs. Flaningan, Linda, Michael and Lana from Fort Worth. It has been two weeks and they are about settled and ready to look for a church home; they are Baptists.

The teen-agers are all interested in horses and hope to have one of their own. Flaningan previously had a string of roping horses and taught the youngsters to ride. Television entertains them, and they like to spin the favorite "platters" in their collection. Linda, 16, will be in the 11th grade; she enjoys swimming. Lana, 12, will be a seventh grader and is accumulating stuffed animals. Like her sister, she is a movie fan. Many of their frocks are designed by their mother, who also gardens.

As for Michael, 14, who will be in the ninth grade, he goes along with his dad on hunting trips. Deer is their game. Flaningan has another hobby, which his wife is happy to promote. It's cooking. Barbecuing meats and broiling steaks outdoors are specialties, but he also has the knack of preparing a complete Sunday dinner.

Although the Flaningans claim Taylor as their permanent home, his association with Goodyear has led them to residence in Comanche, Brownwood, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi. In the wholesale phase for most of that time, Flan-ing turned his attention to retail sales with the move to Big Spring. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Shriners.

'Rockabye, Baby' Is Shower Theme Friday

Rockabye, Baby was the theme of a surprise shower given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Jack Haptonstall for Mrs. Wayne Lankford. Guests gathered in the nursery at the Haptonstall home before Mrs. Lankford arrived "to visit the Haptonstall baby". There, a small mesquite tree, set up on a low table, emphasized the theme and was surrounded by gifts for the honoree.

Joyce Lankford registered guests in the baby book, and favors were tiny replicas of the book. A "family tree" was given each person, and she filled in suggested names for boys and girls. Guests also composed a telegram and wrapped a gift to be sent to the father-to-be, who is stationed at Fort Hood.

On the serving table, laid with pink linen, was a miniature tree; it was glittered in gold and scattered with pink rosebuds and tiny dolls, wrapped in pink net blankets and attached to the tree with stars. Pink candles in wrought-iron hurricane lamps burned on each side of the tree.

Napkins for the 12 guests were in a rosebud design made in the shape of a tiny baby shirt.

HI-TALK

By Brenda Barr

Hello, again! This is Beverly Martin signing in again this week, as Brenda Barr is still on vacation. I'm sure most of us will agree that there has been very little excitement this week. Maybe this is because we were all in a mild state of shock when we discovered Jimmie Simmons and Linda Woodall are now Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Simmons. Linda and Jimmie were married in Juarez, Mexico, on April 18, and were married in the Presbyterian Church Saturday.

"Head for the hills" was the cry that echoed down Main Street when Bobby McAdams, Benny McCrary, and Eddie Kinney left for Colorado Tuesday night. They are planning to stay three weeks unless they run out of money first. See you soon, boys!

Glenda Greenwood and Gerald Liner are our new steadies for this week. Don't they make a cute couple?

Katie and Cleo Thomas accompanied their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., to Red River. Katie left Saturday morning and will return home in a week. Are you lonely, Mike?

"Spish Splash!" This was the sound heard seeping through from Vincent Friedewald's back yard. Vincent, Sherry Coats, Mike Jarrett, and Mary Jane Engstrom seemed to be enjoying a cool swim and a hot sun bath.

Senior Girls! Please do not forget to have your pictures for the annual made during this month. Why not go down now so you won't forget it?

Have you noticed that Harriett Gebert's left hand seems to be paralyzed? Well, don't get alarmed. She is just showing off that beautiful engagement ring Jimmy Hayworth gave her for her birthday.

Friday night the YMCA held a banquet to honor the girls that have been teaching swimming lessons this summer. Pat Rogers was named the outstanding instructor for 1958. Others enjoying the dinner were Shirley Agee, Carolyn Sewell, Judi Simpson, Pat Johnson, Gloria Coker, Judy Morrow, Gretchen Briden, Judy Reagan, Sharon Creighton, and Aqua Queen Lana Lewis.

September Rites Set

Robert F. Bluhm Jr. and Carol Ann Landwermyer of Midland have set Sept. 6 as the date for their wedding, which will take place in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Midland. This announcement has been made by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Emma Dean Odum, Midland. Her father is J. E. Landwermyer of Fort Worth. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. R. F. Bluhm, 107 East 18th, and the late Mr. Bluhm.

Is Saturday Bride

Mrs. Jimmie Simmons, the former Linda Woodall, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodall, 701 East 17th. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Simmons, 611 Johnson. The couple was married in the First Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon, with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the church, reading the vows. The nuptials follow a civil ceremony conducted in Juarez, Mexico, on April 18 by Judge Jorge de la Fuente.

Showers Compliment Bride-Elect This Week

Adding spice to the social life of the city are the many showers now being given brides-elect. Among the group is Tommye Anne Hill, who is to be married to Enoch L. Blewett on Aug. 14. She is the daughter of Mrs. T. F. Hill, 811 East 12th, and the late Mr. Hill; the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blewett, 108 Creighton. The couple will exchange wedding vows in the East Fourth Baptist Church.

Thursday afternoon at a shower given in the high school cafeteria. Hostesses were Mrs. Ronald S. Maves and the cheer leaders of Big Spring High School. Miss Hill has been the sponsor of the pep squad.

Here's Why Food Bills Are So High

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Purdue University economists have drafted an explanation for housewives who can't understand why food prices have gone up while the farmer's share of the retail food dollar has gone down.

Jim Stevenson and Clara Wendt, consumer education specialists, report it is true that the farmer now gets only about 40 cents of the food dollar, compared with 53 cents in 1945.

But the difference, they assert, is not due to excessive profits by any greedy middleman. Profits of food marketing firms have been traditionally low, compared to the sales. These "middleman" profits amounted to only 3 per cent of sales, after taxes, in 1955.

The Purdue specialists listed these as some of the reasons for higher prices to the housewife:

Rates for shipping agricultural products by railroad have increased by 75 per cent in the last 10 years. Truck rates generally have followed rail rates.

The cost of labor for marketing agricultural products was 273 per cent higher in 1956 than in 1940. Innumerable "built-in" services have been added to the food line — cleaning, trimming, shelling, mixing, pre-cooking and fancy packaging—all adding to the cost.

The Purdue experts say Mrs. America evidently is willing to pay for more attractive, ready-to-cook food. She spent 25 per cent of her disposable income on food in 1956. If she had been willing to accept food of the type and quality of 20 years ago, she could have bought it for 16 per cent of her income.

Hostesses for a miscellaneous shower, given Friday, included about 75 in the guest list, among them the members of the Homemakers Class of the church.

The home of Mrs. Bob Craig was the scene of the party, at which hostess duties were shared by Mrs. E. H. Sanders, Mrs. J. B. Riddle, Mrs. Walker Bailey, Mrs. Wilbur Forrest, Mrs. E. Stringfellow, Mrs. Denver Yates, Mrs. Lee Nuckles, Mrs. A. W. Page and Mrs. R. C. Stocks.

Serving was done by Maxine Stocks, Patsy Reeves, Mrs. Harold Cain and Mrs. Bob Jones from a table in aqua and white, chosen colors of the honored guest. Centerpiece was a "tree of life" based in tiny rosebuds and hung with wedding rings and bells.

Miss Hill was named honoree

Included in the group were Sammie Sue McComb, Judy Caudle, Judy Reagan, Carlene Coleman, Shirley Terry and Celia Grant.

Guests for the pottery shower were members of the pep squad. The tea table, arranged for about 75, was decorated in pink carnations and candles.

Big Buttons Will Hold Tiny Gardens

DENVER —A button off a man's overcoat seems an unlikely setting for a formal garden. But youngsters at Children's Hospital could tell you a thing or two about that.

Every year 50 bedfast children at the hospital delightedly receive miniature gardens, built on large buttons, from a little widow, Mrs. Ora Kehn.

She has been enchanting sick youngsters this way for 13 years. Each tiny button garden has miniature figures, bits of living plant life, pea-sized seashells, thumbnail acorns. Each is different from the others.

Mrs. Kehn is lame from a hip injury and has had arthritis for years, but she forgets all this as each year she turns her kitchen table into a workbench for more of the dainty gardens-on-buttons.

Friends and relatives help her with materials. One in Massachusetts sends acorns to her, another in Hawaii mails seashells.

Plants, figurines, shells and the rest are fastened firmly to the button base with airplane glue. Entraptured boys and girls water their gardens daily with an eyedropper and sometimes keep the plants green for months.

Double Ring Vows Exchanged By Lovelle Fletcher, Freddie Stuart

The Forsan Church of Christ was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Mary Lovelle Fletcher and Freddie Max Stuart, with J. E. Eubanks reading the vows. He is the minister of the Northside Church of Christ, Big Spring.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. O. W. Fletcher, Forsan, and the late Mr. Fletcher. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Max Stuart of Roby.

An arch of candelabra held cathedral tapers and was entwined with fern for the background of the double ring ceremony. White satin bows marked the aisle, and white gladioli in standing baskets combined with foliage to complete the decor of the altar.

A quintet sang wedding music which included Whither Thou Goest and The Greatest Step in Life; members were Peggy and Patti Francis of Coahoma, Glendene Philley, Jesse McElrath and Dan Conley. Wedding marches were hummed by a quartet, and Mrs. Eddie Gill read the poem, How Do I Love Thee?

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Jimmie R. Porter of Big Spring. The bridal gown was a ballerina length white brocaded satin with V-neck and short sleeves, which were complemented with gauntlets of lace. A circular skirt flared from a bodice pointed in the front and marked with a bustle effect in the back. From a half-hat of lace extended a fingertip veil.

On a white Bible, the bride carried an orchid nestled in white carnations, satin leaves and a shower of pearls and picoté ribbon.

WEDDING TRADITION
In the light of tradition, she wore a diamond pin, which is the property of Mrs. J. D. Stuart, grandmother of the bridegroom. A new handkerchief, which she carried, was a gift from Elizabeth Daniel, and the Bible had been borrowed from Mrs. Pearl Qualls of Houston, aunt of the bride. A White lace over green covered the tea table, where streamers radiated from the bell and encircled the bridal figurine. White candles burned in crystal holders to flank the arrangement.

Hostesses, who wore small corsages made of kitchen aids, alternated at the register, at the table and in greeting guests. The honoree was presented a similar corsage and received the little utensils from the hostesses' corsages.

Finland Actress Taina Elg tells about the contrasting life in her country and ours and why they have no weight problems. She is to be seen in MGM's "Imitation General."

Finnish Star Finds U. S. Food Different

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD — Three-and-a-half years ago MGM signed Taina Elg, a Finnish ballet dancer, who was said to have that indefinable something that makes a star. This prediction came true for Taina Elg, who is being started with Glenn Ford and Red Buttons in "The Imitation General."
 When I lunched with her recently in the United States and the changes that had come from living in California and having a movie contract.
 "I remember the photograph of you that appeared in the paper the day you arrived," I told Taina.

Leaves For Georgia

Mrs. Roy Carley left Friday morning for Georgia, where she will join her husband, who is stationed at Fort Benning. She has been making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Gafford, 607 West 18th.

Miss McEvers Bride In Mid-Morning Ceremony

Wedding vows, taken at mid-morning Friday, united in marriage Jennie McEvers and Boyd Henderson at the First Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McEvers, 508 Johnson, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Henderson, 200 Mobile.

The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the church, read the ceremony as the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu. This was flanked with white standards as altar markers completed with large arrangements of royal white daisies and emerald fern.

Robert Vance of Portland, Ore., pianist, included in the musical selections the wedding marches, Because, Clair de Lune and Traumerie.

White brocade made the street length frock, with scoop neck extending to an off-shoulder effect. The flared skirt joined the fitted bodice at a point below the waistline.

A shoulder length veil of blue net was attached to a blue headband decorated with white flow-

Nosegays Are Used For Party Decor

Lily of the Valley nosegays were caught to a white net cloth over satin for the tea given Friday evening in honor of Gwyn McCullough, bride-elect of Oakley Hagood.

Parents of the couple, who will be married Aug. 23 in the First Baptist Church, are Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCullough, 804 West 18th, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hagood, 608 West 17th.

Guests were received by Mrs. Lonnie Coker at her home and presented to the honoree and the mothers of the engaged pair.
 Other hostesses were Mrs. W. T. McRee, Mrs. Jack Hendrix, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. Bill Younger, Mrs. Bledsoe O'Brien, Mrs. Dvain Leonard, Mrs. Leonard Coker and Mrs. Sherman Smith.
 Pink carnations and fern were the base for a punch bowl, placed on the table, which was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations interspersed with wedding bells.

er. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of French white carnations showered with satin ribbon and pearls and surrounding white gardenias atop a white Bible.

Both the bride and bridegroom carried pennies in their shoes—hers dated 1933 and his 1939. She wore a blue garter; her wedding ensemble was new, and for something old, the bride wore a blue necklace. She carried a lace handkerchief which had been borrowed from Mrs. James Wilcox, her aunt.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Jimmy Wilcox of San Angelo. She was attired in a chemise style of blue with a blue headband covered with matching flowers. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of yellow glameillas showered with yellow satin ribbon and maline.

Duane Smith served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Jimmy Wilcox and the brother of the bride, Douglas McEvers. The bridal party and their parents received guests in the parlor of the church following the ceremony.

French white carnations decked the bride's table, which held a cake in the form of two interlocking hearts. Frosted white,

Any Extra Windmills Sitting Around? Use Them To Make Home

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio — For atmosphere, consider the quarters of two women graduate students at Bowling Green State University. They live in a windmill.

Inside, 22-year-old Roberta Simone and 23-year-old Kathleen Vogt enjoy a marine decor with brass railings and shipstyle ladders between the three floors.

They study to the gentle lapping of a tree-trimmed pond behind the mill and the creaking of the four chained-down vanes.

"About the only disadvantage," says Roberta, "is the number of campus visitors who spot this place on weekends and peek in the windows as if we were in a glass cage."

"And," chimes in roommate Kathleen, "it still takes concentration to carry a cup of coffee up those ladders."

The windmill was built in the 1930s with two ideas in mind. It was to house a pump for a proposed fountain in the pond and add glamor to a chimney which rises through the center of the structure from a heating plant below-ground level.

The fountain never materialized and last year individual heating units replaced the central heat-

 A kitchen and bath make up the first floor of the windmill. The second floor is a study room. The third floor, prone to shaking in strong winds, houses the beds.
 Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Simone, of Cicero, Ill. Kathleen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick V. Vogt, of Westport, Conn.
 Studying for masters' degrees in education, the two students plan to teach here next year in the university's English department.

Sunburst Gathering Makes Neck Interest

In the coming season of high color for town and late evening, the little black dress for late afternoon and early evening has come back into importance.

As handled by Jo Copeland, the simple crepe has special significance with sunburst gathering on the banded neckline, the high riding bias cut band in the Empire feeling.

Copeland darts the midriff section; leaves it to you to fit it closely into the figure or allow it to skim gently by.

Make it right now in dark rayon or silk crepe for town wear and for fun.

From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Nape of Neck to Waist	19 1/2 inches
12	32	24	34	17 1/4	16 1/4
14	34	26	36	17 3/4	16 3/4
16	36	28	38	18 1/4	17 1/4
18	38	30	40	18 3/4	17 3/4
20	40	32	42	19 1/4	18 1/4

Size 12 requires 2 3/4 yards of 39-inch material for dress and 1/2

'OUR LORD OF THE AIRWAYS'
Fran Rosser, artist, and Col. Kyle Riddle

WORK OF FRAN ROSSER

Special Oil Painting To Be Hung In Webb Chapel Today

Mrs. Fran Rosser, well-known local artist has given an oil painting, titled "Our Lord of the Airways," to the Webb Air Force Chapel.

The official unveiling will take place Sunday during the 11 a.m. worship service at the chapel, with Col. Kyle L. Riddle, Base Commander, receiving the presentation.

A special hymn written by Chaplain (1st Lt.) Verlin E. Mikesell, titled "Lord God of Earth, of Sea and Sky," will be sung for the first time during the Sunday presentation.

Fran, as she is known to all of her friends, is the wife of M.

Sgt. William H. Rosser, presently assigned to the base post office. The couple have two children; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Manchester, wife of Fred Manchester, stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., and a son, Billy, 18, who graduated from Big Spring High School last June. Tameka Jean, their one-year-old granddaughter, completes the family.

Mrs. Rosser took up painting after her oldest son, Dicky, was killed in 1955 in an airplane crash in French Morocco. She said that painting gave her peace of mind and was relaxing to her.

The huge painting was done on a 4 by 6 foot piece of masonite, taking approximately 48 hours to complete. It depicts the spiritual relationship between people in the Air Force and their Creator.

When asked what gave her the idea for the picture, Mrs. Rosser said she was giving an exhibit of her works for the Officers' Wives' Club at Webb on July 3 when Chaplain Mikesell asked her if she'd ever thought of doing a spiritual painting.

Several days later she visited the Base Chapel where a rough sketch was worked out with the chaplain. A week later she completed a charcoal drawing of the idea. The actual painting was finished on July 18.

Mrs. Rosser, who calls Big Spring her home, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Hickman, Houston, Texas. She is employed by the Big Spring Herald.

Volunteers To Open New Hospital Therapy Fields

The Big Spring State Hospital will begin a new therapy program in a field for ladies next week.

Mrs. R. M. Brown, an accomplished artist with several years of collegiate training and teaching, will teach drawing and painting in the occupational therapy department of the hospital. Mrs. Brown is affiliated with Webb AFB.

As a second duty, she will aid in extending occupational therapy in the form of sewing, knitting, crocheting, and the like to one of the ladies' wards.

Also setting up a new type of recreation and therapy will be Mrs. Bill Earley, Mrs. H. L. Bohannon, and Mrs. A. A. Marchant, local volunteer workers. They will spearhead a sing-song group which will go into the men's ward 9-A for an afternoon of singing at 1:30 p.m. on Fridays. This will be the first time such a group has gone into the department for that type work.

Last Tuesday all able patients were taken out of wards for a watermelon feast made possible by public contributions and efforts of Nell Brown and Bruce Frazier. Contributions brought in money for the purchase of 5,030 pounds of watermelon, and patients unable to make the outside retreat will be given an ice cream party with the remaining money.

The occasion was proclaimed a success by Mrs. Ira Thurman, volunteer works coordinator, who also expressed gratitude to all donors.

Pills Roll To Tinkle Of $880,000 Per Year Here

By DON HENRY
Plenty of pills roll in Big Spring each year—about $880,000 worth. Revenue here from prescribed medicine each year runs to about $882,000 on an average, according to figures furnished by local pharmacists and physicians.

Across the nation, prescriptions were filled by pharmacists about 18 every second during 1957, at an average cost of $2.93 each. The total number of prescriptions figures about three and one-third per year for each man, woman and child.

On the local level, about 880 prescriptions are written each day or about 320,800 every year, according to estimates made by local physicians. Each local doctor there are 22—averages giving 40 prescriptions each day.

This is well ahead of the national average based on a Big Spring population of 28,000. Bug Big Spring being the medical center that it is, helps increase the number of prescriptions. Using the national average, Big Spring would take 92,000 yearly.

The national rate per prescription of $2.93 is probably a little higher than local costs, druggists agree. A pharmaceutical journal listed prices in this area as averaging about $2.75.

But based on this rate, the 320,000 prescriptions each year would mean revenue to Big Spring of $882,090.

Actual number of prescriptions written here each year would be hard to ascertain because of the large number of refills. Local druggists reported that refills run from 35 to 60 per cent of the number of new prescriptions.

Druggists reported that the number of prescriptions for pills outnumbered those for liquids about 2:1. The "pill" category includes tablets and capsules.

The time of druggists actually compounding prescriptions is passing, and only about 30 per cent of the total prescriptions now-written calls for mixing by the pharmacist. The majority of these compounds are mixing of liquids, one druggist said.

WAFB Has New Safety Officer

Marvis W. Koon, former safety program director at the Army Ordnance Depot at San Jacinto, just east of Houston, transferred to Webb Air Force Base recently as safety program officer.

Koon, a veteran of World War II, is a graduate of East Texas State College and received his master's degree from Texas A&M. He has also attended various safety courses while in government service.

Koon said he had considered positions at other bases, but made the decision to accept the position at Webb because of the good ground safety program that was already established and the full cooperation that was given the program here.

The Veterans Administration Hospital was host to several visiting advisors last week, and will also welcome at least three distinguished doctors to Big Spring within the next two weeks.

Here from Dallas were Dick Hoppers and Tom Elliott; F. C. Connors, Atlanta, Ga.; and T. D. Grogan, St. Louis, Mo. Hoppers and Elliott were representing the Civil Service Commission, Connors is an area supervisor of canteen services, and Grogan is the area representative to the supply office in St. Louis.

Three doctors will be touring the VA halls within the next two weeks, observing and advising in three different departments.

Dr. F. L. Schumacher, area consultant in anesthesiology, will be at the hospital next Tuesday, and the following day Dr. Michael K. O'Herron of Houston will hold a clinic on urology. Also on August 11, Dr. C. Hal McCuiston, consultant on dermatology, will make the hospital rounds.

Big Spring's Future Highway System

This map of the area immediately around Big Spring shows the Texas Highway Department's plans for bracketing the city with the U. S. 80 (Interstate 20) bypass and the FM 700 loop around the southeast. The heavy line at the upper fringes of the city shows the route the Highway 80 bypass will follow. About $5 million in state and federal money has been earmarked for this project which is scheduled for 1959-60. The black line in the lower right quadrant traces the route FM 700 will follow when it is extended from U. S. 87 at the south edge of the city to U. S. 80 near the Cooden refinery. The Highway Department plans to award contract for the FM 700 project in mid-August. The map, showing existing state and federal highways as well as the future routes, was prepared for The Herald by the resident highway engineer's staff at Colorado City.

Merchants Getting Ready To Start Preparations For Yule

By BOBBY HORTON

It's a wee bit early for the shopper to start worrying about his Christmas duties, say Big Spring merchants, but the time is just around the corner for local businesses to make ready for early Christmas orders, incoming gift wrapping stock, new advertising ideas, and different layout schemes in the store.

Many companies will begin dispersing their Yuletide goods to retailers as early as late August, while others will pause until Halloween's had its last kick.

Several local retailers say they will time their pre-season campaign to begin following the Goblin Night. In the past this has provided good-enough results.

Their pre-Christmas steps are a problem and yet manage to work into a suitable pattern with the other holidays as fall approaches. Stores must go up with the colorful decor, furnish appealing displays of toys, clothes, pastries, utensils, or such, and do it at just the time the shopper takes the urge to buy for Christmas.

Such managing perspective is needed for a jump in selling.

Out with the pen and pencils of early September's school campaign, then away with the witches and pumpkins of October, and down with the Turkey Day dressings in November are normal undertakings prior to Santa. As in variety stores, the small everyday items such as clothes pins, electric plugs, screws and hairnets are going to give room for the December ensemble. Taking the center floor layout will be the extravagant toys, special gifts, wraps, tinsel, and wares.

Needless to say, this calls for a near remodeling in most sales stock setups.

Clothing will be out with new fashions for the ladies this season as per usual, and probably new ties for Dad. Jewelers will have the pert window displays of Santa Claus and reindeer as lures, and even Ike and Mike, the pigs at the checkered feed store, will have an eye on Christmas spending.

A big seller at Christmas, records, will have something new to offer. Record shop managers can sit back, however, and be satisfied to remain in the dark as to what the Yule sound field will bring.

Of course, the standard "how comes Santa Claus" music will be around—in fact, it stays around, year-round — accompanying the drifting snow, should Big Spring be lucky.

Last year there was a rock and roll version of "White Christmas" to really commercialize things, and no one knows what they may do to "Silent Night". Even Elvis was in with the spirit of things with a Christmas-time lp album.

In short, every local merchant should be in the swing of Christmas preparations in a month or so, considering the routine they will be entering. And most concede that it should be a free-spending season this year due to the presence of local housing projects, government wage increases, and area crop prospects.

FIVE TO A BED!

And they're the lucky ones—five children crowded into a bed that was made for one. Overseas, millions of children are growing up in hovels, because their parents, who once lived in clean well-kept homes, have had to flee from oppression. These are children who don't know what a school is. They're being starved mentally as well as physically.

Already you have helped countless numbers through your gifts to the OVERSEAS AID Programs of America's religious faiths. Please continue to support your faith's program. Even a dollar can do so much.

Eight To Receive Certificates Today

Eight people will receive "certificates of service" this morning in the 11 a.m. worship service at the Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

The certificates read: "In grateful appreciation for your services in furtherance of the spiritual and moral program of Webb Air Force Base."

Those receiving the awards are Edward E. Brown (Major) USAF, (ret), Mrs. Jean L. Cardin, Mrs. Theda Mason, Mrs. Paula Wolk, Mrs. Frances L. Cooke, Mrs. Ruth M. Mikesell, Mrs. Doris Waldrop, and Capt. William T. Waldrop.

The certificates are presented for outstanding service for the Christian instruction of children and adults in the base Sunday school. They were received from the chief of Air Force chaplains office in Washington, D. C., and are signed by the wing commander and wing chaplain.

2,000 To Attend Tax Conference

More than 2,000 accountants, lawyers and tax consultants are due to attend the sixth annual Texas Tech Tax Conference in Lubbock Oct. 20-22, according to Neil Hilliard of Big Spring, a vice president of the conference.

The Tech conference is the largest of three taxation meetings held annually in Texas. It is designed to develop up-to-date information on tax regulations and explore their effect on the various fields of business.

CINEMA COMMENT

Unusual Film Tells 'Inside' Story Of Communist Russia

THIS IS RUSSIA. Produced by Carey Wilson and Sid Feder. Written and photographed by Sid Feder Sunday through Tuesday at the State.

Sir Winston Churchill once described Soviet Russia as "a puzzle with a riddle within an enigma." Sid Feder has not solved the puzzle, but the movie-goer comes away with a greater understanding of what the puzzle is.

Feder, a former newsman, world traveler, and now a movie producer, traveled 20,000 miles from the Baltic to Asia to bring back one of the most unusual travelogues ever put on film. He was tailed constantly by the secret police, his baggage searched and passport checked hundreds of times on the slightest pretext; police spies tried to trap him into indiscretions that would have given them an excuse for arrest; and he was arrested seven times.

Miraculously, Feder left Russia with most of his film footage, including quite a few scenes which the censors normally don't allow. Feder strayed occasionally from the usual tourist routes set and enforced by the Kremlin.

The result is a film rich in food for thought; a once-in-a-lifetime view of our enemies, and the police state way of life. Watching this film leaves one with the impression that the common folk of the Soviet Union are the world's greatest conformists, who act in public as if they were grubbing along suspiciously toward some secret goal.

The people in the film are often grim-faced; they smile only when they are aware that they are being photographed, and have a chance to remember their "instructions" on how to behave before foreigners.

Some of the highlights of this kaleidoscopic film: ghoulish pilgrims at the Lenin-Stalin Tomb in Red Square; an unearthly early morning youth demonstration in Moscow; women doing hard manual labor, while the men are away on "more productive work" (carrying rifles, maybe?); the boy loves State, girl loves State. State gets both brand of movie plot.

"This is Russia" is a rather creepy film; it does, indeed, illustrate Sir Winston's statement about the Soviet enigma.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS, starring Charlton Heston. Produced and directed by Cecil B. DeMille. Thursday through Saturday at the Sahara.

Most of you already know the "plot" of this film, so there is no need to say anything about that. But whether you know the story or not, it won't hurt you and it may amuse you. When you dip beneath the ancient English translations of the Bible, the men and women in it are real; they hate and love; they mourn the death of a child; arrogant, ruthless men override their fellow men; there are women of virtue and of vice, of treachery and of faith.

Moses himself is no different, basically, from the rest of us; as DeMille describes him, "human to the point of seeing God."

Nothing is made up or otherwise fictionalized; DeMille enlisted the world's greatest Biblical scholars to fill in the gaps of Moses' life, the portions untold in the Scriptures, and leaders of Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Moslem faiths who have seen the film have been particularly liberal in their praise.

Yes, even the Moslems, for the Prophet Mahomet drew from Old and New Testaments for the Koran, and the Arabs, along with the children of Israel, considered themselves descended from Abraham. Jethro held the title of "sheik."

DeMille rolled his cameras and led his thousands of extras over the same ground that Moses had trod centuries before, including scenes taken on the slopes of Mt. Sinai, where Moses stood to receive the Law.

It was here, incidentally, that DeMille ran into his most difficult problem: how to reproduce the Voice of God. DeMille finally gave up the job as impossible, and settled on a deep, booming voice that seems to come from nowhere and everywhere; leaving the moviegoer to imagine the Voice of God in his own way.

The cast includes many of the

do you a world of good to see it. For this is the story of Moses. Cecil B. DeMille, the extravaganza expert, worked himself (quite literally) near death to make this film, and accepted not one red cent for his efforts. His share goes over to charitable institutions, after the nearly $12 million overhead has been paid for.

Many people today look upon the Ten Commandments as a bit archaic; yet, DeMille shows that the principle involved is the same today as it was thousands of years ago: Are men free souls under God or are they the property of the State?

And it is the story of real people—the flesh and blood type that are so difficult to discern in literature.

Before World War II, the armed services were sacred cows. Then came the war, and 20 million Americans (most of them) came to take pro-military propaganda with the proverbial grain of salt.

It took Hollywood, Broadway and book publishers a few years to catch up with the trend, not necessarily in that order. First, came the biggest and most obvious target, "At War With the Army" and "Operation Madball" were just two examples of the hilarious exploding of a long-standing myth, and the Pentagon resounded with a gnashing of teeth.

Then along came "Mister Roberts" and "Don't Go Near the Water," and the Navy was submerged in a riot of laughter.

By this time, the brass hats had become accustomed to the ribbing, and even began to laugh themselves.

Now, with "No Time for Sergeants," it's the Air Force's turn, and the result is the funniest yet. It is uncannily incisive in its needling.

That leaves only the Coast Guard and the Marine Corps, and they'll get it in the neck in due time, if the trend keeps up.

Remember that recording that stayed on the Hit Parade for several weeks? The one in which the visiting hillbilly described his first football game? That was Andy Griffith speaking.

"No Time for Sergeants" is of that type, with Griffith narrating the experiences of a young mountain man in the Air Force, with the devastating insight of a simple, uneducated youth into the foibles of the military.

His insight isn't all that devastating. A well-meaning young fella, Griffith makes every attempt to adjust to the Air Force way of life, but succeeds only in creating big snafus out of little snafus. The lampooning is, to put it simply, merciless.

If you miss "No Time for Sergeants," you have missed the funniest picture of the year.

Other viewing: "Les Girls." A happy-go-lucky and very musical tale of a man and three women who entertain their way across Europe.

"Touch of Evil." Orson Welles in a frightening portrayal of a bad cop; frightening because what he does could happen anywhere. Rather sexy shortie-pajama scene between co-stars Charlton Heston and Janet Leigh, if you're interested in that sort of thing.

Boone Family Now Living In Plush Mansion

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Four years ago, Pat Boone and his wife Shirley were living in a 2 1/2-room apartment in Denton, Tex., while he went to college. The rental: $50 a month.

Today, the Boones and their four daughters are renting a Bel Air mansion which they have been told cost $800,000 when it was built in 1934. Complete with marble halls and a tremendous swimming pool, it has more rooms than they can count. The place has been used by many distinguished visitors, including Prince Rainier when he was here courting Grace Kelly.

No, our boy Pat hasn't gone Hollywood, though he may be living like a prince. He still has his white buckskin shoes on the ground, but he's also enjoying some of the fruits of his amazing success.

Amazing is right. His record sales have been fantastic, with one release after another going over the million mark. Starting with Arthur Godfrey and now with his own show, he has been a hit on television.

Though only one of his pictures had been in release, he was named the No. 3 star at the box office behind Rock Hudson and John Wayne, but ahead of Elvis Presley and Frank Sinatra. He's now making his third film, "Mardi Gras."

Pat would like to settle out here, but he can't as yet. "ABC doesn't have the facilities to do my show here," he explained. "So we'll have to go back to New York in the fall. But they're building a new studio, and we'll probably return in January or so. My oldest daughter will be starting school, and then it'll be time to settle down in California."

Life is a bit simpler for Pat now that he has finally graduated from college.

Shirley has been very patient with me, and now I've got some time to devote to the family," he said. "The only trouble is that it gets more difficult to take them anywhere in public."

For instance, last Christmas he tried to take two of his daughters to see Santa Claus in a Hackensack, N.J., department store. Everything was fine until the girls balked at approaching the jolly old fellow. They drew the attention of other shoppers, who recognized Pat. He spent half an hour signing autographs.

CRITIQUE

Musician Must 'Fit' Into Band

A musician may be a top talent, but if he doesn't fit, he's not in. That's the theory of Lucian Oden, leader of The Starlighters, one of Big Spring's better musical aggregations. The five-man combo has been playing in and around Big Spring since last February, and has earned a reputation for good, old-fashioned "sweet" dance music, in contrast to the dime-a-dozen noise-makers that specialize in rock-n-roll.

Oden explained the selection of musicians as the biggest problem of running a band.

"There's plenty of talent," he said, "but very little ready talent. And to play our particular type of music, a player needs to fit."

Oden said he has turned down many a top talent during auditions, because they were not the particular type needed "to fit our type of playing."

The "type" he described as "accustomed to playing under pressure, expert on the ad lib and improvisation." A musician, to play in a band of The Starlighters variety, must be able to sight read expertly, put expression into his music, and "play it his way."

"There's nothing like experience," Oden remarked. As an example, the blonde-haired guitarist pointed out a certain tonal quality that an expert saxophonist works out of his instrument, a tone controlled by the player's lip. The player must have the ear to tell if he's playing it right, for to miss the delicate shading of the tone ruins the music.

Oden held out hope for youngsters—with ideas of eventually working their way up in the world of popular music. The gist of his idea was that the kids still need a teacher. A top high school band talent, for example, if he can find someone with the patience and experience, can make it in about a year's time.

"There are many different types of music," Oden explained, "and a musician must learn the nuances of each type" before he can expect to put forth a good sound.

That's where this business of fitting comes in. A man may have played for years with a leading symphony, another may have made a name for himself in hill-billy music, still another may have gone to the top in Dixieland jazz—but each still has to learn a new type of music to qualify for another specialty.

A specialist in music is fettered by a lack of experience. A good background from Bach to boogie widens the specialist's understanding of music and improves his playing, Oden agreed.

He pointed out that most of the name bands of the past practiced on the classics as well as their own styles.

Oden organized his combo last February, being joined by Bob Douville, Charlie Boland, Dick Collier and Bob Paul. Collier had to withdraw because of lack of spare time, but remains available on "standby" basis, and Paul was transferred by the Air Force.

The band's personnel now consists of Oden, guitarist, Douville, piano; Dick Haines, trumpet; Paul Warren, alto sax; and Boland, drums. Oden, Douville and Haines are stationed at Webb AFB, and Warren and Boland are civilians. The Starlighters go in for the sweet type dance music. This means they must stay close to the melody; there is some ad libbing, but a listener can always tell what is being played. The combo also watches its rhythm, which "must be danceable."

"After all," Oden said, "we are a dance band."

Helon Blount Show Opens In Dallas Monday

"The Most Happy Fella" one of the most tuneful musical comedies ever written, will open at the State Fair Music Hall in Dallas Monday night for a two-week run.

The State Fair Musical production will star Richard Tortig, Helon Blount, Mona Paulee and Carolyn Maye—all of whom were members of the Broadway cast. Also featured is John Reardon.

Miss Blount is a Big Spring girl who made her professional theatrical debut with the Musicals in 1951.

"The Most Happy Fella" is a bounteous musical with no less than 35 lilting songs by Frank Loesser, who also wrote the ditties for "Guys and Dolls" and many hit tunes such as "Let's Get Lost," "They're Either Too Young or Too Old" and "Baby, It's Cold Outside."

When presented in New York, the show won the New York Critics' Award as the best musical of the year.

Although the show is laid in the Napa Valley of California, one of the hit tunes is a rousing tribute to Dallas called "Big D, Little A."

Other popular songs from the show include "Standin' On The Corner" and "Happy to Make Your Acquaintance."

The story of "The Most Happy Fella" concerns a lonesome aging Italian grape farmer who wins a young waitress by mail and tricks her into coming to his vineyard to become his bride by sending her a photo of his handsome young foreman and representing it to be his own.

Performances are scheduled at 8:15 p.m. nightly Monday through Saturday, with matinees at 3 p.m. on Sundays.

Tickets can be purchased by mail or over the counter from the Musicals Downtown Box Office, 1315 Elm Street, Dallas. Prices are $3.75, $3.25, $2.50 and $1.50.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR SOME FORTUNATE CALF
Deferred grazing on Wilson ranch produces lush growth

DEFER GRAZING

Wilson Hang Up 'Keep Out' Sign

When W. L. Wilson Sr. and son, Bill Wilson Jr. purchased the old Gunsight Ranch in southern Borden County this spring, they hung up the "keep out" sign for livestock.

They expect to make more money for having done it. By employing summer deferment on most of the grassland, they stand to increase the ground cover, promote more vigorous plants and seed production.

In the accompanying picture, silver bluestem, sideoats grama, Canada wildrye and vine mesquite are producing seedheads as well as showing considerable growth.

As a general guide, conservationists consider it safe to use 50 per cent of current growth of a plant. To obtain uniform "proper use" of the range is not always easy, for it calls for well spaced water, cross fencing, strategic salt locations and perhaps supplemental feeding. Even then, topography of the land may be such that cattle will avoid the steep slopes and canyons to concentrate on the easier grazing in the flats.

The simplest and most practical alternate is a system of timed results, known as deferred grazing.

In the case of the Wilsons, they simply removed all livestock from the pastures after early spring and will keep them out until late autumn. This will afford the plants opportunity to reproduce by making seed and by rootstock and stolons. Too, the plants will have stored up ample food through their leaf systems.

Where climax plants (the most beneficial types) are well established, the sound range management may be effected through control of the number of livestock.

Showers Give Opportunity To Tie Down Soil

Farmers can still tie down those blown-out spots in cotton or other cultivated fields when a favorable shower occurs, according to technicians at the local Soil Conservation Service.

In advising farmers how to take care of the land to prevent blowing and washing, these points were made:

1. Millet, forage sorghum or hegari closely drilled or broadcast should be planted immediately after the rain. If seed is not available for these two, then rye makes a good substitute.
2. Legumes can be planted within the next few days on Acreage Reserve land, provided there is sufficient moisture and a clean seed bed. Beth guar and sesbania are recommended, but should be inoculated to stimulate faster growth.
3. A close drilled cover crop of millet, sudan or sorghum is probably the best bet for Conservation Reserve land which does not yet have a cover. If a cover is provided, then next spring the land will be in condition for seeding a mixture of cultivated and native grasses such as sorghum alnum, blue panic or switch grass. These can be planted in rows the same as cotton or maize.
4. Small grain stubble can protect the land better if not plowed under. Instead it may be broken by chisel or sweep type tillage for the first operation after harvest. This will leave the stubble on the surface, and the topsoil will be in condition to absorb all rain that falls.
5. Farmers should start arranging for cover crop seed for fall plantings. Rye and barley are the most popular of the small grains. Madrid clover, Austrian winter peas and even vetch gives good results on dryland if September rain is favorable. They are dependable any year on irrigated land.

VETERINARIAN WRITES

Fowl Typhoid Is Costly Disease

By DR. AKIN SIMPSON
Among all the disease problems faced by poultry raisers, fowl typhoid is one of the most costly and troublesome.

This disease is costly not only in bird fatalities but also in the inefficiency of the bird which recovers. Fowl typhoid seems to be a particularly serious problem during the summer months.

Fowl typhoid often spreads more rapidly during hot, dry weather, but it is not necessarily a summer disease. It may occur at any season.

The disease may spread from a sick bird to a healthy one by direct contact. The bacteria from a sick bird also may contaminate feed or drinking water and a healthy chicken or turkey can pick up the disease in that way.

There's at least one special consideration in dealing with the disease. That is the difficulty in distinguishing fowl typhoid from fowl cholera.

One of the first symptoms is the inactivity of birds, which often leave the flock and wander off by themselves. They usually lose their appetite but often drink abnormal amounts of water. And sick birds' combs and wattles become pale, an indication that the bird is anemic.

Death losses from fowl typhoid may range from 5 to 10 per cent. In some serious outbreaks the death losses may go as high as 35 per cent. But, generally speaking, the death losses from fowl typhoid are not as high as those caused by fowl cholera.

While even a 5 or 10 per cent loss is serious, the most serious economic loss from fowl typhoid comes from the birds which do not die. Very young birds become unthrifty, there is poor feed conversion, undesirable carcasses, and poor egg production.

Since fowl typhoid closely resembles fowl cholera, it is extremely important that an accurate diagnosis be made so that the veterinarian knows what disease he is fighting and how to proceed in controlling it.

Unfortunately, veterinary scientists have yet to discover a treatment which is universally successful. Therefore, sanitation is the most important means of controlling a fowl typhoid outbreak.

A control program, to be successful, must be a very rigid one. The first step, of course, is to separate the healthy birds from the sick birds, moving the healthy birds to clean quarters, if possible. If the sick birds are severely affected, they should be killed and their carcasses burned or carefully buried.

Anyone attending the sick birds should be careful to disinfect his footwear, hands, and any utensils to prevent the spread of the disease. Next step is a very intensive cleaning and disinfecting of the poultry house and equipment.

Apparently healthy birds may be carriers of the disease, although they do not show evidence of it. If there are any undetected carriers in a flock, fowl typhoid might easily break out again.
