Solon Denies Pressure For Stopping Hoffa Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wint Smith (R-Kan.) denied under oath today that pressure from high places squelched a 1953 investigation of Teamster boss James R. Hoffa.

It goes part way—but not as far as the administration would like—toward Secretary of Agriculture Benson's goal of cutting down farm price support levels and loosening controls over production.

It heads off a big cut in cotton and rice acreage that would have been required under existing law.

Get Him Next Time, Asserts Harris Tribe

By The Associated Press
The Roy Harris clan came up Tuesday with the classic fight words: "We'll get him next time."

This was the reaction after Roy Harris, the schoolteacher from Cut and Shoot, Tex., stayed with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson for 12 rounds Monday night in Los Angeles before bowing out.

"It wasn't what I expected," Peggy Harris, a sister-in-law, said. "But maybe he'll do better next time."

"We'll get him next time," muttered another relative.

Great-uncle Cleve Harris said, "That boy Patterson was just a little too rough."

The fight packed many Texas auditoriums and theaters for closed-circuit television. General radio or television broadcasts were banned by the Teleprompter Corp., which had purchased all broadcast rights and sponsored the closed-circuit viewing.

At Conroe, near Cut and Shoot, 3,500 persons packed a drive-in theater. About 100 citizens from Harris' home town saw the showing in Conroe.

Crowds tentatively set at 14,532 saw the fight in three closed-circuit theaters in Houston, and paid $68,500. It may be the greatest gate for a fight — live or on TV — in Houston's history.

In Dallas, 10,000 packed Memorial Auditorium and saw the bout on a four-sided screen. Fans rocked the building with their cheers, mostly for Harris.

But the Conroe crowd was quiet when the fight began and it was no different at the end.

The Conroe spectators cheered Harris when he first came on the screen.

"Get him, Roy," some shouted. "Keep that left in his face."

The crowd had its one big moment when Patterson went down in the second.

When Harris failed to answer for the 13th round, they sat silently. There were no tears and nobody was ashamed.

Free Journalism Texts Proposed

GALVESTON (AP)—The Texas Daily Newspaper Assn. executive committee was to name a new vice president today and select next year's convention city.

Ablene Publisher Howard McMahan resigned as vice president.

The newspaper executives endorsed yesterday a proposal that free journalism textbooks be provided for junior and senior high schools.

The Texas Education Agency will be asked to authorize the free journalism textbooks. Leaders of the newspaper group will name a committee to confer with agency officials. It will include an outstanding editor, a publisher and a Texas educator.

Big Spring Beauties

J. H. Talton, 1401 Tucson Rd., exhibits three of the giant peaches from a tree in his back yard. Still, they're as large as any he has ever seen grown in this area.

Charlie Wilson Not Much Concerned About Moon

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP)—Former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson says he's not very curious about the other side of the moon.

Discussing the U.S. moon rocket attempt, Wilson said here Monday night, "Maybe I'm too old and not as curious as I was. But I think the other side of the moon is much like this side."

Wilson told a joint meeting of Petoskey community organizations that he deplored the possibility of an arms race with Russia.

This nation's atomic submarine success may not be a good thing.

Pacifists Try To Stop Work On Missile Site

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Two self-styled pacifists who are determined to halt construction of a missile launching site here say they will be joined by a Pennsylvania minister.

Kenneth Calkins, 23, made the announcement after he and his wife Eleanor, 22, were ejected from the area twice Monday.

Calkins said he and his wife and the Rev. Theodore Olson, 28, of Fallsington, Pa., would attempt to distribute leaflets urging the workmen not to work.

Federal and military authorities are undecided how to keep the Chicago couple and the Rev. Mr. Olson off the site.

Two air policemen escorted Mr. and Mrs. Olson from the installation after they passed out one leaflet protesting bases to a welder.

Snow On Mountain

MT. WASHINGTON, N. H. (AP)—With 35 days of summer left, light snow fell on the peak of this 6,288-foot mountain Monday.

Wilson added, if it is considered as part of an arms race.

"If such a feat beats up the Russians some more, it's too bad we did it," Wilson said in a speech here last night before a meeting of community organizations.

Wilson, who said he deplored the possibility of an arms race, was referring to the American submarine which went under the arctic ice recently.

The former General Motors Corp. president also discussed the American and Soviet satellites and referred to them and the atomic submarine as "good tricks."

"This race is not a game," he said. "It's for keeps. It's worse than strip poker."

He said the peace of the world depends on the proper use of five factors. He listed these as technology, U.S. and great nations aid to poor countries which he called "colonialism in reverse," the United Nations, communications to bring peoples closer together, and worldwide broader education of the masses.

MoPac Rejects T&P Merger

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Directors of Missouri Pacific Railroad have rejected a merger with Texas & Pacific Railway, but Mopac President Russell Dearmont says the two railroads will continue to work toward greater coordination.

The directors voted to go along with a study committee's recommendation against the merger.

The committee report, made by three senior officers of each railroad, pointed out the two roads have been cooperating for many years. Mopac has controlled Texas & Pacific for a long period.

It also said the merger would be an "end to end" unification and wouldn't produce savings which are often present in a merger of parallel railroads.

The study asserted that other economies may be achieved through further coordination of efforts, including the issuance of consolidated financial statements.

Dearmont said the two railroads would effect substantial tax savings through a consolidated financial statement and planned to do this as soon as possible.

To issue a consolidated statement, Mopac would have to own 80 per cent of Texas & Pacific's stock. Dearmont confirmed Mopac has bought additional stock this year and now owns about 80 per cent of Texas & Pacific's stock.

The last Mopac annual report to stockholders listed the figure at 77.7 per cent.

Airport Land Restrictions May Preclude Agreements

Unless the Civil Aeronautics Authority is willing to modify restrictions set up in easement contracts dealing with land on the runway approaches at the new Howard County airport, county commissioners are of the opinion property owners will never sign the agreements.

Earl Hull and Hudson Landers, two of the members who have contacted all but one of the owners of the 90 acres of submarginal lands involved in the approach clearance problem, said that the restrictions against structures stipulated in the easement deeds are so extensive as to destroy the future usefulness of the land.

In the event the CAA is not willing to modify the requirements to a point where landowners will be willing to agree to the proposal, the county will have no alternative but to acquire the land by purchase. This, commissioners feel, will be an expensive proceeding.

A conference will be scheduled in the near future with the CAA in an effort to adjudicate the difficulty.

C of C Board Backs County To Ask State Aid On FM 700 West

Chamber of Commerce directors lined up solidly Monday behind a proposal for a joint agency study of master planning.

The board, meeting for its semi-monthly session at the Settles, quickly and unanimously endorsed the recommendations of the master planning committee headed by Dr. W. A. Hunt.

The committee had asked that the directorate endorse the principle of master planning for Big Spring and then to call for a meeting of agencies which might be concerned with such a survey.

Among those he listed were the city commission, school board, commissioners court, zoning commission, highway department representatives, local heads of utilities, chamber directors, the master planning committee, Webb AFB, postal and railroad representatives. The list may be expanded, he said.

Mechanics of master planning would be outlined by a professional surveyor, who would be brought here without obligation, said Dr. Hunt.

An expression of appreciation went from the board to all who had helped with the erection of a new sign advertising Big Spring and which was erected on Cosden's tank farm on U. S. 80 east. Included were Webb AFB, which aided in the construction, Cosden and others who furnished materials.

George Oldham, reporting for the conventions committee, said that the recent Cap Rock Cooperative barbecue here was a successful affair and drew praise from Cap Rock officials. The West Texas Press Association is to hold its 1959 annual meeting in Big Spring, he announced.

Some 50 members have been secured for the Big Spring Highway Developers Association, and at least a dozen more are needed to attain the goal. The association was created recently as a vehicle for coordinating the city's participation in the U.S. 87 Improvement Association, the U.S. 80 Highway Association.

Bill Quimby, manager, said mailings were starting this week to some 300 prospective chamber members. Organization for the Aug. 28 drive for new members and adjustments is proceeding, he said. Robert Currie, vice president, presided over the meeting.

adequate to the traffic burden it has to bear, the commissioners feel, and when the east segment of the road is built, the volume of travel over the road is expected to be augmented materially.

Immediate application to the State Highway Commission for a commitment on participation in the purchase of any needed right of way for the proposed road will be made.

Roberts, Joe Smoot, resident engineer, Colorado City, and George Shaw, assistant district engineer, also discussed other county FM roads of the future with county officers but no definite decisions were reached.

Texans Oppose

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough of Texas voted against confirming the nomination yesterday of Wilson White as assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights. The Senate confirmed the appointment, (56-20).

Local Post Office Picked For Studies Of Mail Costs

Big Spring Post Office has been designated as one of 550 post-offices out of the 38,000 in the United States to participate in the postal department cost-ascertainment survey.

Anthony I. Lambert, member of the postmaster general's committee on cost ascertaining, and J. I. Gilkinson, cost officer from the regional postal office at Dallas, were in Big Spring Monday to confer with Postmaster Elmer Boatler and his staff on setting up the complicated study and report system employed by the project.

REPLACES ABILENE

The Big Spring Post Office will replace Abilene on the list of postal establishments included in the survey. Abilene was eliminated because it outgrew its original position in the survey. The Big Spring office is representative of post-offices where business ranges from $100,000 to $500,000 a year. The 550 whether a certain class of mail is paying its own way. It was largely on the findings from this survey that the application for increase in postal rates from 3 cents to 4 cents an ounce for first class mail, effective Aug. 1, came into existence.

The plan works with the individual offices devoting one week of each postal quarter to detailed study of their individual mail operations. The Big Spring office will make its first check under the plan the week of Sept. 8. During that week, each piece of mail of every classification will be counted, weighed, and the exact cost of handling determined.

Boatler said that the tests will involve detailed reports and he asked the cooperation of the public the week that such activity is under way.

"Service may be just a little slowed by the extra duties the survey will impose on the office," he warned.

U. S. Approval For Bypass Is Expected Soon

Jake Roberts, district engineer for the Texas Highway Commission, told the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon that official word from Washington approving plans for the first step in the north loop route on U. S. Highway 80 around town should be forthcoming in 30 days.

Such approval, he said, should clear the way for the next step — public hearings on the plan, preparation of sketches and plans and first action toward acquiring needed right-of-way.

Actual work of buying right-of-way and perhaps initial construction activities would be in the 1959-1960 interval.

The state would buy 300-foot right-of-way, he said, for the route of the loop road which would leave U. S. 80 at the east edge of the city, swing across past the U. S. experiment farm, on westward to reconnect with the west end of U. S. 80 at a point near Webb Air Force Base.

Roberts, accompanied by Joe Smoot, resident engineer, Colorado City, and George Shaw, one of Roberts' assistants, attended the conference here. All four of the county commissioners and the county judge were present.

Check Suspects Are Taken On Traffic Charges

A cop in Houston stopped a car Friday for a minor violation of traffic regulations and as a result of that action, Howard County now has custody of two men, who claim Truth or Consequences, N. M., as their home, in the county jail here.

The two men, identified by Miller Harris, sheriff, are Jessie Bud Davis, 33, and Thomas Leonard McGhee, 38. They were wanted in this county to answer charges of cashing forged checks.

Houston officers found a large sheaf of prepared checks, as yet unsigned, in the possession of the two men.

These checks, on carefully printed forms, pretend to be pay roll vouchers on a mythical George P. Gamble Drilling Co., Denver, Colo.

Harris said the aggregate of the prepared checks in the two men's possession totalled $2,843.53. They are in varying amounts and each check form is complete—including an attached form on which is carefully filled in all tax deductions and other bookkeeping items.

The two men are accused of having cashed two of these checks here a few days before they were apprehended in Houston.

After their arrest in Houston, the State Department of Public Safety broadcast a description of the men and the checks.

Fern Cox, deputy sheriff, heard the broadcast and immediately recognized the pair as the men wanted here for the two bad checks. He called Houston, and cleared the way for the local officers to go to that city and take custody of the men last Saturday.

Labor Leaders Say Stronger Bill Ahead

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — Several labor union chiefs said today business interests helped sink a labor control bill in Congress to push for sterner measures next year.

The House of Representatives yesterday killed a Senate-passed labor bill, apparently ending the last chance for such legislation at this session.

AFL-CIO leaders, meeting here, had urged its passage, saying they believed the interests of the public and the labor movement and management thus would be served.

In the wake of the House action, various AFL-CIO chiefs put major blame for defeat of the bill on the National Assn. of Manufacturers and U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

These members of the labor federation's Executive Council said the same management groups likely will seek stronger legislation next year — legislation that, from labor's viewpoint, would hamstring unions.

A somewhat similar charge was voiced by Secretary Irving I. (RNY), a cosponsor of the Senate bill killed in the House. Ives said a lot of House members "were misled by false propaganda" from the NAM, the Chamber of Commerce, the American Retail Federation, the Teamsters Union and the United Mine Workers.

NAM President Milton C. Lightner has said his organization opposed the bill on the ground it was inadequate to deal with union abuses. Lightner also contended the bill would weaken safeguards in the Taft-Hartley Act.

There was no immediate comment by the others mentioned.

The bill among other things would have required detailed reporting to the government of union finances. It also would have required secret balloting for union officers and would have limited their terms.

In commenting on the House action, Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said: "The unholy alliance of the NAM, reactionary Republicans and (Teamster President) Jimmy Hoffa's gangster cohorts have done a great disservice to the American public and to the labor movement."

Similarly, President David McDonald of the Steelworkers Union and Joseph Beirne of the Communications Workers Union said business groups were mainly responsible in influencing defeat of the measure.

But Joseph Curran, Maritime Union president, said he was glad the bill died "because it was a hodgepodge."

Big Welcome Home For Family Everybody Likes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Connealy and family returned from vacation Monday and what a hubbub.

They'd been gone only two weeks visiting his parents and her mother up at Decatur, Neb., but almost everyone along the first block of Concord Ave. west of Main St. turned out to welcome them home.

By latest and most reliable count there are 69 kids along this block. All of them except babies in arms kept a noisy, mumble look-out all day for the Conneally clan.

Many mothers and a few fathers watched too.

At 5:12 p.m. the station wagon of accountant Connealy appeared and was quickly engulfed by 40 to 50 kids, all screaming.

Connealy finally got the idea. He was to drive around the block and come in the other way, the way they'd been expected, so they could see the banner hung across the street saying, "We Missed You All."

Hanging from the house was another: "Welcome Home Happy Honeybees."

That was a joke. Beneath it caricatures of Mr. and Mrs. Connealy and their seven children—Joseph, 14, Dan, 12, Kathy, 10, Kevin, 9, John 7, Terry, 3, and Tim, 13 months.

The youngsters spilled two and three at a time out of the station wagon a welter of pillows, blankets, sacks of groceries and suitcases in two luggage racks on top.

The family, with escort, moved toward the front door and someone shoved a cold beer in Connealy's hand.

Why all the fuss? Everyone on Concord avenue just loves the Conneallys.

Took Poison After Slayings

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Attendants reported Mrs. Rosa Pena, who has admitted the bathtub drownings of her three small sons, was in critical condition last night.

The mother, 24, told police she gulped rat poison after killing the youngsters at their home Sunday afternoon.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John Benavides formally charged Mrs. Pena with murder yesterday. He also asked psychiatric examination for her.

Dr. James Polka, county health officer.

Officers quoted Mrs. Pena as saying she held the three boys under water, one by one, and drowned the eldest, David, 6, despite his frantic plea of "no, no, mommy!" The others were Alvis, 4, and Richard, all one without killing them all," she said.

She told she drowned the children because her husband of nine years, Alfonso, had threatened to take them away from her if they separated.

The veteran actor became ill Sunday on a flight from New York, causing the airliner to make an unscheduled stop at Las Vegas, Nev.

An ambulance took him to a hospital, where the illness was diagnosed as a bladder condition. Robinson responded quickly to treatment, and he and his wife returned home yesterday.

Zone Established For Nuclear Tests

HONOLULU (AP) — A 37,800-square-mile danger zone for British nuclear tests at Christmas Island goes into effect tomorrow.

The danger area is considered relatively small, as was the zone for Britain's April tests, but a Navy announcement said, "Early warning will be given if it is necessary to extend danger area."

When Britain fired its big H-bomb last summer, shipping was warned to stay clear of a 640,000-square-mile area.

Southern Senators Defeated Twice On Civil Rights Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democratic senators licked their wounds today after two setbacks on the civil rights battleground.

They lost a seven-month fight last night when the Senate confirmed W. Wilson White, a Philadelphia lawyer, as assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights. The vote was 56-20.

The Southerners have opposed White since his nomination last January. But the debate last night was all the hotter because it followed news that the federal appeals court in St. Louis had overruled a district judge and ordered

"TYRANNY" Reaction to the appeals court decision was hot. Southern senators rushed out with statements denouncing it as "judicial tyranny" and describing it as tragic.

Some of the sharpest language of the fast-fading session of Congress was used in the debate against White and against President Eisenhower's use of troops last year to enforce court-ordered school integration at Little Rock.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) likened use of federal troops in Little Rock to Soviet repressions in Hungary. There, he said, "armed force and bayonets were used to bend a people to the will of alien ideas, thereby forcing on them a new social structure."

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) accused White of having mixed politics with law and said "it is obvious that he promoted the use of troops and prejudiced his advice in this direction."

This was a reference to White's role in directing preparation of legal papers on which Eisenhower based his Little Rock troop action. At the time, White was an assistant attorney general serving as legal adviser to former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

Testifying earlier this year at a Judiciary Committee hearing on his nomination, White said troops were used as a last resort "to set down mass defiance" of a court decree.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) said White either lacks under-

Johnson Gets Water Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Parliamentary maneuvering yesterday by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas virtually assured enactment of legislation creating a Texas Water Resources Study Commission by Congress this session.

A 14-member commission would be set up to study flood control and water utilization plans in Texas for the river basins of the Trinity, Brazos, Colorado, Neches, San Antonio-Guadalupe, Nueces and San Jacinto.

The Senate Democratic majority leader introduced the bill last week. It provides for the commission to submit its findings to the President, who in turn would report the recommendations to Congress.

The bill passed the Senate yesterday. It reached the House after the House Public Works Committee already had held its last meeting of the session.

Then Johnson offered his Texas water study plan as an amendment to a House-passed bill designating a dam to be built on the Cumberland River near Carthage, Tenn.

The Senate adopted the bill promptly and sped it back to the House for an expected early concurrence in the change.

That was okay by Rep. Joe Evans (D-Tenn), author of the House bill, who said: "I have no objection; you know, Texans and Tennesseans have always worked together."

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The officially confirmed death toll from continuing earthquakes in mountainous western Iran is nearing 100, a relief agency spokesman said last night.

The spokesman, Dr. Hussein Khatibi, was flying today to the area that has been shaken by repeated tremors since last Friday. Unofficial estimates said about 500 people have been killed.

Jess Talkin'
by Jess Blair

For the second year in a row the country south of the T&P Railroad seems to be drier than the areas to the north. Crops south of Stanton need rain, while those in the Elbow community are beginning to burn.

Curtis Week, who farms west of Elbow, said cotton had gone down more the last few days than any time during the summer. He has a few open bolls, but doesn't expect to do much boll pulling till the first of October. He was in the path of a hailstorm which set the cotton back a few weeks.

The boll worms are not doing much damage on dryland cotton, according to Bob Johnson, Martin County agent. He said there was a slight flare-up after the showers a few weeks ago, but have dwindled in number.

The irrigated farmers are still poisoning, he said, with most of them having a regular schedule. By this time poison every five, six or seven days, regardless of the insect build-up.

Johnson said that he had not seen any leaf worms. Even if they do come in, farmers there regularly will likely keep them down.

In talking to a couple of crop dusters at Stanton, I learned that their work is not considered too dangerous by the insurance companies. One pilot said he paid $13.75 per month for $5,000 insurance, which also includes some hospital benefits.

The main complaint the pilots have about this country is the wind. They make big money when they work, but a few windy days can cut the week's income down below living expenses.

Boll pulling is beginning to get under way in Howard County, but there won't be much for a couple of weeks yet, says James Fryar at the Howard County Farm Association.

Howard County will be allowed 270 braces unless the limit is raised. This would be nearly enough when boll pulling gets in full swing. One community such as the Fairview-Moore area could use this many.

The number of native workers is still an unknown factor. There will be some available, but in a month or more there could be a serious picker shortage.

Gordon Stone, who farms and ranches southeast of Stanton, says the cotton is about like it was last year when he averaged a bale and a half per acre. This was considerably higher than in the Courtney-Tarzan area where farmers had to plant over so many times.

Stone said the main problem this year had been the jack rabbits. They came in around the edges of the field to eat down the cotton. Then as the stalks sucker out, they continue to eat these tender shoots.

Stone has tried poisoning and shooting, but neither has kept much headway in reducing the bunnies.

Jim Bird, who spent about 10 years as a district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Snyder, Odessa and Lamesa, has been promoted to sales manager of the Burrus Mills, Fort Worth.

Bird joined the firm as a salesman at Amarillo several years ago.

Ray Kelly, Stanton cotton buyer, has estimated Martin County's cotton yield at 51,000 bales. In Howard County a couple of estimates have been made by men who are usually not far wrong. Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission, has set the figure at 32,000 bales, while Jack Irons at the compress is guessing between 35,000 to 38,000.

Last year Martin County had around 40,000 bales, and Howard came in with about 29,000.

One of the highest priced farm animals today is the Shetland pony. These tiny horses sell from a few hundred dollars up into the thousands. One local fancier, Jess Thornton, says that even the grade mares have been bringing over $1,000 at the pony sales.

Thornton has one stallion, a young sorrel named Red Billy D, five mares and two yearling fillies. The stallion is registered but the mares are grade animals.

One thing that buyers watch is color. Thornton says the sorrells are most in demand, then the chestnuts and silver-colored animals. But all should have snow white mane and tails to bring the best prices. The blacks are also preferred by some buyers.

The registered breeds are not so much interested in color as they are in quality, because color preferences can change as rapidly as the style of women's dresses. What is popular today may be out of date three years hence.

Thornton says there are four markets for Shetland ponies—the kid ponies, ponies for ride at carnivals and parks, matched ponies for the same purposes, and the hobbyists.

More than half the Shetland pony owners are over 50 years of age, Thornton said. These are often people of ample means whose children are grown and away from home. The owners sometimes sell enough ponies to pay expenses, but mostly the little horses are kept as a hobby.

Because so many wealthy people have taken up Shetland ponies, the animals are almost too expensive for the kids to ride, Thornton said.

Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. (2 Timothy 2:15)

An Old Friend Stays Single

Big Spring in particular and West Texas in general will make no effort to conceal pleasure at the decision of Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific railway companies to continue their separate operations.

The special committee set up to study a proposed merger found that efforts of the closely knit corporations already are being coordinated so well that few economies would be effected through a merger.

While we have every respect for the parent Mopac line, we have a closer working relationship with the Texas & Pacific family. West Texas has grown up with, and in the early days largely because of T&P, and these ties are not something to be lightly laid aside.

In addition, Big Spring—as has other area cities—has developed close ties of friendship with the progressive and aggressive T&P management. This community has developed a pride in the T&P that transcended the provincialism of a division point.

Whether the operational system would have been appreciably affected by a merger is doubtful, but the action against a merger proposal leaves undisturbed the vast reservoir of confidence, respect and good will that Texas & Pacific Railway Company, through President W. G. Vollmer and all its officials and workers, has so richly earned through the years.

Let's Protect Our Water Interest

Events in recent weeks again have focused attention upon the importance of water conservation for Texas.

R. N. Dixon, in a far-reaching report on water in its relation to the drought-hit High Plains, points up the wisdom of doing something about water as well as about agriculture that would recognize its interdependence upon water. W. L. Broadhurst, chief hydrologist of the High Plains underground water conservation district, has written a sound projection of the underground water resources in West Texas. The Texas Board of Water Engineers has come out with a monumental preliminary study of surface water inventories and potentialities in Texas. The U. S. Senate has passed a bill designed to coordinate study of river basins that cover the state.

Certainly this may be taken as evidence of statewide concern with the problem. What we need is an even greater area concern. One fact stands out—West Texas, with three-fourths of the state's areas—has one-fourth of the potential water.

West Texas therefore must be alert and militant to see that it has the opportunity to keep the water that falls on its basins. This limited supply, our only hope of extending our even more limited ground water supply, is the life blood of our region.

Invisible Light Plays Important Role

NEW YORK—A light you cannot see is adding today to its big role in the missile age by finding more civilian chores to do for industry.

It discovers an incipient hot box before a railroad train must grind to an annoying and costly halt. This same infrared radiation checks on the internal wear and tear in machinery parts before they break down. Or it detects potential explosion conditions in oil tanks—in time to save lives.

Infrared radiation is an invisible part of the electromagnetic spectrum. Your eyes can't pick it up, but everything that has molecular movements (and some awfully solid things do) gives it off.

Science has learned to measure the rays and record the internal heat they reveal.

In World War II the Sniperscope, with an infrared sighting mechanism developed by the Radio Corp. of America, let U. S. soldiers look down their rifles and see the whereabouts of enemy soldiers at night while themselves remaining hidden to the naked eye.

Today the Sidewinder, a deadly missile with a guidance system by General Electric, uses infrared to track down an enemy plane. Infrared also goes into the bomb-sights.

Industry is adapting these military uses for some needs formerly closed to it.

The Servo Corp. of America, New Hyde Park, N. Y., has a Servo-therm infrared pyrometer to measure temperatures of objects from a distance. Oil companies can use infrared to check on temperatures in tanks and flow lines. Refineries use infrared devices to make continuous steam analyses in refineries.

The Chesapeake & Ohio and the New York Central use Servo hot box detectors to spot cars with overheated bearings. Among other companies making infrared devices are Beckman Instruments, Avco Research Laboratories, Perkin-Elmer Corp., Aerojet-General Corp. and Barnes Engineering Co.

Metal working plants have found infrared a help in testing castings and continuous welds. The atomic industry uses such devices to test materials and their resistance to radiation.

The medical profession is trying them out to determine temperature distribution over the human body. And scientists are using infrared cameras to do the same thing in studying plant life.

It is the greeting card industry. "It depends completely on the fact people are naturally lazy," said William D. Harris, "and that's why the business is going to last."

"People are going to get lazier and lazier. The greeting card appeals to this flaw in the human race. It saves them the trouble of sitting down and writing a note."

Bill, 41, slender, dark-eyed and energetic, is one of the brighter minds in the rapidly changing industry, and helped pioneer the humorous greeting card. "After his release from the Air Force in 1946, he invested all his $3,000 savings in a small greeting card firm. In a dozen years he built it to an annual volume of a million dollars."

"When I started," he recalled, "funny cards accounted only for about one per cent of the business. Mostly it was all hearts and flowers, ribbons and bows, satin and lace. Today 60 per cent of all cards are humorous."

Writing a hit greeting card is about as difficult as turning out a hit song. Harris puts out some 200 new cards each year. He sifts through tens of thousands of contributed suggestions—"everybody in the country now seems to be writing greeting cards"—but buys only about 25. The other 175 he turns

Integration Delay Dealt A Shattering Blow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal appeal judges have dealt a shattering blow to attempts in the South to delay or prevent public school integration by mob protests or violence.

Last June a federal district judge in Arkansas, Harry J. Lemley, ordered the integration of Little Rock's Central High School be delayed 2½ years. Monday he was overruled by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

This circuit court not only ordered the integration of Negroes in Central High to continue, but issued a blazing attack on the idea that mob violence could block a federal court order.

The Little Rock school board which had sought the delay of integration, and got it from Lemley, will now appeal to the Supreme Court. But the outcome there seems predictable.

That the Supreme Court will uphold the circuit court and for the same reasons given by that court. Last Aug. 30 another federal district judge, Ronald Davies, ordered Negro children admitted to Central High. He did this in keeping with the Supreme Court decision of 1954 that segregation in the public schools is unconstitutional.

Davies acted in the face of warnings by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus that integration there would cause violence and bloodshed. (The school superintendent had said he was convinced integration could be carried out peacefully.)

Faubus then prevented Davies' order from going into effect by using his National Guardsmen to keep Negro children out of the high school. By this time there was mob violence.

He could have used the guardsmen to back up the court order. Since he did the opposite, it became plain that if he got away with it—any Southern governor could do the same and nullify federal court orders.

So, to preserve the authority of the courts, President Eisenhower ordered in federal troops. Negro children then got into Central High. But the troops were kept there until the end of the school year.

Then in June the Little Rock school board asked Lemley to reverse Davies' order by delaying integration in Central High for a while. Lemley agreed, and granted a 2½-year delay for cooling off purposes.

This was clearly a victory for the foes of racial integration in the schools.

But if mob violence and tension in Little Rock could force a delay in a federal court's integration order, then it could be assumed mob violence and tension could be employed anywhere in the South to get the same result.

But the circuit court, in overruling Lemley, refused to recognize mob violence as an excuse for delaying a court order to integrate a public school.

Judge Martin C. Matthes, writing the majority opinion, said: "The issue plainly comes down to the question of whether overt public resistance, including mob protest, constitutes sufficient cause to nullify an order of the federal court directing the school board to proceed with its integration."

"We say that the time has not yet come in these United States when an order of a federal court must be whittled away, watered down, or shamefully withdrawn in the face of violent and unlawful acts of individual citizens in opposition thereto."

"Every school district in which integration is publicly opposed by overt acts would have justifiable excuse to petition the courts for delay and suspension in integration programs."

Meanwhile, the Eisenhower administration's Justice Department has not prosecuted a single person involved in the mob demonstrations in Little Rock in defiance of Judge Davies' integration order of last August.

"Why not? The answer given at the Justice Department was that such prosecutions involved questions of whether federal laws had been violated and, further, that the department was deferring to Little Rock authorities to take action."

Behind Times

SUFFOLK, Va.—City Council tabled a request from a self-styled "qualified and active voter" for a traffic light at an intersection. The letter was addressed to Mayor O. B. Hill—who last held office in 1947.

Just Take A Happiness Pill

Feel down in the dumps? Unhappy with everything? Blue as indigo? Lack interest in your job and wish that you had stood in bed?

Well, don't let it worry you, pal! Science, according to an advertisement I read this week, has the answer.

All you need to do is to take a pill. A "happiness" pill. In the twinkling of an eye—just time to gulp a glass of water and send the pill on its way to your tummy—you're your usual sunny self.

What? You're not a sunny character any time, you say? Well, all the better. With the pill doing its stuff in your innards, you're a brand new man. You have a smile that shows your dentures. Your eyes are bright with enthusiasm and your countenance beams with love for your fellow man.

That's what the ad said. You can buy these amazing pills now. A "limited quantity" is available, the price is a lot higher than aspirin but isn't wide-eyed happiness worth it? You can save money, naturally, by buying the big economy sized bottle. That's what you'll probably need if you're a habitual sourpuss and a persistent grouch. Apparently these pellets have the wonderful ability of snapping you back in form when you're tired.

Imagine—it's been a rough day. The boss has chewed on you. The people you had to contact were uncooperative. The tools you use are all left-handed. It's been hot and you haven't felt good anyway. It's along in the shank of the afternoon and there's still a mess of work you have to do before you can call it quits. You're just plain tired—worn out. Your eyes are blurry, your muscles scream with protest.

Maybe your feet hurt.

What to do?

Take a pill, pal.

In seconds you're fresh as a daisy. The stack of work which still has to be done and which looked like Mount Everest becomes a mole hill. You tear at it and no time at all—all finished.

Well that's what the ad said the pills will do.

These are marvelous times in which we live. In just a few years, no doubt, lunch will be a pill. Coffee breaks, beloved by all workers and viewed with some horror by management, will disappear. Instead of salt tablets beside the busy office water fountain there will be a dispenser which gives these anti-weary pills.

You take a pill—all lassitude is gone. You are happy and alert. Nothing is too big or hard for you to whip. Back you dash at the job and you are so exuberant and contented that only faint hankering you may have had to sneak away to some cafe for a caffawhew is gone. All you want to do is work, work, work. When the clock shows quitting time, you snap your fingers at it. "Nuts!" you say. "Who's ready to quit? Not me! I'm having too much fun—I'm too happy." And you go back on the job.

Perhaps all this is true. I am basically an optimist. I can believe nearly anything I am told (with a few reservations, of course.) All I ask is visual, convincing, warranted proof, backed up by personal experience.

Just do these things and I'm sold. Meantime, I read the advertisements and think about how simple life used to be. —SAM BLACKBURN

Old Battlegrounds Now Peaceful

LEXINGTON, Mass.—A 10-day trip through New England is better than a year's refresher course in early American history. Over and above that, it is balm to the sorely-buffed mid-20th Century American, caught in a revolutionary time that tries man's soul.

From Plymouth Rock onward, it is easy to chart the American colonist's revolutionary determination to be free until he stood on Lexington Common in the early dawn of April 19, 1775, and fired a shot that still echoes round the world.

That shot led to a great victory. But it was a shot whose outcome could be but dimly glimpsed then even as the future today is shrouded as through a glass dimly.

Ralph Waldo Emerson bestowed the shot heard "round the world" on the embattled men of Concord, six miles farther down the pike from Boston. In his familiar hymn, written for the completion of the Concord monument, Emerson sang:

"By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled:
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world."

But the men of Concord would not begrudge sharing the honor of that shot with the 77 Minute Men of Lexington who faced the British force of 800 men a few hours earlier. Eight Minute Men died here, theirs the first American blood shed in the Revolution.

The serenity of old battlefields comprises the peace that passeth understanding. So quiet and peaceful is the Concord or Battleground today that it is all but impossible to visualize it as the opening scene in a bloody revolution that changed the history of the world.

The Common, where the Minute Men gathered at the alarms of Paul Revere, is a triangular plot, only a few acres in size, now covered with a smooth lawn and shaded by big, old trees. At its apex stands the famous Minute Man statue, probably one of the most widely known and best-loved monuments in the United States.

He stands there bare-headed, young, intent, a heavy lock of hair falling over his forehead, his musket in his hands, his powder horn slung in back. He doesn't look very military to the British officials who marched on him in the April dawn in 1775.

But he looks resolute, and in the end, he was and he prevailed. No one had to brief him on what he believed and for what he was about to fight. "Stand your ground," said his captain and his neighbor, John Parker, "Don't fire unless fired upon, but if they mean to have a war, let it begin here."

At one corner of this quiet triangle of green park stands the First Parish Unitarian Church, incorporated in 1891. But the message on its bulletin board is out of the Atomic Age, pinpointing the longing of mankind. "The point is not to make war humane," it reads, "but to make it impossible."

At the other corner of the triangle, only a block from the church, stands the beautiful old colonial home of Minute Man Jonathan Harrington, now the Unitarian parish house.

It was back to this lovely house that Harrington, an artisan turned soldier, dragged himself across the Common in the April dawn. Fatally wounded by British fire, he reached the steps of his house to die at the feet of his wife—one of the first casualties of a war that still fires men in search of liberty.

Cynicism Toward Office Holders

WASHINGTON—In the rush to adjourn, it was perhaps inevitable that Congress should ignore the matter of conscience that Senator Clifford Case of New Jersey raised in the aftermath of the Adams-Goldfine affair.

What Case proposed was a bill that would bring into the open, if not actually restrain, a widely prevailing practice that has put members of Congress under growing suspicion and distrust. This is the practice of business-on-the-side—usually in a law firm but sometimes through a business connection—that involves directly or indirectly the influence of the Senator or the member of the House who telephones a government agency or makes a speech on the floor.

The measure put forward by Case—similar proposals by Senators Richard Neuberger, Joseph S. Clark, Jacob K. Javits, Paul H. Douglas and Irving M. Ladd reflect the same concern—would require all members of Congress and all employees of the executive branch earning more than $12,500 a year to file an annual report of income, including the source of any gifts or fees in excess of $100. It would also require that all communications, both written and oral, between Congress and the executive branch be part of the public record.

This may sound visionary and many cynics will say privately that it hasn't a ghost of a chance of passage and could never be enforced if it were passed. But Case and other conscientious members of Congress are increasingly aware of the cynicism and the scorn which more and more color the public attitude toward office-holders, high and low.

Condemnation of Sherman Adams and Bernard Goldfine produced a fine glow of moral indignation. But as Case, who was one of the first to appeal directly to Adams to resign, knows full well, the judges on the court are themselves guilty in far too many instances. One of the proposals in his bill was for establishment of a commission on legislative standards to study the problems of conflict of interest in the relationship between the executive and the legislative branches of government.

The Adams-Goldfine case makes wonderful political hay, and the Democrats are preparing for the harvest in November. Republican realists, such as Vice President Richard M. Nixon, see Adams, if he stays on, in a hopeless position.

Already his authority has been greatly weakened. But in the coming campaign every Republican running for Congress will be asked whether he or she supports President Eisenhower in his defense of Adams. There may be some heroic exceptions, a widely prevailing practice that has put members of Congress under growing suspicion and distrust. This is the practice of business-on-the-side—usually in a law firm but sometimes through a business connection—that involves directly or indirectly the influence of the Senator or the member of the House who telephones a government agency or makes a speech on the floor.

It is curious to hear some of those who attacked President Truman most savagely during the long tragedy of the Korean War now saying that we must not criticize the President nor his Administration because of the Marines in Lebanon, the country is in danger. Many of the Republicans now in high office, Nixon among them, used every weapon to attack the Truman Administration even as the casualty lists in that bitter conflict continued to grow.

That was politics as usual. Those who profess to be shocked at the criticism of the Eisenhower Administration should not be surprised that the same kind of politics now fills the air on the even of another election. Politics has rarely stopped at the water's edge. The Korean War, its futility, its wicked uselessness, was one of the chief targets for attack six years ago.

Adams has told friends that he expects to resign early next month. But the question of whether he resigns or not is, in a sense, irrelevant. It will make little difference in the Democratic campaign.

But in a larger sense, it is relevant. So long as the issue of influence and conflict of interest is not faced up to, the case of one individual who happens to have fallen afoul of public opinion is of little significance except to that unhappy individual.

There will be other cases, and the cynicism and contempt will strike deeper. Congress can go on conveniently ignoring its share in the guilt of the influence business. But to do this is to court a situation that will be manifest in a far larger tragedy.

Interested Judge

BOSTON—Superior Court Judge Frank J. Murray looked down from the bench at the defendants, Robert G. Schroeder, 35, and Lawrence T. Weymouth, 52, were charged with robbing the Second Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of $2,797.

"Will you inform your clients," the judge told their lawyer, "that I am a depositor in the bank they robbed, and ask if they want another judge to handle their case?"

They didn't.

Depositor Murray sent them to state prison for 3-8 years each.

Moonshine Recession

RICHMOND, Va.—The business recession seems to have hit the illegal whiskey industry. The state control board notes that only 910 stills were destroyed in the last fiscal year compared with 958 the year before and the production units were smaller. Liquor seized also dropped 27 per cent in volume.

Laziness Breeds Greeting Cards

NEW YORK (AP)—America has a 500-million-dollar annual industry built on laziness.

It is the greeting card industry. "It depends completely on the fact people are naturally lazy," said William D. Harris, "and that's why the business is going to last."

"People are going to get lazier and lazier. The greeting card appeals to this flaw in the human race. It saves them the trouble of sitting down and writing a note."

Bill, 41, slender, dark-eyed and energetic, is one of the brighter minds in the rapidly changing industry, and helped pioneer the humorous greeting card.

"After his release from the Air Force in 1946, he invested all his $3,000 savings in a small greeting card firm. In a dozen years he built it to an annual volume of a million dollars."

"When I started," he recalled, "funny cards accounted only for about one per cent of the business. Mostly it was all hearts and flowers, ribbons and bows, satin and lace. Today 60 per cent of all cards are humorous."

Writing a hit greeting card is about as difficult as turning out a hit song. Harris puts out some 200 new cards each year. He sifts through tens of thousands of contributed suggestions—"everybody in the country now seems to be writing greeting cards"—but buys only about 25. The other 175 he turns out himself, which makes him one of the most productive men in the industry.

Harris, son of Harry Harris, an old-time vaudeville performer, is an action man when it comes to humor. He has cards that pop, jump, wiggle, smoke and say "Merry Christmas."

Although birthday cards are the best sellers, followed by Christmas and get-well cards, the fastest growing specialty in the field today is the "slam card."

"I resisted the trend for some time, because I didn't really believe people wanted to send that kind of card," said Harris. "But they do. They're going over stronger all the time."

"One of our biggest sellers at Valentine time is a card that simply says, 'Drop Dead.'"

There is also a big market for the "peacemaker card." Example: A card saying "Forgive me," which when opened adds "I lost my head." It shows a man holding his head under one arm.

"There is now a specialty card for practically any occasion you can name," said Harris. "There's even a card to send to someone who owes you money."

The greeting card industry is one of the few that doesn't worry about bad times.

"It's a depression-proof business," said Harris happily. "If times get tough, instead of sending each other gifts, people will exchange 10-cent greeting cards."

Our 'southern' Smith neighbors, MR. AND MRS. WAYNE SMITH and their family, took their leave of Big Spring today to make their home in Sweetwater. We feel this is a mighty big gain for Sweetwater.

MR. AND MRS. DON THOMAS and their three children of Wichita Falls are guests in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Sr.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN G. DAVIS and Keitha, came here Sunday to pick up their son and daughters, Janis and Susie, who have spent the past week here in the home of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith. Their home is in Dimmitt. The family flew to Port Isabel for a short vacation Monday morning.

Keitha has been in band school at WTSC in Canyon.

MR. AND MRS. CLYDE ANGEL have returned from Houston and Corpus Christi. In Houston they were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Angel.

It's an exciting thing to get to see a hit show, especially when one of the leading ladies is your former next door neighbor but the thrill is even greater when you get to go backstage and see what makes the show go.

JUNE ANN JOHNSTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson is especially interested in stage settings and props so she got a real thrill when she and her mother, June Amos and Mary Jane Weaver went backstage at the invitation of Helon Blount when she was in Dallas in 'Happy Fel-la.' The Blount family had been next door neighbors to the parents of Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Chaney, when the children were young.

MRS. FRANK SABBATO, Cheri and Skippy, are in Midland to spend several days with her relatives prior to her sister's departure to make her home in Iceland.

Weekend guests of MR. AND MRS. LEROY TIDWELL were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pearce of San Diego, Calif., who were planning to visit Carlsbad Caverns and Las Vegas, Nev., on their return trip home.

CAROLE LAUGHRIDGE of Fort Worth is visiting with Lee Tidwells this week. The girls are cousins.

The whole family joined in entertaining out of town guests over the weekend when friends and relatives came from Amarillo and Spearman to see the Earley and Dixon families. The RAYMOND EARLEYS, E. E. Larry, an outstanding pianist, is studying under Harold Craxton in London during his service stay. Lt. and Mrs. Evans and two-year-old Lawrence Eric have counted the days until their return to the States. It adds up to Dec. 6, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Tiller and Visiting here from North Hollywood, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Hardesty, Susan and Carol. They are guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardesty and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Elliott.

ALA Group To Begin Projects

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will collect used costume jewelry to be given to patients at the state hospital, it was decided Monday evening. Decision was made by the executive committee at a session in the legion hut.

Also discussed was the project of selling Christmas cards to help with the treasury. Possibility of having a spaghetti dinner was brought up, and the group decided to have a benefit dinner some time in September. The date is to be announced.

Reports were given by various members on the banquet, held recently for the initiation and installation, on the visits to the sick and on the hours served in the VA Hospital.

Other Monster Subs To Come, Rickover Says At Launching

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover said today that the giant atomic submarine Triton will show the way for building big capital ships to travel under the sea.

His prediction was continued in a congratulatory message sent to the builders of the Triton, which was poised for ceremonial launching today.

The monster sub is the largest ever built. Officially listed at 5,900 tons, it will displace almost 8,000 tons when fully equipped and ready for trials early next year.

It will serve primarily as a floating and submerging distal warning station to sound alarm of approaching enemy planes or cruise-type missiles.

A cruise missile generally travels below the speed of sound and is distinguished from a supersonic jet missile.

Rickover, called by many the father of nuclear submarines, said several days ago he would be unable to attend the launching ceremony because of the pressure of his work. There was a flurry of criticism from some congressional members, who believed that the controversial Rickover hadn't been invited.

But the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., builders of the Triton, said invitations to Rickover and his wife were mailed.

In his message to Frank Pace, president of General Dynamics, Rickover said: "I regret that I am not able to be present at the launching of the Triton, for I consider this to be a significant event in naval history.

Farm Bureau Queen Will Be Crowned

A crowned queen of the Howard County Farm Bureau will be crowned tonight when the Bureau's annual beauty contest gets under way shortly after 8 o'clock in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

The main part of the program, the queen's contest, will be under the direction of Mrs. Jo Ann Forrest, who will introduce each girl separately and then later have them come back to the stage as a group. Mrs. Forrest has a novelty type arrangement wherein each dress worn by a contestant represents a flower, and the winner is described as the girl walks across the stage.

In addition to these gifts, the Farm Bureau will give the queen $20 and the runner-up $10. Also each girl entering the contest will receive a gift from the Farm Bureau.

Flowers for the occasion will be furnished by Faye's Flowers, and the furniture is being loaned by Brooks Town & Country Furniture.

Highway Drainage Question Raised

Drainage and what the state plans to do to solve water problems formed the principal issue at a hearing Tuesday on plans of the Texas Highway Department to pave FM 2230.

Property owners who own land through which the road passes were primarily concerned over the steps the highway department will take to protect them from water and most of the meeting was devoted to discussion of this problem.

There was no voiced opposition to the plan of the state to pave the road on no objections expressed to the statement that additional right-of-way would have to be provided. Drainage was the issue of greatest concern to the dozen property owners at the hearing. Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the department, told the group that the state proposes to spend $77,000 surfacing the road, building structures and doing what grading and drainage may be needed.

The explained the road would begin on the present Fairview road (a segment of FM 2230 which is already paved) at the end of the present paving. The new job would extend west one mile, then north five miles to the into FM 846 at Knott. The road would have 100-foot right-of-way and would be provided with a 20-foot paved slab. In addition, the state proposes to combine with this job a complete rebuilding of FM 846 which was paved some years ago.

Class Schedules Not Available Yet

Class schedules for high school pupils will be available the first day of school and not until then, Roy Worley, high school principal, said today.

Worley said numerous students have been calling for their fall schedules. So many have called, in fact, that school officials are having difficulty in completing the scheduling of students.

The schedules are not ready, so please don't request them, Worley urged. Even if they could be distributed now, they probably would be changed before classes begin, he added.

Highway Patrol officers said the two men in the pickup were approaching the crossing at 7:45 p.m. Meeks was driving. They apparently did not see a T&P switch engine, pulling one box car and a caboose out of Webb Air Force Base.

DEAR ABBY

FROM LITTLE ACORNS
 By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I belong to a card club along with seven other women. Last night at the Club I won first prize, which turned out to be a set of four place-mats. I told my hostess I HAD place-mats and couldn't use them and would she mind exchanging the prize. One of the other women spoke up and said she thought they were beautiful and would I mind selling them to her. I had to ask the hostess how much she paid for them. It caused a whole big fight and two members resigned and I went home without my prize or the money. My husband said I should have accepted the prize and kept my mouth shut. Please give me your opinion.

PRIZE WINNER
 DEAR WINNER: Your husband is a very wise man.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this is not important enough to rate a place in your column but it would help me a lot to know how to handle my problem. I am going with a wonderful young man and we seem to agree on everything except this. I can't get him to wear a necktie. He says he doesn't care to go any place he can't get in without a necktie. All he wants is comfort. He's neat and clean and very handsome, but I wish he'd wear a tie. Can you help me?

DON'T GIVE UP
 DEAR GIRL: Quit nagging him. When you've got that ring on your finger you can tell him what to wear around his neck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO POOR RICHARD: He is probably saving you rained for a rainy day. Ask him to bring it back on account that what YOU bought it for.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

and potatoes he wants. When he is up all night suffering with his stomach I am the one who has to walk the floor with him. He is making a nervous wreck out of me. How can I get him to follow doctor's orders without getting into a fight with him? CELIA

DEAR CELIA: Doctors can only tell us how to preserve our health, they can't follow us home and be policemen. If a grown man deliberately eats that which the doctor forbids, he should be treated like a child. Dish out his food and hide the verbotens.

DEAR ABBY: A family across the street has a household of kids. Their father is a part-time minister but nobody holds that against them. They have two older girls who have both tried to get a license for driving, but neither of them passed. They get in the car and drive anyway and all the neighbors have to call their little ones in the house to keep them from getting run over. Both girls have hit trees, fences and whatnot. I mentioned this to the mother and she says she knows it but can't do a thing with them. She asked me not to tell the father. Should I?

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Have another chat with your neighbor. Tell her if SHE doesn't tell her husband, YOU will—and make it plain, if THAT complaint falls on deaf ears you will notify the police.

OTTAWA (AP) — President Eisenhower told Canada's Parliament today that differences between the two neighbor nations can be solved and must not be allowed to overshadow the transcendent importance of free world cooperation in the winning of the global struggle against communism.

"We stand together at a pivotal point in history," Eisenhower told a warmly applauding Parliament. He was interrupted 10 times during his speech by members' applause and the traditional deaf thumping.

"All that we Canadians and Americans, and those who went before us, have built, all that we believe in, is challenged as it has never been challenged before. The new horizons of competition range from the polar areas and extend to the infinity of outer space."

In conciliatory terms, the President got down to specific points of difference—U.S. wheat exports, American restrictions on oil imports, Canada's trade imbalance with the United States, and the heavy flow of American investment capital to Canada.

"There is no cause to be surprised," Eisenhower said, "that differences between the two baker, with whom he is consulting on problems affecting the two nations.

The President made no mention in his address of a possible new channel for cooperation, in the realm of defense, through creation of a joint Canadian-American Cabinet Committee on Defense.

The two leaders canvassed in tentative fashion the idea of setting up such a committee in the first of their official talks Tuesday. Details and decisions were reserved for later talks.

NO BAD INTENT

Turning to matters which he said are "troublesome between us," the President said that in disposing of surplus wheat overseas, the United States has no intent to damage normal commercial markets and that he thinks "we have been generally successful" in this.

Canadians have contended that the disposal program has cut into their commercial markets overseas. But Eisenhower said he considers the basis for past objections by Canada has been largely removed and "the doors of consultation" will be kept fully open on this subject—"there must never be a final word between friends."

The President conceded that in the past the wheat program has caused inconvenience and occasional damage to Canada. But in several respects, he said, Canada stands to benefit from U.S. removal of surplus farm products into overseas consumption.

He contended that many hungry people have had food which they would not have had otherwise, that storage of the products would have depressed the world market and world prices. And, he said, the foreign funds obtained by the sales and made available to recipient countries in the long run should help raise living standards and enlarge the markets for everyone.

TRADE BALANCES
Canada also has been unhappy about an unfavorable balance of trade with the United States running to around one billion dollars a year.

Eisenhower observed that American goods flow across the border only because Canadian consumers want to buy them.

To try to balance the trade books once a month or once a year with every nation, he said, would stifle trade rather than expand it. Furthermore, he said, Canada's export deficit to the United States is offset by export surpluses to other countries and by the flow of investments to Canada.

While the question of control of some Canadian industries by American citizens is raised, these industries are subject to Canadian law, he pointed out.

He noted that U. S. investments have helped provide employment, tax revenues and other benefits to Canada.

If there are defects in the investment process, Eisenhower said, he is confident ways will be found to correct them, because this is in the interest of both countries.

Laymen Hear Of Hospital Work

The importance of clinical pastoral training and the workings of the chaplaincy in a state mental hospital were outlined for the First Baptist Brotherhood at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

With Chaplain Marvin Berkeland presiding, three theology students—Keith Wright, Wooleen Walsh, and Erlene Gaskin—told and demonstrated how chaplains work with patients, some of the problems encountered and how critiques help the ministerial students to find more effective techniques.

"Most people who are mentally ill have become so because of one or both of two things," said the Rev. Berkeland. "Either their relationships and adjustments to other people have not been satisfying, or they are similarly disturbed in their relationships with God."

Except in certain types of mental cases, which are in a small minority, chaplains have an initial interview with the patient, and whether they return for additional talks is up to the patient, explained the Rev. Berkeland.

Announcement was made of the Royal Ambassador camp for junior boys July 14-18 and the intermediate boys July 21-25 at the Baptist encampment grounds just south of town. At the same location on July 28 the one-day Brotherhood encampment will be held. G. G. Morehead, district president, said.

The next phase of the program shifted to the City Park where 653 people were served a barbecue dinner. This was perhaps the largest crowd ever to attend a reunion and exceeded last year's total by about 40 people.

In the program that followed, Jo Ann Forrest, who was reared in Stanton but now lives in Big Spring, was master of ceremonies. O. B. Thug Takes '5th' At Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Louis Romano, alleged Capone mobster, invoked the Fifth Amendment today in refusing to answer questions at Senate hearings on the racketeering Chicago restaurant industry.

The committee heard testimony Tuesday that Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, an overlord of Chicago crime, forced Romano into the labor movement as boss of the downtown Chicago Bartenders Union Local 278, to serve as a right-hand man for the mob.

Romano, wearing dark glasses, refused to tell the committee even where he was born.

"I decline to answer on the grounds that it may tend to incriminate me," he said.

Romano had no lawyer with him while testifying as the leadoff witness in the second day of questioning in the committee's search for evidence of a nationwide underworld plot to muscle in on labor and industry.

Also scheduled to be questioned today is Abraham Teitelbaum, labor consultant to the Chicago Restaurant Assn.

Teitelbaum, onetime lawyer for the Capone family, subsequently became the $125,000-a-year counsel for the association.

The committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) voiced curiosity about Teitelbaum's reasons for hiring Romano as the restaurant association's labor expert after a state court had ousted Romano and placed Local 278 in receivership.

Teitelbaum was a major witness in a House investigation of tax scandals in the Truman administration, and now lives in Hollywood, Calif. Romano, the committee said, lives in Miami.

Scientists are doing research on atherosclerosis, the disease in which fatty deposits form in blood vessels.

They say the baboon is the only known animal which develops such deposits as does man. But the baboon is a vegetarian and consumes little animal fats. This indicates the importance of study of other factors rather than diet alone.

Lyndon Releases Report On Water

WASHINGTON (AP)—A huge report on Texas water development possibilities, released today by Sen. Lyndon Johnson, contends the state's future growth will be determined largely by the use it makes of this natural resource.

While proposing no specific projects, the report dwells at length on the plausibility of switching floodwaters from one Texas river basin over to another where the river may be at normal or below normal level.

Traffic Mishaps At Static Rate

LAMESA — Traffic accidents for Lamesa in June totaled 19, which was one less than May's record, according to Chief of Police Morris Zimmerman.

Property damage was $4,650 or nearly $2,000 more than the May amount of $2,770. Three of the mishaps resulted in minor injuries to occupants of vehicles.

This brings the total accident for the year to 155 with 16 injuries. Property damage for the first six months has been estimated at $38,455.

The campaigns for governor of Texas and U.S. senator from Texas roared on Wednesday as former State Senator George Nokes put some heat in his campaign to unseat Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, seeking re-election, had a new face and an illustrious name in his campaign entourage. And Gov. Price Daniel—beset by the barbs of two opponents—planned Thursday to search for votes in San Angelo and Coleman.

In his office most of the day Tuesday, Daniel took the time to say he is confident the state will defeat the Federal Government's "brazen attempt to reduce our tideland boundary to three miles rather than three leagues in the Gulf."

Daniel said after conferences

Att. Gen. Will Wilson he was "convinced even most of the patent weakness of the federal case."

He said Texas' claims seem good enough for everybody "except former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, his successor and some of my opponents in the governor's race."

In a statement at Houston, one of Daniel's opponents—State Senator Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio—charged the governor was lining up lobbyist support to become "dictator of the Democratic party in Texas."

Gonzalez said Daniel has called a number of known lobbyists to the executive mansion in Austin recently and that they were asked to supply money for the party control fight.

ROY VOWS TO FIGHT INTO SHARPER FORM

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dissatisfied with his 12th-round knockout of game but outclassed Roy Harris, world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson vowed today to fight his way into sharper form.
His timing apparently suffering from his yearlong layoff, the 23-year-old champion had to climb from the floor to successfully defend his title last night against the courageous but sometimes awkward challenger from Cut and Shoot, Tex.

Patterson was down for a three count from a left and right in the second round but bounced up to take command from the next round on. He scored four knockdowns.

With Harris far behind on points and bleeding from a battered nose and cuts near both eyes, his veteran trainer, Bill Gore, asked that the fight be stopped after the 12th round.

"I had it stopped," Gore declared. "The fighter wanted to continue."

"I'm more dissatisfied with this fight than any one I've fought in the last few years," Patterson declared. "If I had been able to get started it might have been a different fight. I know that if both of us had more fights we would have looked a lot better. I'll probably fight more often now."

Stopping the fight, which goes into the record as a 12th-round knockout, brought the first defeat to the picturesque Texan from the Big Thicket country near Houston. It was the third successful title defense for Patterson, who won the championship in 1956 at 21.

The champion from New York spotted his foe 9 1/2 pounds at 184 1/2 to 194 but landed the power punches. He knocked Harris down for an eight count in the seventh with a right to the side of the head. In the eighth Roy was down for counts of seven and three. He took a nine count in the 12th.

But fans who tabbed the Texan an easy mark and made him a 6-1 underdog were surprised to watch a bristling battle and a courageous showing from the challenger.
At times his unorthodox style in itself served to stall Patterson's attack.

Approximately 20,000 fans watched the open-air battle at Wrigley Field and another 200,000 by closed-circuit television in theaters across the nation.
The gross gate here was estimated at $228,000, the gross in theaters at a million dollars. Harris collects his $100,000 guarantee. Patterson's take, it is estimated, will be more than $200,000.

'Best I Have Met': Harris

By PATRICK McNULTY
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Blinking at the dressing room floor from under a towel, battered but gallant Roy Harris said:
"He's the hardest puncher I've ever met. He's a great fighter."

And across the hall in the champion's dressing room, unmarked Floyd Patterson paused from doing situps and said:
"It's the toughest fight I've had since I've been champion. He was very game."
Harris got off the deck four times before his trainer asked that the fight be stopped after the 12th round last night.

"I didn't want Roy cut any more," said Bill Gore. "He wanted to continue and yelled 'Let me go, let me go.' But I said, 'No, Roy. There'll be other fights.'"
"I never lost my senses," said Harris. "I would have liked to have finished."

The fourth-place Dodgers, who have won five of their last six, will start Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres.

The second-place Giants meet Cincinnati at San Francisco this afternoon. Bob Purkey, who had won only 16 in four previous major league seasons, tries for his 15th of the year for the Redlegs. Johnny Antonelli (13-10) is the Giants' choice.

The Phillies were at St. Louis for a night game with Jack Sanford (7-11) facing the Cards' Wilmer Mizell (8-9).

Downtown Site Is Eyed For Stadium

Record 63 Games Lined Up For Football Teams Here

Big Spring schoolboy football teams down through the seventh grade level will play a record total of 63 games the coming season, athletic director Al Milch has announced.
The increase came about, of course, due to the fact that Goliad Junior High School will field teams for the first time. The Goliad ninth graders play eight games while the eighth and seventh graders make seven starts each.
Both the varsity Steers and the high school B team play full schedules of ten games each.
The B teamers play a week longer than do the Steers, by the way. The varsity troops close against San Angelo there the night of Nov. 14 while the Dogies wait until Nov. 20 to challenge the same school.
The Longorns play seven home games this fall, a record. Milch's team tangles with San Antonio Edison, Ysleta, Snyder, Lamesa, El Paso Austin, Abilene and Midland in the local arena.
The city's two junior high schools will climax their seasons by meeting each other at all three grade levels.

Braves Lagging In Dodger Set

The Associated Press
The Milwaukee Braves may be eight games ahead in the National League race, but they're still trying to catch up with the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are 14 games behind.
The Braves and the Dodgers play a two-night doubleheader that opens a five-game series at Los Angeles today.

The Braves, who have taken 11 of 14 from Cincinnati, stand 12-6 against St. Louis and 11-5 against San Francisco, are only 6-9 against the Dodgers. Milwaukee holds an edge on every other club.
The Braves, riding a seven-game winning streak that matches the longest in the NL this season, lost their first seven meetings with the Dodgers this season. They have won six of the last eight, however. They will send Pat Joyce Jay (7-4) and rookie Carl Willey (8-3) against the Dodgers.

The fourth-place Dodgers, who have won five of their last six, will start Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres.
The second-place Giants meet Cincinnati at San Francisco this afternoon. Bob Purkey, who had won only 16 in four previous major league seasons, tries for his 15th of the year for the Redlegs. Johnny Antonelli (13-10) is the Giants' choice.

Seven Teams May Be In Big 10 Scramble

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten football race, unpredictable at best, could turn into a helter-skelter scramble this year with at least seven teams fighting for the title.
Ohio State's defending champions and Michigan State's Spartans will be the teams to beat. Iowa, Wisconsin and Purdue are expected to challenge strongly and Michigan and Illinois never can be counted out until the season ends.

For Minnesota, Indiana and Northwestern, it looks like another long season.
Woody Hayes, Ohio State coach, promises the same bruising attack which has brought the Buckeyes three unbeaten titles in the last three years. Hayes plans to employ a powerful ground attack headed by fullback Bob White, fine line play and a great defense.

Michigan again will be tough. The Hawkeyes have quarterback Randy Duncan to pass. They also have good and speedy halfbacks, a fine line and a speedy schedule.

Purdue is the team that could take it all—Big Ten title, Rose Bowl and possibly a national title. There are 26 lettermen returning at the Boilermaker campus. Purdue won five of its last six games in 1957, including a 20-13 upset triumph over Michigan State.

Wisconsin has a tough schedule but the Badgers are ready. They have a veteran team and 23 returning lettermen. The schedule includes Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan State in succession.

Purdue is the real dark horse. Most Big Ten coaches refer to the Boilermakers when there is talk of a title. "That's the team to watch out for," said Ray Eliot of Illinois. The Boilermakers have a tremendous line plus quarterbacks Bob Spoo and Ross Fichtner.

Michigan has to rebuild its line from tackle to tackle. The Wolverines are always tough and as unpredictable as there is in the Western Conference. Fullback John Herrstein is a strong prospect to lead Michigan to most of its triumphs.

Illinois could wind up with the best line in the country. The Illini, however, will be lacking their usual fleet of halfbacks and again are trouble finding a capable quarterback.

Minnesota has only two regulars back from last year's team which was picked to finish near the top but wound up in eighth place. The Gophers must rely on newcomers and could progress as the season grows older.

Neither Indiana nor Northwestern won a conference game in 1957 and since neither of the two met it could be the same story again. Help from newcomers is needed in both cases.

Softball Meet To Open Here On Wednesday

Texas Air Force bases' softball teams begin arriving at Webb AFB today for the Southern District Air Training Command tournament which will begin play tomorrow at 3 p.m.

The softball meet will attract seven, possibly only six, base teams which will compete for the Southern District's awards and an advancement to the ATC tournament, to be held at Goodfellow AFB in San Angelo starting Aug. 29. Competition is toward berths in the World-Wide AF tournament.

Athletes will be assembled to night in Webb's dining hall C for a banquet at 8 o'clock. There visitors will be greeted and served, and tournament pairings will be drawn and announced.

Teams to be in the softball competition will be Goodfellow, Harlingen, Lackland, Laredo, James Connally (Waco), Webb and Randolph. There is a possibility that Laredo AFB will be unable to attend.

Lackland is rated the favorite in the meet, with Webb given strong chances. Lackland has won 32, lost only eight this season.

Managed by Jerry Carter, in 1955 they were all-Air Force champions. Back from that team are pitcher Benby Karrass of Abilene who has won 21 and lost six games; left-fielder David Williams of San Antonio; and first baseman Jack Bartholomew of Fort Worth. Best hitters on Lackland's club, a perennial power in softball competition, are shortstop Ken Boyce of Doss, 411, and Bob Howester of Peoria, Ill., 666.

Members of Webb's team are: pitcher Jackie Long, 310; pitcher James Fall, 260; catcher Willie Knowles, 300; first baseman Roderick Mackey, 295; second baseman Robert Elsbury, 305; third baseman Jack Pasco, 315; shortstop Charles Boen, 305; outfielder Leonard Kelly, 295; fielder Francis Blakeney, 270; fielder Tom Lujan, 300; fielder Harry Williams, 270; and fielder Credential Lindsey, 300.

Webb has a 21-13 record for the season. Games will be played Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at 3, 8 and 10 p.m. Two contests will be played Saturday and Sunday, at 8 and 10 p.m. Trophies will be awarded the champion and runner-up teams, most valuable player, and for best sportsmanship. Individual trophies will be given to members of the winning team.

J. Paul Getty's Young Son Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — Timothy Getty, youngest son of J. Paul Getty, who may be the richest man in America, is dead at 12.

The boy survived an operation for a brain tumor last year. He entered University Hospital last Thursday for plastic surgery to remove the scars of the operation.

He was feeling well Sunday night. Later that night his heart failed and he died, it became known yesterday.

With the boy was his mother, Louise Dudley Lynch Getty, who sang professionally under the name Teddy Lynch. She is divorced from the boy's father.

Timothy always had a thirst for music. An hour before he died his mother sang several of his favorite hymns to him.

Getty, an oil operator who spends much of his time in Europe, telephoned Timothy last Saturday. He called his son at least once a week no matter where he was.

The family notified Getty of the boy's death. The mother, who was Getty's fifth wife, left for California to make arrangements for burial.

Four Killed As Jet Trainer Crashes Into Parked Autos

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—A low-flying Air Force jet trainer with an engine flameout pin-wheeled on one wing off a fishing pier on a collision building and crashed into a row of parked autos yesterday. Four persons were killed, three seriously injured. The crash scene was less than a mile from a Myrtle Beach Air Force Base runway.

Preventive Surgery Talked As Method Against Cancer

By RENNIE TAYLOR, AP Science Reporter
ABOARD SS MATSONIA (AP)—A way of virtually knocking out breast cancer as a cause of death has become a possibility in the not distant future even though no blanket cure is in sight.

The idea is based on the simple arithmetic of breast cancer fatalities and consideration of what surgery can do. It postulates that women past the child-bearing age would free themselves of the danger of breast carcinoma by having the milk glands removed from their breasts even though there is no indication of malignancy. This would mean extraction of about half the bulk of the tissues within the breasts, but not the removal or destruction of the breasts themselves. It also would serve as a start toward reshaping breasts for aesthetic reasons.

Funds Agreed For Water Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate conference committee agreed Monday on a $1,118,000,000 appropriations bill for construction of water projects in the year which started last July 1.

The compromise figure compares with $1,159,915,835 voted by the Senate and $1,077,827,200 approved by the House. President Eisenhower had budget $1,077,356,000.

Of the total, $813,800,000 would go to Army Engineers to build, plan and operate flood control, navigation and power projects; $287,300,000 to the Interior Department for reclamation projects, the Bonneville power administration and the southeastern and southwestern power administrations, and $16,850,000 to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Flash Flood Causes Death

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A Sierra Nevada flash flood swept across U. S. Highway 40 west of Reno last night, killing one man and indirectly causing the death of another. A third man was hospitalized with shock.

Joseph Thompson, 23, Redwood City, Calif., was reported killed when he jumped from a car and tried to outrun the Truckee River flood, the California highway patrol said.

Frederick Johnson Jr., 33, Reno, a construction worker, died when his truck overturned as he drove to help clear the blocked highway. Highway patrolmen quoted witnesses as saying a wall of water rushed down the mountains and across the highway.

Thompson was a passenger in a car driven by James Douglas Olinger, 29, Palo Alto, Calif. Olinger stayed with his car, which was carried into the river and 500 yards downstream. He was brought to a Reno hospital suffering from shock.

Rocks and trees were carried into the roadway, blocking it for more than two hours. The flood near Truckee, Calif., hit a freeway to Squaw Valley, the 1960 Winter Olympic Games site.

Driving Bullet-Proof Car For King OK With Britisher

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—How does it feel to pilot a king across the scorching deserts of Jordan in a bullet-proof limousine?

"I like my work very much," says 40-year-old Maurice Rayner. "I think it's a grand experience." Rayner has been chief driver for Jordan's King Hussein for five years. They got to know each other while Hussein was attending Harrow School in England. Rayner managed a garage which Hussein, a sports car enthusiast, used to frequent.

"One day he asked me to come to Jordan and I came," Rayner explains. There is constant fear that somebody may try to assassinate Hussein. The fear was heightened by the killing of his cousin King Faisal of Iraq on July 14.

Before that, Hussein generally traveled with a small armed escort. Now he appears with 60 fierce, heavily armed Arab Legion troopers riding on open patrol cars and motorcycles. In the middle of the column is Hussein's black 1956 air-conditioned Cadillac, its springs sagging under the weight of armor plating. The thick bulletproof windows are always rolled up and Hussein can hardly be seen in the back seat.

Up front, sitting stiffly, is Rayner, wearing his tan chauffeur's uniform and British military rib-
