Texan After Money To Write A Book

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Bryan, Tex., youth who says he is writing a book on criminology and needed money to get married has been charged with assaulting and attempting to rob a motel operator.

Robert Coody, 20, surrendered to police yesterday after a 10½-hour manhunt.

"I drove up from Texas about a week ago to marry a girl that's working in Portsmouth," Coody told reporters. "I saw her and started looking for a job."

He said he was a professional photographer but had been unable to find work.

"I was getting desperate," he said.

Police said Coody walked into the motel office in nearby Chesterfield County late Monday and pointed a gun at William Mangigian, 65, a grandfather. Mangigian grappled with the gunman and several shots were fired. Mangigian was hit over the head several times before the man fled.

Coody said he drove back to Richmond, "but I got worried about the man and drove back by the motel. I saw all the police cars and kept going."

Ejected From Missile Site

Kenneth Calkins, right, 23, of Chicago and his wife Eleanor, 22, talk with an unidentified air policeman at a missile launching site under construction near Cheyenne, Wyoming. Pacifist Gets Hurt While Trying To Stop Missile Job

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A young Chicago self-styled pacifist failed Tuesday in an effort to halt construction of a missile launching site, and was hospitalized during the attempt.

Attendees at Larimer County Memorial Hospital said the condition of Kenneth Calkins, 23, was good. Calkins' wife, Eleanor, 22, said a physician told her her husband suffered a crushed pelvis.

Involved in the efforts to halt construction of the launching site were Calkins; his wife; the Rev. Mr. Theodore Olson, 26, of Fallington, Pa., and Arthur Springer, 23, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Springer and Olson are charged with trespassing and were jailed Tuesday.

The driver of the 12-ton truck which struck Calkins was not identified. Sheriff N. E. Tuck said he understood the driver did not see Calkins.

The missile site is located 20 miles northwest of here. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins entered the site Monday with announced plans to impede construction and circulate leaflets among the workers.

Air Police escorted the couple off the base and Calkins and his wife began a sitdown strike outside the gate. They were joined by Olson and Springer.

Goldfine's SEC Report Is Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine's East Boston Co. has filed—17 days late—its annual report with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

An SEC spokesman indicated Tuesday the agency would not seek to impose punishment even though East Boston, a holding firm, is under a court order to get its reports in on time.

The court order was handed down in 1955 after East Boston failed to file financial statements with SEC from 1948 to 1954.

Goldfine, Boston millionaire and gift-giving friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, has said he was unable to file this year's report by the July 29 deadline because records of the company were in the hands of a House subcommittee which investigated some of his activities.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) contended otherwise. He said the group had only duplicate copies of papers relating to East Boston.

A subcommittee spokesman said Tuesday, however, that some of the papers were originals. He said they were returned to Goldfine July 30. They weren't returned earlier, he said, because Goldfine hadn't asked for them.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) contended otherwise. He said the group had only duplicate copies of papers relating to East Boston.

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Daniel approved yesterday a 30-day stay of execution for Marshall Lampkin, who was convicted of killing Ernest Webb in downtown Luling two years ago.

Lampkin, a Negro, was scheduled to die in the electric chair early today. The stay moved the execution date to Sept. 19.

Lampkin's attorney sought more time to file a motion for rehearing before the U.S. Supreme Court. The high court originally refused to act.

Military Aid For Indonesia

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain have shifted to a policy of giving the Indonesian government limited military aid in an effort to offset increasing Communist bloc influence, diplomatic informants in London say.

Indonesia has accepted a British offer to provide specialized training for some army officers, the sources reported. The United States signed an agreement in Jakarta last Wednesday to sell light arms to the Southeast Asian island republic.

Some U.S. weapons already have been given from Japan to Indonesia and a shipment of 300 trucks and jeeps plus arms will sail soon from Yokohama.

The U.S.-British decision to help arm President Sukarno's forces presumably was based on the reputation of top-army leaders for being staunchly anti-Communist. The Communist party has polled the largest vote of any party in recent Indonesian elections, and army chiefs are reported worried by the Red uprising.

Indonesia turned to Czechoslovakia and other Communist nations for arms last December when Washington failed for six months to answer Jakarta's requests to buy weapons.

Farmers To Vote On Corn, Cotton Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Corn and cotton growers will choose within the next few months the program under which they will operate if the farm bill passed by Congress becomes law.

For corn growers, the legislation would require a referendum in commercial producing areas on or before Dec. 15.

Corn growers would vote for the first time on whether they want to abolish all acreage allotments and base price supports on acreage prices, or retain the present program.

They would have a choice of:

1. No acreage allotments and a price support based on 90 per cent of the average price for a three-year period, but not less than 65 per cent of parity, or

2. A program with allotments and a price support of 75 to 90 per cent of parity. The exact figure would be set by the secretary of agriculture.

Cotton growers will choose before planting time next year, between overplanting cotton acreage allotments and taking a lower price support of 65 per cent of parity, or of complying with allotments in return for a minimum of 80 per cent price support in 1959 and 75 per cent in 1960.

Gen. Wade Heads New Missile Unit

"Maj. Gen. David Wade, first commander of the First Missile Division, faces the most unusual and perhaps the most important challenge in our military history." With this appraisal, the current issue of Saturday Evening Post begins an article by Corey Ford and James Perkins on the man who once served as an executive officer of the bombardier school here during World War II.

Gen. Wade was at that time a lieutenant-colonel on the staff of Col. Sam Ellis, first commander of the school. He became executive officer and served temporarily as commander after Col. Ellis' sudden death in 1943.

"There's no second place in a nuclear war . . . and he doesn't propose to see this country runner-up to any power on earth," continues the sketch, "which may explain why he was yanked from his post as chief of staff of the Strategic Air Command when SAC was given responsibility for all Air Force ballistic-missile operations last November."

Gen. Wade was sent to twice abandoned Cooke Air Force Base in California to organize the nation's newest combat arm.

Missile warfare won't mean less men—on the contrary, Gen. Wade points out that a launch team for a single missile is several times as large as the largest bomb crew.

"Sometimes in our admiration for these scientific miracles (missiles)," Gen. Wade is quoted, "we forget that they are not a substitute for the human brain. Despite all this talk of push-button war, somebody always has to push the button. Our survival may depend on how well we've trained him here to do this job."

Gen. Wade, now 47, was born at Holly Springs, La., near Minden, and was graduated from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute with a degree in engineering. Later he became a cadet at Randolph Field, and after receiving his wings was stationed at Barksdale Field at Shreveport, La. His first command in World War II was of a heavy bombardment group at Walla Walla, Wash. He commanded a B-29 group on Guam and won the Distinguished Flying Cross as commander of the 98th Bombardment Wing at Yokota Air Base in Japan for destroying key railway bridges in North Korea. He also won the Soldier's Medal for rescuing a pilot from a burning plane.

The top missile man declines use of a staff car and a chauffeur on the grounds that he knows better than anyone else where he is going. He and his wife, Marie, the former Mrs. R. L. Tollett, live in a converted mess hall building at Cooke. When he found the tar paper shacks boarded up when he arrived in Cooke, he also found that few funds were available for new construction but that he could get money for reconstruction. Characteristically, he rehabilitated the field and hit the ground running, flying or rocketing as the case might be.

His men are charged with firing the Thor and Atlas missiles, as well as others to come, and seeing that these complex units with some 300,000 parts hit targets 1,500 to 5,000 miles away.

Jet Crash Kills Three

Pickets Jeer Non-Strikers

CONNERSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — About 34 non-strikers marched past a jeering picket line at a coffin ornament factory this morning. State troopers armed with clubs watched.

Two pickets were arrested on disorderly conduct charges for refusing to move out of the workers' path. Eleven other pickets were arrested in a rock-throwing scuffle Tuesday morning.

About 50 pickets shouted "scabs" and "don't come through the line" today at the workers going into the National Metal Products Co. main plant, involved in an eight-week strike over a union official's firing.

Two dozen city police augmented the 120 state troopers, ordered in by Gov. Harold W. Handley Tuesday.

The company normally employs about 260 men and has been on intermittent production since the strike began.

Bond Issues Are Voted In Abilene

ABILENE (AP)—Five bond issues totaling $3,850,000 were approved by Abilene voters in a special election in which about 2,000 ballots were cast yesterday. A $1,100,000 issue for airport improvements passed by a margin of 81 votes. Other issues which received larger margins are: $250,000 for water improvements, one million dollars for sewers, $2,250,000 for streets and $250,000 for parks.

Mrs. James Simms reported theft of a tire and wheel from a Chevrolet pickup Tuesday. Mrs. H. E. Tynes, 205 Nolan, reported that three hubcaps were stolen from her automobile.

Little Rock School Chief Has Reputation As Fighter

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — School Supt. Virgil Blossom, the man in the middle in Little Rock's simmering integration crisis, has a reputation as a fighter.

The 51-year-old native Missourian had the reputation long before he became a central figure in the current battle over school integration, here.

A newspaper columnist at Fayetteville, Ark., where Blossom was school superintendent before he moved to Little Rock, commented: "When you've struggled with Missouri mud and climate, it puts fight and win in your blood."

Blossom, a hulking six-footer, puts it this way: "I've got a job to do."

Blossom spent his youth in Brookfield, a small central Missouri town where his father ran a construction business and served as the city tax collector.

He entered Missouri Valley College at Marshall, Mo., on an athletic scholarship. His goals were to teach and be an athletic coach. He achieved both.

His first job out of college was at Fayetteville High School, where he became athletic director and a social science teacher in 1930. Later he became principal and then superintendent. He moved to Little Rock in 1953.

Blossom's colleagues tell the story of a wayward youth who was sent to him after several warnings from teachers failed.

Sputnik Rocket Carrier To Pass Over West Texas

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A schedule for passes of the Soviet rocket carrier Sputnik III during the next three days was given last night by the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

The carrier will be traveling in a northwest to southeast direction at a height of 670 miles. The schedule (all times Central Standard) includes:

Today — first pass comes into visibility north of Lake Superior at 7:18 p.m. Goes into earth shadow over the Atlantic off Florida at 7:28 p.m. May be seen everywhere east of a line from Minnesota to Central Texas.

Foreign Policy Critic Elected

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Dr. Gale McGee, 43, a critic of the administration's foreign policy, Tuesday won the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate from Wyoming.

He will oppose Sen. Frank A. Barrett, 65, in the November election. Barrett was unopposed for the Republican nomination for a second term.

McGee, a University of Wyoming history professor, rolled up 19,335 votes to 13,313 for Hepburn T. Armstrong, 37-year-old uranium executive, on the basis of returns of 500 of 500 precincts.

Armstrong had urged mammoth housing projects for the aged and attraction of industry to Wyoming.

Republican Gov. Milward L. Simpson easily won renomination for a second term. Returns from 532 precincts gave Simpson 19,477 votes and Stanley Edwards of Laramie 5,801.

J. J. Hickey, 46-year-old Cheyenne attorney, was nominated for governor without opposition in the Democratic primary. Hickey is a former U.S. attorney.

McGee had the support of most Wyoming Democratic party leaders in his primary campaign and received financial contributions from Eleanor Roosevelt. McGee spent a year in Washington as a legislative assistant for Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Heavy Rainstorms In The Panhandle

Rain up to five inches fell in parts of West Texas Tuesday night, accompanied in some cases by hail and high winds.

The heaviest, 5-inch rain was at Farnsworth, 12 miles west of the Panhandle town of Perryton. Winds at Amarillo damaged trees and broke windows. Hail fell at Dumas during a thunder-shower.

The Wingate area in Runtels County, 30 miles southwest of Abilene, reported night rains of 1.40 to 1.45 inches. Perryton in the upper Panhandle had 2.95 inches, Dorroutzet 2.50, Dumas 1, Wink .94 and Amarillo .90. Rains of three inches or more were general around Perryton.

A low pressure area from the Great Lakes to Colorado was drawing up moist air from the Gulf of Mexico. The Weather Bureau said prospects are for more thundershowers, some locally heavy, through Thursday.

Cisco had a 1.10 inch rain, Colorado City 1.05 and less than an inch fell at Sweetwater, Merkel, Stamford, Sylvester and Aspermont.

Lighter, scattered showers fell over all of Texas except along the coast and in Northeast Texas.

A tornado was reported 20 miles south of Houston Tuesday, but it caused no damage.

Jimmie Cooper of Snyder also receives a bachelor of science degree.

Cage Bid Is Low On Farm Roads In Borden And Scurry

Cage Bros. of San Antonio, now engaged in constructing a series of overpasses and other structures along U. S. 80 in Howard County, was the low bidder yesterday for construction of a complex of farm-to-market roads in Borden and Scurry counties.

The firm, which has been contractor on several other highway projects in this area, offered to perform grading, construct structures and install paving on 4.6 miles of the farm roads for $115,400. The work will start at the Garza County line and move southward. Roads involved are FM 1269, FM 1609, FM 1785, and FM 669.

The Borden-Scurry work was the only project in this area on which bids were opened Tuesday. The Highway Department today was to tabulate proposals on additional jobs, including FM 700 around the southeast quadrant of Big Spring.

Low bids received Tuesday totaled $20,882,497.

Kierdorf Inquiry Apparently Ended

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Frank Kierdorf human torch death investigation was at an apparent dead end today.

With a grand jury inquiry ruled out this time, authorities admitted they had no new evidence in the baffling 17-day-old mystery.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, conceding no progress from his conference with county prosecutors in Detroit yesterday, said, "We're back to scratching for small leads."

Police say that Kierdorf, contrary to his deathbed statement, got his burns in an arson job at a Flint, Mich., dry cleaning shop Aug. 3. Kierdorf said two strangers burned him in a deliberate plot.

A Bible Thought For Today

And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works. (Hebrews 10:24)

Good Job Of Quarterbacking

The session of Congress now drawing to a close has been singularly free of interparty frictions, an unusual state of affairs in an election year.

True, Congressman Jim Wright (D-Tex) did say at Bay Ridge, Md., last Saturday that it is the Democratic Congress—not the Republican administration—that is halting the economic recession, but he said it at a "Democratic Unity Day" rally, and such things are expected. But on the whole there has been little mutual recrimination between the two partisan groups, a fact that may be explained by the seriousness of the times.

As far as the Senate is concerned, much of the credit for the smooth working of legislative machinery with a minimum of friction and factionalism goes to the majority leader, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

This is a fact generally recognized, for in the New York Times one day last week its Washington bureau chief, James Reston, wrote:

"When the leaders of Washington, Republican and Democratic, start yodeling in unison about the virtues of a single senator, it is fair to conclude that the senator (a) has just died, or (b) retired from the Senate, or (c) won a very special place in the Capital."

This is what is now happening in the case of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. The Democratic majority leader has not died or retired; he is merely coming to the end of another congressional session in which he has managed to win approval for a lot of controversial legislation without making anybody angry.

To everybody's surprise some of the most controversial legislation before this session went through the Senate with a minimum of delay and partisan maneuvering.

Writes Scotty Reston: "Nevertheless, everybody from President Eisenhower to Sen. Everett Dirksen agrees that Sen. Johnson is primarily responsible for the record and nobody quite knows how it was done."

The senator's finesse is the amazement of his colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

"As a strategist," says Reston, "he is the best quarterback to come out of Texas since Slinging Sammy Baugh. He seldom originates legislation himself, but he can take complex human beings and ideas and select and invent ways and means of winning consent for effective compromise legislation."

Don't Forget The Essentials

Trying to "shoot the moon" quite literally is too new a thing not to what the news-appetite of the populace, though we do hear that game players have been doing it figuratively for a long, long time, in the sense of "shoot the works" or "go for the downs."

The idea of shooting the moon is old, but actual attempts to do so waited for untold centuries until Sunday morning, when a U. S. Air Force rocket aimed deliberately for a meeting with that earth satellite, got no farther into the empty space than 50,000 feet and lasted no more than 77 seconds.

At that instant and distance some one among the 300,000 parrots that made up the rocket failed to function at the split second called for, and there was an explosion.

Two or three other efforts are scheduled before the year is out, and if the most optimistic forecast of 1 chance in 10 holds good, eight more failures must be expected before success is attained.

Why spend so much time and money on an enterprise so filled with uncertainty? Well, man wants to know what's on the other side of the moon. Also, scientists hope to reap a lot of highly valuable secrets relating to the pull of gravitation, the nature and pattern of the mysterious rays and substances that play about in outer space, and finally the composition of the moon itself.

Also—and for the moment this is the most compulsive of the possible motivations—we hope to hit the moon, or to throw a rocket into orbit around it, for prestige purposes. Our mass ego was wounded by Russia's "scoop" with its Sputniks, and by pulling off this moon exploit we hope to regain our lead in the field of scientific achievement.

If we spend too much money, time and effort in pursuing this will-o'-the-wisp there is danger that we may neglect more important, down-to-earth ingredients of our national defense, and that would not be a very smart thing to do. That has been our great national sin in the past—pursuing rainbows and neglecting the practical, like swapping guns for daffodils, pursuing pleasure at the expense of military preparedness, and letting the thistles of neglect and half-way measures overwhelm the wheat in our fields.

Tennessee Shows Segregation Stand

WASHINGTON—The people of Tennessee—like the people of Arkansas—have just expressed themselves against "integration" of the races in public schools.

Contrary to the erroneous impression derived from first news reports of the four-cornered contest for governor of Tennessee, an analysis of the final figures shows that 61.5 per cent of the votes in the Democratic primary were cast for the so-called "segregationist" candidates. There was no candidate for governor in the Republican primary, so the Democratic primary result is equivalent to election.

The two leading candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial contest were outspoken against "integration." The other two were called "moderates" but actually they declared in the campaign that they did not favor racial mixing.

The winner of the primary—Buford Ellington—polled 213,189 votes. The runner-up—Judge Andrew Taylor—received 204,367. This means a total of 417,556 for the "segregationists" as against the 260,907 polled by the other two candidates combined.

Thus Tennessee voted about 61.5 per cent in favor of the out-and-out "segregationist" candidates as compared with Arkansas' 70 per cent for the same classification.

What probably led to a widespread misinterpretation that Tennessee had deviated from the pattern in Arkansas was the emphasis in the first news reports on the renomination of Sen. Albert Gore in the Democratic primary. This was natural, because he did not sign the "Southern manifesto" three years ago and has been called a "moderate." But it is significant that he told the voters this time that he would "vigorously oppose" any attempt to "force our children into unwanted social mixing." It is, of course, the governor of a state—rather than a United States senator—who has the responsibility for making state policy and for administering state laws governing the schools.

Buford Ellington, the next governor—who had the backing of retiring Gov.

Frank Clement—has promised to close any public school where there is a serious controversy over court-ordered integration. He campaigned as "an old-fashioned segregationist and a states' rights' man." He has said that he will, if necessary, strengthen Tennessee's laws which are aimed at getting around the Supreme Court rulings of 1954. Ellington in his campaign said he was "no fence straddler" and is definitely "opposed to integration."

Judge Taylor, who was the runner-up in the race, based his campaign on the proposal that the governor "should have the power and authority to close a school in the event federal troops marched into Tennessee to enforce the integration decree. He also declared that the governor should have power to keep the schools closed "as long as troops remain in the state to enforce such a decree."

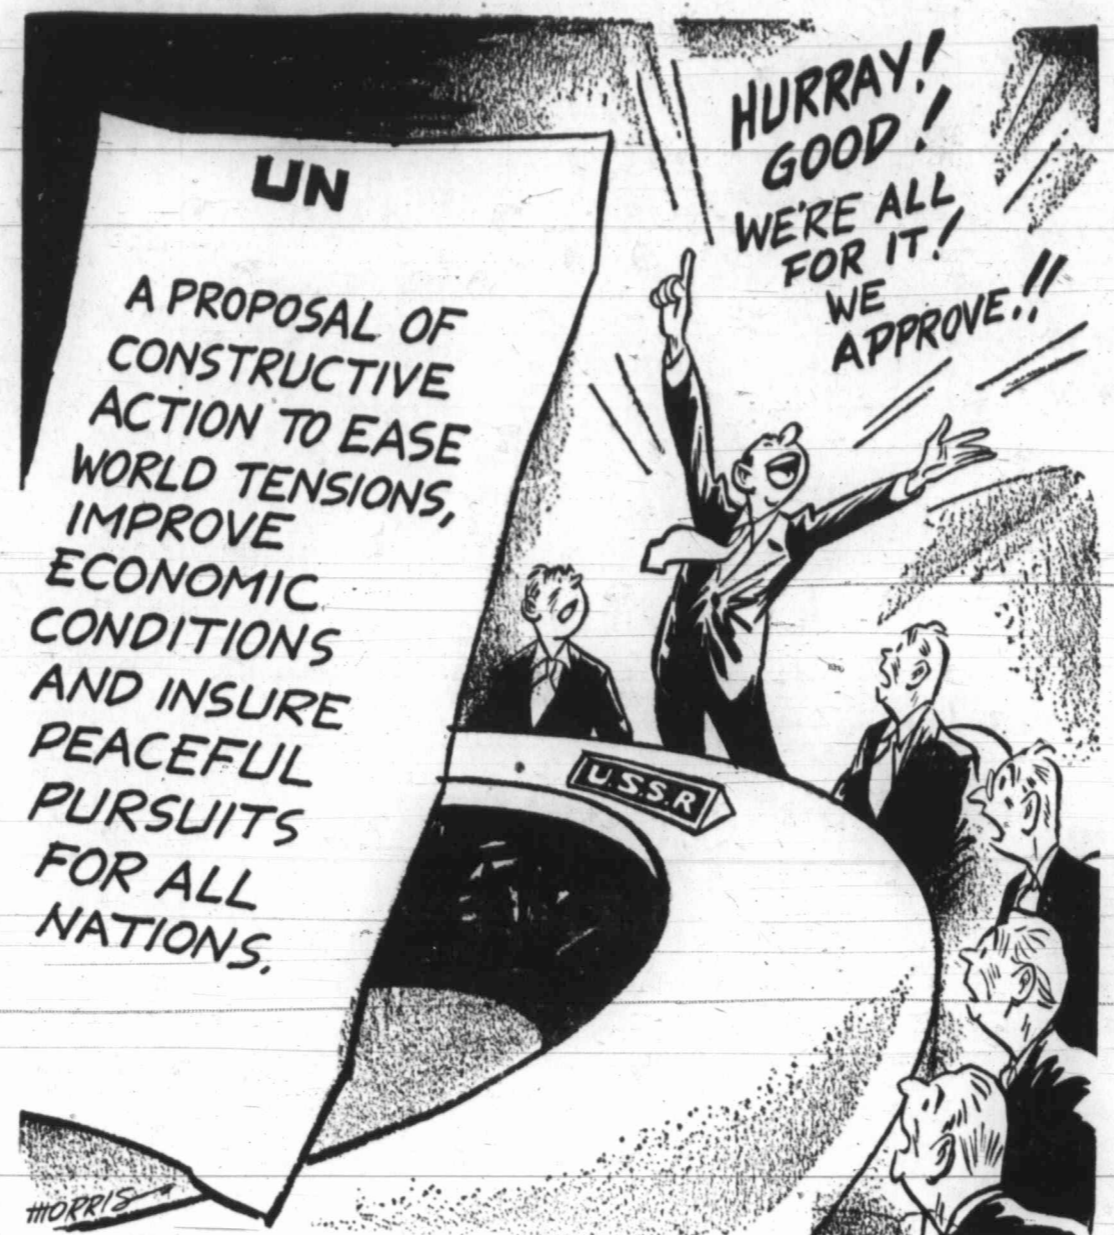

What the Tennessee and Arkansas elections show is that a majority of the people in each state do not accept the idea that the Supreme Court has said the last word. New state laws with different methods of dealing with the school problem are yet to be tested in the courts. The voters, to be sure, do not read a lot of legalistic documents before they cast their ballots, but they do listen to the speakers who repeatedly quote the words of the Tenth Amendment in the Bill of Rights which specifically declares that all powers not delegated to the federal government by the Constitution are reserved to the states or to the people.

Nowhere in the Constitution is the word "education" mentioned as a power delegated to the federal government. The people of Tennessee and Arkansas, therefore, feel that the obligation of each state is to give every child an "equal" education irrespective of race or color. They do not accept the psychological doctrines of the Supreme Court that no Negro child can get an equal education unless he or she sits alongside of a white child in a classroom. The Southerner regards the schools as a social institution subject to local customs. He is against the mixing of the races in the schools or in marriage. Incidentally, the laws of the southern states forbidding intermarriage of certain races have never been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Although this correspondent was born and raised in the North, attended both an "integrated" grade school and high school, and has no personal objection to "integration" in the public schools, he concedes that the legal facts of history are on the side of the South. This is because the Fourteenth Amendment, on which the Supreme Court based its "desegregation" decision of 1954 was never legally ratified. The fact that the amendment was "adopted" only at the point of the bayonet in the state legislatures of the South, three years after the war between the states had ended, is undisputed by historians. The Supreme Court, moreover, has for decades studiously avoided a decision on the legality of the "ratification" of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The Tenth Amendment, therefore, would seem to be controlling. Under its basic principle each state has the sovereign right to decide for itself which pupils shall be admitted to particular schools or classrooms.

A-B-C Of The New Social Security Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an ABC on the five major changes just voted by Congress in the Social Security program. President Eisenhower is expected to sign them into law shortly. Most won't go into effect until next Jan. 1.

They involve everyone under the program. They cover a higher Social Security tax and higher payments to retired workers. Also included are bigger payments to survivors of deceased workers, disabled workers and needy persons.

THE TAX

Employers and Employees both have to pay a Social Security tax. For each it now is 2 1/4 per cent on the first $4,200 of a worker's annual earnings, or a maximum tax of $94.50.

On Jan. 1 the tax goes up to 2 1/2 per cent on the first $4,800 of earnings, or $120.

The self-employed after Jan. 1 will pay 3 1/4 per cent on the first $4,800 instead of 3 on $4,200.

RETIRED WORKERS

Retired workers now drawing Social Security payments will get a 7 per cent boost in checks they receive after Feb. 1.

Their payments now range from $30 a month to $108.50. Under the new law they'll get from $33 to $116. This applies to retired workers already drawing payments before Jan. 1.

Those going on the retirement rolls after that date will receive from $33 to $127, although it will be some years before anyone starts drawing as much as $127.

Retired workers' wives who are eligible for payments because of their age will also get a 7 per cent boost in their checks.

If a worker reaches 65, retires and starts drawing payments but has a wife younger than he and with a child under 18, both the wife and child receive payments until the child reaches 18. Their payments will also go up 7 per cent. For such a wife and child the payments now range from $15 to $54.30 a month.

SURVIVORS

Payments also rise for eligible survivors of a worker who was covered by Social Security but died—before or after reaching 65. They go up Jan. 1, but the increases won't be mailed out until February.

A woman now drawing payments as the widow of a worker will receive an increase of about 7 per cent after Jan. 1.

Monthly payments to the widow of a worker—if she has a child under 18—now range from $45 to $162.50. Payments to her will go up to a minimum of $53 and a maximum of $190.60. What she gets will be based on her husband's earnings, of course, as in the case of all widows.

A widow with two or more children under 18 now gets payments ranging from $50 to $200. They'll go up to a minimum of $53 and to a maximum of $254 a month.

DISABILITY

Now a covered worker—if he's at least 50 and is totally disabled—gets a payment equal to what he would have drawn if he had reached 65 and retired. But his dependents—a wife and children under 18—have been getting no payments.

Under the new law they will: the same amount they would have received if he had reached 65 and retired. The wife of a disabled worker—if there's no child under 18—can get a payment until she has reached 62.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

About 5,600,000 people not otherwise covered by the Social Security program get government help. These are the needy aged, people too blind or disabled to earn a living, and needy children.

The federal government puts up so much money for them, and their state puts up so much. What they get varies from state to state. The variation depends on how much the state puts up.

The maximum government payment—towards the total government-state payment for people in this group—was $60 a month. It now goes up to $65 and takes effect Oct. 1.

In the case of needy children—usually meaning children whose fathers have deserted them or died and whose mothers are needed at home to raise them—the maximum government payment was $32. This now goes down to $30 a month.

It will mean smaller payments for them in states which do not make up for this federal reduction.

A Pilot Fights For Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Peace has many soldiers, and each man way to fight for it in his own way.

"It's not enough to place a wreath on a soldier's grave once a year," said Capt. Charles Dent sobriety. "We have to do more."

The idea that he himself should do more came to Dent, a 41-year-old United Air Lines pilot, nearly two years ago on a night flight from Denver to New York. The Hungarian revolution was then at its peak.

He and his fellow crewmen, all of whom had some experience in World War II, fell to discussing the world's plight.

"It was a clear night," recalled Dent, "and the American cities we flew over seemed terribly vulnerable to an airman."

"Whose fault was it the world was in such turmoil so long after the war? Who was to blame?"

"At first we blamed it on our leaders, then decided that we couldn't reasonably blame it on leadership. For, after all, leadership hadn't had the active support of the people—people like us, sitting in the cockpit of the plane and ready to blame everybody but ourselves."

"We had done nothing personally to save the peace."

Dent didn't let the thought die there. He wanted to do something for world peace. But what? He talked to other airline personnel, visited nine foreign countries on his vacation and talked over the problem with his veterans.

After conversations with 2,500 individuals he reached these conclusions:

"We seem to be pursuing peace along two roads.

"One, the low road, is by building up our strength by increasing our armaments. Everyone contributes to this by paying taxes."

"Two, the high road, is by international negotiation, and creating better understanding between people. But most people will admit that individually they have done nothing on this high road to peace."

How could they do more on the high road to peace?

Dent decided that one way was to make all peoples aware of the United Nations and its first purpose—"to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war."

For a year and a half the pilot has spent all his spare time in is to make a modified U.N. emblem—it has the words "We Believe" beneath a wreathed world—familiar around the globe. He'd like to see this symbol of faith in world unity and peace painted on every commercial airplane in every land—on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

His crusade isn't merely a matter of words with Capt. Dent. Some time ago his company gave him a $5,500 bonus for successfully belly-landing a crippled plane without injury to his passengers. He immediately donated the bonus to the U.S. Committee for the United Nations, which promotes interest in the world organization.

"If the United Nations is going to work," he said, "it has to be known and supported by individuals. We will be doing something worthwhile for peace if we make the U.N. symbol as familiar around the world as the Coca-Cola sign."

They also draw payments because of their age will also get a 7 per cent boost in their checks.

If a worker reaches 65, retires and starts drawing payments but has a wife younger than he and with a child under 18, both the wife and child receive payments until the child reaches 18. Sentenced To Write Essay

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—State Police arrested a 14-year-old girl too young for a driver's license—after a chase at over 100 miles per hour on the new Richmond-Petersburg Expressway. She said she had damaged a fender on her father's car and, fearing punishment, drove off. Juvenile Judge J. H. Around The Rim

More Money For Our Water?

Water supply in relation to land application is getting to be a more frequent topic for the Southwestern area. In recent weeks two experts have taken a close look at the problem, particularly on the High Plains, and they more or less agree on two things.

The first is that the supply of water for the area is definitely limited, both surface and underground. The second is that some consideration ought to be given to make more efficient and profitable use of available water.

R. M. Dixon, member of the Texas Board of Water Engineers, has filed a report as a member of a special commission set up by President Eisenhower. In this he reports that the federal government paid out $1 billion in subsidies for drought relief in the general High Plains area from 1952-56.

It is his thesis that much of the farming patterns on the plains continues from year to year, despite drought and limited water supplies because agriculture is propped up. He says in effect that a lot of wheat and cotton land, particularly in the irrigated belt, would have been retired voluntarily had it not been for price supports.

"Where an economy is generally unstable and requires continuing support from the outside, the reason for the instability should be examined and corrected if possible," he writes. "Funds to correct and strengthen have a beneficial meaning, but welfare funds to repeatedly bail out people who have every reason to expect to face recurring drought periods should be limited to prevention of direct human suffering and not supplied for the maintenance of unstable economic conditions."

From another source comes a study by

W. L. Broadhurst, chief hydrologist for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. He builds a case for water conservation on the predicate that "conservation of underground water is the orderly development and prudent use of this valuable natural resource, based on the knowledge and the economic conditions of the times."

He adds that "if this regions is to retain its recognized economic position we must use all our intelligence and ability, with divine guidance, to reap the full benefits of our water resources." Ninety-eight per cent of all ground water produced on the High Plains goes to irrigation, he finds. To date about 10 per cent of the recoverable reserve of water has been exhausted, but the remaining supply will become progressively more difficult and expensive to produce. There is little hope of recharge from rain because, says Broadhurst, only 4.5 acre feet of runoff water per section finally penetrates to water formations.

All of which leads him to ask this question: "Are we obtaining the greatest dollar value from the water by using such a large percentage for irrigation?" Dixon raised a similar question in noting that the same quantity of water needed to employ one person gainfully in agriculture would employ 60 gainfully in industry. Again, Broadhurst notes that an acre foot of pumped water resulted in additional income of $10.13 when used in the production of grain sorghum and $62.83 for cotton. . . Why should we not encourage the local processing of many agricultural products—that are produced on the Plains and as a result sell our water at a much higher rate?"

You'll hear a lot more on this subject— but slowly—for despite its hard and realistic logic, it is not a popular doctrine.

Panhandling At Plymouth Rock!

PLYMOUTH, Mass.—To begin with, let me say that I have approached Plymouth and Plymouth Rock as one is admonished to approach matrimony— "reverently and in the sight of God."

On this, my first visit, I came as to a holy place, to seek the solace and inspiration of a shrine. And what I have found, to my despair, is a thriving commercial enterprise where a hat is passed among men, women and children gathered around the Rock to pay for the ubiquitous services of a young guide in Pilgrim dress who chants a canned history of the Pilgrim Landing!

Surely the great state of Massachusetts or, for that matter, the rich government of the United States, are not so hard up that they must permit panhandling at Plymouth Rock, or historic holy of holies, in order to pay a guide!

As I stepped under the granite canopy and looked over the guard rail that protects Plymouth Rock from the public, the young man in Pilgrim garb began his spiel. When he had finished five minutes later, he announced, "No provision is made for the payment of your guide other than the free-will offerings of the public. When I pass my hat, I must rely on your generosity to help me through college."

With other tourists, I began fishing for change, but I wondered if they were as shaken and revolted as I. Passing the hat at Plymouth Rock? Inexcusable!

Something else is inexcusable, too. And that is the dirt and litter around the Rock itself. For this, the public is responsible, and it ought to be ashamed. A man or woman does not throw a cigarette butt on the altar of his country any more than he throws it on the altar of his church. Only, unfortunately, he or she does at the Rock.

The gum and candy wrappers and the Crackerjack boxes in the corner of the enclosure are not pretty sights, either. And I could not help but recall that Havelock Ellis once wrote, "The sun and the moon and the stars would have disappeared long ago—had they happened to be within reach of predatory human hands."

Plymouth Rock today is only one-third the size it was in 1620, thanks to the predatory souvenir chiseling of human hands before the Rock was put under guard.

But at least enough of it is left to be a magnet for millions of Americans who should have sufficient respect for it to keep its environs immaculate.

If I was sickened by the panhandling at the Rock itself, I was almost equally appalled at the cost of admission to Mayflower II, three short blocks away. To board this replica of the original Mayflower given us by many British friends, costs 80 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

The gallant little ship is the mecca of hundreds of American families daily. Surely, this living lesson in American history should be free to all school children through at least Junior High. And even 50 cents admission would seem to be a sharp price for adults.

Ten cents admission to see replicas of two of the earliest Pilgrim cabins is not much. But it is necessary to fill the second cabin so full of souvenirs and souvenir counters that it is impossible to get any clear idea of the interior or how the Pilgrims lived!

And, just across the way for a slightly higher admission price, a tourist can examine "Hitler's Official Armored Car!"

O temporal! O momentary!

The Gallup Poll

Public Favors Bid Toward Nasser

PRINCETON, N. J.—President Eisenhower's U.N. bid for Arab friendship comes at a time when a substantial segment of the American population believes the U.S. should try to get on better terms with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

A special Gallup Poll of those adults who are familiar with Nasser's position in the Arab world (an estimated 38 million persons in the U. S. adult population) asked them this question:

"Do you think the United States should or should not try to get on friendly terms with Nasser and the United Arab Republic?"

Here is the vote of this "informed" group:

U. S. GET ON BETTER TERMS WITH NASSER?	Per Cent
Yes, should try	75
No, should not	14
Undecided	11

This special survey also finds widespread support among those familiar with Nasser for a U. S. invitation to Nasser to visit this country.

This second question was asked:

"Do you think the United States should invite Nasser to this country, or not?"

U. S. INVITE NASSER TO THIS COUNTRY?	Per Cent
Yes, should	56
No, should not	30
Undecided	14

A similar type of feeling about inviting Russia's Nikita Khrushchev to the U. S. was recorded in a survey of the general public which was reported recently.

That study found two out of three Americans thinking that a Khrushchev appearance at the U.N. General Assembly meeting would be a good thing, and support from many for an invitation by President Eisenhower to the Soviet leader to visit the White House.

Today's study also finds that basically those persons who want the U.S. to establish better relations with Nasser take the viewpoint that friendship with any and all nations is desirable.

But specifically in the case of Nasser they believe that such a move would go far toward eliminating the present tension in the Mideast and help to avoid war.

Many persons also cited the great influence that Nasser has with all the Arab nations, or as one person put it: "He's a powerful symbol to the Arabs."

In his speech before the U.N. General Assembly recently, Mr. Eisenhower stated the position of the U. S. "unmistakably" as holding that "the peoples of the Arab nations of the Near East clearly possess the right of determining and expressing their own destiny."

ELM GROVE, Wis. (AP)—The test run of the Elm Grove Police Department's new Squad car was its last.

The new station wagon was delivered to the department in the afternoon. In the evening, a patrolman tried it out on a new highway under construction. The vehicle hit a 12-inch drop, the tires blew out and the dragging gas tank burst into flames.

The officer escaped serious injury but the squad car was destroyed by fire.

Modified Fashion

Modified trapeze styling is chosen for a coat in skipper navy wool broadcloth made by Mary Ann of California. The yoke detail ends just under the bust line in back and front. The extended shoulder line and deep armholes make it comfortable to wear over many sweaters, suits or dresses. The double breasted closing, notched collar and welt pockets give a smartly tailored look to the front. Deep inverted pleat from the yoke back lends itself to the trapeze shaping.

Miss Affleck Complimented

Miscellaneous gifts were presented to Rebecca Affleck Tuesday evening when she was named honoree at a shower given in the home of Mrs. R. D. McMillan. Miss Affleck is the daughter of Mrs. Bert Affleck, 1001 Howell, and the late Mr. Affleck. She is to be married Saturday in the First Methodist Church to Richard Cook of Shamrock.

One of the hostesses, Mrs. Royce Satterwhite, greeted guests and presented the bride-elect, her mother, and her grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Affleck of Childress.

At the guest register was Mary Ella Bigony of Lubbock. Serving at the tea table was the sister-in-law of the honoree, Mrs. Bert Affleck Jr.

White satin with an overlay of white net was used as a background for the aqua and white of the decorations. A nosegay in the chosen colors lay between candlesticks entwined with stephanotis and holding aqua tapers. Accessories were crystal.

Other hostesses joining Mrs. McMillan and Mrs. Satterwhite were Mrs. Anna Vastine, Mrs. Frank Arner, Mrs. E. C. Howard, Mrs. H. V. Crocker, Mrs. D. F. Bigony, Mrs. C. A. Smauley and Lucille Hester.

They included 56 on the guest list.

Circles Plan Breakfast

Meeting at Wesley Methodist Church Tuesday morning, members of the Martha Foster Circle were alerted to the possibility of a come-as-you-are breakfast being given during the next two weeks. The affair will include all the women of the church.

Tuesday's program was under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Talafuse and was concerned with the work of missions.

Discussing the need for missions in America as well as in distant lands, Mrs. Harral Steele and Mrs. Bert Smith told of the work of missionaries in the rural and urban areas of this country. They also described the work and experiences of missionaries in Korea.

Members will gather next Tuesday at the church at 9:30 a.m. for study, it was announced.

LALLA BAIRD CIRCLE

Mission study was given for members of the Lalla Baird Circle when they met Monday morning at the church. The same topic was the day's lesson, with Mrs. J. W. Bryant joining Mrs. Steele in the discussion.

Mrs. Royce Womack brought the devotion. Time for the next meeting, which will be on Tuesday, was changed to 3 p.m. for this group. Mrs. Lovelace, 204 Carl, will be hostess. Six were present at the morning session.

Westbrook Folks Are On Vacations

Rebekahs View Award; Another Has School

Members of the two Rebekah Lodges had varied programs when they met Tuesday evening. One group viewed a supply of regalia which had been presented to the lodge; the other lodge was given a school of instruction.

JOHN A. KEE

On display Tuesday evening at a meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge in Carpenters Hall was the regalia which has been awarded to the group. The prize was given for the work done in publicity and subscriptions.

Mrs. W. E. Parker, noble grand, who has been ill, was able to preside for the meeting, during which reports were made on the visits to the sick.

Elected to membership was Mrs. Sallie Womble, who came to the lodge by transfer from Midwest, Okla.

Mrs. Jones Lamar told the group of the needs at the Home for the Aged at Emis and at the Children's Home in Corsicana. Included on the list were steam tables, office furniture, ice makers, elevator chair, swimming pool, dumb waiter and lobby furniture. The Pilgrimage Fund will be used to purchase some of the articles.

The local members will give the proceeds from the bake sale held Saturday to the fund, it was announced.

BIG SPRING REBEKAHS

Mrs. Henry Roger, financial secretary of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge, was presented a certificate of merit for a perfect financial report Tuesday evening. The presentation, at the meeting of the lodge held in the IOOF Hall, was made by Mrs. K. J. Neilson, lodge deputy.

Mrs. Neilson also held a school of instruction. Certificates of perfection were given to Mrs. Gordon Gross, Mrs. C. D. Herring Sr. and Mrs. C. D. Herring Jr.

Mrs. Don Atwood, noble grand, presided for the meeting to hear reports from the 26 attending on the visits made to ill members.

An application for membership was read to the assembly.

Coahoma Families Honored At Picnic

COAHOMA — The Coahoma employees and their families of the Magnolia Pipeline Company were entertained Monday evening in the home of the chief engineer and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mayfield. A picnic supper was served in the back yard; and pictures were made of the group.

Games and visiting furnished the entertainment. The affair was given in honor of four families who are to be leaving Coahoma, due to transfers. These include Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hare and son, Jimmy, who will be moving to Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rogers and children to Oden, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moore and family and Mr. J. Oxyey to Midland.

Frank Barber has returned to her home here following a three week visit in Terrell with her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Hall.

Use Precautions To Avoid Accidents

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Home accidents in the United States claim some 8,000 people killed each year.

O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois, says it is important to build as much safety into your home as possible.

A few safety tips he suggests include — putting controls high enough on overhead garage doors to keep small children from reaching them. Flashing around chimneys and vent pipes should be provided, and fireplaces should be equipped with damper and wind shield.

Light switches should be placed out of reach of bathtubs and showers. Closet locks or bolts should be located above the reach of small children.

Family Night Party

The St. Lawrence 4-H Club recently held its second family night of the year. About 70 attended the lawn party, given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoelscher. Domino games were the diversion for the adults, while the children were entertained by members of the 4-H Club.

Baptist Group Hears RS Program Tuesday

A Royal Service program was presented for members of the Baptist Temple WMS Tuesday morning at the church. It was directed by the Evan Holmes Circle, with Mrs. Harold Rasberry reading the calendar of missionary birthdays.

A special prayer was offered by Mrs. Sam Bennett for those listed on the calendar.

Mrs. Rasberry disclosed plans for the community mission day, which is slated for Sept. 23. Women will gather at the church and will assist in taking a church census.

Announcement was made of the resignation of Mrs. J. B. Riddle as publicity chairman; she is giving up her duties because of going to work. Mrs. Sam Arrington, because of health reasons, resigned her directorship of the Sunbeams. Planned for the group next Tuesday is the study of a mission book, with each circle being responsible for the teaching of a chapter. Mrs. Rasberry made the assignments for the meeting, which will be at 9:30 a.m. at the church.

Taking part in the program on Tuesday were Mrs. W. B. Jackson, who directed the discussions, Mrs. C. G. Lovell, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Guy Simmons. Prayers were offered by Mrs. B. F. Mabe, Mrs. A. R. Posey and Mrs. Lorraine Sims; sixteen attended the meeting.

Conservation Reserve Bank Sign-Up Slated

STANTON—George Glynn, county office manager of the ASC, has announced that farmers may soon start signing for the Conservation Reserve Bank.

Payment rate this year will amount to an average of $10 an acre, but will be based on the productivity of the soil. Land owners will be notified at the proper time. Glynn also said the office was out of acreage reserve or cotton soil bank funds. About two-thirds of the farmers have already been paid for this practice, and the others will receive their money as soon as it becomes available.

Rickover Due To Get 3 Stars

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's top atomic expert, is going to be promoted to vice admiral.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates said Rickover, 58, would get his three stars as soon as certain procedures can be worked out.

It marks the second time that a Navy secretary has taken steps to win a promotion for Rickover, who has incurred the disfavor of some top Navy officers because of his disregard of protocol in pushing the atomic submarine program.

Five years ago, after he had twice been passed over by Navy selection boards, then Secretary Robert Anderson stepped in to gain Rickover a promotion from captain to rear admiral.

A number of members of Congress recently voiced concern that Rickover might not be promoted to vice admiral. Similar expressions were heard from Congress in 1953 when his promotion then was in doubt.

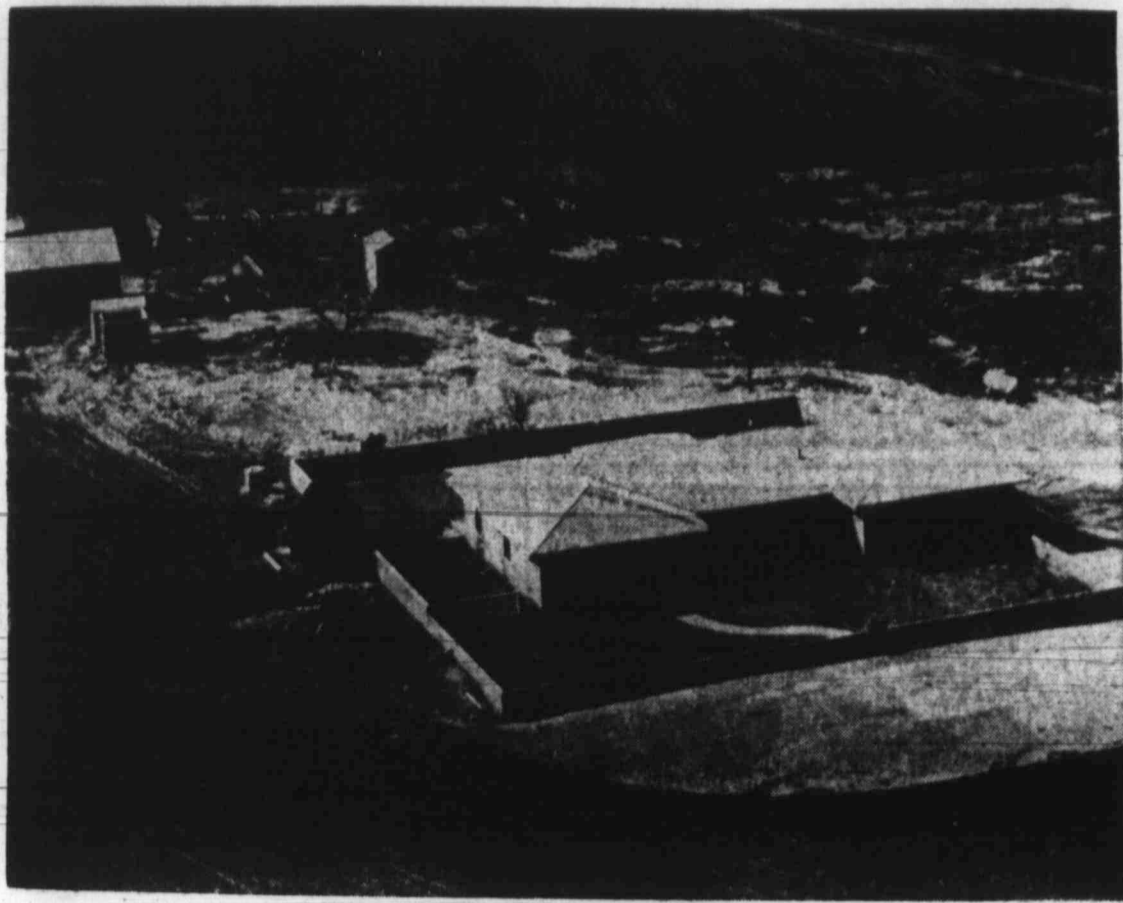

A storm also erupted recently when Rickover was left out of a White House ceremony honoring the atomic submarine Nautilus' trip under the North Pole. Gates acknowledged Rickover had been overlooked and accepted blame.

Stanton Student In A&M Elected To Agronomy Office

COLLEGE STATION—Bobby Carlisle of Stanton has been elected vice president of Region 4 of the student division of the American Society of Agronomy.

The senior agronomy student at Texas A&M College was elected at the student section of the national convention of the Society at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. He was also appointed chairman of the national soil judging committee.

Carlisle and his wife, the former Linda Cathy of Stanton, are making their home at 611 Highlands, College Station. They have one son, Carl, 19 months.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. LEROY ECHOLS
Photographer got rear view of big residence

Leroy Echols' Land Has Been In Family For Over 65 Years

The Mystery Farm of last week is owned by Leroy Echols, who lives one mile south and one-half mile west of Coahoma on a farm that has been under the Echols' name for the past 67 years.

Echols, his wife, and their 13-year-old daughter, Judy, are the only remaining members of the family of six that once lived on the old place. Three others, a son and two daughters, have moved away with families of their own, but still live in Howard County.

Echols' father, the late A. L. Echols, filed claim on land back in 1891 and with the aid of his four sons, cleared and cultivated the pastures for farming. Still in his youth, Leroy met Miss Amy O'Daniel, daughter of pioneer M. H. O'Daniel, and in 1921 they were married.

They built themselves a home that eventually was to be situated smack in the right-of-way for the U. S. 80 Freeway. Little they realized during its construction in 1925 that it would, 29 years later, be on grounds where an underpass of a big freeway would stand.

But in 1954 the new freeway disrupted that homestead.

Highway 80's right-of-way passed right through what had been their home. Their house was moved out to the farm itself, remodelled and made a new home. The house was set down in the immediate vicinity of Leroy's birthplace—they live within 100 yards of where he was born, said Mrs. Echols.

In the 37 years during which Amy and Leroy Echols have been married, he has, among other civic duties, served on the Coahoma school board. Also, he was a member of the college board for Howard County Junior College during its infant years, serving in that capacity from 1947 to 1952.

Echols departed the farm briefly for a stint in the mercantile business in Coahoma.

"There really wasn't much of Coahoma . . . just several houses along the road," says Mrs. Echols. The mercantile enterprise was abandoned in 1930, six years after its beginning and shortly before the depression really set in. The farm, they thought, was the best place after all, and they've lived there since.

Their 1954 remodeled home is a six-room structure with two baths and a double garage. Its exterior is an asphalt composition shingle covering, and the building is surrounded by concrete block fence. (The aerial photograph shows the rear view of the house.)

Leroy does not do much farming himself, said Mrs. Echols. Rather, he supervises the majority of the farming done on the dryland place. They raise cotton and milo and also have ranching interests in Midland County. They lease the O'Daniel Ranch in that county, four sections of land.

Mrs. Echols was born in Howard County in 1903; Mr. Echols here in 1896. A daughter, Mrs. Amy Lee Purcell lives in Big Spring with her carpenter husband. A son, W. Ray Echols, resides in Coahoma where he farms and also works in the Reef Fields. Another daughter, Janie Phinney, lives in Coahoma. Her husband is an employe of Cosden. The Echols have seven grandchildren.

THE STATE NATIONAL BANK MYSTERY FARM FEATURE

Can You Identify The MYSTERY FARM

This aerial photo is Number 16 in a series taken in the Big Spring area for THE STATE NATIONAL BANK.

Nobody knows whose farms the aerial photographer snapped . . . so it's up to the readers of The Herald to identify the "Mystery Farm."

Call AM 4-4331—The Herald

The first person to correctly identify the "Mystery Farm" will receive two theatre tickets, compliments of The State National Bank . . . the name will be published next week . . . so if you know whose farm this is and where it's located, come by, phone or write The Big Spring Herald.

If the owners can identify this farm, go to The Herald office, make your identification and give them the story of your place. Then come to The State National Bank for a beautiful mounted photograph of your farm absolutely FREE.

WHO HAS THE ANSWERS?

When they need a lift on their homework, children usually turn to Dad. In their book, he knows the answers! With equal confidence they count on Dad (with an able assist from Mom) to see to it that they get the college education that will give them a good start on the road to success. Dad has the answer to this problem, too: His own systematic savings at the State National plus our generous rate of return will add up to "what it takes!"

Last week's "Mystery Farm" is owned by Leroy Echols. It is located near Coahoma. Gary O'Dell, 1408 Tucson, was the first to identify the farm.

DEAR ABBY

ALL IN FUN!
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I think my husband is stuck on a pretty strawberry blonde where we take our dry cleaning. He gathers up all the dirty clothes he can find whether they are dirty enough to be cleaned or not, as an excuse to go to the cleaners and see this redhead. She's cute and has a nice figure, but I know she is encouraging him only because it's good for business. She acts cute and flirty with all the men customers. My husband isn't bad looking but he needs some brains to go with it. How can I convince him that he's making a fool of himself, or should I change cleaners?

Challengers For Crown

ALL 7 TEAMS ON DECK FOR WEBB TOURNEY

All seven teams eligible for the Air Training Command's Southern District softball tournament are on deck. Lt. Hank Nottingham, Webb AFB's Athletic Officer and director of the meet, which begins on Webb's diamond, had expressed doubt that at least one of the teams could not make it here but all were present for the banquet honoring the clubs held at Webb last night.

Col. Kyle Riddle, commander of Webb, attended the banquet last night and officially greeted the incoming teams. Eligible teams are Goodfellow Field, San Angelo; Harlingen AFB, Harlingen; Lackland Field, San Antonio; Laredo AFB, Laredo; James Connally AFB, Waco; Randolph Field, San Antonio; and, of course, Webb.

The double elimination meet begins at 3 p.m. today and continues through Sunday, Aug. 24. Three games are scheduled today. In addition to the 3 p.m. bout, there'll be another at 8 p.m. and a third one at 10 p.m.

First round pairings will pit Harlingen against Randolph at 3 p.m.; Webb against James Connally at 8 p.m.; and Lackland against Laredo at 10 p.m. today.

Goodfellow drew the first round bye and plays the winner of the Harlingen-Randolph contest tomorrow.

Umpires who will work the series include Ernest Q. (Dutch) Holland, Henry Meadors, Charles Thompson and Jim Zapp. Robert Elsberry will serve as official scorer.

A Sportsmanship award will be awarded to one of the seven teams at the end of the tournament. A Most Valuable Player award will also be given.

Lackland brings the best record here and will be the favorite. The San Antonio club has won 22 of 40 starts. The Lackland manager is Jerry Carter of Alamogordo, N. M., Lackland's ace hurler is Benny Karrass, who had won 21 decisions while losing only six. Karrass' home is in Abilene.

One of Lackland's leading hitters is Ken Boyce, who is clipping the ball at a .411 pace. He formerly played professional baseball in the Georgia State league.

Harlingen will lean on such standouts as Bobby Bengue, who played four years of semi-pro baseball in the Red River Valley league; Rober Brailey, Charles Ludy, Etrain Melenz and Evaristo Contreras.

James Kelly, Lylal Frank Jr., Fred Holder, Billy Lawson and Julian Barton are among the top hands for James Connally while Goodfellow depends upon such tried and true performers as Dick Smith, Bill Coates, Jim Davis, Henry Wright, Bobby Wason and Francisco Sosa - O'Mahoney. George Compton is the Goodfellow manager.

Webb may offer the chief threat to Lackland, Jackie Long is the pitching ace of the Dusters. James Fall will also lend mound assistance. Willie Knowles, Charles Bolton, Rod Mackey and Jack Paseo are among the Webb standouts.

The champion and the runnerup of the tournament both become eligible to play in the ATC's tournament, scheduled for Goodfellow Field in San Angelo Aug. 29-Sept. 2.

The public is invited to watch all the games. Plenty of bleacher seats are available.

Webb will send a baseball team to Randolph AFB in San Antonio late this month to compete in the Training Command tournament, where members of the Southern District will contend for spots in a later and bigger meet. The Southern District baseball meet is Aug. 26-30. At the San Antonio tourney, Webb may meet such teams as Goodfellow AFB of San Angelo, Harlingen of Laredo, Lackland of San Antonio, Randolph, or James Connally of Waco. Several of the teams there have representatives in the softball tournament beginning at Webb this week. Actually the two tourneys are on the same level, both in the Southern District.

As the softball team will advance to another level of competition (Goodfellow at San Angelo), so will the baseball team. Winner and runner-up in the baseball meet will remain at Randolph for the complete ATC tournament where all district winners will play.

The Northern District is having its playoffs at Sheppard AFB in Wichita Falls, and the Eastern District is at Moody AFB, Georgia. There is no western division.

The district play begins Aug. 26; all-ATC play starts Sept. 4 and ends the 8th.

Teams will gather at a banquet before competition begins Aug. 26 and pairings will be decided there. Lt. Tom Morris is coach and manager of the Webb contingent.

Round-by-round action of the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris Heavyweight championship fight, which took place in Los Angeles Monday evening, will be screened for the benefit of local audiences at the Ritz Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Patterson won the battle with a technical knockout in the 12th round to retain his title. Harris was knocked down four times during the scrap.

The fight film will be offered in addition to the regular feature.

Oklahomans Choice In Cage Classic

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma's favored high school all-star basketball team will try to make it three straight over their Texas rivals in the Oil Bowl Basketball game tonight.

Champ's Purse Was $310,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is en route by train today to his home in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., about $311,000 richer because of his 12th-round knockout of Roy Harris.

Harris flies home to Cut and Shoot, Tex., Saturday for a big reception. He's $100,000 richer despite his many cuts and bruises.

The $400,000-plus take for the principals in Monday night's fight was made possible by closed-circuit television. Harris got a flat $100,000 guarantee, but Patterson's cut in an involved contract was based not only on attendance at Wrigley Field but on receipts from theater television and motion pictures. The movies will be shown starting today.

Before leaving for the East, Manager Gus D'Amato said the champion wants to defend his title again this year. Several names cropped up, but it seemed likely that the Cuban, Nino Valdes would get the invitation, possibly in Madison Square Garden in November.

D'Amato also said Patterson is committed to a match next June in Colorado Springs to help Colorado celebrate its centennial.

Harris denied he might consider retiring. He said he is just getting started in the game and intends to stay with it. He and his wife, Jean, will spend three days sightseeing here and then catch a plane for Houston.

Al Lopez Exercises Whip Hand Over NY

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's no wonder Al Lopez is the only manager in the American League who isn't afraid of the New York Yankees. Year after year he keeps saying "the champs can be had, and year after year he gets around to proving it—but with too little, or too late."

Last year Lopez had his Chicago White Sox right on the Yankees' tail before they folded because his pitching wasn't quite deep enough. This year, he had the pitching, but his pitcher did not have it—until too late.

The Sox didn't get a move on until the Yankees had built their biggest lead of the season, 17 games Aug. 2.

The next day, the Sox swept a double-header from the Yankees behind Dick Donovan and Ray Moore. The Sox won 14 of 17 while the Yankees have lost 11 of 18. But that Yankee lead still is comfortable.

Lopez, the only AL skipper to beat Casey Stengel since he took charge of the Yankees in 1949, saw his Sox build their longest winning streak of the year last night six games. Dick Donovan's four-hitter beat Boston 7-1.

Cleveland handed the Yankees their fourth consecutive defeat 8-6. Their lead was cut to 10½ games.

Washington smacked Detroit 3-1 and Kansas City swept a twin-night pair at Baltimore 4-1 and 6-4.

Donovan, who has won seven of eight for the White Sox since the All-Star Game, didn't walk a man and struck out five for a 10-11 record. Jackie Jensen had half the Red Sox's hits, a second-inning single and a fifth-inning home run, his 33rd, Frank Sullivan 9-7.

was the loser. Jim Rivera hit a two-run homer for Chicago in the seventh.

The Indians handed the Yankees three runs on three errors in a hitless fourth inning, then took it on Rocky Colavito's tying, three-run 28th homer in the fifth and Vic Wertz's winning two-run homer in the seventh. Johnny Kucks (8-6) was the loser. Don Mossi (7-6) won it in relief.

Roy Slivers drove in the first two Washington runs. He hit a solo home run — his 34th, one behind AL leader Mickey Mantle of New York — in the first inning off Joser Herb Moford (5-5).

Camilo Pascual won it for 7-7 record as Dick Hyde made his 17th save with a no-hit, two-inning mopup.

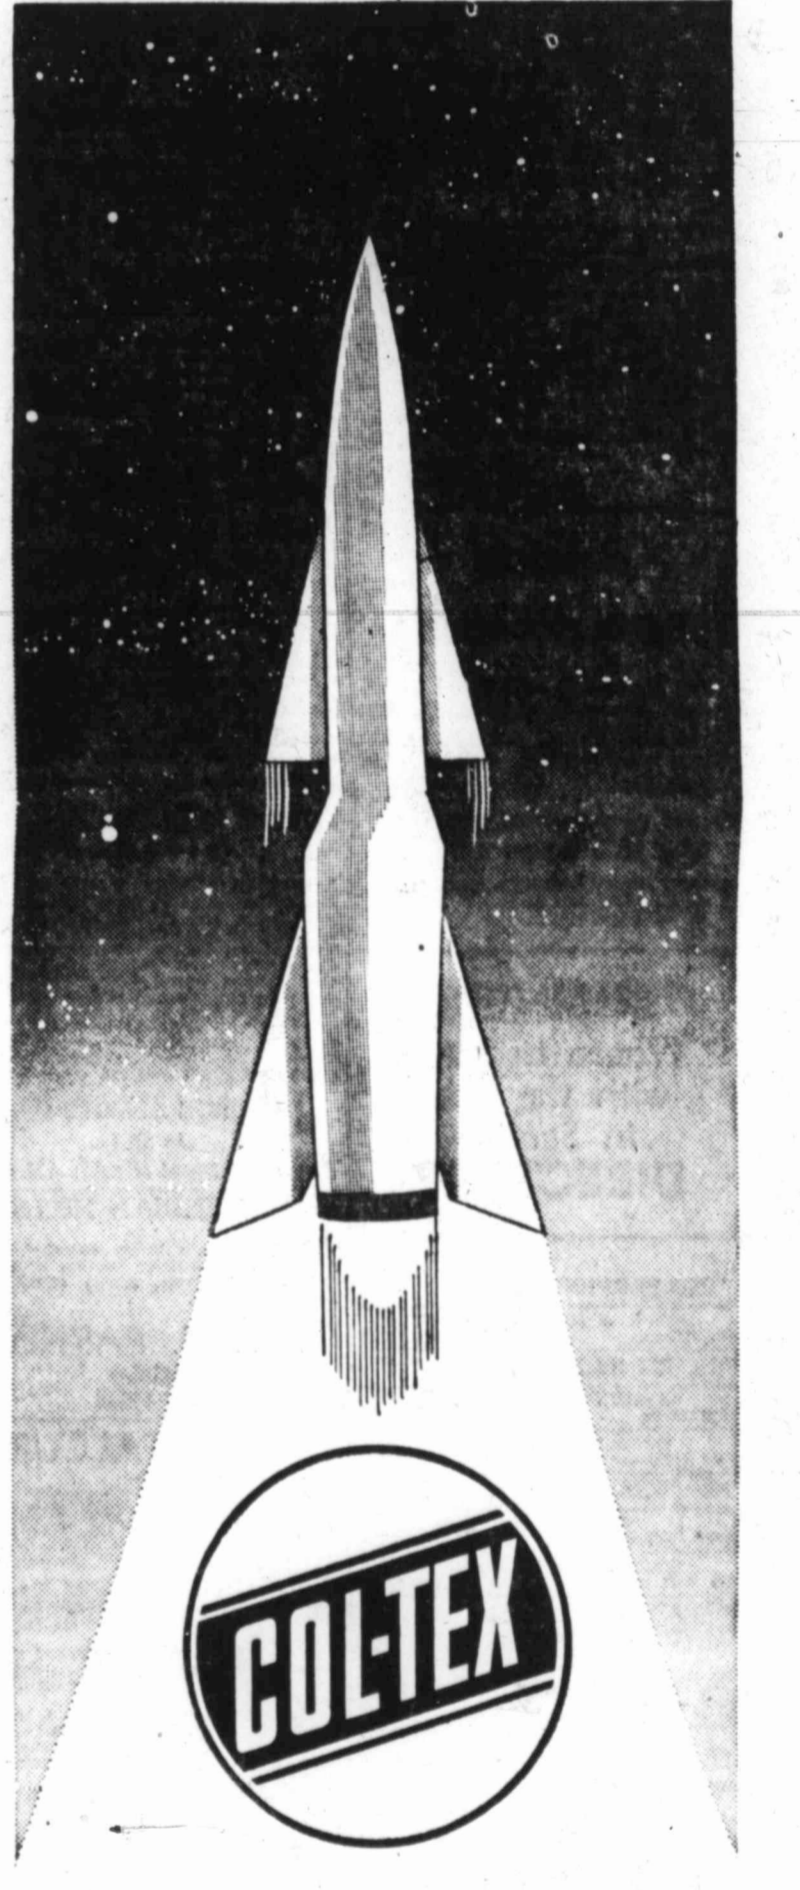

The A's didn't have a hit for five innings off Milt Pappas in the opener, then scored three runs in the sixth on four singles as Ned Garver won his 11th with a five-hitter. A three-run fourth won the nightcap as the A's collected 15 hits and Murry Dickson won his ninth with relief help.

Gene Wooding drove in three runs for the Birds, two with his 12th homer—Arnie Portocarrero (12-3) lost it.

Trinity Is Booked

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M and Trinity will resume football—relations next year, A&M Athletic Director Jim Myers said today.

The two schools meet Oct. 1, 1960, in their first game since 1951 when the Aggies won 53-14.

Yes... power IS up in Col-Tex gasolines—both regular and ethyl. This new power is the result of greatly improved refinery methods and equipment... improvements which give you more mileage for your money.

Next tankful, switch to the new "power up" Col-Tex—the gasoline that means good going.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

You can't blame Mrs. Royce Cooper of Big Spring for pulling for Oklahoma in the upcoming Oil Bowl football game at Wichita Falls. Her brother, George Aiken of Blackwell, a quarterback, will be performing for the Sooners in the star-spangled game.

George recently played a major role in the North's 16-8 victory over the South in Oklahoma's annual all-star classic. He counted one of the touchdowns for the North.

Young Aiken is bound for the University of Tulsa.

No doubt, you're interested in the National TV football schedule for this fall, if you follow the pigskin sport at all.

Perhaps it'd be a good idea to clip this for future reference. Here's the lineup of games, as arranged by the NCAA:

- Sept. 20—(East)—Vanderbilt vs. Missouri.
- (West)—Oklahoma State at Denver.
- Sept. 27—Auburn vs. Tennessee at Birmingham.
- Oct. 4—Washington State at California.
- Nov. 1—Big Ten game to be selected.
- Nov. 20—Notre Dame at Iowa.
- Nov. 27—Texas A & M at Texas.
- Nov. 29—Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia.
- Dec. 6—(East)—Holy Cross at Boston College.
- (West)—Oregon at Miami, Fla.

Oct. 18, Oct. 25, Nov. 8 and Nov. 15 have been set aside for regional telecasts.

Southwest conference games which will be regionally telecast include:

Baylor vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock, Oct. 18; Georgia Tech vs. SMU at Dallas, Oct. 25; Army vs. Rice at Houston, Nov. 8; and Texas vs. TCU at Fort Worth, Nov. 15.

Had Manuel's Tacos of Odessa won the recent ISL softball tournament at Odessa, the management had planned to take three or four Cosden players to the International tournament in California with them.

It is estimated the San Francisco Giants took a half million dollar loss in the announcement that their new stadium will not be ready until the middle of the 1959 baseball season.

When Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State football mentor, was congratulated recently by Sen. O'Mahoney on the success of the Spartans against Notre Dame, Duffy replied:

"There could be a reason. We seem to have more Catholics on our team than Notre Dame does."

One highly publicized defensive star in the recent Greenbelt football game at Childress (in which Big Spring's Danny Birdwell was chosen as the outstanding lineman) made only one tackle during the entire game.

Red Lewis, the HCJC track mentor, had to pass up the recent coaching school at Houston. His wife has been quite ill.

The Odessa Bronchos play one of the toughest football schedules in the state this fall.

The Red Hosses, who could be a power in the District 2-AAAA race again this year, meet such clubs as Pasadena, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi Ray, Amarillo High, Tom S. Lubbock and Wichita Falls, as well as four conference opponents (Abilene, San Angelo, Midland and Big Spring).

Another well-known linkster who may be back is Binky Mitchella, a regular on the Texas A&M team. Mitchella met Thompson in the finals of the 1956 tournament and has stated the local tournament is one of his favorites. Binky spent part of the summer here in ROTC work at Webb AFB.

Lames is due to be well represented in the meet. It usually sends down 10 to 12 players, including such well known linksters

Greeting Visitors

Col. Kyle Riddle (standing), commanding officer of Webb AFB, extends the official greeting to visiting players in the ATC's Southern District softball tournament during a banquet held at the base last night. Also pictured is Col. Donald R. Keith.

Zora Folley Wants Shot At Patterson

CHANDLER, Ariz. (AP) — "I deserve the chance to fight Patterson, think I can lick him any time, any place."

So says No. 1 heavyweight contender Zora Folley, who figures he's been marking time long enough.

Folley's manager, millionaire Phoenix sportsman Bill Swift, echoes the refrain.

Why, asks Swift, has the Chandler fighter been sidetracked in favor of opponents of lesser standing?

Champion Floyd Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato has said: "Patterson won't fight anybody who's fought for the IBC."

The International Boxing Club is a big bogey to D'Amato. And Folley has fought under IBC auspices.

Folley, at 26 has met most of the top heavies. He and his manager feel this is the crossroads. One route leads to the title, the other to oblivion.

Folley watched the champ score a bloody, 12th round knockout over Roy Harris in Los Angeles Monday night and came away convinced that he can defeat Patterson.

Report AFL-CIO To Oust Hutcheson

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — Carpenters Union President Maurice A. Hutcheson, under fire on corruption charges and cited for contempt of Congress, is reported due for ouster from the AFL-CIO hierarchy.

Top AFL-CIO sources predicted today Hutcheson will be asked to supply an explanation of his refusal to answer U. S. Senate Rackets Committee questions about expenditures of union funds.

Fellow labor chiefs said privately they expect Hutcheson to refuse the demand and probably resign as a member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, the federation's top policy-making group.

The council members already have figured on Hutcheson's resignation in selecting Painters Union President Lawrence M. Raftery, Lafayette, Ind., to the council succeeding James Petrillo, resigned Musicians Union president.

There is an informal understanding that when and if Hutcheson, a building trades leader, leaves the council his successor will be from the building trades union group, as was Petrillo.

It was learned, moreover, that the AFL-CIO plans to launch labor's own investigation of Hutcheson's Carpenters Union to determine whether the union should be ousted from the federation for corruption.

Hutcheson has been charged in Senate hearings with mishandling union funds in paying for a book lauding him and his father, the late William (Big Bill) Hutcheson, and with profiting in Indiana's road right-of-way deals.

Soviets Due To Renew Demand Against A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Soviet demands for an immediate ban on nuclear tests appeared likely today as a swift followup to tentative East-West agreement on a technical system to detect cheating.

The Soviet-Western agreement on means of setting up a global monitoring network came in seven weeks of secret talks now drawing to an end in Geneva.

There was no effort by the 16 scientists from four Western and four Communist nations to reach any political decisions on whether there should be an agreement to halt nuclear testing.

However, American officials said the Kremlin can be expected to point to the Geneva agreement as committing the United States to end tests.

This interpretation has been rejected in advance by President Eisenhower.

The American position, as set forth in the past by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, is that any agreement by East-West scientists might lead to suspension of testing, but that the United States refused to be bound in advance.

Pending a final report by scientists of both sides, State Department officials cautiously refused to appraise the significance of the Geneva agreement on a possible control system. Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Hunt, Called By Grand Jury, Is In Hospital

DALLAS (AP)—Multi-millionaire oilman H. L. Hunt, under subpoena to appear before a federal grand jury investigating a defunct gambling syndicate, was scheduled to undergo surgery for a badly infected throat today.

Hunt, reported to be one of the nation's wealthiest men, was called to appear before the grand jury in Indianapolis, Ind., tomorrow.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Don Tabbert told the Dallas Morning News by telephone from Indianapolis he received affidavits signed by Dr. John Jenkins and Dr. Marvin Shepard of Dallas advising of Hunt's condition and that he would be unable to appear.

He said he would present the affidavits to the grand jury and added:

"We can't very well take a man out of the hospital and make him testify."

Hunt is one of 100 witnesses subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in Indianapolis. It is investigating operations of a gambling syndicate which was broken up last November after a raid on its Terre Haute, Ind., headquarters. Tax evasion indictments are sought against eight operators of the syndicate.

Fund-Raising Effort

AUSTIN (AP)—A statewide fund raising campaign to aid Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation has been announced by the State AFL-CIO. President Jerry Hollman said yesterday costs of the campaign among union jobholders would be paid by the unions and all money will go to the rehabilitation center.

Farm Programs Need Expansion

Farm Bureau representatives from District VI in West Texas met in a morning and afternoon session at the Settles Hotel yesterday to discuss policy making procedures for the county and state meetings scheduled later in the year.

Meeting with them were representatives from agricultural agencies, including the Texas Extension Service and Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, Leon M. Lane, state field representative for the Farm Bureau, presided at the afternoon session.

One of the main speakers was John Hutcheson, director of the Texas Extension Service. He spoke on the need for an expanded program in the extension service and the experiment stations.

Several laws now pending in the Legislature were discussed by the delegates, although the group did not go on record as favoring or disapproving them. They did, however, express their approval of holding county commissioner precincts to their present status.

Other subjects discussed were the proposal to re-allocate state school funds, the farm-to-market road program, the expansion of the livestock health program, and the proposal for the state Legislature to meet annually.

C. H. DeVaney, vice president of the Texas Farm Bureau, presided at the morning session. Other Farm Bureau officials who took part in the program were Ed Cumby, area field representative, and Gene Leach, legislative director of the organization.
