New Method Converts Heat Directly Into Electricity

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new method by which heat can be converted directly into electricity was described today by Westinghouse scientists. It uses a little-known class of materials resembling the ceramics used in china dinnerware. Reacting to heat, they produce electricity simply, silently and without moving parts. Among first possible uses seen for the new materials is in vastly improving transmission of radio signals from earth satellites. They may enable satellite radios to transmit louder and more numerous signals and do so for six months or more compared with about a couple of weeks when employing conventional storage batteries. Envisioned in another year or so are emergency power units for hospitals and for residential oil burners, washing machines and refrigerators during a conventional power failure. For the more distant future the scientists forecast that units employing the new materials would supplement, but not replace, conventional methods of providing large-scale power. The Westinghouse researchers

Water Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)—The Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority's application for a 30,000-acre-foot water permit will be heard here Oct. 6, the Board of Water Engineers said yesterday. The authority seeks to take the water from its 100,000-acre-foot reservoir. It will construct near Dudley on the Salt Fork of the Red River in Donley County.

stressed that the work still is in its early stages "but the day of useful, reasonably large thermoelectric power through these and other thermoelectric materials almost certainly lies in the not too distant future." The new substances could utilize heat from such varied sources as coal, atomic reactors, liquid bottled gas and radioactive isotopes, the scientists said.

Storm Lashes Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Squalls on the fringe of tropical storm Ella roughed south Florida today with winds in gusts of 40 to 50 m.p.h. Located 75 miles south of Havana, Cuba, Ella whirled 55 m.p.h. squally winds as it moved with an ill-defined center toward the northwest. It was moving along at 13 m.p.h. Reduced from hurricane force that took five lives in Cuba, Ella was expected to move toward the northwest at a faster clip today and build up over the southeast Gulf of Mexico. Gale warnings were flying south of the Greater Miami area and the Florida Keys. Small craft warnings were aloft on both Florida coasts northward to Palm Beach and Fort Myers. The Weather Bureau said gusts up to 33 m.p.h. whistled through Miami today. Widespread reports of broken limbs and other slight damage were received. Key West reported gusts estimated at 50 m.p.h. during a squall Tuesday. No damage was reported. Havana reports said a woman and four children were drowned in the town of Bayamo, 60 miles northwest of Santiago. They were trapped in the waters of a flood-swollen river.

52 Contestants Start Race For 'Miss America'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Fifty-two of the fairest girls in the nation begin competing today to determine which is the fairest of them all. The girls, all entered in the Miss America Pageant, will spend today, tomorrow and Friday in preliminary evening gown, swimsuit and talent contests. The new Miss America will be crowned Saturday before a nationwide television audience. The public had a chance to do its own judging last night when a glittering parade of the contestants rolled down this city's famed boardwalk to formally open the pageant. Thousands of spectators sat on bleachers, in rolling chairs and stood on peach baskets as 39 illuminated floats passed by to the music of 24 bands. Fifteen contestants rode on specially built floats while the rest sat atop custom-made convertibles. Heading the paraders was singer Patti Page, who acted as grand marshal, followed by the current Miss America, Marilyn Van Derbur of Denver, Colo., and her court of honor. The first contestant in line was Miss Alabama, raven-haired Lee Thornberry of Birmingham. The others from 45 states, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, New York City, Chicago and Washington, D.C., followed in alphabetical order. The Pennsylvania float, with Rosalie E. Samley of Bethlehem aboard, won first prize for floats from visiting states. It was sponsored by the service clubs and Chamber of Commerce of Bethlehem and had as its motif "Bethlehem, the Christmas City." Runners-up were Georgia, Alaska, Arkansas and Ohio.

Weatherman Keeps Eye On Storm
By The Associated Press
Weather Bureau men in Texas cocked a wary eye Wednesday on tropical storm Ella, pushing northward in the Gulf of Mexico from Cuba. Ella lost a lot of punch crossing Cuba but was expected to regain intensity as it moved across water. Highest winds were estimated at 55 miles an hour with gale winds extending 250 miles to the north and east. Shipping in the eastern Gulf of Mexico was alerted. Skies were mostly clear over Texas Wednesday with only a few scattered showers forecast. Van Horn had a trace Tuesday and other showers were reported along the coast. Highs Tuesday ranged from 89 degrees at Galveston and Houston to 107 at Presidio. Dawn readings Wednesday varied from 62 at Junction to 82 at Galveston.

Spacemen May Be Catnappers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospective space navigators may have to learn to take their sleep in "catnaps" ranging from a half minute to five minutes. That's the word from Dr. Saul Sells of Texas Christian University, who formerly was professor of medical psychology at the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field. "If a man is required to remain alert for extended periods without sleep in a space ship," he told a reporter, "he must learn beforehand how to catnap—that is, how to adapt to a sleeping-waking cycle of very brief, on-and-off periods of sleeping. Instead of getting his eight hours sleep at one stretch, the idea would be to take it in naps ranging from a half minute to five minutes extending over a 24-hour period." He said research would have to be carried on to determine whether men could be so trained. He told about it in connection with a talk he gave to the American Psychological Assn. on various aspects of research concerning human requirements for space flight.

government official involved in a controversy, try his wife. The trend started last year with Mrs. Jessie Wilson, wife of then Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson. It spread to Mrs. Rachel Adams, wife of chief presidential aide Sherman Adams. And the latest lady to take up the cudgels for her husband via a newspaper interview was Mrs. Ruth Rickover. She is the wife of Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, sometimes called the Father of the Atomic Submarine. Mrs. Wilson's ire was aroused by President Eisenhower. She criticized the President for making "uncalled for" remarks about the defense secretary. Eisenhower at a news conference had said Wilson made an unwise statement in accusing some members of the National Guard of being draft dodgers. Mrs. Adams vented her resentment growing out of a House probe of her husband's relationship with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine. She said the two families had exchanged gifts for years — just like any other friends — and she lamented that "there is very little thanks" for all the work Adams has done. She said the Democrats would use the issue to hound her husband out of office. Unlike Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Adams' blast was a one-shot affair. She spoke no more for publication. Latest at bat was Mrs. Rickover. When her husband was not invited to a White House ceremony acclaiming the polar voyage of the atomic sub Nautilus, she let off steam to a reporter. She blasted Navy brass for the alleged snub and said they were determined to "hurt my husband for his independence and free spirit." Snubs, Mrs. Rickover said, affected her as well and she claimed she had been kept from christening atomic subs her husband helped build. Rickover himself wasn't talking, and when his wife had her say once she too refused to talk to other reporters. Things got so hot that Rickover told inquiring news people his wife was going out of town to avoid the fuss. "She won't talk anymore," he promised.

Good study habits are easier to form...

when LIGHT is RIGHT for homework

Your school-age youngster will form good study habits more quickly when lighting is right for homework. Good lighting aids concentration... makes homework seem easier... helps develop good study habits that can contribute so much to future success. Check the lighting under which your child studies. Make sure there is enough light and the right kind of light to prevent eyestrain and fatigue.

See your dealer now for the lamps and right-size bulbs you need. He'll gladly help you with suggestions.

A 150-watt bulb is recommended for best light from a table study lamp. The lamp should be placed close to the work area. A diffusing bowl is recommended to soften the light and prevent glare.

Two wall lamps with 100-watt bulbs in diffusing bowls may be used against a light-colored wall or tackboard. This arrangement leaves entire desk top free for books and work papers.

London Police Battle Race Rioters

A British hobby, center, comes to aid of fellow police officer overpowered by crowds bent on violence against London's growing Negro population in the capital's Notting Hill Gate district. Some 500 Londoners—including women—fought police with broken bottles, knives and clubs.

London Race Riots Continue 4th Night

LONDON (AP) — Race rioting continued for the fourth straight night last night in London but fast-moving police squads took the edge off the violence and kept big mobs from forming. Fifty-nine persons were arrested, the biggest roundup since poor whites began attacking colored immigrants from the West Indies and other Commonwealth areas nearly two weeks ago. Hundreds heeded Scotland Yard warnings to stay off the streets of the Notting Hill district—the chief trouble spot—and surrounding areas. Police patrols moved in whenever those who did come out tried to form the large mobs which rampaged through the area on previous nights. Dozens of automobiles and hundreds of walkers were searched for weapons. Police collected a small arsenal of knives, chains and clubs. In one of the most serious incidents of the night, a gang of white youths stormed a colored canteen club in the Bayswater area with gasoline bombs. Colored men in the club gave battle, and knives, bottles and glasses were hurled from both sides. The fighting spread swiftly to neighboring streets, with bands of white teen-agers hurling rocks and fire bombs through the windows of nonwhite houses. Five truckloads of police aided by Alsatian dogs broke up the fight. Ten Notting Hill Negroes walked in a band through the streets with knives drawn. A mob of whites jumped them. The police moved in and broke it up. In nearby Lancaster Road a mob of 200 teen-agers chanted, "We want niggers—down with niggers." Police questioned the leaders of the bands incessantly, trying to learn if a central organization was behind the disturbances. At least two colored men were stabbed. Britain's big newspapers lashed their readers with a storm of bitter editorial comment denouncing race violence. All cited parallels with Hitler. The London Times blamed "a tiny submerged holligan element." The Conservative Daily Sketch blamed Fascists, working through "the bored mass of Teddy boys and frustrated youth of the big cities." Angry members of Parliament demanded firm government action to stop the rioting. Much of the white resentment at the Negro immigrants stems from competition for housing and jobs.

Tot Strangles On Swallowed Balloon

'Joan 'd Arc' Star To Wed Frenchman

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP) Actress Jean Seberg, who soared overnight from obscurity to Joan of Arc stardom, has returned to her hometown to wed her French fiance. The 15-year-old Marshalltown girl will be married Friday to Francois Moreuil, 24, Harvard-educated lawyer from Paris, at a simple ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church here where she once taught Sunday school. "I'll have something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a six pence in my shoe," the bride-to-be said gaily as she went about preparations. New York, Hollywood and French celebrities have been invited to the wedding, but Jean said she wants the marriage ceremony to be devoid of fanfare. Much of Jean's current interest is in her wedding dress—a short oyster white silk moire fashioned with an empire waist and full balloon skirt. Guy Laroche of Paris, who designed it, has been invited to the wedding along with producer Otto Preminger, who discovered Jean, and Paul Louis Weiller of Paris, at whose French Riviera villa she met her fiance. "We met like anyone else—on water skis," laughed Jean. It was Preminger who chose Jean from among 18,000 aspirants in the nationwide talent search to fill the title role in his movie, "Saint Joan." Jean has made no further movies since she completed "Bonjour Tristesse" about a year ago. Columbia Pictures may put her to work soon in a new film. "We're going to get on a plane a few hours after the wedding," said Jean, "but we don't know yet which way we'll go." Jean said her fiance plans to practice law in Paris but is also very much interested in movie work. For the present, she said, the couple probably will find a place to live in California and honeymoon on an island off the Mexican coast.

If It's Bragging You Want, Try Adopting Baby Gorilla

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The next time some proud papa buttonholes you and begins an endless recital about Baby's amazing progress, you may ask: "Yes, but how's his symmetrical posturing? I'm told a baby gorilla does much better." You will be right, of course. If papa wants proof, you can point to a paper delivered yesterday before the American Psychological Assn. in Washington by Drs. Hilda Knobloch and Benjamin Pasamanick of Ohio State University, a husband and wife research team. In their paper, Drs. Knobloch and Pasamanick give the little ape the nod every time in such things as sitting, toddling, walking and standing. The paper is based on an 18-month study of Colo, a female gorilla born at the Columbus Zoo, the first ever born in captivity. Among the findings: From birth to six weeks of age,

Colo showed "symmetrical posturings" of the body and head. That means she could keep her head centered and maintain her body in its normal position. She could also bring her hands together in front of her at birth. It takes a human baby 16 weeks, say the doctors, both to attain symmetrical posturing and engage hands directly in front. From the time she was born, Colo could lift her head while lying down. A human baby can't turn the trick until it's a ripe old 28 weeks, the report says. Colo walked while holding a railing at 18 weeks, a good 30 weeks ahead of a human baby. All in all, report Drs. Knobloch and Pasamanick, a baby gorilla develops about twice as fast as a human baby during infancy. But, there is this consolation: though Colo may develop faster, it's just that much sooner she drops down and begins walking, most of the time, anyway, on all fours.

Bunco Prosecutor Planning To Retire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Heard any good schemes lately for getting rich quick? Before investing any money, better check with a lanky attorney from Kentucky named Herman L. Arterberry. He's spent a lifetime matching wits with bunco promoters.

Arterberry has shaken the confidence of countless confidence men during his prosecutor's career that dates back to 1921. A lot of them—in jail and out—will be happy with this news: Arterberry, 70, retires officially Monday.

Nothing is truer, he says, than the con man's adage: "You can't cheat an honest man." "Usually it's a person's greed that puts him in the clutches of a 'bunk,'" says Arterberry, using the high school football players' returning home from practice.

An exception was the case of a charming old fraud who operated a lonely hearts club in Los Angeles during the 1930s.

His advertisements promising companionship and perhaps marriage brought replies from scores of widows and spinsters. The ladies with the most promising bank accounts were romanced personally by the suave con man, who cheated them out of more than $150,000.

"Hardest part of the trial was getting some of those gals to testify," Arterberry recalled. "Some were so infatuated they actually tried to shield him."

But Arterberry got the conviction, which established a California law precedent: Anyone getting money by a false promise could be convicted of grand theft.

Arterberry hounded oil swindlers in Texas and Arkansas as a federal prosecutor before joining the Los Angeles County district attorney's office in 1932.

He and his wife Imogene plan a trip to his home town, Tompkinsville, Ky., after he retires. Then he'll return to California and a limited private law practice.

4 Gridders Die In Auto Mishap

BURAS, La. (AP)—A collision involving a car and a parked trailer truck last night killed four high school football players returning home from practice.

Dead were Gary Gartoucies, 16, Howard Cronin Jr., 17, Loys John North Jr., 17, and Ansley Bonin, 17, all of Venice.

Sheriff's Deputy Harry Packard said the boys' car smashed into the rear of the trailer truck and was torn to pieces.

3 Die In Highway Crash Near Sonora

SONORA, Tex. (AP) — Three persons were killed 14 miles west of here yesterday in a head-on crash of two automobiles.

The accident on U.S. 290 killed Cecil Atkins, 56, of Wichita Falls; his wife, Dorothy, 54; and Frank Gaines, 62.

Papers on Gaines' body listed both Ruston, La., and Houston as his home.

Water Sets Fire To Minister's Car

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A jug of water set fire yesterday to a minister's car.

Dr. Joseph W. Bailey of the Columbus Ave. Baptist Church said he placed the jug of water on the front seat and parked the car. The jug acted as a magnifying glass on sun shining through the 95 degree heat.

Dr. Bailey saw smoke. The fire was put out and damages were minor.

Auto Prices Big Question

By DAVID J. WILKIE AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry's pricing plans for 1959 continue to offer a big question mark to prospective new car buyers. Few industry analysts expect the auto makers to hold the present price line. The car manufacturers do not yet know what their over-all operating costs will be. Still to be determined is how much higher wages will go when a new contract is agreed upon between management and hourly rated workers. Wage increases in car company plants also usually are followed by wage advances in supplier shops. But, for competitive reasons, increases on 1959 cars are likely to be smaller than those made when 1958 models were introduced nearly a year ago.

The first hint of car price trends for 1959 will come with the public presentation of Buick's new cars within the next couple of weeks. Buick will be the first 1959 line to reach the market.

Ward Catalogs Show Price Cut

CHICAGO — An average price cut of 10.2 per cent on 14,448 merchandise items has been announced by Montgomery Ward & Co. as the first of 6,000,000 fall sale catalogs are being mailed to its customers throughout the country.

Paul Hammaker, executive vice president, said the price cuts "are in addition to those announced two months ago in the big fall and winter mail order catalog, when the company reduced the price of its merchandise an average of 2 1/2 per cent below the previous fall book."

The fall sale catalog carries an 86th anniversary sale theme timed to coincide with the anniversary sales held during September in Ward's 554 retail stores across the nation. The mail order anniversary sale will extend through October 31.

The 272-page sales book is the largest fall sale catalog ever published by the company.

A Bible Thought For Today

Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. (Galatians 6:1)

What He Said Or What He Meant

Coincidence: Newsweek magazine's "Perspective" had an item that became a feature of President Eisenhower's weekly press conference, and consequently a nationwide sensation. The item said, in effect, that the President had told friends he wished the Supreme Court had never decreed integration of the races in public schools, and that he thought the rate of progress should be slowed down. The first part of this the President denied flatly. As for the second part, he was quoted by the AP as saying: "It might have been that I said something about slower, but I do believe we should—because I do say, we have to have reason and sense and education and a lot of other developments that go hand in hand with this process. If this process is going to have any real acceptance in the United States." In general, these offhand remarks, obviously the product of a man thinking on his feet, were hailed in the South, where leaders have been saying the same thing all along, and condemned in the North and of course by outspoken leaders of integration. Sample comments, by Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana: "Glad to know President Eisenhower has wised up." Governor Harriman of New York: "One of the basic troubles is that the President has failed to take a strong moral position on the Supreme Court." Democratic Governor Holmes of Oregon: "There should be no slowdown." One of the few Republican governors siding with the President was Charles H. Russell of Nevada, who said: "I think the situation should be met judiciously because the problem varies in different states, I agree with the President that a slower approach may be advisable in some states." No decision in recent decades will be watched with more eager interest on all sides than that which the Supreme Court assembled last week in emergency session yesterday to ponder.

The U. S. is obligated by treaty with Nationalist China, the only Chinese government this country recognizes to defend Formosa, main base of Chiang Kai-shek's government, and the neighboring Pescadore from assault from the mainland under the Communists. In approving this treaty, Congress by special resolution inserted a proviso that has caused a great deal of confusion: In the matter of defending Quemoy and Matsu, two small islands only a whoop and a holler off the mainland, the President was to use his own judgment. At that time it looked as though the Communists might invade these islands and throw the Nationalists off, so the Congress left the President the discretion of deciding whether or not they should be defended with the direct help of our Air Force and the Seventh Fleet. For months now, following completion of a railroad to that point of the coast, the Reds have been building up powerful forces in the area, and attacking the islands by artillery and aerial bombardment. Whether this presages an actual attempt to take the islands, or merely a way of finding out whether we intend to defend them or not, nobody knows. At his press conference last week Mr. Eisenhower still left the question open, by refusing to say yes or no. But he did give a strong hint that should leave little doubt in the Reds' minds. He said the status of Quemoy and Matsu, where one-third of Chiang's strength is now concentrated, has changed. They are no longer thought of as outposts but as part of the territory depended upon by the Nationalists to make their living. "So," he concluded, "there is a closer relationship than there was before."

In the jargon of diplomacy that means, "Hands off, Feiping."

Justice Frankfurter On National Policy

WASHINGTON—Those critics who have been inclined to be capacious about President Eisenhower's dictation—particularly the occasional disorder of some of his sentences in talking off-the-cuff at press conferences—had better take a look at one of the impromptu comments made last week by the erudite Justice Felix Frankfurter, former professor at the Harvard Law School and a master of English-writing. The justice was under the same handicap as President Eisenhower. The stenographers were taking it all down verbatim, and there was no chance to revise what had been once spoken. It all happened at that extraordinary hearing before the entire Supreme Court of the United States last Thursday when the justice asked the Little Rock school board's attorney a question. Here is exactly how it appears now in the stenographic record: "Justice Frankfurter: Mrs. Butler, why aren't the two decisions of this court, the first one which laid down as a constitutional requirement that this court unanimously felt compelled to agree upon, and the second opinion recognizing that this was a change of what had been supposed to be the provisions of the constitution, and recognizing that and the kind of life that had been built under the contrary conception said, as equity has also said, you must make appropriate accommodation to the specific circumstances of the situation instead of having a procrustean bed where everybody's legs are cut off or stretched to fit the length of the bed, and who is better to decide than the local United States judges, why isn't that a national policy?"

any suppositious provisions could have ever been inserted in the Constitution and why suddenly what was plainly written there is disregarded by the Court itself. For there is no mention of "education" or "schools" in the Fourteenth amendment which formed the basis for the Supreme Court's decision. There is, on the other hand, an explicit provision, known as the Tenth Amendment, which is still a part of the Bill of Rights and is also presumably a "national policy." Under this amendment, all powers not expressly given to the national government by the Constitution itself are reserved to the states. Education has always been supposed to be one of the powers "reserved to the states."

Justice Frankfurter conceded that "you must make appropriate accommodation to the specific circumstances of the situation," and then went on to contend that these two decisions of the Supreme Court have become "a national policy."

The words "national policy" originally were not Justice Frankfurter's but those of attorney Butler of the Little Rock School Board, who said the people of Arkansas thought that during the period of delay "a national policy could definitely be established and that (new) law could be tested so that the people would know, the people who want to obey the final word." But Justice Frankfurter, while admitting that "national policy doesn't mean the same thing that must take place in Little Rock, Arkansas, as in Pittsfield, Massachusetts," continued: "There was a national policy and the federal courts recognized it. I do not understand what is meant by saying 'let's wait until we get a national policy' if that isn't a national policy." Attorney Butler tried to explain that the school board was "simply faced with realities" and could not have anticipated the reaction of the public which ensued after the Supreme Court decisions. Justice Frankfurter ignored the point that passing new laws to cope with the "desegregation" problem is a constitutional right of a state and that there is a right also to test the new laws in the federal courts. Courts may not bow to violence, but neither may courts take away a constitutional right to try out a new law that might meet the actual requirements of the Constitution itself.

So far as the words "national policy" are concerned, it is most unfortunate to see any Supreme Court justice using them when describing Supreme Court decisions. Court decisions are not "national policies." It has long been determined—and affirmed by Abraham Lincoln—that Supreme Court decisions are not literally the "law of the land" as it is a federal statute, but simply the "law of the case." This means that in a future case the Supreme Court might reverse itself. For it is the right of any state legislature to exercise its legislative privilege by enacting new laws which in due time can be tested and perhaps be upheld by the Supreme Court. ## Sad Remedy

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — It just didn't work. Two helpful but unidentified boys tried to get rid of a swarm of bees in the East San Jose School in Albuquerque by burning them out. Result: Part of one wall and the interior of the building badly damaged; three firemen stung by the irate bees, and the bees still firmly entrenched.

Ike's Coattails Shorter This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's coattails look even shorter this year. Three times in the past—in the elections of 1952, 1954 and 1956—Republican candidates for Congress rode his coattails as hard as they could. All three times Eisenhower was riding a wave of personal popularity but only once was he able to help his party to victory. This year, with Republicans desperately anxious to regain control of Congress, he figures to be of even less help than before. For two reasons: 1. He's been coming more and more under criticism. 2. He's a lame-duck President—his finishing out his second and last term because, by law, he can't run again. A lame duck in any political or fice traditionally has an ebbing influence. So it's questionable how much help he can give the Republican congressional candidates in 1958 or how much help they want from him. It still isn't clear how much campaigning he intends to do, if any. This might be taken as a sign of how the wind blows. Last March 2 Chairman Andrew F. Schoepel of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee said he hoped Eisenhower would be active in the campaign but added: "I don't think any president can go out and give his blessing to any one man and have that the contributing factor. It can be helpful factor . . . but in the last campaign (in 1956) in some of these instances it didn't turn out so well." Schoepel said it would be detrimental in some states for Republicans to base their campaign on support for Eisenhower's programs. He said some GOP candidates "simply are not going to take the same position as the President or his advisers" on some questions, like foreign aid and trade. Republicans—including their national chairman, Meade Alcorn—have predicted they'd win control of the House but admitted the Senate fight is tough. For Alcorn this seemed to indicate a rise in spirits since last April. Then he was admitting he didn't think his party could win the Senate and predicted only a bare majority in the House. In 1952—when Eisenhower was the enormously popular war hero and voters were fed up with 20 years of the Democrats—he not only won himself but swept his party along with him to control of Congress. Not so in 1954. He wasn't running that year but he campaigned across the country for the Republican congressional candidates. It wasn't good enough. The Democrats took over Congress. In 1956 there was reason to expect a different result. Eisenhower, still immensely popular, was running for his second term and he campaigned as hard as he could after a heart attack and a serious intestinal operation. It didn't work. He won for himself overwhelmingly. But again the Republicans lost control of Congress to the Democrats. This year, as a lame duck under growing criticism, there's no reason to think he'd be any more effective than in 1954 or 1956 in carrying his party to victory.

Two Schools Of Thought

NEW YORK (AP)—School bells ring out this month for a record 45 million young Americans from the kindergartens through colleges. But a strong case could be made out for the theory that they are ringing for the wrong people. School now is that period between the mumps of childhood and the lumps you get when you have to start earning your own living. So much to learn in so short a time—for the average student spends less than a fourth of his life in the classrooms. The wilderness of the multiplication table gives way to the jungle of algebra. And even then has one found out the things that really count? The trouble with formal schooling begins when their real education begins. There is no bridge between the two—the vast library of books, and the vaster library of living. One teaches knowledge, the other can—and should—teach wisdom. It is unfortunate, but true, that few people get wise merely by reading.

Seeing the bright-eyed "hopes of tomorrow" go gaily, or mournfully, back to their classes gives many of us middle-aged dupes of today a twinge of regret. We know a feeling of envy. We wonder if, perhaps, education, like youth itself, is too splendid a gift to waste on the young. They don't get enough mileage out of it. When you get right down to it, who really needs education most? Not the young. They are still largely helpless and harmless. The people who tear the world apart with hate, prejudice and fear are the middle-aged and elderly. They make war, both hot and cold, and break peace — if any. It is their massed ignorance that threatens the safety of mankind in a perilous time. Much of the knowledge they acquired in the classroom has become outdated by the rapid march of science. They have become Neanderthal without knowing it. They need new facts, wider knowledge, on which to base decisions growing ever more critical—because mistakes are growing ever more costly. Perhaps after 40, every man and woman should be required by law to take a sabbatical year every decade and go back to the classroom and face new ideas. It might help if the school bells rang for the middle-aged and the elderly, as well as the young. If they studied together, they might even learn to make a better world together. Isn't it worth trying?

Around The Rim

Major Unsolved Problem

Inflation, according to Committee for Economic Development, is one of the major unsolved problems of our times.

From this springboard, Arthur W. Smith, economist and vice president of the First National Bank in Dallas, has some very sobering things to say about inflation. I'd like to repeat some of them because I have a growing conviction that inflation ranks right along with — maybe ahead of — sin, satellites, Soviets and stupidity as a national peril. When we can sail through a critical business recession with inflation increasingly rampant, it is time to stop and take stock. "Greatest single source of inflation has been Government deficit spending. Between 1947 and 1957 Government spending tripled. More is on the way. . . Feasibility of easy and cheap money will be obvious," says Mr. Smith. He goes on to explain that the Government, in order to finance and refinance growing deficits, may have to turn to the banks. This would reduce the amount of capital available for private purposes and create a keen competition for it.

A suspicious straw in the wind is the rumor that the price of gold may be upped sharply to stop the flow of gold from this country (because other nations are apprehensive about the dollar's value). One proposal to double the price of gold would have about the same effect as printing up that many greenbacks—in other words it would be doubling the money (represented by the gold) without increasing the gold.

Another danger signal is the continued practice of the federal government of spending more than it take in. We have just finished a fiscal year $2.8 billion in the hole. The current fiscal year may leave us another $10 billion in the hole. Still spending goes up and up. "Somehow people believe that what the Government spends on credit does not cost them anything," Mr. Smith observes. As a result, Congress solemnly votes to raise the national debt limit every year or so. It would be a national joke if it were not so tragic.

"No one denies the disastrous consequences of inflation. Its ultimate destructiveness," continues Mr. Smith. It means the loss of your savings; it means higher and higher taxes and thus less and less you have left to pay for things that cost more and more. It means competition from the inefficient fellow who is kept going by government subsidy. It means that you are caught in a rising spiral where you can never get quite as much for your goods and services as the prices you must pay for the services and goods you require.

"What we do not pay in higher taxes we pay in higher prices," says Mr. Smith. "Paying with inflation is far more costly in the long run than paying with taxes."

About the only hope of turning the tidal wave is to levy a tax for every cent which the federal (and other governments) spend every year. This is a dim possibility, for as Mr. Smith explains "the political will in Washington is less accountable for its economic acts when it can resort to public credit so easily." In other words we keep the politician in office because he can borrow money in our names to "give" us things we are going to have to pay for ultimately with higher taxes and cheaper dollars. —JOE PICKLE

Americans First Under Table At U.N.?

The WCTU rides again! But no matter in what esteem you hold these ladies, you have to admire their persistent wrong-headedness in attacking the wrong windmills. Now the girls are campaigning to close up the bars in United Nations Headquarters to save the United States from the villainies of Soviet Russia. American diplomatic representatives at the U. N., in the belief of the WCTU-ers, are so lacking in capacity, both alcoholic and intellectual, that Communist provocateurs "get our diplomats drunk and take things away from them."

So says Mrs. Gleen G. Hays of Evanston, Ill., and Ransom, Kan., a leader of the White Ribboners. Alcohol is to blame for everything bad that has happened in the international set, in this simple view. If the Republicans are wise, they will grab this thesis and run with it in '58 and '60, for it does away with such issues in the international arena as incompetence, lack of a firm foreign policy, massive retaliatory bluff and John Foster Dulles. "If it puts this plank in its platform, all the GOP has to do is advance to the mourners' bench and admit that in every diplomatic duel with the Soviet, we Americans were first under the table. It's an idiotic explanation but not any more so than most campaign claims, Democratic, Republican or Independent. "They (the Communists) know alcohol submerges good judgment and stimulates recklessness," adds Mrs. Hays, who continues, "but some free world representatives apparently never learn."

This latter statement—in re, the fact some persons never learn—is a classic on the lips of a WCTU leader.

If there is one group in this country of indubitable Bourbon (if the ladies will forgive the expression) descent, it is the WCTU, which never forgets and never, never learns.

The horrors of prohibition, which this group did so much to wish on this hapless nation, are remembered with detestation and rage by millions of Americans. It gave rise to the rule of lawlessness and gangsterism from which this nation still suffers. The toll and the heritage of prohibition is appalling, but these women would bring it back again, in all its ugliness, if they had the power.

The aftermath of prohibition in the United States has meant contempt for law and the spread and infiltration of the Mafia, denied the consolations of rum-running, into the narcotics trade, gambling, prostitution and even into legitimate businesses.

It has also meant the proliferation of gangsters and hoodlums, a breed spawned by prohibition, in the labor movement. The appalling parade of thugs and criminals in the upper reaches of the Teamsters Union alone is enough to sicken any citizen and make him curse the "noble experiment" that gave rise to their kind.

The havoc wrought on the moral fibre of this country by prohibition will take a century to eliminate. And, although I have scant admiration for the State Department as now constituted and headed, I do have sufficient confidence in it to know that it cannot be subverted by alcohol. The trouble with the department is not that it's boiled, but half-boiled.

And so, in one woman's opinion, is the WCTU. (Copyright 1958, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Gallup Poll

Startling Ignorance About Capitalism

PRINCETON, N. J.—The knowledge that he is contributing, unwittingly, to one of the most effective Soviet propaganda charges would be a "shocker" for any educated American. That this is, true, however, is the startling finding of a special study by the Gallup Poll among the better educated people of the nation on their knowledge of the U. S. economic system.

In brief, a shocking number of these Americans, in a country with the highest standard of living in the world, have little idea of one important characteristic of the system which brought about this living standard. Their guess about the amount of profit made by U. S. industry is one which, if true, would lend some credence to the Communist propaganda charge that Capitalism means large profits for the few "big bosses" without passing on a fair share of industry's earnings to the workmen.

The study asked high school graduates and college-trained persons in the U. S. a question which, at first glance, may seem deceptively simple: "Just as a rough guess, what per cent of profit would you say the average U. S. company makes?"

Tied up in this question is the whole complex and key issue in the cold war struggle for loyalties of which economic system—communism or capitalism—provides the greatest good for the most people.

Because of the importance of this issue to other people around the globe, the Gallup Poll had its affiliates in 13 nations ask the same question of people in the major cities of those countries. Results of this international study will be reported on Sunday in The Herald.

The actual amount of profit that U. S. industry takes from each dollar varies, of course, from industry to industry and from year to year. But over the last 30 years, it is estimated that industry, on the average, has made from 3 to 6 cents profit on the sales dollar and from 8 to 12 cents on the investment dollar.

Yet the fact is that in the U. S. today, only 19 per cent of those interviewed among the best educated group guess a per cent of industrial profit which was as low as the actual figure.

In short, 81 persons in every 100 in the best educated groups in the country either have no idea of the amount of profit made by industry or guess a figure far above that which it actually makes. At the highest end of the educational scale—college graduates—the misconception is not so widespread. But as the following figures show, an overwhelming majority in each of the educational groups polled do not know the true situation:

WHAT PER CENT OF PROFIT DOES A U. S. FIRM MAKE? (H.S. Coll. Grad.)		Per Cent
Under 10 per cent	..... 15	25
Over 10 per cent of	..... 85	75
Not know	..... 85	25

As far as the general public is concerned, a companion study made in three major U. S. centers of industry and finance, New York, Chicago, and San Francisco, sheds some light on this.

Results of the three-city study show that the typical person interviewed who would make an estimate believes industry makes approximately 20 per cent in profit on the average.

Separate studies have shown that about half of the public thinks in terms of sales profit when questioned on the subject and about half in terms of investment profit. Those guessing in terms of sales, therefore, guess, on the average, a figure four times as high as the actual profit. Those thinking in terms of investments guess a figure about twice as much as they actually make.

Here is how the answers in the three cities were distributed:

WHAT PER CENT OF PROFIT DOES U. S. FIRM MAKE? (N. Y., Chicago-San. Fran.)		Per cent
Under 10	..... 15	15
10 to 20	..... 15	15
20 to 30	..... 15	15
30 to 40	..... 15	15
40 & over	..... 6	6
Don't know	..... 31	31

Local Purchases Of Webb Gain Sharply

Webb AFB procurement office spent half a million more dollars in Big Spring during the fiscal year ended June 30 than in the preceding year.

Total purchases handled through the procurement office for the fiscal year were up by nearly three-quarters of a million dollars.

In fiscal year 1958, the office spent a total of $1,712,642 in Big Spring, and $554,594 in other areas of the United States, and $675,984 in Texas cities other than Big Spring.

Following the decentralization of procurement, we anticipate a proportionate increase this current fiscal year," said Capt. Walter Bullock, base purchasing officer.

Salvation Army Will Distribute School Clothing

Distribution of clothing to children who must have them for school attendance will be handled directly by the Salvation Army for the time being.

Last year the items were furnished through the Salvation Army upon certification by Clyde Rowe, who was serving as the visiting teacher.

Capt. Overton urged people who have serviceable clothing which their own children have outgrown to call the Salvation Army if they would like to help children without financial means.

Thursday will serve as the day of distribution for clothing to youngsters in need of them, said Capt. Overton.

Ex-Flier Slated For Mental Ward

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A former Navy flier from Bellaire, Tex., will be sent to a state mental hospital as a sexual psychopath.

A Superior Court judge made the decision about Lt. Wayne McFarland, 23, yesterday. The court accepted a report by psychiatrists that the man got deviated satisfaction from taking women's shoes, especially if they resisted. McFarland had pleaded guilty to robbery and burglary.

San Diego and Coronado police said he took more than 100 shoes in an 18-month period, seizing some from women he accosted on the streets at night.

Constitution Party Names Candidates

AUSTIN (AP)—The Constitution Party decided today to put up at least four nominees for statewide office in the November-general election.

Meeting here in convention, party officials said it had not been decided whether to have a candidate for governor.

"However, we might nominate someone for lieutenant governor, railroad commissioner and agriculture commissioner," said Joseph Rummier of Houston, past state chairman.

Rummier said these candidates are expected to be nominated: Bard Logan, San Antonio, party treasurer, for the U.S. Senate; R. G. Florance, LaPorte, state chairman of the party, for state comptroller.

Phillip Eubank, of San Antonio, who publishes the Constitution Press, for land commissioner.

Bert Ellis, Houston, for state treasurer.

$52 Million More For School Plans

AUSTIN (AP)—An estimated $2 million dollars more will be needed annually for an expanded school program tentatively adopted yesterday by the Hale-Aikin School Study Committee.

The school teachers report, which calls for raising teachers' salaries $600 annually, will be considered at the next meeting Sept. 15-16. It could cost an additional $5 million dollars each year.

A 190-day school year, with a minimum 180 days of classroom instruction, was approved. The committee also voted to extend state financial aid to schools which want a full 10-month program or a 190-day schedule.

The major portion of the expanded cost would be to extend the school year past its present 175-day minimum. Extending the school year by one month is estimated to cost $28,485,247.

The committee's report will be made to Gov. Daniel and the Legislature for final action. It also called for a $9,500,000 increase in transportation services. It would include about six million dollars for in-city transportation for students.

The school teacher report to be acted on later recommends an increase in the starting teacher's minimum salary from $3,204 to $3,800. Teachers with master's degrees would get more. Additional teachers and salary increases for others totaling about $5 million dollars annually also are recommended.

Another subcommittee report which may come up in September includes a recommendation Texas schools quit receiving federal aid for the lunch program and make the local districts pay for it.

In other action, the committee agreed yesterday that:

1. The present practice of financing school buildings from local district tax funds should be continued. Federal aid for construction should be opposed and careful study should be given to enable local districts to tap additional tax sources.
2. A $1,030,320 program was needed to provide teachers to instruct gifted high school students. Another $1,350,000 should be spent annually to provide pre-school instruction for non-English speaking children.

Dag Resumes His Efforts At Peace

By ANTOINE YARED

CAIRO (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold took up his Middle East peace mission again today, arriving in Cairo to confer with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Hammarskjold flew from Geneva after attending the opening of the second international atom-for-peace conference. As usual he brushed reporters aside and would say nothing.

He was expected to see Nasser later today. The U.A.R. President had a two-hour conference yesterday with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi in preparation for the meeting.

Nasser presumably will renew his demands for speedy withdrawal of British troops from Jordan and U.S. troops from Lebanon. Hammarskjold in turn is expected to ask for assurance from the U.A.R. government that it will do nothing, either through radio propaganda or by aid to antigovernment forces in Lebanon and Jordan, to overthrow those governments.

Charged by the U.N. Assembly with making arrangements to facilitate the U.S.-British withdrawal, Hammarskjold spent three days in Jordan last week before going to Geneva. At the end of the visit a joint communique said he and the Jordanian government had reached "a large area of agreement."

Specifically, however, the communique said only that they agreed neither a U.N. force nor a border observation group should be sent in to protect Jordan, but rather that "other forms of U.N. presence" in Jordan should be developed. Sources at U.N. headquarters have said this probably will be a high-ranking representative who would alert the U.N. if the Hashemite kingdom was again threatened.

Hammarskjold is expected to stay three days in Cairo. He also is to visit Amman again, Beirut and Baghdad, and possibly Saudi Arabia.

Inspection Time

AUSTIN (AP)—More than four million Texans must have their motor vehicles inspected before April 15, 1959, the Department of Public Safety said yesterday. Inspection started Monday.

Speaker Candidates Charge Labor Aid

AUSTIN (AP)—Both candidates for speaker of the Texas House of Representatives have charged the other is backed primarily by representatives favorable to labor.

Both hurled deal making charges yesterday.

Speaker Waggoner Carr said at Lubbock his opponent, Rep. Joe Burckett of Kerrville, was a "very desperate man" and the AFL-CIO voting record "shows better than 40 of his supporters to be voting in favor of labor."

Burckett said 75 per cent of Carr's supporters "had pro-labor voting records: He called Carr "a captive candidate of the CIO."

Carr said an old saying fitted Burckett: "When in danger, when in doubt, run in circles, yell and shout."

"I have made no deals with anyone. I haven't had any deals put to me as Burckett says he has. Apparently, everybody knows I will not make a deal but they are not sure of Burckett," Carr said.

Burckett said Carr "is leading Texans to the brink of a labor boss Legislature as a result of his personal political ambition to be attorney general of this state."

He said that the speaker has the support of Jerry Heffernan, state AFL-CIO president; Fred Schmidt, secretary - treasurer; Rep. Roy Harrington and Rep. nominee Bob Eckhardt, labor leaders.

Burckett said that these "labor bosses have already stated that unless Carr goes along with their demands there will be a rebellion." He demanded Carr reveal "his deal with the Texas labor bosses."

The speaker replied the charge was amusing "in light of the attack labor levied against me last session because of the conservative committees I appointed. . . Burckett is a very desperate man. He's even insulting the liberals who have pledged their support to him."

Burckett said the labor leaders fear him because they know he will fight "to rid Texas and keep this state free of the labor boss parasites and racketeers who plunder the union members. The know Joe Burckett will fight to help the Texas union members free themselves from labor boss control. Can Mr. Carr make this same statement?"

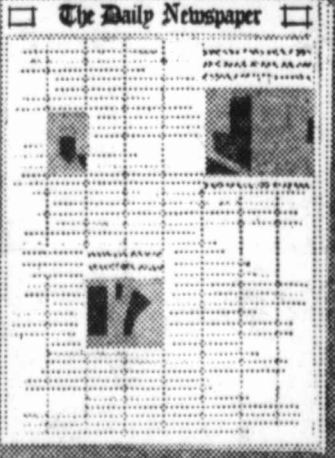

Both men claim a majority of the votes through pledge cards from the 150 House members. Carr claims 78, Burckett 77. Both also say about 10 men have not pledged to either. Burckett has proposed that the cards be examined by an impartial auditor and Carr has replied that he has revealed his cards, in confidence, to newsmen and it is up to Burckett to do the same.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA?

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. It is a gold mine of information, particularly about its own community. And it is almost never closed, making it handier than any place else. Putting out information is the prime reason for the daily newspaper's existence. It strives to give its readers the most extensive coverage of happenings around the world and just around the corner. The better it serves its readers the better it serves its advertisers.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Bill White, the veteran Lamesa campaigner who competed in the recent Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament here, has been golfing for 38 years.

Harold McGehee, who coached at Christoval last year, has moved over to Merton and finds himself shoulder-deep in talent.

In 7-B, to the north of Big Spring, most of the schools may wind up playing six-man ball, even though they agreed to try the eight-man brand.

Don Bishop, the rangy Sweetwater athlete who was hurt when he tackled Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk over near the west sidelines in the Mustang-Sleeper game last season and who missed the rest of the season, is being moved from end to guard by Coach Elwood Turner this fall.

Turner, by the way, says Sweetwater will pass more than it did in 1957, which means he wants to keep the opposition's defense honest and give his wild stallion, James Parker, more running room.

Dickie Milam, a stellar guard with the Big Spring Steers back in 1953 and '54, has decided to give up football and try to graduate at Texas A&M in 1959.

The McMurry College Indians, for whom two local athletes, Tommy McAdams and Wylie Wise, will be playing this fall, have home games with Sul Ross, Texas Lutheran, Abilene Christian and McNeese State of Lake Charles, La. They go on the road to play Howard Payne, Arizona State at Flagstaff, East Texas State, New Mexico A&M, Louisiana Tech and Eastern New Mexico.

Some of the nation's biggest college games will be played as early as Sept. 20 this fall.

Nebraska will be at home to Penn State, UCLA plays host to Pittsburgh, Cincinnati tries Dayton at Cincinnati, Detroit will have George Washington as a guest, Vanderbilt visits Missouri, TCU invades Lawrence for a go at Kansas, Oklahoma State and Denver play at Denver, H-SU challenges Tulsa at Tulsa, Clemson is at home to Virginia, Duke tests South Carolina at SC, Florida and Tulane have it out at Gainesville, Texas hosts Georgia, Kentucky tries to blitz Georgia Tech at home, Baylor opens conference play against Arkansas at Little Rock, LSU and Rice mix at Houston, Texas Tech visits Texas A&M and Washington State is at home to Stanford, to name a few.

Time was when the grid powers picked on the paties for their openers. Now, they go for broke' with a warmp.

TAKEN FOR GRANTED

Idea Gets Around That Yanks Tough

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) —The idea that the New York Yankees cannot be beaten is so widespread in the American League that it is taken for granted. Opposing teams, as well as fans, accept the idea that the race is a foregone conclusion. The difference between the Yankees and the rest of the clubs is that the others appear content to finish second. It is 13 years since any team but Cleveland stopped the Yankees. Isn't that the American League hasn't tried to stop the Yankees. It has tried it by legislation; by improving and expanding its farm and scouting systems; by changing front office personnel and managers. In the last 10 years, or ever since Casey Stengel became manager of the Yankees, in 1949, the American League has hired and fired 32 managers.

DEFENSE GOOD IN WORKOUT

The Big Spring Steers' training schedule must be running according to plan. Following Tuesday afternoon's drill, Coach Al Milch remarked: "This team hit harder today than any I've ever coached. Our defense was really on the ball."

With their opening game only ten days away, the Longhorns are beginning to open up. They're popping each other, as if they had been out a month or more.

Judging from their play Tuesday, the Steers are going to be tough for their opening foe, San Antonio Edison, or any other club to handle. It might be easier to filibuster and talk them out of some real estate than it is to try and root them out in the trenches.

Seeks Asylum

Branimir Zivkovic, 27, of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, a little more than a week of sampling the free air of America has convinced Yugoslavians' lone contestant in the international fencing tournament, in Philadelphia, that he wants to stay on this side of the Atlantic. He has taken his first steps toward seeking political asylum in the United States from Yugoslav Communism. (AP Wirephoto).

Total Of 184 Boys Report For Junior High Workouts

A total of 184 boys have checked out football equipment in the three grade levels at the city's two junior high schools. Rannels Junior High has 106 of the players, Goliad 79. Others may report this week.

Midland Out Front In Set

MIDLAND (AP) —Midland's Braves go after their second victory of the Sophomore League playoff tonight, holding a 1-0 lead in the series because of Kerry Buckner's 2-out single in the ninth that gave Midland a 9-1 triumph in the opener. A wild throw enabled the tying run to score. Then Buckner delivered the knockout punch.

.992 Hitter Signs Philly Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Ronald O'Dette, an outfielder who batted in incredible .992 in high school, has been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies to a 1959 baseball contract with Olean, N.Y. O'Dette, 18, lives in Foster, R.I. Besides his hitting, he once struck out 18 of 21 batters as a high school pitcher. Olean is in the Class D, New York-Pennsylvania League.

Outboard Motor Boat Trip Across Atlantic Real Test

By DION HENDERSON
AP Staff Writer
What does it take to cross the Atlantic in a 22-foot outboard motorboat? Well, in addition to the boat and motor, it takes three small boat experts, 1½ tons of supplies, a 7,500 ton mother ship and a lot of luck.

Bassey Steps Up Training Grind

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Featherweight champion Foga n Bassey of Nigeria stepped up his training program today in preparation for his 10-round non-title meeting with former champ Willie Pep Sept. 20 at the Boston Garden. The 26-year-old champion and Pep, ex-titlist from Hartford, Conn. exchanged compliments in a friendly first meeting Tuesday at a luncheon attended by some 75 newsmen, radio and television guests.

Seixas Bidding For Attention

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — An old fellow playing in the National Tennis Championships is beginning to cause some nail-biting among the upper crust. The folks on the tournament trail might even have trouble recognizing him because he's a securities salesman these days, plays tennis just for fun. His name is Vic Seixas. He won the National title in 1954 and played on a half dozen Davis Cup teams. At the moment, he is in the round of 16 in the Nationals. He turned back Jon Douglas Tuesday, 4-6, 10-8, 6-4, 6-4.

Dallas, Padres Face Big Jobs In Loop Race

By The Associated Press
Time is running out on the bids of Dallas and San Antonio for spots in the Texas League playoffs.

The race rolls into the last mile —just five games to go—with Fort Worth, Houston, Austin and Corpus Christi in the driver's seat.

Lowly Victoria handed the Dallas Rangers their third straight defeat Tuesday. It knocked the Rangers out of the first division.

San Antonio kept its fading hopes barely alive by beating Tulsa 10-4. The Missions are four games out of the first division with five to play.

Corpus Christi trounced leading Fort Worth 7-2 to pull into a tie for third place with Austin, a 0-4 victim of second place Houston.

Joe Duham drove in the winning run in the ninth as Victoria edged Dallas 4-3. Keith Little's twenty-fifth home run gave Dallas a 3-1 lead in the fourth.

San Antonio scored in bunches to knock down Tulsa with Sam Hairston's 2-run homer featuring the 12-hit attack.

Shantz, Monroe Are Promoted By Casey

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Casey Stengel has his ninth American League pennant all but officially bagged. He has a 12-game lead with less than two dozen games to play. Yet this may be the toughest part of the season for the New York Yankee skipper.

GRID CAMP NOTES

Warmath, Jennings Discipline Boys

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Editor
Murray Warmath, 20th century football coach and disciplinarian, has added another chapter to "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

George Nukk, Cornell tackle, was believed lost for the season with a twisted knee. Lou Mastino, Syracuse tackle and junior letterman, was on the shelf for the year with a shoulder injury.

Bob Williams, quarterback, and Nick Pietrosanta, fullback, lost excess pounds as Notre Dame went through first contract drill. Ron Moody, Illinois halfback, had to withdraw from squad after recurring baseball knee injury.

Bob Friend, sophomore center, was lost to Michigan for the season because of a spring practice knee injury. Mike Lee, Nebraska end and co-captain, was dropped from the camp.

Big Air Show
 The National Guard "Minute Men," nationally famous air demonstration team, will be among the participants in the 1953 Aviation Day Air Show, scheduled September 14 at Midland Air Terminal.
 The annual show, sponsored by the Midland Jaycees, has been moved to Terminal in order to afford greater facilities. The 1957 event which attracted upwards of 10,000 spectators, was held at Midland Airport.
 Bill Burnside and A. B. Wilson, co-chairmen of the organization committee of the Jaycees, have announced a star-studded list of participants for the show.
 The show proper will begin at 2 p.m., but the public is invited to report early and observe the static displays which will feature aircraft from the early days, including "Billy Parker's 1912 pusher plane," the chairman announced.
 At 2 p.m. a formation flyover of T-33's including patterns and landings officially will launch the show. Dedication ceremonies will be conducted at 2:30 p.m., and a demonstration by F-102's will follow at 3 p.m. At 3:30 p.m. a group from the Strategic Air Command will fly over the area.
 The Minute Men will perform in their aircraft at 3:40 p.m., followed by an Army "Otter and Beaver" demonstration with helicopters.
 The San Antonio Air National Guard group will participate at 4:20 a.m. and other jet demonstrations will follow climaxed by a formation of takeoffs and joinups by T-33's.

Interest Grows
In Yule Pageant

Betty Ware seems to be generating quite a bit of interest in her idea for a Christmas pageant. Practically all the musicians and singers in town who have talked with her have indicated a great amount of interest.

Her idea is, essentially, to combine all the church and other choral organizations in Big Spring into a community chorus, and set up a program of Christmas music sometime in December.

Mrs. Ware pointed out that it is important to start rehearsals for the program by the end of September.

Rehearsals would be handled inside each choral group under direction of each choral director, until time for the three or four massed rehearsals early in December that would be required.

Mrs. Ware sent a letter about the project to the Pastors Association in their meeting this morning, but as of this writing the meeting was not yet over. It was expected that the pastors would give support to the proposal of sponsorship. Mrs. Ware's husband, the Rev. Jack Ware of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, is secretary of the Pastors Association.

I would like to interject a suggestion here: That the pageant consist, not of just one program, but of several evenings during the Christmas season, with one program of popular Christmas music, one of classical selections, another program featuring Handel's "The Messiah."

Such a program would help put Big Spring on the cultural map, and Mrs. Ware would be proved correct in her belief that "this town could be a cultural center. We have the people to do it and the people to enjoy it."

Small Items Of Large Interest

Miscellany:
Dan Conley, public schools materials and equipment supervisor, is trying once more to work up an orchestra, under the late lamented Civic Music Assn.

He has something to peg it on this time—the Christmas pageant will need some accompaniment, and that will be provided by the orchestra, if it gets organized.

The factor that figured most prominently in scuttling of the CMA's plans last spring was the attempt to get a noted musician from Odessa to lead the orchestra. He declined to move to Big Spring, on the understandable grounds that he could not make a good living here as he is in Odessa.

Another factor was in the lack of string players, especially cello. There are enough strings, however, to make a medium-sized sound, and an orchestra beamed up with woodwinds can still be a good orchestra.

HJC is planning organization of a band this fall. The college has no director, no instruments, no music—but it does have a small rehearsal hall in the music building—when the choir isn't using it.

Jack Hendrix, music department chief, pushes ahead undaunted. I have a boxful of sheet music I've been carrying around in the trunk of my car, unknowingly, for the last six months, and Jack jumped on it like a West Texas jackrabbit when I offered him the music.

Anybody else?

The Civic Theatre, which has been scrounging around for plays for the coming season, might take a word of advice from the Corpus Christi Theatre. They're chilling their audiences with "Dracula," the vampire yarn that has kept more teen-agers indoors at night than all the curfews ever enforced.

Latest word from Corpus has it that the audiences are going wild over "Dracula," just as did New York audiences when the play was first presented some 30 years ago.

Moscow Rocket Meet Raised
More Issues Than It Settled

By DR. RICHARD PORTER
Written For The Associated Press

It is natural to think of the work of a meeting such as the fifth meeting of the special Committee for the International Geophysical Year as having been completed with the fall of the final gavel.

But nothing could be further from the truth. In the field of rockets and satellites, at least, more questions were raised than settled. More work was left to be done than was accomplished.

Although some 75 important papers were presented by scientists from many countries during the seven half-day sessions of the rocket and satellite symposium, it was not possible for most of us to grasp more than a small fraction of the information made available.

For one thing, language barriers remain a formidable obstacle despite all attempts to surmount it. Another problem was the mental indigestion which resulted from too many papers for the available time.

Therefore it will be necessary for most of us to read the translated papers and reports, to study them carefully, and perhaps even to correspond with their authors before much of the technical data presented at this conference can be completely understood.

Fortunately for international science, it appears that this process of reading and corresponding actually may be not only possible, but worthwhile.

Previous meetings on the subject of satellites in which the Soviet Union has played an important part have tended to be rather sterile. Little in the way of actual scientific results had been obtained, and information about the vehicles and launching problems had been regarded as highly secret, at least by the U.S.S.R.

This year in Moscow there were some definite results to discuss, and although the Soviet scientists were obviously still unable to talk about how they launched their satellites, or how they sent most of the information back to earth, they were prepared to talk about their results.

Important results they were, too. First of all, the air density at altitudes of 150 miles and higher could only be estimated by means of very approximate assumptions before the International Geophysical Year (IGY) began.

As a result of observations of the Russian and U.S. satellites by many IGY countries, it is now generally agreed that atmospheric density at this altitude is significantly higher than previously expected.

Another subject of great interest was the radiation recently discovered in the ionosphere (between 50 and 200 miles up) and recently announced in Washington by Dr. James A. van Allen of the State University of Iowa.

Several papers by both U.S. and Soviet scientists touched on this subject, and the latest information from both the third Sputnik and the most recent Explorer satellite was presented and compared. Although there were some differences in data, it appears that this observer, at least, that they can be explained by the differences in the means by which the data were obtained. And on the whole, there is agreement concerning the existence of the effect.

Here again, a good explanation of this radiation must be found.

The extensive instrumentation of the Soviet satellites, made possible by their larger size, was very impressive to American scientists. Important scientific reports of early Soviet results on atmospheric composition, ion density, solar corpuscular radiation, micrometeorites, cosmic radiation, gamma radiation and biological experiments gave promise of great scientific advances to come.

Despite the popular glamor of the satellites, one must not overlook the high-altitude rocket experiments of the IGY. It was reported that the U.S.S.R. had launched 57 of these rockets by the first of June, and the United States a similar number. High altitude rockets also have been launched by the United Kingdom, Australia, Canada and Japan. Results obtained include valid measurements of temperature, density, and composition of the atmosphere in the important region between the maximum altitude reached by balloons and the minimum altitude at which satellites' orbits can be sustained.

As the result of discussions by working groups, it was agreed that a third world data center for rocket and satellite data should be established in Great Britain. The two now in existence are in the United States and the Soviet Union. A number of previously controversial points regarding the GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Furniture dealer Hayden Stuart of LaGrange overheard a stranger offer to sell kitchen appliances.

The stranger took him to 209 East Spruce St., and they settled on a price for a stove and refrigerator.

After Stuart's truck picked them up, police received this telephone from Wayne Davenport: "I live at 209 East Spruce St. I just got home and somebody has been here and stolen my stove and refrigerator."

Wine, Women
For Spacemen?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Would an occasional cocktail or feminine companionship help a man endure the rigors of space flight? A psychologist said today that is a question it might be advisable for space scientists to study in finding out what would help or hinder a man in meeting the isolation of space.

Dr. Wilsie B. Webb, head of the University of Florida, said psychologists are going to have to make more rigorous tests to select men mentally suited for flying into space.

On the question of cocktails and feminine companionship, Webb had this to say at the American Psychological Assn., meeting: "A man in space will be radically isolated from his current normal environment. And what will be the nature of that environment?"

"We're going to have to find, for example, whether an occasional cocktail—or feminine companionship—should be permitted in such an environment as a theoretical means of alleviating tension and making a man more efficient in his isolated environment."

On the other hand, we would have to test whether such things would have an adverse affect on efficiency under the conditions of space flights.

For space men, he said psychologists will have to extend the limits of such tests beyond our current dealings with men in the normal world.

He said for example that whereas as to now, psychologists have made tests of men under conditions of isolation and of acceleration individually there will have to be tests of men under combined conditions.

REV. W. T. WHITE

Nazarenes To Begin Revival

The Rev. W. T. White is the special speaker for the autumn revival in the Church of the Nazarene located at 14th and Lancaster.

Entering the evangelistic field four years ago, Mr. White offers a rich background of experience of service, having served as pastor for 22 years in churches in Arkansas, Texas, and Oklahoma. He spent 11 years at Durant, Okla., and his last pastorate was at Tulsa, Okla., First Church.

Mr. White served for a number of years on the Advisory Board of the Eastern Oklahoma District, and as a member of the school board of Bethany Nazarene College, from which he graduated in 1933.

According to the Rev. W. M. Dorrough, pastor, services will be at 7:30 p.m. daily beginning Wednesday and continuing through Sept. 14. There will be special music each service and the public is invited.

Gets Ration Card,
Starves To Death

DALLAS (AP)—Elmer Herod, 50, went to the Salvation Army's downtown headquarters Thursday night and was issued a card entitling him to two meals and a night's lodging.

He was told to go to the organization's shelter in the south part of the city, a Salvation Army spokesman said.

But yesterday he was found unconscious in high weeds near the downtown section. He died less than an hour later of hunger and exposure, officials said.

Police said Herod apparently started walking, but collapsed of hunger in the high weeds.

Horses Have Bad
Day At The Races

BOERNE, Tex. (AP)—There was plenty of excitement at the races at the Kendall County Fair yesterday.

One horse ran into a railing and was killed. Another fell and broke its leg. A third cut its leg and 12 stitches were required.

In a fourth race a saddle came loose and the jockey, Larry Jackson, was slightly injured. The jockey riding the horse that was killed also required medical treatment.
