The Problem Of A Boy And His Horse

Barefoot Denny Hayes (left), 8, strokes the brow of his horse, Buck, as firemen and railroad men seek to remove the animal from the railroad trestle at Northridge, Calif., where he was wedged. Buck's legs slipped between the ties as he and Denny explored the world beyond their neighborhood. A train (background) waited 45 minutes while Buck was finally lifted in the arms of seven men. He was only scratched.

Sixth Grade Transfers Voted To Ease Crowding

Transfer of five sections of the sixth grade and one fifth grade section from three schools was adopted Wednesday evening as an attempt to solve over-crowding in some elementary schools. Affected will be two sixth grade sections from Washington Place, one from Park Hill, two from Cedar Crest (West Ward), plus the fifth grade section from Park Hill. The two Washington sections will go to Goliad Junior High, and most of the transfers will be from pupils residing south of Eleventh Place and who will go to Goliad next year as regular junior high pupils. The two Cedar Crest sections will go to Rannels Junior High, the school which they also will attend next year as junior high pupils. Both the fifth and sixth grades from Park Hill will attend College Heights school, where rooms are available. In all cases, the youngsters will maintain their separate special activities, including their athletic programs. Washington and Cedar Crest pupils and teachers will remain under the direct supervision of their principals, while the Park Hill transfers will be under the supervision of the College Heights because it is an elementary administration. No transportation by the school is involved in the ruling. Board members had considered one plan for wholesale transfers and transportation by buses. However, they all agreed that the bus system was inadequate and the plan was impractical. The transfer order is effective Monday. Action on the plan came at an evening meeting of trustees and administrative officials at the administrative offices. Earlier, the board had wrestled with the problem at a called noon session. At that time a majority asked administrators, who had submitted three plans, to come up with still another. The one adopted Wednesday evening was that plan. Trustees Tom Guin, who was joined by John Dibrell in the voting, favored a plan which would include the approval of all transfer requests; moving teachers from Airport and Kate Morrison to other schools where rooms are available and the employment of teachers for extra sessions in some lower grades at Park Hill, Washington and Cedar Crest; and freezing enrollment in every section exceeding 35 pupils. This would mean half day sessions, but Guin argued that if transfers were available parents would at least have an option as to whether they wanted to transfer to avoid half day sessions. Most board members and administrators didn't think there would be enough volunteer transfers to avoid creating still greater teacher supply and class load problems. His chief objection to the plan, said Guin, was that it put sixth graders in contact with junior high pupils at Rannels and Goliad. He said he felt they were too young for such an experience. Floyd Parsons, superintendent, said there would be no contact, but this would be held to a minimum with separate assembly, recess and lunch periods. The sixth graders will operate on a home room basis and will be under constant direction of one teacher, he said. Besides the mass transportation plan, which would have required use of at least three and possibly four buses at the very time they are in use for regular transport, the board considered a proposal for an attempt to locate temporary space for approximately five teachers and 150 pupils. This was ruled out as not desirable and prohibitive in cost. "This action will avoid half day sessions for the present," said Parsons. "We cannot guarantee that we can avoid them all year long if enrollment keeps piling up. We'll have to face that problem when we come to it." He said that the plan adopted was the one favored by principals of the elementary schools as well as by the staff. In response to a question by Dr. Floyd Mays, Parsons said that not in every case will the transfers be to the schools specified. Parents may transfer children to other schools if there is room in the grade level in the school to which they are transferring. The move will open up two classrooms at Washington where eight sections of first and second grade average 36 pupils to the section. Likewise it will make classroom space for an extra class of first graders and third graders at Park Hill. The Cedar Crest move will relieve overcrowding in the first grade and will provide an urgently needed all-purpose room. In other actions by the board, the election of S. A. Walker as Goliad Junior principal was confirmed, and the board voted to offer the basketball coaching position to Vernon Horton, Jacksonville. Faced with housing problems due to an increase of some 600 youngsters on the first day of school in comparison with last year, the board adopted a resolution urging Acheson and Atkinson, architects, to hasten plans on the proposed 14-classroom March elementary school southwest of town, the six-room addition to Park Hill, and the 20-room addition to Senior High. Master planning will be aired at a meeting set for 8 p.m. today in the Settles ballroom. While boards of public agencies and others have been specifically invited, anyone interested is urged to attend, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on master planning. Here to discuss the mechanics and scope of over-all long-range planning will be Ken Esmond, head of Esmond & Associates. He has just completed such a study in Odessa and will outline what is involved in a comprehensive survey and will be available for questioning. Dr. Hunt emphasized that Esmond is to appear here without any obligation. Several groups such as the governing boards of the county, city, school districts and representatives of Webb AFB, chamber directors, railroads, utilities, highway department and other segments of the community life have been asked to be present. Dr. J. E. Hogan, president of the chamber, will preside at the meeting, turning the session over to Dr. Hunt and his committee for a brief background discussion. Most of the meeting will be devoted to Esmond's explanation of the objectives and potential benefits of master planning, and to the answering of questions. "I hope no one will be absent because of a personal invitation," said Dr. Hunt. "This is a community affair that may affect each of us whether we do or whether we don't undertake such a study. We hope every person who is interested in the future of this community will take part." Dr. Hogan emphasized the importance of the meeting, which he called a turning point. "This can be the most important meeting we have had in Big Spring within the past score of years," he said. "It can mark the point at which we do or don't emerge from a town into a well ordered city."

China, U. S. Exchange Warnings Over Islands

Ike Won't Hesitate To Use Force

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today solemnly warned Red China he will not hesitate to commit American armed forces to defense of the Nationalist offshore islands if he finds that necessary to the security of Formosa. The President's position was set forth by Secretary of State Dulles in a statement authorized by Eisenhower after they had conferred at the summer White House for 1 hour and 45 minutes. Dulles said Eisenhower will not hesitate to conclude that Formosa, the main Chinese Nationalist bastion, is threatened under an attack on Quemoy, Matsu and other offshore islands. Dulles stressed that Eisenhower has not yet made any such finding under authority conferred on him by Congress. "Presidential determination, if made, would be followed by action both timely and effective," Dulles said. Despite the persistent bombardment of the Nationalist islands by the Reds, and Communist China's announced intention to invade, Dulles said the United States has not abandoned hope that the Communist government "will stop short of defying the will of mankind for peace."

SCIENTISTS CREATE 'LIFE' SUBSTANCE, SEE CANCER USE

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists have created a substance from non-living matter that looks like and may act like the heart stuff of living cells. Three U.S. scientists reported their laboratory experiments Wednesday at the fourth International Congress of Biochemistry in Vienna, Austria. The material they created from chemical building blocks appears to be like desoxyribonucleic acid, called simply DNA. DNA seems to be the control matter of living cells, carrying the hereditary characteristics, or genes. How to segregate the synthetic DNA from the solution was the problem that faced Dr. Aaron Bendich of Sloan-Kettering and Dr. S. M. Reiser of Columbia University and researcher Herbert Rosenkrantz, also of Sloan-Kettering. A cellulose material called ecteola has an affinity for DNA, they discovered. By shaking up the nucleotides solution, some synthetic DNA stuck to the ecteola. The DNA-like substance was caught in a transient state when some of the nucleotides moved into DNA formation.

Red Territorial Limits Extended

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist China posted a new keep-out warning today to any American ships and planes that might be sent to help Nationalist Chinese in Formosa and garrisons on Quemoy and other offshore islands. The Peiping regime extended its territorial waters to 12 miles offshore, taking in Quemoy and Matsu which nestle against the Chinese mainland. The official New China News Agency said in a broadcast that all foreign ships and aircraft must have permission to travel in the new zone. The new area also included Formosa, about 100 miles from the mainland; and the Nationalist Pescadores Islands, supply point about 30 miles from Formosa. Both have always been claimed by the Reds as part of China. The announcement charged that "U.S. military occupation of Formosa is an illegal act violating Chinese territory and sovereignty." "China has the right to recover Formosa at an appropriate time using all appropriate means," the announcement said. "This is China's internal affair, in which no foreign interference is tolerated."

White Pupils Block School

The federal government has enlisted civilians to serve as deputy marshals if needed at Little Rock. Several Southern schools integrated peacefully. Trouble, however, was reported at two points. At Van Buren, Ark., belligerent white youths apparently blocked integration today at Van Buren High School, which was desegregated a year ago under federal court order. A group of white boys waited outside the building this morning, saying they would prevent Negroes from entering the school. A 17-year-old white senior, who would not give his name, said 41 boys had organized a "strike" to get rid of the Negroes. By strike, the youth apparently meant his group would not return to class until integration ended. At Greensboro, N.C., a small group displaying a Ku Klux Klan banner and a Confederate flag met at a school. Even so, five Negro children, three of whom entered the school last year, attended the opening session without trouble. Application blanks for deputy U.S. marshal did not mention the racial situation at Little Rock's Central High School, but one applicant said there was no doubt he was signing for duty at Central if it reopened as an integrated school. The U.S. Supreme Court meets Sept. 11, four days before the school opens, to hear the Little Rock school board's plea for a 30-month breathing spell. The NAACP will ask that integration be resumed at once. At Fort Smith, just across the Arkansas River from Van Buren, two elementary schools admitted Negroes. One of the youngsters attended school with white children last semester in Fort Smith, where integration is voluntary. The Arkansas cities of Hoxie, Fayetteville and Charleston also went ahead peacefully with integration. Four Kentucky high schools desegregated for the first time. There were no incidents as two Negroes attended white schools in Charlotte, one of the cities in

Lad Injured In Mishap

A 12-year-old schoolboy was slightly injured in an accident Wednesday when he slipped and fell in front of a car. Hospitalized overnight at Big Spring Hospital was Johnny Farquhar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farquhar, 903 Scurry. The boy slipped and fell off a curb near Rannels Junior High School and into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Al Milch, 2408 Morrison, said police. The boy's foot was hurt, but no fractures resulted. He was hospitalized overnight and was released this morning, his mother reported. Two other accidents were recorded Wednesday. Sarah Osborn, 201 N. Austin, and Albert Haydel Jr., 1612 Lark, were driving cars involved in a mishap at 2nd and Main. At the corner of Stadium and Circle, Charlotte Marstrand, 1512 Sycamore, and Esther Barnes, 610 Tulane, were in collision.

Forsan Enrollment 181 On First Day, More Are Expected

FORSAN—Enrollment in Forsan elementary school on Tuesday, opening day of the new term, hit 101 and the high school listed 80 students. It is anticipated more will enroll as family vacations terminate and the students return to their homes. There are 18 teachers on Forsan faculty this year. The superintendent is Joe T. Holladay. New teachers are James Childress, Mrs. Thetus Dunagan, Mrs. Freda Morrison, Mrs. Edna McGee. The cafeteria opened on Tuesday with the regular staff in charge—Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Mrs. L. B. McElreath, and Mrs. O. W. Fleicher. Some slight changes have been made in the bus transportation routes so that all students may be served in all areas.

School Bond Meet Scheduled At Knott

KNOTT (SC)—Members of the Knott community are urged to attend a meeting at the high school gym tonight to discuss a proposed $135,000 school bond sale. Supt. Weldon Snodgrass announced. The superintendent said the community meeting would be held at 8 p.m. and all members of the district are urged to attend. Snodgrass said the school was proposing construction of a home economics lab, a gymnasium, and additional classrooms with the total cost about $135,000. The meeting tonight will provide a chance for citizens to air their views on the matter, he said.

Monitors Go To Court In Protest Of Hoffa Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Court-appointed monitors went to U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today with a protest against managers by Teamsters President James R. Hoffa which would abolish their job of watchdog over union affairs. The conference with the judge broke up quickly, however, to be resumed this afternoon with a Hoffa representative present. Letts apparently wanted to hear both sides at the same sitting. At the afternoon session Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the Monitors Board, was expected to ask Judge Letts to take a stand on Hoffa's plan to hold a union convention and election next February. Assuming a Hoffa victory in such an election, the move would do away with the Letts-appointed monitors and permit a team selected by Hoffa to take over the corruption clean up job in the union. O'Donoghue was reported intent on finding out from U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts whether the monitors can forbid such a convention and get court backing for "cleanup directives" to Hoffa which the Teamsters boss has ignored in some cases. Hoffa himself questioned whether the monitors can properly require that the union name an outside prosecutor to bring ouster charges against one of Hoffa's closest union cronies, Owen (Bert) Brennan, a union vice president from Detroit. Brennan is one of half a dozen Hoffa aides who have figured in Senate Rackets Committee disclosures and whom the monitors have recommended for suspension from union office and power. "We feel we have complied with the orders and recommendations of the monitors up to the point where we question whether the monitors have overstepped their authority under the court order," Hoffa said. Hoffa referred to the order by Judge Letts establishing the monitorship. It was part of a compromise settlement of a lawsuit by 13 New York Teamsters members who contended Hoffa was elected Teamsters president illegally last September as Dave Beck's successor.

Legion Calls For Firm Foreign Policy

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Legion today called for a U.S. foreign policy "that the American people and the people of the world would understand" to meet the challenge of Soviet expansion. The legion's 40th convention rejected what it called "the principle of co-existence with gangsters, ruffians and murderers."

Great Strides Made In Ocean, Atmospheric Science By IGY

Editor's Note—The intensive, cooperative efforts of the International Geophysical Year have brought notable advances in weather and ocean science. From Moscow, where he attended IGY sessions recently, Dr. Dale F. Leipper reports on developments in these fields. He is director of the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology at Texas A&M College.

By Dr. DALE F. LEIPPER
Special to The Associated Press

Thirteen months of systematic observation of the earth's fluid envelope—the atmosphere and the ocean—were summarized as part of a recent gathering of world scientists in Moscow.

Some 50 research vessels are involved in the marine research program and expeditions have been conducted in all the world's oceans. Surveys lasted as long as nine months. Since time is required after an expedition to prepare the data for distribution, it's still in the 18-month International Geophysical Year period which began July 1, 1957, for comprehensive results to become available. The same is true for meteorology with its far-flung network of regular and special observation stations.

But it is obvious from the discussions at Moscow, at the meeting of the Special Committee for the International Geophysical Year, that the IGY period has begun a new era of international cooperation in oceanography and meteorology.

And many new tools have been perfected. One of these is the swallow float developed in Great Britain. This is a device which will float and may be tracked at a fixed ocean depth giving direct current measurements. With it has been detected a reverse flow under the Gulf Stream of comparable speed.

Another most important device is an accurate indicator of ocean salt content, using the electrical conductivity of sea water as a basis. In meteorology, instruments carried by rockets and satellites open up great new possibilities.

One of the main efforts of IGY has been to obtain weather and ocean data over the whole earth on a simultaneous time basis. In working toward this objective, meteorologists have for the first time produced daily weather maps of the Arctic and prepared weather forecasts from them. There are some 54 observing stations in this area for IGY—an unprecedented event in polar research.

The difficulties of describing the oceans on a simultaneous time basis seem almost insurmountable. In the past, data from many decades often were combined to give a picture of conditions in a given area. The systematic work of the IGY provides one fairly comprehensive picture in a single year.

Good indications have thus been obtained that the significant features of the ocean temperature, its circulation and other characteristics do vary from year to year. Such changes have effects upon world climate, food supply and navigation.

In some specific areas, notably the north and northeast Atlantic, more intensive investigations were carried on. In this case many countries, working through the International Council for exploration of the sea, were able to define much more closely the general position and variability of the Polar Front—the southern boundary of a cold water mass which greatly influences the entire ocean circulation.

Another group of IGY studies in oceanography and meteorology is related to the heat budget of the earth. This is the mechanism by which solar radiation is received, absorbed, stored and emitted from the oceans and the atmosphere. It is the basis of the world's weather and climate.

Meteorologists have been making special efforts to attain greater and greater altitudes with their sounding balloons, and have added to the normal 60,000 to 80,000 feet heights, some 20,000 feet of altitude with temperature information. They have used rockets and satellites for occasional readings from even greater heights. They have added new observation stations.

A final grouping of IGY results in oceanography and meteorology may be made under the heading of chemical and radioactivity studies. Here, for example, measurements of the amount of carbon dioxide in the air and surface water layers indicate the influence of large industrial areas—which produce carbon dioxide by burning petroleum products—upon the natural environment.

The amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere modifies climate by affecting the transfer of heat. In the ocean it is a major factor in plant growth. To date, analyses do not show unusually large concentrations in the atmosphere. Apparently the ocean acts to keep the system in balance, in spite of man's efforts to change concentrations.

Radioactive elements such as tritium and deuterium have been used to trace air and water masses, determining the general flow and the rate of overturn. The general level of radioactivity in the air and in the sea has been monitored with the object of predicting areas and times when concentrations may become dangerous.

Congressional Record Holds Glimpses Of Life In Texas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—The official and austere looking Congressional Record, sometimes offers a cross-section of life in Texas.

You skip the first two-thirds or so of this daily—and often dull—account of the proceedings of Congress and get into what is called the "Appendix." There you find "extensions of remarks" of members of Congress. They make these remarks, not in the House or Senate, but only in the cold type that goes into the printing of each day's record.

They can remark on any subject under the sun. But usually their remarks are about things or people in their home states. Subjects range from tributes to a deceased constituent to a glowing account of the climate and scenic attributes of the old home district.

Insertions of newspaper articles, with a few accompanying words, are popular. The reproduced material usually is informative to colleagues who take the trouble to read the Appendix. And the editor or writer involved often feels flattered to receive marked copies and see his words destined for the official archives of the United States.

Here are excerpts from insertions by Texas members in the last week of the recently adjourned 85th Congress (captions over each indicate the subject matter and name the legislator making the insertion).

"Smithville, Minus Katy, Makes Comeback"
"Extension of Remarks of 'Hon. Homer Thornberry of Texas.'"

Thornberry noted "the rapid deterioration of once prosperous cities and towns which, as a result of modern scientific developments, are deprived of their major source of income" and continued:

"Here is a story by Margaret Webster which appeared in the Houston Post, telling of the remarkable progress the people of Smithville, Tex. have been able to make in the development of their city, in spite of the loss of revenue from the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad offices and shops."

Miss Webster's story then was reproduced.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough is a prolific "insertor" in the Record. A sample:

"Last month this body passed Senate Joint Resolution 133, to provide for the construction by the Department of the Interior of five full-scale demonstration plants for the conversion of sea water and other saline or brackish waters into water suitable for agricultural, industrial, municipal and other beneficial uses."

"The situation has perhaps been more readily recognized in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, where an adequate and economical supply of fresh water has long been a serious problem."

Another Yarborough "extension":

"Baylor University, founded by charter from the Republic of Texas and long recognized as an outstanding educational institution, recently received a grant from the National Foundation to carry on research on virus diseases. Even though the Salk vaccine has greatly reduced the crippling effects of polio, there is still much to be done."

Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa said in an insert:

"The purpose of my rising today is to join with our beloved Sam Rayburn and with others of that distinguished company now advocating the east front extension of our Capitol Building."

"We all realize the villification our Speaker has courageously endured in this regard."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson extended these remarks:

"Recently, Capt. E. H. Young, a marine surveyor of Houston, Texas, published in the magazine Offshore Drilling an article entitled 'Stability Tests.'"

The article, reproduced in the Record, told of tests by the motor vessel Swal in the Gulf of Mexico.

Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas, Texas lone Republican in Congress, inserts his weekly news letter in the Record.

Rep. Walter Rogers paid tribute to the Pampa Harvester basket team:

"The Panhandle of Texas has so many things of which to be proud, it would be difficult to enumerate them. Daily, seasonally and annually I have ample justification for the pride I share because of the many worthwhile accomplishments of the people in the 18th Congressional District which it is my honor to represent.

"I was particularly gratified by the victory in early spring of this year of the Pampa Harvester basketball team. These boys from my home town captured the Texas State high school basketball championship. This is no mean feat, as you know, because we take our high school athletics seriously in the Lone Star State."

Presbyterians Buy Into School

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Synod of Texas, United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., voted yesterday to buy a half interest in the Austin Theological Seminary.

The Synod will pay three million dollars. The seminary at Austin is owned by the Presbyterian Church, U.S. or Southern branch.

The purchasing Synod, starting in September of 1960, also will pay up to $250,000 annually to increase the assets and will contribute equally toward financing operations.

The inter-church relations committee recommended that the Synod continue exploring the possibility of a federation with the U.S. Synod in Texas.

The Rev. Earle Crawford of Wichita Falls reported on restricting the presbyteries in Texas, reducing the number of districts from 12 to 7.

Minister Dies

VERNON, Tex. (AP)—Dr. E. A. Reed, 75, retired Methodist minister who had served at Stamford, Plainview, Vernon and Abilene and in Oklahoma, died yesterday.

Insurance Board Mum On Rate Fuss

AUSTIN (AP)—The Board of Insurance will not take a stand in the controversy involving fixed versus flexible rates for auto insurance unless asked by the Legislature, Chairman Penn Jackson said today.

"It is a legislative problem, not a board problem," Jackson said. "If the Legislature wants our advice, we might give it. We haven't discussed it on the board."

He and other board members sat in yesterday while the Legislature's full-time research group heard testimony in favor of flexible rates. The Texas Legislative Council's committee is studying a auto insurance to determine whether equitable rating practices exist under the state's uniform rate law.

Vestal Lemmon of Chicago, general manager of the National Assn. of Independent Insurers, was the only witness. He urged the uniform, single rate law be abolished and deviation be allowed by companies, subject to approval of the Board of Insurance.

"It not only would be of benefit to the public, but it would not let us be thrown into the gaping jaws of federal bureaucrats," he said.

"The single rate monopolistic auto and casualty law in Texas stands as an open invitation for federal regulation and taxation of the insurance business."

Lemmon said if competition were allowed in Texas, average rates on auto insurance could be reduced 20 per cent.

The council's committee met later in closed session. Executive Director Read Granberry said its report and recommendations should be ready in November.

Texas, the only state with the single rate auto insurance law, allows the Board of Insurance to set minimum rates. Supporters claim it gives the state the lowest auto rates in the nation.

Lemmon said it was a matter of juggling figures and claimed Texans would pay 25 million dollars more than is necessary to adequately protect the policyholder and the insurance companies' loss ratio.

He said the 85 Texas companies he represents would be forced to charge 13 million dollars more than is necessary under the minimum law, although about 10 million would be returned in dividends.

The dividend return is another argument fostered by proponents of the single rate law. However, Lemmon said the committee "paying dividends is expensive. Some companies will not pay dividends and we would rather charge a lower initial rate."

Lemmon also said the uniform rate law apparently does not offer protection for small insurance companies in Texas, because the state has had more bankruptcies than all other states combined.

Safe drivers in Texas were penalized in that they paid the same rate as a driver who may have had 10 accidents the previous year. In other states, merit discounts are allowed, he said.

Jurors Testify They Sought Aid

CUERO, Tex. (AP)—A member of the DeWitt County grand jury that returned 158 indictments in its investigation of veterans land deals testified yesterday he and two other jurors solicited the help of the state attorney general.

Juror R. H. Jochen said they did so after the grand jury had voted to indict former Congressman John Bell. The district attorney at the time, Wayne Hartman, refused to write the indictment, claiming the evidence was not sufficient.

Jochen gave his testimony as a witness in the trial of C. O. Hagan, Cletus Ernest and Harry Robinson on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state of $146,000 in the veterans land program.

The defense contends the indictments are illegal because unauthorized persons representing former Atty. Gen. John Shepperd were in the grand jury room. Judge Howard Green has not ruled on a defense motion to set the indictments aside.

Asked if he and grand jurors William Butler and Frank Simicek of Georgetown had made a trip to Austin to confer with Shepperd on the indictment against Hagan, Jochen said they had not. He said they went to solicit Shepperd's help in writing an indictment against Bell.

Bell was not indicted by the DeWitt County grand jury. The defense did not question Jochen as to why the proposed indictment was dropped after the conference with Shepperd.

Later in 1955 Bell was indicted by the Guadalupe County grand jury on charges of veterans land frauds. The indictment was quashed when it was found that a member of the grand jury had not paid his poll tax.

Other members of the DeWitt County grand jury, questioned one by one by defense lawyers, backed up Jochen's testimony.

They said at the start of their investigation Judge Green told them the attorney general and his department would be available for local advice. They said they solicited the attorney general's help only when Hartman refused to cooperate with them.

Hartman resigned before the grand jury completed its investigation. He is now a lawyer in Victoria, Tex.

Shepperd, now an Odessa attorney, testified earlier his department prepared the indictments against Hagan, Ernest and Robinson at the request of the grand jury.

He also said Hartman had advised him by telephone he would not write the indictments.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Remember the book satchels our mothers made for us when we started to school? Mine was made of a khaki twill-like material...

MRS. JACK WILSON returned late Wednesday evening from Oklahoma City where she attended the wedding of a relative.

Guests of MR. AND MRS. CLIFTON WOOLRIDGE left Wednesday for their home in Newton, Kan.

When WILLIAM VARNADORE joined friends for a holiday fishing trip near Coleman, Mrs. Varnadore and the children, Bill and Kaye, went to Robert Lee to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee J. Walker.

MRS. NELL FRAZIER arrived last night from New York where she spent four days with her daughter and family, the David Barrows, who live in Rockville Centre on Long Island.

Mrs. Frazier is expecting her niece, Mrs. James S. Frazier and Cornelia, today from Rosita, Coah, Mexico. They will spend a few days with her and with the James Bruce Fraziers.

MRS. BEULAH BRYANT is back home after spending a week in Monahans with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Boatman.

The grass will probably grow high at the FRED LANCASTER home. Fred has just got out of the hospital where he was taken with a badly injured foot which he has as the result of a tangle with an electric mower.

Water sports enthusiasts took to the lakes over the holiday. Among the many were MR. AND MRS. VERN VIGAR and MR. AND MRS. REEVE'S MOREN who pitched camp at Lake Colorado City for water skiing, boating and fishing.

At their cabin on Lake J. B. THOMAS, MR. AND MRS. JAMES VINES and Pamela were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballew and and yellow ribbon, with the same shades of ribbon making long runners on the head table. Glittered letters and numerals on the runners spelled out the name of the organization and the dates, 1947-1958. Mixed flower arrangements marked the center and ends of the table.

Mrs. Agnell presented 50 all badges of a gavel and ribbons to each of the past presidents; in a humorous original poem, she spoke to Mrs. Angel of the duties of her office and gave her a figurine holding aspirin.

A period of silence was held in memory of the late Mrs. J. T. Brooks, who was active in garden club work until illness prevented her participation. Charter members and others who had been in the club since its start were recognized.

James Eubanks, executive secretary of the Citizens Traffic Commission, spoke to the group on traffic safety, touching on the causes of accidents. He mentioned especially the danger of the shrubbery planted close to corners, presenting a menace for automobiles or pedestrians.

The club voted to continue the project of the rose garden at the state hospital. A sum was set aside for assistance in maintaining the club sprabbok, which is being kept by Mrs. Allen Hamilton.

Members were told that in all the garden clubs of the city, there are about 125; the Big Spring Garden Club is the parent club of the other units.

Yearbooks will be distributed at the next meeting, which is scheduled for Oct. 1, in the home of Mrs. J. R. Hensley, 518 Edwards Circle, it was announced.

Two guests, Eubanks and Mrs. H. G. Munal, were present for the luncheon.

Clothes, Etiquette Worry College Girls

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer When do you take your gloves off at a formal gathering? Do I have to buy a chemise? How much money should I spend on my room at school? Those are a few of the questions that bother young people as they prepare to go back to school.

"I cannot afford to buy more than a few dresses a year," writes an 18-year-old college sophomore. "So I must take a date dress back to school with me, and I don't want to buy a chemise. I have a nice figure but I'm just a little too hippy for a chemise."

A. One of the few styles to emerge from the sack is the Empire silhouette, and advance fall showings predict that it will be all the rage with the younger set, for whom there couldn't be a prettier style. This was the style worn by some of history's most romantic figures.

Q. I have been invited to a very formal party where gloves will be worn. What shall I do when I want to eat or when I must shake hands with someone? Should I leave the gloves on or remove them? A. Everybody has a different conception about how to wear gloves, it seems. The French, who produce elegant little leather gloves, believe that gloves should be worn, and shown off like a hat, not carried. Etiquette books emphasize, too, that gloves should not be put on in the street, and they shouldn't be carried bunched up or dangling limply.

When you are at a party where liquid refreshment or a tiny sandwich is served, you may remove the right glove, holding it casually in your left hand or putting it in your bag. At a dinner or supper dance, remove both gloves and put them with your bag before dining. Never tuck the hand part of the glove into your wrist.

Shake hands with your gloves on, except when shaking the hands of royalty or the President of the United States. Keep your gloves on, too, when you are on a receiving line.

Q. What sort of allowance should I have for furnishing my room at college? Is my roommate supposed to share the expense of it with me? A. It usually works out so that roommates ferret out of their attics and basements just what their respective families can afford to part with in the way of furniture. After that if additional items are needed—new curtains, floor mat, lamps or bed throws, the two get together and decide how much they will spend on those items, sharing the cost.

Q. Do you see any harm in my boyfriend driving me back to college? It is 150 miles from where I live. A. Not if your parents permit it.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

If You Lose Weight, Be Sure It Stays Lost

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD—When I wandered onto the "Trackdown" set the other day at CBS-TV, I saw Kasey Rogers for the first time since she was a Golden Circle girl at Paramount five years ago and I was surprised to find her twirling a 45 gum with the greatest of ease.

"I'm a fast draw," she said with pride, "and I never use a double. I even do my own riding. These westerns are tough on you and I've really worked to get into condition. But now that I am it's easy to stay that way."

I admitted Kasey's figure. "When I first saw myself on TV, I realized I needed to lose weight—a lot of it—twelve pounds," Kasey told me. "But I was determined not to get flabby so I bought some weights and worked with them every day. I know it sounds like a muscle-man trick, but they are pastel pink and powder blue and are obviously made for girls."

"It's only when you use heavy weights that you get muscle-bound," she explained. "Working weights builds tone, and you get a lot out of the exercise. The most important decision to make when you go on a diet," Kasey continued, "is never to gain back what you take off. It is foolish to reduce if you are not going to maintain your new weight."

"I put myself on a diet of 750 calories a day. I had a book and kept track of everything I ate. I was overweight because of Italian dinners, baked potatoes dripping in butter, and rich ice cream. These I gave up, but I replaced them with well-balanced meals," she said.

"You can eat well if you use your calories for protein, vegetable, fruit and salads. Take for example a cup of bouillon, a half-head of lettuce, breast of chicken and a slice of melon. These only come to 250 calories and that isn't exactly starving," Kasey observed.

"After I lost 12 pounds I eased back into normal eating with dressing on my salads, butter on my vegetables and toast for breakfast. But I weigh myself every day," she confided, "and if I've gained even one pound, I cut down immediately."

"There is no place that procrastination hurts you more," she said in parting, "than it does with dieting."

Water Delivery At Billion Mark

Delivery of water to member cities and other customers of the Colorado River Municipal Water District fell barely short of the billion gallon mark in August.

O. H. Irie, production engineer for the CRMWD, said Thursday that deliveries aggregated 995,853,000 gallons for the month. A year ago the month's total was 1,112,109,000 gallons, a figure which would have been equalled except for showers late in the month. This sharply cut consumption in Big Spring and Odessa during the last week of August.

SACROC and other repressuring units were beginning to draw more water as the number of producing days was raised in oil fields by the Texas Railroad Commission.

During August, Odessa drew 428,799,000 gallons, about 23 million less than the same month a year ago. Big Spring took 265,982,000, or about 15 million more. Snyder required 77,243,000, SACROC 161,982,000, Sharon Ridge 34,486,000, Lion Oil 23,316,000 and Texas Gulf Producing 4,132,000.

Irie looked for production to hold fairly steady this month despite the approach of autumn, which will dull municipal demands.

MEN IN SERVICE

Capt. Lynn E. Thomas, 36th Tactical Fighter Squadron pilot and formerly of Webb AFB, has been awarded his senior pilot's wings. He has the highest total jet time in the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing—2,396 hours. This record was achieved over a seven-year period and was completely accident free.

Capt. and Mrs. Thomas, the former Lynelle Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sullivan, 106 Lexington, and their two sons live at Brady AFB near Itaska.

The long jet-time record of Capt. Thomas began at Nellis AFB, Nev., in 1951 when he was flying F-80s. He logged more Shooting Star time in the Korean combat. Back in the United States he was assigned to Webb AFB and to Craig AFB, Ala., where he flew F-83s as an instructor in jet basic pilot training. In 1956 he was re-assigned to the Far East and returned to his former outfit, to 8th Fighter-Bomber Wing now stationed at Itaska. He has been flying both the F-80F and F-100D jets.

inland sea and had to be blasted to destruction. Seaman Hair explained that he had not been able to communicate because the rescue ship that took all 68 crew members off the sinking craft took them back to their original base. It was several days before a letter could be dispatched, he said. Seaman Hair's parents reside in Coahoma.

Scout Leaders Meet Today

The regular monthly 10-1 meeting of Boy Scout, Cub and Explorer volunteers is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the District Courtroom.

The beginning of the autumn program will be stressed along with the rally program planned for Scouts and Explorers on the evening of Sept. 25. A separate time will be fixed for the Cub rally.

Purpose of the rally is to gather all new boys who are interested in joining a Cub, Scout or Explorer unit in one meeting so that they may be welcomed into troops, packs and posts. The Scouts and Explorers will have their rally at Howard County Junior College auditorium.

In charge of the Scout roundtable this evening will be John Falone, and the theme will be world brotherhood. Jack Alexander will lead Cubbers in developing the American folklore theme. Gene Campbell will head the Explorer section.

Dr. Clyde Thomas Jr., health and safety chairman, will explain the last phase of the Boy Scouts of America safety national good turn—safety in the home. Boys will personally deliver some 5,000 copies of a booklet on how to deal with emergencies in the home.

Housing Project Gets Under Way

Construction is to swing into full stride this week on a major housing development in the Douglass Addition on the old San Angelo highway.

The project was announced July 21 by Cecil D. McDonald, included are plans for 100 homes to cost approximately $1,200,000. Since announcing the development, the McDonald organization has been engaged in getting preliminary work such as the warehouse completed on at least eight other unit which will serve as a demonstration house and offices.

This week foundations will be poured on at least eight other homes. Framing and other construction will follow rapidly.

Part of the work has been delayed pending the establishment of sewer and street grades, but these likely will be in hand within a matter of days McDonald said. This work will be pressed in hopes of being able to apply paving prior to Oct. 15.

The addition is located immediately west of the City Park golf course on the old San Angelo highway.

Tech's Business Bureau Beginning Its Second Year

LUBBOCK (SC)—Excellent support by key persons in 132 counties in West Texas has put the West Texas Business Report well on the road to success, Harry Walker, director of the Texas Tech Business Research Bureau, has announced.

Beginning its second year of operation this month, the bureau has received an excellent reporting response compared to other statistical bureaus, Walker said.

"We have an approximate 84 per cent average response from area bankers, city secretaries and postmasters—and we have a higher average response from the smaller communities in the area," he added.

The bureau, which is preparing to publish its ninth issue this month, was established last year through the cooperative efforts of Texas Tech, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Business Community. Activities are coordinated with the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Today persons in 264 towns with 800 population and above and those with county seats and banks send in monthly reports on business activity in the 132 West Texas counties. Their reports include statistics on population, banking, utility meters, postal receipts and construction. Three more business indicators—retail sales index, retail credit index, and an agricultural index—will be added.

TV In Courts Step Forward

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Television coverage of courts took a big step forward in Oklahoma yesterday in a decision by the Criminal Court of Appeals.

The court rejected an appeal by Edward Lyles, who contended television coverage of his burglary trial deprived him of a fair hearing and of his privacy. Lyles drew 15 years.

The three judges delivered a strong defense of freedom of the press to cover public trials and said there is no basis for distinction between the various news media. This includes press photography and television filming.

"How can the right of all to gather and disseminate legitimate matter to the public be denied to one without doing violence to the right of all?" the court asked.

The opinion called "freedom of the press" the fulcrum by which the standards of the world have been lifted to a higher level, and added "We can understand why it has been many times held that these provisions of free press extend to broadcasting and television."

At the same time the court cautioned against possible disturbances in the court through competition between television stations, radio and other news gathering media. Pooling of television and photography resources was suggested as a possible solution.

Mental Ward For Boy, 12, Who Killed 2 Men

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—Commitment to a mental hospital has been recommended for a 12-year-old Woodward, Okla., boy who with his younger brother shot and killed two men last March.

The recommendation was made yesterday by a sanity commission that studied psychiatric reports on Robert Arthur Smith Jr. The boy and his brother, David, 10, are accused of fatally shooting grocer Floyd Blair, 49, and a clerk in Blair's store, Adrian Wilson.

The younger brother was sent to a boy's ranch, while officials considered prosecuting Robert for murder. County Judge James Young said it still may be several days before he reaches a decision on the murder charge.

Midland Man Named In Overtime Suit

A Midland man, I. E. Hale, doing business as Hale Paraffin Service, has been named in a suit for recovery of $1,792 allegedly due in overtime payment.

The suit was filed by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in the Western District of Texas U. S. District Court on behalf of three employees of the defendant. The government contends that substantial quantities of the oil produced from wells of the defendant are for interstate commerce. This would, if upheld, require a minimum of $1 per hour plus overtime after 40 hours a week.

LEGAL NOTICE
The Howard County School Board will receive bids for the construction of the Howard County Courthouse, Room 201, Big Spring, Texas. Said Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Arrive For Hearing

Three officials of Arlington County Schools carry charts and papers as they arrive at the federal courthouse at Alexandria, Va., for a hearing to determine whether the county must admit Negroes to white schools. Left to right, Bernard Joy, school board member; Charles J. Walsh, partly hidden, assistant superintendent for personnel, and Howard Bovee, assistant to the superintendent. U. S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan conducted the hearing.

Coin Bugs Should Watch For Frauds

By LONNIE HUDKINS
Dallas Times Herald Staff Writer
Written for the Associated Press
Many neophyte coin collectors have been the victims of buying coins with altered dates.

And, unfortunately, under present federal and state laws, there isn't much that can be done about it.

For example, a newcomer to coin collecting recently paid $17.50 for a 1914 Lincoln cent minted in Denver. The neophyte thought he was getting a fair exchange because the coin appeared in good condition and he knew that only 1,193,000 of them were minted.

Later, when he showed his "find" to H. D. Lawrence of Dallas, a noted authority and Southwestern coin dealer, the young collector learned the truth. Lawrence, because of his years of experience in handling coins, immediately spotted the coin as a 1944-D Lincoln cent that had part of the first "4" altered to make the date read "1914."

Did this altering of the date violate any federal laws?
A spokesman for the Secret Service said it didn't. Although the date had been altered, the value of the coin had not been altered from the government's viewpoint. The coin in question was still a cent and as such was good for making change, buying a stick of gum or finding out how much its owner weighed.

The victim then took the matter to the county and state authorities who pointed out that proof would have to be established that the seller knew the date was altered. But because the transaction was for less than $50, even if guilt could be shown, the case did not constitute a felony. Had the transaction involved more than $50, it would have been a felony and the authorities happy to prosecute.

So, the best practice to follow when in doubt is to show the coin in question to a dealer or experienced collector. And just as in buying stocks and bonds, it is also wise to know the seller personally or that he is a member of the American Numismatic Assn. or your local coin collectors club.

But altered dates are not the only pitfalls for new collectors. Some have paid as high as $30 for the Spade Guinea, a famous British gold coin from the days of King George III, only to find out it was just a brass imitation worth only about $3 as a collector's item or a counterfeit.

Class In Bus

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP)—One seventh grade class at Camargo High School held class in the school bus, officials explained, because the school was so overcrowded. An annex is being readied to take care of the extra students.

Car Leaves Road, 3 Persons Die

WACO (AP)—An auto plunged off a road and into a culvert 16 miles south of here early today, killing three persons and injuring one.

Officers were unable to pry the auto open until wreckers arrived, some 30 minutes after the crash. Two of the dead were identified as William Chamberland, 35, and Horace Chrisman, 34, formerly of Brownwood. Both had been working in Waco.

The third killed, a woman, was not immediately identified. Injured was Walter Eaton, 30, of Waco.

Swine Owe Their Bulk To 'Blood' Horse

FORT WORTH, Sept. 4. (AP)—There are 125,000 hogs around . . . if they haven't been converted to park chops . . . who would not doubt be startled to know they owe their plumpness to one horse. The horse, whose mother must have been favorably impressed by a pincushion, spent 10 years at Globe Laboratories here. Except for frequent needling, he lived the life of Riley.

He was one of a herd of pampered horses whose blood is used to make serums against livestock diseases.

The horses are bought at sales throughout the Southwest. Draft animals in good condition are sought. They spend their time romping in a pasture and lazing in stalls. There is only the needle to mar their days and with draft horses being the phlegmatic animals they are, they don't usually seem to mind. Nary a one has fainted.

The horses are given increasingly heavy doses of cultures to build their resistance to the desired disease. When their blood reaches a certain standard a quantity is drawn and used to make the serum.

Globe has been producing serums for more than 20 years, and has used more than 500 horses. The record animal, entered in the books only as a number, produced 1,250,000 cc's of serum which helped immunize 125,000 hogs against a malady known as erysipelas.

Cadet's Dates Find Him Out

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Ed Hopkins is a lucky fellow. Or maybe he isn't.

Hopkins, an Air Force cadet stationed at Colorado Springs, Colo., has been dating the daughters of two officers.

Both of the girls are pretty. So pretty, in fact, that both have been chosen to compete in the Miss America contest here.

One, Joanne Lucille MacDonald, 20, Ames, Iowa, the daughter of one of Hopkins' colonels, is Miss Iowa.

Representing the state of California is Sandra Lee Jennings, 18, Riverside, whose father is a major at Colorado Springs.

The girls got together over the weekend and started talking about, what else, boys.

Turned out they're both dating a nice fellow.

Turned out it was the same fellow.

Turned out it was Ed Hopkins. Hopkins later got a call from both girls—together.

They said they teased him about the matter.

Trunkful Of Music

The HCJC band has no instruments and no director. But it got off to a flying start Wednesday when the fledgling organization was presented with a trunkful of sheet music, enough—almost—to set up a good sized music library. Jack Hendrix, music department chief, happily looks over the collection which came from several sources. Now, says Hendrix, all we need is someone to be generous with some instruments.

HCJC Inaugurates First Band Program, Gets Gift Of Music

Howard County Junior College now has a band—or will have. It depends on how you look at it.

The band has no instruments, except a big bass drum that in previous years has helped to boom up various sporting and other events. The group has no director, although High School Band Director Doug Wiehe will conduct this year on a loan-out; a full-time college director is being planned for next year (or the year after). The band has no place to rehearse except in the music building's choral room, which is available when the choir isn't using it.

But enough of headaches. These are things that can and will be ironed out in time, says Jack Hendrix, music department chairman. Looking at the bright side, Hendrix points out that band work will give music majors one full hour of credit, and private instruction will be available according to demand.

A tentative schedule has been worked out for a 4-5 p.m., 5-day week. This odd schedule was necessary so as not to conflict with Wiehe's regular duties. A regular director is one of the top-priority entries for next year's budget, along with some basic instruments such as tubas, which individual students don't ordinarily buy themselves.

The band would have got off to a better start, except for lack of funds—all college budgets were cut for this year due to the cost of furnishing the student union building. For the nonce, students will have to scrounge their own instruments, and in some cases the college will beg, borrow or steal from other sources.

The band probably will not be available for football games and other sporting events for a few years, until enough time has passed to allow for normal growth. Meanwhile, the band is an integral part—to use Hendrix's words—of the music program, and an important factor in the department's expansion.

Hendrix likes to point out that many smaller groups, such as combos, can grow out of the band program, to fill the various musical needs of college and community. Right now, he expects a 30- to 40-piece band, but if HCJC's enrollment increases by a major percentage, the Band ultimately will have 50 or more chairs.

It's not just music majors who sign up for band. There are lots of high school band veterans, non-music majors, who decide to take a last fling at band work before having to go to work for a living.

The HCJC Band is not entirely lacking in material resources. Wednesday, the Civic Music Assn. presented Hendrix with a truckful of sheet music, which the CMA had gathered from various sources. Quite a bit of the music came from the Forsan schools which cleaned out their music library last year; some music was presented by Bob Johnson, formerly with the Webb AFB Band; the rest from miscellaneous sources.

The college band has the music — now, generous people, does anyone have some battered old horns stashed away somewhere?

Faith Carries Thru Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—"If ye have faith such as a mustard seed, nothing shall be impossible."

Mary Ann Mobley, entered as Miss Mississippi in the Miss America Pageant here, wore a bracelet with this inscription Wednesday night. Inside the bracelet was a mustard seed. Both had been given to her by her Sunday school teacher in Brandon, Miss.

Mary Ann's faith didn't let her down. The 21-year-old senior at the University of Mississippi sang and danced her way to the talent championship in the first round of the pageant's preliminary competition.

Miss California, Sandra Lee Jennings of Riverside, won the preliminary swim suit event. The pretty 18-year-old Californian freshman, is 5 feet 5, weighs 121 and has brown hair and green eyes. She is to compete in the evening gown competition tonight.

Miss Mississippi ranged from an operatic solo through torch singing to jazz dancing in pleasing a crowd of 6,642.

Wednesday night's was the first of three preliminary rounds of competition in the pageant. The new Miss America will be crowned Saturday night.

DA Seeks Quiz Show Records In Wake Of Stempel's Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—The district attorney's office has asked for tape recordings and financial records of the television quiz show Twenty-One as a result of a charge by former contestant Herbert Stempel that the program was rigged.

The recordings apparently will be used to match Stempel's own voice with a voice on tape concerning a purported conversation between Stempel and Dan Enright, a co-producer of Twenty-One.

Enright said the 31-year-old Stempel was given $18,500 of his winnings in advance when the latter threatened to quit the program.

Stempel eventually left the show in 1956 with $49,500 after losing to Charles Van Doren. Stempel has charged he was told to lose, an allegation denied by Enright and Jack Barry, producers for the NBC show.

Enright said of the advance payment, "He (Stempel) told me if he didn't get the money he would have to quit the show immediately. I gave it to him without questioning him because at that point the show needed him."

"He was the first contestant who had remained on for a number of weeks in a row. He was establishing an identity for the show and we couldn't afford to lose him."

At the time, Stempel was ahead $50,000 on the show, but on Twenty-One a contestant's winnings are always at stake and over a period of time—his winnings could have been wiped out. On the other hand, a contestant is free to quit with his winnings at any time.

Barry and Enright have said that Stempel, long after he was off the program, tried to blackmail them by announcing he would make public charges that the show was rigged.

Barry and Enright earlier this week produced a tape recording in which a voice, presumably Enright's, was heard to say "a blackmail scheme" was afoot and asked, "Do you agree?"

A voice purported to be that of Stempel replied, "Uh, yes."

Stempel charged yesterday that the tape recordings "have been doctored."

He said he had a conversation with Enright on the date specified—March 7, 1957—but added: "I insist that I did not say yes when Enright asked me the question about the blackmail."

Asked what he did say, Stempel replied: "I don't remember. I might have said no or emphatically not."

Stempel reiterated that the advance money proved his contention that Enright knew he could not lose. It was reported, however, that some quiz shows other than Twenty-One have advanced relatively small sums to contestants whose assured winnings were greater than the advance.

Stempel also absolved Barry of the rigging charges in talking to newsmen. Barry, he said, "had absolutely nothing to do with giving me the answers."

Asked why he lent himself to the alleged deception, Stempel said: "I was a poor boy all my life and when the man offered me this proposition, I am sure that 95 per cent of all the people in this country would have done the same thing."

Boy, That Looks Good!

And it is too, for it's Mrs. Denver G. Harris's moist banana cake. Grady Lynn and Debbie Marie knew all about good cakes because they are their mother's specialty. This one might have been baked with a special event in mind—Tuesday marked Debbie's introduction to school life.

Humorous Homemaker, Now Able Cook, Recalls When It Wasn't So

You have heard of brides who don't know how to boil water. Mrs. Denver G. Harris recalls that, in preparing the first breakfast for her husband, she asked him if she should put grease in the skillet to fry bacon.

That all too rare gift of being able to laugh at oneself is typical of this enterprising homemaker's sense of humor. More than once she has regaled her fellow members of the Alabean Class, First Baptist Church, with her original skits and style shows, invariably funny to the point of hilarity.

In her cooking, she has come a long way from the honeymoon stage. She believes in substantial food and a well rounded menu for her husband and their two children. A standout in the dessert department, she makes such delicious cakes that folks are always asking for the recipes.

Two of these cake formulas are included here, along with a chocolate icing that she assures you will never fail and will remain soft and creamy to the last day it is around. One of their favorite dishes is a salad, with dressing, which she worked out herself. This, too, is among her recipes here with the warning not to use onion; it proves too potent for this particular combination.

A milestone was reached in the Harris household, 201 Dixie, Tuesday, Debbie Marie, who was six in August, entered the first grade at Washington Place and was fairly bubbling with excitement. Her brother, Grady Lynn, will evade school for at least three more years; he's only now approaching three.

Talented in several fields, Mrs. Harris makes her own clothes and those of Debbie. She is especially intrigued by upholstery and has had success in redoing some of her own furniture. She has made some of her curtains and, at one time, dedicated this talent to building up the treasury of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, of which she is a member. A sewing club and bridge claims some of her time, and of late she has been working parttime as a bookkeeper for Harmonson Foreign Motors.

Harris, a T&P switchman, is a fisherman and hunter. He hopes to build a boat this winter out in his workshop, equipped for finishing work. Incidentally, the banana cake given here is standard equipment for his fishing trips. It is extremely moist and stores well.

Try Mrs. Harris's recipes:
BANANA NUT CAKE
2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup margarine
2 eggs
1 cup mashed bananas
3/4 cup sour milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups pecans
Sift flour, soda and salt together.

CHERRY PUDDING

Pineapple Adds Flavor To Chicken

Here's an appetizing way to prepare chicken with a different flavor. Serve it with steamed rice and your favorite vegetable salad.

PINEAPPLE CHICKEN
Ingredients:
1 broiler fryer (about 2 1/2 pounds ready-to-cook weight) cut into 10 pieces
3 tbsps. salad (not olive) oil
2 tbsps. water
1/2 to 1 cup thin onion strips
Pineapple Sauce
1/2 cup thin celery crescents
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) water chestnuts (sliced into thin rounds)
1/2 of a medium-sized green pepper (cut into thin strips)
Salt

Method:
Wash and dry chicken pieces on towel; reserve wing tips, neck and giblets for stock. Brown chicken in hot oil in 10 to 12-inch skillet on both sides; do this in two lots if necessary.

Add water to chicken in skillet, cover tightly and steam until just tender—10 to 15 minutes, depending on browning time. Remove chicken from skillet.

Add onion to drippings; cook gently until partly wilted, stirring often with wooden spoon to get up drippings. Add Pineapple Sauce; cool, and stir constantly until all drippings are blended and sauce is thickened and clear.

Stir in pineapple reserved from sauce, celery and water chestnuts; arrange browned chicken on top; sprinkle with green pepper. Cover and reheat gently—10 to 15 minutes. Makes 4 large servings.

Pineapple Sauce: Blend 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons imported dark soy sauce and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 clove crushed garlic and the syrup drained from 1 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) pineapple chunks; reserve pineapple.

APPLE PIE
5 cups thinly sliced apples
2 cups water
Dash of salt
Cook the above, covered, about 20 minutes. Drain off water and place apples in 9 inch uncooked pie shell.

Mix together and pour over apples:
3/4 cup sugar
4 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup half cream and half milk
Sprinkle 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon mixed together over top. Bake at 400, degrees for 50 to 60 minutes.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR CHICKEN
Brown cut up chicken (2 pound)

CHICKEN SALAD
In 8 tablespoons butter.
Mix in bowl:
1 can tomato soup
1/4 cup chopped onions
1 tsp. packed brown sugar
3 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
3 tbsps. vinegar
Four over broiled chicken, cover and simmer for one hour, stirring occasionally.

DRESSING
3 tbsps. catsup
3 tbsps. salad dressing
1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

SPINACH
1 pkg. (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
1 tsp. butter
1 tsp. medium sherry
2 tbsps. crumbled Roquefort cheese
Salt

Method:
Cook spinach according to package directions using the amount of water and salt called for; drain lightly. Add butter, sherry and 1 tablespoon of the cheese; reheat over very low heat, stirring with a fork. Gently mix in remaining cheese. Taste and add salt if necessary. Makes three servings.

PARSLEY CABBAGE
Ingredients:
4 cups coarsely shredded green

Cherry Pudding Offers Real Appetite Appeal

Pride and pleasure are the motivators of the homemaker who does her own baking. It is the unusual and the unique recipe that provides both in developed in the laboratory-kitchens of the makers of Clabber Girl Baking Powder.

Probably all ingredients are now on the pantry shelf; no special listing on the shopping list is called for. This pudding fits well into the fall or winter menu or any menu, for that matter, and it has real taste and appetite appeal for young and old.

CHERRY PUDDING
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 can (16 ounces) sweetened red cherries, drained
Granulated sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening, sugar, and extracts thoroughly. Add egg and continue creaming until fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, adding flour mixture first and last. Beat until well blended after each addition.

Spread half of the cherries in the bottom of a greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Spread half of batter over cherries. Repeat another layer of cherries and remaining batter. Sprinkle top with granulated sugar. Bake in a 350 degree F. (moderate) oven about 45 minutes. Serve warm with cherry sauce. Makes six servings.

In Beating Cream

Do not over-beat cream when you are going to add it to a pie filling or perhaps a gelatin dessert. If it is very stiff, it will be hard to fold into the mixture evenly.

Spiced Gravy

Serve a spiced gravy with slices of pot roast. Bay leaf, whole cloves and thin lemon slices are all good to add to the gravy. Fish out the bay leaf and whole cloves before serving.

To Flute Pastry

How to flute pie pastry? After lining the pan, press your index finger on the pastry rim, then pinch the dough together by using the thumb and index finger of your other hand.

Coffee Sponge Cake

Strong black brewed coffee may be used in a simple sponge cake instead of the water called for. Do not use any other flavoring if the coffee is added.

A Honey of a Bottle!

Why didn't someone think of this before? Golden CAPRI's easy-grip bottle is shaped to fit the hand... it's beaded for no-slip safety... and it has a wide mouth for re-use a dozen ways. You'll love it!

GOLDEN CAPRI CHILI-RONI SKILLET
Sauté until golden: 1/2 lb. (2 cups) uncooked elbow macaroni in 1/2 cup Golden CAPRI Oil
Add: 1/2 cup minced onions
1/2 cup minced green peppers
1 clove garlic, minced
Stir in: 3 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
Bring to a boil quickly; turn heat low and simmer without stirring for 20 minutes. Serves 4-6.

...supper's ready in 22 minutes!

What's for supper?

Try this recipe tonight—no expensive ingredients, no mixing bowls to wash. Just mix, cook and serve in a table-going skillet. The "South-of-the-Border" touch in the seasoning puts the "mmm-mmm-mmm" in macaroni.

Experiment With Less Popular Vegetables

Vegetables are a major source of those health-giving vitamins that are so essential everyday. We all have our preferences and may be prone to ignore certain of the vegetables which are just as important as those we like best.

Spinach, squash and cabbage are three that get the "brush-off" from many quarters. Yet, if they are prepared with care and seasoned with imagination, they can be quite delicious. For instance, pan zucchini and cook a mere five minutes. You'll notice the difference.

Try these recipes:
SKILLET ZUCCHINI
Ingredients:
1 pound zucchini squash
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. water
1/4 tsp. salt
Freshly-ground pepper
Method:
Cut off ends from zucchini; scrub in cold water with stiff vegetable brush. With swivel-blade vegetable peeler, pare off enough of outer covering so you have lengthwise striped effect; slice into thin rounds.

Melt butter in 9 or 10-inch skillet over low heat; add zucchini and mix. Sprinkle with water and salt; cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes or until tender but still crisp.

Uncover as soon as squash is done or it will over-cook. Add freshly-ground pepper to taste. Makes four servings.

EPICURE'S SPINACH
Ingredients:
1 pkg. (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
1 tsp. butter
1 tsp. medium sherry
2 tbsps. crumbled Roquefort cheese
Salt

Method:
Cook spinach according to package directions using the amount of water and salt called for; drain lightly. Add butter, sherry and 1 tablespoon of the cheese; reheat over very low heat, stirring with a fork. Gently mix in remaining cheese. Taste and add salt if necessary. Makes three servings.

PARSLEY CABBAGE
Ingredients:
4 cups coarsely shredded green

cabpage (firmly packed)
2 tbsps. instant dried onion
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk powder
3 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1-1/2 tsp. white pepper
3/4 cup finely chopped parsley (loosely packed)
Method:
Turn cabbage, onion and boiling water into a 10-inch skillet; cover and boil gently until cabbage is partly tender—about five minutes. Drain cabbage; save liquid.

Put cold water, nonfat dry milk powder, flour and salt in the top of a double boiler; beat just until there are no lumps. Cook and stir constantly over simmering water until thickened; stir in 1/4 cup of the cabbage liquid and the parsley.

Cook and stir a few minutes longer. (Sauce should be on the thin side.) Add cabbage and pepper; reheat. Makes six servings.

CHERRY PUDDING
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 can (16 ounces) sweetened red cherries, drained
Granulated sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening, sugar, and extracts thoroughly. Add egg and continue creaming until fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, adding flour mixture first and last. Beat until well blended after each addition.

Spread half of the cherries in the bottom of a greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Spread half of batter over cherries. Repeat another layer of cherries and remaining batter. Sprinkle top with granulated sugar. Bake in a 350 degree F. (moderate) oven about 45 minutes. Serve warm with cherry sauce. Makes six servings.

BUZ SAWYER

BOVINA, THIS IS DR. SOCRATES JONES, THE NOTED ARCHEOLOGIST.

THE WHAT?

DR. JONES IS IN CHARGE OF EXCAVATING THESE GREEK RUINS.

I WAS JUST TELLING MRS. SAWYER HOW STARVED I GET TO TALK TO FELLOW AMERICANS.

I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN, HONEY.

I'D INVITE YOU TO MY TENT FOR A CUP OF TEA, BUT I FEAR MY BACHELOR QUARTERS LACK THE FACILITIES FOR GRACIOUSLY ENTERTAINING SUCH CHARMING LADIES.

A BACHELOR! YOU POOR MAN.

DIXIE DUGAN

LET'S NOT ARGUE OUT HERE—WE'LL WAKE UP THE NEIGHBORS.

THERE'S ONE THING I WANT YOU TO KNOW, TIMOTHY DUGAN. I DON'T CARE HOW OFTEN YOU GO OUT WITH YOUR BOSS'S WIFE BUT AT LEAST YOU OWN AN EXPLANATION!

O.K.—O.K.—I DID THAT IN A FIT OF TEMPER—BUT NOW I'M COOLED OFF.

OH—OH! HERE COMES YOUR BOSS—AND HE'LL NEED TO BE COOLED OFF!

NANCY

I NEED TO GET A QUARTER OUT OF MY BANK.

I'LL HAVE TO GET MY FRIEND TO DO IT.

THANKS, PAL.

ZOO

L'IL ABNER

PLEASE DON'T LET ME F-FALL ASLEEP NO-M-MORE—

BECAUSE AH—SOB!—COMMIT'S INHUMAN CRIMES IN MAH SLEEP—L-LIKE C-COOKIN' AN' EATIN' S-SALOMEY.

HE'S ASLEEP AGAIN—AND YOU'LL BE ROASTED TO A TURN WHEN HE WAKES UP—BUT HE'LL BE SURE HE DID IT!!

BLONDIE

I FIGURED OUT WHY THE WASHBASIN WAS STOPPED UP.

THE TRAP WAS CLOGGED.

YOU'RE RIGHT, DEAR—IT WORKS PERFECTLY NOW.

I'M A LUCKY WIFE TO HAVE A CLEVER HUSBAND WHO CAN REPAIR THINGS LIKE THAT.

ANNIE ROONEY

I SAW DOG'S CAR TURN IN HERE.

ANYBODY SICK??

IT'S MR. BLACK FEATHER—HE'S BEEN WOUNDED—I'M ANRUL GLAD YOU'RE HERE, GRANMA OPENLANDER.

—AN' SILVERBELL GRABBED HER RIFLE-GUN AN' RODE OFF TO KETCH THE MEN WHO CAUSED ALL THE TROUBLE—I'M TERRIBLY WORRIED!

WHAT ARE YOU GONNA DO?

I'M GOING AFTER HER AN' STOP HER, OF COURSE—BUT FROM THE TIZZY YOU TELL ME SHE'S IN, IT AIN'T GOING TO BE EASY—

SNUFFY SMITH

TH' FELLER WHAT OWNS TH' SAWMILL IS LOOKIN' FER A HIRED HAND, UNK SNUFFY.

THANKY FER TELLIN' ME, JUGHAID.

BY DOGGIES!! YE DESERVE A NICKEL FER THAT INFORMATION.

I BET AUNT LOWEEZY SHORE WILL BE TICKLED WHEN I TELL HER TH' BODACIOUS NEWS.

DON'T YE DARE!! WHAT DO YE THINK I'M PAYIN' YE FER ENNYHOW?

GRANDMA

GOLLY, FED, HOW CAN YOU ALWAYS BE EATIN' ONIONS?

WELL, IT'S NOT EASY, GRANDMA!!

BUT SINCE I'VE BEEN GNAWIN' ON BERMUDAS...

...I HAVEN'T ONCE BEEN SNATCHED UP AN' KISSED ALL WEEK!

DONALD DUCK

EVERYTHING'S DONE, BUT THE SHUTTERS... WHAT COLOR YOU WANT 'EM?

OH, WAIT JUST A MOMENT, PLEASE!

THERE! JUST MATCH THAT... HOT TOMATO SOUP!

JOE PALOOKA

MOVE ALONG—YOU MISERABLE THIEF?

GLADY'S, BABY... I DONE IT ALL FER Y-YOU?

HRRMFF. I HOPE YOU GET LIFE!

GET WISE, PATSY... IT'S A WASTE OF TIME T' TRY T' HELP HIM... TCH, TCH... POOR LEECHY—I'VE FAILED HIM. HE'S LOST EVERYTHING!

GL... I NEVER LOVED LEECHY, MR. WALSH—I ONLY PITTIED HIM!

SIGH! IF Y-YOU ONLY KNEW?

MARY WORTH

LOOK, BOB! YOU LEARN TO PLAY BASKETBALL BY PLAYING!

I'M AFRAID I MUST DIFFER WITH YOU, SIRS! I HAVE ANALYZED THE GAME WITH CARE—AND IT LEADS ITSELF TO WELL-ESTABLISHED PHYSICAL AND MATHEMATICAL PRINCIPLES!

BY DETERMINING THE EXACT POINT IN THE PARABOLIC TRAJECTORY AT WHICH THE BALL LOSES ITS FORWARD MOTION, ONE COULD BE CERTAIN EVERY TIME THAT IT WOULD FALL THROUGH THE HOOP!

THE FACT THAT ONE IS PLAYING A GAME SHOULD NOT LEAD HIM TO LEAVE THE RESULT TO CHANCE!

I'LL SEE YOU IN THE APARTMENT!

REX MORGAN

I WANT TO GO HOME NOW, DR. MORGAN!

I'LL TAKE YOU HOME, MRS. CARR... BUT WE SHOULD STOP AT THE WHEATON'S FIRST, SHOULDN'T WE?

WHY?

I THINK YOU SHOULD TALK TO JUDY! I'M AFRAID SHE BELIEVED WHAT YOU SAID ABOUT WALTER!

SHE SHOULD KNOW BETTER! WALTER WOULDN'T HURT ANYONE!

DEAR ABBY

YOUR MOVE!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman but my husband is still the bachelor who stood alongside of me when I got married. He goes out whenever he feels like it and comes back when he's ready. If I ask him where he's been he tells me it's none of my business. We have three children who are starting to ask questions. What should I tell them? I have covered up for him long enough. HAD IT
DEAR HAD IT: If there is a marriage counselor in your community, find him and listen carefully to what he tells you. You've allowed your husband to be stepped on too much. It's your move. Now step on it!

DEAR ABBY: I don't want my daughter to make the same mistake I did so I am going to tell her to give these three questions plenty of thought before letting a man put a wedding ring on her finger. First, how much is his take-home pay? Next, how does he intend to handle the money? Third, is he going to hold all the money and ask his wife to be a servant? If girls were smart today they would settle these three questions BEFORE. Am I right, Abby when I say that money is the chief cause in wrecking marriages?
EXPERIENCED
DEAR EXPERIENCED: You are right! Couples who intend to marry would be wise to shake the stardust out of their eyes long enough to discuss finances and set up a budget. A little simple addition would help a lot—before they start to multiply.

DEAR ABBY: I hate my mother and she hates me. I did poor work at school and the principal and the school nurse suggested I see a psychiatrist. He talked to my mother twice and to me three times and he told me that my mother never forgave me for weighing eleven pounds, four ounces when I was born. That is the nuttiest thing I ever heard of. Should I go back to this psychiatrist and listen to any more of that stuff?
A GIRL OF 14

DEAR GIRL: Perhaps this doesn't make sense to you now . . . but be patient, and pretty soon the pieces will all fit together. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I can't pass up this opportunity to answer the XYL who is causing all the QRM around the ham shack waiting for her O. M. to outgrow his hobby. We are a 100 per cent Ham Radio family and do we ever have fun! We've QSO'd all over the world. Ham radio is not only good clean fun. It can be helpful during disasters such as floods, hurricanes or any other emergencies. It can also play a big part in Civil Defense. Tell the Ham Radio Widow to get on the beam and join her hubby. She'll love it!
XYL W9 EYH Susie

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my boyfriend. He wants to eat at drive-ins and go to dark theaters all the time. He never introduces me to any of his friends and I am beginning to think he is ashamed of me. I am 9 years younger than he is and a whole lot better looking so I should be ashamed of him instead of him being ashamed of me. How can I get him to take me out to mix with people and why do you think he is keeping me in the dark?
HID

DEAR HID: He may be keeping you in the dark to see how things develop. Let him know you are interested in "mixing" and introduce him to a few of your friends so he'll get the idea.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LADY IN WAITING": Pay retail. It's cheaper.

Stationmaster Is Presented Gift

COAHOMA (SC) — Coahoma business people paid a tribute to Mrs. C. G. Barnett, agent, when the Texas and Pacific station closed its doors here Friday for the last time.
Mrs. Fred Adams and Mrs. F. M. Holley were spokesmen for business people who presented Mrs. Barnett with an electric skillet in appreciation for the years of service she had given to Coahoma as station master. Mrs. Barnett, who had held that place for 31 years, said she could not find words to express her appreciation for the gesture.

Can't Fight City Hall

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Hattie Levin has a lot of light on her "little patch of green" today. But she's blue, for the street-light shining on her lawn is a symbol of defeat.
The spunky housewife fought with all her might to keep the front of her home dark and homey. She even chased away a group of workmen when they started digging a hole for the lightpole. Officials explained the light was needed as part of a citywide program to cut down on night crime and traffic accidents.
But Mrs. Levin told the officials she had owned the one-family home for 23 years, that there never had been a light there in all that time and that she wanted things to stay that way.

"Why do you have to break up my little patch of green?" she asked. "I don't mind the light itself, but why can't you put it someplace else, maybe across the street?"
Officials, unable to convince Mrs. Levin, finally pulled authority on her. Wednesday a crew arrived and dug a 5½-foot hole in front of the home. An hour later the pole was in place.
Mrs. Levin made no further attempt to interfere.
"You can't fight city hall," she said.

Geography Has Come Into Its Own

DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—In case you hadn't noticed, geography has gotten to be a lot more than something Junior has to learn in grade school.
Dr. Edwin J. Foscoe, who became a professional geographer—then rare after his graduation from college in 1922—attributes the change to World War II and the subsequent shrinking of global distances.
He's the man who helped map the Normandy terrain for Allied invaders along with plenty of other top-secret map drawings for the United States government.
Dr. Foscoe, tall, gray-haired and neatly dressed, heads the geography department at Southern Methodist University. Except for time out during World War II, he's been a faculty member there ever since his graduation from the Dallas school in 1922.
"When the United States became involved in World War II," Dr. Foscoe recalled the other day, "military leaders were without any military maps of the theaters of war."
"Several other geographers and I were called to Washington to perform the gigantic task of producing detailed maps of the areas of conflict."
At that time, he recalled, there were only 305 professional geographers throughout the country. Hundreds now have jobs in such industries as air transportation and public utilities, with the diplomatic service and in travel agencies.
"One of my former students," he said, "is employed by the telephone company in a rapidly expanding metropolitan area to anticipate the next shift in population."
"He furnishes advance indications of the general area in which the company can expect the next demand for additional telephone cables."

During World War II, Dr. Foscoe was assistant director of a huge map publishing bureau in Washington. He said the secret nature and high priority of this work placed bureau personnel under heavy pressure.
"We could always anticipate the location of the next invasion or beachhead by about three months," he related, "because we were given the job of drawing up maps of the beachhead terrain about that far in advance."
Maps of the Normandy area were ordered in quantity ahead of Allied landings.
"Shortly before D-day," he said, "we began a new assignment on extensive maps of China which involved the translation, for the first time, of about 750,000 Chinese names into the alphabet of Western civilization."
"Luckily, the atomic bomb made an invasion of China unnecessary."
Dr. Foscoe teaches at SMU surrounded by about 100,000 maps and 10,000 color photographs which he shot personally.
He recalls that no major university in Texas offered a single geography course at the time of his graduation here in 1922, and the nation as a whole was disinterested in the science.
"But since World War II," Dr. Foscoe observed, "people are becoming interested in the study of geography."
"I am helping to teach a short-term, non-credit course which presently has an enrollment of 65 adults. They are taking the course because they are interested in the subject—not because they are required to take it or because they think it is an easy way to get a college degree."

Chamber Member Drive Scheduled For Next Week

Machinery for the twice-delayed Chamber of Commerce membership campaign is being oiled for operation next week.
Date for the kick-off of what is envisioned as a two-day intensive enrollment has been set for Sept. 11. Rad Ware, membership chairman, said that his committee hopes to have something like 120 workers available for the special effort.
There are some 600 prospects, either as new members or as candidates for dues adjustments. The number is about evenly divided.
Ware said that plans called for two groups to be in action, one appearing at a 7:30 a.m. kick-off breakfast and the other at a 10 a.m. session.
Ware and Dr. J. E. Hogan, chamber president, will speak briefly at each of the meetings, explaining the reasons for the special campaign. Bill Quimby, manager, will explain the mechanics of the membership invitations.
Three mailings have now gone out explaining the functioning of a chamber of commerce, how it seeks to serve the community and promote its development, and how it represents the voluntary efforts of businesses and individuals.
The financial objective of the effort is to raise an additional $7,000, which would all go into expanded program and into a fund for ultimately acquiring a building for the chamber. The current $27,000 budget covers administration of the chamber fundamental functions but does not leave a sufficient amount for putting over the program, Ware expalined.
Missing Plane Sought In Turkey
ADANA, Turkey (AP)—The U.S. Air Force carried on an intensive search today for an American transport plane with 17 persons aboard that disappeared two days ago near the southern Soviet Union.
The C130 Hercules turboprop plane was last heard from on a routine radio report over Van, Turkey, 110 miles southwest of Soviet Armenia. An unarmed U.S. cargo plane got lost in bad weather in that area last June and strayed into Armenia, where two Soviet jet fighters shot it down. The nine crewmen were released 10 days later.
