YOU CAN HAVE A FULL PAGE AD PUT INTO 9500 BIG SPRING AREA HOMES!

Think of it! In these times of increasing costs, you can still reach 9500 homes in the Big Spring Market for only 1 3/4c each! Less than the price of a post card alone . . . lower in cost than any other advertising medium in the world! The homes your Herald ad reaches are the homes of YOUR customers . . . it is invited in daily, paid for, read carefully and remembered. It produces the most results because of its high acceptance. In a recent Gallup poll, it was found that most people regard newspaper advertising as news. This means that people read advertising to be informed about top buys, special sales and other merchandising events. In short, they depend upon The Herald to stay abreast of the times.

Before planning your next ad, talk with a Herald advertising representative. He can tell you fully of the audited Herald Circulation. You don't have to use wildly inflated claims about homes reached (most of which are out of your territory anyway). You can buy instead solid circulation into the homes of your customers any time of the week.

Tax Survey Nearing End, Engineers Say

Work of the staff members of the tax evaluation firm of Pritchard & Abbott, who have been in Howard County since January engaged in a county-wide tax valuation survey of all real estate, will terminate their work by the end of September, Ed L. Pritchard Jr., said Tuesday.

"When the present series of equalization board meetings comes to an end Friday," he said, "our workers will see to it that all records are placed in proper order and are in perfect shape for the county, city and school officials to use. This will take several days. A few odds and ends will have to be cleaned up but we should be all finished by the end of the month."

He said that the men and women who have been assigned to the county survey here have already received their new assignments and some will be leaving for the new work within a matter of days.

The firm was employed by the county, the Big Spring public schools, Coahoma Public schools and the city of Big Spring to make the survey. The equalization board meetings now being conducted at the county courthouse actually is the finale of the program which has been more than half a year in completing.

India Must Solve Its Own Problems, Nehru Tells Friends

By WATSON SIMS
NEW DELHI (AP)—In economic, as in politics, India should copy neither the East nor the West. Although each has lessons to offer, India's future rests on the nation's ability to think for itself in meeting entirely new situations.

This is the heart of a thoughtful memorandum circulated by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru among some of his friends. It now has been published by Economic Review, a fortnightly journal of Nehru's Congress party. Its title: "The Basic Approach."
After a critical discussion of communism and capitalism, Nehru concluded that neither has been able to keep up with the rush of science and technology. Science has advanced far beyond the average man's ability to understand its accomplishments, he said, and the old philosophies, with their many virtues, have proved inadequate.

"We have to give a new direction to education and evolve a new type of humanity," the 68-year-old statesman declared.

"Essentially, our problems are those of civilization itself. Religion gave a certain moral and spiritual discipline; it also tried to perpetuate superstition and social usages. Indeed, those superstitions and social usages smothered and overwhelmed the real spirit of religion. Disillusionment followed.

"Communism comes in the wake of this disillusionment and offers some kind of faith and of discipline. To some extent it fills a vacuum. . . . But in spite of its apparent success, it falls, partly because of its rigidity, but, even more so, because it ignores certain essential needs of human nature. . . .

"The contempt for what might be called the moral and spiritual side of life not only ignores something that is basic to man, but also deprives human behavior of standards and values. Its unfortunate association with violence encourages a certain evil tendency in human beings."

The Prime Minister found short-comings of a different nature in capitalism.

"Normally speaking, it may be said that the forces of capitalist society, if left unchecked, tend to make the rich richer and the poor poorer and thus increase the gap between them," he wrote.

To some extent, he felt this tendency has been checked by capitalism's acceptance of the welfare state ideal.

"Democracy allied to capitalism has undoubtedly toned down many of its evils and in fact it is different now from what it was a generation or two ago," Nehru added.

He noted that despite two world wars the trend of economic development in industrially advanced capitalist countries has been steadily upward and that the benefits have been spread, in varying degrees, to all classes.

"This does not apply to countries which are not industrially developed," he said. "Indeed, in those countries the struggle for development is very difficult and sometimes, in spite of efforts, not only do economic inequalities remain but tend to become worse. . . . In a poorly developed country, the capitalist method offers no chance."

India, with 380 million people and per capita income of 40-odd dollars a year per person, is poorer than were the advanced countries of today even before their industrialization began, he said.

"Western economics, therefore, though helpful, have little bearing on our present day problems. So also have Marxist economics which are in many ways out of date, even though they throw a considerable light on economic progress," he said.

The Prime Minister ruled Marxist economics out of date because of their association with violence. He said that in the present age violence is likely to lead to war in which there will be no victory, only defeat for everyone.

He concluded by calling on Indians "to do our own thinking, profiting by the example of others, but essentially trying to find a path for ourselves suited to our own conditions."

The only course for India, he said, is a planned approach on Socialist lines.

'Bloody Harlan' Hides Skeleton

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—All right, maybe this eastern Kentucky town was known as "Bloody Harlan," but let's keep that skeleton in the closet.

That's the gist of about 100 phone calls Mayor Roscoe Petrey said he received after a local insurance man erected this sign on the city limits:

"Welcome to Kentucky's Friendliest Town—Bloody Harlan."
"Why toss away a history that is rich in tourist interest," explains insurance man Nick Johnson, who says he's trying to promote business. Harlan got the name during labor disputes in the coal mines back in the '30s.

But Harlan's city council shies from the memory. They have asked that "a portion of the wording" be removed.

Baptist Temple Opens 10-Year Expansion Plan

Baptist Temple Church announced today that it is accepting bids on a new educational unit—first step in a 10-year enlargement program—and opening of the bids will be on Sept. 30.

The building will be located to the south of the present structure at Eleventh and Goliad. It is to be 63 by 48 feet and two stories. Bids will be accepted until Sept. 29, the church announced.

The unit is the first step of enlargement shown in a church master plan. The master plan calls for two more educational units which will take care of 1,400 people—the church's anticipated enrollment in 1968.

In the new structure will be six nurseries with a reception room. At present, however, only four of the nursery sections will be used as such; two will be temporarily turned over to the adults.

Rev. A. R. Posey is the church pastor.

Can't Convince A Single Republican

BRUSH, Colo. (AP)—Persuasive as he is, state Rep. C. P. Lamb (R-Brush) couldn't convince one Republican voter yesterday in the northeast Colorado congressional race.

Lamb devoted considerable time working for the nomination of state Rep. John G. Mackie of Longmont as the Republican candidate for Congress. In Lamb's home precinct here yesterday, the final tabulation read:

For Mackie, 73 votes.
For his GOP rival, state Sen. Ranger Rogers of Littleton, 1 vote.

JUDGE SAYS

No Truth In Rumors That Taxpayers Being Barred

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said he was disturbed at a rumor somewhat current in the city that taxpayers who desire to protest their tax valuations are being kept from getting before the equalization boards.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Weaver asserted. "Any citizen who has any business to discuss with the county board or with the school and city board is free to come before these boards at any time he selects."

"We are sitting daily—the county board in the commissioners' court and the city-school board in

Stanton Man Joins Farm Labor Staff

A Stanton man, P. M. Bristow, has been hired by the Texas Employment Commission office here to help secure sufficient workers for farmers in the surrounding three-county area, Leon M. Kinney, county manager, announced.

Kinney said that Bristow would work with Jack Hatch who is the regular farm placement interviewer in the Big Spring office. The local office serves Howard, Martin, and Glasscock counties.

Usually, the demand for cotton pickers and pullers in this area doesn't come until later in the fall, but Kinney said the employment office has been swamped with immediate needs for farm laborers.

Kinney also said that C. A. Shoemaker, district director from San Angelo, announced that contact had been made with Central and Southeast Texas TEC offices, and it is expected there will be a substantial movement of migrant cotton harvest crews next week.

Shoemaker also said there were a number of mechanical cotton pickers available in South Texas which the owners are willing to move to West Texas fields.

Kinney said that farmers have already placed orders with his office for hundreds of workers, and all who will need cotton harvest workers in the next two weeks should contact either Hatch or Kinney at the local office or Bristow in Stanton.

Kinney and Hatch can be reached in Big Spring at AM 4-5291 and Bristow in Stanton at SK 6-2366.

L.A. Continues Its Hot Weather Spell

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles boiled along today toward the sixth consecutive day of over-90 degree readings.

The predicted high is 93. Yesterday it was 90 in the city. Hottest day of the siege was a 95 on Saturday.

Outlying areas recorded 100-plus degree readings. More than a dozen fires flared up in the dry brush in mountains north of Los Angeles.

Record Cotton Crop Forecast For 23 High Plains Counties

Early September estimates of the 1958 cotton crop production on the Texas High Plains still show a record breaking potential of more than 1,800,000 bales in the 23 member counties of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Estimates on production were pegged at 1,881,000 bales, down from the 1,909,000 bales estimated Aug. 1. The reduction is due to unfavorable conditions mostly on dry land acreage in the southern counties where harvesting is already underway. Cotton there failed to receive sufficient moisture in August with resultant shedding. There was also some boll worm damage.

The Lubbock Cotton Exchange estimated production of 1,843,000 bales off a 20-county area on the plains.

Cotton officials report the area crop continues to mature satisfactorily and is opening in all counties, particularly in the southern half and in dry areas.

Bill Franklin, head of the Lubbock Classing office, said the Lubbock office would be opened before Sept. 15. The Lubbock office has already received approximately 200 samples and the grades were reported running about 85 per cent white and 15 per cent light spot with micronaire of 4.1 to 4.7.

Many farmers are talking about defoliating and stripping the entire crop, however officials at the Lubbock Experiment Station warned farmers to be sure cotton is ready for defoliating before it is applied. Defoliating too early will mean immature fibers, low micronaire, reduced yields and will do much to nullify the present potential of a good quality, high yielding crop.

Here is the September production estimate:

Counties	Bales
Hockley	180,000
Howard	27,000
Lamb	170,000
Lubbock	245,000
Lynn	125,000
Motley	9,000
Parmer	60,000
Swisher	60,000
Terry	150,000
Yoakum	25,000
Total	1,881,000

Honest Kids Due Change

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A day at the races and a stack of goodies await some unknown youngsters who need a lesson in spelling but none in honesty.

They are the juvenile nongelants who broke Nicholas Caricola's pavement roller, and left a note and $2.62 in small change. Caricola, a paving contractor and the father of four, said the note and the money were found on the floorboard of the paver outside his office.

The note read:
"Dear Sir:
"We are sorry about breaking your roller. We didn't mean to but we did. Enclosed is $2.62. If that isn't enough leave us a note telling us how much more you will need. That was all the money we could get. It was an accident (sic) and we're sorry."

The contractor said it cost only $1 to fix the machine. If the children will identify themselves, he said yesterday, he will give them their change, hot dogs, soda pop and candy and a day at the hot rod track at Westhampton, N.Y.

BOB AND PAT DUNNING'S DREAM CAR COMES TRUE IN PLYMOUTH'S END-OF-MODEL CLEARANCE SALE

Canny young local couple takes advantage of year's lowest prices

Bob and Pat Dunning had put off buying a car. Budget. Wanted to see what would happen.

Last week as Bob, a commercial artist, was driving to work he noted a sign in a Plymouth dealership reading, "End-of-Model Clearance Sale. Lowest Prices of the Year." . . . "Just," as he says, "for the fun of it," he stopped his car and went in. Chatted with a Plymouth salesman. Couldn't believe his ears.

Bob and Pat own their new Plymouth now—made the best deal of their lives.

You can, too, if you hurry. This End-of-Model Clearance Sale will be on at your Plymouth dealer's until the last 1958 is sold. All models included, and all at the year's lowest prices. All come equipped with Plymouth's luxurious Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. All feature sleek Silver Dart Styling, Total-Contact Brakes, thrilling sports-car "feel," other Plymouth exclusives. Engine options even include the breath-taking Golden Commando V-8.

The Maine Headache For GOP

A historic political period running back 138 years came to an end yesterday in the State of Maine.

Around The Rim A Subsidy For The Have-Nots?

From the mailbag comes a piece from the Instituto Costarricense de Turismo extolling the virtues of Costa Rica. While the shower of words admitted that this little country to the south had "other attractions such as the ideally year-round, day or night, springlike climate on the Central plateau, the unusual friendliness of the local citizenry, etc.," it led with its best punch—the tax appeal.

lure such as lovely descriptions of this idyllic tax paradise. The Central Plateau is about 35 miles across, almost entirely surrounded by mountains, at an altitude of some 3,000 feet. This accounts for nights that do not go under 50 degrees and days that stay within the high 70s. The mountains not only keep the equatorial air crisp and cool but hold out the tropical weather disturbances.

Inez Robb The Neighborhood Has Lost Its Heart

My generation has learned to rock around the clock with disaster. Still and all, in our particular section of New York's Washington Square area, hundreds of citizens are reeling from a major blow.

Mollie performed her culinary miracles in a minuscule kitchen in the rear. No neighborhood crisis or personal problem was ever too tough for her to solve. It is to her that I owe my reputation intact as the Perle Mesta of the lower classes.

The Gallup Poll Parties Ponder Strategy To Get Votes

PRINCETON, N. J. — Political strategists have been busy in recent weeks trying to figure out what the best arguments are to use in the coming Congressional campaign to win votes for their party.

far as either party is concerned, is of course something no one can foretell. But when another crisis of an international nature—the Anglo-French invasion of Suez—arose in the final days of the 1956 campaign, confidence in Eisenhower's ability to lead the country safely through the crisis added some 3 million votes to his total in the 10 days prior to election day.

Mechanical Layer

HICKORY, N. C. (U) — Now you can even get a dozen eggs from a vending machine.

Heath E. Marsh, who operates a chicken farm near here, sells his eggs from a machine that looks like a soft drink dispenser, complete with refrigerated unit. The machine holds 100 dozen eggs in two sizes. It's in his front yard in a building which also houses his grading room, and storage room for egg cartons and other equipment.

Can't Win

NEWFANE, N. Y. (U) — Canada and the United States don't agree on everything, a Canadian motorist told Peace Justice Clive Merritt.

Well, Why Not?

TULSA, Okla. (U) — An advertisement in a Tulsa newspaper declared: "Bathing Suits—Half Off."
