School Panel Urges Controversial Policy

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Commission on Higher Education will be asked Oct. 13 to set policy aimed at developing Texas A&M and the University of Texas as "first-class institutions." They also will be asked to approve a policy aimed at developing in quality but not in quantity what most colleges already are teaching and limiting expansion of doctoral degree courses for the most part to A&M and the University of Texas.

First Pledges Made As UF Sets Up Drive

A general organizational format and calendar of significant dates for the 1958-59 United Fund campaign were approved by the UF's campaign steering committee Thursday afternoon. And, on the heels of the organizational session, first pledges to the fund were received, both of them representing increases over last year's gifts.

U. S. Index Shows Living Costs Fall

An Autumn Shower That Delights Farmers

In this semi-arid country rain is most always welcome, except maybe at this season when farmers would just as soon wait a few weeks. Reason is that rain might knock cotton out of the buds or cause it to stain and lose grade. But good weather such as has obtained most of this week has brought about a shower of cotton through gin stands.

August Drop Is First In 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs as measured by the government dropped in August for the first time in two years. The fall was two-tenths of one per cent. The Labor Department attributed the decline to the usual late summer drop in food prices as fruits and vegetables hit the market in quantity.

Airspace Ruling May Set Pattern

Decision on airspace restrictions for military flight training in the Big Spring area may set a pattern for the entire nation, it was indicated Thursday at a CAA Airspace Subcommittee fact-finding hearing in Fort Worth.

Rains Of Up To 11 Inches Flood Central Texas, Wreck Train

Torrential rains of up to 11 inches in Central Texas Friday flooded highways and caused the wreck of a passenger train. Five cars of a northbound Missouri-Kansas-Texas train were derailed at Forrester 8 miles south of Waxahachie after the tracks were washed away. There were no injuries.

Tiny, Powerful Nuclear Device Shakes Desert Area

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — A tiny, but powerful, atomic weapon exploded over the desert today as the seventh and possibly final nuclear test series opened at this southern Nevada proving ground.

Two Hurt In Truck Crash

Two Latin Americans from San Antonio were in Cowper Hospital today after the truck they were driving ran into the back of another truck on the west viaduct Thursday night.

Third Wife Shows Up For 'No Down Payment' Author

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Author John McPartland's estate got a little more complicated Thursday — one more wife and another child. That runs the total to three women, two of them married, and seven children. The additions came out in Superior Court at nearby Salinas as Mrs. Ida McPartland was named temporary special administratrix of his estate.

IRS Takes Over Taxi Property

City Cab Co., 208 Scurry St., is closed and idle as result of a seizure by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service of the franchise of the company and its radio transmitting equipment on Sept. 16. A tax lien was lodged against the company by the revenue department, accusing it of non-payment of $2,206.31 in taxes.

U.S. Re-Shapes Command On Formosa To Combat Status

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States has announced reorganization of the American advisory command on Formosa, making it — in effect — a regular combat command. The announcement by the commander of the U.S. Formosa Defense Command, Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, said the step was taken to attain an adequate defense posture in the face of recent stepped-up Chinese Communist actions.

HCJC Enrollment Reaches 601 Today

Howard County Junior College continued to add students Friday as the number of registrations rose to 601. This was a gain of 41 over Thursday morning's figures.

White Cane Sale Nets $195 For Blind

The White Cane sale of the Cheerio Club netted $195, Mrs. Ina Monteith, president, said Friday. There were only a few of the miniature canes left unsold after Rainbow girls had canvassed the downtown area and shopping districts. All proceeds from the sale will go to projects to help blind or those with serious sight impairment.

Big 'Kids' Day' Program Planned

Youngsters who take part in the annual observance of "Kids' Day" Saturday, Sept. 27, under the joint auspices of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club and Webb Air Force Base, are in for a grand treat.

Capt. Alan Robertson, WAFB, informed the Kiwanis Club on Thursday that there would be more exhibits on display at the base for the young visitors to see than ever before. He said, too, that arrangements for an elaborate airshow are being worked out and that, all in all, the program at the base should be the most attractive of any attempted in a good many years.

Floyd Parsons, who is in charge of the civilian section of the celebration, reported to the club that all arrangements on his end of the deal are in good shape.

The schools are cooperating and each is to select a queen as a part of the program. Honorary base commanders will be selected from the high school and these teenagers will be tendered special honors at the base.

Final details of the program will be announced this coming week.

Kiwanians heard vocal selections Thursday by Gilbert Murphy, HJJC student, with Jack Hendrix as accompanist. Program for the day was a film produced by the Better Business Bureau depicting the role that an ethical funeral director can and does play in assisting families in which a death has occurred.

Raymond River, local mortician, presented the film.

Atlas Blows Up In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The first attempt to launch an Atlas missile the full 6,000-mile intercontinental range ended in a spectacular blowup high in the Florida sky.

The mighty ICBM exploded in a ball of orange flame in the stratosphere Thursday 80 seconds after liftoff.

It was the 13th Atlas fired to date, and was launched from Pad No. 13 at the Cape.

The blowup cut short immediate U.S. hopes of closing the gap with the Soviet Union in the space weapons race. Most U.S. missile experts believe the Soviets already have an operational ICBM.

The liftoff seemed almost perfect, similar to the three previous shoots that were highly successful over a range of about 3,000 miles. After a roaring climb straight up, the 85-foot war rocket leaned toward a horizontal path and darted toward the southeast.

Just as the missile began to spurt out a thick vapor trail at an altitude of about 60,000 feet, it burst apart with a brilliant flash. Shattered pieces shot out in all directions from a huge puff of smoke that hung in the sky, and rained down on the Atlantic.

The cause was not announced at first.

Congress May Get Diablo Dam Plea

AUSTIN (AP)—Congress probably will be asked to authorize construction of Diablo Dam next year, International Boundary and Water Commissioner L. H. Hewitt said today.

A hearing on the controversial project concluded yesterday with the age-old arguments aired.

Lower Rio Grande Valley residents oppose the project, claiming it will cut their already short supply. Upper Valley residents say the dam is necessary to provide needed municipal, industrial and irrigation water while preventing floods similar to that in 1954 which destroyed 43 million dollars worth of property in Texas and Mexico.

Talks Won't Solve Crisis In Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the basis of initial talks with the Chinese in Warsaw, U.S. officials see little chance of ending the Formosa crisis by diplomatic negotiation.

The expressed attitudes of both the Chinese Communists and the Chinese Nationalists would appear to make settlement difficult.

The primary U.S. requirement for a deal with the Chinese Reds is an agreement by them to a cease-fire in the area. Through a press statement Wednesday, the Communist government at Peking rejected that idea, although top American leaders took the position that they did not consider this Peking's last word on the subject.

mentioned demilitarization of the offshore islands.

So far as could be learned here, Wang has given no indication of any softening of Red Chinese policy. That has been based upon an announced determination to capture not only the Nationalist-held islands near the mainland but also Formosa itself.

The Warsaw talks probably will be continued for two to four weeks. If within that time they have given no substantial reason to believe that a settlement can be worked out, the United States will almost certainly take the whole case into the United Nations.

Editor Confesses Being Ex-Convict

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Harry L. Golden of Charlotte, editor of the Carolina Israelite and witty spokesman on issues of the day, admitted today he had served a federal prison term almost 30 years ago for using the mails to defraud.

It came to light, Golden said with characteristic wry humor, because of his success—because he has written "Only in America," a collection of his essays and commentary that tops the nonfiction best-seller list.

Golden, who returned here early today from a trip to New York, said he had lived for years in fear of becoming a success because his past might come out.

He recalled that when he was in his early 20s he altered his name of Goldenhurst to Goldhurst and entered the brokerage business in his home city of New York. The business failed, and Golden—or Goldhurst—filed a petition in bankruptcy.

Then he was charged with fraud. He says he had not realized how wrong were the things he had done. Most of his debts, he said, were "paper profits" he owed to people he had gambled with. He pleaded guilty Oct. 16, 1929, and was sentenced to five years. He served 18 months and was paroled. Then the parole was revoked when it was protested by the late Sen. Carter Glass (D-Va.).

He served out his term until March 29, 1933, and was discharged with time off for good behavior. As Harry L. Golden, he made a new start, working in a variety of jobs. In his business travels he came to Charlotte, liked it and decided to stay. That was a dozen years ago. He became well liked here and his writings in the Carolina Israelite, which has a circulation of at least 15,000 in the United States and abroad, have been widely noted.

Then came success and his past returned.

"People started writing anonymous letters to national magazines and big newspapers, my publishers and to me. We decided then it was best to bring it out in the open."

Now, with nothing more to hold back, says the best-selling author, he has more writing to do—and no more fear of further successes.

Algerians Set Up Regime In Exile

CAIRO (AP)—The Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) today proclaimed an Algerian government-in-exile to conduct the fight for its independence from France.

A Cabinet headed by 50-year-old Ferhat Abbas as premier was announced simultaneously at a news conference in Cairo and in Tunis and Morocco.

The Cabinet list included five Algerian rebel leaders now held prisoners by the French.

The announcement said the provisional government began its functions at 1 p. m. Algerian time. The Algerian flag—half green and half white and bearing a red crescent and star—was unfurled from the headquarters building here and beside it fluted the flag of the United Arab Republic.

In fair condition this morning were John Eugene Burnett, 17, of Harlingen, and Jesus Rodriguez of San Benito, driver of the pickup truck.

Police Chief Bill Mabey of Harlingen said the accident occurred when the car driven by Mussler attempted to pass another automobile and met Rodriguez' pickup head on.

Commando Carriers

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Britain is strengthening her Far East fleet with commando carriers because of the Quemoy situation, the first lord of the admiralty, Earl of Selkirk, said today.

"From such carriers trained commandos are capable of landing anywhere by helicopter," Selkirk added.

4 Persons Die In Auto Crash

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Four persons were killed, three instantly, in a grinding crash here last night of a pickup truck and an automobile.

A Marine Corps member, Ray Lee Norwood, died early today in Valley Baptist Hospital here of injuries sustained in the crash on U.S. 83 just south of the Harlingen city limits.

Dead on arrival at the hospital last night were Paul George Mussler, 18; Blair Peter Scott, 22; and Billy Jean Smith, 19, all of Harlingen.

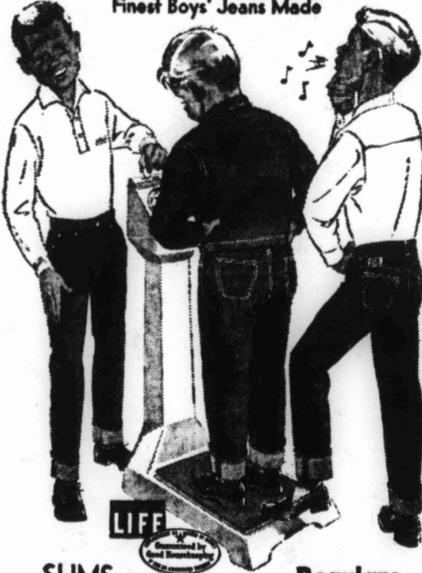

The Cabinet list included five Algerian rebel leaders now held prisoners by the French.

The announcement said the provisional government began its functions at 1 p. m. Algerian time. The Algerian flag—half green and half white and bearing a red crescent and star—was unfurled from the headquarters building here and beside it fluted the flag of the United Arab Republic.

UAW President Walter P. Ruether emerges serious-faced from negotiating room after all night contract talks with Ford Motor Company officials in Detroit. The man behind Ruether is a member of the UAW negotiating team.

Working Wives Called An Important Part Of Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — If all the nation's working wives quit their jobs, the economy would collapse.

The National Manpower Council says this and adds that without this womanpower "we would not be able to perform the essential services needed."

The council's forecast is that more and more married women workers—they now number about 13 million—will be called into the labor force.

The council, established by the Ford Foundation, has just published a 220-page book "Work in the Lives of Married Women." It is based on a womanpower conference of more than 80 experts held last year.

The experts said so far there is no indication of any relation between employment of mothers and juvenile delinquency or maladjustment of children. They also said the fact that a wife works can't be blamed for the breakup of a marriage.

The experts said there's been a womanpower revolution and no matter what is thought of mothers working "it's hard to reverse a revolution."

They cited lots of reasons why married women work besides keeping the wolf from the door: it helps buy TV sets, cars, medical care. But whatever the reason, the council said it's helping attain "a generally more desirable standard of living."

They are worried however, that society will take advantage of the benefit in women's work but "not be sufficiently sensitive to the accompanying problems of child care and development."

The council said it is evident "the ways and means of caring for the children of working mothers are inadequate" especially in lower-income families. It said further that public interest in remedying the situation is slight.

The experts felt women with children under 6 couldn't really expect to hold down a full-time job and give proper care to their children.

They suggested some maternal support program might be needed to help the young mother who otherwise might have to go to work to keep the wolf from the door.

Texas Pilots Claim Record For Endurance

DALLAS (AP) — Two Texas pilots, who claim a world endurance record for light planes, are now hoping to stretch their mark to 50 days aloft.

Pilots Jim Heth, 25, and Bill Burkhardt, 33, said they eclipsed the old record of 1,124 hours at 3:33.05 p.m. yesterday. The old record was set by Woody Jungeward and Bob Woodhouse over Yuma, Ariz., in 1949.

Heth and Burkhardt figured their flying time to the second because the exact record of the Yuma fliers is 1,124 hours, 32 minutes and 5 seconds.

The two ex-servicemen were back over the Dallas area as they laid claim to the endurance mark in the craft called the "Old Scotchman."

The took off from the suburban Garland airport at 7:01 p.m. Aug. 2 in an attempt sponsored by Dallas radio executive Gordon McLendon, who owns stations in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, Tex., Shreveport, La. and Louisville, Ky.

After nearly seven weeks in the air, the two radioed that they hoped to stay up until Sunday, when they plan to set down in Houston. Their goal is 1,200 hours.

Piloting a standard Cessna 172 with a Continental engine, Heth and Burkhardt flew back to Dallas yesterday after refueling at Roswell, N. M., the previous two days because of morning ground fog at Texas points.

The endurance pilots fly eight to 10 feet above trucks speeding 75 m.p.h. down airport runways to take on gasoline. It takes 17 passes over the truck each morning and evening to refuel. They have made it a rule to maintain a 77-gallon reserve of gasoline throughout their marathon.

The fliers lower a nylon cord to draw up gas and oil, and receive food and mail in the same manner.

Heth is a former Marine pilot who lives in Dallas with his wife and two-year-old daughter. He joined a domestic airline after his release from active duty in 1956, but lost his job with about 90 others in an operational cutback.

He said he hopes to start a charter flight service after finishing the endurance test.

Burkhardt flew fighter planes for the Army Air Force on the East Coast during World War II. Recalled to duty by the Korean War, he instructed Air Force cadets, served with the psychological warfare branch and later flew transports in Europe, Africa and Asia.

A native of Iowa, Burkhardt moved to Texas' Rio Grande Valley as an infant. His parents live at San Juan, Tex. He plans to resume work as an aircraft sales broker in Dallas after completing the flight marathon.

Warden Outtalks Striking Convicts

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Nine convicts, armed with lengths of pipe and ice picks, staged a brief uprising at the Idaho State Penitentiary yesterday.

Deputy Warden Mark Maxwell walked unarmed into Cellhouse 4 where they holed up and persuaded them to surrender—about an hour later.

Warden L. E. Clapp said none of the 10 guards the prisoners seized as hostages were harmed, but guard Ezra Mendenhall suffered severe shock.

The convicts diverted the attention of Yard Capt. Gilbert Talley by telling him a fight was going on in another part of the yard. Then they herded the guards into the cellblock.

Guard Dan Chase was released with instructions to say the prisoners wanted to see Gov. Robert E. Smylie or a prison official. Smylie declined to go to the prison.

As a score of state and city policemen armed with riot guns ringed the entrance to the cellhouse, convict David R. Cobas called out: "Send one guy up here—just one."

Maxwell walked in alone and talked with Cobas, serving 20 years for robbery. The surrender was arranged after the prisoners were given permission to talk with newsmen.

"It came off—not quite as we had planned, but it came off," Cobas told reporters as he and four of the nine prisoners aired a long list of complaints.

The chief complaint was that Clapp, in their opinion, had too much authority and they spent too much time locked up. They demanded formation of a disciplinary committee of prison officials.

The convicts were placed in solitary confinement. Maxwell said he would interview each of them individually today before deciding on disciplinary action. Warden Clapp was out of town at the time of the rebellion.

U.S. Jets Told To Shoot Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says that if Chinese Red jet fighters shoot at American Air Force or Navy pilots, they are authorized to pursue the attackers, even into Communist China itself.

This military tactic of hot pursuit, the right to go after some one who shoots at you, applies anywhere, a Pentagon spokesman said in answer to questions.

Its application in the Quemoy area goes beyond the policy adopted in the Korean War. There, American fliers were prohibited from following Communist fighter planes beyond the Yalu River, the boundary between North Korea and Communist China.

The policy has not been put into use. No attacks on American planes or warships have been reported up to now.

The spokesman's comment came after he had talked with top defense officials. Secretary of Defense McElroy refused last week to answer substantially the same question, saying he regarded such talk as a "saber rattling kind of conversation."

Although U.S. fliers may pursue their attackers, the spokesman said, they have no authority to bomb the Chinese mainland bases from which the Reds are attempting to blockade sea supply lines into Quemoy.

A clash between Red and United States airmen could put to test the latest, fastest model of American Air Force interceptor, the F104 Starfighter, recently deployed on a base in Formosa.

White Preachers Of Diverse Views In Negro College

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two white preachers of divergent views on segregation started back to school yesterday at Texas Southern University, a state-supported Negro institution.

They were the first white students ever to apply for admission at the university.

The Rev. E. A. Munroe, an avowed segregationist, is pastor of the Missionary Baptist Temple here. He paid $81 tuition and went to afternoon classes.

The Rev. Clayton McMahill, an integrationist and member of the Texas Methodist Conference, entered school a few hours earlier but without fanfare that marked Munroe's registration Monday.

McMahill said he entered to set an example in favor of integration.

"Rev. Munroe was trying to make a laughing stock out of the decision of the Supreme Court," McMahill said. "It was a terrific insult to the students and faculty. The stand of the Methodist Church is integration through all agencies of the church."

Munroe admitted he expected to be rejected and had said he would fight the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, should the school bar him.

A Bible Thought For Today

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. (2 Peter 3:10)

Training Is Mighty Important, Too

Protests filed against a proposed division of air space for military training and private use may wither on the vine as more detailed explanations are made. Big Spring was vociferously listed as being in opposition to the proposed plan working up after a series of conferences between the CAA and the military. This plan would set apart certain air spaces and areas for military training.

Commercial and private operators—not from Big Spring—have voiced opposition in some cases because they think such an arrangement will interfere with their operations.

While this may cause some inconvenience and possibly some moderate additional cost in isolated instances, we cannot see that it would adversely affect civil aviation in the area.

On the contrary, the provision of these special training spaces may contribute to the safety of private operations and mitigate against the odds that military-civil airborne collisions might occur.

None will argue that civil aviation is important and will become increasingly so.

But we would like to point out that military training, for the sake of the security of our nation and of the free world, is also important and may become increasingly so. Adequate, reasonably convenient training is part of the warp and woof of the first rate Air Force—and as it has been pointed out time and again, we can't afford anything less.

Challenge Of Holding The Line

The signing of contracts between major automobile manufacturers will be watched with considerable interest on more than one front.

The big question is the effect of the modified wage increase incorporated into the new contracts. Whether the industry is able to absorb these through economies of tighter and more efficient operation without passing on the cost in higher prices remains to be seen. Were the wages the only factor, this might also be so, but the recent worker contract of the steel industry resulted in a substantial markup on steel. And steel is certainly a basic factor in the manufacture of an automobile.

The inter-relationship of these basic industries is intense, and pressures in one is quite apt to exert influence upon another.

How well the present contract works out in terms of consumer prices and production is of vital import to the nation.

Holding the line may help stave off a new inflationary spiral which would be full of peril for the country. If a new wave of price increases further dulled consumer demand, we would have a continuation of the economic paradox of rising prices in the face of declining volume. Gains in wages would be hollow if there were not work enough to justify full employment. Workers, the companies and the nation would be much worse off. A realization of this undoubtedly figured in the adopted formula and will influence the marketing policies of manufacturers in the new models.

Validity Of The Fourteenth Amendment

WASHINGTON—Many people are writing in to learn more about the dubious origin of the Fourteenth Amendment—supposed basis for the desegregation decisions—so which reference recently was made in these dispatches. The shortest and best statement of the case this writer has seen came from the pen of the late Cordell Hull, secretary of state for nearly 12 years in the cabinet of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mr. Hull was a district judge in Tennessee before he was elected to Congress. He was known as the father of the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. In outlining the history of constitutional amendments, Mr. Hull said in a speech in the House of Representatives on July 12, 1909:

"Early in 1865 the Thirteenth Amendment, abolishing slavery, was proposed to the states by Congress, but not until after a heated struggle extending over many months. It became a part of the Constitution in December of that year.

"Mr. Speaker, very soon thereafter amendments were proposed in Congress looking to the adoption of what was afterwards known as the 'Fourteenth Amendment,' with the result that, according to the version of some, the Fourteenth Amendment was duly ratified and became a part of the Constitution in July, 1868.

"Some singular circumstances attended the alleged adoption of this amendment. While the sole function of Congress with respect to amendments is to propose to the states such amendments as two-thirds of both houses see fit, to be ratified or rejected, either by state legislatures or conventions, yet Congress in this instance did not permit all the states to so act upon this proposed amendment. What is known as the 'Reconstruction Acts' were in operation in 10 states, though President Johnson had held them unconstitutional, while a hurried act of Congress intercepted and prevented a consideration by the Supreme Court of the constitutional validity of these acts. Under these acts, existing state governments were abolished and new governments, created by a convention of delegates made up largely of Negroes, were substituted.

"Under this regime if a state government was about to reject the proposed amendment it was promptly deposed and one of those new governments at once installed, whose action would insure immediate ratification.

"This course seemed to have been at direct variance with the constitutional provision, which directs that only legislatures or 'conventions' in the states are given authority to ratify or reject amendments proposed by Congress. Congress can only direct as to whether a state shall act on an amendment by its legislature or a convention, and with this the power of Congress terminates.

"Lincoln's great secretary of state, William H. Seward, was an exceedingly able lawyer; he had remained in this official position under President Johnson's administration. The act of Congress of 1818 made it the official duty of the secretary of state to certify whether an amendment of state to certify whether an amendment has become a part of the Constitution by being duly ratified by the states. Secretary Seward issued two proclamations by being duly ratified by the states. When he issued the first proclamation, his legal knowledge and sense of justice did not permit him to recite therein that this amendment had been duly ratified by three-fourths of the states, but, instead, this proclamation declared that the amendment had been ratified by the legislatures of certain states—naming them—and that in six states it had been ratified by newly constituted and established bodies avowing themselves to be and acting as the legislatures, respectively.

"In other words, they were ratified by de facto legislatures. Another unusual recital in the proclamation grew out of the fact that Ohio and New Jersey, after having ratified the amendment and before the requisite three-fourths of the states had done likewise, withdrew their ratification, his proclamation hypothetically reciting that if Ohio and New Jersey had no right to withdraw their ratification, the amendment was duly ratified by the requisite number of states.

"Secretary Seward was evidently strongly impressed with the view that a state legislature had the right to withdraw a ratification previously made at any time before an amendment's due ratification by three-fourths of the states; otherwise, as to this qualification he would have unhesitatingly issued the usual proclamation. Then it was that John Sherman, of Ohio, introduced in the Senate a concurrent resolution declaring the ratification sufficient, which passed both houses of Congress, and the secretary of state thereupon issued a second proclamation declaring the amendment duly ratified.

"The steps attending the ratification of what is known as the 'war amendments' were so arbitrary, irregular, and unusual as not to be considered reliable precedents to follow in amending the constitution.

"It must be conceded that the moment three-fourths of the states duly ratify an amendment it becomes a part of the constitution, the proclamation of the secretary of state being a mere ministerial act. Hence it follows that Congress has no power in the premises after it has once proposed an amendment to the states as provides, not even of recalling the amendment; therefore the passage of any resolution by Congress declaring that a given amendment has or has not been duly ratified by the states, such as was done with respect to the Fourteenth Amendment, is ultra vires and void."

Dulles And The Hungry Tiger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is like a man gingerly shoving a piece of steak toward a tiger, only to have the tiger roar at him: "I said a big piece of steak."

He could have guessed it wasn't big enough for the Communist appetite when he proposed Thursday—in a mild speech at the United Nations—a cease-fire as a preliminary for bringing peace to the Formosa area.

The Red Chinese and Soviets both jumped him. The Peiping radio blasted the idea: "There is no question of a cease-fire since China and the United States are not at war."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei

Gromyko let go at him with this: Only a complete U.S. military withdrawal from the entire Formosa area, including Formosa, would bring peace to the Far East.

This was bad enough. But it wasn't all. To still another idea put in circulation by American officials, but unofficially and perhaps as a trial balloon, a representative of America's ally, Chiang Kai-shek, said: "Nuts."

This was the idea that maybe, if the Red Chinese agreed to a cease-fire, some arrangement could be worked out to demilitarize Quemoy. That couldn't sit well with Chiang and probably wouldn't with the Red Chinese either.

Demilitarizing Quemoy would almost certainly require withdrawal of Chiang's troops back to the Formosa stronghold and thus mean the end of all his talk, and Nationalist hopes, of retaking the China mainland someday.

He'd hardly agree to this himself. He'd have to be pressured into it by the United States. But would the Red Chinese settle for the mere demilitarization of Quemoy which they claim as their own? Probably not.

Newsmen Thursday tackled Chiang's new ambassador to the United States, George Yeh. They asked about the demilitarization idea, and first got this answer: "The Eisenhower administration has not told us officially" about such a proposal.

But when asked what he himself thought of it, Yeh replied in un-Chinese language: "Demilitarization, I think is nuts."

All of which illustrates how the United States let Chiang get it into a box and slam the lid. Now it wants out. Explaining how it got in is easier than how it is to get out.

The United States is pledged to defend Chiang's forces on Formosa but not the Quemoy and Matsu islands near the mainland. Dulles has said the islands by themselves are not worth going to war for.

But Chiang moved so many of his troops to Quemoy from Formosa that, if they were overwhelmed by the Red Chinese, not only would he suffer disaster but the American problem of holding Formosa would be complicated too.

Yet the United States didn't oppose his moving the troops to Quemoy. Now the United States is in the position of having to defend them.

President Eisenhower gave this as a reason for fighting for Quemoy: "The Communists shouldn't be allowed to shoot their way into what they want. This, however, has not been a consistent American principle. For example: The United States let the Communists take half of Viet Nam—but not Korea—and it stood by helplessly when the Soviets crushed the Hungarian revolt.

So unless there is war, the jockeying, maneuvering, gun-battering and shooting will probably continue for quite awhile without any real answers at all.

Around The Rim

Opportunity For Water Development

Several hundred million years ago, most of Texas was under water—the floor of the old Permian Sea. Thus, we now have oil.

But then the land rose and, through new geological epochs, it broke up and settled at different levels. Thus, a certain section of West Texas now has the opportunity to diversify its economy.

I speak of my old home town, McCamey, and its neighbors to the south, Iraan and Sheffield. This area is a rolling prairie broken by hundreds of huge mesas which divide the prairie into valleys. The mesas look as if they were broken off the escarpment of Edwards Plateau, which lies to the southeast.

The Pecos River winds through these valleys, in some places with the width of an arrow shot between mesas. It is thus that the river, when in flood stage, finds itself blocked, and the waters are backed up and over the surrounding territory often to a width of five miles.

It was just such a sight that I recall from the age of five, when half the citizens of McCamey motored about 10 miles south on the Iraan highway to see the Pecos at flood stage. I remember thinking of the big mesas that surrounded the lake as dams, rather than mountains. This thought has recurred to me at various times since. I was in my teens when the obvious thought came—that, with dirt fills between some of those mesas and with a concrete spillway in the center, the Pecos could be made to build up into a lake.

There would be water for irrigation, for municipal use, and for recreational pursuits. Later, it occurred to me that it might be possible to erect dams at more than a dozen points. The Pecos, after filling one dam to the level of its spillway, would tumble down its path to fill the second lake. There could be a string of such lakes from 20 to 30 miles long.

Only within the past year did I discover that the idea had occurred to someone else, although on second thought it would seem to be obvious. An oldtimer around McCamey, Ogen Whitley, was telling me one day last spring about his ideas for throwing up a dam between a couple of mesas. Just a few weeks ago, I heard through the grapevine that Ed Thorp, who's also been around McCamey for quite a while, is seriously trying to talk up a similar dam project.

The Pecos, now that the drought is over, is flowing again, and it wouldn't take long to fill a long string of lakes. There will be even more water if the salt cedars upriver are liquidated, and the water will be more palatable if the river bed is re-routed around those bothersome salt beds that the Pecos dug itself into a generation ago. Its alkalinity isn't what it used to be and gets lower each year, and evaporation could be controlled by a new chemical development at Texas A&M.

Another drought, of course, might play hob with the lakes, but all droughts eventually end. Just a few years ago, a view from the bridge showed the Pecos to be a deep dry ditch filled nearly to the brim with tumbleweeds and other assorted prairie garbage. But today, the Pecos is a pretty sight.

It is glad to know that there are some people in the old hometown who look to the future. And these people might be assured of possible success in any venture they might attempt, by a visit to Lake J. B. Thomas, a water project accomplished without any federal help—it was entirely a development of private enterprise.

If Big Spring can do it, so can McCamey.

The Sin Of Being Found Out

Freedom of speech and freedom of the press are splendid shibboleths in the political arena until they spill some partisan's beans. Then, as in the case of California's gubernatorial race, freedom of the press to tell the truth is a naughty disregard of a politician's private right to use of any means to clinch an election.

Mrs. Helen Knowland is very angry, indeed, that The New York Times has had the audacity to break the news that she has approved and distributed an anti-Reuther pamphlet. By so doing, Mrs. Knowland hopes to advance the candidacy of her husband, Sen. William F. Knowland, in his tough battle for the California governorship, the next logical stepstone in his drive for the Presidency.

Now, The New York Times and Mr. Reuther need a defender as a Ford needs an extra fin. My interest in this controversy is from the point of view of freedom of the press. Mrs. Knowland is not the least disturbed that the pamphlet, "Meet the Man Who Plans to Rule America," is the work of Joseph P. Kamp, an extreme right-winger who has served a jail sentence for contempt of Congress. He has been linked with Fascism and anti-Semitism.

Even when she was informed of Kamp's background, Mrs. Knowland reserved her anger not for the author of the anti-Reuther pamphlet but for the impudence of the press in printing the facts surrounding the case.

The distress is not with the facts, but with being found out! That, too, is the rub with Charles M. White of Cleveland, chairman of the Republic Steel Corporation. He admitted that he had given money to Kamp's "Constitutional Educational League."

But Mr. White's indignation was reserved not for Kamp and his unsavory background but for The Times, because it had printed the truth in the best tradition of its profession.

"I am distressed that The New York Times," Mr. White pontificated, "has got down to the point at which it prides into the private contributions of various individuals."

It is only the exposure that hurts! For my money, Pierre S. du Pont and one of the industrialists mentioned as having contributed to the distribution of the anti-Reuther pamphlet, come off better than either Mrs. Knowland or Mr. White. At least he had the intestinal fortitude to say "Let the facts speak for themselves," without attacking the right of the press to print legitimate news.

It is obvious that there is the same need in this country today for legislation regulating labor unions as there was earlier in this century for regulation of uninhibited capitalism. But the 85th Congress, of which Senator Knowland was the most powerful Republican, horsed around with such regulatory measures and then adjourned without passing them. Both major political parties believed that in this election year each had much more to gain than lose by ignoring labor legislation.

Before they put newspapers under interdiction, there is a little saying of that universal genius, Benjamin Franklin, that the Kamp-followers would do well to paste in their hats. It reads:

"A Bible and a newspaper in every house, a good school in every district—all studied and appreciated as they merit—are the principal support of virtue, morality and civil liberty."

Bonds Good For Poor, As Well As Rich

"That's for rich people only."

In that way a broker gave a secretary the you're-not-Barbara-Hutton brush-off when she asked him about purchasing $2,000 of tax-exempt bonds. She had E bonds. She had money in the savings bank. She had some shares of General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph. She figured that she could put some money she had into some municipal bonds. Then she wouldn't have to pay federal taxes.

But municipal bonds have long been regarded as the haven of the Vanderbilts, Whitneys, Rockefellers, Duks and Astors. When a man in the 50 per cent income tax bracket purchases $10,000 of 3 1/2 per cent U. S. Treasury bonds, he can call only $175 of the $350 he collects in coupons his own. The other $175 must be paid back to Uncle Sam. On the other hand, the interest on a City of New York, City of Philadelphia, or some other state or local government obligation would be all his—to do with as he chose. Such bonds are free of federal taxes. And they often escape local taxation, too.

Taxes these days fall freely on rich and poor alike. A secretary who is single and earns as little as $55 a week has to pay 20 per cent on her taxable income. On every dollar of extra income, she pays Uncle Sam 20 cents. Why shouldn't she think of tax-exempt bonds?

Only recently, Sears, Roebuck & Co. offered investors a high-grade long-term bond at the highly attractive yield of 4 1/2 per cent for a security issued by America's largest merchandising enterprise. It was snapped up by insurance companies, banks, and individuals. Interest on a $1,000 bond would come to $23.75 semiannually. But Uncle Sam would collect from the lowest-bracket taxpayer $4.75 out of that, leaving only $19 free and clear, for reinvestment or spending.

Suppose a single person earning as little as $3,000 a year or a married person with two children and earning over $7,000 purchased a City of Elizabeth 4 per cent bond of 1968. He'd be better off than by buying the Sears, Roebuck 4 1/2s. The Elizabeths, rated A by Moody's, can be had at 85 cents on the dollar. That's equivalent to a current return of 3.5 per cent which, except for local taxes if there be such, is all clear. Nor is that all. Thirty years from now, when the Elizabeths are paid off at 100 cents on the dollar, the investor would have a profit of $14 per bond.

Persons of limited income have shied away from municipal bonds because the municipal bond market is a complex specialty. There are thousands of issues of varying quality. As in any investment, the individual buyer needs expert, sympathetic, intelligent advice from a bank or a brokerage firm.

Holders of municipal bonds can't cash them in at 100 cents on the dollar, as in the case of E bonds, a savings deposit, or savings and loan shares. He has to rely on "market conditions," and sometimes market conditions are pretty hectic.

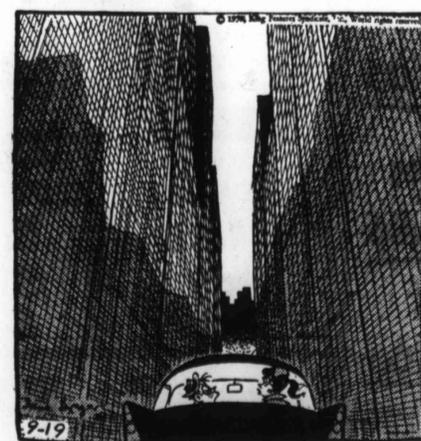

Municipal bonds are quoted over the counter. Many issues are inactive. Prices are not regularly quoted in newspapers.

Moreover, the holder of a small lot of municipal bonds may have to sell at a slight sacrifice. If you trade in less than 100 shares of stock on the New York Stock Exchange, you pay 1/4 of a point extra on shares selling for less than $40 and 3/4 on shares above $40. The usual unit for trading municipal bonds is five—that is, $5,000. You aren't likely to be penalized in buying one or two bonds. Some dealer may have an odd number of bonds on hand and, therefore, won't mind parting with one or two "at the market."

But when it comes to disposing of one or two bonds, the seller may have to pay a half to a full point for the privilege. If the market is 97 1/2 (997 1/2), a dealer will probably offer 96 1/2 (996 1/2) for a single bond or a doubleton. However, that $10 discount is less than two years' savings in taxes for a person in the 20 per cent bracket. And, if you hold the bond to maturity (that is, don't sell it), then there's no such sacrifice.

Today, municipal bonds are selling at the lowest level in more than 20 years.

Odessa Chamber Sets Open House For New Manager

ODESSA—Mayor Harold Downs has proclaimed Saturday, Sept. 27, as "Chamber of Commerce Day" in Odessa in recognition of a 6-hour open house festivity at the chamber building here that day.

Two-fold purpose of the reception is to introduce the new general manager of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce to West Texans and to invite the public to inspect the remodeled, expanded chamber offices.

Clint Lackey, chamber president, said the reception will be held from 3 to 9 p.m. at the chamber building, 211 West Third.

The new chamber manager is Raymond W. Hedges, 48, who assumed his duties here this month after leaving a similar position with the Little Rock, Ark. Chamber of Commerce. Hedges replaces J. Walker Owens, whose resignation became effective last month.

More than $15,000 has been spent to enlarge and remodel the chamber offices. The building project adds approximately 420 square feet of office space and extends the building front to the Third Street sidewalk.

The new chamber manager has

Convicted Negro Killer Executed

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Marshall Lamkin, Negro killer of a white man, went to his death in the first minutes of today in the state's electric chair.

Lamkin entered the death chamber at 12:02 a.m. received the first charge of electricity at 12:04 a.m., and a minute later was pronounced dead by prison physicians.

Lamkin, whose last wish was to see his wife and daughter, was unfulfilled, admonished the death chamber witnesses in his last words:

"Just keep on praying and maybe God will make everything all right."

After Lamkin was strapped into the chair, the former shoemaker boy took on an expression of complete sadness and mumbled:

"I just don't understand it."

A few seconds later he was dead.

A reporter who earlier in the day tried to explain to Lamkin just what had happened, said he believed Lamkin could not realize he finally was going to pay the supreme penalty.

"What am I supposed to do now?" the perplexed Negro asked the newsman.

"Just trust in the Lord," the newsman said.

Prison officials said Lamkin seemed more concerned over not seeing his wife and young daughter before his death than with death itself.

Lamkin was convicted of murder in the shotgun slaying of a Luling, Tex., white man, Ernest Webb Jr.

Twelve times he had been scheduled to die, but each time the Pardons Board granted a stay of execution. For more than a year, since June 1957, he has lived in death row at the state penitentiary here. He said yesterday he had not seen his wife and 7-year-old daughter since his trial.

Representatives of the 54-year-old Negro yesterday asked the U.S. Supreme Court clerk to contact individual members of the court in an effort to obtain an execution stay.

The court clerk said eight of the nine members of the high tribunal turned down the request. Associate Justice William O. Douglas could not be reached.

Earlier in the day, Kenneth

Lamkin, a cousin of Marshall Lamkin and Arthur Mitchell, both of Austin, had told the State Board of Pardons and Paroles that the U.S. Supreme Court had agreed to review the case.

Jack Ross, chairman of the Pardons Board, said the board told the two Austin men that in such a case the Supreme Court would have to grant the stay of execution. It did not.

Previously, the high court had refused a request to review Lamkin's conviction.

Lamkin was in good humor as the hour of his death march neared. He laughed and joked with guards and newsmen.

"I really don't know what they are going to do," he said. "I was told we are going to take my case to the Supreme Court three or four times."

Lamkin refused the once traditional last meal and only nibbled at his breakfast. He became serious once during the interview and told a reporter:

"Well, if they aren't going to do anything, I would like to see my wife and baby."

He never saw them. They never came.

Fallout Ruled Not So Fatal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman researcher says tests on mice show that the present fallout from nuclear weapons tests will not produce a single case of bone cancer or leukemia in humans.

The report of the researcher, Miriam P. Finkel, was carried Thursday in Science Magazine. Miss Finkel conducted her tests at the Argonne National Laboratory, operated in Lemont, Ill., by the University of Chicago under contract to the Atomic Energy Commission.

In her experiment, varying degrees of strontium-90 were injected into 810 mice. An additional 150 mice received no injection. The results, she said, indicated no damage to the injected mice.

Strontium-90 is a dangerous component of fallout which is deposited in bone. It remains there always, exposing the person to constant radiation.

A report issued Aug. 10 by the United Nations Scientific Committee on the effects of atomic radiation said as many as 2,000 persons a year might contract leukemia (cancer of the blood) as a result of radioactive fallout.

Miss Finkel writes that strontium-90 probably is 7 to 14 times more harmful to man than to mice because of its greater size.

But she estimated that the minimum dose for man is so much higher than present fallout levels "that it is extremely unlikely to induce even one bone tumor or one case of leukemia."

Searchers Find Bloody Diaper

GOLIAD, Tex. (AP)—Searchers for two children believed killed by their father have found a blood-stained diaper. Deputy Sheriff Ray Markowsky said yesterday.

The diaper was identified by the mother, Mrs. A. J. Campbell of Fort Worth, as of the type one of her children wore, he said. The diaper was sent to Austin to confirm that the stains are blood.

Campbell, 32, was found shot to death in his car at Austin last Sept. 7. He left a note saying he had killed and buried his three-year-old daughter and her 11-month-old brother.

The diaper was found by a member of a Cuero National Guard company taking part in the search under way since Campbell's death.

HOW IMPORTANT Are Your Child's Eyes?

To be sure the youngsters have every advantage in school, wise parents see that their eyes are examined each year.

Bring your children to TSO where experienced Doctors of Optometry will carefully examine the interior of each eye for possible disease or defect . . . will determine if visual defects such as astigmatism, nearsightedness, farsightedness, or muscle imbalance are present, and, if so, to what degree.

GLASSES WILL NOT BE FITTED UNLESS NEEDED FOR CLEAR, COMFORTABLE VISION.

Make sure your children are not handicapped in school. Have their precious eyes examined at TSO NOW.

THE SECRET PLACE

By CLYDE NICHOLS

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty."—Psalms 91:1.

One Solitary Life

You have only one life to live. What are you doing with it? Successful living depends, not so much upon the number of talents you possess, as upon what you do with them.

Lou Little, former coach at Columbia University, in a little book entitled, "IRON MEN AND HOW TO BUILD THEM," says, "I don't care how big you are; size makes very little difference. What I want to know is this: Are you able to take it?" That's it. Do you have the courage to take what you have and make the most of it?

One afternoon, a number of years ago, a coach in Dallas was sending his football team through a hard scrimmage in preparation for their game that week-end. On the practice field that afternoon was a bit of a boy watching all that went on with keen interest and consequently getting in the way. Following a close shave, in which he was almost run over by a big tackle, the coach shouted, "Get out of here, before you get killed!" And then, touched by the wistful look on the little face, the great coach picked up an old, worn out football. "Here," he said, "Take this." Gripping the ball with his experienced hands, he added, "Take it, and learn to pass it; learn to pass the very best you can." The little boy's eyes lighted up. He grasped the ball eagerly, and with a heart running over left the field.

The years passed. One Saturday afternoon in 1938, Coach Matty Bell and his boys from SMU took the field for their most crucial game of the year. And that afternoon the mighty Mustangs went down in defeat at the hands of a TCU eleven gutbacked by a little giant by the name of Davy O'Brien, who years before had been given a worn out football and challenged by this losing coach to do his very best with what he had.

Now, 150 pounds isn't much to work with when it comes to varsity football, but Davy O'Brien used what he had to win the acclaim of a nation as the outstanding player of the year, and later, a place in Football's Hall of Fame.

It isn't the number or the size of the talents we have. It is what we do with what God has given us. And what we do depends upon our faith and courage.

Got any rivers they say are uncrossable? Got any mountains you can't tunnel through? We specialize in the wholly impossible. Doing what nobody else could do.

That is what we mean—believing, scorning the obstacles, refusing to give up.

How easy it is to decry the talents God has given us as meagre and inadequate, to talk about what all we would do had we been given more, when there are thousands of people who would give anything for the life and opportunities which are ours.

One solitary life! What are you doing with it?

Justice for People in Need

TO HELP THE POOR AND OPPRESSED AND TO LOVE ONE ANOTHER WILL WIN GOD'S BLESSING

Scripture—Deuteronomy 15:7-11; 24:19-21; Isaiah 58:4-12; Matthew 9:35-36; Luke 4:14-22; Hebrews 13:1-3; I John 3:11-24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON teaches us how to act as a Christian as well as to profess to be one by believing in Jesus Christ and God our Father. The younger classes can learn this great lesson of tenderness and compassion for others by the examples set by their parents. If they are kind, generous and loving to all—rich or poor—it is more than likely that the children will emulate them.

Not fastings nor spreading sickle and ashes under a man in token of humility will please the Lord, said the prophet Isaiah. These are acts to impress others of your piety.

Is not this the fact that I have chosen? To loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked that thou cover him?—Isaiah 58:6-7.

Children in both day school and Sunday school classes may see words which proceeded out of His mouth," and said to one another, "Is not this Joseph's son?"—Luke 4:22.

They could not believe it was indeed the son of the humble carpenter who was speaking to them.

St. Paul writes to the Hebrews, showing us of this generation, also, the way to be really Christian in spirit:

"Let brotherly love continue. . . Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body."—Hebrews 13:1-3.

Be so sorry for people in trouble that you try to put yourself in their place with your sympathy and tenderness toward them. This, I admit, is more easily done if you, too, have suffered adversity or deep sorrow, but it is possible for all of us to strive for this spirit. How much our troubled world of today needs this spirit of love and helpfulness.

The Apostle John repeats the message of love for one another, which we preach but do not always practice. "This is the mes-classmates who are not as well dressed as they are, do not have as good food, maybe not as happy homes. The teachers of both these schools can, by words and deeds, impress upon these youngsters that they should not only be kind and friendly to these poorer ones, but teach them to love all God's children, no matter what their race or condition in life. Thus they will obey God's laws and the example of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Luke tells us of Jesus' return to his home town of Nazareth, in Galilee, where He grew up. He went into the synagogue, and the book of Isaiah was handed to Him. From it He read: "The spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He hath anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord."—Luke 4:18, 19.

Then He preached to people He had known from His youth, and all "wondered at the gracious and all unthoughtful outline produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate

Not A Glamour Girl

June Christy, one of America's top jazz singers, has developed an individuality that has carried her far. She advises not to fret if you can't compete with the glamour girls.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Naturalness The Aim Of June Christy

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — The Crescendo Night Club on the Sunset Strip is often called the "June Christy" room because this petite jazz singer has been booked there 12 times in the last few years. Opening night of her latest engagement, I planned to take in her first show and then interview her before the second. I arrived late, and as I stood in the back of the room there was not a whisper or a tinkle of a glass as this tiny blonde sang "Something Cool" in a clear, beautiful voice. This type of rapt attention is the greatest compliment an audience can pay a performer. Later June came to my table, and I noticed she was wearing no make-up except lipstick and a little mascara. "I look better with no make-up," she said, "so I try to get as tan as I can, and that way I don't need it." June's flat bangs have become a sort of trademark with her. "I've tried to change them, but no one knows me. This hairdo was started from necessity when I was doing one-night stands with a band. There was no time for beauty salons, so I had to find a style that was easy. "Long ago I realized there was no place for me in the glamour race," June said in her low voice.

"The fact that I was not photogenic had something to do with the career I chose. I knew no talent scout would ever offer me a job because of my face and that my success would have to come from merit. "I understand you and the band were a small sensation in Europe," I told June. This modest girl grinned and replied, "We didn't have as much competition over there but their reaction to our jazz is an experience I wouldn't miss. They consider it our top art form. "I think traveling, seeing the world and meeting different people is a great education. It has helped me to understand myself. We can learn so much by being surrounded by the unfamiliar," June commented. "You've never looked better," I said as June started to go. "I'm up to 113 pounds. I have a hard time gaining. I can't gain weight if I'm nervous or tired. Europeans take more time at their meals, and I find that when I eat more slowly like them, I feel so much better and I gain weight."

Mrs. Jennings Is Honoree At Shower

Friends of Mrs. Robert C. Jennings gathered in the home of Mrs. A. J. Hoover Thursday morning to surprise her with a personal shower.

S. Sgt. and Mrs. Jennings and small daughter will leave Sunday for Tripoli, North Africa, where they will live during his tour of duty. Cohostesses with Mrs. Hoover were Mrs. W. O. McMeans and Mrs. A. J. Hooten. On the refreshment table they used a cutwork cloth and an arrangement of fall flowers. Gifts were presented to the honoree by the 12 attending.

Gold Star Mothers Set Observance

National Gold Star Mothers Day, which will be Sept. 28, will be observed here with worship services at 9:45 a. m. at the VA Hospital. Chaplain C. O. Hitt will conduct the service, and all Gold Star Mothers in this area and their husbands are invited to attend. This announcement was made Thursday morning when the local unit of Gold Star Mothers met at the home of Mrs. Felton Smith. The eight members present made plans to engage in their annual candy sale. Proceeds will be used in their work at the VA Hospital.

Mrs. Harry Lees, 611 East 16th, will be hostess to the group at 9:30 a. m. Oct. 16.

Enrolled At NTSC

Robby Jaye Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen of 601 Caylor Dr., has enrolled at North Texas State College as a freshman. He has chosen English as his major and is training under the ROTC-AF program.

To Form Goliad P-TA

All parents are urged to attend the organizational meeting of Goliad P-TA at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Members of the nominating and by-laws committees will be appointed during the session at the school auditorium, and a social hour will climax the assembly.

HD Tour Schedule Told At Lomax Club Meeting

At a meeting of the Lomax Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon, a schedule was announced for the home tour to be taken by the women on Oct. 20. Mrs. Neil Pryor was hostess to the Thursday meeting. The group will meet at 9:30 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Jim Smith, 1904 Runnels, where a display of foods will be shown. The next stop in the tour will be at the home of Mrs. L. G. Adkins in the Lomax community; crafts will be the attraction here. Coming back to Big Spring, the women will gather at the home of Mrs. Ross Callihan for a covered dish luncheon. While there, they will see a display of clothing made by club members.

OWC Hosts Tea At Base

Shades of pink and mulberry were used in decorations for the tea given today at Webb Air Force Base for Mrs. H. L. Weber and Mrs. J. A. Johnson. Col. Weber is commander of the M&S Group; Col. Johnson is wing executive officer at the base. Hostess group for the tea was the Officers' Wives' Club, with the arrangements under the direction of Mrs. Paul Leming and Mrs. Paul Wagner.

A cloth of mulberry hue covered the table and was overlaid with pink net. Centering the table was a silver champagne cooler into which the hostesses had placed purple chrysanthemums and pink shaggy spoon chrysanthemums. Refreshments furthered the chosen color scheme. Chrysanthemums made up the corsages worn by the two honorees, who were presented to guests by Mrs. Andrew Terpening, president of the club, and Mrs. Ernest Lehr, second vice president.

Easy-To-Make Compost Bed Is Boon To Garden

By ANNE LEFEVER
Probably one of the best assistants a gardener can have is a compost bed, and certainly it is one of the least expensive helps in gardening. Compost helps condition the soil by replacing needed elements and attracting the earthworms, which are literally little fertilizer factories. They also keep the soil aerated as they travel from one place to another in their underground wanderings. In starting a compost bed, you may prefer to use a box about five feet square of you may like to have a pit dug in the same proportions, reserving the soil which is taken from the hole. The first layer for the bed should be of waste green materials from the kitchen, such as trimmings from leafy vegetables, peelings, melon rinds, coffee grounds, tea leaves, stale bread, cigarette stubs and table scraps, being careful to avoid greasy foods or sugar. For outdoor contributions to the bed, use all grass clippings, leaves, stalks, dead blossoms and weeds. The heat generated by the manure applied to the bed will kill the seeds from the weeds. On each layer, place a layer of barnyard fertilizer and a layer of soil. Repeat the piling process until the stack is about five feet deep. Keep the mixture damp but not soggy, in order that the bacteria in the compost may work more effectively. Allow the bed to remain for five or six weeks after its completion and then turn it; a second turning is recommended after another five or six weeks, but is not absolutely necessary. Keep the bed moist and allow it to stand about three or four months. At the end of that period, it should be ready; if it is not used when it is ripe and ready for use, cover with a layer of soil to avoid a loss in the plant food. A bed, made in the fall, should be used in the springtime. To make use of the compost, spade it over the beds or lawn, mixing it into the soil as you would any fertilizer.

STEERS SEEK SECOND WIN HERE TONIGHT

Installment No. Two of The Rebuilding Story, as prepared and edited by Coach Al Milch, will be presented to an almost exclusively local audience tonight, at which time the Ysleta Indians tangle with the resident Steers on the Big Spring football commons. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

Ysleta, off to a false start against a New Mexico powerhouse last week, is the District I-AAAA title favorite. Big Spring, in the eyes of many observers, is destined for a cellar finish in 2-AAAA.

Still and all, there are those who reason that the Steers' hands will be raised in victory. Those with the strongest convictions are the local players themselves.

Ysleta was decked by Roswell, N.M., last week, 0-0. The Indians scored a touchdown on a pass to Dean Bynum but the play was called back due to a penalty. Big Spring worked over San Antonio Edison, 28-0, and perhaps could have made it even worse, had not Milch and his aides seen fit to use their sophomores through much of the last half.

The Warriors from out El Paso way are coached by J. W. (Red) Coates, who formerly was head mentor of the Odessa Junior College team. He has built his team around 11 returning lettermen, including five of the 1957 regulars, and such bright newcomers as tackle Max Lumm and guard Nick Lestch.

The Tribe throws the ball a lot, with either Don Grimes or Ed Wiley usually handling the ball. Wiley, a 160-pounder, is adept as the 'man under' and Steer scouts say he is excellent on short, medium or running passes.

His target is usually big Jim Price or Dean Bynum. The latter is regarded as one of the fastest halfbacks in the state.

Big Spring will enter the game in good physical trim. Tailback Wayne Fields has been favoring a slight ankle injury this week but should be able to go the distance tonight, if needed.

Such lads as Buddy Barnes, Freddie Brown, Roger Flowers, J. B. Davis and Bill French are set to give Fields lots of help tonight.

Fields and Barnes each scored two touchdowns in Big Spring's win over Edison. Brown accounted for the two extra points on a run.

The Steers will depend mainly on their running game to see them through but both French and his understudy, sophomore Tommy Whitley, can throw the ball.

Benny McCrary, senior end, is one of the favorite targets of both Big Spring quarterbacks.

This will be the second of three straight home tilts for the Longhorns. They play Snyder here next week. The locals will be seeking to put two victories together for the first time in three years.

He never has batted worse than .318 for a full season with the Boston Red Sox. That was in 1951. Now, at 40 and battling for his sixth crown, he's batting .318 and is just .001 behind teammate Pete Runnels, who leads the league.

Runnels lost three points to 319 with an 0-for-4 day as the Red Sox slipped to fifth with a 4-1 loss at Kansas City yesterday. Williams had a double in three at-bats, staying put in the averages.

The A's Bob Cerv had one hit, his 37th homer, in three trips and remained at .315, tied for third with Vic Power of Cleveland and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

The Chicago White Sox defeated Baltimore 6-2 in the only other AL game scheduled yesterday.

The pennant-bound Milwaukee Braves whittled their magic number to two by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3 in the only National League game.

Williams, who has batted .345 (10-for-29) since returning from a bout with a virus, won the 1957 title with a .383 mark. His other champion averages were .406 (1941), .369 (1948), .356 (1942) and .343 (1947).

Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris also homered for the A's, in the first inning of the first game of the season. Pete Daley hit his second home run in the second inning and had two of Boston's six hits off left-hander Bud Daley (3-2).

Barry Latman (2-0), a young right-hander, blanked the Orioles on three singles in 7 2/3 innings of relief at Chicago. The White Sox took it with two runs in the fifth off Jack Harshman (11-14) on Al Smith's two-run double and a single by Ray Boone, who had hit his 13th homer earlier.

Big Spring teams failed to score in either of two junior high school football games played at Steer Stadium here Thursday night.

The Goliad 8th graders blew a 48-0 decision to Andrews, after which the Runnels 9th finished on the short end of a 38-0 score.

The loss was the first in two starts for the Runnels team, which earlier had beaten Midland Austin, 8-0.

In the 9th grade game, Runnels held the visitors scoreless the first quarter but the visitors scored the first time they got the ball in the second.

Jackie Malow ran over two touchdowns for Andrews. Harold Wilson got a third on a fumble intercepted in mid-air while Jerry Graves intercepted a Big Spring pass and raced 35 yards for the fourth TD. The fifth occurred when Big Spring failed to cover a kickoff in the end zone.

Jerry Parnell made three conversion runs for Andrews, good for six points.

Big Spring didn't register a first down until the last half. An utter lack of blocking stalled the Yearling attack throughout.

Chief running threat of the locals was Jack Irons. Bill Fox, Mike Hughes and Guy Dobbs played good defensive ball for the locals.

Burt Bell, linebacker on defensive and fullback on offense, was outstanding for the Goliad 8th graders, along with tailback James Samples. Right end Donnie Phillips and right tackle John Trego, all on offense.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A victory over welterweight champ Virgil Akins sent the up-and-down career of Del Flanagan soaring to a new summit today.

But as far as Akins' camp is concerned the fancy-footed St. Paul Irishman may as well enjoy the win — he's not getting a title shot as long as Akins holds the crown.

CHAIRMAN CROWNS KING AND QUEEN OF GALA INDEPENDENCE FIESTA. J. M. Salazar does the honors for Victoria Palomino and Jesse Gonzales

MEXICO'S INDEPENDENCE Colorful Fiesta Held At Ackerly

ACKERLY (SC) — The colorful fiesta of Septiembre Dies y Seis, marking the 148th anniversary of Mexico's Independence, has come and gone, but this area is still talking about the gala celebration. Crowned queen of the fiesta by J. M. Salazar, who was in charge of arrangements, was Victoria Palomino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregorio Palomino of Big Spring. King of the fiesta was Jesse Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonardo Gonzales, Big Spring.

Boydston P-TA Unit Lets School Sidewalk Contract

The Boydston Parent - Teacher Assn. has awarded contract for construction of more than $1,000 of sidewalks around the school. This action was taken Thursday afternoon after the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees had said in its Tuesday meeting that it would accept such a gift—and with thanks. The work was awarded on a low bid of $1,019. P-TA officials said.

To Go To St. Louis

Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, manager of the Big Spring VA Hospital, will leave Saturday for St. Louis where he is to participate in a conference of VA directors of professional services in VA Area headquarters. He expects to be absent from his post for about a week.

5 ASC Community Committees Named

Community Committee election returns were tabulated Friday at the Agriculture Stabilization Conservation office by the county tabulation committee, and groups which will work in conjunction with the ASC County Committee have been named. Ballots were returned by mail from the five communities, A, B, C, D and E. Voters' response was about normal, said Manager Gabe Hammack. Community Committee election returns: "A"—Chairman and delegate to county election committee, Cecial Allred of Ackerly; 39; vice chairman, member Lewis Rosser of route 2, Big Spring, 53; and alternates Lawrence Davis, Coahoma, and A. J. Stallings, Route 2, Big Spring, 46 and 45 votes, respectively. "B"—Chairman and delegate Jack Buchanan of Gay Hill, 57; vice chairman Melvin Anderson of Gay Hill, 52; regular member L. C. Underwood of Luther, 44; and alternates W. D. Anderson, Gay Hill, and Jim Hodnett, Vincent, 41 and 40 votes respectively. "C"—Chairman and delegate R.

54 Soil Bank Requests Filed In ASC Office

Response from farmers for the 1959 conservation reserve of the Soil Bank program has been fair, as shown by 54 requests that have been sent to the Agriculture Stabilization Conservation office. That number has asked the county committee to set a rate per acre on farming land, said Manager Gabe Hammack today. The operator may accept or reject the rate; in other words, the 54 have not committed themselves to the program.

Mrs. Wren's Rites Set At Stanton

STANTON (SC)—Funeral services for Mrs. Ila L. Wren, 53, will be held in the First Baptist Church here at 3 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor, and the Rev. W. H. Kirby, Methodist minister, officiating. Mrs. Wren died at her home here early Thursday afternoon. She had been ill for a long time. A resident of Stanton since 1924, she and Louis A. Wren were married in Big Spring in 1942. She was born Sept. 9, 1905, in Wintgar.

Coahoma Still Needs Teacher

COAHOMA (SC)—The Coahoma schools still need one more teacher—a fifth grade teacher. H. L. Miller, superintendent, said that he was seeking someone with a bachelor's degree and with required background in elementary teaching. Enrollment at Coahoma has reached 650, which is about 25 more than last year's peak. Miller said he anticipated the number will increase as scholastics leave the cotton patch.

Justice Sets Bonds For Two Defendants

Bonds were set by Walter Grice, justice of the peace, in two cases filed recently in his court. Robert Watson, charged with DWI second offense, was arrested last night. His bond is set at $1,500. Mersolav Slovak, charged with writing a worthless check, has a bond fixed $2,000. Neither had posted security at noon today.

Two Garza Wildcats Strike Strong Shows In Ellenburger

Two Garza wildcats have reported strong shows of oil in the Ellenburger on tests, and one is now ready to plug back and re-test the Strawn for production. The American Liberty No. 1, Connell wildcat about eight miles northeast of Justinburg returned 2,000 feet of oil from a 30-minute Ellenburger drillstem test, and the General American No. 1 Koonsman flowed 167 barrels of oil from the same zone in 12 hours. It will now plug back for tests in the Strawn. It is located two miles north of the Borden County line.

Borden

Midwest No. 1 Clayton perforated from 8,161-65 feet opposite the Canyon Reef and prepared to swab and test today. The exploration is C SE SE, 16-31-6n, T&P Survey. Six miles southwest of Fluvanna, Shell No. 1-MA Jones penetrated to 4,183 feet in lime. It is C SW SW, 423-97, H&T Survey. Shell No. 1-H Miller, C SE SE of Section 4, Hood Survey, made hole in shale at 7,220 feet. It is about 12 miles northeast of Gail.

Dawson

The Texas Seaboard No. 1 Nowell has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 8,516. It was 2,419 from north and 2,102 from south, T&P Survey. Texas National No. 2 Richardson, 10 miles northwest of Lamesa, made hole at 10,205 feet in lime today. It is C N WNE, 77-M, EL&R Survey.

Garza

The Shell No. 1 Sims, 1,900 from south and 920 from west line, 875-97, H&T Survey, penetrated to 3,840 feet in lime. It is about 10 miles south of Post and contracted to 8,700 feet. Sinclair-Shell No. 1 Stoker made hole at 5,995 feet today. The venture is five miles east of Post, 660 from south and 1,980 from west line, 68-5, GH&H Survey. Operator prepared to set 5 1/2-inch string at 7,941 feet, perforate and test the Ellenburger after drillstem testing the zone from 7,925-40 feet. Tool was open 30 minutes, and operator recovered 2,000 feet of free oil, 160 feet of mud-cut oil, and 10 feet of waddy salt water. The location is eight miles northeast of Justinburg, 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, 129-5, H&G Survey.

Conducts Drive To Assist Girl With Malignancy

Mrs. Roy O'Brien Jr., Old San Angelo Highway, has launched a personal campaign for funds to assist the family of little Melba Kay King, 7, who is suffering from a malignant brain tumor. Mrs. O'Brien said she raised $15 Wednesday and $13.50 Thursday in a house-to-house appeal. She said anyone wishing to help may send gifts to the girls' name, Mrs. Melba Kay King, 1602 Biron. Melba Kay was to have been a second grader in Airport school this fall, but was not able to enroll. She has received treatment with radioactive cobalt at a Dallas hospital.

Three Burglaries Reported Today

Three break-ins were reported today, but in only one was anything found missing. At the Scurry Kay Service Station, 1901 Scurry, burglars entered through a restroom window and took $20 in pennies and $9 in other change from the office. Intruders were also reported by Bernard DeVoy, 608 Eleventh, and J. L. Woods, 510 Washington, but nothing was found missing from either residence.

Assailant Identified By Robbery Victim

James Caruthers told the police that he was robbed of about $15, a billfold, and a watch early today. He was able to identify his assailant. After reporting the robbery, Caruthers picked out of police files a picture of a Negro who he said committed the crime. Police officers were looking for the man today for questioning.

Weather

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy to clear with occasional showers and thunderstorms. Pease Valley eastward and eastern South Plains and waddy salt water. Thunderstorms elsewhere through Saturday. EAST SOUTH CENTRAL, NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Mostly cloudy with occasional showers and thunderstorms. No important temperature changes. SUNDAY FORECAST: WEST TEXAS: Temperatures about normal. Normal minimum 50 north to 70 south. Maximum 75. Cooler about Sunday. Precipitation locally moderate scattered thunderstorms remainder of week. Otherwise light or none.

Glasscock

August & Associates No. 1 Mrs. W. D. Sanders is a new site in the Spraberry Trend Area about 12 miles southwest of Garden City. Drillsite is 1,320 from north and 660 from west lines, 24-33-5e, T&P Survey. Drilling depth is 7,500 feet.

Howard

On the edge of the Oceanic (Pennsylvanian) field, the Tidewater No. 1 Lester deepened to 8,701 feet in lime. It is C SW SW, 27-33-3n, T&P Survey, and 19 miles northwest of Big Spring. Fleming, Fleming & Kimball No. 1B TXL, in the Snyder field, yielded 73 barrels of oil on potential test. It is 330 from south and west lines of the southeast quarter, 23-30-1s, T&P Survey. Total depth is 2,900 feet, and top of the pay zone is 2,840. Production is from open hole.

Martin

Humble No. 1 McKaakle, C NE NE, 12-35-1n, T&P Survey, drilled in lime and shale at 9,020 feet today. The devonian test is 15 miles west of Big Spring.

Mitchell

The Texas No. 1 Nail, C SE SE, 25-12, H&T Survey, penetrated to 6,031 feet in shale today. It is a 7,250-foot wildcat 15 miles southwest of Colorado City.

Church Schedules Week Of Lectures

A lectureship is to be held at the Sand Springs Church of Christ, beginning Sunday. A different speaker will be heard at 7:30 p.m. each day during the week and at 11 a.m. Sunday. The lecture is invited.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS. To Joe Billy Croft, Defendant (s), Greeting: You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff's Petition for divorce in the County of Big Spring, Texas, on or before the 26th day of October, 1958, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Big Spring, Texas. A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows: Plaintiff alleges legal marriage, resident in the State of Texas for one year and residing in Howard County for more than six months. Plaintiff desires that the marriage be dissolved, and that she be awarded custody, and support of Debbie Croft, age 2 1/2, and Donnie, age 1 1/2. No property and plaintiff prays for divorce, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit. If this citation is not served within ninety days of the date hereof, judgment shall be rendered in favor of the Plaintiff. The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of the Court of said County, Texas, this 12th day of September, A.D. 1958. WADE CHOCATE, Clerk. Test: Freda Donica, Deputy. (Seal)

Father Is Given Divorce, Support

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Donald L. Howse, 33, has been granted an uncontested divorce, custody of his three children and $30 weekly support from Dorothy Howse, 28. She works at the same aircraft plant as Howse.

He testified that he "was all shook up" when he discovered his wife out with other men. Said Superior Judge Roger Pfaff: "In these modern days if the wife wants to give up the children, and both parents are working, it is only fair that the wife contribute to the support."

Evangelist Sets 'Truth' Campaign

V. E. P. Ellis of Atlanta, Ga., who has an international reputation as an evangelist and gospel song writer, is coming to Big Spring Sept. 25 through Oct. 5 to lead a spiritual truth campaign.

The campaign here will be under the sponsorship of the Church of God and the Full Gospel Churches in this area. Tent services will be held daily in the 1700 block of Goliad.

Next Thursday, Joe Southerland and the Camp Meeting Singers will come in for three days of services and youth rallies, preceding the arrival of the evangelist who will be at the Sunday evening services.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

LIGHT 'N HITCH by Laura V. Hamner, illustrated with paintings by Dord Fitz. $4.95. American Guild Press.

Amarillo is having a special week honoring the author of this new historical book about frontier life on the high plains.

Miss Hamner is no new writer. She has two other successful books to her credit and she has won wide renown for her radio series which has run for 13 years on an Amarillo station. Her daily and weekly columns in the Amarillo newspapers have also won her renown which has been more than local in scope.

Her new book, just now on sale, is based on the radio series she presented and tells in stirring but authentic fashion of episodes and characters in the pioneer days on the High Plains.

The book is illustrated with paintings by Dord Fitz, himself a plainsman and a well known teacher in his field.

The period covered in the book ranges from the 1870's through the 1920's. The book makes interesting and absorbing reading for the casual reader but it is more than that. It is a historical reference work as well—a volume that is entitled to a place on the growing shelf of important works about frontier life in West Texas.

Miss Hamner has spent a lifetime in her search for material about the country where she has lived since 1891 and she has made a major contribution to the record of that amazing country—the High Plains.

LANE OF THE LITTLE

LEAGUES by Curtis Bishop, J. B. Lippincott & Co., $2.75.

Curtis Bishop, who cut his literary teeth on the Big Spring Herald a little less than three decades ago, has turned out another book in a favorite field—sports.

"Lank of the Little Leagues" is a story cast in a special realm within a favored area, for Bishop once served as a Little League manager himself. Moreover, his own boys have taken great delight in playing Little League ball.

The story is one with appeal to all young people, particularly those interested in Little League, Pony League and junior baseball. Mamas and Papas with youngsters aspiring to glory on the base paths also will find it a crisply moving narrative about a gangling lad who was helped by the program.

The story is pitched in West Austin, certainly familiar ground for Bishop who has lived there since leaving Big Spring in the early 30's to attend the University of Texas.

To his younger readers references to the Colorado may have as much flavor as the Mississippi, for Lank Long is something of a contemporary Huckleberry Finn. The analogy does not suffer when it comes to involving him with an elderly spinster who is virtually thawed from her status as a recluse because of her admiration for Lank.

But mostly the story is about a rustic lad who was green as a gourd when it came to the lingo and science of baseball, but whose ability to knock squirrels out of trees with nothing but thrown rocks most surely marked him as a pitcher. Lank learned, however, that there's more to pitching than speed—and he learned some other things about people, too. It's a book most anyone will enjoy. (J.P.)

Last Rejection Was Too Much

WOODBRIDGE, N.J. (AP)—John Brego knew a lot of rejection in his 17 years.

He had hoped desperately for an Army career, but a brutal beating by a gang of youths two years ago affected his heart, sent him to the hospital twice. The Army rejected him.

He finally joined the National Guard, but after a time he had to leave that.

John left school and went to work to help his mother and younger brother. His recurring spells, however, forced him to leave job after job.

John felt he could still be of some use.

Three weeks ago he entered a neighbor's home and offered to give up one of his eyes so a 9-year-old girl, blind for more than four years, could see again.

"Would it be all right if I gave Patricia one of my eyes?" the boy asked Mrs. Michael Misak.

"I can have one and she can have one—and then we both can see. Please, make the arrangements, if it's all right with you."

Mrs. Misak was touched by John's offer, but in all humanity she had to reject him too.

Police found him Thursday hanging from a baseball backstop at a local recreation field.

Ike May Limit Campaign Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently intends to limit his participation in the congressional campaign to fewer than half a dozen speeches in the final three weeks before the November election.

Republican campaigners, notified Eisenhower won't be available until after Oct. 15, are hoping Vice President Nixon will expand greatly a schedule that now calls for eight speeches in four states.

Although there has been no final decision, Eisenhower is expected to make personal appearances in the East, the Midwest and on the Pacific Coast.

On the other hand, Nixon was said to be receiving requests for campaign help that might cause him to reconsider his previous decision against the type of barnstorming he undertook four years ago.

Urgent requests for Nixon's help are said to have come from GOP senatorial candidates in Arizona, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Missing Children Confuse Searchers

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A crowd stood on a bridge watching searchers probing a canal yesterday.

The group included two women, mothers of three children reported missing.

The crowd kept getting bigger. So there wasn't much stir when three youngsters joined the group to see what the excitement was about.

Not that is, until someone recognized them as the objects of the search—5-year-old Bobby Curran, and Gail and Mark Walpert, 3 and 5.

Where had they been? "Way over there," one managed to reply with an indefinite wave of his arm between hugs and kisses from his mother.

DEAR ABBY TAKE FRONT SEAT

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I planned to drive (just the two of us) from Portland, Maine to Midland, Texas. A neighbor (widow) heard about it and asked if she could come along for the ride. She offered to pay one-third of the gas and her own expenses so we saw no harm in taking her. She is about 55 and she wore short shorts and a pony tail on the trip and flirted with every service station attendant she saw, but the worst part of it was this. She sat in the front seat with my husband the whole trip while I sat in the back seat holding the luggage. She said riding in the back seat makes her sick. Going back should I say anything to her or not? BURNED UP

DEAR TWO: Your girlfriend is lucky to have a boyfriend with as much brains as you display. If your "love" is real, it will hold up until you return from the service. I vote against the engagement.

DEAR ABBY: There are several women in a group who take turns going to each other's homes for a game of cards and chat. There is one lady in the group who is getting left out because of her poodle dog. No one likes to go to her house because she lets the dog get up on the furniture with dirty toys and bones. Her furniture is covered with dog hair and dirt from the dog's toys and nobody cares to sit down there. The ladies talk behind her back but no one has the courage to tell her. How can this situation be handled without hurting any feelings?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If you are a real friend, you will tell this woman the truth. It is kinder to tell her why she is being "left out" than to have her wonder.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HE-MAN": When you were married you promised to "cleave" to each other. This is not done with a MEAT CLEAVER. You need police protection.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookseller to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Mary Ann Nugent Pledges Sorority

Mary Ann Nugent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nugent, is among the co-eds at TCU who have pledged sororities. She is a Zeta Tau Alpha pledge as are June McMulland, Big Lake and Jo Ann Miller, Snyder.

Other pledges from this area are Joan Kitley, Midland, Delta Delta Delta; Nancy Boyd, Big Lake, Delta Gamma, and Carolyn Carroll, Sweetwater, and Kay Nance, Odessa, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Prof Gives Study Hints

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Millions of students are back in class wondering if they have what it takes to shine as scholars.

They should lend an ear to Dr. Leslie N. Nason, professor of education at the University of Southern California. He's specialized for 20 years in the helping students do better at exams.

Study habits, he says, can make all the difference. And he has a lot of helpful hints.

Here are some he devised for college freshmen—"the freshman year is an ideal time to cultivate proper methods"—but which should benefit students at other levels:

"1. Read the material in the table of contents of whatever book you are studying.

"2. Read the first paragraph or two of the first chapter.

"3. Skim through the chapter rapidly.

"4. Read the summary at the end of the chapter.

"Then start reading the chapter carefully. At the end of each paragraph, ask yourself, 'What did the writer say?' And if you can't answer this question, you were reading too slowly.

"Slow reading allows extraneous thoughts and material to penetrate the consciousness. Reading faster serves to whip the mind to a faster rate of operation, thus limiting the circle of perception exclusively to the material at hand."

"You have to prepare for the lecture by glancing at the material to be lectured on beforehand. You get an over-all pattern in mind. You are filling up mind space which is not utilized by the lecturer. He's not talking fast enough to fill up your mind.

"There is a little game you ought to play. If the lecturer is too slow, try to anticipate what he will say about the subject. If you do that, then the entire circle of perception is filled either with the lecturer's ideas or with the over-all pattern of the subject matter."
