Auto Wage Talks Race Strike Date

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union with a strike threat poised over General Motors and Chrysler, today resumed efforts to have the two companies sweeten their contract offers and avert a walkout.

which Ford and the UAW agreed on Wednesday. UAW President Walter Reuther said he would not accept from GM or Chrysler a carbon copy of the Ford settlement, but he indicated the offer made Saturday supplied a basis from which to work for ultimate settlement.

Vice War Suspect Sought In Woman's Strangling Death

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Police said today a man suspected of involvement in a prostitution gang war in Fort Worth, Tex., is being sought here in the strangling of a woman Saturday.

Reuther said that since GM has four times as many plants and nearly four times as many workers as Chrysler there are many more local problems at GM and that makes negotiation a slower process.

Autumn Starts Early Tuesday

Autumn will move into Big Spring officially at 9:10 a.m. Tuesday. The autumnal equinox will occur at that time—officially marking the end of summer and the advent of the fall season.

Dampish, drizzling weather with heavily overcast skies was the pattern on the day before summer closes. Autumn will hold sway until 4:40 a.m. Dec. 21. That date will mark the official arrival of winter.

In Hoodlums' Graveyard

Officers dig up a skeleton believed to be that of George Kean, Fort Worth underworld character missing since December of 1957. The grave is near the north end of Lake Worth where the body of gambler Edell Evans was found buried in 1955 and that of Sid Foley was dumped in a garbage pit two years later.

Adams Goes On Air Tonight Apparently To Quit Cabinet

U. S., Formosa Commanders Hold Meeting

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—America's top Pacific commanders conferred with Chinese Nationalist military leaders on the offshore island crisis today. There was a blackout of news from shell-battered Quemoy.

There was no information on Communist bombardment of the offshore islands beyond the Nationalist Defense Ministry's shell count. It said 15,500 shells battered Quemoy and its little sister islands from Saturday midnight through 6 p.m. Sunday, and that 1,824 more landed on little Quemoy and the Tan Islets in six hours ending at noon today.

A Nationalist convoy landed supplies on Quemoy beach yesterday for the eighth successive day, the ministry said. It did not disclose the number of ships or volume of material landed.

It was assumed the Reds maintained the barrage they have continued almost without letup since Aug. 25. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander of all U. S. Air forces in the Pacific, flew in from Okinawa and entered into strategy meetings with Adm. Harry Felt, U. S. commander of all forces in the Pacific; Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, Taiwan (Formosa) defense commander; Maj. Gen. Thomas Moorman, 13th Air Force commander from the Philippines, and other U. S. military men here.

The high brass also went into closed session with U. S. Ambassador Everett Drumright, then with Gen. "Tiger" Wang Shu-ming, Nationalist chief of staff and Defense Minister Yu Ta-wei. Absent from the parleys was Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet guarding Formosa Strait.

Beakley came into Taipei briefly, but sailed aboard his flagship, the heavy cruiser Helena, for an unknown destination, U. S. military spokesman declined to give further details. Kuter told newsmen he would discuss the Quemoy artillery blockade. U. S. warships and planes often protect Nationalist supply convoys to the limit of international waters and international air space.

The Nationalists claimed they sank one Red gunboat and heavily damaged a second, without suffering any losses of their own, in a naval battle with six Red vessels off Matsu, 150 miles north of Quemoy, before dawn yesterday.

The Nationalists said they destroyed nine Communist artillery pieces and three emplacements on the mainland from Quemoy Saturday.

EL PASO AREA Anti-Trust Suit Hits Oil Refiners

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed a civil anti-trust suit today against the three dominant oil refiners in the El Paso area accusing them of fixing "artificially high" gasoline prices. Named defendants in 41st District Court at El Paso were the Standard Oil Co. of Texas, the Texas Co., and the El Paso Natural Gas Products Co.

Wilson asked that the three be permanently enjoined from making any price fixing agreements and that each be fined from $50 to $1,500 for each day of violation since Jan. 1, 1956. "Some months ago we conducted a court of inquiry in which extensive evidence was developed pointing to an artificially high price of gasoline in El Paso," Wilson said.

"Further study has confirmed that it was artificially high. While all of the retailers of gasoline in the El Paso area are charging substantially the same price, we have sued only the companies operating refineries because we feel they are primarily responsible. The object of the suit is to bring about a competitive market for the sale of gasoline in the City of El Paso and the immediate area."

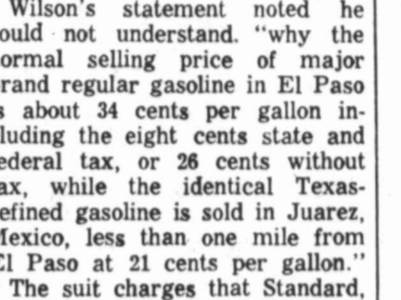

Wilson's statement noted he could not understand "why the normal selling price of major brand regular gasoline in El Paso is about 34 cents per gallon including the eight cents state and federal tax, while the identical Texas-refined gasoline is sold in Juarez, Mexico, less than one mile from El Paso at 21 cents per gallon."

The suit said that El Paso Products supplies about 40 of the approximately 50 independent gasoline stations in the area. It alleged that Standard and Texas Co. supplied gasoline either directly or indirectly to about 226 stations selling gasoline under major oil company brand names.

The petition noted that Standard's refinery, with a daily capacity of 61,000 barrels, not only supplies all gasoline sold in the El Paso market under Standard's name brand but also "sells to Humble, Magnolia, Sinclair, and Continental all of the gasoline sold under their brand names in the El Paso market." Through an exchange agreement with Gulf Oil Corp., the Texas Co. refinery, with a daily capacity of 16,000 barrels, supplies all gasoline sold in the area under the Gulf brand.

Both Standard and Texas Co. sell gasoline to distributors in Juarez for sale and distribution in Mexico. The El Paso Products Refinery has a daily capacity of 3,000 barrels and since Aug. 15, 1958, has operated a pipeline from its refinery at Odessa to El Paso with a daily capacity of 7,000 barrels. El Paso Products also sells gasoline for distribution in Mexico.

Gunlinger

Kim Athas, Atlanta, Ga., night club dancer, is planning to give up dancing and make gunlinging a full-time professional occupation. She is negotiating with a pistol manufacturing company to represent the firm in gun-drawing demonstrations. She can draw and fire a frontier-type revolver in less than a third of a second.

Webb Sergeant Is Air-Evacuated To Lackland Hospital

M. Sgt. John A. Brittenham, 1707 Pickets, administrative aide at Webb AFB and an off-duty art instructor at the base, was air-evacuated to the Air Force hospital at Lackland AFB during the weekend.

Sgt. Brittenham may be the victim of a brain tumor. More extensive diagnostic efforts are under way at the Lackland hospital.

Mrs. Brittenham has gone to San Antonio to be with her husband. Brittenham is an administrative sergeant in the wing adjutant's office at Webb. Until recently, he conducted evening art classes for military and civilian students in the base service club.

Youth Critically Shot In Hunting Accident Sunday

Harold May, 17, brother of Mrs. James Owens of Big Spring, is in critical condition in a hospital at Muleshoe after being accidentally shot in the left side by a 16-gauge shotgun.

The youth, a senior in Sudan High School, was wounded in a hunting mishap about 6:10 p.m. Sunday near Sudan.

Negroes Return To Arkansas Schools Without Major Incident

By The Associated Press Eight Negroes returned to classes in Van Buren (Ark.) High School Monday with only mild demonstrations from white students who had threatened to walk out. Four other Negroes returned to classes at the nearby junior high school without incident.

The Negroes had stayed away from school since Sept. 5 when white students gathered in front of the high school and threatened to remove them by force if they did not leave voluntarily.

The new integration effort came after U. S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith assured Negroes and the school board they could ask his help if trouble threatened. Some white boys who had threatened to boycott classes Monday if the Negroes entered, joined other students in the building when the bell rang.

In Little Rock, where high schools were closed to prevent integration, pupils studied lessons on television. Some Virginia towns where schools were closed considered setting up temporary facilities. More than 6,000 pupils in the two states were affected by orders closing some of the schools.

Ike, Aide Hold Dramatic Parley

Ike, Aide Hold Dramatic Parley

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Sherman Adams goes on nationwide television and radio tonight for a talk bearing all the advance earmarks of a farewell resignation address. Adams' decision to speak to the nation—approved by President Eisenhower—was announced at the summer White House after the chief presidential aide held a dramatic surprise conference with the President.

There have been reports from Washington the last two weeks—ever since the Republicans took a trouncing in the Maine elections—that Adams was through. Reports circulated that Adams was bowing to Republican clamor and had resigned, but neither Adams himself nor James C. Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary, would say.

The wiry, 59-year-old Adams walked off without a word when newsmen asked whether he had quit. Earlier, on his arrival from Washington, Adams said only "I have no statement" when asked whether he was in Newport to resign.

Adams conferred alone with Eisenhower for about an hour, then apparently saw him: at least once more before flying back to Washington for tonight's TV-radio address. Asked whether that in that address Adams will disclose whether he plans to quit or stay, Hagerly replied that is the case.

Hagerly said details had not been worked out yet on the time of Adams talk, or with respect to which networks will carry it. Eisenhower walked with Adams to the helicopter when the White House aide left the summer White House at 11:10 a.m. for the return trip to Washington.

This was an obvious—and perhaps farewell—gesture of regard for Adams. The two men were silent for

Climber Rescued In N. M. Mountains

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Mountain climbers and state police yesterday rescued a young New York climber who tumbled 25 feet to a ledge in the rugged Sandia Mountains.

William Pinch, 18, a University of New Mexico student, and a companion, Sidney Pasqua, 18, of Puerto Rico, fell while climbing the craggy face of the mountain about 12 miles east of here.

W. S. Schools Without Major Incident

Indications were an additional 10,000 would be idled at Norfolk next week. In Van Buren, Negroes planned to try to re-enter public schools from which they were barred two weeks ago by jeering, threatening white pupils.

Eleven Negroes were enrolled at Van Buren High, five at Van Buren Junior High. They have not been present since Sept. 5, however, when some 45 white youngsters boycotted integrated classes at the high school. The Negroes stayed away and the boycott soon ended.

The decision to return was taken after Miller declined to order the School Board to resume integration. He indicated such an order was unnecessary and that the Negroes could go back without it. At the same time he assured all concerned they could seek further action from him if difficulty arose.

At Lexington, Ky., Theodore R. McKeldin, pro-integration governor of Maryland, suggested the Southern Governors Conference should go on record as favoring desegregation in public classrooms. "If the resolution passed," he said, "it would show that we of the South recognize the Constitution as the supreme law of the land."

W. S. Schools Without Major Incident

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas told newsmen he had no objection to the McKeldin suggestion but thought it improper for other states "to express opinions on our affairs in Arkansas."

He said integration would have proceeded peacefully and more rapidly in his state if there had been no force or threat of force and blamed the NAACP for the conflict now existing there.

Back in the Arkansas capital, the Little Rock School Board went ahead with a makeshift program of education by television, with three commercial stations donating two hours each day.

Boards of two Little Rock churches and ministers of two others added their voices to opposition against closing the schools. The Mothers League of Central High School, a segregationist group, on the other hand, circulated petitions calling for removal of four members of the School Board on grounds they are "not doing the will of the majority of the people."

In Virginia, both the Parents Committee and the Charlottesville Educational Foundation planned to register pupils and begin classes by midweek. A high school and an elementary school have been closed at Charlottesville along with the Front Royal High School.

Tidewater Educational Foundation planned to begin registration for its private school system at Norfolk Tuesday. Six Norfolk schools are expected to close within a week under the state's plan of massive resistance to integration.

The President said that "anyone who knows Sherman Adams has never had any doubt of his personal integrity and honesty; no one has believed that he could be bought."

NOT ALERT But Eisenhower said there was a feeling Adams had not been sufficiently alert to make certain that the gifts he accepted from Goldfine could not be considered as Goldfine attempts to influence the presidential aide.

To that extent Adams has been imprudent, Eisenhower said. The Adams-Goldfine relationship came to light in the course of an investigation of federal regulatory agencies by the House Committee on Legislative Oversight, headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

This committee was set up to determine whether six agencies, including the Federal Communications Commission and the Securities & Exchange Commission, were functioning as Congress intended—that is, independently of the executive branch.

In public hearings, Adams acknowledged accepting from Goldfine such things as a vicuna coat, hotel accommodations and material for suits.

Adams arrived unannounced from Washington by plane and helicopter at 8 a.m. Indications were he spent about an hour with the President. He may have seen Eisenhower again later.

Some Republican candidates and party leaders have been demanding that Eisenhower get rid of Adams because of his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Faubus, McKeldin Differ Sharply, Agree On 1 Point

LEXINGTON Ky. (AP) — Two governors who differ sharply on the question of school integration — Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland—agree at least on its political import.

Faubus, a Democrat, and McKeldin, a Republican, think President Eisenhower's use of federal troops to force integration at Little Rock has damaged the GOP and helped the Democratic party.

Both expressed their viewpoints freely yesterday at news conferences as the 26th annual Southern Governors Conference geared itself for 2 1/2 days of business and social activity.

Faubus said he believed the snowballing effect of integration has made the Democrats stronger in the South than they have been for many years.

Although Eisenhower has asserted his belief in states' rights, Faubus added, "it is regrettable that the acts of the federal administration have not corresponded with his public statements."

McKeldin, one of three GOP

chief executives attending the 16-state conference, said the Republicans did not gain Negro votes in the South when the President ordered troops to Little Rock.

He said he advocates a gradual step-by-step process toward racial mixing in classrooms, and added: "We ought to proceed slowly, but we ought to proceed."

Faubus, who has closed Little Rock schools to resist integration, said race mixing would have proceeded peacefully and more rapidly in Arkansas if there had been no force or the threat of force.

Observing that some Negroes are generally self-supporting, he said such areas would have integrated to boost their economy.

Faubus added, however, that federally imposed integration has turned some moderates into strong segregationists.

He blamed the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for the present conflict at Little Rock. He said the NAACP picked the city as a "guinea pig" to further integration in Arkansas and the South.

GOP Answers HST Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee today accused former President Harry S. Truman of what it called five distortions and falsehoods in three campaign speeches last week.

A GOP document listed the following Truman statements and Republican retorts:

Truman — The Republicans in Washington are following economic policies designed to prevent full production.

Republicans — Even after the mild spring business downturn, America's gross national production in this peacetime year is about 100 billion dollars more than at the height of the Truman Korean War year of 1952.

Truman — They want a little unemployment. It helps 'Keep labor in its place.'

Republicans — More Americans are at work today earning more than at any time under a Democrat administration, and this has been accomplished without the periodic Democrat stimulus of a major war.

Truman — They want to hold wages down. They think it makes for higher profits.

Republicans — Personal income is now at a record peak, more than 26 per cent above Truman's best result.

Truman — The idea that Democrats are extravagant and that Republicans are economical is a myth.

Republicans — In 20 years Democrats zoomed the national debt by 234 billion dollars, using the inflation-causing deficit financing as a policy. As for spending, the last session of the Democrat 85th Congress set several records.

Truman — Vital research programs for missiles were held up for years.

Republicans — Truman is right, but he is the one who held up research programs. . . . This administration has developed nearly all the missiles we have, an array now of 11 operational types with work being rushed on 35 other advanced types.

Soviet School Reform Aims At Cleaning Out 'Ferment'

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

One of Nikita Khrushchev's unadmitted purposes in proposing a radical reform of the Soviet school system is to liquidate universities as centers of intellectual ferment among Soviet youths.

He proposes to do this by turning them for the most part into night and correspondence schools.

The Moscow press announced yesterday that the Presidium of the Central Committee has approved Khrushchev's "work while you study" scheme, to be put into effect over the next three or four years. The full membership of the Central Committee and the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, will be called upon to endorse it later.

One purpose in the proposed change is economic. It will make it possible for the Kremlin to mobilize for manual labor millions of boys and girls from 14 to 17 years of age. The mobilization will help make up for the impending acute shortage of young men and women due to the drop during World War II in the birth rate.

Without adoption of something like this school measure, there would be about five million fewer young people entering the labor force and armed forces in the next five years than in the last five.

Under the Khrushchev plan, after the seventh or eighth grade almost all children, except those exceptionally gifted and intended to become scientists, will be put to work at manual labor on farms and in factories. They will be forced to continue schooling, if at all, at night classes and by correspondence.

Political motives behind the plan are probably stronger than economic.

During 1956 under the de-Stalinization program advanced that year by Khrushchev there was a letup in repression. As a result much discontent with Communist dictatorship came to light among Soviet university students.

The Kremlin's answer to the problem, expressed in various shifts during the last two years and now particularly in this new over-all change, is to abolish universities as places where large numbers of students study and live together for periods of five years and more. From now on if he is hard-working enough to complete two to three years of high school and three years of higher education at night and correspondence courses the ordinary Soviet youth desirous of completing his higher education may, if he is lucky, be given a leave of absence for only two years of full-time study at a university.

Graham Opens N. C. Crusade

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — "Christ is the answer to the world's problems, including the current racial strife," said Charlotte-born Billy Graham, who opened a four-week crusade here yesterday.

He told an audience that included about 500 Negroes that racial tension is nearer to the breaking point than it has ever been. He cited the stabbing in New York Saturday of the Rev. Martin Luther King, a Montgomery, Ala., Negro minister. King, an integration leader who led a successful bus boycott in Montgomery two years ago, was stabbed by a Negro woman in a Harlem department store.

"Thank God that Martin Luther King was not stabbed by a white person," the evangelist said. "If he had been we might have seen a racial war in New York with blood flowing down the street."

A Bible Thought For Today

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. (Revelations 12:9)

Be Considerate Of Our Neighbors

According to Texas Employment Commission figures quoted in the Sunday edition of the Herald, there already are something like 5,500 Mexican nationals now at work in the fields of Glasscock, Howard and Martin counties. Efforts are being exerted by producers to have quotas lifted in order that more harvest hands can be brought into this country to gather the cotton crop before elements can seriously damage or cut the quality of the staple.

Whether these efforts are successful or not does not diminish the fact that we have more than 5,000 visitors from a neighboring country in our midst. True, they are often referred to as braceros, a name denoting use of their hands; but working with the hands is as honorable as working with the head. These are honorable people who have come to help with our harvest.

By the yardstick of things we are accustomed to having, they have simple tastes, are naive and are perhaps somewhat behind our times. Many of them are learning — while earning — from us. We can only hope that their experiences fill them with a higher regard for our country and that they will return to their native land with new ambitions and new bonds of friendship for their neighbors to the north.

Just how these humble people do feel will be largely the results of the consideration and courtesies we afford them. They are more than seasonal employees; they are guests, just as surely as we would be were we spending several months in Mexico.

Join The Concert Association Now

Tuesday will bring the opening of the annual membership campaign of the Big Spring Concert Association.

The association has laid out an ambitious series in the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra, the famous drama of the "Diary of Anne Frank," the Chicago Civic Opera Ballet and its orchestra, and the rising ballad singer, Dylan Todd.

Quality-wise this is probably the most outstanding series ever booked here; budget-wise is certainly the greatest.

In order to support such a calibre of entertainment, the association must have the support of all who believe that our community is entitled to the best. The season membership ($7.50 adult, $3.50 student) is a modest charge for such programs. You probably would pay that much to see any two of them if you had to make a journey of several hundred miles to make the contact. Right here at home you can see and hear them all for less.

Great strides have been made in upgrading our cultural and intellectual levels, and this season's bookings will certainly add to the wholesome trend.

If you believe in better things for Big Spring, please don't wait for some one to come and beg for your membership. Step up and by your purchase give the movement a good healthy vote of confidence.

Orderly Ways To Combat Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Rogers is an able and conscientious man, and he has just made a good speech on why he thinks citizens should obey court decrees. But, unfortunately he told only a part of the story when, in his address before the National Citizenship Conference here, he said:

"Of course, persons who disagree with decisions of the Supreme Court interpreting constitutional rights are free to seek change by the orderly process of constitutional amendment."

Mr. Rogers did not mention any other means of securing a reversal of a court decision or of mitigating its effects. But there are many other lawful ways open to the citizen who disagrees with the Supreme Court's "interpretations" of the Constitution. Here are some of them which do not require advocacy of any amendment to the Constitution:

1. A citizen may petition his senator or representative to vote for legislation that will, as the Constitution provides, limit the powers and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in certain types of cases. Such laws have been passed before by Congress.

2. A citizen may petition members of Congress to bring about the removal of justices who have not lived up to their oaths.

3. A citizen may join with other citizens in petitioning the members of his political party to nominate for the presidency a man who will pledge himself, if elected, to appoint justices to the Supreme Court who have had judicial experience of at least five years. Most of the members of the present Supreme Court have never been sat on the bench of a federal or high state court.

4. A citizen may petition his state legislature to enact laws that will avoid the consequences of a Supreme Court decision. It is unlawful to evade income taxes but lawful to avoid them. One can refrain, for instance, from making certain expenditures in one year and postpone them till another year when the individual or corporation income might be smaller or subject to a lower tax rate. It is not a "defiance" of the law to use proper methods of avoiding its penalties.

5. A citizen may bring a suit that tests a new point which was not specifically decided before. It is not unlawful to bring test cases. It is done right along by labor unions and by corporations, and they are not accused of "flouting" the law just because they seek to determine its true scope in differing circumstances. Virginia and Arkansas are considering new ways to keep segregation through the leasing of school buildings to private corporations.

Abraham Lincoln's doctrine called for individual obedience to any decree, and he deplored any defiance, but he said with respect to the Dred Scott decision of 1857 years ago by the Supreme Court of the United States involving slavery: "We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decisions, and we shall do what we can to have it to overrule this. We offer no resistance to it." There are, therefore, legal ways of trying to get a reversal, and these do not necessarily require advocacy or adoption of a constitutional amendment.

On the same day that Attorney General Rogers was making his speech at Washington, Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio, an eminent lawyer who was formerly attorney general and then governor of his state, made a speech about the Supreme Court before a meeting in Cleveland of the Sons of the American Revolution. He decried any attempts to "punish" the court, but he said "a number of reputable, qualified and impartial constitutional lawyers have spoken out vigorously against usurpation of power by the Supreme Court." He mentioned especially the vote of the chief justices of 36 states who, in a formal report, recently criticized the present Supreme Court of the United States for having legislated rather than merely interpreted the laws and the Constitution.

"My remedy for judicial legislation," said Senator Bricker, "is slow and prosaic but it conforms to the letter and the spirit of our Constitution. The remedy is simply that the President and the Senator exercise far greater care in the future than they have in the past in nominating and confirming men for the highest tribunal. It is not enough merely to be satisfied that a prospective justice has nothing derogatory in his record. The President and the Senate must be sure beyond all reasonable doubt that he has the intellectual honesty and the moral courage to subordinate his personal convictions to the written Constitution and not, in the words of Omar, to 'shatter it to bits—and then re-mould it nearer to the heart's desire'."

This came from a man who wasn't discussing the segregation cases at all but the many other usurpations of state rights. He quoted with approval the comment of Judge Learned Hand, retired, of New York, one of the ablest judges ever to sit on the federal bench, who described the Supreme Court decisions in recent years as an attempt to create in America, "a third legislative chamber."

Leading Up To The 1954 Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge, John Paul of Virginia, blames the state's political leaders for inciting people to hostility against the Supreme Court's ban on segregated public schools.

Politicians in other Southern states have been leading the anti-integration fight, none more than Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, who has challenged the right of the court to rule out segregation.

The court ruled the opposite so long as Negroes got equal treatment.

This famous separate-but-equal doctrine stood until 1954 when, in the case of public schools, the court reversed the 1896 decision by saying segregated itself means unequal and therefore is contrary to the Constitution.

This reversal should have been no surprise to people, North or South, who have been watching the court's thinking for the past 20 years.

Step by step, as the United States neared midcentury, the court had been approaching the historic decision of 1954. What follows shows the trend until the final decision, which now is engulfed in turmoil and passion.

The present confusion and hostility to the court have their roots in the Constitution's 14th Amendment, ratified in 1868, which says in part: No one can be denied equal protection of the laws.

This gave the federal government authority to set aside as unconstitutional a state law which discriminated against people because of race or color. But the court upheld state laws in its landmark opinion of 1896.

Homer Plessy, a Negro got on a train in New Orleans and was ordered into the Jim Crow, or segregated, section which had been created under state law. He objected and brought suit. The Supreme Court turned him down.

The court gave its approval to state segregation laws with this reasoning: It was not contrary to the 14th Amendment to segregate Negroes so long as they got treatment and facilities equal to those given whites.

In actual practice, as it turned out, segregation broadly meant unequal treatment for Negroes. But, as a result of that 1896 decision, the freedom of states to segregate Negroes remained undisturbed for more than 40 years.

The inequality of treatment given Negroes under the separate-but-equal doctrine finally forced a showdown and set the court on the trend that ended in the decision of 1954. Here are the milestones:

1938 — The court said a Negro had to be admitted to the University of Missouri Law School because the state had provided no similar school for Negroes.

1950 — Going further, the court ordered a Negro admitted to the University of Texas Law School even though Texas had a law school for Negroes. The reason: The Negro school was unequal to the white one.

1950 — Still further, the court banned segregated treatment of a Negro once he had been admitted to a white school. The case involved the University of Oklahoma, where a Negro student was segregated in class, library and cafeteria.

Note: In all these cases the court was simply assuring equality of treatment. It had not yet ruled on whether the principle of segregation was wrong. That historic turning point, reversing the separate-but-equal doctrine of 1896, came in 1954.

In that year the court was directly confronted with the question in the case of tax-supported public schools. It met it head on and banned school segregation on the grounds that segregation by it said (1946) Negroes could not be segregated on buses crossing state lines. It said (1950) Negroes couldn't be segregated in railroad dining cars.

In 1956, two years after knocking out the principle of segregation, the court banned segregation on buses operating entirely within a state. It has also cracked down on segregation in recreation places supported by public tax money, like golf links or public parks.

Parents Can Be Such Spoil-Sports!

From the diary of a miss not yet two years of age:
My Daddy is a grouch. Are all adults like that?

Just because I poured water in his shoe (while he was wearing it) the other night, he got purple with rage. Or was it pain? He claimed he hit his knee cap on a handle to one of the doors of the kitchen cabinet. Was it my fault he was standing so close at the time? Did I build the cabinet?

Oh, well, I made everything all right later by following him into the living room (where he had buried his head in his hands) and sympathizing with him.

We went to the Junior Rodeo recently but we didn't stay long. I was having a ball, spilling Coke all over myself and my parents, trying to 'skin the cat' on the iron railings of the box seats just like the other kids. Then we had to go and leave. And they blamed me. They said I was trying to slip down into the arena with the horses. Maybe I was, but that was what we went to see in the first place, wasn't it? After all . . .

One chore I like around the house is watering the shrubs but what do I get when I ask to do it? Complaints. They say, 'Try to get her to do it ten years from now and you won't be able to find her anywhere.' Well, if that's the thanks I get—. What's wrong with wetting down the sidewalks, I ask you, or running the hose out to the vacant lot next door and watering the weeds there? Goodness knows, they look like they need a drink.

I've discovered a swell new dish. Ice cream. I like to eat it with a spoon in my own way. Scrumptious. And, besides, it feels so cool and damp dripping down my stomach. Beats air conditioning all hollow.

We went to the Gulf Coast not long ago and my plans to swim out to sea were thwarted by first one adult and then the other. I had to sit in the sand where the incoming tide barely got to my toes. Next time, remind me not to take anyone along.

We went to a drive-in movie the other night and I impressed everyone with my tolerance. After the cartoons had come and gone, I let them watch half the picture itself before I decided it was time to leave. I tried to pass part of the time by carrying on a running conversation with a little girl in the car next to us but the parents discouraged that. Spoil sports!

This business of growing up takes a long time, doesn't it? I mean, here I am way down here and there they are, way up there. They say they can't understand what I'm saying when I try to put words together but has it ever occurred to them that my words may lose some of their meaning in transit and translation. Golly! —TOMMY HART.

The Man Does Have Say-So In Spending

The Ladies' Home Journal has popularized the slogan, "Never Underestimate the Power of a Woman," but the University of Michigan, a coeducational institution and, therefore, presumably unbiased, has just produced data to suggest that it is unwise to underestimate the Buy Q. of the man of the house, either.

In early married life, the Michigan study reveals, husbands and wives closely consult on all purchases. As they grow older, they grow apart in decision-making, each developing a realm of prerogatives in purchasing. And, in spite of all the hallyhoo about the female influence in automobile purchases, it's the husband who, two-thirds of the time, determines when the family will buy a new car. In only 5 per cent of the families does the wife have a big say in this decision. And three times out of 10 the decision is joint. This, however, does not rule out female intervention on decor, color, model, or size.

In contrast, the wife controls the timing factor in ten of purchases of major household items and appliances, and the husband about once in twelve. More than half the time the decision is joint.

In handling bills and overall finances, the wife predominates in 42 out of 100 households, the husband in 29, and in 28 they share the task. (In one per cent there was no answer.)

The woman is the worrier about whether there's money for the rainy day, or the children's education, or the house of the future in one-third of the households. Only in one family out of five is the husband the saver, and in about half the families spouses share responsibility. And yet . . .

The female dominance in saving prevails primarily in lower income families. In 36 per cent of the families in which the annual income was less than $3,000, the wife had full charge of savings. But in families in which the income was $10,000 or more, the wife was boss in only 9 per cent. This explains itself.

As incomes rise, savings become an investment problem. Should the family put its money in stocks or bonds? Insurance? In these decisions, if the husband isn't omnipotent, he's at least the chairman of the board.

The study, conducted by Elizabeth H. Wolgast at the Survey Research Center at Michigan, implies what all the marriage counselors say: Marriage is a cooperative venture. In marriages that stick, neither husband nor wife goes an independent way with the weekly pay check. They consult, consider one another's preferences and, on major purchases, make joint decisions.

Yet, in more well-to-do families, wives and husbands develop greater independence in spending decisions. The husband is less likely to consult the wife on whether to buy a new car. The wife will go out on her own to get a dishwasher or a vacuum cleaner.

As families age, independence also rises. This, again, correlates with income. The earning power of youngsters just starting in marriage is low. Every dollar counts. Not knowing one another's likes or dislikes, not aware of one another's strengths and weaknesses, young husbands and wives go shopping together for mutual support, protection, and surveillance.

As men (and women) grow older and become more competent in their work, their pay rises. This higher income permits greater latitude in spending. Also, time yields understanding. After two people have lived together many years, the wife knows what her husband will like and vice versa.

Oh, Well, Trujillo Has Forgiven Us

There are days when the news on the International front is so ominous that any sensible person would take to the hills immediately, if they—the hills—weren't already crowded — days of doom and gloom when Simon Styliotes seems to have had the right idea; days when shining up a pole and pulling it up after one seems the only possible solution to modern life.

There are days when Mao Tse-tung is rougher, Khrushchev tougher, Nasser nastier, if possible; days when the hair shirt shrinks, days when shoes get pointier and toes get squarer and nothing seems worth the effort.

Then, without rhyme or reason, the sun will pour through a sudden rift in the clouds and all is best in this best of all possible worlds.

Such a rift is now available, a rift demonstrating that men and nations can nobly rise above themselves. The great news is that the Dominican Republic has forgiven us—you, me and Uncle Sam—for failing to award a diploma and the Congressional Medal to General Rafael L. Trujillo for flunking out of the U. S. Command and General Staff College.

The republic and the general's paw, dictator-Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, and the so-called Congress will, after all threats and declarations to the contrary, accept American aid (i.e., money) in the coming year in the interests of international peace, harmony and a balanced budget.

The generalissimo was so miffed at the United States and all its citizens when Junior failed to get his diploma, after majoring in Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kim Novak, and he turned deaf ears to American pleas that he and the Dominican Republic still take our money.

And when a Trujillo is so mad he won't take money, that's NEWS. There was the stern implication that Junior and the neighboring republic would support his girl friends without recourse to Uncle Sam.

Anyway, this refusal to touch his money was a grave insult to Uncle Sam and one that has worried all of us citizens mighty high until death, or ennuui anyway. But diplomacy and the general sweetness and light that distinguish the dictator's family have prevailed. Just to show that there are no hard feelings, the generalissimo will, after all, accept our filthy money. Those sports cars and chinchilla coats Junior scatters among his favorites do make a dent in the budget.

In large measure, the generalissimo's decision to forgive us may be traced to

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) and Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), who have just been in the Dominican Republic and find it a political paradise. Sen. Eastland spoke for both when he proclaimed the dictator "one of the great men of the free world, a leader of all Latin America—you lead for freedom; you lead for honor; you lead for religion, and, thank God, you lead for common sense."

Well, sir, at this point I am going to lead—a movement to give this inexorable dictator not only all the money he wants from the United States treasury, but lead a movement to make the loot available on the proposition that Trujillo gets the money only on the proviso that he take the Messrs. Eastland and Jenner and Zsa Zsa and Kim on a permanent lend-lease basis.

Revered Grave

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP)—A weather-worn iron fence sets off an 8-foot square plot between an oat and corn field on the Walter Amstutz farm south of here.

Although names and circumstances have been lost in time, it is believed to be the grave of a pioneer child who died during the trek west in the early 1800s. The Amstutz family has preserved the grave on the chance relatives of the child may someday seek it.

Tea Draws Grads From Universities, Colleges

A wide range of universities and colleges was represented at the tea given Saturday by members of the American Association of University Women.

The affair, a membership tea, drew guests from the University of Michigan, of Pennsylvania, of Oklahoma and Missouri. Graduates of Southern Methodist University, Texas Christian University and Columbia University attended, along with those from TWU, ETSC, NTSC, WTSC, Southwestern State Teachers College, and Texas Tech.

Also present were alumni from Sul Ross, A&I College and Texas Western.

As guests arrived at the Music Hall, Howard County Junior College, they were greeted by Elizabeth Daniel, club president, and Helen Hurt, vice president.

Preceding the program, Miss Daniel welcomed the group and introduced Joyce Howard and Ira Schantz, who recounted highlights of their European tour with the All America Chorus.

Miss Howard opened the program with a solo, "Summertime," by George Gershwin and was joined by Schantz in a concluding duet, "The Desert Song."

In giving an account of the tour, Schantz told his audience of the warm reception afforded the chorus and of the entire presentation of American music. One of the high spots of the trip was appearing at the U. S. Pavilion at the World Fair in Brussels, Belgium, he said.

Mrs. William Dawes registered the members and 35 guests attending the tea. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. M. R. Turner, chairman, Mrs. John Hardy, Mrs. F. E. McDonald, Mrs. C. N. Humphrey and Mrs. William Boyd.

Using fall shades of yellow and orange, they arranged a tea table in ecru lace with a centerpiece of yellow zinnias, shaggy orange dahlias and white cosmos with bells of Ireland in a footed alabaster bowl. Crystal appointments were used in serving.

The next meeting was announced for Oct. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the music hall.

Wesleyan Guilds Of District Have Meet Here Sunday

Deaconess Barbara Sommersville of Lubbock was the featured speaker for the district meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild when the members met at First Methodist Church Sunday.

The group attended church services in a body and gathered for lunch in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. B. L. Penney welcomed members and guests, and Mrs. Miller Harris presented a devotion.

Special music was given by Mrs. Norman Furlong.

Mrs. Ruby Martin introduced the speaker, whose topic was "Missions. A school of instruction for officers was held with the instructors being Mrs. Raymond Hamby, district president, Mrs. Elton Wyatt, Mrs. Ethel Terry, Mrs. C. M. Frost and Mrs. J. T. Gilmore.

During a business session, Mrs. Martin appointed Mrs. Olin Davis, Andrews, Ruth McCormick, Lamesa and Mrs. Harris as a nominating committee.

HOLLYWOOD—"If a style can't be photographed it will never become a fashion," declared Academy Award Winner Charles Le Maire, who has designed clothes for many of Hollywood's top stars. When everyone was in a state of confusion, trying to decide whether or not to buy the chemise, sack or attempt the trapeze look, Le Maire was calmly designing clothes that flattered rather than disguised the feminine form.

"You were so right about the chemise being only a fad," I reminded him, as we chatted in his handsome offices at 20th Century-Fox.

"The American woman has worked too hard for a good figure to lose her shape in the Dior look. Think of all the best-dressed women, and you won't find one who wears clothes that don't flatter her type."

"How closely do you feel a woman should follow fashion?" I asked.

Four local women were among the 55 members attending the Saturday meeting of the West Texas Porcelain Art Club in Sweetwater Saturday.

They were Mrs. Florence McNew, Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Carrie Scholz and Mrs. J. F. Skalicky. China was displayed by members of the Midland group at the all-day affair, held in the Southeast Elementary School, and a lecture on china firing was given by Mrs. Foster Friesley.

The afternoon session was a workshop. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 18 in Sweetwater, it was announced.

Fall Fashions From Italy Stress Beauty Of Tweedy Look

ROME (AP)—What are fall fashions made of? Sugar and spice, the Italian designers answer. Spun-sugar yarn, and peppery tweed.

From the strict laid down at the Rome and Florence fashion openings, every fall wardrobe this year should have something of filmy, basket-weave yarn, if only a pink collar on a purple jersey coat.

And every woman should have a tweed daytime combination composed of a collarless empire sheath and a short semi-fitted jacket with a separate choirboy collar.

What else will the wardrobe need? Judging by the Italian style openings, there should be one straight-skirted suit with a high-belted three-quarter-length tunic. The well-dressed woman will want a crushable silk and wool high-waisted bovee dress, and a rose printed velvet for Sunday tea.

Then there are the new purple coats. They can be martingaled, mohair, and mount a muffling collar which rises from the shoulder and sits away from the neck. They are lined in bright lime, tangerine or strawberry.

Italian designers also like high-neck cocktail dresses, pinched at the shoulders, with a back decollete reaching down to a high-inset cummerbund.

"I believe every woman can develop a fashion sense. We are doing it ever day with our young contract players. Most of them know little about how to choose what is right for them when they first come to the studio.

"The way some learn is by trial and error and by observation. Mistake and correction—mistake and correction. Get rid of the fear of failure—learn through experience."

I wanted to know for which stars he had most enjoyed designing clothes.

"One is Katharine Hepburn. She has definite style and great individuality. That's what every woman should strive for. She has studied herself and knows what is suitable for her personality and her figure. She demands functional clothes. She's conservative, wants no part of knee-length skirts, although she has beautiful legs. She would never wear anything that constricts her movements. When Katharine wears a dress, it moves with her and she moves with the dress."

Le Maire named May Britt, the gorgeous blonde in "The Young Lions," as one of the most exciting new personalities to hit Hollywood.

"She has tremendous sex appeal but refuses to wear cleaved gowns. And how wise she is," he added. "She appreciates the more appealing, transparent look. I made some sketches for the great Ziegfeld once, and he told me that the best way to reveal a woman's sex appeal is to cover her with something filmy. This young girl from Sweden knows this intuitively."

"Suzy Parker," Le Maire went on, "has a great gift for fashion, for adapting herself to clothes. I don't think there is a style she can't wear, but she has had tremendous training. She has been photographed in every top design here and in Europe. I made a tube coat for her which buttoned down to the floor. This was a challenge, but the girl modeled it with a flair all her own."

Miscellaneous Shower Given Miss Coleman

Carlene Coleman, whose marriage to Jerry Barron will take place Saturday evening, was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon in the home of Judy Simpson.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coleman, 1111 Johnson; parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Tony Barron, 1605 State. The couple will be married in Wesley Methodist Church.

Greeting guests as they arrived were Miss Simpson and one of the hostesses, Jean Fuqua. At the

BY COUNTY

Fair Buildings Transfer Studied

Contract by which the county will assume title to the fair grounds property will be rewritten to modify certain restrictions in the use of the buildings, it was agreed Monday.

These, it was held, handicapped the full employment of the property for community use and the new agreement will be rephrased. It was specified that the buildings can never be used as a county warehouse or as a repair shop and must be kept for the convenience of community enterprises which will need such facilities.

The question of who is to pay back insurance premiums on the property was brought up again. The insurance men have been carrying the insurance out of their own pockets for several years and feel that they should be repaid by the county under the agreement terms which specify that the county would absorb the debts of the fair association against the property.

Red Gilliam, P. O. Hughes and Earl Hull expressed the view the county should pay the bill if it can be established that such payment can be legally made by the county.

A motion that the county attorney be asked for an opinion on the validity of the county paying such a debt and that if the validity is established the debt be paid was adopted by a unanimous vote.

The fair association had asked the county to take over the property and assume what debts exist against it. The matter has been on the books for some months but only recently were the field notes on the property located so that the proper papers might be prepared.

Donald Rodricks of Stanton was not hurt when the truck he was driving turned over on the Gail road this morning.

Rodricks was brought to Medical Arts Hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance, but he was released a short time later. Highway patrolmen reported that he was driving a Cap Rock Co-Op truck which turned over about 10 miles north of here on the Gail road. He was pulling a pole trailer which caused his truck to overturn.

Also today, Alton Echols of Sweetwater turned his car over on its side about four miles east of here on U. S. 80. He was uninjured, and the damage to the car was slight.

Two Howard County court cases have gone before the Court of Civil Appeals for the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District Sept. 19. The court sits at Eastland.

A motion in the case of Lena Wicks et al versus Nathan Langford et al, to file briefs was granted. This is a suit over title to land.

Case of J. S. Garlington et al versus H. H. Reed et al, on title to land, was set for submission Nov. 7.

Services will be held at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Wednesday at 8 a. m. with Father Adolph Metzger officiating. Interment will be in City Cemetery.

Mr. Carmona was born in Mexico City on Feb. 11, 1896, and came to Big Spring in 1942.

Survivors include his wife of Big Spring, two sons, D. M. Carmona Jr., and Viscente, both of Big Spring, a daughter, Gloria Jean Carmona of Big Spring, and four brothers and four sisters.

Concert Enlistment Campaign To Open

The annual campaign for memberships in the Big Spring Concert Assn. will get under way officially Tuesday.

Members of the board are heading up the enlistment effort, and several of them have organized teams to make contacts.

Included in the current season's bookings are the San Antonio Symphony; the Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Diary of Anne Frank"; the Chicago Opera Ballet; and Dylan Todd, ballad singer.

Attendance at any of the programs is limited to members only; no single admission tickets are available.

Mrs. Truman Jones, who is heading up the membership drive, said that intensive efforts would be made to have as good a report as possible by the first report meeting at 8 p. m. Sept. 30 at the home of Mrs. Arch Carson.

Target date for closing out the campaign is Oct. 7.

Maj. Vincent Brophy, president of the association, appealed for members to renew promptly and for prospective new members to contact board members or mail their membership fees ($7.50 adult, $3.50 student) to P. O. Box No. 87, Big Spring.

"The board has faith that people of Big Spring and area will respond to the opportunity to see and hear these outstanding programs," he said. "Budget-wise will help us tremendously if we can get the bulk of our memberships in quickly."

'Makeshift' Schools Loom For Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Private makeshift schooling in homes, churches, civic buildings and other facilities loomed today for some 2,700 white Virginia children displaced from classrooms by the racial integration dispute.

The realities of the school crisis were brought home to the students of two Charlottesville schools this morning. The buildings, due to open today, instead were closed to children, both white and Negro.

The schools, Lane High (1,650 students) and Venable Elementary (650), came under formal control of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. at midnight last night.

At Front Royal, another 1,000 high school children began their second week of idleness. Almond, acting with the authority of a 1956 legislative act, seized control of Warren County High School and closed it a week ago.

The state's massive resistance to racial integration arrangement given the governor the seizure power to prevent the implementation of federal court integration orders.

In the case of Charlottesville, a federal judge had ordered 12 Negro children into the two schools and in Warren the court integration order involved 22 Negro children.

An integration order is also in effect for six Norfolk secondary schools. A last-ditch request for a stay of this order will come from defense lawyers in the U. S. 4th Circuit court in Baltimore.

If the request for a stay, pending a formal appeal of the Federal District Court order, is denied, 10,000 Norfolk students face school closing Monday. Seventeen Negro children will be assigned to the schools.

A group in Charlottesville said it would petition city officials to ask the governor to return school control to local authorities.

J. A. Rolston, chairman of the Committee for Public Education, said his group was opposed to "an integration arrangement which entrusts public education to private hands having no responsibility or accountability to the general public."

This apparently was in reference to two private organizations, the Parents Committee for Emergency Schooling and the Charlottesville Educational Foundation which will begin registrations for weekend study Monday.

The committee, which will enroll students at 14 private homes, expects to begin classes for about half the Venable students Wednesday.

Thus far no private educational group has formed in Warren County but a 15-member committee of the local parent-teacher group is at work and will make recommendations for concerted action Thursday.

In Norfolk the Tidewater Educational Foundation opens registration for its private school system tomorrow.

Youth Breaks All The Rules

One person, a juvenile, drew $120 in fines in corporation court this morning.

The boy, 17, was fined $10 for driving without a license, $15 for failure to grant right-of-way, $15 for driving without lights, $50 for speeding, and $15 for consuming liquor as a minor.

In all, $582 in fines were assessed in the court today. A majority of them were on drunkenness charges. The drunk fines totaled $315, and all but one of them were for $15 each. The one was $30.

Four persons were assessed fines for driving without licenses. Three were fined $15 each and one $10.

Permitting another person to display a driver's license cost one man $15, and the one displaying the card was fined $10.

One vagrancy charge brought a $15 assessment, and one person was fined $25 for affray. Driving the wrong way on a one-way street brought a $5 fine, and a $2 fine was given for improper parking.

Darron Sill, 25, Slaton, charged with unlawful transportation of liquor, entered a plea of guilty before R. H. Weaver, county judge, Monday morning.

He was fined $125.

Beulah Tubbs, 37, Post, who was apprehended by liquor control board officers with 30 cases of beer and several cases of whisky, pleaded not guilty when her case was called. Her bond was set at $500 which she posted. She was released from custody.

Water consumption is averaging just less than five million gallons per day this month.

The total through Sunday is 103,350,000 gallons for a daily average usage of 4,930,000 gallons. Sunday's consumption is 4,618,000 gallons, and the city used 4,880,000 on Saturday.

The city has estimated that 200 million gallons would be used this month.

Two Howard County court cases have gone before the Court of Civil Appeals for the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District Sept. 19. The court sits at Eastland.

A motion in the case of Lena Wicks et al versus Nathan Langford et al, to file briefs was granted. This is a suit over title to land.

Case of J. S. Garlington et al versus H. H. Reed et al, on title to land, was set for submission Nov. 7.

Services will be held at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Wednesday at 8 a. m. with Father Adolph Metzger officiating. Interment will be in City Cemetery.

Mr. Carmona was born in Mexico City on Feb. 11, 1896, and came to Big Spring in 1942.

Survivors include his wife of Big Spring, two sons, D. M. Carmona Jr., and Viscente, both of Big Spring, a daughter, Gloria Jean Carmona of Big Spring, and four brothers and four sisters.

Divorce Suit Finally Ends With Decree

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, Monday morning granted a decree of divorce to James L. Smith from Marjorie Jean Smith and, under the terms of the order, the couple's three children are given in custody to the husband.

On Friday, a contested hearing on this same matter occupied most of the court's morning session. The wife had filed a cross action asking divorce in her own right.

At the termination of the hearing, Judge Sullivan denied the decree to either contender—a most unusual action in the court since most divorce actions usually wind up with divorces granted. The judgment, however, was not immediately entered in the court notes.

Friday afternoon, the court was advised of certain developments in the case which had not come out in the hearing and advised counsel to consider these developments.

As a result, the two contenders reached the agreement which was signed by the judge granting the decree to the husband and awarding him custody of the three children. The principals in the case were not in the court when the decree was signed.

Tests Are Undertaken On Two Howard County Oil Ventures

The Tidewater No. 1 Lester developed salt water on one test and gas on another over the weekend, and another Howard venture, Frontier No. 1 Anderson tested the Spraberry today.

In Pecos, the Phillips No. 1-EE University began drilling again today under contract below 24,000 feet. It is the deepest drilled well in the world.

Shell No. 1-MA Jones, a wildcat six miles southwest of Fluvanna, penetrated to 4,383 feet. It is C SW SW, 423-97, H&TC Survey.

Shell No. 1-H Miller, C SE SE of Section 4, Hood Survey, penetrated to 7,380 feet. It is staked 12 miles northeast of Gail.

The Midwest No. 1 Clayton was re-acidizing with 15,000 gallons today after the well was shutin 24 hours.

Frontier & Zonne No. 1 Anderson, re-entered wildcat about three miles northeast of Luther, fractured the Spraberry today and prepared to retest. Operator earlier had tested perforations in the 15,000 gallons of frac fluid and then recovered nothing but water. The venture was drilled to 7,700 feet.

Frontier & Zonne No. 1 Anderson, re-entered wildcat about three miles northeast of Luther, fractured the Spraberry today and prepared to retest. Operator earlier had tested perforations in the 15,000 gallons of frac fluid and then recovered nothing but water. The venture was drilled to 7,700 feet.

Prayer Services For Stab Victim

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Several Negro churches at Montgomery held prayer services Sunday for the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader who was stabbed in New York Saturday.

Prof. Roosevelt D. Crockett of Alabama State College conducted services at the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church where King is pastor. Crockett urged the congregation to "turn to the Scriptures for sustenance of the soul."

Several members of the congregation were crying during the service.

King, who led the successful Negro boycott of segregated buses here in 1956, was reported on the critical list at a hospital in New York.

DEAR ABBY

WAITED TOO LONG

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After being married to my man for twenty-eight years and bearing six children for him he tells me he wants a divorce because I'm not his type. He's been acting kind of funny lately and he's not himself. He says he works late but I don't ever see any overtime pay. I hate to be tied to a man who don't want me but I'm in no shape to start life over again on my own. He chose me for his wife and I was the same type then as I am now. Can a man get a divorce on the grounds that his wife is not his type? Please tell me what to do.

NOT HIS TYPE
DEAR NOT: Maybe you aren't his TYPE, but you are his WIFE. Your husband could be going through the male counterpart of the "menopause" (where some men pause and go backwards!) Get him to a doctor for a check-up. Don't hand him a divorce—he's the type who'd be sorry the minute he got it.

DEAR ABBY: A word to "NOT HIRED": A prospective employer sees your hat not as a becoming ornament but as the badge of a well-bred person who is not only familiar with the rules of proper behavior but willing to observe them. And a "lady" is always well-hatted, well-gloved and well-shod. I treasure this remark by my husband as he described our first meeting: "Of course I remember the day I hired you—you were the only one who had sense enough to wear to hat!"

MARRIED THE BOSS

DEAR ABBY: The rag man gave us a dog. The dog scratches all the time and my mother said we had to get rid of him because the dog has fleas. I asked a neighbor and he said ALL dogs have fleas and it is just as natural for a dog to have fleas as it is for a person to have dandruff. My mother says that kids can get fleas from dogs but our neighbor says that people don't get the same kind of fleas from dogs my mother is talking about. Do all dogs have fleas, are they catching, and what can we do about it?

KEVIN
DEAR KEVIN: All dogs do NOT have fleas and people CAN get fleas from dogs. It isn't "natural" for a dog to have fleas, neither is it "natural" for a person to have dandruff. Ask a vet how to rid your dog of fleas and how to keep him flea-free.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and I go steady with a boy who is 18. His folks and my folks are good friends so on weekends when I go out with him sometimes stay at his house because it is too far to drive back. I sleep in the same room with his four-year-old sister and my boyfriend doesn't come near me all night. Some of the neighbors know I sleep at his house and think it is terrible. As long as our folks know it, should we worry about what the neighbors think?

LOLLY
P. S. How does a girl know if she is pregnant without going to a doctor? My girlfriend wants to know.

DEAR LOLLY: Sleep at home and you won't have to worry about what the neighbors think! — P. S. Only a doctor can tell if a girl is pregnant or not, so tell your girlfriend to run like a rabbit for a rabbit test.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for two couples who met at the home of a Mr. and Mrs. X, to invite each other to their homes without inviting Mr. and Mrs. X? I hope I have made myself clear.

MRS. X
DEAR MRS. X: It is proper — but risky.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CITY DWELLER: While you are pointing your finger at your neighbor, look at your hand. You will find three pointing at yourself.

Father Admits Fatal Beating

FORT WORTH (AP)—Robert Anthony, 27, wept yesterday as he told officers how he spanked his 19-day-old baby after its crying awakened him repeatedly. The child died of a brain hemorrhage, an autopsy showed.

The infant also had multiple cuts and bruises and fractures of both collarbones.

Anthony told newsmen and Asst. Dist. Atty. Glenn Hausenluck he slapped his son to silence his crying.

The baby was found dead in his crib yesterday.

Hausenluck said he expected to file murder charges against Anthony today.

Mining Firm Checks For Missing Gold

GARFIELD, Utah (AP)—Kennecott Copper Corp. officials continued their inventory check today to determine how much gold, if any, was missing from their refinery here.

Asst. General Manager Ira K. Hearn said there definitely was some gold missing, but "we cannot estimate the value of the missing metal until our inventory is complete."

Secret Service Agent Robert F. Grube of Salt Lake City said no definite shortage had been established yet. He did not elaborate.

Hearn termed a radio station estimate of three million dollars as "ridiculous."

Many Creatures Make Good Pets

By DR. AKIN SIMPSON
No doubt a majority of the pets in this country are cats and dogs. However, there is quite a list of other animals that are often kept for pets.

Among some of the more common animals are hamsters, rabbits, guinea pigs, parakeets and other birds, fish, frogs, turtles, and even mice and rats.

Birds, especially canaries and parakeets, are probably the most popular following cats and dogs.

Parakeet cages should be placed about five feet above the floor, away from the door or a hot radiator, and not directly in the path of an open window.

Ordinary room temperatures from 65 to 75 degrees are satisfactory, but the bird should be guarded against drafts, sudden changes in temperature, and exposure to the sunlight for more than a short time.

The daily ration for parakeets should include both seeds and grains. Greens, such as lettuce, spinach, chick weed, lawn grass, and even mice and rats.

the interest of people of all ages with their unusual shapes, their brilliancy of color, and their fascinating behavior.

They need warm water to live in and correct feeding. More than 300 varieties are available.

In starting an aquarium, the only tanks recommended are the rectangular types that give a large surface to the water. A two inch layer of coarse sand or gravel should be placed on the bottom of the tank.

Allow water to stand for about a week before putting it in the tank, so it will contain sufficient oxygen.

Plants are almost as important to the tank as the fish themselves. The growing plants give off little bubbles of oxygen, and use up the carbon dioxide given off by the fish.

It is best to feed fish in the morning. Give no more food than can be eaten in five minutes. Overfeeding will usually cause cloudy water and decay.

Youngsters are often attracted to hamsters for pets. They are easy to handle and respond readily to affection. They perform many natural pranks and are quick to learn new tricks. Raising hamsters requires very little work and only a small amount of space and only a small amount of money. They are a clean animal with no body odor, no lice, and no fleas. They are perfectly safe to keep in the house.

Rabbits are another common pet, especially for children. Rabbits are easy to handle, as they are gentle and responsive. They can do a few tricks, and are intelligent enough to be quite tidy in their habits. They love quiet and make very little noise themselves. They eat a great variety of foods and rarely tire of a dish that is repeated.

Turnabout
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — K. C. Jones, 22, has started a three year course at the University of Oklahoma School of Nursing. He's the only male in a class of 111 students, but if figures. Jones' girlfriend, Sandra Kiester, is the only female in the University of Oklahoma School of Civil Engineering.

Coahoma High Students Name Class Officers

COAHOMA—The first meetings of the Coahoma High School classes were held last week for the purpose of electing officers, sponsors, room mothers and student council representatives.

Those elected by the senior class included Harold Griffith, president; Joe Robert Bond, vice president; Jeffie Gore, secretary-treasurer; Cariker Roy Wright, reporter; Mrs. Jessie Brooks, class mother; Saddle Nixon and Don Cunningham, student council representatives. Class sponsors are Mrs. Paul Allen and Grady Tindol.

Those elected to serve as officers of the junior class were Paul Graves, president; Paulene Graves, vice president; Rosalie DeVaney, secretary-treasurer; Joan Davis, reporter; Mr. and Mrs. Phyllip Wynn, sponsors; Mrs. C. H. DeVaney, room mother; and Doyle Warren and Rosalie DeVaney, student council.

Elected officers of the sophomore class were Edward Reeves, president; DeWayne Richters, vice president; Glenda Haney, secretary-treasurer; and Nancy Hodnett, reporter. The student council representative will be Jonnie Lou Nicklos and Tom Hodnett. Sophomore sponsors are Perry Moren and Mrs. Harold Morris.

The freshman officers will be

Margie Appleton, president; Larry Fryar, vice president; Sandra Nickols, secretary-treasurer; and Ronnie Lindsey, reporter. Mrs. V. F. Davis and J. E. Span are class sponsors.

The president of the student council is Jim Cearley and each class president is automatically on the council. Fred Salling will serve as the council sponsor.

Sealy Mattress Line Featured

Big Spring Hardware's Furniture Department at 110 Main Street is rapidly growing in fame as the place to go for quality house furnishings at good prices. Quality merchandise of nationally known brand names is a standard feature of this establishment. The Big Spring Hardware Furniture Department, for example, features the famous Sealy Mattress line—a typical product to indicate the high calibre of merchandise you can find at this popular store. The Sealy Delray mattress for example has a price tag that's bound to appeal to you — only $34.88. You may pay more money but you can't buy a better mattress or more sleeping comfort than that offered by Sealy. The famous Sealy Barton Twin-Bed mattress is offered by Big Spring Hardware Furniture Department for only $69.95. The furniture department is across the street west of the long popular and well-known Big Spring Hardware. Most folk have long since familiarized themselves with this establishment but if you haven't visited it, you owe it to yourself—especially if you are in the market for furniture—to go there and see what is available for you. The prices will be to your liking, too.

Contractor Charles Campbell Excels In All Types Of Concrete Construction

If you are planning any type of concrete work around your home or place of business, chances are good that you can get a better piece of work and possibly save some money by contacting Charles Campbell, Big Spring concrete contractor. Campbell will be happy to confer with anyone on any type of concrete construction project. He will make his many years of experience available in an advisory capacity, and will be happy to estimate the cost of any undertaking. Campbell and his workmen are masters of the art of concrete construction, and durable, attractive examples of their work dot the city. Driveways, curbing, fences, walls, retaining walls and many other such facilities are installed expertly by Campbell's concrete artisans. Floors, patios, walks and other yard and garden accessories are among the jobs for which Campbell is relied upon throughout the Big Spring area. Of course, only the highest quality materials are used in projects undertaken by Campbell. These are combined with skilled workmanship to make every concrete installation a valuable, permanent addition to the property on which it is situated. Not only is Campbell's work serviceable for many years. He and his workmen strive to make every structure they fashion an attractive improvement. Floors, for example, are poured as near absolute level as human tolerances will allow. Finishes are honed to the proper texture to assure a good appearance as well as to meet the requirements of use. Such things as walks, driveways, fences and walls also are given finished surfaces which are both utilitarian and attractive. Campbell also is backed by many years of experience in the field of renewing stucco and masonry exterior walls. Brick and mural stone faces can be applied to practically all structures, giving them the appearance and serviceability of regular masonry finishes. No job is too large, and of course none is too small, for Charles Campbell. His references are the many contractors and property owners who have utilized his services. He may be contacted by telephone, AM 4-2407, or at his residence in the Hilldale Addition southwest of the city.

Easy Way To Kill Roaches And Ants

Scientists recommend that you control roaches and ants the modern way — with Johnston's No-Roach. Brushed just where you want it (table legs, cabinets, sills, asphalt tile, etc.), the colorless coating kills these pests. It's effective for months, sanitary and easy to use. 8 oz. pt. Get No-Roach at Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Bud Green, Cunningham & Phillips, and your local drug or grocery store.

NEW LIQUID CLEANS AND POLISHES CARS

Polish your car as you clean it — with POLISHAMPOO. Just apply rich harmless suds, then simply flush off dirt and "road film" that resist ordinary washings. Car dries quickly with no rubbing or wiping, leaving a polished surface. Use POLISHAMPOO regularly to keep car clean and polished. Bottle containing 8 shampoos... 98c. Available at Piggly Wiggly, J. O. Newsom, Bud Green, Jack's Drive-In, Ham & Phillips, and your local drug or grocery store.

Fertilizer Should Be Applied Now

September and October are regarded as two of the best months of the year to apply fertilizer to your lawn and flower beds. Some of the best fertilizer that can be used is Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate, distributed here by the McGibbon Oil Company as sold at any Phillips 66 station. Within a day following application, the lawn should be sprinkled generously. Even when the grass shows temporary burning or browning, it quickly recovers after a thorough watering. Some experienced gardeners purposely allow burning to curb the growth of chick grass, crabgrass and other undesirable weeds. Grass should be made healthy and heavy before winter sets in and the home owner can assure himself that will gain the necessary growth through the use of Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate. Apply three or four pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate per 1000 square feet. Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate, of course, can be used on shrubbery, shade trees, fruit trees, flowers, and vegetables, too. Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate should be applied in small doses in a circle around shrubbery. Be careful to keep the fertilizer off the foliage and root crowns, however. When fertilizing trees, apply from a handful for small trees to two pounds for large trees. Apply fertilizer in a circle from the base of the tree to its drip-line. Work thoroughly into the soil, then water generously. The McGibbon Oil Company is also the area headquarters for Phil-Gas, a handy servant for rural homes.

Seiberling Tires Give Extra Safety

Roll on Seiberling tires and roll on the best. For Seiberling tires, go to Creighton Tire Co., located at 203 W. 3rd. For greater safety as well as extra mileage, the No. 1 choice is Seiberling, a name you can trust in rubber. Whether you are looking for tires for a truck, tractor, or car, you can be assured that Seiberling tire is what you want and need. Check the safety factors in these tires. Not only for safety but also for service, Seiberling has made its tires stronger and tougher. Check the heat vents on the sides of Seiberling tires. These small vents inhale cool air and exhale heated air which comes from long driving. The Thermoweld assembly absorbs road shock and resists bruising. The deep tread on Seiberling models will bring you thousands and thousands of miles of safe driving—more than you realize is possible on a tire. The full squeegee interior construction is also made for safety. This construction is another protection against heat and shock. Greater strength comes also from Seiberling's Saf-Flex stretched rayon cord. This tough carcass will take plenty of punishment and still hold up. Heavy-duty beads of braided, high-carbon piano-wire steel furnish plenty of added strength to the tires. These and many more features of Seiberling tires add up to the answer to any driving problem.

Negro Boycott Leader Stabbed While Autographing His Book

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. remained on the critical list at Harlem Hospital today. He faces three months of convalescence from a stabbing by an apparently mentally unbalanced woman.

His assailant, Mrs. Isola Ware Curry, 42, Negro, is undergoing mental observation at Bellevue Hospital.

Mrs. Curry plunged a seven-inch steel letter opener into King's chest Saturday in a Harlem department store as the 29-year-old Negro leader in the Southern struggle for integration was autographing copies of his book "Stride Toward Freedom."

Dr. Aubrey Maynard, Harlem Hospital surgeon who removed the letter opener from King's chest during a delicate four-hour operation, said King's condition was satisfactory but that he would be kept on the critical list for a day or two.

It will be at least two weeks before he can leave the hospital, the surgeon said, and another three months to full recovery.

After the operation, Maynard said the letter opener had just missed King's aorta, the body's major artery. If the aorta had been cut, Maynard said, instant death would have resulted.

The only visitor permitted at King's bedside yesterday was his wife Coretta, who arrived by plane from Montgomery, Ala. King is pastor of a Baptist church in Montgomery, where his leadership

Unloaded Gun

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Nine-year-old Glenda Prudhomme and her brother were playing in the family garage when she saw a shotgun on a table. "Is it loaded?" she asked. Six-year-old Larry replied, "No." As Glenda picked up the gun it discharged. The charge struck Larry in the side. He was dead when an ambulance got him to a local hospital.

Bug Was Real

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A television station employee explained to callers that the station was not broadcasting as scheduled because "Our transmitter has a bug in it." An insect had gotten into the delicate, but it figures, Jones' girl-bug kept the station off the air more than seven hours.

Convention Ends

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Federation of Texas Aquarium Societies closed its three-day convention here yesterday. About 160 members of the federation visited in the homes of Fort Worth Aquarium Society members and toured Weatherford and Irving.

of the 1956 Negro boycott propelled him into the front ranks of the forces for integration.

Mrs. Curry was ordered to Bellevue Hospital after her arraignment before Magistrate Vincent P. Rao on charges of felonious assault and violation of the anti-weapon law. A loaded pistol was found in her clothing after the assault on King.

"I understand this is the woman who is accused of stabbing the Rev. Mr. King with a knife," Rao said.

"No, it was a letter opener," shouted Mrs. Curry.

She later interrupted the arraignment proceedings by yelling, "I'm charging him as well as he's charging me."

"I'm charging him with being mixed up with the Communists," she told Rao, and added, "I've reported the case to the FBI and it's being looked into."

"This woman is ill," Rao said as he ordered her taken to Bellevue.

"I'm not ill," sniped Mrs. Curry.

Mrs. Curry was seized by bystanders after the stabbing and was quoted by one of them as saying: "I've been after him for six years. I'm glad I done (sic) it."

The woman told police she is a native of Adrian, Ga., and that she came here from Florida about two months ago. She has visited New York periodically, she said.

Lamesa Church Opens Revival

LAMESA — Dr. Ray N. Johnson, conference evangelist for Northwest Texas Methodist Churches, will be the speaker for the revival services at the First Methodist Church this week.

Dr. Johnson is a graduate of McMurry College, Abilene, and received his master's degree from Perkins School of Theology at SMU, Dallas. In 1949 the doctor of divinity degree was awarded to him by McMurry College. Before going into evangelistic work, Dr. Johnson served churches in San Antonio, and Brownsville; then he served three years as an evangelist before going into service during World War II as a chaplain.

Services will be held at 7:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily.

The song service will be under the direction of Bill Brewer, choir director of the church.

Nuclear Accident Possibilities Tested

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nevada (AP)—Will an atomic weapon explode if it accidentally drops from a plane, falls off a truck or catches fire?

Finding out is one of the primary concerns of the Atomic Energy Commission in its nuclear program here.

The AEC set off an explosion at the bottom of a 500-foot shaft containing an untested atomic device Sunday. Observers watched from 2 1/2 miles away.

The blast disintegrated a metal housing above the mouth of the shaft and spat flame, smoke and dirt into the air.

The AEC said the test released some nuclear reaction.

Purpose of the safety test, the AEC says, is to determine which among several weapons development designs affords the maximum assurance of nuclear safety in handling and storage.

To get this answer, scientists subject the weapons to far more stress than they believe would be encountered. That is why, on occasions like this, nuclear reaction results.

The amount of reaction was announced as so slight that there should be no measurable radiation off the test site.

Proud Parents

David Voss, 19, and his 16-year-old wife, Linda Sue, a high school senior, became proud parents of identical triplet sons at Redlands, Calif. The babies, as yet unnamed, weighed a total of 12 pounds at birth and are kept in incubators. The youthful father says he will give up his plans to return to college this year with the explanation, "It looks like we're going to be pretty busy."

Raftmen End Trip Lasting 69 Days

HONOLULU (AP) — An adventurous Mormon elder and his three young crewmen—who drifted to Hawaii from California aboard the raft Lehi IV—fly here today from the island of Maui.

Skipper De Vere Baker, 48, boat-builder from Petaluma, Calif., near San Francisco, and his three children, who are flying from the mainland.

The raft arrived off Maui Saturday afternoon after a 69-day voyage from Long Beach, 2,100 miles to the east. When Baker and his bearded crew and their dog Targoroo were sighted, they were down to their last four cans of spinach and tomatoes.

The raft was towed into port at Kahului by a tuna boat. All the mariners were in good condition.

Asked what his trip proved, Baker told newsmen: "The Coast Guard put it very nicely when they congratulated us on proving Hawaiians thousands of years ago came from the Americas, the same way we did."

With Baker were Larry Fogline, 31, a UCLA psychologist; Don McFarland, 27, University of New Mexico student; and Ed Kekuala, 27, a Brigham Young University dental student.

Earlier attempts by Baker to drift to Hawaii had failed.

Baker said the raft drifted to the Galapagos Islands after being released in the current off southern California July 14. The sail on the 9-ton, 18-by-28-foot raft caught the tradewinds and it moved smoothly westward.

Baker said ships were sighted twice. The Lehi IV carried a two-way radio but they didn't break silence. Baker's pride was hurt by previous failures and he wanted to prove he could make it without consulting anyone.

Also, he said, he didn't want to use the radio because he wanted to fulfill the voyage as described by the prophets.

"They didn't have a radio in those days either, you know," he said.

Baker said that although the main food supply was exhausted five days before the Lehi reached Kahului "we had food supplements and all of us were in good health, as you can see when we landed."

Although the crew had spinach and tomatoes aboard "none of us seemed to care for them," Baker said.

The crew consumed gallons of milk and quarts of ice cream on their arrival to shore and had a big steak dinner Sunday night.

Baker said he plans to stay on the island at least one week processing films taken on the voyage and hopes to take the raft to all the islands and make lecture tours.

In July, 1954, Baker started the first of a series of ill-fated Lehis on projected voyages to Hawaii. Two almost ended disastrously on the California coast.

Skate Returns From Polar Trip

BOSTON (AP) — The atomic-powered submarine Skate returned today from a transpolar voyage during which she set a world's record by steaming for 31 days on an 8,000-mile cruise without surfacing.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, "the father of the atomic submarine," and other dignitaries greeted the sub which sailed under the polar ice cap Aug. 11.

Skate made Boston her initial stop in this country in returning to her Groton, Conn. base. She left New London, Conn., July 30.

Adm. Rickover went down the harbor by tug to welcome Skate and her skipper, Cmdr. James F. Calvert, 37, of Mystic, Conn.

Families of Skate's 10 officers and 62 enlisted men were on hand.

After her polar trip, Skate visited Norway, the Netherlands, France and Belgium. She left Zeebrugge, Belgium, Sept. 12.

Faubus, Chandler Cite Dixie Feelings

By RELMAN MORIN
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus ploughed through the crowd. It was slow going. People kept pressing forward to shake his hand or simply pat him on the back, both men and women, from many parts of the South.

They were saying: "Fine work, governor. . . . Want to tell you how proud I am. . . . Don't you give in, governor."

Faubus was beaming. "Well, thank you very much," he kept repeating as he heeded for the door.

This took place at a dinner, preceding the opening of the Southern Governors Conference.

But in another room of the high-ceilinged mansion, Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler was saying: "It won't take very long for public sentiment to build up to a point where they'll have to get those schools open. I think it will build up rapidly. People in those places are already having second thoughts, now that the schools are closed."

Faubus has closed the high schools in Little Rock, Ark., to keep Negroes from enrolling.

Chandler brought about integration in Kentucky and he is proud of the way it was handled.

Which man represents the Southern feeling?

It's hard to say. Perhaps each represents different prisms of their many sides.

Integration is not on the conference agenda. But when the 14 governors get through trading notes, an accurate picture could emerge.

Chandler said, for example, "They're a lot more willing to talk about it this year. That's a sign in itself."

Chandler said he thinks a change of heart is taking place now that Southerners confront the fact of shuttered schools in Arkansas and Virginia.

But Mississippi's Gov. James P. Coleman doesn't see it that way. "Our people are overwhelmingly in favor of the closing of the schools. That includes the Negroes because in Mississippi the Negroes don't think its any badge of shame to have and operate their own schools."

A member of a state delegation, who asked not to be identified, said, "Sentiment against integration is harder now, and it's going to get still harder, whether the schools stay closed or not."

Most of the governors were not talking yet.

Held

Boston 33-year-old Mrs. Helen Edwards, whose son, Curtis, 15, was sentenced to life imprisonment last July for murder, sits in the Philadelphia, Pa., police station after being held in connection with shooting of two men in a barroom brawl. Mrs. Edwards' husband, Grover, was electrocuted three years ago for a robbery slaying. Her son was sentenced in the slaying of a dock worker.

Texas-To-Buffalo
Gas Line Blows Up
CLYMER, N.Y. (AP)—A section of an underground gas line that runs from Texas to Buffalo blew up yesterday near this town in the southwestern corner of the state.
The explosion was heard for miles. There was no fire, however, and no one was near enough to be injured.
A large section of pipe was blown more than 200 feet. The cause of the blast was not immediately determined.
The 26-inch main line of the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. carries natural gas from Texas to Buffalo. It runs mainly through rural areas.
Gas service was not interrupted. Stored supplies poured into the main line above the break and repairs were made in four hours.

Missouri Raft
Race Is Staged
LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—Twenty-eight men on seven rafts staged a 30-mile race down the Missouri River from Lexington to Waverly just for fun yesterday.
The winner, in 6 1/2 hours, was one of three rafts entered from Carrollton. A raft from Marshall was second, 10 minutes behind the winner.
The whole thing started two weeks ago with a challenge from the Carrollton Junior Chamber of Commerce to Jaycees at Lexington, Higginsville and Marshall.

Congratulations To Commanders

Roy Black, left, chairman of the annual Kids' Day festivities, and Bennie Pierson, assistant high school principal, extend congratulations to Jo Ann Ebling and Benny McCrary, who were chosen as honorary commanders of Webb AFB for the day. They will preside over special festivities at the base in the day-long program sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and Webb Air Force Base. Next Saturday will be Kids' Day at Webb.

Time Nears For Low Prices To Show Surplus Results

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) — If lower farm prices are to be effective in reducing farm surpluses, they had better begin to show it next year. Otherwise, there is great danger that surpluses will become more burdensome than ever before. As things stand now, agriculture is moving away from production controls and in the direction of greater production than this year's record output. It's an output that will add to surpluses of some crops and create surpluses in others.

The Eisenhower administration has contended that big surpluses it inherited were encouraged by high price supports. It has argued for and obtained legislative authority to reduce the price guarantees. For most crops, the supports are considerably lower than when the administration took over in 1953.

"Farmers increase production of a commodity when the demand for it is strong and just as logically they reduce the output when prices soften," Secretary of Agriculture Benson told lawmakers in 1954.

Some Benson critics take issue with this view, saying lower prices encourage greater rather than less production. Crop production this year has been estimated at nearly 10 per cent larger than the record set in 1948 and matched in 1956 and 1957. Benson has been taking the position that the supports still are too high to discourage overproduction.

But he has authority to lower them still further on some important crops next year. However, this price lever is running into other changes in farm programs and policies that tend to encourage greater output. The government, for example, has abandoned the acreage reserve feature of the soil bank land retirement program which was designed to help hold down production of such surplus crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco. Under this program, farmers received payments for retiring a part or all of their federal planting allotments for these crops.

Benson has been taking the position that the supports still are too high to discourage overproduction. The abrupt return of the Khrushchev note was held to show that American circles give little consideration to "popular demand for putting an end to the policy of saber rattling which is carrying the world to the brink of war."

Temper Shorten In Note Exchanges

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin reacted sharply today to President Eisenhower's rejection of Premier Khrushchev's warning on the Far East crisis. It said the rejection shows American authorities don't want to "listen to the voice of reason."

The abrupt return of the Khrushchev note was held to show that American circles give little consideration to "popular demand for putting an end to the policy of saber rattling which is carrying the world to the brink of war."

Diplomatic observers commented that shortened tempers in both camps threatened to plunge Soviet-American relations to a new low.

F104A's Ready To Show Teeth

STARFIGHTER BASE, Northern Formosa (AP) — The needle-nosed killer tore down the runway and shock waves of sound thundered across the base.

The newly arrived F104A Starfighter, billed as the deadliest jet fighter in the world, was on its way—a part of the mushrooming American buildup to help Nationalist China meet the threat of communism in Formosa Strait.

The stubby, 55-foot plane was officially unveiled here this week. The Starfighter set a new world altitude record of 91,249 feet. It has a range in excess of 1,000 miles, operates easily above 50,000 feet, has only a 22-foot wingspan. It has the most powerful jet engine ever built and looks more like a missile than a plane.

It squats low on the ground, a bullet-like weapon with a long nose filled with special air recording devices.

The wings are knife sharp to slice the air with minimum resistance. Rubber covers protect them on the ground.

Underneath nestle lethal Sidewinder air-to-air missiles, capable of seeking out an enemy plane and knocking it out of the skies.

The pilot wears spurs that fit into sockets inside the cockpit. They are to keep his feet in place if he has to eject in flight—downward in this plane.

Capt. Walter Irwin of Novato, Calif., rates it as a real pilot's airplane, "not dangerous, extremely simple to handle." He set a speed record of 1,404 m.p.h. in a Starfighter last May. He and his fellow pilots are shaking down their unit to get it into full combat-ready condition. Their planes were flown from California in four parts and assembled here.

14-Inch Rain Hits South Texas Town

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Downpours soaked the entire southern third of Texas yesterday, causing severe flooding here and scattered flooding east and south across the state.

Fourteen inches of rain fell on this Southeast Texas city in 9 hours yesterday, virtually isolating the town and chasing about 150 persons from their homes.

At least 200 homes and dozens of business houses caught the overflow of back water which lapped up from flooding Adams Bayou.

Rain at Eagle Pass, about 300 miles to the west, closed or made dangerous roads and highways. At Karnes City, about halfway between here and Eagle Pass, rain fell for the 17th consecutive day. Nearby Beaumont also had flooding.

Orange civil defense coordinator Martin Thoman termed the deluge "just a lot of water." But, he warned, "if we get any more heavy rains" the situation will be serious.

Water-weary residents of this small Sabine River port city scanned the cloudy skies and prayed for a break in the weather.

Merchants boarded up their shops and left for higher ground. National Guard troops slogged through hip-deep water in downtown and west side streets, preventing looting and directing traffic—mostly boat traffic.

Highway 87 north is the only highway officially open to traffic in this city of 38,000. Transcontinental U.S. 90 east and west and 87 south were closed but some buses, trucks and autos gingerly sputtered through.

Thoman said there was no immediate health problem but that the overtaxed sewer system could develop into one.

No deaths and only one minor injury were reported. Only the roofs could be seen of some cars abandoned off the road. Water on some downtown streets rose nearly to the tops of parking meters. Auto traffic on some streets was banned because the wash undermined hastily thrown up sandbag levees protecting business houses.

Truck drivers and boat owners worked overtime rescuing stranded motorists.

Orange is only 3 to 6 1/2 feet above sea level and drainage is difficult.

The heavy rains started at midnight Saturday and continued until midmorning yesterday. What was described as a small tornado flipped the roof from one house and damaged another on the west side of town.

Indio, Tex., 30 miles south of Eagle Pass, had 3 inches of rain by midafternoon Sunday. State 277 between Eagle Pass and Crystal City was considered dangerous. It was blocked by high water between Carrizo Springs and Eagle Pass. The Eagle Pass-Indio highway also was closed.

A serious flood situation built up in North Beaumont, about 30 miles west of here. About 90 homes were flooded up to 5 feet deep as water sloped over a levee on a canal. National Guardsmen took families from the area. Water also rose 2 to 3 feet deep in another Beaumont residential area and families were evacuated.

A levee broke on Chambers Creek in the Corsicana area of North Central Texas, flooding about 1,500 acres of cotton.

Rain continued to pelt the Texas coast today and moisture fell all the way up the Rio Grande Valley to El Paso.

Skies were cloudy over all but North and West Texas.

Predawn temperatures ranged through the 80s on the coast, 70s over most of the remainder of the state and down into the lower 60s in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Pamphleteer Asks For Advice On Assault On Reuther

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — Joseph P. Kamp has asked a bipartisan group to decide whether he should continue to distribute his published attacks on labor leader Walter Reuther.

The 58-year-old Westport pamphleteer, in a telegram sent last night to the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, said he would stop distribution of the booklets if the committee finds truth in "the false and irresponsible charges against me."

Reuther has called Kamp a "hate-monger," and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler has asked the committee to censure the booklet about Reuther, named "Meet the Man Who Plans to Rule America." Republican National Chairman Meade A. ALCORN has repudiated the publication, which was reported to have the backing of several wealthy Eastern Republicans.

Kamp's telegram was sent to Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, head of the committee which seeks to raise the ethical standards of political campaigns.

In his telegram, Kamp repeated his charge that Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, "is campaigning vigorously to become America's first dictator."

Hart Ranch Now Western Museum

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP) — The ranch of old-time movie cowboy William S. Hart has become a museum of Western lore.

In compliance with the terms of Hart's will, the ranch was presented to Los Angeles County in ceremonies Saturday. One of those who attended, cowboy actor Monty Montana, commented: "Happy to see you're paying tribute to a cowboy who could ride a horse."

Hart died in 1946.
