

Cleans Up In Russia

Sporting a Russian karakul cap, 35-year-old Romaine Fielding of Los Angeles poses next to some laundry equipment after his return from Russia—where he sold a batch of clothes washing machinery for $30,137. It all started out as a potential tax-free junket to Russia for a trade fair. The fair was called off but Fielding went to Russia anyway, set up his equipment in a basement and hung out a sign. After a couple of weeks a Soviet official asked what he'd take for the works. Fielding named his price and got it.

Horse, Carriage Help Solve Car Problem

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Like many another Princeton University undergraduate, Eric A. Grinnell found his social life in low gear because of the university's rule against cars.

So, he got a horse.

More accurately, the enterprising sophomore from Rye, N.Y., got a carriage and borrowed the horse.

Grinnell, the great-grandson of a Springfield, Ohio, carriage builder, bought a buggy—a "Brewster brougham"—for $100. The green and black closed survey was built in 1878, and originally sold for $2,000.

The 19-year-old coachmen's total investment, counting renovating charges and stable fees, will come to about $900. He plans to buy his own horse when he can afford it.

As for his use of the rig, Grinnell has more than collegiate horsemanship in mind. He plans to earn hay money by carting couples around the campus and the town on party weekends at $3 for half an hour, and $5 a full hour.

The university, which has denied undergraduates the use of motor vehicles for three decades, gave Grinnell permission to drive the rig when he offered to use it for publicity purposes at football games.

How did Grinnell's parents react to having a carriage delivered at their home?

"They were in a state of shock," he admits.

But later, he says, his mother fell in love with the thing because it's so beautiful, and his father thought it might be good experience.

Pentagon Aims Major Blow At Unneeded U.S. Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon swung a major blow at unneeded secrecy today.

It ordered declassification of almost all military documents stamped top secret, secret and confidential before Jan. 1, 1946. Some date back to World War I days or before. Many millions of outdated documents are affected.

'Jet Stream' Fights Polio

DETROIT (AP)—Health officials said a new "jet stream" device will be brought into action today in the battle against Detroit's polio epidemic, which has hit more than 700 in the area.

The health commissioner, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, said the jet stream machine will be employed at one of nine emergency vaccination centers in Detroit. It uses a stream of high pressure air to force the Salk vaccine through the skin, eliminating the use of expensive needles.

Dr. Molner said 62,000 persons were inoculated in the first four days of the emergency vaccination program. But he warned that the program might collapse because what he described as chiselers who refuse to pay the $1-shot fee are using up the supply of vaccine.

Detroit has had 517 cases of polio, with 16 deaths so far this year, compared with 157 cases and 2 deaths in 1957.

The declassification order was signed by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy last Saturday, it was learned, and is due for formal announcement today.

The order also takes a preliminary job at the continuing accumulation of classified papers. It orders the automatic downgrading, after a period of years, of documents labeled top secret.

Left for future action is a time-phased schedule that will remove all grades of secrecy from documents after they have been stored for a given number of years.

Specifically exempted from the mass declassification order are papers detailing U.S. and Allied war plans and almost everything connected with intelligence and counterintelligence.

Personnel and medical records also were excluded because their confidential nature is covered by numerous regulations, laws and customs that normally prevent the invasion of personal privacy.

No one knows how many papers have been tied up in security red tape. The estimates run into many hundreds of millions.

But they include an estimated 1,376,633 cubic feet of papers stored in 127,466 steel cabinets in military records centers, holding areas and the national archives.

These are the identifiable documents that the Pentagon can put its hands on. There are a lot more. The universities and some 23,000 industrial plants hold many still-classified papers from World War II.

Behind the directive lies 18 months of work by retired Vice

Adm. John M. Hoskins and his small staff, set up for the purpose by then Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

After sizing up the problem, Hoskins decided on a mass attack. He found that individual services and units had tried before to reduce the size and flow of classified material but that most of these efforts had ended in frustration because of the magnitude of the task.

One military department told Hoskins that it would take at least 8,000 officers and men to conduct an annual downgrading and classification review of its backlog of active files.

At Least 36 Die In Mine Explosion

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The explosion at Podvici coal mine Thursday took at least 36 lives and the fate of 20 more miners is still unknown, Belgrade radio said today.

An official announcement said the blast trapped 188 miners in the 2,000-foot deep pit near the Bulgarian border and only 132 were rescued.

Bandit Flees

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle LaCroix, 60, an Oak Cliff widow, told police a husky Negro man threatening a sex attack fled after she fired a pistol through her bedroom door last night.

Carr Predicts Speaker Win

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—State Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock declared today the withdrawal of Rep. Will Smith as a rival assures his re-election as speaker of the Texas House.

Carr said he now held pledges for 81 votes — "more than the majority needs."

"I am honored to have the support of a man who has served so many years in the Legislature as has Will Smith," Carr said in a statement.

"I appreciate his efforts to bring the race to a close so that we may begin to make necessary plans for an efficient and productive session."

Smith, who lives here, released the 11 first choice pledges he held last night and threw his support to Carr, who has been waging a hot fight with Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville for the speakership.

Smith praised both Carr and Burkett as "honest, sincere and capable men" and as "good presiding officers."

"I have chosen to give my support to the present speaker because it appears to me that the interests of the Southeast Texas area will be best served thereby," Smith said in a statement.

Two supporters of Smith, Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick and Rep. D. Roy Harrington, also announced they will support Carr.

Kiwanians Observe 'Newspaper Week'

Kiwanis Club observed National Newspaper Week at its meeting Thursday.

The contribution that a free press makes toward preservation of basic human freedoms was discussed by Sam Blackburn, Big Spring newspaper man. Blackburn also pointed out the role that a newspaper plays in the broadening of markets, the improvement of living standards and the betterment of economic progress.

He said that surveys show that 82 per cent of all the residents of the United States who are 12 years of age or older read a daily newspaper on an average day.

The common method of evaluation of a community, he observed, was often the reaction the stranger gets from reading the newspaper published in that community. If the newspaper is a good one and bears evidence of being breezy, bright and readable the average stranger will automatically judge the community accordingly.

Jack Alexander, president of the club, expressed his appreciation to all who had a part in the successful celebration of Kiwanis-Air Force Kids' Day on last Saturday and said that it was one of the most successful in the long history of this event in Big Spring.

Announcement was made that the club directors will meet at 6 p.m. instead of 6:30 p.m. on Monday at the Wagon Wheel restaurant.

Ford Restyles For 1959 Market

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. will bid for a bigger slice of the 1959 auto market with a completely redesigned and restyled line of cars.

In styling emphasis is on simplicity. In engineering it is on comfort and economy.

Ford showed major models of its Ford division line at a press preview yesterday. Flatter, thin roots in the manner of the Thunderbird series, modified rear fins, new grilles and large round tail lights are among new features.

Major changes also have been made in Ford engines. Dr. Andrew Kucher, head of engineering and research, said all the engines have been designed to operate efficiently on regular grade gasoline.

Insurance Firm Bows To Bride

BALTIMORE (AP)—When the minister mentions that "for richer-for poorer" business to Shirley Klein, at least it won't mean $2,500 poorer.

Miss Klein, a pretty 21-year-old secretary, had surrendered a court award for that amount earlier this week by refusing to postpone her wedding.

Injured in an automobile accident while driving with her fiancé in West Virginia last May, she obtained a court judgment for $2,500. But the fiancé's insurance company appealed and, under West Virginia law, a woman forfeits her right to contest such a case further if she marries her fiancé before the appeal is heard.

After Miss Klein's decision to get married Saturday, as scheduled, rather than wait out a court case which may take months, the insurance company gallantly bowed to the bride-to-be.

Marvin Elin, her lawyer, said Thursday the company had made "a gratuity" to her of a "substantial" part of the $2,500. He didn't say how "substantial."

Miss Klein's fiancé, 24-year-old James A. Halloran of Woodbury, N.J., is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University.

Odessan Named To Police Post

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas Police Chiefs Assn. elected Dallas Chief Carl Hansson president yesterday.

Other officers included University Park Chief Forrest Keene, secretary-treasurer; Odessa Chief Jess Cariker, first vice president, and San Antonio Chief George Bichsel, second vice president.

Lady Police Chief Good As Cheesecake

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Irate but ignored in his bingo war with Aurora police, Mayor Paul Egan has uncorked a real eyestopper in his bid for obedience and headlines—a lady police chief.

He announced that Lura Patricia (Patti) Counts, a red-haired night club press agent, is the new chief of police.

The 28-year-old green-eyed lass from Chicago has never dealt with the criminal element, but she says she's studied sociology. And she looked very well in a cheesecake pose for photographers.

"Press agency," cried the opposition in this northern Illinois town of 55,000.

"It's just too ridiculous to comment upon," declared Donald Curran, whom Egan fired as police chief for not cracking down on bingo. Only he didn't go. And the City Council said he didn't have to.

Neither did the Police Department go when Egan suspended the entire 68-man force for listening to Curran.

But as far as the fiery little mayor is concerned Miss Counts is the chief.

"Her success at Aurora will accrue to the benefit of the entire world," he proclaimed.

And said she: "I will fight those who oppose my appointment."

When somebody asked if she's tried to supplant Curran yet, she replied, "I've never met the man, but he's too much of a gentleman to throw me in jail."

Miss Counts will do her fighting without a gun, she says. She added that she's against capital punishment and will bank her success heavily on the sociology and economic courses she said she learned at Radford Teacher College in Radford, W.Va.

Miss Counts hasn't even been sworn in yet. Egan says he's waiting until the bonding company says she's good for $5,000 coverage.

Like the 10 police chiefs Egan has fired and hired during his hectic 4½ years as mayor, Miss Counts will have to know who's in charge.

In his official message to her Egan said: "I want the department renovated, improved and streamlined. But before you make any major decision I want to be consulted."

He told her she was to listen to no phony commissioner-mayors or anybody else.

Miss Counts is supposed to do this for the next 60 days. It's a temporary job, Egan said.

The tall (5 foot 8) Miss Counts says she's not worried about the possibility she may not get her paycheck.

"That'll be all right," she said. "I make twice as much as the chief's salary by freelance writing." The chief gets $7,092 a year.

Pleads Guilty

G. B. Petty, 34, Aspermont, arrested on Wednesday night by liquor control board officers, pleaded guilty to unlawful transportation in Howard County Court on Thursday morning. He was fined $100 and costs.

U.N. Told Of Race Progress

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—The United States has made tremendous progress in combating racial discrimination and eventually will wipe it out, a Texas businessman told the U.N. yesterday.

Watson Wise of Tyler, Tex., told the General Assembly's social committee: "As long as there is one single human being who is discriminated against, there is injustice which cannot be condoned."

Wise was making his first speech before the 81-nation body as delegate to this year's Assembly session.

He told the committee "what the headlines tell us about discrimination" in some parts of the United States does not represent the entire country.

Wise said the American people as a whole have faced up to the problem and the federal government and most state governments have moved to end discrimination as quickly as possible.

The Supreme Court, Wise added, has lent its weight to eliminating school segregation through its 1954 decision and in last week's opinion on events in Little Rock.

"There has been immense progress in every way," he said, but we are not satisfied with the progress we have made. What we do say is that we will never go backward. Not even the most bigoted person has any illusions about that. And our record of progress shows that eventual and complete solutions can and will be attained."

Mrs. Taft Dies, Rites Saturday

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Martha Bowers Taft who shared the campaign battles of her late husband, U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, is dead. She will be buried beside her husband Saturday in the Indian Hill Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Taft died unexpectedly at the age of 68.

A son said heart failure caused her death. She had been confined to a wheelchair after a stroke in 1950.

After the senator's death on July 31, 1953, she sold their Victorian home in Washington but maintained an apartment there for a year before returning to their home here.

The two complemented each other well—she friendly and vivacious, he sober and serious.

Taft was 31 years old when he plunged into politics in 1920 as a precinct worker and won election to the Ohio House the same year. His first and only defeat was in the 1932 Democratic landslide when he lost for state senator.

During this period, Martha Taft was a constant source of support. She made speeches and her speeches made friends.

In 1938, when Taft tried for the U.S. Senate for the first time, she started old-line politicians by stumping Ohio for him, making speeches and arrangements in 85 of the 88 counties. One Cleveland newspaper headlined his victory "Bob and Martha win."

She worked just as hard again in 1944 and in his unsuccessful tries for the presidential nomination. Her illness curtailed her activities, but in his last attempt—in 1952—she conducted a one-woman letter writing campaign for him.

The team of Bob and Martha didn't quite reach the White House, but that's where they met. She was the daughter of the U.S. solicitor general, he was the son of President William Howard Taft.

Four years later, after he was graduated from Harvard Law School, they were married and came to Cincinnati to live.

They raised four sons—William Howard, a State Department adviser; Robert Jr., a Cincinnati lawyer; Lloyd, former executive vice president of the Cincinnati Times-Star—a family enterprise—before it was sold this summer, and Horace, an assistant professor of physics at Yale. There are 14 grandchildren.

Be Sure And Take Any Wooden Nickels

MONTCCLAIR, N.J. (AP)—The cost of wooden nickels has gone up to 7 cents.

The local Chamber of Commerce has been selling 5-cent pieces made of pine wood to merchants. They will be handed out free to customers after Oct. 16 as part of a promotion scheme.

The nickels are worth a nickel each to the customers. But what with the cost of pine wood and handling, merchants have been paying $7 for a hundred of the tokens.

City Auditorium To Be Ready For Symphony Concert

The city expects the City Auditorium to be ready for the opening program of the '58-59 concert series later this month although recent renovations have not been completed.

The city is winding up work on the auditorium, but all the changes and improvements haven't been finished. The building has already been repainted and the stage re-laid and finished.

Drapes have been ordered, but as yet they haven't been installed. They were ordered through Good Housekeeping Shop.

Also, the city plans to refinish the seats on the lower floor, but as yet this work hasn't been done. The city ordered some refinishing paint through Murph Thorp, but it hasn't arrived. It is expected this week, however.

Other plans include new spotlights, and City Manager H. W. Whitney said the city was trying to get one now for demonstration purposes. The spots will not be greatly needed, however, for the first concert.

The San Antonio Symphony will play here Oct. 23, but their lighting matters will be only stage lights.

Postal Receipts Show Good Gain

Postal receipts at the Big Spring post-office for September showed a healthy increase over the same month in 1957, Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said Thursday.

The increase may be partially reflected in the increased postal rates which are now in effect and were not in effect a year ago.

September receipts were $29,659.87 as compared with $17,574.97 in the same month last year.

"For the current year, Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, the post office has a total of $216,699.09. Last year for the same interval the total was $200,177.75 — an increase of $16,521.34.

A Bible Thought For Today

"Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honor, that the name of God and His doctrine be not blasphemed."
(1 Timothy 6:1)

Part Of A Policeman's Job

Too often we are prone to regard the policeman as someone who watches after parking meters or red, who give tickets at accidents, or who serve as an object with which some people threaten their children.

All in all, it seems like a pretty prosaic job.

But there is a lot more to being a good policeman, and sometimes that includes laying a life on the line in the performance of duty.

Just how this can happen at the most unexpected times is exemplified by the events surrounding an attempted burglary Saturday night. Four officers went to a super-market and spotted a suspect on the top. Commanded to come down, he did so with apparent meekness. As Capt. Walter Eubanks went forward to make the arrest, the culprit suddenly opened fire at point-blank range. He couldn't miss, and Capt. Eubanks fell to the ground with a bullet barely below his heart. At the same time the suspect emptied the pistol at Patrolman Marvin Blackwell, who was struck in the wrist and the shoulder. Although grievously wounded, the two officers returned the fire and desperately wounded their assailant.

Barring complications, the officers—and the suspect, a typical suffering-hero type—may recover.

Too much cannot be said for the courage of these officers. How they managed to return the fire, and so effectively, can be attributed only to the reflex of ingrained duty. It is probably something of a miracle that they did not forfeit their lives to satisfy the egocentric ruthlessness of a punk who wouldn't work for an honest living. So when next you figure out what a policeman does, consider that this sort of thing may be part of his job, too. It's not easy.

Let's Act While We Can

This week when the application of Waco for impounding 104,000 acre feet of water from the Bosque River came up for hearing before the State Board of Water Engineers, vigorous protests were lodged.

Appearing against Waco's application were downstream users of water from the Brazos, into which the Bosque flows just above Waco. Included were a chemical company and four companies directly or indirectly serving irrigation projects. The three-way nature of the Waco project—state, federal and local—was blamed in part for an alleged stalemate, but it is clear that there would have been vigorous protests from the downstream interest regardless.

Now what has that to do with our area? Just this. From now on every bit of water that falls on this area will be needed to serve this area, but every acre foot of water we are granted a permit to impound will be contested with equal vigor by downstream users. As time goes by, the opposition will become stronger and stronger.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District has on file a presentation with the State Water Board, and within about a year something must be done toward converting this into a permit. This entire section of West Texas should interest itself in backing that application because the opposition certainly will be on hand in force. In most instances, downstream users have the water they need or are in a position to acquire additional water they might need. That is not true of our upland area. We have no other sources and we must act now while we have a chance to get this water.

James Marlow Easing Of Crisis Is Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be a remarkable thing if the Communists—with all the initiative in their hands—permit any rest for U.S. policy in the Far East.

But the possibility by no means can be ruled out. Already there are indications Moscow anticipates a gradual easing of the Far East crisis.

The Soviets seem to be preparing for that, getting ready to swing the spotlight slowly back again to the Middle East.

The Communists do not have control over the rise and fall of nations in the Arab East. Their mode of operation there is to take fullest advantage of crises which do arise.

The Communists do have control over the Formosa crisis. When they want to start it going, they have only to order the shooting to begin. When they want it to ease, they have only to ease off the shooting.

By pouring on pressure now, the Red Chinese might logically hope to wrest at least the offshore islands from the Nationalists. The United States clearly does not want to go to war over the islands.

But there are a number of elements in the crisis which can spell danger to the Communists themselves.

Not the least of these elements is the possibility that the situation can damage relations between Moscow and Red China.

In an aside at his Wednesday news conference, President Eisenhower wondered why, if the Nationalist-Communist strife was really a civil war, Soviet boss Khrushchev should say the Soviet Union might participate in that war.

However, Khrushchev has seemed rather anxious to avoid giving the impression the Soviets would join Red China in a war on the Nationalist Formosa regime. He said an attack by another power on Red China would be considered an attack on the U.S.S.R. The Peiping-Moscow treaty requires that.

Moscow probably would be unwilling to underwrite a real risk of war between Red China and the United States. The Soviets, however, still are in a position to persuade the Red Chinese to ease the crisis.

Without Soviet help, Red China would find a long-sustained shelling of the offshore islands (now in its second month) an expensive proposition.

The Middle East offers a more fertile field for Communist enterprise. There the Soviets are not directly involved. They can keep their own situation relatively secure. And the Middle East does not raise the problem of aggravations between the two big Communist allies.

American and British troop withdrawals from Lebanon and Jordan may be a signal for the Soviets to concentrate the lion's share of their attention on the Arabs once again, for good reasons.

When Britain leaves Jordan, there's a good chance of a new Holy Land explosion. When the Americans leave Lebanon, a government which for all practical purposes is a revolutionary regime, will be in control.

There are evidences of a tug-of-war for power inside Iraq's revolutionary regime. The oil of Kuwait is of enormous economic importance to Britain, and the British will fight hard if Arab nationalist pressures threaten their presence in the little Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko apparently caught the significance of a single little word in the announcement of Britain's withdrawal plans. She would, said Britain, "begin" the withdrawal Oct. 20. In a U.N. speech, Gromyko called it stalling.

It's likely to be a slow and reluctant withdrawal, far too slow to suit the Soviets. Moscow hopes to apply the heat in the Middle East. The new explosion there, which by present indications could come some time around the turn of the year, cannot arrive too soon for Moscow.

Life Of A Hot Dog Man

NEW YORK (AP) — When the opening lineup is announced at 11 o'clock Saturday in the cavernous offices beneath Yankee Stadium, poised, confident John Moriarty will be dressing out for another World Series start.

Wicker basket on white-jacketed arm, mustard stick in the alert position, he will coolly step before the assembled 65,000, rear back and fire the big one:

"Here you, getcha red hot franks here!"

Moriarty, a port-sized coin flipper born almost in the shadow of the House that Ruth built, got his start in the big leagues as a second-string soda seller, gradually working his way up to candy butcher and peanut vendor, and after several impressive appearances in relief drew a starting assignment as hot dog hustler. The cash clean-up spot to which all rookies aspire.

Three full seasons and two World Series behind him, Moriarty, now just turned 18, is at the top of his form. His delivery is shrill and commanding; his diction a gravel-based blend of Bronx and Brooklynese that assaults the ear drum with terrifying urgency. He can go deep to make change in the upper deck and make the turn at the mezzanine for a double sale in the box seats.

On a clear day, before a packed house, he can flip a coin 30 rows back into the stands and hit the strike zone with awesome regularity.

"For women," he confided, "we use an underarm motion, something like the submarine ball Carl Mays used to throw. Men like to have it burned over with a full thumb snap so they can show off on the catch. Control is everything. A wild throw can cost you several big sales while you're burrowing under the seats for a passed quarter.

There's always one comedian who tries to put it in his pocket. That's why we prefer the direct flip."

Moriarty's idea of a good day: "Anything but the World Series. It's too crowded to move around and people paid too much money to take their eyes off the game long enough to down a couple of franks. Give me a good cold day, a long dull game and a bunch of kids who got in for free on passes."

Adobe And Construction Costs

If you ever drive down to Fort Stockton, you'll find something that, to the uninitiated, is incredible. You see the remnants of old, abandoned buildings, whose roofs have fallen in but whose walls are still standing. The walls, you note, are made apparently of mud. The natives will tell you they're not mud; they're adobe, by golly. They'll also tell you that, although adobe is made of a special kind of clay that starts out as mud, those adobe walls have been standing in the weather for years and years.

If you take a tour around town, or especially, into the countryside, you will see dozens of pretty, Spanish-style houses with tile roofs and stuccoed walls. You'll find it unbelievable that the walls of these old houses are adobe.

Bricks are made of clay baked in a kiln. Adobe is made of a special kind of white clay that is baked in the sun. Centuries ago, the Indians trampled tons of adobe mud, mixed with water and straw, into a gooey mess that was formed into huge blocks and set in the sun to bake dry. These wide blocks were then hauled up and into the walls of structures that may still be seen in some places by tourists in the Southwest.

When the Mexicans occupied the Southwest, they learned the adobe tricks, which made use of native materials in a land where European materials and techniques were practically non-existent. They discovered, as did the first American settlers, that adobe not only has lasting qualities, but that it is cool in summer and warm in winter; besides the fact that it is cheap and abundant.

Even today, adobe construction is but a fraction of the cost of more traditional buildings.

Another thing the early pioneers learned from the Southwest Mexicans is the fact that, with a Spanish tile roof and cedar beams, and with the walls plastered on the inside and stuccoed on the outside, adobe houses can be and often are downright beautiful. Americans, with their inventiveness, also discovered that even the tiny amount of damage done during wet years can be offset by the use of water repellents in the paint or in the plaster.

Adobe construction offers a low-cost solution to the housing problem: money saved on materials and labor may be used for landscaping, purchase of a larger lot, and other desirable features.

There is, indeed, only one trouble: Most architects can't stand adobe. Architects and builders, weaned in the tradition of a type of construction imported originally from a cold, damp European climate where wood and stone were plentiful, are often called upon by city councils for advice in drawing up building codes. The architects, as often as not, tell the councilmen that there ought to be a law against "mud" houses, blithely ignoring the architectural tenet that a house made of native materials blends aesthetically with the countryside.

Cupidity is sometimes involved; some building materials retailers, with both eyes on the cash register, join with manufacturers representatives to tell councilmen that "mud" houses are shoddy and unseaworthy. And the councilmen, unaware that such dignified research institutes as that at Texas A&M are experimenting seriously with packed earth houses, pass building ordinances outlawing the use of earth materials in housing.

So, don't run out and build yourself an adobe hacienda, unless it's far out in the country. Or, unless you can prevail upon the VA, the FHA and a hundred other agencies concerned with housing, to let you use a bit of common sense in building your dream castle.

—BOB SMITH

We're Going To Live By The Credit Card

Rather belatedly, I have come to the realization that money, per se, is on the way out, and not because of racing inflation, either. Money, in the age of automation, is one with the dodo. We have entered an era in which man does not live by bread alone, but strictly by the credit card.

We are on the threshold of a golden age in which any person who can sign his name will live like a king as long as the ball point works. In the best of all possible worlds, just ahead, money is no object.

It has taken the entry of the American Express Company into the credit-card business to make me realize that money is about to become archaic. Naturally, I have been aware on the past decade of the rapid growth of the Diners' Club, a pioneer in the field. It began the elimination of money in the bed-and-board field, its members simply signed chits in restaurants and hotels.

Now both the American Express and the Diners' Club plan a vast expansion of their credit services. The one is planning to encompass the gist biz here and abroad, and the other is discussing with Ford Motors the possibility of permitting card holders to charge repairs and services performed by division dealer on Mercurys, Edsels and Lincolns.

As we Americans grow, great oaks from little acorns grow. And it is but a step from signing a credit card for a new spark plug to signing for a new four-door limousine with diamond finish, hydraulic fins, push-button steering, white-walled air-conditioning and power luggage compartment.

Within the next four or five years, the man who professes money for goods or services can expect to be met with a contemptuous refusal and a snarled query, "Whatta matta, Bud? Ain't yer credit good?"

I can foresee a day in the not-distant future when the black marketeers in the alleys of Paris and Rome and Munich will deal not in questionable cash but credit cards. And when all the skill of Freddie, the Forger, will be spent in making graven images of chits and not of Alexander Hamilton.

My belated recognition of this trend away from money makes me feel a little dopey since one of the first forward steps in the elimination of money has taken place in New York City. Tokens in place of cash in municipal transportation systems is widespread in this country (and history may note that this was the small beginning of the end of money).

But the pioneer step that distinguishes my home town is the elimination of cash to buy subway tokens. This municipality took a giant step forward some months ago when it legalized the swap or exchange of a certain brand of soap wrappers or coupons, instead of money, for subway tokens.

The possibilities are endless. At any moment a candy company, let us say, will distribute with each pound of sweets a coupon good for a bar of soap whose wrappers can be swapped for subway tokens. Next, an electric goods distributor will include with a steam iron a coupon good for a pound of the above candy good for the soap that's good for subway tokens.

As a matter of fact, the trading stamp area is more important to the U.S.A. today than the sterling area. These blue, green, red or yellow stamps eliminate money as effectively as the credit card.

As noted above, we are about to enter a golden age in which anyone can live like a king who can sign his name and fend off writer's cramp. In the long run, money is going to become nothing but a collector's item.

The Banker Is An Underpaid Man

CHICAGO—Shed a tear for the poor banker.

Once upon a time, in the days of J. P. Morgan, the elder, Charles E. Mitchell, the dynamic president of the National City Bank (before it became the First National City of New York), and James Stillman before him, the banker was America's Mr. Big.

Seniors from Yale, Harvard, or Princeton looked forward to careers at roll-top desks and later, as banks modernized and fancied-up, to offices with fireplaces in Wall Street. But now, bank salaries aren't up to the competition from giant corporations, such as General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, du Pont, Columbia Broadcasting, or Procter & Gamble.

This has been a frequent theme at conventions of the American Bankers Association and the 84th annual convention at Chicago this year was no exception. Comptroller of the currency Ray M. Gidney spoke in behalf of the downtrodden banker. Salaries are not sufficient to attract young, brilliant men into banking as a profession.

"I feel confident," said Gidney, "that banking offers many attractions as a career, and I know that most of us are happy that we entered this profession. At the same time we cannot lose sight of the importance of maintaining officers' salaries on a basis which will be competitive with other fields."

Gidney pointed out that the average annual compensation of the highest paid officer in banks was less than a million dollars of deposits is $4,764. That's less than the starting salary of a young engineer, scientist, or research economist in one of the major industrial corporations.

Yet this is the pay of a man required to (1) judge character, (2) imaginatively assist enterprises that are likely to prosper and enrich his community, and (3), simultaneously, manage investments.

True, million-dollar banks are usually in small towns and the small-town banker often has a sideline—real estate, farming, insurance. He could even be a professional man, possibly a lawyer. He is but a part-time banker. That, in itself, is enough to discourage a young man in a rural area from aspiring to banking. He's neither a banker, lawyer, realtor, or farmer. He's a jack of several trades.

Even in banks of fairly substantial size—from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 in deposits—the president's wife can't count on belonging to the mink-coat set. The highest paid officer in such a bank averages $20,145. The second highest paid officer gets $13,244. The next highest pay drops to $10,581.

The chief executive of the big-city big bank will get $75,000 to $100,000 and, possibly, as high as $175,000. This last, however, is tops, and wouldn't compare with the $300,000 and up wages of industrial executives. Nor do bank officers have the benefit of stock option plans to bolster their long-term future.

In the larger banks, salaries for vice presidents of $25,000 and up would not be unusual. This explains some bank mergers. The president of a medium-size bank may get $15,000 to $20,000. If he yields to the come-join-us blandishments of a large bank, not only will his stockholders be recompensed, but he could well move up into a higher salary bracket.

Yes, a banker is an influential, respected man in his community. But, to the extent that pay is equated to status, the banker isn't in it with the industrialist. And the young man eyeing a career knows it.

Up To Congress To Curb Court Powers

WASHINGTON—The present Supreme Court, by its action this week, may have made inevitable the passage by Congress eventually of some type of legislation limiting the powers of the high court.

The Constitution itself gives Congress the right to make limitations on the Supreme Court's authority over certain kinds of cases. The fight will be a long one, and virtually the entire American Bar will in the end become participants in the debate.

For, irrespective of the merits of the segregation-integration controversy itself, lawyers everywhere will be concerned, because overnight the Supreme Court has demolished some important pillars in the existing system of judicial procedure.

The Supreme Court not only has asserted the right at any time to reverse "settled law" but claims the right to say years afterwards that it rendered a decision containing language which is not to be found in the text of the first opinion.

Thus, nowhere in the May 17, 1954, decision of the Supreme Court of the United States can any language be found that says that the Court on that day and in that opinion ruled that segregation is unconstitutional "where there is state participation through any arrangement, management, funds or property."

Yet the Court claims this was what it said in 1954. Senator McClellan of Arkansas makes this comment:

"That was not their holding in their May 17, 1954, decision in the case of Brown v. the Board of Education, 347 U. S. 483, nor was it implied, and no one could infer."

This departure from established practice means that the Supreme Court has taken unto itself the right to merely to interpret its previous decisions but to amend them at any time by adding language that was not in the original. Congress will doubtless institute an inquiry of its own into this strange development.

The Court, of course, has a perfect right to say now what it thinks the 1954 decision meant or could mean. But can the Court put new words into the text of four years ago and claim that the language was actually there in the first place?

What legal reasoning, moreover, prompted the Supreme Court to denounce "evasive schemes for segregation," and decide a case in that category—now pending in a lower court—even before this case is argued before the justices of the high court itself? The Supreme Court now has issued through that device a blanket warning that "state support of segregated schools through any arrangement, management, funds, or property cannot be squared with the (Fourteenth) Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection of the laws."

This is in the nature of an advisory opinion about future cases—something that the Supreme Court of the United States has never rendered since the Dred Scott case a hundred years ago. At that time the Court first decided the only question at issue—that the lower court had no jurisdiction over the case itself—and then proceeded to rule on broad constitutional matters related to slavery as a whole. It was a deviation from established practice that aroused nationwide resentment among lawyers.

To condone this week's repetition of the precedent is to invite judicial chaos. For at any moment the Department of Justice now can get an injunction from a lower court closing any private school—religious or non-denominational—where there is segregation and claim Supreme Court backing for the action. It can be asserted that segregation in any institution being given "state support" has been banned as unconstitutional. Certainly real-estate tax exemptions for private-school buildings, the exemption from taxation of the income received by such private schools, and government payment of bus transportation for pupils attending parochial schools are each a means of "state support." Can any private school here after be segregated and stay within "the law of the land"?

Only Congress now can put a check on the Supreme Court's extension of its own authority. The Constitution itself says that, with the exception of cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and cases in which a state itself is a party, "the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

In the case ruled upon by the Supreme Court last Monday, the state of Arkansas itself was not a party to the suit. The way is, therefore, open for Congress to issue new "regulations" to curb the Supreme Court's abuse of judicial power.

DEAR ABBY

INVITE THE FAMILY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you won't think this is much of a problem, but it has kind of got me down and I want some advice to find out whether I am doing right or not. First, I want you to know I am a happily married woman and the mother of five children. We live near the railroad tracks, and when I am out in the yard hanging clothes this train goes by and the engineer always waves to me and blows me kisses. I have gotten to look for him at a certain time and I go out there to wave back and blow kisses to him. It tickles me but I sometimes feel guilty. Do you think it is dangerous and he might take it wrong and should I stop it?

DEAR BLOWING KISSES: He is probably just a friendly engineer who is only having a little fun. Just to set the record straight, however—get the five kids out in the yard (never mind the husband) and all of you wave to the engineer and blow him kisses.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend has four kids and she still takes off her wedding ring when she goes into a bar and tries to pass herself off as a single girl. Things are tough enough for us single girls without having to put up with competition from the married ones. Please print this for all the married barflies who use the same trick. Thanks a lot. SINGLE DEAR SINGLE: If a married woman has a husband who is a pest of himself, calling me up and asking all the kids what he

DEAR ABBY: My problem is different from most that I see in your column. How do you get rid of a guy? This one fellow has been following me around since last December and I can't shake him. He is shorter than me and is very ugly. He keeps asking me what he said to make me mad. If he really did say something, I wouldn't mind, but he hasn't. He's making a pest of himself, calling me up and asking all the kids what he did to make me mad. How can I get the message to him that I can't stand him without hurting his feelings?

DOUBLE DISGUSTED DEAR DOUBLE: There is NO way a girl can tell a boy she "can't stand him" without hurting his feelings. Be kind to him, and always pleasant, but at the opportune time tell him, privately, that you "like him as a friend" but nothing more.

DEAR ABBY: You kill me! The sweetest three words in the English language are not "I love you" . . . but "Enclosed find check." I traded the "I love you" years ago because I found out it was cheap and the words were phony. The alimony check is good and brings me more comfort.

HAPPIER NOW DEAR ABBY: I keep getting articles delivered through the mail that I do not want and did not order. It is a nuisance to have to pack them up and take them to the post office to be mailed back. If I didn't order them, how come they are addressed to me and sent to my house and what can I do about it? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you didn't order the articles you are under NO obligation to acknowledge them, pay for them or return them. Notify the sender by postcard that you will charge them "strange" if they don't arrange to have the articles picked up. You'll soon be unmoored.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEAD OF THE HOUSE": What you say goes, all right—into one ear and out the other. Try a little tenderness.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Probers Eye Link In Gangland Death

AMARILLO, Tex., Oct. 3 (AP)—Investigators today eyed a possible link between Dallas - Fort Worth underworld activity and the slaying of an ex-convict whose body turned up in a car trunk. Papers in a pocket identified the man as Sam Lantrip, 37, a former Dallas hoodlum who had been living here. Officers forced a trunk lock on an abandoned car and discovered the body, pierced by three bullets, yesterday. Sheriff L. S. Johnston of neighboring Randall County advanced the theory of a possible underworld tie but gave no details. The car, bearing blood stains on the front seat, was left 10 miles south of Amarillo and about 4 miles off the highway to Canyon, another 10 miles south. Ed Bagot, retired Amarillo hardware merchant who also has a home at the exclusive Palo Duro Club, spotted Deputy Sheriff Lem Pounds. It was parked on a road to the club, where a number of wealthy families have cabins. Pounds ordered the lock broken after towing the car to Canyon. The body lay face down inside the trunk. Judging from the slain man's "death grip on the lock mechanism," Pounds said he may have been loaded into the truck while still alive. One bullet struck Lantrip in the back and two others, fired from in front, hit his chest and lower body, an autopsy disclosed. Johnston theorized from dirt and grass in the clothing that the ex-convict was shot at a distance from the car and dragged to the vehicle. He said it was owned by Lantrip who was under indictment on a narcotics charge in Amarillo and free on bond. Officers said his former wife and daughter were reported to be living in Dallas. Police records there showed he had been arrested in all parts of the state but had served only one prison term. This was a three-year sentence for burglary and theft starting in 1952. Dallas detective Capt. Walter Fannin described Lantrip as an accomplished shoplifter, and other officers there said he at one time was identified with dope and prostitution rackets. The Dallas records showed he had been arrested in San Antonio for burglary, in Port Arthur for robbery by assault and in Amarillo for robbery.

Oil Drillers Group Winds Up Convention

DALLAS (AP)—The American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors was winding up its 18th annual convention today on a note of cautious optimism. Association President J. U. Teague of Houston warned members yesterday it will be a long time before the nation's oil industry again will have need for 3,000 active drilling rigs. But Pierre Rinfret, economist and investment adviser from New York, predicted 1959 will be a year of gradual, steady growth for the oil industry. Teague told the organization: "I would caution you against assuming that an end to the current business recession and a resumption in increased demand for oil will result in an immediate resumption of boom levels such as we had in 1956."

He said that in order to cut costs, oil producers will eliminate the drilling of unnecessary wells. Wider spacing between wells, multiple completion of one well and increased emphasis on gas production requiring fewer wells also will tend to keep the lid on a drilling boom, Teague said. Rinfret told the drillers the petroleum industry's capital expenditures next year will be up 9 per cent from 1958 in a "competitive move to offset too much of a cutback this year." He said a recent survey showed oil companies planned to spend $3,846,000,000 (B) next year on production and to increase the number of wells drilled 3 per cent above 1958. The survey also showed companies planning to spend less in 1958 for pipelines, tankers, refining and marketing, the New Yorker said. "We don't expect the oil industry to make a big sweeping comeback next year or within the next few years," Rinfret said, "but next year will be a year of gradual, steady growth for oil."

Companies have told us they cut back too much in 1958. Their 1958 outlay plans will be far under their estimates." Joe Peppas of Tyler, Tex., was named president-elect of the association. MIDLANDER NAMED Other new officers include George Livermore of Lubbock, Tex., national vice president, and Ray Wiley of Carmi, Ill., vice president for tool cables. Area vice presidents are H. Don Johnson of Midland, Tex., for West Texas and New Mexico; Morris McDonald of Houston, Gulf Coast; Frank McClintock of Tulsa, Okla., Central Mid-Continent; F. M. Stevenson of Denver, Rocky Mountains; W. D. Tetsch of Los Angeles, for California; Don Shape of Olney, Ill., for Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky; A. Earl White of Tyler, Tex., creaceous tertiary basins; E. F. Fulen of Lafayette, La., well servicing; M. G. Rowe of Fort Worth, North and Central Texas, and W. W. Hawkins of Lafayette, La., offshore. W. L. McClusky of Dallas was renamed secretary-treasurer and Marion Church of Dallas was renamed general counsel.

Teague announced that Brad Mills of Dallas will retire as executive vice president as soon after Jan. 1 as a successor can be chosen. Mills has held the post for three years. He will remain with the association for three more years in an advisory capacity, Teague said.

Client Less Than Truthful

DALLAS (AP)—There are times when cops feel their clients are something less than truthful. Such an occasion occurred early today when cruisemen L. L. Duncan and J. R. Parker noticed a man standing on top of a garbage can outside a cut window screen of a recreation club. The officers stopped to converse with the busy man who, they observed, was holding in one hand a claw hammer and a flashlight. In the other hand he was holding a knife suitable for cutting window screens. "I was fixing the screen," the man explained. "I've been planning to fix it for some time."

When the cops discovered the man did not work for the club any time—much less at 1:30 a.m.—they decided to converse with him further. At city jail.

Beer, Cigarettes Breach Red Curtain, But Ending Is Tragic

By HANNS NEUERBURG ESCHWEGE, Germany (AP)—It started with a pack of cigarettes thrown over the Iron Curtain. Then followed eight bottles of beer.

Three happy-go-lucky guards of the East German people's police were at the receiving end. Their officers were away at a big sports meet, and there was nobody to see them violating nonfraternization orders. It took them 15 minutes to empty the eight bottles of beer while sitting atop their watch tower. Puffing at the Western cigarettes, they tossed back the bottles with thanks.

But the salesman had brought new supplies from a nearby inn, meanwhile. A second shipment crossed the 30-foot-wide "dead strip" in which any illegal border crosser risks being shot without warning.

After a while, the empty bottles came back again—this time with the sentries carrying them over to the West. They crept through the barbed wire with their guns and began unbosoming themselves to their host. People's police food was terrible, they said. Then they had some more beer.

West Germany was not so bad, they added. More beer. Matter of fact they would like to stay, the guards declared, after another round of beer.

Night had come—and they stood up and sang Deutschland Ueber Alles, the German national anthem. Three relieving guards fired star shells into the dark sky and finally traced their comrades. It took only a few words after contact and the East-West beer party was swollen to seven. But the noise and star shells had alarmed a West German border patrol, which came rushing to the scene. The six people's policemen stood up and declared in union that they were determined to stay. After a long persuasive talk from the Western side, the six agreed to return to duty in the East. Nobody, it was agreed, would tell anything about the beer party.

The West German patrol feared that if one of the six changed his mind after he sobered up, he would claim he had been kidnaped while drunk and that there would be a new East-West incident.

Alas, there was a leak on the Eastern side despite the vows of secrecy. The Red bosses got word of the party. Two defectors from the same people's police unit said all six merry-makers were arrested by the Communist state security service. A large-scale probe into the incident is going on while the six are awaiting trial, the defectors said.

West German border authorities released the story after a three-day delay.

Ike Gets Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital today for a general health checkup before embarking on a stepped-up political effort in behalf of Republican congressional candidates.

Apparently hale and high-spirited, Eisenhower expects to get a good report from the doctors on his release sometime Saturday. Then he'll probably head for the golf course.

The President faces a fairly vigorous travel—and speechmaking schedule starting next week. It includes a two-night stop in Denver, Colo., Oct. 18 and 19—his first since he suffered a heart attack there three years ago.

Today's visit to the big military medical center is for the regular, all-over physical examination he undergoes each year. After last year's checkup the doctors said he was in excellent health. Fourteen days later, on Nov. 25, he suffered a slight stroke. Since then he has had one formal checkup. Three specialists at Walter Reed gave him another clean bill of health last March 1, saying he had recovered completely from the stroke.

Worldwide Communion Sunday To Be Observed In Local Churches

Special services are planned in a number of local churches in observance of Worldwide Communion Sunday.

To conduct the special programs Sunday morning are the First Christian Church, First Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church and the Protestant group at the Webb AFB chapel.

The Church of the Nazarene will launch a special "Week of Witnessing" Sunday with a goal of at least 500 Christian contacts for the week.

At Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, the Rev. Royce Womack will initiate a schedule of two morning services each Sunday, the first scheduled for 8:45 a.m. and the second for 10:55 a.m.

Hillcrest Baptist will open a 10-day revival this evening with the Rev. C. E. Waincott of Andrews as preacher.

Baptist Temple will hold its annual deacon election Sunday evening, with two new deacons to be named.

Vep Ellis of Atlanta, Ga., will conclude a tent revival in the 1700 block of Goliad Sunday. Under way for several days, the crusade has been sponsored by the Church of God and Full Gospel Churches.

Here is the week's church schedule for Big Spring:

BAPTIST
In his morning sermon to the Airport Baptist Church, the Rev. W. A. James will preach on "Preparation for Meeting God," Amos 4:12. Sunday evening his topic will be "Ungrateful Souls," Rom. 1:11-21.

At Baptist Temple, the Rev. A. R. Posey will preach on "Jesus' Confession of the Christian" and "Helpfulness in Hurt." At morning worship the membership will elect two new deacons; this election is an annual practice in the church.

Tonight at 7:30 a 10-day revival will be launched at Hillcrest Baptist Church, announces the Rev. H. L. Bingham, pastor. Services are slated at 7:30 p.m. each evening through Oct. 12 by the Rev. C. E. Waincott, pastor of Second Baptist Church in Andrews. The public is invited to attend.

"What is Good for a Man?" Eccl. 5:12; this will be Dr. P. D. O'Brien's sermon to the First Baptist congregation at 8:45 a.m. worship services Sunday. At 11 a.m. he will speak on "The Christian's Prospects," 1 John 3:3, and at 8 p.m., on "When We Draw Nigh to God," Isa. 6:1.

The Rev. D. R. Phillely, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, plans a morning sermon on "Sinful Praying," Psa. 109:7. His topic for the evening hour has not been announced. Cottage prayer meetings are being held this week and next, throughout the city, in preparation for the revival slated Oct. 12-19.

At Calvary Baptist Church, the Rev. J. H. McWilliams will speak on "The Way to the City," Eccl. 10:15, and "The Ideal Soul Winner," Prov. 11:30. Evening worship service will be at 7:45. Thursday night of the Rev. L. J. Power in messages on "Needed but not Deserved" and "Almost but not Quite." The pastor is also conducting a revival service in Dumas this week.

CATHOLIC
Mass will be said at the St. Thomas Catholic Church by the Rev. Fr. Francis Beazley at 7 a.m. and 11 a.m. Confessions will be heard from 5:30 to 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Saturday. Benediction will follow the last mass.

At the Sacred Heart (Spanish-speaking) Church, Mass will be held at 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Confessions will be heard on Saturday from 5 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. Benediction will be at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Mass will be said Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in Coahoma at St. Joseph's Mission by the Rev. Fr. Adolph Metzger, O.M.I.

CHRISTIAN
The First Christian Church will observe Worldwide Communion Sunday. The Rev. Clyde Nichols plans a morning sermon on "The Church at Work," 1 Peter 2:12, and the official board will be installed at the service, Sunday evening the pastor will speak on "First Things First," Matt. 6:33.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
How man can cope successfully with all phases of fear, sickness, and sin will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" will include John's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "man which was blind from his birth" (John 9:1-7).

CHURCH OF CHRIST
T. E. Cudd, minister of Main St. Church of Christ, announces as his sermon topics "The Searcher of Hearts" and "There Were Three Crosses on Golgotha."

James Watson, minister of Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, will deliver a sermon on "The Great Confession," at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday.

CHURCH OF GOD
Sermon topics announced by the Rev. V. Ward Jackson for the First Church of God are "Consider Christ" and "You Can Be Saved."

Vep Ellis of Atlanta, Ga., will conclude his spiritual truth campaign here Sunday, in the tent at 18th and Goliad. The series of meetings has been under the sponsorship of The Church of God and the Full Gospel Churches of this area.

EPISCOPAL
Schedule of Sunday services at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 10th and Goliad, is as follows: Celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a.m.; family worship at 9:15 a.m.; morning services at 11 a.m. The Rev. William D. Boyd is rector.

GOSPEL TABERNACLE
Noah Tuttle pastor of Big Spring Gospel Tabernacle, 1905 Scurry, announces the schedule for services this week. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. with morning worship at 10:45. Evening worship service will be at 7:45. Thursday night membership. Bible study begins at 7:45 as does the Saturday night prayer meeting.

LATTER DAY SAINTS
The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints holds service at the IOOF Hall, Ninth and San Antonio Sts. Priesthood, 9:30 a.m.; Sunday School, 10:30 a.m.; sacrament, 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

LUTHERAN
The Rev. Wayne Dittloff will bring the message at the 10:30 worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Sunday school and Bible classes are set for 9:30 a.m.

METHODIST
Theme for the morning service at First Methodist Church will be "For Christ's Brothers and Ours," when the church observes Worldwide Communion Sunday. Joyce Howard and Ira Schantz will sing the duet, "Oh, Healer and Answerer of Prayer," and the choir will offer "Christ Our Passover," Healey-Willan, as the offertory anthem. Sunday evening Dr. Jordan Grooms will preach on "Never Alone."

Wesley Methodist Church will begin a program of two identical morning worship services, at 8:45 and 10:55 a.m. The Rev. Royce Womack's sermon will be "One Bread" at the 7:30 p.m. service. He will bring a message on "Giving and Getting."

NAZARENE
The Big Spring Church of the Nazarene will take part in the denomination's goal of reaching one million people with a personal testimony and invitation during a "Week of Witnessing," Oct. 5-12. The Rev. W. M. Dorough, pastor, said the local church will endeavor to witness to at least 500 persons, or more than four times its

Introducing the Gospel

LUKE WRITES TO BELIEVERS THAT THEY MAY KNOW WITH CERTAINTY OF CHRIST'S LIFE

Scripture—Luke 1:1-4; 3:1-14; Acts 1:1-5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
ST. LUKE, a physician and the only Gentile writer of a New Testament book, was also the best educated, according to Peloubert's Notes by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith. He had not known Jesus personally, but, as he says in his introduction, he had been informed by "eyewitnesses, and ministers of the word."—Luke 1:2. St. Luke was also a great traveler.

"It seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus, that thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed."—Luke 1:3, 4.

"Thus our lessons turn from the Old Testament and its teachings of moral living to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Luke tells of the evil world rulers of the time, then introduces us to John the Baptist, the "forerunner of Christ," to whom the word of God came while he was in the wilderness. John was the son of the priest Zacharias. We are not told when he entered the wilderness or how long he was there before he received God's message. However, according to the English clergyman, G. Campbell Morgan, he is thought to have entered this hot, blistering, arid land when he was 20 years old and remained there at least 10 years. Leaving the wilderness, he began to preach through all Jordan "the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins. . . . And the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then? He answered and saith unto them, He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise."—Luke 3:3, 10, 11.

"Then came also publicans to be baptized, and said unto him, Sir, we have heard of thee, and we desire to be baptized, and we desire to be baptized, and we desire to be baptized."—Luke 3:12.

"And, being assembled together with them, commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father, which, saith He, ye have heard of Me.

"For John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence."—Acts 1:3-5.

This promise of Christ's was fulfilled, as we shall learn in other lessons.

What should a student put in the first paragraph of any composition he is writing? "Such a composition should tell in the first paragraph what the composition is about, and secondly, as St. Luke does, the certainty or truth of the subjects with which it deals," writes Dr. Wilbur M. Smith.

By CLYDE NICHOLS

"He that dwelleth in the secret places of the most High shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty."—Psalms 91:1.

His Witnesses

"You shall be my witness." Down through the centuries come these words of the Master. Across the years they continue to speak to your heart and mine. Christ commissioning each of us to a specific task, to a definite job. And to his command the Christian responds, "Lord, what shall I do?"

In 1925 E. Stanley Jones wrote a book entitled "Christ of the Indian Road" which sold thousands of copies and has become a classic in its field. In it he tells about his first sermon which he was invited to preach at the evening worship service in his home church.

The little church was filled with relatives and friends, all anxious that the young man do well. Somehow Jones had the vague notion that he was to be God's lawyer and argue his case for him. He began on a high key and was doing quite well until he used a big word he had never used before which caused a college girl in the audience to look down and smile. The smile rattled him. He stammered, cleared his throat, and tried to go on. It was no use; the thread of his discourse was gone. Finally he blurted out, "I'm sorry; I've forgotten my sermon!" In shame and confusion he turned and started down out of the pulpit, and then it happened. A voice said within him, "Haven't I done anything for you?" "Yes, Lord," he replied. "You've done everything for me." The voice spoke again, "Well, couldn't you tell them about that?"

Jones came on down and stood facing the congregation. "I'm sorry I forgot my sermon. I can't preach. I may never make a preacher, but I do love Jesus. All of you know what he has done for my life, how he has changed me, and though I can't preach I shall be his witness all my life." After the services a young man came up to him and said, "Stanley, I wish I had what you have." And that evening he found in Christ a Savior. As God's lawyer E. Stanley Jones was a failure; as God's witness he went out to become one of the greatest missionaries of all time.

Some two thousand years ago Christ spoke to a man of Gadera, saying, "Go home to your friends and tell them what wonderful things the Lord has done for you." And that is his message for you and me. "You shall be my witnesses!"

Success In Italy

Actress Doris Dowling learned Italian and became successful in motion pictures in Italy. While living there she adopted their methods of relaxation. She is soon to be seen in Paramount's "The Party Crashers."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Learned Leisure From The Italians

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When Doris Dowling's acting career was not going to her liking, she went to Europe, learned Italian, made a great success in "Bitter Rice" and had a thriving career in Rome. Now she is living in Hollywood with a new perspective of this country which she wouldn't have achieved without travel. I watched Doris play a scene in "The Party Crashers" just before the cast broke for lunch. "I learned so much from the Italians," Doris told me as we strolled across the Paramount lot. "They place emphasis on leisure hours. When I finished working at the end of the day I forgot about it. In Hollywood you live, eat and sleep pictures. It seems that no one talks of anything else I had much to learn on my return, because there was very little shop talk in Rome. And over there you find little emphasis placed on material things and on keeping up with the Joneses. "American girls have been accused of being too aggressive. If this is true, it is the fault of the American men. The Italian men make you feel feminine and although the women appear to be submissive they have considerable indirect control. "When I admired Doris' hair, she told me that it used to be straight but that a hairstylist discovered "hidden waves." "It's all in the cutting," Doris explained. "It is shaped with a razor when the hair is wet. There is a secret in shaping hair to make it curl."

As we entered the commissary Doris said: "I think our food portions in America are too large and that we overeat. That's why we are so preoccupied with dieting. But I have never known anyone who was fat who didn't have an emotional problem. "The Italians eat slowly and drink wine with their meals. They enjoy their food and it doesn't make them fat. I slowed down so much from living in Rome. This is a city that has an entirely different attitude towards time. We are a young country and I admire our energy, but I deplore waste and that's what happens when you go through the day with your motor racing inside," she concluded.
LATIN BEAUTY SECRETS
Latin believe that olive oil is a girl's best friend. They use olive oil in most of their cooking and they feel it is essential in keeping a beautiful skin. In Leaflet M-62, "Latin Beauty Secrets," are a series of beauty routines using olive oil. Some of these are: Olive oil cleansing routine, black-head treatment with olive oil, nail care, eyelashes and eyebrows. Also included is a secret Avocado Mask. For your copy of this unusual leaflet send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Forsan Club Studies UN

Three members of the Forsan Study Club explained phases of the work of the United Nations Thursday afternoon when the group met at the school. Mrs. Ozro Allison gave the basic principles upon which the U.N. is founded. Mrs. W. E. Stockton discussed the General Assembly, and Mrs. Dub Hartrider told of the Security Council. Roll call was answered by members each giving a fact about a country included in the United Nations. Announcement was made of the next meeting, which will be a dinner honoring husbands of club members. The affair will be held in the school cafeteria on Oct. 16. Hostesses for the Thursday session, which 13 attended, were Mrs. M. M. Fairchild and Mrs. Bill Conger.

Howco Wives Club Meets For Lunch

Howco Wives Luncheon Club members, meeting Thursday at the Wagon Wheel, were seated at a table decorated in fall motif. Fruit tumbled from a cornucopia at the center, and place cards in the shape of autumn leaves were attached to nut cups. Mrs. Dewey Wilson and Mrs. J. D. Brown were hostesses to 13. At the business session Mrs. Dick Buie, secretary-treasurer, presented the budget report. It was announced that officers will be elected at the next luncheon, set for Oct. 23, with Mrs. W. C. Watts and Mrs. Stanley Harbin as cohostesses. Mrs. Elmer Earle won the special prize. Guests were Mrs. Wedby Jackson, Mrs. W. T. Rutledge and Mrs. J. R. Reddin.

Devotional Skit Is Presented For WMS

Members of the First Church of God WMS had a program in skit form at their meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Jenkins. Entitled "Our Concern for the North American Continent," the playlet featured Mrs. George Dyer, Mrs. R. W. Reagan, Mrs. Lawrence Neal and Mrs. Ward Jackson. Mrs. Truett Thomas directed the program and brought a devotion from John 5:1-13. She announced that James Austin, missionary to Alaska, will speak at the church Monday. The meeting is set for 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Following the study, Mrs. Rexie Cauble assisted Mrs. Jenkins in staging a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. J. D. Hickson. Eighteen attended.

Flower Grove 4-H Officers Named

At a Thursday meeting of the Flower Grove 4-H Club, Craig Beckmeyer was elected president. Penny Butcher was chosen vice president; Gordine Froman, secretary; Jerry Kilgore, reporter. Planting Of Bulbs Is Discussed For Spaders

Planting bulbs, both indoors and out, was discussed for members of the Spaders Garden Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. V. A. Whittington. Mrs. Dave Dorchester, in telling members how to pot bulbs for indoor blossoms, recommended refrigerating them overnight before planting. If a clay pot is used, she told the group, it should be soaked in water before the soil is placed in it. Tips of bulbs should barely show above soil. Place in a dark cool place in the house and keep moist for about 10 or 12 weeks, checking frequently toward the end of the time to see that the shoots are progressing. Bring out into the light when foliage is about four inches high. Mrs. Dorchester recommended especially daffodils, narcissus and tulips for forcing; hyacinths may also be used. In discussing the outdoor planting, Mrs. H. B. Perry stressed the importance of good drainage for bulbs to prevent rotting. She warned against putting fertilizer in direct contact with the bulb, for the same reason. October and November are the months to plant spring-flowering bulbs, she told the club. She reminded the group that caladium bulbs must be dug before the first frost. Mrs. W. D. Caldwell gave a report from the recent meeting of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs. Dates to remember she said, include Nov. 1, when the council will sponsor the Fall Flower Show at Howard County Junior College. Announcement was made of the meeting of the Southern Zone, District One, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., which is scheduled for Oct. 23 in Odessa. Also slated for Odessa is a flower arranger to be presented on Nov. 18. Members were invited to attend the showing. Twenty-two attended the meeting.

Texans Are Winners Of Coveted Diamond Award

Texas has a designer and maker of precious jewelry that is today giving the fashion capitals of Europe and America something to wonder about; this was again evidenced in the Diamonds International awards held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Wednesday in New York City. Bellocchio Bros. of Dallas, who also received the award in 1957, once again received the coveted Diamond International Award along with 16 jewelers from foreign nations. England, Switzerland, Italy and the United States. The awards are given for creative diamond jewelry made in accordance with selected designs. Most noticeable in this year's winning pieces was the trend toward a softer and lighter appearance. The elaborate look in diamonds seems to have been replaced by jewels which maintain an importance by virtue of their warmth, grace and three-dimensional effect rather than by their size. This design trend was first predicted by Bellocchio in a Texas newspaper over 15 months ago. The Texas necklace, valued at $16,500, has a pleasing contrast of dazzling white diamonds, with a touch of yellow gold. The number of diamonds, all of which were set in platinum, totals 250. The ripple choker unites a blazing cordage of platinum of ribbons of baguettes and brilliant cut diamonds. A twisted ribbon of yellow gold lends a warm glow, as the necklace gently flows to the center hollow of the throat. Graduated pear-shaped diamonds form a fiery center motif.

Lutherans Report On Their Projects

Lutheran Women Parish Workers, meeting Thursday night at the education building of the church, reported on two projects which they have accepted. They will assist in the stewardship banquet to be held Nov. 14, and are mending clothing for the needy. Eight heard a devotion by Mrs. V. S. Hale, who also led in prayer. Mrs. F. G. L. Snow spoke on "Why the name Lutheran." The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Gilbert Pachal.

Venetian blinds may be soaked in a sudsy detergent water in the bathtub for a few minutes to dissolve dirt and grease. After they are cleaned and dry, give the blinds a coat of wax. This will make future dustings of them a much easier task.

Plans Told For B&PW Conference

During the annual conference of District Eight, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the emphasis of the study will be placed on a program designed for improving the legal status of women. Delegates and members will meet Saturday in Fort Stockton for the two-day conference. Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mary Cantrell and Mrs. Cass Hill, president of the local club, will participate in the program based on public affairs, it has been announced. Bessie Love has been appointed to present a summary of the meeting. Principal speaker for the event is Mary Ryan of McAllen, state president, whose subject will be More Power With Woman Power. Workshops are scheduled; during a business session Sunday, district officers will be elected. A Saturday afternoon tour of the historical spots around Fort Stockton will begin the conference and will end with a coffee at the Annie Riggs Museum. Entertainment will follow a dinner slated for Saturday evening.

Smoother Cocoa

When you're making cocoa for your small fry, stir the cocoa powder together well with the sugar before adding liquid; this first combining is advised because the sugar keeps the tiny starch particles in the cocoa separated so they won't lump.

Reaction To East Zone Of Germany Is Described By AAUW Speaker

"An air of excitement and anticipation enveloped the touring party as they approached the dividing line, but as they passed this guarded barrier on the way back they were pensive and studiously silent." This statement described S.Sgt. Bill Hickinbotham's reaction upon returning from a trip to Potsdam, site of the famed peace conferences in the east sector of Germany. He was speaking to the American Association of University Women at their regular meeting Thursday evening at the HCJC Music Building. Mrs. Hickinbotham was also introduced. Sgt. Hickinbotham made the memorable visit while assigned with the American Forces Network and stationed in Munich. In relating his personal impressions of the east zone of Germany, he made clear Americans' priceless heritage of freedom and democracy which we sometimes take for granted. Propaganda and the supremacy of the state over the individual are the lot of those in the east zone, he said. The private businessman is gradually forced to bow out of business by the prohibitive ration system set up by the state, which has also subsidized stores in direct competition. The German mark, worth about a quarter of an American dollar in the west zone, is worth even 25 per cent less than that in the east zone. Drabness and a feeling of being constantly under surveillance characterize the area; the faces of the residents are expressionless. In an informal question and answer session, the speaker stated that the Communists have played up the integration problem in their propaganda campaign. He noted that American musical programs, particularly those featuring jazz, which is highly popular now in Germany, are among those best received by the Germans through the Voice of America as well as the American Forces Network. Elizabeth Daniel, president, conducted a brief business session. Volunteers were accepted to help with the dance next Thursday at the state hospital. AAUW sponsors one party each month for the patients. Christmas cards, which will be sold by the group to add to the scholarship and AAUW headquarters building funds, were displayed by Blanche Yarbrough, fellow-ship chairman. Hostesses for the evening were the officers: Miss Daniel; Helen Hurt, vice president; Mrs. W. R. Dawes, secretary; and Mrs. Marshall Box, treasurer. They covered the refreshment table with a yellow cloth and centered it with orange-bellied pyracantha stalks set in a copper tea kettle. Doughnuts were served from an antique knife box; orange napkins and crystal plates completed the table setting. Yearbooks are to be ready by the next meeting, which will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 6 at the music building.

Here's Tasty Duet For Pre-Football

Rushing off to the football game? That means you will need a tasty but quick supper, and here is the answer. Hot grilled sandwiches of ham and cheese blend with an appetizing salad of greens, celery cressants and apple. GRILLED HAM AND CHEESE SANDWICHES WITH SALAD Ingredients: 8 slices bread 4 thin slices baked ham (warmed in a little butter on the grill or in skillet) 4 slices cheddar cheese 2 to 4 tbsps. butter 3 cups salad greens 1 cup celery cressants 2 unpeeled red apples (cut in thin small fan-shaped pieces) Thin boiled dressing or French dressing Method: Make 4 sandwiches of the bread, ham and cheese; spread one side of sandwiches with half the butter; brown on hot griddle or in heavy skillet. Spread top side of sandwiches with remaining butter; turn and brown. Meanwhile toss together the salad greens, celery and apple with dressing. Serve hot grilled sandwiches with the salad. Makes 4 servings.

Grand Champion Barrow Sells For $1.25 A Pound At Auction

Tommy Buckner, Big Spring FFA pig expert, sold his grand champion barrow for $262.50 at the auction sale which brought the 13th annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Pig show to a close on Thursday night. He received $1.25 a pound for his hog—the same premium price paid for the grand champion last year. Buckner also owned that pig, John Phillips, 4-H club member, whose 205-pound barrow was rated as reserve grand champion by Judge Bill Griffin over the entry of Charles Engle, Big Spring FFA, was paid $205 for his barrow. The pig sold for $1 per pound. Phillips had placed second in the light barrow class and second in the heavy barrow class and under the procedure followed in determining reserve grand champion, his entry was matched against that of the animal rating second spot in initial judging for the grand champion, Phillips' hog won the reserve honors. The total receipts of the sale were not available Friday morning. Tabulations were incomplete, it was said. Engle elected not to sell his first place light weight barrow at the sale. Buyer who combined to pay the $125 a pound for Buckner's champion were Security State Bank, River Funeral Home, Big Spring Daily Herald and Big Spring Hospital. Phillips Tire Co. bid in Phillips' reserve grand champion. Prices for the 30 pigs screened for sale at the auction ranged from 35 cents—set as a base bid—to the top of $1.25 for the champion. Bulk of bids for the other pigs sold varied from that figure to as much as 39 cents. All 30 head offered were sold. Earlier in the day, Judge Griffin had looked over the gilt division and rated the entry of Ellis Smith, Coahoma as first place winner. Buckner won second, third and fourth places with three entries. Engle placed fifth and seventh; Max Frazier, sixth; Frank Farr, eighth; Penny Frazier, ninth and Ronald Gaskin, 10th. The special Sears Foundation prize for gilts went to Max Frazier. Penny Frazier was second and Gaskin was third. Winners of this special event were the first three 4-H club members to place in the gilt division of the show. Only two boards were entered in the show. Pat Fortune, Knott FFA, won first honors and Buckner second in this competition. Bill Reid, Coahoma FFA, was awarded the trophy as best showman of the event. This is a special award in which no second place is designated. Bidders who were on hand and who bought pigs at the show were: Lomax Gin, Newsom Food Center, Truman Jones Motor Co., Kimbell Feed Mills, McEwen Motor Co., Joe Dunn Insurance Agency; Joe Davis Feed Store; Smith-Coleman Oil Co., Clyde McMahon, Big Spring Tractor Co., Howard County Farm Assn., First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Plinkie's, Greel Oil Co., State National Bank, Posey Tractor Co., Vance Legkowsky and Cliff Profit; Piggy Wigly, Coco Cola, Elmo Wason Men's Store, First National Bank, Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, Western Producers Credit Assn., Stanton, Walker Implement Co., Knott Gregg, Big Spring Co-op Gin, Gage Oil Co., Casey Packing Co., Big Spring Daily Herald, Big Spring Hospital, Big Spring Wholesale Meat Co., Security State Bank, River Funeral Home and Phillips Tire Co.

Mayfield Wins $2,400 Award

A jury in 118th District Court Thursday afternoon ruled that R. E. Mayfield should receive approximately $2,400 for injuries sustained in an oil field accident. Mayfield had sued the Texas Employers Insurance Assn., for compensation totaling $14,000. The case, one of the lengthiest tried in the local courts in some time, opened last Monday. The jurors reported their finding at 6 p.m. Thursday. The jurors specified that Mayfield suffered total incapacity from the accident for a period of 28 weeks and that the injury would partially incapacitate him for an additional 52 weeks. He had asked for total incapacity payments for 401 weeks at $35 per week. No notice was given of any plan to appeal from the finding of the court here.

Speed Is Greatest Traffic Hazard, Safety Agent Says

Safety driving must be made a personal habit of every motorist if the slaughter on American highways is to be curbed, Vernon Gable, director of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department, told Knott and Coahoma high school students Thursday. Gable conducted driving demonstrations, showed motion pictures and spoke briefly at the two schools. He asserted that excessive speed is the greatest cause of automobile accidents. In the demonstrations he pointed out the conditions under which even 20, 30 or 40 miles per hour can be excessive. "When drivers know the true facts and base their driving on those facts, highway accidents will drop sharply," he said. Students and teachers took part in the tests which were conducted in a specially equipped car. The test driver was signalled to stop by an electrically controlled detector. As the shell was fired, the street was marked with yellow paint. A second bullet was fired as brakes were applied and a third after the car came to a complete stop. Distances between the spots were carefully measured to determine how far the car traveled before the driver applied the brakes, or the reaction distance, and how far it traveled after the brakes were applied, or the braking distance. Gable emphasized that a driver who observes the speed laws carefully is not a safe driver if he neglects many other items such as proper signaling for turns, approaching an intersection in the proper lane for a turn, the proper way to turn around, and other practices which he demonstrated in the test car. The safety demonstration was brought to Coahoma and Knott Schools under the sponsorship of the Howard County Farm Bureau, and is part of a long range program of traffic safety now being conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department.

Pair Accused Of Assaulting Negro

Two workers on the Capehart housing project are being held in the Howard County jail on charges of aggravated assault as result of a fight on the project site on Thursday morning. In jail is Buren Wayne Smith, 27, and Roy Smith, 21, both of whom list Center as their residence. Sheriff Miller Harris said that their arrest resulted from an altercation which first arose at the site on Wednesday between the two men and Fred Christian, a Colorado City Negro. The dispute flared again on Thursday when the two allegedly met Christian on a project site street. They are alleged to have struck him on the head with a hammer or hatchet. He was not seriously injured, the sheriff said.

Dulles - Profs Influence Rumor Denied By U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department pooh-poohed today a report that a meeting of Harvard faculty members with Secretary of State Dulles may have brought a seeming change in U.S. policy regarding Quemoy. In comment on that report published by the Boston Globe, a department spokesman insisted that in the first place there has been no change in U.S. policy. Consequently, he said, the meeting couldn't have influenced a change. The spokesman also said there was nothing secret about the meeting—that Dulles, who went to Boston for a public address, had scheduled in advance a meeting with faculty members and Robert Bowie, a former assistant secretary of state for policy planning. A university spokesman said the meeting was not a consultation on foreign policy. He said it was one of a series of off-the-record seminars arranged by the Harvard Center for International Affairs for Fellows. The spokesman said at such seminars a government official or other guest offers a statement which is followed by informal discussion. The Globe in reference to the Saturday meeting, gave this account: On that day, Dulles came to Boston to address the Atlantic Treaty Assn. The prepared address he brought with him and handed out on arrival said — Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily. Since then the story has spread by word of mouth, the Globe said. The newspaper said these things took place: After Dulles spoke for about 15 minutes, the educators questioned him for three-quarters of an hour. Their questions implied strong disagreement. They wanted to know in substance what are we doing in Quemoy and "how do we get out of this mess." Then on Monday Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter said in a speech the offshore islands "are not strategically defensible to the defense of Formosa." About the same time civic leader, including John J. McCloy, former U.S. high commissioner for Germany, were meeting in New York. The story is that the conference was interrupted several times by telephone calls from Dulles and even Herter. McCloy's New York office said he was out of town and not immediately reachable for comment. At any rate, the Globe says, on Tuesday Dulles told a Washington news conference the United States favored reducing Chiang's forces on Quemoy and Matsu if the Communists ceased their firing. On Wednesday the President backed up Dulles saying a cease-fire would open the way for negotiations in good faith.

Arabs Sit Tight On U.N. Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Arab leaders sat tight today despite Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's call for a full-scale General Assembly debate on the Middle East. In a bitter speech Thursday, Gromyko urged a debate on the "removal of the consequences of British-American aggression" in the Middle East. He accused Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of presenting a one-sided report on the Middle East and charged that Jordan was trying to obstruct implementation of an Assembly resolution aimed at withdrawal of British troops from the Hashemite kingdom. Arab diplomats declined to comment on the Soviet minister's speech. They are reported awaiting the arrival Saturday of Mahmoud Fawzi, foreign minister of the United Arab Republic, before taking any action.

Stanton Grid Captains

STEERS OUT TO BREAK JINX IN SWEETWATER

RECORDS:	S W A	WATER
26 SA Edison	0	29	Breck	35
4 Yalea	14	0	Abilene	0
20 Snyder	25	32	Stamford	0
54 TOTALS	39	71	TOTALS	35

Underdogs by as much as three touchdowns, the Big Spring Steers bid for a massive upset tonight in their first road game of the season, at which time they play the Sweetwater Mustangs in an 8 o'clock engagement at Sweetwater.

Sweetwater, with virtually the same ball club back this year it fielded a year ago, is a solid choice to win the District 3-AAA championship.

Big Spring not only is on the short end of the odds in this one but faced the added jinx of invading the enemy lair. The Steers have beaten the Cayuses only twice in Sweetwater in the last 25 years.

The game will feature a duel of two great running backs—Wayne Fields of Big Spring and Sweetwater's James Parker.

Fields has scored in each of the Steers' three games and is the leading point-getter in 2-AAAA. Parker was a bit slow in getting started but he was all-state a year ago and is supposed to be even better now.

Big Spring's chances improved when Buddy Barnes, the Steer fullback, began running much better in practice Monday. Buddy has been handicapped the past two games with a bad ankle. Not only is he a threat himself but he takes some of the heat off Fields when he's in shape to play.

Ardis Gaither, Eddie Scott and John Bryant lend Parker assistance in the Sweetwater backfield. Sophomore Freddie Brown, Bill French, Tommy Whalley, J. B. Davis and Roger Flowers are among the boys Coach Al Milch can call upon for behind-the-line duties.

Sweetwater, with two tackles who will go close to 200 pounds, will outweigh the Steers heavily in the line.

Nineteen of the Mustang players are seniors. Despite that early season loss to Breckenridge, this could be Elwood Turner's and Sweetwater's greatest team.

Lamesa Edges Mavs, 6 To 0

Lamesa scored in the final three minutes of play to topple the Goliad 9th grade football team, 6-0, while the rain peppered down here Thursday night.

The visitors, which had beaten the Mavericks in a previous outing, 16-0, maneuvered into the end zone on a pitchout.

Despite the loss, the Maverick coaches, John Yates and Dan Lewis, were cheered by their team's efforts. The locals were never able to mount much of an offense but on seven occasions held the opposition around Big Spring's one-yard line.

Big Spring made 61 yards rushing to 91 for Lamesa, completed one of seven passes good for 30 yards to one of four for Lamesa for the same number of yards, had two passes intercepted, ran up five first downs to nine for the invaders and was penalized twice for 20 yards compared to ten yards for the opponent on two infractions.

The Mavericks got inside Lamesa's 20-yard line a couple of times but lost the ball on downs.

Tailback Jimmy Madry and fullback Benny Pitzer were among those who glistened on offense for Big Spring. On defense, the whole alignment looked good.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tony Anthony tries for the second time in a month tonight to chop his way into the heavyweight boxing picture against Archie McBride.

AFTER THREE GAMES

Steer Gate Down 3,670 This Year

The Big Spring High School football team has played to 3,670 fewer customers in their first three games than in the corresponding period in 1957.

All three games this year have been played at home, whereas the Longhorns had played two at home and the third on the road in '57. Including the 5,214 paying customers the Steers and Snyder lured through the gate here last Friday night, the Steers and their three opponents have played to a combined aggregate of 12,563 this fall, compared to 16,233 for the Andrews, Levelland and Snyder contests last fall.

Receipts for this year's three outings have amounted to $13,333.90. Last year at the same stage, the school's aggregate gate was $18,107.50, which represents a loss of $4,733.60.

The Steers have been playing to increasingly bigger gates since the 1958 season got under way, however.

The Steers and Snyder split a $5,659.50 gate last week each school getting $2,703.63 after expenses had been paid.

Following is a breakdown on attendance and receipts after the first three games each year. Parentheses show whether the game was at home or away:

1958	Att.	Rec.
SA Edison (H)	2,341	$ 2,709.20
Yalea (H)	3,808	3,965.10
Snyder (H)	5,214	5,659.50
Totals	11,363	12,333.90

1957	Att.	Rec.
Andrews (H)	5,645	$ 6,442.00
Levelland (H)	4,787	5,274.00
Snyder (A)	5,801	6,391.50
Totals	16,233	$18,107.50

Lamesa's Eighth Grade Triumphs

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa's 8th graders turned back Big Spring Goliad's 8th grade contingent, 32-14, in a football game here Thursday evening.

Fumbles hurt the Mavericks badly in the first half and they left the field trailing 32-0. They outplayed the Lamesans in the final two periods, however.

Pete Harmonson scored the Big Springers' initial tally on a 30-yard pass play from Danny Coates, after which James Samples boomed across on a ten-yard TD jaunt up the middle.

Samples had set up the score on a 40-yard run seconds before. Samples also tallied the two extra points on a run after Harmonson's score.

Fullback Bert Bell, guard James Jennings, tackle Vernon Jackson, quarterback Coates and tailback Samples were among those who stood out for Big Spring.

In the first period, Big Spring drove to the Lamesa 30 only to yield possession on a bobble. In the second, the Mavs got as far as the enemy ten and again fumbled.

Yearling Elevens Split At Snyder

SNYDER (SC)—Snyder's 8th Graders defeated Rannels 8th of Big Spring by a score of 28-0 here Thursday night after the Rannels 7th graders had eked out a 6-2 victory in the opener.

The win by Dan Bustamante's Rannels 7th was its third straight. Seven fumbles, all of which they lost, hurt the Rannels 8th Graders.

Bobby Williams was a standout on both offense and defense for Big Spring.

Manny Martinez broke loose on a 50-yard run in the third that gave Rannels 7th its win. Rannels was behind at half time, 2-0.

Rannels maneuvered to the five and ten-yard lines on other occasions but couldn't score. Snyder got as far as Big Spring's three but couldn't get over.

Dick Irons, DeeRoby Gartman, Richard White, Humberto Hernandez, Richard Flores, Tony Carrillo stood out for Big Spring, along with Martinez.

 LONDON (AP) — What makes a woman happy?
 The question was posed at Britain's "Women of the Year" luncheon Thursday.

"Marrying a fine man," said Lady Allice, wife of Britain's former Laborite prime minister.

"Giving and receiving," said ballerina Beryl Grey.

But most agreed with comedienne Joyce Grenfell—"Taking off my joyce at the end of the day."

Austere Life

TAIPEI (AP) — The Nationalist Cabinet has ordered all government officials to live an austere wartime life in view of the situation on the offshore islands.

These are some of the injunctions:
Don't consort with prostitutes.
Don't gamble.
Don't give unnecessary parties.
Don't give gifts except to close friends or relatives.

Dies From Fall

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank Hasenkopf, 15, slipped while taking a shower Thursday night and crashed through the glass door, cutting himself so badly that he died an hour later from shock and loss of blood.

Nixon, Stevenson Debate Formosa

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Nixon and Adlai Stevenson debated Formosa and other issues Thursday night—not face to face, but back to back.

The old foes and potential future rivals for president spoke in adjoining halls of the massive Oakland Civic Auditorium. A thick fire wall separated Republicans from Democrats.

Nixon told the Republicans the Eisenhower administration opposes turning the islands of Quemoy and Matsu over to the Chinese Communists. He said to do so would be a reward for aggression.

The vice president spoke of the administration's policy as being flexible toward negotiation if the Chinese Communists agree to a cease-fire. But he said it is firm against yielding to the use of force.

Stevenson told the Democrats that the United States should make clear it will fight to defend Formosa, but that the tiny islands off the coast of China are another matter.

He said Quemoy and Matsu historically always have belonged to China. He also said the present fight between Nationalists and Communists is a continuation of the Chinese civil war in which he believes the United States should not intervene.

Nixon, winding up a campaign swing of his home state, spoke before 850 persons who paid $100 a plate for dinner, and 1,000 more who chipped in $5 each just to listen. He was flanked by Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Republican nominees for each other's present jobs.

Stevenson attracted 1,400 to a fund-raising rally scaled at $1, $3 and $5.

Nixon made several passing references to "orators in the other room," but did not mention Stevenson by name. Knight was more pointed. He described the "gentleman next door" as "some with holes in their shoes, some with holes in their heads." A Stevenson hole-in-the-shoe picture became a trademark of the two-time Democratic presidential candidate.

Stevenson didn't hesitate to needle Nixon. He started right off by saying he didn't know which Nixon was behind the wall—"the new or the old." He criticized President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for "suddenly changing their positions" on Formosa, but observed, "Our agile vice president won't have much trouble catching up."

Nixon, on his side, denied there was either any change of policy or weakening of the administration position. This statement referred to Dulles' proposal for reducing the size of Nationalist forces on Quemoy and Matsu in the event of a dependable cease-fire.

Early Registration For YMCA Courses Is Urged

Prompt registration of all persons interested in the adult education course at the local YMCA is being urged by leaders of the organization.

The courses start next week, and Bobo Hardy, YMCA secretary, suggested that anyone who wishes to participate would do well to register early. This will insure presentation of the various classes, he said.

Here are the courses to be offered:
Business men's volleyball — Meets Mondays and Wednesdays 5 p.m.-6:30 p.m. from September through May; YMCA membership required; Grover Cunningham Jr., leader.

Ladies Intermediate Bridge — Meets Thursdays 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Oct. 9-Dec. 4; fee $1 members, $5 non-members; Mrs. Elmo Wasson, instructor.

Beginners Evening Bridge — Basic course for men or women, singles or couples, meets Thursdays 8 p.m.-10 p.m., Oct. 9-Dec. 4; fee $1 members, $5 non-members; Mrs. Bob McEwen, instructor.

Flower Arrangement — Basic arrangement and design, meets Tuesdays 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Oct. 7-Nov. 11; no fee Y members, $3 non-members; Mrs. Obie Bristow and Mrs. J. R. Hensley, instructors.

Housewives Trim and Fit — Mild conditioning exercises Tuesdays through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., Oct. 28-Nov. 21 (16 classes); no fee Y members, $5 non-members; Mrs. Jean Eads, instructor. There will be a second course Nov. 25-Dec. 19.

Conversational Spanish — For beginners or as a refresher, meets Thursdays 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., Oct. 9-Dec. 4; fee $4 members, $6 non-members; Charles Cain, instructor.

Gas Thieves Caught — Two men, 19 and 20, were arrested at the VA Hospital Wednesday night for stealing gas from cars. They were fined $25 each on the charges.

Local Nazarene Church To Hold 'Week Of Witnessing'

Plans for the Big Spring Church of the Nazarene to take part in the denomination's goal of reaching one million people with a personal testimony and invitation during a "Week of Witnessing", Oct. 5-12, were announced today.

The Rev. W. M. Dorough, pastor, said the local church will endeavor to bring a "vital Christian witness" to at least 500 persons, or more than four times its membership.

The teachers and officers of the Sunday school will spearhead the week's activity. Kelly Mize is Sunday school superintendent and Earl Bohannon is secretary. Four-page folders in gold and black will be given out during the campaign. These bear the title: "You are one in a million!" The folder tells how Nazarenes around the world will be "witnessing to salvation through Christ" during the week. "We are doing this because we love Christ and are interested in you," the folder states. On the back is an invitation to the anniversary Sunday morning service Oct. 12.

Keep Out Of Sun; It Might Bake

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The motorship Caravel is en route to Honduras today with a mess sloshing about its hold.

The ship was loaded with shipments of pancake flour and pulp paper products Tuesday. After a welder worked on some fuel lines, a load of diesel oil was pumped aboard. It's not quite clear what happened, but the oil wound up in the hold with the flour and paper.

Capt. Ivan Jones deferred cleanup until the ship reached Honduras and set out across the Gulf with his cargo getting messier by the minute.

Yep, It Worked

DETROIT (AP) — Jaycee J. King, a bus driver, found a bullet on the floor of his bus and wondered if it would work. He tried it in a revolver he kept in his home. Doctors say Mrs. King will recover from a bullet wound in her cheek.

Economist Sees Long Inflation

DALLAS (AP) — A Southwestern economist predicts inflation will be with us for a long time.

In making this forecast, Dr. Arthur Smith, a vice president of the First National Bank in Dallas, also declared the Federal Reserve System will not be able to pursue its so-called tight money policy very far.

"An unbalanced federal budget is the source of the poison," he told the Dallas Real Estate Board yesterday.

The pressure of tremendous financing by the Treasury in the next six months to support the deficit budget will force the Federal Reserve to yield, he forecast.

"If the Fed does not yield on interest rates and continues its policy of tight money," Smith said, "then it's 'Katie bar the door' so far as interest rates are concerned."

"I refuse to believe that they'll let them go that high."
