Catholic Church Consigns Pope Pius XII To The Ages

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII was consigned to the ages Monday by the Roman Catholic Church he served as supreme pontiff for 19 troubled years.

A brilliant afternoon sun streamed through St. Peter's massive dome and cast a crown of light about the altar as the pontifical funeral began. An awed hush enveloped the religious and lay dignitaries present in the basilica, the world's largest church.

The deep-throated campanone, St. Peter's giant bell, tolled slowly and mournfully as the time for the funeral service came. In the immediate area of St. Peter's Square, life came to a standstill.

Under the great spiraling baldaquin above the altar of the confession, noble guards in plumed helmets stood at attention. Present were ambassadors in formal diplomatic uniforms, prelates in sash and members of religious orders.

Among them was the longtime faithful housekeeper for the pontiff, Sister Pasqualina.

The throne bearers who carried the pontiff in life slowly bore the body on their shoulders toward the altar. The face was waxen in death.

The ceremonies began precisely at 4 p. m. with a slow procession of the parish priests of Rome toward the Altar of the Confession.

SLOW MARCH
Behind them, in a slow funeral march, walked uniformed members of the papal household.

The dignitaries took up their positions in a great circle surrounding the catafalque which supported the body of Roman Catholicism's 26th pope.

The surplined choir of the Julian Chapel burst into the unaccompanied chorals of a "Miserere" which legend says was composed by King David.

Giant Swiss Guards in high-crowned helmets knelt reverently as the body passed, surrounded by a stately procession of medieval splendor.

There were no silver trumpets to accompany the choir now as there had been when in life the Pope entered the basilica.

The Pope's body was placed carefully alongside a cypress coffin in front of the altar.

Cardinals took up special places before the altar. They wore the deep purple of religious mourning. Msgr. Enrico Dante, prefect of Vatican ceremonies, based the rites on a Vatican manuscript written in 1829 and followed since that time.

Msgr. Acanisius van Lierde, the sacristan to Pope XII and vicar for Vatican City, conducted the services. He was appointed by the archbishop of St. Peter's Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, to bless the papal coffin.

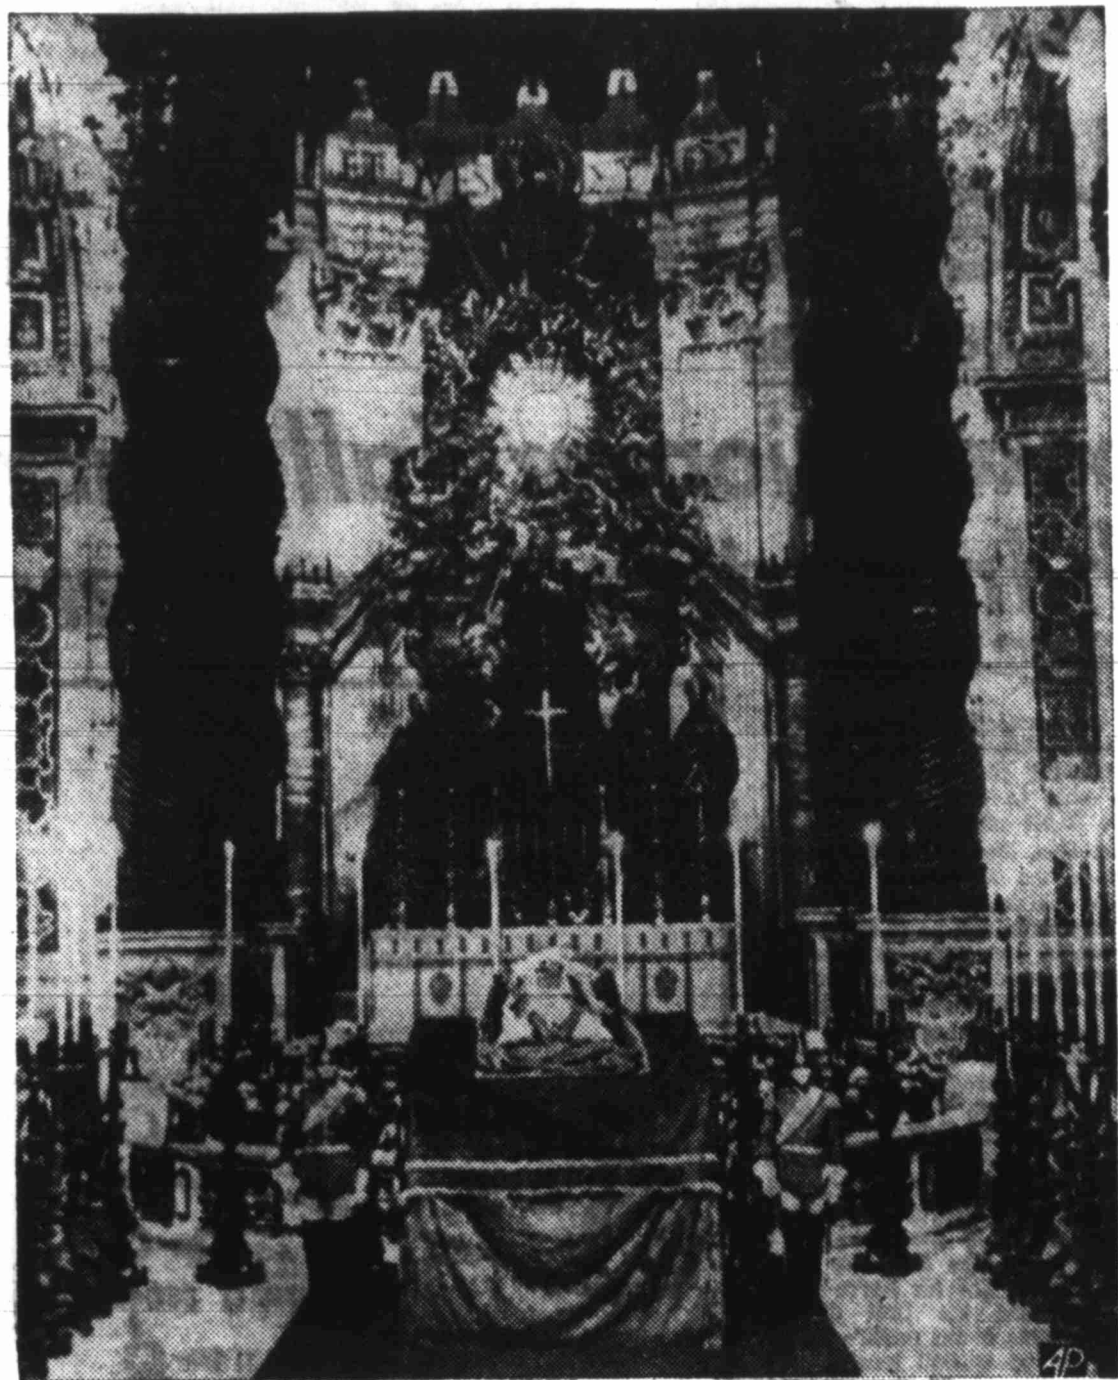

HOLY WATER
He wore a black surplice. Attendants removed a white mitre, and he began to chant the "Kyrie" before giving absolution to the remains. He sprinkled the bier slowly with holy water, and intoned in Latin: "And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil."

The celebrant then read a special "orems" (let us pray) reserved for papal masses. He read it from a book held before him by an attendant. The celebrant then pronounced the blessing over the coffin.

Three separate coffins, one of cypress, one of lead and one of oak were blessed as a thrice-bearer spread incense over the bier.

Now the body was wrapped in a red shroud and placed in the red-lined cypress coffin.

The choir again sang an ancient chant. The cardinals arose from their thrones. With Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, white-bearded dean of the college, at their head, they filed by the body. Each knelt and prayed before the coffin. Some of the white-haired princes of the church had to be assisted to their thrones. With Eugene Cardinal Spellman of New York appeared deeply grieved.

BLANKET OF RED
A blanket of red was drawn reverently over the Pope's body and a white scarf placed over his face by two of the cardinals. Over this was placed another red silk shroud, tenderly tucked about the body by the assistants.

The celebrant intoned the Pater Noster once again. In Latin he consigned the pontiff's remains to eternal rest.

The ords reverberated through the great basilica as he intoned: "We implore thee, O God, to have pity on this, thy servant."

While the celebrant prayed, the cardinals stood before their thrones, and the entire congregation bowed. The choir responded with a deep "amen" to the liturgy of the celebrant.

Msgr. Nicolò Metta, chosen to read in Latin the accomplishments of the pontiff's reign. This script, placed afterward in a brass tube in the coffin, recalled the time when the pontiff was apostolic nuncio to Germany, his appointment as cardinal and Vatican secretary of state under Pope Pius XI, and his election as Pope. It then dwelt on outstanding events of the pontiff's reign as sovereign of the church.

Msgr. Antonio Bacchi, the Vatican's secretary of letters to princes, read the eulogy. He recalled the frightening days of war and ruin and the "ray of light" Pius' election as Pope had brought to a frightened Catholic world.

FORCE FOR PEACE
"While humanity was torn by hate and vendetta," said the eulogy, "and while almost everywhere reigned discord because in the souls of most there was no more divine charity, while flourishing cities were being destroyed and vital youth was being massacred in a fratricidal crime, only one man, from the Vatican, for peace, urged everybody to love, to harmony and to true peace. . . .

"All of Pius XII's life was aimed at healing souls wounded by hate, at destroying errors, and at illuminating minds with evangelical truth. . . . With his death one great light has been put out on earth, and a new star is brightening the skies."

Several cardinals wiped away tears.

The eulogy ended, the scroll and eulogy text were placed in the inner coffin of cypress, and it was sealed by members of the papal household.

The cypress coffin then was placed inside the leaden one, and the leaden coffin inside the third of oak with the great bell of St. Peter's.

The Vatican described as a provisional tomb, with a marble marker giving only the Pope's name and the years of his pontificate. He was the 144th pontiff to be buried in the crypts beneath St. Peter's.

Fire Losses Show Decline In September

The city's fire loss record dropped to the second lowest total of the year during September with the insured loss being $502.84.

This compares with the $7,524.84 for August, and it raised the year's aggregate to $57,834.43. During the same time last year, the fire loss was only $33,830.37. During September of 1957, the loss was $1,073.30.

The fire loss last month was the lowest of the year with the exception of January when only $177.40 went up in smoke.

C. P. Ward, 707 E. 12th, sustained $275 in damage to a residence on Sept. 8, and $144.65 was lost by L. M. Brooks at 205 Runnels on Sept. 2.

Twenty-three calls were made by the fire department during the month in addition to a false alarm. Six of the fires developed from faulty electricity, and four came from burning trash. Three were started with stoves, and one each by an air conditioner, children playing with matches, a brake lining, gasoline, grease, a car flooding, smoking, a transformer, car carburetor, and a burning car.

HUGHES RENEWS COMPLAINT ON ROAD EMPLOYE
P. O. Hughes, county commissioner, told his fellow commissioners Monday morning that he had been getting many complaints from constituents in his precinct relative to the work done by Robert Brown, county road and bridge maintenance worker.

He said he wanted something done to "get this trouble off my neck." He added that he felt the maintenance man is not entitled to special pay, which he said he is receiving, and recommended a cut in his salary.

"Get him out of my precinct," said Hughes "that's all I want."

Hughes had made a motion last week at a special meeting that Brown be fired. This was ruled out of order and the matter continued to this morning.

Walter Parks, county engineer, whose authority it is to hire and fire county road employees, was in the court today.

Earl Hull, another commissioner, said he had heard complaints on the attitude of the man under question and recommended that the engineer take steps to correct his attitude. Red Gilliam endorsed Hull's views and Hudson Landers said that the need for better cooperation between road workers and the residents was vital. No definite action had been taken on the matter at 11:30.

Women Still Out At Church Meeting
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Women still are on the outside looking in today at the Episcopal general convention.

But they're taking it in stride. And they've got some stalwart champions—even in the menfolk.

At this two-week convocation of Episcopalians, now in its second week, the women are barred from church legislative bodies—and always have been.

But they've got their own big affair—the triennial meeting of the Women's Auxiliary—with about 1,000 women taking part in daily talks and teas.

For years, there's been a running battle to get the women a seat in the governing chambers. The old try has come up again this time, with the usual negative results. But some of the men demonstrated their gallantry.

"I think the women who contribute all the time and effort and money they do should have the right to sit in this house," argued the Rev. Dr. Don Frank Fenn of Baltimore, Md.

Just to show how right he was, at least about the money, the women held their annual "United Thanks Offering" for foreign missions—and chipped in a record-breaking $3,369,985. This is $660,000 more than was ever given before on the occasion.

The Rev. Donald Henning, Memphis, Tenn., offered a resolution of appreciation.

But the women said money isn't all that counts.

"There are differences between men and women," said J. L. McFadden, Beaumont, Tex. "The Savior of us all who gave women a mother instinct to protect their children did not want them to do all the things men do."

The Very Rev. Charles A. Higgins, Little Rock, Ark., said: "Every diocese should have the opportunity to choose deputies on a basis of ability. They should not be restricted as to sex."

But the measure was defeated with lay deputies against it 2-1 and clergymen opposing it 4-5-3. The House is made up equally of clergymen and laymen, voting by orders.

Large Volume Of Oil Reported For Garza County Prospector

A wildcat in Garza County, the Sinclair-Shell No. 1 Stoker, about five miles east of Post, has encountered large quantities of oil in the Ellenburger, and operator plans to take potential.

In Borden, the Hudson & Hudson No. 1 Clayton has been completed from the Strawn after being previously finished from the Ellenburger in the Dunigan field.

The Garza wildcat took two drillstem tests and found large quantities of gas, oil and only a trace of water.

In Martin, the Humble No. 1 McKaskle wildcat is plugging back to try the Pennsylvania after finding the Ellenburger barren.

'Bernadette' On Tonight
By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — "Bernadette," a drama based on the French peasant girl who had a mystical experience at Lourdes just 100 years ago, will be presented tonight (Monday, 10 p. m. EDT) by Desilu Playhouse (CBS-TV).

A preview of the show last week revealed it as a fine vehicle for the talents of Pier Angeli. As Bernadette Soubirous, a frail, impoverished, devout girl who repeatedly sees a vision of a "lady in white" in a grove near her home, Miss Angeli gives a memorable performance.

To a great degree one's enjoyment of "Bernadette" depends on the nature of one's own religious beliefs.

The drama develops the atmosphere of poverty and despair in the village at the foot of the Pyrenees where Bernadette had her remarkable vision and confronted the skepticism of his church and state. It reaches its climax when Bernadette uncovers a spring with healing properties.

Strikes Keep Brakes On GM
DETROIT (AP)—More than 100 continuing General Motors local strikes kept a brake on new 1959 car production today.

With GM, largest of the car makers, producing few cars, the industry's Big Three remained at subpar over-all performance despite national contract agreements with the United Auto Workers.

Two local-level agreements returned about 8,000 General Motors employees to the job over the weekend.

But with only about 44,000 of its 275,000 production workers available, GM stayed down insofar as production was concerned. Only 16 of the 126 plants in the GM nationwide operation were active.

Chrysler's situation eased with settlement of walkouts in Detroit and Evansville, Ind., affecting more than 9,000 men. However, there were still approximately 8,500 idle in Detroit and at the key stamping plant in Twinsburg, Ohio.

Only Ford was without a strike to interfere with new car production.

Teacher Training Class Will Meet Earlier Tuesday
The teacher training class of the Child Evangelism Fellowship will meet at 7:30 Tuesday rather than at 8 p. m. as in the past.

Reason for this is to give an extra half hour for the teaching of the textbook, "Teacher's Introductory Bible Studies." This is required training for Good News Club leaders. Others who desire the flannel-graph teaching, but do not wish to take the textbook, need not come until 8 o'clock. The class meets at the Child Evangelism Headquarters, 608 Runnels, on Tuesday evening of each week. It is open to any who desire help in visualized Bible teaching.

A new Good News Club was started this past week, at 10 a. m. on Saturday, in the home of Mrs. K. C. Harrison, 1102 1/2 E. 5th St. Children in the neighborhood are invited to attend each Saturday.

Hungarians Held On Theft Charges
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two years ago they were battling the Russians in the Hungarian revolt. Today the three young Freedom Fighters are in jail, suspected of stealing $30,000 worth of loot.

Csaba Toth, 24, Andrew Sarossy, 20, and Frank Kertez, 19, were arrested Sunday breaking into a clothing store. Police said they had found $20,000 worth of stolen goods in the refugees' home.

In broken English, Sarossy told how the trio's pursuit of the American dream had fundered on the installment plan during the 17 months since they entered the country.

"We couldn't make the payments on a car and our furniture," he said, "I wanted money to go to school. I wanted to get an education at any price."

All three had jobs, Sarossy said, but found it impossible to keep up with payments of $110 a month for furniture in the comfortable house they share in suburban Glendale. He also needed money to enroll as a cinema student at the University of Southern California, he said.

Officers said the three had confessed stealing more than $30,000 worth of objects from jewelry, camera, and clothing stores. The remains of 15 pay telephones which had been ripped off and broken open were found on a hill behind their home.

All were booked on suspicion of burglary.

A Bible Thought For Today

The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. (2 Peter 3:9)

Let's Welcome The 331st Families

A week hence the community will make a gesture toward recognizing members of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron in Big Spring. They have been given an official greeting and their arrival has been formally recognized, but Big Spring has hardly had the chance to give it that warm, personal touch.

This is what the get-together next week is designed to accomplish. Out in this country there is a feeling that you have to sit down and visit people to really get to know them. There is a feeling, too, that every element of the military is just as much a part of the community as the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker.

Naturally, we want this to be as big and as successful a party as possible. Since the 331st families will be our guests, business and professional people are being asked to purchase tickets which will take care of their guests as well as themselves.

As Chamber of Commerce representatives make the contact, we hope there will be a ready and warm response. This is the sort of thing that we should look forward to because it gives us an opportunity to tell our new citizens how glad we are to have them.

Air Arm Still Indispensable

The United States has hurled a missile far into the outer reaches of space, but scientists tracking the rocket say it will stray far wide of its mark—the moon.

There was another unsuccessful effort to launch a missile at Cape Canaveral Thursday night, this one a tactical version of the Army's mighty Jupiter intermediate-range ballistic missile, which rose crazily into the sky and had to be destroyed by remote control after only a half a minute.

These frequent mishaps with missiles of various kinds and sizes need not discourage the American public, or necessarily reflect on the skill and competence of the men who build and service them.

Or, for that matter, to cause loss of faith in the eventual triumph of man over the complex and delicately adjusted instrument of war ever conceived.

We are in the painful stage of development, and out of failure will come perfection.

However, the difficulties surrounding these experiments, and the time lapse involved, does point up the absolute necessity of keeping our conventional military weaponry up to snuff.

That goes double for the Air Force and its Strategic Air Command and its Air Defense Command. Any notion that they will be outmoded by long-range missiles within five years, or even within ten years, should be put aside, and the continuing failure with various types of guided missiles at Cape Canaveral underscores the absolute necessity of maintaining SAC at a high degree of efficiency and effectiveness.

For the moment, and for all anybody can say with certainty, for the foreseeable future, our air arm is our greatest—and indeed our only—deterrent to attack by Soviet Russia.

Alice In The Pentagon Wonderland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Alice in Wonderland quality sometimes evident in U.S. relations with Red China often finds expression in public statements by admirals and generals.

There is at times the impression that the State Department and the Pentagon are pursuing different policies.

Secretary of State Dulles and Acting Secretary of Defense Quarles have taken steps to erase any such impression from the minds of the people who work under them.

Quarles told a news conference last Thursday: "In tense times such as these, almost any statement regarding the military situation has political overtones, and frequently overtones that might not be realized on the other side of the Pacific. We are asking people to be very careful about comments about the military situation that could take on political implications."

Similar instructions have been sent out by Dulles.

Quarles' comment came two days after the U.S. Pacific air commander, Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, credited Nationalist air victories and U.S. blockade-running for Red China's cease-fire offer in the Formosa Strait.

Kuter's statement, in a Tokyo interview, upset top officials at the State Department. It was not the first time that a top military man on the scene had spoken out about matters in the current China crisis which U.S. diplomats were trying to handle with kid gloves.

Kuter's statement was particularly unwelcome at the State Department because it came after Red China's cease-fire. Department officials wondered if it might bring the whole delicate structure of a modus vivendi—some way to get along with Peiping—crashing about their ears.

Dulles' main goal, ever since the Red Chinese started shooting at the Nationalists' offshore islands on Aug. 23, has been to stop the shooting. Whether the Reds stopped for humanitarian reasons, as Peiping claimed, or because they were failing, as Kuter says, or to negotiate a settlement, as Dulles offered, was beside the point, so far as the State Department is concerned. The point was they had stopped.

"Face" is important to all peoples, but especially to the Chinese. If the Reds were looking for an excuse to call off all bets and resume raising a ruckus, statements questioning their motives or implying weakness might provide that excuse.

Red China's main goal now appears not so much to conquer the Nationalist coastal islands and headquarters on Formosa as to remove the American presence from the Formosa area.

"We are all Chinese," the Communists now say. And they are ready to exploit any possible justification for their propaganda cry that "America is the common enemy."

Ages Of Using The Telephone

NEW YORK (AP)—People, especially female people, pass through fascinating attitudes toward the telephone.

To an infant learning to use her fingers, the telephone is an object of curiosity, especially the holes in the dial ring. To the baby learning to walk and reach up, the phone is an enticing target to be pulled down with a crash. To a healthy girl of 10 or 11, the phone is a fine instrument of torture.

At this age, they call people with the oddest names in the directory to tease them. Or they call their school teacher, wait until she says hello several times before they giggle and hang up.

But it is in the teens that a girl develops a passion for the phone from which she never recovers.

At this age, as every rattled father knows, using the phone involves three basic ground rules. You never talk 10 minutes when you can talk 45. You must talk with your head down, knees or legs up, and the blood rushing to your head. Regardless of text, you must always, but always, talk in absolute, fool-proof, spy-proof, younger-sister-proof secrecy.

Thus when phoning a girl friend you saw only 20 minutes ago, you must drag the phone into the closet or bathroom and bolt the door.

You whisper to the party of the second part: "Guess what?" Then pause. This is the signal for the other girl to bolt her doors and windows and set up a maximum security watch. Finally, she asks, "What?" and you say in hushed, sepulchral tones: "I saw him today."

Here, at least a full moment of silence must follow until the message sinks in, down to the last red and white corpuscle of both parties. Then, 30 minutes later, the situation becomes clearer. It turns out that she did see HIM but while HE may not have actually seen her, any reasonable person, given a knowledge of the wind direction, of the speed of sound and the force of osmosis, could safely assume that HE must have been aware of her presence.

For most of eternity, teen-age girls talk to each other. But every now and then, like an awesome clap of thunder, HE calls. Inevitably, younger sister answers. Younger sister races hysterically up the stairs, screaming HE is on the phone. Older sister quickly composes herself. She wants to know why all the shouting. She is blasé. She is detached. She is so indifferent and casual getting to the phone she falls down the stairs.

Younger sister races through the house, screaming: "He's going to ask her to marry him (at age 15)! I think they're too young. I think they ought to be annihilated!"

Older sister asks casually into the phone, who's calling. It is told, as she asks as though she can't place the name. They talk. She is so light and matter of fact. Then it turns out all he wanted was the algebra assignment for tomorrow.

Older sister races upstairs, bolts doors, weeps, plans glamorous suicide. Eight minutes later she is fully recovered and back on the phone, talking to her girl friend today.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—It may never catch on as a deer-hunting tactic but John Scott, poultry farmer near Lincoln, captured a full grown mule deer with a larrikin.

After lassoing the animal which had wandered onto his farm, Scott and a companion threw the deer to the ground and tied it up in the manner of a calf ready for branding. In short order, the deer became the newest addition to a Lincoln zoo.

Determined

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP)—The U. S. Marines made a special effort to get Stephen Elsing into the corps.

He passed the written examination but a physical checkup showed the 18-year-old had a serious lung disorder. He was sent home with advice that an operation was necessary.

The operation was arranged but Elsing needed five pints of blood. Marine recruiters at Louisville, 200 miles away, soon had the situation well in hand. Five donated a pint each.

Elsing will be sworn in soon.

Around The Rim

How Do You Know Where You're Going?

I've always admired the fellows who can take a carpenter's square and sail the ocean with it.

Of course, I can do the same thing, but there's no telling where I'd land. Likely as not, if I were heading for Ireland from New York harbor, I'd wind up on the sands of Walkiki. With the carpenter's square nailed to the bottom of the boat to keep out the water, no doubt.

How do they do it, those navigators who can look through a sextant and tell you you're two days off Nantucket? I peer through a sextant's glass and expect to see slide movies of Niagara's splendor.

And with a carpenter's square, I can't even draw a square.

Granted, I can find my way on land but the sea is another matter. Water, water everywhere and no oak tree beside the lane to assure you're on the right track, nor a friendly store keeper to tell you you should have turned at the second intersection back. Besides, the sun goes down too often at sea.

Celestial navigation. Now that's a subject to master. It's all Greek to a guy who swears the sun goes down in the southeast part of the heavens when I get half a hundred miles from home. If I charted my course by Venus, chances are I'd wind up on Mars.

I tried to row across a lake in a canoe one time, with the destination in plain sight, and wound up with the canoe in portage, walking almost as far as the straight passage would have measured.

I can sympathize with a guy like Columbus, who left Spain seeking a North-west passage to India, then went ashore on the western side of Puerto Rico. If it had been in that era, they'd have had to equip me with a good pair of hiking boots and a parka hood.

I read an article recently about two worthy gentlemen who maneuvered across the ocean in a row boat for a prize of several thousand quid. All I've got to say is that they must have carried along plenty of grog. I still think they got out and walked part of the way.

Of course, I can understand why there might be more incentive to try the trick in this day and time. Just think, you might get on Ed Sullivan's show.

Ladies Invade The House Of Lords

LONDON—The mother of parliaments in her time has withstood horrendous onslaughts both from within and without. But on Oct. 21 and 22 and again on Oct. 28, the House of Lords faces the most ghastly prospect in its long and distinguished history.

On those dates, this last stronghold of masculinity, even as the saloon and the barber shop, goes co-ed. On those days, four lady peers will take their seats as rightful members of the House of Lords.

"And I think their lordships detest it and us!" one of the four precedent-making-and-breaking lady peers said cheerfully today in her London town house.

(Note: By law, the quartet, though extremely feminine, are "peers," not peeresses. At least, their lordships were spared that!)

"But we shall all have to make the best of it," continued Baroness Ravensdale, who once described the house which she will soon decorate as "a drowsy lot of flies in a very hot room."

For Lady Ravensdale, 63, granddaughter of the famous American merchant prince, L. Z. Leiter of Washington, D. C., a seat in the House of Lords is the crown of a lifetime of battling for women's rights. As a peeress in her own right (there are only a handful of them), she has long fought for the admission of women to the House of Lords.

"I just don't go and sit down in the House of Lords, my dear," she explained. "There's a lot more to it than that. On Oct. 21 and 22, the four women created life peers last summer and given a seat in the House of Lords will enter, two on one day, two on the next."

"I'm pushed through at 2:30 p.m. on Oct. 22 when I must appear in parliamentary robes to be introduced to the lords by two peers of rank equal to mine. I have chosen two old friends, Lord Birdwood and Lord Colyton."

"Now parliamentary robes are not the same as coronation robes. No, the latter won't do at all. So either I have to buy new ones or rent them. Oh, yes, they're easy to rent. But the trouble is, by the time they're taken up in the seams and the hem, they don't fit. Still, new ones are expensive.

"What do I wear underneath? Nothing glamorous, as with coronation robes. Just a plain black street dress, the kind I'll wear when I am attending the House of Lords when it is in ordinary session. No tiara, no diamonds, no glitter."

"First, I rehearse that morning with the garter king of arms. And then when it's the real thing, Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Horrocks, the gentleman usher of the Black Rod, takes in this battered peer with her two sponsoring peers. They will accompany me as I solemnly walk around the House of Lords, bowing the requisite number of times."

"Then I hand my patent (of title) to the lord high chancellor, and I am handed a placard with what you in America would call the oath of office printed on it. And I do hope the card is very large with huge print, for I can't read a word without my glasses."

"And when I've done all this, I must walk out, remembering to bow to my lords spiritual, the bishops. Then, I'm a member of the House of Lords, a life peer."

"So, for the first time in my life, I can go on my own to the opening of Parliament on Oct. 28, when Her Majesty makes her address from the throne. But, again, I shall have to wear my parliamentary robes, red moire or satin—I forget which—and not my coronation robes as do the other peeresses, who accompany their husbands. No glamour, no tiara, no diamonds for me! The little black dress again."

"We four are just the beginning. There are bound to be more lady peers, and their lordships already are stricken with horror!"

"Ah, well, I am determined to use caution and discretion and remember that silence is golden—in the beginning."

No use, so to say, scaring their lordships to death in the first inning!

The Gallup Poll

Labor Solidly In Democratic Fold

PRINCETON, N. J. —After another "flirtation" with the Republican party in the 1956 presidential election, union labor is once more solidly entrenched in its traditional Democratic camp.

Both in 1952 and in 1956, President Eisenhower made a sizable dent in the historically Democratic rank-and-file of union labor—he polled 39 per cent of their vote in 1952, 43 per cent in 1956.

But today, as they did in 1954, union member families across the country have "returned to the fold" and show the following preferences in the Congressional race:

VOTE FOR CONGRESS
Union Member Families

	Today 1954	Per cent
Democratic	72	73
Republican	28	27

Considering all manual workers of the country—including both union and non-union members—the vote today is somewhat more Republican than among just union members. Manual workers, however, are heavily Democratic (66 per cent) in their Congressional preference.

It should be pointed out that the shift on the part of many union members to the GOP Presidential ticket in 1952 and 1956 was not so much a change in basic party allegiance as it was a "vote for the man" heading the Republican ticket.

The shift back to the Democrats following each of the two sizable defections would indicate, therefore, that the GOP has done little to convince labor union workers that the Republican party has their best interests at heart.

Accompanying this shift by union labor is a trend to the Democrats in all other major occupation groups in the nation.

Perhaps the most startling of all is the shift recorded among white-collar workers.

In 1952 and in 1956, this group gave six out of ten votes to the GOP presidential candidate. In 1954, a slim majority voted for Republican congressional candidates.

Today, the congressional preferences of white-collar workers are as follows:

VOTE FOR CONGRESS
White-Collar Workers

	Today 1954	Per cent
Democratic	60	48
Republican	40	52

Perhaps equally as startling is the shift to the Democrats recorded among professional and business people of the country.

In years past, this group was as staunchly Republican as any in the nation. In the last off-year election, six out of ten persons in the business and professional category voted for GOP candidates.

The vote today, however, shows the Democrats with an equal number of followers to the Republicans in this group:

VOTE FOR CONGRESS
Business & Professional

	Today 1954	Per cent
Democratic	49	39
Republican	51	61

Despite rising farm prices during the last few months, for the first time under the Eisenhower administration a majority of farmers prefer the Democrats today.

Here is how farmers across the country line up in their preferences today:

VOTE FOR CONGRESS
Farmers

	Today 1954	Per cent
Democratic	54	44
Republican	46	56

This is the vote of the nation's farmers, thereby including many Southern farmers who are traditionally Democratic.

But even among farmers in the historically Republican Midwest, a strong shift to the Democrats is recorded — from 40 per cent who voted Democratic in 1954 to 48 per cent preferring the Democrats today.

What They Mean By 'Service'

Relace Jones, operator of the Jones Humble Service Station at 4th and Scurry, was caught in a familiar stance by Herald Photographer Keith McMillin. Windshield polishing is just one of the Bank Provides Many Services

There is more than security in Security State Bank.

Security is the first word in the organization, but that word and what it means is just one of the many that make up the structure of the bank at 15th and Gregg. Among the others: courtesy, convenience, and versatility.

You are assured that your money is secure at Security State. It is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Also with a safety deposit box, you can forget about losing or having those valuable papers stolen.

The word is getting around Big Spring at a fast clip about the courtesy and smiling service offered at Security State. You will be overcome with the courteous service offered you as either a new customer, a stranger, or one of their regular customers.

That courtesy extends whether you are being served inside the building or are using one of the drive-in windows. This brings up the convenience which comes with the drive-in window located on the north side of the Security State Bank.

You can quickly stop by to handle your banking chores while on the way to work without having to get out of your car. If you have business which necessitates going into the building, you don't have to hunt a parking place or get change for a parking meter. The bank has ample parking space on the south, west, and east sides of the building.

The bank also has a wide range of banking services to offer you in addition to regular deposit accounts. Check with them today and they can probably handle your needs.

S. M. Smith Installs Home Butane Plants

Winter's winds and the cold temperatures that invariably accompany them are just ahead for West Texas.

Rural residents, and those individuals who live near the city and are not serviced with natural gas, can best prepare for them by installing home butane plants.

A local concern which specializes in such a business is the S. M. Smith Butane Company, which maintains its office on the Lamesa highway just inside the city limits.

Butane can be a tremendous servant around the farm. It proves especially popular with users, because farm vehicles can be converted to its use. It can heat homes, cook meals, warm water and serves countless other needs.

Many household appliances now are built with special features for the use of butane. Ask about them at the S. M. Smith company.

Fuel systems of any size can be purchased at the local establishment and subscribers can have them serviced regularly and expertly by the S. M. Smith employees.

Farmers who convert their pickup trucks and tractors to the use of butane will discover the vehicles not only drive more economically but with greater safety, as well. Vehicles powered by butane also give the owner longer service, too.

The famous Rheem Wedgewood Select-O-Matic kitchen range is especially adaptable to the use of butane. It is popular in the modern farm home because it is lovely to look at, easier to care for, perfect for cooking and economical to buy.

DEAR ABBY: Some relatives of my husband just came back from Europe where they took 6,500 feet of film and 200 colored slides.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since my best friend died 4 years ago I have been begging his widow to marry me.

DEAR ABBY: When that woman wrote to you saying her clergyman told her to give her husband another chance after he'd beaten her up a couple of times, I don't think you had any business telling her "the clergyman didn't have to live with him."

DEAR ABBY: I spent my vacation at a summer resort. I was interested in learning how to ride horseback, so I got a guide to take me out.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

WITH TOMMY HART

Werner von Braun, the internationally known rocket expert, has a friend on the coaching staff at El Paso Austin, which sends its football team here Friday night for an outing with the Steers.

Carey King, a jackrabbit sophomore back with the local football team, has been loaned to the club for the season due to an arm injury.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, in its war against professional baseball, has released statistics proving that 81 per cent of the freshmen who sign pro diamond contracts never return to their books.

On the other hand, only five per cent of their ranks ever reach the big leagues.

Carl Coleman, head football coach here several years ago, says if he had it all to do over again, he'd have moved Froxy Robinson from halfback to fullback on his 1954 Steer club.

That was the team that tied Breckenridge for the District 3-AAA title and yielded the right to the Bucs to represent the conference in the state playoffs.

Coleman says football is not unlike baseball in that a strong team has to have its strength 'down the middle.'

Whereas the ideal baseball team has good catching, pitching, a second base combination and a center fielder, a football team should have a standout center, quarterback and fullback.

Florida A & M University, which gave the famed Willie Galtmore to the Chicago Bears and professional football, is usually referred to as a small school.

It is far from that. Fact is, it is one of the largest Negro colleges in the country.

"Possession" football doesn't always pay off. Nebraska had the ball only 49 plays in its recent game against Penn State, compared to the opposition's 83, yet won a 14-7 decision.

A thousand stories have been told about State Rep. Obie Bristow, who used to coach football at Big Spring High School. Here is one more.

When Obie was at the helm, the team used to practice and play its games in a stadium located immediately north of what is now Bauer Elementary school on the north side.

While traveling over the viaduct for practice one afternoon, one of a huge crowd of hobos which had set up temporary headquarters near the railroad tracks yelled up to the riders and asked where they might be going.

Bristow replied for his charges and told of their mission. A challenge to a scrimmage was issued and promptly accepted.

About a half hour later, an estimated 20 of the vagabonds showed up at the stadium, were issued some equipment and proceeded to engage in a spirited workout with the Steers.

The hobo team was not without talent, either. The incident occurred during the dark days of the depression and more than one of the "knights of the road" had had experience as a college griddler.

Two Baylor Boys Assume Lead In Statistical War

Larry Hickman and Buddy Humphrey of Baylor and Jim Monroe of Arkansas took over the top positions in a near sweep of first places in Southwest Conference football statistics last week.

Hickman, the big Bear fullback, roamed for 92 yards against Duke and it gave him the lead in ball-carrying, displacing Jack Spikes of Texas Christian. Hickman has 263 yards on 56 runs. Spikes, who made only 23 yards against Texas Tech, has 208 on 47.

Humphrey surged into first place in passing with Dan Meredith of Southern Methodist idle because of an injury. Humphrey lunged for 55 yards against Duke and it brought his total for the season to 358. He doesn't lead in yards but in completions with 35 out of 67 tries. Meredith has connected on 29 in 40 throws for 313 yards.

The most prolific yard gainer is Monroe, the Arkansas quarterback, who passed for 117 against Rice and brought his total to 364 for the season. That added to 13 rushing yards he led in total offense, replacing Meredith. Monroe's 277 yards were compiled

Lamesa football players show good pursuit of Big Spring's Benny McCrary (with ball) in the above picture, after Benny had caught a pass from Bill French (15) in the Tornado-Steer football game played here last Friday night. No. 22 is Ronnie Reeves, Lamesa. Immediately behind him is Bill McCulloch (75). The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

247,391 Mob Parks To Watch The Pros

Give Johnny Unitas a football and he'll toss it for a touchdown. Give Jimmy Brown the pigskin and he'll lug it across the goal. Give football fans spectacular play and they'll storm the parks.

And that's virtually the story of three weeks play in the National Football League. Unitas and Brown have led the Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns, respectively, to the top position in the Eastern and Western conferences. The two teams are the only undefeated clubs in the league, both with 3-0 records.

Unitas, who three years ago was quarterbacking for a semipro eleven, threw his seventh touchdown pass of the season Sunday, bringing the Colts from behind, for a 24-17 victory over Green Bay.

Brown, the league's leading ground gainer in 1957, scored three touchdowns, bringing his season's output to eight as the Browns outlasted Chicago's Cardinals 35-28.

In all, 247,391 fans paid to see the six games on Sunday's schedule, an average of 41,000 a game.

Los Angeles knocked defending champion but still winless Detroit virtually out of title contention with a 42-28 setback. In other games, newly acquired Bobby Layne led Pittsburgh to a 24-3 over Philadelphia. New York edged Washington 21-14 and Chicago's Bears throttled San Francisco 28-8.

Trailing by 17 points, the Colts started back in the second quarter with Unitas bucking over from the one. He passed 54 yards to Jim Mutscheller in the third quarter to bring Baltimore within range of the packers, now 0-2-1.

After a Steve Myhra field goal tied it, Andy Nelson galloped 52 yards with an interception with 2:12 left for the victory.

Brown was aided by rookie Bob Mitchell, who dashed 63 yards for one score and set up another with a 52-yard jaunt. The Browns never were behind but never out of danger as quarterback M. C. Reynolds and halfback John Crow brought the Cards close by combining for two last-quarter TDs.

Returning from the 1957-58 squad are seven lettermen and two non-lettermen. Bolstering the squad will be five junior college transfers.

Key players will be 6-foot-4 sophomore Bill Price, sidelined by scholastic difficulties at mid-year last season, and long-shot artist Charles Clark, a 6-foot-2 senior, from Big Spring, Texas. Price plays the high-post position in Askew's pattern offense and is adept at hook shots with either hand. Clark's outside shooting is a constant threat to the defense.

Returning lettermen, all well-seasoned, include Clark, guard Roy Clymer, a 5-9 senior from Drumright, Okla.; forward Jim Davis, a 6-3 senior from Clovis, N. M.; guard Jim Oliver, a speedy 5-9 junior from Friona, Tex.; guard Presley Askew Jr., a 5-11 senior; and forward Bob Kelly, a 6-3 sophomore from Carlsbad, N. M.

Returning non-lettermen are Price, Lee Bowen, 6-4 junior forward from Albuquerque; Terry Washburn, 6-4 sophomore forward from Frederick, Okla.; and Ronnie Shoemaker, 6 foot sophomore speedster from Fort Sumner, N. M.

Junior college transfers strengthening the nucleus of turneers are Stanley Parks, 6-6 sophomore from Austin, Tex., a playmaker from Cisco Junior College; Culbert Williams, 6-4 sophomore from the same junior college and same hometown; Addison Canady, 6-5 sophomore from Fairfield, Tex., and Santa Barbara Junior College; Gerald Robinson, 6-3, from Kerrville, Tex., and Schreiner Institute; and Tom Stuart, 6-5, of Coe, Tex., also from Schreiner Institute.

Also new for New Mexico A&M this year will be use of the new Las Cruces High School gymnasium for playing all Aggie home basketball games. The modern new structure with more than 5,000 seats will be used in preference to the 2,000-seat Williams Gymnasium on the Aggie campus.

Will Tebbetts Give F. Haney A Free Hand?

By CHUCK CAPALDO Associated Press Writer MILWAUKEE (AP)—There may be more than meets the eye to Saturday's brisk pen and ink business by the Milwaukee Braves.

The hiring of Birdie Tebbetts, resigned manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, as executive vice president and the rehiring of Fred Haney as field manager should keep the hot stove flaring over the winter ahead.

The biggest area of speculation is whether Tebbetts will tend to his front office business and give Haney a free hand with the plays and players.

Then there is the fact that while they were opposing managers there apparently was no love lost between the two men.

Then, too, there is the question of John Quinn's status as general manager. Does the arrival of Tebbetts weaken Quinn's position?

And, lastly, why the seeming doubletalk about the salary terms of Haney's new, one-year pact? Did he get a raise or didn't he?

Haney gave a hint as to how he feels about point No. 1, his relations with Tebbetts, when after signing he said:

"I was told that Tebbetts would work only in the front office and would have nothing to do with the way I run the ball club."

The little skipper felt obliged to get assurances that Birdie wouldn't interfere with him before he affixed his name to his fourth Braves' contract.

Tebbetts, who at 46 is 14 years younger than Haney, has been quick to declare he has no further interest in the managerial end of baseball. "I definitely will never manage again," he said Saturday in Washington.

Birdie probably means what he says—now—but the fact is that his experience to date primarily has been managing, not front office work.

Tebbetts also said Saturday that he and Haney have always been good friends and, "I don't know how stories (of a rift) got started." He added, "I'm also an admirer of John Quinn. He can help me a lot on this job."

In the official announcement of Haney's signing, the club said he was "happy with the terms of the contract."

To one caller who asked whether he had received a raise, Haney answered an emphatic, "No." To a second he said that by "no" he meant no comment, that it was "nobody's business." To a third he said, "What difference does it make?"

Mays' Team Wins In 6 To 2 Romp

NEW YORK (AP)—The Big Town got its first look at long-time favorite Willie Mays in more than a year Sunday and found Say-Hey little changed from a season in San Francisco.

The occasion was an exhibition game at Yankee Stadium matching Mays' National League All-Stars with an American League team. The Yankees' Mickey Mantle.

It was no contest, with Mays and Richie Ashburn of the Phillies combining for seven hits in a 6-2 romp. The crowd was announced as 121,129.

Mays, runnerup to Ashburn in the NL batting race this season, had a triple and three singles in the attack while Ashburn went 3-for-4 and scored four runs. Each stole a base while the National League's hot hitting behind the combined four-hit pitching of Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, Los Angeles' Johnny Podres and Philadelphia's Dick Farrell.

Whitely Ford of the Yanks, and Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan of the White Sox pitched for Mantle's club.

Is OU Dynasty Near An End In Collegiate Football?

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS (AP)—Is the glamorous winning era of Bud Wilkinson at an end? Was Texas' 15-14 upset of Oklahoma Saturday the downward start to an average place in college football for the erstwhile Big Red?

No one will say, but there are plenty who conclude this wasn't the great Oklahoma that won 50 games out of 51, had the all-time record streak of 47 straight, held No. 1 in the nation twice.

This Oklahoma team had a weakness against passes, something no one could remember before.

It remained for a man who once played quarterback at Oklahoma under Wilkinson to exploit this weakness for his greatest victory. He was Darrell Royal, who came to Texas last year charged with the task of picking up Longhorn fortunes and specifically with beating Oklahoma, one of the things that cost Coach Ed Price his job when he failed to do it in six years.

Royal brought to Dallas Saturday a team lacking experience, one that wasn't supposed to be nearly so good as the Longhorns of 1957, who lost to Oklahoma 21-7. The Sooners were given a 13-point bulge and that was considered conservative, although Oklahoma had shown a semblance of weakness the week before in a 6-0 victory over so-so Oregon.

But Texas scored first, led for more than three quarters, was overtaken early in the fourth period, then stormed back to score with just three minutes left and win its first game over Oklahoma since 1951.

In three previous contests this season Texas had tried only 26 passes, completed 8 and gained

FAVORITES SHAPE UP IN SCHOOLBOY RACES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Corpus Christi Miller plays Dallas Highland Park Friday night at Corpus Christi in the first big step toward establishing an outstanding favorite in the Class AAAA division of Texas schoolboy football.

Ablene and Wichita Falls, the others of the big four, also will run into strong tests. Ablene will play at Waco and Wichita Falls goes to Odessa.

Miller is in the middle of a schedule that, while not designed for that purpose, is working out to pinpoint a major favorite.

First Miller beat tough Port Arthur 29-6. Last week it went to Midland and won 18-8. This week it tackles defending state champion Highland Park, which is showing a semblance of the Miller Wichita Falls considered by many the No. 1 team right now.

Other games Friday could help in rating the top teams. For instance, San Antonio Jefferson is at San Angelo and Longview at Orange, while Dist. 12 has a most important conference game between a couple of likely contenders—Baytown and Pasadena.

Outstanding favorites have been established in most of the 16 districts that this week turn almost 50 per cent to conference play. Right now the district leaders appear like this:

1—Ysleta. 2—Ablene. 3—Borger or Lubbock. 4—Wichita Falls. 5—Fort Worth Carter-Riverside. 6—Dallas Jefferson. 7—Highland Park. 8—Longview. 9—Houston Milby. 10—Houston Bellaire. 11—Port Arthur. 12—Baytown. 13—Austin. 14—Corpus Christi Miller. 15—San Antonio Jefferson. 16—Laredo.

Only four undefeated, untied teams remain in Class AAAA—Bellaire, Orange, Miller and Laredo.

Orange and Miller are going to have real tests this week. They play Longview and Highland Park, respectively. Bellaire could run into trouble against Milby. Laredo meets Alice.

Four teams are undefeated but have real ties. They are Ysleta, Tyler, Longview and Port Neches. Ysleta tackles Levelland this week. Tyler will play Birdville. Port Neches takes on Jacksonville.

The most impressive showings last week were Ablene's 52-8 triumph over Austin Travis, Highland Park's 40-0 strapping of Fort Worth Paschal, Odessa's 16-14 victory over Corpus Christi Ray and a whopping 74-0 decision by Ysleta over El Paso Tech.

Army Sets Sights On First Peacetime Football Title

By ED CORRIGAN Whatever the reason—the "lonesome end," a rock-ribbed defense or a flexible offense, Army today set its sights on winning its first peacetime national football championship.

There are still problems ahead, not the least of which is Navy. The two meet in the final game of the season for both Nov. 29 in Philadelphia and it's just possible that the national title could hinge on the outcome.

This Army team, which whipped Notre Dame 14-2 Saturday, ranks as one of the greatest of Coach Earl Blaik's quarter-century career. His clubs won the national crown in 1944 and 1945, the war years.

If Army does go all the way, Blaik and company will have to bow deep toward the Southwest, where fabled Oklahoma met its demise Saturday.

Texas halted the mighty Sooners managed by Auburn, the national champion last year and No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll last week, might be required for the Cadets to go all the way. Auburn won its third in a row, an 8-0 decision against Kentucky, Saturday night. The Tigers have a tougher this week against Georgia Tech.

This week Army seems to have a breather. Virginia But then a week from Saturday, the Cadets go against Pitt, which is nobody's pushover. Michigan state beat the Panthers 22-8, but it was closer than that indicates.

Navy's 20-14 caper over Michigan was significant for the Midgies were an untested club until that one. This week Navy has a date with Tulane.

In the Big Ten, Ohio State and Wisconsin are riding at the top of the heap with 9-0 marks. The Buckeyes licked Illinois 19-13, and the Badgers slaughtered Purdue 31-6. They meet in two weeks, a little matter which should make Michigan State (2-1) happy.

In the Southwest, it's all Texas, the only undefeated team in the Southwest Conference. The Longhorns play six straight games against SWC opponents starting this week with Arkansas.

The Pacific Coast Conference presents Oregon as its candidate for national ranking. The Ducks clubbed Southern California 25-0 after losing a 6-0 spine-tingler to Oklahoma.

Bucs Get Hurler

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Monday the signing of right-handed pitcher Michael Costagliola of Jackson Heights, N.Y., to a contract with their San Angelo, Tex., club in the Sophomore League.

The Texas coach also said he employed the twopoint scoring rule, although he still opposes it. "It's unfair to the coach," he said. "But I decided last week we would go for two if we scored first against Oklahoma, believing it would be a great psychological factor." Royal added.

Texas worked hard on the twopoint play all week and guard H. G. Anderson who opened the hole for fullback Don Allen to crash through.

There was so much excitement on the Texas bench after quarterback Bobby Lackey intercepted a pass to stop Oklahoma's last threat that Royal never knew the last play—an end try by Lackey—was run until he saw the films yesterday. "I thought the game was over on the play before," Royal said.

Exercise Should Go Along With Dieting

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Alena Murray is under contract to 20th Century-Fox, but this might never have happened if a skating accident and an injury to her leg had not prevented her from competing for the Olympics team.

"Turning from athletics to dramatics left me with a case problem," she confided. "I had been used to so much exercise that I had developed a substantial appetite. It isn't easy to eat less than your stomach demands. Eating is a habit, and I had to learn to shrink my stomach. I made a plan and stayed with it."

"At first I ate heartily of low caloric foods such as celery, carrots, lettuce, tomatoes and various fresh fruits. Gradually I cut down on my portions of everything, and my stomach shrank. I found my appetite was satisfied with much less."

"When I diet I always feel better if I exercise with it. A friend of mine gave me a lifetime membership in a gym as a Christmas present last year. So when I'm quite tense I go there, give myself a workout, have a steam bath and come out feeling relaxed and ready for a good night's sleep."

"We were having tea in a charming garden by Alena's home. The afternoon sun was bright enough for me to see that she has a prettier than average complexion."

"I find it hard on my skin to work from six in the morning until seven at night with heavy make-up and strong camera lights. I am grateful to my grandmother for a mask she taught me to make, because it keeps my pores clean."

Alena is from Montreal, but the recipe was brought originally from France.

"I puncture the ends of two raw eggs with a sterilized needle (you can burn it in the flame of a match). Make a hole about the size of a small button but be sure not to crack the shell."

"Then I squeeze half a lemon over each egg, trying to get as much juice into the shell as possible. The acid of lemon acts on the eggs, and in two days they are ready to use. During that time, keep them in a dark place. Then open the eggs and beat the contents with a fork and smooth."

Joye Nichols Repeats Vows With James Howard In Lamesa Church

LAMESA—Wedding vows were exchanged by Joye Nichols and James Howard, Sunday afternoon in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. R. F. Pepper read the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Howard.

For the exchange of vows the altar of the church was banked with greenery and centered with a bridal archway. At either side were baskets of white gladioli tied with blue ribbon.

Linda Peterson, organist, accompanied Barbara Porterfield and Flora Lee Porterfield as they sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper-satin wedding gown fashioned with a Peter Pan collar. Her fitted bodice featured a yoke of white Chantilly lace and long fitted sleeves which extended to points over the hands.

Her tiered veil was attached to a Juliet cap encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. White roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Jeanne Porterfield was the maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of pink crystal-lette. Joan Howard, bridesmaid, wore an identical gown in blue. T. L. Howard Jr. was his brother's best man. David Gibson was the groomsmen and ushers were Ross and Robert Barron.

For traveling the bride wore a royal blue woolen suit with black accessories. Following a wedding trip to Kentucky, the couple will make their home in Lamesa.

it over a clean face and neck. "Let this dry for 15 minutes. After it's washed off, your skin will feel wonderful. When I'm working I use this mask twice a week, and I know it keeps me from having clogged pores," she concluded.

'Tis Season For Colds; Try These Precautions

Chances are that you or a member of your family will come down with at least one cold this fall.

According to medical authorities, changeable weather at this season contributes to making fall one of the peak cold periods of the year. Re-opening of schools, crowded transportation facilities and full office and plant staffs increase your chances for exposure.

Fortunately most of these colds are comparatively minor discomforts which can be cleared up fairly quickly if you take care of yourself. However, even simple sniffles are highly contagious, so that one of the most important precautions you can take is to isolate that cold from others.

Here are a few simple suggestions offered by health authorities that will make the cold victim more comfortable at the same time they safeguard other members of the family:

Remain in bed for a day or two, or at least until the worst stages of the cold are over. If you run a fever, call your doctor.

Drink lots of liquids, such as fruit juices, soups and water. Relieve dried lips and nose by using special creams or lip balm to soothe the sore areas.

Keep a box of tissues nearby for those sneezes and coughs, and to avoid re-infecting yourself, use a clean tissue each time; then dispose of it at once in a paper bag, kept handy just for that purpose.

VETERINARIAN SAYS
Cats 'Rugged Individualists'

By DR. AKIN SIMPSON
Although the cat is one of the most popular household pets in this country, the average person does not know as much about cats and their behavior problems as he knows about dogs.

Dogs are, for the most part, friendly, obedient, cooperative animals. Cats are friendly, too, and they can be obedient, but the problems involved in training cats are totally different.

Dogs will perform tricks and obey commands in order to please their masters. But cats respond to orders only if they think what they are doing is for their own benefit.

The individualistic nature of cats has a direct bearing on their treatment and care when they are sick. Each cat's personality must be considered by the veterinarian when he administers treatment, decides for or against keeping the patient in his hospital, and when advising the owner with respect to home care.

The fact that many housecats stay indoors most of the time also presents problems. Cats like to scratch on wood or some other objects to sharpen their claws. And if there is nothing else available, a cat may use furniture or drapes or upholstery.

Some cat owners have met this problem by providing a small tree limb some place in the house which a cat can use to sharpen its claws. Sometimes, scolding provides a satisfactory answer. In some other cases, it is advisable to have the cat's claws removed. A relatively new surgical procedure makes this possible without pain or disfigurement to the cat, saves valuable furniture from ruin, and makes kitting an acceptable member of the family.

Cats are easily housebroken if it is properly done. Cats are among the cleanest domestic animals, and they are also selfish. One method is to provide a cat with a pan which has a false bottom made of copper screen. Or you can simply provide newspapers or a box of sand.

Frequently the howling of cats at night is simply the mating call, as many people suppose. The mating season for cats usually comes about six months apart, although the interval during the winter may be somewhat shorter.

Many cat owners make the mistake of thinking their female cats are sick when they simply are in the mating period. That is because the cats often cry and look as though they are in great pain during this period. If there are a large number of Tom cats outside the house, the cat owner can be pretty sure his pet isn't sick.

Cats may have as many health problems as dogs, however. For instance, cats may be troubled by internal parasites, skin disorders, fleas, or ear infections, cat distemper, and rabies.

The cat's teeth should be checked frequently to make sure that they are in good condition. Pyorrhea and tartar can develop, and if it is not noticed or treated, the cat may loose its teeth.

I'm Convinced

"New design of 1959 CHEVROLET is just one advancement made this year. There's so much more than meets the eye. The mechanical engineers were really on their toes—New Ride—New Handling Ease—New Economy. Seems to me this is the finest Chevrolet ever built. You'll want to be one of the first to see it," says Ray Weaver, shop foreman. October 16th is the day at Tidwell Chevrolet, 1501 East 4th.

Demos Criticize Formosa Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Criticizing the administration's handling of the Formosa crisis, the Democratic Advisory Council says the problem should be submitted to the United Nations.

The 24-member council said in a weekend statement that the Eisenhower administration has "led us to the brink of isolation from our allies and to the brink of having to fight a nuclear war inadequately prepared and alone."

The Democratic council said this nation should join others in asking the United Nations for recommendations to:

1. Secure and stabilize the whole Formosa area in such a way as to prevent aggression from any source in any direction.
2. Secure to the people on Formosa the right to determine their own future."

IMAGE OF AMERICA

For Millions, Picture Built By Poisonous Propaganda

EDITOR'S NOTE: Asking questions in 30 countries of the world, AP reporters found many people abroad dislike and distrust the United States. Here seem to envy than admire. The image they have of America reflects parts of reality and illusion. In this second of a four-part series, it is seen as an image reflected by many mirrors.

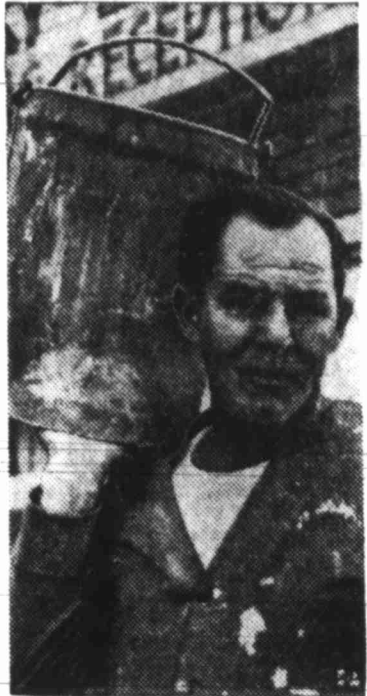

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
There is the mirror of propaganda. The average Russian, if he believes his papers, magazines and radio, sees America as a land of endless calamity, crime, strikes, unemployment. He sees Uncle Sam in cartoons, grim, frightening, with a bomb in either hand, intent on destroying nationalism everywhere.

He sees, not the tall buildings or parks or theaters, but the slums of New York. He doesn't see the American farmer who owns his own place and car, but only the share cropper. He sees the American Negro living a sub-human existence.

But there are signs that even the Russians can't swallow all their government's propaganda. Frequently, they will ask visiting Americans:

"Things aren't really bad in America, are they?"
"You don't have that much unemployment, do you?"
In Poland, too, Communists run a propaganda mill but the Poles occasionally show some humor about it, even at their own expense.

A magazine cartoon showed two

America?

Said Jim O'Regan, Australian construction worker: "The Americans are fair dinkums (straight-shooters) . . . No one had better say a bad word against the Yanks to me."

Polish women marketing for scarce food items.

First woman: "I heard they threw lemons at Nixon in South America."

Second woman: "You don't say! Whatever did he do to deserve them?"

Red China, like Russia, floods its people with anti-American propaganda. How much of it takes hold?

Refugees and travelers reaching Hong Kong report that the average Chinese still likes Americans as individuals and envies our freedom and wealth. But he also is convinced that America seeks to dominate smaller nations, that it gives foreign aid only with strings attached, that it looks down its nose at all non-whites, that it is guilty of the worst hypocrisy by encouraging anti-communism but refusing to make room in America for Oriental refugees from communism.

There is the mirror of personal experience, limited but enduring. Keith Thompson, a London cop, generally approves of U. S. foreign policy. He, like most of his countrymen, feel Britain and America are wedded by common language and purpose.

"But why," asks Thompson, "do visiting Americans seem so bossy when they ask how to get to the Tower of London? . . . Americans like to overplay a part. They talk a lot and seem much larger than life."

James Dlamini is 28, a Zulu. He cleans offices in Johannesburg, South Africa.

"I think," he says, "that the United States must be much better than this place. There is too much color bar here. I understand the American Negro is no different from the white man in his home country. At least, he doesn't have to carry a pass, the way I do."

In Hong Kong, there is an angry young man, a Chinese student who once studied in New York. He refused to give his name.

"I hate America," he said. "Once an American woman spat on me in Atlantic City because I took out an American girl.

"There may not be much freedom in China but I am going back. I am going back to help the Communists build up the country and make it strong. And then let them try to insult us."

It was a warm Sunday evening in Florence, Italy. Frizzino Frizzi, 41, a copy "boy" on a Florence newspaper, who earns $100 a month, took his wife and two children to a small restaurant. Frizzi remembers the evening vividly.

The restaurant was crowded as Beppe, the old vendor, came around selling his balloons. He came to a table of American tourists drinking too much Chianti. One American rose vaguely to his feet and, in lacerated Italian, shouted: "I want to help you Italians. I'll buy all your balloons!"

"All the working class fellows like myself felt quite embarrassed," Frizzi says. "Beppe, himself, who rarely sells all his balloons, told the loudmouth he needed no charity. But the boaster produced a handful of banknotes and Beppe explained to the rest of us that he still had to pay his rent. So, a little ashamed, he sold his balloons to the American and the American went around giving the balloons to the children.

"I'm rather proud to report that the fathers took the balloons off the hands of their crying children and, without saying a word, returned them to the American. "This boastful behavior is similar to that of the U. S. leaders who seemed to think they could keep the Middle East on their side just by pouring dollars in. . . ."

In Sydney, Australia, Jim O'Regan, construction worker says:

"The Americans are fair dinkums—they're the same as us. I know. I fought alongside them during the war. It was their help that saved Australia. No one had better say a bad word against the Yanks to me—I'd hit him smartly."

In Rome, there is Luisa Florio, 25, pretty, an artist. She dates Americans occasionally and generally likes them. But . . . "With an American date, one of the first things he talks about—all things—is to ask my political affiliation. When I tell him I have none, he grows suspicious. He questions me closely. Do I like Eisenhower and Dulles or prefer the Russians?"

"This kind of thing makes many Americans unwelcome here. We don't like to be investigated for communism before going out with a chance acquaintance for coffee or a ride to the beach."

And on the other side of the world, in Jakarta, Indonesia, a bartender named Jami Sama says:

"True, Americans are fighting communism. It is a selfish fight, to dominate the world and run the world's economy."

"But I am a Christian and so I'm on their side. But the Americans are too sensitive about it. If someone disagrees with them, they think he's a Communist."

Pioneer Quits

HOUSTON (AP)—Murel Goodell, who organized Monorail, Inc., here four years ago to develop the elevated type of transport system, said yesterday he has resigned to start a national mass transportation finance company.

Very Far Away

Said Liang Hung-chao, Chinese fisherman: "America is very big, and very rich, and very far away. . . . Americans do not care about the troubles of people whose skin is yellow."

CAA Needs 1,450 Technical Workers

Openings for 1,000 air traffic controllers, 400 electronics technicians and 50 electronic, aeronautical and civil engineers will result in the next year from the revamping and modernization of air control systems and expanding aviation, the Civil Aeronautics Administration has announced.

Robert J. Larsen of Big Spring, CAA air traffic control inspector, said that number of new personnel will be needed in the CAA's Fort Worth Region. Larsen also said that salaries have been increased in many of the fields in an effort to attract qualified personnel.

The Fort Worth region (No. II) includes the Southwest and Deep South and parts of the Caribbean and the Panama Canal Zone. Larsen said he has additional information on the CAA expansion and improvement program. He may be contacted at AM 4-2511, Ext. 718.

White House's Social Calendar Drops Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1958-59 White House social season will be shorter than ever—just five formal state dinners.

A special science-military dinner was held last winter after the Russians launched their Sputniks and appeals were voiced for a stepup in America's scientific tempo.

There was no explanation for why the scientists were dropped. The military also was omitted from the dinner list.

This year's social season will begin a month earlier with a Dec. 11 dinner honoring the Supreme Court. Dinners for diplomats will be held Dec. 17 and 18. The program will be rounded out with a Jan. 26 dinner for the vice president and one the following night for the speaker of the House.

The dinners are attended by some 80 guests. However, after-dinner musicales will swell the number to 150 to 200.

Rectangular Oil Leases Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rectangular boundaries for all future oil and gas leases on unsurveyed public lands were proposed today by the Interior Department.

It added that this and other proposed changes in the federal mineral leasing regulations would be particularly applicable to Alaska, where new resource development programs are being undertaken on millions of unsurveyed acres. Alaska has 362 million unsurveyed acres.

Under the proposal, most future oil and gas leases could easily be made to conform with the regular pattern of township, section and subdivision lines.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

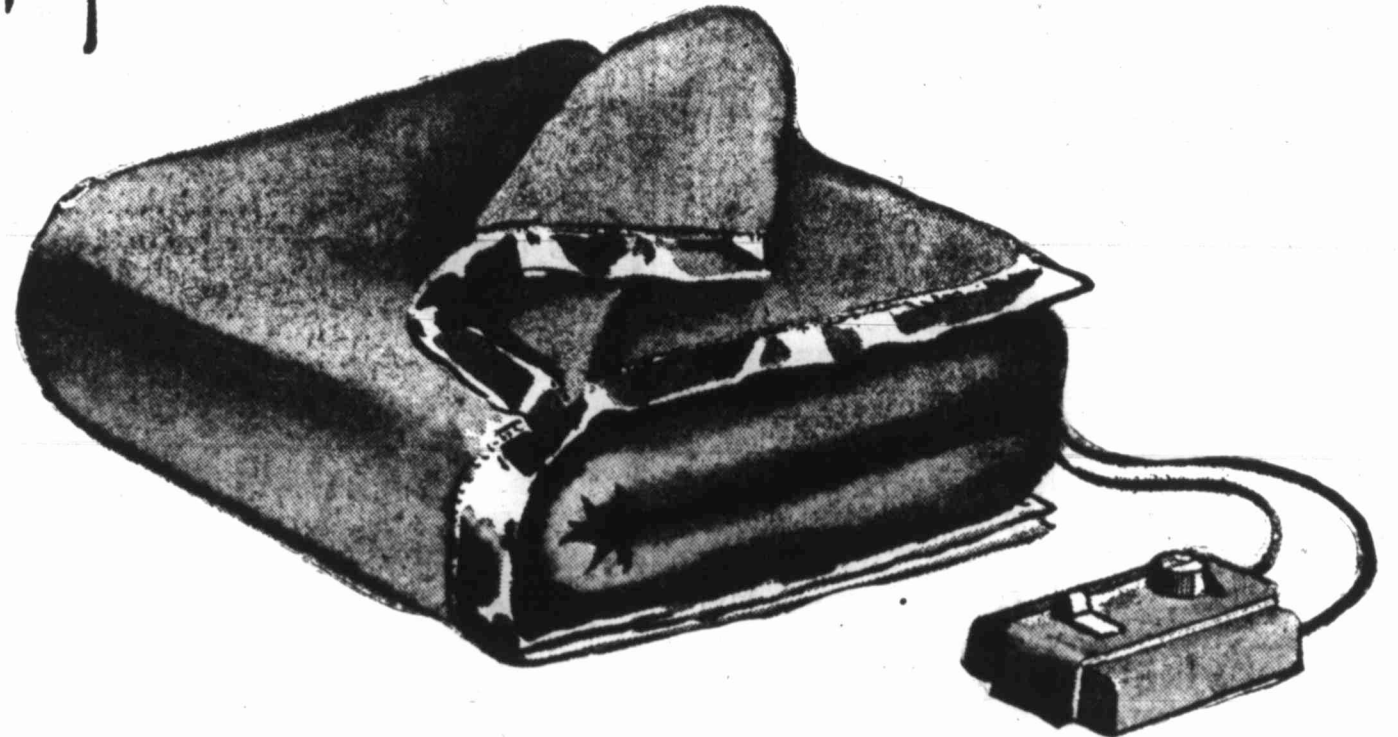

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.
