

A Bible Thought For Today

And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever. (Revelations 11:15)

More Information On The Universe

The moon-satellite which soared through the universe over the weekend is what the Defense Department called the "most sophisticated" projectile human ingenuity has ever pulled a trigger on. The Department used the adjective in the sense of being highly complicated, refined and "sublimized," and specifically as being the most thoroughly instrumented device ever aimed at outer space.

The moon-shot, of course, did not reach its destination, but before its final plunge very likely could have transmitted back valuable information usable in subsequent satellite trials. It can be regarded as a scientific miracle even if hoped-for results were not obtained. The whole experiment was far beyond the earth satellite projects.

The Right To Know Public Business

That Massachusetts, site of the "cradle of liberty," has finally adopted a law requiring open meetings of state, county, and municipal boards is highly salutary. It now is one of more than a score of states which by statute assure this right of information.

The public's right to know about its governmental functions is an important one. For several years various groups, including the Massachusetts Newspaper Information Service, Sigma Delta Chi, a national journalism fraternity, organizations of newspaper editors, as well as many legislators and other public officials, have sought passage of the law.

bodies, committees and recess commissions of the Legislature and quasi-judicial bodies, such as the State Tax Commission and the State Public Utilities Commission. In addition, executive sessions are permitted for the purpose of discussing, deliberating, or voting on matters which by general or specific statute or by federal grants-in-aid requirements cannot be made public, and matters which if made public might adversely affect the public security, the financial interests of the state or its political subdivisions, or the reputation of any person.

Marquis Childs The Bid For Right-Wing Dollars

WASHINGTON - To encourage gifts from big money contributors and thereby replenish the campaign treasury the Republican high command is more and more centering attack on the threat of socialism if large Democratic majorities are returned to Congress in November.

The painful fact is that the big contributors have been sitting on their hands. What makes the situation acute is that Republican campaign collectors face stiff competition from professional money raisers skilled in tapping the extreme right with promises that amount to a repeal of the 20th Century.

The crisis over money, and it is hardly less than that, indicates that the split between the moderates and the standpaters on the right is once again plaguing the Grand Old Party. With the realism typical of his approach to politics Vice President Richard M. Nixon recently warned his fellow Republicans of what this means to the party.

of contributions to his foundation, "The Constitution and Free Enterprise." Contributions to his committee would also be deductible, he suggests, as "a legitimate business expense."

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has ruled that contributions to the Rumely foundation are tax deductible. But Senator Paul Douglas, Democrat of Illinois, has called for an investigation to determine whether businesses are deducting their contributions to the campaign being engineered by Rumely. The Democrats in the new Congress will almost certainly push an inquiry into this activity, hoping, with 1960 in view, to the Kamp, Rumely and Co. to the Republican party.

There can be no doubt of Rumely's success. Congressional investigations have shown that year after year he collects hundreds of thousands of dollars. He boasted recently that he had sent out 140,000 pieces of literature free of charge under the free mailing privilege of such right-wing Republicans as Representatives Clare Hoffman of Michigan and Ralph Gwinn of New York.

WASHINGTON (AP) - If there were a partial window at the State Department, the odds would be 50-50 that some agreement will be reached at the Oct. 31 Geneva meeting on halting nuclear tests. This is pretty good, considering there is no certainty that the meeting will even be held.

Hal Boyle Smartest Man In His Class

The class of 1948 of Marlboro College, Marlboro, Vt., held its annual reunion this week and filed the most negative report in the annals of alumni annotation. Not since the Electoral College gave up football has any college graduating class had a less distinguished history.

After 10 years in the cold cruel world, far from the protective ivy of old alma mater, so the class statistician told the class secretary, who in turn told the class president, the class has chalked up no births, no deaths, no marriages, no divorces, no millionaires, no bowery bums, no famous artists, musicians or athletes, no captains of industry, no clergymen, no government officials, not even one conspicuous success in women's ready-to-wear or doo-r-to-door vacuum cleaner sales.

Not to mention rodeos, occasional horse races and any other contest which somehow had the name of sport attached to it.

Inez Robb Getting The Answers On Meg's Marriage

LONDON—Every time I come to London, my near and dear, as well as constant, readers are always delightfully disappointed in me because I'm not up at the palace, asking Princess Margaret is she is, or is she ain't. Completely Restyled Chevy Chevrolet again offers the popular Bel Air series as a part of its offering in the 1959 passenger car line. This model maintains its reputation for stylish interiors and appointments, with increased passenger room and additional visibility. New grille and lowered headlamps accent the front end. There are new design features, plus improved brakes, suspension system and handling advancements. The new Chevrolets go on display Thursday at Tidwell Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th.

SHOWING SET FOR THURSDAY

Complete New Styling Marks Chevrolet Models For 1959

A complete styling transformation, along with features for safety, comfort and performance, is revealed in the Chevrolet cars for 1959.

Highly imaginative design will be noted as the cars are unveiled to the public Thursday. Local showing is scheduled at Tidwell Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th.

Streamlining is brought to a new height in the 1959 Chevrolet. Tops are flatter and visibility is drastically increased. The cars are markedly lower, and a concept of fleetness is shown in both front and rear lines.

Along with innovation in design, Chevrolet has emphasized many engineering developments.

Here are some of the 1959 mechanical highlights:

A new six-cylinder engine, named the Hi-Thrift because of added economy through re-design in valving and carburetion, gives up to 10 per cent more mileage, plus more usable horsepower at normal driving speeds.

Fundamental improvements in coil spring suspension, incorporating specialized controls. Refinements in the optional Level Air suspension to acquire softer, quieter operation.

Larger braking surfaces, benefiting further by flanged drums and 27 per cent more lining area provide surer stops, longer life. Tires improved for durability and reduced in rolling resistance through newly developed cords, which run cooler, offer a softer ride and last longer.

A Turboglide transmission of advanced design. One of two automatic transmissions in the 1959 line, the quality of Turboglide has been raised to a new peak.

Easier steering and the inclusion of a second, shock-resistant universal joint. A radiator increased in cooling area. A simplified, more productive electrical system.

In addition to a fresh design, Chevrolet bodies for 1959 excel in comfort and structural unity. An impressive increase in passenger room is exemplified by almost five inches more width in the five and one-half ft. front seat. With 20 per cent greater capacity, the trunk has been increased up to 32 cubic feet. Still another example of general commodiousness can be found in station wagons. The cargo space has been lengthened to almost eight feet.

Sedans have been reduced in height one inch; sport models two inches. Through lower body mountings and a new roof configuration, the advantage has been accomplished without sacrifice, and in some cases an actual gain, in headroom.

Worthy of particular attention in the new bodies is the introduction of a new acrylic lacquer, a nine-step metal finishing process that adds depth to color and remarkable luster longevity. Under experiment for several years, the new acrylic body surfaces will not require polishing for as much as three years in normal climates.

The Impala line, which won wide acclaim in 1958, has been broadened to include a new 4-door sedan and a 4-door hardtop, in addition to the sport coupe and the convertible.

The Bel Air series is offered in 2- and 4-door sedans.

The Biscayne series, offered in 2- and 4-door sedans and a utility sedan, takes over the lowest price niche formerly occupied by the Delray, now discontinued.

Oklahoma Killer Will Gain Freedom After 23 Years

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Julius Bohannon, 52, three-time killer and one of Oklahoma's most notorious criminals, is to be set free this week after 23 years in the state penitentiary.

Gov. Raymond Gary signed the parole yesterday and said he believes Bohannon is rehabilitated. A prison official said the 6-1, 200-pound outlaw has been broken down "by time—and pressure."

"But he's still a man," said Hayden McCasland, superintendent of the prison honor farm at Stringtown where Bohannon has worked recently as a trusty.

"He is prematurely gray now and his face is lined some. He made a good hand down here. He did his work. I don't think they have any trouble with him."

Bohannon has changed in other ways.

The once hard-bitten bandit who shot down two McCurtain County officers and led a bold prison break now is a tender of cattle. And the job lined up for him is caring for animals at a veterinary hospital near Dallas.

Bohannon was elated when he heard the news late Monday.

"He was controlling his emotions pretty well, but he was a happy man," said McCasland. "He was very happy."

Gary made the decision after studying clemency for the three-time slayer for almost six months. He followed the unanimous recommendation of the Pardon and Parole Board despite strong opposition from many persons, including children of two victims of Bohannon's blazing gun.

In explaining his action, Gary said:

"All officials who have dealt directly with Bohannon feel that he has been rehabilitated."

Overseas Christmas Parcels Should Be Put In Mail Soon

It may not seem so—but Christmas is close at hand. For families who have men in service, particularly overseas, the date is even nearer than for those who have no member of their family in the armed forces.

The Howard-Glasscock County Chapter of the American Red Cross is pointing out that the time is at hand to plan those Christmas parcels for the men and women who are in uniform in foreign lands.

Red Cross field directors in these areas have made a survey to find out what the bulk of these want for Christmas from home. The choices are homemade food, family photos, recordings of family gatherings, home-town newspapers, and, above all else, more mail. Those interviewed pointed out that they can buy most of the traditional and standard gifts of the season at post exchanges and ship stores. Many asserted the present they would like best of all would be a promise, carefully fulfilled, that the folk back home would write regularly throughout the whole year.

"A letter a week for a whole year," they all said, "is better than any single Christmas gift."

However, the Americans abroad rate homemade food high on the list of things most missed. Any food from home, they pointed out, tastes better than that the mess halls and local bakeries provide. But it was widely pointed out that foods sent from home usually arrive badly broken up. All servicemen stressed that shipments of food—cookies, fruit cakes, brownies, home-made candy—should be packed in such a way as to be able to withstand the rigors of its long journey.

Wrap such items in foil paper or pack in tins or airtight jars, it was suggested.

Photos of family gatherings, sweethearts or friends, especially snapshots of the family amidst Christmas decorations, are high favorites with the men and women abroad. They also want these pictures to be small—billfold size or in light sturdy frames.

Cheerful recordings or tapes from home are also highly treasured. Hometown newspaper subscriptions are much appreciated. Late books, magazine subscriptions, late popular recordings—all of these things are the sort of gifts that the serviceman or woman wants most.

American-style clothing, too, is popular. Families with children overseas have trouble finding suitable childrens clothing and toys and books. Nylon hosiery and lingerie is also wanted by WACS, nurses and service wives. The men want sport shirts, slacks and other non-military apparel. Money gifts, too, are good—the cash can be readily used in the station to buy many desired things.

Don't, said the Red Cross, send military type clothing, cigarettes, watches, cameras or sporting goods. These are all available where the serviceman or woman is at bargain prices.

Use the airmail, said the survey, for letters and Christmas cards. The date for mailing Christmas packages to men and women overseas opens on Nov. 1. The deadline to insure delivery is Nov. 20. Airmail packages may be dispatched as late as Dec. 10.

Mansfield Slaps Fuss Over Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today "the stakes are too great and the possibilities too dangerous to permit foreign policy to become a political football."

Mansfield spoke out in an interview as Vice President Nixon challenged Democrats to match the Truman administration's handling of international affairs against President Eisenhower's record.

Because Democrats express disagreement with some policies, Mansfield cautioned, "no one should harbor the illusion that Americans are a disunited people."

Death Penalty For Poisoning Daughter

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Plump, blonde Anjette Donovan Lyles, convicted and sentenced to die for poisoning her daughter, awaited word from her attorneys today on chances for a new trial.

A Bibb County Superior Court jury convicted the 33-year-old widow of murder Monday night. Her attorneys immediately filed notice of appeal, and this automatically stayed the date of execution, which had been set for Dec. 5.

Mrs. Lyles is also accused by the state of poisoning two husbands and a mother-in-law with arsenic. She was tried only in the death of her 9-year-old daughter Marcia Elaine Lyles.

The former restaurant owner accepted the death verdict calmly. The only visible reaction was when her alabaster skin reddened and she bit her lip.

Judge Oscar Long set a precedent when he told Mrs. Lyles she might remain seated while sentence was pronounced.

The courtroom was jammed as it had been every day of the trial. Long set a hearing on the motion for a new trial for Dec. 12.

If the buxom widow loses her appeal, she will be the first white woman to die in Georgia's electric chair. Only one woman, a Negro, has been electrocuted in this state.

The case was given to the jury at 8:27 p.m. The verdict was announced at 10:08 p.m.—an hour and 41 minutes after the jury began its deliberations.

In an unsworn statement allowed under Georgia law, Mrs. Lyles made a blanket denial of all the state's charges and in the specific case under which she was being tried, that of Marcia, maintained there was no motive.

She said she received only $1,750 from insurance while her expenses, including hospital bills, special nurses and burial, amounted to $5,000.

"I did not give my child any poison—I did not kill my child," she said.

The state charged she murdered because of hate and greed.

She acknowledged an abnormal interest in "root doctors, spiritual advisers and fortune tellers."

She said she burned seven-day candles—green for luck and money, white for peace, and red for life and once burned a black candle in attempting to break up a romance between her boy friend, airline pilot Bob Franks, and another girl.

Need Something Besides Money

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The advent of missiles, rockets and space travel may require an entirely new means of financing besides money, the head of a California missile company said today.

Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet-General Corp., told the 38th annual conference of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International: "If a whole new world is being born—and that is just what is happening — it's going to cost a lot of money."

"It may be that some entirely new system besides money may have to be created to sustain and push ahead all these developments—just as money had to be invented when barter wasn't adequate for the growing exchange of goods and services many years ago."

Kimball was secretary of the Navy under President Truman.

Upper Crust Gets The Bird

LONDON (AP) — The upper crust folk of Esher Park Avenue are demanding a legal muzzle for the Cockney cage bird that wolf whistles girls and sings like a drunken sailor.

The bird is an Indian mynah, one of the more articulate members of the starling family. It lives in a superheated aviary at one of the biggest houses on the respectable, three-lined avenue.

Its raucous repertoire—rendered largely in Cockney accents picked up from a friendly garbage man—sends outraged shudders through the sedate, suburban neighborhood.

Wolf whistling seems to bore the mynah fairly quickly. But then it launches into the song "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor" in a voice like that of a matelot lurching from the grog shop.

When this palls, the bird can give a passable imitation of suddenly screeching car brakes, throwing scares into many a passer-by.

The mynah's owner, John Luttmor, was summoned to court Monday, accused of keeping a pet that causes "a serious nuisance."

Businessman Clifford Blackmore complained that he can hear the bird over his garden hedge from dawn till dusk. On summer evenings he has trouble getting the children to sleep and finds it unbearable to sit out in his garden.

Luttmor, a 49-year-old potato importer, stoutly maintained that his pet is "pretty and amusing."

The case was adjourned for the weekend.

De Gaulle Orders Military Group Out Of Algerian Politics

ALGIERS (AP) — French military officers withdrew today from the revolutionary Committee of Public Safety for Algeria on orders of Premier de Gaulle to get out of politics.

De Gaulle gave the order in an effort to insure honest, impartial parliamentary elections in Algeria without army interference.

Army officers have worked in the committee with European settlers who dominate political life here with their opposition to Algerian independence. The committees and smaller local ones rose to effective control of Algeria in the May 13 uprising which resulted in De Gaulle's return to power. He has ignored them since, letting them wither on the vine.

The big Central Committee for Algeria and the Sahara held a special meeting to study the Premier's order and to set the stage for a dramatic walkout of its military members. They left 15 minutes after it started.

A joint chairman of the group was Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, a hardbitten and colorful paratroop leader. He and a group of colonels who also served on the committee worked closely with the diehard settlers. The officers have been widely accused of Fascist tendencies.

The Premier's order appeared aimed at thwarting hopes of European extremists of enlisting army help in the campaigning for the elections next month. The extremists were believed planning to put up pliable Moslems as candidates.

In presenting a program to improve Algeria economically, De Gaulle promised Oct. 3 that Algerian Moslems would get 45 of Algeria's 66 seats in the new French National Assembly. About 90 per cent of the Algerian population is Moslem.

The Premier said in a letter to Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in Algeria, that the best interests of France demand an election with "absolute freedom and sincerity" and that lists representative of all tendencies — I say all tendencies — be allowed concurrently and equally to solicit the suffrage of the electorate.

The worst danger, he added, "would be the formation of lists solely favored by the official authority."

The Premier's instructions were in sharp contrast to army conduct in the referendum last month on the constitution of the Fifth French Republic. The army barred all campaigning against the constitution while working successfully to turn out a large vote for it.

De Gaulle said no one could run for Parliament who was in the military, a civil servant, or had held military or government posts within the last year. All others are eligible except "those who participate in terrorism and, because of this fact, are liable to prosecution," he said.

There had been speculation in Algiers that some political-minded military men might resign from the army to run for Parliament. The Premier's ruling prevents that.

De Gaulle also specifically ordered military representatives of the military-settler "Committees of Public Safety" that rose to power in the May 13 Algerian uprising which brought De Gaulle himself back from retirement. He has ignored the committees and let them wither on the vine.

"The moment has come for the military to stop taking part in any organization which has a political character," De Gaulle said. "I order them to withdraw without delay." He told Salan to report on how his instructions are carried out.

The French government announced last Friday that in Algeria voters will cast their ballots on lists of candidates. Each list must contain two-thirds Moslems. The list with the most votes in a district wins. The voting will take several days and a starting time has not been set.

In metropolitan France, voters will ballot Nov. 23 on individual candidates with runoffs Nov. 30 if needed to establish majorities.

Man On Moon In 12 Years?

CHICAGO (AP) — Man will be on the moon in 12 years, predicts Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, Army missile chief.

Medaris, commanding general of the U.S. Army Missile Command in Huntsville, Ala., made the prediction at a news conference at the National Electronics Conference.

After calling the Air Force rocket moon a spectacular success, Medaris said the Army is right on schedule with a moon shot of its own. He said chances are about 50-50 the Army moon shot will get into the area of the moon.

He added that chances are not good the rocket, using a Jupiter ballistic rocket for the first stage, will orbit the moon.

Medaris said the Army intends to have more ground control over its shot. This indicated the Army may be able to make in-flight corrections in direction.

Failure of the Air Force Pioneer missile to reach the area of the moon has been attributed to a three-degree error in trajectory.

Boy Admits Firing Rifle At Fisherman

DALLAS (AP) — A boy admitted firing a rifle at a fisherman yesterday "just to see if I could hit a boat."

Henry Hightower, 36, was shot in the right side as he rode a boat at Mountain Creek Lake. He was reported in good condition.

Angry fishermen chased a car that left the shooting scene and got its license number. A woman, 58, and her foster son, 13, were arrested.

Police said the woman took the boy and two friends to the lake to shoot. She was jailed for assault to murder and for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Safety Device Brings Accident

RIDGEFIELD, N.J. (AP)—The local Lions Club put a badly smashed auto on display along the highway as part of the group's "Slow Down and Live" campaign. Two cars slowed down to have a look. A third didn't. The result was a three-car collision. No one was hurt, but all three cars were damaged. One of the drivers, Daniel Kelly of North Bergen, is a member of the Studebaker-Packard Safety Advisory Committee. He was on his way home from Kentucky, where he had been arranging a similar "Slow Down and Live" campaign.

We're Good People
Said Willy Mattner to AP Berlin reporter Rolf Steinberg: "I think a lot of Americans because they took in all the people persecuted by Hitler. The Americans are good people."

IMAGE OF AMERICA Man In Morocco Amazed By Dutiful U.S. Husbands

Bitter Communist propaganda colors the image of America for millions of persons behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains. For many others, personal experiences with touring Americans also blench the picture. But these are only two of the many mirrors reflecting the picture of the United States. This third article is a four-part series dealing with...

working on development programs. The Communists? "They are a nuisance," Ram says. "They are cranky and they shout slogans which amuse us." The Americans? "You can easily pick out the Americans from a crowd of white men. They have the biggest cars, and they chew gum. They are modern Kuberas (Hindu gods of unlimited wealth to whom other gods turned for help). "The American men work with their hands. But why is it they are slaves of their women? American women imagine they are angels descended from Heaven with their husbands as their slaves. American women come with gloves on. Do they think their palms are lined with gold and diamonds?" Mohammed el Fassy is the garage mechanic in Rabat, Morocco, who respects Gary Cooper and other Western stars he has seen in the movies but finds other aspects of American life just a trifle ridiculous. He has observed American servicemen at a nearby base. Last spring he accompanied one GI family on a picnic. "They had three children and the husband carried the baby all the time," Mohammed recalls disdainfully. "He even did the cooking on an oil stove and he washed the baby in the lake!" In Mohammed's vocabulary, all more often.

The exalted position of American women also confounds and amuses Ram Dulari and Mohammed el Fassy, who live on different continents. Ram lives in a village of thatched houses near New Delhi, India. He farms a half acre and has several water buffaloes to provide him with milk. He has seen two or three local Communists and several Americans, technicians

Democrats Favored In Connecticut

By GEORGE BAZAN
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A deceptive calm hangs over the Connecticut election campaign. It may be a lull before an election-day upheaval Nov. 4. The Republicans now hold all major offices except the governorship, but with three weeks to go, the Democrats are favored to make their biggest gains in years. Led by a popular governor, Abraham A. Ribicoff, and cheered by signs of a national trend, the Democrats have high hopes. They are out to win a U. S. Senate seat, at least several of six congressional races, five other major state offices, and control of one and possibly both houses of the General Assembly. But this may well be wishful thinking in a state still normally regarded as Republican. For example: The lower house of the Legislature has been under GOP control since the 1870s. The confident talking Democrats are rated strongest in their bids for governor and U. S. senator. The Republican candidates say they are running "scared," ready to profit from any compacency of the opposition. Gov. Ribicoff is the man on whom the Democrats are pinning their hopes. Four years ago, Ribicoff defeated Gov. John Lodge (now ambassador to Spain) by a mere 3,100 votes. Ribicoff, incidentally, was the first Jew to win the office. Today, he is generally considered to be running far ahead of his Republican opponent, State Comptroller Fred R. Zeller. Zeller is a 59-year-old Stonington businessman unknown to many voters in the state. He is a Baptist. The ticket dominated by Ribicoff includes a vote-getter considered as strong as he, and a congressional candidate better known outside the state than he. The first is former Rep. Thomas J. Dodd, who is making his second race for the U. S. Senate. Dodd is trying to displace Sen. William A. Purtell, Republican who is running for Congress in the 2nd Dist. The incumbent is fruit farmer seeking his sixth term and paying little attention to Bowles. Crash Kills Three PLEASANT VIEW, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. L. C. Albert Barrett, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barrett of San Antonio, Tex., and two other soldiers died in an auto collision yesterday.

Good Reason
BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP)—Farmer Fred Ledford admitted shooting the bear out of season. But he explained it had been chasing him after being caught around the Ledford hogpen. So now bear meat, 125 pounds of it, will be on the menu for the first meal when the new cafeteria of the elementary school at nearby Alarka opens shortly.

that is bizarre, incomprehensible and unusual is "kif-kif amerikia," which means, "like an American." Thus a man who shaves every day or wears a straw hat or carries a camera or a baby or anyone who runs in the street is "kif-kif amerikia." There are no customers quite like Americans, Mohammed finds. They come to him in his small garage for repairs on their vehicles. "They know so much about motors. I just wait for them to tell me what's wrong, then I start to fix it. But often they take the tools out of my hands and fix it themselves. Still, they pay all the same. Amazing!" And in Madrid, Spain, a bus conductor named Martin Garcia Tirado, dismisses the United States of America with one broad sweep. "I don't read English but judging by what people say of their literature, the Americans must be fairly immoral. Judging by their movies, I would call them ingenious and even childish. Judging by their policy in the world, I would say the world cannot hope to get its salvation from them."

Report Made On Insurance Deal
AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate General Investigating Committee made public Monday its first report of probes into insurance stock deals between playboy-promoter BenJack Cage and Pierce P. Brooks. The report made no recommendations but offered 24 conclusions which Chairman Charles Herring of Austin said "should be considered by interested grand juries for possible criminal violations." Sen. Herring said the committee would meet next month "at which time we may consider investigating a part of the state government." Herring would not say what area the 5-member group might probe but explained it would be a field untouched thus far. The 41-page typewritten report was filed with the secretary of the Senate and will be printed later for general distribution to the senators. Herring said four other reports will be made by his committee covering Preferred Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, the liquidator's division of the State Insurance Department, Estate Life Insurance Co. of Amarillo and the state comptroller's department. With excerpts of direct testimony, the No. 1 report is entitled "ICT Pierce P. Brooks National Banker's board of directors, and Cage were involved in various transactions involving stock of National Bankers and ICT Insurance Co. ICT was one of Cage's many far-flung enterprises that went bankrupt. National Bankers is a solvent company now operating in 24 states out of Dallas."

Water Rat Brings Down Embankment
CREWE, England (AP)—A water rat burrowed through the embankment of a canal near here. The bank caved in. Water rushing through the 40-foot gap drained the canal dry for seven miles, swept away something like a million fish and carved a 20-foot gorge in an adjoining field. Sixty men with bulldozers will have to work three weeks shifting 30,000 tons of soil in a repair job costing 10,000 pounds ($28,000).

Rustling Charge
WARREN, Vt. (AP)—After a farmer said one of his cows had been stolen and butchered, police arrested Walter Lowe, 27, William J. Guyette, 32, and James W. Companion, 26, held them on an intoxication warrant and said they would be arraigned later on a second used charge of cattle rustling.
