Cubans Risk Rebel Threats In Election

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cubans risked rebel threats of being shot if they voted today for a new president and congress. Balloting was light in the first few hours after the polls opened at 8 a.m. but voting in Cuban elections usually does not get under way until afternoon.

In the easternmost Oriente, the center of the revolution, rebels intensified shooting attacks on highway and rail transport. There were some clashes with government troops.

The government in turn warned that voting is obligatory for all men and women over 21. It declared it was determined to protect voters and candidates by the use of the 34,000-man army and the 7,500 national police.

Special U.S. Protection Will Be Asked By Cuban Regime

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The Cuban government today planned to demand special protection for Cuban airlines and passengers in the United States as the result of the seizure of a plane which crashed and killed 17 persons.

The three survivors said four Cuban rebels commandeered the big Viscount turboprop airliner Saturday night on a flight from Miami to Varadero Beach, 87 miles east of Havana.

Some of the people subpoenaed as witnesses for John Kasper in his trial on charges of inciting to riot are hiding out, a deputy criminal court clerk says.

Witnesses For Kasper Hiding Out

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Some of the people subpoenaed as witnesses for John Kasper in his trial on charges of inciting to riot are hiding out, a deputy criminal court clerk says.

Kasper goes on trial today before Criminal Court Judge Homer Weimar. The charges grew out of demonstrations against desegregation of public schools here last fall.

Deputy Court Clerk John W. Albridge said that officers had contacted most of the 225 witnesses subpoenaed by Kasper, but he added, "Some of these people are in hiding, I think. In fact, I know of one man who I'm sure is hiding."

Million Texans Head For Polls On Tuesday

Gallup Survey Points Toward Demo Landslide

PRINCETON, N. J.—Final 1958 Gallup Poll survey figures point to the Democrats winning control of the House of Representatives Tuesday by a substantially greater margin than they did in 1954 or 1956.

Interviewing through last Friday night indicated a Democratic lead great enough to produce a landslide victory.

The major party vote for the House races shows a national division, excluding persons who were undecided, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Party, Per cent. Democratic 57, Republican 43.

Perhaps a clearer picture can be seen in the survey figures for the states outside the South. In this key area, the Republicans were polling 46 per cent to 54 per cent for the Democrats.

In the 1958 congressional races, Republicans polled 53 per cent outside the South. The 1958 final survey figures in these states thus represent a shift away from the GOP since 1956 of seven percentage points.

Percentages cannot be translated directly into seats. But a popular vote margin in the House races of the dimension shown in the final Gallup survey points to a Democratic sweep of the House.

No Real Hope For Missing Men

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (AP)—Rescue workers kept digging today in the Cumberland No. 2 coal mine but there was no real hope for any of the 25 men still missing.

Three more bodies were brought out Sunday night, bringing the total recovered to 49. One hundred miners were rescued, the last seven on Saturday after 8 1/2 days deep underground in a small debris-enclosed pocket.

The 174 miners were caught in an underground earth shift Oct. 23 which jammed the shaft at various points with rock and rubble and loosed poison gas.

Cumberland No. 2 was Springhill's last operating mine, the Cumberland No. 4 colliery having been sealed after an explosion two years ago that killed 39 men.

Sentiment is strong in the town of 7,000 against resuming operations in the No. 2 shaft.

9 Amendments, Races On Ballot

By WHITEY SAWYER Associated Press Staff Writer

About one million Texans are expected to go to the polls tomorrow and most of the interest will be in just how much of a dent the Republicans have made in the normally Democratic state.

Amendments Spark Ads

AUSTIN (AP)—Opponents and supporters of the proposed constitutional amendment for annual legislative sessions and annual salaries for legislators made similar appeals in Texas newspapers today.

Both sides cited lists of daily newspapers which had advised voters to vote for or against amendment No. 1.

The Dallas News and the Dallas Times Herald were quoted by both factions.

One advertisement bought by the Austin Junior Chamber of Commerce asked voters to support the amendment and quoted editorials from the Austin American, San Antonio News, Dallas News, Waco News Tribune and Dallas Times-Herald.

Another advertisement that appeared in daily newspapers throughout the state advised voters to vote against the amendment and quoted editorials from the Houston Post, El Paso Herald Post, Houston Chronicle, Fort Worth Star Telegram, Dallas News, San Angelo Standard Times, Wichita Falls Times, Kilgore News Herald, Dallas Times Herald and Marshall News Messenger.

The advertisement carried a note saying that it was paid for by the Committee Against Amendment No. 1, Preston Weathered, chairman, Dallas.

NOCONA, Tex. (AP)—A grass fire seared approximately 2,000 acres of rangeland near Becherly yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Nobody Can Make You

Nobody can make you go to the polls Tuesday and vote. Nobody can compel you because this is a free country; but it is a free country because people have treasured their right to vote so highly that they went to the polls at every opportunity.

If the people of this great nation ever lose their precious freedoms, it will likely be through apathy.

Apathy—"Let George Do It," "Who Cares?," "My Vote Won't Make Any Difference" or "I Can't Be Bothered"—is the cancer of democracy.

It can start only with you. So if you are sincerely grateful for your right to vote, don't let anything keep you from going to the polls Tuesday.

The discovery was announced today by the Ministry for Overseas Territories. A patrol exploring the Balleum Valley came across the wreckage.

Wreckage Of C47 Found In Asia

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Wreckage and remains of the victims of a U.S. Air Force C47 which crashed in 1945 in a mysterious valley known as Shangri-La have been found in Dutch New Guinea.

The discovery was announced today by the Ministry for Overseas Territories. A patrol exploring the Balleum Valley came across the wreckage.

Hollandia was occupied by American forces in 1945 and regular training flights were made over the valley to study the terrain of central New Guinea.

War correspondents nicknamed the mystery valley Shangri-La.

The wreckage was spotted Sunday in shallow waters of the Bay of Nipe near Preston, in rebel-infested Oriente Province.

The Cubana Airline said Fidel Castro rebels seized the plane to make headlines for their movement on the eve of the Cuban national election today but they caused it to crash when they forced the pilot to attempt a landing in darkness on an airstrip that was too small.

Those killed were the four gunmen, the four Cuban crew members, three other Cubans and six naturalized Americans born in Cuba. The three survivors, who were injured, included another naturalized American and two Cubans.

The plane was the second seized in flight since Oct. 21. On that date, an authoritative source said, two rebels among the passengers seized a DC3 with 12 other persons aboard on a domestic flight from Cayo Mambi to Mao Bay.

The rebels shot that pilot in the arm and forced him to divert the flight to Cananoe. The crew of three and a Cuban soldier passenger were reported still held by the rebels, but the other eight passengers were allowed to return to their homes.

A spokesman for the Cuban Foreign Ministry said as a result of the capture of the four-engine Viscount Saturday, the Cuban government "will ask of the United States the due protection in American airports of all Cuban airplanes, their crews and passengers."

He did not say what his government expects the U. S. government to do. But he claimed that on "several occasions" Cuban planes had been attacked at the Miami airport.

It was understood that a note asking the protection would be handed U. S. Ambassador Earl Smith today.

Body Found, Search Ends

POMPTON LAKES, N.J. (AP)—The body of 7-year-old Paul Grochowicz has been found in the Ramapo River, ending an 18-day search involving thousands of persons.

William Horvey of Jackson Heights, N.Y., found the body Sunday as he was walking along the river bank in a cold, drizzling rain. It was only 500 feet from the Grochowicz home.

Apparently the youngster fell in and drowned not long after he told his mother he was going to bicycle all the way to Tacoma, Wash., to see his grandmother, whom he greatly missed.

That was Oct. 16 and it touched off a mammoth search.

The Grochowicz family moved here only two months ago and Paul was disappointed that his grandparents were not coming east for Christmas.

His grandmother said in Tacoma that the Grochowicz family planned to return there for the funeral.

"This is where Paul wanted to be and this is where the family plans to make its permanent home," she said.

Voters Here To Join Trek To Polls Tuesday

Howard County voters will go to the polls Tuesday to elect a United States senator, governor and several other state, district and county officials.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Anyone possessing a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate is entitled to cast a ballot.

In addition to containing a list of candidates for the Democratic, Republican and Constitution parties, the ballot will have spaces for independents and write-ins.

Adding length to the ballot and perhaps catching some voters unaware will be nine proposed amendments to the Texas constitution.

Briefly here is what the amendments would provide:

- (1) Annual sessions for the Texas Legislature and $7,500 annual salaries plus undetermined "expenses of office" for members of the Legislature. (2) A plan by which counties can set up pension plan for elective and appointive employees of counties and precincts. (3) Would empower the county commissioners court to fill vacancies in the office of county judge and justices of the peace for intervals to the next general election. (4) Requiring that certain officers serving a four-year term must resign before they can run for another office provided more than a year remains to be served on the term. (5) Establishes a method by which Home Rules Cities can provide terms longer than the current two-year period for elective officers. (6) Provides for pensions for retired Texas Rangers and their widows. (7) Creates a way for Texas to advertise its historical, educational, industrial, recreational and other attractions. (8) Sets up a method for the state to make vendor payments for hospital care for needy recipients of old age assistance, aid to the blind, aid to dependent children, etc. (9) Deals with the creation of hospital districts in Amarillo, Wichita County and Jefferson County.

A high pressure area was centered over the Louisiana coast and clockwise circulation around it was expected to sweep moisture up over Texas.

Cloudy and rainy weather was forecast for South Central Texas, southern North Central Texas and part of West Texas.

Tragic End To Outing

CRASH LANDS

Pilotless Plane Aloft 45 Minutes

HARMONY, Minn. (AP) — "It flew so beautifully," said a student pilot who watched his run-away airplane take off without him and circle gracefully for 45 minutes Sunday.

The adventurous little plane came down right-side-up in a cornfield, flipped once, and then bounced into an upright position again, although heavily damaged.

Planning a short pleasure cruise, Neil Haugerud had faced the 85-horsepower Aeronca Chief up a slight grade on the John Hammervold farm, where the Fillmore Flying Club maintains a landing strip. The 28-year-old insurance man gave the propeller a tug.

"But instead of idling like it should have," the aved Haugerud explained, "it revved up to full throttle immediately and jumped ahead. I tried to get to the door but the plane went past me. It took off almost immediately."

Haugerud scurried to the Richard Johnson farm to telephone the air tower at Rochester, Minn., asking that the Civil Aeronautics Administration be notified a pilotless plane was aloft. Highway patrolmen were notified.

The plane, meanwhile, was climbing in broad circles. It reached an estimated 5,000-foot altitude. On the ground, Haugerud and the Johnsons stared in amazement.

"Then something must have happened," said Haugerud, "because the flight pattern changed and the plane started spiraling down in the same kind of circles that it made going up."

The descent took 10 to 15 minutes. The two-place ship came down on the Orland Broken farm, more than a half mile from any house.

Haugerud doesn't know what caused the plane to take off by itself.

"Maybe the throttle was pushed forward," he said. "Or maybe something in the carburetor was stuck. I don't know."

During the past week he has been participating in criminal investigation school conducted by the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Odessa.

Sheriff Saunders has been working without an assistant for several weeks since Johnson left to enter the insurance business in Big Lake.

Hope To Revive Disarmament Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India and Yugoslavia sought Soviet and American agreement today to a plan to revive the U.N. Disarmament Commission, idle for more than a year because of a Soviet boycott.

Arthur S. Lall of India and Dobroivoje Vidic of Yugoslavia planned conferences with American and Soviet delegates to the U. N. Assembly in an effort to work out a resolution acceptable to both.

Lall and Vidic hoped to get the resolution through the Assembly's Political Committee this afternoon or Tuesday morning. There was a possibility the Assembly itself would meet Tuesday afternoon to give final approval to the new proposal as well as three others already adopted in the committee.

The Indian-Yugoslav resolution would have the assembly enlarge the Disarmament Commission to include all 81 U. N. members but only for 1959 and as a committee of the General Assembly rather than as a permanent commission.

The Soviet Union has declined to sit on the present 25-nation commission because Communist and neutral members are outnumbered by Western-allied members. It has demanded either an evenly balanced commission or one of all 81 countries.

Britain and the United States last year opposed the idea of an 81-nation commission, contending it would be so big that negotiating in it would be impossible. They said it would be nothing but a propaganda forum.

Western sources said the two powers now were willing to agree to the omnibus, one-year group. These sources expected the resolution would provide, at American-British request, that the commission could set up subcommittees to do the actual negotiating.

Greyhound, Union Agree

CHICAGO (AP)—Agreement on a two-year contract covering 12,000 Greyhound Corp. employees in 20 states was announced today by union and management negotiators.

Details of the pact, affecting bus drivers, maintenance, terminal and office employees, were not disclosed, but a company spokesman said a wage increase and fringe benefits were granted.

He said both sides agreed to withhold these details pending ratification of the agreement by membership of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.

Negotiations with Atlantic, Central, Southeastern, Southwestern and Richmond Greyhound Lines have been conducted in Chicago for three weeks.

Wages now vary with areas. Union negotiator E. E. Barth said drivers, paid by the mile, receive from a high of 10.27 cents a mile in Richmond Greyhound service to a low of 9.6 cents a mile in Florida Greyhound service.

MONTREAL (AP)—Two of the Dionne quintuplets now are mothers. Annette, Mrs. Germaine Alard, gave birth Sunday to a boy weighing 8 pounds 1 ounce.

Annette and Alard were married Oct. 12, 1957. Her sister Cecile, Mrs. Philippe Langlois, had a boy Sept. 15. Another sister, Marie, also is married. The unmarried quintuplet, Yvonne, is a nurse, and the fifth sister, Emilie, died four years ago.

Knowland - Knight Fuss Helps Fire Prospects For Big California Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strife-torn campaign has fired up prospects for an extra-heavy vote Tuesday to decide whether California will go Democratic or stick with its Republicans.

A Democratic landslide over the divided GOP ticket was predicted by Democratic State Chairman William Rosenthal.

Republican Sen. William F. Knowland declared his strenuous last week of campaigning, topped by a 20-hour telethon, has set off "a gigantic tidal wave of victory."

Rosenthal predicted Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown would defeat Knowland by a million votes in the gubernatorial race; Rep. Clair Engle would topple Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for U.S. senator by 600,000; and the Democrats would gain three congressmen for sure, maybe four.

The Brown-Knowland battle, the primary, the Democratic ticket of mostly political unknowns bested GOP incumbents in the two-party popular vote.

Knowland, with no party opponent, staged a minimum campaign in the primary. Since then, he has put on a tremendous personal drive that even had him out-ringing doorbells.

He said today he sees a rising momentum in his favor as shown by "a deluge of new contributions, encouraging messages and victory-pitch enthusiasm of my campaigners."

Brown said he is confident Californians will make "a decision for decency and moderation and progressiveness in public affairs."

The rivals for Chief Justice Earl Warren's job summarized their views on the key labor issue in an appearance Sunday on the Meet the Press (NBC) television program from Los Angeles.

Brown agreed with Knowland on the need for state laws to regulate said, is not the compulsory open shop.

He denied he was in the debt of labor bosses for union support. Knowland has depicted his opponent as a captive of such labor leaders as Walter Reuther and Harry Bridges.

"I feel under no obligation to anyone," Brown said.

Knowland renewed his advocacy of legislation to ban the union shop—an issue on which he has split with Knight and other Republican candidates.

"It's the fundamental right of labor to clean up the mess in the unions," he said.

The Republican senator was asked whether he now wished he had tried for re-election to the Senate instead of going after the governorship?

"No," he replied. "The labor boss issue had to be met. Two years from now and eight years from now would have been too late."

Both Brown and Knight have expressed belief Knowland decided to run for governor as a perch for the 1960 presidential race. Knowland denied it.

Weekend Violence Takes 22 Lives In Texas, 14 In Traffic

Rockefeller Given Edge In New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Handshaking to the last, Gov. Averell Harriman and Nelson A. Rockefeller—rich in their hopes in the hands of an expected 5 1/2 million New York voters Tuesday.

Republican Rockefeller, 50, appeared to have the edge over the 66-year-old Democrat in their battle for election as governor. The campaign generally has been a personality contest devoid of solid issues.

The apparent Rockefeller lead found in polls could be upset, however, by voters who withheld a decision until the last. Leaders of both parties have been telling party workers the vote is expected to be close.

A Rockefeller victory — in the face of a predicted nationwide swing to the Democrats—would boost him into serious contention for the White House. Richard M. Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960. It would ruin Harriman's White House hopes.

The Democrats appeared likely to gain the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Republican Irving M. Feinberg.

A potential outpouring of votes from home town New York City loomed as sufficient to put over Democrat Frank S. Hogan, the popular district attorney for Manhattan. Most political analysts believe only a whopping Rockefeller victory could put veteran Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester into the Senate.

New York Republicans are expected to hold their comfortable margin in Congress, now 27-16. Last spring, Harriman was considered a cinch to win a second, four-year lease on the executive mansion. The veteran New Deal and Fair Deal diplomat and Cabinet officer had gained a strong following after beating lives by a bare 11,125 votes in '54.

Then came Rockefeller. The wavy-haired grandson of billionaire John D. Rockefeller stormed to the GOP nomination in August and then took out after Harriman's lead.

Independent Governments In Asia Need More Support

SEATTLE (AP) — Progress is being made in South and Southeast Asia but more needs to be done quickly to help bolster newly independent governments faced with staggering economic and political problems.

This was the consensus of Colombo Plan economic experts today as they began the third week of a month-long, closed-door inquiry into the economic ills of 650 million Asians.

The report of these experts will be turned over next week to a full-dress ministerial meeting of the Colombo Plan Consultative Committee. President Eisenhower is scheduled to address the group a week from today.

In the opinion of key delegation leaders and observers from such organizations as the World Bank, the Colombo Plan area will continue to need assistance for another three decades even though progress towards industrial development has been made during the past five years.

These sources said, "More needs to be done quickly. The past year was a bad one."

The U. S. recession is being blamed for some of the economic headaches. The recession caused a tumble in the price of rubber and tin which sorely hit such countries as Malaya and Indonesia.

Bad weather conditions during the monsoon season also hit the area, particularly India, Pakistan, Indonesia and the Philippines. It caused a rice crop that was far below normal.

Mrs. Wanda Rogers, 27, of Pasadena died when an auto left the road and struck a culvert.

Charles Tabor, 32, of Odessa was thrown from his truck and killed when the vehicle overturned on an oil field road near Monahans.

Austin Jones, 51, of Millsap was killed and two other persons injured in a head-on collision between Stephenville and Mineral Wells.

Other weekend deaths included: Mrs. Bessie Alfred, 48, was stabbed to death Saturday night at her home in Houston. Police held a man, 58.

Four men were killed Saturday in a head-on collision near Crosby in Harris County. They were identified as Jimmy Burns, Paul Singleton and Brozer Brooks, all of McNair settlement, and Henry Farrell, about 55, of Highlands.

Bobby Moore, 17, Phillips High School football player, collapsed and died Friday night during a football game at Dumas. An autopsy showed he died of a ruptured spleen and shock, apparently due to an injury received during the game. He was the fourth high school football player in Texas to die this year in a game or practice scrimmage.

Willie Bass, 5, burned to death at Waxahachie Saturday night when he was trapped in a small frame house which was destroyed by fire.

A Bible Thought For Today

And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. (1 John 2:28)

Be A Good Citizen; Vote Tuesday

Every person who treasures the right of American citizenship and who is otherwise qualified to vote ought to take time to cast a ballot in Tuesday's election.

There are multiplied millions in the world today who give their right arms—and some indeed have given their lives—to have the right of a free election. Thus, the issue in Tuesday's general election is first of all a test of good citizenship.

Beyond this, there is another solid reason for maximum participation. For both the Democratic and the Republican parties, the total vote for each gubernatorial candidate will determine the strength of the county's delegation in the 1960 state party conventions.

For each 300 votes cast for the party's nominee for governor, one delegate will be allowed to the state party conventions in 1960. If the Democratic party voted at optimum strength, Howard County could command around 25 votes—enough to be a tremendous voice in the senatorial district and enough to cut some ice in the state meeting. If the party would do a pretty fair job of getting out the vote, Howard County could have 20 votes. If voters fall down on their obligation to go to the polls, the total could be nearer 10. The same thing will apply to the Republican party.

In 1960 there will be two conventions—the presidential conventions in May and the governors convention in August. Both are important and if Howard County wants an adequate voice in either, then a good turnout of votes Tuesday is imperative. As for the presidential convention, Texas is due to have a prime candidate in Sen. Lyndon Johnson. Strong delegate strength would certainly enhance his position.

Exceptional Job Of Expediting

Some exceptional work has been done in expediting the dormitory projects for Howard County Junior College.

Within two months from the time that the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency approved the HCJC application for a $600,000 long term loan (to be repaid solely out of revenues from the operation of the dormitories), final plans and specifications have been drafted and completed. In addition they have been accepted by the college board and the FHA regional office as well.

As a matter of fact, some of the work was checked as the actual drafting of plans and specifications went along. Thus, instead of the usual long delay for federal approval, the college got the green light within a matter of a few days.

Instead of being bogged down to a year-end letting with time running short for a next Sept. 1 completion, the college will be able to ask for bids Nov. 23 and possibly be able to let a contract on 1 date.

These buildings have to be complete by time for fall semester occupancy, else a year's revenue would be lost. Hence, this remarkable bit of coordination and red-tape cutting by the board of trustees and the architect-engineers is due considerable commendation.

Wall Street Takes Care Of Wolfson

No court could have meted out to Louis E. Wolfson, chairman and president of Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp., sterner justice than has the stock market, itself, for his short-selling venture in American Motors Corp. stock.

A reasonable guess is that Wall Street has "fined" Wolfson and his associates at least a million, possibly twice that. No precise figure is available.

Leo Gottlieb, of the New York law firm of Cleary, Gottlieb, Friendly & Hamilton, who represented Wolfson in the Securities & Exchange Commission action charging fraud and manipulation, doesn't know whether Wolfson still is short American Motors. Moreover, he told me that even if he knew, he'd regard it as Wolfson's business, not the public's or mine.

But this we can piece together from history. At one time, Wolfson, members of his family, and associates owned more than 400,000 shares. On the strength of that substantial investment, George Romney, president of American Motors, invited Wolfson to be a member of the board. Wolfson declined, but nominated Martin Segal, a business associate, and William A. Shea, an attorney, to represent him. This was unfortunate.

If Wolfson had become a director, Wall Street would not have fined him. The Securities & Exchange Act expressly prohibits short sales by "insiders"—officers, directors, and holders of more than 10 per cent of a company's stock. Surely, as a director, Wolfson would have been too well advised legally to go short.

The Wolfson venture in short selling became public property when, on June 20, The New York Times carried an article saying Wolfson was selling his American Motors stock. It was based on an interview with Alexander Rittmaster, a Wolfson adviser.

Yet, actually, Wolfson and his associates already had liquidated their holdings nearly two months before and were actually short. This was the basis of the SEC fraud charge—disseminating false information to manipulate the market.

American Motors had climbed to 10 and 11 by the time the Wolfson group completed selling off all its long stock. That was before April 24, according to the statement made to the court. Again according to the court record, the Wolfson short position had climbed to 172,400 shares and the price to $14 just before the New York Times story appeared. It depressed the stock to about 12, and the Wolfson group covered 40,400 shares on June 20 (the day of the story) and three days later.

The group was still short 132,000 shares on August 7, when the consent decree was entered. Since then, American Motors has been above 35 and the short position in the stock has only dropped moderately. On August 15, the short interest was 215,000 shares, on September 15, 236,000 shares. On October 15, when the stock closed at 23, 191,000 shares.

It's likely, judging from the record, that the Wolfson group went short American Motors at an average price not much higher than 12, if that high. If the group has not covered any stock, the paper loss so far sustained would amount to about $3,000,000. If half the 132,000 shares have been bought in, the paper loss would be $1,500,000 plus what actual loss they've already taken.

The deal has affected Wolfson's reputation as well as his bank accounts. Bankers, Wall Streeters, and investors quite properly question the propriety of Wolfson's going short stock in a company on whose board he was represented by two directors.

His reputation was hurt in another way. His success in Capital Transit, Merritt-Chapman, and Montgomery Ward made people think of him as a stock-market winner. Followers in his ventures came to be known as the "hungry angels." But American Motors has left the angels hungry.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Dr. Edward A. Rumely has found only one fly in the ointment. Dr. Rumely is executive secretary of an Old Guard Republican branch office known as the Committee for Constitutional Government and is presently engaged in raising funds to finance a broadside attack on Walter Reuther and other labor leaders. This operation has been successful, according to the doctor, except in a single particular.

Thirty of the country's wealthiest men—their names taken from a list of American Croesuses published by Fortune magazine last year—have been solicited, but not one of them has given a cent.

Dr. Rumely's disappointment is probably nothing more than an illustration of a simple principle: a man who has amassed a vast fortune has learned by experience or intuition that it is a bad habit to pour money down drains.

Is it worth while spending cash trying to prove that Walter Reuther is an ogre? If so, then what became of the funds lavished in 1936 upon the effort to prove that John L. Lewis was the same? The Democrats won by an unprecedented landslide, and an unexpected side-effect was that four years later John L. himself was in the Republican camp, whooping louder than almost anybody else.

A costly and utterly futile campaign was conducted in 1944 to convince the voters that, if Mr. Roosevelt were re-elected, the country would be governed by the rule: "Clear everything with Sidney." Sidney was the late Sidney Hillman, a C.I.O. leader and, according to the Republican leaders, an exceedingly evil man.

We know of somebody who used to clear everything with Sherman, who was not a labor leader.

Citizens Committee A Successful Lobby

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has suggested there will be a need for another antic-travel exploration of the rambling federal structure, patterned after the two massive Hoover Commission reports of 1949 and 1955.

If a new reorganization commission is created along the lines of the two headed by former President Herbert Hoover, you can bet that something like the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report also will be revived. The committee, active for years, disbanded last week.

Although strictly unofficial, voluntary and privately supported, the Citizens Committee was to a large degree the agency which made the Hoover reports a real force for federal reform instead of just a multi-million-word commentary on the flaws and foibles of government.

The Citizens Committee was a lobby and a pretty successful one.

In Washington, bright ideas don't become laws automatically, even if the ideas result from years of work by bipartisan commissions under distinguished leadership. They often are received with polite applause and shelved as soon as nobody is looking.

Hoover knew that. From the outset he gave quiet support to the formation of a pressure group that would start needling, wheedling and goading the office holders and lawmakers as soon as his commission's recommendations were issued in 1949.

In the nine years that followed the committee has played the gadfly role.

It didn't win all its battles, by any means. The Pentagon still is not really unified. Dozens of civilian bureaus and offices which the commission said should not report directly to the White House still do. Duplicating agencies still compete in costly and far-flung federal activities.

In many cases the Citizens Committee was handicapped because the Hoover reports—especially the second one, which delved into questions of federal policy instead of sifting matters of organization—were weakened by conflicts within the commission and were riddled with dissenst.

But the Citizens Committee and its staff studied, analyzed and selected; drafted proposed bills and presidential reorganization plans; recruited speakers and issued bulletins of propaganda; enlisted support from civic and business groups across the country; made pests of themselves in government offices and congressional lobbies; and gave pitiless publicity to any actions it considered abuses.

When it closed up shop last Tuesday it could take pride in having helped to achieve some major changes, including: Military Unification Act of 1948 and the Defense Reorganization Act of 1958.

Creation of the 10th federal department—Health, Education and Welfare.

Establishment of a single agency, the General Services Administration, out of four previous agencies which did the government's civilian buying, building and record keeping.

A complete internal reorganization of the State Department.

Adoption of a new business-type system of federal budgeting.

Those were highlights; there were many others. Of the 587 recommendations of both Hoover commissions, 396 were adopted by Congress or the executive branch.

The Mind Is Lagging Behind

NEW YORK—Or is it London or Houston?—(AP)—As planes get faster and the world gets smaller the experts ought now to do something for the mind of man as he's rushed between continents.

It is one thing to increase speed with jets and reduce vibration and noise and otherwise make the physical man comfortable. It is another thing to make the sudden transition between distant points comfortable.

After a lot of long-distance flying I find I need from three hours to two days to catch up with myself. It takes my numbed brain that long to figure out where it is.

You can fly me from Paris to New York between lunch and dinner but actually all you are delivering in New York is my body. My soul is still in Paris. What I need is a kind of mental decompression chamber to make the adjustment.

Which leads me to the fancy geographic name—dropping I intended here all along. In the last three weeks this has happened to me: I flew from New York to Houston, from Houston to Miami, from Miami to New York. Then several days later I set out with a group of press pioneers on Pan American's inaugural jet flight to Paris.

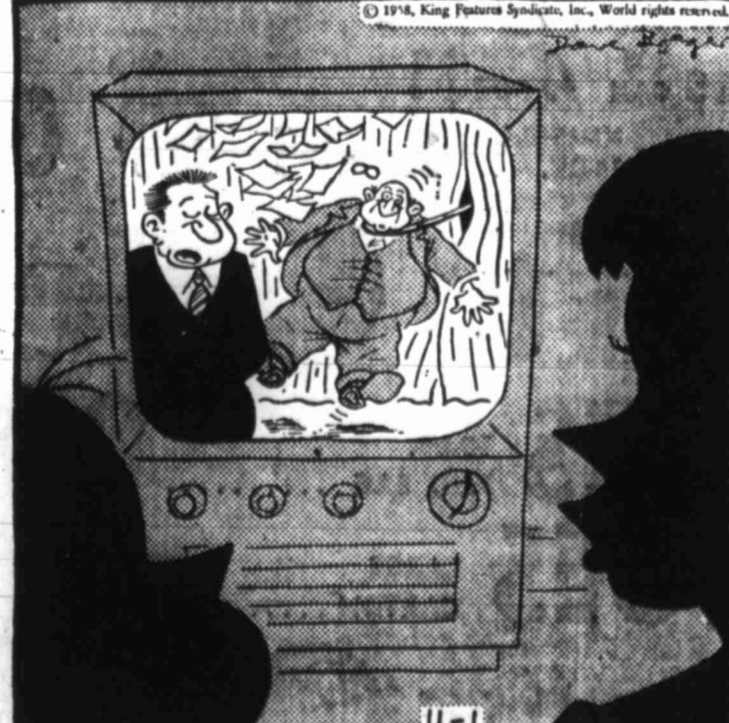

We took off on a Monday about 7:30 p.m. and five hours later, when I normally would be watching the Jack Paar show on TV at home, I found myself in Santa Maria, in The Azores. There, for the first time, I discovered that one of the 107 passengers aboard was a guy I went to school with 20 years ago in Missouri.

Three hours later, when we should have been sleeping, we found ourselves in Paris where people were awakening. Wednesday I left Paris at 10 p.m. and one hour five minutes later arrived in London at 10:05 p.m. London time.

In London I met a guy I used to know in Hackensack, N. J., who was tired of commuting every day by bus from Hackensack to New York. So he got himself a job abroad and now is very British and wears a bowler and lives at No. 1 Lover's Walk in Fichley

"Folks, you have just heard a brief political address from one of the foremost candidates for public office..."

Around The Rim

Turning Our Backs On Politics

Is the great middle class in our nation becoming politically sterile?

Judging from the sale of poll taxes, and the manner in which the citizenry exercises its right to vote, I would think the answer would have to be in the affirmative.

In an essay published not long ago, Andrew Hacker, assistant professor of Government at Cornell University, maintained that most American middle-class citizens have renounced political activity because they do not want to become involved in controversy which might jeopardize their corporate careers.

As an example of the trend, Hacker spotlights the failure of moderate and law-abiding people in Little Rock and elsewhere in the South to make known their racial views.

He attributes the silence partly to the influence of corporations for which many of the people work.

"Because they want to remain respectable and avoid controversy, Hacker writes, 'they have been unable to exercise an influence for freedom and justice and freedom in a critical situation.'"

Corporations, of course, cannot assume the whole blame for the new trend in political reasoning. For some reason, people in this country look upon political activity as dangerous and any idea or political theory not popularly accepted borders on radicalism which, of course, is always a bedfellow of Communism. In that respect, we haven't changed much from our forebears, except for the fact that we have grown a bit more faint-hearted.

Many Americans might be inclined to speak out about a political issue if they thought, deep-down, there was really anything they could do to remedy a problem or improve the political morality of the office holder or the party in control.

Too often, they are inclined to review their own voting record and come to the conclusion that little influence they have at the polls hasn't swayed the policy-makers in the least, that big business and 'the party' run things as they please.

If the corporations have been used as the whipping boys too often, they are not entirely without blame. Often, they have helped promote the idea that politics is a dirty endeavor and something to be carefully avoided.

The trend is dangerous. One has only to look to France as an example of a citizenry which has virtually turned its back on politics and politicians, with the result that chaos seems to be the order of the day.

Too few, and they by default, are being permitted to make our major decisions for us without first consulting the masses.

Who Said Women Need Business Training?

It is no secret that men constitute my favorite sex. They are just darling, and let's have no modest disclaimers on their part. What's more, they are always thriving up the sweetest ways in which to improve my sex and mold it nearer their heart's desire.

Now the New York State Bankers' Association—all men—with money, bless them!—have launched a program or campaign to teach us women the a-b-c's of money management and of banking. There are more than 800 women's clubs and organizations in this state, and the bankers' association plans to spread its educational program through them.

Furthermore, the bankers—goody, goody!—are enlisting other men to help with this missionary endeavor. The ladies are bound to meet some very nice men and—who knows?—some of them may even be eligible!

This splendid decision to help my sex understand the intricacies of finance from balanced budgets to blue chips has come about in a very interesting way. The bankers have just discovered that we girls now vote 70 per cent of all corporation stock, are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all trust funds, spend 80 per cent of all the family income, are the heads of 4,000,000 households or family units, and participate as owners or part owners in 500,000 small businesses.

(There is no mention of such women as Elizabeth Arden, Helena Rubinstein, etc., etc., who head multimillion-dollar corporations.)

Certainly, it is mighty nice of the New York State bankers to undertake to teach financial management to my sex, which seems to have its mitts on most of the nation's money.

But—and, honestly, I hesitate even to suggest this—is it possible that the bankers are . . . well, dear me, I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings . . . trying to educate the wrong sex?

If we women now vote 70 per cent of corporation stock, are empowered to spend 80 per cent of the family income and latch onto 80 per cent of all trust funds, just what is it the bankers hope to teach us? Maybe, how to get the other 30 per cent of corporation stock? How to flog the other 20 per cent of family income? How to pry loose the other 20 per cent of trust funds? Honestly, I don't think we girls ought to be pigs! Let the boys have some pocket money, is my motto, or how are they going to pick up the checks? It can't all be done with credit cards.

It is sweet of the bankers to assume that women who head up families, manage businesses and control the major share of the loot need instructions in the fundamentals of banking and money management.

But, and I only venture this suggestion because I love men so much, wouldn't the bankers be doing an even more salutary job if they taught the boys how to hang on to their goods and chattels? Even if he can't take it with him, a man ought to be taught that there's no point in letting it lie around loose where my foxy sex can pounce on it.

If the bankers believe the harsh financial facts of life outlined above, that is, that women own the lion's share, wouldn't it be more logical to teach the boys how to hang on to what they've got, rather than instruct the girls how to separate them from even more?

Man dearly loves to educate woman, and in the interest of a continuing truce in the battle of the sexes, I think she should always take his guidance with a straight face. Still and all, in this instance, I am convinced the bankers are simply setting out to teach their grandmothers how to suck eggs.

When Worker Loses Right Of Protest

WASHINGTON—If you are a member of any organization and don't like the way it is being run, you can resign. That's a form of protest widely understood in America.

Unfortunately, however, in many states if you are a member of a labor union, you can't resign without losing your job—the boss has agreed by contract with the union to fire you.

This is the essence of the "right to work" controversy. Congress passed a law saying that the states can deal with the problem in their own way. Eighteen states have passed laws forbidding compulsory union membership. The people of six states will vote Tuesday on whether to enact "right to work" laws.

Considerable misrepresentation of the real issue has been broadcast. It has been contended, for instance, by some churchmen that opposition to compulsory membership in unions is immoral. But the evidence shows that many prominent churchmen do not feel that way. Likewise, labor union leaders argue that a worker must not be a "free rider"—that is, he must not be willing to receive the benefits of what the union does without paying for the upkeep of the union.

But that isn't the real issue at all. Here is what the Reverend Edward A. Keller of Notre Dame University, in his book "The Case For Right To Work Laws," published in 1957 by the Heritage Foundation, Inc., Chicago, says:

"It should be pointed out that the non-union workers in an open shop today are not 'free riders' but forced riders since under the Taft-Hartley Act they lose their right to bargain individually with their employers and are forced to bargain through the union."

The Reverend Francis J. Connell, dean of the Sacred School of Theology of Catholic University here in Washington, made an interesting point about the "free rider" theory when he wrote:

"The argument in question is likely to prove a boomerang to Catholics. It is the same argument that anti-Catholics use to make us pay taxes on our school and church property: 'If you get the benefit of fire protection, etc., for your property, you should pay for it.' We answer that we do make compensation to the state by the things of spiritual value we provide for the public. I believe a similar response might be made by the man who does not join a union."

The truth is a non-union member or a union member who has the right at any time to resign in protest can exert a powerful influence in bringing about unions that are democratic and free from corruption and which it would be desirable for the worker to join if he conscientiously believes in unions.

This is the point stressed by the Reverend Edward W. Greenfield, who studied the "right to work" situation at first hand in Indiana when he was pastor of a "Presbyterian church there. As editor of "Faith & Freedom," a religious monthly published in California, he wrote recently:

"It is no longer the employer who decides whether a man may remain in his employment; it is the union, though the employer must do the firing. This remains true whether the union leadership be Communist, corrupt, politically partisan or otherwise indifferent to the rights and interests of union members."

"The workman has lost his freedom of choice in regard to joining or not joining a union. He has been deprived of his most effective weapon of protest, namely withdrawal of support when he does not approve of union policies and leadership. He has been denied the right to hold his job unless he pays money into the union treasury."

Judge Carter of the Nebraska Supreme Court, in upholding the "right to work" laws of that state, wrote:

"We have prided ourselves in this country in the rights of free speech and free thought, rights which have been guaranteed to us by constitutional provision. Compulsory unionism infringes upon these rights and often encroaches upon the right of an individual to be free from coercion by others. To compel him to contribute to the support of economic or political programs adopted by a union, which may be abhorrent to him, is as constitutionally wrong as if similar programs were compelled by the employer. The Fifth amendment protects against the forced appropriation of one's property for the support of ideals which he may desire to oppose."

If the bankers believe the harsh financial facts of life outlined above, that is, that women own the lion's share, wouldn't it be more logical to teach the boys how to hang on to what they've got, rather than instruct the girls how to separate them from even more?

Man dearly loves to educate woman, and in the interest of a continuing truce in the battle of the sexes, I think she should always take his guidance with a straight face. Still and all, in this instance, I am convinced the bankers are simply setting out to teach their grandmothers how to suck eggs.

But—and, honestly, I hesitate even to suggest this—is it possible that the bankers are . . . well, dear me, I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings . . . trying to educate the wrong sex?

If we women now vote 70 per cent of corporation stock, are empowered to spend 80 per cent of the family income and latch onto 80 per cent of all trust funds, just what is it the bankers hope to teach us? Maybe, how to get the other 30 per cent of corporation stock? How to flog the other 20 per cent of family income? How to pry loose the other 20 per cent of trust funds? Honestly, I don't think we girls ought to be pigs! Let the boys have some pocket money, is my motto, or how are they going to pick up the checks? It can't all be done with credit cards.

It is sweet of the bankers to assume that women who head up families, manage businesses and control the major share of the loot need instructions in the fundamentals of banking and money management.

But, and I only venture this suggestion because I love men so much, wouldn't the bankers be doing an even more salutary job if they taught the boys how to hang on to their goods and chattels? Even if he can't take it with him, a man ought to be taught that there's no point in letting it lie around loose where my foxy sex can pounce on it.

If the bankers believe the harsh financial facts of life outlined above, that is, that women own the lion's share, wouldn't it be more logical to teach the boys how to hang on to what they've got, rather than instruct the girls how to separate them from even more?

Man dearly loves to educate woman, and in the interest of a continuing truce in the battle of the sexes, I think she should always take his guidance with a straight face. Still and all, in this instance, I am convinced the bankers are simply setting out to teach their grandmothers how to suck eggs.

WASHINGTON—If you are a member of any organization and don't like the way it is being run, you can resign. That's a form of protest widely understood in America.

Unfortunately, however, in many states if you are a member of a labor union, you can't resign without losing your job—the boss has agreed by contract with the union to fire you.

This is the essence of the "right to work" controversy. Congress passed a law saying that the states can deal with the problem in their own way. Eighteen states have passed laws forbidding compulsory union membership. The people of six states will vote Tuesday on whether to enact "right to work" laws.

Considerable misrepresentation of the real issue has been broadcast. It has been contended, for instance, by some churchmen that opposition to compulsory membership in unions is immoral. But the evidence shows that many prominent churchmen do not feel that way. Likewise, labor union leaders argue that a worker must not be a "free rider"—that is, he must not be willing to receive the benefits of what the union does without paying for the upkeep of the union.

But that isn't the real issue at all. Here is what the Reverend Edward A. Keller of Notre Dame University, in his book "The Case For Right To Work Laws," published in 1957 by the Heritage Foundation, Inc., Chicago, says:

"It should be pointed out that the non-union workers in an open shop today are not 'free riders' but forced riders since under the Taft-Hartley Act they lose their right to bargain individually with their employers and are forced to bargain through the union."

The Reverend Francis J. Connell, dean of the Sacred School of Theology of Catholic University here in Washington, made an interesting point about the "free rider" theory when he wrote:

Miner Rescued

Rescuers come to surface with one of seven miners found alive 10 days after massive earth shift entombed them in the Chamberland No. 2 coal mine near Springhill, N. S. This survivor, Douglas Jewkes (center, with bandage on head), was spryest of group found 13,000 feet below ground, waving and calling to friends as he emerged. (AP Wirephoto).

Allies Agree On Strategy For New Military Talks With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Allied nations have agreed on strategy for their talks with the Soviet Union on how to avoid surprise military attacks. The conference starts in Geneva next week. The Western plan stresses that the military experts and scientists should first concentrate on studying weapons capability and preventive measures. Only later would the great powers tackle disputed political issues, such as where and how zones of inspection should be created. The Western approach appears to be the exact opposite of that charted by the Soviet Union. The negotiations, therefore, will start off with the same dim chances for success as the current East-West talks on ending nuclear weapons testing. The surprise-attack negotiations

Boy, 13, Kills Stepfather To Protect Family

HOUSTON (AP) — A teen-ager, claiming he sought to protect his mother and sister, shot and killed his stepfather yesterday with a gun police said they had taken from the youngster last June. Deputy Sheriff J. B. Mott said Jerry Spriggs, 13, signed a statement in which the youth said he fired at the man with a .22 rifle. John Staples, 53, died with a gunshot wound in his left side. Mott said the boy said in the statement that "my stepfather has been drinking a lot and when he is drinking he is mean to my mother and my sisters and brothers and me." Staples and the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Staples, 40, were separated. The youth said in the statement that Staples appeared at the home early yesterday, stood in the backyard and hurled a bowl and some pie tins at the house, and cursed him. Then, he said, Staples picked up a mop handle and went inside the house and began beating Mrs. Staples. The boy said he got the rifle from a bedroom and fired when he saw Staples was about to strike his sister, Nancy, 15. Sheriff's Capt. Gus George said the youth used the rifle to fire at his stepfather last June 19.

Ike Facing Loss Of Some GOP Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may face a sharp decline in day-by-day support among Senate Republicans if Democrats make expected inroads into GOP strength in Tuesday's voting. Already substantially outnumbered among holdover GOP members, the "Modern Republicans" Eisenhower has plugged in the past seem likely to add few recruits to their ranks. Of five GOP senatorial candidates who are given better than an even chance of winning, only Rep. Winston L. Prouty of Vermont is listed as a thick-and-thin supporter of Eisenhower's programs. The others are Senators John J. Williams of Delaware, Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, William Langer of North Dakota and John W. Bricker of Ohio. Among a dozen other Republican senatorial candidates who are given a nearly even chance to sur-

Nixon Stands By Claims Of Gains For Republicans

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Vice President Nixon hurried through this vast territory, which will soon become the 49th state, with plugs for the Eisenhower administration, jabs at former President Truman and some cheerful words for the Republican party. Nixon will wind up his whirlwind tour of Alaska with speeches here today. The vice president again reported that his cross-continent swing has revealed a late surge for the Republican party. He said here that Republicans have a good chance of ousting Democratic governors in the states of Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, New York and Rhode Island. But he would make no specific forecasts on the House and Senate races. Republican statehouse chances don't appear as strong in Ohio, Maryland and his home state of California, he said. Nixon praised Eisenhower's poli-

DEAR ABBY 'SWORD TO FIGHT'

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: As a minister I am sometimes disturbed by the number of people who come to me and expect me to do something in twenty minutes (equal to adjusting a carburetor) that will solve all their personal and family problems. I think your readers should realize that all ministers have some knowledge of elementary psychology, but the minister's prescription, has no friends of her own and makes me miserable. Everything she cooks we either have to choke down or throw out. Please tell me what to do before I end up in a sanitarium. HAD IT DEAR HAD: When a man marries a woman with children, he knows the children go with Mama (sort of a "package deal.") But a man's mother is not usually "packaged" with the man. Unless you agreed before your marriage to "accept" his mother on a live-in basis, you have every right to ask for a new deal.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who thinks she is clean because the brass pipes under her sink are polished, but you should hear the language she uses! Her kitchen sink is cleaner than her mouth by a far sight. Don't you think that cleanliness should start with a person's own mouth? Your opinion in the paper would be appreciated. Thank you. "CLEAN MOUTH, DIRTY SINK" DEAR CLEAN MOUTH: A clean mouth is far more important than a clean sink, but it shouldn't be necessary to choose between the two.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. S.: Make up your mind—do you want this woman's FRIENDSHIP or do you want her HUSBAND? Find yourself a single man to ride to work with or—take the train.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I am a truck driver and I know truck drivers are not considered perfect gentlemen by the general public, but I don't know of one who would not jump up to give an expectant mother his seat on the bus. A very good friend of mine who is now a truck driver, but at one time drove a bus, told me this story. He said one day the bus he was driving was very crowded and he stopped to pick up a lady who was very pregnant. He didn't make a move to start the bus, but waited for someone to stand up and offer her a seat. Nobody made a move to get up, so this bus driver finally got up and said, "Here, Lady, take my seat." He got out of the bus and sat down on the grass adjoining the sidewalk. Finally some man figured out that they weren't going any place so he got up and offered her his seat. I think this should be standard procedure for all bus drivers. It's not up to us to judge whether pregnant women should be home or not. A TRUCK DRIVER

McCrary On The Loose

Benny McCrary (80), star end of the Big Spring Steers, is shown running for a sizeable gain after catching one of the four passes he gathered in during last weekend's game with Odessa. No. 33 is Buddy New. Odessa. The boy at the left is Tommy Smith. Broncho tackle. All five of the passes to McCrary were thrown by Bill French. Odessa won the game, 22-14.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

WITH TOMMY HART

There is talk Midland will bid for the services of John Conley, the present Snyder coach, if and when Audrey Gill is ousted as head coach there. Gill may be on the pan because his Bulldogs have fared poorly to date.

The Bulldogs' lackluster showing thus far, of course, can be blamed largely on injuries to key personnel. In games where Gill has had everybody ready, the Bulldogs have looked good.

If Conley should move, chances are he'd take two of his assistants, Hal Battle and Horace Bostick, with him. Both are ex-Big Spring athletes.

When Casey Stengel steps down as manager of the New York Yankees (they say he'll put in two more years on the job and then check out), Jerry Coleman reportedly will succeed him. The Yankees have been grooming Coleman for the position.

The New York Knickerbockers of the pro basketball league averaged 112 points a game last year, and finished last.

Chuck Moser, the Abilene coach, has never had a sophomore to outperform his freshmen, and has had only three sophos on his defensive unit.

They were Henry Colwell, Stuart Peake and Rufus King.

Moser invariably plays his sophomores on his B team and junior varsity.

Ed Dudley, the Texas Aggies' biggest star in the Baylor game, is the boy who ran and punted Big Spring into defeat while performing for Pampa a few years ago. Dudley was one of the greatest punters in Texas Interscholastic League history.

The New York Times, in a recent Sunday edition, gave Don Maynard, the New York Giants' rookie grizzer, quite a sendoff, but listed his home town erroneously as Crosbyton, Texas.

The good people in Colorado City can justifiably feel hacked. Don was one of the finest athletes in the history of Colorado City High School. Don's folks now reside in Odessa.

Don asked for and received permission to use a football jersey with No. 13 on it. He believes in good luck charms and says he's never suffered a serious injury in football because of the number.

What would he have done had the Giants refused to let him wear the number?

"Why, I wouldn't have played for them," Maynard says.

It cost the Chamber of Commerce $344.79 to sponsor the Merkle Stadium playoff football game here two years ago but only $2.40 for the Baird-Wink Regional championship game here in 1957.

Bill Quimby, manager of the local Chamber, reasons the city can get off for less than that in any future game, now that the Baird-Wink Regional Club has agreed to lend its assistance to such a venture.

Johnny Morris, Houston University track coach who is one of the best friends the ABC Relays here, has recruited himself an Australian distance runner.

He is Al Lawrence, who recently ran the two-mile race in 8:54.5, a national record for a freshman.

Lawrence shattered the mark in a steady rain while the wind was blowing.

Midland's leading ground gainer is Yippy Rankin, the boy who had the biggest hand in last year's 7-0 Bulldog win over Big Spring.

Bill Wambagans, the only baseball player ever to pull an unassisted triple play in the World Series (Cleveland vs. Brooklyn in 1920) is now a sales representative for the Tru-Fit Screw Products Company of Lakewood, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland.

The Pacific Coast race became snarled when Oregon State knocked off California 14-8 and took first place with a 4-1 record. California is second at 3-1 with Washington State third at 4-2. Washington State, a 38-20 winner over UCLA, plays Oregon State this week while Cal plays UCLA.

Giants Put S. Huff On Brown And Win

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

How did the New York Giants put an end to the growing myths that Cleveland was invincible and Jimmy Brown superhuman? Chuck Conery pitched and Sam Huff caught it. It was that simple.

Conery, 37, tossed three touchdown passes, including the clincher to Alex Webster in the fourth quarter as the Giants upset the previously undefeated Browns 21-7 Sunday.

And what did Huff catch? Two handfuls of Jimmy Brown.

The massive 230-pound Huff, specifically assigned to handle Brown man-to-man from his middle guard position, held Brown 50 yards under his average. Only once was Brown able to break away on a long gain.

The victory moved the Giants into contention for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League with a 4-2 record. First-place Cleveland now is 5-1.

In the Western Conference, John Unitas pitched two more touchdowns as Baltimore run its unbeaten string to six games by thumping Green Bay 56-0. It was the 21st consecutive game in which Unitas has tossed for a TD, moving him to within two of the all-time record.

The Colts' victory, coupled with the Chicago Bears' 41-35 loss to Los Angeles as Jon Arnett ran wild, brought them closer to their first title since entering the league in 1953. The Colts are two games in front of second-place Chicago, now 4-2.

In other games, Pittsburgh defeated Washington 24-16; San Francisco edged Detroit 24-21; and Philadelphia and Chicago's Cardinals played to a 21-21 tie.

The Giants came back from a 17-7 halftime deficit. They were back in the game on a Conery to Webster touchdown pass that covered 15 yards, in their winning drive the Giants got two breaks, roughing the kicker and pass interference penalties. Webster wrapped it up, taking Conery's flat pass on the 10 and eluding two tacklers to score at 2:50 of the final quarter.

Cadets Show No Mercy With Foes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rice Coach Jess Neely, whose late starting Owls meet the Army's mighty Pete Dawkins and Co. here Saturday, finds at least one shortcoming in the Cadets' attack — they lack mercy.

Just how that might help the sixteenth-ranked Owls against the Nation's No. 3 team isn't quite clear, but Neely has a point.

Army Coach Red Blaik let all of his boys in on the act Saturday as the West Pointers clobbered outclassed Colgate, 68-6. Dawkins, classy halfback Bob Anderson and the rest of the Army first stringers never got off the bench after the half.

Rice, which stomped Texas 34-7 in its last outing Oct. 25, had the week off.

LSU, Rutgers Lone All-Winning 11's

NEW YORK (AP) — Louisiana State and Rutgers were the lone major teams on the unbeaten, untied college football list today after weekend results had reduced the select group to 22.

LSU has won seven games and Rutgers six. Four teams — Kearney (Neb.), St. Benedict's (Kan.), Arizona State at Flagstaff and Northeastern (Okl.) — top the small college unbeaten with eight victories each.

Rochester remained unbeaten in six games but had their goal line crossed for the first time when they beat DePauw of Indiana 20-6.

Meredith Gives Mustangs Confidence They Need

DALLAS (AP) — Don Meredith's back and Southern Methodist is ready to make its move.

The Methodist, who got inspiration for victory over Georgia Tech just because dangerous Don, the mighty passer, was on the bench ready for use if necessary, called on the confident quarter-back to pull it out over Texas.

He did with a touchdown pass and a personal touchdown as SMU came from behind to win 26-10 and jump back into the Southwest conference race.

Meredith had been out of action for 12 quarters when he finally got back into the lineup. It was for three downs against Georgia Tech and he flung a 22-yard pass for a touchdown.

Saturday he was used sparingly against Texas because his inactivity had made him rusty. He wasn't as sharp as usual when he took charge with his team behind 10-0 in the third period.

The injury he received against Notre Dame has healed except "for a catch in his hip" according to Coach Bill Meek, who says Meredith now is ready for full action.

Meredith, who set a new collegiate record last year with a 696 average for completions, is not up to that this season but he still has quite a record considering the time played. He has thrown 54 and completed 36 for 667 and 448 yards.

When Don goes in the whole team perks up. His confidence—and he always has it to the extent of almost cockiness—puts fire into the Mustangs. "There are many, good football players but few who have that something extra that makes them perform great deeds in the clutch," says Meek. "Meredith has it."

Southern Methodist has Texas A&M, Arkansas, Baylor and Texas as Christians to play. The fans think SMU will take those unless something happens again to Meredith. So, SMU is hoping for a Texas Christian victory over Rice. Only in that way can the Methodists get into the championship race since the Meredith minus Mustangs lost to Rice.

But Meredith will be the first to tell you this all can be done. He can make you believe it, too.

BALANCE OF POWER UPENDED IN 2 MAJOR CONFERENCES

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

The balance of power has been upended in the Big Ten and Southeastern conferences. Notre Dame was just a good team gone wrong. And the boys from Syracuse aren't going to spend the year-end holidays at home.

That's the way things look after the last weekend of college football.

It's been a long, long time since Ohio State, Michigan or Michigan State have failed to stand among the top three in the Big Ten. But that's the way it is at the moment, with Iowa, Northwestern and Purdue on top.

Northwestern, the season's surprise club, rebounded from its lone loss (to Iowa) and handed Ohio State its first Big Ten defeat in two years, 21-0. That dropped the Buckeyes to a tie for fourth with Wisconsin. The Badgers defeated Michigan State 9-7, plunking the Spartans to the bottom with Minnesota, both winless in the Big Ten.

Iowa, with only a tie by Air Force marring its season record, stayed in the running for the national title as well as the Big Ten crown and Rose Bowl shot by smacking Michigan 37-14.

The Hawkeyes are at Minnesota this week. Northwestern is at Wisconsin in a showdown of upstarts, and Purdue puts it on the line at Ohio State.

Louisiana State, the nation's No. 1 team in last week's Associated Press poll, bounced previously unbeaten Mississippi 14-0. That kept LSU (7-0) first in the SEC and left the Tigers paired with Rutgers (6-0) as the only major unbeaten, untied teams in the nation.

It also sent LSU spinning toward the Sugar Bowl with only bowl-banned Auburn close to the Tigers in the SEC, Auburn, unbeaten but tied, defeated Florida this weekend while LSU plays Duke.

Notre Dame isn't going to a bowl. But the Irish aren't headed for oblivion either. After defeats by Army and Purdue and a tough time against Duke, the Irish clubbed Navy 40-20. All of which is no help to Pitt, which faces Notre Dame this weekend after losing 16-13 to Syracuse.

Syracuse now is 5-1 and plays Boston University this weekend, with Colgate and West Virginia the only other hurdles from here to a bowl.

Army, the other big independent in the East, smashed Colgate as expected, 68-6. It plays Rice this weekend.

Rice, idle last weekend, is tied for the Southwest Conference lead at 3-0 with Texas Christian. But with four weeks left in a usually cockeyed race, it's three weeks too early to start tabbing a likely champ and Cotton Bowl host, TCU whipped Baylor 22-0 and takes a breather against Marquette this week. Southern Methodist, also in the picture, beat Texas 26-10 and plays Baylor next.

Oklahoma, beaten only by Texas, stretched its Big Eight record by jarring Colorado 23-7. It was the Buffs' first loss. Colorado plays Missouri this week. Mizou defeated Nebraska 31-0 and is tied with Oklahoma at 3-0. But the Sooners, who play Iowa State, are the pick, as usual, for the title and Orange Bowl.

Clemson, the Atlantic Coast Conference leader at 4-1, beat Wake Forest 14-12 in an unexpected tangle, and plays Georgia Tech of the SEC this weekend.

West Virginia again tops the Southern Conference (3-0) after beating George Washington 35-12. West Virginia plays Penn State this week.

The Pacific Coast race became snarled when Oregon State knocked off California 14-8 and took first place with a 4-1 record. California is second at 3-1 with Washington State third at 4-2. Washington State, a 38-20 winner over UCLA, plays Oregon State this week while Cal plays UCLA.

Midland's leading ground gainer is Yippy Rankin, the boy who had the biggest hand in last year's 7-0 Bulldog win over Big Spring.

Bill Wambagans, the only baseball player ever to pull an unassisted triple play in the World Series (Cleveland vs. Brooklyn in 1920) is now a sales representative for the Tru-Fit Screw Products Company of Lakewood, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland.

The Pacific Coast race became snarled when Oregon State knocked off California 14-8 and took first place with a 4-1 record. California is second at 3-1 with Washington State third at 4-2. Washington State, a 38-20 winner over UCLA, plays Oregon State this week while Cal plays UCLA.

CITY LEAGUE PLAYERS

All-Star Elevens Clash On Friday

The annual City Elementary takes place Friday night at Memorial Stadium as a prelude to the Big Spring - Midland District 2-AAAA contest.

The two elevens will begin play at 6 p.m.

Aligned on one side will be players from Bauer, Boydston, Airport and Cedar Crest. They will meet a team composed of athletes from Washington Place, College Heights, Washington Goliah and Park Hill.

About five players were to be picked from each club.

Bauer won the City crown last week, although being held to a tie by College Heights, 0-0.

Harold Bentley, co-ordinator of athletics in junior high and the elementary grades here, is meeting with the coaches this week to select the personnel appearing in the game.

Jesse Jaime, coach of the pennant-winning Bauer club, and C. W. Tanner will coach one team while Carlos Humphrey and Bernard Rains will mastermind the other.

The all-star game was inaugurated last year with great success.

The Midland game winds up the home season for the Big Spring Steers. Fair weather should bring out a large crowd.

There will be no adjustment in price of tickets, despite the added attraction.

Four Winners Are Named In Tourney

The championship match between Charles Bailey and Bobby Wright in the City Golf tournament remains to be played but four consolation winners have been determined.

Bailey and Wright are due to tangle sometime this week for the crown, which has already been won by Wright three times.

In the first flight consolation finals, John Ed Brown outlasted Bill Swindell, 3 and 2.

N. L. Patterson won second flight consolation laurels with a 3 and 2 triumph over V. E. Jones.

Third flight consolation honors went to Claude Ramsey, who beat Fred Overton, 5 and 4.

Tommy Wilkerson earned the fourth flight consolation title with a 3 and 2 success at the expense of Bill Crooker.

Cage Twin Bill Is Re-Scheduled

Lakeview's Rockets will be prepared again Wednesday night for a try at the Colorado City cagers in a non-conference basketball exhibition game here.

A triple-header which was originally slated for last week was postponed because the Colorado City team's bus broke down, but a doubleheader this week—boys and girls varsity tilts—will make up for lost time.

The first game, between the girls, begins at 7 p.m., with the boys' clash immediately following.

LSU, Rutgers Lone All-Winning 11's

NEW YORK (AP) — Louisiana State and Rutgers were the lone major teams on the unbeaten, untied college football list today after weekend results had reduced the select group to 22.

LSU has won seven games and Rutgers six. Four teams — Kearney (Neb.), St. Benedict's (Kan.), Arizona State at Flagstaff and Northeastern (Okl.) — top the small college unbeaten with eight victories each.

Rochester remained unbeaten in six games but had their goal line crossed for the first time when they beat DePauw of Indiana 20-6.

Winners Announced In Saturday Flower Show

Results of the Fall Flower Show, presented Saturday in the gym at Howard County Junior College, have been announced. The show was sponsored by the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs.

Mrs. John Furquerson took the tricolor in the artistic arrangement; Mrs. W. D. Caldwell was given the award of distinction, and Mrs. Bill Tubb won the sweepstakes award in that division.

Mrs. Tubb also took the sweepstakes award and the award of merit in the horticulture division. In the junior division, Jim Frazier walked off with the tricolor and the junior achievement award. Gregg Gossett took the artistic division sweepstakes, and Jim Frazier, the horticulture sweepstakes.

Theme of the show was Garden Greetings by the Month. Following that idea, the setting was arranged to show the four seasons, with each of four clubs responsible for decorating a corner of the gym floor.

The Big Spring Garden Club, with a harvest scene, won first place; the Oasis Club, for a summer barbecue setting, won second. Third place went to the Rosebud Club, which arranged a Christmas scene of Santa and his reindeer, and fourth place was awarded to the Spaders Club for a spring setting.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Are you faced with that old popularity issue now that you are back in school? If so, don't despair.

There are girls who are not popular with boys, and girls who are so popular with boys they aren't popular with girls. Every girl needs both, the companionship of girls and boys, to have a happy teenhood. She should make an effort to achieve that goal with her new classmates.

TWO PROBLEMS

Let's look at a couple of popularity problems, and see how they may be handled effectively.

There is the girl who is popular with boys, but not with girls. Why?

One reason is that she devotes herself entirely to the boys, and has little time for girls. Another is that she doesn't double-date with girl friends and their dates.

The attitude of other girls to her may be indicated by their failure to try to interest the girl in extracurricular events or that they do not invite her to their special little hen parties.

The girl who is snubbed may suspect she is being slighted and campaign to gain or regain these friendships. She can do it (1) by having an all-girl party or if she suspects that won't attract her friends, (2) by having a big wing-ding with you know who BOYS. Even the perennial grudge carrier will forget her chip-on-the-shoulder for a party with boys, and a popular type should be able to pull off that party.

It is more difficult to gain popularity with boys so the girl who finds that her problem is in attracting the male animal to her hunting grounds had better make a new pitch.

Strike a happy medium pose with males you like—do not gush over them, but don't ignore or belittle them, if that has been your technique.

AGE-OLD ADVICE

Let a boy talk about himself and his pursuits, and be prepared to gain a little knowledge on his favorite subjects so you will not be left in the lurch when he asks you a simple question along those lines. Be a good listener.

Oh, yes, you may talk occasionally, but don't pick a dull subject. Once the conversation gets into the realm of "girl-talk" boys become uneasy. Wait until you know him well to spout off about your girl friends, your parents, the size of your allowance.

Be jolly, if you'd get good mileage out of your date. Take leave from him early enough, so he'll wish the evening had continued.

One thing to avoid at all costs is the subject of marriage. Young men are very shy about such things, and while you may invite him to meet your family, taste your cooking or even knit him socks for his birthday, once he suspects that your motive is matrimony, he'll fly the trap. Keep it all on the good-pal basis and you will not have much trouble holding him as a date for awhile.

Local LVN Division Honored

At a meeting of Texas Licensed Vocational Nurses held in Dallas this weekend, the Big Spring division, number 25, was awarded a citation of merit for accuracy in reporting and for cooperation with other workers.

This was the report given by Mrs. Rufus Tuckness, who attended the meeting with Mrs. M. S. Toops and Mrs. Willie Mae Butler.

Present were 250 LVNs with 240 students. Mrs. Tuckness said Mrs. Tuckness is the outgoing secretary-treasurer of the local division, with Mrs. Butler to succeed her.

Mrs. Toops is the incoming president, to succeed Mrs. V. W. Kemper. The former went to New Orleans where she will visit relatives. Mrs. Tuckness and Gene accompanied the women on the trip.

1930 Hyperion Club Votes For Assistance To Recreation Center

Members of the 1930 Hyperion Club, meeting in the home of Mrs. Champ Rainwater Saturday afternoon, went on record as favoring assistance to the Westside Recreation Center. Mrs. B. L. LeFever was cohostess.

Help for the center will be given from funds in the treasury of the city federation to the amount of about $300. This will include draperies, a record player and some records and other necessary improvements.

The group was reminded of the card party to be given Nov. 11 at Couden Country Club, when the 1933 Hyperion members will be hostesses. Proceeds from the benefit affair will go into the club fund to furnish a room in the YMCA Building when it is completed.

The group assessed themselves for the welfare fund, part of which will be used to give a party at the state hospital on Dec. 22.

The program was presented on the study of England. Mrs. Charles Weeg, chairman of the committee, introduced the subject; Mrs. Ira Thurman read an article on the history of England.

Mrs. Weeg discussed the English people, giving characteristics, such as their love of liberty, their fearlessness, their leadership and their love of the land, which she described as coming from the various peoples who had ruled the land; these included the Angles, the Saxons, Jutes and Vikings.

The speaker also mentioned outstanding literary figures and leaders, showing how England reached pinnacles of power under the reign of two women, Queen Elizabeth I and Queen Victoria.

Mrs. R. W. Thompson, describing the traditions of the English, told the group of ceremonies which have been followed for hundreds of years. She touched on traditions centering around the Tower of London, the various castles of the land and the English customs.

Seventeen were served refreshments. Mrs. Roscoe Cowper was announced as the next hostess, with Mrs. Maurice Koger as co-hostess.

Members of the 1930 Hyperion Club, meeting in the home of Mrs. Champ Rainwater Saturday afternoon, went on record as favoring assistance to the Westside Recreation Center. Mrs. B. L. LeFever was cohostess.

Help for the center will be given from funds in the treasury of the city federation to the amount of about $300. This will include draperies, a record player and some records and other necessary improvements.

The group was reminded of the card party to be given Nov. 11 at Couden Country Club, when the 1933 Hyperion members will be hostesses. Proceeds from the benefit affair will go into the club fund to furnish a room in the YMCA Building when it is completed.

The group assessed themselves for the welfare fund, part of which will be used to give a party at the state hospital on Dec. 22.

For Judy Stearman, 3, a victim since birth of incurable cancer, this meeting with Lassie, dog star of movies and television, was a dream come true. The little girl told her parents, lawyer and Mrs. Stanley Stearman of Washington, D.C., she'd like to "meet Lassie more than any star." They took her to Hollywood where producers, who ordinarily bar youngsters from the set, made an exception in Judy's case.

Dunking Latin Lass May Lead Movies To South

By SAM SUMMERLIN BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A saucy Latin lass has smashed South American box office records with the most daring dunking since Hedy Lamar risked to fame in "Ecstasy."

Isabel Sarli's nude bath in her film debut rocked some Latin capitals. But the audacious 23-year-old Argentine raised hopes that she may be the key to pulling the world movie eye southward.

Latin beauties have run away with the Miss Universe crown two years in a row, but there hasn't been a major South American movie queen since the fiery Carmen Miranda.

Sarli danced into the limelight by capturing the Miss Argentina contest in 1955. She didn't win the world crown at Long Beach, Calif., but she blazed a well-remembered trail with her pungent remark that her dream man would be a "Marlon Brando who bathes."

Back home, Sarli wasn't interested in movie making. But the bug finally bit her when Armando Bo, one of Argentina's veteran actors and directors, talked her into taking the starring role in his film version of a Paraguayan classic, "Thunder Among the Leaves."

Bo, Argentina's Humphrey Bogart, was her leading man, but Sarli snagged the headlines in her film debut with a splash in the nude in a Paraguayan lagoon.

The movie, a brutal story of a white plantation boss and his iron rule over Paraguayan Indians and peons, was filmed in the jungle of the tiny landlocked nation that lies just north of Argentina.

The movie's premiere, in Montevideo broke box office records. The opening in Buenos Aires was hailed as the start of a new era for Argentina's movie industry which has flourished since it fell under the iron grip of ex-dictator Juan Peron's propaganda chiefs.

Sarli says she has been offered tempting roles in European films, particularly in Italy. But... "I want to stay home and learn to be a good actress, not just a nude one. The job of an actress is generally regarded as being a trifle temperamental — some big stars are, you know. We don't want any last minute hitches, especially over who should share his dressing room."

Harrison, who acts his way through the songs of "My Fair Lady," will rush over from the Drury Lane theater with other members of the cast after his own show to wind up the royal show.

So dressing room No. 1 will be empty most of the night anyway. Crowded into No. 2 are many leading lights in the British vaudeville world. They include Stanley Holloway, who is a co-star of Harrison's in "My Fair Lady."

Bygraves, a jolly sort, said he had taken it for granted Harrison would be with all the boys in Room 2.

"What everyone should realize is that this is a charity show and we are all mucking in together," he commented—and that was all.

"What does it matter, anyway?" asked Boone.

The only other private dressing room in tonight's show went to America's singing star Eartha Kitt.

Thief Deals Heavy Blow

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The thief dealt Edward Haynes an enormous blow. Eddie is 20, a compositor's helper, just starting his career. His wife Jeanette, only 19, has leukemia.

The medical bills for her treatment average $25 a week. Eddie met them. He bought a truck, on credit, and started a dry cleaning delivery service.

He denied himself, worked hard and soon he was earning $30 a week from his sideline.

Two months ago Jeanette gave birth to a daughter. The hospital bill for the delivery came last week. It was $347. Still Eddie had made plans to meet it.

Then the weekend he left his truck parked on the street. It was loaded with orders he was to deliver today — dresses, suits, blankets. The estimated value was $1,000.

The thief broke into the truck and cleaned it out. There was no insurance. Eddie must make up the loss.

Papal Coronation Has Rome Aglitter

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The vast basilica of St. Peter's glittered with brilliant light today in preparation for the coronation of Pope John XXIII.

From around the free world, high dignitaries converged on Rome for the spectacular ceremony Tuesday morning—the feast day of St. Charles Borromeo, a favorite saint of the new pontiff.

The ceremony will parade all the medieval pageantry of the Roman Catholic Church. A procession of representatives of all the ancient orders of the church will escort the new pontiff in majestic splendor to the main doors of the basilica.

Once the pontiff passes through the door, borne on his portable throne by scarlet-clad bearers, the crowd's view of the ceremonies will be cut off.

Inside the foyer, the Pope will walk up five red-covered steps to a throne.

Foreign dignitaries will watch from a platform 20 feet to the pontiff's right, while the 51 cardinals present for the coronation go through the long rite of doing reverence to their sovereign.

The Pope will mount the portable throne again to be carried into the basilica itself while the foreign guests are escorted to their places of honor.

On the way to the central altar the Pope will stop to pray at the chapel of the Holy Sacrament on the right side of the basilica. He will be carried then to the chapel of St. Gregory, on the left side of the basilica, where he will be clothed in the brilliant vestments of the coronation.

The pontiff then will be carried to the central altar, stopping on the way to be reminded, by the burning of flax, of the passing glory of the world. The Pope himself will begin the solemn high Pontifical Mass with the recitation of the confiteor at the central altar.

After the mass, the Pope will be carried to the central balcony, overlooking the vast square with hundreds of thousands of cheering spectators.

The three-tiered gold, jewel-encrusted tiara will be placed on the Pope's head. The Pope then will pronounce the benediction ubi et ori—the city of Rome and the world.

The ceremonies are expected to last from four to five hours.

The ceremonies are scheduled to start at 8:30 a.m. and end at 3:30 a.m.

Pope John XXIII Has A Hard Road

By FRANK BRUTTO VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII starts his reign at a time of relative peace, but he faces problems just as burdensome as those of his predecessor, who ruled through hot and cold world war.

To a large extent they are the same problems that Pope Pius XII carried for 19 years. Foremost among them:

1. The Roman Catholic Church's continuing struggle against atheistic communism.

2. The church's efforts in behalf of social improvements and equitable distribution of the world's riches.

3. The administration of the church itself. Today, despite restrictions, it is by Communist-ruled nations, it is more powerful than at any time in its history and counts half a billion members, about a fifth of the world's population.

4. The church's constant and continuing efforts to bring back to the fold those who have left it, and to expand its spiritual dominion throughout the world.

5. The restoration of true peace, a problem to which Pius XII and his predecessor, Pius XI, devoted much attention.

6. These problems the new Pope could add another more immediate one — the thinned ranks of the College of Cardinals, the church's high senate body.

Its 53 members average 73 years of age. Many of them are bent and weighted with more than the 76 years that the Pope himself carries.

U.S. To Launch 3rd Moon Probe Within A Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will launch its third Air Force lunar probe within a week or so the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today.

The official announcement was coupled with a formal estimate that the third effort has "one in 25" chances of reaching the vicinity of the moon.

NASA declined to say on the record when the third moon shot will be attempted. Standard reference books that set forth the phases of the moon and the times of the year when it is relatively nearer the earth indicate the best time to shoot for the moon would come up in the period of three or four days starting Nov. 7.

At a news conference, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the NASA, cautioned against any great optimism about the shot.

"If we are very fortunate, we may achieve trajectory and velocity control sufficient to position the probe in the vicinity of the moon," he said.

Russia Reported Willing To Accept Test Ban Controls

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union is willing to have international control posts on her territory to police a nuclear test ban, Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin has told a delegation of British members.

The women told a news conference today about an interview with Tsarapkin. He did not say whether the Soviet Union would insist that operators of control posts in her territory be Soviet citizens, they reported.

American, British and Soviet delegates resumed their formal conference at the Palace of Nations on policing a test ban today after a weekend of private exchanges.

The British women came here to ask all three atomic nations to take the initiative in ending tests regardless of what any other nation does.

Cliburn Captures N. Jersey Audience

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—An audience of 7,000 gave Texas pianist Van Cliburn loud and long applause at a concert here last night.

Cliburn said the crowd "was marvelous — wonderful." He is from Kilgore, Tex.

The artist gave a thundering rendition of Tchaikovsky's first piano concerto. His program also included Schubert, Debussy and Liszt selections.

Joining scores of teen-age autograph seekers at the concert were New Jersey Gov. and Mrs. Robert Meyner and a polo player, Mrs. Norman Duchin, who came from West Orange, N.J., in a wheel chair.

Actress' Son Is Wed Sunday

SOLEBURY, Pa. (AP)—James Gordon MacArthur, son of actress Helen Hayes, and Joyce Collins Bullfinch, a promising young actress, were married Sunday.

About 150 guests filled tiny Trinity Episcopal Chapel for the brief ceremony and then went to a reception at the bride's home in nearby Pipersville.

Many people waited outside the chapel in rain and cold for a glimpse of the 20-year-olds and Miss Hayes, who now is appearing in a Broadway play.

The bride, wearing white silk, was given in marriage by her stepfather Charles Pennock.

McCConnell Brothers Find Gold Mine In Rabbit Meat

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—The lowly rabbit is the foundation of a business that is grossing $125,000 a year for one-time All-American Dewey McConnell and his brothers.

McCConnell, one of the University of Wyoming's all-time football greats, was the defensive end on The Associated Press All-American team of 1951. His professional career as a football player was short and he returned to his native Laramie to go into business with his brothers, Albert Jr. and Harry.

They operate McConnell Brothers Diversified Interests, a business founded by their father 30 years ago.

Principal products of the enterprise are processing rabbit meat for mink farms throughout the country and rabbit fur used by felt manufacturers. Some of the meat is fed to the 500 mink the McCConnells own.

The plant processed 250,000 of the animals between November and March, when the fur quality is the best. When running at full capacity the plant employs up to 50 men. The annual payroll is $40,000.

Egypt Charges Aid To Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—An official Egyptian source charged today that Britain has supplied to Israel an undisclosed number of jet bombers.

His assertion came as the Egyptian press and officials continued to warn of an impending Israeli attack on Jordan. Egyptian leaders appeared fearful, and not just spreading propaganda. They said, however, they are ready to meet any attack.

Lack of bombers was one of the biggest deficiencies of the Israeli air force during the 1956 Suez campaign. The United Arab Republic is well supplied with Soviet-built jet bombers.

The Egyptian informant said Israel is getting a huge influx of the most modern types of weapons from Britain and France in an effort to match the vast stores of arms the United Arab Republic got from the Soviets.

Britain announced last month delivery of two submarines to Israel.

Israel leaders have said they would occupy the west bank of the Jordan if anything happened to King Hussein. Egyptians are fearful the Israelis may attack in any case, tempted by the present state of Jordan's defenses.

Baptists Open Meeting Tonight

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas opens its annual session tonight with 5,000 expected.

The three-day affair will place major emphasis on plans for 75,000 baptisms in the state during 1959; 1,200 new churches and 2,400 new mission stations by 1964; an $11,500,000 cooperative missions program budget; churches increasing world missions sharing by at least two per cent of their total budgets; and simultaneous evangelistic crusades.

Dr. Hermond Westmoreland of Houston, convention president, the Rev. Guy Moore of Fort Worth, the Rev. Earl Mead of Dallas and the Rev. Charles Myers of McKinney were scheduled as opening day speakers.

Toledo Druggist Says Children Are Honest

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A new children's candy counter in Maxi Schwartz's drug store features the ultimate in trusting self-service: The young patrons ring up their own sales on a cash register and make their own change.

"Kids are honest people," Schwartz declared after the counter has returned with the cash after overlooking the cash register on a previous purchase.

"So far, I'm at 95 per cent correct." After that first week an inventory of the candy and a check of cash receipts revealed a shortage of five cents on every dollar of business at the counter.

"Businessmen call that shrinkage," Schwartz insisted, not at all perturbed. "Maybe some of the younger kids just can't add."

While Schwartz was talking to a reporter, a small boy entered the store, hesitantly handed him two pennies and left without a word.

Schwartz grinned and said, "That's not the first time a youngster has returned with the cash after overlooking the cash register on a previous purchase."

He admitted that at times he has to reprimand the children when they get too excited around the counter.

"One thing, though," he added, "They never stay mad long. They're right back the next day with no grudge. These kids are terrific."

Negro Leader Hits Residential Bias

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, says "until residential segregation has been broken down there can be no effective school integration."

Marshall told the NAACP state convention here Sunday it must push to get out of segregated neighborhoods.

"Don't feel just because you have it better than the Negroes in Arkansas or Mississippi the fight is won," he said. "You either have all the rights or you don't."

"This is a battle for men's hearts," he added. "Now is the time for good white people to move."

Fund Is Stolen

TORONTO (AP)—Thieves blasted open a church safe here during the weekend and stole $5,456 intended for the Springhill mine disaster fund.

Red Spy Arrested

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police said today they have arrested a 38-year-old German, Alexander Fuss, who confessed to spying for Soviet headquarters in East Berlin since 1953. He was arrested Aug. 20 as he stepped out of a plane from West Germany. His arrest was kept secret until today.

Hawk Circles Boy, Is Hit By Hammer

CHICAGO (AP)—A boy threw a broken hammer at a big bird which circled some 10 feet above him as he played in a vacant lot Sunday and scored a bull's eye. The bird, a hawk, fell to the ground dead.

"I didn't know what it was going to do, so I just threw the hammer," said 9-year-old Peter Gorite.

Peter, who is 3 feet 5, took the hawk home and later he and his father took it to a police station. The hawk measured four feet from wing tip to wing tip.

Moslem Rebellions Reported In China

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists have put down two Moslem rebellions this year in northwest China.

Official Communist news reports received in Hong Kong said the revolts were sparked April 4 and June 1 by the top Chinese Moslem leader, Ma Chen Wu, vice chairman of the Chinese Islamic Assn. and a member of the National Committee of the Communist party.

Danish Communists Oust Tito Chairman

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—The Danish Communist party today appeared to have invited wholesale desertions and disaster at the polls with the ouster of its longtime Titoist chairman, Aksel Larsen.

Larsen resigned his chairmanship Sunday after Moscow-line members at the Party Congress excluded 10 of his supporters from the Executive Committee and pushed through a resolution accusing him of trying to swing the party from socialism.

'Bleeder' Needs Type O Blood

DALLAS (AP)—James Childs, 30, of Denison, a "bleeder" who had two-thirds of his stomach removed in history-making surgery at Baylor Hospital last week, needs donations of Type O blood, positive or negative, doctors said yesterday.

Before, during and since the unusual surgery, Childs had 59 blood transfusions. More are needed to save his life.

Hemophilia is a hereditary affliction in which the normal blood-clotting factor is missing. Major surgery for a sufferer is rare, because even having a tooth pulled is hazardous.

Death Takes Mrs. Hopper

Mrs. Minnie Etta Hopper, 76, resident of Big Spring for the past 25 years, died in her sleep early Monday at her home at 201 N. Benton Street.

Arrangements are pending at the River Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hopper is survived by one son, Herman Hopper, Santa Monica, Calif., and one daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Pinkston, Vallejo, Calif. She also leaves three grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Beatrice Lawler, Morietta, Ga.

Major Airlines Ink Pact For Mutual Aid In Strike Cases

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Major U. S. airlines have signed a pact to share the financial burden of a strike affecting any of them. One of the lines, Capital, has been hit by a 19-day strike of mechanics. Another, Eastern, faces a threat by its mechanics to strike at midnight.

Other lines signing the pact were American, Trans World, United and Pan American. They invited additional airlines to join.

The agreement calls for giving a strike-idled airline the extra net passenger and freight revenue realized by those carriers still operating. It will be filed today with the Civil Aeronautics Board. Airline officials said board approval was not required.

Eastern is locked in a contract dispute with the International Assn. of Machinists. The issues are the same as those in the strike at Capital.

Four other airlines — National Northeast, Northwest and TWA — have similar disputes but they face no immediate strike threats.

The Capital strike seemed on the way to settlement. The machinists union agreed to put the company's latest offer to a vote of the strikers. The work stoppage will continue pending the outcome of the vote Thursday or Friday.

Capital's offer calls for a 30-cent hourly pay boost now and an 8-cent increase next Oct. 1. Capital's top-rated mechanics now average $2.54 an hour.

Half of the 30-cent raise would be retroactive. Capital's proposal also includes improved seniority, sick leave and holiday pay benefits, and new severance pay allowances.

The announced purpose of the mutual aid pact is "to counteract the effects of excessive labor demands which result in shutting down a vital segment of the nation's transportation system."

Properly Charged

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Cafe manager Wallace Holland, angered at the sight of a non-luncher's car in his lot, pushed it into the middle of a street, then called police to complain that a car was parked improperly. Police more or less agreed. They charged Holland with improperly parking the car there.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Donald O'Connor, 33, will be hospitalized several days for rest and medical tests, his physician says.

Dulles Showing No Physical Weakness

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles, the nation's first jet-propelled secretary of state, observed today the second anniversary of his cancer operation. He apparently has no major aches or pains to discourage him from new travels.

Within the next few days, he is expected to undergo his semiannual physical checkup. His work-and-travel schedule, including his recent round trip by jet plane to Rome and Formosa, gives no indication of any physical weakening.

Two years ago a cancerous piece of his intestine was removed in an emergency operation.

Today, at 70, Dulles has seemingly bounced back as vigorous as ever, astonishing friends and critics alike.

Yarborough Asks Change In Cotton Grading

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) says he has asked the Agriculture Department for some changes in the cotton grading system.

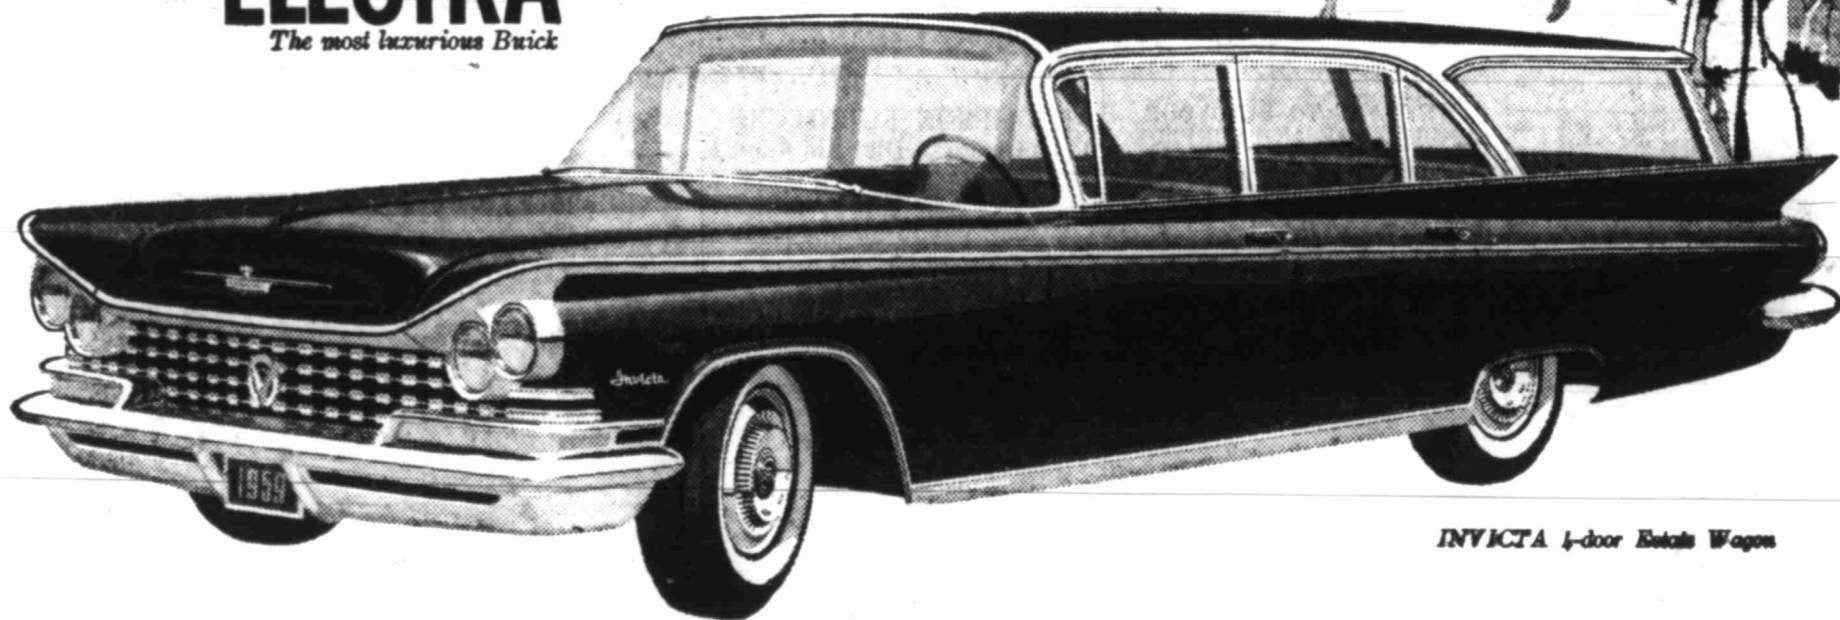

He said he asked either enough graders to check the cotton the day it is stored or to date the grading as of the day it is stored. Texas cotton growers are losing many millions of dollars because of the inefficient system of cotton grading used by the Department of Agriculture, Yarborough said.

"In the Lubbock area, the graders are 10 days behind. When cotton comes into the warehouse, a sample is taken. Due to the lack of a sufficient number of cotton graders, it is usually 10 days before the sample can be graded. When the sample is graded the ball of cotton is given a grade as of the date the sample is graded, not the date the sample was taken out of the bale."

Yarborough said in the warehouse it is also downgraded just because of the date stamped on the grading tag.
