U. S., Soviet Divided On Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union split openly Saturday over the aim of talks opening Monday in an effort to guard all countries against the peril of a nuclear surprise attack.

The State Department, in a note made public here, told the Russians in polite but firm language that the Geneva talks must be limited to work on technical military problems involved in eliminating the surprise element.

The Soviets, in a note a week ago, had spoken of definite moves in the field of disarmament. This was read here as meaning insistence on immediate agreement on

Reds Discount Detection Of Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet officials said privately Saturday prompt Western detection of the latest Soviet nuclear blasts proved how little the major powers need an international control system to police a test ban.

Existing detection systems in the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are so advanced, they maintained, that none of the three atomic powers can fool the others by sneaking tests.

Furthermore, the Russians advanced this claim without a hint of apology for the fact that the Soviet Union set off two blasts after the American-British-Soviet nuclear talks had begun Oct. 31.

Instead, the Russians tried to turn the coin over. They insisted the two explosions and their discovery by the West supported the Soviet thesis that the major aim of the Geneva conference must be the conclusion of an agreement on immediate and permanent cessation of atomic and hydrogen weapons tests.

DEADLOCK

Western sources said they anticipated this Soviet reaction. They added, however, that as long as the Russians cling to this line, it is difficult to see how the conference can break its present deadlock.

The United States and Britain are determined that the Geneva talks get down at once to the task of working out means of getting an international control system functioning. The Western Powers believe that represents the only safe and meaningful way of organizing a ban on testing.

One Western informant said the fact two Soviet explosions were detected this month did not prove these were the only tests conducted in the Soviet Union. Actually, the source said, there is no way of checking on deep underground tests, short of the establishment of an intricate international control system.

In a private conversation one senior Soviet official played down the whole idea of a control system. He said the Kremlin is willing to go along with this idea because of American insistence. He noted that a draft agreement on cessation of tests, submitted by the Russians at the opening of the conference, contained five clauses, of which two dealt with a control system.

President On West Coast To Visit Brother

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived Saturday night for a family visit in advance of a Colombo Conference address, and found a round of golf with a sharp-playing elder brother awaiting him if weather permits.

Eisenhower's plane arrived at nearby McChord Air Force Base at 5:04 p.m. PST after a flight from Toledo, Ohio, where he bagged his limit of ducks on each of two hunting expeditions in Lake Erie marshlands.

He was met at McChord by his brother, Edgar, Tacoma attorney who is anxious to get the President on the golf course Sunday if forecast of mostly sunny weather holds good after heavy rain here Saturday.

Edgar, 69, is the present Pacific Northwest senior golf champion and regularly travels the par 72 Tacoma Golf and Country Club courses in around 70.

Quiet family dinners at the Edgar Eisenhower home are planned for Saturday night and Sunday.

He will address the opening session of the Colombo ministers' meeting, over which Secretary of State Dulles will preside.

Delegates of the Asian nations attending the Colombo Plan Conference hoped for an indication in the President's speech that greater economic aid may be forthcoming for underdeveloped countries of the Far East.

Air Force Loses On Last Try At Shooting Moon

Britain Arming Cyprus Civilians

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain announced Saturday it will arm its civilians in this crown colony for protection against attacks by EOKA, the terrorist Greek Cypriot underground.

The announcement came from Government House. Public clamor sounded back in Britain for sterner action to halt a wave of slayings of Britons on Cyprus.

The announcement said district security committees throughout the island are authorized to issue

Giant Rocket Fizzles After 1,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Wearily Air Force missilemen, their dream of moon conquest shattered for now, Saturday attempted to solve the mystery of why moon rocket Pioneer II fizzled in flight after a brilliant launching.

The 52-ton rocket, carrying a top-shaped moon satellite, roared off to a beautiful start at 2:30 a.m. but the flight ended less than 45 minutes later when the third main stage rocket failed to ignite.

It was one of the most spectacular launchings ever witnessed at the cape. The area was illuminated for miles as a light cloud cover reflected the bright flash of rocket fire.

The third—and as of now final—Air Force bid to place a satellite around the moon failed at an altitude of 1,000 miles, far short of its 200,000-mile distant target.

ARMY NEXT

The mighty rocket tumbled and disintegrated in the earth's atmosphere somewhere over central Africa, about 7,500 miles from the launching site.

Even as scientists studied flight performance data to pinpoint the trouble, Army moon probes were waiting in the wings.

It is expected that the Army will get the first of its two chances to "shoot the moon" about Dec. 5.

High hopes rode with the rocket as it blasted majestically skyward. The odds for success still were 1 in 10, but they were the same when Pioneer I streaked 79,000 miles out of this world just a month ago.

The Air Force announced 10 minutes after lift-off that the three main stages had fired and separated successfully and that "launching of the moon rocket now has been accomplished."

THIRD STAGE FAILS

However, minutes later a radio interrogation check with the missile showed there was trouble. Although the third stage and its 86.3-pound satellite payload separated, the third stage did not ignite.

They needed a velocity of 23,900 miles an hour to give the kick needed to soar far enough into space to be drawn up by the gravity pull of the moon. The fastest Pioneer II ever went was 16,000 miles an hour.

The goal was to plop the satellite with an infra-red scanner into a brief orbit some 50,000 miles from the moon after a 24-day journey through outer space.

The first Air Force moon rocket fired Aug. 17 blew up 77 seconds after launching. The second, Oct. 11, was a daring stab into space that traveled 79,000 miles before it was lured back by the earth's stronger gravity pull and burned up.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

This is a critical moment for the United Fund. The formal terminal date came last week with the goal of $93,000 plus little more than $5,000 away. There are enough cards out that victory will be assured if only those people will take a fair share when asked on Wednesday. This is a test of the kind of town we want — we can't afford to fail.

Big Spring reaped a crop of detainees all over the nation and the world on strength of its Business-Education Day. When Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Senate majority leader, had been invited to deliver the main address, there was no thought of the election. As it turned out, there was a Democratic landslide and Sen. Johnson chose Big Spring as the spot to make his major policy speech pointing the course for Congress in 1959-60.

Word came through that the Air Force had released $1,971,000 for construction at Webb AFB. Included are a communications building, direction finding unit, radio building, aircraft engine repair shop, electric outlets and utilities. Presumably, these are in connection with the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

Big Spring High School exes had their homecoming marred by a little incident out at Memorial Stadium Friday evening. A 6-12 loss was disappointing, but it was just one of those times when you take a licking in the line. However, the homecoming hit on all other cylinders.

Wrong-Way Car On Turnpike; 7 Dead

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—The only survivor of a head-on collision on the Ohio turnpike that took seven lives said Saturday a woman companion was the driver of the car that sped eastward in a westbound lane.

But police doubted his story of the Friday night accident and prepared manslaughter charges against him. He has a record of a dozen arrests for traffic violations, once for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Cpl. George E. Littrell of the state Highway Patrol said this much was established:

The eastbound car contained John M. Hines Jr., 41, a Negro employe of a Detroit dry cleaning shop, and Mrs. Claudia Brooks, 45, also a Detroit Negro. The woman was killed and Hines was seriously injured.

All six persons in the other car died—George M. Bentley, 32; his wife, Della, and their four sons, all of Falconer near Jamestown, N.Y.

DRINKING GIN

The coroner said that in questioning Hines, who remained in partial shock, these were the salient parts of the man's story:

He and Mrs. Brooks had been planning to divorce their mates and were making a trip to Cleveland to visit his sister, Pearl Hines. As they rode both drank gin from a bottle.

Mrs. Brooks "had been pestering" Hines to let her drive, and he declared she was at the wheel when the crash came. He said he was asleep.

On the question of who was driving, Cpl. Littrell said photographs taken by investigators showed Mrs. Brooks' body was in the right side of the car. Hines was dangling from the driver's side.

Why and how the car got into the westbound lane were puzzles for the patrol and Erie County officials to unravel.

Kasper Draws Sentence For Inciting Riot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A jury of 12 white men convicted John Kasper Saturday of inciting to riot during Nashville school integration disorders here last fall. His sentence was set at six months in the workhouse and $500 fine.

The jury deliberated an hour and 16 minutes.

Judge Homer Weimar had charged the jury that Kasper or anyone else has a right to make public speeches but must answer for the consequences.

State attorneys sought the maximum penalty for a misdemeanor conviction—11 months 29 days in the county workhouse and a $1,000 fine.

Chief Prosecutor Paul Bumpus pictured the Camden, N.J., native as a "serpent of violence and disorder who once again is ready to strike."

Concluding an hour-long argument, he told the jurors their hands were "around the snake's neck" and begged them "not to turn this serpent loose on this community and its people."

Raulston Schofield, impeached Chattanooga judge who headed the defense, argued there was no evidence that Kasper urged violence or that a riot occurred.

Nashville schools were desegregated at the first grade level Sept. 9, 1957 under a federal court order. That night Kasper addressed a screaming crowd on the lawn of the State Capitol. He predicted there would be dynamites, bombings, hangings and blood in the streets if the schools were integrated, according to state witnesses.

Kasper told the crowd to boycott and picket the schools, the state said and the defense acknowledged.

283 Killed In Alpine Climbing

ROME (AP)—Alpine climbing in Europe took 283 lives this year, 100 less than last year's tragic record.

Few Alpine guides saw any decrease in the foolhardiness of amateurs, which had been blamed in part for the previous year's heavy toll. But weather was considered a factor.

The toll by countries: Austria, 104, Italy, 64, Switzerland, 51; Germany, 40, and France 24.

Stamp Mask Gets No Premiums

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A young gunman—using a sheet of trading stamps for a mask—was forced to flee Friday night before he could collect any premiums in an attempted holdup of Sam's Fairway Grocery.

The gunman ran when his mask fell off. He had panted it to his forehead after tearing out two stamps for eye holes.

3 Rebels Slain In Havana Raid

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Three rebels were killed Saturday in a police raid on an apartment arsenal in the southern section of Havana. Two police officers and a woman in the apartment building were wounded.

A government announcement said the dead were a veteran rebel chieftain, Angel Alemejeira Delgado, and two revolutionary aides. It said a woman wounded in the pre-dawn fray, Norma Borrás Reyes, was a known member of the revolutionary movement.

The government declared the group had planned to assassinate important government figures and was plotting an attack on the National Bank of Cuba next week.

Police and military intelligence agents staged the raid. They were met with machine gun and pistol fire and hand grenades. They said they found guns, ammunition, rebel arm bands and "Communist subversive and revolutionary propaganda" in the apartment as well as a floor plan of the bank.

Informants said the rebels tried to use the woman as a shield against police fire.

In another action, Saturday, the police seized stores of hidden arms in raids in Havana and nearby Marianao.

Rebel broadcasts, meanwhile, claimed the insurgents had surrounded the towns of Yaterias and La Maya, between Santiago de Cuba and the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo. There was no confirmation of this from Cuban army sources.

Temple To Get 10 Million Dollar Medical Center

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—A 10 million dollar medical center, designed to be the most modern in America, will be constructed here by the Scott and White Foundation.

Construction is expected to begin June 1, 1960. Jay A. Phillips of Houston, chairman of the Scott and White board of trustees, said Saturday.

CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP)—An autopsy report Saturday showed that Ronnie Kirkpatrick, 19, who collapsed during a football game Thursday night, died of a broken neck.

That Was No Strip-Tease, That Was A Pulled Zipper

ROME (AP)—Turkish Dancer Haisch Nanah told police Saturday somebody pulled off her dress Wednesday night at a party attended by movie actresses, princes, and courtesses.

Miss Nanah, who was charged with public obscenity for doing a striptease at the party, was interrogated at police headquarters. Later police sent their file on the case to the Rome Magistracy, which will decide whether to bring Miss Nanah or any of the other party guests to trial.

Leaving police headquarters, Miss Nanah said she had told the police she did not start the striptease on purpose. She said somebody had pulled open her zipper.

Miss Nanah told a newspaper reporter she had showed the police her evening dress to prove it was constructed in such a way that she just couldn't have wriggled out of it.

The party at a Rome restaurant was given by Peter Howard, stepson of George Vanderbilt. Anita Ekberg, Linda Christian, and Elsa Martinelli were among the 150 guests.

It's Do-Or-Die Effort For The United Fund Wednesday

The United Fund's fate for 1958 hangs in the balance this week—and a determined band of volunteers who already have spent many hours in the current campaign are determined that the final verdict will be success.

Three days remain for the UF to pick up something over $5,000, if it is to meet its requirements of $99,000 to finance 10 welfare agencies through the next year.

Wednesday is the last day, and officials of the UF have agreed that there will be no further appeals after that day.

But, on Wednesday, a massive canvass will be undertaken to see that every prospect card has been accounted for, and that every person in the community has an opportunity to give.

More than four score volunteers will be teamed in pairs, working under general direction of Champ Rainwater and K. H. McGibbon in this final day of "clean-up" work.

Meanwhile, workers will be posted at both the United Fund office (AM 4-5582) and the Chamber of Commerce (AM 4-4641) to accept calls from persons who wish to have messengers call and pick up contributions. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be ready to answer these calls.

Radio and television stations in the city have agreed to post returns each half hour Wednesday, to give a public report on the progress of the final all-out solicitation.

Clyde McMahon, UF president, and Lewis Price, chairman of the year's campaign, have been working unceasingly over the weekend to see that every possible avenue is pursued to close out the campaign successfully.

"We know this can be done, if every person gives his fair share," said Price. "We cannot continue to call upon workers to give time for day-after-day solicitation. We are going to make this final push on Wednesday. That day, in truth, is United Fund Day. We are closing down after then. I think the people will respond, and that by Wednesday evening the United Fund will have chalked up another success."

Havana Out-Doing Las Vegas As Chief Gambling Center

HAVANA (AP)—The gay, bustling capital of sugar and tobacco-rich Cuba is challenging Nevada's famed Las Vegas for the title of the world's biggest gambling center.

Right now Havana is far out in front in the variety of the games of chance and the size of individual wagers.

But whether the gross money play here will ever equal the tremendous turnovers in the Nevada desert resort is something else.

Some casino operators think the top play will be matched, or even surpassed, if the rebellion in Cuba ends and if there's a steady influx of big-spending American tourists.

But others feel Las Vegas will always keep the lead in gross play, because of geography.

Havana, they point out, is on an island, reachable from the United States only by ship and plane. But an estimated six million Americans drive through Las Vegas annually, most of them making a contribution to its gambling prosperity.

It is not uncommon now for the dozen casinos in nightclubs and luxury hotels here, backed by American capital, to handle between one and two million dollars nightly. That's just about one-third of what changes hands in a peak night in Las Vegas. But Havana seems to be attracting the heavier spender—and the heavier gambler—and its position as the Las Vegas of the Caribbean is unchallengeable.

Furthermore, more new hotel-casinos are planned. One reliable source says up to 100 million dollars may be invested in such new construction within the next five years.

The booming multimillion-dollar gambling business has attracted many big shot American gamblers and racketeers within the last two years. Most of these have long been identified with syndicates in the United States and some with the old "Murder, Inc." of New York.

Pope Calls For Special Prayers

Tradition says this picture was painted by St. Paul and, according to Polish Roman Catholics, is the only picture painted from life of the Virgin Mary. The new Pope came and venerated the picture 20 years ago.

In their hands today rests much, if not the major share, of Cuba's rapidly expanding gambling empire.

The gambling fever has spread out into the provinces, and legalized gambling now is pouring millions of dollars annually into the government treasury.

Anyone who has one million dollars or more invested in any business can get a casino license for $25,000. Thereafter, the operator pays the government $2,000 monthly. The government also gets a tremendous slice of the gigantic slot machine operation. All of the big casinos in the swank hotels have the standard Las Vegas games.

Some casinos can always buy national lottery tickets, or take a taxi to the nearby jai-alai games with pari-mutuel betting or to the dog or horse races.

In line with the Las Vegas pattern, every big hotel-casino imports top Hollywood stars or American floorshows to entertain patrons, knowing before or after every show the casino is going to get a "play." It's the casino that puts the hotel in the black.

Weather Causes Delay In High Altitude Balloon Try

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP)—Unfavorable weather and technical difficulties have made it necessary to postpone until Thursday at the earliest a high altitude balloon flight scheduled here.

The ascent originally was set for Sunday. Officials had said earlier unfavorable weather has delayed setting of instruments would make it impossible for the balloon to take off on schedule.

The big plastic balloon is to carry two men to an expected altitude of 80,000 feet for photographic studies of the water content of the atmosphere of Mars. A clear view of Mars is necessary to prepare instruments, and a heavy layer of clouds has prevented this in recent days.

Passengers aboard the seven-foot spherical gondola will be Cmdr. Malcolm D. Ross and Dr. John Strong of Johns Hopkins University.

A 16-inch telescope will be mounted atop the gondola. During the flight, which will take the scientists to an altitude above 97 per cent of the earth's atmosphere and 99 per cent of the earth's water vapor, Strong will shoot spectrographic pictures of Mars.

Businesslike Raid Nets Pair $15,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Two calculating gunmen invaded a suburban Niles home Friday night, took command of the household, and briskly followed a holdup blueprint which netted them $15,000.

The family of George M. Ogorek, 37, gave police this account of their nerve-racking experience: "The gunmen gained entrance to the house after politely ringing the doorbell. Once inside they ordered Ogorek's wife, Hilda, 37, to stand up the family."

Pidgin Fella, Him Make Good Tall-Talk

BY HAL R. COOPER
LONDON (AP)—Fella belong Mrs. Queen, he say pidgin English is still a useful means of communication.

The British Colonial Office couldn't agree more. In the Solomon Islands, which have several dozen different languages, everybody understands pidgin.

The administrative officers in local districts accordingly translate orders from London into pidgin so the natives can understand what is wanted of them.

The fella belong Mrs. Queen, is of course, her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. He was so described by natives he met on his Pacific tour two years ago. Recalling this in a speech to the English-speaking union, he called pidgin a splendid language.

Its origins, however, are far from splendid. Pidgin was developed by English traders of the 17th century as a means of talking business with the coastal Chinese. "Pidgin" itself is believed to be a Chinese corruption of "business."

The traders were mostly uneducated men who held the British view that a foreigner can understand English if you only shout it loudly enough at him.

The crews of the trading ships were illiterate slum types. They made extensive contributions to pidgin.

"As a result," says the Encyclopedia Britannica, "it is an unruly, bastard jargon, filled with nursery imbecilities, vulgarisms and corruptions."

Nevertheless it is spoken by millions of natives. Pidgin is easy to learn. U. S. soldiers in the Southwest Pacific were supplied with a pidgin handbook. One example:

"Yufela yu stand fast. Yu no can walkabout. Suppose yufela walkabout me killim yu long musket."

As any fool can plainly see, that means "Don't move or I'll shoot."

market, was told to call his store's burglar alarm headquarters and inform them he was going to visit the store.

Then one of the gunmen herded Mrs. Ogorek and her son, George, 12, into the basement. The youth was bound and gagged.

For an hour and 15 minutes the housewife, her son, and the gunman waited. At one point the gunman removed young George's gag, observing, "I hate to see the boy suffering. I got kids myself."

While they waited—and while two infants slept undisturbed upstairs—the other gunman and Ogorek proceeded to the store, where the manager was forced to open the safe. After taking the cash, he bound and gagged the manager and a porter. Then, as he left, he tripped a burglar alarm.

Police, alerted by the burglar alarm firm, found Ogorek and the porter struggling to free themselves.

At a prearranged hour the other gunman fled the home in the Ogoreks' second car. He phoned later to report its location.

Midland Man Killed By Car

MIDLAND (SC)—O. S. Lightfoot, 43, of Midland was killed Saturday morning when struck by a car as he walked across U. S. 80 near the east city limits of Midland.

Driver of the car was Odie Lee Snow of Big Spring, police said. Snow was unable to avoid the pedestrian as he walked toward a parked car on the south side of the highway, officers reported. Snow was traveling west.

Mr. Lightfoot, a resident of Midland since 1929, was a truck driver for the Hays Construction Co. He moved here from Roscoe in 1929. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel with interment to be in Rest Haven Memorial Park.

Dr. J. E. Hogan, left, presents an engraved desk set to H. W. Whitney, city manager who has resigned to move to Corpus Christi. The presentation was made at the B-E Day program Friday on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and other citizens.

B-E Program Rated 'Complete Success'

Big Spring's fourth observance of Business-Education Day, staged each fall as a feature of American Education Week, went into the records as a "complete success" Friday.

Supt. Floyd Parsons of the local schools and who also is serving as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee, sponsor of the event, said the day's program had been labeled as the best since the observance was started four years ago. Business men and teachers enthusiastically endorsed the activities, he reported.

Some 300 teachers and more than 50 local business firms participated in the affair. Morning and afternoon periods were spent in the various businesses where teachers were given a look at some of the problems and procedures of the complex modern business world.

Highlighting the day's activities, of course, was the address by Sen. Lyndon Johnson following a luncheon at the high school cafeteria.

Another feature of the luncheon program was the presentation of an engraved desk set to Herbert W. Whitney, city manager who is resigning to move to Corpus Christi. The presentation was made by Dr. J. E. Hogan, Chamber of Commerce president, on behalf of the Chamber and local citizens. An inscription lauded Whitney for "outstanding service in building Big Spring."

In a statement distributed at an assembly of teachers and business representatives Friday morning, Parsons called attention to the fact that money spent on education is a factor of considerable importance in the local economy.

For instance, he said, school personnel spend some $300,000 for groceries each year. Another $184,000 is spent by the group for gasoline and $85,000 is paid out for utilities. Taxes paid by school workers amount to some $211,000 annually.

During the past year, the group purchased 57 new automobiles, 380 items of furniture, and 151 major appliances. Some 230 contribute regularly to local churches. 242 have bank accounts and 229 have 775 local charge accounts, Parsons said. Some 600 persons are supported by school personnel salaries.

Rodent Control Demonstrations Set Wednesday

How to get rid of rats and mice will be the subject of demonstrations to be staged on three widely spaced Howard County farms Wednesday, J. P. Taylor, county agent, announced Saturday.

The demonstrations will be presented by the Rodent Control Service of the Department of Agriculture. The first will be on the Jack Buchanan farm, a half mile north of the Luther post office, at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The second, at 2 p.m., will be on the R. V. Fryar farm, 400 yards north of the Big Spring Cemetery on the Snyder Highway.

Final demonstration will be staged at 4 p.m. at the T. E. Newman house, just south of the Lomax gin.

Although Howard County farmers haven't suffered losses to rodents on the scale reported in other sections of the state, Taylor said the number of rats and mice is increasing and all residents of the area should take steps to prevent a heavier build-up of the rodents.

Two things are necessary in eliminating the pests—use of the proper bait and correct placement of the bait around buildings, Taylor said. The Rodent Control Service representatives will demonstrate both.

Also, the county agent said, bait prepared by the Rodent Control Service will be available to all residents of the county at a nominal price.

Nan Story Will Attend Collegiate Press Convention

Two student editors will represent North Texas State College at the Associated Collegiate Press annual convention in Chicago Nov. 13-15.

Nan Story, Forsan, and Charles Green, Houston, will leave by plane early Thursday for the three-day convention.

Miss Story is editor of the Yucca, the school's yearbook. Green is the fall editor of the Campus Chat, semi-weekly newspaper at NTSC. Both are members of the college's Press Club.

Miss Story, a senior journalism major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Story of Otis Chalk. She is a 1955 graduate of Forsan High School and is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity.

School Taxes Pouring In, $264,000 Paid

Belated tax statements of the Big Spring Independent School District loosed a flood of payments during the first week.

Delayed in completing the roll due to revisions following the revaluation program, the district mailed the last of its notices a week ago Saturday.

In the week's interval, reported Tax Collector J. O. Hagood, payments had aggregated $264,576.50, of which $258,082.77 was in current payments.

Breakdown on the current total showed $202,204.02 going to local maintenance (operation) and $48,136.39 to interest and sinking fund (debt service).

The three per cent discount, which will remain in effect for all payments made through Nov. 30, has amounted to $7,742.36 thus far, said Hagood. Payments during December will earn a one per cent discount.

Delinquent payments amounted to a hefty $7,742.36 as efforts to collect back taxes were stepped up. Miscellaneous fees amounted to $54.

COAHOMA — Coahoma High School is planning its first major homecoming Friday.

A committee composed of Mrs. Eldon DeVaney, Tommy Birkhead and Mrs. Troy Roberts has taken the lead on behalf of former students. They are working in conjunction with the Coahoma High student council.

Some 400 cards were mailed out last week to all the former students for whom the committee could obtain addresses.

Festivities will center around the 'Achievement Day' For 4-H Planned

Local 4-H Club leaders will meet Monday to make plans for the annual 4-H Achievement Day program, James P. Taylor, county agent and 4-H advisor, announced Saturday.

In the past, Achievement Day has been observed in connection with the annual 4-H Christmas party. However, the program probably will be staged this year for the latter part of November, Taylor said.

Gold Star 4-H boy and girl for the county will be honored at the event, and other awards for the past year's work will be presented.

Power Usage Is Back To Normal

With the harvest season in full swing, irrigation pumping demands ceased during October as Cap Rock Electric power consumption eased back into normal bounds.

The amount of power purchased was 1,644,440 KWH which was down from the 1,726,880 a year ago and well under the 3,741,550 for September of this year.

Power metered to customers amounted to 1,395,389 in October, close to the 1,405,107 during October of last year. It was considerably under the 3,755,816 KWH for September of this year.

Through the first 10 months of the year, purchases aggregated 36,087,860 KWH as against 40,813,960 for the same period in 1957. Sales through October of this year aggregated 29,816,656 as compared with 36,319,893 for the period in 1957.

Four miles of line were energized, bringing to 2,000 miles the amount in the Cap Rock system. Members connected showed a hefty 89 increase for the month to reach a record of 4,062.

Non-Texas Students Hit Surprisingly High Total

By BOBBY HORTON
If you probe around heaps of facts and figures long enough, it's inevitable that something will turn up that is very interesting. Registrar B. M. Keese at HCJC has proven it so.

At a first estimate of how many out of state students had enrolled at the college this year, many people would have ventured to guess 10 or 15. Some might put the number of non-Texans as high as 50.

In compiling individual records—which is a head-reeling task—for various information to be used by state and federal offices, Registrar Keese discovered that 74 out of state freshmen had signed into college in September, 67 of them boys.

They represent 35 states, his records show, and one halls from Hawaii. Pennsylvania has the largest delegation, 10, and New York has sent down nine. Twenty-one of the represented states have more than one pupil here.

Naturally, the fact that Webb AFB has 138 students enrolled in one or another course has effect, since many of these are non-Texans.

With more than one representative student to their credit are the states of Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, California, Connecticut, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and Wisconsin.

Others with at least one student are Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, Ohio, Oregon and South Dakota.

Approximately 230 freshmen are native Texans.

Although he didn't capture first place in the cross country races sponsored by the University of Texas, distance runner R. D. Ross of Lamesa placed sixth and beat out several Southwest Conference thinclads in the three-mile run at Zilker Park two weeks ago. His finishing time was 15:40, and only runners from Houston, SMU, and Texas crossed the tape before him. Texas A&M trailed Ross a distant seventh.

The Jayhawk cagers tasted a bit of early basketball action in a pre-season scrimmage with Midland High School, and though they finally won handily, the boys fell far below Coach Harold Davis' expectations in the first two quarters of play.

After pulling together, the HCJC athletes looked sharp, although Davis admitted that "they have a long way to go."

Davis said that Midland had one of its better teams than in the past few years, and he expects Midland to give area 4-A teams a run for their money this winter.

On Nov. 16, four HCJC students will embark for Texas A&M for the Texas Junior College Press Association. They will be accompanied by the campus paper's sponsor, Miss Elisabeth Daniel of the English department.

The conference, which HCJC students have attended for the past six years, is sponsored by the A&M Journalism department and lodges the visitors in Memorial Building.

Carolyn Sneed and Anita Gardner, editors of the 1959 yearbook, and Bobby Horton and Doug Burge, workers on the El Nido, will be observing in the workshops for editing, page, design, newspaper make-up, advertising and sports coverage.

A featured speaker for a special awards banquet during the conference will be Ralph Lowenstein, "Big Story" winner of Texas Western College.

Other colleges expected are Amarillo, Arlington, LeTourneau Tech, Odessa, Paris, Kilgore, San Angelo, Schreiner, San Antonio, Tarleton and Wharton.

RUNNELS REPORT

'Harvest Queen' Elections Slated

By DIANE BAKER

Four teachers have moved their home rooms into new classrooms on the second floor of Runnels Junior High. These refinished rooms all have new windows, new blackboards, new bulletin boards, and other new materials. We are all proud of the face-lifting job being done at Runnels.

Petitions for Harvest Queen candidates were circulated last week and the elections will be held this week.

Talent shows are coming soon. Students are ready for auditions this week. The seventh grade will be first, followed by the eighth and then the ninth.

The Harvest Ball, party and carnival are scheduled for Nov. 21. Color day is Thursday (Nov. 13). Students are urged to wear something red and white—the school colors—on that day.

Goliad Student Council will visit Runnels Student Council on Tuesday. After the visitation, refreshments will be served.

A party and dance for students who had purchased yearbooks was held in the gym Thursday afternoon with the staff of El Palomar and the sponsor, Mrs. Mona Johnson, as hosts and supervisors. They had decorated the place with brightly colored balloons and crepe paper. Records furnished the music, and punch and cookies were served. About 500 students attended. Incidentally, you can still get an annual for $4.

Much spirit and enthusiasm were shown in the pep rally Thursday. A special section in the bleachers was reserved for football boys. Cheerleaders had prepared special signs and decorations for the occasion.

Seventh graders won their game with Snyder, but the eighth grade, crippled by injuries in previous games and in training, lost.

Runnels ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y members plan to have a semi-formal next Saturday (Nov. 18). Goliad ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y plus Runnels Hi-Y will be guests. The affair will be held in the St. Mary's Episcopal parish hall.

Goliad Pupils Begin Daily Devotionals

By PAT ARMSTRONG

A devotional was given for the first time this year on Tuesday and will become a regular feature with activation of the public address system. Leading the devotionals this week were Sherry Johnson, Jerry Henderson and Louise Jackson.

Our students were hardly seized with great sorrow Thursday with the announcement that school will be dismissed at 3 p.m. starting Monday and will continue on that basis until teachers complete an in-service training project.

And everyone knows that there was no school Friday (B-E Day), giving the student body a nice long weekend.

Winners in the home rooms contest to obtain the most parents as members of the P-TA were Mrs. Inez Turner's ninth grade class; Mrs. Cornelia Gary's eighth grade class; and Mrs. Corvin's seventh grade. These three groups were treated to an ice cream party in the cafeteria Wednesday during the sixth period.

Students at Goliad held an uproarious pep rally in the gym on Thursday morning. Mr. Richard Bacon was in charge, and pep talks were given by Jesse Gilbert, Guilford Jones Jr., Jerry Tucker and Larry Garner. Students circulated "Beat San Angelo" cards all day—but San Angelo passed the ball even better and won the football game.

Goliad's fourth period Home-making girls had a meeting Thursday morning to make plans for their parent-daughter banquet. This will be held on a Monday night during November. Mrs. Jack Alexander is sponsor of this group.

Deane Mansfield had a slumber party Friday night after the Steer football game. About 11 girls attended, including some from Runnels Junior High.

Cherie Sabbato also had a slumber party after the Big Spring-Midland high school game Friday. Before the party, she had a small dance in the Sabbato home.

HI TALK

Lots Of Work Invested In Homecoming Preparations

By PAT ROGERS
B.S.H.S.'ers thought they were tired until this past week! Everyone has really worked his fingers to the bone trying to get things ready for homecoming, along with the Harvest Carnival.

Talk about the straw breaking the camel's back—Not only was everyone in a "tizzy" about the carnival and homecoming, but report cards came out Wednesday. Much to some students' disappointment, several cards reported, below C level.

The DeMolays had a meeting Tuesday night. They are already starting plans for their Christmas tree sales during December.

Several students attended the dance after the game Friday night sponsored by the DeMolays.

Miss Anna Smith reported that all senior pep squad girls will be allowed to ride together on the bus to San Angelo next Friday. This means a lot to the girls because, not only is it the last football game, it is the last time the senior girls will attend a football as a group.

The cast and stage crew have been working very hard in order to have their play, "Time Out for Ginger," ready for presentation. Everyone is urged to attend the play.

New National Honor Society members will be installed Thursday night. They will serve along with the old members.

Karen Baldwin, Beverly Martin, Dolores Baird, John Puckett, and Johnny Harrison are saying, "Who's tired?" They worked every night last week getting the senior float, "A Hearty Hello to the Exes," ready to roll in Friday's parade. The float won first place and there was one happy senior class. Karen Baldwin said "It was worth it."

The junior and sophomore also had a float in the parade, but since the senior's float won first, they will have a hard time walking down the same hall.

To add to the excitement of the homecoming game, three queens were crowned. Jo Ann Ebling, homecoming queen, was crowned by James Howard, student council president; Judy Reagan, football queen, was crowned by Wayne Fields; and Beverly Osborn, band queen, was crowned by Charles Rice. All three queens were rewarded with crowns along with a kiss.

Harvest queen nominees were elected in class meetings Thursday. Janet Carpenter was elected from the senior class; Kay McGibbon from the junior class; and Carol Self from the sophomore class. The queen will be crowned at the Harvest Carnival. They are chosen according to who can collect the most money; every vote is worth a penny.

The Harvest Carnival will be the main event next week. Every class and club are preparing various booths or concession stands for the carnival. The senior class will present the traditional "Senior Sideshow."

Former students of B.S.H.S. had a chance to get together during the class meetings yesterday and at the dance last night. Homecoming was an exciting event for the Exes as well as the student body.

Baylor's Cubs Get Coat Of Paint

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor's two kidnaped bear Cubs were found Saturday ignominiously tied to poles. One bear was painted orange, the other white.

Those are the colors of the University of Texas which played Baylor here this afternoon. Baylor sports the green and gold.

The cubs, Ruff and Tuff, were nabbed early Thursday. A mysterious telephone call led to discovery of the bears at the south edge of Waco on Highway 77.

Rescuers hurried the pets to the Baylor campus where heroic shots of paint remover were applied. A trainer said the cubs were "slightly mad."

Austin College Exes To Meet

Austin College exes in the Midland-Odessa-Big Spring area will hear Dean James B. Moorman, dean of the college, at their Founder's Day meeting Nov. 15.

The dinner, slated for 7 p.m. at the Athletic Club of the Lincoln Hotel, Odessa, will mark the college's 100th anniversary. Its original charter, which is still in effect, was granted Nov. 23, 1849.

Louis Rochester, Odessa, is handling the dinner arrangements. Mrs. Joe M. Brown, Odessa, is secretary-treasurer of the area alumni chapter.

Barney B. Hightower, Andrews, heads the local group, one of nine such regional alumni organizations. Vice president is Mrs. W. P. Van Peit, Big Spring.

The dinner, for which the charge is $2.50 per person, is open to all AC exes who live in the Permian Basin area. This area includes Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Fort Stockton, Kermit, Andrews, Monahans and Pecos.

Tech Homecoming

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech will celebrate its 25th annual homecoming Nov. 21-22 with a full schedule of fellowship and football. Thousands of exes are expected to return for a homecoming queen coronation and appearance of Comedian Bob Hope, Friday, Nov. 21, and a homecoming parade, luncheon, Tech-Arkansas football game and dance Saturday, Nov. 22.

City Manager Applicants Up For Consideration Tuesday

Again this week, the prime item on the agenda of the City Commission meeting will be consideration of a new city manager. Tuesday's meeting will be the last for City Manager H. W. Whitney; his resignation to take a like position at Corpus Christi becomes effective the next day. The commission will consider all applications received and hear reports from Mayor G. W. Dabney and Commissioner George Zachariah on interviews last week with prospective applicants. Dabney and Zachariah attended the League of Texas Municipalities meet in Houston and talked with everyone interested in the job here. The commission last week had received about 15 written applications, and others had indicated interest in the job.

During the time between Whitney's leaving and the coming of a new manager, City Engineer Clifton Bellamy will act as manager. Bellamy was appointed at the last commission meeting. In other business Tuesday night, the commission will hear the second reading of an anti-livestock and chicken ordinance. The ordinance though requiring three readings will not become effective until April 1. At that time, every owner of chickens must register with the health unit. And no more chicken pens will be permitted which aren't in use on the effective date. Additional discussion will be given to a policy being drawn up by Bellamy concerning participation on water and sewer lines to new developments. The commission has generally stated its policy, and Bellamy has been instructed to put the plan on paper. It still would call for payment of the lines by developers but the assessment would be made on a front-foot basis. The city will pay for lines leading to the new areas, however. Bids will be accepted for a new car for the police department also. The commission advertised to sell 2 1/4 acres of land in the 1400 block of E. 4th. The area has about 320 feet on the street. These bids will be opened at the Tuesday meeting.

Burns To Become Howard County's Attorney Monday

Wayne Burns is to take over as county attorney Monday, relieving John Richard Coffee. Burns was elected officially in the general election last Tuesday. However, he has been assured of the office since last July when he defeated Coffee for the Democratic nomination to the post. Coffee had been appointed to succeed Harvey Hooser, who resigned in 1957, to serve until the next general election. Only the formal canvass of election returns must be completed before Burns can take office, and the canvass is scheduled for the county commissioners court session Monday, said Judge R. H. Weaver.

Hendrix To Be Organist For 'Elijah' In Midland

Jack Hendrix, head of the department of music at Howard County Junior College, will play the organ accompaniment for the presentation of Handel's oratorio, "Elijah," at the First Baptist Church in Midland. The oratorio, which ranks with Handel's only slightly more familiar "Messiah," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 16 by the 65-voice church choir. Mrs. Wayne Matthews will furnish the piano accompaniment. Featured in the solo role of the prophet Elijah will be Dr. Andrew White, professor of voice and head of the voice department at Drake University. Indicative of why he has been secured for Elijah, a part which demands a rich and resonant baritone, is his appearance twice in Die Fledermaus with the Minneapolis Symphony when all other vocalists were from the Metropolitan Opera Co. He has been soloist with many major symphonies and guest soloist in innumerable cities. This weekend he is singing the title role in Rigoletto with the St. Paul Civic Opera. Hendrix will be at the console of the church's 49-rank, four-manual Moeller.

58 On Honor Roll At Goliad

Names of 58 pupils in Goliad Junior High School have been included on the honor roll for those who made nothing lower than an A during the first nine weeks. There were 24 in the seventh grade, 26 in the eighth and 8 in the ninth grade. By grades the list is as follows: SEVENTH — Cheryl Childress, Lloyd Curley, Tommy Erhardt, Ronald Favor, Judith Findlater, Lana Flannigan, Anita Sue Gibbs, Molly Goodman, Martha Glickman, Charles Hooper, Betty Hamilton, Sandra Hunt, Carolyn Marsalis, Susan McNary, Linda Norman, Suzanne Peters, Jonine Watts, Shirley Worthman, Beth Whitley, William Worley, Yolanda Garrett, Alice Stewart, Glenda Tate, James Ward. EIGHTH — Lurae Biffar, William Boyd, Brenda Cowper, Sandra Crawford, Bobby Dawes, Alan Dunn, Joe Earhart, John Fish, Tommy Gentry, Dale Harris, Kandy Hensley, Carolyn Hoover, Martha Gilmore, Louise Jackson, Karon Kee, Bobbie Lovell, Cinderella Mason, DeAnn Mason, June Merworth, Arlene Nixon, Robert Wade, Elizabeth Whitley, Mary Wilson, Glenn Whitley, Judy Williams, Sheryl Whiteside. NINTH — Patricia Armstrong, Michael Clark, Carol Cunningham, Sharon Ann Gary, Sherry Johnson, Karon Koger, Lana Lewis, and Jerry Younger.

Stocks Keep Climbing On Spending Note

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rushed to new record peaks this week as Democratic election victories spurred hopes of bigger government spending. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $3.70 to $202.40 for its largest weekly rise since the week ended July 26. The week's advance was the second straight since the minor correction of three weeks ago and was the 11th upturn in the past 12 weeks. Democratic gains in Tuesday's election were anticipated by Wall Street as well as by most political observers so the voting trend was no surprise. The extent of the sweep, however, apparently was not looked for. The day after election saw one of the biggest daily stock market jumps of the year. Stocks rose moderately on the day before election although a degree of uncertainty was apparent, ascribed to hesitancy regarding the actual results of the election. Small as the Monday rise was, it sufficed to nudge the AP average to a record high. The Wednesday advance was, of course, another record peak. A vigorous upsurge on Thursday put the AP average at its latest all-time high, $202.70. By Thursday's final hour, however, there was a vicious profit taking. If not for the late selling pressure, the Thursday advance would have ranked among the greatest in Wall Street history. Friday saw some additional profit taking as well as considerable switching and cross currents which dropped the averages for a minor loss. It was regarded as normal consolidation in view of the breath-taking pace of the advance.

U.S. Asked To Pull Troops Out Of Korea

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union asked the United Nations Saturday to effect withdrawal of American troops from South Korea on the ground that Chinese Communists forces have pulled out of the north. The Soviet news agency Tass said the Soviet government had authorized the announcement. "As a result of the evacuation of the Chinese People's volunteers on their own initiative, a new atmosphere, favorable to lessening tension in Korea and peacefully solving the Korean question, has developed," Tass said. If U.S. troops pulled out of Korea straightaway, the statement said, "Koreans from both parts of the country would undoubtedly agree more quickly on the unification of their homeland along peaceful and democratic principles."

Non-Hunter Bags A Fine Pheasant

LAURENS, Iowa (AP) — A hapless pheasant, possibly looking for a safe place to hide, got caught under the bed in the Wally Lind home here an hour after the pheasant season opened in Iowa Saturday. His captor? Mrs. Lind, who is not a hunter. Mrs. Lind said the pheasant flew through the closed window of her daughter Terese's bedroom and skittered under a bed. With the help of a neighbor, Mrs. Lind caught the bird which will be cooked for Sunday dinner. No license? Mrs. Lind doesn't need one to hunt on her own property.

Billy Early Wins $250 Scholarship

A scholarship for $250 has been awarded Billy John Early, son of Mr. Bill Early, 1704 State. The award was made by the Texas Wildlife Conservation Service at a meeting of Texas State Foresters in Tyler. Basis for making the award was an article, written and delivered orally for the session by Early, on "Why I Want to be a Forester." Other elements entering into the judging for the scholarship were the subject's leadership, merit and need. The student is a senior in the School of Forestry in Stephen F. Austin College, Nacogdoches.

UNITED FUND

This Is The Week..
Wednesday Is The Last Day!

JUST $5,000 TO GO

The United Fund is a little more than $5,000 away from meeting the needs of the 10 agencies which derive support from the Fund. This is not an impossible figure to reach, considering the number of people who have not yet given, or who possibly could give a bit more. Volunteer workers will make one more canvass — on UNITED FUND DAY, WEDNESDAY. If you haven't done your fair share, won't you answer these workers' appeals on Wednesday?

JUST CALL AM 4-5582

If you have been overlooked by solicitors, if for some reason your name has not appeared on the United Fund lists, this is an oversight, and your participation is urged. All you have to do is call the United Fund office, BY WEDNESDAY, and a messenger will be sent to pick up your check or pledge. Or you simply can mail your gift to the United Fund.

NO MORE APPEALS!

Regardless of success or failure, the 1958 United Fund appeal positively will end on Wednesday. The office will be closed. There will be no more solicitation. You will not be faced with further appeals. WEDNESDAY is the day when Big Spring and Howard County decide whether they have met their fair obligation to the service agencies, or whether this community effort has fallen short.

IT'S UP TO YOU!

Builder Of Pipelines Claimed By Death

DALLAS (AP)—Burton E. Hull, who pushed through the Little and Big Inch pipelines to the oil-starved East Coast during World War II, died Saturday. He was 74. He had been ill some time. Services will be held here Monday. He built pipelines throughout the world. One of his accomplishments was construction of the 1,068-mile TAPline from Saudi Arabia to Sidon on the Mediterranean. Hull retired in 1951 after 46 years in the oil business. At his retirement, he was a vice-president of the Texas Co. and president of the Trans-Arabian Pipeline Co. He first became interested in oil when the Houston Post sent him to the gushing Spindletop Field near Beaumont to sell advertising to oil operators. He was 17. That led him to Texas A&M where he graduated three years later with an engineering degree. But he first went to work as a junior engineer for the Southern Pacific Railroad. When the Texas Co. still was an infant, Hull joined that company. He got his first pipeline experience by surveying the route and performing other engineering services in the extension of the original Texaco pipeline from Sour Lake to Humble, Tex., in 1905 and from Humble to Tulsa in 1907. He then helped build Texaco's west Dallas refinery. He held other engineering assignments at Tulsa and Port Arthur, then directed construction of topping plants at Tampico and Agua Dulce, Mexico. In 1922, Hull went to Tampico

Time To Feed Trees For Long Winter's Sleep

Just before going to sleep, trees like a good meal, too. They're unable to raid the icebox, but they'll appreciate being served a bed. Fall tree feeding serves a triple purpose. It helps growing roots—trees are active for weeks after leaves fall—and acts as a reserve food supply available to trees next spring, according to J. J. Slocum, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Perhaps equally important, it provides aeration—permitting the passage of needed air to root areas. In October and November, just as trees are entering their winter sleep, is as good a time as any to make the vitals available. Tree men call the method that permits feeding and aeration "ground perforation." This merely calls for the drilling of holes some 12 to 15 inches deep and about that distance apart over the root area, generally the spread of the branches. The balanced tree food—it should be rich in nitrogen—occupies only a few inches at the bottom of each hole. Holes are then filled with peat moss, shredded manure or some other humus material. This adds immeasurably to the aeration and water absorption capacities of compacted soils. When feeding, it is important to follow manufacturers' recommendations to the letter. Many root areas are reduced by paved driveways, buildings or walls. Dosage must therefore be reduced to minimize danger of burning tender feeding roots. Trees growing in restricted areas should be fed more often than others.

Only 2 Left Of 4 Million Who Fought In Civil War

By The Associated Press
There are only two of them now—the last survivors of four million boys in blue and gray who marched away to war almost 100 years ago. They are old—very old. One is deaf and the other blind. But time hasn't cracked their spirit. When Walter W. Williams' monthly pension check of $135 arrived one day at his home in Houston, Tex., his part-time nurse gently teased the frail, silver-haired old veteran. "What are you going to do with all that money?" she asked. Williams, who will be 116 Nov. 14, shifted his big wad of chewing tobacco and gave her a cheeky grin. "I'm going to take you out to dinner," he replied. And in Slant, Va., John B. Salling, the other Civil War survivor, maintains he's still having woman trouble—with a lady in her 90s. She writes him love letters regularly and Salling says her interest grew more intense when he began receiving his monthly pension check in August. "Couldn't you and me live well on that?" she inquired boldly when she came to visit the 112-year-old Salling. "I pointed to heaven and told Granny she and I had better be studying about up yonder," Salling says. "Then I wished her good luck." The $135 monthly pensions for the two old soldiers were pushed through the last session of Congress. Neither of these old Confederates ever saw a battle and they make no bones about it. Williams was a forage master for Gen. John B. Hood's cavalry, Company C, 5th Division, which was stationed in Corinth, Miss. "That meant I got the grub for the others," he says. "The only thing we ever shot was cattle." Salling says he spent the war digging saptaper (a crude form of potassium nitrate) from the ground and caves of southwestern Virginia to make ammunition. He joined a company commanded by Capt. Lon Collins when he was 16. Williams, this country's oldest living veteran, has been failing since last year when he boasted: "My grandpappy lived to be 119. I'm going to beat that. Don't see why I can't if nothing turns up." But even as he spoke, his second wife lay dead at the age of 84. His children concealed the fact for two weeks to allow Williams to celebrate his birthday and enjoy his ride in Houston's Veterans Day parade. The news of his wife's death hit Williams hard. He hasn't been out of bed in months. The doctor comes regularly and so does a nurse. For the first time this summer, he turned down his lifelong favorites—cornbread and turnips. Williams was born in 1842 in Itawamba County, Miss. He came to Texas in 1870 and settled on a 20-acre farm near the little town of Franklin. His first wife died, leaving Williams with seven children. He married again when he was 53, and had 12 more. The first time he saw the inside of a hospital was when he was 107 and then he was only there for brief treatment of a facial irritation.

Volunteers Set Plans For Yule Hospital Work

Volunteer workers at the Big Spring Hospital have mapped plans and set up committees for extensive Christmas activities for the institution's 250 patients. Committees are now functioning and are to report back to the VA Volunteer Services Advisory Committee on Dec. 4. Plans for the various projects are to be completed by that time. Committee appointments include Entertainment, Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, Mrs. James Horton and Russell Hoover; Gifts and Gift Distribution, Greely Aston, Mrs. H. D. Bruton, Mrs. Bernard Fisher and Carlton Carr; Refreshments, Mrs. Harold Homan, and Mrs. Ara Cunningham; Christmas Tree Selection, Mrs. Ethel Crenshaw and Carlton Carr; and Tree Decorations, Mrs. Alfred Moody and Mrs. Cunningham.

Mrs. DeVaney To Preside At TFBF Luncheon Monday

COAHOMA—Mrs. C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma is to be master of ceremonies at the luncheon program Monday for women delegates and queen contestants in the Texas Farm Bureau Federation at Corpus Christi. Normally some 400 women take part in this colorful program when the queen contestants—which this year include Miss Fan Barber who lives southwest of Coahoma—are presented. A style show also is part of the program. The actual judging on the queen's contest will take place Monday evening. The main TFBF convention will be Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jet Flights Are Reduced

LONDON (AP)—Pan American Airways is cutting by half its planned London-New York daily jet service in the last two weeks of November because of a snag in negotiations with pilots, a spokesman announced Saturday. First flight from London to New York by the Boeing 707 is set for Nov. 17. Seven of the 14 schedules for the remainder of the month will be canceled. The spokesman said discussions on a new pilots' contract had deadlocked. The pilots are demanding more money to fly the jetliners and want a third pilot included in the crew. Pending a settlement, Pan American will fly the transatlantic service from London and Paris with supervisory pilots, executive grade men who do not belong to the Airline Pilots Assn.

Plane Crash Kills Three In Family

LUDLOW, Okla. (AP)—The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said three members of a Terrell, Tex., family were killed early Saturday in a crash of a light plane in mountainous country near this small LeFlore County town. The patrol identified the victims as Dr. and Mrs. Heinz Otto Boettcher, 48, his wife, Mrs. Eugenia Boettcher, 46, and their daughter, Ursula, 13. Troopers said the crash occurred about 3:15 a.m. one mile southwest of Ludlow. The plane did not burn.

Medical Auxiliary Starts TB Drive

Members of the Big Spring Medical Auxiliary will undertake a monumental task Monday—the addressing and "stuffing" of some 8,000 Christmas Seal envelopes. Groups of the women will gather in the home of Mrs. George Peacock, project chairman, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the work. The seals are to be mailed Friday, the same day local tuberculosis associations throughout the nation are to start their annual fund raising efforts. Goal of the Howard County Tuberculosis Assn. this year is $5,000 from the sale of the Christmas Seals. Each of the 8,000 envelopes to be placed in the mail Friday will contain three sheets of the seals, and recipients are being asked to contribute $1 for each sheet. Eighty per cent of the money raised locally will remain in Howard County for case-finding work and to provide diagnostic and treatment services for local victims of the disease. The balance will be forwarded to state and national TB organizations for educational programs and research. Most of the funds spent locally go for X-ray examinations and drugs, association officials said. Patients receiving treatment must take from eight to 10 drug tablets per day (two types usually are given). In addition, some must receive regular hypodermic injections and those receiving drugs must take the expensive B-6 vitamin compounds in order to assimilate the other drugs.

Canada Looks Into Strange Death Case

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were called in Saturday to help investigate the shooting death of a young man whose hotel room contained Communist literature and pictures of radar line sites.

The RCMP declined comment, but Coroner Glen McDonald said the police were summoned because of the "unusual nature" of the evidence.

A coroner's jury, after six hours' deliberation, recommended further study of the death of Merrill James O'Donnell, 27, no fixed address.

He was found Sunday in the first-floor hallway of a midtown hotel with a bullet wound in his chest. A .38 caliber revolver lay a few inches from his hand.

O'Donnell died a short time later in a hospital. The coroner's jury held death was "not by suicide" but said there was "insufficient evidence to establish whether it was by accident or homicide."

City police said Saturday, however, that the possibility of suicide had not been ruled out.

Several color photos of the Distant Early Warning line radar sites were found among O'Donnell's effects. Police said there also was a box of Communist literature.

A friend told the coroner's jury O'Donnell had worked for a transportation company on the DEW line but was fired for trying to organize the Seagars International Union. A union official, Norm Cunningham, testified O'Donnell was not a security risk.

Adding to the mystery was a letter apparently written by O'Donnell's mother, indicating she now is visiting Russia. It told of the writer's plan for a two-week stay in Moscow, free "rest and treatment" on the Black Sea and a return trip to be paid for by the U.S.S.R. Police declined to identify the letter.

Authorities said O'Donnell apparently was robbed of $250 he was known to have carried.

Bernard Fisher Hurt Again In Traffic Mishap

Bernard Fisher was hospitalized as the result of accident injuries for the second time in about two months Saturday.

Fisher was riding in a car driven by Klaus Lehner, 910 Runnels, which was in collision with a vehicle driven by Clara Wall of Lubbock.

On Sept. 5, Fisher sustained fractures of the collar bone, shoulder blade, the ribs, and a cut on the head in a collision.

Friday night, Mrs. Beverly Branch, 2902 S. Monticello, was rushed to Malone-Hogan Hospital by a River ambulance after the car she was driving was in an accident at 13th and Main. Her doctor Saturday said she sustained a fractured forearm.

Mrs. Branch's car was hit simultaneously by cars driven by James Clayton Proctor and Rodney Brooks, both of Coahoma, the police reported.

Also Saturday, Francis Highsmith, 1005 1/2 Main, and Mary Phillips, 1702 Harvard, were in an accident at 1300 Runnels.

Callas' Successor Doesn't Want An Encounter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The soprano hired by the Metropolitan Opera to replace fiery Maria Callas left for Dallas, Tex., Saturday with the remark: "I hope Miss Callas has left Dallas before I get there."

Miss Callas was in the Texas city when she received word last week that Leonie Reyssnek was being summoned from Los Angeles to replace her. Rudolf Bing, the Met's general manager, said Miss Callas was being fired because she demanded changes in the company's upcoming program.

Miss Reyssnek left for New York Saturday by way of Dallas to fill an engagement there next week.

She told newsmen: "I don't want to have trouble with Callas. I know her well, she has a great temper. But I am Viennese, and we Viennese have very much temperament also."

Mrs. M. T. Staggs' Father Succumbs

Funeral for Mrs. M. T. Staggs, 81, father of Mrs. Martin T. Staggs of Big Spring, will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in the Weiland-Merritt Funeral Home at Dallas.

Mr. Mitchell, former longtime resident of Lamesa, died unexpectedly Friday night. He suffered a heart attack. He had lived in Dallas for the past five years.

Survivors include his wife and eight children.

Foreign Cars Competition For Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Six million car sales seem to be the 1959 demand potential, but American manufacturers will have to compete with foreign producers for this market.

So reports the Value Line investment survey, published by Arnold Bernhard & Co., Inc., New York investment advisers.

"With their 1958 failure behind them, the car makers can look to 1959 with high hopes," it says. "Inventories, depleted by a lengthy production slowdown, are at a rock-bottom level. Personal incomes, an important determinant of automobile buying, are again rising strongly. Consumer credit is in a healthy condition, with the debt increasing to buy the huge crop of 1955 cars—largely paid off."

"About the only dubious quantity is the salability of the 1959 models."

The survey says the American auto industry's reaction to the small car challenge has been "to build its own automobiles lower and finer than ever before."

Meanwhile, it adds, American auto companies are working feverishly to bring out their own small cars.

Elsewhere in industry surveys and comment the opinion is being expressed that record or near-record car sales may be looked for in 1959. Some commentators are cautioning, however, that the over-all economic recovery promises to be impressive in dollars but less auspicious in physical volume.

Prof. Hans Brems, University of Illinois economist, speaking at an economic outlook conference in Ann Arbor, Mich., this week, said a steadily increasing disposable money income promises a bigger car market.

Persons closer to the industry, especially in its sales personnel, still are sticking to their estimates that 1959 will bring a demand for approximately 5 1/2 million new cars. Some have hedged slightly in recent weeks by saying the total would be exclusive of an estimated 400,000 imported car sales; that would about match the 1957 total of 5,822,000 retail deliveries.

When the Army missile made its appearance on school grounds, the Navy Air Force and National Guard heard about it and decided to show their wares, too.

Now a Navy Talos missile on a flatbed truck is on display. So is a real Vanguard satellite. A two-room hut erected by the Air Force contains a lunar probe display.

'Queens' Unveiled

13 Paintings Win WTAA Citations

Thirteen paintings were selected for citations and another 16 were chosen for circuit showing as the West Texas Art Assn. held its fifth annual meeting at Cosden Country Club Saturday.

The WTAA chose Mrs. M. C. Shook of San Angelo as new president, succeeding Dr. Norman Furlong, Big Spring, who becomes first vice president. Other officers are Mrs. Ellie Rashell of Brownwood, second vice president; Mrs. J. A. Nelson, San Angelo, secretary-treasurer. New directors will be Mrs. Forrest Kendall of Abilene; Mrs. W. H. Rosser, Big Spring; Mrs. Marcel Josephson, Snyder; Mrs. Frank Murray Sweetwater; Jim Plimble of Midland; Mrs. Harry Ratliff, Colorado City; Mrs. A. C. Williams, Brownwood; Mrs. Floy F. Hume, San Angelo.

The group accepted San Angelo's invitation to hold the 1959 meeting there and voted to raise annual dues from $1 to $2.

David Brownlow, Fort Worth artist, judged the paintings submitted by members from 16 communities. He said work of the WTAA members is showing great improvement.

Texas Fine Arts Assn. citations were awarded to the following: "The Cat," Della Landers, Ovalo; "New Version of Signal Mt.," Terry Patterson, Big Spring; "A Mountain Storm," Kathleen W. King, Sweetwater; "Still Life," Lois Hogue Shaw, Sweetwater.

Burglars broke into the Lewis Drive-In, 800 W. 4th, via a window on the west end and proceeded to break into and empty the juke box, cigarette machine, pinball and a gum machine.

Moscow Jeers At Moon-Shot Failure

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio Saturday night reported the launching and failure of America's Pioneer II moon rocket. It added:

"As is well known, the two previous attempts by the U.S.A. to launch a rocket in the direction of the moon, on Aug. 17 and Oct. 11, also ended in failure."

31-Year-Old Given Post In Sub-Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday appointed George C. Lodge, son of U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, to the $20,000-a-year post as assistant secretary of labor for international affairs.

Lodge, who at 31 will be one of the youngest subcabinet officials in many years, will succeed J. Ernest Wilkins, 62, a Chicago Negro attorney who resigned effective Saturday citing personal reasons.

The White House made public the resignation and appointment as the President was en route to a Seattle speaking engagement. The change in the Labor Department post had been rumored for many weeks prior to the recent elections. Wilkins has been reported in line for another federal appointment, possibly a judgeship.

Lodge's new assignment will require Senate confirmation later. It involves representing the United States at the annual Geneva meetings of the International Labor Organization.

Although his main job has been that of information director, Lodge has attended the ILO meetings for the last four years in various capacities. Earlier this year he was made a special assistant to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell for international affairs and alternate delegate and adviser to the U.S. delegation to the ILO meeting.

THE WEEK

Over in Martin County a jury of view commission hung a $3,200,000 price tag on water rights under 1,539.5 acres of Dickenson ranch land. Of course the Colorado River Municipal Water District isn't buying at that figure and may try it for a round in court.

Jake Roberts, district engineer for the Texas highway department, said last week that federal aid secondary appropriations announced earlier provided for base and paving on FM 700 loop from U. S. 80 East to U. S. 87 South, and for opening a new road from the Knott U. S. 87 juncture eastward five miles. This will enable people to go from Knott to Lubbock without a lot of zigging and zagging.

Building permits hit $4,199,905 at the end of October, running nearly a million ahead of the previous year's rate. There is a good chance of hitting $5 million in November, what with the $600,000 HCJC dormitories and the $50,000 Baptist Temple expansion definitely on the way.

There were no figures for the end of the week, but cotton ginnings were booming. The area came awfully close to a killing frost — and in some areas the leaves were nipped — but strong southwesterly winds moved in to warm up things and give that greatly desired drying effect. If we get by this week without a killing freeze, the crop total will really be boosted.

Howard County had no traffic fatalities of its own, but one of two fatalities over in Scurry County claimed the life of A. Z. Gay of Big Spring. And of course it makes no difference where tragedy occurs, it's tragedy just the same.

Howard County voters hung up a pretty sorry record for turnout on Tuesday's general election. Only about one of three qualified to vote bothered to get to the polls. The county's delegate strength in the next Democratic convention will be eight, when it could have been easily 15 or 20.

Dallas Dentist Given High Honor

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Sam Parks of the Baylor University College of Dentistry was awarded an honorary fellowship in the American Academy of Periodontology Friday night.

The award is the highest in the academy. Only 12 have been given in the 40-year history of the group. Parks is head of the department of periodontology at the dental college. He was president of the academy from 1944 through 1946. The award was given at the group's annual banquet.

Youth Charged In Drowning Of Young Brother, Sister

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A murder charge was filed Saturday against a 16-year-old boy, accused of drowning a young brother and sister in a bathtub.

Police said James A. Johnson admitted drowning the children, hiding the bodies, and then going off to a movie Friday. Lt. Russell Baughan, head of the Police Juvenile Division, said Johnson had showed "absolutely no remorse."

Jo Ann Ebling Elected Queen Of '58 Homecoming Activities

Jo Ann Ebling was crowned queen of the 1958 homecoming for Big Spring High School Friday evening, setting in motion a series of events honoring those who have graduated from the school in the last half century.

Earlier, the high school student council had staged a parade through the downtown area with top honors going to the senior class for its "Hearty Welcome to the Exes" float. This featured Judy Reagan, the football queen, in formal attire and centered before a huge heart.

Second honors went to the Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y for its revolving football, and third to the Distributive Education Club for its revolving globe which proclaimed to exes that "our world turns around you."

Running in tough luck was the junior class "orchids to you" float which, through a mixup in transportation signals, got a late start.

A number of out of town former students were on hand Friday evening for the homecoming football game, but this didn't turn out according to script. Saturday others rolled into town, some of them from hundreds of miles away.

They took part first in an assembly program at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium, then in class reunions and a general reception in the cafeteria.

Presiding over the assembly was James Bruce Frazier, class of '41. Committee chairmen and others were in the reception line, including Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Zack Gray (she was general chairman), Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheedy, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Stacey, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pickle, and others.

At the assembly Omar Jones '43 had extended the welcome and George Oldham '48 responded. Bobo Hardy '45 gave a faceted "prophecy" about some of the old grads. After Miss Ebling and her homecoming court had been presented, Delores Howard, a BSHS student, sang. During the reception, Jerry Lynn McPherson, another student, furnished music at the reception. Later, exes and students broke up into contemporary groups—the former students staging their visitation and ball in the Settles ballroom and the students having theirs in the high school gymnasium.

During the halftime Friday evening, other members of the queen's court—Celia Grant, Luan Phillips, Shirley Terry and Katie Thomas—were introduced. Miss Ebling was escorted by Pete Coleman, Miss Grant by Jake Coleman, Miss Phillips by Eddie Kinney, Miss Terry by Gordon Dickinson and Miss Thomas by Terry Stanley. Kim Guthrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Guthrie, was flower girl, and Randy Stacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Stacey, was the crown bearer. Placing the crown on the queen's head was James Howard Stephens, student council president. Earlier, Wayne Fields had crowned Judy Reagan football queen, and Charles Rice crowned Beverly Osborne band queen.

Aiding in preparations were Zack's, Alexander's, Zale's, Gandy's, HCJC library, Coca Cola, and Cosden.

Few Moslems Seek Algerian Assembly

ALGIERS (AP)—Only a handful of Moslems had come forward as candidates for the French National Assembly Saturday night, the eve of the deadline for filing.

Fear and apathy were prevalent among the Moslem population, despite Premier Charles de Gaulle's promise that at least two thirds or 46 of the 67 Algerian deputies in the new French Parliament would be Moslems.

Rebels have warned Moslems, who make up 90 per cent of the four million Algerian voters, to boycott the election Nov. 23-30. Registration for candidates closes Sunday at midnight.

9 Hub Caps Are Stolen

Hub cap thieves continued to plague car owners this week with a total of nine being reported stolen in the past two days.

Leonard West, Sterling City Rd., told the police that four hub caps and two fender skirts on his 1955 Chevrolet were stolen while the car was parked at Elbow Thursday.

Rufus Rolland, 107 W. 21st, told the police that two hub caps were taken from his 1951 Ford which was parked at the high school between noon and 4 p. m. Friday.

Kidnaping Turns Into Marriage

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—Giuseppe Sindoni, who plays in South American films under the name Tony Miranda, was married today to a 15-year-old Sicilian girl he had been accused of kidnaping.

The wedding of the 23-year-old Italian-Venezuelan and Miss Maria Angrilli took place in the Church of the Black Madonna of Tindari, with the bride's family finally consenting.

Sindoni, who lives in Caracas where his father and brothers operate a bakery, made a vacation trip back to his native Sicily this fall and met Maria. Together they won a Sicilian auto rally—a combination race and show—and fell in love. Maria's mother said she was too young to marry.

So Sindoni ran off with Maria—a traditional Sicilian elopement in such cases. But Maria's mother filed charges of kidnaping, and Sindoni was arrested and held in jail for five days. Then Maria's mother relented, withdrew the charges, and consented to the marriage.

Buddy Barnes Is Area Nominee For Youth 'Governor'

Buddy Barnes of Big Spring is the West Texas YMCA Area candidate for governor in the youth-government project.

Barnes won the West Texas nomination at the pre-legislative conference in Lubbock Saturday. He edged Betsy Demeric of Abilene.

Toni Thomas, Big Spring, lost her bid for the post of clerk of the senate. An El Paso girl won that race.

Big Spring was elected by 57 delegates and 11 adults at the conference where plans were made for the annual youth-in-government program to be held in Austin Dec. 14. Serving on committees were Jane Thomas and Freddie Bonifield, water conservation; Wayne Basden, state affairs resources; and James H. Stephens, elections committee.

State youth-in-government officers will be named at the opening of the project in Austin next month.

Carload Of Cotton Bales Catches Fire

About 18 bales of cotton were slightly damaged by fire Friday evening in the T&P yards.

The fire department was called to the yards after a car loaded with cotton caught on fire. Only the cotton was damaged; the car was not hurt. No cause was found for the blaze.

GREEN EYES!

DEAR ABBY: If there is ever a contest for the MOST JEALOUS HUSBAND, I want to enter mine. I've heard that jealousy is a sign that your husband loves you, but I would almost rather he didn't love me so much. He was late in getting home from work the night we were going to a Masonic dance so I was already dressed. I was wearing a dress that needs to be hooked up the back. He had always hooked it for me. He asked, "WHO HOOKED IT FOR YOU?" I told him, "Nobody. I hooked it myself with much difficulty." He UNHOOKED the dress and made me prove to him I could hook it myself. I perspired all the make-up off my face and almost dislocated my shoulder. How do you handle a man like that?

STUMPED DEAR STUMPED: Don't let him "hook you" for any more demonstrations. A faithful wife shouldn't have to break her arm in order to prove her fidelity.

DEAR ABBY: How did the "TRICK-OR-TREAT" racket ever get started? I have grown to dread Halloween. One doesn't dare to go any place, but must stay home and protect his property unless he wants to spend the next few days washing soap off screens and windows and cleaning up garbage that has been dumped on his lawn and porch. I haven't much extra money but I am forced to buy a large supply of candy bars and taffy apples to give to overgrown hoodlums who ring my doorbell and demand a hand-out in payment for NOT damaging my property.

Where are the police? I RATE CITIZEN DEAR RATE: I see no harm in handing out penny candy to little tykes under 12 who ring my bell to show off their masks and costumes. But "overgrown hoodlums" who demand hand-outs as "protection" against damaging property should be tossed in the cooler. The police departments order on that night, and might work hard maintaining law and appreciate extra reinforcements from volunteer groups such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, etc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a hairdresser by profession and a get-together hairdressing six days a week, eight hours a day. Every Sunday we go to visit my husband's people. They all line up for free haircuts, touch-ups and permanents. Even the men. I did nine heads last Sunday and I am plumb fed up. I don't mind doing my mother-in-law, but the others are young and healthy enough to go to a beauty parlor and pay for it. Should I tell them off and if so, how?

DEAR TIRED: If you don't want them in YOUR hair forever, stay out of theirs. Tell them in plain English you don't want to spend your only day off working.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen letters from ladies complaining about men without manners. Where, may I ask, are ladies with manners? When I go to open an automobile door, I find my "lady" is already out of the car. Our hands frequently meet on knobs and door handles. My shins have been rapped by chairs going backwards before I can help the lady, and if I stand when she stands she asks, "Going somewhere?" Please print this to let ladies know that gentlemen like to help ladies if they will only allow them the privilege.

A GENTLEMAN DEAR GENTLEMAN: Not all women are "ladies"... but then, neither are all men "gentlemen."

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy that rides the bus to school. Every time I get on the bus, the next door neighbor girl saves me a seat beside her. How can I tell her I don't want to sit with her without hurting her feelings?

BUS RIDER DEAR BUS: You can't tell her you don't want to sit with her without hurting her feelings. If she annoys you too much to make polite small talk—open one of your books and "study."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORKING GIRL": If you are one of the working girls Heaven is supposed to protect, Heaven help the poor fellow on whom you are working.

Honored By City Employees

The members of the H. W. Whitney family admire a book of memoirs presented City Manager Whitney at a dinner given in his honor Friday night. They are Mrs. Nancy Whitney Little, Beth Whitney, Whitney, and Mrs. Whitney. The book traces his career from birth through the present, with space for additional entries. About 125 employees, former employees, and their families attended the appreciation dinner.

City Employees Honor Whitney At Dinner Party Friday Night

City Manager H. W. Whitney received the praise of the mayor, employees of the city, and former employees Friday night at a dinner given in his honor at the fire station. Whitney is to leave the post of city manager here next Wednesday and will report as manager of Corpus Christi on Nov. 17, and the 125 attending the dinner Friday night gave him and his family a standing ovation in appreciation for his service to the city. Whitney has been city manager for almost 12 years. Prior to that he was city secretary.

Mayor G. W. Dabney expressed the appreciation of the City Commissions—past and present—as well as the city employees to Whitney and wished him success in his new assignment at Corpus. The mayor said he had never regretted the decision made almost 12 years ago to appoint Whitney as city manager. He said that it was the job of city employees to serve the people with a smile.

"Not only has he served the people—never concealing anything from them—but he has been sincere and fair with his employees. I have not known a more humble, sincere, and conscientious man; he is the same always."

The mayor said no higher compliment could be paid than to be selected at Corpus over 42 of the top managers across the state and nation.

Roy Anderson, city purchasing agent, was master of ceremonies, and Roy Hester, water superintendent, presented Whitney with a book of memoirs from the city employees. Police Chief Rogers also presented Whitney with a gift from his department.

Recognized at the dinner were the eight men with more than 20 years service to the city. Hester, R. V. Foresyth, Lee Nuckles, H. V. Crocker, G. F. Gideon, Jones Lamar, Frank Covert, and C. E. Johnson Jr.

Truman May Visit Garner On Birthday

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Former President Harry Truman is expected to be one of the guests for John Nance Garner's 90th birthday celebration here Nov. 22.

He heads a list of celebrities who have said they will call on Garner, who lives here quietly in retirement but who still sharply speaks his mind on occasion.

Garner vetoed plans to raise $4,000 for a birthday blowout. "Save your money," he snapped when he learned that the Uvalde Chamber of Commerce and friends and neighbors were raising funds to finance a big celebration.

"I will be glad to see my friends but I do not want my party to cost them any money," said the former vice president.

As the matter stands now, the veteran Democrat who has always stood for economy will have open house for all friends who may care to call on his anniversary.

Gov. Price Daniel, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Speaker Sam Rayburn are among those who have said they will visit here and take part in the birthday ceremony.

Many other officials, friends and well-wishers are expected at the public gathering.

Crisp Weather Over The State

By The Associated Press
Crisp, sunny weather blanketed most of Texas Saturday after a mild cool front moved swiftly across the state.

Generally the skies were clear except in the southeast and a spot here and there like Texarkana and Lufkin, where showers fell.

By early afternoon the Pacific cool air mass had moved to a line reaching from Lufkin to Victoria to Laredo. The lowest temperature before dawn Saturday was 28 at Dalhart, high in the Panhandle.

Cooler weather was forecast for all Texas except the upper Panhandle which was due to warm up late Saturday night.

Big Springers Named To Baptist Offices

Three Big Spring Baptists have been named to serve on institutional boards and agencies for the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

They are the Dr. P. D. O'Brien, G. G. Morehead, and Dr. P. W. Malone.

Dr. O'Brien was elected a trustee for Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, a post he has held for several years; Morehead was named a trustee for Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton, and to the BGCT executive board; Dr. Malone was named a trustee for Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital, San Angelo.

Men's Wear Of Character

Age Begins To Show On Face Of Former Vice President

JOHN GARNER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Time has dealt kindly with John Nance Garner, who steps lightly into the twilight years week determined to reach his goal of half a lifetime as a private citizen. Following is an intimate glimpse of the former vice president and present patriarch of Uvalde.

By DAVE CHEAVENS

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—John Nance Garner turns a mellow 90 this coming Saturday and it'll be a big event in this West Texas county of the honey bee, heavy beef, woolly sheep and hairy goat.

The former vice president looks, acts, and talks like a man at least 20 years younger. He's getting set for a king-sized birthday celebration, including a barbecue and a big cake with maybe one candle standing for all those years.

The invitation list includes such names as James A. Farley and Speaker Sam Rayburn (4-Tex). Garner is happily looking forward to another reunion with many of his old political pals and proteges. The years, of course, have slowed down Garner's once-galloping routine. Don't hurry, don't worry," said the motto hanging in his workroom. And he doesn't don his wool hunting britches and go chasing after deer on his birthday anymore.

"I know my age," he says. "when you get to be nearly 90, your hunting and fishing days are over."

Garner's only remaining sport is baseball—on television. On major league broadcast days, he sits in a captain's chair facing two TV sets.

REMOTE CONTROL
Close at hand is a remote control gadget he uses gleefully to cut out the commercials or switch to another game if action gets dull in one contest. Afternoon games wreck his regular nap time.

"But it's worth it," he says. Back in his Washington days, Garner went to the ball games as often as he could.

"I always took one Democrat and one Republican to sit in the box with me. That way, nobody could say it was politics."

Whisky-drinking, cigar-chewing Cactus Jack was a blunt-tongued, tobacco-tempered fellow in Washington. He pounded four gavelts to splinters during his first week as speaker of the House.

After he became vice president, he called himself the "spare tire of the government," and he kept his mouth shut in public. "I never talk about national af-airs," he used to say during his two terms as vice president (1932-1940). "I leave that to the boss (Franklin D. Roosevelt)."

But he never hesitated to tell his friends—strong-willed Roosevelt included—exactly how he felt. The Roosevelt-Garner friendship survived Garner's acid comments about Roosevelt's spending, proposal to pack the Supreme Court and recognition of Russia.

But the two split wide apart over Roosevelt's third term.

"A president in his third and successive terms may not be a dictator, but he is the first cousin or half-brother of one and he will perform like one," said Garner.

Garner never gives birthday statements or advice on how to live to a ripe old age. "There have been too many statements by too many people," he says.

Mrs. Garner died in 1948 and Garner lives alone—but he is not lonely. He still has numerous visitors, some townsfolk and just travelers.

They drive under the towering oaks and pecan trees, walk through the gate, and knock on the door of the little white house where Garner lives behind the garage. He has given the red brick house he built for Mrs. Garner to the Town of Uvalde.

"Come in," hollers Garner from his battered old desk by the front window.

A reporter once asked him if he went to the door to shake hands. COME ON IN

He answered: "If they want to see me they can come in here and see me."

In 1952, Garner supported Adlai Stevenson and in 1954, the former vice president appeared with national Democratic Chairman Paul Butler who was trying to patch up rifts in the party.

But he has made no political statements in recent years although he never misses a chance to vote.

And Garner's partisanship has definite limits.

"I dearly love the Democratic party, but I love my country more," he says.

Garner was born in a log cabin Nov. 22, 1868. He built a fortune in ranching, real estate and banking. He cut his last connection with business in 1954 when he retired as director of Uvalde's First State Bank.

"Just put me on the lazy, no-account list."

Today his eyesight and hearing are excellent. Whenever he's not reading or watching television, his glasses bulge in the pocket of his soft khaki shirt, fastened in with a big safety pin.

The medium-height, stocky Garner patters around in battered khaki clothes, carpet slippers and a green eyeshade pulled down over a crew cut.

STILL IN GOOD SHAPE
Garner's figure is trim and he keeps it that way by eating five light meals a day—actually three meals and two snacks—on the theory that overloading the stomach is bad for the heart.

His reasoning is sharp and his memory seems extraordinary. His day begins with an early breakfast. Then he reads a batch of daily papers, checks his mail, has a mid-morning snack.

After lunch he naps until 3 p.m. and then goes out to feed his bantam chickens and ducks. He gets mild exercise from shelling pecans for friends.

"Just leave me 100 pounds and give the rest to anybody who wants to come after them," Garner told his son, Tully, this year. Tully, a grandfather himself, lives alone in a house next door to his father.

But as the clock hands come near 4 p.m., Garner starts thinking about "striking a blow for liberty," a regular afternoon ceremony in Washington for years.

His years of public service—starting in the Texas Legislature and including 27 years in Congress—cover 46 years... spanning from the horse and buggy days to the rocket age.

Since he retired to Uvalde, salty-spoken Garner has seen a lot of big names beat the path to his door—including FDR, Harry Truman, Cabinet members and droves of senators and representatives.

But that doesn't mean Garner is high-hat.

"Are we invited to your party?" a newsman asked Garner. "Invited, hell!" roared the old campaigner. "You don't need to be invited. It's a free country, isn't it?"

Demos Plan Money Dinner

AUSTIN (AP)—Tentative plans for a statewide Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner were made here Friday at a meeting of the Dollars for Democrats steering committee.

Sometime in February is the likely date. State chairman of the party fund raising drive is Bill Parker of Greenville. He said party officers throughout the state are cooperating. "We hope to organize many more Texans into the Democratic party and enroll them as sustaining members," Parker said. The fee for a sustaining membership ranking is $10.

Contributors may designate whether their money is to be used on local, state or national levels in party projects.

Land Offering For Soil Bank Is In Excess

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers have oversubscribed the 1959 soil bank land retirement program.

The Agriculture Department reported that 232,000 farmers offered under a recent signup campaign to rent more than 20 million acres of cropland to the government for periods up to 10 years. Such land is held out of production under a program designed to curb surpluses.

But the 285 million dollars Congress made available for the 1959 program is insufficient to cover all the land offered, the department said. A total of 418 million dollars would be needed. As a consequence, a priority system will have to be used.

In general, farmers who participated this year will be given top priority. Next will come farmers who offered to retire land for less than maximum rates set for their farms. These rates average $13.50 an acre nationally compared with $10 this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson had requested $75 million dollars more than Congress provided for the program.

Farmers retired 10 million acres under the program in 1957 through 1958.

North Dakota farmers led with offers to retire 1,927,000 acres next year. Those in Texas were second with 1,626,000. South Dakota third with 1,316,000. Missouri fourth with 1,204,000 and Oklahoma fifth with 1,036,000 acres.

Work On Bonfire Earns 'Citation' For Avery Falkner

Abilene Christian College students are thinking seriously about devising a collegiate sort of "croix de guerre" for Avery Falkner, freshman from Big Spring.

It would be in recognition of his service, above and beyond the call of duty, during preparations for ACC's football bonfire last week.

Four times young Falkner narrowly escaped serious injury as he clambered up and down the trash heap in an effort to build a bigger and better bonfire. He emerged from the conflict with only a slight cut on the inside of his mouth, result of being whacked by a flying plank.

Avery's first mishap occurred as some other boys were attempting to hoist an old outbuilding to the top of the stack. It flopped out of control and a protruding two-by-four hit Falkner in the back, knocking him to the ground.

Next, fellow freshmen abruptly set a heavy log down on his foot, causing a limp but no serious injury. In the third incident, Avery tripped over a loose board and tumbled into a pile of nail-studded timbers, again without injury. The final, mouth-cutting mishap occurred when someone toppled a two-by-four, striking Falkner.

The Big Springer ended his wood-stacking efforts by assuming a perch on the top of the pile, safely out of reach of his timber tossing companions.

Merciful Frogs Rap Marquette, 36 To 8

By ROBERT E. FORD
FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Christian slaughtered Marquette, 36-8, Saturday night in an inter-sectional football meeting and, although the score didn't show it, the victors demonstrated kindness and mercy.

The Texas Christians' first string racked up two touchdowns and a field goal and then turned the game over to the bench, which Coach Abe Martin practically cleared of subs.

The Frogs used 46 players, 16 of whom carried the ball during the penalty-harried contest viewed by a crowd of only 15,000.

The Warriors from Milwaukee had one moment of glory in the third period.

John Cornell, taking over at quarterback for the injured Pete Hall, let a pass go to Charles Hujik on about the TCU 30. Hujik ran almost untouched for the score. It was a 56-yard play.

Cornell ran for the extra points to make it 8 points for the Warriors.

Scoring touchdowns for the Frogs were Marvin Lasater, Jack Spikes, Billy Gault, Max Pierce and Larry Dawson. Spikes kicked a field goal and added two extra points. R. E. Dodson kicked for another point.

In the final two periods, some odd maneuvers, particularly from the third and fourth stringers of TCU, led to a constant flurry of penalty flags.

Texas Christian now has a 6-1 record and is co-leader with Rice in Southwest Conference.

gives Marquette four losses against two victories and a tie. Marquette is an independent, belonging to no conference.

Marquette played the first quarter as if it planned to make a contest. But TCU broke loose with 16 points in the second period and broke the backs of the Warriors. The Frogs made 7 more points in the third period and 13 in the fourth.

Desperation passing by the visitors in the final period got them nowhere much.

Spikes was the workhorse of the victors when he was in the game. He went 31 yards for the key play that helped set up the first TCU score and consistently picked up the necessary yardage at critical moments.

Badgers Edge Cats, 17-13

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's Badgers parlayed fumble recoveries by Jerry Siatek and Jon Hobbs into a touchdown and a field goal during a crazy-quilt 17-point second quarter that gave them a 17-13 Big Ten football victory over Northwestern Saturday.

Hobbs' field goal from the 22, after an offside penalty against the Wildcats gave him a second chance, provided the Badgers with their winning margin before a homecoming crowd of 62,924 at rain-splattered Camp Randall Stadium.

The Wildcats, ranked fourth—three pegs above Wisconsin—were their own worst enemies throughout most of the penalty-strewn game. They scored once in the third quarter after a Wisconsin fumble and again in the fourth following a pass interference penalty against the Badgers.

Northwestern's highly rated quarterback, Dick Thornton, and halfback Ron Burton each scored from one yard out. The Wildcats closed with a rush but could not overcome the Badgers' 17-point second quarter.

The going got so rough in the late stages that the Badgers' Dale Hackbart and Dick Teteak were banished from the game for jostling the pass interference call against Hackbart that set up the Wildcats' second touchdown.

Wisconsin registered its third triumph of the Big Ten campaign against one loss and one tie. The Wildcats stand 3-2-0 in the conference.

Thornton, the Big Ten's total offense leader, added 125 yards to his 567-yard total. He completed 7 of 16 passes for 83 yards and rushed 12 times for 42 yards net. Hackbart held a statistical edge over Thornton in the battle for All America quarterback hopefuls, with 84 yards passing and 57 running.

Witucki Catches Three TD Passes As Raiders Win

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — End Bob Witucki caught three touchdown passes as long runs and sharp passing helped Texas Tech snap a four-game losing streak Saturday and rip Arizona's Wildcats 33-6.

Witucki caught two scoring passes from quarterback Jerry Bell. Halfback Floyd Dellinger chunked the other.

Reserve halfback Dan Gurley raced 22 yards and Dellinger plunged one yard to complete Tech's scoring.

Arizona averted a shutout in the second quarter, marching 80 yards for the touchdown.

Halfback Ken Talkington booted an extra-point for Tech and Bell tossed to fullback Doug Duncan for two points after the fourth touchdown.

Arizona center Ted Urness twice blocked extra point kick attempts to run his total for the season to five blocks.

The Raiders used long marches to almost all their touchdowns. They moved 92 yards for the first with halfback Ronnie Rice getting 58 yards on one sprint. Witucki took a 15-yard pass from Dellinger and went six yards more for the touchdown.

Seconds later, Talkington intercepted quarterback Ralph Hunsacker's pass to set up the second tally, with Gurley going 22 yards down a right end for the touchdown and a 13-0 first quarter lead.

The Raiders marched 61 yards in the second period, aided by Dellinger's 15-yard run, Gurley's 11-yard sprint and a personal foul penalty against Arizona.

Dellinger plunged a yard to end the drive.

Cooper's Pass Propels Longhorns Past Bruins

By ED OVERHOLSER
WACO (AP) — Texas quarterback Larry Cooper led a 26-yard pass to end Bob Bryant in the end zone to pull the Longhorns to a 20-15 win over Baylor here Saturday.

The Longhorns burned power up the middle and called on the pass play in the clutch to down the fighting Bears before 28,000.

Sharp passing by Buddy Humphrey, Baylor quarterback who hit 18 of 26 passes, clicked to send Baylor into a 15-14 lead with 10:19 seconds left in the final period.

Cooper, taking over for the injured Bobby Lackey, directed the Longhorns for 71 yards and TD. Texas almost got another seconds later when end Maurice Duke intercepted a Humphrey pass at mid-field and ran to the nine before going out. Texas drove to the one-foot line but the Baptists held.

Humphrey pitched 10 straight completions in the first half as Baylor took a 7-6 lead. Texas went ahead on a 55-yard scoring drive in the third period with Lackey pulling the key punch on a 16-yard pass to Bryant on the 4.

From the 20, Baylor drove 80 yards in eight plays to go ahead as Humphrey connected three times on passes to end Albert Witcher good for 58 yards.

Third string fullback Jim Evans blasted through a gap on the right side to go the last 13 yards for Baylor's final tally. Trailing 14-13, Humphrey passed to the end and Gary Wisener for the 2-point that sent the Baptists ahead.

After the kickoff, Texas couldn't go on two running plays, but Cooper found halfback Bobby Matocha on a pass play to the 42. George Blanch drove up the middle to the 45, and Cooper flipped a pass to Bryant on the Baylor 45.

Matocha whipped end for five to the 40 and Cooper, faking hand-offs, raced around left end to the 32. A plunge by fullback Don Allen carried to the 26. Then Cooper faked a handoff to Allen, pivoted and fired the ball to Bryant in the corner for the winning score.

Texas took the lead on a 39-yard scoring drive the second time in possession. Fiery little Bobby Gurwitz, 155 pounder, picked up 19 of the yards in the three plays and Mike Dowdle, 215 pound stomper from Graham, got 11 of the last 16 on blasts over guard and tackle.

The Baptists went to the air to dominate the rest of the first half.

Merle Schexnaidre, the "Bandits" linebacker, smashed over on the first play and Cannon came in to kick the extra point.

Longfellow Stars In 14-14 Deadlock
MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia, with quarterback Dick Longfellow at the scoring throttle, twice came from behind Saturday and gained a 14-14 tie with favored Penn State.

Longfellow scored both touchdowns on keeper plays after setting them up with short, pinpoint passes.

MUSTANGS BURY AGS UNDER 33 TO 0 TAB

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—Don Meredith ran for two touchdowns and passed for one and his understudy, Billy Dunn, threw for two more Saturday as Southern Methodist smashed Texas A&M, 33-0, and stayed in the Southwest Conference football race.

Meredith, fully recovered from the hip injury that kept him out of most of four games, had one of his greatest days yet, throwing for 136 yards and running for 62, while Dunn connected on eight passes and 131 yards.

A crowd of 53,000 saw SMU beat the Aggies by the widest margin in 42 years of battling.

The game was scheduled as a duel between Meredith and the Aggies' Charley Misteard, the nation's total offense leader, but Misteard went out with an injury

Forfeits shortened YMCA "rag football" play Saturday.

Both Washington-Goliad and Lakeview failed to show up for their sixth grade game. Parkhill forfeited another contest to Bauer in what would have been a fifth grade tilt. Washington No. 2 and Lakeview both forfeited by non-appearance for another fifth grade game.

In contests that were played, College Heights scored in the fading moments of a game to edge Washington No. 1, 14-8. Cedar Crest bumped Boydston, 22-10, and Bauer walloped Washington No. 1, 46-0, in a make-up game.

NM Aggies Lash McMurry, 10-7

LAS CRUCES (AP)—New Mexico A&M scored a 10-7 victory Saturday over the McMurry Indians.

Danny Villanueva kicked a field goal from the 20 yard line against the wind to break a 7-7 deadlock. There were only 34 seconds left to play when Villanueva's kick ended a seven-year victory skein of the Indians over the Aggies.

McMurry scored first when George Bridges went over right guard for a touchdown in the second quarter from two yards out. Tommy McAdams converted to make the score 7-0 at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Aggies bounced back and Joe Kelly dived over from the one-yard line for the touchdown with 8:43 left in the period. Villanueva kicked the point, tying the score.

Ballymoss Choice

CURRAGH, Ireland (AP)—Irish bookmakers Saturday made Irish-trained and American-owned Ballymoss a 5-4 betting favorite for the seventh running of the Washington International horse race at Laurel, Md., on Tuesday. Ballymoss is trained by Irishman Vincent O'Brien and owned by John McShain of Philadelphia.

five Aggie throws in the final period and one almost led to a touchdown. SMU was on the Aggie 3-yard line as the game ended.

Southern Methodist has lost one game out of three and is still barely in the conference race, which is led by Rice and Texas Christian with three victories apiece.

Meredith made his touchdowns with runs of 5 and 8 yards and he figured in a pass-run play that ate up 78 yards in the biggest thriller of the game. He screen-passed to the fleet Jim Welch who reared down the sidelines with tackle Lee Yokum and guard Tom Koenig giving him the blocks necessary to clear the way.

Dunn passed to Frank Jackson for 7 yards and to Billy Polk for 21 in getting the other two SMU touchdowns.

A&M never got past the SMU 48-yard line until the second half. Once the Aggies managed to move to the SMU five, with Dudley passing and running for 64 yards, but here the Methodist defense rose up like a stone wall and took over.

Southern Methodist had a tremendous 505 yards total offense.

Sam Houston Wins Over SW Texas

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A single touchdown plus a field goal gave the Sam Houston State a 9-0 victory over the slow-moving Southwest Texas State before a capacity homecoming day crowd of 5,500 Saturday.

The Bobcats, who until Saturday held first place in the Lone Star Conference football race, offered little resistance to the charging Bearkats.

Last Minute Pass Enables Army To Topple Rice Owls

Pete Dawkins Swings Tide

HOUSTON (AP)—Army struck on a 64-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Joe Caldwell to halfback Pete Dawkins with only 52 seconds left Saturday as the mighty Cadets turned back the amazing Rice Owls, 14-7, before a homecoming crowd of 69,000.

Seconds before the perfectly executed tie-breaking pass, Don Bonko, reserve Cadet fullback, had crashed through to block Rice field goal attempt after the final Owl threat had moved to the Army nine-yard line.

Until the Caldwell-Dawkins pass stunned the Owls, it appeared that Rice, with a tie, was to ignore an underdog role for a third time in less than a year and upset a nationally-ranked football power.

Two weeks ago the Owls upset undefeated Texas, then No. 4 in the nation. Last November Rice defeated a Texas A&M team that held a No. 1 ranking.

Army, a seven-point favorite, had carried a 50-1 record and a No. 3 ranking to Houston on its first invasion of the Southwest.

Until the closing minutes, neither team had moved inside the 20-yard lines except for a quick exchange of touchdowns in the second period.

Rice took a 7-0 lead on a 58-yard drive that was climaxed by a 27-yard touchdown pass from Alvin Hartman, a sophomore quarterback, to end Buddy Dial. Army struck right back, however, for 70 yards and a touchdown that came on an eight-yard pass from halfback Bob Anderson to end Bill Carpenter.

Halfback Billy Bucke, who missed the field goal attempt, converted for Rice. Fullback Harry Walters converted for Army.

Rice, a team that is sharing the Southwest Conference lead despite pre-season predictions for a second division finish, held the Cadets to 100 yards rushing but saw Army complete 12 of 22 passes for 201 yards. In six previous games, Army had compiled the top offense in the nation with an average of 408 yards. Rice gained 133 yards rushing, but completed only five of 13 passes for 56 yards.

The winning touchdown came on the third play after Army had recovered the blocked field goal attempt on its 24. Caldwell's first pass, to Dawkins, was incomplete, and the second, to Anderson, was good for 12 yards to the 36.

The long loss to Dawkins was right down the middle, and the speedy Cadet halfback gathered in the ball at the Rice 40 and outran three Owl defenders.

Caldwell's passes also were the damaging blows in the long drive that gained a 7-7 tie in the second period.

3-WAY TIE FOR FIRST Forsan Nudges Garden City In 8-Man Thriller, 14 To 6

Forsan's Happy Warriors
Lettermen of the Forsan High School football team (pictured above) had reason to feel happy after Friday night's District 4 encounter with Garden City, which the Buffs won, 14-6. The victory tied Forsan and Mertzon for the top position in the standings, along with down the game with a jog across middle to the 38, where White banged for two yards and a new series of downs. White spurred eight yards around end from a single wing formation, Barnett's line thrust gained another first on Garden City's 24, and then Park wiggled loose for 11 paces to the 12.

After two plays White had advanced the ball half the distance to the goal line, before Park shot over right guard from four yards out, for the touchdown. A backfield-in-motion penalty nullified the extra points, leaving Forsan with a 6-0 lead.

Garden City was forced to punt the first three times in possession, mainly because it was unable to hold off Forsan's Charles Skeen, Jerry and Milton Bardwell, Stanley Willis and Sammy Barnett. But the third bot, off the toe of Billy Fisher, put Forsan in a hole too deep to escape and indirectly set up Garden City's scoring TD.

Backed up inside their 10, where Forsan's Jerry Bardwell had slammed a 44-yard quick kick, the Bearkats lined in punt formation. Standing in the end zone, Fisher booted the pigskin to the Forsan 11. The Buffaloes struggled to get out to the 26, where they lost a fumble.

After the ball exchanged hands, a short Forsan punt on its five-yard line was lobbed out to the Buff 21. Plagens handled the ball three times for 23 yards in getting the ball to paydirt. The score came on a five-yard right end run, but the PAT failed to leave the score at 6-6.

The TD play occurred just two plays before halftime.

Dennis Calverley kicked off to Forsan in the second half, and after half a dozen plays by Forsan, which gained three first downs, Bearkat Dennis Schraeder recovered a Buff fumble on Garden City's 25.

Gaining absolutely no yardage from that point the 'Kats punted out to the Buff 27. Powering to four more first downs, Forsan alternated Sammy Barnett, Park and White at carrying the ball, and behind outstanding blocking in the line moved 53 yards to get the final TD.

Park lugged it 13 yards to the six, and in two plays White had the score in his hip pocket. Dynamic Park added the extra points, 14-6. The score was late in the third period.

White picked up the longest run of the game in the fourth with a 31-yard scamper, but Fisher and Plagens were bringing the fans to their feet when the game ended, on four 12 and 14 yard sprints across midfield.

half and it was not until late in the game that the two turned in hair-raising gallops which threatened a comeback.

Coach James Blake's boys showed every indication of pulling an upset (which now leaves Garden City, Mertzon, and Forsan deadlocked), and took a 6-0 lead the first time they held the ball in the first period.

Forsan's scoring drive began on its 38 and took ten plays in reaching the touchdown climax. Quarterback George White, performing his usual outstanding feats, and halfback Freddie Park, who had a great night, carried the burden on the march.

WOLVERINES LACED Kreitling Shines In Illinois Win

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—End Rich Kreitling caught three touchdowns—two of them from 150-pound quarterback John Easterbrook — and Illinois defeated Michigan Saturday 21-8 in a Big Ten struggle finished in a driving rainstorm.

Kreitling, a 22-year-old junior from Chicago, snared scoring passes of 83, 60 and 13 yards as the Fighting Illini captured their 17th triumph in the 44-game series that dates back to 1898.

The 21 points scored by Illinois makes this season, in one respect the worst in Michigan's long gridiron history. The Wolverines have allowed 183 points in seven games—more than in any other season in the school's 80 years of football. The previous high was the 172 points given up by Michigan's 1892 team.

Kreitling and Easterbrook shot life into a listless Illinois offense early in the second period when they combined on the 83-yard touchdown play that completely baffled the Michigan defense.

Rebs Vanquish Cougars, 56-7

By JAMES SAGGUS
UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Franklin broke open a tight game shortly before halftime Saturday and launched the Mississippi Rebels toward a 56-7 intersectional victory over Houston.

Franklin threw for three touchdowns as the Rebels overcame an early Houston lead to run up their biggest score since 1935, when they defeated West Tennessee Teachers, 92-0.

Some 20,000 fans saw Houston take a 7-0 lead in the first quarter and remain in control until the dying minutes of the second period. The Rebels broke a 7-7 tie with a 32-yard scoring pass from Franklin to end Larry Grantham. After halftime the Rebels scored 21 points per quarter with substitutes playing most of the time.

Houston got its touchdown on a 12-yard pass from quarterback Don McDonald to end Bob Borah and the passing of McDonald and Lonnie Holland kept Houston threatening until midway in the second period.

At that point, halfback Jimmy Hall returned a punt 22 yards and then went 26 to the six to put the Rebels into the thick of it. Quarterback Billy Brewer drove the final yard and the score injected the first life into the Mississippi attack.

Grantham scored two touchdowns on passes from Franklin. Third team quarterback Jack Gibbs scored two. End Warren Ball got two on passes, and fullback James Anderson one on an interception return.

The game counted as a South-eastern Conference contest for the Rebels.

Musial's Homer Boosts Cards

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—Stan Musial hit his first home run in Japan Saturday and sent the Cardinals off to a 5-1 victory over the Japan All-Stars in their 10th game of a 16-game tour.

Musial's blast at Heiwada Stadium came with two on base in the first inning. The Cardinals added two more in the fifth.

Ten thousand American armed forces personnel were among the 30,000 spectators.

Tackle Billy Shaw and fullback Marvin Tibbetts also were strong on defense, helping hand the Tigers their first shutout in 15 games.

Clemson, pointing for the Atlantic Coast Conference title and a bowl bid, undoubtedly was handicapped because star quarterback Harvey White was not in top form. A sore ankle kept him out of practice all week and his timing—particularly on passes—appeared off.

Tech scored again in the second period after a 25-yard pass from Joe Delany to Jimmy Beasley gave Tech a first down on the 1. Fred Braselton sneaked it over.

The victory over a team ranked 17th nationally in The Associated Press poll spurred Tech's hope for a Gator Bowl bid, provided they beat Alabama and Georgia in the two remaining games.

Eli Are Hogtied

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Fred Doelling scored two touchdowns Saturday as Penn trounced Yale 30-6 in an Ivy League football game. A crowd of 20,592 saw the Quakers come from behind for the victory.

Fleet Floyd Facuette Is Star In Upset Victory

ATLANTA (AP)—Fleet Floyd Facuette put on one of the greatest running exhibitions on Grant Field in many a game Saturday, and led Georgia Tech to a 13-0 football victory over Clemson.

His 54-yard run for Tech's first touchdown was a beauty. Zipping through a hole on the right side, he danced away from Clemson linebackers, cut across the field to the far sideline and simply outran the angling Tiger secondary men.

He chipped in with several other big gains, spinning away from tackler after tackler. He rolled up 115 yards, in 10 carries.

Tech's superior over-all speed and alert defensive play were the big factors. Center Maxie Baughman turned in a magnificent defensive job, intercepting one pass and making several key tackles to stall Clemson's power machine.

Spirited Lamesa Plays Tie With Snyder Tigers, 20-20

LAMESA (SC)—The Lamesa Tornados, winless in 3-AAA section, rose to humble Snyder with a 20-20 deadlock here Friday night before a large homecoming crowd.

Lamesa scored first in the opening quarter after covering a Snyder fumble on the Tiger 29. Kirk Wiggins pounded across from the two with less than three minutes gone in the game, for a 6-0 lead.

In that same period, Snyder managed to tie the score 6-6 when quarterback Richard Mahan tossed to Dick Hayes from six yards out.

In five plays, Lamesa had regained the lead. Larry Marshall sprinted around end on the six-yard scoring play to cap a 70-yard march. Wiggins threw a pass to Nat Self for the two point conversion.

Score at halftime was 14-6. A touchdown by Mahan and points by Mickey McGrew tied the score again, and shortly before the end of the third period McGrew blasted across from the one yard line for the lead.

Billy Addison timed an 83-yard march for Lamesa with a one-yard run, but defensive linebacker Eddie Watson blocked the attempted conversion kick.

Terrapins Are 40-14 Victims Of Middies

BALTIMORE (AP)—Navy reserves fired off the boilers and sophomore fullback Joe Matalavage provided the spark as Navy trounced Maryland 40-14 in the renewal of an old neighborhood football rivalry Saturday.

Matalavage, making his first start of the season, scored two touchdowns and rolled up 102 yards on 10 carries. It was the first Midshipmen victory over Maryland since the Terps won three straight before the series was suspended in 1952.

The reserves halted a second Maryland touchdown threat with a recovered fumble on the Navy 2 at the start of the second quarter and promptly marched 98 yards for Navy's first score.

Maxfield completed three passes in the drive for 48 yards and got ripping runs from fullback Jim TenBrook and halfbacks Roland Brandquist and Dick Zembruski. TenBrook scored from the 4, but an attempted pass for the conversion failed.

The spark had been lighted for Navy's first string, however, and the Middies struck for two touchdowns in each of the last three periods.

Quarterback Joe Tranchini led a 77-yard drive for the second Navy score, completing passes of 31, 9, and 19 yards before sending Matalavage across on a plunge from the 1.

Purdue Rallies To Tie Bucks

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Purdue's Bollermakers, shocked by two early touchdowns by Ohio State tackle Jim Marshall, fought back with two fourth period touchdowns Saturday to tie the Buckeyes 14-14 in a Big Ten game which eliminated both from the title race.

A crowd of 83,481, largest ever to fill the Buckeye horseshoe, was stunned as Marshall, a 230-pound, 6-foot 3 Columbus boy, ran a blocked punt 22 yards for a score.

Purdue, which had passed only 50 times in six previous games, took to the air 30 times, completing 13 for 213 yards—practically all of it coming in the closing spree against the tiring Bucks.

Behind 14-0 starting the final period, Purdue marched 64 yards in 14 plays. Fullback Bob Jarus plunged three yards for the score. The Bollermakers shunned a place-kick for the extra point and went for two. But a pass failed to click.

With only two minutes and two seconds to play, Purdue was back in Ohio's end zone with its second score. A Ross Fichtner to Dick Brooks pass went the final seven yards to climax a six-play surge covering 62 yards.

Clyde Washington, faking a wide run to the right, stopped and passed into the left end zone to Brooks for the two-point conversion which tied it.

Hawkeyes Win Pasadena Trip

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Unbeaten Iowa won the Big Ten football championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl Saturday by hammering winless Minnesota 28-6 behind Willie Fleming's two spectacular scoring sprints.

Fleming sped 63 and 46 yards in the first half to propel the nation's second-ranked football power to its sixth victory and fifth in the Big Ten. The Hawks' lone blemish is a 13-13 tie with Air Force.

Iowa's victory, linked with the Ohio State-Purdue tie and Wisconsin's triumph over Northwestern, mathematically clinched the Hawkeyes' fifth Big Ten championship and their second in three years.

Fleming, a sophomore and 10-second leader, combined with quarterback Randy Duncan to deliver the big offensive salvos that dealt Minnesota its 10th straight defeat.

Fleming hit the same hole midway near duplicates of his 61 and 73-yard scoring dashes which helped defeat Michigan a week ago.

Late in the first period he slipped through a small opening at left tackle, burst away from a line backer and boomed down the sidelines to score from the 46.

Fleming hit the same hold midway through the second quarter, got a one-step lead on the Gopher corner line backer and outraced everyone into the end zone.

Duncan, the Hawkeyes' All-America quarterback candidate, fired an 11-yard scoring pass to Bob Prescott later in the quarter and then hit Don Norton from the 10 in the fourth quarter.

Minnesota got its lone touchdown in the third period when second string quarterback Larry Johnson connected with halfback Bill Kauth on a 30-yard pass.

Minnesota's all-sophomore backfield didn't have the speed or finesse to however seriously the tough Hawkeye line.

Tigers Win, 16-14

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Princeton edged Harvard Saturday 16-14 in an Ivy League football game played before 35,000. The successful margin came on two passes for the extra points.

Tot 'n Teen was the team with the best game, 909, and high scores went to Hemphill-Wells, 2647.

Picking up splits were: Evelyn Ball 2-7 and 3-10, Virginia Pickett 3-10, Peggy Tubb 3-10, and Betty Watson 5-6-10.

Auburn Roars Over Maroons

By LEROY SIMMS
AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Little Jimmy Pettus, sophomore replacement for Auburn's injured Tommy Lorino, paced the fifth-ranked Tigers in a terrific offensive show for a 33-14 victory over Mississippi State Saturday.

It was Auburn's 21st consecutive game without defeat and the 20th consecutive victory in the home stadium.

Pettus, a 162-pounder, caught three touchdowns passes for 16, 10 and 58 yards to end Auburn worries over the loss by injury last week of Lorino, hitherto the team's top offensive threat.

State stunned the 36,000 homecoming day fans with two quick scores in the second quarter to take a 14-12 lead. But the Tigers scored again quickly and were never in danger thereafter.

Richard Wood, a fourth-string quarterback in September and like Pettus a replacement for an injured man, threw two of the touchdown tosses to Pettus and ran 7 for another. Loyd Nix, the Tiger captain, raced 13 for another. Nix completed 13 of 19 passes for 212 yards.

Until Saturday, Auburn had excelled principally on defense, having led the nation for 15 consecutive months. But Saturday State's Billy Stacy engineered two scores in four minutes.

The first came on a short toss for 3 to Pat Shute and the next on a 1-yarder by Jack Batte. The two drives covered 34 and 31 yards, respectively, with Stacy's 31-yard throw to P. L. Blake the big gain on the first and Batte's run for 17 the big one on the other.

Miss. State 0 14 0 0—14
Auburn 12 8 13 0—33

FOUR WILL BE ADDED TO HALL OF FAME

DALLAS (AP)—Joel Hunt, "the lost All-American"; John Kimbrough, the one they found; Fred Wolcott, an immortal of track, and Clyde Littlefield, fabulous athlete and coach, will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame Dec. 31.

These four were voted into the hall by the Texas Sports Writers Association and will receive plaques in a ceremony at a luncheon.

Hunt was the football star of Texas A&M in the middle twenties who today is considered by many as the greatest player in Southwest Conference history. He led the Aggies to an unbeaten season in 1927 and was outstanding in the East-West game. It was there that they gave him the tag of "the lost All-American" because he came to public attention after the All-American had been picked.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One hears that Bob Harrell, the San Angelo coach, is very interested in the head coaching job at Permian High, Odessa's new senior high school, which opens its doors next September, and that Elwood Turner (of Sweetwater) could succeed Audrey Gill as head mentor at Midland.

Earlier the rumor cropped out that Snyder's John Conley might fall heir to the Midland post, if Gill lost out. Gill was offered the job as athletic director at Midland last year but preferred to keep coaching. . . . Midland will have another high school within two or three years, according to reports infiltrating from there. . . . That means that every District 2-AAAA city but Big Spring will have two high schools within a short time. . . . There is also some substance to the report that Odessa's Ector High, now assigned to Class AAA, will have enough students for promotion to AAAA within two years. . . . 2-AAAA could wind up with eight or nine members by 1961, compared to the five it now has. . . . Jack Butler, the Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive back, did not play high school football. . . . At the time, he was studying to become a priest in a Niagara Falls (Ont.) seminary. . . . His room-mate, who also changed his mind, was Frank Thomas, now the hard-hitting third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . The Runnels Junior High School football team here is losing a fine prospect in back Wayne Bernard, fastest boy on the team. . . . Wayne's parents have moved to Dallas. . . . Young Bernard wouldn't have been eligible his senior year here, however. . . . Elwood Turner says his Sweetwater Mustangs were far "from down" when they played that squeaker with Snyder recently. . . . Turner opined that the Ponies played their finest game since he arrived on the scene. . . . If they hadn't been "up," Turner added, they'd have been run out of the park by the red-hot Tigers. . . . Oklahoma State's two top left ends, Odessa's Don Hitt and Bill Dodson of Bonham, are boys who originally signed letters of intent to attend Baylor University.

Savage Team Loses In Title Contest

A recent headline in a Milwaukee newspaper: "Baltimore Colts' Overconfidence Could Aid Green Bay". . . . Final score of the National Football League's game: Baltimore 16, Green Bay 6. . . . Joe Ward, who came here in 1924 as the Big Spring High School football coach and changed the name of the athletic teams from Jayhawks to Steers (after his alma mater, the University of Texas), is now in YMCA work in Waco. . . . East High School of Des Moines, personal football champion of its area, won't rule the roost this season. . . . East, coached by the one-time Big Spring end, Bobby Savage, was defeated by Roosevelt High, 20-0, in a title game recently. . . . The bout was played before 14,000 in the Drake Stadium. . . . Big Spring gained more yardage with the "draw" play than with any other maneuver last fall and Buddy Barnes, then playing tailback, carried the ball in each instance. . . . That was the play with which Wayne Fields ran for his biggest gain against Odessa the other night. . . . Hayden Fry, the Odessa coach, had two films on Big Spring and had coached his line to stop Fields on the play, but the maneuver is hard to defend. . . . Iowa probably deserves the No. 1 football rating in the land. . . . When the Hawkeyes beat TCU early in the season, the Frogs were rated No. 6 nationally. . . . Wisconsin was No. 4 when Iowa met and defeated the Badgers and Northwestern, 26-20, in the Hawkeyes' home. . . . Roscoe in the No. 3 spot in AP ratings when it came face to face with the Iowans. . . . Kenny (Rock) Johnson, the Big Spring tackle, weighs 10 pounds less than he did when he was a sophomore. . . . Mickey Maule owns 90 per cent of that $750,000 bowling alley he's building in Dallas, expects it to pay out in five years. . . . Vernon Harton, BSHS's new basketball coach, says two of the boys he is trying at the post position, Jerry Brooks and Zay LeFevre, are looking to advantage in practice.

Steelers Pass Up Brown In Draft

Two West Texas coaches who have their football teams well up in the running in their respective districts, Bill Davis of Canyon and Don Pearce of Plains, were both coached by the present Big Spring High School aide, Curtis Kelley, at Memphis. . . . Gene Cherney, the 189-pound University of Illinois center, played only one minute of high school ball while at Austin, Minn. . . . He was considered too small. . . . The Pittsburgh Steelers passed up the chance to draft the sensational running back, Jimmy Brown (of Cleveland), after their scouts watched the University of Pittsburgh stop him for gains of less than 20 yards in two rushing plays. . . . Brown, of course, was with Syracuse at the time. . . . Ronnie Goodwin, the Odessa half-back, is a brother to Marilyn Goodwin, the girl who teamed with Flo Marvin to win four state doubles tennis championships while performing for Odessa High and Odessa Junior College. . . . Another sister, Judy, now a sophomore in Odessa High, is expected to do as well in the net game as did Marilyn. . . . There'll be a track meet as early as Feb. 28 in West Texas next year. . . . Fort Stockton is planning one for that date. . . . The say the two University of Michigan athletes charged in that gambling probe on the campus recently were earning anywhere from $350 to $500 a week each with their parlay-cards. . . . When the Colorado City Wolves tied Snyder in District 3-AAA football recently, the moral win got the downtown wolves off coach Homer Jefferson's neck. . . . They were beginning to be very vocal. . . . One of the scoring leaders in Kentucky high school football circles is Bob Holman of Shawnee, who had 113 points after his team's first eight games. . . . The unusual thing about Holman's record is that he had scored in only four of those games, however. . . . A local lad you're going to be hearing a lot about in future years here is Jack Irons, a ninth grade back. . . . In addition to being a promising athlete, young Jack is one of the best students in school — gets practically nothing but A's in his school work.

Harrison Scores 3 TD's As Abilene Wins, 34-14

ABILENE (SC)—Given a rugged test for a half, the Abilene Eagles opened up in the final two periods to defeat Odessa, 34-14, here Friday night and improve their chances to repeat as District 2-AAAA football champions.

Abilene has now won two conference starts without a loss. The Bronchos are 2-1 in district play, having previously beaten San Angelo and Big Spring.

Abilene gained 350 yards against the Hosses, 342 of that aggregate in rushing plays. Odessa had 141 yards in ground gains and 160 in the air.

Abilene moved 66 yards on each of two scoring drives in the first period and was never headed.

Charles Harrison scored three touchdowns for Abilene to recapture the individual scoring lead from Big Spring's Wayne Fields.

Ronnie Goodwin counted twice for Odessa, once on a run of eight yards and the other on a pass from James Ingram.

Ronald Conklin and Sarge Newman counted the other TD's for the winners.

Lane Triumphs In Dull Bout

By JACK HAND
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Kenny Lane, the No. 1 lightweight contender, is willing to fight Johnny Bussio for the right to box Joe Brown for the title.

Bussio's name was kicked around this week after he upset Brown in Miami.

"If they are talking about Brown and Bussio, why not match me with Bussio for an elimination," said Lane after scraping past La-horiat Godth on a split 10-round decision Friday night.

Jack Barrett, International Boxing Club matchmaker, was more interested in pairing Lane with Carlos Ortiz, the No. 3 boy in the rankings.

Jack Kearns, copilot of Lane, still has his eye on a rematch with Brown who beat the Muskegon, Mich., southpaw at Houston in July.

Lane did little to help himself Friday night in a dreary bout with Godth, the Algerian from Oran who now lives in Paris. They spent most of the 10 rounds clutching and wrestling while Referee Joe Palmer tried to pry them apart.

Palmer, who voted for Lane 7-3; almost caught a left hook from Godth when he broke up a clinch in the 10th.

In the dressing room after the fight, Jersey Jones, Godth's American manager, was bitter about the referee.

Among other things Jones called Palmer's work incompetent and his scoring way off the beam.

Lane's handlers couldn't understand the split decision. They thought it should have been unanimous. Palmer and Judge Harold McGrath, 5-3-2 voted for Lane, but Judge Dick Albino scored it 6-4 for Godth. The AP card was 5-4-1 for Lane.

Wolcott won undying fame in track as an athlete at Rice from 1938 to 1940. He continued to set records in his specialty, the hurdles, after that. He retired on New Year's Day of 1942 when he closed his glamorous career with smashing victories in the Sugar Bowl. At one time Wolcott held five world's records and a tie for another.

Littlefield was first a great all-around athlete at the University of Texas where he won four letters in football, four in basketball and four in track. He had also done the same in baseball had he participated in that sport. After finishing his career at Texas, Littlefield became coach of track at the University and in 39 years has produced 24 Southwest Conference championship teams. He also coached football at Texas for seven years and won two Southwest Conference championships.

Hunt, Kimbrough, Wolcott and Littlefield will be the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth living athletic greats to be voted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby of baseball; Ben Hogan, Babe Zaharias, Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret of golf; Sam Sangh and Davey O'Brien of football; Cecil Smith of polo; Wilmer Allison of tennis, and L.R. (Dutch) Meyer of football coaching previously have been given niches. Babe Zaharias later died.

Deceased athletes and coaches voted into the hall have Joe Routh, All-American football player of Texas A&M; Bo McMillin, famed football player of Centre and later a noted coach; Paul Tyson, fabled coach of Waco High School in the twenties; Jimmy Kitts, the great all-around athlete of Southern Methodist and coach of Rice, and Billy Disch, great baseball coach of the University of Texas.

Brahmas Win 6-0 Decision

The Brahmas, coached by Bernard Rains and Carlos Humphreys, skipped past the Longhorns, 6-0, in the annual Elementary League All-Star football game played here Friday night.

Rickey Earle of College Heights scored the winning touchdown in the second period from the seven. The key play occurred on a fourth-down pass that covered 15 yards and gave the Brahmas a renewal of downs. It went from Edwin Holland to Rickie McPherson.

The Brahmas benefited from good, downfield blocking on the part of Benny Kirkland and Tommy Barrow.

Top backfield hands for the winners were Johnny Hughes and Earle while Gary Anderson, Ken Puckett, Mike Steward and Hollis Webb did splendid work up front for the winners.

The Longhorns never got inside the Brahmas' 30-yard line.

Mertzson In Tie For First Place

MERTZSON (SC)—Mertzson moved into a tie for first place in District 4 eight-man football standings with Forsan and Garden City by defeating Water Valley, 30-6, here Friday night.

Bob Helmers scored 14 points for Mertzson while Bill Saylor had 12 and Joe Selman four.

Walden Baker scampered 50 yards for the Wildcats' lone tally in the fourth quarter.

Mertzson led at half time, 22-0.

Stanton Loses To Plowboys

ROSCOE (SC)—Stanton's Buffaloes battled hard but failed to break up a fast Roscoe offense here Friday night as the Plowboys won their second District 6-A scrap, 22-6.

Stanton now has a 1-2 mark in district play and meets an old rival, Coahoma, next week in the final game of the year. Roscoe and Coahoma are tied for second place in the league.

The first period was scoreless, but in the second stanza Larry McBurnett placed Roscoe into a 6-0 lead with his swift 40-yard jaunt to paydirt. The extra points effort was good and at halftime the Plowboys boasted an 8-0 spread.

The Buffaloes rumbled back in the third period for their only six-pointer of the night. After falling on a Plowboy fumble on Roscoe's five, Stanton later dispatched Kenneth Yates for the touchdown from the two.

Later in the fourth, McBurnett notched his second touchdown, threading his way through the Buffalo defense 72 yards to the double stripe. In the same period Bob Berry clamped the lid on the scoring when he blasted through the line on a 48-yard end zone effort.

Valsetz Dependent Upon Bob Cliver

VALSETZ, Ore. (AP)—Valsetz High School defeated Falls City 63-61 Friday with the help of Bob Cliver.

Cliver scored four times, passed for six touchdowns, passed for an extra point and caught a pass for 63 points.

He had a hand in 62 of Valsetz's 63 points.

Jockey Succumbs

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Jockey Juan R. Tavella died Saturday from injuries suffered when his horse, Galleguito, stumbled and threw him during last Sunday's race at the San Ysidro track.

NY Giants In Top Shape For Colts

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants will be at full strength for the first time this season Sunday when they entertain the powerful Baltimore Colts. They also will be underdogs.

These two factors could spell trouble for the Colts, who lead the Western Conference of the National Football League with a 6-0 record.

The Giants were 10-point underdogs for last Sunday's meeting with Cleveland. But without the services of three key operatives they surprised by beating the previously undefeated Browns 21-17.

The three key men — halfback Frank Gifford, quarterback Don Heinrich and right guard Jack Stroud — will be ready for Baltimore. It's the Colts who have an injured list. Star backs John Unitas and L. G. Duple will not face the Giants. Baltimore is a three-point favorite.

The New York game is one of six on the full NFL program.

The Browns, one game in front of the Giants in the Eastern Conference race, meet the Detroit Lions in Cleveland. San Francisco will be at Los Angeles, Green Bay at Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals at Washington and Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

The Lions, who have only one victory and a tie in six games, will have to do a complete about-face to give the Browns any trouble. But Detroit has a 6-1 record over the Browns including regular season and championship games.

Conversely, Jim Brown of Cleveland will be out to maintain his 155 yards per game average. The brilliant fullback gained "only" 113 yards against the Giants. He needs 219 more to better Steve Van Buren's league mark. Jim's total is 928.

The Bears, second to Baltimore in the Western Conference with a 4-2 record, are 14-point choices to make it two straight over Green Bay. The Bears won 34-20 in their first meeting.

Los Angeles is a 6½-point favorite over San Francisco, Philadelphia two over Pittsburgh and Washington three over the Cardinals.

Sweetwater Skims Past Littlefield

LITTLEFIELD (SC)—Sweetwater had all kinds of trouble but finally nipped Littlefield in a non-conference football game played here Friday night, 30-26.

Eddie Scott scored two touchdowns for Sweetwater while Jackie Fielder and James Parker got the others.

Ackerly Kayoes Dawson, 30 To 20

DAWSON (SC)—The Ackerly Eagles assured themselves of a second place finish in District 3 eight-man football standings by turning back Dawson in an offensive-thriller, 30-20, here Friday night.

Gail has already clinched the right to represent the conference in bi-district competition again.

San Angelo Lakeview Wins 22-0 Verdict Over C-City

SAN ANGELO (SC)—San Angelo Lakeview won its second straight District 3-AAA decision here Friday night, blasting Colorado City by a score of 22-0.

The Chiefs are now tied with Sweetwater for the conference lead. Each has a 2-0 record. Lakeview has Snyder still to play.

Loraine Defeats Robert Lee, 20-6

LORLAINE (SC)—The District 6-B race is in a tie following Loraine's 20-6 comeback triumph over Robert Lee, on Friday night here.

However, Eldorado will get the nod for the play-off game by virtue of an earlier 7-6 victory over the Bulldogs.

Loraine trailed by one touchdown in the first period, before getting a six-pointer in each of the last three periods.

Wade Bledsoe Is Top In Circuit

Deep Wildcat Slated For So' east Borden

A new wildcat in the southeastern part of Borden County has been scheduled, and Lone Star Producing Co. has staked an offset to its recent Fusselman discovery.

The new wildcat is A. W. Dillard No. 1. It is located about 1.8 miles southeast of Gail. The site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines, 130-25, H&T Survey, and it is about half a mile southeast of the Halley No. 1 Everett wildcat staked earlier in the week.

The Dillard project will drill to 8,600 feet looking for Ellenburger production, while the Halley try is contracted only to 2,500 feet.

In the southwest part of the county, Lone Star No. 1-B Porter is a south offset to the No. 1 Porter which flowed 296.63 barrels of oil on final test from the Fusselman recently.

The new site is 660 feet from north and east lines, 16-32-3n, T&P Survey, and contract depth is 10,500 feet.

The project is about 12 miles northeast of Vealmoor. About 10 miles northwest of Gail, Hunt & Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson drilled in line at 4,351 feet. The wildcat project is 660 feet from south and 760 feet from east lines, 28-31-6n, T&P Survey.

In the Cheyenne (Fusselman) field, Texaco No. 2-E Clayton penetrated to 5,101 feet in line Saturday. It is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines, 40-32-4n, T&P Survey, and 10 miles north of Vealmoor.

Drilling Eases In Basin But Retains Fairly Strong Pace

Permian Basin drilling activity dipped slightly from the year's peak last week but it was still above any other previous total for 1958.

The count made by Reed Roller Big Co. of active rotary drilling rigs in the Basin on Friday showed 383 turning, six less than were in action on Oct. 31. The 383 is well above all other totals recorded this year. With the exception of the last two counts, the highest figure recorded this year has been 378.

Andrews County held a tight grip on the first place spot in the area with 58 active operations, a gain of one from the previous week. Winkler County edged into second place with 36 rigs, one ahead of Lea County, N. M., which had 35. In fourth place was Ector with 28, and Crane County dropped four units to 24.

Howard County's total moved from five to seven during the week, and Dawson jumped from two to six. The picture over the Permian Basin on a county-by-county basis (with Oct. 31 totals in parenthesis) includes Andrews 58 (57), Borden 10 (10), Cochran 6 (5), Coke 2 (3), Chaves 3 (3), Crane 24 (28), and Crockett 0 (2).

Operating revenues of $6,336,949 in the third quarter brought the gross to date to $18,832,774, a gain of more than two million. Most of the increase in operating costs resulted from greater gas purchases brought on by greater demand. For the third quarter purchases amounted to $2,456,142, whereas for the nine-month period the total was $5,463,889.

Earnings per share were pegged at 54 cents, up from 43 cents for the third quarter a year ago. Earnings from the first three quarters, however, amounted to only $1.64 as compared with $1.71 for the same time last year.

Brown Sees Better Chance For Gas Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—One Washington spokesman for the oil industry already is predicting Congress will look more favorably upon a natural gas bill.

Russell Brown of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America also figures the new Congress will be good to the oil industry generally.

"I believe the next Congress will be a very good one so far as the oil industry is concerned," Brown said. "I believe that because the necessity for a natural gas bill is becoming more apparent, the next session will take a more sympathetic approach to such legislation."

Brown, general counsel of the IPAA, said he bases his estimates not on political factors but on a belief that the industry is doing a better job of winning understanding of its problems.

Congress twice has passed natural gas bills. Both were killed by presidential vetoes. Both bills would have amended the natural gas act to exempt independent gas producers from utility-type regulation by the federal government.

Brown said he expects the next Congress to be fair to the oil industry in all respects, including the gas and imports.

The last Congress let a natural gas bill die a natural death. Supporters apparently felt they did not have the votes to get it through the House.

Brown expressed hope the administration would settle the oil import question to the satisfaction of domestic producers. He said that for several months imports have been exceeding the level set by the administration's voluntary program for control of imports.

He said if that situation continues, he looks for the administration to impose mandatory controls to limit imports. But if nothing is worked out to hold imports of oil and oil products to what he called a reasonable level approaching the 1954 relationship of imports to domestic production, he said, "then the only recourse is to go to Congress" for legislation establishing definite limitations.

The well is bottomed at 2,350 feet, but it is plugged back to 2,321. Top of the pay zone is 1,829 feet, and perforations extend from 1,829-2,023 feet.

The weekly report of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors showed 2,015 operations in the U. S. and 147 in Canada. A month ago 2,046 rigs were going and a year ago 2,597 were in operation.

The count showed 717 operations in Texas, a loss of 27. Oklahoma lost 237, Louisiana 315, New Mexico 91, Kansas 153, California 83.

The Garrett Oil Co. & Edwin Cox No. 1 Della Wright, Dawson County wildcat, drilled in line at 4,940 feet at the end of the week. The 10,650-foot Ellenburger project is 860 feet from north and east lines, 19-1, J. Poitevent Survey. The wildcat is eight miles southeast of O'Donnell and four miles southeast of the Aycock (Devonian) pool.

Operating revenues of $6,336,949 in the third quarter brought the gross to date to $18,832,774, a gain of more than two million. Most of the increase in operating costs resulted from greater gas purchases brought on by greater demand.

Location Set In Martin

The Texas Co. has staked a new project in the Mabee field on the extreme western edge of Martin County.

Location of the Texas Co. 9-A-NCT-4 Mabee Foundation is 1,998 feet from south and 665 feet from west lines, 19-39-2ns, G&M&B&A Survey, about 24 miles northwest of Stanton.

Drilling depth is 4,800 feet. Also this weekend, the Champlin Oil No. 1 George Hyatt drilled in anhydrite and lime at 4,114 feet. The Devonian wildcat is 3,300 feet from south—and 5,347 from west lines, League 243, Ward CSL Survey, and about three miles southeast of production in the Bredoville field.

National Rig Total Virtually Static

There was virtually no change in the rate of drilling in the United States and Canada for the week ending Nov. 3. The 2,162 rigs turning was an increase of two.

The weekly report of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors showed 2,015 operations in the U. S. and 147 in Canada. A month ago 2,046 rigs were going and a year ago 2,597 were in operation.

Oil Company Earnings Are Up At The Three-Quarter Post

HOUSTON (AP)—Oil company earnings are making a comeback after declining sharply after the end of the Suez Canal crisis.

Earnings for nine months were well below 1957 but most companies reported improved positions for the third quarter. A few reported that July-September earnings were slightly above 1957's third quarter.

Depressed prices, lower production, and increased costs are factors being blamed for the nine-month declines. Higher allowances and beneficial results from cost reduction measures are being credited with making the brighter third quarter possible.

An industry committee has given an indication that the earnings reports for the first nine months would have been much lower had not the rate of increase in the cost of basic materials been arrested sharply.

The cost study committee of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America reports that only construction costs and hourly wages increased more the first eight months of 1958 than in the same 1957 period.

Unit prices of carbon steel line pipe and casing were placed at 17 per cent above the first eight months of 1956 but only four per cent above 1957. Alloy steel casing was 20 per cent higher than in 1956 but only 4.7 per cent above last year. Oil field machinery and tool prices were 9.5 per cent above 1956 but only 3.1 above 1957.

The increase in construction costs this year was 4.8 per cent, compared to a year earlier of 4.7. Average hourly wage for producing crude oil the first eight months of 1958 was $2.69 or 4.7 per cent above the $2.57 for the same 1957 period and 8.9 above the $2.47 of 1956.

Executives of several major companies notified stockholders early this year that the problem of spiraling costs had become so acute that cost reduction measures were essential.

Phillips Petroleum Co. was among those reporting progress with such measures. The company's nine-month earnings totaled 21 million compared to a year earlier net of 20 million.

Shell Oil Co. placed its July-September earnings at 22 million, compared to 30 million in 1957. The nine-month total of 78 million trailed 1957, however, by 27 million.

Third-quarter earnings of 48 million dollars by Socony Mobil Oil Co. equaled 1957. Earnings the first nine months of the year, however, were 34 per cent below last year.

Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) earnings the nine months were down 198 million dollars, but the third quarter was only 26 million below 1957.

Sen. Johnson Hits Cheap Foreign Oil

MIDLAND (AP)—Senator Lyndon Johnson told an audience made up predominantly of persons interested in the oil industry Friday that the petroleum world was badly misunderstood.

In Big Spring Johnson made two proposals: 1. The oil industry should ally itself with other industries in fighting its domestic battles. 2. The industry must tell foreign oil interests that "if you share our market, you should share our standard of living for your people."

"We have our own minimum wage laws and forbid the interstate shipment of goods unless these minimum standards are met in their production," he said.

"And yet we sit and allow our great wealth—to be drowned in a flood of oil produced by scab labor paid at the rate of less than $50 a year."

"The industry is being paralyzed and restrained and our own production reduced because of people who produce the same commodity using workers whose economy is purchased at a cost of less than $50 a year."

Turner Coring On Scurry Venture

In Scurry County, the C. D. Turner No. 1 Shannon Estate cored in the San Andres at 2,273 feet Saturday. It is in the Revilo field about 14 miles northeast of Snyder and is projected to the Glorieta.

The weekly report of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors showed 2,015 operations in the U. S. and 147 in Canada. A month ago 2,046 rigs were going and a year ago 2,597 were in operation.

The count showed 717 operations in Texas, a loss of 27. Oklahoma lost 237, Louisiana 315, New Mexico 91, Kansas 153, California 83.

The Garrett Oil Co. & Edwin Cox No. 1 Della Wright, Dawson County wildcat, drilled in line at 4,940 feet at the end of the week. The 10,650-foot Ellenburger project is 860 feet from north and east lines, 19-1, J. Poitevent Survey. The wildcat is eight miles southeast of O'Donnell and four miles southeast of the Aycock (Devonian) pool.

The well is bottomed at 2,350 feet, but it is plugged back to 2,321. Top of the pay zone is 1,829 feet, and perforations extend from 1,829-2,023 feet.

NEWCOMERS TO BIG SPRING

MORE THAN 40 HOURS OF WORK went into the making of the Indian headdress displayed in picture above by Eddie and Terry Tucker for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tucker, 1514 Eleventh Place. Eddie, 11, won the feathers, which are awarded for certain scout activities, and the whole family joined in assembling them into the colorful Indian bonnet. Terry, at right, who is 10 years old, is in the fifth grade at Washington, while his older brother is in the sixth grade. Their father is a social worker at the Big Spring State Hospital; Mrs. Tucker is the former Jane River, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond River.

TWO CENTERS OF ATTENTION are part of the R. E. Lix family (above) at 1704 Donley. That's two-year-old Susan, and Jenny, the lively puppy that is about six weeks old. Lt. Lix and his wife, from Missouri and California, respectively, have recently returned from a tour of duty in Germany; that is where Susan was born. They were in Marianna, Fla., before coming to Webb Air Force Base. The two like to bowl and play bridge, and Mrs. Lix has been working in the Gray Lady Corps. They are Episcopal and Methodist.

(Photos by Keith McMillin).

WHAT IS IT? wonder the members of the Gordon Seals family, looking at the fossilized specimen which they found in the Big Bend Territory. M-Sgt. Seals, Mrs. Seals, Judy 12, and Jimmy, 8, are owners of a collection of arrow heads, flint knives and other Indian artifacts which they have uncovered in various sections of Texas. The snail-like object, in the picture above, has a complicated name, and the family learned from a research center that its age is somewhere near 250 million years. Also in the collection at the family home, 210 Princeton, is an oval mass of hardened lava, which the sergeant picked up in Labrador.

HOW DO YOU LIKE IT? asks Mrs. John Conover (pictured left) of her husband, M-Sgt. John Conover, when she donned one of the dresses which she wears for square dancing. That's a hobby which both enjoy; the sergeant also likes to hunt, and he admits he hasn't tried to do any square dance calling yet. The Conovers, who are at home at 205 1/2 East Sixth, came to Big Spring from San Angelo. She is originally from Abilene; he is from Kentucky. They attend the First Baptist Church.

AN ATTENTIVE LISTENER (above) is three-year-old Cynthia Anne Tatman as her father, Lt. R. J. Tatman, tells her about his gun while cleaning and polishing it. She appears to understand every word of the explanation, too. Mrs. Tatman, who is from Canyon, met the lieutenant when they were both in school at West Texas Teachers College; he is originally from New Iberia, La. Quite a seamstress, Mrs. Tatman has been busily engaged in making draperies for their home at 1711 Johnson.

Plan Now For Holiday Gatherings

AP Newfeatures
Now is the time for all good parents to plan holiday parties for their children.

Food is even more important than decorations to small fry—so if you can make an edible centerpiece for a party table, it's sure to be a success.

One bright idea is to use popcorn balls for a snowman centerpiece. The children will have fun popping the corn and making the balls in advance, and after the party, the young guests can eat the decorations.

The snowman centerpiece has a body made of one huge white popcorn ball with a smaller one for a head.

Use chocolates for his eyes; maraschino cherries for nose and mouth, and a cherry-topped ice cream cone for his hat.

For popcorn balls at each place setting, add to the festive look by using red and green food coloring to some of the balls, chopped red and green maraschino cherries to others.

LOCAL COUPLE WILL WED IN SWEETWATER

On Dec. 21, Minnie Ola Moore will become the bride of Neal L. Robb in Sweetwater at the Highland Baptist Church. The announcement has been made by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. S. James E. Moore of Sweetwater.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Robb of New Windsor, Ill. The Rev. Ernest D. Stewart, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist Church, will read the wedding vows.

Miss Moore, who lives at 208 Algeria, is employed by the Texas Electric Service Company. Robb, also a TESC employee, lives at 1301 Scurry.

One-Man Show Will Be Open For Public Today

From 2 to 4 p.m. today, the library at Howard County Junior College is to remain open to enable visitors to see the paintings which are displayed there.

The one-man show is made up of landscapes, portraits, still life and seascapes which are the work of Mrs. Bill Unger, 1801 Nolan. The exhibition will end on Friday.

Salad Supper Is Class Entertainment

Twelve members of the LLL Class of Baptist Temple gathered Thursday night at the home of Mrs. J. R. Redden for a business meeting and salad supper.

Mrs. John Lucas gave the opening prayer and the devotion, "The Dead Letter Man," was presented by Mrs. Leonard Edwards. The group discussed plans for a Christmas party.

TRAINING CIRCLE
Mrs. Stanley Harbin was elected co-chairman of the Baptist Temple Training Circle Thursday evening when the group met in the home of Mrs. George Harwood, the chairman.

Members heard a devotion by Mrs. Merrill Click, a guest, and a special prayer for missionaries was offered by Mrs. Sam Arrington. Five were present for the meeting; Mrs. Harwood will host the next meeting, it was announced.

Loyalty Class Meets
Members of the Loyalty Class of Baptist Temple entertained their husbands at dinner Thursday evening at the Manhattan Cafe. Forty-four were present to hear a devotion by the Rev. A. R. Posey, based on the subject, Loyalty. Other guests were Mrs. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Ames, Mrs. R. N. Adams, Kenneth Huff.

Fresh Corn
Five medium-sized ears of corn will usually yield about two cups after the kernels are cut from the cobs.

Thanksgiving Heralded In OWC Decor, Menu

The approach of Thanksgiving was heralded by the Officers Wives Club in their luncheon decorations and traditional holiday menu Thursday noon at Webb AFB. Guest speaker for the occasion was Col. James A. Johnson, executive officer, whose topic was "Protocol."

Various items from the table decor were awarded to individuals. Mrs. James McConnell took home the hen and rooster figurines, which had been made by Mrs. Edward D. Aitken, assisted by Mrs. Foster Kemp in the base ceramic shop. The centerpiece was presented to Mrs. Leroy A. Hefflinger, and cornucopias, filled with fresh fruit, were given to those women with a red leaf at their place setting.

Mrs. Ronald L. Carpenter won a frozen ten-pound turkey for her own family dinner.

Arrangements were handled by Mrs. Glenn T. Clarico and Mrs. Donald L. Barr, the program was under the direction of Mrs. James E. Green.

The luncheon for 143 was sponsored by the group chairmen. Decorations, featuring brown and gold runners with autumn leaves, flowers and berries, were devised by Mrs. Aitken, Mrs. Adolph A. Lindsley, Mrs. Davis P. Manell, Mrs. Donald O. Oakley, Mrs. Don-

Add Shrimp To Spaghetti

Crisp cool days make spaghetti taste better than ever. For variation, try adding shrimp to the tomato sauce.

SPAGHETTI WITH TOMATO SHRIMP SAUCE

Ingredients:
2 tbsps. olive oil
1 small onion (finely chopped)
1 rib celery (finely chopped)
2 to 4 large fresh basil leaves
1 can (1 pound and 1 ounce) Italian peeled tomatoes
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. sugar
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) small-sized wet pack cleaned shrimp
1 package (8 ounces) thin spaghetti
Grated Romano or Parmesan cheese.

Method:
Heat olive oil in 1-quart saucepan; add onion and celery; cook gently about 5 minutes. Add 2 whole basil leaves, tomatoes (including juice), salt, pepper and sugar. Simmer, stirring occasionally, about 20 minutes. Taste and if you want more basil flavor, mince 1 or 2 more leaves and add.

Drain shrimp and rinse in cold water; drain again and add to sauce; reheat gently. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions. Serve sauce over spaghetti with grated cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Cornbread's Better

If you use bread crumbs made from fresh white bread and plenty of butter you do not have to add liquid to a poultry stuffing to have it both moist and fluffy. Add onion cooked lightly in the butter, and celery also if you like, as well as poultry seasoning.

Meringue Hint

Beating sugar into egg whites makes a more stable meringue than folding in the sugar.

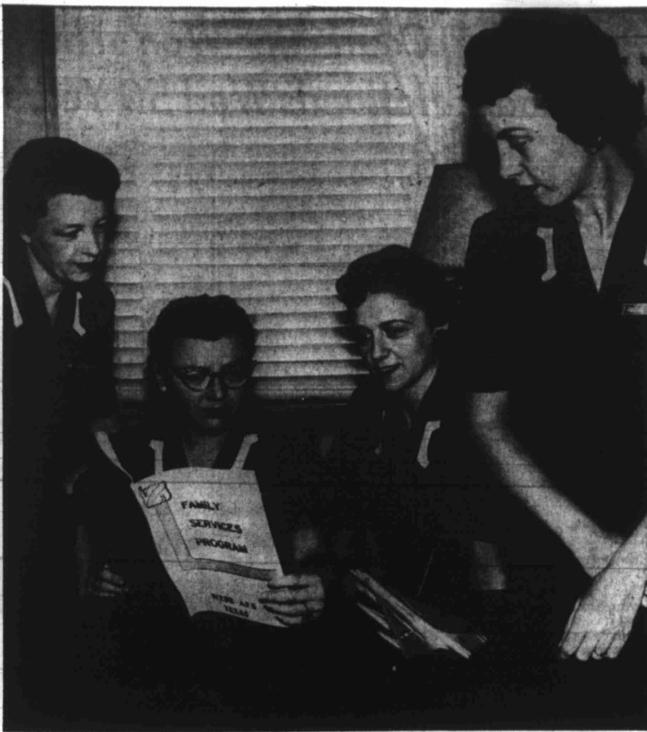

To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burt Williams of Knot are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Rosetta, to Homer Ira Petty. The son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Petty of Ackerly, the prospective bridegroom is presently stationed at Walker AFB near Roswell, N. M. The wedding will be an event of Dec. 13.

Spice Labels

There's something comparatively new, attractive and convenient on the market; white and gold labels printed in black with the names of various herbs and spices. If you have a set of herb and spice jars, bottles or canisters with worn labels, or none at all, you can use these labels to advantage.

Leftovers Make

Leftover Technique: Chop that small amount of ham or corned beef fine and add to those mashed potatoes. Make into patties, dip in flour and fry until golden-brown in butter or margarine. Nice for lunch with green peas, snap beans or broccoli.

Butternut Squash

If you want pieces of butternut squash to stay whole during the cooking, cut them about an inch square; when the squash is cut into very small pieces it has a tendency to mush up by the time it is tender.

Interior Decorator Has Double Job As Referee

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP)—Take a husband and wife, each with strong wills; add a difficult decorating decision; and what have you got?
A potential marital free-for-all, says Sydney Simon, an interior decorator by profession who sometimes thinks of himself as a marriage counselor besides.
Simon often finds himself called upon to settle disputes between husband and wife over choice of colors, fabrics or furnishings.
He does it by striking a happy medium between the tastes of the whole family.
"Men and women have radically different ideas on which comes first, comfort or style," says Simon.
"One couple was on the verge of the divorce court when they came to see me."
The correspondent in the case was an old overstuffed easy chair.
"The husband had a particular fondness for this chair, which was man-sized and roomy, if something of an eyesore," says Simon.
"His wife was bent on replacing it with something along more slender, modern lines."
Simon was called in when the quarrel had reached the silent treatment stage.

He suggested reupholstering the chair in a muted color to harmonize with the rest of the room's interior.
Now, says Simon, husband and wife are living happily ever after.
"Women especially feel that home furnishings reflect their tastes to the rest of the neighborhood," explains Simon.
"Many are so afraid of making a mistake that they tinker on the brink for weeks, weighing one fabric swatch against another and being chronically indecided about overall color schemes."
Most husbands, he adds, can't tell French Provincial from American Shaker but if it's easy to relax with, they like it.
Part of Simon's job is getting husband and wife to understand each other's viewpoint, before he tries to reconcile the two.
"Men want to know: Is this chair solid? Will it support a 200-pound frame?"
"Women are interested in the chair's usefulness, too, but they also want to know if it will fit into the living room they're dreaming of."
Color is the contender in many differences of opinion.
"Men tend to like strong blues,

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith of Lamesa and Mr. and Mrs. Victor G. Hamilton of Andrews.
Mrs. Dick Edwards, pianist, presented wedding selections as the guests assembled and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wittner as they sang "Wonderful One." At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mr. Wittner sang "The Lord's Prayer."
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned along princess lines of ivory satin. Designed and made by Mrs. T. L.

She also attended the BSHS homecoming festivities. She was accompanied by Mrs. Stewart Warnock, also of Fort Worth, who visited relatives here over the weekend.

greens and browns, whereas women go in for more reds and yellows, branching off into such refinements as cyclamen pink and hyacinth blue," says Simon.
Women's fashions nowadays have a decided influence on their taste in home furnishings.

Howard Jr., sister of the bride, featured a V neckline and long tapered sleeves which extended to points over the hands.
Her fingertip veil of illusion floated from a flat satin headband. She carried pink rosebuds atop a white Bible.
Mrs. Howard was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Gloria Coker of Big Spring, cousin of the bride, and Jo Ann Howard.
They wore identical gowns of orchid cotton satin fashioned after the bride's, and matching headbands. White rosebuds formed their bouquets.
Debbie Howard, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.
Jackie McKinney of Commerce was the best man, and serving as ushers were Ronald Amnett and Charles Keithley.

A reception was held in the parlor of the church following the exchange of vows. The couple received the guests with their parents and the feminine attendants. The bride's table was laid with a white damask cloth and featured an arrangement of orchid and white mums. Included in the houseparty were Mrs. Ebbie Lee, Mrs. J. D. Reid, Mrs. Luther Peterson, Mrs. Walter Nichols, Mrs. Ernest Moody, Mrs. Ross McDonald, Mrs. Gaston Robinson and Mrs. Welton Blair.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Cloudercroft, N. M., the bride chose a suit of brown with a brown feather hat and alligator shoes and bag.

Mrs. Hamilton attended Lamesa High School where she was active in F.T.A., F.H.A., DECA, Booster Club, Girls' Chorus and A Capella Choir. Prior to her marriage, she was employed at the Modern Cleaners.

A graduate of Lamesa High School, Mr. Hamilton attended the Odessa Junior College. He is associated with his father in business in Andrews where the couple will make a home.

Persistent Courtship Won The Fair Lady; Hollands Wed 50 Years

By HELEN HURT
Friends and neighbors in the Knapp area were having a jolly time visiting and playing games at a community party 52 years ago, too pre-occupied with the festivities to notice that one young swain had been severely stricken by Cupid. E. E. Holland had just met Myrtle Powell and, before the evening was over, he confided to a friend, "She's mine if I never get her."

At first indifferent to Holland's attention, Miss Powell was won by his persistent pursuit, and their courtship ended in matrimony Nov. 18, 1908. The pretty bride, almost 18, and dressed in a street-length gown of sheer white cloth trimmed in lace, sat in the buggy beside Holland as the Baptist minister, the Rev. A. D. Leach, performed the ceremony in front of the parsonage at Ira.

These memories will be repeated often Nov. 16 when the couple observes their golden wedding anniversary with open house. All friends are invited to call between 3 and 5 p.m. at the home of their son, Wilford Holland, 1409 Scurry.

There was no wedding trip except the drive to their farm in Scurry County, between Knapp and Fluvanna. Supplies had to be purchased in Snyder, and the journey was made periodically in a wagon.

Holland retired from farming three or four years ago, but that innate desire to work the land manifests itself now in his flower and vegetable garden at their home, 511 NW Sixth.

Assisting in hosting the anniversary event will be a daughter, Mrs. Curtis Hood, 610 Main. Another daughter, Mrs. L. S. Donnell of Houston, will be unable to come. Also absent will be another son, Lowell E. Holland who,

MR. AND MRS. E. E. HOLLAND ... to mark anniversary with his wife, recently ended a two-month visit here to establish residence in Topeka, Kans.

The younger Holland, blinded during the Korean War, earned the bachelor's degree in Psychology from Bethany, Okla., College, took the master's degree at Oklahoma University, and in May completed a special course in guidance and counseling at Texas Tech. His job in Topeka is in his chosen field, and is an employee of the state government.

The honorees have six grandchildren: Lou Ann and Larry Hood, Ronnie, Edwin and LaRonda Holland, all of Big Spring; and Dickie Donnell, Houston.

SHE HAS HER HANDS FULL... FULL VALUES!

Today's FOOD SHOPPER gets more value in more food products than ever before. Supplying her increasing needs and satisfying her love of values is one of the biggest jobs in the country. Yet the nation's $47 billion food distribution business does it daily and does it well.

This year an important segment of the industry marks a milestone in its history. S., Canada and other countries—celebrates its 25th year as a vital link between producer and consumer.

Your daily newspaper hails the NAFC for its fine

Continental Suit Latest For The Men

The first dramatically different clothing style for men in years is being presented this month as the new Continental suit makes its suave bow across the masculine world of fashion.

With its lines hinting of the exclusive tailoring establishments of Europe's capitals, the suit gives to its wearer a look of "custom elegance," according to Michael Daroff, one of the major clothing manufacturers presenting the new style. Inspiration for the version of the Continental, he said, has been borrowed from top Italian tailors who cater to the best dressed men in the world.

The Americanized version of the style features a higher, squarer shoulder in contrast to the sloping, natural line of the suits of past seasons, the manufacturer explained. The suit jacket has a slightly suppressed waist compared to the straight "sack" line of regular suits. This gives more shape to the garment and the man, it was pointed out. The lapels are peaked for a more custom appearance.

A cut away front quickly distinguishes the two-button Continental jacket, which has two side vents rather than the single, center vent seen on present suits. Trousers are tapered and are worn without cuffs to accent the light, slender look of the suit. Fabrics featured in the new suits are conservative in color but carry distinctive patterns.

New Book On Mexican Cookery Is More Than Recipe Collection

By ANNE LEFEVER
Even though you may never expect to prepare food in Mexican style, you will enjoy a copy of a book of recipes recently released by Prentice Hall.

It's more than a cook book, is this collection of recipes, published under the title of Elena's Secrets of Mexican Cooking. Besides her methods for cooking tasty and attractive Mexican dishes, Elena Zelayeta has incorporated in her book an explanation of certain words, spices and phrases used in her cooking.

A background of Mexico and the development of the Latin-American style of cookery is made clear as Elena traces the history of her original cuisine was combined with that of the conquering army of Cortez, to be followed in combination with the favorite food of the ill-fated Maximilian and his Carlotta and their court.

Included in the range of the book are chapters dealing with appetizers, in which are the familiar and delicious guacamole and chili con queso, among other taste-tempting suggestions; meats, fish, rice, beans, desserts, vegetables and salads. There is also a chapter on the beverage to serve with appetizers and one giving a description of a barbecue, Mexican style.

Hostesses will enjoy the chapter in which Elena tells of the various kinds of parties at which she entertains guests. There's the picnic, the dinner, the tostada party and merienda, or a sort of snack time in the early evening.

A discussion of the dias de fiesta Mexicanos, or Mexican holidays, is not only interesting reading; it is interwoven with the recipes so that other hostesses may bring a touch of Mexico into celebrations.

In an introduction to the book, Helen Evans Brown characterizes the author as the "gayest, dearest bundle of energy I have ever known." The story of Elena's life reads like a story in which the heroine carries on despite the loss of her husband and the responsibility of rearing two sons.

Cooking has been the outlet of her energy, and she has previously written two other books, Elena's Mexican and Spanish Recipes and Elena's Fiesta Recipes.

A Devotional For Today

Ye are my witnesses. (Isaiah 43:10.)

PRAYER: Father, enter our hearts and implant Thy spirit there. Use us in our homes and in our places of work to witness to the redeeming power of Christ. In the name of Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Accountability Goes With Ability

When the new Legislature convenes in January, one measure which should be put before it immediately is an act to lower the age of responsibility for criminal acts.

This has been attempted before but those who bend over backwards to avoid alleged warping of young personalities have exerted enough pressure to block the attempts.

The mounting pressure of serious crimes in the upper "juvenile" age bracket ought to be great enough to overcome misguided protectionism.

We have no further to look than our own neighborhood to count an alarming number of cases where youths slightly under the age of 18 have taken lives or inflicted serious bodily injury. Invariably they enjoy a privileged sanctuary by reason that their 18th birthday had not yet arrived when they perpetrated their crimes.

A person killed by a young punk is just as dead though his assailant be 15 as though he had been 18. A person assaulted or robbed of his hard earned worldly possessions is just as wronged by a 16-year-old as he would be by one 18.

Our society equips a youngster with the ability to do serious wrong without exacting of him an equal accountability for his acts. There may be justification for special and understanding treatment of a child until he arrives at an age when he has a clear conception of right and wrong. But by the time a youth is well into his teens, he should possess (unless he is a mental case) a well defined sense of right and wrong. This being the case, then the law ought to require clear and unmistakable accountability in the courts for those who do wrong.

Nation Needs A Balanced Budget

President Eisenhower, commenting on the heavy majority accorded the Democrats in the election last week, said he was fearful that it might be interpreted as an endorsement of unrestrained spending.

Perhaps there may have been a touch of sour grapes in his observation, but it is to be hoped that the new Congress will not regard itself under any mandate to spend money that we do not have.

On the contrary, one of the greatest things that the Democratic Congress could do would be to give the nation a balanced budget.

This would accomplish about as much as any one thing toward offsetting dangerous inflationary trends.

Everyone needs to be alerted to and informed about the dire consequences of a progressive and pernicious inflation. This constitutes one of the gravest and most imminent threats to our free economy.

If the Congress feels impelled to spend more, it should be honest and courageous enough to impose taxes enough to cover the increase. The nation is hardly in the mood for new taxes, hence this should be the key to attitude toward more spending.

GOP Swept Out By General Discontent

WASHINGTON — Discontent — blamed on the party in power in the White House — has won another congressional election in the middle of a presidential term. It happened against Taft in 1910, against Hoover in 1930 and against Eisenhower in 1954, as well as against Wilson in 1918 before the end of World War I, and against Truman in 1946 just after World War II ended.

This time it was a two-fold discontent. It involved not only economic issues such as unemployment, cost of living and high taxes, but also emotional resentments over several questions unrelated to the economic controversies of the day.

Millions of conservatives on the Republican side didn't vote. They were alienated by so-called "modern Republican" doctrines which they consider radical, or by the use of federal troops in the Little Rock schools or by bitterness stirred up in some states during the anti-McCarthy battle. New Jersey lost a Republican senator and so did Wisconsin because of the deep-seated friction over some of the emotional questions. In Utah, due to a party split, Sen. Watkins, Republican, who was chairman of the Senate committee that "censored" the late Sen. McCarthy, was defeated. The combined vote of the two Republican candidates exceeded that of the winning Democrat.

Several members of the House on the Republican side lost votes in those rural districts of Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland where voters condemned the Republican administration attitude on enforced integration in the schools. The Republican, for example, who won in the 10th congressional district of Virginia, Joel Brodyhill, did so largely because in the opinion of many voters, he appeared to be on the segregation side of the argument. At Little Rock, Arkansas, by a remarkable "write-in vote" launched in the last 10 days of the campaign, a segregationist candidate, Dr. Dale Alford of the school board, running as an independent, defeated Representative Brooks Hays, Democrat, a veteran of eight terms in the House. As for any gains for the Republican party among the Negro voters in the North, these were almost negligible.

The "recession" really beat the Republicans. Farm income has declined in recent years. This hurt the Republicans in the Middle West. Although business has been improving slowly, the upward movement still wasn't adequate to overcome the economic discontent, especially in farm states like Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and also in California, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, where the unemployment issue was almost as much a vote-getter for the opposition party as it was when Franklin Roosevelt swept the country in 1932 due to the depression of that period.

None of this can be said to have been unexpected. When the "recession" began to make its appearance in 1957, and the Federal Reserve Board started curtailing bank credit, this correspondent in May, August, September and October, 1957, wrote several dispatches predicting that the 1958 election would certainly be lost to the Republicans.

The election last week would appear to have brought the Republican total in the House down from 200 to around 153 as compared to 282 for the Democrats. The Senate Republican total has gone down from 47 to 34 as compared with 62 for the Democrats.

The Republican party's wounds will not soon be healed. Nelson Rockefeller's victory in New York state for governor — due largely to his winning personality — will give the promoters of disension among Republicans still more opportunity to cry out that a deal or "modern Republican" approach and a big spending program is the best way for the Republican party to get votes and not by the sound economics preached by the conservatives.

The Republicans did not have enough money in the national campaign this time. Many conservatives who have contributed generously in the past were alienated. Some came back at the last minute. Money, of course, cannot buy a national election. But the labor unions which poured millions of dollars into the campaign in key areas throughout the country in the form of services of precinct workers and expensive publicity on television, radio and billboards, did an effective job in getting indifferent voters to the polls.

The "right to work" issue in several states, especially Ohio, brought out a big labor union vote because the proposal was misrepresented by the labor unions as a measure that would eliminate the "union shop." This misleading phrase was used to give the impression that the law would actually prohibit the continuance of unions.

The fight for liberalism and democracy inside the labor unions has just begun, and the fight for sound conservative principles in the policies of our national government will have to be pressed more vigorously than ever before inside both political parties, if an inflationary crash and a real depression, due to unbalanced budgets and excessive spending, are to be prevented.

Dreamboat

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) — Cabinetmaker Edward (Ted) James is completing his life-long dream—his own river houseboat. James' boat is 8 feet wide and 22½ feet long. He has named it "Waw-bee," meaning snow goose from Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

He started the hull during his vacation a year ago and prefabricated the cabin interior in seven foot sections in his workshop during the winter.

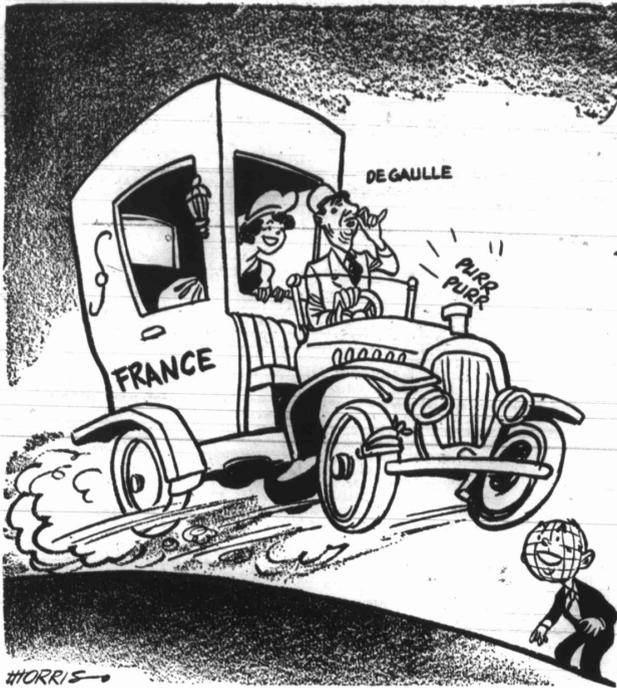

Problem

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii says he has tried without success to solve one of the most baffling problems of his administration—how to pronounce Hawaii.

Is it "Ha-vy-ee" or is it "H-wy-ee?" "The experts," says Quinn, "don't agree themselves."

That boy, Joy

TALOGA, Okla. (AP) — C. I. Joy walked into the bank and asked: "Did you have a shortage last night? I have it here in my pocket." He explained that late the day before he had been given $14 cash for a $14 check.

Ike Too Good A Prophet For His Own Party

President Eisenhower now can feel with Jesus: "A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house."

President Eisenhower, the Economic Prophet of 1958, has been rejected by his own people, the electorate. He prophesied too well. When Democrats and Republicans alike, including Nelson A. Rockefeller, successful Republican candidate for governor of New York, urged drastic tax cuts to end the recession, Eisenhower staunchly demurred.

The President insisted that we had already seen the worst of the recession; that income-accelerating devices, including aid to housing, public works, and increased defense orders had provided a base for expansion in production and employment. Therefore, recovery could be expected.

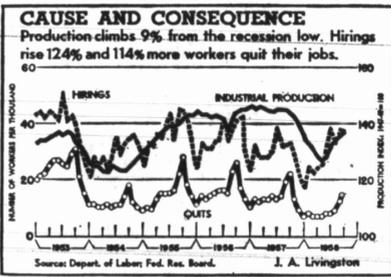

The President was right on his economics, but wrong in his politics. Only four days before the election, in a speech at Baltimore, he was able to make a surprise announcement based on unpublished statistics. Unemployment in October had dropped 300,000. The number of jobs had decreased to 3,800,000. In four months, since June, the number out of work had shrunk 30 per cent.

But the "good news" was too late. Voters, especially those on unemployment compensation and on short work weeks, felt that "Ike" had let them down. The Franklin D. Roosevelt label, "party of the depression," stuck to the Republicans. Yet traditionally Republicans are associated with big business and big business men need good business to make profits and survive in their corporations.

There was another factor. Voters were disappointed with U. S. foreign policies and achievements. The constant bickering with the Soviet Union, the threat of war over Quemoy and Matsu, the setbacks in dealings with Nasser all took their toll of Presidential prestige. Eisenhower assumed office as the strong military man fighting for peace. But his record has not assured peace.

Yet, fundamentally, this was a car-and-kitchen election. Thirty years ago, bread and butter—the full dinner pail—decided how voters would vote. Now, in an era when nobody starves, workers want new cars and modern kitchens. The very business men who supported Eisenhower did not vote for him.

The post-election reaction is now well-known: More inflation. At first, Wall Street took the news hesitantly, doubtfully. On Wednesday, stock prices rose only slightly early in the day. But toward the close—and particularly after President Eisenhower declared at his press conference that ported Eisenhower did not vote for him. They started laying off workers in August, 1957. And as layoffs rose, the workers couldn't buy new cars and modernize kitchens. The workers couldn't tell his boss to go to . . . because jobs weren't plentiful.

One of the best indexes of a workman's sense of independence, of self-respect, is the quit rate: How many workers per thousand walk out of the plant and don't come back. During 1958 and a good part of 1957, quits averaged 16 per thousand, and in the fall months (when hunting, fishing, football and moving are in season), the rate shot above 20 per thousand. But when industrial production started its slump in August, 1957, quits slumped simultaneously.

Yet it's well to remember, amid this inflation psychosis, that we still have unused materials, machinery, and manpower. There's still slack in the economy and recovery is incomplete.

The quit rate stayed more or less constant around seven or eight per thousand until last August. Then 12 out of every thousand workers quit; and in September, 15 per thousand (see chart). But the turn-around was too late to do the President and the Republicans much good.

The post-election reaction is now well-known: More inflation. At first, Wall Street took the news hesitantly, doubtfully. On Wednesday, stock prices rose only slightly early in the day. But toward the close—and particularly after President Eisenhower declared at his press conference that

Torgerson's triumph is in seeing how long a string he can create. The string is an uninterrupted sequence of marriage from one celebrity to another. Here is his champion of champions:

Martha Vickers was married to Mickey Rooney who was married to Ava Gardner who was married to Artie Shaw who was married to Lila Turner who was married to Bob Topping who was married to Arline Judge who was married to Dan Topping who was married to Sonja Henie.

A corker! Nine in a row and each one a solid celebrity!

Here's another nifty: Howard Duff to Ida Lupino to Collier Young to Joan Fontaine to William Dozier to Ann Rutherford to Tom May.

And how's this for star power? Michael Wilding to Liz Taylor to Mike Todd to Joan Blondell to Dick Powell to June Allyson!

Another high-powered squad: Pat Wynmore to Errol Flynn to Nora Eddington to Dick Haymes to Rita Hayworth to Aly Khan (alternate: Orson Welles). You could also sub Lila Damita for Wynmore or take off from Haymes to Joanne Dru to John Ireland.

Torgerson's great ambition is some day make one of these strings a complete circle. In other words to marry the first name on the list to the last one.

Around The Rim

Milder Winter, Says Farmer's Almanac

One of my more pleasant assignments, in the cycle of this column during the year, is that in which I can offer a modest review of the Old Farmer's Almanac (k). I am happy to report that this publication, in the same format as always, has again reached my desk.

The Almanac claims that this is the 167th year of continuous publication, and it seems safe to observe that in many essentials the 1959 issue is much like that of 1792.

You have to be amenable to a mood of nostalgia to get the fullest out of the Old Farmer's Almanac. It would even be of more value if you were a rural New Englander, but one can exist on the Plains of Texas and get some degree of reaction out of the best days to plant barley and how best to store the apples for winter. You would have to be an old farmer, in truth, to want to digest all the vast array of meteorological material compressed into the book's 112 pages. But if you're interested in the rising and setting times of Jupiter and the rest of the planets, this you can find. And good recipes, for that matter, plus the postal rates, the weather forecasting, you will recall, is done by one Abraham Weatherwise, who doubtless is another name for a shrewd editor, Robb Sagendorph.

Abe is quite confident of his weather forecasting ability, and for the fact that he is not in good standing with the American Meteorological Society, he cares not one fig.

He proudly points to the fact that, last year, of 31 specific forecasts made, he was right 87 per cent of the time. Of the total, 2 were completely incorrect, 15 were completely correct. I would surmise that his average is about as good as the prognosticators who rely upon more modern methods.

Anyway, to get down to business: Abe Weatherwise says that the winter of 1958-59 will be "milder than usual." There are some storms coming, however, and the worst of these will be the first weeks of January and February. Don't say you weren't warned.

The Spring of 1959, he says, will be close to normal. The summer of next year will be "far more enjoyable than was that of 1958." By next Fall, we take a turn. "Don't count on anything good," says Abe Weatherwise, "except the first few weeks in October."

Holidays for next year? July 4th comes on a Saturday. It will be hot. Thanksgiving will be rainy. Christmas, coming on a Friday in 1959, will be "green."

The editor of the Old Farmer's Almanac is not given exclusively to levity and chit-chat. He reminds that this is Atomic Year 15, and observes: "Since the press date of our last edition, two major comets, as well as several man-made satellites have brought about renewed interest in outer space. Such diversion, contributing as these have to man's spirit of adventure and the broadening of his imagination, serve to remind us of the marvels of the Creation and the Universe. On the other hand, the continuance of thermo-nuclear H-bomb explosions and experiments with intercontinental ballistic missiles reveal the Evil One is with us yet."

The Almanac even finds that—if you will go with students of cycles—1959 will be a lull before a storm of international warfare, to begin in 1960. It is time, quoth the editor, to get our house in order, especially for the nation to pay its bills.

The editor of the Almanac may write with tongue in cheek. I accept him that way, but I trust his weather.

Love And Happiness Pay Dividends

A few years ago Canada lost a remarkable man in the death of Dr. Albert L. Cliffe. He had made an important reputation as a chemist but he had made an even greater contribution as a lay preacher and Bible class teacher. No one ever called him anything except Al Cliffe. He was one of the most gifted and practical spiritual teachers I ever knew.

Al Cliffe is gone now, but his unique way of thinking about human problems survives in his books and in the memories of thousands of people who heard him speak. He had the simple belief that the Lord guided him in everything he did.

One day, he told me, the Lord guided his steps downtown in Montreal and sent him to a certain street where friends named Bill and Mary had a haberdashery shop. In the shop he found both of them sitting disconsolately, chins sunk in their hands. "What's the matter with you?" he asked. "You act as though you'd lost your last friend."

"Oh," they told him, "unless something happens soon, we're going to lose our business. We just don't seem to get enough customers and the few who do come in don't buy anything."

Just then a customer walked in and looked in various showcases. Bill and Mary continued to maintain a dejected attitude, giving him no friendly interest. Finally the customer became self-conscious in the gloomy atmosphere and walked out. "There goes another who bought nothing," Bill said. "So you see why we're so down."

"I'm surprised he stayed as long as he did!" Al Cliffe exploded. "You actually made it hard for him to buy. And just look at this place! Paint is peeling from the showcases; there isn't enough light. Go out and buy a can of white paint; get some big bulbs. Brighten the place up! Make it a happy place! But first you'll need to do the same to yourselves. The store will be only as happy and attractive as you are. It will be no more successful as a business than you are successful as persons."

So spoke that wise and unique man, Well, those spiritually dedicated bills went out along with the prayers and loving thoughts. What happened? Only this: Before the month was over, Bill and Mary had received eighty-five per cent of the outstanding accounts on their books, funds they needed so desperately. They became a changed and outgoing couple. As a result their store became a changed place and gradually their business improved. When they started putting love and happiness into their work, love and happiness came back to them. That's the way it works.

"Love is the key law of all laws," wrote Al Cliffe. "We must love God, and we must love our fellow-man; these are the underlying teachings of the Master. Therefore no matter what we give in service and money to God and our fellow-men, our lives must be ruled by love."

The Bible says this even better: "Faith, hope, love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

WASHINGTON — "You will admit, of course, that your country is run by the Rockefellers, the Mellons and the Fords."

The speaker was a Soviet citizen encountered in Kiev on a visit to Russia last summer. So indoctrinated was he with the official propaganda line that it was little use arguing with him that, politically speaking, nothing could be further from the truth. In the naive propaganda out of Moscow Nelson Rockefeller's victory in the race for Governor of New York is being hailed as another piece of evidence in the rule of big money in America.

Certainly Rockefeller's wealth, his name and his family's influence helped. But unlike other men of great riches who have tried to play a part in American political life, whether directly or indirectly, he made a broad appeal to moderates and liberals. It was the appeal of a friendly, likeable human being who was assuming in his campaign that under the rules of fair play the golden spoon he was born to would not be held against him.

At the same time Rockefeller was demonstrating that a rich man could do it the hard way by getting into the thick of the political fray. Others in his income bracket were following the old course of trying to buy their way home. Many were contributing, as Vice President Nixon plaintively pointed out at the start of the campaign, to the hate peddlers only too eager to promise that the good old days of William McKinley would be restored.

On the other side of the continent another hard-campaigning young Republican, who had also shucked off the Old Guard, was winning a less conspicuous victory. Mark Hatfield, Secretary of State of Oregon, defeated an old-line Republican candidate in the primary and went on to do his own intense, friendly, handshaking campaign.

He remarked widely 10 days before the election that the Old Guard still believed you could buy elections by putting up enough billboards and getting enough television time. In a once-Republican state in which the Democrats had captured victually every office this former professor of political science used a new approach and new techniques. Determined to remake the Republican organization in Oregon, Hatfield at 36 will be watching. If the Republican party has future it lies in realists such as Oregon's newly elected young governor.

An exception to the liberal-moderate tack is Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who won re-election on an all-out down-with-Reuther campaign. But in Arizona the roles of the two parties were the reverse of what they were almost everywhere else.

In the new Senate Goldwater will be a lonely figure. The extreme right had already lost Senators Joseph McCarthy and Herman Welker. In announcing his retirement Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana had a forecast of the handwriting on the wall, and he failed by a wide margin to put over his hand-picked successor, Governor Harold Handley. In the Democratic sweep the right wing lost Senator John W. Bricker in Ohio and Senator George Malone in Nevada, and Senator William F. Knowland, on whom they could usually count, went down to a fore-ordained doom in California. In Wyoming the right lost Senator Frank A. Barrett, who almost always voted on the conservative side.

Presumably the leader of the greatly shrunken Republican flock in the new Senate will be Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois. He will be far from an easy task during the last two years of a President who cannot succeed himself and who has been, in effect, repudiated by the voters.

But if Dirksen is bound to have troubles with his sad minority, so will the Majority Leader, Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, with his greatly swollen majority. Johnson, who believes in a place for everyone and everyone in his place, is going to have to cope with eager beavers taking new confidence from the liberal-labor sweep.

Red-Haired Beauty

Actress Rhonda Fleming has interesting ideas on what makes a girl attractive and charming. This titan-haired beauty is soon to be seen in "Home Before Dark," for Warner Bros.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Exercise Must Be Fun To Produce Results

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — Rhonda Fleming, with the striking coloring of blue eyes and titan hair, is one of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood. "I lost my identity completely," Rhonda told me during lunch at Warner Bros. commissary, "when I went platinum for a part. It is incredible but true that I would walk into a room and have people I know very well stare at me without any sign of recognition." Rhonda laughed. "But I suppose hair is more of an identifying quality than we realize."

"Did you like yourself blonde?" I asked. "No, I felt superficial. I think that the platinum rouge has been overdone. At first it was startling but it's quite commonplace now and not worth the effort. It was terribly hard on my hair. I had to sit for three hours every three days to fix the roots. And my hair became so overbleached it went limp. It was a miracle it didn't all break off but I used lots of hot oil and I was very careful never to let it get in the direct sun."

"I don't believe in doing anything that you don't feel is right for you. I may not be in style but I'm happy. That's why I never bought any sacks or chemises. When I went shopping and couldn't find anything that was fitted, I had my dresses made for me, and I'm glad I did."

We talked about keeping fit with exercises and Rhonda said: "It has to be fun—you have to enjoy it or you won't continue. I do my exercise routine every day but I get such pleasure from it. I like to stretch and pull my muscles the first thing when I awaken. I really feel a great need for exercise and one of the best ways is stretching. If you've ever watched a puppy or a kitten waking up you know what I mean."

"It is easy to get into a rut and forget what a limber body feels like. So many people go day after day never exercising until they lose all body tone. You just watch them pickup up something or trying to get into a car. They look simply stiff-jointed. "One of the best investments you can make in health and beauty is in a ballet class. Give yourself a test to learn whether you have a supple body," Rhonda suggested. "See how easily you can bend your knees? Do you have to hold onto a banister when you go down stairs? And do you push on the arms of a low chair when you get out of it?" "If you can't get around to doing exercises or ballet classes," Rhonda advised, "see how much stretching you can do around the house. Dusting high places and making a bed can give you a good work-out if you concentrate on how far you can reach and how easily you can bend. When you walk around the house see how erect you can hold yourself, and when you sit start an anti-slump campaign."

Circulation and breathing are the answers to a lot of health and beauty problems. When you slump your rib cage is cramped and your breath is cut off," she added. While Rhonda was talking I was pleasantly aware of her perfume and said so. "I get such a lift from wearing the right scent," Rhonda confessed. "I prefer cologne and I like to spray my clothes with it. I use one scent at a time so that when I open my closet door everything has the same fragrance."

World Community Day Is Observed Here By United Church Women

World Community Day, a worldwide observance to create friendship around the globe, was noted locally with a special program at St. Paul Presbyterian Church, Friday morning. Under the sponsorship of the United Church Women, the assembly was addressed by the Rev. Jack Ware, pastor of the host church. Using the theme "Exchange—Goods, Ideas, People," the Rev. Ware emphasized that there can only be an exchange of ideas when others are given an opportunity to express themselves. "If we expect to have other people respect us as a nation, we must respect each other in our communities, including the minority groups," said the minister.

Methodist Class Meets For Dinner

A Thanksgiving dinner was served to the Ruth Class of Park Methodist Church Thursday evening at the church. It was the regular monthly meeting for business and a social.

Tables were decorated in the Thanksgiving motif, with place cards marking seats for 24. The Rev. Joe McCarty, pastor of the church, led the devotion based on Thanksgiving.

A poem on the seasonal theme was read by Mrs. G. C. Graves, and Mrs. E. R. Thompson discussed the same topic. Mrs. A. F. Bearden conducted a business meeting following the dinner.

Mrs. Haral Steele was program leader. Other participants were Mrs. R. E. Hoover, Mrs. Lee Hanson, Mrs. R. W. Thompson and Mrs. Albert Davis. Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Royce Womack sang "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way."

Thirty-five attended the session, when parcels of peace were packed with yarn and fabrics for shipment to the South Sea Islands and Pakistan.

Following the service, new officers were elected in a business session. Mrs. G. C. Graves was elevated to the presidency. Serving with her will be Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, vice president; Mrs. Frank Wilson, second vice president; Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson, secretary; Mrs. Edison Taylor, treasurer; and Mrs. F. H. Talbot, Christian Social Relations.

Eyes Focus On Legs In Time Of Short Frocks

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Beauty Editor

All eyes will be on legs this year. Fashionable girls should keep shorter dresses in mind when assembling their wardrobe of leg accessories.

And it will be a wardrobe, judging by the number of leg ornaments that have made their appearance. There are dazzling garters of real rubies and diamonds at $1,200 a leg or less spectacular garters of seed pearls and silver bells.

Colored hosiery is handsomely decorated with clocks that run half way up the back of the stocking; handpainted bees swarm to the knees, and sprays of roses decorate instep or ankle.

There are stockings decorated with rhinestones and some with jet beads.

Grooming products run the gamut of important accessories for winter legs. Leg lotions and creams in squeeze bottles are designed especially for heels that must be sleek beneath sheer stockings.

Electric razors in princess pink or blue hues are attractive enough to exhibit on the vanity table, and leg makeup is back again to give legs a mat finish or to smooth legs that are discolored or scarred by prominent veins.

Other items that must be kept on the grooming shelf are pumice and stiff brushes for removing callouses and bunions. If you'd pretty your knees and the backs of your heels, rouge is said to be the answer.

A variety of garters and spats are other ways girls call attention to their legs this season.

Jeweled Garters

Gay Gaiters

Lively plaid overalls for the legs; ideal for outdoor wear.

Cosmetic Counters Are Remembrance Laden

There are many more gay Christmas mementos at the cosmetic counter this year than there are days in the old English ballad, "Twelve Days of Christmas" and they're all just as imaginative as the gifts in that song. Every one of them is packaged with much whimsy and charm in their sparkling wrappings and marabou trappings.

Looking over the gifts, you discover a deluxe group of delicacies that have a look of elegance and old world charm about them. Here is fluffy dusting powder in an exquisite jewel-like box. Cleverly gift boxed this year is a sparkling urn-shaped bottle of perfume, enthroned in a gold embossed sheath, with a design of a pastel Empire-gowned lady gracing its top.

From the sublime you turn to a group of witty stocking stuffer gifts by the score—like the novel way hand lotion is wrapped in a tall, sparkling green sleeve embellished with a frothy feather topping; or the whimsical miniatures like the elfin santa bobbing from a lipsticker chimney, the tiny gypsy tambourine throbbing with an exotic air of perfume, or the drum rolling with two cakes of soap.

Another category on your gift list might be the woman who's a roamer—a never stay-at-home. She'll find home was never like this. In a sleek traveller kit, there is all the fixings for beauty en route—from cleanser to night cream. All in plastic tubes and fashioned for sea, air, or land travel in a neat little alligator grained red case.

Winding up last-minute shopping, you may uncover names without sizes. For these, keep in mind the clever "surprise" gift powder compacts. They come empty and are filled, like a prescription, right after Christmas with her own blend of personalized pressed face powder.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

That long, low sigh you more than likely heard this morning was one of relief that Big Spring survived her busy Friday and Saturday. What with being honored by a visit from Senator and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, the successful Business-Education Day program, the homecoming parade and ball game, most of the populace was busy from morning through the evening.

Judging from some of the visitors here Friday, Sen. Johnson's visit was well publicized. At Plains, Mrs. HENRY WILLIAMS, a farmer's wife, was listening to Today on television, and the news announcer noted that the senator was to be in Big Spring. She hastily called her friend, MRS. LINDY IRVIN, who lives on the neighboring 2-B ranch and they decided to come down for the 11 o'clock talk.

As women are wont to do, they did so many things before they started the southern trip, they got here too late for the talk but were in time for the reception. Mrs. Irvin is a friend of MRS. JESSIE LEE LANCASTER, who teaches in the Big Spring schools.

JACQUELINE SMITH from Baylor is here for the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Y. Smith. Another guest in the Smith home is LOUIS MCKNIGHT of McAllen.

MRS. CECIL McDONALD was in Lubbock Thursday to be with her daughter, Cecilia, who is a Tech student.

GEORGE NEAL, whose home is in San Angelo, was in Big Spring for the homecoming activities Friday and Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS ORME and Mrs. DELIA K. AGNELL are in Dallas today. Mr. Orme will continue his trip to Chicago where he is to attend the API convention, while Mrs. Orme will visit friends in Dallas and Fort Worth. Mrs. Agnell will join her daughter and son-in-law, MR. AND MRS. WALTER C. HORNADAY, who will spend the week in Dallas.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN TAYLOR will return today from Dallas, where they attended the SMU-A&M game Saturday.

Guests of MR. AND MRS. CHARLES SWENNEY are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Oliver and their family whose home is in Houston.

Leaving Tuesday is MRS. E. H. BOULLION who will combine business and pleasure on a trip to Bermuda via New York City. Accompanying her will be two friends from Tahoka, Mrs. D. W. Gargnat and Mrs. Charles Verner. The three will spend a week or more in Bermuda which is the pleasure part of the trip, but Mrs. Boullion hopes to buy china there and do further purchasing in New York for her shop when they stop for five days before returning here.

Joining the 20,000 or more dentists that are expected to attend the American Dental Association meeting in Dallas this week are DRS. W. B. HARDY and C. W. DEATS, who will leave tonight for the three-day session.

MR. AND MRS. KEBIE BRISTOW, Gordon and Keith, have spent the weekend in Houston with Mr. Bristow's sister, Mrs. W. E. N. Phillips.

MR. AND MRS. LARSON LLOYD and Mrs. CLYDE THOMAS JR. will leave early Tuesday for Houston where they will attend the Girl Scout Regional Conference. The region includes Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. While she is in Houston, Mrs. Lloyd will also attend a Staff in Service Training program of the American Heart Assn., which is to be held at the Shamrock-Hilton.

Former Residents Of Ackerly To Return

ACKERLY — Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Smith of Big Spring, former residents of Ackerly, are planning to move back to Ackerly, where they will take over the Dolph Raspberry Grocery.

Mrs. Lucy Britton of Big Spring was a recent guest of her parents, the J. Archers.

John Toole is still a patient in a Lamesa hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harry have been visiting their daughter and family, the Alvin Hogs, in O'Donnell.

Here with her children, the Otha Cozarts and the Pete Belwies, is Mrs. R. H. Rhyne of Clinton.

Mrs. Bruce Crain and Mrs. George Schaefer were in Lubbock on business recently. They also visited relatives and Mrs. Pat Rudestal, who is in the Methodist Hospital.

Pillows Are Inexpensive Clever Gifts

Scatter pillows can make a steady-dating pair in the room of any young modern. These little girl and boy pillows are beguiling and a nice change from animal motifs that have been around for a time.

If you get busy on this project early, you can make pillows for all the starry-eyed teen-agers girls on your Christmas list, one way to solve that "what-can-I-give-that-she-doesn't-have" problem.

Cotton feed or flour bags are ideal for stuffed pillows of this sort.

Select two 25-pound print sacks in bright prints. Prepare them for sewing by ripping the chain-stitched seams and soaking in the bag in warm, soapy water to remove labels or printed brand names, then dry and press.

It's a good idea to embroider the pillows before sewing them together. Cotton rug yarn is used for the hair. Hair styles may be changed to match the teen-ager who will own the pillows. Such styles as pig-tails, pony tails, or crew cuts can be done easily with black, brown, red or yellow yarn.

If you own one of these slant-needle sewing machines or an automatic zig-zagger, you can applique the features; otherwise, hand-embroidery is your best bet.

If you are giving a set of pillows to a girl with a string of beaux, make a series of interchangeable neckties for the boy pillow, each with a name embroidered on the bow. Then Sam, or Jim, or Tom, can be sure he's first in her heart, if his name is on the tie when he comes to call.

For Her Room

These scatter pillows are lots of fun, especially for the girl who goes steady. Make them for Christmas gifts for the girl who has everything.

The Y has benefited from the event for the past three years, and support to the building fund has been pledged by the club for the next two years. Tickets are $1; the fee includes sandwiches and cold drinks.

Games of bridge and canasta will be arranged. Guests may bring their own partners or team up at the party.

During the afternoon, prizes in the form of home-baked cakes will be awarded intermittently. A special prize will be a beautiful brass pitcher, styled in classical simplicity.

Mrs. Harold L. Davis heads the arrangements committee; she is being assisted by Mrs. Harra Jones and Mrs. James Duncan.

Confident Lyndon Faces Most Challenging Years

By JOE PICKLE

Exuding the effects of Texas sunshine and a Democratic landslide in Tuesday's general election, a buoyant and confident Lyndon Johnson looked forward Friday to his two most challenging years in Congress.

Dropping a few verbal drops of oil on the post-election waters by ruling out revenge as a waste of time, he observed that "the 1960 election will take care of itself in 1960."

With a twinkle in his eyes he departed from his text to add: "And some of us plan to be around then."

Many political observers figure he will be around in a big way, too, for the United States Senate majority leader has been mentioned frequently as a leading presidential hopeful of the Democrats, or certainly as a key to the nomination.

The senior senator from Texas had turned his Business-Education Day address here into a major policy declaration for the Democratic party in view of the commanding majorities piled up in both houses of the Congress.

He indicated that he was going to urge U.N. Ambassador Lodge to introduce a resolution urging that U.N. members make a joint effort to explore outer space.

"I wanted him to introduce it a year ago," he explained.

MAJOR ISSUES

Among other things he cited as major issues before the 86th Congress were: A program to step up the supply and conservation of water for the West; a foreign policy so bold, new imaginative programs can be recommended to our responsible officials; a consistent policy to help Latin-American neighbors help themselves. ("They are increasing at the greatest rate in the world and with half a billion in two more decades.")

A new farm program ("there is something wrong when the government must spend 53 cents for every net dollar the farmer takes in"); face up to high interest rates which are slowing the necessary growth of our economy; a program to help economically depressed areas restore their regions to prosperity; a labor bill to protect honest, constructive labor; a bold housing program aimed at a home for every American family; re-examine the airport program in view of the jet age; a courageous urban renewal program to restore vitality to slum-plagued cities.

Occasionally he paused to toss in a few barbs at the administration. At one point, alluding to President Eisenhower's election reaction linking Democrats with free-spenders, he said: "I would remind the people that we (the Democratic Congress) cut the President's spending requests by $5,600,000."

Appearing in the most vibrant health Big Spring friends could remember, the senator spoke in a relaxed and unhurried manner, and with considerably more anti-

PAUSES FOR NAP

Paying heed to his doctors' advice following his near fatal heart attack a few years back, he managed to squeeze in a nap at the Settles Hotel.

Downstairs on the mezzanine, a large number of citizens waited an extra half hour to see the senator and Mrs. Johnson at a brief reception.

Frank Hardesty, Howard County Democratic chairman, presented the senator, and Mrs. Norman

Off To Convention

Dr. E. O. Ellington left Saturday night by plane for Dallas where he will attend the national convention of the American Dental Assn. Statler-Hilton Hotel will be headquarters for the convention, which opens today and will continue through Wednesday.

Mrs. Neal Lacey of Dallas is here visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ellington.

SEN. AND MRS. LYNDON JOHNSON
... happy couple during visit here

Read, a former state committee member, welcomed guests at the door. Arrangements for the colorful reception had been handled by Mrs. Della K. Agnell, who has known the Johnsons well from visits to Washington with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hornaday (he is Dallas News bureau chief there).

Among those assisting here were Mrs. Bill Bonner, Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, Mrs. Douglas Orme, Mrs. Joe Pickle, Mrs. Lloyd Brannon, Mrs. Bill Quimby, Mrs. J. D. Elliott, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt and several others.

The affair was strictly informal and before Sen. and Mrs. Johnson were whisked away in Air Force cars to Webb AFB to catch a plane to San Antonio and a date with Defense Secretary McElroy, he mounted a chair and expressed thanks for the treatment they had received in Big Spring.

Bad Timing

CALDWELL, Ohio (AP) — Noble County's fairground here was crowded on two consecutive Sundays by firemen from throughout southeast Ohio, in for special training.

Shortly after they all departed, the grandstand burned — the day before the fair opened.

Car Maker Pushes 'Backward Look'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
They don't make cars today like they used to. . .

Oh yes they do, right down to the brass head lamps, bicycle-spoke wheels and a bulb klixon horn that's bound to scare the wits out of anything from chickens to old ladies.

A firm down in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., has set up an assembly line to turn out what it calls "the car with the backward look," an authentic replica of the 1901 Oldsmobile.

As America's newest old car or oldest new car, depending on your point of view, the 1959 (alias 1901) Merry Olds is the only car on the market that offers no extras:

No flashy tall fins, no chrome trim, no rearview mirror, no radio, no heater, no ash trays, no windshield wipers — in fact, no windshield. Not even a steering wheel, since navigation is controlled by a long, slender tiller something like junior has on his coaster wagon.

Simplicity on wheels, the Merry Olds has a one cylinder, four horsepower engine that can perk along at 35 miles an hour and delivers an economical 67 miles to the gallon, even more on the down grade. The driver has a choice of two speeds forward and one in reverse without depressing a clutch.

American Air Products Corp., which previously concentrated on such non-rolling stock as soup cans and bomb release mechanisms, built the modern antique from original blueprints supplied by General Motors. A lawnmower firm supplied the engines.

"The production schedule calls for 2,000 cars this year and 5,000 within the next two years," explained Nathan Keats, who with his partner Peter Robeck has set up a national sales organization.

Keats extolled the virtues of the car as we chugged along Broadway in New York, startling cops and cab drivers with our something less than blinding speed.

"Basically, the car appeals to two main groups: those who are looking for something showy, nostalgic and different to whip around town in, like the college kids and the Westport crowd, and retail stores and manufacturers who are looking for a delivery wagon with built-in sales promotion. . . Nelson Rockefeller saw one the other-day while he was campaigning in town for governor and immediately placed an order."

In its day, the 1901 Olds was America's first successfully marketed automobile.

The original model sold for $650, f.o.b. Detroit. The new old one lists for $1,495, in both the two-seat roadster model and the wagon model, a sort of combination station wagon and farm cart.

Modern Living With Gas

Modern living in America, with its accent on comfort and leisure, is made possible with new automatic gas appliances. There are a wealth of arrangements with built-ins, top burners that can make a kitchen thoroughly modern, thanks to gas.

Waste Heat Is Villain Of Kitchen

Waste heat is the villain of the kitchen.

He's the culprit with the heat hangover who keeps the room hot and the homemaker uncomfortable.

He wastes fuel. He's an unnecessary evil.

However, there's a way to practically eliminate the work of the kitchen villain. It is through the use of the modern gas range as your cooking servant.

Gas gives instant high heat and it also gives the homemaker unlimited numbers of low heats for "simmer" and "keep warm" temperatures.

The kitchen stays cooler with flexible and instantly-controlled gas. The homemaker can bring food to cooking temperature with flame-fast gas without a long warm-up period. Then she can turn down the burner to one of the low simmer-flame positions, taking her choice all the way down to a "pin-point" flame. This saves vitamins in foods.

A gas flame is off instantly when it is turned off. There's no lingering heat remaining to heat up the kitchen and continue cooking the food as well as the homemaker.

No cooking is cool, because it takes heat to cook. But gas cooking is as cool as cooking can be. First of all, heavy blankets of insulation, the heaviest found on any range, keep heat inside the range to cook the food instead of the cook.

Oven and broiler doors are closed during the cooking, because the live gas flame consumes smoke and it doesn't have to pour into the kitchen from the front of the range.

Top burner cooking is cooler, too. The flexible gas flame tailors itself to pans; there's no lingering after-heat.

It's a fact that the villain in a hot kitchen is waste heat. But he's on the run when a gas range is used, for there's less waste heat with gas.

With Gas Range You Can Be Best Cook In The Block

Want to be known as the best cook on the block and still spend less time in the kitchen than you used to?

If the answer is "yes," let it be hinted to the man of the house that a new gas range would make a mighty appreciated White Christmas gift.

For it's the gas range that has special features more useful than a couple of extra hands, a mathematical genius and a whole new set of cooking appliances.

FOOLPROOF CONTROL

There's the foolproof automatic roast control. You don't have to figure out how long to cook the meat or poultry according to weight or degree of "doneness" you want. Just stick a probe into the meat, set the dial on the back of the instrument for "rare" or "well done" or somewhere in between. That's all. Meat done, oven turns off.

Perhaps even helpful in building your reputation as a superior cook is the thermostatic topburner heat control. It turns every pan you've got into all automatically controlled cooking vessel. Once you turn to the proper dial setting (from 150 to 400 degrees) your top burner will never vary more than two degrees, no matter how long you keep the gas turned on. Now you can make those tricky sauces just right every time.

Broilers are in the front seat this year, too. You can have a broiler with 10 different settings, operated at the touch of a finger. You may select a three-way model that becomes a twin rotisserie or an adjustable high broiler or a deep-pan barbecue broiler. And don't forget the built-in griddles.

If you have a special decorating plan, too, you needn't worry about a color clash. Gas range manufacturers got together with other appliance makers to coordinate colors. Now, without a qualm, you can match cabinets and sink with the new range.

Modern Appliances Give Helpful Hints

Some of your modern mechanical servants can talk. Most of them won't tell the baby a story or gossip about your neighbor, but they have important things to say.

They come equipped with signal lights, bells and dials that give you a very good idea what they are doing.

And while you are learning the appliance language, there are other ways of checking up on your new helpers. One of the most important is windows.

Many of the ovens, dishwashers, clothes washers, clothes dryers and other devices have built-in glass panels.

Built-In Appliances Rate Higher In Popular Appeal

Built-in appliances have become so popular, says the American Gas Assn., that it may develop that the only free standing equipment in the kitchen of the future will be the housewife.

The trend is already apparent in new homes where nearly everything is built-in, including the kitchen sink. Remodeled kitchens in older-type homes are picking up the trend, and built-in equipment is extending to other areas of the home such as bathrooms, bedrooms, basement recreation rooms and of course, the living room where built-in bookcases and television sets are common.

Originally the term built-in applied only to those appliances which were literally built into a wall or cabinet. Today, kitchen built-ins include "recessed" and "stack-on" units.

Stack-ons, such as gas ovens and top of the range cooking units, are finished on the back, sides and top so that they can be stacked on top of a counter or base cabinet. Because they do not require special enclosures, stack-ons are ideal for apartments and remodeled kitchens.

Other major appliances, such as refrigerators, washing machines, dryers and water heaters, are made to look built-in by placing them alongside each other or recessing them between adjoining counters, a continuous row of overhead cabinets, and where practical, a continuous counter, provide the much-wanted built-in look.

This flexibility in the arrangement of equipment enables the homemaker to work more efficiently with greater comfort. Gas ovens, for example, can be placed at the most convenient height, while separate top of the range cooking units can be installed in groups of two or more wherever desired. Some fold back into a wall panel, out of sight when not in use, to provide extra counter space. Most built-in ovens are combined with the broiler but can be had with a separate broiling compartment located below the oven.

All built-in gas appliances feature the latest automatic controls, clocks and timing devices, including the fabulous "burner with a brain," which makes every cooking utensil an automatic appliance. A wide selection of colored enamel and metallic finishes, offer endless decorating possibilities.

Best of all, built-ins grow with the family. If additional cooking facilities are needed, extra surface units or a second oven can be added without sacrificing precious floor space.

As increasing numbers of families continue to custom tailor the kitchen to their individual needs, the future possibilities of built-ins stagger the imagination.

It is entirely possible, says the American Gas Assn., that we may one day find ourselves buying all-in-one built-in units rather than individual appliances. An all-in-one gas laundry unit, for example, could include a washer, cabinets and water heater, attractively arranged in one large unit to provide maximum convenience and efficiency.

Another "crystal ball" possibility is the unification of utilities through a system that could supply all heat requirements from a single heat source. A superheated fluid would flow through the house from a central gas-fired boiler.

type arrangement, controlled by a series of thermostats and valves.

The fluid would run through pipes in baseboards and floors to provide radiant heating, around a storage tank to heat water, through coils of tubing set in a counter top to cook food, through tubes in and around cupboards built into the walls to act as ovens, clothes dryers and incinerators.

Yes indeed, the kitchen of the future will have nearly everything built-in, including comfort and convenience.

Husband At Work

Here is a perfect picture of a modern husband at work. He's using a new gas clothes dryer to dry the family laundry. Of course, gas appliances are throughout the kitchen and the rest of the house.

Gas Appliances Ideal For Christmas Gift For Home

Are you looking for something really new and exciting to give your family this Christmas? If so, consider modern, fully automatic gas appliances which feature the much-wanted "new look."

Top burner heat controls! Built-in rotisseries! Meat thermometers! Wider ovens! Recessed griddles! Extra surface units! Colored enamel and metallic finishes! Automatic ignition for all burners! New low-heat pilots! Automatic "on-off" clock controls! Removable rack guides! Giant and super-giant burners!

Thermostatic timed shut-off! Separate simmer burners! "Oven-on" and "oven-ready" indicator lights! Chrome oven liners! Retained heat ovens! Chrome cooking tops! Warming shelves and compartments! Lift-up cooking top! Double ovens! Deep well cookers, griddles, and deep fat fryers! Super speed burners!

These are some of the reasons why gas range sales are expected to hit the 2,000,000 mark this year. Any or all of the above features can be had today from over 40 of the nation's leading gas range manufacturers.

HANDSOME STYLES
But the "new look" is not just limited to gas ranges. It can be found in free-standing, built-in and recessed gas refrigerators, dryers, water heaters, furnaces, air conditioners and incinerators. And all of these are handsomely styled in two and three-toned colored and metallic finishes.

Take the gas domestic washer-dryer combination for example. These are becoming just as versatile and popular as built-in gas ranges. Recessed into walls, built into unusual counter arrangements, and left free-standing, they illustrate the widest choice of arrangements possible. They can be used in the kitchen, laundry or basement laundry-playroom area.

Gas water heaters are now found alongside laundry equipment because of the importance of hot water in home laundering. They, too, have the much-wanted "new look." A pink and white square shaped gas water heater, specially designed to fit in well with washers and dryers in modern laundry rooms, makes a big hit with housewives.

Gas heaters are equally at home in the kitchen, concealed in closets, or shown counter-top height alongside other modern home appliances.

NEW GRIDDLE
Also new is a gas-powered griddle recessed into a counter top which converts into an extra burner. Griddles in combination with recessed top of the burner units are much in evidence. Surface units finished in copper and stainless steel, feature a variety of ar-

Gas Ranges Set Modern Standard In Performance

Gas ranges set new modern standards of performance.

A feature on numerous de luxe ranges, for example, is the automatic clock control, use of which results in an oven that "thinks for itself." After setting the clock, the homemaker may leave for the afternoon.

Several hours later the range lights itself, cooks the food in the oven according to the time set on the clock, and then turns itself off. The homemaker returns to find dinner cooked and ready to serve.

This is one of the numerous automatic features found on today's modern gas range.

No Guesswork In Roasting

There's a new device that takes the guesswork out of roasting and guarantees cooking success every time.

Described as a meat thermometer "brought right up to date," it is available on many gas range models. Its operating efficiency makes meat and fowl cooking easy for the homemaker.

No longer is it necessary for the housewife to check the weight of the meat or to try to determine its temperature, age, shape, or proportions of meat to bone. With the new roast control, cooking a fowl or roast need not be complicated problem in mathematics.

Safety Factor Highest For Gas

Gas is the safest fuel for home use, according to figures released by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

For the 10-year period ending Dec. 31, 1955, less than 2 per cent of the fires were listed as having been caused by gas. The other two major household fuels were blamed for 15 per cent and 7 per cent of the fires, and they ranked second and fourth, while natural gas ranked fourteenth in the list of causes.

For the year of 1955 gas dropped from fourteenth to sixteenth in the National Fire Protection Assn.'s list of 24 building fire causes, despite an 8.9 per cent increase in gas consumption.

Gas Dryer Gives Freedom From The Washday Blues

No husband would stand by and let his wife lift a ton of coal. Yet a woman uses as much energy in carrying an average washing for a family of four from the house, hanging it up, taking it down, and carrying it back in, as she would in lifting a ton of coal ten feet off the ground.

Pretty grim going when you also add the vagaries of the weather, the extra time involved and the fact that in most homes this routine is repeated several times a week.

There is a very simple answer to the problem: a modern gas dryer.

Not only is gas faster, more efficient and more economical to install and operate, but modern gas dryers are attractive enough to be placed in the kitchen, bathroom, laundry room or hallway.

They can be built-in, recessed into a counter top, or left free-standing, which ever suits your decor best. And they come in a wide selection of coordinated color—yellow, pink, green, blue and white.

NEED LESS CLOTHING
Another advantage in owning a gas dryer is the fact that families require less clothing. Since you can wash and dry an entire nine pound load in approximately one hour, there is no waiting for the right drying weather, no delay in waiting for the clothes to dry out-of-doors, no fading from the hot rays of the sun, nor abuse from the whipping of the wind.

Many women prefer the new gas washer-dryer combinations, eliminates the need to transfer clothes from the washing machine to the dryer since both operations take place in the one machine. Another advantage is that they take up less floor space.

Some families have installed the gas washer-dryer combination in an upstairs bathroom. This then takes care of all the many laundry items that accumulate on the upper floors—sheets, pillowcases, towels, bedspreads, scatter rugs, blankets, clothing, etc. It saves mother from carrying these items up and downstairs to the laundry room. The entire washing and drying takes place upstairs where mother can then fold them and put them away with a minimum of effort.

A second set of laundry appliances are located downstairs for those items such as tablecloths, dish towels, napkins, rugs, slipcovers, outer clothing, and similar items which accumulate on the lower floors. The cost of having two sets of laundry appliances is negligible when you weigh the advantages of convenience, efficiency, neatness and mother's energy saved.

Glamor Styling In Gas Water Heaters

Latest contribution of the industrial designer to the realm of better living is today's automatic gas water heater.

Long an object desired for its function rather than for beauty, the automatic gas water heater now blossoms out with a new stylish look that is popular with the public, according to the spokesman for Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Company, world's largest manufacturer of automatic water heater controls.

BUILT-IN BEAUTY
Citing the role of the industrial designer in helping transform the water heater into a convenience appliance with built-in beauty appeal, Robertshaw-Fulton points to its own new product, a "glamorized" water heater control designed for mounting outside the water heater shell yet thin enough for easy concealment.

'Thinking' Burner Control New Advance In Kitchens

A revolution in gas cooking has been engineered by a simple mechanical development, a "thinking" burner control termed the greatest advance in kitchen ranges since invention of the thermostat.

A thermostatically controlled top burner, the "Burner With A Brain" operates much the same as an automatic oven. After setting the dial to the desired temperature, the homemaker can forget it. The ingenious burner will remain at the temperature she has dialed, going neither higher nor lower.

Top gas range models now on dealer sales floors feature this revolutionary device. Making the new burner even more outstanding is the fact that 80 per cent of the cooking is done on top of the stove where the "Burner With A Brain" is of valuable assistance.

Manufacturers point out that this new advance in surface cooking provides consistently good deep-fat frying, pan frying, broiling or griddle cooking in using ordinary utensils.

An aluminum sensing element mounted in the middle of the burner forms the heart of the "Burner With A Brain." This circular apparatus actually takes the temperature of the pan, skillet or griddle resting on it and automatically raises or lowers the flame to maintain the temperature for which the burner control is set. When the desired temperature is reached, the flame automatically diminishes. As the temperature falls, the valve in the thermostat opens, permitting the flame to rise again.

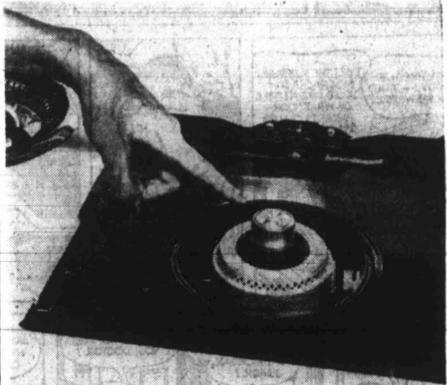

Sitting on a "Burner With A Brain" any pan in the kitchen becomes an automatic appliance. Pot watching and scorched pans become a thing of the past. The "Burner With A Brain" automatically raises and lowers the flame.

Like all gas burners, the "Burner With A Brain" reaches the desired heat immediately and when it is turned off the heat leaves immediately. There is no hang-over heat to burn foods or raise kitchen temperatures.

Heat markings on the control dial start at 200 degrees and progress in steps up to 400 degrees for secure control of the flame. The low, perfectly controlled temperatures are just right for delicate puddings and sauces, and the constant well-regulated high temperatures required for successful deep fat frying are provided by the new burner.

In using the "Burner With A Brain," the homemaker merely sets it and forgets it. It is as simple as that. The control dial is like the familiar oven control, and all that is necessary is turning it to the proper temperature. To control temperature the sensing element must be in contact with the bottom of a pan, making flat-bottomed pans a requirement.

Burner With A Brain

Thermostatically controlled top burner is now a feature of all modern gas ranges. The "Burner-With-A-Brain" has revolutionized top-of-the-range cooking. It eliminates guess work, insures perfect cooking results every time with no burned foods, no boil-overs, no scorching. What's more it makes every utensil an automatic appliance.

Gas Banishes Grease Smoke

Smokeless broiling is one of the big advantages of the modern gas range. And the flame-kissed flavor of gas-broiled meats is unmatched by any other cooking method. You have the crusty taste that's possible only with a flame.

Broiling is a method of cooking by direct heat and the live gas flame is well equipped to do the job. The gas range is designed to broil with the broiler door closed, thus holding the heat inside the broiler. This keeps the kitchen and the homemaker cooler.

Broiler pans are constructed to allow grease and fats to drain away from the heat zone. The live flame above food consumes smoke and grease, thus eliminating smoke.

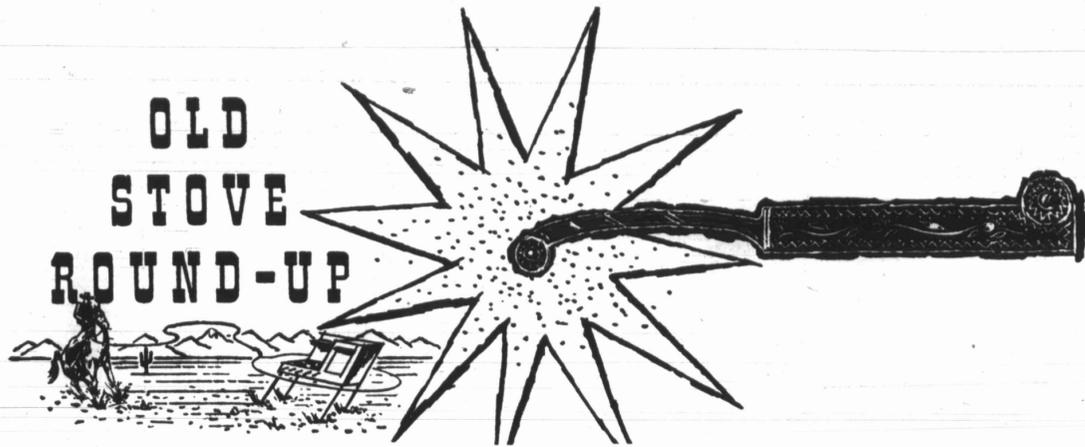

Range Top Can Vary In Layout

Did you know the homemaker can choose the kind of arrangement she wants for top of range cooking? She has a choice of clustered, staggered, divided, or all-in-a-row arrangements. The divided top—with a work space in the center between two units on either side—is the favorite of women across the nation.

Housewives Prefer Color In Ranges

Instant Heat At Fingertip

Speed is only one of the many advantages of gas cookery. The instant heat that is available at the touch of a fingertip on a modern gas range makes it the fastest cooking appliance money can buy. Since all food must be prepared the same, no matter what method of cooking is used, speed in cooking must be measured in two separate periods: The period of bringing the food to cooking temperature and the period of actual cooking.

After the desired temperature has been reached, the same time and heat are required no matter what its source. The only way to make cooking faster is to cut down the period of waiting for food to reach the correct temperature.

The modern gas range provides this instant heat. No annoying "warm-up" is ever required when you cook on a gas range. Just a simple twist of a dial and the instant flame is present.

This instant heat available only on a gas range has helped to make the kitchen as modern as any room in the house and has continued to make gas the most popular fuel for cooking. Eighty-five out of every 100 women cook with gas.

Oven No Problem With Gas Range

Because the new gas ranges are so easy to clean and keep clean, even the oven offers no problem. Always wait until the oven is cool, then clean it with hot soapy water.

After roasting fowl and after baking, wipe out the interior of the oven with damp cloth. Heavy grease can be removed with soap or detergent and a wet cloth.

Exceptional stains usually come off when wiped with a cloth dipped in household ammonia, but if the stain is stubborn a pan of ammonia left in the oven several hours or a cloth dipped in ammonia then placed over the stain to dry will remove it.

Occasionally, baked-on deposits may be removed by using fine dry steel wool, which also renews the original luster of the oven interior. Oven bottoms and racks come out easily for washing in the sink.

Pilots Keep The Cooking Cool

Tiny "hypo-jet" pilots that actually produce no more heat than a person resting in a chair are standard equipment on most of the top model gas ranges now in dealer showrooms. These tiny pilots help make gas cookery the coolest possible.

Although these tiny flames give off such a small amount of heat that it cannot be noticed, they spring into instant action when a burner is turned on, giving a quick sure flame without any waiting.

CINEMA COMMENT

Arctic Study Is Best Film Disney Has Put Out Yet

WHITE WILDERNESS. A Walt Disney production. Produced by Ben Sharpsteen. Written and directed by James Algar. Narrated by Winston Hibler. Music by Oliver Wallace. Photography by James Simon, Hugh Wilmar, Lloyd Beebe, Herb and Lois Crisler, William Carrick, Tom McHugh, Carl Thomson, Cecil Rhode, Dick Bird, Richard Teggstrom, in cooperation with the Canadian Wildlife Service. Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

This vivid story of the inexorable forces of nature is the greatest yet of Disney's True Life Adventure series.

Set against the backdrop of Canada's frozen Northland, "White Wilderness" begins with a color cartoon strip which serves as historical background, depicting how that area got the deep freeze treatment, and how Earth's creatures evolved to meet the changing conditions.

There is, as always, a story line; and this is not to be objected to, for there is always a multitude of stories to be found in nature. However, there is no one central character. Starred in great profusion are all the denizens of the tundra, the walrus herds, polar bears, the white whale, the suicidal lemmings, musk ox, caribou, sly arctic wolf and the fierce wolverine.

This fascinating drama unfolds against a backdrop of scenic majesty, and allows for no dull moments. There are poignancy, humor, tragedy. One begins to feel what the primitive Indian must have felt, in his conviction that all living things were brothers; for, whether killers or defenseless creatures, the actors in this fascinating story show that nature's children have very human characteristics.

These personalities stand out starkly against the raw world of nature with its harrying and

AN ARCTIC FOX Hanger makes her mean hunting down, and the ingenious defenses of the defenseless.

And one is reminded of our own blindly rushing world as he watches the lemmings, those tiny Arctic rodents who, very so often, head by the millions to an icy death in the sea.

Disney's former productions had one great weakness—the tendency of the narrator to indulge in cute jokes. "White Wilderness" is relatively free of these cute comments.

A word for the photographic teams: The warm-climate mind recoils from the thought of spending freezing hours in the ice waiting for just one short shot, which will amount to no more than a few seconds of screen time if it gets into the final picture at all.

"White Wilderness" is wonderful entertainment for adult and child alike; don't you dare miss it.

surface, but its good acting and direction, plus the unusual story, make it an off-beat film with a muted brilliance. Richard Todd stars as the adventuring Irishman who seeks to make a fortune out of the new demand for alligator skin; Juliette Greco is the woman in his life as they battle one African disaster after another.

"Voice in the Mirror." A dramatic story that might well be the biography of the AA—Richard Egan is an alcoholic who seeks a cure for his ailment, finding it eventually in the companionship of others in the same boat. Wife Julie London helps.

"Houseboat." An entertaining bit of froth that takes advantage of Cary Grant's suave manner and Sophia Loren's beauty and talent. She's a luscious lass who comes to Grant's house (he's a widower with a young daughter) as a maid, but Cary begins to see her as something more than a governess. "The Naked Jungle." Charlton Heston, as a Brazilian plantation owner, discovers the savagery of the dreaded soldier ant, the insect who can actually think. Of course, his superior human mind eventually figures out a strategy to beat the best of the ants' generals. Don't laugh—those ants exist, and this film is based on an actual incident.

"War of the Worlds." A modernized version of H. G. Wells' novel that fascinated the civilized world of the last century, and which Orson Welles used as basis for a documentary-type (but purely fictional) radio program a generation ago that scared the country out of its wits. The film version takes advantage of all possible camera tricks, special effects, and latest scientific knowledge to depict Wells' invasion by Martians. Can be classed among the all-time greats of motion picture science fiction.

"No Time for Sergeants." About the only people who didn't laugh themselves silly over this grand spoof of the Air Force were certain brass hats in the Pentagon and certain of the ultra-loyal optimists. Stars Andy Griffith. "Nuff said."

Several years ago—they're vague about the dates—each appeared separately in a TV drama. They like the medium, watch dramas that sound interesting when they have the chance, and absolutely do not feel superior to television. The principal reason they haven't appeared together in a TV drama is because they've been so busily engaged in the theater. Only recently, for example, they completed a lengthy run in "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Also, at those times when they've been free to do a TV drama they have not found a script that struck them as validly dramatic material. Asked to generalize about a characteristic weakness of the many scripts they've read, March said that they were "dramatically inconclusive." That is, like a certain type of short story that currently is critically fashionable, the scripts did not come to any real conclusion.

March generally reads scripts aloud to Miss Eldridge, and their comments to each other often run something like this: Miss E. (as M. is reading the second act)—"Is it over yet?" M.—"Not yet." And then, as he concludes the last act: "Now it's over." Miss E.—"But it can't be." "It isn't really over, but it says 'and here and there's no more script.'"

Husband-Wife Team Offering Drama In TV

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—Frederic March and Florence Eldridge, one of the theater's finest husband-and-wife acting teams, will make their first TV dramatic appearance together Nov. 13 in "The Window Boy."

Slobban McKenna will co-star with them in the "Du Pont Show of the Month" (CBS-TV) presentation of the award-winning play by Terence Rattigan.

Mr. and Mrs. March are such friendly, unaffected, interesting people that I forgot to make any notes in the course of a leisurely luncheon the other day. We talked about the theater, television, criticism, books, the pleasures of living in the country, food, the disciplines of work.

Cliburn Gets His 2 Wishes

WACO (AP)—Pianist Van Cliburn now has the two things he has always wanted... a gold medal and a college degree.

Russia gave him the gold medal for winning a piano contest that made him internationally famous. Baylor University gave him Friday an honorary degree of doctor of humanities.

Cliburn in accepting the honorary degree from Baylor's president, Dr. W. R. White, said: "At my age I feel I'm indebted to people who will say you have your place. And in accepting this honor I hope that you, my contemporaries, will feel that you too are accepting it."

The degree was presented as a part of Baylor's sixth annual Conference on American Ideals. In conferring the degree on the Kluge pianist, Dr. White referred to him as "our ambassador of international good will in the field of music."

"We love you, Van Cliburn," he said. "You mean more to us and the world than you know."

Men Have A Stake In Art; It's Not For Women Alone

Art is not a woman's prerogative. In fact, painting and sculpture, as among all the fine arts, have ever been the conquering ground of man.

So, why is it that in America, men generally spoof the arts and leave such "sissy" things up to their women?

I am tempted at times to believe the old divorcee's tale that men are just callous beasts, and that's why they don't appreciate things of beauty, aside from an occasional pretty figure. But I know it's just not true.

The answer lies in our frontier beginnings, when men had no time nor opportunity to partake of the arts, when there grew up amongst us a contempt for the higher things which we neither had nor understood. It was agreed that men must carve out a civilization from the raw wilderness, and the women must establish the homes, run the schools, foster the arts and otherwise set up a civilized community.

But today, the frontier is gone, everybody who wants it gets a good education, and there is no excuse for American men to continue to ignore the finer things in life.

That the American male is beginning to realize his heritage is they need no further push. This is well established that his subconscious resistance to anything that might be regarded as "sissy" is still strong.

The present situation, in which art is often relegated to the status of the garden club and the sewing circle, must eventually change for the better. But sometimes progress needs a little push in the right direction.

Thus, a suggested program of art education might be in order, for once men's interest is aroused they need no further push. It is not to say that men should take regular art courses, complete with oils, brush and palette. Nor even a full-fledged course in art appreciation.

What is needed is an open mind and just enough information to allow them to understand what they're looking at in an exhibit, just enough to whet their appetite for more, so that they may go to the library or sign up for an art appreciation course—in some cases, even take up the brush.

What is needed is a well-planned, illustrated lecture series of lectures designed specifically for luncheon and dinner meetings of men's civic organizations, groups which are ever hurting for an interesting program.

Local art groups could fill this need by choosing a good speaker (preferably a man, with an attractive feminine assistant), supplying him with notes for a brief lecture, slides and perhaps a short film strip.

Someone like Josh Burnett, or John Findlater, for example.

Court Jesters Working Hard

It's a little early to tell yet if the high school play will be worthy of visitation by others than students and friends and relatives of cast members. In fact, the rehearsal has not yet been held in any theatre that can be used as a 100 per cent accurate weather-vane, although all in all they are usually pretty good indicators.

Philip Wayne's Court Jesters, as his drama students call themselves, are preparing a play called "Time Out for Ginger," a riotous yarn about a girl who goes out for football. It's especially adapted to the high school theatre, but is entertaining for adult audiences as well.

The high school players are still in the script reading stage, mainly because of exams and other unavoidable delays. But Wayne is driving the kids down to the wire, with two weeks to go, and the cast is working hard to learn a complicated new art called acting in which all are inexperienced.

Wayne has plenty of potential talent to draw from; and aside from talent, the students' attitude is good. They don't try to rule him, and there are no prima donnas to worry with.

The cast is well saturated with sophomores, since Wayne is trying to build up a hard core of experienced actors; by the time the kids are seniors, they ought to be pretty good.

Fifteen organists had a social hour last week out at HCJC, with Jack Hendrix, music department chairman, taking part in the sociabilities.

Parties are a dime a dozen, but the organists' event points up the existence of an organization that deserves a lot more praise and publicity than it generally gets.

Ordinarily it's called the Organ Guild, but its official name is HCJC Chapter, Guild Student Group, American Guild of Organists. Since organs are usually associated with churches, the Guild aims at promoting church music and church musicians and raising the standards of organ players through scholarships and better education. The Guild also, through its social side, helps bring together people with a common interest for idea trading.

The HCJC chapter, set up two years ago, was the first such group organized in this area.

efforts to marry off her fragile daughter is behind "The Glass Menagerie," the College Players presentation Nov. 15, 17, and 18. This has become well known as the only play Tennessee Williams ever wrote that was tender and without cuss words in every other script line.

The play, as usual, takes place in a dingy part of the South. The daughter, a cripple, is extremely shy, and her brother invites an Irish friend over for dinner to meet the girl, while mama busies herself trying to pull the girl out of her misery long enough to cast an eye upon the handsome visitor.

Starred as the daughter will be Glendene Phillely; Linda Nichols as the mother; Jack Culpepper as the brother; and Mims Reed as the visitor. Production manager is Tommy Cook, and Diane Tidwell is student director.

'Rolling Home' Is House, Not Song, For Concert Family

By DON ROTH ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry Lee Neal lives by three R's—run, run and run.

He runs his family of five persons; he runs his fingers over the keyboard of his concert piano; and, occasionally, he runs the $25,000 land cruiser that is the family home seven months of the year.

Neal is half of the piano team of "Nelson and Neal." The other half is his wife, Australian-born Allison Nelson, 31.

Their self-designed land cruiser is as compact as the inside of a submarine. It has to be. For they take their three children and two concert grand pianos wherever they go.

The Neals met as students at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. Since their marriage on New Year's Day in 1949, they have traveled more than a quarter of a million miles, giving concerts in the United States, and Canada.

"My children were very inconvenient children," Allison says. "They all were born during the concert season." The children are John, 4, Kathie, 2, and Allison, 10 months.

The Neals are on the road from October through April. During the summers they live in an antebellum home in Paris, Tenn.

"We play so many one-night stands that my friends in Paris get the idea we can't hold a job," Neal says.

When the family is on the road, Allison still finds time to cook about half of the meals in the land

Despite travel, Harry has just become the author of a book, "Wave As You Pass," describing his younger days in Tennessee, his marriage to Allison and the trials of family life on the road.

Besides playing, driving and writing, Neal has one other interest—listening to rock 'n' roll. "I like it," he says, "and, besides, it's driving people back to the classics."

On a concert night, the Neals are on an exact schedule. Supper is at 5:45 p.m. Then Allison washes the dishes and Harry prepares the children for bed. That's over about 6:30. The Neals take a 30-minute nap themselves and dress at 7:40. Concert time is usually 8:15.

Belgium Accepts U.S. Theatre Gift

BRUSSELS (AP)—Belgium today accepted as a gift the circular 1,500-seat theatre erected by the United States at the Brussels World Fair.

The United States also offered to make a present of its main exhibit building but a Belgian government spokesman said this was being turned down because it would cost too much to convert it to a permanent fixture. It will be demolished.

Belgium will keep, along with the theater, the esplanade in front of the U.S. Pavilion, including the egg-shaped pool and its fountains and the young apple trees planted around it.

BIG SPRING'S CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Dedication ceremonies to be held this afternoon

OBSERVANCE TODAY

Nazarene Church To Mark 30th Year In Big Spring

While the Church of the Nazarene is observing her golden anniversary as a denomination this year, the local church today will have special services observing 30 years of service and progress in Big Spring.

The only surviving charter member of the local church, Mrs. B. Y. Dixon, 907 Runnels, will tell of the early days of the church during the opening devotional period of the Sunday School. A record reading attendance of over 200 is expected.

The church was organized in Big Spring April 15, 1928, in the district courtroom at the close of a revival meeting conducted by Rev. I. B. Spurlin and Rev. C. C. Montandon. There were 12 charter members. Services were held regularly at the courthouse until property was purchased in the spring of 1930 at 500 Young St.

In the fall of 1937 property was purchased at 4th and Austin, where a modest frame chapel was built in 1938. This building was remodeled and enlarged in 1950.

Pastors who have served include L. P. Morris, W. P. Phillips, J. P. Ingle, R. T. Smith, Thomas Ahern, James A. Gray, J. A. Ludlam, S. E. Tate, Robert Jones, J. F. Simmons, Ernest Orton, Ivy Bohannon, W. R. McClure, Henry Thomas, Lewis Patterson, Womack Stroman, Sidney Knox, L. V. Reazin, and Lawrence Gholson. Under the leadership of Rev.

Lawrence Gholson property was purchased at 14th and Lancaster and the present church building of brick and block masonry construction was completed in August, 1957. The three-bedroom, brick veneer parsonage was completed in May, 1958.

The main dedication service will be at 2:30 p.m. at the church, where Dr. Orville Jenkins, district superintendent from Lubbock, will be the principal speaker. Others on the program include G. W. Dabney, major; Dr. P. D. O'Brien, president of the ministerial association, Rev. Gholson and Rev. W. M. Dorough, pastor. This service will be preceded by an old-fashioned "basket dinner-on-the-ground" from 12:15 to 1:15 p.m. There will be "open house" at the new parsonage, 1404 Lancaster, from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m. Rev. Gholson will be the special speaker for both the morning and evening regular services.

The present pastor, Rev. W. M. Dorough, moved to Big Spring June 23, 1958. He is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College; was ordained in 1946, and has served as pastor for the past 13 years, the last six of which were spent with the San Jacinto Church in Amarillo.

Today there are ninety-five members with an average Sunday School attendance of 140. During the past full church year, a total of $17,068 was raised for all purposes by a membership of 85. This is a per capita giving of $208.00. The combined church and parsonage property is valued today at $50,000.

"We're not trying just to hang on with the President," he said. "I think we're growing—not as fast as I want us to but certainly faster than the Democrats want us to."

'Open House' Slated At VA Institutions

"Open house" will be observed from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday at the local VA Hospital. Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, manager, has announced.

The program is being scheduled to acquaint the public, particularly veterans, their friends and families, with the manner in which the VA provides medical care for disabled men, Dr. Friedlander said.

Guides will be on hand during the open house period to escort visitors through the hospital.

The program was scheduled after Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of Veterans Affairs, proclaimed Nov. 10 as VA Open House Day, as the Veterans Administration wishes to present public evidence of its faithfulness to public trust," said Whittier.

"Organized by law to promote the well-being of veterans everywhere, the Veterans Administration wishes to present public evidence of its faithfulness to public trust," said Whittier.

Open house also will be observed by the VA regional offices in Lubbock Monday, said Ellis Neves, veterans service officer assigned to the local hospital. The Lubbock program will last from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

At the local hospital, guests will see the admission section where patients are examined to determine need for hospitalization, see how the registrar's division checks eligibility, and inspect the surgical department and the supporting services for both treatment and general care of the veteran while he is a patient, Dr. Friedlander said.

Work of the hundreds of volunteers who give thousands of hours of time annually to assisting hospitalized veterans also will be demonstrated.
