

Somebody's Christmas Present

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker eyes some of the toys which have already been turned in to the fire department for repair and distribution at Christmas to underprivileged children. Any type or any amount of toys will be accepted by the firemen.

Firemen Starting Yule Toy Project

From now until Christmas, the fire department hopes it will have plenty of work. Not the fire-fighting kind, but the toy-repairing variety. Fire Chief Crocker today made his first plea of the season for toys—both new and used—which can be collected and distributed to underprivileged children the day before Christmas. The fire department annually repairs the toys and begins the work about the middle of November. However, the past few years, people were late about bringing in their old toys, and Crocker said that this had thrown a heavy load of work on the firemen at the last minute. As a result, Crocker urged people to bring in the toys as early as possible.

IRBMs Not Dead Yet, Tests Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another postponement of an Atlas ICBM test firing Saturday underscored this fact: transoceanic rockets aren't ready yet to supplant intermediate range ballistic missiles like those scheduled to go to European bases. At Cape Canaveral, Fla., an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile test firing was postponed for the second time in three days because of technical difficulties. This came after Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy told a news conference here Thursday that "the further you go down the road toward an operational capability of the ICBM, the less interesting it is for us to deploy additional ones of the IRBM's, and we are closer to the time of operation capability of the Atlas." McElroy's statement was interpreted generally to mean that the time is coming when the United States will rely on its U. S.-based 5,000-mile range ICBM missiles and eventually drop the present program of installing 1,500-mile range ICBM's around the European periphery of the Soviet Union. It also was interpreted by some as meaning that a broadscale, wholesale revision of basic U. S. military strategy is in the offing.

Showmanship Prizes Given At Forsan Livestock Show

FORSAN — Forsan 4-H Club's third annual Achievement Day show on Saturday was described by its sponsors as the most successful in the history of the event. Sixteen 4-H club members—four girls and 12 boys—participated. Lambs were shown and the awards made were strictly on showmanship and not on the animals employed. Top winner in the girls' division was Susan Elrod. Older boys championship went to Tommy Gilmore. Younger boy's title was taken by Danny Wash. Judges were Ewing Fowler McIntyre, Sterling City; M. H. Boatler, Big Spring, and Ellis Iden, Vealmoor. Awards were made to all who placed.

Quimby, Greene At CCMAWT Meet

Bill Quimby, manager, and J. H. Greene, former manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, are attending the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Assn. of West Texas in Levelland this weekend. The meeting got under way with social activities Friday evening. Business sessions started Saturday and will be concluded today with the election of officers and the selection of a meeting place for 1959. Quimby was attendance chairman for the gathering and set new records for registration.

City Manager List To Be Pared Again

The City Commission will meet Monday afternoon for a special session, and when the meeting breaks up, the list of applicants for the city manager's job will probably be whittled to four or five.

Mayor G. W. Dabney said Saturday he planned to call the meeting for 5:15 p.m. Monday for the sole purpose of cutting the list of applicants for the management. At present, the city has about a dozen names on the list. All others have either asked that they not be considered further or have been rejected by the commission.

The city has asked for the list of unsuccessful candidates for the job at Midland and that list will be checked if it arrives by Monday. Otherwise, the mayor said he would be in favor of not considering the men on that list. Among the dozen men still being considered are several from out of state.

3 Men Missing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixty mile-an-hour winds lashed the southern California coast Saturday, churning up 12- to 20-foot swells that sank three small vessels. Three men are missing.

Thugs Slug, Rob Bracero

Charles Salinez, a Mexican national, is in Big Spring Hospital recovering from a head injury inflicted Friday night by five young Mexicans who slugged the man and robbed him of $90, according to Miller Harris, sheriff.

Harris said that Salinez reported that he had been in a car with the five men, who ranged in age from 19 to 21. They were driving an old model car, the man said. Four or five miles west of town, he reported, he was slugged over the back of the head. When he regained consciousness, he discovered he had been robbed of $90. He made his way part of the distance back to town. He was found and brought to town by Jack Gilbert. Sheriff Harris said that search for the five assailants is under way.

Check showed that it had been stolen early this week in Kerrville. Kerrville authorities have been notified and are coming after the car. No one recalled the men or man who parked and abandoned the car.

Stolen Automobile Is Abandoned Here

Sheriff Miller Harris said Saturday that his office has recovered a 1955 Chevrolet stolen early this week in Kerrville. He said that residents on the Lamesa Highway reported Saturday afternoon that a car had been left parked on the roadside for the past three days. Officers found the car locked. There was no evidence of any damage to the vehicle.

Traffic Record

DALLAS (AP)—Traffic on the Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike set a record in October with an average of 18,011 vehicles a day.

97 Cases Of Flu Reported

One more case of influenza was diagnosed last week than the previous week, according to the communicable disease report from the city-county health unit.

The report taken Friday showed 97 cases of the "flu" as compared with 96 for the week ending Nov. 7. Second numberwise on the report was tonsillitis with 85 cases. Thirty persons had diarrhea and 25 cases of upper respiratory trouble were noted.

Six each had gonorrhea and strep-throat, and three persons had Vincent's disease. Two cases of syphilis and pneumonia and one of hepatitis completed the report.

Big Crowd Of Coahoma Exes At Homecoming

COAHOMA—Former students of Coahoma High School flocked back Friday night for their first homecoming in gratifying numbers.

Between 350 and 400 people crowded into the gymnasium at the height of the homecoming party following the football game in which Coahoma edged Stanton, 14-8.

At the conclusion, an ex-students council was organized with Mrs. Troy Roberts as president; Mrs. Elvon DeVaney as vice president; Mrs. Ennis Ray Chapman as secretary; Connie Mack Morrison as treasurer; and Mrs. C. H. DeVaney as reporter.

To Mrs. Wilma Williams Walker, of Los Angeles, class of 1905, went the distinction of having come the greatest distance to the homecoming. She had been visiting her brother, Willie Williams, in Colorado City and came over with him.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hale both are Coahoma graduates as are the daughter, Mrs. C. H. DeVaney, and her husband. In turn, the DeVaney's children are graduates or students in Coahoma High, and they have a grandchild who may be entering the school in about three years.

There were ex-students back from Odessa, Big Spring, Midland, Colorado City, Lamesa, Snyder, San Angelo, Brownfield, Garden City, Lubbock, Lenorah, Sterling City, Seminole and Cushing, Okla. Several Coahoma students now in college were home from Texas Tech, Sul Ross, McMurry and Howard County Junior Colleges.

During the half time festivities at the football game, Pauline Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gray, was crowned football queen. Sue Alice Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beard, was crowned hand sweetheart.

At the reception members of various classes were recognized by Fred Salling, high school principal. There were pictures and school annuals on display back to 1927, and Mrs. Lowell Baird and Mrs. C. H. DeVaney had year-books they had made personally.

Post Office Pamphlet No. 2 is now available at the Big Spring post office and E. C. Boatler, postmaster, suggests it will be informative reading for all folk who plan to send Christmas mail and packages.

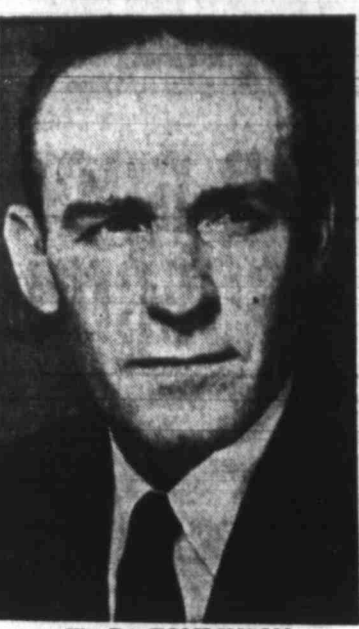

It details in simple language how packages which are to be mailed should be prepared and wrapped. Boatler pointed out that Christmas is nearer at hand than most people seem to realize. It is anticipated that an all-time record volume of Christmas mail will hit the post offices of the nation this year. Therefore, the issue of prompt mailing at an early date is more important than ever before.

The time is at hand, Boatler said, to begin stocking up on sturdy cartons, wrapping paper, strong twine and all of the other essentials to make Christmas packages safe and proper for dispatching by mail.

He also recommends that each person check over his Christmas card list with care to ascertain that all addresses are correct. The time is at hand, too, he says, for stocking up on stamps needed—this may save a lot of waiting at a later date when the rush is under way.

Mail all packages which must go great distances as quickly as possible, he urges, in order that they will have ample time to reach their destination ahead of the holiday season.

Pack 137 Leaders' Council Is Planned. Leaders of Cub Pack No. 137, sponsored by Washington Place School P-T-A, have fixed Dec. 1 as the date for a leaders' council. The regular pack meetings will be held on Dec. 8 at the school.

Texas Motel Business In Midst Of Boom

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said Saturday the motel business in Texas is booming. The state now ranks third only to California and Florida in the total units.

The dollar value of new tourist court-construction has doubled in two years. Estimates of the number of motels in Texas runs as high as 3,600.

Industry growth is transforming the character of the average motel's competition.

"Less and less does the operator worry about his old rival, the hotel; the distinction between hotel and motel is increasingly blurred and where the distinction is clear, motel success depends much more significantly upon other motel competitors," the report said.

Until a few years ago most motels were operated by a man and wife team who managed "to keep about 20 rental units 62 percent occupied and earning a net income of less than $3,000 from 365 days of almost 24-hour duty."

Now large, luxurious type motels are being built in profusion and the industry is at last attracting large investors and encouraging the growth of chains, the bureau said. The average new rental unit requires an outlay of about $6,500 to provide a private tub and shower, wall-to-wall carpeting, appealing furniture, a telephone, a television set and air conditioning.

Many have such additional facilities as a restaurant, swimming pool, garage, laundry and travel reservation service.

In the 30s, a tourist cabin represented an investment of perhaps $100 in a clapboard shelter and secondhand furniture.

Since 1920 there has been an increase of about 550 per cent in the number of autos on the road. By 1975 the number will be at least 35 per cent greater than at present.

Capt. M. E. Carter Visits At WAFB

Capt. Murray E. Carter visited friends at Webb AFB Friday on his way to Wheelus AFB in Tripoli, North Africa. Capt. Carter who served as Webb's operations and training officer, left here several months ago for an intelligence officers' course at March AFB, Calif.

Capt. Carter, in addition to his other duties, is a rated jet pilot, having completed cadet training in 1951. He then served in the Far East where he flew 102 combat missions.

Born in Brownwood and having spent four years at Webb AFB, the captain hopes to return to his native state on completion of his tour in North Africa.

Coffman Roofers And Cosden Put New Roof On 'Playhouse'

The Prairie Playhouse, the Big Spring Civic Theatre's new home in City Park, has the beginning of a much needed face lifting in the form of a new roof.

Coffman Roofers had a crew on top of the building early Friday morning. The men had most of the old roof removed by 10 o'clock, and were finished by noon Saturday.

The board of governors had voted to spend most of the last $300 in the treasury to have the roof fixed. The roof was in such bad shape that it would have taken much more than that to repair it, had not the roofers donated their profit and Cosden Petroleum Corp. the 18 cartons of roofing asphalt.

The part of the roof being repaired by Coffman Roofers includes only the flat portion of the play house at the front of the building. Theatre members will repair the gabled portion of the roof themselves.

This section consists of tin shingles, still in good shape, over which someone in the past had tacked tarpaper shingles. The shingles soon blew away, leaving the tin with nail holes. These metal shingles will be brushed and painted and the nail holes filled with calking compound. This being a somewhat tedious process, it would be prohibitively expensive to hire done.

Dewey Magee, in charge of the building project for the group, wants to paint the metal shingles silver to reflect the sun's rays in summer. Magee has just returned from the Southwest Theatre Conference in Amarillo where he obtained much valuable free advice from James Miller, who designed Midland's new Civic Theatre, as well as the new Civic Theatre in Waco.

Miller is an architect, and probably foremost in modern theatrical design in the South. Work building with Magee and Mary Archer. With his suggestions, plus the assistance of electrical and building engineers from Cosden, and with Miller's advice, theatre members now feel they are ready to begin work on the auditorium.

M. Sgt. Howard A. Brown Jr. has almost completed a scale model of the theatre building, complete with inserts showing the different arrangements possible for the auditorium and seating space. Cosden officials, who have always shown marked interest in the Civic Theatre's activities, have asked to see Brown's model upon completion.

It is doubtful if the building will be ready for the next scheduled play which is to be "Angel Street," or more familiarly "Gaslight."

Decision Is Due On 'Y' Building

Directors of the YMCA will hold an important meeting at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday. The board will be asked to decide upon a proposal for financing the new YMCA building, said R. H. Weaver, president. Most of the cost of the proposed plant has been subscribed as the result of a capital funds campaign earlier in the year, but interim financing will be necessary if construction is to be undertaken next year.

Reports are expected also from the annual dinner committee, said Weaver, and it may be that a speaker for the annual meeting will be announced. Several other important matters are on the agenda, he added.

Quick Response

LAMESA — The mail brought $105 to the Dawson County Tuberculosis Assn. in the first day of returns for the current Christmas Seal sales campaign. Hal Fees, chairman, reported Saturday. Goal of the association this year is $3,000.

Case Of Woman Sheriff Filled With Paradox

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP)—Mary Harris has been told she is the only woman ever elected a sheriff in Texas. If that be true, she begins her term in circumstances which seem paradoxical.

She is the second woman to serve as sheriff of Gaines County; she succeeds herself in office, and she will employ the only other woman who has held the post.

Grief-stricken by the unexpected death of her husband, V. A. Harris, a little more than two weeks ago, Mrs. Harris faces the prospect of adjusting herself to an entirely new way of life.

Before his death, her husband had been a peace officer 10 years. He served six years as a deputy sheriff in Seagraves before his election as Gaines County sheriff four years ago. He served one two-year term as sheriff, and had completed two years of a four-year term when he was stricken by a heart attack.

Mrs. Harris has two married daughters, Mrs. Gary Chancellor of Seminole, and Mrs. Doug Johnson of Corpus Christi; and two children at home, Georgia, 15, and David, 12. She has a grandson five months old.

"I thought the children and I should have what was rightfully his," Mrs. Harris says in explaining why she agreed to succeed her husband in office, first as an appointee, and then as an electee.

"I am going to try to carry on the work of the office as it has been carried on in the past four years. I'll help out in the office all I can, but I am going to depend on my deputies, who are acquainted with law enforcement work, to do the crime investigation," she said.

She has three radio operators. One is Mrs. Mantie McReynolds, widow of Sheriff R. L. McReynolds, who was killed five years ago in an auto accident. She was appointed to succeed to her husband's term.

"Although she has been close to law enforcement work for 10 years, Mrs. Harris has concerned herself with it very little.

She has been a typical housewife, with a reputation for being an excellent cook, and for keeping her house clean and orderly; a typical mother, concerned with the training and care of her children; even a typical grandmother, journeying to Corpus Christi five months ago for the birth of her grandchild.

The new sheriff knows nothing about firearms, and probably will not learn. "I've never fired a gun more than a few times when my husband took me and the children on outings and we shot at tin cans," she explains.

She intends to continue doing her own housework and cooking, with the help of her children, especially her teen-aged daughter who, she says, is already a fine housekeeper and cook.

The ceremonies start at 7:30 p.m.

Bull Pump Is Proof Of U.S. Genius In Tiny Indian Village

By WATSON SIMS KHANPUR, India (AP) — In a wheatfield outside the mud-brick huts of this little Indian village stands a model of American ingenuity. It is a sleek combination pump-generator that powers the village's first electric lights and pulls water through its first pipes. But the operation of the pump itself would stun most Americans into open-mouthed silence. It is powered by bullocks—the humped cattle of India—who amble placidly round and round as bullocks have been doing on water wheels for ages. This strange combination of old and new was the idea of Leigh Stevens of Yemassee, S.C., who realized that the bullock was the only practical, cheap source of power in India. One of America's largest electrical manufacturers designed the pump-generator, and the Ford Foundation sponsored the project. The Americans believe the pump-generator may revolutionize the village. Since moving in with truckloads of equipment last March, they have demonstrated devices to the 1,000 residents of Khanpur, 18 miles from New Delhi, had never seen before. In a field which had been dominated by an ancient Persian wheel and a "charis" well which scooped up water in goatskins, a "positive rotary displacement pump" belches more than 100 gallons of water per minute. Fifteen shiny steel lamp posts have risen above Khanpur's dirt streets, and a socket for a single 25-watt light bulb has been installed in each of the village's 135 houses. Pipes have been laid and self-closing faucets placed in houses which heretofore had known only the pail. On the outskirts, a new type of kiln is turning out bricks three times harder than the village had produced before. "Truly a windfall," says the hereditary village headman, Chaudhri Makan Singh. "But we could never afford this by ourselves. "Who will buy pipes when there are women to bring water?" asks a herdsman. "Of what use is the light bulb to one that does not read?" But if the villagers aren't impressed, the Indian government is. Prime Minister Nehru, at the dedication of the pump-generator in July said: "It could mean a revolution in the countryside." The Americans shrug off the villagers' resistance to change. "How many Americans were impressed when Ford was building the Model T?" retorts Kenneth Evans, a ceramics engineer from Hutchinson, Kan., he is acting as over-all boss of the Khanpur improvement project. Americans figure the pump-generator now in use cost about $5,000. They believe mass production could cut the price to $3,000. But officials have not released the total sum spent at Khanpur. "The cost should also be considered, lest it run into a prohibitive figure as incongruous as an elephant at a poor man's house," one newspaper columnist complained. "You can't expect a villager to understand that a prototype — whether it's a pump-generator or a nuclear reactor — may cost a thousand times more than a production model." And if the villagers can't understand it, the Indian government can. The government has informed Parliament that a report is expected soon and the pump-generators will probably be tried in 15 more villages.

Leading Students Tell How To Succeed In Getting Education

By BOBBY HORTON More than half a dozen outstanding sophomore students at Howard County Junior College were questioned recently concerning four points which normally affect a high school student planning to enter college, and the collegian's answers give encouragement to graduates preparing to attend a higher institution. Question—Do you think the financial problems of going to college are as hard as some people consider? ANITA GARDNER, who made the Dean's List and Who's Who roll last term, assistant editor for the Jayhawk yearbook, president of Phi Theta Kappa, and member of Student Council: "I haven't had any real financial problems. I think financial problems are due often to the social demands of the school. If one is really interested in an education, there are many channels of aid open to him." JESSE McELREATH, president of the Student Council and Baptist Student Union: "I believe anyone could go to college if he wanted to bad enough. The junior college fee is very reasonable. I have a scholarship (basketball) but I also work during my time off." JERRY RICHARDSON puts it a different way: "The financial problems are definitely harder than the problems of learning. I have a job with the Texas Highway Dept. at Cosden Refinery, and have paid all my college expenses for these two years with the exception of one semester's tuition." Jerry is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the organization for outstanding scholastic students, and is high-ranking in government, foreign languages and literature. Question—What do you believe is the biggest change a high school student entering college must undergo? PEGGY FRANCIS, who works at Elmo Wasson's Men's Store to help out on the college bill: "Study habits usually need to be rearranged, because in college, how much you learn depends upon you. A freshman realizes his abilities in college." Peggy's twin sister, PATTI FRANCIS, adds: "The cooperation with other students is important in the change. Learn to accept the little society groups and know what to get into and what to stay out of." Patti has had a scholarship to help her through school, and employment at KBST radio station has given her a boost in the last year. VIRON HARTIN, a Who's Who personality last year, leans toward making a decision one way or the other, and says: "The change is for him to realize that he must now, if he hasn't already, decide on his life's profession." Question—Do you think college instructors have a more impersonal approach in their teaching than high school teachers, and do you think this is more effective or not? DENISE MEADOR, winner of American Legion award last year, Who's Who and Summa Cum Laude personality, and recipient of a City Council P-TA scholarship last year: "I feel that college professors are more personal than high school teachers because they are teaching only students who want to learn. I never held a conference with a teacher during my high school days, but I have often consulted with my college instructors. I found that I really was better acquainted with the assigned work because of those conferences." McElreath thinks that college profs are more impersonal, and more effective because "this makes the student completely independent. . . he has to think for himself and discipline himself to get lessons rather than run around at night." Peggy agrees: "This varies with instructors," she says, "but on the average I think they are more impersonal. An impersonal approach makes the student realize that he's on a higher level, and by this he isn't babied into getting assignments." Question — What advice would you give to a high school graduate about to enter college? HARTIN: "That the president on down to all instructors are willing to assist in any way they can. . . I've found this to be very true in my case." MEADOR: "I believe every student should set his goal and plan his work around it. Don't undertake too much work, but do a moderate amount of work well." PEGGY FRANCIS: "Arrange a schedule of everything . . . activity, study, recreation. Also, accept other people and their opinions. Learn to be broadminded and to think for yourself." PATTI FRANCIS: "Realize you are no longer in high school and face your college problems alone." GARDNER: "Cultivate a desire to learn or you will find it very difficult to discipline yourself to sufficient study." McELREATH: "Discipline yourself to study on your own and take an active interest in each of your subjects." RICHARDSON: "There are just two things for success in any type of education—self discipline and hard work. Any student who desires any kind of education needs these two prerequisites."

Burglars Raid Morton Residence

Burglars broke into the home of Mrs. Arlye Morton, Hilltop Road, sometime between 4 and 4:30 p.m. Friday, she reported to the sheriff's office. The burglars gained entrance by taking a screen off an east window. She had gone to get her children at school. The loot taken included an 8 mm. Keystone movie camera, $1.30 in pennies out of a savings bank and $6 out of a second bank. Jack Hackney, deputy, is investigating the burglary.

'Gun Moll' Is Sought Here

A woman "gun moll" who drives a 1953 or 1954 Buick, was being sought by the sheriff's office today as result of a complaint by Francisco Ontiveros, 711 NW 8th, that he had been robbed of $40. Sheriff's deputies said that Ontiveros related that he had been picked up by the woman, whom he described as 25 to 30 years old, in front of the Greyhound bus station. They drove eight miles west on U. S. 80, he said. At that point she drew a pistol, forced him to surrender his $40 and ordered him out of the car. He had to walk back to town, he reported.

New Savings Stamp On Sale

New 25-cent United States Savings Stamps are to be placed on sale in the Big Spring post office on Nov. 18. The stamps will now come in a new gift book form in $2.50 and $5 denominations. They are also available in sheets. The stamps are in three colors whereas the old issue was one color, green. The stamps are of the same general design as the old—a reproduction of the famous "minute man" monument centering the issue. The only addition is the American flag in color in the background. Boatler said that the post office feels that the $2.50 and $5 books of the stamps will be popular as Christmas gifts. The $2.50 book contains ten 25 cent stamps and the $5 book 20 stamps. There is no extra charge for the book. The savings stamps bear no interest return. However when $18.75 is accumulated in the stamps, they can be exchanged for U. S. savings bonds. These bear interest. The savings stamps come in additional values of 50 cents, $1 and $5. The higher denominations are still in their old colors — blue, grey and brown respectively. Meantime, of course, the old green stamps which may have been purchased are still as valid as ever, Boatler said. "They're just as good and worth just as much as the day you bought them," he said. Forecast Up AUSTIN (AP)—Fall crop vegetables production in Texas was forecast Saturday at 12 per cent above last year. Farm Leader Dies LEAGUE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Waters S. Davis Jr., nationally recognized agricultural leader, died of a heart attack here Saturday after an illness of several months.

VANISHING AMERICAN?

For the sake of your future and the future of your country, let's fervently hope not! But the sad fact is that too many gifted teachers are leaving our colleges for better paying positions. The cause is fundamental. They simply cannot make ends meet on their present low salaries. And, much as they love their work, they are forced to seek jobs in other fields. In the face of this discouraging trend, more classrooms keep getting more crowded. And by 1967, college applications are expected to double. It's time to put a stop to this nonsense. Won't you help? Help the college of your choice now. The returns will be greater than you think. If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York. Jayhawk Queens To Attend Basketball Clinic In Odessa

By BOBBY HORTON
Arah Phillips' Jayhawk Queens, Howard County Junior College's girls basketball team, will go to Odessa Junior College tomorrow to participate in the Women's Basketball Clinic, featuring the Flying Queens of Wayland Baptist College.

The clinic will be hosting numerous area high school girls teams and several college groups, who will listen and watch demonstrations by Harley Redin, coach of the Queens, several times winners of the National AAU women's basketball crown.

The HCJC lasses, said Miss Phillips, may have opportunity to scrimmage with the renowned Queens, and before departing will view an exhibition game between Rankin and Fort Worth.

Leaving at 7:30 a.m. Monday and returning about 6 p.m. the same day will be Wanda Armstrong, Mary Ruth Asbill, Diane Tidwell, Peggy Bryant, Peggy Hammit, Joan Howard, Patsy Huggins, Shirley Nowlin, Nedeline Pitcock, Claudean Pyle, Winona Yarbrough, Kay Burroughs, Peggy and Patty Francis, and Ritchie Belle Lawrence.

The date for HCJC's first game is indefinite, but is likely to be in the first two weeks of December.

"They forget that they leave muddy tracks," says Registrar B. M. Keese, words which pretty well sum up the situation when a boy with a bad college record seeks recommendation for a job.

Keese receives several requests per month for information about individuals who have attended HCJC recently, or as far back as five years. The toughest of tasks is returning a letter marked "not recommended".

It's too bad a fellow cannot realize, mused Keese, that a bill at the college, trouble in attendance in class, bad checks around town, and so forth, are marks against him.

"But it happens," he said. "Only a few days ago a company was asking about a boy who had come for employment, listing Howard County as where he went to college. Because he had bad records and because he had never bothered to return to clear those marks against him, we had no choice but not to recommend him."

"In all probability, the young fellow never knew he wasn't accepted." But if he had any common sense, he should understand. After so long I suppose he just forgot he had left muddy tracks, and never bothered to go back to clear them."

Keese, incidentally, will leave for Fort Worth on Tuesday to attend the Registrar's Convention which is held annually and draws some 200 people from colleges, including 31 junior colleges.

Harvest Carnival Is Highlight Of Big Week Of Activities

By PAT ROGERS
Last night around 6 o'clock, BSHS came alive as everyone began coming in for the Harvest Carnival. They only had two and a half hours to visit the French cafe, the cake walk, the bingo game, the spook house, the senior side show, or any of the other attractions. At 8:30, the carnival festivities were climaxed with the harvest ball and the crowning of the queen.

Students have been enjoying the luxury of getting out of school every afternoon at 3 o'clock while teachers are working on an evaluation of BSHS.

At the pre-legislative gathering of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members in Lubbock, last week Buddy Barnes was nominated for governor from this region. He, along with representatives from each club, will attend Youth and Government at Austin in December. Peggy Isaacs was elected to serve as senator from the senior Tri-Hi-Y. Representatives from each club will be elected Monday night.

If you were at the San Angelo game Friday night, you might have noticed tears in the eyes of seniors who realized, while the school song was being played, that it was the last football game they would witness as a student of BSHS.

Mary Oliphant played hostess to a kitchen shower honoring the former Betsy Pool Friday night. About nine guests attended.

Bill Parsons spoke to the Kiwanis Club at their meeting Thursday on the subject concerning education. Bill is a senior in BSHS. The student council met Tuesday afternoon. They discussed the homecoming and plans for the Harvest Carnival. Committees were set up to handle the various activities which will take place during the month of December.

Tickets to the traditional Christmas formal will go on sale next week. The dance is on Nov. 19. There will be an orchestra; and the best all-around, class favorites, and school beauty will be presented. The tickets are $1.50. Every one is urged to buy his ticket ahead of time.

Senior pep squad girls are going to receive letter jackets. The girls have to pay for them themselves, but they can raise money and pay some of the cost.

The Shorthand Club voted Wednesday to buy pins symbolizing their membership in the club. The girls are finally catching on to that "hen-scratching" and consider themselves to be true-hearted members of the club.

An impressive candle-lighting service was the formal installation of the new National Honor Society members Thursday night. A reception followed the installation.

Junior Historians met Wednesday night. They discussed their booth they were to have in the Harvest Carnival.

Even though they've past that age, BSHS'ers looked forward to seeing the hard-fought game between the Goliad and Runnels junior highs. Their rivalry had proved an interesting factor to high school students.

Once again BSHS will conduct the Can Food Drive for the needy. The drive will begin this week, and the class obtaining the highest percentage of participation will receive a coke party. The student council will provide a chicken for each box of food to be given to the needy.

The traditional Christmas story usually presented in the form of a play, will be given in a different manner. This year there will be a movie. The Bible characters will be represented by members of the three Bible classes. They are working on the filming now.

Inter-School Relations Topic Of Council Meeting

By PAT ARMSTRONG
The Goliad Student Council and sponsor, Bernard Rains, met with Runnels Student Council Tuesday morning at Runnels. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss relations between the two schools, school spirit, and sportsmanship. Refreshments of cookies and cokes were served to the group.

The Goliad Tri-Hi-Y met Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened by the president, Karon Koger, and the devotional was led by Donna Percy. A trip was made by the group to Nat Shick home.

Wednesday night the Goliad Students enjoyed an exciting and enthusiastic bonfire. The bonfire was held south of the school building at 7:15 o'clock.

Thursday was Color Day at Goliad and many of the students participated by wearing something black and white to signify the school's colors.

A sock hop was scheduled in the Goliad gym for Thursday at noon hour. However, it was decided by Student Council members (and justly so) that the majority of our students need further training in the art of sock hopping.

The last and most enthusiastic pep rally of the season was held fifth and sixth periods in the gym on Thursday. A group of girls decorated the gym with a "Yea Goliad" poster for the occasion.

Thursday morning the home-making classes had a meeting in the home-making department to discuss the date for their banquet.

Gene Powell, college biology instructor, is sponsor of the group, which contains membership in the Texas State Teachers' Assn., Texas Student National Education Assn.

Approximately 20 of Powell's education and psychology students were carried by bus to make a tour of the State Hospital on Friday.

Desmond Powell, social worker at the hospital, directed the educational visit among the patients.

Spence Invited To Water Board Meet

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, has been called to a state water meeting in Austin on Nov. 26.

McDonald D. Weinert, chief engineer for the state water board, said that the meeting was being convoked for discussing procedures to be followed over the next several years in preparation of an overall state plan for water resources development. Spence will be expected to brief the board on plans for development on the part of the CRMWD.

Officers for the Student National Education Assn. are president Terral Becker, vice president Nelle Bartlett, secretary Betty Elmore, treasurer Evelyn Hardin and historian Wanda Anderson.

In their most recent meeting, the 28-member group held a discussion of the organization and purposes of the local NEA.

Gene Powell, college biology instructor, is sponsor of the group, which contains membership in the Texas State Teachers' Assn., Texas Student National Education Assn.

Unsigned Check Is Problem For Tax Collector

There's someone in Howard County who probably believes he had paid his county taxes and is probably wondering why he doesn't get his tax receipt.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax collector, has news for this individual. The news goes like this: "Your letter with enclosed check for $43.53 for your taxes has been received by this office. It arrived on Oct. 29.

"Our problem is that we do not know where your property is located.

"Worse than that, we don't even know your name.

"You see — you made out the check complete with one exception: you didn't sign your name. And since you didn't include a tax statement or the description of your property, we are unable to do much about your problem."

Residents on four newly developed blocks on Alabama Street in the Monticello Addition, who have placed house numbers and mail boxes on their residences, will begin receiving house mail delivery Monday.

C. E. Boatler, postmaster, said that a city route in the area is now being extended to include blocks 2100, 2200, 2300 and 2400 on Alabama in response to a petition for mail delivery. He said that 50 per cent of their residences have now complied with the postal requirement that house numbers and mail boxes be in place and that the service will start to these houses effective on Monday. As other residents in the area comply with the requirements, the services will be provided for these families.

It's Been Real Wet In Valley This Year

By B. F. KELLUM BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Any resident of the Lower Rio Grande Valley will tell you 1958 has been a wet year in his area. Few probably realize how wet it has really been.

If not one more drop of rain falls the rest of the year it will still be the wettest year in the Lower Valley in more than 70 years in some areas.

The Weather Bureau at Brownsville has recorded 45.21 inches of rain, highest total for a year since 1887 when 59.82 inches fell. The highest rainfall total on record at the Brownsville Bureau is 60.06 inches in 1886.

Official records for other Lower Valley cities were not available but forecasters said they also are having one of the wettest years in recent history in most cases. Edinburg has received an unofficial 30.80 this year, the most in one year since records were started in 1949. The McAllen water plant records show 34.62 inches. The records show 39.00 inches fell in 1941, the first year records were kept at the plant.

Some points actually had nearly as much rain in a 24 hour period this year as they did all of 1956. Edinburg reported only 6.44 inches in 1956. Elsa, near Edinburg, had a 6 inch rain in a 24 hour period in October.

October was the wettest for that month in Brownsville's history. The Weather Bureau recorded 17.12 inches during that month. The next highest October on record was in 1886 when 16.27 inches fell. The bureau recorded 10.25 inches last February.

Heavy rain on both sides of the Rio Grande plus steady releases from Falcon Reservoir sent the river rolling out of its banks and causing one of the worst floods in recent history from Falcon to the Gulf.

Once during the October flood, more than 10,000 persons were homeless on both sides of the stream and thousands of acres of rich farmland was under water.

The heavy rains and flooding river cost the Lower Valley an estimated 10 million dollars mostly because farmers were unable to get into the fields and plant.

The rains caused several firsts in the area. When water was released from the reservoir it was the first time this had ever happened other than for irrigation purposes.

The reservoir rose above the previous high storage record of 2,425,000 acre feet late in September and set new records daily until it reached nearly 3 1/2 million acre feet.

Nearly 3 million acre feet of water was released downstream in an effort to get the reservoir down to a safety storage. This is nearly a million more acre feet than the winter conservation storage for the reservoir.

When water flowed into the floodways on both sides of the river it was the first time this had occurred since 1946.

Escapee's Case Will Be First Called For Jury Trial Monday

Fred Markham, 20-year-old Californian, under six felony indictments in this county, conferred with his court appointed attorney, Carroll Smith, Saturday but apparently had reached no decision on what he plans to do when he goes on trial Monday morning in district court.

The young escaped convict from Chino (Calif.) Prison, who is charged with robbery by assault, two counts of attempted murder, two counts of burglary and one of attempted burglary, will probably have to answer the robbery charge first.

Gil Jones, district attorney, has said that he plans to go to bat with this case as the No. 1 matter when criminal jury trials open before Judge Charlie Sullivan on Monday at 10 a.m. Sixty prospective jurors have been summoned to serve the court.

Markham was involved in a frustrated jail break attempt, in which George Bogard, county jailer, and Theo Johnson, jail trustee, were beaten with home-made blackjacks. Markham and his two accomplices in the break attempt robbed Bogard of $269 and his keys. It is this charge that Jones proposes to prosecute first.

Markham was being held in the county jail at the time of the attempted jail break as climax to a bloody gun battle between himself and two city police officers who caught him on the roof of the Newsom Food Center. The two officers, Capt. W. E. Eubanks and Patrolman Marvin Blackwell, were wounded in the battle. They shot and wounded Markham after they had been felled by his gun.

Markham's two accomplices in the jail break attempt have pleaded guilty to robbery by assault charges and have been taken to the state penitentiary to serve 10 year prison terms. Other cases docketed for trial at this week's criminal jury sessions include Elias Villa, robbery by assault; M. L. Hodnett, worthless check, repeater; Bryan Raag, forgery by endorsement; Clarence L. Oldham, forgery; W. D. Robins, passing forged instrument; B. L. Pitcock, worthless check.

two indictments; and Moses Villa, burglary.

Two other cases, each alleging DWI second offense, have been tentatively placed on the docket but it was indicated these may not be called for trial this week. Defendants in these cases are Robert Watson and Charles Hollowell.

There is a possibility of some of the defendants in these cases deciding to change their present plea of not guilty to guilty, it was reported.

DPS Slates Strict Watch On Thanksgiving Traffic

Howard County Highway Patrol officers have been sternly instructed to lower the boom on all speeders and DWI motorists during the long Thanksgiving weekend holiday.

These are the specific offenders who are responsible for the majority of the accidents on the highways, according to Maj. Wilson E. Speir, commander of Region 4 of the Texas DPS.

He has just announced that special holiday traffic assignments will be in effect during the Thanksgiving weekend. The object is to hold down to the minimum the number of vehicle traffic accidents and facilitate movement of traffic over highways in the expected rush period.

In order to fully utilize all manpower and equipment of the DPS, all personnel of the License and Weight, the Motor Vehicle Inspection service and patrol officers will be on special traffic assignment.

All holiday leaves and vacations for DPS workers in these departments have been cancelled. All personnel will work during the peak hours of traffic. Radar will be pressed into use in efforts to control speed.

Lowly Porkers Smash Ponies

By KEITH FULLER FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Lowly Arkansas, six times beaten this season, upset Southern Methodist's high flying Mustangs, 13-6, here Saturday and throttled the efforts of leading passer, Don Meredith.

The Razorbacks moved to the ten where quarterback Jim Monroe passed to third string end Charlie Barnes in the end zone for the score. In the fourth period, Arkansas proved again its airtight defense was no fluke. Trailing 12-6, SMU opened all stops and Meredith tried again and again for a touchdown strike that had pulled previous games out of the fire. Even as the final gun sounded SMU had lined up without a huddle for one last pitch from the golden arm of their quarterback.

Boilermakers Kayo Northwestern, 23-6

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) —Purdue's powerfully balanced Boilermakers junked Northwestern's hopes for a lofty Big Ten finish by blasting the once smooth-working Wildcats 23-6 Saturday.

A crowd of 38,421 had hardly settled in its seats when Purdue recovered a Northwestern fumble on the first play from scrimmage and then counted on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Ross Fichtner to Tom Frankhauser to go ahead to stay.

The Boilermakers never missed their No. 1 fullback, injured Bob Jarrett, as Len Wilson, Tom Barnett, Jim Redinger and Jack Laraway functioned perfectly behind a line that wouldn't make any mistakes.

Two of Purdue's touchdowns resulted from recovered fumbles while the Boilermakers played the entire first half in Northwestern territory in running up a 21-0 halftime lead. Not until the third quarter was Northwestern able to move into Purdue territory, and that resulted from a 14-yard punt return by Ron Burton to the Boilermaker 49.

Northwestern's sophomore, Dick Thornton, simply couldn't get through Purdue's web-like defense. He attempted 14 passes, completed four, and had three of them intercepted.

Meanwhile, Fichtner, Bob Spoo and Bernie Allen displayed steady, if not brilliant, quarterbacking to keep the Boilermaker attack into high gear through most of the game even though Purdue failed to score anything more than two points on a safety in the second half.

Northwestern's only score came with eight seconds remaining when Chip Holcomb hit Ray Purdin with a 65-yard scoring pass. The victory was Purdue's sixth against one loss and one tie, and gave the Boilermakers a 3-1 record in the Big Ten. The loss was Northwestern's third in six conference games and made the Wildcat season record 5-3.

Buckeyes Carve 38-28 Scar On Iowa's Football Record IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes led by bounding Bob White and dashing Don Clark carved a 38-28 scar on Iowa's Big Ten football crown Saturday in a spectacular offensive duel.

Iowa, gunning for its first undefeated Big Ten season since 1922, matched Ohio touchdown for touchdown through three quarters but faded in the stretch under the pounding drives by White, a 210-pound fullback, and thrusts of his Buckeye mates.

The defeat also marked the first loss of the season for Iowa, No. 2 in the national AP poll, despite a 13-13 tie with Air Force Academy which had cast a slight blemish on an otherwise perfect record.

The deciding blow Saturday was struck through a grudging Iowa line as a heavy mist covered the playing field midway in the fourth period.

Snead Assumes Havana Lead With 212

HAVANA (AP) —Sam Snead blasted out of a deep fairway bunker and sank a 25-foot birdie putt on the finishing hole Saturday for a one-stroke lead over big George Bayer in the third round of the $45,000 Havana International Golf Tournament.

The spectacular pro from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., fired an even-par 70 over the Villa Real Golf Club course for a 54-hole total of 212 which sent him past the long hitting Bayer, former University of Washington football player, who led at the halfway point.

Bayer, fabulous hitter from San Gabriel, Calif., skied 19 strokes over his record six-under-par 64 of Friday for a total of 213. Playing in the same threesome with the two leaders, Doug Ford, former Masters champion from Yonkers, N.Y., also had a 74 for third place at 215.

Then came Bill Casper Jr. from Chula Vista, Calif., with 74 for 218, and Tony Lema, young pro from San Leandro, Calif., with 72 for 219.

Others among the early halfway leaders, including the promising professional Billy Maxwell, Tommy Jacobs and Jay Hebert, fell off the pace in a day of gusty winds and tricky playing conditions. The 7,009-yard par 70 course which stretches along the Florida Straits was more difficult than in any previous round. In addition, the pins were placed in awkward positions.

Only Snead, his booming drives frequently outdistancing those of the mighty Bayer, was able to match par.

Snyder Bees Lick Locals Slow to warm to the challenge, the Snyder B football team finally rose to the challenge and vanquished the Big Spring reserves, 36-0, in a game played here Saturday afternoon.

Bears wind up play against the San Angelo reserves there at 4 p.m. Thursday. Snyder has now won six of nine starts, two of which have come at the expense of Big Spring.

The Tiger reserves led by only 14-0 at the end of the first half and didn't break into the scoring column until late in the opening round. They did it then on a lateral-forward pass.

Big Spring penetrated to Snyder's 20 on a couple of occasions but lost the ball on downs on each occasion.

Bears who showed to advantage for Big Spring included Rinnie Canton, Wesley Phillips and Steve Blair.

Cayuses Set Up Game With Bucs SWEETWATER (SC)—Sweetwater's Mustangs blasted San Angelo Lake View here Friday night, 53-12, to take the District 3-AAAA football championship and set up a second-chance try with Breckenridge in the state grid playoffs.

Breckenridge defeated Sweetwater in an earlier decision, 34-20, at Breckenridge.

Four touchdowns were scored by all-state prospect, James Parker, and the Mustang fullback carried for 188 yards rushing, plus kicking five extra points.

Ravaging Lake View for three quick touchdowns, the Mustangs stalled before a spread formation in the second quarter and led by only 19-12 at the half. They came back in the third, however, to add 14 points and in the fourth piled on three more touchdowns to complete the runaway.

The Mustangs ground out 26 first downs; Lake View gained 10. The winners raced to 425 yards rushing, while the Chiefs managed 61. Lake View did connect on six of 14 passes for 92 yards, better than Sweetwater's one completion good for 13 yards.

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Showing chiding disrespect for any play aimed their way, the San Angelo Bobcats walked over Big Spring 21-0 in a District 2-AAA football game here Friday night.

The shutout, first the Longhorns have suffered this season, sentenced the Big Spring club to the conference dungeons for yet another year. Since they became members of the conference three years ago, the Steers haven't been able to break into the win column.

Playing without their great tailback, Wayne Fields—who wasn't even in uniform—the Longhorns made the feeblest kind of offensive effort. They gained a net of only 11 yards rushing and had but five passes to show for their efforts in aerial thrusts.

The Bobcats scored with 8:06 minutes to go in the opening period when James Collins boomed in from the five-yard line, at the end of a 44-yard drive.

The 6-0 score had to stand up until the third period, although San Angelo maneuvered as far as Big Spring's two before the Steers dug in to hold.

Big Spring's deepest penetration occurred in the first period, when Bill French intercepted a pass thrown by Lowry and almost got away down the east side line. He was finally arrested at the Bobcat 32. The Angelo line yielded only three yards in four plays thereafter and the Steers gave up the ball on the Angelo 29.

In the third period, San Angelo fumbled a punt and the Steers made a recovery on the Bobcat 33 but four plays later the Longhorns were still trying to penetrate the Angelo defenses at that point.

With Fields, who has been averaging more than 100 yards a game, the Steers might have won. Without him, it was rather a hopeless task.

Stout defensive play by several Big Spring boys, among them Chubby Moser, Roger Flowers, Tommy Whately and Benny McCarty, kept the score from being a runaway.

Score by quarters:
San Angelo 6 0 8 7—21

tra points on a pass from Bob Lowry.

The home club scored again a minute and 38 seconds deep in the fourth period when Lowry knifed through from the one at the end of a 67-yard drive.

This time David Alexander kicked the PAT.

San Angelo had a chance to tack another tally onto the board late in the game, bruising as far as Big Spring's two before the Steers dug in to hold.

LOOKING THEM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A man close to the situation insists Snyder is going to have a better football team in 1959 than it had this year. . . The Tigers, no doubt, will be tough but they'll have to find a replacement for quarterback Richard Mahan, the best boy I've seen at that position in half a dozen years. . . That's no small order. . . Mahan can quite probably write his own ticket in college. . . Coach Eddie Erdelatz of the Naval Academy has made inquiries about the grades of Wayne Fields, Big Spring's star tailback. . . Wayne is considered a B student. . . Knox Pitzer, the Big Spring lineman attending the University of Houston, has been handicapped by injuries this fall. . . Danny Birdwell, who accompanied Pitzer to the Houston school, has more than fulfilled all expectations there, according to reports. . . Paul Bryant's University of Alabama football squad is down to 31 men from an original turnout of 78, suggestive of the revolution he caused at Texas A&M after his arrival there. . . Tex Kassen, who made inquiries about the local coaching job two years ago, saw his Beaville team lose a 14-8 decision to Kingsville recently in a contest that probably decided the District 15-AAA championship. . . Kingsville is in the process of winning its first conference crown in 28 years. . . Polk Robison, the Texas Tech basketball mentor, wrote the foreword for "The Queens Ride High," a book written by Wayland College coach Hartley Lee Low Head, the Australian, says he's earned $138,000 in the 16 months he's been a tennis pro. . . Bill Talman, who plays the state's prosecutor in the Perry Mason TV series, won the Army's Western Pacific boxing championship in 1945. For the second straight year, Midland may fail to place a footballer on the All-District 2-AAA team. . . Byron Brown, Texas A&M's new basketball mentor, formerly played with Lon Morris College.

Kats Upset By Valley

WATER VALLEY (SC) — A touchdown scored in the final two seconds of play enabled the Water Valley Wildcats to upset Garden City, 12-8, in an important District 4 eight-man football battle here Friday.

The loss robbed the Bears of the chance to share the conference championship with Forsan and Merton.

A pass from Richard Torres to Rick Wright gave the Kats the winning score.

Water Valley had moved in front in the third quarter when Weldon Baker ran 65 yards to pay dirt on the first play from scrimmage.

Don Plagens tied the count later in the round on a four-yard plunge.

The loss was the second in a row for Marlin Dodds' team, which two weeks ago seemed well on its way to the conference title.

Volleyball Teams Split Two Games

The Local YMCA's two volleyball teams split with visiting Midland here last week, the first team winning two out of three games and the second team taking one of three.

The first team games were 15-13, 9-15 and 15-13. The second team lost 4-15, 15-11 and 12-15.

Playing site was the Runnels gymnasium.

The matches were a part of the volleyball program of business men, of which the Y has 22 in classes on Monday-Wednesday-Friday. Approximately 15 were on hand to participate in the matches.

Gary Cunningham is captain of the local teams.

Tornadoes Scramble Past Colorado City, 36 To 8

In the third quarter, Westmoreland scored again—this time from 30 yards out; the play followed a pass interception by Reeves. Westmoreland added two points thru center.

As the third quarter ended, Colorado City recovered a tornado fumble on the Lamesa 12 and was penalized by a brace of penalties. James Shoemaker rumbled over for Colorado City's first score. On a take-back play, Shoemaker skirted his right end to the two points.

Wiggins capped a 48-yard drive with a 34 yard run for another Lamesa score and Addison added two points.

Westmoreland fought his way over from the two for the final Tornado tally and Dick Crump's try at the line failed to score the two points; leaving the score at 36-8.

Sweetwater plays at Colorado City next week for the final conference game for Colorado City. Colorado City's conference record is 0-2-1.

loose a barrage to stagger his rival.

Tony couldn't floor the Chicago gatekeeper but he dealt his rival a sound punching the rest of the way to turn a close, lively fight into a solid victory. The scorecards showed: Referee Harry Kessler, 6-3-1, Judge Joe Agnelo, 7-3, Judge Nick Gamboli, 5-4-1, and AP, 7-3.

Bright New Day Dawning For Boxer Tony Anthony

NEW YORK (AP)—A bright new day dawned for Tony Anthony, fighter by trade and jazz buff by avocation.

Manager Ernie Braca turned his punching protégé loose into the wide wonderful world of jazz as a reward for bopping Sonny Ray into defeat at Madison Square Garden Friday night. A rousing finish in the last three rounds earned the top-ranking light-heavyweight contender the unanimous 10-round verdict and his seventh straight victory.

"Go take your sax and bongo drums and make merry until the first of the year," said the manager to his handsome gladiator. "Meanwhile I will try to line up Roy Harris or Willie Pastrano for late January or February."

Anthony, a sleek 177½-pounder, didn't look ready for heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Friday night. But he turned in a workmanlike performance in disposing of Ray, a dangerous 172½-pounder with a sneaky right hand wallop.

Ray, 22, who stands 5 foot 11 compared to Anthony's 6 foot 1, gave the 4-1 favored New Yorker a rugged evening until the eighth round. In the eighth, Anthony caught Ray with a jarring left hook to the jaw and then turned loose a barrage to stagger his rival.

In the league, which boasts two of the top ten bowlers in Texas — Cindy Luce of San Angelo and Marty Dooley of Abilene — Charlotte Allen of Sweetwater and Mary Craddock of San Angelo are tied for the high game with 231 each.

Marty Dooley has a 577 for the best individual series, while Shirley Hudgins of San Angelo backs her up with 563. Cindy Luce has the best average, 184, and Dooley follows with 179.

The league assembles next at Midland on Dec. 14 for their next round of play.

Christoval Shaded By Forsan Buffs

The Christoval triumph was a lineman's delight. In the second period, the Buffs leading by 16-0, Charles Skeen, an end, and guard Stanley Willis scored touchdowns. Skeen galloped 30 yards on an end around for his six-pointer, and Willis switched to a halfback position to plunge two yards for a score.

Not to be outdone, guard Raymond Martin tried his hand at the fancy-Dan stuff and added the two-point conversion. It wasn't long—the third period — before center Ken Duffer yielded to temptation, and after taking over the quarterback slot broke loose on a 40-yard roll out for the end zone.

All in all, ten players shared in the scoring. For Forsan, Milton Bardwell tallied first, and Freddie Bardwell sprinted ten yards for the second TD to give Forsan a 16-0 first period lead. Willis and Skeen each hit paydirt in the second, for a 32-0 halftime lead.

George White, quarterback who picked up 87 yards rushing, raced 70 yards in the third quarter on a kick off return to begin scoring in the second half. He added the conversion. Duffer scored to make it 46-0 when the fourth quarter began.

Jerry Bardwell wiggled his way 15 yards to the end zone for the last counter of the game. His brother, Milton, had returned a 40-yard Christoval punt on the fourth play of the game, for the first touchdown.

Walter Fields, a freshman for Coach James Blake, played an outstanding game for Forsan. The first-year lad, a cousin to Big Spring football player Wayne Fields, gained 44 yards rushing and intercepted two passes.

COAHOMA (SC)—The host Bulldogs overcame an 8-6 half-time deficit to trip the Stanton Buffs here Friday night, 14-8, despite the tremendous effort of Buff Kenneth Yates.

The game ended the 1958 football season for both elevens and put a happy touch on Coahoma's Homecoming activities. Coahoma ended the season with a 3-8-1 record, while Stanton finished with a 3-7 mark.

Coahoma pushed across six points in the first quarter and then saw Stanton march to a TD and two extra points immediately. Then the Bulldogs marched 74 yards at the end of the third quarter for the winning points.

The star of the contest, however, was the Yates, a 150-pound halfback who impressed the capacity crowd with his defensive as well as offensive abilities. In addition to scoring six points, Yates accounted for 131 of Stanton's 197 yards gained on the ground and handled the team's punting.

His punting exhibition included one 45 yarder which died on the Coahoma one. His average for the night was 37 yards for four punts.

Yates carried on 31 plays and the entire team didn't run by 56. Coahoma scored on the last scrimmage play of the first quarter on an eight-yard plunge by right guard by halfback Lonnie Anderson. The tally came on an 11-play drive which originated on the Coahoma 48. The drive actually covered 37 yards since one five-yard penalty was assessed against Coahoma.

Stanton took the ensuing kickoff and scored without losing possession of the ball. The march started on the Buff 36, and Yates went the final yard for the score. Porky Britton sailed around left end for the extra points to give Stanton its 8-6 lead. In the TD drive, Yates picked up 33 yards, and Britton contributed 20.

Coahoma's clincher came on the last play from scrimmage in the third period with little (135 pounds) Butch Hodnett sailing wide around left end for 23 yards for the six pointer. Hodnett then added the extra points.

The drive originated on the Coahoma 26 after a Yates punt. Harold Aberger scampered for 14 yards to open the drive from the 26, and Anderson pitched in a 15-yard gain to aid the march.

Stanton had an opportunity at the end of the first half to score but a penalty and time worked against it. The Buffs stormed from their 36 to the Bulldog three before time ran out. A penalty for five yards inside the 10 probably killed the drive.

Again in the last quarter, the Buffs saw their chances for a win fade when Coahoma's David Burris recovered a Stanton fumble on the CHS 29.

Defensively, Stanton got yeoman service from Gilbert Casber, Arnold Fincher and John Ory, and for the Bulldogs, Max Kennemer and Deweyne Richters were outstanding.

Anderson with 49 yards and Harold Anderson with 60 led the Coahoma attack.

Late Field Goal Sinks Raiders

By KEITH K. KING
TULSA (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Bob West booted a 17-yard field goal with two minutes to go Saturday to give Tulsa a come-from-behind 9-7 triumph over Texas Tech, the third straight year the Hurricane has vanquished the Red Raiders with a kick.

West, a reserve signal caller, only four minutes earlier had missed an attempt from the 14 in an effort to pull Tulsa to the front after it failed on a try to run for a two-point after touchdown conversion.

Both of West's kicks came after Hurricane ground drives, spearheaded by fullback Bob Brumble and halfback Ronnie Morris, were stalled by a stubborn Tech defense.

Previous Tulsa victories over the Raiders via the kicking route were in 1952, when Charlie Wynes booted one for a 10-7 triumph here and last year when Duwayne Gandy's three pointer was the only score at Lubbock, Tex.

But it was an uphill battle the Hurricane fought Saturday before a homecoming crowd of 12,278. Tech scored quickly at the game's start and held on doggedly to blank the Hurricane until only four minutes were left in the third period.

Play was less than three minutes old when Tech's Dan Gurley stole a Tulsa pass and returned it 35 yards to the Hurricane 13. Four plays later, Floyd Dellinger kicked the extra point.

With Brumble and Morris doing the heavy duty, Tulsa went 69 yards on the ground for its third quarter score. Morris failed trying to rush for two points.

Rotan Batters Roby, 44-14

ROBY (SC)—District 6-A champion Rotan soared high and above hapless Roby in the closing game of the season for both teams, 44-14, here Friday night. Rotan had clinched the district title a week ago.

Quarterback Todd Baugh scored two touchdowns, passed for two other six-pointers, and tossed for a two point conversion. Corky Taylor scored two TD's, running for one and taking a Baugh aerial for the next.

Rotan scrambled to a 16-0 advantage, before Roby's Doug Pyburn hit the end zone to end first quarter scoring, 16-8. After that, the sophomore Lions were never above water as Rotan made it 24-8 at halftime, 38-14 by the end of the third quarter, and finished with a touchdown in the final frame.

Rotan outgained Roby in the first downs, 11-8, ground out 292 yards rushing to the Lions' 157, and completed three of five passes for 150 yards, while Roby completed four of eight for 105 yards. The Yellowhammers were assessed 100 yards in penalties.

The Lions were defeated in 10 contests this season.

Baltimore Tries Chicago Bears

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quarterback situation in the National Football League is startling.

In pro football the quarterback is comparable to the pitcher in major league baseball. If you do not have a good one, you're in trouble.

Yet here is the situation as the NFL has the two-thirds mark of the 1958 season with a full schedule of six games today.

The Baltimore Colts are at Chicago for a Western Conference showdown with the Bears. Johnny Unitas, the Colts' star quarterback, is still on the injury list. The Bears, who have lacked a really superior signal-caller since Sid Luckman retired a decade ago, again must go with a combination of Ed Brown, Zeke Bratkowski and George Blanda.

The Cleveland Browns, beaten two straight because their passing game could not bail out a stalled running attack, are at the Washington Redskins, who got the word Friday that No. 1 quarterback Eddie LeBaron was ailing and not being counted on to face the Browns. Either little-used Ralph Guglielmi or untested Rudy Bukick will have to guide the Redskins if LeBaron fails to recover from a flu-type attack.

The Browns will again go with Milt Plum, but last week he had to be lifted for rookie Jim Ninowski when unable to pass effectively in the Browns' loss to the Lions.

San Francisco, with Y. A. Tittle back at the helm amid reports his morale needs boosting, is at Detroit, where Tobin Rote, perhaps the top all-around signal-caller in the league awaits them.

The Chicago Cardinals, with veteran Lamar McHan and rookie M. C. Reynolds alternately losing the QB job, are at Philadelphia.

Norm Van Brocklin, former Los Angeles star, can still throw that ball for the Eagles, but he is at a definite disadvantage in this era of running quarterbacks.

Fireball Is Out Front In League

Four 3-1 matches were posted in the Men's Major bowling league last week: Fireball downed Wheat Furniture, Miller the Killer smashed Cosden, Thompson Furniture needed Lee Hanson's, and Sana-Ritz stung Texas Electric.

Pepsi-Cola had the squeaker of the bunch, nipping Savoy's Phillips 66, 2 1/4-1 1/4.

Belton Brunson of Texas Electric had the best game, a 212, and James McCullough, Miller the Killer, gathered a 596 high series.

High team game and series of 921-2666 came from Miller the Killer.

Standings:

Mel Ott Undergoes Knife Following Auto Accident

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Former National League slugger Mel Ott, a member of baseball's hall of fame, underwent surgery Saturday following a two-car collision in which his wife was injured and a 50-year-old man killed.

Ott and his wife, both 49, suffered fractures of both legs and multiple cuts and abrasions. His wife also had a broken arm.

Officers said they were unable to determine how the accident happened. Ott's late-model station wagon and a sedan driven by Leslie S. Curry Sr., collided as the Ott pulled away from a roadside cafe.

Police said heavy moisture in the air, which made a foggy mist cloud windshields, could have reduced visibility.

Dr. Charles Floyd of Memorial Hospital said Ott's condition improved to the point where he could undergo surgery. Dr. Floyd said the operation on Ott's legs will include setting bones, cleaning damaged tissue and placing the legs in traction.

Mrs. Ott, Dr. Floyd said, will undergo surgery eventually, but he added "we're not considering it at the moment."

Both Ott and his wife, Dr. Floyd said, are still on the critical list. Curry, a Bay St. Louis carpenter and father of seven, was alone in his car.

Ott, born in nearby Gretna, La., and a resident of suburban Metairie, retired from baseball in January 1953, after a career that started in 1926 with the New York Giants. He went to the majors as a catcher without any minor league experience, but Giants' Manager John McGraw converted him into an outfielder.

He played 22 seasons before retiring from the playing field in 1947. He was the National League's home run leader four times, played in 2,730 games and had a lifetime batting average of .304. Ott managed the Giants for six seasons before resigning in 1948.

Sluggish Abilene Defeats Midland Bulldogs, 29-6

MIDLAND (SC)—Sluggish Abilene, which had to depend on a superior defense for victory, knocked down the Midland Bulldogs, 29-6, here Friday night to clinch a tie for its fifth straight district title.

Midland could gain only one first down during the first half, picking up 22 yards aground and seven through the air. The 'Dogs' had 80 yards rushing and 64 passing when the final gun had sounded, while Abilene sported 22 first downs, 350 yards rushing and 38 passing.

Fullback Charles Harrison raced 52-yards for the opening score, Freddy Parks received a pass good for 24 yards and a TD in the second period, and Stan Cozby crashed over from the one in the third Abilene shuffled through three quarters of slow offense. Halftime count was 16-0. In the fourth period Tim Walter brought the Eagles their last touchdown on a one yard drive play to make it 29-0. Midland's Bill Worley broke loose on an eight-yard TD junk to give the Bulldogs their only score, coming on a 22-yard drive after a short Eagle punt had went out of bounds at that point.

Abilene drove steadily toward each touchdown on long drives. Harrison's score came at the end of a 72-yard march, Park's pass catch for the second TD climaxed a 72-yard drive, and Cozby bucked the line on a one-yard paydirt effort which ended a 61-yard move.

Tim Walter's counter put the cap on an 80-yard advance.

Rig Count Over 400 First Time In '58

For the first time this year, the number of active rotary rigs in the Permian Basin topped 400.

Reed Roller Bit Co. counted the active rotaries on Friday and found 406 turning. This is seven rigs above the previous high count of this year. On Oct. 31, the area had reported 399.

The 406 is the highest since the 431 of Dec. 24, 1957 and 14 above the 393 of Nov. 7.

Andrews County increased its total from 58 on the Nov. 7 count to 62 this week to continue to lead individual areas in the Basin. Winkler with 33 active rigs is third; the 33 is a drop of three rigs, however, from the previous count.

Lea County, N. M., wound up the week's work with 34 rigs to take over second. It had reported 35 last week for third place in the count of individual areas.

Ector with 32 was the only other county to report as many as 20 rigs in operation.

Howard County upped its total by one to eight this week, and Borden recorded 10. Seven rotaries were turning in Dawson.

The individual totals (with Nov. 7 figures in parentheses) included Andrews 62 (58), Borden 10 (10), Cochran 7 (6), Coke 3 (2), Chaves 3 (3), Crane 18 (24), Crockett 0 (0), Culberson 3 (3), Dawson 7 (6), Dickens 1 (1), and Ector 32 (28).

Also Scurry 8 (8), Schleicher 4 (4), Sterling 1 (1), Stonewall 7 (5), Sutton 1 (2), Tom Green 0 (2), Terry 5 (4), Terrell 5 (4), Upton 10 (6), Ward 9 (9), Winkler 33 (36), Yoakum 12 (11), and Permian Basin totals 406 (393).

Conoco Finals Shallow Well In Garza, Spots New Venture

Continental Oil Co. announced site this weekend for a new project in the East Huntley (San Andres) field of Garza County, and the same firm has finished a well in the pool.

The Conoco No. 11-1204 Blake was acidized with 2,000 gallons and then it pumped 121 barrels of 37.8-degree oil and 26 per cent water in 24 hours. The well is 330 feet from south and 1,650 from east lines, 12-4, I&GN Survey, and six miles northwest of Post.

Total depth is 3,360 feet, but it is plugged back to 3,342. Top of the pay zone is 3,130 feet, and perforations extend from 3,130-307 feet.

Election Indicates Fight On Oil Depletion Allowance

HOUSTON (AP)—Results of the election emphasized a fear among oil operators that the new Congress will attack again the industry's tax depletion allowance.

Winning re-election were the two senators who in September tried to have the 27 1/2 per cent allowance reduced.

Initiate a 1959 proposal to cut the depletion, but, if not, he will be ready to seek a Senate amendment.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the powerful House committee, already has stated his group probably will study at least one important phase of natural resources legislation. He said legislative clarification may be needed on the statutory line of distinction drawn between expenditures which constitute exploration expenses and those which constitute development expenditures.

The new site in the same field is Continental No. 9 Citizens National Bank of Lubbock. The location is 990 feet from north and 2,970 from east lines, 12-5, H&O Survey, and about eight miles to the northwest of Post. Drilling depth is 3,450 feet.

202 More Wells Added In State

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday 202 oil and 26 gas wells were completed in Texas in the last seven days.

The commission report showed oil wells brought in total 10,766 for the year and gas wells 1,867, compared to 13,715 and 1,719 in 1957. There were 123 dry holes.

In unproven territory, seven oil and one gas well were completed. It upped the year's oil wildcats to 233 and gas wildcats to 56. Seventy attempts proved dry the past seven days.

The total average calendar day oil allowance showed a 14,201-barrel increase at 3,042,412 barrels daily, the commission said. There were 170 wells plugged.

Wins Scholarship

Enedina Angulano of Big Spring is one of 10 girls awarded Tyson Orphan Scholarships at Mary Hardin-Baylor College this year, the school at Belton reported. The scholarships are supported through donations by interested people.

The Blalock No. 2-C McCrary is in the same field 660 from north and 990 from west lines, 12-5, H&GN Survey. It will also penetrate to 2,850 feet.

In the Northwest Justiceburg, McCrary & Franklin No. 3-130-B McCrary is a new site east of Post about 14 miles. Location is 940 from north and 990 from east lines, 130-5, H&GN Survey. Drilling depth is 2,800 feet.

National Drilling Rate Has Increase

National drilling totals showed a substantial increase on the latest weekly report of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

There were 2,203 rigs going in the United States and Canada on Nov. 10, a gain of 41 for the week. This was well above the 2,179 a month ago but off from 2,579 a year ago.

The U. S. total was 2,044, a gain of 29 rigs for the week. This was due in a large measure to 26 in West Central Texas. Texas had 723 rigs running. Wyoming picked up 11 to show 74. Kansas had 156 going, Louisiana 312, Oklahoma 249 and New Mexico 98. Western Canada had 156, a gain of 12.

The wildcat is 1,980 feet from south and 826 from west lines, 873-97, H&TC Survey.

About 17 miles southeast of Post, the Sun No. 1 Beggs drilled in lime and shale at 7,527 feet at the end of the week.

Borden Projects Are Making Hole

The Texas Co. No. 2-E Clayton, in the southwestern part of Borden County, drilled at 6,290 feet in lime at the end of the week.

The project is a south offset to the Cheyenne No. 1 Clayton, discovery in the Cheyenne (Fusselman) field, and C SW SE, 40-32-4E, T&P Survey, and about eight miles north of Vealmoor.

Rep. Frank Ikard (D-Tex.), a member of Mills' committee, said this week the oil industry, if it is to survive, must do a good job of explaining its problems to the new Congress.

Ikard warned that failure to convince Congress of a need for the 27 1/2 per cent depletion could lead to reductions that could cause retail gasoline prices to rise 5 to 10 cents a gallon.

Howard Fields Add Producers

New wells have been finished in the Varel (San Andres) and Howard-Glasscock fields of Howard County.

The new producer in the Varel pool is Russell Maguire No. 3 Martin about 10 miles northwest of Big Spring. On 24-hour potential test, it pumped 108.2 barrels of 28.8-degree oil without any water being reported.

Location of the well is 660 feet from north and 760 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter, 43-32-2n, T&P Survey.

Total depth is 3,170 feet, with 5 1/2-inch string set one foot off the bottom of the hole. Top of the pay zone is 3,133 feet, and perforation interval is 3,136-46 feet.

In the Howard-Glasscock pool, Sunray-Mid-Continent No. 49-B Dora Roberts had been finished for 27.04 barrels of oil after it was treated with 250 gallons of acid. The well is 2,310 feet from north and 430 from west lines, 137-29, W&N Survey, and two miles east of Forsan.

The hole bottoms at 1,922 feet, and with oil string cemented on the bottom, perforations are from 1,794-886 feet. Top of the pay zone is 1,764 feet.

W. G. SIMPSON

Things are rather calm in W. G. Simpson's life now compared to what they were back in the Depression Days when he was a deputy sheriff in Montague Co.

"Bonnie Parker and her gang were running wild in that part of the country when I was a deputy," Mr. Simpson remembers. "We never caught her but we were pretty close several times."

Mr. Simpson was born March 15, 1895, in Montague Co. "You didn't need much education back in those days. All you really needed was a weak mind and a strong back," he laughed.

An Army veteran of World War I, Mr. Simpson married his childhood sweetheart on Dec. 24, 1922. The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Jack Price of Big Spring, and two adorable grandsons, Jerry and Terry.

A warehouseman at the refinery, Mr. Simpson joined Cosden Aug. 16, 1943, after moving to Big Spring in 1939 as an employee of the State Hospital.

Mr. Simpson served briefly in the Navy during World War II.

He is a member of the American Legion, the V.F.W. and the Methodist Church. He is a director of the Cosden Credit Union.

Hobbies for the Cosden senior include watching football and baseball games and, of course, playing with his grandsons.

The Simpsons live at 601 George.

Presbyterian Young People Stage District Rally Here

Ballinger, Eldorado, San Angelo, Colorado City, Coahoma and Big Spring were represented Saturday at the fall rally of high school young people in District II, Presbytery of the Southwest. Seventy-five out of towners were here for the all-day session at the First Presbyterian Church.

Jackson Fulgham of San Angelo, chairman of the district, presided for the session. The 1959 theme, "Let the World See Christ in

You," was announced and the theme hymn, "Christ, the World's True Light," was led by Septima Green of San Angelo.

Joey Marsala, also of San Angelo, presented the theme picture, "Whom Shall I Send?" which had been painted by Manning De V. Lee.

Following luncheon, which was served by the Women of the Church, the meeting closed at 2 p.m. with an inspirational message from the Rev. Harold G. Odum, pastor of the First Church in San Angelo. He chose as his topic "Whom Shall I Send?" Members of the Young People's Fellowship Council are Sharon Weyerth of San Angelo, moderator, Evangeline Young, and Julia Megahan, Lubbock, treasurer and historian, respectively. Bank, Fur Firm Trade By Inches

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — A transaction involving transfer of a plot of land 6 1/8 by 12 5/8 inches went through the county register of deeds' office.

The F. J. Murphy Fur Co. leased it for a year for $1 from the Manufacturers National Bank.

The fur firm is refacing its building and a column of brick protruded onto the bank's property. The bank said that was OK but went through the legal motions to protect future interests.

Water Ruling Appeal Will Be Filed In Martin

An appeal from a jury of view appraisal of the value of water rights sought under the E. B. Dickenson land in Martin County has been forwarded for filing in Martin County Court.

Jack Wessler, attorney representing the Colorado River Municipal Water District, asked for a setting in January or February.

The three-man commission composed of Milt Yater, Ray Glasscock and Martin Gibson two weeks ago attached a $3,200,000 price tag to the water rights under the 1,569.5 acres sought by the district as part of the 16,000-acre Dickenson spread in north-central Martin County. The CRMWD had sought the water rights by condemnation.

Witnesses for Dickenson pegged value of the ranch at $500 per acre and, as a basis for assessing damages, calculated a loss in value of $200 under the entire acreage. William Guyton, hydrologist for the CRMWD testified that the district would take about half the recoverable water if there were no other development on the ranch, or less than a third of the recoverable water if the remainder of the ranch were developed for irrigation.

LAMESA—A total of 107 awards will be presented to Dawson County 4-H Club boys and girls at the annual Achievement Dinner slated for Lamar Forrest Community Center Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Presentation will be made by Wesley Roberts, state representative, who will also be the principal speaker. The boy and girl adjudged to be the outstanding clubbers of the year will be given the 4-H Gold Star Awards. The identity of the boy and girl selected will remain a secret until that night. A turkey dinner will be prepared for the meeting by County Home Demonstration Clubs, with HD Club members acting as hostesses.

HCJC To Take Over School Taxes Radio Programming

Through a cooperative arrangement, Howard County Junior College will begin Monday with evening programming for educational purposes over KBST radio.

J. N. Young Jr., manager for the station, said Saturday that the arrangement would be effective Monday at 6 p.m.

At the outset, HCJC will not attempt to fill more than two hours of the total evening broadcast time with its special educational programs, but this may be increased, said Young.

Supervising the operations for HCJC will be Ray Weathers, a former HCJC student and who has some three years experience in radio operation and announcing. HCJC will be responsible for the supervision from 6 p.m. until sign off at 11 p.m., and operational costs will be borne by KBST.

All HCJC programs will be non-commercial and of an educational, cultural or public service nature. There will be some commercial programs during the evening, including established network offerings, including the traditional 10 o'clock news, but all these will be handled by KBST staff members. On Monday at 9 p.m. the HCJC choir is to inaugurate the series with a performance. Wednesday evening the high school play cast will present excerpts from its past to be presented later in the week. Some programming with classical music is contemplated, and later there may be instruction over the air in such subjects as conversational Spanish. The arrangements are effective on Monday through Friday of each week.

School Taxes Total $353,000

Tax collections for the Big Spring Independent School District continued at a steady pace last week, and J. O. Hagood, assessor-collector, estimated 36.5 per cent of the current roll had been received. Actually, the total may be higher, for there was a considerable volume of mail receipts which he and his staff had not been able to clearout. So far collections total $353,070.96, but of this amount $6,825.70 is in delinquent taxes and $60 in miscellaneous fees. The current roll collections of $346,185.28 includes $270,999.12 to local maintenance (operation) and $64,801.02 to interest and sinking (debt service), $10,385.14 allowed in three per cent discounts. The three per cent discount will hold good through November, said Hagood, because statements were nearly a month late getting into the mail. Payments in December will drop to one per cent discount.

THERE'S NOTHING TO IT—this taking a patch test as it is administered to the students in the county by the school nurses. Here, Doyal Lucas receives a test from Mrs. Louise Horton, who is the nurse for Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools and also the high school. Doyal, who is 16, is in the ninth grade; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Loven, 701 Nolan. After the skin is cleaned, a strip of tape with medicated gauze is placed on the arm to be left for 48 hours. Condition of the skin at the end of that time is an indication of the patient's health. The TB Association, which has started the annual drive for funds, paid for 1900 such tests during the past year, each costing from eight to 10 cents apiece to administer. So far this year no children have been reported as victims of the dread disease, it was announced during the past week.

WHO WOULD HAVE THOUGHT that balloons would ever be used in the fight against tuberculosis! Seems that's what is to happen, though, during the TB Association's annual drive for funds. 'Up to here' in balloons are Sherry Lurting, at left, and Janette Heflin, two of the group of high school girls who will be selling the colorful baubles on Dec. 2, the day of the Christmas parade. Miss Lurting is chairman of the school activities for the drive. There is no definite price on the balloons—just be as generous as you can in your contribution when you meet one of the young salesladies. Sherry is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lurting, 608 West 16th; parents of Janette are Mr. and Mrs. William Heflin, 908 Mountain Park.

Big Spring Daily Herald

WOMEN'S NEWS

BIG SPRING, TEXAS

NOV. 16, 1958

It's Christmas Seal Time

The approach of Thanksgiving and Christmas always means the beginning of the drive for funds conducted annually by the TB Association. Thursday evening, letters containing the familiar Christmas seals were mailed—8000 of them—all prepared by members of the local Medical Auxiliary.

The letters contain three sheets of seals, priced at a dollar a sheet; recipients are requested to return three dollars in the envelope which accompanies the seals. The goal set is $5000.

From the funds obtained during the drive, the local chapter keeps 82 per cent, with 12 per cent sent to the state organization. Six per cent goes to the national association for the financing of educational programs and research on the disease, its prevention and cure.

With the money kept in Big Spring, the local chapter administers diagnostic tests, gives treatments and assists victims of tuberculosis in other ways. During the past year, 97 X-rays have been financed by the group. For several years, chest X-rays have been furnished free to the public.

Patch tests given in the schools of the county in the past year have numbered 1900, each test costing from eight to 10 cents apiece. Simple to administer, the test causes no discomfort to the patient.

School and county nurses give the tests by applying a small piece of tape on the arm of the person receiving the patch. This is left for 48 hours with care being taken to keep it dry. At the end of that time, the nurse examines the skin under the tape. A positive reaction is shown by redness, an elevation of the skin and tiny red pimples.

Reports given by the chapter tell of one death from TB in the county during the year; 23 active cases discovered during the past year and six arrested cases in that same period of time. Several transients with the dread disease have been given attention by the county chapter, it was stated.

To begin the drive, this Sunday has been designated as TB Seal Sunday. Continuing the observance, the R&R Theatres plan to show special films dealing with the activity, and posters have been placed at spots in the city by the Boy Scout Troop of the First Methodist Church under the leadership of Melvin Coleman.

Bo Bowen, county nurse, will speak to members of the American Business Club on Friday; on Wednesday, members of the Lions Club will see a film dealing with TB.

During the citywide Christmas celebrations, slated for Dec. 2 and Dec. 16, high school girls will sell balloons for an added bit of income. At the head of this work is Sherry Lurting.

Mrs. Fred Lurting is the general chairman of the drive, with Mrs. George Peacock chairman of seal sales. Mary Vasquez is chairman of the work being carried on in the schools in connection with the drive.

In addition to the seals and balloons, bonds will be sold; chairman of bond sales is Dr. Vincent Friedewald. Mrs. Odie Wilson is publicity chairman; Mrs. Garner McAdams is in charge of the bangle sales.

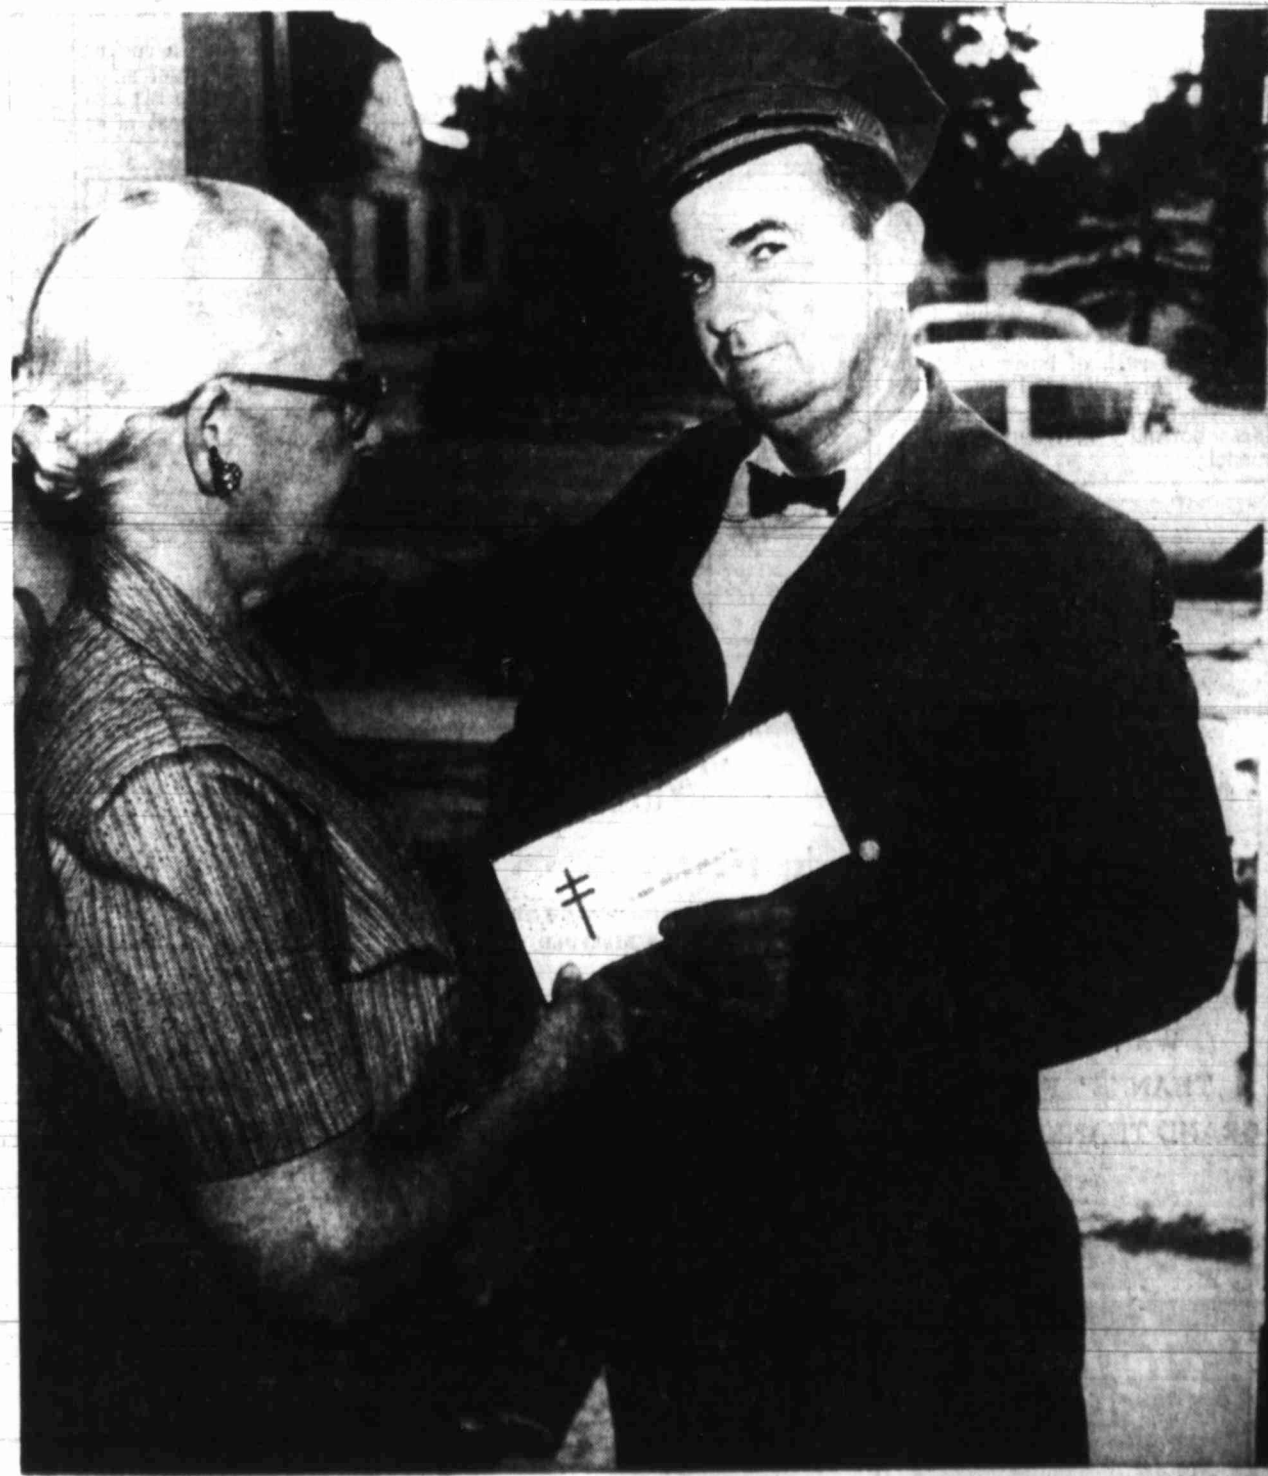

Assisting in the work are Mrs. R. L. Reaves, Mrs. Bessie Lankford, Ed Carpenter of Coahoma and Ynez Yanez.

AN ERRAND OF MERCY is the delivery of each letter carrying the Christmas seals of the TB Association; prepared by members of the Medical Auxiliary, the letters were mailed Thursday evening, and this scene will be repeated about 8000 times, according to the number of letters reported "stuffed." Goal of the drive is $5000, and each envelope carries three sheets of seals, priced at one dollar per sheet. To add to the ease of returning the three dollars, the workers have included an addressed envelope. Here, Mrs. W. R. Douglass, 1505 Johnson, receives a package of the seals from Earl Reagan, postman on her street. Photos by Keith McMillin.

BUSY AS BEES were the members of the Medical Auxiliary when the Herald photographer called to snap a picture as they prepared the 8000 letters which will carry TB seals to local homes. Various groups alternated in working, and the task was completed in a day and a half, it was reported. Mailed Thursday, the envelopes contain three sheets of 100 seals each, and recipients are asked return three dollars to the association. Seated with her back to the camera is Mrs. P. W. Malone; at her left is Mrs. Jack Woodall; others, from left to right, are Mrs. H. M. Shingleton, Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Mrs. F. M. Gomez Jr., Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Mrs. I. G. Wilson, Mrs. George Peacock, seal sale chairman, and Mrs. Fred Lurting, general chairman for the drive.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Choose Simple Frock With Classic Lines

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood has watched Anna Maria Alberghetti grow up from the little Italian girl who made her debut with Bing Crosby as a blind singer, to a poised beautiful young lady with a night club act all her own.

No one can pin point the moment when a teen-ager becomes a woman, but the change, a long time in coming, seems suddenly to arrive.

"Less than three years ago," Anna Maria told me, "I wore peasant skirts and blouses with Peter Pan collar and I felt very comfortable with that 'little girl' look. But one day I came back from Las Vegas, looked into my closet and I knew that everything there must be given to my younger sister, Carla. I had outgrown them."

"One thing I've learned about sophistication, you can't rush it. It is futile to think a lot of make-up and high fashion will make you look older. It is just the opposite because these things call attention to how young you really are."

We were chatting in the sunny living room of Anna Maria's new hill top house. On the piano was a recent portrait of her.

"Your beauty has certainly blossomed," I commented, thinking of how she looked when we first met.

"I had a rather remarkable voice for a child," she explained. "I gave my first concert when I was six and it never seemed of much importance to any of us how I looked. We were so busy concentrating on how I sounded."

"Hollywood taught me the importance of my appearance, but it has taken me four years to develop a style of my own," she went on. "I learned about clothes from experience and it was expensive."

"You have to have some sort of plan," Anna Maria confided. "You must find out what you need and what you can wear and how much you want to spend.

"You have to learn to recognize good clothes to appreciate simplicity and a classic line. Edith Head of Paramount was a great help in persuading me to have fewer clothes but expensive ones. She pointed out the importance of good accessories and how much they can add to a simple costume like a sweater and skirt."

"Trying to follow fashion too closely is a mistake unless you can afford to wear your clothes only one season. Extreme styles can never be carried over from one year to another. It was very discouraging trying to shop when I had to fight my way through displays of the sack and its variations."

"You have a beautiful figure for clothes," I told Anna Maria, "Do you work at it?"

"I try to avoid overeating. I'm always uncomfortable when I do and I make it up the next day by dieting," she explained.

"I have the kind of metabolism that takes a violent swing," she continued. "I have put on six pounds over night and have gone back to normal in one day by eating nothing but yogurt. It is a basic food and I like it. I don't believe in taking reducing pills. I think it's much healthier to find a diet that works for you."

In Hollywood we call it "going off the deep end" when success turns a person's head. I asked Anna Maria how she managed to avoid this.

"I don't think too much about success," she replied, "because it is not what other people think of you that matters. It's what you think of yourself. And all the fame in the world is not going to make you happy if you've paid for it with your character and self-respect."

WEIGHT DIFFICULTIES
 This leaflet is designed for those who have a sincere desire to be thin, yet cannot bring themselves to controlling their appetites. If you are having trouble reducing, stop worrying about it and try the suggestions offered in Leaflet M-3 "The Mental Side of Dieting." Medically speaking, obesity can be divided into three classes: the endocrine type has its origin in faulty glands and is comparatively rare; second, those with large appetites and small wills; and third, psychosomatic fat. For your copy of this vital leaflet send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, in care of The Big Spring Herald, Big Spring, Texas.

Cosden Women Will Sponsor Bridge Party

Cosden Woman's Association will sponsor a benefit bridge Thursday afternoon at the Cosden Club. Play will be between 1 and 5 p.m., with homemade cakes to serve as intermission prizes. Tickets will be $1, and the public is welcome. The party proceeds will be offered to a young cancer victim.

These plans were announced at the Friday luncheon which the association held at the club. R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, addressed the group of 96. Highlights of his trips abroad were shared, with particular emphasis on Russia.

Following the luncheon, bridge was the diversion. Among the group were several guests from Forsan. Mrs. Wayne Bartlett was awarded the centerpiece.

Hostesses were Mrs. George Grimes, Mrs. Jack Hanson, Mrs. C. H. Harrison, Mrs. J. M. Hill and Mrs. Russell Christenson.

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Adkins of Stanton have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lou Ann, to Lole Edward Badgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Badgett of Tarzan. The wedding will take place Dec. 12, at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cravens, in Lomax.

Plan Early Holiday Fete For Grade School Group

The grade school set is always eager for a get-together and the holiday season offers a wealth of party ideas. An afternoon of stringing popcorn and cranberries for the tree making Christmas cards, or practicing for a carol sing will appeal to the youngsters, and will deepen their enjoyment of the holidays.

If you are planning a Saturday party, you might start early in the day with a brunch. Your time will be filled with holiday doings of your own, so a simple dish such as sausage and shirred eggs will be a quick-to-fix main dish.

When you choose the modern brown 'n serve sausage you will be extra minutes ahead, as these sausages are fully cooked when you buy them. Made from selected cuts of meat and blended with fine seasonings, they are ready to serve in the same length of time that it takes to bake the eggs.

Birthday Party Is For Three-Year-Old

Sore Muscles, Flat Wallets Mark West Coast Inhabitants

By DOROTHY ROE
 Associated Press Women's Editor
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — The normally casual West Coast is breaking out in a rash of protocol, court etiquette and regal ball gowns.

California debutantes who know what to do on a golf course or a beach are learning how to curtsy — with some growing pains.

The Los Angeles haute couture is being flooded with orders for formal ball gowns, and the book stores are selling out Emily Post.

It's all because of the impending visit of Queen Frederika and Princess Sophie of Greece, and the Imperial Ball to be held in Beverly Hills Nov. 22.

Out here in the free-and-easy West, the girls are taking their curtsy lessons seriously, and there is a rush of business at the salon of Emmaline Snively, an expert on such matters, whose business normally is training fashion models.

Miss Snively knows a trend when she sees one, and she says this year's trend is definitely regal. She discovered Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield even before American men did, and gave them their first modeling jobs.

"A proper curtsy looks as easy as a whirl by a professional model," says she, "but it takes just about as much mirror drill."

Women aren't the only ones having their troubles in preparation for the Imperial Ball. California men, who prefer to dress in sports coats and slacks, are ordering white ties and tails, and are being schooled by determined wives in how to wear them.

They also are practicing the court bow, while criticizing their womenfolks' efforts at the curtsy. The regal curtsy it must be pointed out, requires that the right knee must touch the floor.

There hasn't been such a ruckus in these parts, they tell me, since the Prince of Wales made his historic visit to the West Coast after World War I.

International Household

There is an international men in the household of T/Sgt. and Mrs. Maurice Pelletier, 1205 Goliad. The sergeant is from New Hampshire; his wife is a native of Scotland, and Michel was born in England. Louis III of Streatly is the pedigree French poodle which came from a British kennel. Texas, like all the United States, is brand new to Mrs. Pelletier. Her husband, who is stationed at Webb AFB, was in the Lone Star State only once before, when he was a 17-year-old in the U.S. Navy, in Corpus Christi.

Scotch Brogue, French Accent Blend For Zestful Newcomers

'Tis a far, far way to Scotland and no one knows this better than Mrs. Maurice Pelletier, who hails from Inverclyde, Inverness County. Back over there a baby's a bairn, a girl is a lassie and a boy is a laddie.

But the zestful, likable Scotsman is pre-occupied with this business of getting to know the United States, which she saw for the first time only a few weeks ago. T. Sgt. Pelletier took her home to New Hampshire to meet the family and to introduce them to the couple's son, Michel. They had been living in Suffolk, England, where he was assigned by the U. S. Air Force, and arrived here Oct. 17 for duty at Webb AFB with the M&S group.

Romanticists will be interested to know how a French-speaking American and a Scottish lady got together. The story might have actually started in 1949, when she left her Scotland to enroll in the Royal College of Art at South Kensington, England. Two of her three sisters, all of whom are now married, had been in show business under the producer M. F. Littler, and she aspired to be an actress. After the death of her mother, however, her father forbade a stage career, and she decided to prepare herself to teach art.

Sgt. Pelletier was stationed at Bentwaters when he went into London for his first weekend pass. He was introduced to Nora, who was by then illustrating books for the Burke Publishing Company. They celebrated their second wedding anniversary in September.

Perhaps it was mutual interest in sports which first led them to believe they had much in common. Mrs. Pelletier had been junior swimming champion of Scotland at age 13. She is an avid tennis player as is her husband. He is enthusiastic about baseball and skiing, and played semi-professional ice hockey in Berlin, N. H.

until the scars from Hockey sticks persuaded him to leave the game. He has given 14 years of service to Uncle Sam, two of them in the Navy, and plans to make a career of it.

The sergeant's most memorable hour was the delivery of their son a year ago on his own birthday. He officiated at the birth in their home in England. Michel is a handsome blond "bairn" who has precipitated a few pangs of jealousy in Louis III of Streatly.

This imposing name belongs to a regal silver grey French Poodle from England, one of only six of his line. He is the offspring of Louis II who, in 1954, won top honors in the foremost dog show of England, the Cruft in London. Mrs. Pelletier purchased the pedigree pup when he was six weeks old and he will soon be five. He covets attention — will sit, walk on his hind legs, pose for pictures and even sing—but only to one record, "He's A Tramp". Let there be even the suggestion of a smile from his audience and he stops.

With training in elocution, the dance, voice, art, Mrs. Pelletier wants again to do volunteer work in hospitals. She remembers that her father, a retired naval lieutenant commander who now lives in County Durham, 35 miles from the Scottish border, taught his daughters and two sons that man was put here to serve his fellow-man.

She speaks beautiful English with a charming brogue. Some of her native expressions have given her a few difficulties in this country, but most frustrating of all is her inability to serve the hot tea to which she is accustomed. When she orders it in a restaurant, the waitress invariably brings iced tea, unwilling to believe any customer drinks any hot beverage other than coffee.

Asked for her authentic method of preparing hot tea, she replied with these directions: First, warm the teapot, then throw out the water. Drop into the pot a spoonful of tea for each person and one for the pot; pour over it boiling water and let steep for 4 or 5 minutes.

The Pelletiers are not completely settled yet at 1205 Goliad. Although they have ordered furniture, it has not come. Only a few of the bare essentials are installed, but occupying a place of prominence is the old rocking chair the sergeant bought in an antique shop in Ipswich. It is believed to be 350 years old, and one of the first platform rockers made.

Although the Scotch do not celebrate Christmas, Mrs. Pelletier is looking forward to their version of New Year's. In her homeland it is termed Hog'ma'Nee, and extends from Dec. 31 through Jan. 3.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Blue may have at one time been the word to use to describe a dull day of mood, but it doesn't mean that this year. All shades ranging from cobalt to delit to electric have caught the eyes of fashion-wise women and the colors seem to be good for all. While some use the brighter hues to perk up gray or black suits and suit dresses, many go all out and make a complete ensemble of matching or blending blues.

MRS. T. M. LAWSON used bright blue in her hat, gloves and scarf with a smart gray suit at a recent coffee. MRS. BILL BONNER, MRS. L. D. CHRANE, MRS. P. W. MALONE, MRS. HAROLD DAVIS, MRS. WAYNE BARTLETT, MRS. HANK McDANIEL JR., and MRS. S. D. JONES chose various shades of the popular color for their outfits at the Thursday morning affair.

MRS. BOB SPEARS chose a white knit suit, hat and other accessories, while MRS. R. M. MOORE JR. wore a pastel pink costume suit that featured a band of pink-tinted fur near the neckline. Her hat was a matching cloche.

Sage green and rust have been a good combination for years and they still combine to make attractive fall wear. MRS. LOWELL BAIRD made a striking picture in a rust colored dress and small fur piece topped with a pretty green hat. MRS. GARLAND CONWAY's rust and sage chemise type knit was perfect for her. She wore a beret of brown velvet. MRS. W. H. BAIN wore a gay red dress with a crisp white collar and a little red hat.

It was nice to meet MRS. ROBERT JOHNSON who is a cousin to good friends of ours in Snyder. DR. AND MRS. BOB HARGROVE and the WACIL MCNAIRS. A telephone acquaintance, that we met for the first time, was MRS. JAMES CAPE.

After spending a week here with MR. AND MRS. HAROLD V. SUMMERS, their aunt, Mrs. P. M. Russell, left Friday evening for her home in Steele, Ala.

MR. AND MRS. FRANKIE JONES have as their guests, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Roberts of Tahoka.

This has been an exciting weekend for JUDY JONES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jones. She will return today from Fort Worth where she has been the "little sister" of Valjean LaCroix at TCU.

Medical Auxiliary Sets Thursday Coffee

Howard County Medical Auxiliary will gather at 10 a.m. Thursday for a coffee at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover. Mrs. Jack H. Burnett will be co-hostess.

The auxiliary agreed to meet a week earlier than usual because of Thanksgiving Day.

The university had the parents day feature during the weekend.

There's probably quite a bit of excitement around the household of DR. AND MRS. J. E. HOGAN, 509 Westover, this weekend. They have received word of the birth of their first grandchild! The baby, who has been named William H. Brigman Jr., was born to Lt. and Mrs. William H. Brigman, Friday, in Ipswich, England. Mrs. Brigman is the former JANET HOGAN. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Brigman of Brunswick, Ga.

"Miracle" drugs are not perfected overnight. In 1929 Dr. Alexander Fleming noted that Penicillium Notatum mould inhibited certain bacterial growth. It then took many more years to perfect it so that it could safely accomplish its wonderful work.

Millions of research dollars are spent on every new drug before it can be released for use. Often expected benefits do not occur and the money is entirely lost. Modern prescriptions can produce almost miraculous cures, but equally amazing is the fact that they cost so little for what they accomplish.

Modern Forum Learns Need For More Nurses

Bo Bowen, speaking to members of the Modern Woman's Forum, Friday afternoon, told the group of the need for registered nurses and of the importance of their being assisted in receiving training.

Miss Bowen county health nurse, told the group that nurses are more necessary now than they have ever been, and gave as one reason—the new drugs. They are such that most of them must be administered by a skilled person, she said, who can also judge the reaction of the patient to the drug.

A long life span and the fact that more people enter hospitals for treatment also have a bearing on the need for more nurses, the speaker stated.

The profession is in higher standing than in previous years, Miss Bowen reminded members, and more girls should be encouraged to enter the training, she said. One drawback to the schooling of nurses, members learned, is that the training is expensive, and for that reason, many have had to discontinue courses. Miss Bowen commended the project of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for the project adopted this year—that of the Professional Nursing Scholarship.

Forum members have taken the project as one of their activities this year. The group voted to donate to the fund for the Christmas party to be given at the state hospital on Dec. 22.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be on Dec. 12, when the members meet for a Christmas luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass. There will be a gift exchange; Mrs. Harwood Keith will be co-hostess.

Hostesses for Friday's meeting, held in the home of Mrs. A. B. Wade, were Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Ira Driver.

Suds Cashmeres With Care For Longer Life

AP Newsfeatures
Those fine cashmere sweaters that are the pride of every woman deserve special care—but you can keep them fresh and new-looking with gentle sudsing, if you know how.

Either cashmeres or fine woolen knits need some pampering. They should be hand-washed in lukewarm suds—never hot water. The new cold-water soaps made especially for woollens keep the garments soft and fluffy.

Use about twice as much soap as you would for ordinary laundry and squeeze suds gently through the sweater—never rub or twist. To keep the sweater from stretching out of shape, hold it under the surface of the water as you squeeze the suds through it. Wash quickly. Never submit fine knitwear to long soaking.

Rinse several times in clear lukewarm water until all suds are removed. Lift the dripping garment carefully out of the water and roll it in a bath towel to blot out excess water.

Then lay the sweater flat on another dry towel and with your hands, gently pat and smooth it into shape. Let dry away from heat.

There are other ways to insure that the sweater retains its original size and shape. There are metal frames available to slip inside the damp garment.

Or you can make your own frame of heavy cardboard, on which you have traced the outline of the sweater before washing. Make three pieces—one for the body and two for the sleeves.

Never hang up fine knit garments. Dry them flat, and store them flat in a drawer. Clear plastic bags are useful to protect them from dust.

AT ABC MEET

Angel Discusses School Problems

Clyde Angel, president of the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, spoke to members of the American Business Club at that organization's regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel on behalf of National Education Week.

Angel briefed the gathering on several of the problems confronting the school system and urged the public to take a greater interest in the schools.

He said the biggest shortcoming of the average home owner here is a "complacency" toward the school problems. The trustees, he said, always welcome anyone who attend the board meetings and discuss common problems.

He stated he expected the demand for class rooms to be greater here in the next five years than it has been in the past five. The Big Spring school system experienced its greatest period of growth in history in the five years just past, he revealed.

He anticipated that the school system would operate at a deficit of anywhere from $49,000 to $50,000 for the present school year but said it would be made up "from other balances."

The club voted to supply Christmas trees for patients of the VA Hospital and purchase some clothing for patients in one wing of the State Hospital. The patients in that wing number 57.

The club also agreed to tackle the job of selling season tickets to home games of the HCJC basketball team. The tickets will be made available to the public at the ridiculously low price of $2 each, if as many as 400 are sold.

Guests at the luncheon included Jimmy Jennings and Robert Morehead in addition to Angel.

Big Spring Merchants Expecting Healthy Increase In Yule Business

By SAM BLACKBURN

It's much closer to Christmas than you think!

And Big Spring stores are looking for a record-breaking rush of Christmas shopping — at least 10 per cent ahead of last year's booming Yuletide volume.

A spot check of downtown stores indicates that early Christmas buying is already well under way. Stores are rigging for the holiday — Christmas merchandise is being pushed front. Decorations in place in many stores are being set up in others.

Lay-away bins in the stores are bulging with purchases made by thrifty, efficient shoppers who seem solidly sold on the idea of doing their Yule buying early.

Shoppers are already fingering through holiday goods and most of the downtown establishments have their gift wrapping departments in operation.

Extra clerks have been added to the regular staffs in some of the establishments and managers are scanning applicants in anticipation of adding others to the sales staff.

Nationally, an increased Christmas volume of 4 per cent over 1957 was forecast in a survey made by National Retail Merchants' Association.

In Big Spring, the merchants believe that Christmas business during the last two weeks of November and the shopping days in December will be at least 10 per cent greater than last year.

"Why not?" inquired one store manager. "Look at the picture—we have a good cotton and feed crop this year. The farmers have more money than they had last year. Big Spring has grown steadily throughout the year; we have more potential shoppers now than we had last December."

"Our employment situation is good. Most of our people are working and are prospering."

"In our store, we have already had so much lay-away buying that we are hunting for additional storage room. Bulk of these purchases are Christmas gifts."

October, most merchants said, was a fairly good shopping month. Although the damp days halted the cotton harvest they did not materially diminish the buying interest of the customers.

The unseasonably warm days of the past week have had more slowing effect on buying, the store managers reported, than the drizzles which preceded them.

"Most folk don't mind a damp day to do their shopping," they explained. "However, when it is as warm as it was the first part of last week, they lose some of their enthusiasm for buying."

Across the board, the store managers interviewed said that 1957 had been a good business year. With the prospects bright for a possible record-breaking Christmas season (and every merchant interviewed definitely believes this will develop) the stores are looking to chalk up one of the best years in a long time.

"If you don't have your Christmas goods in the store by Nov. 1," explained one store manager, "you're ruined. We have our stock on hand now and most of it is on display. We will have to make some supplemental orders in December but the bulk of the merchandise is now on the counters."

Another merchant said there is a growing realization among shoppers that it is dollar-wise to buy early. Not only is the selection of merchandise greater, the price range is wider in November than it will be just before the holiday arrives.

He pointed to scarves on his counter.

"These items," he said, "are now selling for 50 cents. They will be popular Christmas buys. When our supply runs short and we have to order replenishment, we are going to have to pay a lot more for the scarves than we did for the lot we have on hand. And the chances are that these same items will be selling for $1 as the Christmas rush ends."

Many buyers, he said, begin looking the stock of stores over eight or nine weeks before Christmas. The more expensive gifts, he added, are selected and placed in lay-away and picked up later in the month. Smaller presents are purchased early, gift wrapped and made ready weeks before they will be presented to their new owners.

One merchant pointed to the calendar.

"Christmas is right on us," he stated. "Look — just 32 shopping days left."

Inauguration Of McMurry President Slated Tuesday

ABILENE—Three former presidents and a son of the founder of McMurry College have joined the list of representatives who will attend the inauguration of Dr. Gordon Bennett Tuesday.

Dr. Bennett will officially become the sixth president in the 35-year history of the Methodist College in inauguration ceremonies on the campus.

The three former presidents of the institution include Dr. O. P. Clark, a retired minister now living in Abilene; Dr. C. Q. Smith, retired president of Oklahoma City University, and Dr. Frank Turner, general evangelist now living in Fort Worth.

Dr. Anthony Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College in Big Spring, and son of the founder and first president of McMurry, Dr. James W. Hunt, also will attend.

Dr. Bennett is the sixth elected president of McMurry and the seventh person to hold the position. Dr. Clark served a temporary term by appointment in the early 1930's.

Bishop W. Angie Smith of the Oklahoma-New Mexico Area will deliver the inauguration address.

A Devotional For Today

The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep our hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. (Philippians 4:7.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, how wonderful is the peace Thou givest! Help us so to live this day that we may keep that peace, through Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Success In A Crucial Year

This year's United Fund campaign goal has been met, thanks to dedication and perseverance of those in places of leadership as well as to the generosity of givers.

This was the goal some said wouldn't be reached, but it was reached and on time for all practical purposes. This is important because of what it may mean for subsequent United Fund campaigns. In many respects that was a "hump" year, and we got over it with strength to spare.

In a campaign such as this it is difficult to single out individuals, but surely there is no one that would deny that Lewis H. Price, the general campaign chairman, has set the example. Mr. Price, having retired from an active business career here, took on the responsibility of guiding the fund appeal in a crucial year. He attacked the problem with all the vigor of a business man going after a personal problem. He devoted long hours to setting up the organization and then in jacking up the machine where special impetus was needed.

One of the secrets of the United Fund campaigns here has been in the calibre of men who have recognized this civic responsibility, and certainly the accomplishment of Lewis Price has added stature to the group.

Among the strengths of this year's campaign have been the larger givers; the employ groups where larger organizations of workers have regarded UF as a major community undertaking; and among public employees. About the only discordant note is in the failure of some—and by no means all—of the average individuals and businesses, who actually have more at stake in the success of the UF, to realize their share or a fair share of the responsibility. We hope they will take inspiration from the success of this year's campaign and from the devotion of many individuals such as Lewis Price.

They Learned The Real Lesson

The 1958 football season is over for Big Spring High School. We there have been more successful ones in terms of games won and lost. There have been no more successful from the point of 100 per cent effort by the boys.

There have been times when we have been bested in speed and agility and even in experience maneuvering. There have been times when we have been run over or driven back.

But there has never been a time when the boys quit or when anyone could honestly say they flinched from trying for a bruising tackle or block. After all, this is one of the chief lessons to be learned from the game rather than totalling the won-loss columns.

We feel that the team would have relished a heavily winning season much, much more than the fans. Had they posted a long string of victories, a lot of people would have been around patting them on the back. Well, why not now? They kept giving it all they had when the going was rough and all uphill. We're proud of a bunch like that.

Issue In Right-To-Work Battle

WASHINGTON — Admission in open court by 14 national labor unions that dues and assessments levied by those unions have been and are being used for political purposes is the latest sensation in the right-to-work controversy.

In a trial being held in Macon, Georgia, several persons who have been compelled against their will to join a railway labor union under a so-called "union shop" agreement are suing to have such contracts declared in violation of the Constitution of the United States and of the right-to-work laws of the state of Georgia.

Eight railroads and terminal companies, along with the 14 national and international unions in the railway industry as well as various machinists unions, are jointly made defendants, as the involuntary union members have been threatened with loss of their jobs if they fail to continue the payment of dues. The workers contend that the purpose of the dues and assessments is not just to meet collective bargaining expenses but to carry on campaigns of a political nature in order to elect candidates for public office and that this is at variance with their beliefs.

"Stipulations of fact" now have been entered in the trial, which means both sides concede the truth of the statement that tens of thousands of dollars of dues money have been used for political campaigns. The amounts and the contributing unions are formally listed for several years.

The "stipulations" do not name the individual senators or representatives who were among the recipients of the money as campaign contributions, and there are rumors around Washington that these names were purposely omitted to avoid embarrassment to many Democratic members of the Senate and several Democratic members of the House of Representatives.

The present civil suit does not raise any legal issue as to whether the federal corrupt practices act or any state laws forbidding political contributions by labor unions may have been violated, but it does deal with the question of involuntary tribute levied on workmen under the guise of dues and assessments for "collective bargaining" expenses. Up to now, it has been repeatedly argued that those individuals who do not belong to a union in a shop where a majority of the union members are "free riders." But here the worker who has joined says the dues have not been used merely for union expenses but for political purposes, too.

The opening statement of E. Smythe Gambrell, counsel for the workers, declares "that the labor unions, through the union-shop agreement, are extracting money from them (the workers) against their will." He adds that, under the First, Fifth, Ninth and Tenth Amendments of the United States Constitution, the workers are supposed to be protected "from such unwarranted invasion of their freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of work, and political freedom as the exaction of said money and its said misuse bring about."

The international unions which are defendants in the case have formed various political leagues and associations, and all the unions mentioned are members of the AFL-CIO. These associations, according to the "stipulated" facts, have received direct contributions from labor unions. One of the "stipulations" agreed to by the unions in the case reads as follows:

"The money which has been, is being, and will be paid by plaintiffs, intervening plaintiffs and the class they represent as dues, fees, and assessments has been, is being and will be used in substantial part to support candidates for the offices of president, vice president, U. S. senators and congressmen and their campaigns as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts, and for direct contributions to candidates for various state and local offices, as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts."

The unions also concede that the dues, fees and assessments required to be paid by members under the "union shop" agreement "have been, are being, and will be used in substantial part for purposes other than the negotiation, maintenance, and administration of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules and working conditions, or wages, hours, terms and other conditions of employment, or the handling of disputes relating to the above."

The Supreme Court of Georgia on June 10, 1957, decided that this practice was a violation of the Federal Constitution and remanded the case to the Superior Court of Bibb County, Georgia, for further injunction proceedings. The Supreme Court of Georgia quoted from a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which held that dues payments cannot be "used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First or the Fifth Amendments." The Georgia Supreme Court then made the following declaration in its 1957 decision: "We do not believe one can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he (the worker) opposes. We believe his right to immunity from such exactions is superior to any claim the union can make upon him."

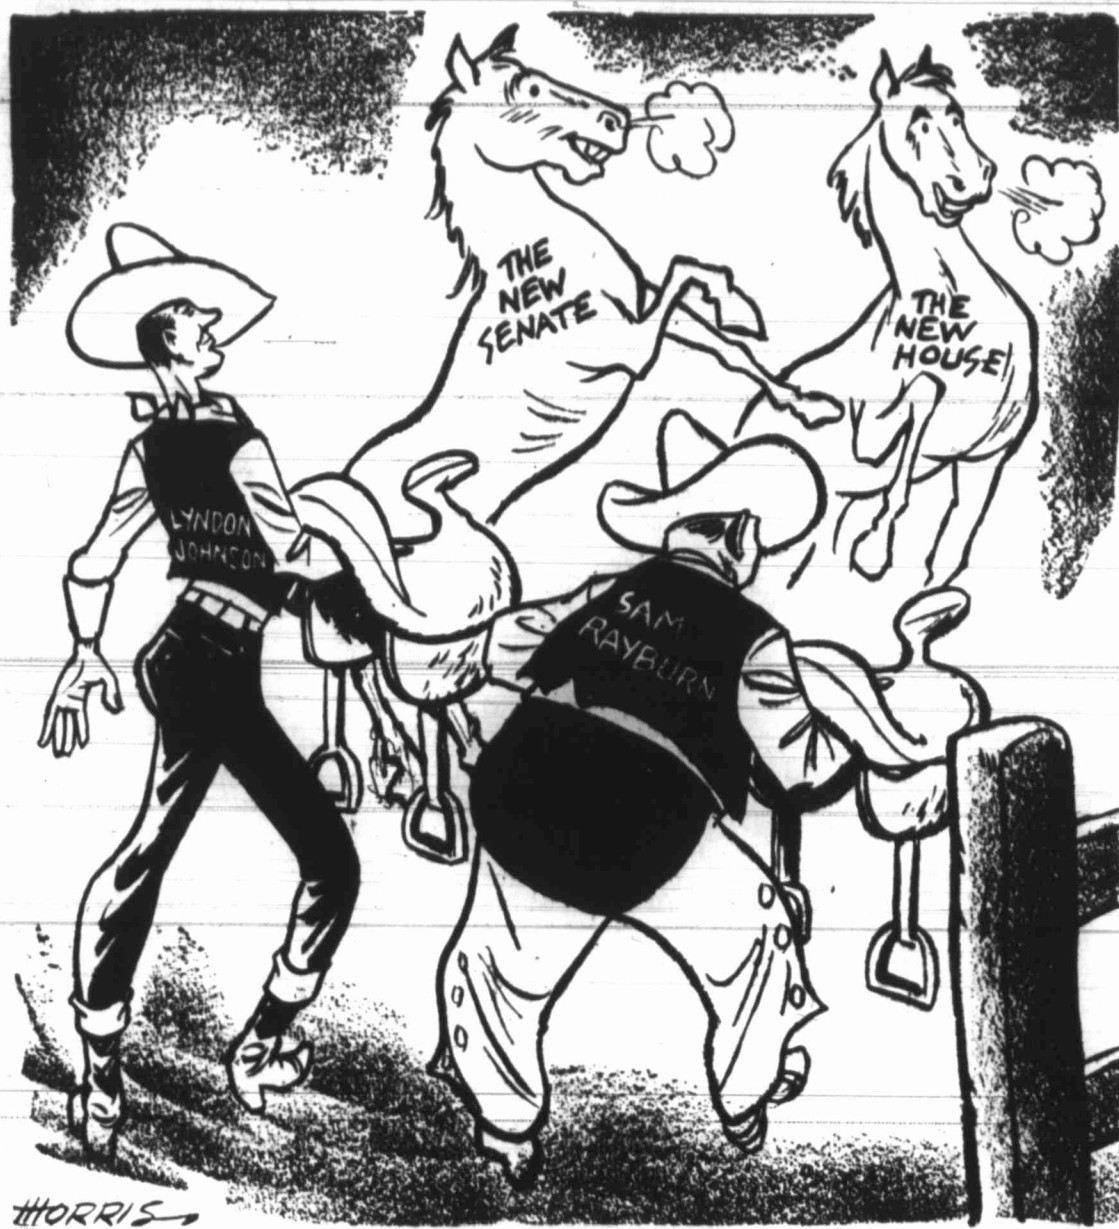

Had this issue been fully explained to the voters of the five states which last week rejected right-to-work laws and had not many millions of dollars—some estimates run up as high as $1,200,000 in California alone—derived in part from union dues been applied to defeat those laws, there might have been a different outcome.

Shock Resistant

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A cinderblock lay in the drive leading to the loading platform of a brick company here. For six months heavily laden trucks pounded it. Finally it broke open and William Hayden, an employee, found a watch inside. He wound it. It ran. He took it to a jeweler who sent it to the manufacturer. Back came two watches—one for Hayden and one for the owner of the shock resistant watch—if he can be found.

Some Party

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—The Shawnee Elks Club solved the problem of too little help at a too much crab grass in its greens. It organized a "crab grass" party and invited members to the event which included the serving of refreshments.

Quick Money Psychology Is Abroad

PHILADELPHIA—A year ago a friend of mine was talking to an electrical contractor. He remembers the date distinctly because it was just before his wedding anniversary. He said casually: "Are you interested in the stock market?"

"Hell, no," said the electrical contractor. "I can make more on my money in my own business than in Wall Street."

The other day this friend and the electrical contractor were seat companions on the same commuting train out of Philadelphia. My friend started looking through his paper. The contractor said, "Let me see the financial page if you're not looking at it." He hungrily examined the stock table, and my friend asked, "Since when have you been investing in stocks?"

The contractor said that about nine months before he had joined an investment club. Then he decided to do some investing on his own. He added, as an afterthought: "My accountant keeps telling me I need money in my business. My bills payable are too large for my bank balance. But I can't double my money in my own business in two months! Wall Street's more profitable!" What a revealing reversal!

IN-AND-OUTS IN WALL STREET

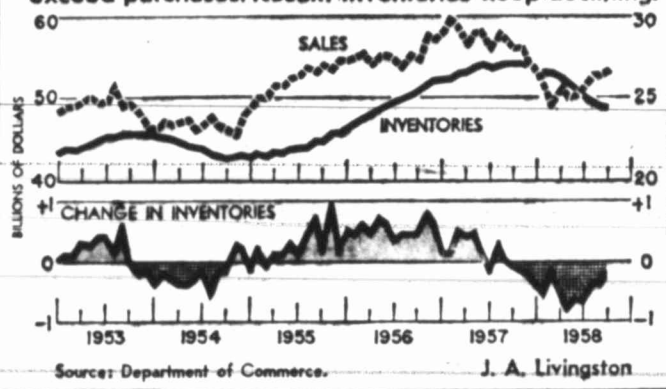

A quick-money psychology, like Hamlet's father's ghost, is abroad. You glean it from the New York Stock Exchange's recent tabulation on trading. A year ago, only 11 per cent of the purchases by ordinary customers—by you and me—were for one to six months' holding. This year that proportion has gone up to 16 per cent. Such a rise in in-and-out trading is not reassuring. Maybe you've noticed that at cocktail parties people talk as freely about their stock holdings as about the size of cars. Letters asking advice—Should I hold? Should I buy?—are on the increase. This also is not reassuring. It suggests an amateur invasion of Wall Street.

Here's a tantalizing fact: A 6.3 billion-dollar decline in business inventories has occurred in the last year. Yet commercial loans at all banks are down only $2,000,000. And total loans are actually up. Is it possible that money is leaking out of the banking system into securities markets without being noted?

Because the Federal Reserve

Board has boosted margin requirements to 90 per cent brokers comment: "This is a cash stock market, a strong market." True, high margin requirements curb debt borrowing for speculative purposes. But if business firms borrow on their own credit, presumably for business purposes (as the electrical contractor might do), and divert the funds into stocks, then the market may not be as cashy as the statistics suggest. This the Federal Reserve might well re-examine.

DETROIT's trouble will affect industry generally—steel, copper, zinc, textiles. Remember sales of Volkswagens, Simcas, and English Fords don't consume U. S. labor or materials.

The enthusiastic assumption today is that we'll skip right out of the 1955-56-57 boom to a 1959-60 boom. The intervening recession was merely prelude.

Warning: It's well in buying stocks to know that you're buying that assumption. It's well to know that buying stocks has its parallel to a parlay at the race track. You're assuming, betting, that events will unfold favorably, that business will be good. A business forecast is only as sound as its weakest assumption. A parlay at the race track is only as good as its longest shot. Question: How good are most current auto forecasts?

No Sparing The Rod

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Deputies arrested a 6-1, 180-pound teenager for creating a disturbance at a drive-in restaurant and summoned his mother.

The mother came to the station, heard the report and borrowed a belt from a deputy. She then made her son lower his pants—as deputies watched—and then lowered the boom with the belt. Deputies marked the case closed.

Imported Nurses

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Flower hospital has imported three British nurses, even paying their passage to America. Hospital Administrator Victor Bjork said the English nurses are particularly valuable because they are willing to live at the hospital and be available for emergency duty at all times. American girls, he said, are reluctant these days to live on the hospital grounds.

Floating Loan

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A loan on a boat generally is a good one for banks to float, a banking conference here was told.

"A boating enthusiast will almost part with his wife before losing his boating equipment," said Guy W. Hughes, Chicago, executive director of the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Half Burglar

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Warren Mayo, operator of a service station here, reports he was victimized by a burglar who apparently believed in sharing. Mayo says the man broke into his station, took $40 from the cash register but left another $40.

Around The Rim Great Circle Tour, With Stopovers

By the time this reaches you in the regular course of publication, I will have boarded the T&P choo-choo and will have put many miles between us. If there were no Providential hindrance, as my good mother used to say, this day will find me, with the Dream Girl and friends, in the city of Detroit, Mich.

We are engaged upon what is called the Fall vacation. A swing like this, you understand, takes quite a bit of doing for pore folks, and necessarily had been the chief topic of conversation around the place for weeks—nay, months.

So you mention the Fall vacation and everybody says, "How nice! It's always so hot to go anywhere in the summer. And the northern part of the country should be beautiful at this time of year."

Well, they're right on the first score, because it is hot in the summer time. And I can't report in advance what the temperatures will be in Michigan and New York and Massachusetts, but I have mentally wagered that a Fall vacation can be too darned cold. At any rate, on counting garments for a summer vacation, one doesn't have to include long underwear and top coats. These get bulky in traveling, you know.

And I'm not too sure about Nature's beauty (this report will come later) but I know the North had me in Rhode Island one January and February, and I almost would have been willing for the Nazis and Japs to win the war, if I could just feel some sun warm by bones, and see some earth instead of snow. But this is one of those vacations to "see some new country," you know, and we're a-gonna see it if it freezes our legs off.

Why Detroit? This is another outcome of those long planning sessions. You know, the first decision is to go to Washington and Philadelphia. A few bull sessions on these destinations leads into the inevitable "Why don't we just go on to such-and-such? It's not much farther?" By the time all enthusiasms have been satisfied, we have come up with a great circle tour, with as many stop-overs as a presidential campaign party.

Anyway, Detroit was chosen because of anticipatory interest in not only the automobile factories, but also the early American delights of Greenfield Village and other wonders in the Ford museum collections at Dearborn.

And then away we go, clear across the top of the nation to Bala-ton, to have a try at lobsters and clam chowder and to check on the route of Paul Revere. I hope what I learned in the geographies will not subject me to disillusionment.

We'll go through New York, because you can't hardly get around the place, but if I know anything about costs in New York, our stay there will be limited. And on to Washington at a time when, fortunately, Congress is not in session. This means more serenely along the Potomac, and surely, more pleasure for tourists.

Some side trips into Virginia and Pennsylvania, to soak up first-hand some of the rich history of the Civil War locale, and then we'll be ending up in Philadelphia. The Liberty Bell is important, of course, but so is the Army-Navy football game.

Nobody cares about my tour, but I'm telling it anyway, principally because my creditors are entitled to have some reason for not paying you-know-what when they become due-s. Sorry, I spent it all on my vacation.

How To Be A Happy Person

A few months ago I appeared on a television interview program. The interviewer was a bright and sophisticated person who asked his questions briskly and cleverly. Finally, in that cheery tone that always signifies the end of the program, he said, "And now, folks, we have time for just one more question and, Dr. Peale, you'll have to answer it fast. You've got exactly fifteen seconds."

I braced myself and he threw it at me. "Are you a happy man?"

Well! I ducked at first, but then picked it up and answered with complete certainty. "Sure, of course, I am."

What about you? Suppose you were asked whether or not you are happy and given fifteen seconds to answer. You wouldn't have time to think, to equivocate, to analyze or to explain. You'd have to answer yes or no. Your quick instinctive answer would probably be the true one because basically we know whether or not we are happy.

One of the great fundamental questions in life, is this: Are you a happy person? What would your answer be?

The Great Philosopher who taught in Galilee and Judea long ago offered real happiness and his formula is a simple one. "These things have I spoken to you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full," he said.

What are "these things" to which the Great Teacher refers? Oh, things like love, forgiveness, unselfishness, goodness, overcoming self, mastering weaknesses, helping people. Have you noticed you always get a warm glow in your heart when you do any of these? That warm inner glow is a pretty good sign that you are on the track of happiness. The more times your heart registers that glowing feeling the happier you'll be.

A friend of mine, a grumpy unhappy fellow, read one of my books in which I advocate trying "these things." Jesus gives as a happiness formula. My friend wrote a kind of doubling letter inquiring if this was really workable or was it just a nice pious platitude. It so happened that he worked in a scientific field, and I suggested that he apply the scientific method to this material and see for himself whether or not it would work. He decided that for one month he would seriously try to live exactly as Jesus teaches. He made a thorough study of those teachings to work out a plan which he outlined in five steps:

1. I will be honest at all times.
2. I will forgive everybody.
3. I will empty out all wrong thoughts.
4. I will be kind and thoughtful to other people.
5. I will daily read God's word.

Every night he faithfully checked his "score." It wasn't easy going but he stuck at it. Now, even with imperfections in his "score," he declares, "This way of living has it over any other I've ever known!" This method gradually has made this man a truly happy person.

His experience demonstrates that vital religious faith is the surest way to real happiness. His formula (honesty, forgiveness, right-thinking, kindness and spiritual guidance) is so effective that I tell of it here in the hope that those who are looking for happiness will give it a trial. I'm sure it will work for you too.

Some Hope For The Committee

WASHINGTON—In the interval between the election and the arrival of a thundering horde of newly elected Democrats the useful hope is held out that because of their greatly enlarged majorities and, therefore, their far greater responsibility the new majorities can set the line on foreign policy.

While this is partly illusion it also, as recent events have shown, contains an element of truth despite the weaknesses of the Congressional committee system. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee can take considerable credit for the Development Loan Fund, which is a valuable new instrument of policy.

Chairman of the committee is Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island. At age 91—his birthdays have become as much a feature of Washington life as the appearance of the cherry blossoms—Senator Green keeps direction of the committee firmly in his own hands.

He has the habit, intensely annoying to other members of the committee, of reading in committee meeting long documents in a manner that for stupefying dullness has no peers. As he drones on the Senators around the table get fidgety and soon discover they have more important business elsewhere. Minnesota's Senator Hubert Humphrey, who is always busier than 10 bird dogs, dashes out to the Senate Agriculture Committee to make sure that the interests of Minnesota dairy farmers are looked after. Others drift away until the chairman's venerable voice sounds on the empty air.

This points up the failings of the committee system. Claims for time and attention pile up on each member of Congress. Every year the burden grows greater as the people back home come more and more to regard their senators and representatives as agents sent to Washington to lobby for more federal gravy in defense contracts or rivers or harbors.

Under the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946 no committee can have more than four professional and six clerical employees without special approval. Consultants can be hired on a year-to-year basis. But with such a small staff obviously the Foreign Relations Committee cannot build up the independent factual background on which to initiate policy, even if that were possible under the American system.

But if so happens, and this is an encouraging sign, that the vast body of expert knowledge in this country is about to be drawn upon. Thanks in part to the able staff director of the Foreign Relations Committee, Carl March, the gap between legislative decision and action and the experts with objective knowledge and with new ideas in the universities and the various associations may be bridged.

After Vice President Nixon was greeted in Latin America by a blast of hatred, the committee at the instigation of Senator Wayne Morse authorized an inquiry into policy south of the border, with a fund of $150,000. Then when the Near East blew up and the United States had no alternative but to send troops into Lebanon, a world-wide investigation was ordered, with $300,000 authorized. Senator William Fulbright, who in his nearly 20 years in Congress has become one of the nation's foremost specialists in foreign policy, had long been pressing for such a broad inquiry.

What is now contemplated as that the money will be used to contract with foreign relations experts in centers that have come into being at Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Johns Hopkins, the University of Chicago and in three or four institutions on the West Coast. In this way, if the plan is approved, the lawmakers will benefit from the counsel of the nation's most distinguished experts.

These findings will be checked against the reports of the State Department. The surveys authorized by the committee are to be completed by the spring of 1960 and the reports made public at that time.

There is a strong inclination by committee members to cooperate with those in the department who want to enlarge and improve the economic aid programs and get away from what many feel is a sterile and repetitive doling out of arms to nations ill-equipped to use them. Thus the committee, in approving the Development Loan Fund, worked closely with Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, who has been constantly stressing the need for more and better economic programs.

These are hopeful portents. They indicate that, despite the pessimists, the American system of divided powers can work constructively under the spur of urgent necessity.

DEAR ABBY

USE PSYCHOLOGY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I can never get my husband to go any place. He is only 41 and he acts like 90! Even when I plan an evening of bridge at home with another couple he grumbles. When I ask him to take me to a movie he throws a fit. How can I get him to be more sociable and to take me out more?

RUTH: Your approach is wrong! Don't TELL him—let him have a choice. Say, "Darling, do you want to hear Dr. Talkaleoff lecture on 'Nuclear Physics and Existentialism' tonight, or shall we see a movie instead?" Or, "Dear, do you want to clean out the store-room tonight, or shall I ask those nice Joneses over for a table of bridge?"

DEAR ABBY: Let me share my own secret experience with you and any other girl who thinks she has to go "all the way" to prove her love. My husband handed me that same line before we were married. Because I loved him and was afraid I'd lose him, I let him talk me into "going all the way" before marriage. We've been married for 12 years and are very happy, but until the day I die I will regret giving in to him because I know if he had waited he would have married me anyway. Although he was the first and only man in my life, he has often said, in a teasing way, "If I could talk you into it, so could some other man." MARRIED BUT SORRY

DEAR ABBY: I need advice and I need it fast. My father and brother keep barging into my room without knocking. I'm 16 and feel that I deserve a little privacy. There's no lock on my door so I put a chair up against it. Last night my father fell over the chair and cracked his shin bone and he got so mad he would have wrung my neck if he had caught me. Don't you think they should knock before coming into my room or am I wrong? "NO PRIVACY" DEAR "NO." YES! But you need a LOCK not a KNOCK! Your mother will cooperate—and so will your father if he likes his shin bone connected to his knee bone.

DEAR ABBY: My daughters, ages 3 and 4, are very poor eaters and always have been. I don't know what they live on. Just getting a bowl of cereal or a glass of orange juice down them is sheer torture. They poke around and take about an hour. I don't let them eat between meals, hoping they will be hungry at mealtime, but that doesn't help. I would give anything to see them enjoy a meal. If you or your readers have any ideas I would be very grateful.

DISCOURAGED: Take them to your family doctor. Let him prescribe a good nourishing diet and perhaps a food supplement including a tonic or vitamins. Nagging and coaxing children to eat can spoil their appetites.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NICK: She sounds much too good to be true. Careful of those gals who have trouble getting their dresses on over their wings. Later they have trouble getting their hair on over their horns.

Area's Big Cotton Harvest Passes Half-Way Milepost

Thirty-seven per cent of Howard County's big 1958 cotton crop is still in the fields, the Texas Employment Commission estimated on Saturday.

TEC reported that gins had processed 23,647 bales so far this fall. The estimated crop, according to TEC, will be 39,000. This means that 63 per cent of the crop has been picked.

The county is ahead of Martin and Glasscock counties in its harvest work but lags sharply behind Dawson County.

Dawson farmers have 80 per cent of their picking behind them, the TEC at Lamesa said. The estimated crop for that county is 135,000 bales of which 107,939 have already been ginned.

Martin County with an estimated crop of 64,100 bales has 33,802—52 per cent—of its crop picked. Glasscock with 8,700 bales estimated as its production has only 4,925 bales ginned or 57 per cent of its total.

Dawson County had a slightly better month in October from a moisture standpoint than either Howard or Martin which probably accounts for its high total ginings.

Meantime, in Lubbock, it was asserted this year's Texas High Plains Cotton crop is one of the best in quality as well as in yield in many years. Third report for the High Plains area showed that ginings have passed the million bale mark—achieved on Nov. 11—and that 85 per cent of the cotton harvested has been white cotton. Average staple length has been 31.6-stnds with 51.9 per cent an inch or better.

First Graders To Get Patch Tests

LAMESA—All first grade students in Dawson County will be patch tested for tuberculosis, according to Dr. John Paul Puckett, president of the Dawson County TB Assn.

School health nurses will be in charge of the tests. They are Miss Marie Long and Mrs. Kay Hardberger, Lamesa schools; and Mrs. Janice Bradford, Dawson County Rural Schools.

The tests will begin as soon as the supplies arrive, according to Miss Long. The TB Assn. finances the tests through its annual Christmas Seal Sale.

Farm-City Week Observance Set By Kiwanis Club

Big Spring Kiwanis Club is cooperating with the national committee on observance of Farm-City Week which opens on Nov. 21.

Part of the observance planned here is a special program on Thursday at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club. The theme of the program will be Farm-City relations and Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the Howard County Junior College is to be guest speaker.

As special guests a large number of Howard County farmers have been invited to attend. J. C. Ebersole, with the Martin-Howard County Soil Conservation office, is program chairman for the day.

The national committee is made up of representatives of 150 major farm organizations, industries, associations, businesses, governmental agencies, educational institutions and church groups.

Object of the annual Farm-City Week is to cement happier relationships between rural and urban dwellers and advance further the idea of the dependence each has on the other for economic well-being.

Fender Skirts Are Found By Canine

E. O. Smith, Coahoma, has a dog with unusual talents.

His pooch "freed" a pair of grey colored automobile fender skirts.

Smith brought the fender skirts to the office of the sheriff. He said that he found them when he heard his dog barking vigorously in pastureland near his home. He investigated and the dog was holding the two fender skirts at bay.

Smith thinks someone stole the skirts and then decided to throw them away. Owner can have same by calling at the sheriff's office and identifying his property.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

"A Certain Smile." In the last few years, it has become fashionable for certain brilliant—but ridiculously innocent—young girls to dream up, write and publish sexy novels.

The result is an almost unbelievable mixture of truth and hogwash, knowledge and ignorance, dirty sex and high ideals, wisdom and immaturity.

Françoise Sagan, who wrote "A Certain Smile," started the whole sad business. This particular story concerns a young student at the Sorbonne in Paris, who falls for a middle-aged gay blade, even though she's already in love with a fellow student. The older man, it turns out (and too late), is married.

Miss Sagan's treatment of the adultery theme is rather childish, although in places she shows that startling wisdom which unlettered youth sometimes has.

The film version, however, loses whatever appeal the book had. Director Jean Negulesco makes the film seem more chaste than it is, simply by hiding the theme and forcing the audience to use its imagination, but this trick fails to make up for the film's weaknesses.

The story trips daintily along over a mediocre love affair then simmers out at the end. Even the acting is rather wooden.

About the only good thing about "A Certain Smile" is the background scenery of Paris and other parts of France. It's simply superb.

"Party Girl." Here's another yarn about the Roaring Twenties, and there's nothing new about the old, familiar plot. There is some fair acting, however, from Robert Taylor as a mouthpiece for the mob who decides to go straight, Cyd Charisse as the girl who turns him to the straight and narrow (although she's not exactly a member of "nice" society herself) and Lee J. Cobb as the nasty old mob leader.

"The Brave One." Michel Ray is wonderful as a little Mexican boy whose love for a fighting bull is great enough to bridge the gap between human and bovine.

"The One That Got Away." True account of the only Nazi flier ever to escape captivity from the British during World War II. Absorbing semi-documentary.

"Kings Go Forth." Another in a long series of yarns supposedly about World War II, but which are in reality like something out of True Romances. If it's a war picture you want, this isn't it.

"Imitation General." An oddball mixture of the humor and horror of war. A laugh one minute, and a lovable general you don't want to see hurt toppling over dead the next minute. This film is not designed for the conformist or the orthodox.

"From Here to Eternity." The Academy Award-winning film about life at Pearl Harbor before the Japs came. Honest, brutal and absorbing entertainment.

The Next Number: Heart Flush Blues

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Red Camp, a nationally-known jazz pianist, who lives in Corpus Christi, uses regular playing cards to improvise music.

Camp, a stocky, highly-energetic man, shuffled the cards and dealt himself a hand of five cards.

He explained that each card, except the king, signifies one note in the scale. Dealing out a hand gives five notes from which he can improvise a contemporary jazz number. Sometimes he uses two hands with the second used as a secondary theme.

Camp, who now has four 12-inch long play albums on the market and four others on which he appears as a featured soloist, said there are other methods of improvising.

"Some jazz pianists use numbers or first letters from names of people in the audience," Camp said. "I use cards because I don't have an audience at home."

He smiled and added: "Anyway, it keeps me out of pool halls."

Camp recently was announced as the first jazz soloist ever to be named for a Civic Music Assn. tour. He will be with the association during the 1959-1960 season. Till now the association programs have been strictly classical.

Camp's presentation to audiences will be a history of jazz. "My concert will be about half lecture and half music," he said. He said that in his opinion jazz has risen to a position almost as high as classical music and far above so-called "popular" music.

At a meeting Thursday evening, hospital staff members and volunteer workers laid final plans for the pageant, which will follow the form of pantomime leading to the manger scene, with narration and music. The sets are being built at the hospital workshop.

Producer and director is John Austin, with Mrs. Robert James as assistant; narrator is Chaplain Marvin Berkeland, with script by this writer; John Findlater is in charge of set and costume design, with the O. T. department taking care of construction; and choral director is Mrs. Robert Mason.

Cast members and the choir have been chosen from among the patients.

The set will feature scenes depicting the shepherds in the field, the manger, the inn and the approach of the wise men. The narrative will describe the various scenes, and both will be tied together with singing of familiar carols by the choir. Organ music will be used in the background between choral numbers.

Makeup crews are called out, to stand by the actors each has made up. Wayne calls the actors front and center, under the lights, and briskly clips off instructions for refurbishing of faces.

Projection (meaning, making yourself heard in the back row) is unusually good for still-developing young voices.

The students are serious about their acting. Many of them asked the local critic's opinion of how they were developing, and they would have asked the same honest question of other visitors, had there been any there.

Beverly Franklin, who carries the title role, ventured the opinion that the play dragged in spots, that it lacked energy. When I offhandedly started to explain that there is plenty of energy, but that it just needs controlling, Miss Franklin moved over closer and hung on every word. A rather flattering reaction.

When young people are as intent as this on making good, you know something good is about to happen.

Writers Building Market Library

WRITERS BUILDING—18 The writers club is building up a thorough library of U. S. publications. The idea is to put representative copies of all possible markets before the writers.

This has several advantages. Firstly, knowing what publications are in existence, and the nature of their content, helps a writer to recognize and develop ideas for stories and articles.

Secondly, a writer with a story or article he doesn't know what to do with can consult the library in search for a possible market.

Thirdly, once a writer has settled on his idea and his market, he may write his manuscript according to the style of that particular publication.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the troubles with the American woman is that she never wants to admit her true size, says an astute California designer, Edith Martin.

A size 20 woman almost always tries to get into a size 16 dress," observes this authority. "The result is that she bulges above and below the belt, strains the seams and generally manages to look much bigger than if she wore a dress big enough to fit her."

In recognition of this universal problem, Miss Martin has been designing for some time a collection of "half-size" dresses, planned specifically for the woman who prefers her chocolate sodas to a streamlined figure.

Her designs included most of the current trends in junior and misses' sizes, scaled on a slightly more ample scale, with adroit placement of seams, belts and drapery to conceal waistline and hipline bulges.

Secretaries Unit Issues Bulletin

A new bulletin, "Scenic View," was introduced to the Big Spring Chapter of the International Secretaries Assn. at a meeting last night.

The bulletin committee includes Mary Archer, chairman, Marguerite Cooper and Luene Robinson. The publication will include information on local, regional and national activities of the secretaries organization.

It was announced that Madeline Munas, El Paso, treasurer of the Texas-Louisiana Division, will attend the next chapter meeting, at 7 p.m. Nov. 26 in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Mrs. Crosby Nearly Suffered Tragedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kathy Crosby, Bing's wife, says she missed by just a fraction of an inch having her face paralyzed by a traffic accident injury.

"A plastic surgeon told me," she said at a news conference Thursday night "that if the cut on my face had been 1-16 of an inch higher it would have struck a nerve and paralyzed me for life."

She said it took about 30 stitches to close a four-inch gash.

The 24-year-old actress' car rammed into the rear of another one Wednesday.

"I saw the man stop and I put my foot on the brakes," she said, "but my shoe slipped off the pedal. The heel broke and I think I hit the accelerator."

"A woman just cannot drive one of those sports cars while wearing high heels."

Down, Boy!

The above expression was not used in Prohibition Days, being of recent vintage, but that's about the gist of what Cyd Charisse tells mobster John Ireland in this scene from "Party Girls," Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz. It's an old plot with new faces, and a bit of pulchritude from Miss Charisse.

Something Good's Bound To Happen

A couple of weeks ago, I visited the set of "Time Out for Ginger," and found the thespians still in the script reading stage, about as rough and unpolished as inexperienced high school actors can get. They had been victims of delays caused mainly by exams.

Wednesday evening I had a pleasant surprise. The kids are conducting themselves like real troopers, and drama instructor Phil Wayne's tutelage, though it be whip-like at times, is leading them down that straight and narrow path that leads to opening night success.

They've learned their lines, are becoming more polished, and if they continue progressing at their present rate, "Time Out for Ginger" may be among the best productions ever put on in the high school auditorium.

Naturally, there are a few rough spots, such as the kids' tendency to say "jist" and "git," and the inexperienced lighting crew's confusion when faced with a complex switchboard. There are times when the rehearsal is more fun than the play.

Wayne knows how to handle his helpers—by instituting firm discipline to begin with and then, as the students learn the routine, letting them assume more responsibility, on the principle that the

That Famous Scene

Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr shocked many unsuspecting movie goers with this love scene in "From Here to Eternity." Of course, since the film was first released, Hollywood has dared to put many another lurid scene past the censors. Anyway, the point is that the Academy Award-winning film is back at the Sahara Sunday through Tuesday.

'Elijah' Should Be Worth A Trip

Next to "The Messiah," the most famed and most popular oratorio ever written was Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Lovers of good music and the Good Book may have both when the composition is staged Wednesday in Midland. Jack Hendrix, HCJC music chief, will be organizing the production.

"Elijah" is the story of a battle between the prophets of Jehovah and the prophets of Baal during an early period of Jewish history, when the worship of Baal threatened the very foundations of the Hebrew religion.

It was a many-sided battle, not the least of which were the miracles with which the prophets for both sides tried to outdo each other. Mendelssohn, however, concentrated upon the character of the prophet Elijah, one of the greatest miracle workers, and the trials and tribulations of the Jewish hero.

"Elijah" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church of Midland, and featuring the 60-voice choir of that church.

It ought to be worth the trip.

Understudy Follows Actress' Example

NEW YORK (AP) — Joan Rylander is following the example of the actress she understudies on Broadway.

For months Miss Rylander has been standby for Evan Evans in the hit drama, "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs." Miss Evans, who went to the Yale School of Drama, scored well with the critics in the debut assignment.

Now Joan is leaving the play—to attend the Yale School of Drama.

Car Travel

NEW YORK (AP) — Car travel play problems for the younger set are neatly solved with a game which ends the problem of losing pieces ingeniously by attaching the playing pieces firmly to the board by cords. The spill-proof car travel game board represents a highway marked by varied obstacles which habitually delay motorists. The object of play is to be the first to drive from one end of the route to the other.

It was a many-sided battle, not the least of which were the miracles with which the prophets for both sides tried to outdo each other. Mendelssohn, however, concentrated upon the character of the prophet Elijah, one of the greatest miracle workers, and the trials and tribulations of the Jewish hero.

Fruit Cake Sale Opens

Members of the school bands, as well as members of the Band Boosters Club, are engaged in their annual fruit cake sale project.

All net proceeds from sale of the cakes go into the band activities fund.

The youngsters are making a house-to-house canvass in an effort to make as many sales as possible in advance of the holiday season. (That residents may know that solicitors are connected with the band, they should check on the order forms and the price lists, which are two pounds $3.70, three pounds $5.10 and five pounds $8.15.)

The product is made by a reputable firm and delivery will be well in advance of the holiday season. The band has engaged in this activity for several seasons.

McMurry Band To Play Concert Here

McMurry College Indian Band will play an evening concert in the Big Spring city auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday under auspices of the Big Spring High School Band Booster Club.

Admission to the concert will be 50 cents and the profits derived will be placed in the uniform fund for the high school band.

The Band Booster Club is hopeful a capacity turnout will be on hand to hear this famous group of college musicians. The McMurry musicians, under the baton of Raymond T. Bynum, has the reputation of being one of the finest and most widely travelled bands in the nation. One tour supervised by Bynum, who has been its director since 1946, took the organization to Europe.

Its appearance in Big Spring was arranged by Douglas Wieche, Big Spring High School band director and his assistant, Tommy Fry.

The present fall tour of the band will include stops in Odessa, Midland, Fort Stockton, Colorado City, Crane, Iran and Big Spring.

One highlight of the appearance in Big Spring will be selections by the bell choir, playing with a recently acquired set of English bells cast especially for the choir. These handbells, made in Holland, arrived only a few weeks ago. They have been on order for two and a half years. The Indians now have 25 such bells and have ordered more to complete the set.

Jerry Tate, drum major of the band, will be featured on the marimba. Other soloists to be heard are Ann Bynum, flute, and Judy Mathis, cymbals.

VETERINARIAN SAYS

Lice May Damage Livestock Severely

By DR. AKIN SIMPSON
Cattle should have a warm, protective coat of hair to go into the winter season. And cattle raisers should make sure that nothing such as an infestation of lice interferes with their animals to prevent the development of a good winter coat.

There are many types of lice, some affecting one species of livestock and some another, but usually the same type of louse does not infest more than one species of animal. In other words, the types which infest cattle are not likely to infest sheep or swine.

On the economic side, lice often cause dairy cows to drop in milk production, and they cause a reduction in the rate of gain of beef cattle.

Lice can damage an animal quite severely, especially in the case of the short-nosed cattle louse which is a blood-sucker. A heavy infestation could result in anemia and eventual death. The short-nosed louse seems to prefer adult cattle, while the long-nosed louse is found most often on calves. It is also a blood sucker. Then there is another found on cattle called the round-headed louse. It is a biting type, not a blood-sucker. It lives on skin scales.

It is easy for the farmer to tell if there are lice on his animals. For one thing, cattle infested with lice usually rub against fence posts, buildings, or anything which is available. Infested cattle rub the areas of skin that are irritated and may rub off patches of hair. If the rubbing of the cattle is not a tipoff, when the infestation becomes severe the large numbers of lice around eyes and ears result in a darker color of those areas.

Lice are not likely to infest all members of a herd equally. For reasons that are not known, lice seem to thrive and multiply more on some animals than on others. It has been suggested that skin texture, density of hair, body temperature, or specific elements in the animal's blood or a combination of these factors may make certain animals more inviting.

The pests multiply rapidly. When lice get on an animal, they usually stay there until they die or are killed. They lay their eggs and the young hatch there. In that way one pair of lice can produce more than 100,000 in two months.

The best method by which this reproductive cycle can be broken and the animal freed of the infestation is spraying, although dusting with powder can also be helpful. One of the most important features of a program to control lice is the choice of a spray compound. At one time D-D-T was used, but authorities now say it may be dangerous for use on dairy cattle. Most authorities now recommend the use of chlordane, benzene hexachloride, or lindane — three spray compounds which will remain on the animal for some time after they are applied, and will thus kill new lice as they are hatched. The animal's housing quarters should also be treated.
