Rosebud Has Advice On Pruning, Lot Planning

Mrs. Walter Moore and Mrs. D. Dyer brought the program for the Rosebud Garden Club at the Clyde Thomas home Tuesday morning. Mrs. W. B. Younger was co-hostess.

Proceeding the meeting, the members were served coffee from the table covered with a turquoise cloth centered with a flower composite of off-white pottery. Artificial fruit was used in the container and the complement was a china turkey.

In speaking on lot planning, Mrs. Moore said the family should be considered in making the selection of a location; also consideration should be given to family convenience in placing the house. A lot on high ground is preferable and soil should be checked for depth. The speaker also warned new owners to be sure of titles and boundaries before they placed their shrubs or fences. Also it should be remembered in planning for shrubs that they along with high fences, can be traffic hazards.

Continuous blooms can be had by careful planning in advance, according to Mrs. Moore. She suggested snapdragons and roses and old of the various annual, bi-annuals, perennials, the woody plants and bulbs.

Mrs. Dyer's topic was on pruning, which is done to give plants shape, cut away dead wood and give new growth a chance. When trees are pruned to rid them of diseased spots, it was suggested that all tools be sterilized before using on other parts of the tree or other trees or shrubs. Diseased wood should be burned.

Wounds in the bark should always be painted to keep pests from entering. Fruit needs light, and it is well to cut away foliage when it becomes so dense it keeps sunlight from the fruit. When pruning for shape and for removing dead limbs, the pruning should be done in February or March.

Flowering shrubs should be cut immediately following the flowering period while others may be done almost any time. When working on a neglected shrub, the old main trunk should be cut away as low as possible, leaving the new shoots.

Plans are under way for a Christmas dinner at which the husbands of members will be special guests. Members may bring other guests if desired. The social committee, composed of Mrs. Travis Carlton, Mrs. Odell Womack and Mrs. Jack Cook, will be in charge of arrangements. Bruce Frazier will be the speaker.

Fifteen members were present.

Legislators Indicate Action Due On College Teachers Pay

Editor's Note: This is another in the series on what legislators think the top issues in January.
By FRANK N. MANITZAS
AUSTIN (AP)—Legislators indicate they will do more than talk about college teachers' pay when education is mentioned in the 56th session next year.

The Associated Press poll of lawmakers showed at least 20 per cent placing education as the No. 3 or 3 problem to be considered—once the money tree is found. Although most linked teacher's pay and education as one topic, many legislators seemed interested in finding out what to do to improve higher education.

"Higher education is poorly financed in Texas," said Rep. Dean Johnston of Houston. "Texas is above average in wealth and pride and in the devotion of its citizens, but average or below in translating that wealth and pride and devotion into a greater good for a larger number."

A House member who has worked on appropriation bills in past years, Rep. B. H. Dewey Jr. of Bryan, said: "More money is needed for higher education."

Rep. Bill Shaw of Forney agreed but says merit raises are needed as an incentive to teachers, not just a general pay raise.

Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock predicted the Legislature's biggest fight will be over how much money teachers should get. He said he will support pay raises for teaching personnel but not administrators.

Thirty per cent of those answering The Associated Press poll were non-committal about education. Some said "no" to pay raises. Few differentiated between education in grades one through 12 and in the state's 18 colleges and universities.

But Rep. Harold Coley of Conroe put as the state's No. 2 problem: "Attempts to make changes in college and university degrees, and in spending. It disturbs me to learn of some of the changes that are being proposed, concerning operation of our colleges and universities."

"I'm not adverse to change as such, but some of the proposals are radical when compared to our long established custom," he said. "I'll change slowly."

Coley was not specific as to what recommendations he was referring to. He and the other legislators will have many recommendations on higher education. They'll come from the Texas Commission on Higher Education, the Legislative Budget Board and Gov. Price Daniel.

And then the individual schools will make their pitch before appropriations committees.

From the state's big spending pot, the general revenue fund, the Commission on Higher Education recommends $20,911,966 more be appropriated for 1960-61 than the present biennium. Of the overall 29 per cent increase for academic institutions alone, the commission said $11,079,104 would be poured into teaching salaries. The total for higher education would be about 67 million annually.

The Budget Board's recommendations are still under wraps. But they may be lower and require less digging for money.

Created by the Legislature, the Commission on Higher Education's main job is to stop duplication and unnecessary spending through course expansion by institutions. It cut seven million annually from the school's requests.

Here is what the commission recommends be appropriated for 1960 to the schools, with the percentage increase over 1959 expenditures:

- University of Texas, $12,643,343, up 20 per cent; Texas Western, El Paso, $1,529,203, up 22; Texas A&M, $5,287,329, up 14; Arlington State, $1,757,054, up 72; Tarleton State, Stephenville, $740,406, up 37; Prairie View A&M, $1,801,869, up 24; Texas Tech, $4,796,465, up 30; North Texas State, Denton, $3,763,309, up 47; Lamar Tech, Beaumont, $2,147,427, up 44; Texas A&I, $1,716,448, up 47; Texas Woman's University, Denton, $1,573,673, up 23; Texas Southern University, Houston, $1,765,252, up 41; East Texas State, Commerce, $1,791,777, up 35; Sam Houston State Teachers, Huntsville, $2,033,235, up 48; Southwest Texas State Teachers, $1,443,243, up 21; West Texas State, Canyon, $1,356,270, up 37; Stephen F. Austin, Nacogdoches, $1,354,683, up 23; Sul Ross State, Alpine, $755,641, up 30.

Jap Critic Feels Sympathy To U.S. On Race Problem

TOKYO (AP) — A caustic Japanese critic of the United States has expressed sympathy for America's efforts to solve its Negro problem. Ashihel Hino, Japanese novelist just returned from a two-month trip to the United States, said he saw improvement in the status of Negroes in many places, including Little Rock.

In an article in the newspaper Tokyo Shimbun, Hino said the Negro "if he demands outright equality, without improving his own record for crime, ignorance and uncleanness, is bound to fail."

Hino has charged in previous writings that the United States mistreated "our brothers and sisters in Okinawa." He also ridicules punishment of low-ranking Japanese soldiers for war crimes. He has made previous trips to the Soviet Union, Communist China and North Korea. His books and articles on Communist nations are more critical of them than his Tokyo Shimbun article is of the United States.

"I visited Little Rock, Ark., with a preconception mixed with dread," he writes. "I had thought it was a fearsome place of bigotry where poor Negroes were ruthlessly persecuted by whites."

"I found out quickly my preconception was completely wrong. It was a quiet, beautiful city... Whites and colored people were living together in harmony. "Facilities for the Negroes were as good as those in New York, Boston and Chicago I had seen earlier."

"Now I know it is wrong to consider the Little Rock school incident as a peak of the Negro problem. It is indeed far more complex and deep rooted."

On his way to Little Rock, Hino used a "colored rest room" for the first time in Memphis, Tenn. "It was narrow but clean, and its equipment was the same as in white rest rooms," he reported. "That was a typical example of the spirit of the separate-but-equal policy in the South."

Yule Mail Rush Starts

Big Spring post office is beginning to feel the first surge of the flood of Christmas mail and packages anticipated for this year.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that he is well pleased with the evident intention of many Big Springers to cooperate in the post office appeal for early mailing.

In connection with the Christmas rush, he again repeated the importance of making certain all addresses are correct, that proper postage is applied and that the mail gets into the post office early enough to reach its destination ahead of the holiday.

Wrapping Christmas packages properly cannot be overemphasized, Boatler feels. A free pamphlet is available at the post office which details the proper way to wrap Christmas parcels. He suggests all patrons provide themselves with a copy of this informative booklet.

Airline, Strikers Take Dispute Into U.S. Court

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eastern Air Lines and its striking flight engineers today took their dispute into federal court. The three-day-old strike is tying up the nation's largest airline in a peak travel season.

As the Thanksgiving weekend neared, Eastern and another major carrier, Trans World Airlines, appeared far from a settlement. But the outlook was better elsewhere. Railroad reservations were immediate—both ways.

air reservations requests piled up. Passengers could get night coach tickets for points north with a two-day wait. The waiting list for first-class flights ran five days.

Coming in by air, the situation was about the same. The earliest National Air Lines would accept reservations from New York to Miami was Monday, Dec. 1.

THE LOUIS UNDERWOOD HOME AT LUTHER
Productive place was last week's Mystery Farm

GOT 'OLD PLACE'

Photographer Missed House In Underwood Farm Picture

Mystery farm pictured in the Nov. 19 issue of the Big Spring Daily Herald has been identified by the wife of its owner.

It is the Louis Underwood place, which is at the edge of the town of Luther. The photographer, however, did not shoot a picture of the Underwood residence—what he shows in his photo is the "old place". This house was originally occupied by the Underwoods but replaced by the new home in Luther Community in 1933. Underwood said the house shown in the aerial photo is now used for housing farm laborers.

Underwood bought the property from the Vincent family, of Runnels County, back in 1931. He and a brother, L. L. Underwood, purchased the entire Vincent holdings, which consisted of 330 acres. The brother took 80 acres and the balance is owned and farmed by Underwood. All but about 20 acres is in cotton and maize. Underwood has 85 acres in cotton this fall on which he is averaging a bale an acre.

This he credits to four good irrigation wells which he drilled in 1952. These provide water for 70 acres of his land and vary from 65 to 90 gallons per minute. In connection with his irrigation activities he has installed more than a mile of underground pipe. It is these wells and the abundant water they supply which accounts for the bale-or-better an acre cotton crop he is harvesting this year.

The Underwoods are originally natives of Runnels County, but have made Howard County their home for so many years they feel like natives.

Living on the farm are Underwood, Mrs. Underwood and one of their two sons, Lloyd, now 18. Lloyd helps with the farm and attends Howard County Junior College.

Their second son is L. C. Underwood, who has his own farm half a mile from the Luther gin. L. C. Underwood has two children. Most of them, Underwood admits, these grandchildren can be found around his place.

L. L. Underwood, the other brother, still farms the 80 acres he acquired in the original 1931 purchase.

The commission also Tuesday night voted to raise the rates for garbage collection at trailer courts both inside and outside the city limits. No residential collection increase was mentioned, but the city does plan to increase the rates for schools.

The city plans to increase the trailer charges to 85 cents per trailer space on courts inside the city limits and $1.25 per space on lots outside the city. Acting City Manager Clifton Bellamy said that a check recently revealed that all of the courts in Big Spring were practically full.

Previously the city had charged 75 cents per lot, Bellamy said. Bellamy also reported that the city is now collecting only $1.25 per month at elementary schools, $1.50 at junior highs, and $3 for high school here, which provides daily collection.

The commission felt these charges too small but wanted a closer survey before making any changes. Bellamy pointed out that the schools were using 55-gallon drums for garbage and trash which is in violation of the city's ordinance. The city's collection ordinance allows only up to 30-gallon containers, and the commission felt that the schools should be asked to comply with the requirement.

The city plans to raise the fees for installing new water taps too. Bellamy showed the commissioners that it was costing the city about $62 to install a new water meter and the city at present is charging only $17.50. These figures are for a 3/4-inch tap, which is standard for most residences. Larger taps are more expensive.

The commission then decided to set a rate of $42.50 for a 3/4-inch tap and $55 for an inch tap. For persons wanting a two-inch tap, the charge will be the actual costs of installation plus cost of the meter. The meter alone costs about $140, the city purchasing agent, Roy Anderson, said today.

Discussion was given to extending a water line outside the city limits to serve the Thorp Addition southwest of town, and the commission agreed to follow Bellamy's recommendation. Bellamy said that at least a six-inch line would be needed to adequately serve the area. If the line is installed, it would be paid for by the user. About 1,600 feet of line would be needed to tie into the nearest line.

The commission, in another matter, stated it did not want the plumbing and electrical inspector to work on Saturday. Bellamy said that the inspector, Homer Ward, had been called upon to make some inspections on Saturday—a regular day off—and the commission asked that builders be informed that the inspector was not to make any checks on Saturday.

Final passage of the ordinance outlawing livestock was passed. It won't take effect until April 1, however.

Graveside rites for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brasher of Ackerly are to be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Trinity Memorial Park with the Rev. W. H. Watson of Ackerly officiating.

The child was stillborn in a local hospital this morning. Survivors include the parents, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eudy of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brasher of Ackerly, and several great-grandparents, including Mrs. Mary Frazier of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Eudy of Vernon, Mrs. Ella Brasher of Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Gregory of Rochester. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is in charge.

City Annexing 103 Acres On Southeast Edge

First step toward annexing 103 acres of land on the southeastern edge of town was taken by the City Commission Tuesday night.

The commission passed at the first reading an ordinance which would annex the property south of FM 700, north of Big Spring Creek, and in Section 4, Block 32, Township 3-North, T&P Survey. In the tract are slightly over 103 acres of land. Four readings of the ordinance are required for passage.

The commission also Tuesday night voted to raise the rates for garbage collection at trailer courts both inside and outside the city limits. No residential collection increase was mentioned, but the city does plan to increase the rates for schools.

TWO SENIOR CLASSES PLAN JOINT GIFT

Big Spring High School graduating classes of 1958 and 1959 are to present a joint gift to the school.

The two groups pooled resources last year and will use the funds to inlay a terrazzo reproduction of the class ring emblem in the floor of the high school foyer. The work probably will be done during the Christmas holidays.

School trustees last night approved the project, subject to Business Manager Pat Murphy's supervision of the work. The two classes raised about $600 for the traditional graduation gift.

Services Today For Paul Jones

Youth Paroled To Grandmother

A 15-year-old Latin American youth, before the county juvenile court on Wednesday for his second time, was permitted to go home with his grandmother on parole but was sternly admonished that another brush with the law would send him to Gatesville instantly.

The boy had been arrested by police for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license. When the officers searched the car, they found a switch blade knife under the front seat.

The young driver insisted that the knife was not his—he said he had some companions in the car who fled when the police closed in.

A. E. Long, juvenile officer, said the boy was in trouble two years ago but that he had no difficulty with him since that time.

New 4-H Members

Center Point 4-H club inducted two new members into its organization at its meeting at the school on Wednesday. The new members are Judy Moore and Dixie Rigby.

REFORMATORY LATER

Delinquent To Be Freed For Thanksgiving Dinner

Thanksgiving day dinner for one Big Spring family promises to be a gloomy one.

Present at the dinner by leave of the juvenile court will be the 15-year-old son of the family—who will be taken to Gatesville Reformatory on the next day.

The youth was ordered taken to the school Wednesday by R. H. Weaver, judge. A. E. Long, juvenile officer, asked the court if the parents' request that their son be released from custody at 10 a.m. Thursday to eat Thanksgiving Day dinner would be granted.

The court said it would be granted. The parents are to come to the county jail at 10 a.m. to get the boy and return him to the jail Thursday afternoon.

The father and mother of the boy Wednesday morning told Judge Weaver they saw no alternative than for the court to order their son committed to Gatesville Reformatory.

The boy, who has been in repeated difficulty with the law, was picked up last week by city police. He admitted that he has recently burglarized six houses in Big Spring, taking money from each ranging from $5 to as much as $60. He also admitted that he had bought a guitar for $89 on installment payments (forging his father's name to the note), which he sold at a pawn shop for $40. He worked the same scheme with a typewriter and a radio, A. E. Long, juvenile officer, said.

About a year ago, the same boy forged a number of checks which he cashed here and fled to Texarkana, Ark., where he forged another check. He was returned here from Texarkana and placed on parole. His school record shows that he is a frequent truant.

not be produced commercially from the Strawn and operator now plans to plug back to about 6,600 feet in the Spraberry for additional tests. It is 15 miles west of Big Spring, C NE NE, 12-35-1n, T&P Survey.

Plymouth No. 1 Flynt waited on cement to set intermediate string at 4,495 feet. The wildcat is 660 from north and west lines, Labor 9, League 320, Garza CSL Survey.

Mitchell

Holbrook No. 1 Womack is located 660 from north and east lines, 17-26, H&TC Survey, 15 miles northwest of Colorado City. Drilling depth is 7,850 feet.

Base Houses All Roofed

All 460 units of the Capehart Housing Project — $7 million Air Force program southwest of Big Spring—now are roofed and air conditioning units in place, according to Don Everett, with Williams & Dunlap, the contractors.

Also on hand are several carloads of all-steel kitchen cabinets, refrigerators, dishwashers and garbage disposal units. Workmen are to begin installing the cabinets sometime in the next few days.

Brick work on the outside of the units is well forward and street improvement is making progress. Gas ranges will be installed in each unit but these are not yet on hand.

Floors will be laid in the units when installation of cabinets, stoves, heating units, disposals and other facilities are in place. The floors will be hardwood, pre-finished blocks and will not be placed until after installation is complete to avoid marring their finish.

Lamesa, Dawson Officials Consider Joint Programs

LAMESA — The Dawson County Commissioners Court, meeting in regular session Monday, was joined by the Lamesa City Council Tuesday for a joint meeting to discuss leasing of the city-county airport and a county fire protection program.

retiring 20 courthouse and jail bonds, with $2,817.85 of that amount going for interest and agency fees.

The court also authorized an amendment to the right-of-way contracts with the Texas Highway Department on U. S. Highways 87 and 180 and voted to have the county records microfilmed as a safety precaution from a possible loss by fire.

In the joint meeting of the Commissioners Court and City Council Tuesday, the groups studied the plat of the Lamesa Airport and discussed leasing of space at the airport, but postponed any action until the members could consider the appointment of an airport board with action to be taken at a joint meeting on Dec. 2.

The Court and Council discussed plans for the county to share in the cost of a County Fire Protection Program offered by the Lamesa Fire Department. The Court proposed to pay $4,000 for 12 months' service and participation in such a program, with the Council to study the proposal and report on their decision at a later date.

Suspect Is Held

L. E. Thomasson, 28, was arrested here Wednesday by deputy sheriffs on a warrant out of Wichita Falls. The Wichita County complainant alleges that the man is wanted for embezzlement. He is being held in the county jail and Wichita Falls officers are on their way to Big Spring to take custody.

DEAR ABBY GET ANOTHER MAN

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I got a man who is 12 years younger than I am, but he won't let me quit him and he says he can't marry me for the following reason: His Mama died three years ago and before she died she left strict orders that he was not to marry until his Daddy got married, as she didn't want his Daddy left alone. His Daddy hasn't got anybody to marry and he isn't even looking. This means he can't marry me. He is 44 and I am 56 and am getting older every day. Please tell me what to do. NO SPRING CHICKEN DEAR NO: You're a dumb chick to keep yourself up waiting for your boyfriend's Daddy to marry when he isn't even looking. Get another rooster on the rooster.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine has two of the most adorable little dolls you could hope to see. They ring my front doorbell almost every morning and say, "Mamma is still sleeping. She must be sick and we are hungry, could you please give us a little breakfast?" I have fixed them hot breakfast dozens of times. They do not know that their Mama was out on a drunk and is sleeping off a hangover. But how can I tell them? "GOOD NEIGHBOR" DEAR NEIGHBOR: It isn't necessary to tell THEM, but I think you ought to pay "Mamma" a call. If this doesn't work, try Papa. If this fails, write to me again. I have some good suggestions.

DEAR ABBY: What are the rules of "Automobile Etiquette"? Is it ever proper for a couple when parking for a moonlight drive and the exchange of an occasional kiss to leave the car? My boyfriend often suggests we leave the car, and I say it is not proper.

SWEET SIXTEEN DEAR SWEET: (and if you want to say as sweet as you are, add by this time they have forgotten to pay me for their haircuts. I have lost money because I hate to ask them. I have asked

'Arab' Portrait Is Individualistic

Apparently Big Spring's art patrons see eye to eye with this writer on some matters. The painting by John Brittenham that took first place in the recent Las Artistas sidewalk show was my favorite, also.
 Brittenham created his winning portrait when he was stationed in North Africa. He painted many other scenes of Arab life, some of which were on display Saturday.
 But the "Arab" portrait still was best. It had just enough realism to satisfy the uninitiated, and enough "art" to satisfy the artistic.
 Brittenham used a delicate balance of browns in the background and in the color of the Arab's robe, to set off the slightly different shade of brown in the subject's face. A white burmose framed the face, and the lines of composition led the viewer's eye, not directly to the central subject, but around it. This, paradoxically, sometimes helps draw attention to the central theme.

 Besides its technical excellence, "Arab" is a good delineation of character and personality. The face is slightly off the geometrical center, and looks a bit to one side instead of directly at the viewer, indicating an individual rather than a faceless member of the masses.
 Also, the Arab's friendly grin helps to stamp his individuality, and was probably the point that won Brittenham the most votes for this portrait. It leaves one with the feeling that this person, far from being a statistic from the world atlas, is someone you might know and like should you have occasion to visit Libya.
 James C. Shirley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shirley is to participate in the Christmas program by the Chapel Choir and A Capella Choir of Baylor University in Waco Dec. 4. The 110-voice chapel group and the 53-voice A Capella unit will join in the traditional program.

How Long Does A Memory Last?

Post mortem on "Time Out for Ginger":
 The good review apparently did some good; there were around 350 the first night, more than 400 for the second performance.
 And what will be your next play, I ask Phil Wayne. That's the least of my worries, he tells me.
 The rude element among the audience, mostly of the younger type, that hop up and head quickly for the door the moment the final curtain falls, not waiting to applaud—trying to get ahead of the traffic?
 Roy Worley buttonholes Wayne in the lobby.
 "What did I ever do to you to deserve your enmity?"
 Obviously, he has been misrepresented. The role of a high school principal has been filled by a student with a bean-pole structure.
 Wayne shoves his tongue into his cheek:
 "All resemblance to persons living or dead is entirely coincidental."

 Wayne employs the professional type curtain call. The curtain swings open as fast as the stagehand can pull it, the cast takes one step forward, bows, takes one step backward, the curtain falls again fast. Count three, slowly. Listen to the applause. If it's still there, repeat the procedure, ad infinitum.
 Makes for a lot of curtain calls, sometimes.
 At the cast party:
 What's wrong with these kids? Where's the fire and spirit of youth, and why is everybody sitting around looking reserved and dignified?
 Well, maybe not so dignified—the girls just took their shoes off.
 Plenty of cokes and sandwiches. But what kind of cake is this? Best I've ever set my jaws into. Eh? Made with almond Hershey bars?
 Mary Jane and Mike sneak off into a side room, unaware that they have an audience of two elderly gentlemen who went outside for a breath of air.
 They're all shook up when, later, the two gentlemen congratulate them on the intricate ballet routine they'd been too bashful to show off in front of the kids.
 "Didn't know we had an audience," says Mary Jane weakly.
 Party's a little more peppy.

what with mutual autographing of programs.
 (And how many of these programs will be lost or thrown away within a week's time?)
 It's near midnight. Still, no life. Maybe it's because the kids are bashful with so many staid old chaperones around. (Remember how it was when you were a kid?)
 Maybe the boss-man should dance with one of his students. That should break the ice.
 No. Still weak from a cold.
 Ginger's a smart kid, and sees what the party needs.
 "Aren't you going to dance with me, Mr. Smith?" Looks like she'd be hurt if I didn't.
 Wayne decides he'll break the ice, too.
 Out to the dance floor with his student director, as dignified as a name in Winchell's column.
 Party lives.
 One o'clock in the morning, and time to go home.
 Go home? The kids wall, but we just got started. (They who had been so slow at first.)
 Wayne is kind but firm. Go home, says he. They go.
 All that work, all those weeks, two nights of excitement and tension—and now the play's just a memory.
 And how long does a memory last, kids? Just ask one of your elders.

Rotary, Kiwanis In Joint Meeting
 Rotarians and Kiwanians jointly noted Thanksgiving week on Tuesday. The latter club was guest of the Rotary—Kiwanis meets regularly on Thursday and will cancel its meeting this Thursday because of the holiday.

 Rev. Clyde Nichols, speaking on Thanksgiving Day, urged that his listeners do more than merely be thankful verbally for the blessings that the year has brought. It is time for wider practice of "thanksgiving," rather than "thanksgiving," he declared. He was presented to the audience by Dr. Jordan Grooms, program chairman for the day.
