MINERAL WELLS (AP) — A Colorado Baptist evangelist told the Baptist Training Union Convention in the keynote address last night that there is a "state of spiritual emergency."

Dr. Harlan Harris, speaking to more than 1,500 training union workers, said "Christians will grow stale without a balanced church program which includes outlets for spiritual energy."

Dr. J. Woodrow Fuller, associate executive secretary for Texas Baptist, warned that "Communism will one day dominate the world if it outlives the forces of Christianity."

Washburn Aides Ask Judgment Stay

DALLAS (AP)—Attorneys for Harry L. Washburn asked the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals yesterday for a 60 to 90 day stay of judgment in its opinion upholding the murder conviction of Washburn.

Defense Atty. Charles Tessmer said he requested the stay pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said the appeal would be based on qualifications of one of the Criminal Appeals jurists who ruled in the case.

Washburn, 43, was twice convicted by juries in the car bomb slaying of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Weaver, San Angelo in 1955.

The Court of Criminal Appeals refused Wednesday a rehearing in the 99-year conviction of Washburn in the second trial at Dallas.

Tessmer said he will contend that Criminal Appeals Judge K.M. Woodley is disqualified to take part in the split decision.

Washburn was first convicted at Waco in 1956 and sentenced to life imprisonment. The conviction was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals and a new trial ordered. Judge Woodley did not participate in the proceeding.

Then came the Dallas trial and the 99-year sentence.

In the subsequent appeal Judges Lloyd Davidson and Woodley held for affirmation of the sentence. Presiding Judge W. A. Morrison dissented, holding there were five reversible errors.

The defense then filed a motion for rehearing on the grounds that Judge Woodley should have disqualified himself because he did not take part in the original reversal.

Judge Woodley, in a written opinion, explained that he did not take part in the first reversal because the two judges involved (Davidson and Morrison) were in agreement and thus there was no deadlock to break. This time, he said, the judges were disagreed and it was his duty to cast a deciding vote.

Two weeks ago Judge Woodley filed an affidavit with the court explaining that he did not take part earlier because of kinship of his wife and R. H. Harris, Jr., brother of Helen Harris Weaver, the dead woman. The kinship was not explained.

Jackie Tucker Heads College Pep Squad

PLAINVIEW — Jackie Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Reeves Jr., 1604 E. 16th, Big Spring, has been elected vice president of the Pep Club at Wayland Baptist College.

Organized to give Wayland school spirit a boost and to provide a loyal cheering section for the college's Pioneers and Hutchinson Flying Queens, the Pep Club already has one major accomplishment on its record. Its candidate was chosen golden anniversary homecoming queen and reigned over festivities Nov. 14-15.

Triple Celebration Noted By 'Electric Heart' Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Pincus Shapiro, 76, who has been kept alive 96 days by an electrical stinger plugged into his heart, had a triple celebration Thursday.

It was Thanksgiving, the 50th wedding anniversary for Shapiro and his wife Estelle, and it marked Shapiro's return from Montefiore Hospital.

Shapiro was the first human heart into which a tube had been inserted and left for a long period of time. Each time his heart beat died, an electric shock jolted it back to life again. Now his heart beats without the shock treatment.

Shapiro has suffered with heart trouble for 20 years. Last summer his condition became critical. Dr. Seymour Furman devised the new method of electric shock treatment.

With his 5 sons, daughter, 11 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren gathered about him, Shapiro declared: "I feel fine."

Happy Day

Pincus Shapiro, 76, who lived for 96 days with his heart plugged into an electrical socket, has a cigar lit by Dr. Seymour Furman, assistant surgical resident at Montefiore Hospital, New York, before leaving for his Brooklyn home. With them is his wife, Estelle. In foreground is machine used to keep him alive.

Governor Must Replace Father

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Ironically, one of the first jobs Nevada's new governor has to do is to appoint someone to a state post now held by his father.

The term of Dr. H.W. Sawyer on the State Parole Board expires Jan 5—the same day his son, Grant, becomes governor.

Howard Leads In Bond Sales

Howard County had over half the U. S. Savings Bond sales for its district during October, District Chairman Larson Lloyd reported. The county had bond sales of $45,430 during the month as against $78,925 for the entire eight-county district.

The total ran Howard County's total for 1958 to $388,670, or 73 per cent of its goal for the year. Total for the district was $1,338,397 or 72 per cent of its goal. The goal for Howard County is $602,000 and $1,846,000 for the district.

Other October totals and percentages of the total goal include Andrews $2,618 (75 per cent), Dawson $5,090 (74 per cent), Gaines $5,977 (73), Martin $922 (60), Mitchell $8,618 (89), and Scurry $9,446 (63 per cent). Borden has had no sales.

For the El Paso Area, of which the local District No. 14 is a part, the October sales of bonds totaled $871,148 which raised the percentage of the year's goal to 75. Sales for the year add up to $9,454,932 in the area.

Throughout the state, bond sales reached $13,870,797 for the month and $146,136,254 for the year.

In other districts, Ector County sold $38,128 worth of bonds last month, and Midland had $39,355 in sales. Glasscock County has failed to show any sales this year.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

SAMUEL AUGUSTUS MAVERICK

The Freedom Fighter Who Wore No Man's Brand

The name "Maverick" symbolizes the color and adventure of the old Southwest. For a century and a quarter there have been Mavericks in Texas, and no one of them has ever lacked the courage of his convictions... that freedom is well worth fighting for.

In 1835 Samuel Augustus Maverick, a lawyer of distinction in South Carolina, came to Texas because he could not submit to the nullification doctrine of John C. Calhoun. He promptly joined the volunteer army of Texas, served loyally and effectively as soldier, guide and, later, as representative from Bexar to the Convention of 1836 at Washington-on-the-Brazos. There he signed the new republic's Declaration of Independence. In 1842, still active in public life, Maverick was captured and imprisoned by a Mexican force.

But even in prison the forceful personality of this first Texas Maverick made itself felt. Freed a year later, he returned to serve Texas as a law-maker until 1862. He died in 1870, leaving a name that will always be associated with fearless courage and unbranded freedom.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland... "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

He's Delayed Action Drunk

RANDERS, Denmark (AP) — A local businessman contends that he's a delayed action drunk because of a stomach operation.

"When I drink I'm like a time bomb," he told a Randers court today. "Since doctors removed the greater part of my stomach, I don't get drunk like other people. I am sober when others in the party are loading up, and I get drunk while the others have hangovers."

A sobriety test taken hours after the man was involved in a traffic accident showed a high percentage of alcohol in his blood. He said he felt intoxicated at the time of the test but that he was sober when he drove his car — because of the reduced stomach.

Doctors said he may have a point. The judge postponed court action until next week.

Rodzinski, One Of World's Great Conductors, Is Dead

BOSTON (AP) — Artur Rodzinski, one of the world's great symphony conductors—and one of the most temperamental—died Thursday night at Massachusetts General Hospital of a heart ailment.

Although references gave his age as 64, his widow, Halina, his second wife, said he was 66.

Rodzinski conducted most of the country's major orchestras, but his tenure with them often ended in stormy battles with their management.

Rodzinski's final performance was in Chicago, where 10 days ago he presented Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" with the Lyric Opera Company in a triumphant return to the podium in the city where he was abruptly dismissed 10 years ago as conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Rodzinski was born in the small town of Spalato in Dalmatia, of Polish parents. He spent his boyhood in Lvov in southern Poland, now part of the Soviet Union. His father was a surgeon with the Russian army.

He first came to the United States in 1925 and became a naturalized citizen in 1933.

Rodzinski was playing the piano at 6 and pursued his musical career with fanatical devotion all his life.

In 1924 in Warsaw he met Leopold Stokowski, who a year later invited him to come to the United States as assistant conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Rodzinski was a great builder of orchestras. Time and again during his career he took over run-down orchestras and built them into fine artistic groups.

After his stint in Philadelphia he took over the Los Angeles Orchestra. It built a reputation under his baton, but he quarreled with the management and left after four years.

He was in Cleveland for several years and then took over the New York Philharmonic. He quit here too after four years.

Arturo Toscanini recommended Rodzinski to direct the Salzburg Music Festival in Austria in 1937 after hearing a broadcast of the Cleveland Orchestra.

In the last 10 years, Rodzinski had conducted all over the world on a free-lance basis.

He suffered a heart attack in Rome two years ago. The Boston heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White flew to Rome to treat him, and it was Dr. White who advised him to enter the Boston hospital when he completed his conducting chore in Chicago last week.

Rodzinski's wife said of that performance: "Artur did a tremendous job with 'Tristan and Isolde.' He gave everything he had to it, but it was too much and it finished him."

Three Children Hurt In Wreck

COLORADO CITY — Three children were injured in a two-car collision Tuesday in Colorado City's residential district.

Three children belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dockrey were passengers in an automobile driven by Mrs. Dockrey. A 6-year-old girl received cuts about the forehead and a 2-year-old boy suffered a broken jaw and was transferred to Dallas for treatment.

Chilly? Forecast Predicts Even Colder Air Saturday

By The Associated Press

Snow, ice, rain and bone-chilling temperatures gripped most of Texas Friday and even colder weather was predicted for the state early Saturday.

Light snows that dotted the Panhandle and South Plains during the night reached as far south as Wichita Falls and Abilene areas early Monday.

Freezing rains in North Texas glazed trees and utility lines. Highway travel was perilous across the northern part of the state.

Light rains fell over most of Central Texas. Small craft warnings were issued for coastal areas after winds up to 30 miles per hour were forecast.

The temperature plummeted to 12 degrees at Dalhart shortly before dawn. Amarillo had 16 degrees, Lubbock 22 and Childress 24. The freezing extended southward to just north of a line running from Dallas to Abilene. The warmest spot was Galveston with a reading of 33 degrees.

Lows of near zero were predicted for snow-covered areas of the Panhandle and South Plains before dawn Saturday, when sub-freezing weather was due to reach into the northern portions of East Texas and Central Texas.

Skies were clearing in the Panhandle but scattered snows were predicted for that section later Friday. Skies were also clear in the Big Bend area. Elsewhere skies were cloudy with drizzle or light rain reported at Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio, Junco

Thor Ready As Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Thor missile, already a useful booster for space probes, is about ready to assume its primary function as an intermediate range ballistic weapon.

Some of the missiles already have been sent to Britain, where they are to become operational next month. A Royal Air Force Thor missile squadron is undergoing training in this country.

Under a U.S.-British agreement signed last February, four Thor squadrons — with 15 missiles to a squadron — are to be stationed in Britain as a defense against surprise enemy attack.

The Thor, 62 feet tall and 9 feet in diameter, has a designed range of more than 1,700 miles. Manufactured by Douglas Aircraft Co. at Santa Monica, Calif., its 150,000-pound thrust Rocketdyne engine hurls the 50-ton rocket up through the earth's atmosphere and sends the nuclear nose cone targetward at a velocity of 10,000 miles an hour.

Since the start of the Thor flight testing program at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Jan. 27, 1957, there have been about 25 Thor launchings. These included six in combination with the Vanguard rocket second stage and known as Thor-Able. One Thor-Able sent the Pioneer space probe on a 44-hour flight 79,120 miles out into space.

Cardinal Didn't Clog

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing disappointed at least one of the guests at his annual Thanksgiving Day party for the elderly and aged.

He carved the first turkey. He distributed medals to the staff of the restaurant entertaining his 1,200 guests. He went from table to table shaking hands and saying hello.

He even joined three young priests and the audience in singing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Everybody had a high old time. But the new cardinal neglected one detail.

Said one elderly woman guest, remembering the clog the archbishop did at the same party last year: "I'm disappointed that the cardinal didn't dance. He's such a beautiful dancer."

JAPAN'S NEXT EMPRESS

Screaming Bobbysoxers Mob Car Carrying Bride-To-Be

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of screaming, crying bobbysoxers broke through police lines today to mob the car carrying the young woman who has been nominated from their ranks to become Japan's next empress.

Miss Michiko Shoda and her parents were going to visit Crown Prince Akihito. The prince and Michiko were alone for an hour on their second visit together since their engagement was announced Thursday.

Michiko, beautiful daughter of a wealthy flour mill owner, is the first commoner in the 26-century history of the Japanese imperial family to become the prospective empress. She and Akihito, both 24 years old, will be married next spring or autumn.

The couple met on a tennis court 15 months ago and saw each other only rarely. Akihito, barred by court etiquette from dating anyone, pushed his suit by telephone. After the Imperial Household Council announced the engagement, they saw each other briefly at the palace.

Michiko and her parents called on Akihito today at his mansion, separate bachelor quarters away from the palace.

The visit began just as most Japanese schools were closing for the day, freeing thousands of girls from 8 to 18. They swarmed around the mansion chanting: "Our future empress... Shoda-san, Shoda-san (Honorable Shoda)." The mob scene far surpassed any caused here by movie stars or rock 'n' roll singers. Veteran reporters said they could not recall a similar scene in Tokyo, although visits of Emperor Hirohito to remote provincial towns have occasionally produced similar excitement.

The demonstration exemplified the new close relationship between Japanese and their royal family, which was held in distant awe before democratization moves by American occupation forces after World War II. Akihito's engagement to a commoner culminated the process of bringing the crown close to the man in the street — and the screaming bobbysoxers.

Sly Sleuthing Solves Case Of Stolen Stogies

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Sly sleuthing has solved the case of the pilfered panatellas.

For weeks someone had been stealing stogies from the brass ash tray of detective Sgt. Frank Dolan, head of the burglary-theft detail for city police. With each theft tension mounted in the detective office.

Yesterday two other detectives noted a jail trusty take special care in dusting Dolan's ash tray. In the flick of an eye, a half-smoked cigar was clamped between the trusty's teeth.

Perhaps in a Thanksgiving mood, detectives didn't press the case. Anyway the trusty was to be released during the afternoon. And he was. But he was back in the pokey less than three hours later on a drunkenness charge.

Algerians Vote

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria today began its first legislative elections since 1951 with the choice limited to candidates supporting continuing French rule. Balloting for 67 members in the French National Assembly will continue through Sunday.

Engagement Official Now

These official portraits of Crown Prince Akihito and Michiko Shoda, made by the Imperial Household photographer, were released shortly after Japan's 10-member Imperial Council unanimously approved their engagement. The council swept aside 2,000 years of iron-clad tradition by approving the engagement of the Crown Prince to the wealthy miller's daughter.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Urges Support Of Texas Muscular Dystrophy Unit

Dear Sir:

Two courageous Texans, Sallie and Nadine Woods, won nationwide attention a few years ago when they established the National Muscular Dystrophy Research Foundation, an organization to raise funds to provide research into the cause of muscular dystrophy.

These girls from Liberty started out with nothing more than the desire to fight against a dread disease. They didn't know how to start a national foundation. They were small town girls with big ideas. They knew something that needed to be done wasn't being done and so they did it.

Their foundation raised money for important research. They were doing an important work that no one else was doing.

Then a new organization started, duplicating the work of the girls from Liberty. The new group got Jerry Lewis to back their campaign. It was an entirely different organization—big time, high pressure, big administrative costs and funds distributed from Manhattan offices. The girls had no high pressure public relations men, almost no administrative costs and much of the research money they distributed went to research centers right here in Texas.

I can understand how a high pressure campaign would sell other parts of the country. But it is tragic to me to see Texans doing Texas things. Yet at the University of Texas the students collected funds for the Manhattan outfit and ignored the Texas campaign. Even officials of the state—not through intention but through misunderstanding—wound up giving their support to the New York outfit.

It isn't too late. Now is the time for all Texans to come to the aid of a Texas originated campaign, approved by the governor. This is the original Muscular Dystrophy campaign and it supports projects carried on in Texas hospitals. It is a nationwide campaign but not with the highpowered Madison Avenue techniques of its imitator.

Send your contributions to the National Muscular Dystrophy Research Foundation, Liberty, Texas. These two fighting Texans, these two women of vision and courage, need to be backed by their fellow Texans. You see, Sallie and Nadine Woods have a special reason for wanting to battle this disease. They are dying from it. Already in wheelchairs, their time on earth moving away. They want to make sure they do their part in destroying this disease. Please help them.

Sincerely,

Weather Slows Down Texas Drivers

By The Associated Press

Wet, cold weather—which tends to make motorists drive slowly and cautiously—apparently was curbing highway fatalities over the Thanksgiving Day weekend in Texas.

Only 6 traffic fatalities had been reported by early Friday. An airplane accident, shootings and a stabbing brought the holiday violent death toll to 12.

The Texas tabulation included all violent deaths during the holiday weekend. National figures included only those deaths directly attributed to the holiday.

Teachers Committee Okays Proposals

FORT WORTH (AP) — The executive committee of the Texas State Teachers Assn. has given its support to the Hale-Aikin Committee recommendations to improve public schools, including a longer school year and increased pay for teachers.

The committee's resolution, adopted at the opening session of the association's convention yesterday, will go to the TSTA's House of Delegates for action on Saturday.

The committee's approval came in the face of a warning from Gov. Price Daniel that money will not be available for all the Hale-Aikin program which will add 255 million dollars to present expenditures for education.

In a speech to the TSTA convention last night Daniel said he favored most of the recommendations of the Hale-Aikin Committee report but he was not convinced that a need existed to expand the present 9-month school term to 9½ or 10 months.

The lengthening of the school year was also opposed by H. W. Stilwell of Texarkana, chairman of the TSTA's legislative committee.

In his report to the TSTA executive committee Stilwell recommended that the TSTA not include lengthening of the school year in its program but leave it "to our bosses," the state and local school boards.

The longer school year and a $600 pay boost for teachers are the two major points of the Hale-Aikin recommendations. Other recommendations include more money for construction and improvement of present facilities.

The TSTA executive committee recommendation calls for legislation that would provide a minimum salary of $4,000 for starting teachers with bachelor degrees and $4,200 for those with master's degrees, both based on 180 days of teaching.

On financing the improvements envisioned by the Hale-Aikin Committee Daniel said:

"No one will hardly expect any state to be able to finance all of these improvements in any one year or any one biennium, but we should write the standards into law and then work each year to meet these goals at the earliest possible time."

The governor agreed teachers need more money now but did not promise that funds would be available for a boost in the 56th Legislature which convenes in January.

Other recommendations adopted concerned giving "special attention to recommendations concerning foreign language teaching in the elementary schools and the enrichment of programs for the gifted child."

An Exciting Game For You

Last week we carried a small editorial on page one urging our people to be especially alert to visitors coming here for a bi-district football playoff.

We would like to repeat these sentiments here on behalf of our visitors from Ozona and Plains, who will be tangling this evening on the Memorial Stadium turf in a quarter-final game.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Quarterback Club, Cosden, Coca Cola, Zale's and other business firms have gone out of their way to make special provisions for the affair, and the Big Spring Independent School District has joined in preparations. Naturally we want every service station attendant, every waitress and cafe operator, every hotel or motel employee and every merchant and clerk to be especially courteous to these visitors from Plains and Ozona. They have honored us by coming a long way to play their crucial game here.

In addition, we urge football fans to patronize the game at the gate. Those who went out last week are well aware of the exciting calibre of ball these playoff games bring. This evening's game promises to be even more exciting than last week. So take a friend and go to the game.

Chapel In England

A little bit of England became forever America in ceremonies carried out at St. Paul's Cathedral in London Town Wednesday. A chapel was dedicated there in memory of American soldiers of World War II who are buried in Britain, or buried elsewhere after having served in Britain.

Vice President Richard Nixon was on the scene as the official representative of President Eisenhower.

St. Paul's is the second most famous church in England, after Westminster Abbey. The original building, Gothic in style, had been destroyed in the great London fire of 1666 and Sir Christopher Wren was commissioned to replace it. He kept only the floor plan of the original structure, and St. Paul's emerged as the outstanding example of Renaissance church architecture in all Britain.

It took extraordinary effort to keep Nazi firebombs from destroying the magnificent structure in World War II. As it was, only one bomb actually struck the church, but much of the surrounding area was leveled to the ground—a circumstance that provides a far better view of the cathedral than ever before.

It seems altogether fitting that the dedication of a chapel to the American dead should fall upon the eve of the American Thanksgiving Day. Their services and sacrifices, plus those of their Anglo-Saxon cousins, was the decisive factor in preserving our Christian heritage against the Hitlerite challenge aimed at all religions except the special Nazi brand.

The challenge is still there, from another direction, but the same old type of anti-Christian totalitarianism.

New "Law Of The Land" For Schools

WASHINGTON—There's a new "law of the land" today as the integration programs of public schools. Local school boards henceforth are authorized, as a result of a Supreme Court decision, to assign pupils to whatever schools they please without revealing any reasons for their inaction.

While the case concerned an Alabama law, it applies throughout the nation wherever states now pass "pupil assignment" laws. These statutes, however, will be held unconstitutional if they deny entry on account of race or color or are enforced as a part of a scheme of legislation that requires segregation.

The reason the "pupil assignment" law is held constitutional is because the denial or grant of the pupil's request is not based on any proved discrimination because of race or color.

This may mark a turning point in the whole controversy over integration. It could help solve the Virginia and Arkansas problems. In a sense, it is not a reversal by the Supreme Court of its historic decision of 1954 which said that classification by race was unconstitutional, but it is an affirmation of the principle that wherever there is exclusion or inclusion of a pupil in a particular school, it must be based on that individual's personal qualifications.

The Alabama law sets forth the basis on which the local school boards may act, as follows:

"In the assignment, transfer or continuation of pupils among and within the schools, or within the classroom and other facilities thereof, the following factors and the effect or results thereof shall be considered, with respect to the individual pupil, as well as other relevant matters: Available room and teaching capacity in the various schools; the availability of transportation facilities; the effect of the admission of new pupils upon established or proposed academic programs; the suitability of established curricula for particular pupils; the adequacy of the pupil's academic preparation for admission to a particular school and curriculum; the scholastic aptitude and relative intelligence or mental energy or ability of the pupil; the psychological qualification of the pupil for the type of teaching and association involved; the effect of admission of the pupil upon the academic progress of other students in a particular school or facility thereof; the effect of admission upon prevailing academic standards in a particular school; the physical effect upon the pupil of attendance at a particular school; the possibility or threat of friction or disorder among pupils or others; the possibility of breaches of the peace or ill-will or economic retaliation within the community;

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—It's hard enough to play a 42-bell carillon with whacking pegs with fists and stamping on pedals. But the one 11 stories high in a tower of St. Luke's Methodist Church here has other drawbacks.

Nixon Laid A Huge Egg

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon laid an egg, ostrich-size.

He conducted a scare campaign against the Democrats in the 1958 election drive and urged all Republican candidates for Congress to do the same. It didn't work.

The Republicans suffered disaster. When Nixon sent his telegram, he had campaigned around the country and knew that various polls were predicting a Democratic sweep. But he said in his message:

"I am convinced that if we hammer on this line from now to election day we can blitz the opposition and shift thousands of votes in close races throughout the country."

Perhaps what Nixon said in his telegram and what he thought privately were not necessarily the same thing. His office said this week that not long before the election the vice president took a more realistic view of what lay ahead.

Nevertheless, in his telegram he said: "As to our prospects, I believe that as we enter the last two weeks of the campaign there is no question but that the tide that was running so strongly against us has taken a sharp turn in our favor."

But the tide which rolled in on election day almost drowned the Republican party.

Nixon urged the Republicans, while conducting the scare campaign he suggested, to wear a kind of Sunny Jim look.

"From now on in press conferences and speeches, all Republican candidates and spokesmen should radiate optimism and should be on the offensive. There must not be any more defensive, apologetic, defeatist talk," he said.

Niven Loves Life

NEW YORK (AP)—David Niven resents life. Not the weary length of it, but the brevity of it.

"I want to live another 150 years," he said. "I want to go on and on, doing what I'm doing. I can't visualize myself retiring and sitting in a little house by the seashore watching seagulls."

"I resent deeply the fact I can't read all the books I want to, know all the people, see all the places. As a debonair in real life as he is on the screen, Niven believes in meeting the problems of living with a mixture of granite and quicksilver.

The handsome Scottish-born actor, after a harum-scarum, impetuous youth, settled down to become one of Hollywood's most durable players of light comedy roles.

After 6½ years of service in the British army during World War II (he emerged a colonel), he quickly resumed his star status. He was one of the first Hollywood figures to venture into television, despite a film mogul's stern warning: "If you do, you'll never work in my studio again."

"That's all right," Niven assured him. "I haven't worked in it for the last 10 years anyway." Since then he has been busier than ever. As vice president of the Four Star Playhouse, he has helped supervise the production of nearly 1,200 TV dramas. He makes a dozen or so TV appearances a year, acts in two or three films.

In his latest, "Separate Tables," he portrays a lonely, seedy, scandal-haunted major, a role his fans may find somewhat surprising.

"I try to look for something different every time," Niven said. "My theory is that if you are lucky enough to make a good living acting, it's better to keep working than to sit around a year waiting for the perfect script."

"You learn something every day you work." War left a stamp on his thinking, as it does on all who spend much time in it. This is his personal philosophy: "I think we all eventually evolve our own faith. I am convinced that heaven and hell are right where we are now—on this earth."

"Life is an enormous Grand National Sleepchase. We are given certain hurdles to get over, and certain opportunities. And if you don't spot the opportunities, you miss them."

"It really doesn't matter who is the winner; it's getting around the course that counts."

"Life is like having a garden full of lovely flowers. If we don't look after them, a horrible little wind comes up and blows a seed of unhappiness into the garden, and some foul weed springs up and ruins the whole thing."

Niven right now seems like a man up to his chin in rhododendrons.

"The Addicted" Forecast: A Top TV Drama

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—The Twentieth Century offers an outstanding work of television reporting in telling the moving story of "The Addicted" in two parts on CBS-TV this Sunday and a week later.

It will be surprising if this penetrating, compassionate examination of drug addiction fails to win awards for Al Wasserman, who produced, directed and wrote it. After viewing both parts in advance, I urge everyone to watch it and see how television can tell a complex story dramatically and without cant.

"There are no professional actors 'The Addicted.' There are no world-renowned authorities on the subject of drugs intoning big generalities of a teleprompter.

Its people, most of them, are addicts themselves, caught in the personal hell of those who have turned their backs on the reality of living in quest of the "bang" to be found in "junk."

The first part presents the story of an actual addict, "Fred," a young New Yorker of economically underprivileged background, as told by the people who know him—his mother, fellow workers, those who tried to help him at Riverside Hospital here, and... members of Addicts Anonymous.

Finally the young man himself tells how he feels as he leaves for six months in prison: "I didn't want to use drugs. I need somebody. See, it's too big for me to handle alone. A drug addict needs somebody to hold onto. He's not strong enough to do it alone."

The second part of "The Addicted" is even more powerfully dramatic than the first as it examines the question of whether an addict is a criminal, as defined by current law—or a patient, as defined by many physicians.

Wasserman's cameras have captured some stunning moments in the nighttime ward of the Tombs Prison in New York where men are fighting the agonizing withdrawal symptoms suffered by all who try to "kick the habit."

Another gripping sequence is a film of an addict buying a reefer and his arrest by watching police.

No more eloquent words on the subject of addiction have been heard than those spoken on Twentieth Century in the candid confessions of addicts themselves.

The record shows that about a quarter of our national petty crime and over half the petty crimes in our large cities are committed by addicts in their desperate compulsion for money to buy the stuff.

Yet they are basically passive people, who wish to do no violence—except to themselves. As one man says: "We do this to rid ourselves of actuality. . . . Put an alcoholic in a car and he has a 3,000-pound weapon. But all we want to do is get off in a corner by ourselves."

Texas Will Miss This Ranger

One of the state's finest law officers died Wednesday. He was Ranger Capt. Johnny Klevenhagen.

The last time Klevenhagen was in the news headlines was a year ago last summer, when he led state and local police on a shutdown of Galveston gambling establishments. The city, which had been wide open for years, has not seen a major resurgence of vice conditions since the raids.

At the time, a Galveston newspaper reporter had reported that Galveston gamblers had acquiesced in the closures out of fear of an impending invasion by Capone syndicate thugs from Chicago. The reporter, J. B. Kirkpatrick, gave credit to Klevenhagen's no-monkey-business attitude for keeping the syndicate out.

Since we were old school buddies from the journalism department at Texas University, J. B. took me on a grand tour of the island at the height of the raids. I was there for some vacation fishing, but decided seeing a Ranger in action would be more exciting.

We made the rounds and I was introduced to some of the local underworld bigshots, heirs to and princes of the mighty Maceo empire. They were as typically Texan as the rest of us. The kind of men who go around in shirt-sleeves, with big cigars and bigger hats, gladhanding everybody, in love with life and the world.

And, sitting ducks for the murderous invaders from Chicago. The Texas has no training nor experience for the kind of gang warfare they now were facing; they went about freely and without bodyguards, and knew nothing of the arts of keeping under cover.

There was even some evidence, J. B. said, that Texas Attorney General Will Wilson had ordered the shutdown primarily because of the impending invasion, although I don't recall any official's ever having admitted it.

In any event, Klevenhagen shut down Galveston, some say for good. He went about his business methodically, taking his good easy time to make sure the job was done right, and that no cards, chips or one-armed bandits would slip by and survive.

J. B. and I included the motel strip along Bolivar Peninsula on our tour—the places where the Chicago killers had holed up, awaiting the word to move. We met some of them; and, as any person experienced in such matters already knows, there was no way to tell who or what they were by looking. A few were shifty-eyed, but most were friendly enough; some even clean-cut and honest looking. Yet, they were paid murderers.

Of course, the mobsters could have moved in anyway, cutting down the Texas gamblers—even assassinating the Ranger, should he prove difficult. But they knew, or found out, the reputation of the Rangers—they knew that, if they dared defy them, or especially if a Ranger were slain, there would be hell to pay. Rangers have been known to travel out of the state, kidnap and hogle some especially wanted criminal, and haul him back to Texas for trial.

Eventually, the Chicago thugs cleared out. They had discovered that the old tale about "one riot, one Ranger" was literally true.

I knew Klevenhagen only briefly, but in that short time, it was obvious that he was like all other Rangers I have ever known—a man dedicated to duty, with all the old-time virtues that responsibility requires: the kind of man who will kill without hesitation if his duty requires it, but who abhors the taking of a human life; the kind of man who will stand unprotected in the middle of a street while a criminal thurs bullets at him, holding his fire until bystanders have reached safety.

The kind of man who can face down one of the nation's worst criminal mobs, yet be respected as a man who loves peace and order.

I have a feeling Johnny Klevenhagen will be sorely missed.

Inflation: Plain Unvarnished Hell

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Once upon a time and not too long ago, two topics of conversation were sure-fire as matter where I was, either in the tents of the Arabs or in a Roman drawing room. Everywhere, anywhere, there was a servant problem and agriculture was in a mess. Touch on either subject, and conversation spouted like Old Faithful.

Something new has been added in recent years. Mention inflation and-or housing in any part of the globe and a conversational Niagara flows.

We worry-warts in the United States are prone to believe that inflation is one of our two or three most pressing domestic problems. But a glimpse of Brazil's runaway inflation is bound to put even more curl into the hair of us worriers.

Granted, the Old Gray Dollar ain't what she used to be. But when we get up in the morning, we have a fairly accurate idea of its worth and purchasing power. We don't have to look in the newspaper or call up our bank to find out how much it is worth at the moment.

The fluctuations of the cruzeiro, Brazil's monetary unit, in the past eight months has swung all the way from 100 to 142 to the American dollar! As I have changed money here from day to day, the legal price range has been from 138 to 142 cruzeiros to the fast buck.

The awful extent of inflation in Brazil can be gauged by the fact that when I was last here in 1946, my dollar bought a hard Brazilian currency fixed at 18.36 to the dollar. This is still the "official" rate, to which no one, including the government, pays the slightest attention.

This situation, of course, is fine for the tourist with dollars. But it is plain, unvarnished hell for the poor, the white-collar class, and pensioners.

It is estimated in many quarters that the cost of living in Brazil's large cities will have risen as much as 25 per cent in the 12 months of 1958.

This terrible inflation, which confronts Brazil with financial catastrophe unless heroic measures can and will be taken, is in large part responsible for the tremendous building boom throughout Brazil. The most persistent sound in this great nation is not the mamba or even the radio's incessant cha-cha-cha, but the sharp, staccato impact of chisel on stone. From dawn to dark, it is the country's leitmotif.

The fish to transform capital into goods in a building jag that has transformed such cities as I have seen—Rio, Bela Horizonte, Porto Alegre and Sao Paulo—into a forest of scaffolding, stone and unfinished buildings. Wherever one looks in any of these cities, a new skyscraper is reaching for the pleasant, sunny sky. Apartment houses sprout like mushrooms.

New homes dot the suburbs. (I am confounded by the Brazilian habit of proudly proclaiming as typically "Norte Americano" any new home that is ultra ugly and modern; I argue, but I am always on the losing end!)

For all its traditional sparkle and surface gaiety, these are parlous times in Brazil.

Biography Of A Strong Man

Benjamin Strong believed in clean desks. The litter of files, memos, and papers on desktops disturbed him. As president of New York's sedate and powerful Bankers Trust Co., he sent a memo to the assistant vice presidents (in those days banks didn't have v.p.'s by the dozen) that desks were to be cleared each night before leaving.

Twice the instructions were ignored as one of the old man's crochets. One night Strong stomped about the banking floor and swept the offending papers into a huge waste bin. The next morning charged and chastised officers searched through the mess for their pending business. No further memos were required.

That was one side of Strong. The other side was the letter he sent to Fred I. Kent at the outbreak of World War I. "It was an act of Providence that you were on hand—no one else could do what you can do in such a crisis, and how proud I am of you will never be fully expressed."

Kent, an officer of the Bankers Trust, was in Europe when thousands of Americans were stranded moneyless with millions of dollars in letters of credit and travelers checks and no foreign currency. European banks feared to take the checks in exchange for francs, marks, pounds, or lire. How would they be repaid? If the Atlantic were blockaded, no gold could flow.

Strong persuaded President Woodrow Wilson to dispatch the cruiser Tennessee with $7,500,000 in gold. Kent used this gold to get money from Americans to return home. Yet, amid public service, Strong didn't overlook business, and instructed Kent: "Selfishly, now is our chance. . . . and you are on the spot."

He wanted Kent to persuade foreign banks to open accounts with Bankers Trust. This was Benjamin Strong, the man who by his devotion helped to shape the Federal Reserve System into the world's outstanding central banking institution and was, in turn, shaped by it. He is the subject of an important and lucid book—Benjamin Strong, Central Banker, by Lester V. Chandler, professor of economics at Princeton University, which it was Strong's unfulfilled ambition to attend.

The book is as much a biography of American central banking—the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, of which Strong became the first president, and the Federal Reserve System—as it is of Strong.

The book is ideal for the banker, financier, economist, and student of money, banking, credit, and general economics. It teaches anew that what seems new today is often an evolution from a former problem or controversy. You see how, during World War I, the new central bank became a handmaiden of the Treasury, even as during World War II. You see, too, how, after the first World War, in a perfect foreshadowing of history, the Reserve System, led by Strong, tried to free itself from Treasury domination, even as Thomas B. McCabe as Federal Reserve Chairman after World War II unshackled the Board from the rule of John W. Snyder.

Strong was the leader of the presidents of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks in a war for control of the Federal Reserve System: Who should rule policy, the Reserve Board in Washington or the heads of banks in New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, etc.? Because Strong understood central banking better than any one else in the system, because he was a man of determination, charm and persuasiveness, because his ideas and solutions of economic problems were imaginative and "sound," he and the banks tended to take the lead.

But after his death in 1928, the Board gained domination. In the critical months which led to the 1929 crash, the Board kept the Reserve Banks from applying the brakes to bank credit, credit which spilled over into Wall Street, credit which we have under direct control today. Benjamin Strong, Central Banker, is 295 pages. It's published by the Brookings Institution, $6. And Brookings is to be praised for having had Prof. Chandler do it.

SPECIAL GREEN BEANS
1 pound snap beans
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sliced Brazil nuts
1 tbs. lemon juice

Method:
Cut ends from beans and wash thoroughly in cold water; drain. Cut beans into long narrow strips. Cook rapidly in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender-crisp; cover saucepan but lift cover a few times to help keep beans green. Drain off any liquid in pan.

Meanwhile, melt butter over low heat in small skillet. Add nuts and cook slowly 5 minutes or until butter is slightly brown; stir often. Stir in lemon juice. Pour over hot drained cooked beans.
Makes 6 servings.

As guests arrived, punch was served in the family room, with a smorgasbord spread in the dining room. An ecru cloth of Italian lace and linen formed the background for the bronze chrysantheums and gilded foliage which combined for the centerpiece.

The visitors plan to be here throughout the Thanksgiving holiday.

serve cold out of the refrigerator or piping hot from fireplace logs.

STORY TELLING
When everybody is sitting around cozily on the floor, begin a fiction story with each person participating in the telling. Each guest has just so many minutes to tell his part of the story, and cannot continue when the timer calls a halt. You'll be amazed how interesting the story may become, especially if it gets to the suspense stage. A fiction story should get to at least 10 people each talking for at least 2 minutes. The last person must end the story, and thereby hangs the tale.

TRAVELOGUE
If the thought of school work is depressing, an interesting educational idea is the travelogue, a trip adventure to another city, town, village, these, related by the traveler while everyone lounges around.

The tape recorder can supply a lot of laughs too, on these occasions. Home movies ring a bell, particularly with sports-minded types. If you've had the foresight to photograph a series of steps in a new technique of water skiing or that big fish that almost got away, home movies can supply a million laughs. These are great ice-breakers when new pals are being initiated to a crowd. Anyone who acts bored shouldn't be invited again.

A paper bag or box lunch with each bringing his own is the food answer to the impromptu study session.

Turkey Price About Same As Year Ago

By The Associated Press
The traditional Thanksgiving turkey centerpiece of the big dinner Thursday all across the land cost the housewife about the same as a year ago.

Prices vary from one section to another, of course, but one major chain charged 35 cents a pound for 16 to 24 pound birds, 41 cents for medium sized and 45 cents a pound for the 8 pounds and under Beltsville variety in the New York metropolitan area. Last year the range was 35 to 47 cents a pound.

Some stores buck the turkey trend by offering bargains on ham and other meats for the weekend shopper.

Cranberries are 6 per cent more plentiful than last year.

Fortunately for the shopper, there may be several outstanding vegetable bargains including potatoes, beans, broccoli, cabbage and onions.

Good buys include carrots, cauliflower, sweet corn, cucumbers, egg plant, endive, escarole, radishes and squash. Celery is a bit higher, but still rated a good buy.

Good Grooming Calls For Correct Use Of Pleasing Fragrances

By CYNTHIA LOWRY APNEWS FEATURES WRITER
NEW YORK (AP)—"One of the most important parts of a woman's grooming is perfume," says Edouard Courmand. "You cannot be well groomed without fragrance."

Mr. Courmand may be prejudiced. By virtue of his position as top salesman for a big Paris perfume company, however, he's a qualified expert in giving advice to the American woman about the best use of the product.

"Perfume manufacturers have given out so many complicated stories about perfume," he says unhappily. "They've invented all kinds of strange stories about body chemistry. And they keep emphasizing that perfume is rare, costly, a treasure. All this has discouraged women—American women—from using as much perfume as they should."

RIGHT SPOTS

Actually, says Courmand, the best way to use perfume is as a spray, and the best place to spray it is on the hair.

"Perfume is largely alcohol," he explains. "And when you spray it on the hair you are spraying on a wide surface. That allows the alcohol to evaporate rapidly and leave the concentrate. It is the same on fur. And don't let anybody ever tell you that any perfume was deliberately developed for furs."

Courmand adds, however, that there are other good spots for the administration of the extract: behind the ears, on the wrists.

The proper administration of perfume is completely purposeful, he insists.

"The use of perfume on the wrist or at the elbow came about quite naturally. In many parts of the world, it was customary for a gentleman to kiss the hand of a lady. And of course, it is logical to put it at the ear."

When you are interested in a woman, you want to come close to her—and the more interested you are, the closer you come. You want to hold her close—to dance with her. So, then it is good—for kissing and dancing—to have perfume where it is of some practical use."

THREE TYPES
Courmand says there are good uses for the three main types of perfumes—cologne, toilet water and extract. The first is merely for a pleasant brief odor; cologne is principally alcohol with a mere suggestion of fragrance. Next strongest—eau de toilet—is for use after the bath—about the neck and shoulders. And then there is the concentrate—this is the powerful stuff to be sprayed on the hair and dabbed on ears and wrists and elbows.

"One of the reasons that Americans use so little perfume is that manufacturers have been trying to hint—but never to say—that perfume is an aphrodisiac," he said. "What kind of an idea is that? Let's say you are going to be a weekend guest. Would you want to bring your hostess a bottle of aphrodisiac?"

"Actually, perfume is like champagne—it is something that emphasizes your mood, excites the nervous senses. But an ugly woman can wear all the perfume in the world and she will still be ugly."

What kind of a perfume should a woman choose?

"What she likes," says Courmand firmly. "And she should wear it as long as she likes. However, if she goes in for horseback or tennis, I think she should have two kinds—one for the sport outdoors, and then her regular variety."

Teaching by Parables

JESUS TOLD SIMPLE STORIES TO HIS HEARERS THAT THEY MIGHT UNDERSTAND HIS PREACHING

Scripture—Mark 4:1-34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WHAT IS a parable? Webster's standard dictionary says it is "an allegorical method of conveying instruction by means of a fable or short, fictitious narrative; a comparison or similitude." The Standard Encyclopedia says it is "the name given originally by Greek rhetoricians to a literary illustration. In the Hellenistic and New Greek Testament it came to signify a short, fictitious narrative designed to convey some spiritual truth."

The parable was Jesus' method of making His listeners understand His teachings. He was again at the Sea of Galilee, where so great a multitude had gathered that "He entered into a ship, and sat in the sea; and the whole multitude was by the sea on the land. And He taught them many things by parables."—Mark 4:1-2.

The first parable was about a sower. As he scattered the seeds, "it came to pass, as he sowed, some fell on the way side, and some fell on the air came and devoured it up. And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth; and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth; but when the sun saying, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." Some who heard Him did understand and believe; many did not. Even the 12 apostles asked Him, when they were alone, what the parable meant, and He explained it, saying, "Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but unto them that are without, all these things are done in parables: that seeing they may see, and not perceive; and hearing they may hear, and not understand; lest at any time they should be forgiven them."—Mark 4:11-12.

Today many Christian missionaries are laboring in faraway lands to bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ to those who know Him not. Many are brought to Christ by these noble men and women. These doubtless are some, however, who do not understand His word and like the multitudes to whom Christ preached, hear but do not heed it. "These are they which are sown among thorns . . . And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lust of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful."—Mark 4:18-19.

MEMORY VERSE

"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves."—James 1:22.

was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered away. And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit. "And other fell on good ground, and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased; and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some an hundred."—Mark 4:3-8.

"Before considering this parable, perhaps we should remind ourselves of the sowing customs of Palestine in Jesus' day. . . . The grain was broadcast on the fields by hand, and covered by harrowing or raking the ground. A thorn bush is often used as a rake." I quote from Folsom's "The Bible and Modern Equipment is impractical. The various types of soil mentioned in the parable might readily be found in the same field."

In simple language, then, a parable is a story that all Christ's hearers might understand. So did Jesus sow the word of God.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

Kittens, Mittens, and Life

"Three little kittens lost their mittens . . . Bobby is thoroughly absorbed in the antics of the kittens. He will be pleased to discover that at the end of the story they find their mittens again. Like all children, he wants his stories to have happy endings.

But soon Bobby is going to find out that life's stories don't all have happy endings. Bobby is growing up, out of the land of fairies and elves, into the world of reality. Bobby must learn to meet sorrow with understanding, pain with courage, prosperity with thankfulness, defeat with hope, success with humility—he must learn to face life.

The Church School is waiting with open doors for Bobby, your Bobby. The Church School is prepared to show your children the best ways to make life a success. The Church School is ready to teach your children—in the language of children—the eternal truths of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hart And Oates Are Selected On All-Border

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bill Spanko, a junior end from Arizona State who specializes in catching the long pass, is the only unanimous choice on the Border Conference all-star team.

Five of the six Border schools placed players on the first team. Hardin-Simmons, conference leaders, set the pace with four.

Arizona State landed three first team berths, New Mexico A&M two. Only the University of Arizona failed to make the No. 1 unit, selected for The Associated Press by sportswriters.

Spanko, 6-foot, 180 pounds, has been one of Arizona State's most dangerous offensive weapons. He has caught 18 passes for 404 yards and three touchdowns. He also is a rugged defensive player.

The other end is Sammy Oates, a freshman who must receive his offensive signals by sign language. Oates, 6-1, 210 pounds, is a deaf mute. During the first year of college football, the 19-year-old Oates has grabbed 30 passes for 363 yards. He missed being a unanimous selection by one vote.

Other Hardin-Simmons players on the first team are tackle Ted Admondson and guard Joe Biggs, both repeaters from last year; and fullback Pete Hart, the league's leading ground gainer.

Joining Hart in the rather light — 177 pound average — but fast backfield is quarterback John Hangartner of Arizona State; halfback Leon Burton of Arizona State; another repeater from last year; and halfback Joe Kelly of New Mexico A&M, who in four years has played every backfield position. Kelly was the top vote getter among the backs.

The first team line averages 205 yards. Other linemen are tackle Bill Lockin, a junior from A&M; guard Jerry Epps of West Texas State, who placed on the second team last season; and 180-pound center Pool Webb of Texas Western, one of the conference's most vicious tacklers.

There are eight seniors, two juniors and freshman Oates on the No. 1 squad. The second team has 10 seniors and one junior — back Dave Hibbert of Arizona, the nation's leading pass receiver.

Second team: Ends—Keith Miles, Hardin-Simmons, 6-2, 200, senior; Tom Coffey, West Texas State, 6-2, 190, senior; Tackles—Dan Byrd, Texas Western, 6-2, 210, senior; Robert Bobo, Texas Western, 6-4, 237, senior; Burley Polk, Hardin-Simmons, 6-1, 230, senior.

Guards — Ken Kerr, Arizona State, 6-2, 250, senior; Marty Hurd, Arizona, 6-1, 225, senior.

Center — Dave Fannen, Arizona State, 6-0, 203, senior. Backs—Ralph Hunsaker, Arizona 6-1, 185, senior; Dave Hibbert, Arizona, 5-11, 165; junior; Bob Ratliff, West Texas State, 6-1, 215, senior; Joe Belland, Arizona State, 5-10, 182, senior.

Honorable mentions included: Ends—Fred Hedgcock, West Texas; Tackles—Raymond Kauffman, West Texas; guard—Leon Manley, West Texas; Centers—Carroll Dickson, Hardin-Simmons; Carroll Stafford, West Texas; Backs — Harold Stephens, Hardin-Simmons; Dewey Dohling, Hardin-Simmons; Earl Brown, Hardin-Simmons.

All Bowls Should Be Set Saturday

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four major bowl berths will be filled and Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium will be packed for the Army-Navy game Saturday as college football fires its last blast of the season.

Army, shunning bowls, takes a 7-0-1 record against Navy, shunned by bowls in light of a so-so 6-2 mark. It was Pitt, knocked out of the major bowl picture by Penn State's 25-21 upset Thursday, that marked the Cadets' record with a 14-1 tie. Tulane and Notre Dame beat Navy.

Notre Dame, which closes at Southern California Saturday, was the only common foe on the Army and Navy schedules, and the Cadets beat the Irish 14-2.

Half a dozen or so games will decide bowl bids.

Only two of the five major bowls are filled. Iowa and California will play in the Rose Bowl and Oklahoma and Syracuse fill the Orange Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl needs a team to face Texas Christian, the Sugar Bowl needs an opponent for Louisiana State and the Gator Bowl has two berths to fill.

Iowa, California, Syracuse and LSU have completed their regular seasons. Oklahoma shuts down shop Saturday against Oklahoma State. TCU calls it quits against Southern Methodist.

Of the top 10 teams in the latest Associated Press poll, five already have been picked for bowls (LSU, No. 1; Oklahoma, No. 3; Iowa, No. 4; TCU, No. 7; and Syracuse, No. 10). Three are ineligible (Auburn, No. 2; Wisconsin, No. 6; and Ohio State, No. 9) and one (Army, No. 5) turns its back on such doings.

That leaves Air Force (No. 8) as the only top 10 team still to be had. And the Cotton Bowl likely will get the Falcons (8-0-1) if they whip Colorado Saturday.

The Sugar Bowl reportedly is set to lap Clemson (7-2) to face unbeaten, untitled LSU New Year's Day if the Atlantic Coast Conference champion beats Furman Saturday.

That leaves SMU, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Florida, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Rice on the prowl for the Gator Bowl bid — or the Sugar and Cotton berths should Air Force and — or Clemson slip up.

SMU needs an upset over TCU to make it. Mississippi plays Mississippi State, Tech takes on Georgia, Florida finishes against Miami, Vanderbilt meets Tennessee and Rice plays Baylor.

South Carolina (7-3) wrapped up its regular season Thursday by whipping Wake Forest 24-7. Mississippi Southern, also a bowl prospect, locked up a perfect (9-0) season, defeating Chattanooga 20-13.

Texas (7-3) took itself out of possible bowl consideration after rapping Texas A&M 27-0. Rutgers (8-1), which finished last weekend, got tired of waiting and also withdrew from the list of postseason prospects although under serious consideration by the Blue Grass bowl committee.

The Blue Grass, with Alabama a top choice, will name its pairing Monday. Pitt's still alive for this one, along with Tulsa and Florida State, although the clubs already listed by the major bowl groups, Alabama (5-8-1) closes Saturday against Auburn (8-0-1), which is looking for its second straight unbeaten season but is banned from bowl play by NCAA probation.

Tulsa (7-3) finished with a 25-6 victory over Wichita Thursday. Virginia Tech eliminated Virginia Military from the postseason hopefuls 21-16. Cincinnati defeated Miami (Ohio) 18-7 in a battle of minor bowl prospects.

A Fifth Team Is Needed In League
Managers of four teams have expressed interest in the YMCA Industrial Basketball league. A fifth is needed, and the league will be able to go with six clubs, if that many enter and pay entry fees.

Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the Y, is accepting applicants and should complete the roll within the next few days, since he has hopes of getting the league started by mid-December.

Teams which have been tentatively entered include Hamilton's Body Shop, Elliott's Drug, Nabor's Paint Store and the Magnolia employees.

Dick Bass Of COP Claims Three National Titles
FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—College of the Pacific's Dick Bass, playing on a badly swollen big toe, hobbled off with three national football titles Thursday as the Tigers shattered Fresno State 82-6.

His teammates carried Bass from the field after he completed a season that hadn't been matched in 21 years.

The 189-pound, 5-foot-11 halfback from Vallejo, Calif., gained 130 yards on 33 carries, bucked for two touchdowns and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

The performance gave him a 10-game total of 1,361 yards rushed in 205 carries; 1,440 yards in total offense in 217 plays; and 116 points scored — all three marks the best in the country.

Not since Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado in 1937 has one player won all three titles in a single year.

"I really wasn't sure that I had won all those championships until the fellows picked me up after the game," said Bass. "I guess I was lucky to even get a chance to play. I hurt the toe in the second quarter against San Diego State and for a while we thought it was broken. I didn't run all week because I wanted to play against Fresno."

Bass grimaced as he eased his left foot into a street shoe. "They gave me a shot of novocaine and that helped," he said, "but even though I had good blocking, I couldn't get good footing. That big toe really hurt."

Last year Bass missed the entire season with another leg injury. This year he has a year of eligibility remaining. He plans to come back to COP and use it.

Aggies Bowled Over By Texas In Grid Finale

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Darrell Royal has wound up his second season as football coach of the University of Texas doing twice as much as was expected of him.

Yesterday Royal's Longhorns whipped Texas A&M 27-0 before a national television audience in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game. It marked his second season in a row to beat Texas' oldest rivals.

This year there also was a triumph over Oklahoma, something Texas had been longing for — some that had gotten to be quite a sore spot in Longhorn football.

For the two seasons Royal has won 13, lost 6, tied 1 with a 7-3 record this year. And prospects look very bright for bettering that next fall with the squad bulging with veterans and one of the finest freshmen teams in history coming up to the varsity.

When Royal became coach last year the team had just wound up its worst season, winning one out of 10.

Rene Ramirez, one of those good backs who'll return next fall, was the big show as Texas beat Texas A&M yesterday. He scored three of the touchdowns and also intercepted one of Charley Milledard's passes in the end zone to kill an Aggie drive.

George Blanch, another of the returnees, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass to get the first two scoring drives on the way. Mike Dowdle, the massive fullback, racked up 38 yards of a 65-yard surge and he also will be back in 1959.

Milledard had a good passing day except that he didn't throw for any touchdowns. He hit 14 of 33 for 191 yards but had 48 taken off the total because he was smothered several times by the hard-rushing Texas line. Three of his passes were intercepted.

Texas wound up with a good record but Royal said neither the players nor the coaches were interested in a bowl game even if they got a bid. Texas has been mentioned as a Gator Bowl prospect.

San Angelo had the club to end Abilene's reign but the Bobcats never did live up to expectations.

Although it played well against Abilene this year and upset Odessa in the final game, Midland experienced a miserable year and the football program there may be going to pot down in junior high. (The improvement in Midland's football fortunes this fall seemed to have come when coach Audrey Gill decided to promote several fine B teamers to varsity duty).

Odessa, which wound up with a 2-2 record in conference play, loses 14 players off this year's squad and must divvy up its talent next fall with the new high school there, Permian. Odessa finished with a 6-4 record.

Next year will be another year of rebuilding for Big Spring. Sophomores formed the heart of the Steer line and should be much better in 1959 but coach Al Milch faces the task of finding a replacement for Wayne Fields, the hardest runner 2-AAAA has seen in years, and that's no easy job.

It appears that the only thing that can equalize the situation in the conference is for Abilene to build another high school and even that might not help. School officials over there are vague about having another high school ready by 1960 and even then won't say that the student body will be divided to the extent that it will wound Moser's program.

The future is so bleak in some respects that it may cause more than one of the coaches within the conference to look elsewhere for employment or take up new vocations.

The Big Spring High School Steers engage in their final workout this afternoon before beginning their 1958-59 basketball season against the always-rugged Plainview Bulldogs here Saturday night.

B teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p.m. while the varsity teams take the court at 8 o'clock.

Big Spring lost only two regulars from its 1957-58 club but both of those were all-district performers.

One was Jan Loudermilk, a 6-foot-8-inch giant who went on to rate all-state honors. Loudermilk set all kinds of scoring records here and most of them will probably stand for a long, long time.

The other regular one is Jimmy Evans, a defensive great. Any number of times last year, Evans would take up the slack after Loudermilk fouled out.

The three returning regulars are Bill Thompson, Preston Hollis and Benny McCrary.

Thompson and Hollis will be in the back courts tomorrow night while McCrary, who only recently turned to basketball after playing football all fall, will be at forward.

The other forward will be Joe Bob Clendenin, a tall young man who came along fast toward the end of the 1957-58 season.

Pivot duties will probably be divided between Jerry Brooks and Jay LeFevre, both of whom are up from the B team. Brooks stands just shy of 6-foot-4. LeFevre is just over that figure.

Vernon Harton, an East Texan, will be making his coaching debut here. He succeeded Johnny Johnson to the job just as school was getting under way here last September. Vernon formerly coached at Jacksonville.

Veterans On Ozona Team

PLAINS, OZONA MEET IN CLASS A CLASSIC

Two teams which believe in carrying the attack to the enemy, Plains and Ozona, clash here at 7:30 o'clock this evening for the right to meet White Deer in the third round of the Class A football playoffs.

Plains is favored by as much as eight points but Ozona has just the right kind of team that can bring the Cowboy season to a quick halt. The Lions, coached by Pete Hickman, have dropped only two games this season and both of those to AA elevens.

Jack Pierce's Cowpops, district champions for the first time in history this fall, have been victorious in all but one reversal to date. The Waddies' lone setback was a 24-22 verdict to Farwell, which yesterday was eliminated by White Deer in the second round of the playoffs.

Ozona's attack is led by peerless Bobby Sutton, a 165-pounder who is winning his fourth varsity letter with the Lions. The mercurial Sutton has scored 134 points in 11 games this season and has carried the ball 180 times for gains totaling 1,403 yards.

The shifty speedster does everything required of a back and is said to be even better on defense than he is on offense.

Plains perhaps doesn't have any player who can match the brilliance of Sutton, but they could be the secret of its success.

In Cordell Huddleston's hands the Cowpops have a brilliant field general and passer, Jimmy Williams, one of the Waddies' halfbacks and the fastest boy on the team, is one of the finest pass receivers in the history of schoolboy football in this area.

Don Williams, who plays the other halfback, is a fine ball carrier.

Four battles are scheduled Friday night—Texarkana at defending champion Highland Park, Houston Reagan vs Houston Lamar, Port Arthur at Pasadena and Laredo at San Antonio Thomas Jefferson.

Saturday Abilene journeys to Yaleta while Corpus Christi Miller visits Waco and Wichita Falls is at Borger.

Three teams reached the quarter-finals in Class AAA Thursday with Andrews surprising Levelland 14-8, McKinney trouncing Handley 22-0 and San Antonio Sam Houston upsetting undefeated, untied San Marcos 12-0.

Defending champion Nederland tries for a first round victory Friday night, meeting Alvin at Alvin. Carthage and Athens clash at Tyler and Fallurris will be at Kingsville. Saturday Adline plays at Cleburne and Saturday night Breckenridge will be at Sweetwater in the clash of the top-rated teams.

Spurs stung Abernathy 32-8 Thursday in the second round of Class AA. The quarter-finals bracket in this division will be completed except for one team Friday night with Bowie and Terrell clashing at Denton, Gilmer and Marlin jousting at Gladewater, Brady and Schulenburg playing at Georgetown, Liberty hosting Port Acres, Angleton and Gonzales battling at Wharton and Pearlsall playing at Taft. Saturday Stamford and Cisco get together at Abilene.

White Deer, the top-rated team in Class A now that White Oak has been knocked out because of ineligibility, beat Farwell 28-16.

quarterback Joe Tranchini must click on his passes if the Middies are to pull their biggest surprise since their 1950 shocker which snapped a 28-game Cadet unbeaten string.

But without Bellino's breakaway threat and speed as a pass receiver and without the rugged Matalavaga to share the line-busting chores with Ray Wellborn, Army could strangle the Navy aerial game by concentrating on it.

Army is a one touchdown favorite for this 59th meeting which will unfold before the usual capacity crowd of 102,000 plus a national television audience.

From Coach Eddie Ederlatz down, the word at Navy is that primary against any foe. When the chips were down, the Cowboy forwards were magnificent against Rotan last week.

Ozona has run up 382 points in 11 starts. Plains has been even better at getting touchdowns, having tallied 424 in the same number.

In a recent game with Menard, at which time Ozona sacked up the District 8-A crown, Sutton ran with the ball only seven times but gained 180 yards and scored 22 points. Ozona won that one, 58-6.

Ozona, incidentally, has a Jimmy Williams, too. He plays left end and weighs 160.

Admission prices have been levied at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Each school was dispatched 750 ducats. Despite cold weather, the turnout is due to be bigger than it was here last week.

ANDREWS WINS Jefferson Jolted In AAAA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Six teams already are in the quarter-finals and 36 more will join them Friday and Saturday as the Texas scholastic football race moves through its most important phase of the season.

Fort Worth Carter-Riverside upset highly rated Dallas Thomas Jefferson 6-0 in the first bi-district game of Class AAAA Thursday.

Four battles are scheduled Friday night—Texarkana at defending champion Highland Park, Houston Reagan vs Houston Lamar, Port Arthur at Pasadena and Laredo at San Antonio Thomas Jefferson.

Saturday Abilene journeys to Yaleta while Corpus Christi Miller visits Waco and Wichita Falls is at Borger.

DEAR ABBY

HOLES IN YOUR HEAD

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know I'm a darned fool but I am so much in love I can't see straight. Bruce knows I'd do anything in the world for him, but he just uses me to get filled in on other girls. He gets interested in a new girl about every two weeks, and asks me to "fill him in" on who she is, where she works and how she likes him. Bruce knows I have been in love with him ever since we were kids, but so far he treats me like a pal. I keep hoping that one day he will return my love. Please, Abby, how can I get Bruce to treat me like a sweetheart instead of a pal?

ONLY A PAL
DEAR ONLY: If anything gets "filled in" it should be the holes in your head. A smart girl does not "fill in" a man with whom she is in love on details concerning the competition. Drop this helpful routine or you'll remain on the bench forever.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who signs herself "INSULTED" because every doctor, dentist and eye doctor tries to take advantage of her is typical of the neurotic, frustrated female who runs from doctor to doctor seeking attention other than medical. My husband is a doctor and he wouldn't touch a female patient unless his office nurse was standing beside him as a witness to his ethical behavior. He's worked too hard to risk his professional reputation on one of these "Everybody-is-mad-about-me" type of women. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, Abby.

DOCTOR'S WIFE
DEAR ABBY: Thanks for setting "INSULTED" straight. Every doctor has had to treat women patients who imagine his interest in them is more than professional. What wishful thinking! Those women ought to take a man along—to protect the doctor!

DOCTOR'S NURSE
DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you find out your husband has been going with another woman and when he thought he was in trouble comes to you and asks for your help? Crazy as it sounds, I stood by him and saw him through the whole mess. Am I out of my mind for forgiving him and helping him? We have four children and I want to know if you think they are good enough reason for swallowing my pride?

FORGIVING
DEAR FORGIVING: I do not know of four better reasons.

DEAR ABBY: My brother met a girl four years ago. After courtship, he married her and now they have a son a year old. Before my brother met this girl she had a son out of wedlock. I never asked any questions because I felt it was their personal affair. My brother adopted this child and treats him with the same love as his own. My problem is: What to say to relatives and friends? Should the older boy be introduced as my brother's son, or just his wife's son? When I'm asked, "How many children has your brother?" should I say ONE or TWO? SIS

DEAR SIS: Your brother has two sons. One adopted and one born to his wife and himself. Any other comments are unnecessary.

Fire Hydrants Save The Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The use of fire hydrants saved hundreds of turkey dinners when a six-inch water main burst in Brooklyn, leaving 1,800 homes without water.

The main break came about 1 p.m., when housewives were readying the holiday meal. With turkeys to be basted and vegetables to be boiled, they were in a panic.

Along came the City Water Department, stationing a man at each fire hydrant in the area. Along came the housewives, pitchers in hand, to stock up on water. Regular home water service was promised for today.

Neighbor Nation Helps Friend Celebrate His 75th Birthday

By LUIS LEON
LIMA, Peru (AP)—A North American known and respected as Mr. Peru celebrates his 75th birthday Sunday.

He is Dr. Albert Anthony Giesecke, who came here from Philadelphia 49 years ago as a young schoolteacher. He planned to remain only a short time, but he stayed to make his mark in education, politics and diplomacy.

Coya, Family Get Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—The family of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) got together for Thanksgiving dinner, but neither she nor her husband—Andy—would say whether they had settled their differences.

The dinner, at which they were joined by their adopted son Terry, 18, came a day after Knutson had withdrawn a $200,000 suit charging slander and alienation of his wife's affections.

Asked the meaning of the get-together, Knutson told newsmen that since it was a family dinner, there would be no comment. Mrs. Knutson agreed.

Knutson publicly urged his wife last summer to quit politics and return to their Minnesota home. She refused and won renomination to a third term in the House, but was beaten in the November election.

The following day, Knutson filed suit against William Kjeldahl, Mrs. Knutson's executive secretary. Kjeldahl denied the charges on which it was based, and Knutson, in withdrawing the action, said, "It was not my idea in the first place." He said it was prompted by others who wanted his wife defeated.

Mrs. Knutson said she had no idea now whether she will seek another congressional term in 1960.

his bags a dozen times to return home, but the call to service and love of his adopted country always changed his mind.

Dr. Giesecke, though past the normal pension age of 70 for American diplomats, serves at the U. S. Embassy as special assistant to the ambassador. The U. S. State Department waived retirement regulations in response to a plea from Peruvians for their old friend and adviser to remain.

Dr. Giesecke came to Peru officially as a member of a four-man American commission to help the government reorganize the country's education system.

With the job completed, he stayed on the invitation of President Augusto B. Leguia to become rector of the San Antonio Abad University of Cuzco. The university had been closed for several months in a controversy involving politics and a student strike against the faculty over old-fashioned methods of teaching.

Dr. Giesecke introduced many new things, including a sports program—basketball, baseball and tennis. His fraternization with the students at first shocked older faculty members. But he won the confidence of the faculty as well as the students, and enrollment trebled.

After 13 years as rector, Dr. Giesecke resigned and again prepared to go home. He gave in to Peruvians' pleas that he become their director general of education.

He married a Duzco girl, Esther Matto, a member of one of the oldest Spanish families living in South America.

Though education was his principal field, Dr. Giesecke took other roles in Peruvian life. He was a member of the Peruvian delegation that helped set the stage for the peace treaty ending the Peruvian-Chilean War. He was elected to the Town Council.

Featured speaker for the session will be Nelson Brown of Austin, executive secretary of the Texas Alcohol Commission. He will emphasize the field of rehabilitation.

Even Newer from Behind the Wheel!

Odds are you've seen the new 1959 Cadillac by now—perhaps sweeping regally past you on the boulevard... perhaps making its majestic arrival at a fine club or hotel. And odds are, too, that you've wondered if this 1959 "car of cars" could be as superlative in performance as it is in appearance.

Well, once you've found out for yourself, we think the truth will very likely amaze you. For this Cadillac is even newer from behind the wheel!

You will sense it, in fact, the moment you hear the whisper-quiet response of its great new engine.

And your sentiment will grow to conviction as you discover the other wonders of Cadillac's new performance... responsiveness so immediate and so silken in every driving range that it is difficult to believe...

... handling ease so remarkable that you follow the curves and corners with the lightest imaginable movement of hand and wheel

... a quality of ride so smooth and level and quiet that even the byways travel like boulevards.

Indeed, the evidence will be overwhelming—a journey at its wheel is the world's most glorious interval between start and stop.

And the proof of all this is no farther away than your nearest authorized Cadillac dealer.

He'll be delighted to make you his guest—to explain the virtues of each of Cadillac's thirteen new Fleetwood-crafted models, including the fabulous new Eldorado Brougham—and to let you take the wheel for yourself.
