Soviet Union Flies A-Powered Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union already is flying a nuclear-powered bomber, the magazine Aviation Week reports. It says the United States is at least four years behind the Soviet Union in this respect. Officials of the U.S. Air Force and Defense Department withheld comment on the report. The magazine said the Soviet bomber was completed six months ago and has been flying in the Moscow area for at least two months. Its test flights there have been observed by observers from both Communist and non-Communist countries, the magazine added. The nuclear-powered plane is a military prototype, not just a conventional plane fitted with an experimental nuclear power plant for test purposes, the report said. The nuclear power plant was described as the simplest kind of an atomic engine, a direct air cycle design similar to that being developed by this country. Such an engine is like the ordinary turbojet engine except that a nuclear reactor replaces the combustion chamber to provide the heat which furnishes the power. Nearly three years ago, in January 1956, this country first used a nuclear reactor to provide the heat for a turbojet engine. The Atomic Energy Commission said tests of the laboratory model at its eastern Idaho testing station demonstrated the feasibility of the engine, designed by the General Electric Co. at Evendale, Ohio. No airplane has yet been built to go with the engine, although work on design studies have been under way for several years at Convair's Fort Worth, Tex., plant and at Lockheed's facilities at Marietta, Ga. The Idaho test station expects completion by next fall of facilities to test the engine in conjunction with an air frame on the ground. No date for flight testing a nuclear-powered plane has been announced. Aviation Week said the Soviet plane is powered with two nuclear engines and two conventional jet engines. Speeds were estimated at just above or below the speed of sound. The magazine said the plane weighs 300,000 pounds, is 195 feet long and has a wingspread of 78 feet. This country's eight-jet B52 bomber weighs about 400,000 pounds and is 156 1/2 feet long. A major advantage of a nuclear-powered plane is that it might be flown for days or weeks without refueling. Among major obstacles to its development are the need for special metals able to withstand the intense heat of an atomic reactor, and the weight of the shielding now considered necessary to protect the crew from radiation.

West Berlin Gets New Vow From Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Communist-ruled West Berlin has a new pledge from President Eisenhower that its freedom will be safeguarded by the United States. The pledge that the United States intends to meet that responsibility, shared by Britain and France, was reaffirmed by the President after he and Secretary of State Dulles discussed the Berlin situation at an hour-long conference Sunday. They talked at the Augusta National Golf Club as Eisenhower made plans to end his working vacation Tuesday and fly back to Washington. His 13-day visit started Nov. 20. Back in the capital the President will face the task of completing the legislative program and the federal budget he will send to the new Congress in January. Eisenhower and Dulles almost certainly discussed countermeasures the Western Allies plan to take to keep the Soviet Union from dominating West Berlin. But they kept mum afterward about the strategy. In a brief statement after the meeting Dulles said: "The President reiterated our government's firm purpose that the United States will not enter into any arrangement or embark on any course of conduct which would have the effect of abandoning the responsibilities which the United States, with Great Britain and France, has formally assumed for the freedom and security of the people of West Berlin." That in effect was a fresh rejection of the Soviet Union's Thanksgiving Day proposal for creation of a demilitarized "free" city of West Berlin. Moscow at the same time declared void the four-power occupation agreement for Berlin which was reached after World War II. The Soviet note on its plan gave the Western Powers six months to enter into negotiation for establishment of a free city. The Russians added that failure to do so would put the plan into effect automatically at the end of that period. The swift U.S. reaction was that Russia was proposing to keep its grip on East Berlin and have the Western Allies abandon their rights in West Berlin. The State Department said the end result of the plan would be to surrender West Berlin to hostile domination. They were identified by a relative as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 65; Mrs. Forrester's mother, Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86, a widow; and Miss Blanche Conkling, 66, Mrs. Forrester's sister. The bodies were found by Tilton H. Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to contact them, he entered the apartment. Officers found several notes, some signed by individuals and at least one with the signatures of all four of the dead. One read, "Art is not responsible for Mom and me." It was found near Blanche Conkling's body. Forrester, a commission salesman for a cookie company, had incurable lung cancer, fellow employees and his brother-in-law said. A coworker of Forrester's said when told of the deaths, "I'm not surprised." Mrs. Forrester earlier this year had been in a mental institution and once had attempted to cut her throat, police said her brother told them. Homicide officers said a newspaper dated Tuesday was the latest one in the room. Tilton Conkling said he had been

German Politicos Unite Over Berlin

Adenauer Meets With Socialist Foe

BERLIN (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today held one of his rare meetings with political enemies, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, to discuss the Berlin situation. They met in Bonn while a U.S. military train running to West Berlin was delayed for an hour by what Communist East German officials called a broken rail. The U.S. Army accepted the Communist explanation—mindful that the incident was similar to those used by the Soviet Union before imposing the 1948-49 blockade of West Berlin. At that time, all land routes to the isolated city were closed for "technical reasons." Officials said the chancellor briefed opposition party chiefs on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's note on Berlin and disclosed subsequent exchanges he has had with the Western Allies. Those taking part agreed to keep details of the conference secret—but they said no political decisions were taken. The Western Powers may use only the six months Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given them to leave West Berlin to review demands for the unification of Germany by free elections. Informants in the Communist-surrounded city said diplomats in the Western capitals were discussing a proposal to call for a big East-West conference, either on the summit or the foreign ministers level, to reopen the whole German problem. This would include not only Berlin but German unification and a German peace treaty. In his Thanksgiving Day note to the Western Powers, Khrushchev himself said the unification of Germany would be the best solution of all for the Berlin question. But he again insisted on the Soviet terms—a neutralized federation of the two Germans, with the Sovietized part getting a say in the Western part. The Western Allies contend that a peace treaty can be negotiated only with a sovereign all-German government freely elected. East Germany has never had a free election and for that reason is not recognized by the West. The possibility of a high-level conference on German unity was raised further when Khrushchev declared at a Moscow reception Saturday that he would like to drink a toast again with the Soviet Union's wartime allies and discuss peacefully a Berlin solution at a "round table." The British, French and Americans already have made clear they will turn down Khrushchev's proposal that West Berlin be made a demilitarized free city—which would be open to a Communist grab as soon as the 9,000 Western troops had withdrawn. Alert to the possibility of a renewal of the blockade tactics of 1948-49, the U.S. Army reported one of its two daily military trains to Berlin was delayed for over an hour today.

Mother Of 3, Ex-Convict Are Charged In Insurance Murder

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother of three and her ex-convict boy friend are charged with murdering her husband in what police described as a plot to collect a double indemnity insurance policy. Police said 23-year-old Richard Lansing, whose criminal record began when he was 15, admitted shooting and killing Saisi, 30, in the head as the insurance agent lay pleading on the basement floor of his West Side home the night of Oct. 27. Lansing and Mrs. Mary Saisi,

Benson Scores Wheat Problem

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today wheat is the nation's number one agricultural problem. It must be solved, he added, with new legislation. He told the Chicago Farmers' Club and the International Livestock Exposition: "We now have more than three billion dollars tied up in the wheat surplus. In addition we are paying out hundreds of millions in subsidizing wheat and flour exports. Storage charges on the wheat surplus alone cost taxpayers around half a million dollars each day. Here is how big the surplus is: If we were to compute the 1959 wheat allotment by the old rigid formula still in the law, the allotment would be zero." The 1958 record farm production, Benson said, showed the futility of trying to balance total production and total acreage through acreage allotments. The action of crop producers in choosing to end corn allotments and take reduced price supports, he said, is the first realistic choice farmers have ever had on the question of controls versus freedom of decision. He congratulated corn producers on the "wise" decision. Benson warned that the record output of feed grains could stimulate excessive production of live stock and live stock products and added: "Favorable hog prices can be maintained only if production is held to the quantities and of the quality desired by the nation's consumers. An over-expansion in hog production will lead inevitably to low prices and incomes."

33, started at each other coldly Sunday moments before police charged the pair with killing Saisi. Lansing said, according to police, that he shot Saisi at the woman's instigation for part of a $12,000 double indemnity insurance policy and Saisi's 1958 model car. Earlier, Mrs. Saisi told calmly that she had plotted with Lansing on robbing her husband because Lansing needed money. But she insisted she never suggested the killing. After Saisi was killed, Mrs. Saisi told police he was shot by two Negroes who broke into and robbed her husband's basement office. She aided a police artist in drawing sketches of the two men. Police said they were skeptical. They couldn't understand why robbers would take only $180 from Saisi's pockets, leave an expensive watch and order Mrs. Saisi upstairs as she claimed. Robbers would have forced her to remain in the basement, they theorized. In recent weeks, the investigation turned up numerous reports that the woman and Lansing had frequented neighborhood taverns together. Both were arrested Saturday. Police found in Lansing's car a .25-caliber automatic. Ballistics tests showed it matched with the slug taken from Saisi's head, they said. Mrs. Saisi said she met Saisi after he withdrew from St. Mary's Seminary at Cape Girardeau, Mo., in 1950. They were married in 1951, divorced in 1953 and rewed later that same year. Lansing also is married.

Appeal Issued For More Toys

The fire chief today issued another plea for toys, especially big toys. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said that the firemen urgently need the larger toys, mainly bicycles, tricycles, and wagons. The chief said that the supply of smaller toys is coming in slowly, but that the firemen are getting almost no larger toys. In an attempt to get the toys, Crocker said that the fire department would come after the items if persons would call. Crocker said that persons should use the department's private line, AM 4-6083, rather than the regular fire line. In addition, any toys may be left at the four fire stations or any Shell service stations, Crocker said. The firemen annually repair toys which are then given to needy families at Christmas. But this year, Crocker said that the supply was so small that only a few persons could be supplied with toys during the next few days.

Ex-Gov. Hobby Undergoes Surgery

HOUSTON (AP)—Hospital authorities reported former Gov. W.P. Hobby was "resting easily" today following emergency surgery. Doctors said Hobby, chairman of the board of the Houston Post, was operated for a bleeding ulcer. They said his breathing and heart action were normal. Hobby, 80, became ill Saturday after returning from an automobile ride. At his bedside were his wife, Oveta Culp Hobby; his son, W. P. Hobby Jr., Houston, and daughter, Mrs. Henry Edward Catto Jr., San Antonio. Mrs. Hobby, president and editor of the Post, was secretary of health, education and welfare and headed the Women's Army Corps in World War II.

Santa To Spend Tuesday In City

Final preparations were being made today for Santa Claus' first 1958 visit to Big Spring. Santa is due to arrive early Tuesday morning, and will set up shop on the courthouse square for the entire day. Elaborate arrangements are being made to assure every youngster in the first three grades of public schools an opportunity to greet Santa and make known their Christmas wishes. Buses will start an all-day shuttle at 9 a. m., carrying pupils from the first three grades in the various elementary schools to the downtown area. Nine buses, includ-

Civil Suits Set New Record For District Court

November set a new record in 118th District Court in the number of civil suits and divorce suits filed. Wade Choate, district clerk, said that 33 new civil actions were lodged in the court during the month and 19 divorce petitions filed. Fourteen divorces were granted and 11 civil matters disposed of. Six criminal cases were tried without a jury and two with juries. One adoption was granted and one case of neglected and dependent children tried. The clerk's office assisted in the issuance of seven passports during the month.

Allies Could Lose Berlin Battle Before Expected Showdown

BERLIN (AP)—The Western Allies could lose the new battle for Berlin even before the expected showdown with the Soviet Union on the future of the embattled city. At this point, there is apprehension and pessimism among some West Berliners about the ability and determination of the Allies to maintain their position here. If this grew, it could have severe morale and economic repercussions. The East German Reds are playing on this fear. They proclaim that any future Allied airlift to supply Berlin would be regarded as a military threat. This and similar warnings are intended to choke off the hope of the West Berliners for a new Allied airlift. The uncertainty in West Berlin contrasts sharply with the cool nerve displayed here during the 1948-49 Soviet blockade. Then the crisis erupted suddenly and the Allies quickly called Premier Stalin's bluff with a massive airlift. "We shall hang on until the Russians give in." There is no sign that their fighting spirit is less today. But there is a rather widespread feeling of "Will the Allies stand firm?" And, "If so, what can they do to keep out the Russians?" U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' remark that the Allies might deal with the East Germans as Soviet agents touched off newspaper speculation here that Washington might have come to some secret understanding with Moscow about the future of West Berlin. Despite denials, this deepened the sense of bewilderment among West Berliners. Willy Brandt, the fighting West Berlin mayor, is making strenuous efforts to shore up his citizens' morale. Immediately after the Soviet near-ultimatum to the Western Allies to get out of the city within six months, Brandt took to TV and radio to urge Berliners not to become panicky. West German leaders understand the vital need for swift action to express confidence in West Berlin's future. They are reported reading huge government orders for plants here.

Japanese Don't Like Big Bills

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese storekeepers don't like the new 10,000 yen—$27.77—notes issued today. Most neighborhood stores said they don't carry sufficient small denomination bills to make change. The new notes were printed mainly for banks, insurance companies and high-bracket income people. But some are circulating in the ordinary channels of trade.

Graham Man Hurt In Oil Field Mishap

A Graham man was released from Big Spring Hospital after being in an oil field accident Saturday. The man, Gaston Crawford, who was living temporarily in Coahoma but called Graham home, was treated Saturday night for an eye injury, the police department said. He was rushed to the hospital by a River ambulance, but since being treated he has been released.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND GETS IMMEDIATE RESPONSE

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, which opened Sunday, got immediate response. Agnes Currie and Mrs. E. K. Dodson each sent in $5 gifts, which, added to two opening gifts, brought the fund to $25. Every penny of the money given goes to purchase toys, materials for repair of toys, and for otherwise helping needy youngsters have a good Christmas. Whatever residue there may be is applied all during the year to buy urgently needed milk, medicines and supplies for the destitute. Mail your contributions to the Herald or give them to a city fireman.

Close Call

A Newark, N.J., city bus almost dove into 35 feet of water after it swerved to avoid a car and bumped over a foot-high barrier. It came to rest with four feet of the front end dangling over Newark Bay. Five passengers and the driver scurried out a rear door.

IN SAME APARTMENT 4 Persons Take Their Lives In Round Of Mass Suicide

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Four persons, dependent over poor health, apparently each in turn took their own lives. Their bodies were found Sunday night in a South St. Louis apartment. The three women and a man, all related, appeared to have been dead for several days. They were identified by a relative as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 65; Mrs. Forrester's mother, Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86, a widow; and Miss Blanche Conkling, 66, Mrs. Forrester's sister. The bodies were found by Tilton H. Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to contact them, he entered the apartment. November Is Driest Month

Only .91 inch rain fell in Big Spring in November—making the month the driest of the 1958 year. The month came to a close with a last faint effort to augment its meager moisture record. The U.S. Experiment Station reported that .02 inch was gauged Sunday. The dryness of the month was not regarded with unhappiness by most of Howard County's rural residents. They liked the absence of moisture—it meant more weather suitable to harvesting the county's cotton crop which had been hampered badly in October by frequent showers. November lacked 1.02 inch of being as wet as November 1957 when 1.92 inches were gauged. The current year goes into its final month with 18.38 inches. Last year as November ended 22.86 inches had been measured.

Knife Victim Is Still In Hospital

One of two Latin Americans hurt in a fight at Stanton Saturday night has been released from a local hospital. Refugio Ramos of Stanton was released from Cowper Hospital this morning, but a bracer, Pedro Castillo, was still confined there. Ramos sustained a bruise on his right groin while Castillo had two cuts, one on the face and one in the lower part of his body. The two were brought to Big Spring Saturday night after a fight in front of the Basin Growers Assn. building in Stanton.

50,000 Traffic Deaths Predicted

CHICAGO (AP)—A safety expert today predicted traffic accidents will cost 50,000 lives in 1966 unless effective action is taken. Henry J. Hoefler, assistant general manager of the National Safety Council, also stated that the annual toll eight years hence could include 1,900,000 injuries and an economic loss of seven billion dollars. Hoefler noted, for comparison, that traffic fatalities numbered 38,500 last year. "You will be shocked to hear," he said, "that 1,081,600 people lost their lives as traffic fatalities between Jan. 1, 1925, and Jan. 1, 1958." Hoefler spoke at a meeting of Midwestern legislators sponsored by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety and the Council of State Governments. It is being conducted by the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University.

Stanton Girl Dies Of Crash Injuries

Patsy Ann Evans, 11, injured in a grade crossing mishap Saturday afternoon on the western edge of Stanton, died at 10:15 a.m. Monday in a hospital here. Patsy had suffered skull fractures when the car in which she and her mother and two brothers were riding collided with the lead engine of an eastbound T&P freight. She and the others were rushed here in an Arrington ambulance. Patsy had never regained consciousness. Mrs. Evans remained in the hospital, but her injuries were not thought to be serious. The two brothers, Glenn, 7, and Paul, 3, were dismissed after being kept overnight for observation. Arrangements are pending at the Arrington Funeral Home in Stanton. It is probable that rites will be held in the Church of Christ here with Elmore Johnson, minister, officiating. Mrs. Evans and the children were northbound on State Highway 137, commonly known as the Lamesa road, when they came to the crossing of the railroad just west of Stanton. The car made contact with the right side of the locomotive and was carried about 40 feet. All passengers were still in the car.

School May Cause Paper To Be Late

Your paper could be just a little later reaching your door. For the past month, route carriers have been dismissed from school at 3 p.m. while teachers engaged in an in-service program of evaluation. Now the closing time for school has been set back to 3:45 p.m. Hence, your paper might not arrive quite as early as it has for the past month.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Glen Whitis, the former Monahan mentor who is now head basketball coach at Howard Payne College in Brownwood, says Big Spring's Al Kloven is "the most improved player on the team from last season."

Al is expected to win the regular starting berth vacated by Jerry Fordhouse.

I look for Houston to land a franchise in the National Football League before it ever obtains a major league club.

Negotiations are quite far along to switch the Chicago Cardinals to the Texas metropolis.

The Cardinals will always play second fiddle to the Bears in Chicago.

Amarillo High School's 2-8 won-loss record the past football season was the worst in the school's history.

Little wonder Pat Powell, the Amarillo scribe, said recently the Sandies would be willing to hire Hayden Fry away from Odessa.

Wayne Fields, Big Spring's block-busting tailback, was named to the all-opponent team chosen recently by the Snyder football team.

Chubby Moser, the Steer tackle who I thought acquired himself well against the Tigers, was ignored completely by center Bobby McAdams of Big Spring was named to the alternate squad.

Six members of the Breckenridge team gained honored spots on the first team. Breck mauled Snyder by a score of 34-7.

Incidentally, 11 of the 21 boys who won varsity letters at Snyder this fall will return in 1959.

One of those back will be Dick Hayes, who might be the state's best running back next fall.

The "M" clubs had a miserable time of it the past football season. Consider the cases of Maryland, Michigan, Miami, Michigan State, Minnesota, Mississippi State and Missouri, not to mention Marquette, Millsaps, Marshall, Montana State and New Mexico.

TCU and LSU, which should be meeting in some bowl game Jan. 1, will come to grips next Sept. 26 in Baton Rouge. Both teams reportedly will be loaded in 1959.

Tommy Prothro, upon whom the gods have smiled since he became head football coach at Oregon State, may move back across the country to succeed Bill Murray as head coach at Duke University.

His father, Doc Prothro, the former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is ill and Tommy wants to be near him.

Olaf South, superintendent of schools at Sweetwater, filled a similar post at Roscoe when Big Spring's Al Milch was coach there.

Herb McKenley, the world-famed quarter-miler from Jamaica, now 35 years of age, is back in his native country, where he serves as supervisor of athletics. He's currently grooming prospects for the Pan-American games, to be held next year in Chicago.

The six-foot-six Mike Marsh, a brilliant basketball prospect while in junior high school at Midland, but who moved to Houston with his family last year, is back in Midland.

He'll be eligible for varsity competition his senior year only at Midland, however. Marsh played on the B team at Houston-Lamar in 1957-58.

A San Francisco man visiting in New York City at the time his city's pro footballers were playing in Green Bay telephoned a local announcer at Green Bay and asked the man to place the station's telephone next to the radio speaker.

The station, of course, was airing the 49er-Green Bay game. The man stayed by the telephone throughout the game. The line charges came to $45.

Davis announces starters for B game with Snyder

Probable starters for the Tuesday evening basketball game between the HCJC B squad and the Snyder Tigers have been announced by Jayhawk coach Harold Davis.

Davis indicated this morning he would go along with a lineup composed of Tom Garrison, Tullia, and Gene Smith, Fluvanna, at the post positions; Joe Cook, Ackery; and two local products, Frank Hardesty Jr., and Billy Blumh at the outside spots.

Doug Burrage, a sophomore from Handley, has been recalled to the squad and probably will see action. Several A team subs will suit out and get into the fray, if needed.

The engagement starts at 6 p.m. and will serve as a preliminary to the HCJC-Decatur Baptist College bout, which begins at 8 o'clock.

STEER CAGERS VISIT EL PASO FOR SERIES

Vernon Harton and his Big Spring High School Steers left Sunday afternoon on a prolonged visit to El Paso.

The Longhorns, still smarting from a 67-64 defeat at the hands of Plainview over the weekend, play three games in the Border City.

They take on the powerful El Paso Austin contingent at 8 o'clock tonight and again in an "assembly game" at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

On Tuesday night, the locals challenge El Paso Jefferson at 8 p.m.

The second game with Austin was added after Harton arrived to take over coaching duties here.

Austin officials said such a game at such an hour enabled the team to make money, since virtually all the student body turned out.

The Steers could lose all three games and still show promise. The El Paso schools are always tough to beat in basketball, especially in their own ball-rooms.

The Longhorns return Wednesday but will shove off again next weekend. They take part in the Plainview Invitational Tournament.

Big Spring is paired with Dimmitt in the first round of the Plainview meet. The two teams take the floor at 2:45 p.m. Friday.

In other first round contests, Hereford plays Littlefield at 4:15 p.m., El Paso Austin tries Sweetwater at 7 p.m. and Plainview challenges Tulla at 8:30 p.m.

Plainview, which broke even in its first two starts this year, is favored in the meet.

If the Steers beat Dimmitt, they will advance to the second round.

return to play at 1 p.m. Saturday against the survivor in the Hereford-Littlefield struggle.

If they lose their opener, they oppose the loser in the same game at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Consolation finals take place at 6 p.m. Saturday, the contest for third place at 7:30 p.m. and the championship engagement at 9 p.m.

The Longhorns next will be seen at home on Monday, Dec. 8, at which time they play Colorado City. The Wolves and the Steers used to have a storied rivalry in all sports but the relationship, pleasant though it was, was broken off years ago. No one knows why.

Probable starters for Big Spring tonight finds Joe Bob Clendenin and Brooks McCrary at forwards, Jerry Bennis at center and Bill Thompson and Preston Hollis in the backcourt.

Thompson, although fouled out in the fourth period, was high point man against Plainview with 19 points. Two other Steers, Hollis and Clendenin, scored in double figures.

Odds Are Long SWC Titlists Won't Lose

Chances of winning the Southwest Conference Football championship without losing a game are one to four as TCU found out last week when it closed out with a defeat at the hands of SMU.

The Horned Frogs clinched the title Nov. 22 and had a 5-0 record going into the last game. SMU led by Don Meredith, whipped the Frogs 20-13.

Only twice in eight years has a school managed to take all six conference games.

It just goes to show how close the competition is in this wild and woolly league where upsets are considered hewing to form.

SMU gained nothing except a tie for second place. It thought it might get a chance at a bowl game but found out after the game that all bowl spots had been filled.

Rice ended the season with a 33-21 triumph over lowly Baylor and tied SMU for runner-up, each with a 4-2 record.

Other action last week saw Texas beat Texas A&M 27-0 in their annual Thanksgiving Day game and it gave Texas fourth place in the final standings.

Texas Tech finished the season by dropping a 22-17 decision to University of Houston.

Baylor wound up last for the second season in a row but had the satisfaction of seeing its Buddy Humphrey set all-time passing records.

Humphrey threw for a mighty 387 yards against Rice, completing 22 passes out of 37. It was a game record and it also gave Humphrey the all-time mark of completions in a season. He closed out with 112. The previous record was 110.

The basketball season moves in Monday night and football will be forgotten by all except TCU which plays in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1. The Frogs will meet Air Force Academy.

Texas Christian had the best season record with 8-2 while Texas was second with 7-3.

Southern Methodist felt it had done very well by closing out with a triumph over the champion and making its season mark 6-4.

A fitting climax saw Unites—still sheathed in an aluminum harness to protect his injured ribs—pass seven yards to Ray Berry for an insurance tally.

It was the 23rd consecutive game in which Unites has thrown for a TD, tying Cecil Isbell's NFL record.

The battle for the eastern division title remained tight as first place Cleveland defeated Washington 21-14 and maintained a one-game lead over runner-up New York. The Giants beat Philadelphia 24-10 and seem headed for a showdown with the Browns in New York Dec. 14—the last day of the regular season.

In the only other game, Los Angeles defeated Chicago's Cardinals 20-14. Detroit and Green Bay played Thanksgiving Day.

The 49ers took a 27-7 lead in the first half, mainly on the passing of veteran Y. A. Title. The only Col score in the half came on a three-yard plunge by Unites.

Two short scoring bursts by Alan Ameche, capping drives spearheaded by Unites' pinpoint aerials brought the Colts within striking distance. Then Moore took over.

Bobby Layne's 48-yard touchdown strike to Jimmy Orr in the fourth quarter beat the Bears and carried the Steelers to their fifth consecutive triumph. Tom Tracy scored twice for the winners as he gained 156 yards in 17 tries.

Pittsburgh's Tom Miner kicked his 13th field goal, high in the league.

Cleveland's two fourth quarter touchdowns nipped the Redskins. With Jimmy Brown bottled up by the Redskins line—he gained only traces of yardage—the Browns' defense held the Colts to a 10-0 tie.

Los Angeles' two touchdowns in the second half carried the Rams to a 27-14 victory over the Colts.

Abilene, Scotties Playoff Favorites

Abilene, Highland Park, Pasadena, and San Antonio Jefferson look like the semi-finalists of Class AAAA schoolboy football as the race rolls into its last three weeks but there's many a slip and the ball rolls crazily these days.

Some good ones were bounded last week in the first round of the state playoffs, these including Dallas Thomas Jefferson and Houston Lamar. Jefferson took a 6-0 trimming from unheralded Fort Worth Carter-Riverside and Lamar was whipped 18-7 by Reagan, a team it had beaten 22-6 in early season.

The quarter-finals match Abilene with Wichita Falls; Highland Park, the defending state champion, with Carter-Riverside; Reagan with Pasadena and Corpus Christi Miller with San Antonio Jefferson. There's not an undefeated team in the lot.

Abilene started out with a 40-6 victory over Ysleta, Wichita Falls beat Borger 12-6, Highland Park outscored Texarkana 46-20. Pasadena felled Port Arthur 6-0. Corpus Christi Miller edged Waco 24-22 and San Antonio Jefferson lashed Laredo 36-0.

Class AAA will have a new champion because the 1957 king, Nederland, was ushered out in the first round by Alvin and by a 35-0 score at that. Breckenridge beat Sweetwater 16-14 in the big game—the one that was supposed to furnish the eventual champion. Breckenridge plays Andrews, surprise 14-8 winner over Levelland.

McKinney, which took out Handley 22-0, clashes with undefeated, untied Carthage, 20-0 victor over Athens; Spur, Stamford, Martin, Brady, Liberty, Angleton and Pearsall are left in Class AA. This week finds Spur playing Stamford, Terrell rolling against Martin, Brady playing Liberty and Angleton clashing with Pearsall.

White Deer plays Plains, Mason takes on Talco, Mart engages Elgin and East Bernard tackles George West in Class A. Mart is defending co-champion and looks like a finalist again. The other co-champion, White Oak, never got off the ground. White Oak was knocked out of the race because of an average player after it had won its first round game.

The schedule this week: Class AAAA—Corpus Christi Miller at San Antonio Jefferson, Friday night; Wichita Falls at Abilene, Highland Park at Carter-Riverside, Reagan at Pasadena, Saturday afternoon.

Class AAA—McKinney vs. Carthage at Tyler, Friday night; Andrews at Breckenridge, Alvin at Cleburne, Saturday afternoon; Kingsville at San Antonio Sam Houston Saturday night.

Class AA—Spur at Stamford, Friday afternoon; Martin at Terrell, Brady vs. Liberty at College Station, Angleton vs. Pearsall at Freeport, Friday night.

Class A—Mart vs. Elgin at Temple, East Bernard vs. George West at Victoria, Friday night; Mason vs. Talco at Hillsboro, Saturday afternoon; White Deer vs. Plains at Plainview, Saturday night.

Mel Barker seeks title encounter

AUSTIN (AP)—A world's welterweight title fight for Texas Welter Champion Mel Barker was sought yesterday by Barker's manager, Pat O'Grady.

O'Grady said Barker would fight for the title against a contender from the Midwest in Chicago.

Barker, 33, has held the title since 1954 and is looking to defend it against a contender from the Midwest in Chicago.

AND CLINCH A TIE Baltimore Rallies Late To Triumph

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Lenny Moore's choreographer and Johnny Unitas' script writer fashioned a brilliant last act as the Baltimore Colts won their first Western Conference championship in the National Football League.

The come-from-behind Colts did it the hard way Sunday, striking for 21 points in the final quarter and defeating San Francisco 35-27.

At the same time, the runner-up Chicago Bears were eliminated as they lost their first game ever to Pittsburgh, bowing 24-10.

Moore and Unitas turned in first rate performances as Baltimore (9-1) captured its first crown since entering the league in 1950.

With little more than 11 minutes remaining, the Colts still trailed 27-21 after scoring at the outset of the final period. Moore stepped front and center. He danced down the sidelines, cut back to the center of the field, then forged straight ahead to complete a 73-yard maneuver that tied it. Steve Myrha's conversion put Baltimore ahead.

A fitting climax saw Unites—still sheathed in an aluminum harness to protect his injured ribs—pass seven yards to Ray Berry for an insurance tally. It was the 23rd consecutive game in which Unites has thrown for a TD, tying Cecil Isbell's NFL record.

Shick Carves Totem Pole For Ruidoso Home

Nat Shick's hobby has been called upon to fill another big order—a 15-foot totem pole. The picturesque pole, a gift of Odessa and Midland oilmen to C. L. (T-Bone) Moore of Odessa, has been erected at Moore's Ruidoso, N. M., home.

Shick required several months to carve the figures on the big log which is 16 inches in diameter at the base and 12 inches in diameter at the top. Two decades ago, Shick, who then was Big Spring's postmaster, took a discarded cedar telephone pole and turned his woodworking hobby by making a huge totem pole. This massive pole, appearing every bit as authentic as those turned out by Indians of the northwest, was erected in the Big Spring City Park where it has been an attraction ever since.

President Calls Meetings On Vital Problems

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, nearing the end of his vacation, today called Washington meetings for Wednesday on vital defense and space age problems.

The President, who has been at the Augusta National Golf Club since Nov. 20, will fly back to the capital late Tuesday. The next day he will meet separately with the National Aeronautics and Space Council and the National Security Council.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced that the Wednesday space council meeting at the White House will deal with the issue raised by a proposal by the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration, a civilian unit, that it take over the Army's ballistic missile agency.

The proposal touched off a storm of Army protest when it was first made a few weeks ago. But there now are reports at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters that the controversy has been resolved.

On the agenda at the National Security Council meetings Wednesday and Thursday will be the big question of how much to earmark for defense spending in the fiscal year starting July 1.

After a conference with Eisenhower here last Friday, Secretary of Defense McElroy left open the possibility that defense spending next year will run about one billion dollars more than the $40,800,000,000 estimated for the year which started July 1.

The jurors, he explained, will be chosen and sworn and then instructed to return to court on Wednesday.

The case to be tried is a compensation action brought by James H. Babks against the Texas Employers Insurance Co. Banks alleges in his petition that on Feb. 25, 1958, he was working on a job for Cagle Brothers.

On the agenda at the National Security Council meetings Wednesday and Thursday will be the big question of how much to earmark for defense spending in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The "Beast" Roars

The Air Force Atlas, often called the "beast", blasts away from its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., on a trip through space toward a target area 6,325 miles away. The Defense Department said the flight was successful. The flight was hailed as marking the perfection of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

How Booster Drops

This drawing shows how the Air Force Atlas missile, drops its big twin-chambered booster engine (foreground) soon after takeoff. The lightened missile is then thrust on to final speed by its main engine. Its designers say it is the most powerful U.S. rocket system to reach flight tests.

French Right-Wing Flattens Commies

PARIS (AP)—Right-wingers waving the banner of Premier Charles de Gaulle flattened the Communists, badly trimmed moderate parties and swept to firm control of the new French National Assembly today.

The Communists held 2.9 per cent of the popular vote but captured only 10 of the 149 seats they had held in the last National Assembly in the man-to-man runoff elections in France Sunday.

Among the losers was the fiery Communist mouthpiece and organizer Jacques Duclos. Topped like shooting gallery ducks were many of the ex-premiers, ministers and wheelhorses of the center parties—among them former Radical Premier Edgar Faure, Socialist disarmament negotiator Jules Moch, former Socialist Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, former Socialist Algerian administrator Robert Lacoste and former Justice Minister Francois Mitterand.

Dark-browed Jacques Soustelle became the man to watch in the new Fifth Republic. It was Soustelle who eluded police, escaped to Algeria and gave political direction to the rightist movement that crumpled the Fourth Republic last May.

His Union for a New Republic (UNR) captured 32.7 per cent of the vote and 188 of the 465 seats from European France. Not since 1946, when Communists elected 174 deputies, has a party held such a large block of seats.

The conservative votes of 120 independent and peasant deputies, combined with the UNR's 188, gave the rightists a clear majority.

In addition, the 71 deputies being elected from Algeria and the Sahara were expected to support Soustelle. Despite De Gaulle's desires for a wide range of representation from Algeria, fear of reprisals from both the nationalist rebels and the French army restricted the candidates there to those favoring continued close French control.

The Socialists dropped from 95 seats in the old Assembly to 40, the Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP) from 74 to 44.

The once-strong Radical Socialists, a slightly right of center group, declined from 71 to 26 and even this remnant was split into feuding factions. One of the party's leaders, ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, was eliminated in the first round of voting last Sunday.

Diverse groups accounted for the remainder of the Assembly's strength from France.

Ten deputies were elected from overseas territories. With the 71 from Algeria and the Sahara, the Assembly will total 546.

A new premier will be named after the electoral college picks a new president of France Dec. 21. De Gaulle is certain to get the presidency, but there has been some speculation that he might use his influence to keep Soustelle from the premiership.

Socialist leader Guy Mollet and MRP leader Pierre Pflimlin, both ministers of state in De Gaulle's present Cabinet, likely will head the opposition in the Assembly.

The new Assembly will meet first in January, for a short session.

The right-wing sweep went far beyond the desires of De Gaulle, who refused to lend his name officially to any party or candidate in an effort to remain above politics. He had hoped for a more balanced representation of moderates to effect a liberal settlement of the four-year nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

It now appeared that the Premier was the only brake to the rightist movement, running under his colors but without his consent.

Included in Soustelle's following in the new Assembly are four generals and five colonels who used the rightist insurrection in Algeria last May as a springboard to politics.

Leftist and moderate candidates were hurt by many things. They were identified with the discredited Fourth Republic and its constantly changing governments. Many had opposed De Gaulle and his new constitution or were late in getting on the bandwagon. They suffered the loss of seats through the abandonment of proportional representation.

Duclos and many Communists were the victims of the new runoff system which permitted the weaker candidates in a district to drop out on the second round and throw their strength against the Reds.

Temperatures dropped below zero in northern New England and near zero in parts of New York state. One of the lowest readings was -14 at Mt. Washington, N.H.

The mercury edged toward the zero mark in areas southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. The freezing line extended southward toward the mid-Gulf Coast, including northwestern Florida.

Mail Volume May Set New Mark This Yule

If present indications stand, the Big Spring post office expects to handle even more pieces of mail this Christmas season than last year's all-time record of 4,752,509 letters, cards and parcels, E. C. Boatler, postmaster, believes.

He said that the excellent response accorded his appeal to patrons to mail early has indicated that the post office can reasonably anticipate an even greater flood of mail this year than last. Already a large number of letters, cards and packages, clearly of the Christmas character, are pouring into the office. The tempo will increase steadily, he said, as the days pass and the holiday draws closer.

Boatler repeated the same advice he has given on several earlier occasions—make certain all addresses on Christmas mail are correct; be sure to place return addresses on such mail; be positive that the postage attached is proper and sufficient; and above all—mail early enough to insure that the mail reaches its destination in time for delivery before Christmas.

Four-cent postage stamps, he pointed out, should be used on all Christmas greeting cards—if the sender wants to be certain they are handled speedily and efficiently. They will be forwarded or returned when first class postage is provided—which is not the case when the sender tries to economize.

A military spokesman said the question led to Lutman's arrest, because "no one who knows anything about jets would ask a question like that. A tremendous amount of ground equipment is needed to start a jet."

Air Force personnel rushed to the plane from nearby hangars. They quoted Lutman as asking if the plane was "gassed up and ready to go."

DEAR ABBY ONE SMALL VOICE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Thank heavens somebody had the nerve to say something about the ridiculous new styles we women are being forced into buying. I bought a new outfit and when I put it on to go out my husband took one look at me and said I looked like Cinderella's step-sister with my ruffled buckles, pointed toes and balloon-skirted dress. (He was right, too!) He told me if I didn't take it off and put on something sensible he wouldn't take me out. But what are we women supposed to do when we want a new outfit that LOOKS new? STUMPED

DEAR ABBY: Our Women's Club met last week and there were about 100 women there. I counted only four women in the chemise, trapeze and sack dresses. Three were pregnant and the other one I am not sure about. I don't think the American women are falling for those silly fashions.

DEAR ABBY: What kind of a stunt do you think the fashion experts are trying to pull on the American women? I went into one of the most exclusive dress shops in town to buy a new dress. The saleslady showed me one horrible shapeless dress after the other, but she herself was wearing a stunning tight-fitting sheath. Naturally, I bought nothing, but went home and got out last year's dress. NO FOOL

DEAR ABBY: I work for a large concern which employs many females. Most girls who wear the sack type dresses look positively terrible and the few who look good in them would look much better in something else.

DEAR ABBY: When my chum and I feel like we could use a good laugh we go into a store and try on the latest dresses. We never buy anything, but, boy, do we have a good time! ESTHER

DEAR ABBY: Since you had the courage to come out and declare yourself anti-new styles, why don't you organize a club for all the women who feel the same way? There's strength in numbers and maybe we can get the fashion dictators to wake up and put something on the market that will make us look like women again. We could call it the WWFS (WONT WEAR FREAKISH STYLES) and simply refuse to buy anything that is not becoming to us. How about it, Abby? RUTH A.

DEAR RUTH: Wonderful idea! Any woman wishing to protest the new styles is eligible to join Abby's WWFS ANONYMOUS. Just send a postcard with your name (or initials) and you automatically become a member.

Opposition Ahead In Uruguay Election

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Counting of votes from Uruguay's national elections went slowly today with the opposition National Blanco (White) party taking a slight lead in early returns.

Regardless of the outcome, government policy was not due to change much. Both the Nationalists and the government Colorado (Red) party are pledged to a conservative policy and continued friendship with the United States.

DEAR ABBY: I work for a large concern which employs many females. Most girls who wear the sack type dresses look positively terrible and the few who look good in them would look much better in something else.

Civilian Who Never Flew Plane Tries To Steal Jet

BOSTON (AP)—A civilian who never before piloted a plane was charged today with trying to steal an Air Force jet to fly it to India.

Donald L. Lutman, 35, unemployed, of Bound Brook, N.J., was arrested Sunday at Hanscom Air Force Base, Bedford, when he pulled a wrong lever and set off an explosion which knocked the canopy off the jet.

FBI agents quoted Lutman as saying he wanted to take the plane to India so he could be at the bedside of Thakur, ailing Hindu religious leader.

Lutman was quoted by the FBI as saying he became a follower of the Hindu religious leader when he was serving in India with the American Field Service during World War II. The FBI said Lutman strode to the plane—a T33 jet trainer—entered the cockpit and then fiddled with the controls in an attempt to get it off the ground.

A lever he pulled, the agents said, sent the plane's canopy flying. The Air Force said the same lever was supposed to eject the seat and its occupant but mechanical trouble prevented that, thus possibly sparing Lutman's life.

Air Force personnel rushed to the plane from nearby hangars. They quoted Lutman as asking if the plane was "gassed up and ready to go."

A military spokesman said the question led to Lutman's arrest, because "no one who knows anything about jets would ask a question like that. A tremendous amount of ground equipment is needed to start a jet."

Father Can't Believe Youth Was Guilty Of Triple Murder

HOUSTON (AP)—"I've never spanked him more than once or twice," said the father of Nearvel Moon, 18, charged in a triple slaying.

The youth was a respectful, obedient son, W. V. Moon said. "He always said 'yes, sir' and 'no, sir.'"

"I just don't believe he did it," the father, a welder said. "It doesn't make sense to me."

Nearvel told police he robbed two Houston men and shot them and one man's son Saturday when he stumbled across them shooting at tin cans floating on a pond about 15 miles west of here.

He signed a written statement and officers charged him on three counts of murder. The youth later told newsmen he pulled the robbery to get money to have his mother's teeth fixed. The holdup netted $40.

He threatened them but the girls stayed on his trail. At one point they found a billfold which the gunman returned to claim, warning them again to leave.

Two of the girl riders rode to a farmhouse to call police. Miss Gillaspay discovered the bodies after the man told her where they were. She said he told her he had just killed three persons and "would just as soon kill you as not."

Moon told police he hadn't planned to kill anyone but that Appleton suddenly started running and yelling.

"I shot him and he fell into the creek... in just a second the other guy—the middle-aged one—ran at me. I shot him twice and he fell. The little boy went to running away from me and hollering that he would do anything I wanted him to do if I wouldn't shoot him. But I shot him in the chest as he turned toward me."

The youth's aunt, Mrs. Q. Moon said, "we're 100 per cent behind

Cold Weather Blankets N'East

The season's coldest weather blanketed the Northeast and sent an icy chill deep into the South today. The Midwest got a brief respite from the near-zero cold and snow.

The Northeast was hit by the frigid blasts in the wake of the heavy snowstorm which swept the region over the weekend after leaving near record early season falls in the Rockies and Midwest.

Temperatures dropped below zero in northern New England and near zero in parts of New York state. One of the lowest readings was -14 at Mt. Washington, N.H.

The mercury edged toward the zero mark in areas southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. The freezing line extended southward toward the mid-Gulf Coast, including northwestern Florida.

Want Prettier Legs?

Dancer-actress Gwen Verdon gives a few exercises to keep legs beautiful to Lydia Lane in today's column of Hollywood Beauty. Gwen is starred in "Damn Yankees" for Warner Bros.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Exercises Given For More Beautiful Legs

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When Gwen Verdon became an "overnight" success in the Broadway production of "Damn Yankees," everyone in Hollywood who had known her as an MGM choreographer was delighted. Then Warner Bros. decided to make this hit musical into a movie and chose Gwen to portray her original role.

"It must give you much pleasure to return to Hollywood with the as we lunched in her sumptuous apartment.

Gwen has beautiful legs, which were displayed by the costumes she wore in the movie.

"The short skirt is becoming to you," I commented. "Do you have any advice on improving the legs?"

"I feel that if you are going to wear high heels most of the time, you should take care that the tendons at the heels are not shortened. These can be lengthened by exercising with your toes on the bottom step of a stair and your heels on the floor. It will give you a good pull to rise up as far as you can on your toes and lower to your heels. If you do this regularly you'll find that you will be able to go barefooted or wear flat shoes without discomfort.

Got Yule Problem? Maybe There Is A Solution For It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures
Santa's mighty sled carries a special section for a question box, especially to carry notes from the campus crowd.

There are, for instance, those perennial puzzlers that Mr. Claus is an expert at solving—questions that involve gift giving.

"My girl friend and I date the same boys," writes a 17-year-old. "One boy is a very good spender when he takes us out, and last year we each gave him a gift. This year my friend is going to give him a very handsome waistcoat that her father brought from England. I can't compete with that. What should I do?"

Since the boy is not even a steady beau, give him what you planned to give him or distinguish yourself by not giving him anything. If you are a good knitter, consider making him a pair of socks or a silk tie. You can get directions for these, and it will not take you long to make them.

"Last year my girl friend and I exchanged gifts. She gave me a very inexpensive gift—a pair of cotton gloves. My gift to her was a beautiful umbrella. Should I just skip this year or give her a tiny present," asks a 15-year-old.

I would give her a less expensive present, to save her the embarrassment of not reciprocating in kind, if she cannot afford your budget, but I'm afraid that you want to limit your gift because hers does not measure up to your expectations of price range.

"A new girl moved into our neighborhood not long ago, and she has decided to have an egg-nog party on Christmas Day. This has always been a tradition at our house, and I do not know what to do. Should I ask the girl to change her date or just compete with her," asks a 16-year-old.

If you are in the same circle of friends, why not call her and ask what time she plans to have her party. Explain to her kindly, that you have had the neighborhood egg-nog party every year, and you wouldn't want to interfere with hers. If her party is from 12 to 2, maybe you could schedule yours from 2 to 4.

"If boys and girls come to your house on Christmas for a tree party, do you have to give them gifts? Would they feel they have to give me a gift?"

This may be solved by announcing beforehand that there will be a grab bag for boys and one for girls, with boys bringing a gag gift for the girls and girls bringing one for the boys.

Legacy Of An Inquiring Mind

One of the great benefactors of mankind died in Dayton, Ohio, the other day at the age of 82. He was Charles F. (Boss) Kettering, an Ohio farm boy who came to hold 140 patents on various gadgets which yielded him a huge fortune. He had "retired" in 1947, but kept on working right up to the final stroke that laid him low.

He helped develop the cash register. He developed farm light and water systems. And his mechanical ingenuity went into the development and perfection of the automobile.

His invention of the self-starter in 1911 saved more broken arms and lost tempers than any single gadget in American history.

It is characteristic of our times that Harry Einstein, who died the day before Kettering, got as big a play in the newspapers as "Boss Kett" received. Who was Harry Einstein? A dialect comedian known to radio fame as Parkyakarkus (spelling not guaranteed).

We wonder that to the listening public the comedian was known to ten persons where Kettering was known to one.

Yet Boss Kett either invented or had a large hand in developing a diesel locomotive and baby incubators, aerial torpedoes and fever machines, refrigeration units and pilotless airplanes, anti-knock gasoline and accounting machines.

Most of the millions he left behind will go to establish foundations for scientific studies with the aim of helping all mankind. Charles Kettering left a great legacy to America in his persistent challenge to think, think and think.

What price glory?

We have lost our sense of values. We have forgotten how to evaluate the worthwhileness of human achievement. And yet we wonder why there is a juvenile delinquency problem.

No Mortification Anymore

Not too long ago a woman who dyed her hair was thought capable of any transgression, including smoking a cigarette, notes an AP dispatch reporting on the Manufacturing Chemists' Association findings.

Today, seven out of ten women have tried hair coloring at least once — and 40 per cent of them had no gray-hair problem. This year they will spend $42 million in dyes for home application, and another $16 million to have their hair dyed in beauty shops — in both instances, a 50 per cent increase over 1956.

"You never know what you're coming home to these days," a chemist remarked.

The shades available have a rainbow variety. A single manufacturer asserts he's putting out 150 basic colors.

Nothing new in coloring hair, though. Someone found a formula in Sturbridge, Mass., that goes back to Colonial times.

Its principal ingredients were chimney soot and lard and it was designed for the masculine trade, not the feminine.

Today's hair-dye concoctions derive from coal tar, and they are carefully referred to in the trade as colorants, not "dyes." And whereas the Colonial type "dyes" were highly impermanent, as you can well imagine, the modern ones re referred to as more or less permanent.

There is no satisfactory explanation for growing baldness among the masculine population, but the real mystery is how the gentler sex is able to keep any hair at all in view of the pulling, the hauling, the baking, the soaking in chemicals and the bleaching and unbleaching it undergoes during the average female lifetime.

There was a time when a woman who was suspected of dyeing her hair was mortified at the imputation. Today, who cares?

David Lawrence Morality Back In Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON—Morality is back in the news—the morality of nations and the importance of maintaining moral principles in the conduct of the foreign policy of the United States. Secretary of State Dulles gave morality a headline the other day when he spoke at Cleveland before the National Council of Churches of Christ at a meeting described as a "world order study conference."

Mr. Dulles is himself a prominent Christian layman whose basic fidelity to moral principles in world affairs has at times brought down on his head the criticism of those intellectuals of today who rationalize expediency as practical. By this is meant, of course, that the end justifies the means.

Mr. Dulles rather wistfully lamented the decline of morals in international society. He said:

"Today when despotism again rides high, our society is closely observed. Many find us lacking.

"In terms of faith, we seem unable to articulate a basic philosophy for our times which carries deep conviction and strong appeal.

"In terms of works, we seem to be treating freedom as an opportunity for moral license and our productive power often seems to be dedicated to frivolities rather than fulfilling vital human needs.

"In some respects, we seem to be as materialistic as the Communists, but without their supporting philosophy and efficiency.

"Surely, when we concern ourselves with 'change,' we must not ignore the need to change ourselves."

The word "we," as used here by Secretary Dulles, includes the many political leaders in Western countries and particularly those spokesmen of modernism who want peace at any price and therefore do not wish to articulate or accept any moral philosophy in international relations. They are willing to make any concession to the Communists—if it will only eliminate the annoying intrusions of armament expense into their otherwise profitable and pleasurable existence. The Communists are not principled.

Even the very meeting which Mr. Dulles addressed found some of the Protestant clergymen ready to take unto their bosoms the murderers in Red China and ready to forget the sins and crimes committed by the Communists in Korea.

How can there be morality in the world if aggressors are to be rewarded—as Vice President Nixon asked a London audience this week—and how can there be security if the aggressor knows that there will be no resistance to his acts as he continues to reach out into smaller countries and one by one conquers them by subversion?

There is no need to accuse Mr. Dulles or the President of surrounding their policies with an atmosphere of high morality or self-righteousness. These two dedicated men would in all humbleness be the first to concede their mistakes as they have tried to steer the ship of state through the waters made rough and often impassable by Communist schemes and plots.

But the President and the Secretary of State have tried to hold aloft the banner of decency and morality in the relations of states. The American republic has not sought a square foot of any other country's territory nor robbed any nation of its sovereignty. Mr. Dulles rightly deprecates the philosophy of those who believe in "power politics" and in the counsel of those exponents of a foreign policy shift in character that would yield to expediency. He said:

"Our collective security efforts would surely collapse if our free world associates felt they were tied to policies which shifted under the dictates of passing considerations as to what was expedient from the standpoint of the United States. They do not always like it when we adhere to principle. But they would be even more unhappy if we had no principles.

"Nothing could be more dangerous than to give traditional poets a desire to change, it is always we who must change to accommodate them. Communism is stubborn for the wrong; let us be steadfast for the right.

"A capacity to change is indispensable. Equally indispensable is the capacity to hold fast that which is good. So it is that while we seek to adapt our policies to the inevitability of change, we resist aspects of change which counter the enduring principles of moral law."

These passages are in themselves enduring. For they strike at the root of the attitudes of surrender that are so often obscured behind high-sounding words advocating "disengagement" or "adjustment." Such are the counsels that have given the Kremlin much encouragement in recent months in their drive to oust from the Department of State the man who has the courage to say:

"Our faith is that each individual has his origin and destiny in God and thus has a spiritual nature and personal dignity. Therefore we must oppose the treatment of the individual as merely an animated bit of matter to be used to promote the organization of the world in accordance with materialistic principles."

Morality among states is not any more difficult to understand than it is among individuals. Simple honesty and trustworthiness and fair treatment are still the basic principles which America seeks to establish in the relations of governments. This is the Dulles-Eisenhower policy. It is difficult to understand only where there is unwillingness to accept its stern morality.

THE WORLD'S HIDEOUS WAR POTENTIAL

No Gilded Cage Either

James Marlow Reds Testing 'Containment' Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy — containment — which was thought out and started in the late 1940s.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

But in a changing world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet oncoming events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted.

Once again it is being forced to react—this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western Powers to abandon this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists—an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany, will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation down on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

If he can back the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

Hal Boyle Billboards And Bosh

NEW YORK (AP)—"There is an awful lot of tightrope walking in the world today," said Ogden Nash.

"There are so many sore toes that a humorist can't help stepping on a few."

When he was 10 and his older sister was about to be married, Nash composed an ode long cherished by his family. It began:

"The beautiful spring at last is here, And has taken my sister I sadly fear."

Some 46 years, 50,000 published lines, and a million chuckles later, Nash is widely rated as America's most successful writer of light verse.

His 13 books—the latest is, "You Can't Get There From Here"—have sold nearly two million copies. With the possible exception of Robert Frost, he probably is the only well known American author who has made a living in the last quarter century from verse.

"I'm something of a freak," he admitted. "I've been lucky."

But even Nash has found it advisable to toil part-time in other vineyards. He lectures, has done two stints in Hollywood, written lyrics for Broadway shows, appeared as a TV panelist.

His latest television assignment was to write the lyrics for six songs for "Peter and the Wolf," starring Art Carney and presented Sunday over the ABC-TV network.

"The only love song was sung by a near-sighted dog to a duck under the impression she was a water spaniel," he said.

This kind of chore delights the offbeat mind of Nash, master of the kind of outrageous rhymes that tickle modern readers but give traditional poets a desire to beat their heads against a wall.

"I think in terms of rhyme, and he since I was six years old," he said.

He once almost fell in love with a lady named Mrs. Blorange. She fascinated him because of the similarity of her name to orange which, like the words silver and pilgrim, have no dictionary rhymes.

Nash began his career composing streetcar card ads at $100 a month for a firm which previously had employed F. Scott Fitzgerald in this task.

"I never wrote a car card that appeared in New York City," he said. "Just places like Chillicothe, Ohio."

Nash, a soft-voiced, hazel-eyed six footer with an habitual expression of absent-minded inquiry, is a painstaking craftsman. He turns out only one or two verses a week now, writing in pencil on sheets of yellow paper.

"I work at home because there are so many interruptions there," he remarked. "I like interruptions."

Neither the ideas nor the rhymes come easily. Writing is still hard work to him.

"The Lord doesn't usually deliver everything to you in one package as a rule," he observed dryly.

Although he has strong doubts his verses have enduring literary quality — "fashions in humor change as in everything else"—he believes "anything that is to last more than five years has to be more than merely clever."

"I like to think that behind my work there is a consistent individual point of view toward life—something more than just jokes and old rhymes."

"This is our world, and we're locked in it," he said, "and we have to learn to survive together, whether we love or admire each other or not. We must adjust to each other."

Asked if he felt any of his verse had done any enduring good for the human race, Nash, a highly unpretentious man, smiled and nominated the following lines, the most widely reprinted of all he has written:

"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree.
Indeed, unless the 'billboards'
fall,
I shall never see a tree at all."

MR. BREGER

"I should think that by now you don't have to show everybody that we have a no-clutch car..."

Around The Rim The Seasons Haven't Changed Much

I tip my fedora to Mark Twain. Had he lived to this day, however, chances are he'd have to modify his remarks about the weather. Said he:

"Everybody talks about the weather. But no one does anything about it."

He trumped a point. The weather is a favorite conversation piece with everyone you meet, even the process server. No one gets as much mileage out of five-degree break in the temperatures—as radio and television announcers. They look on each weather front with more awe than they would the "second coming."

The people are legion who pay their rent by barking into a microphone about the "high today in Miami was 88 and the low in Red Bank, Montana, four below."

Not to mention the learned citizens who watch a little red balloon through a periscope for ten minutes, then hazard a guess that there'll "be a risk of showers over the weekend."

It's been windy in the spring, hot in the summer and cold in the winter ever since I can remember. My folks said it was the same way when they were doing the household chores following suggestions made by their elders. But the weather remains news, even though it is sandwiched between a couple of pitches for the advertiser.

The velvet crowd does something about the weather. They hit the grit for sun-kissed beaches of Miami Beach and Acapulco when the winds shift. And hop into their Jaguars and roar off to the mountains while we peons are simmering in the summer's sun.

Mr. Twain reckoned without the modern newspaper and its photographer when he spoke his piece about the weather, too.

If the thermometer shows 112 degrees in the shade, the managing editor of the news organ can always be counted on to hustle his picture-taking crew down to the courthouse square and bribe someone into trying an egg on the sidewalk.

Old timers are invariably being quoted about how much colder or hotter it got back in their youth. The weather is always a "bread-and-butter" story for any news gathering agency.

It may provide an ill wind but the sicker it gets the better it gets for some parties.

Inez Robb Ferdinanda And Her Flowers

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Civilization moves in mysterious ways it wonders to perform. The hula hoop, destined to go down in history as the United States' greatest contribution to world amity in 1958 (Why shouldn't its inventor get the Nobel Peace Prize in 1959?) has South America in a whirl.

No Brazilian backwater is too remote (and, by tourist standards, I have been in some fairly obscure ones) to find the hoop American in action and for sale.

Sao Paulo is twirling, too. But this dynamic city, this bustling, bursting-at-the-seams combination of Detroit and Chicago, has gone a step farther. Sao Paulo, The Progressive, The Industrial Leader, is the first community in Brazil—maybe, in all Latin America—to adopt that extraordinary American invention (maybe, the greatest since the wheel), sliced bread.

Christened "Pao American," sliced bread may not represent as big an investment here as General Motors' new $10 million-dollar plant to produce truck and bus engines, or as the projected Caterpillar Tractor installation, or as major production units of Eastman Kodak, General Tire & Rubber, Merck & Co., Radio Corp. of America, the Hoover Co., Philco International Corp. and dozens of other U. S. firms. But no one can say it isn't a sensational success in selling the American way!

Everything you have ever read about this city, one of the world's great industrial complexes, is true. It is now larger than Rio de Janeiro (although, don't say so aloud in Rio), with a population of 3,300,000 or 3,500,000, according to which Chamber of Commerce you believe. But one thing cannot be denied: this is a city that any visitor can literally see growing before his eyes.

Look in any direction and a new skyscraper is under way. On the Avenida Paulista, the Fifth-Park Avenues of Sao Paulo, magnificent old mansions are being demolished daily to make way for towering office buildings and the most luxurious cooperative apartment buildings I have ever seen.

All of this is just dandy, and calculated to rock 'n' roll the American businessman on his heels. But for a womanly woman from North of the Border, the most enchanting aspect of Sao Paulo is its delicious, delightful and de-lovely flower markets.

This is the paradisaical city where orchids in numbers and variety cost seven cents each and where a bunch of 24 to 30 gardenias, with as many wax buds ready to burst into flower, cost 25 cents. No chic woman at home could be caught dead wearing a dandelion, and the same is true of orchids and the best-dressed in Sao Paulo.

But it is permissible to decorate the home with bowls full of orchids and gardenias, although roses and carnations are really smarter, because they cost more — sometimes as much as 10 to 20 cents each.

I screamed like a banshee when my friends here insisted I visit one of Sao Paulo's most-noted institutions, the internationally famous Snake Institute Butantan which produces medical serums for all the world.

"Don't make her go," advised the Head of Clan Brob. "She'll scare the snakes to death, she's that afraid. Just let her stay in the flower markets and sniff."

So I am now known locally as Ferdinanda.

Marquis Childs Stevenson Still Top Demo Choice

PRINCETON, N. J. — Adlai E. Stevenson continues to lead the field as the 1960 choice for President among rank-and-file Democratic voters questioned from coast to coast by the Institute. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts runs a close second.

Among Independent voters, however, Kennedy today holds a 3-to-2 advantage over the former Illinois governor.

The Gallup Poll, through its nationwide staff of opinion reporters, conducted today's Democratic "presidential primary" by submitting a list of names of party leaders who have been mentioned as 1960 possibilities to a cross-section of the party rank and file.

The third most popular choice among Democrats is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, followed by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Both Stevenson and Kennedy have improved their position among Democratic voters since a similar survey in June. Stevenson has climbed in popularity from 23 to 29 per cent, while Kennedy is up from 19 to 23 per cent today.

All voters classifying themselves as Democrats were asked:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Democratic party in 1960. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate in 1960?"

The following table shows the vote among Democrats today, as compared with a similar survey in June:

	Today	June
Per Cent	Per Cent	Per Cent
Kennedy	30	27
Stevenson	29	16
Kefauver	10	13
Johnson	6	8
Symington	4	5
Faubus	4	5
Meyner	3	9
None of these, no opinion	19	17

As reported earlier, Stevenson and Kefauver enjoy a distinct political advantage in that they are known to an overwhelming majority of Democrats as well as Independents.

In terms of the degree of familiarity to members of their own party, Stevenson ranks first with 94 per cent and Kefauver second with 83 per cent who have heard of them.

Kennedy is known to 75 per cent of rank-and-file Democrats, while Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus, who has figured prominently in Third Party speculation, is equally as well known as Kennedy.

Next comes Senator Humphrey, 56 per cent; Senator Johnson 52 per cent; Senator Symington 45 per cent; Governor Meyner 40 per cent and Governor Williams 38 per cent.

Drive-In Service

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—John Gallegos didn't wait to turn in a fire alarm. He took his fire with him to the station. He drove right into the open main door with part of his car's front seat afire. The blaze was doused promptly and Gallegos told firemen he found the seat smoldering when he returned to his downtown parking place.

Cookbook History

WHEELING, Ohio (AP)—L. E. Goeller Sr., whose hobby is cookery, says he can trace a lot of history through the 60 or more cookbooks he owns.

"It's interesting to see that historical events not only changed governments by conquest, but even affected what people put in their stomachs," he explains.

Our Anthem

BYRAM, Conn. (AP)—George L. B. Fraser, principal of the Byram school, assigned parents of fourth to eighth grade pupils the job of teaching their children the national anthem when he found that many children didn't even know the first stanza.

A school quiz revealed that only two pupils in the fourth grade and one sixth grader knew the words to the anthem.

More Arrests

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The number of highway traffic arrests is doubled when violators are unaware of the presence of police, according to the State Traffic Patrol.

L. E. Beier, enforcement director of Wisconsin's Motor Vehicle Department, says patrolmen in unmarked cars have stopped twice as many drivers for hazardous driving as patrolmen in marked cars.

Wasn't Fish

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Some anglers thought they felt a slight tug. Others didn't, but also lost their hooks. A $10 fine was suspended by Judge Savory E. Arnato when an 18-year-old skin diver with a pair of scissors promised that the next time he went down to the sea in flippers it would be in a secluded spot.

Made His Own

MANGUM, Okla. (AP)—Calvin Atchley wanted an electric guitar but couldn't afford to pay $600 for the one he chose.

He started tinkering and in a year's time built one.

The parts cost him $55.

Relax Ban

NANAIMO, B. C. (AP)—The city council has decided to modify its anti-noise bylaw, for fear it would frighten away potential industry.

Royal Family Denies Tale Of Seer Influence

LONDON (AP)—The royal family has denied a newspaper story that Queen Mother Elizabeth has been getting tips on the future from an Irish crystal gazer.

The Sunday Pictorial said the soothsayer was Tom Corbett, 41, from Tipperary, who used to do his gazing in night clubs. The story said he regularly visited the Queen Mother's residence, Clarence House, to read the crystal ball for her.

The paper speculated that the 58-year-old Queen Mother wanted to know about Princess Margaret's future, particularly her marriage prospects.

The story concerning the crystal gazer visiting Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother at Clarence House is untrue," said the denial from Buckingham Palace.

Royal denials formerly never were issued and still are extremely rare. The last was in May, when the palace denied that Princess Margaret would become engaged to Peter Townsend, the divorced air hero whose love she renounced in 1955.

Callers at Corbett's apartment in the Westminster section of London were told he was away and was not known when he would return.

The Sunday Pictorial said he had refused to comment on the reported sessions with the Queen Mother or on hints that he has "an even more important client."

"Crystal gazers, like doctors, have a code of ethics," he was quoted as saying.

2 Children Die In Dallas Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Fire raged through a bedroom last night and burned two children to death. A neighbor said he tried to reach the screaming tots but was driven back by the flames.

The children were identified as Wayne Butler, 2, and Ricky Butler, 1, sons of Mrs. Ora Wingham.

Fire investigator D. G. Dabbs said the blaze apparently started near a gas heater which stood near the bed on which the children were sleeping.

Barney Hamilton, who lived in the adjoining apartment, said he awoke to hear the children crying, raced to the other apartment but was driven back by the flames.

The mother of the Negro children was out of the apartment at the time.

'Wonderful Town' Is Wonderful Time

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"Wonderful Town" offered the television audience a wonderful time Sunday night in a two-hour presentation of the musical comedy on CBS-TV. Rosalind Russell brought all the verve of her Broadway performance to her role of a girl from Ohio living in Greenwich Village. Jacquelyn McKeever, a newcomer to television, was a charming sister Eileen, and Sydney Chaplin was an appropriate boy friend.

The show was produced for the home screen with freshness, as if it never had been a musical or movie, but had been conceived especially for television.

A distinguished and fascinating new program has come to television with the once-a-month series in which Leonard Bernstein conducts the Philharmonic on CBS-TV.

Sunday he led the Philharmonic in excerpts from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which he characterized in his comments as a musical example of "almost atomic energy."

One of the great musical moments of television came in the last movement of the symphony when the themes become too vast for orchestration and burst into the vocal, with chorus rendered Sunday by the Westminster Choir.

Weston, Ogden Nash and the Baird Marionettes.

In fact, "Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf" took the spotlight entirely away from Prokofiev with a delightful hour of entertainment.

The puppet play by A. J. Russell developed amusing, original conceptions based on old legends. Carney was superb as a gentle guy who went off to the woods and met the wolf and other marvelous animals and characters personified by puppets created by Bill and Cora Baird. A wolf never defended himself more eloquently on television.

Victor Borge kept his audience off balance in his annual hour of comedy and music over CBS-TV Saturday evening, mixing the comic and the serious with his customary aplomb.

A surprisingly large amount of his material was transported without change from his Broadway show of a couple of years ago. But if one had not seen him in the theater, the entire TV show presumably carried the element of surprise essential to successful comedy.

Murdered Missionaries' Kin Befriend Guilty Indians

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Three years ago primitive warlike Aucas Indians murdered five American missionary men who sought to teach them the Gospel in the deep jungle of eastern Ecuador.

Today the widow and 4-year-old child of one of the slain men and the sister of another are on their way back to civilization after making friends with the Aucas who killed their men. They spent 53 days in their village.

The women are Mrs. Betty Elliot, 32, Portland, Ore., and Rachel Saint, 40. With them is 4-year-old Valery Elliot. The two women plan to return to the Aucas after a short rest. Other missionaries may accompany them.

After Mrs. Elliot's husband and Miss Saint's brother were killed with three other missionaries, the two women decided to take up the work of their men.

At the missionary outpost of Arajuno, in the Amazon jungles, they won the friendship of an Auca woman who had quit the tribe and six other Aucas women and their three children who had come to Arajuno on a peace mission.

Friendly Quichua Indians finally took all the women to the Auca village on the Curaray River, a three-day canoe trip from Arajuno.

Mrs. Elliot and Miss Saint kept in touch with Arajuno by short-wave radio. A missionary plane dropped supplies to them regularly. Four days ago the Quichuas left for the village to bring out the two white women and the child.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Suffocation Fatal For 2 Children

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Two small children, found unconscious in their smoke-filled bedroom at Santa Rosa Saturday night, died yesterday in a local hospital.

Guadalupe Salinas, 10 months, and Ofelia Salinas, 23 months, were found suffocating by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Salinas. The children were rushed to a hospital here where they died two hours later.
