MAKES GRAND EXIT

Princess Grace Doesn't Like Heavy Boots On Her Tootsies

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco gave high society a surprise sample of royal displeasure Thursday night—with abrupt flight from the dance floor.

Caught in a milling crush of spectators, guards and photographers at a ball in her honor, the former movie star made her sudden exit with lips set, chin high and trailing a slightly bewildered escort, her husband Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

A spokesman at the royal box explained moments later that the princess had found the throng just too much when someone stepped upon her white satin slipper.

The royal wrath subsided swiftly, however, and the girl from Philadelphia remained for the midnight "Beauty and the Beasts" tableaux, and presided at the drawing of grand prizes for lucky ticket holders.

But although she smiled, she danced no more.

The incident highlighted a night-long barrage of adulation which started when the royal couple arrived for the chic fiesta in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor.

A corps of six mounted police and a dozen patrolmen vainly tried to hold back a crowd of about a thousand spectators who jammed outside the hotel entrance for a closeup peep at the Cinderella girl.

There was more of the same inside as the white tie and mink event got under way. Many women dropped in curtsies as a nd there were ogles and murmurs and flash bulbs popping.

The princess did manage to get in two brief dancing interludes—a waltz with Prince Serge Obolensky to the melody of the song written for her, "The Princess Waltz," and a fox-trot with Rainier to the tunes of "The Lady Is a Tramp" and "That's Show Business."

For the knowing feminine guests Princess Grace made her first public appearance on this month-long visit to New York dressed in fuchsia of pink marine net studded with sequins, secured with a nosegay of violets and sweetheart roses. Her gown of Empire line with wide belt and bouffant pink satin was enhanced with a dazzling display of diamond tiara, necklace, bracelet and earrings. A silver blue mink stole completed the ensemble.

As photographers busily worked, Princess Grace made her only press statement of the evening. Someone asked who had designed her costume, and she replied: "Maggie Rouff."

4 Brave Britons Set Balloon Flight

SANTA CRUZE DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — Four intrepid Britons, one a woman, hope to set off from the Canary Islands Saturday night on a perilous flight across the Atlantic in a balloon.

The four want to gather information on weather conditions and wind currents during a 3,000-mile attempt to reach Barbados, in the British West Indies. The voyage is under the patronage of Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

The balloonists are Arnold Beaupre Eiloart, 51-year-old businessman and the expedition leader; his son, Timothy, 21, a chemical engineering student at Cambridge University; Colin Mudie, 32, a Scottish marine engineer; and his wife Rosemary Mudie, 30.

Mudie is the balloon pilot, Rosemary the copilot, photographer and cook. Timothy is the radio-man.

with a capacity for 53,000 cubic feet of hydrogen, is made of reinforced plastic. It has been christened "The Small World."

Beneath it is slung a plastic boat, 15½ feet long and 7½ feet wide which will serve as gondola or as a lifeboat should the flight fail.

The party believes the crossing will take nearly two weeks.

They plan to drift along about 1,000 feet up, sitting face to face, two abreast, in the gondola.

Pedals operate a series of vanes on opposite sides of the gondola to guide the craft. Pedals also operate pumps to bring up sea water through a hose for ballast or drinking. There is a small distilling apparatus to convert the sea water into drinking water.

There also is a small generator to transform chemicals into hydrogen. This is to compensate for loss of gas. Heat created by the generator will run Mrs. Mudie's cooking stove.

Dulles Returns To Deskful Of Big Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned to the capital today, facing a deskful of problems.

One of the big ones was to work out proposals to the Soviet Union which may result in new East-West conferences on unification of Germany.

Dulles flew here overnight from San Francisco, where he declared in a speech Thursday that the United States and its allies need to maintain "limited war" forces in such danger points as Berlin to oppose limited probings by the Soviet bloc.

"There must be an ability to oppose what may be limited probings in ways less drastic than general nuclear war," Dulles told the California State Chamber of Commerce.

He also said that "the Soviet rulers threaten West Berlin because they have been put on the defensive by the inspiring demonstration there of what free men can do." He forecast the ultimate collapse of the system of Communist tyranny because of the attractions which freedom has for suppressed peoples.

In addition to Berlin, Dulles faced these other problems on his return from a five-day tour of Mexico City and California:

1. Uncertainty over further U.S. aid to Communist Poland. Communist leader Wladyslaw Gostomka has been increasingly critical of the United States since he visited Moscow in early November. Officials here fear that the movement toward independent communism which began in Poland in 1956 may be dying.

2. The realignment of Iraq with Soviet communism. Formal withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact is foreseen. The revolutionary government which took power last July has been following a neutralist policy but may now be coming under Communist domination.

Civil Rights Battle At Demo Meeting

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Prohibition Death Marked End Of The Most Lawless Era

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT
NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years ago today—at 5:30 p.m. Dec. 5, 1933—prohibition came to an end in the United States. Never, probably, had so many ever paid so little obedience to a law as 123 million Americans had to the Volstead Act.

The end of prohibition marked the end of an era.

Prohibition, the 18th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, took effect Jan. 16, 1920.

The high flame of the bootlegger, the speakeasy became symbols with the raccoon coat, the Tin Lizzie and short skirts of the nation's incredible Roaring 20s.

As the 20s drew to a close, the movement to repeal prohibition gained impetus. Franklin D. Roosevelt endorsed repeal in his successful 1932 campaign for the presidency. With his election, repeal was assured.

The country went wet once more in the midst of a great depression. Ahead lay the rise of fascism in Europe and World War II, the cold war and the atomic age. The sternness of those post-prohibition years probably account for the soft aura of nostalgia that now surrounds the prohibition era.

Some of the stuff they peddled was incredibly savage. Raw alcohol—sometimes poisonous—was thinned and tinted into an almost unpalatable mixture. Home brew was hyped with ether to increase its kick. Harsh wine never knew the mellowing influence of time.

Inland, in such border cities as Detroit, liquor flowed in a steady illicit stream across the Canadian border. In the East, high-powered bootlegs from Rum Row outside a 12-mile limit of American territorial waters roared by night into Long Island coves to discharge their cargo.

The illegal liquor trade spawned the powerful, ruthless underworld gangs, with their low-slung cars and their machine guns hidden in violin cases. Rum runners trade gunfire with federal agents and with highjackers.

New sinister names became household words in America—Scarface Al Capone, Dutch Schultz, Legs Diamond, the bootleg kings and killers of a giddy, gaudy decade.

The speakeasy flourished, more often than not by means of a payoff to authorities. More than one of them were the forerunners of some of Manhattan's best known restaurants of this day. In rural areas, there were the road houses, or the isolated lakeside summer cottages, their yards crowded with parked cars.

It all came to an end 25 years ago today.

In New Orleans, they fired cannons in jubilation. Crowds whooped it up in Chicago's Loop. They hanged "Old Man Prohibition" in effigy in Gotham's Times Square.

Said President Roosevelt: "I trust in the good sense of the American people that they will not bring upon themselves the curse of excessive use of intoxicating liquors, to the detriment of health, morals and social integrity."

Well, apparently they didn't in the long run. But on that first day it looked as if many Americans were trying to drink the country dry again.

Liquor now is legal in 46 states, with 400,000 retail outlets selling anything from a shot to a case. Only Oklahoma and Mississippi still cling to prohibition, and with it, incidentally, the bootlegger.

Not everyone is satisfied, of course. The General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church says on the 25th anniversary of repeal: "There are a great many alcohol problems facing us today, many of them more acute than they were in the prohibition era."

But for better or worse, on this day a quarter of a century ago there came to an end the so-called noble experiment—an experiment that failed.

Dixie Aide Calls Butler Troublemaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing Louisiana delegations told the Democratic National Committee today its decision on ouster of a member involved in a civil rights controversy may influence the party's fate in the 1960 elections.

Camille F. Gravel Jr., whose removal is being sought by the Louisiana State Committee, said that the move against him is sparked by individuals who favor a States Rights party.

Gravel said in a brief filed with the national committee's credentials unit that if the majority of the national group is challenged "it could cause inestimable damage to the party's prestige nationally."

The state group voted at Baton Rouge Oct. 3 to replace Gravel as its national committee member with Jett M. Talbot because Gravel was considered out of step with most Louisiana Democrats on civil rights.

The civil rights fight among Democrats brought from one Southerner a call for removal of Paul M. Butler from the national chairmanship on the ground that he is a troublemaker.

Butler's friends on the National Committee expressed confidence that Butler, who favors a strong civil rights plank in the party's 1960 platform, would ride out any ouster or censure move in a full committee session Saturday. Butler himself told a reporter he had not heard of any formal move against him.

Today's hearing, before a National Committee Credentials group, was to receive rival claims of Camille F. Gravel Jr. and Jett M. Talbot to Louisiana's National Committee post. Gravel is the incumbent. Civil rights and party rules are involved in the dispute.

Committee member Gravel was removed by the Louisiana State Committee because segregationist leaders in the party said he was out of step with Louisiana's stand on civil rights. Gravel has said segregation is morally wrong but that as a practical proposition integration is not for Louisiana.

Gravel, who supported the national party's civil rights plank in 1956, has refused to step down. He is challenging the State Committee's right to oust him and name Talbot in his place. Northern leaders are selected by the State Central Committee and served the pleasure of the State Committee.

Mail Volume Starts Climbing

Big Spring post office handled 23,763 pieces of mail on Thursday—a clear-cut indication that Christmas is near and that the big rush in greeting cards and Yuletide letters is well under way.

However, a check of the records showed that the volume of mail on Thursday was not equal to the total handled on the same date last year. On Dec. 4, 1957, the office had 27,444 letters to deal with.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that he was surprised at the records. However, he said, he believes that for the entire period—which began on Nov. 16—the volume of mail handled is greater than last year. He still believes that the flood will strike in the next few days and that an all-time record volume of Christmas mail will be handled by the office.

He repeated anew his urgent plea for all patrons to mail their Christmas cards and packages early and insure their prompt handling and delivery.

Nervy Warden Saves Guards

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — A steel-nerved warden led 25 lawmen storming into barricades at the Arizona State Prison Thursday night and rescued two guards held by rebellious convicts.

Despite warnings from the 46 insurgent prisoners that they would kill their hostages if attacked, Warden Frank Eymann decided to call their bluff—and won his desperate gamble.

Moises Adams, 33, an inmate convicted of statutory rape, was shot in the back during the furious assault. He was reported in poor condition but expected to live.

About 300 National Guardsmen, deputies, police officers, guards and civilian volunteers ringed the walls with rifles and automatic weapons to guard against new outbreaks. The riot was quelled at 11 p.m.

Guards Calvin Hunt, 33, who came to Arizona from Winthrop, Maine, and Scott Wright, 30, formerly of Ardmore, Okla., were held hostage for nearly an hour.

Both later expressed fear the prisoners would have killed them with their homemade knives after the warden announced he would not bow to inmates' demands to take over the prison.

"They told me to tell them guys (the lawmen) not to come any closer or we'll kill you," said Wright. "I didn't say anything."

At this point, Warden Eymann, a graying, 60-year-old former sheriff armed with a .45 automatic pistol, shouted to the barricaded convicts: "If you S-O-Bs even so much as scratch my men, I'll kill all of you."

Eymann and the two guards got to this account:

Hunt, Wright and another guard went to the isolation ward to bring one of the convicts some medicine. As Hunt and Wright entered the ward, the prisoners seized them.

The prisoners then phoned Eymann with this message: "We are going to take your prisoners and have the keys. And we're going to Cell Block 1."

Then the convicts split into two groups. One took over the hospital and the other commandeered a prison captain's office. Each held a hostage.

Eymann fired several shots to launch an assault. After a few minutes, the lawmen recaptured the hospital and the office and rescued the guards.

The prisoners were held in the courtyard and searched. Guards confiscated five homemade knives and one pocket-knife. Then they were returned to the isolation ward. Eymann ordered the doors welded shut.

"They don't have any rights," the warden said. "If they did, they couldn't get their own now."

The other 1,400 prisoners remained in their cells throughout the crisis.

The prison, 70 miles southeast of Phoenix, was officially opened in 1912. It was built to accommodate 700. The convicts staged an abortive slowdown strike earlier this week to protest what they termed poor food, inadequate clothing and crowded conditions.

Mercury Falls 47 Degrees

Big Springers basked in 83-degree weather on Thursday afternoon and then shivered and pulled up the cover as the temperatures nosedived 47 degrees to a chill 34 after midnight.

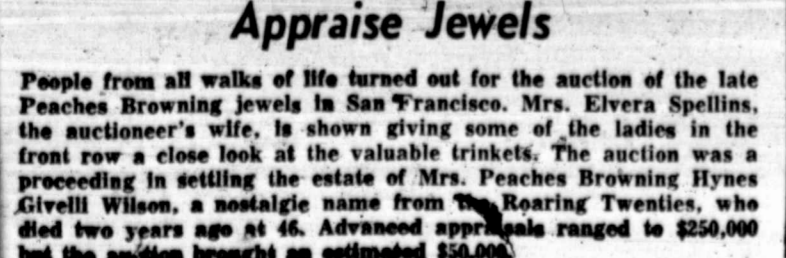

The forecast for tonight and Saturday offers only a continuation of the same sort of weather—partly cloudy skies, continued cold. It will not warm up beyond 68 today, the U. S. Weather Bureau said, and it will drop to 30 degrees tonight. On Saturday the high will not go above 63 degrees. The cold was ushered in at 11 p.m. Thursday with a strong wind. It was 25 degrees at 8 a.m.

1955 HYPERION MAKES A GIFT

The Christmas Cheer Fund inched over the $100 mark today, thanks to a $5 gift from the 1955 Hyperion Club.

This was the only donation to be recorded today, and it brings the total to $104.50.

The program of bringing usable toys and good food to destitute families in the city requires many, many times this much money. You are invited to help see that Christmas joy is brought into every home this year. Just mail your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, care of The Herald, or hand your gift to any fireman.

People from all walks of life turned out for the auction of the late Peaches Browning jewels in San Francisco. Mrs. Elvera Spellins, the auctioneer's wife, is shown giving some of the ladies in the front row a close look at the valuable trinkets. The auction was a proceeding in settling the estate of Mrs. Peaches Browning Hyman, a nostalgic name from the Roaring Twenties, who died two years ago at 46. Advanced appraisals ranged to $250,000 but the auction brought an estimated $50,000.

Dixie Aide Calls Butler Troublemaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing Louisiana delegations told the Democratic National Committee today its decision on ouster of a member involved in a civil rights controversy may influence the party's fate in the 1960 elections.

Camille F. Gravel Jr., whose removal is being sought by the Louisiana State Committee, said that the move against him is sparked by individuals who favor a States Rights party.

Gravel said in a brief filed with the national committee's credentials unit that if the authority of the national group is challenged "it could cause inestimable damage to the party's prestige nationally."

The state group voted at Baton Rouge Oct. 3 to replace Gravel as its national committeeman with Jett M. Talbot because Gravel was considered out of step with most Louisiana Democrats on civil rights.

The civil rights fight among Democrats brought from one Southerner a call for removal of Paul M. Butler from the national chairmanship on the ground that he is a troublemaker.

Butler's friends on the National Committee expressed confidence that Butler, who favors a strong civil rights plank in the party's 1960 platform, would ride out any ouster or censure move in a full committee session Saturday. Butler himself told a reporter he had not heard of any formal move against him.

Today's hearing, before a National Committee credentials group, was to receive rival claims of Camille F. Gravel Jr. and Jett M. Talbot to Louisiana's National Committee post. Gravel is the incumbent. Civil rights and party rules are involved in the dispute.

Committeeman Gravel was removed by the Louisiana State Committee because segregationist leaders in the party said he was out of step with Louisiana's stand on civil rights. Gravel has said segregation is morally wrong but that as a practical proposition integration is not for Louisiana.

Gravel, who supported the national party's civil rights plank in 1956, has refused to step down. He is challenging the State Committee's right to ouster him and name Talbot in his place. Northern leaders support him on this, holding only the National Committee can remove a member between national conventions.

Both Gravel and Talbot were here for the meeting. It was the latter's counsel, W. M. Shaw of Homer, La., who attacked Butler and issued a brief saying National Committee members in his state are selected by the State Central Committee and serve at the pleasure of the State Committee.

Nervy Warden Saves Guards

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — A steel-nerved warden led 25 lawmen storming into barricades at the Arizona State Prison Thursday night and rescued two guards held by rebellious convicts.

Despite warnings from the 46 insurgent prisoners that they would kill their hostages if attacked, Warden Frank Eymann decided to call the bluff—and won his desperate game.

Moises Adams, 33, an inmate convicted of statutory rape, was shot in the back during the furious assault. He was reported in poor condition but expected to live.

About 300 National Guardsmen, deputies, police officers, guards and civilian volunteers ringed the walls with rifles and automatic weapons to guard against new outbreaks. The riot was quelled at 11 p.m.

Guards Calvin Hunt, 33, who came to Arizona from Winthrop, Maine, and Scott Wright, 30, formerly of Ardmore, Okla., were held hostage for nearly an hour.

Both later expressed fear the prisoners would have killed them with their homemade knives after the warden announced he would not bow to inmates' demands to take over the prison.

"They told me to 'tell them guys (the lawmen) not to come any closer or we'll kill you,'" said Wright. "I didn't say anything."

At this point, Warden Eymann, a graying, 60-year-old former sheriff armed with a 45 automatic pistol, shouted to the barricaded convicts: "If you S-O-Bs even so much as scratch my men, I'll kill all of you."

Eymann and the two guards gave this account:

Hunt, Wright and another guard went to the isolation ward to bring one of the convicts some medicine. As Hunt and Wright entered the ward, the prisoners commandeered a prison captain's office. Each held a hostage.

The prisoners then phoned Eymann with this message: "We are going to take your prison. We have the keys. And we're going to Cell Block 1."

Then the convicts split into two groups. One took over the hospital and the other commandeered a prison captain's office. Each held a hostage.

Eymann fired several shots to launch an assault. After a few minutes, the lawmen recaptured the hospital and the office and rescued the guards.

The prisoners were held in the courtyard and searched. Guards confiscated five homemade knives and one pocket-knife. Then they were returned to the isolation ward. Eymann ordered the doors welded shut.

"They don't have any rights," the warden said. "If they did, they couldn't get them now."

The other 1,400 prisoners remained in their cells throughout the crisis.

The prison, 70 miles southeast of Phoenix, was officially opened in 1912. It was built to accommodate 700. The convicts staged an abortive sitdown strike earlier this week to protest what they termed poor food, inadequate clothing and crowded conditions.

Driver Slightly Hurt In Mishap

One person was slightly hurt in an auto accident here this morning, but the injuries were not serious enough to require hospitalization.

Louis Branham, 1009 N. Bell, and Robert Reid, 2404 Morrison, were driving cars in an accident at 15th and Goliad. Branham was taken to Big Spring Hospital with a cut on the face, but he was not admitted to the hospital.

Thursday, Lemmie J. Trantham, 1519 Stadium, and Lenore Shaffer, 601 McEwen, were driving cars involved in an accident at 10th and State. James Cook, 304 Circle, was in an accident with a car which didn't stop in the 100 block of Johnson. The police said that Paul Guilliam hit a gas meter at 708 N. Scurry, also Thursday.

At the intersection of FM 700 and the Air Base Road, Paul Roberts Jr., Webb AFB, and Billy Woods, 910 Nolan, were in collision.

Future Farmers To Stage Leadership Contests Here

The Area II Assn. of the Future Farmers of America will hold its annual Leadership Contest in Big Spring Saturday.

There will be approximately 175 FFA members representing 29 schools in Area II. Teams attending area are the first-place winners in each of the seven districts. Winners in the area contest Saturday will be eligible to participate in the State Contest to be held Dec. 13 at Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville.

E. C. Weekley, assistant director of agriculture education, Austin, will attend the present awards to the winning teams. The meeting is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency under the direction of Clemon Montgomery, Big Spring, area supervisor of agriculture education.

Some of the schools that will be represented are Brownfield, Tahoka, Stamford, Anson, Fort Davis, Marfa, Ysleta, and Bowie High School of El Paso. Teams from the Big Spring vicinity are Odessa, Coahoma, Lorraine, Midland, Snyder, Ector High School of Odessa, and Big Spring.

Students Nominating Favorites, Beauty

Big Spring High School students today were nominating their candidates for class favorites, best all-around students and school beauty.

The elections will be held Monday. Winners will be announced at the high school Christmas social the evening of Dec. 19.

HCJC Clears Way For Issuing Bonds

Howard County Junior College trustees completed technicalities for issuing $600,000 in revenue bonds to finance construction of two dormitories.

This was done with the understanding that the total would be repaid so that only that portion of the total—possibly somewhere above $525,000—actually required would be issued.

Last week contract was awarded to A. P. Kasch & Sons on a low bid of $467,534, which does not include architect, legal, bond and other fees.

College officials said that the estimates based on a 90 per cent occupancy would be further strengthened if the principal repayments per year could be further reduced by issuing less than the originally intended $600,000 total.

The bonds, to be retired solely out of revenues, will carry a three per cent rate—the figure quoted by the federal government. In fact, the bid submitted by W. H. Sinds, regional director for the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, was the only one received. The bonds could however, be turned to private investors later if the money market changes to make them attractive.

Mail Volume Starts Climbing

Big Spring post office handled 23,763 pieces of mail on Thursday—a clearcut indication that Christmas is near and that the big rush in greeting cards and Yuletide letters is well under way.

However, a check of the records showed that the volume of mail on Thursday was not equal to the total handled on the same date last year. On Dec. 4, 1957, the office had 27,444 letters to deal with.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that he was surprised at the records. However, he said, he believes that for the entire period—which began on Nov. 16—the volume of mail handled is greater than last year. He still believes that the flood will strike in the next few days and that an all-time record volume of Christmas mail will be handled by the office.

He repeated anew his urgent plea for all patrons to mail their Christmas cards and packages early and insure their prompt handling and delivery.

Appraise Jewels

People from all walks of life turned out for the auction of the late Peaches Browning jewels in San Francisco. Mrs. Elvera Spellins, the auctioneer's wife, is shown giving some of the ladies in the front row a close look at the valuable trinkets. The auction was a proceeding in settling the estate of Mrs. Peaches Browning Hynes Givell Wilson, a nostalgic name from the Roaring Twenties, who died two years ago at 46. Advanced appraisals ranged to $250,000 but the auction brought an estimated $50,000.

Kiwanis Plans Yule Party For Children

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will be host to boys and girls at the annual Christmas party in West Side Park on Dec. 18, it was announced at the regular meeting of the club on Thursday.

The club will meet next Thursday at the Big Spring Coca Cola Bottling Co. plant as guests of Jack Roden. The plans for the West Side Christmas party will be completed at that meeting. Kiwanians are hosts each Christmas at the West Side park party.

Floyd Parsons, Kiwanis district governor-elect, reported on the recent district governor's meeting at which plans for the ensuing year were reviewed. He also summarized the highlights of what he hopes to accomplish in this district in 1959.

It was announced that Benny Pierson will be secretary of the club in 1959. He will succeed Ernest Welch who has become a vice president of the club. Sherman Smith, president elect, announced that Pierson had accepted appointment to the post.

Compensation Suit Filed In Death Of Oil Field Worker

Harvey Allen Wise, who identifies himself as the father of Wayne Howard Wise and only surviving heir of his son, has filed a suit for compensation against the Transportation Insurance Co. in 118th District Court. The suit grows out of the death last Jan. 23 of the younger Wise.

The petition relates that Wayne Howard Wise was working for the Fluor Products Co., on an oil field job on that date. He fell from the top of a cooling tower and was killed. The accident occurred in north Howard County.

The suit asks that the father be awarded compensation at the rate of $35 a week for 360 weeks.

Book Closes On Giles Career As Ex-Official Leaves Prison

By ROBERT E. FORD
AP Staff Writer

Citizens of Texas this week read a final chapter of a book. Saturday they close the cover, perhaps never to open the volume again. Its title: "The Mystery of Bascom Giles."

Who was Bascom Giles? He was, and is, a tall, heavy-featured man in his 50s, somewhat cold in his personal relations, and wealthy.

In his time no state official had greater respect. He wore his reputation with strands of honesty, ability and fairness.

He rose in the American tradition. He sprang from the farm, moved to the city, struggled upward in his career, saved carefully, invested wisely, became a millionaire, and climbed the rungs of the ladder to become top man in the avocation he had chosen—administering the state's general land office.

He had only to stretch out his hand and he could have been governor, probably.

Then disaster.

Almost overnight it must have seemed to Giles, caught in a nightmare rush of events, his empire crumbled.

Authorities charged him with agreeing to accept bribes and with aiding in theft of state money. Not long thereafter he went to prison under a 6-year sentence.

WILL WALK OUT

Tomorrow (Saturday), if the drama moves as scheduled, he will walk out of the dull red state prison in Huntsville. He will forever be free of threat of further imprisonment if his apparent calculations are correct.

Where is the mystery? Isn't this just another case of a state official going wrong?

Hardly.

Three big mysteries may forever tease the curiosity of Texas citizens.

The first is this: Why did a man who didn't need money and who knew all the pitfalls permit himself to be involved in a pitifully sordid racket for what, to Giles, must have been mere pocket change?

The second mystery: What could Giles tell about the veterans land program if he ever were to unlock those tight-clamped lips.

The third mystery: Why have only Giles and one other man served prison time for the veterans land scandals in the face of nearly 300 indictments against about 20 persons?

Until the veterans scandals broke, Giles' reputation was unblemished. He cleaned up a previous scandal—the land vacancy racket—shortly after he became land commissioner when he was 38 years old.

DENIED CHARGE

The accusations against Giles in general were that he agreed to accept money for approving the deals. Bribery amounts named ranged from $8,000 to $36,000.

Giles denied that he ever received a dime.

He also was charged with being an accomplice to theft of $6,500 under the program.

Although elected for another term, he refused to take the oath of office and stepped down, Jan. 4, 1955.

He maneuvered his trials so that his various sentences could be served at the same time. In all, he faced 13 indictments and pleaded guilty to all which were not dismissed except the conspiracy to theft case. He stood trial on that one.

Giles could have fought back, but that didn't seem to fit his plan.

He showed eagerness to get the matters done with and the slate wiped clean by serving prison time.

His guilty pleas to most of the indictments stopped the taking of testimony and thus the details did not come into open court.

Giles was assigned the number 136039 in prison. He is a model prisoner and has refused to accept favors. Four months after entering he became a trusty.

TIME CREDITED

As a trusty he drew double time. He also donated blood which gave him added credit.

When he walks out, he will have served not quite three years on his 6-year term. He earned his reduction in sentence. No favors were shown him.

Why did he find himself in such a predicament? Did he perform rash acts to help out friends? Or did he actually want the money involved? He was not known as a greedy man.

And what does he know that he hasn't told? He has been interviewed at times, but has said nothing enlightening about the cases.

Once at a pardons hearing, opposed by Giles himself, Dist. Atty. Wiley Cheatham of Cuero became bitter in opposing any pardon.

"I have talked twice with Giles at Huntsville," Cheatham told the pardons board. "and have tried to get him to realize the responsibility he has as an ex-public officer to assist us to clear up these (veterans land) cases."

"He said we haven't even scratched the surface of the violations that took place in the veterans land office. He said there are much more criminal cases that haven't been tried than have been. I asked him to put the finger on those but he refuses to do so."

Mrs. Giles plans to meet him when he comes out of prison. They plan a trip together and will be home, in Austin, for Christmas. But when he walks out of prison, unless he unexpectedly begins talking, the book is closed on Bascom Giles.

AF Sergeant Fights For Dog

RAMSGATE, England (AP)—A U.S. Air Force sergeant today prepared for the third round of a legal fight with his former girl friend over ownership of a 4-year-old Alsatian dog.

Sgt. Otto Virgin flew in Thursday from the Tucson, Ariz., air base, 6,000 miles away, to do battle for Ricky, the odd-dog-out of his broken romance with Margaret Perkins.

"I love that dog and he loved me," said the 32-year-old sergeant from Milwaukee, Wis. "My Christmas will be a lot happier if I win him back—even if it leaves me broke."

Virgin and Margaret stopped going out together last June, shortly before the Air Force ordered him back to the States. He claimed the dog, saying he had only allowed her to take care of it for him.

Margaret claimed he had given her the animal and got a court order to prevent him taking it out of the country. The sergeant planned to defy the order but finally took Ricky ashore from the Queen Elizabeth an hour before he sailed for America.

Last month Virgin cabled a British lawyer to get Ricky made a ward of the court. A judge ordered Miss Perkins not to destroy the dog or take it out of the country. She said she didn't plan to do either.

Virgin now is asking the court to declare Ricky his, and to award him "damages for detention."

"People say I am silly to go to all this trouble," said the sergeant, "but Ricky and I love each other. There is a feeling between us."

"After all these cases I'm broke. Haven't even got Ricky's fare home. But I'm hoping to borrow it."

Virgin and Margaret stopped going out together last June, shortly before the Air Force ordered him back to the States. He claimed the dog, saying he had only allowed her to take care of it for him.

Margaret claimed he had given her the animal and got a court order to prevent him taking it out of the country. The sergeant planned to defy the order but finally took Ricky ashore from the Queen Elizabeth an hour before he sailed for America.

Last month Virgin cabled a British lawyer to get Ricky made a ward of the court. A judge ordered Miss Perkins not to destroy the dog or take it out of the country. She said she didn't plan to do either.

Virgin now is asking the court to declare Ricky his, and to award him "damages for detention."

"People say I am silly to go to all this trouble," said the sergeant, "but Ricky and I love each other. There is a feeling between us."

"After all these cases I'm broke. Haven't even got Ricky's fare home. But I'm hoping to borrow it."

Dirty Thumb Leads To Stolen Table

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The thief had a dirty thumb. It was enough to put the William R. Ogden on the trail of their missing antique table. The table was stolen while they were away. When they returned and found it gone, they decided the thief might have sold it to an antique dealer. They went through the classified telephone directory for shops. Over one dealer's number was a dirty thumb smudge. The Ogden visited the dealer. There was the table. They paid the unsuspecting dealer $25 for it. Police are searching for the man with the dirty thumb.

Returns To His Nets

Helmar Aakvik, 62 an old man of the seas, tugs his fishing boat into Lake Superior at Hovland, Minn., as he prepares to tend his nets in the icy waters. Last week the Coast Guard found the Norwegian-born sailor in his skiff after Aakvik had withstood a furious lake storm for 24 hours. Aakvik had gone out to search for a fisherman friend, Carl Hammer, 27, who is still missing.

Berlin Airline Threats Grow

BERLIN (AP)—The threat of Communist interference mounted today against busy American, British and French airliners shuttling in and out of isolated West Berlin.

One of East Germany's top Communists, Politburo member Hermann Matern, told a West Berlin election rally Thursday night that the airlines—Pan American, Air France and British European Airways—have no legal right to fly over East German territory.

"This situation must be brought in order," he declared. He did not say what action the Communists have in mind.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who addressed an election rally in another part of West Berlin, said the Western powers would hold the Russians responsible for keeping open all routes to Berlin, including the air corridors. He said he had a personal letter from U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reaffirming that position.

The letter, he added, specifically mentioned the 1949 Paris agreement in which the Russians ended their 1948-49 blockade and guaranteed free access to this Allied foothold 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Matern told the rally of 3,500 Communists, meeting behind a police line in the heart of West Berlin, that "capitalistic airlines make giant profits" on their business with Berlin and "I know of no agreement which legally supports these firms."

This was the first specific attack on the Western airlines.

Elks Slate Variety Show For Saturday

"Headliners on Parade," a variety show featuring impressions of some of the world's greatest entertainers, will be staged Saturday evening in the Elks Lodge, Crawford Hotel.

Presenting the program will be James Conley of Hollywood, actor and magician.

Activities get under way with a dinner at 7 p.m. The public is invited and admission charges will be $1.75 for adults and $1 for children, the lodge announced.

Conley has appeared in many motion pictures and television programs with some of the greatest stars in show business and "Headliners on Parade" is his conception of the finest vaudeville acts gathered together on one program.

Conley has been a technical director for the magic sequences in many motion pictures and has supervised the building of countless illusions. This background made it possible for him to organize the various acts representing the magical greats like Houdini and Dante and his ability as an actor will impress those who recall having seen these past masters of the magicians art during the golden era of "two a day" Orpheum vaudeville.

Many months of painstaking research and editing was necessary for the compilation of the authentic hi-fidelity tape recordings of the actual voices of such theatrical notables as Will Rogers and Enrico Caruso. Impressions of these personalities and others such as Al Jolson and The Andrew Sisters are presented by the various members of the cast of this eleven act program. In many instances the actual voices are heard as the performers perform the action. All acts are designed for the maximum of entertainment and there is a surprise at the end of each one.

Five changes of the adaptable scenery, lighting and sound equipment with an extensive wardrobe of elaborate costumes and carefully synchronized background music contribute to the universal appeal of the production.

U.N. Efforts Fail At Cyprus Parleys

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U. N. efforts to launch peace talks for Cyprus fizzled today after a compromise plan failed to muster enough votes to ensure General Assembly approval.

The 81-nation Political Committee voted on three rival proposals late Thursday night after a confused procedural wrangle that climaxed two weeks of debate on Britain's crown colony in the eastern Mediterranean.

The only resolution to escape defeat was a much-amended Iranian proposal approved 31-22 with 26 abstentions. This was still short of the two-thirds majority needed in the Assembly.

The resolution called on Greece, Turkey and Britain—the nations disputing the future of Cyprus—to negotiate their differences. The Iranian plan was virtually doomed when Greece announced in advance that she would vote against it.

The committee defeated 17-17, with 47 abstentions, a Colombian plan for a U. N. study group to visit Cyprus and study the situation. It also rejected 11-22, with 48 abstaining, a Belgian proposal calling on the three nations to keep trying for agreement.

Four other resolutions, including a Greek call for U. N. approval of independence for Cyprus, were withdrawn.

The vote came after a day of heated debate which included a slashing Greek attack against the United States.

Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff-Tossizza accused the United States of taking sides in the Cyprus dispute despite America's stated policy of neutrality on the explosive question dividing three members of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Averoff-Tossizza charged that all signs had pointed towards a conciliatory movement but the stream of conciliation had been dammed by the United States.

The Greek diplomat made his charge shortly after Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge threw his support behind the Iranian resolution. Lodge, apparently trying not to add fuel to the incendiary situation, made no reply to the Greek charges.

In backing the Iranian plan, Lodge had expressed the opinion that it was an essentially procedural resolution "that will help encourage negotiations."

The British threw their support behind the Iranian plan because it avoids taking any stand in favor of the Greek independence demand or the Turkish call to partition the island between the squabbling Greek and Turkish communities.

The Greeks hotly oppose partition of Cyprus, where the Greek-speaking population outnumbers the Turks by about 4-1. Greece has long demanded independence for Cyprus, promising guarantees for the Turkish minority. The British want negotiations resumed without the restriction of a U. N. recommendation.

Prisoner Freed

Guido Grassi, 78-year-old state prison inmate at Walla Walla, Wash., reflected an expression of new hope as he sat in front of a TV microphone after learning he will be pardoned so he can return to his native Italy to spend his remaining years with his family. Grassi has spent 35 years in prison for a triple killing. Father Joseph DaLio, an Italian priest who served as interpreter for Grassi, sits beside him.

Mahon To Be Guest Speaker For AB Club Next Friday

Rep. George Mahon will be honored as guest speaker at next Friday's luncheon session of the American Business Club, and the club is extending an open invitation for the public to attend. The 19th district congressman earlier had accepted an invitation to address the banquet of Lone Star District Boy Scout leaders here on the evening of Dec. 12. Later, Congressman Mahon said he would come to Big Spring Friday morning, and would address the ABC group. ABC President George McAlister said the public is cordially invited to meet with the club for the Mahon talk. Tickets will be for only the customary luncheon charge. The club meets at the Settles Hotel. Mahon, who will be making his first visit to the city since the last session of Congress, plans to spend most of the day here, in informal calls. No definite plans have been made for other public engagements. The Scout banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Cosden Country Club. Tickets are being offered to the public for this program. Rep. Mahon recently returned to his district headquarters in Lubbock after an extended overseas tour of military installations. He is chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations.

Ex-Con Is Suicide After 10-Hour Siege

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (AP)—An ex-convict brushed aside pleas to surrender and killed himself today after a 10-hour siege that began when he briefly held six persons captive. Stanley Robinson, 27, shot himself in the head as police crunched across the frozen lawn minutes after midnight to pump tear gas into his small, white frame house. Only moments before, a psychologist who had gone into the house unarmed in an attempt to persuade Robinson to surrender walked out and said: "Well, boys, I think it's over."

It was the only shot fired in the siege that began when state policeman Vern Boyer went to the house to serve a warrant on Robinson, released from the state prison Oct. 31. Robinson, a Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War, then stepped from the bedroom with a 30-30 caliber rifle. "I thought I was a goner," Boyer said. "That rifle looked awfully big. It was loaded and cocked." Boyer was kept prisoner 30 minutes, along with Robinson's former wife, and their four children, whose ages range from 5 years to 11 months.

But then State Police Sgt. Lowell Hertzell persuaded Robinson to let his captives go unharmed. Police evacuated every nearby house, and began a long vigil. Several times Robinson dashed onto the porch. Once he shouted: "I won't come out until I give up the gun, or else use it." Another time he accepted cigarettes from Hertzell, who said: "He told me that he made up his mind that he wasn't going back to prison any more."

Police talked to Robinson over the phone. Once he sobbed: "I'm going to end it all." Then he said he would wait until Wade Scott, a psychologist and counselor at the state prison, came here to talk with him. Robinson's widow Dorothy, who divorced him while he was in prison, said after the shooting, "I did everything I thought was right."

At the prison, Asst. Warden Lou Barnes said Robinson had been an "excellent prisoner. He was the most decorated man ever to be in the prison here."

Robinson had been in the prison a year on a bad check conviction. The warrant police tried to serve Thursday also concerned bad checks.

Italian Regime Fights For Life

ROME (AP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani battled today to save his tottering five-month-old government. His chances looked poor.

The Chamber of Deputies prepared to debate a motion of confidence in the Christian Democratic leader's pro-Western minority government. Most political observers doubted the Premier could corral enough votes to avoid a defeat that would bring down the government.

Fanfani called for the vote on his entire program after losing two ballots Thursday night on a gasoline tax. Opponents to the left and right of his regime ganged up with dissident Christian Democrats to abolish the tax. "The votes seemed to be the culmination of rising dissatisfaction with the coalition government, which took office July 2."

DEAR ABBY

CURB YOUR TASTE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am nuts about this guy who ushers at the local theater. I can't wait until Friday because that's the night my cousin and I go to this theater. I always sit in the aisle seat and I think he likes me because he fills up my row first and sometimes he flashes the flashlight in my face and grins. As an excuse to talk to him I go to the lobby and buy popcorn. I shouldn't eat three bags but I can't help it. I am 15 and he won't tell me how old he is or what his last name is. How can I get him interested enough in me to ask to see me sometime?

NUTS FOR HIM
DEAR NUTS: (and if you build up a crush without any encouragement, you are!) That usher has walked plenty of cute chicks down the aisle. Find out who he is, how old he is, and WHOSE he is before you become a popcorn pauper.

DEAR ABBY: I want your opinion, please. My husband has a secretary who travels with him because his business demands it. Lately they have been flying together as "Mr. and Mrs." using the FAMILY PLAN because it is cheaper. (I believe a man's wife can fly for half-fare certain days of the week.) Perhaps there is no reason for my getting riled up, but I resent another woman traveling as "MRS." with my husband. Would you insist that this be stopped if you were I?

DEAR RILED: A married man who "flies high" should fly "solo." Get him down to earth if you have to clip his wings to do it.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do in a case like mine? My husband keeps nagging me for a little girl. I am 28 years old and we have nine boys. I think that there must be something about the combination of me and my husband that won't produce anything but boys. Is this possible or not? I wouldn't give up one of my boys for anything in the world but I sure don't want any more boys. If I could be sure I would have a little girl I would take a chance, but what if I lose? NINE BOYS

DEAR MOM: Nobody can guarantee you a little girl—but how can you lose, if when you "lose" you win a beautiful baby boy?

DEAR ABBY: Our son will be engaged at Christmas. I know we are supposed to ask the girl's parents for dinner. My problem is that we have a very plain house and I have no help and I am a very poor cook. I get nervous every time I think about entertaining these people. My husband says if it is going to make a nervous wreck out of me we should take them to a restaurant. I would like your opinion. PLAIN PEOPLE
DEAR PLAIN: You needn't be ashamed of a "plain" home. But if the thought of making a complete dinner upsets you — invite them to your home for cocktails (or fruit punch) and take them out for dinner. Or take them "out" for dinner and return to your home for coffee and dessert.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAN OF THE HOUSE": A man may make the living—but it takes a woman to make the living worthwhile.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookseller to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

No Horses Spared On Army Moonshot

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A huge U.S. moon rocket—short on brains but long on brawn — may blast into space this weekend on a trip that could take just 34 hours, but might last millions of years.

It is the U.S. Army's first shot at the moon — and like its Explorer satellite shots, the Army hasn't spared the horses.

This is perhaps the greatest difference between the planned Army probe and the last three shots by the U.S. Air Force, one of which reached as high as 79,000 miles.

The Air Force satellite weighed about 85 pounds. It was aimed at an orbit or at least a single trip around the moon. In its final stage it carried the electronic brains and maneuvering rocket to do the job.

The 30-pound Army shot is less ambitious. It too is aimed at the moon with the intention of hitting the lunar surface. But if all works well it may be destined for a greater glory.

The Army has packed its rocket, dubbed Juno II, with enough power and speed to overcome the pull of the earth's gravity shot, says it has a 1 in 2 chance of building up escape velocity — and so blasting away from the earth into a possible orbit around the sun.

Such an orbit might last millions of years.

This assumes first that all the moon rocket's engines will fire and that it will overshoot the moon.

The moon is not an easy target to hit. So many things are unknown about its mass and behavior that it can easily be missed.

Just as unpredictable is the behavior of the moon rocket itself. The Air Force rocket that burned almost 80,000 miles above the earth — man's greatest penetration of space — might have gone to the moon. But with each stage of its flight, it fell a little more away from its programmed path.

Finally it was at such an angle that its energy was not most efficiently used and it wore itself out before it had gone more than a third of the way.

The Army rocket has the power to slice through a big hunk of space — more power than it needs to hit the moon. It is generally conceded that the Army rocket system has more horsepower than the Air Force touched off.

You can get some idea by looking at the traveling times. The Air Force shot was to take 72 hours because it was within moon range. The Army shot will probably take about 34 hours.

The Army has kept mum on its rocket plans, because it said it doesn't want to occasion a build-up of public expectancy and the consequent pressure on its rocket people.

But two days ago the service tower was pulled back from the big moon rocket at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and it stood with its nose only shrouded.

2 Women Killed In San Antonio Fire

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Flames sweeping through a two-story frame house trapped and killed two women on San Antonio's north side early today.

Firemen identified the dead as Estelle Storms, 59, and her mother, Mrs. Arthur Storms, 78. They were the only occupants of the dwelling, in one of the city's better residential districts.

Neighbors discovered the flames about 1:30 a.m. The blaze caused minor damage to a house next door.

Negro Pleads Guilty In Bus Driver Death

DALLAS (AP) — Harry Lee Thompson, 17-year-old Negro accused of slaying a city bus driver, pleaded guilty a few minutes after selection of a jury yesterday.

He is on trial for the Sept. 29 shooting of Paul McDonald during a bus holdup in South Dallas.

Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said the jury of six men and six women would hear testimony only to decide the penalty. The state has demanded a death sentence.

A Devotional For Today

I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think. (Romans 12:3.)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, Lord of heaven and earth, we thank Thee for the life and spirit of John the Baptist. As he humbled himself and exalted the person of Christ, so teach us to do likewise. In the Saviour's name. Amen.

From One Extreme To Another

We are told that many Frenchmen, including General Charles de Gaulle himself, are fearful that the country's swing to the right in the parliamentary election was too much of a good thing.

They point out that not only were the Communists all but wiped out—a happy circumstance, considering the misery the strong Communist party had been dealing France in the post-war years—but along with them went many moderates and Socialists who are rated among the natural leaders of France.

De Gaulle needed these moderates and Socialists—the nearest thing, perhaps, to American Democrats to be found in France—to maintain parliamentary control in a government that must depend on a coalition of parties to stabilize the country.

There is fear that the extreme Rightists may be able to exert sufficient power and influence to wreck De Gaulle's over-all program. That program calls, for instance, for an "associate" role for Algeria, a sort of commonwealth status, with native representation in Parliament, whereas the extremists are bent on total integration of Algeria with metropolitan France.

So there seems a likelihood that France's troubles are not over, and the popular revulsion against the machinations of the extreme Leftists may result in the rise of another era of extreme Rightism along Hitlerian lines.

De Gaulle, himself more Rightist than moderate, will have his hands full fighting off totalitarianism.

New Term: Urbiculture

Rep. Jesse Arthur Younger (R-Calif.) told a committee of fellow-congressmen this week that the time has come to consider the plight of the urbanites in this country.

He thinks a new Cabinet post, that of secretary of the Department of Urbiculture, should be created but so far there has been no second to his motion.

Urbiculture is a term coined by Rep. Younger to describe the care and cultivation by people who live in cities, just as agriculture describes the country folks. There are more than 92,000 government employees looking after the farmers, and practically none concerned exclusively with city dwellers.

Rep. Younger thinks there is a real imbalance there, and a department that would ride herd on such problems as slum clearance, housing, crime, smog and civil defense is the answer.

Earlier, Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa.) declared the time has come to create a new department to deal with city problems. He would call this the Department of Urban Affairs, but Rep. Younger came up with the fancier title Department of Urbiculture.

These suggestions make more sense than most people realize. Ninety-six years ago, when Abraham Lincoln was in the White House, 80 per cent of the American people lived on farms. Today that figure has undergone a complete reversal—more than a complete reversal—for 85 per cent of the population now lives in urban communities, only 15 per cent in rural or farm areas.

But we imagine most city agencies and institutions will tell you they already have enough interference from state and national capitals without setting up a federal department to intensify their problems. Texas cities have been harassed more than they have been helped by the State Legislature (for instance there is one cute little gimmick by which the State lawmakers tell cities how much they must pay firemen and policemen, without reference to budgetary headaches).

New York City, which contains more than half the population of New York State, must run to Albany, hat in hand and knees on floor, to get permission from the State Legislature to take a deep breath.

There seems to be a strong likelihood that a Department of Urban Affairs would intensify rather than solve the problems of the cities. What they need is not more interference and bossiness, but more letting alone. There has been too much run in our urbe already yet.

Different Laws For Different States?

WASHINGTON—Who is responsible for the plight of the 16,400 students in Arkansas and Virginia whose certain public schools have been closed since September? An objective outline of what the loss in school hours during the last three months means to these students has just been given by Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare in President Eisenhower's cabinet. He doesn't attempt to fix the blame but expresses the hope that "decisions" will be made soon by the local communities "that will result in the schools being opened, under policies that will be in harmony with decisions of the courts."

That's a very large order and, granting the best of intentions and the maximum of sincerity, the leaders in the communities affected can hardly make the "decisions" that will reopen the schools. For the Supreme Court of the United States, by its ruling on September 29 last, has thrown into confusion the public school boards of several Southern states. The Court struck down the gradual plan of the school board of Little Rock and ordered immediate integration irrespective of the conditions prevailing there.

Nobody really can be sure now exactly what the "law of the land" is today on integration in the public schools because the Supreme Court has issued contradictory rulings in the last few weeks.

Thus, only 13 out of 314,000 Negro pupils in the state of North Carolina have been accepted to attend "integrated" public schools—and all public schools are open. This is called obedience to the "law of the land."

In Arkansas, 76 Negroes out of 103,000 are attending "integrated" public schools which are attended also by approximately 4,700 white students. There are 33 Negroes enrolled at the graduate and under-graduate level in the eight state colleges in Arkansas which were formerly all-white. All but four of the state's high schools are open. Yet Arkansas is being lambasted as not complying with the "law of the land," though its record on school desegregation is better than that of some other states in the South.

In Alabama they have not yet admitted any Negroes to white public schools, but the Supreme Court of the United States ruled on November 24 that the state's pupil-assignment law is constitutional and that the school authorities may apply 17 different standards in determining qualifications. Yet when the school board at Little Rock, admittedly operating on good faith, asked for more time to work out the problem by offering some of those same standards, the Supreme Court of the United States adamantly refused to grant any delay whatsoever.

Shouldn't the Supreme Court really have granted at least six months within which the Little Rock School Board and the Legislature of Arkansas might have tried the plan Alabama now is using? Was there any good reason for ignoring the pleas for time made by the local school board at Little Rock, whose members the Supreme Court openly said were sincere and could be trusted?

The statement on integration recently issued by the Catholic bishops of the United States distinguished between good faith and deliberate refusal to make any start toward carrying out the letter of the law. The bishops said:

"We may well deplore a gradualism that is merely a cloak for inaction. But we equally deplore rash impetuosity that would sacrifice the achievements of decades in ill-timed and ill-considered ventures. In concrete matters we distinguish between prudence and inaction by asking the question: Are we sincerely and earnestly acting to solve these problems? We distinguish between prudence and rashness by seeking the prayerful and considered judgment of experienced counselors who have achieved success in meeting similar problems."

The school board at Little Rock had the support of the "moderates" and their spokesmen in the press. But the Supreme Court of the United States sternly refused to give any weight to the chaotic conditions which the tragic school year of 1957-58 had brought about in Little Rock.

What can Little Rock do now? The Legislature can pass a new law taking into account the Supreme Court's decision upholding the Alabama pupil-placement law. Also, the local school boards in Arkansas and Virginia can find encouragement in the words of the act passed by Congress last summer with respect to scholarships and financial aid for education from the government. It reads:

"The Congress reaffirms the principle and declares that the states and local communities have and must retain control and primary responsibility for public education."

"Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to authorize any department, agency, officer, or employee of the United States to exercise any direction, supervision, or control over the curriculum, program of instruction, administration, or personnel of any educational institution or school system."

This, too, is the "law of the land" as viewed by Congress.

Not Necessarily Inconsistent

WASHINGTON (AP)—While Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says the West must have forces to fight limited wars, the Eisenhower administration, bent on economy, cuts the size of the American armed forces.

Sound inconsistent? Not if this country is going to depend more on Allied and friendly countries to use their manpower, with American backing. Dulles seemed to be suggesting that in a speech Thursday at San Francisco.

The only trouble with the idea is whether the Allies and friends have enough strength, without American manpower, to do the job.

Dulles said it is not enough to have great retaliatory striking power. "It is necessary," he said, "to have forces-in-being at endangered points."

This might seem like a switch—but it isn't necessarily so—from that famous speech he made Jan. 12, 1954, in which he said "The Eisenhower administration had declared to rely on "massive retaliatory power" for the defense of the United States and the free world.

In that same talk nearly five years ago he appeared to sense that there might be local wars in which massive retaliation wouldn't be used. He said the important thing was to make setbacks by the Communists temporary and local.

On Nov. 19 Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy announced orders for a reduction of about 71,000 in Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps manpower. This is part of the administration's effort to cut spending.

The decision to make these reductions had been reached earlier, but action was held up some months because of two war scares: in the Middle East and the Formosa Strait. This country sent troops into Lebanon and backed up Chiang Kai-shek's defense of the island of Quemoy.

When those crises quieted down the administration went ahead with the decision to cut military manpower although it wasn't then, and still isn't, in a position to know whether there would be another crisis next week or next month.

Certainly not all of America's friends could depend on their own manpower to hold the fort for themselves.

Chiang couldn't have held Quemoy without the big show of American naval strength. And there would have been no need to send American troops into Lebanon if the Lebanese government had been able to protect itself.

Dulles said Thursday: "Nations in close proximity to powerful aggressive forces need the reassurance of some visible force within their own territory. (Meaning, no doubt, a lot of their own military manpower—provided they have it.)"

"They are not content to be wholly dependent upon decisions in other lands."

"Furthermore, vast retaliatory power should not be, and will not be, invoked lightly. There must be an ability to oppose what may be limited prohibitions in ways less drastic than general nuclear war."

Then, as if to suggest most of the manpower would have to be supplied by American friends and Allies if the Communists push them, Dulles said: "Most of the 'limited war' forces are contributed by our Allies. For example, they contribute 80 per cent of the ground forces. We help to maintain and support these forces by supplying, where needed, military weapons, and occasionally some financial support. This is truly a system of collective security."

There's one gap in Dulles' reasoning: If the Communists began a limited war where an ally had plenty of manpower, this country might be able to see it through with various forms of aid that didn't include manpower.

But what happens if an ally or friend is attacked and doesn't have enough strength—as in the case of Lebanon, which wasn't even attacked—to protect itself?

The more the administration cuts its military forces, the fewer it will have to fight a limited war where they might be needed.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Vice President Nixon's friends have been saying sentimentally that Republicans will not forget that he went to bat for the party in 1952 at a time when his fortunes were at exceedingly low ebb. Well, Mr. Nixon went to bat all right, making his concluding and dramatic appearance in Alaska in the last inning. The returns are now in from that state so that the official box score for political 1958 is complete.

When Republicans gaze at it, doubtless they will not forget Mr. Nixon. But it is unhappily possible that they will not forget him in the same way people have never forgotten a baseball player immortalized in a great American ballad.

And somewhere men are laughing, and somewhere children shout. But there is no joy in Mudville — mighty Casey has struck out.

Around The Rim

Chirp! Whistle! Vote For Jones!

Robert Yoder, writing in a nationally famous magazine, comes to the conclusion that background music was the first of the hidden persuasion techniques. He may be right.

Here's the way Yoder puts it: Background music can keep you from getting tired, or put you in a spending mood. As a result, there's a multi-million dollar plot afoot to make you happy even when you'd prefer not to be.

The operation employs music of a special kind, applied so as to steal into the mind almost unrecognized, and considerable success is claimed in changing what people do and say and presumably what they think.

Background music caught on during World War II as a means of boosting production and morale, and has been enjoying a period of extremely rapid second growth in the last four years, extending into almost every corner of daily life.

It can be heard on a poultry farm or two, where it is said to make birds put on weight faster on less feed—this same principle holding true on dairy farms and, presumably, in other similar areas. So much for Mr. Yoder.

But where did this phenomenon known as mood music begin, and where will it end?

The first, apparently, was the deep thumping sound made by one of our ancestors beating on his chest; later, the sound being refined by beating on a hollow log with a stick.

Thus the first "human" mood music was similar to that still found in Africa and other savage tropical areas. The poet said that music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, which may be true, but savages also use this music to whip themselves up into a fighting frenzy—at least, they used to.

The same principle was applied militarily by the earliest civilized armies—using kettle drums, trumpets and bagpipes. The principal later took the form of more modern martial music, and Napoleon's forces conquered to the tune of "La Marseillaise."

For thousands of years, shepherds fluted their sheep into contentment; the Piped Piper piped the rats (and the children) out of Hamelin; and cowboys sang in various off-keys to keep the cattle quiet.

Mood music made a major advance with the advent of motion pictures—all the way from the tinkling pianos that helped liven the silent pictures, to the sound tracks of today, many of which become minor classics in themselves via recordings. Television was quick to pick it up, and the stage, in many instances, is beginning to make use of music in dramas as well as musicals.

What the outcome of all this is going to be, especially when combined with fear gas, tranquilizers, energy pills and genius pills, I shudder to think. As Mr. Yoder has so deftly pointed out, the Brave New World of mood music has already been born.

Inflation Ruins The Simple Pleasures

BUENOS AIRES—When I was last here in 1944, any woman, unless she was 80 or had two heads, could be assured of a pinch on the posterior if she patronized any public form of transportation, or even if she was just strolling along the crowded Avenida Florida or the Avenida Santa Fe.

But during this visit I have had a depressed feeling that I don't even look good from the rear any more. And I might have left Argentina feeling that the new hands-off policy was wholly personal if one of my friends had not explained that the Peron blight, which has almost wrecked Argentina, extended even to the nippers.

During the Peron era, Juan, who was himself a pincher de luxe and probably thought the custom too good for the masses, imposed a fine of 50 pesos on any caballero caught doing what comes naturally for every Latino. In those days, the peso was worth four to the dollar, which meant that a man was fined $12.50 and costs for such gallantry.

It proved such an expensive hobby that even now, when 50 pesos amounts to only 75 to 80 cents per pinch (American money, that is), such pleasantries are all but nonexistent. Thus do dictatorships and inflation ruin even the simple pleasures of the people.

But Argentines cannot be prevented from dreaming of the good, old days. One of the stories they love to tell is of the angry American girl in the Avenida Florida who was pinched soon after Peron outlawed the popular pastime.

The girl turned on the gallant and screamed: "Do you want to pay 50 pesos?" The caballero's face lighted up and he cried, "Gladly, senorita, gladly!"

Another legacy of Peronism is the most staggering or Alpine scale of tipping I have ever encountered any place in the world. The customary service charge in a good restaurant or hotel is—hold tight, amigo!—24 per cent of the bill!

But that isn't all. If the customer wishes to return to the restaurant and find himself welcomed with good service, he had best ante up another five to ten per cent to the waiter, plus whatever he feels will assure him a friendly greeting from head waiter and captains the next time round.

Granted that food is very inexpensive by American standards and with American dollars, nonetheless, bakshish adding up to 30 to 34 per cent of the check is rather astronomical, in this traveler's opinion. There are still "shirtless ones" in the Argentine, and it's the customers.

But more than gallantries and tips have changed since 1946. This is a beautiful city, French in feeling, with splendid architecture and handsome parks. But in the bitter political struggles of the past decade, Buenos Aires has been sadly defaced in every section by hoodlums who have splashed pain tinuous quantity on any and every building. It makes similar political slogans of Paris look like the most refined of miniatures.

Not even the churches have escaped defacement here. Indeed, it seems to me that they have been a special target.

It is one visitor's firm conviction that it would improve Buenos Aires immeasurably if the city fathers would penalize the painters instead of the pinchers.

Health Of Consumer Is Improved

You, your wife, and your sisters, brothers and aunts should be feeling better—more cheerful—more ready to spend money than six months ago. But you don't feel rich, boomy: live and be merry for tomorrow who knows—let's put it on the cuff.

As a group, you and all your relatives are about 6 per cent more inclined to indulge your whims and money and credit it on new home furnishings, dishwashers, TV sets, freezers, and so forth than you were in June. You're fairly well recovered from recession jitters and expect that business is likely to be good.

But you're not hoarse confident. And certainly you're not spurious. You don't possess that exuberance which pushed America into a 1955-56-57 boom. You think auto prices are high. You kind of lean toward used cars, if you've got to buy. But when you said that, you hadn't had a good look at the 1959 models. And you'd feel better if some of your neighbors were on steady jobs.

That's you — the composite American consumer. That's how you felt in October, when the University of Michigan's world-famous Survey Research Center made a study of consumer attitudes and inclinations to buy. Your sentiment has improved since the recession low, but "confidence and satisfaction have not been completely restored."

According to the survey, one out of five Americans still worries about his job—will it be steady? Many are disappointed and disturbed by living costs. Prices didn't come down during the recession and now a plurality of consumers (43 per cent versus 28 per cent in May-June) expect prices for household goods and clothing to advance in the coming year. That's not bullish on sales.

Apparently rising prices right now are not encouraging you and me to rush in and buy—to beat the advance. Instead, we're inclined to be deliberate and perhaps put off buying postponable items. We're apprehensive: Will higher-priced necessities—food and clothing—eat into our income?

As for autos, the survey reports "some shift in interest from new to used cars. Complaints that new cars 'cost too much' were frequent." But, as noted, this was before the new models were widely distributed to dealers.

Although consumers are more inclined to buy homes and household goods than a year ago, this is only a comparative improvement. At this time in '57, the recession was gaining momentum, layoffs were increasing, sales were falling. Naturally, buying intentions were depressed. The survey may generate some second thoughts on the U. S. economic outlook. Business analysts have assumed that you and I would give the economy a shove in 1959. Their reasoning: Industrial activity has been improving; employment has increased; so have payrolls. Therefore, you and I have more money to spend. And since the outlook is improving, we'll spend not only what we have but also what we can borrow.

Therefore, the business analysts have assumed that the smitten auto industry would sell more than 5,000,000 domestic passenger cars versus this year's 4,300,000, and that sales of new homes, home furnishings, household appliances and so on would respond accordingly.

The catch—and the reason for second thought—is that consumer confidence has not improved as vigorously as after the 1953-54 recession. Then Michigan's Index of Consumer Attitudes rose from 93 to 109, or 17 per cent. The 1958 improvement has been much slower — from 91 to 100 or 10 per cent.

The point is simply this: Consumers—you and I—feel better than we did at the recession low; yet, we don't feel nearly so confident or optimistic as in early 1955 at the beginning of the 1955-56-57 upsurge.

Born Every Minute

BALTIMORE (AP)—In the harbor area, a fellow who said he was a Norwegian seaman produced some beautiful cigarettes without tax stamps and sold them for $1.50 a carton.

He let on they were American factory-made of a familiar brand retailing for $2.50 a carton. They were round and firm, neatly packaged inside foil, printed wrapper and cellophane.

But the five persons who bought a carton found out they lacked one thing. They were filled with ship's waste.

Open House And Dance Launch Yule Festivity

Christmas festivities began in full swing Thursday evening at Cosden Country Club with an open house and dance given by the Horace Garretts and the Leroy Tidwells. The couples were assisted by their daughters, Ann Garrett, and Martha and Lee Tidwell in receiving.

Guests called at an open house from 6 to 8 p.m. and were greeted by members of a house party, which included the Clyde Angels, Lorn McDowells, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt, Dr. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms, Mrs. R. T. Piner, the Ross Boykins, Robert Striplings, Roy Redders, Mrs. Harold Munal.

And Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone, the Coy Nalleys, Dr. and Mrs. F. D. O'Brien, Mrs. Dpris Chalk Cole, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Roy Cornelison, John Otis Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeg.

Arranged for refreshments was a table done in green metallic under green net. A silver epergne held red carnations and candles with silver leaves, shaped to form a Christmas tree. At the table's edge were garlands of silver foliage.

For dancing, which began at 9 o'clock, Jack Free and his orchestra from Abilene, played.

Assisting with this hospitality were the following members of a house party: The R. V. Middletons, Harry Hurts, Ralph Bakers, J. R. Hensleys, K. H. McGibbons, J. I. Balches, H. C. Stippes, Bill Heflins.

Also, Dr. and Mrs. Arch Carson, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Woodall, Dr. and Mrs. Ed Swift, the L. D. Carothers, E. H. Boullions, Roy Townsends, Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Dr. and Mrs. John Fish, Col. and Mrs. Leland Younkin, the Vie Alexanders, Col. and Mrs. Kyle Riddle and the R. L. Beales.

After the dance, members of the Helia home, where they were served breakfast. Couples-joining the Helians as hosts were Dr. and Mrs. Fish and Col. and Mrs. Younkin.

Baptist Class Of Westbrook Has Skating Party

WESTBROOK—About 40 attended the skating party given recently in Snyder for members of the Young People's Class of First Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Rex McKinney were the host couple.

Back in school after a visit here with their parents are Faye Cook from Hardin-Simmons, daughter of Mrs. Orlean Cook; Danny Swafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Smitt Swafford, and Dan Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Buchanan, both of John Tarleton; William Conaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Conaway, and the Leon Byrds, all from Texas Tech; also Kerry Sweatt, from Canyon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sweatt.

The Leroy Gressetts and the Buss Gressetts were San Antonio visitors recently.

Holiday guests of Mrs. M. A. Gaun have been her son, Winston Gaun and family of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Small and family of Lorraine and the Blasingame family of Colorado City.

Oklahoma Woman Visits In Ackerly

ACKERLY—Mrs. Frank Cashow of Oklahoma is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Willoughby.

The G. E. Chriswells were in Austin recently and returned home by way of Dallas, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chriswell.

Guests in the J. C. Niblett home were their children Mr. and Mrs. John Stickle and son of Pecos and the Rodney Petersons of Lamesa. Mr. Ben Wiggins is a patient in a Big Spring Hospital. Guests of the Wigginses recently were Mrs. R. L. Sugar of Lubbock and Mrs. Buddy Wilson of New Mexico.

The Ben Doziers were hosts for their children, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rodgers of Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rodgers of Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Meeler of Trent, recently.

Tuesday guests of the Balles Browns were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Batson of Big Spring.

Guests in the Nick West home have been Mr. and Mrs. Rob Mabry of Morton and their daughter, Dolores.

The Buck Bakers visited recently in Lubbock with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Myles and Mrs. John Myles.

Ham Glaze

A teaspoon of dry mustard is a good addition to a ham glaze made with a cup of brown sugar and a couple of tablespoons of pineapple or other fruit juice.

In Baking Cakes

If your cakes aren't browning properly, check the pans you are using. Those that are too large for the amount of batter used prevent the cakes from browning on the top.

Brownies, Scouts Have Social Hour

Girl Scout Troop 207 joined Brownie Troop 210 for refreshments, served by Phyllis Gressett of the Brownies, following the meeting of each troop Thursday afternoon at Airport School.

During the business session of the scouts, Hazel King was elected president; Jackie Buchanan, vice president, and Pauline Miller, secretary-treasurer.

A Christmas party was planned for Monday, with an invitation issued to the Brownies to attend as guests.

At the Brownie meeting, the girls saw pantomimes of the scout laws which they have been studying, with each guessing the rule being shown. A game period was held, and both Brownies and Girl Scouts worked on the Christmas candle holders which they are making.

Yule Activities Are Mapped By Group

COLORADO CITY—In a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Johnny Grubbs, the Jaycee-ettes mapped their Christmas plans.

Their selected decorations for their window in the City Light-A-Window contest, and agreed to decorate the Civic House Christmas tree. They will be hostesses for a party Dec. 11 at the American Legion Building.

Contributions to the School Shoe Fund, the United Fund, and the Jaycees' fund for preparing Christmas baskets for needy families were voted.

Bridal Tea Is Given

Opal Hancock was honored at a bridal shower Thursday evening in the home of Punky Boyd, when nine hostesses joined in the compliment.

Miss Hancock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hancock, 1108 Wood, is the bride-elect of Billy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Neilsen, 408 NE 11th. The couple will be married Dec. 20 in the Hancock home.

The tea table, covered with a white organdy cloth, was centered with a basket of greenery and miniature poinsettias, in a circle of red lapers.

About 60 were included on the invitation list for the party, which was hosted by Mrs. Whitney Reynolds, Lucy Odum, Sherry Coats, Brenda Gordon, Judy Cagle, Judy Shields, Jean Fuqua, Tommie Sue Lovelace and Miss Boyd.

AAUW Guests Impart Christmas Spirit With Carols, Reading

The reverence and joy inspired by the Christmas season were imparted to members of the American Association of University Women, Thursday evening, in music and literature. HJCC Music Building was the scene of the meeting.

Six girls from the Senior High Chorus formed an ensemble to sing a group of traditional Christmas carols. Wm. R. Dawes, director of the chorus, presented Shirley Hathorne, Linda Bond, Janet Carpenter, Mary Oliphant, Irene Rudd and June McElrath. Dolores Howard accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper read to the group Henry Van Dyck's "The Mansion." The classic is the story of wealthy Bible-quoting John Weightman, master of an imposing mansion, whose charities are supported by that branch. His calculating attitude is changed by a dream which reveals to him the true meaning of Christian love. The program was introduced by Helen Hurt.

During the business session, which followed the refreshment period, Elizabeth Daniel presided and reported on the recent "learnshop" in Odessa. Nell Brown told of Christmas party plans at the state hospital, in which AAUW is sharing financially. Blanche Yarbrough, fellowship chairman, stated that the club still has a number of Christmas cards for sale.

It was announced there will be an executive board meeting Jan. 5 at the home of Miss Daniel. The next club meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 8 at the Music Building; each member may invite two guests for the program, which will be composed of Jack Hendrix in his own piano arrangements and Mrs. Richard L. Patterson, who will speak on art.

Joining the 16 members were two guests, Mrs. K. A. Pitt and Mrs. Homer Phillips. Formerly of Odessa, Mrs. Phillips briefly told the women of the study groups supported by that branch. Mrs. John Findlater, Eulalia Mitchell and Miss Yarbrough were hostesses for the evening. They chose the Yule motif for the refreshment table, which they covered with white linen. A crystal punch bowl at the center was encircled with greenery and red berries, and a Yule log studded with red candles added a festive note.

Credit Women Set Christmas Dinner

Plans for a Christmas dinner and gift exchange were completed when the Credit Women's Club met Thursday noon at the Howard Hotel. The social event is set for 7 p.m. Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Coy Nalley.

Those who attended the party are asked to bring food, which will later be delivered to a needy family.

Seventeen members discussed decorations for tables and trays at the VA Hospital, a responsibility the club accepted for February.

Forsan Club Has Yule Program

"Littlest Angel", a movie, was screened for the Forsan Study Club, Thursday evening, as their Christmas program in the school cafeteria.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. Joe T. Holladay to the 17 present. She also presided for the business period, when the group agreed to send two members with cookies and coffee to the VA Hospital, Dec. 11. Each member is asked to bring a dozen cookies to the school by the preceding day.

Boys Ranch was the project emphasized at this session. The next meeting is to be at 4 p.m. Jan. 8.

Mrs. W. E. Stockton, Mrs. Dub

Harkrider and Mrs. H. H. Story, joined by Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Mrs. C. B. Long, Mrs. Roy Lamb and Mrs. Clifton Ferguson as hostesses, decorated the room in the holiday theme. They banked the windows with greenery and red candles, and one wall was accented with a shadow box featuring Christmas trees and Santa Clauses made of felt.

Refreshments were served from a table made festive with a silver-trimmed white net cloth over white taffeta. Green pine and holly berries combined with red candies and Christmas balls for the centerpiece.

Members of the First Baptist WMS assembled today at the church for the final program in a series devoted to emphasis on the Lottie Moon Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions. A sack lunch at noon broke the four-hour session led by the Lucille Reagan Circle.

Thursday morning, the general theme "And Yet Abideeth Hope" was developed by the Mary Hatch Circle. Mrs. Floyd Parsons, lead-

Foreign Missions Week Gathers Momentum

Members of the Evening Circle presented the program at Wednesday evening prayer meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Forrest Gambill. Designed to give a comprehensive picture of Southern Baptists around the world, the presentation featured Mary Ann Ataway, Mrs. Elva Biffar and Dr. P. D. O'Brien in word pictures of mission work in Latin America and the Orient.

The sanctuary was darkened for the program, which opened with two songs by the Cherub Choir. Interest center was formed with a lighted world globe, upon which pins indicated the major areas where 1200 missionaries serve, and posters.

Lutheran Women Elect Mrs. Weber; Slate Yule Party

Lutheran Women Parish Workers, assembled Thursday night at St. Paul's Church, elected Mrs. J. Weber as their president. Mrs. M. Oppegar and Mrs. H. Fehler were chosen first and second vice presidents.

Serving with them will be Mrs. R. Catlin, secretary; Mrs. Ted Pachall, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Long, reporter.

Mrs. Gilbert Pachall presided for the meeting, and the devotion was brought by Mrs. Walter Pachall. Mrs. John Foster opened The Christian Church, The Believers and the Word of God.

The 18 scheduled a Christmas party, church-wide, for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 19 at the church. Toys for needy children will be brought, and baked goods to be served at the state hospital will also be delivered.

Mrs. Byrd Returns To Westbrook Home

WESTBROOK—Mrs. Willie Byrd has returned to her home after spending some time in the homes of her children, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Maur Byrd in Lubbock.

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. Orlean Cook were Mrs. Kenneth Steward and Sherry of Roscoe and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gressett and Randy of Silver.

Mrs. B. D. Taylor was guest of honor at a recent dinner given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Taylor in Colorado City. It was in observance of her birthday anniversary. Included in the group were Glenda Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Taylor, all of Abilene, who were at home during the holiday weekend.

Attending a recent gathering in the Troy Lankford home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lankford and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lankford and Kaye, all of Lorraine; Mrs. P. O. Rasco, Mrs. Dwayne Rasco, Mrs. Betty Thompson, Sharla and Sherrie all of Roby; Mrs. Mary Longham and Mrs. Beulah Haggerton of Sweetwater.

Sets Wedding Date

January 2 is the date set by Patricia Sue Hall and Roland Wayne Radebaugh for their wedding at the First Christian Church. Miss Hall is the daughter of Mrs. Sidney C. Hall, 1303 Main, and the late Mr. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Radebaugh of Henryetta, Okla., are parents of the prospective bridegroom. Announcement of the nuptial plans has been made by Mrs. Hall.

Blue And Silver Decor Enhances OWC Party

Blue and silver decorations enlivened the luncheon given Thursday for the Officers Wives Club at the Officers Club when about 120 gathered for a musical program.

Arranged by Mrs. James E. Greene, the entertainment was made up of selections by the Howard County Junior College Chorus.

Hostess group for the luncheon was composed of Mrs. Harley Snyder, chairman, Mrs. Emmett L. Pettus, Mrs. Perry Hon, Mrs. Samuel Munch, Mrs. Verlin Mikesell, Mrs. Edward Harrison, Mrs. Edward Hershock and Mrs. Glenn Clarseo and Mrs. Donald Barr, who arranged for the menu.

Tables were centered with a runner of blue cellophane with white tapers burning on each side of a pyramid of blue Christmas tree balls. The grouping was covered with angel hair.

On the head table was a similar arrangement with a silvered centerpiece, which was presented to Mrs. Cora Smith, a guest. A smaller decoration was given to Mrs. Leonard R. Einstein.

The background for the tables held a silvered Christmas tree, and this went as a prize to Mrs. William Hugo. A miniature tree which decorated the piano, was awarded to Mrs. Wilson A. Nixon.

At the individual tables, lucky ones had their places marked by copper stars; these received the pair of white tapers which were used as decorations.

Guests in addition to Mrs. Smith were Mrs. Rex Greenwood and Mrs. Wayne Baden.

It was announced that the welcoming coffee will not be given this month, which makes the next meeting for the club slated on Jan. 8, 1959.

Mrs. Doug Clemens Will Head Guild

In a called meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild, Thursday evening at the Wesley Methodist Church parlor, Mrs. Doug Clemens was elected president. She succeeds Mrs. Frank Arner, who has resigned. The group of 14 chose Mrs. Robert R. Hamilton as vice president.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party, which will be Dec. 15 at the home of the Joe Kitchings, 514 Washington Blvd.

SHOP and SAVE AT HOME!

For months your local merchants have been making plans and buying the items you will need. Now the shelves and aisles are over-flowing with exciting, fresh new fall and winter merchandise! You couldn't find a better or more varied selection at lower prices if you drove hundreds of miles. We invite you to just take a look in our stores—when you see the many wonderful buys, you won't want to go elsewhere. And, shop soon . . . while stocks are most plentiful!

What Community Shopping Means To You:

- 1) BETTER COMMUNITY! It takes money to build a community . . . money that circulates within the community and money that goes into taxes that support our schools, and civic improvements. Help yourself . . . spend at home!
- 2) EASIER SHOPPING! When you shop at home, you can "come as you are" . . . enjoy plenty of free parking within easy walking distance of the stores you need . . . shop in leisure with none of the hustle and bustle of big city shopping . . . and find everything you want easily.
- 3) GOOD LOCAL CREDIT! And, when you establish credit with your merchants here at home . . . when you want to buy a home or need a credit rating for any other purpose . . . your record is handy and it means more, too!
- 4) TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SALES! Yes, when a sale is announced here at home, you are right here ready to take advantage of the many values and low prices. And, when you are a regular at-home shopper, you often know of sales before they are advertised to the public.
- 5) SAVE TIME AND MONEY! Going out of town to shop is a costly way to shop. Save your valuable time and your money by shopping within minutes of your own home. Prices are just as low here in your community, too!
- 6) YOU CAN TRUST YOUR LOCAL MERCHANTS! . . . they are your friends and neighbors and they depend on their good reputation as much as their quality merchandise and low prices to sell you. Their integrity is high!

The Advantage Of Shopping In Your Local Community Far Outweigh Any Disadvantages You May Think There Are. Shop At Home And See!

"COME AS YOU ARE" — dress comfortably and bring along the children, too.

Labor, Management Both Seek Cushion Against Strike Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — In increasing numbers, both labor and management groups are establishing some sort of arrangement to cushion the money loss entailed in a strike.

Unions do it by saving up huge strike funds. Companies are starting to do it by agreements providing that a group of firms will pool the strike loss of any one of them.

The most publicized is a recent agreement among six major airlines to share with a struck airline the extra revenues the others get because the one is out of operation.

Capital Airlines recently experienced a 38-day strike. But airline industry sources say Capital emerged without much out-of-pocket loss because of the pooling agreement.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, incidentally, announced it was going to take a long look at this novel plan and set a full hearing for Jan. 14. Meantime, it let the pact stand.

Trans World Airlines and Eastern Air Lines, both now shut down by strikes, are due strike benefits under the plan. Other participating airlines are American, United and Pan American World Airways.

On the other side of the picture, the International Assn of Machinists, which struck Capital, TWA and Eastern, pays strike benefits to strike-aided workers. Out of a fund exceeding two million dollars the union pays strikers $35 a week starting the second week of a walkout. The figure was raised last month from $10 a week.

It is reported that other industries have strike-aid plans although none are known to divide profits on the pattern of the airline plan. Some newspapers carry strike insurance that provides indemnity benefits when their workers walk out.

Labor Department officials say that well over half, perhaps 60 per cent, of all the nation's 18 million union members are back up by strike benefits of some sort.

The United Auto Workers, for example, have set up a 50-million-dollar strike fund — now cut in half due to a rash of UAW strikes this year. It's rumored the UAW plans to boost its strike fund to 100 million.

UAW pays benefits after two weeks of strike. Benefits vary according to family status up to $30 weekly. They get higher as the strike gets longer.

Airline pilots have the richest plan, with benefits ranging from a low of $350 to a high of $650 a month.

The International Typographical Union — the typesetters — provides a minimum $36 weekly strike benefit, with provisions for 60 per cent of regular pay for the worker with dependents, 40 per cent for the single worker.

Four others were injured by the blast at the Callery Chemical Co. Two of them, both engineers who worked on the rocket, were critically hurt.

Dead were Charles Sattes, 31; William Reynolds, 29; and Frank Wengryzn, 24, all former Pennsylvanians who lived at Lawrence.

Injured were Richard Wright, 26; Elmer Boyd, 38, both engineers, and two maintenance men, B. J. Leavitt and J. Longstreth, all of Lawrence. Leavitt and Longstreth were treated at a hospital and released.

R. G. Schmidt, manager of the plant, said the rocket exploded in a waste disposal area. It caused no damage. The plant makes boron, used as a propellant for intercontinental ballistic missiles.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney plans a monorail system, submarines sailing under polar ice and bobbed rides down the Matterhorn as additions to Disneyland. The master of make-believe announced a five-million-dollar expansion program to be completed by next June.

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A Spanish airliner with 21 persons aboard was believed to have crashed Thursday night on a flight to Madrid from Vigo, in northwest Spain.

The four-engine Languedoc left Vigo at 4:45 p.m. with 16 passengers and five crew members and was due here at 6:30 p.m. It carried fuel to last only until 9:30 p.m.

The last report from the plane said it was having trouble with its communication system.

Sheriff Seeking Polite Jailbreaker

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradshaw is looking for a courteous jailbreaker who left his note behind after escaping from the county jail.

"Sheriff, I'm sorry to take the step I'm taking, but my wife has filed suit for divorce and it's important to me that I see her immediately. I hope you understand."

The escapee, John Suckles, 31, Columbus, Ohio, was being held on a contempt of court charge for nonsupport.

Captured

Spence Edwards, 32-year-old fugitive from a Georgia prison, is shown in jail at Carrizo Springs after his capture. Edwards surrendered meekly to a posse which found him shivering with cold in the brushy area only 30 miles from the Mexican border. He broke jail and is accused of robbery, kidnaping and engaging in a gun battle with officers in his flight across several states.

Coin Machine Industry Said Terror Target

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee said today it has evidence that mobsters used terror and trickery to muscle into the juke box-vending machine industry.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters the evidence as it unfolds in public hearings next year will show a pattern of violence and conniving.

He said stories will be told of wrecking rivals' machines, setting up labor unions specifically to help another competition, and inter-union fights in which unionists sometimes picketed each other.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) has announced that more than 100 witnesses are under subpoena for the hearings now scheduled for January.

"Some of the nation's top hoodlums have been summoned to appear," he said, adding some high officials of labor unions also would be called.

McClellan said the inquiry is designed to show the extent of underworld takeover in the industry, which he estimated does 2½ billion dollars of business every year. The committee will study also whether new laws are needed.

McClellan said there is no contention that all juke box and vending machine enterprises have been infiltrated.

The committee heard testimony Thursday that Frank Cammarata, a former Detroit gangster, used his influence with big shot mobsters to help settle "wars" between juke box operators in Detroit and Youngstown, Ohio.

Cammarata, just out of a Michigan prison and under orders to leave the country or be kicked out, refused to answer the committee's questions. He pleaded that answers might incriminate him.

Girl Killed In Bus Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — One little girl was killed and 12 other persons were injured, three critically, when a nursery school bus and a freight train collided at a suburban Dixmoor crossing shortly before dusk Thursday.

Authorities said an engine fireman prevented a higher death toll by flagging down an approaching train and then dragging several children from the tracks.

The children, all 3 to 5-year-olds, were heading home from a suburban Blue Island nursery. Several children were tossed from the wrecked vehicle by the impact.

Edward Fike, trammaster for the Indiana Harbor Belt Line Railroad, a freight line, said the bus was on the tracks when his train headed into the crossing which is guarded by flashing lights.

After the collision, the fireman, John Matthew, 36, leaped from the engine and lit a flare to halt a freight train approaching the multiple crossing on another track. Then he dragged several children, tossed from the bus, from the tracks.

Matthew was injured and reported in critical condition in a Blue Island hospital.

Greek Children Helpful To Reds

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Some of the Greek children taken behind the Iron Curtain by the Communists in the postwar revolt are proving first-rate propagandists for their kidnapers.

Only a select 200 of the estimated 27,000 taken away as babies and teen-agers have been allowed to come home. They returned to isolated mountain villages where their parents still live, and were disillusioned by the primitive surroundings.

During 10 years in Communist custody, the youngsters had been given favored treatment. They now are dazzling villagers with the tales of the wonderful places they have seen.

Iranian Prince Frankly Discusses Any Subject

By JOE PICKLE

Prince Minouch Farman-Farman, as charming and delightful as ever, broke his United States tour again Thursday to spend a day with friends in Big Spring.

Refreshingly frank and effusive on any subject, he clipped through topics ranging from foreign policy to oil and melon raising.

Besides renewing old friendships, one reason he was happy to be back in this area is that it so much resembles the southern part of his Iran, he said.

After flying over oil fields in this portion of the Permian Basin during the morning, he was honored at a luncheon given at Cosden Country Club by R. L. Tollett, Cosden president. Then in the afternoon the prince, Tollett and Cecil Guthrie went bird hunting, as they had the afternoon before. He mixed in visits with the Tolletts as well as the family of Dan Krausse, Cosden vice president who first met Prince Farman four years ago. Later he had a dinner engagement and then attended a dance late in the evening.

Friday he was to fly to Los Angeles, then go to San Francisco for discussions with oil company officials, then back to New York and home.

A great admirer of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, he cocked his head in characteristic manner and said: "Oh I love the way you do things."

Here are a few of the reactions of the man who is a member of the oil council, which determines the course for Iranian oil:

Foreign policy — He is an admirer of the West but thinks Americans habitually underestimate the Soviets. Besides, the Russians have something simpler to sell because democratic processes are more complex. Every American ought to read the will of Peter the Great, who advocated gradual expansion of Russia in every direction. ("Whether under the Czars or Communists, the aims are the same, and the only objective laid out by Peter which has not been achieved is the absorption of Iran.") Russia has plenty of oil of her own and looks to Persia as a means of fulfilling a centuries-old ambition of one all-weather ocean outlet such as the Persian Gulf.

American policy is sometimes inconsistent. ("Are you capitalist or are you not capitalist?") Too often Americans want to help by aiding the break-ups of estates, etc. which is comparable to "telling any of your people you can't own that land." Ironically, when land empires are broken down, the Soviets—not the Americans—get the credit by insisting to the peasants that it was their pressure which effected the change. Too, Americans too often furnish arms to the ruling classes in the Arab world ("antiquated arms at that... and who are you kidding if you think they could fight the Russians with them?") so that they are good only to maintain the ruling classes in power against the masses.

In his own country, what is

needed is a policy of consistent, enlightened capitalism plus technical know-how, and above all—action. "We can write the check for the things we need. You've got to give us credit for admitting we do not know how to do these things. What we want is to get them done, but five years ago American and British technicians laid out plans for improvements and are still arguing about what should be done and how it should be done."

Nasser — Don't make the mistake of believing that he does not have something to sell the Arab world. Like Hitler, he has some proposals which sound good to these people, and he is not necessarily forcing himself for more often he is invited in. He has an appeal through Arab nationalism plus being able to point out that Arabs are held in subjugation by arms furnished by the Allies. Moreover, to the peasant, one system of government as opposed to another doesn't really matter. Nasser, contrary to popular ideas, realizes small profit from the Suez so great are maintenance costs, that he has to extend his sphere of influence or lose out.

Oil — Whereas in 1954, when things were shutdown following nationalization of Iranian oil, and daily production was only 150,000 barrels per day at a yield of 60 cents per barrel for the government, today the average production is above 1,000,000 barrels per day at $1.10 per barrel. New discoveries are increasing reserves. A handful of wells may drain an entire basin, hence the average production per well is 10,000 barrels per day. (One well makes 35,000 barrels.)

Of course Iran would like to sell more oil. Astutely, he suggests the better market is in Europe. Moreover, he wants to bring the Abadan refinery output up to rated capacity of 600,000 barrels (largest in the world) instead of current operations of 300,000. "You can't tell me there is no demand for products in Europe when all the time I read where new refineries are being built in Europe."

With Prince Farman for part of his visit here was Hamid Bakhtiar, a member of parliament representing the Bakhtiar region. It is this tribe (which could muster 50,000 rifles at any time) which has been responsible in a large measure for the stability of the Iranian government. Most of the oil in the nation is produced in this southern Iranian province.

'Commitment Sunday', Dedication Service Highlight Church Schedule

The traditional dedication service for parents and children will be held Sunday morning in the First Christian Church, and members of the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church will observe Commitment Sunday at their services.

The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor, will speak during the dedication program at First Christian. The service is held biannually.

Shelby Parnell will speak on temperance during the service Sunday morning at Wesley Methodist. The pastor, the Rev. Royce Womack, will preach Sunday evening.

At the Webb AFB Chapel, Chaplain Wilbur C. Hall Sunday will deliver the fifth in a series of sermons dealing with the Protestant faith. Communion will be observed following the sermon.

Guest speaker at Hillcrest Baptist Sunday evening will be the Rev. H. L. Whiteside, a member of the College Baptist Church of Big Spring.

Here are the programs for Big Spring churches Sunday:

Baptist

"A Call for the Right Decision," Matt. 7:13, and "The Sixth Commandment," Ex. 20:13, will be the Rev. W. A. James' sermons at the Airport Baptist Church.

The Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of Baptist Temple, has announced his morning sermon on subject, "Blaspheming the Name of God."

At Hillcrest Baptist Church, the Rev. H. L. Bingham will preach on "The World is Waiting For the Sunrise." At evening worship the message will be brought by a guest speaker, the Rev. H. L. Whiteside, who is a member of College Baptist Church.

The congregation at Phillips Memorial Baptist Church will hear the Rev. D. R. Phillely in messages on "Abnormal Unbelief," Mark 6:6; and "The Great Calm," Mark 4:39.

For his messages to College Baptist Church, the Rev. H. W. Bartlett has chosen "How Shall They Hear?," Rom. 10:8-15, and "Jesus As a Missionary," John 4.

For the 8:45 a.m. worship service at First Baptist Church, Dr. P. D. O'Brien will preach on "Remember Now Thy Creator," Eccl. 12:1. At the 11 a.m. worship, he will speak on "Success That Seemed to Be Failure," Isa. 49:4, and for 7:45 p.m. worship his message will be "Oh, How Great Thou Art," Isa. 45:22.

Catholic

Mass will be said at St. Thomas Catholic Church, 605 N. Main, by the Rev. Fr. Francis Beazley, OMI, at 7 a.m. and 11 a.m. Rosary and benediction are at 7 p.m. Sunday. Confessions are heard on Saturday from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. Catechism classes for grade school children are from 10 to 11 a.m. Saturday and from 10 to 11 a.m. Sunday.

At the Sacred Heart (Spanish-speaking) Church, Mass will be held at 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Confessions from 5 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. Benediction will be at 5:30 p.m. in Coahoma at St. Joseph's Mission by the Rev. Fr. Adolph Metzger, OMI.

Christian

Dedication service for parents and children, a biannual affair at the First Christian Church, will be held Sunday morning. The Rev. Clyde Nichols will preach on "What Shall This Child Be?" Luke 1:66. In the evening the pastor plans a message on "The Cost of Things," Luke 14:28.

Christian Science

The spiritual basis of all creation will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator."

Scriptural selections will include this from Isaiah 43:15, 21: "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King. . . This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise."

Church of Christ

James Watson, minister of Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, will conclude his series of sermons on The Seven Christian Graces with a message on "Love," at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Church of God

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, minister of the First Church of God, has entitled his sermons "The Lost Gospel" and "The Worth of a Soul."

Episcopal

Schedule of Sunday services at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 10th and Goliad, is as follows: Celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a.m.; family worship and church school at 10:15 a.m. The Rev. William D. Boyd is rector.

Gospel Tabernacle

Noah Tuttle, pastor of Big Spring Gospel Tabernacle, 1905 Scurry, announces the schedule for services this week. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. with morning worship at 10:45. Evening worship service will be at 7:45. Thursday night Bible study begins at 7:45 as does the Saturday night prayer meeting.

Latter-Day Saints

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints holds services at the IOOF Hall, 9th and San Antonio St. Priesthood, 9:30 a.m.; Sunday school, 10:30 a.m.; sacrament, 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Lutheran

The Rev. Wayne Dittloff will bring the message at the 10:30 a.m. worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Sunday school and Bible classes are at 9:30 a.m. The pastor will conduct his class at 6:30 p.m.

Methodist

At First Methodist Church, Dr. Jordan Grooms will offer a morning sermon on "Thy Light is Come." Special music will be in the form of a duet, Stainer's "Love Divine," by Mrs. Don Newsum and Ira Schantz. Sunday evening, Dr. Grooms will preach on "Unto Us—A Savior."

The Rev. Joe McCarthy, pastor at Park Methodist Church, will deliver messages on "The Power of the Tongue," James 3:2-6, and "The Unused Talents," Matt. 25:14-31.

Commitment Sunday will be observed at Wesley Methodist Church; guest speaker will be Shelby Parnell, who will bring a message on temperance. Sunday evening, the Rev. Royce Womack will preach on "The Reward of the Persecuted."

Nazarene

The Rev. W. M. Dorrough, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, has announced as his morning topic "Possessing our Possessions," 1 Cor. 3:21.

Pentecostal

Worship services at United Pentecostal Church, 15th and Dixie, will be held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. by the pastor, O. F. Viken. Sunday school is at 10 a.m. and the young people's meeting at 6 p.m.

Presbyterian

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian minister, will offer sermons on "Why Jesus Came—To Fulfill" and "The Child Grew, Became Savior." At the evening worship, special music will be "Christmas Lights," by the children's choir.

The Rev. Jack Ware, St. Paul Presbyterian pastor, will preach on "On Guard" and "How Do You Stand Before God?"

7th Day Adventist

Services of the Seventh Day Adventist Church will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, followed by church services at 3:30 p.m.

Webb AFB

Chaplain Wilbur C. Hall will have charge of Protestant services at 11 a.m. Sunday in the base chapel. He will deliver the fifth in a series of sermons on What Protestants Believe, this one entitled "Protestants Believe in the Supreme Authority of the Bible." Communion will be observed following the message.

Sunday school in the chapel annex and adult discuss groups will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Catholic Mass will be said at 9 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. Sunday by the Rev. Fr. Eugene Clemens. Confessions will be heard Saturday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Jesus' Matchless Power

CHRIST CALMED THE RAGING WATERS AND HEALED THE SICK AND TORMENTED

Scripture—Mark 4:35-5:43.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. AFTER PREACHING TO HIS listeners in parables, Jesus said to His apostles, "Let us pass over unto the other side" of the Sea of Galilee. So the multitude was sent away and they entered a ship. . . "And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full."—Mark 4:36-37.

Jesus, doubtless wearied with His work, slept on a pillow in the stern of the ship, but His frightened disciples awakened Him, crying, "Master, carest Thou not that we perish?" He arose and "said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm."—Mark 4:38-39.

Jesus then rebuked His companions for their lack of faith, and they, awed by the miracle, said, "What manner of man is this that even the wind and the sea obey Him?"—Mark 4:38-41.

On the other side of the sea a man came out of the tombs, one tortured by an unclean spirit that made him so powerful that no chains could hold him as he broke them all. He lived in these tombs "and always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting him-

'World Harvest' Seeks Many Souls

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a phenomenon of these troubled times that more evangelists probably are drawing larger crowds than ever before.

And not the least of these evangelistic endeavors is being put forth by the year-old World Harvest Evangelism, Inc., whose ambitious goal is a united search for souls throughout the world.

"We envision a blitz of the continents," says Lloyd L. Sweet, of Durham, Conn., executive secretary. "We're trying to organize evangelists for one big effort for Christ." Sweet is a Methodist.

World Harvest was founded last January in a New York hotel room. It was the brainchild of Francis Nelson, a department store executive and a Presbyterian. Nelson is president.

World Harvest's first organized effort was a monthlong crusade in the New England states last May. In 28 meetings, Sweet estimates the attendance at more than 30,000 persons and says there were many conversions.

Right now, World Harvest teams are working among the half-million Spanish-speaking peoples of New York City, many of them recent arrivals from Puerto Rico.

Teachers Unit To Meet Monday

There will be a meeting of the Classroom Teachers Assn. at 4:15 p.m. Monday in the Senior High School cafeteria. Mrs. B. F. Vandell will be in charge of the program.

Eulalia Mitchell, Floyd Parsons and Sam Anderson will form a panel to discuss the state teachers meeting which convened recently in Fort Worth. Under the direction of Joyce Howard, Park Hill fifth graders taught by Mrs. Jack Gulley will sing Christmas carols.

A refreshment period will precede the program.

The campaign began last Oct. 29 with an opening meeting in St. Nicholas Arena. Since then, there have been 37 meetings attended by about 28,000 with some 900 decisions for Christ, Sweet says.

A key figure in the current campaign is the Rev. Raymond Jimenez, a 22-year-old Puerto Rican, who, less than seven years ago, was banned from his church in Brooklyn as an incorrigible juvenile gang leader.

Converted by his elder brother, Eugene, 24, young Jimenez studied for the ministry in Puerto Rico and recently gained stature as an evangelist during a crusade tour of Mexico.

Trinity Probe Panel Named

TRINITY, Tex. (AP)—A committee of five directors was named by the Trinity River Authority yesterday to probe all aspects of Houston's application to buy two Trinity River reservoirs.

The appointments were made at a TRA board meeting devoted to a discussion of the use and allocation of water in the Trinity watershed.

Interested persons from more than 20 counties in the watershed attended the meeting.

Paul Cauthan Jr., Trinity, Tex., lawyer and chairman of the TRA board's legal committee, said statements made to the press and public by Houston said one thing while the Houston application before the State Board of Water Engineers said something else.

The committee of TRA directors to investigate Houston's application includes Cauthan as chairman, Trinity County; Joe Butler, Navarro County; J. D. Kirvin, Ellis County; William Forrest, Madison County, and John Scott, Tarrant County.

THE SECRET PLACE

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."—Psalms 91:1.

By CLYDE NICHOLS

Will We Miss Christmas?

On a farm not far from a certain town there once lived a little boy. He had no brothers or sisters and so he played alone. One day some men came and pasted on their barn large pictures of all kinds of animals.

That evening he questioned his dad as to what it all meant. The circus was coming to town and there was nothing in all the world so wonderful. Yes, he could attend.

And so, on a certain day his father gave him a bright silver dollar for admission, and he rode nine miles to the county seat town to see the big show. When he arrived the streets were crowded with happy people. Excitement filled the air.

The lad hitched his pony and ran down to the main street. He pushed his way through the crowd, and just as he reached the street there was a burst of music, and he beheld a sight such as he had never seen before. There were lions and tigers, camels and elephants, zebras and monkeys—wagon after wagon of animals.

Last of all there came clowns, turning somersaults and doing tricks. It seemed to the little boy that he had never laughed so much in all his life. The biggest clown passed right by him, and as he did, the little boy reached into his pocket, drew out the silver dollar and dropped it into his hands. The clown made a bow in regal splendor and was gone.

The crowd melted away; the little boy went back to his pony and rode home. And it wasn't until he reached the farm that night and talked to his dad that he learned the truth. He hadn't seen the circus at all; he had seen only the parade!

Such can easily happen to you and now at Christmas. We are already caught up in the anticipation. The "Christmas rush" is on. All the glitter and excitement is wonderful to experience and behold.

Amidst it all, let us remember whose birthday it is, and what the season really means, lest we miss Christmas and see only the parade!

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season! What excitement—what delight is written in her shining eyes! To her, the world has suddenly become a wonderland of white enchantment—a miracle.

A child accepts the miracle, and finds in it pure, unblemished joy. An adult finds it increasingly difficult to accept anything as miraculous—and his joys are dimmed by life's myriad complexities.

Yet, within every adult's grasp is the greatest miracle of all—the story of Christ and the message he left the world. This is the inheritance of every man and woman who will reach out to accept it. It waits for you . . . in the Church.

Go to church this Sunday. Discover, again, what Christ did for you.

Copyright 1958, Editorials Service, Shrewsbury, Pa.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Some of our most prominent sports writers reason an All-America football team without a Notre Dame representative is as unthinkable as rock and roll music without a mention of Elvis Presley.

And, though the Irish wound up with a lackluster 6-4 non-lost record and had loads of trouble against the likes of North Carolina, Duke and Southern California, their press agents in the Midwest consistently put them among the top five clubs in the nation in the weekly polls.

The AP poll is misnamed. It could more aptly be referred to as a "popularity poll," wherein the scribes try to get some recognition for their favorite schools.

Last week, Plains came face to face with a one-man wave of destruction named Bobby Sutton in a playoff game unrehearsed here and almost didn't make it.

Sutton ran for gains totaling 239 yards, including two touchdowns, but he and his Ozona mates got beat when they failed to convert after any of their three touchdowns.

Bobby, a near-cinch to rate all-state honors, wound up with a season's total of 1,642 yards in 204 tries. He counted 146 points over the campaign.

Saturday the Plains club faces much the same kind of threat in a White Deer boy named Herschel Powell. It doesn't seem possible but Powell has gained even more yardage in 1958 than has Sutton. The margin is insignificant (only six yards) but fans who saw the game here last week can't believe there's a boy around who can outdo Sutton.

People in the vicinity of White Deer say they'd take Powell over Sutton or any other back, however.

There's just a bare possibility that local fans will get to see Powell and thus judge for themselves, which is why the lad is mentioned here.

If White Deer topples Plains and Mason beats Talco this weekend, this would be the logical place to play the game. Whether White Deer or Plains wins, the Chamber of Commerce and Quarterback Club here will go after the game, if it materializes.

Plains' Joe Don Marrow perhaps is a better college prospect than is Sutton, in my estimation. For one thing, he's taller and just about as fast. He's only a sophomore and already is recognized as one of West Texas' hardest running backs. If he were the tailback running off the Spread Formation, as Sutton does, there's little telling how effective he would be.

Incidentally, the two local organizations had representatives on hand at Sweetwater last week to make an offer for the Breckenridge-Andrews playoff game.

Their spokesmen had to make his pitch to Breck and Andrews officials in something like one minute. During that time, the local group authorized him to offer to pay for the game officials, which is a big concession. The group's appeal went for naught.

Invariably, Breckenridge demands that such a game be considered on a "home and home" basis. In this instance, it was doubly so, since the Bucks reason they can handle Andrews without a great deal of difficulty in either place.

If the truth were known, the Breck coach and players probably would prefer to settle for a neutral site but the merchants there would abhor the thought and pressure the school into such decisions.

Hardin-Simmons' Cowboys were almost shot down by Big Spring's own Charley Johnson (now at New Mexico A&M) last week but finally won and thus claimed the Border Conference crown for the first time since 1946.

That was the year the Big Spring mentor, Al Milch, was a tower of strength in the HSU line.

Sam Boyd Will Learn His Fate As Coach Tonight

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Sam Boyd, who has coached a last place football team two seasons in a row at Baylor, will learn tonight whether he's wanted around any longer.

A meeting of ex-students, trustees and faculty representatives will be held to decide if Boyd's contract, which has a year to run, will be extended.

A newspaper report that the administration was planning to extend the coach's contract brought protests from a number of places. Hence the meeting.

Athletic director George Sauer quit last night saying he was entering private business. It was Sauer who stepped down as coach in 1955 and was succeeded by Boyd.

Sauer, the ex-Nebraska football great, wouldn't say what line of business he was entering but it had been known for some time that his contract wouldn't be renewed when it expires Jan. 15. Sauer said he would finish it out.

Boyd's first team, in 1956, had an 8-2 record and won the Sugar Bowl game over Tennessee. But in 1957 it won only three games and tied one and wound up in the Southwest Conference cellar. It won only three games the past season and again was in last place.

FORSAN BISON WIN 4TH STRAIGHT GAME

FORSAN (SC)—The Forsan Buffaloes staged a tremendous second half defensive performance here last night to cap their fourth straight basketball win against no losses, dropping Coahoma's Bulldogs, 47-21. The B team also won a thriller, 41-40, over the Bulldogs reserves. The girls team was playing in the Christoval tournament where they lost to Merton, 27-22.

The Buffs' win over Coahoma was pleasant if puzzling. Coahoma set out with obvious intentions of winning, getting an 11-6 lead by the end of the first quarter. At intermission, the Bulldogs owned a 20-15 spread.

Then the roof of the gymnasium seemed to collapse on them.

out after disappointing seasons, were the busiest traders in the National League during the winter meetings.

With Frank Lane priming the pump, the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox set the pace in the American League.

Solly Hermal, starting a new career as a big league manager with the Cards, came up with two right-handed hitting outfielders in Chuck Essegian and Gino Cimoli.

He gave up Wally Moon, a left-handed hitting outfielder, to Los Angeles and Ruben Gomez, a light hitting (.224) but fancy fielding shortstop, to Philadelphia.

Phil Paine, a right-handed relief pitcher already demoted to the Omaha farm, went to Los Angeles' Spokane farm in the deal that sent Moon to the Dodgers for Cimoli, a .246 disappointment after a fine rookie year.

Essegian, former Stanford football player, hit .246 in a partial year with the Phils. He may wind up as a pinch hitter.

The Phils, in addition to acquiring Amara as insurance behind Chico Fernandez, secured Valmy Thomas, a much-needed catcher. They also got Ruben Gomez, an experienced pitcher, from San Francisco in the swap that brought them right-handed pitcher Jack Sanford, the National League Rookie of the Year in 1957.

San Francisco unloaded the 31-year-old Gomez (10-12) and Thomas (.259) to get Sanford (10-13), a strong armed pitcher who can take a turn every fourth day.

Trader Lane, Cleveland general manager, latched onto a fine center fielder in Jimmy Piersall who hit only .237 at Boston.

Bearkats Take On Buffaloes In Own Gym

GARDEN CITY (SC)—With one basketball triumph under their belt, the Garden City Bearkats seek to upend the Stanton Buffaloes here tonight in a three-game card of action.

The B boys will play at 6, with the varsity girls game and then the game girls tilt following.

The girls lost a close 39-31 decision to Westbrook in a game played there Tuesday. The boys pulled a 44-34 triumph, spurred by the efforts of Dennis Calverley who scored 16 points.

Coach Marlin Dadds outfit will be entered in three tournaments this season, and contend with Foran, Knott, Water Valley, and Sterling City for the conference crown on a home-and-home basis. Including tournament play, the Bearkats could be playing a 22-game slate.

Board To Study Grid Decision

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A public meeting tonight of the Brownsville school board will take another look at the high school coaching situation here.

Head Coach Lloyd Parker was fired by a 4-2 vote of trustees earlier this week. The trustees voted 5-1 to renew the contract of Athletic Director Bob Martin for another two years.

Two Teams In Tie For League Lead

Tot 'n Teen scored an 885-2582 game and series in their 4-0 win over Hemphill-Wells in the Thursday Matinee bowling league this week, while Henderson's Cosden bumped MBS Hardware, 3-1, and Gilliam's thumped Good Housekeeping Shop, 3-1.

Virginia Pickett of Hemphill-Wells checked in a 168 high game.

while Daury Cockrell, Good Housekeeping, had 167. Evelyn Ball, Henderson's, scored 445 series; Mary Martin of the same team had 437.

Give a gift of peace this Christmas

Wouldn't it be wonderful to give your family peace for Christmas?

Of course, you can't just wrap peace up in a neat little package and put it under the tree. But you can give U. S. Savings Bonds. And they help pay for peace.

Peace costs money. Money for industrial and military strength to keep the peace. Money for science and education to help make peace lasting. And money saved by individuals to help make our economy strong.

Every U. S. Savings Bond you give this Christmas will help strengthen America's Peace Power.

U. S. Savings Bonds come "gift-wrapped." Buy them where you bank or work. Or buy new gift books of U. S. Savings Stamps—$2.50 and $5.00 at all Post Offices.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

HC Wins First Game In Temple Tourney

Locals Shade Navarro 5

TEMPLE (SC)—Howard County Junior College, never beaten in five Temple basketball tournaments, faces one of its sternest challenges in a semi-final game at 2:45 p.m. today, at which time they oppose Wharton's Pioneers.

Wharton, coached by Johnnie Frankie, boasts five starters who stand 6-foot-five or better. Three come in at that figure. Another is 6-7 while the tallest is 6-8.

Wharton got into the second round without a struggle. The team was to have played San Antonio JC but San Antonio showed up late and was placed in the consolation bracket. Wharton settled for a practice game with Fort Hood.

The Jayhawks from Big Spring rewarded Coach Harold Davis with the 20th victory of his coaching career by drubbing Navarro JC of Corsicana in the opening round Thursday afternoon. Final score was 74-65 but the game wasn't that close.

Davis was content to use his subs throughout most of the second half, even though HCJC had a one-point lead at intermission time, and found the time to employ all 11 players he brought on the trip. Even Benny Carver, who has been ailing, got into the fray.

With five minutes left to play, HCJC led by a tally of 69-50. Ray Clay did a fine job for the Hawks and led the Big Springers in scoring with 17 points. Bobby Davis, although he played only half the game, captured 16 rebounds.

The Hawks hit only 38 per cent of their shots in the first half but elevated that to 48 per cent in the last half, for an overall mark of 43 per cent.

Gilbert Bell tossed in 14 points for HCJC while Davis and Tommy Zinn each bucketed 11.

The win was the second of the season for the Jayhawks, against no losses. If the Hawks win today, they return to the court in the championship finals at 8:45 Saturday. Should they lose to Wharton, they'll be battling for third place at 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

The Hawks have already won the Temple meet four times.

Green Matched With Z. Folley

Alvin Green, former Webb AFB airman, has been matched with Zora Folley, No. 2 Heavyweight boxer in world rankings, in an Odessa ring the night of Monday, December 15.

Bob Callahan, Odessa promoter, confirmed the booking in a telephone conversation with The Daily Herald this morning.

Green now fights out of Tyler. His manager is Earl Gillian. Folley is managed by Bob Swift and fights out of Phoenix. Folley only recently returned from England, where he engaged in two fights.

Callahan announced that the house had been scaled from $8.50 ringside to $4.00, $3.50 and $1.65. He added a number of tickets would probably be placed on sale in Big Spring.

The duets are now on sale at the Odessa Sports Enterprises, 7th and Grant Street; and at Albert S. Kelley's in Midland. Telephone reservations can be made by calling either Federal 2-8782 or Federal 2-8911 in Odessa.

Near-Fatal Ailment Failed To Stop Illinois Griddler

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A near-fatal ailment, a skull fracture and bad burns that's the medical history of Johnny Easterbrook, the spunky 150-pound quarterback of the University of Illinois football team.

Not even Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois knew until two days ago that a medical specialist once told Easterbrook's parents their son wouldn't live past the age of 15.

Eliot first heard the story at a Lions Club dinner from Wirt Downing, principal of the East St. Louis, Ill., high school, who is a friend of Johnny's father.

"I was flabbergasted," Eliot said, "but that's typical of Easterbrook."

The story of Easterbrook's ailment—an intestinal disorder—has been a well-kept secret.

"We just wanted to forget the past and all its troubles," Easterbrook's father Jim remarked.

"It was when Johnny was about 3 or 4 that this ailment came to light. A specialist told us that he would not live unless he had an immediate operation."

But the Easterbrooks, counseled

MEET DIMMITT

Longhorns Open Tourney Today

Fresh from a successful invasion of El Paso, the Big Spring Steers head for Plainview today to open play in an invitational basketball tournament there.

The Longhorns, who now have a 2-2 record, open the two-day meet at 2:45 p.m. against Dimmitt.

If they win that one, the Bovines return to action at 1 p.m. Saturday, meeting the survivor of the Hereford-Littlefield engagement. If they lose to Dimmitt, they challenge the loser of the Hereford-Littlefield bout at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The Steers are assured of playing three games in the tournament, regardless of how they fare. All eight places in the meet will be determined.

Hereford and Littlefield clash at 4:15 p.m. today. In lower bracket competition, El Paso Austin opposes Sweetwater at 7 o'clock tonight while Plainview takes on Tulla at 8:30 p.m.

The other championship semifinals game tomorrow is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. The title game goes on at 9 p.m. Saturday.

The seventh place engagement is booked for 4 p.m. tomorrow, the consolation finals at 6 p.m. and the third place engagement at 7:30 o'clock.

In starts thus far, the Steers have lost to Plainview and El Paso Thomas Jefferson and won over El Paso Austin twice.

Coach Vernon Harton will probably start a lineup composed of Benny McCrary and Joe Bob Clendenin at the forward spots, Jerry Brooks at pivot and Preston Hollis and Bill Thompson in the backcourts.

Hereford is one of the favorites in the tournament, along with Plainview. The Whitefaces won a regional championship last year.

Cuby Kitchens, the Hereford coach, is starting five seniors this season, including two starters from last year—Steve Slagle, 6-3; and guard Bobby Shelton.

Ken Clearman, 6-1; Donnie Renfro, 5-11; and Milner Duvall, 5-11, fill out the Hereford lineup.

In their first game this season, Hereford blasted Tulla, 61-35, and last weekend beat Amarillo Tascosa, 61-36. Tuesday night, the Whitefaces hurled Dimmitt, 58-52.

Plainview lost to Midland by four points, then beat Xig Spring by three.

Ackerly Defeated In Ira Tourney

IRA (SC)—Ackerly's boys lost to Hermleigh, 38-35, here last night in the Ira Invitational Tournament in an overtime game, after leading the winners, 15-12, at halftime. Score was tied, 24-24, at the end of regulation play.

Royals Lewis pitched in nine field goals for 18 points for Ackerly, which plays again tomorrow morning at 10:15 with the Knott-McCaulley loser.

Ackerly's girls advanced with an 46-14 win over the Hermleigh females. They lead at halftime, 25-9. Janice Bearden spearheaded the victory with 28 points.

The girls face the Knott-McCaulley winner tomorrow at 11:30 a.m.

ACKERLY (35)—Benny Kunkel 5-6-6; Gibby Ingram 9-11; Royale Lewis 9-9-19; Buster Grigg 2-1-3; Weldon Menix 2-1-3; Totals 16-3-3.

Goliad Sweeps Doubleheader

SAN ANGELO (SC)—Big Spring's Goliad Junior High School basketball teams swept a doubleheader from San Angelo Edison contingents here Thursday evening.

The 8th graders from the Howard County school finished on the long end of a 28-24 score, after which the Big Spring 9th graders won an overtime decision, 41-37.

In the 8th grade engagement, Jeff Brown tossed in ten points as the Big Spring leader while Danny Coates led nine. The Maverick subs played much of the last half.

The score was tied at 37-37 in the 9th grade game but Don Ellis and Mike Nelson hit jump shots for Big Spring in the overtime.

Jimmy Madry, who fouled out in the overtime period, stayed around long enough to lead his team in scoring with 12 points. Weldon Allen led Edison with ten points.

Paine Will Play In Japan In '59

TOKYO (AP)—Phil Paine, former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher sent to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League in the Cards-Dodgers Wally Moon deal, has agreed to play next season with a Japanese professional baseball team, the Kintetsu Pearls of Japan's Pacific League.

2-4A MEETING SET SATURDAY

Superintendent of Schools Floyd R. Parsons, Assistant Supt. Pat Murphy and Head Coach Al Mitchell will represent Big Spring at the District 2-4AAA business meeting, which will be held in Abilene Saturday morning.

The officials of all the 2-4AAA schools will be guests at the Abilene-Wichita Falls playoff game following the conclave.

Odessa's new high school, Permian, will be officially voted into the conference. Permian and Big Spring will probably meet in the final game of the season in 1959.

All schools will complete their 1959 district schedules during the meeting.

Robertson Gives Foes A Bad Time

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
"My achin' back."

That's what most college basketball coaches mutter when all America Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati's Bearcats comes to town.

Thursday night, it was Robertson who had the achin' back. But the injury did not deter him from turning in another superlative performance in Madison Square Garden.

The 6-5 junior, who captured the national collegiate scoring title with a 35-point average last season, scored 45 points to lead his team to an 88-67 victory over New York University. St. John's of New York drubbed Providence 73-55 in the opener.

In other games, Bailey Howell of Mississippi State, the No. 4 scorer last season, flipped in 47 points as the Maroon drubbed Union (Tenn.) 121-78; Seattle nipped San Francisco 60-58 on Francis Saunders' basket in the last four seconds; Georgia Tech finished strong to beat Baylor 65-56; Boston College whipped Holy Cross 72-67; Virginia Tech took Virginia 85-73; and Toledo snapped the 21-game winning streak of South Dakota, the NCAA small college champions, 81-70.

Robertson, who had 41 points against Indiana State Monday night, caged 29 points in the second half as the Bearcats broke a 33-all intermission deadlock and romped to an easy triumph. He had 16 points in the first half.

Sophomore Wayne Richards sparked Georgia Tech's late drive against Baylor. He scored two straight baskets as the Yellowjackets snapped a 52-all tie and then moved even further in front with seven straight points. Boston College's victory was marked by a game-ending fight between Jack Whelan of Holy Cross and Jack Chevalier of BC. It touched off a melee which took several minutes to subdue.

ANNIE ROONEY

GOODBYE FOR NOW, DEAR - I'LL BE OVER TO GET YOU TOMORROW MORNING - ISN'T IT WONDERFUL?

YEEH, MISS BARTON - I'LL BE READY - AN' IT'S - IT'S TERRIBLE WONDERFUL!

I GUESS YOU THINK I'M A CRAZY MIXED-UP KID, ZERO, BUT LETS GO BEHIND THE WOODSHED AGAIN WHERE NOBODY'LL SEE ME IF I CRY A LITTLE BIT -

I KNOW MISS BARTON IS NICE, AN' I GUESS I CAN EASY LEARN TO LOVE HER, BUT, GEE - I ALREADY LOVE SILVERBELL A WHOLE LOT AN' I HATE TO LEAVE HER EVEN IF IT IS ALL FOR MY OWN GOOD!

SNUFFY SMITH

HOW DO YE LIKE HOOTIN' HOLLER'S NEW PARKIN' METER, SNUFFY?

OFFHAND - I'D SAY IT WUZ A SCANDALOUS WASTE O' TAXPAYERS' MONEY, MAYOR BARLOW

SHUX - IT WONT COST 'EM A RED CENT - IT'S ALL MINE!!

HOW CIVIC-MINDFUL CAN YE GIT?!

GRANDMA

SEE GRANDMA WHAT WONDERFUL DEEP VOICE YOU'VE HAD TH' LAST FEW DAYS!

WHY DON'T YOU COME OVER AN' SING BASS WITH OUR QUARTET...

WHEN WE PERFORM AT TH' AMATEUR SHOW NEXT WEEK...

THAT IS, O' COURSE, IF YOU STILL HAV YOUR COLD THEN...

WHAT A FABULOUS GUY! HE TOWED THE TRUCK WITH OUR SIGN! 10 MILES!

WHEW... NOW WE'LL OPEN ON TIME...

SHORE HOPE YOU GENTLEMEN DON'T MIND ME HELPIN'!

GOOD LUCK, CHAMP!

THANK YOU FOR INSTALLING THOSE BEAUTIFUL ALLEYS, MR. BURGESS!

LOOK - HUMPHREYS' GONNA ROLL OUT TH' FIRST BALL!

COPE! I GOT THAT STRANGE FEELIN' AGAIN... I'M GOIN' INTO ONE OF MY MENTAL TELEPUTTY TRANCES!

12-5

MARY WORTH

"THE CLOWN" AND I WERE JUST HAVING A LITTLE ARGUMENT, SID! FORGET IT!

I WILL BECAUSE WE'VE GOT MORE IMPORTANT THINGS TO TALK ABOUT, BUDDY!

I JUST CLOSED A ONE-PICTURE DEAL WITH PINNACLE STUDIOS, KID! WE FLY TO THE WEST COAST TUESDAY!

WELL! AS DANTE SAID: "WHAT PROFITS IT TO FIGHT AGAINST THE FATES?"

LOOK, EGGHEAD! - IF YOU THINK THIS'LL PUT OUT THE FIRE WITH ME AND YOUR DREAM GIRL... JUST STAY TUNED IN!

12-5

REX MORGAN

HOW'RE YOU DOIN', BOSS?

OKAY, SAM! YOU BRING MY SON WITH YOU F?

NO, BOSS! THE KID'S HITTIN' HIS BOOKS HARD... SAID SOMETHIN' ABOUT STUDYIN' FOR EXAMS!

THAT'S A REAL KID! I GOT SAM! THEY COULDN'T KEEP ME IN SCHOOL AFTER THE SEVENTH GRADE!

YOU DID OKAY, BOSS!

NO, I DIDN'T, SAM! YOU GOTTA HAVE EDUCATION, TOR... OR AN ENGINEER... SOMETHIN' I CAN BE PROUD OF!

AND THAT KID'S GONNA BE SOMEBODY... MAYBE EVEN A LAWYER OR A DOCTOR... SOMETHIN' I CAN BE PROUD OF!

12-5

POGO

ALL RIGHT, PUT 'EM UP!

COULD WE POINT THE SUN AT THEM?

PUT UP YOUR HANDS, WISE GUY! OR I'LL PULL THE TRIGGER.

NOW, WHAT'S ALL THAT HOGWASH ABOUT NUMBERS? ONE AND ONE IS TWO... TWO AND TWO IS FOUR... WHAT'RE YOU UP TO?

ONE AN' ONE IS ELEVEN... TWO AN' TWO IS TWENTY... THAT'S WHAT WE GOT SCHOOLS FOR... WHAT ARE YOU GUY'S COMMUNIST?

12-5

KERRY DRAKE

OKAY, MINDY!... WE START OUT AS IF WE WERE GOING TO THE THEATER... BUT, AROUND THE CORNER, WE PARK AND WAIT FOR A SQUAD CAR!

...TO SWOOP DOWN AND CATCH OUR PROWLER, RED-HANDED!

RIGHT! YOU'RE BEGINNING TO THINK LIKE A REAL COP, DARLING!

BUT AS THEY DRIVE OFF TWO CRAFTY EYES ARE WATCHING FROM A CAR THAT FOLLOWS THEM... A BLOCK AWAY!

Legislators Split On Tax Prospects

Editor's Note: The next Legislature will be asked to raise millions in new funds with new or increased taxes. Many lawmakers feel that the state is spending too much already, some of their views are given in this story, another in a series looking forward to the 56th session.

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN — Many legislators, appalled at the prospect of having to pass a tax bill, are hoping for a miracle of economy in government at the next session. Others face the inevitable. They say slashing established state service is next to impossible. They say the session starting in January will be under pressure to add millions to existing appropriations.

All state fiscal agencies have agreed that there will be a tremendous deficit even if present spending is not increased by one nickel.

Sen. Henry Gonzalez, of San Antonio, failed in a big try for the governorship, replied to an Associated Press poll of lawmakers:

"The problem confronting the 56th Legislature is a continuing one but it is actually the accumulation of a decade and a half of unwillingness of state leaders and past legislatures to face the facts. Twentieth Century state government must evolve a realistic fiscal and tax structure."

Rep. Murray Watson Jr., of Mart called attention to a long-standing legislative practice: "Each district will be working for more money for state agencies in their districts."

Along the same line was this comment from Rep. Sam Bass Jr. of Freeport: "More and better services are being demanded by the various state agencies and their citizen support."

Rep. Bill Shaw of Forney said the people themselves voted for increased state services. They must recognize the magnitude of such spending in order fully to understand the Legislature's problem in trying to meet it, he commented.

Many among those replying called for a shakeup in the state's system of budgeting funds; others said if waste were eliminated there would be no need for more revenue; others specifically suggested where cuts should be made.

Here in essence are representative ideas from the unusually large number who responded.

Rep. Wade Spillman of McAllen: "Unquestionably the session's greatest concern will be seeking the least inequitable possible tax to continue present state services—with little if any increase."

Rep. Jamie Clement of Crockett, back in the House after a three-year hitch with the Marines: "If more revenue is required for essential, and I mean essential services, then we should look to industries or resources not presently included" for new revenue.

Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock: "We must either reduce services or raise huge sums. I would favor a curb on state services. The Highway Department, the comptroller's department and others should be greatly reduced. Plenty more deserve to be cut."

Sen. Hubert Hudson, Brownsville: "We need a re-examination of state budgetary practices and operation."

Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford: "I believe the taxpayers want expenses of operating the state reduced. They do not want more approve of deficit financing — look at our national debt. I do not believe the Legislature will vote for such."

Rep. B. H. Dewey Jr. of Bryan: "More money for higher education and public schools will be needed."

Rep. William Kilgartin of Houston: "We should economize all possible but I think it is folly to assume that we can cure all of our fiscal woes by saying all that's needed is to economize."

Rep. Frank McGregor of Waco said that anyone asking for new or additional appropriations would face a rocky road in the Legislature until present commitments are handled. "The pressure will be on for an economy-mindedness the likes of which we have not seen for 10 years. Existing services must justify themselves — some new requests may be better."

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin: "I look for this to be a rather frugal year insofar as new appropriations and expansion programs are concerned. He noted that 'great sums of money' are involved in some of the Hale-Aikin public school recommendations and said he thought it would be unrealistic to think the Legislature would be able this session to follow all the suggestions of the study commission."

Rep. Zeke Zbrank of Daisetta said he thought the Legislature should raise enough money to maintain the present level of state spending, including as much as is required for "normal growth and some essential new spending." Higher education, he said, must not suffer from any program of austerity.

Sen. Jep Fuller of Port Arthur noted that many citizens have recently pointed out to him the need of institutional help for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped. "As a rule I have not advocated any specific spending. It seems we have a dire need for this."

Red Candidate

PARIS (AP) — Georges Marrane, a former deputy and senator, is the Communist candidate for president of France. He may be Premier Charles de Gaulle's only opponent in the election Dec. 21.

Hope, a business leader who launched a second career at the age of 65, is the new president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

Hope was elected at the annual NAM convention Thursday night to succeed Milton C. Lightner, board chairman, the Singer Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.

In a statement of acceptance, Hope suggested NAM "could afford to change its name to the National Assn. for Manufacturers."

He declared, "We must be for and not against. We must be for government expenditures but on a reasonable basis; we must be for taxation but on an equitable basis; and we must be for labor relations but on an honest and constructive basis."

Hope said the present era should become an "age of reasonableness." Many problems could be solved, he said, if a "reasonable" attitude were shown by the Soviet Union, leaders of organized labor and the U.S. government.

Editor Says Reds Return To Texas Because Of Rulings

HOUSTON (AP)—Asst. Editor Everett Collier of the Houston Chronicle believes Communists are returning to Texas because of recent rulings by the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said yesterday in a radio commentary that the head of the Communist party in Texas now lives in Dallas. He did not name the man.

"After the Communists began leaving Texas (in 1953), the Supreme Court began knocking out anti-Communist laws," Collier said. "It took the teeth out of the federal Smith Act under which many Communists had been convicted."

"Official agencies know that the clan is gathering again. With the situation shaping up the way it is, I would not be surprised to see official action in Texas within the next six months against the Communists."

Collier said the Communists are underground in Houston and other Texas areas. He added that several known Communists from California were in Houston recently, apparently for organizational purposes.

Wrong Target, Gunman Apologizes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A stranger walked up to Guillermo Diaz Lopez as he left a neighborhood store, said: "Now I'm going to pay you for everything!" and started shooting.

Then the gunman realized he had the wrong target.

"Pardon me, I made a mistake," he said and ran off.

Diaz was in a serious condition.

Artist And His Art

Keith Ingermann, 29 and Indianapolis-born, takes a final look at one of the 80 paintings he sold during a one-man show in New York. It was Ingermann's second clean sweep in the two shows he has held in the United States.

Young Painter Again Sells Every Canvas

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—A young painter brought 80 pictures to New York for his first one-man show here in 37th Street gallery, and sold every single one of them.

It was his second one-man show in this country, and that first time he also sold every stitch of canvases.

The gallery said that in other exhibitions a quarter as large it had sold everything, and in small displays had sold enough to make a larger dollar total. But it had never seen paintings go so like hot cakes and thought this record could not be matched.

The successful artist is 29-year-old, Indianapolis-born Keith Ingermann, a personable fellow trying not to act too excited by his extraordinary good fortune.

He studied at Pratt Institute in this city, exhibited with numerous groups, had a show all his own in Japan, and was in service 2½ years.

Four years ago he made his first trip to Europe. His itinerary called for three days at Taormina, Sicily, but he was so delighted that he stayed four years. At his first American show in Palm Beach, Fla., his work was seen by Victor J. Hammer of the Hammer Galleries here, who signed him up for the benefit of New Yorkers.

He had a preview on a Monday, and a first public showing Tuesday; in the two days 69 paintings were sold. Eight days later a little red star was pasted on the last to indicate a purchaser had snapped it up. One family bought eight, and another, six. In the closing days, desperate would-be purchasers tried to buy from people who got there first.

Ingermann has sailed for Taormina again, this time with a pocketful of orders from latecomers.

The pictures ranged from note-paper size to two feet or more on a side, and from $100 to $600. The gallery took in $20,000, it reported.

The paintings are congenial, clearly outlined, half-primitive and half-modernist, simple and easy to understand. They are not cartoons, but they invite a quick reading for they tell a straightforward story and sometimes feature a bit of fantasy. Titles include "Woman in Window," "Boy with Umbrella," "Gossips," "Seated Woman," "Garden Chairs," "Red Pepper" and "Boy with Bird."

NAM Chief Urges An Age Of Reason

NEW YORK (AP)—Stanley C. Hope, a business leader who launched a second career at the age of 65, is the new president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

Hope was elected at the annual NAM convention Thursday night to succeed Milton C. Lightner, board chairman, the Singer Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.

In a statement of acceptance, Hope suggested NAM "could afford to change its name to the National Assn. for Manufacturers."

He declared, "We must be for and not against. We must be for government expenditures but on a reasonable basis; we must be for taxation but on an equitable basis; and we must be for labor relations but on an honest and constructive basis."

Hope said the present era should become an "age of reasonableness." Many problems could be solved, he said, if a "reasonable" attitude were shown by the Soviet Union, leaders of organized labor and the U.S. government.

The new NAM president retired as president of Esso Standard Oil Co. last July after spending 46 years with several affiliates of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. He immediately assumed the presidency of SoundScriber Corp., North Haven, Conn., manufacturers of dictating equipment.

He served notice at the time he would organize his business so that his work week would be three days for the balance of the year.

"By doing that, I will have more time to indulge in my many sports and hobbies," said Hope.

A sailing enthusiast, Hope is past chairman of the Eastern Connecticut Yacht Racing Assn. He helped organize the Mount Tremblant Ski Club in Canada and he occasionally hits in the 80s in golf. He is a native of Springfield, Mass.

Rudolph F. Bannon, president, Bridgeport Machines, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., was elected national vice president, and Lightner became board chairman.

Much of the final day of the convention was devoted to panel discussions on education problems.

Utah Frayed Nerves In Drinking Contest

By JOHN V. HURST
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — U.S. toppers waited, highballs ready, for the signal that would open a race to quaff the first legal drink. But the 21 dawdling Utahns who kept them waiting cherished a higher hope:

Utah must be the 36th and deciding state to repeal prohibition. Nerves were frayed and highballs flat before the toppers finally got the word — 25 years ago today — that Utah had made it.

It took planning to be 36th, the magic number meaning the required three-fourths of the states had ratified repeal. Utah's planning even included a play on numbers: Elect 21 delegates to okay the 21st Amendment.

Actually, only 20 delegates ratified it. The 21st had to leave early. Utah picked Tuesday, Dec. 5, 1933, as the date. Two other states Ohio and Pennsylvania, planned ratifying conventions that day. "They would be 34th and 35th, because of the difference in time zones."

A rumor said Ohio might wait to act until Utah did. Utah planners countered with a scheduled 7:30 p.m. voting session and hinted the slender roll call might last until midnight.

Would-be repeal revelers protested the delay in vain. Delegate Franklin Ritter, president of the Utah League for Prohibition Repeal, summed up Utah's case: "We are determined no other state shall take this glory away from Utah. I am sorry that our plans may upset the starting time of celebrations in Eastern centers."

Utah needn't have worried. Pennsylvania acted promptly. Ohio followed suit as Utah delegates sat through early session oratory.

Still the session droned on — a speech, committees, more speeches. Suddenly, an unscheduled recess was called and delegates held a caucus. There was a rumor that Maine, due to vote next day, proposed to turn the clock ahead 24 hours so it could be 36th.

The rumor proved false but effective. At 3:32 p.m., far ahead of schedule, Delegate S. R. Thurman of Salt Lake City shouted the final "aye." Prohibition was ended. Convention President R. L. Olson of Ogden later denied the Maine rumor spurred the speed-up. He said it resulted from delegates' desire "to be agreeable and to accommodate and please all concerned" — especially those chafing at the delay.

Who downed the first legal drink? The record isn't clear. Benjamin Decasseres, a "literary rebel and bon vivant" according to one dispatch, waited near a press teletype in New York's Waldorf-Astoria, drink in hand. The story said he "drank deeply" when the flash came, a milestone duly recorded by photographers.

But in Chicago an indignant Beverly West, "kid sister of the celebrated Mae, claimed she was 'couldn't have tossed off his drink any faster than I did. The repeal flash came and, bingo! Down went my drink'."

One certainty: No Utahn claimed the honor. The state's repeal allowed only the sale of beer containing 3.2 per cent alcohol or less.

It was another 18 months before Utah got hard liquor. State-run liquor stores still in business — opened by permission of the Legislature on June 1, 1935.

Builders Hear Loan Prediction

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas home builders heard a prediction yesterday that Congress soon will be asked to establish a central bank for handling mortgages.

Nels Severin, of San Diego, Calif., president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, said he was in favor of this measure as a means to even the flow of money into home construction.

Speaking at closing convention sessions of the Texas Assn. of Home Builders, Severin said the proposed agency would have authority to control interest rates and thus maintain mortgage money levels.

Among those conferring with Severin were Larry Blackmon of Mineral Wells, new president of the Texas association, and R. G. Hughes of Pampa, a former NAHB president.

Those elected to serve with Blackmon include Cecil Jennings of Lubbock, secretary; Chris Hubert of Severin, treasurer; and area vice presidents Dub Dennis of Wichita Falls, Les Prokop of Houston, Henry Annen of Corpus Christi and Bill Beck of Odessa.
