Unfilled Crib Marks Scene Of Rape-Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A tiny crib stood at the foot of the still bloody bed. Soft white blankets edged in satin were gently folded over its sides in anticipation of a birth.

But the birth will never come. The expectant mother, Mrs. Janice Ora Porter, 24, is dead, victim of a savage assault and a bullet in the brain.

Washburn's Last State Plea Denied

AUSTIN (AP)—Harry Washburn's last appeal in state courts was denied today by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Washburn has been convicted twice of the 1955 car-bomb slaying of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver of San Angelo. The first conviction which brought a life sentence was thrown out. The second conviction with a 99-year sentence has been approved by the Court of Criminal Appeals and today's action was the second time it had refused a motion for a rehearing.

Nose Cone Lands In Pacific Ocean

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Out in the vast Pacific lies a symbol of America's growing space age might—the nose cone of the first ballistic missile launched at this West Coast base.

Neither the Air Force nor the Navy will make any attempt to recover the cone, hurled 1,500 miles across the Pacific missile range Tuesday. Yet it deserves a place in some museum of scientific endeavor.

For the cone of the medium range Thor missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, marks America's first firing of a ballistic missile under combat conditions. It shows the Thor is moving from the development stage to the operational.

Another Thor was fired Tuesday night from Cape Canaveral, Fla., giving the United States its first double-barreled rocket shot from both coasts. The weapon appeared to perform perfectly. It was fired as part of the close-out phase of the Air Force IRBM research and development program.

Coya Awaits Action On Vote Complaint

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) today awaited a House committee's action on her plea that "justice be done" on her complaint that a malicious conspiracy caused her defeat for re-election.

She said the special committee's action on her bid for a full investigation would influence her decision whether to contest formally the election of her Republican opponent Odin Langen.

The committee, headed by Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.), meets again today in closed-door session. Mrs. Knutson told the committee she is convinced that a public "Coya come home" appeal by her husband Andy Knutson played a big part in her defeat. She said

Lighted Float In Christmas Parade

The Three Wise Men, following the star to Bethlehem, are featured in this scene in the religious Christmas parade last night. The lighted float was prepared by St. Paul's Lutheran Church and was one of 16 Biblical scenes portrayed by the procession. A crowd estimated at 10,000 by Police Chief C. L. Rogers jammed the downtown district and lined Main to 9th St. for a look at the procession

Italian Tailor Has Gift For President

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Italian tailor is in town with expensive gifts for President Eisenhower—a vicuna overcoat and a cashmere golfing jacket.

But, after learning how the word vicuna still causes government officials to wince, he hasn't tried to go near the White House to present them personally to the President.

Instead, Angelo Litrico of Rome said he would turn over his two hand-made creations to the Italian Embassy. Ambassador Manlio Brosio, he said, has assured him they will be delivered to the White House.

"I'm a tailor. It's not my fault that vicuna has suddenly become a bad word. It's a beautiful material—the very best."

He displayed the coat—a hand-sewn navy blue model—to a reporter in his hotel room.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek have shown no reluctance in accepting his gifts when he visited their countries, Litrico said.

"I would never visit a foreign country without giving a present to the boss. I give it out of my heart," he said.

Starved Man Had $10,101 On Body

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—A 90-year-old man who apparently died of starvation had $10,101 in cash on his body, officers disclosed.

Asst. County Atty. D. O. Cubbage said it appeared there had been no food for more than a week in the home of George W. Williams, 90. Williams was found dead Monday night.

The recluse, who once had been active in civic affairs at nearby Yale, lived alone in a scantily furnished house.

The White House kept a strict silence about Eisenhower's attitude toward the intended gifts. Associate press secretary Anne Wheaton said Litrico has "no appointment—none whatsoever."

The 30-year-old Litrico, operator of a fashionable shop in Rome, said he knows nothing about the furor created last summer by the disclosure that a vicuna overcoat was given to former presidential aide Sherman Adams by Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

"I'm not a politician," he said.

In Court

Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine enters Federal Court in Boston to answer one contempt charge with two other contempt accusations still pending. The textile tycoon and friend of Sherman Adams, former presidential aide, was ordered to show cause why he should not be cited for criminal and civil contempt of court for failure to produce records for tax probes of his companies.

Girl, Discovered With Boyfriend, Commits Suicide

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Rosa Galvan came home from work Tuesday night to find her stepdaughter and a boy friend in the Galvans' apartment.

After an argument over the unidentified youth, police said, the girl, Carmen Galvan, 14, went to a window and climbed halfway out. The stepmother dissuaded her from jumping.

The matter apparently settled, Mrs. Galvan left to do some shopping.

The girl ran weeping to the roof, followed by three persons she passed on the stairway.

On the roof of the lower East Side tenement, Carmen broke away from the neighbors and leaped over a rear parapet. She plunged five stories to her death.

Jobless Pay

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Employment Commission reported yesterday that a total of $996,889 was paid out in unemployment benefits during the past week, compared to $1,278,867 for the previous week. A total of 59,035 persons made claims for unemployment compensation compared to 58,495 for the previous week.

Rift Widens In GOP Leadership Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—A split in Republican ranks widened today over Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's candidacy for party floor leader in the new Senate.

The Illinois senator's assertion he is definitely a candidate and expects to win stiffened the attitude of senators rebelling against their Republican leadership.

The insurgents' spokesman, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, said in an interview: "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by making our fight for a forward-looking leadership. I think we have a good chance to win. If we are defeated, the party can look forward to further reversals in the 1960 elections."

Dirksen, Senate GOP whip in the last session, told reporters he expects to be elected floor leader at the Republican caucus Jan. 7.

He said he does not believe the other group could block his election. He is supported by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

The insurgent group has a hard core of 10 members, but claims support among the other 24 Republican senators in the coming Congress.

All of the insurgents rate themselves as faithful backers of President Eisenhower's foreign policies, and some call themselves liberals.

"I do not know on what grounds I am being opposed," Dirksen said. "I have gone down the line for key administration legislation, including foreign aid, reciprocal trade, defense reorganization, the U. S. Information Agency appropriations and other controversial measures."

"I have carried the flag for the President and the White House when the going was rough."

The opposition group has said it will announce at a Dec. 30 meeting its candidates for floor leader, whip, Bridges' policy committee post, and for chairman and secretary of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

Aiken said he would seek the post of floor leader himself only as a last resort. Some of his associates want him to make the fight.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California is the choice of most of them for whip.

Vote Rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union have rejected a federal mediator's proposal to vote again on an old publishers' contract offer.

The strike against nine major New York dailies began when the union members rejected the same offer last Dec. 9.

Beethoven Fans Picket Bach Concert

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—It was Beethoven's birthday, but it was also the Christmas season. And that's where the trouble started.

The University of North Carolina's Choral Club scheduled Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" Tuesday night. Some music department students took offense, hoisted placards and began picketing the performance.

Said the signs, "UNC Music Dept. is Unfair to Beethoven." "Go Home, Bach, Go Home." "Three Cheers for Beethoven."

Tar Nearly Faints When Quads Born

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Delano Currington, 30, a Navy machinist mate, expected multiple offspring, but...

"I like to faint when they told me it was four."

The quadruplets were born Tuesday to his wife Mae, 22.

They already had three sons and a daughter ranging from 7 years to 20 months.

Her quads were two boys weighing 4 pounds, 6 ounces each; another boy 4-11; and a daughter, 2-11. All were reported in excellent condition.

Multiple births are nothing new to Mrs. Currington. She has 13 brothers and 12 sisters.

Hotel Wrecked

Smoldering wreckage is all that remains of the Mountaineer Hotel at Allentown, Pa., which was destroyed by an explosion and fire. Six persons lost their lives and a score were injured.

Panic Brings Death To 82 Customers

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Fire raged through a crowded department store in Bogota Tuesday night, killing 82 persons and injuring 50, according to the official count.

Most of the victims were women. Almost all were suffocated or trampled in the panic which raged through the crowds of Christmas shoppers.

The fire raged for two hours before being brought under control.

Most of the deaths occurred on a stairway which part of the crowd took in the belief they had found a way out. Instead they were trapped on a mezzanine.

A 16-year-old girl was found alive beneath a mass of bodies on the stairway. Her condition was critical.

Warden Helps Loyal Convict

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—Two weeks ago, Warden Frank Eymann led 25 lawmen in putting down a riot at the Arizona State Prison.

Now he is seeking a commutation of sentence for a convicted murderer who stood by him during the insurrection.

Eymann told this story to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles:

When the riot started Dec. 4, Eymann entered the prison yard in the midst of wild shouting convicts. Someone yelled, "Kill the warden."

Then Otis Taylor, 47, a Negro serving a life term for murder, stepped out of the pack and stood beside the warden. Taylor warned the convicts: "This is a good warden. You'll have to kill me first before you kill the warden."

Then Taylor and the warden, side by side, walked unharmed through the prison yard.

"When I needed a good man," Eymann told the board, "he stood beside me. I recommend commutation."

The board took the request under advisement.

Fair Weather Prevails In Texas

By The Associated Press

Fair weather continued to prevail over Texas Wednesday with the forecast calling for mild days and cool nights.

Freezing weather was reported again in the Panhandle and in Central and West Texas early Wednesday as minimum temperatures ranged from 29 at Dalhart to 47 at Galveston.

Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley reported a pre-dawn reading of 41 degrees. Heavy frost and sub-freezing weather hit that area early Tuesday morning wiping out a large portion of the vegetable and grain crops.

The cold wave that hit Texas over the weekend smashed deep into Mexico Tuesday, causing heavy crop damage.

No rain was reported in Texas and none was in the view of the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

The usual pattern for afternoon temperatures was reversed Tuesday when Dalhart, with 68 degrees, was for a while the warmest spot in the state, and Galveston, on the Gulf Coast, was the coolest with 45.

First Interstate Road Marker Up

AUSTIN (AP)—The state highway engineer announced yesterday that the first official interstate highway marker had been erected between Greenville and Rockwall on what is now known as U.S. 69.

The route marker—in brilliant red, white and blue—designated the 33-mile strip from now on as Interstate 30.

By 1970, the predicted time of completion of the entire nationwide system, Texas will have more than 3,000 miles of these superhighways, State Highway Engineer D. G. Greer said.

Scene Of Lurid Bluebeard Trial Out Of Business

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—Moore's Opera House, scene of the lurid "West Virginia Bluebeard" trial 27 years ago, has gone out of business.

The 1,244-seat theater opened in 1918. It offered stage productions and later movies. The Dolly Sisters, Alice Brady and Sir Harry Lauder were only a few of the big names that played Moore's.

And the "West Virginia Bluebeard."

He was a 42-year-old ex-vacuum cleaner salesman, Harry F. Powers, who lived in the Clarksburg suburb of Quiet Dell.

Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, a Park Ridge, Ill., widow and her three children disappeared in the summer of 1931. The trail led to Quiet Dell and the home of Powers, who had proposed marriage in a romantic correspondence with Mrs. Eicher.

Police found a trap door in Powers' garage. It opened into a basement divided into four chambers, each containing a gas jet. Digging into a drain sewer beneath the basement, police found the burlap-wrapped bodies of Mrs. Eicher and her three children.

Reopening a sewer excavation near the garage, police discovered a fifth body. It turned out to be that of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, 50, a Northboro, Mass., divorcee. A brother-in-law said she had left home with Powers and planned to marry him. She had withdrawn her savings from a bank.

In Powers' effects, police found bundles of letters representing romantic correspondence with scores of women.

Powers was indicted for all five murders and was tried for that of Mrs. Lemke.

Harrison County was without a courtroom. The old courthouse had been torn down to make way for a new one. The county rented Moore's Opera House for the trial. It began Dec. 7, 1931.

Judge, jury, defendant and lawyers were arrayed on the stage. In the orchestra pit were the court stenographer and part of the press corps.

Mrs. Ralph Douds, who was manager of Moore's, recalls: "Judge John Southern presided. He did everything with all the dignity of a courtroom. The crowd was orderly. Pretty soon you forgot it was a theater. You felt it was a courtroom."

After a four-day trial, Powers was convicted of first-degree murder. He was hanged March 19, 1932.

He spent his last hours putting the finishing touches on a song he was writing, "I'll Wait For You, Dear Heart."

President Alberto Lleras Camargo declared national mourning. The government announced it would pay for the funerals.

Opposite Rulings On Nativity Scenes

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—The question of whether a Nativity scene should be displayed on public school property has been answered differently for two suburban communities.

State Supreme Court Justice Elbert T. Gallagher ruled Tuesday that the School Board in Ossining, N. Y., could display again a community-sponsored creche on the lawn of a junior-senior high school.

In Levittown, N. Y., the School Board voted 5-1 to uphold a decision by the administration of Wisdom Lane School not to display a Nativity scene inside the school.

A group of Ossining citizens who had protested the creche display there announced they would appeal Gallagher's ruling.

Some 28 members of Protestant and Jewish faiths had argued that the religious motif of the Nativity scene violated traditional separation of church and state and would have a harmful effect on non-Christian pupils.

The case went to trial last September. Gallagher, noting the Nativity scene is on display during the Christmas holidays when school is not in session, said: "... The court is of the opinion that the influence, if any, of religious symbolism is inescapable during the Christmas season. It would be difficult to say that, as a practical matter, any greater influence exists by virtue of the fact that the symbol is permitted on public, as well as private property."

In New York City, the American Jewish Congress, which was not among the complainants, said it would file a friend of the court brief in support of the appeal.

Isaac Toubin, AJC executive director, said: "The basic question at issue is whether a scene depicting the birth of Jesus—a symbol of one religion—may be placed on public property that belongs to people of all religions. Implicit are basic questions affecting religious freedom and separation of church and state as guaranteed by the Constitution."

In the Levittown case, a school board member, Salvatore Gangi, asked the board to reverse the Wisdom Lane School's decision not to display the Nativity inside the school as it had done last year and in previous years.

Gangi suggested that Christmas be observed in the schools as an historical event. He added that he did not advocate teaching sectarianism or dogma in public schools.

This School Fire Ended Happily

CHICAGO (AP)—About 600 pupils in a grade school in suburban Kenilworth fled to safety Tuesday when fire broke out in the basement of the two-story building.

Custodian Willie Love sounded the school alarm when he saw smoke. The blaze was extinguished quickly by automatic sprinklers.

Fire Chief Rod Porter of suburban Winnetka said the fire had started from a cigarette on a wooden ledge in a closet. He said damage to the school was negligible.

One Driver Hospitalized After Three-Car Collision

An accident at 14th and Main Tuesday afternoon sent Mrs. Ida Whetsel, 1514 E. 17th, to Cowper Hospital with minor injuries. Three cars were involved in the mishap, and one came within an inch of crashing into the Church of Christ.

Mrs. Whetsel was treated for cuts and bruises at the hospital after being rushed there by a River ambulance. No fractures were found at the time. No one else was injured.

Mrs. Whetsel was driving a 1955 Studebaker and was traveling east on 14th at the time of the collision. Her car was hit on the right front door by a 1954 Buick driven by Edith Stuteville, 202 Runnels, and which was traveling north on Main.

The Studebaker was thrown into a 1953 Buick stopped at the intersection and occupied by Windell Eggleston, Vealmore Rt. Eggleston was going west on 14th but had stopped at the corner to let other cars pass, he said.

Mrs. Whetsel was thrown out of her car after being hit, and her driverless vehicle, after hitting the Eggleston car, rolled down the hill, jumped the curb on the southeast side and was stopped by a heavy shrub only inches before hitting the church building.

Eggleston's vehicle was only slightly damaged but the damage to the other two cars was extensive.

In other accidents Tuesday, Mrs. J. H. Eastham, 1015 Nolan, and Leroy Mullin, 1516 Tucson, collided at 2nd and Runnels. At 20th and Gregg, cars driven by Douglas Green, 1610 Settles, and Evelyn Farris, 2000 N. Monticello, were in collision.

Latest door decorations were entered by Bruce Frazier, Cedar Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bell, 3215 Auburn; and Mrs. Tommy Hubbard, 610 Herbert.

Combination entries have been listed by Mrs. Clyde Angel, 706 Hillside, door and window; Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover, yard and window; Mrs. P. D. O'Brien, 101 Lincoln, yard and window; Mrs. W. E. McIntosh, 1107 E. 8th, yard and window; Mrs. F. C. Gambill, 1011 Howell, yard, window and door; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Davis, 1611 Harding, door and window; Mrs. Ernest Lahr, 2205 Cornell, yard and window; Capt. and Mrs. Keith Matson, 1212 E. 15th, yard, door and window; and Mrs. Jim King, 600 Elgin, door and window.

Two Fires Occur On Railroad Land

Two of the last three calls made by the fire department have involved T&P property.

One of the fires came early today and one occurred on Tuesday. This morning, firemen from the main station were dispatched to a fire developed on T&P property. No damage resulted from the fire, and firemen were unable to find a cause for the blaze.

Tuesday, grass burning on T&P right of way on the east part of town brought firemen from the North Side sub station. Again no damage resulted.

Also Tuesday, firemen from the main station went to Baron's Apparel, 219 Main, where an electrical transformer caught fire. Nothing else was damaged.

Verdict Reached In Damages Suit

A district court jury Tuesday returned a verdict holding Ollie McDaniel entitled to $900 damages as result of a collision between two cars but, in the opinion of court attaches, nullified this part of its verdict by also ruling that McDaniel was guilty of contributory negligence in the accident.

The verdict was the climax to a two-day trial of a damage suit brought by McDaniel against Andres Gamboa for $12,000. Judge Charlie Sullivan has not as yet entered his formal judgment in the case.

DE, VIC Students Stage Yule Party

Distributive Education and Vocational Industrial Clubs held a joint Christmas party and dance in the high school cafeteria last night.

Members brought toys for distribution to needy children. Louis Maneely and Frank Farar, coordinators of the two programs, recited Christmas poems. About 40 persons attended.

Gilbert Hears Sentence Read In Court Today

Ralph Gilbert, 21, found guilty last Friday of murder and his punishment fixed at life in prison, heard himself formally sentenced this morning.

The young ranchhand, who shot George Clayton Stewart, 87-year-old rancher, to death last July 17 in a cattle stealing escapade, told Judge Charlie Sullivan he desired to waive the three days waiting interval between conviction and sentence. He asked that the court sentence him at once.

As imperturbable as he had been throughout the five-day trial, Gilbert listened quietly as the court assessed his punishment at life in the state prison.

Before the court convened, Gilbert was asked if he was ready to be sentenced.

"Yes," he replied, "I guess I might as well get this over with now."

Gilbert was well pleased with the verdict. The state had made a vigorous drive to have the young San Angeloan sentenced to death for his crime. R. H. Weaver, county judge, and Harvey Hooser Jr., court-appointed defense attorneys, were present when their client was sentenced.

Miller Harris, sheriff, said that he plans to take Gilbert to the Huntsville prison this weekend. He plans to combine the trip in such a way to take Moises Vierra, to be committed to the Rusk Mental Hospital, and Earl D. Green, whose three-year suspended sentence was recently revoked, in one trip.

Good Shows Of Canyon Oil Found In Big Spring Field

The Phillips No. 1-B Roxie project, in the Big Spring (Fusselman) field of Howard County encountered good shows of oil in the Canyon on a test Tuesday.

The venture, about eight miles northeast of Big Spring, tried the reef at 8,700 feet and it surfaced gas in four minutes and oil in 28. During 17 minutes while flowing to pits, it made an estimated eight barrels of 41-degree oil and estimated gas volume of 572,000 cubic feet per day.

In Borden County, Lone Star staked the No. 1-A T. J. Good in the Clara Good field in the Southwest corner of the county as a Fusselman try.

Borden

Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson drilled in lime and shale at 8,847 feet today. The site is C SW SW, 28-31-4n, T&P Survey, 10 miles northwest of Gail.

Midwest No. 1 Milliken, C SE NE, 47-97, H&C Survey, prepared to swab Pennsylvania perforations 8,082-90 feet today. The discovery possibility is 18 miles northeast of Gail.

Lone Star No. 1-A Good is staked 467 feet from north and west lines, 10-32-3n, T&P Survey, as a 10,000-foot project. It is in the Clara Good field and an offset to the discovery.

Shell No. 1-A Williams prepared to test today after acidizing Pennsylvania perforations 7,868-76 feet with 250 gallons. The site is in the Lucy field, 1,060 feet from north and 2,130 feet from west lines, 259-97, H&C Survey.

Plymouth No. 1 Johnson penetrated to 8,973 feet today. Location of the re-entered wildcat is C SE SE, 44-22-5n, T&P Survey.

Eisner No. 1 Lanham, in the Fluvanna pool, pumped 136 barrels of 35.9-degree oil without a trace of water on 24-hour final test. The well is 660 feet from south and 1,900 feet from west lines, 536-97, H&C Survey. Total depth is 8,256 feet, with top of the pay zone 8,200 feet. Perforations extend from 8,200-10 feet.

Dawson

Forest No. 1 Harris, 13 miles southwest of Lamesa, drilled at 8,973 feet in lime and shale. The site is 3,400 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines, League 267, Moore CSL Survey.

Garza

Shell No. 1-G Slaughter prepared to swab today after operator acid-itized perforations 8,330-46 feet. The wildcat is C NE NE, Section 3, Abstract 1162.

Kerr-McGee No. 1-A Slaughter penetrated to 6,801 feet in lime and shale. The wildcat site is 3,320 feet from south and 540 feet from east lines, Section 4, Thompson Survey.

Sinclair No. 1 Thomas, C SE NW, 1116, TTRR Survey, made hole in lime at 8,420 feet. It is seven miles northeast of Southland.

Humble No. 3 Slaughter wildcat deepened to 6,519 feet in lime and chert. Site is C SE NW, 12-1, Hays Survey.

The Continental No. 9 Citizens Bank of Lubbock has been completed for 28 barrels of 37.8-degree oil in 24 hours, along with 62 per cent water. The well is in the East Huntley (San Andres) field 990 feet from north and 2,970 feet from east lines, 1205, H&OB Survey. The hole is bottomed at 3,400 feet but it is plugged back to 3,370 feet. Production is reached at 3,185, and perforations extend from 3,319-26 feet.

In the Northwest Justiceburg (Glorieta) field, McCrary & Franklin located the No. 2-130-C McCrary. It is 2,240 feet from north and 925 feet from east lines, 130-5, H&GN Survey, 14 miles east of Post. Drilling depth is 2,800 feet.

Joint Office On Valuations Is Proposed

Representatives of the three agencies which participated in the recent tax revaluation survey are ready to recommend a continuing values program.

At a meeting of the representatives from the county, city and the Big Spring Independent School District boards here Tuesday, the principle of an office to keep current all value records was approved.

The group also agreed to recommend that such an office be housed in one of the local tax collecting agencies. It was understood the county could and would furnish such space.

Under terms of the recommendation, it was agreed that representatives would ask their boards to share in the expense of setting up, maintaining and operating a joint office. The group interviewed one applicant with valuation experience and made a proposition. It included the proposal will be included in the recommendation to the boards.

Another joint meeting of local agencies is set for 5 p.m. Friday at the City Hall when the master planning proposal will be given further study.

$35,900 Asked In Suit For Damages

M. H. Barnes is suing Charlotte Marstrand for $35,900 damages as result of a car accident on a Big Spring street.

The suit was filed in 118th District Court today. The petition alleges that on Sept. 3, Mrs. Ester Barnes, 34, wife of the plaintiff, was driving her car at Stadium St. and Circle Drive when the car was involved in a collision with one operated by the defendant.

As result of this collision, the plaintiff says, Mrs. Barnes sustained serious injuries. He asks $35,000 damages plus $900 for medical bills.

Urgency Dominates New Missile Base

Only a few years ago, there was nothing on the site which now is being built into a free world defense bastion, 150 miles northwest of Los Angeles. One of those who saw it before, and now is here under different circumstances, is Warrant Officer James Callan, originally of Van Nuys, Calif. He was one of 16,000 men in the California National Guard's 40th Infantry Division who shortly before Pearl Harbor were moved briefly to the area for beach maneuvers. "This was just hills then," he says. "Hills and beaches and nothing else. There wasn't a building that I recall."

Gas Ruled Cause Of Trucker Deaths

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths of two Arkansas truck drivers in a truck stop bunkhouse here Dec. 7. The verdict said the source of the gas was not known. State officials have said that the gas apparently came from a liquefied gas heater. Tuesday's inquest concerned only the deaths of John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern, both employees of the D. W. Hoskins Co. of Malvern. The jury wasn't asked to consider the death of Louis Lee Warden, 24, Little Rock, who died in the bunkhouse under similar circumstances Dec. 5. Warden also was a driver for the Hoskins company. The Arkansas state medical examiner has said he too died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Tragedy Lies In Wake Of Big Brush Fire

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—Tragedy and sorrow lie today in the wake of a four-day brush fire that has flared over more than 50,000 acres of Southern California hills and canyons and is still out of control on nearly half its 75-mile perimeter. While more than 2,000 men fight the stubborn flames, residents pick their way over the blackened earth to the ruins of their homes and summer cabins. Eighteen structures have been destroyed. More than 200 are still in peril. In picturesque San Juan Canyon, scenic beauty is turned to rubble and ashes. The canyon people who have returned share the common sadness of loss.

Driven out by the fire, Joe came back to the ruins of his cabin the black skeleton of the oak and the charred table beneath it. "I don't know what to do," he said. "I feel like crying." He reached into the ashes and picked up half of a figurine. "St. Anthony," he said. "My wife's patron saint." He sat down beside a blackened metal box, once his refrigerator. He cried.

There is Henry Emberg, who evacuated his home on the sheriff's orders and returned hopefully after the fire had passed. "There was nothing left," he said in shocked disbelief. John and Romelia Lampo trudged through the charred remains of their cabin. "We had a nice cabin," said Romelia. "All of the cabins here in the San Juan cost $8,000 or more to build and furnish. Mostly old people lived in them."

"Rebuild? No," said John. "It takes money for that and ours is gone." "I wonder what the little animals will do for a drink?" Romelia asked. "We had three little foxes—Limpy, Eater and Bobtail — and we used to feed them every day."

"Yes," added John. "Every day at half past four exactly." High winds and low humidity have made the fire fighters' job a tough one. They don't expect to have even tentative control over the flames before Thursday. The fire is believed to have been started by a tracer bullet ripping into the dry brush, either from a hunter's rifle or a military plane.

Tradition Ends

HAWLEY, Mass. (AP)—For the first time in more than a half century the people of Hawley will elect a town clerk other than F. Deane Carter next year. Carter says he will not run for re-election next year. He had been elected to 52 consecutive one-year terms as town clerk.

Envoys Informed Of Mao's Ouster

TOKYO (AP)—The leaders of Communist China now face the big and delicate job of telling their people that Mao Tze-tung is stepping down from the nation's presidency in January.

Foreign diplomats in Peiping were told Tuesday. No successor has been announced. Red officials emphasized that Mao will continue to head the Chinese Communist party. Few foreigners expected any change in Red China's basic policies.

In telling Red China's more than 600 million persons, the leaders have to avoid creating even the slightest implication that Mao was forced out because of any errors. The 65-year-old leader of the Chinese Communist revolution has been pictured as the all-knowing guide and counselor who makes no mistakes. Much of the tightly regimented structure of Red China has been built around this picture. Any clouding of the picture could cause cracks in the Communist control system. This would be especially true if there were any hint the change involved controversy over the new commune system, which is smashing revered family traditions to force people into work camps.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in telling the diplomats of the change, admitted the Chinese people would be disturbed by the news. Chen reportedly said the decision would be announced in a way to banish all fear and apprehension. Indications are that this will be done by playing up the traditional Chinese reverence for the scholar. The people apparently will be told that Mao is relinquishing one post to devote more time to study and writing.

Senator Sees Man In Space

NAGS HEAD, N.C. (AP)—This 55th anniversary of powered flight brought a prediction today that the United States will send a pilot aircraft into the fringes of space within a year. Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) linked the prediction with praise for Orville and Wilbur Wright, who made the first successful flight in a powered aircraft in 1903.

Monroney's speech was prepared for a luncheon marking the anniversary of the event, which took place at Kitty Hawk, near here. "With the same courage and vision as the Wright brothers," Monroney said, "modern pioneers will strike through the chains that hold man to the earth's atmosphere just as Orville and Wilbur Wright broke the chains which held us to the ground back in 1903."

Tracing the progress of aviation since then, Monroney said: "This year we will put a man into outer space, some 100 miles above the earth, in a man-piloted aircraft. The X15 will be flying before the next Wright Day is observed. . . . The Air Force's X15 space research plane is expected to start test flights soon."

Runaway Minister Asks For Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Kansas minister-turned-gambling shill is divorcing his wife of 25 years. The Rev. Maurice Dale Tullock, 50, charged his wife Nellie Mae with extreme mental cruelty. Tullock disappeared Sept. 29 from Hutchinson, Kan., and was located last month working as a shill in a downtown casino. A shill gambles with house chips to make the place appear busy.

Wives Become Critical Item For Executives

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A bright young executive recently signed a five-year contract, at a large salary, to become vice president in charge of sales for an old and well established firm located in a small Midwestern community.

The young executive, however, did not give up his New York apartment nor did he move his attractive wife and two children to a new home close to his job. Instead, he chose to commute back to New York for weekends with his family, and set up bachelor quarters near his office in which he lived the other five days of the week.

"This proved he was really bright," remarked the head of the executive recruitment firm which had placed him with the company. "He liked the job, he liked the money, but he had met the top officials of the firm and their wives—and he realized that the presence of his own wife in the community would mean nothing but trouble for him."

Mrs. Executive, however, neither ate with her knife nor turned abusive on her third martini. She was, in fact, attractive, extremely chic, well-read, a charming hostess and considered very witty.

"The social life of the company officials and their wives was as carefully organized as that of an Army post," continued the placement man. "The president and his top executives were all self-made men who had married young. Their wives were older, comfortable—and not the least bit sophisticated and smart. They would have loathed—and been frightened by—our man's wife. They wouldn't have tried to compete with her, but they could have and would have made things so difficult with their husbands that her husband wouldn't have lasted a year in the job.

His arrangement is working out beautifully. During the week, he keeps up his social end—and everybody loves having an extra man for dinners. He is doing a splendid job and he apparently is reconciled to weekly plane trips."

The bright young executive actually pulled a reverse switch on what is gradually becoming standard operating procedure in employment offices. In many, if not most, of the higher echelons of hiring, the little woman is getting almost as close a scrutiny as her husband before a firm job offer comes through.

SOMETIMES IT'S OBVIOUS

Because more and more business men think of themselves in family terms, it is often no longer enough that John Jones, candidate for sales manager, is ideally equipped for the job. A yardstick—usually quietly but sometimes obviously—is more and more frequently being used to measure Mrs. Jones as the prospective sales manager's wife. Is she a good hostess? How is her English? Are her clothes in good taste? What kind of a home does she run? Is she a nag, a hypochondriac? Is she catty, a gossip, a potential trouble-maker?

In the nation's business community, where today's trend is toward bigger and bigger organizations, employers often are enlisting the help of psychologists and psychological tests to cue them on a man's abilities and potentials. No longer is it enough for a position-seeker to turn up for an interview with an employer dressed in his best blue serge suit and white shirt. Today he is likely to sit down to a long test which is designed to reveal whether he is happy, adjusted, stable and would fit into a company pattern. And because a man's private life and his home life are increasingly considered to be part of his business life, his wife is often required to submit to some proings, too.

more thunder came from the opponents of testing techniques.

NEW HAZARD

"You could destroy a marriage with a test like that," remarked the head of one big firm of management consultants. "If a man thought he was in line for a good job and never heard anything more about it after his wife took a test, both the man and his wife might well believe that he lost his big chance because of her. And if she were shy, or insecure, or even normally sensitive, this could have dreadful results in a marriage."

"You don't need psychological tests to learn about people," said another man who specializes in executive man-hunts for large corporations. "If you know what to look for, you can find out just about anything you want to know about a man and his wife by spending a few hours with them—including some at their home."

With or without psychological tests, however, employment specialists feel that the wife and the family of a candidate should be given a once-over before a firm offer of a job is made.

"But this is very tricky stuff," remarked a personnel man. "Let's say the wife turns out to be spoiled, selfish and luxury-loving instead of serene, helpful and selfless. Does this mean her husband won't turn out to be the best man for the company? I'd hate to have to estimate the number of men who were forced to become successful because their wives demanded mink coats, bigger houses, better schools, more money to lavish on personal whims. Who really can say, on the basis of some psychological slide-rule, what kind of a woman a man needs to make him a good employee or even a good executive?"

Judge Rules Out Fish Panel Order

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts decided yesterday that the State Game and Fish Commission could not close Galveston Bay to commercial fishing with nets without a public hearing.

Betts' decision ended a two-day hearing over a suit brought against the commission by Richard and George Auzston of Galveston, who claimed the order would take away their only means of making a living. The Auzstons' attorneys said the commission had no authority to issue the Nov. 17 order without giving commercial fishermen a chance to present their defense.

Attorneys for the commission, and a group of sportsmen's organizations, who joined in the defense, contended the commission had the right to issue an emergency conservation order without a special hearing.

"The commission can still enforce the game and fish laws without notice and a hearing," Betts said, "but if they propose to issue an order having the effect of changing the law, then they must go through the due process of notice and hearing. The Legislature cannot, per se, delegate a purely legislative function to an administrative agency."

The Auzston brothers claimed in their suit that they represented all commercial fishermen in the bay area. They were joined in the suit by the Texas Fisherman's Assn., an organization of commercial fishermen.

defense were the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT), the Gulf Coast Rod, Reel and Gun Club, the Beaumont Boat Club, the Sabine-Neches Sportsmen's Club, the Houston Sportsmen's Club and the Bayshore Rod, Reel and Gun Club.

Triangle Leaves 1 Shot, 1 In Jail

FORT WORTH (AP)—A quarrel over a teenage romance burst into violence last night, putting one youth in a hospital and another in city jail.

William Goodner, 18, was in a serious condition, shot in the abdomen and both arms.

Robert Harwell, 19, was questioned at the city jail. Harwell admitted to detectives he shot Goodner with a snub-nose .22 caliber pistol. He claimed self-defense.

The dispute centered around diminutive, blonde Sylvia Oliver, 18.

Sylvia told the Star-Telegram she was once engaged to Harwell, but was planning to marry Goodner Saturday.

Harwell said he had gone with Sylvia about three years and had become engaged. Then she gave him his ring back in April. However, they were reunited and became secretly engaged.

Sylvia, her white blouse spattered with her fiancé's blood, admitted breaking up with Harwell in April, but said nothing about a recent, secret engagement.

B58 Crash Kills Pilot

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—One of the nation's secrecy-wrapped supersonic B58 jet bombers crashed Tuesday, killing the pilot and injuring the other two crewmen.

The four-engine bomber, which can travel 1,000 to 1,500 miles an hour, fell about 35 miles southeast of here. It was the first of its type to crash.

The pilot, Maj. Richard D. Smith, 40, Columbus, Ohio, was killed while bailing out. Lt. Col. George A. Gradel, 37, Philadelphia, Pa., the navigator, and Capt. Daniel J. Holland, 38, Shelbyville, Ill., the defense systems operator, were hurt as they parachuted. They were flown to a hospital at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M.

The three crewmen were stationed at Carswell Air Force Base Fort Worth, from which they took off to test navigation equipment.

Presumably the delta-wing bomber was traveling faster than the speed of sound when the three crewmen bailed out. The tremendous force of the wind has a wrenching, tearing effect on a human body at that speed.

DEAR ABBY

YOU'RE PAID UP

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Not wishing to reveal my identity, let's just say I am a man whose business takes me into the homes of my clients. While on a business call (to present the bill) a very attractive woman practically "threw herself" at me. Being human, I "caught" her. When I presented my bill for what she owed me, (labor and materials) she tore it into little pieces. It amounted to $400. I took it to my lawyer and he advised me to forget the bill, the woman, and the incident. Should I? "HOMO SAPIEN"

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "LUCILLE," the woman who is taking away our Daddy.

"Yes, Lucille, what about us kids? We were happy before you came along. Why don't you find your own man instead of our Mommy's man? Don't you know about the Ten Commandments? I go to Sunday School and learn about Jesus and Mommy says when it rains Jesus is crying because someone was bad. It rained here all day Saturday. Jesus was crying because you were bad and took our Daddy away. Please go away and leave our Daddy alone. Please put this in your paper, Miss Abby, and I wish you a Merry Christmas.

THIRD-GRADER

DEAR ABBY: My husband's second cousin, age 65, is going to marry a man, age 67, in January. Her husband and his wife passed away last summer. She is going to be married in a white dress and wedding veil. She asked my husband to give her away. I refuse to attend the wedding and see them make fools of themselves. Am I wrong? Shouldn't the preacher talk them into having a quiet wedding? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: The preacher will probably prevail upon them to dispense with the gown and veil type wedding. If they insist, and your husband "gives the bride away" . . . don't be conspicuous by your absence.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm wrong, but with my family the children seem to run everything. At an adult party, the children are the center of attraction. When I visit any one of my sisters or brothers, their children have to be right in the middle of everything we say or do. I have one boy, 4 years old. When anyone comes to see me, he says "hello" and then goes into his bedroom or outside to play. Am I right? Or do children belong in their mother's laps and in every adult conversation until they reach the age of 16?

ROSE

DEAR ROSE: If you are wrong, then that makes two of us.

DEAR ABBY: We are two young wives whose husbands work for the same company and they both tell us the same tales. They get off work at 4:30 p.m. and don't get home until 6 p.m. They say they are playing PING-PONG. Don't you think this is a very childish game for two grown men to be playing?

DEAR "WIDOWS": Don't complain. There are worse games.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Daniel Forecasts Big New Tax Bite

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas taxpayers will have to be branded with a permanent new tax of at least 60 to 65 million dollars a year to finance state government beginning in 1960, Gov. Price Daniel said yesterday.

In addition a single shot bill, either a temporary tax or a transfer from a special fund, will be needed to clear up what the state comptroller has estimated will be a 55 million dollar deficit by the end of the current fiscal year, Aug. 31.

"We have had no tax bill in four years. With the increased cost of government and the decrease in oil production, it is significant that we have been able to go this long without a tax bill," Daniel told newsmen at a press conference.

He repeated his earlier statements that Texas could raise sufficient funds by lifting current taxes to the levels used in neighboring states or imposing taxes already in operation there. This can be done without a sales tax or income tax and will still leave Texas "in a competitive position."

He said he would present a tax program to the Legislature after receiving the comptroller's official estimate of the state's financial woes just before the Legislature meets. He said the tax problem "is not going to be as difficult as some people think" and the governor said he felt it could be solved in the regular session. His budget, which called for about a 10 per cent increase over the 1958-59 period, did not include any of the Hale-Aikin School Study Committee recommendations, the state welfare payments under the recent constitutional amendment paying medical expenses for the old aged, or any increase for state employees. The Texas Employment Commission has completed a job classification study of the 30,000 state workers and will make its report to the Legislature. Daniel estimated it would cost about two million dollars a year to raise the state employees salaries to the level of private business.

"The best we can do on the Hale-Aikin report is to adopt the standards the Legislature is willing to do. We will have to finance them whenever we can do it. I don't know if we can begin much of the program this biennium or not," he said.

The Hale-Aikin committee has recommended a longer school year with $600 a year increases for teachers. The over-all program would drain another 80 millions a year from the general revenue fund.

While the job placement study holds the key to salaries for the state employees, the top department and college heads were recommended for sizeable increases. Daniel said a "minimum of essential improvements" above present operating levels would include: $455,000 increase for the biennium to boost the adult parole system; $646,000 to meet increased costs for maintaining the state judicial and office buildings now under construction; $1,044,000 for a new building for part of the State Health Department; $5,850,000 biennium increase to increase prison guard salaries, add more guards and build new additions; $1,657,000 increase for the State Board of Water Engineers, including $400,000 for topographic mapping.

An increase of $918,000 to the comptroller to collect more due taxes; $2,479,000 from special funds to add 50 new state highway patrolmen each of the next two years; about one million dollars from special funds to strengthen the insurance regulation program; $1,151,000 increase in expansion of bed space in state hospitals.

A total of $4,738,000 increase to set up a juvenile parole system, including $2,032,000 for a new school for delinquent boys and $775,000 for a home for dependent

Negro children; $3,419,000 for additional teachers in state colleges; and an average annual increase of $650 for each member of a state university or college faculty for the second year of the biennium.

New Juvenile Laws Urged By Local DA

Juveniles above the age of 15 who engage in crimes of violence against society should be held accountable for their actions on the same footing as adults. There should be a separate penal institution in Texas to deal with such young offenders.

Guilford Jones, district attorney, is launching a one-man campaign to bring about a revision of existing laws dealing with juveniles of 15 or over and as a first step in this campaign has dispatched a lengthy letter to Gov. Price Daniel setting forth his views.

Charging in the opening paragraph that present laws covering juveniles above the age of 15 are completely unrealistic, Jones attacks the whole philosophy which is back of such laws.

"We seek to disguise the fact that the offender has committed a crime and to hold him not accountable for his actions," Jones told the governor.

There is a pressing and critical need for the Legislature to take a new and franker look at the laws dealing with the handling of juvenile offenders involved in violent crime, he asserted.

HALF CIVIL

"The proceedings under which juveniles are tried is half criminal and half civil and the available punishment is so slight that responsibility is completely evaded," the district attorney pointed out.

In his opening paragraph, the district attorney complimented Gov. Daniel on his continuing interest in better law enforcement.

"Most recently," Jones wrote, "I have noticed that you have appointed a new committee for the study of juvenile law enforcement."

Jones, in his indictment of the laws as lacking realism, makes it clear, he is not concerned with "petty offenses." His concern, he says, is with major crimes.

"I would never endorse," he declares, "any action which would place a permanent criminal stigma upon a youth for a minor offense. But when this same youth coldly and deliberately commits burglary, makes an assault with a deadly weapon or takes a life I cannot condone official inaction."

"I want to make it clear I do not propose sending all of these youths to the penitentiary but I do believe strongly they should be brought before a grand jury and a district court and, in appropriate cases, be sent to the penitentiary or be placed under the provisions of the suspended sentence or adult probation law."

RECOGNIZE IMMUNITY

Many young men and women, Jones feels, are highly conscious of their immunity from punishment. In many instances, these make open and defiant gestures to demonstrate their awareness of the immunity their age gives them.

"The problem of law enforcement is to make such younger people aware of their responsibility and accountability. It is my personal belief," Jones wrote, "that once people realize the truth of 'as ye sow, ye shall also reap,' crime incidence will sharply decline."

In the case of younger people, he observes, the official policy at this time is to teach them they can sow wild seed without any fear of consequence.

"This," Jones holds, "is sad teaching and bad law enforcement."

In most cases, he says, such younger people come from homes where they are not taught the meaning of responsibility and where both their parents and society fail to hold them accountable for their actions, they are encouraged in the direction of lawlessness.

Jones cites some statistics on crime among juveniles from the records of Howard County to support his argument.

In Big Spring, a city of 30,000 population, in the year 1957, juveniles between the age of 15 and 17 years of age were apprehended in connection with 21 burglaries, 14 car thefts, two forgeries, one assault with intent to rape, and one theft over $50.

For the first 11 months of 1958, youths in this same age bracket have been apprehended in connection with 24 burglaries, nine car thefts, three robberies, two forgeries, one assault with intent to commit murder, and one murder.

THIRD OF ALL CRIME

He also points out that in addition to the statistics quoted above, records of the district attorney's office in Big Spring show that 30 per cent of all crimes investigated by grand juries in the past four years, were committed by youths between 17 and 21 years of age.

Jones calls special attention to three recent murder cases. In February 1957, four young boys, under the age of 15, left Big Spring one evening after having burglarized a residence, stolen a car and some beer. They drove to Sterling City where they attempted to hold up a filling station.

"For no apparent reason," Jones informs the governor, "one of the boys shot and killed the filling station operator—a middle-aged man who was survived by a wife and family."

On Oct. 24, 1958, a youth of 16 and an older young man stopped the driver of a milk truck between Big Spring and San Angelo and robbed him. After the robbery had been completed, the youths put a stop to the man's protest by brutally stabbing him to death. No logical reason, Jones declares, was offered for this murder and no remorse displayed by its perpetrators.

On Halloween night, 1958, he relates, two groups of young men met outside a theatre. A fight started. One of the groups comprised four boys. Three of these were parolees from Gatesville Training School. One, slightly older, was a parolee from the state penitentiary. One of the group, 16 years old, plunged his knife through the heart of another boy, 15, who was unarmed at the time.

MUCH STUDY

"I have discussed these problems for many hours with people in law enforcement and with laymen," Jones concludes. "I believe there is no doubt all of the law enforcement agencies and most of the laymen with whom I have talked are agreed that more severe steps must be taken to bring a stop to juvenile hoodlumism."

"I propose that the age of criminal responsibility for all felony offenses in the case of both boys and girls be changed to begin with the 15th birthday. In other words, it is my suggestion that upon reaching the age of 15, a boy or girl who is charged with felony be handled on the same basis as an adult."

"In this way, the benefits of the suspended sentence law and the adult probation law may be applied to these young people."

"I do not believe the Department of Public Corrections is presently equipped to handle such younger offenders properly.

SEPARATE PRISON

"I propose then that a separate penal institution be designated for young people between the ages of 15 and 21, with the additional provision that when a person reaches the age of 21 he will be transferred out of that place of confinement to the regular prison system at Huntsville, if he has additional time to serve left on his sentence."

"I realize these proposals will necessitate a readjustment in the thinking of many people as well as the expenditure of additional tax monies. You and I are well aware of the public apathy toward spending public money on projects of this kind as compared with the more material benefits of building roads and similar public works."

"It is my sincere hope that you will see fit to include in your message to the Legislature a program along these lines."

Jones sent copies of his letter to the governor, to Obie Bristow, state legislator, and to State Sen. David Ratliff.

Balloon's Radio Believed Dead

LONDON (AP) — The London newspaper sponsoring an attempt to cross the Atlantic by balloon said today it is confident the trip is going well.

The Daily Mail said radio batteries were the reason no signals had been received from the four British balloonists since Monday.

The balloon Small World last reported Monday from about 620 miles southwest of the Canary Islands. Its starting point three days before. Its destination is Barbados, 3,000 miles away in the British West Indies.

A Devotional For Today

There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. (Galatians 3:28.)

PRAYER: We pray, O Father, that we shall think at all times of the brotherhood of man. Help us this day to think beyond our own country, and love beyond the circle of our own loved ones and friends. In the name of our Saviour and Lord, Amen.

Mr. Meany's Hasty Reaction

Last week George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, told a New York State union convention that organized labor is prepared to form its own political party if forced to do so.

What touched him off was a remark by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield before the National Association of Manufacturers, that legislation might be needed to control union political activity. Meany called these words of "a little ward heeler from Detroit."

He warned the business community that they (business men) "had better just send their money and stay the hell out themselves."

"You see," he went on, "they've got the money, but we've got the people. And in a contest between money and people, there is no doubt of the result."

The New York gubernatorial election fails to sustain his thesis that all the campaign money is on the side of friends of business. It was a costly campaign for both sides, but when the smoke cleared it was found that while Democratic candidate, labor's friend Harriman, lost the election the Democratic deficit was small, while the deficit in the Republican campaign, with Nelson Rockefeller the winner, was whopping. As in many other states, labor's contributions were no doubt substantial, liquid and ready to hand — an estimate for the California campaign in particular was half a million dollars, mainly to fight the right to work amendment.

But Meany's threat of a third party was quickly cooled off by his second in command, Walter Reuther, who asserted that American labor will continue to work politically within the present two-party system.

The history of American politics is on Reuther's side, Third parties, including at least two sponsored by organized labor, have never got to first base.

Meantime Messrs. Meany and Reuther have plenty of trouble in their own backyard. A battle over collective bargaining rights for city, county and state employees is shaping up, with James R. Holfa of the Teamsters in the driver's seat. On Dec. 10 his executive board voted an unannounced sum of money for a campaign to bring a potential 10 million local government employees into his union. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, himself a union man, declared on the following day that these workers "deserve a better fate."

The Country Dog Has The Life

In last week's Life magazine Nathaniel Benchley, son of the late humorist Robert Benchley, propounds the theory that city dogs—specifically New York City dogs—are happier, healthier and better-behaved than country dogs.

This, of course, is rank heresy. It is well known to all dog lovers that country dogs are happier and smarter, if not healthier, than city dogs—except when they wander into the city and get taken in by the city slickers.

The country dog is free as the wind, so long as he leaves the chickens and sheep alone. (And most sheepmen swear that occasional depredations on their flocks are engineered by strays from the city, not genuine country canines, which are brought up to respect property rights.)

He can chase rabbits at his heart's content. He can scout around at night for foxes, coons and opossums. He can, and does, regularly call upon neighbor dogs to discuss problems peculiar to dogdom. He supervises the bringing up of the cubs from the pasture at milking time, but he knows better than to chivy them in the process. With the sheep and goats he is gentle but very, very firm and authoritative.

In short, the country dog is tall and snout above city dogs in all the pleasures and privileges of existence.

Benchley let the cat out of the bag, unwittingly perhaps, in his praise of the city dog as a well-behaved little monster. He remarks that New York City has 300,000 dogs, but that 25,000 New Yorkers get dog-bit every year.

So much for the behavior of the well-trained, well-fed, coddled and constantly supervised city mutt.

Red Complicity In School Bombings

WASHINGTON—When the bombing of a Jewish church in Atlanta occurred several weeks ago, this correspondent suggested that the episode had the earmarks of Communist underground operations. The suggestion was met with cynicism by some of those who preferred rather to indict the people of the South or to blame the occurrence in part on those persons who exercise their constitutional right in America to speak or write on the issue of integration in the public schools. There were others like the mayor of Atlanta, however, who pointed out that the bombing seemed to be part of an interstate conspiracy—it wasn't just the work of hoodlums or crackpots in any one locality. Anything interstate is big enough, of course, to be of foreign origin as well.

Now, after considerable investigation, including a visit to the South, Senator-elect Kenneth B. Keating, Republican, of New York state, points the finger of suspicion toward the Communists. Here is a United Press-International dispatch of last Saturday from Schenectady, N. Y.:

"Senator-elect Kenneth B. Keating said here last night that there was a 'strong suspicion' the bombings of schools, homes and places of worship in the South may have been fomented by Communists . . .

"Moscow made certain that the news of Little Rock and the school bombings reached every corner of the globe," Keating said. "There is even a strong suspicion among many informed people that the Communists themselves may be fomenting these horrible bombings."

At first it appeared that the bombings and threats were directed solely at Jewish places of worship, but there have been numerous incidents involving both Protestant and Catholic churches and their schools. Phony threats have become numerous, and, while there could be the work of crackpots affected by suggestion, it is far more likely that the Communist underground, which has agents in every state of the union, would take advantage of the opportunity to achieve headlines. Anything that portrays America as torn constantly by class feeling is grist for the Communist mill.

The Communists, moreover, do aid and abet anti-Semitic organizations on every continent. They help to finance Fascist units in Europe which are active in spreading hate literature. They have access to student bodies in many universities throughout the world, especially in Mexico and Latin America generally. They have lately gotten stronger in Canada, where it will be recalled that a few years ago Igor Gouzenko, an attaché of the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, exposed a Canadian-American spy ring of the Communists. The distribution of "hate America" literature has recently increased in Canada.

Fascist units, secretly financed, are a favorite instrument of the Communist apparatus because, on the surface, they seem far from sympathetic with Communism. Senator-elect Keating, in a television interview on Sunday, indicated that some Fascist organizations in America may be implicated in and certainly are exploiting the bombings.

While there are doubtless amateurs in the bombing game, the techniques are usually handled by professionals. The Communists have many experienced units engaged in bombing enterprises inside Middle Eastern countries, and their activities emerge wherever the Communist and anti-Communist forces are lined up in bitter hostility to one another. More than a billion dollars are spent annually by the Kremlin in subversive activities in at least 72 countries of the world.

Senator-elect Keating is right in urging that these bombings or threats of bombing inside the United States be covered by federal criminal laws. In a sense they are usually interstate in their character anyway, but, if the federal law specified such crimes, it would enable the FBI to move in more rapidly and to work more closely with local authorities in warding off such happenings.

Senator Ervin of North Carolina, Democrat, and Senator Russell of Georgia, Democrat, have both spoken publicly in favor of such legislation, which ought to be an indication in itself that the South stands with other law-abiding people in a determination to ferret out and punish the leaders in the bomb plots and their henchmen.

The problems growing out of the presence of a powerful Communist underground inside America will never be solved till many who are influential in the press and in the pulpit stop pooch-pooching it as non-existent. Also, if the Fifth Amendment were amended so that, during a "cold war," Americans could be required to tell of their Communist associations, the FBI would be helped immeasurably. It is not enough for witnesses merely to deny personal complicity. If they would wholeheartedly assist the authorities, it would be of incalculable aid in running down the interstate conspiracies and their masterminds operating here or in neighboring countries through funds furnished by the Moscow government.

Journey To Jesus

The Visit To Herod's Court

EDITOR'S NOTE: The arrival of the Magi of Persia in Judea, troubled Jerusalem, set off a wave of uneasy hope among the populace and anger in the palace. Here's a reconstruction of events leading the Wise Men's interview with Herod, told in five stories on their Journey to Jesus.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

THE QUESTION raced through the city. It swept along the shops of the marketplace. It filtered into the crowded quarters of the poor, the Acra, and whirled through the Temple courts. The question jarred Persalem:

"Where is he that is born King of the Jews?"

Old men frowned and young men wagged their heads. Clothes-mongers clapped in their prattle and women plucked hands to their mouths. Some men scoffed; some snarled; some dreamed. Some chewed their lips, wondering.

In the middle hour of the morning, the three strangers, potentates from a distant land, had ridden into the city and halted at the "broad place" just inside the Fountain gate, asking their disturbing question:

"Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him."

To the three windburned travelers, the learned Magi of Persia, it must have been keenly dispiriting to find that here in the Holy City, the very cradle of redemption prophecy, none knew of its culmination.

JERUSALEM ASTIR
They proceeded on up the narrow streets, their footmen bearing the gift cases. A growing throng of onlookers trailed behind them and on either side. Lictors, with bronze-tipped staves, cleared the way.

The venerable, old Melchior swayed tiredly in the saddle, and voices babbled around them. "What manner of excellencies are these? . . . They speak boldly of a new king . . . Will not Herod seize them? . . . Are they mad? . . . Surely they are Asian princes. . . . They wear the emblems of wizards of the Far East . . ."

All Jerusalem was troubled, Matthew's gospel reports for the question revived an age-old cry echoing out of the mists of the past in this enchanted city.

On the evening before, the impressive visitors had pitched camp in the Kidron Valley outside the walls. Their dark tents, with fringed awnings drew swarms of beggars and waifs, whom the Magians ordered fed and given coins.

Now, after a restive night, they had entered the city, convinced they had reached the end of their long pilgrimage—the birthplace of the God-King. For this was the capital of the people predestined to be his lineage.

Yet the only response had been guarded looks, surprise and perplexity. Roman sergeants appeared brusquely to ask the delegation its purpose, and other functionaries scrutinized them.

Besides a pool, Melchior raised his hand and the party halted. An attendant hurried up, and the old High Magus eased himself to the ground, roared sore and stiff. Balthasar and young Gaspar also dismounted.

APPROACH TEMPLE

The three left their camels with servants and trudged silently up the paved ramp toward the Temple. It dominated the city, high on the eastern hill, its marble walls and towers gleaming in the sun.

Melchior squinted, his face drawn and dark. His own ancient religion, with its one great God of goodness, reared no earthly temples. Yet the bygone pontiff Persian kings had proclaimed Israel's God the same.

He plodded along slowly, blinking at the shimmering stones ahead.

Long ago, the powerful Darius had decreed that the "God of Daniel" is the "living God," synonymous with Ahura-Mazda. And Cyrus the Great said likewise, even providing means to restore the Jewish Temple in all its grandeur.

Why, then, was the Divine Epiphany unknown here? Melchior ran a wrinkled hand over his face. Had he misread the accumulated perception of the age? Had he mistranslated a star?

All the world of that day had felt vague presentiments of a coming matchless leader, a champion of a golden age. Even in idol-filled Rome, the historians, Tacitus and Suetonius, and the Poet Virgil spoke of it.

It had pulsed immemorably in the blood of Israel, and did so even now beneath the boot of the Roman pawn, Herod. Yet there was no inkling of its fulfillment. A wave of depression ran over Melchior.

Surely it was here, as revealed in the sacred tomes, in the misty, inspired wisdom that surpasses wisdom, that the Anointed would rise. All Melchior's days, he had absorbed these tortuous secrets, both of Jew and Aryan like himself, harnessing his mind and spirit to receive it.

How painstakingly his royal priestly academy had poured over obscure formulas, examined the elements and analyzed the time intervals given by Daniel to comprehend the supernal moment.

And then the planetary heralds had come, followed by the mystic flame—the "star of Jacob" as foreseen in a trance by the gentle diviner, Balaam. Yet, here where it had beckoned, its meaning remained unrealized.

Had the search been in vain, a puerile illusion? Practical-minded men had called it so. Could they be right? Was the search for a Savior sheer folly?

Melchior sighed and suddenly he was deeply weary, drained of all energy. He hesitated unsteadily then on the sloping pavement, and again pressed a hand to his eyes. Balthasar gripped his shoulder. "Art thou faint, Rab-Magus?"

DOUBT OVERCOME

Melchior set his jaw, waved Balthasar away and pushed on up the hill.

He would not lose heart! Failure was impossible, in reality. God did not change. His covenant remained undiminished. Only man's understanding of it veered and wavered, for he judged truth in a moment's narrow scope, not the sweep of the eternity.

They could not be wrong. The steady beat of the centuries could not be wrong, nor the great, long tide of vision, nor the holy books. Daniel could not be wrong, nor he whose genius defied logic, whose endowments excelled the earthly manifestations of fire and beast, who read the inscrutable on the walls of the courts of Balthazar. Not all the prophecies could be wrong. Nor humanity's highest hope. Nor the star!

All at once, Melchior knew. In the infinite symmetries of God, while it was to Israel that the King was born, it was left to voyagers from afar to seek Him out, in token of the range of His call, the universal extent of His kingship.

MAGI RECEIVE WARNING
On a portico outside the Temple wall, the Magi approached a rabbi who sat awaiting his students, and explained briefly the causes and object of their search.

A light, an old hunger, darted in the Jewish teacher's eyes, and then he frowned, glancing about uneasily.

"Thou dost stir up the wells of hope," he said in a low voice. "Wihal, be heedful lest the Herodians take thy words amiss. The king is a jealous king."

Melchior smiled wanly, and his hand traced a circle, sign of blessing. The search went on. They inquired of chief priests, in the shops, among the lowly and high. Soon to their tents, came a bowing courier, garbed in ornamented robes and pendants, who addressed them unctuously: "Honored sirs, I bring thee greetings from his majesty, Herod the King, who requests audience with thee that he may attend thee in thy desires."

Melchior nodded thoughtfully. A squad of Roman troops led them across the city to the west wall. As the gates swung open to the lavish castle, with its sweeping esplanade, fountains and arbors, trumpet blasts sounded from a tower.

Compared to the troubled buzzing of the city without, a troubled quiet descended within the palace grounds.

TOMORROW: The interview.

Around The Rim

Come On, Now! Let's All Hum!

This happens to me all the time, and more especially at this season of the year.

"Take for instance the other night when Mr. Ira Schantz rose to lead our little gathering in the singing of Christmas carols. Mr. Schantz is such a happy fellow that I couldn't resist joining, but like most happy fellows who lead singing he didn't happen to have song books or song sheets.

"You all know the words anyhow," he enthused. Well, it so happens that I can't remember the words to Mary Had A Little Lamb, but who am I to hold up my hand and interrupt Mr. Schantz with such an unpleasant expose. He must have anticipated me, however, for he volunteered:

"How about Jingle Bells? You know—'Dashing through the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh, O'er the fields we go, laughing all the way. Bells on bobtailed ring, making spirits bright, Oh what fun it is to sing a sleighing song tonight.' Now altogether!"

"Dashing through the snow," I venture in an off key, "laughing all the way, Oh what fun it is to sing bobtailed bells in a one-horse open sleigh."

I am hopelessly lost; I take refuge in a new key which doesn't sound any better than the first. Mercifully, the chorus turns up and I am saved by the Jingle Bells.

Then he turns to The First Noel and by the second bar I have the shepherds sleeping when they should be watching, or in the night which was so deep which rhymes with sleep or something.

Ultimately, or inevitably as with magnetic song leaders without song sheets, we come not only to a machine gun recitation of the words, but we get some instructions in harmonizing, counterpoints, etc.

"Now when we come to 'Let heaven and nature sing and heaven and nature sing, etc. etc.' I want the tenors and the sopranos to hold it on sing, and the basses come on 'and heaven and nature sing, and heaven and nature sing,' like this—." And he did the bass part and went back and did the tenor part, quickly, dropping his voice to emulate a basso profundo.

And so we started out and presently came to heaven and nature, but it was anything but heaven in my corner. There I was trapped between some sopranos and tenors on the one hand and a bunch of home-made basses on the other, and with my affliction of a voice that goes off in all directions, I couldn't tell whether I was sheep or goat.

"And heaven and nature sing," Bro. Shantz waved cheerily to the tenors and sopranos, and I was drawn helplessly along. "And heaven and nature sing," he repeated, his bottom lip resting on his chest as he motioned to the basses. And here I went with them in a key that must have been somewhere between the former and the latter.

It was musical murder, which I tried to suppress by dropping to a subdued monotone and praying earnestly for the maestro to end it. But no, he fancied what he heard and called for it again and again until I felt like a dog chasing his tail on a merry-go-round.

Someday I'm going to make Mr. Schantz teach me to hold a key, come what may, or teach me the words, or better still, just grant me permission to sort of hum it—da-da-da-dum-dum—

Getting Tough With Traffic Violators

Across the Hudson in New Jersey, men and women are beginning to lose their respective driver's licenses for obvious violations of the law. Or, maybe, it is more correct to say that licenses are being suspended, and drivers thus unable legally to touch the steering wheel of a car for periods ranging from one month to "indefinitely."

Bravo, says I. The automobile has been transformed into the most-dangerous and lethal weapon in the hands of man, with the possible exception of the hydrogen bomb and the ICBM. But not many of us get our heads on them. There are optimists who believe that man is too smart to conspire in his eventual destruction en masse with this weapon of war, anyway.

But not even the most extravagant optimist hopes man is halfway smart enough to stop his self-slaughter on the highways. Even now, the Grim Reaper must be chortling in happy anticipation of the highway massacre that inevitably accompanies any big, happy holiday such as Christmas. Will the toll be 500? 550? Or, a record-buster, something over 600?

It should be pretty obvious by now that fines and even jail have no deterrent effect on the individual who speeds like the wind; takes one too many for the road, just any road; drives with one arm around another juvenile—or even adult—delinquent; and who ignores traffic and safety regulations.

The only real punishment is to deprive that car-happy, power-happy driver of his automobile. Here is the only penalty that will pierce his hide and his head.

The Gallup Poll

Aid The Slower Students, Public Says

PRINCETON, N. J.—The argument has been advanced recently by many experts that if America is to keep ahead of Russia in today's nuclear age it must encourage the gifted student to reach his full potential.

Some support for this viewpoint is indicated by the fact that a recent survey by the Institute finds 26 per cent of the nation's adults believing that high school teachers should give more time to the bright students in their classes.

The same poll, however, shows that an overwhelming majority of 86 per cent of adults believe that the emphasis should be placed on the slow students.

The poll put these two questions to a representative cross-section of the U. S. adult population:

"Should teachers devote extra time to the bright students?"

MORE TIME TO BRIGHT STUDENTS?

Yes	26
No	67
No opinion	7

"Should teachers devote extra time to the slow students?"

MORE TIME TO SLOW STUDENTS?

Yes	86
No	9
No opinion	5

Analysis of the survey results by levels of educational attainment of those questioned shows the greatest sentiment in favor of helping the bright student comes from persons who themselves attended college, while the heaviest sentiment in favor of helping the slow student comes from those persons with less formal education.

Here is the vote by education levels:

Col-High	86
Leg Sch'l	86
Sch'l	86
Per cent
Extra Time to Bright Students?
Yes	45 21 24
No	47 72 69
No opinion	8 7 7

Per cent
Extra Time to Slow Students?
Yes	77 88 86
No	18 8 9
No opinion	5 4 5

One of the interesting aspects of today's survey results comes from a cross-tabulation of the two questions.

Among those persons who expressed an opinion on both questions concerning where extra teacher efforts ought to be placed, 66 per cent felt the extra time should be given to the slow students but not the bright students, 4 per cent felt it should be given to the bright students but not the slow students, while 24 per cent felt extra help should be given to both the bright and the slow students.

Six per cent of those with an opinion said they felt that neither group should receive extra teacher attention.

Today's survey results about help for the slow student indicate concern for a broad educational base which is in accord with results from an earlier survey by the Institute which found that most American parents have come to regard college or university training as an integral part of the U. S. educational system and that students of both above and below-average ability should have the right to attend.

Many parents felt that denying admission would be tantamount to being "undemocratic."

By a vote of more than 2-to-1 in the survey, parents were opposed to stiffer college entrance requirements.

A comparable poll of the nation's high school principals, however, found that many educators believe that college training is for the better student and they would keep out those with little scholastic aptitude.

The principals also felt that tougher college entrance requirements might be a good thing.

Delayed Drinks
SHERIDAN, Who. — In 1942 Joseph Skatula stuck a note in a bottle and left it in Big Goose Canyon deep in the Big Horn mountains of northern Wyoming.

It said: "I'll buy a drink for whoever finds this."

Orville Wright and Darrell Shafer found the bottle during the big game hunting season this fall. They went to Sheridan and found Skatula. They got their drink.

Man For Detail
GLEN GARDNER, N. J. — Here's how thorough T. Herbert Hand is: When he made a model of an early American room measuring 18 by 24 inches and complete with hand carved colonial furniture, he blackened the wall of the stone fireplace for realism.

City Federation Starts Improvement Of Center

To get the most for the least is the plan of a City Federation committee. In charge of refurbishing the Westside Recreation Center and buying supplies for use by the youngsters and adults who gather there.

Mrs. G. H. Wood, Mrs. Fred Stitzell, Mrs. Jack H. Taylor and Mrs. Neil Norred. Already secured, and at the recreation center, are 17 games, including checkers, Rook, Monopoly, Touring, Parchesi, Club, Chinese Checkers and similar games.

The Book of Knowledge has been donated. A local club has maintained magazine subscriptions for a period of time, and these may be supplemented by additional subscriptions, it was announced.

Fun In Store

Plenty of records and a player as well as a variety of games have been delivered to the Westside Recreation Center just in time to be enjoyed by the youngsters during the holidays. Looking over the stock are Mrs. Fred Stitzell, at left, and Mrs. Neil Norred; they are members of the committee appointed from the City Federation of Women's Clubs to administer the $300 appropriated for improvements and supplies at the center.

Measuring By String

For the lack of a tape measure, Mrs. G. H. Wood measures curtains at the Westside Recreation Center with a string, as Mrs. Jack H. Taylor keeps tabs on which measurements are made. New draperies are in the plans for the center when the money set aside by the City Federation of Women's Clubs is used for decorating, supplies, and magazine subscriptions. Already secured for the youngsters who frequent the center are the volumes of The Book of Knowledge shown on the table.

Rebekah Lodges Make Final Holiday Plans

At the Tuesday meetings of the Rebekah Lodges, the two units completed Christmas plans which will include a share in the party at the state hospital and a Santa Claus package for a girl in the Children's Home at Corsicana.

Installation Rite Is HD Party Feature
Officers for the Fairview Home Demonstration Club were installed Tuesday afternoon at a Christmas party held in the home of Mrs. F. O. Sorrells. Mrs. O. D. Engle was cohostess.

Mrs. W. H. Ward was installing leader. A story, The Meaning of Christmas, was told by Mrs. G. W. Webb. A greeting card, read by Mrs. H. S. Hanson, was from Mrs. J. W. Wooten, a member who was unable to attend the party.

The gathering was opened with a devotion by Mrs. Sorrells and a prayer by Mrs. W. R. Jones, HD agent. Gifts were distributed from a Christmas tree to the 22 members. Mrs. Sorrells and Mrs. Jones.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge for a little girl at the Children's Home. The 31 also exchanged gifts among themselves, in a Christmas party at the IOOF Hall. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Eula Pond, Mrs. Earl Hughes and Mrs. Tom McAdams.

JOHN A. KEE LODGE
At the Tuesday evening meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, final plans were made for the refreshments to be served at the party for the patients at the state hospital. This is to be given Dec. 22, and various members volunteered to serve as hostesses. The session was held in Carpenters Hall.

OWC Bridge Party
The regular dessert bridge party of the Officers Wives Club is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday at the Officers Club. Hostesses will be drawn from the M&S Group and the Installation division.

Music Box Enlivens Circle Coffee

A music box sleigh played Jingle Bells during the coffee given by the Rosa Ann Parks Circle of First Christian Church Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Don Williams.

Guests were the women of the church. The little sleigh stood, with Santa Claus, on a red cloth applied with white felt snow men and sequins. White fringe emphasized the border of the cloth, which also made a background for a tree of red feathers.

Colors of the season were repeated in the red and green ribbon sandwiches and the cookies served as refreshments.

Bridge Club Enjoys Christmas Lunch At Bryant Home

For their traditional Christmas luncheon, the eight members of the Chatter Bridge Club assembled Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Neal Bryant.

Lunch was served from a table made festive with a lace cloth over red. Red candles and balls were massed for the centerpiece, and appointments were of silver. Smaller versions of the arrangement accented the quartet tables. Christmas cloths and Santa Claus favors completed the decor.

Following a gift exchange, the two foursomes played bridge. Mrs. Richard Grimes was high scorer.

Mrs. Foresyth Is Hostess At Party For Cheerio Circle

Each member of the Cheerio Circle for the Blind told of a special Christmas which he or she remembered, Tuesday afternoon, at the party given in the home of Mrs. R. V. Foresyth.

Mrs. W. L. Patterson offered a prayer and the devotion was brought by the Rev. Weldon Stephenson, youth director of the First Methodist Church.

Gift bags of fruit and candy, presents from the Altrusa Club, were distributed to the group of nine members and two guests.

Six small children, members of Mrs. Foresyth's nursery, sang two selections, and Mrs. Ina Montie worded the dismissal prayer.

Yule Spirit Is Aroused At Social

The true spirit of Christmas was reflected in the devotion brought Tuesday night at the Yule party for the Bethany Class of East Fourth Baptist Church. Mrs. B. D. Rice was hostess to 19.

A guest, Mrs. Monroe Gafford, presented the devotion entitled The Road that Leads to Bethlehem. Mrs. Ernest Stewart Jr., another guest, sang How Long Must We Wait, and the opening prayer was by Mrs. Pascal Harris, a third guest. Mr. G. C. Ragsdale, Mrs. L. B. Kinman and Mrs. W. R. Crownover offered prayers.

The group exchanged gifts and voted to bring their love offering to the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering.

Among those present were two additional guests, Mrs. J. G. Arnett and Mrs. J. M. Meeks.

Plan Yule Visit
Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Eason will leave in the morning for Lamarque where they will enjoy the holiday season with their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kerst and Marsha. The Easons also plan visits with friends in Galveston, their former home.

Ungers Have Guest
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Unger, Steve and Mark had as a guest Tuesday her brother-in-law, Bill Cahill of Dallas.

Christmas Dinner
About 92 attended the Christmas dinner given Tuesday evening for Montgomery Ward employees and their families. The affair was held at the Mahattan Cafe.

Pollyanna Class
The Pollyanna Class of First Baptist Church met Monday evening for a Christmas dinner at Cokers Restaurant. The group held an exchange of gifts following the meal.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY Frustrations Can Bring Over-Eating

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "I think a weight problem goes deeper than how much or what one eats," Gloria Winters declared. "I was a chubby child, but I had an emotional problem. My abnormal appetite was caused by frustrations."

"We were chatting on the 'Sky King' set, where Gloria is known to her many TV fans as 'Penny.'" Gloria was born in Hollywood and made her movie debut at the age of six months when a neighbor needed a baby her age to cast in a picture.

"My early desire was to be a singer. My agent took me around to the studios but nothing happened, and I felt defeated because I didn't have recognition. That was when I began stuffing myself," Gloria confessed. "It was as if I were trying to prove that I didn't make the grade in show business because of my figure and not my lack of talent."

"Being a fatso increased my unhappiness. But my compulsive eating continued. I would raid the ice box and sneak food to bed with me. I even went to the point of eating two dinners until my family found out."

"My friends and relatives were after me to reduce, and I did start dieting but my heart wasn't in it and nothing was accomplished."

"I looked at Gloria's little figure and asked: 'What was the magic word?'"

"I can remember the day," Gloria smiled. "It was the end of my junior year in high school. I saw a beautiful dress that I wanted to wear to a prom. I knew I would look terrible in it if I didn't reduce. For the first time I wanted to be thin. I wanted to wear that dress more than I wanted to eat."

"I had an album with reducing exercises. I put these on the phonograph and gave myself a workout. I exercised every morning and night. I went to my doctor and got a 1000 calorie diet. By the time school started again in the fall I had lost 24 pounds, at the rate of two pounds a week."

"I had so many compliments and so much attention from boys who had never noticed me before that I kept my weight at 100 pounds. I'm only five feet so that is just right for me. I still have to watch my calories," Gloria explained, "but by limiting my eating I really have no problems."

MENTAL SIDE OF DIETING
Leaflet M-3. "The Mental Side of Dieting," is designed for those who have a sincere desire to be thin, yet cannot bring themselves to control their appetites. If you are having trouble reducing, stop worrying about it and try to find out why you are overweight. I had lost 24 pounds, at the rate of two pounds a week."

No Longer Fatso

Gloria Winters, known to her TV fans as "Penny" on the "Sky King" series, tells how she overcame a problem of overeating in today's Hollywood Beauty. Once a "fatso" now she's a slender beauty.

Cocktail Party

The Ladies Golf Association will sponsor their annual holiday cocktail party from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Big Spring Country Club. All members of the country club and their wives are invited to attend.

EAT Club Meets

Members of the EAT Club of the YMCA met Monday morning for bowling instructions at the Clover Bowl. A guest, Mrs. Bob Tawater, joined the group, which now consists of 12 members. It was announced that there will be no meeting Monday because of the activities preceding Christmas Day.

Miss Bond Is Tea Honoree

A bridal shower Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Arnold Tonn was a compliment to Linda Bond, bride-elect of Richard Tucker. The couple will be married Dec. 29 in the Northside Baptist Church. Their parents are Mrs. Beulah Bond, 1602 Donley, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tucker, 1101 N. Scurry.

Mrs. Charles Simmons, Mrs. Bert Bradberry, Mrs. Sage Johnson, Mrs. Jack Griffith and Mrs. Jim Nelson were joined in hostess duties by Mrs. C. A. Tonn, Mrs. Lois Blalack, Mrs. Eck McClure, Mrs. Billy Scott, Arlene Hartin, Mary Ruth Barrington, and Mrs. Tonn.

Christmas colors were carried out in the decorations. A dark green cloth imprinted with pine cone border was placed on the refreshment table, where a wedding scene was depicted on a rectangular reflector edged with cedar. There, a miniature bridal couple stood before an altar of mistletoe. Red candles and napkins further advanced the color scheme.

Gifts for the honoree were placed around a decorated Christmas tree. She also received a corsage of carnations, accented with a peppermint cane, from the hostesses.

About 20 guests called during the evening.

Christmas Luncheon Is Served At Laswell Home

The W. A. Laswell home was the setting for a Christmas luncheon Tuesday for members of the Martha Zinn Circle of First Methodist Church. Mrs. L. M. Lawson and Mrs. W. A. Miller were hostesses with Mrs. Laswell.

Lace over Christmas green covered the serving table, where a copper container held colored balls and pine cones. The 24 found their places at quartet tables bright with green cloths.

Mrs. C. E. Thomas worded the invocation. In the program which followed the luncheon, Mrs. C. E. Shive led the group in singing O Little Town of Bethlehem. Reading Luke 1 and Matt. 2 as the basis of her devotion, Mrs. H. H. Stephens asked question How far is it to Bethlehem? She told the story of The Other Wise Man and issued the challenge to honor Christ with a life of service.

An exchange of gifts from a table in lace highlighted with a sequined Christmas tree in pink net. A ceramic angel bedded in greenery provided another decorative spot in the entertainment room.

Citizens Urged To Honor Air Reserve

Mayor G. W. Dabney has proclaimed December as Air Reserve Month in Big Spring and urges citizens to honor the local Air Force Reserve unit, Flight D, 8618th Air Reserve Squadron.

The 30-man unit which meets at Webb AFB each Tuesday night helped the Continental Air Command celebrate its 10th anniversary last Sunday.

With the exception of four, the 30 men are all Big Springers. Seventeen are on the roster as paid members, on "ready" status, while the others are on a non-paid roster, or "standby" duty.

Maj. Alvy Statter is commander of the local unit which is under 8618th Air Squadron headquarters in Midland. Capt. Clois Henry of Snyder is the instructor.

In addition to Statter, others in the ready reserve are Lt. John Boydwin, Sgts. Joseph King, Louis Castillas, James Crenshaw, G. W. Taylor, Boris Ballard, Oscar Hackfield, Jose Johnson, Richard Mitchell, Arthur Parker and Clyde Reynolds Jr., A.I.C. Clark Hitt, A.I.C. Francisco Gallardo, A.I.C. Stevie Forbes, and A.I.C. Roger English.

On non-paying status are Maj. Allan Hoover, Maj. Walton Morrison, Maj. Jack Smith, Maj. James Lewis, Capt. Noel Marsalis, Capt. Oliver McKee, Capt. Carl Ribard, Capt. Novis Womack, and Sgts. Leo Frank, Robert Lowry, Ellis Poitevin, and Harold Danford.

The mayor's proclamation:

WHEREAS, the Continental Air Command of the U. S. Air Force celebrated its 10th anniversary Dec. 7;

WHEREAS, Flight D, 8618th Air Reserve Squadron, a part of the Continental Air Command, is located in Big Spring and is operating for training of Air Force reservists;

WHEREAS, some 30 citizens of Big Spring and surrounding areas further their training for the defense of our nation through the program offered by the reserve unit;

WHEREAS, the members of the Air Reserve forces stand ready to defend our nation and this state, thus constituting a mighty bulwark against aggression;

NOW THEREFORE, I, G. W. Dabney, mayor of Big Spring, do hereby proclaim that December, 1958, be observed as Air Reserve Month in honor of the citizens of Big Spring who are members of the Air Reserve forces.

Church Observes Traditional Rites Of 'Las Posadas'

Observance of "Las Posadas," Christmas tradition of Mexican origin, is scheduled tonight at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Rev. Adolph Metzger, pastor, has announced.

For nine days before commemorating the birth of Jesus, church members, gather for the devotions. Four boys carry the miniature figures representing Joseph and Mary on their journey to Bethlehem. A group of choir members marches in singing a request for shelter for the pair. Another choir answers from partly closed doors that there is no "posadas," or shelter.

The procedure continues each night until Christmas Eve when the last response is one welcoming Mary and Joseph.

The service is to be conducted each day at 7 p.m. through Dec. 24, the Rev. Metzger said. The public is invited.

Lamesa Singers Give Rotary Club Program

A choral group from the Lamesa schools, directed by Orland Johnson, formerly of Big Spring, presented the program at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday.

It was announced that club members will conduct a ward party at the state hospital at 7 p.m. Monday. Gifts have been purchased for distribution to patients.

Benson Helped In Support Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—An advisory commission has armed Secretary of Agriculture Benson with new ammunition in his campaign for legislation to lower farm price supports.

The National Agriculture Advisory Commission recommended yesterday gradual abandonment of the parity concept for supporting farm prices. Instead, its members favored the substitution of a system of price supports based on average market prices for the preceding three years.

Benson told of the commission's deliberations and its concern over the high cost of present price support programs.

Benson said it is costing taxpayers about one billion dollars a year for storage charges and interest on government stocks acquired under price support programs.

"The use of parity just doesn't fit modern agriculture," Benson said. "It is a pretty weak measuring instrument."

Household Enters Era Of Third Cat

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—In our house we have entered the era of the third cat.

When you have a child in a house you often measure time by the pets.

Rather fondly I look back now at the time our daughter Tracy had her very first live pet—a period known as the Era of the First Turtle.

It was a tiny inoffensive grave-digger turtle with a thoughtful mien, and its watery reign in our kitchen was of a remarkably brief duration.

It was a nice turtle. But, as turtles go, it went.

"I want a kitty or a dog," said Tracy.

"Or," she added, "a birdie."

Frankly, I wanted to get her a dog, but man's best friend is verboten in the apartment development in which we live.

So we entered the Era of the First Cat. I forget her name but she was a Siamese, and Tracy was very young and tried to hug her to death. To save the cat we had to find her another home.

After a time we got another cat, another Siamese. It—and I speak advisedly—was a magnificent animal named Ralph Beauty Marble Candy, and roughly the size of a Shetland pony.

The Era of the Second Cat was pretty short. We have no mice in our house, and I got a little tired of watching Ralph Beauty stalk Tracy instead, pounce on her and carry her to the top of the bookcase. If there is anything I can't stand, it's clawmarks on a freshly painted bookcase.

Ralph Beauty, with the help of a retired lion tamer, was coaxed into a cage and granted to an adventurous family in the hinterland. Actually he didn't fit into New York City. He was too big.

Well, months and months had passed, and again Tracy set up the cry, "I want a cat." A friend went to a humane shelter and found an orphan kitty, and now we are in the Era of the Third Cat.

She is black with white paws and white throat and looks like Adolf Hitler, if you can imagine Hitler wearing his moustache under his mouth instead of under his nose. She has a tiny black dot on the very tip of her nose, and therefore is known as Lady Dotty.

She is batty and independent, fights her image in the hall mirror. Reaches up to try to turn the knob on the television set if she doesn't like the program.

She has eyes like light shining through the slits in yellow buttons, she has clawed up about $1,500 worth of furniture and two neighbor children. My shower is her chosen powder room.

But for some wild incomprehensible reason everybody in the family knows the Era of the Third Cat is going to go on for a long while.

I have always held that anybody who really likes a cat lacks one brand of common sense. I still feel that way. But Lady Dotty is here to stay. Who needs common sense?

Educators Appeal For Financial Aid

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Two of the state's leading educators claimed here yesterday that "budgetary stinginess" would result in making Texas' higher educational institutions second-rate.

Speaking at a luncheon attended by civic leaders and education administrators, Dr. Logan Wilson, president of the University of Texas, and Dr. M. T. Harrington, president of Texas A&M, both appealed for more financial aid for the state's 18 state-supported colleges and universities.

Citing specific needs of the 18 state schools, Harrington said that they need approximately $1 million dollars, approximately $3 million dollars more than the general revenue fund next year.

Wilson told the San Angelo meeting that the United States will not be able to meet the challenge of Russia if Texas, as one of the largest states in the nation, does not contribute its part. He said that in the competitive world, the greatest national resource is manpower.

Both Wilson and Harrington said that one of the biggest problems facing higher educational institutions is the loss of teachers to industry.

Harrington, citing the loss of seven A&M instructors who left teaching for $7,000 a year pay raises in industry, said "If they were worth that much to industry, you may well imagine what these seven were worth to education in Texas and how impossible it will be to replace them satisfactorily."

"Certainly we can hire second, third and fourth class minds for these (present) salaries but that's the kind of education and training you get," Wilson said.

"Do you want the malleable minds of your sons and daughters trained by this class of people?" He asked.

Yesterday's luncheon was one of a series of 12 held throughout the state to enlist public support for more money for the 18 state-supported colleges and universities. Texas and Texas A&M ex-students associations sponsored the luncheon.

Estranged Widow Wins $200,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Stefania Schwab Ripp, 60, of Palestine, Tex., yesterday won half the estimated $200,000 left by her estranged husband, whom she had not seen for 38 years.

Probate Judge Robert J. Dunn held she was entitled to this share despite a will bequeathing $120,000 to friends and relatives, and the rest to the Salvation Army.

Her husband, Fred Ripp, 65, committed suicide June 4, 1927. He was a retired Chicago meat dealer.

Counsel for Mrs. Ripp introduced a certificate showing the couple married in 1918, and records of her 1920 suit for divorce and his counter-suit in Houston. Both cases were dismissed without a divorce being granted, the evidence showed.

Some Thoughts In Passing

The theatre art has its ups and downs, especially if it has amateur status.

But if financial crisis or public disinterest put a theatre on the down cycle, it is seldom that the managers blame themselves. Instead, they turn to the three latest whipping boys of the theatre — fishing, hunting and bowling, not necessarily in that order—as John Rosenfield so aptly describes the phenomenon in his Dallas Morning News column. (Even in Dallas theatre has its troubles.)

The shocking truth is that, even in Big Spring, a performance that everyone knows will be worth seeing will be well attended. It is a general rule of thumb that the worth of a production will be reflected in the size of the audience.

It is equally true that meetings of an amateur theatre group will be well attended if there is enough to capture and hold the interest of the participants.

Theatre people, some say, are a little odd.

Not so, others say; they're as human as the rest of us.

There is evidence to support both contentions.

Professionals have tender skins, and a bad review cuts them to the quick. But, being professionals, they shrug it off as an occupational hazard and try again.

Amateurs have tender skins, and a bad review cuts them to the quick. But being amateurs, they raise a cry of protest to all that will hear, and never forget it, and very often don't try again.

Professionals have enough experience with reviews not to misinterpret them.

Amateurs read their own meanings into a reviewer's words, see an insult where there is none, blind to the words of praise.

Amateurs, especially in small towns, expect bouquets—and take umbrage at a fair and impartial review even when the reviewer thinks he has complimented them.

Thus, it is true that theatre people are a little odd. But then, these same words are about as true of people in general, where their own sacred cows are concerned. Thus, it is equally true that theatre people are as human as the rest of us.

Mrs. J. E. Hogan sends me a clipping of Rosenfield's advance on "The Diary of Anne Frank," wanting to know if I had read his column. Truth is, I hadn't, although the Dallas Morning News is on our exchange shelf—I saw the lengthy article (Rosenfield has column space that I do not have) but being busy at the time, I passed it up.

Mrs. Hogan took the trouble to underline portions of Rosenfield's article that were of special interest, and I got to read it after all. Thanks, Ma'am.

Pictures Traded At Art Dinner

It was an entertaining evening at the annual Las Artistas dinner Tuesday evening.

First came a talk on Irish customs by Airman Hugh Butler McCauley, a native of Coleraine. McCauley departed from his Irish theme long enough to recount the origin of the Christmas tree custom, tracing it to a legend first written down by a French monk.

Then, members and guests were treated to door prizes, sort of "art show." Guests propped up their gift paintings and filed around the tables to view the other pictures.

One might expect that art work of such a nature—prizes at a dinner party—would not be quite up to snuff, but such an assumption would be wrong. Some of the pictures were well rendered.

And last but not least was the "art show." Guests propped up their gift paintings and filed around the tables to view the other pictures.

Could Be On Shaky Ground

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Are you on shaky ground?

It could be. A leading seismologist's earthquake risk map of the United States lists five areas in the nation where earth shakes could seriously damage well-constructed buildings.

Dr. Charles F. Richter of the California Institute of Technology lists the areas with this word of caution: Ground conditions vary greatly even in given cities.

Here are Dr. Richter's major risk areas: California — The San Joaquin and Northern Sacramento valleys, the Imperial Valley, and small scattered areas.

Northwestern New England and New Mexico and Southwest Texas.

A belt extending east from the central Mississippi Valley through South Carolina and part of Georgia.

A narrow belt extending south through Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

Richter released the nationwide map in response to repeated requests.

Richter said his map should be taken "as representing a long-term risk to be considered for structures intended to be permanent — or in long-term planning such as developing new townships or industrial centers."
