

Judge Happy After Ruling Gives New Life

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Looking at a letter from a Texan in Stephenville, the busy federal judge, with satisfaction in his voice, said: "This is worth quite a bit to me."

The letter was from Wallace Johnson, a slender 39-year-old man for whom Judge Delmas C. Hill made a new life.

"My Dear Judge Hill," began the letter dated Dec. 26 from Stephenville. Judge Hill smiled.

"I just want to write and thank you very sincerely for your judgment and express to you my sincere appreciation for the fairness and interest which you exhibited in my case.

"Of course, you have made it possible for me to enjoy the most wonderful Christmas present of my life, and at the present time I am at my mother's home in Stephenville."

For 18 years, while Johnson served a sentence for a 1939 post office robbery at Devers, Tex., an additional sentence of 15 years, imposed by another judge in 1940, hung over Johnson's head.

Twice the Stephenville man asked for a new hearing on the second sentence. First he failed. Then Johnson went before Hill with fresh evidence.

Judge Hill ruled the second judge acted in obvious anger. He had made the 15-year sentence consecutive instead of concurrent, but now Judge Hill's order made Johnson eligible for immediate parole.

Johnson wrote Judge Hill he hoped to arrange for a job.

"Parole officials tell me he acquired enough credit through correspondence study in those years to be equivalent to a college degree," Judge Hill smiled.

"He studied accounting," the judge continued yesterday, "and it seems to me he chose wisely."

"He could make a new life."

Dawson County's Hospital Near Completion In Lamesa

LAMESA—Members of the Dawson County Hospital Board and Commissioners Court Tuesday afternoon accepted, with reservations, the 66-bed Medical Arts Hospital building from the contractor, S. R. Duncan.

Acceptance of the building followed a one and one-half hour inspection tour by the group and a discussion period with the contractor and architects. Hospital administrator, Guy Hamilton, who Wednesday morning began moving his office from the courthouse to the hospital, would not hazard a guess as to the formal dedication and opening date. It is believed that at least 30 days or perhaps

U.S. Assures Reich We're Standing Pat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has reassured West Germany that it is standing pat—for the time being, at least—on the policy of seeking German reunification through free, all-German elections.

Official statements, however, did not rule out the possibility of future revision of this policy.

The West German government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sought more information after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a news conference that free elections were the "natural method" but not the only possible way of merging the two parts of Germany into a single nation again.

This was interpreted as meaning that the stand for free elections might be modified if some other practical avenue to unification opened up in prospective negotiations with the Soviet Union.

It is understood that various new ideas relating to the German problem are under discussion in the State Department, even though all in the end could be discarded.

West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe and Herbert Dittmann, top-ranking emissary from the German Foreign Office, conferred with Dulles for an hour Wednesday.

Impatient Convict Leaves Work Party

BALTIMORE (AP)—William Boyd Gilliam, 45, who had served nearly 17 years for a triple killing and would have been eligible for parole next fall, walked away from a work detail just outside the penitentiary Wednesday.

Gilliam was sentenced to 33 years for the gun and knife slayings of two women and a man in Baltimore County in January, 1942. He contended the slayings occurred when the three tried to rob him.

Warden Vernon L. Peppersack said Gilliam, a trusty since May, 1956, would have been up for parole in October.

Stan Freberg Sets His Wedding Date

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Saxophonist Stan Freberg, best known for his many humorous recordings, and Donna Jean Anderson will be married Saturday by his father. He is 32, Miss Anderson 28.

The Rev. Victor Freberg will perform the ceremony in the Chapel of Roses.

New Laws

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus urges the Arkansas Legislature in this third-term inaugural address in Little Rock, Ark., to pass more laws for continuing the battle against racial integration in public schools. Faubus asked for a constitutional amendment that would allow school districts at their option to let each student have a fixed amount of money with which he could attend a school of his own choosing. Faubus told the Legislature that his plan was a logical move.

Lamesa Chooses New School Site

LAMESA—The location for Lamesa's newest elementary school has been chosen, Supt. C. W. Tarter said.

The site is on the Albert McSpadden property southwest of Lamesa, and contract for the 10-acre plot has been drawn with the provision that the land is accepted into the city limits.

The land is about ¼ mile west of the Stanton highway on S. 8 St. and lies between Park Terrace and Hillcrest Additions. The new school was provided for in a $600,000 bond election Dec. 13; the election also provides for a new auditorium and new vocational agriculture shops at Lamesa High School.

No Pressure On Witnesses Wanted, Chairman Avers

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said today he does not want witnesses pressured to support President Eisenhower's budget when they appear before his House Appropriations Committee.

Cannon criticized a letter from Budget Director Maurice H. Stans which cautioned department and agency heads against asking more money than the budget would provide.

The letter reportedly reminds the government officials that it is a violation of the 1921 Budget Act to ask increases in budget requests without clearing them through proper channels. But a Budget Bureau spokesman denied that it was meant to gag prospective witnesses.

Eisenhower will send his 77-billion-dollar budget to Congress Monday. Cannon's committee plans to start hearings Tuesday.

Copies of the Stans' letter were not available on Capitol Hill, but Cannon said he was aware of its existence.

"How are we going to intelligently act on a budget when the witnesses who were the experts in preparing it are under restraint when we ask them to give us details," he asked in an interview. Many Democrats already have attacked as unrealistic Eisenhower's spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1. There could be fireworks if the committee members think witnesses are not frank in expressing their views.

Sticks Neck Out, Jury Not Convinced

SEATTLE (AP)—C. W. Liston stuck his neck out Wednesday—and held it there while a city bus closed its doors on the neck three times. It was all in the line of duty.

An assistant in the City Claims Department, Liston was trying to prove to an awestruck jury that lined the sidewalk that having a bus door shut on one's neck didn't really hurt at all.

The jury didn't believe him and awarded Mrs. Mirza Toland, who had testified it hurt her plenty, $9,500.

Local Lambs Will Enter Abilene Show

Howard County 4-H club members will exhibit lambs only at the forthcoming Abilene Livestock Show, according to Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent.

He said present plans are for the boys and girls to take 32 head of lambs to the Abilene show. The local exhibitors are to leave here Sunday. No steers will be entered in the Abilene exhibition but later on at other shows, steers will be shown, he said.

Candy Barr Term Upheld

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals in a split decision upheld Wednesday the 15-year sentence given shapely Dallas stripper Candy Barr for possession of marijuana. The court's majority said the search warrant was legally issued by Lt. J. M. Souter to search Miss Barr's residence and to find eventually "from her bosom a glass bottle containing the marijuana." Judge Lloyd Davidson dissented, saying Texas did not have a law authorizing the issuance of a warrant to enter and search a home on the theory that narcotics may be hidden. The search act, he said, violated the U.S. Constitution. Miss Barr, whose real name is Juanita Dale Phillips, was free on $15,000 bond after a Dallas court found her guilty. Her attorney, Lester L. May of Dallas, argued Oct. 22 before the appeals court that Miss Barr was trapped by police, that her telephone line was tapped and that she never solicited the narcotic but was merely holding it for another stripper friend, Helen K. Smith. "We confess our inability to find any defensive issue in this testimony," the majority opinion said. "Ownership may have been in the witness Smith but possession was in appellant (Miss Barr)." The two judges said that if Miss Barr had a ground for complaint on the possession charge, "it must be that the punishment assessed by the jury suggests that they did not accept (her complaints) as a mitigating circumstance." The woman's lawyer said he will ask the court of criminal appeals for a rehearing. The stripper was reported working in a New Orleans night club.

Ike, Aides Set For Defense Of Security Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and top Republican spokesmen appeared ready today with a fighting defense of the administration's space, missile and security programs.

Key leaders in the new and heavily Democratic Congress already have promised searching and critical investigations into all phases of the Eisenhower defense policies and programs.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has indirectly invited such an investigation, and expressed to fellow Republicans confidence that the programs will stand up under the scrutiny.

Both the President and the new Republican Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, defended the programs publicly Wednesday.

Eisenhower told a National Press Club luncheon that this country had "made remarkable progress" in the field of long-range missiles.

As to the Soviet's accomplishments in this field, he said "if we did not believe that they were somewhat ahead in certain phases, we would indeed be a little stupid, because they have been working at it for many years, and our urgent work in this field on the long-range missile has started only something like four years ago."

Eisenhower commented that he thinks it shows a lack of sense of balance "to disturb ourselves too much that we have not yet caught up with another great power and people with great technical skill in a particular item."

He said this country must have a balanced military program and be ready to meet any attack without knowing when, where or how it can start, and be ready to respond instantly.

"I think we are," he said. "We have made very remarkable progress."

About the time Eisenhower was speaking, Dirksen replied in the Senate to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who said Monday the administration is trying "to lull people into a state of complacency not justified by the facts."

Symington was secretary of the Air Force under former President Truman, and has been a frequent critic of defense policies.

Dirksen suggested that Symington or some other Truman administration spokesman should admit publicly that for six years, "while our missile programs were virtually nonexistent the Soviet program was going forward full tilt."

This accounted for any lag behind the Soviets, Dirksen contended. He quoted statements of Dr. Werner von Braun, German-born Army missile expert, to support that contention.

Symington delayed a direct reply to Dirksen's speech until he could study them, but Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Republicans "are worried and trying to head off critical questions about security programs."

Wilber spoke Wednesday night at a Loyola College symposium marking the 100th publication anniversary of Darwin's "The Origin of the Species."

Wintry Weather Spreads Into U.S. Midcontinent

By The Associated Press
Wintry weather, with cold and snow, spread from the northern Rockies into the midcontinent today, ending a brief spell of fairly mild weather.

The arctic air covered the Northern and Central Plains and the upper and mid-Mississippi Valley. It headed eastward and was expected to cover most areas, excluding the eastern seaboard and Southeast states.

Snow accompanied the outbreak of cold along the eastern slopes of the Rockies, with falls in eastern Colorado, Wyoming and western Nebraska. Highways west of Denver were closed. Gusty winds swirled the snow, cutting visibility. Drifts nearly two feet deep were reported in the Golden, Colo., area and a foot deep in Cheyenne, Wyo. Four inches of snow was indicated in the region. Lighter falls were reported in the Upper Mississippi Valley and in the Lake Superior region.

Temperatures dropped sharply as the icy air moved into the Northern Plains, with below zero readings in North Dakota and Montana.

The colder air dipped as far south as Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Wet weather prevailed in wide areas from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic Coast. The major belt of precipitation extended from Missouri and Arkansas northeastward through the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes region. Rain fell in most areas, with snow near Lakes Erie and Ontario.

In other parts of the country, skies were mostly cloudy in the Pacific Northwest and Southern Plains and fair to partly cloudy in other areas.

In contrast to the cold in the northern areas, considerable warmer air spread into the eastern Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes district. Rain was reported in wide areas in Eastern sections.

Starving Family Found Under Bridge

DALLAS (AP)—Seven-month-old twin boys from an itinerant family found under a bridge at nearby Ferris were in a hospital today, one near death from starvation.

A construction worker found the family, without food for several days, living under the bridge, according to Mrs. Merle Brignon of Ferris. She and two other women brought the twins to the hospital yesterday.

The father is 45, his 35-year-old wife is expecting another child and there are three other boys, aged 7, 4 and 2, Mrs. Brignon said.

Ferris citizens put the family in a small 2-room house and contributed money, food and clothing for them, she added.

"Wild Card" Player Regulation Adopted

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—College football in 1959 will have the "wild card" player to follow the famous "lonesome end" of 1958.
The "wild card" player will be a substitute who can re-enter a game as many times as his coach chooses, provided he goes in when the game clock is stopped.
The player could be a key quarterback, a kicking specialist or perhaps a guard carrying instructions from the sidelines.

As a result of rules changes, games should be more wide open, higher scoring and crowd-pleasing.
Such was the hope today of the men who write and rewrite the rule book, the National Collegiate Rules Committee. Their major changes, announced Wednesday after a three-day meeting:

1. Relaxation of the substitution rule.
2. Widening the goal posts—for the first time in the history of the game — from the present inside-post distance of 18 feet 6 inches to 23 feet 4 inches, or the outside distance of 19-2 to 24. The posts remain 10 yards back of the goal line.
3. Revisions of penalties, including infractions on tries for the extra point.

Unchanged was the two-point conversion rule.
Acting Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, serving as head of the committee for the 10th year, said there was considerable sentiment against a return to the two-platoon system.
He explained the "wild card" player, as in a poke game, this way:
"If only one eligible substitute enters the field while the clock is stopped, he will not be recorded as an entry except during an excess time out, such as when a player is hurt.
"However, if more than one substitute enters the field between downs, each sub will be recorded."
Basically, we are keeping the rule of last year. But it will allow a team to get a man into the game when the clock is dead."
Another change increases the number of times out per half from four to five.
Rules involving penalties were changed.
No distance penalty, meaning a stepped-off yardage penalty, shall be greater than half the distance to the goal line.
The try for the extra point was revised when there is a penalty. An example: the team on offense successfully kicks the placement for one point, but the defensive team is called on a penalty. The offensive team has the option of accepting the one-point gain on the kick or trying for two points. If the defensive team is called on a penalty on the ensuing kick-off, or if it can decline its one-point score, accept the penalty placing the ball on the one and one-half yard mark, and try for two points.

A New Battery Is In Prospect For Red Sox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It is quite possible that the Boston Red Sox will present a new pitching and catching staff in 1959 as Manager Mike Higginns prepares for the big experiment this year.
Higginns has four of the youngsters regarded as the best pitching prospects in the Red Sox organization. They are righthanders Jerry Casale and Bill Moubouquette and lefthanders Ted Bowsfield and Frank Baumann.

Casale, 25, a native of Brooklyn, was released by the Army last September. He spent the last couple of weeks of the campaign with the Red Sox.
He won 19 games for San Francisco, then in the Pacific Coast League, before entering the service and was the top prospect in the Boston chain. He appeared in two games last fall in relief and did not allow a run in the three inning he pitched.
Signed at 17, Casale was given a $20,000 bonus in 1951 and the Red Sox think he now is ready to pay dividends.
Bowsfield, a d. Moubouquette were brought up by Boston after the All-Star game in 1958. Bowsfield, 25, won four games. Moubouquette, 22, won three and lost four. Higginns thinks both now are ready.

This is the last chance for Baumann to make the grade. He was shipped to Memphis in the Southern Assn. late last spring where he won eight and lost three for a second-division club. Boston paid him an $80,000 bonus in 1953.
Other rookie pitchers include Ted Wills, Arnold Earley and Tom Borland, all southpaws.
There will be five new catchers, not counting Haywood Sullivan, in camp. The latter looked like he was ready to take over a regular job last spring when he injured his back and had to undergo major surgery.
The best of the newcomers may be Jerry Zimmerman, who was supposed to be the $100,000 beauty when the Red Sox signed him out of high school five years ago. This past season at Minneapolis he was under study to Ed Sadowski, another Boston rookie.
Next — Pittsburgh Pirates.

T. Jones Motor Still In Lead
Zale's Jewelers made a bid to overtake Truman Jones Motor in the Housewives Bowling league at Clover Bowl Wednesday morning but had to settle for a 2-2 deadlock to remain high a point behind the pace setters.
In the other matches, Warren's Clinic won over Tom's Pearns, 4-0; while Caprock Restaurant turned back Wason and Trantham, 3-1. Dottie Redden of Caprock led the regulars in scoring with 162-429. Jean Buchanan of Warren's, a substitute, had a game high of 182, however.
Splits were converted by: Wanda Warren of Warren's, 5-6; Earnestine Schroeder, Tom's, 5-7; Dottie Redden, 7-9; Gaye Postier, Caprock, 5-6-10; Fay Brophy, Zale's, 5-10; and Jane Johnson, T. Jones, 7-2.
Next week, Zale's opposes Tom's, T. Jones clashes with Wason and Trantham while Warren's tangles with Caprock.

Clark Second In FG Derby
STATE COLLEGE, N. M. (SC)—Three New Mexico State University players among them have over half of the varsity basketball statistics in every department except personal fouling.
The three work horses are sophomore Bill Price, 6-8 scoring leader with 19 points a game so far; set-shot Charles Clark, a senior and a forward; and aggressive Joe Kelly, a guard and a senior. Clark hauls from Big Spring, Texas.

Together the three have scored 224 out of 362 field goals, 161 of 309 free throws, and 609 of 1,033 total points. They also have caught 396 of the team's 654 rebounds, but committed less than half—157 of 310—of the personal fouls.
Price has scored 304 points, Clark 172 for 11.5 a game, and Kelly 133 for 8.3 a game.
Price is also continuing rebound leader with 214 for 13.4 a game. He is the most accurate at field goals among the high scorers with 49 per cent.
Clark has 76.5 per cent at the free throw line with 26 of 34, 40.6 per cent from the field with 73 of the 180—most of them distance shots. Kelly has earned 74.7 at the free throw line with 65 of 87 and 35.1 on the floor with 34 of 97.
The Aggies average 64.6 points a game to 63.1 for the opponents in earning an 8-8 non-loss record so far.

NEW YORK (AP)— Archie Moore gets up once more tonight to accept the Edward J. Neil award from the Boxing Writers Assn. as the "fighter of the year" for 1958.
Ray's right hand was swollen badly and X-rays were to be taken to see if there were any broken bones.
"I hit him so hard in the first round I might have broken it," said the 23-year-old Chicagoan. Judge Frank Clark scored it 48-43 and Referee Bernard Weissman 47-44. The Associated Press favored Ray 47-44.

Sonny Ray Wins Decision Over Idahoan In Dull Go

CHICAGO (AP)— Sonny Ray, with a smashed right hand, and Roque Maravilla, who was in a blackout for seven rounds, went through the motions for 10 rounds Wednesday night.
Ray, the fifth ranked light heavyweight contender, gained a unanimous decision in the Chicago Stadium nationally televised bout.
Maravilla came out after taking a nine count, covered up well and weathered it. From then on until the last two rounds, they pumped

North Carolina Surprises Highly Rated Wolfpack

A kid from Pittsburgh clicked on a layup off a pretty pass from a kid from Brooklyn, then another Brooklyn crew cut flipped in two free throws... all within 22 seconds.
It wiped out a top-notch performance by two boys from Philadelphia, two from scattered points in Indiana, and another from Dorchester, Mass.
An all-star game?
Nope, just a neighborhood brawl in Raleigh, N.C. Wednesday night. North Carolina whipped while ranked North Carolina State 72-68 in an overtime college basketball thriller.
Coaches Frank McGuire and Ev Case, a couple of leading proponents of interstate travel, had themselves another winding while 13,000 watched at Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum.
When it was over, Brooklynite McGuire had indicated to Indiana Case and the basketball world that he's ready to put in another bid for the kind of national championship honors he bagged with his Yankee Tar Heels two seasons ago.

Elements Will Smile On Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Golf's glamour boys, heartened by good news from the weatherman, hit the trail today in the first round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 National Pro-Amateur Tournament.
Forecasters predicted clear skies through Friday—and possibly Saturday—for the double-edge tournament played over three lush courses bordering the Pacific.
The 300-man field, 150 teams, starts on Pebble Beach, Monterey Peninsula or feared Cypress Point the 6,317-yard layout. Par for the course is 37-35-72. Sheltered Monterey goes 6,246 in 35-37 and Pebble Beach is 6,701 with par 36-36.

The weather broke only Tuesday, leaving the courses damp for the first day's play.
The teams rotate over all three courses for three rounds.
The final round for the top 40 teams and 60 low pros is scheduled Sunday at Pebble Beach.
The amateurs, all handicapped by Bing himself, don't keep score. It's strictly a best ball event.
You find glamor galore among both the play-for-play and the simon purses. Favorites to cop with $4,000 top money include last year's champ Billy Casper, local favorite Ken Venturi, and Ernie Vossler. Venturi won the Los Angeles Open, first event of the new year, and Vossler took the second, the Tijuana Open.
Top pro in the team competition picks up $2,000, a prize won last year by Jay Hebert, who plays again with Los Angeles attorney Roger Kelly. Kelly also was a pro-am champ in 1947.
The sports world is represented by Jackie Jensen, Ernie Nevers, Frank Albert, Allie Reynolds, Bill Rigney, Ralph Kiner and Pete Elliott.

HAWKS AND BUTTONS VIE HERE TONIGHT

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks take time off from their West Zone basketball race to play HSU's Buttons in an 8 o'clock engagement here tonight.
The practice tilt was only recently added to the HC schedule and was made possible when the Lubbock Christian College league test was moved forward a couple of days.
HSU hasn't been as impressive this season as in years past but the Buttons are always a large order to handle. Carlos Berry masterminds the team for head coach Bill Scott.
One of the starters on the Button team is Rex Wilson, a 6-3½ jumping jack from San Angelo Lakeview High School. Rex was one of the outstanding cagers in the area when in high school.
Other starters on the HSU team include Gordon Whitworth, 6-0, from Andrews; Perry Lockett, 5-11, from Meadow; John Huff, 6-0, who came all the way from Keichikan.

Up For Grabs
Mike Humphrey (57), at 6-6 the tallest boy on the Midland squad, is about to get his meal hooks on the hot in the above picture as Benny McCrary (24) of Big Spring contends for it. The action occurred during the Bulldog-Steer District 2-AAAA thriller here Tuesday night, won by Midland in an overtime period, 61-58.

AS HEAD COACH Cletus Fisher Is Hired at Midland

MIDLAND (SC)—Cletus Fisher, 33, head grid mentor at South High School in Omaha, Nebraska, the past four years, had been named head coach at Midland High School at a salary of $8,500 per annum.
In 11 years of coaching, Fisher has guided his teams to a record of 79 victories, 14 losses and two ties.
Fisher is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he earned four football letters while playing under Bernie Masterson, Patsy Clark and Gomer Jones. In 1949, he performed for the New York Giants of the NFL league, then coached by Steve Owen.
Fisher was due to report for the job later this month. He was contacted by Dr. Harold Hill, superintendent of schools here, via telephone in Omaha and immediately accepted.

Fisher and his wife are the parents of three boys and a girl. Although Nebraska high school teams do not play to a state championship, Fisher's South eleven have been declared the mythical titlist the past two years.
Fisher attended high school at St. Edwards, Neb., from where he graduated in 1943. He later became coach there and his team earned the State Class D crown in 1944.
After completing college, Fisher took a coaching position at Columbus, Neb., in 1950. He stayed there until 1955, at which time he moved to Omaha.
The new coach will also assume a teaching position in Midland High School.
Fisher succeeds Audrey Gill as head coach here. Gill was relieved of his duties several weeks ago and then was appointed supervisor of physical education and athletics here.
Dr. Hill said approximately 50 persons applied for the position. No more than four of those were ever interviewed, according to informed sources, however.

Midland Teams Whack Locals
MIDLAND (SC)—Midland's Carver teams swept three basketball games from Big Spring Lakeview contingents here Wednesday evening.
The boys' varsity team won a thriller, 60-58, after trailing by five points at one stage in the fourth quarter.
The girls' sextet finished on the long end of a 25-23 score in another game while the Carver boys' B team prevailed, 34-24.
In the boys' A game, B. F. Newton led the Big Spring club with 20 points while Ralph Jackson posted 22 for Midland.
The Lakeview A boys, now with a 6-3 won-lost record, go to the Panhandle for two conference games this weekend, meeting Plainview Friday and Vernon Saturday.

N.C. State, just voted into the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, led most of the way until Tar Heel Ray Stanley (Brooklyn) scored a field goal and two free throws to send the game into overtime at 63-61.
With the score knotted 68-68 and 22 seconds remaining, Lee Shaffer (Pittsburgh) took the perfect feed from Doug Moe (Brooklyn) for the winning layup. In the last second, Harvey Salz (Brooklyn) wrapped it up with a pair of free throws.
It was the 10th victory in 11 games and fifth straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory for third-ranked North Carolina. Rival State dropped its second game in 13 tries and slipped to second in the ACC race at 5-1.
Dayton, using its five iron men for the second straight game, ran its record to 10-3 with a 60-56 victory over Xavier of Ohio. St. Joseph's (Pa.) made its mark 10-2 by topping St. Francis (Pa.) 82-66, and Virginia Tech., now 9-2, swamped Davidson 91-70 in other feature games of the Wednesday program.

Mikoyan Urges 'Yes' Approach To Relations

NEW YORK (AP)—Anastas I. Mikoyan, the Soviet Union's No. 2 man, urges a "Da, da, da" (yes, yes, yes) approach to Soviet-American relations instead of "Nyet, nyet, nyet" (no, no, no).

The first deputy premier, wired and dined Wednesday night by 1,100 business and industrial leaders at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, maintained that the Soviet Union posed neither an economic nor a military menace to the United States.

At the dinner sponsored by the Economic Club of New York, Mikoyan hammered at the same themes — peace and coexistence and more trade — he has used in similar talks with businessmen and officials in cities across the nation during the past week.

"I can confirm that the American people, both the ordinary people and the business people want peace," Mikoyan said.

"Now the talk is more of the economic menace of the Soviet Union — that it is an even greater threat. That talk is equally groundless. It would be best to stop frightening yourselves," he added.

Mikoyan's busy schedule Wednesday included a visit to Macy's department store, lunch in Wall Street, and a reception given by an old acquaintance, former New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

As has happened throughout his tour, Mikoyan was met by an anti-Soviet demonstration as he arrived at the Waldorf. About 300 European refugees shouted and waved derogatory signs. Police kept the demonstrators back while Mikoyan was taken into the hotel by a side entrance.

Lyndon Holds A Taut Rein As Committee Posts Are Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) held a taut rein today on the Senate party organization.

With Johnson in full command as majority leader, Democrats parceled out their committee assignments Wednesday. Republicans are expected to have their assignments completed in time for approval by the Senate on Saturday. That would permit organization of individual committees next week.

In an agreement with Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the OP Policy Committee, Johnson won Senate approval of enlarging some of the important Senate committees and revamping their party ratios to conform with the new lineup of 64 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

Johnson's assignment of his party members appeared to reward some of the Democratic freshmen who supported his successful effort this week to compromise the fight over the senate's filibuster rule.

One of these, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, got two major committee places, on Appropriations and Banking, an almost unprecedented attainment for a freshman. Sens. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut and Gale McGee of Wyoming, who supported Johnson's compromise, also drew Appropriations Committee assignments.

The Appropriations Committee, which handles all of the money bills, was enlarged to 27 members, more than a fourth of the Senate's total of 98.

Other Democrats added to the group included Sens. Alan Bible of Nevada, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and John Stennis of Mississippi.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, a strong Johnson backer, won a coveted place on the Foreign Relations Committee. Other party vacancies on that group were filled by Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Frank Lausche of Ohio.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, formerly a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, won a place on the tax-handling Finance Committee. McCarthy opposed Johnson's rules compromise. Sen. R. Vance Hartke of Indiana, who backed Johnson, and Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, also won places on this committee.

Thief Didn't Like Stolen Painting

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The last watercolor painted by Maurice Utrillo before his death in 1955 was abandoned in a Columbia church by the man who stole it because "it's not such a hot painting and not worth that much money."

The thief referred to the $2,500 for which the painting is insured. The picture was stolen over the weekend from an exhibition at the University of Missouri here.

William T. Kratzer, program director of the University Student Union, said an anonymous tipster telephoned him Wednesday night and told him the painting was in the sidewalk in front of a small downtown hotel early Wednesday.

Then he went back inside to clear the lobby. When he returned to get the furniture, it was gone.

Three strong supporters of organized labor were assigned as new members of the Labor Committee. They were Sens. Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Pennsylvania, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey.

Home Job

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP)—Home for dinner, city fireman Jack Lawson heard a cracking sound in the wall of his house. He raced the three and a half blocks back to the fire station in his car, returned in the fire truck with companion firemen, and they put out a small blaze blamed on defective wiring.

All Things Come To Him Who Waits

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Police rounded up 33 men in a raid on a gambling den on the outskirts of Taipei Wednesday night.

As the culprits were marched over a bridge, 13 jumped into the cold waters of the Hsintien River.

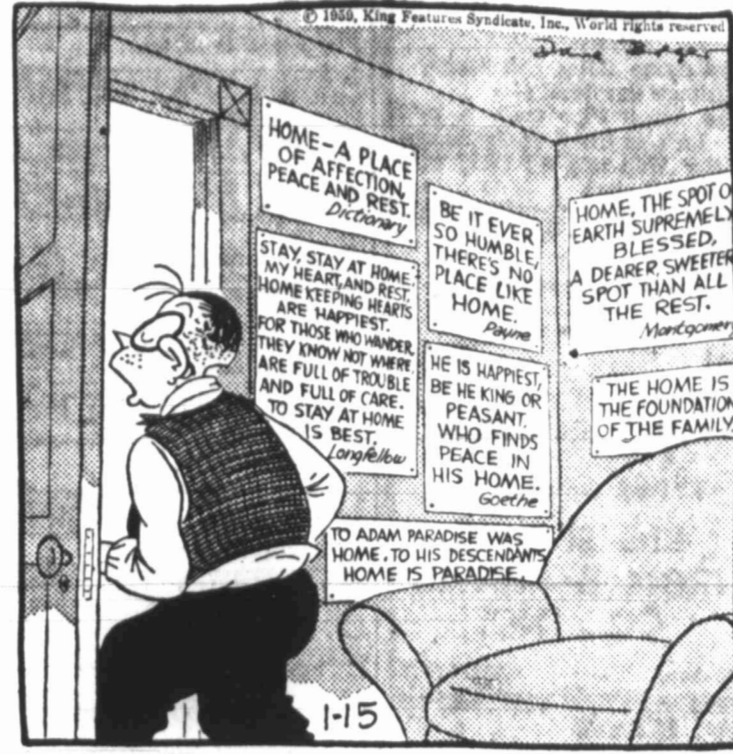

The police went after them and caught all 13. But the other 20 gamblers escaped — successfully.

Thief Was Strong

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — It took some heaving and tugging, but James M. Larson managed to move a heavy sofa and chair to the sidewalk in front of a small downtown hotel early Wednesday.

Then he went back inside to clear the lobby. When he returned to get the furniture, it was gone.

New Housing Boss Has Fight Brewing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's new housing boss, Norman P. Mason, will step squarely into the middle of a first-class row shaping up between Congress and the administration.

Mason told a reporter today that "anyone with a little fighting spirit and red blood in his veins" should welcome the give and take that goes with presenting a controversial program to a critical Congress. That's the way democcracy works, he said.

The controversy in this case: the extent of government housing programs under Eisenhower's efforts to hold down spending. Democratic critics have proposed more spending for housing.

Mason, now head of the Federal Housing Administration, was nominated by Eisenhower to head the parent Housing and Home Finance Agency. The 62-year-old Massachusetts Republican will change offices as soon as the Senate confirms his nomination.

The top FHFA post is being vacated by Albert M. Cole, who made it plain to newsmen he won't be at all sad to miss this year's give and take on Capitol Hill.

Cole will become an aluminum company executive.

Stepping into a hot spot is a repetition of history in Mason's case. He left his lumber business in North Chelmsford, Mass., in 1954 and took over at FHA after his predecessor was ousted.

Mason's assignment was to pick up the pieces after Congress turned up evidence that FHA did little to stop chiseling by some home improvement firms or to recover excess profits from builders of apartment projects who obtained loans for more than the projects cost.

The pieces were picked up. Small, stout and now gray, Mason was born in Willsboro, N.Y., Dec. 24, 1896. The family moved to Plattsburgh, N.Y., 14 years later, when his father set up a lumber and hardware business there.

Mason worked in the hardware store, signed on with the Navy in World War I, and married Helen Proctor, daughter of a North Chelmsford lumber dealer.

When his father died in 1923, Mason liquidated the Plattsburgh business and joined the William P. Proctor Lumber Co. in North Chelmsford. He was executive officer and treasurer of the Proctor firm for many years and was twice elected president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn.

The Masons have a son and a daughter, both married, and four grandsons. The son, David, now owns the Proctor firm.

Reds Pushing Atheist Drive

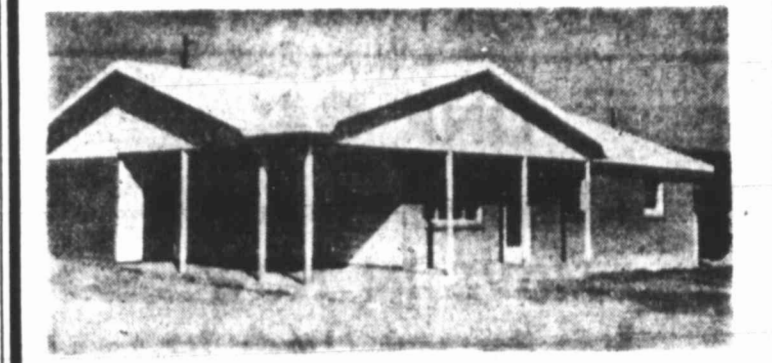

DALLAS (AP) — The Communists in Russia are stepping up their anti-religious campaign in a desperate effort to head off the growth of the church there, a Baptist world leader has asserted in Dallas.

Dr. Theodore F. Adams of Richmond, Va., president of the Baptist World Alliance, made the statement in an interview yesterday before addressing the closing session of the first Texas Baptist World Evangelism Conference.

"The Communists are determined that the Russian people will not turn to Christianity," the head of the international organization declared. "But the Baptist denomination in Russia is amazingly strong, considering what it has to contend with."

Dr. Adams, who has visited the U.S.S.R. three times, traveled some 3,500 miles in the Soviet in 1955 from Stalingrad to Yalta, visiting the various Baptist centers there.

O'Brien Discovers Tahiti No Paradise

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I've been to tougher locations in this country—on mountaintops in the Rockies and places that were infested with rattlesnakes. But at least they were never billed as paradise."

This sums up Edmond O'Brien's disillusionment after a three-month stay in Tahiti for a film location. The legendary lais of Gauguin canvases isn't paradise, the actor sighed, not by a long shot.

French moviemakers tabbed Oscar winner O'Brien for an expensive movie of the South Seas, "The Ambassadors." Oddly enough, they admired his work in a Jayne Mansfield movie, "The Girl Can't Help It," and sent him a script. He accepted, finding the role "a rare combination of Wally Berry and Humphrey Bogart."

The location in Tahiti sounded like a dream. The first inkling that it wasn't came when he applied for a visa here. The French official commented, "Don't expect too much."

Added O'Brien: "I didn't know how right he was until I got down here. As scenery, Tahiti itself was a disappointment. In the first place, there isn't a white beach on the island. The natives fish, but you seldom see them swim; the lagoons are lined with coral that can cut you to ribbons."

"Tahiti seems to have attracted all of the worst that western civilization could have brought in. The place is filled with castaways of all kinds—Americans who have sought an escape from competition, Australian millionaires and ex-millionaires who discovered women late in life. The natives hate the French, who they feel have treated them with little regard, and everyone hates the Chinese, who control the island's economy.

"The weather was murder. The average humidity was 84, and on some islands, 89. I sweated right through a mattress every night. There were no studios, so we had to shoot our interiors where we could. One place had a tin roof, and you can imagine how that was, combined with our lights for the color camera."

On the credit side, O'Brien remarked that some of the island girls are indeed beautiful, particularly those who are part-native, part-Chinese.

Film Editor Sees A Lot That We Don't

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Galvin knows that some of life's most fascinating scenes end up on a film cutting room floor.

If the nation's celebrities appear to best advantage on NBC-TV's "Today" program, they can thank Galvin, who has been carefully guarding their reputations as supervising film editor of the show since it went on the air seven years ago.

With the promise that no names would be revealed, Galvin took to reminiscing the other day. He recalled:

The filmed interview with a leading lady prominent in American politics who kept dozing while the TV reporter asked her questions. Galvin's gallant scissors made her appear wide awake.

The eminent poet who, when making a filmed commentary on his work, used language unpoetic and unfit for home consumption each time he muffed a line. When Galvin finished cutting, his remarks were both poetic and proper.

The renowned novelist who kept a glass of whisky under his chair and hoisted it frequently during a filmed interview in his home. Galvin's scissors made him look like a teetotaler.

The elder statesman who was seized by a violent and uncontrollable itch before the cameras. Galvin made sure he didn't scratch once on the home screen. Galvin has been a celebrity watcher since 1925, when he became film editor for a newsreel company at the age of 15.

All his work with film has stood Galvin in good stead when viewing TV at home. When his highly trained eyes watch a filmed show, he can tell when it's exactly 11 seconds before the commercial break—and thus gets a head start for the beer in the refrigerator.

'10 Little Indians' Top Video Fare

"Ten Little Indians," visible on NBC-TV Sunday, is not a Western or a children's story, but an English murder mystery based on Agatha Christie's "And Then There Were None."

Nina Foch will co-star with Barry Jones in the mystery.

The mystery, presented as a special, concerns 10 persons summoned mysteriously to an island off the English coast. Eight of them disappear mysteriously, and each time an Indian figurine topples from a mantle.

Cage Faces New Trials

DALLAS (AP)—BenJack Cage, whose ICT Insurance Co. empire collapsed, faces two new trials on felony theft charges here Jan. 28.

But the trials may not come off. Cage is in Brazil and may not choose to come back to the United States. This country has no extradition treaty with Brazil.

The Dallas County district attorney's office said yesterday that one of the trials set in district court here stems from a May 23, 1957, indictment alleging Cage embezzled $500,000 from the ICT Corp. in 1955.

The other trial stems from an indictment returned Dec. 9, 1957, alleging theft of $500 from ICT Corp. in connection with a payment made to a former Texas insurance commissioner.

Cage already has been convicted for embezzlement of $100,000 in ICT funds.

But while free on appeal bond he left the country and has since announced from Brazil that a huge land development program he has under way may make him enough money to pay a profit to every person who lost funds in his companies.

Sun Breaks Out In Rash Of Spots

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The sun has the worst rash of black spots on its face since 1951.

Mr. Wilson Observatory has photographed the spots—huge magnetic storms on the sun's surface. These storms emit radiation which often upsets radio and telephone communications on earth.

The spots photographed last Friday extended 100,000 miles across the sun's face. In 1951 a 125,000-mile cluster was observed. The largest on record, extending 152,000 miles, was observed in 1947.

Shattered Windows Making Nervous Wreck Of Grandma

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—"I'm so nervous I'm jumping out of my rocking chair at the slightest noise, expecting to hear more glass crash."

That is the reaction of Mrs. Charles Papineau, 80-year-old grandmother, at whose home 39 windows have been broken since a week ago Tuesday.

Police investigated, found no evidence of lawbreaking and withdrew.

John C. Parker, a self-styled authority on poltergeist — noisy ghosts—stepped in.

He said he wanted first to eliminate any possible scientific explanation.

He said he would install a recording thermometer in the bathroom of the 2½-story frame home.

Three windows have been broken in the bathroom. Parker said he wanted to check the possibility that temperature changes might have shattered the windows.

Mrs. Papineau and her 13-year-old grandson, Wayne, have both said they heard strange thumping noises just before windows crashed.

James M. Herrmann of Seaford, N.Y., whose home on Long Island experienced some unexplained bottle-top popping about a year ago, told the Springfield, (Mass.) Union:

"The only thing to do is put your faith in God and try to go on. Don't be frightened that the things that are happening may not be explainable. Try as much as possible to control yourself and accept what is happening. Accept it as something being visited upon you."

Mikoyan Carries Himself As If He Were Running For Office

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
NEW YORK (AP)—"That guy!" gasped the veteran West Coast reporter. "There was that one little kid with a big red baseball cap in the whole crowd. This Mikoyan no more gets out the door than he spots him and goes right over to pat him on the head. All the cameras went off at once."

The scene had taken place at Perino's restaurant on Wilshire Boulevard in Los Angeles.

In Detroit an exhausted reporter at the end of a long day sank into his chair at the office: "If Mickey Mantle could only have the legs this guy has got! He must have walked 10 miles today through all those auto plants. And he's 63 years old too."

At the Lincoln Electric Co. plant in Cleveland Mikoyan stopped to chat with a worker who spoke a bit of Russian. After a brief but cordial exchange, Mikoyan extended his hand to give a warm clasp and said: "And please do remember to give my very best wishes to your father and mother."

At a news conference at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles a correspondent asked a ticklish question: "How is it that you have managed to survive through four governments of the Soviet Union when others have not?"

Without a flicker of an eyelash, Mikoyan quipped in reply: "Didn't

I say before that I thought I was fortunate . . ."

All these and dozens of other incidents illustrate one fact about Anastas I. Mikoyan. He takes to political campaigning like a duck to water. He has a gift for doing exactly the right thing at the right time in order to win over his audience or grab the stage. He loves being in the limelight. And he doesn't mind an uphill struggle.

"You know if he were to stick around for a while I think he would get elected senator," joked a California businessman.

And in fact in his seven-day, five-city coast-to-coast tour of America, Mikoyan was waging a real political campaign. He was running against the deep mistrust for the Soviet Union which by now is ingrained in the American mind. He was campaigning to establish a picture of a Soviet leader as a warm, friendly, humorous and human type of person. He was campaigning against trade restrictions, against suspension of Soviet motives. The platform he was running on was peace and an end to the cold war, more trade and more contacts between the Soviet Union and America, and the concept of "let's talk things over even if we don't think we can settle anything."

The Mikoyan technique includes humor, frankness, reasonableness, a warmly human approach and unperturbed stolidity in the face of open hostility.

His sense of humor has made more impression than perhaps any other single element in his approach.

On Adlai Stevenson: "After our talk with him Khrushchev and I exchanged impressions. We decided here is thinking American who desires to understand us better. He lacked a few million votes of becoming president. Perhaps if we had been approached we could have lent them to him."

On U.S. trade restrictions: "Among things permitted for export to the Soviet Union are laxatives. Thank you, but it is impossible to soften us up that way."

Seen at close quarters over a period of time, Mikoyan emerges as a man of enormous vitality and energy. This is not merely a matter of being able to walk miles, make one speech after another before tough audiences, and get by at times with only a few hours sleep. It is a question of having the bounding vigor which makes these things and the other responsibilities of Soviet statesmanship a creative opportunity and not just a chore.

Graham Must Take A Rest

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—An eye ailment will force Billy Graham to take a month's rest and then curtail his future activities, says the evangelist's personal physician, Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago.

Dr. Gieser said Wednesday night he and Mayo Clinic specialists had confirmed that Graham was suffering from a spastic swelling of blood vessels back of the retina of the left eye, cutting sight of that eye by about 50 per cent.

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would take the rest ordered by the doctors after remaining here the rest of this week for further examination and treatment.

Wilson said the Australian was still planning on the Australian revival crusade, with its start set back to Feb. 15. Where Graham would spend the month's rest has not been decided.

Wilson said the Australian program probably would be shortened somewhat. He added that a complete report on Graham's physical condition was not expected until later this week.

Show Of Magic, Mystery To Be Staged Here Tuesday

A night of bafflement and bewilderment is in store with the presentation here of the "Mystorama," a magic show presented by Boxley and Marie.

The performance is scheduled for Tuesday, January 20, at the city auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. It is under sponsorship of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, which will use proceeds to further their charity projects.

Advance tickets are on sale at Hester's Supply, or may be obtained at the box office. Admission is $1 for adults, and 50 cents for all students, including the junior college group.

Boxley and Marie star in a colorful and fast-moving stage revue.

Ailment Was Flue, And Spelled Right

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Emma Little's winter-long ailment has been diagnosed as the flue—with an "E."

Doctors had examined her but failed to turn up the cause of her headaches, nausea, loss of weight and weakness.

Then they found that people who visited her got sick, too.

A check of the furnace showed the flue leaking carbon monoxide into the house.

Now the flue is all right and Mrs. Little is getting better.

PIPE LINE PLANNED

CRMWD Water Rates Are Set

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, meeting in Big Spring Wednesday, adopted water rates for 1959 and set the stage for asking bids on a new pipe line.

As soon as plans are completed and right-of-way acquisition has progressed sufficiently, the district will ask for proposals on a supply line from Odessa to the Martin County pump station. Alternates for a 30-inch or a 33-inch line, or a combination of 30 and 33-inch lines, will be sought. Installation of the line will permit the district to pump water from lake J. B. Thomas through one line and that from the well field during the other peaking periods.

Because the line may not be in use this summer, the board adopted a resolution which would open the way for use of as much as $25,000 for development of well fields in the member cities, principally Odessa. Production from the city wells would be used to supplement other supplies in periods of peak demand.

Under the rate schedule adopted by the board and as required by the trust indenture, member cities will pay a total of $1,263,983 as compared with $1,190,947 paid in 1958. The difference in charges is due primarily to two factors—anticipated increased consumption by the cities, and absorbing new financing costs resulting from issuance in 1958 of $4,600,000 additional revenue bonds.

The revenue yield is based on a monthly fixed charge of $76,916 to the cities, plus six cents per thousand gallons for all water used. The monthly fixed charges for cities are divided as follows: Odessa $50,811, Big Spring $20,548, and Snyder $5,557.

The division of the estimated revenues from cities is as follows (with 1958 yields in parentheses): Odessa $797,852 ($740,411), Big Spring $363,887 ($353,451), Snyder $102,264 ($97,085).

Although the price per thousand is finally determined by consumption, the estimates of the cities on water to be required would make the rates come out as follows for 1959 (1958 actual figures in parentheses): Odessa 22.75 cents (23.62), Big Spring 18.21 (18.06), Snyder 16.93 (16.37).

The board formally approved the previously adopted budget for 1959 calling for revenues of $1,850,631.97 and expenditures of $682,157 for debt service plus $370,000 for general operations and $506,730 for transfer to various funds in keeping with the trust indenture. The budget cannot be finally adopted until bond holders have had a chance to object, and if course there were no objections.

thus put the district in a better position to talk about financing another major water supply project.

That project is envisioned as another lake on the upper Colorado River in southern Mitchell County. E. V. Spence, general manager, said that the district has been making studies under a presentation to the state water board, and that in July the district would seek to convert the presentation into a water permit. Such a lake as presently contemplated, would yield 50 million gallons of water per day, said S. C. Freese, Fort Worth, engineer for the district.

Directors adopted a resolution which would permit the release of Section 17, Block 32, Township 1-south, in Howard County as a potential part of the city's water supply. Once the city had several small wells on the tract, but they have long since been abandoned. Now the city has offers to sell its holdings in the section.

The inter-fund transfer of funds was approved. By this resolution, directors applied $72,409.76 of last year's restricted surplus to the contingency fund, $177,562.98 to the improvement and extension fund, and $335,532.56 to the retirement fund.

Besides the board members, others attending the session at the Settles Hotel were City Manager A. K. Steinheimer, City Commissioner Ward Hall and City Attorney Wayne Basden of Big Spring.

Castro Adamant On Killings; Pays No Heed To Criticisms

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—“We have given orders to shoot every one of these murderers,” Fidel Castro declared Wednesday night in a speech to Batista's executed by the revolutionary regime was reported at 185.

Criticism mounted abroad of the hurried military trials and firing squad deaths. But the rebel chief, asked by newsmen if the executions would be stopped, replied:

“No. To the contrary, we have given orders to shoot every one of these murderers. And if we have to battle world opinion to mete out justice, we are prepared to do it.”

Castro had scheduled a news conference later in the evening but called it off with word that he was ill. The nature of his illness was not disclosed, but the strenuous life he has led during the past two weeks was probably telling on him.

Reports reaching Havana said as the total of Batista's executed by the revolutionary regime was reported at 185.

Five more executions were reported from Manzanillo, in Oriente province, where eight others were shot Monday. Three former Batista soldiers were condemned to death at Colon, in west Cuba's Matanzas province.

Estimates of those in jail awaiting trial rose to between 4,000 and 6,000. Castro's forces were still hunting perhaps 5,000 fugitive soldiers, police and informers accused of carrying on the dictator's repression.

As yet, no trials or executions had been reported in Havana. Provisional President Manuel Urrutia's government continued to give assurance that newsmen would be furnished names of the accused and charges against them.

and invited to watch the trials. But the military courts in the provinces apparently were going ahead full steam without waiting for publicity.

Referring to his U.S. critics, Castro tartly told newsmen: “You can tell them that the time to worry about (the executions) was while the tyrant was in power and they were behind him.”

Revolutionary leaders estimate that 20,000 Cubans died, were tortured or otherwise suffered during Batista's second six-year period in power.

Scattered criticism of the court-martial justice began to develop in Latin America, as well as in the United States. Two newspapers in Rio de Janeiro, one in Buenos Aires and one in Costa Rica called for more deliberating action.

In Washington two of the U.S. Senate's more influential members, Styles Bridges (R-NH) and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) joined in the public expression of condemnation.

First Casting Of Space Metal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists have produced the first casting of molybdenum, a metallic element which has excellent strength at high temperatures.

The Interior Department described this as a major metallurgical breakthrough of importance to space and missile programs.

Marting J. Ankeny, director of the Bureau of Mines, said scientists at the agency's Albany, Ore., laboratory had produced a simple cylindrical molybdenum casting. He said the metallurgists now are trying to improve techniques so intricate shapes can be created by the process.

He said such intricate items would advance the development of missiles, rockets and satellites, giving the missile engineer greater flexibility of design and a cheaper way to construct vital components.

The strength which molybdenum has at high temperatures is needed for certain applications in missile parts. The metal increases the hardness and strength of steel. But its high melting point—4,748 degrees Fahrenheit—destroyed the crucibles used in earlier attempts to cast it. By comparison, pure iron melts at 2,795 degrees.

Here is how the casting was made:

Under remote-control conditions, a high-density electric arc was used to melt a 30-pound charge of molybdenum in a water-cooled, copper-lined melting pot.

The intensely hot material was poured through a series of troughs into a rotating graphite cylinder that forced the metal to the walls of the rotating mold. There the metal consolidated, froze and produced a hollow molybdenum cylinder 4 1/2 inches wide and 8 inches long.

The United States has about 90 per cent of the world's known molybdenum reserves, most of it in Colorado, Utah, Arizona, California, New Mexico and Nevada.

Final Gin Reports Show 30,554 Bales Of Cotton

Texas Employment Commission released its final cotton ginning report on Wednesday night, downgraded its first predicted crop totals sharply to match the figures the gins reported.

Howard County's 1958 cotton crop stood at 30,554 bales on Wednesday. The new estimate of the total crop is 30,554. Originally the estimate had been set at 39,000.

Martin County had ginned 49,452 bales to Wednesday. New crop estimate for this county is 50,662.

Glasscock County has ginned 7,644 of an estimated 7,745 bale crop.

TEC said that the cotton is now harvested to all practical purposes. Only a few straggling fields remain to be cleaned up and few additional bales will be ginned.

The army of bracers who had been in the three counties during the fall, TEC reported, is diminishing rapidly. Only 180 bracers still remained in Howard County on Wednesday. There were 498 in Martin County, 85 in Glasscock County and 12 in Sterling County.

Taste-Tantalizers

Cut and ready for the deep freeze is this batch of cheese pastries which Mrs. E. R. Wood enjoys serving to friends. They evoked plenty of calls for seconds when she served them last week to fellow members of the Modern Woman's Forum. The recipe is shared in the accompanying story.

Versatile Cook Relies Heavily On Her Well Stocked Freezer

Thanks to the deep freeze, Mrs. E. R. Wood declares she can prepare almost any kind of meal on very short notice. Planning is the real key—knowing just what and how to stock.

Days before holiday seasons, the freezer is packed with desserts and goodies for family and friends. Being able to cook well in advance of the occasion allows Mrs. Wood to enjoy holiday festivities as much as those who don't have to keep menus in mind.

A handy trick that she passes along is this: Stew a chicken or hen, store the white and dark meat in separate containers in the freezer, and don't forget to freeze the stock too. These foods will yield such delicacies as chicken pot pie, creamed chicken, salad, sandwiches or soup, at the drop of a hat.

Cooking is a genuine pleasure for our featured cook. She especially enjoys preparing foreign dishes and relies heavily on packaged mixes. For instance, she uses mixes for pizza and adds her own individual touches with garnishes of pork sausage, sliced thin and fried, or chopped hot green peppers. Sometimes she varies the Italian dish with mushrooms.

In stirring up enchiladas, she usually buys the frozen tortillas although she has on occasion made her own. Softening the tortillas in a commercial enchilada sauce, she fills the bread rounds with grated cheese and onion and smothers them with her own chili.

Sewing for her two little granddaughters used to be Mrs. Wood's pastime, until they moved too far distant. The couple's sons and their families reside in Calgary, Alberta, Canada and Aspermont. There are three grandsons.

Gardening is a favored spare-time activity of the Woods. In the two years since their move here from Abilene, they have made a gem of their backyard, at 1517 Tucson, which was included last year in the garden pilgrimage. The yardwork is principally the lookout of Mr. Wood, who is assistant district superintendent for Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. He is a gun collector and his enthusiasm for fishing, boating and camping finally caught on with his wife, who enjoyed the camping trip to Colorado last summer as much as anyone else in the party.

Mrs. Wood, who is studying oil painting, is a member of the Fanny Hodges Circle of First Methodist Church, the Oasis Garden Club, and Modern Woman's Forum. She entertained the Forum last week at her home, and so complimentary were they of her tea dainties that we persuaded her to share the recipes. Here they are:

CHEESE PASTRIES
1 stick oleo
1/2 lb. American cheese, grated
1 cup flour
Pinch of salt
Mix together the ingredients as for pie dough. Although you do not use any liquid, it will stick together in a ball. Roll out about

Yeast Dough Test

Test for yeast dough: It has risen enough if, after pressing the surface lightly with a finger, a dent remains.

Heat Rolls

Heating rolls? Drop them into a brown paper bag, twist the opening closed and place in a hot (about 425 degrees) oven for 10 minutes or so.

Table Etiquette

Spoons and forks accompanying bowls of jelly or sliced pickles should be placed beside the dishes, not in them, when you're setting the table.

The Mousse Is A Boon To Chefs

The lady "at home" these days has so many places to spend her time that it's a shame to keep her in the kitchen.

The club room, the garden, the school, and often the office compete with the kitchen for every minute of the modern homemaker's day. Thanks to refrigeration and modern pantry shelf products like evaporated milk, the family chef of today can whip up a full-course meal in less time than it took her grandmother to shell the peas.

Regard, for example, the evaporated milk mousse. This is the stuff that cooks' dreams are made of — meals that are quick, cheap, and distinctly glamorous.

The word "mousse" itself breathes joy of living. It means "foam" in French. It's also used to describe the bubbles in champagne. Essentially, a mousse in the kitchen is a light, foamy mixture of cream and gelatine and any kind of meat, fish, vegetable, fruit, or other flavoring. It can be made in a spare moment in the morning and then set in the refrigerator until the meal.

Made with evaporated milk, a mousse is both lower in calories and lower in cost than one made with cream. Just chill the milk in a freezing tray until ice crystals begin to form, then whip like cream.

A main-dish mousse needs only a light soup, perhaps a hot bread, and a dessert to make an elegant luncheon menu. A dessert mousse gives a festive fillip to an otherwise simple meal.

Here are some mousse recipes as a starter. The ingenious homemaker will soon discover variations of her own.

SALMON MOUSSE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup flaked salmon
1/2 cup finely diced celery
1/4 cup chopped ripe olives
1 1/2 cup icy cold evaporated milk
Sprinkle gelatine over cold water in saucepan. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat. Gradually stir into mayonnaise; add lemon juice, salt, ginger and Tabasco. Fold in salmon, celery and olives. Whip evaporated milk; fold into gelatine mixture.

Turn into a 5-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; surround with salad greens. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tall can (1 1/2 cups) evaporated milk, divided
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels

1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in 1/2 cup of evaporated milk; add morsels. Place over boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine and sugar are dissolved and morsels are melted. Remove from heat, stir in vanilla.

Chill, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. While gelatine is chilling, pour remaining 1 cup evaporated milk into refrigerator freezer tray. Freeze until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or on high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff. Fold gelatine mixture into whipped evaporated milk.

Chill until firm. Spoon into serving dish. Serve with marshmallow Cream Sauce.

MARSHMALLOW CREAM SAUCE

1 cup prepared marshmallow cream

2 tablespoons evaporated milk
Combine marshmallow cream and evaporated milk in bowl; blend with fork until smooth. Yield: 6 servings.

CHILI BURGERS

Heat one can Ireland's Lean Beef Chili. Spoon over hamburgers on toasted buns. Quick to serve, and de-licious!

Morton's POTATO CHIPS

The filling can be made several days ahead of time, but of course do not fill the tart shells until serving time.

CHEESE PIE FILLING

2 eggs
1/2 cup butter
Pinch of salt
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup fresh or frozen lemon juice
1 cup white raisins
Vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Beat eggs with fork; stir in butter, salt, sugar, lemon juice and raisins. Bring to boil over low heat. Cool and stir in nuts and vanilla. Cool or refrigerate overnight.

Spoon into very small tart shells that will hold only a teaspoonful.

Note: Mrs. Wood's favorite way of making tarts is to cut the dough with fancy round cookie cutters, then work the rounds into muffin wells so that there will be enough depth for fillings.

BROWN SUGAR KISSES

2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, sifted
Vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped dates
Beat egg whites, add salt. While beating constantly, add the brown sugar slowly. Fold in vanilla and chopped nuts. Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees F.

A Devotional For Today

Thou hast made known to me the ways of life; thou shalt make me full of joy with countenance. (Acts 2:28.)

PRAYER: O merciful Father, help us to love one another as Thou hast loved us. Enable us to live for things that make for peace. Cleanse our hearts and purify our souls. In the name of the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ, our Saviour. Amen.

Committee Request Is Reasonable

A committee from the Permian Basin Medical Society has presented a request to the City Commissioners Court on Monday asking a study of the methods of handling indigent patients.

Four private hospitals handled indigent patients last year at a cost of $61,925. Of this only $7,375 was paid by the county. The committee also presented figures which showed that neighboring governmental agencies made substantial contributions to care of indigent patients.

The committee pointed out that the figures were for hospitalization only and did not include doctor fees and did not include any charge off for bad debts.

The doctors have a point. Hospitalization is a service, and private institutions exist by making a charge for service. Actually, the situation is no different than someone getting into the barber's chair and ordering a haircut, or taking clothes to the cleaning or pressing shop, or to stretch the analogy, from going into a store and taking goods that are needed. In every instance the businessman is entitled to remuneration. The only difference is that hospitalization is frequently an emergency situation, and therefore hospitals may find themselves obliged to admit a patient on the spur of the moment without any assurance of pay. That's the side of it a businessman doesn't have to contend with because he can refuse service to those unable to pay if he desires.

Actually, what the committee is asking at this stage is reasonable enough—namely that the two governmental bodies name a committee to make a thorough study of the situation. From that, some recommendations could be made.

Area With A Problem And A Need

Residents of the area west of State Park Road and north of FM 700 have petitioned the City of Big Spring for connection with the city sewer system.

Their area is downhill from the nearest tie-ins to the sewer lines, hence a new outfall to tie in with the city's main outfall line along U. S. 80 appears the only answer. The city is to conduct a study on costs which were roughly estimated at $20,000 to $30,000.

This, of course, will bring up the matter of finances so far as the city is concerned, for such an amount has not been budgeted. Unless other projects can be shuffled on the time table or some long term financing such as by warrants, etc., can be worked out, this is a formidable problem.

Yet, the people in that area have a formidable problem, too. The number of homes has increased — and is still increasing — to the point that soil into which cesspools have been sunk is reaching a saturation point. Already there are reports of some overflow, and despite best efforts to pump out it would be almost impossible to stay abreast on that number of homes. Thus, conceivably the health of the community is and can be involved in this question.

Some 60 persons signed the petitions, indicating that number of connects. Growth would probably add greatly to the total so that in time the extension of the line would pay out. The problem is to find some way to absorb the cost now in order to provide a sorely needed service to an area that is entitled to that service.

David Lawrence

The Issue Of A Stable Economy

WASHINGTON—The battle of the century has begun. How it will affect the future of the American dollar for decades to come. On the way the die is cast in the next few months depends the purchasing power of the pay envelopes of millions of Americans. Will the dollar remain stable or will it decline still further? For today the dollar is worth 48 cents in terms of what it was worth just 20 years ago—and if the forces of confiscation have their way, it could go down to 25 cents in another decade. The whole world is watching to see what America does. It affects trade everywhere.

tion than ever before to economic defense. As for those who say that military spending should be expanded, no matter what it costs, there is a simple test of sincerity. Would they support heavier taxes and more important even than higher taxes—would they vote for governmental wage-and-price controls? Why, if the "cold war" is so hot, shouldn't American labor unions and business corporations be held in check so that the price of the same bomber that the government buys today will not be twice as much two years hence? For that's what has happened in the last five years to push a large part of our defense budget upward.

The battle against a stable dollar is being waged here right now under respectable auspices by men in Congress who scorn the label "radical" but who would commit the United States to expenditures far beyond the President's budget. Already the American people are being told by the political partisans that a "balanced budget" means insecurity or indifference to the military safety of the country. To play upon such fears, the devotees of the doctrine of spending evidently believe, is to get sanction for big appropriations—more billions for missiles or expeditions to the moon.

President Eisenhower's well-reasoned "State of the Union" message was printed in full text only here and there in a few newspapers of the country. He will have to go on the television, again and again, and issue more and more written expositions of his policy to make real headway against his opponents. The critics get more space in the press and on the air than do the defenders.

What is needed now is confidence in the nation's chief executive—the very man who commanded the Allied armies in Europe just a few years ago, and whose integrity and lifetime devotion to the military security of his country ought not to be questioned. Would Dwight Eisenhower ever fail to recommend any military proposal that was really needed? Would he neglect the defense of America?

Partisan-minded people and those members of Congress with a vested interest in currying favor in their home states and districts through more and more spending on defense factories and local facilities, which could mean bigger payrolls for their constituents, are demanding "more defense" and arousing fears about the nation's security. Only an informed public opinion can win this crucial battle against bankruptcy. For this is what the battle of the century in Washington really means.

Months of Mr. Eisenhower has been absorbed for months formulating the new budget. He has held lengthy conferences with our military leaders and with our economic experts. Honest, patriotic, experienced military men, without any political bias, helped to make the new budget. It was no casual decision by one man that led the President to announce that he believed the budget for the next fiscal year could be balanced.

Unless the American people can see through the maze of propaganda and alarmist talk, and put into proper perspective the selfish ambitions of some of their legislators, Macaulay's prophecy of more than 100 years ago that the American ship of state is doomed to destroy itself because it is "all sail and no anchor" could, indeed, come true.

What is the biggest single fact about our military position? The intercontinental missile is not yet perfected, but the intermediate missile can be fired from bases in Europe close to Soviet Russia.

The truth is, moreover, the Soviet leaders know their country can be devastated in a matter of hours. Both sides know a "mutual deterrent" has come into being. There's a stalemate on the military side.

The urgent question now, therefore, is not the spending of unlimited amounts on military defense, but giving more attention to the

Russia's Schools Today

Emphasize Arts, Not Science

By RUTH DUNBAR

MOSCOW—Russia, a nation that worships science, does less for children who excel in science than for those who are talented in singing drawing or the ballet.

It is one of the glaring incongruities of the Soviet school system. Special schools for those gifted in art, music or the dance have a long tradition. But in all of Russia there is nothing like the classes for gifted high school students, or the advanced placement classes that separate the brightest to permit them to take college-level work while still in high school.

Russian educators told us that developing special schools for students gifted in math and science is one of their pressing problems. Now that the Soviet school system is about to be overhauled, the problem becomes more pressing.

PUT CHILDREN TO WORK

As spelled out by Soviet Prime Minister Nikita Khrushchev the plan for the future calls for sending children to work in factories or on collective farms at the age of 14 or 15. Anyone wishing to prepare for higher education would have to do so in evening or correspondence classes.

However, Khrushchev made two exceptions. Children gifted in art, music, dancing and mathematics should be excused he said. And "for a transition period," a few 10-year schools should continue. They would limit their enrollment to students with special ability in such subjects as physics, biology and mechanical drawing. Khrushchev said.

When Russia this year enforced a new rule requiring students to work two years between secondary school graduation and college, it exempted those superior in math and science.

Apparently the Soviet Union does not intend to jeopardize its scientific progress by its new educational program, even though Communist dogma holds that everyone should do manual work.

A pattern seems to be evolving in both the 10-year schools and universities. Those gifted in science and math will be rushed through to work in the laboratories and classrooms, while others must toil by the wayside, completing their education the hard way and the long way.

In America, exceptionally bright children are provided for in three ways: They may be segregated (frowned on until recently, now rapidly spreading); they may be accelerated (by skipping grades); or they may be given an "enriched" program in the classroom.

Russia so far neither segregates nor permits grade-skipping, though she favors enrichment. There, as here, success or failure of enrichment probably depends on how overburdened the teacher is—and Russian teachers, like American, are overworked.

In theory, educators said bright children are given special classroom tasks and supplemental homework. One said: "We enlist them as our aids and make them feel they are helping us teach."

(Slow students, too, are supposed to get special homework, less difficult and more review in nature.)

Although the classroom opportunities for the gifted are less than impressive, the out-of-school activities provide a rich field for self development. In stations for young nature lovers and in technical stations, bright students can work with adult scientists. In circles in Pioneer palaces, they can engage in activities related to almost any intellectual interest.

Probably one reason Russia has not established special schools for students gifted in academic subjects is that the Soviets believe all children can do well if they only work hard enough.

At the Gorki Pedagogical Institute in Kiev, the head of the mathematics and physics department insisted that every child is capable of doing the algebra, geometry, trigonometry and the 10-year science program required in a 10-year school.

"It is the teacher's fault if students don't do the work," he asserted. "The students are capable of it. We must prepare our teachers so that they can encourage and interest students."

DIFFERENCES REJECTED

The Russians apparently reject the idea that children differ in native intelligence. They hold that some are slow because of laziness and some because of illness. Sometimes they blame a child's deficiencies on disease in the parents.

In a school for the mentally retarded, the principal said one child's handicap was caused by a high fever in the mother during pregnancy. Asked about another case, he said it couldn't be diagnosed because the child's father is dead.

Russian schools are not permitted to use IQ tests. The Communists consider them a capitalistic technique that divides people into classes.

The program in Russia's schools for the gifted in art, music and ballet is rugged, because artistic training is piled on top of the regular 10-year curriculum. Normally, students have a longer school day and require 11 years to complete the course.

In Moscow, we visited a school for the gifted in art, considered the best of Russia's five special art schools. Children are admitted at the fifth grade, following a grueling 10-day examination during which their work is judged by a commission of artists.

Last year, the principal told us, 1,500 applications poured in from all over Russia for the school's 50 vacancies. Applicants were screened and 250 were invited to Moscow (at their own expense) to take the examination.

Each year, about 70 per cent of the students are boys, not because of any preference but just because "it turns out that way," the principal said.

However, he added: "The profession of expressive art is very hard. Many excursions are required to get material for pictures. Often parents of girls don't want them to undertake it. It's easier for a girl to be a doctor or an engineer—those professions are full of girls."

Fifth grade students at the art school get eight hours a week of art training; this increases to 20 hours in their last year. They also must attend a compulsory summer camp for 26 days, where they draw or paint three hours a day.

FUNDAMENTALS STRESSED

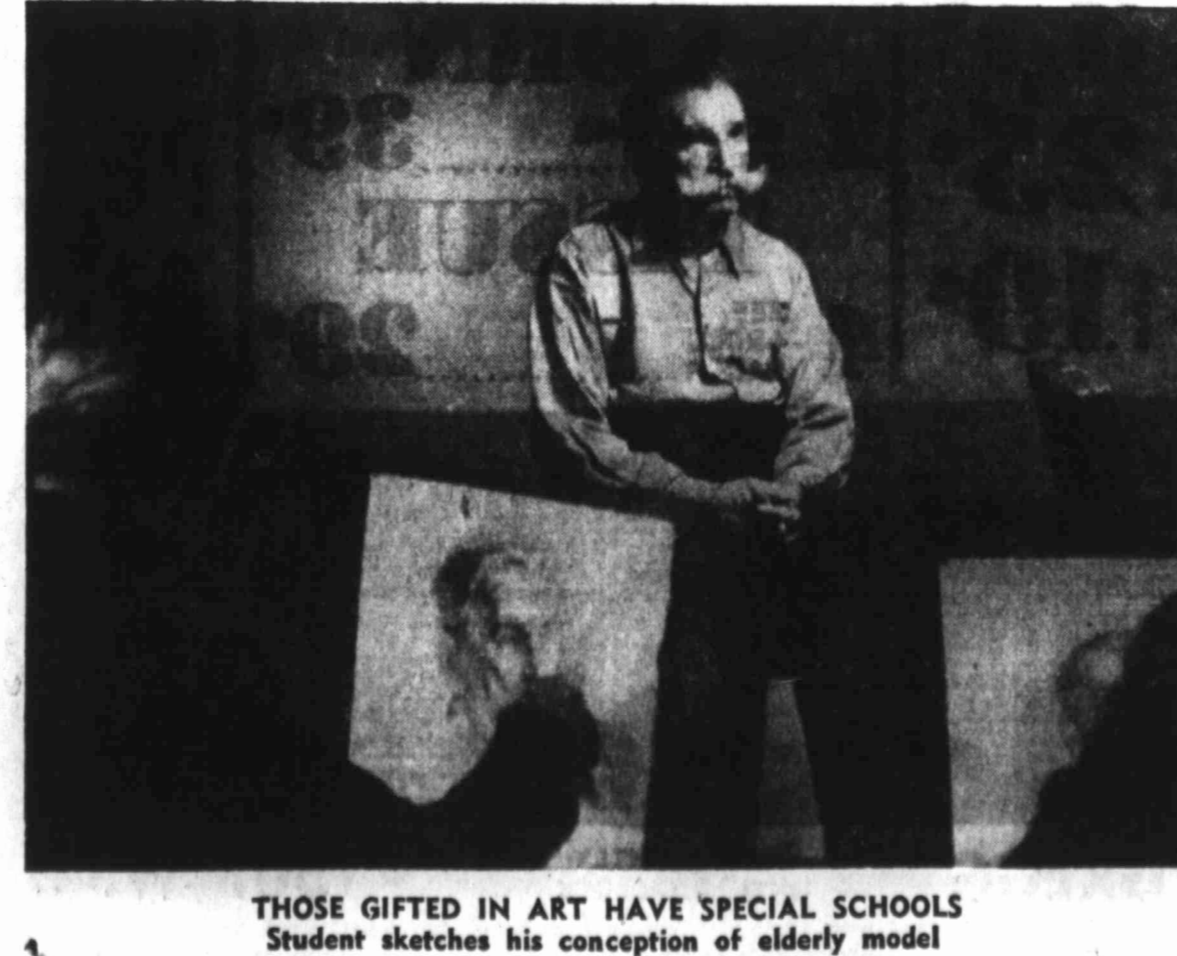

Art training is strictly concrete and realistic. The day we visited the school, a ninth-grade class was learning the anatomical foundations of art in a three-part exercise. First they were drawing a human skull, then a plaster cast of a head showing muscle structure, and finally the head of a live model.

An eleventh grade class was making pencil sketches of three wonderful Russian types. Another class was drawing a live nude model who warmed himself with an electric heater in the chilly Russian classroom. The teacher was an artist who spends 14 hours a week teaching.

The students' early training in human anatomy showed in the work of advanced classes. Their drawings were real flesh-and-blood people.

Abstract or surrealist art is considered a corrupt, bourgeois form in the Soviet Union. Asked what would happen should students show a preference for such techniques, the principal said: "We have never had such a case. I know a few adults who like abstract art, but no children. The artist must have a sound basis in realism before he can give expression to his imagination. Otherwise his work will be very superficial. Even when we allow free expression, students must stick to the realistic."

TOMORROW: Ivan is thoroughly indoctrinated with the view that communism is the best of all possible systems, capitalism the worst.

What's New About Missiles? The Cost!

There's nothing very new about the guided missile program. Except the cost. It's not a product of this so-called space age. Rather, it started 40 years ago next Sunday — on Jan. 18, 1918.

On that date the Army Signal Corps signed a contract with Dayton Metal Products for the production of missiles. The Signal Corps ordered 25 of the primitive rockets.

The price was $575 each, and therein is what's new about the missile program. Today, they say, the things cost millions of dollars apiece.

McGraw-Hill, the publishing firm, recently dug up the facts on the Army's first missile contract. The information is being published in Product Engineering, a McGraw-Hill magazine.

The late Charles F. Kettering, inventor who became famous as one of the guiding lights in General Motors Corp., designed the Army's first missile. It was described as an air-breathing aircraft equipped with gyro guidance and barometric controls.

Kettering's goal was to develop a weapon that would outdistance a high-explosive shell, would be automatic in operation, and would explode on landing, its parts acting like shrapnel.

The missile, called the "Bug," weighed 320 pounds, according to Product Engineering. Two hundred pounds of the weight was high explosive and 30 pounds was gasoline. Kettering claimed it would fly 50 miles with a quarter of one per cent error, which sounds pretty accurate.

The device could be assembled in four minutes in the field, and could extend its flying distance by 100 miles if 30 additional pounds of fuel were substituted for that much explosive.

The fuselage consisted of a cheap wood frame covered with cardboard. The tail section was a paper cone held on by a lone wing nut. Wings also were of wood framing, covered with cloth, paper and dope. It was to be launched from a four-wheel carriage which rolled along a track, preferably downhill until flying speed was attained.

The missile apparently never got in combat. In fact, McGraw-Hill reporters haven't been able to determine whether it even worked.

Perhaps the first shot went into orbit. If so, the whole program may have been abandoned as a failure.

Even The Frankfurter Is Not Sacred

There are horrendous things before which the mind boggles today, dark deeds too horrible to contemplate, and one of these is a frankfurter made of tuna fish.

An authoritative food and marketing column in one of the newspapers I read says that such a gastronomic blight is now ready for distribution in the nation's food emporiums. I submit that this delicacy may be a fishfurter, but a frankfurter it ain't!

Now before the whole tuna fish industry lights the fire under the tar pot and writes my employer, demanding that he liquidate me forthwith, let me say that I have nothing against tuna fish, per se. Indeed, I like the stuff, especially in sandwiches and salads. I am mighty partial to that delicacy so often served as an appetizer along the Mediterranean in hot weather, Salad Nicoise, in which tuna fish plays a leading role.

In fact, I have a kind of neat hand with a Nicoise in my own kitchen.

So, now that I have established the fact that I am pro tuna and anti-Communist, let me say — and this is not original — that there is a time and a place for everything, but there is no time and no place into which a tuna fishburger could possibly fit.

Let me warn the nation that if this trifling with the frankfurter is not stopped at once, its fate will be that of the hamburger. This magnificent dish has undergone steady deterioration and infiltration by strange substances in the past 20 years.

It is a real chore today to get a pristine, simon-pure hamburger made of prime, ground beef, as in the original recipe fortuitously inscribed on the Rosetta Stone.

This nation today abounds with sickly imitations of the real 'burger. There are nutburgers, cheeseburgers, chickenburgers, wineburgers, turkeyburgers, lambburgers, charcoal charred burgers and barbecuedburgers. And no man knows what is in any of them, and is afraid to ask.

In the ritzy expense-account joints, a hamburger is now known as "chopped prime sirloin steak" and costs $3.95. But there is this much to be said for it, if you have an expense account. The gold-plated version of the original hamburger comes as close to the genuine article as a "burger aficionado" is apt to get nowadays.

You can scarcely pick up a paper or a magazine any more without finding still another article on the great demand in the United States for what the trade calls "gourmet food." Now if you read these articles carefully, you will find that "gourmet" food is any food to which wine, herbs or truffles have been added.

For instance, if you take some stewing beef, soak it in red wine for 24 hours, and add a pinch of this and a dot of that, you've got Bouef Vigneronne or gourmet grub. Once you catch on, it's as simple as A-B-C.

And now the tunafurter is making a debut in the gourmet circle, to be served doubtless with tartar sauce and a ladle of cold slaw on the side.

Well, if the next time you stop to buy a "Red hot, hot, red HOTS," buy your "franks here" and the whole thing has a fishy taste, don't say I didn't warn you.

Of course, the real trouble is basic: Nothing is sacred any more.

Allies Not Happy About Missile Bases

WASHINGTON—The stage is already being set for one of those great ceremonial whingdings that frequently flutter this capital. On April 4 (the foreign ministers, defense ministers and perhaps also the heads of government of the 14 other NATO powers will converge on Washington to mark the 10th anniversary of the founding of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

One can almost write the speeches now—ever-growing strength, solidarity, unity, all the changes on the familiar words. But behind this handsomely decked facade will be—unless it is solved in the meantime—a conflict involving the high politics of missiles and the defense of the West. For while it is drowned out by the noise of the political dispute here at home over missile strength, or the lack of it, the same controversy engages America's allies.

An incident occurred recently that revealed the nature of the conflict. In the dispute over the Army's intermediate range missile, the Jupiter, and the Air Force's IRBM, the Thor, the Army argued for the mobility of its Jupiter. General John B. Medaris, head of the Redstone Arsenal that developed the Jupiter, claims it can be fired from almost anywhere with the simplest of instruments, whereas the Thor must have a fixed base with extensive installations.

With the Air Force under a White House decision taking over both missiles, Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker received a letter from Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas ordering that no further funds be spent on the development of mobility. The Army had about $48,000,000 which it proposed to use to that end.

Brucker's associates represented him as being indignant at this order. But he felt he could do nothing about it since he believed it had been inspired by Under Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles, who has from the first been the ardent advocate of the Thor.

Because of the attitude of America's allies this gets squarely into the high politics of missile defense. France originally indicated that it will have no American missiles based on French soil. More recently a strong hint has come from Gen. Charles de Gaulle himself that France may eventually accept mobile missiles.

To put in permanent installations, taking valuable French soil and necessitating the presence of American forces, would create political friction, according to the hint from France's new President. What is more, such permanent installations, which would surely be known to the Russians, would be targets for a Soviet nuclear attack.

The Italians are said to feel somewhat the same way about permanent missile bases. Even the West Germans are understood to be dubious about setting up such conspicuous permanent installations.

The British have signed an agreement to take four squadrons of Thor's with 15 missiles to a squadron. This is reported to have been on the understanding that they would in the first instance be 50 per cent effective and ultimately they will be replaced by Thors that are 85 per cent effective.

In view of the developing doubts it would seem that the future strength of the alliance turns in some degree on the settlement of this conflict. But for two reasons the public here at home at least is not likely to get more than a glimpse of what this really signifies.

One reason is the fact that Murray Snyder, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs, is imposing an increasingly tight censorship on all information out of the Pentagon. He is also trying to extend his domain over the armed services abroad.

The second reason is that the Air Force will send up a whole series of Thor's in experimental shots. These are the missiles that Quarles ordered in numbers to the dismay of many who felt that they had not been sufficiently tested. They will be sent up in the months ahead with mice, insects, monkeys. The skeptics believe this will add little except headlines to America's missile strength.

It may be possible to suppress the whole controversy both at home and abroad. But those who make the decisions will be taking on their shoulders a fearful responsibility for America's future.

DEAR ABBY

NEED TWO KEEPERS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We live directly over a woman who needs a keeper. She's on an Old Age pension and spends all her time visiting the neighbors, but not us because she had her TV on very loud one night and my husband asked her if she was deaf and she was. Soon as she gets home she starts pounding on the ceiling. My husband "answers" by pounding on the floor. Then she starts up pounding on the ceiling again, and my husband encourages her by pounding on the floor some more. This foolishness is getting me down. My husband doesn't start it, but how can I stop him from answering her? HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: The poor woman is obviously not well and if your husband doesn't realize this, HE needs a keeper. I suspect your husband enjoys this little game because he could put a stop to her pounding by simply ignoring it.

DEAR ABBY: My sister is getting married. She's a Catholic and he's an alcoholic. She is 24 years old, says she loves him and won't listen to anybody. We hate to see her throw her life away on him. Is there any way we can break it up? SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You can't stop a 24-year-old woman from marrying whomever she chooses. If she really loves him she'll introduce him to the "A.A." and let him help himself.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am terrible but I am very much in love with a fellow my age (19) who keeps asking me to "prove my love." Miss Abby, I know it is a sin but he keeps after me and I'm afraid if I don't give in or else give him a good reason for refusing to, I'll lose him. Please tell me what to do.

A GIRL IN LOVE
DEAR GIRL: Tell him if there is any "love proving" to be done, he should prove HIS by controlling his physical desires until he's able to put your name on a marriage license.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 5 feet 11 in my stocking feet, and believe me, I've never owned a pair of heels. The man I go with is 5 feet 6 (with built-up shoes) and we've taken our share of kidding. He loves to dance and so do I, but we avoid dancing in public because everyone laughs when they see us on the floor. I was told by an Arthur Murray teacher that we'd look better together if I led him. We gave that up because he resented it. Should we forego dancing together in public or what? Our love is very strong but I don't want to give him a complex about his size.

TOO TALL
DEAR TOO: Let HIM take the lead. If he asks you to dance in public, and you feel like dancing—put your best foot forward!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE CAT": Some mice will play even when the cat is around so you can't win for losing.

Candidates Arise For Next Speaker

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
AUSTIN (AP)—With the smoke still in the air from the 56th session's race for Speaker of the House of Representatives, three members have started campaigning for the post in 1961.

Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi has the edge in service, starting his fifth term.

The other working candidates are Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen and Ben Glusing of Kingsville. Glusing was an announced candidate for the 57th session two years ago.

Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, who became the third man in Texas history to win a second term as speaker Tuesday, is expected to seek a statewide office. He's not saying, but close friends say it will be either for attorney general or governor.

Spilman is starting his third term and Glusing his fourth. Another reported candidate for the presiding officer's post in the House is Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria. But Cory said "no comment" to reporters' questions.

Also around the Capitol: The working the Senate are complaining about the new plush green carpet in the main chamber. Major gripe: It's padded too much, making walking difficult—"My heels just keep sinking." Another complaint is aesthetic and will be cured: The women don't like the carpet buckling in some parts and the sewing was "not altogether neat." It was a rush job and after more walking the carpet probably will be fitted in place.

Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde rancher and former legislator, is visiting friends. While talking with Sen. Frank Owen III of El Paso he was asked if he would run for governor next year. "I'm not running today," Briscoe quipped. Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo was pleased that his minister, The Rev. Lloyd W. Nixon of the First Presbyterian Church, led the sen-

Corsicana's Jim Sewell visited in the House as did George Nokes of Waco, an unsuccessful candidate against Ben Ramsey last year for lieutenant governor. Both have been identified with the labor-liberal group of the Democratic Party and close friends of U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Mrs. Kay Jones, secretary to Speaker Carr, started keeping his appointment list in her memo calendar. She later switched to a legal size notebook when more than 40 representatives and others wanted to talk with Carr after his election.

Airman Sentenced For Robbery

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—U.S. Judge Ben Rice yesterday sentenced S. Sgt. Calvin Lee Hughes to 20 years in prison for robbing a San Antonio Saving & Loan Assn. branch of $52,500 last April 24.

Judge Rice asked Hughes if he had anything to say. The 24-year-old Kelly AFB airman shook his head in a silent "No."

Rice said: "You have been found guilty; there is ample evidence you are guilty; and a jury found you so. That being true, you have $52,500 of that bank's money—or you've spent it—and no restitution has been made." Hughes' 18-year-old wife left tearfully, clutching their 4-month-old son in her arms.

Bread And Spread

An anonymous cook first thought of spreading crusty French-type bread with a flavorful mixture. It was probably originally devised for outdoor barbecues but now it can be found anywhere, including indoor buffet suppers.

Unsung Cook Can Take Bow For Innovation

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
It's been going the rounds for more than a dozen years. Who knows what unsung cook first dreamed up this good idea? But eaters continue to bless him or her!

We're talking about the American way of slicing a loaf of crusty French-type bread, and then spreading a flavorful mixture over the cuts. Now the annotated loaf goes into a moderate or hot oven for 10 or 15 minutes to come out fresher than fresh, spreading a nostalgic aroma, tasting robust and savory.

We have a notion this loaf was first concocted to eat with outdoor barbecued foods. If so, it caught on so fast that now you are likely to find it wherever there's an indoor buffet supper.

The first loaves of this sort we ever encountered were spread with garlic butter. But cooks go on inventing, tasters applaud. Now other spreads appear almost as often as the garlic mixture, and some of the best of these are made with blue cheese.

For this basic cheese spread, allow a quarter of a pound of butter and blue cheese to stand at room temperature before beating together thoroughly. Store in a tightly-covered container in the refrigerator and use 'as fancy and need dictate.

And another innovation: Sometimes you find variations in the bread. On occasion, instead of bakery loaves, the brown-and-serve French-type ones are used. An unsliced loaf of regular white bread is also good this way, but make sure it is the "home-baked" variety.

Just cut the regular loaf into block-shaped pieces, each big enough for a serving, but don't slice all the way through; spread the cuts with the butter and blue-cheese mixture and heat.

Interested in still another idea? Then use fan-tan rolls with a blue-cheese-plus mixture as directed in the following recipe.

BLUE CHEESE FAN-TANS
Ingredients:
1/2 cup (packed down) blue cheese
1/4 cup butter
3/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
1 package (6 ounces) fan-tan rolls.

Method:
Have cheese and butter at room temperature; cream with Worcestershire sauce. Separate sections of rolls with fingers or small sharp knife without cutting all the way through. Spread sections with cheese mixture.

Heat in moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot through, 8 to 10 minutes or longer. Serve at once. Makes 6 rolls.

SPICE VOCABULARY

CLOVES, a spice available in either whole or ground form, has a rich brown coloring. Its flavor is best described as spicy, sweet and penetrating.

Cloves are compatible with ham, boiled tongue, pork roast; stewed fruits, apple, mince and pumpkin pies, rice pudding, tapioca, chocolate pudding, spice cake; pickled or preserved fruits; beets, baked beans, candied sweet potatoes, squash; hot spiced wines, hot tea; bean, beef, cream of pea, or cream of tomato soup; sweet gherkins.

Beets Are Two-In-One Vegetables, Mineral-Rich

Did you know that young beets are really two vegetables in one? The top counts as a leafy green vegetable, like spinach, and is rich in minerals. The bright red root makes a good side dish to serve with meat. It contains some vitamin B1 and G.

This is the season for beets from South Texas, says the Agricultural Marketing Service. Truck farmers in that area are harvesting about 2,000 acres.

Unique Pears
Pare, halve and remove seeds from fresh pears; cook in vanilla-flavored sugar syrup in a skillet. Serve warm with a dollop of sweetened whipped cream scented with grated lemon rind in each cavity.

Cook the beet greens separately from the roots just as you would spinach. Also, they are good mixed with other salad greens in a tossed salad. To preserve the bright color of beet roots, do not pare or cut before cooking. Leave on the taproot and an inch or two of the stems.

Birth Defects Rated No. 1 Childhood Health Problem

Children with birth defects, rated by physicians as the childhood health problem most needful of attention in America today, will benefit from the 1959 March of Dimes being conducted this month by the National Foundation, according to Mrs. H. H. Stephens, general chairman of the Howard-Glasscock campaign.

"The theme for the expanded March of Dimes is 'Toward Greater Victories,' " the chairman said. "Now that the Salk vaccine has given the key to victory over polio, the National Foundation is ready to move on to other pressing problems.

"Our specific initial goals are polio, virus diseases, arthritis, birth defects and disorders of the central nervous system."

Birth defects (congenital malformations) cause the death of 24,000 U. S. infants a year.

"This is one-fourth of all infants who are stillborn or die within the first month of life. Some 250,000 newborn babies annually have significant birth defects. Half of them will grow up afflicted with serious illness, crippling or chronic disease."

"Patient aid for children through 18 suffering from birth defects involving the central nervous system soon will be offered by the National Foundation. Included are spina bifida (faulty structure of the spine); encephalocele (open skull); and hydrocephalus (excessive fluid in the brain cavities).

The importance of birth defects as a cause of death and crippling is increasing. In 1958, a total of 12,413 infants died of this cause, but by 1953 the number rose to 20,012. Furthermore, the number of persons surviving crippling birth defects gains with improvement of surgical and medical techniques.

"National Foundation researchers will study the causes of all of the more than 600 kinds of birth defects," the March of Dimes director said. "They will seek methods of prevention as well as improved techniques for diagnosis and treatment. The earlier birth defects are detected, the better they respond to medical care or surgery."

Crash Kills 6 Sailors

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A Navy vehicle tore into a truck loaded with frozen orange juice Wednesday. Six young enlisted men were killed. Three others were injured.

The Navy men were riding in a carryall — similar to a station wagon — which collided with the truck at an intersection about 12 miles west of Pensacola.

State trooper G. L. Hill said the carryall ran a stop sign on a secondary road. The truck driver, Robert Albaugh, 30, Lynnwood, Calif., was not hurt.

The Navy said the nine men were members of a work party which was returning from Barin Field, near Foley, Ala., to their station at Whiting Field, near Pensacola. Barin, recently deactivated, and Whiting are auxiliaries of the Pensacola Naval Air Station.

The driver of the Navy vehicle was killed. He was Richard A. Saah, 20, son of Joseph George Saah, of Silver Spring, Md.

The Navy listed the other dead as William M. Hammond, 18, son of William Hammond, Floral Park, Long Island, N. Y.; Michael G. McMahon, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. McMahon, Madison, Wis.; Frederick E. Bates, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bates, Pasadena, Md.; Darcey C. Parella, 18, son of Lucille Parella, Cambridge, Md.; and Thomas J. Ragsdale, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ragsdale, Gas City, Ind.

The injured were identified as Thomas E. Hatley, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hatley, St. Louis Mo.; Charles I. Trent, 19, son of Elizabeth Trent, Kansas City, Mo.; and Chester B. Sulenski, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sulenski, Natrona, Pa.

Politicos Nearly Make Fatal Error

DETROIT (AP)—The Irish vote is heavy in suburban Roseville. With this in mind, Roseville's school board is going to change the date of an important school election.

"We can't afford," said board attorney Raymond Cashen, "to get the Irish mad at us."

Cashen, himself an Irishman, said the board inadvertently set the election for March 17, St. Patrick's Day, requiring the closing of all bars under election law.

Priests Sue Over Gas Explosion

MONTREAL (AP)—Two Roman Catholic priests started lighting the altar candles in a basement chapel and an explosion followed. Now they are suing the Quebec Natural Gas Corp.

The Rev. Germain Lalonde, the Rev. Marcel Brisbois, who were injured, and the Grand Seminary of the Sulpician Fathers, where the explosion occurred a year ago, are asking more than $40,000 in damages.

They contend the corporation failed to prevent gas leaks.
