White House Discussion

President Eisenhower talks with Anastas I. Mikoyan, Deputy Premier of the Soviet Union, as they meet in the Chief Executive's White House office in Washington, D.C. Also present are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles; Mikhail Menshikov, standing center, Russia's Ambassador to the U.S.; and Llewellyn Thompson, left rear, U.S. Ambassador to Russia.

Mikoyan Ends Washington Talks Today, To Head Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan today accused the U.S. State Department of continuing the cold war by refusing to ease restrictions on Soviet-American trade.

"Apparently the State Department is not prepared to repeal those discriminatory restrictions which are in the way of expanding shipment of Soviet goods to the United States in order that we could place big orders."

Club for a last question and answer session with reporters.

Mikoyan renewed on a nationwide radio-TV network Sunday night the Soviet demand that the Western Powers pull out of West Berlin. He described as "impossible" a suggestion that the Soviet proposal for a West Berlin free city be broadened to include Communist East Berlin as well.

The Soviet leader faced another and final round of Washington questioning today at a National Press Club luncheon.

His schedule included a conference with the State Department's top economic expert, Deputy Under Secretary Douglas Dillon. It was expected that he would also talk Soviet-American trade during the day with Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss. He has urged increased U.S.-Soviet trade in a series of meetings with bankers and businessmen during a coast-to-coast tour.

He leaves for Moscow by way of New York Tuesday. Despite the lack of any new suggestions from Mikoyan for breaking the Berlin deadlock, U.S. officials believe that an East-West foreign ministers' conference on German issues is probable in a few months. They will begin consultations with the NATO allies this week in an effort to develop detailed Western proposals.

Mikoyan's performance before the TV cameras — NBC-Meet the Press—added up to an unbuilding defense of every Soviet policy or action about which he was asked by a panel of four newsmen. His replies covered support for Red China over Formosa, crushing of the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary and the handling of American news in the Soviet press.

Several times he accused the American press of distorted reporting on the Soviet Union, saying it "imagines facts" and "spreads untruths." But he maintained his composure even in the face of such questions as whether his boss, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, is trying to make himself into a Stalinist-type dictator. Mikoyan denied that is happening.

"I'm not afraid of questions," Mikoyan said when told beforehand that the questioning would be tough. "In Odessa it is said that the way to answer one question is to ask two more."

Junior College State Aid Slashed For Next 2 Years

Howard County Junior College, along with other similar schools over the state, is seeing its budget request for state aid being sharply reduced by the Legislative Budget Board.

The Board, according to dispatches from Austin Monday, cut below the aid which was extended to junior colleges in appropriations for 1959, even in the face of predicted rising enrollments.

HCJC was given $83,478 in state aid for 1959, with a request for $89,500 for 1960 and $107,500 for 1961. This was slashed to $74,520 by the Budget Board for each of the next two years.

Virginia's Racial Battle Collapses

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's massive resistance to school integration laws apparently collapsed today in the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

The court in a 5-2 decision ruled against the Almond administration in an action testing the validity of the payment of tuition grants for private schooling and related statutes.

It was not immediately clear how the court ruled on school closure and fund cut-off laws, but since they were directly involved apparently they toppled with the tuition payment statute.

The delay in the specific ruling on these other statutes was caused by a hold-up of the court's formal opinion as well as the dissenting opinion of Justices Harold F. Snead and Willis D. Miller.

Chief Justice John W. Eggleston announced the court's decision tersely to a crowded courtroom. He remarked only that in the case against Comptroller Sidney C. Day, a petition for mandamus has been denied with Justices Miller and Snead dissenting. The action requested an order forcing the comptroller to pay the tuition funds.

Included in the friendly suit before the high court were the state's school-closure law, fund-cut-off law, tuition grant laws dependent upon the school closing and fund cut-off, and the so-called "Little Rock" laws which would close any school patrolled by federal authorities and which would authorize the governor to close any school faced with actual or threatened disorders.

The school closing law constitutionality also is under test in a suit before a three-judge U.S. District Court at Norfolk. The court indicated it would announce its decision shortly after the state court acted.

YMCA Banquet Slated Tonight

YMCA members will gather this evening to look over the past year's work of their organization and to set the stage for 1959 activities.

The annual membership meeting and banquet will start at 7 p.m. It will be held in the Cosden Country Club.

The principal speaker will be Judge Philip B. Gilliam of the juvenile court in Denver, Colo.

Past presidents of the YMCA will be honored during the program, and Bobo Hardy, general secretary, is to present one special award. Presiding will be R. H. Weaver, current president of the organization.

Judge Gilliam was to arrive here early this afternoon and at 4 p.m. he was to meet with representatives of the various local youth agencies and public officials. Numerous questions on the handling of youth programs and juvenile problems were expected to be raised.

Delay Granted AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge Mace Thurman granted an indefinite postponement today in the perjury trial of J. Byron Saunders of Tyler, one-time chairman of the State Insurance Commission.

Appointed

Halbert Woodward, above, former Big Spring, has been appointed to the Texas Highway Commission to fill the place vacated by Marshall Formby of Plainview. Woodward now lives at Coleman. He was reared in Big Spring and graduated from high school here. He received his law degree from Texas University. His father, the late Garland Woodward, also was an attorney. He will take office March 15. He has been a member of the Texas Highway Safety Commission, director of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation and a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

$300,000 Cut From Budget Of State Hospital

More than $300,000 has been trimmed from the 1960 appropriation request for the Big Spring State Hospital, dispatches from Austin reported Monday.

The Legislative Budget Board, in an economy mood, has cut the scheduled appropriation from $1,430,367 to $1,145,110.

The action means that no salary increases whatever were recommended for hospital personnel, and all other requests for more money were pared to the bare minimum.

The Board's recommendations provided for the next two years only a few thousand dollars more than the current appropriation. The Big Spring State Hospital's budget for 1959 is $1,094,289.

The Budget Board explained that its recommendations "clearly reflected continuing emphasis on the rapid treatment and release of patients, in contrast to the earlier practice of only constructing more buildings to 'warehouse' such patients. In lieu of the former $10,000,000 building program each biennium, the recommended estimates provided a total of $3,169,000 for critical building repairs, rehabilitation, construction and replacements."

A total of $430,000 was recommended at the Big Spring hospital, including a rehabilitation building and medical care building. The Board pointed out that "populations of the six large mental hospitals and the two geriatric (old folks) centers of the State have remained rather constant during the past two years. Admission rates have shown a slight increase but, significantly, discharge rates are rising. More patients are being treated, and more are being released."

BULLETIN

KEMAH (AP)—Galveston County sheriff's deputies reported today that six persons had been killed in a residential explosion near here.

Radio reports from the scene indicated the dead included two adults and four children. Kemah is on the mainland side of Galveston Bay.

The dead had not been identified and the cause of the blast had not been determined.

Eisenhower asked $3,330,000 in new foreign aid money, including $1,600,000 in military aid. Actual spending during the year, he said, is estimated at $3,498,000, including $1,850,000 for military assistance. Much of the spending, especially for military aid, comes from funds appropriated in previous years.

The spending total is 383 million dollars less than the estimate for the current year. A drop of 462 millions in arms aid spending is partially offset by a 79 million increase in grants, loans and other forms of economic assistance.

To help increase private investment in these countries, he asked new legislation to guarantee the investments against losses caused by expropriation, war, or inability to convert foreign currencies into American money.

For defense support, Eisenhower asked $40,945,000,000 spending budget, said it would lay out 800 million dollars more for missile production and missile research than for the present year.

Missile costs were not itemized separately, but President Eisenhower has said missile programs are costing nearly seven billion dollars this year.

In addition to defense spending, the newly created National Aeronautics and Space Administration would be given a 280-million-dollar spending budget, compared with 153 million for this year.

Expenditures by the Atomic Energy Commission, Eisenhower told Congress, are expected to hit a record $2,700,000,000 in fiscal 1960. This large amount, he said, "reflects our determination to maintain our position of world leadership in the field of nuclear military armaments" until international control agreement can be reached.

The budget does reflect one trend toward easing of tension in international armaments. The President said that in view of the American offer to suspend weapons tests, the budget contained no money for such tests.

The military budget of $40,945,000,000 is 145 million dollars high-

President Offers 'Confident' Budget

Congress Gets 'With Surplus' Money Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a 77-billion-dollar budget forecasting a spending cut of nearly four billion dollars and a precarious surplus of 70 millions. He called it "a confident budget" that assumes a surge of prosperity.

Eisenhower said the budget aims to restrain inflationary forces that "cheapen our money and erode our savings." He also said it paves the way for a tax cut "in the reasonably foreseeable future."

No tax cuts were proposed for the present. In fact, to help achieve the first balanced budget in three years, the President is asking Congress to boost postal rates and gasoline taxes. He also wants some tax loopholes plugged.

Any added postal revenues and proceeds from loophole plugging would increase budget receipts. Gas tax money would go into a separate trust fund which, Eisenhower said, would otherwise have to be replenished out of the budget.

Eisenhower said his fiscal blueprint, for all its emphasis on economy, promises to "increase our military effectiveness." The budget calls for hiking Defense Department military spending by 146 million dollars but projects a cut of 462 millions in arms aid to other nations.

DEMOS CRITICAL Democrats in Congress generally were critical of the budget. Republicans welcomed the plans for a budget balance and said the alternative is more inflation.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) called the figures unrealistic, saying he found it hard to believe that Congress will increase gasoline taxes or postal rates.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he hopes for a balanced budget but added "I don't see much chance for it under the President's proposals."

For the Republicans, House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) praised Eisenhower's budget, which he said "will provide for a strong defense, for progress in meeting human needs, and for a prosperous and expanding economy."

Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), senior GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, also said he thinks government agencies can get along on what Eisenhower proposed, but Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) of the Appropriations group called the budget impractical.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson indicated that if Congress boosts spending in the new budget, a tax increase — rather than a cut — would become a real possibility.

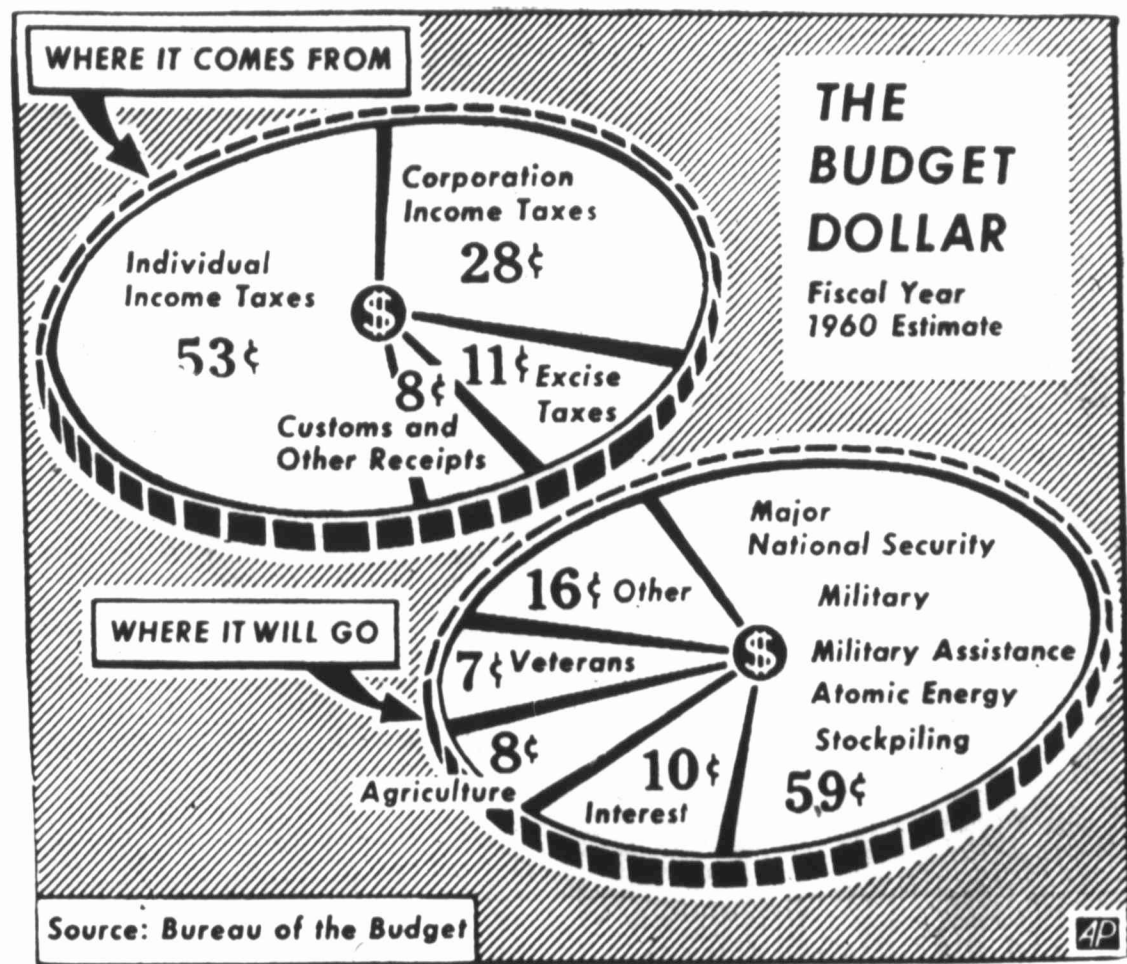

PERSONAL INCOME Anderson said revenue estimates for fiscal 1960 assume personal income in calendar 1959 will rise more than 20 billion dollars to 374 billions. He said the Treasury believes corporate profits will increase 10 1/2 billions to 47 billions and that the gross national product will advance nearly 20 billions to 470 billions.

The President disclosed that in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the government's finances will be even deeper in the red than had been predicted. He said recession-hit revenues will fall $12,871,000,000 short of matching indicated spending of $80,871,000,000.

He said this whopping deficit — the biggest ever in peacetime — will make necessary another request to Congress for an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

For fiscal 1960, Eisenhower forecast revenues of $77,100,000,000 — a rise of nearly nine billion dollars. He said tax receipts will be swelled to near-record levels by "a rapidly advancing economy."

By the President's calculations, present revenue laws alone wouldn't produce a balanced budget. He is asking Congress to pass legislation that would increase budget receipts by 600 million dollars in fiscal 1960.

This Bureau of the Budget chart illustrates the estimated sources and disbursements of the tax dollar for the 1960 fiscal year.

quest to Congress for an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

For fiscal 1960, Eisenhower forecast revenues of $77,100,000,000 — a rise of nearly nine billion dollars. He said tax receipts will be swelled to near-record levels by "a rapidly advancing economy."

By the President's calculations, present revenue laws alone wouldn't produce a balanced budget. He is asking Congress to pass legislation that would increase budget receipts by 600 million dollars in fiscal 1960.

POSTAL RATES UP Eisenhower proposed raising 350 millions by again boosting postal rates, which went up only last August. He will submit details on this and other revenue proposals later.

The federal gasoline tax would be hiked to 4 1/2 cents a gallon, from the present 3 cents. The added revenue—more than 600 million dollars the first year—would go into a special trust fund to finance roadbuilding. Eisenhower said the increase, designed to keep the trust fund in the black, should go into effect July 1 and expire on June 30, 1964.

Anticipating Democratic claims that he is being too thrifty, Eisenhower said his budget "responds to national needs, with due regard to urgencies and priorities, without being either extravagant or unduly limiting."

"We cannot, of course, undertake to satisfy all proposals for government spending," he declared.

The President said his proposals "are realistic and can be achieved with the cooperation of the Congress." He conceded a lot also depends on "popular support and developments in our economy and in the world."

INTO THE RED The ease with which the budget could slip into the red was pointed up by, among other things:

1. The distinct possibility that Congress may not go along with all recommendations for increasing revenue.

2. The obvious guesswork involved in estimating outlays for farm price supports. The subsidies this year are running more than two billion dollars above the total estimated a year ago.

As in all recent budgets, national security programs account for the lion's share—$45,805,000,000 or nearly 60 per cent.

Of this total, Eisenhower has earmarked $40,945,000,000 for the Defense Department, an increase of 145 millions. Security aspects of the atomic energy program account for an additional $2,745,000,000 — up 115 millions. Defense stockpiling and foreign military aid make up the remainder of the security expenditures.

Incidentally, the budget assumes extension of the one-year suspension of U.S. nuclear tests which began last Oct. 31. No money is provided for weapons tests in fiscal 1960.

Both the Army and the Navy would spend a bit more under the new budget. Air Force outlays, however, would be reduced by $18 million dollars, to $18,675,000,000. The Navy would spend $11,596,000,000 and the Army $9,264,000,000.

Eisenhower said outlays for missiles and research and development will rise more than 800 million dollars.

Foreign Aid Offers Less In Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign aid program emphasizing more economic and less military forces. Much of it has gone in the past to Korea, Nationalist China, Viet Nam, the Philippines, Thailand, Pakistan and Turkey.

Outside the aid program itself, Eisenhower asked increased U.S. subscriptions of $1,375,000,000 to the International Monetary Fund and $3,175,000,000 to the World Bank.

Outside the aid program itself, Eisenhower asked increased U.S. subscriptions of $1,375,000,000 to the International Monetary Fund and $3,175,000,000 to the World Bank.

The President also urged further study of a proposed International Development Association affiliated with the World Bank, to make long term loans repayable in whole or in part in the currency of the borrowing country.

Missiles Take Major Bite Out Of U. S. Military Budget Outlay

By ELTON C. FAY WASHINGTON (AP) — Missile weapons and space vehicles fly high in the budget proposed to Congress today for the year starting next July 1.

The Pentagon, in asking for a $40,945,000,000 spending budget, said it would lay out 800 million dollars more for missile production and missile research than for the present year.

Missile costs were not itemized separately, but President Eisenhower has said missile programs are costing nearly seven billion dollars this year.

In addition to defense spending, the newly created National Aeronautics and Space Administration would be given a 280-million-dollar spending budget, compared with 153 million for this year.

Expenditures by the Atomic Energy Commission, Eisenhower told Congress, are expected to hit a record $2,700,000,000 in fiscal 1960. This large amount, he said, "reflects our determination to maintain our position of world leadership in the field of nuclear military armaments" until international control agreement can be reached.

The budget does reflect one trend toward easing of tension in international armaments. The President said that in view of the American offer to suspend weapons tests, the budget contained no money for such tests.

The military budget of $40,945,000,000 is 145 million dollars higher than estimated spending for the current year.

Eisenhower said "it will bolster the defense of our country against possible attack and enable our forces to respond more quickly and vigorously to any emergency."

Offsetting some of the higher missile costs will be abandonment of some older, outmoded weapons types.

Also, Eisenhower said, sufficient progress has been made on new weapons in development to permit elimination of some marginal weapons still being developed.

The manpower of the armed forces will be little changed at 2,520,000. It is the first year since the end of the Korean War that substantial cuts in military manpower have not been proposed.

PROBE POLICY Eisenhower said the Communist bloc "is following a policy of deliberately and constantly probing free world positions to test our determination to resist."

Therefore he thought it "is prudent not to plan any significant changes" in forces.

Here is how the manpower and unit strengths are projected: ARMY — 870,000 men this year and next; the same total of 14 divisions and 23 other major units. The administration will ask Congress to continue selective services, now used only by the Army.

NAVY — 630,000 men this year and next. The Navy will continue with an average of 864 ships in the fleet, with 389 of them combatant vessels. The number of air groups operating from carriers will remain at 16.

MARINE CORPS — Unchanged from the present 175,000 men, three divisions and three air wings.

AIR FORCE — The only manpower reduction—5,000—is in the Air Force. From a present 105 wings the Air Force would be cut to 102 wings, including wings of missiles as well as manned aircraft.

Eisenhower promised that "the first operational Atlas missiles will be at launching sites by the end of the current fiscal year."

Production of the intermediate range ballistic missiles, the Air Force Thor and Army Jupiter, will continue through to June 30, 1960, but no appropriations for buying any beyond that is planned, the budget disclosed.

In addition to the Atlas ballistic missile, the Air Force will put into place this year the air-breathing Snark intercontinental range missile. The Presque Isle, Maine, launching site will have a squadron of 30 Snark missiles.

Eisenhower said the Army's Nike Zeus anti-missile missile "is being developed at an accelerated pace." This missile is intended to intercept and destroy enemy ICBMs headed for American targets.

The first Polaris submarine — a nuclear-powered boat armed with 14 missiles—will go into op-

Former Fashionist Turns To The Ballet

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP) — A young "ghost" of the fashion world has given Paris the success story of the year.

He is Alwyne Camble, 31, a handsome, blue-eyed young man who has turned a fashion failure into new fame in the ballet world. His story has all the elements of a romantic fiction plot.

When, at 23, he launched a French fashion house in 1950, Alwyne had a phenomenal overnight success. He became the "new Dior" of his day, the subject of splashy magazine articles and front-page publicity. But two years later, hounded by ill-health and (he claims) ill-will, his house closed in one of the loudest flops in fashion history. The name of Alwyne was literally forgotten as quickly as it had become famous.

Now Alwyne has quietly completed a comeback as author, costumer and decorator of the smartest and most successful ballets of the season. With five of his modern pieces running in Paris, he has become one of the top names in French ballet.

His latest, "Facheuses Recentes" ("Disagreeable Meetings") opened at the Paris Opera Comique with star ballerina Marjorie Tallchief wearing a half million dollars worth of diamonds.

And besides several more new ballets—one of them a satire on high fashion—Alwyne has written a musical comedy which will be produced in May, and is finishing an opera, "The Queen and the Hero" which he expects to have in production in six months.

Alwyne, son of a French mother and English father, has a right to call himself Count Alwyne-Louis de Morsang, but he has never made use of the title. When his fashion house flopped, "it hurt my pride and morale," he admits, "but I was not sorry to get out of the business."

Quietly, the young designer re-

New Success

After Alwyne Camble's fashion world crumbled, he turned to ballet and found new fame. Shown here in a sequence from "Prince of the Desert," which Camble authored and costumed, are Marjorie Tallchief and George Skibine. Big Springers will have the opportunity of seeing these two renowned artists Thursday evening in a program to be staged by Ruth Page's Chicago Opera Ballet, at the city auditorium.

turned to his first love, ballet. "It wasn't easy; lots of people write ballets; there are only three ballet companies in Paris to put them on."

The first Alwyne ballet went on stage in 1954, with the American Indian ballerina Marjorie Tallchief.

This season he has had "Idylle" playing at the Paris Opera, on tour, and with the Ruth Page company in Chicago. His "Mal du Siecle" and "L'ile Cruelle," were danced by the Marquis de Cuevas company at the Theatre des Champs Elysees, and "Prince du Desert" and "Facheuses Recentes" were at the Opera Comique.

Alwyne has no nostalgia for the fashion world. "I prefer ballet people," he declares.

In his new career he has not sought publicity. "As long as I make the money, I don't care who gets the credit," he says. "I don't even care whether my name is on the program."

But dancers have learned that he is a stickler for his costumes and sets. As he tells it, when Vladimir Skouratoff, dancing the role of a circus horse in "Idylle" refused to wear a red feather on his head Alwyne finally threatened: "Wear it tonight or you do not dance."

Skouratoff, knowing no stand-in was trained in his role, laughed and refused. Whereupon Alwyne put on the circus horse costume, mask and red feather, and danced the role himself. Ballerina Tallchief was startled but amused, and Skouratoff has been wearing his red feather ever since.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Beautiful Hands Don't Need Colorful Polish

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Jean Hagen left the Danny Thomas TV show because she was tired of playing a wife and mother. But when I visited her on the set of Disney's "The Shaggy Dog," she was playing a scene with another screen-senior.

"It's ironic," she admitted, "but the story was so good I couldn't turn it down. But," she said with twinkling eyes, "I'm going to find one of those flashy woman parts some day."

As Jean was talking, I noticed her beautifully shaped hands. When I remarked about them she looked down quickly as if seeing them for the first time.

"Thank you!" she exclaimed. "They used to be nicer. I remember at college I earned extra money by doing hand modeling."

"What is the secret of those long nails?" I inquired.

"I took vitamin A shots for something else and what happened to my nails was wonderful. After I was finished with the shots, I bought some gelatin capsules which have a form of protein in them and which seem to strengthen my nails. I don't have any trouble with breakage any more."

Jean feels that if you have good hands and nails you can call more attention to them by not wearing colored polish.

"With just everyone painting their nails red, there is something distinctive about a clear or pearly polish.

"When I was in school I was in a finger puppet show, and I became conscious of caring for my hands quite young. I remember I was very careful to use lotion after washing my hands, and I also rubbed olive oil into my cuticle.

"I notice hands. They tell so much about a person. Once I was very much attracted to a certain man, but his hands looked so weak that I was disturbed. I told myself that this was a stupid prejudice. But, you know, when I got to know him better, I found that his character was basically weak."

"As we grow older," Jean observed, "our hands need more care. I use a hormone hand cream. It's foolish to do so much to keep your face young and then rest your chin in hands that tell your true age."

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

Indications of age in a woman are: Crowfeet around the eyes and mouth, lines in the neck area, rough hands and the lack of muscular flexibility in the joints. Although one cannot eliminate these by any miracle, one can take 10 years off by use of corrective creams, skillful makeup and daily exercise. Let M-40, "How To Stay Young," help you correct bad habits and build new ones. ## Cooks Never Tire Of Swapping Kitchen Ideas

Let's swap kitchen pointers! It's fun to share your standby shortcuts with others, and it's a practice that never seems to grow old.

Here's one. Add lots of finely-chopped green olive to cottage cheese (cream style) and use as a filling for celery stalks. Serve as a salad on a bed of crisp greens along with French dressing. Or cut into small wedges and serve as finger food with a before-dinner beverage.

A cup of this cream plus three tablespoons of butter may sometimes be substituted for a cup of heavy cream in candy making.

For a delectable variation with a baked potato, not only smother the potato with butter but add either a dash of dill seed or a generous sprinkling of chives. Or scoop out all the mealy inside, stir in warm milk and grated cheese with some butter, return the mixture to the skin and reheat.

Regular-size pans in which cake is to be baked should be filled only one-half to two-thirds full. And, in stirring up a white cake, sometimes the use of a metal spoon during the mixing will give the batter a grayish color.

In setting a table, always place bread-and-butter plates at the tip of the fork or slightly to the left.

Want a truly substantial sandwich to satisfy a ravenous appetite? Spread a generous layer of peanut butter on fresh bread. Jelly may be added, if you prefer, but the peanut butter will be hearty enough for most tastes.

Adlai Raps Sluggish U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—America has been left on the defensive by its own sluggish tempo, Adlai E. Stevenson says. The former Democratic presidential nominee told an audience Sunday night that Soviet leaders, from top to bottom, are convinced the whole human race is destined to become one in Communist brotherhood. Stevenson, who toured the Soviet Union last summer, said "the Soviet Russians believe in their truth... they, not we, are firing the shots that are heard round the world—and also the satellites that orbit above it... their tempo is dynamic and ours sluggish—even, I think, to ourselves." He said the Communists "show a worldwide concern which is largely lacking among the men of the West. The whole human race is their horizon." Stevenson said that if America cannot rediscover the real purpose and direction of its existence, it will not be free. Stevenson gave the first annual A. Powell Davis memorial address in Constitution Hall. The series, sponsored by a committee of the All Souls Unitarian church, honors the late Rev. Arthur Powell Davies, pastor of the church for 13 years before his death in 1957.

79 Southern Baptists Plan Christian Crusade In Europe

HOUSTON (AP)—Seventy-nine Southern Baptists will leave by plane Feb. 2 on a "Christian Ventures Crusade" to Europe, the Holy Land and Russia. They were advised in advance not to look upon themselves as tourists. Their leader, Dr. Warren Walker of Corpus Christi, told them if they "were going for any other reason than to preach the gospel of Christ they could feel free to withdraw." Nevertheless, the list grew from a planned 50 to 79. Most of the crusaders are Texans but most other southern states also are represented. They include both ministers and laymen, and a few wives. Dr. Walker is president of the Church Evangelism Association which has headquarters in Corpus Christi. He has received letters of encouragement about the crusade from Vice President Nixon, Governor Price Daniel and Senators Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough. Nixon wrote in part: "I do not believe there has ever been a time when spiritual guidance, as well as individual spiritual and moral strength, were more important... There is no question but that the spirit of evangelism which you and your team represent will inspire and enrich the lives of those with whom you come in contact." The 79 Southern Baptist will board a KLM Royal Dutch airliner at Houston early on the morning of Feb. 2. They will hold 10-day revival meetings in England, Scotland, Ireland, France and the Channel Isles. Several will go to Germany, about half will visit Rome and the Holy Land. Another group will fly to Moscow for a 5-day visit among Russian Baptists. Texans among the evangelists include: Rev. Roy Stewart, Dallas; Rev. Paul Stephens, Baytown; Rev. A. O. Jenkins, Port Arthur; Rev. I. L. Whetsell, San Angelo; Rev. W. W. Baker Jr., Dallas; Rev. Bob Mitchell, Georgetown; Rev. Donald L. An-

Frozen Woman Faces Limb Loss

ARCADIA, Wis. (AP)—A young mother who spent seven hours with her husband in a wrecked automobile during subzero cold, faced possible amputation of her limbs today. Her husband died Sunday night, several hours after they were taken to a hospital with their arms and legs frozen solid. Mrs. Barbara Kupietz, 20, mother of two small children, was reported in extremely critical condition. Dr. Bernard Dockenoff said her arms and legs probably will have to be amputated. Her husband, La Verne, 26, a bakery employe, suffered internal injuries in addition to frozen limbs. The couple was trapped in their automobile late Saturday after it careened off a western Wisconsin highway and plunged into a deep ditch, hidden from passing motorists. The temperature was 15 degrees below zero. The persistent barking of a dog led a farmer to investigate. He summoned help.

County Joins Study On Medical Charity

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday assured representatives of the Permian Basin Medical Society it would be happy to join with it and the city in a study of ways and means to better cope with the financial problem created by treatment and hospitalization needed by indigent residents.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, appointed Ralph White, a member of the court, as chairman of the joint committee. This was at the request of the delegation of doctors from the medical society who were in attendance at the meeting. Hudson Landers was named as the other county delegate on the committee.

The city commissioners have previously named Ward Hall and Dr. Lee Rogers as its representatives. Members of the Medical Society on the committee are Dr. George Peacock, who served as spokesman at the meeting Monday, Dr. Virgil Sanders, Dr. Thomas Joe Williamson and Dr. Fred Lurting.

A joint meeting of the city commission and the three groups will be called shortly. White assured the medical men that the city would do its part to share the burden. The doctors cited figures, as they had earlier at the city commission meeting, in which they said the hospitals of the city have had to absorb more than $61,000 expended for treatment of charity cases in the period October 1957 through October 1958.

It was emphasized that this includes no professional fees for the doctors but was wholly hospital care. The medical committee cited statistics from other cities in this area where plans have been worked out between the hospitals, the city and the county to share the burden.

Commissioners voted a slight increase in the salary of the county treasurer, raising it from $2,875 to an even $4,000. Clyde Bostick, treasurer, Saturday stated that he was refusing the salary increase.

He noted that the raise amounted to $1,125 per year. "If the county is that bad off, they can keep the increase," he said.

Bostick contended that the salary was not in proportion to other county officials and not in proportion to surrounding counties. An additional $10 per month travel expense was added for R. L. Price, veteran's service officer.

Other salary increases were discussed in the special session, but no other action was taken. Acting on several other items on the Friday agenda, the court approved the final payment on Medical Arts Hospital with a retainage fee of $1,000 for incomplete work.

Great Growth For Savings-Loan Units

Robert Stripling of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association has returned from Little Rock, Ark., where he attended the annual stockholders meeting of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock.

There he heard a report from Chairman Albert J. Robertson of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board that 1958 was the best year in history for the $55 billion savings and loan industry in terms of mortgage lending and net savings.

Robertson said mortgage lending by savings and loan associations in 1958 set an all-time record high of an estimated $12 billion, surpassing the previous high of 1955 by some $600 million. During the past year the associations experienced a net increase in savings estimated at $6.3 billion, more than $1 billion above the record established in 1956.

According to present indications, 1959 should be another banner year, the chairman declared. "The board estimates net savings in 1959 at some $6.8 billion—a jump of about $500 million over last year. Following the rising trend, mortgage repayments are expected to total $7.4 billion, bringing the total amount of money available for lending this year to $14.2 billion. In the mortgage lending column, we anticipate a volume of mortgage loans to be $13.7 billion higher than in 1958."

Commenting on the reason for this progress, Robertson said, "A share of the credit must go to the American people who demonstrated their faith in the fundamental strength of the American economy. Part of the answer is that the leaders of government and industry applied themselves to the job to be done with imagination and dedication. And some of the credit belongs to you in the savings and loan business who helped achieve this position of leadership by adhering to sound financial principles."

Gov. Patterson Warns Negroes

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—John Patterson, sworn in as governor today, warned Alabama Negroes that continued pressure for integration will mean the closing of their schools.

He promised to use every power to keep the schools segregated, and appealed to Negroes to turn against "the agitators of your own race whose aim is to destroy our school system."

"If you do not do so, and these agitators continue at their present pace," Patterson admonished in a prepared inaugural address, "in a short time you will have no public school system at all."

And if the schools are closed, Patterson added pessimistically, they may never be reopened "in your lifetime and mine. Our children will suffer the consequences."

"Our race problems will never be solved by court decrees, injunctions and federal troops," the 37-year-old incoming governor continued. "They will be solved only through mutual understanding and good will between the races without outside interference and agitation."

New Fusselman Well Produces 1,900 Barrels Of Oil On Test

A Texas Co. well in the Cheyenne (Fusselman) field of Borden County yielded over 1,900 barrels of high-gravity oil on potential test over the weekend.

Also, the Shell No. 1-G Slaughter well in Garza has been completed as a Spraberry strike.

The Texas No. 2-E Clayton about eight miles north of Vealmoor flowed 1,908 barrels of 44-degree oil on 24-hour final test through a choke.

In Garza, the Shell strike finalized 125 barrels of oil from the Spraberry. It had tried the Pennsylvania and Ellenburger unsuccessfully before exploiting the Spraberry. It is about 13 miles south of Post.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

John Perry Yates, the witty, good-natured junior high school coach here, can get serious at times.

Yates authored an article for the most recent edition of Texas Coach, a slick magazine published monthly with money supplied by the Texas High School Coaches' Association, on the many reasons boys quit football.

John actually wrote a thesis as work toward his Master's Degree and the editors of the magazine thought enough of it to print it.

It took no little time to prepare the material that went into Yates' article. He sent out questionnaires to 116 boys in 55 Texas high schools, all of whom were considered "potentially good" players by their coaches. The questionnaires filled out and returned were treated as confidential material and no names were involved.

Some of the answers he got back might surprise you. A few of them I quote here:

1. "We have three coaches. The head coach, backfield, and line coach. Well, the head coach cusses you out and calls you dirty names and deals out physical punishment as hitting you with his fist or kicking you with his cleated shoes."

2. "... at halftime, our head coach would get in the dressing room and say a few words that made you want to go back on the field and stomp the other team, but then the line coach would get up and say a few vulgar words and cuss you out and it made you want to pull off your uniform right there."

3. "... in one game I was kicked in the back. This brought minor injuries to my kidneys. That didn't bother me. The main thing was even though the coaches knew about it they didn't seem to care."

4. "... the coach thought I wasn't producing. He was wrong ... he made me and one or two others run extra 100-yard sprints (sometimes as many as 8 in rapid succession) after a 3-hour practice."

5. "The coaches are disliked not only by me but by others on the team, mostly because of the attitude they have toward the unskilled players."

6. "The way the coaches talked, I don't think all do, but the head coach uses too profane language for me."

Why make a study of this type in the first place, Yates asked in the article.

"In recent years," he writes, "many coaches and administrators have become increasingly aware of the drop-out problem in high school football. Some authorities contend that there are fewer boys playing football per-school today than there were five years ago ... My idea was to approach the problem with the viewpoint of the boys involved and to see if their reasons for quitting had any correlation with the reasons given by the coaches."

M. M. Arns in an article in the Athletic Journal (still quoting from Yates' thesis) had coaches rank six reasons for a decrease in participation in football and the results were as follows:

- 1. The desire to own and drive a car.
2. Too many good-paying part-time jobs.
3. The lack of encouragement from parents.
4. Dislike of any practice routine.
5. Boys of today are softer.
6. The varsity letter no longer carries the prestige that it once did.
7. In Arns' study, the boys have the following eight reasons as the most predominate causes of dropping out:
1. Don't like the coach or coaches.
2. Wanted to work (buy a car, etc.).
3. Little relation between the sport and his future.
4. Illness, physical defect or injury.
5. Had school trouble, flunking subjects.
6. Didn't get to play enough.
7. Parents wanted him to quit.
8. Didn't like it because he couldn't seem to learn.

In his thesis, Yates said his survey also showed that (1) 92 per cent of the boys who quit were living with both parents (thereby knocking the "broken home" theory into a cocked hat); (2) Over one-half of the boys did not consult a coach before dropping out; (3) Sixty-five per cent of these boys stated that their father had never played football; (4) One-third of these boys were indifferent or dissatisfied with the game of football.

These facts add up to one thing, Yates contended in his splendid article, that the football program is going to have to be sold to the boys, their parents and the lay public.

Yates' article said a few 'roses' (favorable comments) were returned by the boys, as well as the 'thorns,' and John quoted those at length.

AT GARDEN CITY

Bearcats Defeat Forsan In Finals

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Garden City's boys rallied in the final three minutes to come from behind and nip Forsan, 31-30, in the finals of the Garden City round robin invitational here Saturday night.

Stanton's girls bolted past Coahoma, 57-39, for the girls title. Stanton's boys took third place by slugging Coahoma, 76-54, and Garden City outscored Forsan, 51-37, in a girls third-place match.

In the round robin invitational, first of its kind to be played here, both champions had 30 records at the end of the competition and director-coach Martin Dodds' game-scheduling worked successfully, with only one game failing to turn out as figured. The Garden City coach laid plans for Stanton girls to meet Coahoma and Garden City to meet Forsan in the finals, the way it happened.

In the boys championship game, Garden City had to take the lead late in the game for its win. Forsan, whose tall George White fouled ahead, 24-20, at halftime.

The Bearcats, with all-tournament choices Don Plagens and Dennis Calverley leading the way, surged ahead in the third quarter and built a five-point lead at one time. After the Bulldogs took the advantage in the fourth, Garden City had to scramble. With three minutes left to play, Forsan had an eight-point edge.

Garden City, utilizing on-ball control and hustle, drew several fouls from Forsan and rallied for the win, a game which may have been a preview for its district race. Garden City plays Forsan in a conference game Friday.

Jerry Bardwell was a thorn in Garden City's side, scoring 20 points and his brother, Milton, helped matters with a 13-point output. Frank Murphy had 15 for the winners.

In the girls championship, Linda Glaze hit 17 and Patricia Graves scored 25 in a runaway from Coahoma. Davis had 23 for the winners.

Selected to the all-tournament team were Plagens and Calverley of Garden City, Jerry Bardwell of Forsan, Norman Donelson of Stanton and Doc Reeves of Coahoma. Girls picked were Wanda Williams and Darla Williams of Garden City, John Davis and Pauline Graves of Coahoma, Linda and Janice Glaze of Stanton.

Here's how earlier games resulted: (girls) Stanton 59, Forsan 33; Coahoma 64, Forsan 15; Stanton 48, Garden City 43; and (boys) Forsan 42, Stanton 29; Garden City 66, Coahoma 51; Garden City 52, Stanton 39; and Forsan 43, Coahoma 42.

Wrestlers Slam Texans, 67-33

LEVELLAND (SC) — Odessa HC's Wranglers smashed South Plains JC of Levelland in a West Zone basketball contest here Saturday night, 67-33.

Paul Thorpe waxed warm for Odessa, scoring 26 points. Bob Risinger and Bill Swerdon, two of his teammates, also hit in double figures. Risinger had 15 points, Swerdon ten.

No Levelland player hit more than nine points. Garry Grant was tops with nine while Jesse Ballew and Johnny Valentine had seven each.

The Wranglers led at half time, 30-20.

The resident Texans have now lost eight straight games. The win was the first in conference play for the Odessans.

Hawk Soph

Popular little Jesse McElreath of Big Spring is playing his second season of basketball with the HCJC Jayhawks, who do not return to action until Friday night. Jesse stands only 5-feet-9 but he's considered a fine floor man and ball handler.

Baylor-Texas Contest Only Game Of Week

By WHITEY SAWYER Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baylor Bears show their new-found teeth to Texas Monday and a victory over the hapless Longhorns would put Baylor a mighty close second in the South-west Conference basketball race.

Texas Christian has the lead since until well into next week because exams have cut the schedules to slim fare. The Baylor-Texas game at Waco Monday is the only conference title this week.

A victory in that one would give Baylor a 4-2 conference mark, just a half a game behind TCU. The Bears are only 7-7 for the season. The Horned Frogs lead the league with a 4-1 record. Baylor, Texas A&M and Texas Tech are tied 3-2 for second.

Southern Methodist and Arkansas are 2-2 and Texas and Rice are 1-1.

Baylor's late surge came, in a big way, on the shooting arm of Bob Turner, who is tied for the lead in conference scoring with 87 points. Leon Hill of Texas Tech also has 87.

Tom Robitaille of Rice leads the season scorers with 289 and H. E. Krichner of TCU is second with 257.

Gene McCarley of Baylor did the most damage against Rice, scoring six points for the night in the closing seconds. A McCarley free throw with time about to run out provided the margin as Baylor won 46-45.

Texas Tech upset TCU and handed the Horned Frogs their first conference loss Saturday night. Gerald Myers got five points in a closing rush for the 61-57 victory.

Friday Texas A&M rolled over ice-cold Texas 73-29. Wayne Lawrence and Archie Carroll hit 22 and 18 points for the cadets.

In other games last week, Texas A&M defeated Arkansas 63-62. Baylor dumped SMU 70-53. TCU beat Rice 59-52 and Tech trimmed Texas 64-47.

Other games this week match TCU and Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City and Texas A&M and University of Houston at Houston Saturday.

TCU and Texas A&M were tied for the season lead with 11-3 record. Tech was third with 10-5.

Americans Heavy Cage Favorites

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Russia's shocking loss to Canada and the jet-fast U.S. airman's sweep through preliminary eliminations left America's defending titlist the heavy favorites today in the World Amateur Basketball Championships.

The United States, Russia and five other nations start the final round-robin competition here Tuesday with clean slates.

The U.S. team, a group of former collegiate stars now in the Air Force, whipped Argentina 87-73, Nationalist China 81-73, and Sunday night crushed the United Arab Republic 103-58 in its rush to the finals.

Russia qualified but lost much of its lustre when the smaller, faster Canadians scored a 63-54 upset Sunday night. Until then the Russians had been co-favorites with the United States.

Close Scrutiny

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston School Athletic Director Hugh A. Johnson's operations are scheduled for close scrutiny at a school board meeting tonight.

Art Wall Wobbles But Hangs On To Triumph

By ALAN CLINE PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Despite a $6,000-victory in the Bing Crosby golf tournament, Art Wall Jr., may look up his pro golf buddies for a little help. The lean Pennsylvanian credits three colleagues for making him the year's leading money winner, but he didn't look that way Sunday on the final nine of the 72-hole extravaganza played over three courses.

Wall carded a final nine of 41 while Gene Littler was closing fast. Only a shot hooked into the Pacific on the 18th removed the San Diego battler from contention. He was nine down and in third place when the pair started the final eight holes. By the 18th he was only one down.

Littler came to the par five 540-yard hole with Wall anything but sharp. He had three-putted both the 16th and 17th.

But with a national television audience looking on Littler hooked said he was not pressing, that he way trying for position for a good approach.

The TV program time ran out before the golfers putted but viewers must have known who would win.

Wall took a six and won with a 279 after shooting 34-41—75 for the day. Littler and Jimmy Demaret, who started the day in second place, tied for second with 281 and $2,150 apiece.

Wall won $4,000 for the individual pro and $2,000 for low amateur score — 252 — with National Amateur champ Charles Coe. Littler added $1,200 to his haul as he and Art Anderson of Hollywood finished third in the pro-am with 259.

The big haul gave Wall $9,970 for three tournaments this year. He said, however, he was worried about his recent had finishes. He finished second at Los Angeles and tied for 12th at Tijuana.

He follows a pattern devised after work with fellow pro Doug Ford, a $1,250 money winner in the Crosby; Jay Hebert, who won $712 and Mike Fetschick, who finished out of the money.

After that final 41 Sunday, he indicated he might seek more advice before the Palm Springs Thunderbird Invitational starts Thursday.

Finishing behind Littler and Demaret were Californians Bob Ross of Palo Alto and John McMullin from Alameda with 283 good for $1,500 each. Don January, Eastland, Tex., and Ford, from Crisp River, Fla., 285 for $1,250 and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., and Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., 286 for $1,025.

Ford picked up an additional $1,500 for finishing second in the pro-amateur with Art Anderson, Hollywood, Calif., in 257.

Baylor said Saturday he would do it again if the same situation came up in the future, and that he wouldn't have played at Charleston "if it cost my entire salary." He thanked Short for backing him up.

Argentina's Chief First To Visit U.S.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Arturo Frondizi, a stern lawyer with the nickname "El Flaco"—the Thin Man—is the first Argentine president to visit the United States.

He leaves behind for two weeks a storehouse of troubles. But he has a traveling bag full of hopes, and his journey to the United States is a key in his bold program to tug Argentina out of chaos.

Frondizi, one of 14 children of an immigrant Italian stonemason, took over last February as Argentina's first constitutional president since the Peron regime was ousted by revolution in September, 1955. He was the first freely elected chief executive in three decades.

Frondizi won the presidency of a country racked by economic crisis. A profound thinker, ascetic-looking Frondizi has told his people their plight is serene but blunt terms. He is not a back-slapping politician. His speeches go straight to the point.

On Dec. 29, Frondizi told his countrymen the only course was through austerity, hard work, and foreign help.

OPponents MOAN

Frondizi's foes were quick to yell that he had sold out to the "Yankee imperialists." They moaned when he pushed through a series of agreements with U.S. oil companies to boost their critically needed resource to the level where it would wipe out the yearly bill of 300 million dollars in scarce foreign exchange.

Oil has been an issue in this country for many years. Critics of Frondizi say he has turned on his previous petroleum stand. But Frondizi plowed through the wave of controversy, and such oil giants as Standard of New Jersey and Shell are coming in to speed up production.

Frondizi supporters like to compare him with Franklin D. Roosevelt, and he often speaks of the late President and the New Deal.

Frondizi was born Oct. 28, 1908, in Corrientes province, near the Brazilian border. He was reared in Buenos Aires, and rose in politics rapidly after winning his law degree. He was always slim, and was nicknamed "skinny" or "the thin one" by his fellow students.

His brother, Dr. Risieri Frondizi, is rector of the University of Buenos Aires.

The president is married to Elena Fagnano, also of Italian immigrant stock. She is traveling with her husband. They have a daughter, a student in the university.

Strike Wave Hits Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A crippling wave of strikes swept Argentina today as President Arturo Frondizi flew to the United States for help to pull his country out of economic chaos.

With diehard followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron egging workers toward open revolt, government officials served notice they would call out troops if violence erupted.

The capital was in a virtual state of siege as orders went out to conscripts in the 24-26 age class to stand by for a call from the army "at any moment."

Frondizi was due in Charleston, S. C., today to start a two-week state visit. He arrives in Washington Tuesday to confer with President Eisenhower and other top officials.

Left at home to direct action against the strikers were Senate Chairman Jose Maria Guido, acting president, and Alfredo Vitolo, acting minister of national defense and interior minister.

Scattered violence Sunday pointed up the gravity of the situation.

One bomb went off in La Plata, 35 miles southeast of the capital, doing about $1,000 in damage to the building housing the U. S. Information Service. Another exploded in the capital, damaging the home of Rogelio Frigerio, economic adviser to the president.

STRONG ACTION

Frondizi told newsmen during a stopover in Lima his regime stands ready to take strong action to prevent Peronist labor leaders from starting an uprising.

"Some union sectors think they can take the country over," he declared. His government meanwhile declared the strikes illegal, meaning that strikers lose their rights under the country's labor laws.

But orders to stop work mounted swiftly. Trolleys, buses and subways in Buenos Aires were paralyzed. Oil workers, utility workers, telephone, radio and telegraph operators, food and catering unions, white-collar employees, newsmen, printers and a host of others were ordered out.

Motion picture houses were ordered closed. Newspapers were expected not to publish. Meat workers, textile workers, construction men and bank clerks were told not to work. Some of the strikes were for an indefinite period, others for 48 hours.

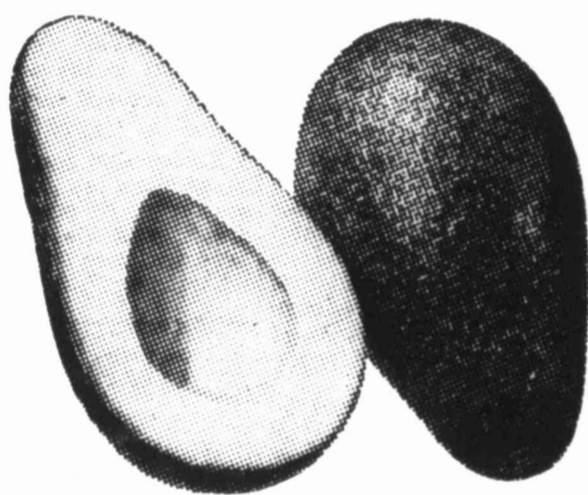

The strikes ostensibly were called in sympathy for workers at the government-owned Buenos Aires meat packing plant. Police and troops used tanks and tear gas Saturday to rout some 7,000 workers who had barricaded themselves in the plant protesting the government's decision to turn the plant over to private operators.

Navy Engine Could Land Man On Moon

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy has a new rocket engine which it says can land man on the moon—gently—and bring him back alive.

The engine was disclosed Sunday by the Naval Ordnance Test Station here along with another development: a safe new way of packaging dangerous fuels that scientists say will eliminate long countdowns.

Douglas D. Ordahl, head of the station's missile propulsion division, told a news conference "we hope to make a test vehicle within the next six months."

During ground tests, the engine has developed thrusts of up to 10,000 pounds — compared with the 400,000-pound thrust of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

But Ordahl said, "There is no limit to the ultimate size and power of the engine."

Some of the test engines, Ordahl said, have burned as long as four hours, throttled down.

"Current missiles burn up all their fuel in a minute or so," he said. The new engine does not have to burn all its fuel at once. It can burn only what is necessary and save the remainder for later spurts.

"We have had engines that could go to the moon—if we had proper control over them," he said. "This new engine gives up that control."

"It means we can change direction and speed in flight, that we can slow down and make a feather-soft landing on the moon or any of the planets, and take off again. It also means we can bring manned satellites back from orbit without damage by controlling direction and speed as they re-enter the atmosphere."

Instead of kerosene and liquid oxygen, which is hazardous and difficult to store, the engine burns two secret fluids which ignite on contact with each other.

The fluids are fed through a valve which controls the flow into the engine's combustion chamber. This enables scientists to regulate the amount of thrust produced—either by a hand lever or by remote radio control.

"These liquids can be stored indefinitely without corroding their aluminum tanks," Ordahl said. "A missile using this type of fuel could be loaded at the factory and stored for years. When delivered to troops in the field, it could be fired on a moment's notice."

Los Angeles Chosen For Demo Meet

By The Associated Press
Los Angeles is the choice of the Democrats' site committee as the location for the party's 1960 national convention. It's still a toss-up where the Republicans will hold theirs.

Los Angeles won the committee's recommendation Sunday after putting up a $350,000 cash offer. Top offers also were made at the committee's New Orleans meeting by San Francisco, Miami Beach and Philadelphia. Chicago and New York also were in the running.

The recommendation by the site committee is subject to final action by the Democratic National Committee when it meets Feb. 27-28 in Washington. Approval usually is only a formality.

Los Angeles and the other five cities will compete today and Tuesday for the Republican convention. A GOP site committee started two days of meetings in Des Moines, Iowa, in advance of a session of the full GOP national committee there Friday.

Proposed site of the Democratic meeting is the huge Los Angeles Sports Arena scheduled for completion in May. The five-million-dollar structure will have a floor as long as the playing area of a football field and wider—300 feet long and 160 feet wide.

Los Angeles, a city of 2,400,000, has never had a major national political meeting. Californians were prompt in expressing pleasure.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the state's new Democratic head, said "it's great. It's wonderful. We'll give them a fine convention. The Los Angeles convention will be the start to the election of a Democratic president."

Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson said "we're honored and delighted... this is a great thing for Los Angeles." The mayor is a former Republican congressman.

More than 30 factors were taken into consideration in recommending Los Angeles, Democratic officials said. One of the most important was the air conditioned arena which will accommodate 17,000 persons. Space will be available for caucus rooms and press, radio and television facilities.

The arena's ceiling girders tower 70 feet, almost seven stories. There are no pillars that would obstruct the view of the 3,500 Democratic convention delegates.

Oilman Edwin W. Pauley, finance chairman of a joint city-county committee on national political conventions, said Republicans will get the same offer Democrats got.

Budget Board Recommends A $28 Million Spending Boost

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislative Budget Board recommended today that Texas spend $285,800,000 out of the general revenue fund for state government the next two years—a spending boost of almost 28 million dollars.

A joint committee of financial experts from the House and Senate estimated the proposed budget would require an additional 170 million dollars in state revenue for 1960-61.

The board's recommendations from all funds—including federal grants—totalled about $2,300,000,000 compared to the $2,100,000,000 for the current biennium.

Recently State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert estimated a need for 167 million dollars in added revenue just to continue present services for the next two years.

He estimated the state general revenue fund deficit on Aug. 31, 1959, would be 65 million dollars.

Gov. Price Daniel has estimated that a "minimum improvements" program would cost 175 to 185 million dollars in new revenue for the biennium. Daniel will deliver his budget message to a joint session of the Legislature on Wednesday morning and is expected to make recommendations at that time on how the new revenue should be raised.

Other sources have estimated the state's additional revenue needs as high as 215 million dollars for the two years.

After the House Appropriations and the Senate Finance committees are organized they will consider the budget recommendations of the governor, the Legislative Budget Board and individual agencies, and make their own studies. From those two committees will come the appropriation bills to be acted upon by both houses, then finally consolidated by a joint conference committee.

The budget board report today noted that the spending level for the current biennium is $281,000,000, only $4,800,000 less than the 1960-61 recommendation, however, the current appropriations include about 23 million dollars for non-recurring items such as building repairs and major equipment outlays. "This means that the current operating level of the government out of general revenue fund is about 256 million dollars for this biennium," the report said. "It was that 23 million dollars in non-recurring items that enabled the budget board to meet most of the basic, workload increases in governmental programs and still keep its total recommendations from general revenue at approximately the current appropriation level."

Most of the recommended increases was earmarked for highways, public schools and welfare programs.

The current and recommended expenditures from general revenue by major categories of government included: judiciary $9,023,970 (current); $9,124,602 (recommended); hospitals and special schools, including youth council $84,108,302; $85,893,815; executive and administrative departments and agencies $54,223,370; $59,971,926; public schools including administration and teacher retirement $8,313,330; higher education agencies $115,179,768; $114,189,348.

The budget board's special recommendations included: about $4,200,000 to retire old, delinquent State of Texas bonds, an appropriation vetoed by the governor two years ago; coordination for tuberculosis control; review and approval of college building plans by the governor; construction of service roads in state parks by highway department on a reimbursable basis; juvenile boards for judicial districts of three or more counties; uniform policies for bonding state officials and employees; increase in maximum workmen's compensation benefits for highway department employees and relaxing the rigid residence requirements on welfare department employees.

The onetime Stalin peace prize winner, who has been pressing his party to break with the Reds since the 1956 Hungarian revolution, rammied his motion through the National Socialist congress with 273,271 votes, or 58.30 per cent, behind it.

A motion by Nenni's rival, extreme leftist Tullio Vecchietti, to renew the Socialist alliance with the Reds failed only 153,060 votes or 32.65 per cent. A compromise motion by Lelio Basso got 40,933 votes, or 8.73 per cent.

The party also agreed to continue opposition to Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democratic-led government.

The vote to break with the Communists also placed Nenni firmly in control of the party machinery. Seats on the 81-member Central Committee will be allotted on the basis of the votes for the different motions. A party official said Nenni's supporters will get 47 seats, Vecchietti's 27 and Basso's 7.

New Cold Wave Due

By The Associated Press
A new Arctic cold front aimed at Texas Monday was scheduled to bring snow and sub-freezing temperatures to the northern half of the state by nightfall.

Temperatures of 10 to 20 were predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains before dawn Tuesday. Sub-freezing temperatures were due to spread over West, North Central, and East Texas and to drive deep into the state.

Snow flurries were predicted for as far south as North Central Texas where temperatures of 18-25 were forecast.

The new cold wave will snap a mild weather spell in Texas which brought mid-afternoon temperatures ranging from 35 degrees at Galveston to 74 degrees at Wink Sunday.

Skies were cloudy in East and South Texas Monday morning with light rains reported falling at Lufkin, Houston, Beville, College Station and other South Texas points.

Austin Readies For Inaugural

AUSTIN (AP)—Throughout Austin last minute preparations were being completed today for tomorrow's inauguration of Gov. Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey.

Rain or shine the ceremony will take place at high noon. If weather permits the oath-taking is scheduled on a big temporary platform on the front steps of the capitol building. If it rains the ceremony will be moved into the House chamber where another large temporary platform has been constructed.

The day will start early for the high officials—who technically weren't finally elected until the Nov. 4 general votes were canvassed by a joint legislative committee this morning. H. E. Butt Jr., Corpus Christi grocery company executive and well-known Christian lay leader will make the main address at a prayer breakfast at 8 a.m. for Daniel and other state officials and legislators.

At 10:15 a.m. there will be a downtown parade, followed by the inauguration proceedings at the capitol.

At 3 p.m. Daniel will receive a large group of foreign dignitaries including the governors of several Mexican states and Raymond Ho, consul of the Free Republic of China.

At 7 p.m. Daniel, Ramsey and their wives will meet visitors in a receiving line at the new municipal auditorium. At 7:30 p.m. the University of Texas concert band and the 70-voice choir of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls will entertain at the reception continues.

The inaugural ball begins at 9:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium with Gov. and Mrs. Daniel leading the grand march. The Skinny Ennis Orchestra will play for dancing until 1 a.m.

The official party also will visit the inaugural square dance in the adjoining City Coliseum where J.M. Tidwell and his Cripple Creek Ranch Hands will play from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m.

For himself, he summed it up in these words: "Any budget is a financial pain."

He's so right. Any budget is a financial pain.

Freed On Bond In Arsenic Death

MADISONVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A young mother went free on $7,500 bond yesterday after signing a statement in the arsenic slaying of her husband last fall.

Madison County Sheriff Travis S. Connor said Mrs. Ann Thigpen, 26, admitted in the statement that she poured an arsenic solution in a soft drink she served her husband for lunch last Nov. 6.

The husband, J. C. Thigpen, 34, became ill and died Nov. 14 in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston, where doctors at first attributed his death to a gastric disorder.

Harris County pathologist Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk later turned up evidence of arsenic in the liver of Thigpen, a service station operator. He announced his findings Friday and Mrs. Thigpen was arrested in the home of her parents in Groves Saturday.

Connor said Mrs. Thigpen, mother of three small daughters, told him her husband had been mean to her.

Well, after our advertisement in last Monday's paper we had such outstanding results we thought we would try to gain some more new customers as the guy last week said he would be back in a few weeks. Yes, we were just sitting around getting all our bills ready to go into the "hat" for this month's drawing, when this guy comes in and for about five minutes looks me over real close. After this long stare he said, "I just wanted to see someone that was worse off than me." So he bought a used paper clip and said he would be back in a few weeks. Of course we had several calls giving us advice on how to run our business so it would be a success, one suggestion said if we would list our items such as, Remington Rand Adding Machines, Remington Rand Electric and Standard Typewriters, Remington Rand Calculators, Office Desk, filing cabinets, all kinds paper goods, pens, pencils, machine ribbons and machine repair that we would get better results. But, I told him that our prices were so low that by selling our complete stock we would have trouble paying the rent.

But, I did have a call from an office about 20 miles out of town for one of our famous $1.50 typewriter ribbons that last so long, but they wanted me to bring it out and put it on for them. So I got in the old delivery car, stopped by the service station, put in a gallon of oil and a quart of gas and was on my way. That was about 9:30 in the morning so after fixing the right rear tire three times I make it out there, the lady said the buyer was out and I would have to wait for him to OK the purchase, but while I was waiting she would like for me to look over the other machines in the office, some of them needed some adjustment but not bad enough to send them for repair or adjustment, so after about three hours of cleaning and adjusting, getting my new burlap suit greasy, the buyer came in, said, "I am sorry but you were so long in coming I stopped and bought a ribbon while I was in town." So late that afternoon I got back to the office, there was a salesman waiting for me said he wanted to buy me a cup of coffee. It had been a busy day and better than some, as I did get a free cup of coffee.

IT JUST LOOKS WORSE

Crime No Worse In Big Spring Than In Other Areas, DA Says

Big Spring and Howard County are not hotbeds of violent crime, as some folk seem to think. Rather the community has been subjected to a recent series of violent and widely publicized incidents which had created a misconception in the minds of some people.

These are the views of Dist. Atty. Gil Jones, who insists that, to the contrary, Big Spring is more lawabiding and enjoys better law enforcement than is the case of most communities.

To support this statement, he has made a careful check of the records of his office for the 4 1/2 years he has served as prosecutor.

Nationally, Jones points out, crime is increasing. The FBI report from January-September 1958 shows there will be 11 per cent more crimes than for the preceding quarter.

Murder, for example, showed an increase of 3 per cent. Jones points out that murder, as a crime in Big Spring, for the four and one half years from Nov. 1, 1954, through Jan. 1, 1959, composed only one per cent of the total number of offenses.

Jones points out in that period, murder did not go unpunished in Howard County. Five persons were tried by juries for murder. Four were convicted. Punishment assessed against three of these added up to 109 years plus a life sentence for the fourth. A life sentence is estimated at 45 years — the minimum time to be served before a prisoner can become eligible for parole.

NATIONAL TREND Jones pointed out that it is indisputably true there were more homicides in 1958 than in recent years but he also pointed to the FBI report which revealed this unhappy trend is nationwide.

During the 4 1/2 years the survey covers, 394 felonies were tried resulting in 390 defendants being found guilty. Only four were acquitted. Two hundred and eighteen persons were sent to the penitentiary for a total of 1,003 years — plus five life sentences; others spent a total of 1,650 days in jail. Fines of $14,300 were assessed.

The advantage of pleading guilty to a felony in Howard County seems to be reflected in the statistics on average penal sentences assessed in such cases as compared with the punishment meted out by juries. The records show that the average penitentiary sentence for the pleas of guilty was 3 1/2 years as compared to 17 years average terms meted out by juries.

Two hundred and 18 of the 390 convicted of felonies were dispatched to the penitentiary. Thirty-four went to county jail. Fifty-eight were given probated sentences and 80 suspended sentences.

PROBATION WORKING The effective results from proper employment of probation or suspended sentences in meritorious cases was pointed out by Jones. Seven of 58 probationers so forgot themselves that their probation has been revoked. Six of the 80 given suspended sentences later had this clemency set aside. Two probated sentences for burglary netted the offenders four years in prison; three sentenced for forgery had to serve six years and two convicted of theft over $50 drew five years for failure to stay within the probation requirements.

One forgery defendant where a suspension had been allowed, was hauled back and sentenced to five years in prison; three convicted of theft over $50 had to do nine years for dereliction and two defendants, who had been given suspended sentences for worthless checks, were committed for six years.

Jones points out that only 13 out of 138 — 10 per cent — of all felons who were granted probation or suspended sentences have failed to comply with the restrictions imposed by such sentences. He holds that this is a good defense of the use of such clemency in cases where it appears to be merited.

FORGERY IS LEADER Throughout the entire 4 1/2 years, forgery has led the field in the number of cases before the district attorney. Thirty per cent of all of the felonies filed have been for forgery. Six per cent have been for worthless checks — these related crimes accounting for more than a third of all of the felonies which have been brought before the district court.

Second commonest offenses are DWI second — driving while intoxicated — second offense — and burglary. Each provided 17 per cent of the total number of Howard County felonies since the fall of 1954. Felony theft with 13 per cent is next in order. Robbery cases have represented six per cent — the same as worthless checks.

Thus 83 per cent of all cases which have been investigated and handled by the district attorney have been these six offenses. Other types of felonies which have occurred in the county include narcotics possession, 3 per cent; assault with intent to commit murder, two per cent; sodomy, two per cent; murder, one per cent. These four categories add eight per cent to the 83 per cent represented in the other listing.

Perjury, murder by auto, swindle, assault with intent to rape, child desertion, misapplication of public funds, failure to stop and render aid, rape, fondling, indecent exposure, and concealing mortgaged property account for the remaining felony offenses in the county. All are fractional parts of one per cent.

SCALE CHANGES Punishment levied for offenses, however, does not follow the same percentage schedule as the number of complaints. Murder tops the list — punishment for homicide has averaged 38 years; burglary 27.5 years; robbery 11.5 years; rape 10 years; narcotics nine years; felony theft, murder by automobile, failure to stop and render aid, and fondling, each averaged five years imprisonment. Burglary and forgery sentences averaged 3.5 years, perjury and worthless checks three years; swindle and misapplication of public funds two years; and DWI second, 1.5 years.

Three hundred and 52 defendants indicted for felonies since Nov. 1954 have pleaded guilty. Forty-two have been tried before juries. Fifty-three others have been dismissed and four acquitted. Forgery accounted for 136 cases of which 117 defendants pleaded guilty, three were convicted by jury and 16 dismissed. The defendants were accorded 250 years in prison plus one life sentence.

Seventy-six burglary cases resulted in 69 guilty pleas, three jury convictions, four dismissals. Penitentiary time of 147 years was assessed in the burglary cases. Seventy-three DWI, second, cases were filed and 49 pleaded guilty, two were acquitted, six dismissed and six convicted. Total prison terms were 10 years plus 1,560 time in county jail and $14,300 in fines.

56 THEFT CASES Fifty-six felony theft cases were filed, seven tried and convicted by juries, 47 pleaded guilty, two were dismissed. A total of 60 years plus one life sentence was assessed. Twenty-six worthless check over $50 cases were handled. Twenty pleaded guilty, one was convicted by jury and five were dismissed. Forty-two years in prison was assessed against these defendants.

Twenty-four robbery cases were handled; two were convicted by juries, 22 pleaded guilty. Prison time was 117 years plus two life sentences. Narcotics cases totaled 16. Nine pleaded guilty, five were tried and four convicted; two were dismissed. Punishment aggregated 110 years in prison.

Assault with intent to murder provided 10 cases, five convictions by jury; four pleas of guilty and one dismissal. Prison time assessed 50 years. Nine cases of sodomy were filed and six of these were dismissed. Three pleaded guilty. Prison time: 20 years.

FIVE MURDERS Murder provided five cases — all of which were jury tried and four were convictions. None was dismissed and one won an acquittal. Prison time: 109 years plus one life sentence. Two perjury cases were filed and there were two pleas of guilty for prison time totaling six years.

Murder by auto provided two cases and both defendants pleaded guilty for prison time aggregating five years.

Two cases of swindling resulted in two pleas of guilty and four years prison time. Two assault with intent to rape charges resulted in one jury conviction and one plea of guilty for aggregate prison time of 55 years.

One plea of guilty in one child desertion drew a probated sentence. One case of misapplication of public funds was tried by a jury and two years imprisonment assessed. One plea of guilty wrapped up failure to stop and render aid cases and drew the defendant five years in the pen. One rape case was tried by jury and 10 years meted out as punishment.

A fondling case ended in a plea of guilty and a five-year sentence. A lone case of indecent exposure resulted in the defendant, who pleaded guilty, getting 90 days in the county jail.

Jones estimated that he has probably brought at least 600 matters before the grand juries in the four and a half years. Some of these grand juries declined to indict; others Jones recommended not be indicted.

Ikard Busy Filling Committee Posts

By TEX EASLEY Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson were in the spotlight with the opening of the 86th Congress, a third Texan was one of the busiest men on Capitol Hill.

The exceedingly occupied gentleman was the tall, quiet-speaking Rep. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls. He is a member of the powerful tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, Democratic members of which make all other committee assignments for their party colleagues. (Republicans have a special Committee on Committees.)

Even before the new Congress convened, Ikard was being sought out by incoming representatives anxious to get on some particular committee, and even by some older ones seeking a change. For days Ikard and his 14 fellow Democrats on Ways and Means were mulling over the qualifications of the 64 new Democratic representatives.

Rayburn was consulted frequently. As speaker he's the real leader of the Democrats in the House, and there is little doubt but that his stamp of approval is necessary for committee assignments.

On the Senate side, of course, Johnson has the same power over Democratic assignments.

Around the Capital: The first constituent to visit the office of Houston's new Rep. Bob Casey (D) was J. R. Goodrum. An architect here on private business, he stopped at Casey's office to get gallery passes so he and his wife could see the lawmakers in action.

That's not counting the five close friends of the congressman who came up from Houston to see him take the oath. They were former State Sen. Searcy Bracwell and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hurlick, and Jack De Cox.

Three Texas boys are among the pages in the new Congress. Ed Howard Barnett, 17, Wichita Falls, is on Ikard's patronage.

His father, James Barnett, vice president of the Times Publishing Co., accompanied him to Washington to see that he got settled all right.

Nicholas Nahas, 16, Beaumont is a page by appointment of Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont. His father, Col. Jack Nahas, is on Army duty here.

Senate page Bill McIntyre, 17, of Navasota, worked for Sen. Ralph Yarborough in last summer's election. Soon after starting to work here, Bill and some other pages visited New York, and he got on a quiz show in which the contestants tried to guess his job.

Fellow pages now call him a star, and many senators nod to him in recognition.

Bobby Cummings of Gatesville is a House doorkeeper by appointment.

ment of Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco. A 1958 graduate of the University of Texas, Cummings expects a call from Uncle Sam soon.

Three Texas women congressional secretaries drove to Washington for the start of the new session, each in her own car.

The trio, Ruth Lair of Elm Mott, Mrs. Welda Mae Norris of Waco and Kay Wharton of McAllen, met by a prearrangement at Greenwood, a little town in Louisiana near Shreveport.

Their appointed time was 2 p.m. on a Saturday, at a restaurant, and they converged there within a 15-minute period. After coffee they headed their three-car caravan toward Washington.

Husband Slain In Motel Incident

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A man identified as Victor Conley, 50, a truck line supervisor from Beaumont and Port Arthur, Tex., was shot to death after he kicked in a motel door here yesterday.

Deputies C. E. Johnson and Tom Cole said Conley, who was hit by four bullets from a pistol, was looking for his estranged wife.

Deputies held Alvin Guidroz, 33, a one-armed resident of the motel, for investigation.

Mrs. Conley, 35, who was in the room with Guidroz, was held as a material witness.

Escaped Mental Patient Nabbed

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — An escaped mental patient who kidnaped three persons in Columbia, Mo., Friday was captured Sunday by detectives. He is Eugene Lewis, 37, who escaped Thursday from the Colorado State Mental Hospital in Pueblo. He had been transferred there 10 months ago from Colorado State Prison where he was serving 27 years for armed robbery and assault.

In Columbia, Lewis kidnaped Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Reeves and their house guest, Jesse Blaylock of Sallisaw, Okla. He forced them at gunpoint to drive him to St. Louis. He released them unharmed after their car broke down. The trio called police and six detectives burst into Lewis' dingy room in south St. Louis, surprising him before he could get to a loaded pistol. Officers quoted Lewis as saying, "If I could have got to the gun I'd have used it."

A Devotional For Today

The Lord came, and stood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak; for thy servant heareth. (1 Samuel 3:10.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, teach us how to commune with Thee. Help us to express our thanksgiving for all Thy goodness and our gratitude for Thy great redemptive love in Christ. But give us listening ears. May we learn how to be still in Thy presence. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Heavy Responsibility For Speaker Carr

Waggoner Carr, lanky young lawyer from Lubbock, is now in an enviable—and politically dangerous—position. He has won a knockdown fight for the powerful House Speakership from another lanky young lawyer, Joe Burckett of Kerrville.

With the Speakership Carr won the right to organize the committee system by which the House operates. He's now deciding which members will get choice assignments and which will be relegated to committee dumpheaps.

With the Speakership Carr won, too, a rare opportunity to prove his ability as an administrator as well as a lawmaker.

The Texas House is a colorful collection of conflicts. Party discipline is, of course, missing since all are "Democrats." Under Gov. Shivers' policy of firm leadership the House usually divided itself into the pro and anti-administration forces. Since Gov. Daniel is more inclined to a hands-off policy on legislative squabbles (as the recent Speaker's race) the current division is usually along liberal and conservative lines. Or in some cases, city and rural.

The liberal-conservative lineup is to be expected during the new session when the state's finances are so tangled.

Now, consider Speaker Carr's problem: He won by eight votes, 79-71. Those 70 who stayed with him quite naturally expect him to express his appreciation with his committee appointments. If he doesn't follow the rules of practical politics, the Capitol dome is going to rattle.

Among those 79 Carr has some experienced men, some leaders who have proved their ability. He has, too, a flock of men new to the House, inexperienced in legislative ways. Among the 79 Carr has some firm conservatives. He also has some vocal liberals.

A most important factor for Carr—and for the people of Texas—is the bloc of 71 House members who went down to defeat with Burckett. Seventy-one is a mighty big fraction of the House membership. And the quality of the Burckett forces is as important as the quantity.

Much of the strong conservative leadership of the House during the last six or eight years is in that bloc of 71, such men as Max Smith, Frates Seligson, Scott McDonald, Wade Spilman, Obie Bristol—and Burckett himself.

If practical politics is carried to the extreme, these 71 would be the "outs." They need the favor of the Speaker for chances to do their best legislative work.

The defeated 71 need the good will of the victorious 79. But, the reverse is true, too. Carr will need the services of many of the Burckett leaders if the House is to operate as efficiently as a Speaker would like.

Since last week's dramatic election of the House leader, there has been much oratory, pleas for and pledges of cooperation. All Texas hopes the talk is not idle.

A liberal-conservative division of the House, alignment according to principles of government, is the proper one. Subdivided that by a continuation of the Carr-Burckett struggle and we'll have chaos at a time we can least afford it.

As taxpayers we need the best leadership from both the Carr forces and the Burckett forces to chart a sane financial course.

The initiative is Carr's. He won the Speaker's race. He will assign the work. The operation of the House is now his responsibility. The opportunity is his to prove he has the skill for an even bigger administrative job. Texas will be taking his measure during the next 120 days.

Public Opinion And Fidel Castro

If the U. S. sends 200,000 Marines into Cuba to protect Americans and American interests they will all be buried in a gigantic trench. Those, in effect, were the words of rebel Boss Fidel Castro.

Later he modified this remark by saying he didn't know the man who asked him the question was an American reporter.

No American reporter should have asked such a question in the first place, of course, for our State Department had already said there would be no intervention in Cuba.

But a force more powerful and persuasive than any threat of intervention is at work to cool Castro and his firing squads off. That is the force of public opinion. While the Russian propaganda organs egg Castro on with his Batista-like ruthlessness, the public opinion of North and South America has been martialled against the outrages by press and political spokesmen.

In the end, Castro will either take heed of this public opinion—which does not exist in Russia or any other totalitarian country—and modify his words and his actions. Or he will wind up out-Batistaing Batista, and sooner or later go the way of all dictators.

We Say 'Yes,' The Russians Say 'No'

WASHINGTON — If anything were needed to expose the humbug and hypocrisy of the Moscow government, it has been fully demonstrated in the paradox of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan's tour of this country. While he openly criticizes the government of the United States and its policies, no American, whether an official or an unofficial visitor, may do likewise inside the so-called "republics" of the Soviet Union.

Already "Tass," the official news agency of the Soviet government, is telling its readers and listeners that the people of the United States do not agree with the American government's policies and that Mikoyan is certainly winning converts to his cause.

Imagine some American official going to Russia and touring that country, making outspoken criticisms of the men in the Kremlin and trying to drive a wedge between the people and their government. For nothing like it would be tolerated by the dictatorship which rules the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union has had some distinguished American visitors, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey, one of the leaders of the opposition party in Congress and a high-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But, though he spent eight hours in conference with Premier Khrushchev at the Kremlin, what the senator said later wrote in defense of American policies in criticism of Soviet policies was suppressed by the newspapers of the Soviet Union.

How can there be mutual trust or the beginnings of a "peaceful co-existence" when the rules that apply inside the Soviet Union are so hostile to the concept of free interchange between peoples? President Eisenhower told newsmen last week that he is in favor of more and more visits by prominent persons from the Soviet Union. But of what avail are these to be if access to the Soviet people is denied by the dictatorship in Moscow?

The Columbia Broadcasting System has, for example, been ordered to close its Moscow Bureau, and accreditation has been withdrawn for its correspondent by the Soviet government. This was done to express Soviet disapproval of the televising over the CBS network in this country of a show about Stalin of the type found in historical novels. Similarly, a National Broadcasting Company representative in Moscow was denied use of broadcast facilities because of some phrasing in one of his broadcasts which the Soviet government didn't like. The Soviets, moreover, spend millions of dollars each year "jamming" American radio broadcasts to Russia and countries in Eastern Europe.

Even more hypocritical is the Soviet government's attitude toward foreign newspapers and periodicals. It examines the policies of the publications and denies the admission of permanent correspondents representing any publication whose content the Soviets dislike. Yet the Congress of the United States admits to its press galleries persons from the Soviet Union in the guise of newsmen who are agents or employees of their own government in every sense of the word.

There is, in fact, no such thing today as reciprocity as between the Soviet government and our own government. It is the United States that gives constantly, while the Moscow government repeatedly says "no." Yet Mr. Mikoyan tells American audiences it is time for America to stop saying "no" to the various proposals relating to the future of Germany and other world problems which have been under incessant discussion between Moscow and Washington these last few years.

The reception given Mr. Mikoyan is being described in the Moscow press and radio as an indication that the American people do not agree with their own government. Such distortions are to be expected in a government-controlled press. When, however, it may be asked of Mr. Mikoyan, will the Soviet Union permit any American to stump Russia and tell them their dictatorship is bad and can be overthrown by force whenever the people, by concerted action, decide to do so? If Mr. Mikoyan says it can't be done here either, he may be referred, incongruous though it be, to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the so-called "Yates case." This says it is constitutional for anybody—even a member of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union—to come to America and preach the gospel of revolution. When will the supreme tribunal of the Soviets grant Americans a reciprocal right?

Ike May Beat Age Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower — a little over 68 and beginning his seventh year in office Tuesday — is still a couple of years shy — of being the oldest man who ever occupied the White House.

Andrew Jackson still has the distinction of being the oldest president in American history. But Eisenhower will have been the oldest by the time his second full term ends.

Jackman was almost 62 when he took office. He was just a few days short of 70 when his second term was up. Eisenhower was a little over 62 when he went into the presidency in 1953.

On the day he steps out — Jan. 20, 1961 — he will be 70 years, 3 months and 6 days old, or about 3½ months older than Jackson.

Today Eisenhower is 68 years, 3 months, and 5 days old. Two other presidents—James Buchanan and Harry S. Truman—were still in office at an older age than that. Buchanan was just a month younger than Jackson when he finished: 69 years, 10 months, and 11 days old.

Some of the things her critics and detractors say about Kim is that she is moody, temperamental, and that her glamour lies wholly in her beauty and not at all in her acting ability.

Kim Looking For The Right Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Hollywood's most eligible bachelor gal is ready to say "I do."

But the sea-green eyes of Kim Novak still haven't sighted the right guy on the horizon.

"I'd like to be fulfilled as a woman," she said. "What is a woman without the right man? I'd like to marry and have children."

"But marriage isn't something to rush into just because it's popular or the thing to do. I want more than a good companion, and I want to be more than a good companion."

"Marriage is companionship — plus. You have to give all that you are, and I am prepared to do that."

Anyone particular in mind? "No," she said. "But I'm not really worried about that. It will happen. I feel sure. And meanwhile it's a nice life, being a bachelor."

Actually, Kim gives the impression of being somewhat lonely and not sure whom she can trust. In five years and 10 pictures the slender blonde ex-model has soared from obscurity to become one of filmdom's top 10 stars at the box office.

Now she is paying the price all pay who stand in the limelight, the price of feeling misunderstood, of being gossiped about, or having her ability questioned.

Shy by nature, she is still a bit uneasy in the role of glamour queen. She is also weary of gossip column tidbits linking her with men she never has met in night clubs where she never has been.

Seated on a chair lounge in the pink dressing room in the Bronx studio of her latest film, Paddy Chayefsky's "Middle of the Night," costarring Fredric March, she talked of her troubles.

"I have a feeling this is going to be a good year," she said. "Last year was such a bad year—so treacherous—this has to be a good year."

"I used to be all exposed. Now I'm covered up." "It is what people like that is important to your career. They judge your ability, not you."

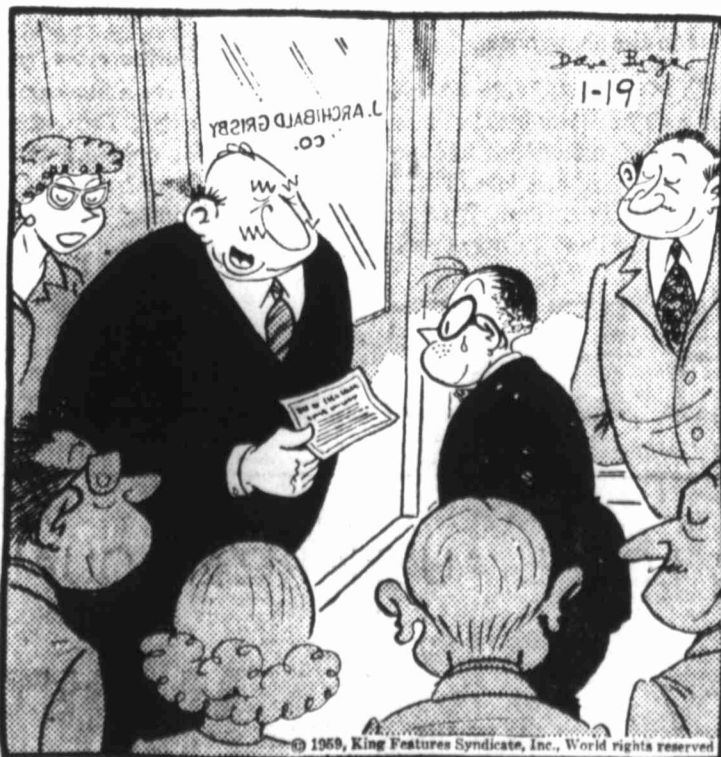

"I don't like professional things. It's kind of an insult to me when somebody says, 'You're a real pro.' I don't want to be a pro. I don't want to be systematic. It's boring when everything is pinpointed and in its place. I don't like life in a set pattern, or perfect people, or the manufactured look. I like the home-made touch."

As to glamour, Kim said: "I'm sure most people don't think of glamour as just looking beautiful or being beautifully dressed. Glamour is interior."

"It's either in you or it isn't. You can dress up glamour or add to it, but you can't take it away or cover it up if it's really there. I hope not, anyway."

A big star, Kim Novak, and also a nice kid looking for truth in a world of glitter.

Nobody Thinks He's A Litterbug

Adelbert Yumley stopped at the corner drug store and bought a morning paper to read while waiting for the bus that would take him to work.

The first item he scanned didn't please him in the least. The headline on the story read:

"Maintenance Costs in City Going Up." The article disclosed that efforts of city employees to keep the city's streets, alleys, parks and buildings clear and free of debris had met with failure and more personnel was going to have to be added to the payroll to meet the challenge.

"More taxes," he muttered to himself. "The little guy hasn't got a chance."

The bus showed up just then, so Yumley got up to await entrance. He was unhappy with the newspaper article anyway, so left it there for someone else to claim.

If the wind got to it first, that was all right, too—with Yumley. As long as the maintenance costs were going up, why not make the fellows work for their money, he thought to himself.

Adelbert walked the two blocks from the bus stop to his office, removed his coat and hat and went right to work. He never looked up until 9:30 a.m., when a friend happened by for the usual coffee break.

They walked across the street to the cafe for a lengthy stay and a pleasant chat. Emerging from the restaurant, Yumley idly reached into his pocket for his cigarette while waiting for the light to change and noted that he was down to his last smoke.

He placed it between his lips, then wadded up the container and tossed it into the gutter. He removed his safety matches and used the last two matches to light the cig. The match cover, too, sailed into the street, although there was a rubbish container standing close to him. He finished the smoke before he ducked back into his office. It, too, sailed into the street.

Shortly before noon, Adelbert got up to refresh himself at the water cooler. He took a paper cup, drank from it, then crushed it in his hand and tossed it at the nearest waste basket. It missed, but he didn't pause to pick it up and try again.

He took a piece of gum from his pocket, removed the wrapping and ate it over the edge of his desk, hoping it would find the waste basket. It didn't.

At noon, he strolled back over to the cafe. Waiting for the light, he looked up to see a man emptying the contents of his automobile ash tray onto the street, and frowned.

Pat Jingo, a co-worker, offered to take him home that evening and Adelbert gratefully accepted. When they got to Pat's car, Jingo complained that his kids had left some candy wrappers in the seat. Would Yumley toss them out? Gladly, said Adelbert. There was an empty sack and a soft drink bottle on the floor of the car, too. Might as well throw those away. No sooner said than done with Yumley.

Jingo stopped the car immediately in front of Yumley's house. Adelbert got out, thanked Pat, waved good-bye and then turned to go into his house.

Yumley eyed his lawn and growled under his breath. The yard was littered with papers, cardboard and other debris the wind had picked up and deposited there. Nothing to do but pick them up.

Mrs. Yumley was sure things had gone badly at the office, the way Adelbert was carrying on about the untidiness of the yard, after he entered the house. He seemed very upset about it all.

"Where's the paper?" the master of the household barked. When he found it and settled down into an easy chair, he turned again to the item about the city's maintenance costs going up, wondering all the while if it would help to organize a tax payer's committee to argue the issue with the city officials.

American Designer Comes Into His Own

As an old gong-beater from way back for American fashions and American designers, I am now reading a 21-gun salute for the Fifth Avenue Association which at long last has decided to present American fashions to the world in a manner (1) commensurate with its importance and (2) calculated to give the French and Italians a run for their money.

From now on, the association will present semi-annually, in January and September, the cream of the American fashion crop, without reference to lace, tweed, color or price. The first of these elaborate shows, which could turn out to be the Magna Carta of American fashion, will be held in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Thus the American couture will be presented in a glamorous framework almost one week before the usual mid-winter openings in Paris and almost simultaneously with the openings in Rome.

This spotlight on American design comes tardily, but better late than never.

And perhaps with the American show off and running before the Paris openings, this nation can see just how good its own couture is and how much Paris borrows from it. Borrowing isn't a one-way street, as has been popularly supposed. It is a two-way stretch. Heaven help us, there is even data to prove that the French were balmly enough to copy the sack from us, and not vice versa!

However, I mention this with bowed head, and feel that the accusation is just a sneaky foreign contention to get the Paris designers off the hook.

Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the American designer, no matter how talented, has always had to play fifth fiddle to Paris. There are American designers every bit as good as those in Paris, in one woman's opinion. But year after year, the frustrated American designer has seen the headlines and the front page space monopolized by any male twerp in Paris who designed something sufficiently ugly or ridiculous to make women look sub-human.

American newspapers, and I love each and every one like a mother, and American magazines have reserved all their Page One space for French fashions—good, bad or indifferent. In my lifetime, Chanel, Schiaparelli and the late C. Dior had only to sneeze and it was front-page stuff. The most obvious mistakes of the French designers, and they make hideous ones from time to time, are reported with loving care by an idolatrous fashion press.

What I am campaigning for, I guess, is equal time for the talented American designer, of which there is a slew. Why the press will rush into print with anything about the French couture and regard as crass commercialism the mere mention of the name of an American designer beats me. If my profession can mention the brand name of automobiles day after day after day, I don't see what ethical code is busted if the American clothes designer gets an occasional legitimate break.

Now that somebody cares, and that the American couture is to have a proper stage, perhaps the ice will break in the Yukon. What the American designer has always needed was recognition and a little gimp in his backbone. The current shows will go a long way toward providing both. In the opinion of Adam Gimbel, head of Saks Fifth Avenue, who is one of the pillars of the present plan, "Paris has genius," says Mr. Gimbel, "but so do we!"

What Do Americans Really Want?

What this country needs is not a five-cent cigar, nor a $300 automobile, nor a $5,000 home. It needs an inventory.

But not an inventory of people, not a census of population. Not an inventory of plant, equipment, and productive capacity. Not an inventory of material things—schools, homes, office buildings, coal, iron, automobiles, farms, washing machines, telephones, and wheat in storage.

No, what this country needs is a social inventory—an inventory of aspirations and potentials.

Don't take that on my say-so. Take it from your own man, the man a majority of Americans put in the White House by popular vote in 1952 and 1956.

Very often, people—families—sit back and take stock of their own affairs. How's Johnny doing in high school? Ought he to go to college? What does he want to be? And Jane—is she living up to her potential? Is she college material? You take account of family aptitudes, goals, means, and probabilities.

And President Eisenhower recommended just that for America in his State-of-the-Union message in words which strove for grandeur and yet made sense:

"We must meet the world challenge and at the same time permit no stagnation in America. . . .

"If progress is to be steady we must have long-term guides extending far ahead, certainly five, possibly even ten years. They must reflect the knowledge that before the end of five years we will have a population of over 180 million. . . .

"They must be goals that stand high and do inspire every citizen toward mounting levels of moral, intellectual and material strength. . . .

"To define these goals, I intend to mobilize . . . a group of selfless and devoted individuals, outside of government, . . . comprised of educators and representatives of labor, management, finance, the professions and every other kind of useful activity. . . .

"Such a study would update and supplement, in the light of continuous changes in our society and its economy, the monumental work of the committee on recent trends which was appointed in 1931 by President Hoover. . . .

ed, among other things, with the living standards of our people, their health and education, their better assurance of life and liberty and their greater opportunities.

"It would also be concerned with methods to meet such goals and what levels of government—local, state, or federal—should be particularly concerned."

Eisenhower is not proposing a rigid five-year plan in slavish emulation of the Soviet Union. Mr. and Mrs. America don't blueprint easily. The United States, we say, is a "free society, a pluralistic society."

Some people think that making money is an end in itself. Others think that having a good time—enjoying life—is the purpose of existence. Still others consider the doing of good work—in art, science, education—as the purpose of life. And still others will argue that serving God, being devoted to humanity, is life's purpose. We need a definition of our goals to find our strengths.

What does a population of 190,000,000 want? How can we achieve these goals? When completed "Recent Social Trends" was a 1,568-page book. Distinguished social scientists, economists, educators, lawyers, etc., surveyed the wealth and vitality of the American people; problems of crime and punishment; legal institutions; recreation; labor; taxation; the arts; social life; and the growth of consumerism.

But the study was blighted by the Great Depression. A drowning society doesn't reach for long-term philosophical objectives.

The Eisenhower proposal has one great debit. It comes late in his term of office. An inventory of this magnitude—especially if it has imaginative proposals—is best presented by the protagonist himself, if it is to have optimum impact and influence. The President who fathers such a study would be interested in furthering its suggestions and conclusions.

It's improbable the study will be completed while Eisenhower is in office. Therefore, the choice of personnel is crucially important. The director and his immediate associates must be persons whose erudition and objectivity will command the respect and enthusiasm of whoever is in the White House—Republican or Democrat.

Weather Outlook

Much colder temperatures and precipitation at near normal levels is forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau for Big Spring and area in its latest 30-day forecast. Just to the east of Big Spring begins a vast area of the South in which much below normal temperatures are expected for the next month. From Arizona westward and covering the entire Pacific Coastal area the temperatures are expected to be much above normal. Precipitation in this same area will be below normal. Colorado, New Mexico, a little of Oklahoma and part of Kansas as well as the northwest half of Texas will have normal rainfall.

Hospitals Treat 11,000 Patients

Statistics of four private hospitals reflect their tremendous importance to Big Spring and area during 1958.

No less than 11,010 patients were cared for in Medical Arts, Malone & Hogan, Howard County Foundation and Cowper hospitals. Remarkably, they spent only an average of four and a fraction days in the hospitals for a cumulative total of 46,956 patient days (one patient in the hospital one day).

The average number of people in the private hospitals per day was 122.

While treatment was going on in the hospitals, doctors were busy serving the needs of people in clinics. In all, the clinics registered a combined total of 157,084 visits for the year.

A total of 1,082 births were registered in the four hospitals, and there were only 142 deaths. The latter figure is quite impressive in the face of so many emergency cases such as severe accidents and seriously sick babies on the rolls.

The aggregate cost of running the four hospitals with payrolls and all other expenses was $1,695,035.

As a business, the importance of hospitals is shown in the payroll figure. For professional and other staff help, the four hospitals-clinics paid out $1,110,456 in 1958.

Also from a business standpoint, the hospitals drew clients from an extraordinary area, and in many cases patient's families stayed here while loved ones were hospitalized.

Run-Aways Caught

Two girls, 12 and 15, were picked up here early today as run-aways from Abilene. Their parents came for them a short time later, and they have been released.

New Cotton Program To Be Explained At Lamesa Meet

LAMESA — A meeting for all farmers and cotton producers of Dawson County to air the new choice A or B cotton program for 1959 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the junior high school auditorium.

The session is being held to explain the details of the new farm legislation for cotton. Details are to be discussed by Eddie Brown, the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation manager; Lee Roy Colgan, county agricultural agent, and George W. Pfeifferberger of Lubbock, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers.

Brown said Saturday that considerable confusion exists as farmers consider the two alternatives for the 1959 crop year. The meeting will be helpful in assisting farmers to understand the kind of allotment-program which they may choose to apply to their crop, he said.

Final date for farmers to register their choice at the local ASC office is March 16; not later than Jan. 31, the Secretary of Agriculture will determine the levels of price support for the 1959 upland cotton crop, and each farm operator will then be notified of the alternative levels of support under his farm's Choice A and B allotments.

Castro Invites Newsmen To Support Rally

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro said today he has invited 350 newsmen and commentators from the United States and Latin America to attend a giant rally called in Havana Wednesday to show support for his speedy trial and execution of Batista henchmen.

The revolutionary chief said he also had invited U.S. congressmen who "in recent days have severely criticized the executions of war criminals by the revolutionary army."

A statement from Castro's press headquarters said personal invitations had gone out to the foreign journalists. A spokesman said five planes would be sent to Miami to pick up those wishing to attend and another plane might go on to Washington.

"TRUTH BE KNOWN" — "We have extended the invitation," Castro's statement said, "so that the truth of what is happening in Cuba may be told to all citizens of every country in America. We believe that if the truth is known any misunderstanding that has occurred in recent days regarding the situation in our country will disappear."

Castro has called for a half million Havana residents to turn out Wednesday to back his regime's rejection of foreign criticism of the speedy execution of those convicted of killing opponents of dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The auxiliary Roman Catholic bishop of Havana, Msgr. Alfredo Muller, Sunday night endorsed the executions, reported to have reached 207 throughout Cuba.

Appearing on a television interview with revolutionary chief Fidel Castro, Bishop Muller said he personally opposes capital punishment but that the church permits it in some instances.

"In this case it is justified," he declared.

Although Castro avoided saying when the Havana trials would get under way, he said they would be conducted under a military code and open to the public.

"I want everyone to see clearly," he declared.

SUPPORT SHOWN — Some 2,000 members of revolutionary groups gathered in Havana's Central Park last night. Women farm workers carried banners reading: "Let the executions continue." Peraza Venegas, 24, a Castro soldier, pulled back his shirt to display scars he said had come from torture by Batista police.

Castro said in the TV interview that only military men will face the military tribunals, an indication civilians may go before the special revolutionary courts he has said will be set up. He also reduced his earlier estimate that 450 in all will be executed, saying not more than 400 will be put to death.

The rebel leader said that the trials cannot wait until civil courts are re-established. If they are spread out over several months, "we will never have peace," he declared.

He called for the United States to return top members of Batista's regime who fled north.

"If the United States does what it says—what democratic principles demand—if the United States is decent and civilized, it cannot help war criminals," he said.

There are some 650 prisoners awaiting trials in La Cabana fortress overlooking Havana Bay and some 5,000 to 6,000 under arrest in all Cuba.

Bankers Promoted

LAMESA — The advancement of two assistant cashiers to roles of vice presidents were made the past week when stockholders and the board of directors of the Lamesa National Bank held their annual meeting. Named as new vice presidents were B. P. Middleton and Bill David.

DEAR ABBY

YOU RAISED HIM

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is a mechanic in a garage and he married the daughter of the man who owns the garage. I called him up this morning and asked him if he would come with his car and drive me to the doctor's. I have to have shots for my nerves. He said "Why don't you walk, Ma? The walk will do you good." The doctor's office is a good two miles from my house and he knows it. Do you think it is his fault or that struck-up girl he married?

MRS. L. — The girl didn't raise him—she only married him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was engaged to another girl before he married me and she had this child. I knew all about this before I married him and I accepted the fact. Naturally I wasn't thrilled with the idea of his having to pay out so much every week for child support, but I loved him, so what could I do? My problem is that my husband keeps wanting to see the child. I am not jealous, but I know the mother of his child would stop at nothing to get him back and I am sure she tries to vamp him when he comes to see the baby. I don't feel right asking him not to see his own child. Please tell me what to do. BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: You can't deny him the right to see his own child . . . but there is nothing to stop you from going with him.

DEAR ABBY: I am to be married soon and the man I am marrying doesn't want my family to attend the wedding. The reason is because he is ashamed for his people to meet my people. He thinks they are crude and down-right trash. I will admit they are poorly educated but they are hard working people and never asked anybody for anything. Should I have them anyway, or forget about it and always feel bad secretly? HURT

DEAR HURT: Do you think you could live happily with a husband who is "ashamed" of your family for their lack of education? By all means, INVITE them, but I suggest that first you take a long look at the man you intend to marry.

DEAR ABBY: I was married to a man for over 25 years and was proud to bear his name. He died and he wasn't even buried yet when I started receiving sympathy cards with my given name instead of his. Why? For 25 years I was "MRS. JOHN DOE" and I want to remain "MRS. JOHN DOE"—not "MRS. JANE DOE" even after he is gone. Am I going against proper etiquette? MRS. JOHN DOE

DEAR MRS. JOHN DOE: You are correct. Those who address you as "MRS. JANE DOE" are in error.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NICK AT THE BAKERY: Cast some of that bread on the waters.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Von Braun Warns Of Soviet Threat

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Missile expert Werner von Braun says we may "soon be surrounded by several planes flying the hammer and sickle flag" unless America matches the Soviet Union's space program.

The United States cannot claim parity—no less superiority—in the space race, the director of Army missile development said today in a speech prepared for the General Contractors Assn. convention.

Von Braun said although America has not matched the Communists in development of missiles and space rockets, the United States is moving toward that goal.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Law Enforcement Officers Deserve Support Of All

To The Editor:

Now that at least two of the hoodlums have been captured, I am sure that our citizens can rest a little more at ease. Although the capture of these hoodlums was made possible through the efforts of the policemen in our neighboring city, this to me, does not discredit our local law enforcing bodies. I, for one, would like to take this opportunity to commend the district attorney and his staff, the sheriff's department and the police department here in our city.

I know personally that they have put in many long hours and have done their job well. I know most of these men personally and have had an opportunity to see them work and I think that they are a real credit to our community.

It irks me to hear so much criticism of our law enforcing agencies on the streets especially when we should be condemning ourselves as citizens for the conditions that exist in our fair city.

I hope that the incidents that have happened the past two weeks in Big Spring will cause all of us to wake up and start performing our duties as citizens. Most of us are guilty of the conditions that now exist because we have not performed our duty when we are called upon to serve on the grand jury and the petit jury as we should. There have been so many instances when crimes were committed against certain races in our community that we all take the attitude that as long as they were killing each other let them go, but when the crime wave shifts over on the other side of the track then we get excited and want to do something about it.

The large majority of our citizens on the north side of the track, which includes mostly Latin-Americans and colored people, are good citizens and are certainly entitled to our respect and help. I mean by helping them see that justice is carried out on their side of the track as well as on ours.

Let us not go back to sleep and wait for another tragedy to happen. Let us all make a resolution to do a better job in 1959 and to assist and respect our law enforcing agencies.

Dawson Gins 144,000 Bales

LAMESA — In the final report of the season, the local office of the Texas Employment Commission office announced Saturday that a total of 144,612 bales of cotton have been ginned in Dawson County.

This is the second best year ever recorded for county cotton crops. The peak year was in 1949 when 193,000 bales were harvested from some 318,000 acres, a non-allotment year. The current year's total crop surpasses the second-highest mark set in 1957 when 121,450 bales were ginned.

The 140,000 bale estimate made by the Plains Cotton Growers at the start of the '58 harvest season proved a good prediction; the total count could possibly be 145,000 bales, although there appears to be very little cotton left to be harvested.

Livestock Barn Nears Completion In North Dawson

O'DONNELL — The new $10,000 O'Donnell Livestock Assn. Barn in north Dawson County is scheduled for completion within the next two weeks, according to Harold Hohn, chairman of the project.

Steel for the new structure arrived Thursday, and rapid completion is anticipated barring inclement weather. When complete it will contain 80 pens for livestock and 10 calf stalls.

The barn will be used for the first time when the 12th annual O'Donnell Livestock Show is held on Feb. 21, and a fair will be staged there in the fall. Tentative dedication ceremonies are planned, but no date is set.

The fund drive for the barn has netted $9,500; the $10,000 cost includes only the barn and limited furnishings. Hohn said.
