Printing machines at the Rock Hill Printing and Finishing Co., Rock Hill, S.C., have begun rolling out the first of 250,000 new American flags. The firm was one of the first to get the new flag design to the presses.

Alaska Legislature In First Meeting

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—An Eskimo carpenter and a lawyer were dominant figures as the new state of Alaska's first Legislature convened today. But an ex-FBI agent, who didn't seek the job, will have to guide the lawmakers.

The former FBI agent, who came to the northland 26 years ago, faced the arduous task of outlining the administrative program of the 49th state's new government.

In messages to the Legislature, Wade will attempt to pad the skeleton of Alaska's streamlined constitution.

Behind Wade will be two other Democrats—Eskimo William E. Beltz, 46, and Warren A. Taylor, who came to the nation's largest state 50 years ago and first served in the old territorial legislature in 1933.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Mrs. J. P. Riddle, 1002 W. 4th, was hurt in a two-car collision here Sunday and is being treated at Medical Arts Hospital for a shoulder injury.

Mrs. Riddle was riding in a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. Latha Hill, 406 Dallas. They were in an accident at 15th and Donley with Billy Phillips, 305 Eleventh, the driver of the other vehicle involved.

Mrs. Riddle was taken to Medical Arts Hospital after the accident and treated for the shoulder injury and fractured ribs.

Also Sunday, a 1953 Mercury owned by Benito Porras, 508 N. Johnson, was involved in an accident at Speck's Drive-In, 701 Lamesa, with a car driven by Leon Williams of Brady. Porras was not driving his car, however; it had been stolen. The thief fled before the police arrived.

Juquin Valdez, 630 NW 3rd, and Arthur Jackson of Stanton were in collision at NW 6th and Aylford.

This morning, Sylvia Reno, 2104 Nolan, and James Adams of Atharillo were in an accident at 4th and Benton.

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Seven men were injured in the crash of a fire truck and an armored car today.

Achtung AWOL, Maybe Looking For Munich Bus

For the second time in his long and distinguished career, Achtung is AWOL.

In his younger days, Capt. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Simpson might not have worried about the little dog's ability to get back home. But now Achtung is 19 years old and his eyesight is dimming and his steps are less sprightly.

Saturday evening the gate to the fenced-in yard of the Simpsons was inadvertently left open, and Achtung wandered off.

The Simpsons have had him since 1945 when Achtung capitulated and adopted them. Capt. Simpson first came in contact with the dog when he retrieved him from a downtown Munich, Germany, street to keep him from being run over. It didn't stop with that, for Achtung began to follow his rescuer and attached himself to the young officer.

This launched him on an eventful military career. Soon Achtung had his own nameplate on an office door with grade of flight officer. Overnight, he was promoted to field marshal and he became the friend of the high brass as well as airmen basic. Once he posed with the late Mayor La Guardia of New York, and general officers came to be sort of run of the mill for Achtung. His field marshal status gave him ready access to the C.O.'s office.

Almost daily he flew with the weather plane at the air base, and Achtung had his own flight log. Once he mistakenly got on another plane and wound up in Frankfurt, but crews from his base noticed him and hustled him back home.

Duty was an everyday affair with him, for in the mornings he would paddle off to the bus stop and wait for the base bus (disdaining the downtown Munich bus). At the proper stop he always got off and entered the base to get in his daily flying time. At the end of the day he marched back to catch his bus and return home. Only once did he get on the downtown bus, and in the couple of hours he had rectified the mistake and was back at the base.

The only other time he went AWOL was in Los Angeles, Calif., and stories in the Times and Express resulted in his restoration to the Simpsons. They also stirred up memories of others who had known of him in the Air Force.

Despite his Prussian background, Achtung has shown a democratic attitude in his ancestry. He is probably more terrier than anything, but he definitely has some of the attributes of a beagle. He has a black back, brown ears and legs, white face and feet—and in all aspects is graying a bit. He is about a foot in height and weighs about 15 pounds. Achtung had a red collar with a Sacramento, Calif., tag when last seen.

He could be looking for the Munich bus, but the Simpsons will appreciate anyone who might see him to tell him it doesn't run here—or better still, let them know so they can break the news to Achtung.

Legislature Votes Expense Measure Of $2.3 Million

'WE NEED THEM'

Interior Secretary Leads Off Hawaii Statehood Airing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton told Congress today "we need Hawaii as an equal partner as much as Hawaii needs statehood."

Seaton was the first witness as the House Insular Affairs Committee opened hearings in a new congressional drive to make Hawaii the 50th state.

He said the Eisenhower administration favors immediate passage of statehood legislation but recognizes that Congress must set its own schedule.

"The grant of statehood to Hawaii will prove to the world—and particularly to Asia—that we practice what we preach," Seaton said in prepared testimony.

"I say we need the participation of Hawaiians in our councils, and their advice and experience in dealing with the peoples of the Orient."

He pointed out that Hawaii is the only incorporated territory now, and its 59-year apprenticeship in territorial status is longer than was required of any of the present states.

"Long before annexation in 1898, he said, Hawaiians were thoroughly imbued with American ideals and American culture and the Americanization has continued at a rapid pace since incorporation. He rejected arguments that Hawaii is susceptible to control by Communists.

"The fact is that the people of Hawaii, time after time, have utterly rejected the Communist philosophy and every attempt of Communists to influence their government," Seaton said.

"The people of Hawaii constitute in their proposed statehood a far-reaching prohibition against any Communist holding public office or public employment of any kind."

He also recounted that the Hawaii Legislature in 1949, during a prolonged dock strike, passed laws giving the territorial government comprehensive power to seize the docks in event of a strike. Those laws have been an issue in four subsequent general elections but are still on the books today.

And, Seaton continued, there were warnings communism would control the 1950 constitutional convention but instead the convention adopted "the strongest kind of anti-Communist protective language."

Seaton said Hawaii is economically and politically qualified for statehood and has a population of about 635,000, larger than that of six of the present states.

To the argument that Hawaii is not contiguous to the rest of the United States, Seaton said: "The admission of Alaska provides an excellent rebuttal. Contiguity is not, in this day of jet transportation, essential to preserve our union."

Seaton rapped the nation's schools of education and teachers' colleges for what he said was living in isolation from the sources of intellectual ferment in the great universities.

"There has been too much emphasis on how to teach a child, rather than what to teach him," he said. "The emphasis must be restored to teaching teachers the social content of history, science, English, etc., instead of the technical 'how to' thing."

He said, "Personally, I doubt if we ever again have enough teachers, let alone enough good ones. We will have to have more recourse to the new techniques of teaching by film and television. Happily the American teacher, no longer dependent on the printed page, can now draw from a vast library of remarkable educational films to open the doors of a child's mind."

The spurt that Sputnik gave education is dying down, Stevenson said.

Floods Receding In Most Sections

By The Associated Press
Floods still menaced some areas in five eastern and central states today but waters from swollen rivers and streams were receding in most sections.

The chief problem for the thousands hit by last week's devastating floods in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia and Indiana was the huge cleanup job.

The Red Cross estimated more than 22,000 families were affected by the floods.

Cold air, with snow or rain, spread from the Central Plains across the northern half of the country, adding to the inconvenience of flood victims.

In Ohio, one of the states hardest hit, the Ohio River was the last of the state's waterways threatening further flooding. At Cincinnati the big river edged up to 55 feet, 3 feet above flood stage.

The Weather Bureau predicted an expected 57-foot crest will be reached near midnight tonight.

The Ohio floods caused an estimated damage of 100 million dollars in 76 of the state's 88 counties.

In western Pennsylvania, many roads were re-opened and public transportation was returning slowly to normal.

At Meadville, Pa., the ice-choked French Creek returned slowly to its banks and some of the 2,000 persons evacuated moved back into their homes. Demolition experts blasted at two huge ice jams which kept about 10 per cent of the city of 25,000 under water for five days.

At Pittston, Pa., rescue workers finally halted the flow of water from the Susquehanna River into a mine shaft where 12 men were trapped since Thursday. Few believe the 12 men would be found alive. The big job of pumping out the tons of water which poured into the mine was expected to continue for two days. Thirty-three other miners escaped the flooded mine last Thursday.

The cold air covered a vast area from the Central Plains eastward through the upper and middle Mississippi Valley to the Ohio Valley, the lower Great Lakes region and parts of New England.

Snow spread along with the cold air from Kansas eastward into the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes.

Coldest weather—below zero—was confined mainly to the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

It was a little warmer in the Gulf states with temperatures 8 to 12 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier.

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—An ex-state judge who doggedly withheld voter records from the U.S. Civil Rights Commission must answer today for his defiance of federal court.

Former Circuit Judge George Wallace could get anything from a reprimand to a jail term and fine as he appears to show why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

The fate of Wallace, a private citizen now practicing law in his home town of Clayton, Ala., rests in the hands of a former law school classmate, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Johnson Jr.

Wallace, 39, must explain his conduct in giving the voter records of Barbour and Bullock counties to hurriedly called grand juries in his court.

He was under orders to make the records available to civil rights investigators, who were looking into complaints Negroes in those and other counties had been denied voting privileges.

Agents eventually gained access to the files through the grand juries, but Johnson still cited Wallace for contempt. He said Wallace failed to comply with his order, and used devious methods to make the voter records accessible.

Adlai Charges Public With Education Ills

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson charged today that the American people themselves must shoulder the blame for the ills of public education in this country.

"If the community wants driver education or bachelor cooking instead of Latin and mathematics, it will get it," he told the annual convention of the National School Boards Assn. in a prepared address.

"And if the colleges give scholarships to boys with coordinated bodies rather than with coordinated minds, with a student value?"

The titular head of the Democratic party reminded the school board members from across the nation that "students and their families are reluctant to borrow for education. They will buy TVs, autos, washing machines, even travel, on time and credit, but not education for their children. Is it less necessary?"

He said "improvement is imperative" despite the anti-intellectualism of so many communities, the inertia of so many pupils, and the poverty of so many school districts.

Stevenson rapped the nation's schools of education and teachers' colleges for what he said was living in isolation from the sources of intellectual ferment in the great universities.

"There has been too much emphasis on how to teach a child, rather than what to teach him," he said. "The emphasis must be restored to teaching teachers the social content of history, science, English, etc., instead of the technical 'how to' thing."

Interest Centers On State Deficit

AUSTIN (AP)—The House and Senate agreed today to a $2,300,000 bill to pay all expenses of the 56th Legislature.

The Senate amended House Bill 1, which originally called for $1,750,000, to provide for the additional money. There was no Senate opposition.

Minutes later, the House agreed 131-13 after brief discussion to the Senate's amendments. The bill now goes to Gov. Price Daniel.

The measure would take $1,500,000 from the cigarette tax fund before the money reached the general revenue fund. Another $800,000 would be taken from the operator's and chauffeur's license fund, which the Department of Public Safety says is not needed at this time.

The Senate stripped the House provision which would have taken $950,000 from the insurance building fund.

The $2,300,000 will go to pay the legislators' $25 a day pay, plus travel and office expenses. It also will take care of wages for employees, who missed a payday last Friday, and for expenses of the Legislature between sessions.

The Senate adjourned until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, while the House recessed until later this afternoon for routine business.

Jury Panel Reports, Has Nothing To Do

A civil jury panel which reported to Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court at 10 a.m. today found itself with no work to do.

Judge Sullivan informed the jurors that all of the cases which had been docketed for trial have either been passed by agreement or settled. Hence, he informed the jurors, there were no trials ready.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey then laid out his committees. He reappointed Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria as chairman of the Finance Committee and Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo as chairman of the key State Affairs Committee. Sen. R. A. Weimer will head the Water Committee, Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center the Jurisprudence Committee and Sen. Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford, the Insurance Committee.

The House argued over rights of the press in reporting the Legislature but delayed a vote on a "reminder" that reporters should not double as lobbyists. The measure was sent to committee for further study.

The bill to transfer money from special funds was the top item facing legislators on their return from a long weekend.

Not much else can be done until House Speaker Waggoner Carr and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey name their committees for this session. When the committees are named, hearings can begin on bills and proposed changes in the constitution.

Interest continued to center on the various proposals to get the state out of a mounting deficit and put it in the black for at least the next two fiscal years.

A number of bills to do this were filed while the members took a four-day holiday over the weekend. Key items included a corporate income tax, Gov. Daniel's proposed hikes in liquor, new automobile and tobacco levies, a gross receipts tax for manufacturers, and a bill to increase the tax paid by the state's 17 largest oil companies.

Pope Calls Assembly To Seek Unification Of Christian World

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII will convene a great assembly — the 21st Ecumenical Council in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church — to seek unity of the Christian forces of the world.

Return to the fold of the Eastern Orthodox Church's 129 million members was seen as a prime objective of the convocation. But there are great obstacles to any formal re-unification, particularly the Roman Catholic dogma that the Pope is supreme and infallible in matters of faith and morals.

Reaffirmation of the church's stand against communism may be another major subject of the Ecumenical Council, the first since 1870. Pope John already has expressed grave concern with the plight of Catholics in Communist lands and particularly in Communist China, where the Red regime has been trying to foster a national Catholic Church that denies allegiance to Rome.

The council will bring together Roman Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops from all over the world in what may well be the most immense gathering in Christian history. More than 2,500 are eligible to attend.

Representatives of other Christian communities, in addition to Roman Catholics, are likely to be invited to attend.

The 77-year-old pontiff announced his intention to convene the council Sunday after a mass in honor of the conversion of St. Paul, the Roman Jew and persecutor of Christians who was struck to the ground on his way to Damascus.

The Pope did not announce a date for the council. Because of the gathering's great size and possibly long duration, the preparation may take many months. Ecumenical means worldwide, representing the whole church. The 20 previous Ecumenical Councils were called to deal with major problems facing the church, such as heresy and schism, to resolve questions of faith or to establish dogma.

The Vatican announcement said: Regarding the celebration of the Ecumenical Council, this, in the thought of the Holy Father looks not only to the edification of the Christian peoples, but is intended as an invitation to the separate (Christian) communities to seek unity which so many desire in all parts of the world."

This was seen as an invitation for a return to the fold of the churches which have broken away from Rome, primarily the Eastern Orthodox.

Unlike the Protestants, the Eastern church parted from Rome 900 years ago in a dispute over matters of discipline. The Vatican con-

Body Of Missing Child Discovered

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — The body of Willard Eugene Jones Jr., 9, was found 2 1/2 miles from his home Sunday, eight days after he wandered off in freezing weather.

Coroner Stanley Palmer Jr. said Willard died of exposure, probably 24 hours after leaving home.

siders the Eastern Orthodox schismatic but still Catholics, retaining the apostolic tradition and the regular administration of the Sacraments.

The majority of the Eastern Orthodox practitioners live in Communist-controlled countries of East Europe. There are about 2 1/2 million in the United States.

It also was thought that Protestant churches would be invited to send representatives, at least as observers. But it was considered certain that the Roman church, in any consideration of union with the Protestants, would insist on supremacy of the papacy. This has always been one of the great obstacles to Christian reunification.

This was underlined by one of the Eastern Orthodox prelates — Metropolitan Anthony Bashir, archbishop of the Syrian Antiochian archdiocese in New York. He objected particularly to the dogma of papal infallibility proclaimed at the last Ecumenical Council.

"When one side wants to rule the other side, then I am sure the Eastern churches will never take it," he said.

The first Protestant leaders queried expressed cautious interest. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the U.S. National Council of Churches, said any step toward unity of churches will be welcome but "it would have to be . . . a mutual coming together, not under conditions laid down by one church for all the others."

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the archbishop of Canterbury who heads the Church of England, declined to comment until he had read the full text of the Vatican announce-

Jury Selection To Begin For Turncoat Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Powell sedition trial, only court case of its kind to come out of the Korean War which Congress never declared, begins today with selection of a federal court jury.

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge Louis E. Goodman is presiding. The case has taken almost three years to reach trial stage. John W. Powell, 39, his wife Sylvia, 39, both of San Francisco, and Julian Schuman of New York were indicted April 25, 1956.

Powell published a magazine in postwar Shanghai. The China Monthly Review. He kept it going after the Chinese Communists came to power, with his wife and Schuman as associate editors. All three returned to the United States in 1955.

They are charged under the Sedition Act of 1917 with conspiring to obstruct the war effort and incite mutiny among U.S. forces by circulating copies of the magazine in the United States. The government says the conspiracy consisted of publishing charges that the United States waged germ warfare and obstructed truce negotiations. This was conspiracy, says the government, because the defendants knew the reports to be false.

BORN IN ASIA

Powell was born in Shanghai but educated in the United States at the University of Missouri. During World War II he worked for the office of War Information in Washington and in China. His wife, the former Sylvia Campbell of Pendleton, Ore., was a post-war UNRRA worker in Shanghai.

Schuman, Boston-born, was a radio correspondent in Shanghai before he joined the Review's staff.

Defense efforts to obtain evidence and other maneuvers have delayed the trial. First the defense, led by Los Angeles attorney A. L. Wirin, sought to bring Chinese witnesses to the United States. The Red government refused to allow this unless the United States would sign a mutual legal assistance agreement.

Then the defense got the government to send Wirin to China to interview witnesses. He returned saying he could produce a thousand witnesses, including scientists.

Latest legal snarl has been the defense attempt to subpoena certain American documents connected with the Korean War which it said would bolster the defense case.

U.S. Atty. Robert H. Schnacke said, meanwhile, that while the United States was capable of waging germ warfare during the Korean War no materials or weapons left the country.

Soviet Congress To Be Prime Example Of False Democracy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Communist party's 21st Congress opens in Moscow Tuesday, with Nikita S. Khrushchev as the unchallenged stage manager. Before it closes, about two weeks hence, the world may witness the spectacle of a dictator desperately trying to look democratic.

What is emerging is a grotesque caricature of democracy, probably born of an anxiety to appease the population's eagerness for a form of government which would look respectable to the outside world.

But this congress will actually see all Khrushchev's opposition, including the so-called antiparty group, denounced and probably read out of the party on a set of charges which will be swallowed calmly by all present.

During his tour of the United States, Anastas I. Mikoyan told Americans that the Soviet form of government is being democratized. Khrushchev himself has been exhibiting a passion for party participation but he is trying to do. But at the same time, Khrushchev is directing everything, and likely will continue to do so.

The premier and party boss is no Stalin. There is still no real Khrushchev cult. At Khrushchev's direction, the party still will be hailed as the real ruler of the nation.

But Khrushchev is dictating every step of the way. There is little doubt he will clear the party of the last whisper of opposition to his internal or external policies.

Only two years ago the 20th party congress sought to convince Soviet citizens and the world that the U.S.S.R. was run by collective leadership. The climactic development was Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin's rule. This time Khrushchev himself is the ruler.

Theoretically, congresses are summoned at regular intervals to approve or change policies or leadership. In practice, they are just a show. Decisions are made on high, in advance.

Khrushchev will dominate the congress. His program for seven-year economic development has been discussed in mass meetings all over the country and will be unanimously endorsed. So will his programs for agricultural and educational changes, and his foreign policies.

An extraordinary series of full Central Committee meetings indicated opposition to Khrushchev's policies was fading rapidly. What remains of it probably will get steamroller treatment. The party has been issuing grim warnings to any potential opposition. A house-cleaning is in prospect, perhaps in the form of appointment of a new Central Committee.

There has been a sudden upsurge in violent criticism of the antiparty group nudged from the leadership since 1957 by Khrushchev's maneuvers. Under severe attack are former Premiers Georgi Malenkov, Nikolai Bulganin and V. M. Molotov, former Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich, former Foreign Minister Dimitri Shep-lov and the war hero, Georgi Zhukov. Nobody identified with the group is likely to be on the next Central Committee or its ruling Presidium. Khrushchev still will lack Stalin's power—a mighty police force to supplement control of party and government. He may try to picture this as political progress, but he can hardly make it look like democracy.

Virginia To Seek Racial Defenses

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's Legislature will meet in extraordinary session Wednesday to seek new defenses for the state in its battle against integration in the public schools.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., called the special session Sunday night—six days after the courts had dealt a knockout blow to "massive resistance" laws enacted in 1956.

Without these laws, under which nine schools have been closed, the state is powerless to prevent or delay integration where it is ordered by federal judges. In one school in Arlington, it has been ordered for no later than Feb. 2. Almond indicated he will offer the Assembly only a stopgap program designed to meet the most immediate problems—when he addresses the State Senate and House of Delegates in joint session Wednesday noon.

The governor said he still plans to appoint a committee of legislators to formulate a long-range anti-integration program.

Almond declined any hint of specific measures he would recommend. He said "it would serve no useful purpose" to disclose whether he will offer a plan aimed at staving off integration in Arlington and in the localities where closed schools may have to be reopened on a racially mixed basis — Norfolk, Charlottesville and Front Royal.

In Arlington, plans have been laid to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the order of U.S. Dist. Judge Albert V. Bryan that four Negroes be enrolled at Stratford Junior High School for the semester starting Feb. 2. School board attorney J. H. Simmonds said Sunday he will confer with a representative of State Atty. Gen. A. S. Harrison today or Tuesday.

Norfolk where 10,000 pupils were affected when six schools were shut down last fall, may find out today whether the schools must be reopened. The City Council has voted to deny operating funds to all grades above the sixth effective early next month. This move, which would close white as well as Negro schools, was to be challenged today before U.S. Judge Walter Hoffman.

Violent Death Takes 20 In Texas

By The Associated Press Violent deaths claimed at least 19 lives in Texas over the weekend with traffic fatalities accounting for 9 of the fatalities.

The death count by The Associated Press covered the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Jack Clay Sparks, 19, student at Sul Ross State College at Alpine, was killed when his car struck a culvert north of Rotan early Sunday.

A car-truck collision south of Sterling City killed Charles H. Luckert Jr., 40, of Midland Saturday night.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours! New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene.

Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves taut nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections. The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose. So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms . . . get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 96¢—money-back-guarantee. © 1958, Winthrop Pharmaceutical Company

Social Security Takes Credit For Relieving Welfare Lists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security insurance is getting the major credit for taking more and more needy old folks off federal-state welfare rolls.

However, both programs are costing more.

Expenditures for the old-age assistance program are going up because the monthly payments are increasing. The insurance program is more costly because benefits have been increased and the number of beneficiaries is rising rapidly.

The old-age assistance program is financed from general tax revenues, with the federal, state and local governments all putting up a share. But increases in the federal share in recent years have provided the larger portion of the higher benefits. The Eisenhower administration now wants the state and local governments to put up more money.

The insurance program is financed from special social security taxes on employers, employees and self-employed, and is purely a federal program. It is designed to pay its own way, and its financial operations are not included in the government's annual appropriations budget though they soon will run in the vicinity of 10 billion dollars annually.

The aid for the needy aged is the most costly of four federal-state public assistance programs under the Social Security Administration. The other three aid needy who are blind, or totally and permanently disabled, or dependent children.

In all, it is estimated the total cost of the four assistance programs in the year beginning July 1 will be $3,523,000,000, with the federal share being $2,051,000,000. States also have general assistance, or relief programs in which the federal government does not participate.

ed $64.25 this fiscal year and $60.38 actually paid in 1957-58. The number of recipients is estimated to average 2,390,000 monthly in 1959-60, compared with 2,421,100 for this year and an actual average of 2,481,954 for 1957-58. The recipients now average 75 years of age, which means that the lengthening life span is having an effect.

The total expenditures for the needy aged in 1959-60 from federal, state and local funds are put at $1,888,600,000, compared with an estimated $1,882,900,000 this fiscal year and 1957-58 actual costs of $1,798,374,143.

Of the total, the federal share is figured at $1,108,500,000 for 1959-60, $1,094,600,000 this year and an actual $1,102,76,981 last fiscal year.

Social security officials said today a further decline in needy aged beneficiaries is expected despite an increase in the number of old people in the population because the insurance system now covers about 9 out of every 10 persons who work for pay.

Benefit payments are expected to total $10,025,000,000 in 1959-60, compared with about $9,060,000,000 this fiscal year and $7,874,932,414 actually paid in 1957-58.

The social security taxes are designed to meet current costs and create trust funds in the immediate years ahead, with income and outgo eventually to just about balance.

Currently employers and employees each pay 2 1/2 per cent in social security taxes on the first $4,800 of annual earnings, which makes a payroll tax of 5 per cent.

The tax rate went up Jan. 1 by one-quarter of one per cent on each and the wage base was broadened from $4,200 to $4,800. Another rate increase of one-half per cent on each, with the wage base remaining at $4,800, is scheduled next Jan. 1. That will make the total payroll tax 6 per cent.

It is estimated that some 75 million Americans now earn social security credits toward future insurance benefits in the course of a year.

The social security taxes are expected to yield $9,936,000,000 in 1959-60, compared with $7,884,000,000 this fiscal year. Both totals are less than the estimated expenditures, but income is expected to again exceed outgo after the tax increases next Jan. 1.

'Commandments' For Communists

BUDAPEST (AP)—How to acquire virtue in a Communist society is explained by a cartoon in the party daily Nepszabadsag ('The People's Freedom'). It shows Moses bringing in a new version of the Ten Commandments:

1. Thou shalt not be an absentee.
2. Thou shalt not use state owned machinery to do private work.
3. Thou shalt not intrigue.
4. Thou shalt not work to get thy colleagues fired.
5. Thou shalt accept criticism with sincere pleasure.
6. Thou shalt not conceal bonuses from thy wife.
7. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's job.
8. Thou shalt not envy those sent on missions to foreign countries.
9. Thou shalt love thy subordinates as thyself.
10. Thou shalt respect thy boss, that thou mayest remain long in his office.

Youth Survives 115,000 Volts

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — A model airplane enthusiast survived a 115,000-volt electric charge Sunday.

The clothes were burned off Peter Warren 19, who suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body. He was hospitalized in critical condition.

Warren was flying a plastic model airplane controlled by copper wires. The plane struck the power line and the charge coursed down the wires to Warren, standing on moist ground.

His wife, Janis, and their 4-month-old daughter were in a car 100 feet away.

Secretary To Singer

After years as a secretary, Ruth Olay has become one of our popular recording artists. She stresses the importance of making your own decisions and developing individuality.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Natural Dieting Is Better Than Pills

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—One of the newest personalities to brighten the recording field is the exciting Ruth Olay. When she faces a TV camera or a night club group there is something electric about her delivery.
Dressed simply in black, with her hair drawn back from her face, Ruth wears no accessories which will detract.
"I think it's very important to recognize your limitations," Miss Olay told me. "I'm not glamorous and I don't try to be, but I try to make as much of my individuality as I can."
"I am of Slavic heritage, and I play up the slant of my eyes. I have had good advice and help from many people, but I have made my own make-up and fashion decisions."
Ruth worked in Hollywood as a secretary for many years before she got her break in show business.
"I was singing at jam sessions on week ends," she confessed, "and I never gave up the dream that I would some day leave my typewriter for a microphone."

After seeing herself on TV, Ruth decided she must slim down.
"I still want to lose about 10 pounds, but I want to do it gradually and not undermine my health."
"I don't believe in taking reducing pills. I think it's healthier to diet naturally. One must be realistic about overweight. It only comes from one thing—eating more than you need. I can satisfy my appetite very nicely and still lose if I avoid sweets and starches."
"But this is not easy for me," Ruth moaned, "because the things that appeal to me are the most fattening—sweet rolls, pies, spaghetti."
"A philosophical attitude has helped me. It is a question of values. Which means most—enjoyment of a meal or having a good figure? My next step will be to try to take pleasure in eating the things that are good for me."

Waistlines, Lower Hems Promised By Paris Show

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—New styles that will please the men as well as the women were promised by a Paris designer as this fashion capital readied itself for the opening of 1959 spring and summer shows this week.
While it is expected that the general trend will be back to normal waistlines and longer skirts, after the extremes of last season, don't rule out surprises.

"The big change will be in volume and balance of the silhouette," said Pierre Cardin, one of the most original and creative designers. However, he added reassuringly, the ladies will like it—and even the men.
"I attach no importance to the waistline or the length. I do not feel for dark colors, and my collection will be very bright," Cardin said.
The big season gets under way today with the Jacques Heim show. The privilege of lifting the curtain on collections traditionally goes to the president of the high fashion syndicate, the post where M. Heim succeeds Raymond Barbas of Jean Patou.
Jean Patou and Cardin followed this afternoon, Pierre Balmain Tuesday morning and Michael Goma in the afternoon.
Wednesday's fashion calendar includes Guy Laroche in the morning, and afternoon openings by Jacques Griffe and Serge Matia, another fall newcomer.
Climax of the collections is still reserved to the house of Christian Dior, which will show Thursday morning, with Lanvin Castillo following in the afternoon. Winding up the major houses, Jean Dessès will open on Saturday morning.
A spokesman for Lanvin Castillo said that designer Castillo feels, "we have arrived at the extremes of fashion, and with the logical continuation of the cycle we must get back to normalcy." In other words, waistlines at the waist and longer skirts. The same spokesman predicted "busts to the fore, and plenty of black and white in the color scene."

ESA Will Host Meet Of District

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority will be the hostess group for the April meeting of District Eight chapters of the organization. This was the announcement made at the district meet held Sunday afternoon in Andrews.
Attending the gathering, held in the Devonian Elementary School at Andrews, were Mrs. Fred Stitzel, Mrs. Earl Loehringer and Barbara Ann Eye.
Selected as the project for the year was assistance to the boys ranch at Odessa.
An Odessa girl, Wilma Barron, was named District Beauty and will represent District Eight at the state convention to be held in San Antonio, May 15-16. The meeting will mark the 10th anniversary of the sorority in Texas.
A tea followed the business session, which was attended by groups from Odessa, Midland, Kermit, Andrews and Snyder in addition to the local delegation.
The tea table was centered with an arrangement of dried materials, gilded, and an additional table held a gilded horn of plenty spilling colorful fruits.

Spring Hats Show Great Variety In Shape, Size, Trim

Women can shoot the works on hats this spring.
The new spring hats shown by New York's leading milliners are often startling, sometimes nostalgic and usually flattering.
There are sailors and bowlers galore, plenty of flower-trimmed picture hats, some jet-age abstractions and lots of pretty little suit hats that hug the head, frame the face and generally make a woman look better than she does without a hat.
"Milliners have decided, it seems, that women are ready for hats that are really hats once more—not wigs or scraps of veil or beanie."
"You'll be seeing practically every known version of the sailor hat in the Easter parade—trim little tailored versions, big Merry Widow cartwheels, flower-trimmed pancakes and high-crowned designs that have a prim 1910 look."
There is generally more height as well as more width of brim in the spring hat lineup. And one thing is certain—every woman will want a new hat this spring. The no-hat look is strictly old-hat in 1959.

Time Saver
When gathering your clothes from the line, use two baskets, putting the starched articles in one and the unstarched ones in the other. This saves sorting the clothes after you get them inside.

Westbrook School Tells Menu Plans

Edwards Home Opened For MOD Tea Sunday

About 300 called at the open house Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Marion Edwards opened their ranch home for a March of Dimes benefit.
Hostess groups were the 1941 Study Club and the Mary Jane Study Club, both of Coahoma.
Refreshments were served in the dining room and on the sun porch, both festive with floral arrangements of coral and yellow.
On the tea table in the dining room, a bouquet of clivia lilies and yellow snapdragons followed the color scheme, while fruit in copper was used on the table placed on the sun porch.
Members of the two clubs alternated at the tables, in greeting guests and in other hostess duties. Other parties to follow include a social at the home of Mrs. E. B.

Pierson, 107 West 10th, when members of the Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi gather at 7:30 this evening for a regular meeting and a MOD benefit.

Las Artistas

Dr. Norman Furlong will be the speaker for the meeting of Las Artistas at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the educational room of the Police Building. Dr. Furlong will show slides of the various art museums which he visited on a recent trip to the eastern states. Committees are to be appointed for the art show planned by the group.

the general public from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. All members of the club, men and women, are urged to attend.

Friday morning will see members of the Junior Woman's Forum at a coffee, hosted by Mrs. E. C. Smith at her home, 1701 Yale, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
Police Sgt. and Mrs. L. D. Coppedge, 1906 Morrison, will entertain law enforcement officers in their home at an invitational affair from 7 to 9 Saturday evening.

Be Prepared
Place a pair of sheets, pillowcases and wash cloths in a drawer in your guest room. They'll be easily available when you have company.

Improve Posture As You Clean House, Says Mrs. Mabe

Exercises to improve posture were demonstrated to City HD Club members Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. L. Dannheiser.
The demonstrator was Mrs. B. F. Mabe, who showed how to combine everyday household tasks with constructive exercises.
The 15 answered the fore, and citing a sewing problem.
The hostess brought the devotion from Prov. 16:18-19, and the group heard the council report from their delegate, Mrs. Johnnie Green.
Feb. 13 is the next meeting day, with the hostess to be announced.

A Devotional For Today

Let your light shine before men: that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16. ASV)

PRAYER: O God, give us Thy divine light so that we may so shine before men that they may see our good works and glorify Thy name. We pray in the blessed name of Christ, Thy Son and our Redeemer. Amen.

Protecting A Precious Product

Increases in water use which seem to defy the laws of mathematics have increased pressure for stepping up research for a cheap method to desalt water.

Such is the opinion of many experts who have noted that fresh water supplies are running out. Secretary of Interior Seanon had this report from a survey team which reviewed the government's six-year saline water program. The team found that while some progress had been made to desalt water at low cost, no real breakthrough has been made. Yet, the sharply increased and insatiable demand for water by expanding industry and population underlines the urgency for low-cost methods of converting salt water into fresh. It has been aptly pointed out that this needs to be accomplished before the situation reaches that of an emergency or a crisis.

Our own area has considerable volumes of brackish water which would lend themselves to use if a feasible, economical means can be found to sweeten the waters of Marrah.

Meanwhile, we should not forget for a moment the urgency of securing the last substantial bit of potable fresh water for our area. By mid-summer an application for a water permit for another big lake will have to be filed, and it should have the unqualified backing of this area. If water is precious enough to justify studies for desalting, it will be tragic if we do not move to insure ourselves of the last remaining fresh water potentials.

The Successful Ingredient

One of our readers who prefers, in the interest of good relations with her neighbors, that her name not be used has this to say:

"I am a resident of the Monticello Addition, and although I am not quite a permanent resident I still like to do my part in making the city beautiful. Some of us work quite hard to keep our yards clean; my neighbors are real good about working on theirs, but for the most part very few do anything at all to keep theirs cleared. It makes it twice as hard for the rest of us, and we deserve the reputation as an eye-sore. Actually the housing here is quite nice, and I can't believe that the inside of any house here could look nearly so bad as the outside.

"So I for one would like to challenge each family to start a clean-up-your-yard campaign so that I can be proud to say that we live in a nice and clean neighborhood."

This good lady has a real problem, but thank goodness she has the ingredient for attacking it successfully — the virtue of pride.

There is no reason for utter inertia toward basic neatness around a house and yard even though the property is rented. Perhaps some do not want to invest even a little in the water necessary for growing a little grass and a few shrubs, but even they should have the grace to be as tidy as their neighbors.

This situation is not restricted to the area mentioned by our writer; unfortunately you see examples here and there all over town. Oh what would we give for a thousand ladies with as much civic pride as our writer?

We've Got To 'Dream Up' A New Boom

PHILADELPHIA—Don't count the golden 'sixties until some inventors, discoverers, and business men lay some golden eggs.

That's the solemn, sensible, and final admonition of Stahrl Edmunds, as a staff economist at the Ford Motor Co., who spoke at the annual business forecasting conference of the Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank at the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford here.

Edmunds observes that the postwar boom—1945 through 1958—was a product of the known, in all-time-high volume, people bought what they'd become accustomed to—automobiles, washing machines, TV-sets, refrigerators, household furnishings, etc., etc. But what now—if their appetites for the same old things are jaded?

Indeed, the recent spending on swimming pools, stereophonic record players, motor boats, lawn mowers, and hula hoops and the reluctance to buy long, squat, chromy autos suggests that the old boom is tired. The country needs "a series of technological explosions" to part consumers from their dollars and lift demand and production to the promised gross national product of a half trillion dollars.

Maybe someone will invent an automatic orange juicer, which removes the pits and cleans itself, to free us from that frozen stuff; or a vacuum cleaner with an electric eye that directs the nozzle to all dust, leaves a room spic and span and shuts itself off while the lady of the house takes in a matinee or a bridge party; or a remote-control lawn mower operated by a button at the cocktail bar near the picture window.

For Stahrl Edmunds, the future will be starchy only if we're starchy-eyed enough to make it so. Prosperity has to be created by anguish at the dreaming board.

Edmunds discards the seductive sedation that as income goes, so goes the gross national product. If business men don't revivify sated appetites of customers, we'll have unemployment, recession, even possibly a depression.

Today, says Edmunds, "we have no backlog of ideas to draw upon" — no ready-made products for ready-made wants. More-of-the-same mentality will lay an egg and it won't be golden. "We have enough plant capacity to satisfy demand for the goods that go into the present standard of living." We require new products "to launch a new long-term business cycle for the 1960's, just as the great missile and rocket advances were needed to launch the military into the space age."

Corporate executives face a difficult task—creation. They have acquired the ability to recognize an idea which is good and likely to sell. That's what they live by. But it's the second stage in the process of discovery. The real problem is how to achieve the first stage—to get an idea to burgeon in some man's striving mind.

Edmunds makes this brave observation: "Men think best as individuals. . . This raises an organizational paradox for management. On the one hand, management must allow individuals more leeway . . . in order to foster creative acts. On the other hand, management itself must retain power to make decisions which govern the general direction of the enterprise." Edmunds asks: Will we have enough dreamers to invent enough new things to make the promise of the Golden 'Sixties a reality?

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The nation's co-ops, by and large, are groups of people who share and share alike the costs and the successes of their cooperative efforts, whether they are electrification systems, seed stores, or whatever. In one way, they are much like the shareholders in American industry who put their dollars to work in the nation's economy.

But in another way, they are vastly different. Some of the co-ops are exempt by law from paying taxes; others can avoid taxation by issuing little pieces of paper to shareholders telling them what their earnings were and how much money they have in the coop. Most co-op shareholders don't pay taxes on these certificates, either, for Federal courts have held that their market value isn't determinable. The earnings are thus not taxed until cash is received.

Some co-ops have other happy gimmicks aside from tax avoidance or exemptions. The Rural Electrification Administration, for example, lends money to co-ops. The R.E.A. gets the money from the Treasury for 2 per cent, but the Treasury must borrow money as high as 4 per cent from the rest of the taxpayers in order to permit the R.E.A. to borrow at such a low rate.

The idea behind the birth of R.E.A. was to spread electricity in rural areas for farmers who didn't have any.

Obviously, R.E.A. has grown up; in 1935, only 11 per cent of the nation's farms were electrified, while today 95 per cent are connected to outside power systems. One-half of R.E.A. electric power now goes to industries, communities or non-farm families.

But don't let anyone tell you they're paying a fair share when the rest of the taxpayers carry part of the tax-free co-op's cost of borrowing money to use for expansion. And they certainly aren't sharing the load when co-ops avoid taxes by issuing non-taxable but highly valuable paper to the members. Private industry splits shares, too, but private industry pays as high as 52 per cent on its profits.

It certainly isn't too much to suggest that Congress should see to it that the co-ops and the other citizens should bear the tax burden share and share alike.

Delayed Conscience

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—In 1942, Kenneth Barrett thought he had lost his automatic pencil in a high school typing class. Recently, the Shawnee News-Star received a letter containing the pencil. A note explained the sender was repenting after taking the pencil.

Splashing Himself With The Same Brush

James Marlow Republicans Are Still Confused

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee, still aching from the Democrats' shattering victory last November, met last week in Des Moines to figure out how to win in 1960. It was a soul-searching get-together.

Before it was over dissatisfaction with the leadership President Eisenhower has given the party came to the surface and drew loud applause. Eisenhower advised the committee to work hard and was told to do more himself. But the committee also warmly applauded a resolution approving the "wise and able leadership" of Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The members discussed where the party stood, what it stood for, where it was going and why.

The result: a plan for getting more people to ask more people to vote Republican was approved, but the committee never got around to stating why it thought people should vote for the party. It authorized the naming of a committee to draw up long range goals.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona had his own idea. He is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee and a longtime critic of Eisenhower administration policies. He thought it all right to approve a plan for ringing doorbells.

But he said: "The most important ingredient is missing. Where does the party stand? What are its principles?" He said more than a million Republicans failed to vote last year because they didn't know what the party principles, if any, were.

He did suggest the party print copying the New Deal book that was Rep. Richard M. Simpson's slap at Eisenhower that got the most applause and headlines.

Except around campaign time every two years Eisenhower has been one of the most nonpolitical of all presidents. Between elections he tries to get along with everyone, including Democrats.

Just before an election he gets extremely busy, campaigns, and denounces Democrats. He started late in the 1952 campaign, too. On Nov. 5, the day after the election, he had a news conference.

Asked what his role in the 1960 elections would be, he said: "My role for the next two years is to do exactly my very best to carry on the responsibilities and duties of the presidency. I am not even thinking about that election at this time."

This was in strange contrast with the advice he sent the committee last week:

"I deeply regret that some people look upon our party as a kind of hibernating elephant who wakes with a mighty trumpet blast at election time and then rests calmly until the next election time."

"Political activity must be a matter of the highest effort. It must go on 365 days a year. . . . This was too much for Simpson, a Pennsylvanian who is chairman of the congressional campaign committee and whose job is to try to get Republicans elected to the House.

He called upon the White House "to give us some of that unremitting political effort on behalf of the Republican party (and) to state the long-range purpose of the Republican party, to give us a statement of principles for which we can stand. . . ."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

More than 90 per cent of the five billions of shares of stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange at the end of the year will be owned by the same owners who held them at the start of the year.

That means, a brokerage house letter says, that the public is interested in long-term investment, not speculation. They tuck away their stocks, as they do their insurance policies and other valuable papers, in strong boxes, and watch them grow with America, even though there are downs in their value as well as ups.

Much of the activity on the big board was misleading because it laid emphasis on the speculative side.

Brass Pinups

KEARNY, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Bersey's scrapbook is filled with pictures of soldiers and sailors — the leading generals and admirals of World War II.

She began collecting autographed pictures of them after she wrote Gen. Eisenhower in 1945 sending him a four-leaf clover and he sent back a signed photograph and a letter. She has 44 pictures now and sends a Christmas card to all her "gallery."

Band Subs For Bugler

HONOLULU (AP)—The insistent notes of the bugle no longer rouse soldiers of the 27th Infantry regiment from bed each morning.

Instead, the soldiers at Schofield Barracks are serenaded by the regimental band at 5:30 a.m.

The music is still pretty brassy, the Army said.

Around The Rim Of Quiet Texans, And Left-handers

It may seem unlikely, but: The quietest man I ever knew was a Texan.

Some of the school children who worry most over the possibility of falling make the highest grades.

Most husbands I know control the purse strings in their families an, invariably, make the big decisions.

The rudest, most unpolished man I ever met was a U. S. lawyer, as unlike the fictional characters as night is day.

The people who do the most talking about "throwing the rascals out," seldom take the trouble to vote. And when they do go to the polls, they're inclined to endorse the incumbents.

People rarely vote FOR anyone, however, but rather AGAINST someone. If they didn't get that chance, many of them would never exercise their prerogative.

Right-handed people never seem unorthodox to "lefties," whereas the southpaws of this old world invariably are looked upon as off-beat by the righthanders.

At the age of 25 months, my daughter, when asked why she wouldn't eat, replied candidly, "I get fat." Now I know how early the women get conscious about their figures.

I think one of the most entertaining of the television shows is "Zorro." It has a nostalgic flavor so rare in most recently-told adventure stories.

An Australian physician named Dr. Chesney believes we should do away with both handshakes and kisses as modes of greeting. It would be most hygienic, he insists, to adopt the Maori form of salute, which consists of lifting a leg and shaking it more or less intensely to express our pleasure at meeting a friend.

Many an artist rears a woman with small feet isn't truly beautiful.

The Loch Ness sea monster off Drum-na-droich, Scotland, must have had offspring. Ten people standing in ten different spots have been quoted as seeing ten different monsters at the same time. Inn keepers, publicity men and postcard salesmen have kept the legend of the Loch Ness monster alive for years—it's great for business.

Don't You Dare Whip My Child!

Only last week I expressed a hankering to peek at Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's fan mail, after New York's new governor had suggested the state might have to raise taxes in order to pay its bills.

At that time, I pointed out that most violent "Dear Sir, You cur" letters received by this column always followed an innocent suggestion of mine "that a slight raise in Federal taxes might whittle away the national deficit and stop the alarming erosion of the American dollar."

Now, I wish to have a look at the fan mail of (1) the Kings County grand jury probing crime in the New York City schools and (2) County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

A few days ago the grand jury suggested that a dose of willow tea applied where nature intended it would help straighten out unruly pupils. Judge Leibowitz, to whom the grand jury handed its presentment, heartily concurred that sparing the rod spoiled both the student and the school.

It is my experience that the second most-violent "Dear Sir, You cur" missives always follow any suggestion in this column that schools enforce discipline with a little birch bark or that teachers be permitted the privilege of self-defense against big bullies of both sexes.

The mere suggestion that a teacher be permitted to lay a finger on a pupil, no matter how ornery, results in a pile of letters from soft-headed parents and teachers in which the most flattering comparisons of the columnist are to a werewolf, Dracula and the Beast of Belsen.

The hysterical outbursts imply that helpless, bity-bitty children will be beaten to death by rogue killers. The letters would lead one to believe that the only teachers in the nation's schools are lineal descendants of Lizzie Borden and Jack the Ripper.

The jurors will be lucky to escape with their lives for having declared in their presentment that "it is essential that teachers today have the right to use reasonable force" and "we have found ample evidence showing a direct connection between the namby-pamby attitude of the educational hierarchy and the collapse of discipline in the schools."

"Our classrooms are turning out far too many delinquents and it can be expected that matters will be worse until teachers again are placed in command. Respect for teachers has been tossed out the window by starry-eyed educational leaders who encourage freedom while de-emphasizing responsibility for one's actions."

If the grand jurors laid it on the line, Judge Leibowitz underscored the situation by saying, "A powerful clique, which has held our educational system in its grip all these years, defies the laws of the state. Never mind the law. His Honor described as the attitude of the clique, 'We are the law and if you dare lay a finger on a punk in our schoolhouse, we'll fire you!'"

"How much longer," the judge asked, "are we going to put up with this dangerous nonsense and arrogance?"

Well, bully for judge and jury! Maybe, as the saying goes, you can't fight City Hall. But the judge and jury have taken on the Board of Education which forbids any kind of corporal punishment, no matter what the education.

And, perhaps, if the judge and jury win in this instance, it'll give the rest of the country the courage to demand the reinstatement of discipline in all schools.

Lines Drawn For Battle Of Budget

WASHINGTON—The battle is on between the "spenders" and the "savers." The Democratic party has taken its position in favor of an unbalanced budget, deficit spending, and policies that could lead to a 10-cent dollar.

The Democratic Advisory Council, in a statement unanimously approved by its members, claims that "the new Republican budget comes close to being a fraud on the American people. . . . The individual budget items and the related legislative program are an intricate combination of defeat, deception and denial."

This is strong language from Democrats who, during the 1952 presidential campaign, protested the alleged characterization of the Democratic party as the "party of treason" on the Communist issue.

But apparently, in employing such words as "fraud" and "deception" in a description of the Republican party today, and particularly in applying the comment to a message delivered to Congress by the President of the United States, no holds now are to be barred on the use of invective.

Among the listed sponsors of the statement of the Democratic Advisory Council are former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson, as well as Governors Williams of Michigan and Lawrence of Pennsylvania, and former Gov. Harri-man of New York. Members of Congress on the Council who approved the statement are Sens. Kefauver of Tennessee and Humphrey of Minnesota.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House and Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of the Senate resent any implication that the Democratic party is the part of the "spenders." Naturally, as Southern conservatives, the oppose any such classification. But party policy apparently is being made by the Democrats from the North, where they have been winning their big majorities. Here is the Democratic party doctrine as the Advisory Council sees it:

"The new budget shows, above all, that in the GOP administration there are no modern Republicans and no conservative Republicans but only men who put pocketbook before people. This the people of the United States will surely remember. What is bad for people is also bad for pocketbooks, both private and public. . . ."

"Nothing better symbolizes Republican attitudes than the one big increase in the budget. That is for interest charges which rise from $7.5 billions in the present fiscal year to $8.1 billions in the next. This is exclusively the result of the increase in interest rates. The only people who benefit in a big way from the new budget are those who have money and lend it to the government."

But are the millions of persons who buy government savings bonds to be persuaded in the future to buy them if the interest rates are presumably to be reduced—if the Democrats have their way—while the securities of well-established companies pay a much higher interest rate? The reason for the higher interest payments is that the national debt is increasing and investors are, in effect, demanding an interest rate on government bonds comparable to some degree with other bonds.

The statement goes on to lament the fact that the states and cities are assuming their local responsibilities and implies that, because they are increasing their debt, the federal government should do more and more to relieve them of their obligations. But the key paragraph in the statement about the budget reads as follows: "National defense outlays are reduced, and reduced even more when proper allowance is made for price changes."

What, indeed, is bringing about those price changes? Monopolistic power exercised by nation-wide unions which, by their extortions at the bargaining table, set the pattern that leaders of other unions feel they must match if they are to be re-elected to their posts.

The Democratic party Advisory Council apparently favors more and more spending, more and more deficits, and more and more inflation. This, they argue, is what the people voted for last November. The Eisenhower administration disagrees and, if it is wrong in its fiscal policy, there will be a chance in 1960 to resolve the issue.

Meanwhile, there must be tens of millions of citizens whose income is from the money they have saved and invested or from retirement and pension funds. Also many millions of persons, including widows and orphans, are living on the proceeds of insurance policies. These and others on fixed incomes may soon have to decide whether the "deception" begins and ends as they try to compare the purchasing power of their dollar today with what it will be in November 1960 if the budget isn't balanced.

DEAR ABBY

GIVE HER A CHANCE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The 15-year-old girl we use as a baby sitter has been very dependable in the past, but we heard something which disturbs us and we don't know what to do about it. My neighbor told me that the last time we were out they saw a fellow go into our home (front door) and all the lights were out during his visit.

When my husband and I drove up into our driveway, all the lights went on quickly and the boy ran out the back door. Should we cross this sitter off our list, talk to her about it or take it up with her guardian? I hate to get the girl in hot water.

BOtherED PARENTS
DEAR BOTHERED: Talk to the girl about it. If she is keeping company with a boy who has so little character, she needs more guidance than she is getting. Tell her the Lord sometimes puts us in "hot water" to cleanse us — not to drown us.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman (divorced) who has been going with a single man (widowed) for six years. We are both in our fifties. Now I am a free woman, Abby, and think I have a better right to this man than a woman who is trying to take him away from me. She's married and is living with her husband. I know you are going to say, "Leave him alone!" Well, how about HER leaving him alone! I already told her husband and he said, "What of it?" Is there any way I can keep her away from him or should I just give up?

MABEL
DEAR MABEL: A man who obviously has no respect for a woman's marriage vows is a pretty poor risk for a marriage of his own. Lose him and look for a man with more integrity.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who, in his ten years of married life, has never once remembered his wife on her birthday or wedding anniversary? Every year I keep hoping he will come home with a small box of candy or a potted plant. The value of the gift would mean nothing just so I was remembered. He is not short of money for his own hobbies, so it can't be that. Can a man so thoughtless love his wife?

FORGOTTEN
DEAR FORGOTTEN: A wise wife will "protect" herself against being "forgotten" on special occasions. Remind him of the occasion in advance, and keep letting him know that you are "sentimental" and would welcome even a token from the five and dime. If you don't LET him forget, he won't.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I am happily married and have a beautiful 6-month-old baby boy. Ever since my husband and I were going together we have always wanted to adopt a child. I hope you don't think we are foolish because we are both young and can have many more children of our own. But the idea of giving a good home to an orphan infant appeals to us. Can you help us? MR. AND MRS. C. A.

DEAR MR. AND MRS. C. A.: Get in touch with your local Adoption Agencies. While your motives are noble, your chances for adopting a baby when you are able to have your own are very slim. It is only fair to give preferences to couple who are less fortunate.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KEN:

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Al Milch, the local head football coach, was the recipient of "feelers" from two colleges relative to jobs within an hour's time here one day last week and turned "thumbs down" on both to stick with his post here.

Milch hasn't yet been told whether or not his contract will be renewed by the local board. It's now scheduled to expire in the summer of 1960.

Al would like another three-year contract. He feels he'll find a winner here in 1960, when the fine group of sophomores with whom he worked last fall will be seniors. He wants a chance to see what he can do with them.

The school board hasn't committed itself about him officially, however. In his two seasons since showing here from Sul Ross College, his Steer teams have won four games, lost 15 and tied one. That's not an impressive record and Al is the first one to admit it.

However, he told the board when he signed on that they could expect rough sailing for a while because he wanted to weed out those boys who didn't want to play hard-nosed football. He feels that the boys who stayed will start paying dividends within two years.

Milch got one job "feeler" from the University of Houston, where Hal Lahar is to replace one mentor, and is increasing the size of his staff by one. The job would have paid $8,500 per annum.

Al would have served as a West Texas scout for Houston, a job that didn't appeal to him especially, because it called for an abundance of travel. (Had Texas offered him the same sort of arrangement, he might have felt inclined to grab it.)

The other request for an interview came from Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, where the head job is open. That position also pays $8,500 yearly, which is approximately what Al is making here.

There's a possibility that Odesa's Hayden Fry will wind up at Houston, although he would have to take a pay cut in order to go to work for Lahar.

Fry says he's happy where he is. A lot of things would enter into his decision to move, however, if it is forthcoming. For one thing, Hayden's health isn't too good and the strain of being a head coach is hard on him. For another, he has expressed a desire to move into the college ranks. For still another, it's generally accepted in coaching ranks that Lahar is a wonderful fellow for whom to work.

Midland's new coach, Cletus Fisher (who leaves a similar job at Omaha, Nebraska, to come to Texas) is going to have to be a master diplomat in order to get everyone behind him in the city to the west. That is in addition to being a coaching genius.

He already has two strikes against him, as unfair as that might seem. Dr. Harold Hitt, superintendent of school at Midland, might even have damaged his public relations by insisting that Fisher be signed.

There are people over here who insisted that the schools here in Texas with a solid reputation. They point out that Hitt didn't give any one in this state a real chance at the job, that he made up his mind early to sign Fisher and wouldn't hear of any counter proposal.

It was suggested to one miffed party that a group of men pitch in and help pay Fisher's expenses for moving from Omaha to Midland, to which the incensed man replied:

"Let him walk to Texas, for all I care."

That's not the Christian attitude, I think you'll agree. Any man, be it a coach or superintendent of grounds and buildings, deserves a chance to prove what he can do.

Wayland Girl Cagers Hail From 7 Different States

Members of the world-famous Wayland College Flying Queen basketball team, which plays Clarendon Junior College in an exhibition here Thursday night, hail from seven different states.

Texas on the team include Marsha Scoggin, 6-0 freshman from Collinsville; Caroline Miller, 5-11 junior from Palestine; and Margaret Odum, 5-10 senior from Dimmitt.

The Wayland team includes four players from Oklahoma. They are Mona Poff, 5-7 senior from Elk City; Jan Wington, 6-2 soph from Friendship; and June Stewart, 5-7 freshmen from Bray.

Judy Bugher, the team manager, is also a Sooner State product. Her home is in Noble.

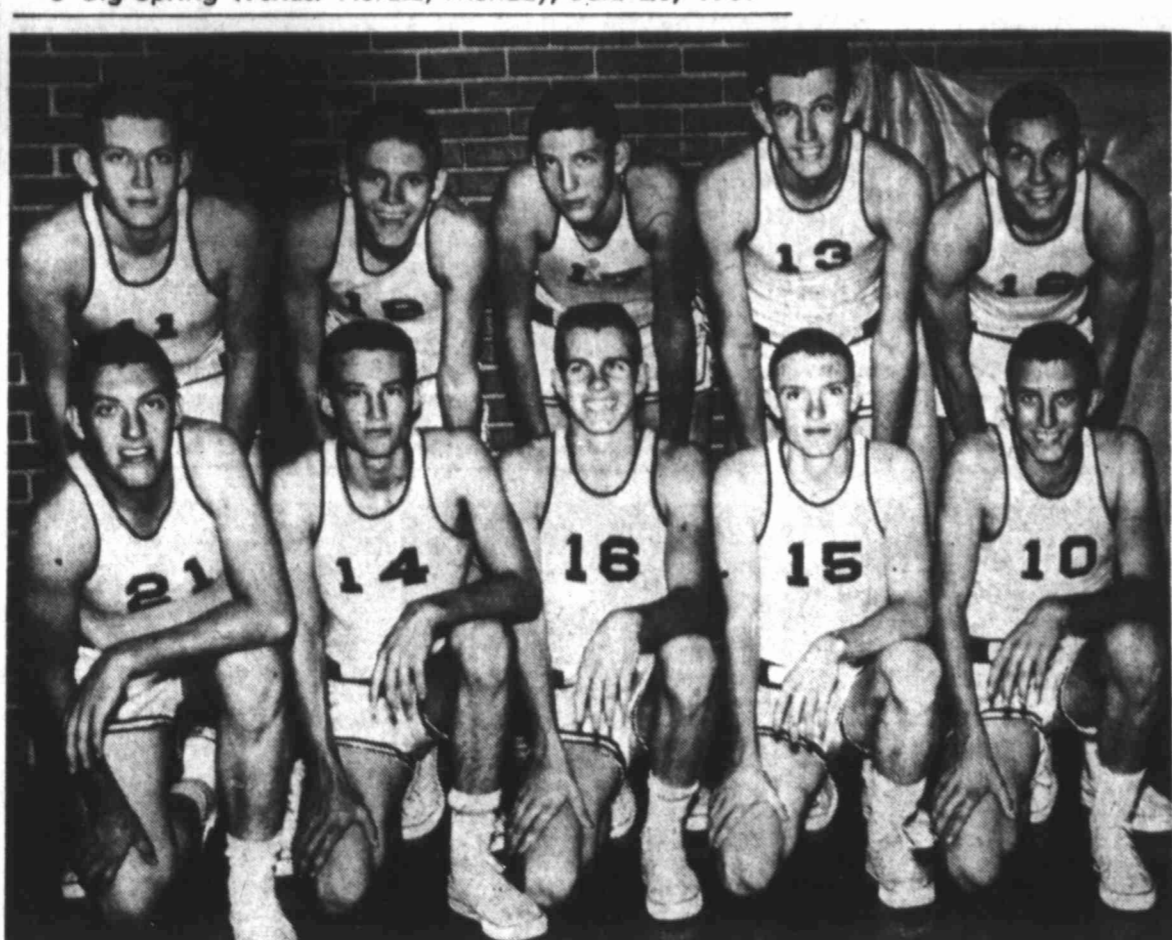

Other out-of-state players include Carla Lowry, 5-7 soph from Forrest, Miss.; Patsy Neal, 5-9 junior from Elberton, Ga.; Joyce Kite, 5-4 senior from Parkville, Mo.; and Katherine Washington, 5-9 junior from Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The Queens have lost only one game this season, that to a Mexican club which it later decided to drop.

Tickets for the exhibition are being sold by members of the H.C.J.C. basketball team and Big Spring Quarterback Club members.

ARNOLD PALMER WINS PALM SPRINGS CASH

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the 1958 Masters champion, today stood as the newest hero of the winter golfing trail.

The 29-year-old former national amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., staged an astonishing rally to win the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Tournament Sunday.

Trailing pace-setter Jimmy Demaret by five strokes going into the final 18, Palmer shot a 9-under-par 62 and a 72-hole total of 266 for a new tournament record for the full distance.

Demaret finished with a 70 and a tie for second at 269 with Ken Venturi, last year's winner. He turned pro in 1955. Demaret, a three-time Thunderbird winner, and Venturi won $875 apiece.

Lloyd Mangrum, with three straight 68's and a final 66, finished fourth at 270 for $650.

Palmer had a 6-under par 30 for the first nine holes. His irons were brilliant throughout. He seldom left himself with putts of more than three or four feet for birdies.

The champion was over par on only one hole, the 11th, where he missed the green and took a five.

picked up momentum. Alex then rebounded to take the final set, 6-3.

After his triumph, which gave Olmedo the first of the four major championships — the Wimbledon, French and U.S. titles are the others — the popular descendant of the Inca Indians charmed the gallery with a modest speech.

"This is my first big tournament win," he said with a clipped accent. "And I am very happy."

Both triumphs capped one of the most successful tennis trips an American delegation has made Down Under. The Yanks also take home the coveted Davis Cup, which Olmedo almost won single-handedly.

The Peruvian, from the University of Southern California, won two singles and had a share of the doubles triumph in the Davis Cup.

The 22-year-old Olmedo thus became the first American since 1951 to bring home the Australian title when Dick Savitt won the championship.

Olmedo didn't waste any time with Fraser, whom he had defeated in the Pacific Southwest Championships in 1957, but to whom he had lost twice last year.

Olmedo completely outclassed his 25-year-old Australian opponent to win the opening set 6-1.

The USC student played phenomenal, almost flawless tennis to triumph 6-2 in the second set.

The Australian rallied in the third set to win 6-3 as his service

Auburn Seeks To Win More Cage Critics

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Staff Writer

Attempts by Auburn and St. John's (N.Y.) to convince the skeptics and another milestone for Baron Adolph Rupp of Kentucky bear watching this week as full-scale play resumes in college basketball after time out for mid-term exams.

Auburn, ranked no better than fifth nationally despite a 24-game winning streak, plays pesky Vanderbilt Saturday at Nashville, where Vandy handed top-ranked Kentucky its only loss two weeks ago.

St. John's, now 12-1 with a nine-game streak and looking better with every start, opens a three-game road test Thursday against St. Louis, a team that has also bagged nine straight after two early losses. The Redmen, rated seventh in The Associated Press poll, move on to Chicago Stadium Saturday against Chicago Loyola and then try improved Notre Dame at South Bend early next week.

While they try to prove themselves, king Kentucky has three games to pick up the two victories Rupp needs for 600 in his 29-year career as head man of the Wildcats.

Kentucky goes for 599 at Georgia Tech tonight and has home games against Georgia Thursday night and Florida Saturday night. Only three coaches have reached the 600th milestone at one school.

Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky, Henry Iba of Oklahoma State, and Edward Adams of Texas Southern.

The other seven members of the top 10 also are busy, with Kentucky (14-1) signaling the return of the Big Four which sat out last week to concentrate on examinations.

North Carolina, No. 2, and North Carolina State, No. 4, return in doubleheaders at Charlotte, N.C. Friday and Saturday. The Tar Heels lead an leading the Atlantic Coast Conference by a game over State, play Clemson Friday and South Carolina Saturday in league tests. State, (12-1) meets South Carolina Friday and Clemson Saturday.

Kansas State, No. 3, tries to protect its Big Eight Conference leadership against Iowa State tonight and Toledo on Wednesday before resuming its chase of Cincinnati with a Mo Valley game against Tulsa Saturday.

West Virginia, rated 10th, goes after its 43rd straight Southern Conference victory at Georgia Washington tonight and has another conference test with William & Mary Friday.

Auburn's Tigers whipped Georgia Tech 66-55 and Georgia 81-61 for a 13-0 season record last week and were left the only major unbeaten Saturday night after St. Francis (Pa.) snapped St. Bonaventure's nine-game unbeaten string, 92-81.

contracts. Tebbetts said, however, that the brunt of the contract chores would fall on him this season because McHale has unfinished business in Detroit "and won't join the team for some time."

McHale spent 18 years with the Tigers. He started in professional baseball with Beaumont in the Texas League in 1941. He had his best season with Buffalo in 1945 when he hit .313 and collected 22 homers. McHale subsequently worked himself up from the position of reserve first baseman to the Detroit manager.

McHale, 37, announced his surprise decision Sunday after meeting with Braves' owner Lou Perini and Executive Vice President Birdie Tebbetts.

"It definitely is a case of the job seeking the man and not the man seeking the job," Perini said.

McHale, in leaving the American League club where he was named general manager early in 1957, replaces John Quinn, who resigned to accept a similar position with the Philadelphia Phillies.

"McHale was at the top of our list of candidates for the general manager's job," Tebbetts said. "When Quinn resigned, we knew that we had to replace him with a top man. We looked around and decided that McHale was our man."

"I see it as a bigger job — a chance to expand myself and also to make more money," McHale said.

McHale earned an estimated $30,000 with Detroit. Tebbetts said McHale would work for the Braves without a contract. There was no hint at McHale's salary.

Tebbetts added that McHale would have all the duties that Quinn had and would also be responsible for player trades and

Forsan And Knott In MOD Contest

KNOTT (SC) — Basketball teams of Forsan and Knott will meet here at 7 p.m. Tuesday in a March of Dimes benefit.

Both boys and girls teams will play on the special bill with all proceeds due to go to the March of Dimes, said Supt. Weldon Snodgrass. Officials are urging a capacity turnout for the games.

Pin-Ups At Top Of Bowling Loop

In the Officers' Wives bowling league last week, the Pin-ups retained a first-place ranking by bottling the Shoudda Beans, 4-0, the Ball Points raked the Sexy Five, 3-1, and the Head Hunters chopped the After Burners, 3-1.

Pin-ups collected high team series, with 1900, as the Ball Points completed with 1877.

Betty Reid was top individual bowler with a 158 high game; Donna Duda finished with a second-best 157 and high series of 439. Evie Mallott had a 430 series aggregate.

Sharon Shearer picked up the 5-10 split; Chups Bauman had the 5-7; Dolores Munch floored the 3-10; and Jane Nelson and Joan Thiel had the 5-7 and 5-6-10, respectively.

Six SWC Quintets To Play Saturday

By WHITEY SAWYER

Associated Press Staff Writer

The top six teams in the Southwest Conference basketball race clash this week in one big night of firing that could cause a lot of juggling among the front-runners.

Only Rice and Texas, the patsies of the league, are idle. Texas A&M tries Texas Tech at Lubbock, Baylor hosts Arkansas at Waco and Southern Methodist meets Texas Christian in Fort Worth, all Saturday.

TCU leads the league with a 4-1 conference mark. Baylor is half a game behind with 4-2 and Texas A&M and Texas Tech are tied for third at 3-2. Arkansas and SMU, defending co-champions, are next with 2-2 records.

Rice is 1-4 and Texas 1-5. TCU dropped a non-conference game in its only outing last week, but the tall and classy Horned Frogs may not have had their hearts in it when they lost to Oklahoma City, 75-65. Arkansas also dropped a non-championship game, losing to Tulsa, 61-54. Texas A&M beat Houston, 71-54, in its game against outside foes.

Baylor slammed Texas 62-51 in the only conference game last week.

The light schedule dropped TCU from first place in season play and let the Aggies in. A&M is 12-3, TCU 11-4 and Texas 10-5 for the year.

Texas, at the bottom of the heap with a 3-12 record, got the news Basketball Coach Marshall Hughes is resigning at the end of the season. He said he will return to his first love — teaching.

Tom Robitaille of Rice held his season scoring lead with 289 points. H. E. Kirchner of TCU gained a bit on the idle Robitaille and has 266 for second place.

Bob Turner of Baylor, one of the big reasons behind the Bears' sudden surge in the conference race, leads the championship scorers with 97 points. Leon Hill of Texas Tech was idle this week and remained at 87 where he was tied with Turner last week. Kirchner has 86 points.

Carroll Dawson got 17 points for the Bears as he beat Texas and Jerry Walsh led in rebounds with nine. Jay Arnett paced Texas with 15 points.

U.S. Cage Team Draws Criticism

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Favored but struggling United States and Russia — the two remaining undefeated teams — see action tonight in the World Basketball Championships.

The Americans, who have won their two games by a total of six points, face Nationalist China, which has lost both its games.

Russia, which pulled even with the U.S. with a 66-63 victory over Brazil Saturday, goes against Bulgaria. The Bulgarians won their first game Saturday by whipping Chile, 76-71.

The U.S. team, represented by the Air Force All-Stars, has been unimpressive and Chilean newspapers are complaining.

Observed El Mercurio, largest Chilean newspaper: "This team is not up to the quality we have been accustomed to expect from a U.S. representative."

The U.S. and Russia meet Wednesday. The game is a toss-up.

Morrow Not Too Fond Of Boards

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Morrow heads into New York's Milrose Games with a triple win to his credit in his first competition on the boards.

But he's still not convinced he'll ever become too fond of indoor running.

Morrow raced on a board track for the first time in the Evening Star Games Saturday night and came through in great shape — sweeping the spring series just to prove he's an out-front man on the indoor dashes.

But the 23-year-old Texan from Abilene Christian College made it clear he prefers the wide-open outdoors.

"The crowd here is right on top of you. You can't find a place to warm up — and the boards are hard on your legs," he said before the games in the big Washington National Guard armory.

Morrow had won three 1956 Olympic gold medals, equaled the world's record at 9.3 in the 100 and won many titles outside before testing the hardwood.

He scored his triple victory by capturing the 70-yard dash in 7.2 seconds, the 80 in 8.1 and the 100 in 9.8.

However, he didn't match the U.S. records set by Duke's Dave Sime on the same track — the long est straightaway in indoor track. Sime missed the competition this year because of an infected tooth and the pressure of studies.

Morrow may have a firmer opinion on indoor racing after the Milrose 60-yard sprint next Saturday. He said he didn't think his first experience was enough of a test.

One of Morrow's Olympic teammates, Ohio State's Glenn Davis — who holds the world record in the 400-meter hurdles and the 440 — finished third in the 600-yard run. Morgan State's Nick Ellis won in 1:13.8 with Josh Culbreath of the Philadelphia Pioneer Club second.

The 70-yard hurdles honors went to Lee Calhoun of Durham, N.C. Olympic 100-meter hurdles champ in 8.3 seconds. Polish refugee John Macy of Houston University broke his own meet record in 9:01.8 to win the 2-mile for the third year in a row.

Other meet records fell when Don Bragg of the Shanahan Catholic Club and Bob Gutowski of the Quantico Marines each cleared 15 feet, 4 1/4 inches in the pole vault. Charley Stead of Villanova high jumped 6 feet, 8 1/2 inches and John Humke of the New York A.C. walked the mile in 6:45.8.

Bragg was named the pole vault winner because he didn't miss going up to the winning height while Gutowski tipped the bar on his first try at 14 feet, 6 inches.

28 Governors Join Daniel In Gas Fight

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The governors of 28 states have agreed to join Gov. Price Daniel in opposing an increase in the federal gasoline tax.

The majority of the governors of our sister states feel as strongly as I do against President Eisenhower's proposal for further federal invasion of this tax which should be reserved for the states, Daniel said Sunday.

He wired all state governors Jan. 12, asking them to join in opposing the tax hike and diversion of federal highway use taxes into non-highway channels.

Daniel said that of 35 replies, 28 were favorable and others wanted more time to study the matter. None favored the federal tax increase.

Daniel's statement said: "We are in agreement that further gasoline taxes must not be preempted by the federal government.

Today more than 1.5 billion dollars of federal highway user taxes are being diverted for other purposes.

"The governors with whom I have been in contact agree that this practice should be stopped, as it is contrary to the intent of Congress in passing the 1956 Highway Bill. An end to this diversion would provide enough funds for the federal aid program on highways without resort to increased taxation as the President has advocated.

"With our low state tax on this fuel, compared with other states, and with our Highway Commission having asked for a one-cent increase in 1955 again this year to help in this, the biggest highway construction program in Texas history, if an additional gasoline tax is collected, it must be by the state and not by the federal government."

The governor estimated addition of one and one-half cents to the present federal tax on gasoline would have Texas sending 137 million dollars more to Washington that would be returned to the state for highways under the present aid formula.

Integration Leader Sets India Visit

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, will leave Feb. 3 for a visit to India.

King, who led the Montgomery bus boycott, also may visit the Soviet Union.

An announcement Sunday said the Rev. Mr. King will make a month's study of the Gandhian nonviolent movement in India and meet with government officials.

He will be accompanied by his wife and Dr. Lawrence Redick, professor of history at Alabama State College for Negroes.

No Honeymoon Yet

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There'll be no honeymoon for awhile for singer Gogi Grant and her new husband, attorney Robert Rifkind. They're both too busy.

Miss Grant, 34, and Rifkind, 30, were wed in Las Vegas Saturday by Rabbi Bernard Cohen and returned here immediately. It was the second marriage for both.
