Poll Tax Payment Period Comes To Slow Finish

Although the office of the county tax collector stayed open until midnight Saturday in order to accommodate related taxpayers who want to vote in 1959, there was no grand rush. As midnight neared, the total poll tax receipts issued was still short of the 7,000 mark. The poll tax and exemption certificates total at 11:00 p.m. was 7,764. At the same hour in 1958 the total was 8,432 and even in 1957 — regarded as a slow year in this field — the total was 7,889. Tax office employees said the final number would probably be from 200 to perhaps 300 greater than the 7,764. At 11:00 p.m. 6,062 tax receipts and 1,702 exemption certificates had been issued.

IN SPACE RACE U.S. Falls Short In Many Areas, Stands Even On Data

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—One year after launching their first successful earth satellite, America's space scientists could count the score and find:

Their efforts will fall short of Russia's in terms of rocket propulsive power, weights of payloads placed in orbit, and altitudes achieved.

They have at least matched the Soviets, they say, on the basis of scientific information obtained.

It was a year ago Saturday night when a Jupiter C Army rocket roared up from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and shot a 30-pound satellite called Explorer I into orbit around the earth 1,000 miles high.

Now, 12 months later, Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the Civilian Space Agency, told the Senate's combined Space and Preparedness subcommittees in testimony Friday that: "I don't think we're back of the Russians at all, except in propulsion. We're at least as good as they are except in propulsion."

In the year since the Army's top missile scientist, Dr. Werner von Braun, strode triumphantly onto the stage of the great hall of the National Academy of Sciences here to give reporters first details of the Explorer I launching, the United States has:

Successfully placed in orbit two more Army Explorer satellites, Explorers I and IV are still whirling around the earth and will be doing so for about five years.

Orbited one Navy Vanguard satellite, a grapefruit-size moon that is still gunning along at altitudes up to about 2,400 miles, sending radio signals from a solar-powered radio. It will be in business for an estimated 200 years, but it's the only successful Vanguard out of seven attempts since Dec. 6, 1957.

Sent two space probes called Pioneer I and Pioneer III to heights of 71,000 and 66,654 miles respectively before they plunged back and disintegrated in the earth's atmosphere. Pioneer III was to have shot past the moon and gone into orbit around the sun, as the Russians say their Lunik space probe did a few weeks ago. But, though the Pioneers fell far short of their goals, scientists say they gained a lot of information about radiation in space.

Placed in orbit for about a month a 4½-ton Atlas satellite, bearing 150 pounds of radio equipment which relayed a recorded Christmas message from President Eisenhower back to earth. This satellite performed other communications tricks in the first known test of a system which scientists predict will someday make possible global radio and television broadcasts via satellite relay.

The United States has yet to place an animal in orbit, as Russia did with the dog Laika in Sputnik II, fired Nov. 4, 1957.

The Americans sent a monkey and a mouse to substantial heights in the nose cones of nonorbiting missiles shots.

On the scientific data front, U.S. scientists contend that despite the smaller size of their satellites they scored a unique achievement in being the first to discover a band of potentially dangerous radiation in space.

It is called the Van Allen Belt in honor of Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, who discovered it while analyzing data first picked up by Explorers I and II.

The Americans also were the first to report evidence that the earth is pear-shaped, rather than spherical. Information gleaned from observations of the little Vanguard.

And for the immediate future? Possibly, another Vanguard try will be made in a few weeks.

The Army may take another shot at the moon around the end of February.

Out on the West Coast, preparations are being made for the first of a dozen launchings this year of Discoverer satellites which are designed to go into orbit over the poles instead of around the Equator.

And the space agency already has begun to select a candidate for the first American to be launched into space.

But such a venture is not expected for at least two years.

Bald Bird To Rescue Hairless Men

NEW YORK (AP)—A bird that gets bald may come to the rescue of bald and balding men.

The bird is the male adult wattle starling.

It's his natural misfortune to lose the feathers on top of his head. The pattern is much like ordinary baldness in men, says Dr. James B. Hamilton, chairman of the department of anatomy, State University of New York, Brooklyn.

Learning why the birds get bald might help explain human baldness and its remedy.

Dr. Hamilton spoke Saturday to a conference on hair growth and hair regeneration. The conference was sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Some mysteries about baldness are being clarified, and there are hopes the cause can be found, said Dr. Irving J. Lubowe. He is dermatologist of the New York Medical College and conference chairman.

In one particular kind of spotty baldness, known as alopecia areata, long-term treatment with some hormone like drugs stimulated hair growth in a significant percentage of patients, Dr. Lubowe said.

The drugs, which included prednisone, prednisolone, and methylprednisolone, must be used carefully to avoid undesirable effects, he cautioned.

Warren Balks At Slowdown In Integration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren refused Saturday to delay the scheduled admission Monday of four Negro pupils to a white junior high school in Arlington, Va.

School officials said they expect no disturbances when the school is integrated. It has more than 1,000 pupils.

The school board at Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington, had asked Warren for a delay in admitting the Negroes to Stratford Junior High.

The board contended it was not in the best interest of students and teachers to permit transfers into the school in the middle of the school year.

Warren acted swiftly. His ruling that the board had not shown a need for extraordinary action came less than three hours after taking the request under consideration.

The order from the chief justice backed lower court rulings. Police will block off an area half a mile wide around the school grounds, officials said. Only teachers, pupils and school employees will be permitted to pass the police lines.

Arlington is one of two Virginia areas—the other is Norfolk—under orders to enroll Negro pupils next week, breaching the state's "massive resistance" policy.

Freezing Drizzle Falls In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Freezing drizzle and some snow fell Saturday in the Panhandle. Far to the south rain peppered Corpus Christi, Alice and Beeville.

Fog hung around Lubbock in the South Plains and showers fell at Midland. Only at El Paso were the skies clear, the Weather Bureau reported.

Temperatures were considerably below freezing in the upper Panhandle. Soon after noon, Perryton had 19 degrees and 2 inches of snow on the ground. Moderate to heavy snow fell before noon in Perryton after a half hour of sleet. Highways in the northeast Panhandle were slick and dangerous.

Amarillo had a trace of snow on the ground and a freezing drizzle, the Weather Bureau said. The early afternoon temperature was 24.

Dalhart had freezing drizzle most of the day.

Winds from Dumas said an ice coating threatened to make roads hazardous. Long before sundown, a car slid on the ice into a locomotive at a Dumas grade crossing injuring two teen-agers, Mike and Jim Boxwell. The car was wrecked.

The Weather Bureau forecast rather cold weather for the whole state through Sunday with light snow in the Panhandle Saturday night. Occasional rain was predicted for most other areas of Texas except the north central portion.

The lowest temperatures forecast for Saturday night were 25 in the Panhandle and upper South Plains, 35 elsewhere in West Texas and in South Central Texas, 26 in North Central Texas and 28 in East Texas.

Thunder boomed during a morning sleet storm at Pampa.

Winds quieted down along the coast and small craft warnings were lowered. The Weather Bureau said the highest winds expected between Brownsville and Morgan City, La., would be about 20 miles an hour.

Virginia Accepts Partial Integration

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia General Assembly Saturday accepted the inevitability of some racial school integration and enacted Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr.'s program to lessen its impact.

A last-ditch fight by a strong Senate group to close the state's pocketbook to areas where schools integrate collapsed in the Senate Finance Committee. Almond's supporters beat the effort to go beyond his recommendations by a 12-7 committee vote.

The full Senate then approved the governor's key requests, which already had passed the House—a three-million-dollar fund for $250 tuition grants for children who won't attend integrated schools, and repeal of the compulsory school attendance law.

Both houses planned to return Monday to be on hand when the first public school racial integration in Virginia's history takes place in Norfolk and Arlington County.

Arlington, the urban northern Virginia county, lost a final legal bid Saturday to stay the admission of four Negroes to Stratford Junior High School. Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court, refused any delay and said the school board had not shown him a need for extraordinary action.

School authorities, who have been preparing for the admission of the Negroes, said they didn't expect any disturbances Monday.

For Norfolk, integration of 17 Negroes with the white pupils of six high schools and junior high schools, will mean the schools will be open for classes for the 1958-59 school year. The six schools were closed under a now-defunct state law last September when ordered to admit the Negroes by a federal court.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Contracts for Webb AFB work costing more than $1,300,000 became almost a certainty last week. Suggs Construction was low bidder on the alert hangar for $356,995. Pioneer Construction on the readiness crew and flight simulator buildings for $231,669; and United Construction the maintenance hangar for $714,733. The four unit will have an aggregate of 77,400 square feet.

Meanwhile, building activity was getting off to a good start in town. Permits for January totaled $748,000. That would be a nice pace to hold.

Forrest & Cotton, the last to apply and with the apparent highest proposal, won the recommendation of a special committee last (See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 3)

Plane Fire Leaves Crew A Bit Shaky

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A naval pilot sent his radar picket plane into a 6,000-foot dive Saturday in an unsuccessful attempt to extinguish an engine fire. Then he landed safely only minutes after the blaze had burned itself out.

LT (J.G.) Peter A. Conklin, 26, of Forest Hills, N. Y., and the 11 other men aboard the Florida-bound P-3V Neptune leaped unharmed but somewhat shaken from the craft at Portland Municipal Airport where nearly 100 firefighters stood by.

Others aboard the craft included AD1 Sylvan L. Cavitt, 27, Abilene.

Cold Weather Numbs Plains

By The Associated Press

The coldest weather of the winter numbed parts of the Northern Plains Saturday while a new storm over the midcontinent dumped up to six inches of snow. The mercury never even flirted with the zero mark at Bismarck, N.D. The city had an overnight low of 29 below and by midday the temperature had climbed back only to 25 below.

Throughout the day Saturday subzero cold lingered from Montana eastward into upper Michigan.

Snow blanketed the Central and Northern Plains and the eastern slopes of the Rockies.

Blowing snow fell in southwest Kansas and northwest Oklahoma, with accumulations up to seven and eight inches.

Freezing drizzle spread from New Mexico across the Texas Panhandle and into southern Kansas.

The leading edge of colder air surged across northern Florida but readings pushed into the balmy 80-degree range in southern sections.

Although fair skies brightened most of New England a few snow flurries drifted across northern Maine.

Lubbock Man Dies In Highway Crash

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Samuel Leroy Smith, 68, of Lubbock, Tex., was killed and two Tulsans injured today in a two-car crash on U.S. Highway 75 outside the Tulsa city limits.

State Trooper Ben Ninedy said Smith's car attempted to make a U-turn on the highway and was hit broadside by an auto driven by John R. Lewis, 34. Lewis suffered minor injuries and a passenger in his car, Lucien Harris, 34 was injured seriously.

Farm Bureau Okays Tax Plan

WACO (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau Federation strongly endorsed Saturday Gov. Price Daniel's proposal to tax natural gas.

J. H. West, president of the state's largest farm organization, declared that the tax is fair and equitable because it does not place an undue burden on Texans. He said the tax gives the people an opportunity to benefit from the "replaceable" natural resource now being shipped out of the state.

The proposed 3 per cent tax is a "severance beneficiary" tax on natural gas. It is estimated to raise 41 million dollars over the next biennium. It would be paid by the producer only if there is no severance beneficiary to pay for it.

West praised both Gov. Daniel and Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, who introduced a gas tax bill, for their efforts to secure needed state revenues from such a source. He contended that even with passage of the governor's proposal, Texas would still be taxing natural gas at less than half the rate of some surrounding gas producing states.

Paris Scandal Hits Political Leader

PARIS (AP)—A Paris scandal involving teen-age girls at late night parties brought an indictment Saturday against Andre Le Troquer, bald and dapper president of the last National Assembly.

The one-armed 74-year-old politician was indicted for an attack on public morals, an indefinite charge under French law which could later be spelled out and mean 10 years in prison on conviction.

Le Troquer said he had been indicted at his own request so that he could clear his name by having full access to the facts. He had earlier written to a French newspaper flatly denying any connection with the case, which is called here "The Rose Ballet."

He denied that his suburban villa had been used for any such girlie evenings.

Lewis Loses Libel Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal court jury awarded Mrs. Pearl Wanamaker, Seattle, Wash., educator, $145,000 damages today in her libel suit against radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

It was the biggest libel judgment ever awarded by a jury in the District of Columbia.

The jury, after a nine-day trial, found that Mrs. Wanamaker had suffered substantial damages as a result of a nation-wide broadcast by Lewis Jan. 6, 1956.

In the broadcast, Lewis mistakenly used Mrs. Wanamaker's name in speaking of a woman whose brother he said had ducked behind the Iron Curtain and renounced American citizenship. Lewis also criticized her role in the 1955 White House conference on education and discussed her reversal of the suspension of a Tacoma, Wash., school counselor who had refused to answer questions posed by the House committee on Un-American Activities.

The jury found that Lewis had not acted with malice and did not award any punitive damages.

Mrs. Wanamaker, 60-year-old, former superintendent of public instruction in Washington State, 168rs weeping in her eyes called the verdict "a vindication."

Lewis himself had no comment, but his attorney Roger Robb, called the verdict "outrageous."

Asked if he planned to appeal, Robb replied, "Yes sir."

School Consolidation With Gail Asked By Gay Hill Group

A petition signed by 31 residents of Gay Hill School district asking an election on consolidating that Howard County school with the Borden County Independent School District, has been placed in the hands of Ed Carpenter, county judge.

The petition, filed on Thursday, came as a complete surprise to Walker Bailey, county superintendent, and to Doyle Fenn, principal of the school. They had no knowledge, they said, of any movement in the district toward a consolidation election.

Judge Carpenter, if it is determined the signers are qualified residents and voters of the district, has no alternative than to call for an election in the district. He has asked Wayne Burns, county attorney, to advise him on the time such an election should be called.

Bailey voiced surprise at the action. He pointed out that Gail, where the one school in Borden County is located, is some 25 miles from the district and outside, Howard County.

Gay Hill school, which teaches through the eighth grade, has a present enrollment of 140 pupils. It has a faculty of nine teachers. The plant, which Bailey estimated as worth $250,000 comprises a modern brick building housing eight classrooms, an auditorium, a gymnasium, cafeteria and administration offices. Gay Hill is located 18 miles north of Big Spring.

RULE BOOKS FOR '59 DERBY ARE AVAILABLE

The official rule books for the 1959 Soap Box Derby have arrived.

Boys interested in participating in Big Spring's Derby may secure copies of the rule book at either Tidwell Chevrolet Co. or The Herald, Lloyd Wooten of Tidwell reported Saturday.

Wooten said registration for the local Derby probably will be started in the next few days. Registration materials are expected to arrive Monday or Tuesday from the All American Soap Box Derby headquarters.

Date for the 1959 Big Spring Derby hasn't been scheduled, but the event will be held in June or July, in all likelihood. Local boys will compete for 10 or more valuable prizes.

Top award, of course, is the expenses-paid trip to the All American Derby to be held in Akron, Ohio, in August.

Any Howard County boy who will be 11 to 15 years of age (inclusive) on Aug. 1, is eligible to enter the Big Spring Derby. Wooten said. He suggested that boys interested in competing should pick up their rule books immediately so they can start making preparations for the big race.

Space Race Cost Is 'Astronomical'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of space exploration, like its objective, is "astronomical," a space official said Saturday.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, gave some dollar measurements in a talk to the American Legion's National Security Commission.

Dryden estimates that the cost of putting a satellite into orbit runs between two and three billion dollars.

He said, "Our first orbital bomber will cost in the neighborhood of one billion dollars."

Dryden apparently was referring to the Dyna-Soar project. That rocket-launched man-carrying vehicle is intended to circle the world in a boost-glide flight.

Vessel Hits Iceberg Off Greenland

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—Three rescue vessels searched the stormy North Atlantic until dark Saturday night without finding a trace of the vanished Danish ship Hans Hedtoft.

Then dangers of a new storm and a gathering icepack forced the vessels to flee to the open sea and suspend their desperate hunt until morning.

Fear mounted that all 95 persons aboard the Hedtoft were lost. The little passenger-freighter reported shortly before noon Friday she had hit an iceberg and was sinking. She was returning to Denmark on her maiden voyage to Greenland.

Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue headquarters reported the three ships—the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Campbell and the German trawlers Johannes Kruss and Poseidon—had left the icepack area at darkness.

The Campbell was more than 100 miles south of the ice area where the Hedtoft was last heard from. Coast Guard officials in New York said it would resume the search at dawn.

The Campbell and the Poseidon had fought their way to the area through 24-foot waves and a mottled sea of icebergs and floes. They joined the Johannes Kruss, a sturdy little German trawler which had been criss-crossing the treacherous waters in 60-mile wide straits throughout Friday night and Saturday.

A U.S. Air Force Super Constellation circled overhead but its 12-man crew said it found no sign of the 2,785-ton Danish ship. The plane also is equipped with radar.

The clouds later began closing in and an RCAF spokesman said visibility dropped to about half a mile and the ceiling to 100 feet. Weather observers feared a new storm was moving into the search area.

Nevertheless, an RCAF Lancaster left Goose Bay, Labrador, to join another U.S. Navy Super Constellation in the search. An RCAF spokesman said all available planes would be thrown into the search after daybreak.

The Kruss reported by radio to the Greenland Department in Denmark that she had spotted a plank drifting in the water. But she said ice and the waves prevented her from picking it up so there was no way of telling whether it was from the Hans Hedtoft.

PERIL OF ICE

The scene is about 40 miles off Cape Farewell, the southern tip of Denmark's Greenland. It is a stretch of sea made perilous by bergs and floes that break away from Greenland's glaciers.

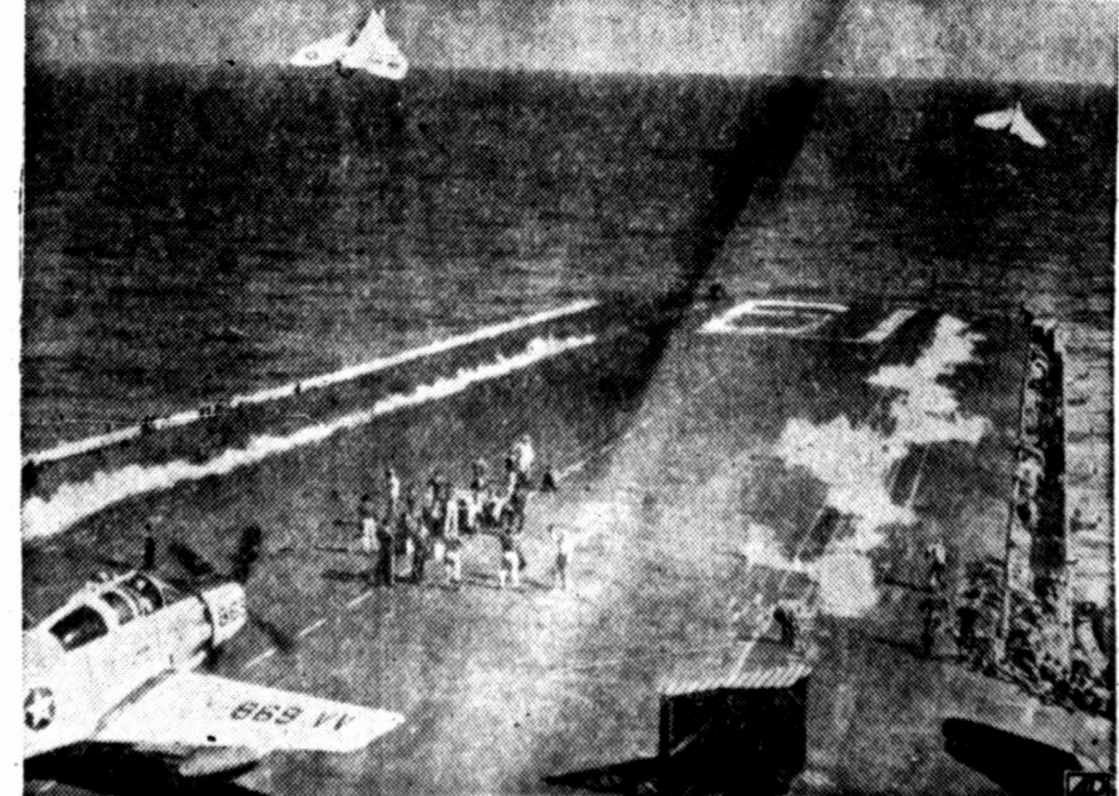

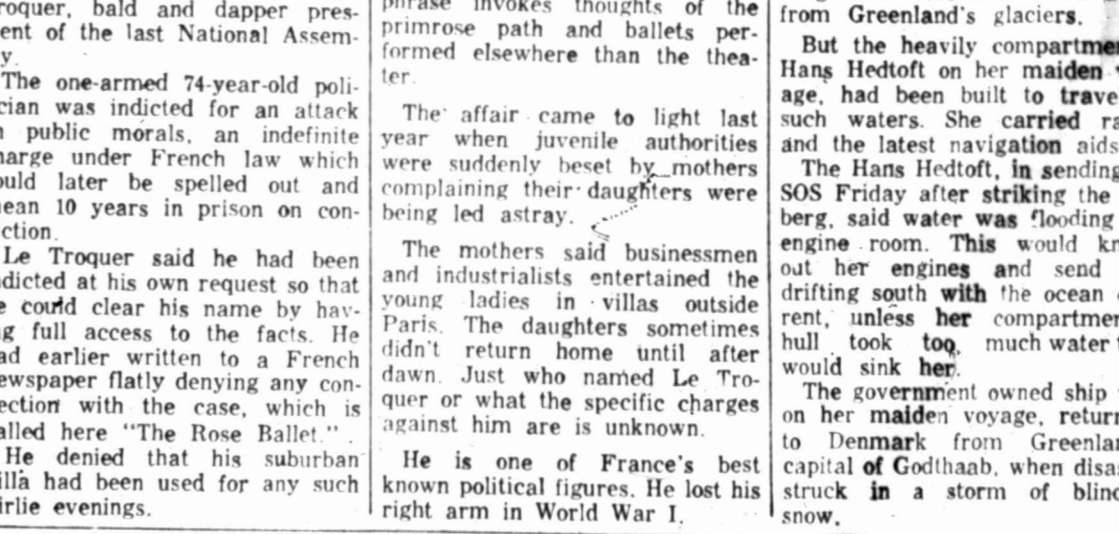

But the heavily compartmented Hans Hedtoft on her maiden voyage, had been built to travel in such waters. She carried radar and the latest navigation aids.

The Hans Hedtoft, in sending an SOS Friday after striking the iceberg, said water was flooding the engine room. This would knock out her engines and send her drifting south with the ocean current, unless her compartmented hull took too much water that would sink her.

The government-owned ship was on her maiden voyage, returning to Denmark from Greenland's capital of Godthaab, when disaster struck in a storm of blinding snow.

Double-Barreled Takeoff

An artist's conception of the Astronautical Sciences Review depicts a telescope satellite transmitting television pictures of the sky, as viewed beyond the "blindfold of the atmosphere," to ground stations on the East and West coasts. 'Snowman' Search All Ready To Go

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Launching of the 1959 Slick-Johnson expedition seeking the "abominable snowman" in Nepal was announced Saturday by Tom Slick, Slick and F. K. Johnson, Fort Worth oilman, are co-sponsoring the expedition.

They also are sponsoring an expedition in Sumatra, headed by trapper Peter Rhyner, for a similar creature, one of whose numerous native designations is "orang pendek," or "little man."

Both expeditions are in the field, Slick said. Peter Byrne, Irish newsman, is acting head of the Nepal operation.

Slick said the expedition is co-operating with the Russians, who reportedly have three such searches under way in three areas in addition to one in Nepal.

He was in Russia last September, exchanging information with the Russian scientists, Slick reported.

"Some of them think the Yeti may be a neanderthal man," he said.

The Yeti comes in three sizes, the searchers think—the large about eight feet tall, one about five, and another four feet.

The orange pendek in Indonesia is believed by Rhyner to be of the middle size, Slick said.

"Interest and information are spreading," Slick said. "We have had good reports also from Africa, South America, British Columbia, and now Africa."

"The thinking now is that the Yeti or creature of that type is not confined to mountainous areas, but may live in any inaccessible place not bothered by homo sapiens. The Russians think it may be found in the desert also."

The Russians are equipped with special traps, Slick said. The Slick-Johnson enterprise uses traps made in San Antonio by Roger Allen Cook. It uses also paralyzing "capture guns."

Daniel Talks Tough On Tax Legislation

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel, in the toughest-talking, fight-iest mood of his administration, is ready to carry the issue of no general sales tax directly to the citizens of Texas.

Daniel, who has always spoken softly except when the Texas tidelands were concerned, served plain-language notice last week that he won't give an inch in his opposition to a general sales tax.

Daniel underlined his tax and budget-balancing plans—including one levy on natural gas and another on business franchises—for the second time at a news conference. Ten days ago he slapped back hard at a spokesman for the natural gas industry who assailed his plan to put a new tax on gas.

Daniel earlier in his political career was a member of a band of 56 House members who battled and beat Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel on a sales tax plan. Then he carried on a hard-hitting fight in defense of Texas tidelands, both as state attorney general and as U. S. senator. He left the Senate only after he considered the tidelands fight won, to run for governor.

Now he says he isn't making any political announcements, but he hinted strongly that he would go after a third term as governor if necessary on the sales tax issue.

The chief target of the governor's fighting remarks was Rep. Frates Selligson of San Antonio, who plans to introduce a sales tax bill, and who has criticized Daniel's fiscal program as misleading.

Mikoyan Pleased With U.S. Reaction

MOSCOW (AP)—Dep. Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said Saturday he deduced from his visit to the United States that American leaders "are disposed to follow a policy of peaceful co-existence."

Mikoyan spoke to the 21st Congress of the Soviet Communist party. Describing his talks with leaders in the United States, Mikoyan said: "I no longer heard the former statements about the policy of containment, of trusting back and so on."

Librarian Protests Houston Censorship

HOUSTON (AP)—Mayor Lewis Cutrer's proposed voluntary movie and book censorship for teen-agers drew a letter of protest yesterday from the library director of the University of Houston. "Where are we to draw the line between horror fiction and horror fact," library director Howard F. McGavasker asked. "Are the newspapers to be censored?"

Groundhog Comes Up Monday To See If Winter Has Run Its Course

By SAM BLACKBURN

"If Candlemas is fair and clear
There'll be two winters in the year."
This ancient Scottish couplet ties in closely with the traditional belief in what is called Groundhog Day.

Feb. 2—Monday—is Groundhog Day.

It is also Candlemas. Likewise February day—the date on which pagans Rome paid honor to the goddess of the second month.

In America, the woodchuck (groundhog) has been the accepted weather prognosticator of the credulous for generations. According to this school of thought the groundhog is a very smart beastie—meteorologically speaking. He wisely hibernates the winter through and does not emerge until spring has arrived.

The legend has it that on each Feb. 2, Mr. Groundhog rouses himself from deep slumber in the cozy warmth of his underground home. Doubtless, he yawns and stretches a bit. When awakened enough to do so, he pushes aside the barrier which has blocked his bedroom from the winter cold and gingerly creeps out into the early morning.

He does this, according to his adherents, precisely as the sun comes up on Feb. 2.

When he has reached the outside he cautiously looks about, paying special attention to whether his shadow is etched on the barren winter ground.

If he sees that black replica of his ungainly self, he shudders and, turning in his tracks, scurries back inside his burrow. There he pulls the draperies of his couch about him and drops off to sleep anew.

His second nap will, his followers claim, prevail for six weeks. They say that he knows, because he saw his shadow, there will be a month and a half more of bad, cold, unsavory weather and that spring will not take over until these days have passed.

On the other hand, if Feb. 2 dawns overcast and dreary, and Mr. G., when he comes forth, cannot see his shadow, he sets about his early spring chores. He knows, it is claimed, that winter has done its worst and that spring is at hand.

The day, as indicated, is an ancient holiday.

From the pagans, the early fathers of the Church adopted many holidays, modifying them to fit new philosophy. Feb. 2, already firmly fixed in the minds of the people because of its long association with the feast in honor of February, the founders transformed into Candlemas.

Candlemas, in a religious sense, is the feast of the purification of the Virgin Mary. It is observed in the Catholic churches with a procession in which there are many lighted candles carried by consecrated persons. The candles symbolize the words of Simeon, spoken of the Infant Christ:

"A light to lighten the Gentiles."

The candles themselves are an inheritance from the Pagans' celebration—Romans burned tapers in honor of their goddess of February.

In Canada, the same weather custom is observed only the Canadian depend on the bear instead of the groundhog for their long range weather prognostication. In Germany, the day has been observed for centuries. In Germany, it is the badger who possesses the ability to foresee the end of winter.

In West Texas, where there never was a woodchuck and where bears are only to be found in the artificial atmosphere of zoos, perhaps the German version should be adopted.

According to old timers, there are a few badgers native to this area.

Anyway, sound or foolish, tomorrow is Groundhog Day and tomorrow, undoubtedly, you will hear many many folk solemnly assert, if it turns out sunshiny and bright at dawn, "Well, we are in for more winter." If cloudy and dull, "Well spring is here."

Symington Scores Failure To Keep Bombers Airborne

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) says the failure to keep American bombers in the air at all times soon will give Russia the power to wipe out the entire U. S. defense.

His estimate came after the Pentagon said it has decided against keeping Strategic Air Command bombers on airborne alert. In addition, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy testified the Russians probably will have more intercontinental ballistic missiles in the next two years.

Coupling the two statements, Symington announced this reasoning:

1. If the Soviets have a significant superiority in ICBMs two to three years from now, they could destroy our missile force in a few moments.

2. If U. S. bombers are not in the air at that time, they too would be destroyed.

"The Russians two to three years hence could wipe out our entire manned and unmanned retaliatory force at that time," Symington concluded.

McElroy told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that an airborne alert is not considered necessary at this time. At the Pentagon Friday a spokesman amplified this by saying McElroy probably meant that Soviet ICBMs are not at present a direct threat.

The spokesman said the decision against airborne alert was reached by McElroy, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Air Force.

Ike Aide Resigns Foreign Aid Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of J. H. Smith Jr., as director of the International Cooperation Administration.

In an exchange of letters, made public by the White House, Smith gave no reason for resigning except to say that it was understood his services in the foreign aid agency would not be required beyond the end of 1958.

Smith, of Aspen, Colo., has been mentioned in recent speculation as a possible successor to Thomas S. Gates as secretary of the Navy. Gates' resignation has been reported to be expected.

Forger Of Aid Checks Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Social Security Administration is seeking a forger who has been cashing the aid checks for a former recipient who died 15 years ago. The checks totaled $7,800.

How did they discover the fraud after all this time?

The forger neglected to pick up this month's check, which was returned with the notation "Unknown at this address."

The resultant search led to discovery of the fraud.

Texas Baptists Push Hard On Mission Work

DALLAS (AP)—What is a church mission?

To the Texas Baptists, now in a vigorous attempt to keep up with the state's exploding population, it means many things.

It is a downtown place in Fort Worth where skid row winos stumble each night for a square meal, a place to sleep and a New Testament.

Or a minister preaching on a street corner or in a jail.

Or it is a half million dollar structure in Houston and quarter of a million dollar edifices in Lubbock and Amarillo.

The Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, and Amarillo missions are a small part of what state Baptist headquarters spokesmen here call the "most extensive church expansion program ever undertaken in Texas by any church group."

The program calls for the establishment of 1,200 new churches and 2,400 new missions by 1964, a staggering total of 14 new churches or missions each week.

NOT ENOUGH?

Dr. Arthur Rutledge, state director of the expansion program, is worried that even this will not be sufficient.

He has figures indicating Texas will have 1,300,000 additional population by 1954 added to its present estimated nine million.

And already, says Dr. Rutledge, "three and a half million Texans are not affiliated with any religious faith."

The missions, as defined by the Baptists, can include many things. It can be a street corner service—provided they are held regularly. Or it can be regular, permanent services in jails, hospitals, homes for the elderly, and many other places.

The Fort Worth mission is one type. About 30 down-and-out characters receive care each night in the new mission. Their principal benefactor is Fort Worth oilman William Fleming, who recently gave $50,000 to the Tarrant Baptist Assn. for expansion. The mission is sponsored by the Connell Baptist Church of Fort Worth and staffed mainly by Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary students.

IN EVERY TOWN

"By 1964," says Dr. Rutledge, "nearly every growing community in the state will have a new Baptist mission or church."

His estimate of what the program will accomplish:

The new churches will record more than 20,000 baptisms a year within five years after the campaign ends. New church members will contribute more than 11 million dollars annually, of which more than a million will go to missions. Sunday schools will add 200,000 members.

Texas Baptists will have invested 54 million dollars in new buildings by 1964, said a denominational church building expert. Average cost for a first-unit church is $45,000.

"Some new missions, however, cost as much as a half million dollars," says J. W. Caldwell, church building consultant for Texas Baptists.

A new Willow Meadows Chapel in Houston, sponsored by the South Main Baptist Church, will cost about that much. Two other missions in Lubbock and Amarillo are being built at a cost of about $250,000 each," said Caldwell.

30,000 CHURCHES

The Texas campaign is part of the Southern Baptist program for 30,000 new churches by 1964.

The 1964 goal was selected because it marks the 150th anniversary of organized Baptist work on the continent.

To locate areas where new churches and missions are needed, nearly every community and hamlet in the state will be surveyed, Baptist leaders say.

The 30,000 movement is the brainchild of Dr. C. C. Warren, former president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He issued the challenge for 30,000 new churches at the 1956 Southern Baptist Convention meeting in Kansas City. He was named chairman and now directs the entire convention effort from offices in Richmond, Va.

MEN IN SERVICE

Army Specialist Four Aubra G. Reese, whose wife, Rovella, lives at Honda, recently assisted in providing transportation support for the 50th Infantry during its field training exercises in Germany.

Specialist Reese, son of Mrs. Ruby O. Reese, Big Spring, is a truck driver in the 18th Company of the 8th Infantry Division's 20th Transportation Battalion in Gonsenheim. He entered the Army in December 1954 and arrived in Europe last October from an assignment at Fort Carson, Colo.

The 21-year-old soldier attended Medina High School and was formerly employed at the JJ Ranch in Tarpley.

Peter Minit Made A Real Killing

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City is worth about one billion times the $24 Peter Minit paid for Manhattan some 333 years ago.

William E. Boyland, president of the City Tax Commission, said Friday the assessed value of the city's real property has been placed at $23,796,981,227.

Death

Howard B. Stickney, 20-year-old former state Highway Department technician, remains unmoved as he bears a jury sentence him to death at Houston. Stickney was charged with slaying Mrs. Shirley Barnes and her husband Clifford last May. He was arrested in Canada where he fled after the slayings.

Lubbock Club Members Pass School Exam

LUBBOCK (AP)—Look, kids, your old man isn't so dumb. A teacher dropped 30 questions in front of Lubbock Exchange Club members the other day. The 31 present at the service organization meeting all passed the examination.

The questions were designed for 7th, 8th and 9th graders. The passing grades proved that the members still retain much of their book learning.

The questions were not the easy ones. They were written for teenagers not too far from college who had studied the subjects intensely before the tests.

It had been a long time since the Exchange Club members had undergone any formal studying.

The questions were on spelling, social studies, science, mathematics, word meaning and language.

Mrs. Marlin Hayhurst, a substitute teacher in the Lubbock system, gave the exam. The "students" received only 25 minutes in which to answer.

Out of a possible 930 errors, only 90 were committed. That's better than a 90 per cent average.

The breakdown on errors: 15 spelling, 25 social studies, 15 science, 23 mathematics, 8 word meaning and 4 language.

The members didn't sign the answers. Instead, they gave their occupations.

The one perfect paper was from an accountant. Six missed only one question. One member missed 7 out of 31, still a passing grade by many standards.

The hardest question, missed by 14, was this: "If the radius of a circle is doubled, the circumference will be increased by how many times—2, 3, 1-7/8, 4, or 6 2-7/8? The answer is 2."

"Twelve stumbled over this query: 'The shortest water route from the U.S. to Europe would be the Indian Ocean, Atlantic, Pacific or Arctic? Almost all who missed it said the Arctic. The correct answer is Atlantic.'

Nine missed the spelling of familiar. "Two men approved this sentence: 'Mother didn't give the baby no pie.'"

Leading one person to observe: "It's fortunate their names were not on the answers so there don't nobody know who they weren't."

Quakes Hit Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A series of sharp earthquakes rocked eastern Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island, Saturday. No casualties were reported.

Old Fort Duncan Has Varied History

EAGLE PASS (AP)—One hundred and three years ago, old Ft. Duncan was founded by the Army at the present site of Eagle Pass to protect lives and property along the Texas frontier from Indians. Today many of the buildings still stand, reminders of the long and colorful history of the area, which included the Goat War of San Jose.

The fort had its beginning soon after the Civil War when a company of soldiers established Camp Duncan in 1849.

Here, on the banks of the Rio Grande an Army post eventually was built, with substantial buildings. They stood about halfway between old Camp Eagle Pass and Camp California, which got its name because it was the jumping-off place for many adventurers on their way to the gold fields of the west.

In the beginning, Ft. Duncan was almost the entire town, even though the pass was an important station on the great trade route, El Camino Real, which ran from Chihuahua and Durango north to San Antonio, and then east, to Natchitoches, La.

FEW CITIZENS

In those days Eagle Pass had 300 inhabitants, including soldiers. Piedras Negras, Black Stone, because of its coal outcrops had been founded three years later, but was already twice as big. It had 600 citizens.

Robert E. Lee described the area after he traveled east from Ft. Inge, near the site of Uvalde, in 1836. It was "a wretched country, no trees or grass, cactus; thorny acacia were the only growth."

The southern anchor of a string of frontier posts that extended north to Ft. Worth, Ft. Duncan was the visible evidence of civilization in that part of Texas. It had a fine band that played on the parade ground in the evenings, while fashionably dressed officers' wives added a homelike touch.

Buildings were of stone and adobe, and consisted of barracks, stables, officers' and non-commissioned officers' quarters, a magazine, hospital, and guard house. Old Army records show that the average number of occupants in the latter was 17.

TO CONFEDERACY

During the Civil War, Confederate troops garrisoned Ft. Duncan, protecting an extremely active cotton trade, which helped finance the Confederacy.

Here, too, after Lee's surrender, occurred one of the saddest episodes of the war. Gen. Joseph O. Shelby, with 500 veterans of the Missouri cavalry, crossed the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass, and, on the morning of July 4, 1865, the war-torn troops gathered around their battle flag, the last unsundered standard of the South.

Four colonels of the regiment sorrowfully weighed it, then lowered it into the river, while Shelby tore the plume from his hat, casting it into the swirling waters.

The spot where this took place has long been known as the grave of the Confederacy.

Federal troops re-garrisoned the place in 1868, but 12 years later only a small detachment occupied the post to take care of the buildings. However, with mobilization of the National Guard to chase Villa in 1916, troops were again assigned to Ft. Duncan, and it was there they fought the Goat War of San Jose.

OVER THE RIVER

Livestock thieves from the Mexican side of the river had been running off cattle and goats from the Indian Ranch, 18 miles above Eagle Pass.

After one of their forays, A. H. Allen, ranch manager, called Capt. Cunningham of the Texas Rangers and reported the loss of another 160 goats.

Seven hours later, Cunningham, a few other Rangers, three troops of Cavalry and a machine gun were at the Indian, and took the trail of the raiders. It led straight to the village of San Jose, about a mile from the Mexican side of the river.

There they found the lost Indian stock, some of it already butchered. Nearby were a man and woman whom Cunningham halted. However the woman fled, screaming, setting off a fusillade of fire from the rustlers concealed in the brush.

As the Americans opened fire, the bandits retreated, and some of them took refuge in an adobe hut in the village, from which the machine gun dislodged them. So, except for burials, recriminations, and diplomatic correspondence, the war was over. The great Mexican invasion lasted only three hours, but it ended the Goat War of San Jose, and ended the military story of Ft. Duncan.

Scott & White Medic Dispels Glaucoma Fear

TEMPLE (AP)—Glaucoma is a big word that scares many persons, but it does not mean future blindness and most of its victims can retain their sight as long as they live.

That's the message of the first U. S. book on glaucoma written for the lay public. Author of "So You Have Glaucoma" is Dr. Everett Veirs, chief of the section of ophthalmology at Scott and White Memorial Hospital here.

Publishers are Grune and Stratton of New York.

Dr. Veirs stresses in simple words that glaucoma—a complex disease of the eye always characterized by increased pressure within the eyeball—can be and is successfully treated if patients follow the advice of their physicians and ophthalmologists, though few complete "cures" are ever claimed. But near-normal vision can usually be maintained, he states.

The book offers a basic list of "Do's" and "Don'ts" for glaucoma sufferers.

Royalties from sale of the book will help in a small way toward financing Scott and White's new $10,000,000 physical plant, since all royalties earned by Scott and White physicians are contributed by them to the institution.

Former Circus Worker Drops Weight Load

CORPUS CHRISTI — Need to lose about 12 inches around the waist? E. R. Chalmers did, but his method of dropping from 556 pounds to 477 and to a 74-inch waist is not recommended for many. "I've been sick and off my feed for the past few years," he said. Chalmers was known as Freddie the Clown when he was with the circus. Now he is a boarder at the Good Samaritan Rescue Mission. In the old days, as Freddie recounts, a breakfast consisted of five dozen eggs. A dinner included five barbecued chickens, 3 1/2 dozen hot buns, a pound of butter, three pounds of salad and two gallons of milk.

Dieting Gets Results

E. R. Chalmers, who has managed to reduce his weight from 556 to 477 pounds, demonstrates how dieting has trimmed his waistline. He used to be 86 inches around his tummy, now he measures only 74 inches. Chalmers credits the fare at Good Samaritan Rescue Mission in Corpus Christi, where he is now living, with helping him to slendelize his figure. He used to be in a circus, billed as the world's fattest clown.

Garden City To Hold Horse, Stock Show

GARDEN CITY (SC) — The annual Glasscock County Junior Livestock Show combined this year with a big horse show, will be staged here Monday. Activities will get under way at 8 a.m. with judging in the swine division of the junior show. The horse show will start about 9 a.m. said Oliver West, Glasscock County agricultural agent. The American Quarterhorse Assn. has sanctioned the quarterhorse division of the show, which will see competition in 19 different classes. More than 100 horses are expected, West said. In addition, there will be a division limited to Glasscock County horses. Judging in the halter class of the horse show will be held during the morning, at the same time entries in the junior livestock show are being judged. The performance classes will be judged during the afternoon, starting immediately after the sale of the junior animals. A highlight of the big show will be the free barbecue dinner to be served at noon. The auction, at which 33 lambs, 14 pigs and four capons will be sold, is to start at 1 p.m. Clemon Montgomery, area FFA supervisor from Big Spring, will judge the 25 entries in the swine show. The pigs will be divided into three classes — lightweight and heavyweight barrows, and gilts. Judge of the lamb show will be Herman Carter of San Angelo.

Cop, Thug Die In Gun Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Two patrolmen, attracted by bottles falling from a second-floor window, walked into an armed holdup of a card game today. A gun battle broke out. One policeman and one of three holdup men were killed. The two other bandits escaped. Patrolman Michael Talkowsky, 23, was mortally wounded as he charged up the stairway of a four-story tenement on the upper East Side. Before he collapsed, Talkowsky fired five bullets from his service revolver. His partner, Patrolman Richard Melita, emptied his gun. Handkerchiefs, had opened fire when they spotted the policemen. One of them, tentatively identified as Francisco Cruz, about 25, of Manhattan, fell dead under the policemen's counterfire. The bandits had held up seven men playing cards in a room in the tenement. The bottles were tossed by Sylvia Spero, 40, the wife of one of the card players, Melita said. She had been ordered into another room during the holdup because she was pregnant, and while unobserved, she decided to signal for help.

Modern Cairo Builds Among Relics Of Its Former Glories

By WILTON WYNN
CAIRO (AP) — Monuments to death line the desert horizon east and west of Cairo. But the fabulous city in between is teeming with life. On the edge of the western desert plateau—toward the setting sun—you see the Pyramids, grandiose tombs of ancient Egypt's Pharaohs. To the east is a vast Moslem cemetery, the "City of the Dead," but this is a lively place. Alongside the tombs are small apartments where people dwell. Some families have houses atop the vaults of their departed members. Egyptians like to pay homage to their dead, and many make it a habit to spend weekends or religious holidays among the tombs. Driving down into Cairo you are overwhelmed with bustling life. You enter a medieval Arab city with its forest of minarets, its narrow flagstoned streets, its camel caravans, and its bazaars—scenes right out of the Arabian Nights. You reach the 20th century farther over on the banks of the Nile. The oldest inhabitants of Cairo are beings you can't see—the jinn. Sophisticated Westerners may doubt their existence, but to millions of Cairenes they are all too real. The legend persists in old Cairo that the jinn populated the earth before Adam and built the Pyramids and Sphinx. There can be good jinn—like the one which appeared when Aladdin rubbed his magic lamp—or bad jinn. There are Moslem, Christian, and pagan jinn. They marry among themselves, and in a mud-brick village outside Cairo lives a bewitched community of persons believed to be the offspring of marriages between the jinn and human beings. In the southern part of Cairo there exists a Christian world almost exactly like that which Moslem invaders found when they arrived in the 7th century. Almost every person you meet in the dark alleys wears blue tattooed crosses on forehead or wrists. These tattoos indicate the bearers are "Copts," or Egyptian Christians, who claim direct descent from the Pharaohs. Rising out of the Coptic slums are domes and crosses marking some of the world's oldest churches. One of them, the "Hanging Church," is built on the ruins of the dungeon-like Roman fortress of Babylon, now far beneath the surface of the street and infested with thousands of screaming bats. A black-bearded Coptic priest will take you underground to a tiny, crude chapel which Copts believe is the oldest church in the world. It was here, he says, that the Holy Family hid during the flight into Egypt. To the north and east sprawls the old city built by the Moslem invaders of the 7th century and later. The skyline of minarets marks some of the finest Moslem architecture in the world—the mosques of Ibn Tulun and Sultan Hassan, and the mausoleum of Kait Bey where a footprint of the prophet Mohamed is preserved in granite. Deep inside this old city is a thousand-year-old university which claims to be the intellectual heart of Islam. It is Al Azhar, where Moslem students come from Indonesia, Chinese, Turkish, Nigeria, and all parts of the Moslem world. Modern Cairo, built along the Nile, is a 20th century city. Its main streets are lined with modern department stores, European restaurants, and cinemas showing films from all over the world—including Hollywood.

City, School Votes To Be Held In April

Big Springers who paid their poll tax can look for only two local elections this spring instead of the three last year. There will be no HCJC board elections in April this year. Voters will be able to cast ballots for places on the Big Spring School Board and City Commission the first Saturday and Tuesday of April, respectively. This year, the school election will be held April 4 and the city vote on April 7. The six junior college board members have six-year terms, and two are elected each "even" year. Three members of the school board are up for election this spring and two from the City Commission. The terms of Tom Guin, Robert Stripling, and Clyde Angel expire in March on the school board, while Ward Hall and G. W. Dabney's commission terms expire.

Cigarette Poison Label Bill Killed

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—South Dakota's House of Representatives today killed without debate a bill which would have put a skull and crossbones emblem on cigarette packages sold in the state. The House adopted a committee report which recommended against passage of the bill. It cleared the Senate by an 18-6 vote four days ago after a debate in which one opponent said South Dakota was making itself vulnerable to reprisals from other states. Tobacco-growing Southern states have hinted retaliation against South Dakota products because of the measure.

Negro Girl Slain

LONGVIEW (AP)—Joyce Goff, 10, a Negro, was found strangled to death Saturday in a thicket across from her home. Officers said she had been raped. A wire coat hanger was found around the girl's neck. She had been missing since late Friday. Persons seeking election to the school board should contact John Dibrell, secretary of the board, while the city secretary, C. R. McClenny, handles filings for the commission ballot.

Surprise Alert For Guard Set

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas National Guard 36th Division said Saturday a surprise statewide alert will be held the last two weeks in February. "Operation Awake" will involve every member of the 9,000-man division, Maj. Gen. Carl L. Phinney, commander, said. No time for the alert has been set. "We want to show the people of Texas how quickly and efficiently we can assemble to assist civil authorities in case of emergency," Phinney said. The alert, he said, is to test the units' mobility. The division's 120 separate units in 70 cities will be alerted. Cities from El Paso to Port Arthur and from Amarillo to Alice will take part.

New Car Licenses Available Monday

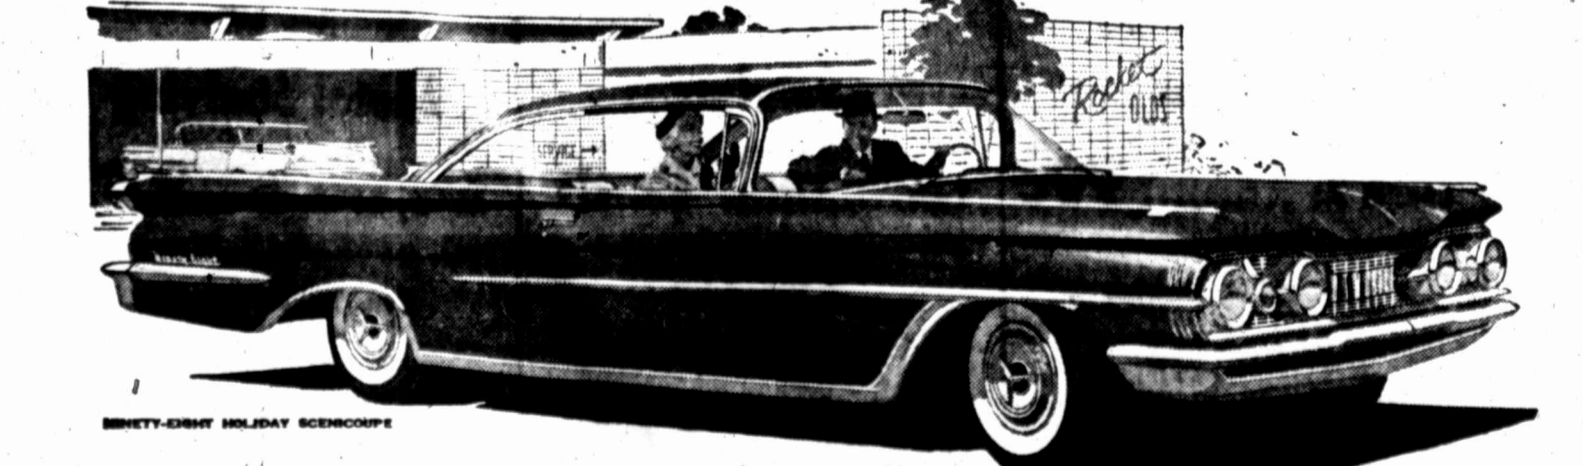

Effective Monday, no motorcar can consider itself well dressed unless its owner has replaced the dingy and dented old license plate it now wears with a brand new shiny 1959 model. The deputies in the office of the county tax assessor, digging out from under the rubbish left in the wake of the poll tax sales rush, will turn attention to issuance of new car tags on Monday. The new plates have been on hand for over a week but they could not be sold until Feb. 1. They can be purchased, without penalty, from Feb. 1 through April 1.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THE SCIENTISTS by Eleazar Lipsky. Published by Appleton-Century-Crofts. Book-of-the-month selection.

Sometime ago I picked up a paper bound reprint of a book titled "The People Against O'Hara." It was by a writer named Eleazar Lipsky—a name new to me. I liked the book very much and I was deeply interested in the first-hand knowledge that the author had of courts and criminal procedure.

I am informed that the current Book-of-the-Month selection is by this same writer and the title is "The Scientists."

If Lipsky pursues the same detailed and accurate style in dealing with scientists he used in dealing with criminal courts and lawyers in "O'Hara," I think the book will be most informative and entertaining.

Lipsky was legal counsel for the Mystery Writers of America with only a casual interest in writing himself when a friend showed a rough version of a Lipsky story to Darryl Zanuck, the Hollywood producer. Mr. Zanuck was at once intrigued with the plot, which dealt with a stool pigeon and the search for moral truth, and offered to buy it the next day. As "The Kiss of Death," Zanuck's picture made an overnight star of Richard Widmark. Lipsky found himself nominated for an Oscar for having written the best original screen story of 1947.

Lipsky was then in his mid-30s—oldish for a fledgling author. But authorship was not a completely unanticipated development in his career. His father, Louis Lipsky, one of the founders of the Zionist movement in America, was dramatist and essayist of distinction, and young Lipsky grew up in a home where Shakespeare was taken for granted, along with Zionism. After graduating from Columbia Law School, he spent two years as editor of The New Palestine, a journal dealing with legal, economic and social problems of the Near East. He then joined the office of New York City's district attorney, serving as assistant DA in the homicide bureau under Frank Hogan.

Lipsky remained there for four years, and it was while in homicide that he became interested in putting down on paper the human drama of the law, as he saw it daily.

"I sat with men who had murdered in the heat of passion as they were still explaining spontaneously the tremendous emotional forces that drove them to an act so contrary to their natures," he says. His experiences with homicide are reflected not only in "The Kiss of Death," but in his second book, "The People Against O'Hara," which was also made in a movie, starring Spencer Tracy. Lincoln McKeever, his third novel, published in 1953, was a Literary Guild Selection.

"The Scientists," a powerful novel about the kind of men who more than any other are determining our destinies, and about the moral problems which confront not only all scientists, but all men, had its genesis, strangely enough, in a matrimonial lawsuit Lipsky tried, in which the husband and wife almost destroyed each other. Gradually it evolved into its present theme—the shattering effect upon a young biologist when his integrity is attacked by an older scientist.

David Luzzatto, the protagonist of "The Scientists," has just begun to enjoy the fame and prestige resulting from his discovery of biocin, a drug of enormous benefit to mankind, when his former chief, Victor Ullman, accuses him of stealing the idea which led to its development.

David is faced with the loss of his professorship and the ruin of his reputation. Even if he can prove his innocence, the accusation has been made, creating an intricate net of distrust and suspicion which permanently affects not only David himself, but all with whom he is in contact, both in his work and in his private life.

Smallest Aggie Has Complicated Name

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Just about the tiniest Texas Aggie of them all, at the moment at least, is Deepankar Mukerji, an improbable name for a Texan. Deepankar is a little more than two months old. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ambul Mukerji. The father is visiting professor of physics at Texas A&M. The parents have been here about three and a half years, but expect to return to Calcutta, India, in July.

Although born in Texas, young Deepankar was named in the tradition of his family. His name stands for source of light. Mama and papa also have names with meanings. Mrs. Mukerji's name, Snigdha, means soothing. The father's name means lotus.

It's possible the infant will return to A&M to attend college. His father went outside India for part of his schooling, attending the University at Zurich in Switzerland. The mother went to a women's college in Calcutta.

The Mukerjis are Hindus and have a small room in their home for worship, as do most of the better homes in India.

Although a resident of the United States for about three and a half years, Mrs. Mukerji still wears her attention getting native dress. She has grown native American, that is — in some respects but not in all.

She has a few Western dresses, but still prefers the sari, a frock of yards and yards of silk which she wraps around herself in graceful, flowing fashion. Underneath the sari she wears a blouse and petticoat.

Mrs. Mukerji has concluded that Western dresses are more practical, since she must do her own housework here. In India, she said, she has servants to do the work. And not until she came to Texas A&M did she learn how to do her housework.

She and her husband also have made some changes in their eating habits.

Mrs. Mukerji never learned to cook in India and was accustomed to the predominant Indian dish of rice and curry with vegetables. Here she has also learned to prepare that standby of Americans—the hamburger.

School Board To Meet Week Early

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will meet a week early this month.

The session will be held Tuesday evening. The regular meeting date is the second Tuesday of each month. However, Supl. Floyd Parsons must be in Washington the week of Feb. 8 for a meeting of the board of directors of the National Education Assn. Parsons is a member of the NEA board.

Terrell Rites Set For Today

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today for Ralph H. (Shorty) Terrell, 65, who died in a hospital Friday evening.

Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, will officiate. The rites will be held in Nalley-Pickle Chapel. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Terrell was born Jan. 22, 1893, in Bellevue, Ky. He enlisted in the military service at Naco, Ariz., during World War I and served as an ambulance driver at Base Hospital 108 and Base Hospital 97 in France.

He and Maurine Wade were married in Big Spring in April, 1944. They returned here last July from Los Angeles where they had made their home.

Mr. Terrell is survived by his wife and one daughter, Andrea Terrell, of Big Spring; one brother, Wesley G. Terrell, of Bellevue, Ky.; and two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Weiglein of Cincinnati and Grace Terrell of Bellevue.

Members of the American Legion will serve as pallbearers.

Titan Static Test Highly Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force has conducted a highly successful static engine test with the powerful Titan ICBM, paving the way for a launching in the near future.

Heart Specialist Will Be Speaker At Doctors' Meet

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, Houston specialist whose work in heart surgery has gained wide renown, will be guest speaker Friday at a meeting in Midland sponsored by the Permian Basin Heart Assn.

All Big Spring doctors have been invited to attend. The meeting is to be in the Humble Building at 8 p.m. Arrangements have been made for emergency calls for any member of the audience to be handled on a special phone.

Dr. Cooley, a graduate of the Baylor College of Medicine, has had extremely wide experience in his field and his work has attracted widespread attention and respect from surgeons and doctors.

He is the holder of Hektoen Gold Medal for scientific exhibit at the AMA meeting in San Francisco in 1954. He was one of the 10 outstanding young men of the nation

DR. DENTON A. COOLEY, selected by the Junior Chambers of Commerce in 1955.

DA Says City's Reputation For Crime Is Costly

Dist. Atty. Gil Jones said Big Spring has an undeserved reputation of high incidence of crime. In a talk made before the American Business Club at the Settles Hotel at noon Friday, Jones conceded the fact that crime had been very much in the news in Big Spring but pointed out that the city's ratio of lawlessness, indictments and convictions compare most favorably with the average city of this size in Texas.

Bright Opportunity In News Profession

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—There is a bright opportunity for the willing and able in the newspaper business, Texas Associated Press of Bureau Bill Barnard said Saturday. In a talk before the Oklahoma Delta Chi, Barnard quoted a score of key Texas editors and publishers on what they believe a young man could expect from journalism today.

BIG JANUARY

Building Boom Continues Here

Probably the best January in history — building wise — got the year off to a fast start, indicating that the building boom in Big Spring is not abating. The city building permits showed a month in which $747,801 new construction was started, largest monthly total since $891,000 in new work began last August. It also compares favorably with the $149,000 of January, 1958, and even with the $663,750 of December.

Bristow Backs Bill To Change Laws On Juvenile Delinquents

Obie Bristow, state representative from Howard County, has introduced by Rep. Ben Doyle Sudderth of Comanche, to amend laws dealing with juvenile delinquents. Bristow had announced when he last in Big Spring he would initiate a measure to tighten up the methods of coping with young felons. He said he realizes that Sudderth's measure falls short of completely dealing with the problem but that he believes it will offer an opening wedge which can be effectively used later to further strengthen the law.

Ackerly Lions Push Incorporation Plan

ACKERLY—Ackerly Lions Club is spearheading a move to have its town incorporated. This Dawson County community of 300 persons has been operating for years without a charter. Now the Lions Club feels it is time he citizens get together and collectively functioned as an organized town.

New Facilities For Hardin-Simmons

These are architects' drawings of two new buildings on which Hardin-Simmons University will start construction this spring. At top is the student center and the lower building is a combination chapel-auditorium-classroom unit. To finance the construction, the school has a capital funds campaign under way. So far, slightly less than half of the necessary $15.5 million has been raised.

Why No Hoods In San Angelo Schools? No Time For 'Em

Editor's Note — Looking at the lavish school layout, you might get the idea that youngsters in San Angelo are being pampered. They are, in a way. But it's a kind of hard-headed pampering that won't tolerate idleness or abuse of privileges. Second in a three-part series.

By G. K. HODENFIELD

SAN ANGELO (AP)—There's a no-nonsense approach to education in San Angelo. It's based on the theory and practice that students go to school to learn, not just to have a good time. "We make them work, and we don't stand for any foolishness. If a student can't behave, we kick him out. And before he can get back in, he has to appear before the Board of Education with his parents."

At the same time, Wadzeck expresses his philosophy of education thusly: "We cater to the kids. We want them here."

This may sound like the man is trying to run in two different directions at the same time. He isn't. Wadzeck knows exactly what he wants: The best public school system in the United States. There is ample evidence he may be achieving just that.

Basically, it's a simple idea. You make school an attractive place to spend the day. You outline a course of studies that encourages every student in every grade to do his level best—be he brilliant, average or slow. And you offer the students responsibility, and insist that they accept it.

THE IRON FIST
Washington school, where all of San Angelo's seventh graders have their classes, is a good example of the technique of an iron fist in a velvet glove.

There are no bells and buzzers at Washington, and classes vary in length instead of holding to rigid 45 or 50-minute schedules. There are 10-15 minute breaks both afternoon and morning, when the students can go to a school snack bar for a soft drink or a candy bar. There are no supervised study halls; the students can study before or after the regular school day.

In most public schools this would be an invitation to bedlam. Not here. The students move quietly through the halls between classes. The snack bar breaks are sociable, but not noisy. The off-hour study halls are quiet. The students know they have a good deal, and they know what they have to do to keep it.

If a student is tardy, he loses his break privileges for that day. If he is caught carrying cigarettes, he is suspended for three days; likewise if he is caught with anything that could be used as a weapon—a knife, chain, wrench.

MUST BE DONE
Since he has six hours of academic studies per day, suspension means he has 18 hours of school work to make up when he gets back. And Principal Dave Sands is not so softy; he insists that the work be done.

For more serious offenses, expulsion is automatic. "We make the kids accept responsibility," says Sands. "And the way they accept it shows that too many educators are underestimating the young people of this country."

Central High School, opened last September, is another case in point. Central is the sort of school plant you have to see to believe—an 11-building, campus-type layout that appeals to the eye and stimulates the imagination. Until you look closely, you're tempted to sneer at it as an unnecessary palace for spoiled kids.

Consider the library, for instance. Like all the other buildings, it is completely air conditioned. It has carpeting on the floor, indirect lighting, sofas, easy chairs, coffee tables with vases of flowers, magazine and newspaper racks, a building-long picture window of glareproof glass that overlooks a patio and a view of the tree-lined North Concho River. Reference books and the like are easily available, but they aren't pushed under the students' noses.

CATERING, INDEED
This is, indeed, catering to the kids. "We want the kids to use the library," says Wadzeck. "We want to encourage them to come here whenever they're free. Every student at Central gets a special course in how to use the library. If we can get them here, they'll take advantage of the library, they'll study, they'll learn."

But suppose they come to the library just to sit around in comfort and gossip? "Any abuse of the library means loss of their library privileges," says the superintendent. "More than that, they are sent to supervised study halls for double sessions. And they don't like that. But we have little trouble—these kids know we don't stand for any foolishness."

Last spring 25 seniors tried a little foolishness. Although they had been warned in advance, they painted "Seniors '57" on the high school walls. All 25 were suspended. Twenty-one were allowed to return for their graduation, but could take no part in the ceremonies. The other four were out for good.

"They had the wrong attitude," says Wadzeck. The no-nonsense approach is applied everywhere in the San Angelo schools.

HIRED, FIRED
One day Wadzeck read in the paper that a teacher had been fired by another Texas school system for being too rough on the kids, giving them too much homework, etc. Wadzeck called the teacher on the phone and hired him on the spot. Now he's one of San Angelo's most popular teachers.

There was no problem, either, when the Supreme Court ruled on May 17, 1954, that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. About 10 per cent of San Angelo's students are Negroes, and at the time they were in segregated schools. Two weeks later they showed up for classes as usual, and were reassigned to integrated schools. San Angelo parents heard about it for the first time when they picked up their afternoon newspapers.

"We haven't had a racial incident yet, and we won't," says Wadzeck. "The whole thing went off smooth as glass."

"We cater to the kids." That's San Angelo's answer to a disturbing problem in American education—the drop-out. It has been estimated that 25 per cent of this country's brightest youngsters never finish high school.

NO DROP-OUTS

"With our program there should be virtually no drop-outs," says Robert H. Mayfield, curriculum project director for the San Angelo schools.

"You can't tabulate accidents that don't happen, and you can't tabulate drop-outs who don't drop out. So there's no possible way of counting the kids who stay in school here, but might have quit somewhere else. But we do know this: We have more students in school now during the critical drop-out years than ever before."

"We want them here." You see the results in the new high school. Although it is located near the center of the city, 95 per cent of the students stay on the campus from the time they arrive at school until they go home. At Washington, the seventh graders are kept in school or on the grounds all day long—and there hasn't been a complaint yet.

Central High sounds like a posh place to go to school—and it is. But the things that look like frills are functional. And the cost was $2.50 per square foot cheaper than for a similar size school plant in the traditional style.

EXTRA SAVINGS
For instance, the air conditioning adds $10,000 a year to the utilities bill, but it saves $27,000 a year in janitor costs. And the school can be used comfortably in the hottest summer weather.

The 11 buildings take up more space than would one big building. But any one of these buildings, such as the gym, library or theater can be used outside the normal school day without adding to the operating costs of the rest of the school.

The vast expanses of glare-proof glass might seem to be expensive frills. The over-riding fact was protection of pupils' eyesight through reduction or elimination of glare. Furthermore, it was cheaper that way because of the elimination of ventilation openings and other structural details.

San Angelo was able to provide a gym and a swimming pool for the same cost that would normally go into a gym alone. This was done by putting them below ground level; it's cheaper to dig down than to build up.

Porcelain and plastic are used extensively. Beauty is only part of the reason; it also cuts down on maintenance.

EXPANSION EASY
Another note of practicality: There are no walls or partitions in Central High that bear weight. The buildings can be enlarged at any time with no great trouble or expense.

Classes at Central High are staggered. So are the lunch periods. The result is that the campus resembles that of a small college. Groups of students move from building to building or spend snatches of free time relaxing on the all-weather benches in the patios between buildings.

To carry the college atmosphere a step further, the cafeteria includes a section which is partitioned. We treat them like young booths. Students who don't want the regular hot lunch can go there for a hamburger and a malted. "If they can get it at Sloppy Joe's, they can get it here," says Wadzeck.

"When our kids go on to college, they'll never notice the transition. We treat them like young adults, and they react like young adults. We give them the best education they can absorb, we spoon-feed it to them if we have to. But we have no time for hoodlums, and they know it.

"That's probably why we don't have any hoodlums."

Historical Writing Contest Slated

AUSTIN — A special prize for the best article dealing with some phase of law enforcement in Texas is a feature of this year's Junior Historian writing contest, the Texas State Historical Association announced. April 1 is contest entry deadline for the $50 prize. The Junior Historian writing contest also includes the Leslie Waggoner Memorial Awards, totaling about $350 in books and prize money. The Waggoner

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Feb. 1, 1959 7-A

Awards, which honor the late honorary life president of the Texas State Historical Association, are provided by Karl Hohltzelle of Dallas, through the Hohltzelle Foundation. Junior Historians competing for Waggoner Awards may write on any topic in Texas history, but they are urged to work on subjects related to their communities or local history. The first place award is $100; second place, $50; third place, $30; fourth place, $25.

fifth place, $20; sixth place, $15; and six honorable mentions, $10 each. A good Texas book for each winner's library is part of each award. Young persons under 21 who are not members of Junior Historian chapters may become eligible to compete by becoming members-at-large. Information may be obtained from Texas State Historical Association, University of Texas, Austin 12.

GOES AND GOES AND GOES ON A GALLON!

Biscayne 4-Door Sedan shows the Fisher Body beauty of Chevrolet's lowest priced series for '59.

More miles are back in a gallon of regular-grade gas—up to 10% more—and Chevy's new Hi-Thrift 6 engine puts them there. It also gives you better acceleration and smoother performance in the middle range speeds you drive the most.

6 actually gets up to 10% more miles a gallon. Another thing you'll like about this 135-h.p. 6 is the extra pep it gives you for passing and climbing hills. This is due to higher torque at normal speeds. It's hard to believe anything that looks and moves like this '59 Chevy can be such a stickler for economy. But—whether you pick the Hi-Thrift 6 or a vim-packed V8—you'll find the ability to get more miles out of a gallon of regular gas is just one more reason Chevy's the car that's wanted for all its worth. Stop by your dealer's and see.

The smart switch is to the '59 Chevy!

Firemen's Toy Repairs Valued At $35,000

Plenty of toys were repaired at a small cost last Christmas by city firemen.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said an inventory has been made of the work done by firemen at Christmas, and estimated store value of the toys repaired and given away ran to $35,000. Crocker said this was a conservative estimate made by downtown businessmen.

And the work cost only $909.09 in parts and paint, Crocker said.

The inventory showed the Salvation Army gave away 140 bicycles, 210 tricycles, 400 dolls, and 50 wagons in addition to other smaller toys. All these toys were repaired by the firemen.

Evanses Attending Rites For Relative

Mr. and Mrs. Dave T. Evans are in Mineral Wells today to attend the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Grace C. Perkins, who died Friday of a heart attack.

Mrs. Perkins' mother, Mrs. J. L. Cunningham, 87, had died only a week ago. Mr. and Mrs. Evans were to be accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Odessa, and Dave Evans Jr., Bridgeport, at Mineral Wells.

State Board Of P-TA To Meet In Austin Wednesday

The board of managers of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold its annual mid-winter session at the state office in Austin Feb. 4 with Mrs. W. D. deGrassi of Amarillo, state president, presiding.

An unusual feature this year will be the visit of the executive committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, which will be holding its annual winter conference in San Antonio. The Texas state board will be hosts at a luncheon for the group at the Austin hotel Tuesday Feb. 3. A short tour for the guests is planned, which will include the capitol, the governor's mansion and the state office.

Floyd Parsons of Big Spring, superintendent of schools, is state citizenship chairman. He has an article in the February Texas Parent-Teacher on "Educating for Citizenship."

Kiwanis Directors Session Is Called

Sherman Smith, president of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, has called a meeting of the board of directors of the club for Monday at 6 p.m. at the Manhattan Cafe.

He asked that all directors make a special effort to attend. Club members who desire to make up attendance can do so by being present at the meeting.

Boy's Arrest Solves Several Burglary Cases

Arrest of a 14-year-old Latin American boy here on request of Floydada officers has led to the solution of six burglaries committed in Big Spring in 1958. Fern Cox, chief deputy sheriff, said Saturday.

The boy, wanted in Floydada for burglarizing a store in which five guns were stolen, was removed to Floyd County Friday afternoon.

In that burglary, which was staged in April 1958, he had two companions, both of whom have now been apprehended. All but one of the five guns stolen have been recovered.

Cox said that he questioned the youth after he had been brought to the county jail and that the boy told him at least six break-ins he had staged during 1958 in Big Spring. All were in business establishments. Some of the places, he told Cox, he raided more than once.

One of the stolen guns from Floydada was recovered here with the arrest of the suspect.

CRMWD Asks Bids On Big Pipe Line Job

Bids are being asked for Feb. 26 by the Colorado River Municipal Water District for an additional supply line from Odessa to the Martin County pump station.

Proposals will be taken for a 30-inch diameter steel cylinder concrete pipe or a 33-inch diameter. An alternate will be a combination of 30-inch and 33-inch dimension lines.

The supply line, which will parallel the present line from the terminal storage to the Martin County station, is designed to give the district greater flexibility in meeting peak demands at Odessa. In seasons of heaviest demand, water from Lake J. B. Thomas could be delivered through one line, while water from the well field could be used to fill the second line.

Proposals will be opened at 10 a.m. on Feb. 26 in Big Spring. Copies of the plans and specifications are available at the district office at 205 Permian Building in Big Spring or at Nichols and Nichols, 407 Danciger Bldg., Fort Worth.

Five Indictments Are Dismissed

Five indictments returned by grand juries in 1957 and 1958 have been ordered dismissed by Charlie Sullivan, district court judge, on motion of Dist. Atty. Gil Jones.

The cases, Jones told the court, are not triable and cannot be effectively brought before the bar.

The cases dismissed included: Jack Bryant, child desertion, filed on Jan. 30, 1957; Steve Harper, burglary, filed Oct. 30, 1957; James Harry Shelton, burglary, filed Nov. 17, 1957; Kenneth Carmichael, statutory rape, filed Aug. 26, 1958; and Clyde Amos Gilreath, car burglary, filed June 24, 1958.

21 Divorce Suits Filed In January

Twenty-one divorce suits were filed during January in the office of Wade Choate, district court clerk. The same month, 23 divorce suits already on file, were disposed of.

Twenty-four civil suits of other types were filed and 17 cleared from the docket. Thirty-two criminal cases were filed and seven either tried without jury or dismissed. There were five adoptions in the court in January and one case involving a neglected and dependent child. The clerk's office assisted in issuance of 13 passports.

Ike Has Breakfast With Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower had breakfast today with key House Republicans. A spokesman reported general determination to hold to the administration's 77-billion-dollar spending budget.

The objective, said Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, is to clear the way for an eventual tax cut.

DEAR ABBY
CALL THE TURN
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A girl who cashiers for my husband came to me and told me that all the gossip that was going around about her and my husband WAS true. I almost died because I hadn't heard any gossip. She said they were in love. I spoke to my husband and he says he LIKES her but doesn't LOVE her. When I see her driving my husband's car around town it is like someone puts a knife through my heart. This whole thing is making me a nervous wreck. My husband says to overlook it because a good cashier is hard to find. What should I do?

HEARTSICK
DEAR HEARTSICK: A good wife is harder to find than a good cashier. Insist that your husband get rid of her. If he gives you an argument, ring up "NO SALE!" There is more than "cash" registering in this deal.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who takes you out and eyes every girl he sees? That is my friend. When we are in a restaurant he looks every girl up and down and up and down and I say to him, "Hon, what are you looking for?" And he says to me, "Hon, what are YOU looking for?" An ARGUMENT? Is there anything I can do about it?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: If a man can't keep his eyes on the girl he's with—the girl would be wise to do a little "looking" herself. For another friend.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had athlete's foot since World War II and it has almost worried me crazy. No matter how much I scrub the tub I am afraid to take a bath after him. Don't tell him to see a doctor because he already has and nothing he gave him has killed it. My neighbor said sun lamp treatments would cure it. A friend of mine suggested maybe it was a vitamin deficiency. I wish you would tell me what I should do.

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: I am no doctor but I know that the only place you will find a cure is in a dermatologist's office. If (after 12 years) your present doctor has not given your husband any relief, try another one.

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed but I need help. I have lived with a man for 27 years and had two daughters by him. One is 26 and the other 24 and they are both married. Now he left me and I am 62 years old and can't get work because of my age. I have no income, except what my children give me. Everyone thinks we are married and I don't want to arrest him because of the scandal. He owns property, has money in the bank and is a respected citizen.

ASHAMED
DEAR ASHAMED: Call your local Legal Aid Society. If this man is a property owner and has any self-respect he doesn't want a scandal either. When a lawyer spells out what his responsibilities are toward you, he will listen carefully and act accordingly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BEAU THE BEATNIK: The opinion you EXPRESSED should have gone by slow freight.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jury Commission For County Court To Meet Monday

Preparations for what is planned as a series of jury trial sessions in county court starting on Feb. 9 will be started Monday morning.

A jury commission will meet to draw the names of 180 citizens to serve as county court jurors and these will serve for the balance of the present court term.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, and County Atty. Wayne Burns have been in conference on plans for the court activities. Initial week's docket will deal with criminal cases. Carpenter also plans a week of civil court trials this month.

The county court will endeavor to arrange its sessions in such a way as to avoid conflict with the 118th District Court. When the higher court is operating, attorneys are usually unable to appear in the county court.

Judge Charlie Sullivan has informed Carpenter he has no jury docket set for the week of Feb. 9. Burns will announce the cases he will propose for trial this week.

West Texas Press Assn. Sets Mid-Winter Meeting Sunday

Members of the West Texas Press Assn., will hear suggestions for improving their product and operations at their mid-winter meeting in Levelland a week from today.

Under the direction of program chairman Jimmy Allison, Midland, newspaper publishers and others will hear about offset printing of newspapers. They also will discuss local news and how to increase its quantity and quality, and how to produce better special editions.

The concluding panel will deal with circulation and methods for extending it.

Speaker for the climactic Sunday dinner will be Bill Rives, sports editor of the Dallas Morning News. Members of the association will take a brief tour of the new South Plains Junior College in Levelland at 2 p.m.

Activities begin at 7 p.m. Saturday in the San Andres Hotel with an informal get-together. Joe Pickle, Big Spring, WTPA president, has called a board of directors meeting for 7:30 a.m. Sunday at the San Andres, and the morning session will start at 8:45 a.m. Mayor Spencer Ellis of Levelland will extend the welcome, and the president will respond. Allison and his aides, Don Kretzinger, Pecos, and Sam Williams, Littlefield, will preside over the program.

Jack Hapenny, circulation manager of the Odessa American, and president of the Texas Circulation Managers Assn., will moderate the circulation panel. On it are Cal Snyder, Denver City; Peeler; James Roberts, Andrews; and Sterling, The Rev. Maple Avery, formerly of Big Spring and now pastor of the First Baptist Church in Levelland, will offer the invocation at the dinner. At the new junior college, Dr. Tom Spencer, president, will be in charge of the tour.

Fat-Tension Link Found By Medics

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Two University of California scientists announced Thursday they had solved a medical mystery concerning heart trouble.

Drs. Richard J. Havel and Alan Goltfrien told the Western Society for Clinical Research that stress causes the body to put more fat into the bloodstream.

If their findings are correct, they bridge a gap in medical thought between those who blame fats and those who place the primary cause for heart disease on stress and nervous tension.

Lodge Meeting

STANTON—The Stanton Oddfellow Lodge 473 held a second degree Thursday night at the IOOF Hall for W. J. Harlow and D. C. Worley. Refreshments were served to seventeen attending from Stanton and five visitors from Big Spring.

MIKE SOUCHAK GRABS LEAD AT SAN DIEGO

By BOB MYERS
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Big Mike Souchak forged into the lead of the $20,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament late Saturday, shooting a 3-under-par 69 in the third round for a total score of 222 and a one-shot lead over his nearest rivals.

The Grossinger, N.Y., pro toured the par 36-36-72 Mission Valley Country Club in 34-35-69. It wasn't the low score of the day but with his first-round 65 and 68 Friday it was good enough to grab the front. Tied at 203 were Dave Ragan, a newcomer from Chattanooga by way of Orlando, Fla., and Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif. Ragan had a 66 and Rosburg a 69. Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., and the leader going into the round, fell back with a 73 and a four-way tie with Bo Winger, 71 Saturday; Billy Casper, 69, and 42-year-old Marty Furgol, whose 64 in a torrid putting performance was the low of the tournament.

The four were tied with 205. Alone at 204 was Joe Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., the ex-Purdue basketball star, who had a 68. Promising a close, slambang finish Sunday, two more were tied at 206. They were Jack Burke Jr., who set forth Saturday with a nine-hole score of 30, only to wind up with a 67, and Bob Duden of Oswego, Ore., with a 70.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., furnished the early thrill when he scored a hole in one on the 189-yard seventh hole. His three-iron shot hit and bounced into the cup on one hop. Wall finished with a 69 for 211. It was Wall's 35th ace—matching his age—and his third in competition.

Furgol's spectacular round was one of his finest. The Lemont, Pa., pro canned three birdie putts from 20 feet out, two from 12 and one from 4 feet and one 4-footer, with nary a bogey on the round.

Reds Stripped Of Cage Wins
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Federation of International Amateur Basketball Saturday stripped Russia of its victories in the current World Basketball Tournament for refusing to play Nationalist China.

The Russians virtually had their first world basketball title in hand when the action was announced. They had a 5-1 record in the final round — robin after upsetting the United States, which also was beaten by Brazil. Russia's lone defeat was, by forfeit after refusing to play Nationalist China Friday night.

William Jones, FIBA secretary general, said officials decided also that Russia will be required to make a public statement three months in advance of a future international tournament that it will compete against any team entered.

If Russia refuses, it will not be permitted to take part. Brazil won the championship by defeating Chile Saturday night, 73-49.

Steer Relay Team Could Be Great
Big Spring High School has a potentially fine sprint relay team if Freddie Brown, David Abreo, Buddy Barnes and R. L. Lasater all decide to come out for track. . . . Lasater is the boy who ran a 9.8 hundred while in junior high school last season. . . . Johnny Johnson, who quit coaching last year and is now selling insurance here, says he is not seeking the cage coaching job at Odessa's Permian High School and would not take it if it were offered him. . . . Gene Bearden, hero of the 1948 Cleveland Indian World Series club, now a radio sports announcer, says he may return to baseball as a player coach. . . . Lou Boudreau, the former big league manager, is pushing a move to widen home plate 2 1/2 inches to make it 19 1/2 inches. . . . His idea is that the wider plate would help the pitchers. . . . such a rule could bring Dizzy Dean, Burt Grimes and Satchel Paige out of retirement. . . . When Lubbock Monterey defeated Tom S. Lubbock in basketball the other night, ex-Big Spring August Joe Luedcke did an excellent job of guarding Tom S's top scorer, Mike Farley. . . . Farley tried to field goal, and made only one. . . . Luedcke himself had 12 points. . . . Jess Neely, the veteran Rice Institute, began his coaching career when the new Baylor coach, John Bridges, was in the first grade. . . . Al Milch, the local football mentor, is working to get Andrews back on the Steer grid schedule. . . . Incidentally, the school which discussed the possibility of hiring Al as its head coach recently was Stephen F. Austin, not Southwest Texas State, as inscribed here recently. . . . The Teleprompter Co., if it can swing a deal for closed-circuit television rights to the Floyd Patterson-Johannsson championship fight, will fly a junket of sports writers to Sweden to ballyhoo interest in Johannsson. . . . This writer is in receipt of an engraved invitation to the opening ceremonies of Mickey Mantle's new bonding emporium, which will be held next Friday. . . . The lanes are managed by Pepper Martin, a former Big Spring.

Dillard's Have Shipped To Oak Lawn
The Dillard's, J. T. and John Ray, have already shipped seven horses to Hot Springs, Ark., where the racing season opens at Oak Lawn later this month. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tucker and Jerry Currie are other local owners who probably have horses running there this spring. . . . The Tuckers have two promising two-year-olds bred in Kentucky they've named Maxesian (named after their niece, Maxine) and Windy Puff. . . . The latter is out of Cuff Ball by Windy City II. . . . Windy City II was the second leading sire in America last year. . . . His sons and grandsons won purses totaling $364,908 in 1958. . . . Windy Puff is a half sister to Restless Wind and Old Pueblo, among others. . . . The Tucker animals are now being cared for by Clayton Tolliver at Sonora and will ship Feb. 15. . . . Two-year-olds are not allowed to run in the first ten days of the Oak Lawn meeting. . . . Max Jones, the former permit mentor who is now at Conroe, may land that assistant's coaching job at the University of Houston which was first offered to Hayden Fry. . . . Sammy Baugh, the HSU coach who must concern himself with recruiting athletes at this time of year, spent a night in Big Spring last week. . . . The Washington Redskins apparently are well fixed for quarterbacks. . . . They didn't pick a signal-barker until the 18th round of the recent player draft, at which time they tapped Joe Kapp of California. . . . Texan Bobby Morrow had never cast an eye on an indoor track meet prior to racing to victory in three events of the Washington Star Games last week. . . . You can discount that defeat Glenn Davis, bound for Big Spring in March, suffered in the 600-yard race in the same event. . . . Davis had never raced more than 400 meters anywhere until that time. . . . Glenn informed local officials he'd try anything up to a half mile here. . . . Mickey Sullivan, the former Longhorn league slugger, is joining the physical education of Bellaire High School in Houston.

Junior Sectional To Be In Odessa

Junior riflemen here will probably do their shooting in NRA junior sectional tournaments in Odessa this year, sponsor Les Snow has announced.

A local group went to Brownwood for such a meet last year and the same tournament is scheduled this year. However, there is also one scheduled for an indoor range at Odessa, which will be held Feb. 28 and March 1.

Those planning to enter should fill out prescribed blanks, furnished by Snow, on or before Thursday, Feb. 12.

TEXAS BOXING PROMOTIONS SHOW $80,704.29 GAIN AT GATE

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas boxing promotions drew a gross gate of $351,105.44 in 1958, a gain of $80,704.29 over 1957, the State Boxing and Wrestling Commission said Saturday.

Dallas, at $76,346, was $60,359 ahead of 1957. Houston gained $33,188 over 1957 and had the largest gross gate, $202,992. San Antonio, however, lost $12,213 from 1957 to $4,929 and Austin lost $5,296 to $1,588.

Other income in 1958 compared with the previous year included Beaumont $15,050, gain of $356; Brownsville $9,913, gain of $9,182; Corpus Christi, $6,338, down $1,029; El Paso $11,391, gain of $3,372; Lubbock $1,917, down $2,919; Odessa $12,302 (no comparative figures); Port Neches $620 (no comparative figures); Tyler $5,756, down $6,394; Victoria $196, gain of $84; Waco $1,002 (no comparative figures).

Oak Cliff CC Will Sponsor Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — The $25,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament will be sponsored by the Oak Cliff Country Club this year, former sponsor Jim Ling announced Saturday.

Ling, who sponsored the tournament for three years, said the press of his electronics business was one factor in his decision to stop sponsoring the tournament. He had said earlier when the tournament was a going promotion he would turn it over to someone else to make it more of a community project.

The Dallas businessman lost money on the tournament for two years but passed the break-even point last year. The tournament will be held late this summer.

Mustangs Fall Before Purple By 72-60 Tally

FORT WORTH (AP) — Three beautiful one-handers by Kenneth Brunson doused a strong second-half rally by Southern Methodist here Saturday night and Texas Christian surged to a 72-60 victory to protect its half-game Southwest Conference basketball lead over Baylor.

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor's Bears broke open a nip and tuck basketball game in the last three minutes Saturday night and defeated the Arkansas Razorbacks, 64-58, to gain a 5-2 record that kept them in second place in the Southwest Conference race.

John Thomas Clears 7 Feet

NEW YORK (AP) — Fantastic John Thomas, the 17-year-old Boston University freshman became the first man in history to high jump 7 feet indoors Saturday night when he cleared the height in the Millrose Games.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Delany jogged to his 28th consecutive mile victory Saturday night winning the Wanamaker Mile for the fourth straight year in the Millrose Games. He was timed in 4:06.5.

Pete Cooper Adds To Panama Lead

PANAMA (AP) — Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla. shot a 2-under-par 70 Saturday and opened his lead to four strokes with a 54-hole total of 203 in the $10,000 Panama Open Golf Tournament.

Don Johnston of Denver held his runner-up position but slipped another stroke further behind Cooper with a 71 for 207. Third with 208 after a 71 is defending champion Bob Watson of Ardley-O'Hudson, N. Y.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., Argentine Roberto De Vincenzo and Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., were next at 210. Finsterwald had a 71. De Vincenzo a 68, and Vossler a 69.

Cronin Begins Seven-Year Term As President Of AL

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Cronin, a former shortstop who made baseball's Hall of Fame, Saturday became the fourth president of the American League. He was elected unanimously for a seven-year term.

Although no salary was announced it was learned that the 52-year-old former general manager of the Boston Red Sox will receive $60,000 a year, plus a liberal expense account.

The league office will be moved from Chicago to Boston. Will Harridge, the 73-year-old retiring president, will serve as chairman of the board of directors with offices in Chicago. Earl Hilligan, former director of the league's Service Bureau, was named league secretary, and will remain in Chicago.

Cronin immediately named Joe McKenney, former publicity man for the Red Sox, the league's director of public relations with an office in Boston.

Cronin's election, only a formality after the Jan. 14 recommendation of a screening committee, climaxed his rise from the sandlots of San Francisco to one of the highest offices in baseball.

Asked if he had any ideas on expansion for the league, Cronin answered: "In the last couple of years, there has been no real talk of expansion in our league. Del Webb (co-owner of the New York Yankees) is the head of the expansion committee and I was a member. The committee hasn't come up with any concrete proposal. "I'm not going to look for problems."

Dale Hall Is Named Blaik's Successor

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Young Dale Hall, drilled in the Red Blaik tradition, Saturday replaced the master as Army's head football coach. Hall signed a three-year contract. The 34-year-old Kansas was selected in keeping with West Point tradition, which has looked to former graduates for the academy's top coaching job.

Hall, used mainly as a blocking back for All-Americans Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard on Army's 1944 unbeaten national championship team, served as Blaik's chief aide for the past three seasons. He was regarded as "Blaik's man" when Blaik ended 18 years as head coach with a surprise resignation Jan. 13.

Before returning to the Point, Hall was an assistant coach at Purdue for two years beginning in 1959 and backfield coach at the University of Florida for four years. In between those assignments Hall served as head basketball coach and football line coach at New Hampshire.

Under Blaik, whose resignation is effective on his 63rd birthday, Feb. 15, Hall served as chief scout and defensive specialist. Hall, who signed for an unannounced salary, was graduated from the Point in 1945. He then served four years with the armed services cavalry and was a first lieutenant when he resigned his commission.

Hall is only the third civilian head coach in Army's history. Prior to Blaik, a retired colonel, the last civilian head coach at the Point was J. W. Beacham, a Cornell alumnus, in 1911.

Moody Champ Looking Sharp

HOUSTON (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown, described by his handlers as determined and moody, continued to look sharp Saturday in preparation for his Feb. 11 title defense here against New Yorker Johnny Busso.

Working four rounds against Candy McFarland of New York and two with Cal Campbell of New Orleans, Brown displayed some heavy punching power. Busso was scheduled to fly in Saturday night with his trainer, Chickie Ferrara.

Brown has been the target of some criticism for his showings in non-title fights, notably the bout last November at Miami Beach when he was outpointed by Busso. But in five defenses of his 135-pound crown his performances have inspired comparisons with some of the great champions of the past.

Brown knocked out ex-champ Bud Smith, Orlando Zuleta, Joey Lopez and Ralph Dupas and dethroned Kenny Lane in holding on to the title he won from Smith at New Orleans in 1956.

Tech Raiders Turn Back Texas Aggies, 57 To 46

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Leon Hill and Charlie Lynch led Texas Tech to a 57-46 victory over Texas A&M Saturday in a regionally televised, one-half game behind Tech.

The triumph, achieved before 8,700 fans, boosted Tech into a temporary second-place tie with Baylor in the conference standings. One-half game behind Tech, Lubbock scored with 18 points, including 10 during a second half in which he was burdened with four fouls most of the way. Lynch contributed 16 points and a strong defensive performance.

Wilder Cox was the Aggies' top scorer with 13 points, followed by Archie Carroll with 11 and Neil Swisher with 10.

A&M grabbed an early two-point lead, but Tech forged ahead after four minutes and was in command the rest of the way.

One hears that two assistant mentors at one of the state's larger colleges are out lining up coaching aides, each secure in the belief that he will be named head coach when the boss gets the axe.

Cletus Fisher, the new head coach at Midland High School, has appointed Arnold Smith of Omaha, Neb., as his line coach (starting pay: $6,500 per annum), which means Harold King may be moving on.

King reportedly has been offered a job as the line coach at Odessa's new high school, Permian. . . . Glen Selbo, the former Longhorn League pitcher-outfielder who moved back to his native Wisconsin and then discovered he missed West Texas too much, has replaced Dub Headrick as head baseball coach at Midland. . . . The appointment brought Selbo a $600 annual pay raise to $5,200. . . . Headrick has notified school officials he will terminate his employment in the system this spring. . . . Jack Brewer's starting salary as head coach at Odessa High will be $7,925, compared to the $8,825 Hayden Fry would have made had he remained there. . . . Fry, incidentally, told intimates he received a raise by taking the Baylor job. . . . He's probably making around $9,000. . . . Not as much money is being thrown around at Baylor as you might think, for John Bridges will fill the dual job of athletic director and head coach. . . . George Sauer formerly was the BU athletic director and Sam Boyd the head coach. . . . Brewer says he'll run the same formation that Fry used (a conglomerate "T"). . . . The new Odessa coach grew up in Stillwater, Okla., and attended school at Northeastern Oklahoma in Tahlequah. . . . Brewer may surprise the Odessa school board by passing up the job and going back to Howard Payne, where he has been offered a house and other concessions. . . . Jack has a stomach ailment and gave up a good job at the Odessa move simply to rest up. . . . Those who think he's not up to the challenge of coaching an AAAA school are sadly underrating him. . . . The Waco News-Tribune, in announcing Fry's appointment at Baylor, said two major colleges had made Hayden offers the past week but added "neither school can be named as the jobs are still unfilled". . . . Names of the schools, Arkansas and Houston, were printed in this window a long time ago and Fry, no doubt, would have gone to Houston had the Baylor job not turned up.

Big Spring High School has a potentially fine sprint relay team if Freddie Brown, David Abreo, Buddy Barnes and R. L. Lasater all decide to come out for track. . . . Lasater is the boy who ran a 9.8 hundred while in junior high school last season. . . . Lou Boudreau, the former big league manager, is pushing a move to widen home plate 2 1/2 inches to make it 19 1/2 inches. . . . His idea is that the wider plate would help the pitchers. . . . such a rule could bring Dizzy Dean, Burt Grimes and Satchel Paige out of retirement. . . . When Lubbock Monterey defeated Tom S. Texan Bobby Morrow had never cast an eye on an indoor track meet prior to racing to victory in three events of the Washington Star Games last week. . . . You can discount that defeat Glenn Davis, bound for Big Spring in March, suffered in the 600-yard race in the same event. . . . Davis had never raced more than 400 meters anywhere until that time. . . . Glenn informed local officials he'd try anything up to a half mile here. . . . Mickey Sullivan, the former Longhorn league slugger, is joining the physical education of Bellaire High School in Houston.

City Tourney Champions

Jayhawks Bomb LCC, 100-62

The HCJC Jayhawks looked as if they'd taken a collective Mill-town in plastering Lubbock Christian College with a 100-62 West Zone basketball defeat here Friday night.

The Hawks were the picture of a completely relaxed club in registering their third conference win against two defeats. They make a bid for second place in the standings against Frank Phillips of Borger here Monday night.

HCJC hurried to an 11-1 lead in the first few minutes, after which Coach Harold Davis used any number of combinations. By half time, it was 44-23.

The locals didn't have a player who hit over 14 points but five of them wound up scoring in double figures. The win was their 14th of the season, against six losses.

The Pioneers, who now have a 2-6 record within the zone and are 4-9 for the season, did have the satisfaction of supplying the game's top point-producer in Jay Sherrard, who had 21 points.

Friday's outing was the second time the Hawks have scored as many as 100 points this season. Oddly enough, Lubbock CC was the victim on the other occasion—the Hawks ran up 126 points against them in the San Antonio tournament.

Gilbert Bell and Harold Henson, two Meadow products, led the Hawks in scoring with 14 points each. Bell and Henson made all their points from the field.

Benny Carver, Ray Clay and Tommy Zinn each counted ten points for the Big Springers. In all, 11 of the Hawks broke into the scoring column.

Four of the visitors hit in double figures. Earl Teague and Dale Glaze each counted 11 for the Pioneers while Gaston Tarbet wound up with ten.

The Hawks hit 20 of 37 field goal attempts in the first half for 54 per-cent and 25 of 38 in the final half for 43 per cent and an overall mark of 49 per cent.

Bell hit seven of ten shots and Henson seven of 12 while Carver and Clay each connected on five of nine attempts.

Zinn did a fine job around the boards for HCJC, capturing 16 rebounds, while Bobby Davis and Bell had 14 each and Henson 11.

Garden City Cats Bounce Westbrook Five, 68-57

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Leaders in District 19-B, Garden City, relaxed with a 68-57 non-conference win over Westbrook here Friday night with every player seeing action.

The Garden City girls, however, lost a close 35-31 decision.

The Bearkats, 4-0 in district play.

return to the conference slate with a Knott battle at Garden City Tuesday night. Garden City's girls are 3-1, tied with Knott, and the district girls' leader will emerge from that game.

Dennis Calverley had a big hand in the win, bombing the nets for nine field goals and a free pitch for 19 points. Jimmy Childress had 11 and Don Plagens 10 for the Bearkats.

Garden City had a tough round in defending Westbrook's Lanford however. With a deadly jump shot, the Westbrook threat hit 30 points. The Bearkats never trailed in running to 24-15, 39-27, and 52-39 quarter leads.

The girls of Westbrook had a 22-19 lead over Garden City at half-time but had to bust up a 29-29 tie in the fourth period for the win. Wanda Williams scored 15 and Pat Saunders had 14 for Garden City.

Fireball Muffler Romps In League

Fireball, having sweet success in the Men's Major bowling league, jabbed Wheat Furniture, 3-1, this week. Sovoy's Phillips 66 out-fought Pepsi-Cola, 4-0. Miller the Killer cornered Coiden, 3-1. Snac-A-Ritz nipped Texas Electric, 3-1, and Lee Henson upended Thompson's Furniture, 3-1.

J. C. Self was man of the hour with a 241-597 high game and series. Hugh Waiface had a 238 game and Earl Stanton prospered with a 579 series.

Snac-A-Ritz was out front with a 929 team game, and Sovoy's Phillips 66 finished strong with 2594 series.

Gandy Creamery Upsets Porkers

Gandy's Creamery upset Piggly-Wiggly in Midway Basketball League competition, Friday night, 27-23.

Three teams are now tied for the top position in the circuit standings and first half play has been completed. Newsom's Piggly Wiggly and Gandy's each have a 4-1 won-loss record.

Second half play gets under way Tuesday night, at which time Gandy's plays Phillips 66 and Hull and Phillips opposes Furr's.

Carter And Hale Scatter Ten-Pins

The top-ranked team defeated the bottom-confined bowling club in the Metropolitan Couples bowling league this week. The Don't Knows, leaders, punched Poncho's, 3-1, and in other matches the No Names squeezed by Gottings, 3-1, as Boatler split with Nabors, 2-2.

Boatler boasted the high team game, 776, and Nabors threaded together a 227 series. Bill Carter supported a 223 high individual game and Don Hale picked off a 640 series total, among the men.

In the women's competition for single honors, Lavern Cunningham had 174 game and Nadelle Steakley found a 479 series.

Bill Carter had the only splits, 3-10 and 5-7.

River's Is Upset In Star Circuit

Tate-Bristow-Parks Realtors upset high-riding River in the Star bowling league last week, 3-1, although the loss didn't budge River from the top of the rankings.

Girdner Electric prevailed over Baron's Dress Shop, 4-0. Harmonson's Foreign Motors zoomed past Edward Heights Pharmacy, 4-0, and Jo's Hair Styles boxed Park Inn, 3-1, too.

Girdner chased Harmonson's 2457 with a 2311. Harmonson also had the best two team games, 837 and 830.

Olive Cauble, Harmonson's, pulled home a 185 high game and 510 high series. Vera Dozier, Harmonson's, and Angie Merrill, River, tied for second slot with 173. Angie had next-best series of 500.

Splits converted: Linda Daniel, 5-8-10; Gean Cauble, 5-10; Angie Merrill, 4-5; Beverly Gibson 5-10; Becky Watson, 3-10; Maxine Ryan, 3-10; Lavern Cunningham, 5-9; Fay Weeg, 3-10; and Olive Cauble, 3-10.

Wranglers Wear Down Badger 5

ODESSA (SC)—Odessa Junior College gained an important West Zone basketball game here Friday night, winning over Amarillo JC, 82-76, in a furious triple-overtime battle.

Odessa now has a 3-2 conference standing.

Wattson Has 535 Series In Loop

Phillips 66 Cafe repelled Fireball Muffler in a tie-breaking engagement Friday in the Commercial Bowling league, 4-0, to gain leadership in that circuit.

Jack's Grocery shelled Wagon Wheel, 3-1, Bell Telephone Washed Sinclair, 3-1, and Phillips 66 Truck Terminal bulldozed McGibbons Distributors, 3-1, in other matches.

Phillips 66 Cafe was high running team with 2685, and Bell Telephone supplied the best team game of the night with 937.

Otis Watson, who bowls for Jack's Grocery, had a 535 series among individual scoring while C. A. Amundson, a Phillips 66 Truck Terminal man, rolled a 225 high game.

536 TOPS Brown, Hood Pace Tourney

Winners have been posted in the second weekend of the Women's City Tournament bowling play, which has four divisions for competition.

The Lucky Five copped the team event with a scratch score of 2737. Sugar Brown, Olive Cauble, Peggy Dement, Dot Hood and Marie McDonald make up that winning squad.

Dibrell, Baron, Pinkie's, and Coiden finished next in the team event, in that order.

Sugar Brown was class A winner in all events, high with 1587. Others were B winner Frances Glenn; J. White in C; in D division was Mary McConkey; and T. Baumgartner prevailed in E class.

The combination of Marie McDonald and Sugar Brown scored a win in the class A doubles event, with 980. Others: B, Nadelle Steakley-June White with 945; C, V. Parker-M. Martin with 918; D, W. Hewitt-D. Court with 898; and E, W. Dorsey-J. Lansing with 707.

A 536 by Dot Hood swept the class A singles event; Virginia Pickett and a 535 was good enough for class B crown; in C, E. Wilson had a 522; J. Carter and F. Nixon tied for the top in D with 448 each; and W. Hewitt nailed down class E honors with 410.

Lucky Five Is 2nd In League

The Lucky Five, a bowling representative of Big Spring in the Ladies' West Texas Traveling league, currently rides in second place in that competition. Hilburn's Appliance, the only other local group entered, holds ninth place.

This month the Lucky Five won three of eight games against leading Sands Bowl of Abilene. Hilburn's Appliance won one of eight against its opponent.

Peggy Dement of the Lucky Five is owner of the league's high individual game last week, 3-1, Metzger of San Angelo had a 233 in second place.

Sands Bowl, Abilene, has high game average of 833 and H. Hentz Co., Midland, has 815. High team game is 1006 and top series is 2354, both by Sands.

Next bowling session in the once-a-month competition will be at Snyder, Feb. 15.

Forsan Teams Sweep 3 Tilts

WATER VALLEY (SC)—Forsan basketball contingents won a District 19-B doubleheader here Friday night but the girls had to go all out before copping a 51-50 verdict.

Tubby Munn of Water Valley, the game's top scorer with 38 points, wfs at the free throw line with one second remaining, faced with a "one and one situation." She missed the first pitch and Forsan captured the rebound.

The win left Forsan with a 3-2 won-loss record in conference play.

Forsan's boys won an early 61-31 decision as Charles Skeen counted 18 points and M. Bardwell 16 for the Buffs. Larry Cox counted 11 points and Ricky Wright eight for the home club.

Kenneth Duffer, Skeen and George White proved excellent rebounders for Forsan, which now has a 19-3 overall record and is 4-1 in the conference. The Buffs hit 50 per cent of their shots in the first half and boasted a 34-13 advantage at half time.

Forsan's B boys also won, 33-9, as Jack Ashbill counted 21 points for the Buffs and Weldon Baker five for Water Valley.

The Buffaloes next see action Friday night in Forsan against Sterling City.

Ed Southern Leads Texas Track Team

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas opens its track season Feb. 28. Eight top stars seek to spur the Longhorns to their sixth consecutive Southwest Conference title.

Coach Clyde Littlefield's teams open against Houston and Texas A&M at College Station. After 10 other meets, including competition in Kansas and Iowa, the Longhorns will defend their conference title May 8-9, again at College Station.

Texas' best eight are seniors this year. The past two seasons they participated in a dozen school records, six conference and three intercollegiate marks, one Olympic and two world standards.

Co-Capt. Eddie Southern of Dallas, an Olympics star at 18 in 1956, heads the list. He holds records in the sprints, the 440, hurdles and shares in the relays performances.

Other seniors who participated in the unprecedented success at Texas are co-Capt. Wally Wilson, leadoff man on the three great relay teams; Joe Villarreal, holder of two conference records; sprinter Hollis Gainey, co-holder of the sprint relay marks; Bruce Parker, holder of the SWC javelin record; Johnny Warren, who set the school shot put standard; Alex Palmros and Fallon Gordon, also weight men.

On the junior and sophomore level are Drew Dunlap, a member of the unbeaten mile relay team of last spring; soph sprinters Ralph Alspaugh and Richard Walden; Chuck Stanley, a middle-distance transfer from a California junior college (Mt. San Antonio); weight man Jim Allison, also a soph; and Ken Lyon, a half-miler of promise.

The Longhorns lack outstanding performers only in the jumping events and the high hurdles. Littlefield said.

Besides the eleven scheduled meets, Texas expects additional competition at the nation's leading invitation meets, the NCAA meet in Lincoln, Neb., and the national AAU meet in Denver.

The complete variety schedule: Feb. 28-Houston and Texas A&M at College Station; March 7-Border Olympics at Laredo; March 14-Southwest Recreation Meet at Fort Worth; March 21-San Angelo Invitation Meet; March 26-Texas A&M and Rice at Houston; April 14-Texas Relays at Austin; April 11-TCU and Baylor at Waco; April 17-18-Kansas Relays at Lawrence, Kan.; April 24-25-Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa; May 1-Oklahoma, Abilene Christian and SMU in Dallas (night); May 8-9-Southwest Conference meet at College Station.

Thomas Bass Are Still Hungry

Black bass have continued to bite well at Lake J. B. Thomas during the past week.

R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent, said that the big fellows are biting well all over the lake. A week ago those in the upper end were biting best, but catches were reported last week from every area of the lake.

Several catches of nice size crappie were reported, too, indicating a pick up in this good panfish which abounds at the lake.

Watson Has 535 Series In Loop

Phillips 66 Cafe repelled Fireball Muffler in a tie-breaking engagement Friday in the Commercial Bowling league, 4-0, to gain leadership in that circuit.

Jack's Grocery shelled Wagon Wheel, 3-1, Bell Telephone Washed Sinclair, 3-1, and Phillips 66 Truck Terminal bulldozed McGibbons Distributors, 3-1, in other matches.

Phillips 66 Cafe was high running team with 2685, and Bell Telephone supplied the best team game of the night with 937.

Otis Watson, who bowls for Jack's Grocery, had a 535 series among individual scoring while C. A. Amundson, a Phillips 66 Truck Terminal man, rolled a 225 high game.

Tony Anthony Is Defeated

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony peered through a slit of a left eye at Reuben Vargas' damaged right eye. He shook hands, congratulated the winner and put his arm around Reuben's shoulders.

"It looks like we both had razors," he said.

That was the kind of a fight it was Friday night at Madison Square Garden where 2,500 paying $6,000 cheered the two cager heavyweights through the final minute of a rousing 10-rounder.

Referee Dave Feld said 5-5 in rounds but voted for Vargas 7 to 5 on points because he had knocked down Anthony for a nine-count in the eighth. Judge Charley Rosen cast his ballot for Vargas 6-4-1. Judge Mike Davidowitch called it 6-4 for Anthony. The AP card agreed with the referee's.

Vargas, a correspondence school student in architecture, landed his right several times and the left, too. In fact he flattened Tony with a left hook in the early seconds of the eighth. Anthony was stretched flat on his back, his head on the ring apron. Only with considerable effort did he finally get up after Referee Feld counted nine. He barely managed to finish the round.

"I should have finished him when I had him down," lamented Vargas, a wavy haired gent of Mexican descent.

"I should have moved more, said Anthony. "For some reason I wasn't punching with my usual power."

Time after time Anthony, 177, let himself get caught in corners or along the ropes by the brawling Vargas, 186.

Gift For Arah's Girls

Arah Phillips, veteran coach at HCJC, looks gratefully at a check for $129.30 presented her by Bob Rogers (left) and Joe Connally of the Big Spring Quarterback Club. The check represented the profit the club showed on the Clarendon-Wayland Flying Queen exhibition here the other night. Arah, who is retiring this year, said she would use the money to give her own Jayhawk Queens a banquet.

Loop Girls Upset

LOOP (SC) — Klondike upset Loop, 64-58, in a District 8-B girls' basketball game here Friday night, knocking the Longhorns out of second place in the race.

Thomas Acquired By Cincinnati

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh has landed a needed left-handed starting pitcher in Harvey Haddix and a solid left-handed hitting catcher in Smokey Burgess in a deal that sent slugger Frank Thomas to the Cincinnati Reds.

In addition to Haddix and Burgess, the Pirates Friday night picked up a regular third baseman in Dave Hook from the Reds. Cincinnati acquired outfielder John Powers, handyman Jim Pendleton and pitcher Whammy Douglas in addition to Thomas.

Lamesa Vanquishes Wolfpack, 70-34

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa kept alive its chances for a first place finish in the District 3-AAA basketball race by trouncing Coloda City, 70-34, here Friday night.

With a 3-1 won-lost record, the Tornados trail only Lake View of San Angelo in the standings. Kenneth Barr and Howard Westmoreland each had 16 points for Lamesa while Ray Weaver counted 18 for Coloda City.

Coahoma Bulldogs In Comeback Win

ROBY (SC)—Ellis Smith and Don Cunningham paced Coahoma to a comeback 39-37 victory over Roby's Lions here Friday night in a District 6-A basketball game.

Coahoma couldn't see light until the final minutes, however. The Bulldogs skipped behind Roby, 11-5, 23-15, and 32-27 at quarter marks, but grabbed the lead in the fourth when it counted.

Smith sacked 11 and Cunningham 10 for the "Dogs now 2-3 in district play. Roby's Jerry Burks cashed in 19 for the Lions, who have won only one of four in district play.

Roby muffed Coahoma's chances for another choice win by taking the girls' game, 58-40. Joan Davis of Coahoma was top scorer of the night with 28 points. For Roby, Joyce Murff had 22.

The Lions won a B game, 38-23.

Stanton Buffaloes Defeat Yellow Hammers, 65-43

STANTON (SC) — Stanton untracked at the expense of Rotan here Friday night, winning, 65-43.

The victory was the fifth in conference play against two losses for the Bisons. It avenged a loss earlier this year the Buffs suffered in Rotan.

Noorman Donelson led the Stanton attack with 23 points. Richard Ellis, who played little more than a quarter before he fouled out, had 17 and Paul Petree 12 for Stanton.

The game was fairly close for added 14 for the winning team. Grant led the Methodists with four markers.

WESLEY METHODIST (17)—Hamilton 0-0; Lewis 3-6; Smith 1-2; Barron 1-2; Uley 3-15; Dean 0-2; Estes 0-1; Totals 7-37.

TEMPLE BAPTIST (19)—E. C. Smith 0-1; Johnson 1-2; Trovce 0-1; B. Smith 1-2; Stephens 4-12. Totals 6-19.

Halftime score—Wesley 13, Temple 7.

FIRST BAPTIST (43)—Hardesty Jr. 6-16; Hardesty Sr. 2-6; Hale 2-15; Reagan 7-14; Pickle 3-9; Camp 0-0. Totals 20-67.

WAGGONER (11)—Glan 2-4; McFarlan 1-2; Totals 4-11.

Halftime score—First Baptists 29, First Methodist 1.

Temple Baptist rose up to jar Wesley Methodist from the first place standings of the YMCA Church basketball league Friday night, 19-17.

Temple Baptist thus moved up a notch to third place, while Wesley dropped to second, behind First Baptist. First Baptist won its verdict 43-9 over First Methodist.

Wesley had a 9-6 edge over Temple at the end of the first period in its game, and increased that to 13-7 at half. But the third period proved costly, and Temple got the 15-14 lead and held on for the win. Stephens had 11 for the winners.

Davis pitched in six for Wesley Methodist.

First Methodist showed up with only four players, but First Baptist obligingly fielded only four also. It made no difference to the Baptists, however, as they canned a 43-9 win. Frank Hardesty Jr. stuffed in 16 points, and Reagan

Lake View Chiefs Deflate Snyder

SAN ANGELO (SC) — The Lake View Chiefs won their fourth straight District 3-AAA basketball decision here Friday night, hurrying past Snyder, 68-60.

The Tigers, who have yet to win in conference play, lost four starters on personal fouls.

William Keel and Bobby Shuffield each counted 18 points for Lake View while Danny Tankersly had the same number for Lake View.

Odessa Bronchos Defeat Bobcats

SAN ANGELO (SC) — A frustrating full-court press almost propelled San Angelo's Bobcats to an upset over Odessa here Friday night, but excessive fouls dampened their chances and the Bronchos cleaned up with a 73-55 District 2-4A victory.

Bobcat starters Mack McCoulske, David Alexander, and Ronnie Cole fouled out. Angelo had held a 6-0 lead early in the game, 2-14 going into the second, and 32-27 at half.

Odessa finally evened the count, 36-36, in the third and kept increasing its lead when San Angelo lost two of its starters.

ODESSA (73)—Brownlee 4-17; Birdsong 1-2; Harris 1-11. Totals 22-73.

SAN ANGELO (55)—Warner 1-2; Dodson 1-2; C. C. C. 5-8; C. C. C. 2-11; Guss 1-13; Alexander 0-0; Totals 22-55.

Halftime score—San Angelo 32, Odessa 27.

Many New Students On Hand For Spring Term

By BOBBY HORTON

A large number of new students walked into HCJC classrooms this week as registration neared its final day, and the opening of the new semester with many different faces has served well as a refreshing break.

The shuffling of the classes and intermingling of the new blood with the old standbys of the campus does the student body good.

For one thing, too many of us are apt to become so occupied with our activities that an unhealthy unawareness of goings-on sets in. Perhaps one doesn't realize it to the fullest extent until he attempts to look back upon and summarize the happenings of the semester. A hazy cloud and jumbled assortment of vague memories is the picture over the last few months—opening of the new SUB, resigning of Miss Arab Phillips, invading of Texas junior colleges for the HCJC tournament, appearances of the Ira Schantz choir locally, letting of contracts for the dorms, college elections, examinations, etc., etc.

Tally windows at the college are too far behind it, paperwork to know just what the exact registrat-tion now numbers. But by Friday, 503 re-entering and newly-applying students had signed for the spring semester. A late rush can be expected this week.

And speaking of having variety in students' lives, here is foundation for a student philosophy that wouldn't be bad to live by. I call it the college's ten commandments:

I am the College thy Taskmaster, which shall have brought thee out of the Land of Ignorance, out of the land of bondage.

Thou shalt not bow down thyself to the fullest extent until he attempts to look back upon and summarize the happenings of the semester.

Thou shalt not bow down thyself to the fullest extent until he attempts to look back upon and summarize the happenings of the semester.

Thou shalt not bow down thyself to the fullest extent until he attempts to look back upon and summarize the happenings of the semester.

the College thy Taskmaster lightly; for the College holds no rewards for him that taketh these goals lightly.

Remember Examination Day, to keep thee stable.

For nigh forty weeks shalt thou labour, and do all thy meditation. But the final week brings forth Examination Day of the College thy Taskmaster, a day of great discontentment; on it thou shalt review mightily and waste not time; thou, thy pen and thy quill, thy pad and thy scroll, thy notes and thy text, thy interpretations and thy Teacher's utterances.

For in forty weeks were the Truths placed before thee, the arts and sciences of the world and of life ahead, and all therein that is; and the final day shall be a Time of Interrogation wherefore thou shalt relate thee of thy Knowledge.

Honor thy Doctors and thy Professors; for they are the Light in the classes that the College thy Taskmaster giveth thee.

Thou shalt not cheat.

Thou shalt not resort to flattery.

Thou shalt not be loud of mouth.

Thou shalt not bear false words upon thy scrolls; it is better to make no show of Truth than to make play with false words.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's marks, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's achievements, nor his ability, nor his ravings, nor his manner of speech, nor his gait, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

HI TALK

Construction Sounds Form Background For Class Work

By PAT ROGERS

With the sound of tractors and bulldozers in the background, BSHS'ers set out to study. The background comes from preparations for a new wing to the present plant.

BSHS was well represented Tuesday night at the Steer-Odessa basketball game. The singing of the school song was rather weak, but the yelling was almost louder than Odessa. The boys felt much better about the support given them. In their words: "Keep it up!"

John Yates, Texas history instructor, has been trying to teach his students how to read a road map. After the test Tuesday, most of his students realized they were not such good map readers after all. In the sixth period class, all test grades were below 70.

Miss Billie Harding, English teacher, has ordered first year college workbooks for her accelerated English class. The members of the class can see much hard work ahead.

The student council met Thursday afternoon with Yoshi Thomas, vice president, filling in the absence of President James Howard Stephens. They had a big discussion about the budget.

People can say teen-agers are going to the dogs about BSHS'ers. Over a hundred students are taking Bible this semester. They will be studying the New Testament.

Marilyn Bigham, La Verne Carter, Charlene Campbell, Camille Heffley, Gloria Coker and Lyn Anderson, former pep squad officers, were certainly glad when Mrs. Erma Steward said, "That's all. It seems the girls were having their pictures taken for the annual. That wasn't so bad, except they were posed, sitting on the edge of the roof on the second story of the school building. Even though the girls were a bit "shook," the picture should have a nice background.

Whoops! There was a slight error in last week's account of the San Angelo game. Add one more to the list of those attending. Editi Freeman.

Tryouts for the play, "Heaven Can Wait," were held Thursday and Friday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Everyone is excited about finding out the results of these tryouts.

Several BSHS exes have returned home from college to attend HCJC—like the old saying goes, "There's no place like home."

An annual staff member informed some students that this year's El Rodeo, annual, will be better than ever. It is bigger, better looking, and contains several colored pages. The annuals should be finished and issued in the early part of May.

Jo Ann Ebling, Katie Thomas, Toni Thomas, La Verne Carter, Benny McCrary, and Franklin Williamson are a few of the seniors who will travel to Midland Friday to take a college entrance examination at the University of Texas. Bill Parsons took the test earlier in the year.

Another neglected item in last week's story was the new football jackets. All football boys are proudly wearing the new black jackets. The senior members of the team are signified by their gold leather sleeves.

There's a big question as to whether or not to have the Follies of '59. Not very many students have signed to participate in the show. Students, if you want these Follies, sign up and take part in the big show of the year.

Our guidance director, Mr. Benny Pierson is in the hospital with ulcer trouble. The faculty and office workers are saying, "Hurry and get well. We miss you and don't know how to do your work!"

GOLIAD NEWS

8th Graders Win 'Ranch' Crowns

By PAT ARMSTRONG

Wednesday morning Goliad's first Ranch Week began. Almost everyone appeared in Western clothes of some kind, and some wore chaps, boots, vests, hats, and cap guns and holsters.

A very important part of the activities was the arresting of "rifle violators," who were placed in "jail" by the sheriff, Jerry Tucker and his nine deputies. The jail, which was built by members of the Student Council and sponsored by Bernard Rains, was painted black and white. A part of the parking lot was marked off for the "jail" and a great part of the student body was gathered around to get a look at the "criminals." Some of the students got more serious punishment than being jailed for such crimes as smoking on the school grounds, but the others were just violators of Ranch Week.

The climax of Ranch Week was an assembly Friday afternoon. After lunch everyone went to their homeroom and each class picked a nominee for Ranch Queen and Foreman. At the assembly the candidates were voted on by the audience applause.

Sherrie Sabbato and John Trego both from the eighth grade, were chosen. Bill Pate, master of ceremonies, presented each with a white Western hat. Student Council members served as the "Kangaroo Court" and sentenced each violator to do various unusual stunts. Everyone had fun during the three-day festivities.

Monday Goliad played Colorado City there, and came back with three victories. The Mavericks played Edison of San Angelo Thursday and the eighth grade won 29-26. The ninth grade was victorious 45-22.

Goliad is participating in the annual magazine subscription sale, and we hope each student will do his best and will receive a prize. There are also some contests such as high salesman and "find the missing dog" which will be very profitable to the winner. The salesman calling at the house with a "missing" dog will get a special award.

RUNNELS REPORT

Rules Are Set For Ranch Week

By DIANE BAKER

Everybody get out your hats and boots and western clothes! Ranch week is coming up Thursday and Friday.

Permits for Ranch Week will be sold by Student Council members during the week. They will be for lipstick, cuffs, jewelry and belts. A complete permit is 20 cents. A sheriff and deputies for each grade will be appointed. Rules are as follows: 1) No hats to be worn in rooms (only in the halls); 2) no spurs are to be worn in the building; 3) all teachers are to wear three western items; 4) no bothering the prisoners.

The ninth grade Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y boys and girls plan to have a dance next Friday to climax Ranch Week.

Petitions for president and vice president of the student body for the 1959-60 school year were being circulated last week. Qualifications for nominees were listed over the PA system by Jimmy Hino, current president. Also petitions for Ranch Queen and Ranch Foreman were started, and the election for this activity will come off early in the week.

The El Palomar (yearbook) Sweetheart was elected Thursday, and she is Katherine Hepler. Runner-up was Marjorie Jones.

Friday, the fifth period home-making class had its regular class meeting. The program was a film strip on "Careers in Home-making." Presiding over the session was Marilyn Gumm, president.

The halls look festive with their Valentine decorations made by Mrs. Mona Jonson's art classes.

Monday, as expected, magazine sales got under way. Some of the pupils received coolie hats by answering questions on how to make a sale. Every day this week there has been a mystery drawing. If the student, whose name is drawn, has sold four subscriptions, he is given a chance to draw a handful of silver dollars from a bowl containing 20 silver dollars.

Three basketball games were played Monday. The seventh grade team won 23-17 over Lamesa. The eighth grade was victorious over Lamesa 24-20, but the ninth grade lost by a 45-22 count.

The Man who Appreciates the Finest.

BUYS HIS WIFE GAS APPLIANCES!

Brahms and brubeck... an unlikely combination? Not to the man who recognizes the "best of its kind," be it arpeggios or appliances. That's why he insisted on a new GAS Clothes Dryer for his wife. He sees the advantages of instant heat (turn it on and it's on), and no heat hang-over (gas off, heat's gone!). He's observed how gentle Gas heat blows moisture away instead of baking it out. Clothes come out fluffier, more wrinkle-free and easier to iron! They last longer, too. Yes, in every way—economy included—GAS gives you more. And where the finest is truly appreciated... Magnolia Completes Mitchell Producer Magnolia Petroleum has completed a new well in the Iatan East Howard field of Mitchell County and this weekend announced a new project in the same pool.

The new well is Magnolia No. 47-A Mary Foster about five miles northwest of Iatan. On 24-hour final test, it pumped 92.03 barrels of 29.4-degree oil and 13 per cent water. Gas-oil ratio hit 365-1, and operator took final test after fracturing with 50,000 gallons.

Total depth is 3,850 feet, but it is plugged back to 2,811 feet. Top of the pay zone is 2,552 feet, and perforations extend from 2,552-680 feet. The site is 2,055 from north and 785 from west line, 17-29-15, T&P Survey.

The new site is Magnolia No. 50 Foster and is 660 from north and 1,980 from west line, 17-29-15, T&P Survey, five miles northwest of Iatan. Drilling depth is 2,900 feet.

Frank Waters finished the No. 9 Byrd in the Sharon Ridge field for 21.84 barrels of oil and 60 per cent water. The oil tested 29 degrees. It is 990 from south, and 2,147 from west line, 18-25, H&G Survey, and 11 miles northwest of Colorado City.

Total depth is 1,685 feet with 514-inch string set three feet off the bottom of the hole. Top of the pay zone is 1,621 feet, and perforations extend from 1,621-62 feet.

W. K. Byron located the No. 1 A. B. Oranfill in the Sharon Ridge field about 10 miles northwest of Colorado City. It is 330 from south and 490 from west line, 18-25, H&G Survey, and three miles west of Westbrook.

The Col-Tex No. 1-39 Abrams in the Westbrook field was ready to be completed this weekend. It is 2,310 from south and 330 from west line, 18-25, H&G Survey, and three miles west of Westbrook.

The Col-Tex No. 7 Bird was cased at 150 feet at the end of the week. It is in the Westbrook field 330 from south and west lines, 18-25-15, T&P Survey, and three miles west of Westbrook.

Operator spudded the Col-Tex No. 6 Bird Friday and set surface string at 301 feet. It is in the same area two miles northwest of Westbrook, 990 from south and 2,310 from north, 18-25-15, T&P Survey.

Four Counties Gain Wildcats

Four, Loving, Hockley, and Garza counties have drawn new wildcat assignments, with two new projects slated for Loving County.

The two tracts in Loving are both to be drilled by Diamond Drilling Co. of Midland. The No. 1 TXL is located 10 miles north of Iatan, 660 from south and east lines, 17-29-15, T&P Survey, and will drill to 4,750 feet.

The Diamond No. 1A TXL is 2 1/2 miles north to 4,750 feet, and 17 miles north of Mentone, 660 from south and east lines, 3-5-2, T&P Survey.

In Ector, the Pan American Petroleum Corp. No. 67 A. E. F. Cowden is a 13,900-foot wildcat in the shallow South Cowden pool. It is 2,035 feet from north and east lines, 11-2-24-25, T&P Survey, and three miles west of Odessa.

The Texas Co. located the No. 1 C. A. Igoe in the Anton townsite in Hockley County. It is a 5,500-foot well 660 from south and east lines, 11-2-24, Thompson Survey.

In Kent, the 6,800-foot Sun Oil Co. No. 1 Claremont Townsite is 490 from north and 500 from west lines, 10-5, H&C Survey, on a 2-acre lease in the townsite.

The Crane County wildcat is a 7,000-foot well about eight miles northwest of Crane. Austral Oil Co. located the No. 1 University 660 feet from north and east lines, 6-31, USL Survey.

Oil Workers Strike, Gulf Plans Pipeline Proration

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—About 4,500 employees of the Gulf Oil Corp. refinery drew their last pay checks for awhile Friday. Picketts paced at the struck plant.

The workers helped the company shut down the huge plant Monday, then put up pickets Wednesday.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union struck after the company refused to continue the current contract with a 5 per cent wage increase. The company sought to reclassify work assignments and the union said this would cause many union members to lose their jobs. The pay scale averaged about $2.71 per hour.

The workers collected $1,056,000 as wages for the last two weeks Friday.

The Houston Post said it had learned that "certain and severe" reductions of crude oil purchases in southwestern fields are planned by Gulf. It said it had been informed by industry sources that the company will begin purchasing reduced quantities of oil from the largest crude oil purchaser in West Texas and among the four top buyers in Texas.

The newspaper said one source said the reduction in Gulf buying will be "close to 50 per cent" of its present requirements. The rated capacity of the Port Arthur refinery is 270,000 barrels a day.

A spread of the strike to other companies in this Gulf of Mexico coastal area appeared unlikely. Laboratory workers at the Texas Co. agreed to a new contract Friday with a 5 per cent increase over a plant here. Other OCAW members in the 7,000-employee plant are expected to act on the contract offer soon.

The 5 per cent increase has been set in a pattern throughout much of the oil industry this year. Officials of the Koppers Co. in Port Acres near Port Arthur said it will have a close within 20 days unless its stocks are replenished.

The plastics plant draws all its ethylene supply from the Gulf plant here. About 250 are employed by Koppers.

Field Locations Spotted in Garza

Two new field locations have been reported in Garza County. The Kenneth Murchison No. 1 SWD Post Estate is in the Post field two miles south of Post and is 2,850 feet with combination tools. The site is 1,000 from north and 40 from west lines, 1-23-5, K. Aycock Survey.

In the Northwest Justiceburg (Glorieta) field, Welser - Brown Oil Co. located the No. 2 J. S. Boren 3,350 from north and 990 from west lines, 132-5, H&G Survey, and seven miles northeast of Justiceburg. Drilling depth is 2,800 feet.

Basin Drilling In Another Decline

Drilling in the Permian Basin took another drastic drop last week, with the count on Friday showing only 353 active rigs. This is 23 less than Reed Roller Bit Co. found when it surveyed the Basin on Jan. 23, and is the lowest since Sept. 19, 1958 when only 335 rotary were turning. A year ago 367 were going.

Reeves suffered one of the most drastic drops, falling from 11 to six during the week. In Ward County, the slump was from nine to five.

Andrews County, meanwhile, continued to lead the Basin by counties and increased its count from 56 to 61 during the week. Lea County, N. M., is still second with 43, up four from the last count.

Howard lost two from its seven on Jan. 23, for its lowest total since Nov. 21. It had five rigs at that time. In the survey Counties included in the survey (with Jan. 23 totals in parentheses) are Andrews 61 (58) Borden 6 (6), Brewster 0 (1), Cochran 5 (5), Coke 2 (2), Chavez 4 (2), Crane 16 (16), Crockett 3 (1), Crosby 2 (1), Culberson 8 (7), and Dawson 5 (6).

Also Dickens 1 (0), Ector 22 (26), Eddy 16 (17), Fisher 5 (7), Gaines 16 (16), Garza 7 (10), Glasscock 0 (1), Hockley 3 (3), HOWARD 5 (7), Irion 1 (1), Kent 3 (3), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 43 (39), Lubbock 1 (1), Loving 2 (3), and Lynn 2 (2).

Others on the survey are Martin 4 (5), Midland 5 (8), Menard 1 (1), Mitchell 3 (4), Nolan 3 (4), Pecos 13 (14), Reagan 1 (0), Roosevelt 3 (3), Reeves 5 (1), Runnels 5 (6), Scurry 12 (13), Schleicher 3 (4), Sierra 1 (1), Sterling 1 (1).

Also Stonewell 2 (4), Sutton 1 (3), Tom Green 2 (3), Terry 1 (2), Upton 4 (4), Van Verde 1 (1), Winkler 20 (19), Yoakum 8 (8), others 2 (0), and Permian Basin totals 353 (376).

Opens Office

B. Oliver Wood, who is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wood, has opened his office as consulting petroleum engineer in Monahan. For the past eight and a half years he has been petroleum engineer for C. O. Lee and W. P. Luse, directing development of a water flood project as well as supervising all production. A graduate of San Angelo High School and the University of Texas, he has worked with several companies as engineer and now hopes to specialize in water flood projects. Wood is the son of Dr. B. O. Wood, San Angelo Presbyterian pastor, and is married to the former Mary Louise Wood.

Sunray To Set Up More Divisions

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. has disclosed it will decentralize its exploration and production departments and elevate several offices to division status over a period of two or three years.

Reports said about 200 of the company's 1,200 employees might be affected.

Sunray said the decentralization movement has "just been approved" and details are not yet worked out.

But offices expected to be elevated to division status will include Sunray production and exploration offices in Oklahoma City, Denver, and Midland, Tex. A fourth division is being considered for one of the Gulf Coast cities.

Phillips Plugs Deepest Hole

After two years and four months of drilling and testing, Phillips Petroleum Co. has issued orders to plug its No. 1-E-E University, deepest oil and gas exploration ever drilled.

The central Pecos County wildcat, 12 miles east of Fort Stockton, establishing a world depth record of 23,340 feet, where it was bottomed in the Ellenburger.

It claims the record for the deepest point casing has ever been set. The 5 1/2-inch liner was set at 23,326 feet. The world's deepest perforations also are in this project, from 22,310-500 feet.

Another world record held by Phillips 1-E-E University is the deepest whistock job ever completed. Operator lost a string of pipe in the hole at total depth of 23,397 feet. After fish was recovered to 19,968 feet, operator set a whistock and continued making hole.

The record-setting project found two Ellenburger zones, one at 24,974 feet, and the other at 18,708 feet. It drilled through the Devonian formation five times, entering it at the following points: 13,185 feet; 13,868, 15,764, 21,740, and 21,652 feet.

At the time Phillips started drilling, Phillips University, the deepest well in the world, was held by the El Paso-Lariat-Farwell well, which connects El Paso Natural's Dimmitt compressor station to the Southern Union Gas Co. transmission system near Farwell.

Southern Union will purchase the part of El Paso Natural at this point to serve its Clovis, N. M., customers.

Carson To Address Refiners Meeting

TULSA, Okla. — Matthew V. Carson Jr., administrator of the voluntary imports program, will be one of the featured speakers at the 47th annual meeting of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association in San Antonio, March 16-18.

Capt. Carson, selected in 1957 to administer the voluntary imports program will address the Wednesday, March 18, general session of the meeting. Other general session speakers are Kerry King, a vice president of the Texas Company and chairman of the committee on public affairs of the American Petroleum Institute, and R. L. Doan, manager of the Atomic Energy Division of Phillips Petroleum Company. WPR president, Harry J. Kennedy, will open the general session on Tuesday with the President's Address. In addition to the general sessions, the program for the three day meeting, which will headquarter at the Hilton Hotel, will include an asphalt symposium and three technical sessions.

The overall progress of the accelerated national highway program to the particular interests of the producers of petroleum products, with special interest on the areas served by members of the WPRPA, will be discussed at the asphalt symposium, March 16. The speaker, Maj. General Louis V. Prentiss, U.S.A., retired, is presently serving as the executive vice president and secretary of the American Road Builders' Association. Using the latest available reports and estimates, Gen. Prentiss will forecast the construction activity. "Progress in Asphalt Technology" authored by John M. Griffith, The Asphalt Institute, and a paper by Phillips Petroleum Company, were also scheduled for the Symposium.

The technical session, Monday afternoon, sponsored by the Motor Fuels and Diesel Fuels Committees, will feature a talk by Mr. Stanley C. Hope, who retired in 1950 as Esso Starboard Oil president.

They Have A Heart

These three ladies have a heart for your heart—they head up the Heart campaign during February. With Mrs. Larson Lloyd, center, general chairman, are her two co-chairmen, Mrs. Robert T. Piner, left, and Mrs. Robert R. McEwen. Assisting them will be Ralph White, Coahoma, and Mrs. C. V. Wash, Forsan, who are heading the campaign in those communities, and Mrs. Kate Irons, Heart Sunday chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Harold Talbott. The local chapter is cooperating with the nationwide campaign by the American Heart Society.

Farmers To Pay Social Security Earnings Taxes

"Most self-employed farmers will pay their 1958 social security tax along with their federal income tax by Feb. 15," H. P. Thomas, manager of the Odessa social security office, said today.

"All self-employed farmers, including all farm landlords who participate materially in the production on their farm, whose net earnings for 1958 amounted to $400 or more, are required to file returns and to pay the social security tax due on their earnings. This is true even though they may have deduction and do not owe any income tax," Thomas said.

A farmer may use the standard method of figuring net earnings by deducting all operating expenses, including depreciation on all farm machinery, livestock, tile ditches, and farm buildings, from the total gross farm income for the year. Or if his gross farm income is more than $1,800 and his actual net income is less than $1,200, even a net loss, he may report two-thirds of $1,800 or $1,200. If his gross farm income is less than $1,800, he may report two-thirds of his gross farm income as his net farm income. A farmer whose gross earnings amount to $600 or more could, by use of the optional method, show net earnings of at least $400. If he cannot report as much as $400 in net earnings, no social security tax is due. The tax rate for 1958 on self-employment is 3% per cent on the first $4,200 of net earnings.

"It is important that anyone with income subject to social security tax show his name and social security number on the Schedule F of his income tax return exactly as it is shown on his official social security card," Thomas said.

All tax returns are filed with the Internal Revenue Service. More detailed information may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service or from the social security office at Odessa.

1958 Cotton Crop Rated Among Highest In Quality

LUBBOCK — Quality wise, the 1958 Texas High Plains cotton crop was one of the best on record, George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers, reported this week in the final quality report on cotton statistics for this area.

Out of the two million bales harvested on the High Plains — an all-time production record — statistics show that white cotton accounted for 71.3 per cent of the crop with 59.2 per cent strict low middling white and above.

Light spotted cotton totaled only 25 per cent and 16.5 per cent of that was middling light spot and better. Full spotted cotton was only 2 1/2 per cent, Pfeiffenberger said.

The average staple length on the Plains 1958 crop was 31-32 of an inch with 25 per cent measuring one inch and longer. Only 8 1/2 per cent fell below 15-16.

The micronaire average was 4.0 with 81 1/2 per cent above the tenable micronaire limit of 3.5 and the majority of the crop, or 51 per cent fell between 4.0 and 5.0. The Pressley fiber strength averaged 74,600 pounds per square inch with 44 per cent testing between 75,000 and 90,000 pounds.

Reports are based on 65,696 samples for grade, staple and micronaire and 5,906 samples for Pressley tests.

Conference Set On Extension Of Road

County Commissioners Court plans to confer with the property owners who own land along the route of the proposed extension of FM 846 in the north central part of the county Monday.

An attempt to wind up right-of-way needs for the new highway will be made. The state has informed the county it is ready to award contract on the project and start work at an early date. Jake Roberts, district state highway engineer, is pressing for the easements needed for the job.

The property owners involved, who are relatively few in number, have promised the commissioners they will be on hand Monday for a conference.

Sheriff's Quarters Will Be Expanded

Howard County Commissioners Court has authorized the erection of a partition in the short hall leading from the main corridor south to the sheriff's office. This partition will be placed just south of the door to the juvenile officers quarters.

The closed-off hall will be added to the sheriff's area and will be used, Sheriff Miller Harris said, as a fingerprinting and "mugging" room. There will be space, he explained, for the desk at which fingerprinting is carried out and for the camera and lights needed to photograph prisoners.

This will permit the removal of these pieces of equipment from the office of the chief deputy and give him and the civil deputy more working room.

liff felt that the hall was of no special value as an artery of communication between the main corridor and the sheriff's office. It was held to be more or less wasted space and by placing the partition, it can be put to use.

The commissioners have also authorized the repainting of the secretary's office in the county judge's quarters.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said that the commissioners have not as yet officially accepted the job of remodeling the old library quarters on the first floor. This space has been partitioned into two sections. A door has been opened on the west corridor. The west section will be used by the county clerk and the east portion by the tax assessors.

New Explorer Post Formed At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — A new Boy Scout Explorer post, sponsored by Stanton Jaycees, has been organized here. Bill McRee, district Scout officer, reported.

H. J. Dauphin is post advisor. Connie Hood is institutional representative, and Yuell Winslow is chairman of the post committee.

Another meeting is scheduled for Thursday when Gene Campbell of Big Spring will help initiate a training program. Thirty-one boys are registered so far.

Peron Vanishes

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Juan Peron, ex-dictator of Argentina, has not been seen here for several days and there are reports he has left the country. He has been living in exile here for a year. Informants said they could neither confirm nor deny the reports.

Homemakers As Students

As if keeping a house, managing a family and keeping up with various activities were not enough, there are many local homemakers who are enrolled in Howard County Junior College for the coming term.

About 80 of these ambitious women were on the roll for the fall term; the count has not as yet been completed for the spring term at the college.

Some are meeting classes regularly in the daytime, working toward a degree; others are studying special subjects, such as typing, shorthand, horticulture, landscaping and methods of operating business machines. During the previous term, many learned more about the Bible.

Evening classes claim the time of some of the group who are employed during the day. Art classes meet once a week, and there is a class in ceramics in which the women learn to pour the mixture for the desired article; participate in firing and glazing the product and decorating and painting it. Extra care must be taken with any extra touches, such as ruffles, lace or flowers, which must be applied by hand.

Many of the women have small children, with whom Daddy is a baby-sitter on the evenings that Mommy attends school. Others have finished rearing their families and find that time hangs rather heavily on their hands; they have taken this opportunity to learn something that may or may not be used in work outside the home.

STUDY IS A FAMILY AFFAIR in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lile, 1510 Sunset, shown in picture above. Mrs. Lile is one of the many homemakers who are attending Howard County Junior College and managing home and family at the same time. Linda, in the third grade at Washington Place School, makes it a point to study when her mother is working on her lessons, which cover an education and an English course. Mrs. Lile is studying toward a degree and hopes to substitute in the local public schools.

TEACHER TURNS STUDENT as Mrs. H. L. Derrick, left in picture at right, prepares to paint a ceramic figurine which she has made in the class at Howard County Junior College. Mrs. H. T. Bratcher is another of the local women who are taking advantage of the training at the college to attend classes either in the day or evening sessions. She is the mother of two daughters, Gayle, 14, who is a junior high pupil, and Joan, 16, who attends senior high school. Mrs. Derrick is a teacher in the Washington Place School.

TO KEEP UP WITH HER FAMILY, Mrs. Tolford Durham, in picture below, is taking piano lessons from Jack Hendrix at Howard County Junior College each week. Her husband is a violinist; their son, Donald, 12, plays clarinet, and their two daughters, Diana, 10, and Delores, 6, are both learning to play the piano. An hour a day is devoted to practice by Mrs. Durham, who remarked that "it's hard to find that hour at times with a lively family to manage."

PUSH THIS AND THEN THIS says James (Bounce) Covert (above) to his mother, Mrs. Henry Covert, as they work on a rotary calculator at Howard County Junior College. The two are classmates at the college, where Mrs. Covert has already had training on a 10-key machine and is taking just the one course at the present time. She plans to enter HCC in the fall for a regular business course—"just because it gives me a boost to know that I know something useful." Seems that it would be quite a challenge to a fellow to have his mother's grades competing with his ratings.

JUST FOR HER OWN ENJOYMENT, Mrs. Kenneth Huff, in picture below, is studying shorthand at the local college. It is to add to her knowledge of typing, which she gained during her high school days. In the fall, when their youngest child, Kenny, starts to school, Mrs. Huff will enter the college for a regular course of study. The Huffs have a daughter, Cathy, 11, who is in the fifth grade at Washington Place School. (Photos by Keith McMillin)

Ride, Cowgirl, Ride!

They don't show in the picture, but little "Shelley" is wearing boots, in true West Texas style. Helping her balance on the pony are her parents, 2-Lt. and Mrs. Raymond Thomas, who claim Michigan as their native state but acclaim West Texas for its mild climate.

Teaching Is A Joint Enthusiasm Of Student Pilot And His Wife

Wives of military personnel at Webb AFB form an invaluable resource to the local school system in that many of them are qualified and willing to teach. Not all can be added to the faculty roster, but there are those who are pleased to substitute teachers.

Thomas, Big Springers for only three weeks now, were excited Thursday when Mrs. Thomas was called into action as a substitute teacher at Runnels Junior High. She reported a thoroughly enjoyable day teaching English and creative writing to the seventh, eighth and ninth graders. Both she and her husband have interest in the teaching profession.

There are two BA degrees in the family. Lt. Thomas received his in speech therapy from Michigan State University at Lansing. His wife's degree in speech and drama was conferred by Mercy College, Detroit.

By a stroke of good fortune, the two were working at the Detroit post office on a part-time basis when they met; the wedding crowned a two-year courtship. In spite of the jobs and college studies, there was still time for them to engage in school plays, and, later, in civic theatres. Both enjoy athletics. She plays the piano and organ and he is an auto mechanic by hobby.

Crafts appeal to the couple, and their Christmas gifts were all handmade. Woodwork, ceramics and metalcraft were the answers.

Center of their lives is Michelle, their two-year-old daughter. The frisky little blonde responds more readily to her nickname, Shelley. Huge pine cones around their home at 1012 Sycamore are souvenirs of their stay in Moultrie, Ga., where student pilot Lt. Thomas received his primary training.

'ROUND TOWN

Having successfully passed through December, we looked to January and the new year with enthusiasm, thinking, as most people do, we would not get so involved again. At least when we were busy with the Christmas activities we were looking forward to the out-of-town company and family get-together occasions. Came January and with it such hustle and bustle. When we had out of town company we didn't even have time to bid them howdy and adieu.

Most of the first of the year work is of a service of a charitable nature and I can't think of anything that brings about a more binding tie than people of a city working together for their YMCA, March of Dimes, Heart Fund and all the other drives that many people give their time to simply because they feel it is a good thing to do.

Today at Hamilton Field the March of Dimes will benefit from Operation Airlift. Airplane rides can be enjoyed and the cost is a penny a pound. This is one of the last phases of the 1939 campaign. Take a ride and help out for all your pounds are worth.

When MR. AND MRS. HAYES STRIPLING JR. attended the YMCA membership victory dinner Friday evening, they brought along little two-year-old Hayes III. He was a most enthusiastic little member who joined in the singing and applauded with vigor. It's good to start them young in worthwhile services.

MRS. R. B. HOBBS is in Merkel with her mother, Mrs. I. F. Gilbert, who is hospitalized there. Also with her is Mrs. Arnold Seydler, a former Big Spring resident, who now lives in Abilene and with whom Mrs. Gilbert makes her home.

Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Seydler were visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Gilbert in Merkel on Sunday when Mrs. Gilbert became seriously ill. Another daughter, Mrs. Leonard Coker, spent Tuesday with her mother.

MR. AND MRS. C. K. WILLIAMS are in Portsmouth, N. H. to be with A. 2. and Mrs. Paul Holden Jr., who are the parents of a new little daughter, Cecilia Renee, who was born Monday.

The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holden Sr. and is stationed at Pease AFB at Portsmouth.

The Senior Holdens will have to wait until June to see the little one, as the new aunt is still in school.

JAMES FURLONG returned here last night from New York City where he has been taking instruction as a consultant for Metropolitan Insurance Co. The Furlongs have recently moved to Midland, but Mrs. Furlong and little Sharon stayed here with Dr. and Mrs. N. B. Furlong while her husband was away.

Plants are such interesting things. Take the gardenia plant in the yard of MR. AND MRS. JACK COOK at 1706 Harvard. With very little care, one dose of vinegar water last year, the little bush has put out beautiful blossoms and has a deep richness to Intensify Flavor

House guests of MR. AND MRS. K. H. MCGIBBONS left Saturday morning. They were Thelma McGibbon who lives in Gadsden, Ala., and Wally Hornbrook and Charles Webb who continued their concert tour with an engagement in Phoenix Saturday night.

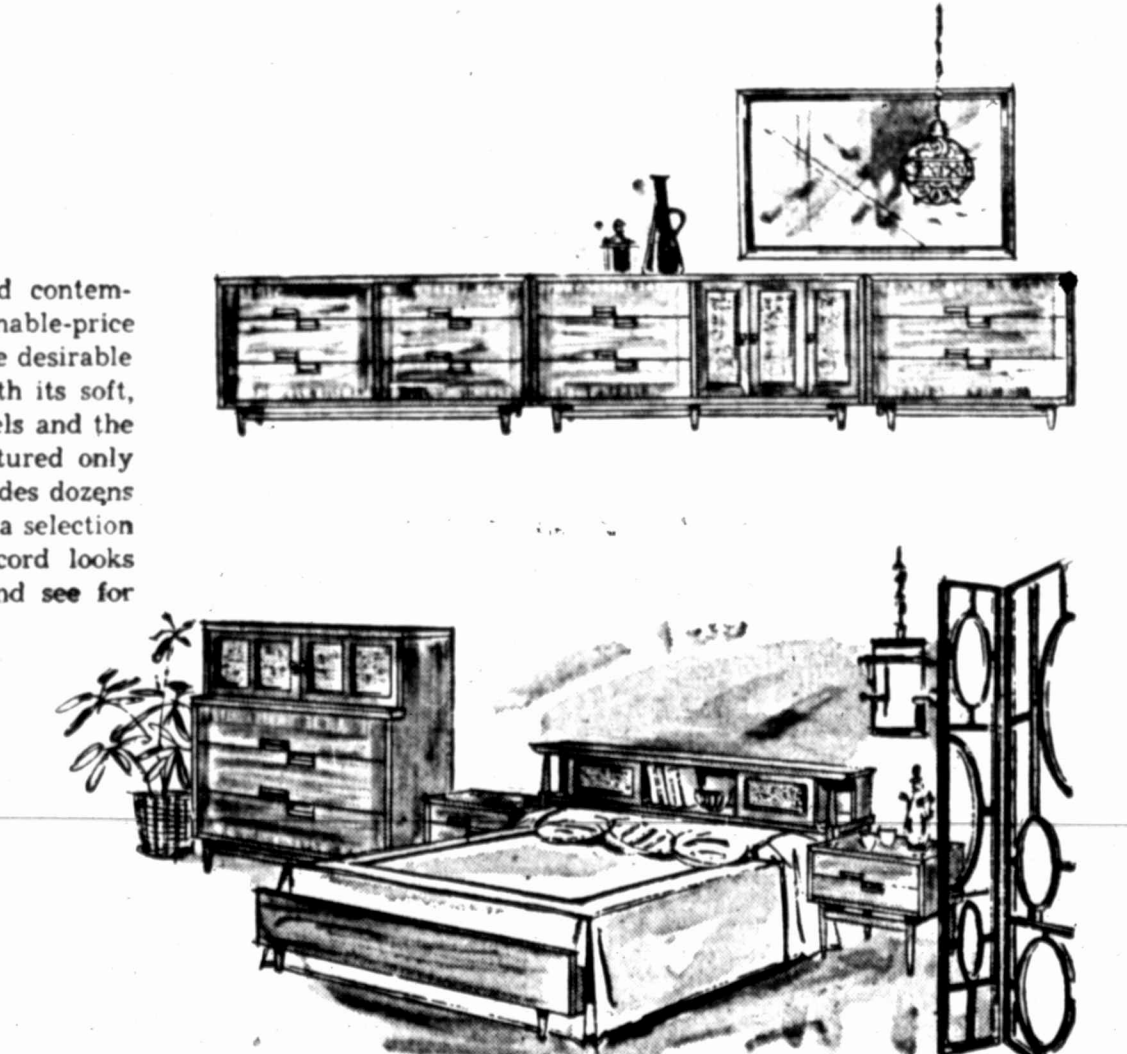

The piano duo entertained informally at the McGibbons' home Friday evening when a group of neighbors and other friends called.

GRANVILLE DAWSON of Midland is convalescing at the Malone & Hogan Hospital after undergoing surgery Wednesday for removal of a kidney stone. He is getting along just fine but may be in the hospital another week or more. Mrs. Dawson is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick.

designed by Merton L. Gershun

Accord was deliberately designed to bring good contemporary design and high quality to the reasonable-price bracket... and this new starter set makes it more desirable than ever. Come in and see the rich walnut with its soft, oil type finish... the inlaid bandings, cane panels and the dull gleam of four-leaf metal inlays. We've pictured only a few of the pieces, the complete collection includes dozens of different bedroom and dining room pieces and a selection of particularly beautiful occasional tables. Accord looks expensive, but it really isn't. Come in soon and see for yourself.

Bill Earley, Mary Quarles Exchange Vows In Alto

The First Methodist Church in Alto was the setting on Saturday evening for the wedding of Mary Alene Quarles and Billy J. Earley.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Quarles of Alto; the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bill Earley, 1704 State, and the late Mr. Earley.

MRS. BILLY J. EARLEY

Baskets of white gladioli and tapers formed the background for the white satin kneeling pillow on which the couple knelt as they exchanged vows before the Rev. Don Brice, pastor of the First Christian Church of Nacogdoches.

Nuptial selections were played by the organist, Jimmy Brunt, of Alto, who accompanied Hermes E. Payne Jr. of Elgin, as he sang O. Perfect Love, Because and The Lord's Prayer.

Charles N. Duddleston of Eagle Lake, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. She wore a floor-length gown of white lace over tulle with a sabrina neckline and long sleeves which tapered over the hands. Back interest was added to the skirt with a bustle-like effect of tulle ruffles.

Caught to a tiara of seed pearls and sequins was a shoulder-length veil of illusion; she carried white carnations and lily of the valley.

For the sake of tradition, the bride named her wedding ensemble as something new: the tiara she had borrowed from her sister, and she wore a blue garter. In her slipper, she carried a penny on which was imprinted The Lord's Prayer.

Jean Ann Payne of Da'Las was maid of honor, and Mrs. Jack Angelo of Nacogdoches was matron of honor. Both wore frocks of pink brocade, made on the identical lines of the bride's gown.

Jimmy Porter of Big Spring was best man; also from Big Spring was the groomsmen, Don Swinney. Guests were seated by David Patterson and Jerry Sechrist of Nacogdoches.

Betty Click, of Alto a niece of the bride, was flower girl.

followed the ceremony. Assisted by their mothers, the feminine attendants and the uncle of the bride, the couple received guests.

Al the register was Mrs. Albertine Click, sister of the bride.

A table covered in pink with net overlay held the bride's bouquet and the flowers of the attendants. A cake was made in the form of an open Bible with the inscription,

What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder. On the opposite side were the names, Mary and Bill.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. John Birdwell of Abilene; Susanne Bartlette and Kay Asher, both of Alto.

When the couple left for San Antonio on the wedding trip, the bride was wearing a suit in cocoa brown with a fur collar and pink accessories. Upon their return, they will make a home in Nacogdoches, where both are in school.

The bride is a junior in Stephen F. Austin College, where she is a member of Fidele Social Club, Ellen H. Richards Club and the Inter-Faith Council.

In the same college, the bridegroom is a senior student. He is a member of Sylvans Club; vice president of the student body; a member of the Austinite Social Club; Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, and the Inter-Faith Council.

Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McFall, Mrs. J. R. Creath and Mr. and Mrs. George Melear, all of Big Spring; Billy Martin of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelley of Houston and Mrs. Payne.

BRIDAL SHOWERS

Before the wedding day, Miss Quarles was complimented by friends in both Alto and Nacogdoches, who entertained at tea for her.

Ruth Williams was hostess for a party in the home town of the bride-elect. In Nacogdoches, Mrs. Jerry Alexander and Mrs. E. C. Patterson were hostesses in the home of the latter, when about 60 guests called.

Small In The Middle

Inger Stevens, who is rapidly climbing to stardom, never wears a girdle or a cinch but keeps her 20-inch waist with daily exercise. She is currently starring in "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," for MGM.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Some Exercises For That 20-Inch Waist

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Swedish-born Inger Stevens has shown such brilliance as an actress that her name is often linked with the great Garbo and Bergman. What is this blonde girl like who has evoked such enthusiasm for her beauty and talent?

As she came into the commissary at MGM, fresh from the set of "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," I admired her graceful walk.

"Are you a dancer?" I asked, once the business of ordering lunch was out of the way.

"I had a brief career of it," Inger replied, but confessed that her true love from childhood had been the theater.

I wanted to know where she had learned to speak such flawless English.

"I came to this country early in my teens when my father, who is a professor, won a Fulbright scholarship," Inger replied. "Finding myself with a language barrier at such an impressionable age left me with a shyness I still haven't overcome. But I discovered that an easy way to make friends is to be a good listener."

"When I was 17, I left our home in Texas and went to New York. I arrived with one suitcase and $30. Since my parents were divorced and I had to be on my own, I think I matured much earlier than most girls. It was a question of assuming responsibility, and I learned quite young that life is not a finishing school."

"Once in New York I got a modeling job. I wore every type of high fashion, and it helped me develop a clothes sense."

"It is necessary to be aware of high-style in order to select what is right for you," she explained.

"But I never chose my clothes to attract attention. I'm not conservative, but I agree with those who feel that a woman should always be more noticeable than when she's wearing."

"I, clothes are to be flattering, you have to analyze yourself and admit your limitations. This doesn't mean you can't improve them. You should be an artist about trying new styles, but it seems to me you should keep a mind that the purpose of a dress is to play up your good points."

"I have an adorable 20-inch waist and corsettes that she never wears a girdle or cinch."

"But," she confided, "I do exercise 15 minutes every day to keep my muscles firm. It doesn't take much of a work-out to keep my body line toned, but I'm very consistent."

I wanted to know what Inger did every day to have such a beautiful figure.

"It's an all-around limbering and stretching routine with good breathing," she explained. "I find exercise is very relaxing, and sometimes after a strenuous day on the set I exercise before going to bed, and I sleep much better for it."

Inger has four favorite exercises.

First she lies on the floor and stretches as far as she can, with her arms above her head and with her heels pulling her legs long. Then with straight knees she raises her legs to a right angle position and lowers them almost to the floor, but before they touch, up they come again. She does this at least 10 times, often more.

Next she stands erect, and holding her arms straight out in front of her she raises up on her toes and does knee bends, keeping her face straight. She suggests standing on a chair if you have trouble keeping your balance.

Standing erect again, the third exercise is one of falling, forward "eggroll" fashion. Keep your legs straight and try to touch the floor with the palms of your hands. You should feel a good pull in the back of the knees. Come up slowly, inhaling, one vertebra at a time.

The fourth exercise is good for the waist line. Put your hands on your hips, and keep the lower part of your body stationary as you circle deeply, first in one direction and then the other.

"You have to think of what you are doing. You can't cheat," Inger added, "and you must be sure to breathe deeply while exercising."

KEEP SLIM AND YOUNG

You'll feel better and look better with daily exercise. In Leaflet M-74, "Exercises to Keep Slim and Young," are routines for shoulders and pelvic girdle, legs, stomach and arms. Also included are ways to reduce the buttocks, how to strengthen the back and exercises for developing and firming the bustline. For your

Blue, White Featured At Shower

White and blue decorations were used by several hostesses. Friday night when they arranged a wedding shower for Mrs. Derrell E. Sanders, the former Sue Averett.

The couple was married Monday at Baptist Temple. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Averett, 1611 East Sixth, and Mr. and Mrs. Garland Sanders, 1701 Johnson.

The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Monroe Gafford, who was assisted by Mrs. Leoland Edwards, Mrs. Willard Smith, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Tom Buchanan, Mrs. F. D. Rogers, and Mrs. Dick Rigby. Also Mrs. Henry Carpenter, Mrs. J. S. Parks, Mrs. Charles Modisette, Mrs. Bill Hanson, Mrs. Reuben Hill and Mrs. B. Riddle.

White organdy over tulle covered the round table where the hostesses alternated at serving. At the center, a wedding tree of white net held rusbands tinted blue and tiny wedding ring. A similar arrangement, on a pedestal, adorned the entertainment room. Silver appointments completed the table setting.

A copper-topped hostess set was presented to Mrs. Sanders by those who arranged the shower.

About 55 attended.

MRS. B. F. SEAY

Seated Tea Planned For Club Group

Women of the 10 local federated clubs will gather Friday afternoon for a seated tea honoring Mrs. B. F. Seay of Andrews, president of the Eighth District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The affair, to be given in the student union building at Howard County Junior College, is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m.

Included in the city federation are the Modern Woman's Forum, The Woman's Forum, Junior Woman's Forum, the Spoudazine Forum, and all the Hyperion Clubs, the 1905, 1930, 1945, 1948, 1953 and 1955.

Presidents of the clubs will be included as members of the house party. Mrs. Norman Read will introduce Mrs. Seay, who will discuss the work of the federation and the project being undertaken by the group.

A musical program is being planned for the occasion by a committee. Mrs. Jackson Friedlander is president of the local federation.

Daughter Is Born To The Romanses

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Romans announced the birth of a daughter, Rita Lynn, on Jan. 26. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 2 ounces. Mrs. W. B. Florence of Lampasas is here with her daughter and family. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. T. E. Romans, also of Lampasas.

Mrs. John Kubecka plans to leave Monday for Gadsden, Ala., to visit relatives for about two weeks.

Jack Lamb, who is a patient at Cowper Clinic, is reportedly much improved but will remain hospitalized for some time.

Dana Lynn Fairchild of Odessa spent the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Fairchild, and with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka, Mrs. Vera Harris and Mrs. J. D. Leonard attended funeral services for W. E. Caldwell in San Angelo. He was the father of Mrs. W. B. Dunn of Odessa, formerly of Forsan.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Digby of Lamesa announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bessie Darnell, to Bobby Wayne King, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. King. The couple will exchange vows on March 22 at the Sunset Baptist Church.

Coahoma Bride Is Shower Honoree At Baptist Church

COAHOMA — Mrs. Don Smith, was the guest of honor, recently for a miscellaneous shower given in the annex of the First Baptist Church. Guests were registered by Brenda Hill, sister of the bride. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a linen cutwork cloth, and centered with an arrangement of pink bells and roses with a white heart in the background. Mrs. Velma McMinn and Mrs. H. L. Miller were at the table service. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Clovis Phinney, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Raymond Morrison, Mrs. Pete West, Mrs. Marvin Francis and Mrs. McMinn.

Patsy Reaves Is Feted With Bridal Shower

Patsy Reaves, bride-elect of Loy H. Anderson, was complimented with a bridal shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. L. Cooper. Several women joined Mrs. Cooper in extending the hospitality.

The couple will repeat wedding vows Feb. 14, in the East Fourth Baptist parsonage. Miss Reaves is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Reaves, 601 East 12th. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. D. W. Anderson, 508 Bell, and the late Mr. Anderson.

Mrs. Lee Nuckles, Mrs. H. M. Macomber, Mrs. Bob Wren, Mrs. B. H. Williams, Mrs. Elgin Jones, Mrs. T. E. Stringfellow and Mrs. Leon Cain formed the 'hostess' group, with Mrs. A. D. Harmon Jr., Mrs. B. D. Rice, Mrs. Denver Yates, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. M. L. Kirby, Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, Mrs. R. C. Stocks, Marguerite Cooper, Mrs. Stanton Johnson and Mrs. Harold Cain. Members of the Homemakers Class of the church also shared in the group.

One large parasol in blue net with matching tiny versions were ornaments for the refreshment table, where a bridal figurine centered a reflector. The table was appointed in crystal and blue was again evident in decor for the cake. Wanda Clawson, Mrs. Bob Jones and Mrs. R. G. Davis alternated in serving and in displaying the gifts.

About 75 attended.

J. D. Greens To Live In Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Green will make a home in Mesa, Ariz., following their wedding Friday evening in the Nurse-Home at the VA Hospital.

The bride is the former Sherre Baker, daughter of Mrs. Dema Baker, 410 West 10th, parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Green of Lenoah.

Standing before an improvised altar of white tapers, white stock and greenery, the couple exchanged double ring vows read by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Norman Furlong sang O Promise Me; she was accompanied by Mrs. Telford Durham at the piano.

White Chantilly lace over pink taffeta made the gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Charlie Robinson. Pink satin was used for a large bow at the waistline, from which hung streamers reaching the hemline.

Carnations surrounding a white orchid were carried on a white Bible.

The bride wore a ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Robinson, as something old; her wedding attire was new; she wore a blue garter, given her by her great-aunt Mrs. D. A. Rhoads, and she had "borrowed some pearls from an aunt, Mrs. S. C. Robinson. Sandra Baker, attending her sister as maid of honor, was dressed in aqua satin fashioned into a full skirt and fitted bodice with low neckline. A bow marked the center front; her flowers were pink carnations, made into a nosegay.

Serving as best man was Wallace Hazelwood, Lynn Walker was the bearer of the rings, and the tapers were lighted by Susan Baker, another sister of the bride. Her dress was of aqua chiffon, and she wore a wristlet of pink carnations.

During the reception, crystal and silver appointments were used in serving the bride's cake, a two-tiered confection, with white frosting roses and pink wedding bells as decoration. A bride and groom figurine topped the cake.

Linda Russell was at the guest register, and serving was done by Mrs. Ronnie Schaffer, Merlene MacDonald and Miss Russell.

A blue knit sheath was chosen by the bride for traveling to her new home, where the bridegroom is an employe of East and West Agencies. He is a graduate of Stanton High School.

The new Mrs. Green is a 1959 mid-term graduate of the local high school where she was a member of the Rainbow Girls and Tri-Hi-Y.

Family Get-Together Is Held In Forsan

FORSAN — Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hines are his niece, Sue Hines of New Orleans, a student at Baylor University; his brother, Henry Hines of Carbon; and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Plummer of Midland. Fred Wright of Water Valley visited here with the Roy Walmers.

Mrs. Hoyt Andrews and Danny, and Mrs. Wilton Cooper of Snyder visited friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Shoultz of Post were here to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoultz, Judy, Joyce and Jackie.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Camp visited their daughter and family, the Arthur Gooches, in Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Nason and children of Colorado City were guests of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Dub Day and family.

Jo Copeland

ACCENT OF FLATTERY
White Jabot Made
So It's Removable

Jo Copeland loves the freshness of crisp white near the face, always handles it in a new and exciting fashion.

Here the zigzagged jabot comes in four parts, the outer two in the dress fabric, the removable inner two meant to be in pristine white pique, linen or organdy.

The shape of the dress itself is equally notable, since she retains a fitted normal waistline but gives it a new look by lifting the seam high. Strategically placed darts add an extremely pleasant curviness to the four gore skirt.

Sensational in navy wool, raw silk or rayon mixtures with white pique, you'll want it for summer in chambray, cords, town cottons. That touch of white then will be as effectively cool as a heap of shaved ice.

From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Koger - Nowling Nuptials Held In Lamesa Saturday Evening

LAMESA — Wedding vows for Nancy Jane Nowling and Thomas Charles Koger were read Saturday evening in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Walter Horn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, read the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Allen Nowling and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis Koger, all of Lamesa. The couple stood before an altar background of greenery and woodwardia flanked by baskets of white gladioli and mums with branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. As the guests assembled, Ernestine Wood and Mrs. A. G. Barnard presented a prelude of wedding music and accompanied both Julia Holder as she sang Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee and Mrs. John Weaver of Goldsmith as she read "How Do I Love Thee." At the conclusion of the ceremony, Gene Campbell sang the Lord's Prayer as the couple knelt at the altar. Tapers were lighted by Robert B. Koger, brother of the bridegroom, and Lynnetta Cain of Tahoka, cousin of the bride. The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white imported French lace and nylon tulle over net and taffeta. Designed with a portrait neckline with a pleated tulle yoke enhanced with appliques of lace at the center front, the lace bodice terminated with deep points at the center front waistline. Long sleeves ended in points over the hands. The waltz length skirt was fashioned of fully shirred tulle with panels of lace at each side and down the front and back. Her veil of silk illusion was joined to a coronet of lace tulle embroidered with iridescent sequins outlined in seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Forming the bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white rosebuds and stephanotis. Mrs. Derrell Rogers, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Genevieve Toliver of Wichita Falls; Sunny Barron and Marian McDonald of Lamesa, and Mrs. J. P. Senter of Lubbock, sister of the groom. They wore identical gowns of Gaelic green peau de soie with bandeau necklines. Princess style skirts featured flowing panels in the back and they wore matching headbands. Pink rosebuds formed their bouquets. Frank Jones was best man, and groomsmen included Sherrod Dunn, Donnell Echols and B. B. Burnett, all of Lamesa, and Dwayne Powell of Lubbock. Ushers were Felix Crawford and Carl Cox of Lamesa; Bill Dearing, Irving J. P. Senter, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Derrell Rogers, brother-in-law of the bride, and Bill Yeager of Abilene. Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the parlor of the church where the couple received their guests assisted by their parents and the feminine attendants. The bride's table was laid with a white crocheted cloth made by the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. E. J. Cooper of Tahoka. Silver appointments were used on the table, and the bridesmaids bouquets formed the center arrangement. Guests attended the wedding from Tahoka, Lubbock, Austin, Big Spring, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi and Abilene. When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride wore a silt of celadon green imported Italian silk, fashioned with self bands emphasizing the waist and bustline. Her accessories were matching. Mrs. Koger, a graduate of Lamesa High School, is a junior at the University of Texas where she is majoring in English. She is a member of Pi Delta Phi; advisor at Scottish Rite Dorm; member of all-Campus Advisory Council and social chairman of the Baptist Student Union. Her husband was graduated from Lamesa High School where he was president of the student council; he is a graduate of Schreiner Institute, Kerrville where he was battalion commander. He is now a junior at Texas Tech and majoring agricultural science where he an honor student, treasurer of Aggie Club and a member of the rodeo association. They will make their home at 1003-B Ave. X in Lubbock.

Flying For The March Of Dimes

Little Angela Hodnett weighs in for her airplane ride which will benefit the local March of Dimes campaign at Hamilton Field this afternoon. Perched on the wing with her is her pilot, Howard Lloyd. Angela, 14 months of age, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hodnett. The airlift starts at 12:30 p. m. today.

FOR 'DIMES'

Airlift, Pancake Supper Are Set

Private fliers of Big Spring will stage their second annual March of Dimes "Airlift" this afternoon. Half a dozen private planes will be operating out of Hamilton Field, carrying a sight-seeing passenger on trips over the Big Spring area. The fare will be a penny for each pound of a passenger's weight. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. The airlift is to start at 12:30 p. m. and will continue until dark or until everyone on hand is given a ride. Fliers who are making their planes available and who will be on hand to carry passengers are Cecil Hamilton, Clyde McMahon, Vernon Smith, J. D. Carter, Gene Nabors and Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr. Howard Lloyd, who flies for Hamilton, also will be available. A concession stand, serving soft drinks, coffee, candy, etc., will be in operation throughout the afternoon. It will be run by members of the Mu Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. A group of Boy Scouts will be on hand to assist with the weighing, serve as ushers and perform other tasks. A pancake supper at the local National Guard Armory is scheduled as the last major event of the 1959 March of Dimes appeal. The supper will be served from 7 to 10 p. m. Monday. The sponsor will be the Big Spring Guard unit, Battery B of the 132nd Field Artillery Battalion. Although there will be no charge for the supper, contributions to the March of Dimes will be accepted. A program of entertainment is being planned and will be announced in Monday's Herald, said Warrant Officer Billie L. Eggleston, administrative assistant for the Guard unit. In addition, Army equipment is to be displayed and Guardsmen will be on hand to explain the functions of the various items. The supper will consist of pancakes, bacon, syrup and coffee.

Social Security Payments May Cut VA Pension

No part of benefit payments from Social Security can be waived by veterans or their widows who must meet certain income limitations to be eligible for non-service-connected disability or death pension from the Veterans Administration, said Ray Borden, officer-in-charge of the VA Contact Office at the Big Spring VA Hospital. Borden said a boost in Social Security payments which will be reflected in the checks delivered during early February 1959 may cause some persons to become ineligible for VA pension because their "other income" will exceed $1,400 annually if without dependents or $2,700 if with dependents. Many of the affected pensioners mistakenly believe they may waive part of their Social Security benefits and thus bring their "other income" below the annual limitations established for VA pension, Borden said. Income limitations for VA pension purposes apply to veterans and widows of veterans of World War I, World War II, and the Korean conflict. They do not apply to veterans or widows of veterans before World War I. Borden also pointed out that until the person receiving Social Security has actually received an amount equal to the total Social Security contributions taken from his salary or wages in the past, the monthly Social Security payments do not count as income and do not have to be reported.

Annual C-C Banquet Is Slated Thursday

Plans have been completed for the annual Chamber of Commerce membership meeting and annual banquet, to be held Thursday evening, Clarence Manion, ex-dean of the Notre Dame College of Law, will be the speaker for the event. Manion, now an attorney in South Bend, Ind., will fly here late Wednesday. In addition to his banquet appearance, he will speak briefly at a Chamber board of directors luncheon Thursday. The luncheon will be held in Cosden Country Club, and the banquet will be staged in the new Dora Roberts Student Building at Howard County Junior College. Clyde McMahon, owner of a ready-mix concrete operation, will be installed as Chamber president for 1959. He is to succeed Dr. J. E. Hogan in the post. Other new officers are Dan Krause, Cosden Petroleum Corp. executive, vice president; and Ike Robb, theatre owner, treasurer. Another highlight of the program will be the presentation of the local Jaycee award for the "outstanding young man of the year." Chub Jones, Jaycee president, will announce recipient of the honor. R. W. Whipkey, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, will serve as master of ceremonies. Entertainment is to be provided by the choir of HCJC, directed by Ira Schantz. Attendance at the banquet is expected to be about 450. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, president of the Big Spring Pastors Assn., will deliver the invocation. Manion, who makes scores of talks throughout the country each year, will speak on "Management of Freedom." He has been professor of Constitutional law and a practicing attorney in South Bend for the past 25 years. He is a member of the law firm of Doran, Manion, Boynton and Kamm, and was dean of the Notre Dame College of Law from 1941 to 1952 when he resigned to devote full-time to his law business and speaking and writing engagements. He is the author of a number of books and shorter writings. One of his books is "The Key to Peace" which the American Legion plans to distribute in high schools throughout the country as a part of its Americanization program. As a result of his speeches and writings, Manion was awarded medals by Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., in 1949, 1950, 1954 and in 1955. President Eisenhower appointed Manion chairman of the Commission on Inter-Governmental Relations in August, 1953. He resigned from the commission in February, 1954. Gov. Handley of Indiana recently appointed Manion to the State Board of Education. Manion speaks each Sunday evening on the coast-to-coast "Manion Forum" radio network. His latest book, "Let's Face It," is made up of his 1955 radio talks. New Chamber directors who also will take office following the annual banquet are Garner McAdams, Pete Cook, Jack Wallace, H. W. Smith, Wendal Parks, Mrs. Lucy Belle Boulton, Lloyd Curley, Cliff Fisher, K. D. Hestes, Ted Hull, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, Jack Cook, K. H. McGibbon, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Jim Lewis, J. N. Young Jr., Wayne Gound, Randell Polk, Dr. C. B. Marcus, A. K. Steinheimer, E. V. Spence, Charles Sweeney, George Zachariah, Don Newsom and J. R. Hensley. The Newsom catering service will serve the banquet. Tickets for the event are now being offered by a committee headed by Cliff Fisher. The tickets are $3.50 each, a price calculated to meet the costs of the banquet. Planning for Tomorrow will be the keynote of the gathering, and decorations and a big backdrop prepared by Webb AFB officials will carry out that theme. The three-dimensional backdrop is patterned after a pilot's flight plan. Other decorations will be provided by the Big Spring Garden Club.

A Devotional For Today

The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance. (Galatians 5:22, 23.)
PRAYER: Our Father who art in heaven, have mercy upon us. Give ear to our supplications. Withhold not Thy peace as we pray for help. Guide us in the foot-prints of Jesus. Use us to teach others that without faithfully praying to Thee there will be no peace. For Christ's sake. Amen.

Paving—A Major Need

One does not have any difficulty in pin-pointing projects which would be desirable for the city; the only problem is dreaming up revenues to support them.

However, there is one major item that is pressing for consideration and action. That is another major paving project. No doubt, this will have to be undertaken as an assessment program for under a volunteer arrangement one non-cooperator can snag an entire project.

Whether the city's system of warrants supported by parking meter revenues can underwrite the city's share of a citywide push on paving is questionable. It may be that the city's share will have to be covered at least in part by bonds.

The demand for paving cannot be known fully until actual contacts are made and time comes for a sign-up. But indications are that there would be a lively interest. Certainly there is an extensive need. Dust and sand whipped down unpaved stretches are a nuisance. Unpaved slopes present a continuing erosion problem. Rough, washed, uncurbed streets also constitute a civic problem, for it's mighty hard to beautify areas which do not have curb and gutter and paving.

It's been a long time since we've done any extensive paving, and we have a lot of catching up to do.

Growing Pains For The United Fund

The United Fund passed from good hands into good hands at the annual meeting here Thursday evening.

Raymond River, who succeeds Clyde McMahon as president of the organization, has a long record of civic service in Big Spring. He is an indefatigable worker and a good organizer; he is a man with a forward look and an appreciation of the humanities involved in the United Fund agencies.

McMahon has done an outstanding job as president of the big fund agency, and it was fitting to see his work recognized, along with that of Lewis Price, the past campaign chairman, and the many who worked in the last autumn drive.

The Air Force Aid Society is due to be included in the next campaign, which is both fair and wise, for it recognizes that healthy U.F. support has come from Webb AFB, and also that Webb AFB is part of the Big Spring family. Consideration is being given to inclusion of the Warm Springs Foundation at Gonzales, an agency which serves the whole of Texas and which is in critical need of some sustaining support.

These possibilities, together with the expanding services of some of the presently served agencies, point up to the probability that the total budget of the United Fund is going to have to be increased. That's natural for a growing community.

Norman Vincent Peale A Sure Guide To Solving Problems

A husband and wife had a grave problem. They had done everything they could think of to solve it and, finally, the husband who called himself a realist admitted defeat. He went to bed knowing that at six o'clock the next morning in a distant place forces would be set in motion which would close the matter with tragic consequences for them. He tossed fitfully for hours before falling into a troubled sleep.

At five in the morning, he was awakened by his wife. She was standing over him and he seemed to see something in her face. "I've been praying all night long," she said. "I've got an answer. God has told me what to do."

"I know, honey," he told her patiently, "but it's too late. It's all over. Nothing can be done."

"No," she answered. "I do not accept that. I want you to get out of bed and pray with me."

He did so, more to humor her than anything else. In her sleepless night of prayer a thought had crystallized in her mind and she outlined it to him. He wasn't too convinced, but agreed to let her try out her idea. She went to the telephone and made a long distance call to the other people involved, offering the new suggestion for a solution. Her reception was encouraging. They seemed surprised and told her, "This is a new angle. We'll call you back."

Husband and wife sat and waited, praying all the time. Again and again, the wife assured her husband: "Something is happening. God is working on this. The answer is developing. I know it is."

And at half past nine, sure enough, the telephone rang, and there was a new conception of the problem and a new solution.

Marquis Childs Political Aspects Of Defense Spending

WASHINGTON — If the dispute over America's defenses and the future security of this nation could somehow be taken out of politics and detached from the special interests of private industry, the average citizen would have a better chance to understand what it is all about.

That seems to be impossible. Some men's reputations are at stake as are other men's political future. Industry has a large stake in the manufacture of military aircraft and missiles. Since this is the case it is all but impossible for the citizen to determine which side is right. Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, in presenting the case for the Administration and the 1960 defense budget, argues that the different means of delivery of nuclear weapons offsets the lead in intercontinental ballistic missiles which the Russians will have in the next few years.

That lead is admitted to be three to one — roughly 200 ICBMs for the United States to 600 for the Soviet Union. This sounds formidable even though it is less than the four or five to one which some critics have alleged.

But still, in the official argument, in 1963 and '64 the American capacity for retaliation will exceed the Russian capacity for attack. This is because of the intermediate range bases within 500 to 1,500 miles of Russia's borders. It is so because of America's continuing superiority in heavy bombers. It is so because this country is on the way to developing a missile, the Hound Dog, with a range of 500 miles that can be launched from a B-52 bomber.

There is much more to the complicated argument but it adds up to McElroy's seemingly unshakable conviction that this country will stay a safe margin ahead for the coming years. His confidence is buttressed by late intelligence reports which downgrade the Russian missile capability considerably below the estimate of a year ago.

These are factors difficult, if not impossible, for the citizen to weigh. How good is the intelligence on Russia's capability? How permanent are the IRBM bases in the face of political threat and impeachment? What is the truth about the thrust of America's rocket engines and the progress of the Atlas and the Polaris? The citizen is told that he must take on faith the answers given by McElroy and the others in charge of America's defenses. The information is almost all secret and the citizen cannot in any event go behind the official presentation.

But, at the same time, critics who obviously have their own sources of information tell the public exactly the opposite. One of the most conspicuous is Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri. Symington has charged that the $4.9 billion provided for defense in the Eisenhower 1960 budget will create a dangerous "missile gap" and leave the United States open to Russian blackmail after 1960.

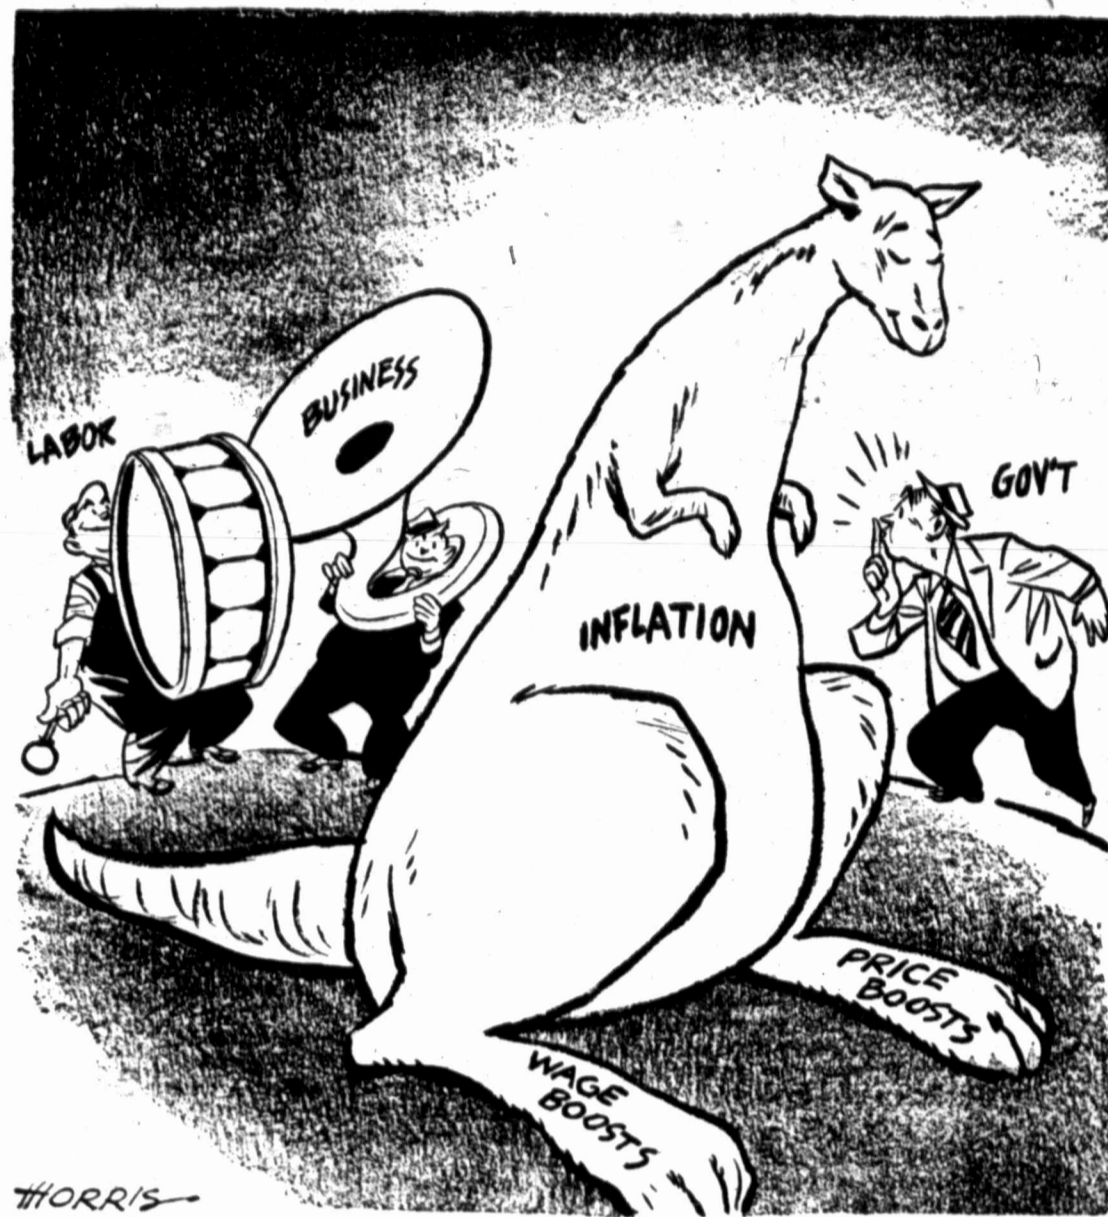

But again, how is the citizen to judge? Symington's name is prominently mentioned as a Democratic candidate for President next year and defense is more and more a political issue.

The critics who say that our defenses are presently inadequate and likely to become more so are heard not only in this country but in the Soviet Union. Here is perhaps the most delicate aspect of this strange controversy over which side has the greater power of mass annihilation. The Russians may be influenced by the critics to believe that our defenses are weaker than theirs and they may not, therefore, be deterred by the deterrent.

This suggests the kind of miscalculation that Secretary Dulles discussed at his most recent press conference. Out of such miscalculations — because I think you are weaker than you are — wars begin.

This is the terrifying face of the peril under which the world lives today. The critics profess to believe that they can bring the Administration around to spending the additional billions they believe must be spent for security. But there is no sign this will happen, the evidence being all to the contrary. And, with 1960 approaching, the dispute is certain to get louder and angrier. There may be a non-political way out, but at this point it is not visible.

J. A. Livingston Soviet Growth Becomes A Phobia In The U.S.

America is in danger of idolizing growth for growth's sake.

Congressmen, economists, commentators and writers have become fascinated by Soviet expansion. America, once the industrial hare, has become the economic tortoise. Russia, formerly the tortoise, has become the purposeful hare.

During the last ten years, indexes of Soviet production indicate an annual rate of growth of 14 per cent. In contrast, America has plodded along at the traditional 2.5 per cent. Hence the phobia: The Soviet Union is rapidly overtaking us. Khrushchev will shake good his boots and busy us, not with arms but with an avalanche of output. The bare data, uninterpreted, are scary.

While visiting an automobile factory in Detroit, Deputy Premier Anastas I Mikoyan pointed to a fin on a car and asked, "What's that for?" He was told, "Styling to sell cars." He put his hands to his head, smiling. That wouldn't do in the U.S.S.R. Too frivolous.

In the U.S., consumption is the end of production. In the Soviet Union, growth is the object of production. Consumer goods are "fuel" to stoke workers.

Growth is muted statistically in the U.S. Some of the most rapidly growing new industries—electronics, for instance—are not fully registered in the index. Coal shows a decline in trend, also soap. We use oil and gas instead of coal, detergents instead of soap. Such declines here are indications of technological change, but they embellish the pro-Soviet comparisons.

A study by Prof. G. Warren Nuttall, of the University of Virginia, for the National Bureau of Economic Research, indicates that the long-run industrial growth rate in Russia has been about the same as that of the United States. From 1860 to 1913, the annual growth rate of Czarist Russia was 5.3 per cent as compared with 5.2 per cent for the U.S. From 1913 to 1955, the growth rate in Russia ranged from 3.3 per cent to 4.7 per cent a year; in the U.S., 3.8 per cent (see chart).

Only in postwar years has there been a decisive difference—about 14 per cent versus 2.5 per cent. This is explained partly by the difference in statistics, partly by the Soviet emphasis on "industrial industries"—steel, electric power, petroleum, cement—partly by the accelerated recovery in Soviet production from the wartime loss, and partly by the greater breadth of the U.S. economy.

Last year, the United States, with a population of 170,000,000, produced three times as much petroleum, electric energy, and meat as the Soviet Union with a population of more than 200,000,000. We produced 40 per cent more cement; 30 per cent more steel. And it was a recession year.

What is disturbing about Soviet production is not the growth but the use to which the production is put—the intent of it. If the Soviet Union made more automobiles, the steel, cast iron, copper, and motors going into these extra autos would be diverted from producers' goods, from growth. The gasoline needed to fuel those cars would be taken away from producers' goods.

If ever Khrushchev set his mind to improving the standards of living as he is now improving the methods of waging war, if ever the Soviet Union began making piyoff to wrap food, autos to carry passengers, refrigerators and washing machines to improve living, the rate of growth would flatten out, and our rate of equanimity would improve. In absolute amount of output, Soviet Russia is still far behind, and will be for years to come.

Our danger is not that Khrushchev will bury us under an avalanche of output, but that we'll lose ourselves on a false, idolatrous quest of growth for growth's sake. Our problem is to produce what we need to survive and progress—not to engage in a battle of percentage comparisons.

False Alarm

TUCSON, Ariz. — A fire drill at Roosevelt School had a touch of realism.

Before pulling the switch that rang the school fire bell, a teacher neglected to disconnect a relay that carried the alarm to the fire station. Firemen arrived as the children still were pouring out of the building.

Wayward Cows

TUCSON, Ariz. — Carl Waldt found two cows swimming in his backyard pool. He grabbed them by the ears and led them to the shallow end, where they scrambled out.

Then in splashed a third cow. He took it too.

Later he learned a gate had been left open at the nearby University of Arizona dairy farm—and the prize Holsteins just sauntered out.

Where Am I?

BRIGHTON, England — A 62-year-old man arrested on the beach of this Sussex seaside resort for being drunk and disorderly told police: "If you charge me I won't come to shouthead again." Southend, another resort, is more than 70 miles away in Essex.

It's Cold Outside

CHECOTAH, Okla. — Johnnie Marie LeMasters reached into a brush and broom closet for a brush during house cleaning. One brush moved. It was a possum who somehow had come in from outdoors.

Change Of Heart

TOLEDO, Ohio — A belatedly honest man walked into a Goodwill Industries store and handed $5 to manager Sherman Kittle. "What for?" asked Kittle. "I've been stealing shoes here since last spring and I want to get my conscience clear," explained the man, walking out without giving his name.

Proved Ability

HULL, England — Chris Whitfield, 13, who failed a swimmer's life-saving examination, dove into 30-foot-deep water off a dock in this Yorkshire city and saved a boy from drowning.

Good Eating

NORFOLK, Va. — The turkey stolen from Chesterfield Heights School here must have been good. The thieves returned a few nights later for a second helping.

Around The Rim

How To Make Delinquents

In what might be called a drastic change of pace, this column space today is being turned over to Judge Philip B. Gilliam, the outstanding juvenile court judge of Denver, Colo.

Judge Gilliam was here recently to address the YMCA banquet, and made a tremendous impact upon his hearers, who were impressed with his knowledgeable and humanitarian approach to a condition that has many people concerned — that of juvenile delinquency.

Judge Gilliam has written a brochure called "How To Make Delinquents." He graciously agreed to its publication here, and herewith is the Judge's piece:

"If these instructions were followed, we guarantee that your child will become delinquent and subsequently tried in the Juvenile Court. . . . The formula is almost infallible."

Don't give your son any religious or spiritual training. Just take care of his bodily needs.

In his presence don't be respectful of womanhood or of law and government. Be rude to "dames" and the courts, the police, public officials, the school, the church, and business. "It's all a racket!"

Never look for the real cause of untruthfulness in your child. You might discover he learned the art of lying from you.

Never try to answer the endless "WHYS" and "HOWS" of your children because it pays to be ignorant.

Be sure to humiliate your child in the presence of his friends. It adds to his respect for you.

If a conflict in wills arises between you and your child, don't try to reason with him. . . . just knock him down. . . . your father was boss of his home and the kids may as well learn the "hard" way.

Don't have any constructive discipline, and disagree with your wife or husband in the child's presence so that the child will learn on whom to depend.

Be sure to criticize departed guests in the presence of your child. He will respect your integrity.

Never give your child a reason for the commands laid upon him; let him guess. . . . it's much easier.

Don't consider his educational and emotional development a parental responsibility. What are schools for?

Don't let him discuss his plans, problems, or pleasures with you. Just be too busy, so he won't develop affection or security or trust in you.

Don't open up your home to his companions; they will muss up the place. And don't be concerned where he spends his free time.

Don't teach your child to be tolerant toward people who differ from him in race, creed, or color. Teaching unfairness in others is an excellent method for training a bad citizen.

Don't give him an allowance, because he might learn how to save or spend. Don't ask him to give to community needs or services. Just "dig down" yourself. That's the easiest way.

Don't be calm and poised. Be shocked and explode when he tells you he has done something wrong. Then he won't confide in you the next time.

Don't make a pal of him. Go alone to your sports and entertainment. He would only be in the way.

Always buy your children the most expensive games and toys because if you get them something simple they might have to use their own imagination and who wants that side of a child developed?

Never let your child forget that only for you he would not have a roof over his head. You will become a pain in the neck to your child, and he loves to hear about the many sacrifices you make for him.

Be sure and keep your home from being a center of cheer. Make it a dumping ground for your grouches. Your child will love your thoughtfulness.

Be sure to forget the promises you make to your child because he will forget the promises he makes to you later, and children have no sense of appreciation.

Always accuse your daughter of being promiscuous with every date she goes out with so that she will be impressed with the fact that you were a "good woman" when you went out with the boys.

Always leave your keys in the car. This encourages stealing, and since 98 per cent of the car thefts are caused by this method, it proves that you are doing your part to encourage delinquency.

Never praise your child for his worthwhile effort because he might take advantage of your effort and try harder to please you in the future.

Never give your child any affection, and never, never tell him how much you love him. He will get the idea you are a softy and you wouldn't want him to get that impression of you.

If you forget all the above, just remember this one. Be a poor example yourself. You know, "Do as I say, it's no one's business what I do."

—BOB WHIPKEY

David Lawrence Little Chance Of Labor Legislation

WASHINGTON—Bigness in economic power always winds up sooner or later in the regulatory web of the federal government. The labor unions of America, which in 1935 successfully put through the Wagner Act to secure federal supervision of employers in collective bargaining, are finding themselves today likely to be drawn involuntarily into the hands of governmental monitors and disciplinarians.

Racketeering and the over-reaching of a few labor bosses brought on the debacle which President Eisenhower has sought to deal with in his latest recommendations to Congress. But the political power of the labor unions is such that it will be surprising if any really effective legislation gets through Congress this year or next.

The President nevertheless feels he must put his views on record, and undoubtedly the Republican party will make a campaign issue of it if the Congress fails to pass adequate laws on the subject.

Strangely enough, while there's a hue and cry about obeying the "law of the land" and assuring the observance of "civil rights" where the integration-segregation controversy is involved, no such solicitude is being shown by the so-called "liberals" with respect to two major violations of the Constitution and of the laws of the land in the field of labor. One concerns political campaign contributions, and the other relates to the right of a citizen to work at his job without giving up his right to freedom of belief under the First Amendment of the Constitution, one of the "Bill of Rights."

Thus, it is a violation of federal law for labor unions to contribute to political campaigns, but they pursue schemes which are no less evasive than those used by persons who try to get around integration decisions of the Supreme Court. The secretary of labor, James Mitchell, for instance, told his news conference the other day that, as a "moral obligation," labor-union leaders should stop spending union funds to support candidates for state and local political office. He said he supported the principle of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act at all levels.

"I don't believe," he said, "the funds that a union member pays as dues or initiation fees should be used for political purposes because his contributions might be used to help a candidate he opposes."

But, after making these points, the secretary of labor then said the administration would not propose a law to deal with this problem. One wonders why.

Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican of Arizona, took up another phase of the hypocrisy being exhibited in ignoring violations of "civil rights." He describes the "civil rights" problem of the North in terms of the refusal of many states to pass laws that will guarantee the individual the right to a job if he is qualified for it and the right to stay in that job if he is efficient, no matter what the labor union may say in opposition.

One, would have thought that, in these days of enthusiasm for federal pre-emption of state rights, there would be a demand to secure the protection of the individual citizen from the two abuses noted above. Certainly the President's recommendations to Congress have not mentioned either problem.

The union leaders, however, are preparing to tackle the subject by a proposed federal law denying the states the right to interfere with any contracts that deprive a worker of his civil rights.

The unions will attempt also to amend any bills proposed to Congress of anti-racketeering nature; indeed, by the tacking on of amendments on other subjects unpalatable to management, the chances are that all labor legislation will be killed at this session of Congress.

The President's recommendations, to be sure, are courageous as far as they go. Mr. Eisenhower says the object is to safeguard the workers' funds against misuse and "to protect the rights and freedoms of individual union members, including the basic right to free and secret election of officers."

The President's proposal "to protect the public and innocent third parties from unfair and coercive practices such as boycotting and blackmail picketing" cannot be persuasively rebutted by the labor unions. But they have the political power to suppress any really effective regulation of the abuses which have been uncovered by the McCallahan committee.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

BELL, BOOK AND CANDLE, starring Kim Novak and James Stewart. Produced by Julian Glaustein. Directed by Richard Quine. Screenplay by Dan Taradash from the play by John Van Druten. Photography by James Wong Howe. Music by George Duning. Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz.

Our own Civic Theatre pioneered this bewitching and fantastic tale in Big Spring; with community theatres. It's usually the other way around, waiting for the movie version to spread the idea before an attempt is made at staging.

The thesis of the late John Van Druten was that witches did not cease to exist simply because the citizens of Salem hanged a few helpless little old ladies; one must accept witchcraft in order to enjoy the movie.

This is not difficult, however, since the cast is magnificent. James Stewart, a mortal publisher, finds himself bewitched, bothered and bewildered by Kim Novak, a witch who needs black art to be seductive like she needs a hole in the head Kim decides she wants a mortal boyfriend, and Jimmy's elected.

Complicating matters are her aunt, Elsa Lanchester, an inept and daffy old witch, and her brother, Jack Lemmon, a prank-playing warlock (male witch). Ernie Kovacs, a swizzling and phony author of a phony witch expose, is a howl when he finds himself in a nest of real witches.

The photographic art of James Wong Howe is given full latitude and the results add to the charm of the picture, along with the unobtrusive musical score by George Duning (the local production also employed music, you may recall). It's a barrel of fun, so don't miss it.

Pardon, I almost forgot: Every witch has a "familiar," an evil spirit that hangs around to do her bidding; Kim's familiar, Pyewackett, just nearly steals the show.

AUNTIE MAME, starring Rosalind Russell. Directed by the stage director Morton De Cosia. Screenplay by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, from the play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, based on the novel by Patrick Dennis. Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz.

Every growing young boy needs an "Auntie Mame." There would be fewer candidates for the switchblade set, and makers of black leather jackets might have to go to work for a living.

Rosalind Russell, as in her stage version, is downright wonderful in her role of a nutty, fad-following woman who believes that life is like a banquet, but that most people are satisfied with the crumbs.

This hilarious comedy is broad and observant, and has been splitting sides all over the nation. It is subtle in its slaughter of some sacred cows. Mame was an essentially solid woman, thus was free to live a madcap life and survive it. The story centers around the orphaned nephew she brings into her household and her attempts to bring him rather violently into young manhood.

Most of the cast, along with the director and Miss Russell, are veterans of the stage play. They repeat their inimitable performances, but the screen gives them a lot more elbow room, which they use to advantage.

"Auntie Mame" should go on your list — and don't wait until it comes back to the drive-ins; it's worth more than the price of the baby sitter.

Other viewing: "The Night Heaven Fell." Brigitte Bardot is not what some provincial minds assume—like Mae West, her acting is a satire on sex, rather than just a girly show. As one reviewer so aptly put it, "more piquancy than carnality, satire with a sauce rather than lechery with a leer." But, as with most of her films, La Bardot has about as much support from the story and her fellow actors as her clothes have from her.

"A Time to Love and a Time to Die." A bittersweet story of "good" Germans during World War II; a bit phony in spots, but the acting, direction, etc. are so expert that one hardly notices anything wrong. Introduces John Gavin, who holds great promise.

Winnie's Art Reaches The Top

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill now has reached the top in British art, the conservative top, that is.

He will have a one-man show at the Royal Academy of Art, 50 canvases on exhibit during the first two weeks in March. Many of the paintings have been on tour in the United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

He's In For A Shock

Ernie Kovacs has just written a phony book about Latin American witchcraft, and now he's in New York on a similar project. He doesn't know that he's just walked into a nest of witches. Left to right, they are: Jack Lemmon, a warlock (male witch), his sister, Kim Novak, a beautiful and accomplished witch, Lemmon, and James Stewart, mortal publisher who's been bewitched by Kim. Scene is from "Bell, Book and Candle," Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz.

Court Postpones Bergman Hearing

ROME (AP)—A Rome court has postponed a hearing in Roberto Rosellini's suit for custody of the three children born of his now broken union with Swedish film star Ingrid Bergman. The court set April 17 as the new date. The actress is living with the children and her new husband, Lars Schmidt, a Swedish businessman, on a farm outside Paris. Last week a French court, in a provisional ruling, granted custody of the children to Miss Bergman and visiting rights to Rosellini. The Paris court ruling decreed the children—Robertino, 8, and twin girls, Ingrid and Isabella, 6 — must attend an Italian school in Paris.

Actor, Beauty Queen Are Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Gary Spencer and Santa Pelkey, who was Miss New York in the Miss Universe contest in 1957, have announced their engagement. The 21-year-old actress said Thursday they will be married next Oct. 29. Spencer is 31.

Theatre Drops Pageant For Plays

There will be no Easter Pageant this year unless another group besides the Civic Theatre takes over the project. Theatre members last week accepted the recommendations of a committee that the pageant be postponed a year, with the understanding that the project be attempted in 1960.

At the same meeting, members launched a play program for late spring and summer. Included in the pageant committee were Bill Sandefur, Mrs. Bob Bright and Matt Bertalini. Sandefur read the report, gist of which is:

1. The Easter Pageant, with only two performances, has hardly had time to become a tradition; thus, a delay of a year will not harm it. In fact, it might be wise to produce the pageant every other year, giving the Pastors Assn. the opportunity to present their traditional sunrise service alternately with the pageant.
2. The theatre is in no condition financially to stage a pageant at the present time.
3. Attendance was down last year from the previous year; a delay might enhance attendance in 1960.
4. The energies, as well as funds, expended on a pageant would cut too heavily into the theatre's ability to produce a season of plays.

The committee then recommended that the pageant be postponed one year "to enable the club to devote its energies to its further development."

The committee enlarged upon its assignment in presenting a second resolution calling for:

1. A season of three plays, designed for public taste.
2. Sale of season tickets as well as for single performances, backed by a hard-sell campaign.
3. One director to be chosen for the entire season, who will be given full authority, including casting and naming of a producer and assistant director.
4. Appointment of a new play selection and scheduling committee.
5. A ticket committee to push for bigger audiences.

All these recommendations were passed, and assignments handed out. John Austin was named director for the three-play season. Sandefur and Mary Archer were included in the play selection group, and Sandefur was named ticket chairman.

A second committee, which included Allen Robertson and Dewey Magee, reported a letter was sent to L.E. chairman of the architecture department at the University of Texas, seeking information on L.E. school's policy of accepting designing projects for student work. This was in connection with needed renovation of the Prairie Playhouse.

Other actions at last week's meeting: The board of governors post vacated by Bob Martinez was filled by Caribel Laughlin. It was agreed that another group which might wish to stage the Easter Pageant this year could have the Civic Theatre's costumes for a small fee covering dry cleaning charges and property liability.

Local Artists Need An Attic

Las Artistas is continuing its drive for a permanent art museum. In the meantime, local painters need a place where they can meet together for work sessions — a sort of workshop, so to speak. Anyone got an empty garret?

Dalton Conway, president of the art group, would appreciate a call from anyone who has.

REV. ANSIL LYNN

Former Pastor Here Writes Book On Missionary Career

Another high point in his life has been recorded by the Rev. Ansil Lynn, a former pastor of Wesley Methodist Church who has recently seen the publication of his book "Seeing Africa."

A narrative of his experiences during the two terms of missionary service in the Belgian Congo, the book gives glimpses into the social, political, religious and economic life of the people. Anecdotes are sprinkled throughout its pages which reflect the Rev. Lynn's joy in having been called to missionary service.

Now retired from the ministry, the Rev. Lynn, with his wife and youngest child, David, lives in Dallas. He has taken advantage of the retirement to pen the book based on the experiences he had in 1918-20.

Big Springers will recall that the Rev. Lynn taught the first Bible class in the local high school. His pastoral duties at Wesley Church extended from 1937 to 1939, and he returned three years ago to help the congregation celebrate its silver anniversary.

REV. ANSIL LYNN

In addition to David, there are three other children. Mary and Rosalie are now married and living in Lubbock and Dallas, respectively. Billy Ansil, whose pianistic ability was well known while he attended high school here, is also married and lives in Hollywood. Copies of "Seeing Africa," published by The Herald Press and dedicated to Mrs. Lynn, are available from members of the Wesley Church WSCS. The price is $2.

Enriched Schooling For Gifted Pupils Due Study

LUBBOCK — Programs of acceleration and enrichment for gifted children — one of the nation's biggest education challenges — will be the topic of the West Texas School Study Council's next meeting at Texas Tech Feb. 25.

Dr. Louis Armstrong, director of the Indian Springs School in Helena, Ala., will be principal consultant for the program which will involve Texas Tech and 15 area school systems.

Dr. Berlie J. Fallon, associate professor of education at Tech and executive secretary of the school study council, is coordinator for this meeting.

Area school systems belonging to the West Texas School Study Council are: Andrews, Big Spring, Brownfield, Denver City, Hale Center, Hereford, Kermit, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Monahans, Morton, Plainview, Seminole and Slaton.

These schools will be represented at the meeting by superintendents, principals, curriculum and guidance personnel, teachers and board members.

Unique Cases Occur In Fight On Rabies

Rabies is serious business, but there is a lighter side.

Early this month for instance, the laboratory technician whose duty it is to prepare the brain tissue for microscopic scrutiny on suspect rabies cases was enjoying a game of dominos during the noon hour.

He was interrupted and informed that there was a "head" outside, but desiring to finish the hand he said he'd be out in a second. He would have forgotten the game had he known what kind of head.

Two ladies were waiting with a genuine African lion's head. It seems that the lion had been raised from a cub, but lately turned on its master and had to be destroyed.

There was little chance of rabies, but it pays to be sure about any suspect case. So the head was sent to Austin for examination. It was negative.

Lab technicians have examined fox heads, skunk heads, cat heads, thousands of dog heads and even a nutria head a short while ago. Among the strangest was a deer head. It proved to be negative, but the man who brought it insisted the horns be cut off. The technician was convinced the hunter just wanted a cheap way to get those horns.

Winter and early spring see a slight rise in the number of positive findings of rabies in State Health Department laboratories. More effort is needed to inform and educate the public about the dangers of rabies and the means of controlling outbreaks.

Last year there were 491 laboratory cases of rabies plus 163 reported clinical cases in animals. In the past two years vaccine for 3,600 cases of human exposure to rabies was distributed by the State Health Department.

In 1955 a state law made it possible for county commissioner's courts to enact legislation for control measures during a rabies emergency. These measures can be carried from year to year as a sustained program to keep rabies at the lowest possible level.

Well-trained personnel from the Texas State Department of Health are available to counties and other local health jurisdictions to help launch their own rabies control programs.

The rabies battle is a year round fight. A let-up in any particular season may mean an outbreak later on. Everyone should have his dogs and cats vaccinated, especially if they are often on the loose.

Rabies control is a necessary and interesting program even if you don't get a lion's head in every day.
