Ice, Snow Glaze Vast Portions Of Southwest, At Least 14 Die

Ice and snow glaze vast areas of the Southwest Monday, bringing death to at least 14 persons in weather-caused accidents. Many schools closed because slick roads made bus travel hazardous. Heaviest snow—8 inches—occurred at Gage, Okla., near the Texas line. Follett in the Texas Panhandle reported 6 inches. Freezing rain drew blame for the crash of a DC3 airliner carrying 25 Idaho National Guardsmen and three civilian crew members near Kerrville, in Central Texas. Two crewmen and a guardsman died, but 25 other persons scrambled to safety. The belt of freezing precipitation reached as far south as Del Rio on the Rio Grande and as far east as the Dallas-Fort Worth area in North Central Texas. Snow and ice areas stretched from the eastern slopes of the Rockies and eastern Wyoming through New Mexico and parts of Texas, and over most of Oklahoma. Along the Texas coast, downpours of rain—heaviest in nearly two years at Houston—forced a number of residents from lowland homes. Houston had measured 3.87 inches of rain at 10 p.m. Thursday. New Mexico highways remained open but were hazardous in the eastern part of the state. Schools in rural Chaves County around Roswell closed because of a quarter inch of ice on highways. Tucumcari received 2 inches of snow for the largest New Mexico fall. A lamosa, Colo., measured 5 inches. Monday morning the glaze was spreading southwest in New Mexico. Most of Oklahoma reported light snow with some sleet in the southern section. Roads in the north and central areas remained hazardous, the state patrol reported. In Texas, snow fell north of a line from Wichita Falls, in Northwest Texas near the Red River, westward to the Midland-Odessa region. Guadalupe Pass on Highway 180 and 62 between El Paso and Carlsbad, N.M., was slick with ice, with frozen moisture on fence, an inch in diameter. A highway crew at the base of the pass kept the road well sanded and travel continued. At least 25 schools closed in the South Plains area around Lubbock, including the Odessa, Midland, Seagraves, Levelland, Snyder and Lamesa areas. At Lubbock where up to 2 inches of dry, powdery snow piled up, school buses did not travel. Schools were closed also in at least a score of towns in the Abilene area because icy highways prevented the operation of school buses. The towns included Hermleigh, Lorraine, Colorado City, McCauley, Hobbs, Ira, Hamby, Snyder, Merkel, Cross Plains, Butterfield, Jim Ned, Putnam, Winters, Avoca, Paint Creek, Eula, Highland and Ballinger. A freezing drizzle fell in the Abilene area through the morning. The forecast was for it to continue through Tuesday. Shortly before noon, the Weather Bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area. The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Wichita Falls reported 2 inches of snow and Dalhart and Amarillo one inch. Ice an inch thick coated streets at Odessa, the Weather Bureau said. All Texas roads were open, but some were hazardous. The temperature fell to 8 1/2 degrees at Perryton during the night. The Weather Bureau predicted the snow would become as deep as 4 inches in parts of West Texas and extreme northwest North Central Texas. Moderate freezing rain was forecast for much of North Central Texas with temperatures dropping as low as 15 degrees in that section. Panhandle - South Plains temperatures were expected to return to the 10-degree level early Tuesday morning. Guadalupe Pass was termed extremely dangerous by the Texas Highway Patrol. The patrol said U. S. 80 is dangerous and icy in the Sierra Blanca, Van Horn and Pecos areas. The Weather Bureau office at Austin said freezing rain was expected as far south as Austin. At Houston, water rose within two feet of flood stage in a gully running into Bray's Bayou. Several families in the Braeburn Glen area moved out. Streets were flooded and some residents reported water rising within several inches of their homes. Police said flood conditions on the gully were caused by an earthen dam built across the stream while flood control work was under way on the bayou. Five-day weather forecasts issued Monday predicted continued temperatures below normal, with moderate to locally heavy precipitation in the state. More snow, along with rain or showers, was predicted for West Texas during the period.

Crash Of Guard Plane Fatal To 3

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A commercial DC3 carrying 25 National Guardsmen from Idaho and a crew of 3 crashed and burned in the Central Texas hill country late Sunday night. Three men were killed. The 25 survivors, some seriously hurt, managed to escape the flaming wreckage after the ice-laden transport smashed into a hill 17 miles southeast of here in rugged country just before midnight. Three bodies were taken to a Comfort, Tex., funeral home. Thirteen men were taken to a veterans hospital in Kerrville and 12 to the Peterson Hospital here. Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio identified the dead as: Civilian pilot W. O. Epps of Portland, Ore.; Civilian co-pilot Harvey Hill of Oswego, Ore.; Airman Robert C. Griffith of Ola, Idaho. Wilbur Whittliff of Eugene, Ore., a third pilot, was among the survivors. Whittliff, 42, said icing plagued the plane for several hours before the crash. After two unsuccessful passes at the Kerrville airport, the plane was attempting a third approach when one engine failed. "It was a miracle" anyone got out alive. The plane was demolished and was burning fiercely," said Carroll Abbott, assistant publisher of the Kerrville Times, one of the first to reach the scene. Rescuers found most of the survivors, muddy, soaked and battered, huddled in a freezing rain a short distance from the flaming wreckage. The plane, chartered from General Airways of Portland, Ore., had left Boise, Idaho, earlier for Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio. Twenty-three of the survivors were taken in Air Force vehicles to San Antonio this morning. Six went in ambulances. The others were able to travel by bus. Doctors said one of the guardsmen was too seriously injured to be moved. He is Derain Spratt of Boise, who suffered concussions and second degree burns. Whittliff, who suffered a chest injury, also remained in a Kerrville hospital.

Integration At A Glance

By The Associated Press
 Virginia reluctantly opened seven all-white public schools to 21 Negroes today for the first time in the state's history. Norfolk and Arlington County were the two areas immediately involved. The transition produced no immediate incidents. Norfolk, a coastal seaport and the state's largest city with 244,000 residents, admitted 17 Negroes to six secondary schools. The schools had been closed since September under a now-defunct state law to prevent integration ordered by federal courts. Ten thousand white pupils were displaced. Urban Arlington County, just south of the nation's capital, admitted four Negro pupils to Stratford Junior High which has a white student body of 1,076. The county with an area of only 24 square miles has a population above 140,000. In central Virginia, Charlottesville's Lane High School and Venable Elementary School, closed since September, reopens Wednesday on an all-white basis. A federal court granted a stay of an integration order when the school board promised to produce a plan for integration next September. Lane has a student body of 1,000; Venable 700. Two Negroes were ordered admitted to Lane, 10 to Venable. Charlottesville has a population of about 30,000. Warren County High School at Front Royal in northern Virginia—the other school closed by the state—remained closed for the present. Twenty-two Negroes were assigned to the 1,000-pupil school by a federal court. Since closure, virtually all of the displaced pupils have been given private class work in churches and other community buildings. Warren's population is 15,000.

Virginia Calmly Lowers Race Bars, Integrates Some Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia calmly thrust aside the color barrier today and for the first time in her history put Negro and white pupils together in public schools. Grudgingly, but peacefully at the outset, the Old Dominion made the transition from segregation to integration in a fraction of her public schools, in Arlington County and the city of Norfolk. No violence, no rowdy incidents occurred, as four Negro pupils filed quietly into Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, across the Potomac from Washington. Police with riot gear stood by at Arlington. None was in sight at Norfolk. The quartet of Negro children at Arlington—three boys and a girl—marched onto the school grounds from a seldom used roadway and through the doors shortly before 9 a.m. They were alone. They didn't look alarmed or worried. Nobody tried to stop them; there was an absence of picketing and demonstrations. Something like 100 police, equipped with white helmets, portable loud speakers and radios, lined the route. The customary night sticks and guns, converged on Stratford long before the school opening hour. Only pupils and school employees were allowed on grounds. Even parents were kept out. In Norfolk, a Negro, Lewis Cousins, and his mother calmly paraded past a cluster of white children on the steps of Maury High School to become the first of his race to shatter the color line in the city. There was the usual chatter of school kids, but no trouble of any kind. Again there was no disturbance a few moments later when Betty Jean Read, another of 17 Negroes assigned to previously all white schools, turned up unescorted at Granby High. The six Norfolk schools, closed since September under Virginia's now dead massive resistance program, were holding no classes today—only enrolling pupils and assigning them to classes. At Norview High School, two pairs of Negro girls turned up. White students watched curiously and quietly. By that time, police were on hand and cleared a path for the Negroes.

Half-Inch Of Ice Glazes Big Spring

Big Spring and most of West Texas was in a partially-paralyzed state today at result of the bitterest winter weather of the current season. The countryside was coated in nearly half an inch of treacherous sleet dumped on the area over the weekend. Bulk of the ice was provided Sunday — a day-long continuation of a freezing drizzle which turned the landscape into a winer wonderland and brought activity in nearly every line to an almost complete standstill. No relief from the cold and ice was held out by the Weather Bureau in its noon forecast. Cold, with continued freezing drizzle and some sleet, is the menu for the remainder of today, tonight and Tuesday, the Bureau said. It warned there would be no let-up in hazardous driving conditions through tomorrow. Schools were closed Monday. Howard County Junior College cancelled Monday morning classes. Churches remained dark Sunday night. Whether classes will resume on Tuesday at the city schools or HCJC remained to be determined. Officials asked that parents and pupils listen for announcement later in the day over local radio stations. There was a good probability, it was said, that no effort will be made to open Tuesday unless a thaw developed today. Motorists were repeatedly urged by peace officers to stay home unless trips were absolutely necessary. City crews worked steadily endeavoring to sand down slick stretches of streets. Many minor accidents occurred but apparently no serious disasters came on the heels of the blizzard. Most drivers seemed content to accept the situation for what it was and creep along in a manner best calculated to avert possible mishap. The freezing rain, interspersed by occasional brief dashes of sleet, moved in at 9 p.m. Saturday. It continued without cessation throughout the night, all day Sunday and was still slightly in evidence at noon today. U. S. Experiment Station reported the moisture value of the white blanket at .16 inch. This is the heaviest precipitation to be recorded in Big Spring since November. December had only a "trace"; January wound up its career with .02 inch. Rural schools were closed and school buses made no runs. Many March of Dimes events booked for Sunday evening and Monday were postponed. Downtown streets presented an almost Sunday appearance on Monday. Judge Charlie Sullivan cancelled a scheduled grand jury in Garden City which was to have begun work on Monday morning. Although the weather was the worst of the winter it lacked considerable of being the coldest of the season. Official low for the period was 16 degrees at 8 a.m. Monday. High on Sunday was 23 degrees. Previously this winter the temperature has been as low as 5 degrees but this cold was without ice or sleet. The weather pattern in Big Spring was general all over the immediate area. Colorado City had snow and glaze with a moisture content of 21 inch. Temperatures were 23 degrees. In Lamesa, a coat of ice with a frosting of snow covered the area, closing down the schools. Minimum temperature there was 14 degrees. Incidents were common in these towns as in Big Spring. In Lamesa, Gabriel Arregui, Sacramento, Calif., narrowly escaped serious injury when his station wagon overturned Sunday morning. The car flipped upside down into a ditch and skidded for some distance. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said a few long distance circuits were inoperative due to the ice. Spring's Here! Groundhog Fails To See Shadow

So Winter is over and Spring is here, eh? It seems a little hard to believe but if you happen to be a believer in the Groundhog Day weather theory, you have to agree that we're through with winter for 1959. Any groundhog in West Texas (assuming there are such) who emerged from his downy, cozy nest at dawn Monday did not see his shadow. All he saw was an unbroken expanse of white sleet and ice. Overhead all he could see was a gray mass of wintry clouds. And if he looked closely enough he saw fine white flakes of sleet still falling. And he did not see his shadow. And if he acts as his adherents insist he does he defied the 16 degree temperature which prevailed and began his spring plowing or whatever groundhogs do when they come out of their winter hibernation. Had he seen his shadow etched on the snowy ground in the rays of a bright sun, he would have scurried back into his den. And, if you please, stayed there for six more weeks. The way it was, however, he didn't see his shadow. He knows by his second sense as a groundhog that winter is over and that spring is here. And if he can know that and believe that the way things are today, he can believe anything!

3,500 Qualify To Vote In Dawson

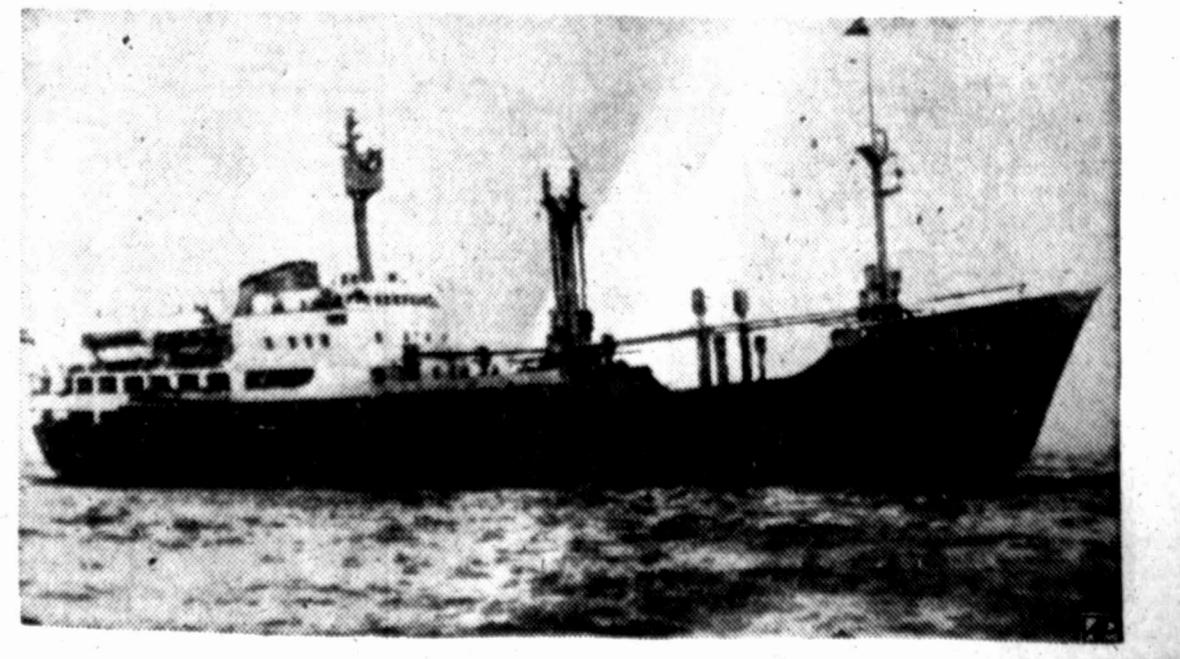

LAMESA — An unofficial report from the offices of Dawson County tax assessor-collector Leland Miller Saturday indicates that 3,537 people will be eligible to cast votes in the county this year. A last minute rush at the office brought the total paid poll taxes to 2,702. Some 835 poll tax exemptions were issued by the office through Saturday. This compares with 4,308 voters last year and 3,300 in 1957, which was the last "off" election year. Miller stated that an official count of eligible voters will be made during the coming week.

Sam M. Bullock, Former Mitchell Judge, Dies

COLORADO CITY—Sam M. Bullock, 74, former Mitchell County judge, died in the hospital here last night after suffering a heart attack. He had retired last Dec. 31 after having served 10 years as county judge. He long had been active in civic and church affairs. Rites will be said at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church, where he was a long-time and faithful member. Officiating will be the Rev. J. F. Selcraig, his pastor, and burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker & Son Funeral Home. Mr. Bullock was born March 15, 1884, in Brazos County and moved to Mitchell County in 1903. He taught school for six years and ranched for about 40 years before being elected county judge. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge. Surviving him are his wife, two sons, Earl Bullock, Lubbock, and John Bullock, Midland; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Rudick, Colorado City, and Mrs. Floyd Leach, Roscoe. He also leaves three brothers, J. H. Bullock, Abilene; Pat Bullock, Colorado City; and Arthur Bullock, Dallas; three sisters, Mrs. R. M. Cash and Mrs. Will Pinter of Abilene and Mrs. J. R. Cornelius, Jefferson. Seven grandchildren also survive.

9 Accidents Occur In City, Ice Blamed

Stepping Out

Sen. Theodore Francis Green, at 91 the oldest man ever to serve in Congress, walks out of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee room after resigning as chairman of the committee. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) follows him. Green (D-R) gave defective eyesight and hearing as his reasons for leaving the post.

Motorists Eager To Pay Car Taxes

Deputies in the office of the Howard County Tax collector's office, arriving at their post at 7:45 a. m. Monday, anticipated a dull and inactive day. They were surprised to find a half dozen or more customers lined up in the corridor waiting for the office to open. These folk wanted to buy 1959 automobile license plates which went on sale for the first time Monday. Deadline for buying such plates expires April 1.

Ice Is Blamed For Death Of Colorado City Trucker

COLORADO CITY — Carl Golden, 52, of Colorado City was killed Sunday morning when his truck skidded out of control on an icy highway. The crash occurred on U. S. 180 near Seminole. Mr. Golden was alone in the truck. No other vehicle was involved. Mr. Golden had lived in Colorado City since 1932. He and Ruby Ayers were married here Dec. 18, 1934. He was born Dec. 20, 1906, in Foreman, Ark.

Falls Injure Two Persons

At least two persons received injuries as a direct result of the icy conditions Sunday, excluding traffic mishaps. Mrs. Phillips Gressett, 1615 Aviation, and Mrs. Bob Craig, 1200 Lloyd, are being treated at Medical Arts Hospital for injuries sustained from falls.

Road Right-Of-Way Conferences Begin

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday morning began conferences with some of the property owners whose land is involved in needed right-of-way for extension of FM 346. The weather had prevented all of the property owners from being present. All of the commissioners were on hand at the meeting.

Seek Countess In Vice Probe

PARIS (AP)—Police are looking for a mysterious foreign countess who may be a key witness in France's sexy scandal of teen-age dancing girls. The police did not name the countess but hinted she may have given dancing lessons — of a sort — to the young girls who then entertained a collection of influential men. Girls involved in the case are under age — some only 14 — and their names are protected under French law. No one knows how many girls may be involved.

Hepburn To Fly Back To Hollywood

DURANGO, Mexico (AP) — Her doctors and her husband planned to fly Audrey Hepburn to Hollywood today despite a setback in her condition. The doctors said the actress, who suffered broken vertebrae when thrown from a horse last week, had a bad day Saturday and could not rest, sleep or eat. One doctor thought she might have suffered other injuries not yet diagnosed. Another said she might just be having a delayed shock reaction.

Several Groups Cancel Meetings

Several meetings scheduled for today have been reported cancelled or postponed. The meeting of the Evening Lions Club tonight has been cancelled, announced Ted Hull, president. No makeup is planned for the week, he said. The regular National Guard meeting has been cancelled, too. Monthly Brotherhood meeting at the East Fourth Baptist Church is being postponed until next week, the president, Edward Cook, announced.

Heart Month Proclaimed

Governor Price Daniel presents a proclamation designating February as Heart Month to Thomas M. Runge, M.D., right, of Austin, who received it on behalf of the Texas Heart Assn. The presentation was made in Austin.

Accidents here were numerous Sunday, but only one person received injuries serious enough to require hospitalization. At least nine accidents occurred within the city limits, and most of them could be attributed partially to the icy streets. River ambulance rushed Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lujan to Big Spring Hospital after an accident about 8 a. m. Sunday on FM 700 in the vicinity of the VA Hospital. Mrs. Lujan was still in the hospital this morning, but she was reported in good condition and would be able to go home either today or Tuesday. Larry Latson, 1108 E. 13th, and Mary Jones, 434 Westover, were driving cars in an accident at 16th and Lancaster about 9:45 a. m. Sunday and Stella Brooks of Cochoma and Herbert Vinson, 2001 N. Monticello, were in an accident at 1104 Birdwell about 30 minutes later. Edgar Jennings, 2208 Alabama, and Mrs. J. A. Meredith, 3218 Cornell, were in an accident at 5th and Birdwell at 12:50, and at 1 p. m. Chon Marquez, 810 Pine, and Thomas Marquez, 1908 NW 2nd, collided at NW 4th and Lancaster. About 7 p. m. but reported no interruptions of local service. Texas Electric Service Co. reported that no difficulty developed locally from the storm and that the only trouble reported had been in the oil fields near St. Lawrence. No breaks in service lines had occurred in the city over the weekend. Pioneer Gas Co. was extremely happy that no difficulties at all had developed in its service. Pressure never dropped, according to Champ Rainwater, manager, despite the heavy load imposed on the system. There were no local breaks and no trouble reported from any quarter. Highway Patrol officers said that relatively few of the many traffic accidents resulting from the ice were serious enough to require official investigation. Only four were included in this category Sunday night and in some of these was any one injured or extensive car damage caused. Traffic on the major highways was light, but patrol officers took a dim view of the attitude being shown by most drivers. "They're driving a lot too fast for the kind of roads we have at this time," said Jimmy Parks, one of the patrol officers. "They want to go 40 or 50 miles an hour and they're risking trouble at that speed."

Balloon 'Hotel' Flights Spiked

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP)—Scientists preparing to send aloft balloons as large as small hotels today postponed their efforts for the second straight day because of unfavorable winds. When launched, the craft may break altitude records. The initial launching set for Sunday also was postponed because of high wind in this west central Texas area. Dr. Frank McDonald, University of Iowa physicist, said the scientists wish to send the unmanned, instrument-laden balloons 27 miles from the earth. Four balloons are to be released over a two-week period by 14 scientists from the University of Iowa, Washington University of St. Louis, and Atlantic Research Corp. The Office of Naval Research is sponsoring the releases with equipment furnished by Raven Industries of Sioux Falls, S. D. Each balloon will carry about 250 pounds of instruments aloft. They are expected to reach a height of about 27 miles, or 142,500 feet.

MOD EVENTS POSTPONED

Sleet and freezing rain Sunday and today forced postponement of the 1959 March of Dimes campaign. The airlift program planned for Sunday was put off due to the unfavorable weather, and the National Guard today announced it is delaying the pancake supper which had been scheduled for tonight. Both events are rescheduled for next week—the airlift on Sunday afternoon and the pancake supper next Monday night at the Guard armory. The National Guard also cancelled its weekly drill, which would have been held this evening.

Champions Named In G-City Show

GARDEN CITY—Despite weather, the Glascock County club show was held before a reasonably good crowd Monday. Walter Lowe Jr. took the fine wool lamb championship for the third successive year with James "Nuts" showing the reserve. Ritchie Reynolds had the champion cross bred lamb for the second straight year, followed by Freddie Chaney. The champion mixed lamb was shown by Freddie Chaney also and Sonny Chaney had the reserve. In the southbound class Sammy Oakes had the champion and Danna Werst the reserve. Gary Siederberg had the champion pig and Ralph Hoelscher the reserve. Showmanship award went to Ritchie Reynolds for the 4-H and David Harris for the FFA. The horse show was called off and will be held in March.

Ike Lauds U.S. Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States has accumulated a "record of solid achievement" in its space programs. He told that to Congress in a letter forwarding an administration report on aeronautics and space projects since this country succeeded in getting its first satellite into orbit a year ago. The report is required by law. The 12,000-word report, prepared under the overall direction of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was confined to what the United States has done or plans to do in space. It made no mention of Soviet progress in missiles, satellites and space probe vehicles.

West Virginian Leaves $500 At Local Drive-In

At noon today, a West Virginian was still apparently unaware he left his wallet in a drive-in here this morning with $500 in it. Lewis Drive-In, 800 W. 4th, told the police that a man left a wallet in the cafe this morning containing about $500. Identification in it showed it belonged to a G. R. Carroll of Charleston, W. Va. He left the establishment in a green 1951 Mercury. But at noon today, the police had not heard from the man, nor had the drive-in been contacted.

'Miracle' Saved Occupants Of Plane

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—"The City of Roses" became smoldering scrap aluminum early today. Its graveyard was a burnt scrub oak patch in the rugged hill country 18 miles east of here. "The pilot had a clear field 50 feet to his left," said Col. Irving Eells of Kelly Air Force Base, who inspected the airliner wreckage. There was another clear field 50 yards to his right front. It would have to hit in the roughest, most wooded section. The plane struck in the cold, wet darkness. It was apparent the crew had to chance a landing. Two of the crew perished in the crash of the commercial DC-3. "The City of Roses" One of the pilots was in serious condition at a hospital here. Of the 25 Idaho National Guardsmen aboard, one was dead and another was in serious condition. Eells arrived three hours after the plane crashed, slightly before midnight. He and his party checked and checked the area. "Is it certain all men are accounted for?" he asked repeatedly. Neckties, bars of soap ripped from travel kits, wrappers and socks littered the area. Metal scraps were everywhere and snow was visible. The cause of the accident was visible. The cause of the accident was visible. The cause of the accident was visible. DEAR ABBY BITE IS WORSE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. One of the women in our crowd has a two-year-old child who bites my child. Sometimes the teeth marks go through the skin. I told the child's mother about this, and she said, "Tell your child to bite her back," but this is a nasty habit and I don't want to encourage my child to bite anyone, even in self-defense. DEAR ABBY: My husband is a salesman and earns approximately $200 a week. We have three children. He insists that I leave them with his mother and go to work. Since all I can do is clerk, my take-home pay would come to about $40 a week. I would much rather stay home and raise my own children. This has caused some terrible feelings and violent arguments in our home. If you agree that my place is home please say so in your column.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who I am very fond of. He is a plumber. He installed two bath rooms for me as a favor, free of charge. He installed them for me at night. After the job was done he bawled me out because I didn't come in and keep him company while he was doing the work.

Highway Dept. Warns Roads Icy, Dangerous

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Department reported icy highways and hazardous driving in scattered sections of Texas today. The report by districts: Austin—All bridges iced but sanded. Ice in spots on all highways in Burnet, Blanco, Mason, Llano and Gillespie counties. Dallas—Ice on bridges and isolated spots on highways. Light freezing mist. Fort Worth—All highways open, but on all bridges and some hills. Moisture freezing. Driving extremely hazardous. San Angelo—All roads open but iced and expected to remain so through day. Bridges and steep grades sanded. Driving extremely hazardous. Del Rio — All roads open but hazardous in Edwards and Real counties. Ice on bridges and roads. Wichita Falls—One to three inches of snow over district. Roads open but icy and extremely hazardous. Amarillo—Light and continuing snow throughout district causing but hazardous. Lubbock—District practically all covered with ice and snow. Roads open and traffic moving, but hazardous in most places. Childress—All roads open but hazardous. Light snow falling and conditions not expected to improve today. Brownwood—All roads covered with half inch of ice. Some snow in north. Driving dangerous. Abilene—All roads covered with one inch ice and snow. Hills and bridges sanded. Traffic moving slowly. Copperton expected to hold throughout tomorrow. Waco—Bridges iced in north and west part of district. Bridges sanded. Tyler—Slow rain freezing on timber but no ice on roads and bridges at mid morning. El Paso—All roads in the district except in El Paso County covered with one-half inch of ice. Travel slow and hazardous. All roads open. Odessa—All roads except in Sanderson area covered with ice and very hazardous. Motorists advised not to travel except in emergencies.

Drillstem Test Hits Oil Shows At Borden County Wildcat Site

A Borden County wildcat reported shows of oil on a drillstem test over the weekend in an unidentified zone, while a wildcat in Dawson found good shows of oil in the Fusselman on tests. At the Bill Roden No. 1-McDowell about a mile north of production in the Reinecke field, 2,140 feet of heavily gas and some oil-cut mud, and 835 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud were reported on a drillstem test below 6,900 feet. The Forest No. 1 Harris in Dawson returned a full string of oil on one test and flowed oil on a second in the Fusselman over the weekend. The wildcat is 13 miles southwest of Lamesa.

Dawson

Test tool was being pulled at last report from the Forest No. 1 Harris wildcat 13 miles southwest of Lamesa today. The test was from 12,042-78 feet in the Fusselman, and tool was open two hours 33 minutes. Gas surfaced in 2 1/2 hours, and oil came in 2 1/2 hours. It flowed at an estimated rate of five barrels of fluid per hour for 32 minutes, but operator could not reverse out oil. An earlier test from 11,990-12,048 feet, tool open two hours, saw gas to the surface in two hours two minutes and oil three minutes later. A full string of oil, testing 35.1 degrees, was reversed out, and flowing pressure mounted from 960-430 pounds. The site is 3,400 from south and 660 from east lines, League 267, Moore CSL Survey.

Borden

The Roden No. 1 McDowell was shuttin today following a drillstem test from 6,907-27 feet, probably in the Canyon, although the zone was not identified. Gas surfaced in the first 13 minutes of the 1 1/2-hour test, and recovery included 2,140 feet of gas and some oil-cut mud and 835 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. House Panel's Approval Asked For Education Spending Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee was asked Sunday to approve a big spending request for state-supported colleges and universities in order to lift them out of "low level mediocrity." This plea came from the Commission on Higher Education, an agency of a long list of state agencies and departments putting budget requests before the committee. The Senate Finance Committee also began its mammoth task of hearing scores of witnesses from state colleges and universities and state agencies as the Legislature began its fourth week.

Pilot, Crashed

Hearty put his committee on a five-day week, with work starting at 8 a. m. He said he would keep the group in session as continuously as possible until it has completed hearings. Fly will hold day and night hearings until work is finished on the spending bill before the Senate. The key House Committee on Revenue and Taxation will hold its first meeting of the session after adjournment of the House today. Chairman V. L. Ramsey of Beckville said he did not expect his committee to begin hearings on dozens of revenue-raising measures until there is some indication of what the spending picture will be. All tax bills must originate in the House, and the first hearings on them will be before Ramsey's committee.

Continue Strike

NEW YORK (AP)— Crews of tugboats to other harbor craft have voted to continue a strike in the port of New York. Resumption of talks in a wage dispute is expected tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: HEAVENLY MOTHER

DEAR WORKING: Is your husband a salesman and earns approximately $200 a week. We have three children. He insists that I leave them with his mother and go to work. Since all I can do is clerk, my take-home pay would come to about $40 a week. I would much rather stay home and raise my own children. This has caused some terrible feelings and violent arguments in our home. If you agree that my place is home please say so in your column.

Drillstem Test Hits Oil Shows At Borden County Wildcat Site

A Borden County wildcat reported shows of oil on a drillstem test over the weekend in an unidentified zone, while a wildcat in Dawson found good shows of oil in the Fusselman on tests. At the Bill Roden No. 1-McDowell about a mile north of production in the Reinecke field, 2,140 feet of heavily gas and some oil-cut mud, and 835 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud were reported on a drillstem test below 6,900 feet. The Forest No. 1 Harris in Dawson returned a full string of oil on one test and flowed oil on a second in the Fusselman over the weekend. The wildcat is 13 miles southwest of Lamesa.

Dawson

Test tool was being pulled at last report from the Forest No. 1 Harris wildcat 13 miles southwest of Lamesa today. The test was from 12,042-78 feet in the Fusselman, and tool was open two hours 33 minutes. Gas surfaced in 2 1/2 hours, and oil came in 2 1/2 hours. It flowed at an estimated rate of five barrels of fluid per hour for 32 minutes, but operator could not reverse out oil. An earlier test from 11,990-12,048 feet, tool open two hours, saw gas to the surface in two hours two minutes and oil three minutes later. A full string of oil, testing 35.1 degrees, was reversed out, and flowing pressure mounted from 960-430 pounds. The site is 3,400 from south and 660 from east lines, League 267, Moore CSL Survey.

30-DAY WEATHER OUTLOOK
West Texas to be colder, drier

Long-Range Forecast Hits Target As February Opens

U. S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast for February released today hit the target dead center as a starter.

Cold Wave Grips U.S.

A mid-winter cold wave kept an icy hold across broad areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic today and little general relief appeared in sight.

The arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 degrees below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the Southland. The most severe cold numbed the northern tier of states from Montana eastward through northern New England.

It was below zero as far south as northern Missouri. Freezing rain, snow and drizzle accompanied the colder air throughout western Oklahoma and wide areas of Texas.

Pilot, Kin Escape Crashed Aircraft

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—A pilot crash-landed his single-engine plane Sunday in the Columbia River. He and his teen-age nephew swam safely to shore.

The Bureau said that "below" normal temperatures would prevail and that rainfall would likewise be under par.

A quick look outside at the kind of weather revved up as February moved in made the prediction of below normal temperatures appear most applicable.

The below normal precipitation area, unfortunately, includes the plains area of West Texas almost exclusively. A small area in the Dakotas is the only other section of the nation where at least normal rains are not expected in February.

The cold area where temperatures are to be low engulfs almost two-thirds of the United States with West Texas almost in the center of the area.

Fire, Blast Hit W. Columbia School

WEST COLUMBIA, Tex. (AP)—Flames believed to have started from an early morning explosion inflicted heavy damage at West Columbia's junior-senior high school today.

Flames wreathed the two-story building about 6:45 a.m. Sheriff's deputies said a blast in the school laboratory apparently touched off the blaze.

The structure, accommodating 300 students, replaced one destroyed by fire in 1943.

Firemen came from neighboring Angleton and Freeport to help battle the blaze.

Increase stands and yields... plant cotton seed protected against disease with Du Pont CERESAN®

Always look for this tag on the bag!

Year after year, "Ceresan" pays off in better stands and greater yields. For example, one grower reports an increase in yield of 328 lbs. (seed cotton), after planting seed treated with "Ceresan". Cost of treatment per acre was 20¢, and the extra profit per acre was $60.30!

Profit from effective control of seed- and soil-borne diseases—ask your dealer to use Du Pont "Ceresan" seed disinfectants. Remember—for your protection, "Ceresan" liquids color seed red.

Lamesa Students Slate Career Day

LAMESA — Students at Lamesa High School will participate in a Career Day program Tuesday. Designed to give those in the four high school grades an opportunity to learn more of professions in which they are interested, Career Day is being sponsored this year by the school's chapter of the Future Teachers of America, in cooperation with the Lamesa Kiwanis Club.

Starting activities for the day, an all-school assembly will be held at 9 a.m. in the gym; this is to be followed by two conferences of an hour's duration. Each student will have an opportunity to investigate two fields of business in which he is interested, Mrs. Harold Wilkinson, guidance counselor at the high school announced.

Requests were made for counseling in more than forty professions; preference sheets distributed throughout the school the past week were used in preparing for Career Day and setting up conference periods.

Lamesa professional men, and women who will counsel with the students, and the fields they will cover include the following:

Accounting, R. S. Wilton; aeronautics, Bill Martin; radio—announcer, technician, Hal Fees; careers in the armed forces, M. Sgt. Robert Martin and M. Sgt. Ann Pace; auto body work and repairing, L. V. Hogg; banking, J. C. Powell; dentistry, Dr. Jack Alexander.

Dental assistant, Mrs. M. H. Stone; cashier—checker, Art Ayres; dietician, Mrs. J. D. Dyer Jr.; doctor, Dr. D. B. Black; engineer, D. W. Hart; florist, Early Peltier; laboratory technician, T. W. Baker; electrician, Harry Bruner; attorney, R. B. Snell; receptionist, Mrs. O. H. Nance; secretary, Mrs. Joe Carroll; barber, Billy C. Jack; contractor, Garner A. Jones; librarian, Mrs. Lex Brock; policeman, Jim Chilton; radio and T. V. repair, Paul Edgmon; telephone operator, Mrs. Doc

Davis; veterinarian, Dr. C. B. Bucky.

Counseling will also be offered in farming by F. P. King; ranching, Arlan Youngblood; photography, L. I. Dean; journalism, O. G. Nieman; nursing, Marie Long; religion, Rev. Milo B. Arbutkuck; pharmacy, Matt McCall; oil production, H. M. McCallar.

Professional people in the following fields who will assist in Career Day are yet to be announced by Paul Gentry, chairman of the Kiwanis Club committee working on the project: architect, auto mechanic, beautician, bookkeeper, bricklayer, teacher, welding and retailing.

Kenneth Tucker's Father Succumbs, Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for E. L. Tucker, 67, Kansas City, father of Kenneth E. Tucker of Big Spring, are to be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Tunis, Mo., friends here have been advised.

Mr. Tucker, an engineer for the Kansas City municipality, suffered a heart attack on Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left immediately for Kansas City. Tucker died at 12:20 p.m. Sunday.

The body was removed to the Carson Funeral Home at Independence, Mo., where it will lie in state until Wednesday.

Survivors include his wife, Kansas City; his son and two grandsons.

'Economic NATO' Supported In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed "economic NATO" reportedly is getting support in some administration quarters.

The proposal would have the economic group set up by North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries to bolster Western defenses against Soviet economic pressures. Its purpose would be to tighten trade restrictions with the Communist bloc.

The proposal would halt, if not reverse, the cautious relaxing of export curbs on shipments to the Soviets.

A subcommittee of the President's National Security Council reportedly is making a critical review of last fall's decision to relax slightly controls on exports to the Communist countries.

Pettus Adds House Wiring To Services

Pettus Electric Co., owned and managed by Albert Pettus, has extended its service to include commercial and residential building wiring.

As a result, Pettus workmen have become quite busy in that field as well as in all other phases of electric service, including the rewiring and rebuilding of electric motors, installation and servicing of automatic control systems, and other work.

Pettus Electric Co. is located on the Snyder Highway just northeast of Big Spring. The concern operates one of the most up-to-date and well equipped shops in the area.

Personnel are skilled in every phase of electric service work. The shop and trained staff are backed by a large supply of replacement parts and new equipment of all kinds — from complete motors down to switches, belts, etc.

All well known and long established lines of motors and parts make up the Pettus stock of equipment.

Pettus Electric Co. has served the electrical needs of the Big Spring area for many years. Albert Pettus has nearly 20 years of experience in the business, and his employees all are skilled through both training and experience. Service is available 24 hours a day.

Most Big Springers probably have noticed in recent months the Pettus insignia on the doors of the concern's service vehicles. The round, blue and red shield, is representative of the wiring diagram of a three-phase electric motor stator. It represents the number of groups and the number of group leads in the winding of a 1750-rpm motor.

Across the middle of the insignia are the letters PECO, and around the border is the name, Pettus Electric Company.

Pettus invites homeowners, business operators, and others in this area to take advantage of his firm's thorough service when new facilities are needed, or when repairs must be made. No operation is too complex, and the Pettus staff will courteously perform any repair or other operation, no matter how large or how small.

So no matter whether your electric problem involves wiring, switches and controls, motors, magnetos, generators, starters or just plain "trouble shooting," call Pettus Electric Co. The daytime telephone number is AM 4-4189. For night service, dial AM 4-6795.

Sign Of Good Service

This is the insignia of the Pettus Electric Co., which provides complete electric service to this area. Designed by Albert Pettus, the shield represents a three-phase electric motor stator, showing the number of groups and group leads in the winding of a 1750-rpm model. It identifies the Pettus service trucks, seen on most electric jobs around Big Spring.

Axtens Has 25-Year Record In Refrigeration Business

In the refrigeration business for 25 years, that is one of the recommendations of Axtens Commercial Refrigeration.

The firm has the experience and "know-how" to handle your heating and air conditioning problems — whether it be through service to old units or a new system — which can only come from years of working in the business.

Axtens Refrigeration is located half a mile south of Big Spring on the San Angelo highway and can be reached by calling AM 4-2172.

A look at the equipment brands offered by Axtens will show that the firm strives to suggest the best. The years of experience in the business has convinced Axtens that Carrier is the ultimate in its line of equipment.

Carrier has all types of heating, air conditioning, ice makers, and commercial refrigeration units which can be installed by Axtens. A look around town at the number of Carrier units now in operation will indicate how widely they are accepted.

Axtens also can provide and install custom heating and air conditioning units — from two to 150 tons refrigerated grocery and market equipment, refrigerated cafe fixtures, and heavy-duty cold storage equipment to meet your individual needs.

Complete service facilities are available at Axtens, too. Need engineering aid for heating problems? The answer is still Axtens Commercial Refrigeration.

Anytime is the right time to consult with Axtens on matters of heating or air conditioning your home or place of business. Just call 4-2172 and have the members of the firm talk with you about them.

You can be assured that the job will be handled in an expert way — there are 25 years behind each job done by Axtens Commercial Refrigeration.

Grady Harland Keeps Cars In Peak Condition

With families moving farther and farther from the father's and husband's job, the automobile plays an increasingly important role in man's existence.

If the car didn't operate as efficiently as it does, work schedules of the average American would become hopelessly snarled. One concern which dedicates its energies to seeing that the family vehicle does operate at maximum capacity is the service station.

A local station which has offered the best in automotive service to local and transient customers is the Magnolia station, located at 1000 Lamesa Highway, owned and operated by Grady Harland.

Americans are apt to take employees of service stations for granted. Without any advance notice, they usually can venture onto the driveways of a station, ask for and receive a complete servicing job on their vehicle.

Personnel of stations such as the one operated by Harland call upon the latest in equipment and their own experience to tackle such work without undue loss of time to the customer.

The fact that they have made regular customers out of so many who drive into the station and like the treatment their vehicles receive, reflects the fact that they are giving the motoring public what it wants.

Firestone At Home In New Store

The grand opening of Firestone's new store is past, but the management of the store is hoping the business continues at the same pace.

The new store building at 507 E. 3rd was crammed with customers the three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of the open house, not only inspecting the new facilities but taking advantage of the many good prices offered.

Charles Martin, along with other Firestone officials, have expressed their thanks to their many customers for making the opening a success. But at the same time, they urged the customers to continue to come by and make Firestone their appliance and auto headquarters.

Firestone, in its new surroundings, has more space to display merchandise and thus enlarge its list of items. The pleasant surroundings make for easier shopping, too.

There are always plenty of bargains at Firestone, from small gardening equipment to tires and large appliances. Also in the new building, Firestone has the room and facilities to more adequately handle brake work and front end alignment.

Times Office Supply Repairs Equipment

Nothing is so aggravating around a busy office than to have an adding machine, a computer, a typewriter or some other piece of highly important office machinery suddenly go haywire.

Often such disasters can work a real hardship on the entire staff and throw the smooth running operation of the establishment completely out of kilter.

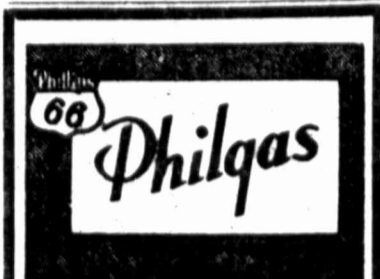

The big thing in such emergencies is to get the machine fixed and back to working order.

In Big Spring, much of the annoyance such incidents pose can be eliminated by contacting Times Office Supply in the Settles Hotel Building.

Times Office Supply repairs any kind and all kinds of office machinery. Not only that—Times Office Supply repairs the machines the way they should be repaired. Their employees are skilled mechanics familiar with all of the quirks and twists that modern office machinery possesses. Promptness is a feature of Times Office Supply repair service.

Furthermore, Times Office Supply has a complete stock of all the supplies needed for any modern office. Whatever it is that you need in the operation of your establishment, you can find it at

Mrs. Pearl Wannamaker, Seattle, Wash., educator, poses outside Federal District Court in Washington, D.C., after a jury awarded her $145,000 damages in her libel suit against radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. It was the highest libel judgment ever awarded by a jury in the District of Columbia.

Old Model A Passes On To New X15 Pilot

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Rattling around on his 300,000 acre desert test center is the faded blue Model A Ford. By custom it belongs to the U.S. No. 1 test pilot and, at his death or departure, is passed on to his successor for $100.

Until last July it belonged to Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe. Kincheloe died in a jet crash. Now the old Lizzy, sarcastically tagged "Sudden Death," is the property of Capt. Bob White, who may be the first man in space.

White is Kincheloe's successor in the cockpit of the X15 rocket plane, which starts its flight tests here next week. For the first four months, the X15 will be guided through its pre-space flights by Scott Crossfield, test pilot for North American Aviation, which built the research craft for the Air Force, the Navy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Crossfield's job is to make certain the plane is ready for these customers.

When the X15 blasts off for the black void beyond earth's atmosphere, Bob White will be at the controls.

White asked for the job. But he didn't ask for the nickname that came along with it — "Danger Ranger."

Classically handsome, White was the natural choice when a television crew came on the base looking for subjects for a series called "Danger Is My Business." Under protest, White consented. Shortly after the TV incident, a glamor magazine carried his photograph. Next morning, the photo was pinned on the bulletin board of the test pilots' ready room. Under it was the penciled legend: "Danger Ranger."

2 Men Wounded In Gun Battle

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP) — A gunfight here in Central Texas yesterday left an officer and a Louisiana man each shot three times.

Sheriff Howard Stegall of Robertson County gave this account: J. W. Richards, 51, of Vidalia, La., came to Franklin to see his estranged wife. Her father, Lew Moore, tried to keep Richards from entering the home and Richards threatened the family with a pistol. He then went in to see his wife and Moore called deputy sheriff E. P. Elliott.

Elliott arrived and they exchanged shots. Richards was hospitalized at Hearne with three bullet wounds in the stomach. He was reported in serious condition. Elliott received flesh wounds in his shoulder, leg and arm. Stegall said a charge of assault with a deadly weapon would be filed against Richards.

TO FIGHT WRESTLER

Archie Moore Is Billed In Odessa

ODESSA (SC) — Archie Moore, Light-heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will meet Dizzy Davis, a well-known wrestler, in a ten-round boxing match here the night of Thursday, Feb. 19.

Two teams involved in the scrap for second place in West Zone basketball standings, Howard County Junior College and Frank Phillips of Borger, come to grips in an 8 o'clock contest in the Jayhawk Gym tonight.

The Hawks will make or break the Hawk's chances in the seven-team race. A win will deadlock them for the runnerup spot with the Borger team. A defeat would eliminate all chance for them to overtake first place Clarendon in the race and seriously impair their hopes of finishing in the runnerup spot.

The Hawks are now 3-2 in the race. Frank Phillips is 4-1, having lost only to Clarendon. HCJC warmed up for the engagement by thumping Lubbock Christian College with a mighty show of power Friday night, 100-62.

In a previous game at Borger, Frank Phillips won by a score of 91-80. The Hawks led for a half in that one but the Plainsmen took complete charge when play was resumed.

The game will be one of two within the conference the Hawks play this week. On Saturday night, the locals visit Amarillo for a contest with the dangerous Badgers. The Big Springers will carry a 14-6 win record onto the court tonight. Frank Phillips is 9-4.

The Plainsmen come south for two games. Tomorrow night, they are scheduled to go against Odessa in Odessa. Coach Bud Simpson says the Plainsmen will be lucky to break even on the trip. Simpson coached the Plainsmen to a co-championship in the zone last season.

Simpson chartered a bus this morning in order to make the trip to Big Spring and Odessa.

There is still much doubt that he can work himself into shape for such a duel.

Some and Morrow will run in the open 100 and 220, Odessa officials state. Both have used up their collegiate eligibility, which is the reason such races are scheduled.

Water is the big item. If the club officials could find a like place of ground where underground water is plentiful, chances are the entire membership could be won over to the idea of a move.

Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, says 17 high schools have already entered teams in the San Angelo track and field meet, which will be held in competition with Odessa's center carnival.

It isn't generally known but Byron Nelson, the golf great, underwent an operation last September for "deterioration of a disc" which could have put him in a wheelchair.

He's completely recovered. Odessa's center carnival, included, he reveals, are a number of Panhandle and High Plains schools.

Spring training is scheduled to open at Rice and possibly Texas Christian. The latter won't start unless the weather is favorable.

Four other schools have set spring training dates. Southern Methodist begins Feb. 10, Texas Feb. 16, Texas Tech Feb. 28 and Texas A&M March 31.

Arkansas, which always begins after all the others, and Baylor haven't set their openings. Baylor is waiting until its coaching staff is complete. New Head Coach John Bridgers has arrived and all his varsity assistants are due in shortly but a freshman coach is yet to be named.

Midland's Bulldogs open spring football drills Feb. 11 under their new coach, Cletus Fisher.

Hans Leis, a basketball coach in Alexandria, La., suggests drawing a 30-foot arc on the court — and giving three points for all points sunk outside this arc.

He reasons that such an innovation would cut down stalling and fouling in the closing minutes — by opening up for running room and giving opportunity for long set shots.

The committee promoting the West Texas Relays at Odessa, which will be held the week prior to the ABC Relays here March 28-29, insists Duke's Dave Sims will race Bobby Morrow there.

Some withdrew from the Washington Star Indoor Games recently because he wasn't in shape and due to the fact that he is studying music.

Thomas May Go To 7 Ft., 4 In.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two years ago, when he was 15 years of age, John Thomas had trouble clearing 6 feet in the high jump.

Today, the gangling Boston University freshman is one of the world's five 7-foot jumpers, holds the world's indoor record and very well could go up to 7-4 by the 1960 Olympics.

Young John, who stands 6-4 1/2, still is developing. In less than a year, he has grown an inch and three-quarters. He hasn't reached his potential yet.

In his past three competitions, he has broken the world's indoor record each time. First, he made 6-11. Then, he erased Ken Wiesner's mark of 6-10 1/2.

Next time out, he upped his week-old standard to 6-11 1/2. And Saturday in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden he became the first high jumper in history to get over 7 feet indoors.

At the moment, Yuri Stepanov of Russia holds the outdoor world record of 7-1 (with the aid of a built-up shoe). That's certainly within reach of Thomas and, as a matter of fact, he came mightily close to clearing 7-1 1/2 Saturday night.

"I don't want to predict anything for myself," said John, an unassuming lad. "I'm just going to keep on jumping and see what happens."

His next effort will be in the Boston AA Games this week and he'll be up against Charlie Dumas, the world's first 7-footer whom he licked in the Millrose meet, and

Meet Honors Arah Phillips

ODESSA (SC) — The Permian Basin and Queen Bee Volleyball championship tournaments will be held, concurrently, in Odessa College gymnasiums, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, featuring 26 A and B volleyball teams from basin high schools.

The tournaments will be dedicated to Miss Arah Phillips, head of the women's physical education department and dean of women at Howard County College in Big Spring.

Schools which will be represented by both A and B units in the tournament include, Kermit, Pecos, Denver City, San Angelo, Monahans, Big Spring, Sonora, Snyder, Andrews, Wink, Seminole, and Iraan. Lamesa will participate in the B tournament only, and Crane in the A tournament only.

Last year the Big Spring Steerettes defeated the Kermit Yellow Jackets to cop the championship trophy for the Permian Basin Volleyball tournament. In the Queen B tournament, Kermit turned the tables on Big Spring to win the B team championship.

Some 1,200 spectators and 550 participants are expected to take part in these two tournaments, sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association at Odessa College.

BELTON (SC)—Howard County Junior College's Jayhawk Queens tipped Mary-Hardin Baylor College of Belton in a basketball thriller, 38-33, in an overtime thriller here Saturday night.

The score of the regulation game ended as 33-33 but Kay Burroughs and Peggy Bryant each sunk two free tosses and Peggy Francis had a tie goal in the overtime that provided HCJC with the win.

Patty Hudgens and Claudene Pyle fouled out for the Queens during the game while Burroughs and Peggy Francis each had four fouls against them at the end of the contest.

The win was the fifth of the season for HCJC, against three defeats. Coach Arah Phillips will divide her squad for games in Abilene Tuesday night, sending part of them to McMurry and the other portion to HSU.

Mary-Hardin Baylor fielded a stronger team than the one it sent to Big Spring earlier in the season. Meiba Cockrell, who did not get to play against the Queens in the previous match, led her team in scoring with 23 points.

HCJC led at the end of the first quarter, 12-9; at half time, 20-18; and after three periods, 27-24.

The Queens made the 600-mile round trip in one day. Eleven girls and Miss Phillips were included in the group.

High Sales Result In Reclassification Of White's Store

Sales volume increased in 1958 in White's Big Spring store, 202 Scurry, was sufficient that the local store has been reclassified from Class C to a Class B store. The announcement was made today by John Polone, manager. Polone stated that "total sales during 1958 showed more than 15 per cent increase over those of 1957."

Boys Discover Hidden Treasure

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — What every boy dreams of — finding hidden treasure — has come true for three youngsters who found $10,000 cash in a vacant lot. Now all they have to do is wait and see if anyone else claims it. Under state law the police can hold the money 30 days. However, the police in suburban Cheektowaga, where the boys found the money, say they might keep it 90 days just to be on the safe side.

Teen-Agers Take Over Pops Market; Jazz Out In The Cold

By BOB THOMAS
AP Music-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the five best-selling records in the nation today are: "Sixteen Candles" by the Crests; "Stagger Lee" by Lloyd Price; "Donna" by Ritchie Valens. Ever hear them? The chances are no, if you are of voting age and spend little time near radios and juke boxes. But if you're a teen-ager, you doubtless dig these discs the most.

ord business can't figure out what is happening, what chance is there for us adult laymen? We listen to the hit records in astonishment. What comes out is foreign to generations that were reared on jazz and swing. We hear the raucous honking of saxophones and the steady twanging of guitars. The voices seem unmusical; they sing about the un-schooled words of lament for young love. The tones appear little removed from the mountain country of the South.

of Pat Boone's career. "Teen-age girls buy most of the single records and they seem to want a secret love affair with their favorite singer. Because of this, the publicity about Pat's family life has hurt his single sales, though he's getting a broader audience all the time."

Musicians Get New Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the American Federation of Musicians went to work today at three major networks with a new five-year contract. The union and the networks agreed on the terms of the pact Sunday. The settlement ended a strike by the musicians, who were ordered to stop work at midnight Saturday when the old contract expired. No programs were affected.

Times Office Supply

By WINSTON (Round Boy) GREGG

Well, here it is another Monday and time to say thanks for the past week's business and I must admit it has been a nice week. A funny thing happened last week, as most folks, I love sports and try to attend as many sporting events as possible, anyway last week I was out to the bowling lanes and after polishing a few lanes to pay for my lines, I bowled one or two. While in the last game I noticed a man kept watching me, and I must admit I really got hot the last frame or two and ended up with a "63," after I finished this man came over to me and said "This sport takes a lot of skill, do you do this for a living?" I said "No, as matter of fact I am trying to make a living in the office supply business." "Office Supply?" "Yes, you know (I said very quickly) adding machines, calculators, desks, filing cabinets, memograph paper, machine ribbons, cash registers, pens, pencils, bookkeeping supplies, carbon paper, stencils, etc." He said "That's fine, by the way I noticed you smoke cigarettes." "Yes, I took up cigars once but I kept getting my hand stepped on, so I went back to cigarettes." He asked "What kind of cigarette do you smoke?" "Bukes!" "Any special reason?" "Best reason in the world, they are cheap and besides they have a broken man's flavor and a sinking man's taste." "Do you suggest that everyone smoke Bukes?" "I'm for letting everyone make his own mistakes." Well, after he left I kept thinking he reminded me of someone, while driving back down

Georges L. Bissonette of Central Falls, R.I., in 1955.

Billboards Called A Fire Hazard

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanaugh Jr. wants legislation to lessen the fire hazard of the huge billboards in Times Square. Cavanaugh appointed a committee to draft a fire law amendment requiring fire access openings in the signs. The commissioners acted after fire broke out Saturday night in a Times Square restaurant and spread to other structures, burning for three hours and threatening the theatrical area. Cavanaugh said the signs which covered the four-story brick structure had made the fire almost impossible to control.

30 Violent Deaths Recorded In Texas

At least 30 persons met violent deaths in Texas over the weekend. Highway accidents took 16 lives. The count started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday. Three men were killed shortly before midnight Sunday when a commercial DC3 airliner loaded with Idaho air guardsmen crashed southeast of Kerrville. Twenty-five escaped from the flaming wreckage. The dead included W. O. Woody Epps of Portland, Ore., chief pilot, and Harvey Hill of Oswego, Ore., second pilot. The name of the third victim, a National Guardsman, was withheld. The plane had been icing heavily and was trying to land at the Kerrville airport. An icy highway figured in a two-car collision that killed four persons east of San Saba Sunday. The victims were Mrs. Dora Green, 52, of Lometa; her husband, Clinton Green, 59; Mrs. Margaret White, 51, of Austin; and Wayne Jennings, 15, of San Saba. Airman James P. Wood was killed by an auto Sunday night while walking near Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio. Mrs. Christine Escobar, 52, of Austin, was fatally injured in a traffic crash near Kenedy Sunday. The charred body of Edgar Black, 67, a church caretaker, was found Sunday after fire swept a Houston apartment. Mrs. Gerald Shoemaker, 24, burned critically Saturday in a gas explosion at her Alice home, died Sunday. Four persons died as two cars collided in rain and fog 14 miles south of George West, in South Texas, early Sunday. They were Ghene Wilburn Morris Jr. of Houston; Simona Flores Zepeda and Jose Lial Zepeda, both of Alice, and the couple's daughter, Dora Maria, 14. A car-truck collision on U.S. 75 south of McKinney killed Joe Walton Harvey, 23, of Sherman, early Sunday. Claudio Rivera, 48, of Trespaces and Francisco Gomez, 22, of Edinburg were found in a car in a drainage ditch on a rural road about 3 miles east of Edinburg Sunday. The car was believed to have crashed into the ditch during a drizzling rain Saturday. Carl Golden, 52, of Colorado City was killed east of Seminole on U.S. 180 when his car skidded on ice and crashed.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — What's there to do in Alaska and what can you make at it?

To say anything with a certainty is risky. M. R. Schrock, head of the local office of the state employment service, has listed 20,000 on the unemployment rolls according to the state figures. He says the local state wage rate figures are not up to date.

However, prevailing wage rates compiled by the Corps of Engineers and other government agencies indicate these wages at Anchorage, with the slightly higher figure given for Fairbanks:

Plumbers, $4.80-$4.95; steelworkers $4.53-$4.56; bricklayers, $5.09; carpenters, $4.25; laborer, $3.80; electrician $5; hoist operators, $4.32-$4.75; truck drivers, $4.02-$4.75; sheet metal workers, $4.90-$4.95; painter, $4.50; cat driver, medium, $4.75.

These hourly wage rates were current as of Jan. 1, although some negotiations and settlements were under way for higher wages in many crafts. There are 22 unions listed in the Anchorage directory, including those for tailors, retail clerks, cleaners and pressers, teamsters and longshoremen of various categories, bartenders, food service personnel, etc.

It should be remembered, these are scale wages, some jobs pay premium, plus transportation, for hardship and rush work. Because of the number and types of unions, construction and businessmen caution that (1) any and all work is subject to strike delays and (2) local labor gets first preference.

Most advice is to get a job before you come up here, regardless of the strings you have to pull, or come up prepared to maybe sit out the summer on some bench if you aren't lucky.

Where are some places to try for summer on year-around jobs? The Alaska Railroad, State Highway Commission, or other state agencies are possibilities for summer work.

Puget Sound and Drake of Seattle, Wash., contractors to operate the Morrison-Knudson Construction Co. camp at Pt. Barrow is a possibility for longer terms. So are Federal Electric "White Alice" at Anchorage or Federal Electric "DEW Line" at Fairbanks. This company operates, in this order the "White Alice" communication station sites in remote areas and Distant Early Warning

U.S. Red Says Jails Filled

MOSCOW (AP)—An American Communist told the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist party today that U.S. jails contain many political prisoners.

James Jackson, secretary of the National Committee of the U.S. party, told the sixth session of the congress that if President Eisenhower could say that in the United States there is not a single political prisoner, then "many leaders of the Communist and workers movement of the United States would be able to be present here and to greet the delegates of the congress."

Jackson named "many Communists who are languishing in the jails of the United States," a summary of his speech broadcast by Moscow radio said.

Jackson read a message of greeting from the American Communist party leadership.

Another foreign speaker was Khaled Bagdash, head of the Syrian Communist party who fled his country after President Nasser of the United Arab Republic began arresting Syrian Communists.

Writers To Meet

The writers club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jessie G. Thomas.

Demos Warn Dulles He'd Better Come Up With New Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, heading for talks with European allies this week, has been told he'd better come up with some fresh ideas if he wants support from Senate Democrats.

The call for a new approach in dealing with the Soviet Union came from Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), assistant Democratic Senate leader and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Mansfield said today the forthcoming elevation of Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) to the foreign relations chairmanship serves notice on State Department officials "they had better get on their toes."

Dulles has scheduled a meeting with Fulbright before he leaves for Europe. Fulbright has been a sharp critic of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

Dulles is tentatively slated to fly to London late Tuesday, with his first round of talks there

Groundhog Nearly Freezes To Death

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP)—The groundhog darn near froze to death this morning. And there will be six more weeks of winter.

Thus reports the groundhog's chief keeper. Promptly at 8:23 a.m., Sam Light led a procession of the club's hearty members of the famed Punxsutawney Groundhog Club to Gobbler's Knob, a little hill on the outskirts of this western Pennsylvania town.

It was 10 below zero, declared Light—the president of the club. But, despite all this, the groundhog poked his nose out and, as promptly, scurried back into his hole. This means there will be six more weeks of winter.

4 Cops Jailed On Burglary Charges

ATLANTA (AP)—Four Atlanta policemen were arrested on burglary charges last weekend. Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said Sunday night he believed the action had smashed a police burglary ring.

Jenkins said all four men had admitted a series of burglaries in northwest Atlanta and had resigned from the force. The four, who worked from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., are scheduled to appear in municipal court late today for a hearing. All are free under $5,000 bonds.

Patrolman B. E. Barnes, 28, former police radio operator, was arrested Sunday. The other patrolmen, arrested Saturday, were identified as T. E. Oakes, 26; W. T. Hollingsworth, 36; and C. A. Suttles, 25.

Tried Make-Up Ideas

Stella Stevens believes in the old saying of nothing ventured, nothing gained. This southern beauty is one of the new names on 20th Century-Fox's contract list. She'll soon be seen in "Say One For Me."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Learned Professional Ideas On Make-Up

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Twentieth Century-Fox's new talent department is proving to be so successful Joanne Woodward, Diane Varsi and Hope Lange are three outstanding examples that their scouts are all over the country seeking talented newcomers. From Tennessee comes a beautiful blonde, Stella Stevens, who was discovered as a fashion model in a Memphis department store. "Things happened to me so fast I can't believe I really have a studio contract," Stella said with just a trace of a southern accent. "I worked and dreamed for years, and now my dreams have come true. I noticed that her lashes were painted with a sapphire-colored mascara. "Where did you learn that?" I asked. "It's very becoming." "From a make-up girl at the studio," Stella replied. "Although I've learned much from the make-up artists, I've made no major changes. I like using a brush for my eye-liner and I find it is more subtle and lasts longer than a pencil." Stella keeps her eyebrows dark even though her hair is platinum blonde. "My complexion is naturally fair and my eyebrows are naturally dark, so I leave them that way," she explained. "I began experimenting with make-up when I was in the ninth grade." Stella went on. "I started by learning how to use a lipstick brush before I was allowed to wear lipstick so that by the time I was ready to wear it, I could do a professional job. There is no doubt that a brush gives a neater outline. I think it's a good idea for all teen-agers to buy a brush when they buy their first lipsticks. "Hollywood is full of beautiful girls trying to win contracts. What do you feel helped you make the grade?" I asked Stella. "I try to be basically honest. It's a trait I admire most in others. I just don't see that pretense or artificiality can get you anywhere. And," Stella concluded, "I think you have to take chances. Too many people are afraid of failure, but I feel when nothing is ventured — nothing is gained."

Avoid Colds

Winter's here, and with it the usual crop of colds, and other respiratory illnesses. Getting plenty of rest, the doctors say, is one of the best ways to keep these bugs away from the home. Check the mattresses in your home. If they are lumpy or sag in the middle, or droop when you sit on their sides, then it's time to consider new units.

Tasty Spread

Chopped syrup-preserved ginger may be added to cream-style cottage cheese and served as a spread for hot rich biscuit food with fried chicken. There's an art to planning a salad that is to accompany the main course. It should complement the hearty dishes in color, flavor and texture.

Dual-Purpose Sleep Units Are Practical

Do you get your share of overnight or over the weekend guests? The big question in many homes is, where can Aunt Susie or Cousin Bill hang their respective hats? If there's a guest room, that's fine, but chances are it's being used by Dad as a study or by Junior for a playroom. The only answer to this dilemma of space is to invest in some dual-purpose sleep equipment which will not only add to the attractiveness of the home, but will also provide additional room for sitting or sleeping. Every modern homemaker, whether she furnishes contemporary, Early American, French-Provincial or 18th Century has at least one dual purpose unit!

Next time you're near a furniture or department store take a look at what's available in this line and you will be amazed. The convertible sofa, for instance, with a flick of the wrist turns into a full size bed for two. Your guests will appreciate the refreshing sleep they'll experience on its fine innerspring mattress. Then there is the so-called jackknife sofa bed in which the back drops down level with the seat to form the sleeping surface.

The studio couches, ever popular for their beauty and convenience, quickly convert into single beds that will "ride" your guests on a comfortable mattress. Other forms of dual purpose equipment to consider are the single sleepers, a refinement of the old day beds, and the sleep chair which

Women Of Small Cities Are Best Dressed Says Noted Hair Stylist

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
America's most elegant women live either in New York or in smaller cities such as San Diego, says Antoine Parisian dean of hairdressers. After a two-month tour of American cities, his first in several years, the temperamental and fabled Antoine airs his views of the American scene, feminine gender, as follows: "Small-town women often are better-dressed than those who live in big cities. San Diego women, for instance, are much smarter than those of Los Angeles. San Francisco women are charming, but the elegant ones live in the cloud — you never see them in public. Those seen in restaurants look neat and clean, but styled by mass production." "On the whole," says the silver-haired but ageless Antoine, the women of this country have learned a great deal in the last few years about how to dress and do their hair for the most flattering effect. But he adds: "Everybody looks well here in America, because of your wonderful mass production. People learn fashion and manners from show windows." "As to other cities visited during his tour, here are his ratings: Washington: "Women dress much more formally than in other sections, but are inclined to be stiff." Philadelphia: "As to elegance very poor."

Hollywood: "It's not real, everybody's on exhibition." Houston: "It's so big you never see women walking — only riding in cars." Chicago: "There's only one good thing about Chicago — the lake." Antoine says he finds few mistakes in good taste among American women but there is a lack of individuality. "Everybody is too rushed here," says he. "People don't have time to be different. Buyers order dresses by the thousands, and customers buy them the same way. If every woman has the same hairdo, it's because the hairdresser is too busy to be creative." And he predicts a trend to greater simplicity in both dress and hair styles, because: "Designers cannot change the lives of women. Today's way of life makes simplicity a necessity. Women do not have the time for elaborate dress or hair styles. The formal, elegant life is no longer possible for most women. So the designer must adapt his creations to real life — not his own dream."

Valentine Tea Honors The WSCS

As is their annual custom, the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church honored the WSCS with a Valentine tea Sunday afternoon at fellowship hall. Silver and crystal appointed the tea table which carried out the holiday colors with a white linen cloth, red candles and napkins. Red hearts mingled in the centerpiece of white mums and snapdragons. Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Nell Hatch, Mrs. N. W. McCleskey and Mrs. Bert Aileck alternated at the tea service. During the afternoon, musical selections were presented by Carolyn Thompson, Melinda Crocker, Kay McGibbon, Delores Howard and the Rev. Weldon Stephenson. About 40 called. Arrangements for the affair were handled by Mrs. Lina Flew-ellen, Mrs. S. Gorman, and Mrs. R. L. Penney, Guild president.

Dolls Form Decor For Baby Shower

Two little dolls, seated on tiers of styrofoam, and an umbrella were featured in the decorations at the shower given Friday evening for Mrs. Doyle Ralsback. Guests gathered at the home of Mrs. Delbert Harland, who was joined by Mrs. Billy Plew, Mrs. Ira Dement, Mrs. Stanley Harris and Lily Briggs as hostesses. Mrs. Ernest Miller was at the guest register. The arrangement of dolls was in a base of roses placed on an ecru lace cloth on the table, from which 21 guests were served. Mrs. Ralsback was presented with a corsage of tiny socks and a rattler.

Canned Peach Idea

Ever heat drained canned peach halves in melted curd, jelly and serve warm with vanilla ice cream? Good!

Yeast Dough

Always cover yeast dough that's set aside to rise, and be sure it is not in a draft.

Cucumber Salad

Serve thin crisp rounds of the vegetable, ice cold, with mayonnaise seasoned with lemon juice, curry powder and (if necessary) extra salt.

Former Ackerly Pair Mark Anniversary

ACKERLY — Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Butts of Seminole, formerly of Ackerly, observed their golden wedding anniversary recently at the home of their son, T. L. Butts, in Seminole. Matched gold wedding bands were presented the couple by their children at a family dinner. Mrs. Olga Ballard of Andros, Mrs. Oleta Cathey of Hobbs, N. M., and T. L. Butts were on hand for their parents' celebration. The former Nellie Odessa Culver of Atlanta, Ga., repeated wedding vows with Butts, who was born near Whitesboro, on Jan. 21 1909. From 1935 to 1946 they farmed west of Lamesa, moving then to Ackerly. They have resided in Seminole since 1955.

A Devotional For Today

Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them. (Matthew 18:20.)

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for the joy of new life in Christ. Strengthen and guide us so that we may fulfill Thy will. Send us out as Thy messengers to persons whose hearts are unopened to Thy love. In our Saviour's name we pray. Amen.

How About Some Commonsense?

The Court of Criminal Appeals this week delivered a technical kyo to lower court action which has resulted in conviction of a Wichita Falls man for driving while intoxicated.

The complaint on which the lower court action was based was found to be fatally faulty. In filling out the complaint form, the typist had failed to clear the figure "57" in the blank space for 1957 far enough to the right, so that the 57 became superimposed on the 19. Thus the high court contended the form appeared to read "A. D. 57," not 1957.

The decision was unanimous. The court ruled the original complaint was "fatally defective."

There probably was no doubt in the high court's mind that the offense as alleged took place on Oct. 11, A. D. 1957; the records of the trial court should be sufficient proof of that. There was no Wichita County, A. D. 57, Texas, no Court of Criminal Appeals, no automobiles, and it is highly unlikely that A. D. 1857 or 2057 was meant. It had to be A. D. 1957, the 19 might have been blurred a little, though it was printed in type and the 57 was typewritten.

There has been some effort in Texas to modify the law so as to eliminate many technicalities as ridiculous as this, to avoid unnecessary delays and needless expense.

But the court records are full of reversals for similar reasons, and the year 1959 hasn't yet recorded any progress in the direction of common sense in the administration of justice.

Not Much Of A Lure

If the lure of more money is being held out as a hope for inducing farmers to choose plan No. 2 for cotton acreage this year, it's not likely to prove very strong medicine.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced a support price of 30.40 cents on cotton under the 80 per cent. of formula for those who do not exceed their acreage allotment. For those who want to plant an additional 40 per cent. of acres, the support price will be 55 per cent. of parity at 24.70.

If a farmer plants 90 acres to cotton and harvests a third of a bale to the acre, he will gross $5,016 from his lint. If he plants an additional 40 a res and has a similar rate of harvest, he will realize $5,647 for his lint cotton, getting $631 more for his additional 40 acres.

40 acre, will gross him $8,645, or $1,015 for his additional 40 acres.

If he harvests three-fourths of a bale per acre, his bumper yield in these tryland parts, he will gross $11,400 for his 100 acres or $113.58 for his 140 acres, or a difference of $2,185 for the additional 40 acres.

For simple comparison, he will realize the equivalent of $50 a bale for the additional production he would gain by working 40 more acres at half a bale to the acre. A lot of cotton costs that much to produce by the time you figure in seed (two or three plantings), chopping, mowing, picking, hauling etc., not to mention land.

Unless a producer is lured by an individualistic force or is willing to gamble that the market will be better than 24.70, he's not going to bat his train out and break his back to worry over 40 per cent more acreage.

J. A. Livingston Big Investors Win Bank Proxy Fight

"A proxy battle is just another political campaign. And stockholders, like voters, choose only as well as their knowledge of the men and the issues permit, which, considering that most stockholders are too busy with their own affairs and careers, is usually superficial."

"Only when the professionals, the institutions, get into a proxy fight is there knowledge and understanding in depth. And proxy battles are what the pros do not get into. That is the great gap in stockholder potency."

That's a quotation from my book, The American Stockholder, which I must confess that in the case of the recent New York Trust Co. proxy contest, it's wrong. Here was a powder puff proxy contest par excellence. The dissenters didn't engage in political name-calling. Nor did Adrian M. Massie, chairman of the board, call them names.

Though this was not a rabble-rousing contest, stockholders were roused. Of 1,200,000 shares outstanding, 1,096,642 were actually voted, more than 91 per cent.

The professional investors — the insurance companies, pension funds, investment trusts, banks, etc. — got into the battle. Not openly. They didn't make statements. But they did vote as they usually vote — pro-management.

The dissenters sought to elect five directors who would be receptive to a merger with another bank. They mustered 257,262 shares, against 839,374. After the showdown, the dissenters cast their 257,268 votes for the six management nominees to the board for unanimity for appearance's sake.

The dissenters were J. A. Livingston and his Wall Street associates. They were large scale investors and lawyers who know their way around. M. A. Schapiro & Co., one of New York's outstanding dealers in bank stocks, had suggested that New York Trust stock might increase in value — if it were merged into a larger New York bank. This, no doubt, attracted a pro-merger investor-speculator following interested in capital gains.

The New York Trust had rejected several exploratory merger discussions and the Guaranty Trust Co. had asked Massie to a meeting. But Massie indicated that his board of directors felt that the New York Trust had a place in New York City as an independent bank. If Guaranty had a specific proposal, he'd consider it, but he wouldn't dicker. When, later, Guaranty made a bid to J. I. Morgan & Co., which greatly enhanced the market price of Morgan stock, this reinforced the dissenters in their determination to be represented on the board. They named five candidates.

The Morgan Guaranty plan made talking point in soliciting proxies. But it didn't work. The dissenters claimed to represent more than 20 per cent of the vote when they started and they wound up with 21.4 per cent of the total share, and 23.5 per cent of the votes cast.

New York Trust is an investment stock, it's not held by speculators seeking quick gains. Undoubtedly, institutional investors, would welcome a rise in the market price. Undoubtedly, they would be pleased with an increase in dividend. But they prefer to derive such boons from action of the management, not action forced on the management. Such investors are fond of saying: "We buy management. If we don't have faith in the management we sell the stock. If we hold the stock, we usually send in our proxies to support management."

"Institutional investors want unity. They prefer directors who will consider the affairs of a 'going concern' in a total, not a merger, ball."

New York Trust is the type of going concern conservative institutional bankers hanker for. Assets were $786,000,000 at the end of 1951, just over a billion dollars at the end of 1956. Allowing for a two-for-one stock split in 1955, earnings have risen from $4.05 a share to $6.26 and dividends from $2.50 to $3.75 from 1951 to 1958.

The vote was a vote of confidence or quiet record. The longer New York Trust remains independent, the greater could be the merger price later on. Institutions who decided the issue wanted to let a management which had proved itself make the decision — to merge or not to merge. Here, indeed, was knowledge and understanding in depth.

Why Teachers Quit

KANKAKEE, Ill. — Why do teachers leave school rooms?

Dr. Anthony Marinaccio, superintendent, says of 19 teachers who left a Kankakee school district during 1957-1958, 50 per cent left for family and personal reasons. He said 25 per cent left for better positions. One left to become a minister. Two on leave of absence and two reached the age of retirement.

Family and personal reasons included marriage, pregnancy, adoption of children, desire to live nearer home, military service and furthering education.

The Letter

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — The letter, written in a child's sprawling hand, was beyond the ability of the nos. office to deliver. It read:

"Dear Daddy. Just a few lines to let you know we are all just fine. We was all to see Grandma about three weeks ago. How are you getting along up there? I hope it isn't as cold there as it is here."

"Sissy and all the other kids are just fine and we all want you home for Christmas because without you it won't be one. Well, I'll close for now, Love,

"P. S. Mommy will love and miss you."

The letter was addressed: "To my Daddy in Heaven, c-o God"

Truth Will Out

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — William Lewis, 33, appeared in city court and answered to the name of Morris Hoffmann, charged with gaming and frequenting a "raining" house.

Judge Charles Henche looked down and said: "Isn't your name Lewis?" Lewis admitted his identity and was sentenced to five days in jail on a contempt of court charge.

Henche, a former attorney recognized Lewis as a former client.

Today's Civics Lesson

Old Fort Union Ragged Ruins Recall Past Glory

LAS VEGAS, N. M. — Wind, never ceasing, rain, and time have erased most of Fort Union.

But a few scattered remnants have been saved to remind Americans of their storied pioneer heritage.

In a wide grassed valley, studded with fat beef cattle and still scarred with the century-old ruts of the Santa Fe Trail, the ragged-toothed ruins linger. In 1851, Fort Union was the largest supply depot in the Southwest. Early in its history, it was the only place between Missouri and Santa Fe where a stagecoach passenger could find a bed.

By 1891 the need for a fort was gone. The Santa Fe Railway was carrying passengers over the once risky route through Indian country, and the big frontier post was abandoned.

Gradually wind and snow and rain worked through the protective adobe coat on the massive warehouses and the rows of barracks and officers' quarters.

Sixty-five years went by, and most of the mud walls with their decorative and protecting cornices of brick had fallen. From a distance, across the wide valley north of the village of Wrenn's, the remains stood a ranks like monuments for the men who had been there — men like Burnside, Bragg, Longstreet, Sherman, U. S. Grant and Col. Kit Carson, who commanded the fort in 1853, while others were farther east taking part in the fiercest throes of the Civil War.

Finally, two years ago, the effort of a group of public-minded residents of Las Vegas and the rest of New Mexico came to realization. The old fort became a national monument and the National Park Service set about saving what was left.

Today the walls lining the 1,500-foot-long parade ground, the five miles of main walls and cross-walls of the whole fort are being patched so weather cannot melt them further.

Now the visitor can follow well-marked trails lined with signs to explain what Col. E. V. Sumner directed to be built there more than 100 years ago.

With a little imagination they can rebuild this monumental fort, started only five years after the bloody conquest of New Mexico by Gen. Stephen Kearny in the War with Mexico.

Just 11 years later, troops from the fort, under Col. J. P. Sough, fought a little-known Civil War battle about 70 miles southwest of the post, at Gloriaeta Pass, near Apache Canyon.

A Texas column led by Gen. Henry Sibley was headed for the silver mines of Colorado. The South needed money. The Confederate force held the upper hand over Sough's Union troops, after several days of fighting. Sibley's hopes faded when another Union force, led by Maj. J. M. Chivington, destroyed the Confederate supply column.

After the retreat of the Texas column down the Rio Grande, the troops at Fort Union returned to their earlier chores, supplying satellite forts and guarding Santa Fe Trail travelers from Indians.

At last, in 1876, starved because the southern buffalo herd had been killed off, the Plains tribes gave up. The Comanches and Iowas who had raided the historic trail for 50 years settled down on reservations.

Activity at the fort waned, the railway reached Las Vegas in 1879, the huge fort was reduced to caretaker status in the 1880s, and then the last troops moved out in 1891.

Then wind and rain began their ravages.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

President Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 does not call for any real retrenchment in government programs. It is an "austerity" budget only in the sense that it calls for holding the line—that is, for no increases in spending for basic government programs: defense, foreign aid, welfare; and it does not call for any new programs.

The reduction in spending predicted for the next fiscal year will come about largely as a consequence of cutting back on outlays made because of the recession. Minor contingencies easily could put spending in 1959-60 up to the 1958-59 level of 80 billion dollars instead of the 77 billion projected.

Actually, the proposed spending is 5 billion dollars higher than the 1957-58 budget, before the recession.

But, with the project tax revenue increases, this is definitely a non-inflationary budget.

Looking over the President's new budget, one is again struck with the inadequacy of public accounting and planning of national expenditures.

For example, the budget lumps all atomic energy spending as part of national security, yet a good deal of it should be classed as civilian expenditures for peacetime development. Also, foreign military aid is called just that. Should it not be included as part of the Defense Department budget?

Everyone knows that Alaska is the largest state, but do you know which is our largest city—in terms of area? It is Los Angeles, which sprawls over 454 square miles.

Culture note: The United States now has more than 400,000 bars. (And how many churches?)

Farmers now can produce four times as much corn for every hour of work as their grandfathers could 50 years ago. And so can today's comedians.

Quotable notables: "The best way to destroy an enemy," says evangelist Oral Roberts, "is to make a friend of him."

Snow isn't always white. Red, golden, blue and green snow also has been recorded. The colors are caused variously by dust, minute organisms or pollen. Snowflakes sometimes get as large as saucers. A 10-inch snowfall has the moisture equivalent of an inch of rain.

Why would most teen-agers prefer to live in South Carolina or Texas? Because one can get a driver's license in those states at 14. Incidentally, a one-eyed man can drive in any state—if his remaining orb has proper acuity.

Capsule comment: "Ignorance has something to be said for it," points out Bertha Shore. "It accounts for about nine-tenths of the world's conversation."

How happy are we in prosperity? A psychiatrist recently estimated that every minute of the day someone in America tries to commit suicide. Fortunately, most of them don't try too hard.

It was Cervantes who observed, "Make it thy business to know thyself, which is the most difficult lesson in the world."

Around The Rim

Slow Death For A Crusade

A sure way to do nothing, says a professor of labor education at a midwestern college, is to appoint a committee, take the middle course and wait until the enthusiasm dies.

You're lucky if you've never been appointed to a committee and luckier still if the committee to which you might have been named ever got much done.

Are your meetings like this one:

1. Profess not to have the answer or the solution at the moment. This gets you off the hook in a hurry.
2. Emphasize your belief that you and the other members must not move on the matter too rapidly. This avoids the necessity of getting started.
3. Say that the problem or the project can't be separated from all the other problems or projects. Therefore, it can't be solved until all the other problems have been solved.
4. For every proposal, set up one in conflict and conclude that the "middle ground" represents the wisest course of action.
5. Focus attention on the fact that there are all sorts of "dangers" in any specific formulation or conclusion. That'll cause even the eager beavers to change course and go slower.

6. Appoint a committee to work within the committee.

7. Wait until an expert can be consulted. Better still, let each member of the committee consult a different expert and then have a meeting of the minds. Chaos usually develops to the point where you usually forget what the original project was.

8. State in conclusion that you have all clarified your thinking. This conceals the fact that nothing has been accomplished.

9. Point out that the deepest thinkers have struggled with similar problems. This implies that it does you credit even to have thought of it.

10. In winding-up the meeting, give thanks to the problem being tackled. It has, you can remind your fellow commiteemen, stimulated discussion, opened new avenues of thought, showed you the way and challenged your inventiveness.

With a little practice, you can make such a plan of attack work until the crusade chugs to a complete halt and some new project is undertaken.

What Became Of The Warm Weather Cycle?

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, I am on the side of the angels and the poets.

But friends and foes who wish to avoid bodily harm had better not be caught chanting, in my presence, "O, Wind, if Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" Because the answer, from where I perch, is "YES." About three months behind, if Shelley is interested, an estimate based on experience, ESP probings and the forecast of a neighbor with an unusually reliable intuition.

My bailiwick and many other parts of the nation are enduring the coldest winter in many years. There is a booming market today in red flannels and goose grease. In some regions it is even reported that the old practice of sewing children into their clothing has been revived after decades of namby-pamby hygiene practices.

And what, in the meantime, has become of all those weather experts and meteorologists who, since World War II, have been assuring you and me that the world was heading into a long warm-weather cycle? Put on their woolies! I'll wager, and crawled back into the woodwork.

I have in mind one particularly fascinating book whose author proved conclusively that we were in for an increasingly hot time in the old world — our world, that is — for years to come. His theory, based on a lot of esoteric research, proved conclusively that the world's weather moves in a 700-year cycle.

He figured we were now in a warm-weather cycle and there was no point in replacing the old furnace. I gathered the United States was soon to become at least a semi-tropic paradise and the mink money in the piggy bank would be better invested in a grass skirt and a feather fan.

Another item in that book made a lasting impression on me, too. Wheat would be harvested almost on the Arctic Circle, a fact that set me to pondering what price parity.

Of course, these warm-weather prophets could be right, and the current winter could be just an embarrassing icebound fluke. But hereafter I am going to pay more attention, at the approach of autumn, to the prognostications of the union boys, the lumberjack fanatics and to those nature lovers who read a winter's tale in the woolly bears, the busy thickness of a squirrel's tail, the date that black walnuts drop from the tree and the appearance of the first field mouse in the farm kitchen.

When did the first flight of birds go South? The first pilgrims to Miami? There's the true test, not whether there are indications that 700 years ago mangoes and orchids were native to Montana.

Oh, this is the winter of my discontent, all right, full of cold and ice and a low-grade virus that no miracle drug will touch. Oh, for a nice, high-grade infection that a mere $100 worth of miracle capsules will cure in 48 hours!

"Take aspirin and plenty of fruit juice and you'll be well by spring," says my quack, managing, with an effort, not to add "if you last that long."

Oh, I'm poor, pitiful Pearl, that's who I am — a rag, a bone and a clutch of paper handkerchiefs. Not even the seed and nursery catalogues, now flooding the house with their artificial hopes, have brought a ray of sunshine into my little America.

A pox on prophets, and will someone, please, turn up the thermostat!

Proposed Amendment On School Rights

WASHINGTON — Eight Southern senators have taken a significant step to refute the notion that the South believes in lawless ways. Senator Herman E. Talmadge, of Georgia, Democrat, has introduced a proposed amendment to the federal Constitution which is intended to give the states exclusive control of their school systems.

Whether one agrees or disagrees with this proposal as a solution of the tragic conditions brought about by the segregation-integration controversy in the courts, the fact is that the Southern senators have come forward with a legitimate means of overcoming what they consider the ill effects of the 1954 "desegregation" decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The big question, however, is whether the proposed amendment, when analyzed, does really provide the solution desired by the South. Senator Talmadge rightly says:

"The closing of any school anywhere is a lamentable occurrence. The closing of a public-school system is a terrible tragedy. The destruction of public education in an entire region of our nation would be an unparalleled catastrophe.

Yet a realistic appraisal of the fact of the matter affords no conclusion but that that will be the inevitable result of binding the citizens of the South in the chains of circumstance now being forged around them. And the real losers of such an eventuality unfortunately will be those who have the least to say about it — the school children of the South and their parents."

But the amendment which Senator Talmadge offers does not delineate the fundamental constitutional right of the parents to decide for themselves how their children shall be educated. The text of the proposed amendment is as follows:

"Administrative control of any public school, public educational institution, or public educational system operated by any state or by any political or other subdivision thereof, shall be vested exclusively in such state and subdivision and nothing contained in this Constitution shall be construed to deny to the residents thereof the right to determine for themselves the manner in which any such school, institution or system is administered by such state and subdivision."

It would be easy enough, however, for the Supreme Court to rule that even today nothing in the Constitution interferes with the right of local school authorities to "administer" the educational institutions themselves and that discrimination on the basis of race or color or creed is not an "administrative" matter at all but a question of citizenship rights.

What needs to be done, of course, is to include in the proposed amendment an affirmation of the right of parents — the citizens themselves — to determine what kind of educational institutions they wish their children to attend. The individual may discriminate but the state cannot.

This means, under present conditions, two school systems or two sets of classes within the same school buildings or separate buildings.

Obviously there are parents who do not mind seeing their children enrolled in "integrated" schools. Other parents want their children in segregated schools. A constitutional amendment that spells out the rights of parents and gives a discretionary right to the state legislatures or local school boards to set up a dual system is the only method that will assure "freedom of choice" for the parents.

The tuition-grant system offers another alternative, but, in the absence of some new constitutional authority, this cannot mean any quasi-public-school system but a 100-per-cent-private system.

The school controversy is not likely to be over for decades to come. The experience with the 18th Amendment and its subsequent repeal by the adoption of the 21st Amendment is an example of how a basic issue of sociological reform is finally handled by the American people. The question of whether drinking is morally right or wrong has not been settled yet by the provisions of the Constitution, but the right of each locality to control liquor sales now has been affirmed as constitutional.

Precisely this kind of solution is inevitable in the school controversy and, while the Talmadge amendment has that broad aim, it needs to be specifically amended to transfer the power of choice to the citizens, who can then demand of the states the type of schools they want their children to attend. A dual system is the only answer not only for the South but for many cities in the North where an increasing Negro population has merely served to introduce evasive schemes of residential gerrymandering to achieve something for which the Southern people, when they try it, are denounced as attempting a "lawless defiance" of the Constitution.

Short Trial

HONOLULU — A slip of a lawyer's tongue ended a damage suit trial here even before it got started.

Attorney Myer Symonds, questioning the first prospective juror, asked if she had ever been insured by an insurance company.

The opposing lawyer challenged the question and the judge declared a mistrial.

Symonds said later he had intended to ask whether the juror had ever been employed by an insurance company.
