NEW YORK (AP)—Little Bobby Sullivan was given the sad news Saturday and it was a heart-breaking ordeal for everyone at Flushing Hospital. Three uncles from Chicago told the 8-year-old lad that his mother, father and two sisters had been killed by Tuesday night's airplane crash here.

Just then the crew of a tug-boat began pulling people out of the water. They found Bobby in time, but his mother had been too seriously injured to survive. She died not long after the rescue.

Britain Wrangles With U.S. On German Unification Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wrangle involving the British Embassy and the State Department indicated Saturday that Britain thinks the United States is lagging in making plans to counter a possible Red blockade of West Berlin.

Demo Leaders Talk Of Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democratic strategists are talking about a possible billion-dollar cut in foreign aid spending to counter President Eisenhower's description of them as spenders.

forecast a precarious surplus of 70 million dollars in the year starting July 1. Foreign aid funds evidently offer the most attractive invitation for substantial cuts to offset increases the Democrats obviously expect to make in defense, housing, airport and other outlays.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The weather did its best to winter a little around here last week, but we've seen a lot worse than the veneer of ice and powdery snow. It stopped school for two days, although we're not quite sure why unless it was to reduce fender denting, for the temperatures were not severe.

In the past Eisenhower has had the aid of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in efforts to restore in the Senate foreign aid cuts made by the House. But Johnson is showing signs he may be less cooperative this year because of Republican accusations that the Democrats are "spenders and socialists," as he put it.

Freezing Rain Or Snow Likely By Late Today

Occasional light rain, possibly becoming snow or freezing drizzle late today, is the weather outlook for the Big Spring area.

Temperature, which soared to 63 degrees Saturday afternoon, was to fall with arrival of a new cold front. High predicted for today is 35 degrees, while the mercury is expected to dip to 18 tonight. It is expected to climb barely above freezing Monday.

A freezing rain warning for the Panhandle Sunday was issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau as a cold air mass swirled toward Texas. The storm, which was forming Saturday over the central and southern Rocky Mountains, was expected to send temperatures in the Panhandle down to the 20's and 30's before dawn Sunday.

Studying Derby Rules

Registration Schedule Is Set For City's '59 Soap Box Derby

Boys who want to have fun building a Soap Box racer, and then go on to try for high honors, can get ready for the 1959 Soap Box Derby sign up.

Registration materials are on hand, and boys are urged to sign up on Fridays and Saturdays, beginning Feb. 13.

The schedule will be: Fridays, 1 to 6 p.m. Feb. 13, 20, and 27. Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 14, 21, and 28.

Registration will be at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. The Soap Box Derby is open to all boys ages 11 to 15, inclusive, and there is no obligation, except wheels and materials involved in constructing the racer.

A parent or guardian must accompany each boy as he registers. An official Rule Book is available, free, and these may be had at any time, either at The Herald or at Tidwell Chevrolet.

A special motion picture film on the Soap Box Derby, titled "Golden Moment", has been received here, and will be shown at all elementary schools during this week. The movie shows the climax of the Derby program—the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, where, in a "golden moment" the winning boy can achieve national honor, plus rewards that include a $9,000 college scholarship.

This will be the sixth year for the Derby in Big Spring, sponsored by The Herald, Tidwell Chevrolet and the Downtown Lions Club. Dozens of boys have had fun and instruction each year in building racers and entering the local event, and even more are anticipated for 1959, since there have been many inquiries about registration.

Date of the local race (to be set probably in June) will be soon. Winners receive fine awards here, and the champion wins a free trip to Akron to compete in the All-American.

Contracts Awarded For Webb Projects

Suggs Construction Co. and Pioneer Builders, both of Big Spring, have been awarded contracts for construction projects at Webb AFB.

Suggs will build a 21,000 square foot alert hangar for the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. The contract is for $336,999.

Pioneer is to construct a two-story masonry readiness crew building and a one-floor flight simulator training facility. The Pioneer contract is for $231,669.

The Corps of Engineers in Fort Worth also announced that contract probably will be signed early this week with Farnsworth & Chambers Inc. of Houston for the construction of a huge maintenance hangar.

Earlier, United Enterprises Inc. of New Orleans apparently won the maintenance hangar contract, but the Corps of Engineers said Friday that an error was discovered in the United bid. After the correction, Farnsworth & Chambers was the low bidder. The firm's proposal was $717,549.

The maintenance hangar, with roof spans 160 feet long, will cover 49,900 square feet.

Invitations to bid on two additional Webb projects have been issued by the Corps of Engineers. One of the programs will be the construction of an overrun for a primary runway, an alert taxiway, and the replacement of one existing operational apron. The other project is the construction of an engine inspection and repair shop.

Bid opening date for both jobs is to be March 10 in the district offices of the Corps of Engineers, Fort Worth.

Annexation Completed

LAMESA — The city increased its size Friday as Lamesa City Council passed the second and final reading of an ordinance to annex some 85 acres of McSpadden property southwest of town.

In other business during the called session, a resolution was passed to purchase about two acres of the land in the addition at $600 per acre. The Lamesa school district had previously signed a contract to purchase a 10-acre plot in this tract, provided the property came into the city limits. It is the site for a new elementary school.

City Manager Carroll Taylor said the city is buying property in the tract as a potential future site for a fire station and overhead water storage tank.

In its regular meeting Thursday, the council passed the second and final reading of a new ordinance holding the Hulingsworth tract into the city limits. This property represents some 47 acres, making a total addition of 132 acres to the city limits in the last two days.

Man Cleared Of Charge He Killed Daughter

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Larry Lord Matherwell was freed today after a grand jury said it could not find sufficient evidence to indict him on a charge of murdering his infant daughter.

Authorities are still puzzled about the connection of the 42-year-old former construction worker with the disappearance of an elderly widow, Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, Washington, D.C., who was last seen in company with Matherwell on the West Coast last summer. She reportedly had just been killed a small fortune.

Washington, D.C. police as well as authorities in Nevada and California have indicated they want to talk with Matherwell. But no detainers were placed on him when he was released. He left in his station wagon to be with his wife and their two-year-old daughter in Washington.

His third wife visited him several times at the Frederick County Jail.

STRANGLER TO DEATH

Authorities had charged Matherwell with murdering his 14-month-old daughter Heather.

Police said the subnormal child strangled to death in 1954 in his apartment here after she had been fed, and that Matherwell was taking a shower at the time. Frederick police had charged he intentionally allowed the baby to suffocate, but Matherwell insisted she suffocated accidentally while lying on her back.

Bones of the baby were dug up on the property of a suburban Frederick farm last November. Matherwell had told the owner the dog contained the body of a dog who saved his life in Korea.

The search for the baby was launched after police in Washington were asked to investigate the disappearance of Mrs. Putney, who had received about $50,000 from her mother's estate, according to a relative.

Matherwell contends he left Mrs. Putney in good health on the West Coast before going on a spending spree in Las Vegas. He was arrested there on Jan. 18.

Matherwell was divorced from his first wife. His second wife, who was the mother of the dead child, drowned in her bath in Washington Nov. 7, 1953. The death certificate reported it an accident.

A 1956 Chrysler was extensively damaged at 1 a.m. Friday, the patrol also reported, when it left the road on scenic Mountain and crashed down the embankment. Tim Fouch, 38, Big Spring, alone in the car, was not injured, the patrol said.

The Trouble Is, Nobody Will Pay Any Attention

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN, Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Do people really listen when you talk? The odds are strong that you fail to imbed more than one-sixth to one-fourth of your message in their memories, an educator said today.

Dr. Ralph G. Nichols, head of the University of Minnesota's communications program told a management seminar at the American College of Hospital Administrators.

The average person who listens to somebody talk remembers only half of what he has heard. And of what he has barely learned, he forgets from one-half to one-third within eight hours.

Why all the inattention? Dr. Nichols puts much of the blame on misuse of spare thinking time. This is the way he reasons: People think much faster than the 125 words the average American speaks per minute. This leaves space to think.

You can let your mind wander and miss much of the message or use the following processes designed for more efficient comprehension:

Think ahead of the talker, anticipating, if possible, where the talk is leading and what conclusions can be drawn from what is being spoken at the moment.

Weigh the evidence the talker has used to support the points he makes. Is it valid? Complete? Review and summarize periodically the points of the talk so far completed.

Listen between the lines, searching for meanings that might not have been put into words. Watch

Man Killed, Another Hurt As 10-Ton Elevator Block Falls

One man was instantly killed and another sustained a badly crushed left foot at 5 a.m. Saturday when a 20,000-pound elevator block on an oil rig broke loose from its moorings and crashed to the derrick floor.

Killed was Jess J. McDonald, 43, roustabout. He lived at 2002 E. 7th St., Odessa. Formerly of Big Spring, Mr. McDonald had made his home in Odessa for the past 10 years.

In Malone & Hogan Hospital with a badly mangled left foot is E. T. Harper, 30, also of Odessa. His condition was said to be satisfactory and it had not been necessary to amputate the foot, the hospital reported Saturday.

On the floor with McDonald and Harper at the time were Marvin McDonald, a brother of the man killed, and Carl Brantley.

They saw the huge block crashing from the 20-foot level on the derrick in time to run to one side and escape being hurt.

Body of McDonald was brought to Big Spring by River ambulance. It was later removed to Odessa where funeral rites at the Chapel of Roses Funeral Home are pending. River also brought the injured man to the hospital.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, and E. W. York, deputy sheriff, were called to investigate the death.

Grice said that the dead man was an employee of Bickerstaff & Tibbets, drilling contractors of Midland. The scene of the accident was a new well on the Buchanan lease, about 10 miles north and east of Big Spring.

Grice was told that the heavy elevator had been hauled up the derrick and moored to one side. Suddenly the cables which held it parted and the 10 tons of pulley, tongs and steel cable hurtled down on the four men working on the derrick floor.

It happened to strike against the wall where McDonald and Harper were crouching, striking McDonald on the left shoulder and head.

River ambulance men said that when they reached the rig, the dead man was still on the floor of the derrick but not pinned under any of the tangled mass of steel. The injured man had been removed by his fellows to the doghouse.

McDonald is survived by his wife, Eula, who lives in Odessa; by four brothers, C. J. McDonald and L. W. McDonald, both of McCarney; A. C. McDonald, Hobbs, N. M. and Marvin McDonald, Odessa. Three sisters, Mrs. Tennie Sanderson, Salinas, Calif.; Mrs. R. J. Breckles, Odessa and Mrs. E. W. Smith, Monahans, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. McDonald of Odessa.

Officers said the rig on which the tragedy occurred was one of two operating near each other on the Howard County lease.

Doyle Nelson, wanted here on an indictment for forgery, will be returned from Sapulpa, Okla., early this week.

Nelson will be taken in charge by Tommy Cole, deputy, and Wes Patton, constable. The officers made a trip to Huntsville Friday and then looped to Sapulpa to pick up Nelson.

Nelson is a bond jumper who fled the state prior to the date his case was brought before the Howard County grand jury. He was arrested in Drumright, Okla., after the car he was driving was involved in a hit-and-run mishap.

He was driving a car which had been stolen from Tarbox-Gossett Motor Co. The car was allegedly taken by Guy Gambill, car salesman for the motor company. No trace of Gambill has been found.

The grand jury returned a forgery indictment against Nelson.

The pace will have to step up sharply, they said, as the usual grand rush in the fading days of March will develop. Usually the office is swamped at that time by belated motorists who want to beat the deadline.

Shell Strike Threat Averted, Gulf, Union To Resume Talks

HOUSTON (AP)—A strike threat at a large Houston refinery was averted Saturday and Gulf Oil Corp. and striking Port Arthur refinery workers agreed to resume negotiations. Shell Oil Co. announced a tentative agreement on a new contract covering 3,000 workers at its Houston Ship Channel refinery and chemical plant. Ray A. Majure, federal mediator, said Gulf and representatives of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union will resume bargaining talks at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Port Arthur. Gulf's huge refinery there was shut down last week when negotiations for 4,500 employees broke down. Shell officials said the Houston agreement calls for a 5 per cent wage increase, double time and a half for holiday work and minor changes in job classifications. The union's Local 4367 is expected to call a meeting next week to consider the agreement, which would be retroactive to Jan. 16 and extend through May 16, 1960. Spokesmen for Shell said most of the job classification changes involved concessions to the union. J. Elro Brown, director of the union's 27,000-member Gulf Coast district, said acceptance of the Shell agreement would leave the Gulf strike at Port Arthur the only situation in the district not headed for settlement. The Gulf dispute centers on a company proposal for job classification. The union has said the proposal would cause 30 to 40 workers to lose their jobs. Union spokesmen also have said a 5 per cent wage hike offer is inadequate. The 5 per cent pattern was established last month when the union and Sinclair Oil Co. reached a tentative Kansas City agreement affecting all Sinclair employees represented by the union. Most other major refiners quickly made similar offers but their contracts are negotiated at a local level instead of on a nationwide basis, as is the case with Sinclair.

Crash Victims' Bodies Found

NEW YORK (AP)—Bodies of three men—still strapped to seats of the airliner which carried them to their deaths along with 62 other persons—were recovered today from frigid waters of the East River. The bodies were brought up by police using grappling hooks and were taken to the Queens General Hospital morgue to await identification. They were the 27th, 28th and 29th to be recovered. They were located on the river bottom about 50 yards from the spot where divers and crane men are seeking to hoist to the surface the fuselage of the American Airlines plane. The fuselage is expected to yield more of the crash victims. The plane plunged into the river about half a mile from a La Guardia Airport runway Tuesday night.

Dulles, Adenauer Agree In Principle

BONN, Germany (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer stressed their unity on fundamentals as they conferred on Western policy on Germany Saturday. Dulles and Adenauer agreed in principle on details of Allied rifts on details broke into the open. Arriving for the last stop of his three-capital tour, Dulles told an airport crowd the West must find a way to meet "the Soviet challenge to our rights in Berlin—if need be by common action."

Adenauer also pronounced the Allies were standing "fast, unalterably fast, on our principles." But he said the question of applying the methods remained open. The question of working out a concrete program for dealing with Soviet moves on Berlin will bring the foreign ministers of Britain, France, West Germany and the United States together for a conference in Paris March 15, well-informed sources in Paris disclosed shortly before Dulles arrived here. This conference will hear a report on British Prime Minister Macmillan's diplomatic scouting visit to Moscow. Dulles did not explain what he meant by "action" to meet the Soviet threat, but people who heard him got the impression that he was talking about a possible use of force if the Communists interfere with Western access routes to Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Stressing Allied unity, he declared "it is not necessary to re-examine the fundamentals of our relationship. They are fixed, solid and unshakable."

At the airport to welcome him, Dulles said he was glad to see the West already has rejected the free city plan, but is now trying to shape up an answer to the Jan. 10 Soviet proposal for a 28-nation conference on a German peace treaty this spring. Dulles and Adenauer talked for nearly three hours, and arranged to meet again Sunday.

Respiratory Cases Number 74 In City

For the second straight week, upper respiratory trouble has been the biggest disease—numberwise—in Big Spring. The report, made by the city-county health unit showed 74 cases of upper respiratory trouble last week, as compared with 65 for the previous week. Next largest total was 25 cases of influenza. Thirty-three were bothered by flu the week ending Jan. 30. Twelve had measles and 10 tonsillitis. Eight contracted streptococcal and five each had pneumonia, chicken pox, and scarletina. Gonorrhea cases numbered four. Two cases of Vincent's disease and one each of mumps, syphilis, scarlet fever, and ringworm completed the report.

The West already has rejected the free city plan, but is now trying to shape up an answer to the Jan. 10 Soviet proposal for a 28-nation conference on a German peace treaty this spring. Dulles and Adenauer talked for nearly three hours, and arranged to meet again Sunday.

City To Sell Land, Buy New Sweeper

The City Commission will both buy and sell at its regular meeting Tuesday night. To be purchased is a street sweeper and to be sold is a tract of land on E. 4th. The city has asked for bids on a four-cubic-yard street sweeper and will trade in the old one now being used. Alternate bids are being asked for a new sweeper without any trade-in, however. To be sold is a tract on E. 4th across from Tidwell Chevrolet. The lot has frontage on 4th measuring 323 feet and is about 400 feet deep. Once before, the city offered the land for sale, but it considered all bids too low and rejected them. The commission will also receive bids on cleaning, scaling, and repainting the overhead storage water tank on the North Side. Final reading of an annexation ordinance bringing in 34.6 acres of land on the southwest side of town will be considered. It is west of the Douglas Addition. This revision has been drawn up by the legal department with the assistance of the city's electrical board.

The market's weak performance took place in the face of news like this: Unemployment declined; installment debt rising; steel output at a 19-month high; copper boosted in price a cent a pound; Ford Motor Sales at near-record levels in the final quarter of '58; construction outlays in January at a new high for the month; and rail freight carloadings in the largest year-to-year gain since freight volume turned down in August 1957. In addition, there was a fine assortment of increased dividends, stock splits and other favorable corporate developments.

Sharp Downtrend Hits Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite a large assortment of bullish news, stock market prices this week faded away to their steepest weekly loss in more than a year. At the same time, volume dwindled to the lowest weekly figure since mid-September. Prices wilted under two main influences: profit taking and sheer lack of interest. As the market underwent its second straight weekly decline, many traders and investors took to the sidelines to wait for the next major move. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $3.30 to $214.30, its sharpest weekly decline since it lost $4.60 in the week ended Dec. 22, 1957. The Dow Jones Industrials declined 11.63 to 582.33—substantially below the well-advertised 600 level they tried to pierce a few weeks ago.

Volume slacked to 16,140,757 shares from 18,719,913 the week before and stood at the smallest weekly total since the week ended last Sept. 13, when 15,730,680 shares changed hands. The market's weak performance took place in the face of news like this: Unemployment declined; installment debt rising; steel output at a 19-month high; copper boosted in price a cent a pound; Ford Motor Sales at near-record levels in the final quarter of '58; construction outlays in January at a new high for the month; and rail freight carloadings in the largest year-to-year gain since freight volume turned down in August 1957. For years the dominating voice of Afrikaner nationalism, Malan led his Nationalist party to a surprising victory in parliamentary elections in 1948 and became prime minister.

C Of C Executive Committee Slates Initial Meeting

The Chamber of Commerce's new executive committee will hold its first official meeting at noon Monday. Clyde McMahon, president, reported.

The group will discuss the proposed master plan survey now in the hands of county and school officials. Members also will review the annual banquet, held last Thursday at the C. C. Club. The master planning program was initiated by the Chamber of Commerce several months ago. A special committee made up of county, public school, county and city representatives recently recommended the employment of Ward & Cotton, Dallas engineers and planning firm, to conduct master planning survey here.

(AMM) system — weapons, bases and all the servicing and support features—at between five and six billion dollars.

Defense Department experts are reported to figure it at about twice that much. In submitting its budget requests for the coming year, the Army urged that it be given money now for construction sites, training crews and otherwise providing equipment for launching the weapon it hopes to perfect.

Army advocates of the plan argued that the Air Force was permitted to go ahead with building ICBM launching bases in the United States and IRBM bases overseas before the weapons themselves were combat ready.

Defense Department officials replied that there was substantial difference, that at least the Air Force had assembled and tested actual missiles which are the prototypes of those to be sent to the bases. On the other hand, the Defense Department pointed out, the Zeus missile still remains well short of the hardware stage, being presently still composed of only a series of parts.

The Defense Department, in the formal military budget message, said the Nike Zeus missile "is being developed at an accelerated pace."

But Secretary Neil McElroy has made plain on several occasions that final judgment on the Army project must be reserved. He said last month "we are going to wait until we get a Zeus, until we know that it is."

Woman Says Ex-Husband Can't Have 'No Sale' Sons

HOUSTON (AP) — A mother who tried to sell her twin sons said Saturday her British ex-husband wanted them back but that she had refused him.

Mrs. Rosemarie Stillion, 24, said her former husband, George Lewis, called her by telephone from London Friday.

"He said he wanted the boys back and I told him he would never get them," Mrs. Stillion said. Police filed charges against Mrs.

Stillion and her present husband, Clark Dean Stillion, after an officer and a police woman posing as a childless couple said the Stillions tried to sell them the 8-year-old twin sons for $500, Dist. Atty. Dan Walton later dropped the charges.

The family is now residing in a house provided by a contractor who also opened a $100 bank account in their name.

A London newspaper quoted Lewis as saying he had agreed to let his divorced wife take the twins to the United States on condition that Stillion adopt them legally.

"Under British law my husband could not adopt the boys," Mrs. Stillion said. "A foster parent has to be at least 25 years of age."

She said Stillion will adopt the boys, George and Thomas Lewis, "as soon as possible." Lewis, she said, has remarried and has a young daughter.

"For 7 1/2 years he has never even sent them a birthday card," she said. "Now he wants them back I say I will fight him to the end for the boys."

New Endurance Flight Record Of 65 Days

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Two endurance fliers landed Saturday after 65 days aloft in a small plane—a new world record by 15 days.

Bob Timm, a Las Vegas businessman, and John Cook, a Los Angeles airline pilot, climbed from their single-engine Cessna 172, stiff and weary.

They took off from McCarran Field here on Dec. 4. On Jan. 23 they broke the previous endurance record of 50 days and 18 minutes, set last Sept. 21 by Jim Heath and Bill Burkhardt of Dallas, Tex.

Timm and Cook landed at 2:10 p. m. Timm marked his 33rd birthday aloft last Wednesday. He and Cook, also 33, took turns at the controls in four-hour shifts. Between times each slept on a mattress further back in the plane.

They flew between Las Vegas and Blythe, Calif., with occasional side trips to Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz.

Each morning and evening they swooped low over the Blythe airport to refuel from a pickup truck driving 90 miles an hour. They lowered a hook to hoist the refueling hose and a basket containing hot meals and mail.

At each refueling, inspectors checked paint on the plane's tires to verify that no secret landings had been made.

Each flier took daily sponge baths. Timm grew a beard but Cook shaved regularly, explaining he can't stand itchy scrubbles. Changing the oil and scrubbing the windshield were frequent chores.

Every two days the fliers circled over Timm's house while he chatted with his wife over a radio installed in her kitchen.

McMahon appeared as a substitute speaker for George Thomas, local lawyer, who was to have spoken on the part a defense attorney plays in a trial. Thomas had another commitment and couldn't fill the date. He said he would be on hand for a later date.

The campaign to sell advertising space in the program for the American Business Club runs here March 27-28 formally got underway. The campaign is being headed by George Zachariah.

Among guests present were Whit Downer, associated with Consolidated Electro Dynamics in Dallas; and Norman Liebreich and Ralph Lanemann, both of Cincinnati.

Drive-In Food Chain Is Sold

DALLAS (AP)—The Southland Corp. operator of the 7-Eleven drive-in grocery stores, Saturday announced purchase of Cabell's Inc., which operates much the same type stores.

Both firms have installations in many Texas cities — 7-Eleven about 225 stores and Cabell's 66. Control involves the sale of the Cabell stock for an undisclosed amount. Stockholders of both corporations approved the deal.

John P. Thompson, executive vice president of Southland Corp., said Cabell's will retain its name and identity.

He added he was "pleased to also say that Mr. Earle Cabell has agreed to remain as president, with all other officers keeping their present positions."

The Southland Corp. began selling groceries from an ice station in 1927.

In 1932, the brothers Earle and Ben Cabell opened their group of ice cream parlors specializing in their innovation, a double-dip cone. Later they expanded to a complete line of dairy products, and in 1940 began operating drive-in food stores.

Gov. Daniel Defends Proposal For Transfer Of State Funds

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel, whose 18 million dollar "bookkeeping transfer" plan was attacked last week as "an attempt to legalize a false statement," Saturday defended the plan as one which would give an accurate picture of the state's financial condition.

Daniel released a copy of a letter to Rep. V. L. (Bo) Ramsey of Beckville, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, saying that the measure would bring the law and the comptroller's estimates of state revenues in line with the constitution.

The bookkeeping transfer is a key part of Daniel's plan to drain the deepening red ink out of the state ledgers.

The letter said Daniel had been assured by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert that Kenneth I. Kimbro, one of Calvert's top aides, "had no intention of questioning the motives of anyone who advocated this legislation." Kimbro challenged the legality of the bill

James R. Hoffa, is deeply involved. The committee has denounced Hoffa as having strong ties to the underworld.

Committee counsel Kennedy said about 100 witnesses have been subpoenaed. He said some have given the committee material aid, but fear for their safety if they testify publicly.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) predicted the hearings will show a combine of big shot racketeers and corrupt labor union officials taking over the industry state.

The committee will embark next Tuesday on a public inquiry into reported underworld infiltration of the industry.

Balloon Flights Again Delayed

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP)—Weather-plagued probes of the upper atmosphere with research balloons suffered another setback Saturday.

Scientists planned to send up another plastic bag holding 1 1/2 million cubic feet of helium gas but postponed the launching because of thick clouds. They said the try, third in a series, might not be made until Monday.

In addition, check out Dr. Frank McDonald of the University of Iowa said five balloon flights now are planned, instead of four. The additional test will send aloft instruments from a balloon which fell short in a try for an altitude record Friday.

It's Year Of Pig For Formosa Folk

TAIPEI (AP)—Formosa buried the Year of the Dog and ushered in the Year of the Pig Sunday with noisy firecracker barrages. All remained quiet off the offshore island table front, where a three-day cease-fire is in effect.

Probable Receipts

Daniel quoted the constitutional requirement that the comptroller's estimate be given "showing fully the financial condition of the state treasury at the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements for the then current fiscal year." The letter underlined the words "probable receipts."

"I want you and your committee to know," Daniel said, "that I do not question, or reflect upon, the motives of the state comptroller in his opposition to the bill as written or in his defense of his present bookkeeping system."

The governor said the problem is due to the fact that the comptroller's estimate of "probable receipts for 1959-60, does not include funds to be collected into the omnibus tax clearance fund between Aug. 5 and 31. Daniel said these receipts would be between 15 and 18 million dollars, but that they do not appear in the clearance fund" or any other fund at the end of the fiscal year."

"Obviously the constitution calls for these 'probable receipts' for this current fiscal year to be estimated and reported to the Legislature," Daniel wrote. "They have not been so reported."

"Money in the omnibus holding fund and the general fund is like the blood which runs through Siamese twins," Daniel said. "Any balance in the omnibus goes by law, directly or indirectly, to general revenue, and any deficit in omnibus has to be made up out of general revenue."

"In any event, they should be credited to some fund as 'probable receipts' during the year collected, and that is not now being done."

Kimbro's statement about "an attempt to legalize a false statement" was among several adverse comments made at the hearing. Rep. Jack Richardson of Uvalde called the plan "just like kiting checks in a bank," and Rep. Joe Burckett of Kerrville said it was an attempt to get around the constitutional limits of deficit spending.

Gangster Threats Silence Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Saturday gangster threats have silenced some persons the Senate Labor-Management Committee wants to question about the jukebox-coin machine industry.

The committee will embark next Tuesday on a public inquiry into reported underworld infiltration of the industry.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) predicted the hearings will show a combine of big shot racketeers and corrupt labor union officials taking over the industry state.

Castro Pleads For Labor Help

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro today appealed to Cuban workers to refrain from striking and help the revolutionary government put the country on its feet economically.

The military here pledged that the regime would not outlaw the right to strike but asked the workers to be patient in their own interests.

He warned if there were labor conflicts that overthrew President Fulgencio Batista could attack Cuba.

Speaking at a meeting of Shell Oil Co. workers, he said a strike is "a weapon that must be used at the proper moment."

His plea to quiet labor unrest was directed at workers particularly in the sugar industry, the nation's biggest money exchange earner. He said Cuba must complete its sugar harvest quickly with the rains only two months away.

The rebel leader condemned foreign-owned sugar companies and estimated 40 per cent of the industry was controlled by American money. He accused them of opposing the government's agrarian reform program and charged they were willing to lose the entire sugar crop rather than make concessions.

American Denies He Plotted To Kill Castro

HAVANA (AP) — Alan Robert Nye's denial that he plotted to assassinate rebel chieftain Fidel Castro was received with skepticism Saturday by the revolutionary leader himself.

Castro told a news conference he did not believe the ex-Navy flier's profession of innocence. But he said that is a matter for the courts to decide.

The 31-year-old Korean War veteran from Whiting, Ind., insisted to reporters that he signed no confession, as announced by police. Police headquarters said he had four tape recordings of Nye's purported confession.

Nye insists he came to Cuba to help the rebels.

Norway Guards Fishing Area

ALESUND, Norway (AP)—A big Soviet fishing fleet of 300 trawlers hugged Norway's four-mile limit Saturday in pursuit of herring. One trawler was arrested and brought in this port by a prize crew but later released.

Eight Norwegian warships, headed by the destroyer Stavanger, rushed to these waters Friday after the Soviet fleet showed up offshore and some trawlers invaded the four-mile limit. They were all back in international waters by the time the naval patrol appeared.

Rear Adm. Erling G. Hostvedt, commander of the western naval area, said the invasion may have been accidental and that appeared to be the case in Saturday's incident.

About two years ago a large fleet of Soviet Union drifters invaded Norwegian territorial waters off Alesund.

Norwegian warships, firing warning shots, seized 20 including a large depot ship. The Russians lost their catch and had to pay fines.

Wildcat Oil Test Started In Alaska

HOUSTON (AP) — Halibut Alaska Oil Co. has begun its first wildcat oil test in Alaska.

The No. 1 Halibut-King test was spudded last Saturday, just 20 days after the drilling rig and other equipment were loaded aboard a ship at Long Beach, Calif. The Kenai Peninsula test is being drilled 100 miles from Seward and 3 1/2 miles southwest of the Standard-Richfield No. 2 Swanson River well.

HAGERTY GIVES QUICK DENIAL Press Secretary Accused Of Intervening In TV Matter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty was accused by former congressional investigator Bernard Schwartz Saturday of having intervened in a TV case for political reasons.

Schwartz shot back that "Mr. Schwartz was either misinformed or was deliberately lying."

Schwartz, who got bounced a year ago from his job as chief counsel of the House subcommittee checking regulatory agencies, made his charges in a new book, parts of which became public in advance.

Schwartz saw behind-the-scenes wirepulling reaching up to the White House on important cases decided by the independent regulatory agencies. The Legislative Oversight subcommittee went on under Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark) —without Schwartz—to air cases involving such high officials as FCC decision to change TV channel assignments in the Albany area. Hagerty said the case already had been closed in June of the previous year.

In denying putting on political pressure, Hagerty said he gets a lot of such correspondence and shunts it on to the agencies involved. As for whether Schwartz had tried to check out the facts with him before making the charge, Hagerty said "I never heard from Mr. Schwartz."

The press secretary gave out through his office here what he said was the full correspondence involved. This included: two protesting letters to him from William J. Embler, a research consultant to the speaker of the N. Y. State Assembly; Hagerty's letter to McConaughy, and a McConaughy letter to Hagerty explaining the FCC action.

The correspondence did not include anything from Hagerty to Embler after McConaughy sent his letter to the press secretary.

Al Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack. Both Adams and Mack resigned in the hubbub that followed.

In Schwartz's book, "The Professor and the Commissions" (Alfred A. Knopf Inc., N.Y.), the New York University law professor listed several cases which he said the subcommittee had failed to develop further after he left materials on them in subcommittee files.

One case, he said, was in "Albany-Schenectady (where the President's press secretary intervened against an applicant on political grounds)." Schwartz did not give further details.

Hagerty, with Eisenhower in Thomasville, Ga., said all he did was pass on to the then FCC Chairman George C. McConaughy a March 1957 letter from a New York Republican protesting an FCC decision to change TV channel assignments in the Albany

GOP Ch Rejects For Nav

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican sources said Monday that the House rejected a proposal to transfer state funds to the Navy.

GOP Chairman Rejects Smith For Navy Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican sources said today that James H. Smith Jr. was not appointed secretary of the Navy primarily because of opposition from Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn.

Smith, who recently resigned as director of the International Co-operation Administration, had been reported in line for the Navy post.

Alcorn was said to have objected to Smith on the ground that Smith failed to recognize the need of working with Republicans in Congress and in the party organization.

Smith, the sources added, was regarded by Alcorn as an individualist who refused to appoint Republicans to ICA jobs and who dealt mainly with Democrats in Congress. One source described Smith as a "nominal Republican."

President Eisenhower has nominated William B. Franke, Navy undersecretary, to become secretary when Thomas S. Gates resigns June 1.

Alcorn was reported by the same sources as also opposing Henry R. Labouisse Jr., a State Department economic expert to succeed Smith as foreign aid chief because he is a registered Democrat.

Two Trials Set In Garden City

Two jury trials in 118th District Court for criminal cases are scheduled this week in Garden City, Dist. Atty. Gil Jones said Saturday.

The first trial will be for three years that a jury has been needed in Garden City for a criminal case.

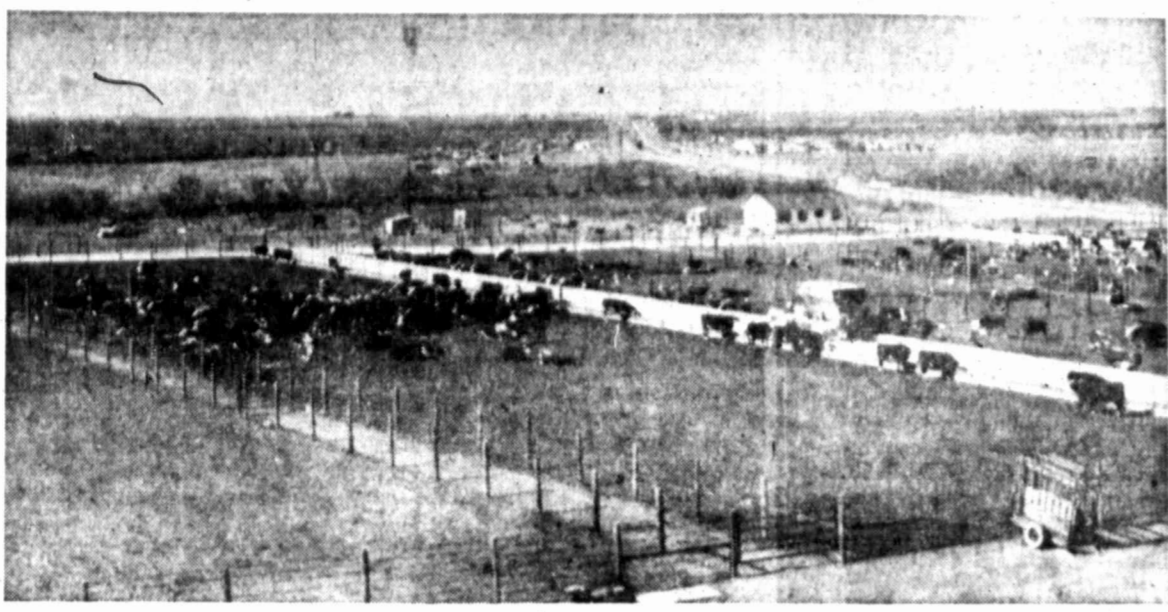

Jones said he has been informed that both Avon Autry Garrard, San Angelo, charged with DWI second offense, and James P. Crow, Alpine, DWI second offense, will demand trial by jury. Their cases are set for Tuesday at 9 a.m.

William B. Higgins, itinerant magazine solicitor, under indictment for forgery, may plead guilty, Jones was informed.

All three of the defendants were indicted last Tuesday by the Glasscock County Grand Jury. Jones and Dist. Judge Charlie Sullivan will go to Garden City on Tuesday to try the cases.

Custom feeding service new to this area

Custom Feeding Helps Rancher Get Cattle Ready For Market

By JESS BLAIR

A new type of cattle feeding made its appearance in this area a few months ago.

This is custom feeding, where the cattle owner takes his cattle to a commercial feed lot and pays for the labor and feed used. At the end of the feeding period he sells the cattle to whatever buyer offers the highest price.

The plan was introduced by Marvin Key, Scurry County rancher and feed mill operator, who built a set of pens just east of Snyder.

The pens have been filling up fast and now hold about 700 head. At full capacity Key can handle over 1,800 mature animals.

The custom type feeding has been used in California and other states, but is relatively new to this area. Here is how it works:

Key and his partner, J. C. Ezell, receive the cattle at the pens, weigh them, and place them in certain pens. The owner designates how long he wants them fed, but can take them out at any time.

FOUR RATIONS

There is responsibility ceases. He does not furnish his own feed formula but accepts whatever ration the management decides on. At present they have four rations, which are changed as the animals progress. Yet all four are composed of locally grown milo, cottonseed hulls, molasses, and a supplement provided by the feed manufacturer. In addition, there is a stress ration which contains medication and is used for ailing animals.

The only variation from the regular rations is that the owner may have antibiotics and sibestrol added if he wants to try them.

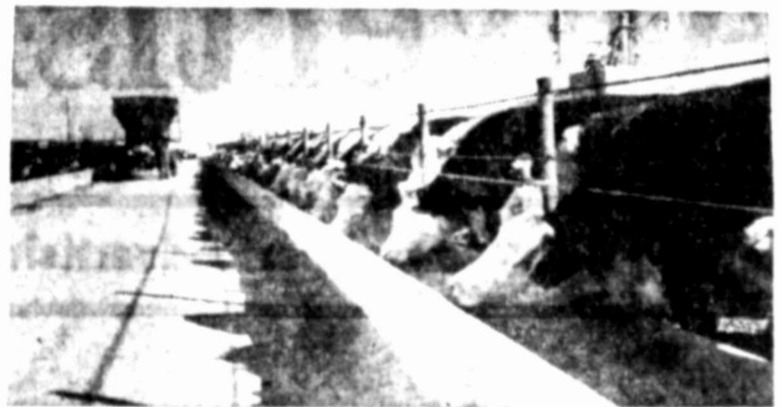

Much of the management and record keeping is done by Mrs. Ezell. She has a separate folder on each pen, and keeps a daily record of all feed used. Minor medication is furnished, but if a steer becomes seriously ill, a veterinarian is called from Snyder.

"We charge the owner for two things," she said. "One is the retail price of the feed and the other is a head fee which averages about five cents per head each day the animal is left in the pens. This takes care of labor and other incidentals."

LABOR CHEAP

Main advantage to this plan is that the cattle owner is not forced into a building program when he decides to feed cattle. Neither does he need to hire any labor, since the nickel per head is about as cheap as he could do it himself.

After the cattle are placed in the pens, he receives a bill for them twice a month.

Report Peron May Attempt To Enter Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Police are checking rumors that Juan D. Peron has left the Dominican Republic and is en route to Sao Paulo. The rumors say the ex-dictator of Argentina is coming here during the carnival weekend to meet with his chief aides plotting against President Arturo Frondizi.

High Argentina sources scoffed at the reports. They said it was highly unlikely Peron would try to come to Brazil or that he would be permitted to enter if he came. Some old associates of Peron live in exile in Sao Paulo, but police reported finding no evidence others were arriving.

Other circulating rumors had it that Peron had skipped out aboard a yacht for Balboa, Spain, but informants in Ciudad Trujillo, the Dominican capital, said he was seen there Friday.

Peron has been living in exile in the Dominican Republic for a year and only last weekend reports spread he had left for Montevideo, Uruguay, or Asuncion, Paraguay. He was found, however, to have checked out of his hotel in favor of a house on the outskirts of Ciudad Trujillo.

Meeting Monday To Review Cotton Allotment Plans

All cotton growers in the county are urged to attend the special conference on cotton allotment choices Monday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Gabe Hammack, with the Agricultural Stabilization Committee and members of the Howard County ASC committee will comprise a panel to answer queries relating to the 1959 allotment program.

The advantages and disadvantages of both Plan A and Plan B open to cotton growers this year will be thoroughly reviewed.

Cotton growers are urged to attend because the decisions they make on which plan they prefer to adopt will have important bearing on their cotton activities this year.

It is hoped that all farmers will be on hand, Hammack said, since the time for reaching a decision on the issue is at hand.

Farm Bureau Unit Urges Legislation On Animal Health

LAMESA—The directors of the Dawson County Farm Bureau heard a report on animal health by Bob Koger, chairman of the Farm Bureau animal health committee, in a meeting last night at the Farm Bureau offices.

The Bureau has sent telegrams to Rep. Wesley Roberts and Sen. Preston Smith urging the passage of legislation for better animal health programs in the state.

The women's committee voted to set the date for the Farm Bureau spring talent show for March 19. The show will be held in the Lamesa Junior High School auditorium and will be open to all children of school age.

S. A. Debnam, membership chairman, gave a report on the progress of the current membership drive noting that 367 memberships have been sold for the year. Directors also voted to send three representatives to the state Farm Bureau training institute in August.

Eight Named To Concert Board

Names of eight persons who will bring new forms with the Big Spring Concert Assn., were announced Saturday.

They are Helen Hurt, J. R. (Bill) Hensley, Clara Zack, Kate Irons, named in membership balloting, and Col. Leonard Einstein, Dr. Josh Burnett, and two holdovers, Mrs. Clyde Angel and Joe Packer.

This brings the board membership to a full strength of 22, said Maj. Vincent Brophy, president.

It is possible that Maj. Brophy will convoke the board for a meeting this week in advance of the final offering of the current concert series. This will be Dylan Todd, rising young ballad singer, on Feb. 18.

Some consideration also will be given to shaping of next year's offerings.

Election Judges Will Be Chosen

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday will select election judges to serve in any special elections for the ensuing year, Ed Carpenter, county judge, reported.

He said that the court will also designate depositories for county money at the meeting as required by law.

There is a possibility that some discussion of road problems will come up here other than for these matters, the judge said he knew of no special business.

He has announced that he would like for the commissioners to meet at 9 a.m. instead of 10 a.m. He has a jury trial docket opening in the county court at 10 a.m. and would like, he said, to complete the commissioners work before he has to go to court.

Cub Pack To Meet New Leader Monday

Jack Gully, who succeeds Jack Alexander as cubmaster of Pack 29, Cub Scouts, sponsored by the Cosden Petroleum Corp., will be introduced to the members of the pack at the meeting set for Monday evening at 7.

The meeting will be in the old Student Union Building on the campus of Howard County Junior College.

Alexander said several Cubs are to receive awards at the meeting and that plans for a Blue and Gold Banquet will be considered. He asked all members to be on hand to meet the new Cub master.

New County Roads Ready For Paving

Walter Parks, county engineer, said Saturday there will be 11 miles of county-built road ready for surfacing as soon as spring weather arrives.

Part of this total mileage will have to be completed in the next eight weeks, but Parks estimated all of the jobs will be ready for topping by the time the sun returns on a sufficiently steady basis to permit such work being done.

Ready now for paving, he said, is one and a half miles of road on the old San Angelo highway from Wasson Corner south. Also ready is half a mile of road on Second St., east.

Moss Creek Lake road, 9 miles extending from the end of the old pavement to the dam, is also in shape for asphaltting as is three miles on the Allred Road. This road begins at U. S. 87 and goes east to the Martin County line north of Knott. A half mile on this road still remains to be finished for paving but Parks said the work can be completed in a few more days.

Work of clearing right of way is being pushed on three miles of road to extend north from West Knott and tie into west end of the Allred Road.

Bridge building on the south end of Goliad St., which was well along, has been temporarily delayed by the recent bad weather but will get in full speed again soon, the engineer said.

Government Students Impressed By Manion

By BOBBY HORTON
Dr. Clarence Manion, for 25 years associated with the Notre Dame school of law and a widely-known writer and speaker, was an enlightening teacher for some 40 HCJC government and history students Thursday.

Manion was in Big Spring to address members of the Chamber of Commerce at their annual membership meeting and banquet, but toured the college encouraging students to bear down in the study of their country.

He stressed control of government from the individual level. "When I was a young man in school, my teacher made me write these words of George Washington 500 times: 'Government is like fire; a dangerous servant and a fearful master.' On the 49th writing, it finally was branded on my mind," said the former Notre Dame teacher.

He gave this definition of Russia's government: Communism is the concentration of government in the hands of a group of godless gangsters. And being gangsters, Manion added, they "replace" men in office not by dismissal but by killing.

"Joe Stalin had this philosophy," said Manion, "that old gangsters must be killed. They don't just fade away."

RUNNELS REPORT

Student Officers For '59-60 Named

By DIANE BAKER
Bobby Williams, an eighth grader, was elected president of the student body for the coming year in elections held during the week Mike Houston was elected vice president.

The Ranch Queen and Foreman were also elected, but the results weren't announced immediately. Running for queen were Dianna Harris, Susan Gibbs, and Kathy Johnson. Running for foreman were David Maberry, Skipper Driver, Jo Don Musgrove, John Lowke and Robert Compton.

Congratulations to Kathy Johnson who was crowned basketball sweetheart at the half of the ninth grade game with Goliad. She was escorted by David Maberry and James Gilbert, co-captains of the team. She was crowned by James and presented with a bouquet of white mums by David. The crown and flowers were carried by hostesses Gail Potter and Linda Grant.

Spirit was very high Thursday night when Runnels and Goliad Junior High met in the senior high gym, and cheering sections were filled to the brim. Runnels seventh graders won 24-7 and the eighth graders 34-20. Goliad won the ninth grade game 51-46. Thursday afternoon a big pep rally had been held.

Friday afternoon the first game of the basketball tournament was held at Runnels and the Runnels ninth graders played Lincoln of Abilene.

Magazine sales continue through Tuesday. Boxes of candy were given to high salesmen last week. Mr. Thomas Ernest, principal, left Wednesday for Dallas where he boarded a plane for Philadelphia and the 43rd annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals. The theme of the convention is opportunity for all youth.

Future Homemakers of America have elected their dreamboy for the year and he is Jack Irons, chosen from among six nominees. Friday evening the eighth grade Hi-Y and the ninth grade Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs had a Ranch Week dance preceding the Ranch Week which comes up on next Thursday and Friday.

Twirp Week Set, Sock-Hop Planned

By PAT ARMSTRONG
Classes were resumed Wednesday after being halted Monday and Tuesday by snow and ice, and nobody protested having to miss school.

The Student Council had its meeting Wednesday morning. Plans were made for Twirp Week, which will be the first week of March. A sock-hop will be held on Friday evening of that week to end the week's activities.

The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y held their meeting Wednesday afternoon. Joan Jordan, vice president, discussed with the groups the various programs which the club will have the remainder of the year. The club has planned a sock-hop for Feb. 14.

The missing dog contest ended when Beth Whitley found the pup and received $10 as well as the dog.

Our last pep rally of the year was held Thursday during the sixth period. Coach Vernon Hartin, Coach Al Milch and Coach Curtis Kelly visited from high school and gave talks. Jerry Tucker, Jimmy Madry and George Ryan gave pep talks representing the ninth grade; Danny Douts, Ronnie Crowover and Battleship Jackson for the eighth grade; and John Paul Amos and Jodie Thompson, the seventh grade. Coach Jimmy Marcus warmed up the rally with a rousing talk, and the gathering was one of the most enthusiastic of the year.

This carried over in the games with Runnels. Although the seventh and eighth grades lost to Runnels, 26-7 and 35-20, the ninth grade rallied and won 51-46. A victory dance was held at Sherrie Sabato's home after the game for the ninth graders, and everyone had fun although the boys were tired.

Friday morning money was collected by each room teacher for the school United Fund. Proceeds will be distributed to the various appeals such as polio, etc.

HCJC Extends Registration Until Monday

Due to time lost last week because of weather, Howard County Junior College is extending its registration through Monday.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said there was a good possibility that the final total would show around 600 taking college credit work.

Saturday there were 583, and this included 299 in day classes and 284 in night classes.

Of the 583 enrolled, 226 were full-time students (those taking 12 or more semester hours of work) and 357 were part-time students. The totals do not include any enrolled in special or adult education classes which are not for college credit.

Ordinarily registration would have ceased Saturday evening, but last week HCJC held no classes on Monday or Tuesday due to ice and snow. Thus, late registrants can still sign Monday and miss less class than under the usual deadline program. Time lost to weather will be made up around the Easter holiday season.

CY RADCLIFFE

Knife & Fork Speaker To Be Cy Radcliffe

Cy Radcliffe, a young fellow who made good as a small business man running a successful farm implement business in Idaho and who "retired" after a long tangle with the Labor Relations Board (which insisted it knew better how to run his business than he did), is to be guest speaker at the Big Spring Knife and Fork Club on the night of Feb. 12.

He has just completed a lengthy observation trip to Iron Curtain countries, the Jewish and Arab states and the countries of Southern and Eastern Asia. He viewed labor conditions, production facilities and potentials in these countries.

He analyzes his findings in his address which he calls "What the World is Going On."

Dinner meeting for February of the Knife and Fork Club is at 7:30 p.m. at the Settles Hotel. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Moree Savtelle, secretary, not later than noon at that date.

Radcliffe comes highly recommended by other organizations where he has spoken and officials of the local club believe his lecture will be one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Local Group To See Mardi Gras, Attend Bank Meet

A group of Big Springers will be combining business and pleasure this week in attending a Federal Home Loan Bank meeting in Biloxi, Miss., and witnessing a part of the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stripling, Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Middleton and Elmo Wasson left by plane Saturday night for New Orleans.

After a day at the Mardi Gras, they will go to Biloxi for two days' sessions of the Little Rock District of the Federal Home Loan Board. All the men are directors of First Federal Savings & Loan Association which is under jurisdiction of the Little Rock District of the FHLB.

The group plans to return Wednesday.

Seniors Order Invitations, Diploma Fees Are Deposited

By PAT ROGERS
Snow and ice gave BSHSers an added treat last Monday and Tuesday. It was fun not to have any school and to have ice fights, roll in the snow, and slide down the streets on sleds. For some of the put-of-staters, it wasn't anything new, but for the native horn-toads, it was an exciting new treat.

In the latest issue of the Corral, the student council discovered that there was only $159.33 left to operate on. The future activities to be held are the ranch days, faculty supper, and spring semi-formal. The "Follies of '59" is the only money-making project remaining.

With only two games left to play for this season, the Steer Basketball team gave the San Angelo Bobcats a run for their money. Abilene and Odessa are the games remaining to be played. Because of the two school's rivalry, the Steers are looking forward to playing Odessa.

There was an added attraction when school resumed for Mr. Benny Pierson, student counselor, returned after being out with ulcer trouble.

After looking over its budget, the student council discovered that there was only $159.33 left to operate on. The future activities to be held are the ranch days, faculty supper, and spring semi-formal. The "Follies of '59" is the only money-making project remaining.

Friday there were several girls absent from school — the volleyball girls were in Odessa competing in the Permian Basin Tournament. Their next regular game is scheduled for February 10 in Andrews.

Some economic girls were adding the finishing touches to the theme, "Hearts and Flowers", of their banquet to be held next Thursday. The girls voted on their dreamboat, but the results of this election won't be announced until the banquet.

Seniors had the "money blues" after ordering their invitations, visiting cards, and diplomas last Wednesday and Thursday. They have come to the conclusion that it is an honor to be a senior all right, but it is also an expense.

Hope to help some of the students raise some low grades.

Once again the Bible clubs are getting organized. Officers were elected last week, and club meetings are being planned for this coming week.

Juniors are still trying to sell their black and gold, ball-point pens. They have some of them displayed on the bulletin board in the foyer of the school building.

The National Honor Society met Thursday night in the study hall of BSHS. They are making plans to serve as a tutoring service to the sophomores. In doing this, they Runnels and Goliad got a little angry at several BSHS boys at their game Thursday night. It seems that during one half of the game the boys sat in the Runnels' section and yelled for Goliad, and during the second half, they sat in Goliad's section and yelled for Runnels. It was confusing, but it was all in good fun.

LAMESA — A training school for adult workers with Intermediate Youth will be held Monday through Thursday at First Methodist Church here, with sessions held from 7 to 9 p.m. daily.

Mrs. Katy McMillan, director of Christian Education at First Methodist Church, Borger, is conducting the training. Text for the course are available at the church.

FFA, 4-H Groups To Compete In Fat Stock Show At El Paso

Ten members of the Big Spring FFA and 18 4-H Club boys and girls are to compete in the El Paso Fat Stock Show which opens Monday.

The 4-H group left Saturday. FFA members are to depart today.

The 4-H members will enter 11 head of steers and 20 lambs, according to Jimmy Taylor county agent.

The Howard County delegation travelled to El Paso in its celebrated club truck which provides transportation on the road and living quarters when the show has been reached.

Adults with the group are Lloyd Robinson and Mrs. W. C. King, with Bill Sims, assistant county agent. Taylor will go to El Paso on Tuesday to join the delegation. They will remain at El Paso until next Saturday when the show ends.

Taylor said that the boys and girls plan to sell some of the stock being shown but not all of it. The county club members will next compete in the Houston show early in March which will wind up the circuit for this spring.

Boys and girls making the trip are: Kay Thornton, Jerry Wooten, Jim Engle, Wanda Boatler, Betty White, Mike Worley, Delroy Buchanan, Rodney Brooks, Harry King, Joyce Robinson, Jerry Iden, Orvita Fryar, Mary Thornton, Lucy Thornton, Loria Overton, H. K. Elrod and Susan Elrod.

Scholarship Winner

Glenda Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parrish, 104 NE 12th, displays the scholarship to San Angelo Junior College she won in an essay contest sponsored by the San Angelo Advertising Club. Topic of her essay was "How Advertising Affects Our Lives." A senior in Big Spring High School, Glenda is a distributive education student and works for Tate, Bristow & Parks. Her essay will be entered in a nationwide contest.

Conservation Program Has January Boom In Mitchell

COLORADO CITY (SC)—January was an active month for the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Contracts were signed by seven landowners involving 39,131 acres of land. At the close of the month three additional contracts had been approved by landowners. Twelve applications for assistance under the Great Plains Program involving 3,226 acres were received.

The Great Plains Conservation Program enables a land operator to apply a complete soil and water conservation program with the federal cost-share to be available upon completion of each practice. Federal cost-share is made on permanent type practices such as terracing, diversion construction, waterway development, range seeding, brush control, fencing, and water development. Landowners or operators interested in such a program should make application in the Soil Conservation Service Office located in Room 207 of the Max Berman Building.

Contracts which were signed during January are: Elwood and Towle, 38,131 acres; Dan Pritchett, 632 acres; Glen Womack, 100 acres; Perry Bowles, 170 acres; Noble Walker, 320 acres; Warren Anderson, 40 acres; and Henry Hoyle, 160 acres.

Contracts in the area office for typing and approval are: R. C. Womack, 320 acres; Marcum and Morrison, 160 acres; and Mahon and Smith, 320 acres.

Applications for assistance under the GP Program were received from Henry Hoyle, Munoz Bros., Mahon & Smith, D. M. Smith, R. C. Womack, Melvin Bauman, Rex Clepper, Morrison and Marcum, Taft & Erwin, Warren Anderson, Perry Bowles, and Glen Womack.

Truett Vines, FFA instructor, said that the members who are leaving today are Esco Hamlin, two steers; Charles Engle, one steer and two lambs; Jerry Hewitt, two steers; Rip Patterson, one steer; Norvyn Hamlin, one steer; Clifford Blythe, one lamb; Thomas Rush, one lamb; Robert Carr, one lamb; Lavell Hanson, one lamb; and Mike Lowke, one lamb.

Accompanying the delegation today will be Ed Seay, the other local FFA instructor.

On Monday Vines and four officers of the Howard County FFA chapter, will leave for El Paso. The officers and Vines will return Wednesday while the others will remain until next Saturday.

Leaving Monday are George White, Ronnie Parrish, Larry Moore, and Roger Hubbard. The officers are making the trip as a reward for their services to the chapter and because all are making outstanding grades in school.

Vines said only one officer of the lot had as low as a "B" average.

FFA exhibitors will show at Houston on a reduced scale later in the spring, winding up their activities in this field with exception of the local exposition late in March.

Paper Calls For Prosecution Of Repeat Violators

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Times Herald called on newspapers throughout the state Saturday to join in seeing that potentially dangerous repeat violators of traffic laws are prosecuted.

"We will not tolerate the legal loopholes and technicalities that impede prosecution of motorists who kill, maim and damage on our streets and highways," the newspaper will say editorially Sunday. "We urge every Texas newspaper to join with us and function as a true public servant."

The Times Herald has published a series of articles concerning repeat offenders who have eluded prosecution. Its editorial will cite an example of "a Dallas man with 36 traffic violations—22 for speeding and running red lights and stop signs—who hasn't even had his license suspended."

The newspaper stated: "We want to know why not a single case involving a fatal 1958 traffic accident in Dallas County has been prosecuted."

Jr. College Appeal Sent To Committee

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas City's bid for State Board of Education approval of a junior college district was sent to a subcommittee for study Saturday.

The board took this routine step after hearing Roland C. Jordan, chairman of a citizens committee urging establishment of the college, detail its reasons.

The only opposition was voiced by Jack Binion, board member from Houston. He questioned the need for a junior college at Texas City.

The state board must authorize an election to establish a junior college district. It will act after the subcommittee reports.

Jordan told the board that Texas City needs a junior college because it is 45 miles to Houston and 30 to Baytown and Alvin, where colleges are already overcrowded.

Jordan said he believed the college could operate on a maximum levy of 20 cents per valuation.

He said the district would have available a 30-room school building, including a shop, home economics laboratory and a gymnasium. It was vacated when Texas City built a new multi-million-dollar high school.

With Tommy Hart

Quite likely, a track personality rather than a football coach will be chosen as honorary referee of the American Business Club Relays here this spring.

Abe Martin of TCU filled the job two years ago while Darrell Royal of Texas University was picked last season.

That veteran Odessa cage official who was the recipient of some unflattering publicity in several games this season has decided to retire from the arbiting business, according to Lou Turlo, the whistle-blower from Odessa.

Bill Thompson, leading scorer on the Big Spring High School basketball team, was held to eight points by Midland in a recent game but he was hobbled almost throughout the game by four fouls.

Jimmy Evans hit four of six field goal tries for 67 per cent.

The defeat left HCJC with a 15-7 overall record. The Hawks are one of the four teams tied for second in the zone, with a 4-3 record. The Hawks play South Plains JC in Big Spring Tuesday night.

Glenn Davis Upset In 300-Yd. Dash

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Mel Barnwell of Pittsburgh staged a stunning track upset Saturday night when he set an American indoor record of 30 seconds flat while beating out Ohio State's Glenn Davis in the 300-yard dash.

Davis, the former Olympic star named most outstanding amateur athlete last year, was the odds-on favorite in the opening individual running event of the 36th annual Michigan State Relays.

But Barnwell, one of the East's top sprinters for the past three years, beat him to the wire by at least seven yards.

Barnwell's 30-second time broke the accepted American indoor record of 30.3 set by Herb McKenzie of Illinois in 1947.

Bumgardner Is All-Star Coach

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Max Bumgardner of San Angelo College was named coach Saturday of the Dallas county team in a bi-county all-star football game set for Aug. 15.

Contingent Trade

DETROIT (AP)—Verbal agreement has been reached on the trade of George Yardley to another unspecified National Basketball Assn. team, General Manager Nick Kerchawy of the Detroit Pistons said Saturday.

Fulfillment of the agreement, Kerchawy said, is contingent on Yardley's return to active duty. Currently he is sidelined with a fractured left hand finger.

TCU Nips Raider Rally, Wins 66-59

FORT WORTH (AP)—Texas Christian repulsed a strong second half rally by Texas Tech here Saturday and continued on to a 66-59 victory to kill the Raiders' bid for a share of the Southwest Conference basketball title.

Before an overflow crowd of 3,000, Tech's 48-30 lead rebounded to 41-36 at the end of the first half. Tech's eighth defeat in eight league games.

With Kirchner getting 20 of his 28 points in the first half, the Frogs pumped to a 34-26 halftime lead. Early in the second half, TCU boosted it to 41 points.

Here Texas Tech, on the outside shooting of Charles Lynch and Leon Hill, pulled into a 44-44 tie. During this period, Kirchner was on the bench after suffering a slight ankle sprain.

Kirchner's return ignited the Frogs again and the home club's lead went to nine points with 2:40 to go and the SWC leaders were content to stall out the game.

TCU connected on 45 per cent of its shots while the visitors were almost as consistent with a 42 per cent reading. The Frogs took 48 rebounds off the list, Kirchner getting 19. Tech had 36.

Hill hit 16 points to lead the Raiders.

Lubbock CC Wins Practice Game

Gene Littler Builds Lead To 5 Strokes

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gene Littler produced a dramatic finish with a 35-foot eagle putt on the final green Saturday and swept to a five-stroke lead in the third round of the $20,000 Phoenix Open.

Littler finished with a 3-under-par 67. Tacked onto previous rounds over the 6,602-yard Arizona Country Club course in 67 and 63, it gave him a 54-hole total of 197, the lowest three-round score on this year's tour.

Moving into second place was Dave Ragan of Chattanooga, Tenn., who fired a 3-under 67 for a 202. He was in a tie for sixth place when Saturday's round opened.

Deadlocked for third place at 203 were Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., and John McMullin, Fair Oaks, Calif.

At 204 were Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Jerry Magee, Toronto, Canada, the first-day leader. Four others were tied at 205, including Stan Leonard, Van-cover, B.C., who fired Saturday's lowest round, a 5-under 65.

Joe Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn., in a second place tie after the second round, soared to a 3-over 73 and was at 205. Tommy Jacobs, Whittier, Calif., among the top runners for two days, also had a 73 and dropped to a tie for 14th.

Littler, who started an assault on par Friday with a seven-under 63, continued his blazing pace Saturday as he toured the front nine in a two-under 32.

That gave him a 45-hole total of 162—a high of 3 over John McMullin, 23-year-old tournament novice from Fair Oaks, Calif.

Littler started the round two strokes in front of McMullin and Joe Campbell, another 23-year-old newcomer from Knoxville, Tenn.

Campbell, former college star at Purdue, was one over at the turn and five strokes back of Littler.

Jerry Magee, Toronto, Canada, the first day leader, and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., also fell farther. Magee matched par 4 through the front nine and had a 45-hole total of 168. Furgol was one over par for a 169.

Lincoln edged past San Angelo Lee, 31-30, in the semi-finals while Goliad was kayoing Lamesa, 48-39. Lee had won 18 in a row going into its game with Lincoln.

Lincoln had trailed, 6-0, early in the game against Lee but came back with a rush.

The Longhorns stalled for 2 1/2 minutes but Lee got another chance with 90 seconds to go when "traveling" was called against the Longhorns. Lee couldn't take advantage of the break, however.

Big Spring Goliad had an extremely close call against Snyder Friday but won, 41-39.

BILL VEECK TO PICK UP OPTION ON STOCK

BILL VEECK
Back In Business

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney Saturday officially announced that she will sell her majority interest in the Chicago White Sox for $2,700,000 and Bill Veeck said he will be the buyer.

Veeck, in Cleveland, said he would exercise his option to buy Mrs. Rigney's 3,235 shares. The option expires Feb. 18.

This was the first formal statement from either Mrs. Rigney or Veeck that the sale would be made.

Veeck's hand was somewhat forced when The Associated Press learned that he had been offered $200,000 by Charles O. Finley of Chicago, president of an insurance brokerage firm, for his option.

"The option is not available," Veeck said.

He said his syndicate will go ahead with plans to take over control of the White Sox.

Veeck, once head man of the Cleveland Indians and old St. Louis Browns, will have 45 days after the option date of Feb. 18 to close the deal.

Finley, 39-year-old father of seven children, has a contract with Mrs. Rigney also to buy her interests for $2,700,000 outright should Veeck fail to go through with the transaction.

Finley, who tried in vain to buy the Detroit Tigers in 1956, is so anxious to make the deal he placed in escrow one-half million dollars and offered Veeck $200,000 for his option.

"I would definitely keep the White Sox permanently in Chicago," he said in a statement. "I am not interested in obtaining the club to make a quick profit. I am interested only in developing a championship team for Chicago."

It was learned that Finley would like Dorothy's brother, Chuck Comiskey, to stay with the club. Chuck, who inherited from his mother's estate 500 fewer shares than his sister, is a co-vice president along with Dorothy's husband, John Rigney.

The brother and sister have been battling in court over the stock disposition since the will of their mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, was probated. She died in December 1956 and never has been replaced as club president.

Chuck is trying to keep his sister from selling. A hearing is scheduled for Feb. 16 on a petition to block in probate court seeking to file the sale.

Veeck heads a syndicate, whereas Finley is putting up the entire sale price himself and has until April 18 to do it if Veeck does not exercise his option. He owns a company bearing his name with branches in Boston, Los Angeles, Austin, Tex., Birmingham, Ala., and Gary, Ind.

Gridders Endorse Al Milch And His Athletic Program

We've been reading in your paper "sour grapes" letters concerning our (Big Spring High School) coaches and athletic programs. We want the town of Big Spring to know that we are behind our coaches regardless of the criticisms of a FEW Monday morning quarterbacks.

We feel that we can talk, as we are the ones who have taken the training and hard knocks to produce a winner; and a few sore-heads are trying to tear down the work that has been done the past two years by constant criticism of our coaches and team.

The team apologizes to no one for the way we have played or the way we have been coached and we want you to know that the sophomores want to continue their three years of football under Coach Milch and his assistants.

O'Dowdy Gets Wire, Erickson Says 'No'

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Promoter Pat O'Dowdy got the official word Saturday: The Texas Boxing Commission won't let him match light heavyweight champion Archie Moore against a boxer-wrestler.

A telegram from state boxing commissioner Alton Erickson advised the Odessa promoter:

"Boxing law prohibits matching, advertising or selling tickets before promoter's license has been issued. Will not permit Moore-Davis boxing match."

O'Dowdy had proposed a Feb. 19 bout in this West Texas oil town between Moore and Dizzy Davis, Houston boxer and former wrestler.

Erickson said earlier that O'Dowdy had not applied for a boxing promoter's license. Besides, the commissioner said, the Odessa man already is licensed as a wrestling promoter and regulations forbid the same individual to hold permits for both.

O'Dowdy countered that the commissioner had been pressured into trying to block the proposed 10-rounder. The promoter claimed Erickson yielded to other match-makers who wanted wrestler Dory Funk to be Moore's opponent.

Before receiving Erickson's message Saturday afternoon, O'Dowdy dispatched a telegram to the commissioner reminding him that time was growing short.

Brown Risks Fight Title

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joe Brown places his world's light-weight boxing title on the line a sixth time Wednesday night, and the men with money are not quite as confident he'll retain it.

The nationally televised 15-round title match, 10 p. m. EST, pits Brown, 32, against Johnny Busso, 24-year-old New York City challenger who took a unanimous decision from the champion in a 10-round overweight, non-title match Nov. 5 in Miami, Fla.

Busso's impressive decision broke Brown's streak of 20 fights without defeat and renewed speculation that the age of the champion is beginning to tell.

A crowd of about 8,000 is expected at the downtown Sam Houston Coliseum, where Brown successfully defended his title last year against Ralph Dupas and Kenny Lane before Texas record gates of $68,740 and $69,203. Wednesday's gate is expected to exceed $50,000.

LONGHORNS DECISION ANGELO IN OVERTIME

In a successful maneuver to flee the District 2-AAAA cellar, the Big Spring Steers flattened the San Angelo Bobcats, 70-67, in a nip-and-tuck overtime basketball thriller here Friday night.

The Longhorns, now 2-4 in the conference, tied up the game at 65-all when Preston Hollis hit two free tosses with 46 seconds left in the game and won it in the three extra minutes while Bill Thompson stuffed in five points, three of them on gratis pitches.

San Angelo led by seven points at the end of the third period and seemed well on its way to its second victory of the season over the Steers.

Vernon Harton's gang had only begun to fight, however. Mac McCoulskey of San Angelo, the hottest player on the court in the first half, cooled off in the final half and finally fouled out in the first minute of the overtime that torpedoed the Bobcats and they acted as if they knew it.

Thompson was slow to get started, sinking only one bucket in the first two quarters, but he wound up as the leading scorer of the night with 24 points, one more than McCoulskey had.

Preston Hollis had his best game for Big Spring, sinking several from far out. He counted 17 points. Little Bobby Evans tallied 19 for the Longhorns.

Benny McCrary of Big Spring was the game's top rebounder. He had 17 while Zay LeFevre followed with ten.

The Steers hit 44 per cent of their shots the first half and 37 the final half while San Angelo connected on 36 per cent the first 16 minutes and 27 the final half.

McCoulskey brought down 12 rebounds for the reved-up Felines. The regulation game almost ended in turmoil. San Angelo waited for that final shot that would have won the game. Al Dodson made it from the side but the buzzer beat him to the punch.

San Angelo lost two players — Frank Drones as well as McCoulskey — on fouls. Big Spring didn't lose a player but Hollis and LeFevre each had four fouls when the end came.

The teams were even in field goals — each with 20. San Angelo committed 23 fouls, Big Spring only 17.

San Angelo won the B game, 50-41. The Dogies played with the services of their leading scorer, Homer Mills.

Nap Lajoie, Former Diamond Star, Dies

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Napoleon (Nap) Lajoie, one of the original nine players elected to baseball's Hall of Fame, died Saturday following a relapse in a bout with pneumonia. He was 83.

Lajoie was stricken last month, but his recovery seemed so complete that he was due to be discharged from the hospital this week.

Born in Woonsocket, R. I., Sept. 5, 1875, Lajoie finished his 21-year major league career in 1916 with a lifetime batting average of .339.

A second baseman, he was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1937 along with Christy Mathewson, Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Cy Young, Tris Speaker and Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Lajoie, a rawboned man of French-Canadian descent, had lived quietly in this area for many years. He was retiring and reticent about publicity.

Since 1954 a nephew and niece—Dolor and Lillian Lamoureux—had stayed with Lajoie at his home in nearby Holly Hill.

He appeared in 2,475 big league games with the Philadelphia Nationals, Cleveland and the Philadel.

phia Athletics. He managed Cleveland from 1905 to 1909.

A legal controversy centered around Lajoie in 1901 when he broke his contract with the Philadelphia Nationals and went to the newly organized American League to play with the Philadelphia A's.

When the National League club got an injunction against him, Lajoie transferred to Cleveland where he played from 1902 through 1914. He returned to Connie Mack with Philadelphia in 1915 and 1916 where he finished his big league career.

Before retiring, Lajoie played in 1917 at Toronto and in 1918 at Indianapolis.

Social Security Payments Up $170,000 Per Year In Howard

Retired persons who are on the rolls of the Social Security program were happy last week — their monthly retirement checks from the government program showed a blanket increase of about 7 per cent.

Here in Howard County, the 7 per cent ante authorized by Congress at the last session means that about 1,300 persons will get $170,000 more income in 1959 than they received in 1958.

The Odessa office of the Social Security Administration estimated that there are now 1,343 persons in Howard County on its rolls and that their monthly checks total $71,683.

Womack Issues Report On Initial Month's Tax Work

Novis W. Womack, employed by the county, city and school system to perpetuate the tax valuation program initiated by the county-wide survey of the past year, has submitted his January work report to Ed Carpenter, county judge.

Womack reported he had processed 850 building permits and measured the new construction.

He said he had also appraised new buildings and improvements on old units, drew outline and dimensions of buildings on valuation cards in the permanent file, indicating changes in value, showing lot, block, addition and approximate date of change.

He reported that he appraised improvements by actual inspection of the property on the basis of current market values. Specifications of property checked has been duly posted on the file cards.

Other activities listed by Womack in his report: Classified buildings as to basic construction and applied refinement factors, considered factors of depreciation, obsolescence, function, and economics which would affect the market value.

He likewise reported he had appraised lots in new subdivisions, on acreage tracts being platted and on newly annexed acreage. Valuation cards have been prepared by him on new subdivisions and acreage tracts being platted, indicating the size of the lots.

New cards have been made showing date of change in valuation of property, old and new value, block and addition.

Womack reported he has prepared a list for each tax office from daily records showing ownership, change and consideration.

He has "taken off" approximately four volumes of warranty deeds from the county deed records.

Lobby Rules To Follow At Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—All you citizens with an ax to grind in the Legislature are welcome again in the Capitol, but you've got to follow new rules if you want to stay out of jail.

If you contact any legislator during the session to influence a proposed law, you are legally a lobbyist. You must register and report your expenses if they exceed $50 during the session.

That is important to Texans in all walks because the Legislature is moving into its most vital phase: Public committee hearings on bills.

A taste of it came last week. Farmers and ranchers interested in animal disease control bills and spokesmen for the humble tortilla makers caught in a honey-grits enrichment bill had their say in the Senate. They'll be back before a House committee this week.

Open hearings have been posted on a wide range of measures, such as a controversial bill affecting shrimp seining. Shrimp eaters, big commercial fishing interests, bait dealers and sports fishermen are expected to be out in force as the measure is heard Monday at 7:30 p. m. before the House Game and Fish Committee.

TAX HEARINGS Business interests chafing at Gov. Price Daniel's proposal to help erase the deficit and balance the budget with franchise tax increases will be on hand Tuesday at 2 p. m. when the House Revenue and Taxation Committee meets.

Those are samples of the scores of bills and proposed constitutional changes on which hearings will be held the next six to eight weeks and even later.

While floor debate is at a minimum during the early weeks, the spadework goes on day and night in committee sessions. Here the bills to be debated later are heard, studied, amended, delayed or killed.

Although no one but a legislator may speak during debate on the floor, anyone willing to follow the new law regulating lobbyists is welcome at committee sessions.

This law, passed by the last Legislature, requires that any person who appears before a House or Senate committee, or who has a "direct communication" with a lawmaker to influence legislation, must register with the chief clerk of the House.

The lobby control act applies to such influence only while the Legislature is in session. A lobbyist must list his name, his employer and the legislation he is interested in. He must also declare his expenses if they exceed $50 during a session.

Violators may be punished by fines up to $5,000 or imprisonment for two years.

New Trends In Hair Styling

Announced in honor of National Beauty Salon Week, which begins today and runs through Saturday, is a new trend in hair arranging, the Sweetheart Coiffure.

In making the prediction of its popularity, the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, describes the style as "a lovely-to-look-at hairdress with a definite American post-empire look".

Hair experts speak of the new arrangement, which will be adaptable to various personalities, as an airy, light hairdo, with the added elements of control and good grooming.

New coiffures will have a fuller look at the sides with a smoothness across the top and back to harmonize with the wider collars predicted for spring frocks. A gossamer effect of waves will be seen over the ear lobes in many hairdresses, with an upswept swirl at the back.

The bandeau of hair, used last season, has moved from above the bangs and become a "chaste band" or ribbon of hair, following the hairline. Movement of the tresses will be from the back to the front, with undefined waves outlining the contour of the face.

Hair at the top of the crown will fall into a variety of wave patterns depending upon the individual requirements and the work of the operator. Lengths will continue to be short and tapered for the correct silhouette, it is predicted.

Color will be all-important in the spring picture, although no one tint is destined to dominate the season, according to the national committee. Tintion tones and warm reds will be among the most popular shades, with honey blond and natural blond close seconds.

Darker hues will be given a haze of lighter casts in the same color to give more highlights; emphasis will be on a natural effect, with an improvement on nature.

Spring make-up will be fresh and creamy, with colors blending along lines of the hair tints.

TO HARMONIZE with wider collars predicted for spring frocks, the hairstyle modeled by Mrs. Albert McGeehee Jr. (above) is wider at the sides and much flatter on the top, with waves that encircle the head. Bangs follow the "chaste band" effect which is a characteristic of the Sweetheart line, introduced this spring as a complement to the definitely feminine look in clothing silhouettes. In this hairdo, there is no part to break the smooth lines.

THE ITALIAN VERSION of the Sweetheart trend, as in the hairdress of Mrs. Ed Cherry, (above) is worn with no part to break the high smooth line across the crown. Waves at the side "shag", or fan out, over the cheeks to give a softer effect, and the suggestion of bangs is in the same note. Worn short, the hair in back is turned up at the neckline.

A DIAGONAL PART on the right side emphasizes the movement of lines in the style worn by auburn-haired Mrs. Phillip Gardin, (above) who shows another version of the Sweetheart theme in hair arrangement. Waves sweep back from the bangs at the sides and extend into vertical lines at the back. Hair at the top is brought forward in a variation of wave patterns according to the wearer, which makes for the personalized appearance of the hairdo.

CONTROLLED AND WELL-GROOMED might be used to describe the hairdo shown by Mrs. Frank Dillon, (above). Based on the general theme of the new Sweetheart Coiffures, the hair is high and smooth on top with a part on the left. Waves at the sides continue into the back hair, and there is the slightest suggestion of bangs, with the movement to the face. It's a coiffure which shows off the brown hair of Mrs. Dillon to good advantage.

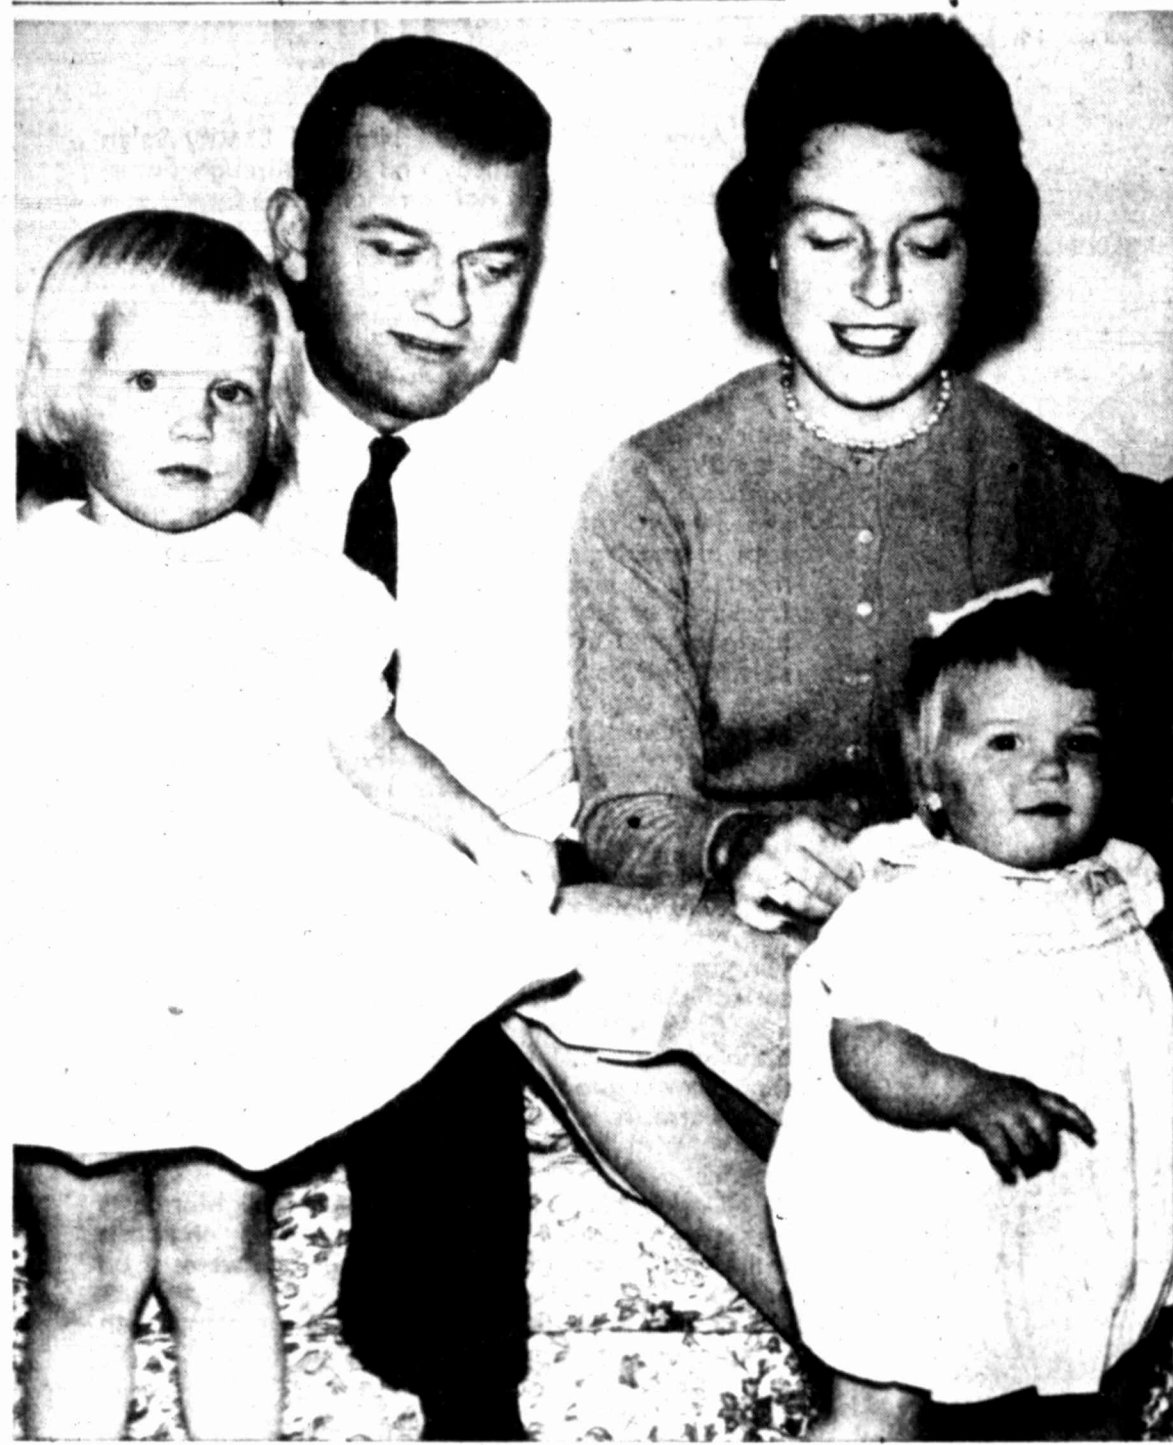

A SWIRL OF BANGS at the front of the coiffure worn by Mrs. J. W. Lloyd, (right) relieves the austerity of the arrangement with no part. Smooth across the head, the hair is waved at the crown and sides of the face with an upward sweep to the ends of the hair in the back. Waves across the head highlight the silvery blond tone of her hair, which is worn short.

Transplanted New Yorkers

Little Susan Seager is intent on showing the photographer her pretty new dress in a bright blue to accent the azure of her eyes. Sarah is wearing one just like it. Mr. and Mrs. David C. Seager, newcomers from New York, have just moved into their new home at 1610 Indian Hills Dr.

New Yorkers Find Our Hearts, Roses Sleet 'Child's Play'

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Seager had barely moved into their new home at 1610 Indian Hills Dr. when the ice hit last week. The sleet posed something of a problem for many West Texans, but to the newcomers it was child's play.

After all, the Seagers moved here from Skaneateles, N. Y., and last year they had to cope with 15 foot snowdrifts. The winter sports are enjoyable to them, both as spectators and participants. But sailing is a pet enthusiasm, and they envision themselves building a sailboat for Lake J. B. Thomas pleasure.

Seager comes to Cosden Petroleum Corp. as assistant sales manager, after having served the plastics division of Monsanto Chemical Co. for seven years. He holds the BS degree in history and business from Northwestern University, where his wife received her BA in English literature.

Although the Seagers, with Susan, 3, and year-old Sarah, arrived here last fall, all but the man of the house went on to Florida to be with her folks while the attractive home of pink used-brick was being built. The job took just eight weeks; now, settling into the residence is all that remains. Susan is already telling folks that "we come from Texas."

New Fashions Reveal Waistlines Will Show

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—There's not a sack in a carload of New York spring fashions.

Today's champions of the female form divine include designers Jo Copeland, Oleg Cassini and Ben Zuckerman. The only holdout of the season to date is Larry Aldrich, who has been beating the drums for the "relaxed" silhouette for nigh on to five years and still shows it, modified but recognizable.

Jo Copeland, the all-American designer who claims she never has taken a single cue from Paris, shows a feminine, flattering and strictly elegant group of daytime and evening fashions, the latter planned definitely for moonlight, roses and romance. Most dramatic of her evening gowns is a full-length sheath of white chiffon with jeweled midriff and floating panels, elegant as all get-out.

In a less formal mood is a short dance dress of black silk faille with a ruffled white eyelet embroidered petticoat, which is supposed to show.

Cassini goes happily back to his necklines as low as the law allows, insisting that "the bosom is here to stay."

"Women's dresses are supposed to appeal to men," Cassini says. "Now men look at fashion in a basically simple way. It's the shape that interests me."

Ben Zuckerman shows a well-bred, discreet and wearable group of superbly tailored suits and coats, the suits all with short jackets and slim skirts. Notable in the collection is a group of simple and sophisticated black silk cocktail dresses with cover-up jackets, to convert them to 24-hour duty.

Mrs. Woodson Is Home After Trip

COAHOMA — Mrs. P. F. Woodson has returned to her home here after having spent the past several weeks in Houston where she was receiving medical care.

Mrs. Woodson and Mrs. Mitchell Hoover of Pecos spent several days this week visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Chester Coffman.

Mrs. Charles Engle returned this week from Dallas where she spent several days for medical checkups.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tinner are spending this weekend visiting relatives in Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Read are spending the weekend in Alpine where they are guests in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Read and family.

Presbyterians Slate Events In Coahoma

COAHOMA — At a recent meeting of the Women of the Coahoma Presbyterian Church, 13 were present when Mrs. Hezlie Read brought the program on world missions, using as her theme, "On the Same Team." She also reminded the group of the special days and events to be remembered in February. These include Face Relations Sunday today; World Day of Prayer on Friday; Day of prayer for students around the world on Feb. 15, and Feb. 22, which begins the Week of Prayer for World Missions.

The next meetings of the group will be held on Feb. 18 when the Bonnie Maoni Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Joe Miller, and the Cora Kate Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Elvon DeVaney.

Localites Share In Salute To Beauty Salons

Joining with thousands of their colleagues throughout the country, the 70 beauticians in the two dozen Big Spring salons are observing National Beauty Salon Week, which opens today. Dedicated to more beautiful women, the special week spotlights not only professional beauty care but also service to the community.

Those of the localites who are organized as Unit 24 of the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturists are highlighting their observance by giving permanents to the members of the Cheerio Circle for the Blind. Also, in their plans is the transformation of a room at the state hospital into a beauty salon for the patients.

For several years, spearheaded by Unit 24, Big Spring beauticians, with others in Odessa and Midland comprising District II, have administered permanents, haircuts and hair styles to the women patients at the state hospital. The service has been largely done in December because of limited working space at the institution.

However, a room has recently been made available specifically for beauty care, and Unit 24 is sponsoring a drive for equipment.

When the conversion is completed, beauty services will be given year-round under the group's welfare program.

Throughout the nation, cosmetologists will be giving more than 250,000 free beauty treatments in more than 2,000 institutions during this the ninth annual observance of National Beauty Salon Week; it is sponsored by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn. The therapeutic value of these services has been lauded, both because beauty interest uplifts the morale of the patients and because the beauticians' aid lightens the work load of many staff personnel.

Other public services to be conducted during the week will be fashion shows, lectures and demonstrations before women's groups, with information to help all women with their grooming.

A number of Big Spring beauty operators are in Dallas this week participating in the Dallas Beauty Show. Several hundred delegates from over the nation are attending this major event. Representing Unit 24 are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wheeler, Mrs. Don Kennemer, Mrs. Marvin Ferguson, Mrs. Harold Bentley, Mrs. Helen Medley, Mrs. J. D. Spears, Mrs. John Polone, Mrs. B. Neal, Mrs. Fred McGowan, Mrs. Jan Croteau and Mrs. Dick Thompson.

Woman-Who-Sews Catered To In Vogue Style Revue

A fashion show expressly for the women who sew their own clothes will be presented by Hemphill-Wells on Friday and Saturday, at 3 p.m. in the fabric department of the store.

Mrs. Betty Whipple, Vogue Pattern commentator, will present the showing, "Spring; Fashion Plumeage", which features the latest fashions from Vogue Printed Patterns and the newest fabric textures in the colors that dominate the fashion spectrum this spring.

Twelve costumes to wear now through summer... day through evening will be shown. One of the designs, a modified sheath, will be shown in a geranium and white houndstooth check. A mock suit receives the look of bulk in a new-leaf-green fabric which is perfect for all day wear. A late-day feature is a jacketed ensemble in a rich print of blues.

All the costumes to be seen in the show can be made with the material available in the pattern and fabric departments, enabling women who sew to duplicate the fashions seen on the runway.

Saturday Nuptial Service Unites Mildred Heard, Henry Wooten

Marriage vows of Mildred Frances Heard and Henry Hubbard Wooten, Abernathy, were solemnized Saturday evening at the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, Darryl Flynn, former minister of the church and now pastor at Sterling City, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Heard, 501 East Seventeenth. A graduate of Big Spring High School, she attended Howard County Junior College and was recently employed at Sears. Son of Mrs. Edward Myatt of Abernathy, the bridegroom is an alumnus of Abernathy High School. He studied at HCJC and Elkins Radio School. Presently he is employed by KDUB-TV in Lubbock as an engineer.

Double ring vows were recited before the altar, which was adorned with a basket of pink gladioli and white mums. Palms stood at either side.

Preceding the ceremony, a trio composed of Peggy Francis, June McElrath and Patsy Potter sang "Whither Thou Goest and the Wedding March." Their rendition of "O Promise Me" served as the benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white brocade taffeta, made by her mother. Its princess lines were somewhat modified by an empire waistline. Scallop at the short sleeves complemented the scallops of the rounded neckline. Her shoulder-length veil descended from a cap studded with sequins and seed pearls. On a white Bible she carried carnations and a Japette orchid.

As maid of honor, Lorene Mears wore a sheath of pale blue brocade taffeta. The cummerbund and bolero were of darker blue, and she carried carnations tinted pale pink.

Riley Wooten of Lubbock served his brother as best man. Ushers were Joe Poteet and Robert Heard, brother of the bride. Following the wedding, friends gathered at the Heard home for the reception. Mothers of the bridal couple and Miss Mears assisted in the receiving line.

White lace over pink covered the refreshment table. Pink sweet-peas topped the white wedding cake, a three-tiered confection. Mary Lou Click, aunt of the bride, was at the register. The houseparty included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Myatt of Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Wooten and Patricia, Lubbock. For traveling to their home in Lubbock, the bride chose a gray cashmere skirt and middie sweater

Bridal Pair Is Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Choate, who have recently returned from a wedding trip, were honored Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Marchbanks.

The bride is the former Toni Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Barron, 1605 State. The couple was married on Jan. 17.

Joining in the host duties were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Spence. About 26 attended the party during which games were played, and Mrs. Elmo Martin served at a table decorated with yellow roses.

The honored couple received a gift from the hosts.

Paris Hats Are Large

PARIS (AP)—The bigger the better is the word for new Paris hats. Brims of all shapes and sizes are the dominant note in all collections, in both tailored and frilly versions.

Paris milliners say there's a hat for every woman's taste in the new lineup.

The tailored girl may take her pick of trim, mannish sailors and derbies, preferred in shiny straws and often worn with big-mesh veils drawn snugly over the face.

Great swaths of fine tulle veiling also are much in evidence, either softening the severity of tailored hats or adding drama to evening confections.

The big, dramatic black hat for restaurant dining also stages a comeback this spring. A striking example is a huge crownless cartwheel made of shirred black tulle, sparkled by a huge jeweled ornament front and center.

In addition to brimmed hats, there are plenty of deep cloches and bulky pillboxes, but even these take on added height and width.

For After Dinner

An after-dinner specialty can be clear brewed Italian (demi-tasse) coffee served in footed glasses with a twist of lemon peel. Pass the sugar!

A Devotional For Today

Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray. (Psalms 5:2)

PRAYER: Most loving Father, increase in us the desire to pray. As the result of our communion with Thee may we be of more help to all those around us. Grant us Thy peace, we pray, in the name of our Saviour and Redeemer. Amen.

A Project Of Urgent Priority

One of these days the Capehart housing project is going to reach a stage where occupancy will begin.

When that time comes traffic on the Old San Angelo Highway is going to jump tremendously. Meanwhile other development in that immediate area is going to help stop more traffic on the road.

The county has had under consideration some plans for meeting this situation. We sincerely hope that these will be pressed rapidly. Even if we started tomorrow, we should probably not get the job completed in time. Everyday we delay, the more we will contribute to the hazards and the mess that overcrowding and road construction will bring about. This is a matter for most urgent priority.

The Matter Of Consolidation

Now awaiting final action are two petitions which propose the consolidation of the Gay Hill common school district with the Gail Independent School District in Borden County.

If and when this matter comes to a vote, it is up to the qualified voters in these two districts to make their own decision.

However, there are some factors which should receive careful consideration before decisions are made. The paramount issue is what is best for the children. Among the others are distance, convenience, compatibility with other existing political subdivisions, adequacy of present facilities and resources, and many, many others.

Those supporting the merger of a district within Howard County that of another county doubtless have reasons which appear sound and reasonable. If those reasons include a fear that Big Spring is going to "gobble up" Gay Hill, then that fear is unfounded. Certainly Big Spring would welcome Gay Hill, just as we feel that Gail would, but no such proposal has been made by Big Spring. Nor is there proposed or pending in the Legislature any act which would compel such a course.

No one can predict the future unerringly, but if the day ever came that the Legislature fixed minimum enrollments or scholastics for a district, it would be folly for Big Spring or any other district with which Gay Hill joined not to continue a strong elementary program there. That is precisely what Gay Hill is doing now, and doing very well.

By reason of county government and business, most people in the Gay Hill district center their extra-community activities in Big Spring. To go across county lines in a consolidation could create far greater problems and inconveniences than can be immediately imagined.

Some may harbor concern about tax costs, which doesn't necessarily enter the picture since Big Spring has not proposed a merger. But even if it did, computations should be based on facts and not on speculation. And overshadowing all this, the factor should be weighed against what is made available to the child by reason of what larger numbers make possible — such things as a broader, richer, more varied curriculum fully accredited by every responsible agency of higher education. This is available to Gay Hill even under the present arrangement and so far as we know will continue to be.

If the patrons of Gay Hill district want to go into another county setup, that is their privilege. If they want to make haste slowly and leave things just like they are, that is also their privilege. In so doing they might want to take time for a long, long look at what path they might want to follow at some distant date. If every voter casts his ballot for what he feels is the best for the child, the result will be based on the best foundation.

Our Powers To Deter A Soviet Attack

WASHINGTON — Despite a concerted effort to scare the Congress into appropriating more money for intercontinental missiles, and the apparent attempt to play politics with national defense, the truth is that a world war is less likely today than it has been at any time since the close of World War II.

The outstanding fact is that the United States has sufficient military power today to deter the Soviet Union from making an attack. The price of such an attack is too big for the Kremlin to pay—for this would bring in retaliation the almost total destruction of all its major cities and the death of millions of people from one end of the Soviet Union to the other.

The average man is a bit confused by the persistent propaganda that tells him, "The Russians are ahead." But it is important to keep in mind these points:

1. The Soviets must go great distances across oceans with their missiles to hit at us.

2. The Soviets, in delivering their "first blow," must simultaneously knock out every missile base and every air base in this country and in the territory of our Allies in Europe and North Africa as well as in the Far East. It must be a 100 per cent score.

3. The Soviets must also knock out every United States submarine that is armed with missiles and every American or Allied aircraft carrier at sea that can launch bombers carrying nuclear weapons. This, too, must be a 100 per cent score.

4. The Soviets boast they can strike at targets with "pinpoint accuracy," but one wonders how at a given moment a missile is going to find the exact spot that each submarine happens to be, or the exact location in the air of each plane of America's fleet of heavy bombers. The unknown location of American warships is a deterrent, no matter how many missiles Russia has. The United States Air Force, moreover, here and overseas, keeps in the air in periods of crisis a certain number of nuclear bombers.

5. The Soviets not only must time their attack so it will knock out every Allied base in Pakistan, Turkey, Italy, Spain,

North Africa, as well as in Britain and France, but must make sure at the same time that all bases in this country are completely destroyed.

6. If the Soviets should miss any of these targets, they would promptly receive in reprisal a sweeping attack with H-bombs that would cause incredible devastation. It probably would take only 50 missiles or bombs to knock out 50 of their cities.

All these points, summed up, merely mean that the United States and her Allies today still have the deterrent power they have been depending on for several years now. President Eisenhower at his press conference Wednesday emphasized that the United States has a "balanced" defense. But the words "equivalent" or "balanced" do not convey the total significance of America's power to deter an enemy from attacking.

It is being said that the United States is failing to match each weapon now being produced by the Soviet Union. But the Soviets have need for more long-range weapons than America, because the Western Allies have bases which are a short distance from the targets in Russia, whereas the Soviet air forces and missiles must travel across the Arctic or span the Atlantic or Pacific oceans to reach America.

There are, of course, many boasts being made nowadays by the leaders in America and her Allies in submission to Soviet demands. But, as Mr. Eisenhower recalled at his news conference, the Soviets have bragged falsely in the past that they invented the flying machine, the automobile and the telephone, and there's no reason why their claims about the performance of other inventions in the weapon field now should be accepted.

The United States government has taken what is termed a "calculated risk." This means that it assumes the impracticability of any such simultaneous attack by the Soviet military machine as would destroy the American capacity to retaliate on a massive basis. The Kremlin would be taking a dangerous risk—the risk of terrible destruction—if they miscalculated in the use of their attack weapons.

So the military situation is truly a stalemate in the sense that both sides have enough power to deter the other from initiating a war. Under the circumstances, there is little point in adding lethal weapons on a quantity basis merely to make sure that the rubble and masses of dead people in cities destroyed in the Soviet Union are pounded to smaller pieces by more missiles.

America's position is secure primarily because the Soviet leaders are never expected to favor the suicide of their nation. Meanwhile, improvements in technology can add little to the security of either side for the power to destroy another nation now is as efficient as it ever needs to be.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Young Robert Rockhop made no mistake when he named his choice Berkshire hog "I'm It."

"I'm It" was chosen the grand champion barrow at the Southern Wisconsin Junior Live Stock Exposition. And Robert received a $711 check for the auction sale of his 237-pound hog. That's $3 a pound.

We Demand Government Services — And We Pay For Them

General Motors Corp. has rushed to the aid of the State of Michigan with an advance payment on this year's taxes. The state, bludgeoned by deficits, had run out of money.

In New York, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller seeks a record rise of $27,000,000 in taxes to finance a $2,041,000,000 budget for the 1950-51 fiscal year. This is the first two-billion budget in New York history. Rockefeller says he's framing the two letters he got endorsing his plan.

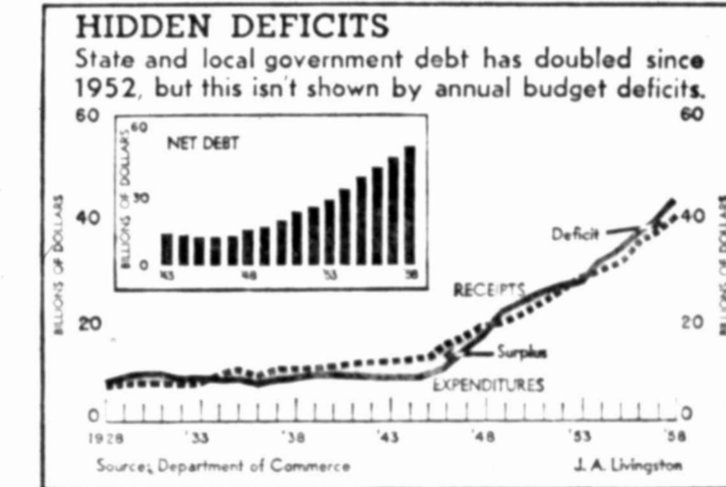

In Pennsylvania, Governor David Lawrence is expected to call for higher levies to meet rising expenses, and an accumulated deficit. In Minnesota, Governor Orville L. Freeman began his third term by asking for an increase in personal income taxes, higher levies on cigarettes, liquor, and tobacco, the elimination of corporate deductibility of federal income taxes, and a higher tax on iron ore.

So it goes around the United States. State and local governments everywhere seek new facets of revenue—payrolls, excesses, business gross receipts, soft drinks, tobacco, gasoline, ad infinitum. If you want to become a civic hero, find a substantial source of painless revenue.

The problem is endemic to progress. We aspire to better roads, hospitals, incinerator systems. We have to pay higher salaries to teachers, firemen, policemen, garbage collectors, etc. Governors and mayors, whether Republican or Democratic, are at one with President Eisenhower, who warned Congress: If you raise expenditures, raise also taxes.

During the 1930's and up to the end of the war, expenses of all state and local governments usually ranged between $7 and $9 billion annually. The high was $9.55 billion in 1939. Receipts, except during the Great Depression (when some states and cities got into financial trouble), usually produced a surplus. In 1937, for example, revenues exceeded expenses by $7 billion; in 1945, by $2.6 billion.

But immediately after the war, when steel, lumber, and other materials became available, state and local governments began improving roads, schools, etc. Outlays reached $11 billion in 1946, two years later $17.6 billion, and in 1952 $25 billion. Today, they exceed $42 billion—four times as great as in the 'thirties.

Revenues have not kept pace. For five straight years, the state and local governments have run deficits on current account, as follows:

Year	Deficit (Billions)
1954	$ 942,000,000
1955	985,000,000
1956	654,000,000
1957	1,171,000,000
1958	$1,900,000,000*

*Preliminary

Nor is that the full tale of financial woes. Many states, cities, towns, and school, water and other districts' borrow outside regular budgets. As a result, since 1948 the debt of state and local governments has risen from $18.1 billion to more than $50 billion. The annual increases ranged from two to three billion from 1948 to 1953; since, the average increase has been four to five billion a year (see chart).

The entire country is caught in a spiraling treadmill of progress, growth, and social aspirations. The public school population today is 33,900,000, an increase of 3.5 per cent over a year ago. The number of pupils in the latest Neilsen audience ratings list eight Westerns among the top 10 most widely viewed programs. Other regular favorites also are visible, of course.

And here are some that are worthy of reminder (all times eastern standard):

Sunday afternoon NBC presents another in the "Wisdom" series, a conversation with Edith Hamilton, an authority on Greek and Roman civilization. At the same hour CBS repeats "The Face of Red China," a filmed report on life inside China today.

"Ask Washington," an interesting news question and answer program, with David Brinkley, Richard Harkness, and Martin Agronky, is on NBC Sunday afternoon.

Ben Hecht's first full-hour teleplay, "The Third Commandment," also will be seen on NBC Sunday afternoon. It's the story of a Hollywood gangster who becomes a false evangelist and faith healer. This is the first of a proposed series of modern dramas, each based on one of the Ten Commandments.

In an NBC news special also on Sunday afternoon, speakers of various groups will discuss Chet Huntley's proposal of last Sunday that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People should withdraw from the integration scene.

Tuesday night "The Bell Telephone Hour" on NBC presents an all-American program of music and ballet, starring Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Rise Stevens, Grant Johannesen, Martha Wright, The New York City Ballet.

Tuesday night via NBC Bob Hope offers a variety show with Maureen O'Hara, Danny Thomas and Carol Haney.

Wednesday night a special program portraying Lincoln as his contemporaries knew him will be seen on NBC. "Meet Mr. Lincoln" uses photographs of the Civil War period. Also on Wednesday night on NBC there will be a repeat of the Fred Astaire Show of several weeks ago. Both critics and the public joined in cheering this one.

On Wednesday night CBS presents the "U. S. Steel Hour" with Jean Pierre Aumont and Gloria Vanderbilt in an adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's "Family Happiness."

No Point In Getting Cozy With Ghosts

Went to the movie the other night, and watched these people making like witches, cooking up magic potions and demonstrating supernatural powers. This mostly was in fun, and the moral to the tale must have been that you can only be a creature out of this world if you don't love anybody.

Well, I never particularly wanted to be loved by these mystic characters, anyway. But the movie story sort of gave me the jeebies, as I got to wondering if there might be something to this ghost business, after all.

An eminent professor, one Dr. Hornall Hart, a sociologist at Duke University, is a little more serious about the subject than was the playwright. Dr. Hart believes in ghosts, only he refers to them as "astral excursions," and figures that they are more frequently apparitions of living people than of the dead. If he means that us humans can get transported across the country and show up before somebody, wraith-like, and say "Surprise! Surprise!" then I can guarantee you that it would be a surprise.

Dr. Hart is getting, I suppose, into the deeper realms of psychology, and I am going to stay out. It has always been enough for me that ghosts are people (?) who should be given a wide berth; or, to put it another way, people between you and whom you should try to put the greatest distance.

The first experience with ghostly affairs, I suppose, always came with the haunted house. No town was ever without one, and no kid failed to be thrilled and chilled by one. The first haunted house I came in contact with was not one of those many-storied old mansions that you see on the covers of mystery books. It was just a tumbled-down shack down by the creek, but somebody had advised it was haunted, so my gang of urchins believed it.

Naturally, we would not go closer than 50 yards of it, in bright daylight, and stayed much farther than that at night. But even at the safe distance we could see flashing lights and hear strange noises. I suppose there were reflections easily explained, and that shutters or loose doors could hang like gunshots, and cats could yowl like something unearthly, but for our purposes, the house was haunted, and so I intend to this good day.

Ghosts surely must wander even in sound, inhabited homes. Those noises one can hear late at night can not always be mice in the attic, or a strange animal under the house. Those moaning sounds outside the window surely are not always the wind in the wires; and those noises of stealth certainly are not just branches brushing the screen. Not when you are alone on a windy, dampish, dismal night.

Say, for the instance, that you are all by yourself on such a night . . . it's late . . . and the strange noises have been heard, noted and have you in a state of rigidity. And then there comes a tapping at the back door. Yes, a distinct rap. And you summon your courage to get as far as the door, but are without the valor to open it. You stammer, "Who dat?" No answer, at first. And you repeat, in fearful tones. And then, what if there is a muffled voice outside who replies, "Who dat who say who dat?" I know what. You run like one of those demon bats for the front door, hollering for help.

Oh, well, it's just a ghost story.

Practice Faith To Find Faith

My column is almost always concerned with the importance of having faith and suggests ways of putting faith to work in overcoming the various obstacles and difficulties we face in our everyday lives. No doubt some of my readers have asked themselves, "But suppose I have no faith, how do I find it?"

This is an age-old question. The Gospel of St. Mark tells us of the father who brought his sick son to Jesus and asked for help. "If thou canst believe," Jesus told him, "all things are possible to him that believeth."

"Lord, I believe," the father answered. "Help thou mine unbelief." Meaning he wanted to believe but found it hard.

How to overcome unbelief and how to find faith have been subjects of serious study by theologians for centuries. And now other scholars are addressing themselves to this problem with results that support earlier theological conclusions.

A friend of mine has been reading a book by two professors of sociology which is highly critical of much contemporary religious thinking and has passed on to me a paragraph from it which, despite the negative attitude of the sociologists and the somewhat wordy writing, offers an interesting suggestion for finding faith.

"The thesis is," they write, "that one may bring about commitments and involvements that will increase a faith originally feeble. . . . The one who seeks to believe must involve himself in the habits and mechanical ways of belief, and this will help belief itself. . . . One could even conceive a sequence in which a person emotionally desperate and without faith, seeing what he regards as enviable fruits of faith in others, would wish that faith for himself, would further act 'as if he were already committed to faith, and would finally achieve it. It seems to us unnecessary to deny the possibility of such a sequence of events."

I agree with the two professors that this simple truth cannot be denied and I recommend the technique they describe to anyone who may be seeking a stronger faith. For each of us can look around and see what these authors call "the fruits of faith in others" — that is, the result of belief in the lives of people who do believe and who live their belief. It is a good idea carefully to examine the way such people think and live. Then emulate them and their methods. The result will be that you may go far toward finding similar faith for yourself.

If those people whose practical results you would like to achieve are readers of the Bible, then you, too, will profit by reading the Bible regularly, just as they do.

Do they follow a pattern of regular prayer? Then I suggest that you, too, learn their prayer pattern and imitate it.

Do they attend religious services regularly? Then you would do well to begin such regular attendance and make it a habit.

If they tithe, giving a fixed portion of their regular income to church or other religious institutions, and as a result, attain new strength and joy, then you also should plan your own giving accordingly.

I have personally found this an effective technique. You might call it the plan of practicing faith in order to find faith. It really works. Give it a try and I'll guarantee that you will make real progress in finding the strong faith you seek.

West Germany's Steel Into Russia

WASHINGTON—This capital had a visitor the other day who moved about in the highest places with the smiling self-confidence that marks his worldwide operations. Berthold Beitz, No. 1 agent for Germany's Alfred Krupp, was busy pouring oil on slightly troubled waters.

A series of incidents has served to cast doubt on the intention of the powerful Ruhr industrialists who have been among the important backers of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Foremost among them is Krupp, who has emerged 13 years after the end of World War II with a coal and steel empire greater than it was before the war.

Beitz, who travels from one capital to another on business and high politics of big business for his employer, was here ostensibly to reassure Americans about the recent quota that West Germany imposed on American coal. This will have the effect of shutting off most of the U. S. coal that has been exported to Germany. Talking with high administration officials and a half-dozen leading Senators Beitz radiated goodwill and the assurance that something could be worked out.

But what may well be a deeper source of American unhappiness is the contract just signed by three Ruhr steelmakers with Soviet Russia for $18,000,000 of steel pipe for the new 12,000-mile network of oil and gas pipe lines Soviet planners are projecting. In December the Department of Commerce refused an American exporter a license to sell $2,500,000 of similar pipe to Russia.

While American officials are curiously reluctant to talk about the different standard applied by Bonn and Washington, it appears that steel pipe is not on the strategic embargo list agreed to by the Western allies. Since, however, all shipments behind the Iron Curtain must be licensed, the government can exercise its own arbitrary discretion.

What makes this situation so interesting is that since word of the German-Russian steel pipe deal became known, the American exporter has filed an identical application for a license to ship pipe to the Soviet Union. His argument is that if the West German can do it, why can't I? This will be passed on by Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss himself who is almost certain to reject it.

With steel output rising to 80 per cent of capacity from a recession low of less than 50 per cent, American steelmakers are not too anxious for the Russian business. In order to sell to the Russians it is necessary to take manganese or chrome or some other ore in exchange which interrupts normal trade relations.

Because of these same difficulties German officials express doubt that the Ruhr steel masters, even if they had the capacity, would supply any considerable part of the 12,000 miles of pipe. That figure is small, of course, when put alongside the 120,000 or more miles in oil pipe lines alone in this country.

Nevertheless, American businessmen, reading of the German deal, recall that America in the years from 1946 to '51 put at least $4 billion in economic aid into West Germany. Part of it went to rebuild the great Ruhr industrial complex.

With the revival of the Ruhr, Krupp has continued to grow bigger, only recently acquiring Bochumer Verein, which manufactures specialized steels. Under a theoretical January 31 deadline fixed by the Allied decartelization order, Krupp was to sell his company's coal holdings. There is not the slightest evidence any intention ever existed to carry out the decartelization order which is now a dead letter.

The justification for ignoring it is that technological efficiency demands larger and larger units. It is argued, too, that with Krupp and the Ruhr industrialists within the European steel and coal community, the size of the Krupp empire is no longer a threat.

Still another money matter troubles the U. S.—West German relationship. Last year the West German Bundestag sounded off on the necessity for the United States to repay large and small holders for assets taken during the war. The bill is $400,000,000 and it would have to be met by the American taxpayer.

While Secretary of State Dulles at one point gave his official blessing to this claim it is unlikely that an economic-minded Administration will push it. Beneath the large talk of unity and German reunification there are some of the pinpricks troubling the relationship between the wartime enemies who are today close allies.

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 6:31-32 — "Do not be anxious, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For the Gentiles seek all these things; and your heavenly Father knows that you need them all." (RSV)

One of our commonest sins is anxiety about material things—food, clothing, money, success. "All these things" are so much the measure of our life in this world that we give them far more of ourselves than they deserve. They are not life, but only the incidentals of existence. We might gain the whole world and miss life altogether.

So our Lord Jesus teaches us to pray for "our daily bread" and to trust our Heavenly Father for our needs. Then He bids us seek those things which the pagan world does not seek—God's "kingdom and His righteousness." God's rule in our hearts will probably not lead to great possessions. It is not the way to get the things most people are striving for. It is the way to something else, worth far more—"love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control"—the fruit of the Spirit.

Try Self-Discipline

Maureen O'Hara believes that looking your best is the result of disciplining your habits. She is presently preparing a TV series for CBS and has just cut her first album of "Love Letters."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Facial Exercises For Youthful Appearance

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Maureen O'Hara has been starred in 30 pictures, but her enthusiasm over recording her first record album of "Love Letters" makes one realize that the grass seems greener in other fields.

"Hollywood would not trust me with a musical," Maureen explained, "and since I've paid for all my own singing lessons, it is gratifying to feel that I've not been wasting my time."

The tea kettle began to sing. Maureen excused herself and came back surprisingly soon with a tea cart loaded with goodies.

"How do you indulge like this and still keep your figure?" I asked.

"Exercise and common sense," Maureen replied quickly. "I like to play golf, swim and walk, and when it comes to food I use discipline. Indulging is for special occasions. For everyday eating I have good habits."

I admired Maureen's beautifully fitted sheath, and the talk turned to clothes and how pleasant it is that the shapeless dresses had gone out of fashion.

from the male members of my family.

"What kind of clothes do they dislike?" I asked.

"Let me tell you what they like," she answered. "A good bust and waist line, the two most feminine parts of a woman's figure. Now and then I will come home with a lovely dress, but if it is not flattering to me they're quick to point this out."

"If you don't have a male audience to consult," Maureen advised, "get a full-length mirror and try to be objective about yourself. Discover what looks best on you and make no concession to this. I'm five-eight, and as soon as I saw myself in a knee-length skirt I knew the proportions were all wrong. Every girl has a point on her leg which is most flattering. She can make concessions up or down, but she has to consider herself and her individuality before fashion."

Maureen was sitting in the revealing light of an afternoon sun, and I was able to see the clear radiant texture of her skin.

"I dislike make-up on me, and I was determined to take such good care of my complexion that I would be able to go without," Maureen confided. "After a day on the set I really work to be sure that my face is thoroughly clean. I use a cream to cut the make-up, and then I wash with soap and water and scrub with a soft tooth brush in a rotating motion. Then I rinse with warm water and finish with lots of cold water."

"My mother, who was an actress with Dublin's Abbey Theater has beautiful skin, and she advised me against getting in the sun. You only have to look around you to see the way it makes the texture lined and leathery," she exclaimed.

Bronwyn, her teen-age daughter, came into the room, and it was startling to see how much she had grown since I last saw her.

"You certainly don't look old enough to own her," I said, once we were alone again.

"With care I think it's possible to keep your birthdays from showing," Maureen declared. "I believe in exercising my neck and face. It is common knowledge that a muscle loses its tone when it isn't used, so we should learn how to give the face and neck a workout. My mother is not young but the line of her throat is still firm. She told me long ago that if I intended to be an actress I should begin early to take care of myself. She showed me a series of exercises that she practiced faithfully. I have done these regularly ever since." Maureen confessed.

KEEP A YOUTHFUL FACE
It is much easier to retain than regain facial muscle-tone. But whether you want to correct-sagging muscles or keep them firm, you'll benefit by Maureen O'Hara's suggestions

Give Cupid Boost With A Valentine Meringue

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Your best beau has probably chosen your Valentine. How about returning the compliment?

The best way we know to a man's heart on Cupid's Day is, as usual, through something delectable to taste.

We have yet to find the man, woman or child who didn't enjoy a sweet meringue filled with a tangy lemon cream. It's not a spanking-new recipe, to be sure, but it does bear repeating.

To suit the day, it's simple to make the meringue an appropriate shape. No special pan needed?

This is how we do it. Fold a piece of brown paper (10 inches wide and 11 inches long) in half and cut out a heart pattern.

Now line a large cookie sheet with heavy-duty foil. Place the pattern on the foil; mark around the heart with a toothpick, being careful not to cut through the foil. Remove the pattern.

Bring foil up along lines of pattern to make heart-shaped container, leaving sides deep enough to hold the meringue. Now your heart shape is ready to fill with meringue and bake. Here's the recipe for the shell and filling:

MERINGUE

Ingredients: 4 egg whites, 1/4 tsp salt, 1 tsp. cream of tartar, 1 cup sugar, Lemon Cream Filling, Strawberry and lemon garnish.

Method: In a large mixing bowl beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until whites are very thick, shiny and hold firm straight peaks.

Add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating after each addition; continue beating until whites are very thick, shiny and hold firm straight peaks.

Spoon meringue onto heart pattern marked on foil on cookie sheet, building up sides and scooping out center. Bake in slow (275 degrees) oven 1 hour.

Turn off oven; keep oven door closed and allow meringue to stand in shut-off oven 1 hour to dry. Remove and gently peel off foil.

Place meringue heart on flat serving dish; fill center with lemon cream filling just before serving.

Outline filling with halved strawberries (fresh or frozen) and arrange fancy-cut slices of lemon and a whole strawberry in center. Tucked-in small green leaves also look pretty in the center garnish.

FILLING

Ingredients: 4 egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar, Salt, 1/4 cup water.

For Your Valentine

This lemon meringue is an easy-to-fix Valentine for your favorite beau. The best way to a man's heart on Valentine Day, as well as any other day, is by whipping up something as tasty and attractive as this confection.

Stand in shut-off oven 1 hour to dry. Remove and gently peel off foil.

Place meringue heart on flat serving dish; fill center with lemon cream filling just before serving.

Outline filling with halved strawberries (fresh or frozen) and arrange fancy-cut slices of lemon and a whole strawberry in center. Tucked-in small green leaves also look pretty in the center garnish.

FILLING

Ingredients: 4 egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar, Salt, 1/4 cup water.

The heart-shaped meringue shell may be made and baked, covered with airtight moisture-proof wrapping and stored in the freezer. When it is to be served, it should be unwrapped and thawed at room temperature for several hours, then the lemon filling may be added.

Refreshments were served to 12 members and visitor, Mrs. Etzelle McKaskle.

School Menu Told For This Week

Variety in the lunches to be served at the local school cafeterias should provide a pleasing choice for appetites of all students. Here's the menu:

MONDAY: Chili spaghetti, English peas, lettuce wedges, poppy seed rolls, fruit jello, chocolate milk.

TUESDAY: Chicken a la king, rice, green beans, pear halves, cheese biscuits, peanut butter cookies, chocolate milk.

WEDNESDAY: Weiners and kraut, sliced tomatoes, Pinto beans, hush puppies, gingerbread with applesauce, chocolate milk.

THURSDAY: Meat loaf, cheese and spaghetti, Mexican slaw, butter fingers, banana pudding, chocolate milk.

FRIDAY: Smothered steak, mashed potatoes, black-eyed peas, hot rolls, pineapple rice pudding, chocolate milk.

'Scout Man' Here Works With Nearly 1,500 Boys

William T. McRee is the Scout man in the Lone Star Boy Scout District.

But Bill McRee's genius is not in reaching nearly 1,500 boys with the three phases of the Scouting program. It is rather—as with the Scouting movement in general—in organization and promotion.

It is something of a tribute to Scouting that for the 1,447 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers registered in the district last year, Bill McRee was the only professional worker.

How was the job done? The answer is simple—537 volunteers did it. Across the Buffalo Trail the ratio was one paid professional worker to 380 volunteer adults, and that counted in the area executive, activities and program directors as well as the district executives.

In this district McRee works with 65 separate units (packs, troops, posts) and some 40 separate sponsoring institutions. But his principal work is with and through District Chairman Jack Alexander and the district operating committees and District Commissioner Carl Campbell.

"These are the men who shape and stimulate the program of Scouting," said McRee. "I simply try to help them in their planning, their promotion of the program of activities and the extension of Scouting through organization and training."

Once there was a tendency on the part of some to regard the district executive as a sort of super-scoutmaster, but this attitude has changed, according to McRee. Through the monthly roundtables and the training sessions, he comes in contact with

Busy Program Is Outlined For Scouts In '59

If all Scouts take part in the programs outlined by the Lone Star District committee this year, they will have a good round of activities.

Practically all phases of Scouting will be covered by district-wide programs this year, starting next month.

Under the direction of Dr. Clyde Thomas and Fred Beckham, the district has a first aid meet lined up for March 13. The competition will be held in the HCC gym, and about 40 first aid teams are expected to participate.

The competition is open to any scout in the district, which encompasses Howard, Martin, Sterling and Glasscock counties, and is to better train the boys in first aid skills.

Next big event on the year's calendar—and big is hardly the word—is the annual Big Spring council-wide Roundup set here for April 17 and 18. Last year, the annual scouting get-together drew a record 1,486 boys and even more are expected this spring.

It is by far the largest council event of the year numberwise, including summer camps. It has been held here for about 25 years. Scouts from all 18 counties in the council will start arriving Thursday night and stay through Saturday noon. A huge barbecue will bring the Roundup to a close Saturday.

While here, the boys will take part in every type of scouting skill in competition with the other boys and their troops. It is held on the Roundup grounds south of Big Spring.

Two summer camps are on the Scout schedule for boys in the District, one being the aquatic camp at newly constructed Camp Ed Murphy on Lake J. B. Thomas.

About 100 boys per week can be handled at the camp, and here, the Scouts take their training in lifesaving, swimming, boating, canoeing, and other aquatic events. This camp will start June 14, and about eight to 10 weeks of camp will be conducted, depending on the number of boys interested.

Camp at the Buffalo Trail Council Ranch near Fort Davis will begin June 7 and continue for approximately six weeks. This is the council camp which has been in use for several years.

For the Scouts interested in more summer camping, there will be trips to the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, a 127,000-acre ranch in the hills for advanced Scouts. Also on the summer program is a Canadian canoe trip which some scouts may take advantage of.

Come fall, the scouts in the district look forward to the annual circus and membership roundup.

Bad Mishap

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Patrolman P. Bonnell saw a moving automobile strike a parked automobile and keep moving. He had no trouble following it—the accident jammed the horn of the hit-and-run driver.

Churches of all faiths sponsor more than half of America's 120,000 Scout units.

'Good Turn' Project Pays Big Dividend

The lives saved and the injuries prevented will never be counted, but Scout leaders are confident their boys' "safety good turn" in 1958 is paying and will continue to pay big dividends.

"Safety Good Turn" was a nationwide Scout project aimed at spreading safety education, eliminating accident hazards and providing knowledge of how to act in emergencies.

In the local Scout district, no fewer than 800 boys participated in some phase of the project, W. T. McRee, district executive, estimated. Their activities reached into thousands of homes.

The program was divided into three categories:

1. Traffic safety, stressed during the first part of the year.
2. Water and outdoor safety, a summer project.
3. Safety in the home, fall and winter phase of the program.

Several units took part in the traffic safety portion of the safety good turn. Cooperating with them were the police and sheriff's departments, the Citizens Traffic Commission and other agencies. Things that make traffic safer were stressed, and the Scouts spread the word against riding on the outside of an automobile, or hanging from the back or side of a truck or pickup.

In the water safety program during the summer, safe swimming practices were taught, with special emphasis given to the importance of testing water holes before diving, the roping off of shallow areas for non-swimmers, lifeguard supervision, and the technique of "Throw, Row, Go" in the rescue of drowning victims.

"If possible, throw something to him," the Scouts were told. "If you can't throw, row a boat to his rescue. Only as a last resort should you swim within a drowning person's reach."

Boat safety also was taught, with the Scouts instructed to never leave their boat in the water. Even if capsized, it will float and support several persons. Always wait for help. Never try to swim to shore from a capsized boat.

During the fall, Cub Scouts conducted home safety inspections and had their parents answer questionnaires on home safety hazards. They also distributed 8,000 copies of the Civil Defense "Handbook for Emergencies" to homes throughout the district.

McRee estimated that at least 60 per cent of the Scout units in the Lone Star District participated in Safety Good Turn. At least 800 boys were involved.

Although it wasn't a part of that program, gun safety was taught during the year at the summer rifle range operated by a National Rifle Assn. representative.

"The program created a lot of safety consciousness," McRee said. "We expect it to pay off for many years."

WILLIAM T. (Bill) McREE Lone Star District Scout Executive

the unit leaders (the Cubmasters, Explorer advisors) who are the key men in Scouting. His work with these volunteers determines in a large measure the success of Scouting.

McRee didn't have the opportunities of Scouting when he was growing up on a ranch near Spearman in the Texas Panhandle. He managed to get in some Lone Scouting, a program in the early days for boys isolated by distance.

When he landed a football scholarship at the University of Kansas, he got interested in Scouting by serving as an assistant Scoutmaster in 1931.

He and Jeanette Frowe, whom he met at KU, were married in 1932. McRee got an appointment as postmaster and served for nearly four years. In 1935 he opened a service station at Roswell, N. M. and with a going business professional Scouting never entered his mind.

However, he had served as assistant scoutmaster, as troop committee man and chairman for the First Baptist Church troop in Roswell, N. M. Moreover, as the father of three daughters the kind of boys became more important than ever. Scouters convinced him the best contribution he could make would be to make Scouting a career. So at the age of 37 in 1942, he closed his business and went off to national scouting training school.

Starting in January of 1943, he served the Eastern New Mexico Council for nine years—four years in Hobbs, two in Roswell and three in Carlsbad—as field executive.

Then he went to Beaumont for two years as field director for the Trinity-Neches Council. On Jan. 1, 1954 he succeeded James O. Hale as district executive here. In his four years of service, the boy enrollment in Scouting has more than doubled for the district, outstripping the council rate of gain by about 25 per cent.

He is active in the Rotary Club and other civic affairs, in the First Baptist Church. He and Mrs. McRee have three daughters, Nancy (Mrs. Charles Dowdally, Albuquerque, N. M.), Sharon (Mrs. Bill Croager, Tatum, N. M.) and Kathy, a student at Texas Tech. The McRees have their home at 1905 Morrison.

Volunteer Leaders 'Power' Scouting

The power behind the Boy Scout organization is the massive bloc of men who give of their time and talents to see that the Scouts have an adequate program.

In the local Lone Star District which takes in Howard, Martin, Glasscock, and Sterling counties several dozen men are working with the Scouting movement with the little direct contact with the individual troops, packs or posts. These men make up the district committees which direct operations of the Scout organizations and see that plans are made for their support.

Jack R. Alexander is the district chairman of the local district and he has W. D. Caldwell and Cliff Epps as assistant chairmen. Executive secretary for the district is Bill McRee.

Under Alexander is the district commissioner, Carl E. Campbell and seven operating committees. These seven committees oversee every phase of Scouting.

Dr. Clyde E. Thomas is chairman of the Health and Safety Committee which naturally handles matters dealing with personal as well as group safety programs.

This committee is in charge of the annual first aid competition which pits troop in first aid skills. Working with Dr. Thomas on his committee are Dr. Fabian Gomez and Otto Peters Sr.

Advancement work comes under the direction of a committee bearing that name which is headed by Sam Mellinger. It is the job of the advancement committee to have men trained in various fields to work with the boys.

C. W. Parmenter and John Malone are vice chairmen of the committee, and working with them are Capt. Earl Lohringer, Wayne Burns, Ed Carpenter and Carol Belton.

Joe Pickle heads the Public Relations Committee and he has J. N. Young Jr. as his assistant chairman. The committee has the responsibility of putting the Scouting program before the people.

Leadership Training Committee work is with adult leaders of the Scouting movement and entails a variety of assignments since each of the Cubs, Scout and Explorer groups have different leadership needs.

Ben F. Johnson is chairman of this committee, and he has his committee divided into Scout, Cub, and Explorer leadership teams. On the Scout team are Capt. Lohringer, Melvin Coleman, Garrett Patton, Bert Andries.

Working with the Cubs are C. G. McCurtrey, Verlin Knous, S. L. Cahoon, Sgt. H. E. Butler, and Edsel McCrear. Gene Campbell and Turner Ferguson work the Explorers.

Champ Rainwater is chairman of the Finance Committee, and has Douglas Orme and Cecil Bridges of Stanton on his committee.

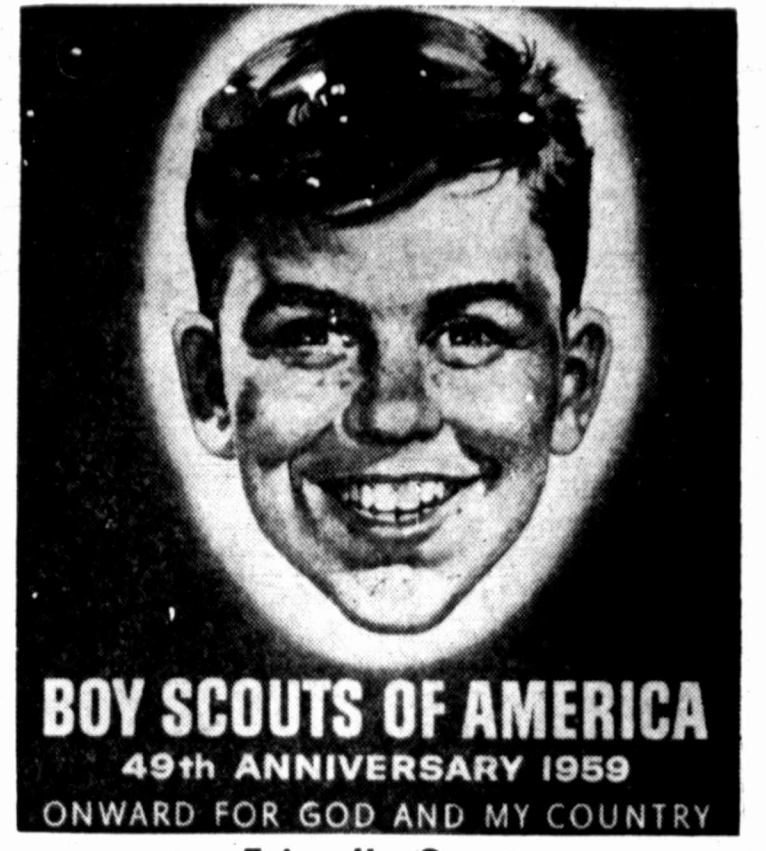

Cliff Epps, in addition to being a district vice chairman, heads the Camping & Activities Committee. He has Sherman Smith, Sam McComb, Jim McCoy of Stanton, M. R. Koger, Denton Marsalis, James Sage, Chester Coffman, and Capt. Ernest Bauman working with him.

Sam Anderson is chairman of the Organization & Extension Committee, and working with him are William C. Gray, R. P. Nicholson, Charles Weeg, and Bennett Brooke on his committee. This group is in charge of organizing new units and finding areas where additions units are needed.

Overseeing and working with the various committees is the commissioner's staff.

Serving under Carl Campbell, the district commissioner, as assistant commissioners are Fred Beckham, Jerry Mancel, Harold Talbot, and C. W. Dickerson. Bill Quimby is director of the Scoutmaster's Roundtable, Dr. Marvin Baker leads the Cubmaster's Roundtable, and Gene Campbell handles the Explorer Roundtable.

Neighborhood commissioners working are Dr. H. T. Hansen, Edward Moren, Ed Brown, Charles Swamey, Melvin Moelling, Chester Cabby, Dr. Gale Page, Marvin Hanson, Chesley McDonald of Sterling City and A. B. Cramer of Coahoma.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA 49th ANNIVERSARY 1959 ONWARD FOR GOD AND MY COUNTRY

Friendly Scout

This official Boy Scout poster portrays the theme of this year's observance—A Scout Is Friendly. This is the 49th anniversary of the Scout movement, and 1959 will be the fourth and final year of the "Onward for God and My Country" program. Scout Week is to be observed all this week, and several churches plan special programs today in recognition of Boy Scout Sunday.

1959 'Scout Week' Marks Agency's 49th Anniversary

Boy Scout Week, marking the 49th anniversary of the organization in America, will be observed for the week ending Friday, February 13.

Boys and leaders have arranged programs involving parents of the units, and officials of numerous communities, large and small.

The final year of the Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," is launched during this anniversary.

Units who have successfully carried out activities in each of the three phases of our National Safety Good Turn of last year will be honored. These activities covered traffic, outdoor, and home safety.

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed today in many churches with Scouts and leaders attending services in uniform. Those of Jewish faith will hold their observances in synagogues and temples tomorrow (Friday) evening and Saturday.

This anniversary stresses the "Scout is friendly" part of the Scout Law each member takes. For many units there will be parents night meetings, reunions, dinners recognizing new Eagle Scouts, exhibits of Scout handicraft, observances in school assemblies, courts of honor at which Scouts will be honored for their accomplishments, and visits by Scouts to industrial plants and military installations.

Family Affair

Just how important family backing is in Scouting is exemplified here. At left is M. Sgt. Harry F. Combs with Mrs. Combs and their son Richard A. Combs. Those on the right are Narriss Nelson Clemow III and his parents, M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. N. Clemow II. Both boys have attained the highest rank in Scouting, that of Eagle. Moreover, they have reached the pinnacle in the Explorer program with a Silver award. Nelson has achieved the third top award for boy-church relationship by earning the God and Country award and Richard is only one step away from this. Both boys are members of Troop No. 9 at Wesley Methodist Church, and both have been encouraged all the way in their Scouting experience.

New Explorer Program Being Put Into Operation This Year

A new Explorer Scout program, open to boys when they are 14 and in the ninth grade, or when they're 15 regardless of grade, is being put into operation this year by Boy Scouts of America.

The boys can be Explorers only as members of Explorer posts, ships or squadrons. As the old troop charters expire, the present Explorers in Scout troops can remain there if they desire, but they will be Boy Scouts and may wear the new "senior" strip on their uniforms.

Membership in the new Explorer setup is geared to enrollment in high school, as well as age. Explorers will have more interests and abilities in common, because of the relationship, and activities will receive greater emphasis.

A standard admission ceremony will be used in all posts to welcome the new members. Post meetings will be held regularly at least twice a month, comprising a short business session and an activity. At least one separate activity per month is required, additional ones may be arranged if members have the time and inclination.

The planning program operates on a monthly basis. At each meeting of officers, the activities for the current month are given a final checkup, and the program for the next month is planned in general. The general plans then are turned over to activity committees to complete and conduct.

Planning is thus done a month at a time one month in advance. Scout leaders say the time involved is in line with a young man's span of interest.

An outstanding feature of the new Explorer program is the special interest facet. If a post concentrates most of its activities in one field of interest, it has a specialty. This concentration may continue for months or years and then change to another specialty or none at all. A new post may be organized on the basis of a specialty by a sponsor that has the same interest; for example, a science post by an industrial laboratory, or an auto mechanics post by a high school.

There are six general "experience areas" for the new Explorer program. They are social, vocational, outdoor, personal fitness, service and citizenship.

There are two types of officers in the new organization — those commissioned by the sponsoring institution and those elected by the members. New titles of the elected leaders are post president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, quartermaster, and two cabinet representatives. Commissioned officers are the advisor and associate (formerly assistant) advisor.

The activity committees, consultants and cabinets help to coordinate the general program for the unit.

In addition to the traditional green uniform and red jacket, a blue blazer has been designed for casual wear with gray slacks and maroon tie. The blazer's campus styling and the distinctive emblem on the pocket are attractive to teen-agers, both boys and girls.

The incentive toward personal development by means of an individual award will be concentrated on the Eagle Award. The simplification of this form of recognition becomes feasible through the continuous modernization of merit badge requirements and emphasis on their vocational aspects. An alternative Explorer method of attaining Eagle still includes the traditional requirement of 21 merit badges.

Exploring in posts now becomes broader in scope, more flexible and balanced in content, and simpler in method. Almost any worthwhile activity can be included, temporarily or as a specialty. The activities are adaptable to the interests and abilities of members and leaders, supplemented by consultants.

The six experience areas encourage a balanced variety of activities. Post structure and procedures are like those of adult organizations, which these young men will join in a few years.

In keeping with American tradition, an Explorer post is a representative democracy. Members elect officers to represent them in administering the post's affairs. In turn the officers delegate the operation of activities to committees. Election to office and appointment to committees are open to all members.

Scouting's ideals and objectives have remained constant since 1910 he said, "while the program, organization methods, and operating techniques have changed as the result of study and understanding of changing conditions and as necessary to meet the needs of a rapidly growing organization."

He said the greatest influence in Scouting's growth has been the dedicated service of laymen willing to invest their time, their energy, and their money in the interest of training youth to do their duty to God and country and to preserve and strengthen our heritage and to develop a nation so that it may be spiritually, dynamically, and mentally strong and morally straight.

Calling camping the heart of the Scouting program, the chief scout executive points out that current and anticipated growth would require additional camp sites and facilities. He warned that good camp sites are getting scarcer.

Dr. Schuck entered Scouting as a volunteer leader in 1913 and has been a professional leader since 1917.

Camping Is 'Heart' Of Scout Program, Good Year Reported

Camping has been described as the heart of Scouting, and by that token the Buffalo Trail Council had a good year in 1958.

Records reported by James E. Payne, Colorado City, chairman of camping and activities, show that 1,114 boys took part in long-term camping (which does not include over-night and weekend hikes and camping trips). There are 9,805 boys registered in the Scouting program, but only 4,521 of these are in the Scouts and Explorers, who are eligible for long-term camps. Hence, one in every four boys in the out-doors program was in a long term camp, and 30 per cent were camping for a week or more.

Forty-five per cent of all the troops or Explorer posts had long term camps.

Fifty-seven boys from the council went to the national Boy Scout Philmont Ranch in northern New Mexico.

The Big Spring Round Up, which has been held every year for more than three decades, drew a record of 1,386 Scouts for its weekend program. Another 240 took part in a similar Round Up at Poyote in the western end of the council.

Over the council, four Scout Expositions were held, one of them in Big Spring, and one district staged a Scout circus.

The big project for the year was a safety good turn, and here more than 7,000 boys participated along with 3,132 adults.

Percentage-wise, the Lone Star District of the council had the best record of boys in long-term camp. It ranked second in the total number of boys in camp and first in the number of units. (El Centro district, which edged this one out in number of boys has a total membership of 2,383, whereas Lone Star has 1,447 boys.)

This year the two major camping events will be the Scout Ranch opening in the Davis Mountains June 7 for six successive weeks, and Camp Ed Murphy, the aquatic camp at Lake J. B. Thomas, opening June 14 for as many weeks as the demand will warrant. This facility has a kitchen and dining hall, infirmary, utility building, water purification building, docks, boats, canoes, and a sailboat.

Big Increase In Boys Wanting Scouting Is Due

America faces a large increase in the number of boys eight to 16 years of age during the next five years, says Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

In a message to the nation's 536 local Boy Scout councils on the 49th anniversary of the organization being observed during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-13, Dr. Schuck called for sound planning "predicated on an understanding and knowledge of the current situation as well as past growth and development."

He said that today there are 3,617,000 boy members in the organization or 24.6 per cent of the 14,722,000 boys between the ages of eight and 16.

In order to maintain the same ratio at the end of 1963, when there will be 16,963,000 boys of those ages, there should be 4,173,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers, Dr. Schuck said. To reach one-third would mean 5,648,000 boy members.

The Cub Scout program for boys eight, nine, and ten years old is now reaching one of every three boys of those ages. Boy Scouting for ages from 11 through 17 attracts one in every four of those ages, while Exploring for those 14 years old, and in the ninth grade and through age 17 reaches one of every nine.

Current total membership is above 4,780,000 boys and leaders. Since 1910, he added, more than 29,500,000 persons have been in the Boy Scouts of America.

"We must strive to make Scouting available to every boy in America," Dr. Schuck wrote.

"Looking ahead for the next five years," says the chief scout executive, "we must recognize that never has it been so important or imperative that the youth of our nation be trained in high idealism, acquired through unselfish service, by self-reliance, and cooperative effort.

"They must understand and practice the basic principles on which our nation was founded and recognize that security is the fruit of freedom and that without freedom, there can be no security."

Dr. Schuck entered Scouting as a volunteer leader in 1913 and has been a professional leader since 1917.

Scouting's ideals and objectives have remained constant since 1910 he said, "while the program, organization methods, and operating techniques have changed as the result of study and understanding of changing conditions and as necessary to meet the needs of a rapidly growing organization."

Advancement Held At Steady Level

Advancement in the Buffalo Trail Council held on a steady level during 1958.

In fact the 3,455 separate items of advancements exceeded the total of 1957 by only four. It fell short of the peak year of 1956 when there were 3,770 awards of advancement.

However, there was a better balance of advancement. While Cubbing dropped to 2,236 (from the peak of 2,706 in 1956, there were gains in Scouting and Explorers. Scouts posted 1,159 advancements last year as against a peak two years ago when 990 advanced one or more ranks. Explorers posted 170 rank advancements, more than twice the 67 in 1957 and the 74 in 1955.

Last year 1,095 youngsters earned their Wolf awards, 547 their Bear awards, 323 their Lions, and another 271 their Webelos, which is the final rank in Cubbing as a boy graduates into the Scouts.

At the Scout level, there were 626 boys passing their second class test, 256 their first class, another 155 their Star Scout award (five merit badges). Another 69 earned Live (10 merit badges) and 53 their Eagle (21 merit badges, of which more than half are required).

Those in the Explorer division earned 77 Bronze awards, 58 Gold awards, and 35 the Silver award — which is comparable to but does not supersede the Eagle.

The Lone Star District always has been one of the council leaders in advancement, and although the record at the lower levels was off this year, the total for 1958 was impressive.

Among the Cubs there were 99 earning the Wolf award, 48 the Bear, 24 the Lion and 18 the Webelos along with 743 Gold and Silver Arrow points.

Among the Scouts, 95 got to be second class, 48 first class, 22 Star, 7 Life, 3 Eagle. They earned 256 merit badges.

There were 92 Explorers who earned ratings, 28 who got the Bronze award, 14 the Gold and 13 the (highest) Silver award. There were 183 merit badges earned. Among the older boys 3 earned second class badges, 8 the first class, 5 the Star, five the Life and 6 the Eagle. (Combining basic advancement of Scouts and Explorers, there were 98 second class, 56 first class, 27 Star, 12 Life, 9 Eagle and 13 Silver.)

Foundation of the Scout program is the Scout Oath and the Scout Law.

"They reveal the spirit of Scouting," says the Scoutmaster's handbook.

The two codes form an excellent guide for anyone to live by. A thorough knowledge of both is required of all Tenderfoot Scouts.

Here is the Scout Oath:

"On my honor I will do my best — to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The Scout Law:

1. A Scout is trustworthy.
2. A Scout is loyal.
3. A Scout is helpful.
4. A Scout is friendly.
5. A Scout is courteous.
6. A Scout is kind.
7. A Scout is obedient.
8. A Scout is cheerful.
9. A Scout is thrifty.
10. A Scout is brave.
11. A Scout is clean.
12. A Scout is reverent.

More than 29,500,000 boys and leaders have been in the Boy Scouts of America since 1910.

Special Events To Mark Scout Week

Scout Week will be brought to the attention of Big Springers through church services, civic club programs, and downtown displays.

Several churches in the city have planned special Scout programs today honoring the members of the respective troops.

These services are planned at the First Christian, St. Paul Presbyterian, and at Wesley Methodist churches. Other churches may schedule portions of their programs using Scouts.

At least two civic clubs will have Scouts presenting the program during the week. Scouts are to be on the program for the week-ly Kiwanis and Rotary Club meetings.

Posters and window displays in several downtown businesses will also remind Big Springers of the Boy Scout week activities.

Explorer Scouts have a new uniform to go with their new program. Jake Glickman, left, and Richard Combs model their new blazers, white shirts and ties. The new program is geared to the activities of high school boys. It became effective Jan. 1.

Revamped Program For Explorers Proving Popular In This District

Proving extremely popular with young men of this area is the new Explorer Scout program, according to W. T. (Bill) McRee, district scout executive.

The new program, put into operation after several years of extensive research, is designed to be attractive to boys of high school age whether or not they have ever been members of the organization.

Typical of its acceptance, said McRee, is the new Explorer unit formed at Stanton 10 days ago. Thirty-three boys enrolled at the initial meeting of the unit.

Formation of the Explorer post followed the showing of a film which explains the new program. A similar reception was given the movie at Forsan. It is now planned to show the film in Big Spring High School, with girls as well as boys to be invited, said McRee.

Behind the new Explorer program are the schools, churches, civic organizations and other institutions which serve as sponsors because of their interest in the development of high school age boys. They provide leadership and meeting facilities for the units they sponsor, McRee explained.

Exploring is a program of activity based on the teen-ager's special interests — science, yachting, radio, outboards, hi-fi, hunting, fishing, camping, etc. Social functions, civic projects, expeditions, vocational investigations all are woven around these special interests. All the activities are planned to develop character and train for citizenship.

Before the new program was developed, a great deal of preparation, research and study was undertaken by the National Office of the Boy Scouts of America to determine what boys of high school age want, need, and what they are ready for. The survey, conducted by the University of Michigan, covered a scientifically determined cross section of 2½ million boys of this age level and sought to find out:

1. What are the dominant needs, problems, and concerns of 14-to-16-year-old boys?
2. How much leisure time do boys have? What non-leisure demands do they have on their time?
3. What are boys' principal leisure activities? What do they most like to do?
4. How important a part do voluntary group memberships play in boys' lives?
5. What are the sources of motivation for joining groups? Who are the boys who do not join?

The first thing to emerge from the study was the dual nature of a boy's psychological life at this period — his concerns, worries, needs, and his satisfactions, both in the present and in the future. For example, their concerns include problems in the future, that is, the question of vocational choice and achievement and, on the other hand, very immediate concerns, such as whether to try out for basketball or boxing.

Coming of age, the problem of shifting from childhood dependence to adult independence takes up a considerable portion of a boy's concern and attention. That boys strive for adulthood was clear throughout the interviews upon which the survey was based. They do not desire simply the outward signs of adulthood — it is not "being given adult privileges" or "being praised by parents" which makes them feel important and needed. It is most often — and more than two-thirds of the boys said this — being in a role where they feel in themselves the expression of adult qualities.

The task of becoming adult is unfinished at this age, the survey showed. Almost half the boys, when asked what they would like to change about themselves, list changes in just those areas that define adulthood in their view. They would like to have greater control over their actions and be more responsible. They also wish for more skill in social relations. Relations with family members were also indicated, of course, as a source of concern. But 41 per cent of the boys named a family member as an ideal figure whom they hoped to emulate in adulthood, and the survey showed that this age group is markedly more dependent on parental standards and parental guidance than might have been anticipated.

Furthermore, the influence of their associates, "the pressure of the gang," while important, often operated in the lack of adult standards and not in disregard of them. The finding was that boys of 14 to 16 have not yet developed strong inner standards of their own and that they are vulnerable to pressure, even when it operates against their own conscious preferences.

However, relationships to parents were shown to be very great factors, and, in addition to their reliance and emotional focusing on parents, most boys consider their folks both tolerant and reasonable!

It was shown, among many other factors, that the most important needs and concerns of boys center on attainment of maturity and achievement of success in some field. Job future and the need to make a job choice were also strong concerns. Relationships with girls were raised as a source of concern by only about a fifth of the boys interviewed.

This is, of course, only the barest summary of some of the findings. But with this broad basis, and Scouting's years of cumulative experience in working with boys, the new Exploring program has been carefully developed.

The biggest visual change is in the uniform. Although the regular field uniform of forest green will remain pretty much the same, an alternate dress of a blue blazer with the new Explorer emblem sewn on the left-hand pocket, worn with white shirt, maroon tie, gray slacks, and black shoes and socks is now offered. This is meant for use at affairs such as social events and vocational explorations where the Explorers will be meeting with people outside of the movement.

Explorer activities are self-initiated, planned, and carried out by boys, with adult advisors and consultants in a balanced variety of six areas of experience — social, vocational, outdoor, personal fitness, service, and citizenship.

The variety of activities can only be mentioned: splash parties, a sports sampling, coed picnics, a woodmen's meet, a hunter's safety course, Mother's Day party, a career parade, a glamour panel, entertaining shut-in youngsters, a wildlife cafeteria, a field sports tournament, military service preview, hobby smorgasbord, waterfront maneuvers, camp site survey, boat safety demonstration, help wanted night, money earning projects, business, ownership investigations, winter sports carnival, finance campaigning, services to sponsors, display camps, campus visits, budget building, consumers' clinics, emergency service training, family life forum, spotlighting a career, and many others.

These are the activities that Explorer posts throughout the country are planning and doing.

There are nearly 350,000 Explorers throughout the United States, with their adult advisors and consultants, and there is room for more as new units are organized with adult help and the support of the community. The new program is based on what high school age boys want and need, and thousands of them are ready for it, ready to join the ranks of the 28 million who have been and are being influenced by Scouting, said McRee.

One feature of the new program will enable an Explorer post to adopt a specialty if it desires, in addition to its regular well-rounded program. The specialty chosen makes possible the assistance of experts and the use of necessary equipment and facilities. It is expected that posts will adopt and change their specialties from time to time. In launching the new program, a total of 55 sample specialties are suggested.

Scouting's basic aims of character building and citizenship training are emphasized in the Explorer Code which includes duty to God and service to fellow men. Within this framework the new Exploring program endeavors to help young people live together and enjoy life in a wholesome, normal fashion; to understand good sportsmanship and team play; and through adventuresome, challenging activities develop personal fitness, and acquire social graces.

Variety Of Units Makes Up Lone Star District Program

There are 26 Boy Scout troops, 27 Cub Packs, 9 Explorer Posts, one Sea Scout Ship and one Air Scout Squadron serving boys in the Lone Star District, Boy Scouts of America.

These serve 1,447 boys and comprise 65 units of operation.

They require the services of a small army of adults who function as scoutmasters, cubmasters, assistant scoutmasters and cubmasters and den mothers. In addition there are counselors, commissioners, advancement committeemen and a host of other organizations which function as a part of the overall scout program for the area.

Banquet Here To Honor High Ranking Scouts

Big Spring will be the host city this month to the annual banquet which honors boys who have become Eagle Scouts or Silver Explorer Scouts during the previous year.

Program chairman is W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring, and the site will be Goliad Junior High cafeteria on Feb. 14. This year there will be 53 boys who have earned the Eagle badge, highest in Scouting, and another 35 who have attained the Silver award, the peak for Explorer Scouts.

Most of these 88 boys will be accompanied by one or both parents, so that officials are expecting upwards of 200 to be here for the banquet.

The Lone Star District furnished nine boys of the 53 in the council attaining to the pinnacle of Eagle.

Of the 35 in the council who reached the Silver rank in Explorers, 13 were from this district.

Farmers' Tax Deadline Near

Farmers and ranchers who bypassed the Jan. 15 deadline for filing estimates of 1958 income should file their final 1958 Federal income tax return by Monday, Feb. 16, to avoid penalty, said Ben M. Hawkins, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service, Big Spring.

Headquarters For The Council Camp

This is part of the headquarters area for the Boy Scout Ranch camp in the Davis Mountains. Except for the "park" which is nestled in the upper reaches of the mountain fastness, this is one of the few "level" spots in the camp area. At right is the trading post section, just east of the mess hall, which is not shown. The area around the flag pole serves as a parade grounds; the building next to the water storage tank on the rise is the infirmary. In normal seasons a small stream runs in the arroyo in the foreground. Scouts camp around the bend away from headquarters.

All Aboard For High Adventure

When Cubs — boys 8-10 years of age — take up their study of railroads, they usually end up with an excursion on the train. Texas & Pacific Railway officials always go out of their way to provide extra coaches to take the youngsters and their leaders to some neighboring city — usually Abilene — for a brief picnic and return the same day. This partial view of the crowd at the station here gives some idea of the popularity of this event.

Leadership Is Perpetual Need In Scout Work

Adult leaders to broaden the Boy Scout program and continue its efficient operation pose one of the major problems facing the organization.

There are always boys eager and anxious to become scouts. The task is to find public spirited men and women willing to devote the time, patience and skill needed as leaders of these boys.

A continuous training program to prepare volunteers for this vital community service is carried on by the Lone Star Council on a year-round basis.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, is chairman of the vital adult training program in Howard County. A tireless worker and a warm supporter of the scout movement, Hunt has kept the training program moving ahead at exceptional speed. It was estimated that at least 60 per cent of the adults completed required training last year. Those trained are scoutmasters, assistants, cubmasters and den mothers.

Special training teams carry on the work dealing with the specific field in which the volunteer will serve. These programs designed to qualify adult leaders for each phase of the movement — den mothers and cub masters; scoutmasters and assistants and explorers advisors.

Replacements are often needed to keep organized troops, dens and posts going. By a continuous and active training program, the council can have reserves on hand ready to step in where needed. Such reserves also make it easy to activate new troops where there is a demand for such organization. A plea for more volunteers for this important phase of the movement was made by Dr. Hunt.

He pointed out the important contribution that the scout movement makes in citizen development and of the urgent need in these trying times for a broadening of the base for better citizens.

The task of being a leader in a scout group is not an easy one but it offers a fine reward in the friendship and admiration of the youngsters and in the realization that the effort expended by the leader is helping the boys to grow up into good citizens and solid Americans.

New Opportunities Always Available

Advancement in the Boy Scout movement is a progressive operation in which the industry, achievement and interest of the boy is the prime factor.

Once he has attained any rank in the organization, there are other new and intriguing opportunities opened for him.

He earns the right to these honors and before they are bestowed on him, he has to demonstrate to the satisfaction of a jury of Scout leaders that he has truly qualified for the recognition he seeks.

Boys can enter the Boy Scout movement as "Cubs" where they are first introduced to the program of scouting and its exciting opportunities. As a Cub, the youth moves through a series of advances, each carefully planned to fit his capacities. But in this phase of his career, as later on, he must prove that he has earned the elevation in rank which he seeks.

He begins as a Bobcat—a designation he achieves by learning and giving the Cub Scout promise; reciting the law of the pack and explaining its meaning; tell what Webelos means; show the Cub sign and handshake telling what they mean and reciting the Cub Scout Motto and explaining its meaning.

There are "achievement" awards for Cubs and ultimately they pass through a series of advancements which prepares them for the time when they are Webelos—just under age to become a Boy Scout—and when they are eligible to enroll and become Boy Scouts.

In the Boy Scout organization they begin by qualifying as a tenderfoot. Here they are assigned certain skills to acquire and when they have accomplished proficiency in these, they go before the advancement committee. If they pass the examination they become second class scouts. Again a slightly more difficult schedule of achievements is outlined and ultimately they become first class scouts.

Study, practice and careful preparation are required for the boy to qualify himself for advancement through the ranks of scouting. He develops certain talents which can be of great value to him throughout his life.

When he has become a first class scout, he can begin work on the higher degrees—Star Scout, Life Scout and the top honor of all, Eagle Scout.

In these phases of his scouting career he is required to show proficiency in many fields—as typified by the demand that he qualify for certain merit badges.

As a Star Scout candidate, for example, he must hold a merit badge in campercraft, aquatics, outdoor sports and conservation. In addition he must have earned any three of the other 130 such awards listed.

To become an Eagle Scout, the candidate has to have earned 21 merit badges—including a dozen specifically named in the bylaws.

WHAT IS SCOUTING?

Adults Seek To Guide Boys In Citizenship, Character

It seems strange that after nearly 50 years of contribution to the strength of America anyone should ask "What is Scouting?"

The answer is simple: Scouting is a movement by which adults, working with boys, seek to train youth in citizenship and strengthen boys and young men in character.

Scouting is a tool to accomplish these objectives which are best exemplified through the Scout Oath and law. The Oath says: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country; to help other people at all times, and to obey the Scout Law; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." The law pledges a Scout to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.

Robert Baden-Powell, who originated the idea of Scouting in England, conceived it as a means of getting youngsters out-of-doors and showing them in self-reliance and in the virtues which have made his nation great. Gradually it evolved into the basic pattern which has been constantly typical of Scouting since then—duty to God first, country second, others third and self fourth.

Scouting has many divisions today — the Cubs for boys eight through 10, Scouts for boys 11 through 13, Explorers (and Sea and Air Scouts) for boys 14 through 17. Yet in all age levels the program is basically the same, only the approaches and activities are different.

Scouting has many ranks from the Wolf, Bear, Lion in Cubbing; the first, second and third class Scouts as well as Star, Life, Eagle (with palms) for Scouts; the service and Silver Star award in Explorers. Yet, at each of these levels the key consideration is evidence of living up to the oath and law.

One of the most unique features of Scouting is that it is a method rather than an agency. This is shown clearly through the multiplicity of sponsoring institutions who have Scout troops.

In effect, these institutions own the units—the Cub packs, the Scout troops, the Explorer posts. They determine the policies of the units. They simply employ the know-how and practical psychology and the idealism of 50 years experience of the Boy Scouts of America. Scouting has found how important and workable a program of hiking and camping is; how boys like to do things; how they like to learn to tie knots, learn first aid, practice thrift, aspire to a religious experience; how to undertake projects of service and good turns for their sponsors, their community and their nation. The sponsoring institution simply takes these skills and interests and puts them to work for its own youth.

Newest Eagle

Jerry Gilmore is the Lone Star District's newest Eagle Scout, having been authorized this highest Scouting award last week. Jerry is a member of Explorer Post No. 9 and came from Troop No. 8, both of which are sponsored by Wesley Methodist Church. He will be presented with his Eagle badge in special ceremony at the church this morning.

Smith, McComb Receive Honors

In the 36 years that the Buffalo Trail Council has been organized, 71 men have been awarded the Silver Beaver, symbol of distinguished service to boys.

Ten of those men have been from Big Spring. This year the Lone Star District was honored for the first time in five years with the naming of Sam A. McComb, immediate past district chairman, and Sherman M. Smith, also a former district chairman.

Both have been active in council affairs through the Big Spring Round Up, the largest single event in the council, and camping, and activities. They also have had leading roles in camp development.

The Silver Beaver does not necessarily mean that the recipients have done more for boys than any others. Actually, the Scoutmasters probably could claim that record because they are on the firing line right where the boys are. Too many men on the district committees—particularly the district commissioners and the district chairmen—perform outstanding service in Scouting, but they are recognized at the district level.

Eight of the men honored by the council are now deceased. Fourteen have moved out of the council and are in the eastern part of what formerly was the council.

Those in this district who received the award are the late C. C. Holmes, the late B. Reagan, Dr. W. B. Hardy, W. C. Blankenship, Nat. Shick, George Melear, Joe Pickle, Sam McComb and Sherman Smith.

Ready For Rugged Life In Rugged Country

Boy Scouts from Big Spring pitch their tents at the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains south of Balmorhea. The camp, which covers several sections of mountains, has canyons, trees, and even a small stream. It has been preserved largely as a wilderness camp — that is modern conveniences are held to a minimum so that the boys may learn to camp in a country much like it has been for centuries.

Sponsors Have Full Control Of Scout Program

Who runs the Boy Scouts of America?

You might suspect the operation is in the hands of some lofty council office in New York or Washington, but if you do — you're wrong.

The Scout program is in the hands of the organizations which sponsor the individual units. The sponsor has complete control over all policies and functions of its troop, post or pack. In short, the sponsor "owns" the unit, selects all leaders and operates the program as it sees fit.

A good example of the extent to which the sponsor controls the Scout program resulted from an incident in New London, Conn., last summer.

A scoutmaster was kicked out for conducting camping trips and hikes without proper authorization.

That could happen in any Scout organization in America, if the sponsor thinks such action is justified, explained W. T. McRee, Scout executive for the Lone Star District.

There are at least two reasons why such a thing is possible.

The first is that Boy Scout units — a Cub pack, a Scout troop or an Explorer Post — belong to the institution which sponsors them. The institution, through the troop committee it names to watch over the unit and to help it, shapes the policies for the unit.

These policies might include instructions as to the conditions and times under which the unit would take hikes or engage in other activities.

"Of course most unit leaders about whom I know are anxious for the help and counsel of the committee," said McRee. "They work hand in glove with the committee in arranging for hikes, transportation, etc."

"But if a unit leader should defy the policies set up by the committee, then he certainly would be subject to dismissal. In all probability, the national organization would uphold the dismissal."

In the second place there are certain requirements which Boy Scouts of America makes of those who register as unit and other adult leaders. These generally have to do with loyalty to country, morality and the basic tenets of Scouting. Disregard of these could be the basis for summary cancellation of the registration.

"What the Boy Scouts of America have is a movement — a tool for helping parents, the churches, the schools and other institutions — direct boys into channels that will result in better men," said McRee.

"Thus Boy Scouting is not an institution within itself — it is a tool, a supplement, an aid."

"When a church or a P-T-A, for instance, sponsors a Scouting unit, that unit becomes the property of the sponsor. Acting through its committee, the sponsor can set up the policies for the unit, including policies on hiking. If those policies are not observed, the sponsor has every right to ban leadership which will not observe them."

This plan is one of the things

Enrollment Sets Record

Enrollment set new records in 1958 in the Buffalo Trail Council.

At the end of the year there were 9,805 boys in the various phases of Scouting, 1,165 more than for the previous year. This was a gain of nearly 15 per cent. The gain of 1957 over the previous year was 826, or about 10 per cent.

There has been a steady gain in Scouting enrollment for the past 10 years, and the last three years have shown among the most pronounced increases.

In 1949 there were 3,819, the following year 4,112. The year 1951 had 4,488, and 1952 had 5,272, followed by 5,672 in 1953, 5,794 in 1954, and 7,112 in 1955. The year 1956 had 7,734 and 1957 had 8,640.

Here is the way enrollment has stacked up by groups for the past three years:

	1956	1957	1958
Cubs	4,196	4,910	5,284
Scouts	2,547	2,668	3,284
Explorers	1,091	1,062	1,237
Total	7,734	8,640	9,805

By units, the record is as follows:

	1956	1957	1958
Cub Packs	123	142	147
Scout Troops	161	168	178
Explorer Posts	61	65	69
Total	345	375	395

Enrollment in the Lone Star District, which comprises Howard, Martin, Glasscock and Sterling counties, reached 1,447 at the end of the past year, a gain from the 1,271 enrolled at the end of 1957.

Included in the 1,447 boys were 537 Cubs, 495 Boy Scouts, and 214 Explorers.

130 Merit Badge Fields Are Open

Boy Scouts are eligible to win approximately 130 different merit badges — special recognition for demonstrated skills in a wide field of endeavor. However, about 35 of the total merit badges offered are most generally sought after by local Boy Scouts.

Winning merit badges is an important phase of the Scouting program. Not only do they offer the boy an opportunity to excel in specialized fields but they contribute importantly to his overall education and training. Often, it is pointed out, a scout, by virtue of the opportunity offered in a merit badge trial, discovered hidden talents which can be of material importance to him in after life.

It is no easy thing to qualify for one of these decorations.

The Scout Handbook outlines the requirements and offers important leads on where information needed can be found. This, however, is not enough. The boy needs the advice of some expert to guide him in preparing for his appearance before the advancement board.

That is where the counselors come into the Scouting picture.

Counselors are adults who are willing to donate their time and knowledge to helping boys understand and appreciate the required steps in preparing to try for a merit badge. The experts run a gamut of skills. The merit badge selection field is wide.

Carroll Belton is dean of the counselors in the Lone Star Boy Scout District. He hunts out and signs up the advisors that boys will need when they apply for an opportunity to try for a merit badge. The half hundred or more men and women Dean Belton has on his list are specialists in as many fields.

They work with the boys, training them in the proper fashion and when they feel the applicant is ready they see to it that he gets his chance before the advancement committee.

The board of advancement is headed by Sam Mellinger and he is assisted by eight committeemen. The applicant comes before this group with his request for an examination into his proficiency in some merit badge category.

His counselor has endorsed him as ready—a matter of great importance since the advancement board relies heavily on what the counselor recommends.

The boy is given the examination—and it is no easy examination. He must demonstrate that he is competent under the requirements set up by the national headquarters in the field he has entered.

the things a boy dreams

A boy's best dreams are of adventure.

He sees himself exploring new trails and discovering new truths.

He associates himself with the heroes of today and ages past.

He is quick to follow example — good or bad.

He is a man in the formative stage.

Scouting gives purpose to his dreams.

It provides wonderful, adventurous trails to explore.

It teaches him the principles that guide the steps of heroes.

It provides Christian example. He comes to know that God is ever present.

Through Scouting, he learns to do and to think the things that make him a better man.

This week marks the 49th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Cosden takes the opportunity to urge your wholehearted support for Scouting — whenever and however you may help.

WIND ACROSS THE EVERGLADES

starring Christopher Plummer and Burl Ives. Produced by Stuart Schulberg. Directed by Nicholas Ray. Screenplay by Budd Schulberg. Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

Budd Schulberg has done some right fine writing (e.g. "Face in the Crowd"), but with his latest epic he has fallen flat on his face. The story concerns a bird ward- en's efforts to save the brightly feathered birds of the Florida Everglades who were threatened with extinction back around the turn of the century. Good prices were paid for the feathers, since the latest fads in ladies hats required huge amounts of plumage.

There is a large amount of drama that could have been extracted from this situation, but Schulberg went off on too many tangents — social conditions, the anti-Semitic problem, the quality of houses of joy in Old Miami. To make matters worse, the direction practically fell apart.

There's a raft of famous (for other things) people in this movie: Sammy Renick, the famed jockey; Tony Galento, former pugilist; Emmet Kelly, one of the greatest circus clowns, even MacKinlay Kantor, the author. Also seen is Gypsy Rose Lee, once a world-famous stripper and later a top murder mystery writer, as the Miami madam.

There are some bright spots: The inimitable acting by Christopher Plummer and Burl Ives, and the fine photography of the Everglades.

But, all considered, all those who had anything to do with "Wind Across the Everglades" should go hang their heads.

Satchmo Reveals Gospel Song Power

By HUGH MULLIGAN

"This train don't carry no gamblers. No crap shooters and midnight ramblers. This train goes on to Glory, this train..."

When Louis Armstrong wraps his foggy, foggy voice around these incredibly rollicking and realistic lyrics, the rest is incredibly reverent. For in "Louis and the Good Book," his latest Decca album, Armstrong demonstrates with power and conviction the tremendous pathos inherent in Gospel songs and spirituals.

The beat may be low down and bluesy, the lyrics stark and at times even racy, but the overall effect is always one of musical communication with a living, personal God who understands the foibles of man and prefers to talk to him in his own language.

In what undoubtedly is one of the finest albums of his career, Armstrong sings, chants and trumpets his way through a dozen Gospel favorites like "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Didn't It Rain," "I'm On My Way Now," "Down By the Riverside."

The lasting debt that jazz owes to Gospel music is always apparent in Armstrong's presentation, but he never reverts to a real jazz style, preferring to stick closely to the original slow beat of the music.

As always, Louis' trumpet solos are impromptu masterpieces of the finest albums of his career.

The Need For A Cultural Council

Big Spring seems about ripe for a community cultural council.

Such a panel would not be set up to tell anybody what to do, but rather as a means of helping to spread a little culture around. Its membership would consist of the community's recognized leading citizens, not necessarily connected with any of the existing cultural groups. Other members, if it be thought advisable, would come from these cultural groups.

No one would be taxed, assessed, or otherwise interfered with; the council would be there to offer its voluntary services in any way that it could.

One of the more immediate and mundane helps such a council could give would be in coordination of dates. There have been a number of times that one group's activity was cut down by absence of audience or members who were engaged in some other organization's project. No club would be told when it could set its own dates; the council would simply operate as an information clearing-house to help avoid conflicts in dates.

A longer-range (in fact, very long-range) purpose of the council would be the eventual creation of a civic center, most logically in City Park near the present site of the Prairie Playhouse. The center could be complete with auditorium, theatre, art museum, etc. Not that the council would furnish the money; rather, it would act as a lobby among those levels of government, and among the voters themselves, who could furnish the land and utilities. The actual construction (except for a new auditorium) would have to be paid for by the cultural groups concerned.

One of the greatest services a cultural council could perform, however, would be both immediate and long-range. That of giving its influence, if nothing else, to the building fund and membership drives of the various cultural groups, or in the selling of tickets and auctioning of paintings.

The community has a theatre and an art group, and a choir struggling to be born, and there is no reason we can't eventually have an orchestra. On all sides of Big Spring, there are cities which have all or most of these things, and there is no reason we can't. A cultural council would give a big boost to these groups already in existence and help in creation of others.

Short Chooses Portion Of Cast

Fred Short has filled three leading roles out of the eleven parts in "The Little Minister," slated for production sometime in March. Jack Culppepper will portray the minister, Linda Nichols the gypsy girl, and Chuck Worley the ruffian. Other roles were to be filled late last week or early this week.

The play is sponsored by the Pastors Assn., and proceeds will go into the high school Bible course. The College Players were at first planning to stage "Magnificent Obsession," but the scripts for that play were not on hand; scripts for "The Little Minister" were on hand.

"The Little Minister" will also be presented in conjunction with International Theatre Month, during which time colleges are supposed to stage plays by foreign authors. The upcoming HCJC play is set in Scotland in the 1860's. Short is still planning to work his own play, "It Happened in Hawaii," into the season schedule.

From the medieval city of Heidelberg comes the fifth program in TCU's Select Series. The Heidelberg University Chorus, under the leadership of its founder-director Dr. Siegfried Hermelink, will appear in Fort Worth's Ed Landreth Auditorium at 8 p.m. Feb. 19.

They will present a program ranging from a cappella music of the 16th and 17th Centuries to songs of Haydn, German folk songs and German university drinking songs.

San Angelo Schools Retain Best Of Old, Unafraid Of New

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Word is getting around in the trade that this West Texas city has come up with something radically different in public school programs.

Even the most violent critics of American education are impressed by the curriculum. School folks come to take a look at the physical layout, and walk away talking to themselves in envy.

As the word spreads, the mail pours in: "How did you do it?" The school authorities here do it by letting their imaginations run wild, then taking infinite pains with the details. They keep the best of the old, and try the most promising of the new. All the time they work toward just one goal: The best possible education for every child, regardless of his capabilities.

This approach has touched off a chain reaction in San Angelo. As the pupils learn more in the lower grades, the courses in the upper grades must be beefed up to hold their interest.

Consider, for instance, the limited teaching of science in the elementary grades.

In the fall of 1955 Robert H. Mayfield, curriculum project director, set about to find a new approach to make a grade school science program effective.

For two years Mayfield and his assistant, physics teacher Claude C. Wooley, studied the problem. They held long conferences with the teachers of grades 1 through 6, then called in junior high teachers to insure continuity of the program.

It was first decided to cover six major areas of science in each of the first six grades. These are nature (biology, zoology), the universe (astronomy, space, meteorology), the earth (geology), simple machines (levers, inclined planes, wheels and pulleys) electricity and magnetism (door bells and compasses) and heat, light and sound.

Few grade school teachers could handle such a program. It was necessary to teach the teachers how to teach science.

This was taken up in a series of teachers' handbooks which outline just what scientific concepts are attainable by the pupils in each grade.

Next came the mobile laboratory-laboratory units. Each unit is in the form of a desk and is designed especially to deal with one of the six major study areas listed above.

Last year the new science program was in effect only in grades

1 through 6. This year a new course was started for the seventh grade, introducing science of measurement, elementary astronomy, botany and chemistry, functional anatomy, and heat, light and sound.

The same course is also being taught to this year's eighth graders. Since the seventh graders are getting it this year, a new course must be ready for them when they start eighth grade next year.

This system, while it obviously improves the teaching of science, has some built-in work-makers. It seems likely that the whole science curriculum, from first grade through high school, must be overhauled.

"By the time kids have eight years of science as we are teaching it," says Mayfield, "they're going to be too far advanced for what is now ninth-grade science. We're going to have to boost this thing up all along the line."

This comment bears out what Supt. George B. Wadzeck says about the San Angelo system: "In 15 years, the kids with the IQ's of 75 (well below average) are going to be learning as much as the average student is today."

The grade school science program is just an illustration. Every course of study in the San Angelo schools is being developed in the same way.

And it isn't easy. Teachers with many years' experience are sometimes loath to adopt new ideas. Students who have their hearts set on being engineers although they can't add two and two don't like being told they can't take physics because their math grades aren't high enough. Influential parents—and every town has 'em—who want their kids to go to college are apt to become irate when they learn their little Jimmy just isn't college material.

"A kid who wants to be an engineer but has poor study habits and a poor background in mathematics will waste the teachers' time, and he won't get it anyway," says Mayfield. However, the San Angelo system encourages such students to reform their habits and bring up their grades in summer school in an effort to qualify for the physics course.

DEAR ABBY

CHIN UP, HONEY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I had to quit school because I'm having a baby and am not married, the father is in the Navy and we still don't know if he'll marry me or not. We hadn't gone together very long, but I thought I loved him. I'm not a tramp, Abby. He's the only boy who has ever touched me. Why is it when a person needs friends the most, everybody turns against them? My girl friends say they still like me but their parents won't let them associate with me because it might ruin their reputations. So I sit alone all day. We have no money to send me to a Home for Unwed Mothers, so I have to stay here and face the shame. I am 17 and wish I were 70 so I could go to my Eternal Rest.

DEAR ABBY: There are Homes for Unwed Mothers who will welcome with open arms anyone without one penny. Get in touch with your Family Service Assn. at once. I've heard from many girls who have been in your boots and have lived to hold their heads up high again. It can happen to you. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am a Pre-Med student and have been going with this girl for about six months. I've told her I love her and she's told me she loves me, but I can't consider getting married for a long time yet. This girl keeps insisting that I give her an engagement ring. I told her I couldn't afford a big diamond, but she says it's not the size of the diamond that counts, it's the thought. Any advice? NOT READY. DEAR NOT: If it's the THOUGHT—tell her you'll THINK about it.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound strange to you but it is absolutely true because my child does not lie. He is in the Second Grade and says his teacher refuses to let the youngsters go to the bathroom when they ask unless they are willing to stay in from recess as a punishment. Mine has come home from school crying (with wet pants) more than once. Now he doesn't want to school on that account. Please tell me what to do.

A MOTHER. DEAR MOTHER: Put on your hat and go to school. First talk to the teacher and get her side of the story. (Children do not always report things accurately.) If she actually penalizes the youngsters for asking to go to the bathroom, tell her if she doesn't change her tactics you will take it up with the principal.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is like nothing I have ever seen in your column. I am in love with a fellow and my parents like him very much. When he was young he was kind of sickly and later on he dropped out of school to help support his family. To come to the point, he cannot read or write very well. I did not know this until I asked him to read what was on my handkerchief. It said "FORT

DIX, NEW JERSEY" and Abby, when he couldn't read it I was so surprised and thought it such a shame I started to cry. I am trying to teach him but he can't even read third-grade books. Should I give up or not? HIS GIRL

DEAR SIS: Encourage him to go to night school and learn with other adults. It's never too late to learn. Good luck!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Trial Of Case On Negligent Homicide Will Be Delayed

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said Saturday that scheduled trial of Kenneth Haggard, charged with negligent homicide, will be stricken from the county criminal docket which opens on Monday.

Burns said the case will not be called for trial at this time because Dist. Atty. Gil Jones is making a further investigation into the circumstances involved. Haggard was accused of negligent homicide after his 9-month-old baby had died and Haggard had made a statement to officers that he had "squeezed" the child to make it quit crying.

Jones said that he was looking into the case but had reached no decision as yet as to what action, if any, he may take.

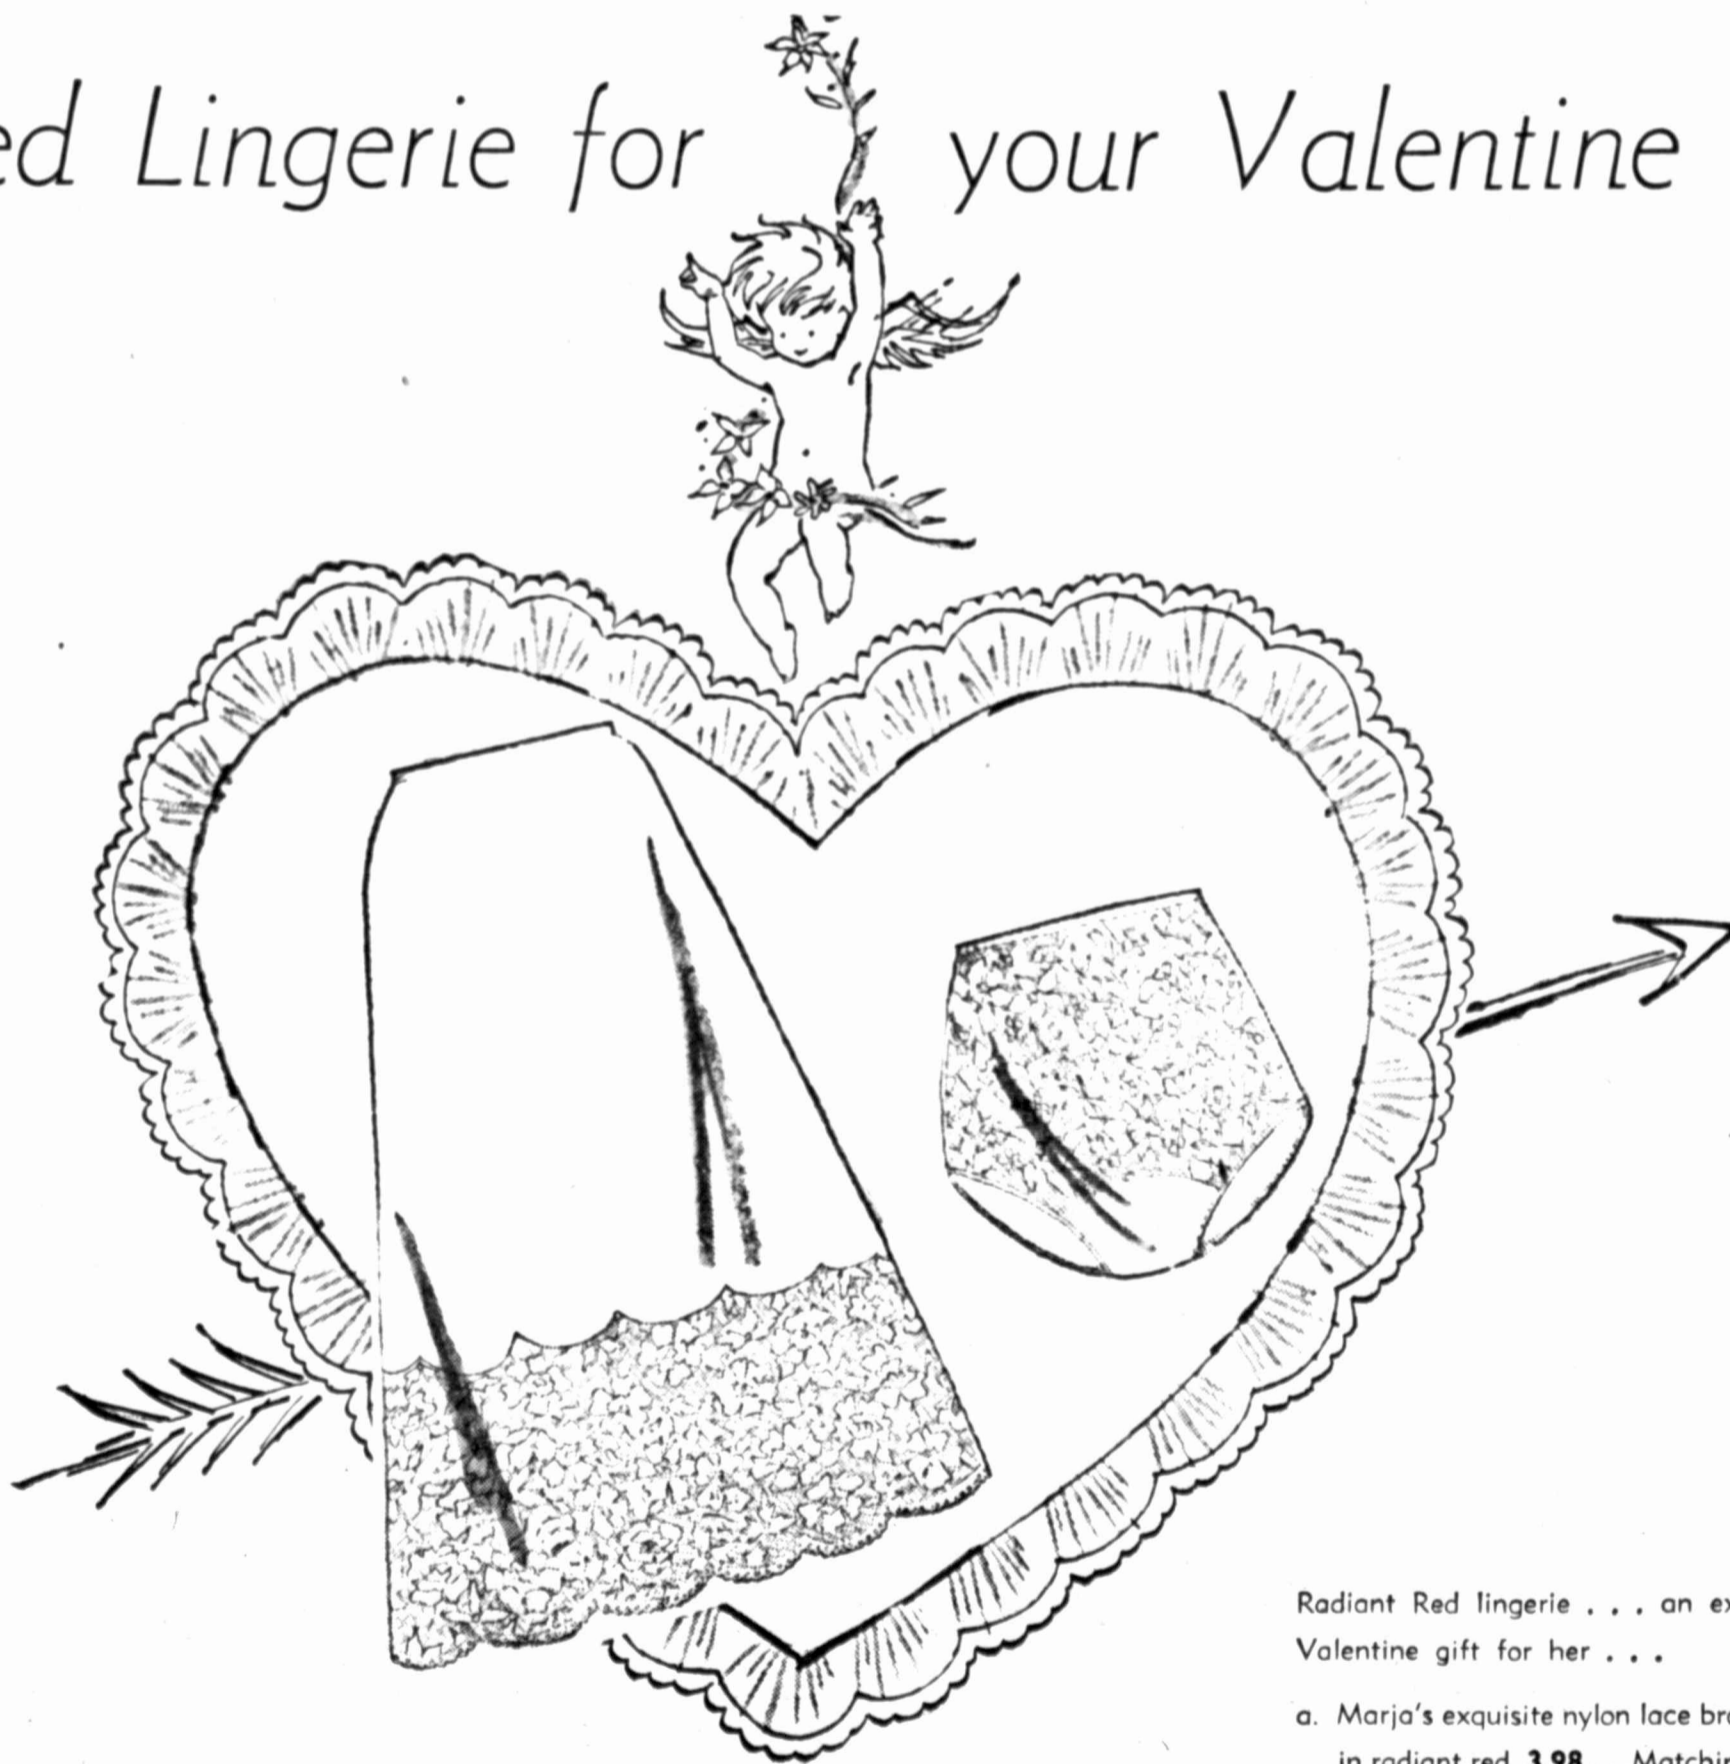

Burns said that the other 18 cases on the county criminal docket which are set for trial would be called. The state will be ready, he added, but he did not expect to complete more than five of the cases during the week.

Whether there will be any pleas of guilty to shorten the docket was not certain. Burns said that he had heard reports some of the defendants might elect to change their original pleas of not guilty when their case was called.

Thirty jurors have been notified to be in Judge Ed Carpenter's court at 10 a.m. Monday. This will be the first jury criminal docket to be attempted since Burns became county attorney and Carpenter county judge.
