She said she has only friendship for Shaffer.

C-C Board Hears Reports On Projects For Lamesa

LAMESA—The board of directors of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce heard reports from the industrial, oil, retailers, agriculture and executive committees at their monthly session Wednesday. LeRoy Olsak, chairman of the Chamber's industrial committee, stated that a survey under way in the city is nearing completion, and final revisions are to be made in a meeting of the group Feb. 18. The co-chairman of the oil committee, Hal Fees, told directors that the oil appreciation banquet will be held Thursday night, Feb. 19, in the high school cafeteria from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The Round-Up Club of the Chamber will be serving at the banquet and invitations have been mailed to 300 oil families of the area.

Jack Broyles, co-chairman of the agriculture committee, stated that his group has set a goal of $1,400 in premiums for the Dawson County Fair and Livestock Assn. show on Feb. 26-28. This committee has also voted to recommend to the chamber that an agriculture achievement award be set up instead of awards for the first bale of cotton.

L. E. Petty, city plumbing and electrical inspector, discussed a proposed new street guide for the city and displayed a large scale linen model. He recommended that the street guide be lengthened to take in several new additions and that block numbers be posted at the end of streets as a reference.

Liberace Hopes To Be Accepted

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"And then one day," said Walter Valentino Liberace. "I suddenly realized that according to the press, I'd become a sort of phenomenon. And to me, being a phenomenon is the next thing to being a freak."

The pianist known to millions simply as Liberace was talking about a stage of his life he hopes is dead forever. At 38 he believes that "I am being accepted as a human being."

Liberace is a gentle mannered man, precise in his selection of language, carefully weighing the effects of his words, organizing his thoughts with extraordinary thoroughness. Talk with him for an hour and you will find that in manner, language and thought he displays none of the flamboyance that sometimes characterizes his performance as a musician.

"I feel," he said, "that I'm much more stable as an entertainer now and I know that I'm much happier as a person than I was in those days I now think of as days of white heat."

More than a year ago, he said, he awakened to the fact that "everything was becoming exaggerated. And the reputation for exaggeration demands more exaggerations—in clothes, in manner, even in salary. During that frenzied period all I did was to surround myself with hordes of people. It took me a while to work out of it."

What, asked a man, did he do? Fire his press agent?

"I didn't even have a press agent in those days," Liberace said, smiling. "But I knew that I had to do something after some elements of the press went to extremes of vulgarity in connection with me. I struck out and fought it. It was extremely distasteful to me, but now I'm glad that I did."

He said that a number of libel suits which he brought against various individuals and publications all had been settled favorably to him. Only one, in London, still is outstanding—and he is certain it will be settled in his favor.

"There was a time," he said, "when my performances used to be reviewed on the front pages of newspapers as something phenomenal. But I was delighted, after my new series opened on ABC, to find that my performances were reviewed where they should be—on the entertainment pages."

601 Enroll At HCJC

Howard County Junior College crossed the 600 mark in its final enrollment figures for the spring semester.

The total was 601. Registration closed out Tuesday evening with those signing for classes which had not held their first session prior to that time.

No tabulation has been made as yet of the total number of semester hours. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said the results followed a trend of other junior and senior colleges—down from the fall semester but up from the spring semester of a year ago. Last spring the total registration was 575 for college credit courses.

Tragic Life Ends For Queen's Kin

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A Czechoslovak doctor claims to have developed a method of removing the pituitary gland by using radioactive gold.

The official CTK news agency explained the gland attached to the brain has been found to have an important effect on some types of cancer, and that its removal in such cases relieves pain and prolongs life.

The agency said that Prof. Josef Pavrovsky, of Prague's First Surgical Institute, injects a grain of radioactive gold into the gland with a special surgical pistol, stopping its functioning.

According to CTK, Pavrovsky's operation takes an average of 45 minutes and all have been successful while the usual method takes several hours and may cause a dangerous brain hemorrhage.

Father Freed In Baby's Death

EL DORADO, KAN.—Warren Applegate is a free man after being tried four times on a charge of murdering his baby daughter.

An all-male District Court jury Wednesday found him innocent in the 1954 death of 16-months-old Dana Applegate. He had been charged with putting arsenic in a soft drink bottle and causing the child's death.

Applegate was convicted in his first trial, but won a new trial on appeal. The second and third trials ended in hung juries. The aircraft worker lived in a trailer court at Douglass, Kan., at the time.

Ex-Teacher Found Guilty Of Charge Of Prostitution

NEW YORK (AP)—Former schoolteacher Virginia McManus and a madam friend have been convicted on vice charges after a trial in Women's Court.

Miss McManus, 25 and blonde, and Mrs. Beatrice Garfield, 29, are being held in the Women's House of Detention pending sentencing Feb. 25.

The two women were found guilty Tuesday by Magistrate Hyman Bushel on charges stemming from their arrest in a police raid early last Friday on Mrs. Garfield's $350-a-month apartment. Police said the apartment was the center of operation of 15 to 20 call girls who grossed about $400 each a night.

Miss McManus and Mrs. Garfield were found guilty of loitering for the purposes of prostitution. Mrs. Garfield also was convicted of permitting her apartment to be used for prostitution. The maximum sentence on either conviction is three years.

Miss McManus was acquitted on prostitution charges last October.

Miss McManus represented herself as an accredited schoolteacher and a graduate literature student after she came here from Chicago. She got a part-time teaching job at a Brooklyn high school at $4,400 a year. She lost the job after her first arrest.

Bill To Increase Speed Limit Kicks Up Fuss In Committee

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to permit speed limits above 60 miles an hour on superhighways kicked up another hornet's nest in a House committee last night.

It caused some members to wistfully recall the horse and buggy days. Rep. Jerry Sadler of Palestine said speeding on the highways "is the reason I bought an airplane."

The bill by Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland wound up in a subcommittee following testimony by Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety and Ben Greer, state highway safety engineer.

Anderson's bill would prohibit admission of evidence obtained "by lying in wait unobserved, hiding or in any manner concealing any equipment or the operator."

Garrison said he favored the use of radar and told the committee, "We are for any device to cut down the number of pursuit drivers. The state no longer pays the funeral or hospital bills of our highway patrolmen hurt while in line of duty."

Anderson's bill would give authority to the State Highway Department to determine a reasonable and safe maximum speed limit on any section of the state's highways. It would retain the present 30 mile limit in cities, 60 miles an hour during the day and 55 at night. The department now may reduce limits but can not raise them.

Greer said he believed "some sections of two-lane highways in West Texas are as safe at 65 as 45 in East Texas." He said the speed limit should fit conditions.

Sadler, Rep. Homer Koliba of Columbus and several other members of the House Highway and Roads Committee said they felt more lives would be saved if the speed limit were lowered.

Ex-Mayor Freed Of Burglary Charge

HOUSTON (AP)—A grand jury freed Sam Hoover, former mayor of Pasadena, of charges of burglary and theft yesterday. Hoover was charged Jan. 27 after police found two pistols in his auto. Officers said one of the pistols had been stolen from a sporting goods store last May. Hoover, a lawyer, said the gun belonged to a client.

Hoover and eight of his clients were arrested. Two of the clients were released after being questioned about a $200,000 jewel robbery at Dallas, Jan. 25.

Several changes have been made in the traffic laws recently by the Legislature and one bill passed by the Legislature to increase the speed limit was vetoed by former Gov. Allan Shivers.

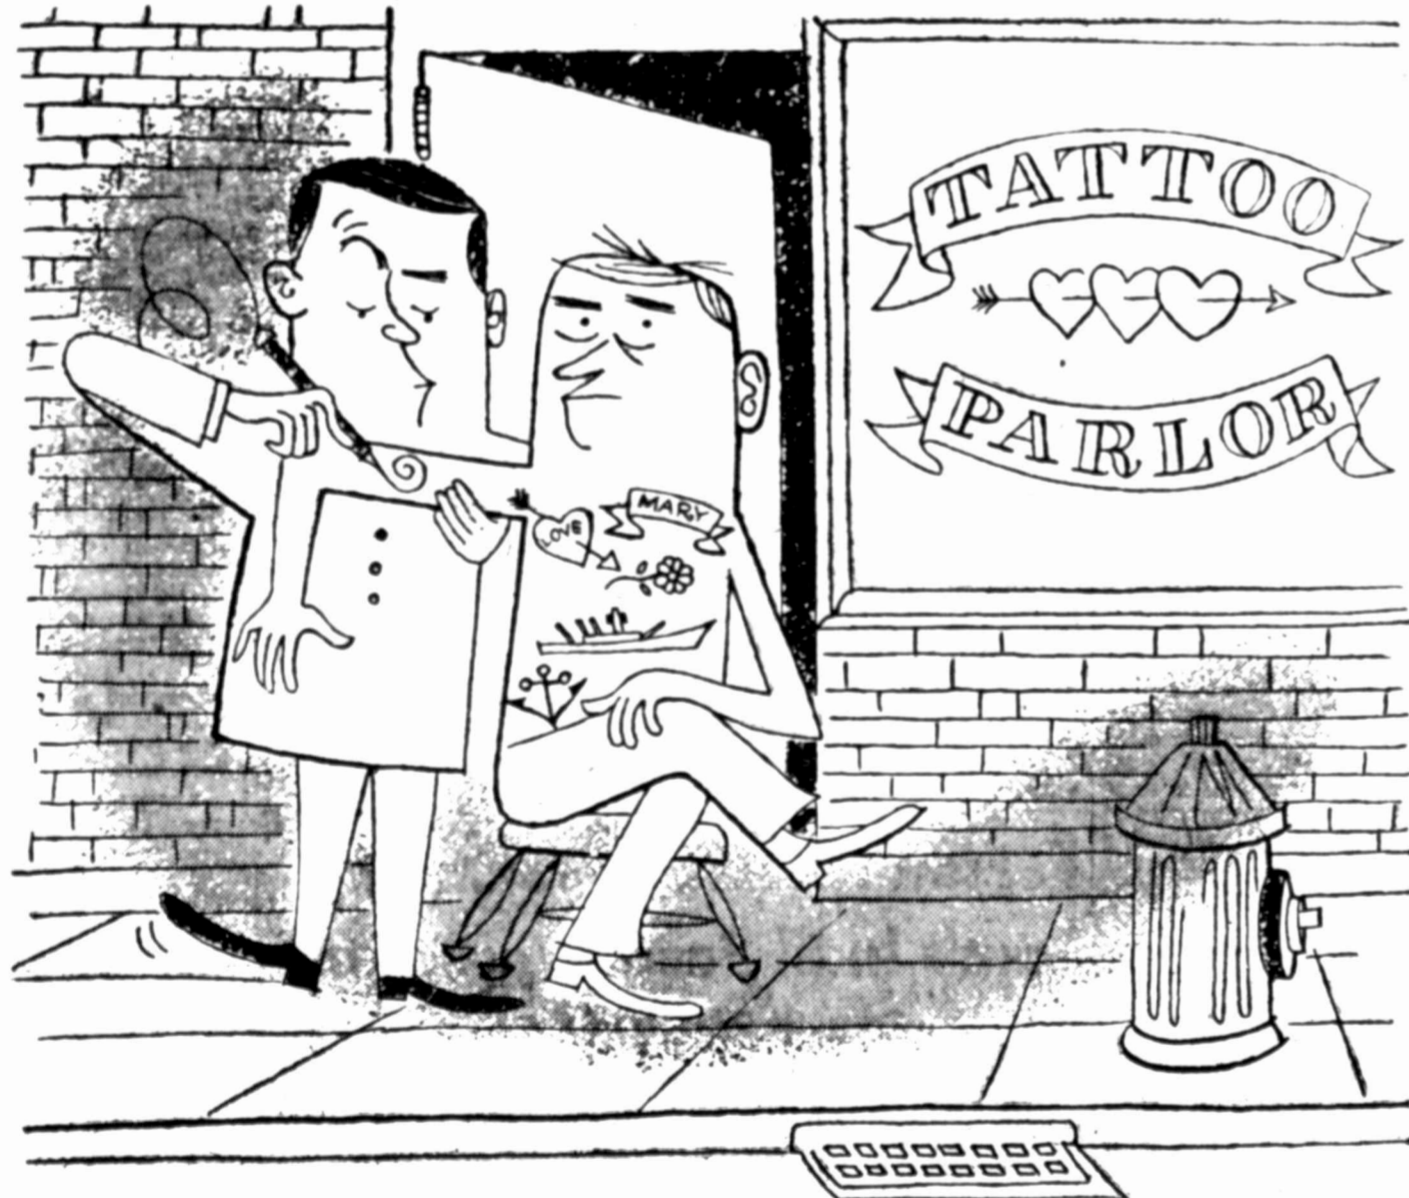

The committee also sent to subcommittee a bill giving Texas' 22,292 national guardsmen a distinctive motor vehicle license plate. An Army guardsman would have a minute man on his plate, an air guardsman would get a jet fighter plane.

"I do not feel it would be too much for the Legislature to pay for the licenses for these boys. But I have drawn up a bill which would charge them the same as everyone else," said Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline.

Number allotments would be served on a first come basis without regard to rank.

"It would raise the morale of the militia," Gen. William Martin, assistant adjutant general, testified.

Showman Improves Science Teaching

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A lot of Americans got their first accurate idea of what makes an atomic bomb tick from a TV film which showed a room full of mousetraps blanketed with table tennis balls.

Another ball, tossed in their midst, set off one of the traps, knocking several balls into the air. As they fell, they set off other traps.

In a flash, every trap was sprung and the air was filled with the bouncing spheres.

This was chain reaction, the key process of nuclear fission, dramatized for a national audience.

Walt Disney made the film but the mousetraps idea did not originate in his studios. In 1947 a physics professor named Richard M. Sutton hit upon the use of mousetraps to demonstrate chain reaction.

The demonstration made Dr. Sutton famous in academic circles. There was a run on mousetraps in stores all over the country as science teachers sought equipment to duplicate the feat.

The experiment's quick appeal started Sutton thinking. Today he has more props than a prestidigitator—two big trunks full.

His scientific showmanship brought him last year to the California Institute of Technology—where he had won his doctorate—as professor of physics and director of relations with secondary schools.

This is a brand new job at Caltech. Many high schools ask for help in improving the teaching of scientific subjects. Sutton handles these requests, channeling them to experts in each field.

He seldom uses the mousetrap gimmick any more. But there are plenty of other surprises in his trunks of tricks.

Any boy who wants to know whether a curve ball really curves has only to ask Dr. Sutton. Using a gimmick something like a jai alai basket, lined with sandpaper to impart greater spin, he can make a foam plastic sphere the size of a baseball curve feet to either side.

Sutton, a slender, wiry 58, delights in demonstrating his prowess with this gadget in corridors of Caltech.

Back of Sutton's pyrotechnics is a desire to improve science teaching in America's schools.

For several years his major, serious work has been development of a study program enabling superior students to take one or more college subjects while still in high school.

He is chairman of a special Ford Foundation committee backing this program. So far in this, the program's third year, 3,700 students have taken his advance placement tests. Some of them entered college as sophomores in mathematics and physics. The others, even though they did not win sophomore ratings, found it much easier to get into crowded colleges.

Secrecy Cloaks Virginia School Study Panel

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Secrecy cloaks the work of a special study commission as it lays the groundwork for a new course of action to minimize Virginia public school integration, now in progress in three localities and imminent in a fourth.

The 40-member Commission on Education met Wednesday for almost five hours behind closed doors. Most of the time apparently was spent listening to and questioning Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. and Atty. Gen. Albert S. Harrison Jr. on suggested approaches to containing public school race mixing, now that the massive resistance laws have been thrown out by state and federal courts. But there was no report on what went on.

A Textile Workers Union local has called a mass meeting of Warren County residents at Front Royal tonight to sound out sentiment on the reopening of the county's only high school next Wednesday on an integrated basis.

U.S. District Judge John Paul has ordered school officials to reopen Warren County High Feb. 18 and admit 22 Negroes. The school officials will make one final effort to delay integration by appealing for a stay to Chief Judge Simon Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court.

Integration has occurred at 10 schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria. Though unwelcome, race mixing has produced no disturbances. All told, 30 Negro students are attending the 10 schools.

There is talk that out of the school study commission's deliberations and the subsequent resumption of a special session of the general assembly March 31 will come legislation paving the way for a part-public, part-private system of schools in Virginia.

Almond reportedly favors some sort of escape hatch for localities unwilling to meet the constitutional requirement for operation of free public schools, if such schools must be integrated.

Girl DJ Ends Her Marathon

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Jo Warner, 22, a determined disc jockey, slumbered in a music store window today after staying awake nine days to win a regular job.

She gave up her wakeathon at 10:20 p.m. after spinning records in the music store window for 202 hours, 29 minutes and 40 seconds. The stunt was staged for Radio Station KYTE and the March of Dimes.

It won her a job at the station where her fiancée, Benny Farah, 21, is employed as an announcer. After Jo wakes up, she will collect a batch of prizes put up by local merchants.

She and Farah will be married Saturday.

Doctors who examined Jo just before she fell asleep said they noted no ill effects. Jo was put to bed in the window by a nurse who attended her during her stint.

GOP Convention Site Narrows Down To Chicago, Philadelphia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Choice of a site for the 1960 Republican national convention appeared today to have narrowed down to Chicago or Philadelphia.

That is the speculation of some national committee officials, who say a late July or early August convention is a good bet. Some other sources, while agreeing Chicago and Philadelphia now hold the lead, say the choice is still open. No decision is expected before April.

Meanwhile, Democratic committee officials predict the full committee at its meeting here Feb. 27 will resist Chicago and Philadelphia protests and uphold a site committee's selection of Los Angeles for the Democratic convention. The Democrats have fixed July 11 as their convention starting date.

Republicans who recently received convention city bids from half a dozen cities deferred a recommendation until they could visit some sites and get proposals in writing. The full committee will meet in April to act on a site recommendation.

San Francisco is believed by some party officials still to be a contender for the GOP conclave, but others argue a California selection would appear to show committee favoritism for a probable home state candidate for the presidential nomination, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The same thing would apply to Los Angeles, New York, also a bidder, by the same token would provide a home base for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is a potential opponent of Nixon for the nomination.

Miami Beach, the sixth bidder for the GOP meeting, is short of television cables and may be scratched for that reason.

Republicans met in San Francisco in 1956, in Chicago in 1952 and in Philadelphia in 1948.

Democrats held their last two conventions in Chicago. Committee officials say Los Angeles was chosen by the site group for many reasons, but that political considerations were important, these include the big Democratic victory in the state last November plus prospects that it will become the second largest unit in the Electoral College after the 1960 census.

Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, a veteran member of the Democratic National Committee, has called the selection of Los Angeles stupid because, he says, Easterners would miss telecasts of any night session. He has plugged Philadelphia.

Jacob M. Arvey, national committeeman for Illinois, has backed Chicago.

However, committee officials here contend the party would make more enemies in the rapidly growing West than it would gain friends in the East or Midwest if it overturned the site committee's choice.

WARREN FARROW
Webb Civilian Personnel Chief Cited For Service

Warren A. Farrow, civilian personnel officer at Webb AFB, was presented a certificate of appreciation from the U. S. Civil Service Commission by Col. Kyle L. Riddle, Webb commander, during Wednesday's staff meeting at base headquarters.

The certificate cited Farrow for "outstanding public service rendered the U. S. Civil Service in its year-long observance of the 75th anniversary of the Civil Service Act of 1883."

As chairman of the 75th Anniversary Committee for this area, he spearheaded the drive to celebrate this event by continuous activity in bringing the federal career service to the attention of the public.

Farrow has held his present position since reactivation of Webb in 1951. He is a past president and charter member of the Big Spring Personnel and Management Assn., and is a member of the State Advisory Committee of the Texas Personnel and Management Assn.

He and his wife make their home at 1737 Purdue.

Britain Appears Ready To OK Greek-Turkish Cyprus Pact

By DENNIS NEED
LONDON (AP) — Britain appeared ready today to clinch an early agreement with Greece and Turkey aimed at bringing peace and independence to Cyprus.

The foreign ministers of the three nations met for 3½ hours Wednesday night discussing details of an accord that would end 81 years of British rule over the East Mediterranean island.

Trukish Foreign Minister Fatin Ruzlu Zorlu, on emerging from the dinner with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff, was asked if he expected a settlement to be reached.

"We hope so," he replied. "The three were to meet again today."

Zorlu and Averoff flew to London from Zurich immediately after their prime ministers agreed there on principles of a constitution to make the disputed British island colony a republic.

Averoff and Zorlu were pressing the British for an early meeting of all three governments—possibly attended by the three prime ministers—to seal the agreement finally. It was not known how, or at what point, the Cypriots themselves would be consulted.

No date was mentioned so far for the meeting or for an independence target. The British Parliament must ratify any settlement. The Greek and Turkish parliaments must also be consulted.

The blessings of Archbishop Makarios, exiled Greek Orthodox primate of the crown colony, strengthened the hands of the government leaders toward ending a dispute that has cost nearly 600 lives in Cyprus—142 of them British, including soldiers and civilians.

Makarios told newsmen in Athens Wednesday night the Greek-Turkish pact "lays the foundation for an immediate and final solution to the Cyprus issue considering that Cyprus will become an independent sovereign state."

Makarios made no specific recommendation, however, that his people accept the agreement, but he was smiling as he talked with newsmen.

The Cypriots themselves — both the Greek and Turkish communities — greeted the peace pact signed by the Athens and Ankara governments with a feeling of relief tempered by disappointment that their full aspirations were not met.

Still to be heard from was Col. George Grivas, 60-year-old leader of the Greek Cypriot underground EOKA who from mountain hide-outs has waged a guerrilla war for nearly four years against British rule. However, the elusive Grivas has pledged allegiance to Makarios, who was banished from the island by the British in 1956 for refusing to denounce EOKA's terrorist campaign.

House Panel Told Schoolman Expenses Up, Charges Down

AUSTIN (AP)—County superintendents' office expenses have gone up while the number of pupils they supervise have decreased, the House County Committee heard yesterday.

Young County School Supt. George Corse Jr. also told the committee he was elected to his $5,976 a year post on a pledge that he would seek to have it abolished.

"It's not needed in my county," he said. "Many other counties are in the same boat. At least 30 counties have no common school district pupils but they have superintendents spending as much as $18,000 a year in state funds."

There is no limit on superintendents' salaries.

Corse testified in support of a bill (HB 101) sponsored by Rep. George T. Wilson of Newcastle. The measure would authorize a commissioners' court in counties of less than 100 common school district pupils to call an election. The people would decide whether they wanted the office continued. It was sent to a subcommittee for study.

W. F. Hancock of Cuero, DeWitt County school superintendent and president of the Texas Assn. of County Superintendents, said the post was needed in many areas. He said there was ample work for a superintendent.

"A clerk could do in two weeks what they're paying me a year's salary to do," Corse said. "It's the same in many counties."

Corse said some counties like Brazoria, Dickens, Waller and Zapata used $6,800 to $18,000 a year in state funds to support the position. The counties have no common school district pupils.

"Your voting rights are the main issue," Wilson said. "You don't make the decision to abolish the office, but let the people do away with it if they desire."

Corse said these counties would be affected: Brazoria, Camp, Clay, Colorado, Dawson, Dickens, Donley, Eastland, Fisher, Gonzales, Hale, Hall, Jack, Jackson, Lamb, Liberty, Live Oak, Lynn, Matagorda, Medina, Montgomery, Starr, Stephens, Terry, Trinity, Waller, Wharton, Willacy, Wilson and Zapata, all with no common school district pupils.

Other counties with less than a hundred common school district pupils that would be affected include: Caldwell, Childress, Comanche, Cottle, Ellis, Garza, Goliad, Gray, Grimes, Hays, Hockley, Hood, Kleberg, Madison, Nueces, Polk, Rains, San Jacinto, San Saba, Scurry, Uvalde, Val Verde and Young.

Schoolman Reveals Flunkers Are Biggest Auto Owners

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What makes Sammy's car run? Sammy does, and it plays heck with his grades.

As in the high school classroom and cars don't mix. Neither do Bs. But Cs and Ds do. And flunkers are the biggest car-owners of all.

These views, certain to get the razzberry in certain select grease pits are those of William Condit, Belmont High School vice principal. He offers these observations: High school boys are joy-riding right out of an education.

A teen-ager's stock with the girls may go up when he gets a car, but his marks will go down. The car-owner may wind up quitting school — or at least athletics—to get a job so he can keep the thing perking.

Social pressures on boys nowadays are strong. Condit concedes. Many a teen-ager feels he's nobody without wheels. But there's consolation for some in an Idaho study he cites as typical.

Not a single straight-A student questioned owned a car.

Only 15 per cent of the B students owned cars.

But 41 per cent of the C students had cars, and 71 per cent of the D students. And what of the failing students? A spectacular 83 per cent owned cars.

Students usually find their car upkeep and operation costs much higher than they expected. "It's almost beyond comprehension why parents allow it," Condit says.

He grants there are cases where students need cars. But parents should think it out carefully, he believes, before giving their son the green light.

Earp Kin's Name Chosen By Lincoln

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — There aren't many men around anymore who can claim, like George Earp, that their names were chosen by Abraham Lincoln.

George, now a healthy and alert 94 years old, is a first cousin of famed frontier Marshal Wyatt Earp and once was a deputy under Wyatt.

George told reporter Tom Osterion of the Joplin Globe Wednesday how he got his name from the 16th president of the United States.

George Earp's father, the Rev. John Douglas Earp, first met Lincoln in Kentucky where both were employed splitting rails. They became good friends and later moved to Illinois at the same time.

The Rev. Mr. Earp then moved to Lamar, Mo., and became a circuit preacher for the Southern Methodist Church.

Lincoln was president when Earp was imprisoned on charges he supported the Confederacy. The President ordered him released.

Later, a group of ministers were jailed on similar charges and the Rev. Mr. Earp went to Washington to seek Lincoln's aid in freeing them.

Earp's wife had just given birth to their ninth child, a boy, on Dec. 13, 1864.

"Our new son has not yet been named," Earp told the President. "Would you select a name for him?"

Lincoln's reply: "Name him George Washington."

George Washington Earp had a burning ambition to be a cowboy. Cousin Wyatt had built a reputation as a peace officer and George joined him in Dodge City at the age of 18.

But Wyatt decided Dodge City was too rough for George and sent him to more civilized Garden City, which had more than one street and more frame buildings. There George became a cowboy.

In the spring of 1885 George helped organize and survey the new town of Ulysses, Kan. At 21 he was appointed postmaster there and at 23 he was elected mayor and constable.

George was appointed U.S. marshal in Wichita in 1893, educated himself in the law and for many years worked in the field office of the U.S. Revenue Service. In 1933 he moved to Joplin and worked as a tax expert until his retirement four years ago.

Fenn On Study Commission For Smaller Schools

Doyle Fenn, principal of Gay Hill school, has returned from the organizational meeting of a special study commission named by the state board of education.

He is one of nine administrators selected from over the state to make a study of schools of less than 600 students. For purposes of the study, the state will be divided into 12 districts, said Fenn. When county results are compiled, they will be consolidated into a district evaluation. These in turn will be used as a basis of the final report by the special study commission.

The actual study may not begin until next year.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Case On Switchblade Knife

Eugene Hart, charged with possession of a switchblade knife, was found guilty in Howard County Court on Wednesday afternoon.

The six-man jury assessed his punishment at 90 days in the Howard County jail.

His was the first conviction in three trials held this week in the county court. Two other defendants, each accused of illegal possession of an illegal weapon, were found not guilty.

Hart was arrested on Jan. 3 by city police on the Gregg St. viaduct. Officers making the arrest testified he had a switchblade knife in his pocket.

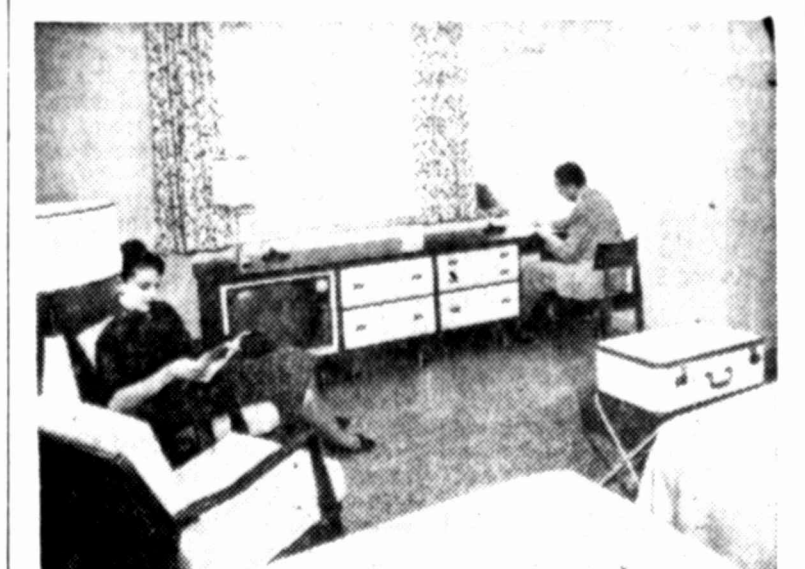

county attorney, and defense counsel for Hart, immediately filed motion for new trial and gave formal notice of intention to appeal the case.

Two other defendants who had been docketed for trial this week pleaded guilty in the court at 1 p.m. They were Johnny Valverde Rangel and Peter James Gaynor. Each was charged with unlawful possession of a weapon.

Judge Ed Carpenter assessed fines of $100 each in each case.

George Thomas, attorney for the two men, filed motions for new trials which will prevent their formal sentencing until disposition is made of the motions.

DEAR ABBY

CHILD'S CONCERN

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My Daddy is so fat it isn't even funny. He is five feet five and when he stands on our scale the needle goes to 250 pounds and stays there because that's as high as the numbers go. I think if there were more numbers it would go higher yet. Mom is scared to death that she is going to be left a widow with four children. We love our Daddy very much and want him to live a long time. Can you help us, please? LOVES DADDY

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is a very lovely person but she doesn't understand little children. When I come to visit her with my son who is only four years old, she gives him very strict orders that he is not to touch this or that. If he happens to touch something he isn't supposed to, she puts him in a cage. The cage is clean, but it is still a cage. She came by it when a wild hyena was shipped to her from Asia (she has written books on the Tasmanian Wolf and Mammals of Africa, India and Asia.) My son cries every time I tell him we are going to visit Gramma. Should I continue to take him there, or leave him with friends when I go? DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR ABBY: This has been on my mind for a year and I am going to get it off. I had a group of relatives over to my house and we all sat around looking at some old family snapshots I had placed in an album. Shortly after they left I noticed that some of the pictures were missing. The pictures were of me and my cousins, when we were little kids, also of my aunt and uncle. These pictures were priceless and everyone screamed and hollered when they saw them. I think a cousin of mine took them because the aunt and uncle (now deceased) are her parents. Should I come out and accuse her or should I snoop around her place sometime to make sure she has them before I mention it? Please help me solve this as I don't want to cause trouble.

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: DO NOT snoop around looking for the pictures. Tell the cousin you suspect (privately) that the temptation was understandable. Also that a reproduction can be made from any photo, and if she has your pictures to please duplicate them and return the originals.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a fellow and I think I am in love with him. He says he is in love with me but he is asking me to prove my love by letting him read my diary. I have nothing to hide although it is very personal in spots, but I wonder if I should show it to him? I would like your advice. BLANCHE

DEAR BLANCHE: Only YOU can decide whether you want to share with him your innermost secrets. In my opinion, a man who insists on reading a girl's diary needs to grow up a little.

Lincoln's Grandchildren Don't Plan Any Special Observance

By DON GUY MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — "Hello Margaret, this is Lincoln. I plan to come down Wednesday or Thursday to see about some letters."

"Well, better come Wednesday. Thursday we are closed for the holiday."

"Lincoln's birthday of course, you should know."

"Oh, I forgot, I'm as bad as grandpa."

This conversation took place Monday between Lincoln Isham of nearby Dorset, great-grandson of President Lincoln, and Probate Judge Margaret Doherty of Manchester.

The grandpa referred to was Robert Todd Lincoln, only son of the President to reach maturity. Of Robert's three grandchildren, two live in Vermont and the third in Virginia.

Once in Chicago over a half century ago Robert Todd Lincoln asked his wife "What in the world are all the stores closed for today?" Years later, retelling the story to his grandson Lincoln Isham, he said simply: "I forgot it was pop's birthday."

"Pop's birthday" isn't being marked by the three great-grandchildren today. Isham refused several dozen invitations to participate in the 150th anniversary celebration from Washington, D.C. to the Pacific Coast.

Mary Beckwith, 61, his cousin, lives on the family farm on the south side of Manchester. She plans to spend the day helping milk the cows and care for the Black Angus cattle. On her rare trips to town she drives a small foreign car and wears patched dungarees.

Robert Todd Lincoln Beckwith, 54, Mary's brother, has no special plans either. Retired, a law school graduate who never practiced law, he lives on his 280-acre farm near Urbana, Va., in the warm months and spends winters in Washington.

Isham Lincoln, 67, lives quietly in a large white colonial house surrounded by a picket fence. Dorset is a crisp clean Vermont village in a valley on the west or sunset side of the Green Mountains.

Fem Rights, Loan Sharks, Bonds On Legislature List

AUSTIN (AP) — Proposals to give women more legal rights, to regulate loan sharks, and to promote local industry with 200 million dollars in bonds have been set for public hearing in the Texas Senate.

Committee action in both House and Senate and scheduling of dates when important bills and proposed constitutional changes will get their first airing continued to hold the legislative spotlight.

Both branches planned brief, routine sessions today.

Adjournment for the weekend will also shut off committee hearings.

The Appropriations Committee hoped to begin actual drafting of the major spending bill within 10 days. Not until it is ready will the session be able to face up to its major issue: how much to spend, and how to get the money.

Six proposed Constitutional Amendments were set for public hearing in the Senate. They were: SJR 3, to allow legislators to set their own annual salaries, Feb. 16.

SJR 1, to change the method of determining loan rates, Feb. 16.

SJR 6, to increase from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent the rate which the state could pay on bonds; SJR 7, to increase the amount of money available under the veterans land program by 100 million dollars, March 3.

SJR 5, giving women full legal rights equal to men, Feb. 24.

SJR 2, to allow the Texas Industrial Development Board to loan 200 million dollars to small cities for industrial development, March 10.

Industry Designs Men's Clothes For Feminine Eye

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the man who cherishes the thought that women dress to please men, a men's clothier offers this deflating thought: the industry designs men's clothes with women in mind.

L. N. Rieman of Chicago, sales manager for a nationwide clothing firm told about 500 persons at a showing yesterday. "Women influences 70 per cent of man's clothing purchases. She bemoans the sloppiness of man."

To make certain the industry really knows what women want their husbands to buy, Rieman said his company maintains women fashion consultants.

He pointed to a new suit billed as the biggest news since the Ivy League look.

"That's the continental look," he said. "Its keynote is elegance. We're going out to please the women. That suit is designed to complement her new fashions."

The suit features peaked lapels, a fashioned waist, a cut-away front and cuffed sleeves.

Women's clothing, Rieman said is designed with more inspiration—one starts with a bolt of cloth and begins draping it around the model with imagination.

With men's accoutrements, the designing demands logic and a high degree of mathematical competence.

Computations and calculations must be continually made, he said, to insure that the front and back of a suit fit exactly, with emphasis on certain lines to deflect attention from less fortunate features of the male anatomy.

Wylie Brown Is Averaging 6.6 Points Game For ACC

ABLISNE (SC)—Season records and the result of a previous game this season will be thrown out of the gym Saturday night when Abilene Christian and McMurry clash here on the Indian court.

Bill Thompson Is Top Scorer

One of the highlights of Friday night's District 2 AAAA basketball game here between Odessa and Big Spring will be the climax of the scoring duel between the Steers' Bill Thompson and Jackie White of Odessa.

Thompson now leads the conference with 155 points. He overtook White with a 23-springle against Abilene Tuesday night. White has an even 150 points.

Big Spring has furnished the scoring leader the last two years in Jan Loudermilk. For the season, Thompson now has 556 points. Odessa has already clinched the district championship while Big Spring has sewed up third place.

Brown An Easy Winner Over John Busso

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joe Brown, an aging fighting machine that hasn't started to creak, beat young Johnny Busso with comparative ease Wednesday night, then said he wanted another fight real soon.

The world's lightweight champion, defending his title for the sixth time in two years, declared he would meet Busso again "or anyone Manager Lou Viscusi lines up," but he just wanted action.

"I get rusty when I'm inactive," said the skinny little Baton Rouge, La., Negro, who hasn't been very inactive except that he tried an overweight fight with Busso in Miami four months after his last defense of the title—and lost.

But Brown showed no effects of inactivity as he whipped Busso by a wide margin. Referee Jimmy Webb scored it 148 for Brown, 131 for Busso; Judge Ernie Taylor, Brown 147, Busso 138, and Judge Bill Cornelius 149-140 Brown.

A crowd of 11,023—the largest ever to see a fight in Texas—watched the little dark destroyer throw a blasting right that knocked the strong young man from New York through the ropes in the ninth round. Throughout the fight Brown kept his right working overtime. Busso's face was a bloody mask at the finish.

Busso's nose bled from the third round on, smearing Brown's trunks with bright red. Brown also cut Busso's cheek with a stinging left hook and the end of Busso's eyes almost closed in the last round.

Busso pressed the fight until the late rounds when he appeared to be a most weary youngster.

The crowd paid $61,155—more than $2,000 under the record set by the Brown-Kenny Lane fight last July here—and with $40,000 from television, total receipts came to $101,155. Brown got 40 per cent and Busso 20.

Brown weighed 134 pounds while Busso was a fraction under 135.

Weight Drop Helped Joe

By JIM BOWMAN HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—It was a matter of three months and six pounds, the way Joe Brown figures it.

That was the difference between the decision he dropped to Johnny Busso in Miami last November and the one he took in his sixth defense of his title in a return match last night.

"I weighed 134 this time and 140 in November," he grinned from behind a white cotton towel in his dressing room. "And I was faster tonight."

And there also was the matter of a title being at stake. There had been speculation that perhaps the 35-year-old Baton Rouge, La., lightweight champion didn't take the Miami non-title bout too seriously, training-wise, at least.

But Brown appeared razor sharp last night, weaving and bobbing under Busso's windmill attack.

"What held that guy up, I'd like to know," he asked. He drew blood early in the bout and sent Busso sliding through the ropes in the ninth.

Busso claimed "he never hurt me." His lips, eyes, cheek and nose were discolored and swollen.

The blow that sent him sprawling, he said, was "just one of those things. He caught me and I went down and jumped right up and went back after him."

But the old champion saw it differently, grinning like a man who had just picked up about $40,000.

"I got him with a sneaky right behind a left jab," he said. "That was a good punch."

Brown appeared to be unshaken by the decision. "I landed one good punch. But I thought I landed enough."

H. E. Kirshner Leads TCU Past Aggies By 80-61 Tab

By the Associated Press Shooting at a sizzling pace from the field, Texas Christian turned back Texas A&M 80-61 Wednesday night to take a full two-game lead over second-place Texas Tech in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Big H. E. Kirshner poured in 31 points for the horned frogs. The 6-10 TCU dead-eye hit 14 of 18 field goals, most of them hook shots. He missed one field goal in the first half to help stretch TCU's conference record to 8 victories and a single loss.

The defeat left the Aggies with a 4-5 conference record.

Texas A&M after losing a brief lead in the first quarter twice pulled within a point before halftime. But Kerchner, Kenneth Jorgensen, from Port Arthur, Tex., is the world's second-ranked featherweight and weighed 129 pounds Quijano, featherweight champion of Mexico, came in at 130.

Stanton Hosts Coahoma Five

STANTON (SC)—Stanton and Coahoma clash in a District 6-A basketball game here tonight.

Stanton still has an outside chance at the championship but must defeat the Bulldogs tonight and then depend upon Coahoma to trip up pace-setting Roscoe Friday night. The Coahoma-Roscoe bout takes place in Coahoma.

The resident Buffaloes are much stronger than they were before mid-term, due to the fact that three players—Paul Petree, Alton Robertson and Don Ellis—became eligible then.

Overall, the Buffaloes have a 17-8 won-loss record. Within the conference, they are 5-2.

BENINGTON HAS BILLS ON WINNING STREAK

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

The way his St. Louis basketball team is playing, the only problem Coach John Benington has these days is getting people to spell his name right.

His Billikens have a winning streak of 13 games after Wednesday night's solid 72-53 victory over Bradley. He has developed a bunch in a season's time that may yet swipe the Missouri Valley Conference title from Cincinnati and the touted Oscar Robertson. He has in 6-8 Bob Ferry a scorer-rebounder he says he "wouldn't trade for any other big man in the country." And he is headed for a tournament—win or lose in the MVC.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk carried a 21.4-point scoring average into the recent basketball game against Texas Christian and upped it to 23.2 in helping the SMU Colts to a three-point victory over the Fort Worth freshmen.

Big Jan pumped 32 points through the hoop in the TCU game before he retired to the penalty box.

The ex-Big Springer, Billy Maxwell, earned $4,726.79 in the first month of the new year on the touring golf trail, all of it in California. That includes his take in pro-amateur meets.

Only five linksters, including leader Art Wall Jr., (with earnings totaling $11,965.33) did better.

Another Texan, Ernie Vossler, who now plays out of Midland, ranked right behind Billy with winnings totaling $4,416.77.

Maxwell is now the top-ranking Texan on the tour, in cash won. Jimmy Demaret and Wesley Ellis Jr., were the only other Texas players in the top 15 after tournaments at Los Angeles, Pebble Beach, San Diego and Tijuana, Mexico.

The pros played for prizes totaling $162,500 during January.

Maxwell is well on his way to his first $100,000 in golf winnings. He earned over $24,000 last year for his best season in the play-off ranks.

Incidentally, last year's leading money winner, Arnold Palmer, didn't get any of the last at San Diego, the first time he has been out of the money in 21 tournaments.

McMurry officials have written to this window, seeking entry into the ABC Relays here next month.

McMurry's track outlook brightened recently when Bruce Land, outstanding junior college entry in last year's ABC meet, transferred from ACC across to the Methodist school.

Land reportedly made the switch to McMurry on the assurance that he would be given an extra year of schooling in working toward his Master's degree.

Something went wrong at Plainville. The one-time Big Spring infielder, Billy Capps, was supposed to land the managerial job of the Sophomore baseball league team there.

Instead, the parent organization, the Kansas City Athletics, is bringing in 33-year-old Bobby Hoffman to do the job. Hoffman formerly played the infield for the New York Giants.

Capps bossed the Pocotalto team in the Pioneer League last season.

Buffalo's new $15.5 million stadium is being built for big league football, not baseball.

The New York metropolis expects to obtain a NFL franchise in the not-too-distant future. Leaders there could be bidding for the Chicago Cardinal franchise.

If the Cards refuse to move, Buffalo expects to get first consideration when the league is expanded to 14 teams, as will most likely happen in three or four years.

Someone within the NFL has assured the Buffalo people they will not get a club. Otherwise, they wouldn't have been so eager to put up such a sum for an athletic facility.

Jerry Tucker, one of the Big Spring Goliad Junior High athletes, moved here from Snyder a couple of years ago.

Snyder got an even swap in young athletes, however, Larry McNair, one of the stars of the Snyder JH football and basketball teams, lived here for a number of years.

Jackie Jensen May Be After $40,000

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen's refusal to accept two contract offers today was blamed on stubbornness and "the Williams thing" by Bucky Harris, general manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Jensen, 1958 American League most valuable player, reportedly is seeking $40,000.

Though the Red Sox never announce salary figures, Jensen made approximately $27,500 last season. He has mailed back unsigned contracts estimated at $32,500 and $35,000.

Slugger Ted Williams, Jensen's outfield mate, is ticketed for upwards of $125,000 for the second straight season.

"Jensen doesn't own this ball club," Harris said. "The Williams thing is causing the trouble."

Harris referred to Williams' salary and the publicity given to his signings.

"He (Jensen) has set a figure and he is being stubborn about it," Harris said. "Jackie's a fine boy and I like him, but he is stubborn."

"He'll find that others can fight, too."

Bucky indicated he felt Jensen would sign the second document because it was close to the figure Jackie had specified.

But Jensen has been quoted from his West Coast home as saying "it wasn't what I asked for and I mean to get it."

Dom DiMaggio, former Sox outfielder, was reported to have told Jensen: "Don't let them get you cheap. You weren't named most valuable player by accident. Your value is up now."

Boston Globe baseball writer Bob Holbrook quoted Jensen in a phone conversation as saying:

"There is no trouble caused by Williams' contract. His business is his business and I'm not interested in what Ted is making or what he will make. I feel that the salary I'm asking is fair. I sent the second contract back, and I think I'm worth more. I won't budge."

Pinkie's Keeps Bowling Lead

Pinkie's found it continued smooth sailing in Ladies Class 4 Bowling league competition earlier this week, at which time it spilled Neil's Transfer, 4-0.

In other matches, Seven-Up Bowling Co. won over Alexander's Jewelry, 4-0; Big Spring Tamale and Tortilla Factory, 4-0; and the Cosden Independents trounced C. R. Anthony's, 4-0.

Big Spring Tamale and Tortilla Factory had high team game and series with 807-2288. Pinkie's followed with 796-2218.

Sugar Brown of Shaffer's Cosden had 246-562 for team honors. Angie Merrill of Pinkie's posted 193 while Frances Glenn of the same team came in with a 479 total.

Spills were converted by: V. Ferry was the big one again last night, scoring 22 points and grabbing 24 rebounds. Bradley, with top scorer Dan Smith held to four points by the Billiken defense, dropped its third in 20 games.

Texas Christian and Kansas State fattened their conference leads and Dartmouth poked its Ivy League nose in front in the night's other features.

TCU, regaining its two-game lead in the Southwest Conference, whipped Texas A&M 80-61 as H. E. Kirchner scored 31 points. Kansas State won its eighth straight in the Big Eight for an 18-1 season record, trimming Kansas 82-72.

Bob Boozer scored 25 points and his Ivy mark went to 8-0 in a 71-50 breeze over Harvard, Princeton, 7-0, was idle.

Frank Case scored 34 points, 25 in the second half, in Dayton's 88-69 victory over DePaul, and NIT-bound Villanova ran its record to 15-4 by spilling Canisius 57-49.

Other NIT and NCAA contenders boosting their prestige were St. Joseph's (Pa.), an 80-77 victor over Penn for a 15-3 ledger; St. Bonaventure (14-1) in a 72-68 decision over its only conqueror, St. Francis (Pa.); LaSalle (12-5) over Georgetown (DC) 102-72; and Oklahoma City (17-4) over St. Mary's (Tex.) 87-69.

In Wednesday's other match, Caprock Restaurant kayoted Tom's Peanuts, 4-0.

Rena Flisberry of Caprock led individual scoring with 187-491 while Betty Reid of Zale's registered a 185 game.

University Of Alaska Getting Braced For Period Of Growth

By WARREN BURKETT
Reporter-News Staff Writer

COLLEGE, Alaska — Alaska's only advanced educational institution is bracing itself for a period of furious growth.

The University of Alaska now has only 800 students living on campus near this small town four miles from Fairbanks. However with its "community College" branches at Anchorage, Ket- chikan, Juneau and Palmer, plus the students enrolled in the military branches throughout the new state, there are a total of 3,500 part-time students.

This summer work should be started on a new Alaska Methodist university to be located on a tree-covered plain south of Anchorage, in what Alaskans refer to as the "Banana Belt" because its temperatures are much warmer than here near the Arctic Circle.

Originally, the University of Alaska was a college of mining, but it now offers liberal arts degrees, engineering degrees and business administration studies.

Enrollment is expected by Dr. Ernest N. Patty, president, to double in five years and triple in 10 years. Of the 75 faculty members, about 40 per cent hold doctor's degrees. The faculty-student ratio is now about 1-10, and the school would like to keep it that way.

LIVING LABORATORY

For one of the school's several divisions, Alaska is a great, living laboratory. This is the Geophysical Institute, which studies the upper atmosphere, ionospheric disturbances and the Aurora Borealis, glaciology and permafrost. The institute was the first to spot the launching of Russia's first Sputnik. One of the professors has a delicate alarm system rigged to awaken him when conditions are right for the beautiful lights of the Aurora Borealis.

The president is one of the original six professors when the school opened in 1922.

A graduate of the University of Washington engineering school, he left the University of Alaska for a successful mining career and leadership in the territorial business and political life before returning to the school as its president. Much of the growth of both the curriculum and the campus facilities can be traced to him, say school officials.

Pleads Guilty To Forgery Charge

M. L. Hodnett, under indictment for forgery, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court on Wednesday afternoon.

Judge Charlie Sullivan accepted the plea and granted the defendant's request for leniency. He sentenced Hodnett to three years in prison, then granted him probation.

The court stipulated that Hodnett must repay the persons to whom he had given the forged checks at the rate of $20 per month. Clerk Wade Choate said the total was $368.73 and that he was instructed to prorate the monthly payments to each of the victims.

Ultra - Modern Facilities

The coed in foreground walks across the campus of the University of Alaska. The school has many modern facilities, including Wickersham Hall, at right, girls' dormitory.

Basketball, winter sports and rifle competition are about the only sports activities. There are no football or track teams because of the budget and climate, although some start in this is hoped for the future. The basketball team is flown outside for competition and plays military teams in the states.

HISTORIC BUILDING

The new state constitution was written on the campus in a 70-day session at the student union building, now known as Constitution Hall, in 1955, with professors and staff members giving the convention consultants' services.

Departments of the college include agriculture, anthropology, arts and letters, biological science, business administration, chemistry and chemical engineering, civil engineering, education, general science, geology, geophysics, history and political science, home economics, mathematics, military science, mining and metallurgy, music, physical education, physics and electrical engineering and wildlife management.

Four of the students here are from Texas, coming from the Gulf Coast and South Texas areas. Tuition is one of the cheapest in the nation, only about $500 for room, board, fees and tuition for Alaska residents; out-of-state students pay about $600 more.

Salaries are lower than the Alaska average, with instructors starting at $6,500, assistant professors at $7,000, associate professors at $7,500 and professors $8,500, topping at $10,500. The college would like to raise all levels from $1,500 to as much as $7,500 in each category a year.

Suspect Arrested

James Morris Knight, 24, Lubbock, wanted here to answer charges of forgery, was arrested in Lubbock and returned to Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff, brought the prisoner to the county jail here. He had been sought for sometime. Miller Harris, sheriff, said.

Court Spurns Cage Appeal

AUSTIN (AP)—Ben Jack Cage was turned down again today by the Court of Criminal Appeals in his last-chance attempt to get out of a 10-year prison sentence.

The court overruled without comment Cage's second motion for a rehearing of appeal.

On Jan. 29 the court voted 2-1 for Cage to start serving the sentence a Dallas court gave him for misappropriating $100,000 from stockholders of ICT Insurance Co. and 74 other financial ventures Cage promoted. However, the court granted Cage's attorneys authority to file an unusual second motion for rehearing.

Cage faces trial on two other indictments in Dallas and two in Austin. When he failed to appear for trial in Dallas bonds totaling $6,000 were forfeited. In Austin he was ordered to forfeit a total of $5,000 in bonds.

Cage, who is in Brazzil, said last week he will return to Texas to face the charges and the prison sentence when he finishes his business in Brazzil. Cage said he had been working on a big land development project and on textile plant organization in Brazzil.

Impromptu Hospitality

Who can resist tender, fluffy pancakes? Always well received at breakfast time, they are becoming increasingly popular for malnch treatment and as desserts. And what could be an easier way to entertain than to stir up batter for an impromptu pancake supper?

Coffee Breads Coax Flagging Appetites

Sweet coffee breads will do more to pick up breakfast appetites than almost any other item.

That is not to suggest that a sweet roll and coffee are sufficient in themselves. But the fancy breads make an appealing addition to a morning fare featuring eggs and bacon, fruit and a beverage.

See for yourself what wonders will be wrought by these breakfast recipes. And, if there's any left, have your neighbor over for a cheery bite and a bit of chatter.

QUICK SALLY LUNN

- 1-3 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well-beaten
- 2 cups biscuit mix
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp cinnamon
- 1-3 cup chopped walnuts

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Add biscuit mix alternately with milk. Pour into greased 8 or 9 inch square pan.

Combine brown sugar, cinnamon and walnuts and scatter over surface. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 50 to 60 minutes.

Serve hot, cut into squares. Leftover cake is excellent thin and toasted.

COFFEE DIAMOND

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup white or yellow cornmeal
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 3 tsps double-acting baking powder
- 1 tsp salt
- 1-3 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup milk
- 8 tsps jam or preserves
- Extra sugar

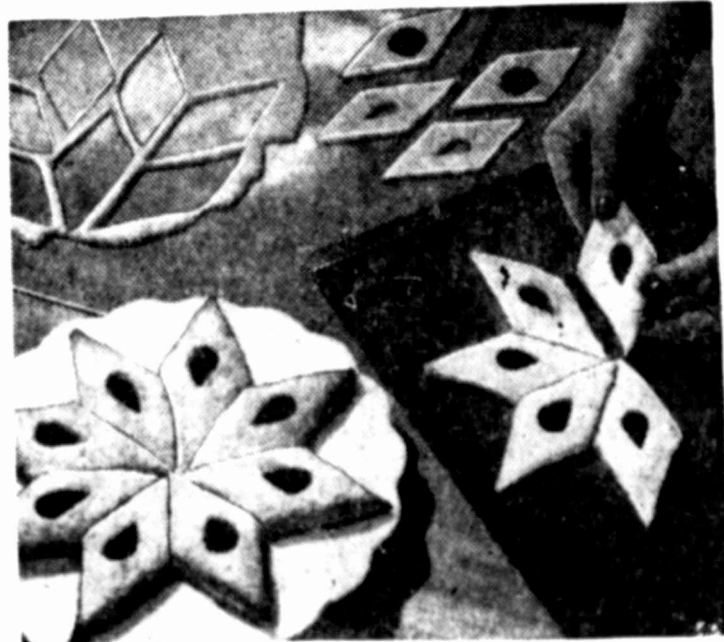

Sift together flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until particles are tiny. Add milk, stirring lightly only until mixture is dampened. Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth and knead gently a few seconds.

Roll out dough to 1/8 inch thickness; cut 16 large diamond-shaped biscuits using floured cutter or cardboard pattern. Cut design or slit in center of eight of the diamonds. Place 1 teaspoon jam on each uncut diamond; moisten edges of uncut diamonds with water. Place cut diamond over filling, lightly pressing edges together.

Arrange diamonds with tips to center in circle on cookie sheet. Sprinkle top lightly with extra sugar. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve at once with butter, if desired, and extra preserves. Makes 8 servings.

Apricot, raspberry and strawberry preserves are all good choices for the filling of this cake.

COFFEE DIAMONDS

Begin The Day With Cereal

One of the most satisfying elements of a nourishing breakfast year-round is cereal. Take your choice between the two - dry or hot cereals—but do include them in your menus.

Modern processing has made delicious breakfast foods possible from corn, oats, wheat, rice and barley, the basic grains. They are flaked, rolled, shredded, puffed, baked, ground, toasted, sweetened or flavored to taste, with many varieties available at the lift of the lid.

Cover them with sugar or syrup, or douse them with cream or milk. Add extra food value with canned or fresh fruits.

Tops in the wintertime is oatmeal, rich in flavor and texture. It may be prettied up with a shake

Mushroom Soup

Mix 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed mushroom soup, 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed asparagus soup, 1-1-3 cups milk, 1/2 cup sauterne wine or other white table wine, and 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese; heat just to simmering. Pour into heated soup bowls or cups and sprinkle with paprika. Serves 3 or 4.

Muffins Deluxe

As soon as muffins come out of the oven, roll the tops in melted butter. Then in a mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Serve at once.

Tender Pancakes Can 'Star' At Any Meal

Pancakes—those airy fairy fluffs of batter—are the inspiration for delightfully informal get-togethers after a game or a late show. They can be the major attraction at a leisurely Sunday breakfast. And they can be dramatized, with sauces, into either a stellar main dish or a dessert.

What's more, nothing could be easier to whip up than pancakes. Pillsbury's family of mixes has recently been joined by two newcomers, the blueberry and honey buckwheat pancake mixes. For the ultimate in breakfast or supper hospitality, stir up all three mixes and let your guests take their choice.

Give them a choice of toppings, too. Let there be the traditional hot maple syrup and jam. But also offer real comb honey for the buckwheats, brown sugar for the buttermilk pancakes, and whipped cream for the blueberry hot cakes.

Remember these baking tips: pancakes will be more tender if you do not overbeat the batter; leave small lumps. If you would have pancakes of uniform size, use a small measuring cup for pouring the batter onto the griddle. Remember, a 1/4 cup of batter makes one 4 1/2" pancake. The griddle is at the right temperature if drops of water dance when sprinkled on it.

If you are short on griddle space, pancakes can be baked ahead and kept warm in a platter in a slow oven.

Besides being economical, pancake mix can be used as a quick bread mix. Coffee cakes, muffins, waffles and nut breads emerge from it.

So you haven't used pancakes for a main dish? You will find that they assume new taste appeal with creamed chipped beef, chicken or turkey a la king, cheese sauce with asparagus, creamed mushrooms or eggs, and dill sauce.

Smother pancakes with orange or lemon sauce for dessert. Or ladle on whipped cream and fruits such as pineapple, cherries or berries. Still another tempter is hot fudge sauce. Even thickened fruit juice converts the pancakes into a meal's crowning touch.

Waffles Are Partial To Sugar, Spice

There is a special feeling about waffles that marks them as "company" breakfast fare. They do offer infinite possibilities.

Some folks like them plain, others add chocolate to the batter. Nuts folded into the mixture make them even richer, and cheese introduces a novel note.

Here is a simple recipe which has only pecans as the fillip. However, the treatment is different in that it suggests brown sugar and cinnamon be sprinkled over warm waffles.

SUGAR AND SPICE WAFFLES

- Ingredients:
- 2 cups pancake mix
 - 2 cups milk
 - 2 eggs
 - 1-3 cup butter or margarine (melted)
 - 1-3 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
 - 3 tsps butter (melted)
 - 2-3 cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
 - 2 tsps cinnamon

Method: Put mix, milk, eggs and 1-3 cup melted butter in a mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fairly smooth; lightly stir in chopped nuts.

Bake on hot waffle iron until steaming stops. Drizzle the 3 tablespoons melted butter over the waffles; mix together the brown sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over waffles. Makes five servings the warm waffles.

Farmer Jones goes to town for BORDEN'S BUTTERMILK

FRESH-CHURNED COUNTRY FLAVOR

Even on nearby dairy farms you'll often find Borden's Buttermilk in the refrigerator. Why should Mrs. Farmer Jones churn her own buttermilk? Borden's Buttermilk is made from country-fresh milk and cream in a way that gives it that fresh-churned country flavor, plus a smoothness that the old-fashioned churn can't equal.

Fruit And Cereal

For quick and lasting energy, begin breakfast with a bowl of cereal topped with fresh, frozen or canned fruit. It gives that "plus" quality to what nutritionists term the most important meal of the day.

Tomato Bouillon

To serve 6, mix and heat 2 cans (10 1/2 oz.) condensed bouillon and 1 1/2 cups tomato juice; add 1/2 cup sherry and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Good with shredded wheat wafers which have been buttered, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese, and heated in the oven.

Unusual Sandwich

Green cabbage, shredded paper-thin and mixed with well-seasoned mayonnaise, makes delicious and nutritious sandwiches to serve with a platter of cold meats.

Stimulate Interest In Breakfast; Start With New Ideas For Toast

Never underestimate the importance of a good breakfast. That is the advice of doctors and nutritionists who know that a well-rounded breakfast containing a third to a fourth of the day's food requirements will give a person a sound start for the day.

There is no mid-morning slump when that most essential meal of the day has been consumed. It fortifies, and, contrary to dieters' belief, allows one to lose weight more effectively.

Encourage your family to eat a good breakfast by offering an interesting variety of foods from day to day. Relieve the monotony, and one recommended way to do it is to vary the way you serve toast. Mrs. Baird's bread shares these simple and quick versions:

WAFFLY NICE FRENCH TOAST

1 tsp. cinnamon
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 slightly beaten eggs
2-3 cup milk
8 slices bread
Combine cinnamon, sugar and pecans. Mix eggs and milk. Dip each bread slice in egg mixture, turning to coat both sides. Place dipped bread in a preheated waffle baker. Sprinkle a tablespoon cinnamon nut mixture over each slice. Close waffle baker and brown. Serve hot with honey, marmalade or maple syrup. Makes four servings.

FLUFFY FRENCH TOAST

1 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup enriched flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1/2 cup shortening
6 slices bread
Place 1 cup milk into a shallow dish. Combine beaten eggs, flour, salt and baking powder in another shallow dish; add 1-3 cup milk and blend. Melt shortening in a skillet. Dip bread, one slice at a time, into the milk and then into egg mixture. Turn to coat both sides of bread.
Place bread into skillet, cover, and cook over low heat until golden brown on one side. Turn, cover, and cook until bread is brown on other side. Serve immediately with syrup or powdered sugar. Makes three servings.

CHEESE TOAST

2 eggs, well beaten
2-3 cup milk
1/4 tsp. salt
8 slices bread
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup grated sharp cheese
Combine eggs, milk and salt in a shallow bowl. Melt shortening in skillet. Dip bread slices into egg mixture, turning them to coat both sides. Brown bread on one side, then turn bread and sprinkle cheese on top. Remove when cheese is melted and underside is browned. Serve immediately. Makes four servings.

HULA TOAST

4 eggs, well beaten
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup pineapple juice
8 slices bread
Butter for frying
4 slices pineapple heated (cut to make 8 thin slices)

To eggs, add salt, cinnamon, sugar and pineapple juice. Dip bread into this mixture, soaking well and turning to coat both sides. Melt butter in heavy skillet. Place bread in skillet and brown on both sides. Serve hot with a hot thin slice of pineapple on each piece of toast. Makes four servings.

BUBBLY BROWN TOAST

4 slices bread
Butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
4 tsp. shredded coconut
Toast bread on one side in broil-

Muffins Can Be Enriched With Nuts

Whether you are planning to serve them with breakfast, eggs and bacon or with a chilled fruit salad for lunch, bran muffins will be heartily received. For added richness, don't forget to stir in dates and nutmeats.

BRAN MUFFINS

1 cup whole bran cereal
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup finely cut dates
1/2 cup chopped nutmeats

Combine cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; mix in dates and nutmeats. Add to first mixture, stirring only until combined.

Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 F.) degrees about 30 minutes. Serve immediately.

Yield: 12 muffins, about 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

Smudgy Windows

Dark, dirty smudges around windows and draperies often are caused by the kitchen stove. The grease particles move about and condense on cold surfaces such as window areas. Particles of dirt, dust, lint, then attach themselves to the condensed grease.

Mexican Beans

Fix canned red kidney beans the Mexican way. Mash them in fat in a skillet until very hot, then serve them with onion rings and grated cheese.

A Devotional For Today

But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. (Psalms 1:2.)

PRAYER: O Lord, teach us to hide Thy Word in our hearts so that we may not sin against Thee. Grant that we read it daily for our guidance in this dark and changing world. In the name of Christ. Amen.

Who Lobbys For The Helpless?

Everyone wants to hold state spending to a minimum, except where his particular interest is affected. Understandably college presidents want increases for the faculty and for new facilities; the teachers want minimum pay levels (and the scale in general) raised; the Department of Public Safety needs better pay for patrolmen; the State Highway Department needs more for roads, etc.

of our state; for the orphans; for the blind? Who is to speak out against paring appropriations for hospitals and special schools to the bone? Practically no one but the people. That means that those concerned with the problems of mental health should be concerned enough to sit down and drop their representatives and senators a letter. Rep. Obie Bristow and Sen. David Ratliff, representing Howard County, are familiar with our problem, but it would be helpful if they had more and more letters to use as support in their efforts to obtain ample financial aid for the hospitals. If people do not respond, then we can expect the work of the hospitals to be crippled at the precise moment that they are beginning to obtain real results. It would be tragic to penalize them simply because they are getting the job done.

Sand Better Than Twisters

The wild winter of 1958-59 took an even wilder turn Monday night when tornado winds swept into the outskirts of St. Louis and leveled a heavy toll on life and property.

This was a climax to the storm that, sweeping in from the Pacific Coast, had developed winds of 90 miles per hour—fifteen miles beyond hurricane velocity—in parts of New Mexico and the upper Panhandle of Texas. These winds had the sort of twist to them that picks up dirt and fills the sky with dust, all the more aggravated by the winter drought over much of the territory affected.

Widespread rains were reported in many areas, including portions of Texas where little or none had fallen in weeks, but nothing approaching drought-breaking proportions.

This is early for tornadoes, and we can only hope that the St. Louis blow was not an earnest of more to come before this rough winter breaks up. While none of us finds dust and sandstorms in the least pleasant, we can put up with them. It is better to be sand-blasted while the winds are rushing elsewhere for their destructive caprices than to be caught in the teeth of a tornado.

David Lawrence

The Problem Of Continued Unemployment

WASHINGTON—The paradox of continued unemployment on a large scale during a period of steadily progressing recovery is something that should begin to worry the labor leaders of America. It already has produced anxiety among many businessmen.

For, though business is slowly approaching high levels, the number of jobs isn't increasing as they should. The latest figures show that perhaps labor is "pricing itself out of the market" and that labor-saving machinery is being forced on industry at an unprecedented rate.

Thus the economic unit of "U. S. News & World Report" in a copyrighted article this week presents the results of a survey of the job loss in the last 10 years. This survey reveals, for instance, that since the close of World War II, the output per worker has increased 19 per cent in steel because the industry "pressed by high labor costs, has rushed new equipment and techniques to hold payrolls down." The result is that in 1958 the steel business employed only 538,000 workers. The article says that "if output per man had been the same as in the postwar years 1947-49, steel companies would have needed 637,000 workers."

Similarly, in autos, labor's loss in 10 years due to higher output per man is 132,000 jobs. An additional 48,000 jobs were lost due to the imports of foreign cars.

Another dramatic example is the coal industry where a 46 per cent increase in efficiency of output due to modern methods and labor-saving equipment has kept down the number of workers. Employees in 1958 in the bituminous coal mines numbered 195,000, but for the same output now as in 1948 there would have been needed 95,000 more workers than are employed today.

In the oil refining industry a loss of 71,800 jobs is noted in the last 10 years.

This information comes at a time when American industry, fearful of the power of labor in the present Congress, and of higher and higher wage demands, feels the necessity for introducing more and more labor-saving equipment. This course often a very expensive one, but seeing ahead higher and higher payrolls every year regardless of any assurance of greater productivity, there is but one choice to make—to introduce the labor-saving devices to get the increased productivity.

The U. S. Department of Labor in figures just released says that there are still many hard-hit areas in the country and that 11 of the 149 major labor markets in the United States have as much as 12 per cent unemployment. In 17 cities the report shows from 9 to 12 per cent unemployed, and in 48 more the figures show 6 to 9 per cent unemployed. There are 76 "labor surplus" areas, compared with 45 in that status a year ago.

What is needed, of course, is a study by the government to learn just what kind of companies in each industry are finding it hard going and why. The outward appearance is of a boom because many of the well-financed and more efficient plants, where new machinery has been introduced, can do a better job and at lower prices competitively than can many of the so-called marginal companies.

America can have a boom among the large industrial plants and yet see the plants of smaller companies running at much less than normal capacity. The Department of Justice seems to think the answer lies in bringing anti-trust suits against the large companies, but this alone cannot halt the drift toward more mergers. For it would appear that it is the plight of the smaller marginal companies which is producing much of the unemployment. Mergers among smaller companies are inevitable in many industries, but even this will not help much if the big labor unions negotiate wage scales with the big companies at rates that are ruinous to the smaller companies.

The national pattern is usually set on the basis of contracts with the large corporations. The smaller ones have to pay the going wage rates or find themselves out of business.

This is why what is going on in Washington today is so important to the national economy. If the budget remains unbalanced in large amounts, the purchasing power of the dollar will continue to slide down. This means that, as the cost of living goes up, the union leaders will feel they must have higher and higher wage scales to take care of the majority of their workers even though it means unemployment for the minority now idle. This is not achieving the much talked of goal of "full employment." In fact, there is much talk nowadays of "permanent unemployment," which is but another way of saying that fewer new jobs will be created and that the additions annually to the job-seeking population will become a bigger and bigger strain on the nation as a whole.

The tendency here is to try to cure everything by more public spending and by more and more borrowing by the government. The effect, however, is not to cure things, but make them worse as the dollar is driven down in value. Planning ahead in business during such an era is hazardous. When will the legislators here come to grips with the economic facts of American life?

Two Score Years

NORFOLK, Va. — The Naval Air Station here was so busy it didn't take time to celebrate its 40th anniversary. It was commissioned in 1918 with equipment of six tents and six seaplanes. Now it is one of the largest and most powerful facilities of its type in the world.

Just In Time

RIVERTON, Wyo. — "Want some insurance on that new warehouse you're putting up?" a Riverton insurance man asked Lowell Morfield, a uranium executive. Morfield pondered a minute, then decided he'd better get some coverage. A half hour later a freak twister leveled the framework of the steel building, causing about $3,000 damage.

Turned Down

BALTIMORE — The Better Business Bureau reports it turned down investigating this complaint: A woman said she hired a lawyer to represent her in a divorce suit and wanted a refund of his fee, but couldn't get it. The husband, she said, died three days after the decree was granted.

James Marlow

Surgery Like A Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles approaches illness like a conference with the Soviets: it will be a problem, but he has his plans made and it won't last forever, and when it is over he will have other problems.

Despite physical setbacks which would have floored other and younger men, President Eisenhower, 68, and Dulles, 70, have treated their serious illnesses like temporary discomforts.

Eisenhower, who has had a heart attack and an intestinal operation, and Dulles, who has had surgery for cancer and now faces a hernia operation, seem to look upon the secretary's latest hospitalization with great optimism.

The White House has denied not only firmly but picturesquely speculation that Eisenhower has been discussing with his associates the possible retirement of Dulles.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, is the one who gave picturesqueness to the speech although his figures of speech were mixed: "I can say it (the speculation) was completely cock-eyed, doubled in spades."

Before he went into the hospital this week Dulles gave the impression his hernia operation wouldn't set him back for long.

In his note to Eisenhower asking hospital leave, Dulles said "I'd like to devote a few weeks to physical recuperation" and, since he'd be in the hospital while he added, he could use the time thinking about the West Berlin problem still to be settled with the U.S.S.R.

Dulles brushed off any idea that he might really be out of circulation by telling the President: "I would be available for consultation with you and my associates and would expect, after a few weeks, to resume fully the duties of my office."

This left no doubt that Dulles, even though in the hospital or recuperating at home, planned still to be the State Department's No. 1 man.

It's possible his plans for dealing with the Soviets — over their demands that the Allies pull their troops out of West Berlin and leave it a free city — can go on pretty well if—

It's an "if" that can't be overlooked, no matter how great the optimism in the administration. "The 'if' is that Dulles is away up in years, illness has piled up on him, and he has worn himself down in his service as secretary. Therefore it's possible he will not respond physically as well as he and Eisenhower appear to think he will."

But until that happens — if it happens — it is pretty clear that anyone sitting in Dulles' shoes, like Under Secretary of State Christian Herter, will be completely overshadowed by Dulles, and that Dulles will continue to do the thinking for the State Department.

It proved one thing, though, to Lynne Smith, 12, of Trenton, N.J. If you want something done, don't be bashful. Go to the top.

She did. She wrote Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Court Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?"

When Cort and Lynne met last summer, at a Winewald, N.J., farm camp, his mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, worked in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, headed by Nixon. She since has become the committee's West Coast director.

So when Nixon received Lynne's letter, the wheels of government turned. The missive was forwarded to Mrs. Kloke's West Coast office.

Cort, bouncing his basketball in the driveway, said he kept meaning to write, but—

"Things kept getting in the way. He got a letter off, though. Contents classified. Back came an airmail reply. It was Lynne's picture, inscribed: "To Cort—with all my luck."

Name-Dropping Helps Girl Find Lost Boyfriend

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—It's a good thing 12-year-old Cort Kloke is a name-dropper. Lynne wouldn't have found him otherwise.

It proved one thing, though, to Lynne Smith, 12, of Trenton, N.J. If you want something done, don't be bashful. Go to the top.

She did. She wrote Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Court Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

Fair And Cooler

LANEXA, Va. — "Fair and cooler with increasing westerly winds."

Sounds like a routine weather forecast but it causes visitors to look and listen with astonishment when the reader of the paper is a 4-year-old Everett Mann. He has been reading for two years and few words in a newspaper trip him. His parents plan to have an IQ test at an early date for the boy.

Cattle Rescued

HIGH PRAIRIE, Alta. — Neighbors turned up with tractors, bulldozers and trucks to rescue 64 head of Bill Marquette's cattle mired in a soft-bottomed slough. Sixteen cattle died, but the others were pulled to safety.

Endearing Terms

WINCHESTER, Va. — Some folks thought it a bit unusual when a doctor kept calling a patient in an emergency ward here "darling." He was only trying to keep a husky apple picker, Welling Darling, still enough to sew up a four-inch gash in his head.

Around The Rim

Big Investment, Bigger Dividends

Taxpayers should be happy to learn that some of their government expenditures are paying big dividends.

That's in the Ohio Valley, where reservoirs and flood control projects have prevented $640 million worth of damages. The return is more than 100 per cent. Investment in the projects totaled $300 million.

No doubt, Tennessee Valley development also has paid for itself many times, but I haven't seen any figures on the losses prevented there. However, the issue of electric power generated by the Tennessee system has become so heated that other aspects of that development are generally overlooked.

The flood control facilities in the Ohio basin prevented more than $38 million in damages during the floods of the past month in that area, according to Engineering News-Record.

Losses totaling $10.5 million did occur in the Youngstown and Warren areas of Ohio. In addition, the Berlin and Mosquito reservoirs above those points, water would have risen another 5.3 feet and losses would have totaled $44.5 million, the magazine says.

Those two reservoirs cost $10.3 million. Before the January flood, they already had prevented $15 million in damage. Therefore, the $10.3 million investment has now reduced flood losses by $49 million.

Fourteen reservoirs on the Muskingum River upstream from Zanesville, Ohio, cut that city's flood losses by $3.3 million and had one other reservoir, now under construction, been completed, Zanesville would have suffered no flood damage.

Flood protection in the U. S. is "woefully inadequate" in the opinion of the engineering magazine. Yearly losses exceed $700 million.

Yet, if work now under construction and in the study stage were completed, the losses could be cut by two-thirds. The remaining damages can't be economically prevented, according to Engineering News-Record.

I suppose West Texas isn't too concerned with flood control, but hand in hand with that type of development goes water conservation, a topic of supreme importance in this area. It's encouraging to know that government activity in that field, slow as it appears, does pay tremendous dividends.

The Press Has Lost Notable Craftsmen

For those of us who have spent our lives in the newspaper business, the past eight weeks have been sad and shocking. In that short space of time, four of the very best in the business have died much too suddenly and much, much too young.

First there was Bill Corum—dear, rolly-poly, kind Martene Windsor Corum—sports columnist, first, and broadcaster and president of the Churchill Downs Race Track, second.

Then, Fred Othman, a gentle, delightful friend who wrote, out of Washington, D. C., a funny and devastating column on the inanities and foibles of politics and politicians. Interspersed, occasionally, were tributes to his bride of many years, Hilda, and his comic and classic struggles to be a farmer on his beaten-up acreage in Virginia.

For all his surface gaiety, Fred's typewriter was a surgical knife when he began operating on the vanitas vanitatum of bureaucracy and bureaucrats.

Next was Seymour Berkson, a brilliant editor and publisher. A perfectionist, he honed and polished many a reporter—by persuasion and example—into being almost as good as the reporter thought he was. He spent patient hours forcing many of us to write a little better today than yesterday, and the debt on our part will never be paid.

And now there is Meyer Berger, a newspaperman's newspaperman. He was a superb reporter and a great writer, and the two don't necessarily go together.

But Mike Berger was a master of both, and I doubt if there was a newspaperman in the country who wouldn't have been proud to carry Mike's typewriter. Only such a service would have embarrassed Mike even beyond his great gift of words, such was his real and endearing modesty.

Like Fred Othman, Mike was gentle, the very antithesis of the brash, swaggering, insensitive loud-mouth who passes as a reporter on stage and screen. So, for all that matter, were Bill and Seymour. They were warm, attractive gentlemen all, and I doubt that the general public, weaned on "Front Page," would have recognized them for what they were: Four of the most enormously competent and highly respected men in the news field.

In 1950, Mike won the Pulitzer Prize with a story that will be a classic of reporting and writing as long as newspapers are printed. That was the terrible recital of 13 persons massacred by an insane veteran on a shooting spree in Camden, N. J.

How characteristic of Mike that he sent the prize of $1,000 to the distraught mother of the killer, and that this fact remained unknown until his death! Mike radiated goodness.

Franklin P. Adams used to explode in anger when any admirer assured him that something he, Adams, had written for the late New York World was too good for a newspaper and should have been enshrined, instead, in a magazine or a book.

FFA believed, and rightly, that no writing is too good for a newspaper and its readers. He felt the newspaper reader deserved the best. Bill and Fred, Seymour and Mike gave their lives for that conviction. The profession is richer for them, but poor, much poorer for the '30' written much too early in their careers. Marquis Childs

Military Demands Vs. Dulles' Views

WASHINGTON — Confronted with the tape recording of the exchange between the fighter pilots who shot down the American plane over Soviet Armenia, Marquis Childs' only recourse was to say that it never happened. This insistence that black is white and vice versa has again and again been the last resort of international communism.

But it leaves unanswered so many questions about the missing unarmed Air Force transport plane. The tragedy adds to the deeply emotional reaction to the Soviet Union at a moment when important negotiations are about to take place.

There could hardly be a better illustration of the thorny path Secretary of State John Foster Dulles must tread in trying to formulate foreign policy in coordination with America's allies and in view of the sharply differing currents of opinion in this country. Dulles, according to those close to him, would have preferred that the release of the tape recording be delayed.

He was overruled by the Air Force despite a strong representation on the desirability of waiting at least until the Secretary had returned from his tour of the Allied capitals in a search for common ground on Berlin and Germany. The Air Force insisted that the documentation of the shooting down of the plane be put out before the bodies of the two unidentified flyers were buried in Arlington Cemetery.

Dulles cannot, of course, admit to any of the differences that make his position difficult. He is first of all a team player, completely loyal to the President and the Administration. Secondly, he knows the futility of appealing to higher authority in any intra-Administration dispute. The invariable reaction of the President is to say that the team players must work out their own troubles with no intervention from the captain.

Recently the State Department has applied a veto to a half-dozen inflammatory speeches by generals and admirals. These are of the "we can lick them with one hand tied behind us if you only give us all the tools we need" variety. They have originated largely in the Air Force.

This kind of public expression is generated out of two motives, one self-evident, the other less obvious. In the Air Force high command is a sense of real frustration over the limits imposed by the Eisenhower defense budget. While in testimony before Congressional committees this has been broadly hinted at, it cannot be said openly and, therefore, the speeches are designed to stir the public blood and stimulate a demand for bigger appropriations than the budget calls for.

The second motivation, which again finds strong expression in the Air Force, is based on opposition to any meaningful negotiation with the Soviet Union—the conviction being that in such a negotiation the United States is bound to come out on the losing end. This feeling is especially strong in light of the fear that with a budgetary ceiling America's strength is declining relative to Soviet strength. If we are to negotiate at all, so goes this conviction, it must be from a position of strength equal to or preferably superior to that of Russia.

At this critical time when Dulles is showing a degree of flexibility the two motives converge in stern opposition to any approach toward negotiation. The tragedy of the plane with the loss of 17 Americans and the release of the tape recording were from this viewpoint perfectly timed.

The official position is that it will make no difference in the negotiations in the months ahead. But inevitably it has stiffened public opinion with the sense of outrage over what seemed an act of wanton destruction.

Soviet generals do no make public speeches, and inside Russia there is nothing like public opinion as in the West. It seems quite probable, however, that they make speeches in private and that their conviction of the need for superior strength is not unlike that of our own generals. Certainly Nikita Khrushchev must contend with forces in the Communist bloc opposed to any softening toward the West.

This is the deadly seesaw on which the world finds itself as the weapons of nuclear annihilation pile up higher and higher. The weight of fear, suspicion and hatred is constantly being counterbalanced between one side and the other. (Copyright 1959, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

Slick Thief

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Wilton Wahl was fed up with the thief who was stealing archery equipment from his car. He planned an ambush.

First he put some bows and arrows in the front seat. Then he put his watchdog in the back seat. He then climbed to the roof of his house to get a clear view of the scene. Several hours passed but Wahl could see no burglar. He climbed down and found: His bows and arrows gone, his dog resting comfortably.

Real Cutter

GLADSTONE, Mich. — The Marble Arms Corp. of Gladstone is grinding knives for use by downed fliers.

The knives, tested by the Bureau of Aeronautics, have blades which can cut metal or other hard materials, such as the sides of a crashed plane. The knife butt is strong enough to be used as a hammer.

Show Biz Trying Havana Comeback

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Covering the far-flung show business scene: Entertainment is trying to stage a comeback in Havana, and some progress is being made. But the once-thriving Cuban show business won't resume until gambling is reinstated in the big hotel-casinos.

Like Las Vegas, the Havana night spots can flourish only with the aid of the take from the green-topped tables. The Havana Hilton, still operating as a hotel, closed its supper-room show after 10 couples appeared for a performance.

The Tropicana, a fantastic place in a jungle setting, is again presenting a lavish show and doing big business. But few tourists were in evidence.

The lack of American visitors is beginning to hurt. The new Cuban government appears to be making an effort at fence-mending. Billboards in Miami proclaim: "Now Cuba is free. We welcome our American friends — Fidel Castro."

How does Miami compare to the show biz scene in Las Vegas? There is much similarity during the peak winter tourist season in Miami (Oddly, the big season in Las Vegas is summer).

Escapes from the frozen north crowd into the night clubs of the luxury Miami Beach hotels to watch shows that are as good in some cases, identical — as those in the Nevada town. Prices are higher in Miami since there is no gambling to absorb the cost. Las Vegas jumps until dawn. Not Miami. It's an early-to-bed town, and most of the shows have trouble mustering a full house for the late performance. Showmen say the late shows are getting more and more sparse in clubs throughout the country. The nation seems to be losing its taste for midnight revelry.

Business appears to be good along Broadway — amazingly so in view of the lackluster legit season. When you see the crowds pouring into the theaters on 44th and 45th streets, you wonder how the stage could be so lousy here and failing elsewhere. This is one of the worst seasons within memory for touring shows.

Oklahoma Repeal Vote Continues

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Repeal of prohibition, with one hurdle behind it, faces another vote in the Oklahoma Senate today and then goes to the House for final action.

After five hours of debate, the Senate last night voted to submit repeal at a special election April 7. The vote scheduled for today would be to provide a separate vote on county option on the same date. If both measures are approved, each county would vote on May 12 to determine whether to be wet or dry.

If finally approved by the Legislature, it would give constitutionally-dry Oklahoma its first vote on legal liquor since 1949. Six elections have been held since statehood in 1907, all of them resulting in defeat of repeal.

Gov. J. Howard Edmondson is putting all of the administration's weight behind repeal.

Pajama Game

The superintendent of the Sleep Tite pajama factory and the sexy leader of the local union discover that "two can sleep as cheap as one" in this scene from "Pajama Game," scheduled for Feb. 13-19 by the Midland Community Theatre. Some of the songs you will hear (agala) in this well-loved musical include "Hey There," "Hernando's Hide-away" and "Steam Heat," and theatre members are hoping to succeed at least as well on "Pajama Game" as they did on "Oklahoma!" An orchestra pit is being constructed in the theatre building especially for the coming (and future) musicals.

Cleared In Death, Woman To Become India Missionary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cleared of complicity in her husband's slaying, Mrs. Gemma Caruana wants to go to India as a missionary.

"I hope God gives me strength to carry out my plans," the attractive brunette told reporters after the district attorney dismissed a murder charge against her.
