Fatal Crash Wreckage

This is the remains of a Navy Panther jet which crashed at the end of a Webb AFB runway, killing its pilot, Sunday afternoon. Capt. Francis X. Brandon died as he was being rescued from the wreckage. The plane cartwheeled when one wingtip struck the ground as Capt. Brandon attempted to land.

Marine Student Pilot Killed In Landing Crash At WAFB

A Marine Corps captain, student pilot at the Kingsville Naval Air Station, was killed Sunday afternoon when his jet plane went out of control during a landing attempt at Webb AFB.

Capt. Francis X. Brandon of Cranford, N. J., was killed when his F9F-5 Panther cartwheeled on the south end of a Webb runway. He was in the lead plane of a formation of four landing for fuel. Capt. Brandon's wingtip struck first on the "over-run" portion of the runway, sending the plane tumbling end over end. There was no fire, but both wingtips were torn off and nose and tail sections of the plane were badly battered. The engine continued to run after the jet slammed to a halt.

The four planes, piloted by an instructor and three students, had spent Saturday night at Memphis, Tenn. They landed at Dallas earlier Sunday, and were en route to Kingsville when they put in here for fuel.

Daniel May Send Legislature Special Message This Week

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel's office said today that "in all likelihood" the governor would have a special message for the 56th Legislature this week.

There have been numerous reports around the capitol that the governor was unhappy with the progress made and would urge greater speed in handling crucial taxing and spending measures.

Several influential committee chairmen said the record that the governor had talked with them last week. "A regular pep talk," one of them said.

Daniel's office said the special message would be "pretty soon," but no definite date had been set.

The development came as the Legislature neared the half way mark of the regular session—next Friday.

Both houses had debates going this morning but many senators and representatives stayed in the halls to talk with hundreds of school teachers who were here for a special committee hearing in the Senate tonight. The measure incorporates major recommendations of the Hale-Aikin school study, including an $800 a year pay raise for teachers.

Spokesmen for the Texas State Teachers' Assn. said close to 1,500 teachers and officials would fill the Senate gallery tonight.

After Friday, the 60th day of the 120-day session, general bills may not be introduced except on the hard-to-get affirmative vote of four-fifths of the members.

Exceptions to that rule include local bills, emergency appropriations and all emergency matters submitted by the governor. Thus if Gov. Price Daniel should have a new or alternative tax plan to offer later in the session, there would be no obstacle to its introduction.

Impending application of the rule in the House, however, is expected to result in introduction this week of at least one more tax bill to add to the stack of a score now under study in committee or subcommittee. Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio is expected to offer his general sales tax measure in the House before Friday, setting the stage for the future showdown on spending and taxing.

While both houses took another Thursday-to-Monday weekend recess, members of the House Appropriations and Senate Finance committees worked through Friday on the general appropriations bill Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, chairman of the appropriations committee, said he was still hoping to have the House bill in hand by March 20. The Senate bill will probably not be ready for floor study before April 1.

Both the House and Senate had generally skippy calendars to start the week, although there was no let-up in the heavy schedule of committee hearings. The bills ready for action in the House were not major questions. The Senate has pending at least two important House-approved measures. One is a proposed constitutional amendment aimed at doing away with abuses in the small loan business. The other is Rep. R. H. Cory's bill to institute a four-year efficiency survey of Texas government. It passed the House without major opposition. Senate sentiment for it was considered favorable.

Girl With Former Speech Difficulty Is Junior Queen

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A pretty brunette who has been talking only 10 of her 17 years today wears the title of America's Junior Miss.

Stately Miss Judi Humphrey of Lewistown, Pa., was selected from 10 finalists to climax the four-day pageant Saturday night. She squealed loudly when her name was called.

"I was all set to show what a good loser I could be," she told the audience.

Miss Phyllis Ann Whitnack, a blonde of Bluefield, W.Va., last year's winner, crowned the new junior queen, Gov. John Patterson presented the two-foot trophy.

The new queen didn't talk until she was seven because of a vocal chord disorder. An operation corrected the trouble and her tireless practice brought her the diction and voice that won the spectators and judges.

Runners-up, in order, were Peggy W. Kerwin, Webster Groves, Mo.; Linda Couch, Tampa, Fla.; Diane Eleanor Lee, Nome, Alaska; and Kathleen Honish, Shorewood, Wis.

Garden City Wreck Victim's Services Held

Charlie E. Odstrej, 37, hurt critically in a highway mishap a mile north of Garden City Saturday night, died Sunday morning in a Big Spring hospital.

Funeral services were to be held 1 p.m. today in the Garden City Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. Bill Cook, and the Rev. Jack Webb of Garden City officiating. Interment was to follow graveside rites at the Herrmleigh cemetery at 4 p.m. River Funeral Home was in charge.

Mr. Odstrej was hurt when his car crashed into the back of an auto driven by Clifford Brooks, 39, of Garden City, Saturday night. Brooks received minor injuries and Alfred Bush, 24, of Garden City suffered a fractured ankle in the mishap.

The wreck occurred on Ranch Road 33 Brooks told Highway Patrol officers he and Bush had been having trouble with their car and were test driving it at the time of the mishap. The vehicle had stalled several times, but was moving at the time of the accident, he said.

Mr. Odstrej had lived in Garden City for seven years. He was a pumper for the Tidewater Oil Co.

He was born Jan. 8, 1922, in Pyron and he and Charlene Carlisle were married in Sweetwater on Jan. 11, 1947. He was a member of the Baptist Church and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, having served in World War II.

Survivors include his wife, two daughter, Kathy and Charla Lea Odstrej; one son, Billy Joe Odstrej; all of Garden City; and two brothers, Joe Odstrej of Fort Stockton and Leo Odstrej of Crane.

Funeralbearers were to be Marshall Yates, Ed Wilkerson, Richard Dohbs, R. T. Duncan, W. P. Kelley and Taylor Pruitt.

Iraqi Pro-Nasser Revolt Continues

Robbery Suspect

Communist-Tinted Government Shaky

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi nationalist rebels claimed today their army is marching on Baghdad to crush the Communist-influenced government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Kassem's warplanes bombed Mosul, a major oil center, 220 miles northeast of Baghdad—that is the seat of a revolt led by Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaaf, apparently without decisive effect.

A war of words raged between radio Mosul and radio Baghdad. The smokescreen of propaganda veiled military movements, but showed bitterly the antagonisms between leftist followers of Kassem and military men who lean toward U.A.R. President Nasser's brand of Arab nationalism.

Smoldering unrest had broken into open rebellion less than eight months after Kassem led the bloody coup that killed King Faisal and destroyed his pro-Western monarchy July 14, 1958.

Conflicting claims and counter-claims alternated as the day advanced.

Radio Baghdad declared at one time Shawaaf was fleeing toward the Syrian border and offered $28,000 for him, dead or alive.

Later it reported he had been killed by his own men. This purported news, obviously aimed to dismay Shawaaf's followers, was accompanied by the reading of hundreds of messages pledging allegiance to Kassem.

Shawaaf himself spoke over radio Mosul to deny he was either fleeing or dead. He taunted the government in a voice strained and at times almost hysterical.

"We will keep fighting to the end, until we wipe out the corrupt regime and victory will be ours," he pledged.

He told the people not to be misled by radio Baghdad's production of pro-Kassem messages and brushed off the air raid on Mosul.

"The government felt that the end is near," the colonel said.

"That is why it tried, as a last measure, to bomb Mosul with the few planes whose pilots are still loyal to the government. All this proves that the government is dying and using its last weapon."

There were varying reports on affairs within Baghdad. A report to Beirut said there were disturbances in Baghdad streets Sunday in connection with a big pro-Nasser demonstration. On the other hand, a traveler reaching Cairo from Baghdad said there had been pro-Communist and pro-Kassem demonstrations. He said the situation was very tense.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency announced that the Iraqi military governor general, Brig. Ahmad Saleh Elabdi, had issued an order closing its offices in Baghdad without giving a reason.

Shawaaf's word to the Iraqi people will stay and the brave Iraqi army is determined to free you from opportunism and misrule.

"I shall fight until Kassem's insane dictatorship is crushed. The people and army have widely supported our revolt and pledged themselves to fight to the death the dying dictator and his hired gang who betrayed the principles of the July 14 revolution."

The Mosul radio declared Arab tribesmen had started moving in support of the rebellion and that the people of Ramadi, 50 miles due west of Baghdad, "have joined the blessed revolution and are marching with the army on Baghdad."

There was a warning against foreign intervention. A rebel communist said "our movement is purely an internal one concerning the Iraqi people alone."

Little information seeped out about affairs within Baghdad, but a report reaching Beirut described the situation as extremely dangerous for Americans and Europeans.

Army Reserve To Reorganize

Reorganization of the U. S. Army Reserve in the VIII Corps area has been ordered by Maj. Gen. R. G. Gard.

Reserve units will be remodeled to conform to the new Pentomic concept which has been in force in the regular Army for many months. Some units no longer required by joint war plans will be eliminated. Gen. Gard emphasized that there will be no reduction in the size of the Army reserve. As units are inactivated, personnel will be reassigned.

The Lubbock area command is also being reorganized. The sub-office in Midland, previously under the Lubbock area, has been designated by the Fourth Army as a separate area command. All counties south of and including Andrews, Martin, Howard and Mitchell counties are under the command of Maj. C. L. Mosby, Midland Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Seely and Fisher counties and those north through Lubbock are under the command of Lt. Col. Luther T. Barbour Jr.

Two units in the Lubbock area command which are being inactivated are the 29th Engineers Pipeline Co. in Snyder, commanded by Lt. R. R. Barman, and the 350th Engineers Detachment in Big Spring, commanded by Lt. Charles R. Hutchins.

Motion To Quash Indictment Fails

IN LAREZ CASE

One juror had been seated at noon as the trial of Robert Larez, charged with murder, began Monday in 11th District Court.

E. L. Jenkins was the only juror accepted at the morning session. A special venire of 90 had been summoned for service in the case. Sixteen had been excused by defense and state attorneys before the case was called. Three failed to report, three were disqualified for lacking some of the essentials required of a juror and four were excused for illness or other causes.

John Richard Coffee, defense attorney, opened the attack by seeking to quash the indictment against his client. He alleged that the introduction was faulty and that as a result the indictment was invalid.

Both the defense and state had at that time announced retired Gil Jones, district attorney, withdrew his announcement of being ready and asked permission to draw a motion to have the clerk amend the indictment as specified in open court.

Judge Charlie Sullivan permitted this to be done. Jones' motion asked that the indictment be amended by the clerk to read "Upon their oaths in said county present that" Larez committed the crime alleged.

Coffee objected the state could not take such action after the announcement of ready but the court overruled his objection.

Larez is accused of having shot Joe Cruz Villa, 22, to death on Dec. 24 on a busy street corner near the Alexander Grocery. The shooting is alleged to have climaxed a long interval of bad feelings between the defendant and his victim.

In examining prospective jurors, Jones made no reference to any views they had on applying the death penalty. Coffee was making clear that the defense would claim Larez acted in what he thought was an "unlawful attack" on his person which made him believe his life was in danger.

Announcement was made that an interpreter would be needed by the defense to interrogate some of its witnesses. Judge Sullivan instructed that such an official be on hand on Tuesday.

The trial of Larez is a special setting and only this case is docketed for trial at this week's session.

Hunters Catch 3,000 Snakes

SWEETWATER (AP)—Rattle snake hunters, 5,000 strong descended on a huge West Texas ranching area yesterday and captured 3,000 of the venomous reptiles.

There was no estimate of the hundreds of snakes killed in the roundup that covered 48 ranches in Nolan and Fisher counties.

The 3,000 snakes weighed 3,000 pounds, but the biggest was bagged by Howard Skinner of Sweetwater, who brought in a 7-pounder for a $50 prize.

Two professors from Wayland College at Plainview, Gordon Carrell and Maurice Sharp, captured the most, 275 snakes for a $75 prize.

Prizes of $25 went to Carrell and Sharp for catching the snakes with the most rattles, 16, and to Franco Reyes of Sweetwater for the smallest—14 1/2 inches long.

Entrants came from Massachusetts, Ohio, South Carolina and Oklahoma as well as Texas.

"It just proves that Texans have company when they go plumb loco," said a cowboy who chose to watch the hunt from his jeep.

Some hunters catch rattlers by throwing nets over them. Others use forked sticks, holding their heads to the ground until they can be thrown quickly into screen wire cages or sacks made of heavy duck.

Rattlers are lazy and sluggish in the late winter, but veterans concede there is no easy way to catch one, without getting a bite.

Large Crowd Is Due For Martin C Of C Banquet

STANTON (SC)—Prospects are good for a large attendance here at 7:30 p.m. today when the annual Martin County Chamber of Commerce banquet is held.

Col. Kyle L. Riddle, commander of Webb AFB, will be the speaker.

The banquet will be held in the high school cafeteria with F. O. Rhodes, president, presiding. Toastmaster will be Connie Mack Hood, and the incoming president will be James Eiland.

About 40 are expected to attend from Big Spring.

First Aid Course Slated At Lamesa

LAMESA — A Red Cross First Aid Instructor Course is to be held here beginning March 15. Classes are to be held each evening of the week beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Lamesa High School.

All persons who hold a current advanced Red Cross First Aid certificate are eligible to take the course. Instructing will be Hilton H. Gilliam of Brownwood, Midwestern area safety services representative of the American Red Cross. Gilliam has been an instructor for the American Red Cross since 1930 and joined the national staff of the organization in June, 1942.

Patrolmen Get New Uniforms

The two highway patrol officers in Howard County have a definite "new look" today.

At long last they have been provided with the standard uniform which was adopted last year and which has already been allotted to other enforcement agencies of the state.

The new garb is different in all ways from the old uniform so long familiar to the public.

It is light brown. The blue shirt of the old uniform is gone and so is the cap which the patrolmen formerly wore. They now wear semi-western hats.

Kel Davis, who showed up at the courthouse Monday in his new outfit, seemed rather taciturn about it. Jimmy Parks, the other patrolman, was not around for comment, on Monday morning.

All other branches of the DPS have been wearing these uniforms for several months. The patrol was the last to be refitted in the approved rig.

Macmillan Begins Europe Tour To Find Western Berlin Policy

PARIS (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today began a swing around the capitals of his major allies in search of a Western policy to take into negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Arriving in Paris to confer with President Charles de Gaulle, Macmillan said he feels the Soviets want to negotiate on Berlin.

"The Soviets accept that these immediate problems—Berlin, Germany and so on—ought to be settled by negotiations," Macmillan said.

He conceded there are wide differences between the West and the Soviets. He said in view of this, it is all the more important for the Western Allies to get together "to confirm our common policy and purpose."

In East Berlin, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev held a surprising meeting—at Khrushchev's invitation—with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Socialist party

Chairman Erich Ollenhauer. The meeting, held in the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, angered West Berlin papers.

Khrushchev also continued talking with East German leaders about the Red campaign to drive the Western Allies out of West Berlin. He declared at a reception in the East Berlin City Hall that communism will replace capitalism, just as capitalism replaced feudalism, but without war. He warned his fellow Communists that the victory would require "all our will and strength."

Paris was Macmillan's first stop to report to President Charles de Gaulle on his talks in Moscow with Khrushchev. The prime minister returns to London Tuesday night and flies Thursday to Bonn to give West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a fill-in. On March 19 he arrives in Washington to go over the Western views with President Eisenhower.

At the end of his tour, Macmillan said Sunday, he hopes the West will have concerted "a policy which will be firm and yet flexible enough to reach a successful conclusion of any negotiations."

The British, French, West German and U.S. governments all are agreed that they must stand firm against Khrushchev's threat to push the Western Allies out of West Berlin. But they still must work out proposals with which to counter the Soviet threat to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German regime control of the Allied supply routes to Berlin.

One of the biggest problems facing Macmillan is the doubt in the minds of Adenauer and De Gaulle about any such idea.

In West Germany, meanwhile, the news that Socialist party chairman Ollenhauer had accepted an invitation to meet Khrushchev caused a sensation.

It was the Soviet leader's first face-to-face encounter with a leading West German politician since Adenauer's visit to Moscow in 1955.

Ollenhauer, a staunch anti-Communist, announced he had informed West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano before accepting the invitation.

So far there was only a chilly silence from Adenauer's government.

Three To Get Ready

Condition Same

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall's condition remained unchanged and serious today at the Army hospital here. The 78-year-old soldier-statesman was hospitalized after a stroke Jan. 15, and suffered a second stroke Feb. 17.

Troopers Free Prison Hostages

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP)—Authorities today prepared criminal actions against six state prison inmates who grabbed six hostages and threatened to kill them in a two-hour reign of terror Saturday.

Steel-helmeted guards burst into the prison's metal shop to rescue the hostages who included Warden John A. Gavin and the Rev. Edward F. Hartigan, Catholic chaplain.

At the end of his tour, Macmillan said Sunday, he hopes the West will have concerted "a policy which will be firm and yet flexible enough to reach a successful conclusion of any negotiations."

Hawaii's Case For Statehood: We're Already Pure American

By CHARLES FARMITER
Honolulu Star-Bulletin Staff Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii, "the beggar on the capital steps," is back again this year, her palms up in quest of statehood.

The bulk of the nation's press supports her claim. The American people, in several nationwide polls, overwhelmingly have endorsed statehood for this sun-drenched, verdant strand of volcanic mid-Pacific islands where half million Americans live.

A variety of arguments have been advanced by Hawaii's opponents in Congress to support their so-far successful efforts to block her admission:

1. The territory's small population. Representation of larger states in the Senate would be diluted if Hawaii were admitted.
2. Lack of contiguity to the rest of the United States. Its value virtually destroyed by Alaska's admission, this argument now has become one of distance, rather than contiguity.
3. The racial composition of Hawaii's (largely Oriental) population, which breaks down about like this: Japanese 37 per cent, Caucasians 23 per cent, Hawaiians and part-Hawaiians 17 per cent, Filipinos 12 per cent, Chinese 6 1/2 per cent, others 4 1/2. But 85 per cent of all Hawaii residents are U.S. citizens by birth, regardless of their ethnic ancestry.
4. The doubtful loyalty of her people.

It is unhappy truth that, despite the many volumes of testimony compiled by Congressional committees on Hawaii's behalf, few Americans outside the territory are well-informed, even today, about what Hawaii really is.

Hawaii is no enchanted foreign wonderland. It is no ethereal tropical paradise, peopled by dusky, sarong-clad maidens who reside in grass shacks and dive for pearls in palm-shaded shimmering lagoons.

It is an honest-to-goodness, fast-developing, fast-maturing, modern American community.

Travel folders don't mention Hawaii's climbing crime rate, traffic deaths, juvenile delinquency. They don't dwell on divorcees, overcrowded schools, labor disputes, political graft. They don't report the high cost of living, the slums, the critical land shortage.

When you get down to basics, it's pretty hard to tell us Hawaiians from any other group of 554,000 Americans.

We watch the same movies. We speak the same language. We laugh at the same jokes. We're subjected to the same TV commercials, advertising the same soap, soup, toothpaste and cigarettes.

We're worried about the recession, inflation and international tensions. More knowledgeable about war than any other American community (remember Pearl Harbor?) Hawaii is sincere in its abhorrence of armed conflict.

We're not proud of our failure to solve completely the complex problems caused by an intermingling of races in the islands.

But we're working at it, and we are inclined to be too modest about the fact that people of many ethnic backgrounds live, work and play together here with few barriers and a minimum of friction.

Hawaii's population is larger than that of any one of five states — Delaware, Nevada, Vermont, Wyoming and Alaska — and about equal to that of Idaho, Montana or New Hampshire.

Honolulu alone is bigger in population than Alaska and Nevada combined, and larger than the biggest city in 31 states.

Given immediate statehood, some island economists predict a population of one million by 1975.

Hawaii is sufficiently solvent to meet the obligations of statehood. The governor of Hawaii, appointed by the President, is an employee of the U.S. Interior Department. His salary, and the meager wages of territorial legislators, are paid by the federal government.

The whole tab amounts to something over $50,000 a year, and must be picked up by Hawaii if it wins statehood. This is no problem. Bursting with revenues from new and higher taxes, the territorial treasury now boasts a surplus of about $700,000.

Hawaii's economy rests today, as in old territorial days, on an agricultural base. Sugar and pineapples are still the islands' two largest industries, but shipping is important, and the tourist business is burgeoning rapidly.

An influx of new industry—steel mill, oil refinery, clothing manufacture—is pushing Hawaii's economic growth curve steadily higher.

Hawaii is the nerve center of America's widening Pacific defense network.

From his office just outside Honolulu, Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of all Pacific forces, rules a tri-service military empire which stretches from the West Coast to the Aleutians and around the entire Pacific basin.

Defense Department representatives repeatedly have told Congress that the security of our nation and its armed services could not be impaired by statehood for Hawaii.

Four times since 1947, Hawaii statehood has come to a vote in Congress. Three times it passed the House, only to die in the Senate. In 1955, a joint Alaska-Hawaii bill was remanded to committee by the House.

Statehood means much to us Hawaiians.

We will have four representatives—two senators and two congressmen—in Washington. We will vote for president, elect our own governor. Our courts, now administered by federal appointees, will be run instead by locally selected judges.

Closer ties with the mainland will destroy the illusion that Hawaiians are foreigners, and aid local businessmen in obtaining financial support.

Before 1941, there was legitimate doubt where the loyalty of Hawaii's Japanese Americans lay. That question was firmly answered by Isle Nisei who served in World War II's famed 100th Battalion and 442nd Regimental Central Postal Directory.

More recently, charges of disloyalty have been directed at the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, run by leftwinger Harry Bridges.

The ILWU holds enormous economic power; it controls Hawaii's docks and the labor force in the important sugar and pineapple industries. But its political influence in the islands has been highly exaggerated.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N.Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.*

'Feeders' Day Slated At Tech

LUBBOCK — Cattlemen and ranch managers from throughout West Texas and New Mexico will attend the annual Cattle Feeder's Day at Texas Tech March 14.

Approximately 300 ranchers and cattle feeders are expected for the annual program sponsored by Tech's School of Agriculture. Registration will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Aggie Memorial Auditorium in the Agriculture Building. The program begins at 10 a.m.

"Cattle Prices, Outlook and Market Trends," will be the first topic of the day, discussed by Dr. Wayland Bennett, agricultural economics department head at Tech.

Results of a graduate project in feeding pelleted cottonseed to fat yearling steers will be told by James G. Cloyd, animal husbandry graduate student from Canadian.

This will be followed by a visit to Tech's experimental feed pens where the yearling steers were fed.

Dr. W. L. Stangel, dean emeritus of agriculture at Tech, will preside at the afternoon session. Dr. E. N. Jones will address the group at 1:15 p.m. to be followed by four speakers and a question and answer panel.

Included on the afternoon program are Paul T. Mason, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Spur, and John H. Jones, beef cattle researcher at Texas A&M. Marion will talk on "Progress in Ranch Research for Cow-Calf Operations on Rolling Plains." Jones' topic will be "Current Cattle Research Studies in Texas."

DEAR ABBY

HELPING HANDS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for "DESERTEED" and all the other unwed mothers who feel you are alone. Believe me, you are not. There are many of us. You say you are only 17 and wish you were 70 so you could go to your eternal rest? Dear child, what you now endure is but a moment in what can be a long and wonderful life. Many years ago the same thing happened to me and I too wished my life was over, but the years have passed and now I am a respected member of the community. I married well and raised my daughter who knows my story and loves me all the more because I held my head high and proved that one mistake did not make me a tramp. Dear little girl, I wish that I could hold you in my arms and tell you that the pain you now feel will pass with God's help. In closing may I say to the mothers of your girlfriends who shun you, "Let her who is without sin cast the first stone."

"NOT WITHOUT SIN"

DEAR ABBY: If the little girl who signed herself DESERTEED will call me collect before 7:00 a.m. or after 7:30 p.m., I'll be glad to send her a plane ticket and have her for my "niece" for as long as she wants me.

MRS. O. M. (Midland, Texas) DEAR MRS. O. M.: Texas may be the second biggest state in the Union, but you've got the biggest heart in all the world. God bless you!

NOTE: "MRS. O.M." is not the wife of a Texas oil millionaire. Her letter was written on the back of an order blank. She is a working woman.

DEAR ABBY: I've been following your column and am particularly disgusted with the way you coddle our young people who have strayed from the ways of righteousness and decent living. I refer to your stressing the great numbers of unwed mothers who have sinned but manage to build happy lives in spite of it. You encourage them to "hold their heads high" and to "forget it!" If girls who have had babies out of wedlock were cast out of society and made to suffer a little more for their sins they could serve as examples of other girls who are tempted to do the same thing. I'm glad I have no children but if I did, I wouldn't let them read your column.

RETIREED SCHOOL TEACHER DEAR RETIREED: Why kick a person when he's down? A helping hand is what they need. For everyone who gets caught in a mistake, hundreds (by the grace of God) are spared the ugly consequences which could easily have attended their misdoings. Who are we to sit in judgment of those who were less fortunate than ourselves?

DEAR ABBY: It reassures me to read your answers shifting the blame to parents when young girls find themselves in the difficulties described by DESERTEED. My parents meant well, but they impressed upon my mind that sex was vile and we were not to mention it in our home. I was curious and normal and at first opportunity I went exploring for myself. I left very few stones unturned. Thank heavens maturity caught up with me before my luck ran out. Please continue, Dear Abby, to use every opportunity to restate the responsibility of parents to take a firm stand on the subject of sex morality; relating acceptable behavior to strength of character rather than abstract good and evil. J. S.

Stewardess Keeps Vow To Fly Again

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Joan Zeller, 21, American Airlines stewardess injured in a plane crash which killed 65 persons, made good her word that she'd fly again.

She was discharged Sunday from Flushing Hospital, New York and flew with her mother to Providence to continue her convalescence at home.

Miss Zeller's Chicago to New York flight, carrying 73 persons, crashed into the East River Feb. 4.

Still walking with two canes, she vowed she'll go back to work as a stewardess.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!
New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription, so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene.
Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections. The secret—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose. So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 98¢—money-back guarantee. © 1958, Wallace, Pasteur Company

Roy rounds up dogs for the pound official with equal ease.

Immortal Words From Capitol Hill

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — "There are no commercial buyers for our products," the witness told the congressional committees. He was Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris, head of the Army ordnance team that produces missiles to carry nuclear warheads and propel satellites into space. Medaris' wry complaint, like many another pithy phrase, was lost among the millions of words uttered on Capitol Hill 86th Congress took office in January. Some deserved a better fate. For example, there was Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's one-sentence argument for the draft: "It has been my observation that most people who favor a purely volunteer force do not volunteer." And the adage quoted by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) to underline the need for avoiding conflicts between public and private interests of government officials: "It is almost impossible for a man to choke himself."

Contract Okayed
FORT WORTH (AP)—A new contract with Bell Helicopter plants here was approved unanimously yesterday by members of the United Auto Workers Local 218. One district director was startled on receiving a reply from a taxpayer who had failed to file an information return. Scrawled across the statement was a declaration: "I have been dead for almost a year." Each filing season brings a large number of perplexing questions. One accountant representing a mortician called to ask: "If an undertaker goes to a convention in Atlantic City, is the expense deductible even though he doesn't expect to meet any clients?" Among other comments and questions: "Had a W-2 (tax withholding statement) from the Army and my sister washed it and it faded. What must I do?" "Husband went fishing, fell in creek. Is lost fishing pole deductible?" "Borrowed cow, cow fell in ditch and broke her neck. No cow, no milk, no money. Is there a deduction there?" A taxpayer, having been handed a sample form which indicated a tax due, handed it back saying, "I want one that will give me a refund." A taxpayer, when questioned about who supported her if her parents didn't, had a long, whispered discussion with her escort, when replied: "I'd rather not go into that."

Tax Collectors Have Their Moments, Too

DALLAS (AP)—Federal tax collectors generally hear little but complaints. But once in a great while a funny incident brightens their day. Here are some stories connected with tax gathering, as related by Ellis Campbell Jr., internal revenue collector for the Dallas district, and his staff. A young woman visited a district office for help in preparing her return. Early in the conversation with the agent she said she was not married. A moment or two later, however, she claimed two dependent children as exemptions. "The agent looked up and asked: 'Definitely you say you are single?' 'I am,' she said. 'But can't a girl make a mistake once in a while?'" A woman was questioned by a tax agent on her claim of 15 dependent children. The next day she showed up at his desk with all 15, by age steps, lined up in back of her clear to the door. A blindness claim and development brought one agent up short. A woman presented a return for checking in which she claimed her husband was blind and therefore due the additional exemption. "This is properly made out," the agent said. "But your husband will have to sign it. I hope it won't be too much trouble for you to get his signature." "Oh, no," the woman exclaimed. "No trouble at all. He's outside parking the car right now."

...of your car"

That's a pretty good way to describe the effect of Golden Esso Extra gasoline on the sleeping power in your car's engine.

To say it another way: Golden Esso Extra gives you all the performance you paid for when you bought your modern car.

It is produced by formulating a modern gasoline of exceptional purity with special chemicals from Humble's great Baytown refinery.

It is a magnificent gasoline!

It has highest octane rating. It eliminates "bucking" as you start and "rumble" as you run. It gives you superior mileage. It burns cleaner than any other gasoline. And it adds the power and response that make driving safer—and yes, more fun!

The cost is only pennies more than the cost of gasoline in the middle-price range (about a nickel a day on the average), and you get a dividend of improved performance on every mile you travel. Any car in any price class.

Fill up with Golden Esso Extra gasoline under your neighbor's Humble sign—every time.

Hurry! Ask for a validated proof-of-purchase coupon that entitles you to buy the Southwest Heritage Collection of six tall Tiffany glasses for only $2.00!

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY

Change to UNIFLO... the motor oil that's in a class by itself for quality

Uniflo is a one-grade (10W-30) oil that gives you instant lubrication in any weather. No need to change grades with the seasons: Uniflo penetrates to every part of your engine on winter's coldest day, stays tough and full-bodied in summer's hottest weather. It protects against friction wear, acid corrosion, sludge; it cools, cleans, seals as it lubricates. Recommended for hardest highway driving, and for the harder service of stop-and-go driving in city traffic. Change to the best—change to Uniflo Motor Oil under your neighbor's Humble sign.

Grantham Has Big Supply Of Watch Bands

One of the biggest selections of watch bands to be found anywhere in West Texas is now available for your inspection right here in Big Spring.

The varied collection is at the J. T. Grantham Watch Repair and Jewelry Store, 118 Main.

Regardless of the type, style or quality of the watch you wear, Grantham has just the band to make its perfect companion. He invites your examination of the assortment.

Skilled watch repair and service also is provided by J. T. Grantham, a master craftsman with more than a score of years of experience and training in his field. A well known Big Spring watchmaker for many years, Grantham recently opened his new store just north of the State National Bank.

The Grantham Watch Repair and Jewelry store also has a large stock of jewelry of all kinds of particular interest right now, he said, is the latest in ladies' pear pendants, pendant drops and necklaces of other types. With Easter rapidly approaching, Grantham said many husbands, fathers and others will do well to look over his stock before making a selection.

Grantham is probably Big Spring's best known watch repairman. He has serviced literally thousands of timepieces since moving here more than a decade ago.

Not only is he skilled in all phases of the craft, but he uses the very latest types of equipment in his work. For instance, the most recent development in automatic cleaning machines has been installed in Grantham's shop.

You'll always find the service courteous and prompt, as well as efficient, at the Grantham Watch Repair and Jewelry Store. And even if you aren't shopping or in need of watch repair, Grantham invites you to drop in and get acquainted.

Wooten Transfer Personnel Expert In All Moving Work

Moving some place? Across town, perhaps? Maybe to another state or clear across the continent?

If so, you will need the help of some competent and well trained transfer company.

You can't do better anywhere than to call H. P. Wooten Transfer & Storage. A phone call is all that it takes. Tell Wooten your problem — where you intend to move and when you plan to do so. He'll take over from that point and your worries are over.

Wooten's expert workmen will move in on the job. They'll pack your precious belongings as they should be packed. You'll know that at the end of the move, these prized possessions will be just as good as they ever were. Big modern vans, operated by experienced and careful drivers will do the hauling. When you reach your new destination, your belongings will be on hand safe and sound. In a jiffy you'll be re-established and life will go on without a ripple.

Wooten's at 505 E. 2nd is the authorized agent for Greyvan and Lyon — nationally known for their work as movers. The motto at Wooten's is "safe — economical — prompt — dependable." And that's exactly the kind of service you get when you call on Wooten to do a job for you.

If you have a problem of what to do with furniture that needs storing — Wooten has the answer to that one, too. The big warehouse of this popular Big Spring organization is exactly the place to store that stuff until you are ready to put it into use again. A phone call to AM 4-7741 (night time call AM 4-6292) will provide the complete answer to any moving or storage problem that you may have. And Wooten's is the man to do the job.

Solved - Carpet Cleaning Problem.

Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One-half gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9x12 rugs. Available at Big Spring Hardware, 115 Main St.

Jones Motor Creighton Still Gives Top Value Sells Seiberlings

Before you make a final decision on that new car, price the new Plymouths at Jones Motor Co., 101 Gregg Street.

The dealer's concern is offering might surprise you and you will probably find one difficult to turn down.

The 1959 Plymouths boast such features as new swivel seats and electronic safety aids.

The swivel front seats represent the first major change in car seating since Plymouth introduced the rear-facing third seat on station wagons.

The new feature, standard equipment on the Sport Fury 2-door hardtop and convertible, allows the front seat passenger and the driver to pivot the seats toward the door while entering or leaving the car. The new arrangement also provides an arm rest between driver and front seat passenger which may be folded back when three persons wish to ride in the car.

Swivel seats are available as optional equipment on the 2-door and 4-door hardtops in the Fury line, the Sports Suburban and the Belvedere convertible.

The new Mirror-Matic rear-view mirror, automatically "dims" when lights of the following car come into view, removing the annoyance of the reflected glare in the driver's eyes.

If you haven't looked over the "new" Creighton Tire Co., you are more than welcome to do so.

The well known firm is the same; the location of business has been changed, and it is larger than the old. The "new" Creighton Tire Co. is now located at Sixth and Gregg.

Creighton Tire Co. is still owned and operated by Charlie Creighton. He is still handling good Seiberling tires, a product he has sold for over 27 years. And for the last 22 of those years, the firm has occupied the same building at 203 W. 3rd.

But for the reason of expansion, the firm had to move and chose the Sixth and Gregg site. Here the facilities are more than twice the size of the old quarters, this giving a chance for Creighton to serve his customers. As at the old address, complete service station facilities are available, where you can fill up with Mobil gasoline and get complete Mobil lubrication.

Creighton has been in the new quarters for about two weeks, but he still urges everyone who has not been by to stop and inspect the new setup, get a tank of Mobil gasoline, and just "browse around." Or maybe get a wash and grease job; work can be handled faster here with three stalls for handling these jobs.

With the added room, Creighton Tire Co. is able to better display its stock of Seiberling tires. This stock includes all types of truck and tractor tires in addition to a complete stock of tubeless and conventional passenger car tires.

The welcome mat is always out at Creighton Tire Co. Come by and see the new store.

Texas Chemist Figures In Research Story

By LEDGERWOOD SLOAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

How a Texas-born chemist helped synthesize an antibiotic that now has annual sales of more than $3 billion dollars is told in a new book, "The Merchants of Life."

Also told is how the chemist, Dr. Loren M. Long, developed drugs important in treating epilepsy.

The author of the book about the American pharmaceutical industry's research and life-giving discoveries in the war against disease is another Texas native, Tom Mahoney. It was published this week in New York by Harper G. Bros. ($3.75).

Dr. Long is assistant director of chemical research for Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit pharmaceutical manufacturer. The native of Dallas joined the firm in 1941 shortly after receiving a Ph.D. degree at the University of Texas and B.S. and M.S. degrees in chemistry at North Texas State College.

After chloromycetin, first of the broad spectrum antibiotics, was isolated from an organism found in soil from Venezuela, Dr. Long and his associates worked out a chemical process for making the antibiotic. It is the only antibiotic produced commercially by chemical synthesis.

Drugs for controlling epilepsy, milontin and celontin, came from his laboratory in 1954 and 1957.

The book traces the search for new drugs from ancient times, a search that sent Christopher Columbus across the Atlantic to discover America.

"The spices of the East, to which he was seeking a shorter route, Mahoney writes, were the medicinal herbs of the day rather than seasoning for foods."

Mahoney, born in Dallas, worked on the Dallas News and El Paso Post before becoming a magazine writer and editor in the East.

He presents in detail accounts of a score of other major drug companies, their exciting achievements and their costly failures in their never-ending quest to prolong life.

West Texas Skies Clear

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear over North Texas and West Texas Monday, but clouds were over the Gulf coast area.

Temperatures were seasonably mild, ranging before dawn from 31 at Dalhart to 34 at Amarillo, 48 at Dallas and 64 at Laredo and Brownsville.

A weak cold front, moving southeastward, was off the upper Texas coast but still north of Corpus Christi before sunrise. Showers and thunderstorms developed Sunday night along the front in East Texas.

Lufkin had 44 of an inch of rain about midnight and there was fog early Monday at Laredo and northward to Cotulla. Some light drizzle also fell at Laredo.

Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies through Tuesday with no important changes in temperatures over the state.

An extended forecast, issued Monday for the ensuing five days, called for Eastern Texas temperatures 2 to 4 degrees below the normal minimums of 49-59 in extreme South Texas and 39-49 elsewhere in the region. Normal maximums for the area are 64-78.

For the western half of the state, temperatures were expected to be 2 to 4 degrees below the normal minimums of 26-36 in the north and 36-51 in the south and the normal maximums of 55-73.

The only precipitation mentioned in the extended forecasts called for light to moderate in brief periods of scattered showers in East Texas.

Cameras Set For Orbits

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Nine giant camera satellites will be fired into orbit aboard powerful Atlas missiles starting next September, informed sources say.

Persons close to the project reported Sunday the camera satellites, weighing about a ton, will be blasted into short-lived orbits to take pictures of most of the earth's surface, including the heartland of the Soviet Union.

The program, called "Project Sentry," will use a two-stage Atlas ICBM as the booster for the bulky payload.

There were no details on the camera itself or how it would perform, but it was learned that the project was shifted to the Cape from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Sentry is just one of a number of important space roles being assigned the workhorse Atlas which soared into orbit on its own last Dec. 18.

In June the 360,000 pound thrust rocket will be the first stage vehicle for a probe to the planet Venus. Later, Atlas will have the job of shooting the first man into space.

It was learned that the decision to move Sentry to the Cape was made to take advantage of the extra 1,000 m.p.h. kick provided by shooting in the same direction as the earth's rotation. The satellite must reach a speed of more than 48,000 m.p.h. to attain orbit.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Should the schools at Ackerly and Knott consolidate, one of West Texas' very best girls' basketball teams could be shouldered materialize.

As it is, the fem contingents at both schools are experiencing better than ordinary success.

Knott recently was crowned champion of the Big Spring club at home. HC will have the added disadvantage, too, of playing without their top rebounder and tallest player, Bob Davis, who is ineligible for this meet.

The two quintets take the court at 9 o'clock this evening. Should the Hawks win, they'll meet the survivor in the Clarendon-Sayre engagement Tuesday night.

Clarendon and Sayre clash in the tournament opener at 4 p.m. while Odessa takes on Frank Phillips College of Borger at 7 o'clock this evening.

SAC won the regional crown two years ago and proceeded to the National title. The Rams were undefeated against junior college competition that year.

Clarendon is favored to attain the finals against San Angelo. The Bulldogs beat HCJC by one point at the State Meet in Corsicana recently and have beaten Odessa, and Amarillo and Frank Phillips twice each this season.

Bob Carter, the tournament director, was unable to obtain an eighth team for the meet, although any number were eligible. The winner here gets most of its expenses paid to the national tournament.

Probable starters for the Hawks tonight include Gilbert Bell and Tommy Zinn at the pivot positions and Benny Carver, Ray Clay and Jimmy Evans or Harold Henyon out in front.

The Hawks carried a respectable 21-10 won-lost record north with them.

Williams is training at his own pace. On a typical day, he may play a little pepper ball, take batting practice, shag some flies and do a little dogging. He hopes he won't have to play in any exhibition games right away.

As usual, he has two jobs in camp—getting in shape himself and acting as batting consultant to anybody who wants the service.

Williams is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves don't like the idea of their chattered playing basketball when he could be working out with the club, for which he didn't win a game last year.

He is trade bait, and the Giants have admitted they've reached the talking stage of a deal for the lanky right-hander. But so far the asking price has been too high.

JAYHAWKS OPE UP IN REGIONAL MEET

AMARILLO (SC)—The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks bedded down here Sunday night, awaiting the start of the annual Region V Basketball tournament.

The Hawks have their cut out for them, if they are to win the championship and earn the trip to the National JC meet at Hutchinson, Kansas, later in the month.

The Hawks, who are shorthanded, open against tall Amarillo College, Amarillo, although it finished behind HCJC in regular West Zone play, beat the Big Spring club at home.

CLAWPRINTS OF THE JAYHAWKS table with columns: Player, G, FG, FGP, FTM, Reb, Tp, Avg. Lists players like Bob Davis, Ray Clay, Tommy Zinn, etc.

Legend: G-games played, FG-field goals made, FGP-percentage of field goals made, FTM-free tries made, FTP-percentage of free throws made, Reb-rebounds, TP-total points, Avg-average points per game.

Entry In Relays: Heavy Bonorden (above) of Texas A&M will be one of the entries in the upcoming American Business Club Relays, scheduled for March 27-28.

Those narrow defeats sophomore sprinter R. L. Lasater of Big Spring High School is experiencing on the cinder track doesn't worry his coach, Harold Bentley, who reasons Lasater will spend practically all of this season learning how to run.

Lasater is consistently under ten seconds in the 100. Once he gets his starts down pat, there's no one going to beat him.

The Texas A&M track and field team which comes here March 25 to compete in the annual ABC Relays, is built around its hurdlers and pole vaulters.

Ernie Urie of the Aggies finished in the 200-yard low hurdles and second in the highs in a triangular meet with Houston and the University of Texas recently.

Charley Vance and Jerry Davis of the College Station team tied for first place in the pole vault in the same meet with leaps of 13 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Matty Bell, the SMU athletic director, confided to friends recently that Jan Landerer of Big Spring was easier to coach than any athlete they've ever had.

Frogs And Ponies In Clash Today: Texas Christian, with the best record so far in the Southwest Conference's young baseball season, Monday plans host to untested Southern Methodist.

The SMU Mustangs are one of the four loop teams who have not seen action. The others are Texas, Texas Tech. and Rice, the Mustangs were to have met Sam Houston last week but the game was rained out.

The TCU Horned Frogs have three wins and one loss. They drubbed Abilene Christian College twice but split a 2-game series with Texas Lutheran.

The University of Texas swings into action Tuesday against Brooke Army Medical Center at Austin while SMU and TCU move to Dallas for a second game.

The Texas Aggies, with a 1-2 mark, are hosts to Texas Lutheran at College Station Wednesday while Baylor, with one loss against no victories, entertains Sul Ross at Waco. Baylor and Sul Ross play again Thursday.

The Rolling Ghosts of Lubbock, defending state champions, defeated the Big Spring Scorpions, 2-0, in a West Texas Roller Hockey league match unrec'd at the Skelated Roller Rink, Andrey and West Second Street, here Sunday afternoon.

The match opened 1959 competition for both contingents. Big Spring next sees action two weeks from yesterday (March 21), at which time they host the Odessa Pirates in a 4 p.m. engagement. Big Spring will play host to the

Failure To Hit .300 May Cause Ted To Retire

By CHARLES MAHER, Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Williams has said this could be his last year in baseball if he fails to hit .300.

But if his appearance means anything, there's no need to get desperate about hiring a hall for a retirement banquet.

The great Boston outfielder, who has never hit worse than .317 in his major league career, checked in for spring training looking as though he had spent half the winter soaking in a fountain of youth.

He not only doesn't look 40 years old, but he apparently doesn't feel it, except maybe a little in the legs.

"I feel fine," he said between sips from the batting cage. "I had a bad ankle a year ago but it's just a little stiff in the legs."

Does he have to work a lot harder now to get in shape than he did five or six years ago?

"Boy, I don't see how I could work any harder than I did then. I probably wouldn't even be able to work that hard. But it does take me a little longer now. I figure it should be about three weeks."

Williams said he played a little tennis in the winter and, as usual, did a lot of fishing.

"I was outside all the time," he said, "and I poled my boat. I think it does me a lot of good."

A listener said he guessed Ted couldn't find much fishing here in the desert.

"Well, the other day some guy in the stands yelled: 'Hey, Ted, you know you're right in the heart of the fishing country, don't you? It's 500 miles south of here and 500 north.'"

Williams is training at his own pace. On a typical day, he may play a little pepper ball, take batting practice, shag some flies and do a little dogging. He hopes he won't have to play in any exhibition games right away.

As usual, he has two jobs in camp—getting in shape himself and acting as batting consultant to anybody who wants the service.

Littler Leads By One Stroke

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gene Littler matched his string-straight game against the shocking power of Bill Collins today in the final round of the $200,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Although a half-dozen other pros remained in the running for the $200,000 top prize, the title picture narrowed down to Littler, the leader at 209, and Collins, the runner-up with 210.

Littler, a pint-sized consistent money winner from Singing Hills, Calif., came in with a par-matching 72 Sunday.

Collins, a 230-pounder who is still a stranger to golf's headlines, trimmed two strokes off par with a 70.

Mo Norman of Toronto, Canada, one of golf's new "characters," held the No. 3 spot with 212. A five-man contingent was grouped at 213.

Scoreboard table with columns: Player, Score. Lists names like Littler, Collins, Norman, etc.

Doctor Of Psychology Gets Chance Against Champion: ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—A wrestler who holds master and doctor degrees in psychology tonight will attempt to show Archie Moore, king of the light heavyweights, that a wrestler can whip a boxer.

Sterling (Dizzy) Davis of Houston, who both boxes and wrestles, will meet Moore in the main event of a local boxing card.

Besides a knowledge of psychology, Davis says he will also be depending on his right hand punches, which he says are the quickest and hardest in the world.

SMU Basketball Star Is Victim In Fire At Home

RUSTON, La. (AP)—Bobby James, the only junior selected on the 1959 All-Southwest Conference basketball team, died in a fire at his family home here yesterday.

Funeral services for the 20-year-old outstanding Southern Methodist University athlete were held here today, with teammates Max Williams, Steve Strange, Wilbur Marsh, Kim Nash, Ellis Minton and Carter Creech serving as pallbearers.

James died in a fire at his parents' home early yesterday after an evening with his fiancée, Miss Sandra Woodward. A June wedding had been planned. He was 20.

A preliminary investigation indicated the blaze started in a bathroom wall heater and that the victim apparently suffocated.

James, 6-foot-5 inches tall, was a unanimous choice on the All-Southwest Conference team and the only junior selected.

NCAA To Get Big O If Bearcats Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer

Who gets basketball's Oscar? The National Invitation Tournament or the NCAA Championships?

The question could be answered tonight when Oscar Robertson, the second straight year, leads the Cincinnati Bearcats against the Bradley Braves at Cincinnati.

If Cincinnati wins, the Bearcats will be in the NCAA title event as the Missouri Valley Conference representative with Texas Christian University's first opponent at Lawrence, Kan., Friday. Bradley then would fill the last open spot in the 12-team NIT, play opening at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday.

Should St. Louis defeat Cincinnati, the question will be answered at Wichita, Kan., Wednesday with the Braves and Bearcats meeting in a playoff. Cincinnati has a 12-1 conference record and Bradley 12-2 after breaking even in a home-and-home series. St. Louis, already in the NIT, is third at 10-3.

The Missouri Valley Conference bracket is one of the two remaining spots to be filled before 23 teams start play in the NCAA title event. The other is the Border Conference for which New Mexico State and Arizona State University meet for the title tonight. The Border ended in a three-way deadlock but New Mexico eliminated Texas Western 65-48 in the first play-off game Saturday night.

Two brackets were filled in play-off games Saturday. Dartmouth edged Princeton 69-56 for the right to represent the Ivy League and Bowling Green beat Miami of Ohio 76-63 to get the nod from the Mid-American Conference.

Meantime, DePaul got the jump on the remainder of the NCAA championship field by turning back Portland 57-56 in a first round game between two at-large selections at Portland. The victory moved DePaul into the Lawrence regional, where the Demons will meet Kansas State, Big Eight champions, Friday.

Here's how other first round play shapes up in NCAA action: Tuesday at New York—West Virginia vs. Dartmouth; Connecticut vs. Boston University; North Carolina vs. Navy. The winners, join St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania in Charlotte, N.C., Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday at Lexington, Ky.—Eastern Kentucky vs. Louisville; Bowling Green at Marquette. The winners move on to Evanston, Ill., Friday and Saturday for the Mid-East regional into which Kentucky and Michigan State drew a bye.

Wednesday at Tempe, Ariz., or State College, N.M.—Border Conference representative vs. Idaho State. The winner takes on St. Mary's (Calif.) in one game and California meets Utah in the other Friday at San Francisco.

The four brackets for the Midwest regional at Lawrence Friday and Saturday already have been filled. From the four regional semifinals will come the winners for the semifinals at Lexington, Ky., March 20.

In the small college field, the NCAA narrowed its field to eight. The NAIA to 32 over the weekend. The eight NCAA small college teams clash at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday with the semifinals scheduled for Thursday and the finals Friday. The NAIA swings into action in Kansas City today with eight first round games on deck. The other eight, including defending champion Tennessee, will play their first round games Tuesday. Finals are Saturday night.

Pairings for the Evansville tournament are, North Carolina A&T vs. American University, St. Michael's (Vt.) vs. Evansville, St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania and South vs. Northwest Missouri and South Dakota State vs. Los Angeles State.

Cincinnati could have settled the Missouri Valley question Saturday but fell before Bradley 84-66 as Robertson scored only 24 points. His average is 33.6.

North Carolina qualified for NCAA play Friday and then lost an 80-56 decision to North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament. N.C. State, however, is on probation and not eligible for the NCAA tournament.

Other entries in the NCAA's big college field ended their regular season in a blaze of glory. Michigan State thumped Iowa 84-74. Kansas State crushed Missouri 108-69 with Bob Hoover getting 32 points. California nipped Oregon State 55-52 and Utah turned back Colorado State University 68-61.

Giants May Obtain Conley From Milwaukee Braves

By ED CORRIGAN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The word floating back and forth between the Arizona Cactus and the Florida citrus is that the San Francisco Giants could win the National League pennant this year if...

The if is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

Three Marks Fall In State Tourney

AUSTIN (AP)—Unlike football, which was a clean sweep for West Texas teams, Texas schoolboy basketball titles were strewn around.

Pampa won the Class AAA championship for a West Texas triumph. Smiley took Class AAA to notch one for South Texas. Buna came through in Class AA and Huntington in Class A to make it two titles for East Texas.

Henrietta Midway won the Class B championship and became the North Texas representative. None of the games were close Saturday as the big five-division meet decided its champions. Pampa won its second straight title and forty-fourth game in a row by beating Dallas Jefferson 65-52.

Smiley took his second championship in its first visit to the tournament by whipping Plains 63-43. Three records were set and one tied. Alton Adams of Houston ML by scored 33 points to tie the record and his team's 85-35 triumph over Laredo for third place wiped out the record for a team high by four points.

Cyprus Partisans Lay Down Weapons

NICOSIA (AP)—The leader of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, finally told his followers today to lay down their arms and unite behind Archbishop Makarios in the building of the Republic of Cyprus.

"I am obliged to order the cessation of the struggle," said Col. George Grivas in a mimeographed leaflet distributed from his secret hideout on Cyprus. He expressed disappointment that Cyprus had not won union with Greece—EOKA's original aim—but said independence "is preferable to national disruption."

Grivas, who is 62, told his followers he was retiring and would not take part in politics or public life, either in Cyprus or in Greece.

Although he remained in hiding, Grivas was expected to fly to Athens in the next few days. The British government, which formerly had a price of $28,000 on his head, had promised him safe conduct to Greece.

The guerrilla chief indicated he would not return to Cyprus, his homeland. He said he would "follow anxiously from afar the steps of my suffering and bloodstained motherland."

"Now we must have discipline," he told his people. "Foregather all of the united around the Ethnarch (Markarios) who is today the symbol of unity and strength and help him in his difficult task." The proclamation was signed "EOKA the leader Digenis," the alias Grivas borrowed from a legendary Greek hero.

The little leaflet was the first word from Grivas on the peace agreement signed by Britain, Greece, Turkey and Cypriot political leaders in London Feb. 19. His approval of the pact had been expected, but tension had been growing in the absence of word from him. EOKA's guns had been silent since Grivas proclaimed a truce last Christmas.

He was believed to have delayed his approval until the British government's final word of amnesty for 72 EOKA men still held on prison sentences. Gov. Sir Hugh Foot announced Sunday that 49 of these were being released in Cyprus and the other 23 would be given safe conduct to Greece. Previously 244 EOKA prisoners had been freed.

Bald Truth About The Pony Tail

POCAATELLO, Idaho (AP)—A beauty expert says the pony tail hairdo may be on the way out—by handiuls.

Iris Eales, cosmetology instructor at Idaho State College, says it is one of several close-to-the-head styles that place continued tension on the hair follicles or socket.

Enough of the tension, she says, and traction alopecia can result. She explains this is a condition that causes the hair to fall out. But don't flip your wigs, girls—there is hope. Mrs. Eales says prompt treatment by a beautician generally heads off the trouble.

Pedestrian Dies Despite Warning

PORT HALL, Idaho (AP)—State policeman Oscar Miller spotted a man walking on busy U.S. Highway 91 Saturday night. He stopped to warn him to walk on the shoulder.

Two hours later, Miller was ordered to investigate an accident in which an auto had killed a pedestrian. He said the victim, William Jordan, a transient laborer about 65, was the same man he had talked to earlier.

Stolen Watch Easy To Locate

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Reid Anderson didn't see the last man to visit his hotel room, but he heard the man's voice. He told this to police when he noticed his watch was missing.

Police found the watch in a property envelope, among effects turned in when Carl C. Cupples was jailed on a drunk charge. Officers added a theft count.

The watch wasn't hard to spot. Its dial was in Braille; Anderson is blind.

Houston Stock Show Boards Up

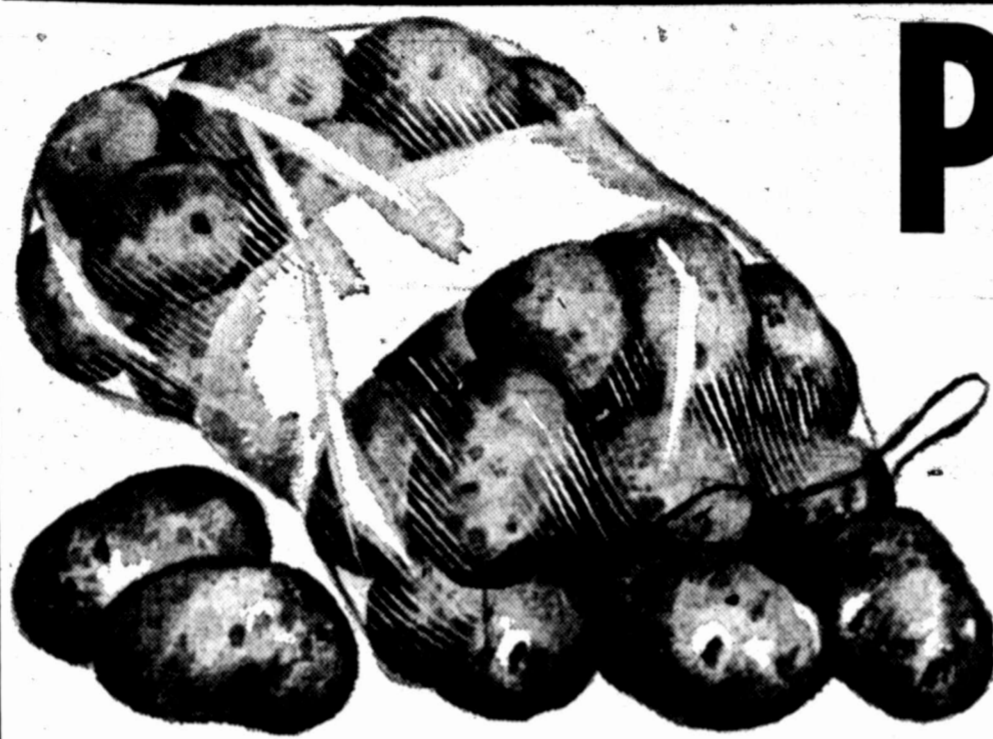

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston boarded up its Fat Stock Show for another year today after 10 days of livestock judging.

A final show saw a horse exhibited by an Abilene woman take the cutting horse contest. Poco Stempede, exhibited by Mrs. G. F. Rhodes, drew 144 points to win the title with a show total of 582.

A Long Freight

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The automobiles lined up Sunday while a Union Pacific freight train passed a crossing.

The train cleared the crossing. The line of cars didn't move. Yardmaster Waldo Snyder went to investigate. He found the driver of the first car in line was asleep.

A Devotional For Today

Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer.
(Revelation 2:10.)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to make use of any trials and suffering we may undergo because we are Christ's disciples. Help us to reclothe ourselves with faith, courage, and faithfulness so that we shall receive the crown incorruptible. In the Savior's name.

Flavor Of The Old Time Military

When Chief Warrant Officer Philip A. Seller retired at Ft. Myer, Va., last Wednesday, he was the recipient of what Army officers declared was probably the last ceremony of its kind in military history as far as the U. S. Army is concerned.

Troops in white gloves and blue neckerchiefs, thirteen mounted men on black and white matched horses and the Army Band participated in the ceremony as Seller was cited for meritorious service. It was the first such ceremony at Ft. Myer in twenty years and quite likely the last.

Ah, the good old days! One of our earliest heroes was a ramrod straight, grizzled, roughshewn U. S. cavalryman, fresh from the Philippines who came to our town to retire in the early years of this century. He made his home with a sister, and his daily routine included a twice-daily visit to the town watering trough to refresh the family bugaboo, a decrepit creature almost as old as the old soldier himself.

Our hero hardly looked right or left, but clung stubbornly to his old campaign hat, which he wore at a rakish forward angle, complete with yellow cord. He walked with the stiff rolling gait of the confirmed horseman, his every movement and gesture proclaiming the dedicated professional soldier. The wind and sun of Cuba and the U. S. desert Southwest—had he fought Apaches—of the Philippines and way points had turned his unsmiling face the color of light mahogany. His hands were gnarled and the weight of years bore heavily upon him, but he was as unyielding and unbending as only an old soldier can be.

We were too young to know that he was eating his heart out in retirement. But we can see him yet, leading the old horse with just the right technique, the proper attitude, the exact stance required for leading a horse to water. He was our hero then, and today going on sixty years later he is still our hero, the image of a U. S. cavalryman of the old school.

Maybe We Need More Suspensions

The annual report for 1958 of the Texas Public Safety Commission, of which C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder is chairman and Colonel Homer Garrison director, contains some interesting and perhaps instructive figures.

For example, take the report on the number of driving license suspensions for last year, in which 17,682 Texas drivers lost the right to drive for periods ranging from less than 60 days to one year or "indefinite." Most of them were for six months and the second most numerous period was for .60 to 90 days.

In the same period, 6,439 drivers successfully defended themselves against license suspension.

These figures are broken down to show sex and race of those whose licenses were lifted for cause, as well as those who escaped scotfree from such charges.

In cold figures, white male drivers accounted for 12,757 suspensions, while 4,066 in that category escaped suspension. Negro males were second, with 2,860 suspensions and 979 denials of suspension. Mexican males accounted for 1,320 suspensions and 761 denials.

Negroes in Texas numbered in round figures 977,000 in the 1950 census, about 12 per cent of the total. People of Latin-American descent were not listed separately, but in 1955 the Texas Almanac estimated their number at 1.5 million, or about 17 per cent of the total. On the basis of license suspensions quoted above, some people may be surprised to know that the Latinos are not our most reckless drivers—a rather popularly-held belief—at least statistically.

But in these official figures relating to license suspensions the females of the species come off with flying colors. Only 577 white female drivers were deprived of their driving privilege last year and 363 won acquittal. Only 100 Negro females were stuck with suspensions, but 57 were acquitted. Only 18 Mexican females lost their licenses and 38 won acquittal.

Thus the females were either more careful in their driving habits than males, for not only were their numbers small compared to the males, but their percentage of acquittals was much higher than for their brothers and husbands and fathers—or the powers that be were more lenient with the so-called gentler sex.

Loss of the driving privilege for any length of time can be a very serious thing, economically, socially and otherwise. Therefore strict enforcement of the laws relating to that phase of traffic safety is obviously a strong deterrent to the reckless.

Considering that Texas usually leads the list in fatal traffic accidents among the states, we would say a record of 17,682 license suspensions last year was not overly impressive. Perhaps we need sterner judges, more diligent prosecutors and more determined jurors. Certainly we need more careful and conscientious drivers.

More Negotiation On Berlin Issue?

WASHINGTON—The Berlin crisis is running true to form. Just as it appears to be coming to a climax that could mean war, the Soviet bluff-in-chief retreats a bit. This is the art of maneuvering, which is historically known as dictatorship diplomacy.

The Soviet ruler now says that the May 27 deadline on forcing Western troops out of Berlin can be moved forward if "sensible negotiations" are under way with the Western Powers. Prime Minister Macmillan is hailed as having won this important "concession" from Khrushchev during his recent visit to Moscow.

The moves in the chess game are all too palpable. The British prime minister has said that the West might even be willing to pull some of its troops away from West Germany provided the Russians pulled away from East Germany. This is a form of "disengagement" which has been debated for many months. In essence, it means a retreat and withdrawal by the West in the face of Soviet pressure. It may not make the West Germans happy, but it satisfies the peace-at-any-price sentiment inside Britain, where the British prime minister faces political opposition from the appeaser group all the time.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower at his press conference last week was careful not to criticize the British prime minister's mission or its results because, after all, the purpose of the visit was solely to elicit information—as to the Kremlin ruler's attitude rather than to reach agreements. As a piece of probing on the other side's intentions, it was to some degree successful.

Mr. Macmillan can also retreat if need be when he finds the American, French and West German view to be in accord with the military recommendations of Gen. Norstad, commander of the NATO forces. Military men of the West don't think it helps the morale of their forces to be withdrawing Allied troops from West Germany under pressure from Moscow.

Coincidentally in this country, the secretary of defense, Neil McElroy, at a news conference gave the impression that, far from retreating, the United States intends to advocate resistance by force should there be any attempt to compel the Allied troops to get out of Berlin in violation of the existing four-power wartime agreement. Mr. McElroy said frankly that, if fighting breaks out over Berlin, he doesn't "quite see how you could avoid involving Russian forces," and that it would be "very difficult to keep it a limited war." He added that "we do not see ourselves fighting Russia" in anything that could be called a small war.

The secretary also remarked that, while there would be reluctance to use nuclear weapons, they certainly would be used if necessary but that he hoped that the friction over Berlin "would not get to the point where that kind of war action would be required."

So from one side comes the usual pressure to win concessions by threat-of-war and bluff tactics. From the other side comes the firm language of potential resistance so that the Soviets will miscalculate and, in the belief that there would be no resistance at all, take some step that would bring on war.

One reason for the cockiness of the Soviets is the reported belief in the Kremlin that the American people voted against the Eisenhower administration in the 1958 elections and that in 1960 a Democratic administration is coming into power which will be favorable to Moscow. This impression has been given by the public utterances of some Democratic members of Congress, but it by no means reflects accurately the overwhelming sentiment of the Democratic party. There is every reason to believe that the majority in Congress are behind the administration in its firm policy.

President Eisenhower's call of congressional leaders to a White House conference Friday to discuss the Berlin problem was designed, as was the National Security Council meeting, to disabuse the minds of the Russians that the American government is disoriented on its policy of potential resistance to any forced withdrawal of Allied troops from Berlin.

There is, moreover, in Moscow at the moment the mistaken belief that the British viewpoint may tend to diverge from the American. This, too, is a fallacy, for, when the chips are down, it is most likely that the Western Allies will be found united. In the face of such unity, the Soviet government may content itself with handing over paper sovereignty to the East German government and then asking the United Nations to settle the status of Berlin. Such a development, while inconclusive, could at least avert a war and leave the ultimate disposition of Berlin to be negotiated over a long period of time.

Now Isn't That Sweet!

James Marlow
Victory Through Sheer Gall?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, temporarily frustrated in his desire for a summit conference, is forcing the Western Allies into a kind of summit meeting of their own.

In the end, by sheer boldness, he may get the meeting he wants. Khrushchev has made it plain he considers foreign ministers a bunch of errand boys who fiddle around, split hairs and waste time on problems which only the top men can solve anyway.

That's why he first balked at a foreign ministers meeting to discuss the crisis he himself created; his demand the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27.

By sheer necessity—because the crisis is so major—the West's top men have had to move up front to handle it, leaving their foreign ministers in the shadows.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle have already met to discuss plans, map positions, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan goes to Bonn this week. Then he comes here to see President Eisenhower.

Their foreign staff will be doing a lot of paper work but the top men will have to agree on the broad policy.

The fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been in the shadows is a physical accident. He has been hospitalized with cancer.

Still, in this particular situation, Eisenhower would have had to assume the up-front role since any final decision, which might mean shooting or its avoidance, would have to be his.

Dulles' illness put the whole foreign policy load on Eisenhower. Dulles carried a big part of that load when he was well. His Tuesday news conferences were an instrument for outlining broad American foreign policy. Dulles could field the detailed questions thrown at him, thus making it easier for the President at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower couldn't have the detailed knowledge possessed by Dulles, the specialist.

But the British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, has almost disappeared from view under the commotion stirred up by Khrushchev. He may be handling details for Britain, but Macmillan is doing the talking.

Yet the four Western Allies want a foreign ministers meeting to discuss Berlin and Germany. After saying what he thought of foreign ministers, Khrushchev agreed to their meeting, but grudgingly.

He made it plain he didn't think much good could come of it and in the end the top men would have to get together if there was going to be any solution at all. If the foreign ministers meet, and most likely they will, and they stall too long to suit Khrushchev, he can shut them off and come close to forcing a summit meeting by starting to push for a Berlin showdown in a hurry.

Around The World With Conrad Hilton

There are several ways in which to see the world. Some do it by boat, some by air and others by thumb. Some even join the Navy. But a hard core of veteran free-loaders is doing it by a relatively new gimmick in the travel trade, the Hilton Hotel Junket.

These junkets to far places are organized by Conrad N. Hilton, grand patriarch of the Hilton Hotels Corporation and Hilton Hotels International, whose cuff spreads around the world. Whenever Mr. Hilton opens a new hotel anywhere on the globe, which is every hour on the hour, he and his Jolly Junketeers are off and running.

Now I have just returned from my first and Mr. Hilton's latest hotel junket to Egypt and Greece. In Cairo, Big Daddy, the Hilton Hotel Junket, opened a handsome new caravansary, the Nile Hilton, where Cleo once moored her barge. In Athens, he presided over the laying of the cornerstone at the Athens Hilton, with a clear view of the Parthenon.

No one can say it wasn't inspirational, seeing the pyramids, the Sphinx, the Acropolis and Mr. Hilton by sunlight, moonlight, floor light and flashlight. And I have returned home with the conviction that if the operation of the Hilton hotel empire is half as splendid as that of the Hilton Hotel Junket, the stockholders can begin stocking up on spot-remover for gravy.

It is basic to the newspaper credo that nothing induces ennui in a picture editor more quickly than a photograph of a man. What picture editors are born craving are photos of pretty girls. Even Mr. Hilton aboard a camel, posing with the Great Pyramid of Cheops, won't race a picture editor's motor. But if the camel topped by Mr. Hilton is lead by a Hollywood glamour girl—WELL, that makes sense.

So when Mr. Hilton charters a Trans World Airlines Jetstreamer for a Hilton junket to open a hotel half a world away, he thoughtfully stocks it with Hollywood stars. This not only takes care of the picture angle, but insures that he will be surrounded by clamorous, autograph mobs wherever he appears with Ann Miller, Martha Hyer, Anne Jeffreys, Mikko Taka (charming in her ceremonial kimono) and Dianah Carroll. They comprised only a few of the film stars on the Cairo-Athens Special.

The rest of the seats in the TWA airliner are divided between Hollywood and Broadway columnists. This is a master stroke! It guarantees that the printed word, no less than the pictures, is taken care of. (For the benefit of any wandering correspondent of The New York Times who spots a Hilton Junket in the bush, here is intellectual fare in Virginia Warren, daughter of the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, who has been a member of every Hilton Hotel Junket to date.)

All in all, the Hilton Junket is the final word in travelling togetherness. The little band of pilgrims even has a theme song it sings to Big Daddy at frequent intervals, to the tune of "Around the World in 80 Days." The words of this madrigal are:

"Around the world with Hilton we go,
To Istanbul and Montreal and down to Mexico.
We keep our passports up-to-date,
Hoping our shots prevent dry rot.
Remembering others' fate.
We liked it best in gay Madrid
Until the Nile, the Sphinx's smile
In old Cairo.
There's still Baghdad and even Tokyo
And then to the Hilton Hilton we'll go."

Ah, well, I have my reservations. But not for the Hilton Moon or Baghdad or even Tokyo. This Hilton junket has proved to me that my tired blood can't take such a rich mixture. And, besides, my autograph book is full.

Lack Of Reward In Government Service

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Robert E. Lee and Abraham Lincoln will be closely associated in the future as real communitarians. A fleet ballistic missile submarine will be named the Robert E. Lee and a sister ship under construction at Portsmouth, N. H., will bear the name of the former president.

When Switzerland voted recently on woman suffrage William Tell's canton of Schwyz went almost 6 to 1 against it. In the country at large the anti-suffrage vote was more than 2 to 1. The women won out in the cities and in the cantons lying on the French border, but that was not enough. The little republic under the shadow of the Alps remains the freest in many respects of all the nations of the world and, at the same time, the only one in Europe that continues to rate women politically as somewhat above its cows and sheep but below the male population.

The arguments with which in this country, and our brethren in Britain and France were once familiar were used again: those who can't or won't bear arms shouldn't vote; women's place is in the home; women would lose men's respect if they went into politics; finally, women don't want to vote.

The suffragists can take some comfort under the decentralized Swiss system. They will now be able to vote in the canton of Vaud and probably very soon in the cantons of Geneva and Neuchatel. In the Swiss cities in modern times women have made their way into businesses and professions. But Switzerland is not a land of cities. Of its more than five million people, only about a third live in towns of 10,000 population or more. Some day the Swiss women, if, as it seems likely, they are like other women, will have their say. But conservatism, like democracy for males, is a Swiss trait.

Walter Lippman wonders if President Eisenhower failed to treat a "very serious office" seriously enough? A job as critical to all of us including McElroy and his family as Secretary of Defense cannot be handled effectively as a periodic hand-me-down. It has to be a career not a tenancy; a passionate dedication not a stint. Exemplar: John Foster Dulles.

Yet, President Eisenhower had to consider availability and competence. He has had a difficult time in his second term to get men to serve in government. But his troubles began long before his second term, long before he had a chance to become President. They began even before 1925 when McElroy graduated from Harvard.

Ours has been and is a business-oriented society. Successful business men fare handsomely financially. Not only do they get high salaries, such as McElroy's at P&G, and excellent pensions, but sometimes they get stock options. Corporations contrive ways to soften the blow of the graduated income tax. Such avenues of escape are not open to government officials on straight salaries.

Moreover, future executives start well. Corporations, such as General Electric, Du Pont, Standard Oil offer star students and campus leaders salary scales beyond the reach of most government agencies.

In his search for talent at the top, President Eisenhower has constantly sought out business men. He may regard success in business as a cachet of competence. But it could be that he found that persons who had dedicated themselves to government service were not on the same high level as those from business because the best qualified college graduates chose business, not government.

Both at the beginning and the end of the line—in starting salaries and final emoluments—business has more to offer financially than careers in government, education or pure research. For financially hep youngsters choosing a career, business comes first.

That's a drawback of a business-oriented society which we've got to overcome. The rewards are greater for managing a business than for managing the system itself. McElroy's unfortunate plight points this up.

For The Traveler

Ideal for the traveler is this versatile leather coat designed by Vincent Danzi. At left, it is shown with detachable mink collar and lavish zip-up lining made of velvet, a new acrylic fiber. At right, it is worn for evening with an alternate zip-in lining of white estron acetate brocade, with dramatic hood collar.

Election Held By Sorority

LAMESA (Sp) — Mrs. A. J. Lee was elected president of the Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Lyndal Sharp. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. L. Beatty, vice president; Mrs. Bean Blair, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis U. Taylor, corresponding secretary.

Plans were made for a coffee to honor rushees in the home of Mrs. Glen Hanson, Thursday morning; the next regular chapter meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Blair, when Mrs. Ruth Barnett will bring a program on landscaping.

The chapter will join Lambda Phi Chapter in staging a preferential tea for rushees, March 22, and in working on a project for National Library.

Games of bridge were enjoyed following the business session.

Rowlands Honored At Luncheon On 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rowland, 105 Mobile, were honored guests Sunday at a luncheon in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Bill Barber, on the occasion of their 55th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married on March 8, 1904, in Mambra, by A. K. Simms, justice of the peace. Mrs. Rowland is the former Cordelia Hayworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayworth.

The Rowlands moved to Big Spring in October, 1924, and have lived here ever since. Six of their seven children live in Big Spring, and all were present for the celebration.

Included in the family are Wiley, Mrs. Jack Daniels, Mrs. Dale Stroup of Odessa, Mrs. Doyle Turney, Mrs. Barber, J. D. and Bill.

Shrimp Gives Protein

Discussion Of India Is Brought Hyperion Club

The turbulence due to the change of government in India was brought to the attention of the 1950 Hyperion Club members Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chester Barnes. Mrs. R. V. Middleton was cohostess.

Mrs. Herbert Keaton introduced the program, India, 'The Enigma,' and told of India's history, stressing the fact that her future is more important to the world than the things she has undergone in the past. Contrasting the past and the present, Mrs. Keaton told the group that the youth and the women are holding their places in society and she described the first election after India secured her independence from England.

Politically, India is a democracy, the speaker stated, and the country may well form a link between the Eastern and Western world.

Mrs. J. Y. Robb discussed the five-year plan of the people, with the first year being devoted to the improvement of the agricultural conditions. Land was reclaimed from the jungle, she said, and campaigns started for ridding the country of malaria. Wells have been dug and dams built to serve as irrigation agents, while ponds have been cleaned for breeding fish.

The second year, industries were emphasized, Mrs. Robb explained, and the development gradually helped to break down the caste system. During the third year, assistance in money and know-how is being accepted from other nations.

Mrs. H. C. Stipp showed how education of the masses, is the solution to the problems of the country, since 85 are illiterate.

although cultured in the strict sense of the word. She told of the number of colleges and universities and the need for teachers and schools.

Students being sent to the United States for training, she said, serve as our ambassadors to their country, where the radio reception is bad; newspapers are not wide-spread, and their information about this country is inaccurate.

During the business session, Mrs. Stipp reported on the City Federation's work at the Westside Recreation Center in the way of improvements. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Middleton.

The next meeting is slated for April 4, with Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. Leroy Tidwell as hostesses.

Mattress Ticking Is Going Modern

Mattress ticking can beautify your bedroom almost as much as your drapes, carpet or spreads. When the covers and sheets are off, the ticking can blend in harmoniously with the general color scheme of the room in matching or contrasting shades. Just as the old-style floral patterns are becoming outdated, new solid color tones are becoming increasingly popular. Should you have an artistic bent, your ticking can be as important in the morning hours as the pictures on the wall. Some contemporary artists are adapting art forms of primitive craftsmen to ticking that would appeal to the sophisticated American.

Attain Charm By Watching Few Tips

Charm, like a tantalizing repast, is something that every woman can cultivate if she would only follow the recipe. Important ingredients for a glowing and relaxed personality are a well mixed portion of sleep, exercise and diet.

Sound sleep, a vital necessity, is often slighted for over conscientious housekeeping, deadly serious socializing or just plain late-hour living. Authorities say that an adult should get at least eight hours of slumber each 24 hours.

After a healthful night's rest is an excellent time for a few "good morning" exercises. Try sitting up in bed, stretching over and touching the toes. Or lie on the back and bring both legs up toward the head several times. This, plus watching the diet, will keep the waistline trim and boost the morale high.

Just feeling good helps to free the mind from self concern to interest in others which, in the last analysis, is the true measure of charm.

Girl Scout Open House

Girl Scouts and Brownies inaugurated their week with an open house at the Girl Scout Little House Sunday afternoon, when guests called to view displays of their work.

Receiving visitors were Mrs. D. M. Costlow, Colorado City professional worker for the organization, and Mrs. Larson Lloyd, chairman of District Four.

Girls of various troops served as guides during the afternoon, and served refreshments from a table done in the scouts' colors, green and yellow. A green organically cloth topped an underlay of yellow and was centered with an arrangement of yellow snapdragons and green carnations.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Graceful Maturity A Major Attraction

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "I am 38 years old, and I don't care who knows it," Nanette Fabray told me as we chatted in the patio of her new home in Beverly Hills. "In this country we have a strange conception about age — a glorification of being 12. This creates a complex about telling your age — about clinging to the youthful category. I see no reason not to welcome maturity," she exclaimed.

"This is a very refreshing approach," I said and asked Nanette if her French heritage was responsible for this point of view.

"No. My father was born in this country," she revealed. "It's something I've earned from my European friends who live here. I love Hollywood. It offers everything wonderful — weather, an opportunity to work, an artistic and cosmopolitan society." Nanette smiled. "I'm so happy! Wait until you see my son. He is so big for five months."

"We were talking about the influence of your European friends," I reminded her.

"Oh, yes!" she said. "They have made me aware that youth is not all important. They feel the most interesting women are those who have lived long enough to reach understanding — to be well informed and able to carry on a stimulating and intelligent conversation. As one of my friends said,

"We feel youth is dull — something to be outgrown."

"Just take a look at some of the world's most beautiful women. In my opinion there is no one to equal the fabulous Marlene Dietrich. And how about Loretta Young or Ginger Rogers? They are still young and glamorous, but it's been a long time since they were teen-agers."

"These women have not clung to youth, but they know there is no ceiling to beauty and that it can be created at any time of life. That old cliché, 'Be your age,' does not mean you have to live up to the date you were born. That can be meaningless. What counts is what comes across, and if you've seen Ginger or Loretta on TV you know what I'm talking about."

Nanette was wearing a sheath that showed how successful she had been in getting her figure back after her baby was born.

"I'm a dancer and my muscles are strong, but my son weighed nearly 11 pounds so I had to have a Caesarean. This meant I couldn't exercise right away. After the doctor gave me the go sign, I had to work hard to get my figure back in shape. I want to tell you, Lydia, that your exercises have helped me enormously. I'm not too enthused about reducing machines, but rather I like daily exercises where I use different body muscles."

"When a dancer wants to get back into condition, she knows the most help comes from that extra push. I do as many exercises as I feel are comfortable and then I do a series more. You have to expend yourself to give your muscles tone."

"But I'm a great believer in building up my system with vitamins. I was quite run down after the baby was born, and I know the formula my doctor gave me speeded up my energy. But here's an interesting thing, the vitamins darkened my hair. The color has really changed."

"You've been on the list of our ten best-dressed women, haven't you?" I asked.

"Several times," Nanette revealed. "I was not singled out for high fashion but for making fashion suitable to me and to the occasion. I used to change my clothes two or three times during rehearsals. It gave me a lift to put on a fresh blouse and skirt and when there wasn't time for a change of makeup, I would splash cold water lightly on my face and pat it dry. Grooming sets off your clothes and you can't place too much emphasis on freshness," she said in parting.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

Indications of age in a woman are crow'sfeet around the eyes and mouth, the neck area and the hands — and lack of muscular flexibility. Although one cannot eliminate these by a miracle, one can take 10 years off by use of corrective creams, skillful make-up and exercise. Leaflet M-40, "How to Stay Young," gives simple and easy exercises for you to keep the bloom of youth. For your copy of this vital leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Best Pledge

Rita Gale has been announced as best pledge of the fall semester by Gamma Gamma Chapter of Delta Gamma Sorority at Texas Western College, El Paso. The recognition, which included a trophy and pin, was made at a dinner Sunday evening after initiation ceremonies. Miss Gale is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Gale, 1405 Eleventh Place. A graduate of Big Spring High School, she attended HJC two years before entering the El Paso school.

Beauty At Any Age

TV star Nanette Fabray believes that one can find beauty at any age. She feels that the most interesting women are those who have lived long enough to reach understanding and can carry on stimulating and intelligent conversations.

Spring's Here

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Weather Bureau reported during a heavy snowfall today that one of its observers at Olean saw a flock of geese heading north shortly after midnight. "Spring is here," said the bureau.

to call caucuses in recent years of all Democrats for the purpose of determining a legislative program.

Johnson was in Texas, reportedly recovering from influenza, at the time of Proxmire's first speech. Proxmire notified Johnson he planned to make his second speech on the matter today and suggested Johnson be present.

Proxmire made these charges today. "The invaluable deliberative and educational role of the Senate has been short-circuited by the leadership policy of settling issues off the floor."

Democratic party policy in the Senate is made on an ad-hoc, off-the-cuff basis.

The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by Johnson on the basis of his own judgment.

Johnson's performance is "brilliantly instinctive" but is not responsible to other Democratic senators or the party platform.

Police committees are not fulfilling their purposes.

Democratic Senate discussion in committee and on the Senate floor has not been fully responsible because it has lacked any framework of over-all party responsibility.

"For all floor legislative purposes, the Senate has spent a month doing nothing."

"Now it is perfectly obvious," Proxmire said, "that the great process of reconciliation of diverse claims in national interest on the floor of the Senate did not take place last year as it had traditionally in the Senate, and experience this year suggests that debate is likely to be even more abbreviated."

"Unless we stop this trend, more and more crucial matters will be decided over the telephone, in the cloakroom or almost any private place where dissent can be silenced without public knowledge."

He said the present system of leadership "has great verve and dash and appeal in what otherwise appears to be a leaderless national government," but added:

"We can describe it as glowing as we wish, but we can't describe it as responsible to: 1. Other Democratic senators; 2. Our Democratic Party; 3. The Democratic Policy Committee; 4. or, even any advance pronouncement by the majority leader himself."
